Wave raves

Pointers Richard and Virginia Knoblauch dropped daughter Carolyn off at Marquette University in Milwaukee last week. Carolyn is a junior and a resident advisor this year and it was time to return to the halls of academia.

No big deal, right? Lots of parents take their kids back to school, well, the Knoblauchs did it a bit differently. They sailed Carolyn back to school on their new boat, the "Sea Dreamer."

The hull was produced in California and the family has been toiling at the finish work on the 33-footer for the past three years. It was Mom who came up with the idea of combining the "shake down" cruise with a trip back to school, so off they went.

They left the Farms Pier Park, made their way up the lake, through Lake Huron, then the Straits and down to Milwaukee. The trip took about 10 days each way and the family described it as an "interesting adventure."

The Knoblauchs stayed in state marinas along the way and came away impressed with the amount of money Michigan has devoted to the ports. They were equally impressed with the beautiful Michigan shoreline enjoyed along the way, along with lots of "fresh air, sunshine and sunsets."

Another plus was the solitude the lakes provided. "We saw only a few boats on Lake Huron, but all the way along Lake Michigan and back we were by ourselves," said Virginia. "It was so exciting. We sailed last night on Lake St. Clair and I felt claustrophobic with all the noise and the other boats buzzing around."

The only bad news was a propeller shaft that broke just as they pulled back into the Pier Park. But at least the problem didn't arise until the end of their journey.

Future plans call for a long anticipated sail around the world, perhaps three or four years down the road.

"I'm not really an 'around the world' type," admitted Virginia. "I kind of like to see land. But we'll see what happens."

Sure beats sailing to Peche Island.

Funny, schmunny

Hey, think you're pretty funny? Well Shekky, here's your chance to prove it.

SHOWTIME, the nation's second largest pay television network, is looking for the funniest person in America. Their video van will visit Detroit tomorrow looking for the people who jog Motown's funny bone.

The van, staffed with a professional production crew and outfitted with the latest state-of-the-art equipment, is traveling coast to coast to audition local funny-men and women who haven't hit the big time yet. This is the second annual search that SHOWTIME has conducted, although it's their first time in the Detroit area.

The van will be at the RenCen, and registration beginning at 11 a.m. Area contestants will perform three-to-eight minute routines in front of local audiences while SHOWTIME's crew tapes their acts for future judging. Those who can't attend the audition in person may compete by sending their routines to SHOWTIME on video after receiving an entry blank and rules by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to SHOWTIME.

Heenan sees politics come full circle

By Harriet Nolan

Palmer Heenan is his name, politics his game, and with eight months under his belt as mayor of Grosse Pointe Park, he's loving every minute of it.

"How often does someone get the chance to be a grand marshal?" says Heenan, smiling broadly like the kid who's found a new puppy under the Christmas tree.

But lest anyone mistake him for a pushover, he quickly points out that the majority of his time spent in Republican politics has been as an outsider. He's taken a lot of flak for his ultra-conservative view and he seems proud of it.

But this is his first stint in bipartisan politics and with the political climate in the Republican party moving toward conservatism, he says he's no longer on the outside looking in. He's now finding that he's one of the bunch and loving every minute of that too.

And while he sometimes gives the impression he doesn't care if people support him or not, he seems like he would care if you thought him boring. But a peek into his past life quickly puts that to rest.

Heenan says he drifted into politics, influenced by his older brother Earl and his brother-in-law Richard Durant.

A member of a well-to-do family of attorneys who own several businesses, he is chairman of DMR Financial Services, Inc. of Detroit and director and officer in a Detroit securities company and another mortgage and realty firm which manages buildings in Detroit and Ann Arbor.

In addition, he's director and vice-president of the Money Tree restaurant in downtown Detroit.

These ventures have been predominantly handled by his brother, says Heenan; the result of a mutual agreement between the two made several years ago, which has allowed him to pursue "a full-time vocation as an amateur politician."

But looking back, he says politics got competitive and his group, not liking the direction the leadership was taking during the '50s led to the formation of the Republican Voters Association whose members managed to secure and hold the leadership in the 14th Congressional district for many years.

"Our ideology was based on free enterprise and concern for our national defense," says Heenan. "I was a member of the world federalists at one time and then went to the opposite extreme because I felt our country and its high ideals were being used by the communist nations.

"I've always been concerned about communist world domination, that's what got me into politics. I always fought to have the leadership in the national government fight this problem."

He looks back on the Eisenhower leadership as a sad era for Republican politics.

"It was very bitter, I thought he acted more like a Democrat," says Heenan. "It was a controversial time and because of our groups vociferous stand, we were ostracized from political councils."

"But time heals. There is a trend toward conservatism in the Republican party and many of the present generation have no recollection of our split long ago, both nationally as well as statewide," he adds.

Heenan says he dropped membership in the John Birch Society more than 30 years ago because while "it told the truth, it was a terrible public relations vehicle for anybody who was interested in politics."

He's winding up the Republican Voters Association, of which he's been president for 20 years, next month Heenan says it had been formed because his group hadn't been allowed in the mainstream of Republican politics, but now as part of that leadership they don't need the organization anymore.

"Back then times were so bad I never considered running for any office because I knew I would lose," says Heenan. "But people think differently now and they believe in the same values we've been struggling for all these years."

"Now people are trying to grab control of the government, rather than have it control them. I feel like Moses, except I'm getting to see the promised land," he adds.

Heenan's personal life parallels the intensesness he pours into politics. A golfer with a six handicap and club champion for men over 50 years of age at the Country Club of Detroit, he still expresses disappointment that he didn't get to (Continued on Page 14A)

Thar she blew!

Two nights of lightning and high winds did their best to rock and roll the Pointes last week, leaving trees and limbs scattered throughout the cities. On Kerby Road, Lilah Miller scrambled to the roof of her house to assess damage caused by this large maple coming to ground. There were scattered power outages, and one fire in the Shores that was quickly contained by fire fighters.

Pointe-based crew has goal To drink from Canada's Cup

By Peggy O'Connor

They've sailed together on and off for nearly 10 years. Their skipper has spent more than two years plotting, planning and paying for Bayview Yacht Club's challenge for the Canada's Cup. And they've got a spanking new, Nelson-Marek design two-ton that looks like the class that sails the Great Lakes. But just in case the five Grosse Pointe residents who make up the core crew of the "Stars and Stripes" needed additional inducement in their pursuit of the Cup, restaurateur Chuck Muer was there to provide it.

Muer has promised each crew member a "Gold Card," entitling him to a lifetime of free drinks at any Chuck Muer restaurant. "We've got to win now, and then I've got to stay around an extra 30 years to use that card," laughs Stu Argo Jr., at 22 the senior member of the crew and a veteran of two previous Canada's Cup series.

In truth, North High graduate Argo and his fellow crewmembers are serious about helping "Stars and Stripes" owner and skipper Bill Martin, an Ann Arbor real estate developer, bring the Canada's Cup back to Bayview. The five - Argo, brothers David, 20, and Tim Askew, 19, David Lyons, 20, and Marc Augier, 19, have been sailing out of Bayview since the mid-70s, when they started in the club's junior program. And since April when "Stars and Stripes" arrived from New Zealand, they've turned most of their attention to Cup preparations, starting with a two-week stint in San Diego and continuing through the Cup trials. Those preparations began in earnest some two years ago.

In December, 1982, Martin requested Bayview's Board of Governors to extend to the Royal Hamilton Yacht Club a challenge for the Canada's Cup. Since then, the RHYC, which won the Cup from Bayview in 1978, went into receivership and the challenge was accepted by the Royal Canadian Yacht Club. The races begin just outside Toronto on Lake Ontario on Sunday, Sept. 16.

"Stars and Stripes" will face either the Canadian two-ton "Coug," skippered by Tony Ronza, or a C & C 41, "Clockwork," depending upon which boat wins the Canadian trials. Bayview's boat beat out challenger "Signature" out of Toledo, Ohio, earlier this summer.

"Bill Martin put the whole program together; he got the boat designer and the builder. Then he sat down with the Askews and asked them who would fit in. We were it," says Argo, whose last Cup race was on "Black Majic" in 1981. "I think we've got a really good, strong team. This is the first time we've all been together on a big boat in a big race, but we've been sailing together for a long time," he adds.

It's also the first time they've been in such an important race under Martin, widely known as an aggressive and determined skipper.

"Bill Martin is quite demanding and what he demands is excellence. He's very intense," says (Continued on Page 14A)

Farms hopes for park-like walkway

By Tom Greenwood

Farms city officials recently displayed some ambitious plans for Kercheval between McKinley and McMillan, and hope to turn that stretch of land between the upper and lower Hill into a pedestrian mall.

The mall, which would be situated in front of the under-construction parking lot at Richard School would feature a brick paved serpentine walkway complete with trees, flower beds and evergreens.

Other possible features would include a 14-foot tall two-faced "grandfather" type clock, an octagon-shaped gazebo measuring 10 feet per side, a flag pole that would be lit at night allowing the flag to be flown 24 hours a day, a drinking fountain and benches and game tables for those wishing to play chess or checkers in the park-like setting.

"They are ambitious plans," said Farms City Clerk Richard Solak. "These are the features we hope to incorporate into the mall if the bids we receive are reasonable."

Solak said the city would receive the bids on Tuesday, Sept. 4. The Farms estimates the cost of the project at about $50,000.

"The majority of the funds, $44,000 to be exact, would come from federal funds," said Solak. "We're also hoping that the Hill Merchants Association will contribute $5,000 into the kitty. The National Bank of Detroit has already given us $300 toward the project. Once the bids come in, we hope to get the mall underway immediately and hope to finish it by this autumn."

Commenting on the features in detail, Solak said the clock would be two-faced, facing up and down Kercheval Avenue for pedestrians and motorists passing by. "That would put five such 'grandfather' clocks here in the Pointes," smiled Solak. "That's very impressive when you realize there are only eight in all of New York City."

Solak added that the gazebo would be equipped with seats and possibly a public address system so music could be broadcast if wanted.

"The entire plant and evergreen section will be equipped with sprinklers," added Solak, "and we're talking to some civic organizations about keeping up the flower beds."

"One of the biggest disappointments about the mall is the drinking fountain," said Solak. "The one we have planned will be very nice, but the fountain we originally

A new school year Principals look ahead

Public schools opened yesterday morning, ushering in what will be a transitional year for the school district. Sixth graders spend their first days checking out the sights of the larger middle schools, while most of the rest of the students in the system's 15 schools just got used to being back inside.

The News continues its profiles this week of the new principals at eight of the system's elementary and middle schools. This week, we talked with Jay Flowers, taking over at Maire Elementary, Donald Messing, who moves into Brownell; James Cooper, former assistant principal at North and now heading Poupard Elementary; and Jack McMahon, who heads to Richard.

Donald Bassett continues ad ministering Pierce Middle School.

Jay Flowers says he considers himself an ombudsman for the students at his new assignment, Maire Elementary, and adds he plans on spending a good deal of time among his charges as well as being highly visible in the classrooms and halls.

The 47-year-old father of four says he has already set two long term goals for himself. He would like to expand the Young Authors program at the school and introduce the "Olympics of the Mind" at Maire. He adds he also intends on maintaining the school's current high standards.

The Olympics of the Mind is a program that worked well at Defer, where Flowers was principal last year. He has also served as principal for Richard. In addition to his 10 years with Grosse Pointe public schools, Flowers says he spent eight years as principal in the Kalamazoo school district as well as three years with the intermediate school district there.

Flowers, who lives in the Park, received his bachelor of science degree in education from Central Michigan University. He earned his master's degree in educational administration from Western Michigan University and is working on a doctoral in education administration at the University of Michigan.

"I plan to continue the excellent programs education and get to know the community and the students," Flowers adds.

When he's not at school, Flowers says he enjoys outdoor activities, including tennis and skiing as well as fishing.

Don Messing says he's very student-oriented. He's also excited about facing the challenges presented this year for the sixth through eighth graders who walked into Brownell Middle School yesterday.

"Just about two-thirds of the students at Brownell are new this year, and I'm new. It's going to be a real challenge to get to know (Continued on Page 13A)

September is their month!

Elizabeth Van Kirk (left) and Mary Sue Stonisch are hard at work advertising September as League of Women Voters month. LWV members will display their posters throughout the community and the organization also has a display in the Central Library, titled "Making Its Mark on Politics," that advocates voter service and citizen education. ### Woods gets awards for safe streets

A well-rounded traffic safety and enforcement program is paying off for the Woods. The city's public safety department was the recent recipient of awards from the Automobile Club of Michigan and the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police.

The Honorable Mention from the Chiefs of Police was presented to the city Monday night, Aug. 20, by Director Jack Patterson. This is the first year the city has won the award, although it has applied in other years, he said.

In addition, Patterson and Mayor George Freeman were presented the AAA Pedestrian Safety Award of Excellence Monday morning, Aug. 27, at the Pedestrian Program Activities held in Dearborn.

Grosse Pointe Farms Mayor James Dingeman and Police Chief Robert Ferber were also present to accept the Farms Special Citation for Outstanding Pedestrian Program Activities.

The Woods won the AAA award because of its excellent record in pedestrian injuries and deaths as well as its accident prevention programs. The city hasn't had a pedestrian death since 1957. The Farms' award is for the city's outstanding pedestrian safety program activities, according to AAA.

The Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police gave the city an honorable mention for traffic safety for cities with a population of between 20,000 and 35,000.

All shifts and command personnel pay attention to traffic enforcement and safety, giving the city a well-rounded program and helping it respond to the needs of the community, Patterson said.

Diabetics to meet at Cottage

The Diabetic Support Group at Cottage Hospital begins its second year of monthly meetings on Monday, September 10, 7-9 p.m. Diabetics and their families are invited to join the group in the conference room on the fourth floor of the hospital.

This year, group leader Pat Doyle hopes to welcome more new members to the meetings which now involve over 100 people. Sessions are informal and participants discuss such topics as the use of home glucometers, fears and how to cope with them, insurance coverage, heredity factors relating to diabetes, and special considerations when traveling abroad. Diabetics, as well as their family members, have found the group meetings an ideal time to share common problems and experiences over a casual cup of coffee or tea.

Activities for the coming year will be discussed at the first fall meeting. Diabetics of all ages are invited to provide their input at this meeting and on the second Monday of each month.

For more information, call the Education section at 884-8600, extension 2390.

Tax rate to be set Sept. 10

The board of education will set the 1984-85 millage rate at its Monday, Sept. 10, meeting. The proposed rate will increase taxes by 4.65 percent.

The district's "truth in taxation" hearing passed last Thursday night, with one member of the audience asking questions about the proposed levy to fund the school's $35.2 million in spending, which increased from $33.6 last year.

For its operations, the school district will levy a total of 32.5 mills to cover its general fund, library fund and debt service on four bonded debts. For its general fund, the schools will levy 30.22 mills and 1.2 mills for the library fund.

A mill is equal to $1 for each $1,000 of state equalized valuation.

The schools will also levy 1.1 mills to cover four bond issues that are being repaid. The district will collect $1.1 million for debt service, almost $175,000 more than last year.

The bonded debt service rate is not subject to the Headlee tax limitation amendment, according to district business manager Christian Fenton. In addition, the district needs a fund reserve to cover tax adjustments and abatements that may be granted by the Michigan Tax Tribunal, he added.

This year's school budget will finance several new programs, including expanded computer education for all levels, the seventh period in the high school day and health education. Some money is also set aside to increase the schools' use of cable television.

Earlier this year, administrators predicted an almost five percent increase in the tax rate, but lower than expected contract settlements allowed the district to trim its rate slightly.

Under state law, the school district is authorized to levy 34.91 mills. That rate was rolled back to 32.53 mills, which will raise $1.5 million more than last year's 31.84 mills.

Memorial Church will offer adult Christian education

Five adult classes will be presented every Sunday at the 10:30 Middle Hour for Education at Memorial Church beginning Sept. 9. The Christian Education Council, under the leadership of Anne Parcells, has designed the courses of study related to the Christian life. The series titles are: Bible Study; Theology; Contemporary Challenges for Christian Faith; Christian Faith and Social Concerns; and Family Life.

"Christian Faith and Social Concern" will deal with statements issued by the General Assembly of The Presbyterian Church, USA, on contemporary religious and social issues, beginning with "Peacemaking: The Believers Calling" and "Economic Justice." The speaker, on Sept. 9 is Interim Senior Pastor, Dr. William R. Phillippe.

"Contemporary Challenges for Christian Faith" will begin looking at bio-medical ethical dilemmas. Participants will engage in "pre-crisis thinking" about health-care decisions. The convener of the course is Dr. Ginnie Rice, R.N. The speaker this Sunday is Dr. Daher B. Rahi, D.O., whose topic is "Findings of the President's Commission on the Study of Ethical Problems in Medicine and Behavioral Research." Dr. Rahi is a member of the President's Commission.

The "Family Life" course will begin this year with a series on "Understanding Your Middle School Youth." Emphasis in this course will be on parenting the young adolescent ages 11-14. The topic for Sunday "Young Adolescents: An Overview of Characteristics and Needs" will be presented by school counselors Ken McMillan and Larry Griffin, along with Joan Hanpeter.

The course, titled "What It Means To Be a Presbyterian" will be taught by Mary Anne Evans, director of Christian Education at Memorial. This will be a refresher course for adults on the concepts dealt with in confirmation classes on faith, mission and worship of the Presbyterian Church. It will form the foundation for the next series which will compare Presbyterians to other faiths.

The fifth course, a Bible study on the book of Genesis will begin Oct. 7. That course will be similar to a Saturday morning Bible study led by Dr. and Mr. Stanton Wilson. Both the Saturday and Sunday courses will examine these and passages of Genesis, which lay the foundation for faith in God.

The Saturday course will begin Oct. 6 at 10 a.m. and will be advertised as "Coffee, Donuts, and the Bread of Life."

Lodging accommodations in each area will also be featured.

Historical New England and Philadelphia will be the main features of the discussion on Sept. 18. Included will be Plymouth Plantation and Independence Hall, Cape Cod and Cape Ann and the mountains of Vermont and New Hampshire.

Ask your psychiatrist

Have you ever wondered what it's like to consult a psychiatrist? How do you know if you need to see a psychiatrist? How does our mental health affect us physically?

Dan Guyer, M.D., staff psychiatrist, will answer questions about psychiatry or psychological problems in the first of four special fall programs at Cottage Hospital of Grosse Pointe. "Ask the Psychiatrist" will be held on Thursday, Sept. 13, 7 to 9 p.m. in boardrooms A and B, on the lower level of the hospital on Kercheval Avenue, Grosse Pointe Farms.

Dr. Guyer will open the program by explaining what modern psychiatric treatment is and discussing the general principles of psychiatry. He will also offer insight into how the psychiatrist attempts to define the problem and, along with the patient, works through chronic or crisis situations. He then will field individual questions from the audience.

Certified by the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology, Dr. Guyer is a graduate of Wayne State University's School of Medicine. He has been associated with Detroit General Hospital, Harper Hospital, and the Detroit Psychiatric Institute. He also is a clinical instructor at Wayne State University.

Other community education programs scheduled for the fall and winter months include: "Could It Be An Ulcer?," Thursday, Oct. 11; "An Ounce of Cancer Prevention," Thursday, Nov. 8; and "I've Got a Headache," on Thursday, Jan. 17. Report change in earnings for April

Social Security beneficiaries who filed a report of their estimated earnings for 1984 early in the year should be sure to report any change which may have increased their earnings since then to the Social Security office. Or, if they previously did not expect to earn over the earnings limit but their circumstances have changed, they should report this to the Social Security office.

by refund, Moslener said. Many people wait until after the end of the year when they file their annual report to indicate a change in earnings or earnings over the earnings limit. However, by this time the overpayment of benefits may have accumulated to the point where repayment may create a hardship.

A change in earnings should be reported to the Social Security Administration office located at 17420 Mack Avenue or by calling 493-1111, the general information number.

Their monthly Social Security check is based on their estimate of earnings reported on the annual earnings report. Failure to report an increase in expected earnings could result in an overpayment of benefits, according to James T. Moslener, district manager of the Social Security office located at 17420 Mack Avenue.

Social Security officials note that failure to report changes in earnings is one of the major causes of overpayments. The law states that overpayments must be repaid to the trust funds, either through deductions from future checks or

A poor way to pick regents

YOU WOULD THINK the United Auto Workers union would be so busy these days negotiating contracts with General Motors and Ford, seeking votes for the Democratic ticket of Mondale and Ferraro, and doing assorted political tasks for the Democratic Party in the state that it wouldn't want to get involved in nominating candidates for the boards of the state's major universities. But if you had thought that, you would have been wrong, as the UAW proved at the recent state Democratic convention.

As a result of a demand by the Labor Caucus that the UAW controls, the Democratic Party dumped incumbent Gerald Dunn from its slate for the University of Michigan board of regents and gave its endorsement instead to Marjorie Lansing, a political science professor at Eastern Michigan. The complaint against Dunn was that he had not been sufficiently pro-labor in his private employment as a lobbyist for the public schools. Dr. Lansing, however, was a second choice. Earlier, the endorsement had been scheduled to go to Morley Winograd, the former Democratic Party chairman in the state. When opposition to Winograd arose, Dr. Lansing was substituted.

It is not unusual, of course, for labor and the UAW in particular to play important roles in state Democratic politics. That has been going on for a long time. But the episode illustrates again the foolishness of the Michigan system of nominating candidates for the boards at the University of Michigan, Michigan State University and Wayne State University. The two political parties nominate candidates for all three boards and then the nominees run on a non-partisan ticket. The system almost guarantees intrusion of politics into higher education in Michigan.

IF WISER HEADS hadn't prevailed at the Democratic convention, voters in November would have faced the spectacle of the former head of the Democratic Party running on a non-partisan ticket for regent of the University of Michigan. Even as it turned out, the party's endorsement was withdrawn from an incumbent chiefly at the demand of the UAW, which serves as the Democratic Party's strong right arm (Or is it better described as its left arm?) on what appears to be rather flimsy evidence that Dunn did not serve labor's interests. That surely is not the way to keep partisan politics out of state universities or to assure the choice of the best qualified candidates for such important offices.

Over the years the University of Michigan has been one of the chief jewels in Michigan's crown. It is one of the top public universities in the land and it has been fortunate in having been served by boards that have been more devoted to the university than to the parties that have nominated them. MSU and Wayne State have not been equally fortunate and more often have been badly used by politically-minded board members. In this connection, the Republican Party, which will soon nominate candidates for all three boards, could set an example by considering candidates on the basis of their past and potential contributions to higher education, not to politics.

IT IS TRUE that many fine men and women have served and still serve on these boards. But the blatant and successful effort by the UAW to oust an incumbent for its own narrow reasons illustrates again that party nomination is a poor way to choose such candidates. If the governor appointed such board members, they would be at least one step removed from the political process, and the governor could be held responsible if he made unsuitable choices.

Perhaps the intervention of the UAW and the Labor Caucus into the nominating process for the boards at the state's three biggest universities still will serve a useful purpose. It could awaken the public to the threat that political partisanship can pose to these institutions and arouse demands for a change in the way in which the boards are named.

A quiet school tax hearing

Unless something unexpected happens next Monday night, the Grosse Pointe school board will approve a 1984-85 levy of $35,267,427 which would be 4.65 percent higher than the 1983-84 levy for all purposes. The general fund as usual accounts for most of the levy, $32,763,568, with the library fund to get $1,311,215 and debt service $1,192,644.

THE BOARD'S ADVANCE notice of last week's public hearing on the tax levy for the coming year had made no secret of the proposed increase but only a handful of people showed up for the meeting. In fact, only one serious question was asked about the levy for the coming year and no objections were raised from the floor.

The community's calm acceptance of the proposed increase contrasted with the sharp controversy over school closings during the last year or so. That issue was finally resolved by the closing of Barnes Elementary School this fall and the transfer of the building to other uses.

Some observers had expected more public interest in the proposed budget increase in view of the fact that the cost issue had been raised during the recall campaign waged against board members favoring any school closings. The board had, however, made it clear in advance that the 1984-85 budget does reflect the first annual savings of $115,000 it expects to make from the closing of Barnes Elementary.

BUT THE BOARD and school administration also had explained in advance that the coming year's budget is being increased to accommodate expanded computer education, the addition of a seventh period to the high school day, expanded health education and increased use of local cable television. Offsetting such increases, however, were contract settlements that had been more conservative than anticipated, enabling the board to keep the increase at the 4.65 percent level.

Not that everybody is completely happy with the 1984-85 budget. In letters to the editor of the Grosse Pointe News, some people had expressed the view the board ought to go ahead now with planning more school closings since enrollment apparently is still in decline. Others had taken a different view and contended that too much attention was being paid to savings without regard to the impact on students and teachers.

It is true, however, that the demand for planning the early closing of more schools runs counter to the position taken by members of the board who defeated recall attempts and those who were elected last spring. They felt there ought to be a moratorium on school closings until the district's experience with Barnes can be evaluated, until new school census figures are available and until a new superintendent is in place.

THAT STILL SEEMS to be the wise course for the future. If enrollment continues to decline, obviously the problem will have to be reviewed again as soon as the new superintendent arrives. The board only now has begun the process of weeding out the best of the more than 100 applicants for the position, however, and so the choice may be delayed beyond the earlier target date of Jan. 1, 1985. Yet it would appear to be inappropriate for the school administration and the board to make definite plans for the future, including more school closings, until the new superintendent can become a part of the decision-making process.

Who says figures don't lie?

MICHIGAN, WITH ONE of the highest unemployment rates in the country last year, also reported the highest average pay of any state except Alaska for employees covered by the unemployment compensation system. That is added evidence, if any was needed, that Michigan is indeed a high pay state, even in a time of high unemployment.

The average annual pay in Michigan of the workers covered in this Bureau of Labor Statistics survey was $19,712, as compared with the average of $17,544 for the nation as a whole. The Alaska rate was $28,720, the highest, while the lowest was the $13,188 for South Dakota.

Those not covered by the unemployment compensation system and not included in the survey are people working in agriculture, elected officials in states and local governments, most household domestic workers and student workers at schools and universities. Yet the report supposedly does cover 88.3 percent of the nation's work force.

NATIONALLY, THE report indicated the gains in annual pay kept the covered workers ahead of the inflation rate of 3.8 percent in 1983. But another study showed that Michigan's 24.1 percent increase in its per capita income from 1979 through 1983 fell behind the national inflation rate of 31.4 percent in that period.

That report also indicated that on a per capita income basis, Michigan ranked 23rd among the states in 1983 with a figure of $11,466 which is less than the national average of $11,685. Michigan also was among the bottom 10 states in the 1979-83 period in the rate of gain in per capita income.

It is difficult to reconcile the figures in these two reports without additional information. One shows the average annual pay of those covered by the unemployment compensation system to be $19,712, the second highest in the country, while the other shows the per capita income in Michigan to be only $11,466, which is 23rd highest in the nation.

IS IT THE SIZE of the families in Michigan, the large percentage of unemployed or even the large number of retired and elderly people that account for the big difference between the two figures? Or are there other factors that explain it? We confess we don't know.

It is true that one report measures only the income of those working and covered by the unemployment compensation system, while the other measures income on a per capita basis, meaning that it includes everyone whether he has income or not. But the difference between the two figures still appears to be unreasonably large.

Maybe there's something after all to that old saying that figures don't lie but liars figure.

Our students will need bill of rights

To the Editor:

Given the uncertain feelings surrounding the sixth grade move into the middle schools, I, as a parent of a sixth grader, propose the following "Sixth Grade Bill of Rights." Many of the tenets have system-wide application.

I.) Sixth graders shall be entitled to a curriculum which is proven academically beneficial and enlightening.

Given the new nature of the sixth grade move, educational fumbling is a real possibility. The sixth grade student of 1984 could lose a year of quality education. Working out the glitches should not mean that the kids are the losers.

II.) Sixth graders shall be entitled to specialty teachers trained in their specialties, as promised by the school board.

One of the promised benefits of the sixth grade move was specialty teachers for specialty subjects. If other considerations don't allow for these placements, the students are simply receiving instruction in a different building. A few college credits accrued by a teacher years ago in a given subject does not make him a specialist.

III.) The sixth grader shall be entitled to full and complete support services with a numerically sufficient support staff.

Money should not prohibit the hiring of more counselors, social workers, and other support staff if the need is shown by increased referrals. Further, the new personnel should be hired promptly and as a matter of course without the need for public displays of anger and distress.

IV.) The sixth grader shall be entitled to classes in which teachers do not feel overburdened by over-crowded class size.

Over the last years, the number of students per class session has increased. An overburdened teacher cannot give the quality individual attention needed for a good education. This applies not just to the per class student number but to the total student load per teacher.

V.) The sixth grader shall be entitled to receive the improved curriculum at the middle school, as promised by the school board.

Among the benefits promised to the sixth graders at the middle school was better and more varied academic offerings. Shop should be a "hands on" experience, language should not strictly be the teaching of a foreign culture but a sampling of the language. Students in science should have use of the lab. Physical education should include swimming. The offerings of the middle school should not be replicable at the elementary level.

VI.) The sixth grader shall be entitled to recognition as a younger adolescent, with considerations given accordingly.

Given that adolescence is maturity achieved over a period of years, the student just beginning this cycle should not be expected to react in the same way as an older adolescent. Appropriate handling of academic demands and behavioral expectations is necessary on the part of the administrators and teachers.

VII.) The sixth graders parents shall be entitled to efficient accountability from teachers, counselors and administrators, both oral and written.

Interim reports, the reception of requested information from counselors and teachers, and regularly scheduled appointments as requested by the parents build school/home rapport. When the system breaks down, parents can only feel frustration and anger. Especially with the addition of a third grade level in the middle school, the system of communications has to work well and efficiently.

Hero rewarded by insult

To the Editor:

On Sunday night, Aug. 12, my 1983 Olds was parked in my driveway. At 2:45 a.m. thieves smashed the rear window, entered the vehicle and lacerated the entire steering column. My neighbors, Clark and Barbara Lawrence, alertly heard the break in, confronted the thieves and called the police.

The Farms police responded immediately and my car, although damaged, was not taken. That is a story that any community would be proud of; brave alert neighbors, quick police action, theft prevented, Right? Wrong! The Grosse Pointe News, in its Aug. 30 issue, page 9A, rewarded these local heroes by a bold face heading "Nosy Neighbor Thwarts Thief."

Flag theft is dastardly deed

To the Editor:

Our "Flag" doesn't fly in the Farms.

Americans in the past few years have taken on a renewed aura of patriotism and it is reflected in many ways, one of which is most evident with the increased display of our country's flag.

I, too, am one of those proud Americans and have for a number of years hung "Old Glory" out on those "special days" we traditionally recognize. Since it has become officially accepted to leave the flag up past sunset, I was prompted to erect a rather respectable flag pole in my yard. A rather worn "Stars and Stripes" flew from this staff, and last Father's Day it was replaced by a bright new edition of our Country's colors.

It has been flying proudly since June and most recently seemed even brighter with the thousands of flags waving as our nation's best brought home their medals from the Olympics. The political conventions, the coming national election, and the restoration of our "Lady," the Statue of Liberty, are all the flag wavers in their own way.

Well, it's not so here at home, for upon arriving home from a weekend trip, I found that someone had deliberately cut down my flag and carried it away in the night. This is indeed a sad commentary on our society and our proud and fine community.

My hope is that the individuals that performed this dastardly deed will have a conscience that hangs heavy. If I

Our neighborhoods wait and suffer until such journalists reawaken to their community responsibility. If humor lies buried somewhere in that repertoire, it totally eludes me. But for my neighbor's prompt help, my car would have been stolen right out of my driveway.

The News' perjorative "nosy" insults the alert, courageous and intelligent action of the Lawrences and all other such good neighbors throughout the Pointes in preventing crime from infiltrating our community.

We know the G.P. News can do better and we are all looking to it for leadership in keeping the Pointes a place of good neighbors.

Prime Time for senior citizens

"Politics is the only pleasure an American knows," Alex de Touqueville said in 1932.

In the interest of determining the accuracy of the quote at the time it was written, a brief backward glance into history proved his point.

National elections seem to be the best focal point, since it is then that politics is in full swing. During that time, constituents are inundated with a small scale Barnum treatment. National elections, from convention time until the race is won and the winner stands triumphant on the Capitol steps delivering a hopefully quotable inaugural address, is the biggest show on earth.

With all the diversions available to Americans today, it is difficult to appreciate how much excitement national elections generated in previous times. The citizens of that era were not inundated, as we are today, with television that turns our living room into an open forum on worldwide happenings.

We are witnesses to the comings and goings of elected officials, financial mandates, media stars.

We are so supersaturated with "headline news" and "on the spot coverage" that it can hardly be said politics and election are our "only pleasure." In fact, the tally on who watched what during the television coverage of the conventions showed most viewers preferred John Wayne to the discussions on what party had the most to offer.

Space limits any inclusive examination of all of the presidential campaigns but a good point is a look at those who ran when they were over 60, not only because they were the oldest to hold office but also because there were some interesting political innovations during their campaigns.

Tocqueville's quote was very descriptive of the 1800s. Political candidates stumped the country by whatever means available. Their visits to various towns were major events. There were parades and receptions where all the townspeople turned out to hear praise by supporters and promises by candidates.

Opposing candidates were denounced and the speaker of the day exalted. There were no word-weary ears or minds confused and befuddled by endless analysis. Political parties had little formal structure. The candidate stood on his own. He was the man of the hour.

Issues were discussed and brickbats thrown, some of them worthy of the worst diatribes of our day. Commenting on the Whig nomination of William Henry Harrison in 1840, a Baltimore newspaper commented that he would be perfectly content to sit in a log cabin with a barrel of hard cider for the rest of his days.

Offended politicians were equal to those of today at fielding the ball and hurling it back into home plate.

The Whigs used the remark to promote log cabins and free cider as symbols for Harrison, who was portrayed as a two-fisted plain spoken Westerner.

Instead of public meetings the Whigs staged colorful parades and clambakes. They set up log cabins in town squares and distributed thousands of miniature cabins as well as medals showing Harrison wearing a coonskin cap.

Actually, Harrison was the son of an aristocratic Virginia planter who was a signer of the Declaration of Independence.

His opponent, president Martin Van Buren was attacked as an aristocrat who lived in the White House in royal splendor. He was a tavern-keeper's son.

This was the first election to turn on what we now call "image making." Editor Horace Greeley dubbed Harrison "Old Tip" because he led the militia against Indians in a battle near the village of Tippecanoe. John Tyler was Harrison's running mate. Out of that association the Whigs coined the first campaign slogan: "Tippecanoe and Tyler too."

There was another slogan popularized at that time also, one that was adopted and eulogized in a ringing speech in the 1984 convention. It was "The time has come . . ." The occasion was a Whig rally on the destiny of a young nation heading west. The speaker — Daniel Webster. Noteworthy in that campaign also, was the support of a Whig congressman named Abraham Lincoln.

An issue not mentioned in the campaign that pulled out all stops was that of the candidate's age. Harrison was 68 when he ran for a second term and that was old in those days when life expectancy was much less than it is now.

Harrison was older but he was not the first president to win despite what was at that time regarded an advanced age. Andrew Jackson, hero of the Battle of New Orleans won the presidency in 1828.

His inauguration was a gala event. "Old Hickory" rode to the White House on horseback followed by a great multitude. Jackson was not the uncouth character depicted by his enemies but a self-educated man lacking polish and style. His was the era of the common man and out of it emerged our two-party system.

Some Jeffersonian Republicans became Jackson Democrats under the leadership of Sen. Henry Clay. Webster organized an opposition, the Whigs.

It was in Jackson's time that the idea of a nominating convention took hold. It was thought to be a way to mobilize popular support and 1844 both parties had adopted platforms at conventions. A new ritual of American politics had arrived. Through the years the nominating convention grew into an extravaganza that H.L. Mencken called, "gaudy and hilarious — melodramatic and obscene — exhilarating and preposterous."

Another "older" president was the 12th, Zachary Taylor. He was 66 when he was elected. A war hero — he spent 40 years in the Army fighting Indians, commanding frontier posts and winning glory in the Mexican War — he was called "Old Rough and Ready."

In the roster of those who aspired to and won the highest position in the country was James Buchanan, who was 65 when he became president.

He was the last of the weak compromising presidents elected by a divided country before the Civil War. It is interesting to note in view of present day relations with the Russians, as United States minister to Russia in 1832, he succeeded in negotiating the first trade treaty between the United States and Russia.

At his inaugural, he made an announcement that many future presidents could envy. It was:

"Our present financial condition is without parallel in history, thanks to the large surplus in the federal treasury. 'A few months later, the 'Panic of 1857' changed that into a deficit of $27 million. Nevertheless, it was a nice opening statement.

In our era, Dwight D. Eisenhower was a young 66 when he served as the 34th president. He was one of the only two Republican presidents to serve out two complete four-year terms. The other was Ulysses S. Grant.

The Space Age began during Eisenhower's administration with the launching of the satellites of Russia and the United States. Atomic energy plants were first used to produce electricity and an International Atomic Energy Agency was organized at Eisenhower's suggestion to control the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

The United States grew to 50 states with the admission of Alaska and Hawaii. By the time Eisenhower left office, he was 70 — the oldest man ever to be president.

With regard to the age factor, these were Ronald Reagan's predecessors. In not one instance were their years considered as relevant to their ability to serve.

Politics aside, this is an encouraging thought for all older citizens. Goals are possible to attain at any age — even the presidency.

Thanks for helping elms

To the Editor:

I am grateful to Susan Levitan for her industrious tenacity to organize and maintain the tree injection program in Grosse Pointe City under the auspices of the Grosse Pointe Tree Commission and city officials.

She has received certification in this area and has for several summers dedicated her time and energy to the worthwhile project. According to the recent report from the Elm Research Center, the results of injecting healthy trees are encouraging — 99 percent effective in keeping them fungus free.

Thank you, Sue, Tree Commission and city officials for helping preserve our valuable natural resources — the towering elm. I hope in future summers more residents will participate.

If only . . .

To the Editor:

"If" the Hill had been zoned right in the first place, there would be no need for a re-zoning.

"If" owners of vacant lots would build on them, it would provide more space for more retail shops.

"If" four Banks were not in the area, there would be more retail shops.

"If" everyone didn't want a sidewalk shop, they could have an alley shop . . . (there are three available spaces). San-Juan, Puerto Rico is proud of its shops.

More people travel the alley with it's parking lot, bright sunshine and fresh air.

"If" the issue was dropped and everyone did his own thing, it would be a Brighter Hill for business.

Lectures will explain U.S. foreign policy

"You aren't the only one who doesn't understand the situation in the Middle East," wrote Andy Rooney in this month's issue of "Redbook." He may as well have added Central America, South Africa, China, and what the Russians are thinking and planning.

In an effort to clarify the issues, the War Memorial's Council of Sponsors will host a lecture series called "The U.S. and the World: Confrontation and Compromise," featuring six expert analysts on U.S. foreign policy, including two University of Michigan professors, two Pointers, and nationally known speakers Leonard Woodcock and David Schoenbrun.

The series will begin Tuesday, Sept. 11, at 8 p.m. when Daniel Levine, U of M political science professor, examines revolutionary politics and U.S. policy in Central America.

The following Tuesday, Ron Suny, Manooagian professor of history at U of M will review U.S./Soviet relations and Soviet foreign policy in the nuclear age. In his address, Suny will address such topics as nuclear disarmament, what the Russians are thinking and planning, and if the two super powers are more polarized now than ever before.

The series will continue Sept. 25, when G. Mennen Williams, Chief Justice of the Michigan Supreme Court and former Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs, discusses Africa with special emphasis on South Africa.

Justice and Mrs. Williams offered a tour of their private collection of African art prior to the talk to be given in their home in Grosse Pointe Farms. Attendance to this particular lecture is very limited, so tickets must be purchased in advance.

Leonard Woodcock, former U.S. Ambassador to China, will analyze on Oct. 2, the changing relations with Asia. As China opens its doors to the West, what opportunities are available to the U.S. to forge strong ties with a new ally, and just as important, what are the inherent dangers?

John Fillion, U.A.W. special counsel and lecturer on world history, will speak on Oct. 9 on the trouble-filled Middle East.

The final lecture will feature David Schoenbrun, former chief correspondent for CBS News in Washington and Europe, on Oct. 23. His address will review 50 years of U.S. foreign policy. "From Roosevelt to Reagan" and touch on the influence of domestic politics on foreign policy and how the U.S. perceives security. Schoenbrun will be available after the lecture to autograph copies of his new book, "America Inside Out."

Tickets to the series of six lectures are $28, or $6 per lecture, and may be purchased in person or by mail. Although tickets will be available at the door for each lecture, with the exception of Justice Williams', the War Memorial urges advance reservations. Each lecture begins at 8 p.m.

Board names Peters director-emeritus

Retired library head William Peters was named director emeritus of Grosse Pointe public libraries last Thursday night by the Board of Education. Friends of the Library president Eugenio Beall presented Peters with the resolution signed by all the school board members.

Hoeh told the board that although the ermitus title was unusual in public administration, Peters had earned the honorary title.

The board unanimously approved the appointment and presented a framed copy of the signed resolution to Peters.

"I am very appreciative of the honor you've bestowed upon me," Peters said.

Peters retired last June after spending 17 years with Grosse Pointe public libraries. Before that, he spent 17 years working for the Detroit public library system. He formerly wrote a column for the Grosse Pointe News in which he reviewed new publications and other library services.

William Peters

In recommending the appointment, acting superintendent Dr. James Hoeh noted that the friends of the Library had requested the appointment because of Peter's 17 years "of distinguished service to the school system and community" and "his outstanding contributions to the growth and development of the library under his leadership."

First school dance is Saturday night

Grosse Pointe students in grades 6 through 8 may attend the first school year dance Saturday, Sept. 8, from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m., at the War Memorial.

Tickets, which must be purchased in advance, are $3 per person. Parents who can chaperone one or two dances this school year are urged to call the center at 881-7511. Assistance and cooperation is needed if the dances are to continue.

In addition, local bands who would like to audition for the center's annual "Battle of the Bands" on Saturday, Nov. 24, should write to: Mr. Jack Dotson, Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Drive, Grosse Pointe Farms, 48236.

Bands must be from Grosse Pointe's junior or high schools.

Suzuki cello will meet at War Memorial

Suzuki Cello at the Detroit Community Music School's Eastside Branch will be offered beginning in September at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Taught by Debra Loneragan of the DCMS faculty, this method includes active parental participation and support and develops the child's musical ability at an early age.

There will be a parent orientation meeting on Wednesday, Sept. 12 at 7:00 at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. There is no charge for the meeting, but reservations should be made by calling 831-2870.

The Suzuki method of teaching is a combination of private and group instruction which helps the child reach full potential both musically and personally. This phase of DCMS programming is made possible by the availability of small sized cellos for young children from the age of 4.

Suzuki teaching was pioneered by Dr. Shinichi Suzuki following World War II, and goes beyond music to help the child build strong study habits, character, maturity and interpersonal relationships while encouraging family interaction.

For more information about Suzuki Cello or Violin teaching at the Detroit Community Music School's Eastside location, call Miss Berma at 831-2870.

Classes will start in coming weeks

The fall program of non-credit classes and activities scheduled by the Department of Community Education of the Grosse Pointe public school system is slated to begin the week of Sept. 10 with a full complement of offerings in sports, dance, and exercise.

Although some single-session offerings are held during the latter part of September, most classes are scheduled for October and November.

Other classes of 10 weeks duration start the week of Sept. 17, including offerings in aquatics, foreign languages, basic business subjects, and arts.

Copies of the fall Community Education program, now contained in booklet form, may be obtained at the Grosse Pointe Central Library, its branches in Grosse Pointe Woods and Grosse Pointe Park, as well as at the Department of Community Education, now located at Barnes School, 20090 Morningside Drive, Grosse Pointe Woods.

The Youth Enrichment Program of after-school and Saturday classes begins the week of Sept. 24, with other beginning dates later in

A high-efficiency gas furnace is over 30% less costly to operate than most conventional gas furnaces.

Based on current rates, normal Michigan weather, and a 95% efficiency rating, a new high efficiency gas furnace could cut your heating bills by 33% when compared to the cost of operating most conventional gas furnaces.

An electric heat pump could be more than twice as expensive to operate as a high-efficiency gas furnace.

Because an electric heat pump all alone is not enough to heat your home sufficiently in an average Michigan winter, you'll need a back-up system. A heat pump backed up by electric resistance heating will cost about 400% more to operate than a high efficiency gas furnace. And a heat pump backed up by a high efficiency gas furnace is still about 35% more costly to operate than a high efficiency gas furnace alone.

Dollar for dollar, natural gas holds a three-to-one price advantage over electricity.

That means that a high efficiency gas furnace is always less expensive to operate in Michigan than an electric system when heating is required. And because that price advantage is expected to increase in the future, you could save even more in the long run.

We want to help you save.

If you're not heating your home with a high efficiency gas furnace, why not check it out? It could help you save a bundle. And at MichCon, we want to help!

SEMTA changes local route schedules

SEMTA's Harper Road Route 580, and Charlevoix Route 620 and 625 were changed Tuesday, Sept. 4 and a new routing created for some of the Charlevoix trips and renamed Route 621.

All morning rush hour trips to Detroit and afternoon outbound on the current Route 620 using Harper between Vernier and 15 Mile Road will be moved to serve Eastland Mall and Kelly Road in East Detroit, and will be renamed route 621.

Other Route 620 trips throughout the day will remain on Harper and will use the Moross routing. The Route 625 Charlevoix, to Jefferson and 9 Mile, remains unchanged, although some times will change.

The Route 621 branch will be routed from Gratiot Avenue, east on 10 Mile, south on Kelly to the Eastland Mall Park and Ride lot, then via Beaconsfield, east on Vernier, south on Harper, east on Moross to Chalfonte. From there the bus will use the regular route into Detroit.

Passengers may board at D-DOT stops on Moross and should signal the SEMTA driver of intent to board.

The Route 625 will remain unchanged as to routing but the times will change.

Rush hour passengers on Harper will be able to use expanded service on the Route 580, which has one additional trip morning and afternoon rush hours.

Service on Vernier between Harper and Mack will be provided by an extension of Nine Mile Road Route 710/5 to Eastland via 9 Mile, Jefferson, Marter and Vernier.

SEMTA was forced to cut bus and train service last fall because of diminished federal operating subsidies. While new local support is still being sought, a small amount of service is being restored because of dollars available through frugal management and improved scheduling.

Passengers can obtain a new schedule on their bus or call SEMTA's Customer Information Center, 962-5515, Monday through Friday, 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Camera Club starts year

The Grosse Pointe Camera Club, now in its 47th year, will meet on the first, third, and fourth Tuesday of each month, at Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfonte, at 7:30 p.m., in Music Room 11. Visitors are always welcome.

Because of the Labor Day holiday, September meetings are scheduled on Sept. 11, 18, and 25. Two of the monthly meetings are devoted to judging and critique of members' work in prints and slides, both in pictorial and nature.

Mini-programs on photographic techniques precede each of the competitions. The third meeting of the month may include a program by a guest expert or a workshop on some phase of photography.

Since 1964, the club and the Grosse Pointe public schools Community Services Department have co-sponsored evening classes in photography. Carroll Dennis of Grosse Pointe Park is coordinator of the program.

Members of the Camera Club lecture on their special interests, including print making, lighting techniques in portraiture, composition, and the use of flash. The first class of the new term will be held Wednesday, Sept. 19, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Brownell Middle School in room A-13.

The club is part of the Greater Detroit Camera Club Council and is also a member of the Photographic Society of America.

The Sept. 11 meeting will include both monochrome and color slide competitions.

For information, call Richard Parenteau, president of the club, 886-1824.

Lose weight with Cottage

Learn to shed pounds and inches without starving or gambling with your health. Attend a free, introductory meeting of the "Weight No More" system for permanent weight loss at Cottage Hospital on Tuesday and Thursday, Sept. 11 and 13, 2-3 p.m. in the Nurses' Residence at the rear of the hospital parking lot.

At any given moment, 12 percent of the adult population in America is on a diet. Twenty-eight percent are watching what we eat; and another 12 percent flip back and forth between dieting and bingeing.

Out of all those diets, almost 95 percent are doomed to failure — lost weight will be regained. No one can follow a rigid diet forever. And as soon as poor eating habits return, so do the excess pounds. In addition, the majority of crash diets are nutritionally unsound and some are actually harmful.

"Weight No More" approaches weight control by teaching participants how to prevent and eliminate the desire to overeat. Its behaviorally oriented approach meets with consistent success because it puts the participants in control of their own eating habits and teaches those skills necessary to achieve permanent weight control.

Those who enroll in the 10-session program lose from two to three pounds per week — the amount of weight loss that is to be expected from a nutritionally sound program. But, most importantly, they keep this weight off and continue to lose additional weight after the program as ended.

The "Weight No More" program, designed by the American Institute for Preventive Medicine, is conducted by Barbara Youngblood, Registered Dietician and assistant director of Food Service at Cottage Hospital.

For more information on the "Weight No More" system, attend one of the free, introductory sessions or call the Cottage Hospital Education section at 884-8600, extension 2390.

Prepare for college tests

More than 1.4 million students are expected to take the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test this October in more than 19,000 high schools throughout the country. Among them will be 300 students taking the test at North High, according to Neil Curtis on the school's guidance staff.

The test will be offered nationally this year on Saturday, Oct. 20 and Tuesday, Oct. 23.

The test also lets students become familiar with the types of questions asked on the Scholastic Aptitude Test, taken as an entrance requirement for many of the nation's colleges and universities.

Before taking the test, students will be provided with a Student Bulletin containing a practice test with answer key and scoring instructions. Afterward they receive a booklet that explains their scores and helps them plan for college.

For more information about the tests and who to contact, students should talk to the counseling staff at their high school.

Reimer wins scholarship

Ted Ewald, left, shakes hands with Scott Reimer of the Woods, who was one of the more than 40 students to receive a scholarship during the 27th annual H.T. Ewald Foundation scholarship awards, which this year totalled more than $80,000. Reimer is a North High graduate who will attend Michigan State University.

Stockwell is named director at hospital

Charles Stockwell, Ph.D., of Grosse Pointe Farms, has been appointed director of the balance and equilibrium laboratory at Harper Hospital. He has also been appointed professor at Wayne State University School of Medicine.

The laboratory is currently under construction and upon completion will be equipped with state of the art equipment including a contraves computerized vestibulo-ocular system to provide vestibular function testing.

Dr. Stockwell received his B.A. from Western Washington University and his M.A. and Ph.D. in psychology from the University of Illinois. He continued his training at the University of Illinois as a research assistant in the departments of psychology and electrical engineering. From 1968 to 1972, while in the armed services, he worked at the Naval Aerospace Medical Institute in Pensacola and perfected electronystagmography techniques as they applied to patient care.

For the past 12 years, Dr. Stockwell has served on the faculty of the department of otolaryngology and communication at Ohio State University. He was also director of the vestibular laboratory and as such supervised both clinical and research programs.

A funded researcher, he has initiated several research studies on

Vacation costs remain stable

A family of four should budget $141 per day — up $2 from a year ago — for summer travel in Michigan, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

The cost is based on a family of two adults and two children who eat three restaurant meals per day, share a hotel or motel room and travel 300 miles daily by car.

This year's suggested budget allows $63.02 for meals, not including tips and cocktails. Cost-conscious families could save by eating at fast-food restaurants, picnicking or having the main meal at midday to take advantage of lower lunch prices.

Lodging at Michigan's 502 AAA-approved establishments averages $54.18 per night for a two person two bed room. That price includes an average $5.10 per night for each child. However, some properties waive charges for children under a specified age.

A lodging alternative is camping. An Auto Club survey shows state park campers pay $7 nightly for a site with electricity. Rustic site fees at state forest campgrounds are $1 to $4. The average cost for a campsite at a private park is $7.89. In Michigan, families should expect to spend 8.1 cents per mile for travel, or $24.30 to go 300 miles. Those amounts are based on a car averaging 20 miles per gallon using self-serve no-lead at $1.269 per gallon and include costs for oil, tires and maintenance.

Michigan's summer vacation cost is up 1 percent from last year, but 11 percent below the $159 current nationwide average cost of summer travel. A survey by national AAA shows daily costs for a family of four average $135 for meals and lodging plus $24 for 300 miles of travel by car, nearly 3 percent more than a year ago.

National AAA's survey also shows meals and lodging may cost 25 percent less in small towns or 75 percent more in large metropolitan areas and at resorts in season.

In addition to food, lodging and driving costs, a family should budget for amusements, admission to places of interest, recreation and shopping. A reserve fund for emergencies also is advised.

Families may reduce vacation costs by:

- Keeping the car in top mechanical condition to prevent costly breakdowns and delays.

- Making advance lodging reservations. If that is not possible, arrive early in the day for a wider selection of reasonably priced accommodations.

- Visiting travel attractions that offer something worthwhile and avoiding tourist traps.

Kercheval clinic given approval

Bon Secours Hospital got its certificate of need approval for the recently dedicated Internal Medicine Outpatient Center at Kercheval in the Park.

The Aug. 10 approval, from the Michigan Department of Public Health, describes the one-story, 5,400-square foot structure as costing $483,000 which will be financed by facility funds, gifts, bequests and foundation grants.

It will contain eight examination rooms, two treatment rooms, laboratory, reception and records storage space. The existing clinic site at the hospital will be converted to other uses.

the vestibular system and is considered an expert in eye movement systems and their derangements. His research expertise has led to his participation on site visit teams, study sections, and committees for the National Institutes of Health and various medical societies.

He has numerous publications to his credit, is a frequent participant in national and international meetings, and has developed and taught several courses on ENG. He has authored a textbook on vestibular testing and analysis that is considered a standard reference manual.

Vet visits

Grosse Pointe Park veterinarian Lester W. Faremouh recently shared his expertise with the orientation class at Dominican High School. He was invited by freshman Kristen Billiu, also of the Park.

Dominican's job counselor, Betsy Berg, of the Farms, welcomes area professionals to Dominican classrooms. Faremouh is associated with Harvey Veterinary Hospital on Mack Avenue. He talked about how to control fleas, common illnesses and academic requirements for becoming a veterinarian.

Fast action saves a life

A Warren resident owes his life to two Grosse Pointe Park police officers who kept him from being electrocuted.

David Stomps, 28, said he had been welding a security door on a business in the 16000 block of Mack on Saturday, Aug. 11. He had put a hose and bucket nearby in case anything caught fire.

"The bucket overflowed and the water must have gone down to my 220 line and that's when it zapped me," he said.

Fortunately for Stomps, Park officers James Smith and James Chopp were passing by on patrol about 8 p.m., and observed him leap into the air and appear to go into convulsions, according to Park police chief Henry Concoe. "They pulled the plug, which undoubtedly saved his life, put him in the back of their car and took him to Bon Secours Hospital.

Stomps, who was released the next day and suffered no injury said, "I'm lucky to be alive. They told me I could have died."

New principals talk about their new assignments

 them," he says. "I'm anxious and excited to get involved with the programs that have been developed for the students ... and I know the staff's anxious."

Although getting to know the students may be a challenge, it's one of the goals Messing says he's set for himself this year. "I want to get to know all of the students through direct contact," the 45-year-old Woods resident says.

Messing's other two goals include opening lines of communications with the district's parents and working with the staff. Most important, though, is getting to know the students, he says.

"I believe in direct involvement. If you can capitalize on that, you can help the students and yourself reach full potential," Messing adds.

Messing came to the school district in 1964, and was a physical education teacher at Ferry from 1965 to 1967. That year, he switched roles and began teaching fifth and sixth graders. In 1976, he moved to South High as an assistant principal and became principal at Poupard in 1981.

Messing received his bachelor and master's degrees from Michigan State University. He received an educational specialist degree from Wayne State University and is doing doctoral work in school administration at University of Michigan.

His hobbies include reading and his family (wife Nancy and four children), which he says he spends a lot of time with. Messing adds he enjoys taking part in and watching most sports, and notes he's a serious Tiger fan ("even before they got into first place," he laughs).

Becoming principal of Poupard Elementary will be a bit like coming home for James Cooper. The 47-year-old Woods resident started with the school district as a physical education teacher at four elementary schools.

"It's really great to be back in an elementary school," Cooper says. "It's going to be fun to be back with young kids and their parents."

Although he was also a physical education instructor at South High, the last 16 years of his career have been at North, where Cooper was assistant principal.

While there's a "happy medium" between being in the office and out among the students, Cooper says he will "get out to see the kids so they get to know me ... and I hope to be out there viewing the classes and seeing how things operate."

The assistantship at the high school meant confinement to an office for a part of the time, something Cooper says he'd like to avoid at Poupard. One of the first things he plans on doing is watching how things work before he sets goals for the coming year, he adds.

"I'm going to view programs and take some time to see how the operation runs," Cooper says. "For the first three months, I'm just going to observe and after that, make any changes, if necessary. I'm not going to do anything drastic."

Cooper, who's married with one daughter, received his bachelor degree from Hope College and his master's degree in physical education and school administration from Michigan State University. He's also done some post-graduate work at State, University of Michigan and Wayne State University.

The high ability program will be "an exciting thing as far as the kids are concerned ... They are going to be challenged," Cooper says.

In his leisure time, Cooper and his family enjoy spending weekends near Gaylord. Cooper adds he likes to play "at golf" ("Be sure you put the 'at' in there," he laughs), as well as swimming, travelling and puttering around the yard.

He jokingly calls himself the dean of administrators in the school system, but Jack McMahon has more than 32 years with Grosse Pointe schools as a fifth and sixth grade teacher, physical education instructor and principal at Poupard and Barnes schools to add weight to his statement.

The father of two daughters describes himself as being in his "mid 50s" and lives in the Woods.

His years with the school district pay off in many ways, including meeting former students who have gone onto other things, he says.

"You see them after all those years in the stores ...," he says. "It's a very pleasant association, to see them now as successful adults after knowing them as promising students."

McMahon says he's not in his office much, except for meeting with parents, and he tries to keep out in the halls and classes of the school to make himself "highly visible."

"Sometimes you need to take the confidential role ... but three-quarters of my time, I'm out and about the school," he says.

McMahon knows his five predecessors at Richard personally and professionally and notes each one has made a contribution to the school. The change to Richard from Barnes has been exciting for him, he says, adding that even the changing external look of Richard, with its new playground and the front parking lot has been stimulating.

While McMahon says he has a respect for the history of Richard, there are opportunities now for change. "When I first started with the school district, there was a high enrollment, which gave flexibility ...," he says. "Shrinking sizes means we have an opportunity to personalize education ... to get to know each child's name, each teacher and each parent."

"It's particularly important to the child," he adds.

McMahon calls himself a facilitator and focuser on specific goals, but says the most important thing is "what's best for the child." His first year he plans to spend getting acquainted with the people and procedures of the school as well as getting to know some of the new staff.

There is no doubt where the authority and responsibility lay however. Although there is going to be high involvement by parents and staff, the responsibility lies with the person at the top, who has to make the final judgment, McMahon says.

While he's meeting parents and students, McMahon says he'll be developing the trust necessary to fully implement the role of an elementary school principal. The principal is the schools' counselor, the students' guide, because each student will spend at least six years at that level, longer than either middle or high school.

One thing he might possibly put into place at Richard will be a school responsibility program, where all the students in the fourth and fifth grades would be given certain responsibilities in areas like safety patrol, site improvement or the library that they would be expected to fulfill. The program will help build school pride through participation.

But, McMahon adds, "both academically and non-academically, our expectations must be appropriate for the age of the child."

McMahon says he's very athletically oriented and enjoys tennis and swimming as well as spending time at the family's cottage.

McMahon received his bachelor and master degrees from Michigan State University and has taught about 60 hours past the masters requirement, mostly at Wayne State.

Although he's worked in seven of the 10 elementary school districts, McMahon adds each, although very close to one another, is still very distinct. He adds he's already sensed a "high interest in children's educations" at Richard.

Stamp-collecting is still the No. 1 hobby worldwide, but the fastest-growing hobby is the collecting figurines of glass, wood or china.

Immaculata holds reunion

The 1959 graduation class of Immaculata High School will hold its 25th year reunion at Plum Hollow Golf Club, Southfield, Oct. 6 at 11:30 a.m.

Immaculata High School, formerly an all girls school in Detroit, attracted students from throughout the metropolitan area. Reunion organizers hope to gather all former classmates to share in this day of reminiscing.

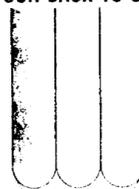

For more information, alumni should contact Carolyn (Cattera) Brownfield at 647-0062.

The Television Code of the National Association of Broadcasters forbids use of the word "armpit." One synonym exists, but few would recognize it. It's axilla.

Each proverb has an antidote proverb, it's said. "Look before you leap" is countered by "He who hesitates is lost." "Beware of Greeks bearing gifts" is answered by "Never look a gift horse in the mouth."

Notice is hereby given that public hearings will be held by the Veterans Administration at:

6:00 P.M. ON TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1984 IN THE ALLEN PARK MUNICIPAL AUDITORIUM, 16850 SOUTHFIELD ROAD ALLEN PARK, MICHIGAN and at:

6:00 P.M. ON WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1984 ROOM 2043 OF COBO HALL, DETROIT, MICHIGAN

Registration will begin at 5:00 p.m. The hearing is for the purpose of allowing the public the opportunity to provide oral and written comments regarding the draft EIS and the environmental consequences of the various alternatives. The format of the hearing will be information gathering in nature and not one of dialogue exchange. Therefore, VA program officials will not be permitted to answer questions. The public is invited to submit written comments in addition to or in lieu of verbal comments on the draft EIS. Speakers will be called in order of their registration and, depending on the number of speakers, a time limit may be imposed. Speakers are asked to limit their oral presentations to only one of the two hearings.

The Veterans Administration (VA) proposes to modernize or replace the existing VA Medical Center (VAMC) at Allen Park, Michigan. The existing VAMC has major functional and space deficiencies which cannot be corrected in the present facility. The intent of this project will be to correct these deficiencies.

The project alternatives included in the Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) are: (1) major renovation/renovate with minor new construction at the VAMC Allen Park; (2) major new construction with some renovation at VAMC Allen Park; (3) a phased replacement hospital on the VAMC Allen Park campus; (4) a total replacement VAMC on a site adjacent to the Detroit Medical Center, Detroit, Michigan; (5) the "no action" alternative.

Environmental impacts addressed in the EIS include air quality, water quality, noise, hazardous wastes, traffic, social and economic consequences, and potential effects on historical and archeological resources.

Stars and Stripes forever

David "BZ" Lyons. "He spends most of the time on the phone. We sail the boat and he's on the phone — he's an organizational expert," laughs David Askew. Marc Augier calls Martin's Cup planning a "Class A effort." And all agree that Martin will be organizing and executing right up until the last race.

"Bill will be planning things right up until he holds the cup in his hands," Tim Askew says. "And even then, I have my doubts about it ending."

An example of Martin's organizational techniques is the study he had made of Lake Ontario weather conditions in September. As a result, Stars and Stripes and her crew (which also includes designer and tactician Gary Jobson and John Johns) will be ready for the 8 to 10 knot winds and choppy waters.

They'll also be prepared to go the full schedule of four short and one long race. The Canada's Cup is awarded to the first boat which nets four points. The short course is 22 miles and is run on Sept. 16, followed by a long course and other short courses. "The longer the course, the better we do, since we can use more boat speed. But we're a pretty good all-around boat," Argo says.

All five Grosse Pointers have been able to devote full time to Bayview's Cup effort. Argo is a geology student at Michigan State; Augier, an engineering design major at MSU; Lyons, an MIT student; and the Askews attend the University of Michigan. Each will have his own role to play on "Stars and Stripes."

David Askew is the navigator and mans the halyards, his brother is a bowman. Marc Augier serves as mastman and grinder, while Argo trims the sails in his job as a tailor. Dave Lyons is a grinder, which is sailor talk for the guy who runs the winches. He also doubles as "marine domestic," which is more sailor talk, for kitchen help.

They all agree that "Stars and Stripes" will have a great chance to bring the Canada's Cup "home" to Bayview. And each approaches the series with that in mind.

"Let's say we're cautiously optimistic. But this is really the best challenge we've had since 1978. Our program is very deep," David Askew says.

David Lyons notices that the Canada's Cup preparations have been much more intense than other races he sailed. The veteran Argo knows why. "The Canada's Cup means a lot more money, for one thing. It's like the America's Cup. This is high-tech sailing, no-holds-barred. The crew works to get everything down to perfection... and that's our job," he explains.

Then there's the little matter of American pride.

"The nationalism is definitely there. You just want to do it for the boys at home," Argo says. "You feel that you are representing your country, your club, the other boats you beat in the trials. It makes you want to do your best."

"And to be involved in a class 'A' operation like this one is definitely a once-in-a-lifetime thing."

Farms pedestrian mall near

selected was really spectacular. It was found in design and had five fountain heads at different levels. It would have been patterned after fountains seen in Portland, Ore.

"We called the water department there for specifications, but it seems the fountains were donated to that city by a wealthy resident who specified in his will that they were only to be displayed in Portland."

"We even talked to the mayor of Portland," said Solak, with a smile. "He really wanted to help, and even talked to their legal department, but there was no way to get around the will. We then thought about taking photos of the fountains and then trying to duplicate them, but the cost of making the dies from a photo would have been horrendous."

Solak also said the Farms had gone to great lengths to save as much of the greenery along the block as possible, jogging the walkway around the trees.

The mall will feature one stairway leading to the new parking lot, plus one handicapped entrance ramp next to the one-lane only parking lot entrance and exit along McKinley Road.

"In the past, we had considered spending the federal funds on a tower for the Joy Bells to be located on the Hill," said Solak. "Then we amended that to a carillon, leaving the Joy Bells in their present location on Grosse Pointe Boulevard.

"However, with the new traffic light now at McMillan and Kercheval, we felt the traffic device might detract from the carillon. We finally decided the money would be spent on a mall that would stretch the entire length of the block."

"Plus, we think it would also serve as a wonderful way to connect the lower and upper Hill area," summarized Solak.

The national winner will be announced in April, 1985 and will perform on SHOWTIME as "Comic of the Month." Last year's winner was Ellen DeGeneres, of New Orleans, who turned a sharp eye to the foibles of everyday life for her material.

Party politics come full-circle

serve his country during the war.

He even "endured" two years of college ROTC in the hopes of going in as an officer, but because of poor eyesight says, "I suffered the ultimate insult and couldn't even qualify as a private."

An honors graduate from Princeton University and its Woodrow Wilson School of Public Affairs, Heenan says he didn't get married until he was 35 years old. "In those days, you went to law school first, started a career and then got married."

While college was delayed by a three-year stint working in a factory making airplane wings during the war, he still managed to graduate from the University of Michigan Law school before he reached 30. He also admits being able to live in the family home on Bishop Road that his mother opened weekly to large family gatherings may have helped postpone his desire to strike out on his own.

But a former girlfriend, who had married, suggested he meet her sister and that blind date led to a five-year courtship with Jayne Houseal, a woman who shared many of his same interests and also the love of politics.

Calling herself a staunch conservative Republican, Mrs. Heenan, a graduate of Mary Baldwin College, started out as a Democrat but switched parties long before she met Heenan.

An independent person with a bit of a maverick bent to her, she moved to California in the late 40s after graduating with a degree in journalism and finding jobs in Michigan scarce.

A short stint as a model for a local furrier followed until she convinced the owner of the Mill Valley Record to let her run one of his businesses.

"I took photos, edited, wrote and did layout," says Mrs. Heenan. "I turned a little throw-away paper into a newspaper."

While in California and a licensed pilot, she bought a plane for $200 and joined the Civil Air Patrol as a volunteer. In return for the government taking care of it and supplying gas and oil, she would go on air search and rescue missions over the ocean looking for Japanese submarines.

She found them and on several occasions, with bombs strapped to the bottom of her plane, put them out of commission. "I was always game for everything," she says.

After the war, she met Heenan, got married and returned to Michigan where she worked as acting woman's editor at the Detroit Free Press. "When I was four months pregnant my career ended," she says.

They now have three children. A fourth, died at six months of a heart malformation.

Mrs. Heenan describes her life in district politics as "usually great fun," but says at one point in their lives the Heenan name was considered a bad word.

One day while campaigning for her husband, she says, a neighbor on the next block told her she was "worse than a communist," which sent her home in tears.

"Palmer told me to stop crying, wipe away the tears and get right back out there again because they want you to quit," she says. "It's only been in the last year or two that it's been palatable for us in this area. But I'm usually the one who gets upset the most," she adds.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

They hail from several European countries, the Middle East, Canada and South America as well as the United States. They live in the melting pot of middle America, but in a very special part of that melting pot, where the flavor of France lingers in the names of streets (Kercheval . . . Charlevoix . . . Beaufait) and families (often with the same names as the streets).

They're members of the Alliance Francaise de Grosse Pointe, and when they get together the conversation, in French and English, sparkles like the champagne that will be served at their first get-together of the 1984-85 season: a 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. reception Wednesday evening, Sept. 19, at the Windmill Pointe Drive home of their new president, Mrs. Kim K. Lie.

Mrs. Denise Controulis has accepted the chairmanship of the event. She will be assisted by Mrs. Russell H. Axsom, Arthur J. Rooks and Mrs. Nabil T. Tawile. Hosts and hostesses will be Mrs. John Drummy, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Ambrosini and Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Santens.

In addition to enjoying the lakeside view from the Lie terrace and mingling with veteran and recent Alliance members, the reception guests will have an opportunity to greet the group's current officers and directors. They include, in addition to Mado Lie, Mrs. Farris R. Sfire, vice-president, Mrs. Axsom, treasurer, Mrs. Drummy, secretary, Dr. R.F. Ingall, Mrs. Eric Marcus, Mr. Rooks, Mrs. Michel Skaff, David Thoms, Mrs. Anthony A. Vermeulen and Warren S. Wilkinson.

Standing committee chairmen who plan to attend are Mrs. Joseph J. Marshall and Mr. and Mrs. Roger VanBever. Grosse Pointers (the very name of our area is French!) interested in learning more about the Alliance, a non-profit, non-political organization dedicated to increasing contacts and understanding between the United States and France, are invited to call 881-7985 for membership information.

Focus on Women's Issues

Two prominent guest experts on women's issues will participate in the double kickoff for the Grosse Pointe Branch of the American Association of University Women's new season. Both a morning and an evening program are planned for Thursday, Sept. 20, in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church's Fellowship Hall.

At 9:30 a.m., State Representative Mary Brown, of Kalamazoo, will speak on issues before the state legislature concerning women and insurance, education and day care. At the 7:30 p.m. session, Betty Davis, a member of the Michigan Women's Commission, will discuss the same topics.

In addition, Peggy Ptasznik, the Pointe AAUW's new president, promises an overview at each meeting of the

Cabaret Concert to benefit John Lake Scholarship

MRS. ROBERT G. HARTWICK (center), honorary chairman, and committee members MRS. JOSEPH J. MARSHALL (left), MRS. JOHN McNAMARA and MRS. STERLING S. SANFORD (second from right and far right, respectively) talk over details of the Cabaret Concert to benefit the John Lake Scholarship Fund with this year's scholarship recipient, DAVID WALDECK, a 1984 Grosse Pointe North High School graduate. The cabaret is scheduled for Wednesday evening, Sept. 26, at 8 p.m. in the Crystal Ballroom of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Tickets are $10 per person ($25 patrons, $50 or more benefactor), with complementary refreshments included. Reservations are required in advance, by Thursday, Sept. 20; they may be made by calling 881-9566. Guest artists will be pianist Bernard Katz and singer Johanna Gilbert. They plan a program of light music, including compositions by Gershwin, Victor Herbert, Cole Porter, Rogers and Hammerstein, Franz Lehar, Sigmund Romberg and Lerner and Loewe. Katz began his professional career in nightclubs at the age of 17. He has played piano-harpsichord with the Detroit Symphony, performed free Baroque improvisation and chamber music, given solo recitals, worked in dance bands and as a recital accompanist. He is also a composer, arranger, teacher, musical and dramatic director, and recently organized the "Eight Pianos Are Better Than One" extravaganza at Orchestra Hall. Johanna Gilbert, while still a student at Wayne University, performed with Valter Poole and members of the Detroit Symphony. She has appeared for the Grosse Ile Musicale, at South Macomb Community College with Ruth Burczyk and, for Colony Town Club, at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House with Josephine Brummel. She has soloed with the Grosse Pointe Symphony and, this spring, with the

Pewabic set for busy fall

Tom Phardel and I.B. Rensen will both be back for Pewabic Pottery's fall term of ceramics classes, beginning Sept. 17. Also scheduled is a special series of lectures on glazing, the business of being a potter and other salient topics.

Classes for young people and introductory classes for adults will be offered one evening a week and Saturdays. Registration forms and additional information may be obtained by calling the pottery (822-0954), located on East Jefferson Avenue, across from Detroit's Water Works Park.

Pewabic's 1984-85 workshop series opens Sept. 22 with Tim Greenland's program on salt-glazing. National Endowment for the Arts-funded workshops will be conducted by John Roloff (Kiln and Clay in the Open, Sept. 24 to 30), David Shner (Feb. 1 to 6) and Thom Bohnert (Mar. 10).

Lucy Lewis and Daughters, from the Acoma Pueblo, will lead an Oct. 19 and 20 workshop. William Daley will conduct a workshop in May.

Pewabic's gallery exhibitions open Sept. 21 with Salt-Fired Clay by Robert Diebboll, Robert Winokur and Greenland, and work by Carrie Anne Parks in the Sculpture Garden, and continue through June, when the pottery's annual Student Show and Sale is presented.

The annual Christmas Show and Sale is scheduled for Nov. 17 to Jan. 1, the Michigan Potters Association annual Spring Sale for Mar. 30 to Apr. 30. The pottery, owned and operated by the private, non-profit Pewabic Society, receives funding from the Michigan Council for the Arts, the National Endowment for the Arts and other generous benefactors.

A nice night for Northwood

Northwood Institute of Midland's first annual student scholarship cruise aboard the "Star of Detroit" was a rousing success, as evidenced by the smiles on the faces of ADDISON and MARION BARTUSH (left) and SHARON and JIM SNYDER (right), of The Pointe, flanking J.P. McCARTHY, popular WJR radio personality, who rang the bell which summoned bidders to a mini-auction aboard Detroit's newest cruise ship an hour-and-a-half after its 6:30 p.m. departure from Hart Plaza. J.P. must have done a good job of bell ringing, for scholarships for prospective Northwood students are $6,000 greater thanks to his efforts. A capacity crowd of 300 filled the "Star" for the mid-August dinner cruise chaired by Mr. and Mrs. Bud Shelton, of Bloomfield Hills, and when the ship docked again at Hart Plaza at 9:30 p.m., all 300 were of one mind: "This has been a most memorable and pleasant experience. Let's do it again!" Northwood, which operates campuses, programs and extensions in Texas, Florida, Louisiana, California, Maine and Europe as well as in Michigan, is a private national college of business devoted to promulgating free enterprise and the entrepreneurial concept of business in America. It receives no state or federal funds. The cruise is one of many entrepreneurial ways Northwood raises monies for student scholarships. Jim Snyder is a Northwood alumnus. Marion Bartush is a Northwood Institute National Women's Board "Distinguished Woman."

Miss Snyder speaks vows

Anne McEntire Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Howard T. Snyder, of Hillcrest Road, and Jackson Paul Hershbell, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Hershbell, of Allentown, Pa., exchanged marriage vows Saturday, September 1, in Christ Church, Grosse Pointe.

The Reverend Margo Maris came from Minnesota to preside with The Reverend Edward A.M. Cobden Jr. at the 4 o'clock ceremony. A reception followed at the Country Club of Detroit, after which the newlyweds left to vacation at Northeast Harbor, Me.

They will make their home in Minneapolis, Minn., where the bride, who holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Wellesley College and a Master of Business Administration degree from the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton Graduate School, is consulting director of Core Group Marketing Inc.

The bridegroom, professor of Classics at the University of Minnesota, holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Lafayette College, a Master of Arts degree from the University of Pennsylvania, a Doctor of Philosophy degree from Harvard University and a Bachelor of Sacred Theology degree from General Theological Seminary.

The former Miss Snyder's wedding gown of ivory taffeta was long-sleeved, styled with a Victorian neckline and a bodice of Schiffl and Alencon lace accented with seed pearls. Her skirt flowed into a chapel length, scalloped train, edged with lace.

Her illusion veil fell from her great-great-grandmother's cap of antique Rosepoint lace. Eucharis lilies, stephanotis and ivy formed her bouquet.

Katherine S. Parker, of Minneapolis, served as her sister's honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Sharon S. Snyder, of The Farms, their sister-in-law, Kristin E. Hershbell, of St. Paul, Minn., the bridegroom's daughter, and former Farms resident Catherine W. Stephenson, who now resides in Chicago.

They wore floor length dresses of jade green moire taffeta and matching, fitted jackets, ruffled at neckline and peplum, and carried arrangements of pink astroemeria, stephanotis and baby's-breath.

Mrs. Jackson P. Hershbell

Best man was Nader Daeshori, of St. Charles, Ill. Ushering were John S. Snyder, brother of the bride, Stephen B. Parker, the bride's brother-in-law, and Kenneth G. Hershbell, of St. Paul, the bridegroom's son.

Mrs. Snyder selected a street length, long-sleeved dress of periwinkle blue chiffon for her daughter's wedding.

A Gallery of Fashions

Several of Michigan's most well-known and glamorous women, including, from our area, Diane Schoenith and Lucille Wertz, are going to give the shirts off their backs to help a friend.

The "friend" is the Detroit Historical Museum's Fashion Gallery. The "shirts" are designer gowns from the women's personal closets, donated to the museum's fashion collection which currently has more than 50,000 garments reflecting the History of Detroit from its founding in 1701 to the present day (Bill Blass' contemporary "watermelon suit," e.g.).

"To date, we have been unable to display more than a few items at a time, because we simply do not have the proper display capabilities," explains Lynda Cain, curator of the costume collection. "Our goal is the establishment of a gallery which will include both permanent and revolving elements."

* * *

Establishment of a Fashion Gallery at the Detroit Historical Museum is the goal, too, of the Fashion Group of Detroit and the Detroit Historical Society, joining forces to help make that dream come true via sponsorship of a gala evening and benefit fashion show Saturday, Sept. 15, at the Hyatt Regency Dearborn.

Highlight of the 7 p.m. to 1 a.m. extravaganza will be a parade of designer outfits donated by the likes of Diane and Lucille. The garments will be modeled by lookalikes of the contributors.

Honorary chairpersons for the event are Governor James J. Blanchard, who has designated September "Fashion Month" in Michigan, and his wife Paula, and Lieutenant Governor Martha W. and Mr. Hicks Griffiths. Tickets for the evening, at $50 per person, may be obtained by contacting Fairlane Town Center, 593-3330, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

* * *

The Fashion Group of Detroit, a chapter of the Fashion Group International comprised of 6,000 women executives in the fashion industry, is committed to fostering interest in the design, manufacture and retailing of fashions in Michigan.

Last year, the Fashion Group of Detroit established a fashion resources center, with a range of reference materials, at the Historical Museum. The proposed Fashion Gallery, which will feature a video presentation, will further enhance the museum as a source of fashion information, not only for the casual observer but also for those involved in or learning about the fashion industry.

The Detroit Historical Society is a citizen's group interested in promoting appreciation of Detroit's regional history through support of programs focusing on education and preservation. It is a major source of private contributions to the Historical Museum.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence M. Counen

Wed in May in California

Alencon lace and pearls accented the bodice and long sleeves of the traditional white wedding gown selected by Elizabeth Thelma De Souza for her spring marriage to Lawrence Michael Counen.

The dress was drop-waisted, styled with a high neckline and sheer English netting across the shoulders, and featured a full skirt with a cathedral train trimmed with appliques of Alencon and Brussels lace.

A pearl and lace headpiece held the bride's cathedral length veil. She carried a cascade of gardenias, stephanotis, baby's-breath and ivy.

The former Miss De Souza is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jose L. De Souza, of Bonita, Calif. Mr. Counen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael N. Counen, of Lochmoor Boulevard.

The Reverend Charles Sundry presided at the 5 o'clock ceremony Saturday, May 12, in Saint Mark's Lutheran Church, Chula Vista, Calif. A reception followed at the San Diego Country Club.

The bride was attended by honor maid Barbara Tighe, of San Francisco, in a satin-belted dress of dusty rose chiffon, styled with a sweetheart neckline and short, bishop sleeves.

Bridesmaids, dressed identically, were Margaret Counen, of Richmond, Va., and Pamela Gillespie, of Marietta, Ga., the bridegroom's sisters, Aurora Ruiz, of Mexico City, the bride's cousin, and Cecilia Martinez, of San Diego. They carried cascades of pink flowers, with trailing ivy.

Raymond Decraene came from Grosse Pointe to act as the bridegroom's best man. Ushers were Jose De Souza Jr., of Malibu, Calif., the bride's brother, Frederic Gillespie, of Marietta, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, William Becker, of San Francisco, and Richard Quinones, of Chicago. Small pearls accented the bodice of the pleated beige chiffon dress Mrs. De Souza selected for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother wore a long-sleeved dress of lavender chiffon, softly pleated at the front. White cymbidium orchids formed each mother's corsage.

The newlyweds are at home in Irvine, Calif.

Harry and Ruth Knapp, of Cloverly Road, recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at a dinner hosted by their sons, Robert, William and Richard.

Mr. and Mrs. James N. Clor

June wedding date revealed

At home on Bringard in Detroit are Mr. and Mrs. James Nelson Clor, who vacationed in Williamsburg, Va., following their wedding Friday, June 29, in Saint Joan of Arc Church. The 5:30 o'clock ceremony was followed by a reception at the Gourmet House.

The bride, the former Mary Therese VandenBussche, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert VandenBussche, of Holiday Road, wore a traditional, white gown, styled with a high-necked bodice and sleeves of Venise lace matching the lace that edged her cathedral train. Satin buttons closed the dress in back from neckline to waist. Matching buttons accented the cuffs of the sleeves.

Her veil fell from a lace headpiece, and she carried an arrangement of white silk gardenias, roses and stephanotis.

Honor attendant Jill Haezebrouck, bridesmaids Christine Licari, Kathy King, Theresa Smyth, of Corpus Christi, Tex., and Susan Gossiaux and junior bridesmaid Kristen Egdel, of Kent, Ohio, the bridegroom's niece, carried semi-cascades of multicolored silk flowers.

Each wore a V-necked, floor length dress of taffeta in a different color of the rainbow, its spaghetti-strapped bodice covered with a ruffle-necked jacket of matching taffeta, and a small, matching hat.

Mr. Clor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Clor, of Wilmington, Del., asked Edmund Pierce, of Wilmington, to act as his best man. Robert Axtell, Daniel Englehart, Joseph Smyth, of Corpus Christi, and Vincent Wolk, of South Bound Brook, N.J., seated the guests. Ring bearer was the bridegroom's nephew, Daniel Gradishar, of Forest Hill, Md.

The mother of the bride pinned a corsage of white Sweetheart roses to her floor length, ruffle-collared dress of rose silk. The bridegroom's mother selected a floor length, high-necked dress of pale blue chiffon, and a corsage of miniature orchids.

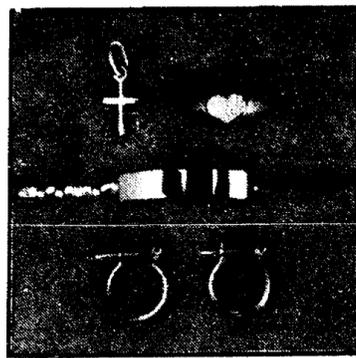

The bride holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Mercy College. She is presently employed as a Registered Dietitian at St. Clair Renal Center in Detroit. The bridegroom holds a Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Detroit. He is a computer analyst with Advanced Systems, Inc., in Troy.

Fall features new Dance Slimnastics

Pointe area residents have the opportunity to shape up for fall in an eight-week series of aerobic dance classes sponsored by Dance Slimnastics, Ltd., scheduled to begin the week of Sept. 10.

Classes will meet in The Pointe at Christ the King Lutheran Church, located on Mack Avenue in The Woods, on Mondays and Wednesdays at 9:30 a.m. (sitter service available), on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 6:45 p.m. and on Mondays and Thursdays at 4 p.m. (sitter service available), as well as at Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, also located on Mack Avenue, on Mondays and Wednesdays at 6:45 p.m.

Classes will meet at First Lutheran Church, located on Cadieux Road in Detroit, on Tuesdays and Fridays at 9:30 a.m. (sitter service available). A new Dance Slimnastics feature this fall is an Aerobics for Men class, also meeting at First Lutheran, on Wednesdays at 6:45 p.m.

Aerobics for Men offers an enjoyable, well-rounded exercise program designed to involve the entire body in building strength, flexibility, coordination and endurance via easy-to-do movements.

An Easyfit class will meet on Mondays and Wednesdays at 7 p.m. at the JFK Library on Harper in Harper Woods. Dance Slimnastics' fall session, called "Struttin'," is designed to give fitness-minded individuals the chance to work out aerobically as many times per week as desired.

Under the club's unique Free Class Option, extra workouts are available at no extra cost. The class fee covers the cost of two one-hour sessions per week, plus as many extra sessions as a participant desires. Also offered this fall is a free cassette tape for extra workouts at home.

Students need no previous dance or athletic experience. The dance routines, set to a variety of upbeat, popular and classical music, are easy to learn. During "Struttin" classes, students will lose inches, tone muscles and improve their heart-and-lungs systems as they limber to reggae and rock, warm up to "Enough is Enough," gyrate to a popular television theme song, classical, 50s and some novelty tunes and cool down to Lionel Richie's "Hello."

Further information on Dance Slimnastics' fall programs may be obtained by calling 886-7534 or 882-6634.

Smith Club hosts picnic

The board of the Smith College Club of Detroit hosted a picnic on the last Wednesday of August, at the Touraine Road home of Ann-Elisa and Dwight Black, where local students attending/planning to attend Smith, Amherst, Mount Holyoke and the University of Massachusetts gathered with their parents and Smith alumnae in the garden to trade back-to-school stories and enjoy an outdoor grill and fresh green salads. For many of the young people, it was a first meeting with others who will be attending their own colleges, and students from neighboring campuses.

THE WORLD'S NUMBER ONE CRIPPLING BIRTH DEFECT.

HOW COME NO ONE'S HEARD OF IT?

Simple. No one's talked about it. Because until recently, very little was known about Spina Bifida. Doctors didn't know what caused it. Nor what cured it. But now, we do know how to treat it.

There's no pretty way to describe Spina Bifida. It's a birth defect of the central nervous system that can result in paralysis of the legs, no control of the bowel and bladder, and accumulation of water on the brain, which, if left untreated, can cause retardation.

Yet even in its most severe form, Spina Bifida can be treated effectively. The catch is, proper treatment should begin immediately after birth.

So if you're expecting a child, or if a child you love has Spina Bifida, please contact us. We can help.

Pointer of Interest

by Janet Mueller

"We play all over the area, on a donation basis. We play to make people happy. Any money we receive goes to the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, to the Music Makers Fund. We take no pay, and we do no 'commercial' work. We play for the people of our community."

And how they play! They average about 35 concerts per year, performing for the American Legion at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House, for the antique car show at the War Memorial, for church groups, nursing home audiences, private parties . . .

They'll be playing this Saturday, Sept. 8, at the Grosse Pointe Artists Association's Fall Art Festival, running from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., rain or shine, on the War Memorial's grounds, featuring work by 148 outstanding artists and craftsmen from Michigan and surrounding states — and, for the third year in a row, the equally outstanding Music Makers.

Frank Seydler, of North Oxford Road, is the Music Makers' founder/director/chairman. "In retirement," he explains, "you tend to go back to try to exercise past talents. I think that's a good thing; it helps you step into a new phase of life."

So when, a few years back, he found himself talking about instrumentation with a Grosse Pointe Senior Men's Club friend, and that talk led to other talks that led to five or six guys getting together to play at Ken Locke's house (Ken had an organ, Frank's instrument is the piano), the Music Makers were born, more than half a century after Frank started his first band, the Collegians.

HE WAS AN UNDERGRADUATE at the University of Missouri then, product of the American Mother's Ethic that decreed children should know a little bit about everything and set young Frank to practicing the piano while all the other boys were out practicing baseball. Don't feel sorry for him: he managed his share of baseball practice too. And the piano lessons took.

Frank would return to Missouri from Chicago, his hometown, with armfuls of Feist Music Company arrangements for his Collegians. "In those days, they gave out arrangements free. It was considered good advertising." Those were the days! . . . now the Music Makers must buy the Las Vegas arrangements they have begun to practice.

But engineering, not music, was to be Frank Seydler's career. He started out as a mining engineer, working for American Smelting and Refining in Mexico. He crossed the border at Laredo, noticing, as he boarded the train that would take him far South of the Border, that that train included two freight cars full of soldiers. The year was 1927. Pancho Villa had been ambushed and killed less than five years earlier. The soldiers on Frank's train were there to discourage/repel all the leftover bandits.

He stayed in Mexico until that country expelled all foreign companies, then came back to Chicago, to Western Electric, where he had worked as a draftsman during high school and where he now worked, among other things, on the first dial telephones.

He took time off for postgraduate

studies at the University of Illinois, returned from his leave of absence to find that Western Electric's Engineering Department had been wiped out and eventually joined Union Carbide, which took him from Dallas to Cleveland to Chicago to New York, where he worked on the first synthetic oils in the United States, and in 1940 to Detroit.

FRANK AND BETTY SEYDLER have been here ever since, in their house on North Oxford Road since 1948. "I think Grosse Pointe is the finest place in the world to live," Frank says, but he's not tied to it. He and Betty, also originally from Chicago, have traveled a lot, including a three-month trip around the world which Betty, during her convalescence from open-heart surgery, has documented and put on tape. She's scheduled to present it before several groups, including the Senior Men's Club, this fall.

"We went through all of Central America. That's one of her outstanding sequences," Frank says. Proudly: actually, he thinks ALL her sequences are outstanding.

The Seydlers have two daughters. Nancy, a former school teacher, married to a dentist, is the mother of Dave Johnson, who has his degree in Electrical Engineering from the University of Michigan and a grant of $8,000 to study for his Ph.D., of Lisa, who has her Masters degree and has just been hired by the University of Michigan, and of Steve, a student at Michigan Tech. "Now there are two engineers in the family besides myself," Frank says.

Daughter Betty-Lee Sweatt is a Registered Architect who teaches at Lawrence Tech and is studying for her Doctorate at the University of Michigan. Her children, Theron and Tameron Francis, are both studying architecture; one has just graduated from the University of Michigan.

Frank has just finished a two-year term on the board of the Senior Men's Club, which is celebrating its 25th anniversary this month. He bowls with the Senior Men, golfs with them and leads the Music Makers' under the Senior Men's banner. "We're one of 19 Senior Men's sub-clubs," he says of the Music Makers, "but we're different in that, although we carry their banner, we function through the War Memorial."

"WE SIGN A CONTRACT with the war memorial. We have some outstanding musicians, but we take in everybody who wants to play, regardless of ability. I think a primary purpose of any instrument is therapeutic: there's no better place to work out frustration than at a keyboard, on a horn . . ."

And the rewards are great. Not just applause signifying a good performance (although no Music Maker would knock THAT), but the sight of a line-up of wheelchairs at a nursing home, their occupants joining hands to vibrate in a row with the music. Return engagements — if they didn't like us, they wouldn't invite us back — and playing for old friends.

"We practice every Wednesday. We try to shut down during the summer, but we're not really able to. We also play for Golden Wedding anniversaries, for Senior Men only. I belong to the Men's Garden Club; we'll be playing for them in the fall."

In addition to Chairman/Director Seydler, the Music Makers officers are Monte Edelen, saxophone, secretary and Senior Men's Club News liaison; Merle Compton, drums, treasurer; Ben Grycan, trumpet, practice co-director; and Gus Pallas, piano, co-director. Frank gives Gus, who also played with Banjos East, credit for many excellent Music Makers arrangements.

Gene Beno is the group's librarian. Al Beste is in charge of public relations. The other members of the ensemble are Ben Ball, Phil D'Agostino, Sid Ariemma, John Christopher, Tim Healy, Verne Morris, Alex McLuckie, Al Malooly, Frank Olds, Mel Stander, Stanley Scottford, Bob Shaffer, Jim Stelma and Don Van De Bunte.

Their instruments range from flute to banjo. Their ages range from the early 60s through the 80s. "I'm the second oldest," says Frank, "and I'll be 80 on my next birthday."

THEY PLAY FOR FUN, for themselves and for their community, and they play happy music, for they play to make people happy. They muster, from their group of 20 Music Makers, an average of 14 players per performance. If someone's away, on a three-month trip around the world, say, he's not drummed out of the corps as a no-show.

You can hear them and see them on Saturday, at the admission-free Grosse Pointe Fall Art Festival. Follow your ears, as you walk down the War Memorial driveway, past exhibits of wood carvings and metal works, pottery, jewelry, pastels, watercolors, oils and acrylics, until you come to the garden.

The gentlemen you'll find there, making music, are the Music Makers.

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featuring, this week, more ways to CAPITALIZE ON CORN.

"MAQUE CHOUX"

This delicious stewed corn and tomatoes dish is a great favorite of New Orleans natives and visitors.

- 12 ears fresh corn
- 2 Tbsp. unsalted margarine
- 1 medium onion, minced
- 3/4 cup canned whole tomatoes
- 1/2 cup medium green pepper, minced
- 1/4 cup chopped celery
- 1/3 tsp. sugar
- Salt and pepper to taste

With a very sharp knife, shave the kernels from the cob, cutting kernels about half their depth. Use the back of the knife to scrape cob for the remaining pulp and milk from the corn.

In a heavy skillet, saute the corn in the melted margarine until golden brown. Add remaining ingredients and cook about 20 minutes. Stir often; add a little milk if mixture becomes too dry. Makes 10 servings.

Calories per serving about 170. Cholesterol 0.

CORN PUDDING AU GRATIN

- 2 1/2 cups fresh corn
- 2 Tbsp. flour
- 2 tsp. sugar
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/8 tsp. white pepper
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup skim milk
- 3 Tbsp. unsalted margarine
- 1 cup diced cheese
- 1/2 cup fresh bread crumbs

Using very fresh corn, scrape kernels from cob to obtain all the milk. Add flour, sugar, salt and pepper to the corn. Beat eggs and add. Heat milk and 2 Tbsp. of the margarine: when hot remove from stove and stir in cheese. Pour into corn mixture and thoroughly blend. Pour into well-oiled baking dish. Toss bread crumbs with remaining Tbsp. margarine and sprinkle over the corn mixture. Bake in preheated 350° oven until firm, about 45 minutes to 1 hour. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Calories for each of 8 servings about 179. Cholesterol about 5 mgs.

MEXICALLI CORN

- 2 Tbsp. unsalted margarine
- 1/3 cup onion, finely chopped
- 4 ears fresh corn, cut from cob
- 3 cups peeled, diced tomatoes
- 2 cups summer squash, sliced
- 1/8 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- Finely minced parsley for garnish

Melt margarine in skillet. Add remaining ingredients; cover and cook about 12 minutes, or until squash is tender. Remove cover and simmer for an additional 15 minutes. Garnish with parsley. Makes 6 servings.

Calories per serving about 140. Cholesterol 0.

BARBECUED CORN

- 8 ears tender corn
- 1/2 cup soft unsalted margarine
- 1/8 tsp. Tabasco sauce
- Grated Cheddar cheese (optional)

Remove husks and silk from corn. Place each ear on piece of heavy duty foil. Blend margarine and Tabasco sauce; spread each ear with 1 Tbsp. of the mixture. Wrap in foil; if fire is very hot or corn is to be placed directly on the fire wrap each ear in an additional layer of foil. Roast 20 to 25 minutes, turning two or three times. Unwrap. Sprinkle with cheese, if desired. Makes 8 servings.

Calories per serving about 77, without cheese. Cholesterol — trace, with cheese.

South goal: third EML championship

By Peggy O'Connor

He lost 30 seniors — including 19 starters — from his 1983 squad, but South High coach Russ Hepner approaches the 1984 season the same way he did last year . . . and the year before that.

"We're going into this season exactly the same as we've done every year since I've been here. We want to have a winning season and we want to win that Eastern Michigan League title," the veteran coach said.

Hepner's approach and two pretty good football teams have resulted in two straight EML championships for the Blue Devils. Along the way, South has also managed to rack up 18 consecutive regular season victories and earn two state playoff spots in a row. With a heavy graduation loss, things might not go as smoothly this season . . . but then, Hepner maintains that it's never been easy.

"All the football programs are getting stronger. It's always going to be a struggle," he said.

Despite the high player turnover, Hepner said he is encouraged by the size of South's program this season. "As far as a rebuilding year, number-wise, we've got one of our biggest teams. We've got 59 kids on the varsity, so we've still got a nice group of kids to work

Football previews

Are Norsemen 84's giantkillers?

By Peggy O'Connor

It would be hard for Grosse Pointe North to have another football season like the one it did in 1983. The Norsemen finished with a 7-2 record, challenged for a state playoff spot by playing as an independent, won one game by forfeit and were 23 points away from beating crosstown rival South and becoming embroiled in litigation with the state athletic commission in an effort to get that playoff berth.

But it won't be for lack of effort if the Norsemen fail to duplicate the excitement they generated last season. Take this year's opening game.

North will open the 1984 high school football season in the Pontiac Silverdome, one of four teams playing in what has become an annual prep football opening day program at the Dome. The Norsemen will face perennially No. 1-ranked Birmingham Brother Rice at 8 p.m. this Saturday, Sept. 8.

"We're back in the Bi-County League so there won't be any play-offs for North this year. That's why we're going for all the marbles against Brother Rice," North coach Frank Sumbera said.

"I think it's going to be a great game, a great experience for our team as well as the school and even the Grosse Pointe community. The whole team is really excited about playing Brother Rice in the Silverdome. And Rice should be every bit as good — even better — than last year." Class A Brother Rice was 12-0 in 1983.

The tough opening contest is just the first test in what Sumbera terms "one of the toughest non-league schedules in Class A."

North will also play Waterford Kettering (6-3 in 1983) and finishes the season by playing host to South High, spoiler of last year's North playoff aspirations and holders of a two-year 18-0 regular season mark.

"We've got Russ Hepner and the boys coming in on Nov. 3. They've gotten us the last two years and I think it's about time we started to even things up," laughed Sumbera.

Sumbera said he thinks North's strength will lie in its balanced running game. Last season, the Norsemen were known as a fullback team, thanks to the efforts of Fred Schultz, who led the squad on the ground until a knee injury ended his year prematurely. This year, Sumbera hopes to make the most of a balanced fullback/tailback attack.

George Kasza, a 6-1, 210-pound senior who replaced Schultz in the lineup last year, will start at the fullback spot this year and play linebacker on defense. At the tailback position is 6-1, 185-pound senior Will Secor. "Secor is back for his fourth year. He looks impressive and he's really been hustling. I think he'll be our mainstay on offense," Sumbera said.

Two-year letter-winner Joe Weidenbach will lead the offense at quarterback. With the 6-1, 180-pound senior in the backfield, Sumbera said he will have a good combination of speed and a quarterback with a strong arm. Weidenbach will also line up at defensive safety.

Up front, the Norsemen will rely on returners Ken Werenski (6-1, 215) at offensive guard and defensive tackle, Chris Piche (6-0, 175) at guard, Bryan Ulatowski (5-11, 175) at defensive tackle.

South seeks third straight championship

Terry Ayrault, who saw considerable playing time while backing up John Williamson in 1983, will start as quarterback this year. Senior Rick Waugaman will move to fullback from the halfback spot. Seniors Brian Kerman, Mike Keane, Mike Donath and Greg Sendoykas will man the offensive line for South.

A familiar name is scheduled to start at the split end position, only this season it's sophomore Dave Arnold who will fill the role his brother Jim had for three seasons at South. Hepner thinks he has the potential to be another three-year starter in a position which has traditionally been a strong one for South.

"We had John DeBoer in 1979 and 1980 and Jim Arnold in 1981, 82 and 83. We obviously look for an outstanding athlete. DeBoer and Arnold played football, basketball and baseball. Dave is that type of athlete."

"Also, we only use one wide-receiver so we feel we can get the best out of the person who plays the position."

Graduation took its greatest toll on the Blue Devil defense, which allowed just 25 points in nine regular season games last year. Only Jerry Holley, a 5-11, 244-pound senior returns out of 11 starters. Filling in on defense this season will be Tim Keller, a 6-3, 220-pounder who moves over from offense, junior Jeff Van Tassel, a 5-11, 225-pounder who was the only sophomore on the '83 squad, and Rich Lochbiler.

"From there back, our three linebackers and four perimeter people are all new. We had Arnold and Brian Rathsburg at those positions last season," Hepner explained.

Senior Jim Rauh will line up at middle linebacker, with junior Andy Bedworth and senior Steve Goodrich at the outside linebacker spots.

Hepner said he feels that South's kicking game will be strong, although not quite as experienced as last season. Steve Kinsley and George Ghazal are fighting it out for the placekicking spot, with either Waugaman or Jeff Cunningham doing the punting for the Devils.

We're very excited about the season. The big thing is getting our team ready to hold off L'Anse Creuse North and Port Huron for the league championship. Last season was the first time we'd won back-to-back championships and our first goal is to win that league title again.

"We also want to give Grosse Pointe South the best football program we can... and I think we're doing that."

Hepner foresees L'Anse Creuse North, Port Huron and East Detroit as South's toughest league competition and points to Utica Eisenhower and Crosstown-rival North High as the most difficult non-league encounters. "Port Huron and L'Anse Creuse North have some starters back and they look like they've got good size and speed. And both Eisenhower and North are looking strong this year," he added.

"Right there you've got five teams that are capable of playing us very tough. People laugh when I say we'd like to be 5-4. You can flip a coin on some of these games, they'll be that close."

"But we're excited about our entire program — the freshman team has 40 out and the JV looks strong. We've still got a very good football program."

The Blue Devils open the season at home, hosting Eisenhower at 1 p.m. this Saturday, Sept. 8.

16. Where will the Detroit Tigers finish in 1984?

ANSWERS

1. Aurelio Rodriguez, in addition to being a fine third baseman in his own right, had every vowel (except sometimes y) in his name. And if you skip a letter or two, he had them all in order. I think that calls for a spot in the Dickie Thon Memorial Weird Baseball Name Hall of Fame.
2. Pointer Darryl Evans, who was on base when Hank Aaron hit his 715th career home run, which broke Babe Ruth's record.
3. Because it was one more homer than the Babe hit.
4. The Chicago Cubs. Sure, I know, they lead their division and everybody thinks they'll make the playoffs. Hey, these are the Cubs we're talking about, the National League laughing stock champs! Don't go to your nearest drugstore looking for a Cubs bar. Just ask for a Snickers, which is all anybody in baseball does when a person mentions the Cubs.
5. Because Pink Devils would be stupid. (Not really, the Blue Devils take their name and logo from Duke University).
6. Lee May. May was born in May and his uniform shirt just happened to be No. 17. Figure out the rest for yourselves.
7. Greg "The Bull" Luzinski. His shirt says "SOX" on the front of it and if you take the "S" off, that spells "OX" and anyone who has ever seen Luzinski would have to agree that in his case a bull is an ox.
8. No, a starring role in a Domino's Pizza commercial isn't the correct answer. Fact is, Kaline finished his career with a .297 batting average, just a couple dozen points above Yaz' meager .266 mark. And, Kaline has a seat in the Hall of Fame.
9. Two, hockey's Islanders and baseball's Mets. All the other teams either play in New Jersey or they aren't professional enough to be in my trivia test.
10. North and South have played 15 games, scoring 432 points — 219 for South and 213 for North.
11. Three days. The USFL championship was decided on Sunday, July 15 and most NFL training camps opened on Wednesday, July 18.
12. That depends upon whether you count this one as one question or two. Do you? Whoops, that's three.
13. 1956. I wasn't even born then. Neither was about three-quarters of the current Red Wing team.
14. 19,275.
15. It's supposed to be 1,000 — but the walls do begin to bulge a bit when North and South get together for a varsity hockey game, don't they? (That's another question, but who's counting?)
16. Where will the Tigers finish in 1984? The schedule says New York but if you want to know first or second place, ask Jean Dixon.

200) in at center and tackle, junior Brian Bergeron (6-3, 225) at tackle. Bergeron has also been working out on placekicks.

Craig Como, a 5-11, 165-pound junior and Dennis D'Agnesse, a 6-1, 175-pound senior, will take on the punting chores. Adding a little height to the passing game will be junior tight end Craig Engel, at 6-4, 200 pounds. Senior Sean Smith (5-10, 155) is penciled in at wide receiver and Greg Guest, a junior, will play at linebacker. Offensive guard Paul Grammatico returns to the lineup, as does strong side cornerback Dan Kopitzke.

Sumbera's 19 returning players will join the rest of the squad in resuming play in the Bi-County League after last year's role as an independent. It was a move the third-year coach does not regret.

"I'd do it all over again. The goal should be to qualify for the playoffs and we can't do that in the Bi-County league. We tried it last year, if we'd have beaten South...

"This year it's all different. Our season-opener means so much. It's the only time we'll have a chance to be in the Silverdome this year. It's our state championship," Sumbera said.

When the Norsemen come back to earth after the contest against Brother Rice, they'll contend with league opponents who, on paper at least, may pose little problem in North's attempt to regain the league title it won in 1982.

"Well, L'Anse Creuse won the Bi-County last year, but they've been hurt by graduation. Brablec has a new coach. Lakeview and Lake Shore are always big rivals, but we beat Lakeview big last year. Lakeview is also the team that took care of Schultz last year, so maybe that will be an incentive to play them tough again this year."

Sumbera said the talk around the league is that the title will come down to North and Clintondale. "Clintondale was 7-2 last year and they also had the best JV team in the league. That's our last league game and our homecoming, and that might just be the biggest league game," he said.

North has its holes, namely a suspect kicking game and a lack of bench strength which could take its toll if injuries become a problem again this year. But Sumbera noted that the kicking game looked a little sharper in the intra-squad scrimmage and that the mood of the team is one of excitement.

"We're looking forward to a great year. We want to play 'the best,' the best we can. And we'd like to bring the league championship back too. We're hoping to make our presence felt... right from the outset."

Diet key to fitness

Developing good nutritional habits is just as important as exercise for someone beginning a physical fitness program, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan, which developed the "Fitness Five" program featured in the Aug. 30 issue of the News.

"You can do all the exercise in the world, but if you ignore common-sense eating habits by filling up on junk food and not getting enough of the basic food groups, you will not become physically fit," stated Jim Swick, director of the Auto Club Life Insurance Company.

Zwick said that moderation and balance are important to any good diet. The body needs protein for growth and repair processes, carbohydrates and fats for energy, as well as vitamins and minerals to regulate chemical processes.

"That may sound complicated, but it really isn't if you remember the four basic food groups — milk, fruits and vegetables, breads and cereals, and meats," he added. "If you eat three moderate meals daily from each of these groups, and avoid excessive between-meal snacks, you should have a balanced diet."

The milk group — cheese, yogurt and ice cream — is high in protein as well as calcium, which is essential to a healthy bone structure. Since those items are high in fat content, they should be used in their low-fat forms.

Vegetables and fruits contain large amounts of vitamins A and C, as well as iron, which is important for the body's blood supply. Breads and cereals also provide essential vitamins and minerals. The highest source of protein is from the meat group and such foods as dried beans and peas, nuts and peanut butter.

Individuals with special conditions or health problems often require special diets, and they should consult a physician about proper diets. "A very important part of diet is to develop good eating habits," Zwick said. "Often, how we eat determines how much we eat."

To improve eating habits, the Auto Club advises the following:

- Eat slowly, to give your stomach time to catch up with your appetite. If you eat too fast, you will tend to get a bloated feeling 15 minutes after you've eaten.
- If you are very hungry at a meal, take one or more glasses of water before you begin eating to help reduce your appetite.
- Don't eat while reading or watching television. It is too easy to lose track of how much you are ingesting.
- Don't go grocery shopping when you are hungry. You will tend to buy anything that appeals to you and often end up with a pantry full of empty calories.
- If you must eat between meals, make it a nutritious snack, such as fruits or raw vegetables instead of junk food.

Zwick added that moderation is particularly important to alcohol intake.

Michigan's salmon fishing year should be the best ever

When Michigan's 1984 salmon season ends, it is expected to be the most productive ever with a record 370,000 anglers trying their luck for the silvery fish, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

The Department of Natural Resources expects sales of trout and salmon stamps to be 1 percent above the record number sold in 1982.

Great Lakes salmon fishing should peak from now through mid-September. Streams should have heaviest pressure between mid-September and mid-October. By the end of November, anglers will find few salmon along Great Lakes shores and in streams. Some two million coho and chinook, the same number as last year, should return for spawning runs across Michigan. Forty-two "hot spots" are listed on the Auto Club's 1984 Salmon Guide.

Best west Michigan results are expected on Lake Michigan at Charlevoix and at the mouths of the Betsie, Grand, Manistee, Muskegon, Pentwater, Pere Marquette, Platte and St. Joseph rivers, according to a survey of DNR offices.

Best runs in East Michigan should occur on Lake Huron at Port Hope and in southwest Michigan on the Huron River south of Flat Rock.

Major Upper Peninsula runs are expected from Lake Superior into the Black, Big Iron and Dead rivers and from Lake Michigan and into the Manistique River.

Fishermen will find limited action in some areas where wiers block salmon runs. Those streams include: the Jordan and the Little Manistee rivers in west Michigan and the U.P.'s Ana River. Portions of the lower Platte River in west Michigan and east Michigan's Au Sable river also are blocked.

Anglers will find few salmon in the Detroit River, where the DNR has ended plantings.

When anglers began searching for salmon 16 years ago, they fished primarily along streams and piers in fall. Presently, about 70 percent of all chinook and 90 percent of all coho are taken by trollers from ice-break through September.

The popularity of trolling has evolved as fishermen learned that salmon take lures more readily in lakes than streams. Another discovery is that the firm, fresh meat of lake-caught salmon tastes better than that of those fish in streams for spawning.

A few weeks before beginning spawning runs, the fish eat ravenously and grow about two pounds per week. At maturity, chinook reach up to 35 pounds while coho usually grow to no more than 15 pounds.

Most salmon trollers will use lures which have been popular for years: Northport Nailers, Huron Herrings, J-Plugs, Canadian Plugs, Squids, Sparkle Flies, dodgers, Flutter Chucks and Zippers. Stream fishermen use a variety of Mepps Spinners, Little Cleos, Salmon flies and spawn.

The DNR will permit liberalized salmon fishing from Sept. 10 through Oct. 25 on five Michigan rivers this year and in 1985. They are the Au Sable River in east Michigan and west Michigan's Big Manistee, Pere Marquette, Muskegon and Sable rivers.

Anglers on those streams' designated areas are allowed to keep fowl-hooked or snagged Pacific salmon. The DNR's 1984 Michigan Fishing Guide lists the liberalized areas for each stream. A free directory is available from Michigan Travel Bureau, Dept. of Commerce, Lansing, 48909.

Gowanie golf champs crowned

The Gowanie Golf Club Ladies Three Day Medal Championships were held July 31 through Aug. 2. Champions in six flights were decided during the event, which was chaired by Eloise Redinger, who was assisted by Dottie Smith. Helen Walters carded scores of 85, 87, 86 for a total of 258 to take the championship flight and edge out runner-up Karen Fernstrum, who totaled 280 on scores of 94, 89, and 97.

In the first flight, Nancy Krebs was the winner with a 291 total (103, 95, 93); runner-up Doreen Skantzke had a 291 (103, 90, 98). Second flight champion was Mary Soulliere with a 314 (103, 107, 104) who topped Donna Davis' 315 (113, 104, 98). In the third flight, Jeanne Zink carded a 320 for the win (104, 108, 108); runner-up was Janet Schimmel with her 332 (111, 111, 110).

Fourth flight winner was Bev Hanna, with a 325 (109, 114, 102). Linda Hamilton had a 339 (119, 108, 112) for the runner-up spot. Field winners include Bev Hanna, low net at 205, Helen Walters and Mary Biermann in a 210 tie for second low net, and Helen Walters again in low putts with 89 (31, 28, 30).

Gowanie's match play tournament was also completed in August, with Bev Kjos winning the finals and Angie Grow taking the runner-up spot. Mary Soulliere won the consolation flight; Ginny Bauer was consolation flight runner-up.
