The eagle flies

"The" eagle is still out there. That's according to a highly reliable, sharp-eyed reader who spotted the eagle soaring over Grosse Pointe land in the area of Neff Road and Mack Avenue recently.

The reader, who's spotted the bird before, said it must have at least a six foot wingspan. I would dearly love to get a photo of that beauty.

Our reader also spotted a pair of snowy white swans on the lake near the edge of the ice. Apparently this pair of swans returns to the lake every year at just about this time. It's nice to know they're there.

As they said at the end of my favorite sci-fi flick "The Thing," "Watch the skies. Keep watching the skies."

Flower power

I received a polite but rather critical note from a local florist this week taking exception to a story written two weeks ago in this column titled "Maybe Daisies?"

The letter was accompanied by a single long stemmed rose. My editor, Susan McDonald, divided the spoils equally between us, taking the rose and giving me the letter.

In my Feb. 2 story, I wrote that roses would be more expensive this year for Valentine's Day because of higher greenhouse heating costs and shipping problems. Because the figure I quoted for a dozen long stemmed beauties was $65, I ended the story by saying I'd probably buy my wife a dozen cauliflowers again this year.

The florist complained that I shouldn't have used national figures instead of the local norm, which should see roses selling in the $35 to $45 a dozen range.

The florist also said if this was too expensive, that other arrangements of carnations, daisies or a single rose weren't that costly and much more romantic than cauliflowers.

Hey, if I was wrong and cut down on the sale of roses this year I sincerely apologize. The figures I quoted came from the director of the Professional Florists' Institute, who happens to own two flower shops in the Detroit area. I figured he should know what he's talking about.

As for suggesting carnations instead of cauliflowers, well that was just a joke on my part. Let's lighten up out there!

While I confess that the idea of a dozen florists chasing me down the street pelting me with Posies doesn't exactly fill me with terror, I will admit the idea of Merlin Olsen coming around to personally give me a "tickle" might make me change my tune.

Honest and earnest

Seen, but not believed. The woman who last week bought 20 editions of the Grosse Pointe News from the box in front of our office here on Kercheval Avenue.

One at a time. That's right folks. First she put in 30 cents, then she opened the door and took her paper. She did this 20 times rather than come in and just buy a stack in one fell swoop.

It was a rather baffling performance, but fun to watch. Lord knows, she could have just put in a quarter and a nickel, then walked off with 19 unpaid-for editions.

Fire claims life of Farms teen

By Tom Greenwood

Even though it doesn't show too much exterior damage, an intensely smoky fire at this Moran Road home claimed the life of 18-year-old Heather Fitzsimons early Sunday morning, Feb. 12. The South High School junior was overcome by smoke and toxic fumes caused by a mattress fire. Although police and firefighters frantically administered CPR to the victim, the young woman died at St. John Hospital less than an hour after the fire began.

Small groups of grim faced, crying students gathered outside the Moran Road home of South High School junior Heather Fitzsimons last Sunday morning after she died in a fire at her home.

She was 18. Fire officials believe she died of smoke inhalation. The fire began in a mattress in Heather's basement bedroom. Officials believe it may have been started by a cigarette.

Three other 13-year-old girls, including Heather's sister, escaped the home and alerted neighbors. The younger girls were holding a pajama party at the home and were reportedly sleeping in a second floor bedroom when the fire began.

Police were alerted to the three alarm blaze at 6:30 a.m. after receiving a call from a neighbor. Firefighting units from the Farms, City and Harper Woods responded, as well as a special EMS unit from Grosse Pointe Woods. An EMS unit from the Farms was not on the scene because their four man crew was busy fighting the blaze.

Police reports say when officers first appeared on the scene, the three younger girls were crying and hysterical on the front lawn. After repeated questioning, the officers were told that Heather, and possibly her father, were still in the home.

Farms Patrolmen Jack Patterson and John Hager tried to enter the home, but were driven back by the intense smoke and toxic fumes.

Former City firefighter, now Public Safety Officer, Alfred Fincham entered the home wearing an airpack and searched for Heather, beginning in her bedroom. Fincham found her in a room on the second floor of the house, a few feet away from a window leading to a roof over a family room in the back of the house.

Officials aren't certain if she went upstairs to warn the other girls, or went there because she was weakened and confused by the smoke and fumes. The room she was found in was her former bedroom.

A smoke detector located at the top of the stairs near the bedroom needed batteries and was therefore not operating. CPR was administered to Miss Fitzsimons by PSO Fincham and Farms Police Cpl. John Winter from the moment she was brought from the home until she was taken to the emergency room of St. John Hospital by the Woods EMS unit.

She was pronounced dead at 7:26 a.m.

According to reports, Heather had been dropped off at her home at about 5 a.m. after attending a "Sadie Hawkins Day" dance at South High School the night before. School officials say the dance ended at midnight and Heather had then attended another party.

The three 13-year-old girls at the Fitzsimons home said they had gone to bed at about 2:30 a.m. and were awakened later by the smoke. They reported they could hear Heather coughing but weren't certain where she was as they fled the home.

Thomas Fitzsimons, 49, father of the two girls, was reportedly out for the evening, but appeared on the scene as CPR was being administered to Heather.

Reports said he was hysterical and had to be restrained by the police from interfering with officers administering CPR.

Lucy Fitzsimons, Heather's mother, is divorced from Mr. Fitzsimons and was not living at the home at the time of the fire.

Services for Miss Fitzsimons, 18, were held yesterday at the William R. Hamilton Co. and at St. Paul on the Lake Catholic Church.

She is survived by her parents, Thomas and Lucy Fitzsimons and a sister, Serena.

Interment was in Mt. Olivet Cemetery.

400 found

The goal: To honor our vets

By Tom Greenwood

Wayne Wegner and George Reindel are looking for a few good men — and women, too. The "few good men and women" they're looking for are all those Grosse Pointers who served in Southeast Asia during the Viet Nam War.

They intend to include the names on a bronze plaque to be displayed at the War Memorial, joining the other plaques dedicated to the Pointe veterans of World Wars I and II and Korea.

So far their laborious search, aided by the staff of the War Memorial, has netted them the names of 200 vets who definitely served, plus another 200 who may have served in Viet Nam.

The men believe there may be far more than 400 Pointers who served in Southeast Asia and they're having a difficult time locating them.

"Basically, the problem is that ours is a very transient society," said Wegner, an attorney and a Viet Nam veteran. "Many who joined while living in the Pointe may have moved away and have no way of knowing what we have planned."

Wegner and Reindel were brought together by War Memorial Director Dr. Mark Weber who was separately approached by both men who asked why there wasn't a Viet Nam memorial at the center.

"I told them we were definitely interested, but were having a hard time compiling a list," said Dr. Weber. "The VA was of no help because most Viet Nam vets aren't of pension age yet. We also ran up against various secrecy and privacy laws which stopped us cold."

The War Memorial also approached each service branch separately and asked for assistance, but was told that a computerized list made up of only Grosse Pointers would cost about $3,000 to $4,000 each.

"That totaled out to over $15,000 when you considered the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines, Coast Guard and National Guard," said Weber. "We just couldn't afford that."

Wegner and Reindel had a hard time accepting the problem, feeling some help somewhere must be found.

Council says 'no' to Heenan's pick for EDC board

By Harriet Nolan

Grosse Pointe Park city council refused to approve Mayor Palmer Heenan's nominees to the board of the city's recently formed Economic Development Corporation (EDC) at its Feb. 13 meeting. The majority of council members accused the mayor of not giving them sufficient notice of his plans.

The row started when Heenan read a list of nine residents, including himself, his running-mate Vernon Ausherman, a councilman, and three of his campaign workers, who would fill positions on the EDC board. That board will handle financing of the $5 million project proposed by Bon Secours Hospital and the Detroit Institute of Ophthalmology (DIO).

Councilmembers Patricia Forster, Carroll Evola and John Prost said they hadn't seen the list before that evening. While Ausherman said he knew about it after talking with the mayor on Friday, David Gaskin was appraised of the list Sunday and Mark Valente III said he first heard about it Saturday, when he called the mayor.

The EDC is essential to Bon Secours and the DIO, which want to jointly build a medical complex at the corner of Nottingham and Jefferson. The EDC will have the power to sell bonds, buy property, secure loans, enter into leases and mortgages and transfer funds for Bon Secours and all future projects involving the EDC.

Heenan's nominees included his recent campaign workers Dan Schaitberger, Maria Parol and Hendricks C. Zuidwijk (Dutch Hendricks).

Other nominees were Gerald K. Hanson, comptroller and senior vice-president at National Bank of Detroit, Patricia Faddell, hospital administrator, John Loffredo, chief tax counsel at Chrysler Corporation, and Don G. Franck, vice-president at First Federal Savings.

The proposed outpatient facility will house the DIO, Bon Secours Ambulatory Surgery Center, physicians offices for Ophthalmic Surgeons, P.C., and other private physician offices.

One public hearing has been held on the project. Approval for the formation of the corporation was given the nod by council at its last meeting. Appointment of members to the EDC board is the next step toward enabling the group to finance the project by selling tax free bonds.

The mayor had the support of Ausherman and many in the audience for his list of nine nominees, who would serve one to six-year terms.

But the rest of the council felt the matter was handled too fast and most importantly, without their input.

"This is too important an issue to act hastily upon," said councilman John Prost. "This is a separate and autonomous corporation. If successful it could lower taxes in the city by bringing in business."

"While some of these individuals are highly qualified, some may not be the best qualified in the city," he added.

Heenan said his appointees were qualified and accused many members of council of lack of communication.

Bonus lures teachers to retire

By Susan McDonald

The 1950s were boom years here. New colonial houses were hammered together by the hundreds. The population soared and droves of kids were packing into classrooms. Public school enrollment almost doubled in the decade, from about 5,500 in 1950 to more than 10,000 in 1960.

More kids meant more teachers and Grosse Pointe schools were hiring. In 1950 they employed 228 teachers. By 1960 the number reached 470 and by 1970, under pressure for smaller class sizes and more sophisticated instruction, the system employed almost 700 teachers, according to annual reports.

Those boom hiring years could lead to boom retirement years now, as teachers who joined the ranks fresh out of college during the Eisenhower era approach retirement age. And a retirement bonus bargained into the teacher union's current contract by the school board may prompt a big migration from the classroom this June.

The bonus is good for this year only. Teachers must give the board notice of their intent to retire by April 2. To qualify, they must be 55 or older and have at least 15 years in the system. They'll receive $300 a month from the time they retire until they're 69 years old, on top of the state teacher retirement system benefits they receive.

That bonus might sound costly, but it could save the schools thousands of dollars, according to officials.

The school system's complicated system of rewarding longevity and continued education with more pay has pushed the average Grosse Pointe teacher's salary to $33,261 this school year. But, a beginning teacher with a Bachelor's degree and no seniority is paid less than half that amount. With each year of longevity, the salary jumps by more than $1,000. And each additional 10-hour block of credits toward Master's and Doctorate degrees also adds several hundred dollars to the annual paycheck.

According to Jim Garlough, president of the Grosse Pointe Education Association, "we're definitely top heavy" on the salary scale. The average age of the system's 460 teachers is almost 52 years old. Between 30 and 35 are over 60 years of age. And about 200 teachers are over 50, Garlough said.

And they're well educated. According to figures from the school system's 1980 annual report, about 73 percent of the system's instructors had at least a Master's degree and a clear majority had gone beyond that.

So while the salary scale ranges from $16,000 to $35,000, the average teacher's pay is $33,261. Every time a teacher at that level retires and is replaced by a new hire, the schools save more than $10,000 a year.

School system spokesman Bruce Kefgen said the retirement boom that may be ahead could have some other positive effects on the system, aside from the obvious savings.

"We appreciate the maturity and experience that older teachers have to offer," Kefgen said. "But new blood is desirable, too. The enthusiasm and new ideas that young teachers can contribute certainly

Bridge project halted

The old Eight Mile Road bridge, subject of arguments between three cities, will remain at its present two lanes for a while. The state Department of Transportation, prodded by a Woods lawsuit, decided to forgo a $600,000 plan to widen the bridge while it considers a study of traffic in the bridge area. See the story on page 3A.

Council says 'no' to nominees

"The whole burden was on me," he said. "I begged you to speak to me, but you don't seem to be interested."

He defended not notifying each of them of his plans and said "I'm not going to multiply my efforts and contact everybody."

However, councilman Valente noted if there was a communication problem, the council should move to rectify it.

"A corporation of this magnitude deserves a list of the best qualified people we can find and we need to search them out," he said. "We are here to share the workload." But Heenan reminded Valente of the council's powers on this issue, which did not include making recommendations to the board of directors.

"Your responsibility is to say who is or is not qualified and I then get to nominate another person," said Heenan. "I'm afraid that's the way it's going to be."

A motion was then made to table the appointments until the next meeting. And Heenan asked David Benfer, Bon Secours Hospital's representative on the project, if the delay would hurt it.

"It's awkward to comment," said Benfer. "but whenever one deals with money, time has an expediency on the process."

However, councilman Gaskin told Benfer that since an architect still hasn't been hired or a plan presented to council he couldn't see what harm another two weeks would do.

He warned Benfer he would not be part of any vote to give a blank check to a project that hasn't produced any plans for council to assess.

"Rather than get into difficulty later on, I urge we table the motion and use the next two weeks to give input, investigate the bylaws and work something out," said Gaskin.

At that point, councilman Ausherman, the lone supporter of the mayor on his appointments, pointed out what Heenan had said earlier, that the nomination of the board is the mayor's responsibility and he is the sole determiner of the amount of advice he cares to accept from council.

The move to table the matter was supported by councilmembers Gaskin, Forster, Valente, Prost and Evola. It was opposed by the mayor and Ausherman.

Dick Kay to retire from Kerby

Kerby Elementary School's principal Richard Kay announced Feb. 13 that he'll retire this June after 22 years with the school system. He's worked as principal at two elementary schools, and directed the system's community service, adult education and employee relations departments, as well.

But it's in the crowded halls of an elementary school that Dick Kay seems at his best.

"I'm going to miss that 'Hi Mr. Kay' stuff. That's hard to leave," the principal said. "I have no intention of letting my contact with youngsters slip away."

Kay said he plans to continue his volunteer work in sex education in neighboring school districts after his retirement, take more classes at Wayne State University, continue his "dabbling" in photography and production of multi-media shows and "sail a lot down at Crescent."

Kay joined the school system in 1962 and became the second principal of Richard school succeeding Clarence Messner.

Kay and his wife Janice live on Cloverly Road in the Farms.

Shores woman faces charges in shooting

A 55-year-old Shores woman will face preliminary examination Wednesday, Feb. 22, in 36th District Court on charges of assault with intent to murder and felony firearm use in connection with a shooting incident Monday morning, Jan. 30, in the Renaissance Center.

Viola Louise Henderson allegedly fired four shots at her husband Dr. Hugh Henderson that day in the 18th floor conference room of the legal offices of Schureman, Frakes, Glass & Wulfmeier. All four shots missed. The two were reportedly giving depositions in a divorce suit.

According to reports, Mrs. Henderson stood up in the conference room, and holding a .38-caliber revolver, fired the four shots at her husband, who was seated across the table from her.

Mrs. Henderson was arraigned Feb. 1 by a court magistrate. She faces charges of assault with intent to murder and possession of a firearm during the commission of a felony, which carries a mandatory two-year sentence upon conviction. She was released on $100,000 personal bond.

qualify for this spring's retirement bonus. But he could not say how many will take advantage of the one-time-only offer. The school spokesman would only say they expect the number of retirements this spring to "increase significantly" over the 10 or so who usually retire each year.

Last week six long-time teachers announced they'd resign in June — Helen Honderick, a third grade teacher at Trombly Elementary School, Virginia Johnson, skills development instructor at Defer, Mary Owens, Richard's third grade teacher, Jack Woodhouse, social studies instructor at Brownell Middle School, Marjorie Wilton, a Kerby Elementary teacher, and Mary DiSantis, a special education instructor.

Mrs. Owens, who's been with the system for 16 and a half years, said she'd been thinking about retiring in the next couple of years and the bonus offer convinced her this was the right time. "The board might not offer it again, you know," she said.

Woodhouse, who was hired in 1957 along with many other Grosse Pointe teachers, said the bonus wasn't any part of his decision to step down.

"I made up my mind to retire after 27 years here last summer. But I think that bonus is a real good deal and it is making a difference for some teachers," Woodhouse said.

Union president Garlough noted that school board negotiators indicated they do not intend to offer the bonus again in future contracts.

Robber hits Woods home

A watchful neighbor helped Woods police discover a breaking-and-entering Friday night, Feb. 10, on Van Antwerp near Helen.

Officers were called to the scene by a resident who reported seeing a man running between two Van Antwerp houses carrying a television set. The young man carried the set to a car parked on Lennon and drove away, the caller said.

According to the caller, the perpetrator was a white male in his mid-20s, thin build and medium height. No description was given of clothing. The car was described as an older model full-sized Ford, according to reports.

Checking the Van Antwerp homes, police found the back porch door of one to have been forced open. Looking through the home, police found a television set missing along with some stereo components, reports said. Other rooms had been searched, but it was unknown what was taken, reports said.

No one was home when the break-in occurred, according to reports.

Mack eatery broken into

Ferlito's Family Restaurant, 20745 Mack in the Woods, was robbed early Sunday morning, Feb. 12. Taken was an estimated $1,275 in cash.

Employees opening the restaurant Sunday morning found the rear door closed but unlocked, reports said. The door was normally locked with a dead-bolt. There were no signs of forced entry, reports said.

Once inside, employees found the food locker forced open. Taken were two bags containing receipts and cash from the day before. One red nylon or canvas bag with a locking zipper contained $30 cash, while a white grocery-type bag with "Saturday" written on it contained $967 in cash and receipts, reports said.

Because some of the business was done on credit, it was not known how much cash was actually in the white bag, employees told police.

Old Eight Bridge project is stopped

By Mike Andrzejczyk
The Woods has won a delay of the Old Eight Mile bridge construction project, city officials said. The state delayed the date for letting bids for the widening of the freeway cross-over while a traffic study of the area is considered.

The city will most likely adjourn its lawsuit against the state Department of Transportation until the results of the study are delivered to the city, Woods attorney George Catlin said.

Catlin told the city council Monday night, Feb. 6, of the state's delaying of the work. Earlier this month, the federal highway agency asked the state to reevaluate the project to determine whether an environmental impact statement should be prepared, state officials said.

It is not known when the results of the study will be made available, Catlin said. Assistant Attorney General Pat McElmurray said the study may not be done.

"Basically we will have been provided the relief we sought," Catlin said.

The Woods filed suit against the transportation department last month in Wayne County Circuit Court, seeking an environmental impact study of the bridge construction. A hearing was scheduled for later this month on the city's request for a temporary restraining order against the project.

The city won't press its lawsuit against the Federal Highway Administration, Catlin said. The city filed suit against the federal agency last month to block the funding for the bridge project. The federal government was to pick up 85 percent of the $600,000 price for the project.

The project was to double the size of the current two-lane bridge, according to state officials. City officials argued the state failed to follow federal guidelines that call for the completion of an environmental impact statement on the effect of the construction on the surrounding area.

State officials said when the project was initially studied in 1978, it was determined there would be no significant impact on the surrounding area. City officials argue the widening of the bridge will increase the amount of traffic flowing into the northwest end of the Woods, exacerbating an already-troublesome traffic problem.

The city councils of St. Clair Shores and the Woods had asked the state to perform a traffic study in the area to determine whether or not the exit/entrance ramps should be relocated. The Harper Woods city council also asked the state for a traffic study. Its request calls for the possibility of reopening Allard at Harper for through traffic and the location of exit and entrance ramps at Shady Lane in St. Clair Shores.

New senate leader will speak here

State Sen. John Engler, a newly elected GOP Majority Leader, will be the key-note speaker at a Lincoln Day Dinner sponsored by the Concerned Republican Committee (CRC). The event will take place at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club on Thursday, Feb. 23.

"This is an interesting time in Michigan politics and an exciting year with the presidential elections," said Joan Woodhouse, president of the CRC. "With the fast pace of events in Lansing, we are especially pleased that Senator Engler would take the time to help us kick off the political season in this area."

Engler was promoted to the new position as a result of the special recall elections which created a Republican majority in the Senate for the first time in over a decade. He represents the entire counties of Isabella, Clare, Gratiot, Mecosta, Midland and Oshtemo. He was the youngest person ever elected to the House in 1970 and has been a senator since 1978. He has a particular interest in agriculture and also is a lawyer.

Tickets are available at $17.50 for the dinner which begins at 6:30. Call 884-9442 or 882-8363 for further details.

Mansion preserved under plexiglas

At least one great old Grosse Pointe mansion will be forever preserved, in miniature at least, in the offices of the Grosse Pointe Historical Society. The Hiram Walker home, designed in 1924 by architect Robert A. Derrick, is still standing on Provençal Road and its plaster of paris duplicate was donated to the Historical Society recently by Mr. and Mrs. Jon Gandelot (center), while society president Frank Sladen, (left), and vice-president W. Hawkins Ferry, (right), look on. The Gandelots found the model in the attic of their Muskoka Road home and decided the Historical Society could make best use of the artifact. The society welcomes donations of any size — pictures, maps, bus tickets, tax bills, grocery receipts — anything that shows what life was like here years ago. To contact the society, headquartered at Monteith Elementary School, 1275 Cook Road, call curator Jean Dodenhoff, 884-7010, on Tuesdays or Wednesdays between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. New members are also welcome. To join, contact Mrs. Robert Hamilton at 885-1630, or Ms. Dodenhoff.

Woods loses to drainage board

By Mike Andrzejczyk
The Milk River InterCounty Drainage Board can construct a pre-fabricated office building at the drain site in the Woods without the concurrence of the member cities, a circuit court judge recently ruled.

Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods sought to block the construction of the $25,000 building since the two cities pay 95 percent of the drainage district's costs, Woods City Attorney George Catlin said.

The Feb. 3 court ruling ended the two cities' efforts to block the building of the office, which they claimed was a capital improvement and needed their approval.

The court ruled the office was part of the proper maintenance and upkeep of the drainage district, but the board would have to meet the city's zoning regulations before it could begin construction, Catlin said.

Catlin was able to win a temporary restraining order last December against the proposed construction. An earlier hearing on the order was postponed, he added.

There was no case law on the matter on which to base an appeal, Catlin told the council Feb. 6. At best, the city stood a 50-50 chance on appeal, he added, noting that the city could win the appeal but lose the war.

Since the city pays for the maintenance of the drainage district, the Woods would in effect be paying for both sides of the appeal, Catlin said.

The ruling brings the matter back full-circle. The drainage board came to the Woods planning commission in January and February, 1983, looking for site approval for the construction.

The planning commission asked the board to return with a site plan for the facility, making changes to the facade and adding a four-foot brick wall to the site. After a public hearing the next month, the commission tabled the matter pending receipt of an opinion from Attorney General Frank Kelly about the building's status, an opinion never issued.

The Milk River Drain was completed in 1960 and lacks record storage and proper restroom facilities, the Wayne County Drain Commission said. The updated pre-fab building will correct those problems and add a ramp for handicapped workers, the commission added.

The river's drainage basin includes Harper Woods and Grosse Pointe Woods and contains the pumping station and retention basin. Because the drainage basin is in Wayne and the Milk River in Macomb county, the basin has a bi-county board.

All sewage in the drainage basin flows to the pumping station. Sanitary pumps in the station pump dry weather sewage to the Grosse Pointe Interceptor, which runs through a series of pumping stations to the county treatment facility.

In wet weather, flows in excess of the dry weather capacity are pumped to the retention basin. When the basin fills, the combined sewage overflows into the Milk River and on into Lake St. Clair.

Ex-Pointer faces charge

By Susan McDonald

He returned to his native Grosse Pointe in mid-December, apparently traveling across the country from Riverside, Calif., his last known address as far as police can figure. Now he's in Wayne County Jail on $100,000 cash bond set by Park Municipal Judge Beverly Grobbel after he was charged with felonious bad check writing.

The suspect, Thomas C. Miller, a husky, 24-year-old who went to Pierce Middle School before he moved to California at age 14, was charged with writing checks for which there were insufficient funds at the Kroger store in the Village.

But he had shopped at many other local stores between December and his arrest last week.

A stack of crinkled bills and registered letters found among Miller's things by police show bills from house accounts and checks written at Jacobson's, Verbrugé's Market, McCourt Shoes, Perry Drugs, Carl Sterr, Picard Norton, the Campus Shop, Shelters Drugs, Notre Dame Pharmacy and Adray Appliance. There also were notes from the Woods Party Store, Alger Party Store, Parkies, Grosse Pointe Florists, Mickey Shorr, Hudson's, Harmony House and Saks Fifth Avenue.

In addition, police found letters from the Ponchartrain Hotel, the Book Cadillac and Detroit Athletic Club. And Miller had been treated for complaints of headaches and dizzy spells at Bon Secours Hospital, Cottage, Detroit Receiving, St. John, Harper Hospital and University of Michigan medical center — all since mid-December.

Police said Miller sometimes used the alias Shaun Patrick Morton. He is also facing similar charges in Detroit and Grosse Pointe Farms.

City Det. John Drummond began working on the case after Kroger's manager showed him nine checks allegedly written by Miller which had been returned by the bank because the account did not have sufficient funds. Drummond got a felony warrant and chased Miller for several days, finally tracing him, with help from a limousine service which was hired to deliver his personal belongings, to a fraternity house in Ann Arbor, Drummond said.

Drummond and officer Skip Fincham drove to the Phi Sigma Kappa House in Ann Arbor last week, waited a few hours and arrested Miller when he came in a kitchen door. Drummond said they found two new driver's licenses with Ann Arbor addresses, a baptismal certificate and 24-hour bank card from an Ann Arbor financial institution on Miller when they arrested him.

Miller's preliminary exam was scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 15. His pre-trial is scheduled for March 1.

Nickie McWhirter will go 'Beyond Sugar and Spice'

Detroit Free Press columnist Nickie McWhirter will speak at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, Wednesday, Feb. 22, at 8 p.m. Her address is titled "Beyond Sugar and Spice."

Everyone knows what little girls are supposed to be made of, but Ms. McWhirter says there is much more to them, and the women they become. Neither the passive patience of generations past, nor the militant assertiveness recommended by some contemporaries is the essence of femininity or the secret to fulfillment. Ms. McWhirter will discuss the challenge of feminism in the 1980s and beyond, which she sees as excellence of performance getting beyond sugar and spice.

Ms. McWhirter's column is syndicated throughout the U.S. and Canada.

Born in Peoria, Ill. and educated in public schools there and in Michigan, McWhirter is a graduate of the University of Michigan, with a degree in English language and literature. Following graduation, she simultaneously began work on a Master's program and a career in journalism. Marriage and the birth of a daughter and twin sons temporarily interrupted both pursuits.

Ms. McWhirter's lecture Feb. 22 is part of the newly formed Woman to Woman forum, created by the War Memorial's Council of Sponsors. The purpose of Woman to Woman is to develop an open arena where contemporary problems can be addressed, where people can learn what has worked well for others and to grow. Despite its title, these events do not preclude male attendance.

Admission to Ms. McWhirter's lecture is $6. For more information call 881-7511.

Nickie McWhirter

Luby's topic is anorexia

Dr. Elliott Luby will talk about anorexia nervosa, the debilitating self-starvation disease which claimed the life of singer Karen Carpenter, Tuesday, Feb. 21, at 8 p.m. at the War Memorial. Admission is $6.

Dr. Luby, chief of the Department of Psychiatry at Harper-Grace Hospital will review the signs and symptoms of the disease, followed by a description of techniques to insure nutritional recovery. Biological changes and a review of the physiology of appetite control will also be discussed along with various treatment approaches, including therapy.

Dr. Luby is also a professor of Psychiatry and Law at Wayne State University. His lecture is part of a continuing series of programs created by the War Memorial's Council of Sponsors, in its newly formed Woman to Woman forum.

Anyone who is interested in joining a support group of families and victims of anorexia nervosa or bulimia may call Cottage Hospital at 884-8600. A self-help group meets there twice monthly on Wednesday evenings.

Kresge B&E suspect nabbed

A brass-colored shoe buckle was the only clue two City public safety officers had to the identity of the man who rammed through Kresge's in the Village late Sunday night.

The two officers noticed the back door glass broke on the store while they were on routine patrol. Inside cash registers had been drilled open, racks were overturned and merchandise was scattered on the floor. They found the buckle outside near the rear door.

But within hours the officers had a suspect in custody. A 24-year-old white male resident of Detroit was picked up by Park police near Mack and Beaconsfield at about 4 a.m. Monday, Feb. 13, after a prowling complaint was broadcast over police radios by Detroit.

Among the items the suspect had on him when he was arrested by Park officers were watches, glasses, shavers, calculators and a knife that looked as if it might have come from a Kresge's store.

One of his shoes also was missing a buckle. The man was turned over to the City police department where he faces a breaking and entering charge.

He had not been identified or arraigned at the News' press time because he was in Bon Secours Hospital being treated for illness which he told police was due to mixing drugs and alcohol.

GPT holds auditions

Auditions for "Whose Life is it Anyway?" will be held Saturday, Feb. 18, from 1 to 4 p.m. and Sunday, Feb. 19, from 4 to 6 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Theater studio at 315 Fisher.

The play is about a paralyzed artist who wants to end her life because she feels it has lost its value. Scripts have been written with both male and female leads and the latter is the version to be done by the theater and for the Community Theater Association of Michigan Spring Convention.

Roles include Claire Harrison, the patient. The performance requires an expressive face and vocal control. Other characters are Nurse Anderson, Mary Jo Sadler, Dr. David Scott, Dr. Michael Emerson, Margaret Hill, John, an orderly, Louise Boyle, Dr. Paul Jacobs, Peter Kershaw, Dr. Robert Barr, Andrew Eden and Judge Wyler.

The last five roles are minor although Kershaw's runs through a greater part of Act II than any other. Each is important to the action and each has one scene. Ages are variable.

Center studies Jung's work

The Center for Jung Studies of Detroit will present an intensive mini workshop Sunday afternoon, Feb. 19 from 2 to 6 p.m. at Miller Hall, Christ Church, 61 Grosse Pointe Boulevard, the Farms. Father Edward J. Farrell, Pastor of St. Agnes Church in Detroit, a retreat leader and a knowledgeable Jungian student will lead the discussion.

Ten years after World War I (50 years ago) C.G. Jung wrote his now classic essay, "The Spiritual Problems of Modern Man." In recognition that Jung's message at that time is also particularly relevant to our needs today, Father Farrell has chosen as the topic for this workshop, "Modern Man In Search of A Soul: Fifty Years Later."

Pre-registrants will receive a copy of Jung's essay to read prior to attending the workshop. The fee is $5 for members and $6 for non-members. To register for the course call 885-8792.

Meet Varani in the Village

Internationally acclaimed pianist Flavio Varani will personally introduce his debut recording with a appearance at Village Records and Tapes, on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 18.

This newly released album (Orion 83459) is a collection of Poulenc nocturnes which Varani recently performed at Merkin Hall in New York.

Described as a master of the Romantic Literature, he recently received the award for Soloist of the Year from the Brazilian Association of Art Critics for his performance with the San Paulo State Symphony. Having studied in Paris and New York, he now performs regularly throughout Europe and the Americas.

Varani is familiar to Detroit audiences as a soloist with several metropolitan orchestras, as well as in Flint, Grand Rapids and at the Bayview Music Festival. His performances at Meadowbrook and as Artist-in-Residence and Professor of Music at Oakland University make him a valuable part of Detroit's music community.

Varani will be in the shop from 2 until 4 p.m. to autograph his new album and answer questions. For information contact Village Records and Tapes, 17116 Kercheval, Grosse Pointe, 48230, 886-6039.

Freeman joins NLC board

George S. Freeman, mayor of Grosse Pointe Woods and president of the Michigan Municipal League, has been appointed to the Finance, Administration and Intergovernmental Relations Policy Committee of the National League of Cities.

Freeman will serve one year on this committee which focuses on areas of national economic policy, general revenue sharing, intergovernmental relations, capital finance and municipal bonds, municipal management, anti-trust, citizen participation, civil rights and labor relations. The committee is composed of 30 members representing municipalities from across the nation.

The National League of Cities represents more than 1,100 municipal governments of all sizes throughout the nation and 49 state municipal leagues. The National League of Cities represents its members before Congress and executive agencies, keeps them informed of legislative developments and assists in various areas of urban government.

Freeman has been mayor since 1979 and served nine years on the city council prior to that. He was named president of the Michigan Municipal League last September. He is a director of the Municipal Property and Liability Insurance Pool and a member of the Michigan Conference of Mayors.

The Michigan Municipal League, organized in 1899, is a statewide association of cities and villages dedicated to the improvement of municipal government and administration through cooperative effort.

Park police nab robbery suspect

A man who allegedly engaged in a successful tug-of-war with a Park teen for her purse, was apprehended within minutes thanks to the efforts of Grosse Pointe Park police officer Ralph Moore.

According to Richard Wedding, Park detective, a man forcibly wrestled the girl's purse away from her as she was walking on Wayburn near Hampton, Tuesday, Jan. 31 at 5:15 p.m.

Officer Moore, responding to the call for assistance, circled the area and spotted the suspect walking on Ashland near Vernor. When stopped, the man, identified as Bobbie Cox of Detroit, had a key ring with a leather strap bearing the girl's name, her school I.D., drivers license, bank book and calculator in his pockets, police said.

Cox was arraigned before Park Municipal Judge Beverly Groebbel and is currently being held in Wayne County Jail on $7,500 cash bond, said Wedding.

AARP will meet

Grosse Pointe Chapter no. 2151 of the American Association of Retired Persons, AARP, will meet Monday, Feb. 27, at 1 p.m. at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, 16 Lakeshore Road in the Farms.

Steven Graham, director of the Detroit Zoological Park, will speak on "Endangered Species and Zoos."

A social hour and card-playing follow the meeting.

The film was withdrawn from circulation by its maker, D.A. Pennebaker and hasn't been seen in the Detroit area in more than 10 years. The film is a documentary of an English tour some 20 years ago by a young folk singer named Bob Dylan whose entourage included Joan Baez.

Dylan was a major influence on rock performers of the 60s and 70s, including the Beatles, Rolling Stones, The Who, Bruce Springstein and David Bowie.

The re-released version of "Don't Look Back," with its remixed soundtrack, garnered rave reviews in the cities it has played.

No help from hand-wringing

Another long lament for the old Grosse Pointe that is "forever lost to history" appeared in the Sunday Free Press and it expresses the sentiments of many Grosse Pointers as well as preservationists, architects and others who mourn the passing of the majestic mansions that once lined Lakeshore Road.

In the end, however, nobody really has a solution for the trend that has led to the tearing down of so many of the stately old homes in Grosse Pointe and their replacement by dwellings more attuned to the times in which we now live.

As the Free Press lament did point out, the most important reason for the disappearance of the old mansions is economic. Today the heating costs, taxes, maintenance, upkeep and the services required to staff the mansions simply make it impossible for anyone except the very wealthy to continue to live as they once did.

And so the alternative that usually results is the division of the old estates into housing developments which, well-built as they are in most cases, simply do not offer the charm, beauty and space once associated with the Lakeshore mansions. And while some still talk about historic preservation, that also requires economic support which is seldom available, except when a family contributes the property to a public agency.

Perhaps more of the larger homes could have been converted into condominiums and that still remains a possibility for a few residences. But even there heavy costs are involved and so are community attitudes against multiple dwellings. So the alternative uses for mansions too large to be maintained as private residences are limited.

YET THE POINTEES could do more in a concerted way to plan their own future if there were more planning on a Pointe-wide basis. Targets for preservation could be agreed upon and greater consideration given to land-use planning for all of the Pointes. New and more acceptable uses could be found for the best of the remaining mansions. And more control could be exercised over developments that replace the old homes that continue to come down.

It's obvious Grosse Pointe can't turn the clock back. But the community ought to do more long-range planning for the future and less hand-wringing about the past as it views the passing of the old order in the Pointes.

As the curtain goes up . . .

Is the 1984 campaign to nominate the Republican and Democratic candidates for president over before it has even officially started?

Some observers are saying that President Reagan's announcement of his reelection campaign plans already has guaranteed his nomination — which is probably true — but they are also contending that former Vice President Mondale's big lead over his Democratic rivals assures his nomination as well. If so, what we're now witnessing is the beginning of the contest between Mr. Reagan and Mondale for the presidency.

MONDALE LIKES THAT scenario, of course, because it enables him to project an aura of invincibility in the contest for the nomination. Yet the front-runner also occupies a risky position. In another debate among the Democratic candidates last week in Iowa, Mondale was the target of criticism by six of the other candidates. Only George McGovern, the party's 1972 flag bearer, refused to join in the attacks on Mondale and concentrated his criticism, instead, on the Republican president. But even McGovern still regards himself in the race for the nomination.

The picture may be clarified in the next two weeks. Monday the Iowa Democrats will hold their caucuses to pick delegates pledged to specific candidates and that event will give the public the first indication of whether the advance polling has been accurate. That Iowa event will be followed on Feb. 28 by the New Hampshire presidential primary which will test the strength of the Middle-Western Mondale in a New England setting. In Iowa, in New Hampshire and nationally Mondale is holding a comfortable lead in the polls. It was the Iowa caucuses which gave Jimmy Carter his first big boost back in 1976. He didn't win a majority of the delegates but he got more than anybody else, and that was enough to qualify him for the front-runner position and to get him on the national TV networks as the winner. He went on from there to win the nomination rather easily and to defeat Gerald Ford in the 1976 election. Mondale seeks to start with the same kind of success.

But polls are not always accurate and people's views change during the campaign. A political stumble, a mistake of some kind, can wreck even the best-laid plans of a front-runner. Someone yet may emerge from the pack to mount a serious challenge to Mondale. And he might not have the nomination tied up by March 17 when Michigan Democrats will caucus and pick their delegates pledged to specific candidates. Yet in Michigan Mondale is leading not only in the polls but among the party pros.

Even if Mondale does clinch the nomination, can he be elected president? Ah, that's something else again. At the moment, President Reagan is riding high and recent events at home and abroad have increased his popularity. But for the president, too, it's a long road to November, and he knows that no president since Eisenhower has served out two terms. Every president accumulates some barnacles as his ship of state sails through the years and Mr. Reagan is no exception. He is also at the mercy of both domestic and foreign developments over which he has little control.

So there still are uncertainties ahead in both political parties as the nominating process officially opens in Iowa next week.

In USSR, the party rules

As a result of the death last week of Yuri Andropov, 1984 became an election year for the Soviet Union as well as the United States. But the different ways in which the two countries go about the task of electing a national leader illustrate the major difference between the political systems in the United States and in the Soviet Union. In our country, the people rule. In the USSR, the Communist Party rules.

In the Soviet Union, there was no automatic successor to Andropov at hand. Instead, the speculation in the Western world centered on three Soviet officials who are members of both the Politburo, which sets the nation's overall policies, and the Secretariat, which runs the country on a day-to-day basis. So it was no great surprise when Konstantin Chernenko, one of the trio, was named the new general secretary of the Communist Party and the Kremlin's new boss.

AND WHO MADE THE choice? Well, apparently it was the Politburo, the political subcommittee of the Central Committee of the Communist Party. The Central Committee consists of several hundred members who are selected by the Communist Party Congress but on the choice of Chernenko as well as on other important matters the Central Committee rubber stamps the decision of the Politburo. The Politburo consists of a dozen voting members and eight or nine non-voting members and it was from and by the Politburo that Andropov's successor was chosen.

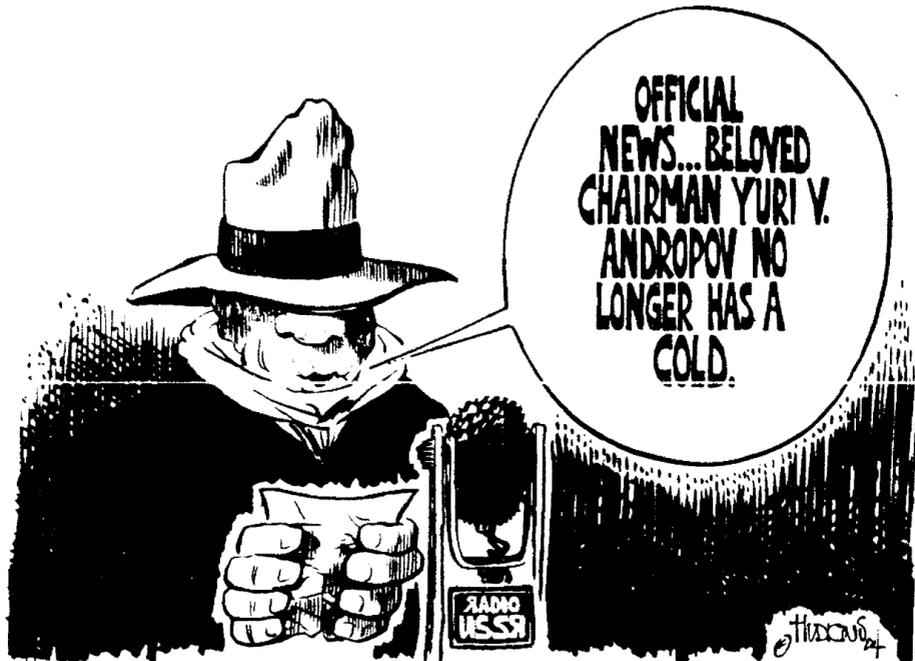

In effect, it is the Communist Party which exercises the controlling power. Even the Party Congress which elects the Central Committee comes from delegates elected by party organizations around the country. True, there is also a Supreme Soviet of the USSR elected by the people from a single slate of delegates handpicked by the leadership. And the Supreme Soviet picks the Council of Ministers, which includes the prime minister and his deputies, and also appoints the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet which is headed by a chairman who is also the country's president. But in the USSR government offices are secondary to party offices and it is Chernenko's position as general secretary of the party that gives him his power as the new Soviet leader.

It is in a way as if the Republican or Democratic national Committee ran things in this country and could nominate a single slate of candidates for lesser offices to be filled by vote of the people. The party organizations would take charge of filling the higher offices and the majority of the people would have nothing to say about picking these officials. Nor would there be any opportunity for any real shift in power because the ruling party would be the only legal party.

Instead of the dictatorship of the proletariat that Soviet propaganda proclaims, the USSR really is run by a dictatorship of a single party to which only a minority of the people belong. This kind of organization helps explain why it is that there is a privileged class in the supposedly classless Soviet society. It is a class made up of top members of the Communist Party and the high-ranking Communist bureaucrats who run the country.

SOMETIMES WE AMERICANS grow weary of the long presidential election campaigns and the plethora of primaries and political caucuses, but when we look at the Soviet alternative we ought to be inspired to make the best possible use of our system. That means informing ourselves about the candidates and the issues, going to the polls to vote our own wishes and making our selections from the several choices available.

Mr. Ford, we're counting on you

To the Editor:

I am directing this letter to the owners and developers of two major land parcels on Lakeshore Road, Henry Ford II and William Caldwell. Life-long residency in Grosse Pointe, coupled with a concern for the quality and future of our community, cause me to share with you a deep commitment to preserving those features of the Pointes that help to define their very essence.

As you know better than I, land development's goals are entirely compatible with a visible community that is not merely the sum of its residences . . . a community that is expressive of its rich traditions and history.

My reference is to the discouraging patterns which buyers, demands, and other developers' zeal have caused. First, the original summer homes and farm houses were torn down; there went charm and historical significance. Then followed the razing of almost all the magnificent mansions, 24 in 25 years. Once again there was community loss. English and European architecture and craftsmanship. Of course, trees and winding roads disappeared in equal measure.

Yet the beautiful home of the late Eloise and Richard Webber remains and is in your care. The house is important for its owners' potential. Because of all this, and much more, many of us were shocked and then deeply saddened to learn that pipes have burst and heat has been turned off. What is next, we ask?

Please give creative consideration to keeping this home as a unique gem in your development plan. Interior structural alterations within the distinguished exterior could provide highly desirable living units which reflect Grosse Pointe's history and traditions.

Countless cities and suburbs have proven that "restoration apartments and condominiums" utilizing fine old homes are commercially feasible and indeed rewarding. The result is an esthetically appealing community which combines its valuable past with a viable future.

There are many of us who are looking to you both for enlightened leadership on the field of land development. We know that you will keep faith with the public's trust in the sensitivity of your judgements and ultimate decisions.

Don't sign the recall petition

To the Editor:

It is shameful the way some Grosse Pointe people are acting about the Grosse Pointe school board controversy. It has divided our community and is most embarrassing to the hard working members of the school board who have done their best to render an honest decision to solve a difficult problem.

The school board members have worked long and hard to provide our community with good schools. They have achieved this goal and few of our citizens have ever publicly spoken out to thank them for their tremendous efforts. It is only in troubled times that people step forward to show their bitterness over realistic moves that have to be made.

No Grosse Pointer who really cares about our community will sign the recall petition. We applaud the Grosse Pointe News for telling the citizens of our community the truth and not supporting the recall movement.

News school reports biased

To the Editor:

One wonders what the Grosse Pointe News has to gain by its consistently biased reporting of facts and numbers important to the school closing issue. Why would a paper repeatedly attempt to mislead its readership? The article in the Jan. 19, issue on school closings is just the latest example of this abuse of its readers.

Why does the Grosse Pointe News bother to use the peak number of students in 1972 of 13,400 as a comparison figure when judging the current school population of 7,500? It has been pointed out by the school board that the schools were suffering from extreme overcrowding. The schools are three-quarters full, not almost half empty, as the article would lead one to believe. Susan McDonald, the reporter, attended all the school board meetings. Where is the objectivity in this type of reporting?

Ms. McDonald also reported that enrollment at Barnes School had dropped from 488 down to 190. What is conveniently left out is that the 488 figure again was taken when Barnes was suffering from extreme overcrowding. The school was built to house 300 students. Currently Barnes is two-thirds full. Again these figures were available all last fall to anyone who attended the board meetings. Why would a reporter choose to report these statistics in such a misleading way?

Finally, in the same article Ms. McDonald states, "several hundred citizens have joined the Committee for Neighborhood Elementary Schools in its fight against school closings" while citing that an opposing group has gathered 1,000 signatures. How does a reporter conveniently forget the almost 7,000 signatures that the Committee for Neighborhood Elementary Schools gathered in opposition to any elementary school closings and publicly presented to the school board? What is to be gained by a blatant attempt to diminish this group?

It would seem that the Grosse Pointe News assumes an uninformed public in order to purvey its blatantly biased facts. I would implore any interested citizens to form their opinions concerning school closings by attending school board meetings, not by reading the Grosse Pointe News. In my opinion, it is sad when a local newspaper abuses a community's trust in its journalistic integrity.

Thanks for the finger prints

To the Editor:

The picture of the Hang children being fingerprinted at Defer School in the Grosse Pointe News prompts this letter of appreciation.

The Grosse Pointe United Methodist Church sponsored the Loem Veng family from Cambodia three years ago and are now helping them sponsor their cousins, the Hang family. The mother and four children, whose soldier father was killed by the Communists in 1979, have been in refugee camps in Thailand and the Philippines since then until last November.

Special education teachers Donna Carrasco and Irene Galante have provided daily individual instruction as the children know no English and the whole staff has showed care and consideration for them.

Their neighbors on Wayburn, including a police officer, have been accepting and helpful. Other community people, both in and out of our church, have contributed warm clothing and household items.

They were pleased with the picture and we feel sure they are headed toward productive citizenship because of our caring community.

School War is tiresome

To the Editor:

The ongoing fight over the closing of a school is tiresome. Furthermore, such squabbling detracts from the reputation of this community.

Last November, after months of public debate and compromise, our elected representatives finally made a decision. Good for them. The folks who did not get their way cannot accept this decision. They continue the turmoil by making constant demands: i.e. give us more time, give us different board members, give us all a chance to vote, on and on.

The rest of the citizens are ready to turn off the power struggle. Let us encourage the Board of Education and Superintendent to focus instead on quality education and holding down taxes. That is a much more productive direction for all of us.

Don't sign if you CARE

To the Editor:
The organizers of the recall movement understand full well what (CARE), Citizens Against Recall Effort (the quiet majority), is saying about a referendum, but they choose to ignore it and continue to seek to confuse the public.

While school trustees are elected locally, they are nevertheless state officials. As state officials, they are specifically charged, among other things, with the responsibility of opening and closing schools and assigning pupils to classes & buildings.

There are three separate opinions by the state's Attorney General spanning a period from 1966 to 1983 that clearly state the view that neither a municipal body nor a school board may delegate their decision making authority to the public in a binding referendum. There is further language that it would be improper for the board to spend public funds to conduct a binding referendum. The Attorney General is the state's legal advisor and, as such, someone who the trustees cannot blithely ignore at the behest of a noisy group of people. Recall literature and rhetoric have consistently called for a binding referendum in the face of these opinions.

We are left to speculate as to the reason for the approach. Perhaps recall expects the trustees to use public funds to challenge the Attorney General's opinions and run the risk of being surcharged for doing so.

I suspect the real reason they are not out collecting the 4500 plus signatures in a referendum of their own, which they are perfectly free to do, is the fact that recall does not want their duly elected representatives to be free to make a decision unless recall can dictate the outcome. They seek to convert representative government to a village meeting on any issue that does not suit them.

The only recourse the public has is to refuse to sign a recall petition and deny them the opportunity to seize control of the board. If you care, you won't sign.

Heed example of Ann Arbor

To the Editor:

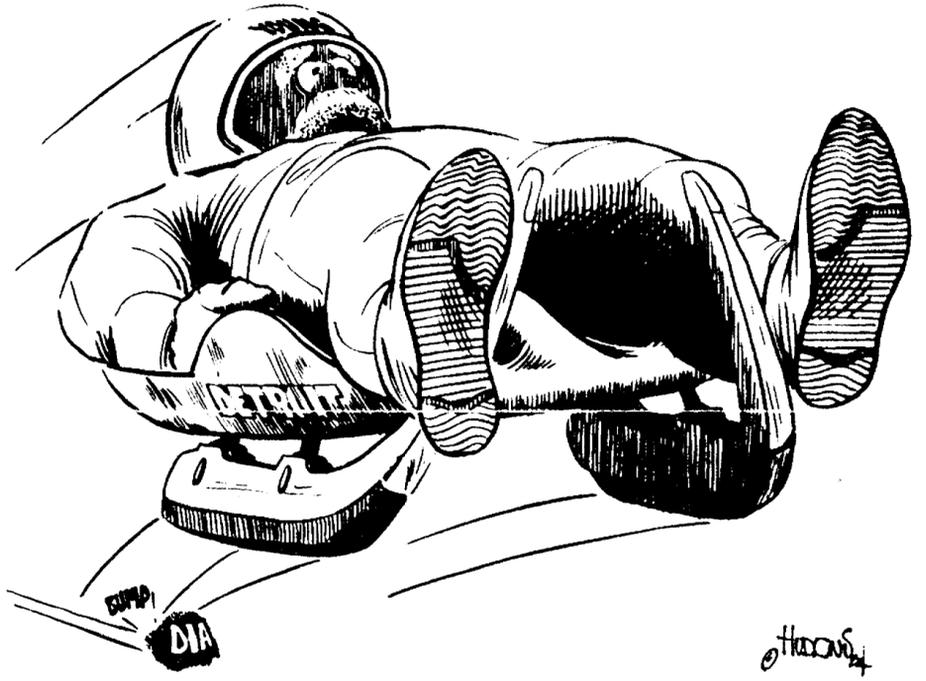

Grosse Pointe should heed the example of the academic community of Ann Arbor and leave all the elementary schools open.

The 1983-84 Ann Arbor child accounting office statistics for that community's public schools uphold this position. Through the 1990-91 timeframe, they project an increase of approximately 1,000 K-6 level students to their current K-6 population of 6,769.

Currently, six of Ann Arbor's elementary schools, originally build for much larger populations, have less than 200 students. Four of these schools have student populations less than our Barnes Elementary.

Given Ann Arbor's projections and position in this matter, I feel if Grosse Pointe's closures are warranted, let it not be at the detriment of neighborhood elementary schools.

What are soccer boundaries?

To the Editor:

It was with interest that I read the ad on the front page of the Sports and Classified Section of the Grosse Pointe News for Feb. 2. It stated that the Grosse Pointe Soccer Association registration was open to students of the Grosse Pointe public school system or residents of the Grosse Pointe communities.

I know of two instances, personally, where this boundary rule was violated in an unethical manner to obtain two adept soccer players. The two boys, one residing in Harper Woods and one in Detroit, at the time of recruitment, were registered and playing on another team in the Michigan youth Soccer League. This is unexcusable.

I have heard and read, "soccer is going to take over baseball and football and drive them out of the Pointes." What a ridiculous statement. Let the athletes play the game of their choice. It is up to the present joint sports committee meeting, at the Neighborhood Club, to provide adequate field space for all sports. There is room.

However, you need more than space. You also need cooperation, fan politeness, safety and adherence to eligibility rules. I am especially concerned about the safety factor and rudeness of certain parents and coaches with adjacent baseball and soccer fields. Example: Vernier baseball practice and games have been unnecessarily delayed and interrupted because soccer players were practicing or parents were walking to or from the soccer games through the right field of the baseball diamond. This is not only rude but dangerous. Someone could inadvertently be hit with a hardball. Also, leaving a soccer goal post in the middle of the Parcell Middle School baseball diamond is inconsiderate.

Little League, Babe Ruth and Red Baron football follow definite boundaries and rules for eligibility. In some instances, they use their own money to help maintain and improve the fields they use. If soccer wants the respect and cooperation from other sports and the community, they must first gain this respect by following the rules of good sportsmanship and fair play.

Know your schools

We'll answer any question

By Dr. Kenneth Brummel
Superintendent

QUESTION: I have been disturbed by the rumors that Barnes School is to be sold and that some staff in the district are to be arbitrarily eliminated or reassigned. Are these rumors true?

ANSWER: I am deeply concerned about these rumors which have been circulating in some parts of the community.

In regard to the rumored sale of Barnes, citizens need look no further than the front page of last week's Grosse Pointe News where Board of Education president Joan Hanpeter is quoted: "Barnes School is not for sale. We, under, no condition would accept an offer to buy." We believe Mrs. Hanpeter's statement is clear.

With regard to rumors about staff changes, citizens should realize that determining the number of staff needed is part of the annual budget process. The administration seeks to gauge its needs in every building and every department so as to make sure all classrooms and offices are properly staffed. In cases where seniority is an issue, those lists are updated and posted.

While we are now determining what our staff needs will be in 1984-85 we can say that no changes are planned at this time beyond those individuals reductions and reassignments brought about by our continued decline in enrollment or brought about through studies undertaken to improve programs and services.

What concerns us more than an individual rumor is the fact that those rumors are not being checked out. We would hope that our citizens would regard most rumors as untrue, which they usually are. We invite all residents of Grosse Pointe to call us at 343-2012 if they hear any rumor about the Grosse Pointe schools. If we know what the facts are we'll tell you. If we don't know, we'll find out and call you back. In the meantime, we will continue to conduct the business of the school system in the best way we know how.

Prime Time for senior citizens

By Marian Trainor

Dr. Harold Cross is good medicine whether you are sick or not. Just talking with this bright and cheerful, friendly and interested man gives you a lift. You feel better about yourself and life in general. Big troubles look small and little troubles disappear. You leave full of confidence that any goal is possible to achieve if you want it bad enough. You might even call to mind that classic children's tale about "The Little Engine That Could" and mentally chant "I know I can, I know I can."

Dr. Cross doesn't preach. He is every inch the professional physician and surgeon. However it is within that role that he subtly projects with words of encouragement and pertinent anecdotes of optimism that add so much to his professional skill.

You can imagine how much Dr. Cross' philosophy, that rules out fear of failure, has meant to his patients throughout his years of practice. He believes in himself and what he can do but just as importantly he has managed to convey that same faith to his patients and the courage to fight off and win over whatever illness they have.

This encouragement is neither glib nor simplistic. It comes from a real desire to give the patient more than just professional care. It stems from the realization that people who are ailing need to be understood as individuals before they can be successfully treated as patients. This, Dr. Cross is eminently able to do. He has an empathy that comes from personal experience. Energetic and the picture of health, he has successfully fended off illnesses that would have caused a lesser person to give up in despair.

As a medical student, on the eve of an important final exam, he came down with acute appendicitis that became gangrenous.

He had a severe neck and back problem that required surgery, a long stay in the hospital and a lengthy tedious convalescence. He has had pneumonia and has twice been treated for tuberculosis at a time when the only known treatment was to collapse the lungs.

Cancer claimed the sight of one eye and he almost lost the sight of the other eye when a cataract formed on it.

He was told by some of the experts he consulted that it was too chancy to remove the cataract because of possible complications that would leave him totally blind.

"But I kept trying to find someone," he said. "After all, what did I have to lose? I wasn't going to be able to see with a cataract clouding my vision."

His persistence paid off. He did find a doctor right here in the Grosse Pointe area who was willing to remove the cataract. The operation was successful and Dr. Cross was able to carry on with his practice.

Health problems were not the only obstacles that Dr. Cross had to overcome.

He has had to work since he was 12 years old, often at two and three jobs to keep going. Life has not been a golden stair in his climb to achievement.

While he was still going to high school he worked as a "dog robber," an army term used to describe the job of shining boots, making beds and general cleanup duty around the camp at Plattsburg. During this time he also worked as a printer's devil, a newspaper term used to designate a person who delivers the type to a printer to set.

During his junior year in high school he worked as a janitor. With all of these many duties, he still was enough involved in school activities to be elected president of his senior class.

After his graduation from high school, his mother, who was a widow, moved to Detroit. Harold entered the University of Detroit and got a job in the shipping department at the Ford Motor Company. His next move was to the steel mill and then on to operating an electric crane.

After he left Ford he became a manager of a Kroger store. At the same time, he delivered special delivery letters for the post office at night. Juggling all of these responsibilities in addition to his college courses, he still managed to be involved at the university and was elected president of the junior and senior class as well as the student council.

Talking with Dr. Cross, you know that these honors came to him because of the sort of a person he is — warm, friendly and willing. One could never imagine him out there pushing and campaigning for these posts. He is not verbose, bombastic or politically oriented. But he is sincere, trustworthy and capable. It was just a case of the best rising to the top.

Graduation from the university was a giant step towards his goal of becoming a doctor. But it was two years before he could enter medical school. He couldn't get a release of his transcripts because he still owed tuition.

Never hesitating, never raising the question that perhaps he had set his sights too high, Harold kept on working his two jobs and saving to pay off his debt. With the help of a pharmacist friend, who loaned him $200, he finally was cleared and admitted to Wayne University Medical School.

It was a tremendous achievement but the struggle was not yet over. Becoming a doctor is a strenuous business. The hours are long, the work and studies grueling. With all of that, he still kept on working for the post office.

It was at this time also that he had his serious physical set backs: tuberculosis, the appendectomy and the gangrene.

A lesser person might have given up but if such a thought ever entered his mind, there is not mention of it as he talks about those strenuous days. Rather there is a note of pride as he recalls how three weeks after his lung collapse, he was back on the job delivering the mail.

It was during his medical school days that he married, at that time students signed a card stating that they would not marry until after graduation. The marriage, which was meant to be secret, was not a secret very long. On their wedding night, the bride and groom ran into one of the other students on the elevator of the Hotel Statler. It became a conspiracy of silence. No one told and the young student returned to his studies. As a matter of fact, marriage worked out well for him. He now had someone to help him with his studies. His bride joined him on his deliveries and read his class notes to him as they made the rounds with the mail. He finished third in his class.

And then came the residency requirement which paid the muncificent sum of $25 a month. Little as it was, it became less when the heirs of the pharmacist who had loaned Dr. Cross the $200 sued him, got a judgement and garnished the stipend for $2 a week until full payment was made.

After his residency, Dr. Cross was finally ready to embark on his career, a career that he had worked so hard to achieve.

As might be expected Dr. Cross has been successful, choosing to specialize in obstetrics, he has delivered more than 3,000 babies. In addition to his practice, a practice which called him from his home at any hour of the night because babies don't arrive on a set schedule, he became chief of staff at Cottage Hospital, a hospital that he has watched grow from a 54 bed facility to its present 200 beds.

Since his eye problem, he has concentrated on surgery rather than obstetrics. He still goes to his office at 8 a.m. each morning where he sees patients until 4 p.m.

This is only part of his working day. During the years he has been tapped to serve as director of several banks and investment companies which means that he often attends meetings at night.

And if that isn't enough, he is a lieutenant in the Power Squadron as well as fleet surgeon. He has served as Commodore of the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club and counts among his memberships those at the Country Club of Detroit, the Detroit Athletic Club and the Detroit Club.

With all of these affiliations it is not surprising that when he was hospitalized for a cervical spine operation, a procedure that involved taking a bone from his hip and putting it into his neck, he received 57 floral arrangements. "I don't expect to get that many at my funeral," he quipped.

He probably will for he is beloved by his family, his patients and his colleagues. He has three daughters and a son. He is inordinately proud of them. A swimmer himself until recently, he likes to recount his daughters' achievements as champion swimmers. Before they married and took them with them, it took a whole room to hold the trophies they had won.

Dr. Cross has a wealth of anecdotes to relate. He tells one that occurred when he had a job of setting tables in the Ford executive dining room. One particular day Henry Ford came into inspect. Pleased, he told Dr. Cross what a good job he was doing and handed him a candy bar as a reward. Dr. Cross related this incident to Henry Ford II when he was called in to examine him for induction into the navy.

Dr. Cross is proud of his achievements and deservedly so. He likes to recall that he promised his bride as they delivered mail to homes in Grosse Pointe Farms that one day they would live in one, that she would have a maid and a Cadillac to drive and that they would belong to the Country Club.

He has kept all of his promises.

Rainy Day Co. will rebuild at burned-out Mack location

The Rainy Day Co. is a step closer to rebuilding at 20507 Mack two months after it was gutted by fire. The Woods council last Monday approved a variance to the city's off-street parking requirements for the building.

The council voted 5-2 to allow building owners Anthony and Refka Simon to rebuild on the same foundation, even though the building would need one-and-a-half times its current number of off-street parking spaces.

Attorney Ronald Quick, representing the Simons, said the variance request was a "but for" question. "But for the fire... we most likely wouldn't be before you," he said.

Under the city's 1982 zoning ordinance, a retail business like Rainy Day Co. would need one parking space for every 200 square feet of floor space. The building needs 20 spaces for its 4,000 square feet, Building Inspector Earl Wakely said. It now has only eight spaces.

The Simons' attorney said the new Rainy Day edifice will fit the city's colonial motif, spelled out in its master storefront guidelines

Heating units, which were believed to be the cause of the three-alarm fire that gutted the building, will be moved to the roof, he added.

Councilmen Jean Rice and John Sabol opposed the variance, saying the city had an opportunity to correct some of the parking problems along Mack. Mrs. Rice and Sabol asked that the building be "downsized" to create more space for parking at the rear.

"It now gives us a chance to correct our most serious problem, and that is parking," Mrs. Rice said. "I would be sorry if they couldn't build to the same size, but we have to look to the day... when parking is removed from Mack."

Sabol concurred and asked Wakely how small the building would have to be to meet the necessary space requirements. Wakely replied the building's floor space would have to be reduced by 25 percent to meet the parking code.

Architect Lou Simon said the building's original floor and conduit work is still intact and would have to be pulled up in order to make the parking available escalating the rebuilding costs.

Quick said making the building smaller would also violate the 10-year lease with Rainy Day Co. and force the Simons to find a new tenant. Quick added the Rainy Day Co. is under lease until 1989.

Councilman Paul Beaupre, in making the motion to grant the variance, said that while the city has a parking and traffic problem along Mack, the solution "should not rest on the shoulders of one property owner."

Councilman Robert Novitke, who supported the variance, said the failure to approve it would be "tantamount to spot-zoning," because no other building on the block could meet the city's off-street parking requirements. The failure to grant the variance could mean another vacant building along Mack, he added.

Sabol said the city needed to start somewhere in solving its problems with parking. "If we grant this... we're really not progressing. I would like to see this building reduce and provide more parking space," he said. "If we don't try to make improvements when the opportunity presents itself, then there's no reason to make improvements on Mack Avenue at all."

The Simons will now go to the planning commission for site plan approval.

Rainy Day Co., operated by Robert Snow and his family, moved to the Mack site in 1979. The Snows will help restart the artist supply business, but will turn managerial duties over to Northwest Blue Print and Supply, according to company representative Dennis Kapp.

Northwest Blue Print now operates three artist supply stores in the metropolitan area, Kapp said. Northwest will take over the Rainy Day Co. and negotiate a "fairly long-term lease agreement," he added.

Rainy Day, which recently relocated to 20431 Mack, the old Kitchen Witch store, was destroyed by a three alarm fire in the early morning Dec. 8. Fire investigators later said they believed the blaze started when flammable materials fell against the building's furnace and dried out enough to ignite.

The Simons asked the city for permission to rebuild later that month, but were denied because of the deficient parking.

Foods classes are offered at South

By Bif Ream
South High

Do you have dreams of becoming a chef or being in restaurant management? If so, South High offers a head start and turns these fantasies into realities.

Commercial Foods at South is a two-hour class which offers training for a food service career.

Commercial Foods I introduces students to many job opportunities in the food industry and develops skills in large volume food planning, baking and short order cookery.

Commercial Foods II is only offered to seniors and requires that the student also be in the Commercial Food-Co-op. Entry level jobs are a major emphasis. The student acquires cake decorating and advanced baking techniques as well as menu planning, food purchasing and small and large volume preparation. The student must accompany Commercial Foods II with the Commercial Food Co-op.

Commercial Foods students also serve lunch to the teachers three times a week.

Students, parents look at seven period day

By Jane Kornmeier
South High

The next school year promises frustration and late nights to some students, and opportunity for others with the institution of a seven period day.

The seven period day, recently approved by the Board of Education, has pros and cons for administrators, counselors, teachers, parents and especially students. High schools now offer only six periods each day.

"I'm glad I'll be able to experience the program," said South sophomore Becky Steffes. "It will give me a chance to take some interesting classes that I wouldn't have been able to before I graduate."

But junior Ken Orwell disagrees. "More classes mean more work and heaven knows I don't need more than I already have," he said. One of the many worries of the students is the longer school day.

"I think it's (the program) a bad idea because most students already have a full work load and

Safe Ride meeting is rescheduled

By Kip Monahan
South High

The South and North High School chapters of "Safe Ride" have rescheduled their planned information meeting from Feb. 15 to Wednesday, Feb. 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium at North High School.

The group apologizes for the change, but would still like anyone interested to come to the meeting, and see what the program is about.

seven periods would mean more work expected in a lesser amount of time," said freshman Julie Moore.

But the school day would still be the same length. Classes are shorter to allow for a seventh period.

Students will only be required to take six classes, which most students take anyway. Seniors will be required to take five and a half classes.

Parents look at the situation from a brighter point of view. Mrs. Frank Boyle said, "even though the students may not realize it now, this program will open new doors for them, and upon graduation they won't regret having found time to take many of the more fun classes offered at South."

Another optimistic parent, Mrs. Gordon Meehan said "it is refreshing to see steps being taken to improve the education of our students, in whose hands hold the future."

Moms offer scholarships

To help students in financial need, the Grosse Pointe South High Mother's Club will offer scholarships to qualifying graduates.

Last year, the group awarded 21 scholarships totalling $13,900. The scholarships are made possible by the efforts of community groups and support of the Mothers' and Dads' Club activities.

South seniors interested in applying should pick up an application soon from the Career Resource Center. Terry Lloyd will be school advisor. Mother's Club vice-president Jessie Davies and Sue Askew, vice-president-elect, along with Mrs. Lloyd will make the selections based on financial need, minimum "C" average, participation in extra-curricular activities and acceptance by a Michigan state-supported college.

Acceptance at a private school such as a secretarial school or the Center for Creative Studies whose costs don't exceed those of a public school is also acceptable.

To apply, a student should:

- Fill out the application form and return to the Resource Center by March 5.
- Write a separate letter including a picture, to the scholarship chairmen giving plans for further education, financial resources and need for scholarship acceptance. Send the letter to Mrs. Lewis Davies, 831 Lincoln, Grosse Pointe, Mich. 48230. All information is kept confidential.

• Take the ACT and use code 2076 for reporting scores to the state.

• Fill out either financial aid form and submit it to appropriate testing company.

• A personal interview is conducted in the spring by the scholarship chairman or vice-chairman.

• The scholarship committee will review the applications and advise applicants by mail as to the committee's decision before June.

NH students to compete

By Julie Blankenhorn
North High

North High School's Business and Office Education (BOEC) club members took seven top awards in regional competition Feb. 4 at Chippewa Valley High School.

Seniors receiving awards included Jim Michaels, seventh in accounting; Sherry Brewer, fifth in receptionist; Carol Gomper and Greg Lambrecht, second in accounting 2; Julie DeYonker, first in general clerical 2. Double award winner Mary Ann Elanges placed sixth in business mathematics and fifth in typing 2.

The only junior award winner was Lisa Miller who placed third in business mathematics and first in typing 2.

The students are now eligible to compete in the BOEC state contests at the Renaissance Center in March. President of the North chapter is Linda Yanik and sponsor is Paul Pierron.

As more little girls started to wear blue jeans, fewer little girls suffered serious burns. In fact, deaths from burns among them during the last 20 years have dropped by 55 percent. Flammable frilly dresses used to be blamed.

Enrollment set at North High

Students from local parochial and private schools who expect to attend North High School next September are invited to special enrollment sessions scheduled for them.

Anyone who expects to be a freshman in the fall should report to the school cafeteria on Feb. 21 at 1:30 p.m. Students and their parents should bring with them a birth certificate and any records available from the current school, as well as any recommendations for program selection.

On Feb. 29 and March 1 transfer students entering the sophomore, junior or senior year will be enrolled. They should call the office of the assistant principal-student services, at 343-2201, for an appointment.

WHY A RECALL IS GROSSE POINTE'S ONLY ALTERNATIVE.

There are several thousand Grosse Pointe homeowners, senior citizens, educators, parents, business people and concerned citizens who strongly feel that closing schools and shifting students into Middle School from the 6th grade is wrong.

They feel it is wrong because it is a real threat to property values, it is a form of tampering with our children's lives and educational needs, and there is also the danger of eroding the quality of life that we now enjoy in the Grosse Pointes.

We have always maintained that the only way to get the full support for a decision as sweeping as School Closings and shifting great numbers of students from school to school required the support of the entire community. Anyone attending any of the board meetings is aware of the pleading that went on . . . to get the board to consider placing this controversial issue on a Binding Referendum Ballot. The Board said no. Again. And again. And again. Even though it is within their power to do so.

That leaves us with only one alternative. A recall petition and ballot. It is the clearest and most democratic way of getting this issue out of the meeting halls and letter-to-the-editor column . . . and into the ballot box.

How you can support the Recall. First, please sign the petition when it comes to your door. We want this touchy matter settled once and for all. And that's with a ballot. So, we need money. To run ads. To pay for literature. Enough said. You can mail it to P.O. Box 36839, Grosse Pointe Farms 48236. We need workers. People to work on petitions. To answer phones. To distribute literature. If you can help, phone 882-4980.

So why a recall? Because we think that the present Board is not representing the wishes of the majority of Grosse Pointers. A Recall is the only way we know of, to get their attention.

Crime prevention meeting in Park

The Grosse Pointe Park Police Department held its second police-community action meeting Thursday, Feb. 9 and the topic was how to prevent burglaries in the home.

"I urge people to take advantage of the department's free security inspection program offered to all businesses and homeowners," said Henry Coonce, police chief.

He noted that most homeowners are remiss in not having adequate coverage and often discover, too late, that an item bought 20 years ago for $20 could cost $200 to replace today.

"This is a real loss to take," said Coonce. "Or to discover that the diamond ring just stolen was never insured."

He suggests people have a talk with their insurance agent to better understand their policy coverage and to make sure items are insured at today's market value.

Coonce also told the audience of 20 that his department has an inscriber that will mark equipment which homeowners can borrow anytime.

The next community-action meeting is scheduled for Thursday, March 8, at 7:30 p.m. The topic will be personal protection, particularly for females; marina security and instructions on how to properly mark and keep records of valuables.

Also attending the meeting were Palmer Heenan, mayor, and Vernon Ausherman, councilman.

Chamber group will honor past president

The Chamber Music Players of Grosse Pointe will perform Sunday, Feb. 19, at 2:30 p.m. in the Crystal Ballroom of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

The concert is dedicated to the memory of Donald E. Pacquette, who served as president of the group in 1984-75 and was an active supporter of Chamber Music Players for many years.

The program will cover a large span of music, including Beethoven's Sonata in E Flat, Opus 12 no. 3 for violin, performed by Irene Kinsey and Josephine Howes; the Seven Early Songs, 1907, by Alban Berg presented by Dorothy Isnasiak and Diane Munch; Grieg's Sonata in F, Opus 8 performed by Catharine Goodsell and Eleanor Peets; and Quartet, Opus 4, composed by Bernard Crusell and performed by Betty Peterson, Barbara Brownell, Elizabeth Allport and James Upstill.

Admission is $3. Refreshment will be served after the concert to give concert-goers a chance to meet the artists.

Cancer care series will begin next week

Caring for the Cancer Patient, a series of four free workshops for cancer patients, their families and other interested friends will begin Monday, Feb. 20 at 6:30 p.m. in Boardroom B on the lower level of Cottage Hospital, 159 Kercheval in the Farms.

how to lift and position the patient, as well as cope with emotional problems related to care for the cancer patient. The goal of the program is to provide basic information and act as a support group to provide participants with a framework for healthy dialogue and an exchange of ideas.

The program will continue on the next three Monday evenings, Feb. 27, March 5 and 12 and is open to everyone who cares for a cancer patient at home.

Cottage Hospital is also seeking men and women, 18 years and older, to work with the families of terminal patients. Hospice volunteers act as support persons who telephone or make personal visits to the home. They help family members make adjustments to the care and needs of the terminally ill person and reinforce the instruction received in the Caring for the Cancer Patient workshops.

Aspects of patient care, chemotherapy and radiation therapy, prescription management, nutrition, pain control, and respiratory problems are presented by experts in their fields. Participants learn

Persons interested in training as Hospice volunteers should attend the four sessions of the Caring for the Cancer Patient workshop plus four additional training sessions, March 19, 26, April 2, and 9, to prepare themselves for work with individual families. Prospective applicants need not have previous medical training, but should have a caring attitude and a willingness to act as a friend to the family.

For more information and to register for the next Caring for the Cancer Patient Workshop, call Sandra Seely, R.N., at 884-8600, extension 2356. If you would like to learn more about the Hospice volunteer program, call Julia Arango, Hospice volunteer coordinator, at 884-8600, extension 2419.

CAR TALK

From RAY LAETHEM
Pontiac, GMC, Truck

MORE GAS MILEAGE

Every extra mile you can get from a gallon of gas means more money in your pocket. Here are some helpful hints:

Maintain a constant accelerator position when climbing hills. Attempting to accelerate or maintain a constant speed on up-grades wastes gasoline while delivering very little extra speed. Try pushing harder on the accelerator when climbing a hill and notice how slowly speed increases. Of all the gas-wasting tactics, this one is the worst.

Instead of picking up speed on downgrades and then braking to slow your car, back off on the accelerator enough to maintain a constant speed. Remember, every time you have to break your car down to a slower speed you are wasting energy.

Keep your tires inflated to recommended pressure or slightly higher. Under-inflated tires reduce efficiency. Finally, keep your engine properly tuned. Efficient plugs, carburetor, filters and timing can save a lot of wasted gasoline over a period of time.

Kaess elected MML chairman

Grosse Pointe Farms Councilman Gail Kaess was recently elected chairman of Region III of the Michigan Municipal League. She served last year as vice-chairman for the region, which includes Wayne County.

Approximately 100 mayors, village presidents and other elected and appointed officials attended the annual meeting hosted by the city of Plymouth this year.

Speaking at the regional meeting was MML president Woods Mayor

George Freeman, who talked about achieving excellence through the League.

Regional meetings have been held by the MML for the past 31 years in 10 regions throughout the state. These meetings are to bring more of the League's 471 members into closer contact with the League and to provide an exchange of ideas and cooperative actions in matters of mutual concern, the League said.

Academy will hold open house

The Grosse Pointe Academy, 171 Lakeshore Road at Moran in the Farms, will hold its annual Open House Sunday, Feb. 19, from 2 to 4 p.m. The Academy is an independent, coeducational school which represents and honors all religious cultures and beliefs.

Situated on 22 acres overlooking Lake St. Clair, the Academy serves 400 students from metropolitan Detroit and surrounding areas in its Early, Lower and Middle schools. Enrollment includes children from age 2½ to 5 in Early school, grades 1 to 5 in Lower school and 6 to 8 in Middle school.

The Early School offers a fully-accredited Montessori program. Students engage in exercises that expose them to French, math, science and social studies and form the foundation for future academic life. The Lower and Middle school supplement the approach with other individualized programs.

Families interested in learning more about the educational programs offered at the Academy are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served. For more information, call Mrs. Edward L. McDermott at 866-1221.

They're ready for the ball

Thursday 2:30 through Saturday, Feb. 16 to 18, at 8 p.m. at the Performing Arts Center. A Saturday matinee is also scheduled for 2 p.m. Tickets are $5 and may be purchased at the door. The 30-student cast is under the direction of Gael Barr. Call him at 343-2187 for more information.

Their goal: To locate Viet Nam veterans

Then Wegner hit upon the idea of a listing of all Wayne County veterans who received the Viet Nam bonus granted by the state in 1973. Lansing obliged and turned over a 60 pound printout listing more than 80,000 vets from Wayne County alone.

Wegner and Reindel, along with the staff of the War Memorial, read over the list calling out the names of 400 veterans via their Grosse Pointe zip codes. The 400 names include those of five women.

Of that 400, only half have been assured a listing on the plaque. The other 200 can't be contacted.

"Some simply moved out of the area," said Reindel, an attorney and officer at the National Bank of Detroit. "There may also be veterans who weren't on that list because they never applied for the bonus in the first place. It's a big problem."

Additional help was provided by the Veterans of Foreign Wars organization.

"I saw a car with their markings driving down the street in Detroit one day and took off after it," said Wegner, with a smile. "I finally followed the driver into a building. He must have thought I was a thug coming after him. He turned out to be a state commander."

"He was good enough to supply us with a booklet listing the names of over 56,000 veterans who were killed in Viet Nam. The book was patterned after the Viet Nam War Memorial in Washington," continued Wegner. "It listed the fallen according to the year they died. It also lists them according to their home town."

The booklet contained the names of 20 Grosse Pointers killed in action. Their names will be included on the plaque destined for the walls of the War Memorial.

Plans call for the original plaque to be made of gilded wood. The plaque will remain wood for at least 10 to 15 years, according to Wegner and Reindel.

"This will allow us to add names to the plaque as the years go by," said Reindel. "We're just now getting around to finally having the Korean War plaque bronzed. It's a good thing we held off, too. While looking for the Viet Nam vets we found three more names of Pointers who served in Korea. Their names will now be added to their plaque. It may take a long time before everyone is accounted for."

The criteria to be included on the Viet Nam plaque are: the veteran must have lived in Grosse Pointe when they enlisted or were drafted; they must have served between the year 1963 and 1975 and they must have been physically present in Southeast Asia, which includes Viet Nam, Laos, Cambodia and on Navy ships serving in the area.

The following is a list of the 200 veterans who the War Memorial feel may be eligible for listing on the center's plaque. Anyone on the list or knowing anyone listed is urged to contact the War Memorial.

Free trees offered by Arbor Day

The National Arbor Day Foundation is giving three free Black Walnut trees to new foundation members joining during February, 1984.

The free trees are part of the foundation's effort to promote tree planting throughout America. Black Walnut trees were chosen for this campaign because of their value and versatility, according to the foundation. The Walnut trees bear sweet, edible nuts, and they are also used for shade trees, growing to 80 to 100 feet. Walnut hardwood is valuable for making furniture and cabinets.

The National Arbor Day Foundation, a nonprofit organization, is working to improve the quality of life throughout the country by encouraging tree planting. The foundation will give three Black Walnut trees to new members contributing $10 during February.

The trees will be two to three feet tall and will be sent postage paid with enclosed planting instruction at the right time for planting this spring. The foundation makes its spring shipments between Feb. 1 and May 31, depending on the local climate and this year's weather. The trees are guaranteed to grow, or they will be replaced free by the foundation.

To become a member of the Foundation, and to receive the free trees, a $10 membership contribution should be sent to National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410, by Feb. 29.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra has been making news, what with Gunther Herbig's debut concert as DSO music director designate Saturday evening and the DSO Radio Marathon on WQRS FM-105 that ended Sunday...so we thought you might be interested in the letter Mrs. Howard D. Harrington, whose late husband was manager of the DSO for 17 years, sent to her friend, Mrs. Jerome H. Remick Jr., of Ridge Road, describing her (Edna Harrington's) sentimental journey back to Michigan for the DSO's season-opening concert last fall.

Remember, as you read these excerpts, that Edna has been living The Quiet Life up in Thomaston, Me., for quite some years now, that much of what we've come to accept as part and parcel of the Detroit scene, Renaissance Center, for instance, was new to her.

Now sit back, and enjoy...

"I shall begin by saying that the preparation for the metamorphosis from Maine to Detroit was unbelievable. Gathering your white tie, your tall hat and tails doesn't come easily after 14 years away from an entirely different way of life. What used to be so simple when living in the rarified air of the symphony world was quite a challenge.

"Finally the bags were packed, and I took off to what became a trip of 'Alice in Wonderland.' Fantastic!

"I left Rockland on a 12-seat airplane, arriving in Boston in an hour, transferring to a plane for Detroit, arriving at 3:45. Brooke (her son) had been included in the trip because he was having a 25th reunion with classmates from Grosse Pointe University School. We arrived at approximately the same time in Detroit, to be met by our delightful, gracious friend and hostess in an airport that has grown so large and confusing that I could not imagine how I had driven Howard to it so often to catch planes at all hours.

"We drove to Bloomfield Hills to an estate that covered acres; Brooke and I shared the charming guest house equipped for a stay through the winter...The first evening we had supper on the porch with our host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clyde Johnson...old and dear friends from way back to our earliest years in Detroit (1952). It was a great evening, and it was as though we had never been away.

"The next day...I rested to prepare for the evening events, and the adventures of 'Alice in Wonderland' began. If you know the story, the White Rabbit kept opening doors and more doors for Alice, only to behold more and more wonders. So it was for us!...Off we went at 5 p.m. to Detroit to the Renaissance Club (in RenCen)...We went up in an elevator with windows from which you could see the whole span of Detroit — 27 floors I think — and you could become dizzy at the same time.

Cottage Auxiliary begins a new year of service

The smiling faces of ROBERTE E. VALK, chairman of the Cottage Hospital board of trustees and guest of honor at the Cottage Hospital Auxiliary's annual meeting and luncheon, held at Lochmoor Club in mid-January, and MRS. WILLIAM STREIT, auxiliary president, reflect their pleasure in the check for $30,000 Mary Streit is presenting, on behalf of the auxiliary, to Mr. Valk, accepting it on behalf of the hospital, in the picture at right. The amount includes $2,000 from the Cottage Hospice Guild. At left are incoming auxiliary officers MRS. HAROLD CROSS and MRS. JOSEPH

Short and to The Pointe

Eastern Michigan University granted degrees to more than 900 students at Dec. 18 commencement ceremonies, including Michael E. Rieves, Belanger Road; Terence James Fleming, of Audubon Road; Jane Carol Lechner, of Devonshire Road; Kirk Michael Elsey, of Broadstone Road; Russell R. Seely, of North Oxford Road; and Karla Marie Pecnik, of Hunt Club Drive; all Bachelors of Science.

Coast Guard Fireman Albert J. Fetters Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Fetters, of Notre Dame

Avenue, has reported for duty at Coast Guard Training Center, New York City.

Veena B. Chari, of The Farms; Susan A. Farley, of The City; and Ruth A. Willemstyn, of The Park, were elected to the Wayne State University chapter of Phi Beta Kappa this past fall.

Marine Pfc. William R. Farrant, son of William E. Farrant, of Bishop Road, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif. During the 11-week training cycle, Farrant learned the basics of battlefield survival, was introduced to the typical daily routine and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

Among students named to the Dean's List for the fall, 1983, semester at GMI Engineering and Management Institute in Flint, was Susan A. Eckel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Eckel, of The Park. Susan is a cooperative student with Chevrolet Engineering Center in Warren. Dean's List students must have attained a weighted grade average of 92 or higher for the previous semester, with no course grade below 85.

Mary Leichter, granddaughter of Mrs. Robert W. Crowther, of University Place, was crowned Marshall, Michigan's "Junior Miss" in a late fall competition. Miss Leichter will receive an $800 scholarship; she plans to study pre-law at the College of William and Mary.

Theatre Arts takes another look at Lizzie

Many people have tried to solve the mystery surrounding the murders of Lizzie Borden's father and stepmother. Theatre Arts Club suggests another approach tomorrow, Friday, Feb. 17, with its presentation of "The Lights Are Warm and Colored" at The Players Playhouse on East Jefferson Avenue.

This two-act drama, written by William Norfolk, is the club's second production this season. Mrs. George Belanger, directing her first play for Theatre Arts, promises a surprise ending.

The afternoon program begins with a welcome to members and guests by Mrs. Milton W. Volken, president of the all-woman drama group, after which Theatre Arts Choral Ensemble, accompanied by Mrs. Joseph Jennings, will sing the club song.

Then it's time for the play. The eight-woman cast includes Mrs. Adelbert Mizer and Mrs. Frank Kosinski, both giving first performances for Theatre Arts, Mrs. Richard Locke, Mrs. Arnold Combrink-Graham, Mrs. Richard Blatchford, Mrs. Paul Gracey, Mrs. Carol Ground and Mrs. Kenneth Locke.

Co-producers are Mrs. Edward Johnson and Mrs. Theodore Worthman. Mrs. Carl Quarnstrom will be holding script. Mrs. James Doll is in charge of stage lighting.

Mrs. Belanger designed the Victorian set. Mrs. Calier Worrell, chairing set dressing and properties, has been assisted by Mrs. John Boll and Mrs. John Hastings. Assisting costumes co-chairmen Mrs. James Kackley and Mrs. Robert Krueger are the Mesdames Philip Dickinson, Robert Healy and Mark Valente Jr.

Mrs. Thomas Rhoades is handling sound effects. The Mesdames William Ort and Ralph Erickson are assisting make-up chairman Mrs. Thomas Carey. Photographer is Mrs. William Bundesen, and ushers will be the Mesdames Paul Koch, Frederick Neumann and Robert Weber.

Rehearsal hostesses at The Players were the Mesdames Victor Benjamin, Richard Henritze, Philip Dexter and Alfred Warren. Mrs. John H. Griffin opened her home to the cast for early rehearsals.

The performance will be followed immediately by tea, served in the Founders Room of the playhouse by chairman Mrs. Charles Turner and her committee: the Mesdames Robert Adam, James Conti, Donald Genord, Gerald Isaac, Frederick Clark and Lawrence Ruby.

The Community LINC

On Saturday, March 10, Operation LINC (Linking Individuals to Needs in the Community) will present its fourth annual Night in Monte Carlo. The party will be held at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House. A $25 donation enables guests to enjoy hot and cold hors d'oeuvres, an open bar and $1 million in chips to start the evening. The Ford House may be toured, upstairs and down, between 7:30 and 8:30 p.m. The party proper begins at 8 p.m. There will be free valet parking. And, while fun is the focus of this elegant affair, earning money to help LINC continue its programs is the objective.

Each year, LINC hosts a major fund raiser, both to acquire necessary monies for its operating budget and to promote the people-helping-people concept of LINC. These fund raisers are also opportunities for LINC volunteers to meet friends of LINC who have helped in the past. The Monte Carlo party is an especially enjoyable way for members of the community to support LINC's work. Reservations and further information may be obtained by calling Judy Chauvin, ticket chairman, 886-9560, or the LINC office, 331-6700.

LINC has held a variety of other fund raisers in the past, including the LINC City Fair, a giant annual rummage sale on downtown Detroit's Kern Block which later evolved into a flea market for antique dealers and artisans. LINC also holds a yearly garage sale, and has sponsored a poinsettia sale and a very successful art and hors d'oeuvres party.

Currently, according to LINC fund raising chairpersons Becky Cipriano and Sylvia Russell, the Monte Carlo Night is LINC's major fund raiser and crucial to its operations. "We are hoping to earn a substantial portion of LINC's projected budget for the coming year through the party," says Cipriano.

"Fortunately," she adds, "we have dedicated volunteers. The Monte Carlo Night is a major undertaking, and we do attempt to make the evening as fun-filled as possible, both for volunteers and partygoers. The aid of capable, responsible volunteers is our assurance of success."

This year's party success will have extra assurance through the help of volunteer assistance from other groups, such as the Exchange Club of Grosse Pointe.

A second very important source of revenue for LINC is corporate funding, used largely to support operating expenses. Erica Lindow, LINC president, views corporate contributions as having a tremendous impact on LINC. "In view of today's economic conditions, it is impossible to support an organization such as ours solely through donations from individuals," she explains.

"Last year, LINC worked hard to broaden its base of support. In addition, a great many businesses have generously contributed to our annual fund raisers.

"Today," she continues, "there is a great demand and competition for charitable contributions. In view of this environment, it has become necessary for every charitable organization to re-examine its costs and purposes.

"We at LINC are able to keep our costs under control, since 90 percent of our work is done by volunteers. And there is a great need for our services, illustrated by the fact that we have almost doubled the annual value of goods disbursed to Wayne County agencies and have significantly increased the number of agencies serviced over the years, to over 100 each year."

As Lindow stresses, it is important to note that while LINC makes a major contribution to the community, the organization operates on a truly minimal budget. Over half of its annual operating monies is used to pay one full-time employee, Fran Mumma, who handles daily operations at the LINC office. The remainder covers rent, telephone, insurance, office supplies, postage, professional fees for accountant and attorney, equipment repair, payroll tax and dues and memberships in professional organizations.

A third area of fund raising for LINC is grants. These play an important part in the organization's operation because they cover costs the basic LINC budget is not able to accommodate.

Grants are requested by LINC of private organizations for specific needs. For example, LINC was fortunate to apply for and receive a Community Assistance Grant from the Junior League of Detroit, Inc. Monies from this grant were used to purchase a slide projector and screen and to produce a slide presentation on LINC, to market the organization to the community, potential donors and volunteers. The program is now available to the community for viewing. Anyone interested in showing it to a group is invited to contact the LINC office.

And, finally, a small portion of the budget is acquired from Friends of LINC, individuals who have befriended LINC financially. LINC works because of the support of the community. If you'd like to lend your support, join LINC volunteers and friends at the Monte Carlo party March 10.

LINC column space is provided monthly by the Grosse Pointe News as a community service. Operation LINC needs your generous contributions and your time. We are a non-profit, volunteer organization which helps numerous Wayne County agencies and depends on your support. To volunteer or to donate usable items, please call us at 331-6700. Our office hours are 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday, throughout the year.

Her program is the fourth in a series titled "Building Blocks for You" sponsored by the Junior League. Reservations may be made by sending checks for $4, payable to the Junior League of Detroit, Inc., to the Junior League, 32 Lakeshore Road, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. 48236. ## Vows are said in Pennsylvania

A gown of Angleskin chiffon, styled with a fitted bodice of Venetian lace and Schiffl embroidery and featuring a pleated skirt, was selected by Stephanie Bodnar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bodnar, of Daisytown, Pa., for her autumn marriage to Thomas Anthony Van Tiem Jr., son of Judge and Mrs. Thomas A. Van Tiem, of Village Lane.

The former Miss Bodnar's bridal veil fell from a chignon hat trimmed with Venetian lace and fabric roses. She carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis.

The 4 o'clock rites Saturday, October 29, in Daisytown's United Presbyterian Church, The Reverend Dr. Harvey Quenette presiding, were followed by a reception at Hugo's in Brownsville, Pa.

Honor maid Linda Lee Senda, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and bridesmaids Sharon Kay Jones, of Daisytown, a cousin of the bride, and the bridegroom's sisters, Susan and Sarah

Van Tiem, in garnet-colored dresses styled with pleated skirts and lace bodices, pinned baby's-breath in their hair and carried Colonial bouquets of Sweetheart roses, carnations and baby's-breath.

Matthew Van Tiem was his brother's best man. Thomas Brown and the bride's brothers, Bill and Kevin Bodnar, seated the guests, who included the bridegroom's aunt and cousins, Mrs. Frederick Van Tiem and Kurt and Kristen Van Tiem, of Midland, and another aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. S. Ray Truskowski, of Allen Park.

The mother of the bride accented her long-sleeved, floor length gown, dusty rose in color, with bone shoes and purse. She wore a gartenia shoulder corsage. The bridegroom's mother, in a long-sleeved, floor length gown of aquamarine chiffon crepe, pinned her gardenia to her purse.

The newlyweds are at home in Hollywood, Calif. The bridegroom, who attended Wayne State University, is presently completing his studies at West Coast University, Los Angeles, Calif. The bride, a graduate of Duff's Business Institute, Pittsburgh, is a legal secretary with the Los Angeles firm of Brown, Winfield and Canzonetti.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Van Tiem Jr.

From Another Pointe Of View

"Entering the cocktail lounge I was greeted by many old acquaintances and, surprisingly enough, I remembered many, many names ... It was there I met Oleg Lobanov, the general manager of the symphony, who had invited me on this venture along with Dorothy and Henry Johnson. He and his charming wife were most gracious, and Brooke and I sat with them and with the president of the Women's Association and her husband (Stephanie and Frank Germack)...

"Mr. Lobanov is now called the managing director. He had been a young man working at the Ford Foundation in New York where Howard consulted about interns who wished to become symphony managers, supported by the foundation. He had made Howard his mentor, and surprisingly enough, had become managing director of the Detroit Symphony years later...

"The new president of the symphony board couldn't believe that the budget with which Howard started the defunct symphony was $400,000 in 1952. The season was 17 weeks, and each man received $100 a week. I might add, they played their hearts out.

"Howard had a staff of six. The budget is now $11 million, the staff certainly 40. Howard certainly built a strong foundation on which this pyramid is now being built ... The dinner over, we were taken to the symphony concert. As we descended in the glass elevator, the whole of Detroit looked like a lighted Christmas tree. As I left the dining room, a friend said she wanted me to know that I was the bravest one of our era — the only one who dared to let her hair grow white. Everyone I met had a tint of one color or another.

"I entered the auditorium with mixed emotions, wishing Howard could be there to see it all and proud that he had been a part of this great achievement ... The concert was superb. We went into the lobby during intermission and met many more acquaintances, all of whom I recognized. (The Detroit Symphony League) now has a boutique where Detroit Symphony things are sold, and we bought sweat-shirts with Detroit Symphony scenes for the children, and silk scarves.

"Concert over, we returned to the Renaissance Club for an afterglow, meeting more people and talking our hearts out. By that time I had walked my month's quota and was leaning heavily on Brooke's arm. He had had a thoroughly enjoyable evening, and fell right back into the symphony groove of his youth."

The next day, Brooke rented a car so he and his mother could tour Birmingham and Grosse Pointe, taking a look at their former homes in each community. They had lunch with Annette Remick who, with her husband, had been staunch Harrington supporters from their first day in Michigan. Annette's son was Brooke's counselor at Temagami Camp in Canada for 10 years.

Then it was back to Bloomfield Hills to prepare for a dinner given by the Johnsons. "It was a fairyland affair," Edna writes, "and 20 of my personal friends who had kept in touch over the years attended. One friend spanned 50 years. She had been a student teacher with me in Belmont, Mass. ... One of the waitresses was a woman who had sent three daughters through college waiting on such parties over the years. When we entertained after concerts, she always helped. We had a very pleasant visit after the dinner ..."

Saturday brought a luncheon, a trip into Detroit with Ken Tabor to visit a woman who had worked for the Harringtons for years, Brooke's GPUS reunion ... and on Sunday Edna and her son were on their way home, via New York, he to Philadelphia, she to Maine. Edna arrived back in Rockland at 2:45 on a Monday afternoon, "tired but very glad to have had such a wonderful visit and an outpouring of friendship and love.

"I know," she ends her letter, "I could not keep up the Detroit pace, and I realize how very wise Howard had been in deciding that we should settle in quiet Thomaston — certainly worlds apart from Detroit and its hustle and bustle. I am grateful for all who made my visit a page in my life to remember ..."

'O Carnival' of art for 56

The SS 56 embarks for the shores of Rio on Saturday, Feb. 25, as the fourth annual party and art auction for WTYS/Channel 56, the Detroit area's only public television station, gets underway, turning Somerset Mall into a gala setting for 'O Carnival.'

There'll be a mariachi band, a specially selected menu with a Latin flavor and over 100 works of art, carefully chosen from art donated to this year's Channel 56 auction, comprising the Fifty-Six Collection.

Grosse Pointe members of the committee helping to make this evening possible are Diane and Tom Schoenith, Gayle and Andy Schiden, Jerry Grove, Justice and Mrs. G. Mennen Williams, Stephanie and Frank Germack, Jane and Richard Manoojian, Dr.

and Mrs. Kim Lie, Mary and Ross Meretsky, Judge and Mrs. Peter Spivak, Mrs. Joseph Vance and Mrs. Victor Wertz.

Cost of the entire trip is very minimal: $25 per ticket, and whatever you care to offer for the art works you bid on to help support Channel 56's fine programming. Tickets may be obtained by calling 873-7200, Extension 200.

Chairman of the Art Auction special projects committee and co-chairman of the General Merchandise Auction that will be broadcast live on Channel 56 April 6 through 14 is Dotti Doerer.

The Fifty-Six Collection will be on display at Somerset Mall beginning this Saturday, Feb. 18, until the Art Auction evening. Pre-bids will be accepted at the mall during the week.

Issue CIS call for volunteers

The Cancer Information Service, housed at the Michigan Cancer Foundation, is recruiting volunteers to become Information Specialists for a toll-free telephone information and referral system.

The training schedule entails eight sessions of four hours each, Tuesdays and Thursdays, beginning March 20 and concluding April 12. Upon successful completion of the course, volunteers will be asked to commit to a minimum of four hours per week as Information Specialists, providing accurate cancer information and assistance to the lay public and health professionals.

Potential trainees do not need prior knowledge of cancer, although it is helpful. Through the training, they will acquire a number of useful skills.

"They will learn cancer medical knowledge, research trends and interpersonal communication skills, as well as referral techniques for community resources and services," Jane Hoey, coordinator of the program, explains.

CIS is part of a national network of cancer information centers funded by the National Cancer Institute. Its phone lines, accessible to all Michigan residents, are open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays.

Persons interested in becoming part of the CIS volunteer effort are invited to contact Volunteer Services at the Michigan Cancer Foundation, 294-3655.

Pointe flavor to Rochester concert fare

By Irene Moran

Young talent and the Rochester Symphony Orchestra shone at a Feb. 3 evening concert in the Rochester High School Auditorium. The performance, celebrating youth, offered an interwoven fanfare of great musical works and delightful entertainment.

The greatest reward any community orchestra can receive is realizing a fine performance — and that the Rochester Symphony did under the baton of music director James Hohmeyer. Maestro Hohmeyer, of Grosse Pointe, also holds the post of music coordinator at University Liggett School.

Fine support was given by the 65-member orchestra to two outstanding young pianists, both winners of the RSO's third annual Young Artist Competition.

In her orchestral debut, Junior Division winner Andrea Piotrowski, 13, of Warren, performed the first movement of the Mendelssohn Concerto No. 1 in G minor, displaying unusual flare and technique for one so young.

Andrea began her musical studies at age 8 with one of the Detroit area's foremost concert pianists and teachers, Ruth Burczyk, of The Pointe, with whom she is still studying. She has earned several honors and is an Interlochen (National Music Camp) veteran.

Andrea is a ninth grade honor student at University Liggett School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Piotrowski.

Senior Division winner Theresa Tomoko Mack, 18, of Sterling Heights, performed the first movement of the Grieg Concerto in A minor. This demanding score was met in all respects by the diminutive pianist, who displayed sensitivity and brilliance.

Theresa, born in Tokyo, Japan, began playing the piano at age 8. Moving to Michigan, she began studies with Ruth Burczyk at age 15; it was under Mrs. Burczyk's tutelage that Theresa learned the Grieg Concerto. She has won several competition awards and scholarships.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mack is a Music Education student at Oakland University now, studying under Flavio Varani.

The evening's program included Fanfare for the Common Man by Copland, Petite Symphony for Winds by Gounod, Concerto Grosso for Strings and Piano by Bloch (under the able baton of guest conductor Alan MacNair) and Stravinsky's Suite from "The Firebird."

Detroit's popular Ronald McDonald conducted Strauss' Blue

Danube Waltz. This fun-act included four little ladies from the audience who played unique instruments provided by Ronald.

Ronald's role for the evening was also to collect toys to benefit the Ronald McDonald House (a toy was part of concert admission). The House distributes the toys and provides accommodations for parents of ill children at Children's Hospital of Michigan.

The RSO's fourth concert of the season, "Irish, Schubert and Orchestra Hall" will be held on Thursday, March 15, in Detroit's Orchestra Hall. It will feature combined choirs of 200 voices, with Frank Irish conducting. Florence Culver, RSO board president, extends an invitation to all to attend the event. Further information is available by calling 651-4181 or 651-3711.

Atget photos open at DIA

"The Work of Atget: The Art of Old Paris," an exhibition exploring the art of French photographer Eugene Atget (1857-1927), opens Tuesday, Feb. 21, in the Albert and Peggy de Salle Gallery of Photography at the Detroit Institute of Arts, where it will remain on view through Sunday, April 1.

The exhibit focuses on Atget's photographs of Old Paris, the heart of his document of French civilization and the area of his professional specialization for most of his career. Urban scenes, architectural views and artistic motifs that recreate the atmosphere of the French capital prior to its 19th century transformation via social and economic forces and the urban renewal projects of Baron Georges Haussmann are featured in 117 photos taken between 1898 and 1927.

To produce his panorama of the capital, Atget photographed Montmartre, Passy, the Gobelins area and other districts that had retained the ambience of villages outside Old Paris. He recorded private townhouses, humble shops and garden sculpture, as well as such famous sites and monuments as the Pantheon and the Luxembourg Palace, to fashion a portrait of a city that had already vanished.

Although Eugene Atget was a commercial photographer who worked in and around Paris for more than 30 years, his work was known to only a few archivists and artists when he died in 1927. In his lifetime he made perhaps 10,000 photographs, most of which describe the historic character of French life as indicated by its architecture, landscape and traditional labor.

The DIA's Atget exhibit will be open to the public without charge during regular museum hours: 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday.

To honor Fran Tracy: Knight of Charity '84

Mrs. Emmet (Fran) Tracy, philanthropist and homemaker, joins Roger Smith, chairman of General Motors Corporation, and Stanley J. Winkelman, president of Winkelman Stores, as a 30th annual recipient of the Knights of Charity awards, to be presented Saturday, Feb. 25, at a gala dinner program in the Westin Hotel's Columbus Ballroom.

Master of ceremonies will be WXYZ's Bill Bonds. Honorary chairmen are James Blanchard, Max Fisher and Coleman Young; honorary chairwomen, Mrs. Robert Gerisch, Mrs. William Johnston and Mrs. Robert Roselle. General chairman of the evening is Frank Stella.

The awards have been presented since 1954 by the PIME Missionaries to selected individuals who exemplify charity, service and dedication to others, and serve as role models of moral integrity. Past recipients have ranged from Pat O'Brien to Lee Iacocca, from Stanley Kresge to Danny Thomas, from Mrs. Maria Lalli to Perry Como.

The PIME (Pontifical Institute for Foreign Missions) Religious Order was founded in 1850 by Pope Pius IX as an international community of priests and brothers. They have worked in schools, hospitals, leprosy clinics and dispensaries all over the world. PIME was invited to the United States in 1950, by the late Cardinal Mooney of Detroit.

This year's awards dinner has a special significance because it celebrates Blessed John Mazucconi, a PIME missionary who died as a martyr in New Guinea in 1835 and becomes an official saint in the Roman Catholic Church on Feb. 19.

The program begins at 7 p.m. It is open to the public at $125 per plate, black tie preferred. Dinnertime entertainment will be by the Mercyaire, and there'll be dancing to the music of Eddie DeSantis and his Singing Strings and Orchestra. Ticket information may be obtained by contacting the PIME Mission office, 791-2100.

Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

On their way . . .

A pair of proud moms called News offices last week with the news that their sons had signed national letters of intent to attend Michigan colleges next fall. North High quarterback Chris Bingaman and South High fullback Tony Tocco are just two of the many Michigan high school players to commit to a state school.

The very elated Mrs. Bingaman said her 6-2, 180-pound son will attend Hillsdale College on a scholarship. And Mrs. Tocco's boy has received a partial football scholarship to Northwood Institute. Other North and South stars who signed letters of intent last week include South running back Paul Hawk (6-0, 180 pounds) to Central Michigan; North tight end Steve Kennealy (6-2, 225) to Northwood; and South lineman Chris Marshall (6-2, 252) to Northwood.

As Mrs. Bingaman said in her phone call to the News, "it's nice to see these boys get what they deserve after working so hard." Amen.

And speaking of getting what he deserves . . . Grosse Pointe has an All-American in its midst . . . but then, we knew that all the time.

Parade Magazine made it official last week when it released its 1983 All-America High School soccer team. North High's own Marc Tirikian, a 5-10, 165-pound striker/forward for the Norsemen, was named to the squad, one of 15 strikers/forwards from nationwide chosen for the honor. What made it all the nicer was that the honor came after Tirikian's toughest year for the Norsemen, one which saw him score 21 goals despite sitting out much of the year with injuries.

Bursting with pride . . .

There probably isn't much talking going on in the Henry Petri household on Handy Road these days. That's because all the Petris are holding their breath to see how nephew Matt Petri does in the ski jumping event at the Winter Olympics in Sarajevo.

No matter what his finish, the 25-year-old Weston, Mass., restaurant manager is first in the hearts of his family, including his uncle Henry. "It's just fantastic what he's done, training by himself all those months," Petri said last week. "We're proud of him."

Matt Petri is accustomed to making family members and fans alike hold their breath. According to newspaper accounts his uncle has collected, Petri was once dubbed "Human Frisbee" by U.S. ski jumping coach Greg Windsberger for his erratic flights. And three weeks before the Olympics began, Petri didn't even have a spot on the U.S. squad.

He hadn't scored enough points on the competitive circuit to make the U.S. team, and as a long-shot, had to prove himself at the final Olympic trial at Lake Placid, N.Y., Jan. 22. Petri did more than that. He grabbed a first place finish in the trials' 90-meter ski competition with jumps of 101 and 122 meters. His 90-meter ski competition with jumps of 101 and 122 meters. His 122 meter jump was the second-longest ever off the Lake Placid tower — just two meters short of the record jump held by a Norwegian jumper — and got him a spot on the five-man U.S. Olympic team.

Not bad for a guy who took up ski jumping at 15 when he couldn't get a spot on his high school downhill ski team.

And in the Olympics . . .

Nobody asked me, but I sure wish the U.S. Olympic people hadn't gotten involved in all the pre-Games haggling over the other teams' use of "professionals" in the hockey tournament. As a result of the protest, three teams were forced to drop four players. And after all the bickering, the U.S. team went out and blew itself right out of the medal chances by going belly up and losing to Canada, then Czechoslovakia (although that wasn't entirely unexpected) and tying Norway.

I guess that just goes to show that it's always best to shut up . . . just in case you can't "put up."

I did feel sort of sorry for the U.S. hockey team. After the 1980 gold medal, Americans who don't know a puck from a duck approached the 1984 Olympics expecting the U.S. to "beat those Russians" despite the predictions of hockey experts that the U.S. would have trouble enough just getting to the medal round.

And the pressure from the media — which seemed to delight in endlessly rehashing every moment of the 1980 victory at any opportunity — was incredible. I doubt that even the 1980 squad (which received almost no publicity until it pulled off the upset over the Russians in the second round) could have borne up under the strain this year's contingent has endured. People should remember that the U.S. team, unlike the older and more experienced 1980 squad, is comprised of 17 and 18 year-olds, many of whom were still in baby shoes when an Olympian like Russian goalie Vladislav Tretiak was skating in his first Olympics.

Hockey Night in Grosse Pointe II

South and North met last Friday night for the second skirmish in this year's Grosse Pointe Hockey Wars. And South emerged from the game with the season championship, 2-0, by taking a 5-2 victory.

All in all, it wasn't a bad game . . . North goaltender Rick Lass made five of the prettiest saves I've ever seen in holding off a tenacious South attack in the first period. Lass was up and down more than the stock market.

It took just 36 seconds into the game for fans to come up with an obscene chant. But one early total was school officials 1, obscene signs, 0. South added to the excitement with the presence of "The Winger" — the mascot of the Detroit Red Wings. The Winger (a giant, red, rooster-like sort of bird in skates and a Red Wing T-shirt) lived up an already fever-pitch South-North crowd.

Best check of the night: the one South's John Mikessell and North's Bob Nelson put on each other. "Bone crunching" would be putting it mildly, but each stood his ground after the check. But then again, tough checking was the name of the game, for both squads, in last Friday's rematch.

South surprises No. 6 North icers

By Peggy O'Connor

Last Friday's much-anticipated rematch between No. 6-ranked North and No. 15-ranked South was everything hockey fans in Grosse Pointe expected it to be, with one exception: the final score. South won the season series by beating North, 5-2.

After South edged North, 5-4, in the first meeting between the fledgling varsity hockey squads Jan. 11, North players and fans had looked forward to the Feb. 10 meeting in hopes of drawing even with the Blue Devils. And for a while last Friday night, it looked as though the Norsemen might do just that.

South went into the contest missing three players, including George Krappmann, who had surgery on his thumb. But the Blue Devils managed to keep up tremendous pressure on the Norsemen, including a span of time in the first period in which South took five dangerous shots at North goaltender Rick Lass. Lass made several excellent saves, including three on two successive South power plays, before giving up a goal to Blue Devil captain Dan Follis. Phil Pitters assisted on the play.

North was able to turn the tables on South in the second period, applying steady pressure of its own on the Blue Devil goal. But South scored the only goal of the period with under two minutes remaining. A.J. Gibson's unassisted tally put South up, 2-0, at the end of two periods.

Pitters made it 3-0 from Follis early in the third period, before North got going. Craig Capps converted a Marc Tirikian pass and Frank Vento added a goal to bring the Norsemen with one goal. But South's Keith Kovalcik scored twice, Rich Suhrheinrich and Stu Whitney assisting, to put the game out of reach.

South Coach Tim Zimmerman said Monday that he was just as surprised with the outcome of the game as North fans were. Although North went into the game with a 10-5-2 mark and the Blue Devils were 11-4-2, South was rated as the underdog in the contest.

"I really was surprised. I had told the team before the game that everyone had to play the best game of his life and they did. They really played well," Zimmerman said.

"And every one of them was dead tired after the game, too."

Zimmerman's Blue Devils face two more tough games before district play; they play Southfield, which has one loss, then take on No. 2 Flint Powers before finishing up the schedule with River Rouge.

Still, Zimmerman says he looks forward to the districts and perhaps another South surprise.

"They never cease to surprise me . . . they've been doing it all year 'round. I just hope we don't draw North in those regionals."

More than 1,000 fans packed the Grosse Pointe Community Rink for the contest and South athletic director Charles Hollosy said their behavior was improved over the Jan. 11 game.

"On the whole I was pleased with the behavior of the fans. We didn't have any real problems and I think the visibility of our crowd marshalls helped a lot," Hollosy said.

"And I'm extremely happy with the way our team has responded . . . we couldn't be happier."

St. Clare cagers are unbeaten

The undefeated St. Clare boys' varsity basketball team set a single season win record last Sunday with a 36-16 victory over Guardian Angel. The win was the Falcons' 17th victory of the season and, coupled with earlier season tournament championships at Bishop Gallagher and De La Salle, clinched the C.Y.O. East Side divisional title for St. Clare.

The Falcons are qualified to enter the 64-team C.Y.O. playoffs which begin Feb. 25. St. Clare is defending city champion.

Against Guardian Angel, a balanced scoring attack was led by Mike Pauli, Pete Astfalk, Derek Schafran and Keith McQuerry; Derald Penn paced St. Clare on offense.

One week earlier, a previously unbeaten Southgate St. Pius team took St. Clare into overtime before the Falcons pulled out a narrow four-point victory. Also that week, St. Clare had a much easier time in defeating Queen of Heaven, 52-16. Jeff Fikany, Chris Rivers, Jason Whelan, Erik Garr, Mark Addy and Rich McCloud contributed to the victories. St. Clare center Mike Peplowski injured his ankle against St. Pius.

This Sunday, St. Clare takes on St. Joan in the last league game of the season at 5:20 p.m. at St. Clare.

St. Clare's girls' varsity team posted a 37-10 victory over Guardian Angel and upped their record to 14-1. Megan Keller, Jeanne Purrenhage, Sarina Winston and Kerry Petko provided most of the offense.

The remaining St. Clare basketball teams are doing quite well—all will compete in post season play—with the fifth and sixth boys in first place, the seventh grade boys in second and the fifth and sixth grade girls in third place.

Baseball fever

Baseball fever manifests itself in different ways, in this case, it's the strong desire to try on new baseball uniforms. From left to right that's Dane Lupo, Matt Jacklyn, Jim Pote, Scott Lupo, Mary Beth Meeker and Leslie Madar modeling the new Park Little League major league uniforms. Instructional and minor leaguers will get new hats and shirts. Major league teams include the Indians, Orioles and Cardinals; the 1983 Giants, Red Sox and Red Legs are now the Yankees, White Sox and Pirates. Registration for Park youngsters 8 through 12 is Tuesday, March 6 and Wednesday, March 7 from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at Pierce School. Opening day is planned for Saturday, May 5, with a 12:30 p.m. parade and all leagues in action. Regular season play will end June 29.

Annual tennis workshop set

A unique tennis workshop at the Eastpointe Racquet Club Feb. 24 and 25 will provide insight and instruction in coaching, teaching and playing the game.

Featured speakers at the eighth annual Detroit Tennis Clinic will be Nick Bolletieri and Dennis Van der Meer, two of the country's most outstanding clinicians. Clarence Mabry, of New Braunfels, Texas, Chuck McKinley, of Dallas, Jeff Frank, of Davidson College, N.C., and Gundars Tilmanis, of Oregon will also be featured on the two-day program.

The workshop is being sponsored by the Gary Bodenmiller Junior Development Program and the Michigan High School Tennis Coaches Association. Gary Bodenmiller, Tennis Director at the Grosse Pointe Indoor Tennis Club, and Bob Wood, Athletic Director and varsity tennis coach at University Liggett School, are workshop directors.

The annual event is one of the country's largest such workshops and is open to all enthusiasts interested in tennis strokes and strategy.

Registration is $50 per person and includes 16 hours of tennis drill strategy and strokes, complimentary social hour on Friday evening and a continental breakfast Saturday morning, raffle prizes and topic outlines.

The program will run from 9:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. Feb. 25. Eastpointe Racquet Club is at 19001 Nine Mile Road next to I-94.

Further information may be obtained by calling Bodenmiller at 886-2944 or Wood at 884-4444.

Pointers on UD fencing roster

A pair of local residents are on the rosters for the University of Detroit's fencing team this season.

Senior Anne Cusmano, a North High graduate, will be back as the No. 4 woman fencer. After sitting out the 1981-82 season with a fractured foot, she returned to form last year with a 25-37 record. The U of D women's team finished with a 12-7 record last season.

Freshman Peter Sullivan is in the Titan fencers' foil unit this year. He is a Notre Dame High School graduate. The men's team was 8-12 last year.

Nice to hear . . .

Two items in the "that's nice to hear" department this week:

The Grosse Pointe Hockey Association has been telling us all along about its quality program. I've seen it and I believe it, but for those who have doubted it, there's proof. Four GPHA teams (one from each competitive level, excluding Mites and Juniors) have won District III championships this season. The four, who will continue on in state playoff action, are the Squirt A Bandits, the Pee Wee B Islanders, the Bantam AA Blues and the Midget A Marlies.

Nice work folks. And something else I've always known (but am delighted to hear about again) is the extent of the cooperation between the athletic departments at North, South and ULS. South was quite accommodating in moving its scrimmage to McCann Arena so that North and ULS could play in the much larger GPCR this Saturday and that reminded ULS athletic director Bob Wood of just how good the relationship is between the schools.

"Compared to what's going on between public and private schools elsewhere in the state, the relationship between North, South and ULS is quite different. It's amazing how in a lot of communities there's animosity between the public and private schools. In all my years here, Tom Gauerke, Chuck Holley and myself have worked to help one another. And that certainly makes our jobs a lot nicer." Wood says.

Driver-of-the-Year

That's the Shores' Oscar L. (Ozzie) Olson, industrialist and sportsman, presenting 1983 Obsolete Driver-of-the-Year honors — a trophy and $10,000 check — to Bobby Allison (left) NASCAR's 1983 Grand National Champion. Auto racing's most prestigious award is presented annually to an American race car driver selected by a panel of 10 leading motorsports writers from coast-to-coast.

Club spikers end season

The first session of women's volleyball at the Neighborhood Club ended with the tournament championships as 291 teams competed for the three divisional titles. In all, over 300 women played volleyball this fall. The double elimination provided some great excitement as well as a few upsets.

In Division I, the first and second place teams played well and met in the finals. Pacemakers preserved its undefeated status with a 3-1 victory over Sweet Feet for the title. Sweet Feet's only losses were to Pacemakers in league play and tournament.

Division II saw major upsets as the Bon Secours Cruzers, 7-1, and Bull-ettes, 7-1, were defeated early in tournament play. Y-Not-Us, after a 5-3 league record, got hot with five straight victories in the playoffs to take the title. Metrol/Wimpy's had lost to Y-Not-Us in the quarter finals, but won three matches to reach the finals. Especially surprising were the Crazy Eights with their 3-5 ninth place league finish, placing third in the tournament. Along the way they knocked off the first place Cruzers, and reached the finals of the winner's bracket.

Pointer tapped for boat club office

The Clinton River Boat Club named its 1984 officers recently, among them Charles R. (Bob) Mueller, of the Woods, vice-commode. Other officers are Bruce Bellard, of Mt. Clemens, commode; Leonard H. Williams, of Clarkston, rear-commode; Larry Carlen, of Fraser, treasurer; and Fred Seng, of Troy, secretary.

The Tuesday Division was not quite as unpredictable as the Bumpers, 7-1, won their first three playoff games to reach the finals. Their opponent, Clark Brothers, had a 6-2 league record, and had to fight out of the losers' bracket with three victories to make the finals. Along the way they avenged their earlier loss to Dutch Treat. In the finals, Clark Brothers won the opening match 3-2, but Bumpers came back with an impressive 3-0 victory in the second match to take the championship.

North boosters will dance

The Grosse Pointe North Athletic Booster Club will hold its annual dance Friday, Feb. 24 from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. at the Touch of Mink Hall. The Joe Gaglio Orchestra will play for dancing and a buffet supper will be served. Tickets are $7.50 per person.

Special prizes will be raffled off including dinners at some of the finest Grosse Pointe restaurants, unique gifts and some great "fun" prizes. Coach Frank Sumner will present a gift certificate for a "Full Dress Practice with the Great Norsemen Football Team" next fall.

North's Athletic Booster Club sponsors memberships in the Coaches Club and presents the "Swim For Sports" event held in the spring. These activities have provided funds for many benefits to North's athletic programs, including equipping the Strength Training Center and funds for sending the North cheerleaders to compete in the National Cheerleading Championship in Orlando, Fla., in March. A special project this year will be a new trophy case with the initial funds being donated by the Donald Tischbein family.

The Booster Club also provides all the trophies and refreshments for the fall, winter and spring sports awards. The Club has donated well over $100,000 to the athletic programs at North over the years.

Booster Club Board member Jan Dowden, who is handling arrangements for the dance, reports that reservations from invitations sent to all members are coming in very quickly for the event. Members of the community are invited and may call Mrs. Dowden for tickets at 965-3464.

Brownell beats Pierce

The Brownell Bullets won their eighth game of the season last week, topping crosstown rival Pierce, 41-32.

Going into the last quarter down by one, the Bullets' Andre Bielski sparked the offense scoring 12 of his season high 20 points to lead the comeback. Andy Walker played his best game of the season, scoring 15 points and grabbing 14 rebounds. Mike Calcaterra scored four and Eric London added two for the victors.

Earlier in the week Brownell lost a close one to a strong Parcels team, 48-45. Tim Fellows was high scorer of the game with his 15 points. Bielski scored 12 and set a Brownell school record by grabbing 21 rebounds in the game. Mike Finch also set a school record dishing off eight assists.

The Bullets are now 8-3 in league play.

Woods Boat alumni to meet in Florida

Former members of the Grosse Pointe Woods Boat Club who have retired to the west coast of Florida are planning an afternoon buffet for Friday, March 16 at 2 p.m. The group will meet at home of P/C and Mrs. Bill Peeler, 1922 Pebblebeach Court, Venice, Fla., 33595.

Any present or former member of the GPW Boat Club who will be in the vicinity is welcome to attend. Approximately 30 people attended a similar meeting held at the home of Roy and Frances Hillier last March.

A buffet will be provided with the cost being pro-rated among those attending. Refreshments will be BYOB with mixes furnished.

For further information, or reservations contact either the Peelers, or George Tuttle, P.O. Box 5596, Sun City Center, Fla., 33570. Telephone 813-634-3871.

Spring soccer league set

The Pointe Soccer Association and the Neighborhood Club will team up to offer a spring soccer league for girls of all ages.

Leagues will be formed for girls in grades two through 12; ideally, there will be two elementary school leagues divided by grade and ability, a middle school league and a high school league. Fee is $25 and includes jersey, trophy and picture. There will also be an instructional league, where kindergarten girls and boys will combine for an educational and fun soccer experience; league fee is $15.

There will be no conflict between girls' soccer and girls' softball games, so girls may play both if they choose. Soccer players must purchase a Neighborhood Club membership at $10 each or $20 per family, which is valid from Sept. 1, 1983 through Aug. 31, 1984.

Final registration is Thursday, March 1. Evaluation clinics will be held Sunday, March 11 and 18. All girls in grades two through 12 must attend the clinics. League games begin Sunday, April 8 and will be played on Sundays and some Saturdays through June 10.

Registration checks should be made payable to the Neighborhood Club. Refund deadline is Thursday, April 12.

Further information may be obtained by calling Stu Dow of the Pointe Soccer Association, or Greg Brynaert of the Neighborhood Club at 885-4600.

Academy piles up wins

After an up and down January, Grosse Pointe Academy athletic teams began February on a winning note.

The GPA girls' volleyball team won two matches against a strong Green Hills squad, Feb. 4. The eighth grade team topped Green Hills, 15-11, 15-9, with its aggressive play, and the seventh grade squad took 15-3 and 15-8 wins. Leading scorers were Reba Uthappa and Tanya Powell.

The Academy boys split their basketball games Feb. 7. In the first game, GPA sixth and seventh graders came from behind to top Kingsbury, 19-16. GPA's LaMar Wilson had six points and Greg Sanchez and Nick Vournakis added four points each.

The seventh and eighth grade squad took a lead into the third quarter, then lost, 35-32, as Kingsbury caused too many Academy turnovers. GPA's leading scorers were Jim Johnson and John Ledyard with 10 points and Trent Hankins with six.

Little League sign-up set

Registration for new players in the Grosse Pointe Farms-City Little League will be from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 21 and 22 at Brownell Middle School.

The sign-up for boys and girls ages 8 through 12 is the first event of the 1984 Farms-City Little League season, the league's 33rd year. This season will culminate in the District 6 Little League playoffs in July at Elworthy Field in the City.

Registration this year is $25 for one player and $35 for families with two or more players.

Tryouts for players who are not returning to their Major League or Class C teams will be March 4, 10 and 24 for 10 to 12 year-olds and March 31 for 8 year-olds and for 9 year-olds who are new to the league. To be selected for the major league, players must attend at least one tryout. The schedule:

Ruth League plans season

Since last September, the Board of Directors of the Babe Ruth League of Grosse Pointe Farms-City have been working hard to make the 1984 season successful.

This year's officers are Mike Johnson, president; Tim Corbett, treasurer; and Tom Bayko, secretary. Other board members include Bill Adlhoeh, Chris Bielski, Jim Caldwell, Chuck Campbell, Harold Connell, Joe Distelheim, John Hoben, Russ Jones, Jim Kolp, Mike Papista, Marty Potter, Matt Rumora and Bill Tucker.

Registration will be held Feb. 21 and 22 at Brownell Junior High School from 7 to 9 p.m. All new players must register in person. Tryouts will be held on March 31, April 1, April 7, and April 8 at St. Paul's Gym on Grosse Pointe Boulevard. On March 31 and April 7, 13 year-olds will attend tryouts commencing at noon and 14 and 15 year-olds will begin at 2 p.m. On April 1 and 8, 13-year-olds will begin at 2 p.m., while 14 and 15 year-olds will begin at 4 p.m.

ULS-North at GPCR

The North High-University Liggett School varsity hockey game scheduled for this Saturday, Feb. 18 will be played at the Grosse Pointe Community Rink instead of McCann Arena as originally planned. The game will start at 7:20 p.m.; admission is $2.

The change in location came about because McCann Arena can only hold approximately 250-300 people. North's first game against ULS drew nearly 800 people to the GPCR.

"I'd like to publicly thank South athletic director Chuck Hollosy for moving South's scrimmage from GPCR to McCann rink to make it possible for us to play North at GPCR on Saturday," said ULS athletic director Bob Wood.

South wins two in EML

By David Loffredo
South High

South's varsity basketball team continued its quest for EML supremacy last week, winning both of its games and remaining in second place in the EML with a 7-2 league record, behind L'Anse Creuse North and Mt. Clemens.

The Devils began the week with a 57-46 win over East Detroit. Al Ament led the way with 20 points and 11 rebounds. Eric Loudermilk had 15 points and Mike Williams had 10.

Later in the week, South topped Port Huron, 58-46. Loudermilk paced South with 20 points, while Alex Mellos and Al Ament had 11 points. Brian Rathsburg was also hot, with seven assists in each of South's victories.

The EML title could be elusive again this year. To tie for the title, South has to win all of its last five games, including away games against league leaders Mt. Clemens and L'Anse Creuse North.

The Devils play Anchor Bay this Friday, Feb. 17, at home. Tip off is 7:45 p.m.

South's JV basketball team also had a productive week, beating both of its opponents.

The JV began with a 56-41 conquer of East Detroit. Gordie Langs tied South with 15 points and 12 rebounds. On Friday, the team beat Port Huron, 66-49. South trailed 10-5 after the first quarter, but dominated throughout the rest of the game. Sean Bruce paced South with 18 points, while Tim Hudson had 12 points and 11 rebounds.

The JV also plays Anchor Bay Feb. 17. The game will begin at 6 p.m.

Spikers unbeaten

South's volleyball program has been successful this year, with both the varsity and JV teams undefeated.

The JV team increased its unbeaten streak to 11 last week, beating East Detroit, 15-5, 14-16, 15-10, and Port Huron 15-4, 15-11.

In the first game, Mary Ann Montagne led with 15 serving points, and Carrie Rentz had eight. Rentz also led the team with two kills, followed by Cindy Bowman with one kill. Kris Rettig was also hot with seven for seven.

In the second game, Noel Berry has 12 serving points and Charlynn Carrier had five. Kristy Beers was also hot with three kills.

South will continue its quest for perfection this Friday, Feb. 17, away at Anchor Bay. The game will begin at 4 p.m.

The varsity volleyball team also won two, downing East Detroit, 15-13, 15-4, and Port Huron, 15-7, 15-11.

In the first game, Karen Fellows and Ann Schwartz each served for five points. In the second game, the team was paced by Schwartz with four kills and 10 spikes, and Pam Pillsbury had two kills and eight spikes.

Swimmers fall

The South swim team lost for the second time, falling to Dearborn, 106-65. Diver Peter Nicholson won the only event for the South. The highlight of the meet came in the 500 freestyle, where Dickie Clarke qualified for the state meet with a time of 4:55.4.

The team will attempt to avenge its losses this Saturday, Feb. 18 against a very powerful Ann Arbor Pioneer team. The meet is in Ann Arbor and will begin at 2 p.m.

Spikers win

On Tuesday, Feb. 7 the University Liggett School varsity volleyball team downed Plymouth Christian 15-1, 15-4. Senior Lisa Van Dellen was the star server, while junior Simone Early helped the Lady Knights block and spike their way to victory.

Coach Candy Bousquet's team has been plagued with injuries and illness this season. The latest misfortune is the sidelining of Coach Bousquet herself due to mononucleosis.

The surviving spikers were to take to Kingswood at home on Wednesday, Feb. 15 (after press time).

One day makes difference for ULS

The University Liggett School varsity basketball team provided evidence that there is truth in the adage, "what a difference a day makes." In two non-conference contests last week, ULS played one of its worst games of the year only to follow with a stellar effort a day later.

Nothing went right for the Knights when they traveled to Dearborn Riverside on Feb. 7. Cold shooting, sloppy ballhandling and weak defensive effort all contributed to a 69-40 Dearborn rout. Senior center Brian Hunt, with 17 points, was the only Knight to reach double figures.

Things turned around for the Knights the next day, however, as they avenged an earlier, 43-41 loss to Greenhills with a convincing, 57-39 victory at home. For a time it looked as if Greenhills would run away with the game as ULS went for five minutes in the opening period without a basket from the floor and fell behind, 10-4. But the team kept its poise, and was able to close the margin to 12-9 at the quarter. The second quarter ULS outscored its rivals from Ann Arbor, 18-4, to enjoy a 26-16 halftime lead.

The third quarter was a replay of the first with the Knights unable to buy a basket and Greenhills closing the margin to three points midway through the period. ULS regrouped again, and pulled steadily away from that point to the final margin of 57-39. Hunt was again the statistical leader for ULS with 16 points, 10 rebounds and four blocked shots. Junior forward Harold Colby added 15 points and sophomore guard Kirk Haggarty chipped in with a dozen.

Asked about his team, Coach Tony Gallaher responded, "How can anyone explain it? We come out flat against Dearborn Riverside and simply never put ourselves in gear. Against Greenhills I could sense an enormous difference. Even when our shots weren't falling in the first and third quarters we worked the offense well, displayed patience, and never stopped playing good defense."

"We worked the ball against Greenhills' pressure defenses in the fourth quarter as well as we have at any time this year. Explain how the team can change so overnight? It is beyond me. I just hope that we can build on this and play well for the rest of the year."

The Knights are now 9-6 on the year. ULS travels to Maumee, Ohio for a tournament Friday and Saturday, Feb. 17 and 18. Game time is 6 p.m. Friday, and if all goes well the championship game will include ULS at 4 p.m. on Saturday.

University Liggett School freshman Kim Wood blocks a shot as ULS players Gerrit Ocampo and Biz Renick look on. ULS beat Plymouth Christian, 15-1, 15-4.

Matmen are third

By Rick Markel
North High

The preliminary results are in for North's wrestling team, as it placed third in the Bi-County League meet.

Finishing only 10 points behind meet winner Clintondale is a solid finish for the inexperienced Norsemen. In some cases though, a little bit more was expected, especially after coming off such a great week of practice. Some key personnel didn't perform up to par for North, which gave away a lot of experience to league powers.

There were a lot of individuals who excelled for North. Norsemen wrestlers claimed four championships and various other second and third place finishes. Top honors went to Cedric Patmon, Shawn Dowden, Ken Werenski and Steve Taugher of North, all of whom finished first. Steve Kennealy (second) and Fred Degrandis (third) each showed promise. Team superstar Dave Fleming was beaten and settled for second place.

Saturday brings the districts, with the regionals soon to follow. These upcoming outings will prove once and for all how much talent North's wrestlers have.

Team confidence is high and Coach Aceto thinks, "They're ready for it" (the districts). Feeling capable of sending four to five wrestlers into the regionals, North isn't overly worried about the strong competition it will face on Saturday. It would seem that North's fate is generally in good hands as they will undertake a week of workouts. But after such a long season, preparing for the districts (to be held at Highland Park), will be a piece of cake.

Other news that North wrestling Coach Larry Aceto would like to pass on is the forming of a Grosse Pointe Wrestling Club. Already having formed and competed, this club will offer free instruction for interested persons. The age range for the club is 8 and up. Those interested can contact Aceto at North, and Reed at 884-7637, or the Flemings, who can be reached at 886-2929.

Cagers fall

What's left to say that hasn't already been said about North's varsity basketball team? Once again the Norsemen went to battle against a pretty good team, this time Bi-County League leader Lake Shore. A usual, the Norsemen gave them quite a fight and stayed close to the end. But, as in previous games, North came out on the short end, this time by a 49-47 margin.

Mental mistakes and turnovers, which have spelled defeat for North (6-8) in the past were the main culprits. After a quick start which gave the Norsemen an 18-11 advantage it looked like the first place Shorians were in trouble. Losing the lead and trailing 23-20 at the half, North got into what Coach George Olman termed "a transition game." As a consequence, Lake Shore was able to up its advantage and hold on for the victory.

The "transition game" wasn't the only reason for the loss. An offense that played well for much of the time occasionally ran into periods of carelessness. North's 20 turnovers, compared to Lake Shore's eight, also added to the squad's problems. Throw in a third quarter defensive lapse and there was more than enough disadvantages for the game Norsemen.

The team's goal now is to "play to have the best season possible," says Olman. With four out of their last five games at home, North has a great opportunity to do just that. Then again if North could have avoided a few mistakes, and played the type of game they're able to, this would be a prime time

Spikers struggle

North's varsity volleyball team is struggling of late as it dropped two straight to Brablec and L'Anse Creuse. The two losses to league teams hurt North record wise and league wise as they fell to 7-5, overall and 6-3 in the league — two games out in league play.

Losing the first game to Brablec, 12-15, the Norsemen fell behind and then saw a comeback bid fall just short as they lost the second game, 11-15. Marlene Preisz and Paula Harms did a good serving job against Brablec. North then lost to L'Anse Creuse, 7-15 and 10-15.

North's J.V. volleyball team, got even with Brablec as it knocked off the Cougars 15-8 and 15-10. Playing as well as they have all year, the biggest plus for this squad is how well they play together as a team.

Upping their record to an impressive 8-4, North's freshmen volleyball team defeated Lamphere, 10-15, 15-0 and 15-2 before losing to L'Anse Creuse North 10-15, 15-3 and 15-12.

Despite Missy Preston's six point effort in the first game, North's poor serving and overall passing was the difference in the L'Anse Creuse North loss. The next night North also got off to a slow start, but they rallied to claim the victory.

Tankers stun Rice

North stunned highly regarded Birmingham Brother Rice 90-82 in a recent boys' swimming action. North got a superb effort out of everyone involved. The medley relay team of Eric Zimmerman, Scott Hess, Bill Luberto and Tim Monahan took a first place finish in the meet. Brad Cooksey, Dave Chadwell, Mike Reynolds, Tim Monahan and Mike Woods all managed first place finishes for North against Rice. For good measure, the swim team also beat Clintondale, 114-52.

Gymnasts win again

North's gymnastics' team continued to beat everyone in sight and

Local Evans scholars named

A number of local residents are among the 30 Michigan caddies who have been awarded Chick Evans college scholarships as part of the national Evans Scholars program administered by the Western Golf Association.

Charles Lobaito, 18, of Marford Court, a Notre Dame High School senior who caddied at the Lochmoor Club, is the only Pointe resident to receive scholarship honors. Other recipients include Lochmoor Club caddies Robert Saad, 17, of St. Clair Shores, and Kenneth Fanale, 17, of St. Clair Shores, Southlake High; and Country Club of Detroit caddies Jeffrey Barber, 17, of Detroit, and Thomas Hogan, 17, of Detroit, Bishop Gallagher High School; and Randal Weber, 17, of St. Clair Shores, South Lake High School.

Each Evans grant covers full tuition and housing in the Evans Chapter houses on campus at the University of Michigan and Michigan State University. Scholarships are awarded on a competitive basis considering caddie record, academic standing in high school and the need for financial aid.

Pee Wee Division

It took three full overtime periods and then some, but the Pee Wee Islanders came up with a victory, defeating the St. Clair Shores Raiders, 3-2, and capturing the District III B-Division championship.

The winning goal was scored just 49 seconds into the fourth overtime by Frank Lucido (his second) on an assist from Juan Ganum. John Olmsted scored the other Islander goal; Brendan Rohan, Peter McDermott, Lucido and Olmsted assisted.

The Islanders are preparing to face off in the state tournament in Taylor, March 8 through 11.

Earlier, the Islanders posted victories over teams from Warren and Fraser and were undefeated in district play. The Islanders topped the Fraser Astros, 1-0, Feb. 9 to move into the championship finals.

The score saw-sawed through the first period as Andy Vyletel and Rohan scored twice, assisted by Ganum and Olmsted, in the 2-2 first period tie. Vyletel scored the go-ahead goal with two and one-half minutes left in the second period. Shannon Nowiecki assisted on the goal, then scored an unassisted insurance goal himself in the third period.

Playing well were Ganum, Alfred Fisher, Dan Grundman, Billy Wilson, Peter McDermott and goaltender Chris Stebbins.

SABRES—ULS

The Pee Wee Sabres shut down the University Liggett offense and took a 3-0 shutout. The Sabres held ULS to just three shots on goal, all stopped by goalie Sean Trainor. Defenders Cecil Lepard, Eric Shellum, Rob Phillips, Kris Rust and Ed Barbieri broke up other ULS plays.

Scoring for the Sabres were Paul Bogos, assisted by Barbieri and Phillips; Anthony Shusser, assisted by Phillips; and Barbieri, assisted by Slusser.

USA NORTH STARS

The long drought that hit the Pee Wee USA team came to an end when the USA Olympians defeated the North Stars, 3-2.

"Hollywood" Blum and the USA's net minder, Jim "Awesome" Bunn as each goalie traded turns making spectacular saves. USA's Andy West opened the scoring with his first goal of the season in the first period, Eric Ryan assisting, and then joined Jim Pappas in assisting Jonathon Davis score to give the Olympians a 2-0 lead after the first period. The North Stars roared back in the second period when Derek Smith scored two goals each assisted by Jamie Osborne to tie the score.

Raffael Elledge broke loose to give the USA team the lead at the end of the second period. The third period witnessed several good scoring chances by both teams but time and again the goalies turned away every attempt to intrude upon their territory.

USA-SABRES

The USA Olympians faced the Sabres Feb. 12, for the first time in the second half of the season. In a unique scoring play the USA's Bunn found it difficult to stop the puck with the Sabres' Paul Cavazos sitting on him, but three shots were stopped by his teammates until Ed Barbieri put the puck into the net assisted by Mike Torrice and Kevin Kirchner. USA rebounded with a goal when Elledge converted Pappas' beautiful pass to tie the game at 1-1.

Blake Crawford intercepted an errant Sabre pass and skated in all alone on Trainor, the Sabre's goalie, to give USA a 2-1 lead. Seconds after the start of the third period Torrice of the Sabres pounded a loose puck past the USA's goalie to tie the score; Barbieri and Kirchner assisted.

Jonathon Davis took a pass from Peter Cueter and Renato Roxas to give USA the lead for good. Roxas iced the game for the Olympians with a goal of his own after John McGloone and Davis confused the Sabres with some nifty passing to give the USA team a 4-2 victory.

Mite Division

The Blue Dragons and Seals played an outstanding hockey game that saw continuous up and down action, excellent goaltending who was set up perfectly with pretty passing from Timmy Tracy and George Christensen, proved to be the game winner, as the Blue Dragons defeated the Seals, 1-0. Dragons Andy Calandro and Seals Peter Blake were splendid in goal for their teams.

MAJOR MAGICS—BRUINS

The Major Magics skated to a 4-2 victory over the Bruins. John Paul Sweda started off the scoring for the Magics in the top of the first period drawing his assist from Hudson. Chris Gibson of the Bruins assisted on a goal from David Gracey, but Chris Fox notched the next two goals for the Major Magics. The first was on a pass from Matt Spicer and the second unassisted. Gibson earned another assist on Gracey's second goal. Magics' C-liner Kevin O'Malley closed out the scoring in the game on a pass from Hudson.

MAGICS—RANGERS

In one of the finest games to be played in the Mite Division this season, the Major Magics defeated the Rangers, 2-1. Teamwork and some fine passing won this game for the Major Magics. The first period went scoreless, then Hudson opened the scoring in the second period from the Magics on a pass from Booth Platt. Major Magics' leading scorer Matt Spicer notched his goal with assists going to Chris Fox and Scottie Wiczorkowski. The Rangers' Adam MacDonald scored an unassisted goal in the final seconds of the game.

Justin Braun played well in goal for Major Magics. Galen Dossin, in goal for the Rangers, also made many key saves.

KINGS—BRUINS

The Art Van Kings defeated the Bruins, 3-0, in recent house play. Pete Morgan opened the scoring in the first period with assists going to M.J. Morris and Eric Kisskalt. The Yofre brothers, Agustin and Sebastian, assisted Jacob Thomas on the second Kings' goal. Mike Ugval added the final goal, assisted by Danny Bombich and Morgan. Goalie Paul Megler recorded his first career shutout.

KINGS—BLACK HAWKS

The Art Van Kings and the Black Hawks skated to an exciting 2-2 tie, allowing both teams to remain in a got the Hawks on the scoreboard early in the first period assisted by David Pulis. The Kings tied the score with a goal by Agustin Yofre, assisted by Brent Kuhar. In the scoreless second period, the fans were treated to some superior goaltending by Kings' Bobby Rahaim and Hawks' Stephen Wesley.

In the third period, Baskel put the Hawks ahead when he scored on a power play. The Kings rallied late in the third when Pete Morgan and Mike Ugval combined to tie the score.

BLACK HAWKS-RANGERS

The Black Hawks topped an improved Ranger team, 3-1, last weekend. Baskel scored all three Hawk goals to notch his hat trick, his second of the year. David Pulis, Brad Merten and Ryan Scofield drew assists.

The Rangers' Adam McDonald missed Hawk goalie Andy Brewer's shutout bid with 30 seconds left in the game, finishing off an end-to-end rush by scoring on his own rebound. The Hawks' unbeaten streak stretched to seven with the win.

MAGICS-DRAGONS

The Magics held on to first place with this 4-1 win. The Magics' Spicer earned a hat trick, drawing assists from Chris Fox and Robbie Wiczorkowski. C-liner Kevin O'Malley scored from Hudson. Joe Pierce, Carl Rashid, Rickey Gokenbach, Billy Faber and Leo Salvaggio played well.

Steven Steckel scored for the Dragons, Phil Descamps assisting. Goaltender Bryan Cass played well.

Bantam AA

The Bantam AA Grosse Pointe Blues have won the District III championship for the fourth year in a row. Six Blues remain from the original 1978 travel team: Bob Alcott, Tim Bohan, Matt Dennis, Rob Koehler, Dan Spitz and Pahl Zinn. Rob Kirsch and Jeff Lacca have played on all the district champ teams Ken Frank and Bob Hastings on three teams; David Johnston on two. New Blues are Scott Markiewicz, Grant Patterson, John Phillips and Chris Yangouyian.

The Blues' first game of the district was a preview of the playoffs. The Blues faced Fraser, which Blues scored the only goal of the game midway through the second period when Zinn sent Spitz in on a breakaway. Phillips played well in the nets in the 1-0 win.

The Blues broke out on top in the next contest against Royal Oak when Kirsch and Patterson scored. Zinn made it 3-1 before Royal Oak tied it up and sent the game into overtime.

The Blues completely dominated the first and second overtime periods but couldn't score. Dennis was also holding back Royal Oak with his netminding. But in the third overtime, Frank picked up an Alcott rebound and gave Grosse Pointe the 4-3 win.

The Blues then had to take one of two games from Fraser. In game one, the Blues found themselves down, 2-0, before Tim Bohan scored. After a Fraser goal, Koehler and Kirsch scored to tie it for Grosse Pointe, but Fraser got the winner, 4-3, in overtime.

The Blues quickly took the lead in the final game when Patterson scored early in the first period. He added another goal in the second period and the Blues won the game, 2-0, and the championship as fine checking and the great goaltending of Phillips preserved the win.

Squirt A

The Squirt A Bandits qualified for the state tournament in Garden City with their District III win last week.

After drawing a bye in the first game, the Bandits then skated to a 3-1 win over St. Clair Shores. Bob Cass tied the game with his unassisted goal in the second period. The Bandits took a 2-1 lead on a goal from Kevin Watson. Mark Sliwinski assisting. And when St. Clair Shores pulled its goalie for an extra attacker, Watson intercepted a pass and scored to insure the victory. Jason Hall got the win in the nets.

In the playoff game, the Bandits took a 2-1 win over St. Clair Shores. Michael Kuna slammed home a Todd Frederickson pass to open the scoring before St. Clair Shores tied it up. In the third period, Watson finished off a play from Sliwinski and Andrew Vandeweghe to give Dustin Kolodge the win in goal.

Also contributing to the victories was the strong play of defenseman forechecking and persistency of forwards Stefan Tietge, Brad Warezak and Patrick O'Brien.

Pee Wee A

The Pee Wee A Bruins traveled to Toronto last month for three exhibition games.

The boys came out flying Jan. 28, downing the Royal Nationals, 11-0. Marc Orsini earned his fourth shutout in goal. Mark Grebik had opened the scoring four minutes into the game with assists from linemates Nicky Leone and Peter Donaldson. Brian Kroenke scored twice, from Bobby Beltz and Michael Coello; then he set up Robert Bourdeau for the fourth goal. John Deacon closed out first period scoring with help from Ray Jewell and Jason Erbecker.

Jewell and Erbecker combined to set up Bourdeau who scored to open the second period. Donaldson tipped in a Leone shot before Deacon closed out the second period scoring with two goals; Brian Kiernicki and Blake Crawford drew assists.

Kroenke got the last goal of his hat trick and Grebik closed out the scoring in the third period; Bourdeau and Jason Weid assisted on the plays.

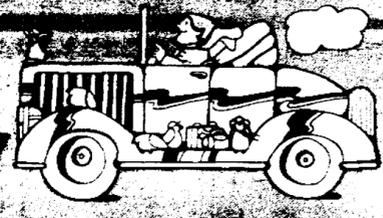

The Bruins fell to a tough Mississauga team, 4-1. But the Bruins rallied in their third match of the day, defeating the Meadowvale Royals, 5-2. Coaches Weid, Grebik and Morris expressed their pride in the squad during the three-game series.
