Tote that barge . . .

A few weeks ago I wrote that I'm not a trendy kind of guy. I'm also not a handy kind of guy. I don't like to fix things. Heck, I have a tough time buttering my toast in the morning, so I'm sure not going to volunteer for household fix-ups.

So when Rose asked me, "What are your plans for the weekend?" I knew I was in big trouble. But I have several tried and true methods for ducking chores.

When she hints the screen door needs repairs, I first pull my Dr. Leonard McCoy/Star Trek excuse. "My God, Rose, I'm a columnist not a carpenter!"

This doesn't work anymore. Then I use the "divine revelation" ploy. "Rose, see this metal spike in my hand? It's called a nail. And this thing at the end of my thumb? It's also called a nail. To you, this is merely a coincidence, but to me it's a direct warning from God above. He's saying 'Tom, why do you think I gave them both the same name? Think, man, think! Put down the hammer and go watch TV.'"

But after 14 years of marriage, she's not buying this either. So I thought I'd earn a few points and put in a "honey-do" weekend. You know, "Honey-do this, honey-do that."

The first thing Rose did was hand me one of those do-it-yourself manuals. You know the kind. "Install Formaldehyde Insulation Yourself and Save!" Inside, there's always some clown in a denim shirt smiling as he finishes the sauna/jacuzzi/out-house he installed over the weekend.

I approach these manuals the way Rose approaches the shower scene from "Psycho." I just don't want to look at it. Because at the top of every page, there are the three words I dread most: PREPARE THE SURFACE.

Three little words that mean weeks of frustrated rage. I have my own three words. Prepare thy checkbook. I'd much rather hire some guy named Biff in white overalls with a zillion pockets on it to do the job right the first time. If it's not right, then Rose can yell at someone else for a change.

Anyhow, back to the weekend. The first chore was to clean the sand box and store it in the rafters of the garage. It's one of those big green turtle jobbies, with a shell lid to keep the cats from doing in the sandbox what your kids do in the sandbox.

I dumped it, rinsed it and brought it to the garage. The front of the garage. As I raised it to the rafters, Rose let me have it. "Not the front rafters, use the ones in back." "Why?" "Because it's safer back here." "Why?"

"Well, once my cousin Dottie put her turtle sandbox in the front rafters and a meteor swished overhead and the vibrations caused it to drop from the rafters to the ground where it rolled end-over-end down the driveway and over the neighbor's dog. This way it'll only hit your car and not the Baker's dog."

Then she flashed me a 500-watt smile that said, "See, doesn't that make sense to you?" Say goodnight, Gracie.

I then visualized the sandbox rolling down the driveway like "Gamma. The Japanese Monster Turtle," and up and over Max, our neighbor's asthmatic miniature poodle. Which is really not a bad idea.

Gypsy moths stay away from area this year

By Mike Andrzejczyk

The Pointes and Wayne County are the only bright spots in a bleak year of gypsy moth trap results, according to the state Department of Agriculture. The number of moths trapped locally dropped dramatically this year compared to last, the only area in southeast Michigan to record a decrease.

Traps, set at 64 a square mile, yielded 17 moths. Last year, 63 were caught in the area at a lower density, according to department regional supervisor Carl Dollhopf. This year's catch was scattered across 10 traps, while last year's came from 16, he added.

The orange triangular-shaped traps were nailed to trees in late June and collected in mid-August. The traps are baited with a pheromone that attracts the male moth into the sticky interior.

A spot check of the traps during the summer turned up fewer moths than expected. Officials speculated at the time the severe winter or a late hatch may have cut the population of emerging moths.

Although the severe winter may have killed some of the eggs, spraying done by residents for other pests, like elm bark beetles, is more likely responsible for the decline, Dollhopf said.

"We should have come up with large numbers of moths in certain traps . . . in the density at which they were set," Dollhopf said. "I don't know who to thank for it, but . . ."

Eggs are laid by the adult female moth in August. Because she is unable to fly, the moth lays the eggs near where she emerged from a pupa a couple weeks before. The egg masses, resembling bits of tan foam rubber containing 75 to 800 eggs, are laid in sheltered areas to improve their chances to survive the winter.

The decreased population buys the state a few years in the area, Dollhopf said. A scaled-down walk-through search will be conducted and the state will return next year to trap at a lower density than in the past years, he added.

The state has been trapping moths in the area since 1981. In 1982, 48 moths were found and last year, 63.

Although the state will continue to monitor the area, the department can't afford to trap the Pointes next year as densely as this year, Dollhopf said.

Countywide, 37 moths were found in 23 traps, he said.

The Pointes showed the only decreased moth population in southeastern Michigan, according to Dollhopf. Three-fold increases in trapped moths occurred in Oakland County and problem areas exist from Fort Huron to Monroe County, he said, adding the state is losing its fight against the gypsy moth.

In Oakland County, 2,300 moths were trapped this year, compared to more than 700 last year. In Bloomfield, 445 moths were trapped, with 130 found in a single trap, Dollhopf said. Last year, 179 moths were trapped in Bloomfield.

The Upper Peninsula's Munising and the Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore also recorded a dramatic increase in the moth population, Dollhopf said. More than 400 moths were trapped in an area that yielded seven moths last year, he said. The result of transportation of larvae or egg masses into the area from other infested areas.

Evidence of the state's losing fight was what Dollhopf called the "first truly heavy infestation in the state" in the Midland/Mount Pleasant area. Deciduous and evergreen trees were stripped bare by gypsy moth larvae so thick that residents kept pets indoors at night to keep the larvae from being brought inside on the animals' coats, Dollhopf said.

The department may ask municipalities in affected areas to take more responsibility for control of the insect, Dollhopf said. An expansion of summer spraying programs for Dutch elm disease-carrying elm bark beetles or other pests could also help control the gypsy moth larvae.

This year, 5,000 acres of forest were defoliated by the moth larvae, a tenfold increase over last year's 500 acres, Dollhopf said. The state is drawing up a maintenance program to try to combat the moth, but must prioritize its spraying efforts because of its budget constraints, he said.

The state can afford to double-spray 1,000 acres, Dollhopf said. Federal matching funds just about double that, he added.

First priority will go to protecting "prime food sources," in lumbering areas. Second priority will be recreational area forests and third will be urban forests, Dollhopf said.

The young larvae need to feed on certain types of tree foliage to develop so they can feed on other types of trees, Dollhopf said. Primary food sources are the leaves of oak, beech, birch, cherry, apple linden and willow.

The only destructive stage of the gypsy moth cycle is the larva, or caterpillar. It feeds on the leaves of hardwood, forest, shade, fruit and many ornamental trees. This is a close-up of the damage a single insect does to one branchful of leaves. Multiplied by the billions, the damage amounts to the defoliation of hundreds of thousands of acres a year.

Proposal C will hurt schools, says board

By Mike Andrzejczyk

If voters approve Proposal C in November, the cutbacks it will cause will hurt the quality of education in the district, according to the Grosse Pointe Board of Education.

Faced with the loss of $6 million by 1986 if the amendment passes, the board unanimously approved a resolution opposing the amendment Monday night and asked voters "to advise themselves properly on this issue before executing their franchise."

The resolution was prepared after the board agreed to discuss the matter at the Monday night, Oct. 1, organizational meeting after hearing a report from its legislative counsel.

District business manager Christian Fenton said passage of Proposal C will cost the district $4.9 million in lost millage increases, $1.1 million in forfeited "truth in taxation" restorations, and $250,000 in categorical aid for special education by the end of 1986 when the full rollback would take effect.

If the district were unable to convince voters to restore the rollback within 90 days, the district would lose $1.2 million by the end of this year, he added.

Besides the direct loss, the district would lose another $3.1 million in taxing authority, possibly get a lowered bond rating from Standard & Poor and have to spend $10,000 for an election to seek approval of millages already approved by voters, according to the resolution.

Proposal C, dubbed Voters Choice during the petition drive that put it on the November ballot, would roll all state taxes back to 1981 levels, cap non-resident city income taxes at 5 percent and require voter approval or an 80 percent approval by the state legislature for all new increases.

Proponents of the amendment say the state income tax would be rolled back to 4.6 percent, and elected officials would be forced to justify any new tax increase to voters before it could be passed. This in turn would make the state live within its budget, cut waste from the government and require institution of good management techniques.

Opponents of the amendment to the state constitution say the rollback would injure not only state but municipal and school districts which would lose millions of dollars. The resulting damage to state services and education would slow the state's economic recovery, lower its bond rating and make the state a less desirable place to locate for business.

Interim Superintendent Dr. Joseph Spagnoli said an administrative meeting was to be held yes-

Students rate the great debate

By Pat Paholsky

Walter Mondale projected a better image while Ronald Reagan used sounder reasoning. That was the consensus of three members of a high school debating team following the debate Sunday night on national TV.

"In debate, you're judged on two things — whether you win the round and how you speak," said David Chilingirian, a sophomore and second-year debate team member at University Liggett. "Mondale got it for speaking quality and Reagan for the points he got across. I don't see either one being better. You need both. It was more of a 1-1 tie."

Junior Robert Niccolini, who is beginning his third year as a member of the debate team, also felt that the president's logic was sound while candidate Mondale asked rhetorical questions.

"I know from extemporaneous speaking, when I don't have anything to say, I use that," Niccolini said.

"Mondale was at his utter peak," he added, "and Reagan was at an utter low. I think it's very sad because Reagan is a dynamic speaker."

Norman Issa, a senior who is in his fourth year as a member of the team, said Mondale "definitely won on image. Reagan unfortunately fell under par because his age showed through."

Issa added, however, that "Reagan came out on top with most of the arguments."

The students expressed disappointment with some of the questions and answers.

"They just were not covering the issues," Niccolini said. "The issues they wanted to cover, they covered superbly," adding that Mondale kept coming back to Social Security and Reagan to the economic recovery.

Chilingirian said he thought the question regarding religion in politics was not relevant, however, he felt the abortion issue needed to be raised. Too many questions were not answered, Chilingirian said, noting that there was not enough time within the structure of a televised debate.

Candidates for WCCC seat give views

By Harriet Nolan

In the final race for the 1st District seat on the Wayne County Community College Board of Trustees are Anthony Ambrogio, of Detroit, and Grosse Pointe Woods resident Dennis Mongoven. Both candidates were interviewed recently by the Grosse Pointe News.

Describing his work history as being principally employed as a part-time instructor in Wayne State University's Adult Education Program for the past 10 years while also being a freelance writer, Ambrogio says he decided to run for trustee after hearing a radio announcement telling listeners there was still time to file for the post.

"I thought 'why don't I do this,'" says Ambrogio. "I see other people holding office and often wonder what qualifications they have. I can do it as well as anyone, so let me give it a try."

As a trustee, he says his obligation would be to function as part of a legislative body to promote education and raise the public's perception of the trouble-riddled school where too many ego and personality clashes have drained its viability.

Getting fiscal problems under control and curtailing over-spending are primary issues, according to Ambrogio. "Talk of cutting classes and raising tuition are counter-productive, and if enrollment is allowed to decline the school runs the risk of closing.

"Perhaps raising tuition is inevitable, but if you don't offer classes, people will go elsewhere and we need some creative ideas to attract students," he adds.

Ambrogio is in favor of a full-time teaching staff and feels it would attract quality teachers who would be readily available to students.

"We should have the qualifications well publicized for staff, administrators and faculty so nobody can say they don't know what is expected of them," he says.

"It's essential to have high standards, so a degree from WCCC means something and so students who continue at a four year university don't have to do a lot of remedial work when they get there," he adds.

He suggests that while Oakland and Macomb community colleges may be working with a different set of economically based students, their successes should be carefully examined and applied to WCCC.

$30 to make U-turn

Drivers traveling westbound on Mack and then turning left at Kirby Road are discovering to their consternation that a recently installed sign prohibiting U-turns on Mack is being strictly enforced, according to one resident who called the newspaper office Oct. 2.

"I got pulled over at noon and I was one of five cars," he said.

If possible, Ambrogio says that a whole new board elected next month would avoid "carrying any of the stigma attached to the previous administration. While the former trustees may know the ropes, there could be a tendency to try to sway others to their way of thinking and a new board could easily give the appearance of working together for the good of the school.

"This one has been used for political purposes and that has added to the problem. But perhaps you can't keep politics out of it," he adds.

Ending Wayne County Community College's deficiencies and then setting both short and long term timetables to tackle the problems top the list of projects the new board should concern itself with, according to candidate Dennis Mongoven, a 63 year old Woods at torney.

"At $30 a crack, that's a pretty expensive hamburger for anyone who is planning to go to Hardee's."

He said police told him the sign had been there for about six months to discourage people backtracking to the fast food restaurant on Mack next to Kroger's.

He says that many of the problems have been ignored and left for the new board who will "get to do the dirty work of house-cleaning. But we have to push for trade-offs. While the place is still loaded with unqualified people, a lot of good ones are crying for leadership."

His priorities include selecting a new president, ridding the school of

The second teen social of the school year will be held Sunday, Oct. 14, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the War Memorial.

Admission to the event, which is open to all Grosse Pointe students in grades 6 through 8, is $3. Tickets will be on sale until 5 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 13, or until 500 are sold.

All socials are chaperoned and students are not permitted to leave the War Memorial before the event is over unless a parent or guardian comes into the Fries Ballroom to pick them up.

Martha Griffiths to speak to women in science group

Lt. Gov. Martha Griffiths will be the keynote speaker at the first meeting of the newly formed Detroit Chapter of The Association for Women in Science (AWIS) that will be held Wednesday, Oct. 17, at Henry Ford Hospital.

In her address, "Increasing the Role of Women in Science," she will discuss current legislation affecting women in science and methods women can use to accelerate their roles in scientific disciplines.

AWIS is a 12-year-old national organization with goals of increasing the number of women in science and engineering and combating discrimination women face in pur-

German immigrants may be due pension

The German Societies of the Detroit Metropolitan area will sponsor a lecture on "German Social Security Benefits and Requirements." Martin Kerner, pension counselor from Mainz, Germany, will be the featured speaker.

Persons who have worked in Germany for at least 18 months and who have paid into the German social security system may be entitled to a pension from the Federal Republic of Germany. Kerner's talk will cover all aspects of the suings scientific and engineering careers. Current studies show that only 14 percent of working scientists with doctorate degrees and only 6 percent of engineers are women.

AWIS promotes pre-college math and science education for young women and recognition and promotion of women scientists in academia, industry and government; encourages college women to pursue careers in science and engineering; and lobbies for women in science programs at the federal and state level.

The meeting will begin at 5:30 p.m. at Henry Ford Hospital in room 2055 of the Benson Ford Education and Research Center.

Q. Can you help my wife with her migraine headaches?
A. Headaches can vary in intensity and location. There can be many causes of headaches including eye strain, digestive trouble, elimination problems, kidney and heart trouble, meningitis and low blood sugar.

One of the more common causes of headaches is misalignment and improper function of the spinal vertebrae (bones), resulting in nerve cord pressure. Unfortunately many people have overlooked the benefits of chiropractic treatment. The Doctor of Chiropractic will correct the nerve pressure that exists and relieve the chronic headaches thus eliminating the underlying cause of the problem.

Brought to you as a community service by Dr. David Jantz. If you have any further questions call or write the clinic, Grosse Pte. Wds. Chiropractic Clinic 20217 Mack GPW, phone 881-7677. All insurances accepted.

South plans homecoming

"Together again" is the theme for this year's homecoming events at South High scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 13.

The day will begin with a pancake breakfast from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. at the school. The parade down Kercheval Avenue will begin at 11:30 a.m. with the football game scheduled to start at 1 p.m. The opponent this year is L'Anse Creuse North.

The dance, from 9 p.m. until 12:30 a.m., will be held at the high school and all students and alumni are welcome to attend. Ticket information is available at the school.

Service set

A memorial service for Dr. James Hoeh, Grosse Pointe schools' deputy superintendent who died two weeks ago in Westland, will be held Sunday, Oct. 14, at 6 p.m. in the auditorium of Grosse Pointe South High School, 11 Grosse Pointe Blvd. The public is invited to attend.

Art deco tour

Art historian Michael Farrell will lead an afternoon tour of structures built in Detroit during the Golden Age of the 1920s on Saturday, Oct. 20.

The tour will be preceded by a lecture at the War Memorial on Monday, Oct. 15, at 8 p.m. Participants have the option to attend the lecture ($8), the tour ($28), or to take in both ($35). The tour, which involves some walking, includes an early supper at Niki's in Greektown.

"Art deco is in our midst and Detroit has some of the finest examples of it in its commercial, financial and entertainment structures," Professor Farrell says.

At the lecture Farrell will discuss art deco, as personified in the Fisher and Guardian buildings and will explain in detail what will be seen on the tour the following Saturday.

Participants are asked to purchase their tickets in advance of the lecture so proper accommodations may be made. Additional information may be obtained by calling 881-7511.

Park offers tips on car theft

The Grosse Pointe Park Police Department will hold its monthly community relations meeting on Thursday, Oct. 11, at 7:30 p.m. in the municipal building.

A representative from the Detroit Police Department's Auto Theft Squad will discuss anti-car theft procedures followed by a question-and-answer session.

Seniors to meet

The Grosse Pointe Woods Senior group will meet at North High Thursday, Oct. 18, at 3:30 p.m.

The Bianco Travel Agency will host a party and discuss plans for a Florida trip in January. The two-week bus trip to Miami will include a three-day cruise to the Bahamas.

All Woods seniors are welcome to join.

Miss Grosse Pointe

North High School was the site recently when 17-year-old Woods resident Elizabeth Puleo won the 1984 Grosse Pointe Pageant. The Bishop Gallagher honors student topped a field of 11 contestants and received more than $2,000 in prizes and scholarship funds, as well as being offered a Detroit Symphony Orchestra Renaissance World of Shops modeling contract. Runners-up are, from left, Pam Cuis, fourth; Kimberly Kurrie, second; Valerie Gianakis, first; and Ann Vick, third. Nancy Monahan, not pictured, won the Miss Congeniality award. Applications for next year's pageant can be obtained by calling Darlene Doetsch at 882-5250.

Shores hires new accountant

There will be a new face officially tomorrow morning in the accountant's chair in the Shores.

Patricia Misilinski, 38, will become the village accountant that day, replacing Ellen West in those duties.

Mrs. Misilinski is married and the mother of one son, according to village officials. She is experienced in private and municipal accounting and will "adequately and satisfactorily perform" the duties in the Shores, according to village President Gerald Schroeder.

Mrs. Misilinski has been working with Ms. West in the offices for the past couple of weeks.

Ms. West, who is also the village assessor, will take a position with the National Association of Finance Officers, according to village officials.

The Shores will fill the assessor vacancy by possibly contracting with a certified assessor, village officials said.

Mothers of Twins will conduct sale

The Eastern Bi-County Mothers of Twins Club will conduct its fall clothing and equipment sale Saturday, Oct. 13, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at St. Peter's School on Anita in Harper Woods, just east of Eastland Center off Vernier Road.

Infants' and children's clothing, furnishings and equipment, toys and maternity wear will be featured.

The sponsoring organization was founded in August 1981 to serve the needs of area multiple-birth mothers. The club encourages friendship and mutual support and provides an opportunity for the exchange of ideas and experiences in raising twins.

It offers assistance in resolving the special problems that may arise because of the unique relationship between twins and between twins and their siblings.

It recognizes that caring for twins, while having a special appeal, can be a source of stress and anxiety for parents, because of the extra demands presented by two babies born at the same time, each requiring a full measure of love, attention and nurturing.

The club features a clothing and equipment exchange at its monthly meetings. Speakers, programs and outings are scheduled throughout the year. For more information, contact Jan Monforton at 881-8333 or Jessica Daher at 881-0803.

The better-qualified nominee

The new board of trustees to be elected for Wayne County Community College on Nov. 6 will face many challenges. Chief among them will be to restore the confidence of the public and prospective students. The college has been torn by controversies between the president and the board, by charges that board members have been more concerned about their own ambitions than the interests of the college and by evidence that faculty members were not qualified for their teaching positions. Concerned about what was happening, the state Legislature finally stepped into the picture.

The Legislature ordered the state superintendent of public instruction to monitor the college's operations and reorganize the board of trustees. It expanded the board from seven to nine members, reduced the terms from six to four years and required all nine positions to be filled this year. That really was the start of the reform of the college operations. Now a second step will come Nov. 6 when the public will elect a new board. With only three incumbents nominated, it is clear that the board to be elected can be independent of its past record if it chooses to be. That puts a heavy responsibility on those seeking election.

In the 1st District that includes the Grosse Pointes, the nominees are Dennis Mongoven of Grosse Pointe Woods and Anthony Ambrogio of Detroit. The Grosse Pointe News interviewed both candidates for news stories and for editorial comment. In considering its editorial position, the News kept in mind the importance of providing new and well-qualified leadership for the board and the troubled college.

Ambrogio filed for the job, he told the News, because he had heard a radio broadcast reporting that the filing period was still open. He said his experience as a graduate student and part-time teacher at Wayne State and his public relations background make him as well qualified as anyone else to serve on the board. And he believes that experience and background should enable him to assist the college in its efforts to improve its program and its image with the public.

Ambrogio says the trustees ought to serve as a legislative body overseeing the educational functions of the college. He thinks the present board members too often have taken self-serving actions and have worked at cross purposes with the college administration. He believes WCCC could benefit from looking at the operation of other Detroit area community colleges that seem to be doing a good job. He recommends that the board seek creative ways to attract more students to the college to offset its recent registration losses and he favors setting standards for hiring and tenure that would be applied fairly and equally to the faculty, staff and administration. Overall, he believes the board should try to make sure the college is offering the best quality education available.

The other nominee, Mongoven, would bring to the board administrative experience in both private enterprise and college education as well as his more recent experience as a lawyer specializing in estate financial planning. He spent 10 years at the Fruehauf Corp. as an administrator for its corporate purchasing staff and 12 at Wayne State University as director of purchases for educational administration. At Wayne, he dealt with a $125 million budget and at Fruehauf with a purchasing division that handled $250 million a year. Mongoven feels this experience would be helpful to the board in supervising the college's $30 million-a-year budget.

Mongoven originally was one member of a committee seeking qualified and experienced people to run for the WCCC board and became a candidate when some of his fellow committee members recommended him. He says one of the board's major tasks is to elect a new president to run the college subject to guidance and review by the board. He thinks the current board often abused good business practices, community relations and other matters. It should correct these deficiencies, prepare plans to improve such areas and then publicize the results when they occur, he believes.

In his opinion, however, the board's top responsibility will be to adopt a reasonable budget to meet the loss in revenue being sustained by a 28 percent decline in student enrollment this fall. He sees the need for quality education and a quality faculty to attract more qualified students. That approach will require, in his opinion, an evaluation of current programs so that quality programs can be retained and those that amount to "fun and games" can be eliminated. He believes it is highly desirable to elect a complete new board, but feels he could work with current board members who may win re-election if they can divorce themselves from the past.

On the basis of our interviews with the candidates and our review of their backgrounds, the Grosse Pointe News believes that Mongoven's long experience as a professional administrator in both private business and higher education highly qualifies him for the board. He is obviously concerned about restoring good business practices and improving the quality of education in an institution that too often in the past has disappointed the public in both areas. He could, if he got the proper support, help stabilize the college's operations, improve its performance in its business practices and in the classroom, and make it a better institution for the young people of Wayne County.

So the Grosse Pointe News, as a community newspaper serving many residents of the 1st District, supports the election of Dennis Mongoven to the board of trustees of Wayne County Community College.

Enforce current laws re: drunken driving

To the Editor:

I am writing in reply to Holly Quinlan's letter which appeared in the Grosse Pointe News on Oct. 4. I agree that we must seek solutions to the problem of drunk drivers. Ms. Quinlan's letter, however, was somewhat inaccurate.

SafeRide need more exposure to those who could benefit from them. We must also call for stricter enforcement of our current laws concerning drunk driving and put an end to first and second offense plea bargaining. Only through continued and increasing concern for the problem will we find the solutions we seek.

Meter maids are overzealous

To the Editor:

The Grosse Pointe Woods parking enforcement officers, or meter maids, are overzealously enforcing the parking regulations compared to the other cities of Grosse Pointe. The Woods has two or more cars for meter maids to drive around and give citizens tickets.

They're hurting the businesses along Mack Avenue. For example, Anton's discontinued their luncheon business after customers complained about getting tickets on a one-hour meter after eating there.

It is an inconvenience to the Grosse Pointe citizens and the owners of the businesses. Citizens who shop or get their hair done or other services have to worry about the parking meters. I've never seen or heard of any other city to have its own cars to give tickets out. The Woods officials should try to solve other crimes, like they do to give people tickets.

Security lies in strength

To The Editor:

In reference to the letter in the Oct. 4 edition of the Grosse Pointe News under the heading, Re-read the Bill of Rights:

Apparently the author of that letter has not read any of the books that I referred to in my letter published in the Sept. 27 edition, or any other similar books, because her mind is already made up and she does not want to be confused by the facts. She spoke about the Bill of Rights and wants to use those rights to help insure an early takeover of the United States by the Soviets.

Her paragraph — "We need more people involved in peace and freedom, the reduction in arms ..." are typical Soviet words meaning for us to drop all defense so that we will be an easy prey.

The only true extremists in the USA are the pro-Soviets and their friends the terrorists.

Very few people go to the USSR voluntarily to live while many try to escape from the USSR.

The other letter in the Oct. 4 issue (signed by John Conley) which included my name, is its own indictment and does not need a comment.

I speak and write in defense of America and those who criticize my letter speak only for the Soviets.

Security lies in strength, not in weakness.

Hospital says thanks

To the Editor:

Thanks to the cooperation of many people in our community, the grand opening of the Bon Secours Hospital Health and Fitness Center in St. Clair Shores on Sept. 14 and 15 was a great success.

In total, more than 1,000 residents have visited our new Center since the grand opening. This has resulted in an overwhelming response to our memberships and classes which started Sept. 24.

The success of our opening was due largely to the support and participation of the St. Clair Shores City Council, police department, park and recreation department, city manager and fire department; the Macomb County High School band, Lakeview High School Huskies, and South Lake High School. City of Grosse Pointe and Grosse Pointe Woods city officials.

We extend our most sincere thanks for helping us introduce the new Bon Secours Hospital Health and Fitness Center to our community.

The threats to free speech

In the heat of a political campaign, both sides often are guilty of excesses. They exaggerate the accomplishments of their candidates or party. They minimize the achievements of the opposition. They make promises they cannot possibly fulfill. Many of these excessive claims are understood by the voters as simply "campaign oratory," and are not given too much importance.

There is one aspect of political opposition, however, that is not an acceptable part of any campaign. That is the effort by organizations representing both the right and the left in the political spectrum to disrupt the opposition's political meetings and speeches.

Thus we have the spectacle of U.S. officials being booed and hooted off the stage at several colleges and universities, presumably by liberal students who disagree with the GOP administration's conservative policies on specific issues. At the other extreme, demonstrators representing ultraconservative groups have infiltrated Democratic meetings to harass speakers and attempt to disrupt the proceedings.

In both cases, what we have is an interference with the right of free speech and the right to free assembly. It is one thing to protest and demonstrate peacefully against policies one disagrees with. It is quite another to attempt to try to disrupt and break up meetings held by political parties or groups one disagrees with. That act of disruption is an interference with free speech and freedom of assembly, rights guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution.

Demonstrators and protesters who get carried away in the heat of the moment can be forgiven, perhaps, for carrying their opposition to excess. But those who are coached and directed in advance to infiltrate meetings and given specific advice on methods of disruption are guilty of attempting to curtail free speech. An example is offered by the publicity circulated by the Pro-

Life Action League of Chicago and mailed to this newspaper by two Detroit metropolitan area residents who enclosed it with a letter attacking Geraldine Ferraro, the Democratic nominee for vice president.

In a letter addressed to "activist pro-lifer," Joseph M. Scheidler, executive director of the Pro-Life Action League, reports that his organization and the National Right to Life convention had agreed "to demonstrate against the pro-abortion Democratic candidates for the top offices wherever they appeared." He enclosed a directive to help with this program and concluded: "We are alerting our religious leaders in Chicago that we will not only picket all Ferraro-Fritz appearances, but that use of church facilities will bring infiltration and disruption of any talks given by either of this pair."

The directive included specific plans for making signs to be carried by the pickets, how and when to chant the message of opposition and ways to "conceal" signs in brief cases or handbags when entering meetings held inside halls, auditoriums, churches and conference rooms. The purpose is clearly stated: "If many pro-lifers infiltrate appearances by these pro-abortion candidates and display these signs all at once, while shouting 'abortion' whenever they refer to life-related issues, the effect on the speakers as well as the public and media can be great."

Such tactics, whether used by the left or the right, go beyond the bounds of fair political opposition. They are obviously attempts to disrupt meetings and speeches by speakers who are regarded on the other side of the issue. But all of us have the obligation to permit free speech to those with whom we disagree. The quotation widely attributed to Voltaire (a paraphrase of what he really wrote) is appropriate to remember: "I disapprove of what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it."

Further, first-offense drunk drivers are not felons. Neither are those who commit a second offense. The crime becomes a felony only at the time of conviction on a third offense for operating under the influence of intoxicating liquor or operating with a blood alcohol level exceeding .10. Many first, and even second, offenders are allowed to plead guilty to a lesser charge of operating while impaired. In essence, some drunk drivers wouldn't become felons until their fourth, fifth or sixth offense — or possibly never!

While I agree that "there is no excuse for driving drunk," as long as booze and automobiles are available, there is going to be drinking and driving. On the other hand, it is fortunate that our society is finally showing some concern for the problem. Projects like

Teachers: Grading methods

To the Editor:

I feel that maybe teachers should examine their grading methods. All teachers are not using the same methods. There should be a universal method of grading. Students these days are receiving grades that are too high.

In today's schools, the average is in the area of a B, instead of the so-called average of a C. Colleges are now looking at a B as a middle class.

Most teachers give out more As these days and some do not give out any. I would say the average Grosse Pointe student is receiving As. This contradicts the teachers who are not so permissive.

Other teachers have devised a system called a curve, starting at the highest score on a test as an A+ and dividing the percents from there. This produces a lot of high grades.

Can it be that Grosse Pointe students are smarter? How do they compare to other students.

Schools everywhere are consolidating

To the Editor:
Three letters in your recent issues attacked my belief that more schools should be closed in Grosse Pointe since taxes have almost tripled in the past dozen or so years, while the school enrollment in our five cities has nose-dived 47 percent in the same period.

Barb Saari says that I and similar-thinking persons "choose to ignore the increased numbers of new little Grosse Pointe citizens."

Well, that's right to the point. The number of "little Grosse Pointe citizens" in our schools has been declining since the early 1970s and there's really no evidence that this national, state and metropolitan Detroit trend is going to be reversed.

If this were the case, why are school systems all over this Metropolitan area, this state and this country methodically consolidating their school systems and closing schools when they're not needed?

She castigates me and others for not continuing to support the school board. This board deserved to be supported when they finally began trying to consolidate and to strive for an efficient, practical school system.

The public responded to this effort with an almost 2 to 1 victory for board members in the recall election. But there's a strong feeling now in the community that the board must continue with its original plan to close at least three more schools. Many people feel that this board should get on with the job it previously said was necessary. Instead, it has strangely backed away from its responsibilities.

She also sets up a plaintive cry about "respecting and embracing all age groups." Well, the taxpayers of this community — a much larger group than the parents and teachers — are now paying over $35 million and almost $5,000 a year to educate each K through 12th grade student. I think that shows a lot of respect, plus a great deal of extravagance.

Ms. Saari, like many other proponents of the status quo in this school system, has several comments about the senior citizens in this community. This is slightly insulting to a great many people who've spent their lives in this community and who are now paying huge taxes to educate the children in a very expensive way.

Suzanne Boivin writes about (a) the hardship of teaching in Grosse Pointe in the past, (b) about the behavior problems that came with "wall-to-wall children," (c) about the status of her bank account and other matters.

All that can be said about that (a) most of us have had difficulties in the past, (b) many of us have been in crowded classrooms without being scarred and (c) what about the bank account of thousands of Grosse Pointe taxpayers who are pouring millions of dollars each year into the Grosse Pointe School System which is far less efficient than it should be. And is that any reason to persist with a school system with 6,200 vacant seats?

The bottom line is, and it's surprising that more young people don't realize it, that a new ethic has taken hold in this country since the oil crisis of a decade ago. It is, "We Americans have great resources, but we've got to stop wasting them."

Cindy McDougall Pangborn claims that the Grosse Pointe schools only have a capacity of 9,500 students. This just isn't so. The Statistical Annual Report of the Grosse Pointe School System shows a capacity of 13,975 students in the 15-school set-up and 13,475 for 14 schools. I wonder where her information comes from.

She urges me to further examine the G.P. School System. I think that's a fine idea, and I intend to do it.

But this still won't alter the basic fact that school systems are consolidating all over the country with even smaller enrollment reductions than we've had. It's time for the Grosse Pointe system to become more efficient.

Open Meetings Act

To the Editor:

I have stayed out of the school controversy since we were so handily defeated in the election by the well-meaning folks who thought we were opposed to closing any schools and favored higher taxes to support open schools at all cost. I bit my tongue and did not respond to the frothing diatribe weekly published by Mr. Callahan. Even when the school census confirmed what we had said all along, that the numbers problem is not at the elementary level, I kept my peace.

But, as a lawyer, I am offended that our self-righteous school board has determined that it might at all costs violate the Open Meetings Act. I don't necessarily agree with the premise that the Act is a good piece of legislation or its premise that decisions are better made if taken out of the back room, but it is the law of this state. Violators of this statute subject themselves to $500 fines for each person attending meetings in violation of the law. Decisions made at these illegal meetings are subject to being voided and costs and attorneys fees can be assessed against those individuals.

The statute essentially provides that all decisions of a public body must be made at a public meeting. A meeting is defined as one at which a quorum is present. Closed meetings are permitted for only a few specified exceptions. These include the review of applications for appointment to a public office when the individual in question has specifically requested confidentiality. However, the statute requires that all "interviews" be made in public session. Isn't it interesting that our school board has required all applicants to sign a request for confidentiality before considering the application. Isn't it also interesting that they have elected to have "committees" videotape interviews which are then viewed by the board in closed session, in an attempt to skirt the Open Meetings Act. I wonder how many noted the irony of Mrs. Kennel's convoluted explanation on Monday night that state law somehow required closed sessions.

There are two questions that puzzle me: What are they trying to hide; and why do they not realize that the suit which will inevitably follow will set the whole superintendent selection process on its ear. It just doesn't seem worth it to me.

From the cradle to the grave, security is fundamental to peace of mind, and ultimately to a happy life.

The infant cries to be held and cuddled. The older child vies for parental attention and engages in all sort of aberrant behavior if it is not given. Adults enter into marriage contracts seeking a lifelong commitment of love and companionship. Successful labor negotiations ride on the pivotal wheel of job security and an adequate pension. Laws and the politicians who make them are scrutinized on how well the benefits of Social Security are maintained and upgraded. So it is, in all aspects of life, the need to know that what we have and hold will forever be ours.

In our younger years and during all of our working years, we can actively work to maintain supports of both personal and economic security. But as we enter our later years, we often find many of them slipping beyond our grasp. Those closest to us are gone. Physically we are not as able as we once were. We are retired and the work which not only filled our days but also provided us with the means to live as we liked is gone.

The fortunate ones will have returns on investments and company pensions to add to their Social Security. They will have sufficient income to carry on with a familiar lifestyle. This is important. There is nothing more wrenching to an older person than to have to give up the last vestige of personal security — a way of life, a home that is now too expensive to maintain and move to unfamiliar surroundings or in with relatives.

Maintaining the status quo is essential to contentment. Recently 300 people were transferred from a Detroit nursing home and home for the aged by order of the Department of Public Health. Despite the deplorable conditions which existed there, the residents were indignant. This was home to them and they did not want to leave it. This incident illustrates the importance of the need for stability in the lives of older persons.

Many people are never faced with the frustration of unwanted change. But there are those without adequate resources who are.

The only dependable support they have is Social Security. While Social Security will require some curtailments in their lives, with careful management it can supply a base against drastic change.

Social Security is an expected revenue to all retirees, but to those who must depend on it as their only income, it is an important benefit. It is apparent then that all means must be taken to guard against changes that would reduce benefits to recipients.

It requires immediate protest against such headlines as: "Even more Americans live into 80s and 90s causing big problems." Figures show differently. Back in the '50s the majority of poor people were over 65. By 1982 that figure was down to between 4 percent and 10 percent. The conclusion has to be that without Social Security, many older Americans would be on welfare rolls, a tax-supported department.

Instead, with improved benefits (the average Social Security benefit has gone up 78 percent), the once poor elderly people have become middle class, better able to stay in their own home, support themselves and contribute to the economy in the purchase of real goods. This is a problem?

Last year President Reagan signed into law the $167 billion Social Security rescue package — a measure the president described as historic for Social Security.

It came out of a National Commission on Social Security Reform aimed at putting Social Security back on a sound financial basis. Eight Republicans and seven Democrats served on the bi-partisan commission.

Last April Congress enacted most of the commission's recommendations and added a few alterations of its own — thereby producing the most fundamental changes in Social Security since 1935.

Some changes were controversial, but a most important goal had been reached. Social Security was rescued from bankruptcy. COLA payments from July 1983 were delayed until January 1984, saving the system $39.4 billion over the 1983-1989 period. Payroll tax rates were increased, a measure not as controversial as might be expected. Given a choice of paying more or assuming the financial responsibility for their relatives, most workers preferred to pay higher assessments.

Among the gains was the easing of the rules of benefit continuation after remarriage. Beginning this year, benefits earned under a former spouse will be continued after remarriage for disabled widows and widowers and for divorced spouses. Previously, these individuals lost such benefits after remarriage.

Also, beginning in 1990, those who choose (and are chosen) to remain in the work force will not lose as much of their benefits when they continue to work.

This might seem to be a left-handed benefit since jobs are scarce. By that time, it is hoped the job situation for older workers will be eased. Due to smaller families, fewer people will be entering the labor force. More than likely there will be more job-training opportunities for older workers. Even now, there are two new federally funded opportunities for job training. Presently women and men age 55 or older in the Grosse Pointes or anywhere else in Wayne County are eligible to apply.

One class in telemarketing, located in the MCI office building in Southfield, teaches telephone sales skills. MCI will hire graduates of the course. The pay is $5 an hour, which is not great but would be a nice supplement to Social Security for those who need more.

Another course, building maintenance, will be held at Wayne County Community College Eastern Campus. Area employers will pay for work in and on the job training. Expected pay scale after graduation is $6 an hour.

For further details, call 252-0162 and talk with a staff member of the Older Worker's Program.

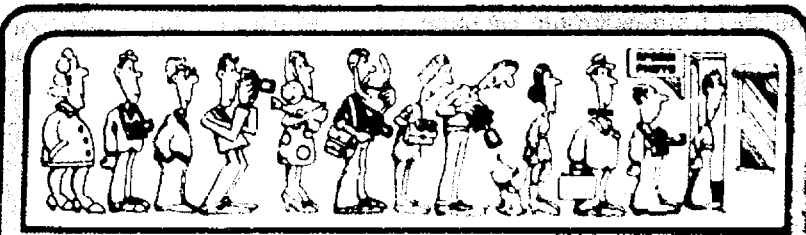

With these adjustments realized, assurance that Social Security will not go bankrupt, the restructuring of benefits were needed, easing of the law to permit older workers to continue working without losing as much of their Social Security benefits and the funding of job retraining programs, law makers seem inclined toward giving the system a rest. Most see no need for any major legislation in the foreseeable future.

As it stands, Social Security is not going to create a Utopia for older workers who depend on it for their day-to-day living. Actually it was not meant to do so. It is not a pension. It is a system of social insurance and as such does fulfill its purpose. "Over the Hill to the Poorhouse," Will Carleton's poignant verse about one poor mother, abandoned and without funds, aptly described the plight of the elderly before the government took a hand in the situation and saw to it that the elderly had enough at least to save them from the heartbreak of a destitute old age.

We've come a long way. Many problems relevant to Social Security have been solved for the remainder of this century. But there are more ahead as the population shifts and the proportion of older citizens increases. Even now there are serious misgivings about the nation's rising medical costs.

There will always be a need to keep a watchful eye on any proposed laws that will affect the well-being of the older population. Keeping what they have and seeing that benefits keep pace with the economy is the only way for many older people to maintain some semblance of their personal lifestyle — a lifestyle that makes them feel secure as a person because it is of their own design.

Farms records a $25,000 robbery

A brazen daylight breaking and entering into a Kercheval Avenue home last week netted a thief $25,000 in assorted jewelry and sterling silver dinnerware, according to Farms police reports.

Police believe the robbery occurred Friday, Oct. 5, sometime between 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m., when the occupants of the home in the 200 block returned to find it completely ransacked.

Entry was gained when the rear access door into the garage was completely broken down. Numerous items were stolen in the robbery including a silver chain, gold earrings, diamond rings, ruby, pearl and diamond earrings, gold bracelets, gold and pearl pins, a 108-pearl necklace, a five-piece sterling silver tea set marked SS on the bottom, a set of sterling silver knives, forks, soup and teaspoons and one silver gravy ladle monogrammed with a large S.

Police canvassed the area of the robbery, but neighbors reported nothing suspicious or unusual.

Home repair job fails

Up in smoke is how Park firefighters describe the last moments of a car belonging to a Park youth. According to reports, the Pemberton resident was working on his 1976 Chevrolet wagon on Sept. 18, installing a new battery and fuel pump, when the electrical connection ignited. Within minutes, he was out of a car, they said.

PWP to meet tomorrow

The Grosse Pointe chapter of Parents Without Partners will meet tomorrow, Oct. 12, at 8 p.m. at the K of C Hall on Little Mack and 10 Mile Road. Guest speaker Marion Upper will talk about procreation. There will be an after-glo dance following the meeting. For more information, call 881-5892.

Car theft facts

Every 29 seconds an automobile is stolen somewhere in the United States. Automobile thefts average about two cars every minute, or 120 an hour, or almost 3,000 cars stolen each day in this country.

Each year more than one million motor vehicles are stolen nationally. In addition, there are about 1.2 million thefts of contents and 1.3 million thefts of vehicle accessories annually.

In Michigan, 63,009 automobiles were stolen in 1982. An estimated 6,000 additional cars were stolen in 1983. Detroit and its collar communities, including Macomb, Oakland and Wayne counties, account for almost 84 percent of Michigan's total vehicle thefts.

Michigan's monetary loss from motor vehicle theft exceeded $200 million in 1982. The national monetary loss that year was an approximate $5 billion, including the costs of insurance premiums and law enforcement, court and prison expenses.

About half of the nation's stolen motor vehicles are recovered and returned to the owners. Michigan's return rate is less.

Most auto thieves do not go to prison. Only 15 percent are arrested across the country, and in Michigan about 7 percent are arrested.

Tiger loyalty pays off big

What you're looking at here is a portrait of five winners and one good-hearted loser. Those with the big smiles and the cans of beer are the winners from the New Visions Hair Salon, on Mack Avenue, who've been Tiger backers all season. The unsmiling gentleman in the rear, standing next to his newly decorated car, is John Dinkel, of the Roslyn Market. Dinkel has been betting against the Tigers all year long. Consequently he's been losing beer to these ladies all year long. According to Sherry! Moony, from the left, Gloria Loria, Dawn Siasinski, Bobbi Foster and Patty Viglione, their biggest win came over the Fourth of July weekend when Dinkel bet a case of brew that the Bengals would be in third place or less. Then he lost when he predicted the Tigers wouldn't make it into the playoffs. He said he just did it to keep morale up in the neighborhood, but admits his betting partners have been giving him the horse laugh "pretty good." Hey, John, want to bet on the series?

Students earn commendation

Three local high schools were notified recently that 24 of their students were named Commended Students for their performance in the 30th annual National Merit Scholarship Program.

The students are part of 35,000 seniors nationwide so named for placing in the top 5 percent of more than one million participants in the 1985 scholarship program.

North senior Eric Ciccoretti will receive a letter of commendation for his performance.

South students receiving letters of commendation are Catherine C.

Boyer, Susan M. Cole, Peter S. Ecklund, Frederick Fordon, Cameron R. Getto, Stephen R. Goodrich, David Gualtieri, Kenneth E. Harris, Leslie F. Jeffs, Christopher Lathrop, Sharon S. Lee, George F. Renaud, Patricia S. Roxas, Karen A. Vitolins and Rick G. Whitney.

of Grosse Pointe, Barbara A. Roman of Hamtramck and John F. Steinhauer of Grosse Pointe.

Participants entered the current merit program by taking the PSAT/NMSQT in the fall of 1983, when most were juniors. Although the qualifying test scores of the 35,000 commended students were very high, they were slightly below the level required for semifinalist standing in the competition for some 5,500 merit scholarships to be awarded in 1985.

The 15,000 semifinalists in this year's competition were announced by NMSC last month.

Mercy College of Detroit will offer a special introduction to some of its programs for working adults. The Weekend College, evening and day programs will be explained during two open house information sessions at the Conference Center, Thursday, Oct. 11, from 5 to 7:30 p.m. and Saturday, Oct. 13, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Special sessions will be available on how the Weekend College works, career transitions, admissions procedures, financial aid and employee reimbursement. Degree program offerings will be explained in detail in Business Administration, Health Care Administration, Public Administration, Legal Assistant, Alcohol and Drug Abuse Studies, Nursing Degree Completion, Social Work, Health Services, Medical Record Science.

Respirator Care and Allied Health Education (masters level).

academic standards as their counterparts in traditional college programs.

For further information, call the Mercy College Admissions Office at 592-6030 or the Weekend College Office at 592-6100.

Mercy College is located at 8200 W. Outer Drive, at the Southfield Freeway between McNichols and Seven Mile roads in northwest Detroit.

Study shows common U.S. mental disorders

Many researchers have assumed that depression is the most common psychiatric disorder. According to preliminary findings of an extensive National Institute of Mental Health sponsored survey of more than 11,500 persons, alcoholism and phobias are the most common mental disorders in the United States.

In the survey, which when finished will be the largest epidemiological study done in psychiatry, depression ranked third. Of those surveyed, alcohol abuse or dependence had been experienced by 13.6 percent, phobias 11.3 percent, major depression 5.7 percent and 5.6 percent had had other drug abuse and dependence problems.

In another surprising finding, the study found no association between major depression and bereavement, which has been thought to be a trigger for some depressive episodes.

Some of the other findings include the following:

Men have higher rates of psychiatric disorders than women and a higher incidence of alcoholism and antisocial personality. Major depression and phobias are more common among women.

The 25-44 age group has the highest rate of psychiatric disorders.

There is virtually no difference between blacks and whites in the types of rankings of mental illness. Blacks tend to have slightly higher rates of phobias, drug abuse and dependence, while whites have slightly higher rates of major depression and anorexia nervosa.

Don't be a victim: Edison offers tips

Autumn is a beautiful time of the year, but it's also the time when con game activities seem to increase.

One of the games involves con artists posing as utility company employees. For the safety of their customers, Detroit Edison offers the following guidelines to follow before admitting someone into the house:

1. Ask for identification. Before admitting any Detroit Edison employee into your home, check for proper identification. All Detroit Edison employees carry identification cards or badges displaying their photos, and clearly labeled as Detroit Edison identification.

2. Call Detroit Edison, if you are not sure about an employee's identification. The toll-free phone number is located on your bill. The best rule to follow is never let anyone inside your home until you are sure who the person is.

3. Detroit Edison employees never deliver cash refunds or "rebates" to a customer's home. All account transactions of this nature are handled through the U.S. mail or at a Detroit Edison customer office.

- ✓ A new high-efficiency gas furnace could cut your gas heating costs by over 30%!
Based on most current natural gas rates, normal Michigan weather, and a 96% efficiency rating - a new high-efficiency gas furnace could cut your heating bills by thirty-three percent when compared to the cost of operating most conventional gas furnaces.
- ✓ An electric heat pump could be more than twice as expensive to operate as a high-efficiency gas furnace.
Because an electric heat pump all alone is not enough to heat your home sufficiently in an average Michigan winter, you'll need a back up system. A heat pump backed up by electric resistance heating will cost about 130% more to operate than a high-efficiency gas furnace! And a heat pump backed up by a high efficiency gas furnace is still about 35% more costly to operate than a high-efficiency gas furnace alone.
- ✓ Dollar for dollar, natural gas will save you more.
Because natural gas has a three to one price advantage over electricity, a high efficiency gas furnace is less expensive to operate than an all electric heating system. And because that price advantage is expected to increase in the future, those savings could increase too.
- ✓ Start saving this winter.
If you're not heating your home with a high efficiency gas furnace, why not check it out now? It could help you save money this heating season. And at MichCon, we believe that helping is our job.

Gypsy moths stay away this year of which there are large numbers in the Pointes, Dollhopf said. The moth was brought from Europe in 1869 by a scientist hoping to test the species' silk-producing abilities. The moth escaped into the New England forests and has since spread east across New England, Canada, New York, Pennsylvania and Michigan.

The defoliation and subsequent death of trees has changed the character of New England forests. A single defoliation of an evergreen is sufficient to kill the tree, while deciduous trees may withstand successive years of defoliation before dying.

Defoliation forces a deciduous tree to put out a second, stunted growth of leaves, sapping its reserves for the winter ahead. The weakened tree is then susceptible to other diseases.

The moth larvae hatch in mid-May. Only a half-inch long at emergence, the larvae will grow through four or five stages to two inches long.

To fuel that growth, the larvae will feed heavily until mid-July, when they pupate, emerging about two weeks later as adult moths which die shortly after mating.

Groups such as the Grosse Pointe Shade Tree Council have helped inform residents about the moth and its life cycle, Dollhopf said. The Shade Tree Council maintained a hotline number for residents to call if they spotted an insect. The group also put together displays for the city halls and slide presentations for local organizations interested terday to organize an information campaign about the proposal, with interested parents, disseminating information to the community.

The loss of $6 million by the end of 1986 "would be catastrophic to this organization unless it could be restored through a millage election," Spagnoli said.

The district hasn't determined what would have to be cut as yet, but the loss is better than 15 percent of the district's budget.

One administrator likened the probable cuts made necessary by the loss to "splitting an atom. We know how to do it, but we don't know where all the pieces are going to fly in the chain reaction."

Lowering the district's bond rating will affect the interest rate on its tax anticipation notes and cost it more money. The district sells tax anticipation notes to keep it running until it begins collecting taxes in December.

None of the Pointe municipal bodies have taken an official position on Proposal C.

In the insect. A cable television program also highlighted some of the problems with the insect.

"If it's going to go away, we are going to have to sit down and decide what to do about the problem," Dollhopf said. "It's not going to go away by itself."

While the population declined this year, Dollhopf cautioned that it could rebound in coming years. The more scattered the trapping results, the more difficult to find where the moths are hatching, he added.

There's no reason for residents to worry about the moths for the rest of this year, Dollhopf said, adding there is no need to have trees sprayed now for gypsy moths.

Issa said he found it disturbing that both speakers used faulty analysis.

The students were not impressed with the use of statistics by both men. They termed it "scattergunning," which Niccolini said refers to the repeated use of figures by a speaker to overwhelm his opponent.

Niccolini also felt both candidates prepared short speeches on various topics which they tried to blend in with the questions they were asked.

But despite their criticism of the debate watched by an estimated 100 million people, all three students felt it served a useful purpose.

"It's important to read their views in the newspapers, but it's also important to hear them and see them say it," Chilingirian said.

"I thought it was a good debate given the circumstances," Issa said. "I think it's important but far more beneficial to have continued debate by the experts."

"There's a lot of differences between this and debate," Niccolini said, "but there are also similarities -- they were both speaking to win."

Will they be watching the vice-presidential candidates' debate tonight between Geraldine Ferraro and George Bush? You bet.

"I think Ferraro is really going to come out blazing," Chilingirian said.

Issa added, "It's going to be important for Bush in '88."

Max is one of those inbred little things whose throat swells when he gets excited. Consequently he pussyfoots around the neighborhood coughing at the mailman instead of barking.

When this feminine logic began to make sense, I realized it was finally time for separate vacations.

Then it was time to move things. Rose has this obsession about heavy objects. She'll say something like "Honey, what's the heaviest thing in the basement?" "Oh, I suppose the cast iron and cement washtubs in the laundry room. Why?" "Well, I've been thinking we should move them onto the roof so there's more room downstairs."

This time it was the freezer in the garage. According to the instruction manual, this baby is big enough to store six gangsters and two Louie DePalmas. From the side of the garage to the back, where we'll have "more room," please.

First it was onto a big dolly, then grunt and groan as I tried maneuvering it to the back. All the time, waiting for my favorite line. "Is there anything I can do to help, Honey?" Sure, Rose. Let me know when my face turns blue and the blood seeps from my ears.

Afterward, while I imitated a wet dishrag on the floor, she delivered my second favorite line: "Gee, that wasn't so bad. I thought it would be a lot tougher."

Like she's the one who's just used up a month's supply of hormones.

No wonder they live 10 years longer than us.

unqualified staff, developing top-notch faculty and programs to attract and keep students, and operating within a reasonable budget.

Currently an attorney specializing in estate and financial planning, Mongoven views his 12 years spent as director of purchases for Wayne State University and 10 years as administrator on Fruehauf's corporate staff ample preparation for handling the job of trustee.

He says he would like to see a whole new board elected. "It's not necessary to bring history to a problem to settle it. Could they (former members) break all loyalties to the past and have they been loyal to their positions?"

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

A fabulous evening is in store for the Michigan Opera Theatre benefit audience this Monday, Oct. 15, when the "SHOWTIME!" curtain goes up at 7:30 p.m. on a musical revue featuring the newest fashions of noted designer Albert Nipon, who will be in attendance as guest of honor.

The 45-minute revue, presented in the Music Hall, on the elegantly designed Act I Ballroom set of "The Merry Widow," MOT's first 1984-85 season production which opens tomorrow night with Cleo Laine in the title role, was created by Israeli-born fashion coordinator Leah Marks, who now lives in West Bloomfield.

It's a MOT exclusive, presented in cooperation with Don Wit Teller, choreographed by Regina Bell-Dawley and coordinated by Dennis Codish. And after the curtain goes down on the "Merry Widow" set, originally created for the Spoleto Festival, there's more to come: a gourmet strolling supper in the Music Hall lobbies, plus Mr. Nipon's special presentation of three of his fashions for the MOT benefit auction that will take place during the evening.

Among Grosse Pointers serving on the "SHOWTIME!" committee chaired by Mrs. Robert A. Gerisch are Mrs. J. Addison Bartush, Mrs. Kim K. Lie, Mrs. Frank Germack Jr., Mrs. Frank Donovan and Mrs. Charles M. Endicott. Tickets are $50 per person (tax deductible as allowed by law).

But you'll have to hurry if you want to be part of the "SHOWTIME!" crowd. Reservations must be made by tomorrow, Friday, Oct. 12. You can make them by calling 963-3717. Tickets will be held at the Music Hall door.

Another On-Stage Benefit

The Friends of Barat Human Services, volunteers who help prevent child abuse by supporting and promoting the abuse prevention services Barat provides, will host a fund raising Evening at the Players Club Thursday, Nov. 8.

"The Bowery Burlesque Moves Uptown" is the featured play on-stage at the exquisite, intimate Players Playhouse on East Jefferson Avenue, built in 1925 as a private facility for the "theatrical club for gentlemen" organized in 1911.

The curtain goes up at 8 p.m. on Barat Night at the Players. A light meal will follow the play. Information on tickets at $30 per person ($25 tax deductible) may be obtained by contacting Ritz Grezlik at 833-1525.

Music in The Afternoon

The Grosse Pointe Symphony Women's Association will hold its first general meeting of the season next Thursday, Oct. 18, at 10:30 a.m. at Lochmoor Club, and members are encouraged to bring a friend, a neighbor or a recent newcomer to Grosse Pointe to meet the Pointe Symphony Women's new board of directors and hear the group's plans for the coming year.

Luncheon at noon will be followed by — what else? (after all, these are SYMPHONY women) — a musical program.

Beethoven's Basement Sale

The Detroit Symphony League kicks off its active season of fund raising for its symphony this Saturday, Oct. 13, on "the other side of town" where Beethoven, busy again this past year writing symphonies, did not have time to clean out his basement.

So the League, under the direction of Kathy O'Rourke, (Continued on Page 4B)

YOU CAN'T BEAT IT for excitement, fun and variety. It offers everything from a German Beergarten to an Italian Wine Cellar, from Sorina, a Middle East exotic dancer (alias IRENE HATCHEZ, of The Pointe) to TRENNA RUFFNER, also of The Pointe, member of the Great Lakes Lace Group, each doing her thing. It's the Original Old World Market at the International Institute of Metropolitan Detroit, and it will run this year, its 58th year, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 18, through Sunday, Oct. 21, at the Institute, located on East Kirby Street at John R in Detroit's University/Cultural Center. The Market began during The Depression, as a way for new immigrants to make a little extra money selling their old-world crafts. Today, it is a full-fledged international event, complete with entertainment, ethnic food, import and craft booths from around the world. Woods resident Helen Kappaz is in charge of the gourmet chefs. Used Treasures, Ethnic Books, a For Children Only booth and a fortune teller will be available. There'll be demonstrations of ethnic cooking daily at 1:30 and 4:30 p.m., plus craft demonstrations ranging from American Indian beadwork to Ukrainian Pysanki egg decorating. Plan to visit the International Pastry Shop early, for it invariably sells out by mid-afternoon. Make a point of witnessing the Greek Orthodox Wedding Ceremony staged by Father Kavadas of Assumption Greek Orthodox Church at 5:30 p.m., then stay on to enjoy a program of Greek dance by the Hellenic Society for the Performing Arts. Three Park residents, Bill and Nick Simopoulos and Chris Ann Voudekis, will be among the dancers. Admission to the market is $2 for adults, $1 for senior citizens and youth ages 12 to 16, 50 cents for children ages 6 to 11. For more information, call 871-8600.

Melissa A. Leonard, of Balfour Road, has received a Bachelor of Arts degree from the State University of New Jersey Rutgers Douglass College.

Robert A. Martin, of Lochmoor Boulevard and his partner Robert J. Sheppard, of Trenton, were Master Point winners at the 1984 North American Summer Championships of the American Contract Bridge League in Washington, D.C., in July. They placed first overall in a 72-player, one-session event.

Cable spotlights Renaissance Cuisine

Town and Country magazine terms it one of the best community cookbooks in the country. Anne Gust, of Clancy's Place in the Renaissance Center, says it outsells any cookbook they have ever had. "You can tell when a cookbook is good," she says. "Everyone sends friends in to buy one." The cookbook that has been drawing these raves is the Fonthonne Auxiliary of Saint John Hospital's Renaissance Cuisine, which can be found in 300 retail stores throughout the United States. Twenty thousand are in print. It's a 390-page collection of 650 recipes from the best chefs in the Detroit metropolitan area's finest hotels, clubs, restaurants and homes — and if you'd like to go beyond the boundaries of Detroit, how about a recipe from Nancy Reagan, Bob Hope or Sophia Loren? In celebration of Renaissance Cuisine's third birthday, Grosse Pointe Cable Television will feature three cooking shows with VALERIE MORAN (center) and guest host "FAT BOB" TAYLOR from WJR Radio, pictured above with MARILEE RINKE, chairman of Fonthonne's cookbook project. "Check your cable listings," says Marilee, "and tune in for helpful suggestions and recipes for Tailgate Treats, Thanksgiving Accomplishments and Gifts from the Kitchen." Renaissance Cuisine sells for $9.95 plus tax. It can be purchased at the hospital gift shop and local retail stores. All profits from cookbook sales are donated to Saint John's current renovation program.

Increase your effectiveness

Marilyn Semonick will teach the skills needed to live and work in harmony with spouse, parents, friends, relatives and co-workers on three Thursday afternoons beginning next week, Oct. 18, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

The class, "Increasing Personal Effectiveness," will meet from 1 to 3 p.m. and costs $30. Registration information is available by calling 881-7511.

Participants will be taught to identify their own behavioral styles and increase their appreciation of other people's different styles. The emphasis will be on opening communications with others, creating a motivational environment and resolving conflicts — without boxing gloves.

Exhibit focus is Rothenberg

A dozen paintings done in the last two years by neo-expressionist artist Susan Rothenberg are being shown in the Contemporary Galleries of the Detroit Institute of Arts through Sunday, Oct. 21.

Rothenberg has been a leader in "new image" art, in which allusive imagery emerges from overall abstract configurations, for the past decade. Her exhibition here, made possible by the DIA Founders Society Friends of Modern Art, is open to the public without charge during regular museum hours: 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday.

A complementary installation of neo-expressionist work from the DIA's permanent collection and on loan from area private collectors is being shown adjacent to the Rothenberg installation, in the museum's Cavanagh Wing.

Set rummage sale Oct. 17

A rummage sale will run from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. next Wednesday, Oct. 17, at Saint James Lutheran Church, located on McMillan Road behind the "Hill" shopping area. The annual event features fashionable and seasonal clothing, usable housewares and appliances, children's clothing, games, toys and books — all kinds, in good condition.

Pointe Book Club to meet

The Pointe Book Club gathers this Monday, Oct. 15, at the home of Mrs. Windsor Davies, who will be assisted by co-hostesses Mrs. William Baird and Mrs. John Zolad, for its monthly meeting. Following luncheon, Mrs. George Johnson will review "The Kennedys," by Peter Collier and David Horowitz.

A herd of local Ibx, at rest

Pictured above, uncharacteristically at rest, are Ibx officers for 1984-85, announced by Mrs. Harry Esling, honorary president, at the club's annual meeting, held at the Grosse Pointe Club. Left to right are MRS. ROBERT VIEWEG, vice-president, MRS. ROBERT F. WEBER, publicity chairman, MRS. RICHARD MARKS, president, MRS. GEORGE E. PARKER III, recording secretary, MRS. DONALD BLAIN, program chairman, MRS. WILLIAM KERR, membership chairman, and MRS. DONALD VERCRUYSE, treasurer. Not pictured (they were no doubt, too busy "doing" to pause to be captured by the camera) are Mrs. Gilbert Gove, house committee chairman, and Mrs. Joseph Mengden, corresponding secretary. Ibx opened its fall season with a trip to Historic Fort Wayne, to visit the restored Commanding Officer's Quarters and the Indian Museum. James Conway, the Detroit Historical Museum's curator of Architectural History, gave a slide talk on the restoration. Husbands have been invited to join Ibx members in November, to hear guest speaker Michael Duffy, television critic, respond to the question: "Is TV As Bad As You Think It Is?"

Brunch party with fashions for 'Navy Day'

Tables in the ballrooms of Lochmoor Club will be centered with white mums, on mirrors, and set with red and blue napkins on white linen Thursday, Oct. 25, to underscore the patriotic theme of the Detroit Women's Council of the Navy League of the United States' annual Navy Day benefit brunch and fashion show.

Navy Day is traditionally celebrated on Theodore Roosevelt's birthday, which is Oct. 27 — but the Council's monthly luncheons are held on the fourth Thursday, hence it was decided to jump the gun by a few days. Teddy wouldn't mind.

The first President Roosevelt, whose motto was "Peace through Strength," upgraded the Navy during his tenure as the nation's chief executive. When he won the Nobel Peace Prize in 1906, he used the funds to found the Navy League of the United States: a liaison group between lay men and women and those who serve officially in the United States Navy, Marines and Coast Guard.

Official hostess for this special fall party is Mrs. James Glander, of Huntington Woods, serving as president of the Women's Council for the second year. Chairman is Mrs. Frederick Lickfold, whose husband is Captain of the Naval Recruiting District-Michigan. The Lickfolds reside at Selfridge Air National Guard Base.

Mrs. Lickfold will be among those modeling the fashions by Lizbeth of Birmingham, as will her co-chairman, Grosse Pointe's MRS. RUDY PESCHEL, pictured, center. Mrs. Peschel's husband is Captain, and Commander Group-Detroit, United States Coast Guard. BERNICE DAoust, flanking

Mrs. Peschel at right, a former Grosse Pointe resident who now makes her home in Mount Clemens, brings her expertise to the show as fashion coordinator and model.

Bernice, widow of an officer, has modeled and coordinated fashions for Jacobson's of Grosse Pointe and Saks 5th Avenue. She has picked officers' wives from members of the Women's Council to act as models during the Navy Day fashion presentation.

Grosse Pointer MRS. EMIL GROB, flanking Mrs. Peschel at left, is sponsoring the event. Mrs. Grob, whose husband was a Lieutenant Commander (ret.) in the Navy, will also act as a model. She has served on the Council's executive board for many years.

Raffle chairman is Mrs. Norman Kirkman, whose late husband served on the PT boat that John Kennedy made famous. Jeanne Kirkman and Eileen Doyle, both of Harper Woods, will be bringing many prizes and surprises to the party.

Reservations may be made by calling Carol Peschel, 822-1298, or Mrs. Kirkman, 886-3328. Donations are $15 per person. Checks should be made payable to the Detroit Women's Council of the Navy League-Benefit, and sent to Mrs. Frank Nair, the Council's treasurer, at The Whittier Towers, 415 Burns Drive, Detroit, Mich. 48214.

Funds raised will help support the many and varied projects of the Sea Services.

Take a day off to travel

Getting away for a long vacation may be out of the question — but how about short jaunts to attractions just a step beyond The Pointe's own backyard?

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial has scheduled four vacation day trips in November and early December. The first, on Wednesday, Nov. 7, is an excursion to Marshall, Mich., often dubbed "The Williamsburg of the Midwest."

A guide from the Marshall Historical Society will take participants to four historic structures set amid beautifully preserved 19th century homes. A drive-around tour will provide glimpses of the Greek Revival, Gothic Revival, Italianate and Queen Anne style exteriors of the Victorian Era houses.

Lunch at Schuler's will be followed by a visit to the American Museum of Magic, housed in an elegant, 130-year-old structure and said to contain the largest collection of magic memorabilia in the world, dating back to 1584.

The Marshall Tour bus will leave the War Memorial at 8 a.m., returning around 6 p.m. Cost, including lunch, is $29.

The second "mini-vac," a Tuesday, Nov. 27, trip to Frankenmuth, Michigan's Bavarian city, known for its year-round commitment to the Christmas season, will feature lunch at the Bavarian Inn, a 45-minute tour of the town, time to browse in the ethnic shops along Main Street, a trip to Bronner's Christmas Wonderland and a tour of the St. Julian Winery.

The Frankenmuth Tour bus leaves the War Memorial at 9:30 a.m. Return is scheduled for approximately 7 p.m. Cost is $22.

A Yuletide Evening in Greenfield Village running from 5:30 to 10:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 5, will include a specially prepared, candlelight dinner in the American Cafe, followed by a sleigh ride and walking tour. Participants will top off the evening with hot, spiced cider before returning home. Cost of the excursion is $35 per person.

Finally, there's a Christmas Walk at Meadowbrook on Friday, Dec. 7. This tour includes a visit to Knole Cottage, where Santa will be in residence, a tour of the 100-room Meadowbrook Mansion, where hostesses will be stationed in each room to greet guests and answer questions, and a visit to the "Greens Market," an annual event featuring roping, wreaths and unique craft items, sponsored by the Rochester Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association.

A Chinese luncheon is included in the $20 tour fee. The bus will leave the War Memorial at 9 a.m., returning at 4 p.m.

Early reservations are recommended for all four excursions. Reservation information may be obtained by calling 881-7511.

Greek treat for Questers

Quester Chapter 147 meets tomorrow, Friday, Oct. 12, at 10 a.m. at Assumption Greek Orthodox Church and Cultural Center on Marter Road, where Father Demetrios S. Kavadas will lecture on church history and Byzantine art.

Following his program, the Questers will tour the center and enjoy a Greek luncheon there. Mrs. Manuel L. Papista is hostess for the affair. Mrs. John R. Pear and Mrs. Hugh Stalker are serving as co-hostesses.

The chapter's 1984-85 officers are Mrs. Stuart Crane, president, Mrs. John Martin, vice-president, Mrs. Derrill Mannle, secretary, Mrs. James Champagne Jr., treasurer, and Mrs. Richard Mertz, historian.

Lakeshore YMCA hosts pre-school

The Lakeshore Family YMCA, located on East Jefferson Avenue in St. Clair Shores, just "across the border" from The Woods, is presenting pre-school programs under the guidance of Donna Stone again this year.

Classes include Pre-School Gym, for ages 3 months to 5 years; Creative Playtime, for ages 1½ to 2½; Story Time Fun, for 3 to 5-year-olds; and After-School Gym, for ages 5, 6 and 7. Registration information may be obtained by calling 778-5811.

DSO focus on two 'B's

Two concert hall favorites appear on the program of Maestro Herbert Blomstedt's final week of Detroit Symphony Orchestra performances this fall, on Thursday, Oct. 11 (tonight), at 8 p.m. and Saturday, Oct. 13, at 8:30 p.m. in Ford Auditorium.

Rudolph Buchbinder will perform Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 1 in C Major, the work with which he made his debut at Vienna's Grosser Musikvereinsaal when he was only 9 years old. Since then, Buchbinder has won a number of prestigious prizes, including the Van Cliburn Competition in 1966 and the Bosendorfer Competition in 1967.

Also on the program is Brahms' Symphony No. 1 in C Minor, one of the best-loved works of the Romantic era, first performed by the DSO in 1914 with Weston Gales conducting.

Tickets for the concerts, ranging in price from $10 to $19, are available at the Ford Auditorium box office, 567-1400, Hudson's and all CTC/Ticket World outlets. Group rate information may be obtained by calling 446-0909.

Polish genealogy workshop slated

The Polish Genealogical Society of Michigan presents its annual Polish Genealogical Workshop Saturday, Oct. 20, from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Dombrowski Fieldhouse on the campus of St. Mary's College at Orchard Lake.

Featured speaker will be Maralyn Ann Wellauer, of Milwaukee, Wis., author of such guides as "Tracing Your Polish Roots," "Tracing Your German Roots" and "Tracing Your Czech and Slovak Roots," veteran of several research trips to Europe.

Topic for her morning slide lecture presentation is "Immigration and Emigration: Routes and Records." Her afternoon lecture is titled "Comments on Research in the DDR, Poland and Czechoslovakia."

Fee for the day is $15. A free packet of information will be available to the first 100 registrants. Registration forms and further information may be obtained by contacting the Polish Genealogical Society of Michigan, Burton Historical Collection, Detroit Public Library, 5201 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Mich. 48202.

Memorable project for Louisa St. Clair

The Louisa St. Clair Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, has met twice recently for dedication of a memorial at Ste. Anne Catholic Church, established two days after Antoine de la Mothe Cadillac arrived to found a town he envisioned as controlling trade by uniting tribes, where all the Indians would be civilized, "transformed from heathens to children of the Church, and consequently good subjects of the King."

nas once again done the job for him. The Second Annual Beethoven's Basement Rummage Sale will run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday at the Kensington Academy on Square Lake Road in Bloomfield Hills. It will feature rummage of all shapes and sizes, plus housewares, plants and a special boutique of unique items.

Cider and doughnuts will be available for those who, after a few hours' rummaging, need to re-fuel.

A More Elaborate Menu

The menu was a bit more elaborate when Tom and Diane Schoenith and Frank and Stephanie Germack traveled from The Pointe to the Bloomfield Hills home of Bill and Pat Warner on a mid-September evening for a Fabulous Feast prepared by Doug Grech, of Restaurant Duglass, and served by media celebrities Ted Anthony and Byron McGregor.

The Feast, one of the auction items at the Project Hope Grand Prix Fever Party last June, was bid for and won by Paul and Sue Fine whose guests, in addition to the Schoeniths and Germacks, were Bob and Millie Pastor, Martin and Janie Kellman and Phyllis Marra.

They dined on poached salmon and California grill, topped off by Pears Patrick... and then, since the evening was mild, those willing to take a chance on NOT sinking donned bathing suits and joined the "kitchen help" (the Warners, their friend Joyce Finegan and her son John, who at one time worked for Duglass and is now Pastry Chef at the St. Regis Hotel) in the outdoor Jacuzzi and swimming pool.

All services for and proceeds from the evening were donated to Project Hope: the world health organization dedicated to providing and promoting health science programs wherever they are needed.

Showcased at Duglass

Did you know that Doug Grech, the "Fabulous Feast" chef, has just opened a gallery for the arts, Showcase Duglass, at his elegant Southfield restaurant?... and that the gallery's first featured artist (through the month of October) is Woods resident Terry Henson? Now you do.

Terry, vice-president of the Grosse Pointe Artists Association, has taught art in the metropolitan area for more than 20 years. Her background includes diplomas from Cass Tech and the Center for Creative Studies and hands-on experience ranging from architectural model making to mural painting.

For Showcase Duglass, she has concentrated on dolls, ranging in size from three-quarters to 30 inches. The dolls are hand-sculpted, using a plastic-based clay called "Fimo" which originated in Europe where it is used primarily for bas relief and repairing old works of art. Fimo is unique because of its extreme flexibility and translucent effect, and because it does not deteriorate in firing like other materials.

Terry builds some of her figures traditionally, with sculpted hands, feet and heads and cloth bodies. Some of her one-of-a-kind figures are wired for flexibility. Some are solid. Her sensitive handling of features and equally fine attention to clothing details (right down to tiny, hand-made leather shoes) put her dolls immediately in the collector's category.

She has authored two books on her work, and is currently working on a new, limited edition of porcelain figures.

Father John Crepeau presided at the 5:30 o'clock ceremony which was followed by a reception at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club where the newlyweds were invited aboard the Presidential Yacht "Sequoia," docked there for a few days, for a toast and tour of the historic ship.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown of ivory peau de soie, fashioned with an oval neckline, long court sleeves and a shirred, full bell skirt falling into a cathedral train overlaid with Alencon lace embroidery.

A lace medallion cap caught her veil. She carried an arrangement of gardenias, ivy and stephanotis.

Mary Clare Kay, of Greenwich, Conn., honor maid for her sister, and bridesmaids Margaret and Alison Kay, two other sisters, and Mary Calkins, the bridegroom's sister, wore long-sleeved, tea length dresses of off-white cotton voile printed in a striped effect with tiny mauve flowers. Diet Pill Sweeping U.S.
New Grapefruit 'Super Pill' Gives Fast Weight Loss
No Dieting - Eat All You Want Pill Does All the Work
 BEVERLY HILLS, CA. (Special)—An amazing new "super" grapefruit pill has recently been developed and perfected that reportedly "guarantees" that you will easily lose at least 10 pounds in 10 days. Best of all, it allows you to "eat as much as you want of your favorite foods and still lose a pound a day or more starting from the very first day until you achieve the ideal weight and figure you desire."
 This "super" grapefruit pill is a dramatically improved version of the world famous grapefruit diet. It is far more effective than the original and eliminates "the mess, fuss, and high cost of eating half a fresh grapefruit at every meal."
 "Pill Does All the Work"
 According to the manufacturer, "the pill itself does all the work while you quickly lose weight with NO starvation "diet menus" to follow, NO calorie counting, NO exercise, and NO hunger pangs." It is 100% safe. You simply take the pill with a glass of water before each meal and the amazing combination of powerful ingredients are so effective they take over and you start losing weight immediately.
Pill Has ALL Daily Vitamins
 The powerful and unique combination of ingredients are what make this a "super-pill". It contains highly potent grapefruit concentrate and a diuretic to help eliminate bloat and puffiness. No need to take any vitamins to maintain your good health and energy. The pill is fortified with ALL (100%) of the U.S. Government daily vitamin requirements.
Contains Japanese 'Glucomannan'
 Each pill also contains an amazingly effective amount of "glucomannan", the remarkable natural dietary fiber discovery from Japan (used successfully for over 1500 years) that expands in your stomach and gives you a full and satisfied feeling all day long.
 The super-pill is already sweeping the country with glowing reports of easy and fast weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.
Now Available to Public
 You can order your supply of these highly successful "super" grapefruit pills (now available daily) from the manufacturer by mail order only by sending $12 for a 14-day supply or $20 for a 30-day supply, or $35 for a 60-day supply, cash, check, or money order to Citrus Industries, 9903 Santa Monica Bl., Dept. W24, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not satisfied.) Visa, MasterCard, and Amer. Express OK. (Send card number, expiration date, and signature.) A year of fun for Youtheater

Peter Rabbit, Peter Pan and Bach . . . Santa Claus, Cinderella, Jackie Robinson and Lassie . . . all will make appearances during this season's October through May Detroit Youtheatre "Something Every Saturday" programming.

In all, 34 different, live, professional musicals, concerts, puppet shows, plays and films will be presented. Two performances are given each Saturday, at 11 a.m. and again at 2 p.m., in the Detroit Institute of Arts' main theater.

New this season is Youtheatre's "Ya Gotta Have Art" series, a collection of shows exploring Asia, Spain, Africa, the United States and Europe. First-timer tours to show-related museum exhibits, with treasure maps and gallery discovery hunts, are included in this five-Saturday package. To top off the day, the DIA's indoor garden cafe, Kresge Court, will offer special show-theme lunches and snacks.

Youtheatre's Wiggle Club, for families with children ages 3 to 8, gives the younger set its first real theater adventure in a five-show series. Members receive an official club button, a personal theater card pass, a graduation party and keepsake certificate at the end of the series and a complimentary ticket to next season's "big kids" shows.

Birthdays packages are available, with tickets to any show, invitations, the birthday child's name on a special lobby sign, a salute from the stage and a gift from the cast. Guided back-stage tours are offered, along with Brownie/Girl

Present new Hilberry play

A pre-Broadway production of "Appear and Show Cause" by Stephen Taylor officially opens at Wayne State University's Hilberry Theatre tonight, Thursday, Oct. 11, at 8 p.m., following previews Friday and Saturday, Oct. 5 and 6.

The play, set in Stuttgart, Germany, in 1951, after President Harry Truman had ordered the United States Army racially integrated, focuses on Lieutenant Colonel Frank Harrow, highest ranking black field commander in the army at the time. Harrow, facing administrative charges, discovers that he is to be represented by a "red neck," while a liberal Jewish lawyer is assigned the prosecution.

"Appear and Show Cause" is based on an historical episode, but the concepts, arguments, dialogue and individuals portrayed are all fictitious. It will play in repertory at the Hilberry with "Hamlet" and Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit," opening Nov. 1, through Dec. 1.

Ticket and schedule information may be obtained by contacting the WSU Theatre box office, 577-2972. Group sales information is available by calling 577-3010.

Pointer of Interest

By Janet Mueller

She sees population control as the bottom line. "I've belonged to the Junior League since 1973," says Carol Gove, "and I think it's a wonderful training organization, you address all kinds of projects, work on all kinds of projects, become a volunteer forever.

"And all the problems, all the projects, are legitimate. You help to solve; conclude one, and you've done something worthwhile.

"But when you're thinking in terms of long-term impact, you have to address the problem of population control. In terms of social problems, it's the bottom line."

So Carol Gove is actively involved in Planned Parenthood, a member of its board, co-chairman, with Bethine Whitney, of what has, for 26 years, been its largest and most successful fund raiser, providing eight percent of its annual budget: The Holiday Mart.

The 1984 Mart, a gathering of 21 specialty shops from across the nation offering a variety of unique and distinctive merchandise, will be open to the public at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial next Thursday, Oct. 18, from 10 a.m. to 8:30 p.m., Friday, Oct. 19, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturday, Oct. 20, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

General admission is $2. Luncheon will be available. Parking is free. Most of the shops will take MasterCard or Visa.

A PREVIEW PARTY for Benefactors, Sponsors, Patrons and Friends will be held Wednesday evening, Oct. 17, from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. It will be followed by a buffet dinner, with music, at the Little Club, for which advance reservations are necessary. Information on preview night activities may be obtained by calling 881-4611.

There's a special Silent Auction slated for the preview party guests. Bids will be taken, that night only, on a villa on Nevis for Easter Week: a three-bedroom home with its own pool and its own maid. This fabulous vacation opportunity has been donated by Bea and Steve Hubbard, longtime Mart supporters.

There's another Silent Auction that will run throughout the Mart. Bids will be taken through Saturday, Oct. 20, the final Mart day, on a large dollhouse donated by Mrs. C. Brooks Begg. It was built by her husband 35 years ago, and is an exact replica of the Begg residence in Grosse Pointe.

There'll be a Holiday Mart drawing, for such prizes as orchestra seats for a Metropolitan Opera performance in Detroit next spring, brunch for six on the new "Star of Detroit" cruise ship, a week of boarding (the dog, not the prize ticket holder) at Wingford Kennels.

"I Wish" cards are a new Mart feature. Shoppers may fill them out, listing sizes and preferences, and put them on file. Parents, children, friends and relatives can refer to the cards and enlist the services of a Mart committee of personal shoppers to assist with selections.

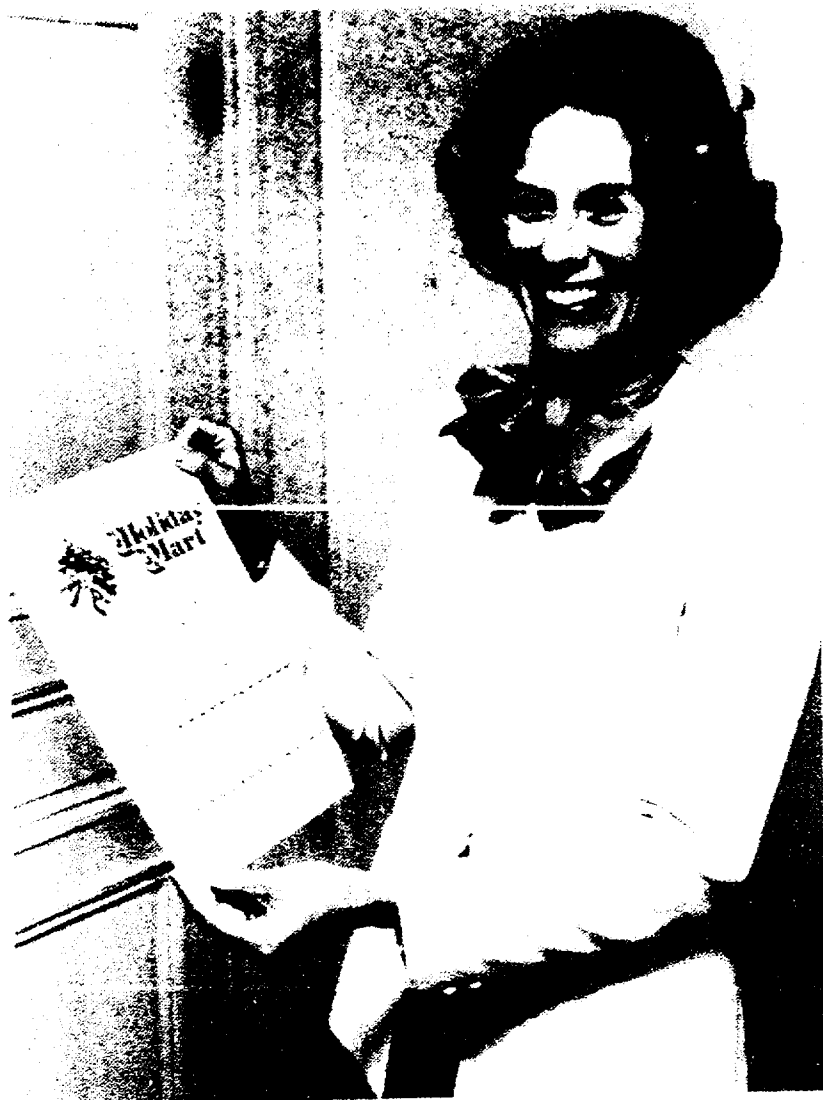

All in all, the '84 Holiday Mart promises to be something Very Special, as Very Special as Carol Gove and Bethine Whitney can make it.

THEY WORK WELL together, whether it be making fresh grape juice and jelly in Carol's kitchen, using grapes from the arbor of her Birmingham friend, or "out back" at the War Memorial where, as co-chairman of the Trial Gardens, they spent a good part of the growing season grubbing around in the dirt. In both places, a lot of Holiday Mart business got done.

Carol is a member of the Junior League Gardeners. She's also a member of Sigma Gamma and serves on the current Ibeta board, and is the National Cathedral Association's Eastern Michigan chairman. She's been involved with Fred De Haven in fund raising for the Christ Church, Grosse Pointe. Choir trips abroad.

Her oldest son, Brian, 21, a senior at the University of Arizona, grew out of the boys' choir before those trips began. But he did get to sing — or appear: Carol is still not sure whether any sounds actually issued forth from her son's mouth during that memorable performance — with the choir at Carnegie Hall.

But second son Stephen, 13, in the eighth grade at University Liggett School, crossed the Atlantic with the Christ Church Choir. Daughter

Carol Gove, of Cloverly Road, co-chairman of the 1984 Planned Parenthood Holiday Mart

Martha, 11, a University Liggett sixth grader, has just started singing under Fred De Haven's tutelage.

Carol Gove, originally from Washington, D.C., moved to Birmingham when she was a junior in high school. She met her husband, Gilbert E. Gove, an attorney, at a party at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. They deserted "the other side of town" to settle permanently in The Pointe 15 years ago.

If she has a few private moments, you'll probably find Carol with her nose in a book. "We take a lot of car trips," she says. The most memorable was a cross-country camping expedition when Stephen was 2 and Martha just four months old. The Goves piled themselves, the kids and a young neighbor/babysitter into the car and took off. "Fortunately," says Carol, "we had a lovely house in Carmel to stay in when we got to California."

There've been family skiing trips out west, and the Goves are just back from a visit to Chincoteague (home of "Misty") and Assateague Islands on Virginia.

Since Planned Parenthood's four clinics in the tri-country area are designed to be self-sustaining, funds raised via the Holiday Mart go primarily to the organization's education programs.

TWO OF THE NEWEST of these, the Peer Educator Program and Male Involvement, are aimed at teenagers. "Kids Listen to Kids" is the theoretical basis for both. The Peer Educator concept was first used in alcohol/substance abuse programs. Male Involvement

Short and to The Pointe

Among Michigan State University students who achieved 4.0 or "straight A" grade point averages during the 1984 spring term were seniors Margaret Krynski, of Stanhope Road, Susan J. Suminski, of Buckingham Road, and Robert C. Greider, of Fisher Road; junior Stephen A. Lathrop, of Bedford Road; and sophomores Julie A. Smith, of Hollywood Road, and Sandra Voydanoff, of Yorkshire Road.

Claire B. Colby, who recently finished the five-year double degree program at Oberlin College and Conservatory, graduating Phi Kappa Kappa and Pi Kappa Lambda with a Bachelor of Arts degree in German Studies and a Bachelor of Music in Voice Performance, has been awarded a Fulbright grant to teach English, American Studies and Literature in a Bochum, West Germany high school. She taught both German and Spanish at Oberlin, was a charter member of the German Major's Committee and was very active in theatrical productions, including two lead roles.

Christina Reeves Deusch, daughter of Mrs. Jean Candler, of Country Club Drive, received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Wellesley College in June. She was graduated a Wellesley Scholar, cum laude, majoring in English and philosophy.

trains young men, ages 15 to 19, in specific, targeted high-risk areas, providing them with responsible family planning information, then sending them back into their communities to disseminate that information.

The young people are paid employees of Planned Parenthood. They take 20 hours per week of training during the summer, then commit to six to 10 hours per week as information resource personnel during the school year.

Carol emphasizes that, in its clinics, Planned Parenthood teaches all FDA approved methods of birth control, including Natural Family Planning (the "Rhythm" Method). And the only surgical service Planned Parenthood provides is vasectomy. "We do NOT do abortions. We do counseling and referral, and we monitor existing facilities, but we do not believe in abortion as a method of birth control.

"We do, however, support the right of a woman to decide for herself how to deal with a problem pregnancy." And Planned Parenthood believes that abortions, when deemed necessary, should be performed under the safest possible medical conditions.

To tell the community just exactly what Planned Parenthood believes and does, the organization maintains a Speakers Bureau. "We like to explain ourselves to the community," Carol Gove says. To arrange for a speaker, call 963-2879. That's also the number to call if you'd like to arrange for a Peer Educator to speak to a teenage group.

Among students who are recipients of the Eastern Michigan University 1984 Recognition of Excellence Scholarship Awards are Mary E. Kukučka, of Wayburn Road, a Grosse Pointe South High School graduate, and Alison K. McNeill, of Cook Road, a Grosse Pointe North High School alumna.

Drema Marie Kalajian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Kalajian, of Bishop Road, was graduated from the University of Michigan School of Law on May 12. She also received the American Juris Prudence Book Award, Miss Kalajian served as a senior judge in the Writing and Advocacy Program and was a semi-finalist in the Campbell Moot Court competition in her junior year. She is a 1973 graduate of Grosse Pointe South High School and has recently accepted a position with the General Motors legal staff.

The first fall meeting of the Book Review Group of the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church Women's Association is scheduled for next Tuesday, Oct. 30, at 1 p.m. following a noon luncheon at the church.

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — collection of Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth concentrating, this week, on FRUIT FLAVORS.

PINEAPPLE SOUFFLE

- 1 can (20-oz.) crushed pineapple in own juice
- 1 can (6-oz.) unsweetened pineapple juice
- 2 Tbsp. sugar
- 2 env. unflavored gelatin
- 1 carton (8-oz.) low-fat plain yogurt
- 1 carton (8-oz.) low-fat vanilla yogurt
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 1/8 tsp. ground ginger
- 1/8 tsp. ground mace
- 4 egg whites
- 1/8 tsp. cream of tartar

Using one-quart souffle dish, make a two-inch overlapping foil collar. With a pastry brush, lightly oil inside of dish and collar.

Drain pineapple juice from crushed pineapple can into saucpan; place pineapple in bowl and set aside. Add can of pineapple juice and sugar to juice in pan. Stir until blended. Sprinkle gelatin on surface. Let stand 3 minutes to soften; cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, about 4 minutes, or until gelatin is dissolved.

In blender container, combine pineapple juice mixture, plain and vanilla yogurts, vanilla and spices. Process 1 minute, or until smooth. Pour into medium metal bowl. Refrigerate until the consistency of whipped cream and almost set (about 1 1/2 hours).

Partially fill a larger bowl with ice and water; place bowl of gelatin mixture on top of ice; set aside. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until stiff, but not dry, peaks form.

Beat pineapple gelatin mixture until foamy; let chill on ice 5 minutes; beat 2 minutes; let chill 5 minutes longer. Fold in egg whites, then well-drained pineapple. Pour into prepared souffle dish. Chill 4 hours, or until firm. Garnish with pineapple and mint leaves. Makes 8 servings.

PEAR MOLD

- 3 medium pears
- 2/3 cup + 3 Tbsp. sugar
- 1 1/2 cups water, separated

- 3 Tbsp. lemon juice
- 1/4 cup creme de menthe
- Green food coloring (optional)
- 1/2 cup cold skim milk
- 1 env. whipping topping mix
- 1/2 tsp. vanilla

Peel pears, cut in halves, and remove cores. Combine 2/3 cup sugar, 1 cup water and dash of salt in large saucpan and bring to a boil, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Add pears. Cover and cook 10 to 15 minutes, or until pears are tender. Let pears cool in syrup.

Drain pears, reserving syrup. Set aside 2 pear halves. Puree remaining pears and add syrup, if needed, to make 1 cup. Soften gelatin in 1/2 cup cold water. Heat with pear puree, 3 Tbsp. sugar and dash of salt until dissolved. Stir in lemon juice and creme de menthe. Add few drops of green food coloring. Chill until slightly thickened.

Prepare whipped topping mix with milk and vanilla as package directs. Fold 1 1/2 cups topping into gelatin. Pour into lightly-oiled four-cup mold and chill until firm. To serve, unmold on lemon leaves and garnish with slices of reserved pear and whipped topping. Makes 6 servings.

Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

With all due apologies to those who have kept running logs of the Detroit Tigers' season... on behalf of those of us who sometimes wish they hadn't.

Dear Diary,

Well, I had uh real hawrd tyme keepin' myself from havin' a coronary last weekend as our Boys — Bless 'Em — got theirselves into the World Serious by beatin' those not-so-Royal Kansas City fellers like a drum.

And who could have believed that San Diego's McBaseball Team (owned by McDonald's founder, the late Ray Kroc) would add to the Chicago Cubs' history of chokin' up when the game was on the line? Diary, that game-winning homer to tie the playoffs last Saturday night by Padre Steve "All-American Boy" Garvey was enough to give a Tiger fan like me terminal goosebumps!!!

And what a topper — making those stumblebums from Chicago lose a 2-0 series edge and a 3-0 lead in the sixth inning of the final game!!! All the water in Lake Michigan couldn't wash down the lumps in the throats of the Chicago chokers right about now!!!

So, now we're right smack-dab-in-the-middle of a "Fast Food World Series," Diary. You know, Domino's Pizza versus Big Mac. I've got a hunch the Pizza Bunch will send the Padres back to the coast without a prayer when this thing's all over!!!

But back to the playoffs!!! I watched them on TV and in living-color-up-close-and-personal and I'll tell ya, Diary, nothing could match the Tigers-Royals series for pure, dull baseball. Winning is boring I guess, when you do it all the time. But I'll take about four more games of being bored, Diary!!!

Just wondering how to celebrate a Dee-troit World Serious victory, Diary. I've got a couple of days to think on that one, I hope I kin come up with a real bash!!! Now that we've gotten obnoxious Cosell and Company out of the way and NBC is telecasting the World Serious the way it should be done, I can sit back and enjoy the whole thing. Just a few more thoughts, tho:

Now that Kirk Gibson was named MVP of the American League Playoffs, maybe "narrow-casters" like Cosell and Company will stop calling Grosse Pointe Park's favorite son "Curt." It's Kirk, as in "Douglas."

Bet after this Series is all said-and-done, they'll be remembering his name, Diary. A few "Gibson Goners" over the rightfield wall in San Dee-yego and they'll jest about have his name tatoed on their foreheads!!!

And I've got another bone to pick with those sportswriters and TV folks who covered the glued-to-my-seat, chaw-chompin, thrill-a-second win that gave Our Boys an American League champ-eeen-ship last Friday night: That wasn't Tiger catcher Lance Parrish who nugged "Mr. Wonderful" Willie Hernandez after the pennant-clinching catch of the final out by Marty "Who's on Third" Castillo. Noooo. Parrish was over near third, backing up Castillo like a good All-Star catcher should and when the out was made, he jumped up and put a Bear Hug on starting and winning pitcher Milt Wilcox who had raced out of the dugout.

Meantime, back on the mound, Hernandez was being mugged by a jumping-for-joy, justifiably jubilant Tiger infield!!! So there!!!!

Anyway, Diary, as you read this, you probably know the scores of the first two World Serious games — not that it matters since the Boys will have won both, I'm predictin'!!! But I would like to see the World Serious end this weekend, for a couple of reasons.

Hey, don't get me wrong, Diary. I'm lovin' every minute of this whole fantastic playoffs-Series-winning streak-MVP-media overkill-Tigers wherever you turn-thing. I mean, what's more important than the Tigers, Bless 'Em??? Certainly, not the Mondale-Reagan debates. And the Ferraro-Bush go-round? Don't make me laugh, Diary.

In fact, you really cares what's going on in the world these days? The Queen of England comes visiting across the river in Windsor? Probably jest wanted to sneak-a-peek at the home of the Dee-troit Tigers. The Norwegians say a U.S. jetliner on its way to Russia accidentally encroaches upon the sensitive airspace over a key Soviet military base? Pilot was probably listening to a Tiger game on the radio and forgot where he was, right Diary? Sho' 'nuf!

But, really, I want to see the season end this weekend with a World Serious win for our Boys 'cuz I don't want to have to see them go back to McDonalddland and have to win two games there. Our Boys sure ain't the Cubs, but there's always a first time, right, Diary?

And besides, I don't think the ol' heart muscle can take much more of this excitement. Not to mention the fact that I've just about run out of dashes, hypens, adjectives, exclamation points, names to drop and quaint Southern sayings!!!!

Signed,
Your Milking-This-Thing-For-All-It's-Worth

Runners ready for Marathon Day

By Peggy O'Connor

This Sunday, Oct. 14, 25 members of the Detroit Tigers just might be vying for a World Series championship. At about the same time, more than 4,000 runners will be working for a victory of a different sort as they compete in the seventh annual Detroit Free Press International Marathon.

More than 100 Grosse Pointe residents have registered for the 26-mile, 385-yard event which begins at 9 a.m. in Windsor's Jackson Park. Runners and wheelchair participants will travel through the Detroit-Windsor Tunnel, round the corner at the Renaissance Center, briefly loop through Greektown and head out Jefferson to Grosse Pointe.

They'll proceed through the City, Park and Farms down Lakeshore Road, making a U-turn and traveling uphill slightly at Kerby Road, before heading back through the Pointes to Detroit via Kercheval. At Conner, runners return to Jefferson Avenue for the home stretch and the finish at the Belle Isle Casino.

Runners should be aware of some changes in the 1984 marathon:

- Construction work is underway on the Belle Isle Bridge and traffic in the area may be congested.

- For the first time, an aid station and split time will be at every mile point along the route.

- Long sleeve T-shirts go to participants; medals to all finishers.

For the first time, four major sponsors are conducting the race: the Automobile Club of Michigan, Crowley's, National Bank of Detroit and Stroh's. Runners can also collect pledges, running and raising money for the Multiple Sclerosis Society.

As usual, runners will be greeted by scores of enthusiastic Grosse

Pointers who will line the marathon route, cheering, waving signs and manning garden hoses and water tables for tired marathoners. The Pointe support is a unique feature of the marathon, and does not go unappreciated by runners.

"Oh, it definitely helps you to run. I've been in races where there have been hardly any people on the sidelines. You run better when Grosse Pointe comes out and cheers you," says Evelyn Damm, of Lexington Avenue.

Damm, 50, registered for Sunday's marathon, her first, but may not be able to run because of an injured leg. She admits that she had looked forward to running the Free Press event because of the excellent course and the response the community gives runners. "It's really neat."

Paul Szabo, 70, of Aline Drive, has run four previous Free Press Marathons. He was registered for this year's event, too, but will sit it out on doctor's orders.

"It's just heartbreaking, after all the training I did," Szabo said. "The Free Press Marathon is special — it's such an incentive to run in it because of the spirit of competition."

Back in the Free Press Marathon after a one-year layoff is the Park's Jeanne Bocci, 41. She's running the event with an eye toward the New York City Marathon on Oct. 28.

"I've got a number for the New York Marathon — the first time for me — and I want to use the Free Press run to train. I'm looking to run a good race here, nothing fancy, just conservative," Bocci says. "I enjoy the Free Press Marathon because it's local. I like the idea of running through the tunnel and through the two countries."

The Marathon, which is sanctioned and certified by The Athletics Congress and serves as a qualifier for the Boston Marathon, was won in 1983 by Dave Olds, of

A familiar sight: marathoners emerging from the Detroit-Windsor Tunnel.

Bloomfield Hills. His time of 2:16:10 was three minutes off the course record of 2:13:07 set in 1980 by Greg Meyer. Women's course record holder is Karen Blackford-Hubbard, of Ann Arbor, with her 1979 time of 2:44:49. Cindy Barber, of Lincoln Park, won the 1983 event in 2:46:22.

Neither Olds or Barber will compete in this year's event, organizers say. North High graduate Bill Weidenbach is considered a top contender for this year's title. Weidenbach finished 1:07 behind Olds last year, and also competed in the Olympic marathon trials in Buffalo, N.Y. this past May.

Traffic changes

Detroit Free Press Marathon Day is this Sunday, Oct. 14 and that means a few traffic changes in Grosse Pointe.

In the Farms:

- Lakeshore Road will be one lane, two-way traffic between 10 a.m. and approximately 1 p.m.

- No parking will be permitted on the marathon route (Lakeshore Road to Kerby and Kerby to Kercheval through the Farms).

- East/West through traffic should utilize: Charlevoix, Chalfonte or Mack Avenue.

- Persons crossing the route will be considerably delayed. However, all crossing points on Kercheval Avenue will be manned by parade marshals to assist in crossing when safe gaps in runners exist.

- All traffic entering or crossing the route will be delayed between approximately 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.

- For at least a one-hour period (probably between 10:30 a.m. and 11:30 a.m.) ALL traffic crossing the marathon route will be at a complete standstill.

In the Park:

- On Jefferson and Kercheval, the city will close all lanes nearest to the curb between 12 and 1 p.m.

Three in a row for North

By Ed Comber

North High

North High's varsity football team racked up its third consecutive win by defeating Bi-County rival Lake Shore, 21-7, last Friday night.

North started the scoring in the second half, after neither team could get on the board in the first half. Quarterback Joe Weidenbach took the ball in from the five yard-line to give the Norsemen a 7-0 lead. But the Shorians came back with the tying score on a 1-yard run by Kevin Krula.

In the third quarter, Weidenbach sprinted 30-yards for a touchdown and after the extra point attempt failed, North had a 13-7 lead. The defense held for the rest of the game and Will Secor made it 19-7 in North's favor with his scoring run. Craig Como hit Secor with the two-point conversion pass and North took the 21-7 win.

Statistically, the Norsemen came out on top again, leading in total yardage, 224-113. North had 197 yards rushing to Lake Shore's 41 and the Shorians out-passed North, 72-31. The Norsemen had 10 first downs to Lake Shore's 3.

"I feel that the team has been playing better each week," said Coach Frank Sumner. "This win was definitely a team win."

Offensively, Weidenbach and senior fullback Secor led North with three touchdowns. Weidenbach added 68 yards in eight carries to his two touchdowns and was two-for-five and 26 yards on the day. Secor rushed for 104 in 26 carries.

On defense, tight end Paul Mattee, fullback Dan Kopitzke (one interception) guard Ken Werenski and tackle Rob Brumer played well. "The front four played a great game," Sumner said. Fullback George Kasza had seven solo tackles.

North has a real challenge this week, however, when it faces undefeated Lakeview on the road this Saturday, Oct. 13 at 1 p.m.

Cagers win

North's girls' varsity basketball team defeated Bi-County rival South Lake, 38-26. North took a 27-11 lead in the first half and stayed in front the rest of the way

Celeste Sartos and Paula Harms led North scoring with 16 points and 30 rebounds.

On the JV side, North topped South Lake, 28-25, after trailing 15-11 at the half. Julie Snow led North in scoring.

A soccer tie

Guido Regelbrugge's varsity soccer squad played to a 0-0 tie in a rematch with cross-town rival South High on Oct. 5. The Norsemen, who started the season with seven consecutive victories, are at 7-2-2 on the year. They will play at University Liggett School this Saturday, Oct. 13 at 11 a.m.

North's JV soccer team lost to South, 1-0, on Oct. 5. The JV record stands at 4-2-2.

South slips a notch

South High's girls' tennis team slipped a notch in the Michigan High School Tennis Coaches Association rankings for the week of Sept. 24. The girls dropped from No. 1 — All Schools to the No. 3 spot, and also fell from the top spot to the second spot in the Class A rankings.

North improved to No. 6 in class A and stayed at No. 8 overall in the state, according to the rankings. University Liggett School's girls were ranked in the No. 5 spot in Class B-C-D.

ULS nails MIAC title with two shutouts

The University Liggett School varsity soccer team clinched its Michigan Independent Athletic Conference league championship with two victories last week, shutting out Bethesda Christian and Southfield Christian, 4-0 and 2-0.

The Knights started the week with the 4-0 victory against Bethesda. Although coach Dave Backhurst's team was somewhat lethargic in the first half, it came out in a rampage in the second half, scoring four goals. The scoring was done by Kirk Haggarty, Bob Williams, (two), and Tony Malcoun. The assists went to Williams, Rob Healy, Harold Colby and Dan Wood. Goalie Brian David recorded his fifth shutout of the season.

The league championship was won on Oct. 5 in the game with Southfield Christian, a major league rival. The two teams met last year and came out tied for the league lead. The Knights took an early lead a minute into the game when Williams headed a Colby throw-in into the net. This play was duplicated in the second half. The Knights' 2-0 victory was the sixth shutout for goalie David and his virtually flawless defense this season. Haggarty, Jamie McMillan, Steve Vreeken, Colby, Steve Schmidt, and Blasko Ristic have been the rarely scored upon defense, crucially important in the undefeated season.

The Knights take on Grosse Pointe North on Saturday, Oct. 13 in an 11 a.m. game at home. (By Walter Connolly)

JV wins three

The ULS J.V. soccer team managed to lengthen its unbeaten streak to nine games with three strongly-fought games last week.

On Monday, Oct. 1, the Knights traveled to Zion Christian School where they took a 5-1 win over an aggressive Zion team. Zion scored its goal in the opening seconds of play, but ULS retaliated with five goals by freshmen midfielders Steve Stopyka, Kal Attie, David Schwab, leading goal scorer Frank Karabetos and sophomore forward Bill Reuther, who capped the scoring with an unassisted goal on a corner kick.

On Tuesday, Oct. 2, Coach Dominic Facciolla's team met Notre Dame, the only team to tie ULS this season. Again ULS fell behind early, but battled back to a 3-3 tie.

With their record at 6-2-1, ULS traveled to Southfield Christian Oct. 5, where they added another win. The J.V. came out strong with first half goals by Bill Reuther, on an assist from Schwab, and by Karabetos, on a superbly executed pass by Attie. Bill Jewett, substituting in net for regular goalie Michael Africa, was crucial to the 4-1 win.

The ULS Knights play their biggest game of the season on Saturday, Oct. 13, at 11 a.m. at North. (By David Schwab)

Harriers on run

The University Liggett School cross country team had a rare quiet week, traveling on Thursday, Oct. 4 to Colomiere Center, where Springfield Christian hosted the Springfield Invitational for ULS, Fairlane Christian and Temple Christian. ULS fell to Springfield 23-33, but dominated Fairlane, 18-44, and Temple, 19-44. The race was hard-fought on unusually difficult terrain for the nationally-trained Grosse Pointe team. Front runner for ULS was once again freshman Gordie Maitland (19:26).

Coach Eric Linder's squad hosts South Lake on Thursday, Oct. 11 at 4 p.m.

Netters get ready

ULS' girls varsity tennis team prepared for this weekend's regionals by beating Detroit Country Day School 7-1, last week. Charu Nautiyal, No. 2 singles, was outstanding, winning every game of her match. Coach Carol von Stade inspired the No. 2 doubles pair, Karen Rahm and Laura Rizzo, to win its match in the third set.

The Lady Knights set out for Ann Arbor Huron on Tuesday, Oct. 2. Marcela Brane and Kathy Bianci, No. 3 doubles, played a fine three-set match, but could not prevent the team's 7-0 loss. On Thursday, Oct. 4, Grosse Pointe South, a very competitive team, came to ULS and played well in a 7-0 win.

On Friday, Oct. 12, the Class C-D varsity tennis regionals will take place at University Liggett School starting at 8:30 a.m. (By Paula Rodriguez)

A JV loss

University Liggett School's JV tennis team suffered a 5-2 loss to Academy of the Sacred Heart (ASH) on Friday, Oct. 5. The matches were close and hard fought. Wendy Willett, playing No. 2 singles, went three sets to beat her ASH opponent, Jennifer Barnhart and Kelly Bailor, at No. 3 doubles. won 6-4, 6-2, while Lynn

Conner, playing No. 3 singles, pulled off a 6-1, 6-1 victory.

The next four matches were all close with split set losses for No. 4 singles Holly Waggoner and the No. 1 doubles team of Lori Sables and Alicia Peck, and straight set losses for No. 1 singles Lesley MacLeod and No. 2 doubles Suzannah Maycock and Cindy Fite. The No. 4 doubles team of Vivian Kim and Barb Herzig won a pro-game set, 8-4.

The next match for Coach Kathy Hoes' team is at 4 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 17, at Woods Park against Grand Blanc. (By Suzannah Maycock)

Golfers split

The ULS golf team posts a 2-4 mark entering regional play.

After losing to Grosse Pointe North and Bishop Gallagher in a rain shortened affair, Sept. 25, the team split a Sept. 26 match with Detroit Country Day School and Fenton.

On Sept. 28, ULS took a one-shot victory over Oakland Christian. Coach Ford Gardner's players had their problems with the tough Wabeek Course on Oct. 2, and finished 11 shots behind Cranbrook.

Peter Dahling continues to be the steady influence on the lineup, with Davis Barlow showing potential. Sean Thomas is back to near form he showed in last year's strong finish. The team takes on Grosse Pointe North on Thursday, Oct. 11 and plays in the regionals on Friday at the Willow Brook Golf Club in Byron.

Win streak

The ULS varsity field hockey team has won its last two games, after a close 2-1 defeat on Sept. 27 to a strong Ann Arbor Pioneer team. The only goal in that contest was scored by sophomore Laurie Kheolokian.

On Oct. 3, the girls beat Detroit Country Day School, 3-0. Goal scorers were Nancy Georgi, Andra Hirt and Kheolokian. ULS also defeated Ann Arbor Greenhills on Friday, Oct. 5, 6-0. Senior Amy Ottaway scored four goals.

Coach Muriel Brock's team travels to Ann Arbor Huron on Thursday, Oct. 11, for a 4 p.m. contest.

Cross country win

Ruth team honored

If Monday, Sept. 17, didn't seem like a special day to most Grosse Pointers, that's because most Grosse Pointers don't play for the Farms-City Babe Ruth All-Star team which was honored with its own day by the city councils of the Farms and City.

The team of 15 year-olds was recognized for its state tournament championship, and a fourth place finish in the eight-team, double elimination regional finals. The cities proclaimed Sept. 17 as a day to honor the local Babe Ruth players, to whom copies of the resolution were sent.

Grosse Pointe South's girls' cross country team won its second straight major invitational in record form, taking first place in a field of 25 schools at last Saturday's Centerline Classic.

The South girls established a new meet record of 98:19 (the total times of the top five runners), breaking the old record set by Troy Athens by over one minute. In a field of 150 runners, Nancy Solterisch was the overall winner. Her time of 18:31 smashed her own school record by 26 seconds for 5000 meters (3.1 miles).

Personal bests were turned in by senior Barb Giroux (19:25), who placed sixth; freshman Ellen Mayer (19:31), who was eighth; freshman Micha Song (20:04), 18th; and junior Kelly Reihl (20:53). 37th Senior Renuka Uthappa (20:54) and junior Toby Ott (21:48) rounded out South's top seven.

South's junior varsity competed in the Grosse Pointe North Invitational and were led by freshman Wendy Berger, who ran an outstanding 21:55 at Vernier Hill. Other top times came from Mary Beth Hicks, Shannon Burns, Julie Cunningham and Kerry Bruce.

At press time, South had a 7-0 dual meet record this season.

Frosh unbeaten

A Rodger Hunwick to Doug Lucas pass with 55 seconds remaining, followed by Lucas' successful conversion kick, gave South High's undefeated (4-0) ninth grade football team a 7-6 decision over previously unbeaten Port Huron Northern Oct. 3.

After being held at bay for over 47 minutes, the Blue Devil frosh put together a five-play, 44-yard drive, climaxed by Hunwick's five-yard aerial to Lucas for the tying touchdown. Lucas' extra point kick under pressure made the difference.

South couldn't get moving in the scoreless first half, picking up only 14 yards on the ground in 12 carries and adding another 41 through the air, compared to Northern's 100 yards rushing in 24 carries. Then early in the third quarter, a South fumble gave North a first down at the Devil 33. Nine plays later, the Huskies scored. An attempted run for the two-point conversion failed.

In all, South rolled up 101 yards in the air, while being held to only 43 on the ground — including 36 by fullback Mike Paull. Northern had 151 yards rushing and only nine yards passing.

Jeff Fikany topped the defensive unit with 10 tackles, followed by Lucas with seven and Lane Debets with six. Jamie Pangborn blocked a punt and Andy Housey and Ted Mills had fumble recoveries.

Red Barons sweep three

It's been a long time since all three Grosse Pointe Red Barons football squads shut out their opponents in one day — but that's exactly what the Baron teams did to the Sterling Heights Redskins last weekend.

The freshmen started the day by winning, 12-0, behind a defense which stopped the Redskins repeatedly. Mike Miller scored both Baron touchdowns on end runs, thanks to the fine blocking of Dan Henry. Alex Brinker was a terror all day, penetrating the Redskin offensive line by assisting on tackles or making the stop by himself. Shawn McCann, Jay Radloff, Gary Campbell, Matt Swikowski, Harlan Camps and Jeff Osborn also played well.

The JV squad ran its record to 5-0 with a 7-0 victory over the Redskins. Steve Craporatta's 3-yard run late in the game was the winner; Steve Shumerski added the extra point.

This game also started out as a defensive struggle. Injuries to key players Brandon Cromar and Jim Kutscher couldn't stop the Barons as Mike Koenigbauer stepped in and played well. Luke Bencie and Shumerski also had excellent days. Tom Dinverno had a key fumble recovery midway through the game to stop a Redskin drive and Steve Horn played much of the day in the Redskin backfield, recovering another fumble to help preserve the Redskin win.

The varsity scored its second 29-0 shutout in as many weeks. The Redskins took the opening kickoff back to the Barons' 3 yardline, but the defense stopped the Redskins on four downs. Lineman Brandon Henry, Chris Meathe, Jason Bedsworth, Chad Hawkins and David Trent led the excellent effort.

On the Barons' second offensive play, Kevin McCarron ran off tackle, broke to the outside and scampered 90 yards for the first Baron score. From that point, the "Big Red" controlled the game offensively and defensively. Meathe caught two passes for touchdowns, one from Chris Stebbins and one from McCarron. Joey Dunn kicked two extra points.

The final score came on a pitch around the end from Stebbins to McCarron for a 40-yarder. Brian Ford ran through the hole opened by the offensive line for the extra point.

After the game, coach Rick Moore and line coach Mario Darder said they were pleased with the offensive unit's improvement. Darder has worked hard on "power blocking" and said he was happy with the result. Coach Paul Garner complimented the play of the defensive end, as well as that of Danny Collins, Bryan Jondretzke, Neil Stellingwerf, Mack Zoltowski and Rob Zielski.

The Red Barons will travel to Denby to take on a tough Bulldog team next week.

Bandits win ice tourney

In the recent early bird tournament in St. Clair Shores, the Grosse Pointe Squirt AA Bandits played in one of the Michigan Hockey League Association's most exciting hockey games ever — losing a 1-0 contest to the Macomb Bulldogs in six overtimes.

The Bandits outshot the Bulldogs, 50-18, but an errant pass gave the Bulldogs the win and sent the Bandits home as runner-up. They bounced back, though, taking the title in an early bird tourney hosted by Woodhaven which featured teams from Plymouth, Dearborn, Flint, Trenton, Toledo and Cleveland, Ohio.

Grosse Pointe's first game against Flint ended in a 4-4 tie. Scoring for the Bandits were Michael Kuna (two), Ty Telegadas and John Gorney. Collecting assists were Brad Warezak (two), Scott McMillan, Andrew Van Deweghe, Todd Frederickson and Brady Miceli.

The Bandits then played to a 1-1 tie with Trenton when Trenton tied the game in the third period after McMillan put the Bandits on top. Telegadas and Miceli drew assists.

Grosse Pointe dominated the third game, whipping Cleveland, 8-0. Scoring for the Bandits were Kuna and VanDeweghe (two each), Frederickson, McMillan, Miceli and Warezak. Earning assists were Kuna, Warezak and Brian Crane (two each), Stefan Tietge, Frederickson, Miceli, Telegadas, Scott Berger and Gorney.

The championship game pitted the Bandits against Ray's Rascals from Plymouth. Grosse Pointe won the title by beating the Rascal's, 4-2, behind the two-goal performance of Michael Kuna. VanDeweghe and Frederickson got the other goals; Don Harvey (two), Gorney, Kuna, Frederickson and Warezak earned assists.

Bandits' goalie Jason Hall was outstanding throughout the tournament, stopping numerous scoring opportunities. Corby Leith and Jon Bell played well on defense for the Bandits.

The team opens its regular season against the Michigan Dynamos on Thursday, Oct. 11, at 7 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Community Rink.

Academy teams in action

Grosse Pointe Academy cross country runners participated in relays at Detroit Country Day school on Sept. 26, as Academy teams opened action last month.

Top finishers for the Academy were Dan Friedel, eighth, and David Chute, ninth, in boys' fifth and sixth grade; Laurie Thomas, 11th in boys' seventh an eighth grade; Michal Cure and Peter Donaldson, sixth in boys' seventh and eighth grade; and Sunny Swarthout and Carey Gardella, sixth and girls' seventh and eighth grade.

Also running were Jeff Prus, Nathan McGarvah, Jason Kahn, Jon Sieber, Steve Sweeney and Jennifer Tipton.

On Oct. 1, the Academy's boys' team beat Cranbrook's seventh and eighth graders, 21-34. Peter Donaldson was second in the field with a course record time, followed by Cure, third; McGarvah, fifth; Russell Inman, 10th; Kahn, 11th; Chute, 12th; Prus, 14th; Sieber, 15th; Sweeney, 17th. A total of 21 runners participated in the event.

Over 100 runners from nine schools competed in the Southfield Christian Invitational Oct. 4, including the Academy. Donaldson was again second, finishing just four seconds behind the winner, McGarvah was 16th; Prus, 65th; Gardella, 82nd and Steve Swasey, 88th. The Academy team is coached by Sidney DuPont.

In girls' tennis action, the Academy lost to University Liggett, 8-1, on Oct. 2. Laura Waterman and Kathryn Jagger took a doubles victory for the Academy.

The Academy's boys' seventh and eighth grade soccer squad opened the season with a 3-2 win over Liggett on Sept. 20. Kyle Bowman scored two goals and seventh grader Mike Cure added one.

Then on Sept. 25, the Academy came from behind in the last few minutes to tie Kingsbury, 6-6. Bowman, Anthony DeLuca and Peter McDermott got the GPA goals. St. Brendan's handed the Academy a 6-4 loss on Oct. 1, despite McDermott's two goals.

The boys are coached by Tom Kelly, in his second year as head coach.

Wittmer on squad

University Liggett School graduate Martin Wittmer is returning for a second year as a member of the Lake Forest College varsity soccer team.

Wittmer, a sophomore at the Illinois college, is a Woods resident. Lake Forest finished with a 19-5 record in 1983.

POP HISTORY POSER ANSWER
 (After the phenomenal success of his The Fugitive series, producer Quinn Martin tried a similar approach with Roy Thinnes trying each week to convince Earth that it was being invaded by aliens from another planet. Not coincidentally, the program was entitled The Invaders, but it never achieved a popularity enjoyed by the Richard Jensen show.)

New Laser Technology Breakthrough

True Taste Exclusive!

Unique True Laser-Cut "Flavor Chamber" Filter Achieves Exceptional Taste... Without Increasing Tar!

Laser Technology breakthrough challenges belief that only high tar can deliver good taste.

True Exclusive. The "Flavor Chamber" Filter is found only in True cigarettes (U.S. Patent Pending). It's a unique filtration system that gives you a flavor-rich tobacco experience at only 5 mg. tar. A taste satisfaction we believe challenges cigarettes with twice as much tar.

Longer Lasting Enjoyment. New True is packed with extra tobacco so you can enjoy it longer. Noticeably longer.

New Breakthrough True. Test it against the only taste that counts. Yours.

It tastes too good to be True.

New True

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

Regular 4 mg "tar", 0.5 mg nicotine, av. per cigarette by FTC Method.
