Hundreds of gallons of oil poured in sewer

Investigators hope to catch responsible party

By John Minnis
Staff Writer

After an estimated 700 gallons of oil sludge found its way into the Milk River Pumping Station last week, a Wayne County official vowed to find and prosecute those responsible for the spill.

Due to heavy rains early last week, about 200 gallons of the sludge poured out of the outdoor retention pool at the pump station and into the remaining Milk River channel, which starts at the station at Marter and Parkway in the Woods and empties over the dam on Jefferson at the Woods' Lakefront Park in St. Clair Shores.

Some of the 220 boaters at the municipal park found an oil sheen throughout the harbor May 31. Most of the boats had oil stuck to the hulls at the water line and oil drops higher on the boats due to splatter from heavy rains the previous night.

To prevent further oil from getting into the harbor and ultimately into Lake St. Clair, the county put several retention booms across the Milk River channel and below the Jefferson bridge.

Coast Guard and state Department of Natural Resources officials were notified of the oil spill about mid-day June 1. Clean-up of the oil at the pumping station began that evening.

"I want to emphasize how pleased we are with the county's response to this," said Lt. Cmdr. Clay Evans, executive officer of the Coast Guard's Marine Safety office in Detroit. Evans' office is monitoring the county's clean-up efforts.

"The critical thing is to get the bulk of the oil out of the pump station before it rains again," he said Friday afternoon.

On June 1, the county called on MPC (Marine Pollution Control) Environmental of Detroit to begin sucking the oil sludge off the top of the pump station's outdoor retention basin and its indoor wet well. Thousands of gallons of the sludge — composed of oil, water and sewage — were pumped into tanker trucks. The clean-up operation had been going on around the clock since 6 p.m. June 1.

James Murray, Wayne County Department of Public Works director, said the county is investigating who dumped the oil into the sewer. If the responsible party is identified, Murray said the county will prosecute to the full extent of the law.

Spilling oil is a civil infraction, while failing to report the spill is a criminal offense. If found guilty of the criminal act, the perpetrator could get up to a $50,000 fine, 10 years in jail and forced to pay the clean-up costs, which Murray said will be from $30,000 to $40,000.

As of last week, officials did not know exactly what type of oil was dumped into the sewer or who did it and when.

Evans said the oil may have been dumped into the sewer some time ago and wasn't forced out of the system until the recent heavy rains.

Bob Van, supervisor at the Milk River Pumping Station, said traces of the oil began appearing at the station on May 27. He said his people tried to contain the oil so that it could be sent to the Detroit treatment plant, but the heavy amount of rain water forced them to dump the oil-laden water outside the indoor holding tank.

Van, who has supervised the Milk River Pump Station for five years and has been employed by the county for 27 years, said he has never seen anything as bad as the oil sludge that poured into the pump station.

He said that while the pumps weren't damaged by the tar-like oil, the indoor wet well and outdoor retention basin have to be cleaned. Along the walls of both holding tanks, there is foot-wide band of tar.

"I just hope the hell they find out where it came from," Van said, "so that it never happens again."

The pump station serves the Milk River drainage basin, which consists of Grosse Pointe Woods, Harper Woods and a portion of southern Macomb County. Normally, the sewage and storm water collected at the pump station is pumped to Detroit, but during heavy rains, there is too much water pouring into the combined sanitary-storm sewer to pump to Detroit or retain at the pump station.

When the pump station's indoor wet well becomes full, the excess fluids have to be pumped into the outdoor retention area. Once in the outdoor pool, the fluids are supposed to sit for a period allowing solids to settle. When there's a lot of rain water, though, the pool quickly fills and the rain water mixed with sewage flows over the pool's weir into the Milk River channel. Once in the channel, there is nothing stopping the sewage and rain water from flowing into the Woods' municipal marina and Lake St. Clair.

Van said that once the pump station's indoor wet well filled early last week, his operators had no choice but to pump the water and oil sludge into the outdoor retention basin. Since oil

James W. Duff

Like his successors, James W. Duff has a hospital wing named after him. Unlike his successors, the wing was dedicated to him while he is alive and well and able to enjoy the honor.

And it is quite an honor. The James W. Duff Health Care Center, an ambulatory care wing of Detroit Riverview Hospital, was dedicated in ceremonies April 21 which included a commendation from Gov. James Blanchard and a proclamation from Mayor Coleman Young.

The honor was in appreciation for his health care contributions to the Detroit community. Duff has served on the Detroit-Macomb Hospital Corp. for more than 15 years and his commitment entails more than a few meetings here and there.

With monthly board meetings, committee meetings and quarterly meetings, he attends about 80 meetings a year.

"It's very much a consuming involvement," he said. "I remain committed to it because there is so much good that the hospital accomplishes on a regular basis."

The Detroit-Macomb Hospital Corp. manages two hospitals — the Macomb Hospital Center (formerly South Macomb Hospital) in Warren and Detroit Riverview, located at 7733 E. Jefferson.

Detroit Riverview is the result of a merger of Detroit Memorial, Alexander Blain and Jennings hospitals. As chairman, Duff directed the closing of the three hospitals.

Millage, two board seats on the ballot

By Ronald J. Bernas
Staff Writer

Grosse Pointe voters will get a second chance to vote on millage proposals rejected earlier this year.

Also on the ballot of the Monday, June 12 election are two incumbents running unopposed for another four-year term on the board.

In the April election, voters were asked to approve one proposal which brought the mills levied by the school district to 27.55 mills — renewing 25.35 mills plus an additional 2.2 mills — for operating expenses.

In that April 10 election, voters approved a request for a renewal of 1.3 mills for operating expenses for the libraries.

After the rejection of the combined school millage request, the school board sent lay-off notices to 723 employees, causing some taxpayers to accuse the board of using scare tactics to win voters' approval.

The board and teachers said the notices were issued because of a provision in the teachers' contracts which said those who are to be laid off must be notified 60 days before the end of the fiscal year, which ends June 30.

If, on June 12, the renewal and increase are approved, it will mean business as usual for the school district, and the taxpayers will see an increase in school taxes of no more than 8.5 percent. If only the renewal passes, taxpayers will see a 6.3 percent increase in school taxes.

If both fail, a third election will be scheduled and the employees who were pink-slipped will have to be paid unemployment compensation until an election can be held in which the renewal is approved.

If the increase fails, nearly $1 million will be cut from school programs, including the elimination of the gifted and talented program at the elementary level, a reduction in funding of athletic programs, computer services and the substance abuse program. Also five secondary school teachers will be cut.

Superintendent John Whritner said he is growing more optimistic about the chances for the millage proposals.

"We've had many meetings and tried to get the issues out to the voters and they have been responding," Whritner said. "They're asking the right questions and getting all the answers they need. And they're very supportive. I think they'll support

Woods community center construction to begin

By Dan Jarvis
Staff Writer

After two years of discussion by the Woods City Council and residents, a construction contract was awarded May 29 for work on the community center.

"We went through a number of plans before the latest one was approved," said Councilwoman Jean Rice. "We wanted to make sure it would be in the right place and would offer the things that would benefit the community."

Original discussions focused on the placement of the facility. Considered was whether to place the center at Lakefront Park or adjacent to the city complex on Mack Avenue.

Chester Petersen, city administrator-clerk, said the center will be attached to the city hall and will be built by the Family Building Co. of Goderich, Mich.

"The project should get under way about mid-June," Petersen said.

The community center will be about 5,300 square feet and will be built at a cost of $426,968.

A court addition of about 1,500 square feet will be built at the same time as the community center at a cost of $154,532, bringing the figure for the entire project to $581,500, Petersen said.

The funding for the project was provided by a parks and recreation bond passed by residents more than two years ago. Petersen said the cost is within the budget and that the city does not expect cost overruns or scheduling delays.

Once the project has begun, the construction company will have 180 days in which to complete both, he said.

Rice said the Woods Recreation Commission has been in contact with several municipalities to gain information on the best type of center and the possible programs for the residents of the Woods.

Robert Novitke, mayor pro tem, said the community center will enable the city to run a year-round facility in Ghesquiere Park, now underused by Woods residents.

"Woods residents will benefit greatly by the project," he said. "It will enable the city to bring in special programs to help develop the center."

Besides the community center and the court addition, Novitke said Ghesquiere Park will soon receive walkways and lighting throughout the park to accent current tennis courts, baseball diamonds and a gazebo.

Woods youth cited in Shores for beer in car

A 16-year-old Grosse Pointe Woods boy was cited by Shores police May 26 for transporting alcoholic beverages in his car.

A Shores officer on patrol was stopped by a Woods resident from the 800 block of Roslyn who stated that youths in a car just ahead of the Shores officer had thrown a beer onto the pavement of the Woods resident's driveway where his children were playing.

The officer stopped the youths, who were riding in a 1976 white Chrysler, on Clairview and Lakeshore. When asked about the incident, the youths denied they did it, according to the officer's report.

The officer then told the youths to get out of the car. While looking through the car, the officer found two cold beers in bottles under a seat. The driver and his passengers — a 17-year-old male and two 16-year-old males, all Woods residents — were taken to the Shores police station.

As well as being cited for having alcohol in the car, the driver was also ticketed for not wearing a seat belt. The driver's parents came to the station to pick up their son and they signed to get the impounded car back.

The 17-year-old was allowed to leave after being identified, and the two 16-year-olds were turned over to a close family friend after police could not contact their parents.

Shores's donated raft will assist water rescue efforts

By John Minnis
Staff Writer

An 11-foot raft donated to the Grosse Pointe Shores Public Safety Department by one of its officers will greatly improve water-rescue efforts throughout the Pointes.

The raft was donated by Cpl. John Frasad and is permanently stored atop Shores fire engine 4A. It will be used by public safety and volunteer divers in their efforts to pull people and property from Lake St. Clair.

Fire engine 4A was driven to the Shores Municipal Park last week and the raft was taken down and inflated for a test run, which was supervised by Sgt. Dan Fronczak of the Shores Public Safety Department's Special Services Bureau.

There have been many cases in the past where rescuers could have used a quickly accessible boat for rescues. The most recent incident was in January when a 46-year-old City woman's car went into the lake off Lakeshore. While a Shores public safety officer, auxiliary firefighter and residents were able to get the woman to safety, they nevertheless risked their own lives when entering the freezing waters.

Leon Sehoan, a Grosse Pointe Shores resident and diver who is frequently called for water-rescue missions, said officers should not have to face undue risk when trying to pull someone from the lake.

He said the raft will allow rescuers to get to a person quickly and provide safety, especially from the same frigid waters threatening the victim.

Shores Public Safety Officer

David Younk, also a diver who is called on rescues along with Frasad and Sehoan, said that within five to 10 minutes of getting a call, outfitted divers can be on the water in the raft.

"We can save lives," Younk said. "That's important."

Shores Public Safety Chief Daniel Healy said the new raft will greatly enhance his department's water rescue capabilities.

The raft and all rescue gear, including life-rings and air tanks, are stored on one of the Shores' two fire trucks and ready to respond to emergencies. Also, all the Shores' police cars have miniature life rings that are easier to throw and can keep an adult afloat.

While Frasad and Younk with the Shores and other full-time and auxiliary officers from the other public safety departments in the Pointes are divers, much of the rescue work is done by volunteers. Frasad, Younk and Sehoan's team respond to water rescues throughout the Pointes.

Members of Sehoan's diving team include his sons — Alan, who lives in the Farms, and David of the Shores — Mark Dupuis of the Park and Shores resident Dan Holley. Sehoan said he has about six divers available at all times.

The Shores has had a diving team since 1974, and one of the team's early members was Michael Kenyon, who is now the village manager-treasurer.

Sehoan and Younk credit the close cooperation among the Pointes public safety departments with the success of water rescues up and down the lake. The divers receive no compensation for risking their lives. Sometimes divers receive payment for property salvage work, such as when helping retrieve a car from the lake.

Since the divers are equipped with their own gear, the cities don't have to cover an additional expense, which runs anywhere from a minimum of $1,000 per diver to $4,000 in Younk's case to perhaps 10 times that for Sehoan.

"Grosse Pointe people should consider themselves very, very fortunate to have a group of dedicated divers on call for emergencies," said Sehoan, who owns Leon's Hairdressers on the Hill. He said it takes more than paying taxes to make a community good; it takes volunteers.

"We have to stay on the ball," he said. "A community becomes better when those in the community become involved. That's what makes Grosse Pointe a great place to live."

Incinerator remains closed; costs rise

By Ronald J. Bernas
Staff Writer

The incinerator that burns garbage from the Grosse Pointes has been shut down since Dec. 28, 1988, but the costs continue to rise, as the Grosse Pointes-Clinton Refuse Disposal Authority waits for movement in Lansing and from the Department of Natural Resources for approval to resume operations.

The operating budget for the authority, approved at a May 9 meeting of the authority's board, is 31.1 percent larger than last year's budget.

The two reasons for the increase are the higher costs of transporting unburned garbage to landfills, and the loss of outside income caused by the closing of the incinerator.

The incinerator was closed when routine testing of its ash showed lead and cadmium levels higher than the maximum allowed.

According to General Manager Ed Whedon, the 1989-90 budget is $5,898,900, up more than $800,000 from last year's budget of $5,024,000.

Cost of transporting non-hazardous ash to landfills is $3 a ton, but transporting raw garbage — which is what the incinerator has been doing since the incinerator was shut down — costs $50 a ton. The increased costs were passed on to all the member cities of the authority and incorporated in their 1989-90 fiscal budgets.

Due to the closure, the incinerator has stopped taking outside burning jobs which brought in revenues in years past.

Whedon said business is almost back to normal with 10 of the 19 full-time employees working, and the refuse is coming in as it always did.

He is waiting for Gov. James J. Blanchard to approve a bill which was passed by both Houses in the state Legislature.

The bill would allow municipal incinerators to dispose of ash in a mono-fill. A mono-fill is a special landfill for municipal ash only which is lined with several layers of material to prevent the ash from contaminating the earth.

He said the governor has until the middle of June to sign the bill into law, and if he does, it would be some 90 days before the mono-fill would be built.

Whedon has also asked the DNR for permission to burn garbage now, and get permission to temporarily store the ash until the mono-fill is operational.

Whedon said the waiting is hard, and that "we're definitely ready to get back to work."

Traffic fines vary in Pointes

By Dan Jarvis
Staff Writer

Traffic and parking fines vary in the five Grosse Pointes, almost as much as the local laws which define each offense.

Last year the city of Grosse Pointe collected more than $65,000 in traffic, parking and related fines with nearly 10 percent of revenues going to the state of Michigan.

Dennis Foran, treasurer and assessor, said all remaining revenues collected by the city are put into the general fund.

The figures so far for 1989 are: $25,460 in collected fines with roughly $2,500 being split among the state's police training fund and highway safety fund.

Last year, Foran said, the city of Grosse Pointe received more than $5,000 for formal police training programs.

Farms Controller/Assessor Carrol C. Lock said the city collected $218,474 in revenues last year due to violations. The figures, he said, also includes payment for probation purposes.

"The court is not in business to make money," Lock said. "The revenues probably cover the court costs. If not, the money to run the court would come out of the general fund."

As with the other cities, $10 from each fine is sent to the state and divided between the state's police training fund and highway safety fund.

In Grosse Pointe Park, City Manager Dale Krajniak said in the 10-month period between July 1988 and April 1989, the city collected about $97,000 in court revenues. About $80,000 of that figure was derived from traffic offenses alone.

The previous fiscal year yielded about $65,000 in traffic fines for the Park, he said.

The Shores last year collected $35,325 in traffic fines, which was added to the general fund.

A recent hike in traffic fines was due both to an increase in the state's fees from $5 to $10 per offense and a desire on the part of Shores officials to bring fees in line with the other Grosse Pointes.

In Grosse Pointe Woods, the largest of the five cities, more than $500,000 was collected in the period between July 1988 and June 1989. The figure contains total court fines, not just traffic fines, said Clifford Mason, comptroller/assessor.

An additional $125,000 was collected in meter violations alone, he said. Meter revenues added nearly $200,000 to the figure, he added.

3 moored boats broken into; professional thieves suspected

Farms police speculate that the breaking into of three boats at the Grosse Pointe Club last week may have been done by professional thieves who were possibly using scuba gear.

The thieves broke into the boats some time between between May 31 and June 3. Taken were electronic gear, such as ship-to-shore radios, Loran navigational equipment and an electronic compass.

Police believe the perpetrators knew their way around boats because they knew of compartment spaces.

Investigators believe the thieves entered the marina by water and may have used scuba gear to remain undetected — a tactic, police said, which has been used before. A bulletin has been sent to marinas and police along Lake St. Clair.

and the process of delivering medical services. We realized that the area was overbedded and the hospitals were aging rapidly. What we needed ultimately was a hospital that would be fully equipped and would deliver services on a reasonable cost basis."

The problem of providing medical services in Detroit is one that faces all cities today, Duff said. The majority of the patients depend on Medicare and Medicaid, which he said actually reimburses only 85 percent of the hospital's costs.

"Hospitals are losing money and city hospitals are hemorrhaging rapidly," he said. "We will see the closing of hospitals to the detriment of the community."

The decision to consolidate and reorganize the three hospitals was a major commitment to Detroit, Duff said. Detroit River-view is located near senior citizen housing and nursing centers. "We have found that city people don't venture very far from their communities to go to the hospital," he said.

In fact, the hospital was built with the needs of the population in mind. A hospital will traditionally locate its cafeteria in the basement because it's more cost efficient and practical.

In the case of Detroit River-view, however, the cafeteria is located on the first level to make it easier for senior citizens to come in for nutritional meals.

With the general population aging and not enough money to go around, Duff said the government is not stepping up to its obligation to assure medical care for everyone. These are critical times, he said.

"We are getting to the point of rationing health care, of who gets it," he said. "It's becoming very tragic."

Duff is passionate on the subject and on the mission of the hospital in Detroit as well as the suburbs.

"The interesting thing about Detroit Riverview is that Detroit Memorial is the successor to the first hospital in Detroit and in the Northwest Territory — St. Vincent's in 1845," he said. St. Vincent's later became St. Mary's which was primarily a military hospital during the Civil War and Spanish-American War.

"Theodore Roosevelt visited it in 1902. That's a rather colorful history and we feel committed to the city in terms of that historical perspective."

Community service spills over into other aspects of his life. He and his wife Caroline are involved with the Salvation Army, COTS and the Capuchin Soup Kitchen.

Caroline Duff, who has bachelor's and master's degrees in nursing, is a psychiatric nurse consultant at Detroit Receiving Hospital. She has managed the Salvation Army Harbor Light in Warren for alcoholic rehabilitation.

When they lived in Oakland County, they were involved with ADE, Alcoholic and Drug Education for Teens, one of the first such programs in the '70s.

The family has lived in Grosse Pointe for 16 years. Son James Jr., 26, is a marketing specialist at his father's company, Creative Risk Management Corp., and daughter Kathleen, 24, lives in New York where she works in customer relations in an art-related field.

Duff was born in Kansas City, Mo. His father was transferred to Indiana where Duff went to high school. He earned a bachelor of science in accounting and economics from Xavier University in 1962 and his law degree from the Detroit College of Law in 1967.

He credits his older brother with encouraging him in his early years to succeed.

"The idea of being a trial counsel was very strong," he said. "I was drawn by the fact that an attorney has the opportunity to help people. The idea of service was very strong in my family."

Duff began his career with General Motors in accounting. He left to practice law and one of his partners was a former insurance commissioner. It was through that involvement, he said, that he began to handle matters related to insurance programs.

His involvement led to the area of self-insurance and today, he is president of Creative Risk Management Corp., which manages about $100 million of insurance programs for businesses, like McDonald's and Associated Food Dealers and many others including the cities of Warren and St. Clair Shores.

The company manages all lines of programs from employee benefits to worker's compensation. "Fifty percent of the payroll in Michigan is self-insured now," he said.

Duff joined the company in 1973, bought it in 1979 and sold to a holding company in 1986.

He is also a shareholder and member of the executive committee of Aviacon Enterprises, an import/export company.

Locally, Duff is a member of the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club and Grosse Pointe Hunt Club. Boating and tennis are his two top pastimes. He is also a strong supporter of Xavier University and the Detroit College of Law where he is a member of the President's Clubs at both schools.

Suspected drugs found in car

A large amount of cash and several rocks of suspected cocaine were found in a car that had crashed into a utility pole at Jefferson and Pemberton May 31.

Park police report the man sustained severe injuries when his car slammed into the pole at 2:33 p.m. He was taken to Bon Secours hospital.

Police were searching through the car following the accident when the cash and suspected drugs were found. The man was not being pursued by police when the accident occurred.

3 B&Es reported last week

More than $3,000 in cash and some jewelry were taken from a Grosse Pointe Shores home when it was broken into June 1.

According to police reports, the burglar got into the home on Fontana by cutting a screen and prying open a door.

The father said he came home shortly after his daughter had left and found the dresser drawers in his bedroom dumped onto the floor and a jewelry box emptied. Several diamond rings that were in the jewelry box were not taken.

The lock to a safe in the bedroom was damaged in an unsuccessful attempt to force it open.

Shores police are investigating the incident.

In Grosse Pointe Farms a home on Hardy was broken into during a 60-minute period May 31 while the resident had gone to the store.

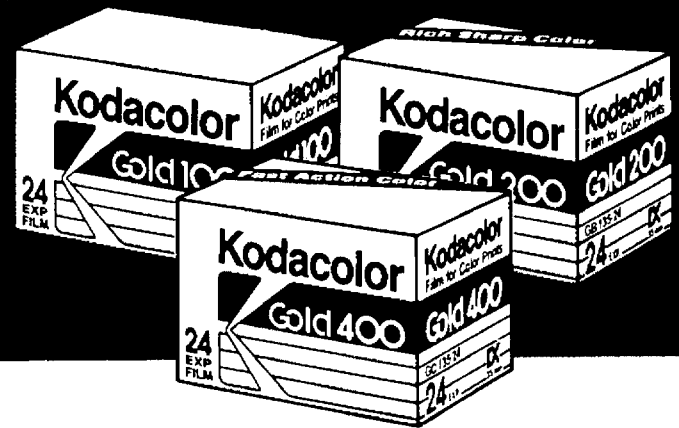

The homeowner said he left for the store at 10:30 and returned at 11:30 a.m. to find someone had broken into his home by taking out a pane of glass in a door off the sun porch.

The burglar was apparently cut by the glass because blood spots were found on the carpeting and on the draperies, according to police reports.

The resident believes he may have scared the burglar away because no valuables were taken. One neighbor reported seeing a female running from the rear of the home at about the time of the incident.

A home in the 1000 block of Cadieux in the Park was broken into some time between 11 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. May 31. A rear door off the Florida room was forced open. After a thorough search, several pieces of jewelry and silverware were taken.

Millage issue fails to draw opponents for 2 incumbents

In a strange twist of fate, the controversy over the millage issues in the June 12 school election has failed to attract a single candidate to challenge the two school board members seeking re-election.

The fact that the incumbents are running without opposition could be regarded as a tribute to the records and reputations of the two board members, Carol B. Marr and George D. Anderson. And perhaps that is all that it means because both do have excellent records and reputations earned by their service on the board, and, in our opinion, do deserve re-election.

But it is true that Ms. Marr and Anderson had joined the rest of the board in a unanimous action to combine the renewal and the millage increase into the single proposition that lost in the first vote April 10.

Perhaps the lack of opposition also could be regarded as evidence that the community as a whole wasn't as steamed up over the combining of the tax levies into one issue as some people had thought. Perhaps that was not the major reason for the rejection of the proposition, after all.

Instead, the school district's voters may have thought that by rejecting the combined proposition on April 10 they had forced the board to pay more attention to maintaining the levy at the lowest possible level to assure funding of current programs in the public school system. Perhaps that was the major signal they gave by their April 10 defeat of the combined levy proposition.

Whatever the reason, the community is being spared any contest of personalities as it prepares to vote on the renewal of the 25.35-mill levy and the increase of 2.2 mills that the administration and the board say are required if the local schools are to be operated at the current level for the coming year.

Despite an increase in property assessments in the district this year, the levy must be increased just to keep the schools at an even keel because school costs, like those for everything else, tend to keep on rising.

There is, for example, a built-in increase in salaries and costs of services to school personnel, such as health care. But supplies cost more every year and even the expense of maintaining and repairing aging school buildings continues to escalate.

Yet the interrelationship between the quality of the public schools and the level of property values in the Pointes serves as an offset to the arguments against higher school taxes. The problem for some residents is that higher taxes increase their costs while higher property values only increase their future expectations which will be realized only when they sell their property.

In the end, however, it now appears likely that both the renewal and the increase will be approved, especially if voters keep in mind the alternative, a reduction in the excellent quality of the school system if either one or both of the proposals go down to defeat.

Dollars and cents arguments tend to dominate the discussion in any proposed tax increase, even one to benefit the public schools. Yet in this instance what the passage of the two millage proposals would do is to assure Grosse Pointe youngsters of a continued good start in the fast lane of modern life.

A defeat for democracy

The toll of dead and injured continues to mount after the Chinese government's desperate and apparently successful attempt to put down the pro-democracy demonstrations led by China's university students.

By quoting American heroes and displaying a model of the Statue of Liberty, the students openly associated their ideas with the United States. Thus it was appropriate for President Bush to issue a strong statement condemning the government's use of force and suspending $600 million in U.S. arms sales to the Chinese government.

As the president said, the demonstrations were peaceful and non-violent until the government ordered the crackdown in Beijing that left uncounted hundreds, perhaps even thousands, dead and dying and injured in and around Tiananmen Square.

Whatever the future holds for China, and it may even be civil war, the world's largest population is likely to be more difficult to govern in the future than it had been under what had regarded as a benevolent Communist dictatorship.

The repressive tactics the Chinese People's Army used under government orders made it plain that the Chinese leaders of the Communist Party and government were not about to share even a part of their power with their countrymen who were demanding a more democratic and more representative government.

Now that the government has hardened its stand to protect its own power and the personal perquisites of its leaders, the demonstrators may be forced into sullen obedience. But once having been given a taste of such democratic liberties as freedom to assemble, freedom to petition their government and freedom of the press, the demonstrators may seek out new ways of achieving their ends and refusing to cooperate with the government.

The government terms the demonstrations a "counterrevolutionary" uprising, but in effect the students and their supporters were responding to the increased openness that the government itself had authorized when it permitted Chinese students to go abroad, let a little fresh air into the government-controlled news media and opted for economic incentives to spur the Chinese economy.

For the moment, the Communist Party and the government remain in power, but it is rule enforced by the gun. History tells us that regimes that must depend on that kind of support are only transitory. The question no longer is why the Chinese Communist leadership will be replaced. The question now is when.

The high cost of gambling

Once upon a time government regarded gambling as an enemy and its law enforcement agencies were assigned to curb gambling as part of their mission to enforce law and order.

No more. Government now works hand in hand with gambling activities in many different areas, and especially in the states such as Michigan that now are sponsoring lotteries with prizes running up into the millions.

Questions are being raised in the Michigan Legislature and elsewhere about the blatant nature of the Michigan lottery advertising that emphasizes the size of the prize money available but seldom mentions the individual's poor chances of winning the pot.

At the same time, however, black leaders in the state are complaining that black-owned media are getting only crumbs of the $12 million spent on Michigan's lottery advertising. Leading the recent protests was the Michigan Legislative Black Caucus which warned that the black community is ready to organize, protest, file a racial discrimination lawsuit and even begin a boycott to get results.

The complaint was directed especially at the Daily 3 game which produces more sales than any other lottery game. According to the Detroit News report, a Lansing protest meeting was told that more than 80 percent of Daily 3 play is from the Detroit area and more than 90 percent of that total is from the city of Detroit.

Apparently there was little or no concern voiced at the fact that lotteries tend to be regressive and hit hardest at the least affluent, or that heavier advertising in the black media might even produce more black players in the Daily 3 play and in other lottery games.

In a series of four articles recently, the New York Times spelled out some of the bad effects of gambling in the United States, both in legal as well as illegal gambling activities. Its conclusion was that gambling not only cost Americans 11 cents on every dollar wagered last year but the social costs were even higher.

"Psychiatrists report seeing more patients with gambling-related problems," the Times said. "Lawyers say gambling is to blame for an increasing number of bankruptcies and divorces. Law-enforcement officials say more and more down-on-their-luck gamblers are turning to crime in their efforts to keep the bookmaker or the loan shark from the door."

In addition, the Times reported, because gambling is becoming the latest social addiction, some experts are putting states in the losers' column in the long run because, they say, legalized gambling undermines the work ethic and does tend to be regressive, imposing a heavier burden on those who can least afford the cost of the tickets.

The Times quoted Ronald C. Fisher, a Michigan State economics professor, as saying that legalized gambling "is not the fiscal panacea people seem to think it is" for the states. He and other fiscal experts say that lotteries are not efficient revenue raisers because about 50 percent of every dollar taken in is paid back in prizes, commissions to vendors account for 5 to 6 cents on the dollar and 6 more cents go for operating expenses and overhead.

The result is that for every $1 ticket sold, the state's net gain is only 35 to 40 cents. So, concludes Fisher, lotteries add "just pennies" to a state budget.

All in all, we'd say lotteries add up to a poor investment, especially since an Indiana University professor, John L. Miksell, says if states put the money they are putting into administering the lottery into more rigorous administration of their state income taxes they would get more revenue. Governor Blanchard, are you listening?

Letters

Unjustly treated

To the Editor:

Recently I came up from Florida to visit with my family and grew very upset when I learned about the situation of several nuns and lay teachers who are losing their jobs in a couple of east-side suburban Catholic schools.

These are not new teachers, but teachers who have had their contracts renewed year after year. Neither are these schools closing. Being without a union, these teachers have no recourse.

People complain that there are so few teaching nuns, so why should the few that we have left be treated this way?

Even though I chose Catholic education for my family, I will find it hard to recommend Catholic schools, if this is how their employees (teachers) are unjustly treated.

Keep hockey

To the Editor:

On Monday, June 12, voters will be asked to cast ballots concerning the funding of the public schools.

The Grosse Pointe Public Schools have always maintained a tradition of excellence in the classrooms, as well as on the playing fields.

Sports are a vital part of this community. Many parents, friends, businesses and students are involved in athletics. Athletics teaches responsibility, discipline, teamwork and pride. Most of these cannot be taught in a classroom.

For six years, the hockey program has been scrutinized by administration and school leaders. The program has survived, and actually has flourished over the last four years.

Hockey is an important part of our athletic program. It has some of the greatest student interest and provides the community with many hours of athletic enjoyment.

In 1988-89, the Grosse Pointe Hockey Association had 437 registered members, with 195 of them enrolled at the Mite level (ages 9 and under). Currently many hockey players dream of playing for their school.

these players take pride in their performance. They work long and hard to make their high school team. These players' exaggerated efforts will be wasted, unless you vote yes on both proposals on June 12.

Your vote is very important to the future of the high school hockey program. Please make every effort to cast your ballot.

We are counting on your support to keep the young athletes' dreams alive.

Scare tactics?

To the Editor:

So some taxpayers think the board is using scare tactics by pink-slipping the teachers and the staff?

I'll bet they also thought Pearl Harbor was a scare tactic.

Domestic frustration

It is the '80s. Heck, it's almost the '90s. It's OK these days for men to talk about being domestic, isn't it?

For decades it's been considered unmanly to vacuum, dust, cook and do the dishes. That was something the women did. Men did it only when they had to, like when mom was sick, or visiting her mother, or more likely suffering a breakdown from overwork.

But not any more. Home ec, or as it is now called Life Studies, is part of the curriculum for many boys in school, preparing them to be Men of the '90s.

To truly prepare the children of today for life in the '90s, though, young men, who studies show are staying single longer, should be taken to a grocery store, given 50 bucks, and told to buy food for a week.

Sure it's necessary to learn how to cook (because too many young women take pride in the fact that they can't — date one, you'll see), but it's more important to teach them how to survive a trip to the grocery store. If they can do that, they have life by the tail.

If I want to take a beautiful day and completely ruin it, I load up my returnables and head on out to the grocery store.

To show how much I hate shopping, I go only after my cupboards are so empty, I've had popcorn and instant mashed potatoes for dinner three days straight.

Beginning with an inventory of my barren cupboard (Mother Hubbard ain't seen bare 'til she's seen my kitchen) — and including going over my coupons, running over shopping carts left in the last available parking space, being trampled by other shoppers and ignored by stock clerks — shopping for food is truly today's equivalent of plowing and harvesting from your own 40-acre garden, canning it and storing in a fruit cellar.

I've found the best time to go grocery shopping is after midnight when most normal people are asleep, but because there are no 24-hour stores here, the second best time is right about 5 o'clock, when everyone is home getting ready for dinner.

The hard-cores — those with calculators, in-store shopping guides, file cabinets on wheels for their coupons and a "this store is mine" attitude — are home, and usually so are the children they sometimes bring with them.

You know the kids, they scream for sugar cereals while mom buys bran flakes and they race the cart up and down the aisle, leaving tread marks on the backs of those who weren't quick enough to dodge the speeding locomotive. And did you ever notice that it's those same kids who always get the best cart while you're stuck with a squeaky one with two square wheels? Life just ain't fair, is it?

It's also not fair when you've clipped and filed coupons and then find the generic is cheaper yet. Or the coupon has expired. Or it's for a brand or size the store doesn't carry.

It's also not fair when the perfect opening line — "Excuse me, but how do you cook this?" — must be asked of a grandmotherly type if you really want some usable advice. To meet the younger women, I've found, you have to hang out in the diet-microwave-frozen dinner section.

But the worst part about it, the absolute worst part about grocery shopping is bringing it home, unloading the car (gosh, all that canned Beefaroni gets heavy) and putting it away. You think you bought so much, but the cupboard still seems empty, and when you're hungry from all the exertion and stress, there's really nothing to eat in the house because you don't feel like fussing.

That's the time when you realize you forgot to redeem the slip from your returnables and all the other things you forgot (usually because you left your list on your kitchen table or in the car), and will probably have to face the maddening crowd to pick those items — usually more popcorn and another box of instant mashed potatoes — up.

I'm writing this late because I know when I go home I'll face my third day of Popcorn Under Glass for dinner.

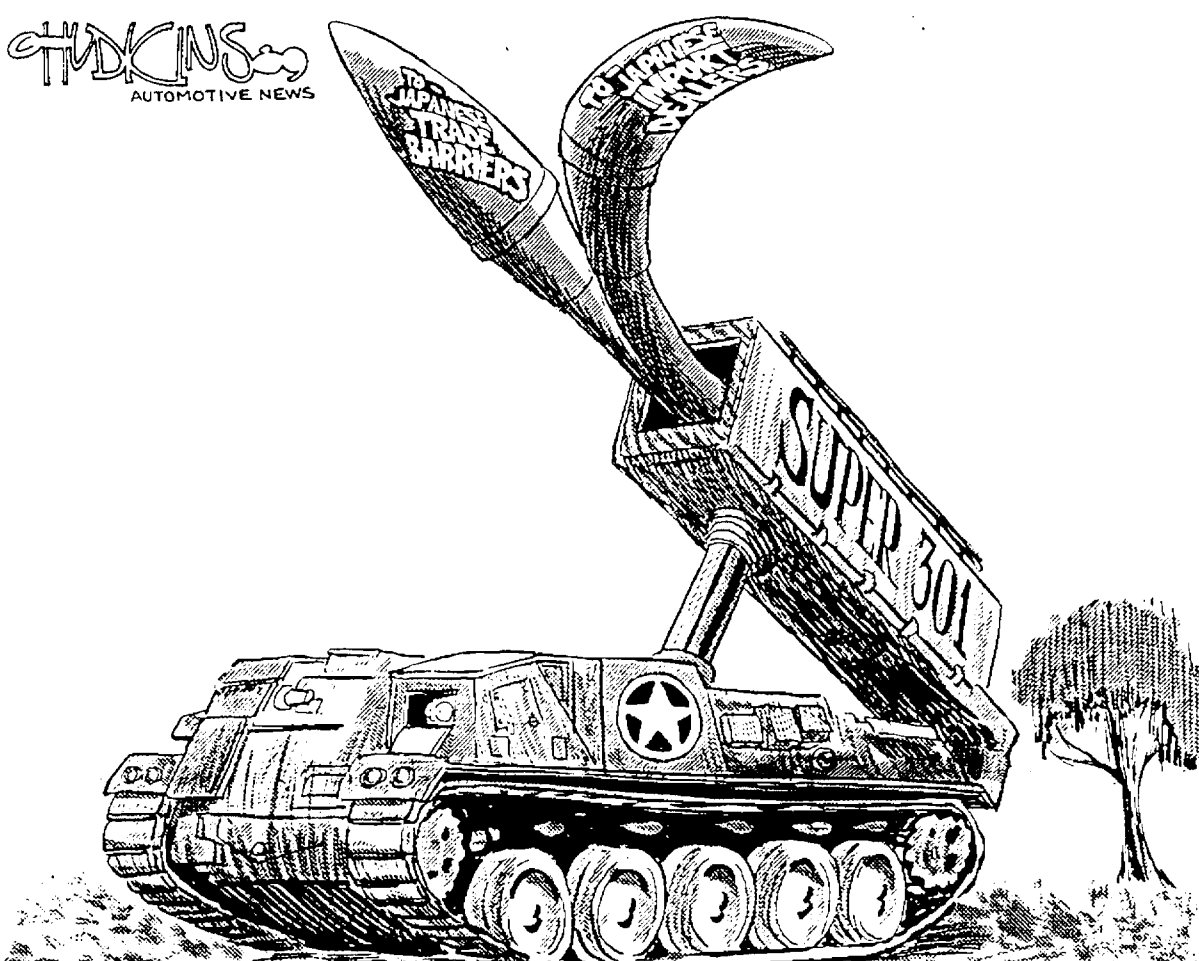

And we both know what that means I'll be doing tomorrow. Give me strength.

CAUTION -- WEAPONS USED ON "TARGET" COUNTRIES MAY HAVE MULTIPLE WARHEADS.

Yesterday's Headlines

June 10, 1982 —

According to the New York Times, Israel reported that its air force destroyed the Syrian air-to-missile system in the Bekaa Valley of eastern Lebanon "in a concentrated strike" in which 22 Syrian MIGs were reported shot down in an air battle that accompanied the raid and seven more were said to have been hit.

Secretary of State Alexander Haig said the fighting in Lebanon had grown "somewhat more ominous" in the previous 24 hours and suggested that Israel might be shifting its originally announced objective in Lebanon and was seeking to take on Syrian forces in combat.

U.N. observers said that thousands of Lebanon citizens, uprooted from their homes by the Israel advance, were in critical need of food and water.

More than 1,000 anti-government students at a South Korean university battled hundreds of riot policemen for more than an hour. Twelve of the 16 students arrested were released.

One hundred twenty-three white ministers of the Dutch Reformed Church in Johannesburg declared that the nation's official racial segregation policy "cannot be defended scripturally" and called for racial equality. Their letter in a weekly religious journal caused a furor when the church, a major force in the life of the Afrikaners who dominate the ruling National Party.

With 70,000 women in the U.S. Army, the service began an all-out assault on the sexual harassment they had been undergoing from army men.

British troops staged a major new landing in the Falkland Islands but suffered heavily in the process, according to correspondents' reports and military sources. Details of the action were sketchy, but at least six and possibly as many as 11 Argentine warplanes involved in trying to disrupt the landing were shot down.

The Senate began debate on a revised version of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, and Sen. Jesse Helms vowed to filibuster against it "until the cows come home."

Adoption option
Want an off-the-wall Father's Day gift? How 'bout surprising dad with an additional parenting opportunity? Like, adoption. The Detroit Zoo's Adopt An Animal Club suggests letting father or grandfather become a zoo parent to one or more animals: a duck, a ring-tailed lemur, a prairie dog, whatever suits your particular dad. For $25, he gets a certificate of adoption, an Adopt An Animal Club T-shirt and a one-year membership. To order, call the Detroit Zoo, 398-0903 any day between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Fame & Fortune
Mary Swanberg, of St. Clair Shores gave the Michigan Lottery's prize wheel a determined spin on June 3 and came up with a $2,465 bedroom set from Art Van Furniture. She purchased her winning ticket in the Fame & Fortune instant game at Pat O'Brien's Bar and Restaurant in St. Clair Shores, where she works as a cook. Instant game tickets also feature prizes for $2, $5, $25, $50, and $100.

Info everyone should know
Quick, name this popular cartoon bird character. He has blurry wheels instead of feet and he's forever duping a dopey predatory coyote. The roadrunner. Did you know there really is such an odd bird? National Wildlife magazine says these wildly colored birds can shift into high gear and run as fast as 15 miles an hour. At that speed, the little critters' legs take 12 steps a second. Roadrunners also have spectacular eyesight. All this gives them an edge on tracking lizards and insects. And on outsmarting wily predators.

In Grosse Pointe, after more than a year of campaigning and appearances before the school board, supporters of a new $3.5 million South High School swimming facility said it was time to get people to the polls to approve the ballot proposal, the only question in the school election.

Experience is the Best Teacher Vote Yes Twice in the June 12 Millage Election.

The 700 names that appear above are real people who work with Grosse Pointe children every school day so that they will be well prepared for the challenges of the 21st century. They bring experience, dedication and love for children to work with them every school day. They help make Grosse Pointe schools one of the best school systems in the country. Help them keep the best schools for our children. Vote yes twice June 12.

This message is paid for by the Grosse Pointe Education Association Millage Committee, Rita Richards, Treasurer, 20090 Morningside, Grosse Pointe Woods, MI. 48236.

Letters

To the Editor:

On June 12, Grosse Pointers will again be asked to vote for the millage requested by the school board to maintain the high standard of public education our community has historically made available to our children.

As Realtors, we experience first-hand the importance our top-rated school system is to prospective home buyers who are considering Grosse Pointe as one of a number of communities in which to live. The quality of the school system is almost always the number one consideration in their decision to purchase a home in Grosse Pointe.

Grosse Pointe Realtors have recognized for many years that our school system has made it possible for Grosse Pointe to maintain an orderly real estate market in which both home buyers and sellers can prosper.

The Grosse Pointe Board of Realtors urges all voters to vote for the millage required to maintain our fine school system and those values which have always made Grosse Pointe an attractive community in which to live.

Forman S. Johnston
President, Grosse Pointe Board of Realtors

AAUW supports school millage

To the Editor:

The Grosse Pointe Branch of the American Association of University Women supports the Grosse Pointe School District's proposals to both renew 25.35 mills and to increase the mills by 2.2.

Education is in a crisis state. Our new president designated it a national priority. Increasingly we are finding it difficult to compete technologically with other nations.

If either of these proposals fails, the crisis will begin to touch our community. The loss of revenue to our schools is substantial enough to cause class sizes to rise and fundamental cuts to key programs to occur. The quality of our schools will start to erode.

Quality schools have always been part of the fabric of this community. The decision to move here has often been made because of the superiority of our schools. If either of these proposals fails, we move a little closer to becoming part of the national crisis. The perception will be that Grosse Pointe no longer maintains or is committed to quality education for its children.

Julie Demchak
President
Grosse Pointe Branch, AAUW

Education key to the future

To the Editor:

I am a concerned student at Grosse Pointe South High School. I'm concerned because our second millage vote is on June 12, and as I understand it, the extra mills won't pass. The school needs the extra mills to continue its extracurricular activities such as athletics and clubs, which are required for entry into most colleges.

Although some districts have already voted for or against their millage, I believe that if more is done to make people aware of the situation, the extra mills will pass.

Education is the key to the future, but if it's denied to America's young, what will happen to the future?

For people who intend to vote no on the millage, or who have already voted no, and their reason is taxes, I wish that they should remember who paid for their education and reconsider.

We have questions

To the Editor:

This is the first time for me; to write a letter of concern, but the time has come. We are parents of grown children who have been through the Grosse Pointe School System. Our children attended from kindergarten through high school and we really appreciated what we considered a luxurious school environment. However, we are now at a new stage in our lives and we see things through different eyes with regard to the present millage situation. We have questions ... serious questions about the use of our tax dollars.

In looking back on our children's time in the system, we look back to when we and others referred to it as a country club education. This was not a term of our invention. We saw our youngsters being given far more than what was essential to good preparation for life and future academia. For example, sport equipment, clothing (coats, sweaters, jackets), musical instruments and supplies which were in excess of the necessary. Talk to mothers of hockey players or Timettes. When we were at that particular stage of parenthood, we laughed and loved it that the community was willing to pay for it all. We no longer feel that way. We now resent money for nonessentials and mismanagement directions.

We feel that if the voters have sent a message about taxes, why is money being spent on the maintenance and operation of Barnes School? It seems a waste when both North and South facilities could more than easily accommodate these classes which are essentially and precisely not benefiting the children of the community but the adults of Grosse Pointe and other communities. The fees charged do not pay the bills there for heat, light, maintenance, insurance, and administrative services. On a recent walk through Barnes, it was obvious that many of the rooms were being used with only three to five people in them. It would seem that this is rather expensive to heat and light for the benefit of the few, some of whom are not Grosse Pointe taxpayers. How much more cost effective it would be to have these classes held at the two large high schools which are under-utilized.

I feel a responsibility to pay for education and a good one for the children of this community, but I resent paying for adults to take flower arranging and party cooking. This was nicely handled by the War Memorial in the past.

The Barnes property could be put to far better use by simply selling it and providing more space and tax dollars generated from new homes or much needed condominiums.

With regard to maintaining the building for future use by a growing child population ... the boom of the 1960s will never recur in numbers sufficient to warrant the use of facilities as they once were. As far as a centralized plant for supplies, there is an abundance of space for such a thing only a half-mile up Morning-side in what was touted as a luxury complex only 10 years ago.

I feel that it is a discouraging situation and I even feel foolish voting no in the upcoming election because the system will only bring the election back again and again until it passes as wished, which in the long run only costs the poor taxpayer more.

I would also be interested in knowing why it was essential to interview so many candidates from such distant places for the recent vacant position taken by an Iowan

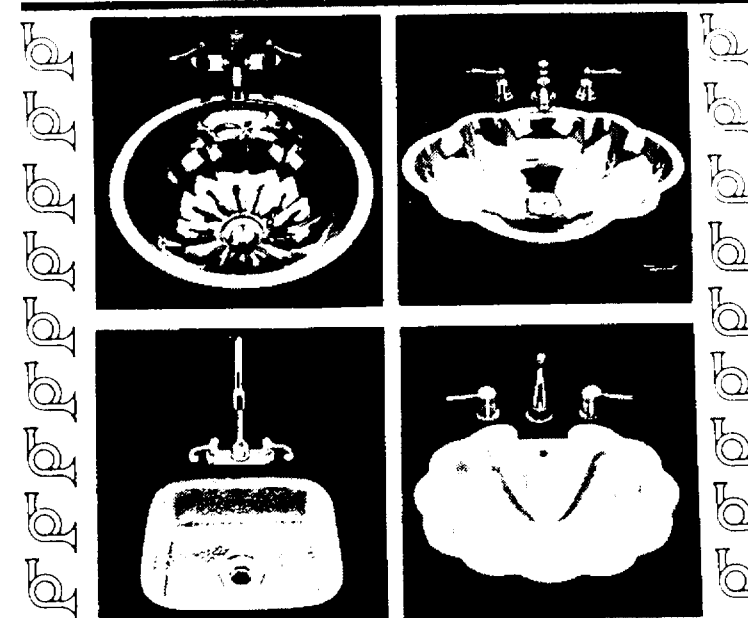

Were there no suitable people within the system or even within the state of Michigan?

Even though our children are grown, I still strongly advocate good education, but one which exists within the confines of sensibility and responsibility. I think the recent action of the people of Troy have sent out the message that school board and systems are not to be considered as separate and in contest with the voter, but a responsible and active team working together to provide the best for the community.

Best around

To the Editor:

Three years ago I was transferred to the Detroit area and soon began house hunting. We picked Grosse Pointe for many reasons, for its beauty, its neighborhood feeling and its obvious commitment to children.

One can see it in the sidewalk streets, the neighborhood schools, and the parks which all provided for the safety and enjoyment of our youth.

But most importantly it was the school system that brought us here. I have lived in both the Chicago and Boston areas, both dynamic with lots to offer, but with school systems that can't compare to Grosse Pointe's.

The commitment to youth is what makes this area so desirable. Their education, both academically and physically, must be maintained to protect our investments in our homes and more importantly, in our children. Keep the programs the way they are, or even improve them.

For the relatively small amount it will cost us, the rewards are immeasurable. Give our kids the chance to experience the joys of success, and us as parents, the chance to witness it.

Mike O'Connell

structured in the post WWII building boom by converting the then free flowing Milk River into an underground drainage and sewer system. Its design included leaving a portion of the river bed above surface as a basis for early pollution control measures. Since then we have gained valuable experience in pollution control and advances in technology have been made.

For some time our Clean Water Committee has been working to secure improvements in the capabilities of the Milk River system. In the 1988 election the public approved over $700 million for use by the state Department of Natural Resources in assisting pollution control improvements. An application for such assistance is now pending with the DNR for the Milk River system which has been an asset to the state in pollution control.

The adverse effect of the current spill in the system on the residents, businesses, recreational facilities, the historic Edsel Ford facilities, and even the U.S. Coast Guard is a timely warning that the time for the DNR to provide pollution control assistance is now.

Support schools

To the Editor:

Good schools have always made good sense to Grosse Pointers. Our tradition of excellence was achieved by the efforts of dedicated employees and the generous support and encouragement of our community. The taxpayers of Grosse Pointe can be proud of their schools and know that they have received the full value of every dollar spent on their children's education.

While Grosse Pointe is a highly regarded school district, it should be noted that Grosse Pointe teachers are not overly compensated compared to teachers in similar districts. This year experienced teachers in West Bloomfield, Farmington, Bloomfield Hills, Southfield, Livonia and Rochester all made more money at the top of the masters degree salary schedule than Grosse Pointe teachers in the same category.

Since the current three-year Grosse Pointe teacher contract has one more year remaining, it is certainly reasonable to expect competing school districts who negotiate this year to surpass Grosse Pointe's salary and fringe benefit package. Districts such as Birmingham, Southfield, West Bloomfield and Bloomfield Hills already have contracts for next year that surpass us. There are also at least 17 districts currently spending more on health insurance programs for teachers than Grosse Pointe.

Our community's future will be decided by those who vote on June 12. Lack of support for our schools will have a negative impact not only for our children and employees but also our real estate values and our reputation across the nation.

I urge everyone to vote yes on both proposals.

Thomas F. Whall

Keep athletics

To the Editor:

We tend to take many things in life for granted. Our life, our friends, our high school sports. Now is the time to realize these things aren't always going to be there, especially the latter of the three.

Yes, this is turning into another story about the millage; however, it is not being written by a taxpayer, a legal voter or even a reporter. I am a student athlete and I am writing this on behalf of all the other student athletes in our community, the people the outcome of the millage will affect the most.

If the increase doesn't pass, the athletic department at both North and South high schools would suffer dramatic cuts throughout the next three years. I'm not trying to persuade you to vote for the increase without having concrete facts to back up what I am saying. Thanks to Mr. Tom Gaurke, I have been supplied with these facts.

During the 1989-90 school year, many assistant coaches will be cut, the hockey programs will be dropped and the athletic trainer will be stopped. These are among many other program expenses which will be cut for a grand total equaling $120,000 between the two high schools. Without the approval of additional funds, major cuts to the athletic program will have to be made in the second and third years. The proposed programs to be axed in the second and third years include all ninth-grade teams and the complete wrestling, gymnastics and cheerleading programs.

However, I do not wish to discuss the financial cuts, but the athlete participation cuts. By scrapping all these programs many athletes will be scrapped in the process. Being a junior this year, my sports will not be directly affected during my senior year; I am thinking of the younger kids. What will happen to them? They will come to high school wanting to participate in their sport, but there would be no ninth-grade teams, so they are forced to try out for JV teams. Sophomores could be kept over them, therefore they quit, having lost a year of fundamental experience. The number of participants will decrease as well as the quality of the teams.

Also, any seniors who have a chance at scholarships could be putting these in jeopardy by attending the Grosse Pointe schools. Colleges would be less enticed by an athlete coming from a poor athletic program as opposed to an athlete of the same talent from a strong program.

The Grosse Pointe school district has always been something to brag about, and whether you like to admit it or not, the athletic programs have played a major factor in those bragging rights.

Are you willing to place in jeopardy the future of the Grosse Pointe children as well as our school system's national reputation of excellence by voting no to the increase?

Please vote yes on June 12.

65 North students write

To the Editor:

As concerned students of Grosse Pointe North, we would like to bring to the attention of some of our voters a few facts about the millage, especially the increase. We have faith that the renewal will pass, but we feel that many voters do not realize what the increase entails.

Over the three years, almost 94 of our staff will have been cut, 78 of whom will be teachers. Admittedly, not all of us have loved every teacher we've had, but the excellent teachers of Grosse Pointe are the major reason for our excellence in education. Cuts in teachers mean bigger class size, and less individual attention, the backbone of encouraging teaching.

Our elementary gifted program will be eliminated. This program has provided many of us with individual challenges, as well as studies not offered within the classroom. Also affecting individualization will be an increase of class size by as many as six students. This will be felt in the high school, but it will be the most destructive to the elementary school age children. Class size has long been a concern in Grosse Pointe, and should remain one of our good points.

Also in the elementary schools, the fifth-grade instrumental program will be eliminated. This directly affects not only the middle school child who misses the opportunity because of neglect, but it most strongly affects us high school students. The instrumental programs are not large, but they are a great experience. Without large numbers of incoming young musicians, our instrumental programs will wither. As our teachers have always reminded us, education not only includes basics, but also music, fine art and sports. A similar cut is that of one-third of our athletics, as well as other extracurricular activities. This entails some of our most popular sports.

Higher costs will be transferred to those who enjoy community education through raised fees, which means fewer participants in a surprisingly successful endeavor. Also, within the high schools, two of our essential programs will be cut. Our AV coordinators, who are always working at a frantic pace, will be eliminated. Just as important, our substance abuse programs will be eliminated, and any reformed drug addict can tell of the importance of such a life-saving program.

Other life-savers are the guidance and social worker services. These will also be reduced. Despite what many may think, Grosse Pointe has substance abuse, child abuse as well as teen-suicide problems. If our programs are reduced, many troubled kids will be without an outlet.

Also in the high school, other damaging cuts will be made. The in-school separation will be slashed. This disciplinary action has proved more successful than suspension. Without it, skipping will hold even greater appeal, and morale will drop in the school. In addition, help in basics such as reading will cease. Our seven-period day will become a six-period day, and graduation requirements lowered. This is an obvious compromise on our education and for money reasons, and the educational standards of Grosse Pointe cannot be upheld when graduation requirements are lowered.

Finally, two of North's finest accomplishments will no longer be maintained. Our Community Performing Arts Center will become only a school theater, closed to the outside groups which enjoy a performance center. This is because the wonderfully capable, technical director, who serves North, South, and all the groups that come in, will be cut. Similarly, our planetarium, with its wonderful director/teacher will be cut. Both facilities are used by all levels of the schools, and especially appreciated by us students who have been served by the school programs.

We students who know the wonderful assets the school system already has would like the school system to be able to continue with the excellence we already have. Please, if not for the sake of us students, then for the sake of maintaining an excellent community, we ask that each citizen vote for both the millage renewal and increase on June 12.

Bazaar planned

To the Editor:

Several months ago, we took issue with the city of Grosse Pointe Woods' unannounced building inspection just moments before the opening of last December's Parcels' Christmas Bazaar. The result was confusion, unhappy vendors and many cold patrons who were forced to wait in the cold for as long as 1 1/2 hours before gaining entry. We suggested a meeting with city officials at the earliest opportunity to jointly resolve any lingering issues.

In the interest of giving credit where it is due, we wish to thank city officials, in particular Public Safety Director Jack Patterson, for their willingness to meet and resolve issues of mutual concern.

Thus we are happy to announce that the Parcels' Christmas Bazaar will return for its 15th year of providing for local area Christmas shoppers the opportunity to find just the right gift.

Few suggestions

To the Editor:

If the school election vote on June 12 is yes the millage voted will be frozen for the next three years. If the vote is no there will be another vote in August. If that vote is yes the schools can open on schedule.

All of us wish to assure timely openings. To that end we have submitted to Dr. Whritner and school board president John Gandelot the following recommendations which ought to assure that.

First the board could immediately assure the voters that they are fully aware of taxpayers financial concerns and that the board will guarantee absolutely maximum economies.

Consider the plight of a typical retiree. Minimum pension. Grosse Pointe taxes about double what they were a decade ago. Blue Cross for a couple is $2,268 a year. Medicare now raised to $28 a month for each spouse, i.e., $672 a year for the two, deducted from social security checks. Catastrophe Medicare adds $22.50 a year for each $150 of adjusted income, with maximums of $1,600 in 1989 increasing to $2,100 in 1992. The powerful teachers union is pushing for a 2 percent sales tax increase. Prospects of increased inflation. Also possible U.S. income tax increases to reduce our tremendous deficit.

Second, next salary negotiations with the union are scheduled for next year. The board should assure the voters they will be prepared to cope with the demands of the powerful and well-funded teachers' union. This union has been most successful in negotiations in the past.

Grosse Pointe teachers are the eighth highest paid in Michigan. Michigan teachers are the sixth highest paid in the nation.

Grosse Pointe's current contract provides these salaries and benefits for teachers: Average salary, $42,481, Blue Cross (maximum benefits including dental and visual) at a cost to the district of $3,900 each; group life insurance of $49,000, cost to the district $155, thus a total of $4,055.

This Blue Cross coverage extends to all members of the teacher's family including spouses, even if self-employed or employed by employer with less extensive benefits.

Librarians fare better on salaries, receiving 10 percent more by reason of the fact their work year is 12 months compared with teachers' 10 months.

Thus the 13 librarians receive an annual salary of $46,500. This plus the same Blue Cross and group life insurance.

For the past three years, teachers' and librarians' contracts have provided for automatic annual increases of, respectively, 5.5, 6.2 and 6.2 percent.

Third, most Michigan districts with comparable drastic declines in enrollment since peak years, have inactivated and consolidated dozens of schools. Birmingham closed eight. Bloomfield Hills closed six. The superintendents of both systems state parents are well satisfied, their children benefit from choices of teachers, and many more facilities offered.

Taxpayers benefited from large savings, elimination of principals and administrators salaries, building operating costs. Also the board should return to taxpayers the profits from the sale or leasing of the abandoned buildings.

Grosse Pointe's board appointed a blue ribbon committee to study closings. This committee recommended closing six schools. Unfortunately the board ignored that recommendation and closed only one. Unlike other districts they did not sell the property, but utilize it for administrative staff. The Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills superintendents tell us that (like Grosse Pointe) enrollments projected for the next five years are stable and minimal, not more than 100 more pupils a year average. Insufficient to justify retaining buildings for future increases.

Fourth, it would be most reassuring to voters if the board would announce now that it is reactivating a committee to update that 1984 recommendation for possible consolidations and closings.

Fifth, the board could publicly announce they accept the recent defeat of the proposed $8,500,000 borrowing for library expansion as a "message," i.e., that residents are well satisfied with their present three libraries, and that the board currently does not contemplate bond issues or borrowing for new building or expansion.

Grosse Pointe has never had a more able or conscientious school board. Our superintendent and his staff and our fine corps of teachers and librarians are absolutely tops. If we can just have the board's assurances on some of these matters before this, or if necessary an August vote, I shall accept those assurances and vote an enthusiastic yes to whatever millage they put on the ballot.

Millage concerns

To the Editor:

As a concerned citizen, I would like to add my comments about the June 12 millage election to the many others that have been expressed in this paper. This election will have a big effect on the standards of the Grosse Pointe school system over the next three years. The results of the election will affect the whole community, so everybody should be informed about what these results will be.

I realize that there are many reasons why the millage did not pass in the last election. The SEVs on people's houses had just arrived, and most people found their assessments going up. Also, there are many people in the community who don't have children in the school system, and didn't see why they should vote to increase their taxes. The school system affects the entire community, and the results of this election are important to everybody.

If the renewal does not pass, the schools will not be able to open next fall. The proposal would be resubmitted to election until it passed. The increase, on the other hand, if not passed will not close the schools, but will end many programs. These programs would be affected over a three-year period, until the next millage election.

The results of a denial of an increase would affect all the schools, staff and students. One result of the no vote to the increase would be the loss of 94 staff members. Of these 94 jobs, 78 will be teachers. This is out of a present 508 teachers — a decrease of about 15 percent. A loss of these teachers will gravely affect students and their classes.

Another effect would be the loss of many extra-curricular activities and special elementary classes, such as instrumental music and the program for the gifted. The extra-curricular activities and clubs of all the school would be cut by one third. Funding for many sports teams would either be reduced or eliminated completely.

The quality of education at the Grosse Pointe schools will also be affected. Class sizes will be raised, which would diminish personal attention which helps students. The high school day would be cut to six periods instead of the current seven. This reduces the number of electives a student may take, and will reduce graduation requirements, lowering the standards of education.

All of these changes will occur over the next three years. I, as well as many other students, will be personally affected by the results of this election.

Please consider the consequences of the vote, and vote yes, yes on June 12.

To the Editor:

I remember the evening vividly — about 10 years ago. My family and I were dining in a fine restaurant with a large group. Not only was the menu far more expensive than I could afford at the time, but I knew I'd be presented the check. I responded to the dilemma by telling the kids to drink their cokes slowly, "save some for when your meals arrive." My 5-year-old son asked me, "Dad, if I just get french fries, can I order a second coke?"

His question, while embarrassing, was the birth of one of my firmest tenets. When we can't manage the chaos around us, we humans control what we can control. Analogously, in defeating the Grosse Pointe school system's recent millage request for renewal and a modest increase in millage, the voters controlled what they could control.

Faced with billions of dollars wasted by our governments, lotteries for education that don't go to education, and most recently, dramatic increases in local SEVs, Grosse Pointe voters simply said, "You're not going to do it to me again, government. Drink the Coke slowly."

I am writing the Grosse Pointe News to relate my family's experience living out of state, with the hope the perspective will influence voters to support the June 12 millage proposal.

I was forced, by job requirements, to relocate my family from Grosse Pointe to other states twice, in 1983, and again in 1987. In the summer of 1988, I was given the option of moving as long as I paid for the relocation. I chose to pay to move back to Grosse Pointe Woods. I believe the "why" of that decision is central to the upcoming millage vote.

Our experiences living in three separate cities were similar, so I'll just describe the most recent. We lived in what is described as the "mainline," the western suburbs of Philadelphia. The area is superior to the Grosse Pointes in nearly every rational way — better weather, stately homes (like Indian Village), great public transportation, and trains conveniently linking the suburbs and Philadelphia with Washington, New York in an hour and 10 minutes for a game at Madison Square Garden, or dinner and a show. Real estate taxes haven't changed for years — less than half of what ours are.

So why move back? I assure you it wasn't friends or family, or convenience, or a longing for the city of Detroit. We didn't even grow up in Grosse Pointe. In living elsewhere, we came to appreciate this community. Let me give you a flavor for our out-of-state experiences and the attitudes.

- Public schools are inferior; just have a couple for those who can't do anything else. At the same time, good parents send their children to one of the hundreds of private schools at a cost of $4,000 to $15,000 per year.

- Bus rides are good for children — in fact, some of the rides are as long as an hour (because of routing) to go a couple of miles. Bus rides must build character. Nearly everyone rides the bus because neighborhood schools are rare.

- All taxes are bad, even if it means we contract on our own for snow removal, garbage removal, street cleaning, burglar removal, etc.

- Good citizens are volunteer firemen (for an area five times the size of Grosse Pointe).

- Get an alarm. "Well, where are the police?" Get an alarm.

- "Excuse me, sir, I live in St. Davids. Where do I sign up for Little League?" "Well, you're in Radnor Township. Just sign up at the township offices — games are just behind the township office, not more than 10 miles from your house." Maybe my 8-year-old can take the train to practice.

Incidentally, the average SAT score at Radnor High School were higher than Grosse Pointe North. I'm not talking about performance. My daughter, Hope, described the schools as disconnected, having only to do with getting faceless people into college. And I'm not talking about schooling. In fact, my elementary age children have attended parochial schools for 11 years, and my high school-age girls attend Grosse Pointe North by choice. I have other choices for schooling.

Our public schools are a precious fabric in the delicate macramé of community — the builders, the architects of what we enjoy, and what we value. They are the raw material, not the product of community. They are belonging, and safety, and dreams, and caring, and hope for the future. Like the comfortable familiarity of friendship, they are not noticed until gone.

I am voting for renewal of 25.35 millage, and yes, the 2.2 mill increase. (Actually, I witness more than 2.2 mills worth of volunteer help in the schools.) Like you, I don't like increases, but I like the uses. Well, honestly, I don't really like the hockey so I'm writing the school board. But I don't want to throw the substance abuse counselor out with the bath water. I believe they'll respond to me, and if they don't, I still believe they'll remain fiscally responsive. They love living here, too!

I implore you to join me on June 12. Vote in thanksgiving and support for the unparalleled community in which we live. Heck, I'll even meet you at our beautiful (free) park on the lake, and buy you a Coke.

Campaigning

Demonstrating their concern for the future of the Grosse Pointe schools and the passage of the June 12 millage proposals, the sixth-, seventh- and eighth-grade students of Parcels Middle School held a student council-sponsored bake sale, above, and car wash, below, at the end of May. The money earned was used to place an ad in today's Grosse Pointe News asking voters to support the millage requests. The project was entirely student-oriented, with almost no help from parents and adults.

Dear Voters,

PLEASE HELP US KEEP OUR GROSSE POINTE SCHOOLS GREAT! By having a Bake Sale and Car Wash, we raised the money needed to place this ad to let everyone know that we care about our education and we hope all voters will vote YES—YES for our future.

Thank you,

Think twice before voting

To the Editor:

Despite concern about rising taxes, I hope voters will think twice before refusing Proposition 2 (2.2 mill increase) on June 12.

If the increase is rejected, necessary cuts will affect the quality of education. There may be differing opinions about such items as the PACE (gifted) program and hockey which will be sacrificed. There should be broad dismay, however, about losing many excellent newer teachers with low seniority. Unless another prompt overture is made to the voters for financing, the size of elementary classes will increase significantly. Moreover, the high schools will be projected to lose their seven-period day, which would be reduced to six. Undoubtedly, there will be cutbacks in repair and maintenance from present levels which are well below optimum.

At a time when this country is in danger of further erosion of its economic position in good part because of education mediocrity, such cutbacks would take us in the wrong direction.

Every voter should calculate the additional tax cost for Proposition 2 (on the form provided by the school system or call 343-2051) and consider soberly whether it is not money well spent — first, for the education of our children and, second, for his or her own property values which have always hinged in part on perception of a superior school system. In 1989 property taxes should range from about $30 to $70 higher if Proposition 2 is passed over the level if Proposition 1 (millage renewal) only is passed. This much I think the citizenry should be willing to do.

But, admittedly, tax levels are high. In the future, I urge the school board to do a better job of disclosing its spending in a manner intelligible to interested citizens. Without denigrating the comprehensive annual financial report, which I am sure complies with legal requirements, I believe that a manner of presenting finances that is more revealing should be devised.

Monteith faculty urges yes vote

To the Editor:

As educators who work daily with the children of the Grosse Pointe community, there are perspectives to the millage issue that are extremely important to us. Because of our close contact with your children, we see it from a unique point of view. We are reminded again and again that these issues could affect the future of these children in a very tangible way. For example, the passage of the millage increase will eventually translate into smaller class size, which means more time can be devoted to meeting the needs of individual students.

Education involves more than the imparting of facts. Presently, we have the opportunity to teach responsibility and leadership through our athletic programs, service and safety clubs, instrumental music and a host of special interests and activities. As teachers, we would not want to see these avenues of instruction closed to your children.

It bothers us that if we lose some of our support programs, we will no longer have the flexibility to tailor our educational curriculum to the wide range of individual needs and abilities. Specifically, we are concerned about PACE, reading specialists, computer consultants, and counselors. In a day when substance abuse looms as a threat over every household, can we afford to take away any support systems? Is it worth the risk? We don't believe so.

The human element in teaching is crucial to the whole educational process. Beyond ideas and theories, teachers must be there. We make it happen in the classroom. Children are the ones who will benefit if we keep our programs strong and a full complement of teachers in our school system.

A need for an increase

To the Editor:

With all the commotion surrounding the millage election, one would assume that big money was at stake. I consider the amount of money that I pay in taxes to be a bargain for all the amenities associated with living in Grosse Pointe.

I believe there is a misconception among voters that we can maintain our fine schools at their current level of quality simply by voting for a renewal of the millage. In fact, because of a projected enrollment increase and because the cost of education increases every year, there is a real need for an increase in the operating millage.

I choose to live in Grosse Pointe for many reasons. The first-rate schools, the parks, the city services and the ever-increasing property values are the main reasons. I see the increased SEV of my home as a sign of a thriving community.

I don't intend to jeopardize the quality of our schools and, indirectly, the value of my property by voting down the millage or the increase.

MADD, sheriff team up to fight drunken boating

By John Minola
Staff Writer

Members Against Drunk Driving and Wayne County Sheriff's Marine Division are teaming up this summer to encourage boat operators not to drink and drive.

While MADD's impact on boating and driving will be through education and awareness, the Sheriff's Department will have an immediate, hard-felt effect by citing boaters for operating a watercraft while under the influence of alcohol.

Sargent Wolf, administrator for the Wayne County chapter of MADD, said the message her organization would like to get out is zero alcohol equals safe boating. MADD's campaign slogan is "Keep It a Safe Summer, or Kiss."

According to MADD, many people who wouldn't consider drinking and driving think nothing of drinking while operating a boat. MADD quotes Coast Guard statistics stating that half of all boating accidents are alcohol-related.

Sheriff Robert Piceno, who is a member of MADD, fully supports the group's efforts and appeared with MADD officials at a press conference recently to kick off MADD's program.

"I think it is a very good program," he said. "It's unfortunate that in some cases we have floating bars out there."

Piceno also points out that not only does a drunk boater risk danger to others on the water but he also is a risk to motorists when he gets into his car to go home at the end of the day.

Piceno said it's ridiculous that people spend thousands of dollars on a boat and then try to operate it while drunk.

Sheriff's Sgt. Jim Robson of Grosse Pointe Park, who has been working with MADD, said drinking and boating is a problem that is increasing. He said that depending on the source of figures, some 30 to 60 percent of all boating accidents are alcohol-related.

Sgt. Larry Schmuckle, who is in charge of the sheriff's Marine Division, said that while he did not have figures on how many people are cited each year for drunken boating, he is able to report that there has been a dramatic increase in the number of cases of operating a boat while under the influence of alcohol.

The Marine Division has six boats patrolling the Detroit River down to Lake Erie and up Lake St. Clair to Eight Mile Road. The Sheriff's Department also patrols Belleville Lake. Schmuckle said two officers have been added to the Marine Division to increase manpower on the water.

During National Safe Boating Week (June 4-10), MADD reminds boaters to put sobriety on their checklist of safe boating practices.

education like they have in the past.

"There's an awful lot at stake," he added.

The candidates

The two incumbents whose seats are up for re-election are bidding, unopposed, for another term.

Carl D. Anderson is an assistant principal at South Lake High School in St. Clair Shores. He is completing his first four-year term.

Also completing her first four-year term is Carol B. Marr, a former teacher who left the workforce to raise her children.

In the last four years the two candidates said the board has moved the district forward, meeting arising needs and staying fiscally healthy.

"I think we've acted fiscally responsible, and done a lot of good things," Anderson said.

He points to recent implementation of the school system's master plan, the reduction of class sizes, the staff development program, the substance abuse programs and the recent French back-to-back program as the board's successes during his tenure on the board.

Marr points to increased attention to staff development and on-site budgeting, in addition to what Anderson discussed, as the board's commitment to moving the school district forward.

"I think we need to continue the commitment to move our schools toward the 21st century," Marr said. "We can't stand still, we have to move forward."

Both candidates praised Whitner for his leadership over the past four years. They say he restored credibility to the board which was under attack by angry taxpayers when the board closed Barnes Elementary School and some members were the target of a recall effort.

First and foremost on the board's mind, the candidates say, for the next four years, is the school finance reform act which is being tested around in the state legislature. The board is keeping a close eye on each development there to see how it will affect school funding in Grosse Pointe.

The Grosse Pointe school district receives 88 percent of its funding from local revenues, and while the candidates sympathize with financially strapped districts, they do not want to see local school taxes put in a pool and distributed throughout the state, as has been proposed in the legislature.

Marr said the district desperately needs a new library. A lot of preliminary work has been done in the past four years, but it still needs to be done before the board can ask for a bond issue for a new facility.

The two candidates are confident about the prospects for the millage renewal, and say they believe the outcome of the previous election was more a backlash against recent increases in assessments, and not against the school board.

"I believe this community values education," Marr said, "and that is proven by the way the people are pulling together to get the millage passed."

If it had been a backlash against the board, they believe some challengers would have stepped forward, but none have.

"I'd like to think it's because they are happy with what we're doing," Anderson said.

Both candidates have children in the Grosse Pointe public schools.

Three booms, such as the one below the Jefferson bridge at Grosse Pointe Woods Lakefront Park, were installed between the Milk River Pump Station and the park last week to prevent more oil from getting into Lake St. Clair. An estimated 200 gallons of oil poured into the Milk River early last week, causing an oil sheen in the harbor and leaving an oily residue on the bottom of boats.

floats, the oil sludge was the first to go over the weir.

At the Jefferson bridge over the Milk River, there are corrugated flood gates that are always open. Officials last week would not speculate if the oil spill could have been contained to the Milk River channel had the flood gates been closed.

"It was the county's call...but we're very pleased with what the county has done," said Evans, who is a Grosse Pointe resident.

Murray, who described the oil spill as "very severe," said the county is investigating to determine who dumped the oil. The investigation will begin with getting a sample of the oil analyzed to determine what it was used for.

Evans said the Coast Guard can "fingerprint" the oil and find out exactly what its use was. Preliminary observation has revealed that the oil emulsion is heavier than motor oil, Evans said.

Some officials speculated that the oil sludge appears to be similar to the residue left over in the process of making asphalt for roads. Due to the amount of the oil sludge dumped, officials believe the perpetrator was a commercial user of the oil.

Officials are also trying to determine where in the Milk River drainage area the oil was originally dumped into the storm drain. Woods Public Works Director Thomas Whitcher checked the Torrey Road pump station and all the catch basins in the city last week and found no trace of the oil, he said.

Murray said residents may have noticed a commercial truck dumping the oil down a street storm drain. He said anyone who may have noticed something or has other information can call his office at 222-3631. People can also call their local police departments, he said.

Pollution in the Milk River and Lakefront Park is not unusual, according to local boaters.

Woods resident George Young, who has kept a boat at the park since 1961, said it is not uncommon to see all types of personal hygienic wastes floating in the harbor after a big rain.

"I'm ashamed to take my grandkids down there," he said.

About a dozen boaters called the Grosse Pointe News last week to find out what had happened, and one resident called to inquire if the smell from the oil is toxic.

John M. Veale, a member of the Milk River Clean Water

Committee, said that while he commends the county's clean-up efforts, the oil spill more urgently points to the need for improving the Milk River Pump Station to prevent all pollutants from getting into the Milk River and Lake St. Clair.

YES on Proposition I, the renewal of 25.35 mills, means:

- Schools will open in September.
- The school system budget will be limited to a 6.3% increase by the Board of Education. This means $1 million in cuts from present programs including the elimination of the elementary gifted program, reductions in substance abuse support, substantial cuts in secondary teaching position, elimination of hockey and nearly one-sixth of all other sports and clubs, increased community education fees, reduction of social work, nurse and computer services, reduction and/or elimination of reading, writing and math support at the middle and high schools.
- No improvements in program.

YES on Proposition II, the 2.2 mill increase, means:

- The school budget will not exceed an 8.5% increase in the first year. Your school taxes will increase less than the new SEVs. This increase is not in addition to your recent assessment.
- One million dollars of proposed cuts will be restored.

Edward J. Hickey III

A funeral mass for Edward J. Hickey III, 67, of Grosse Pointe, was held Saturday, June 3, 1989 at St. Paul's Church in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Edward J. Hickey III

Mr. Hickey died May 31, 1989 in his Grosse Pointe home after a heart attack.

Born in Detroit, he graduated from Grosse Pointe High School and was a 1943 graduate of the University of Notre Dame.

He was chairman of the board for the E.J. Hickey Co., past president of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, trustee of both the Grosse Pointe Public Library and St. John Hospital.

Mr. Hickey was past president of the Grosse Pointe Business men Association, a member of the Country Club of Detroit and he was a World War II naval officer.

His son Brian F. Hickey said, "Everyone remembers him for his big smile. He always made you feel good. He was a man of simple pleasures, a dedicated father and husband. He was dedicated to his church and to the community. He grew up on Lake St. Clair and loved the lake. Everyone liked him for the right reasons."

He is survived by his wife, Ann; daughters, Ellen Waterman, of Middleburg, Va., Bess Hubbard, of Rye, N.Y., and Clare Connon, of Chicago; a son, Brian F.; a sister, Falcon King; a brother Joseph; and nine grandchildren.

Interment was in St. Paul's Columbarium.

Memorial contributions may be made to St. John Hospital, Detroit. Arrangements were made by Verheyden Funeral Home, Grosse Pointe Park.

Dr. Roy E. Craig

Visitation for Dr. Roy E. Craig, 62, of Grosse Pointe Shores, was held Sunday, June 4, 1989 at the A.H. Peters Funeral Home.

Dr. Craig died of cancer Tuesday, June 2 at Henry Ford Hospital. He was born Aug. 31, 1926 in Detroit.

He was a 1955 graduate of Wayne State University Medical School, practicing family medicine in the Grosse Pointe area for 30 years.

Dr. Craig served as chief of family practice at Cottage Hospital, retiring in 1985. He was a member of the Michigan State Medical Society, the American Academy of Family Practice and the Wayne County Medical Society. He also served as a 2nd lieutenant in the infantry during World War II.

He is survived by his wife, Betsy; son, Mark; daughter Cheryl Palfrey; and three grandchildren.

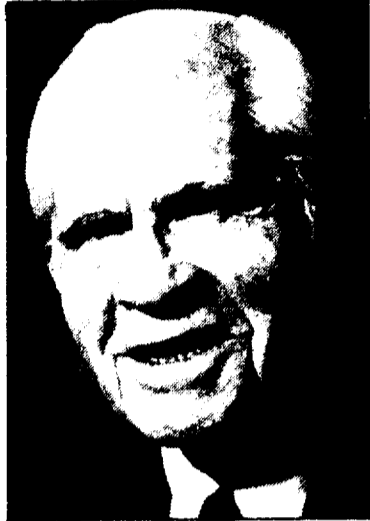

Dr. Craig had a private burial through the funeral home.

Memorial contributions may be made to Cottage Hospital Hospice, 159 Kercheval, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. 48236.

Gerard Raphael Slattery

Funeral services for Gerard Raphael Slattery, 99, of Grosse Pointe Farms, were held Friday, June 2, 1989 at St. Paul Catholic Church. Mr. Slattery died Tuesday, May 30 at Bon Secours Hospital after a brief illness.

Born Oct. 17, 1889 in Crafton, Pa., Mr. Slattery served in the U.S. Naval Reserve during World War I and later graduated from Penn State University where he played first base for the varsity baseball team.

Gerard Raphael Slattery

In 1926 he joined the Aetna Life Insurance Co. in Detroit where he was the group representative for the Chrysler Corp. until his retirement in 1963.

A Michigan senior golfer, he was active in retirement with the Woodworkers Senior Men's Club of Grosse Pointe, the Detroit Athletic Club and the Country Club of Detroit.

Mr. Slattery married Elizabeth Petz Oct. 21, 1931. She died in 1949. In December 1955, he married Margaret Lang Couzens, who survives him along with his daughter, Patricia Slattery Quail, and her husband, Peter Gerard Quail; grandchildren, Mark Gerard Quail, Dominic Peter Quail, Elizabeth Phoebe Quail, Matthew Slattery Quail, Joshua Michael Quail and Sarah Patricia Quail; stepchildren, Frank Couzens Jr., Mrs. Edward C. Roney Jr., James Couzens II, Mary E. Couzens; their children and grandchildren; and his sister, Frances Slattery O'Malley, of Olean, N.Y.

Grandson Matthew S. Quail said Mr. Slattery was known affectionately as "Papa Gerry." "When a family member was explaining his death to one of her children, one of them immediately replied without hesitation, "He was my best friend," grandson Matthew said.

"That really encapsulates the feeling that the entire family had for him," he said. "He was very personable and he enjoyed one-on-one contact with people. He took the time to get to know people. He was very genuine."

Burial was at Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be made to Children's Hospital of Detroit.

John C. Partyka

Funeral services for John C. Partyka, 78, of Grosse Pointe Park, were held Wednesday, June 7, 1989 at the Chas. Verheyden Funeral Home.

Mr. Partyka died June 3 at Bon Secours Hospital. He was born in Johnstown, Pa.

He is survived by daughters, Jane A. Hill and Johanna Wittbracht; a brother, Edmund; and a granddaughter, Tiffany Handschuh. He was predeceased by his wife, Marie.

The body was cremated with interment at Forest Lawn Cemetery, Detroit.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Juvenile Diabetes Association.

Simpson C. Leonard Sr.

A memorial service for Simpson C. Leonard Sr., 91, a long-time resident of Grosse Pointe Farms, will be held at noon, Saturday, June 10, 1989 at Christ Church in Grosse Pointe Farms with the Rev. Edward A.M. Cobden officiating.

Mr. Leonard died May 22 in Calabasas, Calif., where he had lived for the past three years. He was born Aug. 6, 1897 in Niles, Ohio.

A graduate of the University of Michigan School of Mechanical Engineering in 1920, Mr. Leonard was also a member of the Kappa Sigma Fraternity and the Phoenix Club.

He was the former president of the Michigan Leather Products Co. of Detroit as well as president and chairman of Michigan Precision Mold Co. of Walled Lake.

He was a former member of the Country Club of Detroit, the Masonic Lodge, the Grosse Pointe Senior Men's Club and past chairman of the Woodworkers Club. He served on the board of trustees of the Detroit-Macomb Hospital Corp. from 1954 to 1969.

He is survived by a son, Simpson Jr.; a daughter, Caroline Stoker; and two grandchildren.

Philomene E. Shull

A memorial service for journalist Philomene E. Shull, 75, of Grosse Pointe, was held Saturday, June 3, 1989 in the Frank J. Calcaterra Funeral Home, Detroit.

Mrs. Shull died Wednesday, May 31, at Bon Secours Hospital from a heart attack.

She joined the Detroit Times in 1935 and held several posts, including fashion editor, until she left in 1960. She also wrote for the New York World Telegram and Sun until retiring to marry Omar J. Shull in the 1960s.

Survivors include her husband; a sister and a brother.

The body was cremated with the ashes being scattered over Lake St. Clair in accordance with her wishes.

Charles Vernon Cox

Funeral services for Charles Vernon Cox, 84, were held Wednesday, June 7, 1989 at the A.H. Peters Funeral Home. Mr. Cox was a 25-year resident of Grosse Pointe Woods, born Feb. 16, 1905 in Crown Pointe, Ind.

He was co-owner of Wayne Gasket and Rubber Corp. in Mount Clemens for 25 years, retiring in 1977.

Mr. Cox is survived by his wife, Doris; daughters, Judith A., and Linda D. Dugger; brothers, Gene and Robert; granddaughters, Deborah and Michele.

Dorothy L. Duston DeRyck

Private services were held for Dorothy L. Duston DeRyck, 78, of Grosse Pointe Park. She died June 3, 1989 in Grosse Pointe Park.

Mrs. DeRyck was born in Grand Rapids.

She is survived by sons, Raymond C. and Richard E.; a sister, Louise; and five grandchildren. She was predeceased by her husband, Raymond J. DeRyck, a trial attorney.

Arrangements were made by the Chas. Verheyden Funeral Home, Grosse Pointe Park.

Cashier clerk short-changed

A man in his 30s went into the Farmer Jack store on Mack in the Woods last week and bought and paid for a small item. According to police reports, he then handed the cashier nine $5 bills and five singles and asked for five $10 bills. The cashier handed the man five $10 bills. The man then immediately handed the cashier back the five $10 bills and asked for five $20 bills. The cashier counted all the money in front of her and then gave the man the five $20 bills he had requested. Later the cashier discovered she was short $50.

Grand Prix party to aid children

Almost a thousand people are expected to kick off Grand Prix week at the fourth annual Detroiters Start Your Engines party. The party will be held Tuesday, June 13, beginning at 7 p.m. at Taboo. Chairing the party is Edsel B. Ford II. The $35 per person advance ticket price includes hors d'oeuvres, dancing and a drawing for door prizes. Tickets purchased at the door will be $50 per person. This year the prizes include a VCR and a trip to Toronto. Also new this year will be live entertainment by The Sun Messengers. Proceeds from the event support the diagnostic and treatment services provided by The Detroit Institute for Children for disabled youngsters. Tickets are available from The Detroit Institute for Children by calling Ellen Robinson, special events coordinator, at 832-1100.

Calling all boats

The second Grand Prix Regatta will set sail with the Viareggio Pirate characters Friday, June 16, at 7:30 p.m. immediately following the Valvoline Detroit Grand Prix time trials and will run in conjunction with the second Grand Prix Parade.

Eight-foot tall Pirates landed at the U.S. Coast Guard station on Belle Isle and issued a call for sailors with boats of all types to participate. With them are Petty officer Alexander of the U.S. Coast Guard, and Commodore Phil Winteringlan, Grand Prix Regatta.

The regatta will travel from Belle Isle down the Detroit River past the Renaissance Center and Hart Plaza and on to the Ambassador Bridge.

Third Indiana Jones film is entertaining, thrilling

By Marian Trainor
Special Writer

Older movie viewers will remember going to the movies on Saturdays to follow the adventures of their favorite stars in serials that had no endings. The film always came to a stop just as the hero was about to fall over a cliff or the heroine was tied to a railroad track in the path of an oncoming train. A full-length film that not only featured as many as a dozen cliff-hangers, but also followed through on them would have been the ultimate in entertainment to serial fans.

Even today when movie fans have become accustomed to all sorts of spectacular special effects and contrived situations, the serial cliff-hanger, like those in the Indiana Jones movies, spell entertainment. His films have captured all the suspense of those earlier piecemeal chapter-by-chapter adventure episodes.

It's the old made new with the added dash of a hero who infuses his role with humor and an "isn't this fun" attitude.

Contemporary as they are, the pursuit of the prize and the demise of the villain is not frivolous. In each of the trio of the Indiana Jones movies, there is a serious purpose.

In "Raiders of the Lost Ark" (1981), Indiana Jones, an archeologist, leaps vast crevices, evades killer boulders and dodges nasty spirits while seeking the Ark of the Covenant.

In "Temple of Doom" (1984), he travels to India to battle child-enslaving thugs.

In "Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade," the latest offering, Indiana Jones (Harrison Ford), goes in search of the Holy Grail, Jesus' legendary cup of eternal life, at the behest of a rich industrialist (Julian Glover) who mistakenly confuses the spiritual meaning of eternal life with immortality on earth.

When Indy arrives in Venice hoping to join his father, Dr. Henry Jones, (Sean Connery), he discovers his father has disappeared. The elder Jones is being held in a castle by Nazis who believe he has a journal describing the route to the location of the Holy Grail.

No problem. Indy scales castle walls, outwits army guards as he and his father escape in a gondola, ducking gun shots.

marked spiritual overtones. It points out that the Holy Grail's promise of eternal life is a heavenly one as it shows the dreadful end that comes to mortals who pursue it for selfish purposes.

There is a sense of mysticism also, as Indy walks slowly and carefully toward the cavern where the Holy Grail reposes in the care of a monk.

Harrison Ford, three times, Indiana Jones, three times Hans Solo, remains the unchallenged hero of cliff-hangers in "The Last Crusade."

Connery with his twilight twinkle is irresistible as Indy's wise and witty father who keeps pace with him in every scene.

Storyteller George Lucas who dreamed up "Star Wars" and has masterminded the Indiana Jones series, and director Steven Spielberg who directed the trilogy which reaches a thrilling climax in "The Last Crusade," once again display their uncanny talents for making movies that entertain and command attention and applause.

Film

United, the two go on their crusade, a journey fraught with danger, suspense, thrills and panels of plots.

The adventure roller coaster plummets the two through the rat-infested catacombs of a Venetian church, a horse and tank chase and a Jordanian desert encounter.

Pauses in the action are given over to bi-play between Indy and his father. The humor in these segments add to the film's enjoyment. Connery is mischievous and puckish.

With all its humor and adventure, "The Last Crusade" has

'Renegades' is a waste of time

By Michael Chapp
Special Writer

It's violent, it's bloody, it's loud, and there's a whole lotta shootin' going on.

Other than that, there's not much happening in "Renegades," a forgettable film teaming Lou Diamond Phillips and Kiefer Sutherland.

It's a shame, too. Because there's every reason to believe the picture set out to be more than the car-chasing, foul-mouthed shooting match the final product is.

Sutherland plays an undercover cop-with-an-attitude; sort of like a young Dirty Harry. Phillips plays an Indian torn between what he sees as reality and his ancient father's medicine-man rituals.

The two get mixed up with each other when Sutherland's undercover operation goes out of control, and one of the diamond runners he's working with kills Phillips' brother.

The two eventually form an unlikely partnership — a partnership which develops out of their need for — and mutual distrust of — each other. Phillips wants to avenge his brother's death, and he wants to retrieve an ancient lance that belongs to his ancestors. One of the bad guys stole the lance in all of the commotion during the first of many altercations that become the film's cornerstone.

Sutherland, who was investigating cops on the take, needs the expertise Phillips can bring in tracking down hard-to-find guys. Besides, Phillips won't let him out of his sight.

Clearly this film relies on the relationship between the two main characters to take it beyond the cop-action routine.

Clearly, that relationship is never established. When the two men eventually do begin to trust each other, most viewers will probably be wondering why. Neither one of them has much to speak of in the personality de-

Neither Sutherland nor Phillips displays anything in this film that we haven't seen before. Indeed, in last year's Western, "Young Guns," they both competed for screen time with a bunch of other hotshots just like them. Both characters were far more memorable and better developed than the two we follow in this film.

Sutherland needs a change of pace. A romantic comedy might be good for his career now. And Phillips, who has been playing a lot of Indians with chips on their shoulders, needs a similarly light role.

Meanwhile, viewers shouldn't waste their time on "Renegades," since the two actors already did.

Film

Viewers who go for bloody shoot-em-ups will probably find enough going on here to keep them happy. But those who need a little to think about while they're recovering from the last gruesome scene will be quite disappointed.

Fun is all in the Corio family at Trolley's

By Dan Jarvis
Staff Writer

All aboard the trolley bound for the world of Marilyn, Elvis and James Dean. Beware though, passage will be granted only to those 21 and over.

Trolley's is a new dance station located at 17315 Mack, a few blocks east of Cadieux, that offers the fun of the '50s.

Designed and staffed by the Corio family of Grosse Pointe Woods, Trolley's is not the first establishment they've started rolling. In fact, they're old pros at delivering fun while avoiding typical problems with minors and alcohol.

"No one under 21 gets in," said co-owner Peter J. Corio. "We're very strict about that."

"We don't want some of the problems other places in the area have had," said Diana Corio, who together with husband Peter has run several well-known lounges in the area, such as the Bel Casino, the Rusty Nail and Wimpy's.

"We've always been strict and we've never had problems with minors," she said.

Their son, Ross, a graduate of North High School, is set on continuing the Corio tradition. He was instrumental in both the name choice for Trolley's and the eye-catching interior design.

"We came up with the name first, then tied in the trolley cars for a '50s and '60s San Francisco look," he said.

Indeed, when you walk in, the first thing you notice are two mock trolleys in opposite corners. One is the disc jockey's booth; the other, a dance floor, makes it appear as if trolley passengers are dancing all along the route to yesteryear.

The walls pay tribute to classic cars, old sports heroes and entertainment celebrities, like the Beatles and the Honey-mooners.

Some of the specialties offered at Trolley's include contests which test your trivia brain power, PASS TV, birthday celebrations and a limbo contest which queries, how low can you go?

Currently, Trolley's does not offer a food menu, but chips and pretzels are available.

Staffing the DJ booth are spinners Dynamite Dan and WHND's Choo Choo Charley.

Trolley's looks like a good place to pull up your bobby socks and let loose for a carefree evening.

Trolley's is open for fun seven days a week, 8 a.m. until 2 p.m. There is no cover charge. For more information, call Trolley's at 886-5710.

Minnis is assistant editor

Publisher Robert G. Edgar announced that John H. Minnis has been named assistant editor. He has worked at the Grosse Pointe News since September 1988 as a staff writer.

John Minnis

In addition to his duties as police reporter and covering the governments of the City, Shores and Park, Minnis will coordinate special assignments. He will also be more involved in the production of the newspaper.

After graduation from Yale Public High School in Yale in 1973, Minnis worked for the Cross Co. for eight years as a draftsman.

With his wife's support, he decidated to pursue a career in journalism and in 1981, he entered Macomb Community College. He earned an associate of arts degree the following year, graduating summa cum laude.

On a Merit Scholarship awarded by the board of governors, Minnis went to Wayne State University, where he graduated with high distinction in 1985 with a major in journalism and a minor in history.

After graduation, he worked at the Source newspaper in Utica, covering the Sterling Heights City Council, the Utica Community Schools and the Macomb County Board of Commissioners.

He then worked for an Atlanta newspaper group, Neighbor Newspapers Inc., until 1988. The group consisted of 31 newspapers, one of which was a daily, and he began as a staff writer.

He was promoted to news editor within the first month, and three months later, to associate editor. His duties included being managing editor, copy editor and layout editor of two of the Neighbor's weeklies.

In his spare time, Minnis enjoys boating, fishing and traveling. His memberships include the Detroit chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists and the Henry Ford Museum & Greenfield Village.

He and his wife Terry, who is a software applications engineer, live in Roseville. They have been married 12 years.

Smith named feature editor

Margie Reins Smith has been promoted from staff writer to feature editor by Publisher Robert G. Edgar. She replaces Peggy O'Connor Andrzejczyk, who accepted another job.

Smith, who has worked for the Grosse Pointe News since October 1986, has covered Grosse Pointe Park, City, Shores and Woods and the schools.

In her new position, she will be responsible for the Community section, which includes births, engagements, weddings, club news, church news, senior citizens, Pride of the Pointes, and Faces and Places as well as the gardening and cooking columns.

Smith is a lifelong Grosse Pointe resident and she currently lives in the Woods with her three daughters: Stephanie, 22, a senior at Michigan State University; Sandy, 20, a junior at University of Michigan; and Jenny, 13, a Brownell Middle School eighth-grader.

Smith earned a bachelor of arts degree in English in 1962 and a master's in English in 1963, both at University of Michigan. She won a Hopwood Award there for a short story. Smith studied journalism at Wayne State University in 1982 and 1983.

She taught English, history and reading to seventh-, eighth- and ninth-graders in the Livonia public schools from 1963 to 1966.

Smith freelanced for years. Her features, essays and news stories appeared in the Detroit Free Press, Detroit News, Michigan (Detroit News Sunday magazine), American Way (inflight magazine for American Airlines), Florida (Sunday magazine for Orlando Sentinel), the Advisor Newspapers, The Grosse Pointer, Heritage magazine, the Anchor Bay Beacon and other publications.

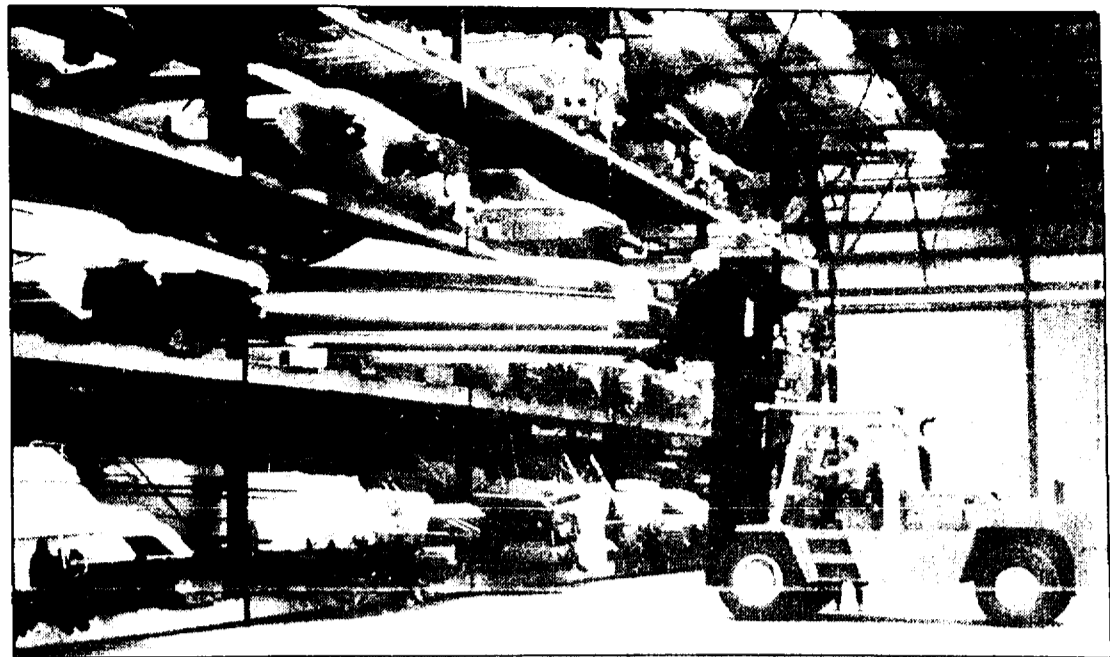

She also wrote a boating column for the Grosse Pointe News before she was hired as a staff writer.

As a volunteer, Smith wrote for the Bulletin, a magazine published by the Junior League of Detroit, and served as publicity chairman for the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, where she wrote

SCS adult ed to graduate 135

About 135 students will graduate from the St. Clair Shores Adult & Community Education's High School Completion Program next week. The youngest graduate is 17 years old and the oldest, 78.

The ceremony will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday, June 15 at Lake Shore High School. For more information about the program, call 296-8384.

Slipping in

The Gregory Boat Co., owned and operated by the Gregory family since the turn of the century, most recently by Scott Gregory of Grosse Pointe Shores, just opened its new rack storage system. The new system will double the capacity of the marina by providing dry land or rack storage for boat owners. The Gregory Boat Company is located at 9666 E. Jefferson.

Jarvis is new staff writer

Publisher R.G. Edgar announced that Daniel McClure Jarvis has been hired as a staff writer for the Grosse Pointe News.

Jarvis has worked as a staff writer and production manager for the Community Crier in Plymouth. Before that he was a staff writer and photographer for the Romeo Observer in Romeo.

Jarvis grew up in Grosse Pointe and attended Pierce Middle School and Grosse Pointe South High School. He earned a bachelor of arts degree in journalism at Wayne State University in April 1987.

While he was at Wayne, he worked for U.S. News and World Report magazine as bureau assistant and he wrote and took photos for the South End, the student newspaper.

He was also a staff writer and photographer for the Center Newsletter at Wayne and programming assistant at the WSU Student Center.

Jarvis belongs to the Society of Professional Journalists.

In his spare time, he enjoys

biking, swimming, music and photography.

Jarvis will cover the cities of Grosse Pointe Farms and Grosse Pointe Woods.

Cleary seeks former grads

Cleary College is seeking information on 1939 and 1964 graduates. A luncheon before commencement on Saturday, June 10, will honor these 25- and 50-year graduates.

Golden Circle or Silver Anniversary certificates will be awarded at commencement by President Harry Howard. A reception will follow the ceremony. Anyone with information on Cleary alumni is asked to call Jane Talcott, director of development, at 483-4400.

Bon Secours mammography accredited

The Bon Secours Hospital mammography unit was recently accredited by the American College of Radiology.

The voluntary accreditation process evaluates all aspects of the mammography service. Criteria must be met on:

- Maintenance and quality of the mammography equipment.
- Quality of the staff technologists' work and mammography training
- Mammography training of the radiologists
- Quality of the films and interpretation of test results.

St. John is all of the above.

What makes a great hospital? On the eastside, it is a facility which has become a designated regional medical center, and a referral hospital for physicians and other hospitals throughout the metropolitan area.

It is an institution of advanced learning for physicians and other health professionals.

And it is an integrated system of health care facilities and services with more than 500 physicians on staff, and more than 40 medical and surgical specialties, working with the latest diagnostic capabilities, and a caring, knowledgeable staff.

In all, one hospital on the eastside has become as much a resource for health care professionals as it has for its neighbors in the community.

Christ Church Men and Boys Choir prepares for Europe

By Margie Reins Smith
 Feature Editor

On a stifling spring afternoon, a musical thread of clear, unison voices soars over a jumble of parked bicycles and hangs over the deserted parking lot behind Christ Church Grosse Pointe. The huge leaded glass windows of the choir room are propped open, encouragement for wayward breezes.

Inside, several dozen pre-teen and teenage boys are engaged in a variety of activities: shuffling, squirming, sweating, chewing gum, mumbling and punching.

And singing. The contrast is striking. On the one hand: clear, sweet high voices sing Psalms in the English Cathedral tradition.

"Let's hear elegant pronunciation of these wonderful words," says Frederic DeHaven, choir-master of the Men and Boys Choir and organist of Christ Church.

The pure sounds bounce back from gothic arches, vaulted ceiling, leaded glass, oak and stone.

On the other hand: "I see a boy chewing gum. Swallow it immediately," says DeHaven. Nearly two dozen ruffled T-shirts advertise popular sports teams, sunglasses, charities, designers, colleges and prep schools. Athletic shoes squeak across oak pews. A box of Milk Duds appears briefly. Between songs, there's an undertone of restless shuffling, a few friendly jabs, even a brief scuffle over the ownership of a sheet of music.

Practice proceeds at a brisk pace, however. The boys are preparing for the Christ Church Men and Boys Choir's three-and-a-half week European trip July 2-16.

DeHaven takes one of Christ

Church's choirs on a working European trip every two years. The Men and Girls Choir went to Scandinavia in 1987. The Men and Boys Choir went to France and England in 1985.

European trips are the highlight of many of these choirboys' careers.

This July, the men and boys will spend eight days in East Germany and will also perform in West Germany and England.

"Our purpose is to share our music and to perform in settings where it was composed," said DeHaven. "Also we want to have a cultural exchange in each country. We want to enjoy our experiences and do some sightseeing. And we want to have an opportunity to live together and work together."

DeHaven has a carefully planned itinerary that includes working (performances), educational pursuits (sightseeing), and fun. Twenty-three boys, 16 men, DeHaven, his assistant, a headmaster, a nurse and several spouses will be with the group.

The boys are divided into four groups, each with a college-age monitor. Most traveling will be by bus, but this year's itinerary includes a trip from Hamburg to England by ship, in the midst of a tall ships' regatta.

The biennial choir trips are financed in part by Christ Church's annual Antiques Show, which took place last Saturday and Sunday, June 3 and 4.

"The antique show was developed five years ago by Wendy Jennings and Susan McMillan," DeHaven said, "as a fundraiser for the choirs' European trips. It's a big event and has become popular among dealers and shoppers and those who enjoy antiques. More than 2,000 people attend.

"The profits are to subsidize the choirs. Some of the money also goes to the mission of Christ Church," he said. Each choir member pays for about one-third of the cost of his European trip.

Weston Norton, 12, has been a choir member for five years and he's looking forward to visiting Germany. "We've been practicing since after Christmas. We've had German lessons on Saturdays from some German exchange students at South." He said the boys have also learned about German customs and manners.

The Men and Boys Choir also provides music for Christ Church's regular Sunday worship services. "We sing every Sunday at 11:15. I like it. I wouldn't quit - even if I could," Weston said.

Boys audition for the choir when they're about eight years old. "I look for bright boys with clear voices and steady nerves. Many are not parishioners," DeHaven said.

"One of the great aspects of this program is the educational experience. They get a music education; discipline in a group; a chance to become leaders. Most important - we believe they become tremendous churchmen and are a vital part of the spirit of this church."

They get paid too.

Weston said he earns about $10 a month for singing. Boys are paid about 25 or 35 cents - depending upon age, leadership and behavior - for each practice and each service they attend. They get a monthly bonus for perfect attendance. They also get paid for singing at weddings and funerals.

Boys practice three times a week. The men, all professional singers, practice once a week. Much of their repertoire was written for men and boys choirs by English composers from the 16th through 18th centuries, but they also sing compositions by Bach, Mozart, Bairstow and Ireland, as well as spirituals and contemporary pieces.

During this summer's tour, they'll perform in several places where Bach lived and worked: at a Bach festival in Arnstadt, East Germany, at St. George's Kirche Eisenach where Bach was born and baptized, and at a concert in the Herderkirche in Weimar, an important post of Bach's. They'll also perform at two of the largest cathedrals in West Germany, the Dom in Cologne and St. Michaeliskirche in Hamburg.

In England, they'll act as choir-in-residence, singing Evensong daily, for four days, at the Lincoln Cathedral. They'll wind up their tour by singing in the chapel of Magdalen College at Oxford University.

"We want to share our culture with other countries and we want to understand other cultures," said DeHaven.

They'll wind up the tour with three days of sightseeing in London.

Although boys will always be fun-loving and careless and, well... boys, DeHaven said he is often complimented on the behavior of his singers.

"Our boys are disciplined, careful, orderly. They're experienced travelers. They have a good time, but they know when to be serious."

Jeff Huebner, 13, said he's been a choir member for five years. "This will be my first trip. I think the trip will be a lot of work but it will be fun."

"We're going to some amusement parks," Weston said. "And cathedrals. We're going to see St. Paul's where Princess Di got married. We're doing something in Westminster Abbey."

"We're going to do lots of sightseeing - like visiting the Hard Rock Cafe in London and getting T-shirts," Jeff said.

Both boys would prefer T-shirts to the required choirboy uniforms. Men and boys in the choir wear liturgical vestments: a cassock (black robe) and surplice (white smock.) The boys also wear a ruff (the traditional pleated collar worn by English choirboys.)

"The ruffs choke. They're uncomfortable," said Jeff.

"They make us look like... flowers," Weston said, with a smirk.

Eric Dietrich and Rocky Bryant (front row) and Neal Nightingale (back), members of the Christ Church Men and Boys Choir, attend three choir rehearsals a week. They practice for their regular Sunday morning portion of Christ Church's worship service. In addition, the choir is going to East and West Germany and England to perform for three and a half weeks in July.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stanley Marlow

Jolin-Marlow

Melissa Ann Jolin, daughter of Sue Jolin of Norfolk, Va. and step-daughter of Jerry Jolin of Mount Clemens, married John Stanley Marlow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald S. Marlow of Grosse Pointe Woods, on April 15, 1989, at a 5:30 p.m. nuptial Mass at Our Lady Star of the Sea Catholic Church.

The Rev. Kenneth M. Chase officiated at the ceremony, which included a papal blessing. The reception was immediately afterward at the Gourmet House in St. Clair Shores.

The bride wore her mother-in-law's gown of antique ivory Chantilly lace over satin with beads and sequins accenting the fitted bodice and Sabrina neckline. The sleeves were Chantilly lace, tapering to a point and edged in ruffled lace. The skirt, more than 500 yards of cascading Chantilly lace ruffles, ended in a cathedral train.

The bride wore a crown of ivory appliques trimmed with sequins and pearls, which supported a cathedral-length veil of illusion lace, edged with Chantilly lace and dotted with satin appliques.

She carried a large crescent bouquet of Casablanca lilies, a dozen white roses, dendrobium orchids, miniature carnations and stephanotis, babies'-breath, ivy, and finished with ivory lace ribbon.

Starli Jolin of Mount Clemens, wife of the bride's step-father, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Michelle Tolver of Detroit; Gail Marlow and Cynthia Marlow, sisters of the groom; Julie Swayse of Kalamazoo; and Nancy Kay of St. Clair Shores. Jerilyn Jolin, step-sister of the bride, served as flowergirl. Attendants' dresses were full-skirted floor-length ruby-colored taffeta gowns with fitted bodices and puffed off-the-shoulder sleeves. Large taffeta and Chantilly lace bows formed bustles accenting the waistline at the back of the dresses. They carried crescent bouquets of rubrum lilies and pink miniature carnations with babies'-breath, greens, and pink satin streamers.

The best man was Michael Marlow, brother of the groom. Groomsmen included Patrick Marlow of Boston, Mass., brother of the groom; Jessie Jolin of Port Hieneme, Calif., brother of the bride; John Joseph Jr. of Grosse Pointe Woods, uncle and godfather of the groom; David Giard of Ann Arbor; and Justin Carlson of Traverse City. Scott Jolin, step-brother of the bride, served as ringbearer.

The mother of the bride wore an ivory-colored street-length fitted dress with long tapered sleeves, V-neckline and a skirt gathered to the side with a large bow. She wore a corsage of white roses, carnations, babies'-breath and strings of seed pearls.

The groom's mother wore a champagne-colored dress of Chantilly lace with a beaded and sequined bodice, dolman sleeves, a skirt narrowing to bands of silver beads, then expanding to a handkerchief tea-length skirt. She wore a wrist corsage of peach-colored roses, white miniature carnations, babies'-breath and strings of seed pearls.

The bride is manager of a State Farm Insurance branch of office in St. Clair Shores.

The groom graduated from Grosse Pointe North High School, attended Northern Michigan University and graduated from Northwestern University. He is employed as an advertising art technician with the Brophy Engraving Co. in Detroit.

Organist was Edward Higbee; trumpeter was Frank DiBlasi; soloists were Enrico LaRicca and Larry Corona; and lector was the groom's father, Ronald Marlow.

Out of state guests included the bride's grandparents from Spring Hill, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kirkby of Palm Beach Gardens, Fla.; Shelly Jolin, the bride's sister, of Portsmouth, Va.; Jerry Keddy, the bride's brother, of Woodstock, Md.; Julie Joseph, the groom's cousin, of Releigh, N.C.; Cecile Lapensee of Oldsmar, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bedinghouse of Giard, Ill.; Susan Crawford of Boston; and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lapensee of Unionville, Ontario, Canada.

The couple honeymooned in Jamaica. They live in Harper Woods.

Robb-Breyer

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Robb of Grosse Pointe Woods announce the wedding of their daughter, Janice Arleen to Thomas P. Breyer, son of Anthony and Eleanor Breyer of Bellair, Ohio. The wedding took place on Friday, May 12, 1989.

Pastor J. Philip Wahl officiated at the 6 p.m. ceremony at St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Engagements

Kimberly Day and James Henkel Jr.

Day-Henkel

Geri and Michael Day of Grosse Pointe Woods announce the engagement of their daughter, Kimberly Day, to James Henkel Jr., son of Barbara and James Henkel of Temperence, Mich. A June wedding is planned.

Day is a graduate of Regina High School and Michigan State University, where she earned a bachelor's degree in clinical laboratory science. She is employed at Henry Ford Hospital as a medical technologist.

Henkel is a graduate of Bedford High School in Temperence and Michigan State University, where he earned a bachelor's degree in physiology.

He is employed at Henry Ford Hospital and will begin an internship in medical technology at Providence Hospital in July.

Dembek-Leinweber

Joan F. Dembek of Detroit and Thomas R. Dembek of Grosse Pointe Woods announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda A. Dembek, to Michael Leinweber, son of Roy and Beverly Leinweber of Grosse Pointe City. An October wedding is planned.

Dembek attended Western Michigan University and Wayne State University, where she is pursuing a liberal arts degree.

She is a customer service representative and paralegal for Record Copy Services in Detroit.

Leinweber has a bachelor of science degree in architecture from the University of Michigan and he is an architectural designer for Design Collaborative in Detroit.

Indian Village home and garden tour is June 10

Seven historic Indian Village homes, seven gardens, two churches and a school will be open for perusal by tour-goers Saturday June 10, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Indian Village, a unique concentration of about 350 homes representing Detroit's social and architectural history from 1895 to 1920, is about half way between Grosse Pointe and downtown Detroit. The three-block area (Seminole, Iroquois and Burns Avenues) is bounded on the south by Jefferson Avenue and on the north by Mack Avenue.

Indian Village has been on the National Register of Historic Places since 1972. Most homeowners are dedicated to restoring and maintaining the historic character of their homes.

The popular annual tour for non-residents began in 1958 and usually attracts several thousand people — more than half of whom have taken the tour in previous years.

Former Grosse Pointer Julie Long offered some insight into the unique appeal of the area.

"The main attraction for me is proximity to work," Long said. She is a pediatric surgeon at Children's Hospital of Detroit. Her husband works at Wayne State University. "We also enjoy our historic home — the high ceilings, large rooms. They don't make houses like this any more."

Long said she went on the Indian Village Home and Garden Tour last year, while looking for a new home. They purchased their 87-year-old house last August.

The land that is Indian Village was originally part of the old French ribbon farms of early French settlers Francois Rivard and Jacques St. Aubin. A race course was once located in the area. Residential development began in the 1890s.

Some of the foremost architects of the late 1800s and early 1900s were responsible for designing homes in Indian Village as well as Grosse Pointe: Albert Kahn, William B. Stratton, Marcus Burrowes, Leonard B. Wilkie, George Mason and Robert O. Derrick.

The homes also feature excellent examples of wood carvings, landscape design and exterior and interior tilework from Detroit's Pewabic Pottery.

In addition to the residential homes and gardens, this year's tour features Iroquois Avenue Christ Lutheran Church, built from 1911 to 1913; Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian Church, designed in 1925 by Wirt Rowland of Smith, Hinchman & Grylls; and the Detroit Waldorf School, designed in 1913 by Albert Kahn as old Liggett School's eastern campus.

On tour day, tickets may be purchased for $9 at Christ Lutheran Church, 2411 Iroquois; Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian Church, 8525 East Jefferson; or the Waldorf School, 2555 Burns.

For another $2 per person, a guide will take small groups on walking tours and will discuss history, architectural styles and former residents of the homes.

Sponsors are The Indian Village Association, the Indian Village Women's Garden Club and Indian Village Men's Garden Club, all non-profit volunteer organizations. Tour proceeds are used to maintain vacant lots, grant scholarships and finance other worthwhile projects.

This year a full-color poster, photographed by former Grosse Pointer Glenn Calvin Moon, will be available for $5. The poster features the picturesque front entranceway of a home designed by Albert Kahn, built in 1905. For the poster, send check or money order payable to the Historic Indian Village Home and Garden Tour, P.O. Box 14616, Detroit 48214.

Liszt and lemonade

... and the charm of a Victorian tea party.

The Fontbonne Auxiliary of St. John Hospital and Medical Center will recapture the charm of the late 1800s on Thursday, June 15 from 1 to 3 p.m. A Victorian Tea will be given for new members of the Auxiliary at the Grosse Pointe Park home of Dr. and Mrs. Jacques Beaudoin. Guests will be served tea, dainty sandwiches and delicate bonbons in a Victorian setting of roses, Newly elected Auxiliary president Patricia Young will introduce her board of directors. Alice Reisig, chairman for the event, will be assisted by Jane Buhl, hostesses; Patricia Ostosh, pourers; Gertrude Young, reservations; Susan Abi-Raji and Diana Levick, refreshments. Also helping will be Pattie Gardella, Joanne Marcil, Mary Nolan, Rose Regner, Jeanne Reichert, Suanne Taylor, Mary Tulloch, Maralyn Domzalski, Mary Gallant and Catherine Andary.

Other committee members are Elly Bundesen, Barbara Robinson, name tags; Marilee Rinke, publicity; Sister Sylvia Dimeck, SSJ, secretary; Dolores Casey, Rita Haller, Lee Ann McCarthy and Patricia Motschall.

Sister Verence McQuade, SSJ, is director of the Fontbonne Auxiliary.

For more information, call the Fontbonne office at 343-3675.

A peek behind the scenes ... General Co-Chairmen and executive committee members for the Detroit Chapter City of Hope's "Spirit of Life" Award dinner recently got a sneak preview of the banquet menu for the event — by Hyatt Regency Chef Domenick Bufone.

They sampled butterfly of Norwegian smoked salmon with quenell of Atlantic turbot; nibbled on a salad consisting of stalks of poached asparagus with roasted pine nuts and quail egg in a pomegranate mustard vinaigrette; taste-tested an entree combo of swordfish and veal loin laced in a cilantro hollandaise.

The piece de resistance, however, was a specially designed dessert, Gateau de City of Hope, which featured white and dark chocolate.

The black tie gala on Friday, June 23, at the Hyatt Regency Hotel, Dearborn, will honor Anthony M. Franco, of Anthony M. Franco, Inc. and will feature entertainment by Academy Award-winning composer Marvin Hamlisch.

Tickets are $150 per person; $100 for a table of 10. Table purchasers will be the guests of City of Hope at a pre-gala reception. For ticket information, call 581-2600.

Junior tennis players are perfecting their serves and backhands for the Sixth Annual Tennis & Crumpets Junior Tennis Tournament. Like its adult counterpart, the junior tournament is a fundraiser for Children's Hospital.

It's Friday, June 16. Play starts at 10 a.m. at several Grosse Pointe parks and clubs. Junior players, age 10 to 18, have a choice of playing singles or doubles. A donation of $15 will include a full day of tennis as well as trophies, prizes, and a barbecue after the matches at Three Mile Park.

Reservation deadline is June 12. Call Laura Blake at 881-6830.

A cocktail party, the annual fundraising event sponsored by the Rehabilitation Institute Auxiliary, is planned for Sunday, June 11, from 5 until 7 p.m. at the home of Rose Marie Mebus.

Guests will be auxiliary members, friends and staff of the Institute.

The Rehabilitation Institute is a member of the Detroit Medical Center, and is the largest non-profit rehab facility in the entire midwest. Money raised at the party will be designated for the Great Lakes Rehabilitation Center for Independent Living, and will be used to help people with severe disabilities to become full, functioning members of society.

Anyone interested in becoming an auxiliary member — or donating to the benefit — call 745-9850.

The Pastor's Corner

Empty Classrooms

The Rev. Edward A. M. Cobden, Jr.
Christ Church Grosse Pointe

Empty classrooms. Not the empty classrooms still ringing with joyous farewells as students skipped or "dug out" to summer vacations. But the empty classrooms of schools closed. Silent. Sad. Symbols of minds untended, becoming lax, undisciplined, unformed. Empty.

These images of empty classrooms came to me as I watched a recent news report of how the Israeli government has padlocked the schools of their Palestinian neighbors. Students from grammar school to university have been forbidden to attend school for nearly two years. The sadness, the human and cultural waste of this is appalling.

These thoughts and feelings led me to reflect on the school millage vote we will have June 12. It is to take the matter to the extreme to even consider that we would allow the schools in Grosse Pointe to be so underfunded that they would be closed or even that they would be allowed to become inferior. But thoughts of these extremes provoke us to appreciate the critical worth of our schools. We must not take education for granted.

This is especially true for those whose faith is informed by the Bible. Here are three reasons.

- We are to love God with all our minds (Deuteronomy 6:5 and Mark 12:30). Since God is ultimate good and truth, we are to form our minds to be able to discern him and his purpose. Though schools do not teach about God directly, they do teach that which is good and true.
- God has made us in his image with memory, reason, and skill, and he has given us the responsibility to manage creation as his stewards (Genesis 1:26). This is a lofty image of human worth and responsibility. In large measure we have entrusted our schools with the task of helping us equip our children with sound, alert and well-informed memories, intellects, and skills. We have also shared with our schools the responsibility to help our youth see themselves as caring citizens of our nation, world, and natural environment.
- Finally this word of scripture applies to us, especially in Grosse Pointe: "Every one to whom much is given will much be required" (Luke 12:48). For the biblically grounded, the motivation for excellence is not elitist. It is the recognition that God has given us much, not for self-satisfaction, but for sharing - sacrificially. We want our schools to be superb so they can equip or youth to better meet the economic, political, social, physical, and spiritual needs of our world.

Consider these biblical views of the worth of education as you decide how you will vote June 12.

St. Philip Neri parish to be welcomed July 2

St. Ambrose merges with Detroit church

By Peggy O'Connor Andrzejczyk
Special Writer

Last Sunday, members of St. Philip Neri Catholic Church in Detroit visited the parish which is soon to become their own: Grosse Pointe Park's St. Ambrose Church.

And on July 2, a special service of transfer and welcome will be conducted, completing St. Ambrose's merger with two of 30 Detroit churches ordered by the Archdiocese of Detroit to close by June 30.

For St. Philip, it marks the end of 62 years of worship in a twin-spired stone church on Dickerson on Detroit's east side. It is an end that does not come without a struggle for the parish, which serves an area characterized as one of the most destitute in the city.

In recent years, church membership dwindled to 150 families, for which 15 baptisms, six weddings, 30 funerals and three conversions were performed. But the church community also filled the basic, human needs of a poor community, according to its pastor, the Rev. Don Walker.

He told the Detroit Free Press last year that the parish existed for the hungry and needy, for those who cannot afford food or transportation to the doctor, for those who cannot afford to pay bills.

St. Philip Neri was in a much different set of circumstances than the other church which merged with St. Ambrose, St. Martin of Tours. (St. Martin formally merged on April 9; the church buildings have been mothballed for future use in the hope that an expected population increase may dictate reopening the church.)

It has taken the St. Philip parishioners a while to come around to the idea of merging, said St. Ambrose pastor the Rev. Timothy Pelc.

"But I think they are starting to see some options - some good things about their future with us - at the moment," Pelc said. "It seems like they are beginning to think it's OK to think about moving now."

One reason for that trend toward accepting the merger, Pelc said, is that the parishioners now have some assurance that the social services and food and outreach programs which the parish provided to more than 2,000 area residents, will continue, even if the parish is closed.

tion, in that neighborhood."

In the meantime, a van service has been scheduled to transport St. Philip parishioners - who reportedly have decided to remain together and move to St. Ambrose in one "faith family".

Kate Chiodo, chairperson of the St. Ambrose hospitality committee, and other parishioners are preparing for the expected new parishioners.

"They visited us two weeks ago on a Sunday and we're preparing for the official welcoming Mass July 2," Chiodo said. "We want to welcome them as warmly as possible. We know this is difficult for them to see their church close and we want to make sure they know they are so, so welcome here."

Both Chiodo and Pelc pointed to a renewed atmosphere at St. Ambrose since the merger with St. Martin and said they expect to enjoy a similar experience with St. Philip's parishioners.

"At the service two weeks ago, Rev. Walker and Father Tim concelebrated the Mass and Father Walker asked the parishioners if they were ready and willing to work with the people of St. Martin's and St. Ambrose," Chiodo explained.

"It was very positive. The parishioners made a verbal commitment to make this work."

The first step toward that end, Pelc said, was last Sunday's service in which St. Philip's parishioners met at St. Ambrose and brought their cross and other artifacts to be installed at St. Ambrose.

"And we've made banners (designed by Catherine Guinn and constructed by Yvonne Smith and Chiodo) which incorporate the logos and colors of all three churches," Chiodo said.

"The Lord is the Lord of us all. And this church is for all of us to use to worship the Lord."

Jehovah's Witnesses to hold district convention June 16-18

The 1989 "Godly Devotion" district convention of Jehovah's Witnesses will be held at the Pontiac Silverdome June 16-18.

The district includes the lower peninsula of Michigan and portions of Ohio and Indiana and is expected to attract an average of 45,000 persons on each of the three days.

Christian Scientists gather in Boston

Unlike most religious denominations, when Christian Scientists gathered in Boston June 5 for their 94th Annual Meeting, it was not within a set structure of church delegates, committees and deliberations.

For The First Church of Christ, Scientist, the meeting represents a coming together of church members from around the world with a singleness of purpose - to rededicate themselves to Christian healing.

With no ordained clergy and members involved in all aspects of the denomination, Christian Scientists view their church as far more than a building, a form of worship, a body of doctrine or even a group of like-minded people. It is a spiritual force felt in the heart of each member and shared with the world.

The Christian Science Church features a strongly democratic form of government in its nearly 3,000 branch churches worldwide and a central authority represented by The Mother Church, headquartered in Boston, and governed by the Manual of The Mother Church administered by a five-member board of directors. Most Christian Scientists hold dual membership, actively participating in a branch church as well as supporting the worldwide mission of The Mother Church.

Much of the two-hour annual meeting consisted of a series of interviews with church officials conducted by new Mother Church President, David E. Sleeper, of Dallas. He brings to the one-year appointment many years of service to the denomination, including its ministry of Christian healing.

Highlights of the meeting included:

- Recognition that the basis of world problems can largely be attributed to spiritual literacy, and that to counteract this spiritual void, an understanding of God and the life and teachings of Christ Jesus is required.

• Discussion of Mary Baker Eddy, the founder of Christian Science, and the role her church plays in today's world.

• Consideration by members of the enormous public stirring over the question of Christian healing, and what this means in the face of current legal challenges.

• A look at why spiritual healing by members is so vital and how it touches the world.

• Testimonies of healings, of branch churches interacting with their communities, and of Christian Science reaching hungry hearts throughout the world.

• Reports of continuing interest and activity in church-sponsored regional meetings for young people worldwide.

• Mention that the daily Bible Lesson, which is studied by members and read by lay readers in Christian Science churches around the world, is now on television, carried in Boston by 14 cable systems.

• Completion of an extensive computerized concordance of the Bible as well as religious works on Christian Science.

• Report of increased public demand for Science and Health as a result of interest created by the church's worldwide shortwave programs.

• A strengthening of the newly-designed newspaper The Christian Science Monitor and its associated activities as reflected in increased Monitor radio programming on public radio; the notable impact of World Monitor, a new half-hour television evening news program; and the enthusiastic response to World Monitor Magazine which now reaches 290,000 subscribers.

• Completion of the church's worldwide shortwave system with the recent addition of the new transmitting facility in South Carolina.

• Increase in member contributions to The Mother Church in support of these activities.

Senior men honor scholars

For the third year, the Grosse Pointe Senior Men's Club has honored 10 students each from Grosse Pointe North and South High Schools for their outstanding scholarship.

At a May 23 luncheon each student received a plaque from the Senior Men's Club and a book from The Detroit News, "Stewards of the State," by George Weeks.

Kim Guzek: semi-finalist for Miss Grand Prix

Kim Guzek of Grosse Pointe Woods has been selected as a semi-finalist in the eighth annual Metro 25 Miss Grand Prix Pageant, to be held Wednesday, June 14, 1989, 7:30 p.m., at the Premier Star in Sterling Heights.

Ms. Guzek, 26, a flight attendant, will compete for the crown against approximately 100 other young women from across the state. Last year's winner, Lauren Campbell of Detroit, will crown her successor around 10:15 p.m.

"Metro 25's Miss Grand Prix Pageant offers contestants an excellent opportunity to enhance self-confidence, demonstrate beauty and poise, win valuable prizes, and open career opportunities in modeling," said Annalisa Sokol, executive director of the pageant. "Many young ladies who have participated have gone on to appear in advertisements in national magazines, newspapers and on television," she said.

Radio celebrities Dick Purtan of WCZY-295 and Sheri Donovan of WLLZ will emcee the pageant for the second year. A panel of celebrity judges will select the winner and runners-up based on poise, personality, and appearance during swimsuit and evening gown competitions and personal interviews.

The Pageant is sponsored by Metro 25 Car Care Centers.

Admission to the pageant is $18 in advance; $22 at the door. Tickets are available at the Premier Star box office and all Ticket Master outlets.

Country fair matches kids, seniors

Belmont SeniorCare participants and the learning disabled students from Queen of Peace grade school have been meeting on a weekly basis for nine weeks. Three 9-week terms have been held so that all the children and seniors from each program could be involved.

The sessions utilized a country fair theme and consisted of a 45-minute music therapy session and a 45-minute "Country Fair Revelation." The sessions were designed to promote learning, interaction and creativity.

The grand finale to the program was the "Country Fair" on May 24, held at Belmont Senior Care Center, 19840 Harper Ave., Harper Woods.

At the fair, Belmont SeniorCare participants, Our Lady Queen of Peace school children and Cottage-Belmont Nursing Home residents enjoyed games, prizes, special events such as ongoing musical activities, butter-making, face painting and refreshments. Projects completed during the learning sessions were on display. There was also a display on apples, quilting, honeybees and farm animals.

Ford House offers tours of gardens, grounds

The Edsel & Eleanor Ford House now provides guided tours of the gardens and grounds to groups by pre-arrangement.

The estate, over 80 acres in size, was designed more than 60 years ago by the noted Danish-American landscape architect, Jens Jensen, who was known as a master of the naturalistic approach to landscaping. The gardens have been carefully maintained and are one of the sole surviving examples of Jensen's designs for large estates.

Jensen used trees and plants indigenous to the Midwest, and skillfully blended many different elements to appeal to the senses — a variety of colors and shapes, the sound of running water, the smell of flowers in bloom, the taste of berries, the feeling of being surrounded by nature — into a magnificent, unified garden design.

The hour-long guided tour will include the perennial Flower Lane; the Rose Garden, which is planted in the English broken wagon wheel design, was a special request of Mrs. Ford's; the Recreation House, the Playhouse, the Lagoon, the New Garden and the Maple Lane.

Group tours may be scheduled by calling 884-4222. The cost is $3 per person, and a minimum of three weeks advance reservations are required.

The Edsel & Eleanor Ford House was built between 1926 and 1929 for the family of art lovers Edsel and Eleanor Ford. The house was designed by architect Albert Kahn and itself contains many works by master artists. The Ford House is located at 1100 Lakeshore Road on Lake St. Clair, and was left by Eleanor Clay Ford upon her death in 1976 to be used for the benefit of the public.

Volunteer for 'Eyes on Classics'

Volunteers are needed for a number of assignments for this summer's "Eyes on the Classics," the world's only automotive design show. The 1989 Eyes on the Classics, "A Celebration of Automotive Design: Past, Present and Future," is scheduled for Sunday, July 9, on the grounds of the Grosse Pointe Academy.

The event benefits the Detroit Institute of Ophthalmology, a not-for-profit organization dedicated to preservation of vision through ophthalmic education, research and support for the visually impaired. Serving with Heinz Prechter as honorary chairmen for the event are the vice presidents of design for General Motors, Ford and Chrysler: Charles M. Jordan, John J. Telnack Jr. and Thomas C. Gale, respectively.

Volunteers are needed to sell advance tickets and tickets at the gate on July 9, to help with hospitality, to make phone calls to prospective sponsors of the event and answer the Eyes on the Classics information line, and to assist with transportation and other needs. Volunteers receive recognition in the printed program and two tickets to the event, among other amenities.

To volunteer your time and talent, or for more information contact: 1989 Eyes on the Classics, c/o the DIO, 15415 E. Jefferson, Grosse Pointe Park, Mich. 48230, 824-5554.

Small talk workshop

Whether it's a business sale, a family gathering, a personal relationship, or a cocktail party, every contact begins with small talk.

Those first few words are strong impressions for all that follows, and the Oakland University Continuum Center will offer an evening workshop of communications skills for making a casual chat into a significant plus.

"How To Make Small Talk In A Big Way" explores simple secrets to unlocking the artful use of this overlooked tool for success. Communications specialists Mary Lou Stone and Kathy Birch will present comprehensive techniques for tackling even the toughest starts. Included will be ideas for converting first encounters into lasting associations and tips for entering into group conversations.

They will explore the non-verbal messages of body language and methods for evaluating groups of interest. The workshop is a tried-and-true confidence-builder for anyone who's entered a room with nothing more than a glass and a shaky smile. The session includes small group interaction to personalize information.

The program will be offered on the campus of Oakland University Tuesday, June 20, from 7 to 10 p.m. Fee is $30; MasterCard/Visa accepted. For information or to register, call 370-3033.

The Continuum Center is part of the Oakland University School of Human and Educational Services and specializes in programs of personal enrichment and professional development.

Historical Society awarded $100,000 Kresge Foundation Challenge Grant

A $100,000 challenge grant has been awarded to the Detroit Historical Society by The Kresge Foundation toward the creation of a new national toy gallery and history education center at the Detroit Historical Museum.

Announcement of The Kresge Foundation grant and plans for the new toy gallery and education center was made jointly by Detroit Historical Society (DHS) Executive Director Michael W.R. Davis and Detroit Historical Department (DHD) Director Barry Dressel. Both the new gallery and center will be located on the ground floor of the museum and are scheduled to open in early 1990. John Hilberry & Associates Inc. are the architects.

The new gallery will house exhibitions selected from among the more than 10,000 toys in the combined holdings of the world-famous Lawrence Scripps Wilkinson Collection and the DHD's own collection, including the popular "Glancy Trains."

It will be named Wrigley Hall, The Detroit Antique Toy Museum Gallery in honor of Mr. and Mrs. R. Alexander Wrigley of Grosse Pointe Farms. The Wrigleys made a lead contribution to the gallery making its implementation possible. Barbara Wrigley is president of the Detroit Historical Commission appointed by Mayor Coleman A. Young; Alexander Wrigley is a trustee of the private Detroit Historical Society.

Adjacent to Wrigley Hall will be the history education center which will include a new 150-seat auditorium, and renovated classrooms.

The $600,000 toy gallery and education center project represents the second phase of the Detroit Historical Society's fundraising efforts on behalf of the DHD's five year enhancement plan adopted in January, 1987. The first phase of the fundraising efforts was completed when the Booth-Wilkinson Costume Gallery and the Fashion Group of Detroit, Inc., Tavy Stone Fashion Library opened in November 1987.

"We are most grateful to The Kresge Foundation for the $100,000 challenge grant," Davis said. "However, it is a challenge grant, which means that payment of the grant will be made contingent on the Historical Society raising, by Jan. 1, 1990, approximately $275,000 currently required to complete funding of the project."

To raise the balance, the DHS has embarked on an aggressive fundraising campaign to solicit gifts from local foundations, corporations with interests in toy manufacturing, distribution, or retailing, and private individuals.

"We are already indebted to the Wrigleys and the Warren and Lawrence Scripps Wilkinson families of Grosse Pointe for initial challenge pledges, and the Glancy family for their continued support of the DHD's model train collection," Davis said.

Public participation in the fundraising project is also being solicited. "For those who wish to secure permanent memorial, we will be 'selling' seats in the new auditorium with appropriate plaques for $250 each on a first-come, first-serve basis," Davis explained. "We also encourage public donations in any amount."

"Children, young and old, can also donate to the project by contributing to our Punch and Judy bank, on the ground floor of the museum in the space where Wrigley Hall and the new education center will be located," Barry Dressel added.

Retirement doesn't necessarily mean the end of dreams, plans

By Marian Trainor
Special Writer

People of all ages have dreams and hopes and aspirations. Little boys dream of growing up to be baseball, hockey or football players. Little girls once dreamed of growing up to be like their mothers; of having a husband, a home and children. Today that dream has been altered to include achieving in the professions.

Sometimes the dream changes as we travel down life's winding paths. After all they were just daydreams, pleasant to contemplate, but not at all suited to the talents and interests that come with maturity. The lucky ones achieve those altered aims and regret the time, when all battles won, they reach retirement age.

Many would like to go on working on their own at their chosen professions. Others would like to try something new. Both groups are too-often deterred by that fear which society has subtly implanted in their minds — the fear of being too old.

Yet all around we hear of older people achieving in their later years goals that eluded them in their younger days.

Age didn't keep President Ronald Reagan from running for a second term.

For most, the dream of becoming president vanished along with other childhood fantasies.

Perhaps it was a long-time yen to paint, to create beautiful scenery, memorable faces, impressive groupings on canvas.

At 60, acclaim had just come to George Wexler. He began his artistic career as an abstract expressionist. Dissatisfied with his work, he began working from nature. Collectors shunned his work but this didn't deter him from painting what he believed was right for him. Now he is recognized for the great artist he is.

Also worth noting is the opera singer Kay Fitzpatrick. She has sung leading roles with the West German State Opera in Wiesbaden and the Houston Grand Opera Company in Texas. She has played in Broadway musicals, sung in concerts, played on television and radio.

In retirement she turned to an entirely different field. She helped to establish a hospice for people terminally ill of cancer in Jackson. She recruited and trained corps of volunteers who went into cancer patient's homes to help them with their medications and talk to them.

A one-volume biography of Thomas Jefferson was termed "masterly" by the New York Times. What makes this even more exceptional is that the author, Professor Thomas Malone, is 90 years old and almost blind.

Another author, James Michener, who is nearing 80, rises at 7:30 a.m. and works until 12:30 p.m. Michener was 40 years old before he began his writing career. His story is almost as fascinating as his books. He was abandoned on the doorstep of a widow, Mabel Michener, who took him in and gave him his name. He lived in poverty, but learned to love literature from hearing Mabel read aloud from Dickens. He became fascinated by travel from reading an issue of National Geographic.

While he was in the U.S. Navy and assigned to the south Pacific, he wrote "Tales of South Pacific." It won the Pulitzer Prize in 1947 and was transformed into a Broadway musical by Rodgers and Hammerstein.

Michener has said he will never retire. He adds that he has 28 or 29 more ideas for books.

A television show that has

Bea Arthur, who is over 60, plays a gruff schoolteacher named Dorothy. Betty White plays Rose who is slow on the uptake — she never gets the point. Rue McClanahan is cast as the widow Blanche, a man-crazy Southern Belle.

The oldest member of the cast is Dorothy's 80-year-old mother played by Estelle Getty. She is over 65. She speaks her mind in no uncertain terms and adds a great deal of humor to the situations.

She remarks to Rose as she delivers one of her drawn-out recitations, "Get on with it, I'm 80 years old. I won't live to hear the end."

The four women share a house and problems. In the process they provide a lot of laughs. In one segment the focus was on Blanche's meeting with what appeared to be an outstanding marital prospect. When she announces her engagement and plans for marriage, the group is upset, not only because she is acting impulsively, but also because they don't want to break up the group. The problem is solved in an unexpected turn of events but not without subtly pointing out the loneliness and vulnerability of being a widow.

The same point is brought up again in another episode when Betty White makes a statement about the injustice of being a woman alone. "We spend our lives on our family," she laments. "It's not fair that we're left alone."

These are existing problems but they surface on waves of humor, making the show attractive not only to older viewers but to a general audience. Then there's George Burns who says he can't die because he has a show to do.

Looking at these examples of people who have persisted in their chosen careers into their later years provides an example and incentive for those who don't look upon retirement as a blessing.

Those who want to retire from a job that has provided a living but not much in the way of personal satisfaction and who would like to try something they have always dreamed of doing, can look to these winners for confidence and belief that success can come at any age if one has the faith and the courage and energy.

Course focuses on caregivers

If you have an aging parent and are feeling guilty, over-burdened and tired, you might want to attend "Caring For The Caregiver," a program sponsored by Adult Well-Being Services and funded through Target Stores, "Project Family."

The six two-hour sessions run Thursdays, through June 29, from 10 a.m. to noon at Holy Cross Hospital, 4777 E. Outer Drive, Detroit.

There is no charge, although pre-registration is required and can be done by calling Audrey Wasserman Chase, 961-5055 or Holy Cross Hospital, Social Services, 369-9100.

Many adult children are experiencing stress and are overwhelmed by their parents growing emotional and physical needs. This emotional strain impacts on the total family as well as at the workplace. Target Stores supports this project as a way of strengthening families.

Some additional topics include information about aging, community resources and alternate living situations.

G.P. Questers

Grosse Pointe Questers Chapter No. 147 recently donated $500 to the Grosse Pointe Historical Society for restoration of the Provencal-Weir House, believed to be the oldest French farmhouse in Grosse Pointe.

The Bon Secours Assistance League will sponsor its 36th annual Grosse Pointe Celebrity Series in the fall. This year's series features six nationally known figures. The program is as follows:

Oct. 12: William Novak, co-author of "Iacocca," the most successful book in publishing history. Novak goes behind the scenes of the creation of a best-seller. As ghostwriter for the stars, Novak has produced best-sellers on Lee Iacocca, The Mayflower Madam and Tip O'Neill. He is currently working with former First Lady Nancy Reagan on her memoirs.

Whether he's discussing the writing of "Iacocca," or any of his other hits, Novak's insights are sharp and entertaining. Aside from his recent best-seller, Novak is also the author of "High Culture: Marijuana in the Lives of Americans," "The Great American Man Shortage and Other Roadblocks to Romance" and "The Big Book of Jewish Humor."

Nov. 9: Candice Earley and John Gabriel, Actor/singers Candice Earley and John Gabriel will join forces with pianist Elliot Finkel to present a variety of song hits.

As a youngster, Candice Ear-ley studied classical voice and cultivated a strong desire to become a stage performer. She landed her first leading role in the musical "Hair" in San Francisco and later appeared in the Broadway production. She also starred in "Jesus Christ Superstar" and "Grease" on Broadway. Recently, Earley has been known as "Donna" in ABC's "All My Children."

John Gabriel has been involved in many projects including daytime television, films, his own syndicated radio and TV series, cabaret and concert appearances, plus hundreds of commercials.

Currently, Gabriel is best known for his work on daytime soap operas. He spent 10 years on ABC's "Ryan's Hope" as Dr. Seneca Beaulac for which he received an Emmy nomination.

and more recently has starred as Zack Conway on ABC's "Loving." He has also appeared in Broadway productions, including "The Happy Time" and "Applause." Gabriel's latest project is a television sitcom venture with his wife, Sandy.

As a pianist, Finkel has performed at Carnegie Hall, London's Palladium Theatre, the Los Angeles Music Center, and the legendary Hollywood Bowl. He has appeared with such orchestras as the Los Angeles, Minnesota, Baltimore, Dallas and Buffalo symphonies. In addition he has given more than 200 recitals in concert halls across the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Feb. 8, 1990: Susan Granger, a Hollywood critic for more than a dozen years, Granger is an insider who has developed her own distinctive voice. She has been around Hollywood all her life. Her childhood was spent in Hollywood's movie colony and her natural father was in charge of production at Columbia Pictures, while her adoptive father was a producer at Metro Goldwyn Mayer.

Currently, she is the on-air entertainment critic for WICC in Connecticut, and WMCA, New York.

March 8, 1990: David and Julie Eisenhower — with two acclaimed books, "Eisenhower: At War," and "Pat Nixon: The Untold Story," now speak to audiences across the country about their famous families. Together, they provide a unique look into two of America's most prominent and powerful families.

David and Julie Nixon Eisenhower

Eisenhower, grandson of President Dwight D. Eisenhower, provides an interesting perspective on his grandfather in the bestselling book, "Eisenhower: At War." Julie Nixon Eisenhower provides an in-depth look at her mother and life in public life.

The lectures will be held at the Parcels Middle School Auditorium, Mack at Vernier, in Grosse Pointe Woods. The lectures begin at 11 a.m.

Tickets for the series will be sold on a first come, first served basis. All proceeds benefit Bon Secours Hospital. Tickets are $35 per person and will be mailed in September.

For tickets or more information, call 886-5031.

Thirty years ago, Win Malchie's busy calendar confirmed her immense popularity with the elite players of that day. Her brother, Bud Smith, who many fondly remember, was one of the stars of the game and the Masters of that time would solicit his support in arranging playing dates with his sister.

I remember arriving at their Grosse Pointe home one afternoon to learn that the Great Master, Oswald Jacoby, had just called Win for a game on his forthcoming visit to Detroit for the Great Lakes Regionals.

Win's charm and grace were only exceeded by her skill at the table. Truly, she was one of Michigan's fine players and if she had chosen the hectic tournament circuit as her avocation, we would still be reading about her now. Today she teaches and plays in Grosse Pointe and a playing date is difficult to come by. I have found, though, that if you offer her an invitation she can't refuse, you may succeed. Fortunately for me, that very pleasant moment came to pass a few weeks back at Joyce Krouts Saturday afternoon game in Southfield. While my game didn't match the occasion, Win played as well as I've ever seen her perform.

One of the most stressful perplexities of bridge is to properly evaluate your hand and then accurately describe it to your partner in a series of bids. Winnie's judgement in this regard is still flawless.

Here is a hand from that game that resulted in a shared top for us. West led the Spade deuce.

Of the thirteen tables in our section, nine North/Souths were in a partial playing No Trump or Clubs. Two were in 5 Clubs and table seven shared a Club Slam top with us.

Our result wasn't by accident. Win, sitting North, recognized the tremendous power of her seven-card Club suit plus three key cards opposite my No-Trump opening. We had agreed to play Jacoby four-suit transfers so two Spades by North was that. Yours truly obliged by transferring to three Clubs and all control calls after that confirmed our intent upon trying to reach a Club Slam. Note that if South had bid three no-trump (instead of three Spades) on his third call, he would have been showing disinterest in going further.

For those who say we were lucky not to get the three missing Club honors in one hand, you're right. We were lucky, but that only happens 22% of the time and that's pretty favorable odds.

Alzheimer's Association sponsors support groups

There are two family support groups in the Grosse Pointe area sponsored by the Alzheimer's Association. These support groups, which are for caregivers, family members, and friends of individuals afflicted by Alzheimer's disease, offer educational support programs.

The Grosse Pointe Woods support group meets the second Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, 19950 Mack. The next meeting will be June 13. For more information, call Elmer Stanke, 268-1044.

The Grosse Pointe Farms support group meets the second Monday of each month at 12:30 p.m. at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 375 Lothrop. The next meeting will be June 12. For more information, call Lorraine Kall, 527-5216.

Grosse Pointe Newcomers Club

The Grosse Pointe Newcomers Club's seventh annual cruise will star "The Pirates of the Pointe!"

At 7:45 p.m., Saturday, June 10, the captive audience will be asked to walk the plank aboard the HMS Duc D'Orleans, for a four-hour cruise on the Detroit River and Lake St. Clair. Passengers will enjoy a cargo of food and drink and lively music.

The merry pirates and wenches mapping out this voyage to Treasure Island are Michael and Trisha Nelson, Doug and Mary Frey, Jere and Julie Kreig, Bryan and Kim Lane, Ken and Sandy MacKenzie, Ralph and Vicki Steinbrink and Bart and Pam Stone.

Couples new to the Grosse Pointes within the past two years who would like more information about the Grosse Pointe Newcomers Club should call Dick and Terri McClelland at 885-3574.

Grand Marias

Questers

Grand Marias Questers are having their annual meeting and luncheon on Friday, June 9 at 9:30 a.m.

Hostess will be Gerry Dice of Grosse Pointe Farms.

'Stand by Me' focuses on Alzheimer's

"Stand by Me" is a program presented by the Alzheimer's Association at Saratoga Community Hospital on Wednesday, June 14, 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. The event is co-sponsored by Saratoga's ElderMed America senior membership program.

Participants can find out about Alzheimer's Disease and how families cope. The program is designed to increase awareness, calm fears and increase understanding about an illness which affects more than 3 million Americans.

The fee for the program is $3.50 for ElderMed members and $4.50 for the general public. Lunch is included. Call 245-1230 for reservations for "Stand by Me" or to find out more about the ElderMed program.

Saratoga Community Hospital is located at 15000 Gratiot Ave. between State Fair and Eight Mile roads.

Activists honored

Catherine Elevelin of East Detroit and Susan Boynton of Grosse Pointe Woods have been selected by the 14th Congressional District as the honored Senior Citizen and Precinct Delegate for the Michigan Democratic Party's annual Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner.

Now Renting: A landmark address.

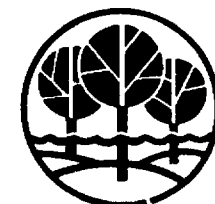

Since its completion, the elegant Shore Club Apartment Tower has been a landmark for ships and boats cruising Lake St. Clair. But it's also been a landmark in luxury living.

You can choose from highrise, garden apartment or townhouse lifestyles. All provide the same convenient, luxurious environment.

Shore Club is situated in a park-like atmosphere. Here we combine the peacefulness of the lake with stately old shade trees. Our community-by-the-lake is conveniently located near major expressways and surface routes, leading to most every part of the Metropolitan area. As well as close to Grosse Pointe Shopping districts.

What's more, because Shore Club is on the water, renters have first priority on our available boat wells.

We're now renting apartments. So come and see why Shore Club is the most prestigious address on the waterway. We're sure you'll find everything about it is of landmark quality.

NO BALLGAME TODAY, GEORGE

If you've ever tried to sell your own home, I'm sure it didn't take long to discover that it's a full-time job. "Sorry, George, but you can't go to the ballgame today, we have to show the house at 2 p.m." A familiar tune?

If you sell your home the professional way, through Adlhoch & Associates Relators, you'll not only get the best price for it, but won't have to be a slave to it. Turn the keys over to me, George and go to the ballgame. No longer will you have to stay home all weekend. You won't be missing a beat. In fact, most experienced agents prefer NOT to have the owner about when they bring prospects by. Prospects feel freer to discuss the house when you aren't around.

The very fact that it's you who may be showing them around your home will inhibit prospects. They may not feel comfortable making a thorough inspection as they would with us. As a result, Mrs. Prospect might overlook the very feature she wants that could close the sale. Making sure nothing is overlooked is our job.

HAVE A PLEASANT TRY AT PERFECTION BRIDGE BY WOODY BOYD THE PASTEBOARD PASTIME

Who remembers their first successful finesse? Heaven forbid that anyone should because it's a play that is over used and often abused. Without a bidding clue, the finesse is, at best, a fifty percent proposition. Some experts feel the percentage is more favorable, but the fact remains that mathematically, a given card you're contriving to win, can be in either defender's hand half the time. It stands to reason that there are often better playing opportunities than an even chance. So there are and that is what this Sunday's scripture is all about.

The expert bridge player is well versed in the table of probability and you should be too.

Declarer and Dummy Hold	Outcards	Break	%
6 cards in a suit	7	4 - 3	62
		6 - 1	7
7 cards in a suit	6	4 - 2	48
		3 - 3	36
		5 - 1	15
8 cards in a suit	5	3 - 2	68
		4 - 1	28
9 cards in a suit	4	3 - 0	50
		2 - 2	40
		4 - 0	10

You can see from this table that an even number of out cards tends to break unevenly and an uneven number tends to break evenly. To be more specific, if you can make your contract with seven out cards in a given suit breaking 4 - 3 (62% chance), it is far better odds than achieving the same result with a (50% chance) finesse.

Take today's hand as an example. After the following bidding, West gets off to a devastating heart lead.

SOUTH          WEST          NORTH          EAST
1♠             PASS           1♦             PASS
1♠             PASS           4♠             PASS
PASS           PASS

♥ A Q 8
♦ K 10 5 1 3

W N E S
♠ J 6 5
♥ K J 7 3
♦ 8 6
♣ A K 6 5

♠ A Q 9 8

♣ Q J 3

As the cards lie, the Heart hook at trick one, a fifty-fifty chance, should be avoided at all cost. Otherwise, if the King is wrong, there's no way of evading two losers in that suit. The Ace play just delays the same adversity. Therefore, Declarer's best chance is to play low, which protects against a Heart continuation. A chicanery crafted East will win the Jack and switch to the Club Ace and a trump, hoping that at some stage South will have to take a roughing finesse for the still hidden Club King. So, at trick, four, Declarer is in dummy and must do some prognosticating the probabilities. The Spades already look like they'll behave (68% 3-2 probability) and, if the Diamonds do the same, South is a heavy favorite to win ten tricks, all because he refused the Heart finesse.

The superior of play at trick four is to draw trumps, establish Diamonds and play the Heart Ace when West continues that attack after winning the Diamond Queen. Then pitch a Heart and Club on Dummy's long Diamonds and cross ruff the remaining two losers for ten tricks.

A WOODLAND WONDER
by Clifford N. Wright, Architect

Over 4,400 sq. ft. of Custom-Designed Splendor on 2 pristine acres of private woodland with pond on Saddlewood Road, West Bloomfield.

Italian marble entry leads to inspired, quality living space, roomy yet intimate. Antique mirrored walls, cherry paneling, wet plaster, Austrian crystal chandelier, custom cabinetry, many built-ins and deluxe features throughout give substance to one's peace of mind.

5 b.r., 3 full and 2 half-baths, l.r., d.r., family rm., office-library, maid's quarters, mechanical room, laundry, 2-car gar., rec. rm. w. complete 2nd. kitchen, 2 fireplaces and 3 door walks to patio. Two heating and cooling systems, total security.

Workshop for women June 15

In a women's world of multiple roles, filling the needs of others can sometimes mean losing balance. The Oakland University Continuum Center will offer a one-day workshop that centers on restoring self, giving priority to personal needs, and rejuvenating tired bodies and psyches.

"Spoil Yourself a Little" will be presented by stress management expert Roberta "Jeff" Dailey. She will explore the erroneous stereotypes that women buy into, and discuss techniques for making adjustment and change. Participants will measure personal stress levels and learn to read body signals warning of overload. The focus will be to manage many needs, yet maintain a healthier life.

The workshop will be Thursday, June 15, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Bloomfield Township Library. The fee is $55; MasterCard/VISA accepted. To register or for information call 370-3033.

Dental Auxiliary opens 54th year

New officers of the auxiliary, which is in its 54th year, are Mrs. Rex Clark, honorary president; Mrs. Ronald Paler, past president; Mrs. Norbert Heidenberger, recording secretary; Mrs. George Wedge of Grosse Pointe Woods, corresponding secretary; Mrs. M. Roy Spezia of Grosse Pointe Woods, financial secretary; and Mrs. Louis DePerro Jr. of Grosse Pointe Woods, treasurer.

The auxiliary contributes monies from its annual fundraiser to a dental health project: the Children's Dental Health Month Poster Contest; to the Dental Relief Fund for distressed dentists and their families; and to the student loan fund for senior dental hygiene students. The largest amount of money has been donated to the Detroit Institute for Children for its dental clinic.

R.G. Edgar and Associates Presents . . .

New Listing - Located in Grosse Pointe Farms, this well-maintained home has lots to offer. Leaded glass windows, cove moldings, a Florida room overlooking a lovely garden are just some of the features. Three bedrooms, two-and-a-half baths, dining room plus family room round out the picture. It even has a three car garage. What a find!

Abandon Stereotype Ranches and welcome your summer guests with a private second-story guest room complete with private bath. Enjoy casual breakfasts in the kitchen or formal dining in the dining room - both are available in this three-bedroom, two-bath home in the Woods. Central air, large yard and finished basement will help house guests enjoy their stay . . . and keep a family happy.

New Listing - Beautiful is the only way to describe this three-bedroom home in Grosse Pointe Woods. Nearly every detail has been addressed. From the Euro-style kitchen with built-in appliances to the master bedroom, updated bath and family room, make an appointment today . . . for tomorrow it may be gone to a wise purchaser!

Charm of years past and move-in ready. What a combination. Freshly painted and carpeted in popular neutral tones, this four-bedroom, three-bath home is full of wonderful features. A library/den, family room, butler's pantry, third-floor studio are just a few. Located in the City on a private street, it's extra lot is a special plus.

Limitless possibilities are available with one of the last mansions on the water. Restore this fabulous Grosse Pointe Park home designed for graceful living and grand entertaining . . . or subdivide the acreage for your investment portfolio. Either way you're a winner. Call our office today for more details.

Living at its finest will be yours in this elegant custom-built Colonial in the city. Located on a private street east of Jefferson, this three-bedroom, two-and-a-half-bath home has the feel of open spaces without the upkeep of a too large house and yard. Perfect for the executive who balances frequent entertaining with casual family living.

Inviting your applause for this much loved three-bedroom (with fourth walk-through) home in the City is easy. There's a lot to clap about. Newer kitchen, large dining room, natural woodwork, leaded glass, family room, double closets. A truly "must see". Sellers are moving on and wish for a new owner to take over the loving care of this home.

Investment opportunity - A most elegant and lovely Tudor two-family home in Grosse Pointe Park. Treat yourself to the style this can give you, while letting your tenants help with the payments. The lower flat is freshly decorated and includes a new kitchen and hall bath. Each flat has four bedrooms and two baths - perfect for families.

Sixty years young and still going strong. Built for his own residence back in 1927, this builder emphasized quality and charm. More recent owners have done lots of updating to keep this home vibrant while not losing the original appeal. Only an out-of-town transfer could make these owners part with one of the best buys in Grosse Pointe Park.

We Need Volunteers Who Love Happy Campers!

Sun Deer campers are happy campers and it's no wonder because most severely asthmatic kids are forced to spend their summers indoors. At Camp Sun Deer, asthmatic kids ages 9-12 participate in a variety of outdoor activities, but they can't do it without your help. The limitations and doubts they face can be diminished by a volunteer who cares. Your participation at Camp Sun Deer can make all the difference in an asthmatic child's summer.

State champions! Knights bring back tennis title

By Rob Fulton
Sports Editor

For the eighth time in a decade, the University Liggett School boys' varsity tennis team has crowned itself with a state tennis title.

This time out, ULS regained its reign in the Class C-D ranks by defeating defending state champ Detroit Country Day, 27-21, in Kalamazoo June 3.

ULS, which lost the title by one point a year ago, had finalists in all seven flights with five of them coming out on top, and two of them finishing second.

Led by the No. 1 doubles team of Doug Wood and Mike Niccolini, ULS also got wins from Paul Fozo (No. 3 singles), Bill Schervish (No. 4 singles), Dike Ajiri and David Allen (No. 2 doubles) and Ken Prather and Cheo Ramsey (No. 3 doubles).

Sean Byrne (No. 1 singles) and Anthony Abiragi (No. 2 singles) advanced and lost in the finals.

"This feels great," said ULS coach Bob Wood, who has coached his boys' teams to 19 titles in 24 years. "It's especially nice to bring it (the trophy) back to where we all feel it belongs."

Wood, who has also been a state runner up coach four times, credits his team's success this season to the grueling and hectic schedule it keeps.

"Our schedule made the difference," he said, "just as it has for 24 years."

"This is not a great team, talent-wise," Wood continued. "We don't have any superstars, but ever since our spring trip to Florida, the kids have continually worked harder and harder."

When the tournament started, it didn't matter that ULS was a below .500 (5-6) dual-meet team.

"We played the top 10 teams in Class A and five of the top teams in Class B," Wood said. "Many of our individual records were also under .500, but we were competitive. However, it wears on you when you are competitive but losing. I just kept telling the team that it would all pay off when it was time for the regional and state tournaments."

Although the Knights were all involved in tough matches throughout the two-day match, Wood feels that Ajiri/Allen pulled out their win because of the grooming they had during the season.

"All the players had close matches, but they always seemed to pull out the 6-4, 5-3 matches because they never gave up when it was crunch time. Dike and David were down 4-2 in the third set and rallied for a 6-4 win. I feel that one of the main reasons they won that match was because of our schedule."

It also helped that Ajiri and Allen were hooked up in approximately 14 three-set matches during the regular season.

In the finals, ULS, who is also coached by Chuck Wright, needed to win just two of the seven matches, but after Friday's competition, Wood wasn't too sure what would happen.

"It was a nervous Friday night because we were in the same position last year," Wood said. "Last year we needed to win three final matches and we lost two. I was hoping history wouldn't repeat itself."

At least until ULS travels to the state meet next year.

Lady Norsemen nipped, 1-0

By Rob Fulton

Junior right-hander Kerri-Sue Kelly scattered four hits and struck out nine Shamrocks, but the luck was not on her side in the second round of the district softball tournament June 3.

Kelly, who has fanned 139 batters in 133 innings on the season, took a 0-0 tie into the seventh inning, before losing 1-0 to East Detroit.

"I expected to go into extra innings," said Kelly, who finished with a 13-7 record. "Both teams were really equal and playing well, but I just thought we had enough to send it into extra innings."

In the bottom of the seventh, the Shamrocks loaded the bases on three consecutive hits before second baseman Melissa Champagne tried to cut down the runner at home. Catcher Gail Marlow apparently forced the runner out, but the call went against North.

"The most frustrating part about the loss was the call at the end," said North coach Bill Taylor, whose team finished 17-10 overall. "It was a decision the ump made and there's nothing we can do. The call could have gone either way."

"The game went exactly as I thought it would," said Taylor. "Going in I told the girls it would be close and very controlled. Unfortunately, things didn't go our way."

Kelly, along with Pam Thomas who also made several key defensive plays, had the only Lady Norsemen hits. Kelly doubled in the fourth, but an attempted bunt to push her to third turned into an out. One wild pitch later, and Kelly was on third.

"We tried to get Kelly to third by bunting the ball, but we didn't execute the bunt properly," said Taylor. "That really cost us and made the difference. We only had one out at the time and if we could have got Kelly to third it could have been all we needed because she could have scored on that wild pitch."

Instead, Kelly found herself still locked in a pitcher's duel.

"It was a tough game," she said. "Before the game most of us were looking at this as just another game because we didn't want to put too much pressure on ourselves."

"I was in a groove and I felt pretty good pitching," Kelly added. "I knew it was going to take only a run or two, but we didn't get that run."

Kelly threw 65 pitches, 54 of which were strikes.

"That's how it's been with Kerri all season," Taylor said. "You usually don't have a player who can spot the ball the way she does and that's why they (the Shamrocks) were having some trouble at the plate."

Kelly, who led North with a .539 average and 50 RBI, was voted to the All-District Team, as were Lucy Barry and Alicia Lynch. Those three players were also voted the MAC's Blue Division Team.

Lynch batted .365 and Barry hit .353.

"This year we did everything we wanted," Taylor said. "We improved in the league (6-2) and we made it to the districts. Everything went well this year."

South exits district with loss in championship game

By Rob Fulton
Sports Editor

Ripley wasn't on hand, but many teams should believe it, rather than not believe it. Nobody expected South to be in the district baseball finals, and after giving Notre Dame everything it could handle, the Blue Devils made believers out of many skeptics. Although South, which finished 13-16, was edged, 5-4, by the Irish in the district championship game June 5 at North, coach Dan Griesbaum feels his team deserves more credit than some were giving.

"Nobody expected us to do what we did," Griesbaum said in reference to advancing into the finals. "I really don't think we got much respect from a couple teams in the tournament, but now I think our kids made some people take notice."

"Our kids came ready to play and deserve an awful lot of credit," Griesbaum added. "We were hearing a lot of negative comments before the districts started, but now I think people aren't saying too much."

South, which earned the right to play for the title after beating East Detroit, 7-1, lost the trophy and the hopes of moving into the regionals when it failed to keep the Irish pinned to the wall.

South trailed 2-0 going into its half of the fourth, but a Dale Wilson RBI single and a three-run homer by Brian Letscher, his second of the tourney, gave South a commanding 4-2 lead heading into the fifth.

"We had to come right back and keep them down," Griesbaum said. "We couldn't nail the coffin shut and it hurt us. If we could have come right back and shut them down it would have been a lift for us and put Notre Dame in a pressure situation."

Instead, Sean Von Schwarz, pitching in relief of Bill Leonard, yielded four walks and one hit before giving way to Dan Monahan. Von Schwarz left with the bases loaded and the score tied, 4-4.

"It goes to show you that walks can absolutely destroy you," Griesbaum said. "If we didn't have those walks, then I think we could have won."

Monahan, who later pitched out of a jam in the sixth, gave up the winning run, which was charged to Von Schwarz, on an infield single before retiring the final hitter.

"We had two outs before they started that rally," Griesbaum said. "We just couldn't get that final out."

South tried to rally in its bottom half of the fifth, but the strong pitching of Matt Ziolkowski and a controversial call on Ray Roxas' bunt stifled the inning.

The umpire called Roxas out for stepping on the plate on an attempted bunt, and that seemed to deflate the Devils.

"Whether he did or not, is not the question," Griesbaum said about Roxas. "It really hurt us psychologically because we had Nugent (who doubled an inning earlier) and Wilson (who already singled) coming to the plate behind him."

"Instead of having guys at first and second with one out, we had a guy at first with two outs," Griesbaum added. "Aside from the fourth inning, he (Ziolkowski) shut us down."

Ziolkowski retired the first nine hitters before the fourth, but after the fourth-inning surge South couldn't get untracked.

The story in the East Detroit game was senior lefty Bill Leonard.

Leonard no-hit the Shamrocks in a game that was suspended by rain, but made up just before the championship game. Leonard, who got some help from Roxas' two-run single, a Wilson homer and a Letscher two-run homer, struck out seven of the final nine hitters to preserve the win; his fourth straight.

When play resumed, South had a 5-1 advantage with bases loaded and nobody out, but almost failed to score.

"The key there was that we didn't want to let East Detroit out of that inning," Griesbaum said about the fifth. "We had to get some runs out of that and it didn't look good, especially when our first two batters were turned into outs."

It was Roxas' single that drove home the final two runs.

This was the first year in his six years at South that Griesbaum finished below .500, but that's not even in his thoughts.

"This team played as well in the last three weeks as any other team I've had," Griesbaum said. "Many people wrote us off before the tourney, but we left feeling very good about ourselves. I'm proud of the kids."

Lady Devils get shelled

By Rob Fulton
Sports Editor

With Coach John Bruce at the state Class A track meet watching his son compete in the high jump, the South softball team was left without its head coach.

What they didn't have, either, was enough defense to ward off Regina, as South's season ended with an 11-1 loss in the district semifinals.

"I'd much rather lose 2-1, or 5-4," said Bruce. "I'd also much rather lose when you play well because you know you gave it your best shot."

South, 14-15, committed 11 errors behind starter and loser Darcy Jones.

"You don't win many ball games with 11 errors," said Bruce. "Just exactly what we didn't want to happen, happened: we made too many errors."

Jones, who went on to fan four and give up only four earned runs, had one hit in three trips to the plate. Jenny Kalmink drove home the only Devils' run off Denise Nicker, and Jenny Wosocki rapped a double in two trips.

"Obviously I'm disappointed about losing, but at the same time I'm very pleased with the season," said Bruce. "We're a very young team and I think the kids really played hard."

Jones, who batted .396, scored 34 runs and had 36 hits, was voted the team's Most Outstanding Offensive Player. The Defensive Player of the Year Award went to catcher Becky Wosocki, who had to be the receiving end of Jones' fastball and change up.

"We only allowed three runners to score from third base either on a passed ball or wild pitch," said Bruce. "That in itself says a lot about the way Becky played all season. She exhibited great defense in catching for one of the finest pitchers in the state. It's going to be nice having her back next year."

Leigh Leonard was voted to the All-District Team as an outfielder.

Michigan League track championships.

Karen Ehresman established an all-time best for the Devils in the 300-meter hurdles, eclipsing the old mark by one second (47.9). Ehresman came back in the same meet to lower her own school record mark of 15.9 in the 100 hurdles to 15.8.

In the state finals at Eastern Michigan University June 3, the 400-meter relay team of Ehresman, Denise Brown, Kathleen Monaghan and Traci Lee tied the school record by covering the distance in 51.6 seconds. Others competing in the state meet were Jenny Williams and Sara Liliensack (high jump) and Julie Nichols (3200). Nichols' time of 11:58 in the 3200, was a personal best.

Earlier in the week, South traveled to Ypsilanti to compete in its final invitational of the year and placed second among 18 teams.

Top sprinters for South included Megan Malecek, Robyn Scofield, Laura Matranga and Leslie Arbaugh. Those doing well in field events were Vicki Groustra, Katie Taylor, Mary Srebernak, Elaine Ford and Katie Kennedy. The distance events were led by Emily Burkett, Ann Llewellyn, Toni Tedesco, Susannah McAndrew, Michele Evans, Jenny Barber, Sue McGahey and Elizabeth Kraft.

South finished 11-1 overall and undefeated in league competition.

Julie Rinehart awarded for heroism

Julie A. Rinehart, of Grosse Pointe Park, was awarded a Green Merit Star for heroism by the National Ski Patrol at the spring awards banquet of the Northern Michigan Region Ski Patrol on April 29.

The award is the second highest given by the patrol, and Rinehart is the first recipient of the award in the northern region.

Bruins finish second in Fraser

The Grosse Pointe Bruins Mite AA hockey team concluded championship play in the Fraser Spring League as the runners-up to the USA Spartans.

Finishing with a 10-4-2 overall record, the Bruins lost a 3-2 heartbreaker in the last 24 seconds of the third period after tying the score at two goals apiece less than two minutes earlier.

The game was tense and exciting throughout, which was only fitting as both teams had identical playoff records and had skated to a 3-3 tie to end playoff competition only two nights before.

Devon Allard and Charlie Braun got the Bruin goals, while Mike Getz and David Legwand drew assists. In the playoff game, Legwand scored twice and Braun once. Brad Balesky earned two assists, while Allard and Pat White both had one.

The Bruins were coached by Joe Descamps, Joe Baratta and Mark Nixon.

administered first aid and secured the child to a second evacuation device which had been raised and took the child down.

In addition to her merit, Rinehart was named the Outstanding Partoller for the northern region and was given the National Appointment No. 7125 in recognition of her 20 years of outstanding service to the National Ski Patrol.

For the third straight year, the University Liggett School girls' soccer team has failed to advance beyond the first round of regional play.

ULS, ranked No. 6 in the B-C-D polls with a 13-5-1 record, was beaten by Bishop Foley, 2-0, for the third time in as many years. Foley eliminated ULS in 1987 and 1988.

"It seems that way," said ULS coach David Backhurst when asked if his team was snake-bit. "Then again, the girls played very hard. We all felt bad that we lost, but the girls gave their best effort and showed determination."

The loss was only their second in 14 tries, but still was enough to knock the Lady Knights out of the tourney.

"We were on a roll, but all things must end," said Backhurst. "We were hoping the season would end at the state championship game, but..."

From the onset, Foley carried the play and at the 23-minute mark of the first half scored the game-winning goal.

"They (Foley) came out and took it to us," Backhurst said. "They were pushing the ball down our throats, but Beth Weyhing (goalie) came up with some big saves that let us stay in the game."

With Weyhing thwarting Foley's offense, ULS went to work on its counter-attack game and began to show light of tying the game.

"That first goal took the wind out of our sails, but we really battled back," said Backhurst. "I told the girls we had to get back in the game and begin carrying play and they did. We certainly had some good shots on goal, but their goalie came up with some very big saves."

Foley led 1-0 at the intermission, but it wasn't an insurmountable lead.

"We were still in the game despite Foley carrying most of the play," Backhurst said. "We needed to come out and get some shots on goal, and we did. For the most part, however, Foley's defense really kept us away from the goal."

After a scramble in front of the goal, Foley notched its insurance goal at the 25-minute mark of the second half, taking away what little air ULS had left.

"At that point we were desperate and forcing things," Backhurst said. "The way I was looking at it, we were fighting an uphill battle because Foley had played such strong defense the entire day."

"I moved Monica Paul up front to create some things, but too many times they (Foley) were first to the ball. When that happened, they just rammed it back at us and forced us to start over."

All was not lost, however. "Our defense really played well, too," Backhurst said. "Also, Beth (Weyhing) played an outstanding game and it probably would have been worse if she hadn't have been sharp that day. "If we've got to lose, it may as well be to a team who quite possibly will win the state championship."

Gordon, Davis play in all-star game

John Gordon and Jon Davis, who led the University Liggett School boys' lacrosse team with 29 and 32 goals, respectively, both represented ULS in the East-West All-Star Game June 2.

Davis and Gordon played well in that game for the east team, which lost 10-9 to the west, but more important was the outstanding season they had for the Knights, who finished 7-11.

"This was the best team in years," said ULS coach John Fowler.

Before the all-star game, ULS finished its regular season with a 14-7 loss to L'Anse Creuse

North.

Also leading the Knights this year were senior attackmen Bob Scoville and Armistead Burwell, who ended the season with nine goals. Senior midfielder John Southall and senior midfielder Eric Sensenbrenner were also "very important members of the team," according to Fowler.

Girls' track

Freshman Jennifer Miller and senior tri-captain Alexis Collins were the lone ULS representatives at the Class C state track meet at Alma College June 3.

Despite a steady rain, both Miller and Collins achieved commendable results.

When the No. 1 seed in the high jump, Kelly Oberlin of Grant, failed to clear the bar at 4 feet, 11 inches, many people knew the conditions weren't conducive to track. Collins, however, did clear the 4-11 opening height, but after three misses at 5-2, was eliminated.

Miller, making her state debut, ran to a ULS school-record time of 5:27.62 in the 1600, taking ninth.

Informed that she had just set a school record and run a personal-best time by more than 10 seconds, Miller replied, "I'll run faster next year."

Bolden scores at state meet

By Rob Fulton
Sports Editor

Grosse Pointe North senior trackster Liz Bolden traveled to the state Class A track meet at Eastern Michigan University June 3, and came away with a second place in the 800-meter run.

Bolden, who had returned to the state meet for the second consecutive time, ran a personal-best time of 2:14.9. Not only did she place in the 800, but she leaped to a sixth-place jump of 16 feet, 10 3/4 inches, in the long jump.

Bolden also ran a leg of the 3200 relay, with Hope Peters, Laurin Schultz and Katie Loeher. The foursome ran to a time of 9:56.

"For Liz to run her personal-best in such a big meet definitely speaks well for her efforts all season long," said North coach Charles Buhagiar. "The other girls did a fine job, also."

It was the first trip to the state meet for Peters, Schultz and Loeher.

As a team, North went undefeated (12-0) for the second time in three years, won the East Detroit Invitational and the North Invitational.

"The season was filled with highlights, but the thing I would say was the highlight was when the 3200-meter relay team broke the school record."

The team did that against Woods-Tower in a time of 9:47.6.

"I'll take a lot more seasons like this one," Buhagiar chuckled.

Bolden, who graduates this month, has been invited to compete in the Midwest Meet of Champions in Indiana.

The only person to qualify for the state Class A track meet at Eastern Michigan University June 3 was senior Robert Straske.

Straske, running in his final meet as a Norsemen, finished fifth in the 800-meter run in 1:55.4.

His time was an all-time best for his four years at North, just 2/10ths of a second shy of the school record.

According to Coach Bob Collins, Straske was in the hunt for the top spot.

"They were all tightly packed the whole race," said Collins. "Bob had a good day."

Reds 2, Cards 0

Gabe Weinert and Ryan Rous combined for a no-hitter and Jon Weinert's sacrifice bunt produced a run in the Reds' two-run fifth. Mike Sheehy had the Reds' only hit off Cards' pitchers Donny Tocco and Steve Lentine.

Jays 8, Yankees 4

Nick Chapie slapped three of the Blue Jays' 11 hits, helping back the combined one-hit pitching by Ben Mumaw, Andrew Huige and Chapie. Steve Guest got the Yankees hit to spoil the no-hitter.

Yankees 10, Reds 4

Brad Klein had two hits and scored two runs, and Chris Morcut had an RBI single and scored twice to help the Yankees. Rookie Brian Kasiborski pitched well in his debut for the Reds.

Tigers 18, Braves 11

A two-run double by Jason Schore and RBI singles by Dave Pierno, Dave Selewski and Jeff Sorgelows powered the Tigers' eight-run first inning. Selewski also made the defensive play of the game with a shoe-string catch in center. For the Braves, Marty Leehr hit a three-run homer; Dave Nielubowicz and Chris Copus had doubles.

Dodgers 17, O's 5

Emmett DeGuvera went 4-for-5, including his second homer of the season, and John Spath had three hits for the Dodgers.

Marcus Oneski and Andy Swikowski led the Orioles with two hits each.

Jays 11, Cards 5

Joe Thomas singled twice and the Jays used 11 walks to back the strong pitching of Ben Mumaw.

The Cards had 12 hits, including two each by Billy Lentin, Jon VanAssche and Joe Lucido, but couldn't cash them in for more than five runs.

Charlie Keersmaekers was 2-for-3 with 3 RBI for Erie, and Tommy Bunday also had three hits.

MAJORS

Tigers 19, Phils 4

Rob Franzino and Mike Uznis combined to pitch for the win, with defensive help from Nick Rutan, Nino Melchiorre and Jason Santos. Ron Morrison knocked in three runs and Melchiorre and Franzino combined for 8 RBI.

Bill Shepard and Ben Harwood pitched for the Phils, and Todd Sandercott played a tough third base and had a two-run single. Ed Trojanowski, John Grafius, Chris Dely, Davis Gracie, Jeff Case and Shepard provided the offensive spark for the Phils.

Indians 6, Tigers 5

Tim Miller pitched 4 1/2 innings of four-hit ball, allowing only two runs. He also had three RBI at the plate.

Bill Starrs drove home the winning run, and Joe Schmitt's single tied the game in the sixth.

Robbi Franzino held the Indians to four runs through the fifth inning, and also hit a run-scoring double. Chris Ford had three hits and 2 RBI.

Royals 6, Cards 0

Nathan Kuhls' brilliant no-hitter, and 2-for-2 plate performance highlighted the Royals' win. Matt Kramer drove in two runs, and Jeff Shelden and Jonathan Vlasak supported the defense.

Forster pitched well for the Cards, with defensive help from Zeidler.

Indians 21, Royals 6

Terry Brennan picked up the win on the mound, as Pat Bren-

Park
INSTRUCTIONAL
Commanders 27, Marines 18
Brendan Keelan, Patrick Bright and Jesse Walker had triples for the Commanders.

MINORS
Indiana 13, Illinois 7
Strong pitching from Tom Smith, Dan Bruchert, Alex Worely and Pat Worrell made the difference. Kevin Camitta, Adam Brablage, Dan Bruchert, Chris Farkas and Joel Hutchcraft had hits for the winners.

Doug Fairbanks and Zack Iles pitched for Illinois, and received offensive support from Brian Everham, Robby Bair, Logan Oney, Tony Ross, Ian Ralison, John Buckler and Steve Howser.

Purdue 16, Wisconsin 2
M. Steiger pitched three innings, striking out seven. Purdue scored five runs in the second and third innings.

M. Bianco, J. Suski, C. Wascher and J. Mangol all pitched for Wisconsin.

Notre Dame 6, Ohio State 5
Steve Dely and Matt Gorczyca pitched, and Mike Berschback, Adam Gorczyca and Nick Conely were hitters for Notre Dame. Brendan Joyce and Bill VanFassen pitched a combined strong game for Ohio State. Joyce also doubled.

Michigan 14, Notre Dame 13
Sean Gramling, Robert Upell and Steve King pitched for the winners, who got offensive support from Jon Kalmink, Nick Conely, who along with Mike D'Hondt and Zack Meyers pitched, had an unassisted triple play.

State 16, Illinois 5
David Votruba was 3-for-3, including a home run, and Jim Wellington was 2-for-2 for the winners. Eric Votruba also had two hits in the winning cause. Steve Howser and Zack Iles pitched for Illinois, and Chad Andrus doubled, while Brian Everham had two RBI.

Michigan 10, Illinois 8
King, Brian Vietzke and Sean Gramling all pitched for the win, and Robert Upell was 3 for 3 and Joe Champine doubled for Michigan. Chad Andrus, Tony Ross, Pat Gerlack, Robby Bair, Logan Oney, Ryan Christains, David Ross and Jeff Kuester, who had his first hit of the season, all singled.

Purdue 20, Notre Dame 1
Tony Bondy, Troy Otto, Steve Andris and Brian Hodgeman all pitched Purdue past Notre Dame. Andris, John Berschback and Sarah Brenner hit safely, while J.C. Tibout and Pat Kelly had RBI.

Andy Klein, Mike D'Hondt and Conely pitched for ND, and Paul Serra and Conely each singled.

Notre Dame 10, Wisconsin 5
Rob Esler struck out seven and got some help from Matt Gorczyca to get the win. Steve Bunchek and Paul Serra, who went 3-for-3, had big hits for Notre Dame.

Notre Dame 19, Illinois 13
Paul Serra tanked a triple, a home run and single to collect six RBI in the win. Mike D'Hondt had two singles and a double, while Brad Schaupter, Steve Bunchek, Rob Esler and Zack Meyers had RBI.

Chad Andrus and Zack Iles were 3-for-3, with Andrus had two triples and a home run for 5 RBI. Iles had a triple and two singles.

MAJORS
Yankees 4, Sox 0
Cory Schroeder drilled a homer in the second and J. Braun and Peter Sullivan rapped back-to-back home runs to lift the Yankees. Ben Debski had both hits for the White Sox.

Yankees 13, Mets 1
Todd Drake and Justin Braun pitched, while J. Braun, Kevin Schroeder, Chris Dettmer, David Barnes, Peter Sullivan, Matt Larisey and Cory Schroeder had hits for the Yankees.

Tim O'Loughlin, Andy Brewer and Patrick Niven had singles for the Mets.

Babe Ruth
Rangers 6, Pirates 2
Andrew Crowley struck out five in the Rangers' win, and he also had two singles. Ryan Messacar and Dan Paull both pitched for the Pirates.

PREP
Brewers 18, Pirates 8
Offensive stars for the winners included Jon Swartz (4 RBI), Steve Booher (two doubles) and Doug Jabara. Ryan Messacar (2 RBI), Mark Campbell and Tyler Bowmanne pitched well for the Pirates.

Brewers, Royals
The Brewers were led by Jay Harrington's two hits and Bill Gough's two RBI. Paul Gentile of the Royals won the game into extra innings with a two run single.

Brewers 9, Twins 7
Bill Gough pitched seven innings of relief and drove in two runs with two hits for the Brewers. Chris Holley led the Twins with three hits and two RBI. Jason Goodeman had two hits for the Twins and Bill Palazollo and Tim Adly provided clutch hitting for the winners.

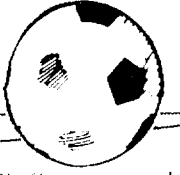

Rangers 4, Woods WS 2
Andy Crowley and Paul Coyro combined for 15 strike outs in the Rangers' victory, and Crowley added a triple and single.

Tigers 2, Yankees 2
Nick Kotis pitched well for the Tigers, with Tom Rajt and Kyle Hoye providing nice pitching for the Yanks. John Jungworth and Mike McLaughlin hit Tiger doubles, while Matt Recht stroked two doubles for the Yankees.

Tigers 8, Canton 0
The Tigers shut out Plymouth-Canton No. 3 behind the strong pitching of Jay Berschback, who fanned 10 in a four-hitter. Mike McLaughlin and Berschback each had two RBI, while Nick Kotis, Chad Hepner and Brad Dunlap each scored twice.

Tigers 5, Canton 2
Pitcher Tom Kolojeski went the distance for the win over Plymouth-Canton No. 2, and Jay Berschback had a double. Hepner had a timely single and made a spectacular catch for the winners.

A Mercedes 420SEL is about $60,000.
A BMW 735i is over $55,000.
A Jaguar XJ6, under $45,000.

The best value in luxury is a beautiful example of dollars and sense.

If the above price-comparison* surprises you, you're not alone. Many people assume the Jaguar XJ6 costs considerably more than it does. And no wonder.

The XJ6 is distinctively elegant, achieving contemporary aerodynamic efficiency, while reflecting the classic character of its celebrated ancestors.

Inside, the XJ6 is spacious and serene. The cabin is rich in the Old World splendor of polished wood and supple leather.

The XJ6 also has impeccable performance credentials. Its 3.0 liter V6 engine produces 200 hp and 210 torque. The suspension is tuned for a smooth, quiet ride. The brakes are long lasting and powerful. The steering is advanced and precise.

When you're behind the wheel of a Jaguar XJ6, you'll appreciate the classic elegance of a car that costs less than $45,000.
