One, not fore

All in all, it was a pretty good week for Alice Metry, of Devonshire Road.

On Tuesday of last week, she teed off at the third hole (on the south course), of the Detroit Golf Club and racked up her first ever hole-in-one.

According to "Arnie" Metry, she used a driver on the 135-yard hole and only did it to even things up with bridge partner Catherine Brierly, who collected a hole-in-one earlier in the season.

Then on Thursday, Ms. Metry and Birmingham Country Club partner Margaret Ann Lynch won first place for the fourth flight at a ladies invitational tournament at the DGC.

With luck, (skill), like that, I think she should catch the next plane to Vegas.

R.I.P.

And another one bit the dust last week. Sawdust, actually. The Davies family, of Lincoln Road, held a wake last Wednesday to mourn the passing of a giant elm that had graced their street for about 75 years.

The tree was destined to fall after it was discovered it had a terminal case of Dutch Elm Disease. It took workmen two days to cut the giant down and the Davies family felt it shouldn't go unnoticed.

So out went invitations to the neighbors, asking them to come share the grief and the scotch, which "promised to flow."

According to Lewis and Jessie Davies, about a dozen neighbors appeared, with some wearing black arm bands and others bearing sympathy cards. One neighbor even brought a replacement tree, (seedling size), to replace the elm-that-used-to-be.

"It was a lovely affair," said Mr. Davies, "lasting about two hours. That tree had the biggest girth of any elm on the street. It was so large that we just put a table cloth over the stump and used it as a table."

"We'll really miss that tree, but 'life goes on' as the Irish always say."

It was a rather unique idea, that. But can you imagine a wake for every elm that fell to Dutch Elm Disease in the Pointe? Hiram Walker's could end up owning this place.

How's that?

Being a fireman can sometimes be a pretty grim occupation. I figure anything that can bring tears of laughter to a firefighter's eyes has got to be pretty funny.

So when I saw Farms Fire Chief Warren Schultz reading a piece of paper and laughing until he was out of breath, I decided to check things out.

The paper was a compilation of actual quotes from insurance forms where drivers attempted to briefly summarize the details of accidents they had been involved in.

They have to be actual quotes, because you can never make anything like this up.

Some of the better ones follow:

"A truck backed through my windshield and into my wife's face."

"I pulled away from the side of the road, glanced at my mother-in-law's face and headed over the embankment."

"I had been driving for 40 years when I fell asleep at the wheel and had the accident."

"I was on my way to the doctor with rear end trouble when my universal joint gave way."

"To avoid hitting the bumper of the car in front, I struck the pedestrian."

"I told the police that I was not injured, but on removing my hat, I found that I had a fractured skull."

"An invisible car came out of nowhere, struck my vehicle and vanished."

"I was thrown from my car as it left the road. I was later found in a ditch by some stray cows."

Teens band together for SAFE RIDE home

By Nancy Solak

You're at a party. The friend who drove you there is drunk. You don't want him or her to drive you home and you're worried about your friend's safety too.

Or, you drove yourself to the party and begin to realize you've had a few too many. You remember this accident a schoolmate had...

Or, you are babysitting and your employers come home drunk at midnight. They plan to drive you home...

What do you do?

Starting in September, on Friday and Saturday nights from 9 p.m. until 2 a.m., all Grosse Pointe high school students can call SAFE RIDES. The trained, volunteer drivers, a male-female team of high school age, will come and take you home. They will take any of your friends home too, if they wish. The transaction will remain strictly confidential.

Back at headquarters, the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, will be the dispatchers, ninth and tenth graders who are too young to have a driver's license. Along with them will be an adult advisor.

According to War Memorial executive director, Mark R. Weber, the board of directors offered the center as a base because of "the value they place on the lives of our community's young people."

"In addition to providing activities for teens," Weber says, "we want to show them how valuable they are to us by supporting their serious efforts to serve their community in a positive way. We'll provide a room and a telephone, and they'll do the rest. They have been in charge of the project since its inception and they are to be commended for seeing their idea through."

SAFE RIDES does not purport to be a solution to teenaged drinking. According to Kathie Hunwick, adult coordinator of SAFE RIDES and administrative assistant at Family Life Education Council (FLEC), "SAFE RIDES is there to insure the safety of our young people as well as others who also may be out on our city's streets. SAFE RIDES does not condone teen drinking, but hopefully it will be there until our kids understand that drinking and driving can be fatal."

If a teen is really drunk, a call will be made to the home to make sure someone is there. Every SAFE RIDES car will be equipped with a CB, so they can communicate with the dispatchers back at the War Memorial. The dispatchers will call the home and relay (Continued on Page 2A)

Pedestrians took over the Village last Friday evening as the Village Merchants Association had Kercheval Avenue blocked off from Naff Road to Cadieux for its annual sidewalk pizza-the-street sale. Hundreds of persons turned out to catch a few bargains, nibble on snacks and listen to a senior citizens swing-ragtime band. Looking jaunty in the middle of Kercheval was Farms resident Brandon Rogers, who seemed entirely natural relaxing beneath a traffic signal. And looking rather harried was this unidentified man who was kept busy re-stocking his sidewalk display with linen supplies. The sale was extended into Saturday, although Kercheval was once again opened to traffic.

That is when school board will again pick up enrollment issue

By Susan McDonald

Study meetings of the school board have moved back from giant auditoriums to the cozy conference room at St. Clair central offices. Thronged of picketers protesting the board's plans to close an elementary school are gone. So are the television crews and dozens of public speakers who regularly lined up behind microphones to address the trustees at meetings this spring.

Catherine Brierly, Jon Gandelot and Ernest Buechler sit confidentially behind their water pitchers having escaped the threat of recall June 11 by a 2-1 margin. Wielding the president's gavel is Joan Hanpeter, who was targeted for replacement in the same election by anti-school-closing forces.

The pressure is off. So what is the board's next move?

There's general agreement on the board that closing one school (Barnes Elementary) out of 15 won't completely solve their problem of too few students and too many classrooms. But a majority say they are inclined to wait until 1985 to once again address the issue of the school system's greater than 40 percent decline in enrollment.

By then, a new superintendent will have been hired to replace Kenneth Brummel, who resigned in the middle of the battle this spring. And also by then, the trustees will have had time to evaluate the new census (due out Aug. 20) and several programs put in place last year, including a seven-period high school day and sixth grade move to middle school.

"We need to take a breather," said Mrs. Brierly. "The last two years have been consumed with the reorganization. It's time for us to catch up on studies we've put off and to evaluate our new programs," she said.

"I know we can't just ignore the enrollment decline. It won't go away. But I'd like to wait for the new superintendent to come on board. He or she may have some fresh thinking."

Vincent LoCicero agreed. "Unless the census shows some kind of drastic change, I am not in that much of a hurry to start a new study," LoCicero said. "I don't think the community is ready to go through that again."

Gandelot, one of four trustees who publicly agreed to a two-year moratorium on school closings, is adamant. "As long as my term on the board lasts, we're not going to close any more schools," he said. "I don't see the election as a mandate to close schools. It was a vote of confidence that said the board was handling this in a reasonable way."

"But, the issue will definitely be on the agenda for study after the new superintendent comes on board," Gandelot said.

But some observers, including people who were most supportive of the board during the June recall election, are pressing for earlier action.

"I think they would be making a horrible mistake if they think they're going to lay off this issue and get peace and quiet for a few years," said Henry Clay, who was head of CARE (Citizens Against the Recall Effort).

Clay said citizens, especially the elderly, are very sensitive about rising taxes.

"The school board won the battle, they didn't lose it. People got out and voted and said the board had done the right thing. If they don't continue to seek ways to cut costs now, I wouldn't be surprised to see organized opposition to their millage request next spring," Clay said.

Another CARE worker, Jackie Scott, who served as treasurer, attended the board's July meeting to make her point.

"The issue is not going away," she said. "It should be looked at right now. Study it for two years, if you want. I just don't want to repeat what we went through this year," Mrs. Scott said.

Those urging earlier action may have some support on the school board. Trustee Dorothy Kennel pointed out that she "did not make any statements about a two-year moratorium on school closings."

"If that's what the majority wants, I'll keep an open mind. But I think now is the time to work on this. We have community interest and we need that," Mrs. Kennel said. "We haven't even talked about our next step yet."

Mrs. Kennel said she still believes the second reorganization plan considered by the board is a "viable plan." The proposal would

Park man faces fraud charges

By Harriet Nolan

A 58-year-old chiropractor living in the Park was indicted by a federal grand jury on 78 counts of mail fraud July 27. U.S. Attorney Leonard Gilman said Robert Busse, of Trombley Road, along with three other chiropractors, one physician and five business executives were charged with a total of 102 counts for billing Blue Cross & Blue Shield (BC/BS) of Michigan for more than $10 million worth of unnecessary treatment.

Allegedly Busse was part of a group operating out of five clinics that would solicit patients with BC/BS ID cards, according to Gilman. Runners, people who would find the subscribers, were paid cash for their efforts. In turn the new patient would also be rewarded and perhaps further drawn into the scheme.

"Once paid, these patients were subjected to a whole panorama of tests, such as x-rays, urinalysis and chiropractic treatments, all not necessary," said Gilman. "Many of the tests were done by technicians, not physicians as required by BC/BS."

78-count indictment

"The physician and chiropractors who billed BC/BS returned two-thirds of the gross amount to two separate corporations run by the other individuals charged. Laboratories which billed BC/BS paid over $2 million of the $7 million it received back to many of the defendants," he added.

A glimpse into how the scam operated was provided by Ken Newton, a sergeant with the Michigan State Police Department. Newton posed as a patient brought in by another undercover agent posing as a runner.

"After I was introduced, they ran three hours of unnecessary tests on me which appeared to be for insurance purposes. They told me what they were going to say was wrong with me and give me a work excuse."

"They paid my friend for bringing me in, plus made the same deal with me, telling me they would pay me to bring in my friends," he added.

Richard Femmel, vice-president of corporate communications with BC/BS, said the investigation began in August, 1980, after a subscriber tipped them to the operation. He said the investigation took a long time because the clinics would open, operate for awhile, close up shop and move to another location.

Their credo, involvement

By Tom Greenwood

Martha Young and Brian Kearney believe in a lot of things - including personal involvement, America, the American form of government and especially the future and themselves.

Ms. Young and Kearney, both 18, are 1984 graduates of South High School and recent participants in "The Washington Workshops," a week long "hands-on" education experience in Washington, D.C.

They, along with 60 other students from the United States, Italy and South Africa, journeyed to the capital in early June to meet with congressmen, senators, members of the military, foreign ambassadors and cabinet members to gain a closer look at just how our government works.

Generally, they came away impressed and with a renewed commitment to the future.

"We did it because we're interested in the political process and because we wanted to be different," said Ms. Young, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Clyde William Young, of Barrington Road. "So many times you hear about non involvement and apathy with teenagers. We wanted to be involved, you can't just sit back and let others do it all for you."

"Also, if we learn to do it for ourselves, and then we screw up, we have no one to blame but ourselves," said Kearney, son of the late Frank and Marcia Kearney, of the Park.

involvement in community affairs too," added Kearney. "There's a growing political awareness at South High School. Martha and I were both members of the 'Crockett Youth Caucuses,' established by George Crockett, U.S. Representative from the 13th district.

"The idea behind being members was education through information and experience," continued Brian. "Most of the other student members were from Detroit. We were the only ones from South and it was an eye-opening experience. You realized that the priorities of the inner city kids were different than ours as suburbanites. For instance, they're very concerned about buses and transportation to school. They're also very aware of security problems at their schools."

As members of the caucus, Ms. Young and Kearney attended a meeting with Rep. Crockett and John Conyers on the problems in central America and were instrumental in bringing in a guest speaker from South Africa.

Both students decided to attend the Washington workshop after being accepted for attendance at a similar workshop in Lansing providing first-hand information on how the state government works. They both became aware of that program through their participation on South's forensics and debating teams.

"In order to be accepted to the 'Washington Workshops,' we both had to be reviewed, including our grades," said Ms. Young. "The fact that we had also attended the Lansing workshops was in our favor. We also had to raise money for the conference and ended up making presentations to a number of groups to sponsor us. We eventually received about $1,000 from the Rotary, Optimists, Mother's Club, the SAE and Key Clubs at South. We also contributed some of our own money."

While in Washington, the students stayed in dormitories at Marymount College. Their schedules each day were jam-packed with activity. Some of it was touristy, with visits to the Supreme Court, U.S. Capitol and congressional offices.

On other days, they attended seminars conducted by members of congress, the senate or the military.

"We met congressmen from all over the country," said Brian. "One we were especially fond of was Congresswoman Virginia Smith, of Nebraska. She seemed like everyone's grandmother. We were also impressed with Rep. Frederick Boucher, from Virginia. He was one of the few politicians we met who gave us straight, concise answers. Most of the others told us only what they wanted us to hear."

"We would repeat our questions to the Republicans and the Democrats, then compare the answers," said Ms. Young. "We tried to put them on the spot, but it was very difficult to do. They're politicians and can be very slick."

The students gave high marks to Secretary of the Interior Bill Clark because he spent a lot of time with them. But he also drew criticism because he "really dodged a lot of questions."

One of the most enjoyable aspects for Martha and Brian was the interaction between them and the other students.

"You really realize what a big country this is and the difference in where we all live when you hear the kids from Montana talk about riding, roping and barrel racing," said Brian. "It was especially interesting hearing a kid from rural Georgia talk with another student from New York City. One talked about relaxing down by the creek after school while the other would journey into Manhattan."

"I met a boy from the deep South who would be loaded down with four suitcases, but he wouldn't let me hold the door open for him because 'guys didn't do that where he came from,'" said Ms. Young, with an amazed smile.

"Also one of the girls went to Speaker of the House Tip O'Neill's office and waited to see him. He eventually checked in and talked with her for 10 minutes. Then he invited her to a dinner in his honor that night and she met Senator Ted Kennedy and a lot of other east coast politicians. Things like that made the trip especially meaningful."

Both Martha and Brian are look-have closed Mason, Defer, Maire and Barnes Elementary Schools.

"I still believe in that plan. Kids don't go so far and we don't have to get into the busing business," Mrs. Kennel said. "It would work if we ever could convince Mason parents that Poupard (located across the freeway in Harper Woods) is a good school. I know what a fine school it is because I taught there." Mrs. Kennel said. "I don't know where this 'other side of the tracks' mentality came from."

Mrs. Kennel said the board should appoint a committee to begin a new study — an approach most board members agree should be their next step. Buechler said some "tremendous leadership" emerged during the recent ruckus on both sides of the issue.

"We have to get those leaders and the community behind us on this so we don't repeat ourselves," Buechler said. "I don't want to go through another recall."

Some of those who campaigned against school closings this spring agree with the board's current approach. David Easlick, Jr., who was president of the recall organization, said he firmly supports the idea of a two-year moratorium on any school closings.

"I think they should begin to study it again as soon as they get a new superintendent," Easlick said. "If they can involve as many aspects of the community as possible in the study this time, they may be successful in getting the community behind them," he added.

the information back to the drivers. Volunteers will not take anyone who has passed out.

All of the volunteers, adults and teens alike, will receive training in empathy, assessment, and emergency decision making. Also, each will participate in role playing exercises to learn to deal with difficult situations, and they will learn such practical things as operating a radio dispatcher. FLEC's volunteer training coordinator, Juliann Binienda, who has a master's in counselor education, will lead the training. A registered nurse will teach emergency first-aid.

One adult will be on duty each of the two evenings, with two dispatchers, four drivers and two cars. Between dispatches the volunteers can read, write letters, play board games and snack. The adult is there for the sole purpose of acting as a back-up, in case a situation arises that the students can't handle. But, according to Ms. Hunwick, the program belongs to the kids. They initiated it, worked out all the details, and they'll run it.

"If it were run by adults, the kids who need the program wouldn't use it," she says.

Tony Morse, South High student and president of SAFE RIDES, has been developing the program along with other students since September, 1983. He says that students have been enthusiastic, with more than 200 students signed up to volunteer already. The corps is made up of students from North

U.S. Attorney Gilman said the case has been assigned to U.S. Judge Robert DeMascio and should come to trial in about three months. In the meantime Busse can still practice.

Brian has been spending the summer as a tutor for Grosse Pointe children and also working as a part time volunteer at the Crossroads Counseling Center, in Detroit. He hopes to pursue a career as a trial lawyer and is casting a heavy eye at politics as well.

As an added boost to her career, she's already hitting the chemistry books for her pre-med courses and and South high schools, and more may be added when Star of the Sea and University Liggett are approached.

More adult volunteers are needed, however. Any interested adults may call FLEC at 885-3510 to find out more about the program and how they can help.

The Boy Scouts of America have allowed SAFE RIDES to become an Explorer Post for insurance liability purposes. Any community organization wishing to set aside a portion of its budget to help offset the program's operating budget of about $1,000 per year may make contributions to SAFE RIDES — Explorer Post No. 1805, and send them to the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Road, Grosse Pointe Farms, 48236.

The date when SAFE RIDES will go into operation, and the phone number to call for a safe ride, will be announced in September.

Voters will decide two proposals Aug. 7

By Mike Andrzejczyk

County voters will decide Aug. 7 whether they want to renew a 20-year-old one-mill property tax levy and split the legislative and administrative functions of the county road commission between the executive and county commissioner.

Proposal A, the renewal, would generate about $18 million in property tax revenue and $1.5 million in state reimbursement, totalling more than 5 percent of the county's $360 million revenue total.

If enacted, the renewal would expire in 1989.

The county first received voter authorization to levy the one mill in 1964 and authorization has been renewed every five years.

Supporters of the renewal include the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce and Executive William Lucas.

Commissioner John Hertel, unopposed in the primary for his First District seat, said the county had already cut services. Failure of the renewal will mean cutting more, he said.

The county has partially stopped the flow of red ink by leasing Wayne County General Hospital, consolidating services, and negotiating contracts without cost-of-living allowances, Hertel said. The renewal is needed to pay for some services the county handles, like road and drain maintenance, he added.

Ervin Steiner, also unopposed in the Republican half of the August primary, said he supports the millage renewal.

"The county executive, Bill Lucas, needs it badly to balance the budget," Steiner said. "I would definitely support him on this."

The chamber of commerce said the levy goes toward "the continuation of numerous and essential county services and programs," and urges members to vote yes on the proposal to "aid in the continued reform of Wayne County."

The county currently levies 7.07 mills for operating purposes. The total 9.29 mills levied by the county also includes 1.11 mills for intermediate school district operations, debt and special education; .86 mills for community college operation and debt; and .25 mills for the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Park Authority.

Lucas is supporting the proposal to "keep the county going on course" for the next five years, according to his press secretary Bill Johnson.

In February, 1983, Mr. Lucas considered asking for a one-mill increase to help the county out of its financial troubles and balance the budget, Johnson said. "He then said he would not ask for a millage increase or renewal until he could demonstrate the county is on the road to fiscal responsibility," which has happened, Johnson said.

Proposal B, placed on the ballot by the county commission, would abolish the road commission and split its powers between the executive and the board.

The executive would be responsible for the administration and coordination of the road commission's functions with other county departments, while the board of commissioners would approve the budget, contracts and perform other legislative functions granted the commissioners by the charter.

The abolition of the road commission would partially complete Lucas' reorganization plan for the county, which proposed a single Office of Public Services to handle public works, roads and drain commission functions.

Lucas supporters began circulating petitions to put amendments on the November ballot that would abolish the road and drain commissions. In all, five amendments were proposed, but none will have collected enough signatures to be on the November ballot, according to Johnson.

The board of commissioner's proposal was co-sponsored by Hertel and Arthur Carter, Jr., Seventh District commissioner.

Hertel called Proposal B "probably the most significant thing so far in county reform." Its passage would eliminate what was once considered an untouchable department, he added.

He and Carter rewrote the language for the commissioner's consideration nine times, making sure it met requirements of the state Constitution, state law and the county charter while also accomplishing what they wanted it to do, Hertel said.

The chamber of commerce called Proposal B "an important one in the continuing reform and reorganization of Wayne County."

Steiner said he supports Proposal B, calling it part of Lucas' effort to streamline county government.

Lucas is "totally in support" of Proposal B, Johnson said. The executive considers it "the best possible solution" to attaining the reform of the road commission, he added.

Lucas is negotiating with the board to get it to place two of his five amendments on the November ballot, Johnson said. One would deal the appointment process of the county executive and the other would seek to do away with the drain commission in the same way the road commission is proposed to be abolished, he added.

The commissioners approved a reorganization plan submitted by Lucas that sought the merging of the three departments — drain, road and public works — into the Public Services Office, Johnson said. The commissioners' putting the proposal to abolish the drain commission on the November ballot would be consistent with their earlier action, he added.

Hertel said the elimination of the drain commission would be "the third part of the puzzle," allowing consolidation of the roads, drain and public works department. Getting it on the November ballot doesn't look good, however, though he's in favor of it, Hertel said there would be no more than four votes approving it for the ballot by the 15-member commission.

Car stolen from Mack

An alert neighbor called police after she watched two young men smash the rear driver's window of a car and drive off on Thursday, July 26, at about 1:30 p.m.

But police were unable to catch up with the car, a red 1972 Ford Maverick, which had been parked behind a beauty salon on Mack Avenue.

City Det. John Drummond speculated that the car was probably stolen for parts, since the neighbor told police the thieves had been dropped off at the scene in a similar-looking vehicle. The stolen car belonged to a Harper Woods woman.

Park gets land gift

Grosse Pointe Park Council received a gift of three lots from Shelby Plaza Corp., at its July 23 meeting. The land located on the southwest corner of Westchester and Jefferson Avenue totals about 143 feet wide, according to Palmer Heenan, Park mayor.

Plans include having approximately 25 feet of the property bordering on Jefferson Avenue landscaped and the rest divided into two parcels zoned for single family housing.

"We would like to see more residential building in the Park and this gives us a chance to see if we can market the lots," he said.

John Crawford, city manager, said the property hasn't been assessed yet, but will probably be in the range of $20,000 per lot.

Appointments are made to seniors panel

Woods Mayor George Freeman filled all but two positions on the city's restructured Senior Citizen Commission at the Monday, July 16, city council meeting.

The commission is now composed of a seven-member panel with four at-large representatives and one each from Services for Older Citizens, Senior Achievements and Woods senior organizations.

Named at-large members were former councilman William Wilson, whose term expires in January, 1985; Agnes Beauchamp, whose term expires in January, 1987; and Willfred Beauchamp, whose term expires in January, 1986. The fourth at-large member is Janet Newberg, who was appointed in June.

Representing Woods senior organizations on the panel will be Hazel Ashley, Arthur Bodeau will represent SOC while Irene Sutton will represent Senior Achievements. Both Bodeau and Mrs. Sutton were members of the former seniors commission. All three terms expire this January.

Named to the four-member advisory board of the commission were Charles DeWitt, representing the legal community; and Brian V. Hise, representing the banking community. Two members of the panel, representing the religious and medical communities, have yet to be appointed.

The advisory board will bring up problems they see that affect seniors with the seven-member commission, which will then look for solutions.

The council also asked that certificates of appreciation be sent to all members of the former commission, thanking them for their service.

Sing-a-long at the Neighborhood Club

To celebrate its recent move to the Neighborhood Club, the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America will hold an open house Tuesday, Aug. 14, at 8 p.m. at the club, 17150 Waterloo.

The chapter relocated at the Neighborhood Club after meeting for 11 years at St. Mark's Church on Seven Mile in Detroit. The group hopes to expand its operations by making the move.

Anyone who enjoys singing is welcome to attend the open house. Performing during the evening will be the Lakeshore Chorus, which recently won the district chorus championship by beating 17 other choruses. The chorus will lead the audience in a sing-along and demonstrate the barbershop harmony sound.

For more information, call chapter president Harvey Burr at 371-4912.

Cottage may join new preferred health plan

By Harriet Nolan

Cottage Hospital expects to be one of 11 hospitals in southeastern Michigan to offer total medical services to employers who subscribe to Preferred Health plan, a new health maintenance organization (HMO).

This business venture is a newly formed subsidiary of Henry Ford Health Care Corporation, the parent company of Henry Ford Hospital. Participating community hospitals and physician staff will provide complete health care services for those members and families who live in their respective service areas, and will interface directly with Ford Hospital and vice versa.

Gregory Vassee, administrative assistant at Cottage, describes it as an alternative to Blue Cross coverage where a member, depending on his employer's plan, might have to pay a $5 or $10 deductible for treatment. This program waives deductibles.

Vassee says one of the drawbacks to subscribing is that members would be treated by an unfamiliar physician if their own doesn't want to participate in the program. They would have to weigh which was more important, a different doctor or paying a deductible.

"The cost containment will be more to the employer," says Vassee. "And we can't predict how many people it will involve. It's still in the infancy stage."

"The success of the program is very much dependent upon geographical representations of the providers which are scattered around the metropolitan area," he adds.

Vassee says he expects the program to begin at Cottage by Oct. 1, or as soon as a contract can be finalized.

Bloodmobiles visit Pointes

A blood shortage that has plagued the community since mid-July is expected to continue throughout August, according to the American Red Cross Blood Services, Southeastern Michigan Region.

Locally, blood can be donated at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial today from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. For an appointment, call Mrs. Goolsby at 756-8922.

Also, a bloodmobile will visit Our Lady Queen of Peace, 20955 Bournemouth in Harper Woods, next Thursday, Aug. 9, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. For an appointment, call Winifred Pflaum at 886-7876.

Donations are accepted at the Detroit Blood Center, 100 Mack Avenue in Detroit, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.; and Tuesday and Thursday from noon to 6 p.m. For an appointment, call 494-2800 or 494-2801.

Summer is seasonally a bad time for blood collections. Many of the organizations that normally sponsor blood drives for the Red Cross, such as businesses and factories, are reluctant to do so because of smaller staffs. A large source of blood donors, high schools and universities, are not in session.

Warm weather activities also sideline many donors from making and keeping appointments at local donor centers.

The Red Cross continues to ask area residents to support local blood collection efforts, either through donating at community drives or by calling their local donor center for an appointment. Donor centers have weekend and evening hours for donor's convenience.

Blood can be donated by anyone in good health who is between the ages of 17 and 65 who weighs at least 110 pounds. Donors are encouraged to bring a friend or relative along to donate with them.

$30,000 taken from home in the Woods

An estimated $30,000 worth of cash, jewelry and appliances were stolen last weekend during a break-in at a Deeplands Road home.

The homeowner called Woods police Sunday evening, July 22, to report the break-in. The family had returned home from a trip to Gaylord to find a basement window on the east side of the house broken out and immediately called police, reports said.

The thieves entered the home through the broken basement window and left through the mud room door on the home's west side, according to reports.

Taken from a kitchen was a 13-inch color television set and a 35mm Konica single reflex camera. The items were worth about $800, reports said.

A 24-inch color television set with remote control, two larger rectangular speakers and one Technet tape deck were taken from the family room. They were valued at $2,400, reports said. Taken from a second floor bedroom was a 15-inch color television built by a Japanese manufacturer, according to reports, The TV was worth $200.

Two jewelry boxes were also taken. One box contained six gold bracelets, two diamond rings, two amethyst rings, one Bulova Acutron watch, another watch of unknown manufacturer, a 1961 Grosse Pointe High School man's class ring, odd pearls, a dachshund pin with a ruby eye and two Kappa Kappa Gamma gold keys.

The man's jewelry box contained assorted jewelry, including one, nine-piece gold button set and one set of nine silver buttons, one Omega watch worth $450, $100 worth of silver-and-half-dollars and $50 in assorted change.

A neighborhood canvas by police discovered one neighbor who said he had heard voices in the home about 10:30 a.m. Saturday, but believed it to be the family. The homeowner and his family had left at 6:30 Saturday morning for Gaylord. Another neighbor reported seeing lights in the home Saturday night that appeared askew.

Police continue their investigation.

Preferred for WCCC board

Five candidates, including four from the Pointes, are seeking to represent the 1st District on the troubled Wayne County Community College Board of Trustees and will compete for two nominations in Tuesday's primary election.

A total of 62 candidates have filed for the nine board seats to be filled in November. The board of the college is being expanded from seven to nine and the terms reduced from six to four years. Four incumbent board members are seeking reelection but John Grylls of the City, who currently is the 1st District trustee, did not choose to run again.

THE COLLEGE HAS BEEN in a financial and administrative mess for several years but now has a chance, since its operations are being monitored by the state superintendent of education, to make some improvement, especially with new board members in office. A group of civic organizations interested in improving the quality of the board has banded together to seek qualified candidates in most of the district and has high hopes for their election.

One of the problems in the past has been the board has become involved in administrative matters, a practice that led to controversies with the presidents and administrative staff. Now the hope is that the new elected board will understand its role and will also set high standards for the new president it must select soon.

The 1st District is fortunate in having several well qualified candidates. Tops among them, in this newspaper's opinion, is Dennis Mongoven, 63, of the Woods, who had 12 years of experience as director of purchases for educational administration at Wayne State University, is an attorney specializing in estate and financial planning, served in a corporate enterprise, Fruehauf Corp., as business administrator for its purchasing staff.

In his interview with the News, Mongoven said the board's most important immediate task will be to select a president. He emphasized that the board should allow the president to run the college's day-to-day operations, subject to review and audit by the trustees. In view of his previous experience, especially at Wayne State and at Fruehauf, Mongoven appears to have the background to keep a close eye on the community college's business, and administrative practices.

THESE COMMENTS ARE not meant to disparage any of the other candidates in the 1st District but Mongoven was encouraged to run by community leaders and has won endorsement of the Civic Searchlight, a nonpartisan organization that rates candidates, as the only candidate in this district entitled to its highest rating of "preferred and well qualified." The News gives him the same rating.

Drunk driving: Paper should tell it like it is

To the Editor:

The tragic death of Edward Sullivan has generated a controvery in your "Letters" section. Harriet Nolan's critics say she should have been more "sensitive." They wish she would have reported his acute intoxication more euphemistically. Harriet Nolan simply reported the facts, which is her job.

In my opinion, the media should get away from the practice of glossing over or "sensitizing" alcohol-related accidents. Mr. Sullivan jeopardized other lives by driving in his condition. So did the person or persons who provided him the "belly full of booze."

As a subscriber, I hope the community and the paper will encourage reporters to "tell it like it is" in the future.

Kids' mischief

To the Editor:

Concerning those who wrote in to support Harriet Nolan on the Sullivan article, it saddens me to hear so many harsh words spoken of someone so young and so unfortunate.

It seems to me that it is only the nature of the young to delve into mischief and make mistakes in the very difficult process of growing up and that it is these chaotic times of high-tech and a faster pace that has made the mistakes of today's young people so much more serious.

I don't think that we should sit back and write off the drunk driving statistics as a product of the times, but to make an example of someone else's boy was hardly a choice for Ms. Nolan to make.

What happened to good news?

To the Editor:

We know you're a little slow getting the news out, what with being a weekly publication and all, but August is here and you still haven't mentioned Grosse Pointe North's commencement exercise or any of the activities that followed.

On Page 9A of your June 21 issue, next to the obituaries you ran a picture of a littered entrance/exit to North with 10 lines of comments regarding the "paper chase" at North and the vandalizing of parking meters at Grosse Pointe South high school.

On June 14 at 7:30 p.m. Grosse Pointe North awarded diplomas to 354 students at a very special first outdoor commencement exercise, as their families and friends looked on.

Out of Grosse Pointe North's class of 1984, 41 students were National Honor Society members with highest honors. Thirty-three were National Honor Society members with honors.

To the Editor:

Please publish this in the name of honest journalism.

A distorted portrait was painted of my late brother, Edward Sullivan, in your article of July 12.

Those who knew Eddie would describe a gentle, kind-hearted guy lacking a mean bone throughout, who would gladly do anything for his family and friends. We loved him dearly.

It is my sincere hope that no member of your staff ever experiences the grief and loss we've suffered, only to have salt thrown on the wounds when an irresponsible story subsequently appears.

Bad actors, deformed lives

To the Editor:

Hate muggings? Don't want your car to be stolen? Your house to be burglarized?

Trace all these events to the lopsided way our big money is being spent: so-called defense, missiles, and Pentagon, Pershing II. But for jobs, schools, medical care, roads, human needs? Peanuts or nothing at all!

The result? Deformed lives and deformed people who end up as bad actors.

Hertel supports nuclear freeze

To the Editor:

This is to clarify a statement printed in your publication, July 19. In the story which profiled the two candidates who are seeking the Republican nomination for the 14th Congressional District, it was alleged (by Joan Rashid) that I did not vote on the nuclear freeze issue when it was considered on the floor of the U.S. House of Representatives.

An examination of the record will show that debate on the nuclear freeze issue began in the House on March 16 and climaxed with the final vote on the measure on May 4. I was present during the debate and took part in the voting on this issue. When the final vote was taken May 4, I voted with the majority (278-yes; 149-no) in support of a mutually verifiable freeze. I would also like to point out that I voted in favor of a nuclear freeze when the issue came before the House and was defeated by only two votes in 1982.

I realize the complexity of following news reports of the debate and voting on the long list of amendments considered by the House on the nuclear freeze issue can be confusing. There have even been occasions when the wire services have admitted errors in the reporting of my votes and those of other members of Congress.

I hope this information will help clarify the issue for the citizens I serve.

Dennis M. Hertel
Member of Congress

Supporting the moratorium

Questions asked at a recent school board meeting as well as in letters to the editor offer evidence that the issue of school closings is still alive and well in the Grosse Pointe community even though it was resolved for this year at the June election.

As a result of the election, the closing of Barnes Elementary School will go ahead as scheduled this fall but the next step, if one is necessary, is still in question. During the election campaign, at least four trustees publicly supported a moratorium on any more school closings of up to two years in order to give the community time to recover from the controversy over the issue and to evaluate the effects of the Barnes closing. That still seems a sensible course.

IN THE FIRST PLACE, results of a new school census that will be available later this month should indicate whether the forecasts of continued population decline are being borne out this year. If the enrollment continues the decline that already has reduced the school population in the Pointes by more than 40 percent from its peak, then fresh consideration would have to be given to ways of dealing with the problem. And one of the ways certainly would be more closings, assuming the decline in population continues.

In the second place, planning for any future school reorganization that includes school closings obviously would be directed by the new superintendent who is not yet in place. So until a new leader is selected and in office, it would seem impractical for the board to get involved in specific plans for school closings or other ways to deal with the declining school population. Since the new superintendent will not be in office until about Jan. 1, 1985, deferring any action until after that date would appear to be the logical course.

That doesn't mean the board should ignore any new signs of decrease or increase in the school population, such as those that might be found in the new census. But it does mean that the board probably is correct in taking a cautious approach toward planning any future school closings in the near future. Continue to study the census figures and watch the effects of the Barnes closing but wait for the arrival of the new superintendent before getting involved in any specific plans for the future. That would be our advice to the board.

THERE ARE THOSE WHO feel that the board should immediately start planning for additional school closings. We suggest that the board's more cautious approach is a better one for the immediate future. From the reaction stirred by the first three school closing plans, it is clear that the community still needs time to "heal the wounds" of the June election campaign. That fact is additional evidence to support to moratorium on closings.

The gerrymandered Pointes

Grosse Pointers who vote Republican will have the opportunity to nominate their choices for Congress in both the 13th and 14th congressional districts next Tuesday—but their chances of victory in November remain slim because of the gerrymandered reapportionment in 1982 that split the Pointes between two districts that are heavily Democratic.

What happened in Michigan two years ago was that a panel of three U.S. District Court judges took over the reapportionment task after Republican Gov. William Milliken vetoed a reapportionment plan passed by the Democratically-controlled Legislature. That judicial panel, however, simply adopted the Democratic plan that had been passed by the Legislature and vetoed by the governor, made a few changes in it and then ordered it into effect as the "most politically fair plan" before the court.

THAT PLAN PUT TWO OF the Pointes — Grosse Pointe Park and Grosse Pointe City — into the 13th District and left the other three — the Farms, the Shores and the Woods — in the 14th District. The Concerned Republican Committee objected, before the court made its decision, but to no avail. The court ignored the substantial interests the Pointes have in common: they share one school system, the Grosse Pointe War Memorial facilities and the Neighborhood Club; their police and fire departments are substantially integrated into one mutual support system, and they share the same trash disposal system. The Republican committee, in making its objection, added:

"They (the Pointes) also constitute one monolithic (albeit not very big) block of Republican voters — and therein lies the rub. What little effect the Grosse Pointes have had in the past the plaintiffs (the Democratic representatives favoring the plan) would split in two and put half in the 13th and half in the 14th districts, both of which are heavily Democratic."

So that is what happened — and probably why as well.

So in Tuesday's primary, Rep. George W. Crockett, Jr., of the 13th District is expected to be renominated easily over his lone Democratic challenger from Detroit, John W. Barber, Jr., and win reelection in the fall over either Robert Murphy or William G. Tinsley, two Detroiters seeking the GOP nomination.

In the 14th District, Rep. Dennis M. Hertel will face no Democratic opposition but in the fall will be opposed by either John Lauve, 43, a General Motors engineer from the Woods who has sought public office before, or Joan Rashid, 31, a former employe of the Justice and State departments in Washington, who is also a Woods resident.

Lauve, a Vietnam veteran who has been involved in politics since he got out of the army, has taken aim at Hertel as a spender and as a participant in the reapportionment plan that split the Pointes two years ago. Lauve has made a statewide reputation as an advocate of recall against Gov. James Blanchard, Mayor Coleman Young of Detroit and assorted legislators, and may stand a better chance than he did in his unsuccessful race for the GOP nomination in 1980.

Ms. Rashid, who served as a corporate lobbyist in Washington as well as a federal employe there, decided to get involved in politics at the grass roots level when she moved back home. She is critical of Hertel for failing to vote on the nuclear freeze issue and believes other pressing problems include maintaining the Social Security system, stopping crime, shaping the nation's foreign policy and improving foreign markets.

The Civic Searchlight, a nonpartisan organization that rates candidates, gave Hertel and Crockett "preferred and well qualified" ratings; listed Barber as "well qualified" against Crockett in the Democratic primary but gave no rating to either of the Republicans, Murphy or Tinsley, and gave Lauve a "qualified" rating but listed no rating for Ms. Rashid in the Republican primary.

THE NEWS IS TAKING NO position on these primary contests but it does hope that the Republican nominees in both districts will carry out active campaigns before the fall election. The public deserves to know the details of the incumbents' records and the nominees can if they will hold up to public view their foes' stands on controversial issues. The GOP nominees may not have much of a chance in November but they can serve the public interest by their campaigns against the Democratic incumbents.

Prime Time for senior citizens

By Marian Trainor

One of the features of being blessed with a long life is the many changes and surprising events that are experienced along life's highway.

Just when one settles into a ho-hum, here-we-go-again attitude concerning fairly predictable and routine happenings, something occurs that renews our interest and shines a scintillating light on things.

It happened last month. For the first time in history, a woman was chosen as a vice-presidential candidate.

The time had come. A woman had been shot into space. There is a woman who sits on the Supreme Court. We have women mayors, governors, senators. Indira Gandhi runs India, a nation of 600 million people. Golda Meir guided Israel and Mrs. Thatcher heads up Britain.

What makes it truly a wonder is that it happened in 1984. It has previously been, "Maybe next time" . . . "America is not ready" . . . "Women just won the right to vote in 1920, for heavens sake, slow down!"

Geraldine Ferraro broke the barriers. She has added a new dimension to American politics. She has broken new ground on the American political scene and inspired new hope in the hearts of those who thought their time would never come. Win or lose, American politics will never be the same again.

It is quite an accomplishment for a second-generation American-Italian girl who made the traditional role of wife and mother her first priority. She practiced law part-time after graduation from law school when her children were little. It was not until Laura, the youngest of the three, was in second grade that she stepped out into the political arena to help her cousin, Nick Ferraro, campaign for attorney-general of Queens. He won — and she became an assistant district attorney.

Her special assignment included the prosecution of cases of child abuse, domestic violence, rape and crimes against the elderly.

Four years later, her Congressman, a conservative Democrat, retired. With no support from the Democratic organization, Geraldine Ferraro entered the race and won both the primary and the general election.

Gradually she became someone to reckon with as she was chosen for party jobs of rising importance. On Friday the 13th, it was announced that she had been chosen to run for one of the most important jobs in government — the vice-presidency.

The choice came as a surprise to Americans generally but apparently also personally to Ferraro.

"You must understand that when I was growing up, little girls were never told you could grow up to be vice-president of the United States. So that has not been a burning ambition for me in my life," she commented.

It is generally conceded that she is a hard-driving, ambitious woman who is willing to work hard to realize her goals.

"I never heard the girl say she was tired," her mother Antonella said. "Workaholic — that is what my daughter is."

Mrs. Ferraro's own determination could have provided a role model for her daughter. After her husband, who was a successful restaurant owner, died suddenly, the family moved to a small apartment in the Bronx. She crocheted beads on dresses for a living but managed to send her daughter to a private school in Tarrytown.

A pattern was set. Geraldine Ferraro, firm in the belief that in America all goals become accessible through hard work, won a scholarship to prestigious Marymount College and put herself through Fordham Law school by teaching elementary school during the day.

She arrived in the Capitol, a virtual unknown but quickly won recognition as a hard worker and clever politician. She became known as a person to call to straighten out complicated situations that needed patience and ability to compromise.

Right now she is in the running to win the vice-presidency. If that happens, one day she could create yet another historical first by inheriting or being chosen to run for the presidency.

She has much going for her besides her record as a congresswoman. She is attractive and energetic. She is smart and has the approval of party leaders.

Mondale said: "I looked for the best vice-president and I found her in Gerry Ferraro. I know what it takes to be a good vice-president."

He went on to praise her as a hard worker who has earned every achievement and for her strong family life and her religious convictions. He feels that Americans of average income will identify with her.

But not all is sweetness and light. The plaudits over Ferraro's nomination are tempered by some who, while they accept her breakthrough as the first woman vice-presidential candidate, question her qualifications. They admit that she has been a viable force as a congresswoman but they have trouble matching her against George Bush who before becoming vice-president was a member of Congress, the Republican national chairman, United Nations ambassador, a CIA director and envoy to China.

One Reagan political advisor said: "There are 100 people in the Democratic Party more qualified."

L. Mendel Rivers in USA Today wrote that "once again the American liberal movement has degraded those it pretends to exalt." He says the selection of Ferraro, or any woman, is the worse kind of condescension, that it is a clear message that women, blacks and Hispanics cannot compete against males unless males are simply eliminated.

"By giving favored minorities special status we do not tell them their time has come, we tell them their time has not yet come," he contends. "Congresswoman Ferraro may be brilliantly qualified to be president. We shall never know. We know only that she has allowed herself to be manipulated to serve the purposes of yet another white male desperate for glory."

Then there are those who question whether Mondale would have chosen a woman running mate had he not been 15 points behind Reagan in the polls.

Others wonder whether she has really won such an auspicious place in the Democratic Party on merit. Competence and qualifications are not so quickly and easily acquired, they argue and point to those, women among them, who have advanced step by step to top jobs for which they are truly qualified.

In this vein there will be conjectures about whether she could handle the presidency should something happen to Mondale. As one wag expressed it: "There is no such thing as a good vice-president or a bad vice-president. A vice-president is simply a hypothesis on hold. The question remains: How good is the holding force?"

Politically, Ferraro is linked to Tip O'Neill, an all-time big spender in Massachusetts. She favors public financing for abortion although as a Roman Catholic she is against abortion. She has voted for higher taxes to cure deficits. She voted against defense spending which could be a plus for her, substantiating the view expressed by John Wheeler in his book, "Touched with Fire." He wrote: "Femininity expresses the idea that there are things worth living for. Masculinity expresses the idea that there are things worth dying for."

Ronald Hinckly, a poll specialist with the Office of Planning and Evaluation, in a memorandum concluded: "The gender gap vote favored candidates more peace-oriented for foreign affairs and caring on social programs and the economy."

Ferraro's constituency knows that she was a caring person when as an assistant prosecutor in Queens she worked hard against child abuse and abuse of the elderly.

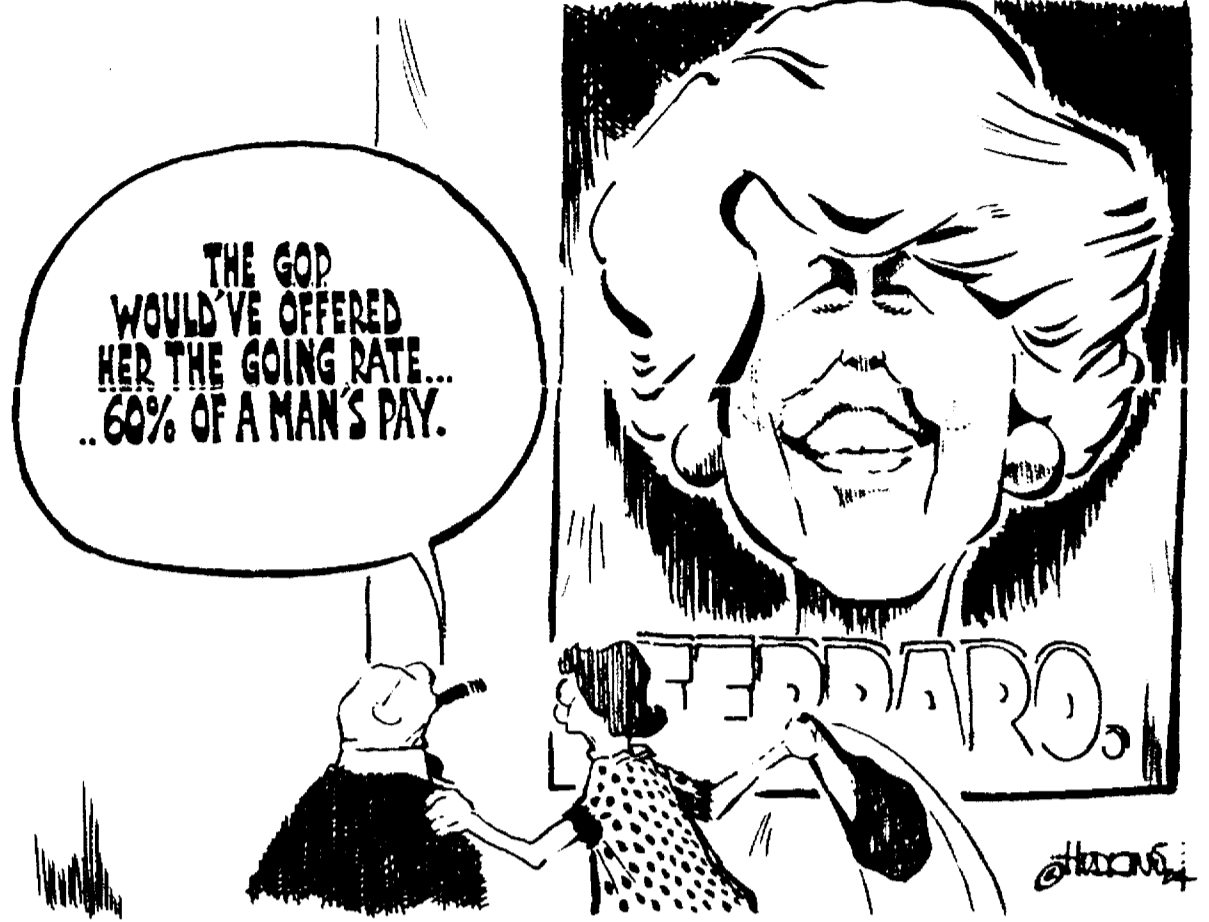

Those who have waged the final battle to win the prize of the presidency know that those final weeks of the campaign are the toughest. The media is a two-edged sword. It could throw less than a flattering light on Ferraro when the going gets tough. How well she will hold up is yet to be seen.

She has the advantage of being a handsome, trim, vivacious woman, attractive enough to be a guest star on "Dallas." She undoubtedly knows how to win friends and influence people. Her meteoric rise in Washington attests to that. In Congress, she was instantly popular with the men who run things.

But as Gordon Block of Rochester, N.Y. said: "Who knows how good somebody is until you put 50 reporters on her day in and day out. If she is good the media exposure is fantastic. But if she makes a mistake it's a disaster."

Whatever happens, we have lived to experience a historical first in politics. And speaking of living and being older, we are told that Geraldine Ferraro has a special interest in older people. As a three-term congresswoman, she pushed hard for pension reforms to benefit older women — like her 78-year-old widowed mother.

"My mother," she said, "is frail, she has medical bills, and if something happened to me, I don't want her to have nothing."

What ever happened to good news?

Forty-six graduated with honors and five with highest honors.

Immediately after the graduation ceremony, the Junior Class hosted a reception for the grads and their guests in the Greek Theater area. Allowing enough time for a few hugs, kisses, handshakes and a quick change of clothes, most of our grads, some parents and faculty were back at North for an "all night party" given by the North Parents Club.

From 10 p.m. until 5 a.m., approximately 300 responsible and well-behaved kids — probably some of the same ones that littered — partied and in general had a good time.

Our celebration ended shortly after sunrise as 150 to 200 grads, a handful of parents, Dr. John Kastran, Jane Leonard and Guido Ruggelbrugge, shivering in the unseasonably cold morning air, joined hands to form a living circle and recited the Lord's prayer on the shore of Lake St. Clair at the Ford House.

You missed a very special occasion and an excellent opportunity to write something positive about the Grosse Pointe North community — students, faculty and parents — and the class of '84.

If you hadn't treated Grosse Pointe South similarly I would have to ask, "did you all go to South?"

City, county officials meet

Local officials and members of the Wayne County Road Commission met last month in the Harper Woods municipal building, the latest in a series of meetings between the two groups.

County Commissioner John Hertel, representing the Pointes, Harper Woods and northeast Detroit, initiated the meetings last year.

At the meeting was Harold Popp, the newest member of the board of road commissioners, and William Oakley, recently appointed managing director of the road commission. Other road commission officials present included deputy director Joseph Hartmann, a Pointer, and civil engineers Gerald Dresselhouse and Robert Mahoney.

Topics of discussion included maintenance of the medians along the county roads and highway embankments, pavement repair on Lakeshore Road and the removal of diseased elm trees.

The road commission will seek state and federal aid to fund a tree-planting program along the area's main roads, Hertel's office said.

City officials and road commission representatives will meet again in the fall, according to Hertel.

Jogger runs au natural

Grosse Pointe Park police report residents have seen a man jogging late at night in his shoes and little else.

The usual response from witnesses, is to look in the other direction. In that split second he disappears, they say.

So far, he's been seen in areas bounded by Jefferson to Kercheval and Bedford to Cadieux. He seems to appear out of nowhere between 11 p.m. and 1:30 a.m., and reportedly doesn't attempt to touch or speak to surprised walkers.

The latest episode which occurred Sunday, July 29 at 11:30 p.m., provided police with the first description of the streaker. Two teens walking on Yorkshire near Charlevoix said he was a white male, between 18 and 20 years-old with brown hair and a thin build.

Henry Coonce, Park police chief said the man probably lives close by and that the appearance will stop when the weather turns cold or when he's caught, whichever comes first.

The Balalaika Orchestra of Detroit will perform Russian folk music and Gypsy melodies on the War Memorial lawn Aug. 6.

Russians are coming

Music festival moves outdoors

The oldest, continually active balalaika ensemble in America will perform a repertoire ranging from classical Russian folk music to wildly exuberant Gypsy melodies on Monday, Aug. 6, at the War Memorial. Admission to the lake-side concert, which begins at 8 p.m., is $9 for reserved seating, and $5 for grounds admission.

Today, the members of the Balalaika Orchestra of Detroit, which was formed by Russian immigrants in 1926, represent many different ethnic origins and come from all walks of life. They participate in the orchestra as an avocation, their common bond being an intense dedication to balalaika music.

The orchestra's musical director, William Goldes, whose father was one of the orchestra founders, has been a member of the group for 17 years. Since becoming director in 1979, Goldes has added new arrangements, while retaining the pure classical elegance of Russian folk music. In addition, he is fortunate to have personally met with famous Soviet balalaika virtuosos, who have helped him develop and preserve the balalaika tradition.

The orchestra, one of the few authentic balalaika ensembles outside the Soviet Union, will play a wide range of authentic folk music on authentic instruments. To complement this, the catering department of the War Memorial will offer a Russian picnic buffet that will include such Russian specialties as chicken in sour plum sauce, cucumber in sour cream with fresh dill, salad roussa, Armenian salad, Georgian cabbage salad, Black Russian bread, and red cherry strudel.

The cost of the picnic benefit is $6 per person and it must be purchased three days in advance of the concert. The grounds will be open for picnicking at 6 p.m.

The following Monday, Aug. 13, the 27th annual Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival chaired by Mrs. John Elias will conclude its seven-concert series with a performance by the Grosse Pointe Symphony Pops conducted by Felix Resnick.

For performance and buffet ticket information, call 881-7511.

Hospital expansion approved by state

Bon Secours Hospital received approval on June 27 from the Michigan Department of Public Health to build an ambulatory center at the cost of $5,020,000 (including a 15-year lease) at the corner of Nottingham and Jefferson. The project is commonly known as the Bon Secours Hospital/Detroit Institute of Ophthalmology project.

According to the state, the facility will occupy about 11,000 square feet of space and will contain two general procedures rooms, one minor procedures room and one cystoscopy room.

The hospital also made application to the state to replace the existing telephone system at the main hospital and at the satellite clinics for physical therapy, cardiopulmonary service and internal medicine.

The project, listed at $1,017,110 will include expansion and remodeling of the telephone equipment room at the hospital.

A ruling on that application is expected within 90 days.

Ruling reduces cities' cable clout

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Last month's Federal Communications Commission ruling that cities can't regulate what goes into a basic cable service package won't affect viewers of the two systems that have wired Grosse Pointe—at least not anytime soon.

Both Michael Singpiel, vice-president and general manager of Comcast Cable systems in southeast Michigan, and Gerald DeGrazia, general manager of Grosse Pointe Cable, said the three-week-old ruling won't affect what the two companies offer as their basic cable television package.

The FCC said that a basic cable package is no more than retransmission of local-over-the-air signals, like channels 2, 4, 7 and 9. The basic service need not include satellite services like Music Television, Cable Broadcasting Network or Entertainment Sports Network, the FCC added.

The Grosse Pointe Cable basic package includes satellite channels like MTV, ESPN, Nickelodeon, Arts and Entertainment, C-SPAN and others. Comcast Cable offers about the same satellite channels.

The mid-July ruling by the FCC means a company can "add, delete or realign its service offerings as long as all must-carry signals are carried as part of its basic cable service," according to Ed Dooley of the National Cable Television Association.

A cable company can now take channels like MTV and ESPN out of the basic service package even though the franchise agreement says the stations are part of basic service. The company can then repackage its service in different price "tiers" to offer a variety of the satellite channels along with the basic service, Dooley said.

The ruling will "counter the negative effect of a higher basic rate by offering a tiered service," Dooley said. Many companies, in order to gain franchises, were forced to carry 10 or 12 satellite channels that increased the basic service rate, he added.

The ruling is "a very positive thing" that will allow cable companies to develop "more price-sensitive products," Dooley said. "Cable operators are retailers. They will very carefully test the waters before making a change."

"We don't plan anything at the present time," DeGrazia said, adding the company's last rate increase was "a hard price increase to get through."

Comcast's Singpiel said the company has looked at "certain things" but no changes will occur soon.

The ruling will ease the financial burden on cable companies, Singpiel said. Satellite channels, finding advertising revenues don't support them, have started increasing their charges to companies that carry them, he said. At the other end, city councils have treated rate increases as political instead of economic questions, making it difficult for companies to recoup the extra cost of the satellite channels.

With the FCC ruling, cable companies can now set up different packages to offer at a variety of costs, allowing them to hook more people into the systems, Dooley said.

Comcast is reorganizing management regionally to standardize procedures and policies, Singpiel said. Comcast holds four different franchises in 10 cities and townships, including Grosse Pointe Shores.

The company would also like to standardize services and rates, but only "where feasible," Singpiel added, saying there are differences between offerings and rates from franchise to franchise. "We're still governed by franchise agreements so we can't do too much in that area," he noted.

The ruling by the FCC was an extension of a U.S. Supreme Court ruling in June that struck down provisions in an Oklahoma franchise that banned wine commercials on cable television. The high court ruling sharply limited cities' control over the programming, Dooley said.

It was inevitable that either the courts or Congress would move in and take some action on cities' increasing content regulations, Dooley said. "Something had to give."

The ruling by the FCC shouldn't affect local origination or public access channels that are a part of basic packages for both Comcast and Grosse Pointe Cable. The FCC didn't say anything about local offerings, Dooley said.

Some franchises are finding that consolidating local origination channels has increased viewing, Dooley said. A Washington, D.C. franchise has six local channels, but the franchise agreement says they can be used for nothing other than local origination programming, Dooley said. The channels remained blank most of the time because programs aren't being produced to fill the time, he added.

The more local channels that are offered, the thinner viewership is spread, blunting the effect of local origination channels, he added, were company's link to the community.

Pointers elected to bar positions

George T. Roumell, Jr., of the Pointe, was recently re-elected to his seat on the State Bar of Michigan's board of commissioners, according to a press release from the attorneys' organization.

In addition, three Pointers won seats on the 150-member State Bar Representative Assembly, which was formed in 1972 to make policy for the organization. Its members include representatives from each of the state's 55 judicial circuits.

Incumbent assembly members from the Pointe who won re-election were James A. Callahan and Robert A. Reuther. Kathleen Gallagher Lewis won a new seat on the assembly representing Wayne County.

Park reports two purse snatchings

Grosse Pointe Park police reported two residents had their purses stolen last week.

One woman said a man grabbed her purse as she was walking in the alley behind the 15000 block of Mack on Wednesday, July 25, at 6 p.m.

The assailant, who got $60 in cash, was described as a black male, about 17-years-old wearing a navy baseball cap, long sleeved multi-colored jacket, blue jeans and gym shoes.

The next day, a woman walking on Maryland near Goethe was robbed of her purse containing $35 at 9:48 p.m. She described the two thieves as 17-year-old black males, with medium short afros, five feet 9 inches tall, and weighing between 140 and 145 pounds. One was wearing a baseball cap, green athletic jacket and levis. The other had on a dark blue satin jacket and levis. Both were wearing high-top white tennis shoes.

Both women were unhurt, said police.

Park seeks to condemn buildings

By Harriet Nolan

The Grosse Pointe Park City Council took steps at its July 23 meeting to rid its community of some buildings considered "a public nuisance" by asking the owners to either bring the properties up to code or have them removed.

One, on Maryland, was described by John Crawford, city manager, as just a shell without plumbing, flooring or electricity. That home is now in the hands of Capitol Mortgage, which has foreclosed on the property. It is scheduled to be offered at a sheriff's sale on Aug. 1.

However, Michael Balamut, representing Capitol, said he didn't expect any takers and, after the customary six-month redemption period, title would probably be conveyed to the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). He said HUD would probably deed it back to the Park for $1 and then the city could have it razed if it wanted.

Herold McC. Deason, city attorney, said council will follow through with condemnation proceedings and at the same time talk with HUD officials seeking the quickest solution.

The now vacant Pointe Hardware on Mack Avenue was also cited as a public nuisance. The owner, appearing before council, agreed and said he was in favor of having it torn down. Council gave him a 30 day extension to get bids to remove it.

Repair or removal was also requested of the owner of a home on Bishop Road. The house caught fire last September and nothing has been done since because the owner said he still hasn't come to an agreement with Detroit Edison.

According to reports, it took five hours and several phone calls before Edison dispatched a crew to disconnect live wires that had loosened during a rainstorm.

During that lay over, Park fire officials couldn't go up on the roof or find the source of the fire due to the large amount of smoke, according to Park Fire Chief Phillip Costa. Extensive damage was caused to the home, valued at $300,000.

Council gave the owner until Sept. 1 to work out details with Detroit Edison.

North will host summer dances

Grosse Pointe North's classes of 1985, '86 and '87 will host two summer dance "coolers" Fridays, Aug. 10 and 24, from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Admission to the dance is limited to North students — those who will be sophomores, juniors and seniors in September. There is a $3 charge at the door. Refreshments will be served and music will be provided by Chris O'Brien Productions.

Best retirement states insofar as all the various advantages go — taxes, weather, part-time work, so on — are said to be Utah, Louisiana, South Carolina, Nevada and Texas.

NEW YORK AIR INTRODUCES "NO IFs, ANDs, OR BUTs" FARES.

On most airlines, you can actually pay several different fares for the very same flight.

The regular fare. Or a 7-day advance purchase fare. Or a 14-day advance purchase fare. And so on.

At New York Air, we think this fare game is confusing. And unfair.

That's why we're introducing our new, simple "No Ifs, Ands, Or Buts" fare policy.

Now, no matter when you call for a ticket, you'll pay one, simple fare: either Peak or Off Peak. With no restrictions.

No fine print. No strings attached.

And even though we're simplifying our fares, it doesn't mean you'll get less for your dollar. Fact is, you'll still get all the amenities New York Air is famous for.

Like our complimentary fresh breakfast snacks on weekday mornings. Along with a complimentary New York Times.

And complimentary mixed drinks, fine wines and real New York-style food all day, every weekday. Not to mention seat selection. Extra leg-room. And 80% window and aisle seating.

And you'll be served by the most accommodating people in the business. People who believe it doesn't cost anything to be friendly.

So there you have it. Simple fares. And simply terrific service.

With all this going for you, we think you'll find New York Air is simply the best airline to fly.

No ifs, ands, or buts about it.

WHERE'S THE HEARING AID?

Until now, wearing a hearing aid has meant telling the whole world you have a hearing problem.

So, some people with hearing problems have decided to miss the conversations and sounds that make up an important and joyful part of life rather than wear a hearing aid. Others have worn hearing aids but quietly wished that there was a way to enjoy the benefits of a hearing aid without making their hearing problem obvious.

The NEW LITTLE SECRET HEARING AID fits snugly into the ear canal, so small and so light that not only will other people not know it's there, YOU may forget it's there.

Woods uses surplus to pay for sick time

Frugal spending and higher than expected revenues left the Woods with a surplus at the end of its 1983-84 fiscal year. Half of it disappeared when fiscal 1984-85 began July 1, and the other half is soon to go, according to the city.

The city's monthly report for June, the end of its fiscal year, showed the city ending with $271,416. The unaudited figures showed the city took in more money than anticipated for licenses, permits and violation fees, while three of four city departments underspent their budgets.

The city had already budgeted $140,000 of that surplus as a carry-over for fiscal 1984-85 to cut its tax hike, City Administrator Chester Petersen said. The city will also have to transfer money to a reserve fund to cover the possible pay-off of cashing in sick days, as required by state law, he added.

"Our 1984-85 budget anticipated a cash carry-over of $140,000 to reduce our tax levy requirement," Petersen said. "Presumably, the remaining amount will have to be transferred to a reserve fund to cover current accrued sick leave liability."

Coopers & Lybrand, auditing the city's books, said the city would have to set aside $139,000 to cover the sick leave, Petersen said.

A good part of the surplus, 5.4 percent of the city's general fund, came from the year's $119,000 contingency fund, into which the city didn't have to dip during the year, Petersen said. The general government, public works and parks and recreation departments underspent their budgets by almost $65,000. The city debt service and public safety department were over budget, according to the report.

On the revenue side, the city collected almost $23,000 more in license and permit fees over what was anticipated, Petersen said. The city collected $128,000 more than anticipated in violation fines, according to the monthly report, while collecting $25,000 less than expected in miscellaneous revenue.

The half-again-as-much total for violations was caused by increases the state enacted after the city's budget had been adopted, Petersen said.

Although the city showed paper losses for its water utility and boat dock enterprise funds, the losses are covered by reserves from the funds, Petersen said.

Although the city collected $7,400 more than it expected for the docks, it spent close to $25,000 more than budgeted, according to the report. Most of the expense was the cost of repairing winter damage, Petersen said.

Attorney John Axe seeks U-M office

Attorney John R. Axe promised to "fight for continued excellence" at the University of Michigan as he launched his candidacy for the Republican party's nomination for regent at the university.

He is the second Park resident to announce he is seeking the GOP nomination. David K. Easlick, Jr., who headed this spring's unsuccessful attempt to recall three local school board members, earlier said he would seek the nomination. Axe, who is president of Michigan Financial Consultants, Inc., and senior partner in the law firm Axe and Swartz, has won endorsements from a string of prominent Republicans, 17 state senators and 40 state representatives, according to a press release from his campaign headquarters.

Among the local party leaders on Axe's general committee list are

Rep. William R. Bryant, Jr., Wilber M. Brucker, Jr., and Palmer Heenan, mayor of Grosse Pointe Park.

Other committee members are Robert G. Baker, Ulysses W. Boykin, Lloyd Buhl, Maryclaire Burk, James Defebaugh, C. Hugh Dohany, Dr. Michael C. Fleck, Paul V. Gadola, Paul G. Goebel, Jr., Sharon M. Linehan, Alan A. May, Jacqueline McGregor, John Milford, Daniel T. Murphy, Dovie T. Pickett, Ranny Riecker, Ronna Romney, Jack Sanderson, Paul Schultz, Richard Simonson, Frank D. Stella, Norman O. Stockmeyer, Patricia Stonehouse, Robert M. Teeter, C.S. Tompkins, David F. Upton, Phil Van Dam and Robert Waldron.

The Michigan Republican party will nominate two candidates for the state-wide office when it holds its convention on Sept. 8 in Detroit. University of Michigan has an eight-member board of regents provided under the state constitution. Each serves for eight-year terms. The terms of regents Robert E. Nederlander, of Birmingham, and Gerald R. Dunn, of Lansing, expire this year.

The board of regents has power of general supervision over the university and control of all expenditures from its various funds.

As a financial consultant, Axe has served as advisor to colleges and universities in connection with the borrowing of money for student loans and improvement projects. He is a member of the Michigan Higher Education Assistance Authority and the Michigan Higher Education Student Loan Authority.

Axe, 46, was graduated from University of Michigan and received his law degree at Harvard.

Axe said in a press release that there is a real need to elect Republican regents to work with the new Republican majority in the state senate. He pointed out that the university's level of funding from the state has dropped during the tenure of both incumbent Democratic regents who have served for the last 16 years.

Axe's committee's address is 300 East Long Lake Road, Suite 300, Bloomfield Hills, Mich., 48013.

Children's Home opens its doors to Pointers

The Children's Home of Detroit, a residential treatment center located in Grosse Pointe Woods, is making its short-term respite program available to area psychiatrists and family therapists.

This program will become a resource for therapists to keep families together by arranging a short term or emergency placement in a "neutral" setting for youngsters who may experience extreme family pressure and are ready to explode. The temporary placement may serve as a safety valve, as time away from home and family pressures may be beneficial to all concerned. In this program, the Children's Home will serve girls from ages 6 to 15 and boys from 6 to 14.

Ordinarily, arrangements for placement will be made by the family therapist who will continue to work with the child and family while the youngster resides at the Children's Home. If the referral is made directly by the parent and the family does not have a therapist, the Children's Home professionals will make proper arrangements.

All programs and activities offered by the Children's Home of Detroit will be made available for these youngsters. The residential program consists of supervised and structured cottage living, special education, recreation and medical services. All children reside in six cottages, 10 children in each, and are supervised by experienced child care and supervisory personnel. A therapist (a master's level social worker) directs and coordinates the cottage programs.

The Children's Home of Detroit has been located in Grosse Pointe Woods since 1950.

Faith Church plans youth event week

Faith Community Church, 20520 Moross Road in Detroit, will hold a community youth event Monday through Friday, Aug. 6 to 10, from 9 to 11:30 a.m. for children aged 4 to 12.

Events are planned to celebrate the theme "God Bless Our Native Land." A special registration will be held Monday, with a visit from the Detroit Police helicopter planned Tuesday. A balloon launch is scheduled Wednesday, while children can explore a police car Thursday and examine a Detroit fire truck Friday.

A picnic and carnival will conclude the week Friday afternoon for the families in attendance. There is no charge. For more information, call 881-9111.

Up in smoke in the Park

Grosse Pointe Park police said they confiscated and destroyed a batch of marijuana growing in the back of a vacant home on Wayburn on Tuesday, July 24, after a neighbor alerted them.

Belle Isle gets new Friends

County Commissioner John Hertel was named to the board of directors of the Friends of Belle Isle in the organization's May elections.

Hertel, of Harper Woods, represents the First District, which includes the Grosse Pointes, Harper Woods and northeast Detroit.

A former state senator, Hertel is also a professor of government, environment and technology at Lawrence Institute of Technology. The first-term commissioner represents the county on the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Park Authority board of directors.

Also elected to the board of the Friends of Belle Isle were Grovener Grimes of Detroit, a retired Wayne State University program coordinator; Sam Trentacosta of Warren, a Mt. Clemens attorney, and Mary Elizabeth Murphy of Detroit, medical record administrator at Harper-Grace Hospital.

How to pick day care home

You've made a decision to place your child in a day care home. Do you know what options are available to you and what types of questions will help you assess a quality day care situation?

A family day care home is a private home in which one adult provides care for up to six unrelated children for some part of the day.

A group day care home is licensed for seven to 12 children and must have two care-givers present at all times.

Ask yourself the following questions before you decide which day care home is best for your child's individual needs:

- Does the home have a warm, comfortable atmosphere?

- Are you comfortable with the provider?

- What kinds of activities does the provider have for the children?

- How much time do the children spend watching television?

- Does the home look clean and "child-proof"?

- Does the provider relate well with the children?

- What types of meals and snacks are provided?

- What would a typical day be like?

- Who would be in charge if the provider was ill or unable to work?

These are just some of the questions that a parent should ask a potential day care provider. One important question to ask yourself is, "How would I feel if I spent a day here?"

Choosing child care can be the most important decision you make as a parent. For more tips on choosing quality child care, contact the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service, 885-0895.

Two thefts at Windmill Park

Grosse Pointe Park police reported a boat owner lost a gas can to thieves in Windmill Pointe Park on Tuesday, July 24. The next day, a 14-year-old girl said someone took her purse and shoes valued at $35 from a locker while she was swimming there.

Adopt-a-hydrant in the Park

The Grosse Pointe Park Fire Department would like you to adopt a hydrant. You would be helping the department by keeping the hydrant free from grass, weeds and snow. You'll even get your own adoption papers.

Lecture on sobriety at Brighton Aug. 7

A videotaped lecture by Russell Smith, M.D., titled "Quality Sobriety" will be featured at Brighton Hospital's next community education program on Tuesday, Aug. 7, at 6 p.m.

Smith, Brighton Hospital's medical director, frequently lectures at professional and community forums on alcoholism and substance abuse. This evening's taped presentation is from the series he conducts during the hospital's patient education program. In his lecture Smith discusses the pitfalls and hurdles a recovering alcoholic must deal with to maintain sobriety after receiving treatment for the disease.

Following the film a trained counselor will be available to answer questions and explain what help is available for both the alcoholic and his or her family.

The informal style of the free community education program allows people who are concerned about a loved one's drinking to obtain valuable information about the disease of alcoholism and its treatment.

Brighton Hospital is located on East Grand River at Kensington Road, just off the I-96 freeway.

For additional information and a free schedule of community education programs for the rest of the year, contact the hospital at 227-1211 or the hospital's Outpatient Department at 227-6143.

In the Page 1 story of July 26, "Five seek District I seat on WCCC board," L. Renee Ross wants to be referred to as Ms. Ross, not Mrs. Ross.

Dixieland concert is next week

Grosse Pointer Chet Bogan and his Wolverine Jass Band will perform an outdoor concert at the War Memorial on Thursday, Aug. 9, from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. There will be dancing under the stars on the terrace, and tables and chairs will be available for those who want to picnic. Admission is $6 per person.

Bogan, a dentist by profession, has been a musician, composer and arranger for more than 30 years. He has created nearly 300 arrangements for the Wolverines. Reliance on arrangements is necessary for his band, whose members are skilled readers but can seldom gather for a rehearsal. According to Bob Byler, who wrote a review in "The Mississippi Rag," "The musical breadth of the players also adds a dimension of variety that bands oriented solely to traditional jazz cannot easily achieve."

The group has played in dozens of jazz festivals, including the Montreux Festival in Detroit and Steamboat Days in Burlington. They are regular performers at Lido on the Lake in St. Clair Shores.

Chet Bogan (second from right) and his Wolverine Jass Band will get you dancing under the stars when they play Thursday, Aug. 9, at the War Memorial.

The carefully arranged and hard-driving dixieland style of the Wolverines is highlighted by vocalist Dixie Belle (Elma Santa), who will make a dramatic entrance at the War Memorial's concert Aug. 9. The redhead, who has been likened to Teresa Brewer, adds a captivating presence to the band's performances.

On two occasions at major festivals in Detroit, the Wolverines were last on the program and were apprehensive about following other non-traditional powerhouse bands. But they got standing ovations each time as they finished the programs with a musical flourish.

It is that kind of response that fuels Bogan's desire to spread the "gospel" of dixieland jazz. He is currently encouraging the inclusion of dixieland jazz as a category in the annual Grammy Awards.

Two albums have been produced by the Wolverines, and Bogan shamelessly puns his dental profession by creating the Bicuspid label and subtitled the latest album "Painless Jazz." That album, released in early 1983, leads off with Dixie Belle singing "My Sweet Tooth Says I Wanna, But My Wisdom Tooth Says No."

Kids bored?

Try a dose of education in downtown Detroit this summer

Summertime is for parks, swimming, biking and working on that tan.

After six weeks of it, though, it begins to get, well, boring. How many times can you smear yourself with grease and sizzle in the sun?

It's time to branch out, kids. It's time to grab mom and dad and look for some family entertainment and education.

One of the places to look is the Children's Museum in Detroit Cultural Center, near the Wayne State University campus. The museum, accredited by the American Association of Museums by the way, is open from 1 to 4 each afternoon Monday through Friday.

The museum offers a planetary view of the summer sky daily at 1 p.m. throughout the month, followed by a variety of workshops covering topics from games to T-shirt painting and design.

Today's 2 p.m. program is "Fun Olympics," where, according to the museum, "everyone is a winner." Friday at 1:30 p.m., kids of all ages can enjoy painting their own T-shirt under the watchful eye of Beverly Wilkens.

Monday, Aug. 6, is a "Make and Take Things" day at the museum, when at 2 p.m. kids aged 4 to 12 can gather to make gri-gri necklaces. Games and game boards are the topics for Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 7, with a demonstration of "Wari, an African Game."

Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 8 kids can turn their favorite fruits into fruit heads. The 2 p.m. workshop "All About Foods" gives kids 4 to 12 what they need to turn their favorite fruit into a puppet.

Next Thursday at 2 p.m., kids can enjoy a little shared friendship when the museum presents "Games from Around The World." Friday's 1:30 p.m. program is a puppet show presented by the Detroit Department of Recreation.

Reservations are necessary for all the programs and they aren't free, either. To reserve a spot for your 6-to-12 year-old, call 494-1210 and supply him or her with 50 cents for the programs.

Kids, while you've got the parents downtown at the museum, located at 67 East Kirby between Woodward and John R, have them run you over to the Detroit Science Center, located about 10 minutes, a brisk-walk, away.

The Science Center, at 5020 John R, is open Tuesdays through Fridays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Saturdays, 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Sunday from noon to 7 p.m.

Adult admission is $4 to the center, while seniors get in for $2. Children 6 to 12 are admitted for $3 while 4-to-5 year-olds can get in for 75 cents. Parking is $1.25 and group rates and family rates are available by calling 577-8400. The center is barrier free for the handicapped and is also available for private parties.

Now, what are you plunking down the cash to see? Well, for starters, how about the Omnimax (a registered trademark) film "Energy, Energy" talking about the different forms of energy in the world, ranging from muscle power to nuclear power, how they are used and what can be done to conserve them. The film is shown daily every half-hour.

Omnimax, for the uninitiated, is the wrap-around movie. The science center is one of only 12 theaters in the country equipped to show the films on the 67-foot domed space theater screen.

Special events continuing this month include "Big Top Science," with outdoor workshops under a tent on the center grounds. Physics, chemistry, biology and geology workshops are geared mornings for kids in kindergarten to fourth grade, while the afternoon workshops are more meaningful for kids in grades five to eight. Fee is $10 per person per week.

You can also check out the student exhibits, winners of the Detroit Metropolitan Science Fair that are featured monthly. This month, grand award winner Roger Quan from Detroit's Cass Technical High School will show off his "Novel Synthesis of Magnetic Oxide."

Among the workshops coming up at the center is "Fly, Fly, Fly," covering the "secrets of flight." The two-day program includes building a model airplane and a visit to an actual airplane hangar. Grades 3 to 8 are welcome at the workshop Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 16 and 17. Monday's program is from 10 a.m. to noon. Tuesday's hours are 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Reservations are necessary for the $10 workshop. Call 577-8400. There are also weekly programs for kids, high school students and, yes, adults. "Kids and Computers," a programming-for-beginners course, runs from 1 to 3 p.m. Saturdays. Fee is $5. Advanced classes, "Super Kids and Computers," are running the same time at the same price.

High school kids can keep their skills sharp with "Computer Special" Tuesdays and Thursdays from 4 to 6 p.m. Fee is $5. Adults can try "BASIC for Beginners" Saturdays from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. Fee is, again, $5.

You need to make reservations at all the programs by calling 577-8400.

Okay, parents, now that you've let the kids run wild through a couple of places they want to visit, catch 'em off guard. Give them a course in culture at the Detroit Institute of Arts, which is open 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays. Admission to the institute is free, but voluntary donations are accepted.

The institute's galleries are stuffed with exhibits that should hook the kids for a while. Try "Passion and Precision: The Photographer and Grand Prix Racing 1894-1984." There are 100 photographs covering each decade of racing for viewing in the Albert and Peggie DeSalle Gallery of Photography through Sunday, Aug. 26.

For a heavier culture fix, try the "Etching and Lithographs of James McNeill Whistler" that commemorates the 150th anniversary of Whistler's birth.

The exhibit opens Saturday, Aug. 18, in the Schwartz Graphic Arts Gallery. The catalogue is available in the museum shop for $8.

Now, take them into the heavy stuff, parents. Walk the kids through the Ford Wing on the second level for "Symbolism in Polish Painting 1890 to 1914." There's a free four-page gallery guide covering the exhibit, years when an independent Poland didn't exist and artists' created images of a suppressed nation.

Okay, back off of them. Take them through the "Faberge: The Forbes Magazine Collection" in the Textiles Galleries. About 200 objects from the Faberge collection will be on display, including eight of the Imperial Easter Eggs made for Czars Alexander III and Nicholas II.

Admission to this showing is $2.50. Students with an identification card and seniors get in for $1.50, while Founders Society members and children under 12 are admitted free. The show runs through Sunday, Aug. 12, and includes a movie and lecture as well as items available in the museum shop.

If you have the kids at the institute Wednesdays or Fridays at 1:30 p.m., mom and dad, you can take them to masterwork of the week gallery talks.

"Panel for Music Room by John White Alexander" meets Aug. 8 and 10 in Gallery W291. Works by Alberto Giacometti are discussed Aug. 15 and 17 in Gallery N286 in the Cavanaugh Wing. Julie Henshaw of the publication department will talk about "Fantasies, Frenzy and Death: Visions of Women in Polish Symbolist Art" Aug. 22 and 24 in the Ford Wing, gallery S250.

Elsie Peck of the department of Asian art, will talk about "Persian Safavid Textiles and Miniature Paintings" in Gallery N150 of the Cavanaugh Wing Aug. 29 and 31.

There are, of course, the usual Brunch with Bach features, Detroit and Afternoon film theaters as well as "Jazz at the Institute." But let's not wipe the kids out on culture, all right?

Parents, you might want to take the kids out to catch a meal at any one of the restaurants along the Wayne campus, then trot the children over to the Hilberry and Studio Theaters. Then again, you'll probably want to take them home, get a sitter and come back to catch the performance yourself.

New Grapefruit 'Super Pill' Gives Fast Weight Loss
No Dieting - Eat All You Want Pill Does All the Work

BEVERLY HILLS, CA. (Special)—An amazing new "super" grapefruit pill has recently been developed and perfected that reportedly "guarantees" that you will easily lose at least 10 pounds in 10 days. Best of all, it allows you to "eat as much as you want of your favorite foods and still lose a pound a day or more starting from the very first day until you achieve the ideal weight and figure you desire."

This "super" grapefruit pill is a dramatically improved version of the world famous grapefruit diet. It is far more effective than the original and eliminates "the mess, fuss, and high cost of eating half a fresh grapefruit at every meal."

"Pill Does All the Work"
According to the manufacturer, "the pill itself does all the work while you quickly lose weight with NO starvation "diet menus" to follow, NO calorie counting, NO exercise, and NO hunger pangs." It is 100% safe. You simply take the pill with a glass of water before each meal and the amazing combination of powerful ingredients are so effective they take over and you start losing weight immediately.

Pill Has ALL Daily Vitamins
The powerful and unique combination of ingredients are what make this a "super-pill". It contains highly potent grapefruit concentrate and a diuretic to help eliminate bloat and puffiness. No need to take any vitamins to maintain your good health and energy. The pill is fortified with ALL (100%) of the U.S. Government daily vitamin requirements.

Contains Japanese 'Glucomannan'
Each pill also contains an amazingly effective amount of "glucomannan", the remarkable natural dietary fiber discovery from Japan (used successfully for over 1500 years) that expands in your stomach and gives you a full and satisfied feeling all day long.

The super-pill is already sweeping the country with glowing reports of easy and fast weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Now Available to Public
You can order your supply of these highly successful "super" grapefruit pills (now available directly from the manufacturer by mail order only) by sending $12 for a 14-day supply (or $20 for a 30-day supply, or $35 for a 60-day supply) cash, check, or money order to: Citrus Industries, 9903 Santa Monica Bl., Dept. Our Saviour marks 110th anniversary

Several Pointers will be on hand at 10 a.m. Sunday, Aug. 5, when Our Saviour Episcopal Church at Harper and Cadillac Avenues in Detroit celebrates its 110th anniversary.

Elizabeth Ann Jessup will be the Lay Reader in charge of the service at the church which saw its first service in 1875. The same building has been used ever since and there have been no changes made except for installation of electric lights, a furnace and modern organ.

Ms. Jessup's great grandfather, Henry Cooper, was a member of the first vestry of the church. Her father, Dr. Ralph R. Cooper, of Lakeland Avenue, will read one lesson at the anniversary service and her cousin, Judge David C. Vokes, will read another.

Another Pointer, Dr. Robert H. Whitaker of the Woods, has worked during the last 10 years to keep the church going while it has not had a regular minister.

The First Christian Reformed Church of Detroit, 1444 Maryland in the Park, will hold a daily vacation Bible school from 9 to 11:15 a.m. Monday through Friday, Aug. 6 to 10, at the church.

Children aged 3 to 13 are invited to attend.

A tall ship, the Continental Sloop Providence, will be moored at Detroit's Hart Plaza pier Aug. 10 through 12, and visitors may tour this replica of the first command of John Paul Jones, first warship of the Continental Navy, for a $1 donation to the Detroit Metropolitan Chapter of the Navy League of the United States.

But these donations will not begin to cover the costs associated with the Providence's visit here during a 14-week cruise from Newport, R.I., the ship's first tour of the Great Lakes, marking the 25th anniversary of the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway. So, in addition to the public tours, the Navy League is sponsoring three three-hour cruises on the Providence.

At $150 per couple, they're not cheap — but look at it this way: that $150 is tax deductible. And you won't be crowded: each cruise is limited to 20 couples. The ship will leave Hart Plaza (weather permitting) at 3 p.m. on Friday, Aug. 10, at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 11, and at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Aug. 12. Reservation information may be obtained by contacting Rosalind Ellis at 324-5450.

If you're fond of pageantry, plan to be on hand when the Providence docks in Detroit on Aug. 10. Its arrival will be celebrated with a cannon salute and greetings by local dignitaries, and the crew of the ship which captured or sank more British shipping during the War for Independence than any other will be attired in uniforms worn by American Navy personnel in 1775.

If you're fond of history, here's an interesting footnote on the Providence's career: it was the first ship to land American marines in an amphibious operation.

From A Classic Ship to Classic Cars

Over the years, the promotional posters for the Meadow Brook Concours d'Elegance, the annual gathering of Classic Cars on the rolling lawns of Meadow Brook Hall at Oakland University in Rochester, have evolved from stylized announcements to distinctive and collectable works of automotive art.

This year's poster is a gem: Tom Hale's acrylic/watercolor painting of one of the few surviving boat-tailed Duesenbergs, a 1934 J437 Weyman-coachwork speedster. The Classic, owned by Rick Carroll, of Jensen Beach, Fla., is one of two boat-tailed Duesenbergs designed by Gordon Buehrig, of The Pointe.

Gordon is one of a select panel of 30 top automobile experts named to judge this year's Meadow Brook Concours entries. Alfred J. Fisher III and Edsel Ford II are two other Pointe members of the panel.

Assistance League support for Bon Secours

Sister PATRICIA A. ECK, C.B.S. (left), associate administrator of Bon Secours Hospital, and DAVID W. BENFER, the hospital's executive director, accepted a check for $228,000 from JANE BODEAU, president of Bon Secours Assistance League, at the League's year-end meeting in May. The donation represents proceeds from the League's fund raising efforts in 1983-84. "We could not have accomplished this without the community's support of our work, especially the Celebrity Series chaired by Gail Schneider, and the Gift Shop chaired by Jeanne Meathe," said President Bodeau. Of the total, $101,000 will fund an echocardiograph scanner for Bon Secours' Cardiolpulmonary Diagnostic Center in St. Clair Shores. The Sisters of Bon Secours Nursing Care Center, scheduled to open in early 1985 and also located in St. Clair Shores, will receive $72,000. The hospital's Internal Medicine Center in The Park, scheduled to open this summer, will get $50,000; the remainder will support other hospital programs. At the annual meeting, the Assistance League thanked its officers for their service during the past season. They are, in addition to President Bodeau, Mickey Schaefer, vice-president, Catherine Horrigan, second vice-president, Caroline Fischer and Jan Coulter, corresponding and recording secretaries, respectively, Aurelia Sorenson, treasurer, and Mary Ann Boll, past-president.

Miss Fleming is April bride

A satin gown, styled with a high, beaded lace neckline and a raised bodice of beaded Alencon lace featuring long, slim, puff-topped sleeves, was Cherie Elizabeth Fleming's choice for her spring wedding to Peter James Howard.

Matching lace bordered her A-line skirt. Her court train was banded in white satin, with Alencon lace appliques matching the appliques on her fingertip veil. She carried a cascade of white silk roses, stephanotis and lilies-of-the-valley, arranged in green silk ivy.

The Reverend David Eshleman and Father Randy Phillips presided at the 5:30 o'clock ceremony Saturday, April 28, in Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church. A reception followed at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, after which the newlyweds left to vacation in Phoenix, Ariz. They are at home in Farmington Hills.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Elton A. Turner, of Norton Court, and the late Daniel J. Fleming, was attended by Elizabeth Ann Chase as honor maid and by bridesmaids Julie Anne Fleming, a sister, Susan

C. Turner, of Wilmington, Del., a step-sister, and the bridegroom's sisters, Mary Alice and Barbara Ann Howard.

Their dresses featured mauve silk blouson bodices and long, accoridian pleated skirts, over taffeta underskirts. Silk roses, in shades ranging from rose to mauve, and ivy leaves formed their bouquets.

Mr. Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. James Howard Jr., of Lothrop Road, asked his father to act as best man. Ushering were Brian Drummy, Theodore Hodges III, of Dover, Del., cousin of the bridegroom, Daniel Fleming, brother of the bride, William Gilbride Jr. and Clark Standish.

The bride's mother pinned a corsage of white silk phalaenopsis orchids to the waist of her floor length gown of creamy yellow silk. The bridegroom's mother also wore a floor length dress, pale powder blue in color, and a jacket of deeper blue moire. Pale pink phalaenopsis orchids formed her corsage.

Out-of-town guests included the bridegroom's uncle and aunt, Mr.

and Mrs. Harry Downer, of Las Vegas, Nev., his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. George Hodges, of Houston, Tex., and Mrs. Theodore Hodges III, who came with her husband from Dover. Also present for the ceremony were the bride's great-uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Palm, of Dearborn.

Saint Stephen's Episcopal Church, Houston, Tex., was the setting Saturday, June 9, for the 11 o'clock wedding of Candace Jane Timms, of Dallas, Tex., and Robert Slater Noyes, whose Houston home was the setting for the reception that followed the late morning ceremony.

The Reverend Mrs. Helen Havens presided at the ceremony. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Timms, of Livonia, wore an ankle length gown of lace over silk and carried a cascade of carnations. Her hair, worn in a French braid, was crowned with a wreath of baby's-breath.

She was attended by her sister, Sally (Mrs. Mark) Zuerink, of Dallas, in a dress of white embroidered cotton, carrying a bouquet of pink carnations.

Richard A. Noyes, of Stuart, Fla., acted as best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Noyes, of South Oxford Road. Guests were seated by Timothy Gines, of Houston, and Mr. Zuerink.

The mother of the bride pinned a pink carnation corsage to her gray sateen gown. The bridegroom's mother chose a dress of blue georgette, trimmed with pink ribbon, and a corsage of pink carnations.

The newlyweds vacationed in Mazatlan, Mexico. They are at home in Houston where the bridegroom, a graduate of Grosse Pointe North High School and the University of Michigan's School of Business, is Controller and Treasurer of EADS Operating Company of Houston.

He worked for American Natural Resources in Detroit and Houston before joining the firm of Arthur Anderson in Houston as a Certified Public Accountant.

The bride was graduated from high school in Livonia and attended Central Michigan University.

Bach Brunch August dates

August is "All-American Music Month" at the Detroit Institute of Arts' Brunch with Bach series, with four different concerts celebrating the nation's musical versatility on Sunday mornings in the museum's air-conditioned indoor garden, Kresge Court.

Each concert is presented twice, at 10 and again at 11:30 a.m. Guests may select from two menus: a full brunch of main course, fruit, nut bread and beverage at $7.75 or a continental brunch of nut bread and butter, fruit, cottage cheese and beverage at $6.75.

Stairway seating is available on a limited basis at $2.50 per person. Reservations are required; they may be made as early as a month before a selected date and as late as the Friday immediately prior to a Sunday concert by calling the museum's ticket office, 832-2730, during regular business hours.

The month opens this Sunday, Aug. 5, with a panorama of American traditional music, from old-time country to 1940s' swing tunes, by Footloose. Josh White Jr. will perform the following Sunday, Aug. 12.

William Albright's "From Ragtime to Boogie Woogie," a look at the piano styles of Scott Joplin, Fats Waller and Meade Lux Lewis, is scheduled for Aug. 19, and the month closes Aug. 26 with Overture to Opera's presentation of highlights from the operettas of Victor Herbert, Sigmund Romberg and Rudolf Friml, whose most popular works were written and premiered in the United States.

The Sixth Annual Meadow Brook Concours d'Elegance will run from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. this Sunday, Aug. 5. Nearly 10,000 spectators and more than 150 prestige automobiles, including a 1900 Yale Rear Entrance Tonneau (the year's oldest Concours entry) won in an Albuquerque, N.M., poker game by Sheriff Pat Garrett, the man who brought Billy the Kid to final justice, will be on display.

Other cars of special interest — actually, they're ALL of special interest, but we've only space to mention one or two — are a 1939 Packard Convertible Sedan built for Argentine President Juan Peron and his wife, Eva, and a 1953 Rolls-Royce Phantom IV Limousine built for the Prince Regent of Iraq. Only 17 of the latter cars were built, and only for royalty and chiefs of state.

Interested in movie cars? At the Meadow Brook Concours, you can see a 1965 Aston Martin DB5, twin of James Bond's "Goldfinger" car, and the 1935 Auburn Boat-Tail Speedster featured as Harrison Ford's getaway car in the opening scene of "Indiana Jones and The Temple of Doom."

Gordon Buehrig designed that Auburn as well as the Duesenberg featured on the '84 Concours poster. The poster car will, of course, be on display at the Concours, too. In all, cars representing eight states plus Canada will be featured at the event, along with an expanded Invitational Automotive Art Exhibit.

But just what exactly IS a Concours d'Elegance? It is to the world of cars what an art show is to the world of art. It is a competition of elegance based on design and quality (not necessarily performance), emphasizing craftsmanship and beauty.

The first Concours took place in France. The Concours came to this country in the late 1940s. The "grand-daddy" United States competition is the annual Concours at Pebble Beach, Calif., which follows the Meadow Brook event. This year's Meadow Brook Concours spotlights the Chrysler as its featured marque, with Chrysler Chairman Lee A. Iacocca and Group Promotions, Inc. President Robert E. Larivee Sr. serving as co-chairmen.

The Meadow Brook Concours is a benefit. Admission is $6 for adults, $3.50 for children 12 and under. Proceeds will be used for the preservation and maintenance of Meadow Brook Hall, home of the late Matilda Dodge Wilson, widow of automotive pioneer John Dodge.

She later married Detroit lumber broker Alfred Wilson. Their 100-room Tudor mansion, completed in 1929 at a cost of $4 million, is one of the midwest's most prized cultural and architectural treasures. The Hall and its 1400-acre estate were deeded to the State of Michigan.

Reservations are not required for the Concours. You just show up at Meadow Brook, pay your admission, enter the grounds and have a wonderful day. If there's anything more you'd like to know, give the Hall a call at 377-3140.

Farewell to The Third Grade Footnote

You've probably already checked out the Feature Page to find who this week's Pointer(s) of Interest is (are), so you know that Mary B. Owens, at the time of her retirement from Richard School, was "interested in a library for kids" in Lexington. If you know Mrs. Owens, you know she's not one to let grass grow under her feet if she's "interested" in anything.

"Under the Maple Tree," a unique new learning experience for Lexington elementary school age children, debuted in early July and will run through Labor Day. According to its founder (Guess who?), the program offers encouragement, guidance and a library of specially selected books for children in grades two through six.

Hours at "Under the Maple Tree" are 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Tuesday and Thursday in the studio at the Owens' Lexington house. Children are encouraged to choose a book of their liking and read it on the grounds, in a quiet environment. Books are also loaned out on the honor system.

The kids love it. So do their parents. So does Mrs. Owens. She didn't stay "retired" for very long, did she? ... but then: did you really expect her to?

He is former president of the association and is actively involved in the fund raising activities of the college. He has been employed by Parke-Davis since 1968 and is currently district manager of Detroit Regional Sales.

View Faberge masterpieces at the DIA

"Faberge: The Forbes Magazine Collection" of 200 masterpieces by Peter Carl Faberge (1846-1920), who headed the firm which became world-renowned for its Imperial Easter Eggs, prized possessions of the last Czars of Russia, as well as for jeweled flowers, fantasies, figure groups and animals, is on view now through Sunday, Aug. 12, at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

It is one of the largest Faberge collections in the world, outside of the Kremlin and the Royal Collection in England, and includes, among its eight Imperial Eggs, the spectacular 1897 "Coronation Egg" presented by Czar Nicholas II to his wife Alexandra in commemoration of their accession to the Imperial throne.

This starburst-engraved, five-inch gold egg opens to reveal a tiny reproduction of the coronation coach, complete in every detail, with rock crystal windows, platinum tires and diamond-set gold crests work.

The First Imperial Egg of 1894.

Each egg was especially designed, usually to commemorate a place or event associated with the Imperial family or Russia, and each opened to reveal a hidden "surprise" within. When the Russian Revolution ended the Romanoff dynasty in 1918, with the execution of Nicholas II, his wife and their five children, it also ended the Faberge workshop which at one point had employed more than 500 designers.

Faberge escaped to France. He died in Lausanne, Switzerland, in 1920, at the age of 74.

Fee for the Faberge exhibit, open to the public in the DIA's Textile Galleries during regular museum hours (9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday), is $2.50 general admission, $1.50 for senior citizens and students with ID.

Founders Society members and children under 12 accompanied by an adult are admitted free.

The Faberge objects will be discussed in a Masterwork of the Week talk at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow, Friday, July 27, by Bonita LaMarche, research assistant in the DIA's the 1890 Spring Flowers Egg, the 1894 Renaissance Egg, the 1903 Chanticleer Egg and the 15th Anniversary and Orange Tree Eggs of 1911 are also included in the exhibit, which features the public debut of several recent additions to the collection. Among them are a silver motor car and a monumental folkloric desk garniture.

Other elegant Faberge objects on view include enameled and jeweled frames, miniatures, clocks, boxes, cigarette cases, jewelry and accessories and household objects.

Peter Carl Faberge took over management of his father's jewelry firm in St. Petersburg at the age of 24, and the success of the House of Faberge is linked to the Imperial patronage of the Romanoff family. In 1885, the master jeweler created the First Imperial Easter Egg as a gift from Czar Alexander III for his wife, Maria Feodorovna.

While Nicholas II ascended the throne, he continued his father's commission — but increased it to two eggs annually: one for his wife, Alexandra, and one for his mother.

How's your car air conditioner?

Hot summer weather strains a car's air conditioning system. If your car has an air conditioner, here are a few tips from the National Safety Council on how to keep the system functioning efficiently:

- Check the air conditioner drive belt. Worn belts can hamper smooth operation.
- Examine all connecting hoses. If any are wet and shiny, it may be a sign of a leak.
- Compare the coolant level in the radiator or coolant recovery tank to the fluid level recommended in your owner's manual. Add more fluid if it's low.
- If you suspect a problem, consult with a qualified mechanic.

GP Sigma Kappas are outstanding

At Sigma Kappa sorority's biennial convention, held in June in Denver, Colo., the Grosse Pointe Alumnae Chapter won the Elizabeth Gorham Hoag Award as outstanding Sigma Kappa alumnae chapter not in a college community.

The award, based on chapter activities, service to the local community and assigned collegiate chapter, and leadership, is named in honor of one of the sorority's five founders. In addition to an award certificate, the Pointe Alumnae will hold the Elizabeth Gorham Hoag tea service until the next recipient chapter is selected.

Other awards presented to Michigan Sigma Kappas include the 1983 Anderson Award for outstanding philanthropy and gerontology work, a gold certificate and a check for $100, to the Grosse Pointe Chapter; the Triangle Award to South Oakland County Alumnae for outstanding reporting to Sigma Kappa's national magazine "The Triangle" (a silver tray); and the State and Regional Conference Award to Michigan, specifically the Adrian Alumnae and Epsilon Xi Chapter at Adrian College which hosted over 250 Sigma Kappas at last November's state conference.

In addition, the collegiate chapters at Michigan State and Central Michigan Universities won a total of seven awards.

The 469 Sigma Kappas who attended the national convention were introduced to a new program of career networking, scheduled to go into effect in the fall. Proceeds from an annual Lollipop Drive, also scheduled to begin in the fall, will finance the Sigma Kappa' Alzheimer's Trust Fund inaugurated with presentation of $10,000 to the National Alzheimer's Foundation at the convention's Panhellenic Luncheon.

Geraldine Matthews, of The Woods, and Helen St. John, of St. Clair Shores, president and secretary, respectively of the Pointe Alumnae, attended the convention from June 20 to 24, along with Carole Peters (Mrs. A.W.) Lombardini who attended as the advisory board delegate for Eastern Michigan University's Delta Alpha Chapter.

Heidi Hartwig (Mrs. J.H. Jr.) Denler, Alumnae Province officer for Michigan, traveled to Denver early for two extra days of national officer workshops. She presented one of them, "Bridging the Generations," with Anne Dale, of North Carolina, Collegiate Province officer.

Heidi also prepared and presented material on Collegiate-Alumnae Relations for the "Walk About/Talk About" portion of the convention, and gave a speech about sorority life in the 70s in Michigan as part of a series of talks by Sigma Kappas, 1920s to the present day, at the Confirmed Conventioneer Banquet.

Proper shades protect sight

Some people call them shades; others call them specs. As varied in style and use as they are in name, sunglasses are more than a fashion accessory: they help people to see better outside, and are important for many outdoor recreational activities.

In its updated booklet, "Sunglasses . . . know what you're getting and what they're really for . . .," the National Society to Prevent Blindness has important tips to help consumers make wise choices when buying sunglasses.

According to the Society, people should choose their glasses based on sensitivity to light and the activities they engage in. Frames should be well-constructed and made of sturdy plastic and metal. Lenses should be impact-resistant glass or plastic, and large enough to shield most angles of vision.

Gray, green or brown-tint lenses get high ratings from the Society. These offer the least color distortion and best color perception.

Lens tints of bright orange, yellow, red, blue and purple do not rate well with the Society; these shades can interfere with color perception — particularly the three basic traffic light colors.

Dark glasses, which allow no more than 10 to 15 percent available light to reach the eye, are especially good for skiers and beach-goers, as they reduce glare from snow and sand. Also appropriate for sportsmen are double-gradient lenses (dark on top and bottom, but lighter in the center). They filter overhead and ground glare, and are helpful when sailing or motorboating.

Polarizing lenses are also of benefit, as they reduce "bounce-up" reflections from flat, horizontal surfaces.

Once a specific type of sunglass has been selected, the Society offers consumers this quick test to check the quality of non-prescription lenses:

- Examine the glasses in and against light for scratches, streaks, bubbles, blurs or other flaws.
- Hold the glasses at half an arm's length. Focus on an object with strong vertical and horizontal lines.
- Move the glasses slowly up, down and sideways.

If the lines waver, this indicates a lens distortion. Although lens distortions are not harmful they can cause eyes to work harder, resulting in squinting, blinking, tearing and even slight headaches, nausea and dizziness.

For a free copy of "Sunglasses," send a self-addressed, stamped, business-size envelope to the National Society to Prevent Blindness, 79 Madison Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10016.

MR. and MRS. ANTHONY SOAVE, of The Shores, admire a check for more than $16,000, proceeds from this spring's cocktail party/fashion and fur auction benefit for the Family Life Education Council. Darlene and Tony served as general chairpersons of the event, and the FLEC board designated them Volunteer Couple of the Year for their outstanding contribution. The Soaves received their award at FLEC's annual meeting in June, at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. Also receiving Volunteer of the Year awards were Beverly Curtis, of The Farms, for her work with the Alcohol Awareness program, and Jane Marshall, also of The Farms, immediate past-president of the Friends of FLEC.

Beware allergic sting reactions

About one million Americans are so allergic to hornet, wasp, yellow jacket or honeybee venom that one sting can be fatal, the National Safety Council cautions. Allergists warn that many people don't even know they're allergic. Here are a few danger signs:

- Itchy, red welts on the skin after a sting, especially some distance from the site of the sting.
- A feeling of throat constriction or difficulty in breathing after a sting.
- Sudden nausea, vomiting, stomach pain or fainting after a sting.

If you have had such a reaction to a sting — or ever do — the Council suggests that you consult a doctor immediately. The doctor can prescribe a kit to carry with you to limit reaction from a sting until you can get medical help.

Concert Band adds 'Gems'

Recent grants from the Knight and Gannett Foundation and the Bendix Corporation have enabled accelerated production and release of the Detroit Concert Band's "Gems of the Concert Band" LP series, one of the most ambitious recording projects ever undertaken, designed to preserve for posterity the greatest masterpieces of band music in one definitive 36-album collection.

Volumes Nine, Ten and Eleven have just been released, and are available on disc or cassette in record shops locally and across the country. They may be ordered by mail by sending checks or money orders ($12.43 per disc or cassette, payable to the Detroit Concert Band, covering postage and tax — USA only) to Detroit Concert Band, Inc. 20962 Mack Avenue, Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich. 48236.

Master tapes for the three volumes were recorded last fall in the Redford Theatre. Audience participation during the tapings may be heard in Volume Nine in Edwin Franko Goldman's "On The Mail" and, along with the Redford Theatre organ, in Volume Eleven in Edward Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance."

Volume Ten features a combined DCB and organ in Jaromir Weinberger's "Polka and Fugue" from "Schwanda, The Bagpipe Player."

Since 1976, the 65-member DCB, Leonard B. Smith, music director, now in its 39th year, has recorded and released 22 albums: 11 in the "Gems" series, one "Soloists of the Detroit Concert Band" and 10 in the "Sousa Collection" currently offered as a premium by the Book-of-the-Month Club.

The DCB will give a free, open-to-the-public concert tonight, Thursday, Aug. 2, at 7:30 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe North High School Plaza. The program, part of the band's free summer concert series, is made possible by funds supplied by Colonial Federal Savings and Loan and funds supplied by the Recording Companies of the United States and Canada through the Music Performance Trust Fund.

E. David Marande, son of Betty Marande, of Audubon Road, received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Saint Mary's College, Winona, Minn., at commencement exercises May 19.

Farewell to the third grade . . .

She was born in Los Angeles, Calif., the year Lindbergh flew the Atlantic, lived there until she was six, then moved across the country, to Westchester County, N.Y., where she lived until she was 13. Then the midwest years began. Mary B. Owens (left) lived in East Lansing until she was 18, then in Cleveland, then in Akron, Ohio, until she married J.D. Owens at 23. She's still with him.

Although she admits, during her teaching years, to having received no awards or honors — "except to have known so many great people and wonderful children" — 30-plus years with J.D. certainly counts for something!

They have two children. Amy, 24, works with her father in his public relations firm. She's a Michigan State University graduate, like her mother. Mrs. Owens attended Ohio State University, then Michigan State. She received her Bachelors degree the year she was married. Thirty years later, in 1980, she received her Master of Education degree from Wayne State University.

In between the two, she picked up 40 graduate credits, at Oakland and Western Michigan Universities, MSU, Wayne and Marygrove. She came to Grosse Pointe to live in 1963, to teach in 1967. She had taught before, at Lakeview in St. Clair Shores: fifth and third grades and one year as an all-grades substitute.

In Grosse Pointe, she began teaching at Richard . . . and there she stayed until her retirement this spring as a third grade teacher. During her Richard career she taught other grades as well, second through sixth. She claims she got her love for teaching from her grandmother, who at 16, in the 1870s, conducted her first classes in a one-room schoolhouse in Nebraska. That's exactly the sort of thing Mrs. Owens would have loved to have done.

She's retired from Delta Kappa Gamma honorary organization for educators. Now, retired from teaching as well, she wants to travel. A return trip to the British Isles and Europe would be nice. So would a "roots" trip, to Colorado and California. And with son Jamie, a fisherman in the Florida Keys, Key West is an obvious destination.

She looks forward to more time at home in Lexington, Mich., although she'll be locally-based part of the time until J.D. retires, keeping house for him in the Owens' St. Clair Shores condominium. In Lexington, she's interested in a library for kids. And if there's any time left over . . . "I might take up hang gliding and learn to fly my own plane," she says, with a straight face — and then spoils it by adding, "Ha, ha!"

Begin Dance Slimnastics class Aug. 4

Dance Slimnastics Ltd., a non-profit aerobic fitness company, will offer its "Feelin' Fit" program at St. Michael's Episcopal Church, located on Sunningdale Park, on Saturdays at 9 a.m. beginning Aug. 4.

"Feelin' Fit" is designed for the non-dancer who likes to exercise to music, however dancers have also found it to be an enjoyable workout, according to Judy Sheehy, Dance Slimnastics area contact.

The program combines simple and repetitive movements done to upbeat music. Participants tone muscles, burn calories, increase flexibility and work toward cardiovascular fitness. Additional information may be obtained by calling 886-7534 or 885-4706.

Trace history via its seals in Ann Arbor

Kings, priests and merchants — all made their respective imprints in history with seals, most only an inch or two in diameter, for seals, like clothing, made the man or woman of ancient times, according to Margaret Cool Root, curator of the exhibition "The Art of Seals: Aesthetic and Social Dynamics of the Impressed Image from Antiquity to the Present" at the University of Michigan's Kelsey Museum of Ancient and Mediaeval Archaeology through Aug. 5.

The expressionistic aspect of seals distinguishes them from coins, Root explains. "We draw an admittedly fine definitional line here between seals and the dies used to produce coins . . . Coins by their very nature are mass-produced by carefully regulated governmental agencies. An individual or a business does not

(or at least is not supposed to) strike his/its own coins as need arises.

"By contrast, an essential aspect of the production of a sealing is its intimate and even unique link with the individual or institution which uses it."

In some cultures, Root says, an individual's identity was so closely bound to his or her seal that losing it was highly traumatic. "From ancient Mesopotamia," she illustrates, "we even have texts which outline the troubles which may befall the unfortunate person who loses his seal. Apparently it was a lot worse than misplacing a charge card!"

Because seals were used for official functions, such as ratifying documents, it is unusually easy to get an historical "fix" on the motifs: the position of the person employing a particular seal.

The U. of M. exhibition, related to a long-term research project on seals that Root is conducting, brings together objects from seven university collections: the Kelsey, Museum of Anthropology, Rare Book Room of the Harlan Hatcher Library, Museum of Art, Clements Library, Bentley Historical Collections and Taubman Medical Library. The seals and seal impressions displayed range in date from about 3500 B.C. to the present day.

Root, assistant professor of Classical and Near Eastern Art and Archaeology as well as assistant curator of the Kelsey Museum, says she became fascinated with seals not only because of their scholarly significance, but also because of their beauty, universality and persistent use.

Daughter Pat Chastien and her husband John, also a South High graduate, Class of 1965, live in Rochester with their four children: Scott, 15, Heather, 13, Jamie, 5, and Mark, 3. Pat is a speech therapist, a graduate of Eastern Michigan University. She was employed by the Warren Woods School System, was a "working mother" when her first two children were small but elected to stay home with her two youngest. Now that Mark is ready for school, she hopes to return to her profession.

Son Thomas Honderich is an Episcopal Minister — and a banker! An Albion College graduate, he studied for 15 months at the university in Freiburg, Germany, toured Italy, visited Prague and Copenhagen and spent two weeks in England. He's returning to Europe this September, to visit his friends in Germany and tour France and England, studying stained glass windows in particular; he hopes to do one for his church in Indianapolis.

Mrs. Honderich's husband retired at the first of the year and is already singing, golfing and bowling with the Grosse Pointe Senior Men's Club. "We plan to stay here in our lovely home," says Helen, "and to take advantage of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's tours, trips and programs. We are both very active at our church, holding many offices and committee chairmanships, and members of our choir."

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featuring, this week, midsummer PATIO SUPPER suggestions.

ITALIAN TOMATO RICE RING

- 1 large tomato, thinly sliced
- 1 cup converted white rice
- 2 1/2 cups water
- 1 tsp. salt
- 3 Tbsp. unsalted margarine
- 2 Tbsp. freshly grated Parmesan cheese
- 2 Tbsp. olive oil
- 1/2 lb. green beans, cut in 1-inch lengths
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 medium zucchini, cut in 1/4 inch slices
- 2 medium yellow squash, cut in 1/4 inch slices
- 1/2 tsp. oregano

Spray 4 1/2-cup ring mold with oil and line bottom with tomato slices, overlapping when necessary. Try to do this as evenly as possible. Cook rice with water, salt and 1 Tbsp. unsalted margarine, according to package directions. When rice is cooked, stir in cheese. Lightly spoon rice mixture into prepared ring mold. Let stand 5 minutes. Turn out by inverting on a serving plate. Heat olive oil in a large skillet. Add green beans, onion and garlic. Cover. Cook slowly 10 minutes. Add zucchini, yellow squash and oregano. Cover. Cook until vegetables are just crisp-tender, about 10 minutes. Add 2 Tbsp. margarine; heat just until melted. Fill center of tomato topped rice ring with vegetables. Makes 6 servings.

COLD ROAST TURKEY BREAST

- 1 Tbsp. flour
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 1/4 cup coarsely chopped celery tops with leaves
- 5 lb. fresh or frozen turkey breast, thawed
- 2 Tbsp. unsalted margarine, melted

Salt
White pepper
Paprika
Preheat oven to 350°. Shake flour in large size (14" x 20") Brown in Bag; place in 12 x 8 x 2-inch baking pan. Spread onion and celery in bag. Rinse and pat turkey breast dry; brush with melted margarine; sprinkle with seasoning as desired; place on top of vegetables in bag. Close bag with twist tie; make 6 half-inch slits in top. Insert meat thermometer through bag into thickest part of turkey breast. Cook 1 1/2 to 2 hours, or until meat thermometer registers 185°. Makes 6 servings, with leftover meat.

Reserve and refrigerate broth remaining in bag and bones for the base of a delicious turkey soup for another day. Both can be frozen, if desired.

Cholesterol for 3-ounce serving about 67 mg.

FRESH CORN SALAD

- 8 ears of fresh corn or 1 pkg. (16 oz.) frozen whole kernel corn
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
- 2 Tbsp. finely diced pimiento
- 2 Tbsp. chopped red onion
- 1 Tbsp. finely minced parsley
- 1/3 cup low-cal salad dressing
- 2 Tbsp. plain low-fat yogurt
- 1/2 tsp. instant beef bouillon granules
- 1 Tbsp. red wine vinegar
- Dash of cayenne pepper
- Bibb lettuce leaves
- Imitation bacon bits (optional)

With a sharp knife, cut corn kernels from the cob into a saucepan.

Corn should measure 3 cups. Add small amount of boiling water to the corn; cook, covered, 6 to 8 minutes, or until just tender. Drain and cool. (If using frozen corn, cook according to package directions.)

In a large bowl, combine cooled corn, green pepper, pimiento, onion and parsley. In a small bowl, combine salad dressing, yogurt, bouillon granules which have been dissolved in wine vinegar and the cayenne pepper; blend thoroughly. Toss dressing gently with corn mixture to coat ingredients. Cover and chill thoroughly. Serve in bowls made of crisp Bibb lettuce leaves; just before placing in lettuce cups, toss with bacon bits, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

Vacation . . .

Every fall, my grade school English teacher, Mrs. Golden, would make us write essays about what we did during the summer. Pretty unique idea, huh? At that moment each September, only about 40 million other kids in the U.S. were struggling to remember what they did that summer and vainly attempting to make it all sound interesting.

Back then, I always thought Mrs. Golden had missed the boat. What she should have done was to have us write essays about what we DIDN'T do that summer. The possibilities would have been limitless.

So, since I'm now officially on summer vacation and since Mrs. Golden no longer dictates what I write, I offer the following:

WHAT I WON'T DO THIS SUMMER

Answer telephones. At the paper, I answer more phones than Alexander Graham Bell's secretary. And our callers aren't quite as nice as say, Mr. Watson was to Bell. After all, who else did he have to call? Anyway, after 12 months of answering questions, fielding complaints and trying to drag interesting quotes out of people over the phone, I'm "hanging it up" for two weeks.

Read newspapers. While I'm on vacation, I won't pick up a newspaper. I read newspapers all the time at work and when I'm on vacation I don't want to be bothered with something as silly as the news. Unless George Steinbrenner signs the Pope to manage the Yankees, I don't care what else happens.

Watch television. Once you start watching TV on vacation, you can't stop. So I won't start. Unless they show my favorite movies: "30," a movie about newspapers starring Jack Webb, or "Panic in the Year Zero," with Ray Milland. On second thought, I'll skip "Panic," since that's the one where Ray and his family are on vacation when the Russians drop the big one. (Although, Mrs. Golden would have given Ray an "A" for an essay on a vacation like that).

Go to museums. I like museums, but I've always thought that spending a summer vacation trudging through the natural history section of museums was a lot like having to take a nasty-tasting medicine — knowing it's good for you doesn't make it any easier to swallow. (This excludes, of course, the Baseball Hall of Fame museum in Cooperstown, N.Y., the Hockey Hall of Fame in Toronto, Ont., and the NFL Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio.)

Play sports. I know, I know, sports are my business so I should spend my vacation time practicing my serve, learning to play golf or running five miles each day, right? No way, Jose. With my luck, I'll break my leg while trying to tie my tennis shoes and spend my vacation in the hospital. And who would believe it? I can just hear it now: "Uh-huh, O'Connor. Tell the truth, you broke your foot trying to take it out of your mouth."

Watch sports. After one year of watching football, hockey, basketball, cross country, swimming, soccer, tennis, track, lacrosse, softball, volleyball and any-other-kind-of-ball you can think of, I've had it for a while. I don't want to write about sports, think about sports, talk about sports or hear about sports — with certain exceptions. (See above, refer to the part about George Steinbrenner and the Pope).

Attend a Detroit Tiger game. During last year's vacation, I went to two games. The Tigers lost one and the other was rained out. Need I say more?

Buy a vacation-type T-shirt. I've always tried to steer clear of buying T-shirts while on vacation. I'm haunted by the memory I have of T-shirts I've seen while vacationing. Once, I was strolling through a zoo when a guy walked toward me with his girlfriend in tow. He appeared to be a close relative of CroMagnon Man and wore a T-shirt with the saying: "Subhuman Slime." His friend's T-shirt had an arrow which pointed toward her companion and bore the words: "No kidding." Ever since, I've been a little reluctant to buy T-shirts.

Besides, I don't think Harper Woods (where I'll be spending most of my two weeks off) sells T-shirts.

Go to exotic places. For one, I can't afford it. And B, ever

Farms-City wins it all

Grosse Pointe Farms-City won the state Babe Ruth title for 15-year-olds last Wednesday, July 25, at Kerby Field. The Farms-City was the host site for the state tournament and won the right to move on to the regional Babe Ruth tournament in Duluth-Superior, Wisconsin this coming weekend, Aug. 3. The Farms-City beat Benton Harbor 10-5 to gain entry to the regional tournament.

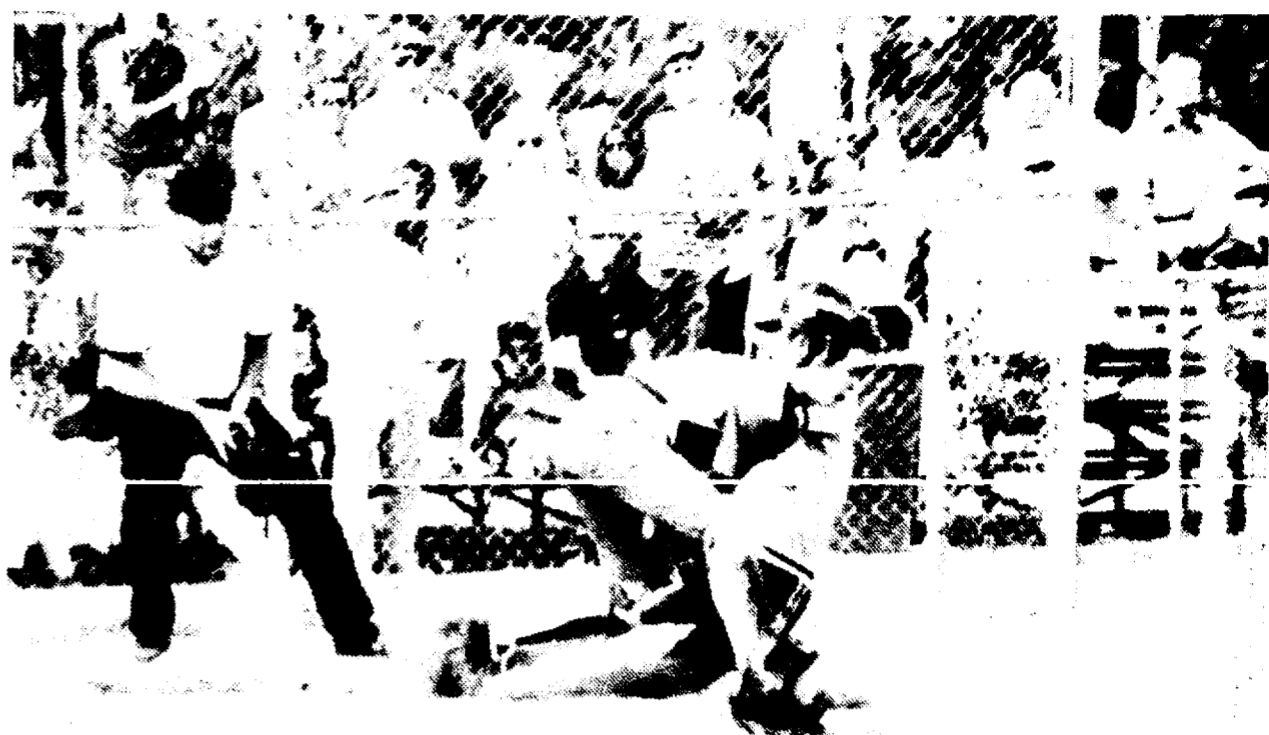

The Farms-City never dropped out of the winner's bracket on their way to the championship with a 4-0 win-loss record. On July 20, the Farms-City defeated Ypsilanti in the opening game of the tournament 12-0, behind the pitching of Rick Leonard, who threw a one-hitter. Jason Colegrove doubled, Dave and Tom Fellows singled twice in the Farms-City hitting attack.

On July 21, the Farms-City defeated Westland 11-5 with Scott Tucker as the winning pitcher. He also collected two hits that day as did Dave Fellows.

The following day, the Farms-City defeated Vernon 3-2 in a close ball game. Mark Belanger was the winning pitcher and also knocked in the winning run in the seventh inning. Belanger threw a four hitter.

On July 24, the Farms advanced to the finals by beating Iron Mountain 12-4 again behind the pitching of Rick Leonard, who also had three hits that day. Mark Belanger hit a two-run homer to highlight a five-run third inning for the Farms-City.

Cliff Grabowski, Tom Fellows and Chris Krogh all had two hits in the game. In the championship game on Wednesday, July 25, the

This close play at home was typical of the tournament action.

Farms-City defeated a fine Benton Harbor team 10-5.

Winning pitcher Scott Tucker kept a hard-hitting Benton Harbor team at bay and also hit a solo homer in the seventh inning. Jason Colegrove also hit a solo homer in the third and doubled in the seventh.

Dave Fellows doubled and had two singles and Rick Leonard also stroked pair of doubles.

The tournament saw teams come from as far away as Iron Mountain and Alpena. Other teams in the tournament included West Bloomfield/North Farmington, Grosse Pointe Park, Eastland, Ypsilanti, Vernon and Benton Harbor.

One of the tournament's highlights was Benton Harbor's Dexter Townsend, who hit three home runs to help his city into the championship game.

It's that extra effort that counts!

The occasion was the Lakefront Swimming Association finals at the Shores' George Osisus lakefront park, and while spirits were high, the weather was just miserable. About 200 dedicated (and slightly crazed) parents and well wishers craned out for the season finale as teams from all five Grosse Pointe cities squared off against each other. Among those in the crowd were Art Oery, of St. Clair Shores, and his guest, Judy Salakta, a visiting physical education instructor from Budapest, Romania. Ms. Salakta wanted to see a "typical" American athletic outing and ended up in a downpour. Also gathering in a group to hide from the rain were a bunch of high spirited swimmers, including Laura Gargaro, 9, checking the weather; Lynn Wolford, 13, Erika Teitge, 11, Sue Buydens, 14, Brigid Brooks, 14, Nancy Olen, 19 and Nora Brooks, 13, holding the umbrella.

Sponsors to offer 'good deals' at Fair

The 1984 Michigan State Fair could be the best entertainment bargain in town thanks to a number of corporate sponsors who are helping to defray the cost of the Fair admission and midway rides. Once inside the Fairgrounds, the bargains get even better with all entertainment and events offered free to every member of the family. In the bandshell, the State Fair Bandshell Concert Series will offer performances by Willie Nelson, Ronnie Milsap, Waylon Jennings, The Kendalls, Deniece Williams, Stanley Clarke, The Lettermen, The Mighty Clouds of Joy, Gaylord and Holiday and the Sun Messengers. A Polka Fest featuring the Polka Bands in the metropolitan Detroit area will close the free concert series on Monday, Sept. 3 (Labor Day).

Hardee's Corporation is making it possible to enjoy the midway rides free of charge on Opening Day. With any purchase at any participating Hardee's Restaurant comes a coupon that may be exchanged for a hand stamp at the Fair, entitling the bearer to unlimited rides on the midway from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday, Aug. 24. The regular $4 admission for adults applies, with children 11 and under admitted free. Another cost saving promotion is being offered by the Michigan Lottery. Any losing Michigan Lottery ticket may be exchanged at the entrance gates for one dollar off admission to the fair, a free ride coupon and a ticket for a daily "Second Chance" drawing where 2,000 instant lottery tickets will be given away each day. To qualify for the drawing, fairgoers simply deposit their "Second Chance" coupon at the Michigan Lottery's booth at the Fairgrounds. This year, lottery tickets will be sold at the Fair, and all losing tickets may be exchanged for "Second Chance" drawing coupons on the spot. Drawings will be held at approximately 9:30 p.m. following the free entertainment in the Bandshell. Elias Brothers Restaurants are distributing coupons worth $1 off Fair admission on Monday through Friday, Aug. 27-Aug. 31. This corporate sponsor is also underwriting the free Elias Brothers 3-Ring Circus on those days at 1 p.m., 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. Coca-Cola Fun Caps with "Michigan State Fair" printed on the inside are worth two free rides with each admission. One cap per person per day is allowed.

Tri-A-Thon to offer gold coin

An Olympic gold coin will be the first place award to the winner of the first Gun Lake Tri-A-Thon scheduled for Aug. 11, at Gun Lake, located midway between Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo, east of the US 131 expressway.

The Tri-A-Thon will consist of a one mile swim, 25 mile bike ride and a six mile run. Custom made bronze medals will also be awarded to men and women having the best times in each of the divisions. Relay teams will also receive the bronze awards. The mail-in deadline for the race was yesterday, Aug. 1, but according to Nila Aamoth, public relations co-ordinator for the event, mail-in entries from the Grosse Pointe area will be accepted after this deadline.

Entries will also be accepted on the day of the race, providing a limit of 300 has not been met. However, late comers cannot be guaranteed a T-shirt bearing the Tri-A-Thon logo.

Entry fee for the race is $8. Registration forms are available at many Gun Lake businesses, or by calling Messer at 1-616-792-9169 or 792-9552.

Thriller...

He's only been golfing for five years, so his first-ever hole-in-one will probably still be thrilling William Carl of the Woods five years from now... unless he nets another one.

Carl, 62, scored the ace on the par-three seventh hole of the Fernhill Country Club. He used an eight iron, says daughter Karen Ballew. And best of all, Carl accomplished his feat on the Fourth of July.

Caulkins Tourney big hit

The family of Henry L. Caulkins, II continues to support youth tennis in the Pointes through the Henry L. Caulkins Youth Tennis Tournament, held in early July at South High and Elworthy Field. Their financial aid enables many young tennis players to test their game against some stiff competition. The tournament provides balls, wrist bands and trophies not only for the winners and runners-up, but also winners in the consolation rounds. Every player is guaranteed at least two matches in each entered event. This year's tournament supplied some exciting matches despite rain.

In all, 133 Grosse Pointe youths participated in this year's event. The toughest divisions were the boys 12 and under and 16 and under. The majority of the players were in the boy's events, and for the first time the boys outnumbered the girls in the tournament.

Also for the first time, the number of participants for each of the Grosse Pointe communities was more evenly spread. In the past, the majority of the players lived in the Farms and the Park.

Another first in this year's tournament was the rain. In the nine years the Caulkins family has supported this event, it has never rained. This year not only did it stop play on Thursday, but the finals were doomed to be rained out.

Thanks to the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club, and some extra financial help from the Caulkins family, the tournament was completed at the Hunt Club's indoor facility. Although play ended later than scheduled, everyone cooperated to make the tournament a success.

Here is a list of the results. The winner of the boys 10 and under singles contest was Jeff Huntington. Runner-up was Todd Frederickson. In the consolation round, the winner was David Niccolini with runner-up honors going to Brian Brenner.

In the boys 12 and under singles, the champion was Steve Bai. Runner up was Sean Byrne. Consolation winner was Matthew Fisher and runner up was John Morreale.

Steve Bai and Sean Byrne were the boys 12 and under doubles champions with runner up laurels given to the team of Kevin Bai and Bill Schervish. In the consolation round, John Morreale and David Niccolini were the winners with Matthew and Peter Fisher being declared the runners-up.

The boys 14 and under champ was John Lamb, with second place awarded to Pat Hopper. Ben Bayko won the consolation round over runner-up Chris Grambling.

The boys 14 and under doubles champions were Ben Bayko and Bill Huntington with Pat Hopper and Paul Anderson claiming second place. The consolation round winners were Kevin Ritter and Brady O'Toole. Runners-up were Andy Busse and Chris Grambling.

Todd Kilgus was the boys 16 and under winner, with runner-up position awarded to Mike Fozo. Consolation round winner was Fred Kaleal, with Jay Cardello as runner-up.

Todd Kilgus and Bill Wheeler were the boys 18 and under doubles champs, with runner-up awarded to the team of K.C. Gutow and Fred Kaleal. Jay Cardello and John Lamb won the consolation round over runners-up Bob Wyrod and Karl Haller.

Paige Pelok was the girls 12 and under champion, with runner-up honors going to Laura Vitolins. Jenny Galvin won the consolation round, with runner-up honors going to Julie Galvin.

The girls 14 and under singles champion was Ellen Mayer, with runner-up going to Beth Birgbauer. Meg Petersen was the consolation winner, with Michelle Francis the runner up.

The girls 14 and under doubles champions were Kathy Rajt and Michelle Francis. Runners-up were Meg Petersen and Laura Linder. Beth Bergbauer and Holly Waggoner were the consolation round winners, with runner-up awarded to Ellen Mayer and Jenny Galvin.

Karen Vitolins was the girls 16 and under champion, with runner-up status awarded to Amy Brumme. Julie McGalinn captured the consolation round over runner-up Gail Bartell.

In the girls 18 and under doubles category, the champions were Sarah Mayer and Karen Vitolins. Runners-up were Amy Brumme and Stephanie Schulte.

All-Star Honors

Grosse Pointe will be well represented at this year's Michigan High School Football Coaches Association's 1984 All Star Football Game scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 4 in Michigan State University's Spartan Stadium. Game time is 1:30 p.m. On the field representing South High School and playing for the East as an All Star selection is (left) Russ Hepner, head coach at SHS and assistant coach during the all star game. With him is John Mikesell, who, at 6'2" and 231 pounds, will be playing tackle. The All-Star banquet will be held Friday, Aug. 3 at 6 p.m. at the Kellogg Center, with tickets at $12 a person available to the public. Coach George Perles of MSU will be the guest speaker.

Sports Week

since the days with Mrs. Golden, I've been careful to vacation only in places I could spell easily. And to me, exotic means hard to spell. So, that means I won't be going to Mt. Kilimnjaro, eating ratatouille or playing jai alai.

Anyway, I'll be on vacation for one more week. And when I get back, I won't tell you all about it.
