Promotion promo

As a former Marine, I'm loathe to do anything to help or bolster the Navy, but then again, it's hard to turn down somebody's mother.

Last week the Grosse Pointe News received a call from a Woods resident who was wondering if we had received any notification from the Pentagon about her son's recent promotion to Vice Admiral? When it does come, would we please publicize the promotion and could we also possibly include her name because "the Pentagon never gives you the name of anyone's mother."

Rather plaintive, that. Therefore, we are happy to announce that President Reagan has nominated Rear Admiral Robert E. Kirksey for promotion to Vice Admiral and has reassigned him to the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations. The announcement of his promotion was made by Secretary of Defense, Caspar Weinberger, on May 22.

A native of the Woods, Admiral Kirksey entered the Navy in 1948, was commissioned an ensign and designated a naval aviator in May, 1953. Among his other duties, Admiral Kirksey was a former commanding officer of the aircraft carrier "Kitty Hawk" and flew more than 200 combat missions over North Viet Nam. He holds the Distinguished Service Medal, Legion of Merit, Silver Star and Bronze Star with Combat "V".

Admiral Kirksey apparently belongs to a family of very high achievers. His brother is Jack E. Kirksey, a State Representative from Michigan's 35th district.

And they both owe it all to, (and about time), their mother, Mrs. Florence E. Kirksey, and the late Lester Kirksey, of Brys Drive.

Let's all give her a "well done."

Postage past due

It's amazing how things find their way to this newspaper. Anne Mulherin, who works in the Classified ad section of the Grosse Pointe News, brought in a postcard this week.

It was found in a magazine that was recently delivered to her mother who lives in St. Clair Shores. It was addressed to a gentleman in Grosse Pointe Woods, on Hollywood Road, to be exact.

Not only was it delivered to the wrong address, it was dated November 27, 1963. That's 21 years ago, folks.

The postcard was from a doctor, (sorry, I just cannot decipher the name), reminding this Woods resident it was time for his annual check up. It was accompanied by phone number.

I called the number and was told firmly that it was not a doctor's office. I then tried calling the man the postcard was addressed to. Yes, after all these years he was still in the book.

When I called, I was informed the number was disconnected. Not a good sign. I then called a next door neighbor who told me the gentleman had passed away Ten years ago.

Yeah, he probably died waiting for that postcard

School Wars—It's up to voters

By Susan McDonald
Judgement day is just around the corner.

Finally, after a year of controversy that has divided neighborhoods, churches and even some families, the public will have its say on the Great School Wars of 1983-84.

The election next Monday, June 11, is billed as a referendum on the performance of soon-departing Supt. Kenneth Brummel, his plan to close schools because of enrollment declines and the popularity of five incumbent school board trustees, three of whom face the first recall in Grosse Pointe history.

No issue has piqued such public interest in the schools since the cross-district bussing fights of the 1960's. Bumper stickers urging "yes" or "no" votes are glued to cars in every parking lot in the community. Leaflets are dropped on every door, phone calls made to every house and, for the first time, ads are appearing on cable television for a local candidate, Joan Hanpeter, whose organization bought 80 spots on Cable Network News, USA, ESPN and MTV.

The candidates and the community have organized around two groups. The Committee for Responsible Government (formerly Committee for Neighborhood Elementary Schools) supports the recall and opposes elementary school closings. Its members steadfastly predict that a mini-baby boom is on its way to Grosse Pointe to replace some of the almost 50 percent decline in enrollment since 1972. They have variously endorsed closing a middle school or North High School, which spokesman Kramer Foster said would make a good junior college. He made his statement on cable television's "People with Erv Steiner" show.

The Responsible Government group is working to recall Catherine Briery, Jon Gandelot and Ernest Buechler, who voted with the majority last Nov. 14 to close Barnes Elementary School and transfer sixth graders to middle school. And the group has endorsed the candidacies of William Browncombe and incumbent Roger Mourad, the only trustee to vote against the reorganization plan.

On the other side is CARE (Citizens Against the Recall Effort) which is supporting school board president Mrs. Hanpeter and newcomer Fred Adams. CARE opposes the recall of the three trustees. The group argues that closing schools reflects sound fiscal management in light of the enrollment decline from 13,500 in 1972 to 7,500 this year. It warns that if its opposition is successful the school board could have five new members by the end of this summer who have little experience in directing the $38 million a year public school operation.

The fight has involved more citizens than any other issue in recent memory and many members of the professional staff have jumped in as well. The teachers' union, part of the National Education Association, has not taken a formal stand on the issues because its "membership is divided," said president James Garlough. Several teachers have taken an active role in the recall drive, while others have privately worked to support current board members.

Garlough noted that the controversy has opened up a forum for staff members to air their grievances on a number of issues — besides the school closings.

"You get an issue like this that creates public sentiment and then it draws other issues along with it, piggy-back," Garlough said. "It gives people with a gripe a forum to express their views in. Their comrades will at least listen to them." Teachers have complained about pay disputes, the new seven-period day at the high school, and what they call the board's tendency to ignore their input on policy and curriculum matters.

The head of the recall organization, David Easlick, Jr., said his group aims to take over a majority of the school board by late summer so it can reverse the board's decision to close Barnes and transfer sixth graders. He calls neighborhood elementary schools the "cornerstone" of education in Grosse Pointe. And his group predicts that if Barnes is allowed to close, other elementary schools will follow.

But the three recall targets have all agreed to at least a two-year moratorium on school closings. They defended their votes on the reorganization plan by saying it would help children at both the elementary and middle school level. Enrollment at Barnes was so low (190 children that only one class was offered at most grade levels and there were several split classes with students from two grades in one room. The low numbers severely limited flexibility in grouping students according to their level of skills, it cut into the school's ability to offer extra activities and gave administration no escape in cases where particular students and teachers did not work well together.

The candidates for two seats on the school board have met in several public forums, including one last week, sponsored by the League of Women Voters, at the war Memorial.

Incumbent Mourad, a 52-year old attorney completing his first term on the board, argued against the transfer of sixth graders and closing of elementary schools and launched an attack on the board's recent decision to lease property in front of Richard Elementary School to the city of Grosse Pointe Farms, which plans to use it for parking. He said the board got a bad deal, receiving only $50,000 for a 15-year lease on land worth $500,000. Mourad himself had abstained from the vote on the issue.

Mrs. Hanpeter, of the Park, who has served 12 years on the board, defended the reorganization and

Memorial is Monday for late John Lake

By Susan McDonald
It's a cliché, but in this instance the simple truth. An era passed in Grosse Pointe with the death last Thursday of John W. Lake.

As the first director of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, Mr. Lake guided the center through decades of growth. And the center, in turn, molded Grosse Pointe's cultural, social and entertainment life as the five communities grew in the post-war era.

John Lake set the style and it was one that marked the lives of many people in this town.

"When I think of John, I think of quiet charm and old world courtesy," said Mrs. Alger Shelden, whose husband hired Mr. Lake away from his South High history memorial service for Mr. Lake which will be held on Monday, June 11, at 4 p.m. on the lakeside lawn of the War Memorial.

The center was John Lake's life and "his family" according to long-time friend Marge Richardson.

"He really had no family, not even a cousin, except his mother who died several years ago," Mrs. Richardson said. "His only family was the War Memorial."

Alex Sucek, a War Memorial director, recalled Mr. Lake "ran the center like it was his own palace."

"He was the host and he made sure every detail was right. He was there for every major event. It was just fantastic what was accomplished during his time," Sucek said.

Mr. Lake lived at the War Memorial for several years after his mother's death and returned to his Lancaster home after his retirement in 1981. He died there at age 67 after a long illness.

Mr. Lake was a native of Webster Grove, Mo. and that is where he was interred. He received his Bachelor's degree from Principia College and Master's from Washington University. He spent four years in the Army as a captain in the coast artillery.

He taught history, or what he once jokingly described as "mystery" at South High School for five years and served as class sponsor, assembly director and faculty advisor of the Hi-Y.

Memorial tributes may be made to the War Memorial or the John Lake Scholarship Fund at the center.

class in 1952 to direct the center, which had been donated to the community by the Alger family.

"He had a love and a fundamental knowledge of opera, art... all the lovely things. The aim of the center from the start was to add a certain cultural dignity to Grosse Pointe. John made a very great contribution," Mrs. Shelden said.

When Mr. Lake took over reins of the then-new War Memorial, its programs included "a bunch of teas for women's groups," he once said. The list of activities now numbers in the hundreds and touches all ages. He presided over them all — Viennese Balls, European cruises, ground breakings, karate classes and high school proms — always making sure every detail was right.

He was at the center of Grosse Pointe social life and, as a single man, was always in great demand as an escort. But it was not just in a formal setting or on a dance floor that John Lake excelled. He worked closely with young people and today several members of the center's board of directors who met Mr. Lake when they were teens attest to his gift with youth.

Cameras film The Rich and Famous

By Tom Greenwood
Three mansions and a yacht were "Beta-Scanned" in the Pointe this week. Actually, it's not as radioactive as it sounds.

A BetaScan is a very small, completely self contained state-of-the-art videocamera fully capable of being utilized for television programs.

Programs such as "Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous," seen at 11 p.m. Saturdays on Channel 50, showing you and me how the "R and F" live.

The husband and wife team of Martin Trainor and Kay Richards, of "Airtime, International" were in the Pointe this week filming at mansions on Provençal and Lakeshore Roads, plus a yacht owned by D.J. Kennedy of the Farms.

"The program 'Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous' originates in California, but they film all over the country," said Ms. Richards, in a telephone interview. "We represent them here in the Midwest and in Canada. What we do basically is take viewers on a tour of the homes featured on our show. We shot one home on Provençal and two on Lakeshore. All the owners have requested anonymity."

Embattled tax protester Stuart Crane, of Cloverly Road, received a bit of good news last week when a Wayne County Circuit Court jury returned $112,000 in cash and silver to the Farms resident that was confiscated from his home when state U.S. Treasury agents raided it in December, 1980.

In that raid, which was highly publicized, treasury agents seized hundreds of pre-1964 silver coins, 53 South African gold Kruggerands, an 85 pound bar of pure silver and Crane's 1979 Cadillac El Dorado.

It has always been Crane's contention that the coins and silver bar belonged to his mother, who was terminally ill at the time of the raid.

After a one-week trial, preceeded by a week of evidentiary hearings, a jury appearing before Circuit Court Judge Thomas Rounell agreed with Crane and ruled the confiscated goods should be returned to him as his mother's heir.

"Mr. Crane is pleased to see things starting to turn around for him," said Crane's attorney, John Carlisle. "He expects more positive results from here on in with his litigation."

After the raid, the state charged Crane with 17 counts of tax fraud, 15 involving withholding taxes and two counts of cigaret taxes.

At that time, tax officials estimated Crane owed the state from between "one quarter and half a million dollars in taxes and interest" and that he probably "also owed at least that much to the federal government."

On his part, Crane admitted withholding taxes, saying "the state had robbed him of $30,000 in rent receipts for the housing of welfare recipients and ex-mental patients" at his Detroit based Pallister and Riveria Motels. Crane said he "withheld taxes to deduct what was owed him."

In December, 1983, a Wayne County jury found Crane guilty of 15 counts of tax fraud. He was found innocent of two counts of withholding cigaret taxes. He was subsequently sentenced to three years probation by Recorder's Court Judge Warfield Moore, Jr. Crane has indicated he will appeal the decision.

In April, 1984, the U.S. Department of Justice indicted Crane on four charges of tax evasion, obstruction of justice and making false declarations before a grand jury.

Crane's trial is expected to begin sometime this month and is expected to last "several months," according to his attorney.

When asked for a comment on the decision, a tax official for Michigan downplayed the recent jury decision saying "it was more of a victory for Crane's mother than for him." The official said the decision to return the property wouldn't have any effect on Crane's state conviction or on his upcoming trial in federal court.

The official said Crane would have to pay inheritance taxes on the recovered property, which would amount to about one-sixth its value.

Unlocked door leads to rape

By Harriet Nolan
A 60-year-old Grosse Pointe Park woman was raped and robbed at 8:30 a.m. on Monday, June 4, by an intruder who probably got into the home through an unlocked door, said Grosse Pointe Park Police Chief Henry Coonce.

The woman told police her husband had already left for work at 5:30 a.m. and she was house cleaning. When she went to her kitchen to empty some trash, she met a man coming in her side door.

He had a large knife and said he wouldn't hurt her if she did what he said, said Coonce. He raped her, took her money and jewelry, and then stole her Cadillac which was later recovered.

A suspect has already been identified and is being sought, according to Coonce who said he is also wanted by the City of Detroit on burglary charges.

The assailant was described as a 25-year-old, 135-pound black male. He was 5 feet 9 inches tall, has a medium length afro and possibly a mustache. He was wearing a brown shirt and dark pants.

Coonce said police found no signs of forced entry into the home located among other gracious brick residences. The woman was admitted to Bon Secours Hospital and released.

Judgement Day is June 11

used her three-minute closing argument to campaign against the recall of her fellow board members.

She said if the recall is successful and both incumbents are knocked out of office, the school system could end up with five new board members overseeing the $38 million budget. Her remarks brought the greatest applause of the night.

Adams, 73, of the City, is a former executive at Packard Motor Car Company, American Motors and Department of Housing and Urban Development in Washington, D.C. He supports the re-organization and argues against the prediction of a mini-baby boom. Adams said when he was in Washington last month he checked population predictions compiled by the U.S. Department of Commerce that said in 1980 there were 720,000 persons between the ages of 5 and 9 in Michigan. The department predicts that number will drop to 706,000 by 1990 and to 654,000 by the year 2000.

"It's great to be optimistic, but you can take optimism too far," Adams told the forum audience.

Brownscombe, a 37-year-old dentist who lives in the City, has been most active in the recall campaign as an organizer of the Committee for Neighborhood Elementary Schools. He argued that elementary schools could be kept open if class sizes were lowered from their current 22 students to 17 or 18 per room. The move could cost an estimated $2 million to hire the extra teachers needed.

"Is that too much to pay for? I don't think so," Brownscombe said. He also criticized the board's recent action to replace the Talented And Gifted program at elementary schools with a new program that will be narrowed down to help students whose tests show they are at the upper levels, intellectually. "It's not right to take away programs without giving back," he said.

Robert Radnick, 41, of the Woods, is the fifth candidate for school board. He is an assistant Wayne County prosecutor and his platform has been straightforward. He opposes closing any schools. But, he adds, if the voters decide June 11 that they do not want schools closed they will soon have to answer another question: how much will they pay to keep all schools open?

'Ladies Night' at Men's Garden Club

The Men's Garden Club of Grosse Pointe will hold its annual "Ladies Night" at Brownell Middle School on Thursday evening, June 14, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Guest speaker will be Jean B. Rice, a Woods Councilwoman, who will speak on "The Beautification of the Pointes." Ms. Rice is the Woods representative to the Wayne County Block Grant Planning Commission, with memberships in the Harper Woods Garden Club, Grosse Pointe Women's Club and Society of Engineers' Wives.

Guests are welcome to attend.

City AARP meets

The Grosse Pointe City chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons No. 3430 will meet Monday, June 11, at 12:30 p.m. at the Neighborhood Club.

An indoor-outdoor picnic will highlight the meeting by featuring typical American-style picnic food. The charge for the lunch will be $2.50 per person.

Following the picnic there will be cash prizes awarded to winners in the bingo games. An additional $1 will be charged to those wishing to participate in the bingo playing. Members and guests are welcome.

Working for Reagan

All in the (Durant) family

By Harriet Nolan

Three Pointers have been appointed to key positions in Michigan's Reagan-Bush 1984 re-election campaign and one of them is a woman who has twice been president of the Woman's Republican Club and is currently a precinct delegate.

Nancy Heenan, of the Farms, has been appointed honorary chairman of the 14th District. Other appointees include Richard Durant and his son, W. Clark Durant III, as honorary chairman and co-chairman of the 13th District respectively.

Their tasks are to coordinate campaign activities in their areas, including the June 9 Reagan Round-Up where volunteers will go door-to-door as part of a state-wide canvass identifying supporters who aren't registered to vote. Follow-up efforts will then be made to have these prospective voters registered before the deadline.

Mrs. Heenan is no newcomer to politics. She married into a family well-known for staunch Republican support. Her husband, Earl I. Jr., is Richard Durant's brother-in-law, and the brother of Palmer Heenan, Grosse Pointe Park Mayor.

She says she been politically active for 46 years which coincides with her marriage. "But my background was such that it wasn't very difficult to become active. I think I would have ended up doing that anyway."

She remembers her father as being "violently against Franklin Roosevelt, even though he himself was a social worker in charge of community funds in New York."

"He felt very bad in the 1930s the way the government was taking over the social welfare program," says Mrs. Heenan of her father. "He thought it should be in the voluntary sector and that wasn't what taxes should pay for."

"We're getting more and more into socialism today and Reagan needs four more years to really get his programs going. He wants to cut down on government spending and send a lot of responsibility back to the states, which is right," she adds.

Mrs. Heenan says that Reagan has been "completely maligned in his treatment of women and as 'not a feminist' she believes in his thinking."

"Women have all the rights and privileges now and only have to get out and work for them. I've never had any trouble and a lot of businesswomen feel that way," she adds.

She believes in equal pay for equal work but also believes that while men and women are equal mentally, they're not equal physically. As such women should not be treated as equal in jobs that require strength.

She believes bastions steeped in male or female traditions should be allowed status quo. She's for freedom of choice and that means clubs, schools and colleges shouldn't be forced to open their doors to everyone if they don't choose to.

"If ERA does pass, it will only end up in the courts because it's such a nebulous thing," says Mrs. Heenan. "It can cause great harm to women and a lot of them are waking up to this."

Anyone wishing to volunteer help for the Saturday afternoon Reagan Round-up can call their district leadership or phone Reagan-Bush Headquarters at 968-5060.

Brummel cuts budget: taxes may rise 4.89%

By Susan McDonald

Supt. Kenneth Brummel cut more than $200,000 out of his proposed 1984-85 budget before it was presented last week at a public hearing attended by some 14 persons. The spending plan calls for a 4.87 percent increase in taxes next year, although the rate may change depending on the outcome of on-going contract negotiations with two employe groups, Brummel said.

The budget will finance several new programs, including beefed-up computer education at all levels, the addition of a seventh period at the high schools and a new health program. Some funds are also earmarked to increase school use of a local cable TV, although a $14,000 request for a mobile TV van for students' use was among the items eliminated after the school board ordered the budget reduced last month. Other small cuts were made in a variety of programs.

Per-pupil costs would rise, under the spending plan, to $4,949, up $414 compared to last year. Student-teacher ratios would be set at 22.9 in elementary classrooms, 19.2 in middle school and 18.7 in high school.

The budget reflects the first annual $115,000 savings from the closing of Barnes Elementary School next fall and $40,000 (a one-time only cost) for converting the school to its new use and moving the Instructional Materials Center, maintenance and community education departments to the school building.

The school board has grown accustomed to large crowds at its meetings. So when only 14 members of the public turned out for the public hearing on May 31, Brummel joked that he was "delighted to see the budget has caused such controversy."

Three members of the public commented on the spending plan during the hour-long hearing. All three, Jim Perry, Cindy Pangborn and Jeanne Bunn, have addressed the board at several recent meetings. Mrs. Bunn expressed concern about the board's plan to spend $7,500 to resurface the teachers' parking lot at Richard Elementary School. Ms. Pangborn repeated her often-made prediction that building inspectors will require the board to make "at least $100,000" worth of changes at Barnes school to make it accessible to handicapped persons.

Ben Zenn, the schools' director of support services, said he doubted if such changes will be required. But he acknowledged that he will not know for sure until after the facility is inspected.

The board is scheduled to give the budget its final approval at a Tuesday, June 12, meeting.

Bad brakes cause Mack pile-up

A broken brake line was the apparent cause of a four-car accident Friday afternoon on Mack Avenue south of Oxford in the Woods. Two people were injured.

Thelma Baxter, 65, and Thomas Knoche, 45, both of St. Clair Shores, were taken by ambulance to St. John Hospital. Both were released after treatment for minor injuries, reports said.

The incident began when Mrs. Baxter, driving a 1965 Dodge, struck the rear of Knoche's 1957 restored Chevrolet two-door, pushing his car into a third, driven by an 81-year-old Harper Woods man, police said.

Mrs. Baxter was able to get around Knoche's Chevy, which spun broadside in the middle of Mack, but struck the Harper Woods man's car, which had continued forward after the original impact.

Mrs. Baxter's Dodge pushed the third car for a short distance, then jumped the curb and struck a 1978 Pontiac, driven by a 65-year-old Grosse Pointe Shores woman. Mrs. Baxter's car then jumped the curb and drove along the median across the Fairholme crossover and struck a one-way sign. The vehicle continued forward until striking an Edison light pole, reports said.

Police originally believed the accelerator may have been depressed, because the vehicle traveled close to 240 feet after the original impact, according to reports. Mechanics later discovered the rear brake line on Mrs. Baxter's Dodge had broken, possibly because of corrosion, and caused brake failure, reports said.

Trio will perform Ukrainian chamber music

A program of classical Ukrainian chamber music, performed by the Brio Trio, will be given Sunday, June 10, at 6 p.m. at Parcels Middle School, 20600 Mack Avenue, Grosse Pointe Woods.

The program will offer authentic, original music from the pens of Ukrainian composers rarely heard in the United States. Music composed by Barvinsky, Kolessa, Lysenko, Zador, Artemovsky and others will be performed.

The Trio — Brian Schweickhardt, clarinet; Marcy Chanteaux, cello; Bernard Katz, piano — will be assisted by singers Christina Lypecky, mezzo soprano, and Yarema Cisaruk, baritone, who will augment the concert with arias and solo selections presented in the native tongue. One song features poetry by Taras Shevchenko, poet laureate of Ukraine.

The project, more than a year in the making, is a joint presentation of the Ukrainian Cultural Center, Avanti Concert Associates and WQRS-FM 105.

Tickets are $8 for general admission, $5 seniors and students, and are available at all Hudson's, Ticket World outlets, and the Ukrainian Cultural Center, 26601 Ryan Road, Warren. A reception with refreshments is open to all concertgoers.

Proceeds from the concert will benefit the Immaculate Conception Ukrainian Parochial Schools. Benefactors at $50, including two tickets, sponsors at $12.50, and boosters at $10 will have their names listed in the program and will receive the option of accepting preferred seating locations at the concert.

For more information, call the Ukrainian Cultural Center at 757-8130 during business hours, Jerry Duzey during business hours at 758-1050, Brian Schweickhardt at 863-1593 or Peter Radawick at 861-6666 or 865-9844.

Because of the difficulty of obtaining published chamber music from Ukrainian sources, it is thought that many of the selections will be receiving their first performance in this country. Katz has orchestrated several of the carefully selected works especially for the Brio Trio and this presentation.

Idiomatic compositional items such as the Kolomayka and the Shumka will be heard in addition to operatic excerpts and solo pieces for clarinet and cello.

Award-winning South High graduate

Fire claims life of young journalist

By Mike Androszczyk
 It took John Krieg less than two years after earning his journalism degree to become news editor of a daily newspaper, a job others take years to attain. He would have been with the Mt. Pleasant Morning Sun for one year this month.
 The 23-year-old South High alum's career ended last Thursday, May 31, in the smoke-filled hallway of the second floor of his downtown Mt. Pleasant apartment building. Friends and family gathered at St. Paul Roman Catholic Church for a Mass for the former City resident.
 South High school journalism instructor Robert Button remembered Krieg as "willing to go way beyond his responsibility to do what had to be done. It was his most admirable trait; to aggressively go out and find and cover the news as objectively as he could."
 As news editor of South's Tower newspaper in 1978, Krieg was given the Editor's Award, Button said. Also that year, Krieg was admitted to the Quill and Scroll Society for Scholastic Journalism as well as earning three commendations in the Detroit News Scholastic Writing Contest.
 A foreign exchange student to Germany in 1977, Krieg spent the summer of 1980 working on a special project writing filmstrip for the state's Department of Natural Resources' Michigan Magazine.

 From September of 1980 until the following April, Krieg was editor-in-chief of the bimonthly tabloid Rhapsody, which served Michigan State University's residence halls. Also in 1981, he won the Leon M. Abbott Scholarship from the MSU School of Journalism for his superior work in journalism. Later that year, he worked as an intern, reporting for the South Haven Daily Tribune.
 In the summer of 1982, Krieg worked as a correspondent for the Lansing State Journal, covering college-related features for the paper. Later that year, he became a reporter for the state news, the university's daily newspaper. He worked his way up to layout editor and later copy editor. Also that year, Krieg was vice-president and newsletter editor of the MSU chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, the Society for Professional Journalists. Krieg was graduated that year from MSU, with a Bachelor's in journalism.
 In March last year, Krieg joined the Sturgis Journal, covering government and education for several small cities and villages. He was also undergraduate teaching assistant to the MSU school of journalism's summer and fall intern program.

 He moved to the Mt. Pleasant Morning Sun in June last year, working first as copy editor then night news editor. He moved into the news editor position in March, supervising a staff of 13 while directing news coverage, editing, layout and production.
 Mt. Pleasant public safety investigators are still trying to determine the cause and origin of the blaze last week. Personnel and equipment from five departments in Isabella County fought to quell the blaze, officials said. Five firefighters suffered minor injuries during the fire, which damaged the two apartments and offices on the second floor of the building as well as two first floor businesses.
 Mt. Pleasant police said Krieg was found in the hall outside his apartment, apparently overcome by the super-heated air from the fire. Police have yet to receive autopsy results.
 Krieg is survived by his parents, Dr. William H. and Dorothea Krieg; three brothers, Charles, William and James; and a sister Dorothea Ann.

Series is for older women

The Community Education Program at Northeast Guidance Center has created a series of programs to help women address the challenges of aging. The series, titled "The Older Woman: Double Jeopardy," helps women to understand and anticipate the dual issues of being female and being older, as well as to explore the options available to them in gaining skills to aid further growth and development.
 Using a support group format, the six-week program covers topics such as stereotypes of women, goals and supports, moods and stress, and identity.
 Women who have completed the program cited the support group format as extremely helpful in allowing the explanation of issues and expanding self-awareness. The group offers encouragement, feedback and suggestions toward goals and strategies for attaining goals. The series incorporates a number of techniques, including behavioral graphing, assertiveness training, goal planning and implementation, and stress management. The overall goal is to encourage women to seek growth and fulfillment, and to teach skills which may facilitate such growth.

 One participant said, "The course helped me get excited about solving problems."
 Mary Ann Collison, M.A., facilitates the Double Jeopardy group. The next session begins Wednesday, June 13, and meets weekly from 2 until 4 p.m. at Salem Memorial Church, 21230 Moross Road. The six-week series runs through July 25. Registration is limited, and can be reserved by calling Ms. Collison at Northeast Guidance Center, 824-8000, ext. 290.

Council says 'no' to project

By Harriet Nolan
 Grosse Pointe Park City Council unanimously said thanks, but no thanks, to the Wayne County Road Commission's proposal to widen traffic lanes at Mack and Cadieux.
 The county wanted to provide a center left turn lane on Mack Avenue and widen southbound Cadieux, south of Mack, according to Arthur E. Sundstrom, design engineer. As part of a 1983 Federal Aid Urban System funded program, the Park's financial input would have been $5,400 of the estimated $173,000 construction costs.

 However, the final product would have eliminated the greenbelt areas from Cadieux to Harvard on the Pointe side of Mack.
 Businessmen from Maskell Hardware and Elias Bros. Big Boy argued against approval. They said it would eliminate both esthetics and valuable parking spaces for surrounding businesses.

Opinions & letters

As the school vote nears . . .

Now that the school election campaign is winding down, getting out a large and representative vote on June 11 is being sought by both sides in the controversy over the closing of Barnes Elementary School and the shift of sixth graders into the middle schools.

Almost everyone agrees that the school reorganization controversy has prompted more discussion, more coverage by the print and broadcast media, more letters to the editor, more advertising, more campaign literature and more meetings than any other single issue in recent Grosse Pointe history.

BUT WHETHER THOSE evidences of interest will be translated into votes on June 11 is still difficult to predict. It is true more than 5,000 applications for absentee ballots had been picked up by last week, which is more than 10 times greater than the usual 300 requests for absentee ballots for a school election. And it is true that meetings at elementary, middle and high schools last fall drew as many as 700 to 800 people.

Yet only 14 people turned up for last week's board meeting to discuss the school budget for next year. Only 25 were present at the public meeting called by the consultant guiding the schools' search for a new superintendent. And fewer than 100 persons turned out for the candidates' forum sponsored by the League of Women Voters and the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

However, it is clear that the public has had ample opportunities to become well informed about the reorganization plan. One difficulty, however, is that not all of the parties involved agree on the facts. For example, there are predictions by the recall supporters that a new baby boom soon will fill the district's schools. They are countered by demographic information indicating no such boom is forecast for Michigan in the near future and by information from Superintendent Kenneth Brummel that predicts another 4 percent decline in school population next year and a 6 percent drop in elementary school enrollment.

In another example, a pro-recall school board candidate says he thinks the community would support the increased costs of keeping all schools open and lowering class size from the present 23 to 17 or 18. Perhaps he is right but he does not attach a price tag to such a proposal. Yet a review by the News indicates that such a reduction in class size could cost more than $2 million a year in additional teaching costs alone.

As for the costs of revamping Barnes for non-classroom use, there are widely divergent estimates. The board has set aside $41,000 in its 1984-85 budget for the renovation of Barnes and moving into that building the instructional materials center, the maintenance department and the community education department. Some board critics have talked about the shift costing the school system as much as $1 million.

In these and other examples that could be cited, the News tends to accept the figures provided by professionals whose job is to provide factual information to the administrative staff and the school board. They may not always be 100 percent accurate but it is their job to make estimates and forecasts based on past performance as well as the best information on costs and demographics that is available.

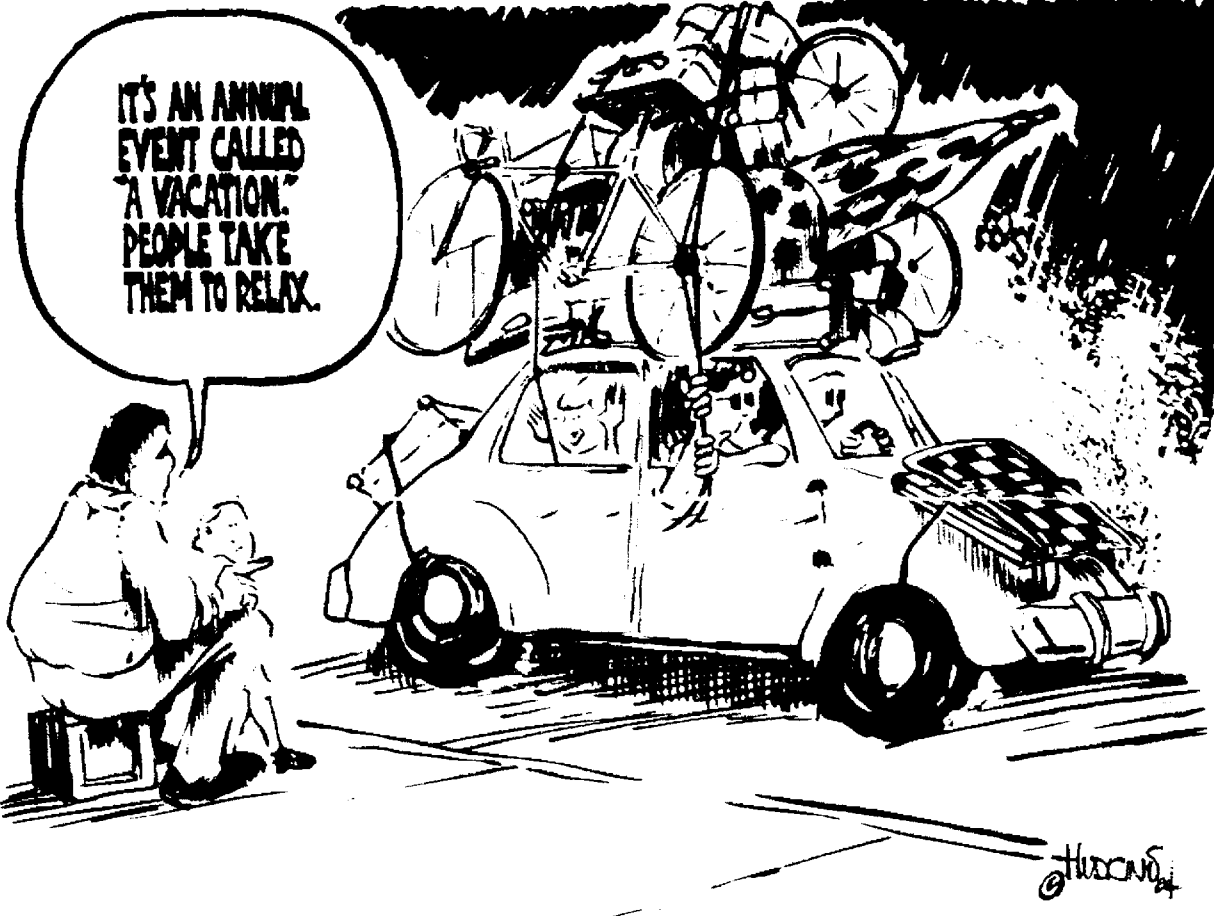

The problem is, at least in part, that the critics of the school board and its reorganization plan do not have any alternative plan on which they can agree. So some argue for doing nothing, either because the enrollment is going to rise anyway at some unspecified future date or because doing nothing presumably would enhance the quality of education everyone desires for the Grosse Pointe schools. But others in the pro-recall camp demand a return to basics, reduction in the number of electives or even the closing of a middle school or a high school instead of Barnes Elementary School. True, the critics don't like the current reorganization plan but they offer nothing specific to deal with the problems caused by the continuing decline in school enrollment.

Yet the current board has been studying these problems for several years and have authorized the closing of Barnes and the shift of the sixth graders to the middle schools as the best way to meet them. The board which voted for that plan by a 6 to 1 margin is made up of experienced members. Yet much of that experience could be lost through the election and recall.

Dorothy Kennel, one of the two holdover members not targeted for recall, is in her second term. Vincent LoCicero, the second untargeted holdover, is in his first term. And nobody knows at this point who would be put forward as candidates to replace the three targeted for recall in the event that move succeeds. What we do know is that the pro-recall people say they want a board that will reverse the reorganization actions already scheduled for next fall.

UNDER THE CIRCUMSTANCES, this newspaper reiterates its support for Joan Hanpeter and Fred Adams for the two board positions to be filled and repeats its opposition to the recall of Jon B. Gandelot, Catherine Brierly and Ernest Buechler. That means this newspaper supports a "yes" vote for Mrs. Hanpeter and Fred Adams and a "no" vote on the efforts to recall Gandelot, Mrs. Brierly and Buechler.

Whatever the outcome, the issues involved deserve a large and representative vote by an informed citizenry. It would be disappointing to people on both sides if only a small minority of voters decided these issues. This newspaper believes the stakes are high on June 11 and urges all of the people of the community to inform themselves about the issues and the candidates to the best of their abilities — and then vote.

Counselor speaks up for middle schools

To the Editor:
After reading in the May 31, Grosse Pointe News, Kramer Foster's comment concerning drugs at the Grosse Pointe Middle School level I feel compelled to reply. We do the fine young teenagers of our community a gross injustice when we imply their schools are involved with drugs. For years I have been subjected to statements regarding drugs in our schools — elementary through high school. I have no doubt that it may exist. I cannot prove it does not. I also assume alcohol abuse exists among the adult population of Grosse Pointe. Alcohol, after all, is the most serious drug with which most communities are involved.
I am a teacher of social studies at Parcels Middle School. I have been teaching at Parcels for 32 years — well over one quarter of a century. I can honestly and truthfully reply I have never personally seen a drug related case at Parcels. In all the years I have been at Parcels never have I ever suspected one of my students to be even remotely under the influence of any drug which was not prescribed by a competent physician — of which I was made aware through our counseling system.
I cannot speak for Brownell or Pierce Middle Schools but I can testify there is, to my knowledge, no drug problem at Parcels. And I would be willing to give anyone odds there is equally no problem at the other two schools. Mr. Foster's implication is erroneous, unfair, and irresponsible. I personally and professionally resent those insinuations.

Mr. Foster also suggests we might consider going back to the old days of schools that covered kindergarten through eighth grade. Actually, Grosse Pointe is way behind in shifting sixth graders to middle schools. The vast majority of middle schools of which I am aware are 6-8 organizations. Our superintendent was obviously also aware the Grosse Pointe organization structure was less than ideal. Our sixth graders are the fortunate ones. The educational opportunities existing at Parcels will provide them a superb education — equal to anything they will encounter at the elementary level and probably because of the special facilities, better.
Again, Mr. Foster finds fault with the Grosse Pointe expanding curriculum. He cites 211 electives. I do not know if he means 211 electives at the middle school (preposterous), high school (possible), or a combination of both. I do know, however, my youngest son, a senior engineering student at MSU, can thank our administration, counseling staff, and Board of Education for the excellent program designed for him while he was a student in our Grosse Pointe schools. In this day of technology and job competition I would not touch our elective program with a ten-foot pole. Perhaps Mr. Foster would like to go back to the 'old days,' but the 'old days' are gone. Past practices will not provide our sons and daughters an education for the present and future. Stand still five minutes and you may find yourself out of the competition.

Some days ago Parcels hosted the fifth grade classes from our feeder schools. These students will be our sixth graders next year. One of our counselors asked a particular class, finishing their tour of the building what they liked about Parcels. One fifth grade boy answered, "3:15 (school adjourned), recess, and sex." Perhaps we may need to be concerned about the negative influence of our sixth graders on the sevens and eights.

Thanks to Park police

To the Editor:
My husband and I live in Detroit, about a block and a half above Mack. Last Friday night, May 25, two Grosse Pointe Park police officers knocked on my door at about 11:30 p.m. They had been driving down the street behind our house and had noticed a man hopping our back fence with our lawnmower. (The thief had unscrewed our security floodlights and cut the cable which secured the lawnmower.) When he saw the officers he left the mower and ran.
Even though it was not their jurisdiction, the two officers retrieved the mower from the pouring rain and drove around to verify that it was ours and return it. I was so disconcerted by the event that I neglected to ask the officers' names at that time. Although I cannot express my gratitude to them properly, I would like to make my appreciation public. (Especially since the lawnmower was just a few weeks old, our previous one having been stolen last summer.)
Certainly, if we could receive this kind of police protection from our own department, we would not be so anxious to move soon to a better area — such as the Pointes.

Second tax cut in doubt

Difficult as it may be to believe, the continuing deadlock between a Democratic House and a Republican Senate may deprive Michigan taxpayers of a second income tax cut this year. It also might well arouse more backing for the restrictive Voter's Choice amendment which could increase the state's fiscal difficulties.

THE TWO HOUSES remain divided on both the timing and amount of future tax cuts. The House backed Gov. James Blanchard's recommendation for a rollback to a 5.35 percent rate on Oct. 1, while the Senate-passed bill would roll back the rate to 5.35 percent on July 1, with an additional rollback to 4.6 percent on July 1, 1985.

Without new legislation, the tax would automatically drop to 5.35 percent next Jan. 1 and to 5.1 percent on Jan. 1, 1986. But Blanchard now has warned that unless the Legislature approves his budget and his tax-cut proposal before the summer recess beginning in July, he will use his administrative rules powers to put the 5.1 percent rate into effect on Aug. 1, 1985.

So unless the Legislature breaks out of the current deadlock, the prospect is for no additional tax cut this year but for two tax cuts next year, assuming the governor goes ahead with his new rollback plan. The first tax cut on Jan. 1 this year took place automatically under the current tax law and reduced the rate from 6.35 percent to 6.1 percent.

All of the talk about these rollback plans is very confusing — until we recall that this is an election year and both political parties are trying to use the income tax controversy for their own political benefit. The governor blames the Republican Senate for blocking agreement on his plan while the Republicans contend the governor is being inflexible by standing firm.

Neither the Senate nor the governor faces the voters this year but all members of the House are up for election. The Republicans, who gained control of the Senate through the recall of two Democratic senators in the controversy over the temporary income tax boost of 38 percent last year, now hope the issue will help them win control of the House as well in November.

Both houses and the governor agree that the resurgent economy now is building up state surpluses but the amount is in dispute. The House and the governor contend the state cannot afford the more costly rollback that the Republican Senate has approved. But the Republicans argue that the state surplus is larger than the Democratic administration claims it is and say it should be returned to the people.

Contributing to the controversy over the income tax issue are the efforts by supporters of the Voter's Choice amendment to get it onto the ballot in November. The group already has collected more than the 304,001 signatures needed but is seeking additional names to offset possible invalid signatures before the July 9 deadline.

This amendment would require voter approval for any tax rate increase after Dec. 31, 1981; would require a four-fifths affirmative vote or approval by a majority of voters involved in any proposed increase in fees, licenses or permits, and would limit the income tax on city non-residents to one-half of 1 percent. Detroit's non-resident tax already is 1 1/2 percent.

FAILURE OF THE Legislature to agree on either of the rollback plans on which it is now deadlocked would tend to stimulate support for the Voter's Choice amendment. The voters might well get the idea that if the Legislature isn't going to give more tax relief, they will seek to get it in their own way. Yet enactment of that restrictive amendment would really tie the state in fiscal knots as it tried to meet the demand for state services with revenues that would be rolled back even more substantially than either of the legislative proposals would do.

Walking is all that matters

To the Editor:
The most important election in the Grosse Pointe school system in memory will be conducted on June 11. Unfortunately, it won't be one simple yes or no question on the ballot. If it were, we could do away with all the endorsements and the irrelevant facts given out by the Grosse Pointe News, the superintendent and certain board members.
We wouldn't need another word about declining enrollments and deliberate mis-use of numbers. The system is operating at 75 percent of design capacity and national demographic surveys project a 10 to 15 percent increase in school age children by 1990 — only six years away; money saved or efficiency improved (nothing demonstrated or assumed); or improved educational opportunity (this from the same educators who gave us Look-Say Reading producing one generation who can neither read nor spell and New Math, producing another generation who can't add, subtract, multiply or divide).
No. If it were simple, we could ask all citizens "do you want the basic structure, the cornerstone of the Grosse Pointe school system to be dismantled for no long term gain and with no long term restructuring plan?" Because that is what is at stake.

The cornerstone of the Grosse Pointe school system is a neighborhood elementary school. It isn't how many high school class hours there are, or whether the system is K-5, 6-8, 9-12 or K-8, 9-12, or how many middle schools there are or any number of other red herrings. Rather, it is simply should every elementary school student be able to walk to his or her neighborhood elementary school? Nothing offered to date by the superintendent or the school board has demonstrated that the cornerstone is no longer valid or is being replaced by a sound long range plan.
Therefore, in order to keep the cornerstone of one of the finest school systems in the world, the public must vote to reelect Roger Mourad, elect William Browncombe and vote "yes" to the recall of Catherine Brierly, Jon Gandelot and Ernest Buechler.

Letters to Editor Changes are made carelessly

To the Editor:
During the May Grosse Pointe School Board meeting, many "pilot" programs were discussed. Throughout the discourse of the meeting, I became both concerned and confused on our school system's guidelines for "pilot" programs. It is to this topic that I'd like to address this letter.
It was said by one of the school board members that before a new program is instituted in our Grosse Pointe school system, it is piloted at "one" or "some" of the school buildings as an experiment. In other words, try it, then judge it, and then use it if it works. This idea is commendable, and is scheduled to be used in 1984-85 for the optional all-day kindergarten and the elementary science program.

However, one wonders if indeed it is routine in our school system to study a program before the program is actually instituted why has there not been a "pilot" program for the sixth grade placement in middle school and why have we not tried and tested the seven-period day in the high schools, before initiating it in 1984-85?

It seems, in the Grosse Pointe school system, we rush into some ideas full speed ahead and with others we experiment and study. I most definitely favor the latter method, and question the rush and carelessness with which our sixth grade program, and our high school seven-period day are being handled.

Don't be misled by one-issue candidates

To the Editor:
As the June 11 school board election approaches, I urge voters to extend themselves, to look beyond their personal circumstances and toward an accountability of all of us to all of the children in this community.
These young people are all part of the same system and benefit from the health and integrity of each of its parts — elementary school, middle school and high school. School board members are part of a team whose duties include balancing the needs of these parts, not pitting them against each other.

Be wary of candidates and of vocal recall supporters who are unable to take a holistic approach to the school system, who have offered no positive ideas and who continue to rely on information that is misleading and inaccurate. Grosse Pointe's "defense" against cross-district bussing, for example, was not, as stated by one recall advocate, the neighborhood elementary school, (May 31, Grosse Pointe News).

They insist that accountability to the people is the issue — that positive leadership means never doing anything the people do not want. People can be generous, thoughtful, sensitive and broad-minded, but, too often, they are mean-spirited, self-serving and prejudiced. To rely on them can be a risky business. Fran White

Mourad answers his critics

To the Editor:
Karen Schaefer, I had hoped your tantrum would end after publicly voicing your opinion at a recent board meeting. Following earlier board meetings you insulted me and then ran off without extending the simple courtesy of an opportunity to talk with you. Since you persist in attacking me personally with a vengeance that now includes my family, you leave me no choice. I've had enough of your distasteful and ill-mannered conduct.

reflect and be reminded to ever strengthen our resolve to remain true to our history and our tradition as a free and democratic republic. It's the ridicule directed at a free people exercising constitutionally protected rights that poses the threat of fascism, chaos and dictatorship. Can it be that we are moving toward Friedrich Hayek's The Road of Serfdom.

I suggest you begin to listen and stop indulging in fiction and become acquainted with the facts. The facts Mrs. Schaefer are these: The recall groups are not mine. They are however the ever increasing majority of community residents who feel disenfranchised. The facts, Mrs. Schaefer, accusing me of misquoting is untrue. The quote I gave at the candidate forum was complete and accurate and not taken out of context. If you had been listening you would have understood my remark. I referred to a past quote of a public official which represents my political philosophy. I chose not to name the official since I felt it was not in good taste. Since you consider it to be in good taste having now identified the public official, I will comment by saying this. The characterization of recallers is unfortunate, shameful and inexcusable. For one so long in public office to say that they do not support a recall movement is one thing. For that elected official to call citizens exercising a constitutional right as "loud-mouths, sleazy, reign of terror, fascism and dictatorship" is tragic. It should cause all of us to

Although you expressed love for our community is commendable, Mrs. Schaefer, might I suggest retaining your friendships by valuing our democratic process of debate and difference of opinion rather than become embittered toward your neighbors and friends for not agreeing with you. Your comment, Mrs. Schaefer, how I as a board member should perform my duties reflects your view which is not necessarily the correct one. To perhaps better understand the role of a board member you should become acquainted with the "Code of Ethical Relationship for Board of Education Members" and pay particular heed to the opening paragraph of its preamble: "That in a society in which sovereignty resides in the people, it is the function of the government to administer to their common welfare; and that equal opportunity for justice, freedom of worship, of speech, of assembly, and of press are inherent rights of the individual."

And further, Mrs. Schaefer, your support to close neighborhood elementary schools and to transfer sixth graders into the middle schools is not shared by the community. You either did not attend or you were not listening to the hundreds of parents, grandparents, educators, professionals and other taxpayers who echoed and re-echoed their opposition to the school board's reorganization plans. Nor is it apparent that you've read the volumes of mail opposing the school board's actions nor cognizant of the 6,200 signatures on the first petitions, The Detroit Free Press poll indicating 2 out of 3 of the community were against school closings and 66 percent who wanted a referendum.

Typically, you continue to delve in fiction and fantasy by criticizing our community residents for signing recall petitions. Need I remind you that 8,400 did so.

And now, Mrs. Schaefer, let's discuss the matter of the Richard School playground. If you were at the meetings and listened you would have understood my position. I am not opposed to increasing the parking of the Hill. I do insist, however, that a full and open public discussion occur before any school board surrenders the use of public school property. True, the school district should cooperate with other municipalities. Our responsibility however is to use school property for educational purposes or for purposes that benefit our school children. Cooperating in a civic venture can be a legitimate exception. To enhance private gain is not in my judgment a legitimate exception.

You should be aware that the school district is providing the use of school property for parking in the Village. Since 1956 the school district has leased school property to the Farms behind the shops on the Hill that accommodates 120 parking spaces for the grand sum of $1 per year. Clearly, the district can't be accused of not cooperating with local governments. I abstained from approving the lease of the Richard playground simply because a fellow board member chose to end the open discussion. What I am furious over is the totally inadequate consideration the school district is receiving in exchange for the almost indefinite use of such a valuable parcel. You see Mrs. Schaefer, that parcel was appraised recently for one-half million dollars. The board's generosity to transfer the use for $50,000 dollars of federal taxpayer dollars should raise the curiosity of the community. And though board members pledged not to spend any more funds for the project, the board realized a week later it had acted presumptuously and voted $7,500 dollars of school funds. The board chose to compromise from terms the school administration initially wanted. For example, the library administration needed 23 spaces in the proposed parking lot for staff in order to provide closer parking for library patrons behind the library. The board was persuaded to accept only 10. Other improvements for Messner Field were compromised. To the credit of the Grosse Pointe Rotary Club, the district will receive some unexpected financial assistance. What underlies the whole affair is the real beneficiary of this windfall, the owner of the building between Fisher and McKinley, not our library patrons.

And lastly, Mrs. Schaefer, I ask and in fact insist that you keep my family from your wrath. If members of my family choose to sign a petition, yes even a recall petition, I will not under any circumstance dictate how they should exercise their free will, nay, a constitutionally guaranteed right! By the way, Mrs. Schaefer, is there a reason why you failed to identify the role you have in this election campaign rather than signing in your individual capacity and conveying the impression that you are merely a private citizen who at one time supported me?

And finally, the past quote you accused me of misquoting which was made by the elected official then serving in the United States Congress continues to express my political philosophy succinctly: "My philosophy of the position I hold is to reflect the views of the people I represent unless my own information and my own conscience tell me that view is wrong. Then, in my judgment, I should educate them to my view or be prepared to take the consequences."

News paper is biased

The Editor:
As a member of the so called "vocal minority," I feel it's imperative to say once more what concerns me as this election draws near. Your newspaper has so unfairly treated this community with its biased reports, its easy endorsement of Fred Adams and Joan Hanpeter, (for school board), and its refusal to give the "opposition" any credit for its efforts to handle this problem of enrollment decline.
A local newspaper is supposed to report the news accurately and then allow the people to decide what's best for them. Instead, you have used your position as editor to persuade the population to vote one particular way.

Fred Adams was endorsed early in the campaign after only one public appearance, (Barnes' meet your candidate night), during which time he was unable to directly answer questions without searching through a stack of notecards with prepared (potential) questions.
We can only assume who helped him prepare those cards. I do not feel his endorsement truly reflects what is best for this community. He seems to be a mirror of your view so he was endorsed early without giving the other candidates, who do not share your views, a fair opportunity.

As people go to the polls next Monday, I hope they will see beyond this newspaper's reporting and realize that those of us who have fought hard against these reorganization plans have fought because we see how a few individuals gave gotten power hungry and have really forgotten their purpose — to serve the entire community.

I am devastated by the prospect of Barnes closing but I am more concerned about what lies ahead for my children. I am concerned about the favoritism displayed by some school board members towards certain schools and a disinterest towards some others, namely Barnes.

When parents at Barnes researched and requested an all-day

More letters on page 12 and 13A

(pilot) kindergarten program for Barnes, we were told by board members that it was unfair to single out one school for program.

Why is Trombly getting a pilot science program? Why is Trombly's PTO getting lots of attention this year to seek ways to boost enrollment? This was not done at Barnes.

Trombly's enrollment next year will be lower than Barnes — will they close next?

I encourage everyone to vote on June 11. But I hope this educated community will make their decision after research, not because the Grosse Pointe News recommends it.

One view from the capital Still hope for a tax cut

By William R. Bryant, Jr.
State Representative

Tax rollback or no tax rollback is the hot issue as the Legislature prepares for final adoption of the state budget for the coming fiscal year, leading to summer recess of the legislative session.

The Governor is, or was before he took off on his trip to the Far East, busily trying to blame Senate Republicans for the stalemate which has existed in the House Senate Conference Committee on the tax rollback question.

Senate Republicans as well as House Republicans have set forth a variety of tax rollback proposals larger than the governor's proposal. Some would make the state budget situation difficult again if the recovery falters and a new recession takes hold in the next 12 to 18 months.

Other proposals are more modest and, while more than the Governor offers, they would not cause a budget crunch even if the economy falters.
Up to the point this is written, all attempts to get the Governor or House or Senate Democrats to make a counter proposal in excess of the Governor's original proposal have failed.

The fact that we Republicans have shown considerable flexibility and willingness to compromise, together with the fact the final picture is far more rosy now than when the Governor made his proposal for a three-month, three-quarter percent early rollback starting in October, indicates the Governor and liberal Democrats would love to blame Republicans for asking too much and causing a stalemate.

Central to the issue of how much tax rollback there can be without causing severe budget problems are the differing revenue and expenditure projections made by the Governor and the House Fiscal Agency, both less optimistic, compared to the Senate Fiscal Agency, which is more optimistic.

A possible approach to keep the Democrats from using the disagreement over estimates as an excuse for failing or refusing to compromise would be to gear the extent of tax rollback to whatever budget surpluses actually occur.

Such a mechanism would avoid the necessity of a Democrat-Republican agreement on revenue and expenditure projections and is appealing to Republicans because we are convinced that the budget surpluses will be significantly greater than the Governor claims.

Democrats generally have found it very difficult to argue effectively against the concept that budget surpluses should be returned to the taxpayers. In defense against the attacks on their support for last year's 38 percent income tax boost they have responded that it was necessary increase but that if things got better and budget surpluses occur they will support returning those surpluses to the people.

I am still hopeful of agreement, hopeful there will be a significant rollback of the tax increase and that the issue will be resolved very shortly. For agreement to occur, however, there will need to be some measure of good faith, some willingness to negotiate, shown by Governor Blanchard.

Catching Animals in the Act

Warm weather brings out the best in people. Somehow, a person wearing a short-sleeved shirt and cutoffs makes a better subject than one wrapped in a parka and shivering in the cold.

But did you ever notice that animals, too, are more photogenic in summer? It's true. Warm weather seems to bring out the true "beast" in animals—from cats and dogs to deer and bison. And why not? Summer is a time for living, for exploring, for playing—sometimes even for raising a couple of newborn kits or goslings or fawns. What better time for you to be on the scene with your camera.

Of course, catching animals in the act of doing what they do best isn't always easy. Here are a few tips that may help.

1.) Know your quarry. You've probably seen dozens of photos of animals caught unawares by the camera. What luck, you may have thought, that the photographer just happened on the scene!

Ahh, but was it? Chances are the photographer knew exactly the type of shot he was after. By understanding a little about the nature and habits of certain animals, you, too, can greatly increase your chances for capturing those animals on film. Spend some time at the library checking up on animals you'd like to capture photographically. Check out their haunts, favored feeding times, favorite food, and so forth. Then invest a few days setting out food and observing what happens.

2.) Be patient. As a general rule of thumb, I've found that patience is the best animal attractant. Especially if you're interested in photographing birds and small mammals (squirrels, chipmunks, etc.), a little patience goes a long way.

Get out into the woods—or in your own backyard—early in the day. Situate yourself in an out-of-the-way spot with a good view of a clearing or a likely roosting spot for birds. Then sit quietly and wait. Often, within 10 or 15 minutes, you'll have animals literally crawling all over you. I once staked out a herd of deer by sitting on a low-hanging oak limb. I was so still, a squirrel pre-occupied collecting nuts for the winter came right toward me.

He didn't know I was there till he stumbled across my boot.

3.) Use the right equipment. Animals in the wild will rarely cooperate with a photographer. That means you must anticipate the action and be ready to snap that potentially prize-winning photo. It should go without saying that using the proper equipment can mean the difference between success and failure.

First, you should have a camera that accepts interchangeable lenses. And the lens you use, depending on your quarry, should be long enough to fill the frame with the animal's image. A zoom of from 80-200 mm or so is a good all-purpose wildlife lens. For really skittish animals, you should have a 300 mm or longer telephoto.

The film you use—whether black-and-white or color—should be fast enough to allow for a fast shutter speed (1/250 second or faster). You'll need that kind of speed to freeze action—especially once the animal is frightened and turns to run, something you can count on with all but the tamest of animals. Choose a 200-400 ASA film for most occasions.

A motor wind or drive unit will help you reel-off the shots at two frames per second or faster. Again, this can mean the difference between getting that top quality shot and missing it completely.

A tripod is nice, especially if you're shooting from a blind on the ground or in the treetops. However, if your game is likely to take off at the click of the shutter, you may do better to hand hold your camera so you can keep the lens trained on him.

Plaque honors Mayor Patterson

Because former Grosse Pointe Park Mayor Matthew Patterson did "such an outstanding job for the Park and is such a devoted public servant," Albert M. Raisch decided he needed a more appropriate form of recognition instead of the photo previously on display in Patterson Park. So Raisch, of Whittier Road and chairman of the board of Supersign Co., had Patterson's likeness cast in a 24 by 30 inch bronze tablet. The work portrait was designed by Oscar Graves, a protege of Marshall Frederick, said Raisch, and is on display in the Park municipal building. Shown at the presentation are (left to right) former Mayor Patterson, Raisch and John Crawford, Park city manager.

A mutual fund might be right for you

If you want to hedge against inflation, you can consider investing in a fund that buys gold and silver mining stocks. Or, if you think environmental concerns will spur companies that manufacture anti-pollution and cleanup devices, you can buy shares in an environmental fund.

You can also find funds that invest in corporate bonds, municipal bonds or others that specialize in investing IRA or Keogh contributions.

If you've been thinking about investing in the stock market but are afraid you lack the time or expertise to master the tricky game of stocks, then investing in a mutual fund may be right for you.

Understanding how mutual funds work, and determining whether a mutual fund suits your overall financial situation, will ease this important investment decision, according to the Michigan Association of CPAs.

By matching your financial needs — for secure, income-producing investments or for tax-advantage ventures, for example — you can zero-in on the most suitable mutual fund.

A mutual fund is a pool of investors whose money or "shares" is used to purchase stocks, bonds or other securities. The returns on these investments are then allocated among shareholders. For the 325 common stock mutual funds, investors got a 14.5 percent average rate of return between 1973 and 1983, according to the Investment Company Institute (ICI), the Washington, D.C.-based trade organization of mutual funds.

More people than ever are investing in mutual funds, the ICI says. And there are now 653 stock or bond funds to choose from. In the last quarter of 1983, more than $9.3 billion was invested in mutual funds, bringing the total amount invested to $113.4 billion and making mutual funds the fourth largest investment service in the nation.

Mutual funds offer small investors two major benefits: experienced investment experts who manage the fund full-time and the opportunity to diversify a small investment portfolio throughout a broad range of securities and specialized industries. In other words, if you believe that the widget industry is about to boom but you don't know which widget company will profit most from the new business, you may be able to find a mutual fund that invests predominantly in that one narrow field.

The greater the risk you take with your investment, the greater the potential rewards a mutual fund can bring you. The riskiest funds are "capital appreciation" or "aggressive growth" funds. These generally hold common stock in emerging, high-growth speculative companies.

Just below those funds on the risk scale are "growth" funds. These invest in dividend-paying stocks to provide steadier income, but mostly invest in stocks that are expected to appreciate. Growth funds are the most common kind of funds available.

The next type of funds on the risk spectrum is the "growth and income" fund. This looks to dividend income for much of its return in addition to appreciation.

GM's NEW 'FREE' DENTAL PLAN COULD COST YOU PLENTY.

A new dental plan you'll be offered at work appears to cover almost everything for practically nothing. But don't be fooled. You don't get something for nothing. While it will cut health care costs for your employer, it will cost you plenty — in terms of quality, convenience, personal service and freedom to choose your own dentist.

NO FREEDOM OF CHOICE

Only certain dentists will participate in this type of plan. If you elect such coverage from your employer — and your personal and preferred dentist is not associated with a capitation plan — you will have to drop your present dentist and you will be assigned to a new location for dental services.

INCONVENIENT TREATMENT LOCATIONS

There is no guarantee that your newly assigned dentist will be convenient to your home or place of employment — meaning wasted time getting to and from treatment centers.

LOSS OF PERSONAL SERVICE

Subscribers under this new plan will place an added burden on participating dentists — who must also continue treating their long established patients. Capitation patients will be competing for limited appointment time. If you were the dentist, who would get priority?

REDUCED DENTAL CARE QUALITY

Under this capitation plan, participating dentists receive a minimal monthly fixed fee to meet your dental needs, regardless of how extensive they may be. The cost of your dental service beyond the most basic level will likely come out of your dentist's own pocket. After all, he could be using the time to treat a regular patient paying regular rates. While most dentists are truly conscientious professionals, the potential exists for delaying treatment and employing quicker, temporary, less expensive techniques for capitation patients — and probably with no opportunity to discuss the treatment approach, as you would with a dentist of your own choice.

For more information about how capitation plans may affect the quality of your dental care, ask your personal dentist's opinion. Or write the Michigan Dental Association.

CARE/RETAIN OUR RESPONSIBLE SCHOOL BOARD

Jon Gandelot and his wife, Lisa, Nancy, a 6th grader and Michael, a 3rd grader attend Kerby School.

Catherine Brierly and her husband, David. Bridget is a 9th grader at North High School. Not pictured are sons, Dean, a graduate of Central Michigan University and Brandon, a freshman at Michigan State University.

Ernest Buechler and his wife, Laurie. Craig is a senior at North High School and Peter is an 8th grader at Parcels. Not pictured is Curt, a Junior at the University of Michigan.

THE FACTS

- Enrollment in Grosse Pointe School System has declined from 13,529 to 7,517.
- Enrollment projections indicate a further decline to 5,651 by the school year 1987/88. Projections for the 1983/84 school year were accurate within 31 students.
- A responsible School Board must face this problem and resolve it in the best way, both for the children and for the taxpayers of the Grosse Pointe School District — not just the 35% with school age children or the 10.4% with children in the public elementary schools.
- The recall group's only recommendation to date is to ignore the problem of declining enrollment, to keep all elementary schools open and to reduce classroom sizes to 18 in the elementary schools. This will cost an additional $2.36 million and will mean a tax increase of 11.9% for Grosse Pointe School District taxpayers for 1984/85.
- Property values and home sales have increased this year despite the scare tactics and negative talk about the future of Grosse Pointe by the recall group.

BOARD MEMBERS' STATEMENT AS IT WILL APPEAR ON THE BALLOT

Our goal is to maintain our quality school system at the lowest possible cost to the taxpayers. Some disagree with our goal; others disagree with our methods of achieving it.

Both votes were by a 6 to 1 majority after a year of study, seven public hearings, and based on the recommendations of two citizen study committees.

We acted because of a decline in enrollment from 13,529 to 7,517 over the past ten years.

All school systems have limits to their resources. Money spent keeping an unnecessary school open will take money away from curricula, school buses, taxes are raised.

Other quality school systems have shown no reduction in property values because of school closings.

Middle schools with grades 6-8 will better meet the need for more math and science offered in a Nation at Risk. The imperative for educational reform.

Many other quality school systems have this program with positive results in all aspects of school life for the children. We are confident that the children of Grosse Pointe are just as capable.

The Board majority acted in the best interests of all the citizens of the school district as we were elected to do by you, the voter and taxpayer.

Letters to Editor

'Mini-baby boom' is a farce

To the Editor:
So much heat has been generated by the school reorganization plans that there has been a tendency to lose sight of the demographic realities that caused the problem. After the post WW II economic boom ran its course, the birth rate began to fall in the late 1950's. In fact, it fell so far that the number of U.S. births is now slightly less than two children for each woman in her lifetime. At its current rate, the entire country will be at zero population growth by 2050.
But, say some, we are experiencing a mini-baby boom! What effect is that having? The so-called baby boom — 1.8 children per woman in her lifetime — is less than half of the 3.7 figure that was the rule during the real baby boom in the 1950's. The only reason there is any noticeable impact is because the 1950's women are now adults approaching the end of their safe childbearing years.
What mini-boom there is has been going on since 1977 and is expected to peak by 1990. Where it is happening is also extremely relevant for Grosse Pointers. There is a population shift under way in the U.S. from the north and east to the south and west with particular growth happening in California, Florida and Texas. This is a trend that is irreversible in our lifetime. Continued higher than normal out-migration coupled with few births than expected produced a net decline of 72,000 in Michigan population between 1982 and 1983 according to the latest estimates produced by the Michigan Department of Management and Budget. In the Grosse Pointe school district the total population dropped 9,838 from 1973 to 1982. The school age census dropped 6,460 during the same period. Outmigration among women of child-bearing age may also have contributed to the fact that the mini rise in Michigan's birth rate was well below the U.S. average.
In addition, a rising number of people in their early 30's are remaining single — suggesting that an increasing proportion of the population will never marry. In 1982, according to the Census Bureau, almost 12 percent of women and 17 percent of men aged 30-34 had never married — double the 1970 figures of 6 percent for women and 9 percent for men. A similar trend is evident among people in their mid to late 20's. In fact, the average number of persons per household dropped from 2.44 in 1970 to 2.72 in 1982, the smallest average in history. (Soon we will be hearing from recallers about noticing weddings all over the community).
The upshot of all of this has been a steady decline in the number of school children housed by the Grosse Pointe school system from a peak of 13,529 to 7,357 (which had been projected at 7,517 last summer) by Oct. 10, 1983. On May 31, 1984, Supt. Kenneth Brummel indicated that the enrollment in local public schools would fall to 7,185 by September of 1984 — 76 percent of this drop would be in the elementary schools. The numbers of children born in 1978-83 are a known quantity.
All of the informal obstetric room surveys and all of the wishful thinking in the world cannot add more children to those years — the years are gone forever. The so-called mini-boom cannot do more than blunt the steep decline in school population that is predetermined by the 1978-83 low birth years. The most optimistic thing that can be said is that the school population will sink to the 6,100 range by 1987 and might return to the current 7,300 level before plunging to the 5,000 to 5,500 level as a result of the mini-boom peaking no later than 1990.

The Recall proponents understand these facts very well. What is left but to try to confuse the public regarding the capacity of the school buildings. In the absence of the ability to deal with the problem and with no concrete construction suggestion to offer — deny that the problem exists! But how?
The idea seems to be to make the declining enrollment facts disappear by denying that there is sufficient classroom space to hold the mini-boom. Inroads can be made by reducing the "maximum" students per room from 25 to 22.5 or 20 to 17-18 as candidate Dr. William Browncombe proposed at the recent League of Women Voters Debate. What he didn't mention is the 55 new elementary teachers that would be required at a cost of $2.36 million and the resulting 11.9 percent increase in the tax burden. Smaller classes may be easier for the teacher to manage, they may mean fewer administrative duties or they may mean more teachers will be required to teach the same number of students; but there is no conclusive study that smaller has anything to do with achievement. Buildings don't have much to do with it either. Rather, there is a strong indication that children in communities like Grosse Pointe do well no matter what because of family background, good teachers and — good programs.
What is really going on here is an exercise in power politics. The Recall people (now masquerading as the Committee for Responsible School Government) spent nearly nine months dragging a red herring around in the guise of a call for a binding referendum — having not the slightest intention of pursuing that course. The real objective from the beginning has been to seize long term control of the school board by electing a working majority.
Or perhaps there is an even more ambitious agenda. Erv Steiner performed a real public service on his Cable TV programs aired June 4 and 7 when he provided a platform for a debate between CARE and Recall. On that program, Kramer Foster of the Recall Group suggested that their alternative to closing Barnes and moving the 6th grades included closing North High School and turning it into a Community College (part of the Wayne County Community College system, Kramer?). Further, he proposed to get rid of the garbage (his words) in the high school curriculum beginning with the pottery course and return the schools to "basics" (not defined further.) I wonder what else he had in mind?
These objectives can only be accomplished in the short run by use of the Recall device. If you are concerned about what is happening to your schools I urge you to vote "no" on the recall issue. To vote "no," you must do so three times — one each for Jon Gandelot, Catherine Briery and Ernest Buechler.
If you have not voted recently (or perhaps ever in a school board election) exercise your right now. Ask David Esabick, Barbara Saari and Kramer Foster if they have ever voted in a school board election, and if so, where and when. Whatever you do — don't follow their advice.

A plea to voters

To the Editor:
Like many other residents of our community, I have followed the events surrounding school consolidation for more than a year and a half. I am impressed by the number of citizens who are now involved in this important issue. Yet, I am concerned that unless a large majority of registered voters exercise their responsibility on Monday, June 11, we will perpetuate the divisive atmosphere that currently exists. We owe it to the children of our community, as well as to those who worked to bring educational issues to the forefront, to resolve the conflict over leadership for our school system through the ballot box.
As a former school board president and an active participant in community organizations, I know of the significant time and energy volunteered by many people to provide the superior quality of life we enjoy in the Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods. In particular, I admire the efforts of Catherine Briery, Ernest Buechler, Jon Gandelot, the other current trustees, and the candidates for the school board. I believe we have an obligation to support their willingness to represent us by voting on Monday.

Though I oppose the recall, I will grow in respect for the power of our democracy and for my fellow citizens, regardless of the outcome, if we all participate in this important election process. I plead with you, do not sit this election out. Vote on Monday, June 11.

John Bruce

A voter thinks for herself

To the Editor:
I would like to address this to Karen Schaefer, whom I might add, better learn the facts before she dares write untruths to this paper.
My brother-in-law, Roger Mourad, does not run my life nor does he dictate to me how I should think. This is a democracy and I for one vote the way I want to vote. Nobody tells me what to say or do. I did not call Roger on the phone to ask him what to do as far as the recall.
Your statement "Once the vote is taken and a decision made, that Board member should be supportive of the Board he is serving on, not fueling recall efforts and having his own family sign recall petitions" is utterly ridiculous and very vicious.

Roger Mourad has never endorsed any recall. He has never bad-mouthed any of the Board members. He just stood up for what he felt was right.
If your children were involved in the Barnes situation (which they are not) and if you had a fifth grader heading into middle school (which you don't) maybe you would think a little differently.
Sure, you want what is right for all the children. We all do. But I just wonder if yours were directly involved, what side of the fence would you be on?
If you think being on the school board is so easy and the decisions are not tough to make, why didn't you throw your hat in the ring?

Stubborn board deserves recall

To the Editor:
I believe that the school reorganization plan adopted by the Grosse Pointe school board is unsound and will accomplish no good. I further believe that the proponents of the reorganization and the opponents of the recall have failed to support their positions with hard facts or with logic.

Many proponents of the reorganization either state directly or simply that it will save money. However, they ignore the fact that the Barnes Elementary School building will not be closed, sold or disposed of but merely devoted to another school system purpose. Since the school system will still own and use the building, operational costs such as heat, maintenance, etc. will continue. Likewise, the teaching staff is not being eliminated, but simply moved to other buildings.

They also have not stated what the capital costs will be to renovate and remodel the Barnes building for its new purposes, what the cost will be to physically move the Instructional Material Center, maintenance department, and continuing education center to Barnes, what capital costs will be incurred in renovating the middle schools to make them ready to accept sixth grade students, what the cost has been (and will be) of the internal administrative time devoted to the planning of these projects, etc.

From their silence, it must be concluded that the proponents of the reorganization either do not know the answers to these questions or else are not revealing the answers to these questions or else are not revealing the answers because they are unfavorable to their position. Whatever their motivation, they seem content to perpetuate the misconception that the reorganization will save the taxpayers significant money.

I personally posed some of the questions about costs raised above to Supt. Kenneth Brummel on May 14, at the last school board meeting. To date, I have not received an answer. Simply, there has not been made public one shred of credible evidence that the school system will realize any meaningful savings from its annual operating budget of approximately $36 million if the reorganization goes through. Some board members have even admitted that the reorganization was not approved for financial reasons.

To defend the reorganization on the grounds that it promotes the quality of education is to say nothing. That phrase remains nebulous and undefined after all these many months. To me, quality of education means smaller classes and more individual attention for students. It does not mean, nor does it require, two sections per grade. The superior test scores achieved by the Barnes school students in recent years provide empirical evidence of this. Clearly, there was no hue and cry anywhere in the community that our school populations were too small.

Regarding the effort to recall board members Jon Gandelot, Catherine Brierly and Ernest Buechler, a popular myth advanced by some opponents of the recall is the notion that this recall will permit a minority to dictate results. That might be true of certain recall campaigns. However, it is not true of the recall facing the three school board members. By law, to place the recall on the ballot, proponents of the recall were required to obtain signatures which equalled or exceeded 25 percent of the number of voters within the school district who voted in the last gubernatorial election, not the last school board election. Under that standard, over 6,700 signatures were required and, ultimately, over 8,400 signatures were obtained. That number — 8,400 — is approximately three times the number of electors who voted to elect Gandelot to his present term, and approximately 25 times the number of electors who voted to elect board members Brierly and Buechler.

According to this paper, a normal voter turnout in a school board election is only 4,700. Therefore, under the particular facts and circumstances present here, the recall effort clearly does not permit a minority rule. Those who claim otherwise are either ignorant of the true facts or intend to deceive and mislead.

The recall has also been opposed on the grounds that it has caused disagreement, division and disharmony within the community. Why must all of the people of the school district speak with one tongue on such important issues? Our forefathers rightfully believed that in our democratic system of government public debate is healthy. Discussions, even heated discussions of public issues, are to be encouraged, not stifled. To condemn the recall effort simply because certain members of the com-

Teacher has complaints

To the Editor:

As I read your editorials as well as the CARE group's full page ad against recall, I realized that because I am both a Grosse Pointe taxpayer and a Grosse Pointe teacher, I had to write, I sympathize with those who oppose recall on a single issue. That is my philosophical position too; however, I believe there is far more awry in the Grosse Pointe public schools than a single issue.

Morale among teachers and administrative staff below the central office level is as low as it ever has been. We attend many compulsory meetings and we do much work on curriculum, but our "input" is largely ignored. Probably building administrators have the most difficult time; they have only a small group of people (each other) with whom they can commiserate. For if they were to talk to teachers or to the public, they could lose their merit pay. (By the way, administrators who decide to retire this year found out after-the-fact that they lost their merit pay for this past year by virtue of retiring this June.) Many teachers are afraid to speak up in public, and still others have given up on the system. They have met with so much frustration they have decided to just put in their time until they can "get out."

Check with Dr. John W. Brubacker of the University of Connecticut and Dr. Carl Brantigan of the Michigan Association of School Boards (See Grosse Pointe News article, "New School Head by December?" of May 24) who visited with various groups in the school system to see what these people most want in a new superintendent and to see what problems and advantages a new superintendent will find. The morale problem caused by inability to advise comes high on the list.

Among specific problems, I suggest the seven-period day at the two high schools is not as well-organized as it should be if the plan is to be implemented this fall. Many teachers do not quarrel with the idea of students taking more classes, but we do want a plan that will meet with success. We need additional staff to handle students. Some of us wonder if even the brightest kids can attend seven classes in a row every day and remain quick and alert for the seventh session. Is there a limit to how much one head can absorb in one day? There are no study halls planned because we don't have enough staff. What does a student do if he drops a class? Wander the halls? What if 150 students each drop a class every period of the day? What 100 "professional duties" for teachers can anyone devise which make academic sense? And yet if a change is to be made to enable the school to do more planning, about 1,700 students at each high school have to go in for rescheduling. Time is growing short to handle the logistics however a change is done... if it is done.

I do not know how the plans for moving the sixth graders to the middle schools are faring. I hope they are in better shape than we are at the secondary level.

The staff below central office level has been "listened to" in the past 10 years just as the community was "listened to" on school closings. I, too, have written letters to Dr. Brummel and the school board. I have had meetings with

DANGER SIGNS

Doctors normally explain the condition of a patient by his vital signs: blood pressure, pulse, temperature, etc. If any of these areas dip, the patient is in trouble. Your car also has vital signs or danger symptoms.

BRAKES: A sagging pedal may indicate a hydraulic leak. Other danger signals are squealing, grabbing or locking of brakes. The hand brake should be capable of holding the car on a steep hill when the transmission is in neutral.

TIRES: Look periodically for cuts, embedded nails and worn spots on the treads and sidewalls. Tire pressure should be checked every two weeks and before every long trip.

MUFFLER: Holes that rust through mufflers not only broadcast noise, they let deadly car bon monoxide fumes escape and cut down on a car's performance. If you find symptoms of something wrong, take your car to an expert before more serious trouble develops.

That's why I feel it is vital that we restore confidence and credibility to our board... through positive action."

ON NEIGHBORHOOD SCHOOLS: "Closing of elementary schools disrupts the educational lifestyle this community has built and enjoys. The actual closings... and the threat of school closings... impacts too heavily on the welfare of our students and on property values of senior citizens and all homeowners."

THE 6TH GRADE: "I am against the shifting of our 6th graders to the middle schools... Because we tried it before... and it failed. I agree with the psychologists and sociologists who said our kids are growing up too fast already."

POSITIVE LEADERSHIP ON THE BOARD: "I'd work to restore community confidence in the board. I'd like to see negative action replaced with positive action."

Teacher has complaints

 some of the trustees. All to no avail; they smiled politely and thanked me for my "concern." The public at large has seen only the tip of the iceberg in dealing with the closing of Barnes. The problems go beyond this.

Why have we had so many superintendents during my tenure here? This next superintendent will be the seventh I have worked for in my 19 years in the system. Why does each bring a new plan to "straighten us out?" Our students have consistently won honors all the years I have been here. I would guess our teaching staff has been "tried" and has not been found "wanting."

And so I ask those of you who philosophically oppose recall and who accurately realize that serving on a Board of Education is a time-consuming, thankless job, to also ask yourselves what the problems are, how serious they are, and how we can go about setting things right. Grosse Pointe has long had a fine reputation as a school system; let us all do what we can to be able to sort the pieces and not destroy a fine system. But, please, let us ask ourselves and those in the schools who have day-to-day experience about the problems before we act. At least let us not cast our ballots ignorant of all that really is at stake.

I write because education has been my business for 22 years. If degrees mean anything, I have 57 hours beyond my Master's degree. I do know something whereof I speak. I am proud of the students I have known, proud of their academic achievements, and even more proud of them as people. Looking to the future, I am sad to see what is happening in our school system.

Board deserves recall

 munity disagree with each other — or because they are not mature enough to be able to do so in a civilized fashion — is unfair, unreasonable and ignores some of the fundamental principles underlying our system of government. Thankfully, in America, a bad idea does not have to be accepted in silence.

Some have criticized the opponents of the reorganization because supposedly they have not come forward with an alternative and have further claimed that they are simply entrenched and resistant to any change. Such a self-serving argument assumes that school closings are necessary or desirable under the present circumstances, which they are not. It also ignores the fact that the board's opponents came forward with many creative suggestions to fill unused portions of existing schools, all to no avail. For example, why couldn't the three functions now scheduled to be moved to Barnes be split among Barnes and two other schools? The board never answered that question.

They oppose the reorganization not because they have reacted emotionally, but for the obvious reasons that it is ill-conceived and unlikely to accomplish any of its stated purposes. In the end, nothing is likely to be accomplished by the reorganization but the movement of staff, equipment and children to different buildings, with the attendant disruption and expense.

The recall effort became necessary because the school board was too stubborn or aloof to let the electorate decide these matters in some other fashion. The school board conducted public hearings on the issues, but was deaf to what was said. The upcoming recall and school board election is the only way that the interested citizens of the school district can express their opinion and know that it will count.

For the above reasons, I believe that the electorate of the school district should vote "yes" on the question of whether board members Gandelot, Brierly and Buechler should be recalled from the school board. I also urge the electorate to vote for candidates William Brownscombe and Roger Mourad who have clearly stated their opposition to the reorganization.

Sparky's party nets

"We were thinking of a way to show our appreciation and we wanted to show it with more than words," said Darrell Finken and his wife Liz, to members of the Grosse Pointe Park City Council, Monday, May 14.

The Finkens presented council with a check for $2,800, the pro-

playscape for Park

ceeds of a fundraiser held at their restaurant, Sparky Herbert's, in April. It was their way of saying thanks to the community that has supported their business with such enthusiasm.

The money will be used to build a children's playscape in Patterson Park.

How to save a school system

On June 11th, you can do something that will benefit Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods homeowners, parents, senior citizens and, most importantly, school children for generations to come.

On that day, your "YES" vote on the recall of three board members ... and a vote for ROGER MOURAD and DR. BILL BROWNSCOMBE ... will be a first step in restoring positive leadership to the Grosse Pointe Board of Education.

Positive leadership? Yes. Because when you review the track record of the majority of our present school board, it's apparent that they have failed us.

Example: The clumsy, ill-conceived approach to school closings. In a period of six months, no less than six schools were targeted for closing — Barnes, Maire, Deter, Pierce, Mason and Kirby. This willy-nilly indecisiveness caused anxiety among parents for the safety of their children — who, in many cases, would be obliged to walk miles to school. Senior citizens and homeowners waited anxiously to see how much the proposed closing of the school in their neighborhood would affect property values. And while this was going on, nearly $2 million that was accrued largely from the 1983 millage increase was idly sitting in a bank. And finally, the eviction of students from Barnes.

Example: The defection of Grosse Pointe students to private and parochial schools. While the board heaped about the need for school closings because of future school population decline (an allegation that was never supported with hard facts), they stood by and watched a student exodus to our private schools. The reason was simple. With so much uncertainty about the schools and the curriculum ... parents were reluctant to risk their children's future in our school system. You can hardly blame them.

Example: the shifting of 6th graders into middle school. Another experiment that was attempted in 1967 in our school system ... and failed. Despite the concern and advice of sociologists, teachers and psychologists, this is going to be attempted again. Even worse, this experiment is going to cost taxpayers thousands to implement it, and it will not make kids smarter.

Example: The recall itself. Why did the board allow this issue to reach a point where 8,500 residents were given no other alternative than demand a recall of three board members? Again, an example of leadership ... but of a divisive nature.

Example: Why can't we hang onto a superintendent? We are now looking for our fourth superintendent in the last seven years. If our system is developing a reputation as a graveyard for educators, what qualified person would even consider the position. It seems only logical then, that we send out a message that is loud and clear: There's a whole new ballgame in the Grosse Pointe school system.

So what can you do? We think that now is the time to restore positive leadership to the Grosse Pointe School Board. The first step is to elect two candidates to the board who have the ability to look at every issue from every angle ... before they make a decision. They are:

ROGER MOURAD

The second step is to vote positively on the recall issue. We think this is our only recourse ... to find trustees who reflect a positive, concerned attitude toward our community ... our schools ... our students. All you have to do is vote...

"YES"

... on the ballot. Leaders lead. It's the acid test. And if you've followed the wanderings of our present board in the newspapers or on TV over the last several months, you know the negative impact they've had on our community. If over the next few years we want positive, dynamic leadership on our board, we have to do something positive on June 11th.

Low Back Pain

Dr. David Jertz
 Chiropractor

Please give me some information concerning low back problems.

Low back pain can not only be painful but frustrating and debilitating. Low back pain has reached epidemic proportions. The state of Wisconsin reported 75% of workmen's compensation payments are paid to back injured patients who constitute only 3% of their claims. Unfortunately in many cases, conservative means of treatment for low back pain, sciatica, and disc herniations (slipped disc), have not always been tried and the patient quickly opts for surgery. Chiropractic is a conservative and highly effective treatment for all types of low back problems. Chiropractic deals with the integrity of the spine and the nervous system. The role of the spine is complex. The spine allows us to stand upright, move forward and backward, and from side to side. The spine also protects the spinal cord and nerves which emanate from it. These nerves exit the spine between the vertebrae (bones) and continue onward to every tissue and organ of the body. Due to a variety of causes subluxation (abnormal mobility and alignment of the spine) can develop and cause a whole complex of problems to arise. When subluxation exists normal nerve transmission can be altered and the body will not be in an optimum state of health. The Doctor of Chiropractic is a specialist of the spine and not only recognizes problems dealing with the mechanical structure of the body but also with other parts of the body that can be affected.

Search begins for gypsy moths

The hunt is on. State and local officials are working together to find traces of gypsy moths in the area.

Agriculture department workers last week began tacking up the orange triangular traps on trees in the Pointes. The department will place 64 traps a square mile, double last year's density of 32 per square mile.

The traps, which contain a pheromone to attract the male moth, will be up well before the moths emerge from their pupae in late June or early July.

The Grosse Pointe Shade Tree Council also put its Gypsy Moth Hot Line into effect last Friday. The 24-hour-a-day number to call for reporting the sighting of moths or larvae is 343-5011. The number will remain in operation until Sept. 1.

City halls in the Pointes and Harper Woods will display posters detailing the life stages of the moth as well as a sample trap. Last year, state officials said they lost no traps to vandalism, something the shade tree council hopes will be repeated this year.

In its June newsletter, the Shade Tree Council detailed the life cycle of the insect. Caterpillars began hatching in mid-to-late May. Emerging at about one-quarter of an inch long, the caterpillars will grow to two inches by mid-July.

During its growth, the moth is a voracious eater that strips trees of leaves. Caterpillars are brown or black and three light stripes along the back.

Each of the body segments of the mature caterpillar, except the first, bears a pair of wart-like growths. The first five pair are blue, the last six are red.

In late June or early July, the gypsy moth larvae will form a brown or black pupae case that is suspended from its resting place by a few strands of silk.

The moths will hatch in 10 to 14 days. Male moths have dark brown wings that span about one-and-a-half inches. The males will fly in zig zag patterns in search of the flightless, white-winged female moth.

The female will deposit her eggs in sheltered locations, often very near where she emerged from her pupae. The light tan or buff colored egg masses resemble dull gold felt or foam rubber and can contain between 100 and 1,000 eggs.

The eggs will remain in their sheltered locations — wood piles, flaps of bark, lawn furniture — until the following May, when the cycle begins again.

The moths' preferred food include the leaves of the birch, beech, oak, cherry, linden and willow trees. In stressed situations, the moths will eat the foliage of pine, spruce and hemlock, according to the Michigan Audubon Society.

Defoliation in Michigan by the insect increased from 19 acres in 1980 to 452 acres in 1983. The agriculture department estimates as many as 1,000 acres may be denuded this year.

The defoliation in Michigan is centered in Isabel and Midland counties, but 10 other central state counties are subject to low-risk quarantines and are being closely watched for infestations.

The 10 affected counties are Arenac, Bay, Clare, Genesee, Gladwin, Gratiot, Mecosta, Montcalm, Oakland and Saginaw.

The May/June issue of the Michigan Audubon News offered those interested more information about the moths. Send 75 cents to cover postage and printing to: Michigan Audubon Society, 409 West F. Avenue, Kalamazoo, Mich. 49007.

The Shade Tree council asks residents who find caterpillars or moths they believe to be gypsy moths to capture them and call the Hot Line. Carefully mark where the moth or caterpillar was taken.

If an egg mass or suspected egg mass is found, don't remove it, the council asks. Call either the Hot Line or the Michigan Department of Agriculture at 368-2230.

The Shade Tree council also has a slide presentation on the gypsy moth and the importance of the urban forest, which the council says is worth $25 million in the area, which can be shown at organized meetings. For more information, contact council chairman Al Mazur at 881 0193.

Park resident thwarts thief

A 17-year-old Grosse Pointe Park resident proved too much for a would-be robber on Saturday, June 2, according to Park police.

Apparently, the thief was observed tampering with a screen on a garage in the 1200 block of Lakepointe by the owner's son. When approached, the man ran and was chased by the son who then waved down a police car. Police arrested the suspect at Lakepointe and Kercheval.

He is awaiting arraignment in the Park jail and will be charged with attempting breaking and entering, said police.

Thief scared away from Woods home

A would-be thief was frightened off before completing the burglary of a home on Stanshope early Saturday morning, May 19, in the Woods.

Officers were called to the home about 6:45 a.m. by the resident, who said he had arrived home and found the door on the east side of the house kicked in. The resident said he hadn't entered the home, according to reports.

Three officers who answered the call searched the home with the resident and found nothing missing, reports said. Police believe the thief was frightened off by something after forcing the door.

Brummel says schools cut at top

The local superintendent of schools was quick to point out recently that Grosse Pointe has bucked the trend when it comes to teacher and administrative staff reduction.

The Detroit News reported May 14 that school systems across the state faced with declining enrollments have reduced their teaching staffs at twice the rate they have cut administrative staffs in the last 10 years. Since 1973, state public schools have cut the number of teachers by 20 percent and administrators by only 10 percent, according to figures supplied by the Michigan Department of Education.

In Grosse Pointe, however, that ratio is reversed, according to Supt. Kenneth Brummel. During the last five years, between 1979-80 and 1984-85, the number of teachers in local public schools has been reduced by 13 percent and the number of administrators by 24 percent, Brummel said. During the same period enrollment has dropped by 22.5 percent, he added. "I think that shows our priorities are in the right place," the superintendent said. His comments were made at a May 14 meeting of the Board of Education to review its $38 million proposed budget for 1984-85.

In that budget, Brummel has called for reducing four positions from the administrative staff to reflect the system's continuing enrollment decline.

Awards go to North seniors

Gregory Browning, North High's class valedictorian, has accepted a scholarship to the University of Michigan School of Engineering as has Andrew Johnson, Salutatorian, and Stanley Jelic, National Merit Finalist, according to counselor Ernest Hurst.

Senior Lynley Jones will attend Northland College in Ashland, Wis., on a Merit scholarship. Steve Spillan has selected the University of Michigan Naval ROTC program, and will attend on a four-year scholarship.

PWP to meet

Parents Without Partners will meet at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial on Friday, June 8, at 8:30 p.m. to hear David Kelley, director of the Fourth Street Play House, Royal Oak, discuss "Contemporary Theater and You."

After the meeting there is the afterglow at the K of C Hall on Little Mack and 10 Mile. Call the Hotline, 881-5892, for further information.

Behler wins a fellowship

Conrad Behler, head of the Social Studies Department of North High School, has been selected as a 1984 Fellow for Independent Study in the Humanities. Sponsored by the Council for Basic Education, the study program provides stipends for teachers to work for eight weeks on topics of their choice.

Behler has selected "Relationships between Nationalism and Romanticism in Nineteenth-Century England, France and Germany" as his topic.

Participants work independently on an intensive study program of their own design. Dennis Gray, program director, congratulated Behler on his excellent plan for summer study and the outstanding personal and professional qualifications that led to this national recognition. More than 1,000 teachers applied for the 125 places.

North geology students win medals at Science Olympiad

Two North High students were among winners in the second annual Michigan Science Olympiad held recently at Oakland University.

Senior Kristine Kuntzman and junior Charlie Tazzia placed first and second respectively in the "Rocks to Riches" competition — a rock and mineral identification contest. Kuntzman earned her second gold medal in the event and was praised by the judges for her 94 percent accuracy and her observations. Silver medalist Tazzia competed in the event for the first time and scored 82 percent, well ahead of the third place 70 percent.

The Olympiad is sponsored by the Michigan Science Teachers Association and several other science teacher organizations. The competition features 18 events and more than 100 schools were represented this year.

Last year, North students placed first and third in the Rocks to Riches competition. "We've done very well in this competition the first two years," Weinkle said. "I wish we could enter more than two students in this event since a number of my geology students would be very competitive."

Both students plan careers in the geological sciences and credit North science teacher Art Weinkle for their accomplishments. They have completed two years each of training under Weinkle in earth science and geology. North's geology class is considered a college-level physical geology course leading to college credit or advanced standing in geology at many Michigan universities.

Star classes hold elections

Our Lady Star of the Sea High School students held their annual elections recently for the 1984-85 school year. Anne McCarthy will serve as president of the student council, with Meghan O'Toole as vice-president, Marissa Bautista as secretary, and Betsy Heitman as treasurer.

Senior student council representatives are Nancy Froelich and Melissa Cosio, junior reps are Marcie Deneau and Theresa Schena, and sophomore representatives Anne Caste and Kate McCarthy.

South grads party all night

In conjunction with the class theme of "Picture Us," decorations will include baby pictures of the graduates. Reservations may be made by sending a check for $15 to the South Mothers' Club.

Special thanks to local merchants and restaurants who donated prizes for the party go the Science Video Productions, Village Shoes, The Bed, Bath and Linens Shop, Second Serve, Valente Jewelers, Inc. A dozen Grosse Pointe students joined participants from across southeastern Michigan at a Young Authors Conference May 1 at the University of Michigan's Dearborn campus.

Local "young authors" were Angie Kim, Melissa Plunkett, Elaine Haberer and Kristin Buckler of Our Lady Star of the Sea School; Josh Wood, Justin Stern-Talbot, Marcia Montmorency and Anna Francis from Maire Elementary; Susan Tucker, Alexandra Hambright, Peter Butler and James Combs, from University Liggett.

7 REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD SUPPORT THE RECALL

1. Closing elementary schools will not result in a school budget savings or a tax reduction on your home.
2. With the closing of elementary schools, the value of your home will go down.
3. New families buy homes and move into the Grosse Pointe area because of neighborhood elementary schools.
4. From 1969 to 1976, moving the sixth graders into the Junior High Schools failed miserably — once. Why spend our precious school tax dollars again for a School Board program that has not worked in the past?
5. For over thirty years our School Board has increased our school millage on the premise that we need smaller classrooms and less students per teacher. Now, they say, large class sizes are fine with the closing of elementary schools. Why?
6. The recall process is part and parcel of the American electorate system and it is your American right as a citizen.
7. A yes vote on recall is the only way we can reverse the closing of elementary schools and the shifting of six graders to the Middle Schools... NOW!

Vote YES on June 11th for the recall because Grosse Pointe, your children and their children's future depends on it!

From Annapolis Orly

By Janet K. ...

Many years ago, Mrs. Russell Alger had white wisteria trees planted in formal gardens bordered by boxwood on the front lawn of her Italian Renaissance home. That home, the Alger family's gift to the community, is now Alger House, the "original" Grosse Pointe War Memorial. It remains the nucleus of a community center complex that may be equaled in the United States, but certainly cannot be surpassed, with facilities ranging from art studios to a fully-equipped theater.

From the first, the Grosse Pointe War Memorial was beautiful, functional — and used. From the first, it served as a center for community gardening activities, for Mrs. Alger stipulated that a sunny, corner, lakeside room on Alger House's second floor be set aside for this purpose.

In 1950, the year after the Algers gave their estate to Grosse Pointe, the Grosse Pointe Garden Center was organized. Its purpose was to provide the community with horticultural and gardening information and education. Its home was that sunny, corner, lakeside room on Alger House's second floor. Today, the Garden Center's purpose and home remain the same, and Marion Alger's wisteria still blossom every spring in the gardens that now bear her name. When they do, the sight is ethereal.

It's spring again in Grosse Pointe, and the wisteria will (hopefully!) be in full bloom tomorrow, Friday, June 8, when the Garden Grosse Pointe Garden Center offers "A Wisteria Welcome" to the community.

More than 1,000 new brochures have been sent to non-members of the Garden Center, people believed by the Center's trustees to be garden-minded. Featured in them are colored photographs by Mrs. Charles A. Parcels Jr. The pictures, even more effectively than the brochure's few written words, tell the story of the Garden Center's continued value to the community.

The idea, behind the brochures and behind the Wisteria Welcome, is to get that story out, to make Grosse Pointers more aware of and more involved in their own Garden Center. "It's one of the finest in the country," says Mrs. James L. Schueler, one of its past-presidents, general chairman of tomorrow's 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. program.

Sally Schueler designed and painted the wisteria featured on invitations sent to hundreds of Garden Center members, and on posters displayed in-the-Village and on-the-Hill. And she's wearing a third Wisteria Welcome hat: as ways and means chairman of the Garden Center's board of trustees, Sally is distributing many raffle tickets for a carved red-wood bunny garden ornament.

Miss Mourad speaks vows

At home in the Detroit area are Mr. and Mrs. David Paul DeFour, who vacationed on Paradise Island in the Bahamas following their wedding Saturday, January 14, in the Grosse Pointe Academy's Sacred Heart Chapel.

Mrs. DeFour is the former Michelle Anne Mourad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Philip Mourad, of Shelden Road, Mr. DeFour is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Howard DeFour, of Detroit.

A reception at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial followed the 5 o'clock candlelight ceremony. The Reverend Thomas Finnigan presided. Altar boys serving at the nuptial mass were Christopher Mourad, youngest brother of the bride, and Gary DeFour, youngest brother of the bridegroom.

Soloist was Maureen Neuhaus, cousin of the bridegroom. Scripture readings were given by Leo Studzinski, a friend of the bridegroom, who resides in Iowa. All the floral bouquets, boutonnières and corsages were made by the bride and her mother.

The former Miss Mourad designed and made her white satin wedding gown. Schiffler lace edged its front and back V-neckline. Its fitted bodice, with a dropped waistline, featured long, satin sleeves, slightly gathered at the shoulders, edged with matching lace. Its full skirt extended into a train.

She also designed and made her headpiece: a satin cap holding a floor length, lace-hemmed tulle veil. White ribbons accented her bouquet of white silk roses, stephanotis, lilies-of-the-valley and baby's-breath.

Mary Beth Mourad, honor maid for her sister, and bridesmaids Christine Mourad, another sister, Diane Sherwood, the bridegroom's sister, and Mary Jo Ambrozio, a friend of the bride from nursing school, carried arrangements of lavender silk flowers and baby's-breath, accented with lavender ribbons.

Their floor length dresses of lavender taffeta featured sweetheart necklines and elbow length, gathered sleeves. Their slightly gathered skirts fell from fitted waistlines, defined by a taffeta bow.

Craig DeFour acted as best man for his brother. Groomsmen were Paul DeFour, another brother, Roger Mourad, the bride's brother, and Mark Cullen, of Reno, Nev. Ushers were two more brothers of the bride, Brian and Matthew Mourad.

The mother of the bride pinned an ivory silk orchid corsage to the shoulder of her cocktail length dress of taupe and ivory silk. The bridegroom's mother selected a floor length dress, rose in color, with a matching lace jacket, and a wrist corsage of baby blue and rose silk.

Special guests included the bride's grandmother, Lillian McUsic, and the bridegroom's grandmother, Beatrice Denham.

Out-of-town guests included John Breger, of East Haven, Conn., Carrie Zehnpfennig, of Los Angeles, Calif., and Cranson and Nancy Knechtel, of Waterloo, Ont.

Virginia rites for Miss Ault

The late morning ceremony Saturday, September 3, was followed by a luncheon reception at the Westwood Country Club in Vienna, Va.

The bride, who wore a gown of lace-embroidered English net, styled with a sweep train, designed her whisper veil which fell from a wreath of silk flowers and satin ribbon. She carried a cascade of stephanotis and white and deep pink roses, with English ivy.

Honor maid Sandra Quasarano, of The Woods, bridesmaids Terry A. Weipert and Mary Bea Kampman, the bride's sisters, and Leslie R. Gosey, the bridegroom's sister, in dresses of cloudy blue organza, carried arrangements of long-stemmed, pink roses and English ivy, tied with satin ribbons.

Best man was Scott E. Ritter. Guests were seated by William R. Pearce, William H. Wood III and the bridegroom's brother, James M. Richardson.

The bride's brothers, John B. Ault, of St. Louis, Mo., and James A. Ault, of Lansing, presented readings during the marriage service.

Special guests included the bride's great-aunt, Miss Leona Brady, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and the bride's godmother, Mary Gene Meagher, of Laguna Beach, Calif.

Among those who traveled from Michigan for the wedding were the bride's sister-in-law, Kathy Ault, of Lansing, and Pointe residents Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Coulter and Dr. and Mrs. Gomer P. Evans. Former Whittier Road residents Dr. and Mrs. Richard G. Lynch came from their new home in Burlington, Vt.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Richardson are currently residing in Arlington, Va. The 4 o'clock ceremony at which The Reverend John Mellin presided was followed by a reception at 680 Park Avenue, after which the newlyweds left to vacation in England and Scotland.

They will make their home in New York City where the bride, who holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Michigan and a Master of Arts degree from Oakland University, is employed by AT&T Communications, and the bridegroom, who holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from St. John's University and is attending New York University Graduate School of Business, is employed by AT&T Information Systems.

The former Miss Stewart's wedding gown was tea length, fashioned of white Chantilly lace. With it, she wore a matching, up-turned picture hat and chapel length veil. She carried a traditional bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and baby's-breath.

She was attended by her sister-in-law, Deborah Christensen Stewart, of Topanga, Calif., as matron of honor, and by bridesmaid Nancy Marie Johnson, of Kalamazoo. Their tea length dresses were fashioned of pale blue and white silk, and they carried bouquets of spring flowers.

Fash Bash fun has already begun

Fash Bash '84 fun began in late May, with a press preview party at DuMouchelle Art Galleries where some of the hundreds of items to be featured at Fash Bash live and silent auctions next Tuesday, June 12, in the Westin Hotel fourth level ballroom were on display. Looking over two of those items in the picture above are Grosse Pointers (left to right) LIZ DU MOUCHELLE, ERNEST DU MOUCHELLE, who will run the live auction, CHRISSIE ZOUFAL, BILL ZOUFAL, Fash Bash chairman, and JOHN and KAREN SCHULTES, auction chairmen: six of the many local residents working on this 15th annual benefit sponsored by the Junior Council of the Founders Society Detroit Institute of Arts, and Hudson's. Other highlights of Fash Bash '84 include a Hudson's fall fashion extravaganza and presentation of the 1984 Fragrance and Fashion World "Rising Stars." AND there'll be music, AND there'll be dancing, AND there'll be refreshments, beginning with cocktails at 5 p.m. There's still time for you to get in on the fun by picking up your Fash Bash tickets in advance ($15) at the museum's ticket office, Hudson's and other Ticket World outlets or Nemo's in Renaissance Center, or getting them at the door ($18) Tuesday night.

Another Grand Prix Ball night for Music Hall

It was "fabulous" ... "gorgeous and exciting" ... featured "the greatest array of Detroit's 'princes and princesses'" — these are just a few of the many printed descriptions of 1983's Detroit Grand Prix Ball and of those who attended The Party of the Year.

Again in '84, more than 100 of the metropolitan area's civic, social and business leaders are joining forces to stage this opening event of Detroit's Grand Prix week as a benefit for the non-profit Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts.

The ball will be held Thursday, June 21, at the Westin Hotel in Ren-Cen. Chairing it is Grosse Pointe's Ruth (Mrs. Joseph A. Jr.) Vance. Mr. and Mrs. R. Jamison Williams, of Birmingham, have teamed as co-chairmen.

Honorary chairmen are Governor and Mrs. James J. Blanchard, Mayor Coleman A. Young and Mr. and Mrs. Mason J. Reynolds. Mr. Reynolds is president of Allied Automotive, which has provided a generous grant to underwrite promotion and entertainment costs for the Grand Prix Ball.

Allied's involvement in Formula

One racing began in 1983, when Allied and Bendix Corporation, a sponsor of Detroit Grand Prix II that year, merged. Allied Automotive is a major sponsor of Detroit Grand Prix III and, continuing a tradition started by Bendix, will present the Bendix Trophy to the winner of the Detroit Formula One World Championship Race. The trophy will be on display at the ball. "Music Hall Center is pleased to be a part of this celebration of the Grand Prix races," said Robert P. Roselle, chairman of Music Hall's board of trustees. He noted that last year's ball raised more than $30,000 for the performing arts center's Program Fund.

"We are especially enthusiastic about our entertainers for the evening," added Ruth Vance. "They are international stars, who truly represent what the Grand Prix races mean to Detroit."

Grand Prix ball headliner is jazz pianist and vocalist Tania Maria. Born in Brazil, she began performing professionally in her native land at age 13, launched her international career by moving to France, then moved to the United States. Her sound has been described as a com-bin of Brazil's native samba, jazz styles and a bit of Ravel.

Tania Maria, termed by The New York Times "one of the jazz world's fastest rising stars," will return to Detroit in September as one of the Montreux/Detroit KOOL JAZZ Festival's featured artists.

Grand Prix Ball guests will dance to the music of J.C. Heard and his orchestra, which will represent Detroit this summer at jazz festivals in Montreux, Switzerland; Holland and Finland. Heard recently received a Michigan Foundation for the Arts award for his contributions to the state's musical scene.

Invitations to the ball may be obtained by calling Music Hall's Development Office, 963-7622. Individual tickets are $150. Tables for 10 are $1,500. Tickets are tax deductible to the extent provided by law.

Among the Grosse Pointe members of the Grand Prix Ball patrons committee are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Fisher III, Mr. and Mrs. Edsel B. Ford II, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred R. Glancy III, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar L. Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lee Schoenith, The Honorable and Mrs. Peter B. Spivak and Mr. and Mrs. Peter W. Stroh.

June Festival set at School for the Deaf

Traditionally, the second Sunday in June is the date of the Annual Festival at the Lutheran School for the Deaf, located as it has been since its founding 111 years ago on East Nevada, near Van Dyke, in Detroit.

This year is no exception. All are welcome at the 1984 Festival Sunday, June 10. Visitors can tour the school building, and enjoy a beef and pork dinner ($4 for adults, $2 for children) served from 11:30 a.m. by the Lutheran Ladies Auxiliary for the Deaf.

Picnic food and refreshments will be available in the pavilion throughout the afternoon. A combined Children's Program and Festival Service begins in the School Grove (or the gym, if the weather is inclement) at 2:30 p.m. Speaking parts will be "signed" for hearing-impaired persons in the audience.

While the school began as a facility for deaf children only, it has expanded in recent years to include classes for hearing children who have special educational needs. There is also a class for exceptionally gifted hearing children.

Students in these specialized classes come from Detroit and its suburbs; the deaf children come not only from Detroit and Michigan and its neighboring states, but also from Canada and the Bahamas. Currently, there is one child from Nigeria, Africa.

The deaf children are boarded at the school, which offers primary through high school education in classes limited to 10 students in order to give greater individual attention to each child. Students of any faith, creed or ethnic background are accepted, although all attend religion classes. No qualified child is turned away because of lack of funds.

The school, accredited by the Michigan and Illinois Departments of Public Instruction, is operated by an Association of Lutheran Churches throughout the United States and Canada.

DSO ready to tour UP

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra will make its 11th annual tour of Michigan's Upper Peninsula June 13 to 16, performing eight concerts in five cities under the batons of Michael Krajevski, assistant conductor, and Ned Battista, guest conductor.

As in previous seasons, the DSO will divide into two ensembles, performing classical concerts in Iron Mountain, Menominee, Calumet and Cheboygan and pops concerts in Menominee, Ironwood, Iron Mountain and Calumet.

End Sigma Kappa year with salads

Grosse Pointe Alumnae of Sigma Kappa will sample a variety of salads brought by members to the annual year-end dinner meeting, to be held this year on Wednesday, June 13, at 7 p.m. in the Detroit home of Nancy Kirk who will be assisted by co-hostess Carole Peters (Mrs. A.W.) Lombardini.

During a short business session following dinner, the membership will discuss chapter participation at Sigma Kappa's national convention, running June 20 to 24 in Denver, Colo. Proposed amendments to Sigma Kappa's national constitution and by-laws are also on the business agenda.

Members are requested to bring a clean and usable item for the white elephant auction that will conclude the evening, which is open to all area Sigma Kappas, alumnae and collegiate.

Reservations are, however, required, by this Saturday, June 9. They are being accepted by Ruth Saur at 331-5812, Delores Parham (Mrs. Donald) Littlefield at 881-1042 and Maryn Cation (Mrs. John) Horn at 884-3018.

From Another Pointe Of View

The day begins with a sale of silver-colored border plants in the covered walkway on the left side of The Marion Alger Memorial Gardens, and an Art of Bonsai display on the walkway beyond the sale.

The Bonsai exhibit will feature some rare examples of miniature trees created and maintained by men and women who learned how to make them at Grosse Pointe Garden Center-sponsored Bonsai Workshops. The Garden Center sponsors lectures, too. At 10:30 a.m., in Fries Auditorium, Betty Frankel, garden writer for the Detroit Free Press, will address a Wisteria Welcome audience, describing how "East Meets West" through the oriental gardens cultivated in this country.

A noontime "sandwichboard" luncheon will be set out on a buffet table in the walkway, where everyone can enjoy the gardens. There will be no charge for Garden Center members, but guests will be asked to pay a small luncheon fee as well as an admission fee of $3.50.

There'll be a table where people who would like to join the Garden Center will be especially welcomed. After luncheon, everyone will be invited to visit the Trial Gardens on the War Memorial's lakeside lawn, planned, planted and maintained by the Garden Center. This year's flowers were put in May 21, 22 and 23 by members of local garden clubs, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Charles A. Bigelow, with the assistance of Mrs. Charles W. Morris Jr.

30th Anniversary for ASC

Adult Service Centers, Inc., an agency started by the Junior League of Detroit as a small, storefront center on Mack Avenue, celebrates its 30th anniversary with a dinner and musical revue tomorrow, Friday, June 8, at the Lansdowne floating restaurant.

The party will also mark the launching of an Assistance League to provide public awareness of and financial support for ASC's programs of aid to the elderly, mentally ill and developmentally disabled. Memberships will be divided into two categories: active (annual dues, $10) and associate (annual dues, $20).

Grosse Pointers have always been involved and interested in ASC's work. Margherita S. Allardice is the agency's executive director. She is also a member of the State Commission on Services to the Aging. Other Pointe residents serving on ASC's board of directors are Mrs. William Gard, Mrs. William Grierson, Mrs. Esther Howell, Ms. Barbara Locke, Mrs. Douglas F. Roby Jr., Mrs. Frederick Schumann, Miss Eloise Spencer, Mrs. Quinn D. Thomas, Mrs. Lyle A. Heavner, Alfred H. Schrashun and Mrs. G. Frederick Schaefer Jr.

The honorary board includes Pointers Mrs. Theodore Buttrick, Mrs. Henry T. Ewald Jr., Danforth Holley, Mr. and Mrs. H. Ripley Schemm, Mrs. Frank J. Sladen and Mrs. Joseph A. Vance Jr. Consultants to ASC are Richard B. Marsh and Hudson Mead, also of The Pointe.

Now for a bit of history: in 1958, Adult Service Centers, Inc., then called The Senior Center, became an independent agency, primarily funded by United Community Services. In 1967, ASC extended its services to the elderly on the west side and began social services programs in nursing homes.

In 1973, the agency began working with mentally ill and developmentally disabled persons upon their release from institutions and placement in aftercare homes. In 1975, the original Senior Center was moved to the Butzel Family Center. Mental health services for the elderly were established at Butzel in 1978.

In 1981, the mental health program was divided into two centers. Developmental Disability Services, at Butzel, and Pathways, housed with ASC's administrative offices in a new building at Field and Agnes, provide services for mentally ill adults.

In 1982, Neighborhood Opportunity Funds enabled ASC to provide aid to seniors in the Coleman A. Young Community Center. Last year, the in-home care for the elderly that ASC has provided since 1980 in Allen Park was extended to Lincoln Park, Ecorse, River Rouge and Melvindale.

The Junior League, working with officers, staff and friends of ASC, has aided in this further development of the agency's activities. For the past year, members of the Junior League's Senior Focus Area have provided leadership in the formation of the new ASC Assistance League, which will hold annual fund raising events and may recruit volunteers for the agency's programs. Anyone wishing to join the Assistance League is invited to contact Adult Service Centers, Inc., 1423 Field Avenue, Detroit, Mich. 48214 (924-7860).

Toasts and tributes for Stars & Stripes

The light summer air was filled with talk of sailing and sailors, of races won and lost, last Friday, June 1, as Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Fisher Jr. joined Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Schroeder Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. John A. Hendrie, of The Pointe, and Mr. and Mrs. William C. Martin, of Ann Arbor, at the Grosse Pointe Club to host a lively cocktail reception for friends and crew of the U.S. 5002 Stars & Stripes.

Guests were invited to visit the yacht that bears the colors of her country, moored at the Little Club's marina. Gary Jobson, tactician for Stars & Stripes and tactician for the last three America's Cup challenges, gave a presentation on both the America's Cup and the Canada's Cup series.

Jobson, a world-renowned sailor, was featured as May's "Man of Distinction" in national advertising for a popular brand of Scotch.

Grosse Pointe attorney Richard

Grow, chairman of the Stars & Stripes committee, and his fiancée, Tina Fisher, attended the nautical evening, appropriately decked out in red, white and blue. Peter and Lynn Maxwell followed suit.

Bill Martin, owner and skipper of the sleek, state of the art yacht that hopes to be the final challenger in the 1984 Canada's Cup this September, greeted his longtime good friend Don Canham, of the University of Michigan, who came just to look over the spectacular craft.

Martin is determined to bring the Canada's Cup back to The States, and to Michigan. Match trials began May 30 and will continue all summer on Lake St. Clair. They should be visible from The Pointe on the Canadian side of the lake, just off the Farms Pier.

The final race with the Royal Yacht Club of Toronto's challenger is scheduled for mid-September, on Lake Ontario.

To lead Woman's Club

The club's annual contributions this year went to the Foundation for Exceptional Children, the Children's Home of Detroit, the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Family Fund, Leader Dogs for the Blind and the Salvation Army.

In addition, the club presented Achievement Awards, which include a financial benefit, based on high scholastic achievement, good citizenship, leadership and participation in extracurricular activities, to Grosse Pointe North High School graduating senior Kathleen Bakeman and Grosse Pointe South High School graduating senior Carol Wolak.

Wine tasting for amateurs

You don't have to be a connoisseur of vintage wines, nor do you have to be wealthy, to enjoy the Wine Tasting the Grosse Pointe War Memorial has planned for Thursday evening, June 21. For this tasting is especially designed for the discerning consumer, the wine devotee... for those who want to get top value for their dollar.

A dozen table wines, red and white, selected by distributors as this season's best buys, will be available for tasting, along with a complete list of their retail prices and local shops where they may be purchased.

Prices will range no higher than $10. Some wines will be half that cost. Bread and cheese will be furnished for nibbling between sips, and the War Memorial's own panel of experts, headed by Alex Sucek, will be on hand to discuss the wines and answer questions.

You do have to make reservations for this Wine Tasting early, for capacity is limited, with a cut-off date of next Thursday, June 14. Cost is $8 per person. Additional information may be obtained by calling 881-7511.

Pointe ABWA plans to toast associates

The Grosse Pointe Chapter of the American Business Women's Association will hold its annual Business Associate Event, honoring associates and employers of ABWA members and providing an opportunity for members to learn about other fields, industries and positions, on Wednesday, June 20, at Hillcrest Country Club.

Guest speaker will be Clare A. Keller, vice-president of Civic Affairs and an officer of the Automobile Club of Michigan. Dr. Keller has an extensive background as a management consultant in both the public and the private sector.

ABWA, more than 105,000 members strong, is an educational association, with the awarding of scholarships one of its key programs. ABWA's 2,000 chapters awarded over $2 million in scholarships to women students during the past year.

The Grosse Pointe ABWA, a very new chapter, will award $1,500 this year.

A New Order for Marvin

In 1972, Marvin R. Anderson, of South Deeplands Road, flanked above by his son, Kim Cook Anderson, and daughter Tina (Mrs. Russell W. III) Knowles, received Sweden's Royal Order of Vasa, Knight First Class. This spring, at a mid-May dinner sponsored by the Detroit-Swedish Council at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club, the recently retired Honorary Swedish Consul for the State of Michigan received a new Order — the Royal Order, Commander of the North Star — presented by Lars Arno, Consul General of Sweden, on behalf of His Majesty King Carl XVI Gustaf, King of Sweden. Consul General Arno came from Chicago with Mrs. Arno to place the new Order around Marvin Anderson's neck.

LeRoy W. Dahlberg, was toastmaster for the evening. Program participants included Kim Anderson, of Provençal Road, who spoke about his father, and Arvid Lundell, also of The Pointe, a lifelong friend, who reminisced about their early years and their parents, who were associated together in several business firms.

Mrs. John Ylvisaker, retiring president of the Detroit-Swedish Council presented Consul Anderson with a gift from his many friends: a piece of Orrefors crystal. Before the evening ended, Consul General Arno announced that E. Jan Hartmann had been appointed the new Honorary Swedish Consul for the State of Michigan.

Prior to the dinner, the Council held its annual meeting, electing a new president, Donald R. Borgeson, and vice-presidents Gordon Arreen and Erik E. Erikson. Ernest A. Jones was re-elected a vice-president. Secretary and treasurer, respectively, are Signe Karstrom and William E. Hoglund.

Among the 120 guests was Joan Fisher, daughter of Petie (Mrs. Marvin) Anderson. Others present, from The Pointe, included Mary Lundell, Arvid's wife, Jane Wood, who chaired the invitations and reservations committee, and her husband, Bill, and Ingrid Koebel, who chaired hosts and hostesses.

More were Mary and Charles Brown, the Oscar Olsons, Dr. and Mrs. Constantine Trued (he gave the invocation). Mr. and Mrs. Carlton R. Lindell, Edward Gensberg, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Westman, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley R. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Ulf Stahl.

Pointe Garden Club thanks its president

Laura H. ...'s home was the setting this spring for the Pointe Garden Club's annual meeting, which began with a salad luncheon prepared by Deanna Stevens, Lillian Stewart and Joan Warren. A round of members' thanks went to Sally Schueler, retiring after a two-year term as president. The afternoon concluded with an auction of plants, cuttings and baked goods.

Gilbert-Nurmi betrothal told

Mr. and Mrs. Helge E. Nurmi, of Bournemouth Circle, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Lynn Marie, to Henry Stephen Gilbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gilbert, of Western Springs, Ill. A spring wedding is planned.

Miss Nurmi was graduated from Grosse Pointe North High School and holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Merchandising Management from Michigan State University. Her fiancé holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Construction Management Engineering, with a minor in Mechanical Engineering, from Purdue University.

A third generation South High grad

Wendy Honstain will make family history next week, as the third generation of her family to graduate from Grosse Pointe South High School. Her grandmother, Virginia (Allard) Shannon, of McMillan Road, picked up her diploma with the Class of 1940. Her mother, Diane (Shannon) Honstain, of Moross Road, was graduated with the Class of 1961.

Now along comes Wendy, South High Class of 1984, planning to attend Eastern Michigan University in the fall. And in another two or three decades... well, that, of course, is up to Wendy, but who'd want to be responsible for breaking such a nice family tradition?

Phase I plans summer play

A weekend of summer play is in store for members of Phase I, the organization for single, young adults, ages 20 through 39, who gather regularly for Sunday evening program meetings at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

Tennis is on the schedule for

Two to play jazz at DIA

Saturday, June 9. Play begins at 4 p.m. on the courts on the east side of Macomb County Community College's P Building, weather permitting. In place of a regular program meeting this Sunday, June 10, Phase I will celebrate summer with a June dance, starting at 7:45 p.m., at Memorial Church.

Bassist Ron Carter and guitarist Jim Hall will perform duets at 7 and 9:30 p.m. "Jazz at the Institute" concerts in the Detroit Institute of Arts' indoor garden cafe, Kresge Court, tomorrow, Friday, June 8.

Tickets at $7 per person are available in advance through the museum ticket office. Reservations may be made by calling 832-2730 during regular business hours. Tickets will also be sold at the door, if space is available.

Wine, beer, soft drinks and snacks are available during the concerts, at a small additional cost. "Jazz at the Institute" continues on Friday evenings at the DIA through Aug. 24. A detailed schedule will be mailed upon request.

Get Bartenders Ball tickets

Tickets for the Second Annual Bartenders Ball, a benefit for the Capuchin Soup Kitchen and Crossroads, are available now at The Old Place, where the party will run from 7 p.m. to 2 a.m. Monday, June 18, and at The Golden Lion and Little Harry's, for a tax deductible donation of $15.

Weekend College offered at Mercy

Mercy College of Detroit's Weekend College program, which offers Saturday classes in six fields of study for working adults who wish to earn a Bachelors or Associate degree, will be explained during open house information sessions at Mercy's Conference Center tonight, Thursday, June 7, from 5 to 7:30 p.m. and Saturday, June 9, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The Weekend College offers Bachelors degrees in Business Administration, Public Administration, Health Care Administration, Health Services and Medical Record Science, and an Associate degree program for Legal Assistants.

Classes generally meet five times in a semester, with two Saturdays between each session. Students supplement classroom work with directed study assignments, and are able to transfer credits from previous college courses and to receive academic credit for pertinent professional experience. In addition, they are eligible for financial aid consideration as part-time students.

Further information may be obtained by calling the Mercy College Admissions office, 592-6030, or the Weekend College office, 592-6100. Mercy is located on West Outer Drive, near the Southfield Freeway, between Six and Seven Mile Roads

Chrysanthemum Society to meet

Recent introductions of chrysanthemums will be featured in a slide program provided by King's Mums, of Clements, Calif., at the Greater Detroit Chrysanthemum Society's free, open-to-the-public meeting this Sunday, June 10, at 2 p.m. in the Community Room of the Tel-Twelve Mall.

The program will also feature a panel discussion: Paul E. Machuga, Joanne Nazaroff and Ralph Carter reporting on the "Planting and Care of Mums." A question-and-answer period will follow, and various society members will be available as consultants for individuals. Printed materials on how to grow mums will also be available.

Pair to wed in California

Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Mann, who moved recently from Audubon Road to Rochester, are announcing the engagement of his daughter, Eileen M. Mann, to Dr. Pierre D. La Mothe, of Somerset Road, son of Dr. and Mrs. Daniel L. Mothe, of Pebble Beach, Calif.

Miss Mann, who is also the daughter of the late Rita Mann, holds a Master of Science degree in Nursing from Wayne State University. She is assistant director for Home Health Care, Inc., Southfield.

Her fiancé received his M.D. from Wayne State University and begins a residency in Pediatrics this month in San Francisco, Calif. The wedding is planned for February, in Carmel, Calif.

Pair of MOT June benefits

Two events to benefit Michigan Opera Theatre are on this year's early June agenda. The first, next Wednesday, June 13, is the grand opening of the Stork Club in Center Line, with Miss America Vanessa Williams as special guest entertainer.

The nightclub has been modelled after the Stork Club that was THE gathering spot for celebrities in New York from 1934 to 1965. Minimum opening night ticket donations are $20 per person, $35 per couple, covering complimentary hors d'oeuvres, music and entertainment. A cash bar will be available.

Further information may be obtained by contacting John P. Finck, director of Public Relations for MOT, 963-3717, or the Stork Club, 759-2221. Dinner reservations are optional.

The second benefit is set for 7 p.m. Friday, June 15, in the Westin Hotel's Ontario Room. It is sponsored by Single Source and marks the opening of a three-day educational exposition and seminar on "How to Be a Single Person."

Admission is $10, covering a wine and cheese reception with a background of jazz music, and a Broadway revue presented by MOT's Overture to Opera Company. Ticket information may be obtained by calling 642-6366.

Call Pointer Bridge Girls

Members of the Pointer Girls' Bridge Club will celebrate their 10th anniversary with a gala party at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club on Wednesday, June 20 — a day earlier than their usual monthly meeting day. Reservations for the party, which begins at 11:30 a.m., are $12, and should be mailed immediately to P.O. Box 36004.

Open Asian DIA Galleries

The newly-designed Asian Art Galleries of the Detroit Institute of Arts opened to the public early in May, completing a year-long renovation process. The varied cultural legacies of India, China, Korea and Japan are now defined in individual gallery spaces, with new lighting, display cases and carpeting.

Objects chosen for the opening installation represent the best in the museum's permanent collection and include many paintings, lacquers and kimono acquired during the past year. New case construction allows for greater flexibility, a desirable feature in galleries where scrolls, screens and textiles will change periodically.

Each case has a separate unit to maintain optimum climatic conditions for its contents.

The renovation was assisted by a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts. The Japanese Gallery now occupies 2900 square feet, doubling the space previously allocated to Japanese Art. It is the focal point of the renovation and reflects the greatest growth in the collection.

Korean Art, a growing area of the collection, occupies a 375-square foot gallery. Chinese Art now occupies its own 1325-square foot gallery, rather than sharing space with Japanese Art as in years past, and a 925-square foot Indian Art Gallery shows a number of well-known objects from the museum's permanent collection.

Among patrons recognized at a pair of Asian Galleries previews, an invitational dinner May 1 and a patron reception May 2, were Grosse Pointe residents Mrs. Charles M. Endicott and the late Mr. Endicott, Mrs. George M. Endicott and her late husband, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Chamberlin and Dr. and Mrs. Clyde Wu.

A formal welcome to The Met

Grosse Pointe's PEGGY and JOHN B. FORD III (center) are flanked at left by MR. and MRS. PHILIP CALDWELL, of Bloomfield Hills, at right by CHRIS and BRUCE CRAWFORD, of New York, at the Detroit Grand Opera Association's Met Week in Detroit Opening Night Benefit Dinner held Monday, May 28, in the Masonic Temple's Crystal Ballroom. Mr. Ford is the DGOA's president and general manager. Mrs. Caldwell chaired the dinner, a $100-a-plate, black tie affair which preceded that evening's Met performance of "Peter Grimes" in Masonic Auditorium. Mr. Crawford is the Metropolitan Opera's new president.

Warming up for T&C

The Grosse Pointe Tennis and Crumpets committee warmed up for the 1984 season in a delightful fashion this spring, with a mid-May hostess and liasons cocktail party at the Provençal Road home of Dr. and Mrs. Miguel Lorenzini. Pictured above with MARIA LORENZINI (seated, center), chairman of this year's Grosse Pointe edition of the annual benefit for Children's Hospital of Michigan, are (back row, left and right) TRISHA GASKINS, chairman of the Juniors, Men's and Women's Doubles and Mixed Doubles Tournaments, and ANNA PLATT; (seated, left and right) GERALDYNE JOHNSON and ESTELA RODRIGUEZ. The first T&C '84 event is the Junior Tournament, at 11 a.m. Wednesday, June 20, at the Grosse Pointe Woods Municipal Park. The committee has sent application forms to all local schools, clubs and tennis houses. Invitations for the adult tournaments, scheduled for September, will go out in mid-July. T&C winds up its '84 season in late October with the Windmill Pointe Luv Run, sponsored by James Seymour of Seymour Cadillac-SAAB, and a new-this-year card party at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

Rose Society meets June 13

Judy Bell, an experienced rose show exhibitor, will speak at the Grosse Pointe Rose Society's meeting next Wednesday, June 13, at 7:45 p.m. at the Neighborhood Club — which is also the location of the Pointe Rose Society's Annual Rose Show, to be held Friday and Saturday, June 22 and 23, this year.

The public is invited to this admission-free meeting, to obtain more information on exhibiting roses and the upcoming show. Mrs. Bell, who has won many awards locally and nationally, will explain and demonstrate what can be done to a bloom to make it look its best when exhibited.

She will cover the proper time for and method of cutting a rose, leaf cleaning and petal rearranging and the proper care of the cut bloom.

The speaker is president of the Detroit Rose Society and a Consulting Rosarian for the American Rose Society, in which she is also very active. She and her husband own the state's largest miniature rose nursery, Michigan Mini Roses.

To help overcome the fear of exhibiting that grips many rose growers, experienced as well as beginner, Mrs. Bell advises you to remember this simple statement: Each time you cut a bloom and put it in a vase, you are exhibiting. Whether it is for your own table, a gift to a friend or an entry in a rose show, your rose deserves to look its best.

Hostesses for next Wednesday's meeting will be Debbie Leslie and Jane Mertz. The Grosse Pointe Rose Society is co-sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Public School System.

post-luncheon program will focus on an American Heritage theme, with Mrs. Clinton Simpson, state regent, reporting on National Society DAR Period Rooms.

Fort Pontchartrain's new officers from The Pointe area include Mrs. Bernard L. Seitz, regent, Mrs. Paul Honderick, corresponding secretary, Mrs. George P. Killeen, registrar, Mrs. McKinnon, financial secretary, and Mrs. Jensen, director.

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featuring, this week, a basket of FRUIT DESSERTS.

It is proclaimed by the nation's top-ranking nutrition experts that vegetables furnish nutrients that feed the body, and fruits purify the body. Practically every diet provides at least two or more fruits per day to meet minimum requirements for optimal health. While plain, fresh fruits are always delightful, try these variations for a truly epicurean experience.

STRAWBERRY MOUSSE

- 2 pints (4 cups) strawberries or 1 pkg. (1 lb.) frozen, unsugared strawberries, unthawed
- 1 env. unflavored gelatin
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup water
- 2 egg whites
- Pinch cream of tartar
- 2 cups whipped topping

Prepare collar for a 3-cup souffle dish by measuring off wax paper long enough to encircle dish, then folding in half lengthwise. Wax paper should be about 2 inches higher than rim of dish. Fasten collar with tape or string.

Wash, hull and pat strawberries dry on toweling. Purée berries a cup at a time in container of blender; pour into bowl. Repeat until all are pureed.

Combine gelatin and 1/4 cup of the sugar in small saucepan. Stir in water. Place over very low heat and stir constantly until gelatin and sugar are dissolved. Cool mixture. Stir cooled gelatin mixture into pureed strawberries. Put bowl in pan partly filled with ice and water to speed setting.

Beat egg whites with cream of tartar in small bowl with electric mixer until foamy white. Beat in the remaining 1/4 cup sugar, a Tbsp. at a time, until meringue stands in soft peaks. Beat topping in another small bowl until soft peaks form.

Fold meringue and whipped topping into strawberry mixture until no streaks of white remain. Pour into prepared dish. Refrigerate at least 4 hours, or until set. Remove collar gently, freeing souffle from wax paper, if necessary, with a small knife. Garnish with whipped topping rosettes and strawberries. Makes 8 servings.

- 4 very thin orange slices
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 2 Tbsp. brown sugar
- 1/2 tsp. grated lemon peel
- 2 Tbsp. unsalted margarine, melted
- 1/2 cup flaked coconut

Drain canned fruit well; arrange with orange slices in a shallow baking dish. Mix orange juice, sugar and peel; pour over fruit. Drizzle with melted margarine. Sprinkle with coconut. Bake in preheated 325° oven 15 minutes, or until hot and coconut is toasted. Serve warm. Makes 8 servings.

Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

The 'sea' and me . . .

"What an opportunity," I thought to myself. After all, how many times does a person get invited to ride on a judges boat and watch the start of a sailboat race?

Not many, if that person is me. Until the last Saturday in May, the only boat I'd ever been on carried a couple thousand passengers and was headed in the general direction of Bob-Lo Island. But hey, I'm a professional, right? A big time sportswriter like me gets invitations like this all the time, right? Nothing to get excited about.

I only hope that Detroit Yacht Club race committee official Bill Heller didn't hear me squeal when he asked over the phone if I would like to watch the start of the NYC's 68th memorial regatta from the judges boat. Sure, I could probably squeeze it in, I told him.

The day of the race, my thoughts raced from what to wear (soft-soled shoes and a nice warm jacket) to how to appear as though I actually knew what I was doing. Before the NYC race, I barely knew a main from a jib and I was concerned about showing my ignorance.

I needn't have worried. Once aboard the Turco VI, piloted by fleet captain Louie Turco, I found that commodores are like old salts everywhere and once they find an attentive audience, they're happy to fill you in on everything. And everything is just what I didn't know about sailing.

For example, I used to watch sailboats sail back and forth . . . and back and forth . . . and back again, just off the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club on Saturday mornings. I'd always thought that those sailors had a) lost something in the water; b) didn't really have any place else to go; or c) just really, really liked the water just off the GPYC.

I now know that the boats sail back and forth, readying themselves for races, plotting to be in just the right spot to get that spinnaker up and cross the starting line at just the right time. And that means not too early and not too late.

I also know, courtesy of a commodore, that sailboat races go on no matter what. In bad weather and good. In poor winds and in excellent ones. They just take a lot longer when everything isn't perfect.

All together, I spent about four hours on the Turco VI and I loved every minute of it. And, while I certainly won't be in line for a spot on the crew of say, Canada's Cup hopefuls like Stars and Stripes or Signature, I did learn a lot. And all I had to do was ask a few questions, enjoy the sun and the wind and the sights, sit back and listen. And hear things like:

"Heck no, sailing isn't an expensive sport. Just don't make the mistake of being a skipper. Get on the crew and then you can be one of the kids who screws up the skipper's boat . . ."

"Oh, boy, he's about to run over his chute. Yep, he's gonna get bottom paint on that chute. Well, that's what sailmakers are for . . ."

"Okay, the pole's up, now he's committed. He wants to make sure he doesn't go over that line early."

Little by little, I began to understand sailing a little more. (Okay, I confess. I did have to use a dictionary to fully understand the difference between main and jib sails. But I never said I was Sinbad the Sailor.)

But among the things I found out that day out on Captain Louie Turco's power boat is that matter how many Mackinacs a sailor has sailed, or how many races he helped

ULS 'machine' wins title No. 13

By Peggy O'Connor

Deja vu?

No, it just seems that way when University Liggett School does its annual first-weekend-in-June thing and wins the state Class C-D tennis championships. The Knights did it again last weekend, winning the championships in Holland, Mich., the 13th consecutive year and 16th time in 19 years that ULS has taken home the state title.

ULS had 34 points to runner-up County Day's 24. Individual state champions for ULS were Steve Pack at No. 1 singles, Frank Crociata at No. 2 singles and Marc Hunt at No. 3 singles. Brian Hunt and Kirk Haggarty took the No. 1 doubles championship; George Haggarty and Robby Wood were the No. 2 doubles champs and John Birgbauer and Scott Watson won the No. 3 doubles. David Barlow was a runner-up at No. 4 singles.

"To win a state championship 13 years in a row is great and a credit to the quality of the players we have had here at the school. And it's a credit to the support we've had from the community and the parents," ULS head coach and athletic director Bob Wood said.

For Wood, Saturday's win was a little "different" than the previous 12. "They're all great, you never get tired of winning a state championship and this is no different. But the two that stand out are the first and the 12th," Wood said.

"The first one you win as a coach always had a special spot in your heart. And that first one in 1966 was also the school's first title in seven years . . . that was exciting. Then last year, when we had the opportunity to set a record, well, that was just a tremendous thrill."

And last year's record-breaking performance was accomplished under the pressure of a media circus that followed the Knights from the first day of training camp until the Knights had set the mark for consecutive state championships. It was an experience Wood says he won't forget, but it was world's different from this year's championship setting.

"It's like night and day. Sure, we wanted to keep the string going, but this year, things were so much more relaxed, more fun. We noticed the change from our first meeting in March. The play was just as intense as always, but we all went about it in a more relaxed way."

Wood also got to catch a bit of history in the making this year. When Robby Wood and George Haggarty won the No. 2 doubles flight, they repeated a championship their fathers won at ULS 25 years ago, when George Haggarty Sr. and Bob Wood took home the trophy. "That was sort of nice to watch," the senior Wood said.

The Knights' Brian Hunt also accomplished an unusual feat, winning his fourth straight No. 1 doubles title — all with different partners. He won it with Frank Crociata in 1981, Todd McCoy in 1982, John Polizzi in 1983 and Kirk Haggarty this season.

But with a team like ULS, even the unusual becomes ordinary. "This team is like a well-run corporation . . . from the top on down.

Everybody is willing to sacrifice to get to the goal and you could see that happening again this year," Wood said.

With another fine piece of "surgery" behind them, what's Wood's prognosis for next year's group of ULS tennis technicians?

"Ever since we went to Midland early this year and did so well against teams ranked ahead of us, this team has matured into one of the most business-like teams I've ever coached. The boys went about their work like skilled surgeons."

"Nothing lasts forever. All I can guarantee is that when it does end, you'll find us holding our heads high. We'll be the first to congratulate the team that ends the string. It's going to happen . . . but we'll be doing our best to keep it from happening next year."

Clare wins 7 title

St. Clare of Montefalco won two divisional playoff games and a first-round tournament game last week to capture CYO League's East Division title and advance to the quarterfinal round of the circuit's baseball tournament. The Falcons are the defending city champions.

Doug Lucas turned in a masterful no-hit performance on May 30, as St. Clare turned back St. Matthew, 3-0, in the first game of a three-cornered playoff for the East Division crown.

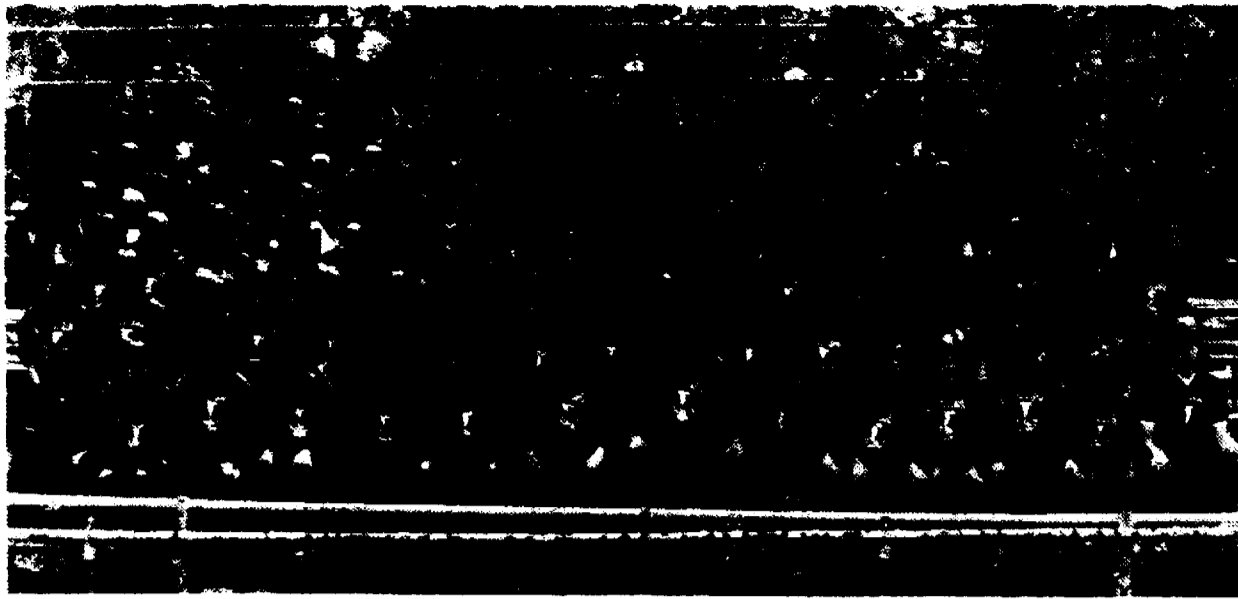

Lucas faced only 22 men — one more than the minimum — walking two, one of who was caught stealing. Lucas fanned 14, including the last nine men to face him, and didn't allow a ball to be hit out of the infield. Matt Montagne's grounder to first scored Lucas in the third with what proved to be the margin of victory. Marcus Wysocki's single in the fourth drove in two more insurance runs. Rodger Hunwick collected two hits for the winners.

In the May 31 championship game against St. Joan of Arc, the Falcons trailed 1-0 when Lucas came to the rescue of starter Derek Schafraan with two out and two on in the fourth. He retired the next two batters, then faced on 10 more during the final three frames.

The tide turned for the Falcons in the top of the sixth, when Wysocki led off with his second hit for the day, a double. Catcher Mike Paul then blasted a two-run homer to give the local nine the lead they never relinquished. St. Clare added an unearned run in the seventh to make the final score 3-1.

Last Saturday, the Falcons overwhelmed St. Brendan, 17-3, in the first round of the CYO playoffs. The Falcons collected 17 hits, including three each by Lucas and Wysocki, and two each by Keith McQuerry and Montagne. Lucas also had three RBI, McQuerry and Montagne adding two. Paul added a triple. Schafraan and McQuerry shared the mound chores.

St. Clare was to meet Warren St. Anne Tuesday (after press time), with the winner advancing to the semifinals at Manz Field today, June 7, at 4 p.m. The finals are scheduled for June 12, at the University of Detroit, at 5:30 p.m.

Here they are, members of the St. Clare of Montefalco track team which just completed its sixth consecutive unbeaten season.

St. Clare win streak reaches six years

The St. Clare track team defeated St. Matthew 74-17 on May 27 to complete a perfect dual meet season and extend its dual meet win streak to six years.

The girls' team is now seeking its fifth straight Metro-Detroit City Championship while the boys go after their fourth in five seasons. Against St. Matthew, Bridget Sullivan broke St. Clare's high jump record of 4 feet, 9 inches, while trying the city record with a jump of 4 feet, 10 inches.

Earlier in the week, the St. Clare junior varsity track team (fourth, fifth and sixth grades) competed in a large, season-ending invitational track meet and for the second time in the meet's two-year history, St. Clare nearly doubled the score of its nearest opponent.

The Falcons came in first with 89 points, followed by St. Paul with 45 and St. Ambrose with 41. The top five schools included fourth place Grosse Pointe Academy and fifth place finisher St. Joan.

First places were turned in by Frank Zielinski in both the 100 and 200 meter dashes; by Scott Studzinski in the 800 meter run; and by the sprint medley relay team of Mike Morandini, Beth Hoye, Julie Biernat and Dave Kerfoot.

Second place finishers included Kerfoot, in the shot put and 400 dash; Zielinski in the high jump; Kyle Coucke in the 800; Jeff Whitty in the 1600; and the 800 relay team of Tara Lulis, Biernat, Amy Frontczak and Sue Judd.

Other Falcons contribution to the score included Danny Roarty, John Chesney, Eric Kinning, Christy Wronikowski and Dan Fannon.

The St. Clare track, baseball and softball teams were honored June 6 at the school's Spring Sports Awards Night.

Monahan is state 800 champ

By Rick Markel
North High

It was "state" week for North's boys' and girls' track teams. The state tournament brought much excitement and some pretty good results, the best of which belonged to Tim Monahan.

Monahan earned state-wide acclaim as he won the state championship in the 800 meter run. Though it was his specialty, it still was a big surprise for Tim to win the championship. Realistically, a sixth place finish was expected, but Monahan was determined.

Getting off to a sprinter's start,

Monahan relied on a strong finishing kick to claim the championship in a time of 1:55.3.

North's boys' squad also got a big performance from sophomore Brian Bergeron. Bergeron placed 11th in the discus with a toss of 142. The throw was Brian's second best effort ever.

Monahan and Bergeron capped a pretty good year for North. Running up a 6-2 record, "It was a very interesting and exciting year," said Coach Bob Collins.

The girls' track team had a good but not outstanding state meet. Coach Chuck Buhagiar described the results as being "respectable." A little bit more was expected but it simply wasn't going to happen. Discus thrower Donna Marsden reached the finals and was North's best representative.

Regular season results saw North was undefeated (10-0) and winning the Bi-County league title. Team members also placed second in their regional. In one word Coach Buhagiar summed up the season in the best way. He called it, "Successful."

North's frosh tracksters beat Bloomfield Andover, 89-51, sweeping all the field events. Bill Smith won the 100 and 200 runs.

Softball letdown

North's varsity girls' softball team recently suffered a downer, dropping a 9-5 decision to East Detroit in the districts of the state tournament.

The setback was discouraging but didn't ruin the season. What was hard to take was that North didn't play up to par. Mental mistakes made the difference as North uncharacteristically beat itself. Out-hitting East Detroit, the Norsemen weren't the same players who won their last nine in a row.

The squad, led by Coaches Gary Bennett and Bill Taylor, still turned in a fine overall season. A 17-9 record made for an "outstanding year" said Taylor.

Any negative aspects of the season point towards the league action North finished an unexpected and disappointing fifth (6-6 record) in the Bi-County league. Not to fear though, they'll be back next year with renewed hope.

Coming to the end of a long, hard season, the JV softball team lost a pair of games to L'Anse Creuse North.

The first game was close, but North ran out of gas as L'Anse Creuse North prevailed, 8-7. Showing that the first game was no fluke, L'Anse Creuse North went out and took the second game, 17-0.

Netters fall

The boys' tennis team received some great weather (for once) and bad luck as they competed in the state tournament last weekend. The weather wasn't a big factor, luck, however was. North (by a draw) managed to get paired up with some of the toughest competitors in the state.

North ended up winning only one of its matches. No. 3 doubles. Leading the Norsemen to their lone victory were Ralph Barbier and Brad Cooksey. "We don't do as well as we have in the past," summed up North Coach Tom Berschback.

About seasonal goals, Coach Berschback commented, "We would have liked more points in the states, but overall we accomplished what we wanted to." The accomplishments included a perfect 6-0 record in the Bi-County league, good for first place. North also captured the league tournament and placed six members on the all league team, added to that was a solid 9-3 record overall.

Earning All-League honors for North this year were Roger Van Pelt, Chris Herman, Don Rice, Mark Young (captain), John Grierson and Joe Karle.

Kickers finish at 15-2

All dressed up but no where to go was the plight of North's girls' soccer team. Concluding their season with a 2-0 win over South, the Norsemen piled up a lofty 15-2 record.

North's year ended with elimination from the state tournament prior to the South battle. It's a shame that the squad members have no where to go even though they had such a great season. But that's how the ball bounces in the topsy turvey world of soccer.

To go along with its 15-2 mark, North also was division and M.A.S.L. league champs.

Doubleheader sweep

The 1984 Norsemen varsity baseball team is now history. With a 13-1, 13-7 double header sweep over Lakeshore, the long season came to an end.

The talent rich Norsemen captured their sixth straight league title, but made an early exit in the state playoffs. Inexperience was a big contributor to North's downfall. Once again Coach Frank Sumbers's team dominated (controlled) league action with an 11-1 record. And once again the Norsemen had a fabulous overall record, 28-7.

They had good pitching and both solid hitting and defense, but due to their inexperience, they lacked the winning in some big games... particularly the biggest, a pre-district contest.

In the Farms-City All-American League, the Brewers beat the Woods Tigers, 10-8, behind the pitching of Scott Schultz, Peter Louisell, Mark Nesler and Robert Osborn had two hits each. David Grundman added a double and another hit.

The Brewers beat the A's May 26, 13-3, as Nesler pitched a two-hitter and batted in two runs. Phil Orton had three RBI, Wes Stiegelmier had two RBI, Ross Decker pitched for the A's.

On May 25, a strong defense helped the Rangers hold the Park

Astros in check, 2-1. Tom Liliensiek was the winning pitcher, throwing a one-hitter for the Rangers. The Rangers cut down several Astros at the plate. Mark Radke and Liliensiek batted in two Ranger runs. Ralph Mauk pitched for the Astros.

The Rangers kept pace in the league by beating the Brewers, 7-0, behind Liliensiek's fine pitching. He ran his record to 3-1 and added three hits and an RBI. Bob Rauh, Neal Combs and Andy Cox had hits. Radke added an RBI. Tim Golobic played a fine defensive game at second. Tom Haug pitched for the Brewers, who got hitting help from Osborn, Phil Orton and Nesler.

The Brewers bounced back June 2 and beat the Angels, 14-12. Scott Schultz was the winner in relief. Dave McCormick pitched for the Angels. Grundman, Nesler and Osborn had RBI. Osborn, Joe Louisell and Debetes doubled.

Park

The Dodgers secured their hold on first place in the Park Major Babe Ruth League with three wins during the past week, to run their record to 5-2.

The leaders downed the Woods Cardinals, 8-1, aided by home runs by Jeff Metry and Mike Paull. Dave Arnold contributed a triple and a single. Starter Doug Lucas got the win.

The Farms Yankees were 15-10 victims. Arnold again tripled and singled, to drive in four runs. Jay Henze also collected two hits, while Don Berg collected for two RBI. Starter Mike Coffey got the win. The Dodgers coasted after jumping to a 9-0 first inning lead.

The Dodgers blew a 6-2 lead, but held on to defeat the Padres, 6-5. Mike Paull, who went the first five innings, notched the win. He fanned 10 and gave up only one hit and one unearned run. He was followed to the hill by David Salkowski who needed help from Lucas, who retired the last two men with the tying run on third. Paull also aided his own cause with a home run, single, and three RBI. Metry and Lucas also chipped in with two hits apiece. Loser Dave Feys went the distance, whiffing 10, while Kurt Strieler collected two hits for the Padres.

The Dodgers suffered their second loss at the hands of the Woods Cubs, 9-8. A six-run rally in the top of the seventh put the Dodgers ahead, 8-6, but the Cubs came back with three in the bottom half of the inning to take the decision. Joe Page rapped out a double and a triple for three RBI; David Arnold had two doubles and two RBI; and Jeff Metry's two hits drove in three runs.

The Phillies collected a pair of wins. Brian Aardema doubled and tripled as they downed the Farms Indians, 14-7. Steve Addy, who needed help from Jeremy Wise in the fifth, got the win.

Aardema went the distance on the mound as the Phillies edged Braves, 5-4. Matt Montagne tripled and Chris Markus doubled to pace the winners at the plate. Kevin Hewell homered for the Braves.

South ends promising season

By Peggy O'Connor

For a while last Saturday, it looked like South High was about to pull one big baseball upset over No. 1-ranked, state champion-favorite Bishop Gallagher in the district championship at North High School.

South pitcher John Tavery held the 34-3 Lancers hitless for four innings. South had taken a 2-0 lead in the third inning when Anthony Eugenio doubled and came home on Rick Waugaman's towering two-run homer. Then reality set in, in the form of a six-run fifth inning which sent Gallagher on to the regional playoffs with an 8-2 win and retired the Blue Devils with a 17-12 mark.

"For a time there, I thought we were gonna pull an upset. But Bishop Gallagher is a very good team," South head coach Dan Griesbaum said Monday. "I'm very pleased with how we played."

Gallagher started that fifth inning with two straight singles and a third batter safe on a fielder's choice. An error on an overthrow to first base got two runs in and a Bob Kronner double made the score 3-2 and chased Tavery from the mound. He had struck out three and walked a pair while on the mound and hadn't given up a hit until that inning.

Reliever Rico Cordova got one out before giving up a two-run double to BG's Deron White. After another out, Mike Ericson singled in one run to give the Lancers a 6-2 edge.

South threatened in the sixth, with basehits by Rob Bigham and Steve Carrier putting two on, but failed to score. Gallagher added two runs in the seventh to cap the scoring.

The Blue Devils reached the district finals by beating Notre Dame, 4-3, in eight innings on Saturday morning. The Irish took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on a single, a bad hop basehit and a sacrifice fly. But South tied it up when Carrier tripled with two outs and came home on Tony Tocco's single.

Cordova and Arnold singled and Eugenio walked to load the bases for Brian Rathsburg's RBI single in the second inning. Eugenio was tagged out at the plate on a bounce-out and South came out of the inning with a 2-1 advantage.

Rathsburg made a game-saving catch in the third when he leaped to catch a high fly at the centerfield fence, then toppled over the fence but held on to the ball.

Eugenio batted in another run in the bottom of the third when he doubled with two men on, but Notre Dame, sporting a 3-2 record going into the game, made it close. Catcher Joe Barker lead off with a home run and the Irish tied it up on a double and a pair of bounce-outs.

South won it in the eighth when Tavery and Eugenio singled and Rathsburg walked to load the bases. Suhrheinrich sent South into the final with his base hit through the middle, giving the Devils a 4-3 win.

IN GENERAL, first year varsity coach Griesbaum says he was satisfied with the progress South made this season. An early season goal of Griesbaum's was for South to reach the district finals and win the Eastern Michigan League.

"We didn't win the EML — our hitting wasn't what it should have been with five .300 hitters going in to the year and we left too many runners on. In our two losses to Port Huron Northern we left nine runners on; they ended up winning the EML.

"But that's where we wanted to be, in the district final. For the first year, I'll take that," Griesbaum said.

He added that the South players were encouraged by their play in the districts, but a little disappointed with the outcome of the Gallagher contest. Griesbaum looks forward to 1985, when he expects "a whole lot of good ball-players" from a 1984 JV squad that finished at 18-7. Next year's South team will be young, he added, but one that learned a valuable lesson in 1984.

"If they got one thing from this season, it's that we can play with anybody. And that's the thing I am trying to instill here. That's half the battle ... if you believe that you can play with the best, you will."

start or judge, nobody can ever take that excitement of yet another race away from those guys.

The commodores, judges and timers on the Turco VI tried to hide it, but I could tell they were excited about the race. If some had been a bit younger, their own boats more race-ready, the DYC would have been hard up for judges that day.

They kept busy, firing starting shots, charting the course of boats in the race, watching for unfair starts or other points of dispute. But there was no mistaking the gleam in their eyes as they watched the colorful spinnaker start and tossed out comments and bits of advice to the racers.

"See, that's a well-sailed boat. The crew's got the pole up and they're in just the right spot."

"I don't know, some of these guys don't seem too excited. They're just sort of meandering up the line."

"Watch it, watch it ... get that chute up man!"

"What's he doing, he's gonna cross that starting line too early ... no, no, I guess he timed it just right."

"See that boat? She's got a good skipper, knows just what he's doing. He ought to ... I saw him practicing his broach once. Up in the river AFTER the race!"

The rest of the time, my fellow passengers talked of old sailors and other sails, Mackinac races of 1938, around-the-world sails, bad starts, long postponements and photo finishes. And they talked to me. One who discovered that it was my first boat ride, shook her head and said, "Too bad it's a power boat." After watching the race, I knew what she meant.

And another apologized for what he considered to be a dull, uneventful start. "Maybe next time it'll be more exciting," he said.

I can hardly wait.
