A real pro

It's awfully tough to surprise Bill Rock. But that's what happened recently in Chicago when Rock was presented a plaque at the 15th annual Collectors Association convention honoring him for his years as a magician's magician.

Rock, who recently retired after working 34 years at Whittier Cleaners, was one of America's premiere professional magicians, working the vaudeville boards with legends like Harry Houdini, Harry Thurston and Harry Blackstone.

In those days, Bill would spend 40 to 50 weeks of the year on the road entertaining in the U.S., Canada and Mexico. Nowadays, he visits friends and relatives and attends numerous conventions like the recent one in the Windy City where he gave a 45 minute talk to magicians from around the world. He got a standing ovation, too.

While he was there, he attended the White Sox's opening game against the Tigers, which our boys handily won. When he got back home, he also attended their opener against the Texas Rangers. Once again, we won.

I wonder if Bill would mind traveling with the team to work his magic all season long?

Take me with you!

Congratulations are in order for Phoebe Weinberg, manager of Greatways Travel Corp in the Farms, as one of 15 travel agents in North America invited to celebrate the maiden voyage of the Sea Goddess I in Monte Carlo.

Ms. Weinberg was chosen from more than 100,000 travel agents to attend the inaugural festivities presided over by her Highness Princess Caroline.

Ms. Weinberg left Motown last week and spent a special day in Monte Carlo before attending a private concert, followed by a candlelight supper at the Hotel de Paris. She was then scheduled to return to earth, (read Detroit), on Monday, April 16.

The Robb Report

It's not often that a reporter gets questioned by another reporter, but it happened to Free Press writer Robb Musial Monday evening after the close of the school board meeting at Trombly School.

Musial, a parent and Woods resident, has been a reporter for the Friendly's east side section covering Grosse Pointe and adjoining cities for some months now.

He was, admittedly, a little surprised when GP News editor Susan McDonald asked him if it was true that he had signed a petition asking for the recall of school board members. He was, in fact, one of the first to sign, on Jan. 21, the day the petition drive was launched.

"Yes, I signed. I'll sign to let anybody have a vote on anything," said Musial. "I'll sign for hand guns and against hand guns. For anything to give people a vote."

Musial has extensively written about the Board of Education, including three stories in last Thursday's east side edition.

St. John Hospital grows, part of $222 million plan

By Harriet Nolan

Whether one prefers to use the '80s slang "you've come a long way baby" or the more dignified proverb "from little acorns big oak trees grow," it's evident that something big is going on at St. John Hospital, and on and on and on . . .

"In fiscal year 1983, our gross combined operating revenue was $123 million," says Glenn Wesselmann, vice-president and chief executive officer of St. John. On May 1, he will succeed James T. Farley who will retire as president.

The $123 million Wesselmann refers to doesn't include $111 million the hospital received last year as a result of a bond sale to pay for the new construction and renovation over a five-year period.

But, looking back to when St. John opened its doors in the early 1950s, who would have realized that the then gigantic sum of $2 million that was raised wouldn't rate a raised eye-brow in today's market? Who would have guessed to what gigantic proportions the health industry would grow?

And while it's important to succeed financially, it's just as important to not lose touch with the people you serve, says Wesselmann. "We don't want to lose the human quality."

One would never suspect that while the hospital, set on 17.3 acres, may appear to be the main focus, it's fast becoming only one of several business components run by the Sisters of St. Joseph under the name of St. Clair Health Corporation.

The most important projects for the near future include seeing the new building completed, followed by modernizing the present hospital.

The 607-bed teaching hospital will enjoy a total of 260,000 square feet of space when the new addition is completed. No beds will be added, but the space provided will allow for the latest in technology and provide for the care of critically ill infants, children and adults in new surgical suites and critical care units.

A highly sophisticated emergency center, rated as one of the 50 major trauma centers in the nation, will be able to handle the entire spectrum of life threatening situations. St. Clair Health Corporation is waiting for an answer from the state on a bid it submitted to develop an extended care facility on the land formerly occupied by Austin High School. The acquisition price for the land and buildings are $1.8 million and further development of a 200-bed nursing home would cost another $5 million, says Wesselmann.

A free-standing ambulatory surgery clinic is being evaluated for use near the hospital and satellite centers will be needed for people who have to report for follow-up programs after leaving the Oxford Institute.

Another future project, according to Wesselmann, is improving the physical facilities and resources at the newly acquired Harrison Hospital. Also a venture with Beaumont and Oakwood St. Clair Renal Center is a familiar place to patients who have to make thrice-weekly visits for dialysis. Staff at the center also make referrals to Hutzel Hospital for kidney transplants and teach patients at home-dialysis.

Hospitals is being formulated. The merger, under the banner United Health Systems, will offer medical service to corporations and businesses for their employees.

The hospital also plans to exercise its option to buy the Pointe Plaza Shopping Center at Seven-Mack Avenue in 1987. At this time, Wesselmann says the plan is to continue making it a viable shopping area.

"We want to capture referrals and hold on to where we are," says Wesselmann. "We are in the business of health care, while having the hospital remain viable."

And keeping the hospital viable includes having a financial hand in all phases of operations.

One of these businesses is the St. Clair Renal Center, which grossed 1.9 million in operating revenue last

Possibly the only thing more beautiful than sunlight on Lake St. Clair is the return of the giant ore carriers that signals the welcomed return of spring. Richard land lease okayed

By Susan McDonald

Jon Gandelot called for a vote Monday night and ended nearly 30 years of negotiation between the Board of Education and city of Grosse Pointe Farms over a parcel of prime Kercheval land.

The vote was 6-0 in favor of leasing the parcel in front of Richard Elementary School to the Farms, which plans to develop a 74-space parking lot there. The decision was greeted with cheers by Farms councilmen and business owners on the Hill, who say the parking is badly needed. Some Richard parents opposed the decision, saying it will do nothing to benefit their kids.

Gandelot called the question, and forced the vote, after nearly an hour's discussion of the lease led by his fellow board member Roger Mourad. Mourad abstained from the final vote after questioning, at length, the financial aspects of the lease.

In exchange for a 15-year lease on the land, the Farms has agreed to make $50,000 worth of improvements to two playgrounds near Richard school, including construction of a full-sized sports field on adjacent land. The money is part of the city's 1984 Community Development Block Grant from the federal government and must be spent by June 30 of this year.

The Farms will finance construction of the lot, but councilwoman Nancy Waugaman says she doesn't know how, just yet.

"That's the first order of business that must be taken care of next," Mrs. Waugaman said at the school board's Monday meeting. "We'll have to get to work on that immediately if we're to have the lot completed before school reopens next fall."

Ed Kiska, president of the Hill Merchants Association, said after the meeting at Trombly school, that the new lot will be a boon to the lower end of the shopping area. "It's great that they're finally going ahead with this. This should have been done a long time ago," Kiska said.

Traffic and marketability studies of the Hill area have repeatedly indicated additional parking is needed if retail businesses are to flourish. The new single-level, metered parking lot will serve the Central Library, lower Hill and Punch and Judy Theater.

The land is now a paved playground that is seldom used by students because its hard surface is considered dangerous, according to Richard Principal Dr. Claire Basco.

The Farms and school board first began discussing the possibility of building a parking lot in front of Richard in the late 1950s, when a "land swap" between the two units of government was considered. The proposal was revived in 1978 and again this year, when the Farms received its federal grant to improve the Hill.

Board member Mourad objected to the current proposal because, he said, "I'm not comfortable with the equation on the lease."

"This is an expensive piece of property," he noted. "We're just getting $50,000 for it."

But Gandelot and board president Joan Hanpeter defended the proposal, saying the board has an obligation to cooperate with other community interests.

"It's exceedingly difficult to park near the library and other businesses on the Hill, especially at night," Gandelot said. "This will help those businesses and we're getting another quality playfield too."

The search begins

New superintendent may be hard to find

By Susan McDonald

Local school board members should be getting good at conducting searches for new superintendents by now. Kenneth Brummel became the third superintendent to resign before he spent five years on the job earlier this month, launching the board on a search for its fourth head in 10 years.

But this spring's nation-wide effort to find his replacement may be more difficult than past years'. For one thing, two other top Michigan school districts, Ann Arbor and Bloomfield, are also in the market for new superintendents. And Grosse Pointe's well-publicized ruckus over the board's decision to close a school next fall may scare some candidates away, trustees say.

More members of the community will likely be watching the board and wanting a say in the selection process this time, as well. When Brummel was picked for the job three years ago scarcely a soul attended meetings or asked questions.

But David Easlick, Jr., and other members of the group working to recall trustees who favored the school closings, are promising to be active this time around. Easlick said in an interview last week that he was glad to see Brummel go so that his group could "pick a new superintendent who doesn't think elementary schools should be closed." The recall organization could win control of the school board by late summer if it succeeds at the polls in June.

But not everyone is happy to see Brummel, 49, leave for his new job as superintendent of Orange Unified schools, serving the area around Anaheim, Santa Ana, Orange and Yorba Linda near Los Angeles, Calif. School board

Arrested at Metro — Feds charge tax evasion

By Tom Greenwood

The U.S. Department of Justice announced last Friday in a press release that Farms resident Stuart Crane, 53, has been arrested and charged with four counts of tax evasion, obstruction of justice, and making false declarations before a grand jury.

The indictments against Crane were returned by a federal grand jury on Thursday, April 12. According to his attorney, John Carlisle, Crane was arrested by U.S. Marshals at Metropolitan Airport last Friday as he was about to depart on a business trip.

Crane was then arraigned before a U.S. Magistrate in Detroit's Federal building. After his arraignment, Crane was released on an unsecured $200,000 personal bond. According to Carlisle, Crane immediately returned to the airport to begin his business trip.

"Mr. Crane has unrestricted travel in the continental United States," said Carlisle. "As for his arrest at the airport, the government is just trying to make a big deal of it. They knew he was leaving Detroit and waited until he was at the boarding gate. They tried to make it look like they ' nabbed ' him trying to flee the country. They could have arrested him at home a lot easier."

The indictment alleges that Crane evaded payment of federal income taxes for the years 1977, '78, '79 and '80. According to Carlisle, the amounts allegedly owed for those years respectively are: 1977-$1,761; 1978-$775; 1979-$37,054; and for 1980-$100,392.

The indictment also charges that Crane withheld and tried to remove and conceal business records which had been subpoenaed by the grand jury, and that he lied during a grand jury appearance on April 14, 1982.

Crane is a former accounting professor who holds a Ph.D. in business from Indiana University and was formerly the Dean of the Business School at Bob Jones University. He has been identified as the owner of several motels in Detroit.

If convicted, Crane faces up to five years in prison, $10,000 in fines or both on each of the four counts of tax evasion. He can be subjected to additional civil tax, penalties and interest upon conviction. He also faces five years imprisonment, a $5,000 fine or both on the obstruction of justice charge, and a $10,000 fine on the charge of false declarations before a grand jury.

In December, 1983, Crane was found guilty in Michigan Records court of 15 counts of tax fraud and was later sentenced to three years probation by Records Court Judge Warfield Moore Jr. He was also found not guilty of two counts of withholding cigaret taxes from the vending machines at his motels.

Crane was also ordered at that time to make restitution in the amount of $1,046 in disputed taxes, turn over all books and records pertaining to his businesses to the U.S. Treasury Department and was ordered to pay a $500 fine for each of the 15 counts of tax fraud.

During his trial, Crane claimed that the state had reneged on paying for the housing of welfare recipients, ex-mental patients and ex-cons at two of his motels and that he had withheld taxes to deduct what was owed him by the state.

TV personality comes to town

Dr. Joan Israel, popularly known for her participation on Mort Crim's "Free 4 All" panel, will speak about "How to Value Yourself While Supporting Others," at the War Memorial, Monday, April 23, at 8 p.m., and Tuesday, April 24, at 10 a.m.

For over a decade the expectations about a person's responsibilities to family, friends and community have been changing. With the changes there have also been an increased number of options made available, particularly to women.

Dr. Israel will discuss the ramifications of these options upon traditional and non-traditional roles which women are choosing in the 1980s. She will also address the problem of how to handle differing opinions on these roles, often offered by well-meaning families and friends. Each lecture will be followed by a question and answer period.

Dr. Israel has a graduate degree in social work from Smith College, is co-author of two books, "Looking Ahead" and "Surviving the Change," and is presently in These include John Adair, Jr. of Hawthorne Road; Tom Fitzgerald of Neff Road; and two Weber brothers, Dave and Richard, who lived on Lakeshore Road.

So far, I can't find them. These guys would have been boys in the mid-40s and early 1950s. If anyone has any information, either call 476-2073 or drop me a line at 33436 Shiawassee Road, Farmington, Mich. 48024.

Strong door fouls burglary attempt

Grosse Pointe Park police reported that a resident in the 16600 block of Jefferson will luckily only have to replace his front door after an apparent burglary attempt.

"Apparently someone used their shoulder against the door but it didn't give and there was no entry," said Henry Counce, Park police chief.

Chef's food show announces winners

Professional chefs and aspiring students converged at Cobo Hall on Sunday, April 1, bringing with them over 400 edible creations to be judged in Michigan's largest culinary competition.

More than 10,000 persons viewed the hors d'oeuvres, pates, cakes and pastries in the 11th annual Hospitality Industry Culinary Art Salons, sponsored by the Michigan Chefs de Cuisine and the Michigan Restaurant Association.

Two separate culinary competitions actually took place, a student salon and a professional chef's salon.

Winners from Grosse Pointe included gold medal winners Mark Kuzma, from the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, and Derek Stanczyk, also from the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. Stanczyk won a gold medal for a "Most Original Piece," from American Express.

Also receiving a Judge's Special Award and Gold Medal award was Chef William Wolf, of Sparky Herbert's, in the Park.

Professional chefs, judged according to American Culinary Federation rules, received points and medals which go toward recognized chef certification.

Lucas begins petition drive with attack on county board

Wayne County Executive William Lucas hopes to collect 90,000 signatures on five charter amendment proposals by mid-June to put them before county voters in November, his office said Monday.

Two rallies Saturday kicked off the "Say Yes to County Reform" campaign with the circulation of petitions to put the charter amendments on the ballot. A "Say Yes to County Reform" committee was also formed with headquarters in Suite 2201, 65 Cadillac Square, Detroit, 48226.

- The five amendments would:
- Abolish the Road Commission and put it under the executive's Office of Public Works.
 - Turn the elected drain commission post into a county executive appointment.
 - Take away board of commission rights to approve contracts.
 - Allow executive appointments without commission approval.

• Turn certain court clerk functions over to the executive. Lucas decided to begin the petition drive after the board of commissions failed to act on his request to put the amendments on the ballot, Lucas aide Bill Johnson said.

"There has been no indication (commissioners) will put any of these proposals on the November ballot," Johnson said. "Mr. Lucas believes the people have a right to see these proposals."

Johnson said the executive sent the commission the five amendments in mid-February and asked they take action on them by March 16. The commission "just flatly refused" to take up the matter to put the items on the ballot as they are empowered to do, he added.

The committee needs to collect 75,000 signatures from registered voters by July 6 to guarantee a spot on the ballot. The committee hopes to have the signatures collected by mid-June to give the county clerk more time to verify the signatures, Johnson said.

In a March interview, First District Commissioner John Hertel said he agrees with the abolition of the drain commissioner and the three-member road commission board and their merger into the Office of Public Works.

Hertel said he opposed the transfer of contractual approval from the commission and the imposition of a "just cause" showing for the rejection of appointments. He characterized both as "dangerous and unprecedented power" for Lucas.

Lucas has taken a harder line toward the commission, partly because of its failure to act on the amendments, Johnson said. In a press release announcing the Saturday rallies, Lucas is quoted as saying waiting for commission action "is too risky."

A summer of music in the making

The 27th annual Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival committee met recently to plan a summer full of light and classical concerts at the War Memorial. This year's general chairman (third from left) Mrs. John Elias, will be assisted by honorary chairman Mrs. Sterling S. Sanford (second from right), and founder and artistic director Alexander Sucek (far right). Mrs. John Rainey (far left) will be in charge of the classical series and Mr. and Mrs. William Lafer (in rear) will chair the light series. Seven concerts in all are scheduled, from a Trinidad Tripoli Steel Band performance to a Grosse Pointe Symphony Pops, both to be held outdoors, lakeside, followed by a fireworks display. Other concerts include a trio recital, a performance by the winner of this spring's piano competition, on April 29, a Cabaret evening, and concerts by the Baroque Chamber Orchestra and Russian Balalaika Orchestra and dancers.

Stop! to fight child abuse

Members of The Exchange Club of Grosse Pointe will nearly "roadblock" one of Grosse Pointe Woods' intersections on Saturday, April 29. Garbed in bright orange caps and vests, the Exchangeites will be accepting donations from motorists in an effort to raise $100,000 for the prevention of child abuse in America.

"Roadblock" is The Exchange Clubs of America's national quest for public education and support of child abuse prevention. The National Exchange Club Foundation for the Prevention of Child Abuse is already helping hundreds of children through its 12 centers in the U.S. and Puerto Rico. Another 15 centers are scheduled to open in the near future. The Prevention Centers use trained volunteer lay therapists to counsel abusing parents and have achieved an impressive 98 percent success rate in ending abuse within those families, according to Mike Reynolds, president of the local club.

"The success of the foundation centers is so outstanding that we have dozens of applications from other communities that want centers in their town," Reynolds said. "That's why we desperately need public support so that we can continue to release children from lives of fear and pain."

Reynolds said national statistics which show that child abuse is prevalent in all levels of our society. Based on past years, at least one million cases will be reported in 1984. Millions more will go undetected. At least 70 percent of those children will die from parent inflicted injuries. The victims are mere infants in half of the cases of serious child abuse.

"The horrible thing," Reynolds said, "is that abused children usually grow up to be abusing parents. That's why if we don't do something about it, child abuse will continue to increase at an exceedingly rapid pace. But now we have a way to slow it down and, hopefully, with the help of the rest of America, eventually stop it."

The local Exchange Club members will be conducting Child Abuse Prevention Roadblocks across the U.S. and Puerto Rico during April, National Child Abuse Prevention Month. The Exchange Clubs of America are also involved in many other ventures which benefit communities across the country, such as National Crime Prevention Week and the Freedom Shrine programs. Exchange is the largest service club which proactively limits its activity to the U.S. and Puerto Rico, with over 1,300 clubs.

Park marks Arbor day

The entry that took first place in the Arbor Day poster contest conveyed more than a picture, but an idea, according to Al Mazur, vice-chairman of the Grosse Pointe Park Beautification Commission. Tara Devon's rendition of a tree-lined street bore the caption "Remember when our streets looked like this? Won't you please plant a tree?"

"It addressed the issue of preserving existing trees as well as preserving the continued planting of trees," said John Crawford, Grosse Pointe Park City Manager.

"We felt a lot of thought went into it."

Miss Devon, of St. Clare of Montefalco School, won $10 for her self and a tree to be planted at her school. The contest was open to all fourth grade students in the Park, said Mazur.

Miss Devon and the other 37 poster contestants will receive a pine tree seedling and a "Tree-City-USA Button" at Arbor Day ceremonies to be held Friday, April 27, at 10:30 a.m. at Patterson Park.

All poster entries are on display at the Park municipal office.

Piano concert will be held at Ford House

An evening of music for two pianos will be presented at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House, Sunday, April 29, at 7:30 p.m., by Doris Eubank of Grosse Pointe Park and Fontaine Laing of Novi.

Tickets are $6 and reservations may be made by calling 885-7624. Mrs. Eubank and Mrs. Laing appear frequently in chamber music recitals, which include yearly programs for the Grosse Pointe Chamber Players and an annual two-piano concert at the Ford House.

Mrs. Laing is the founder of a series of chamber recitals in Novi, both pianists teach privately and at the Detroit Community Music School, and are active in the Tuesday Musicales of Detroit. Mrs.

Eubank is the director of music at the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church.

Included in the program are Sonata by Mozart, Rondo by Chopin, Allegro Brillante by Mendelssohn, Carnaval a la Nouvelle-Orleans by Milhaud and music by Rameau and Mozart-Busoni. A reception will follow the concert.

An Ecumenical Tre Ore Service will be held on Good Friday, April 20, from noon until 3 p.m. at St. Clare of Montefalco Church on Whittier and Mack in Grosse Pointe Park.

Jesus on the Cross. Each segment will include prelude, congregational hymn, scripture, meditation, musical reflection and concluding prayer. Worshipers may attend any or all of the seven segments. Ushers will be seating people during the preludes which divide the segments.

Offerings made by worshipers will be given to People in Faith United which operates five community ministries reaching more than 800 families a week. These include a senior citizen food and friendship program; Crossroads East, providing personal counseling, emergency aid, food and clothing; a youth program building leadership among black children; a soup kitchen serving 2,000 meals a week; and a housing initiative. Christ Chorale to perform Brahms requiem

The Christ Church Chorale, orchestra and soloists will perform the famous "German Requiem" written by Johannes Brahms at 7:30 p.m. on Good Friday, April 20. Brahms, a 19th century Lutheran, was contemplating death when he wrote the work in 1868, and compiled a text from the Bible, a diversion from the liturgical requiem mass in Latin used by other composers such as Verdi, Berlioz, Dvorak and Durufle. The score is written for chorus and orchestra and is filled with rich harmonies, flowing melodies and colorful orchestration.

The 65-voice Christ Church Chorale and members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra will perform.

The soprano soloist will be Barbara Rondelli, who has performed in Germany, Portugal, Switzerland and Denmark, and most recently in the role of Madame Butterfly with the Northern Indiana Opera Association.

Bass soloist will be David Ludwig, a Christ church parishioner who is completing his graduate work in voice and opera at Indiana University.

Tickets are priced at $7 (reserved seating) and $5 for transcripts and rear of church. Call the church office (885-4841) for tickets, reservations and information.

Authentic baroque concert at the Ford House

Flauto e Basso Baroque Duo will conclude its forth Music from the Age of Enlightenment season, on May 5, at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House.

"The Rivalry: Music of France and Italy," a concert featuring Corelli's variations on "Follia" and a Telemann trio for two recorders and basso continuo, flute, and Daniel Jencka, harpsichord. The duo will be joined by Joy Crawford, recorder, and Debra Lonergan, baroque cello, for other works showing the wide influence of French and Italian musical styles.

Cirtin and Jencka, who perform prominently in the Detroit-Windsor area, are well known for their authentic originals found in museums around the world.

"The Rivalry: Music of France and Italy" will first be performed on Saturday, April 28 in Bloomfield Hills at the Birmingham Unitarian Church, located on Woodward Avenue at Lone Pine Road.

The concert will be repeated on

Cities are considering water rate changes

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Cities are still mulling over changes in water and sewer rates they will pay after July 1 before deciding the rates they will charge residents.

Park and Shores officials said they may hold the line on residential rates although the rates the cities pay will change. City officials said it is probable the rate it charges residents will rise, but no final decision has been made. Woods and Farms officials said they were unsure of the effect the changing rates they pay will have on residential rates.

The Woods, Shores, and Park receive water from the Detroit Water and Sewerage Board. The Farms and City use water pumped from the lake by the Farms. All five communities have sewage treated by Detroit. The Woods and Shores also pay a surcharge to the county as part of the Northeast Drainage District.

The Woods and Park will receive decreases in water rates they pay. The Woods rate will drop from $2.69 per 1,000 cubic feet to $2.59 per 1,000 cubic feet. The Park's rate is scheduled to drop 20 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of water after July 1, from the current $3.60 to $3.40.

The Shores is scheduled to receive a 26-cent increase in its water rate per 1,000 cubic feet after July 1, according to the Water Board. The Shores' current rate of $3.66 will increase to $3.92.

Shores Village Superintendent Michael Kenyon said the village will hold the line on its water rate charged to residents. While the village will pay more for water, its sewage treatment rate has decreased, partially offsetting the higher charge for water, he added.

Because of a continuing deficit in the city's water and sewer fund, the Park will most likely maintain the rate it charges residents despite the city being charged less for water and sewage treatment, city clerk/assessor Nunzio Ortisi said.

While City officials expect the rate it is charged for water by the Farms to remain the same, a 5.6 percent increase in the sewer rate it will pay could increase residents' rates, according to City Manager Thomas Kressbach. It is probable, but not certain, that rates for residents will be increased to offset the increases the city will pay, he added.

Farms and Woods officials said they are awaiting the setting of their respective sewer rates.

So far, the Shores has been notified it will pay less for each 1,000 cubic feet of sewage it has treated. The current rate of $5.08 will drop to $4.87 after July 1, a decrease of 21 cents. The Park rate will also decrease, from the current $4.58 per 1,000 cubic feet to $4.36 for the same amount, according to city officials.

The city expects an increase in its rate to $6.75 per 1,000 cubic feet of sewage, up from $6.39 for the same amount. The city also pays a flat monthly charge for sewage treatment that will decrease after July 1, officials said.

The flat monthly charge is expected to decrease $83, from $2,460 to $2,377, Kressbach said. The decrease however won't affect rates because 95 percent of the city's cost comes from the per 1,000 cubic feet charge, he added.

Farms officials are still negotiating their sewer rate and flat monthly charge, Carrol Lock said. As it stands, the city may end up with a higher per 1,000 cubic feet charge while receiving a lowered flat monthly charge, but there will probably be a small increase in cost to the city, he added.

Cities are charged by Detroit for the water and sewage treatment they use. The cities then must add their administrative, repair and personnel costs to those rates to determine the rates for residents.

A grim but realistic forecast

Downsizing and even closing some public colleges and universities in Michigan will be required to enhance the quality of higher education in the future, according to the governor's commission on higher education. That is a grim but realistic forecast, in this newspaper's opinion.

In its progress report, the commission warned that the state's system needs more careful targeting of its efforts and resources to maximize scarce dollars and respond to future needs. These goals are necessary because, the commission found, state financial support will remain relatively static until 1990 and enrollment is expected to decline at least 10 percent overall.

LIKE TOPSY, Michigan's system of higher education "just grew." Its system is the most autonomous in the nation, and now the state is paying the penalty for such freedom. The state can't seem to afford much more financial support and the tuition rates, already among the very highest in the nation, apparently will continue to rise.

The commission did recommend two important policy decisions. It urged all institutions to establish an immediate moratorium on significant new programs until a better statewide review process is under way. And it recommended the continuance of the governor's moratorium on capital outlay until priorities can be established even for funds to meet maintenance and equipment problems.

As part of its task of reviewing current problems in higher education, the commission is planning a series of statewide public forums. They ought to give the general public as well as the interested institutions more opportunities for input into the final commission report which is due in October and which will include specific recommendations and attainable solutions.

The commission rejected the idea of a single governing body or superboard to guide the institutions of higher education on the grounds it would be neither "politically practical nor administratively prudent." Yet it is still seeking some kind of a strategic planning mechanism to ease recommendations such as those for administrative mergers, program consolidations and eliminations, and more clearly defined rules and missions for each institution.

In recent history, and especially since the system of teachers' colleges has been converted into a system of universities and more community colleges have been organized, higher education has become a victim of log-rolling in the state Legislature. Regions and areas served by specific institutions have fought for advantage for their particular colleges and universities without too much regard for the overall picture. The result has been detrimental to the higher quality institutions and especially to the state's best, the University of Michigan. So much better coordination of programs and targeting of appropriations are both needed.

The commission is wisely focusing some attention on precollegiate education on the grounds that it must be strong and challenging in order to turn out high quality graduates who can benefit from higher education. The broadening of the base of those attending institutions of higher education obviously has already affected the caliber of students. But programs offered at colleges and universities have not always taken this change of base into consideration.

IT WILL BE DIFFICULT, some say even impossible, to achieve a consensus on the state's future needs in higher education. As the commission suggests, that aim can be accomplished only if those concerned "set aside their parochial interests and consider the purposes of higher education for all the people of this state." Yet it is clear that current trends cannot be permitted to continue without further damage to the state's most valuable resource — its young people — and further losses to the rest of the people of Michigan.

An exchange or propaganda?

A new Soviet Department of Disinformation or an honest exchange of views about issues involving the United States and the Soviet Union? Which is it that the Information Department of the Soviet Embassy in Washington is offering to the American press?

Those are the questions that arose in the minds of the editors of the Grosse Pointe News last week when they received a letter from Yuri Popov, deputy chief of the Soviet Embassy's information department, offering to have Soviet experts answer readers' questions about world events involving the USSR.

AT FIRST WE WERE puzzled that the Grosse Pointe News had been selected for this type of exchange. The News is a community paper which does not cover world events on any regular basis. Then it occurred to us that the letter might have been prompted by the recent exchange in the News' letters column over the comments made by the Rev. William Philippe, pastor of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, after a recent trip to Cuba. But a story in Editor & Publisher offered a better explanation.

The magazine explained that the Popov letter had gone to many American newspapers and that the Soviet Embassy is also offering the Moscow News as a forum for American journalists and government officials to respond to letters from Russian citizens. Popov's letter to the News said, in part:

"If you are willing, we might be able to open up some kind of dialogue — person to person — between our two countries by letting us respond to their questions and comments on the editorial page of your paper. The persons responding to your readers' questions would be those persons with expertise in the particular area of discussion, selected by Novosti Press Agency in Moscow."

These experts presumably would reiterate the Moscow line on all issues. So what would be the benefit of such an exchange? Yet what is the Soviet view on many issues? We don't always know, even though we do know that the responses would reflect the opinions of the government and Communist Party people who run and work for the Novosti Press Agency, and all Soviet newspapers.

Soviet views already are being presented in a least one newspaper in Michigan on a regular basis, according to the Editor & Publisher story. The State News, the Michigan State University newspaper published in East Lansing, has been running every Monday for the past three months an editorial reprinted from either Pravda, the official Communist Party newspaper, or Izvestia, the official government paper.

The editor of the MSU paper said the reaction has been "overwhelmingly positive" with letters running two-to-one in favor of the use of the editorials. But he said the initial response had been negative and some students still don't like the policy. One student, for example, complained about paying fees for a paper publishing "the lies and filthy propaganda emanating out of a totalitarian country's government mouthpiece that calls my country's governmental policy one of terrorism."

The Grosse Pointe News isn't about to offer its columns on a regular basis to any foreign government and we are inclined to agree with the MSU student that the State News is publishing Soviet propaganda. We also tend to think the new Soviet offer to the American press is another attempt to use a free press for its own purposes, even though publishing the Soviet view might be instructive on occasion.

HOWEVER, WE WOULD be interested in our readers' reaction to the Soviet Embassy's offer. If readers have questions they would like to submit to the Soviet experts for responses or if they have opinions as to the whether the Grosse Pointe News should publish any Soviet replies, we'd be interested in hearing from them.

As our friends who write editorials for TV says, what do you think?

California is getting a fine educator

To the Editor:

I am very disappointed that Dr. Kenneth Brummel, superintendent of schools, has chosen to leave our school district at this time. Orange Unified School District of California will gain a fine educator.

Hopefully, the shocking departure of Dr. Brummel will act as a catalyst for responsible Grosse Pointe Board of Education on the school closure and reorganization plan by rejecting the threatened recall of Board Members Ernest Beuchler, John B. Gandelot, and Catherine E. Brierly.

I trust that the board will carry on the legacy of Dr.

Brummel by engaging a new superintendent who will follow through with the Barnes closure, movement of sixth-graders to the middle schools, and future consolidation of the district as necessary.

The board members have been courageous in carrying out their duties to vote responsibly on the declining enrollment issue. The time spent and number of meetings attended by the present board must be without precedent in the history of the Grosse Pointe school system.

I express best wishes to Dr. Brummel upon his new assignment and trust that his departure will not interrupt school reorganization plans. I hope that one of the finest school systems in this country will not be destroyed by persons with selfish motives and regressive plans. Future bond sales, millage votes, and searches for professional staffing will be more difficult if our district has gained a notoriety of being unsettled or troubled.

Wake up Grosse Pointe and support our present board on the reorganization plan. In the alternative, chaos will reign and irreparable damage done to an excellent school system.

Mrs. Hanpeter deserves our support

To the Editor:

In the best of times, service on the Board of Education is frequently tedious, highly accountable work, much of which must be conducted in front of a critical public. There is little praise when the job is done well. In the worst of times, factionalism in a community sets up board votes in which members are confronted with "no win" situations because of vocal support on both sides of the issue.

So Joan Hanpeter, in announcing that she will run for an additional term on the beleaguered Grosse Pointe Board of Education, while campaigning for order and stability, deserves praise. More than that, she deserves an overwhelming supportive vote to demonstrate that the majority of taxpayers in this community are forward-looking people who can see beyond the neighborhood elementary school.

Unfortunately, voter apathy at the next school election will do more damage than simply denying Mrs. Hanpeter the tangible praise she has richly earned. The Committee for Neighborhood Schools and other proponents of reversing the decision to close Barnes can be expected to get a very high percentage of their voters to the polls. They are well-organized and tenacious, to a point where one would not be surprised to see the withdrawal of one of the three candidates supporting their position, lest the group's votes lose clout by becoming fragmented. Voter apathy — because this group's strong involvement in the election is clearly documented — can cause this school district to be wallowing in instability and haggling for years to come. Consequently, this election, including the recall vote, is clearly the most significant school election this district has faced in some years.

In another area related to the issue of stability, the board should consider delaying its search for a new superintendent for a year. Candidates for superintendent from outside the district, will, if they are imaginative leaders, have new programs they wish to install. This school district does not need new programs at the present time. Rather, it needs time to assimilate the seven-period day in the high schools and to absorb the retirement of a large number of staff people. Further, any candidate for superintendent who does his homework will be unattracted to Grosse Pointe until the present Board of Education fracas is settled in June.

In my judgement the district should question the motives of a candidate who would apply for the job here while turbulent conditions still exist. (One would ask why his present position is less attractive and less secure than this one.) As to those applicants who wait to see which faction wins, one would question both the integrity and durability of a superintendent who would abandon another district late in the school year, leaving it without leadership, in order to take a job here.

Sports page full of dribble

To the Editor:

I received your newspaper of March 22. I was happy to find your sports editor had discovered basketball.

It must have come as some surprise that a local school had registered 40 victories and no defeats.

Would it be possible to borrow some space on your sports (?) page and replace the "dribble" in (Peggy) O'Connor's column with some facts about this school team. Who? What? When? Where? Why? and How? The coach's background, the players, leading scorers?

It is tiring to read the junk in O'Connor's column. What drab tripe.

Sixth grade transfer weakens schools

To the Editor:
I am writing this letter to correct the Grosse Pointe News' April 12, front page article titled "Stage set for fight to control schools."

To quote the statement in question: "On one side is a band of citizens joined by a single event, the closing of Barnes Elementary School."

Correction. This school issue does not just involve the closing of one elementary school. It also involves the transfer of sixth grade students into the middle schools which is a matter of grave concern to hundreds of parents and which has already caused the further loss of many students to private schools next year. Furthermore, it involves the integrity of all the Grosse Pointes as a viable growing community. As stated before, a community is only as strong as its school system. When you start weakening the foundation of a good school system by closing its neighborhood elementary schools, then you are endangering the strength of the entire community.

The furor over school closings originally occurred as a result of the board's first school closing proposal which called for the transfer of the sixth graders into the middle schools, thus drastically reducing enrollment in most of our neighborhood elementary schools. Thus, they planned to close at least four schools the first year and many more in the immediate future — totally destroying the neighborhood elementary school concept which has been so important to the Grosse Pointe community for years. The public voiced an immediate and strong opposition to this plan.

So how has the school board's plan changed? It hasn't. They are just coming through the backdoor and they think this community is not smart enough to figure that out. This community is deliberately being misinformed by the board, the administration and the press. They say one thing in public and something else behind our backs.

If Barnes is to be closed at two-thirds of its capacity, what is to happen to the rest of our neighborhood elementary schools when they are at 50 percent or less of their capacity when the sixth graders are moved? It stands to reason that if the board used declining enrollment as the criteria for closing Barnes, then they would have to apply that same criteria to the others schools as well. If we can believe that they are not going to close anymore elementary schools, then I guess the moon is really made of green cheese.

The board's contention is that the sixth graders are being transferred to the middle school for quality education. Well, this school system has two very well paid directors of education. If they have any credibility, then they should be capable of creating a "quality" curriculum for all levels of education in our system. If it is really necessary to move our sixth graders out of the neighborhood elementary schools so they can obtain a "quality" education, then the children in this community have been shortchanged for years.

Truthfully, we do not have to jeopardize any of our neighborhood elementary schools or any schools for that matter. Significant tax savings can be realized by consolidation of the central administration offices and support services into available space that now exists in our middle and high school facilities. They can well accommodate these services.

Listen. The only dark and disturbing shadow cast across our school district is the present school board. Supt. Kenneth Brummel is wise enough to realize this before "it rains all over his parade."

Honk your protest

Talking of "bad timing," for Grosse Pointers it is driving down East Jefferson Avenue. There are about 50 million unnecessary stops resulting in several thousand tons of pollutants blown east over the Pointes.

As a Detroit, I feel our officials should be specially considerate of you folks because you come to our downtown to work. You aren't building any office buildings like those all over southern Oakland County which take business from us downtown.

What about everyone blowing his horn at stupid and purely obstructive traffic lights? It would be one way to be heard from. We honk at laggard motorists ahead of us. Aren't stop lights that pile up dozens of cars when there is no cross street even more offensive? Examine East Jefferson and DuBois.

Golden Lion finds 'Success'

To the Editor:
Having seen "How to Succeed In Business Without Really Trying" with Rudy Vallee and Robert Morse in New York and the road company at the Fisher, I consider myself somewhat of an expert on this little gem of a spoof of big business.

We saw Friday's opening of "How To Succeed" at the dinner theater at the Golden Lion, and it was hilarious. I haven't laughed so hard in years.

The cast was uniformly good, but Dan Castle, (J.B. Biggley) and Karen Elliott (Smitty) were outstanding. Marie O'Connor (Miss Jones) handled her duties with seasoned professionalism — the audience adored her.

It was a surprisingly smooth opening night.

If you have seen the play before you should see this fresh, well done version. If you haven't seen it — all the more reason to enjoy this delightful satire.

Ford sign is outrageous

To the Editor:
I could not agree more with Phil Leon's letter expressing opposition to the proposed 10 foot lighted sign reading "Windemere Place" which is to be placed on Lakeshore Road at the entrance to the new Ford condo development.

Thank heavens for Council person Mary Ghesquiere who had the courage and intelligence to oppose the placement of this outrageous sign. The other councilpersons, who appear to be ready to grant the sign installation request, should immediately be recalled if this foolishness is an example of their service to the citizens of Grosse Pointe Farms.

The $50 million tug scandal

By William R. Bryant
State Representative

The fiasco of the tug-barge contract is the worst scandal of the 14-year Milliken administration.

Good intentions aren't always enough. When Milliken wanted to help the terrible unemployment in the Lake Superior shoreline, western Upper Peninsula town of Ontonogon it was a laudable desire.

When the state ended up contracting with an alleged thief and scoundrel it was not laudable at the time, and if it didn't hurt so much, would be laughable now.

How much did this contract hurt, this mission to foster the Upper Peninsula Shipbuilding Company and give this newly created business the task of building a huge tug and four barges notched so the tug would fit neatly in the stern and rejuvenate cross-Lake Michigan freight service?

The cost is well over $50 million. For that money the state has nothing except a lawsuit against it and perhaps a few pennies if a rusty, unused tug and the one and only rusty barge are sold in bankruptcy for scrap.

What went wrong? Everything. The state was blind to reality, the governor, the Transportation Department and the Legislature.

The state had contracted with a guy named Kirkman to create UPSCO and build a yard and then build the tug and barges.

Even the concept was faulty. The idea of a tug nestled into a notch at the stern of a barge for cross-lake service is a very high risk concept. Ice, high seas and other problems plague such configurations.

There was never planning for where and how the shipping system would be used. It had no place to land on the Michigan shore.

I had objected to the lack of planning and competitive bidding when the contract was approved. When I was the Republican leader we did our own investigation and aided the grand jury probing the contract.

It was a mess from the start—bad people given responsibility for a bad project. Even the written contract itself was bad. Experts in the field who reviewed the provisions of the contract were appalled at the looseness of it, at the risk the state was taking by failure to include normal clauses, defining the obligations of the shipbuilder.

No, good intentions are not enough and it should not take a $50 million fiasco to know that.

Superintendent

members and many of the people who work with Brummel credit him with important improvements in the curriculum.

"HE'S AN EDUCATOR, not a politician, and he's done a fine job here," said one.

"I think Brummel has done a marvelous job with curriculum at the middle and elementary levels and the new high school program, tougher graduation requirements and the seven period day," said trustee Dorothy Kennel, who is heading the search.

"He's done more in three years than other superintendents could accomplish in 10," she added.

Mrs. Kennel indicated that competition from Ann Arbor and Bloomfield systems may make it more difficult to convince a top candidate to move in to the board-owned superintendent's home on Grosse Pointe Boulevard.

"They are both top caliber school districts which will probably be looking at the same candidates we are," she said. The threatened recall and personal attacks Brummel has been faced with from school closing foes may also make the search more difficult, she added.

DR. JOHN BRUBACHER, the head of the University of Connecticut education department, was placed on contract last week to help the board look for Brummel's replacement.

Brubacher met April 17 with trustees in an open session to outline the process and hear their concerns. Brubacher began his career in Grosse Pointe in the late 1950's teaching at Richard Elementary School in the Farms and serving as principal of the Woods' Mason Elementary. Since then he has served as superintendent of Alpena public schools and a Seattle, Wash., area district.

School board president Joan Hanpeter said Brubacher was selected "because he knows Grosse Pointe and because he has national prominence in the education field." His contract was approved by the board April 9.

Mrs. Kennel said Brubacher will be asked to supervise meetings to gather community input on the new superintendent, to develop and distribute a brochure advertising the position and to screen resumes from applicants.

Checking petitions is time-consuming task

By Susan McDonald

Local city clerks are finding out that verifying some 25,000 signatures on petitions calling for the recall of three Board of Education members is darn hard work. Three cities have hired extra workers or asked regular staff members to work overtime on the project. By law they have until next Wednesday, April 26, to complete the task.

The recall petitions were filed by a group of citizens on April 6 with the Wayne County Election Commission. County workers took three days for a cursory check of the petitions before they shipped them off to local city clerks for formal verification.

The petitions call for the recall of board members Catherine Brierly, Jon Gandelot and Ernest Buechler because of their vote last November to close Barnes Elementary School and transfer sixth graders to middle school next fall. The reorganization is designed to cut costs in light of the school district's continuing decline in enrollment.

None of the school system's 15 buildings have been closed before.

County Clerk James Killeen said his office would work as quickly as possible to process the petition signatures so if there are a sufficient number to call for a recall election, that election can be scheduled to coincide with the regular June 11 ballot. Holding a special election for the recall question could cost as much as $10,000.

Verifying the names "is a lot of work," said Grosse Pointe City manager Thomas Kressbach. "Workers are deciphering names and jumping from one precinct book to another to verify them," he said.

The City hired one person for four days to complete the task. Grosse Pointe Woods, which has a higher population, has added four workers for five days at $3.35 an hour to handle the job, according to Louise Warnke, deputy city clerk.

"First they have to assign a precinct number to the address, then go to the correct poll book, find that person's card and check the signature," Ms. Warnke explained. "It is time consuming."

Grosse Pointe Park's Treasurer Pam Kondziolka, brought in three workers last Saturday to check petitions. She expected to finish before the end of this week. But in the Farms, where secretary Pam Baker is squeezing the job in-between her regular duties, the petitions may not be completed until deadline day, next week.

After the clerks return the petitions, the targets of the recall have eight days to challenge the signatures. Then the election commission gets five more days to examine the names before it schedules an election, within 60 days.

Because school board secretary Buechler, who normally oversees elections, is a target of recall, the county by law must appoint an impartial public official to supervise the election. That appointment has not yet been made.

Recall chairman David Easlick, Jr., said he turned in more than 8,400 signatures for each of the trustees. About 6,700 are necessary to force a recall election.

Foster parents sought for kids

A campaign to recruit Wayne County residents to become foster parents for persons with mental retardation began during March, Mental Retardation Awareness Month.

"Our goal is to find homes for 50 children and adults now living in institutions, nursing homes and other settings," said Jan Myers, foster care recruiter for Wayne Community Living Services (WCLS).

"The campaign will focus on the many benefits of the foster care program," adds Mrs. Myers. "Foster parents can experience the satisfaction of sharing their homes and helping people, while earning income."

Individuals and couples are being sought to participate in the foster care program. To qualify, one must be between the ages of 18 and 65, live in a suitable residence, be in good physical and mental health, and have a source of income. Previous experience is not necessary, although a teaching or nursing background is sometimes helpful.

"We're looking for people who can commit themselves to the program, and who can provide warm, caring home environments for persons with mental retardation," said Ms. Myers.

Foster parents are paid about $700 a month. Initial and ongoing training is offered by WCLS. Also, foster parents receive assistance from the professional staff of the agency.

For more information about becoming a WCLS foster parent, contact Ms. Myers at 348-6200, extension 238, or write to WCLS, 41001 Seven Mile Road, P.O. Box 160, Northville, 48167.

Social security debt collections increase in 1983

The latest results of efforts to collect outstanding debts owed to the Social Security Administration shows a continued increase in the amount collected, officials reported. Collections during fiscal 1983 exceeded the previous year by 37 percent, said James Moslener, district manager of the office located at 17420 Mack Avenue.

Total collections for fiscal year 1983 were $1.3 billion. In 1982, the first year of the stepped-up efforts to secure the repayment of debt owed the agency, collections totaled approximately $1 billion, about 52 percent or $336 million higher than the previous year.

The money owed Social Security results from overpayments to beneficiaries who fail to report changes that affect the amount of their benefits. In 1981 the President directed federal agencies to take steps to collect money owed the government, Moslener said.

People who have questions regarding their Social Security overpayment, should contact the Social Security Administration office located at 17420 Mack Avenue or by calling 493-1111, the general information number.

Nurses can learn to be efficient

The nursing education department of St. John Hospital will present an all day workshop on "Perspectives on Program Evaluation: Effectiveness and Efficiency" Thursday, May 10, from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the War Memorial located at 32 Lakeshore Road.

The program is open to health care educators including those involved in staff development, patient education and training and development departments.

Participation in the workshop will improve the skills of those responsible for evaluating program offerings. Material covered will provide knowledge and further insight into some of the problems inherent in the evaluation process and provide possible solutions through better methods for assessing adult learning needs and evaluating continuing education and employee performance.

Guest speaker at the workshop will be author and lecturer Belinda Puelz, RN, PhD.

Nursing contact hours of 6.6 have been awarded.

The cost of the workshop is $50 and includes handouts, parking, refreshments and luncheon. Registration deadline is Tuesday, May 1. A non-refundable fee of $10 will be charged for cancellations.

For further information, contact program coordinators Susan Scasny and Teresa Scholten, at 343-3380.

Library Friends bring playwright to town

Helene Hanff, an aspiring New York playwright who struggled in vain for nearly two decades then awoke one morning to find herself famous, will be the featured speaker at The Friends of The Grosse Pointe Public Library annual dinner on Tuesday, May 8, at the War Memorial.

Since the 1970 publication of "84 Charing Cross Road," an overnight hit and bestseller which the Saturday Review said "will charm you out of your bookshelves," Ms. Hanff has enjoyed continued success. Her other books include "Underfoot in Show Business," "The Movers and Shakers" and "The Duchess of Bloomsbury Street." She has also done articles for Harpers, The New Yorker and Reader's Digest. Her television writing includes episodes for the Ellery Queen series and The Hallmark Hall of Fame.

But "84 Charing Cross Road," which the Wall Street Journal called "a real life love story and timeless period piece," and about which the New York Times said, "It will put you in tune with mankind," refuses to play dead. In 1975, the British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC) filmed a dramatization of it in London, then in 1981, this timeless bestseller opened as a play in London — and ran for several seasons.

In December, 1982, "84 Charing Cross Road" open in New York at the Niederlander Theater co-starring Ellen Burstyn, as Helene Hanff and Joseph Maher as Mr. Doel. This, too, has been critically praised and is still running. The fact that The Friends of the Grosse Pointe Public Library are sponsoring her has special significance for those who have read Ms. Hanff's most famous book. The entire book is made up of absolutely priceless correspondence between the author and the proprietor of a stodgy prim and proper London Bookstore known as Marks & Co. During her starving years on East 95th Street in New York, Ms. Hanff sought to purchase certain revered works of literature at reduced prices by ordering used copies from Marks. A 20 year "ordering" correspondence ensued, each letter the essence of understated erudition and charm.

Notable amidst all of the gossip and book talk is the outrageous fact that she always insisted on paying cash — through the mails. Interestingly, the only time in 20 years of cross-Atlantic book buying that her order failed to arrive was when she enclosed a bank check.

After a couple years of correspondence to Frank Doel, the proprietor of Marks, other employees of the bookstore, enchanted by Ms. Hanff's letters began writing to her privately. These branches of correspondence grew, too and appear in the book, again, as disarmingly human, at times poignant and sometimes downright hilarious.

Reservations for the dinner evening at $9 per person may be made by calling the Friends office at 343-2077. Anyone wishing to come for Ms. Hanff's presentation only is invited courtesy of The Friends of The Grosse Pointe Library.

She will appear in the Fries Auditorium of the War Memorial on Lakeshore Road.

State theater groups will meet here April 27

Grosse Pointe Theater will play host to the Spring Convention of the Community Theater Association of Michigan (CTAM), April 27, 28 and 29.

The CTAM was founded in 1951 and now boasts of 85 community theater groups in its membership. Its purpose is to promote knowledge about and the enjoyment of theater in Michigan. Each year the association holds fall and spring conventions. Boyne Highlands has been site of the fall convention for the past 20 years. Spring conventions are hosted by various member groups. The conventions focus on maintaining contact between the groups through workshops on different aspects of theater.

Convention chairpersons Mae Gallagher and Mary Lou Johnson have planned workshops in set construction, moderated by Harry Stutt; stage combat, Wayne David Parker; restoration theater, Nira Pullen; choreography, Marcy Kazmirowski and Don Ross; costuming, Mary Lou Mantho and Donna DiSante; sing out, Louise! Gene Shea; and membership; maintenance with Mike Corbin and Mary Lou Johnson.

Participants in the convention will also see a special performance of Grosse Pointe Theater's production of "Whose Life is it Anyway?" at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Fries Auditorium. A banquet and champagne reception will follow the Saturday evening performance.

Also planned will be performances by CTAM scholarship winners. Besides the workshops, other activities that will take place at the Grosse Pointe Theater studio will be games such as Trivial Pursuit and euchre and video games that are being installed for the weekend.

League takes a world cruise

The Grosse Pointe Cinema League will present "Cruising With Your Camera" and "The Peace Game" when it meets in the War Memorial's Fries Auditorium on Monday, April 23, at 8 p.m. The two 16mm movies will be presented by Mary Fitzpatrick on behalf of her late husband, James, who filmed and composed narration of the first film.

"Cruising With Your Camera" is the story of a "round-the-world tour on a luxury cruise ship, with some scenes of shipboard activities and entertainment.

Numerous countries and places are visited, including Tangier, Naples and Pompeii and Rome. Scenes are filmed in Egypt and Central Africa. In the Pacific, ports-of-call are the Galapagos, Tahiti and Raratonga. The ship stops at beautiful New Zealand, Australia, New Guinea, Hawaii, Japan, Thailand, Hong Kong and India.

"The Peace Game" beautifully portrays the wildlife of the natural preserves in South Africa. All animals, from towering giraffes to tiny lizards are shown in their natural environment, engaged in their various activities.

The program is open to the public. Non-members of the Cinema League will be charged $1 admission.

Artists meet

The Progressive Artists Club will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 25, in the War Memorial's basement Terrace Room to hear Corliss Eden discuss ink and pastel work. The program is open to the public and new members of the group.

Bobby D. — And The Competitive Edge

This is Bobby D., he's a sixth grader who carries a B-plus grade point average. He's into Little League Baseball in the spring, Boy Scout Camp in the summer, hockey on the backyard ice rinks in the winter. At school, he has no problems with either his peers or his teachers, and he hits the books for a couple of hours after dinner. He loves his Mom and Dad, and doesn't pick too much on his sister. Bobby's a good kid. And yet... his parents are worried, for good reason.

By the time Bobby is ready for college, the best projections estimate that it will cost $10,000 a year, minimum, to go to a state college, and twice that to go out of state, or to a private school, if he can get in the school of his choice. The best schools seem to get more selective every year. Bob's parents agree that he has to have the best education they can give him to prepare him for whatever emerges from tomorrow's complex, technological society. They think Bob needs a competitive edge, just to live as well as they have, and hopefully, a little bit better.

They heard about the Youth Enrichment Services, Inc. (YES) Center on Mack Avenue in St. Clair Shores and our holistic approach to personal growth and came to us for help. The YES Program began with a series of tests that resulted in a comprehensive profile showing where Bobby was personal, and physical growth clearly lies with parents. To assist parents with this critical task, YES offers enriched, accelerated and individualized learning experiences for children of all ages.

We at YES believe that we can help your child just as we are helping Bobby D. Our program, designed by University of Michigan educators with extensive experience in educating school children and adults, is of the highest quality. It supplements the efforts of public and private schools, with special sections for adults who wish to enhance their own capabilities.

Our program will give your child the finely honed skills needed to compete in all aspects of today's society—the competitive edge so necessary to succeed in a society that grows more complex with each passing year.

The YES learning program combines high-tech with high-touch by extensively utilizing computer-managed instruction in conjunction with small group instruction.

Youth Enrichment Services is helping Bobby D. reach his full potential. YES can help your child, and YES can help you, too. Save YES and learn more about our revolutionary approach to personal growth and enrichment. For more information, call today for an appointment.

intellectually, personally, and physically. Bobby's scores were impressive (as they are for most of our students). The four-hour procedure showed us areas where Bobby has particular strengths and where he could use some help. We are able to bump those scores up by a significant amount across the board. That means that Bobby is now capable of carrying a very high GPA through high school, and can probably pick his college.

The responsibility for enriching children's academic,

Prime Time for senior citizens

Marian Trainor

In pursuit of career advancement, interests or preference, families in this mobile world move from one community to another, from state to state and country to country. You don't find many people who remain in the area where they grew up.

If you don't think this is true, the next time you're in a group of people, ask them how many are native Detroiters or Grosse Pointers. Don't be surprised if you don't find many who belong to the club.

To those who have remained in the same area, adjusting to new environments does not appear to be inviting. But those who are used to moving around accept and live with the problems that come with a transient life.

They put down roots wherever they go. Friends are made, left behind and remembered with occasional greeting cards. Parents, sisters and brothers are visited on holidays if the distance is not too far. The telephone becomes an important line of communication linking families and special friends.

Time and technology move forward not backward. It is not likely that those who rate opportunity, chance and new experiences higher than stability and a sense of permanency will change their way of thinking.

Nor should they. But those who would not care to embrace such ambience, feel just as strongly about their preference. They value the sense of permanency of belonging, of being a "part of," that comes with remaining in the same community.

Their environs may change, but that is a gradual change and it allows them time to adjust. It is very different from being uprooted and thrown into a whole new environment. The change can be accepted more readily if familiar landmarks remain. In Detroit, Belle Isle, Tiger Stadium and Eastern Market have endured for decades. In Grosse Pointe with the exception of some dismantled mansions, the neighborhoods have remained unchanged.

In Detroit there have been changes in neighborhoods, which were brought about by urban renewal, social flux and economic influences. But there are areas that are basically the same. They have been held together by church-sponsored schools, ethnic groups, historic preservation designation and, most importantly, a spirit that will not die.

This fact was brought home to me when I attended the St. Patrick Day Mass at Most Holy Trinity Church. The church which is located at Sixth and Porter will be celebrating its 150th anniversary in June.

It was built at a time when the Irish were migrating to the United States from the homeland during the potato famine. Those who survived the trip landed in Boston filled with hope that at least they had escaped poverty and near starvation.

It didn't happen. They were met with hostility and prejudice. "Help Wanted" signs were prefaced with: "No Irish need apply."

The story is told that one Irishman with a family to feed and house who desperately needed work added the following message to the notice:

*"What you have written
You have written well
The self-same words are also written
On the gates of hell."*

There were others like him who settled in the area which became known as "Corktown" in Detroit because most of the newcomers were from County Cork. Their refuge and hope was the church. Thus from its very beginning, Trinity Church became known for its ministry to the poor.

It is the same today, a majestic presence, that ministers both spiritually and financially to those in need. This church in the midst of change has maintained the same spirit on which it was founded.

In many ways, so also has the neighborhood that it services. I know the neighborhood well. My grandfather built his home just a block from the church. Ten children were born there. My mother was the youngest and one of those who survived. After my father's death, my mother and I moved to the old house to take care of grandpa.

At that time most of the Irish had moved out and immigrants from Malta had replaced them.

They merged well into the community. Working, saving and striving, like the Irish who preceded them, they moved on. They were followed by Mexicans who also needed help to get started in a new culture. They found that help at Holy Trinity Church, whose pastor was the renowned Monsignor Clement Kern. He dedicated himself to carrying on that work for which the church was so well known; helping those in need. He lived with the poor. But much of his support came from those in better circumstances who considered it a privilege to help this dedicated priest with his work.

And so, the same spirit of service that began when the church was founded 150 years ago prevails despite physical and sociological changes in the area.

Surprisingly enough, while some of the area has been taken over for urban renewal, most of the houses are still standing. Many of them are now being restored. The old school is gone but a new one has taken its place. Its students are from many ethnic backgrounds. But on St. Patrick's Day, they sang the same songs for the visitors that have been sung on March 17th for over a century.

There is a certain sense of "going home" that comes with returning each year to an area where one once lived, a feeling of belonging that cannot be experienced by those who shut the door on the past and move on to new lives and new experiences.

You can go home again if you keep in touch with what was once home, valuing it for what it was and for what it still remains.

Ecklund will visit Finland

Peter Ecklund, a junior at South High School, has been named one of 10 winners of the 1984 Finland-U.S. Senate Youth Exchange Scholarship.

The two-month full summer scholarship is funded by the Finnish government to promote better understanding between the people of Finland and the U.S. and to increase American awareness and appreciation of Finnish culture and society.

Only two students were selected from Michigan. Two students were also selected from Massachusetts, Oregon, Minnesota and Washington, other U.S. states where there are significant Finnish populations.

Ecklund will attend a four-day orientation in Washington, where he will attend a reception in the home of the Finnish Ambassador, prior to flying to Finland. He will then spend two months living with a Finnish family. He is also expected to visit the Finnish Parliament and to meet with Prime Minister Sorsa and the American Ambassador Nyborg while in Finland.

Youth for Understanding, which conducts the exchange program, is one of the largest and most distinguished teenage student exchange organizations in the U.S. Nearly 100,000 students have experienced life with a family overseas through YFU exchanges since its inception in 1951.

Peter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ecklund of Harvard Road. Peter's father is an instructor and executive officer of Case Western Reserve University and his mother is a teacher at Ferry Elementary School.

Woods garage broken into

A garage on Roslyn Road in the Woods was broken into sometime Sunday afternoon, April 8. Thieves escaped with a lawnmower, snowblower and tools, reports said.

The thieves entered the garage by taking out the deadbolt cylinder on the locked side door to the garage, reports said. Besides the mower and snowblower, a welder and cutting torch as well as two tool-boxes-on-wheels were taken, reports said.

A canvass of the area by police turned up nothing, reports said.

Feds charge tax evasion

"It is Mr. Crane's contention that the purpose of the law is to protect the life, liberty and property of individuals and that the state of the law is now perverse," said Carlisle. "It is being used to do just the opposite of what it was meant to do. It now infringes upon the liberty and property of the individual."

"As far as the defense is concerned, our intention is to make the trials an offensive tactic on the part of Mr. Crane," added Carlisle. "We are going to challenge the tax laws themselves. That was our intent all along. It's just unfortunate that it has to be done through these criminal proceedings. As far as we're concerned, the tax laws are unconstitutional."

In its press release, the U.S. Department of Justice noted that a "grand jury indictment is not evidence of guilt and that the defendant is entitled to a fair trial in which the government must prove his guilt beyond a reasonable doubt."

The investigation of the Crane case is being conducted by the Criminal Investigation Division of the I.R.S. and is being prosecuted by Assistant U.S. Attorney Richard L. Delonis.

No trial date has yet been set. Crane had no comment on the case upon advice of counsel.

Mareda Babcock joins Cancer Crusade

Grosse Pointe Shores resident Mareda Babcock (above) recently helped the American Cancer Society in its fight against cancer by flying 36 boxes of daffodils from Pontiac Airport to the Upper Peninsula. The long distance delivery, done free of charge, was an undertaking of The 99's, a women's pilot organization. The flower lift was part of the Cancer Society's Volunteers vs. Cancer campaign which this week helps inaugurate Cancer Control Month. Efforts to educate the public about the perils and treatment of various cancers will culminate in the Crusade Countdown from April 23 to 27, when a network of shopping centers and malls will host exhibits and entertainment. During the Crusade, which begins April 28 and continues through the month of May, volunteers will visit their neighbors to seek cancer-fighting funds and provide information that can reduce cancer risks.

CAR TALK

From RAY LAETHEM
Pontiac, GMC, Truck

BY RAY LAETHEM

WATCH OUT FOR TALL GIRLS

If you want to avoid "car" trouble, don't pick up tall girls. At least that's one of the implications you could make from a recent study conducted by the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory. It seems that women are twice as likely as men to suffer whiplash in an automobile accident. The study also pointed out that tall persons are more likely to have whiplash injuries and that front seat passengers suffer whiplash more often than drivers.

So, to be safe, if you pick up lady hitch-hikers, select only short ones and make them ride in the back seat.

When you think Pontiac — think RAY LAETHEM PONTIAC where you get a good deal plus a great deal more. We pride ourselves in offering the lowest price, maximum trade allowance, low cost financing and quality service.

CITY OF Grosse Pointe Farms MICHIGAN

NOTICE OF HEARINGS ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Zoning Board of Appeals will meet in the City Hall at 90 Kerby Road, Grosse Pointe Farms, on:

MONDAY, MAY 7, 1984

at 8:00 p.m. to hear the following:

- The appeal of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Petz, owner of the premises located at 101 Mapleton, from the denial of the Building Department to issue a Permit for the construction of an enlarged porch to the rear of the residence located at the foregoing address. Such permit issuance was denied for reason that:
 - The residence located on the foregoing premises is nonconforming for reason that it projects into the front and rear yard space in violation of the provisions of Article XIII, Section 1300 of the City's Zoning Ordinance, and in accordance with provisions of Article XV, Section 1502, Item 4-A of the City's Zoning Ordinance, no such structure may be enlarged or structurally altered unless a variance is granted.
 - The proposed addition would infringe upon the required rear yard of 30 feet leaving a rear yard of 20 feet, and thereby requiring a variance from the provisions of Article XIII, Section 1300 of the City's Zoning Ordinance.
 - The property at 101 Mapleton is located in the R-1 Dwelling District and under Article VIII Schedule of Regulations, Section 1300, the minimum lot coverage allowed in this district is 35% of lot area. The total building coverage with the new addition would exceed the minimum allowed by 44 sq. ft. A variance would be required.
- and
- The appeal of Mr. & Mrs. Terry L. Warfield owners of the premises located at 330 Touraine, from the denial of the Building Department to issue a Building Permit to install an air conditioning unit in the side open space of their home located at the foregoing address. Such permit issuance was denied for reason that the air conditioning unit is proposed to be located in the side yard while Article IV, Section 404 of the City's Zoning Ordinance requires installation in the rear of the structure between the extreme sides, thereby requiring that a variance be granted from the aforesaid provisions.
- and
- The appeal of Cottage Hospital, 159 Kercheval, from the denial of the Building Department to issue a permit for the construction of a new lobby and vehicular parking deck. Such permit issuance was denied for reason that:
 - The structure located on the foregoing premises is non-conforming for reason that it projects into the front space in violation of the provisions of Article XIII, Section 1300 of the City's Zoning Ordinance, and in accordance with the provisions of Article XV, Section 1502, Item 4-A of the City's Zoning Ordinance, no such structure may be enlarged or structurally altered unless a variance is granted.
 - Cottage Hospital, as part of its proposed plans to construct a parking deck to the south of Muir Road, intends to construct a new lobby entrance facing Muir Road to service such deck which would project 19'0" into the front building setback. Such infringement would be in violation of Article XIII, Section 1300 of the City's Zoning Ordinance which requires a front building setback of 25 feet.
 - Cottage Hospital also seeks a variance for the air space approximately 13'8" above Muir Road to permit the use of such air space for vehicular deck parking.

The Hearings will be public, interested property owners and residents of the City are invited to attend.

year, according to Wesselmann. Located in the St. Clair Professional Building, adjacent to the hospital, 74 kidney patients receive dialysis treatment three times a week.

Another 15 patients receive relief by staff members who visit them at home, says Bobbi Lyons, director of operation. "We have followed 25 patients through referral programs for transplants since the center opened."

Plans include providing dialysis service elsewhere, according to Dennis Markiewicz, board member and vice-president of finance. "We could branch out. Port Huron would be a logical spot."

The Oxford Institute is the newest of the corporations. According to Wesselmann, $2.5 million is its first year anticipated operating budget.

The 60-bed alcohol and chemical dependency treatment center nestles on 55 acres of land. It is surrounded by a wildlife preserve and has nature trails, lakes, and sport fields for football, tennis, baseball and jogging.

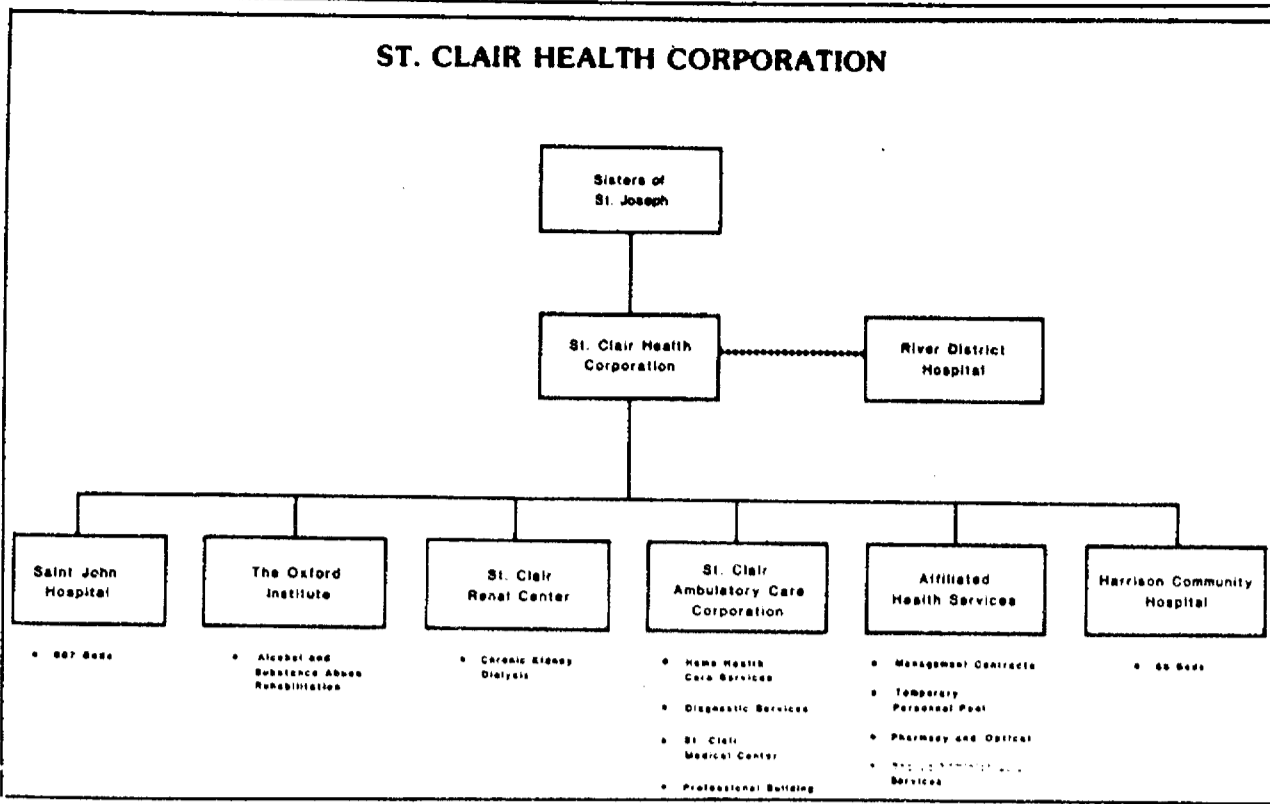

According to David Sessions, vice-president of the Institute, both female and male patients can choose in-house or out-patient programs in a "location that is serene, private and affords them confidentiality."

Affiliated Health Services, a four-year-old business venture with $1.8 gross operating revenue in 1983, houses its offices nearby. A department, St. Clair Management Contracts, is located in the Pointe Plaza Shopping Center and provides staffing for River District Hospital in St. Clair.

According to Edward V. Slingerland, executive vice-president, Management Contract supplies all levels of professional, managerial and medical staff to the hospital for a set fee. The same arrangement was agreed upon with Harrison Hospital until recently. Now it stands on the organizational chart as a corporation alongside St. John Hospital.

Also under Affiliated Health Services is the pharmacy and optical departments in the St. Clair Professional Building. Wanting to further expand, they're eyeing the possibility of managing other off premise independent pharmacies. The optical department is presently being managed by another company but when the contract expires in July, Slingerland says the corporation plans to manage it too.

"We also have management contract proposals out to two other institutions," says Slingerland. "These types of ventures usually generate about $150,000 net and we hope to have a 10 to 15 percent profit margin in the near future."

Another offshoot of Affiliate is Professional Medical Services. It provides temporary nursing help to hospitals and homes. The three-year-old $400,000 investment, located on Kelly Road in Harper Woods, should now begin to recoup about a 20 percent margin, says Slingerland.

Affiliate also plans to open a durable medical equipment store later this year. Located near the hospital, it would sell items such as oxygen, chairs, and beds to physicians, hospitals and individuals.

Another corporation, St. Clair Ambulatory Care, grossed $11 million worth of operating revenue last fiscal year, according to Wesselmann. Some of its ventures include providing home care to acutely ill patients, says John Staub, executive vice-president. "We saw about 20,000 home health care visits last year, outpatient lab tests numbered 250,000, plus 35,000 radiology procedures."

St. Clair Ambulatory built, staffed and equipped, for physicians, the Ambulatory Medical Center on Masonic Boulevard in St. Clair Shores, says Staub. There, six doctors, who specialize in internal medicine, obstetrics/gynecology and pediatrics share common records, charts and staff.

"In return, they pay a percent of what they gross bill, a fee-for-service practice," says Staub.

After hours, part of the building is used as an emergency center and Staub expects the services to have tripled by the end of this year.

Another responsibility for St. Clair Ambulatory Care is owning, managing and operating the adjacent Professional Building. The tenants include the gift shop, optical and pharmacy shop, beauty shop and courtyard restaurant. Also included are 50 private physician offices which the corporation does not operate.

Staub says the building could add two more floors, but "those aren't in the plans for the next couple of years."

And not to be overlooked in the financial scheme of things are the volunteers who give their time and money willingly. Many help run the gift shops and reception areas among other things.

The St. John Hospital Guild is made up of 600 prominent area businessmen. They stage four fundraising events yearly for an average annual donation of $250,000 says Sister Vernice McQuade, SSJ, board member and vice-president of patient communications and community affairs.

"This year they've pledged $2 million for the First Fund Campaign to be given between 1983 and 1988," she says.

The Fontbonne, the women's fundraising arm, includes 1,300 women. Many are wives of the male guild members. Sister McQuade says they average about $150,000 in yearly contributions.

Their fundraising is handled through gift bazaars, teas, fairs and an annual Christmas ball.

"They too have pledged $1 million for the same five-year-period," says Sister McQuade.

In the past, the monies from both groups have purchased among other things, oxygen, a monitor for cardiac patients, beds, emergency carts, neo-natal equipment and helped revamp patient care areas, says Sister McQuade.

Wesselmann says that while all the budget figures loom large, these figures do not reflect expenses. "We try to have an objective of $3 million to $4 million left over each year that we can use to support the various projects or underwrite a loss."

"We also had $3.7 million of uncompensated care last year. This includes bad debts, charity, clinic discounts and losses on Medicaid. Each corporation can do its own thing and make its own areas grow," he adds.

Get free trees through April

The National Arbor Day Foundation is giving 10 free Colorado Blue Spruce trees to people who become Foundation Members during April.

The free trees are part of the foundation's effort to promote tree planting throughout America.

Colorado Blue Spruces, evergreens with compact conical shape and silver blue-green color, were selected because of their many uses in home landscaping. Foundation director John Rose now said the free trees can be used as ornamentals, a privacy screen or wind-break, or as living Christmas trees. The six to 12 inch trees will be shipped postage-paid with enclosed planting instructions in April or May.

The National Arbor Day Foundation, a nonprofit organization, is working to improve the quality of life throughout the country by encouraging tree planting and conservation. The Foundation will give the 10 free trees to members contributing $10 during April.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, a $10 membership contribution should be sent to TEN BLUE SPRUCES, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, Neb. 68410, by April 30.

Nervous? The road to Recovery is positive, logical will-training

By Mike Andrzejczyk

The Lord may help those who help themselves, but Recovery shows them how to do it.

Recovery, Inc., the Association of Nervous and Former Mental Patients, is a Chicago-based international organization that helps people overcome nervous symptoms and unreasonable fears through series of self-help techniques.

Group leader for the 66 Detroit-area chapters, Isabel Steiner, said Recovery has put together a cable program that aired on Grosse Pointe Cable Monday and Wednesday nights. The program was "just to inform the community about the group and its function," she added.

Recovery was founded in 1937 by the late Dr. Abraham Low, whose "Mental Health Through Will-Training" and other books form the basis of his self-help techniques. The organization currently has thousands of weekly meetings in the United States, Canada, Puerto Rico, Ireland and the United Kingdom.

Locally, there are almost 50 meetings weekly throughout the tri-county area, with a Thursday night meeting at 8 p.m. at St. Michael Episcopal Church, 20475 Sunningdale Park near Mack.

Recovery came to Detroit in 1952 and has since become an accepted part of mental health treatment, Mrs. Steiner said. Referrals come from doctors and hospitals as well as walk-ins, she added.

Recovery doesn't diagnose problems, Mrs. Steiner said. The program offers support for those willing to learn and use the techniques, she added.

Lay leaders are not trained professionals, she said. Leaders are members of the group who have gone through the process of Recovery and can demonstrate the techniques to others, she added.

Mrs. Steiner was afraid of leaving the house alone. For 12 years, she was unable to leave her house alone or travel far because of the fear it evoked. After working through Recovery, "I have become a group leader and have traveled around the country and the world," she added.

Will-training and the techniques to achieve it aren't easily described. You have to go to Dr. Low's book for examples of patients using the techniques as well as reading his explanations of the vocabulary used and the processes. To call it a restructuring of thinking is too simple.

Calling the group an "AA for the Nervous" isn't quite right, either, Mrs. Steiner said. The group's work can't be likened to positive thinking techniques either, she added.

Although Recovery offers the same group support as Alcoholics Anonymous does, the Recovery meetings are more structured, Mrs. Steiner said.

Both organizations offer group support to break through to the individual to help remove the imagined stigma of the problem being faced. But Recovery meetings follow a definite structure, Mrs. Steiner said.

Meetings begin with a reading of a chapter from "Mental Health through Will-Training" or a taped lecture, followed by examples of how nervous symptoms are handled using the Recovery techniques. A question-and-answer period is held, followed by the larger group breaking into smaller, more informal groups.

The organization is self-supporting and non-profit, so donations are accepted at the meetings, Mrs.

Steiner said.

Members of groups come from all walks of life, Mrs. Steiner said. Members can be former mental patients who have been released from a facility or referred by a doctor because they are capable of self-help. Others are walk-ins who have heard of the group, Mrs. Steiner added. What binds them together are the symptoms and fears they have.

Common symptoms include heart palpitations, shortness of breath, dizziness, numbness, tremors, headaches, sleeplessness and depression. Some members are afraid of being alone, crowds, journeys, open spaces, eating, choking or have other compulsions or obsessions.

Since lay leaders aren't medically trained, they don't offer diagnoses, Mrs. Steiner said.

"Your doctor is your authority," Mrs. Steiner said. "We don't advise, diagnose or treat people. We know our limits."

What Recovery offers is a method of "thinking securely," Mrs. Steiner said. "We even have our own language. Part of our program is a five-minute mutual aid telephone call. If someone calls me and says, 'I'm afraid, I would ask, 'Have you spotted your temper?' You have to learn the methods."

Spotting, endorsing and symptomatic idiom are some of the terms in Recovery language that eliminate the judgemental and aim at the logical. A patient is taught the "unbearable" pain isn't, along with ways to spot what keys the pain and what other ways to deal with those situations.

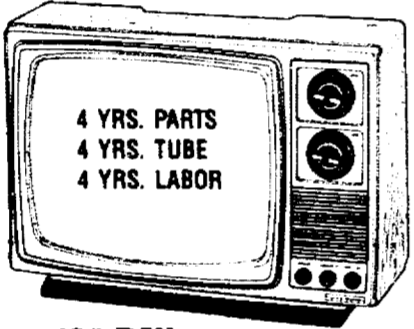

Central to Recovery is working at it, Mrs. Steiner said. "You don't just read the book. It's not a novel. You have to study it," she said.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

You've made it through the winter without a break. You both need and DESERVE a vacation. How about something different this year: a week's stay at an apartment in London's Chelsea District, say, or at a castle in Italy? A Greak Lakes freighter cruise?

Well... fine and dandy, you admit, but how do I go about arranging a vacation like that? You could begin by arranging to be at the Detroit Athletic Club Saturday, May 12, for the 1984 edition of the Grosse Pointe Academy's Annual Action Auction. For among Action Auction's extensive, unique list of goods, services and "other stuff," there are always some of the most exciting vacation packages you'll ever come across. Anywhere.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Briggs Robinson are honorary chairmen of the auction this year. Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Stroble Jr. are general chairmen. Auctioneers will be Lawrence F. and Ernest J. DuMouchelle.

The fun begins at 5 p.m., with a silent auction that runs to 6:30 p.m. The live auction is scheduled for 7 to 9 p.m. Hors d'oeuvres will be served, and cocktails will be available. Free parking is included in the general admission donation of $30 per person (tax deductible within legal limits).

There's also a dinner option, at $20 per person — the DAC promises cream of asparagus soup and an entree of Chicken Wellington with Madiera Sauce, plus Cherry Turnover Chantilly for dessert — but dinner reservations are limited and will be issued on a first come, first served basis; they should be in by Friday, April 27. Reservations for the auction and/or the dinner may be made by calling 886-1221 or 886-1802.

If you can't make it down to the DAC May 12, you can still participate, taking a chance on taking home your heart's desire. Action Auction '84 items will be on display Friday, May 4, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Academy. Absentee bids will be accepted.

Action Auction has been the Grosse Pointe Academy's fund raiser every spring for the past 15 years. Each year has seen an increase in revenue. Last year's action netted $180,000, actually cancelling the operating deficit of the school which receives no federal funding or other tax support and is totally dependent upon tuition and fees for operating capital.

The auction has been a tremendous asset since its inception, providing additional revenue that allows tuition to be kept within the reach of most families. The Grosse Pointe Academy is almost 100 years old. It opened its doors in September, 1885, as a boarding and day school for girls, operated by the Society of the Sacred Heart.

It became an independent, co-educational day school in 1969, but still operates under the original charter. Four years ago, the Academy was designated an historical education complex by the Michigan Historical Commission. This year, it is providing an alternative to parochial and public school education to 305 Detroit metropolitan area families, with 402 children in the Early, Lower and Middle Schools.

An Easter Season Event

Even older than the Grosse Pointe Academy is Historic Old Christ Church, located on East Jefferson Avenue at the foot of the Chrysler Expressway. This Victorian Gothic structure, built prior to the Civil War, has been the site of many important musical events which have become part of the Story of Detroit.

This Easter Season, Old Christ Church will be the setting for another such event. The church choir, soloists and orchestra, under the direction of Professor Malcolm Johns, will present Haydn's "Stabat Mater" (the composer's favorite sacred work) on Good Friday night, tomorrow, April 20, at 8 p.m.

The text delineates the sorrowing Mary standing at the foot of the cross on which Christ is crucified. Soloists will be Faye Washington, Carolyn Grimes, Eleanor Felver, James Moore and Bronson James. A grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts helps make this special performance possible.

It's open to the public, and it's a wonderfully appropriate way to observe a Good Friday. The church is surrounded by three free parking lots, all lighted and supervised by security guards. Further information may be obtained by calling 259-6691.

Another Musical Event

Art of Poland Associates, an auxiliary of the Founders Society Detroit Institute of Arts, will present a special Polish Constitution Day Commemorative Concert featuring international award winning Polish emigre pianist Leszek Bartkiewicz in a program of selections from the repertoire of Ignacy Jan Paderewski on Thursday evening, May 3, at 7:30 p.m. in the Detroit Institute of Arts Lecture/Recital Hall.

A meet-the-artist reception, with wine, in the museum's Romanesque Hall will follow the concert. Admission for the entire evening is $7.50 per person. Reservations are suggested. Further information may be obtained by contacting Delphine Puscas at 644-3478 or Susan Bratkowski at 286-5611.

Bartkiewicz, currently a Doctoral Fellow in Music Performance at the University of Michigan, is very well known in Grosse Pointe. He won last year's Grosse Pointe Musical Festival Competition and will perform the Prokofiev First and the Chopin Second Piano Concertos with the Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra, Felix Resnick conducting, in May.

He has appeared in recital at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House, and recently for the Fine Arts Society of Detroit at a private home in The Pointe. Prior to coming to the United States, he won the Young Polish Pianist Prize in 1978, and the Lugano (Switzerland) International Masterplayer Piano Competition in 1980.

Pointer of Interest

P.R., FLEC—initials are big in J.D.'s life

By Tom Greenwood

Basically, J.D. Owens loves what he's doing. What he's doing basically, is everything.

Currently, John Douglas Owens, 58, is president and founder of J.D. Owens Public Relations, situated on the lower concourse of the Colonial Federal Savings building on the Hill.

He's also secretary of the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club, former president of a condominium association and is the out-going president of the Family Life Education Council, (FLEC). FLEC is his real baby.

"Actually, my position is mostly ceremonial," said J.D. over lunch at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. "The real person who runs things there is Barb Hoffman, our executive director. And quite frankly, our financial condition at FLEC is untenable."

Since Barb has gotten there, we have so many more wonderful programs to offer the community that we simply can't afford them. That's why FLEC has decided to kick off a fund raising drive in the near future aimed at raising $100,000 to continue our work and pay off the mortgage on our Mack Avenue business office.

"I know we have an image in the community of always standing there with our hands outstretched," smiled J.D. "And it's absolutely true. We're a completely voluntary organization with no steady source of funds. We depend on the Rotary, Friends of FLEC, the Skillman Foundation, the Junior League and the residents of Grosse Pointe. Our current budget is about $85,000."

"Many persons criticized us when we moved into our new building on Mack, but we have grown into that building. At 4 p.m. when school gets out and parents come home from work, our switchboard lights up like the tote board at Hazel Park! We help a lot of families out here."

J.D. got involved with FLEC just after it was founded 18 years ago in response to the drug epidemic that was sweeping through the Pointe.

"At that time my doctor, Dr. Joe Beals, was president of FLEC and sort of conned me into it," laughed

J.D. "He told me they needed help with the public relations end of the organization. I also started thinking about how FLEC might have to help my kids some day. So I joined. I believe you should try to give back to a community what you get out of it. Besides that, Joe Beals is a very persuasive guy."

J.D. has been on the FLEC board for the past five years in every position but treasurer. "I have enough of a problem balancing my own checkbook, let alone being put in charge of theirs," said J.D. His current term as president ends this June.

"I'll certainly miss it, but I told them I'd always be available for any help I can give them," said Owens.

Born in Detroit, J.D. lived in Birmingham as a child, then moved with his family to Grosse Pointe in 1934. He was supposed to graduate from Grosse Pointe High School in 1943, but something called World War II popped up.

"Actually, the war came along at just the right time," smiled J.D. "To tell the truth I was kicked out of high school... a lot. To the point where they wouldn't let me back in any more and my folks were too ashamed to ask them to let me in again. So off to war I went at 17."

He served in the Army and was always the "youngest guy in my outfit."

"After three weeks in the Army I realized that Grosse Pointe High School wasn't so bad," said J.D. "I figured I'd better get an education when I got out."

Upon his discharge, J.D. finished his high school diploma and went to Michigan State University where he received a degree in "Social Sciences."

His first job was as a media representative for Michigan Bell. "Just a nice way of saying I sold advertisements for the Yellow Pages," smiled J.D. The job was fun and the pay was good, but another occupation was calling.

"I'd always wanted to work for a newspaper, so I ended up opening up my own newspaper," said J.D. "The far things have been going really well. I tell my two employees 'Hey, this is great fun as long as the mon-think I was the first editor/restaurant critic in the city of Detroit. I guess you'd call it the first 'gut editor.' I loved it."

After the Times stopped operations, J.D. worked for a series of small ad agencies before landing a position with Ross Roy.

He spent 18 years with the agency, leaving 15 months ago ostensibly to "retire." "I started doing this and that and then ended up opening up my own newspaper," said J.D. "The far things have been going really well. I tell my two employees 'Hey, this is great fun as long as the money keeps coming in. When the money stops, we're all going to have to leave and go out and find real jobs."

It's hard to imagine J.D. as an advertising man. He doesn't seem to fit the image of the "ad exec" running from agency to agency in a pressure filled world. Quite frankly, he's just too easy going to fit the mold.

"I'm actually perfect for this work," laughed J.D. "I have a very broad, but not very deep understanding of economics, history, (Continued on Page 12B)

How to handle sibling fights

Almost all siblings fight at some time or other during their growing up years. Here are some tips from Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter, about how to handle such disputes.

- Teach by example. The ways you settle your own disagreements — with your children or with other adults — will show your children how to settle their own, no matter what you say.

- Be fair. If you must punish your children for fighting, "make the punishment fit the crime," and avoid taking sides. Don't punish either child so harshly that you cause him to feel even angrier at the other and at you. Remember: there is seldom only one person at fault in an argument.

- Apply the Golden Rule. Try to put yourself in each child's shoes before you judge behavior. Try to remember your own childhood and how you felt when your parents stepped into your fights. Treat your children as you would have liked to have been treated yourself in that situation.

- Discipline with kindness and respect. Let your children know that you don't like and will not allow certain behaviors, but don't make them feel they are bad people when they make mistakes. Avoid name-calling. Labels such as clumsy, stupid, careless can become self-fulfilling prophecies. If you do slip in anger, apologize to your child later and explain you don't really feel that way about her.

- Accent the positive. Pay attention to the things each of your children does well and to their interactions that are cooperative and constructive. They will tend to repeat these behaviors since they earned your attention.

- Minimize the negative. Whenever possible avoid pointing out your children's "faults" and mistakes, especially in comparison to siblings. Also, unless they're hurting each other, ignore your children's petty disputes with each other. They may decrease simply from lack of attention from you. Remember: if you want to see a behavior repeated, pay attention to it; if you don't want to see a behavior again, ignore it.

- Explain your expectations. Let your children know what responsibilities you expect them to assume; what the limits are on each of them; what behaviors you will not tolerate; and what they can expect if they don't meet these expectations.

- Be consistent in your response to your children's behaviors. There are days when your arguing doesn't bother you and you ignore it. Other days it will be the last straw — and you might blow up. Still, if you try to respond in a way that is predictable, you will find you have much calmer, less anxious children, since they know what to expect.

Before you know it, your children will be grown and the lessons they learn now about how to get along with others, particularly siblings, will be carried into their own families.

Healthy Alpha Xi Delta help

The Grosse Pointe and Macomb County Alumnae of Alpha Xi Delta volunteered to pass out literature on the services of the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan at spring Health-O-Ramas sponsored by Blue Cross/Blue Shield, WXYZ-TV and United Health Organization at locations throughout the tri-county area, including one on Tuesday, March 27, at the St. Clair Shores Recreation Center, where MRS. JOHN BURKE (center) and HELEN GEISBUHLER are pictured above giving ALASEM information to CHARLES KOLEN. Mrs. Burke coordinated the volunteers who included, in addition to Helen, Mrs. Donald Black, Claudia Barker, Mrs. Stephen Lyle and Mrs. Harold Stead. The American Lung Association has been the alumnae group's national philanthropic project for many years. Alpha Xi Deltas have assisted the Breathers Club, a support group for lung disease victims. They have helped at annual Lung Association Bowls, and provided material for Camp Sun Deer for children with asthma.

Under Mrs. Dajani's leadership, the women's organization raised funds for the WSU Student Loan Fund and the Undergraduate Theatre. The group is also sponsoring attendance of WSU biology students this summer at a session of the Northwoods Biological Station in the Upper Peninsula.

New board officers to be installed today, in addition to Mrs. Bernstein, include Mrs. Kenneth Krabbenhoft, of Pleasant Ridge, and Mrs. Woodburn Ross, of Harper Woods, who will serve as recording and corresponding secretaries, respectively, and Mrs. Lawrence Weiner, of Bloomfield Hills, who will serve as treasurer.

Hilberry sets festival dates this summer

Music, melodrama, comedy and drama — five shows in five weeks — will be featured at the Hilberry Theatre during Wayne State University's 14th Summer Theatre Festival, running July 5 through Aug. 4.

"Cole," an entertainment based on the words and music of Cole Porter, will alternate with Emlin Williams' "A Murder Has Been Arranged" on the main Hilberry stage. Alan Ayckbourn's "Relatively Speaking" will rotate with "The Prodigals," two short plays of black life by Don Evans, in the downstairs Studio Theatre.

"Flashback!," produced especially for children, will be performed at matinees on the Hilberry stage.

"Cole," directed by Anthony Schmitt with choreography by Nira Pullin, and "Relatively Speaking," directed by Robert T. Hazzard, open July 5. The remaining plays open the following week, on July 11.

Robert Emmett McGill will direct "A Murder Has Been Arranged," a suspense melodrama by the author of "Night Must Fall" and "The Corn Is Green." Von H. Washington directs "The Prodigals." "Flashback!," a musical revue based on some of the universal moments of childhood, will be directed by Gary M. Witt.

The summer acting company will include Hilberry veterans LeWan Alexander, Jodi Cooper, Jeff Dolan, James Harbour, C. Anthony Jackson, Richard Klautsch, Dennis North, Clifford A. Reed, Gary Righettini, Katie Sikorski, Thomas M. Suda and Angela Yanon.

Brochures with complete schedule and ticket information will be available later in the spring. They may be requested by calling the box office, 577-2972.

CONNER PARK

Florida home for Jacobsons

At home in Orange Park, Fla., where he is serving in the United States Navy are Mr. and Mrs. Perry Joe Jacobson who vacationed at Northport Point following their wedding Friday, June 24, in Saint Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore, and a reception at the Gourmet House.

Mrs. Jacobson is the former Monique Michele Czanstke, daughter of Mrs. Beverly Quatrine Czanstke, of Mount Vernon Road, and Anthony F. Czanstke. The bridegroom is the son of the Gerard Jacobsons, of Northport Point.

Monsignor Frances X. Canfield officiated at the 6 o'clock ceremony for which the bride chose an off-the-shoulder gown of silk organza appliqued with pearls and sequins. A headpiece of flowers and ribbon caught her veil. She carried a lavender-accented arrangement of stephanotis, orchids and baby's-breath.

Honor attendant Kelly Albert's off-the-shoulder dress of ice pink silk taffeta was styled with short, puffed sleeves and a neckline lace insert. Bridesmaids, dressed identically in pale lavender silk taffeta, were Pam Nelson and Karen Kalchik, of Northport.

Mrs. Perry J. Jacobson

Best man was Charles Mehney, of Northport. The bridegroom's brothers, Gerard and Eugene Jacobson, of Northport Point, ushered.

The mother of the bride, in a spaghetti-shouldered gown of lavender and violet chiffon, with a matching stole, wore cymbidium orchids and baby's-breath in her hair. The bridegroom's mother wore her cymbidium orchids and baby's-breath at the waist of her long-sleeved, V-necked dress of plum crepe.

Jeanne Barr will be wed

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Barr, of North Brys Drive, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Jeanne Kathryn, to Stephen Charles Carey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wells C. Carey, of Charlestown, Mass. The wedding is planned for mid-July.

Miss Barr, a Grosse Pointe North High School alumna, received her Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing from the University of Michigan. She is presently a candidate for the Juris Doctor degree at New England School of Law, Boston, and is employed as a registered nurse at Massachusetts General Hospital.

Her fiancé was graduated from Boston Latin School and cum laude from Stonehill College, with a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration. He is a candidate for the Juris Doctor degree at Suffolk University Law School, Boston, and is a Certified Public Accountant, employed by Eastern Gas and Fuel Association as a senior tax accountant.

WSU Friends will hold book sale

The Friends of Wayne State University School of Medicine (of which Audrey France, of the Park, is president) will hold a used book sale Wednesday and Thursday, April 25 and 26, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Room 1350 of Scott Hall, 540 East Canfield.

Margo Brown speaks vows

A long-sleeved, waltz length gown of ivory Chantilly lace was Margo Anne Brown's choice for the candlelight ceremony at which she became the bride of James Leland Easterly. She carried a cascade of off-white roses, stephanotis and ivy, and wore a cluster of stephanotis in her hair.

Relatives and a few close friends attended the 5 o'clock rites Thursday, December 29, in the Hidden Lane home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Edwin Brown. Judge Roger J. LaRose presided.

A reception followed at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club, after which the newlyweds left to vacation in London, Ont., and Florida. They are at home in Falls Church, Va., where the bridegroom is a national solar energy consultant with Meridian Corporation.

He has a Bachelor of Science degree from Michigan State University and a Masters degree in Urban Planning from Wayne State University.

The former Miss Brown, a Grosse Pointe North High School alumna, received her Bachelor of Arts degree in Psychology from Wayne State University and expects to receive her Masters degree in Social Work from Catholic University, Washington, D.C., in May.

Shelley Anne Brown, honor attendant for her sister, wore a waltz length, silver-grey print dress beaded detailing accented the neckline and sleeves of the street length, silver-grey print dress Mrs. Brown chose for her daughter's wedding. The bride's mother pinned a gardenia to her purse. The bridegroom's mother wore a street length dress of beige chiffon, styled with tiered, cape sleeves, and a gardenia corsage.

When the newlyweds left for their wedding trip, the bride was wearing a pastel pink wool dress with a white wool coat.

Mary Ann Behm

July Wedding date is set

The engagement of Mary Ann Behm and David E. McCoy has been announced by her parents, Mr. Arthur Behm and Ms. Joan Tangney Behm, of Washington Road. A mid-July wedding is planned.

Miss Behm was graduated from Grosse Pointe South High School in 1979. She attends the evening school at the University of Detroit and is employed by Goldman Sachs and Co.

Miss Barrie is engaged

Late June wedding plans are being made by Gail Barrie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore J. Barrie II, of Peartree Lane, and Johnathon Van Dore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Van Dore, of East Grand Rapids.

Miss Barrie was graduated from Our Lady Star of the Sea High School and attended Western Michigan University, where she affiliated with Delta Zeta sorority and served on the Panhellenic Council executive board as well as on the Homecoming Committee. She is presently employed by a Detroit law firm.

Beginning this season, the festival's Sunday evening symphonic concerts will start at 6 p.m. The Detroit Symphony will be in residence at the festival for eight weeks in 1984.

Conductors for the 1984 symphonic series include Herbig, David Zinman, Sixten Ehrling, Walter Weller, Stanislaw Skrowaczewski, Neeme Jarvi, Varujan Kojian and Maxim Shostakovich.

Four are making their Meadow Brook debuts in 1984. They include Zinman, currently music director of the Rochester (N.Y.) Philharmonic and music director designate of the Baltimore Symphony; Weller, former concertmaster of the Vienna Philharmonic, currently principal conductor of the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra in London; Kojian, music director of the Chautauqua Symphony and former music director of the Utah Symphony; and Shostakovich, son of the famous Russian composer Dmitri Shostakovich and in demand world-wide as a guest conductor.

The program for Thursday, Aug. 9, should be of special interest to admirers of the late Shostakovich, for both the first and last Shostakovich symphonies will be conducted by his son.

Soloists include pianists Entremont, Ivan Moravec, Cynthia Raim, Stephen Hough (Naumberg Piano Competition winner), Grant Johannessen and Paul Badura-Skoda, violinists Ida Haendel, Dmitry Sitkovetsky and Dylana Jensen and organist Berj Zamkochian, known for his recordings with the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

The 1984 season marks the festival's debut of Sitkovetsky, Hough, Jensen, Badura-Skoda and Zamkochian.

Highlight of the symphonic series will be the Cleveland Orchestra's appearance under its new music director, Christoph von Dohnanyi, on Tuesday, Aug. 21. Although the 1984 Thursday/Sunday series features a large number of popular symphonic masterpieces, the performance of works never or not often presented by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra is a special focus in 1984.

The following pieces will receive their DSO premier performances at Meadow Brook this summer: Britten's Violin Concerto, Rachmaninoff's The Rock, Korngold's Suite from Robin Hood, Goldmark's Violin Concerto and Shostakovich's Symphony No. 15.

Featured in addition will be these pieces not performed by the DSO in at least 10 years: Stravinsky's Fireworks, Shchedrin's Mischievous Melodies, Walton's Johannesburg Festival Overture, Vaughan Williams' Symphony No. 2, Bruckner's Symphony No. 3, Sibelius' Karelia Overture, Yaredumian's Armenian Folksong Suite and Hovhanness' Mysterious Mountain.

Festival concerts are held in the Baldwin Pavilion on the Oakland University campus in Rochester, with entrances on Walton Boulevard and Adams Road. Over 7,000 people can be seated in the pavilion and on the lawn.

All Thursday symphonic concerts begin at 8 p.m., grounds opening at 6 p.m. All Sunday symphonic concerts begin at 6 p.m., grounds opening at 4 p.m. There are multiple opportunities for picnicking and dining at Trumbull Terrace.

Village Garden Club to meet

"Flowers for the Home" will be the program for the Village Garden Club's meeting Friday, April 27, at 11 a.m. in the Radnor Circle home of Mrs. John Bockstanz who will be assisted by co-hostesses Mrs. Robert Bennett, Mrs. Patricia Brooks and Mrs. W. Victor Benjamin.

Bonsai class set for April 26

Bonsai enthusiasts who are enthralled by the Bonsai entries in the Garden Center Horticulture shows should be thrilled by the fact that there will be a Bonsai class next Thursday, April 26, from 9 a.m. to noon at the War Memorial. A second class is set for May 24; both are open to all gardeners.

MOT features four operas next season

Michigan Opera Theatre has announced the 1984-85 repertory for its 14th season, to include three English Language productions at the Music Hall Center in the fall and a spring (April 17 through 20, 1985) Italian language production of Giuseppe Verdi's "Aida" with Metropolitan Opera stars Leona Mitchell, James McCracken and Bianca Berini at the Masonic Temple.

The season debuts Oct. 12 with the Spoleto, Italy, Festival of Two Worlds' production of "The Merry Widow" by Franz Lehár. "We are very appreciative of a generous gift from Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Endicott that allowed the Michigan Opera Theatre to acquire this grand opera production from Italy," Robert E. Dewar, chairman of MOT's board, commented.

Mrs. Endicott noted that she and her husband gave their gift "in the hope that it will create and nurture an exciting new category of giving among Detroit area residents."

"As a MOT board member," she added, "I am very happy that our company will be able to offer this lavish production to other opera companies in order to assist with our own future earned-income campaigns."

The Lehár operetta, running through Oct. 20, will be followed by MOT's staging of The Opera Theatre of St. Louis' production of Mozart's "Magic Flute," running Nov. 2 through 10, and Stephen Sondheim's "Sweeney Todd" in its Michigan premier Nov. 16 through Dec. 1.

philosophy, literature and journalism. I'm easy going, quick to laugh and not the type to get ulcers. I'm the type who gives them. I've never been a compulsive, work-a-holic. Sure, we all sometimes take work home at night, and I've put in my share of weekends, but my philosophy has always been if you can't finish the job by 5, it's too big for you.

Then there's also his "no tie" philosophy. Although he owns a lot of suits, all required during his ad agency days, he rarely wears one more than once a month now.

"I attend lots of meetings in my college outfit," chuckled J.D., dressed in an open necked shirt and V-neck sweater. "You should see the looks I get from the button down types. They sort of give you that 'don't you own a suit?' look. But my college outfit look suits me just fine."

During time away from the office, J.D. frequents the tennis courts, golf courses and swimming pool. Up until a year ago, he was an avid skier.

"I really don't have hobby number one," said Owens. "Although I've always been athletically inclined, I'm not very good, you understand, but I undertake sports with a lot of verve."

Vacations are spent at either the beach house in Lexington, the condo in Key West or bicycling through Grosse Pointe from the Owens' condo. They sold the mandatory big house in Grosse Pointe when their children grew up.

Daughter Amy works with dad in the advertising agency, while son Jamie, (if you meet him, call him Jim. He hates Jamie, says J.D.), works as a lobster fisherman and shrimp in the Florida Keys.

Future plans? "Right now, I'm having a lot of fun," said J.D. "My wife Mary is ready to retire from her position as a teacher at Richard School. She's ready to enjoy the fruits of her labors. She'll probably spend the summers in Lexington and the winters in Key West."

"Me, I'll stay on at the agency. It's only 15 months old and doing pretty well. But if it ever really folds, I think I'll probably retire for good."

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featuring, this week, a bouquet of SPRING-TIME SOUPS.

2 Tbsp. flour
1 cup boiling water
1 cup chicken broth
1-2/3 cups evaporated skimmed milk
Minced parsley for garnish
Melt margarine in soup kettle over low heat; add sliced onions and saute until tender; stir occasionally to prevent burning. Remove from heat; sprinkle onions with salt, pepper, basil, thyme and flour; stir until smoothly blended. Slowly stir in boiling water and chicken broth. Stir and cook over low heat until slightly thickened. Just before serving, slowly stir in the evaporated milk. Sprinkle with parsley, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

1/2 cup water
1-1/2 cups chopped cooked chicken
1 cup chicken broth
Salt and white pepper to taste
1 can (13 oz.) evaporated skimmed milk
2 tsp. minced parsley
In large saucepan, melt margarine; add onions and celery and saute until limp. Add potatoes and 1/2 cup water and simmer, covered, for a few minutes. Add chicken and chicken broth; bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer, covered, until potatoes are very well done, about 30 minutes. Stir in evaporated skimmed milk. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Heat to steaming, but do not boil. Sprinkle with parsley before serving. Makes 6 cups.

Calories per cup about 191.
Cholesterol about 35 mgs.

LUSCIOUS FRENCH ONION SOUP

3 Tbsp. unsalted margarine
1 Tbsp. vegetable oil
6 cups thinly sliced, peeled onions
1/2 tsp. salt
1/8 tsp. black pepper
1/2 tsp. granulated sugar
2 Tbsp. dry vermouth
3 Tbsp. flour
5 cans (13-3/4 oz.) beef broth
1/2 cup dry white wine
2 Tbsp. brandy
croustons
2-1/2 cups grated Gruyere cheese

In Dutch oven, heat margarine and oil over moderate heat. When margarine melts add onions; cover and cook 15 minutes, until onions are completely wilted. Uncover pot. Stir in salt, pepper and sugar and increase heat to moderately high. Cook 30 to 40 minutes, stirring every 2 or 3 minutes and scraping bottom of pot, until onions are a nutty brown. Stir in vermouth to deglaze bottom of pan before sprinkling the browned onions with the flour and stirring until flour is smooth. Slowly stir in 2 cans of broth, stirring constantly to ensure smoothness. When well blended, add remaining broth and wine. Partially cover pot and simmer over moderately low heat for 1-1/2 hours. Stir brandy into soup. Arrange croustons in single layer on top and sprinkle with cheese.

Preheat oven to 375°. Bake 20 minutes, then broil 3 to 5 minutes, until cheese is lightly browned. Makes 6 cups.

CROUTONS

10 slices French bread, about 2-1/2 x 2 inches, and 3/4-inch thick
1 Tbsp. olive oil
1 clove garlic, cut in half
In preheated 350° oven, place bread slices on baking sheet and bake about 10 minutes, turning once, until bread is completely dry but not brown. Remove from oven. Brush bread slices with oil and rub with cut garlic clove. Bake 3 minutes longer.

Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

If what you want is drivel, this must be the place . . .

I got a fan letter from Ottumwa, Iowa, last week. The letter writer complained about the coverage this sports section offers. He also referred to the contest of this column as "drab tripe" and "dribble."

Okay, so he's entitled to his opinion. Drab tripe? Maybe. But dribble? Nope. I must admit that while slings and arrows from Ottumwa, Iowa, don't normally bother me, I do take offense at the use of the word dribble in describing this column.

Because unless Mt. Ottumwa can bounce this column down a basketball court or let it run down his chin (provided he has one), dribble isn't exactly the correct word to use. And hey, if I'm going to be heckled, I want it done right.

I think the word Mr. Ottumwa was looking for was drivel. Webster's New World Dictionary defines drivel as "silly, stupid talk." And now that we've gotten the drivel part of this column out of the way, we can get on with the good stuff . . .

• My favorite part of any high school sports season is the part where they hand out all the post-season honors. I know, I know, it's not the important part of the season, but my favorite, nonetheless.

One of the latest honors is the one the Michigan High School Football Coaches' Association sent South High's way. The MSHFCA made Blue Devil offensive tackle John Mikesell its first team East squad selection for the fourth annual All Star Game, set for Spartan Stadium in East Lansing, Saturday, Aug. 6.

Mikesell, a 6-2, 231-pound senior, helped lead South to consecutive 9-0 seasons and first-round playoff action in both the 1982 and 1983 football seasons. He also had an outstanding season anchoring the defense on the inaugural South High varsity hockey team which won a regional hockey championship.

Mikesell is one of this year's great crop of senior athletes and it's nice to see one of the Pointe's "Super Seniors" get statewide recognition. Blue Devil head coach Russ Heppner will serve as an assistant coach for the East squad, giving the game a real Pointe flavor.

• Now It Can Be Told Department: When it comes to spring, it takes a lot to convince me that the season is really here. Sunshiny, 64-degree days sprinkled here and there don't do it; neither does the opening of local golf courses.

No, I knew it was spring when I drove by Harper Woods' Bishop Gallagher High School one rainy, cold morning a few weeks back. Milling around outside the school were several squeaky-clean-looking baseball players carrying their even-cleaner uniforms on hangers. It was team picture day at Gallagher, the boys were cleaned up and looking good . . . and that means spring.

But I'll bet the Norsemen and their fans weren't too impressed with BG's clean uniforms when the Lancers swept a doubleheader from North last week.

• Speaking of sweeps, that's just what the North High girls' soccer team did with its first three games this season. Both Guido Regelbrugge's North girls and John Case's South team have started the 1984 season with the same fine play each squad displayed last year. And that means more fun for soccer fans this spring.

• And while we're talking about great starts, we can't leave out the Detroit Tigers. I'm glad pro baseball fans in the area have a winning team to watch and talk about . . . and talk about . . . and talk about. But I do think it's all getting a little silly, like this new practice of morning, afternoon and evening radio talk shows employing members of the Tigers to come on and give daily Tiger reports.

I sure hope my favorite classical music station's morning man was joking when he "advertised" a Tiger Question feature on his program this week. I can just hear it, Sparky Anderson talking classical music:

Classical DJ: "How do you feel about Tchaikowsky, Sparky?"

Sparky: "Well, I'll tell you. He can hit, but I'm not too sure about his glove."

New faces lead North to 2-1 mark

By Rick Markel
North High

Better get a scorecard now if you're a fan of North's girls' varsity softball team. The familiar faces are gone and new ones have taken over the Norseman lineup. Six of last year's starters have been replaced by six new players who are playing for the first time at the varsity level.

One might think the inexperience of the club would cause many problems, but so far, things have gone well. After a recent 5-4 loss to Warren Woods Tower, North's record stood at 2-1.

In its first game of the year, North got a great effort out of Paul Harms who pitched six innings of hitless ball to earn a 7-1 victory over Bishop Gallagher. Coming right back, the Norsemen used a three-run homer by Missy Preston to gain a 10-7 victory over Hazel Park. Then came that tough game against a very good Warren Woods Tower squad.

North expected the worse against Tower, but held its own.

In fact, the Norsemen held a 4-3 advantage going into the bottom of the ninth before Tower rallied for two runs and won 5-4. No team ever is satisfied with losing but under the circumstances of being a heavy underdog, North was encouraged by the loss.

The hitting, a question mark coming into the season, has been a pleasant surprise. People like Preston, Julie Cook, Virginia Sanders, Dawn Cartwright and Michelle Witt have all hit well. Scoring runs shouldn't be a problem this year.

Pitching, thanks to Harms and catching mate Michelle Witt, will be the strength of this softball team. Harms has already turned in two outstanding outings and has emerged as a real stopper. Celeste Sartor is doing a fine job and gives North a reliable 1-2 punch on the mound.

The defense has been adequate but it could and should improve. Says Coach Bill Taylor of the defense, "We've made a few physical errors, but we'll learn from our mistakes."

North has made an interesting decision this year as it will go with two softball coaches. In addition to Taylor, Gary Bennett will also serve as a coach. Coach Taylor feels this was a good move as the coaching this year will be more individualized and detailed.

North sets its sights for '84 on a Bi-County league title. This is going to be a difficult task, yet it can be done. Clintondale and L'Anse Creuse appear to be the top teams in the league but anything can happen. Coach Taylor can't quite foresee how good they'll be. Said Taylor, "I've never had a team with so much inexperience."

Upcoming for North is a home doubleheader with Rochester today, Thursday, April 19, at 3:30 p.m.

20 not plenty for JV

The object in softball is to out-score your opponents. So when North's J.V. softball team came up with 20 runs against Clintondale in a win was assured, right? Wrong. Despite scoring 20 runs, the Norsemen gave up 23 runs and lost, 23-20.

Two days later North's bats were booming again. Barbie Locher went two for four and Lisa Van Hollebeke went two for two. North scored eight runs, but North lost to Centerline 22-8.

In the season opener against Bishop Gallagher, North got a great pitching performance by Amy Domienik and gave up just six runs. Still, they only scored five runs.

Track win

To the delight of all green and gold followers, the Norsemen pulled out a relay (in a time of 3:35.5) and beat South 71-66. Leading North to victory were relay members Tim Monahan, Evard, Carrasco, and Chris Bingham.

The girls' track team matched the boys' and knocked off South 94-34.

Netters split

North's boys' tennis team just hasn't hit its stride yet as it split a pair with Grand Blanc and Warren Woods Tower last week.

First, North defeated Grand Blanc, 5-2. The star performance went to Roger VanPelt who played splendidly as he won the No. 2 singles competition. Other winners included the No. 2 doubles combination of Jay Dansbury and Raoul Rayos along with the No. 3 doubles combo of Brad Cooksey and Ralph Barber.

There wasn't much to talk about in the 4-3 loss to Warren Woods Tower. The simple story was that North's lower rung players won as expected, but the higher rung players lost. Despite their 1-1 start, nobody's pushing the panic button. Coach Tom Berschback is still juggling the lineups and feels it will be early in May before the team hits its stride.

Good tennis start for SH

By Bif Ream
South High

Spring has sprung, and the 1984 South boys' tennis season is here. And with two early wins, this season looks more promising than last year.

Since we're only losing four players, the team looks strong," said veteran coach Don Zysk. The singles spots will be filled by Thad Angyal, Fred Fordon, Peter Wack, and Dave Gualliani. Varsity doubles teams are Eric Nicholson and Robert Hackman; Kevin Monahan and Curt Edwards; and Dan Mooney and Bill Wheeler.

Mooney, Angyal, Hackman and Wheeler are new varsity members, adding consistency and depth to the returning varsity players' games. The South team fares very well in replacing the four varsity players that left last year, including two foreign exchange students.

"We have a hard season ahead of us, and I hope we can do as well if not better than last year's squad."

"I am really happy to be a part of the team, and hope to continue to play for the rest of my high school career," said newcomer Hackman.

South is the defending Eastern Michigan League champions; was runner-up in the regionals to North, and placed 15th in the Class A state championships last year.

Zysk, in his 25th year of coaching, concluded, "The boys are looking good and trying hard. I know we'll finish well this year."

ULS takes Kalamazoo win

For the third year in a row the University Liggett School boys' varsity tennis team has won the prestigious Kalamazoo Central Invitational.

Last weekend, the Knights scored 33 points to defeat three of the top high school tennis teams in the state. East Grand Rapids finished second with 28 points, host Kalamazoo Central was third with 21 points and Three Rivers finished fourth.

Individual flight winners for ULS were Marc Hunt at No. 2 singles, Brian Hunt and Kirk Haggarty at No. 1 doubles, and George Haggarty and Robby Wood at No. 2 doubles.

The Knights, still playing without last year's No. 1 player, injured senior Steve Pack, received support from all team members. Even the boys who did not win their flights contributed to the victory. "Our depth was definitely the difference," commented ULS Coach Bob Wood.

Frank Crociata at No. 1 singles won the consolation match. David Barlow at No. 3 singles, Ashu Nautiyal at No. 4 singles, and John Birgbauer and Scott Watson at No. 3 doubles, were runners up in their flights.

Earlier in the week the absence of Pack did make a difference. The Knights lost to Birmingham Seaholm, 5-2, on April 10, and to Detroit Catholic Central, 4-3, on April 11.

Rocky JV start

The ULS junior varsity tennis team got off to a rocky start this week by dropping its first two matches.

On April 10, Seaholm edged the ULS netters, 5-3. Winners for Liggett were Jeff Lambrecht at No. 1 singles, Andrew MacLeod and Robert Niccolini at No. 2 doubles, and Ralph Hoelne and Steve Everhardt at No. 4 doubles.

Against Detroit Catholic Central, the teams played six doubles matches and ULS lost all six. The best matches were played by Fred Chang and Michael Baks at No. 2 doubles and by Jeff Buhl and Paul Smith at No. 4 doubles. Both Seaholm and Catholic Central have extremely strong tennis programs, so coach Chuck Wright is not disappointed by the start.

"The team showed great sportsmanship and character during these first two matches. I know that these boys will work hard to improve their skills," said Wright.

Other members of the JV team are Mike Fozo, Rob Glancy, Coley Connolly, Tony Malcoun and Bill Reuther.

Bad baseball week

The ULS varsity baseball team lost two games last week and was trailing in a third when rain stopped play.

The Knights lost an exciting 9-8 decision to Oakland Christian. The loss was costly, with junior Harold Colby and Tom Gifto injured. Both will miss about two weeks of the season.

On Thursday, April 12, Lutheran Northwest rolled over the Knights, 15-4. The game got away in the third inning when ULS pitchers issued five walks and the defense made four errors. By the time the third out was recorded, Lutheran Northwest had scored 12 runs.

These two losses marked the first time in five years of rivalry that either Oakland Christian or Lutheran Northwest have beaten ULS in baseball.

On Saturday, April 14, Coach Glynn Conley's Knights played four and a half innings in a slow rain before the umpires suspended play because of slippery field conditions. At the time, Plymouth Christian hand an 8-5 lead.

A bright spot in early season is the hitting of sophomore catcher Brian David. The sophomore has five hits in six at bats and has walked four times.

The Knights play Hamtramck at home on Thursday, April 19 at 4 p.m.

Softball win

By Thena Cherpes

In their season opener on April 10, the ULS varsity softball team soundly defeated Oakland Christian, 34-18. Junior Samantha DeSmet pitched the complete game to lead the defense, while the offense was marked by aggressive baserunning.

On April 12, ULS played a strong game against Lutheran Northwest, but was defeated 9-8. Freshman Julie Ferris and senior Michelle Stief pitched a strong game, and were backed up by a strong infield that turned over two double plays. The offense was led by senior Ruth McCrary who went three for four with two singles and a double.

Coach Julie Granger's team plays at Kingswood on Wednesday, April 25.

A soccer split

The girls' varsity soccer team at ULS opened its season at home April 9, with a 5-1 defeat of Roeper. Junior Susan Edwards scored the first goal of the season, assisted by freshman Kim Wood. Wood then scored two more goals, with the help of Susan Judge and Shelly Tibbitts. Senior Rebecca Thomas charged in, unassisted, from the wing for the fourth goal, while freshman Laura Khelokian, playing sweeper, put in goal number five.

On April 11, the Knights fell to Grosse Pointe South, 6-0.

For their first Expressway Soccer League contest ULS faced Edsel Ford on Friday, April 13. Wood managed a goal in the first half, and Khelokian scored on a second half penalty shot, but that was the extent of the ULS attack. Senior goalie Amy Rasmus made 18 saves in the 4-2 loss.

Coach Candy Bousquet's Lady Knights play Bishop Gallagher at home on Tuesday, April 24, at 4:15 p.m.

Great boys' lacrosse start

By William Seaman
ULS coach

The 1984 ULS boys' lacrosse team is off to an outstanding start with two victories in three days. Hopes are high for a successful campaign.

ULS' season-opener came against L'Anse Creuse North on April 12 and the Knights were never really challenged in an 8-6 victory. Seconds into the game midfielder Craig Durno scored and ULS sprinted to a 4-0 lead. Allen Carter had four goals as mid-fielders Durno, Jamie McMillan and Andrew Ottaway scored the others.

ULS got its second win last Saturday, April 14, a 2-1 nailbiter over L'Anse Creuse Central. Carter put the Knights ahead just 18 seconds into the game, assisted by Johannes Homan. McMillan fired in the game-winner in the third period. Central battle back and despite having a man-advantage for the entire fourth period, wasn't able to get the tie against a determined ULS defense.

Knights' goalie Jeff Lucas played an outstanding game, supported ably by defensemen Jim Valice, Kurt Schneider, Mike Gouda and Dan Bowen.

The girls' soccer and softball teams at ULS have started their seasons. The News will profile the soccer squad next week.

Upset for McMahon

Yale freshman Meghan McMahon, 18, of Whittier Road, scored a major tennis upset last week when she defeated by Cummings, a four-year first place starter on Princeton's varsity tennis team. A top-20 collegian, Cummings had defeated McMahon last fall at a Syracuse tournament. This time, McMahon prevailed, 6-1, the third set. The Yale squad dominated nationally-ranked Princeton, 7-2, in the match played April 6 in New Haven. McMahon, a South High graduate, has an individual spring record of 9-1. Her Yale team has a 7-3 mark and will face Brown, Harvard, Dartmouth and Cornell in the remainder of the season.

Sports Week

• More post-season honors — this time to South High girls' varsity tennis coach Stephanie Prychitko. Prychitko has been selected as 1984 District 4 Tennis Coach of the Year by the National High School Athletic Coaches Association.

All Prychitko did to earn the honor, which she will receive at the 19th annual NHSACA National Convention in Lexington, Ky., June 29, is led South to its eighth straight Class A state tennis championship this past fall.

• And finally, even if Mr. Ottumwa doesn't think so, somebody pays attention to this column.

A few months back, I wrote a brief piece about North High athlete Tim Monahan, whom, I thought, always seemed to end up on the losing side despite his team's (and his own) great performances. I ended up telling Tim to hang in there.

Well I'm happy to report (and Ottumwa will note that I take no credit for this) that Monahan stayed with it long enough to turn in a great performance AND end up on the winning side. With North and South tied at 65 in last Thursday's dual track meet at South, North's 1600 meter relay team won the last event of the day to give the Norsemen a 71-66 victory in a matchup that had the spectators on their feet and cheering.

Not-so-incidentally, running the first leg of the relay won by team members Evard, Carrasco and Chris Bingaman was... Tim Monahan. The win was a satisfying result of a lot of "hanging in there" by Monahan, reports his father and president of the Tim Monahan Fan Club, John Monahan.

And that, folks, ain't no drivell.

Club crowns cage champs

Twenty-two high school basketball teams spent their free time in gyms this past winter. Divided into three different divisions, the teams played a regular Neighborhood Club schedule and a double elimination tournament. With the support of the Grosse Pointe Public School System, the teams were able to use the high school facilities. Over 130 games were played in the three leagues.

In the Blue Division, the Hoopers not only dominated league play, but also the tournament. They easily defeated M & M in the finals, 60-40, to win the championship. Rick Leonard led the team with 22 points, and Piche had 12 points for the M & M's.

The Gold division was divided into two tournaments, the NCAA and the NIT. Fikany Realtors' Phi Slammas took the NCAA's by storm, winning four straight to reach the finals. The Flintstones led 26-22 but sparked by Mike Gormelny's 11 second half points, Phi Slammas came back to squeal out a 56-55 victory. Sean Sullivan led the victors with 17 points, as Bud Gereg and Gormelny added 14 each. Komasara had 22 points for the Flintstones.

In the NIT, the Unknowns dominated the tournament after a 4-4 regular season record. In the finals they beat the Nikes, 57-41. The Nikes had three big victories in the

Can you answer the following?
1. What is your property actually worth?

5. How much can you increase your rents without creating a vacancy problem?

Pininfarina, designer of such exotic sports cars as Ferrari and Jaguar, now custom builds his own classic convertibles. And builds them very slowly in his own coachworks. The time goes into handstitching the fine Italian leather interior. Finishing the woodgrain dash and console. Checking and fine tuning each fuel injected engine. The result is exceptional luxury and a lot of performance in a classically styled convertible. Simply beautiful.

Relatively few Bertone sports cars are produced each year. Handcrafted in the coachworks that once designed and built limited runs of such cars as Maserati and Lamborghini, the Bertone surrounds you with Italian leather upholstery and luxury appointments. Its racing heritage is reflected in the body's wedge shape, mid-mounted engine, alloy wheels, and Pirelli tires. True sports car performance plus open air touring.

Both cars are fully covered by some of the best limited warranties in the business, including 7 years against rust perforation. While most cars only promise quality, we deliver.

— STANDARD FEATURES —

- Air Conditioning
- Alum. alloy wheels
- ETR stereo/cassette
