

Break what?

Stand back Kraft Rok, East Detroit Chuckers and all the rest of you tough, street-corner break-dancing fanatics. From the land of prep come The Funk Assassins, ready to spin to win at 4 p.m. today at Summit Place (formerly the Pontiac Mall) in Hudson's and Puma's first break dance competition.

The Assassins, a.k.a. Mike Bibeau, of the City, Ken Fine, of the Park, and Detroiter Mike Kearney, were picked as finalists to compete against groups like "Rok" and the "Chuckers' for prizes including a Puma out-fit, shoes, Sony Walkman FM radio an an appearance in Hudson's fashion show next month.

I wonder what street corner they're practicing on this morning? Somehow I just can't picture a group of Assassins. ghetto-blaster blaring, in front of the Campus Shop, for instance, in the Village.

Five miles to the foot

Break dancing might not be a bad sport for the rest of us to take up, if the Gallup Organization's latest poll is true. At least it would get us off our poor feet.

The national study conducted by the American Podiatry Association and Dr. Scholl's concluded that three-quarters of adult Americans have some kind of foot problems and a majority of us think it's normal for feet to

By the way, Gallup says most of us take about 8,000 steps a day. That translates into about 28 miles a week.

We're not asking much

Someone, somewhere out there must have a home for a group of 100 well-behaved, but loud. Grosse Pointers who are part of an organization that last year contributed more than $5 million to charity.

The group is Grosse Pointe's own chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America. They want to come home to Grosse Pointe since their former hang-out, the Alger Post VFW on Neff, was knocked down

Don Adams says his group needs a big room with heat and air conditioning, ample parking, a small kitchen and storage area. They meet every Tuesday evening to practice for shows to benefit the blind, mentally handicapped and elderly. If you can help, call Adams at 775-0002.

End of the rainbow

Grosse Pointe Park's city manager, John Crawford, was hoping for gold bullion, but he had no such luck when he checked into a long-unclaimed safety deposit box that was recently recovered from a national bank that closed down in the 1930s.

A story about this potential cache of unearthed treasures was first published in the Detroit Free Press and caught the eye of Thomas E. Armstrong, of the Farms. Hoping to find a forgotten pot of gold from his past. Armstrong sent for the list of unclaimed deposit boxes and spotted two familiar names the Village of Grosse Pointe

Park and the Farms. But, alas, it wasn't wealth but just an old city charter that the Park administrator found in the box, "It's not worth a trip to get it because we have many copies of the charter," he said. The Farms is still awaiting word about the contents of its box

Suspect won early release, police say

Grosse Pointe News

By Mike Andrzejczyk

A 41-year-old Detroit man, recently released after serving two years of a life sentence, faces new charges in three cities in connection with last week's armed robbery in Grosse Pointe City.

St. Clair Shores Lt. August Blumline said the suspect, Robert Lee Moore, is a five-time offender who was recently released from Jackson prison after being sentenced to life imprisonment as a habitual offender. Previous convictions included armed robbery, Blumline added.

Officials from Grosse Pointe City, Grosse Pointe Shores and St. Clair Shores say they will press complaints against Moore, who they allege held up the Active Realty Co. about 4 p.m. last Thursday, fled Grosse Pointe Shores police and ended up in a shooting in a St. Clair Shores restaurant.

St. Clair Shores patrolman William Todd remained in good condition in St. John Hospital Monday. He underwent a couple of hours of surgery for a single gunshot wound to his upper right arm, hospital officials said.

St. Clair Shores police officials said Todd, a 10-year veteran, is the first officer wounded in the line of duty in that city.

Moore remained in stable condition in St. John after a weekend arraignment from his hospital bed on charges of attempted murder, carrying a concealed weapon and malicious destruction of property, police officials said. Bond was set at $250,000 by 40th District Judge William Crouchman.

Grosse Pointe City police allege Moore was involved in the hold-up of Active Realty Co. at Mack and Notre Dame late last Thursday afternoon.

Employes told police a man walked into the office about 4:05 p.m. and asked to talk to an agent about purchasing a home. The man gave his name as David White and said he was interested in a seven or eight-bedroom home on the west side, reports said.

Active employe Mark Simon asked the man for a phone number where he could be reached. The man replied he had no phone, then asked to use the bathroom, according to reports.

He then called to Simon to say there was water on the floor. When Simon went back to look, the man put a silver-plated automatic handgun to Simon's head and ordered him to be silent.

The man tied Simon's hands behind his back with a cord he took from his own pockets. The man then brought employe Gene Doelle hands. The man then asked where the day's receipts were. When told there were none, the man took Simon's and Doelle's wallets.

There was no cash in Simon's wallet, reports said. The man took an unknown amount of cash from Doelle's wallet, according to reports. He then forced two other employes into the restroom.

The employes locked the door when the man returned with the fifth victim, whom he threatened to kill unless the door was unlocked. When the employes inside the restroom refused, the man ordered the fifth employe to the floor in the hallway.

The man was in the building for between 15 and 20 minutes. City police said. He took $93 from two female employes, reports said.

Another employe, Joe Simon, came into the office and heard the calls for help from the victims in the restroom. He unlocked the door and summoned police from the Alger Party Store next door.

Minutes before the broadcast went out, Shores Corporal Chester Painter, on routine patrol at the north end of the Shores, noticed a 1973 brown Pontiac driving at a high rate of speed north on Lakeshore straddling the center line, reports said.

Painter took up pursuit and stopped the car north of Marter on Jefferson in St. Clair Shores after the car ran the red light at the intersection. Painter approached the car and asked the driver if he had been drinking. The driver said he had been in the area buying a car, but was vague about where he had been, reports said.

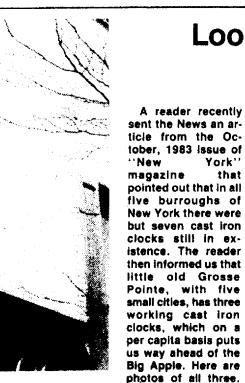

Painter noticed the man holding his identification close to his lap. When the corporal reached into the car, the man swore and drove away at a high rate of speed, reports said.

At the time he made the stop, Painter didn't know the driver was an armed robbery suspect, police

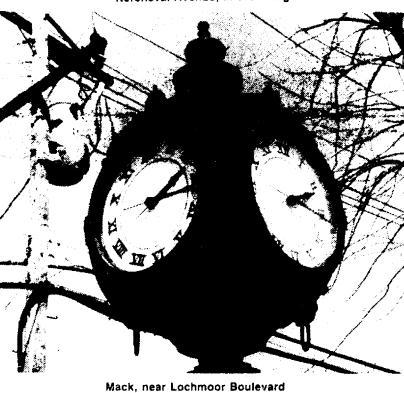

Shores police took up pursuit, calling for assistance from St. Clair Shores and Grosse Pointe Woods. The Pontiac took a right turn at Jefferson onto Liberty and headed to where the road deadends, reports said. Instead of stopping; the man drove through a sixfoot high cyclone fence gate into the Shore Club apartment complex, where a half-dozen Grosse Pointe Shores, Farms and St. Clair Shores police cars converged.

The car was damaged along the hood, roof and windshield, according to reports. The gate came loose from its lower hinges but struck the car passing under. Shores officers concentrated

City asks its citizens to petition for liquor

By Harriet Nolan

Most of Grosse Pointe City residents polled by telephone last week told The Grosse Pointe News they were in favor of having liquor served in City restaurants. Six of the 10 selected at random also said first priority should be given to applicants who have already indicated an interest

Those applicants are Village merchants Andrew Moquin, coowner of the Merry Mouse's Cafe Le Chat; Clarence Wascher, general manager of Jacobson's Inc.; Vito DePalma, owner of Clairpointe Restaurant and Steve Scandalis, owner of the Rams Horn on Mack.

"I have no objection to serving liquor here," said Eugenia DiSante of Alger Place. "I think the four should have first crack at the licenses

"I'm entirely in agreement that liquor should be served," Mrs. B. Tilley of Lakeland Court "I think it's wrong to restrict restaurants to selling only beer and wine?

Joseph Gant, who lives on Loraine, said he hadn't really formed a strong opinion "But, we're the only place here that doesn't sell liquor and ample precedent has been set in the Farms and Park.

The only dissenter in the group was Jack Harrison of Lincoln Road However, he is in favor of pulling the issue on the ballot, "togive everyone else an opportunity to express their vote.

"In the past we've had a couple of nice restaurants that didn't serve liquor and we found them. satisfactory I feel that establishments that tend to depend on liquor to attract patrons are not always as excellent of a restaurant," he said.

The question of serving beer and wine was first raised last September when Moquin, Wascher and De-Palma petitioned council for approval. Shortly thereafter, Scandalis joined the group which is being represented by John King, former City mayor.

At that time Moquin said he wanted to serve customers a glass of wine in his then soon-to-be opened venture, Cafe Le Chat. De Palma said he wanted to revamp Clairpointe and its menu if a (Continued on Page 10A)

Home sales are "going like gang-busters" in Grosse Pointe this spring, with first quarter totals almost double those for the same period in 1982, according to statistics compiled by the Grosse Pointe Real Estate Exchange.

Local realtors closed on $20.1 million of sales this January, February and March, a healthy increase over the $15.5 million for the same period in 1983 and $10.5 million in 1982, according to Tom Youngblood, head of the local realtors' group.

Buyers are paying more for the houses, too. The average sales price during the first quarter this year was $113,158, Youngblood said. That compares to $101,400 during the same period of 1983, and - $104,000 two years ago.

"We're making more deals and our inventory is down," Youngblood said. "In some segments of the market, it's like the good old days" before the recession put a damper on home sales in late

The segments of the market that are moving fastest are generally in two categories, according to Youngblood: four-bedroom homes in the $200,000 price range and smaller houses that can be purchased for under $100,000.

The Real Estate Exchange president said the local market come-back began late last year. "Now we have a mortgage interest rate we can live with and that's what makes the difference," he said. Interest is about 10 percent on adjustable rate mortgages and 14 percent on 30-year fixed rate loans.

the dark cloud on the horizon, Youngblood says. He is worried. like many realtors, about the federal government's growing deficit and its impact on borrowing.

"When the government wants to borrow money, it competes against everyone else who wants to, it's as simple as that," Young-. blood said. "I'm certainly not pessimistic about the future ... but I'm not certain what's going to happen after the presidential elec-

The rise in activity has extended to new home sales, as well as the used home market. Three subdivisions are currently under construction in the Pointes - Briarwood, Sycamores and Henry Ford's Windemere condominums. Construction of four new homes is about to begin at Sycamores; Windemere sales are brisk; and Briarwood developers can barely keep up with orders for the subivision between Lakeshore and Grosse Pointe Boulevard in the Farms.

"Ed Russell really grabbed the right market with the Briarwood development," Youngblood said "He's building 3,000 square foot homes, with three bedrooms and two and a half baths and they are selling fast.

Youngblood said he isn't aware. of any neighborhoods where sales haven't picked up including the area surrounding Barnes Elemen tary School, on Morningside Drive in the Woods. The school is scheduled to close next fall as part of a reorganization plan approved in November by the Board of Education. Many of the citizens who protested the school hoard's action claimed it would devastate property values near the school.

"The Barnes area is not suffering," Youngblood said. "The right house, priced right, will sell as fast

"They're the front line that deals with the public. They have to keep cool to extract information and they get their share of complaints and stress," he adds.

While some of the duties may seem mundane, such as taking parking complaints and checking out the numerous burglar alarms that go off through malfunctions, all of the work is important and keeps the city safe.

"I am sending you only my best students," were the words of Theodore Lettvin, artist in residence at the University of Michigan School of Music. His associate. Dr. Charles Fisher, used almost the same words. And their students will be competing against strong contenders from the music departments of Toledo University and Wayne State University.

The preliminary auditions will take place at the War Memorial on Saturday, April 28, starting at 1 p.m. For this opening phase, the repertory to be played by entrants includes a Bach Prelude and Fugue and a major piano work from the romantic or impressionistic

Four contenders will be selected as finalists to continue in the competition on Sunday. Again starting at 1 p.m. they will perform the required repertory — this time a Beethoven Sonata, a modern work, and a concerto.

Among the works to be performed are some of the greatest compositions of Chopin, Rachmaninoff, Prokofiev and Mozart. And there is a very international

Teachers lose jobs as enrollment declines

The Board of Education agreed last week to lay off seven full-time and five part time teachers because of the system's continuing decline in enrollment. Among the full time teachers who received pink slips were Paula Austin, a speech therapist; Patricia Curtis, learning disabled at Parcells; Diana David, trainable mentally impaired at Poupard; Deborah Hackney, Ferry fifth grade; Cecil Keith, English and social studies at Pierce and Parcells; Darci Livingston, second grade teacher at Ferry: and Beverly Smith, art instructor at Ferry and Mason.

The school system's head of personnel, Ronald Tonks, told board members that the lay off notices were presented in accord with the union contract, but the situation could change and some teachers may be rehired by the district.

The number of layoffs had been reduced compared to earlier years, when 20 to 25 teachers were pink slipped, because of a retirement incentive that prompted 30 teachers to retire as of June. But board member Dorothy Kennel said she was disappointed any layoffs were necessary. "There are some people here who are excellent teachers." Mrs. Kennel said. "I hate to lose

Part time teachers who were pink-slipped were Marybeth Carduck, English at Brownell; Paula DeCarlo, vocal music at Maire;

Catherine Maslowski, home economics at Pierce; Sandra Tenkel, fifth grade at Defer; and Michael

Wasilewski, English at North and South Highs. In addition, seven other teachers were offered reduced teaching assignments for next school year. In order to reduce assingments, the school board must first lay off the teacher, then offer reemployment at a lesser level. Those teachers are Elizabeth Bangs, elementary art; Marcia Cook, North English; Mary Fodell, Parcells art; Ann Hartner, occupational therapist at Poupard; Susan Hollerbach-Kirchner, developmental pre-school at Monteith; Pamela Michael, North commercial foods; and Beverly Minor, Brownell art.

The schools have been laying off teachers each spring for more than 10 years because of the decline in enrollment that began in 1972. Since then, the number of students attending public schools in the Pointe has dropped from 13,500 to about 7,500 this year. And the decline is expected to continue.

Despite the need to reduce staff in some areas, Supt. Kenneth Brummel pointed out that the system may employ some new teachers this year, especially in the field of mathematics. The addition of one extra hour to the high school day prompted many students to continue their math studies next semester, he said.

trants. Along with Michigan natives, one is from Taiwan and another from Russia and a third spent a year of study at the Vienna

In short, this fourth Grosse Pointe piano competition promises to be as exciting and rewarding a performance as the first three according to its founder, Alex Suczek.

The suspense only adds to the interest. A winner will be selected on Sunday to receive more than $1,000 and engagements to play at the Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival on Wednesday, July 18, and with the Grosse Pointe Symphony in May, 1985.

The competition is made possible by a grant from the Michigan Foundation for the Arts and the participation of the Grosse Pointe Symphony Society which will present last year's winner. Leszek Bartkiewicz, in a performance of the Prokofiev Piano Concerto No. 2 on Sunday, May 6, 3 p.m. at the Parcells School.

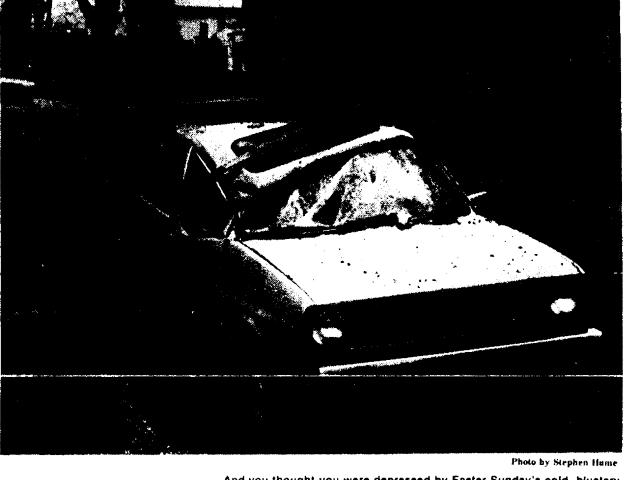

The public is invited to share in this adventure in music. For information about the piano competition and tickets, call the War Memorial at 881-7511.

The 1984 entrants are Martin Schoenhals, University of Chicago and Birmingham, Mich.; Sue Cort, Wayne State University and Roseville; Ronald Fracker, University of Michigan and Jackson; Dorian Ho, University of Michigan and Taiwan; Peter Longworth, University of Michigan and Evanston, Ill.; Elizabeth Steen, University of Michigan; Edward Zilberkant, University of Michigan; Edward Zilberkant, University of Michigan Michigan, born in the U.S.S.R.; Anthony Fraser, University of Michigan and University of Toledo, Toledo.

Wives celebrate Law Day, May 1

Grosse Pointe Lawyers' Wives will celebrate Law Day, May 1, by organizing programs in area high schools to inform students about the legal process and how it affects them as juveniles.

Nineteen Grosse Pointe at-torneys will speak to classes in civics, United States history, and age of majority at North and South and Our Lady Star of the Sea High Schools. They will discuss topics including the rights and responsibilities of juveniles, the right to search and seizure, the stop-and-frisk laws, current substance abuse laws, Juvenile Court procedures and the handling of juvenile offenders, and an explanation of the new drunk driving laws.

Participating attorneys are Martha Braun, Raymond Carey, George Coticchio, Alan Devine, Mary Dwaighy, Fred Gerow, Judge Stan Kazul, Stephen Kinsley, John B. Lizza, Thomas M. Lizza, John Louisell, Robert M. Malecek, Peter J. Parks, Susan Radulovich, Norman J. Rice. Woods Judge Patricia Schneider, Carolyn Slasinski, Joanne Stevenson and Pieter vanHorne.

In addition, also in honor of Law Day, the Lawyers' Wives will present their annual Concerned Citizens Awards at their May 24 annual meeting to Grosse Pointe residents who performed heroic acts during the past year.

Grosse Pointe City Municipal Judge Stan Kazul and Grosse Pointe Farms Police Chief Robert K. Ferber will make the presentations to Mr. and Mrs. Roger Fries for a water rescue which prevented a possible drowning; Galal M. El-Alayli for a burglary apprehension in his own residence; Catherine Kazul for preventing an injury and lifesaving at the scene of an auto accident; Michael P. Orzel for helping the police with a burglary arrest and recovery of stolen pro-perty; Howard P. Ballantyne, III, for an armed robbery arrest and recovery of stolen property; and nine teenagers who, last summer during a storm, witnessed a boat collide into a sea wall at the Grosse Pointe Farms Municipal Pier and dove into the water to rescue its passengers, including infants and adults.

The nine young people were South High School freshmen Michael Calcaterra, Anne Connell, Anthony DeWalls, Joseph Finazzo, William Gryzenia, Charlotte Kazul, Jeffrey LeFebrye and Andrew Parvel and St. Paul student Andrea Ferber.

Law Day co-chairmen Mrs. Robert Malecek and Mrs. William Saxton have coordinated the events.

Polish emigre will play Chopin with symphony

Award-winning Polish emigre pianist Leszek Bartkiewicz will Lugano (Switzerland) Internaperform two concertos with the Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra at 3:30 p.m. Sunday afternoon, May 6, in Parcells Auditorium, Mack at Vernier. The program. which will also include compositions by Bizet, Glinka and Dukas, will be under the baton of the symphony's long-time conductor Felix Resnick.

The first concerto Bartkiewicz plans to play is the Chopin No. 2 in F minor, first introduced to Warsaw audiences in 1830, with the young composer himself at the keyboard

Bartkiewicz played the same Chopin concerto with the Cracow (Poland) Symphony, to critical acclaim, just before leaving for the U.S. in 1981. He settled in Michigan under the auspices of the Tolstoy Foundation, a refugee organization of Leo Tolstoy, to aid "people who flee for oppression, in search of

The second concerto Bartkiewicz will perform is the Prokofiev No. 1 in D flat, considered the Russian composer's "first truly controversial work, bringing him to the forefront of critical opinion in musical circles in both St. Petersburg and Moscow.

The performer, Bartkiewicz, was born in Bielsko-Biala, Poland. He received a full scholarship to the Chopin Music Academy while still a youngster and, later, to the Chopin Conservatory in Cracow. His European awards include top prizes in the 1978 Young Polish Bartkiewicz has successfully entered several competitions, placing first in Saginaw's Irene Tintner, the University of Michigan Concerto, as well as the 1983 Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival Piano Competition at the War Memorial, where he played a solo recital the same year.

His busy performance schedule has included appearances in several music series, including Cranbrook Young Artist, Algoma University (Canada) Concert, University of Wisconsin/Milwaukee Fine Arts Performing, The Birmingham Temple Vivace and Music at the Galeria.

Audiences have also applauded his musical talent at Nightcap with Mozart, Birmingham Community House, Edsel & Eleanor Ford House, The Detroit Institute of Arts, and the Keyboard Extravaganza at Orchestra Hall. Opinions & letters

As the campaign opens

The lines now are drawn and at least part of Robert Allen Radnick, an assistant Wayne Counthe cast chosen for one of the biggest if not the ty prosecutor who also opposes the Barnes most important school election productions in Grosse Pointe's history

It will start on June 11 with the regular election to fill two vacancies on the Board of Education. It could continue that same date with a recall election if the petitions circulated against three other board members are finally verified. And it could even run into a third election if one or more of the three is recalled.

THAT SCENARIO POINTS toward a campaign that will climax the controversy that arose in the Pointes over school closing and reorgani zation plans submitted by Supt. Kenneth Brummel.

The controversy already has sharply divided the Pointes and has been blamed for the resignation of the superintendent. The battle no doubt will heat up in the coming months as the candidates set forth their positions and their supporters rally behind them. It promises to be a long, hot summer for the schools whatever happens.

Complicating the controversy is the division on the board itself. Joan Hanpeter, the incumbent school board president who supported Brum-mel's reorganization and closing recommendations, decided to run because of the recent events that "cast a dark and disturbing shadow across the district." She referred to the recall campaign and Brummel's resignation. Roger Mourad, the only board member to vote against the plan to close Barnes Elementary School, is seeking reelection in order to continue his efforts to keep Barnes open.

The other two opposition candidates who seek board seats are William Brownscombe, chairman of the Committee for Neighborhood Ele-mentary Schools which led the fight against closing Barnes and other elementary schools, and closing.

Supporting the board's position is the fifth candidate, Fred W. Adams, a retired American Motors and federal government worker. Adams had not been publicly active in the controversy but said he had always been supportive of quality education in the public schools during the 34 years he resided in the Pointes.

The recall campaign is aimed at Jon Gandelot, Catherine Brierly and Ernest Buechler, who supported Brummel's school closing and reorganization plans. All three are campaigning to retain their seats against the efforts of the recall campaigners to remove them.

So in effect there are already eight people in the cast of major characters for this year's rather confusing election campaign. As the weeks go along, voters can expect to read and hear a good deal about the cast and the issues. They can also expect to find different interpretations of what the issues really are.

MOURAD, FOR EXAMPLE, has said the issue is whether the Grosse Pointes are going to "retain the historic neighborhood elementary school character of this community." Mrs. Hanpeter has said the district needs a "period of stability, a spirit of working together, experienced leaders...harmony and not discord" in order to progress toward academic goals and attract a highly qualified new superintendent.

Both sides want to perpetuate quality education in the Grosse Pointe school system but they differ in the ways to achieve that goal. The differences, however, ought to be discussed in a calm and rational manner and not on the basis of emotions and personalities. As the candidates and their supporters get deeper into their campaigning in the coming weeks, we hope that the calm and rational approach will prevail.

With both the Democratic House and the Republican Senate now playing political hard-ball, a hard fight is expected before the state Legislature finally agrees to a speedup in the rollback of last year's increase in the state income tax. But in this newspaper's opinion one thing is certain: There will be a rollback of some kind. The only questions left are: (a) when a lower rate will become effective, and (b) how much the reduction will be.

The Senate has voted to cut the rate from the current 6.1 percent to 5.35 percent on July 1, 1984, and to 4.6 percent on Jan. 1, 1986. The House, on the other hand, approved Gov. James Blanchard's proposal to reduce the tax to 5.35 percent on Oct. 1, 1984. Under present law, the rate would automatically go down to 5.35 percent on Jan. 1,

THE CURRENT POLITICAL maneuvering is another act in the political drama that began last year when the Democratic governor won the support of the Democratic House and Democratic Senate to boost the income tax rate from 4.6 percent to 6.35 percent. The purpose presumably was to rescue the state from a fiscal mess that had lowered the value of the state's bonds, brought the state to the brink of bankruptcy and resulted in hefty deficits in violation of the state

That 38 percent increase in the income tax rate brought howls of protest from the public as well as demands for the recall of the governor and many legislators who supported the tax increase. In fact, two state senators were finally recalled and similar actions are still pending against others who backed the governor's tax program. The recall of the two senators shifted control of the Senate from the Democrats to the Republicans.

Even though the original law provided only for a temporary tax increase and set specific dates for the rates to decrease - and the first automatic decrease has already occurred Jan. 1. 1984, when the rate went down from 6.35 percent to 6.1 percent — the issue remains a hotly partisan one. And for good reason. This is an election year for the House and the Republicans, and especially those who control the Senate, are determined to make the most of the tax controversy. Yet Rep. William Bryant, Jr., of Grosse Pointe, a member of the House-Senate conference committee named to work out the differences between the House and Senate tax bills, points out the Republicans already have indicated a willingness to compromise. They would be willing to leave the second step of the reduction in the Senate bill - to 4.6 percent on Jan. 1, 1986 to future legislative sessions.

But Republicans think the increase in state revenues because of the economic recovery will make it possible to meet current budget needs even though the return to the 5.35 percent rate on July 1 would cost the state another $130 million in revenues for the year ending Oct. 1. In effect the Republicans want more of a cut and want it sooner than the governor recommended.

The Republicans appear to have the Democrats on the defensive on the issue, especially since they have figures to support their contention that no further cuts in service would be required under their proposal. The Democrats who face House elections this fall do not want to appear to be dragging their feet on tax reductions. Yet they don't like to vote for a rollback earlier than the Democratic governor recommended. And some Democrats feel the loss of revenues from the early rollback would jeopardize social programs of concern to their

In the Senate vote adopting the bill for a rollback to 5.35 percent on July 1, 1984, and to 4.6 percent on Jan. 1, 1986, the GOP won the support of 10 Democratic senators, including Sen. John Kelly whose district includes the Pointes. Kelly, one of those targeted earlier for recall on the tax issue, is also on the House-Senate conference committee on the tax bill, which means that the Pointes will be represented by two men favoring the earlier rollback.

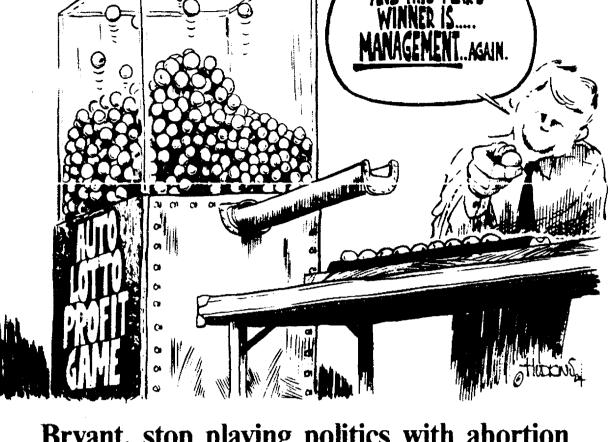

IT IS POSSIBLE THAT the tax issue could result in a deadlock in the conference committee and in the Legislature. But we doubt it. The Republicans may be overly optimistic about the state's revenue picture — and the Democrats may be overly pessimistic — but in the current political climate and with a House election coming up in November we still predict some compromise that will roll back income tax rates before next Jan. 1 and probably before Oct. 1.

We wish we could be as optimistic as are the Republicans that the earlier tax rollback would still enable the state to operate without additional cutbacks in services. If the economy continues its upward climb in Michigan, their optimism appears to be justified. But if some clouds appear on the economic horizon this fall or early next year, the state could be in fiscal trouble once again.

Bryant, stop playing politics with abortion

To the Editor:

State Rep. William Bryant is in error when he states that half of all abortions in Michigan are funded by Medicaid. Half of all those reported, perhaps, since the number of cash or private third party reimbursed abortions are under-reported by at least 50 percent, according to the Department of Health.

As Mr. Bryant has been informed numerous times, the Michigan

Department of Health does not enforce reporting and there are two to three times as many unlicensed clinics as there are licensed and reporting clinics.

I agree that we need an aggressive plan to inform the Medicaid recipient of available family planning services that prevent the need for abortion which speaks to equal access to health care, the real issue behind

Medicaid funding for abortion.

It is time to stop playing politics. There is no "middle of the road" position on abortion. We need to reduce the number of abortions by directing pressure at the depart-ment in the state responsible for providing family planning and to stop quoting statistics known to be totally erroneous.

Don't print the Soviet's propaganda

To the Editor: I wish to reply to your editorial in the April 19, edition titled "An Exchange or Propaganda."

Before making a direct reply allow me to repeat some lines from my letter published in the March 8 issued of the News. "The Soviet goal, as proclaimed by many Soviet leaders, is world domination; in 1919 Lenin said. It is inconceivable that the Soviet Republic should continue to exist for a long period of time side by side with the imperialist states; ultimately one or the other must conquer. He also said. First we will take Eastern Europe, then the masses of Asia. Then we will encircle the United States of America which will be the last bastion of capitalism. We will not have to attack it, it will fall like overripe fruit into our hands.' Later he said, 'Promises are like piecrust, made to be broken, and we have to use any ruses, dodges, tricks, cunning, unlawful methods, concealment and veiling of the truth.' In 1967 Breshnev said, 'We must never forget that the mission which falls to the Communist Party is the grandiose complex mission of revolutionary transformation of the entire world society.

The Soviets have mastered the art of propaganda; university courses are offered on it and the position of propagandist is a prestigious one. Several professional journals promote the activity. The Soviets have spent, and are spending, billions of dollars on propaganda and for us to aid them. by printing some of their material would indeed be the height of folly.

A few Soviet activities, such as the invasion of Afghanistan, are recognized by our public but the majority, such as over one hundred radical organizations in this country, go unrecognized. These organizations supply vast amounts of propaganda which much of our news media print or repeat on TV. demonstrations, riots, terrorism and anything else they they can think of to divide and hurt our nation. These latter things do not just happen, they are planned, organized and directed by these radical organizations and are paid for by Soviet money. A reliable authority reported that the Soviet KGB allocated $300 million to promote the nuclear freeze campaign in the United States.

Now paraphrasing the first portion of my letter which was published in the April 5 edition of the News, there are two kinds of people who would be interested in having Soviet propaganda, direct from the horse's mouth as it were, printed in our valuable local paper; first those who are ignorant of Soviet goals and their devious means of operation and secondly, those who favor the Soviet goal. The printing of Soviet lies would be of value only to the Soviets for it would mislead unthinking Americans and that, of course, is exactly what the Soviets are trying to do.

The Soviets and the radical organizations are currently devoting much of their efforts to discrediting President Reagan for he opposes a Soviet takover. Lee M. Corless

One view from the capital

Tax cut — it's up to Democrats

By William R. Bryant, Jr. State Representative

Democratic political strategy will decide whether there is to be any rollback of the income tax this year.

The bill to accelerate the reduction in rate from 6.1 percent to 5.35 percent prior to the planned Jan. 1, 1985 date, plus to install a fixed date for return to 4.6 percent is in Conference Committee in the Michigan Legislature.

If the Governor insists nothing be done prior to passage of the state budget for the next fiscal year it will be at least another month or two before anything will pass.

Further, if the Democrats in the House refuse to adopt any rollback greater than what the Governor aiready supports, going to a 5.35 percent rate Oct. 1. then there may not be any rollback at all this year

Republicans in the House and Senate, with only a couple of dissenters, are convinced much more can and should be done.

I will represent the House Republicans on the Conference Committee. But already the Democrat House Speaker is saying there may need to be a second conference, one containing the four elected legislative leaders. This may indicate House Democrats have no intention to engage, at this point, in serious negotiation.

Many Democrats in the House do not want any rollback this year. They voted for the tax increase and they want to spend the money on programs rather than give any back. Their pressure could lead the Speaker to adamantly refuse to negotiate and then to try to blame Republicans for failure to come to agreement.

The House Speaker, Rep. Gary Owen, has already made the ludicrous statement that those within and outside the Legislature who want a larger tax rollback are "right wing radicals.

Republicans in the House have tried to get the Democrats to compromise on the rollback issue and the alternatives we have supported are justifiable by what we feel comfortable are the facts as to accumulated surpluses, projected spending and projected revenues.

While we feel that, in the short term, a rollback greater and sooner than the Governor has agreed to is justified and, in the long term, it is essential to establish a fixed date for return to a rate of 4.6 percent, we are willing to separate the short and long term issues, if necessary.

We believe there should be a rollback July 1 rather than Oct. 1 and we believe a return to 4.6 percent on Jan. 1, 1986, is clearly justified, even assuming the generous spending levels set by the Governor last year and this and his recommended level for next year.

Had we, as Republicans, been able to write the budget for last year and this and the next year, it is clear now that the level and duration of the truly temporary increase our leadership supported last year would have been sufficient.

While Democrats have a tough time being conservative when it comes to spending tax money they find it easy to argue we should be "conservative" in our estimates of economic recovery and they thus argue we should retain a higher tax rate because the state may see another recession soon and the Democrats may want more money available to spend.

They don't tell you that we will already be putting more money into the "rainy day" Budget Stabilization Fund in the next fiscal year than has ever been in the fund, between $250 and $430 million.

It's up to the Democrats. It's their Governor and their tax increase.

Prime Time for senior citizens

By Marian Trainer

You never know until you've been there. You can imagine what a situation is like but you can't really know.

A child can imagine what it is like to be grown-up. Adults can guess about the pluses and minuses of being older. Older people can try to understand how it is to be elderly. But the rugged path of experience is the only real road to knowledge, insight and true empathy with life's cycles.

Without actually living them, and this is especially true of the elderly, no one can appreciate the rewards, the problems, the heartaches and joys, the disappointments and the glorious victories that are a part of the various stages of living. There is no other way to know what it takes to make one's journey through the passages of Children look at their parents with respect but also with disbelief. They question how mother and father can be uninformed about what's really important. They wonder why they are so bound up with rules of conduct and why they can't be more trusting.

The years pass and these same children grow up and become parents themselves. They now have answers for those questions that filled their minds when they were young. They know why their parents kept a tight rein on their immaturity and they are grateful for the wisdom that protected them.

What they don't realize is that these same parents now have unanswered questions themselves. Particularly if they have elderly parents who need attention, patience and understanding.

There are no guidelines, no patterns that help to define what needs elderly persons have. What feelings need appeasing? What gives them the most pleasure or pain? Gerontologists, counselors and others who work with the elderly can advise, but even they can't really know what it means to be old and dependent.

Young adults know what it is like to be children and teenagers. They have been there. The middle-aged know how it is to be mature. They accept the responsibility of being a husband, a father, a wife, a mother and maintaining a position in the working world. They have lived through those experiences. Older people can relate to the freedom that comes with retirement, the relief of being out from under the pressure of work, the joys of being able to do whatever they like, whenever they like.

But who is there to relate in retrospect what it is like to live out the final stage of life when the body fails and the senses dim? The curtain is drawn on the final act in the drama of life. Each one is left to imagine how we will play out those last scenes.

Recently, along with the effort to add years to our life and life to our years, there has been an effort to learn more about the aging process. The field of gerontology is relatively new but it is expanding rapidly because of the need to know how to provide for a population that is living longer.

Along with such concerns as better medical care, housing and diet, those in the field of aging are learning more about the feelings, the fears and desires of the elderly. Enough, so that those who inevitably will reach that period in life will approach it with some idea of what to expect.

The question remains. How can anyone without actually living those years have answers to what is needed to make "the end for which the first was made," a time in life to look forward to with some degree of certainty that they will be reasonably good years?

Simulation is one avenue of research where answers to those questions has been sought.

Pat Moore, who is 30, has been 80 years old for the past 312 years. She has been quietly doing an investi-gation, in disguise, for 12 to 14 hours each week to experience life as an infirm female in cities and towns across America. From her findings Moore has written a book 'Time to Time'' and a TV movie is in the offing. Moore is in industrial designer. She took on the assignment as a way to develop design criteria for products for the elderly. In pursuit of her research, Moore spent four hours a day in front of a mirror transforming herself into an old woman before setting out in various cities.

Her disguise worked very well. She was twice attacked by young gangs who robbed her. "I really espected not to survive," Moore said. But she escaped with only

Several times she encountered clerks who responded to her request for assistance with flippant remarks. Basically they were dismissing her.

As an experiment Moore returned to one of the shops the next day, as a young woman, and was treated courteously. To add to the irony of the situation, she wore the same dress she had worn when she appealed for help as an old woman.

Some of the conclusions in her book provide a measure of insight into what elderly people must deal with as they grow older. Why? Moore explains the unconscious rejection of the elderly with, "Aging holds a mirror up in front of us. think a fear of death gives all of us. young and old, a fear of aging.'

Her experience as an elderly person also gave her some idea of what is important to an older person.

"Older people," she says, "All want to be taken seriously, to be loved. Their hearts and heads are the same but biology plays a trick on them. They are much more at risk in a society where it's survival of the fittest.

Studies, such as Moore's, provide us with clues about what older people experience and feel. Hopefully, such findings will make us more tolerant, more understanding and more willing to do everything we can to make life better for the

By doing so, by changing atti-tudes that "being old is the end of the line," a waiting period with nothing to look forward to, we are not only helping to create a kinder, warmer, gentler atmosphere for those who are elderly but we are, in fact, insuring a better, brighter, happier future for ourselves. For one day we too will be where they are today.

Beyond giving us one woman's findings into the thoughts and feelings of the elderly. Moore offers some advice on the importance of good nutrition. A tangible something we can provide for our elderly, it is often neglected by elderly people who live alone.

She especially cited the value of two portions of green vegetables daily. Research is suggesting that aging may be related to the level of folic acid in our system.

She also stressed good mental attitudes, "I would caution the elderly to try to hold down their anger and frustration in day-to-day situa-tions," she advised. "If you meet with condescension or dismissal, don't snap back.

One of the good things that Moore found in her investigation is the empathy that exists between the elderly themselves. They may be misunderstood and dismissed as second-class citizens by those who would rather not accord them consideration. With their own age group, the elderly find acceptance and understanding.

"Their reaction to me as an old woman was a combination of kindness because I was one of them. Moore says. "They were open, willing to take a risk, to start a conversation, to make a friend even if only for a day or a moment. They were concerned about you more than what you were.'

Most of us in our experience with the elderly have witnessed a touching concern that they have for each other. Mutual friends will check on each other daily even when they are miles apart and haven't had any personal contact for years.

This is fine, but it is a communication born of mutual dependency, more is needed. It can only be provided by those who are able to provide more in the way of trying to reach beyond the veil of years which we all will face but can never look back on with understanding of what added years bring.

There are others who are also trying to get the message across that the elderly deserve better than most of them receive.

One of them is Naomi Feil, a social worker in a nursing home in Cleveland. Feil goes beyond the elderly who are fairly capable. She has found a way to deal with those who are disorientated with a method she terms "validation therapy." Feil's system is used in 600 facilities for the aged across the country. It involves validation of the fantasizing older people fall back on in their failing years. Fantasizing, reil contends, may be as normal and necessary for the very old as it is for the very young.

Validation therapy, means saying "I hear you. Tell me about it, she explains. "Once people express feeling like that, they are better able to put them away. The goal of the therapy is simply to make people feel better.

Feil argues that mind trips into the past may not be a mental disorder, but a natural stage of life for older people in their late, late years. It is important to make that distinction because the life span has been extended to the point where 'late years' are more like what we once considered 'middle years.

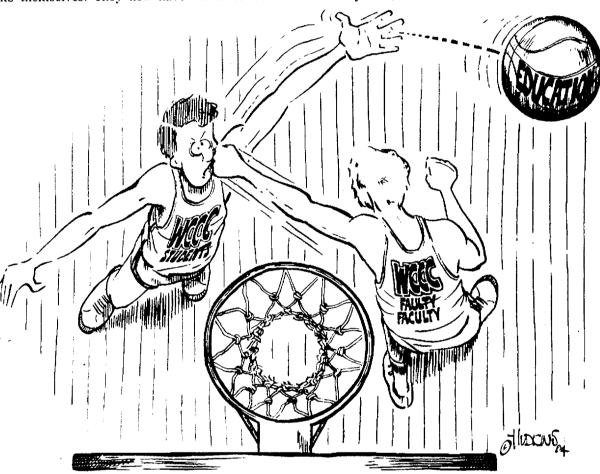

"Accept elderly people for what they are," she advises. Try step-ping into their shoes. Very often we want old people to be just like we are but they can't because they are in a different stage of life.

Until recently, disorientation in the elderly was dealt with by realities. They would be drilled with. "Today is Monday." "Your husband is dead," "You have no reason to go home." It didn't work.

Validation, on the other hand. helps people to work through their fantasies rather than deny them.

For instance, if an older person wants to return home, walk with him mentally back to his home and help him tie up loose ends. Once the unfinished business of the past has been resolved, older people have more positive outlooks and are more at peace.

Feil admits the field of aging is young. There is much to learn. In the meantime, we can try to "walk in their shoes" and to understand what we cannot fully know until we have reached that period in life where there is no opportunity to look back and say, "I really know what it was like.

Film a statement on modern technology

The Punch and Judy Theater will present the Detroit premiere of "Koyaanisqatsi," from Friday, May 11, through Thursday, May 17. Some seven years in the making,

"Koyaanisqatsi" originally was conceived of by its producerdirector Godfrey Reggio as a statement on modern technology and its impact on everyday life. The project evolved into a dazzling fusion of images and music, one which has evoked comparisons to "2001," Walt Disney's "Fantasia" and the movies of George Lucas and Steven Spielberg. The film's title, a Hopi Indian word meaning "life out of balance," gives some indication of what it is all about

Crucial to "Koyaanisqatsi's" impact is the soundtrack by acclaimed composer Philip Glass.

The Punch and Judy is located at 21 Kercheval Avenue.

"I dare you to compare the quality of our 35mm one hour color prints to any you've had done by any photo lab, including Kodak!"

There's been a lot of publicity in our local newspapers (and in The Wall Street Journal) lately about photofinishing and the proliferation of one hour photofinishing kiosks'. The manufacturers of this equipment are luring unwary investors, who are being led to believe that a one hour photo lab is the closest thing to one's own personal Franklin Mint. These investors are being told that anyone can run their equipment, and that no photographic knowledge is necessary to obtain beautiful color prints. Unfortunately, nothing could be further from the truth ... and you may have already become an indirect victim of this 'creative selling' without even knowing it! The real truth is that, like everything else in this world, a few select people excel in their field, performing in their chosen work as their peers could only dream of per-are judged. We are expecially lucky in Grosse. Pointe, as our community seems to draw these 'super professionals' to reside here, making their services convenient to all of us who appreciate the finest and recognize the difference between perfection and mediocrity When I started working for Carl Joyner seventeen years ago, one of the first things I was taught was that the people of our community do go out of their way to seek this 'service par excellance' which has become so clusive in our "mass produced" world. It is this pursuit of excellence which we use as our standard at SPEEDI PHOTO.

I know there are hundreds of places to leave your pictures to be processed in Grosse Pointe. Many of the drug stores and camera stores offer processing services from the same finishing labs which we use and offer to our less discriminating customers. There is, however, only one place in Grosse Pointe whose sole purpose & business is to turn your cherished photographic memories into color prints with the same vivid colors you remember. SPEEDI PHOTO.

I'm sure if you've read this far you're either already enjoying our beautiful color prints, or are quite skeptical about the fact that Speedi Photo can produce BETTER looking color prints than you're receiving from the present photofinishing lab you're using If you're one of our skeptics, do us a favor and put us to the test. Look through the pictures you just got back from your present processing lab and pick out any one 35mm photo that you remember the colors in the actual scene as being better than they came out in the print Bring us the negative and the print chmit one per family), and leave it with us for a few hours. When you come back to pick them up, a SPEEDI PHOTO custom reprint will be in the envelope with your negative with our compliments. Then, compare!

One of the reasons you bought a good 35mm camera was to get better color prints. Why compromise the quality of your 35mm camera by not having your film developed by a store that makes their livelshood solely by producing the best color prints possible from your negatives?

CAR TALK From RAY LAETHEM

Pontiac, GMC, Truck

BY RAY LAETHEM STEERING FAILURE WARNING

In a recent California study of 409 fatal singlevehicle accidents, almost one-third had one or more mechanical defects. Steering system deficiencies accounted for over 26 percent of these mechanical defects. Fortunately there are warrang signs before steering failure. Don't ig-nore them. Here's what to look for:

Shake, shimmy or bumping felt in the steening encroper wheel belance. Out of balance wheels can cause shimmy and even loss of control at highway speeds. This condition also greatly increases wear on tires and suspension points.

Shake, shimmy or steering backlash on rough worn be rods, balt joines or idler arm. The failure of any of the three will result in the complete loss of steering control

Ron Cooney is remembered

At the last meeting of the War Memorial's board of directors, Leo Cooney presented the the center an antique clock, in perfect working condition, in memory of his late son, Ron, who died last year.

Cooney also donated copies of a collection of Ron's poems, titled "Poetic Expressions." which are available to the public for $10 each. The proceeds from the book sales will be, at Cooney's suggestion, a donation to the War Memorial. William G. Monahan, first vice-president of the board, accepted the gifts and expressed to Mr. Cooney the center's appreciation, gratitude and sympathy.

Alex Suczek wrote about Ron in the forward of the book, "Occasionally our lives are touched by a person we hardly knew . . . a leader in religion, business, politics and the arts. But it is rare when a young man whose rich promise has barely begun to be fulfilled can still make an impact so profound that even those who barely know him feel the power of his spirit. My loss has been to miss the chance to know Ron Cooney really well.

Driver pulls gun in Woods

A 24-year-old Woods man found himself face to face with the business end of a pistol after stopping to complain to a driver who had cut him off earlier in the evening. The man told police, who had come to his Oxford Road home to take the report, that he was driving home Monday, April 16, about 11:30 p.m. east on Vernier from Harper when a gray 1984 Plymouth Voyager mini-van pulled in front of him and cut him off.

The man said be became very angry after the mini-van cut him off a second time and began following the vehicle. When the mini-van came to Lochmoor and Wedgewood, it stopped and a man got out. according to reports.

The man was described as white, between 50 and 60 years old, with a heavy build and short, straight gray hair, reports said. When the Woods man asked the van driver where he had learned to drive, the van driver pulled a short-barreled silver or stainless steel revolver. possibly a .38-caliber, pointed it at the man and said, "I think it is time

Court battle ahead over office building

By Mike Andrzejczyk
It will be back to Circuit Court for the Woods and the Milk River Intercounty Drain Board to decide whether a new office building will be constructed at the Milk River

The Woods Council, sitting as a board of zoning appeals, denied the drain board a 31-foot variance to construct the new office building behind an electrical sub station garage to partially shield it from residents' view.

The building would be about four feet away from the county's property line. The city zoning ordinace requires 35 feet. Attorneys for the drain board said they will go before Judge Richard Kaufman to overturn the city's decision. Kaufman retained jurisdiction in the case after ruling in February that the building construction was a matter of maintenance at the 24-year-old site, not a capital improvement as the Woods had claimed.

Jeff Supowit, legal counsel for the drain board, said Kaufman's order required the city have valid reasons to deny the variance. The Woods was "obviously" using zoning to continue blocking the construction, he added. The Woods planning commission in March approved the elevations for the building and recommended that final approval of location and the variance be left up to the council, according to city officials. The new building's attachment to the existing sub station garage would partially shield it from people who live on Parkway Drive, making it the "least objectionable alternative," planning commission chairman Robert Frederick said.

The drain board's engineering consultants, Consulting Engineering Associates, Inc., submitted alternative proposals that escalated in cost as the engineers tried to meet all the city's requirements, Frederick said. The planning commission settled on an office building attached to the sub station garage.

"We had extracted as many concessions as we could get," Frederick said. "The decision for the granting of the variance was left up to the council.

The planning commission spent a considerable amount of time trying to make the potentially offensive building as inoffensive as possible," he added.

Councilman Thomas Fahrner called the proposed building "an insult to our community. I am really surprised that the planning commission would allow such a building to be put up. Besides being cheap-looking and ugly, the building would be visible from expensive homes in the area, he added

Councilmen asked about the price of the proposed building. A Consulting Engineering representative said no price had been estimated because the building was still in the conceptual stage.

City Attorney George Catlin reminded councilmen that a previous proposal for a free-standing office had started with a price tag of $14,000 and escalated to $67,000.

Supowit said the costs have escalated because of the requirements placed on the board by the city. 'They sort of asked for this," he

Catlin cautioned the council against denying the variance based on the questioned need for the facility. That had already been litigated to the city's disadvantage and the court would overturn the city's denial, he opined.

Councilman Robert Novitke, who chaired the meeting instead of the absent Major George Freeman, said the 31-foot variance "is not going to be approved for anyone, especially the drain board.'

Councilmen had wanted to table the hearing in order to have drain board representatives present to explain the need for the facility.

Supowit said the new building would provide more office and record storage space than the cur-

City asks its citizens

Jacobson's, which had also requested a liquor license on an earlier occasion already serves alcohol in four of its Michigan stores, said Wascher. Scandalis said that while the Rams Horn didn't need to depend on liquor for its success, beer and wine was a nice complement to a meal.

Council has kicked this issue around since last year. While holding two study sessions, they expressed fears of losing control of enforcing community business standards once the Michigan State Liquor Control Commission enters the picture.

While Section 17 of the Liquor Control Act prohibits the state from issuing or renewing any onpremise licenses without approval by the local governing body, once a license is issued the holder has a vested interest in the community.

"The licensee could sue and the courts have been steadfast in that they have certain proprietary interests and have to be afforded due process." said Walter Keck, director of executive services for the liquor commis-

Another question raised is whether council should give one of the four alloted licenses to a small. modest restaurant or use it as an enticement for a larger, wellknown restaurant to locate in the

Also, even though a tavern license is issued when the community approves the sale of liquor by the glass, the applicant can automatically apply to have his licenses upgraded without the approval of council.

Council tossed the issue into the citizens' lap when it mailed a letter, dated April 6, to them along with the yearly park passes. I plaining that the City has been 'dry'' for about 65 years, council wants citizens to express their opinion on the matter by putting the issue to a referendum vote.

At least 956 of the City's 5,910 registered voters must return a signed petition by July 1 to get the issue put on the November ballot.

Dispatchers, calm and quick

"It's nice, though, when people call back and thank you for your heln." she adds.

Another dispatcher who agrees that "things can get a little hairy." is 23-year-old Christopher Powell. He says people are often so upset they can't give the necessary information.

"I try to calm them down and if that doesn't work I may have to tell them "shut up, I need to know where you are and you have to help me.

All of them agree that being a front-line person isn't always the best position especially when they have to bear the wrath of an angry parking ticket holder. Often people are irate, yell obscenities and want immediate action.

"I'm the first one they see," says Powell. "They tell me it's all my fault and I haven't been out of the building for the last six hours.

Suspect won early release

plex moments before. The witness also turned over to police a jacket thrown from the car when it sped past, according to reports.

Police units responding to Shore Club said they had seen a damaged auto near the Roy O'Brien Ford dealership at Nine Mile and Mack. police said.

St. Clair Shores police then broadcast spotting the Pontiac parked behind the Shores Deli restaurant between Nine and 10 Mile roads on Harper. The car was reportedly damaged along the roof with the windshield broken, according to radio broadcasts. St. Clair Shores officers began searching the area on foot. Grosse Pointe Shores and Farms officers responded to the area to offer assis tance. Moments later, officers radioed that an officer and the suspect had been wounded inside the Blue Gables restaurant at Nine Mile and Harper.

Shores officers originally broadcast the two were wounded after exchanging gunfire in the restaurant. It was later learned that Todd's service revolver had discharged twice during the struggle, striking him and a man later identified as Moore, reports said.

The two were taken to St. John Hospital by St. Clair Shores fire department ambulances. Todd was wounded once in the upper right arm, according to the hospital.

Moore, struck once in the chest and hip, was originally listed in temporary serious condition and pass.

remained in intensive care until Friday. St. Clair Shores police said Moore is a severe diabetic.

In addition to the charges in St. Clair Shores, Grosse Pointe City police said they will seek warrants charging Moore with four counts of armed robbery and the firearm felony law. Grosse Pointe Shores police have set a late May court date for Moore to face careless driving charges in the village, according to reports.

Found on Moore at the time of his arrest was a .25 caliber automatic pistol and $90 in cash, police said. The weapon was not drawn during the struggle, but St. Clair Shores detectives said Moore supposedly tried to wrench Todd's service revolver from him.

The assault with intent to commit murder charge carries a life sentence upon conviction. The concealed weapon charge carries a five-year sentence, while the felony malcinus destruction carries a four-year sentence on conviction, police said.

When asked who had been responsible for Moore's release. Blumline replied, "That's what I'd like to know

Brownell wins music honors

Brownell Middle School's Orchestra won compliments from Elizabeth Green of the University of Michigan when it performed last month at the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association District Festival.

The orchestra received a First Division rating for the performance. "A fine overall job, you can be proud of your accomplishments" said James Hause of Eastern Michigan University The Orchestra performed works of Mozart, Brahms and Bach.

In the afternoon of the same day the Brownell Concert Band traveled to Algonquin Junior High School in Algonac to participate in the band competition where they received a standing ovation by the officials and the audience along with a First Division rating "Absolutely smashing. The best performance I have heard from a junior high band in a long time." said Victor Bordo, adjudicator and instrumental music department chairman from the Ann Arbor Public Schools.

Both groups will participate in the state competition on Saturday. May 5.

The school halls will come alive with strolling minstrels, and musi-cians, costumed jesters and acrohats in the atmosphere of a Renaissance festival. Guests will also be treated to a performance of the ULS Players "Masque of Beauty and the Beast.

Adult general admission of $10 includes supper and theatre performance. Student admission is $5. Proceeds of the Elizabethan family evening will benefit the school's foreign exchange program which helps support ULS students who wish to live and study in other countries as well as students who attend ULS.

Parent coordinators of the event are Bunny Linthorst-Homan and Carole Tibbitts.

Six Grosse Pointe high school seniors were among the academic champions to win $1,000 National Merit Scholarships, it was announced last week.

They are Katherine Hein, of Three Mile Drive, a South High student: Ronald Hull, of Whittier Road, who studies at University Liggett; Lynne A. Jones, of Cadieux Road, from South; Daniel J. Kinzie, of Lakeland Avenue, a student of Lutheran High School East; Raoul Rayos, of Canterbury Road. North High senior: and Brigitte S. Koegler, of Sunningdale Drive. from University Liggett.

The students were among 1,800 seniors from across the nation to win National Merit Scholarships. To qualify they took a test in 1982 and competed against more than a million other students. About 15,000 were designated semifinalists last fall. National award winners were selected by college admissions of ficers and secondary school counselors who evaluated academic records, leadership qualities, contributions to school and community, and personal attributes, two sets of test scores and nastics teams.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

Sister Ernestine Smith, R.S.C.J., describes herself as a "delayed Grandma Moses." Certainly, during a professional career that included 21 years at the Academy of the Sacred Heart, Grosse Pointe (now the Grosse Pointe Academy), she was much too busy to do her own thing. And face it: during many of those years, doing one's own thing was not exactly the thing for a nun to do.

Times change, old habits disappear . . . and Sister Smith, who moved to the Academy of the Sacred Heart in Bloomfield Hills when the Religious of the Sacred Heart relinquished their Grosse Pointe School in 1969, retired as Elementary School librarian at the Bloomfield Hills Academy in June, 1978.

At which point she launched a new career in art, fulfilling a life-long wish. It was, she says, "the dawn of my new beginning.

This Sunday, April 29, the 70-plus "retiree" will again exhibit her collection of charcoals, pencils and pastels, at a 2 to 5 p.m. open house in the gallery of the Bloomfield Hills Academy. The show will continue through Sunday, May 13, on a daily basis. Sister Smith will be happy to give private showings on request, and may be reached at

That's if it's not one of her volunteer service days. One day a week, Sister Smith visits with the elderly in a Detroit senior citizen facility. A senior citizen herself (but somehow it's impossible to think of her as "elderly"), she says she is "a willing listener for seniors who are lonely and not quite as able as I am."

Able she certainly is, and a planner. When retirement came, she was ready: she began preparing for her "new beginning" during her last years as the Bloomfield Hills Academy's Elementary School librarian, by taking art courses sponsored by the academy. Now she spends much of her time drawing in her second floor studio at the academy, where she resides.

Her collection includes still lifes, people, landscapes and animals. She especially enjoys doing pastel portraits of children. And she loves to see old friends, former pupils and their parents, many of whom still reside in The Pointe, many of whom will be greeting and congratulating her Sunday at the open house opening of her latest exhibit.

Incidentally, Sister Ernestine Smith, at home at the Bloomfield Hills Academy of the Sacred Heart in her "retirement," has physically come full circle from her own (Continued on Page 4B)

There'll be fencing demonstrations, jugglers, games, booths, "knightings," magic, continuous dancing and music and royal food to feast on at the faire at the War Memorial Sunday, May 13, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

MRS. CARL J. KASZA, chairman of the Grosse Pointe War Forty members of the League, primarily from its historical arm, and Docents, are planning the outdoor event, a "first" for The Pointe. Admission is $3 for adults, $1 for children, with all proceeds going to renovate the War Memorial's historic library. You can come as you are, or in motley, or in a suit of armor . . . but however you decide to dress, be prepared to have a highe olde tyme. Want more information? The number to call is 881-7511.

Questers spend day recalling books of childhood

Mrs. Pierre Palmentier welcomed members of the Grosse Pointe Chapter of Questers to her home at 10 a.m. Friday, April 13, and presented a program on "Books of Our Childhood," tracing the history of books written especially for children back to the 17th century.

Her potpourri of reading memories included excerpts from "Uncle Wiggly," "Bunny Brown and His Sister Sue," "Five Little Peppers and How They Grew," "Tom Swift" and "Dotty Dimple."

Mrs. Palmentier, fourth president of the Grosse Pointe Chapter of Questers, founded in 1961, has presented many various programs lo other area Questers chapters. She served as general chairman of the 18th Annual National Quester Convention, held in Detroit, and was the first person to be ap-

Moore-Lutfy vows exchanged

At home in Grosse Pointe Woods are Dr. and Mrs. Donald Richard Moore, who followed their fall, 1983 wedding with a vacation trip to Hilton Head and Charleston, S.C. Dr. Moore is on staff at Henry Ford Hospital where Mrs. Moore is a registered nurse.

The former Sandra Marie Lutfy, daughter of Mrs. Robert Howe, of Morningside Drive, and the late George Lutfy, wore her mother's wedding gown of ivory pure silk, satin and lace to her evening wedding, Friday, September 23, in the Grosse Pointe Academy Chapel. Father Frederick Zakoor and the Reverend David Penniman officiated at the ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Detroit Golf Club.

The bride's heirloom gown featured a deep portrait neckline and long fitted sleeves. Imported Alencon lace was appliqued around the neckline and extended below the close-fitting bodice. Alencon lace and satin accented the close-fitted cloche hat which held the bride's cathedral length veil. She carried a bouquet of white orchids with ivy and stephanotis.

Honor matron Mrs. Theresa Mac Eachern, and bridesmaids Sharon Shaway, a cousin of the bride, Janet Moore Evans, the bridegroom's sister and a former Pointer, who now lives in Annapolis, Md., and Martha Fleming, another former Pointer who resides in New Jersey, wore outfits of emerald green taffeta skirts with matching long-sleeved, V-necked fitted jackets. Each attendant carried a bouquet of gardenias with ivy and stepha-

Dr. Moore asked his brother, David Warren Moore, to act as best man. They are the sons of Dr. and Mrs. Warren Moore, of Belanger Road. Ushers included George Lutfy, a brother of the bride, Clayton Evans, of Annapolis, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, and Hugh Kryski, of Ann Arobr.

May wedding vows planned

The engagement of Gail Marie "Mimi" Malloy, of Roslyn Road, and Thomas Harry Fitzgibbon, of Brys Drive, has been announced by her mother, Mrs. Marie G. Malloy, of Bryn Mawr, Pa. A late May wedding is planned.

Miss Malloy was graduated from Archbishop John Carroll High School for Girls. She holds a

STRESS. YOU CAN TAKE IT. OR LEAVE I

You could keep taking it...and taking it...until your body can't take the stress anymore. Until headaches and hives and loss of concentration develop. You could probably go all the way to ulcers and heart problems or worse.

Or you could leave it. You could learn how to control stress through Stress Stoppers.

Stress Stoppers will teach you the difference between a little stress, which is good, and a lot of stress which can be destructive.

Stress Stoppers will show you how to identify unnecessary stresses and how to manage the unavoidable ones.

Stress Stoppers was designed by a team of physicians, nurses, psychologists and nutritionists. It's sponsored by Henry Ford Health Care Corporation. And it works. Thousands of people have taken control of their lives by learning to manage excessive stress through Stress Stoppers. It's the choice of major companies for job related stress.

All it takes is 6 sessions. The first session is free. Stress. You can take it. Or leave it. The choice is up to you.

NMI Boosters plan 'inspirational' benefit the special attention she receives from the Neuromuscular Institute. And the NMI will benefit from the NMI Boosters' benefit dinner dance planned for Saturday, May 5. Proceeds from the benefit and donations from the Boosters and their friends will go toward the purchase of equipment to help crippled children live a more mobile and happier life.

Heather was born with spina bifida, a birth defect involving the nervous system. With spina bifida, cells which later become the spinal cord fail to develop properly in the first month of pregnancy, resulting in an open spine with parts of the nervous tissue exposed or covered only by a thin sac.

10 year-old Heather's mother, Mrs. Richard Tucker, told NMI

Boosters at a recent lunch that Dr. Maurice Castle, founder and director of the NMI, was called in for consultation shortly after Heather's birth. At 11 months of age, Heather had a hip operation which enables her to walk with long braces and a walker. She attends physical therapy at Roose-velt-McGrath Wayne Westland special education school, and receives that special attention from NMI. Booster members say Heather is a bright, talkative little girl who loves music and hopes someday to take voice lessons.

Each year, the outstanding humanitarian among the NMI Boosters is given a "Humanitar-ian Award" — and this year, the recipient will be Ethel Bekolay (Mrs. Richard) Horst. Mrs. Horst joined the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital organization in 1959, serving as city director and then as founder of the Greater Detroit Chapter of ALSAC in 1960. She organized the group's first ball and is now and vice-president of ALSAC-St. Jude.

In addition to her work with the NMI Boosters (she's a charter member), she has helped raise funds for the Leper Colony in Kentung, Burma, and the Ladies of Charity in Detroit, and the PIME Missionaries. Last year, Mrs. Horst coordinated the dinner dance for the NMI.

Among the Grosse Pointers and east siders who plan to attend the May 5 dinner dance are Mr. and Mrs. Emil Grob, of The Pointe; Mrs. James Houlihan, Mrs. Leo Howe, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ladd, Dr. Frederick Vogel and guest, and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wojtalik.

The party is practically a sellout, reports NMI publicity person Mrs. Aaron E. Wilcox, but the public is invited to the event. The dance will feature local celebrities, music of the Panchitos for dancing, a "surprise" — and it's all for $75 per person donation $150 per couple.

Checks chould be made payable

Checks should be made payable to Boosters — NMI for Crippled Children, and sent to NMI Boosters, 19966 Old Pond Court, Birmingham, 48009.

Joseph N. Ejbeh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Naif Ejbeh, of Beaconsfield Road, has been named recipient of the Political Science Award for outstanding scholastic achievement by the University of Detroit's College of Liberal Arts. Ejbeh, a Grosse Pointe South High School graduate, is a U of D senior and has also received a Dean's Honor List Certificate for his 3.8 grade point

When the Boosters of the Neuromuscular Institute for Crippled Children gather next Saturday, May 5, for their seventh annual "Inspiration Child" dinner dance at the Detroit Golf Club, they won't have to look too far for their inspirational child. She's 10 year-old HEATHER TUCKER, daughter of Richard and Sharon Tucker, of Westland. That's Heather posing with NMI founder and director DR. MAURICE CASTLE and charter NMI Booster and publicity chairman MRS. AARON E. WILCOX as the Boosters gathered for a recent brunch at the Golf Club.

MOT Guild to 'clean up'

The Michigan Opera Theatre Guild (MOTG) will hold its annual Spring Auction and Giant Garage Sale, Friday through Sunday, April 27 through 29, at the former Bart car dealership on East Jefferson Avenue in Detroit.

Designed as a fund raising project for the Detroit-based Michigan Opera Theatre, the event will kickoff with an informal dinner beginning at 6 p.m. on Friday, April 27. Participants can enjoy dining while strolling through a silent live auction of selected items; noted Detroit auctioneer Lawrence Du-Mouchelle will serve as the guest auctioneer. Following will be a giant garage sale on April 27 and 28, beginning at 10 a.m. each day

Chaired by MOTG members William King Springett with the assistance of Sharon Gioia, Dinner and Auction Chairman, this year's auction and garage sale items have been greatly expanded in their variety to include: tickets to the Detroit Lions and the annual Grand Prix: a children's brithday party with a ventriloquist; spending a day as an assistant producer to a TV commercial; get-away holidays: sailing and cabin cruiser outings on the Detroit River; in addition to assorted antiques, office and home furniture items.

We invite you to a celebration of British heritage April 30 through May 12 in our Furniture Gallery ...our salute to 2000 years of art, culture, crafts, music, literature and history that have influenced the world.

See Great Britain at Jacobson's. For a fortnight, we will be steeped in the color, charm, tradition and pageantry of the British Isles. Special displays and exhibits will reflect the different ways you choose to live...interior designs ranging from the warmth of a country kitchen to the stateliness of a formal living room. Plan to share these events with us. We will be proud to be your host.

school days - for she is a graduate of that academy when it was located on Lawrence Avenue in Detroit. She studied at Manhattanville College before receiving her Library Science degree from Villanova University. Her protessional career took her to Sacred Heart schools in New York and Boston before she came back to Michigan, first to the Academy of the Sacred Heart, Grosse Pointe, then to Bloomfield Hills.

Full Circle, Too, for Sister Joan

Sister Joan Hinz, O.P., who recently celebrated her 25th anniversary as a member of the Adrian Dominican Sisters, has also physically come full circle from her own school days. She's a Grosse Pointe native and attended St. Paul's-on-the-Lake for both grade and high school. She received her degree from Siena Heights College in Adrian after joining the Sisters of St. Dominic there.

Then she went west, to teach for over nine years in the Unicago area. Then she went north, to spend 12 years teaching at St. Stephen High School in Saginaw. She studied at Marquette University, the University of Wisconsin and Michigan State University.

Now she's home again (or close enough to home to count as being home. She presently teaches Spanish in the Modern Language Department of Bishop Gallagher High School in Harper Woods. There's no saying she won't be off again - Sister Joan is by no means at the end of her professional career — but there's no denying it's nice to have her back, for however long.

Lilac Luncheon for Little Sisters

It's odd how things come together: if anyone had told me last week that I'd be writing a Nun Column this week. I'd have said. "That's extremely unlikely"... but News about Nuns has been literally pouring in! The 26th Annual Lilac Luncheon presented by the St. Joseph Auxiliary of the Little Sisters of the Poor always draws a goodly group of Pointers interested in supporting the Little Sisters' good work, and it's scheduled for next week, Tuesday, May 1, at Fairlane Manor in Dearborn.

Cocktails at 11 a.m. will be followed by luncheon at noon and a showing of fashions from Chudik's of Birmingham. Donation is $15. Reservations may be made by calling 838-1781. All proceeds will be used to purchase a station wagon for the Burtha Fisher Home.

A Change of Subject

A tea reception at the Shores home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Fuher honored the Syrian Lebanese debutantes of 1984 and their mothers. The girls, including Victoria Matta, daughter of the Virgil Mattas, of The Park, Christine Nihem, daughter of the Thomas Nihems, of The Woods, Thomasina Tedesco, daughter of the Theodore Tedescos, of The Park, and Deanna Dakho. daughter of Sabri Dakhos, of The Farms, make their bows Saturday. May 5, at a Presentation Ball at Hillcrest Country Club.

Proceeds from the ninth annual party go to the United Christian Lebanese Association Scholarship Fund, Reservations are necessary, and may be made by calling 772-2240. Tickets are $35 per person, tax deductible.

Honorary chairperson of the ball is His Excellency Nasrat El-Assad, Consul General of Lebanon. General chairperson is Josephine (Mrs. Peter) Saigh, of The Park. Co-chairpersons are Ann (Mrs. David) Baxter and Nancy (Mrs. Louis) Ciotti. The reception at the Fuher home was given by chairpersons Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Selvaggio, of The Shores, and Mr. and Mrs. Fuad Ganem, of The Woods. Dorothy (Mrs. Edmond) Housey, Eva (Mrs. John) Abdoo and Mrs. Jenny Karalla chaired the traditional event at which the debutantes honor senior citizens at St. Maron's Social Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. James Tamer and Mrs. Vicky George will host an evening reception at Hillcrest for the debs and their escorts. The ball begins with cocktail service and hors d'oeuvres at 6 p.m. The presentation and dinner follow. Music for the evening will be by the Jerry Ross V

May 5 lunch for Sacred Heart

The Alumnae Association of the Academy of the Sacred Heart has scheduled next Saturday, May 5, for its annual spring luncheon.

The Alumnae Day will begin with an 11 a.m. Mass, celebrated by the Reverend Edward Loveley, S.J., at Sts. Peter and Paul Jesuit Church in Detroit. Following the Mass, an historic marker designating the Academy of the Sacred Heart as one of the oldest continuing independent schools in Michigan will be placed on the site of the original school on the south side of Jefferson Avenue. A luncheon in the University of Detroit Law School atrium will follow the ceremony.

The event promises to be a memorable one for the 800 alumnae of the Academy living in the Detroit area. Sacred Heart in Bloomfield Hills will celebrate its 25th anniversary on Sunday, May 27. Plans are underway for a grand celebration to commemorate the move to Bloomfield Hills and celebrate the Academy's historic designation by the Michigan Historic Commission.

Chairman of the May 5 alumnae event is Mrs. Bonnie Ternes Brennan, of Birmingham. Co-chairman is Mrs. Mary Jo Dawson, of Birmingham; committee members include Mrs. Barbara Lopiccolo, of Lathrup Villege, Mrs. Dorothy Sweeney, of Harper Woods, Mrs. Julie Oldani, Mrs. Kip Smith and Mrs. Betsy Heid, of Birmingham. Ms. Susan Reck and Mrs. Mary Oldani, of Grosse Pointe, Mrs. Virginia Antakli, Sister Catherine C. Riley, of Bloomfield Hills, and Ms. Jane Gage, of Trov.

Among the honored guests at the alumnae luncheon will be former Sacred Heart teacher Sister Cora McLaughlin. Luncheon highlights will include recognition of reunion classes, especially the 50th, and a display of Sacred Heart memora-

Nursery will hold May open house

Memorial Nursery, Inc., a nonprofit, non-denominational cooperative nursery school, will host an open house for prospective students and their parents Thursday. May 10, beginning at 9:15 a.m. at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, 16 Lakeshore Road in the Farms.

Interested parents will have a chance to meet teachers, tour the two classrooms, take part in activities and visit the outdoor facilities, weather permitting.

The school offers a developmental pre-school program, including field trips and guest speakers. The program has 3-year-olds attending school on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 until 11:05 a.m. and 4-yearolds attending on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 9 until 11:05 a.m.

Founded in 1957, Memorial Nursery employs two certified teachers daily. Parent involvement is encouraged, although working parents may also involve their children in the program.

Applications are being accepted for the 1984-85 school year. For further information about the open house or the school, call 499-2037. 824-4296 or 885-1306.

Church circles meet in May

The Women's Association Circles of the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church have scheduled their May meetings for fellowship and Bible Study next Tuesday, May 1.

At 9:30 a.m. members will be welcomed by Mrs. Marc Green at her Windmill Pointe Drive home, by Mrs. Donald Hirt at her Balfour Road home, and by Mrs. Donald Keim in the church lounge. At 1 p.m. Mrs. Philip Porbe will open her Kensington Road home to circle members.

Mrs. Geraldine Wormer, at her Roosevelt Place home, and Mrs. William Hall, at her Vernier Road home, will welcome the 7:30 evening circles.

Members or visitors may attend any circle. For further information, call Mrs. Richard Dykstra, coordinator of circles, 882-5330.

DRC gathers at Fairlane

Mrs. James P. Stuart Jr., of McMillan Road, will be chairman of the day when the Detroit Review Club meets for its "extra meeting" Wednesday, May 9, at the Fairlane Club in Dearborn.

Betts Stuart, an active member in the DRC, is a delightful chairwoman — warm, friendly and hard-working. She has served on the DRC board twice and is always willing to "help out" when needed.

DRC's new president Mrs. Justin Emery will be official hostess. While May 9 will be a day of relaxing and table-hopping, the meeting will feature a fascinating guest speaker, who will be introduced by Mrs. Stuart.

The speaker will be David T. Glick, senior administrator for Volunteers and Publications at Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village in Dearborn. He is an expert on museums and historical topics and has collaborated on two books and written many film reviews. But his special interest is Great Lakes history and his hobbies include fishing. Reservations for what looks like an interesting afternoon should be in by May 3; the fee of $10 should be remitted to the DRC treasurer by that date. Luncheon is at noon. Fairlane is a private club; this will be DRC's third visit to the

INCORPORATED

The Community LINC

While other organizations are starting to wind down in prepara-tion for the summer holidays, the LINC board and volunteers cele-brated spring and renewed their committment to the purpose of linking individuals to needs in the community at their annual meeting held April 5 at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club.

The afternoon began with a brief review of the year's accomplishments and then focused on coming events and projects. Included in these are the Spring Volunteer luncheon, the 1984-85 board nominations and a bowlathon with the Exchange Club of Grosse Pointe to raise funds to aid the young people of Grosse Pointe. The annual meeting concluded with an interesting, informative presenta-tion by Ewa Bielski of Perfect Cluset.

The Spring Volunteer luncheon will be held this year on Thursday. May 31 at the Detroit Institute of Arts. The afternoon will include a private tour of the modern art exhibit. Anyone interested in attending should call the LINC office at 331-6700 for more information.

At the recent Monte Carlo party an annual fundraiser, LINC volunteers were assisted by both the Exchange Club of Grosse Pointe and the Grosse Pointe Optimist club. On Saturday, May 12, LINC will reciprocate by obtaining pledges and bowling at a bowlathon with the Exchange Club. The money raised will help with child abuse, youth activities and other community service projects.

Additional evidence of LINC's ongoing efforts is the presentation of the new slate of officers for 1984-85. Mary Matvias will assume the president's duties, replacing outgoing president Erica Lindow. The remaining board will consist of: vice-president (public relations) — Victoria Buckler; treasurer - Barb Earl; secretary - Chris Litka: fundraising — Carol Selmo; research — Judy Hatton; membership — Sara Gagen: nominating future planning — Erica Lindow.

Congratulations to the incoming ward and thanks for the suc cessful efforts of the 1983-84 officers.

A new and interesting addition to LINC's list of agency referrals is the Graystone Jazz Museum, Inc. 716 Lothrop, Detroit, Founded in 1984, its purpose is the development and operation of a repository for the permanent housing of jazz musical memorabilia, and artifacts in the city of Detroit as well as to disseminate this information to the public. Programs have included a series of jazz workshops presented to youth and senior groups in several of Detroit's Citizens District Councils. Workshops have featured jazz musicians who lecture on historical aspects of jazz and demonstrate their instru-

Women do not perform breast self-examination regularly

Most American women continue to ignore the importance of breast self-examination for early detection of breast cancer even though they believe it has value in controlling breast cancer, according to a survey conducted by the Gallup Organization for the American Institute for Cancer Research.

Two-thirds of American women (63 percent) do not perform monthly breast self-examination despite the fact that 95 percent report they have heard of BSE. Eighty-eight percent of women agree there is a lot of value in early detection of breast cancer. Eighty-one percent report they have practiced breast self-examination at least once, the survey found.

But only 30 percent report they have practiced self-examination at least once a month during the past year, which is the recommended frequency for practicing BSE. In response to these findings, the American Institute for Cancer Research has launched a public education campaign designed to encourage and remind women to perform regular breast self-examina-

AICR has developed a universal symbol, a stylized woman with one hand held up as a reminder, and slogan, "Keep in Touch with Yourself," and will promote this symbol widely.

There is a gap between women's awareness of breast cancer treatment and their willingness to participate in early detection practices," says the AICR. "Clearly, the mass of public education materials has not bridged the gap between awareness and action, so we must develop more effective ways to change women's behavior. The most effective means of detecting breast cancer is self-examination and women still aren't doing it.' "It's just something I don't think about doing" was the reason given most frequently by women (63 percent) who have heard of self-examination but perform it less frequently than once a month. Other major reasons cited by this group

• "I don't think I could detect a problem." (56 percent)

percent) • "I see a doctor frequently and the doctor does it." (52 percent) Women who have never practiced breast self-examination gave significantly different reasons for their behavior. Three-quarters (74 percent) said "I don't think I could detect a problem," as opposed to half (56 percent) who report some self-examination practice. Those who have never practiced breast self-examination are also much more likely to say "My doctor never told me I should."

Age, the survey reveals, also plays a part in women's attitudes toward breast self-examination. Women under 29 and over 50 are almost twice as likely as women 30 to 49 to have never practiced BSE.

Among those who did breast selfexamination, there was no significant difference in age groups in frequency of the exam: older women, however, are more likely to respond "I think only a doctor should do it" and "I'm not that con-cerned about breast cancer." The risk of developing breast cancer increases with age.

Paradoxically, respondents to the survey overstate the likelihood that they will develop breast cancer. Thirty-two percent believed it likely — a much higher percentage than the national projection of nine

A woman's doctor is most likely to be her source of information on breast self-examination. According to the survey, 77 percent of women who practiced BSE in the last year learned about it from their doctors. Forty-five percent of those who said they have never done a self-examination did not mention a doctor as a source of information on it.

The current Gallup survey results are based on a nationally representative sample of 1,029 women age 18 and over. The survey was conducted by in-person, inhome interviews, using only female interviewers. Interviewing was conducted between Sept. 16-19 and Oct. 7-10, 1983. Survey results reported for the sample as a whole

• "I intend to and I forget." (55 are subject to sampling error of plus or minus four percent.

Individuals may request free sets of stickers carrying the universal reminder symbol "Keep in Touch with Yourself" by writing to BSE Campaign c/o AICR, Washington, D.C. 20069.

Start walking for fitness

Valerie Pokorny-McHugh will lead a class, "Walking For Fitness," at the War Memorial on Tuesday and Thursday mornings begining May 1.

An invigorating way to get moving, the goal of the walking course is to cover a distance of three miles in 45 minutes along scenic Lakeshore Drive. Classes will be held rain or shine, and proper warm-up and cool-down techniques will be included along with informational handouts. Students should wear appropriate gear for the weather, and strong, supportive, running shoes.

'For a Change'

A unique new workshop, "For a Change," is being offered by Each Other's Company Wednesday evening, May 9, at Brownell Middle School, through the Grosse Pointe Public School System's Department of Adult Education.

East Other's Company is a new concern formed by Grosse Pointer Alice Boston Snyder and her partner, Arlene Johnson, Snyder, who moved here several years ago from the Washington, D.C., area, has an extensive background in creative drama and education. So does Johnson, who is a native East Side resident.

Their Company offers an unusual approach to assist women to look at the familiar in a fresh way. The idea is: first, to help women realize that they have choices to make about themselves and their lives; second, to provide them with a process which enables them to look at things in a different way; third, to give them an opportunity to re-hearse any "differences" they might like to choose for them-

Each Other's Company presents this opportunity for women to explore not only who they are now, but whom they might like to become, in a workshop format where a gentle spirit of adventure prevails and participants are encouraged to use imagination and reflection to explore their full potential.

For more information call 881-7511

The cost is $30 for 12 sessions.

Busy spring for Harmer DAR

Mrs. John S. Buchanan, of Redford, was one of the emissaries to France to celebrate the "signing" of the Treaty of Paris. A member of the General Josiah Harmer chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. Buchanan has been tapped once again to serve as goodwill ambassador from Michigan and for the national society of the DAR.

On April 29, she will attend the inauguration ceremonies for Bacone College president Alfred O. Ginkel. Bacone College is an independent institution more than 100 years old, located in Muskogee County, Okla. It was first founded at Tahlequah. Indian Territory.

First known as Indian University, the campus is now situated on over 200 acres of landscaped property overlooking Muskogee County, about an hour's drive from

Mrs. Buchanan is the National Vice-Chairman of Indian Affairs. appointed by the President General of the National Society. Mrs. Walter Fysh, member of the John Sackett chapter, DAR, will accompany Mrs. Buchanan.

Leading 'Understudy' role for Lois

Farms resident LOIS (Mrs. Wilber Hadley) MACK, pictured above in the Hilberry Theatre foyer chatting with Wayne State University President DAVID ADAMANY, has been named the eighth president of The Understudies Association for the Theatre at WSU. She succeeds Billie (Mrs. M. Morton) Barak, who served from October 1982 until her death last August. Interim leadership has been provided by Mrs. Mack and Barbara (Mrs. Paul W. Jr.) Czamanske, of Bloomfield Hills, vice-presidents, and Olga (Mrs. Irving) Dworkin, of Farmington Hills, immediate past-president.

Lois Mack has served as president of the board of the Sophie Wright (now Franklin Wright) Settlement, as president of the Grosse Pointe Farm and Garden Club and, for two terms, of the Women's Committee of the Detroit Institute of Arts. She has been a vice-president of the Michigan Farm and Garden Club and has served on the National Garden Club Council.

She was a member of the Merrill-Palmer Corporation and is a trustee of the Founders Society Detreit Institute of Arts. She has served as Detroit Grand Opera Association general chairman of Met-ropolitan Opera Week activities. She has been an Understudy for 10

The Understudies are a group of metropolitan area women who have assumed the task of aiding the WSU Theatres. They are engaged primarily in fund raising for scholarships for the Hilberry Graduate Repertory Company and in working to expand its audience, but they also support other theatre programs and projects, such as the proposed authentic reconstruction of Shakespeare's Globe Theatre on the Detroit riverfront.

"In supporting the Hilberry Theatre — with its remarkable mix of education, professional training and service to the community -The Understudies Association is serving the total university through one of its strongest academic programs and one of its most important areas of public service," says President Adamany.

"Never before has the work of The Understudies been so vital to the theatre at Wayne State University," adds Leonard Leone, director of the WSU Theatres. "In a time of severe budgetary limitations they are ensuring that the high standards of this program, which is to a large extent self-supporting, are maintained.

"Under Lois Mack's leadership we are confident that this work will continue successfully. We are most fortunate that she has agreed to serve.

Mrs. Mack accepted the presidency at the request of President Adamany. "I look forward to the year ahead with much enthusiasm," she says. She has called a Genematas, Carol (Mrs. Gilbert E.) meeting of The Understudies for May 24, to plan for the 1984-85 fund mann.

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, lowcholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featuring, this week, an EMPHASIS on ARTI-CHOKES.

BOILED ARTICHOKES 4 artichokes (1/3 lb. each) 1 chicken bouillon packet MBT 1 clove gralic, diced Water

Wash artichokes thoroughly under running water. Cut 1 inch across top; and remove any loose leaves around bottoms. Snip tops of each leaf - about 3/8 to 1/2-inch. To retain color, dip artichokes in lemon juice before cooking.

Place bouillon and garlic in saucepan. And enough water to cover artichokes. Bring to a boil; reduce heat; add artichokes upright in water. Cook 25 to 30 minutes, until tender when tested with a fork, Drain, Separate leaves at top and remove fuzzy choke in center with a spoon. Serve hot with Mock Hollondaise Sauce, cold with mayonnaise, French or Italian Desired sauce or dressing can be added in the center or on the side. Pull each leaf, dip in sauce, and eat the tender bottom portion of each leaf, and the heart.

Calories per artichoke about 30. Cholesterol 0.

SHRIMP-STUFFED ARTICHOKES

4 artichokes, boiled and trimmed of chokes 3 Tbsp. unsalted margarine

2 Tbsp. olive oil 3 cloves garlic, finely minced

3 Tbsp. green onions, minced 1 pound shrimp, shelled and deveined or frozen Salt and pepper to taste

Cook the artichokes, remove the fuzzy chokes, and spread the leaves apart. Melt margarine in skillet and heat with the olive oil. Add garlic and onion and stir for 1 minute. Add the shrimp and stir until they are pink (this should take only a few minutes). Add seasoning. Fill the artichokes with the shrimp mixture; make sure to serve all that delicious garlicy oil! Makes 4 servings.

Calories per serving about 380. Cholesterol about 140 mgs.

ARTICHOKE HEARTS SAUTE 1 can artichoke hearts (water pack, 3½ oz.) 2 Tbsp. margarine 2 Tbsp. fresh lemon juice 2 oz. Hiram Walker Triple Sec

Parsley, salt and pepper Saute artichoke hearts in margarine. Add lemon juice and Triple Sec. Add parsley and seasoning to taste. Makes 2 servings. Cariories per serving about 117.

ARTICHOKES WITH PEAS 1 pkg. (9 oz.) frozen artichokes hearts

3 cups finely sliced celery

% tsp. salt

14 cup water

1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen peas

2 tsp. lemon juice 2 Tbsp. margarine

Put salt and water in saucepan, Add frozen artichokes and celery after water starts to boil. Boil 3 minutes; add peas; bring back to boiling. Cover and cook 5 minutes. Drain if needed; add lemon and margarine. Serve at once. Makes 8

PUREED JERUSALEM ARTICHOKES

These tubers, often sold as sunchokes, with their non-fattening, more digestible carbohydrate are the ideal replacement for potatoes - especially in diabetic diets.

Rinse off and boil in their skins in cold, salted water, exactly like potatoes. When chokes are cooked through, but not mushy drain and peel; usually, the knobby eyes come right off with the peel. Puree in a food mill or blender, adding margarine, salt and white pepper to taste. If desired, a small amount of evaporated skimmed milk may be added to improve the consistency. Serve hot. Nutritional values are unavailable, but calorie count is known to be low and cholesterol 0.

Getting serious about youth sports . . .

Let's get serious.

Generally, I dedicate much of this space to a somewhat lighthearted account of professional sports, college sports, high school sports, good sports and poor sports. This week, however, and continuing in the last News' issue of each month, Sports Week will be devoted entirely to the subject of youth sports.

(That's not to say that this ongoing study of youth sports in Grosse Pointe won't have its lighthearted moments. Goodness knows, there's always a chuckle or two to be found in almost any subject. Or at least there should be.)

Years ago, organized youth sports consisted mainly of Little League baseball and the occasional Saturday afternoon kids' bowling league. When a kid wanted to play sports back then, he or she picked up a ball, bat, glove, skates or a stick, went out in the backyard, and played.

Back then, the only rules were those basic rules of the game, the rules of the neighborhood and any other rules governing situations which happened to come up as the game went along. The only fees were those that had to be paid when a batted ball broke a neighbor's window. And uniforms? Don't make me laugh.

Those kids grew up and so did formally organized youth sports. Those same kids are the parents of today who never realized the full impact of the burgeoning youth sports scene until Junior came home one day and said he wanted "to

And to play today, in organized youth sports, means to spend money, follow rules, set up committees and governing boards and give up lots of time . . . and that's just on the parents' part. Grosse Pointe parents know all about that

Grosse Pointe kids who want to play have their choice of hockey, soccer, baseball, softball, tennis, basketball, volleyball, T-ball, gymnastics, swimming, and countless other athletic activities, offered by such groups as the Neighborhood Club, the Grosse Pointe Hockey Association, the Grosse Pointe Soccer Association, Pointe Soccer, churches, schools and private clubs.

And that's great. It's just that even with any and every sport imaginable being offered in Grosse Pointe, not everybody is happy. And that includes the kids.

Every week I hear some story about how Grosse Pointe sports organizations place too much emphasis on winning; so much so that Pointe kids are left off teams in favor of non-community members with more talent. Or I hear that the same organizations don't emphasize winning - and keeping track of scores and individual point totals - enough.

I hear baseball parents complain that soccer groups are taking up too much space and then I hear soccer folks gripe that baseball isn't a sport for everyone so why give it any space at all?

People have called me up to tell me that I give local sports organizations too much credit for their successful programs. They tell me I don't know the "inside story."

Maybe. And maybe I don't really want to know. Maybe I'm a throwback to the days when it was enough that kids just went out and played and didn't have to worry about whether the content of their teams were at least 50 percent Grosse Pointe. Maybe I just can't get used to the fact that organizations fight over the right — and I mean fight — to provide a "healthy" sports environment for kids.

And I hope I never do.

North girls set sights on top teams

By Peggy O'Connor

When Guido Regelbrugge says his North High girls' soccer team will give any team in the state a run for its money, it's best to believe him. As members of any of Regelbrugge's teams or almosi anyone else who knows him will tell you . . . Regelbrugge means

North High girls' team is backing its coach up. The girls won their first five contest this season and have shown an improvement in their play over the 1983 squad which was a winner in its own right going all the way to the regional finals in its first year of existence.

"I think we've learned to play

you say: 'Wow, that was beautiful!' 'Regelbrugge says of his 1984 squad. "One thing is the same: the kids were winners last year and they are winners this year.

This season, Regelbrugge has combined a nucleus of talented returning players with five freshmen in the "chase" for what Regel-and will run up and down the field all day," says the coach of four consecutive North boys league championship teams. Midfielders Cathy Caruso. Amelia Dugan and Marlene Priesz

"I've got an outstanding mid-field. I haven't see another mid-field like mine in the state. It is surprising to find three girls who can

are "three who run all day," according to their coach. "They are tough, determined winners and with them, we have an awesome

"I think we have more balance this year than we did in 1983. Our substitutions this year are less obvious than they were last season. I think that's because we have that nice crop of freshmen and three leaders who come onto my team with 4.0 grade point averages and good attitudes and whip the little kids into shape," Regelbrugge

Those leaders are senior midfielders Caruso and Priesz, junior midfielder Amelia Dugan and junior center-back Stephanie Smith. They have everything I've looked for in a soccer player . . . and that includes boys," Regelbrugge says.

This year, the North girls are in the tougher Macomb Area Soccer League, essentially the same league as the North boys squad participates in. South, which North beat in a close contest early in the season, poses one threat to North's challenge for a league championship. The other is Fraser.

"Fraser is supposed to be very good and they can keep us from winning our division and our league. If we can beat them, we can win the division and the league. I realize that will be difficult because Fraser is in the top 10, but we're gonna go after 'em," the veteran coach says.

On paper, he adds, Fraser is supposed to beat North. But as the colorful Regelbrugge has said in the past, soccer games are not played on paper.

"There are six or seven teams in the state which would probably beat us. But I don't think there's a single team that is stubborn enough to think it can step on the field and run all over Grosse Pointe North. That wouldn't be smart.

'On any given day I think we can surprise any team in the state. Regularly, we will beat the teams in our level but once you get into the top six or eight teams, you're depending on the hot day or the lucky bounce," says Regelbrugge.

"Our goal every year is to win 10 games and thereby have a winning season. I always have a winner. I don't want to lose and my girls know that. I tell them if you lose more than you win you don't have much, but if you win more than you lose, you've got a shot.

Realistically, Regelbrugge admits that his North girls are close to the top 10 and should rank somewhere near 10th or 12th in the state. And when it comes to the state playoffs, a lot will depend upon the draw, Regelbrugge cautions

If we draw a Troy or a Troy Athens, we're out. In our group there are 27 teams and at least 10 of those are solid and five are in the top 10. I'd like to believe that we'll be respectible but we'll need a bit of luck because I'd like to play a few playoff games before we get hit with the big buys.

"I don't think we're considered a serious challenge for the state title but if we play the way we can, we might squeeze into the top 10 and that would be fantastic.

But regardless, we'll give anybody a run for their money

Blue Dolphin Club will swim on May 16

The South High Blue Dolphins Synchronized Swim Club will present its annual show on Wednes day, May 16, at 4 p.m. in the pool at South High

The show's theme is "Falling in Love." Other performances will be Thursday, May 17 and Friday, May 18 at 8 p.m. The group rate for admission is $1 per person for the May 16 show. Student rate is $2; $2.50 for adults.

Officers for the 1984 Blue Dolphins are Kim Hudson, president; Katy Eckel, vice president; Hague Ollison, treasurer; Heather Amberg, secretary. Judy Agnew is the group's coach.

North girls in 1983 playoff action

beginning for ULS

By Peggy O'Connor

The girls' varsity soccer team at University Liggett School is a vastly different one than the squad which took the field in 1983, the first season of varsity play in girls' soccer for ULS.

Coach Candy Bousquet's team is changed in both makeup and in purpose as it competes in the Expressway Soccer League for the se-

"One major change will be in goal. We've got a new girl who's one of our stronger team members. Amy Rasimas will play goal; she's a senior and she's good. That'll be my problem next season, finding a goalie to replace Amy," Bousquet

Perhaps the biggest change for ULS is Bosquet's purpose for the "Last year, we were basically concerned with getting the program started. The team was all seniors, mostly unskilled, just playing to have fun and get a start in soccer for ULS. This year, we're working on plays, concentrating on passing, trying to be a better soc-

"This year, we're determined not to be last in our league."

According to Bousquet, many of the squad's stronger members are only freshmen, which bodes well for the future of the program. More than 30 girls turned out for tryouts and ULS has fielded a 28-member team this season. So far, the girls have a 2-3 record.

"I'd say our No. 1 player is Laura Khelokian. She's a sweeper but she comes all the way up to score; she already has two goals. Another freshman, Kim Wood, is our strong center-half-bak. She had three goals and one assist in three games," Bousquet says.

Other "up and coming" players on this year's ULS squad are freshmen Cindy Paul, who started off as a forward but recently played at fullback; and Shelly Tibbits, who never played soccer until this year and has started at right halfback and "played every minute" so far this season.

Freshman Susan Judge has proen to be an effective fullback, Bousquet says, despite never having played soccer until this year, about our prospects," Bousquet either. On the wings are speedy seniors Rebecca Thomas and Jean Zotter; Susan Edwards, a strong ball-handler, will play centerforward. Marjorie Barron, a senior halfback, has been nominated to serve as co-captain with goaltender Rasimas.

Also playing for ULS this year are Karen Kavazos, Sandy Yonkoski, Lori Hughett, Lawanna Johnson, Cecelia Cornejo, Stella Chang, Maria Randazzo, Gerri Ocampo, Hilary Kubista, Chandra Oden, Francine Jusis, Susan Cheek, Eva Dodds, and Amy Wormer.

"Our goal is to end up at .500. The league will be less difficult this vear because North and South are out and smaller schools are in. I mink we can be more compeniive

South goal: improvement

By Peggy O'Connor

South coach John Case says he doesn't think his squad will be easily dominated, despite its shift to a new, tougher league. "I don't really know the other teams in the league, but I don't think we'll be a team that will get blown out of a match. I think this team is very with only four seniors in the starting line-up. But a total of eight girls return from the 1983 squad which finished "somewhere around third from bottom," according to Case.

Actually, South's under-500 finish last season was one of those "learning" years that both coaches and players find beneficial.

The goal set by South's girls' soccer team as it began its second year of varsity level play was a simple one: improve. And just three games into the season, it looks like the girls have done just that, registering two wins against one loss.

ULS third in own tourney

The University Liggett School varsity tennis team finished third in its 1984 Tournament of Champions last weekend.

Hinsdale, the No. 1 high school tennis team in Illinois, won the tournament with 34 points. Midland-Dow, the No. 1 ranked team in Michigan, finished second with 30 points. University Liggett School was third with 19 points. and East Grand Rapids finished with 15 points.

Senior George Haggarty and so-phomore Robby Wood, at No. 2 doubles, were the only flight winners for the ULS Knights. They defeated the Hinsdale No. 2 doubles team in the finals 5-7, 6-4, 6-3.

Consolation winners for ULS were sophomore Marc Hunt at No. 2 singles, freshman David Barlow at No. 3 singles, and senior Brian Hunt and sophomore Kirk Haggarty at No. 1 doubles.

"Considering the competition, I was pleased with our performance," commented ULS coach Bob Wood. "We had four of the top high school tennis teams in the midwest at this tournament and when you play the type of competition that we do at University Liggett, one must be realistic about what is successful," Wood continued. "Most of our players play two or three sports per year, and very few play the summer tennis tournaments. This is not the case at Hinsdale, Midland-Dow, East Grand Rapids and other top tennis schools. Most of their players play

just tennis, and spend the summer

on the tennis circuit. It makes a

Knights defeated a very strong Brother Rice team, 5-2. Individual winners for ULS were senior Frank Crociata at No. 1 singles, Hunt at No. 2 singles, Brian Hunt and Haggarty at No. 1 doubles, George Haggarty and Wood at No. 2 doubles, and John Birgbauer and Ashu Nautiyal at No. 3 dou-

This match was extremely close," said Coach Wood, "We won three, three-setters, and for the first time this season we showed that we could raise our intensity level in a tight situation."

Wood's team plays at Forest Hills Central on Friday, April 27 at 4 p.m.

Kickers split

On Friday, April 13, the ULS Liggett School's girls' varsity soccer team faced Edsel Ford at home in the pouring rain, losing 42. Goals for ULS were scored by freshmen Kim Wood and Laura Khelokian.

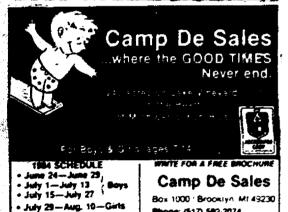

ULS took on Expressway Soccer League opponent Fordson April 16. The weather wasn't much better, but the score was, as Coach Candy Bousquet's team defeated Fordson, 4-0. Khelokian, Wood and Cavazos scored.

Top Pointe performers

Three Pointers have been recognized for their athletic achievements on behalf of their respective college teams.

Stark Langs, a junior center from Grosse Pointe, has been awarded a varsity letter for his performance with the University Brown basketball team. An honorable mention All-Ivy League selection, Langs led the Bruins in scoring and rebounding this year while winning his third varsity letter. He averaged 11.2 points and 10.2 rebounds per game and led the Ivy League in rebounding.

Langs, the son of
Stark and Carol Langs, of Lakeland Avenue, was 56.1 percent from the field; he ranks second on the All-Time field goal percentage list at Brown with 52.8 percent.

Another Brown star, inior jen measene of Grosse Pointe, is one of six members of the Bruin swim team awarded Ivy League honors following their 10-event wins at the Eastern Seaboard Swimming and Diving Championships. Measelle's 400 freestyle team placed first and his 800 freestyle relay team was second.

Earning praise from Bucknell University for helping his tennis team off to a 4-1 start was Todd McCoy. The sophomore University Liggett School graduate won his No. 4 singles match in recent action.

Wilson swims to top spot

first place finish in the Michigan State Swimming Championships at Oakland Community College March 23 through 25 — and that swimmer was Paul Wilson, of Grosse Pointe.

He finished third overall in the high point race with a first place in the 100 backstroke, took a first in the 11-12 50 yard backstroke (29.72), and a second in the 100 individual medley (1:05.24). He also finished second in the 200 inthe 500 yard freestyle (5:35.9),

Just one local swimmer had a ninth in the 100 breaststroke (1:15.56) and ninth in the 50 freestyle (26.89).

On March 31, Paul went on to swim in the Macomb County dual league championships where he set a new league record with his team of 29.96 in the 50 back. He also placed first in the 200 yard freestyle with a 2:07.68.

Paul's mother, Pam Wilson, says special credit for Paul's victories should go to his coach Fred Michalik, who helped her son dividual medley (2:21.07), sixth in achieve his swimming goals this spring.

Sports Week

sports situation in Grosse Pointe. The mere fact that so many programs are available and that so many people spend time, money and effort planning these programs, is a testament to the overall health of youth sports in Grosse Pointe.

I've been told by experts in the youth sports advocacy that nowhere are there better facilities, more potential, and higher interest and involvement in the youth sports movement than here in Grosse Pointe. I believe it.

It's just that when that potential fades a little under the guise of proper "control" and "management" of sports programs that it gets a little sad. Or when the high interest turns to petty jealousy and interference and the "youth" gets taken right out of "youth sports."

It's like a coach I know who commented: "kids do just fine in sports until an adult gets involved . . . then things get all messed up.

And finding out how things get messed up - and how to fix them — and a myriad other topics dealing with youth sports in Grosse Pointe and throughout the United States, will be the focus of this once-per-month column dedicated to the youth sports movement.

The column will explore things like coaching and kids, field use and misuse, changing attitudes, the expectations of parents and kids, awards and rewards and their importance, keeping score, the pro sports influence on youth, making and fixing mistakes in youth sports programs, what kids worry about, youth sports experiences of the great and near-great, and lots more.

I'll need lots of input on this one and will welcome any suggestions, criticisms (yep, criticisms), curses, anecdotes, personal experiences, opinions, etc., sent my way. And my way is: Peggy O'Connor, 99 Kercheval Avenue, G.P. Farms, MI.,

Why am I doing this? Because I think that in 20 or 30 years it might be nice for all of today's young atheletes to have positive sports experiences to pass along when their kids come and tell them they want "to play.

Falcons open baseball year

Defending CYO League city champion St. Clare of Montefalco will open its baseball season this weekend, with games scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, April 28

The Falcons, under new head coach Paul Pellerito, will open at East Detroit St. Veronica at 3 p.m. Saturday before taking on Queen of Heaven in a league game at the South High field at 2 p.m. Sunday.

All home games are at South High. The defending champs will have three starters back from last year's title-winning squad: pitcher-infielder Doug Lucas, the team's top hitter last season with a 441 mark, catcher Mike Paull and first baseman Keith McQuerry.

McQuerry was the team's RBI leader last season, followed closely by Lucas and Paull. Paull was also St. Clare's defensive leader with a perfect 1.000 fielding percentage for 53 chances. Also returning from the 1983 squad are pitcher-infielder Derrick Schafran and infielder Jeff Fikany

The remainder of the 1984 St... Clare baseball schedule:

Saturday, May 5 — 11 a.m. at Guardian Angel; Sunday, May 6 — 2 p.m. vs. St. Joan of Arc at South; Saturday, May 12 - 11 a.m. at St. Matthew; Sunday, May 13 - 10 a.m. vs. St. Veronica at South; Thursday, May 17 — a 4 p.m. league game at Queen of Heaven; Sunday, May 20 - 10 a.m. vs. Guardian Angel at South; Friday, May 25 - 4 p.m. vs. St. Matthew at South; and Saturday, May 26 a.m. at St. Joan of Arc.

Good start for North

Kickers unbeaten

Four goals and a balanced attack proved to be enough as North downed South 4-0 in varsity girls' soccer action. This was North's first test of the year against a team that was about as equally North Coach Guido Regelbrugge was definitely pleased that North could win by such a margin. The goal scorers in the 3-0 Norsemen victory were Sue Regalado, Denna Burt, Alexia Parmentier and Laura Lovisa.

North's JV girls' soccer team opened up the year with a hard fought 2-2 standoff with Bloomfield Hills Andover. Scoring for North were Michelle Zrimec and Becky Lelli.

Four Lelli goals helped North gain their first victory of the year as it defeated Southfield Lathrup,

Baseball losses

North's varsity baseball team lost a pair of important games to a top notch Bishop Gallagher club. Gallagher was one of North's toughest opponents this year, but the Norsemen still felt they could split the doubledip.
Instead, North lost both by big scores of 10-0 and 10-5. The losses were a large disappointment for the team and greatly hampers North's chances in the state tournament. North bounced back with two big victories before spring break.

Bi-County a race

One big Bi-County league race going on that hasn't had much attention is the overall Bi-County league point standings. With only the spring sports schedule left, the competition is close and could still be won by just about any team.
Right now, North is ahead in the standings with a score of 44 points (26½ from the fall sports season, and 17½ from the winter sports schedule). Close behind is Clintondale with a combined score of 38 points. Right on Clintondale's heels is L'Anse Creuse with 361/2 points. All three schools have a great shot at winning the overall standings.

The bottom four teams consist of Lakeview (24), Brablec (18½), South Lake (18), and Lakeshore

It would appear that North might have a slight edge in the spring sports calendar, thanks to its strong baseball teams. L'Anse Creuse does have a strong track program though and should make the race interesting.
The keys to North's standings so far are the girls' basketball and cross country teams. These two squads combined to score North 13 out of a possible 14 points in these two events. Other big guns for North came from the boys' swim and cross country teams.

Get in shape with Blanchard

Triathalon champion Charlie Blanchard will talk about being in top shape Monday, April 30, at the War Memorial. His re-scheduled lecture begins at 8 p.m. He will be joined by noted sports medicine expert, Dr. Steven Glickman, and exercise expert, Deanna Hawthorne. Together in "Fit as a Fiddle . . . in Tune With Your Body," the three will discuss such topics as conditioning, nutrition, proper warmup procedures and the causes, prevention and treatment of injuries. Their presentation is designed to inspire the beginner who is seeking motivation and to inform parents of youngsters who participate in competitive, inter-scholastic sports. Admission to the lecture is $5 for adults and $3 for full-time students. Tickets are available at the War Memorial and may be purchased in person. Advance reservation

Basketball camp dates are set The Macomb Monarch Basketball Camp for 10 to 18 year-old boys and girls will be held the last two weeks of July at Macomb Community College's South Campus.

The boys'session will be held July 23 through 27 with the girls' camp scheduled for July 30 to Aug. 3. Daily sessions will run from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Camp fee is $75 which includes lunch, use of pool facilities and individual awards.

Brochures can be obtained by calling camp directors, John Switchulis or Rick Champine, at 445-7476.

FOR YOUR BEST DEAL" IT'S ROSEVILLE CHRYSLER-PLYMOUTH

SEYMOUR CADILLAC SAAB — BERTONE — PININFARINA

CHAPTER AND

PININFARINA. The affordable alternative to the MERCEDES 380SL.

The Mercedes 380SL is a magnificent car. With an equally magnificent price tag. If you've always wanted the car, but not the price tag, we invite you to drive our exciting alternative — The Pininfarina sports car convertible.

At a down-to-earth price tag of $15,999*, we think you'll agree that the Pininfarina is truly a driving masterpiece. Designed and built by Sergio Pininfarina, world-renowned Italian coachbuilder and designer of cars such as the Ferrari, Jaguar and Rolls Royce, the Pininfarina is built in the tradition of what true touring sports cars are meant to be.

And of course there is the practical side of owning a Pininfarina. That is buying a car at the price advertised and not doubling the price by the time you add all the options that you want. Air conditioning, power windows, AM/FM stereo cassette, Italian leather upholstery, alloy wheels and a lot more are included in the Pininfarina at no additional cost.

In fact, about the only option you might consider for your Pininfarina is an automatic transmission But if you're a true sports car purist, you'll want a five-speed transmission. On the Pininfarina, it's standard. On the Mercedes 380SL, you can't get it at any price.

The Pininfarina is also backed by one of the best limited warranties in the world. 2-year unlimited mileage vehicle warranty; 3-year paint finish warranty; and 7-year rust perforation warranty.

Come in today and drive the exciting Pininfarina. It will be a drive you will always remember.

Be our guest. Take a drive.

Glass Kitchen Shimmers Like a Precious Jewel

People are rediscovering the beauty of glass block for heir homes

Popular during the Forties and the years bracketing that decade, glass block fell out of favor for a long while. Now it's the height of fashion again.

Glass block can do magical things to a room, as seen in a kitchen and connecting family room created by Thomas Hills Cook of Armstrong's Interior Design Center. Used as an exterior wall or window, it filters the light to give a room a sparkling, shimmering, jewel-like quality. Plus, it's a good insulator and security provider (just try to break it!).

Designer Cook lavished glass block over the kitchen and family room. In the kitchen, it's used for an enormous window (non-opening, of course) in the sink area. In the family room, it forms one outside wall and part of another.

And the crowning touch: It's used in the base of the custom-made kitchen island — and there's a light in the base for special nighttime effect.

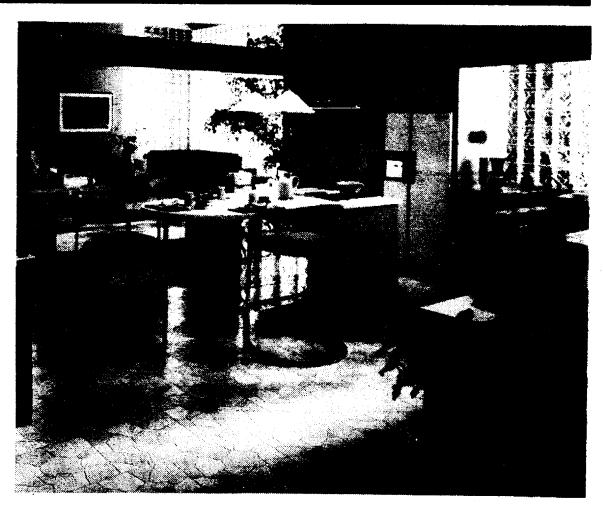

The piece de resistance is a circular white neon light hanging in the kitchen window.

The color scheme is a muted and relaxing peach, terra cot-ta and almond-beige.

This handsome setting was planned for practicality and utility, also. Two large closets next to the refrigerator afford an unusual amount of space for food and small-appliance storage. All of the rooms' surfaces are wipe-clean, and the Armstrong no-wax floor eliminates drudgery.

There's even a personal computer on a small desk for menu planning and budgeting.

Hot Tubs and Spas: Bring the Hot Water Experience Home

As this installation demonstrates, the hot tub has assumed its rightful role as one of the great elements of contemporary landscape design. But the beauty and fun of a hot tub is equalled by its healthfulness. Physicians recommend turbulent warm waters for a range of maladies including stress and insomnia.

There's nothing new about the pleasures and therapeutic benefits of soaking in a tub of soothing, hot water

For centuries the Romans, Greeks, Egyptians, Turks and Japanese used hot baths to cleanse their bodies and to relax and commune with friends and family.

Today, hot tubs and spas are again heating up for a growing legion of aficionados from coast to coast. In fact, there's a hot tub or spa to suit everyone's tastes. Spas come in all shapes and sizes and are usually constructed of fiberglass or pneumatically-applied concrete. In contrast, hot tubs are self-supporting structures made of wood—like cedar, mahogany or redwood.

In a matter of weeks you can convert a spare room, backyard or an unoccupied nook into your own Garden of Eden. The secret is choosing and blending design elements to achieve the desired effect.

Mild climates make it easy to install a spa or tub outside, but living in a cold climate won't limit your options. Any number of locations indoors or out can be used to create a year-round setting for your hot tub or spa.

A glass porch enclosure makes an ideal greenhouse for plants while it helps to heat the water in and air around the spa.

A screened-in patio with sliding glass doors does double-duty as an enclosed structure in the winter that opens up in the summer. An air-inflated plastic enclosure covers the spa or tub for winter bathing and comes off in warm weather.

Another option is to install a portable spa or hot tub which can be moved indoors during cold weather. All that's required to install most portable spas is an acceptable location and an electrical outlet. During warmer months, place your spa or hot tub inside a latticed gazebo or make it the focal point in a narrow or small garden using plant materials and decking for contrasting effect.

If you already own a pool or are contemplating a pool purchase, consider an outdoor spa and pool combination, which is ideal for warmer climates. Install a hot tub or spa in a forest-like setting at the end of your pool or directly beside it and you can take an invigorating swim, then relax and soak in the bubbly hot water of your spa or tub.

Don't forget the landscaping around the spa/hot tub site. Outdoor entertainment deck or patio areas with contrasting tile, boulders, brick or wood, complement the spa and hot tub, as do selective plantings.

Wood, flagstone, creek stones or exposed aggregate walking surfaces create a natural setting. Tile, masonry or textured concrete lend themselves more to formality.

Indoors, space for a spa can be made by adding or remodeling a bedroom, den or living room.

Mr. & Mrs. David Harden (left) President of Harden Furniture Co. and Mr. & Mrs. Paul Ingalls (right) Michigan Sales Representative for Harden are shown discussing plans for showing the new Harden Solid Oak collection with Mr. Howard Draper, President of Draper's Fine Furniture.

The Harden Furniture Company, established in 1865 in upper New York State long-known for beautifully handcrafted furniture in solild cherry and upholstered furniture, has just completed a 200,000 square foot addition to their factory to produce a new solid oak collection. Mr. & Mrs. Howard Draper recently returned from a preview tour of the new facility and to quote Mr.

Draper "It's the finest and most modern furniture factory I have ever visited." Mr. Draper has been a major dealer of Harden furniture for several years and is very pleased to be selling the new collection which he will have on display at his store by early fall. Mr. Draper invites everyone interested in fine furniture to come into his store and receive a new 188 page Harden catalog.

Royal Dalton Heritage '84 at Jacobson's:

Entertaining the British Way

A curiosity for what the "Royals" wear, buy and eat seems to be not only a British preoccupation, but an international one.

Inspired by and hand-in-hand with Heritage '84, a year-long British Tourist Authority program promoting travel to Britain, Royal Doulton is proud to proclaim its British heritage and celebrate its years of ceramic tradition dating back to the 18th century.

Ethel G. Hofman, noted European trained gourmet cook, home economist, nutritionist, food stylist and writer, will appear at Jacobson's Grosse Pointe on Tuesday, May 8, 2 to 4 p.m.

She will demonstrate the art of food presentation on Royal Doulton china using recipes from The Royal Cookery Book by Mrs. McKee, cook to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II. The Royal Cookery Book is the only book to be published by a Royal servant with the permission of Her Majesty the Queen.

This unique book presents original recipes developed for individual members of the Royal Family along with anecdotes about them. A wealth of recipes include soups, fish, meat, fowl, sauces, vegetables, salads, puddings, cakes, special occasion dishes and menu suggestions.

Food may provide a reason to socialize, but it is the way it is presented that creates a successful social occasion constituting entertainment.

Royal Doulton has been setting tables, from castles to cottages, since 1815, and will launch a major celebration of British heritage in 15 cities across the country commencing on May 1 with a sweeping program of instore events, activities and contests.

CASTLES TO COTTAGES:

The British Influence in Home Furnishings

"Oh to be in England, now that April's there" ... Instead of leaving home, those with sentimental yearnings towards the Old Country and its gracious lifestyle, will find much to delight them at Jacobson's Store for the Home in Grosse Pointe. Enter through the Georgian doorways to a world of things-British, a promotion called "Castles to Cottages." It features an integrated blend of furniture and accessories displayed to give that to-the-manner-born ambience to the rooms of a castle ... or a cottage.

Queen Anne wing chairs in tiny-print damask are shown alongside a traditional arm sofa, often in quilted floral prints of timeless elegance. Superbly finished leather wing chairs with matching ottoman, look as though they have come straight from the oakpanelled library of some well-bred Lord and Lady.

Accent pieces sometimes have an antique appearance and combine remarkably well with contemporary shapes like figures in terra cotta.

The wonderful thing about these classically English styles is how they adapt to today's lifestyle. "The reason this style of furniture has survived the centuries is because it is ever-appropriate. It has proven its worth in every way," said Mr. Bill Lafer of Jacobson's. "The fabrics have a long life, the designs don't scream "fashion statement" at you. They have all the softness, comfort and familiarity of a lovingly cared-for, lived-in home. They make any room warm and welcoming the minute they are put in place... whether in a castle or a cottage."

To see a "Castle" living room in all its grandeur, visit the Junior League's Designer Show House at 111 Lake Shore Road during May.

Jacobson's Interior Design studio has put together the majestic living room, done in cream with a rich, deep raspberry color picked-up from the embassy-sized, antique Oriental rug covering the floor. The room features important pieces from Baker Furniture's Stately Homes Collection, including a new secretary that will make its Detroit debut in the room.

Investing in storm windows?

Add solar screens to make them save energy all year

Thousands of homeowners install storm windows and doors each year. If you are one of those planning on investing in storm windows this season, here's a tip on how to make sure that the storm windows you buy will be year-round energy savers.

THE SECRET behind Sun-Screen® solar screens is this unique patented mesh, which blocks up to 70 percent of the sun's heat and glare.

Instead of conventional insect screens that usualy come on most storm windows and cover only the bottom half of the window, specify that your storm windows be equipped with a full screen made of SunScreen[®] solar screening.

This way, you'll get a window that will help you keep the heat inside during winter months and outside during summer months. And, you'll have a storm window that will pay for itself much faster in the form of lower heating and cooling bills.

How much faster? Well, a survey done by a Houston, Texas utility company a few years ago showed an estimated pay-back period for storm windows to be from about 10 to almost 30 years, depending on whether you install them yourself or hire a contractor.

on whether you install them yourself or hire a contractor.

The same survey showed that solar screens could pay for themselves on summer energy costs alone in two to three years, even if contractor-installed. These screens block up to 70 percent of the sun's heat and glare for "instant" comfort on a bright sunny day.

day.

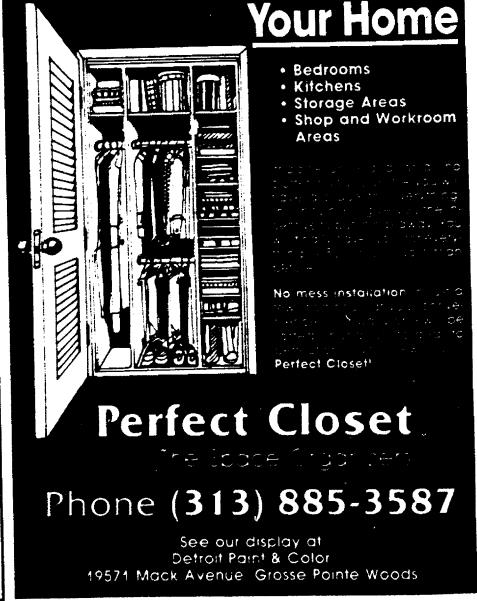

The pay-back on a storm window equipped with a full-length SunScreen solar screen should be considerably shorter than that for a conventional storm window alone.

storm window alone.

By "piggy-backing" the two products together, you'll save on installation costs and have a window that is year-round energy efficient.

If full solar radiation is desirable on some windows, for example, south-facing windows, the solar screens can be removed and stored during winter months.

For additional information on Sun-Screen solar screening, contact Phifer Wire Products, Inc., P.O. Box 1700, Tuscaloosa, AL 35403. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Make a Lasting Impression with Plants and Flowers

If you haven't stopped to smell the roses for a while, you may be surprised. The rose you stop to smell may well be artificial, so real in looks that only the nose knows for sure.

In the last ten years, sales of artifical plants and flowers have more than tripled, winning acceptance of homemakers, and overcoming the negative image of that plastic geranium stuck into a white pot. A wide variety of single flowers, arrangements, trees, plants and hanging plants are flooding the marketplace, many of them coming from the Far East, Italy and Honolulu.

The breakthrough came in the evolution of quality materials . . . silk for flowers and polyester for plants and trees . . . and in the technological developments resulting in better design and colors.

Some tips in choosing artificial flowers and plants:

and plants:

• Buy first with color in mind, using the flowers to pick-up the accent color in the room, just as would be done with an accessory. Scale, too, is important, using the bigger plants and trees as verticals.

• Do not mix fresh and artificial flowers. If you put water in the vase, you ruin the stems of the artificial flowers, and the rust hurts the real flowers. However, artificial and real plants can be mixed, creating the impression that all are real.

• If you cannot afford an entire arrangement of silk flowers, buy what you can, and gradually add to the arrangement, taking them back to the store or florist for help with the arranging.

One Piece Vinyl Flooring

A high-performance resilient vinyl flooring product that can be installed in one piece over all kinds of surfaces without an adhesive, even by "all-thumbs" do-it-yourselfers, has been introduced by Mannington Mills.

Called "Acclaim," the durable, no-wax product is so pliable and flexible that it lies smooth and flat even after crumpling. It can serve for years in one room, it lies that even after crumpling. It can serve for years in one room, then be lifted, folded and stored like a blanket, and later re-installed over old or

Ease of installation is another feature of the new product. "Acclaim" can be cut with regular household scissors rather than the special knives or tools needed to install most other sheet vinyl flooring on the market, the manufacturer says.

It's the perfect solution in perking up that kitchen, and even the bathroom . . . particularly if you are paying rent and may want to take your new floor along with you when you next move.

5. Using a 2×4 or some other heavy straightedge, press the flooring into the wall/floor juncture along the walls to form a crease. Then, with a sharp utility knife, cut in the crease to trim away excess flooring. Leave about ¼-inch between the edge of the flooring and the wall for normal expansion and contraction of the sub-floor. Mouldings or base coving will cover the quarter-inch gap.

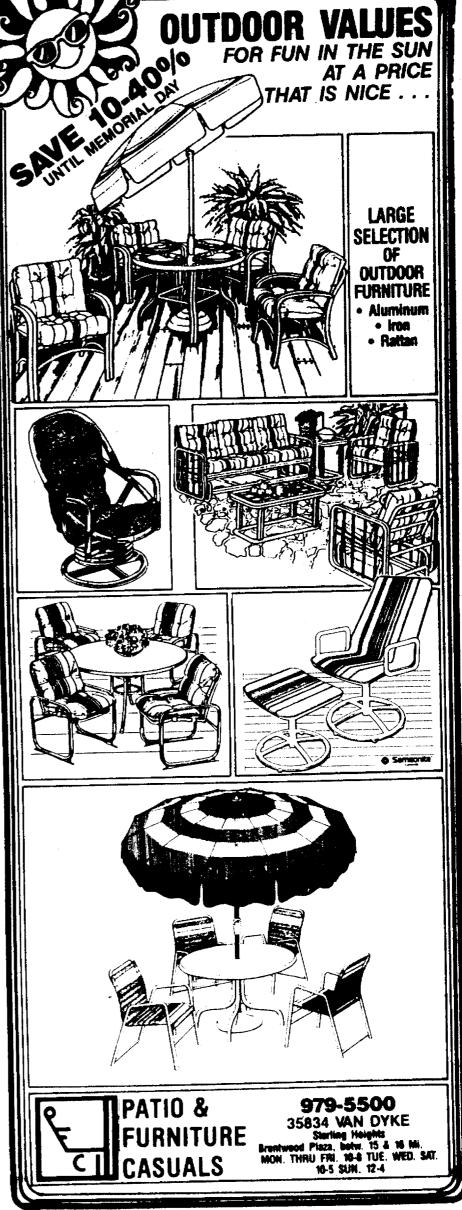

7. Slip the flooring into the cut notches in door casings.

6. Using a piece of scrap flooring underneath saw as a thickness guide, cut away 1/8-inch notch from all door casings.

8. When finished with floor installation, replace all mouldings or coving.

Pre-planning is the Key to a Successful Garden

Are you one of those persons who always thinks about planting a garden, orders the seed catalogs, dreams of the taste of fresh tomatoes, radishes and corn, but never gets around to actually putting in the garden because it just seems too difficult? Well, take heart. Here are a few tips that will get you up and going.

It's not difficult to plant a garden, but you do have to organize, plan ahead, and learn how to handle your weeds, diseases, soil insects, and nematodes.

The first thing you need to do is decide how big you want the garden to be, and what vegetables you want to plant. Make sure you leave enough space between plants and between rows. One common mistake novice gardeners make is to crowd too many plants into too small an area.

The National Garden Bureau recommends dividing a 20 ft. by 15 ft. garden into five beds, each two feet wide. This allows for one-foot walkways between the rows.

Next decide where on your property is the best location for the garden. Take into consideration direction of the sun, shade from surrounding trees, proper moisture and soil type.

The soil should be able to hold water for at least a week. Sandy soil requires continuous watering and is generally not a good soil type for a garden.

Starting your vegetable garden with a soil free of weeds, diseases and insects is the best way to insure bumper harvests. The use of a soil fumigant, which is a chemical solution, allows you to start a garden in clean soil.

Tips on Determining Home Mortgage Rates

by Mark Mudge, Colonial Federal Savings and Loan Assoc.

One of the most important decisions you will have to make after your attorney has reviewed your offer to purchase a home and the acceptance by the seller, will be how to finance your purchase.

The costs that are normally associated with obtaining a mortgage are as

- Credit report and appraisals
- Origination, closing, commitment or application fee, generally 2% to 3% of amount borrowed or a minimum charge by lender of approximately $900.00
- Recording fees $20.00 Survey fee $75.00
- Mortgage Title Insurance policy, approximately .2% of amount borrowed
- Escrow closing fee & documentation preparation fee $100.00
 • Private Mortgage Insurance, if
- the loan is over 80%, generall 12% to 1% of amount borrowed and renewal fee of 1/4 of 1%.

The lender will determine if your income is sufficient to make the payments on your mortgage. The qualifying ratio of principal and interest constant, plus 1/12 of taxes and insurances to normal gross monthly income will range from 25 to 28%. For example if you make $24,000.00 per year \div 12 or $2,000.00 per month, the house payment should be no greater than $500.00 to $560.00.

The lender will also apply an overall debt (house payment + payments over 8 months remaining) ratio. Generally 33 to 38% (using above example $660.00 to $760.00.)

Since there are many mortgage alternatives available today you should try several lenders to determine the various plans. The principle questions on a fixed rate mortgage will be rate, term and amount of origination, commitment, application and closing fees.

Many area lenders are offering a promotional first year rate on a variable rate mortgage (ARM, AML). The key questions to be asked in this case are:

- Amount of origination, committment, or application fee and closing fee?
- How often does the rate change?
- The maximum percentage or amount of change in any one year? What index is used and the amount of index margin?
- Is there a minimum or maximum overall interest rate?

There are also many alternatives in financing, such as Buy-down, VA, FHA, Blends, Wrap arounds, Land contracts, Graduated payments, Growing equity and Balloon mortgages. Your real estate agent or local lender may be of great assistance in tailoring a plan to suit your needs.

Aluminum Siding Minimizes Expensive Exterior Maintenance

Aluminum siding provides an attractive and durable finish to your home exterior. It will withstand harsh weather conditions, including extreme temperatures and high winds, without cracking, chipping or peeling.

Just as the coming of spring is predictable, so is the frequent repainting of your home. Aluminum siding can reduce the time consuming task of repainting as well as save money for years to come.

The main advantages of aluminum are durability, versatility and quality.
Unlike wood siding, which requires repainting every two to four years, the baked on or laminated finish of high quality aluminum siding is warranted to last decades. Aluminum siding will pro-vide clean, strong lines and vibrant colors for many years.

Aluminum, though one of the lightest structural metals, is also very strong. Because of this, aluminum siding withstands harsh weather conditions, including extreme temperatures and high winds, without cracking, chipping or peeling.

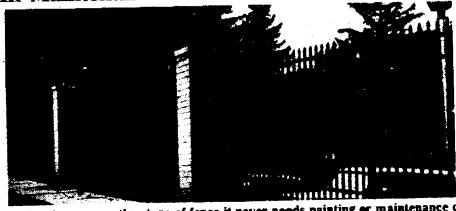

Once you have re-sided your home with aluminum you have minimized expensive future maintenance. Aluminum doesn't require scraping, priming or painting. The only maintenance your siding may require is occasional spraying with a hose to remove accumulated dir

Aluminum siding also offers the versatility of finishes. It comes in a variety of colors to suit any type of architecture or personal preference. The colors of aluminum siding vary from pastels and deep reds, to blues, greens, browns, earth tones and white.

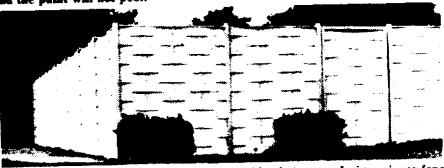

In addition to numerous color choices, aluminum siding has a wide range of styles (vertical and horizontal siding, shakes, etc.) and can be obtained in many different panel widths and em-bossed textures, from smooth to a grained texture that resembles rough-sawn wood. To complete the exterior decoration of your home, aluminum offers a complete line of accesories such as soffit and fascia, gutters and downspouts, shutters, coil for custom window trim, awnings, railings, and even columns.

Beauty Of Ornamental Fencing In Maintenance Free Aluminum

Unlike almost any other type of fence it never needs painting or maintenance of any kind. An occasional hosing will keep the fence looking fresh and bright. Scrapes and minor damage caused by collisions with household and garden items need not cause alarm since the aluminum beneath the paint is unaffected by the weather, and the paint will not peel.

It is now possible to have a distinctive beautiful basket weave design privacy fence that will require so maintenance. The massive anodized aluminum extrusions commble-thick baked enamel aluminum panels give lasting protection that withstands weather and use. It is available in a variety of heights and colors that ever need painting. The construction makes it an easy do-it-yourself installation.

Planning, preparation and product selection . . .

The three "P's" are the key to house painting and staining

If you're like most do-it-yourselfers, this time of the year finds you with more questions than you have answers for. What paint do I use for my bedroom? Which wallpaper is easiest to use? What is the best outside temperature that I may begin

If you have a home improvement project to tackle this Spring, Painters Supply & Equipment is a good name to know. Whether you're painting the house inside or out, finishing an old piece of furniture, or resurfacing a patio deck, their experienced staff has the answers. It's good to know that you have a friend in the paint business. Professional advice is just a phone call away. See ad on page 10.

Saving Energy in the Spring

Most homeowners think of saving energy during the fall and winter of the year. But what most homeowners do not realize, is that saving energy in the home is very important in the spring.

During the winter months in Michigan, most homeowners spend money on energy cutting measures whether they just "dial down" on their thermo-stats, or install elaborate recuperative heating systems.

The spring makes people think of the outdoors, so there isn't that urgency to conserve energy. Yet, proportionally some homes have a higher factor of energy waste in the spring than in the winter. This is the time that you should look at your electrical costs and see how you reduce them.

The spring is a good time to get some very good deals on "winter type" items that contractors are trying to sell. Some of these winter items can save electricity through lowering cooling costs. Consider installing attic insula-tion, roof vents, or a power ventilator. You'll find that most prices are discounted during the spring, and help reduce your cooling load. Other items that can reduce your electrical costs are an Interruptible Service Change and a Central Air Conditioning Start Up. Most electric utilities are giving a discount to homeowners who install an Interruptible Service Change for their central air conditioning.

An Interruptible Service Change can be installed by an electrical contractor, and most heating and air conditioning contractors are adding it to their list of service. The equipment consists of another electric meter, and usually a circuit breaker box. The central air conditioning is hooked into this separate meter and the metered rate is billed to the customer at a lower billed to the customer at a lower kilowatt per hour charge. This can substantially reduce your summer bill for electricity, while giving you a separate accounting for air condition-

Spring is also a good time to get air Spring is also a good time to get air conditioning equipment started up and checked. Most contractors offer this service at a set price. One important thing to look at when choosing a contractor for your start up is that they are actually doing something for the money they charge. For less than $50.00, a homeowner should be able to get their blower motor oiled, and the get their blower motor oiled, and the belts checked for wear and tension. Also, have the air filters checked, air clean the condensing coil, and oil the condensing motor. If the contractor is your usual contractor, when he starts the unit, make sure that he checks and records starting and running amps, and the temperature across the coil.

Remember, as you battle with higher utility bills, it will take a full year effort to reduce those bills.
