

Grosse Pointes get 9-1-1 emergency service

By John Minnis
Staff Writer

Dial nine-one-one. "The life you save may be your own." That's the message Michigan Bell and the public safety departments in the Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods are trying to get out to the public after completing installation of the 911 service Friday.

"It's a universal signal for trouble," City Public Safety

Director Bruce Kennedy said of the 911 service. "It's a short number to dial and a scant few seconds can save lives."

He said one of the best things about the number is that people don't have to stop in an emergency and try to remember or look up police and fire numbers. "It will help the citizens," he said. "Eventually it will unite Wayne County."

Lt. Larry Semple of the Harper Woods Police Department, who has been put in charge of getting the word — or rather, number — out to the media and public, said the enhanced 911 service went on line at 8 a.m. Friday. The police departments in the Pointes and Harper Woods waited to announce the new service until after it went into effect so that the lines could be tested before residents started depending on the number.

With the new service, residents in the Pointes and Harper Woods merely have to dial 911 (that's nine, one, one) any time they require immediate police, fire or ambulance assistance. The number is easy to remember, faster to dial and is the same no matter where in the Pointes or Harper Woods you're calling from.

Semple said callers should use the regular police and fire numbers, however, when conducting normal, non-emergency business, such as reporting to police that you will be out of town for a week.

The old police and fire emergency numbers will remain in effect, Semple said, explaining that those used to the old numbers don't have to worry that they will forget to dial 911 or are unaware of the new service.

The Pointes and Harper Woods 911 system is enhanced in that it will route all calls to the caller's local police department. If a caller in the Park dials 9-1-1, the call will be routed to the Park public safety

Homecoming x 2

Both Grosse Pointe public high schools had their homecoming celebrations Saturday, and it was impossible to tell who had more spirit — North's Norsemen or South's Blue Devils. In the end, it didn't matter; what mattered was the fun. Above, a South Blue Devil, also known as Matt Turner, blows his horn for South. At right, Oreos Laura Staniszewski and Tish Straetmans, both North sophomores, stand in the shadow of their float, the cookie monster. For more homecoming photographs, see page 15A.

Judge denies restraining order on Woods' new pit bull ban

By John Minnis
Staff Writer

An attempt to get a restraining order blocking Grosse Pointe Woods from enforcing its ban on pit bulls was denied by a judge in Wayne County Circuit Court Friday.

Two lawsuits were brought against the city in response to its complete ban on pit bull breeds, pure or mixed, adopted under emergency action by the City Council Oct. 3.

One suit was brought by the owners of the pit bull on Lancaster, Terry and Molly Shook, on Oct. 7. The second suit was brought Oct. 10 by a group of dog owners in the Woods, some of whom have pit bulls. The group is going under the assumed name of Friends of the Downtrodden.

It was the Shooks' pit bull that led residents in the Woods neighborhood, led by Lancaster resident Donna Dunn, to gather 200 petition signatures calling for a ban on pit bulls and convincing the council to adopt the emergency vicious animal ordinances.

According to city attorney George Catlin, the Shooks withdrew their request for a temporary restraining order after they gave their American Staffordshire Terrier to friends who do not live in the Woods. Since they no longer had the dog in their Woods home, the Shooks could not prove immediate and irreparable harm — a necessary requirement for obtaining a restraining order — if the city continued to enforce the pit bull ban.

Judge Phillip Jourdan denied a temporary restraining order based on the suit brought by the Friends of the Downtrodden. Catlin said the group was unable to convince the judge that enforcement of the pit bull ban would cause Friends of the Downtrodden immediate and irreparable harm.

The judge's denial of the temporary restraining order does not, however, affect the lawsuits brought against the pit bull ban.

The suits will still be heard at a later date, Catlin said. He would like the two suits combined and heard at the same time since they maintain identical arguments and ask for the same remedy: that the pit bull ban be ruled unconstitutional and, therefore, void.

No date has been set for hearings on the suits.

The Friends of the Downtrodden suit charges the pit bull ban was improperly adopted without a scheduled and publicized public hearing and that the council's action exceeded its authority.

Furthermore, the group said the ban is overbroad and that the city failed to prove that the dogs banned presented a real and substantial threat to the community's health, safety and welfare.

Arguing the ban on pit bulls was unconstitutional, both suits contend the council's action would deprive them of property without compensation and with-

Pointer of Interest

Felix Resnick

By Peggy O'Connor Andrzejczyk
Assistant Editor/Feature Editor

Geographically speaking, Felix Resnick does not live in Grosse Pointe. But the music he has made for three decades as conductor and musical director of the Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra brands him indelibly as a Grosse Pointe institution.

On Sunday, Oct. 30, Resnick will pick up the baton to open his 30th season at the Grosse Pointe Symphony podium. The symphony's 36th season begins that day with a 3 p.m. performance at Parcels School auditorium.

The faces of orchestra members and supporters alike have changed since Resnick first conducted the symphony on Dec. 14, 1958. One thing that hasn't changed, the maestro says, is the magnificent support the community's orchestra receives.

"What I sense with this orchestra is a feeling of cooperation with the orchestra members, the board and the audience. You don't find that elsewhere," Resnick says.

"And underlying that is a genuine interest in the music we play."

Resnick is only the third conductor in Grosse Pointe Symphony history. A native of New York City, he has spent most of his professional life in the Detroit area. He is a graduate of Wayne State University and the Juilliard School of Music. He holds the post of assistant principal second violinist with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

In addition to his Grosse Pointe Symphony conducting duties, Resnick is the conductor of

Correction

A story last week on the pit bull ban in the Woods advised that the dogs would be impounded at Harvey Animal Hospital, according to information by the city attorney.

In fact, Harvey Animal Hospital has not served as a holding facility for stray dogs and cats in Grosse Pointe Woods for more than five years. The animal hospital discontinued the service March 1, 1983, according to a letter sent to the city by L.W. Faremouthe, D.V.M., Jan. 12, 1983.

Park recruiting auxiliary public safety officers

By John Minnis
Staff Writer

If you've ever considered doing volunteer work for the community, but couldn't find an area of service that seemed interesting enough, becoming a Grosse Pointe Park auxiliary public safety officer might be what you've been looking for.

The Park Public Safety Department is now taking applications for its auxiliary public safety unit, which was approved by the City Council in July. Sgt. Randall Cain, who is coordinating the auxiliary unit, said he hopes to have the auxiliary officers ready for duty by mid-November.

Applicants must be at least 18 years old, of good moral character, have no criminal record or extensive traffic record and be a resident, business owner or employed in Grosse Pointe Park.

Women are encouraged to apply for the auxiliary unit.

The auxiliary public safety unit is completely voluntary. "The payment you receive is the feeling you're contributing something to the community," Cain said.

Applicants who are inducted to the unit will also receive an auxiliary officer's uniform, complete with chest and cap badges specially designed for the unit. Cain said the uniforms will look professional.

"They will be representatives of the city and the department," Cain said of the auxiliary officers and the need for uniforms. "They will look good out there."

Auxiliary officers will also receive training in police and fire procedures.

The training will include first aid and cardiopulmonary resuscitation, basic firefighting skills, emergency radio use, traffic and pedestrian control, criminal law, arrest and processing procedures and the use of firearms.

Cain said that while auxiliary officers will be trained on firearms use, they will not be issued weapons, nor will they carry weapons at any time.

The volunteers will be required to attend monthly meetings and ride in a scout car for eight hours per month. Cain said the auxiliary officers will serve only as observers while on patrol. They will not make arrests, chase fugitives or participate in dangerous situations.

The auxiliary unit will be used for traffic control during parades and special events. Auxiliary officers will also take part in presenting crime prevention programs, as well as assisting public safety officers during emergencies, such as during a severe storm.

Anyone interested in becoming an auxiliary officer should contact Sgt. Cain at 822-7400 as soon as possible.

Farms woman mails letter, loses her car

When a Grosse Pointe Farms woman left her car running while she got out to go to the mailbox at the post office, an opportunistic thief took advantage and drove away, leaving the woman standing there.

The woman stopped in front of the post office at 8:54 a.m. Oct. 10. She just got out to drop a letter in the mailbox when a man pushed her aside, jumped in the car, which was left running, and sped off, according to Farms police reports.

Her purse and about $30 and credit cards were still in the red, four-door 1988 Plymouth Horizon.

GMC van, jeep reported stolen in the Farms

A Jeep and a GMC van were reported stolen in Grosse Pointe Farms last week, with the Jeep later recovered after it had been completely stripped.

A red 1987 Jeep Wrangler was stolen from the Sears parking lot Sunday between 3 and 3:30 p.m. It was found the next day at 10:30 a.m. by police in Clinton Township. It was stripped of its doors, engine parts and interior equipment and upholstery.

A 1986 GMC Explorer van was taken from in front of Cracker Jax on Oct. 10 between 7:05 p.m. and 8:19 p.m. It was found the following day by Ecorse police.

The van's vent window had been broken to gain access, and the ignition was punched out and the radio stolen.

A bewitching evening with Gundella

If thoughts of witches bring to mind pointed hats, broomsticks and magic potions, you're in for a spellbinding evening, Thursday, Oct. 27.

The War Memorial welcomes Gundella, a descendant of the Green Witches of Scotland, who will speak on "Witchcraft in Today's World" at 7:30 p.m.

Gundella, also known as Marion Kuclo, was raised in a family of witches and is a member of an active traditional coven while living an ordinary life in Garden City.

She also holds a master's degree in education and, after many years as a teacher, has spent the last 20 years lecturing throughout the eastern half of the United States; teaching witchcraft as she knows it and attempting to dispell many of the myths.

She is also a published author. Her first book, "Werewolf of Grosse Pointe and other stories," is in print; a second, with the working title "Witchcraft For Christmas," is in the works.

During her pre-Halloween program at the War Memorial, Gundella will describe the main tenants of witchcraft and the seasonal sabbats celebrated by the covens. She'll describe what it is like to belong to a traditional coven and provide plenty of time for questions and answers.

Tickets for the program are $12 per person. Advance purchase suggested. For additional information, call 881-7511.

Farms foundation appoints 4 new members, officers

The Grosse Pointe Farms Foundation, a non-profit civic group, appointed four new members to its board of trustees and elected officers for the coming year Friday.

The new board members are John Danaher, of Cottage Hospital; Patrick Mansfield, a partner in the auditing firm of Touche Ross & Co.; William T. McCormick, chief executive officer of Consumers Power Co.; and Jay W. Sorge, a retired lawyer.

The new officers are E. Daniel Grady, a vice president with Michigan Bell, president; Paul Marco, of Marco, Eagan, Kennedy and Timmis Attorneys and Counselors, vice president; Mansfield, treasurer; and Charles Moon, a lawyer, secretary.

Ralph McElvenney, past president and one of the foundation's first leaders along with founder and former Mayor James Dingeman, received special recognition by being named honorary chairman.

McElvenney has been ill, and Marco took many of his responsibilities during the past year. Marco said McElvenney's health is improving, and he was happy the foundation board honored the man who has done so much for the city.

The foundation raises funds to support many improvement projects throughout the city so that taxpayers' dollars do not have to be used. Its most recent project is the renovation work at Pier Park. Dedication ceremonies for the Pier Park improvements were held Oct. 8 in memory of Dingeman.

Smoker the bandit hits a Woods gas station

A gas station on Mack in Grosse Pointe Woods was robbed of 44 cartons and 299 individual packs of cigarettes earlier this week, making the incident the second in two weeks in the Woods in which cigarettes were taken.

An employee at the Speedway gas station arrived to work at 5:30 a.m. Monday and found a boulder had been thrown through the station's glass front door. Along with the large quantity of cigarettes taken, three gallons of milk were stolen, according to Woods police reports.

On Oct. 5, a carton of cigarettes and $50 in coins were taken from Bob's Drugs, which is also on Mack in the Woods.

After the earlier theft of cigarettes, St. Clair Shores police reported that the theft was similar to several such robberies there recently.

Woods detectives are continuing to attempt to smoke out the bandit.

Presidential debates don't sway many Grosse Pointers

By Margie Reins Smith
Staff Writer

After the third and final debate last Thursday, many Grosse Pointers still weren't quite sure who won the three-game series.

Bush went into the third debate as a favorite; Dukakis was a slight underdog; but the general consensus was that they needn't have bothered to play the game.

"None of the debates helped me make a decision," said Carol Evola, Grosse Pointe Park councilwoman. She identified herself as an independent voter. "I was disappointed overall in the debates. The two candidates didn't get to the issues."

Melissa Maghielse, of the City, said she is a Republican. "I went into the three debates with an open mind, but I preferred Bush.

"There was no clear winner or loser," she said, referring to the most recent debate. "I thought Bush was warmer and gave good, sensible answers. Dukakis avoided questions. They both looked better than they did the first time. But we didn't learn anything new about the issues."

Sen. John Kelly, of Grosse Pointe Woods, said he viewed the debates with Democratic partisanship, but was disappointed. "As a political scientist," he said, "this is the most boring election year ever. It's the first presidential contest that's been totally uninteresting for both sides."

Kelly said that the debates are helpful in providing more prolonged exposure of the candidates. "Instead of 30-second sound bites, we get to see the candidates for a longer period and in an unstaged environment. It's helpful." The debates are orchestrated, he said, but are not staged — because the audience is not preselected.

"I was astonished by Bush's lack of coherence and substance. And I was astonished by Dukakis' lack of passion, excitement and ability to empathize with people on a personal level.

"I expected more from the debates from both the candidates and the parties," he said.

Priscilla Brown, of the Farms, who identified herself as a Bush supporter, and said she votes philosophically as a Republican, said, "Bush seemed ebullient and Dukakis seemed unnaturally subdued" during the recent face-off.

John Conley, a retired teacher, who refers to himself as an independent radical, said that the debates didn't startle him — didn't provide any new insights into the candidates or the issues. Before the debates, he said he leaned toward Dukakis. "I'm not for Bush. I'm even less for Quayle," he said. "Jesse Jackson was my candidate.

"I'm disappointed in Dukakis because he should be speaking more strongly than he is. I was not overwhelmed by either of the (presidential) debates."

Conley said he thinks it's deplorable that the debates are filtered through news media people. A better forum would be for the two candidates to sit at a table and chat back and forth. "Perhaps with a debating moderator," he said.

Jean Rice, Woods councilwoman, said the recent debate was the best of the three because Bush and Dukakis finally started to address the issues. "The questions were excellent this time," she said. "It bothers me when they don't answer the questions."

Rice said she's a strong Republican. "But that doesn't mean I haven't voted for Democrats. These debates, however, didn't change my mind."

Rice said that in the last 20 years, politics has taken an impersonal turn. "There's a big difference. Now, most issues are discussed on TV under very controlled media conditions. Money and mailings are important."

Rice said politicians used to walk door-to-door, make phone calls, distribute their own literature. They used to be actively and personally involved in their campaigns.

"Now, there's a need to raise such an incredible amount of money. There has to be a better way," she said.

Maghielse said that TV debates were necessary for the 1988 presidential election. "Our lives are geared to TV," she said. "It's unfortunate, but in this day and age, when someone is running for president, personal charisma is a vital thing."

Conley said he was having dinner prior to the third televised debate, "and I wasn't eager to get up from the table to watch it."

SEMTA changes service in Pointes

By Ronald J. Bernas
Staff Writer

In an effort to improve bus service on the east side, the South Eastern Michigan Transportation Authority is changing and updating many of its Grosse Pointe routes.

Effective Oct. 24, changes to the main routes through the Grosse Pointes and parts of St. Clair Shores will meet the changing needs of the Grosse Pointe riders, some of SEMTA's most loyal customers, according to Robert Campbell, manager of schedules and service evaluation.

"We have suffered a fairly dramatic drop in ridership in the Grosse Pointes," Campbell said. "This is the first time we've made such massive revisions in the area." The last change was made in 1976, but wasn't nearly so sweeping, he added.

The drop in ridership comes possibly from the aging of the Grosse Pointe population, with another major factor being the changing of population and shopping centers. With the closing of the downtown Hudson's, and the opening of Eastland, the needs of the area have been refocused.

The new routes include:

- An hourly trip to Eastland all day from the Kercheval and Jefferson routes, and increased return time — from a bus every 80 minutes to one every 60 minutes — during the midday hours;

- School routes will remain unchanged;

- No streets currently served by SEMTA will totally lose service;

- Route 621, will be eliminated, and the northern end of Route 620 will be re-altered;

- Some routes will provide service to Wayne State University, and its medical center;

Pamphlets describing the new routes and time schedules were available Oct. 17 at various locations throughout the area.

"I would suggest everyone get a timetable, to eliminate confusion," Campbell said.

For questions and more information on the route changes, call 962-5515.

Michigan Bell burying cable along Kercheval

By John Minnis
Staff Writer

The telecommunications boom has reached homes along Kercheval in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Residents have noticed workmen digging trenches on the east side of Kercheval between Moross and the Kercheval cul-de-sac and were curious as to what was going on.

According to Valentino Bianchini, a Michigan Bell engineer, the telephone company is replacing the old overhead wire with buried cable between Lakeview and the end of Kercheval near Provencal.

"It's improving the area. It's progress," he said of the underground cable. "We're doing quite a bit (in the Pointes). We're spending a lot of money."

Bianchini explained that the existing overhead cable has become old and insufficient. He said the original cable was designed to handle perhaps one telephone per household.

Homes today, he said, now have several lines and telephones. First, there are telephones in almost every room; second, many teenagers now have their own telephone lines; and third, many homes now have a separate line just for the home computer with a telecommunications modem.

All this additional demand per household necessitated a new, larger cable.

"We could have gone to a larger cable on a pole," Bianchini said, "but that would have been unsightly."

Bianchini said the larger, buried cable will mean better, more dependable service for local telephone customers. Underground cable is less susceptible to interference and damage than are overhead cables on poles.

He said Michigan Bell tries to replace overhead wires with buried cable whenever possible. In some areas, however, concrete paving, trees and other obstructions prohibit replacing overhead cable with underground service.

Other locations in the Pointes are getting buried cable as well. Bianchini said that many new developments in the Pointes, such as condominiums replacing old estates, are provided with the underground cables.

He said the Kercheval project began a couple of weeks ago and should take several months to complete.

Most of the cable is on city rights of way. He said that in only a few cases will it be necessary to encroach slightly on private property.

Bianchini said the crew burying the cables is trying to complete the work with as little disruption or inconvenience for residents as possible. The end result will be better service for the customers, he said.

Woods man thrown from balcony at Elton John concert at Palace

A 25-year-old Grosse Pointe Woods man attending an Elton John concert at the Palace last week was thrown from the balcony after telling three men in front of him to sit down.

Auburn Hills Detective A.W. Kouture said three Macomb County men were arraigned Friday on charges of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder, which carries a maximum 10-year sentence.

Arraigned were William Shook, 24, and Joseph Zinser, 27, both of New Baltimore, and Peter Mousseau, 23, of Mount Clemens. A preliminary hearing has been set for Oct. 24 at 52-3 District Court in Rochester.

Kouture said there are several witnesses who said the three men charged were continually standing up and were asked repeatedly to sit down by those behind him.

The Woods man, David Tobbe, was one of those who told the men to sit down, and when he did so, the men allegedly grabbed Tobbe and pulled him down into their row. A scuffle ensued, Kouture said, and several witnesses said Tobbe was pushed or thrown off the 10- to 15-foot balcony. Tobbe suffered a broken leg.

The Oct. 13 incident was also on the same night that Elton John walked off the stage early. However, Kouture said the assault occurred at 10:15 p.m., before the concert had ended.

Car thief aborts try in Shores

An attempt to steal a 1986 IROC from a home in Grosse Pointe Shores last week ended when the vehicle rolled into the street and the thief apparently fled.

According to Shores Public Safety reports, a young man living in a home on Oxford Road was awakened at 8:19 a.m. Oct 9 by officers on patrol who found the vehicle backed halfway out of the driveway into the street.

The owner and the officers examined the car and found a side window down and the steering column and alarm system had been damaged in a theft attempt. There appeared to be no signs the thief wanted to steal anything in the vehicle and nothing was missing.

Police theorize the would-be thief tried to steal the car, which has a stick shift, and when it rolled into the street, he became scared and fled.

Monte Nagler's photograph of Blue Rock Bay, Nova Scotia is greatly enhanced by including the foreground boat as a foundation. Careful attention was paid to depth-of-field so that everything appears sharp and in focus.

Photography

By Monte Nagler

Give your pictures foundation

As you know, all good relationships are built upon a solid foundation. In photography, the same often holds true.

Today, I'm going to talk about a smart way to add strength and impact to your photographs by a technique I call "adding foundation to your shots."

It's easy to do and you'll be pleasantly surprised at the difference in your finished prints.

By foundation, I'm referring to foreground objects that add a basis or footing to your composition.

For example, a dazzling sunset settling on the lake will produce a stirring shot, but it will be much stronger if you include a bit of shoreline or that gnarled piece of driftwood as a foundation. The distant, snow-capped mountain sure looks dramatic, but don't you think an improvement would be made if you were to add that pile of boulders in the foreground?

The old fishing cove is indeed charming, but how about making your shot even better by including some fishing boats or a bit of netting as a foundation?

Adding a basis to your scenic photographs is like adding footing and support to a structure.

Your pictures will be aesthetically more pleasing and will also help to show a scale of reference. Often times a foundation will help to complete your photo by giving more information to the viewer.

The most important way you can add foundation to your pictures is to slow down and really look. Carefully study your subject and analyze its surroundings. Ask yourself how best can I enhance the subject and show it in its best light? What complements it and how can these elements be used effectively in the composition? It's almost like accessorizing that new set of clothes so that they are worn and shown in the best possible way.

Remember that in adding a foundation to your photograph, you must pay particular attention to depth-of-field. You'll ruin what otherwise may have been a dynamic picture by having the foreground out of focus.

Use your depth-of-field scale on the lens barrel and your depth-of-field preview to make sure everything is going to be sharp. You may want to favor your wide angle lens to not only get more in the composition but to obtain even greater depth-of-field in your shot.

So get the relationship between you and your photography onto a solid basis — by using foundations when you shoot!

Volunteer counselors sought

The Grosse Pointe/Harper Woods Youth Assistance Program is currently seeking volunteer counselors to work with troubled and delinquent youth. Volunteer counselors are asked for a commitment of one to two hours per week and should possess a minimum of a bachelor's degree in a human service field.

If you are interested, call Marla Ruhana or Pam Oswald at the FLEC office, 885-3510.

What is it when it isn't Indian Summer?

If unseasonably warm weather in late autumn is Indian Summer, what do you call unseasonably cold weather during the autumnal season? Squaw Winter is the answer, according to Professor James T. Callow, director of the Computerized Folklore Archive at the University of Detroit.

Callow, a professor of English and a folklore expert at U of D, says the phrase probably originated in the 1800s although the first reference to the name in print wasn't until 1874.

"The name was no doubt circulated orally for several years before it appeared in print," Callow said. "By 1949, Squaw Winter was clearly thought to precede Indian Summer, an assumption that appears to be accurate in view of this week's cold snap."

"When it comes to weather, people have always believed in compensation," the professor adds. "They figure that every sweet has its sour, and vice versa. So an unusually severe winter is sure to follow a spell of Indian Summer. Conversely, if Indian Summer doesn't happen in autumn, it will surely come in winter."

If folklore is to be taken seriously, it looks as if Michigan and much of the northeastern United States could be in for a harsh winter, according to Callow, since we've already had a spell of Indian Summer.

Folklore offers some clues as to how harsh it will be. A folklore collection donated to U of D by Peabody College in Nashville indicates that old-timers believed you could predict the number of snowfalls in winter by totaling the number of fogs experienced in autumn.

Noting that autumn mists and fogs can be an almost daily occurrence in some areas of the country, Callow is almost apologetic about the pessimism inherent in the prediction.

As for Indian Summer, he notes that it wasn't always called that. "It was once called Smoke Summer," he said. "The indication is that early settlers blamed the hazy skies on smoke resulting from the Indian practice of scorching the earth after the harvest season. 'Nowadays,' he adds, "the phenomenon is attributed to the northward flow of air masses from the Gulf of Mexico."

Park reports 4 car thefts, 4 attempts

Four vehicles were stolen and attempts were made to steal four others in Grosse Pointe Park recently, according to information released by the Park Public Safety Department.

Stolen were:

- A 1986 GMC pickup truck from the 1200 block of Beaconsfield between midnight Oct. 6 and 6:53 a.m. Oct. 7.

- A 1983 Chevrolet parked in front of a home in the 1400 block of Wayburn. The owner heard the car being started and saw the suspect driving it away. The vehicle was recovered in the 1200 block of Lakeview by Detroit police.

- A 1988 Pontiac four door from a driveway in the 1000 block of Harvard between 6 and 10 p.m. Oct. 8.

- A 1976 Buick two door between 5 p.m. Oct. 9 and 7:15 a.m. Oct. 10 from the 600 block of Lakepointe. It was recovered by Park Public Safety in the 600 block of Manistique.

The attempted thefts included:

- A 1982 Pontiac in the 900 block of Barrington between 10 p.m. Oct. 9 and 8:30 a.m. Oct. 10. The car's ignition was damaged in the attempt.

- A 1979 Buick in the 800 block of Beaconsfield between 8 p.m. Oct. 9 and 8:30 a.m. the following day. The would-be thief damaged the vehicle's steering column.

- A 1981 Pontiac between 7 p.m. Oct. 9 and 2 p.m. Oct. 10 from the 900 block of Nottingham. The steering column was damaged.

- A 1983 GMC pickup truck from the 1200 block of Lakepointe last week. A locking device on the truck's camper was damaged.

Labor fact

The first employers' liability legislation came in 1856 in Georgia. The measure applied only to railroad workers, according to the U.S. Labor Department.

Michigan GIs lose the vote in home state

Michigan's antiquated election machinery is apparently depriving thousands of Michigan servicemen stationed overseas as well as other Michiganders who live abroad of their right to vote by absentee ballot this year.

The problem is that Michigan's election machinery is in the hands of 1,775 clerks in the townships, villages and cities, and many of them have been slow to get their local ballots printed. The result has been that many overseas voters lack adequate time to receive, vote and return their ballots by election day.

For the primary election in August, the problem was so bad that the federal government sued the state and won a consent decree that required Michigan election clerks to count overseas ballots up to 10 days after the Aug. 2 voting date.

But because the local clerks are the only officials who supervise the election machinery at the local level, nobody can even estimate how many overseas ballots from Michigan citizens arrived late and were counted up to 10 days after the Aug. 2 primary.

But we do know that a substantial number of Michigan residents are living overseas and entitled to vote by absentee ballot. The Defense Department estimates that there are about 105,200 Michigan military personnel on active duty elsewhere, plus about 79,000 voting age dependents of these service people and plus another 103,000 overseas civilians who are eligible to vote in Michigan by absentee ballot.

Michael V. Marston, a Grosse Pointe resident and a colonel in the U.S. Air Force Reserve, called the attention of the Grosse Pointe News to this situation. Marston, who has been trying to rectify the problem since 1981, said he has found little interest in the state Legislature or among state election officials in taking action to see that Michigan military personnel and their dependents get their absentee ballots in timely fashion.

A new federal law which became effective this year improves the situation but does not solve the problem. It provides for a federal "blank" ballot which overseas residents can use but it covers only candidates for federal offices such as the U.S.

House, the U.S. Senate and the presidency. But it cannot and does not serve as a substitute for a ballot bearing the names of candidates for state and local offices which also will be filled on Nov. 8.

A representative in the secretary of state's election office in Lansing confirmed that in the federal action that required the state to count its overseas absentee ballots up to 10 days after the Aug. 2 primary, the state acknowledged that it was unable to meet the federal requirement that ballots be prepared at least 30 days prior to the election. The reason? State law currently requires only a 20-day period prior to the primary.

But the state law governing the general election Nov. 8 is different. It requires that ballots be printed at least 42 days before the election. However, Marston said that in the past this requirement has not always been observed either, and that many overseas applicants had not received their ballots in time to vote and return them before the election.

The election office spokesman said that

Secretary of State Richard Austin in 1987 had proposed that the Legislature modernize Michigan's election and voting laws, but the major action that resulted was appointment of a task force. It failed to recommend specific corrective action, apparently because of the resistance of local clerks who feared their own loss of authority.

It appears to be clear that the state has not given this problem the attention that is demanded. What is equally surprising is that the news media have not paid much attention, either. At any rate, we hope that Marston and others seeking to rectify the matter finally get the action they and the overseas citizens of Michigan deserve.

While little can be done before Nov. 8 to change the law to benefit overseas Michigan residents, surely clerks could be alerted by the elections office to meet the requirements of present law. It is true that primary recounts and contests do delay ballot preparation, but that still seems a flimsy excuse for not meeting the time requirements for absentee voters.

In this matter, it is disappointing to realize that our state is in effect preventing overseas GIs from Michigan from voting in a national election. Voting is an integral part of the democratic processes which our service personnel are seeking to protect for our own country as well as for the foreign democracies in which they serve. Yet our state is depriving them of that essential right because of what appears to be bureaucratic and legal red tape.

Park salary plan endorsed

Two proposed charter amendments affecting the pay of the Grosse Pointe Park municipal judge will be on the Nov. 8 ballot and, in this newspaper's opinion, deserve support of the Park voters.

One proposed amendment would increase the range of the judge's pay and the other would eliminate the present requirement that the pay of a substitute judge be deducted from the current judge's salary. Both proposed revisions appear to bring these salary provisions up to date.

The current range of pay for Municipal Judge Kirsten Frank is $3,000 to $6,000 with Judge Frank now at the maximum. The proposed range is $6,000 to $15,000 which Mayor Palmer Heenan says is a more appropriate range in view of the increased duties of the job since the 1950s when the current pay range was set.

For example, in the 30 years from 1957 to 1987, the number of traffic violations handled in the Park has risen from 7,888 to 10,947; the number of civil cases from one to 300; the number of ordinance violations from 68 to 360 and the number of felonies from none to 46.

At the council meeting at which the amendments were placed on the ballot, Judge Frank was called upon for her opinion. She agreed that the judge's salary was inadequate for her predecessor, Beverly Grobbel, and said she felt the council ought to be able to adjust the judge's salary in view of the work load and time spent on judicial duties.

She said she spends 15 to 20 hours a week on court business and is handling an increased number of criminal matters, civil matters and landlord/tenant cases. Mayor Heenan told the News that she also has been a "tremendous asset" to the police because of her willingness to arrange her schedule to their convenience whenever possible.

Another important point raised by the mayor is that the revenues from the municipal court have increased about $25,000 to $30,000 in the past year because of the court's increased activity. Yet the proposed range of pay would bring the Park maximum to the same as that now enjoyed by the municipal court in the Farms, which has less court activity than the Park does. The Farms pays its new judge $12,000 a year, plus another $4,000 to cover health insurance.

As for the second amendment, which would require the Park rather than the judge to pay the salary of substitute judges, a Supreme Court decision has overridden the charter requirement that the judge pay the substitutes' salary. In short, the amendment would bring the Park into conformity with that ruling.

In effect, the Park is the victim of its proximity to Detroit, which in large part explains the fact that its court is the busiest in the Pointes. But it, like the other Pointe municipalities, also is one of the victims of our litigious society. Those facts, and the increased activity in the Park court in recent years, offer strong evidence to support the proposed amendments. We hope the Park voters agree on Nov. 8.

It isn't over 'til it's over

Perhaps a word of caution to the Republicans is in order now that the media columnists and commentators are beginning to arrange the political funeral of Michael Dukakis, the Democratic presidential nominee.

True, the public opinion polls since last week's second and last debate between the contenders indicate that Vice President George Bush has widened his lead over Dukakis. And, yes, most experts agree that the Democratic nominee did not score the "knockout" over Bush that the same experts had told us in advance Dukakis needed to revive his lagging campaign.

Yet we recall 1948 when the majority of the polls for weeks prior to the election predicted an easy win for Thomas Dewey, the Michigan native, who was seeking to unseat President Harry S. Truman. As it turned out, however, the polls were wrong and Truman won an upset victory.

Two major reasons were offered at the time for the polls' mistakes. One was that a last-minute swing to Truman went undetected because the pollsters quit polling too early, apparently in the belief that the race was over. A second factor was the low voter turnout, which meant that some of those interviewed in advance did not vote and that, consequently, the pollsters' samples of the electorate did not accurately predict what happened.

Since the Truman upset victory, the pollsters have refined their techniques and, with the help of computers and other new technology, now continue polling right up to election day. In fact, they conduct exit polls outside the voting booths on election day in an effort to predict, even before voting ends, just how the contest came out.

But estimating the turnout in advance is still a tricky business. Many people who believe voting is a civic duty tell the pollsters that they definitely plan to vote but then never do so. That means the pollsters can overestimate the support for one candidate or the other or both.

Walter Dean Burnham, a professor of government at the University of Texas, told the New York Times that, like Truman and Dewey in 1948, both candidates this time are "unpopular figures with high negatives." He added that 1948 produced the lowest voter turnout since the 1920s and expects a similar show of apathy Nov. 8.

Despite our own argument here, we still expect Bush to win in both the popular vote and the electoral college, but we do remind Bush and his confident GOP colleagues to remember 1948 and to recall Yogi Berra's slogan that it isn't over 'til it's over, despite what the pollsters like to tell us long before the voting ends.

Looking forward to new library

To the Editor:

I have read your recent article, "New library plan requires further study." I think Grosse Pointe needs a bigger and better library that has more information and up-to-date material.

I find when I do a research paper or report I have to go to two or three different libraries for my material. Grosse Pointe is a community with highly educated people and yet does not have an adequate library for its size.

In my opinion, the proposed new library would be an excellent idea for this community.

Class of 1990 says thank you

To the Editor:

During the week of October 10 through October 15, the Grosse Pointe South High school class made their homecoming float at the home of Jon and Lisa Gandelot on Muskoka.

The Gandelots, as well as all the members of Muskoka, were outstanding. Although we have inconvenienced them, we did not receive any complaints.

We as the junior class are very thankful for the time the Gandelots have put in, helping us with our float. This is the second year that we have build our float at their home. Their patience with us has been unbelievable. Thank you Mr. and Mrs. Gandelot for all of your time, for without you our homecoming festivities would have not been as successful.

We would also like to thank the other residents of Muskoka for putting up with us this past week.

Inn in the Park

To the Editor:

After reading Kathleen Forster's letter to you in the September 22 edition I feel compelled to profess that I too am a preservationist with dreams of Grosse Pointe retaining its uniqueness.

However, in reality, Grosse Pointe has become a preservationist's nightmare with the continual demolition of the old mansions only to be replaced by rather ordinary upscale housing on lots that are far too small to accommodate them.

The idea of the Morrison Estate at 16500 Jefferson becoming an inn is a marvelous one. There is a definite need for lodging in the Grosse Pointe area while preserving "the best of the past." Also, it would boost the image of Grosse Pointe Park at a time it is needed.

I urge all preservationists to stop dreaming and wake up to the reality that there is little time left. Let's all rally behind the investors interested in the Inn in the Park and help save the image of Grosse Pointe.

Doctor will see you now

I visited the doctor's office last week, and while I waited, I thought I was watching a circus. From the chair behind me, a little girl danced. Across the room, two kids were jostling, and the receptionist was calling names like a ringmaster announces acts. First of all, going to the doctor's office can be a humbling experience. I don't understand why they allow all those sick or injured people to sit in the same room. Talk about cause for a quarantine!

Besides picking up a year-old issue of Time, I can't find much more enjoyment than to sit and stare as I daydream. Daydreaming is good, but when your thoughts are broken by a little hellion running around and his mother chasing him, it becomes disturbing. Admit it. While you wait you glance at just about everyone in the place and try to guess what ails him or her. Some don't look sick, while others look like they should skip the office visit and check in at the hospital. The other unexciting thought is when someone sitting near you coughs and doesn't cover his or her mouth. It's conjecture on my part, but do you think the little children who run around are really sick? They look healthy enough to jog the steps, so why is it they require an appointment? Admit it. More than once, you have arrived 15 minutes ahead of your scheduled appointment. You think you've got the inside track on the person whose appointment was after yours, but that doesn't work. As you patiently wait, you see a handful of people check in after you. You know you've got to be next, but you are bypassed and someone who came in after you sees the doctor first. Once you get into the examining room, your adventure is not over. The nurse tells you the doctor will be with you shortly, but you know the doctor's shortly is not comparable to yours. So, you look to the walls for reading material because you forgot that outdated magazine on the chair next to the boy with the fever. On the wall you see plenty of thought-provoking artifacts that cause you to start asking yourself questions. Is my cholesterol high? Yeah, maybe I do need to get my blood pressure checked. Sometimes my ear aches. Is it because I have continued to clean it with a Q-tip?

I Say

All the things that are bad for your body are exposed in posters that only make you wonder. The doctor enters the room, asks you what the problem is and suddenly you've got more aches and pains than when you entered. He checks your blood pressure, and the Velcro and rubber strap that wraps around your arm feels like it's going to squeeze you hard enough to pop a vessel. No time is wasted in placing the stethoscope, that you would swear was preserved in a bucket of ice, on your chest. And the tongue depressor should be flavored. Doctors aren't cruel, but these are the things that make us fear visiting them. The real fear comes when you walk out of the examining room and face paying the bill. Insurance curbs that phobia — in some cases. Before you waltz out of the building, you can't help but notice the matching chairs you sat on. The chairs are all the same, whether it be color, pattern or style. You know Art Van didn't decorate this place, and you question the likes of the interior designer. You also recognize that there are still sick people lined up waiting to get in. The ringmaster behind the counter is still introducing the next person, and you refrain from telling a kid to cover his mouth when he coughs. Sometimes you leave the place feeling sicker than when you went in. But it's now reassuring to know that your cholesterol level is good, your ears are clean, your reflexes aren't slow, but you're no better off knowing what's going on in the world, because the magazine subscription hasn't been renewed since 1983. Seriously, doctors are good people. They heal the sick and are highly intelligent. They are under a great deal of stress and they handle their job admirably and professionally — it's just that I don't enjoy visiting them.

lysi Pony X Press

The Community Newspaper Recycling Center is celebrating its first anniversary with free pony rides on Saturday, Oct. 22, on the grounds of University Liggett School from 10 a.m. until noon. The center opened Oct. 17, 1987, and since then has saved more than 3,000 trees. Kept the environment a bit cleaner, too. Bring a kid for a pony ride — and — since you're coming anyway — bring bundles of newspaper stacked neatly in paper bags or tied with biodegradable string.

Kids: How would you like to trick or treat for Fido? The Michigan Humane Society's Halloween Collection for Animals is a way for youngsters to actively participate in a cause that's probably near and dear to their hearts — pets. Young people can collect money to help the society's cruelty investigation division by asking for donations on Halloween night while they're collecting candy for their own tummies. If you'd like a Humane Society cannister to carry from door to door for donations, stop in at your nearest Michigan Humane Society shelter. For information, call 872-3400.

Where she is . . .

Young women: If you're thinking about competing in the Miss Grosse Pointe Pageant, it's not too soon to tune up your batons, polish your tap dancing shoes, and practice your most dazzling smiles.

The pageant is next May. It's under new management. Angela Kennedy, owner of the Angela Kennedy Dance Studio, is the new executive director and the board includes Pam Arnold, Kara Kennedy-Berns, Lisa Kennedy-Fikany and Elizabeth Puleo.

The contest is a preliminary to the Miss America Pageant. Miss Grosse Pointe will go to Muskegon to compete at the state level for Miss Michigan. Miss Michigan will go to Atlantic City and race for the REAL tiara.

Thousands of dollars in scholarship money will be awarded to winners at all levels. Other nice prizes too.

Contestants will be judged in four categories: personal interview, talent, swimsuit and evening gown.

Any woman between 17 and 26 who lives, works or goes to school in Grosse Pointe or Harper Woods is eligible.

If you're interested, an orientation meeting will be held Monday, Nov. 7 at the Angela Kennedy Dance Studio, 20945 Mack Avenue, at 7:30 p.m. For information, call Lisa Kennedy-Fikany at 881-9872.

Food is important in October

In addition to being National Car Care Month, October is: national apple month, national popcorn poppin' month, national fish and seafood month, and national pizza festival time month.

October also contains national pasta week, a state gumbo festival, a state chowder celebration, a national peanut festival, world food day, the Buzzards Bay scallop festival, and world vegetarian day.

Besides that — it's gourmet adventures month and national restaurant hospitality month. The first week is teens on the town gourmet club week; the second week is national school lunch week; and a lot of organizations are having a lot of Oktoberfests.

Anybody hungry?

Yesterday's Headlines

March 11, 1982 —

The New York Times reported that the Reagan administration, charging that Libya is still supporting terrorist and subversive activities, imposed an embargo on Libyan oil imports and curtailed exports of high tech to that country, even as Col. Muammar Qaddafi met in Vienna with Chancellor Bruno Kreisky of Austria, for four days of talks, his first with a Western leader.

In its firmest denial to date, the chair of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. David C. Jones, said he did not "see any circumstances under which we would intervene with United States Forces in El Salvador."

It was discovered the Reagan administration was providing millions of dollars in covert financial aid to individuals and private organizations in Nicaragua in hopes of bolstering moderate elements there. The operation was being managed by the Central Intelligence Agency.

Seventeen senators and 122 members of the House of Representatives joined and sponsored a resolution calling for a freeze in the levels of Soviet and American nuclear arsenals.

In Moscow, a 36-year-old man who sued the KGB to force them to give him and his families visas was thrown in jail for one year for his gall.

The 24-days of testimony concluded with two stinging and totally different summaries of evidence as to who gave the insulin injection which lapsed Sonny von Bulow into an irreversible coma: Sonny herself, or her husband Claus.

The death six days prior of comic actor John Belushi was attributed to an overdose of heroin and cocaine.

business to five games, but were not sure how to enforce it.

City resident Nancy Hook was named Mrs. Michigan-America for 1982. She was to travel later in the year to Las Vegas to compete in the sixth annual Mrs. America pageant.

A large number of boats at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club were taking advantage of the club's new bubbling system which allowed the owners to keep their boats in the water all winter.

Bigtime rasslin' came to the Pointes in the forms of Doctor X, Cowboy Frankie Lane, and the Fabulous Kangaroos, et al. The evening of high cultural entertainment was used as a fundraiser for South High School.

Grosse Pointe Woods hired its first and only female paramedic, Sally Sullivan, who was busy learning emergency room techniques in training for her certification.

The Wayne County Commission announced it was suing the county's newest union, the Association of County Road Administrators to block the unionization.

The classified ads included this gem: "Experienced Lady wishes light day work." And Grosse Pointe's Greatest Garage Sale was being prepared for later in the month at the parking garage behind Jacobson's.

The Michigan National Bank of Grosse Pointe was soon to move to its new offices at Mack and Roslyn despite many complaints from Roslyn residents that the offices would create an even worse traffic problem.

Village of Grosse Pointe Shores*NOTICE OF ELECTION

To the Qualified Electors of the Village of Grosse Pointe Shores, Wayne and Macomb Counties:

Notice is hereby given that at the general election on November 8, 1988, qualified electors of the Village of Grosse Pointe Shores will have the opportunity to vote for or against each of four proposed amendments to the Village Charter dealing with the subjects of nominating petitions for Village offices, enactment of ordinances, punishment for ordinance violations, and the letting of Village contracts, respectively. The ballot proposals and the text of the proposed charter amendments are as follows:

PROPOSAL NO. I*Ballot Language

Shall Chapter III, Part B, Sections 2, 4 and 6 of the Village Charter be amended to provide that nominating petitions for candidates for elective offices in the Village must be filed not later than 49 days before the Village election, and that nominees must file a written acceptance of their nomination not later than 45 days before said election?

Proposed Amended Provisions*2. Nominations by Petitions

Candidates for any elective office to be voted for at any municipal election under the provisions of this charter, shall be nominated by petition in the manner herein prescribed and the names of such candidates for any such office and no others shall be printed on the election ballot, to be voted for at the next municipal election. The names of all candidates for the respective offices, upon whose behalf a petition shall have been filed in the office of the Village Clerk, at least forty-nine days before the date of said election, signed by not less than fifteen of the qualified electors of said village, shall be printed on the ballot.

4. Petition to be Filed; Requirements

All nominating petitions shall be filed with the village clerk on or before four o'clock p.m. on the forty-ninth day prior to any general or special election at which any officer of the village is to be elected. No person shall be nominated to any office in the village unless the petition in his behalf for such office has been signed by not less than fifteen qualified electors of the village.

6. Nominee to File Acceptance:

Any nominee willing to become a candidate for any elective office shall on or before four p.m. of the forty-fifth day prior to such election, file with the clerk a written acceptance of such nomination in substantially the following form:

I hereby accept the nomination for the office of _____ in the Village of Grosse Pointe Shores.

Signature: _____

PROPOSAL NO. II*Ballot Language

Shall Chapter V, Sections 2, 3 and 5 of the Village Charter be amended and a new Section 16 of Chapter V be added, to provide, with respect to notice, effective dates and codification of ordinances, that notice of the enactment of an ordinance shall be provided by publishing the ordinance or a synopsis of the ordinance in a newspaper circulated in the village within fifteen days after the enactment of the ordinance; that an ordinance shall become effective upon publication except if a later date is provided in the ordinance; and that the Village may codify its ordinances without publishing the entire code in full?

Proposed Amended Provisions*2. Enacting Clause

The enacting clause of all ordinances shall be: "The Village of Grosse Pointe Shores ordains." All ordinances, except as otherwise provided, shall require for their passage the concurrence of a majority of the council elect.

3. When Effective

An ordinance shall become effective upon the publication of the ordinance or a synopsis of the ordinance, as specified in this chapter, except that if the ordinance provides for a later effective date the ordinance shall become effective at such later date.

5. Notice of Ordinances

Within 15 days after the passage of an ordinance, the ordinance or a synopsis of the ordinance shall be published in a newspaper circulated in the village. Immediately after such publication, the Clerk shall enter in the record of ordinances in the blank space to be provided for such purpose under the record of the ordinance, a certificate under his hand, stating the date and place of such publication. Such certificate shall be prima facie evidence of the due publication of the ordinance or the synopsis.

16. Codification of Ordinances*(New Section)

The village shall have the power to codify, recodify and continue in code the village's municipal ordinances, in whole or in part, without the necessity of publishing the entire code in full. The ordinance adopting the code and ordinances repealing, amending, continuing or adding to the code shall be published as required by law provided that notification states where a copy of the entire code can be reviewed and obtained. The ordinance adopting the code may amend, repeal, revise or rearrange ordinances or parts of ordinances by references to the title only.

PROPOSAL NO. III*Ballot Language

Shall Chapter V, Section 7 of the Village Charter be amended to increase the maximum punishment for violation of Village ordinances from $100 and/or 90 days imprisonment, and to provide for imprisonment either in the Village prison, if any, the Wayne or Macomb County jail, or any other institution authorized by Michigan law to receive prisoners from the Village?

Proposed Amended Provision*7. Punishment for Violations

The village shall have authority to provide punishment for violation of an ordinance of the village. Such punishment shall be provided in the ordinance. Such punishment shall be by fine of not more than $500.00, or 90 days imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court, together with the costs of prosecution. Such imprisonment may be in the village prison, if any, in the jail of Wayne or Macomb County, or in any other penal institution in the State of Michigan authorized by law to receive prisoners from the village.

PROPOSAL NO. IV*Ballot Language

Shall Chapter IX, Part A, Sections 1, 2 and 3 of the Village Charter, relating to contracts entered into by the Village, be amended to authorize the Village to enter into contracts for the purchase of materials or for construction with a cost of $10,000 or less without the preparation of specifications and sealed bids for such contracts; to permit the Village Superintendent, with the written consent of the President, to enter into such contracts costing more than $10,000 without specifications or sealed bids in the event of emergency; to permit the Village, by its departments, officers and employees, to perform any public work; to require that public work being performed by Village officers and employees acting outside of their regular duties and receiving additional compensation for such work shall be contracted for in accordance with the specifications and bidding requirements of Chapter IX; and to permit public improvements costing $10,000 or less to be performed without drawings, profiles and estimates?

Proposed Amended Provisions*1. When Specifications and Bids Required

No contract shall be entered into by the village for the making of any public improvement or for the purchase of any materials, tools, apparatus or any other thing or things, the consideration or cost of which shall exceed Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000), until specifications shall be prepared therefor, and published advertisement made for sealed bids thereon; Provided, however, that in the event of emergency, the Village Superintendent, with the written consent of the President, may enter into such contracts costing in excess of Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000), without necessity of specifications or sealed bids. The village shall have the right to reject any or all sealed bids received pursuant to this section.

2. Public Work

Subject to the provisions of this charter, the village may through its departments, officers and employees perform public work of all kinds or it may let any of such work by contract; Provided, however, that public work provided by officers or employees of the village acting outside of their regular duties and who will receive compensation additional to that which they receive in performance of their regular duties shall be contracted for in accordance with Section 1 of Part A of this Charter.

3. Plans and Drawings Submitted

No public improvement costing more than Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000) shall be contracted for or commenced until drawings, profiles and estimates for the same shall have been submitted to the council, and approved by it; Provided, however, that drawings, profiles and estimates for public improvements costing $10,000 or less shall be provided upon the request of the Village Superintendent. Such drawings, profiles and estimates, or copies thereof, shall thereafter remain on file in the office of the Village Clerk for public inspection.

Buying an American car is easier said than done

The Eagle Premier is truly an automobile for the times. Styled in Italy, engineered in the United States, offering a choice of a 2.5-liter four-cylinder engine of Jeep heritage or a 3.0-liter V-6 derived from a French and Swedish development and built in Canada, it is marketed by Chrysler Corp. with the all-American name Eagle.

The car was intended to carry the French nameplate Renault, but was one of the jewels which Chrysler Corp. acquired when it bought American Motors last year. So instead of a French marque from American Motors, we have an American nameplate from Chrysler Corp. It seems likely that this was the car American Motors needed, but it came a bit too late to save the maker. It is also the car AMC dealers have long waited for.

Chrysler's decision to market the front-wheel-drive Premier along with the Jeep line through the AMC dealers it inherited was a logical move. It gives AMC dealers a good, upscale passenger car to sell, one which could conflict with certain models on Chrysler dealer showroom floors.

With the smaller Eagle Medallion recently re-introduced by Chrysler and the new Eagle Summit (a four-door version of the Mitsubishi Mirage; the Dodge and Plymouth Colt is the same car in two-door hatchback form), Eagle-Jeep's former AMC dealers have the strongest lineup they've seen since the bathtub Nash and the step-down Hudson passed from the scene.

And the Eagle-Jeep showroom is an automotive UN in miniature, with cars of worldwide heritage reflecting the growing internationalization of the auto industry.

The Medallion is also a classy, comfortable car. Quite a few are on the road with Renault nameplates, so Chrysler launched it again as an Eagle. With its 2.2-liter four-cylinder engine and front-wheel drive, it competes with some Dodge and Plymouth lines.

The Summit looks a lot like the Plymouth Sundance and Dodge Shadow four-door sedans. Since it's a Mitsubishi, it costs more but its quality is good too.

The Eagle Premier, designed by Giorgetto Giugiaro, is one of the best-looking cars in its class, a car that looks more expensive than it is. And the salesman who can get the prospect to test-drive it has a good crack at selling him or her because it also drives and feels like a more expensive car than it is. (Prices are in the $15,000-$17,000 range.)

The mixed heritage of the Eagle lineup is a manifestation of a trend that has been going on for years — the consolidation of a world automotive industry, in which ties between makers of various countries proliferate in disregard to national boundaries.

The proliferation is so widespread and complex, it would be difficult to find a major car maker — or automotive supplier — not involved in such cross-border arrangements.

American auto makers are selling foreign-built cars and engaging in joint ventures to operate factories here and abroad.

General Motors was the first domestic automaker to build cars in the United States under a joint venture agreement with a foreign maker. GM and Toyota combined in 1984 in the 12-year project, New United Motor Man-

Other GM ventures overseas include ownership of Lotus Cars of Great Britain; an arrangement with Fiat of Italy for machine tools; a venture with Volvo for heavy trucks; a deal with Pirellina, which designed and builds bodies for Cadillac's two-seater Allante, and joint venture with China National Automotive Corp. to produce engines.

Awards planners

Planning the 14th annual Beautification Awards Night are members of the Grosse Pointe Woods Beautification Commission. They are, from left, Allen Dickinson, Co-chairperson Mary Mitts, Co-chairperson Angelo DiClemente, Joyce Cook and Frederick Orth. The event will be held at the Lochmoor Golf Club Nov. 9 and will honor the business and residential community for its efforts in beautifying the city.

Children's Home still considering after-care plans

The Children's Home of Detroit Board of Trustees voted to continue exploring the possibility of offering out-patient substance abuse counseling at its Cook Road facility.

In a statement prepared by President Nancy Nicholson, the board decided at its Oct. 13 meeting to research chemical-dependency programs from around the country in order to find a program that will satisfy the Grosse Pointe Woods City Council.

The council denied a necessary ordinance Sept. 12 that would have allowed the Children's Home to build an out-patient after-care counseling center for chemically dependent teenagers and their families. The facility was planned to be at the Children's Home Cook Road complex.

The council blocked the planned facility because it feared the Children's Home could not restrict its counseling program to Grosse Pointe youths only.

Nicholson said the Children's Home is looking for a program that would be limited to teenagers and their families living within the geographic area of the Grosse Pointe Public Schools System, including those attending the private schools with the Grosse Pointe district.

Annual antiquarian book sale

More than 10,000 collectible books and print items will be offered for sale at the 13th Annual Midwest Antiquarian & Collectible Book Sale, sponsored by the Friends of the Detroit Public Library and held on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 21-22, from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., at the Main Detroit Public Library, 5201 Woodward just north of Warren Avenue in the University Cultural Center.

The Friends of the Library will have a sale booth offering over a thousand donated items selling at special bargain prices. Proceeds from the sale of these items will be used to benefit the Detroit Public Library.

There is no admission charge to the sale area and no advance preview will be held. Sale booths are located on the Cass Avenue side of the Library in the concourse area on two floors. Reasonably-priced underground parking is available across the street from the Main Library in the Cultural Center Garage which can be accessed just south of the Detroit Institute of Arts at Woodward Avenue and Farnsworth.

Twenty-five private book dealers have been invited to display and sell their wares at the main library during this unique two-day event. Collectible and antiquarian books and print materials, autographs, graphics, illustrations, posters, and reference materials will be available the Birmingham-Bloomfield Symphony Orchestra and the Detroit Sinfonietta Chamber Orchestra. He has conducted the DSO several times, both at the Meadow Brook Music Festival and at Ford Auditorium.

That makes for a busy schedule upon which, Resnick says, he thrives.

"It's a juggling act," Resnick admits. "But the Grosse Pointe Symphony gives me the prerogative of waiting until the DSO schedule comes out before scheduling its own season. That is certainly helpful."

It also helps to be so dedicated to the cause of the Grosse Pointe Symphony. Resnick and his wife, Faye Ann, spent the 40th anniversary with the friends and fans of the symphony at the group's annual kickoff event, the Grosse Pointe Symphony's Inner Circle of Musical Chairs.

As both player and arranger, if you will, for the DSO and the Grosse Pointe Symphony, Resnick has the unique opportunity to experience classical music from both sides of the podium.

"Musically, when playing for the orchestra downtown, I am fulfilling the wishes of the conductor. And that is satisfying in its own way. Here, with the Grosse Pointe Symphony, I have a larger responsibility in terms of what I must do for the orchestra and what I must do for the audience," Resnick explains.

"As conductor, I must fulfill an obligation to the composer to interpret his work in the best and most honest way I can. And when it all falls into place, the audience senses that and responds.

"It is difficult to achieve on a regular basis... but when you do, it's wonderful."

It is also not an easy task for Resnick to pinpoint one or two special moments from his 30 years with the Grosse Pointe Symphony.

"Obviously, some performances are better than others. I recall the first time we played Dvorak's New World Symphony — we will do it again on Oct. 30 — it was a special time.

"We've also done many concerts with young artists who were just starting out and who have since made big impacts on the music world. A few who come to mind are Cynthia Raim, Ruth Laredo, Mischa Kotler, Ruth Burczyk and Ralph Votapek. Mark Lawrence performed with us as a youngster. He is now principal trombonist with the San Francisco Symphony."

Most of all, Resnick says, he remembers the people he's met over the years.

"I cherish those friendships."

As music director, Resnick programs the entire Grosse Pointe Symphony schedule. He attributes the quality of the symphony's "product" to the fact that the orchestra members and its board of directors has supported his decisions on programming.

"They have seen eye-to-eye with me on my goal to present the highest quality of music regardless of its difficulty. We don't compromise. And when I say quality, I mean that in the classical repertoire there is quality music and there is music that is not high quality.

"We use top quality music, the best arrangements, even when it means extra expense," Resnick says.

An example was this past spring, when Resnick scheduled a performance of songs from "Carousel" by Rogers and Hammerstein. "We got the authentic arrangement of the work from the Rogers and Hammerstein Library in New York.

"Does the arrangement make a difference? Absolutely," he says.

The symphony's support of Resnick's decisions about quality arrangements and top performers also makes a difference, he adds.

"With different people on the board (Resnick has been conductor through the terms of 16 symphony presidents) there still has been a tradition of excellence established that has carried through."

The symphony has always managed to draw top professional musicians from the area, despite the fact that the community orchestra does not pay its musicians. Even guest musicians — who are paid — often express an interest in working for a nominal fee, just to have the experience of playing with the Grosse Pointe Symphony.

"That's what's wonderful about the orchestra. We hope to continue to attract good, young talent. We attract the young people who want the experience of playing with a fine professional orchestra and as long as we do that, we'll remain successful," Resnick says.

Resnick also says he'll remain with the orchestra as long as he can.

"I'm sort of in the lap of the gods there," he says with a laugh. "But I'll stay as long as it's fun. And it always has been fun. There hasn't been a dull or uninteresting moment in the 30 years," Resnick says.

Chances are, Grosse Pointe Symphony audiences feel the same way.

out due process, which is contrary to the 14th Amendment of the U.S. Constitution and the state constitution.

Catlin said that since the restraining order sought against the pit bull ban was denied, the city can continue to enforce the new ordinances.

The ban took the form of amendments added to the city's existing vicious animal and impoundment ordinances.

One amendment made it illegal to own, harbor or keep any animal known as a pit bull terrier, which was defined as, but not limited to, "Pit Bull, American Pit Bull Terrier, American Staffordshire Terrier, Yankee Terrier, Pit Bulldog, Fighting Bulldog, American Pit Bulldog, Pit Bull Terrier or Pit Terrier, registered or non-registered, or any dog mixed or crossbred with any of the aforementioned breeds and/or having the physical appearance and characteristics of same."

The amendment to the im-

-pound ordinance permits the Woods Public Safety Department to impound any animal believed to be one of those described in the pit bull ban. Such an animal could be impounded and held until a court has ruled on whether the animal is in fact one of those banned.

The Public Safety Department has begun notifying pit bull owners of the new ordinance. As of Monday, Woods police reports indicated no instances in which a pit bull has been impounded.

Shortly after the ban was adopted, Public Safety Director Jack Patterson said his department was not going to put out a citywide dragnet and start hauling the banned animals in. He said he was going to inform owners of suspected pit bulls of the new ordinance and give them a reasonable length of time to find the dogs a new home.

If the ban stands up in court and residents have their dogs confiscated, they can appeal through Wayne County Circuit Court.

Farms to research pit bull ordinances

The city of Grosse Pointe Farms has become the most recent municipality to look at ordinances banning pit bulls, a breed of dogs many people believe are inherently vicious and dangerous.

The Farms City Council Monday night received a memorandum from Public Safety Director Robert Ferber asking the council to begin legal research concerning the feasibility of a breed-specific ban and other more stringent restrictions to existing vicious animal ordinances.

Ferber's request is not a recommendation to adopt a ban on pit bull terriers. He simply believes the council should begin looking at what is legally possible to restrict vicious animals.

In preparing his memo to the council, Ferber did much of the research himself. He obtained samples of animal control ordinances from municipalities throughout the country, including the pit bull ban ordinance from Grosse Pointe Woods.

The Farms council indicated it would rather take a carefully researched approach to handling the vicious animal problem so that if an ordinance is adopted, it will stand up in court.

The council referred the matter to the Ordinance Committee for discussion and possible recommendations.

Car in Woods stolen, found in Clinton River

A car belonging to a Grosse Pointe Woods man in the 1300 block of Hawthorne was reported stolen Sept. 28 and later found in the Clinton River.

According to Woods police reports, the man returned home at 12:40 a.m. and discovered his 1981 Buick Century was taken from his backyard. At 2:35 p.m. on the same day, Clinton Township police found the vehicle in the Clinton River.

The vehicle's owner had no idea who could have taken the car, and he said he was the only person with keys to the Buick.

Players will soon see new Michigan Lottery terminals being installed at their favorite retailer locations. The following talks about this change.

Q: Why is a change being made?

A: In order to maximize net revenues for the state, the Lottery recognizes that it must replace its outdated computer terminals with state-of-the-art equipment which will allow for growth, as well as improved service for players.

Q: Who will provide these terminals?

A: GTECH, a leader in the worldwide lottery industry, won the contract to provide this equipment to the state.

Q: When will we see these new terminals?

A: The Lottery will begin the conversion process during late October.

Q: When will the process be complete?

A: By early 1989, all 3,800 on-line retailers throughout the state will have the new equipment.

Q: What's new that players will see?

A: A revised Lotto bet slip, as well as a new Daily Game bet slip will make game play easier. Players will also enjoy the new computerized message screen—much like a mini TV screen—that retailers have the option of using with their new terminals.

Q: What other differences are there in the new system?

A: We're very excited about a new security feature. Ticket sales will be simultaneously recorded at two locations on three separate computers to safeguard wagering activity in the event of a disaster such as fire, tornado, etc.

Q: Are there new games on the horizon?

A: The GTECH system includes an extensive library of games and features. We will certainly explore all possible options, but no new games are in the works at present.

For asking the question which led to this column, Irene Ondresik of Warren will receive 50 free "Fall Cash" instant game tickets.

If you have a Lottery question not yet covered in these monthly columns, send it to: "Winners Circle," Michigan Lottery, P.O. Box 30077, Lansing, MI 48909.

Park DDA sets sights on improvements

By Ronald J. Bernas
Staff Writer

Grosse Pointe Park has embarked on a program of development and preservation meant to bring the city into the future strong and stable.

One of the main aspects is the Downtown Development Authority, which encompasses commercial areas along Jefferson, Kercheval and Mack — older areas that are prime candidates for face lifts.

"The DDA is a creature of the state legislature," said Lola Graves, who was recently named chairwoman of the DDA. It is a funding vehicle and an advisory board whose duty it is to upgrade the commercial areas included in the DDA area.

Those areas included in the Park DDA are the south side of Jefferson from the westerly city limits to Westchester, and the north side of Jefferson from the westerly city limits to Somerset.

The 12-member DDA board appointed by the council is made up of residents and business owners in the Park.

A DDA is funded through tax-increment financing. That system, according to Jeff Mueller, administrative assistant to the city manager, sets the year the DDA was formed as the base year for taxes. The taxes on any appreciation in the DDA areas during the years the DDA is in effect goes to that body. When the DDA is no longer in effect, taxes are distributed in the usual manner.

"It's important to say that the county and the schools don't really lose any money," Mueller said. "They just get the same amount as they did when the DDA started, and when it ends, they get a big windfall."

Graves said, "As we look at older municipalities that have had their commercial strips decline due to shifts in residential growth, as well as the convenience of shopping strips and malls, one can see why the older cities in the state pressed the state legislature for the development of DDAs that are designed to allow municipal commercial strips to be maintained."

The board meets and reviews proposals for development and renovation projects.

"The proposals are reviewed on the basis of which would generate the most money, and it's consistent with the area and with the master plan," Graves said. "That is the most important one."

"It is our task to review the proposals and vote among ourselves as to which plan would be for the greatest good for the community," she said.

The next step is to make recommendations to the city council as to which project, in their point of view, would be in the best interest of the city.

"We're simply an advisory board, much like the planning commission," Graves said. The plans the DDA recommends for approval must receive the recommendation of the planning commission, and the approval of the city council, and must go through a series of public hearings to get public input.

The DDA must deal with only what exists at the time, the uses for the land must be developed with the current zoning in mind, although they have asked for rezoning from the council.

Mayor Palmer Heenan calls the DDA "a strategy committee of citizens" which works as a "catalyst to refresh and revitalize the tired look that Jefferson Avenue has, but to always be in harmony with the concerns, or perceived concerns of the residents."

These development jobs would be done eventually, through the city administration office, but having another body do the leg-work regarding marketing and talking with developers helps all concerned, he said.

Heenan said the DDA is also working with an architect to develop the public area of Jefferson, which includes the sidewalks, the lighting and the streets.

The first DDA-inspired project, the Westchester/Nottingham office project, is just under way after months of work with developers and council and planning commission.

Other projects in the works include an office development that would include the former Unical station, the bank and the vacant lot on the east side of the bank; and the boulevarding of Jefferson in the DDA boundaries.

Both projects must go through the whole gamut of public hearings before the planning commission and receive city council approval.

Local theater schedules auditions

Grosse Pointe Theatre will hold open auditions for actors in all six roles (three men, three women, all ages) for its production of "Fatal Attraction," a psychological thriller by Bernard Slade.

Time and place is Saturday, Nov. 5, 1 to 5 p.m., and Sunday, Nov. 6, noon to 4 p.m., at 315 Fisher Road, Grosse Pointe, the group's rehearsal studio. No appointment is necessary. The play will run Jan. 18-28 in Fries Auditorium at the War Memorial.

"Fatal Attraction" (not the movie) is a slick, contemporary whodunit, full of fascinating twists of plot and character. A glamorous but fading movie actress, her marriage dissolving, retreats to her remote, luxurious Nantucket beach house. A rash of murders soon begins, and the case is handled by a local Colombo-type lieutenant and his witty sidekick.

Other interesting characters include an itchy, unscrupulous photographer, the actress's agent, and her artist husband. It is being directed by George Hunt of Buckingham Road. Producer is Ruth Richards of Warren; stage manager, Dianne Pegg of S. Oxford Road; and technical director, Tony Zola of Ridgmont.

For more information, call 881-4004.

Red Cross teaches parenting

The American Red Cross will offer "Parenting" on four consecutive Wednesdays beginning on Nov. 9, from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Southeastern Michigan Chapter Headquarters, 100 Mack Avenue, between Woodward and John R.

For more information or to register, call Barbara Spillman at 967-0966.

Advance registration is required. Certificates will be issued upon the successful completion of the course.

Saratoga receives award

The 1988 Humanitarian Award for outstanding medical rehabilitation programs was presented to Saratoga Community Hospital by the Michigan Legislative Council for the Handicapped.

K. Rand Dykman, executive director of Saratoga, accepted the award from Gerald Harris, state chairman of the Michigan Legislative Council for the Handicapped, at the awards luncheon Oct. 9.

The Michigan House of Representatives paid tribute to Saratoga's rehab programs in a special resolution. Rep. Rick Sitz offered the resolution which was then passed by the entire House.

Saratoga was selected to receive the award for its extensive rehabilitation services geared to aid individuals toward functional recovery and independence. The goal-oriented treatment program at Saratoga is set up by an interdisciplinary team and is structured according to the individual's needs.

The rehab team consists of a physiatrist (physician specializing in physical medicine), physical therapists, occupational therapists, speech/language pathologists, audiologists, rehab nurses, dietitians and social workers. In addition, prosthetists, orthotists, psychologists and vocational counselors are available as needed.

For information on the hospital's rehab programs, call 245-1317.

Seniors commended by Scholarship Program

Twenty-three Grosse Pointe students have been named Commended Students in the 1989 National Merit Scholarship Program.

Twelve South seniors: Nicole Beaufait, Gabriella C. Bruno, Rebecca R. Hunt, Thomas F. Huse, Susan Kolodziejczyk, William D. Leonard, Mary C. Maycock, Philip M. Orton, Jason A. Parol, Thad J. Scott, Matthew D. Smith and Kristen A. Youngblood.

Three North seniors: Timothy M. Ballew, Krista L. Hill and Joel R. Rojas.

Eight University Liggett School seniors: Moon Young Chung, Alexis Collins, Karen Galsterer, Allyson Goodwin, Ann Marie Gray, Hedi Sucek, John Tintinalli and Tracy Tompkins.

These students placed in the top 50,000 of more than one million participants in the 34th annual Merit Program and will receive letters of commendation in recognition of their outstanding academic promise.

The 35,000 students nationwide who receive Commended Student recognition have scored slightly below the level required for semifinalist standing in the Merit Program. Only the 15,000 semifinalists, whose names were announced in mid-September, continue in the competition for some 6,000 Merit Scholarships to be awarded in the spring of 1989.

An officer of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, which conducts the program said, "The very high test performance of the young men and women who are honored as Commended Students in the Merit Program is indicative of exceptional scholastic ability. We hope that NMSC's recognition of these high school students will increase their motivation to make the best use of their talents and to develop the skills that will be needed by the future leaders of our nation."

"Being named a Commended Student in this keen competition is a credit to these young citizens as well as to their schools, which play a key role in their development."

College Night at South

All Grosse Pointe sophomores, juniors and seniors are invited to attend College Night Wednesday, Oct. 26, at 7:15 p.m. at Grosse Pointe South High School.

The informational evening is hosted by South and the South Mothers' Club and is for students and parents.

There will be opportunities to meet representatives from more than 100 Michigan and out-of-state colleges and universities, including Albion, Boston College, University of Michigan, University of Miami (in Ohio) and the University of Southern California as well as all three U.S. military academies.

Three 30-minute sessions will feature formal presentations and many colleges will be represented in the gymnasium in a college fair format.

Plan to arrive early, since parking will be limited. For more information, call 343-2130.

Paper drive

Maire Elementary School will conduct its fall paper drive on Saturday, Oct. 22, between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Early birds may drop off papers in the parking lot beginning Friday morning or between 3:45 and 4:30 Friday afternoon.

Papers should be tied in bundles or placed in paper bags. Plastic bags are not acceptable. Deliver to the school parking lot at 740 Cadieux.

Mich Con hosts poster contest

Michigan Consolidated Gas Company is looking for creative students in Grosse Pointe area schools to participate in the utility's annual Natural Gas Energy Awareness Poster Contest.

Family fun night

The Grosse Pointe schools Department of Community Education will sponsor the first Family Fun Night Friday, Oct. 21 at Brownell Middle School.

Librarian Peggy Kitchel will provide storytelling entertainment for the young and young-at-heart. Bev Harrison of the school system's Instructional Media Center will also be on hand to assist children with arts and crafts projects. Participants can shoot baskets, play volleyball, swim, watch a video, try their hands at ping-pong, or practice some tumbling skills.

Admission is $1 per person. Fresh cider and donuts will be available for a nominal charge.

From the field of entries, 12 outstanding posters from MichCon's Southeastern Michigan service area will be selected, earning the artists U.S. Savings Bonds. First and second place Southeastern Michigan winners from each of the four grade categories also will compete in a state contest.

Similar Natural Gas Energy Awareness Poster Contests will be held in other MichCon service areas. District winners then will compete in the MichCon state final competition.

Students in grades kindergarten through 12 and special education are eligible to participate in the contest. All schools — public, private and parochial — must be located within MichCon service areas. Designs should be original posters, promoting a specific natural gas conservation practice or emphasizing the importance of conserving natural gas as an energy source.

A panel of artists, conservationists and community representatives will judge the poster designs in four grade categories:

kindergarten through 3rd grades, 4th through 6th grades, 7th through 9th grades, and 10th through 12th grades. U.S. Savings Bonds will be awarded to the top three winners in each grade category.

First and second place winners in each grade category in the MichCon Southeastern District service area then will compete with the first and second place winners in four grade categories from the Company's Western, Northern/Upper Peninsula, Western and Central Michigan District service area. U.S. Savings bonds will be awarded to the top two winners in each grade category.

Student entries in the MichCon Southeastern District competition must be received by Nov. 10 at the Art Education Office, 842 Schools Center Building, 5057 Woodward Ave., Detroit 48202. For more detailed information on contest design rules, call Carol Alexander at the Art Education Office, (313) 494-1560 or the MichCon Education Programs Department, (313) 256-5123.

Homecoming<sup>2</sup>

Who says you can't go home again? Yeah, OK, Thomas Wolfe said it, but don't tell that to the thousands of Grosse Pointers, both Norsemen and Blue Devils, who lined the streets and the stadiums Oct. 15 to watch their teams win. Later they swarmed the dance floor to trip the light fantastic, in gowns and tuxes, and two special young women wore crowns.
On the gridiron, the teams held tradition by decisively winning their homecoming games — the Norsemen held back the Shorians from Lake Shore High School 35-13, and the South Blue Devils sent the Tars of Anchor Bay out to sea with a 29-21 victory. The games followed parades in which both schools had a chance to show the town their school spirit with floats, cheers and chants.

North also had an alumni tent, and South hosted a pancake breakfast, both in honor of the new and the old alumni.

Two young women will always remember Homecoming 1988 as the year they took home the crown. Above, James Bellanca watches his daughter Roselia as she is fitted with the queen's tiara. At right, Julie Berger, North's queen, was greeted with cheers as her dad, Gary, watched.

Parade-watchers of all ages lined Sunningdale to watch the floats go by. Below, North's senior float of Oscar the Grouch, sitting in garbage, started coming apart at the seams, so seniors John Petz, Rob Zielinski, Tom Lester (not from North), Pete Mourad, Ben Gaskin and Bob Strasse held it together.

Vicious dog threatens boy, woman in Farms

A woman and her 4-year-old nephew were allegedly threatened by a Labrador retriever while walking along Moross in Grosse Pointe Farms.

According to Farms police reports, the woman and boy were walking in the 150 block of Moross when the black female Lab came racing toward them. The dog was barking, growling and acting as if it was going to bite, the woman said.

She said she was able to pull the child out of the way when the dog was only a foot away. She yelled at the dog and she ran down the street with her nephew.

She told public safety officers she wanted the dog's owners prosecuted under the Farms' vicious animal ordinance.

Birdseed weekend

Seven Ponds Nature Center is holding a weekend of programs and special sales for bird feeding enthusiasts.

On Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 22 and 23, participants will learn to set up a feeding station, foods to serve and how to deal with pests. The slide show, "Winter Guests at Your Feeder," will teach you to identify familiar birds of this area and some of their colorful habits. The program begins each day at 2 p.m.

Running all weekend long is a sale on birdseed, feeders and foods. A large supply of sunflower, cracked corn and thistle will be offered at reasonable prices.

The Nature Shop carries a comprehensive selection of feeders, including the Droll Yankee tube feeders, Aspect window feeders and Seven Ponds wooden bin feeders.

Seven Ponds Nature Center is a nature education center of the Michigan Audubon Society located three miles west of Dryden at 3854 Crawford Road. For further information, call 796-3200.

Culver open house

An admissions open house for the Culver Summer Camps and Culver Academies will be held Tuesday, Oct. 25, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of John W. Lambrecht at 411 Country Club Lane, Grosse Pointe Farms.

The camps provide the largest summer program for youths in the nation.

Located on 1,800 acres at Lake Maxinkuckee in north central Indiana, the camps have everything from aviation to riding to sailing and scuba diving for the 9- to 17-year-old youngsters who attend.

For more information, write to Culver Summer Camps, Culver, Ind. 46511 or call 219-842-8207 for summer information or contact the Winter School Admissions Office at 219-842-8200.

School board honors volunteers

Seven community residents were recently honored by the Grosse Pointe Board of Education for distinguished volunteer service to the public school system.

Ann Disser, Joan Coyle, William Ehrlich, Alice Maun, Karen McLeod, Judith Preston and Sarah Verlinden were awarded engraved school bells for their wide-ranging contributions to the school system.

As president of the South High School Mothers' Club, Disser organized more than 500 volunteers who provided a variety of services, both social and academic, to the school: College Night, the All-Night Graduation Party, two major fundraisers which netted $18,000 for student scholarships and $8,000 for student enrichment.

Coyle has been involved in almost every activity that has gone on at Richard for the past eight years and at Brownell for the past year. She has worked on pizza dinners and balloon launches, flower sales and book fairs, Santa's workshops and finance committees. She organized a parent support group for parents of fifth graders as well as a fun night and dance for middle school students. She also completed the Maplegrove training program.

While president of the Maire PTO, Ehrlich initiated the school's Art Fair and Athletic Night and began the purchase of playground equipment. He arranged overnight trips and lectures at the University of Michigan for Maire and Pierce students. At South, he was instrumental in starting the hockey program and still loyally attends all hockey games. As a dedicated ticket-taker and gatekeeper at football and basketball games, Ehrlich has been a special part of South's athletic department for more than 20 years.

From the time Maun's children entered Richard School, she has been an active volunteer, serving as room parent, teaching noontime science enrichment classes and participating in the balloon launch, Richardfest and Grandparents' Day. The Richard School Science Attic and the computer lab were both organized by Maun. She is also responsible for the Richard School Geographical Family Map as well as the six banners that decorate the school.

McLeod's volunteer activities began at Ferry School and continued at Parcels. In addition to volunteering in the classroom, she was a Picture Lady and taught Junior Great Books and other noontime classes. She also served on the Strategic Planning Committee and is presently vice president of the PTO Council.

Preston began her volunteer career at Mason Elementary School and continued to volunteer as her children moved on to Parcels and North. At North, she accepted a special challenge — starting the North Choir Parent Support Group. She began by organizing ticket sales along with the other details involved in choir performances. Last year, even though she had no children at North, she was responsible for coordinating all the committees and activities to raise $70,000 to send the North choir to perform at Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts in New York City.

Trombly, Pierce and South have all been the beneficiaries of Verlinden's volunteer services. She has been involved in countless activities over the past 13 years, including school millage elections and staff appreciation activities. She has also served as president of the Trombly PTO, as a member of the Pierce PTO Executive Board and parent liaison/organizer for the Grosse Pointe South music program.

The seven volunteers were chosen for recognition by a special committee of the school board, composed of Fred Adams, Gloria Konsler and L. Jane Nutter, who served as chairwoman.

Board President Jon B. Gandelot and Vice President Carl D. Anderson made the presentations at the board's regular meeting Oct. 10.

It's apple cider time

Summer's record high temperatures should help produce a sweeter crop of apples this fall, and that means sweeter cider-sipping for mill visitors, reports AAA Michigan.

Apples not only taste great plucked from a tree or pressed into cider, but when used in a medically supervised diet can help to curb cholesterol, heart disease and diabetes.

According to the Michigan Dietetic Association, apples are a perfect food and are cholesterol-free and rich in potassium; contain no added sugar, salt or fat; and make a tasty 80-calorie snack between meals. Among the most popular types are Jonathan, Rome and Red Ida.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture predicts state orchards will yield 700 million pounds less than second-ranked New York. Washington leads the nation with 3.2 billion pounds. Michigan hit a record high last year with 1.15 billion pounds of apples plucked from orchards.

AAA Michigan's 1988 Cider Mill Guide lists 102 sites with everything from antique water-powered apple presses to drive-through cider and doughnut service.

Many mills also offer related activities, such as "pick your own" orchards, hay wagon and train rides, and animal petting farms for tots.

A gallon of cider averages $2.52 per gallon this fall, up 7 cents since last year, with prices ranging from $1.40 to $4.00 depending on location. Doughnuts cost $1.90 to $3.50 a dozen, up from last year's $1.55 to $3.

Former resident wins national award

Joe Wade Formicola, the drive-time disc jockey at WWWW-FM (106.7) in Detroit, was awarded the prestigious Country Music Association's Disc Jockey of the Year for major markets Oct. 10 at the 22nd annual country music awards show. Detroit, you say, with a national country disc jockey? Well, hold on to your hats, partners, that ain't all. Formicola grew up in Grosse Pointe. Woods that is. And his parents, Leo and Grace, still live here.

"It's great to win something like this," Formicola said. "Especially in Detroit. Usually the winner is from Texas or someplace like that."

To win the award, disc jockeys are nominated by Country Music Association members and the top vote-getters are then voted on again to whittle the semi-finalists down to five finalists. The finalists then send a tape to be judged by their peers and the winner is announced before the Country Performer of the Year is revealed.

"It's like Miss America," he said. "You can only win it once, but from now on I can be called CMA's Disc Jockey of the Year."

A graduate of Grosse Pointe South High in 1966, Formicola has worked at radio stations from Raleigh to Houston, and came back to Detroit — where he's always wanted to be — early this year.

In 1984 he was named Billboard Magazine's Country Radio Personality of the Year for media markets.

"It's tough to be on in the morning slot," he said, adding that he is honored to be working the same time slot with Detroit legends, like J.P. McCarthy and Dick Purtan.

Formicola basked in his glory only for a while, but then he was back on the radio proving to everyone why he won.

"The award is nice, but we have to go out every morning and do what we're supposed to do every morning," he said.

What's next for Formicola? "Tomorrow's show."

Wayne County recycles office paper

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara has recently started a county-wide paper recycling program for county employees.

Recognizing the problem of the disposal of solid waste as "one of the most important and pressing issues concerning Wayne County and the nation as a whole," McNamara has established an office paper recycling program at several county departments, the most recent being the Wayne County Building.

"We have had this program in operation for the past two months at the Neudeck Building, and the Wyandotte Treatment Plant," said McNamara. "This month we will begin recycling at the Wayne County Building, and eventually at all of the county buildings."

Each employee is responsible for recycling his own wastepaper. Desktop trays are given to each employee for sorting their used office paper — white paper into one; colored paper into another; computer paper into another. Newspapers are collected separately. When these trays are full, they are emptied into collection boxes located on each floor. When the collection boxes are full, a crew from the Alternative Community Workforce empties them into holding bins in the basement. When the storage bins are full, the Workforce empties them into 4 x 4 gaylord boxes set on pallets on the truck. This load is then delivered to the recycling center where the boxes are weighed and certified weight slips are given to the driver. The recycling center pays the county approximately $90 for every ton of paper.

During the first month of operation at the Neudeck Building, the county delivered 2,200 pounds of paper to the processor, generating $90.54.

"Not only does the county receive money for the recycled paper, there are other savings involved," stated McNamara. "With this first load alone, we saved 3 cubic yards of landfill space, $24 in landfill tipping fees and 18 trees which are needed to produce 2,200 pounds of paper." An additional 30 percent energy savings is realized when paper is manufactured by using recycled material versus raw material. After an initial adjustment period, the program has been enthusiastically received by county employees. In fact, several employees have suggested additional ways to recycle.

"No one likes to change in routine, and this does require some effort on the part of everyone," stated McNamara. "But once people become accustomed to sorting their wastepaper, it takes very little time and quickly becomes automatic."

Library plans Halloween parties

The Grosse Pointe public libraries will hold after-school Halloween parties at 4 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 25, Woods Branch; Wednesday, Oct. 26, Central Library; and Thursday, Oct. 27, Park Branch. Grade schoolers are invited to come in costume. Preschoolers enrolled in Toddler Time and Storytime also are invited to wear costumes to their storytimes during that week.

For further information, call 343-2074, Central children's librarians Helen Gregory or Lana Miller; 343-2072, Woods children's librarian Marietta Taliani, and 343-2071, Park children's librarian Margaret Kitchel.

Medallion awarded to G. Mennen Williams

The board of trustees of the Father Clement H. Kern Foundation has announced the 1988 Kern Medallion will be awarded posthumously to G. Mennen Williams "for his humanitarian service and works for the people of Michigan."

The medallion will be presented at a brief ceremony at a late Sunday afternoon reception on Oct. 23 at the Detroit Institute of Arts. Former Gov. and Supreme Court Justice Williams and his wife, Nancy, donated several valuable pieces of art to the Institute collected during their world travels. Mrs. Williams and her family will accept the medallion.

Honorary co-chairmen of the award ceremony and reception are Douglas A. Fraser and Michigan Supreme Court Justice Michael F. Cavanagh. Attendance is by invitation only.

Williams served six two-year terms as Michigan governor, was a United States diplomat in Africa and the Philippines, and then sat 15 years as a Michigan Supreme Court justice, retiring in 1986. He died in February of this year.

Labor fact

The first profit-sharing plan was introduced in 1794 by Albert Gallatin, secretary of the Treasury under Presidents Jefferson and Madison, at his New Geneva, Pa. glassworks, according to the U.S. Labor Department.

EMS Day

Child identification fingerprinting by a Grosse Pointe Woods police officer was one of the activities for Kristopher Ford and his mother, Nancy, at Emergency Medical Services Week festivities at St. John Hospital Sept. 24. Visitors had a chance to tour a Coast Guard rescue boat and an ambulance. They could also see free CPR demonstrations, have blood pressure screened and pick up information and treats. The purpose of the event was to increase awareness of the scope of emergency services through displays, literature, demonstrations and hands-on experience.

4 shots fired with luger in Woods neighborhood

Four shots were fired in a Grosse Pointe Woods neighborhood Sunday with a semi-automatic luger handgun.

According to Woods Public Safety Department reports, a resident in the 2100 block of Roslyn reported four shots were fired at 8 p.m. by a suspect who fled in a white or cream-color panel van with fixed windows on the sides near the rear and double rear doors with windows.

After hearing the shots, the resident went outside and saw a man get into the van and take off. He was able to write down the van's license plate number. The license plate was registered to a 1976 Dodge motor home owned by a man living in Washington Township.

A Woods officer contacted the Macomb County Sheriff's Department and advised caution if the suspect was found. Sheriff's deputies found the van backed into a driveway at the Washington Township address.

At 9:05 p.m., the Woods Public Safety Department was notified by Macomb County deputies and advised of the location of the van. According to the Macomb County Sheriff's report, the Woods Public Safety Department told Macomb County deputies to take no further action.

The four 9mm bullet casings were found near where the suspect's van was parked on Roslyn. According to the Woods police report, no bullet-entry marks were found in the area.

Woods detectives are investigating the incident.

Is fifty nifty?

Franz J. Forster, of Grosse Pointe Woods, woke up Wednesday, Oct. 12, to find that employees at Forster's Interiors had not forgotten his fiftieth birthday. The fearless five had done their decorating deed (lots of balloons and signs: "Frank is 50," "Over the Hill at 50," "50 and still going strong" before sunrise.

Forster's Interiors, 19435 Mack, is also celebrating its 50th year. The company was begun by Franz's father, Frank, of Grosse Pointe Park, and operates a second store in Sterling Heights. Brother Ron, of the Park is also involved in the family business.

Two 13-year-old girls go on shoplifting spree

Two 13-year-old girls, one from Grosse Pointe Park, went on a six-store, $135 shoplifting spree Saturday before they were caught at the Perry Drug Store on the Hill.

The girls were seen putting makeup and other items into their bags at 11:50 a.m. by an employee at the Perry's on Kercheval. When the girls left the store without paying for the merchandise, they were detained by the employec and the store's manager.

According to Farms police reports, the girls' bags also contained merchandise from stores in the Village and for which they had no receipts. Police said the girls admitted to stealing all the goods.

The value of the stolen goods was more than $135. Some $29 worth of makeup was taken from Revco; $29 in books from Waldenbooks; $19 in items from Arbor Drugs; $4 of merchandise from Fischer's Hallmark; $12 in items from Jacobson's; and $42 in goods from Limited Express.

The girls' parents were notified, and they were released into the parents' custody.

Panel to look at impact of Detroit's Strategic Plan on Grosse Pointe

Detroit's Strategic Plan and how it affects the Grosse Pointe community will be the topic of a panel discussion, Wednesday, Oct. 26, 8 p.m. at the War Memorial.

The program is presented free as a public service by the War Memorial Council of Sponsors. Chairing the event for the council is Margot Kessler, who developed the panel with the belief that the health of the suburbs is dependent on the health of the city.

Frank T. Judge, named in January 1988 as executive director of the Detroit Strategic Plan Implementation Office, will moderate.

The Strategic Plan, which was presented to Detroit's civic, business and professional leaders in November 1987, is designed to dramatically improve the quality of life in Detroit.

Five Task Forces were established to address specific issues of concern: crime, education, image, jobs and economic development, and race relations. Out of these Task Forces came 42 recommendations for change. The job of initiating implementation of these recommendations has fallen to Judge and the Implementation Team.

About the panel

Frank Judge is on loan for one year to the Strategic Plan Implementation Office from Ford Motor Co., where he is director of civic affairs. In that position, he is responsible for coordinating the company's civic-related activities and directs the work of the Urban Affairs functions.

Joining Ford in 1949 after

graduating from the College of the Holy Cross, Judge served successively as corporate contributions administrator and manager of the educational affairs and community affairs departments prior to moving to civic affairs.

An active community volunteer, Judge is a past chairman and president of the Michigan League for Human Services and continues to serve on its board. He is also director of the United Community services of Metropolitan Detroit, Detroit Public Education Fund and the Robert L. Millender Sr., Memorial Fund. He has also been associated with New Detroit, Inc., and the Detroit Economic Growth Corporation since their inception.

Nationally, he serves as a director of VOLUNTEER: The National Center and as a member of the National Urban Coalition's Corporate Urban Affairs Advisory Council and The Conference Board's Community and Public Issues Council.

Addressing the issue of crime, will be Gerald K. Smith, executive director of the Franklin-Wright Settlements, Inc. A Cincinnati native, Smith received his bachelor's degree from Ohio University and masters degrees from Xavier University and the University of Detroit.

In addition to serving as co-chair of the Strategic Planning Crime Task Force, Smith is actively involved in several civic and professional organizations including New Detroit, United Community Services, Metro Youth Program Board and National Association of Black Social Workers. He is also a founding member of Black Family Development, Inc. and serves on its advisory board.

Charles E. Morton, Ph.D., will speak on education. He is minister of Metropolitan Baptist Church of Detroit as well as adjunct professor of philosophy and director, Apprentice Scholars' Program at Oakland University.

Born in Bessemer, Ala., Morton earned a bachelor of divinity from Union Theological Seminary in New York City. He has also studied at Heidelberg University in Germany and Garrett Biblical Institute at Northwestern University in addition to receiving his Ph.D. from Columbia University and Doctor of Humanities from Shaw College.

Morton has a long and distinguished career in education, serving on the faculty of colleges and universities in Georgia, North Carolina, Louisiana, Tennessee as well as Michigan. He was an elected member of the Michigan State Board of Education from 1964-72, project director, Upward Bound at Oakland University from 1966-68.

He is also an active participant in several civic organizations, presently serving on the board of directors of the Metropolitan Youth Program and Brazeal Dennard Chorale.

Charles Morton

Beverly Beltaire, president and chief executive officer, PR Associates, co-chaired the Image Task Force for the Strategic Plan.

An award-winning communicator, Beltaire has been actively involved in the promotion of Detroit economically, culturally and educationally.

Her civic and professionally-related associations include membership in the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce, serving as the first woman chairman in 1982-83.

She is also a member of the Business Attraction Expansion Council (BAEC) and serves on the boards of such organizations as the Detroit Economic Growth Corporation, the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Economic Alliance For Michigan, Economic Club of Detroit, Metropolitan Detroit Convention & Visitors Bureau, Michigan Thanksgiving Parade Foundation, New Detroit and United Foundation.

The topic of jobs and economic development will be fielded by this task forces co-chair, David Baker Lewis.

Lewis was born and raised in Detroit, graduating from Pershing High School in January 1962. He received his bachelor's degree from Oakland University. In 1966, he was honored with the Alfred G. Wilson Award, which is presented annually to the male student who has made an "outstanding contribution to the life of the university.

He also earned a master of business administration degree from the University of Chicago School of Business and his juris doctor from the University of Michigan Law School.

Since 1972, he has served as president of Lewis, White & Clay, P.C., specializing in municipal finance and municipal bond law.

Lewis has served or is currently serving on the boards of numerous civic and professional organizations including the Detroit Medical Center, the Detroit Symphony, Detroit Zoological Society, the State Bar of Michigan, Orchestra Hall, Inc., Metropolitan Affairs Corporation, Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts, Center for Creative Studies, Wayne County Citizen Advisory Council on Small, Minority and Women Owned Business and others.

Rounding out the panel is Alfred R. Glancy III, who will cover the recommendations made by the Plan's Task Force on Race Relations.

Glancy has been affiliated with Michigan Consolidated Gas Company since 1962, rising to the position of chairman and chief executive officer in January 1984. He is a graduate of Princeton University with a degree in economics and was awarded an MBA from Harvard Business School.

In addition to serving as a member of the executive committee for the Detroit Strategic Planning Project and vice-chair of the Race Relations Task Force, Glancy is vice-chair of the United Foundation, chairman of New Detroit, Inc., and vice-chair of the Rehabilitation Institute of Detroit and member of the Detroit Medical Corporation.

Glancy serves as trustee and member of the executive committee for the Founders Society of the DIA and on the Executive Committee of the Detroit Symphony. He is also on the board and executive committee of the Detroit Economic Growth Corporation along with several other board positions.

Send for personal earnings statement

The Social Security Administration has developed a new system that will provide individuals with a new "Personal Earnings and Benefit Estimate Statement," according to Verlyn J. Rebelein, district manager of the Social Security office at 17420 Mack Ave.

This statement lists their Social Security earnings history including a yearly breakdown from 1951 on, and an estimated amount of FICA (Social Security) taxes paid on those earnings. It will also give them an estimate of future Social Security retirement benefits, plus disability and survivors benefits should they die or become disabled this year.

The new, enhanced statement will serve as a viable tool for workers to verify their posted earnings and to learn the amount of taxes paid on their earnings.

It will also explain what they can expect in the way of Social Security protection for themselves when they retire and/or their family should they die or become disabled. It will aid in planning for their own future financial security.

Labor fact

Almost two-thirds of the new entrants into the U.S. workforce between now and the year 2000 will be women, the U.S. Labor Department reports, and 61 percent of all women of working age are expected to have jobs by the turn of the century.

To get a personal earnings and benefit estimate statement, complete SSA form 7004, "Request for Earnings and Benefit Estimate Statement." To get the form, call toll-free 1-800-937-2000, write to Consumer Information Center Department 55, Pueblo, Colo. 81009, or call your local Social Security office.

Calling all unicorn hunters, SOBs

W.T. Rabe, head of the Old Soldiers of Baker Street of the Two Saults (SOBS) and the Mackinac Island Unicorn Questers, announces that he is now casting for three radio dramas and a one-act play.

Hopefuls may audition over the phone (906-635-5085); they may make hotel reservations and come and watch; or they may try out for a bit part.

The first of two separate weekends is the 14th annual Quest Ball and Unicorn Banquet at Mackinac Island's Grand Hotel Saturday, Oct. 29, to Monday, Oct. 31.

Part of the weekend, "The Unicorn Follies of 1988," on Sunday, Oct. 30, marks the 50th anniversary of the night Orson Welles terrified listeners with his "War of the Worlds" radio broadcast proclaiming an invasion in force by Martians.

As part of the "Follies," the original broadcast will be recreated, complete with sound effects, screams and music by the Grand Hotel Orchestra.

The Grand package at $319 per couple includes two nights lodging, tax and gratuities; daily breakfast and dinner; an after-dinner coffee at the Unicorn Seminar Saturday; a champagne reception that afternoon for the Unicorn and the issuance of new unicorn questing licenses; the Sunday evening cocktail reception when many guests appear in costume, fancy dress or black tie; and the after-dinner "Follies." Phone at the Grand is 906-847-3331.

The second radio weekend is at the Doherty Hotel in Clare, Mich. with guests arriving Friday, Nov. 11, and leaving Sunday, Nov. 13, after brunch. This is a Sherlockian Convocation and will feature two Sherlock Holmes radio productions, "The Blue Carbuncle" and "Silver Blaze," plus a one-act play, "Tea Time in Baker Street" an intimate visit with the women in the life of Sherlock Holmes.

The $63 package for two covers two nights' lodging, breakfast and banquet Saturday and brunch Sunday. Hotel reservations may be made at 1-800-525-4115. The Old SOBS will collect a $10 per person registration fee at the hotel.

A Baker Street Newsreel, filmed by Rabe in Europe, Detroit and New York, will be shown at the Doherty Friday night after dinner. A professional Sherlockian film program will be exhibited across the street at the Clare Theatre.

Rabe said that guests need not participate in the programs except to make suitable crowd noises when called upon, but may be mere spectators. They are designed for neophytes as well as seasoned Sherlockians.

Weekends are based on double occupancy. Reservations should be directed to the hotels. For information about the programs, write to Rabe at 1204 Davitt, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. 49783, or call 906-635-5085.

South choir to collect bottles, cans

Grosse Pointe South choir members have begun a fundraising drive to raise $20,000 to go to Orlando for a competition next spring.

The competition has drawn the attention of South's Show Choir, under the direction of Ellen Bowen. The choir placed fifth in a competition at Opryland last April.

Many fundraisers are in the planning stages, and in the first to begin this weekend, choir members will visit homes in the area, collecting empty, clean deposit bottles and cans. These will be returned and the cash will go into the trip account.

Choir President Sasha Matish has also made arrangements for the Village Post Office at the rear of 17051 Kercheval to act as a bottle drop. Residents who want to donate empty refundable bottles and cans can leave them there Monday through Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Guide to waste siting offered

For people seeking information about Michigan's hazardous waste facility siting process, the Metropolitan Affairs Corporation (MAC) has the answer.

"Michigan's Hazardous Waste Facility Siting Process," a guide to the 1987 amendments to the state's Hazardous Waste Management Act, has been released.

"One of the most difficult social decisions a community must make involves site approval for hazardous waste treatment, storage, and disposal facilities," said MAC Director John Amberger. "A large array of deeply-felt concerns and pressures, both public and private, must be analyzed and accommodated before the decision is made — this guide helps citizens understand the process."

The MAC guide provides an understanding of the act and helps communities to analyze their own situation.

For a copy of this publication, write to the Metropolitan Affairs Corporation, 1900 Edison Plaza, 660 Plaza Drive, Detroit, 48226.

MAC, based in Detroit, is a privately funded business/labor/government coalition that addresses regional problems and proposes solutions.

dispatcher. Likewise, calls will be sent to the City, Farms, Woods, Shores and Harper Woods departments, depending on where the calls originated. Even calls made from public telephones will be routed to the appropriate department.

Furthermore, if a department's line is busy, the call will be automatically rerouted to the next nearest police or fire department.

The technical aspects of the enhanced emergency calling system were handled by Michigan Bell. Before the 911 service could go into effect, all the addresses and telephone numbers in the Pointes and Harper Woods had to be verified and entered into a Michigan Bell computer database.

Semple explained that the process of getting calls routed to the proper police or fire station was not simply a matter of matching the callers' telephone number prefixes (first three numbers) with the appropriate police or fire department. He said the prefixes overlap municipal boundaries, so each phone number and address had to be put in computer memory.

While 911 service has been available for some time in many Michigan communities, Semple said a new state law and action by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners made the service possible for the Pointes and Harper Woods, as well as other Wayne County communities.

In 1986, the Michigan legislature passed Public Act 32, which allowed the telephone company to pass a surcharge on to all customers for the installation and continued operation of the emergency 911 service. The installation surcharge, estimated to be about 20 cents per month per customer, will be in effect for five years.

After the five-year period, a 911 maintenance surcharge will be assessed to all telephone bills, but Semple said he had no idea how much the surcharge would be. He believed the Michigan Public Service Commission would have the final say in how much the telephone company could charge for 911 maintenance.

In May 1987 the county commissioners approved installation of the service in Wayne County outside of Detroit, which already has the service.

"We've been working on this for some time," Semple said, referring to the technical obstacles that had to be overcome by the telephone company.

Unlike police departments shown in movies such as "Beverly Hills Cop," the Pointes and Harper Woods police and public safety departments do not have the computer capabilities required to automatically display a 911 caller's address and name on a computer screen.

Semple said such capabilities are built into the enhanced 911 system, but the computer hardware and software needed to display the information must be purchased and installed by each police department at its own cost. The telephone company's surcharge will not cover the police departments' expenses.

He said Harper Woods or Pointes departments may decide to upgrade to the more sophisticated system in the future, but the decision to do so must be made by each city and department.

Semple said parents should teach their children how to dial 9-1-1 and how to use a public pay phone. He said 911 calls from public pay telephones are free and no coins are needed to initiate the call.

Public safety officers from throughout the Pointes are going to local schools to educate students concerning the 911 service.

Park Public Safety Officer Chris Powell has been talking to young students in his city's schools. He spoke to Linda Dixon's afternoon kindergarten class Friday at Defer Elementary School.

He told the children about 911, how to dial it and when. He told them that even if they're not sure if it is an emergency, to call 911. He said the children should know their addresses and telephone numbers so that the police could find them.

Powell also mentioned the old lesson all the students already knew by heart: "Don't go with strangers."

Physics open house

Lasers, liquid crystals, infrared video, superconductivity — see how scientific research in a total of eight fascinating fields is being done in the laboratories at Wayne State University's physics department during its open house from 3 to 7 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 26. # Real estate agents in Pointes head back to school

By John Minnis
Staff Writer

The three R's — reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic — are no longer enough for some professionals. A fourth R, real estate, is now added to required education.

Some 50,000 real estate agents throughout the state are heading back to the classroom because of continuing education requirements mandated by the state legislature.

The agents, 450 in the Grosse Pointe Board of Realtors, are required to take an additional six-hour course written by the state Department of Licensing and Regulation to continue operating in 1989.

The Grosse Pointe Board of Realtors is offering the course to local agents, and anyone else who wishes to take it, at the War Memorial Auditorium on Friday, Oct. 28, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The only charge is $20 per participant to cover the cost of materials and renting the auditorium.

Thomas Kotzian, executive vice president of the Grosse Pointe Board of Realtors, said the course is the same throughout Michigan and will cover such topics as:

Thomas Kotzian

- Radon gas, asbestos or lead-based paint in homes.
- Changes in the Internal Revenue Code.
- Fair housing laws.
- The Diamond Mortgage scandal.
- Disciplinary actions against Michigan real estate agents.

Kotzian has been trained by the state to teach the 1989 Continuing Education Course. He is the only person with the Grosse Pointe Board of Realtors who is certified to teach it.

The first continuing education requirement for Michigan real estate professionals went into effect in 1985. The education was ordered by the state lawmakers in an effort to protect the general public.

"We have a consumer-conscious legislature," said Kotzian, who thinks the education program is good for real estate agents as well as consumers.

"This is an excellent update for anyone interested in real estate law," he said, "and the course is also open to members of the general public."

Real estate agents in Michigan must take the six-hour course each year in order to renew their licenses by Dec. 31.

While the agents don't have to take examinations following the course, state inspectors do make sure the course is properly taught and that all the agents put their six hours in, Kotzian said.

He said prospective home buyers should make sure their agent has completed the course and has properly kept his license up to date.

Kotzian said many of the topics this year, such as the radon, asbestos and lead-based paint, are key concerns of real estate agents in Grosse Pointe because of the older homes in the area.

The only real estate agents exempt from taking the six-hour course this year are those who were licensed for the first time in 1988. These new agents will, however, have to take the course to renew their licenses next year.

Those with questions concerning the course or those interested in attending the session at the War Memorial can call the Grosse Pointe Board of Realtors at 882-8000.

Speaker will address nursing pros

Joan J. Kyes, MSN, RN, assistant professor of psychiatry at the University of Pittsburgh, will address nursing professionals Thursday, Oct. 27, at St. John Hospital. The program is sponsored by St. John Hospital's Promoting Nursing as a Profession Committee.

She will conduct four sessions: "Resolving conflict in the workplace," 1 to 2:30 p.m.; "Managing change," 4 to 5:30 p.m.; "Keys to power," 7 to 8:30 p.m.; and "The energy model," 9 to 10:30 p.m. Each session has been approved by the Michigan Nursing Association for 1.8 contact hours.

Fee is $5 per session, $15 for all four. For more information, call the St. John Hospital Nursing Education Department at 343-3380.

35 years

Thomas H. Hanna, right, president of the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association, congratulates Stanley W. Brown of Grosse Pointe Farms on the 35th anniversary of his employment at MVMA. Brown is director of the association's Traffic Deptment. MVMA represents motor vehicle manufacturers who build 97 percent of U.S.-made motor vehicles.

Professional secretaries to meet

The Detroit Chapter of Professional Secretaries International will hold its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 26, at the newly renovated Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce Building, 600 West Lafayette in Detroit.

In an effort to provide a variety of activities at a variety of prices, this month specially prepared hot and cold hors d'oeuvres and non-alcoholic beverages will be served at a cost of $10.50 for members and $11.50 for guests. A tour of the Chamber of Commerce facility will precede the refreshments.

PSI promotes competence and recognition of the secretarial proprofession, and the Detroit Chapter is an active group which meets the fourth Wednesday of each month.

For reservations or more information, call Ann Dickinson at 549-8558 evenings.

Labor fact

The first women's labor organization was established in 1734 by maid servants in New York City to protest the abuses they suffered from their mistresses' husbands, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a U.S. Labor Department publication.

Business People

By Ronald J. Bernas

Shish Kebab House: Breakfast, lunch, dinner

By Pat Paholsky
Editor

The Shish Kebab House at 15506 Mack near Somerset is not easy to find. Set back from the main road, it's hidden by trees and bushes.

But it's worth searching out. This immaculate family restaurant has an extensive menu and low prices — too low, according to one of the waitresses.

Reopened in May after an eight-month renovation following a fire last October, The Shish Kebab House seats 120 people.

And owner Harry Sulolli is finishing a banquet room that will accommodate 20 to 30 people for parties or business meetings. The room will be completed by next month.

A hard worker who puts in about 80 hours a week, Sulolli is an example of the American dream.

In 1965 he, a brother, a cousin and two friends planned their escape from Korce in Albania, a mountainous country bordering Greece. They began in the morning on foot — nobody had a car — and walked for 24 hours through the mountains.

Except for brief rests they walked throughout the day and night. They lost their way for awhile and at one point when they neared the border, they removed their shoes and continued barefoot. Sulolli said their feet were embedded with rocks and thorns at the end of their journey.

Breakfast offerings include eggs in every combination, pancakes, waffles and cereals.

The restaurant offers senior citizens a 10 percent discount on orders more than $2.50. There is free parking in the lot adjoining the building.

Everything is made fresh every day, Sulolli said.

There are also daily lunch and dinner specials not on the menu.

Breakfast is served until 11 a.m. daily. The house special of two eggs with ham, two slices bacon, two links sausage, hash browns, pineapple slice, toast and jelly is $3.45. Or the diner with a smaller appetite can get

The restaurant is set back slightly from the street and has an adjoining parking lot.

They crossed the border about 8 in the morning the next day and Greek authorities put them in jail for three months. After the authorities were satisfied that they weren't spies, the men were sent to a refugee camp where they spent another 4 1/2 months. Sulolli was then allowed to emigrate to the United States.

With $15 to his name and unable to speak English, Sulolli began working at a Biff's restaurant in 1966. A farmer in Albania, he learned how to cook while he learned how to speak English.

After five years he bought his own restaurant in St. Clair Shores, the Nuggett. He ran that for 10 years and then bought another restaurant in northern Macomb County called the Orchard House. After four years, he sold it and bought his current business.

Of his experience in fleeing his Communist-dominated country, Sulolli said he occasionally has nightmares that he is back and has to escape all over again. He still gets chills, he said, thinking about it.

"I'm glad to be a citizen of this country," he said. "It's the

He opens every day at 7 a.m. and gets the daily specials ready until 11 a.m.

"After 11, I go on the floor to see the people," he said. "I know about 95 percent of my customers by name and that's my best time of the day."

After 3 p.m., his wife and son prepare dinners. She is known for her cheesecake, which is "the best I have ever had in my life," waitress Joyce Holder says.

The business employs 15 people and is open from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday. Everything on the menu is available for carry out. The phone number is 885-1481.

The name, the Shish Kebab House, comes from the owner's specialty, made with a special marinade. Shish kebab with pita bread, rice pilaf and a tossed salad is $4.25. A half roast chicken with vegetable, mashed potatoes and gravy is $4.45.

The menu lists 11 dinners under chef's suggestions, eight seafood dinners, six Italian dinners and eight Greek dishes. There is also a low-calorie menu. Prices range from $3.05 to $6.95 for a

Steve Kulick

Kulick named production manager

Grosse Pointe News Publisher Robert C. Edgar announced the promotion of Steven M. Kulick from advertising sales to production manager.

Kulick's background in advertising production includes keylining, layout, design, photography and darkroom techniques.

His advertising experience includes creative art, technical illustration, account management and a partnership in a corporation producing promotional literature primarily for industrial accounts.

"Our goal is to expand the production department to ultimately offer the business community complete advertising and promotional services," Kulick said. "The local retail business person or industrial decision-maker can come to the Grosse Pointe News production department to have any promotional materials created and produced."

"The creative abilities of the staff, combined with the equipment in-house, is going to offer them high quality, effective advertising very competitively priced."

Kulick has been employed by the Grosse Pointe News since May 1985.

He said the new programs will take effect "like our deadlines — yesterday."

Workshop for young entrepreneurs

The U.S. Small Business Administration is sponsoring The Michigan Young Entrepreneur Seminar (YES) on Oct. 22 in Detroit, to present business basics to young people who are exploring business ownership as a career.

This will be one of many such conferences to be held simultaneously across the nation. The target group for the seminars are people age 30 and under.

Subjects to be covered include: forms of business organization, sources of capital, marketing and promotion, business regulations, taxes and insurance, record keeping, orientation to local business conditions and resources, how to figure costs and pricing, the business plan, and franchising.

Local sponsors of YES include the Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE) and the Small Business Development Center.

The seminar begins at 8:30 a.m. at the McGregor Conference Center at Wayne State University. The $15 registration fee for the seminar includes lunch. For additional information and a program brochure about the Michigan YES program, please call 226-6075 or 1-800-368-5855.

Labor fact

Immigrants by the year 2000 will represent the largest share of the increase in the U.S. population and the workforce since the first World War, according to the U.S. Labor Department. Even with the new immigration law, approximately 600,000 legal and illegal immigrants are projected to enter the U.S. annually throughout the balance of the century.

The Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra

Sweet sounds Grosse Pointe's jewel of an orchestra — the Grosse Pointe Symphony — strikes up its 36th season Oct. 30 at Parcels

By Peggy O'Connor Andrzejczyk
 Assistant Editor/Feature Editor

Back in March of 1954, you could get into a Grosse Pointe Symphony performance for 75 cents. A Grosse Pointe High School junior would show you to your seat, where you'd sit back and enjoy the sounds of Grosse Pointe's community orchestra . . . which, up until a few weeks before the show, was still looking for a few good musicians.

The idea for the orchestra was born one year earlier, when symphony founder Thomas Nester, Stanley Scotford and Alois Chronowski were having a cup of coffee together. More music-lovers got involved, including violinist Bernard Whitley, and before long, it was decided that an orchestra would be formed.

The first rehearsal was held at Pierce Junior High on Jan. 1, 1954. And on March 7, 1954, nearly 1,000 people crowded into Parcels Junior High to hear conductor Wayne Dunlap lead the 59-member orchestra and guest tenor Fred Kendall in the symphony's inaugural performance.

Grosse Pointe Memorial Church organist and choir-master-turned music critic Malcolm Johns wrote about the first concert in the Grosse Pointe News, "From the exciting opening tempo of Glinka's Overture to 'Russian and Ludmilla' to the final cadence of the exotic 'Polovetsian Dance Themes' by Borodin, an electric thrill of pride and pleasure permeated the entire audience . . ."

IT'LL COST YOU $7 to get into Parcels Auditorium on Oct. 30, 1988, to hear the Grosse Pointe Symphony begin its 36th season. And you'll find your own way to a seat to enjoy the sounds of the now 70-member Grosse Pointe Symphony.

Some things haven't changed, though. Bernard Whitley, a second violinist and charter member of the orchestra, still performs with the group. Music-lovers still crowd their way into Parcels Auditorium for a concert. And the symphony still showcases the talent of young performers, as it did in past years when it provided the perfect training ground for five young performers — Darrel Barnes, Robert Barnes, Mario Di Fiore, Edward Sauve and Robert Howes — to go on to perform for symphony orchestras in Boston, Cincinnati, Detroit and Philadelphia.

The symphony still counts on the Grosse Pointe Symphony Women's Association for much of its financial — and spiritual — support, as it has since the group was formed in 1965.

And the orchestra's commitment to youth continues in the form of the Thomas Nester Scholarship Fund, established in honor of Thomas Nester, who founded the orchestra over that long-ago cup of coffee with friends.

Each year, 11th grade musicians from Grosse Pointe area high schools are given an opportunity to audition before the scholarship committee. The winner is awarded a grant to finance advanced music studies and provided with an opportunity to solo with the Grosse Pointe Symphony.

Best of all, the symphony still programs the quality music which has been its trademark since that first concert.

"The orchestra's quality — and certainly its longevity — make it a most unique group," says Grosse Pointe Symphony president Patricia Young of Grosse Pointe Park. "I think that we've suffered somewhat, being so close to Detroit and its magnificent orchestra. But hopefully, people are aware that we are a professional orchestra and that we are here to provide the very best music to the area," Young adds.

PROOF OF THAT, Young says, is in this season's program. "We've scheduled a 'Young Person's Concert' in conjunction with the Grosse Pointe Schools, for March 18. We're trying to get out there and get our message across to a new, young audience."

Then there's the symphony's Cabaret Concert, planned for April 14 at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. And the annual Christmas Concert and Brunch at the GPYC on Nov. 27.

Regular programming includes the opening concert at 3 p.m. Oct. 30, featuring the Staples Family. The concert will include Vivaldi's Concerto in F for Three Violins and Strings, performed by Gordon, Beatriz and Greg Staples; the Bach Concerto in d for Two Violins and Strings, played by Gordon and Beatriz Staples; Wieniawski's Concerto in d No. 2 for Violin and Orchestra by Greg Staples; and the Symphony's performance of Dvorak's New World Symphony.

Staples, who held the position of Detroit Symphony Orchestra concertmaster from 1968 until this year and is now a member of the DSO's first violin section, began violin lessons at age 6. By 14, he was staff violinist for the CBC in Canada. He graduated from the Philadelphia Academy of Music and at 19, made his solo debut in New York City.

Following the Korean War, he was assistant concertmaster with the New Orleans Symphony and joined the DSO in 1955.

His wife Beatriz is a native of Hungary. She holds bachelor's and master's degrees in music from the University of Hartford and was a member of the Hartford Symphony and the National Symphony of Bogata, Columbia. She joined the DSO in 1964.

Their son, Greg, is a senior at Andover High School. He studies with his father and has appeared with the Birmingham-Bloom-

'Music For a While' series begins Oct. 28

The Grosse Pointe-based "Music For a While" series opens its 14th season on Friday, Oct. 28, at 8 p.m., with an evening of song from the eight voices of Musickes Pleasure. The program, "Words and Music," will be given in cooperation with the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House on Lakeshore Drive in Grosse Pointe Shores.

Musickes Pleasure will present part songs from a wide range of periods and styles. Included will be French, English and Italian madrigals, Canadian songs in French, English and Chippewa, plus works by Debussy, Vaughan Williams, and Detroit composer Albert James Fillmore.

Members of Musickes Pleasure are Donna Grunewald-Johns, Danica Randail, Rose Randail, Dan Aggas, Phil Michael, Stephen Stewart, and Steve Blackburn, local singers who have performed with the Detroit Symphony Chorale, Kenneth Jewell Chorale, Cantata Academy of Metropolitan Detroit, the Fifth Avenue Floy Floy and several Grosse Pointe church choirs.

The group was formed in 1984 and specializes in an intimate musical performance reminiscent of earlier times. When not delighting audiences with their unique brand of music, members of Musickes Pleasure pursue careers in elementary education, physical and occupational therapy, theater and television.

Due to limited seating in the historic Edsel & Eleanor Ford House, reservations are necessary. Tickets are $8. For ticket and concert information, call

Tickets may also be ordered by sending a check plus a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Virginia Shover, 481 Hidden Lane, Grosse Pointe Woods, MI 48236.

Virginia Shover, co-producer of Music for a While, and Phil Michael, coordinator of Musickes Pleasure.

Halloween concert Oct. 30

The Metropolitan Symphonic Band will present a "Halloween Spectacular" on Sunday, Oct. 30, 3:30 p.m. at the Macomb Center For the Performing Arts on the Center Campus of Macomb Community College, Hall Rd. and Garfield in Clinton Township.

The 45-piece band, under the direction of Dr. Martin Stella, will present a number of Halloween Favorites including "Phantom of the Opera," "Cats," "Raiders of the Lost Ark," and "Imperial March" from Star Wars.

The program will feature local vampire "Count Scary" (WOMC's Tom Ryan), lyric soprano Gail Mitchell, and United States Air Force Band Trumpeter and Julliard Graduate Curt Christensen.

Tickets are $7 for adults, $6.25 for students and senior citizens, and $5.25 for groups of 20 or more. They are available at the box office, or by telephone at 286-2222 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Chamber music concert Oct. 23

The Chamber Music Players of Grosse Pointe will perform a Sunday afternoon concert in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial ballroom Sunday, Oct. 23, at 2:30 p.m.

Admission at the door is $3. Light refreshments will follow the program.

The program consists of: five poems of Emily Dickenson set to music for voice and piano, by Aaron Copland; Terzetto for Two Violins and Viola by Dvorak;

Songs from "Liederkreis" for voice and piano by Schumann; and Trio in D Minor for Violin, Cello and Piano by Mendelssohn.

Pro Musica recital is Oct. 21

DIA's Oktoberfest version of 'TGIF' is fall's big hit

More than 500 fun-lovers made the first "TGIF" — Three Great Innovative Fridays — party a success. They enjoyed the ompah-pah band, bratwurst, German-style hors d'oeuvres and — what no other Oktoberfest could offer — a chance to view the Detroit Institute of Arts' collection of German and Flemish art.

The Oct. 7 party was sponsored by the Founders Junior Council, a DIA Founders Society auxiliary. Ann Marshall of Grosse Pointe Park served as marketing chairwoman for the event.

The other TGIF events — all highlighting parts of the DIA's permanent collection with entertainment, cocktails and hors d'oeuvres geared to a special theme — are a Chinese New Year Celebration on Friday, Jan. 27, and King Arthur's Birthday Party on Friday, May 12.

For more information, call 833-7966.

Another party not to be missed . . . was the Fan Club of Metropolitan Detroit's "Hi Energy/Light and Motion" fundraiser for WTWS/Channel 56. Some 800 56 fans partied at the American Center Building in Southfield on Sept. 23, enjoying samples of food from The London Chop House, the Rattlesnake Club, The Whitney, Money Tree and The Caucus Club. Light and motion were created by Center for Creative Studies design students. The Taylor City Ballet Company performed during a laser show.

Spotted in the crowd were Grosse Pointers Don and Dale Austin, Mike and Marilyn Connor, John and Anne Kroha, Ron and Mary Lamparter, Lynn Maxwell, Frank and Shirley Piku, Clune and Karyn Walsh and Joe and Pat Wenzler.

Ada and Arthur Shaw

He passed the catsup . . . and she fell in love with him.

That's the way Ada L. Shaw remembers things getting started back in June of 1917. That's when she met Arthur R. Shaw, whom she married that October. They'll celebrate their 71st wedding anniversary next week with dinner out with family and friends.

"It was way back when, but I remember. I was very young and a girlfriend and I were sitting at the table in a restaurant in Detroit. I looked over and saw him sitting there and I asked him to please give me the catsup. "We were married in that October and we've been together ever since," Shaw says.

The Shaws have lived in Grosse Pointe Woods for 32 years. They are the parents of a son, Arthur R. Shaw Jr.; the grandparents of two, Pamela and Deborah; and the great-grandparents of three, Kimberly, Rebecca and Heather.

The senior Shaw celebrated his 92nd birthday in June. His wife, 90, says that people are always asking them how they've managed to remain together for nearly three-quarters of a century.

"I don't know. We just get along is all. We can always find something to talk about, even after 71 years."

Sixty is special, too:

Celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary on Oct. 16 were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Labadie of Grosse Pointe Farms. The couple enjoyed an anniversary mass at St. Philomena Church, followed by a dinner party hosted by Ceil Kalkhoff.

Elmer Labadie is a native of Grosse Pointe Farms. He retired as detective sergeant from the Farms police department in 1952.

Help SOCK:

The 16th annual SOCK (Support Our Capuchin Kitchen) dinner is set for Monday, Oct. 24, at the Westin Hotel in Detroit. The dinner is sponsored by the Capuchin Charity Guild. Joseph Antonini, chairman of the board, president and chief operating officer of the K mart Corporation is chairing the event.

More than 1,700 people are expected to attend the dinner and silent auction. Among prizes to be awarded are three 1989 automobiles.

Tickets are $175 each. Donations of cash, food, clothing and furniture are always appreciated, organizers say. For more information, call The Rev. Lloyd Thiel at 579-0712.

Leno, live: America's hottest comic Jay Leno will perform at the Music Hall Theater Wednesday, Oct. 26, to benefit the American Lung Association of Southeast Michigan.

Regular admission tickets for the 8 p.m. performance are $25. Benefactors for the event will be treated to a black tie dinner at the Detroit Athletic Club and a champagne afterglow on stage with Leno after the performance.

For more information on the benefactors' party, call the Lung Association at 559-5100.

Killian honored:

Interior designer Brian Killian of Birmingham — whose designs were a major part of the success of the 1988 Junior League of Detroit Designers' Show House — has had his work included in "Interior Visions — Great American Designers and the Showcase House," published by Stewart, Tabori and Chang.

Make-A-Wish:

A Halloween dance party to benefit the work of the Make-A-Wish Foundation is set for Friday, Oct. 28, at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dearborn, from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Great Lakes ballroom.

Cost is $8 per person, including complimentary hors d'oeuvres. There will be a cash bar. Prizes will be awarded for best costume.

For more information, call the Make-A-Wish Foundation Halloween Hotline at 772-9494.

'War Wives' reunion:

Ten of the original 14 members of the group which called itself "War Wives," gathered last month at a local restaurant for a reunion. In October 1943, Margaret Blair and Ellen Hubbard decided to get the wives of local servicemen together to work on projects like the U.S.O., blood banks, etc.

The members kept meeting even after the war, remaining close to one another and getting together at least twice a year. "We are still proud to call ourselves 'War Wives,'" Blair says.

Memorial Church's McNamees take mission to Mexico

By Jenny King
Special Writer

"If you look closely, you can see some people trying to swim across the Rio Grande," says 14-year-old Shanna McNamee, pointing to tiny dark spots in the water in the snapshot. "They say at least one person drowns in the river every day."

The Rio Grande: flowing brownish border between the U.S. and Mexico. The Rio Grande: immediate source of drinking, cooking and bathing water for countless Mexicans. The Rio Grande: a wall between the land of opportunity and a population crippled by poverty, hunger, unemployment and hopelessness.

McNamee spent two weeks of her summer vacation this year working side by side with her sister, Macaire, and their mother, Becky, as a Volunteer in Mission in Mexico.

The three Grosse Pointe Memorial Church members, through the Puentes de Cristo mission operation in McAllen, Texas, visited with patients and did paperwork in a speech and hearing clinic.

With volunteer work groups from other churches, they leveled the dirt foundation in a two-room building before helping mix and spread the permanent cement floor. They also worked on the roof for a new one-room kindergarten building.

Had you asked Becky McNamee in July what she and her daughters were going to do only weeks later through the Presbyterian Church-sponsored mission, she wouldn't have been able to answer with any certainty.

"We knew there was a need for volunteers, and I thought this might be a good time to do this with the girls," says the special education teacher. "I've wanted to be a part of mission work for as long as I can remember."

"I also was hoping to be able to spend time with some handicapped children and youth, since that is my profession," McNamee adds.

The McNamees will be speaking before middle hour classes at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church at 10:45 a.m. on Oct. 23 and Oct. 30. The first program, "Reaching Out at the Border," features special guest Javen Mateos, M.D., of Puentes de Cristo. The McNamees will continue their story the last Sunday of the month.

Their personal missions started in late July. Staying first in a trailer — Shanna says it was "OK, except for the cockroaches" — then housesitting for a physician involved with the mission, the McNamees traveled from McAllen into Mexico each weekday. In their rented car, the three drove from pavement in the U.S. across the border to "colonia" at the ends of dirt roads. Colonia are neighborhoods or small villages attached to larger towns — in this instance, Reynosa.

Neither Shanna or Macaire, both students at Grosse Pointe South High School, can recall if Reynosa had street lights. The major roads are paved, they say, but it's not much of a city. The colonia tend to be very primitive, Macaire says. Few dwellings have electricity or plumbing.

"Lack of clean water affects every aspect of life in these parts of Mexico," Becky McNamee says. "People drink unclean water drawn right from the Rio Grande or local canals. It harms infants and makes children and adults sick. The same water is used on crops. Micro-organisms are transferred into the fruits and vegetables which people eat."

There are actually several water purification plants in Mexico along the Rio Grande, but for one reason or another they are not being used to make the water potable, she adds. Puento de Cristo — Bridges of Christ — and other Presbyterian missions lining the U.S. side of the river have been active the past couple of years, bringing the problem to the attention of Mexican bureaucrats.

They also have been importing American professionals who donate their time and engineering expertise toward the goal of getting the purification plants in operation again.

"Bill Erlich, another Memorial Church member and an engineer, has responded to our reports," McNamee says. "He says he would like to be involved. I'm sure they can use him."

As the McNamees relate their experiences in McAllen and Reynosa, the spectre of deprivation rises. It is more grotesque because of the relatively high standard of living, of public health and education and working conditions, that exist on the north side of the Rio Grande. McNamee says many Mexicans drive across the border to do their grocery shopping. The food may be safer, but their money doesn't go farther. According to recent statistics, the average weekly income of a family of six in areas served by Puentes is from $18 to $27.

McNamee, who teaches in Detroit Public Schools, says it wasn't until the final days of their stay that she got to spend time with a couple of handicapped young people.

One, a severely retarded boy, is left alone days while his mother and sister work. His only toy, McNamee says, had been an empty Coke can with a hole punched in the side. He'd put it on a finger and bang it around to make noise. There had been no attempt by his family to interact with him, she says — not out of malice, but because they didn't know that they could and should.

McNamee says she was delighted when the boy's older sister began to take an interest in his development in the few short hours they were all together.

"The parents and siblings don't realize the potentials of the handicapped," McNamee says. She also spent considerable time devising lesson plans for them to follow in the weeks to come.

There are no local schools or rehabilitation programs for the handicapped, she says. Even the most basic equipment — proper wheelchairs, for example — is absent.

In another home, McNamee produced a simple switch from her bag of toys and tools. The switch allowed "Angelica" to turn a little radio on and off. The 20-year-old woman, severely deformed from abuse as an infant, had only recently, through the patience of a trained volunteer, learned to open and close her hands. McNamee took this motor skill and applied it to the switch which the young woman could press to play the radio.

"She roared with joy," McNamee says. "Her two younger sisters got involved in our learning games — games done with things like bottle caps and corn cobs. They were interacting with Angelica for the very first time."

Would the McNamees like to return to the Rio Grande next summer?

"Next summer? I was thinking more in terms of this Christmas," Becky says.

Jefferson Avenue United Methodist will celebrate 75th

J.L. Hudson knew a good thing when he saw it.

In 1913, the district of East Jefferson in Detroit was sparsely settled. He saw it as a good growth area for families, homes and churches. So Dr. C.B. Allen, the Methodist district superintendent, and the Rev. L.F. Bayfield, city missionary, used Hudson's advice and rented a store building for a church meeting place at East Jefferson and Marlborough.

The charter membership list was closed in October 1913 with 13 names listed. The church was built in 1915. And over the past 75 years, thousands of families have attended Jefferson Avenue United Methodist Church.

Current church members have researched the names of 400 former members of the church (and former members of St. Mark's and East Grand Boulevard United Methodist Church) and invited them to a three-day Diamond Anniversary Celebration and reunion Oct. 21 through 23.

The first event will be a commemorative dinner Friday, Oct. 21, at the Golightly Vocational Center, East Jefferson at Dickerson. The reception is at 6 p.m., followed by dinner at 7. Featured speaker will be Neal Shine, senior managing editor at the Detroit Free Press.

Other events include an informal gathering at the church Oct. 22; and a special worship service and afternoon tea on Oct. 23. The church is located at 14456 East Jefferson.

Jefferson Avenue UMC has many Grosse Pointe members. The church is known for supporting the activities in the Jefferson-Chalmers area, particularly with special religious services and clothing and food supplies. The congregation works with the Crossroads program and also sponsors a summer community youth and children's ministry.

For more information on the 75th anniversary celebration and reunion or for dinner reservations, call Schomaker at 822-3765.

The Cantabile Trio — violinist James Kujawski, pianist Gerald Goslin and cellist Timothy Nicolica — will present a concert of the works of Mozart, Bohm, Debussy, Rissland, Wagner and Beethoven at Grosse Pointe Baptist Church, 21336 Mack Ave. in Grosse Pointe Woods this Sunday, Oct. 23, at 6:30 p.m.

Evensong at Christ Church Oct. 23

This Sunday, Oct. 23, Evensong will be sung at 4:30 p.m. at Christ Church Grosse Pointe. This is the first of four performances of the service of Evensong to be presented this year. The Choir of Men and Boys will sing "Preces and Responses" by William Byrd; the "Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis" by Orlando Gibbons; the anthem "Make Ye Joy to God" by Byrd; and psalms for the day. The service will conclude with a performance of Bach's "Passacaglia and Fugue" played by choir-ter and organist Frederic De Haven. Evensong is the daily office sung by most of the boys' choirs at cathedrals in England and which the Christ Church choir will sing as part of their 1989 European tour. It will be sung at Christ Church again on Feb. 5, March 5 and May 4 (Ascension Day).

The community is invited to these afternoon services, offered in the manner of English tradition.

Church leader to speak at Memorial

Discover Assumption Center through classes this fall

The Assumption Cultural Center has planned its 11th season of activities for the community this fall.

Body fitness classes return, such as Kalosomatics, the highly acclaimed original low-impact program of fitness in residency at the center. Also offered will be karate, with expert instruction by the Panagos brothers, yoga, golf, as well as pre-exercise testing of body composition.

St. John Hospital also offers other programs through Assumption, such as Smokeless and weight loss clinics, CPR, infant and child CPR, and three special evenings: Women of the 80's, with Marie Fehribach, M.A.; Risk Factors of Cholesterol, with Dr. Christopher Goldsby, and Children's Ailments, with Melinda Karamm, M.D.

Christmas projects include classes in country tole and decorative painting, watercolor, basketweaving, bobbin lace, needlepoint, quilts, calligraphy, silk arrangements, bows, angels and dough ornament workshops.

Highlights of this fall program are: a special evening fashion show benefit with Jacobson's, "Fashion Directions;" bus trips to Rockford for Christmas shopping and to Cincinnati for the Tall Stacks Festival. International furrier Kosta of Constantini Furs from Toronto and Windsor will bring his furs for Tea Time.

Just in time for the holidays, Coliseum 2000 of Grosse Pointe Shores will present the latest techniques in hair and make-up and French braids.

More classes include getting down to business with franchise seminars with expert consultant Barb Pulos; facts about the stock market, financial planning, computers, and real estate with Pat Crilley Schools, and Dale Carnegie. Fall gardening will be taught, language classes and culinary crafts with D.C. Watt Restaurant, Luka Shkreli of Bon Secours Hospital and Irene Rousos of Assumption.

The main center is located at 21800 Marter Road in St. Clair Shores and Grosse Pointe Woods. Call for details and registration information at 779-6111.

Christian singles

The Single Way, a group of Christian singles, has scheduled a pair of fun events for the rest of the month.

In honor of the anniversary of the stock market crash of 1987, there will be a "Hard Times Party" at the group's next general meeting Oct. 22. The event begins at 5:30 p.m. at a member's home in St. Clair Shores. Kids are welcome. Cost is $6 for adults, $3 for children.

Reservations must be made by Oct. 20.

Single Way members will visit the Paint Creek Cider Mill in Rochester, followed by dinner at the Country Kettle Restaurant on Saturday, Oct. 29, at 2 p.m.

For more information, call 776-5535.

Show hours are 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $2. Strollers are not permitted in the building.

There will also be dealers in Christmas and colonial crafts as well as craft demonstrations. Sandwiches and light meals will be available. A bake sale will feature homemade breads and rolls, cheese sausage, cider, jams and jellies. There will be craft demonstrations in stained glass, quilting, china painting, tole painting, tatting and stenciling. A trim-a-tree shop will feature handmade tree decorations

'fontbonnefair' is Oct. 28-29

Raffle chairman Patricia Young of Grosse Pointe Park (left) and general chairman Lorna Zaleski of Harper Woods, admire some of the items to be raffled off at the 1988 "fontbonnefair" Oct. 28 and 29 at the Assumption Cultural Center, 21800 Marter Road.

Hours for the fair, sponsored by the Fontbonne Auxiliary of St. John Hospital, are 2 to 8 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Saturday. Proceeds from the event benefit St. John Hospital.

Among the raffle prizes will be the handcrafted doll house, cradle and quilt above. The auxiliary's "Renaissance Cuisine" cookbook will be on sale. Visitors can also venture to the Creative Corner for handmade items or purchase "Bag-It" surprise bags. More than 50 tables will feature arts and crafts, homemade gourmet candy, a bake sale, snack shop and items from the auxiliary's gift shop.

Assumption offers workshops

Assumption Cultural Center is offering a cornucopia of holiday classes and workshops.

For unique decorations for the Christmas tree, dough ornaments can be made using a traditional salt dough recipe. Ornaments will be made, baked and painted in a one-night workshop, Oct. 20, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Create an old-fashioned lace crochet angel in one easy class (some crochet experience required) Tuesday, Oct. 25 from 1 to 3 p.m. Country cross stitch ornaments will be made Nov. 16, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Connor Park designer Dale Bottorff will help put holiday spirit into your home using grapevine wreaths in a two-week workshop, "Christmas Silks 1988," Nov. 8 and 15, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Learn to make beautiful bows for holiday packages one evening only, Nov. 30, from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

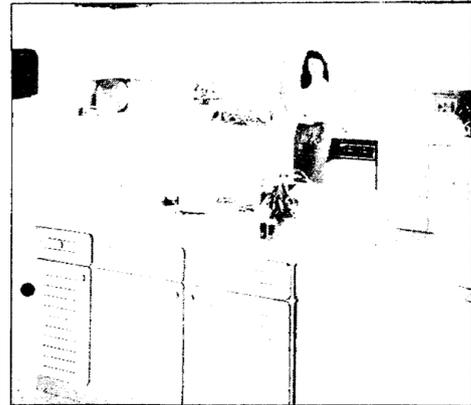

Christmas shopping is offered in a trip to Rockford. Have lunch at the Old Mill, enjoy shopping at the Little Red Shoe House, Squire's Street Square and the Factory Outlet Mall, and take a look at the life and times of the former president at the Gerald R. Ford Museum. The trip is scheduled for Nov. 15, with departure at 6:30 a.m., and return to Assumption at 7 p.m.

For holiday entertaining, learn to make appetizers, such as stuffed mushrooms or mini-quiches, Oct. 25, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Registration for all classes is now being taken at the Assumption Cultural Center, 21800 Marter Road in St. Clair Shores. Call the office at 779-6111 for more information.

For directions, call 1-329-6747 or 884-4499.

Garden Center plans presentation

Excitement, color and glamour are in store for ticket-holders to the three-screen, multi-media sight and sound presentation to be offered on Thursday, Nov. 10, in the Fries Auditorium at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, when Russ Marchand, noted photographer, traveler, lecturer and showman, will offer an experience of "English Gardens and Countrysides" and "The Four Seasons of Dumbarton Oaks" beginning at 10 a.m.

The production is presented under the combined sponsorship of the Grosse Pointe Garden Center, the Grosse Pointe Farms and Garden Club, the Garden Club of Michigan and the Garden Society.

Tickets are on sale at the Garden Center located in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Road; Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. The phone number is 881-7511. Cost is $5 and early purchase is recommended since seating is limited.

Marchand is a free-lance photographer with many interests ranging from music to mountaineering, and as a former science teacher, with a quarter of a century of public speaking to his credit, is a compelling and articulate narrator. He holds a bachelor of science degree from George Williams College, a master of education degree from Bridgewater State College, and a certificate from Colgate University.

This program is the product of many months of research, planning, traveling and photographing. Forty-two exceptional gardens are pictured from Cornwall to Yorkshire and everything from country cottages to stately homes is included.

"The Four Seasons of Dumbarton Oaks," which is the second half of the program, is a 30-minute, three-screen presentation. It traces the history and development of this wonderful garden's unique design features and concludes with showing the marvelous transformation of this landscape through the changing seasons.

The glorious music of Gabriel Faure, and many bird songs recorded on location add a further dimension to his horticultural experience.

Feast Your Eyes on art collections

This Sunday, Oct. 23, marks the launching of the 1988-89 season of The Detroit Council of the Archives of American Art. "Feast Your Eyes," a tour of four homes to view private art collections in the Birmingham/Bloomfield area is the kick-off event.

The welcoming reception is set for 1 to 1:30 p.m. in the Townsend Hotel in Birmingham, followed by the tours.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Frank are event chairmen. Mary Baynert of Grosse Pointe is chapter president. Rosemary Bannon is vice president and Armand Gebert on the board. Honorary committee members include Pointers Margo Kessler, Diane Schoenith, Ruth Vance and Lucille Wertz.

Nurses Group

North Detroit General Hospital will host a meeting of the Tri-County Nurse Publicity Group on Thursday, Oct. 20, from 7 to 9 p.m. The group is a non-profit organization of nurses, whose purpose is to network with other nurses to enhance the image of the profession. For information, call 369-3280.

Women of Wayne plan evening out

Mrs. Michael S. Farley

Spring-Farley

Deborah J. Spring, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Spring of Grosse Pointe Woods, married Michael S. Farley, son of Beverly Farley of Plymouth and the late John P. Farley, on July 30, 1988, in Our Lady Star of the Sea Church.

The Rev. Kenneth Chase officiated at the 5:30 p.m. ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Gourmet House.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown, a floor length dress of ivory silk shantung decorated with iridescent beading at the bustline. The princess-style gown was styled with a sweetheart neckline and elbow length leg-o-mutton sleeves. A headpiece of iridescent beading held the bride's chapel length veil. She carried a crescent bouquet of bridal white dendrobium orchids, roses and stephanotis.

The matron of honor was the bride's sister, Terri Lynn Mann of North Miami, Fla. Bridesmaids included the bridegroom's cousin, Doreen Giudici of Milwaukee, Wisc.; and Debbie Heiss of North Muskegon, Debbie Nelson of Grosse Pointe and Sandy Seroka of Troy.

The attendants wore floor length, princess-style gowns of teal charmeuse and carried crescent bouquets of lilac glory alstroemeria, roses, pink lilies, white dendrobium, babies'-breath and variegated tea leaves.

The best man was Mark Koltanichik of Canton. Groomsmen included the bridegroom's brother, Tom Farley of Plymouth; the bride's brother-in-law, Pete Mann of North Miami; Bill McHenry of Farmington and Chris LeVasseur of West Bloomfield. The groom's brother, Jim Farley of Plymouth, was an usher.

The mother of the bride wore a floor length gown of teal and white styled with a low, V-back, cummerbund waistline and elbow length leg-o-mutton sleeves.

The mother of the bridegroom wore a floor length dress of peach crepe styled with a long tunic top, tiered hemline and pearl beading at the neckline and cuffs.

Edward Higbee was piano/organist accompanist for the ceremony. Soloist was Sister Karen Hawver. Scripture readers were the bride's aunt, Midge Culos, and the groom's cousin, Gienn Giudici.

The bride is a graduate of Our Lady Star of the Sea High School. She holds a bachelor of arts degree in marketing from Michigan State University and a master of business administration degree from Wayne State University. She is employed as commercial loan officer at the National Bank of Detroit.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Bishop Borgess High School and Eastern Michigan University, where he received a bachelor of arts degree in management. He is employed as senior assistant branch manager at the National Bank of Detroit.

The newlyweds honeymooned in St. Thomas, the U.S. Virgin Islands. They live in Royal Oak.

Mr. and Mrs. Brent D. Heerspink

Porter-Heerspink

Julia St. Clair Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Clan Porter, former Grosse Pointe Woods residents who now live on Mackinac Island, married Brent Dee Heerspink, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Heerspink of Holland, Mich., on Sept. 10, 1988, in Historic Trinity Episcopal Church on Mackinac Island.

The bride's uncle, The Rev. Phil Porter, and The Rev. Philip Nancarrow officiated at the 2 p.m. ceremony, which was followed by a reception at "Pine Bough," the 100-year-old home of the bride's parents located on the west bluff of Mackinac Island.

The bride wore her mother's century-old heirloom wedding gown of handmade pointe d'aiguille Brussels lace over ivory silk satin; its elbow length sleeves were edged with rosepointe lace medallions and its skirt ended in points of Brussels lace flowing into a cathedral train. The bride's veil, a floor length mantilla fashioned entirely of rosepointe lace, was held by a rosepointe coronet crowned with a simple spray of babies'-breath and pink Sweetheart roses.

She carried a colonial cascade bouquet of pink and mauve roses, stargazer lilies, Queen Anne's lace and trailing ivy.

The maid of honor was Maeve Croghan of Arlington, Va., and Mackinac Island. Bridesmaids included the bride's sisters-in-law, Mrs. Armin Porter of Mackinac Island, Mrs. Phil Porter of Mackinac Island and Cheyboygan and Mrs. Matthew Porter of Mackinac Island.

The attendants wore tea length dresses of ivory silk pique print in shades of mauve, pink and mint styled with a large single ruffle extending from the waistline, over the shoulders to the back of the bodice. Each carried a colonial cascade bouquet of lilies, roses and dendrobium orchids in shades of ivory and placed a single ivory rose tied with ivory ribbons in her hair.

The best man was the bridegroom's brother, Rodney Heerspink of Holland. Groomsmen included another brother, Steven Heerspink of Holland; and the bride's brothers, Armin Porter and Matthew Porter of Mackinac Island.

The mother of the bride wore a street length dress of crinkle-pleated, salmon pink silk styled with large, puffed sleeves and a large satin bow at the back waist. She pinned a single salmon pink rose in her hair.

The bridegroom's mother wore a street length dress of wisteria silk chiffon styled with long sleeves and a pleated bodice and trimmed with lace. White roses and babies'-breath formed her wrist corsage.

The prayer leader was the bride's brother, Phil Porter. The Rev. Randy Weener, the groom's brother-in-law, read scripture. Soloists were Mary Kate McGreevy and the groom's sister, Sally Weener.

Following the ceremony, the newlyweds and guests traveled to the reception by carriage as a piper from Fort Mackinac piped the way. Greeting guests at the bride's parents' home was a bagpiper dressed in 1890s costume.

Traveling from Grosse Pointe for the wedding were Mrs. Leander H. McCormick-Goodhart, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley R. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Domin, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Neumann, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley R. Day, Mr. and Mrs. William Bokram and Mr. and Mrs. William Klingbeil.

The bride is a graduate of Grosse Pointe North High School. She holds a bachelor's degree in philosophy from the Thomas Jefferson College of Grand Valley State College. She is co-owner of Heerspink-Porter Pottery.

The bridegroom is a graduate of West Ottawa High School in Holland. He holds a bachelor of arts degree from Hope College and is co-owner of Heerspink-Porter Pottery in Cedarville, Mich.

The newlyweds honeymooned on the Keweenaw Peninsula. They live on a 40-acre farm in Cedarville.

Sullivan-Alter

Laura Towers Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Sullivan Jr. of Greenwich, Conn., married Joseph William Alter, son of Mrs. Lejaren Robert Reynolds and Joseph C. Alter, both of Fremont, Calif., on Oct. 8, 1988, in Stanwich Congregational Church in Greenwich.

The Rev. Neely Paul Towe and The Rev. Richard H. Stearns officiated at the ceremony. Cordelia Hazen was the maid of honor. The best man was Breck VandenBerghe. The bride's brothers, Thomas Sullivan and Charles Sullivan, served as ushers.

The bride, a graduate of Greenwich High School and Brown University, is a public relations executive in San Francisco, Calif. She is the granddaughter of former Grosse Pointe residents Charles H. Symington of St. Louis, Mo., and Mrs. Mary T. Symington of Greenwich, and of the late Dr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Sullivan of New Haven, Conn.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Mission San Jose High School in Fremont and attended San Jose State University. He is pursuing a career in the performing arts in San Francisco, currently performing with Dance Through Time. He is the grandson of Joe E. Alter and the late Mrs. Alter of Fremont, and of Mr. and Mrs. Willard H. Walker of Newark, Calif.

The newlyweds will live in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Fleckenstein

Holley-Fleckenstein

Janie Holley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Danforth Holley of Grosse Pointe Shores, married John Alexis Fleckenstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Fleckenstein of Flint, on Sept. 10, 1988, in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

A reception at the Country Club of Detroit followed the 5:30 p.m. ceremony.

The matron of honor was the bride's sister, Debbie Palms of Grosse Pointe. Bridesmaids included Paula Rodriguez and Sheryl Boardman of Grosse Pointe Shores; Tracy Buecher of Shaker Heights, Ohio; Julie Scherer and Sara Kaiser of Grosse Pointe Farms; Elaine Fleckenstein of Winchester, Mass.; and Julie Richardson of St. Louis, Mo.

Flowergirl was Alexis Fleckenstein. Matthew Lambrecht was ringbearer.

The best man was Dan Fleckenstein of Winchester. Groomsmen included Tom Dow of Grosse Pointe Farms; Matt McKenna of Flint; Cliff Roesler of Southfield; Don Johnson of Fenton, and Dan Holley, Scott Holley and Mark Holley of Grosse Pointe Shores.

The bride holds an associate of arts degree from Colby Sawyer College and a bachelor of fine arts degree from the University of Michigan.

The bridegroom attended Vanderbilt University and holds a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Michigan.

The newlyweds honeymooned in Bermuda.

Ulmer-Hallstedt

Sarah Lynn Ulmer, daughter of Samuel and Nancy Ulmer, former Grosse Pointe residents who now live in Matthews, N.C., married Philip Arthur Hallstedt, son of Paul and Berniece Hallstedt of Byron Center, Mich., on Aug. 13, 1988, in St. James Lutheran Church in Grosse Pointe Farms.

The Rev. George Schelter officiated at the 6 p.m. ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club.

The bride wore an off-white gown styled with a sweetheart neckline, long net sleeves, a full lace bodice and a net overlay on the skirt. A lace cap held the bride's veil. She carried a bouquet of peach Sonya roses, white roses, babies'-breath, white carnations and ivy.

The matron of honor was the bride's twin sister, Susan Black of East Lansing, who was celebrating her fifth anniversary that day. Bridesmaids included another sister, Julie Ulmer of Charlotte, N.C.; and Anne Salzmann and Carol Kelly of Chicago, Ill., and Sue Buck of Denver, Colo.

The attendants wore tea length gowns of royal blue taffeta, styled with off-the-shoulder boat necks and bows at the shoulders and at the small of the back. They carried peach Sonya roses, white roses and carnations and babies'-breath.

The best man was Bill Rose of Kalamazoo. Groomsmen included the bride's brother-in-law, Vic Black of East Lansing, Tom Thoms of Rock Island, Ill., Keith Klein of Moundsview, Minn., and David Michelin of Escanaba. Barry Barretta and Randy Talcott were ushers.

Scripture reader was Mary Claire Coles. Ted Pethick was trumpeter.

The mother of the bride wore a midcalf-length dress of peach lace, styled with a pleated skirt. Her corsage was a gardenia. The bridegroom's mother's dress and corsage were similar.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Michigan, where she majored in accounting/business. She is a certified public accountant who worked for four years with the Chicago firm of Deloitte, Haskins & Sells. She is currently studying for her master of business administration degree in finance from Indiana University.

The bridegroom holds bachelor's and master's degrees in chemistry and science from the University of Michigan. He is employed as an industrial hygienist with Eli Lilly & Co.

The newlyweds honeymooned in the Cayman Islands and Tarpon Springs, Fla. They will live in Ellettsville, Ind., until the bride completes her graduate studies.

Dr. Gail Christopher, an expert in family planning and assistance program, will keynote "Families: Our Greatest Resource," Thursday, Oct. 27 at the Engineering Society in Detroit.

Conducted by the Community Affairs Forum's Family Life Committee and sponsored by the National Bank of Detroit, the conference is designed for religious leaders and representatives of service and social welfare organizations which counsel and assist families. Dr. Christopher is executive director of the Chicago-based Family Resource Coalition, a national organization composed of support groups dedicated to healthy family development.

The conference, which runs from 6 to 9 p.m., will include four panel discussions on the changing nature of families in America, family health and well-ness, family financial management and spiritual development of families.

Panel discussion leaders include Nancy Adadow Gray, director of Family Counseling Programs for the Dearborn-based Arab Community Center for Economic and Social Services (ACCESS). Dr. Charles Vincent, associate dean of Wayne State University's School of Medicine, Armando Rivas, Jr., executive director of the Detroit-based Latin Americans for Social and Economic Development, Inc. (LASED) and Rev. Robert Dulin, Jr., pastor of Metropolitan Church of God in Detroit.

For more information, or to register for the conference, contact Family Life Committee Chairperson, Beverly B. Smith, c/o National Bank of Detroit's Public Affairs Division at 225-3492.

Fine Arts Society

The Fine Arts Society of Detroit opened its 1988-89 season with a picnic Sept. 11 at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Turner. Among those in attendance were, from left, Dan Henry, Phil McCallister and Yolanda and Charles Turner with their son.

The picnic kicked off a season which will include a concert, four plays, two formal dinner dances and art exhibits — all planned and produced by Fine Arts Society members.

Michigan Opera Theatre adds trustees

Twenty-nine new Trustees were unanimously accepted to the Michigan Opera Theatre Board of Trustees during the opera company's Annual Trustee Dinner held at the Detroit Athletic Club Sept. 27.

Included in the evening's voting, the assembled trustees re-elected the current 32-member board of directors and its slate of officers, including: Robert E. Dewar, chairman of the board of directors and trustees; David DiChiera, president of the board; Cameron (Sandy) Duncan, treasurer of the board; and J. Addison Bartush, secretary of the board.

The new trustees, scheduled to serve a three-year term of office expiring in 1991, are: Barry and Linda Allen of Grosse Pointe Farms; Ara J. Darakjian, Southfield; Robert and Virginia Denderian of Birmingham; Vito and Sharon Gioia of West Bloomfield; William R. and Dianne Halling of Bloomfield Hills; H. Barbara Johnston of Grosse Pointe; Ronald and Mary Lamparter of Grosse Pointe Shores; James and Marion LoPrete of Orchard Lake; Milton J. and Jeanette Miller of Franklin; G.O. Herbert and Dorothy Moorehead Jr. of Detroit; Robert and Millie Pastor of Bloomfield Hills; and Hans Rogind of Farmington Hills.

Others are John and Karen Schultes of Grosse Pointe Park; Arthur and Lorraine Schultz of Birmingham; Richard and Valerie Straith of Bloomfield Hills and Roy and Lucia Zurkowski of Bloomfield Hills.

The remainder of the 1988/89 MOT season includes "Follies," "The Pirates of Penzance," "Norma," "The Marriage of Figaro" and "Carmen." For ticket information call 874-SING.

MHF awards grants to area groups

The Metro Health Foundation (MHF) has awarded its second series of grants to nine Metropolitan Detroit organizations. The monies, totalling $150,000 will be used to help community agencies provide additional health care.

Founded in 1986, the private Foundation is headquartered in Detroit, but makes grants to agencies throughout Michigan. "We want to support a variety of health care providers and help them meet the health needs of people of all ages," said president Glenn F. Kossick.

Among those who received grants are:

- Wellness House, Detroit, $30,000 to develop and implement a volunteer program to support service to people with AIDS. Wellness House is a residential program for people with AIDS.

- Coalition on Temporary Shelter (COTS), Detroit, $26,500 for a lift-equipped van to transport physically handicapped and other homeless guests to health agencies and support services. The grant also covers emergency prescriptions. COTS is a shelter for the homeless in downtown Detroit.

- Michigan Lupus Foundation, $20,000 to offer a wide variety of educational programs and services for more than 10,000 patients and their families.

- Michigan Cancer Foundation, $18,000 to assist in establishing a stop smoking program for low income blacks on Detroit's east side.

- Adult Well-Being Services (AWBS), Detroit, $17,500 to produce a documentary video about the prevention of elderly substance abuse.

- Area Agency on Aging, $15,000 to help Macomb County frail elderly persons continue to live independently by arranging for supportive health and social services in the home.

- Detroit Rescue Mission, $10,000 to equip its new medical clinic. The Mission is a residential center serving alcoholics and drug dependent people living along the Cass Corridor.

- Metropolitan Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Mount Clemens, $8,000 for a pilot study of racial and sexual differences of thyroid function in the elderly population.

- Foundation for Exceptional Children (FEC), Grosse Pointe, $5,000 to expand its program of education and therapy for pre-school handicapped children in east Detroit and adjacent suburbs. MHF board members include Grosse Pointe Woods resident A. Stewart Kerr, retired Senior Partner in the Detroit law firm of Kerr, Russel and Weber.

Women's Economic Club to meet

The Women's Economic Club will host a panel discussion on "Politics: Public and Presidential Hopefuls" at the Merrill-Palmer Institute, on East Ferry between Woodward Ave. and John R. from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 20. The seminar is free to members; cost is $5 for guests.

Colleen Engler, state representative Maxine Berman, Maurice Waters and Mary Addison will discuss the upcoming elections, women's issues in 1988, party platforms on the issues and how to evaluate a political candidate.

For more information, call 963-5088.

Scholarship winners

Applegate graduated from Grosse Pointe North and will attend Northwestern where he intends to pursue a career in symphony business management. Applegate has studied the violin, participated in varsity football and track at school and was treasurer of his class. Mackey graduated from DeLaSalle and will attend the University of Michigan to study architecture. Mackey was president of the student council, captain of the lacrosse team and president of the S.A.D.D. chapter at DeLaSalle.

"These two young men represent the caliber of students we look for in offering the four-year Ewald Scholarship. There is potential, motivation and they have a desire to serve their community," Ewald said.

Congress saves Au Pair in America program

An innovative local child-care/cultural exchange program called Au Pair in America received 11th hour U.S. Congressional approval. The program was scheduled to be terminated on Oct. 1.

Au Pair in America brings carefully screened young women and men between the ages of 18 and 25 from Europe to the Grosse Pointe area to spend 12 months living with a family and helping with child-care up to 45 hours a week.

"We fought to keep the program in its current form," said Sue Measelle, local community counselor. "We are pleased that Congress took this action that will enable us to continue to offer this unique program to area families."

The program costs each host family approximately $165 a week. Of this amount $100 is paid directly to the Au Pair as pocket money, and the balance is paid at the beginning of the program to the American Institute For Foreign Study to provide air fare, medical insurance, orientation, screening of the Au Pair and the host family, plus a variety of social, educational and cultural services provided by the local community counselor.

The program was initially

Raku pottery show is open

The works of potter Maxwell Davis of the Center for Creative Studies will be presented at the Arts Wing Gallery of University Liggett School from now designated on a test basis by the U.S. government in June 1986, and has now been re-designated for an additional two years.

Arts lecture series offered

For this fall's installment in his on-going lectures on the arts, Jack DuBois will demonstrate the impact that great literature can have on its sister art of music. Called "Shakespeare in Music," the series will explore a wide variety of music having a common basis in the tragedies and comedies of Shakespeare.

Some of the choices are not only predictable but essential; for example, Verdi's three Shakespeare operas, or the Tchaikovsky Overture and Berlioz Symphony based on "Romeo and Juliet." But many lesser-known works await investigation — to name a few, "King Lear" by Reimann, music for "The Tempest" by Chausson, Sibelius and Massenet, and music for Shakespeare films by Roto, Walton and John Scott.

Background will be provided on composers, and both the music and the plays will be illustrated via recording.

The six-lecture series will be given at the Community Room of Standard Federal Savings, 19700 Mack Avenue in Grosse Pointe Woods, beginning Thursday, Oct. 20, at 7:30 p.m.

The series fee is $50, separate lectures are $10. For more information, call DuBois at 882-2325.

Afternoon tea — an elegant pause that refreshes

The delightful British institution of afternoon tea is frequently revived as a popular activity. English period novelists kept the fashion popular with detailed descriptions of teas describing every delicious morsel — frequently hot scones dripping with melted butter and/or berries with Devonshire clotted cream.

If you are a fan of afternoon tea — the "pause that refreshes" — here are some recipes sure to make tea fans smile:

Raisin Whole Wheat Scones Lemon Tea Muffins Old Fashioned Gingerbread

Raisin Whole Wheat Scones

1-1/2 cups all-purpose flour
1/3 cup whole wheat flour
3 Tbsp. sugar
3-3/4 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 cup margarine
2/3 cup seedless raisins
1 egg, slightly beaten
1/2 cup skim milk
1 tsp. grated orange peel

Preheat oven to 425°. Sift flours, sugar, baking powder and salt into mixing bowl. Cut in margarine. Add remaining ingredients; stir lightly to combine. Turn into well greased 8-inch round cake pan. Mark into six wedges with a knife. Bake about 25 minutes. Serve warm, split and spread with margarine, or peanut butter and jelly. Makes 6 servings. Calories per serving, about 300. Cholesterol, trace.

Lemon Tea Muffins

1 cup sifted all purpose flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1/2 cup margarine
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs, separated

3 Tbsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. grated lemon peel
2 Tbsp. sugar
1/4 tsp. ground cinnamon

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt three times. Cream margarine and 1/2 cup sugar until light and fluffy. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored; blend well with creamed mixture. Add flour mixture alternately with lemon juice. Do not overmix. Beat egg whites until stiff peaks form. Carefully fold whites and lemon peel into batter. Fill small greased 2-inch muffin pan 2/3 full. Combine 2 tablespoons sugar and cinnamon; sprinkle about 1/2 teaspoon over each muffin. Bake at 375° for 15 to 20 minutes. Makes about 18 muffins.

Calories per muffin, about 95. Cholesterol, about 13 mgs.

Old Fashioned Gingerbread

1-1/2 cups whole-wheat flour
3 tsp. baking powder
2 tsp. ginger
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/4 tsp. salt
1 egg
1/3 cup sugar
1/3 cup oil
3/4 cup skim milk buttermilk
2/3 cup dark molasses

Stir together whole wheat flour, baking powder, ginger, cinnamon, and salt; set aside. In large bowl of mixer beat remaining ingredients until well mixed.

Stir in flour mixture just to blend, about 25 strokes. Turn into well oiled 8-inch square baking pan.

Bake in preheated 350° oven 45 minutes or until pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan on rack 10 to 15 minutes. Cut into nine squares; serve warm, either plain or with lemon sauce.

Calories per serving, about 238. Cholesterol, about 27.

Talk about a big berry — it's the Great Pumpkin!

By Ellen Probert
Special Writer

Recently we boggled minds with the thought that tomatoes are fruits, not vegetables, and that rosebushes are fruit-bearing plants. Another mind-boggler is the astonishing fact that pumpkins, which have their heyday in the month of October, are fruits, too.

Actually, they are berries. When we think of berries we usually think small (cranberries, blueberries), but pumpkins can be enormous and weigh 100 pounds or more. (Imagine a 100-pound raspberry!)

Pumpkin history in America goes back a long way. They are native to this hemisphere. No one in Europe had ever heard of them until the French explorer Jacques Cartier reported from the St. Lawrence area that he had discovered enormous golden fruits that he called Pompions which were a staple food among the Indians. All of the various squashes, cucumbers and melons you find at the supermarket are related to one another, as are gherkins and gourds. They are all members of the Cucurbitaceae family.

Sometimes pumpkins grow to unbelievable size. Every year the World Pumpkin Confederation sponsors awards for the world's heaviest pumpkin with the main weighing ceremoniously done in Collins, N.Y., with contestants from all over the globe. This takes place in the fall but another weighing session is held in the spring at the Southern Hemisphere weighing since the seasons are reversed below the equator. Pumpkins are harvested in April there. The WPC publishes a newsletter and has over a 1,000 members in 15 countries. The largest pumpkin listed in their records weighed 671 pounds and was 12 feet in circumference. (How about a strawberry that size?)

In Europe, Halloween jack-o-lanterns are usually made of large yellow turnips and carried around impaled on long sticks. In this country it makes much more sense to have enormous pumpkins... which can be very impressive indeed. Many places have pumpkin festivals in October with jack-o-lantern contests and pie eating contests and feasts of everything from pumpkin soup to pumpkin pie.

One such festival is the Upland Hills Farm Pumpkin Festival in Oxford which takes place

Garden Center house tour running smoothly. Planning starts months ahead. When the 35th Tour is held Oct. 22 and 23 it will all have been worthwhile and the houses on view will be staffed with gracious hostesses is lying through its teeth, even that should be under control.

This year's tour will include some beautiful houses which are varied enough in their style and decor to provide something of interest for everyone. Tickets are still on sale through Friday at Hollywood Drugs, Grosse Pointe Florist, The Wood Shop, The Pointe Pedlar, Maskell Hardware and the Garden Center at the $8 pre-sale price. If you miss out on that you can still buy tickets on the tour days at the houses themselves for $10.

Trees are more important to our well-being than you may have realized. Think, for instance, of how much tree-produced food we eat. Nuts and fruits are the most common, but there are also such products as maple sugar and olive oil and many spices. Dyes are made from bark of some trees, too.

Without trees to absorb rain-water and project it back into the vapor, the climate of the world would be much drier and farming would be much less productive. The cooling effect of trees in hot weather is amazing. A single tree can equal the cooling effect of 10 room-size air conditioners running 20 hours a day.

Land erosion control is an extremely important function of trees. Without forests covering the slopes of eastern mountains they would soon be as bare as the Grand Canyon. Noise and air pollution are eased by trees. In Los Angeles the trees are such effective dust traps that the city washes them periodically. Tree belts on highways have been found to be very effective smog fighters.

People have a natural affinity for trees. Numerous tests have shown that people respond emotionally to trees, and that they relax and feel much less anxiety and stress in tree-rich places.

Now that we no longer have to worry about Indians lurking behind them we are much happier when we are surrounded with trees. And at this time of changing colors and fall beauty we can really appreciate them, even though it won't be very long before we have leaves to rake!

Life's experiences can help create well-versed poets

By Marian Trainor
Special Writer

Don't underestimate us, hear; these are not bare and lean years. We're better than we were; just call us Super Seniors.

It's not Whitman or James Whitcomb Reilly or Edgar Guest, but it is a poetic expression of one person's pride in being an older citizen.

This little verse came out of a course called "Creative Expression," taught in Durham, N.D., and sponsored by the Durham Arts Council and Durham Technical Institute.

The class was made up of senior citizens who gathered under the leadership of Ellen Johnston-Hale twice a week. The members felt that the term "senior citizen" did not convey the vitality and energy they possessed and coined the designation "Super Seniors."

Before the class, most of them didn't know they could write poetry. They thought a poem had to rhyme or contain elegant phrases. They didn't know that some of the thoughts they expressed to the group were poetic.

They didn't realize that as they shared their thoughts, feelings, experiences and memories sincerely and honestly, they were expressing themselves in a poetic manner.

Johnston-Hale broke down the barriers and overcame the "I'm not a poet!" syndrome. To establish a sense of openness, she shared with them her own feelings about being a teacher. She read them poems she had written about these feelings. She shared with them poems written about children, how it felt to be 13, dumb in math, or the hurt of being the fattest girl in the fifth grade.

Gradually the class opened up and began to see what a poem can do. They found it could bring out in the open thoughts and memories long forgotten and how it would help people to understand how it is with you, and if you listen to or read poems how you could come to understand yourself and others better.

They discovered that writing

One student, an elderly gentleman, wrote about being lost. "I stay lost, just hoping someone will find me."

A student who was deaf wrote like to grow old with grace. They made us feel young and free again and encouraged us to let out the fun-loving child in us."

The arts — whether they be poetry, painting, dance or music — can be part of our daily life, for the best of art is life heightened, poignant and meaningful. And who should know most about life and living than those who have experienced it in joys and sorrow, triumphs and failures, births and deaths? Who has had the time and judgment to sift through those experiences and present it in a view freshened by their own views of what has been meaningful and important in their individual lives? Super Seniors!

They possess the wisdom of age and the arts provides an opportunity to pass it on. Advice is often resented even when it is good, but points can be driven home gracefully and subtly in an amusing verse or a painting.

A Super Senior who will take the time to learn how to express those innermost feelings will find that they rise to the surface with a little encouragement. They will not only find a certain sense of relief in expressing them but will discover that time will never hang on their hands. The hours will fly as they seek to express in just the right words how it felt when their first child went to school or try to put into a painting the fun and excitement of a family picnic.

More opportunities like the Durham Creative Expression class might insure that important contribution that those who have lived so long and seen so much would have the chance to gather together with their peers in an informal atmosphere where their creative forces would be encouraged.

Wouldn't it be just great to see a book printed by a local press with verses, commentaries and sketches done by the Super Seniors of our community?

Prime Time

poetry could be therapeutic and give a sense of accomplishment. It could make one more observant and appreciative of the world. One took time to "smell the roses" because suddenly the whole world had something to contribute to the creative urge.

Students wrote poems about the blessings of old age, how it felt to retire, how many people as they grow older grow more peaceful. "They don't grow mean, they grow sweet and old with a need to love and be loved," one wrote.

about a rose and what it meant to her. "I've been alone, not a loner. I've found beauty and happiness in things others do not see."

Discovery, delight and a sense of self-worth blossomed as they wrote. The sharing had a chain effect — one member's efforts encouraged others.

Johnston-Hale says, "The poet is in all of us. I am convinced we are all poets just waiting to be given a chance. These Super Seniors, these 70- and 80-year-old people showed us what it is

Concerned citizens award program planned

The Concerned Citizens Award program, a statewide effort to recognize Michigan's mature adults for outstanding community and neighborhood service, is introduced by Citizens Insurance Company of America, based in Howell.

The "Concerned Citizen" awards will recognize mature adults who have demonstrated exceptional service to benefit their communities. Outstanding seniors who have contributed service to benefit their neighborhood or an individual neighbor will be considered for the "Concerned Neighbor" awards.

Each of the regional and state winners will receive a commemorative award specifically customized for this program. Each of the state winners will also receive a one-week trip for two to Hawaii (or the equivalent) from Citizens Insurance Company.

People throughout the state can nominate mature adults for these awards. Nomination forms can be obtained from Citizens agents and participating senior citizens organizations throughout Michigan. Nominations must be received by 5 p.m. on Dec. 1 at the main office of Citizens in Howell. Judging will be conducted by a special committee composed of Citizens agents, senior citizens and civic leaders.

Candidates for these awards must be residents of Michigan who are at least 60 years of age or a member of any senior citizens or retirement organization. Their community or neighborhood service must have occurred during the 12-month period immediately preceding the nomination deadline date.

Arizona on tap for Senior Men's Travelogue

The Travel Photography Club of the Senior Men's Club of Grosse Pointe will present "Arizona, Land of All Seasons" by Bill Lorenz at 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 21, in the auditorium of Parcels School, Mack Ave. at Vernier Road.

The slide program will feature the popular scenic and tourist areas of Phoenix and Tucson, the historic town of Tombstone and the border town of Nogales. Viewers will see the Organ Pipe National Monument in spring and take a mule trip into the Grand Canyon.

The program is open to the public. Charge is $1. Refreshments will be served after the show.

Busy schedule for A.A.R.P.

Members of the American Association of Retired Persons will hold a party for the Mariners Inn on Cass Avenue in Detroit. Members are asked to bring cupcakes. Gail Seitz is now accepting Christmas gifts for the Mariners Inn as part of the group's on-going community services.

On Nov. 4, A.A.R.P. plans an early Christmas party at Veterans' Hospital in Allen Park. Acceptable items include pocket calendars, cards, wallets, stamps, note paper, socks, lap robes, toothbrushes and toothpaste.

On Nov. 10, the group will take a trip to Turkeyville for a Thanksgiving dinner and a chance to see the program "Star Spangled Girl." Cost is $26.50.

The group will meet at 1:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 14, at the Neighborhood Club.

Wrong again

I learned a long time ago that in the newspaper business, mistakes are magnified because thousands of people recognize them immediately.

Publishing gaffes are nothing to be proud of. It's definitely a humbling experience. Just ask Ronald Reagan.

However, I think I'm on a roll. Dick Clark and Ed McMahon host television bloopers, so allow me to highlight some local blunders.

Two weeks ago, I wrote a column about saying no to drugs, but in one paragraph I forgot to put not in front of the words smoking marijuana and drinking alcohol. Talk about a change of complexion or context.

Last week I wrote profits when I really intended it to read prophets. Well, live and let die right? Wrong.

In the drug column, my firm stance on not inhibiting one's body with performance-enhancing substances was shattered because of one paragraph. I don't know if anybody picked up on it, but I did. It wasn't intended to read the way it did.

Profits, excuse me, prophets, wasn't all that bad. It wasn't the first time I've worn egg on my face, and it won't be the last. Maybe it's something I can profit from.

Now, to tail away from my sob story, I have got to tell you about the football block of the month. No, it wasn't bone-crushing or helmet raising. It was, however, a play stolen from the books of the soccer manual.

Charlie Stumb, a wide receiver and line-backer for the North football team, didn't receive proper credit for misdirecting a Warren Woods-Tower field goal attempt. From first indications, Jason DeYonker blocked it, but actually it was Stumb.

Stumb leaped the pile of blockers and was turned upside down, but didn't let that stop him. While suspended in air and preparing for a free fall, Stumb's size 12 spikes were all he needed as the kick sailed wide after deflecting off his shoe.

You figure it out

All season long, North, South and University Liggett School have been at the top of their class in the state tennis rankings. But lately, they've been bounced around more than a ball because of their court performances.

ULS cracked the preseason polls rated No. 1 in Class C-D. North broke into the Class A polls just past the midway mark, and South was rated No. 2 early on in Class A.

North's jump into the polls came after defeating ULS, 5-2, for the first time ever. The Lady Norsemen bumped South to No. 3 and took over the No. 2 slot with that win. Two weeks later, South beat North 4-3 and they again swapped positions.

Meanwhile ULS lost to unheralded Ann Arbor Huron and Birmingham Marian, dropping them from third in the overall poll, to a tie for 10th.

ULS' Martin loves the game of tennis

By Rob Fulton
 Sports Editor

At 3 years of age, Dawn Martin's best friend was an automatic tennis ball server. Fourteen years later, she still thinks about her first companion as she faces human tennis machines.

Martin, a Prince All-American, is in her senior year at University Liggett School. At 3, she was being taught how to play tennis, but now she teaches her opponents a thing or two.

'I don't think I'll go pro . . . I want to go to college, earn a degree and play tennis. You never know though.' — Dawn Martin.

"For a half hour a week in lessons, they would throw balls at me so I could learn to play," Martin said. "Doing that eventually helped me improve, and I gradually built up."

Martin grew up in Ortonville. Tennis was something she enjoyed, and having to drive 80 miles a day, six days a week made her love for the game grow deeper. Her mother, Jahn, was and still is her biggest fan, but driving Dawn to Franklin Racquet Club in Farmington Hills each day became a bit trying at times.

"We drove down there because that's where my coach Bob DeSpirt was," Martin said. "My mom never seemed to get tired of doing it, but I know at times she didn't want to take me."

At that time, Martin was committed to a life of tennis. As her present high school coach Bob Wood would say, "It takes a great deal of dedication to play tennis."

"She has a special dedication to University Liggett School, as well as the Liggett tennis program," said Wood. "Dawn is always supporting the players on the team. She is concerned about the success of the team and the members on it."

Martin also believes that applying herself is vital, but committing to play tennis also affects her mother.

"It's something about the love of tennis why I choose to play," Martin said. "You have to be willing to make that commitment. It's not only a commitment for me, but for my mother as well."

During her early instruction, the 9-year-old Martin was forced to practice on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Being one step behind Amy Frazier of Rochester did not sit well with her, but one day she was able to escape all that.

"Carrie Cunningham and I were in a program that was one below Amy's," Martin recalled. "We wanted to play three times a week and one day I beat Amy for the first time and Carrie won too, so I guess you could say we graduated from Tuesdays and Thursdays, to Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays."

After eighth grade, Martin and her mother moved to St. Clair Shores. The next fall Martin enrolled at ULS. Her name was already synonymous with tennis, but her ability now was talked about in the same sentence as Susie Mascarin's and Aaron Krickstein's, two former ULS players who now play professionally.

As a freshman, Martin won the No. 1 singles flight at the Class C-D state championships, and that same year, the team won its sixth straight state title. Martin went on to win the title, as did the team, the next two years. Now with the state finals pending this year, Martin could become the only high school tennis player in Michigan to ever win four consecutive individual championships at the same flight.

"I hope I get it," she said. "It would be very nice to get because I would remember that I went through University Liggett School and contributed to the team's winnings."

In 1984, while attending Brandon High School in Ortonville, Martin suffered a shoulder injury. Her career in tennis wasn't threatened by the injury, nor was it in danger during her short experiment with track.

"I strained a muscle and was out for eight weeks," said Martin. "During that time, I ran track because I had never played any other sport and I just wanted to try it."

"I tried it, but I had to come back to tennis very quickly," she said chuckling. "At least I tried it."

Outside of high school tennis, between now and June, Martin will follow a schedule calling for at least two hours of tennis per day, and a minimum of one hour conditioning. It's obvious DeSpirt wants her to be the best, but he isn't a slave driver.

"He keeps me going, but if I get tired of it I just take a couple days off," Martin said. "He lets me take a day or two off, but he won't let me give up."

Martin, ranked No. 12 in the nation last year in the 16-and-under Junior's division, has en-

Wayne County golf outing a success

The first annual Golf Outing to benefit the Wayne County Intermediate School District Foundation for Educational Opportunities was held on Sept. 29 at the Green Oaks Golf Course in Ypsilanti. The fundraising event attracted such supporters as County Executive Ed McNamara, Speaker of the House Gary Owen, Representatives Richard Young and James Kosteva and local business leaders.

Tickets were $100 and proceeds will be used to purchase talking computers for non-verbal students and to fund Wayne County teacher mini-grants.

The Foundation was established earlier this year to provide Wayne County students with innovative educational opportunities that cannot be provided through current operating budgets or tax revenues. The Golf Outing was the Foundation's first fundraising activity. Many other businesses contributed prizes and donations for the event.

joyed her collection of awards she has garnered on the courts, but she's also had her moments of frustration.

"There's been times when I've been on the court and didn't want to be, sure," she said. "But I can't allow myself to give up. I also get great support from Bob (DeSpirt) and Coach Wood."

During the summer, Martin's bags are packed as she travels the nation playing in tournaments. Last summer, her "funnest" tourney was the National Hardcourts in California.

"Playing in California is wonderful," she said. "During the summer I travel a lot and meet so many new people. That's another part of tennis that I really enjoy."

While playing the amateur circuit, Martin is accompanied by DeSpirt. His coaching is an endless job, as is his ability to remind Martin of her smaller responsibilities. She quenches her superstitions by following DeSpirt's advice.

"Whenever we get to the city I will play in, Bob takes me to the grocery store and makes sure I buy Granola Bars, a snack of some kind, and Gatorade," Martin said.

On the courts, she is outfitted with Prince and Fila apparel, but a water bottle made by Exceed must be on the sidelines.

"I always need this water bottle," she said pointing at it. "Without that and my snacks, I guess I wouldn't be the same."

For the few times she's been beaten, Martin recalls those opponents fondly. But when they are to meet again, she will not wear the same outfit due to superstition.

"There are certain skirts or shirts I won't wear for certain people," she said. "If I'm playing someone I lost too, I won't wear that same outfit again."

Upon graduation, Martin will head for college. With her choices narrowed to Vanderbilt, Duke, Kentucky, Georgia, Clemson, and Arizona State, Martin will surely play at a top tennis college. However, her loyalties are not restricted to tennis.

"Tennis will not be a top priority," she said. "I'm not looking to make my living in tennis. I'm looking to make it in some medical field."

During the summer of '88 Martin sprained her ankle. Although it limited some of her playing time, she took advantage of it by learning more about the medical world.

"I saw open heart surgery performed this year and that's when I decided I was going to go into the medical field," she said.

Martin, leaning toward a sports medicine career, has been in elite company through her 14 years, but if she were to join the professional ranks she would join another class.

"I don't think I'll go pro," she said confidently. "I want to go to college, earn a degree and play tennis. You never know though. If I get to college and play well, things may change. Right now though I'm concentrating on winning another championship for University Liggett School."

Football team wins; tennis team reigns

By Rob Fulton

Sports Editor

At the start of the season, University Liggett School football coach Bob Newvine was taking a risk playing some bigger teams and it didn't pay off. However, now that they are competing against teams their own size, it is paying off.

ULS picked up its third win with another shutout, 43-0 over Cardinal Mooney last Saturday.

After losing three straight to start the season, ULS' three wins have come by its defense posting a goose egg on the scoreboard.

"We're playing schools that we can match up better with," said Newvine. "When we do that, we compare a lot better."

Defensively ULS allowed only 130 yards and forced four turnovers.

Senior quarterback Lex Smith, who threw for 124 yards, commanded the troops to a 23-0 half-time lead by throwing for three touchdowns to Michael Barnes (23 yards), Dike Ajiri (73 yards), and Ed Merriman (29).

Ajiri added two 2-point conversions, and Mike Whelan booted one of his three extra points on the day.

Chris Carroll lifted the curtain on his show in the second half with touchdown runs from 8 and 24 yards. Whelan's two PATs gave ULS a 37-0 lead. With four seconds left in the game, Kevin Whitfield returned an interception 58 yards to close the scoring.

Charles Simonian had two interceptions, and John Ellis had his second interception of the year and recovered a fumble.

"We're playing a lot of kids and are feeling more comfortable with ourselves," said Newvine. "We're hoping to go 5-4 on the year."

ULS (3-4) plays host to Lutheran Northwest on Oct. 21, and then travels to Pittsford on Oct. 28.

Tennis

After recent heartbreaking defeats to Marian and Ann Arbor Huron, the University Liggett School girls' tennis team defeated Grosse Pointe South and then swept all seven flights to win its ninth consecutive Class C-D regional championship.

ULS lost 4-3 to Marian and Huron, but beat South, 5-2.

"It was a great victory — our girls were very excited," said Coach Bob Wood about the win over the Devils. "We haven't been very successful against South. In fact, last year was our first victory over South ever."

Individual flight winners for ULS were Dawn Martin (No. 1 singles), Elena Hunt (No. 2 singles), Lynn Sinkel (No. 4 singles), Ali Frederick and Shirley Kim (No. 1 doubles), and Natasha Levy and Liz Thomas (No. 3 doubles).

Regionals proved to be no contest for ULS. Martin won at No. 1 singles, as did Elena Hunt, Lexie Crain (No. 3 singles), Sinkel, Frederick and Kim, Alexis Collins and Beth Van Elslander (No. 2 doubles), and Natasha Levy and Liz Thomas (No. 3 doubles).

On Oct. 20, the Lady Knights will play in the Class C-D championships in Battle Creek.

Golf

In spite of stellar performances by Gene Gargaro at the City Championships, and Chris McCormick in a dual meet with North, the ULS golf team ended the season on a modest note.

In the City Championships at Lochmoor, ULS finished third with a 199 team total. Gargaro carded a 43, and Andrew Stewart followed with a 49.

Against North, McCormick, a promising player, tallied the low score of the day with a 43. He was followed by Stewart's 47, and Gargaro's 48. As a team ULS shot a 190.

Overall, the varsity finished 4-6, while the jayvee team, led by Rob Petz, Ross Kogel, James Combs, Wes Sims, Licia Price, Katie Tompkins and Anthony Abiragi finished 5-0.

Field Hockey

By Sylvia Ristic
Special Writer

The field hockey team continued on its winning streak by defeating Michigan High School Field Hockey League rivals Ann Arbor Pioneer (2-1), and Detroit Country Day School (9-0).

At home, the Lady Knights played what Coach Muriel Brock said was, "The prettiest game of hockey" she had ever seen against Pioneer. Monica Paul and Sarah Haggarty scored for ULS.

Soccer

By James Kim
Special Writer

The ULS soccer team won two games last week; defeating a Class A power in one and wrapping up the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference championship in the other.

ULS hosted Notre Dame and stole a thrilling 2-1 victory. Notre Dame scored first late in the first period, but ULS fought against the wind throughout the relatively even second half. In an exciting finale, Doug Wood and Jonathon Davis notched two quick goals in the closing two minutes of play. Shots on goal were almost even, as ULS pounded 19 and Notre Dame shot 20 times.

At Oakland Christian for the MIAC title, ULS took advantage of a weak defense and landed six of its 46 shots on goal to win, 6-0.

The win was also victory No. 100 for Coach David Backhurst in his seven-year career.

ULS, ranked No. 4 in C-D, will host eighth-ranked Immaculate Conception at 4 p.m. on Oct. 24 in a district game.

On to nationals

The Wimbledon Racquet Club of St. Clair Shores' Men's 5.0 tennis team is headed for the national tennis tournament at Walden on Lake Conroe, Texas from Oct. 20-23.

Standing are Rick Shaheen, Mike Acosta, Robert Bracci (Farms), and Denny Cavanaugh. Kneeling are Doug Graham (Woods) and Dick Kelleher.

Picking the winners

Each week through the college football season, Frank Sumbera (North), Jon Rice (South) and Bob Newvine (ULS), all football coaches, will go head-to-head and pick the winners of five collegiate football games, and five professional games. Totals include picks since Oct. 2.

Then ULS, still ranked No. 1 in Class C-D, faced South at the Elworthy courts and beat the Devils 5-2.

Great tennis is alive in the Pointes, but you need a scorecard to keep track of it.

Confused? Don't worry. After the regionals last week, the final report from the Michigan High School Tennis Coaches Association lists South No. 1 in Class A, North is third, and ULS retained the Class C-D's top spot. Overall though, South finished No. 1, North was third and ULS went to fourth.

A helping hand

The University Liggett School varsity football team lent a helping hand the other day by extending its services to the Detroit Children's Home.

Neighbors for years, the Children's Home and ULS finally put together an informal football program that was geared to kids from the home.

After a ULS practice, several kids came over for the mini-camp that was organized by Eric Ross, from the Home, and ULS coach Bob Newvine. Ross' group is being taught how to play touch football, so when Newvine's players showed the kids proper blocking, running and passing techniques; they immediately applied it all to their touch football workouts.

You would think that the kids from the Children's Home would benefit most, but the mutual admiration was felt by both sides.

"Doing something like this should be done more often," said Newvine. "It made me and our football team feel good about what we had done. It really picked our spirits up, too."

Each kid from the Children's Home came away with a little more knowledge of football, and they also now wear jerseys that ULS wanted them to have.

CHAMP sponsors trainers' club

High school students currently acting as student trainers for their teams and anyone interested in a career in sports medicine are invited to participate in a new Student Trainers' Club, which will be sponsored by CHAMP.

Current CHAMP trainers will serve as advisers to the group.

An organizational meeting is scheduled for Monday, Oct. 24, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at Kellwood School, room 11. Kellwood is located at 19200 Stephens in East Detroit.

The Student Trainers' Club plans to offer a number of interesting sports medicine activities including, guest speakers and field trips and workshops.

The activities will provide insight and instruction in the field of sports medicine, aiding the students in their current trainer positions, and helping them launch careers in the profession.

According to Marti Van-Enenaam, A.T.C., "our aim is also to provide a social setting for student trainers in this area to become acquainted and share common experiences."

For more information about the club, call 884-8600, ext. 2553.

Instructors receive certificates

Deborah Garner, Jean MacLeod and Janet Miller, instructors of Super Shape, Inc. in East Detroit, have received their certification from the International Dance-Exercise Association.

All three instructors were required to pass a national standard examination for fitness industry leaders dealing in areas of anatomy, physiology, kinesiology and nutrition.

Blue Devils don't play well, beat Anchor Bay, 29-21

By Rob Fulton
Sports Editor

In a game of give and take, South's varsity football team was fortunate enough to take more than it gave.

Despite losing three fumbles which Anchor Bay turned into points, South managed to escape with its fourth straight win, 29-21, over the Tars.

South (5-2, 5-1 in E.M.L.) trails league-leading Port Huron Northern by one game, and closes out the league Oct. 22 at East Detroit. A win over the Shamrocks, coupled with a Northern loss to L'Anse Creuse North, would give the Devils a share of the title.

"We'll know Friday night," said South coach Jon Rice. "Northern and L'Anse Creuse play that night, so when we play Saturday it could be for a tie, or it could be to finish in a strong second place."

In a Homecoming affair against Anchor Bay on Oct. 15, South started quickly by scoring two touchdowns before its offense even touched the ball. Linebacker Gil Waitkus returned a deflected pass 52 yards for a score, and on the next kickoff Matt Wysocki jarred the ball loose and Rob Khoenle picked it up and ran 31 yards for the score. Jason Weissert added the two extra points and South enjoyed a 14-0 lead.

"I don't know if that kind of start affected us, or we just never got into the game emotionally," Rice said. "We had three really tough games in a row before this one and emotionally we were in all of them. We just didn't seem to play at the same level we played at in the previous three weeks."

After stopping Anchor Bay on its next possession, South took over and quickly relinquished its shutout as the Tars tucked it in and trailed 14-6 after South's Lance Harding, who had eight tackles and six assists, blocked the extra point.

"Anchor Bay is a good football team," Rice said. "Maybe with the kind of lead we got we thought the game was going to be easy, but it was far from that."

From his cornerback spot, Chris Stebbins set up a 2-yard touchdown run by Steve Rice, who rushed for 94 yards on 19 carries, after intercepting a pass at the Anchor Bay 23. Weissert's third PAT put South back up by two scores, but once again the problem of holding onto the football hurt South.

"There's no question we were bogged down by fumbles," said Rice. "We were moving the ball, but we fumbled. Fumbles are a part of the game, but it's unfortunate they happen."

In the second quarter, South coughed up the ball on its own 39 and the Tars drove it home to cut the lead to 21-12 at the half.

"At half we told the kids there was still a lot of football to play," Rice said. "We were lucky to be up 21-12."

To open the second half, South picked up right where it left off. They gave the ball away again at their own 35, but a stingy defense, which gave up 264 total yards, limited Anchor Bay to a field goal.

Not enjoying a 21-15 lead, South engineered a 60-yard drive that ended in a Jim West touchdown from 5 yards out. Steve Rice converted the 2-point try and South held a 29-15 lead.

West, filling in for Mike Montagne, who is lost for the season with retina damage, ran for 42 yards on eight carries.

"At that time it was very important for us because we went up by two scores," Rice explained. "We took the ball that time and moved it well. We put together a very tough, and important drive."

The Tars finished the scoring in the fourth quarter after taking advantage of South's third fumble, and a 40-yard pass completion.

"It wasn't the prettiest thing ever," Rice said, "but we achieved our No. 1 goal and that was to win five football games this season."

"The kids know they didn't play well. That's no mystery."

Offensively Brian Letscher completed five passes for 76 yards. However, the last home game could have been better for the defense.

"We've played better," Rice said. "We didn't tackle well. It was an overall team effort of not playing our best ball."

"We're always happy with a win because it's better than what comes next."

After the East Detroit game, South will prepare for intracity rival Grosse Pointe North on Oct. 29 at North. Kickoff is 1 p.m.

Tennis

South is headed to the state finals this weekend after tying North for the regional championship with 24 points.

South picked up wins from Kathy Rajt (No. 1 singles), Cathy Wachter (No. 2 singles), and the No. 1 doubles team of Amy Hathaway and Cindy Herman.

Runners-up in flights for South were Stephanie Vitoe (No. 3 singles), Jennifer Schutzman (No. 4 singles), Julie Wheeler and Anne Tipp (No. 2 doubles), and Holly Wachter and Beth Bonanni (No. 3 doubles).

South, which lost the state title last year after winning 11 straight, hopes to win it back at the state finals in Midland.

Swimming

By more than the century mark, South drilled Eisenhower, 135-34.

Anna Francis was first in the 200 freestyle, while Tina Higel continued to take first in the 200 individual medley. Other winners were Ann Eckel (50 free), Denise Brown (diving), Francis (100 butterfly), Erin Sullivan (100 free), GERALYN COCCI, (500 free), Tina Semple (100 backstroke), and Kristin Prysak (100 breaststroke).

Soccer

Mike Woodruff's goal off a penalty shot lifted the Devils to a 1-0 win over East Detroit. With the win South moved to 10-4-1, but a few days later they picked up a 1-0 defeat to Country Day.

Win No. 11 on the year came at Warren Fitzgerald, 4-0. Rick Reggio tallied twice, and Brink Cawley, who also drew an assist, and Woodruff also netted goals. Tristian Guevara, Chris Paul and John Drummy also had assists.

South is 11-5-1 overall.

Basketball

With three wins in their last four games, the Lady Devils improved to 5-6 overall and 3-2 in the E.M.L.

Katie Kolp and Kathleen Monaghan led the way with 10 points in a 41-31 win at Roseville. Kolp also had five steals, and Monaghan yanked down 10 boards.

South then needed a tying basket from Kolp, and a free throw from Karen Ehresman to beat L'Anse Creuse North, 31-29 on the road. Ehresman, playing in only her second varsity game, led South with eight points and six steals. Lorrie Geist, Darcy Jones and Katie Kolp each had six points for South.

Boys' cross country

Mark Sonnenberg won the race, but East Detroit won the war, 27-28.

The loss was South's first in the E.M.L. as they now stand 4-1. Sonnenberg is still unbeaten in dual-meet competition.

Injuries don't hamper Norsemen in 35-13 win

By Rob Fulton
Sports Editor

Call it a fluke. Call it what you want. But as the Norsemen injury list grows longer, so does their winning streak.

For the second consecutive week, North used many players to dismantle an opponent and this time it worked in a 35-13 Homecoming win over Lake Shore.

North (3-4, 3-1 in the MAC White Division) didn't repeat as division champs, but they have begun a new season in which they are 2-0.

"After we lost to league champ Romeo (14-13), we decided to start a new season," said North coach Frank Sumbera. "We're 2-and-0 with two games to play and our goal is to now win two more. After the Romeo game our motto was to go for it."

On its way to 332 yards of total offense on the day, North scored on its first two possessions. Scott Bernhardt, who completed 15 of 26 for 263 yards, aired it out early for two touchdown tosses of 15 and 2 yards to Charlie Stumb; giving North a 14-0 bulge. Stumb caught eight passes for 115 yards.

"The key for us was that Scott was on the money," said Sumbera.

"We came ready to play and just took it to them at Homecoming."

Bernhardt, who has now passed for 13 touchdowns, including four last Saturday which tied him with John Clem's 1980 game record, is chasing the school record of 15 set back in 1980. He already owns the record for yards in a game, and he only trails Craig Como's season yardage mark of 1,531 by 206 yards.

"We went into the game ready to throw, and Scott did the job," Sumbera said. "He really played well."

North fumbled the ball three times on the day and lost all three; two resulting in points for Lake Shore.

After recovering its first fumble, Lake Shore soundly moved the ball and scored from 2 yards out to end the first half trailing 14-7.

"I was pleased with the way we came out and took charge," Sumbera said. "We had some things that broke our backs after we were up 14-0, but we just kept trying to play over them."

North also had to play over injuries to center Bill Turnbull (neck), running back Kevin McCarron (ankle) and Bryan Ford (finger).

"The guys we put in just did the job," said Sumbera.

Jason DeYonker returned the second-half kickoff 23 yards and that built a base of momentum for the Norsemen as Chuck Schultz capped a 74-yard drive on the ninth play with a 6-yard run.

After stifling Lake Shore on its next possession, North tried to improve on its 21-7 lead, but Schultz was stripped of the ball and Lake Shore went 29 yards to cut the deficit to 21-13.

While the defense, which gave up a modest 127 yards, shut out Lake Shore from that point on, Bernhardt and Derek Lawson turned a rather tight game into a two-man show.

Lawson ran under a Bernhardt bomb to score from 55 yards out, and after Matt Brady's fourth interception of the year, Lawson hauled in Bernhardt's pass from the 25 to put the Norsemen in control at 35-13. Scott Schorer added the five extra points on the day.

"The kids were really moving," Sumbera said. "We had those three fumbles, otherwise we could have put up more impressive numbers."

The 127 yards yielded by the Norsemen defense was the lowest this year, and that may have been more impressive than the 35 points.

"We got the job done with the inside linebackers (Schorer and Schultz)," Sumbera said. "We used a lot of kids on our defensive line, and they really came prepared."

Although Stumb (who has 31 receptions on the year as a wide receiver and is one away from tying the school record of 32) and Brady led the team in tackles with eight and five, respectively, Andy Dudek received plenty of attention from the Lake Shore line.

"Andy played defensive end and had one sack, two behind-the-line tackles and put a lot of real good pressure on the quarterback," Sumbera said. "He did an outstanding job."

Mark Azar returned after a three-week injury and played well, as did defensive tackle Leo Salvaggio, according to Sumbera.

The plan was to throw the ball. Therefore the running game didn't get too many calls, but when it did the response was favorable.

"Even though we only had 14 rushes, we still had a 4.7 average," Sumbera said. "Everything was working well for us."

North, which finished second in the White Division, travels to Roseville Brablec Oct. 21 for a 7:30 p.m. game, and then finishes up at home against Grosse Pointe South on Oct. 29 at 1 p.m.

Tennis

Most times a tie doesn't mean much, but in this case it means the tennis team will play in the state Class A tournament in Midland this weekend.

North captured a first-place tie with South after compiling 24 points in a Class A regional tournament.

Jennifer Galvin won at No. 3 singles, Michelle Francis (No. 4 singles) was a winner for the Lady Norsemen, and the No. 2 doubles team of Amy Austin and Alicia Lynch took first. Barb Thomas and Cristina Bermudez teamed up to defeat South's Beth Bonanni and Holly Walker at No. 4 doubles to add to North's total.

Christine Biretta (No. 2 singles), Sarah Morrow and Nancy Giftos (No. 1 doubles), and Jennifer Freidline (No. 1 singles), all lost in the semifinals.

"All the matches were most competitive ...," said North coach Karen Cooksey. "I was pleased with how the girls played and feel they're ready for state competition."

State matches begin Oct. 21 and finish on Oct. 22.

Golf

In the city championships between North, South and University Liggett School, senior Bob Hetchler carded a one-over 37 at Lochmoor to lead the Norsemen to a first-place total of 168.

South was second with 186 stroke total and ULS shot a 199.

Paige Pelok shot a 42 for North, and the second-lowest total (39) came from South's Sean VonSchwarz.

North compiled 53 points, one behind Woods-Tower's 52.

Bob Straske (17:45) was third overall, followed by Tim Ballew (17:54), Tom Gaukerke (18:07) and John Petz.

The girls took things in stride once again to capture the Division Championships with 25 points; 44 points over second place Romeo.

Elizabeth Bolden, second overall, led seven girls into all-league honors. All-league runners are Nikki VanOppens (3rd), Laurin Schultz (5th), Allison Liebold (7th), Patricia Dugan (8th), Lisa Bauer (9th) and Mariann Testa (10th).

The team never trailed as it posted a much needed win in the White Division.

Center Kim Reiter downed 21 points, had four steals and pulled down 12 rebounds to pace North. Heather Mergos scored 10 points, while Melissa Champagne exhibited solid leadership in running the offense.

Two days before they roughed up Cousino, the Norsemen tuned up with a 50-23 win over South Lake.

Mergos led with 13 points and four steals. Overall North is 8-3 and 3-2 in the league.

Wendy Mader won the 200 individual medley and the 500 freestyle, while Katie Young grabbed a double win in the 100 butterfly and the 100 breaststroke. Karen Dundon swam to victories in the 50 and 100 free, and Jennifer Paloucci earned a personal-best in the 500 free by finishing second.

Earlier in the week, the girls, ranked No. 2 in Class A, hosted No. 1 ranked Birmingham Groves and lost 93-79.

Double winners for North were Heidi Mader (100 butterfly, 100 backstroke), Wendy Mader (200 free, 500 free). Heidi Mader is worthy of special note for setting a new pool record in the 100 backstroke (1:01.75).

Cardiovascular collapse during exercise

An annual return to school prompts the ritualistic outpouring of renewed physical activity on campuses and school yards. The grim reminders of cardiovascular collapse are all too well publicized.

Rarely a month goes by when there is not a report of a tragic death involving a student or an otherwise outwardly healthy young adult.

Two notorious examples of highly publicized tragedies occurred with the death of long-distance runner and fitness author Jim Fixx, and the more untimely death of former NBA-great Pete Maravich, who was stricken during a pick up basketball game in a neighborhood gymnasium earlier this year.

In the United States, sudden cardiac death, defined as an abrupt cessation of heart pump function which may be reversed by prompt intervention (such as cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) but will lead to death in its absence, is a common cause of death. Estimates range from 200,000 to nearly 400,000 sudden deaths annually, the overwhelming majority of which occurs in middle-aged adults who have some type of underlying heart disease; most notably coronary artery disease.

It is clear that there are major risk factors which predispose to coronary artery disease and sudden cardiac death, including cigarette smoking, diabetes, elevated blood cholesterol and hypertension (high blood pressure). Since all of these risk factors, alone or in combination, accelerate the process of atherosclerosis (hardening of the arteries), it is easy to understand why sudden cardiac death is a major health care issue in the older population.

In addition, there are a variety of causes of cardiovascular collapse in individuals who have structural heart disease other than coronary disease. Usually, such cardiac illnesses have been identified before any serious symptoms become apparent. Such abnormalities include congenital heart disease, diseases of the cardiac valves, inflammatory disorders that may result in abnormal heart function, and congenital abnormalities of the "electrical" conducting system of the heart.

Sudden cardiac death in athletes during or after extreme physical activity is infrequent, but receives a great deal of attention when it does occur. The majority of such individuals have a previously unrecognized heart condition, the most common causes of which are hypertrophic cardiomyopathy (a congenital and abnormally increased thickness of the heart muscle), a congenital narrowing of one of the heart valves (usually the aortic valve), or previously unrecognized coronary artery disease (narrowing or blockage of one or more of the arteries that supply blood and oxygen to the heart muscle). Usually these causes have been confirmed after death.

However, a small group of such victims have neither previously determined symptoms nor structural abnormalities of the heart. Fortunately, this is extremely unusual.

The biggest clue to the presence of hypertrophic cardiomyopathy or a congenital valve narrowing is a heart murmur. Heart murmurs, in general, are not uncommon during youth and adolescence, and are typically regarded as "innocent" or "functional." This means that these heart murmurs are not indicative of underlying structural heart disease, are typically caused by increased or turbulent blood flow through valves which are functionally normal, and typically disappear by adulthood. Most pediatricians are able to distinguish an innocent murmur from a structural murmur, the latter of which indicates the potential of an underlying heart problem. When this distinction is not apparent, other tests can be performed to make this distinction with greater precision. Individuals who have heart murmurs should have a thorough physical examination prior to embarking on any vigorous physical activity such as soccer, football, cross country, track, etc.

Chest pain, particularly sharp jabbing sensations in the chest that occur during physical activity or during labored breathing, is again fairly frequent in adolescence, and is often ascribed to "growing pains." Frequently, these are due to growth and expansion of the rib cage and inflammation of the cartilage which forms junctions between the ribs and the sternum (breast bone). Usually, this discomfort is sporadic, sharp and knife-like.

nary arteries. In this case, the discomfort is typically characterized as squeezing, heavy, or pressure-like. Also, symptoms of severe shortness of breath that occur regularly during aerobic physical activity may be a symptom of underlying heart disease. The presence of such symptoms should be a potential warning that a previously unrecognized heart condition could exist, and good common sense would dictate a visit to the doctor.

One final danger that is becoming increasingly more prominent in today's society is cocaine use. Note that I say cocaine use, not necessarily abuse. Studies indicate that even casual, or recreational cocaine use may be associated with sudden cardiac death due to arrhythmia or heart attack. This can occur without warning, and may not necessarily be a feature exclusive to the chronic drug abuser. The tragic death of Len Bias, the former University of Maryland All American basketball player, poignantly illustrates the potential for cocaine induced sudden death in an otherwise healthy athlete.

The problem of sudden cardiac death during physical activity is unusual, and is typically associated with an underlying heart condition. Certain symptoms (chest pressure or shortness of breath) or a heart murmur may be clues to the presence of a serious underlying heart condition. Cocaine use, even with a previously normal heart, may all too often result in a fatal outcome. Common sense and sound periodic health care should go a long way toward ensuring a healthy heart.

Eat Smart

By Mary Busse

The School of Public Health at the University of Michigan recently conducted taste-responsive tests. Results showed that foods high in fat were usually chosen over those high in sugar by overweight subjects.

Fats can cause a person to gain weight faster than protein or carbohydrates. At nine calories per gram, fats contain more than twice the number of calories contained in protein or carbohydrates. At one time, the ability to store high energy-yielding fat provided us with a safeguard against times of famine. Now, in a time of plenty, this built-in safety feature can be a detriment. As with many of our bodies' characteristics, a life of ease has not utilized those one-time necessary safeguards for survival.

You can't cut down on the amount of fat in your diet, unless you know where to look for it, and it is not always in the obvious places, like french fries. For instance do you think of the fat content of a pastry? Nuts? Avocados? Ice cream? How about the coffee creamer you are using? Or what about bacon? Do you classify bacon as a protein or as a fat? In actuality, bacon is classified as a fat because only a minimal number of its calories come from protein.

When reading labels to determine the fat content of foods, consider the following guidelines:

- If a fat provides fewer than 30 percent of a food's calories, the food can be considered low in fat.

- The fat content is moderate if the food derives from 30 to 50 percent of its calories from fat.

- Any content above 50 percent of its calories from fat would be considered high fat.

You should also take a closer look at foods which claim to be high in polyunsaturates. Many of the polyunsaturates, such as the margarines on the market, have been through a process called hydrogenation. This process adds more hydrogen atoms to the unsaturated fats and they become more solid and saturated.

This manufacturing process used in shortenings and margarines can make them no better than saturated fats. When you purchase margarine, read the label. Look for one that lists liquid oil as the first ingredient. Most of the tub margarines would qualify.

If you are watching your fat intake, it is vital that you read the labels carefully. Also, be aware of the fact that many of the food companies use coconut and palm oils in their processed foods. These oils are hard to avoid in processed foods, because they are easily available and low in cost to the manufacturer. Another good reason to take a few extra minutes of your time and prepare foods from scratch! With today's modern kitchens and appliances, this is not as time-consuming or as difficult as we would think.

And focus on the wonderful benefits this extra time will mean, not only to your heart, but also your waistline!!

Fattening up your knowledge

FAT. A word that has many connotations; all of which can strike fear in the hearts of dieters, and those of us who are concerned with cholesterol levels. You may be surprised to learn that the amount of fat you consume in foods is related to the amount of fat you have in your body composition. Excess fat in your diet increases your potential to become overweight.

Knowing this, it seems the "simple" solution would be to eliminate fat from your diet; then you could lose those unwanted pounds. However, fat plays many important roles in your body, such as transporting fat-soluble vitamins and providing essential fatty acids your body can't produce. So for you to be healthy, your diet must include some fat.

Fat facts

Fats, or lipids, are naturally occurring substances which dissolve only in a solvent. (Remember the adage, "Oil and water do not mix.") You are probably familiar with two general groups of lipids: - triglycerides and cholesterol.

Ninety-five percent of the lipids in the body and in foods are triglycerides; which are composed of one molecule of glycerol and three fatty acids, hence the term "triglycerides." Fatty acids can be saturated, polyunsaturated or monounsaturated. The differences in these three are the numbers of attached atoms and the length of the chains.

Saturated fats are so called because they have as many hydrogen atoms attached as they can hold, in other words, they are saturated. And for this reason, they are usually solid at room temperature. Red meats, dairy products and these vegetable oils (palm, palm kernel and coconut) are the primary sources of saturated fat in the diet. These fats tend to raise blood cholesterol levels as much as dietary cholesterol does. Many foods high in saturated fat are also high in cholesterol. No more than 10 percent of total daily calories should come from saturated fat.

Polyunsaturated and monounsaturated fats are not carrying the full allotment of hydrogen atoms. At room temperature, both types are usually liquid. Plant foods are the major source of polyunsaturated fats, with corn, safflower and sunflower oils being the best known.

Monounsaturated fats are found in both animal and vegetable foods. Olive and peanut oil, as well as the new canola oil, are classified as monounsaturated. More recent research indicates these fats do tend to lower blood cholesterol.

Omega-3 fatty acids from fish oil are currently in the research news. Some researchers have demonstrated a cholesterol-lowering effect from these fatty acids.

Presumably, they also have the ability to make platelets in the blood less "sticky" so clots are less likely to occur, decreasing the possibility of heart attack or blockage of an artery. These oils are found in the fatter fish and are also available in capsule forms. Research on these fats is still being conducted, but the overall opinion of most experts at this point in time is to include fish in your diet on a two to three times per week basis, and do not resort to the capsule forms.

Cholesterol — another type of lipid

Like the word "fat," cholesterol has inherited a nasty reputation — again, in a much-maligned way. Like fat, cholesterol plays some vital roles in the body, such as being part of cell membranes, nerve fibers and most body tissues. It also facilitates the production of certain hormones. However, unlike fat, cholesterol has no calories.

Our liver manufactures most of the cholesterol found in the body, the other cholesterol comes from animal sources in our diets. The cholesterol we hear most about is that which circulates in the blood. This is referred to as serum or blood cholesterol and is the substance that builds up on the artery walls.

Cholesterol and fats travel through the bloodstream via lipoproteins, (small units with a protein covering.) These lipoproteins come in two varieties: low density lipoproteins, (LDL), the "bad" cholesterol which builds up on the artery walls, and high-density lipoproteins, (HDL), the "good" cholesterol which picks up cholesterol and takes it to the liver.

In general terms, it is desirable to have a high amount of HDL and a low amount of LDL. Some research has indicated that consumption of polyunsaturated and monounsaturated fats help to lower the amount of LDL in the body.

Fat sense

Some people blame their weight problems on an over-consumption of sugar. However, the next time you hear someone blaming a sweet tooth for a weight problem, remember, it may be more of a case of a "fat" tooth.

STUDIO CLASS DESCRIPTIONS

FEELING FIT (FF) 1 Hour — For beginner or "re-entry" exercisers. An instructional choreographed workout to music includes warm-up, stretching, muscle toning and progressive aerobic conditioning to strengthen the cardiovascular system. Focus on learning safe exercise habits and low-impact (no jumping) aerobic techniques under professional supervision. Appropriate for first time exercisers, seniors, and Pre and Post Partum.

LOW IMPACT ONE (LI-1) 1 Hour — For the intermediate exercisers. Designed in a low impact format to increase coordination and endurance without the jumping associated with the traditional aerobics. 18-22 min. of cardiovascular conditioning with toning and stretching.

SHAPE UP (SU) 1 Hour — Intermediate level workout to sharpen your exercise skills and burn more calories. Aerobics are moderately paced (18-22 min.) to raise your stamina level and improve coordination. More intense muscular strength work and stretching.

LOW IMPACT/LOW WEIGHT (LILW) 1 Hour — (LILW ) 1 Hour 15 min — For the advanced exerciser looking for a challenge in low impact movement. 1-3 pound weights may be used to enhance muscular endurance during the 30-40 min. of fat-burning aerobics and strength work.

HI-ENERGY (HI) 1 Hour — (HI ) 1 Hour 15 min — The class for advanced exercisers who need a challenging vigorous workout. The fast paced aerobics circuit station and interval training (25-35 min.) and increased repetitions help maintain your physically fit body. This workout requires high level stamina and strength.

HI-LOW (HI-LO) 1 Hour — For the intermediate/advanced exerciser looking for an alternative workout combining low and high impact moves. 25-30 min. of aerobic conditioning with muscular strength work and stretching.

BODY SHAPERS (BYSH) 1 Hour — A non-aerobic workout concentrating on toning and reshaping muscles. Rhythmic, repetitive movements with resistance increase muscular strength and endurance. Static stretching to enhance flexibility. Emphasis on body alignment effective breathing and correct exercise technique. Appropriate for all fitness levels.

PRE-NATAL (PRE) 1 Hour — A workout for the special needs of the pregnant woman. Stretching, limbering and strengthening moves to tone muscles and energize you. Deep relaxation techniques. Start any time after the third month with permission from your doctor.

POST-NATAL (POST) 1 Hour — A progressive ten-week session to help new mothers get back in shape after delivery. The exercises are geared toward developing the abdomen, buttocks and thighs. C-sections are welcome. Babies (up to 6 months of age) are included in the workout by means of simple massage and stretching techniques.

PERSONAL TRAINING 1 Hour — An individualized program designed for your own special needs in the privacy of your home, office or our studio. Our private trainers will guide you to realize your personal fitness goals through a personally designed program, groups of six or less, to meet your physical requirements.

'Gorillas in the Mist': A sensitive story of Dian Fossey

By Marian Trainor
Special Writer

"Gorillas in the Mist" is a beautifully presented story of Dian Fossey, the acclaimed and controversial figure who tried to save the mountain gorillas in Africa from extinction. Against a stunningly rugged background, it tells in vivid detail of her struggle against the poachers in Africa who hunted down the gorillas and either sold them to zoos or butchered them and sold their heads to tourists.

The title of the film is that of the book of the same name written by Fossey, and it is aptly taken. Scenes of mountains rising in the mist accent the strength and beauty of the gorillas as the viewer gets a first veiled look at them.

When the sun breaks through and they emerge from the fog we see their inquiring eyes and facial expressions. We understand then Louis Leakey's assertion:

"We can't know who we are unless we know who we were."

It was Leakey who inspired Fossey to leave behind her fiancée, her career as a therapist and go to Africa to conduct a census of the rapidly diminishing gorilla population, a project that turned into a lifelong battle against those who were destroying them.

Sigourney Weaver as Dian makes this almost unbelievable commitment understandable. She brings to the part an enthusiasm a determination, a toughness that enlists the audience's support. The fact that she is a beautiful woman helps too. Scenes showing her sitting in the sunlight with an enraptured smile on her face as the gorillas draw near are entrancing.

Such milestones did not come easily. Fossey's first experience in the Congo ended in disaster. After a long and arduous journey up the mountains with supplies, her camp was destroyed by soldiers engaged in a civil war and she was expelled from the country.

Undaunted, she moved her camp to Rwanda on the other side of the mountain.

After days of exploration with no gorillas in sight, she writes to Leakey who, in a voice over, answers: "Surely you didn't expect the little beggars to line up just so we could count them!"

Soon after that the first gorillas are sighted. Weaver makes it a magic moment as she does for so many of the sequences. It is comic and endearing to watch her establishing rapport with the animals by imitating them; their facial expression, gestures and gait.

Fossey remained in the remote Virungu mountains for 20 years. She never gave up on her chosen mission of protecting the gorillas. In 1985 she was slashed to death by a panga-wielding murderer. The murder was never solved, mainly because of the enemies she had made among the poachers, the research assistants and the government.

Film

The toll those 20 years took on her life are skillfully presented by Weaver as she ages noticeably, struggles and gasps for breath and has trouble walking. Her voice changes and she has the look of a zealot in her eyes. She loses control and brutalizes a poacher. She accuses a government official of being a murderer.

A short interlude allowing Fossey to show another side of her many-faceted personality is one with National Geographic photographer, Bob Campbell (Bryan Brown) whose photos of her helped to make her famous. There is a passionate but brief love affair. She refused to leave "her" gorillas and he could not give up his work with National Geographic.

Directed by Michael Apted, "Gorillas in the Mist" has a powerful sense of place both for the breathtaking scenery of the mountainous Rwanda where the gorillas live and the depiction of the local culture around it. Apted and his crew spent six months in the country getting Fossey's mountains and gorillas on film and the result is stunning. Except for the scenes showing the gorillas being slaughtered, the gorillas are real.

an outstanding achievement with her powerful portrayal of a woman who put her whole being into saving the gorillas from extinction.

The gorillas got second billing but John Miluwi, a real-life tracker, gives an outstanding performance as Dian Fossey's war against the poachers. His devotion to her is sincere and constant from the time of her arrival until the day he buries her on the mountain she loved.

The closest comparison that could be made for "Gorillas in the Mist" is "Out of Africa" and everyone remembers what a great film that was. "Gorillas in the Mist" equals it in accomplishment.

'Dead Ringers': A study of human disintegration, breakdown

By Marian Trainor
Special Writer

Brilliant Canadian director David Cronenberg has established a reputation and a following with horrific films that contradict the tenet of the power of mind over body.

In his offerings he spares no gruesome detail to show that the body may well have a mind of its own. He views the body as a haunted house whose rumblings trigger lust, mystery and pain in the poor tenant. In "The Fly" viewers saw a man wage a doomed struggle against physical and moral breakdown.

In "Dead Ringers" he emphasizes that proposition by centering his story on twin brothers whose bodies betray them and lead them into disintegration, madness and death.

It is a harrowing story magnificently acted by Jeremy Irons who plays the part of both glib, extroverted Elliot Mantle and the shy Beverly Mantle, gynecologists who operate a Toronto fertility clinic.

From the beginning it is obvious that Cronenberg has no need of elaborate special effects to shock and jolt viewers. As the credits roll, they are startled to see spread out as background formidable, malformed gynecology instruments. It is an appropriate introduction, for it is such instruments that raise the brothers to the top of their profession and are featured in their tragical end.

Film

The story is taken from the true story of two successful New York gynecologists who were found dead in 1975 in their garbage-strewn uptown apartment. It was first told by Bari Woods in the pulp novel, "Twins."

In "Dead Ringers" Cronenberg and co-writer Norman Snider vary the story of the demented twins, leaving it essentially the same, but adapting it to the difficult task of portraying creeping insanity on the screen.

All during their growing years Elliot and Beverly are inseparable.

Detroit debut

The concerto soloists of Philadelphia, one of this country's three, full-time, professional chamber orchestras, makes its Detroit debut Saturday, Oct. 22, at 8 p.m. at Orchestra Hall.

Performing as part of the chamber music society's 45th anniversary season, the concerto soloists have programmed an evening of music by Francesco Barsanti, Sidney Grolnic, Gaetano Donizetti, Aaron Copland and Franz Josef Haydn. In addition, the ensemble will be joined by American pianist Grant Johannessen for Mozart's Concerto No. 14 for piano in E-flat Major, K. 449.

For tickets and information, visit or call the Orchestra Hall Box Office: 833-3700.

Theatre life

David Mamet's "A Life in the Theatre" officially opens at the Hilberry Theatre on Saturday, Oct. 22, at 8 p.m., following previews Oct. 20 and 21, also at 8. The second production of the 1988-89 season, it plays through Dec. 15 in repertory with "Georgia Peach" and, later, "Romeo and Juliet."

The play by one of America's premiere modern playwrights, allows the audience a rare glimpse of life backstage and the relationships formed between actors.

Because of the transitory nature of theater, many of these relationships often last only for the run of a production, a tour, or a season. Mamet develops the most traditional of these relationships — that of mentor and protege — with hilarious results.

"A Life in the Theatre" is directed by Robert Emmet McGill. The setting — a slightly rundown regional theater — is the creation of Hilberry designers Robert Katkowsky (scenery), Constance Campbell (costumes), and Mark Dean (lighting).

For ticket information and reservations, call the Hilberry Theatre box office, Cass and Hancock, Detroit, at 577-2972.

Orchestra Hall haunted by DSO

"Bewitched Classics II — Night of the Living Classics," presented by the Friends of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, will play Orchestra Hall Friday, Oct. 28 at 8 p.m.

This will be a musical Halloween unlike any ever experienced. The captivating wizardry of the musicians of the Detroit Symphony will be highlighted in performances of "Night on Bald Mountain," "Danse Macabre," and Berlioz' entrancing "Witch's Sabbath." The soundtrack suite from Franz Waxman's "Bride of Frankenstein" will be presented, marking the first time any musicians have dared to perform the entire work in public.

The apparitions of Boris Karloff and Alfred Hitchcock have scheduled appearances as narrators, and the Ghost of Gabrilovitch will spirit the podium for a performance of Tchaikowsky's "Swan Lake." Numerous individuals will appear (and disappear!) courtesy of Don Jones' Illusionists, and dancing skeletons and other things that go bump in the night await the unsuspecting guest.

The musicians will be under the menacingly magic wand of Charles Greenwell. Guest prestidigitator will be pianist Steven Rosenfeld, in an eerie evocation of Liszt's terrifying "Totentanz." In his alter ego, Rosenfeld chairs the piano department at the Institute of Music and Dance.

A costume contest will occur on stage at intermission, so guests are advised to adorn themselves in their most outrageous garb. Celebrity judges for this competition include radio personality Jim Davis, state Sen. Jack Faxon, DSO Wizard Steve Miller, and music critic Nancy Malitz.

A gala Halloween party will take place on stage immediately after the concert. Enjoy such exotic treats as "apple spider," "monster cheez," "Gallows whine," "I scream," and "decofined cafe." Food and catering are being donated by friends and businesses.

Those brave souls attending Bewitched Classics II may purchase tickets by calling the Orchestra Hall box office at 833-3700 (Mastercard/Visa are accepted) or the Friends of the DSO are 851-1544. Concert admission ranges from $10 to $60; tickets for the afterglow party are $15.

The evening's proceeds will be used to assist the education of deserving minority music students in the Detroit area and to benefit the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. As a gesture of their dedication to these goals, the DSO musicians are donating their services.

Detroit Symphony Orchestra violinist Margueritte Desilppe and illusionist Don Jones rehearse for "Bewitched Classics II — Night of the Living Classics."

'Alien Nation': frustrating science fiction

By Michael Chapp
Special Writer

To judge by the last 20 minutes of "Alien Nation," one would call this a riveting, exciting, compelling thriller.

Taken as a whole, however — which is how it must be taken — "Nation" is a substandard picture that fails to grab viewers from the get-go. The result is 90 minutes of frustration followed by a few minutes of satisfaction.

And that kind of ratio just isn't good enough to justify the film.

For most of the picture, an odd sort of relationship is developed between Matthew Sykes (James Caan) and Sam Francisco (Mandy Patinkin), a pair of Los Angeles detectives who fit moviedom's stereotypes to a tee. With one exception. Francisco, called George by his independent partner, is a member of a race of humanoids called Slaggs.

Slaggs are a genetically engineered race who came to earth a few years prior to the narration of this picture, which takes place in 1991. These beings are superior to humans in intellect, but they play a generally subservient role to humans because they were engineered to be laborers.

fully trying to explain human sexuality or a dirty joke to a naive George. Here's George following his human compatriot to life's precipice to prove his devotion and courage.

Indeed, save for the human-alien combination, there's little in "Nation's" proceedings to make it an exception to the formula. There's even a car chase thrown in for good measure.

When things finally do get interesting — when we learn that the bad-guy aliens have a secret drug that can metamorphosize slaggs into human-killing monsters — it is too late.

The film would have done itself and viewers a big favor by introducing this scenario early, allowing for a true blend of science fiction and drama. Instead, we get a diluted dose of science fiction early, followed by a mildly potent dramatic chaser. Unfortunately, the two do not mix.

Film

The only reason Sykes agrees to let George be his partner is because some bad-guy Slaggs killed his previous partner, and he figures he can use George's unique perspective to help hunt down the killers.

100 PERSONALS

DO YOU NEED A FRIEND?

This young female (approximately 7 months old) Shepherd/Beagle mix would fill the bill perfectly! She is the size of a Beagle, but looks like a miniature German Shepherd. Completely housebroken with a wonderful, loving disposition, this little lady is partially trained to sit, obeys the word "NO", is a good watchdog, and adores children. She was abandoned as a puppy, and the kind person who has been keeping her for the last few months is reluctantly looking for a good home for her because he is on a limited income and can't afford to keep her anymore. Please call Daniel at 843-6567 if you can find room in your heart and home for this delightful little dog!
