

DeMercurio is serious about becoming a 1990 class clown

By Dan Jarvis
Staff Writer

When Laura DeMercurio says she wants to learn to yuk it up with the best of them, she's not clowning around. In fact, she's deadpan serious, folks.

Take her career choice, please.

DeMercurio can think of nothing that's more fun than entertaining people and making them laugh. So what's wrong with that? Well, even a lousy bookie wouldn't give you odds on making it in the world of hard yuks.

But so far, the odds are in DeMercurio's favor.

She was recently chosen as one of 39 students from a pool of 2,000 applicants who signed up for a chance at entering the fall semester at the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Clown College in Venice, Fla.

Now her back-to-school wardrobe consists of size 36 shoes, a rubber nose and a yak hair wig, not to mention the makeup.

But spending money on this school wardrobe will be a little easier than her first year of college at Central Michigan University, because the clown college is tuition free.

The college is the only school in the world solely dedicated to preserving the ancient art of clowning and DeMercurio is wholly dedicated to a career in which she can make people laugh.

Toward that goal, DeMercurio is in the midst of an intensive two-month session where students learn the art of comedy, makeup, choreography, stiltwalking, juggling, acrobatics, unicycling, improvisation, prop building and costume making.

From 8 a.m. until 10 p.m. students practice, work and sweat and then practice, work and sweat some more in a bid to join the most elite clown corps in the world.

At the end of the session, only 10 clown students will be afforded the chance to run away with the circus. In an exam billed as

Fruit of the vine

No, it's not a grape vine. Rather, this fruit is the tomato, and some kind of tomato it is. The plant, grown by Martha Schilke of Grosse Pointe Shores, is 12-1/2 feet high by 12 feet wide. The Beefmaster tomatoes are the size of grapefruit.

She said her husband, Bill, helped tie the plant up. The monstrous plant is held from falling over by a clothesline attached to the TV antenna and the front awning. Eight years ago, the Schilkes' giant tomato plant was the "plant" in "ever bigger, they said."

Mrs. Schilke uses coffee grounds, Knox gelatin and lots of water get the plant to grow so well. Some of its vines are an inch thick. The fruit is 5 inches in diameter, more than 15 inches around and weighs 1-1/2 pounds.

As senior citizens, Mr. and Mrs. Schilke have myriad hobbies — besides growing Jolly Green giant-size tomato plants. Mrs. Schilke also planted 285 flowers around the house, does needlepoint landscapes and collects aviation pins. Meanwhile, Mr. Schilke is into woodworking and has made numerous pieces of furniture and a zoo full of two-dimensional wooden birds and animals that roam the couple's backyard.

The Schilkes have one problem, however: What do you do with giant tomatoes if you don't can? Tomato anyone?

Woods stumbles over business hour limits

By Dan Jarvis
Staff Writer

A proposed ordinance limiting business hours in Grosse Pointe Woods was shot down by a divided City Council Monday night.

The ordinance, which would have limited all-night businesses in the Woods, was proposed as a way to prevent crime in the future. In 1989, the Woods had the lowest major crime rate among the larger communities in the Detroit metropolitan area, according to the FBI.

The Park, City and Farms all have existing laws limiting business hours, but a Woods city attorney warned such limits have been found unconstitutional.

On one hand, Woods council members in favor of ordinance said if businesses were closed between midnight and 6 a.m., there would be less opportunity for crime. On the other, council members opposed to the ordinance said that while some measures are needed to control business hours, adoption of the ordinance may leave the city open to litigation.

City attorney George Catlin said the Woods currently has an ordinance prohibiting self-service operations between 1 and 6:30 a.m., but it allows full-service operations for 24 hours.

But because the city does not prohibit full-service hours, service station operators are required by their parent oil companies to remain open around-the-clock.

Some who would rather close between midnight and 6 a.m. may lose up to $2,500 a month in overhead, such as wages, health insurance and utilities, because very little gasoline is sold during those hours.

One gasoline dealer, who was present at Monday's meeting, urged the city to enact the ordinance so he could shut down between midnight and 6 a.m.

"We are inviting a dangerous situation," the dealer told the council. "I want you to enact the ordinance so that I can be prohibited from operating 24 hours."

According to Catlin, who strongly urged the council to deny passage of the proposed ordinance, some gasoline dealers want the city to go to battle for them.

The problem is, Catlin said, the city would be a likely target for a constitutional challenge under federal statute code No. 42, Sec. 1983.

A challenge under the same statute was recently brought against the city of Novi (in a different type of challenge), and the municipality was fined $200,000.

Catlin added that Miami was fined some $90 million under the same statute, and the fine was then levied against the city's taxpayers.

"In my opinion, any ordinance that cannot stand up to constitutional muster can be a hazard to any municipality," Catlin said.

"In our case, if such an ordinance were passed, businesses could prove that we are infringing on their constitutional right to do business. They would not even have to prove a loss of income, and the city could be subject to punitive fines, which have no limit."

Councilman Paul Beaupre, who urged passage of the ordinance, said that while the legality of a council action is certainly a concern, it is not the only variable.

He said that because Grosse Pointe Woods is a unique community and is located close to a major expressway, such an ordinance would limit the opportunity for crime and would offer better protection of residents.

Also, Beaupre said, businesses already operating around-the-

Youth found naked on lawn

A 17-year-old Grosse Pointe City youth was found lying naked on a front lawn of a home in the 700 block of Barrington during the early morning hours Sept. 11.

At 3:48 a.m., a patrol unit saw the youth trying to hide behind bushes. He was completely naked, according to Park police. The youth said a friend of his who lives on Barrington dared him to walk down Barrington naked. He took up the challenge.

Police took the youth to his friend's house, where he retrieved some identification.

At age 66 Howard K. Face is embarking on a new career.

A Farms resident for 30 years, Face worked for Michigan Bell for 40 years and retired from the phone company in 1988. In August he became a civil servant with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"This is a real point of transition for me," Face said. "It is fulfilling an interest in public service and politics."

On Aug. 9, Face became director of the ICC's newly created Office of Economics. The new department is actually a merger of two former departments: the Office of Transportation Analysis and the Bureau of Accounts.

Though railroads and trucking are a world apart from the telephone business, ICC Chairman Edward J. Philbin said Face's experience in economics makes him ideally suited for the ICC post.

"Howard is an experienced professional manager in fields of business economics, market research, productivity, strategic planning and public policy studies," Philbin said. "We are in-

Detroit officer falls from car during argument

A 27-year-old female Detroit police officer fell from a moving car on Mack in the Woods Sept.

A Woods officer found her lying face down on the grass in the 20500 block of Mack. She was unconscious but breathing.

According to her husband, a 23-year-old Roseville resident, he and his wife had been arguing since they left her home. They were on their way to a restaurant.

He said she started to get out of the car while it was moving, but he held on to her. He then pulled over, she got out and after a short while got back into the car. They proceeded down Mack again and their argument turned into a slugfest with the woman and her husband hitting each other.

According to police, the man had bruises around his right eye.
Both the man and woman had allegedly been drinking.

The woman then again opened the car door and tried to jump out while the car was moving.
The husband told police he tried to hold on to her, but she slipped from his grasp.

Police asked the couple's 6-year-old daughter who was in the back seat what happened.
She said her parents were arguing and hitting each other. Her mother then opened the car door, and her father pushed her mother out, the girl said.

The woman had a .38 caliber handgun and a Detroit police badge in her wallet. The 13th Precinct was notified of the incident.

Hertel seeks academy applicants

Congressman Dennis M. Her-tel (D-Harper Woods) of Michigan's 14th Congressional District is now accepting applications for nomination to the U.S. military academies of West Point, Air Force, Navy, Coast Guard and Merchant Marine.

Nominations will be awarded for the class entering in fall 1991. To be eligible for nomination, applicants must be between 17 and 22 and residents of the 14th Congressional District. Requests for nomination must be

The 14th Congressional District includes Grosse Pointe Farms, Grosse Pointe Shores, Grosse Pointe Woods and Harper Woods.

Applications for nomination to one of the U.S. military academies are reviewed by Congressman Hertel's Academy Nomination Selection Committee, a non-partisan volunteer committee comprised of community members. For additional information,

Pit bull decision delayed again

By Dan Jarvis
Staff Writer

A ruling on the constitutionality of a ban on pit bull terriers in Grosse Pointe Woods has encountered yet another delay, with the decision now expected in early 1991.

Wayne County Circuit Judge Kaye Tertzag announced recently that the case, which involves a challenge to the Woods ordinance prohibiting pit bulls within the city limits, has been delayed because of a rotating court docket.

Woods City Attorney George Catlin said the ordinance, which was adopted by the City Council on Oct. 3, 1988, was challenged by Woods resident and pit bull owner Rosemary Mulleavey.

In a motion for a restraining order, filed just one week later, Mulleavey claimed the ban on a specific breed is unconstitutional and should be struck down by the court.

Mulleavey's attorney, Wayne Woodford, said the ordinance is vague because, under its language, it is impossible to define what a pit bull is. Also, Woodford said, there are equal protection problems since the ordinance singles out certain dogs, and therefore certain owners for prosecution.

Woodford added that pit bulls are not any more dangerous than any other breed of dogs.

But Catlin said research by canine specialists reveals that pit bulls, which represent roughly 2 percent of the American dog population, are responsible for 70 percent of fatal dog attacks on humans.

Catlin also said that a former resident brought home a pit bull as a family pet and the dog later turned on her toddler son, who required 30 stitches on his face.

Catlin said Woodford has brought forth a handful of witnesses during the hearing process who have testified in favor of overturning the ordinance.

Further testimony will be taken after the first of the year and will include testimony supporting the ordinance.

After all testimony is delivered, Tertzag may rule the ban is valid, in which case the city can order all pit bulls out of the city.

If Tertzag decides the ordinance is invalid and unenforceable, the council will have to reword it to allow pit bulls within the city.

Until the case is decided by Tertzag, no enforcement action can be taken by the city.

Symposium to address emotional impact of cancer

When 28-year-old Robert Maynard was diagnosed with cancer last February, his chemotherapy treatments left him unable to work for four months. In addition to the frustration of strapped finances, he blamed himself for contracting the disease.

"Initially, everyone who is diagnosed with cancer is in a state of shock," said Patricia Rieker, Ph.D., director of Psychosocial Research, Dana-Farber Cancer Institute, Harvard Medical School. "Patients who are unable to grieve and experience the anger have more difficulty later on with anxiety and stress during treatment and recovery."

Rieker, who has completed research that studies the role of emotions and psychological factors in cancer, will be the keynote speaker at a unique symposium being presented by the Henry Ford Medical Center — Pierson Clinic called "Cancer Survivorship: Issues in Focus" which will take place from 9:30 a.m. until 5 p.m., Friday, Sept. 21, at the Hyatt Regency in Dearborn.

Topics to be discussed include sexuality, changes in interpersonal relationships, the role of emotions during and after treatment, and spirituality, as well as breakthroughs in cancer research.

Over the past decade, scientific data has been collected to support the psychosocial impact of cancer. According to Robert O' Bryan, M.D., oncologist at the Pierson Clinic, the symposium will introduce the scientific basis of these issues and how they relate directly to patient care.

The conference is open to patients, families, friends, physicians, health professionals, attorneys and theologians and has been approved for 6.25 category one credits. Registration is limited to 200 participants. For more information, call Nina Vulpetti at 594-6956 or Alice Morgan, R.N., at 343-5901.

The Grosse Pointe school board met Sept. 12 and set the mill rate for the 1990-91 school year at 30.3065.

That figure represents a drop of more than a mill from the 31.31 rate levied last year, however due to increased assessments in the Pointes, it will raise the average taxpayer's bill by 9.5 percent.

The board has the authority to levy 37.58 mills — 33.0 with the Headlee rollback — according to Christian Fenton, assistant superintendent for business affairs.

The total school budget this year is $59 million.

Holding tightly to their newly presented Clarence awards are (Workers of the Year recipients), from left, Michael Meyers of Grosse Pointe Park and Arlene Williams of Warren; Director Jacqueline DiSante of Grosse Pointe Woods for "Evita," Mark Maccagnone of Farmington Hills, lead actor, and Ruth Ellen Mayhall of St. Clair Shores, lead actress for their respective roles as Che and Eva Peron in "Evita."

The Grosse Pointe Theatre recently held a masked ball for its 36th annual Clarence Awards Dinner Dance at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

Two hundred members attended the festive event chaired by Theresa Selvaggio and Danielle Harris. Clarence awards are presented annually for excellence in both acting and technical categories.

Winning lead acting awards were Ruth Ellen Mayhall of St. Clair Shores and Mark Maccagnone of Farmington Hills for their roles as Eva Peron and Che in "Evita."

Winning the Clarence award for directing, also for "Evita," was Jacqueline DiSante of Grosse Pointe Woods. Receiving the Clarence award for Workers of the Year were Michael Meyers of Grosse Pointe Park and Arlene Williams of Warren.

Others winning Clarence awards for acting were Ronald J. Otulakowski as Juan Peron, Ronald J. Bernas as Magaldi, and Chuck Doyle and Christina Gaitley as the Tango couple, all for "Evita," Patricia Villegas as Lady Manley Prowe and Terri Turpin-Amato as Lettie, both for "Something's Afoot."

Receiving Clarence awards in technical categories were Timothy P. Higgins and Arlene Marie Schoenherr as choreographers, Marie DeLong and Ginger Hupp as costumers, and Ruth Ellen Mayhall for make-up, all for "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers."

Jef Fisk and Dean Erskine received awards for lighting and set design, respectively, for "Rashomon," while Kaki Tindall and Marge Chesnick received Clarences for both properties and set dressing, Mike Trudell for sound, Don Adzigan and Tony Zoia for technical direction, and Marty Bufalini for producer for "Something's Afoot."

Technical awards for "Evita" were presented to vocal director Marie Oleksiak, music director Gerard (Jay) Shaheen, sound chair David Hertzberg, and stage manager Arlene Marie Schoenherr.

Concluding the evening was the presentation of the gavel from outgoing president Dale Pegg to new president Dennis Wickline who announced the 1990-91 season.

The hilarious spoof on American politics "Of Thee I Sing," directed by George Hunt, will open the 43rd season in October.

In January, "A Little Murder Never Hurt Anybody" will be staged. To be directed by Michael Trudell, "A Little Murder..." is an original murder/comedy written by theater memoirist Ronald J. Bernas.

"Cole," a collection of musical short stories, will be directed by Marie Oleksiak for March staging. Donna DiSante will direct "Berkeley Square," a 20th century American's adventure in 18th century England, in April.

Closing out the season will be the musical vaudeville "Chicago," directed by Dennis Wickline.

Suburbs spur big growth in metro areas

Over the last 40 years, the nation's suburbs have replaced the country's rural areas as the locale of the largest share of the nation's population.

In 1950 about four in every 10 persons lived in rural areas while today only about two in every 10 still live there. Today more than four in every 10 people live in the suburbs and outnumber even the three in 10 who inhabit the cities of the nation.

This population shift means that on the basis of the latest estimates 77 percent of the nation's population now lives in the suburbs (45.7 percent) and cities (31.3 percent) and only 22.9 percent in the rural areas.

The fact that more than three-quarters of the U.S. population lives in the cities and their suburbs not only emphasizes their importance but the need for better relationships between them.

While the Grosse Pointes, like Detroit, continued their slow population decline in the 1980s, it was the growth of other suburbs that enabled the Detroit metro area to maintain its respectable position as the sixth largest in the nation.

So instead of battling against metropolitan area trends in government, we think both the city of Detroit and its suburbs should emphasize them for the good of all concerned. Unfortunately, Detroit officials too often seek to take over metro government agencies and control them for their own political benefit rather than for the benefit of the entire metropolitan area.

Yet the links between the suburbs and the city remain strong. In the Pointes, for example, many residents retain close ties with the city itself.

Many Pointers work in Detroit, many own businesses and/or property there and many others have family connections in the city. For those who work in Detroit, the Pointes serve as a bedroom community but these people pay taxes in both places, city income taxes in Detroit and property taxes in the Pointes.

Pointers with investments in jobs, property and businesses in Detroit have a direct concern with the future of the big city. Many of these Pointers recognize that fact and are doing their part in planning the regeneration of the city.

But the central city is more than the business hub of the area. It is also the cultural center and the home of such institutions as the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, the Detroit Institute of Arts, the Detroit Public Library and the various museums that populate the downtown area.

Those are all important assets for a modern big city and most of them are well-supported by Pointers and other suburbanites through their taxes, their contributions and their work as volunteers. These metro area efforts benefit the cultural institutions and help maintain them for the enjoyment of all southeastern Michigan residents.

In the world of business, competition increasingly is measured on a global basis as the U.S. auto industry has learned in recent years. But in heavily populated regions of this country, domestic competition increasingly is measured in terms of metropolitan areas.

Thus there was good news, along with the bad, when the 1990 preliminary census figures showed Detroit has maintained its position as the sixth largest metropolitan area, despite the population losses in Detroit, the Pointes and other close-in suburbs.

In seeking new business and industrial capital, Detroit's planners ought to capitalize on this positive fact and try harder to get more cooperation from suburban officials in improving economic development.

Admittedly, the suburbs would find it easier to work with Detroit officials if the latter would show more consideration for suburban concerns, such as the worries about the increased pollution, traffic and threats to safety resulting from the proposed expansion of the Detroit City Airport.

For their part, the suburbs ought to be more receptive to appeals to cooperate with the central city's planners and more cooperative in their own efforts to help improve the area's economic outlook as well as to help preserve Detroit's cultural jewels.

Detroit still may find the additional 29,000-plus people it needs to keep its standing as Michigan's only city of one million population but it won't be the end of the world if it fails. Detroit still can claim to be the center of a metro area of more than 4.5 million people, which means that almost half of the state's population live in the nine-county metro area.

That huge market offers many opportunities for modern businesses and industries interested in expansion of sales and services as well as profits. And the city and its suburbs ought to work together more closely to help promote economic development that would benefit the entire metro area.

War Memorial wins a round

The War Memorial board won a conditional victory last week in its effort to rezone its newly acquired property at 40 Lakeshore from residential to community service usage.

The critics of the proposal, some of whom see the recent purchase as evidence of empire-building, did persuade the Farms Council to require the board to accept a number of conditions that must be met before the plan can win final approval.

For example, the War Memorial within 60 days will supply the council with a formal list of the proposed uses for the home; a new site plan indicating the proposed new traffic routings, location of plantings and a fence to screen the property from its neighbors, and installation of new lighting and plumbing facilities to meet the Farms' fire protection requirements.

Since some critics saw the entire project as a threat to the commercialization of the nearby residential area and as a cause for new concern about traffic, the council's imposition of additional requirements was helpful even though not acceptable to all critics.

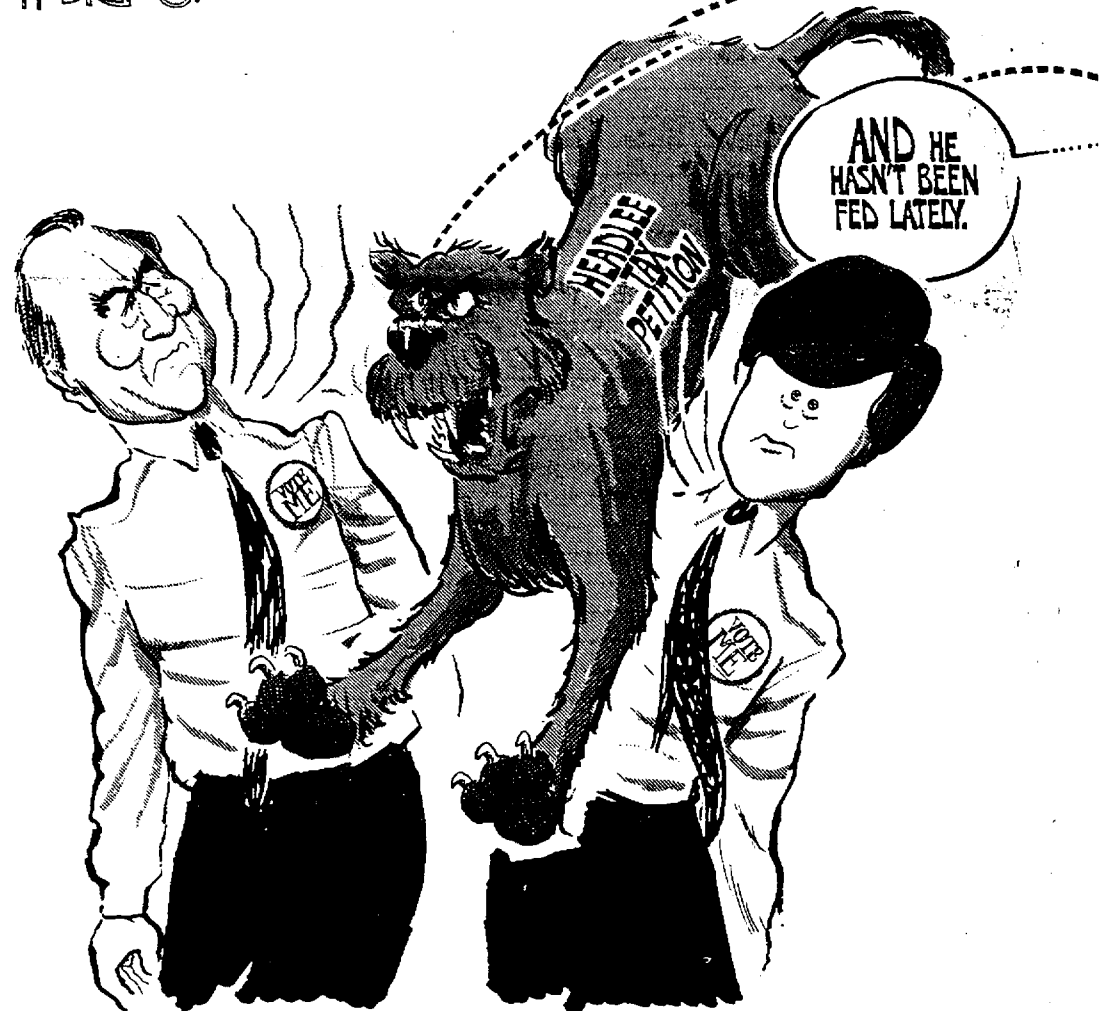

The War Memorial board also made a number of moves to win official and residential support for its expansion, the most important of which, from the Farms' point of view, was its agreement to pay a service fee in lieu of the city taxes to be lost by taking the property off the tax rolls.

But the board also took a traffic study to prove the lack of traffic impact, made a market analysis showing that four homes in the immediate area had increased in value more than a majority of homes in the Farms and promised to change the driveway design to protect residential property on the northeast from vehicular traffic.

Whether the required conditions and other changes proposed by the War Memorial board will satisfy the critics is doubtful because the overall effect of the expansion of the War Memorial's grounds will be difficult to measure until the new property is in actual use.

At the moment, it's clear that a good many Farms residents are still unhappy over the entire venture.

About cancer

To the Editor:

An article about breast cancer which you published on 6 September 1990 made two statements with which I do not agree at all.

Although early detection of breast cancer is of great importance because it gives women the best chance for a lasting cure, it is not the "only hope." There are proven, effective treatments for breast cancer now which enable us to cure a large proportion of already palpable cancers in addition to virtually all those micro-cancers that are too small to feel but that regular mammography alone now enables us to find.

Likewise, I cannot agree that we "still know nothing about cancer." We know a great deal about cancer both scientifically and medically. The last 10 years have shown the critical role in cancer causation of small changes in genes that we can now recognize chemically. These years have also brought us important new ways of using chemotherapy that have substantially added to the duration of healthy living for many cancer patients.

I am sure that what Dr. Irma Russo was trying to say about early detection being our "only hope" is that we as yet have no proven ways of reliably preventing breast cancer. Therefore the best available protection from this disease still continues to be its very early detection in patients who have no symptoms or palpable abnormalities in their breasts through the regular use of mammography.

Dr. Russo herself knows a great deal about cancer. She is nationally known for her experimental accomplishments. Her rhetorical remark that "we know nothing about cancer" should be understood as a sign of her intellectual modesty and of her intense desire to rapidly unravel the complexities revealed by our already extensive knowledge of the cancer process.

Good things

To the Editor:

I'm writing to you about an article, "Luther League volunteers," that was published in the Aug. 30 issue of your paper. It was about a youth group that spent three days rehabilitating a home in metro Detroit.

I'm very pleased to see things such as this being printed. It helps people to see that good things are being done to help solve the problems with vacant houses being used for crack houses, and at the same time it creates new, cheap housing for people needing it. It also avoids the cycle of wasted money caused when vacant homes are torn down and new ones are built. I hope this idea catches on and becomes a more regular occurrence.

Verbal skills still on decline

Nationally and in Michigan, scores in the verbal section of the Scholastic Aptitude Test dropped again this year while the average mathematics skills showed no improvement.

Nationally, the score in verbal skills slipped three points to 424, equalling the 1981 average, the worst test result in verbal skills in the 23 years the board has compiled the SAT test data.

Michigan students scored higher than the national average on both the verbal skills and mathematics sections for the sixth consecutive year but the SAT scores on the verbal section averaged 454, or four points lower than in 1989.

What is the reason for the decline in verbal skills since the national peak of 466 was reached in both 1967 and 1968?

Robert Cameron, executive director of research and development for the College Board, a New York-based non-profit education services firm, attributes the decline to the de-emphasis on reading in an electronic era.

"We may be seeing the erosion of reading skills in this information age where

The high price of U.S. debt

We are grateful to a friend for a copy of the U.S. comptroller general's annual report that stresses the high price of the growing national debt.

"In 1975, interest payments on the public debt amounted to 13 percent of the general fund budget of the United States," the report said. "In 1989, they totalled 27 percent or $241 billion.

"What this means," the report went on,

"is that a quarter of the budget of the United States now buys nothing. It does not go to fight the war on drugs, or broaden educational opportunities for the young, or enhance the nation's security or expand access to health care.

"It simply pays interest on a $3 trillion debt" that at the present rate of increase "will soar by another $1 trillion to $4 trillion in just the next four years."

Need we say more?

Watchdog keeps eye on goal

A golden retriever puppy named Ashley moved in with us last November. It took about a month to housetrain her. We kept her confined to the kitchen. We scolded her when she pooped under the table or on the rug. We praised her when she pooped outside. She's pretty smart. She got the picture pronto. Imagine her confusion when we took her for her first walk. She behaved exactly as she was taught. (Albeit under a streetlight, adjacent to a four-lane thoroughfare, on the corner of a neighbor's immaculately manicured lawn.) She looked to us for approval. "I did good," she wagged. So what did we do? We picked the stuff up and carried it home in a bag. The dog must think we're nuts.

People who are owned by dogs are nuts. We do bizarre things, like talk to our dogs on the phone, buy birthday gifts and Christmas presents for our dogs, bake birthday cakes for our dogs.

We tolerate large amounts of loose, rolling clumps of hair and small puddles of dog drool and assorted teeth marks which have turned up on items like coffee tables, dirty socks, kitchen counters, sofa pillows, chair rungs and sneakers. Ashley is an excellent watchdog. She watches doorknobs. When our doorbell rings, she runs to the front door, tail a-wag, ready to fall passionately in love with whoever is on the other side. She fixes her gaze firmly and expectantly on the doorknob until someone opens the door. One quiet Sunday morning, Ashley at my heels, I peeked out the front door and spotted my Detroit News/Free Press about 20 feet away, hanging on an evergreen bush. (My carrier thinks this is cute. He leaves my paper in imaginative places. It's like a pre-breakfast game of hide-and-seek.) I was barefoot, nightgown-clad. I looked left and right. Nobody in sight. I propped open the door. Tip-toed toward the paper. Ashley immediately spotted a nifty-looking squirrel and squeezed through the opening to give chase. I grumbled. Went inside. Closed the door. Went upstairs. Got dressed. Found the dog leash. Returned to the scene. By then Ashley was tired of squirrels and ready for breakfast. When I opened the front door, she was stretched out on the porch, tongue lolling, watching the doorknob.

The Grosse Pointe South High School spring concert, which took place at Orchestra Hall last May, will be shown on Grosse Pointe Cable TV on Monday, Sept. 24, and Tuesday, Sept. 25, at 7 p.m.

Soloists were Heidi Kvale on violin and Amy Stephens on piano.

The high school band and orchestra are conducted by Ann Di Fiore and Ralph Miller.

Julia Marie Schumacher, 85, formerly of Grosse Pointe, was crowned Ms. Senior Balduck Park Pageant queen at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial on Sept. 6.

Four of the five contestants in the first-ever pageant are former Grosse Pointers; three are residents of the St. John-Bon Secours Senior Community.

Other contestants included Maxine Elliot Armstrong, 80, Ruth Bea "Peaches" Davis, 77, Celia Virginia Levack, 83, of Detroit and Lorraine Marie Lingernann, 69.

The women competed in three categories: talent (50 percent), evening gown (25 percent) and personality (25 percent). Lingermann, a 5-foot, 5-inch blue-eyed singer, is married and has one daughter.

Armstrong is 5-feet, 1-inch tall, has hazel eyes, seven children and 15 grandchildren. She is a widow. For the talent portion of the competition, she gave a dramatic reading.

Davis is 5-feet, 2-inches and has green eyes. A widow, she has one son and one grandson.

Schumacher is 5-feet, 3-inches and has green eyes. She's also a widow and has four children and eight grandchildren. She sang "Til There was You."

Lili Anna Zeyen of Detroit was also a contestant, but was unable to be present. The 69-year-old mother of two and grandmother of five exhibited her oil painting and hand-painted sweatshirts for the talent portion of the contest.

Kids 'n' games

Some of the fun-festers were: Matt Leverenz, Patrick Cohan, Elizabeth Cohan, Anne

Mario's restaurant and Prince macaroni sponsored a Little Kid Pasta Pageant on Sept. 8 — a beauty pageant for boys and girls between 4 and 10 years old.

Batter up

Jamee Marie Chancey of Grosse Pointe Farms won the premium first prize blue ribbon at the 1990 Michigan State Fair for frosted cake baking.

Chancey's first-ever cooking competition was a spice cake with butter cream frosting. It beat the batter out of about 50 other cakes.

Setting it straight

To the Editor:

I think it is time to set the record straight so that the taxpayers of Grosse Pointe understand the difference between the many groups which make up the system we call the Grosse Pointe Public Schools.

There are administrators, building administrators, non-bargaining supervisors, teachers, secretaries, aides, paraprofessionals, parking lot attendants, plant and cafeteria workers. Each of these groups bargain for themselves.

The group I represent is the plant and cafeteria personnel. They are the persons who provide the atmosphere and environment in which your children learn. They maintain the school buildings and provide food services for the students.

Probably the very first impression a parent receives of the Grosse Pointe Public School System is when they enter one of our school buildings. The landscape is well groomed, the hallways sparkle, there is cleanliness throughout and all equipment functions properly. This is accomplished by the plant personnel which are comprised of custodians, engineers, outside site and maintenance department.

The average plant employee works 12 months a year at a base salary of approximately 10 percent less than the lowest paid teacher and 48 percent of the plant employees earn 25 to 30 percent less than the lowest paid teacher.

Our cafeterias rank with the best. The ladies who work in our cafeterias create appealing, but nutritional meals following very restrictive budget and dietary guidelines. The cafeteria is a self-supporting function of the school system and is not subsidized by the district as they are in other school districts.

In the past several years, the cafeterias have encountered difficulties with decreasing revenues due to the off campus and open enrollment policies established by the district. This has resulted in the reduction of necessary staff positions and hours to compensate for the negative cash flow.

The average cafeteria employee works 10 months a year at a base salary approximately 20 percent less than the lowest paid plant employee. Contingent workers comprise almost 50 percent of the cafeteria work staff, working four hours a day or less at slightly above minimum wage and without any benefits.

The benefit package provided to the plant and cafeteria personnel is not the same package offered to the teachers, administrators and other groups throughout the school system.

The group life/accidental death and dismemberment insurance provides only $25,000 for eligible plant and cafeteria personnel. The hospital and medical coverage is the same or nearly the same as Blue Cross/Blue Shield MVF-2 with master medical coverage (option 2, $200 deductible). A mandatory second opinion and pre-admission review riders are added to the coverage. Any cafeteria employee hired after March 1980 is only provided one person coverage but may purchase the additional coverage at their own cost.

The dental plan provided to the plant and cafeteria personnel is the equivalent to the Delta Dental Insurance Plan E (80-80-80). However, the dental insurance coverage for cafeteria employees hired before the execution of this plan is (60-60-60) and no insurance coverage for cafeteria personnel hired after March 1980.

The optical plan provides full family coverage in accordance with MESSA, Optical Plan-2 with the exception of cafeteria personnel who are not covered if hired after March 1980.

Being a taxpayer in this community myself, I can understand Mr. Cook's concern regarding the ever-increasing costs of maintaining a home in the Pointes, especially for those with fixed incomes.

Unfortunately, we are an out-of-formula district with a different tax base from other districts so we must be self-supporting without the benefits of normal state and federal funding to offset the many costs of operating and maintaining a school district such as Grosse Pointe Public Schools.

As president of the plant and cafeteria personnel, my concerns are that all of our employees receive a decent living wage with enough benefits to provide for the care of their families as you must for yours.

I believe the Grosse Pointe Public School System is the finest educational system in the State of Michigan and that with the continued cooperation and understanding of the taxpayers, board of education and employees of the Grosse Pointe Public Schools, we will be able to maintain the quality of excellence that all of us have strived to achieve through hard work and dedication.

After all, the children are what we are all about. Aren't they worth it?

Ronald M. Gavula
President-GPPC/MEA

Teachers deserve the best

To the Editor:

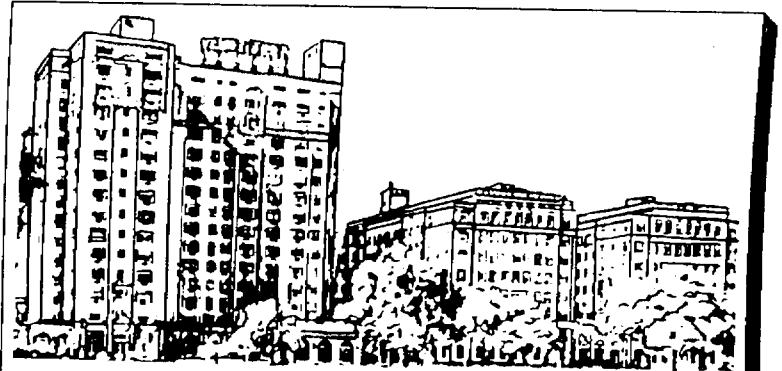

In the article "School board, teachers reach tentative agreement" written by Ronald J. Bernas, included in the Grosse Pointe News on Sept. 6, I found the statement "In a money-saving move for the board, newly hired teachers will not be covered by the traditional Blue Cross/Blue Shield plan" quite ironic.

Although the teachers are new in the district this should not affect their benefits. I think the board should go by experience and the best qualifications when choosing a person to educate the children and definitely should not cut back on such insurance plans.

We must realize that if the teachers suddenly become displeased with their union contract (which has been known to happen before) another strike may follow. Although I am a student in Grosse Pointe and would not mind an extended summer vacation, I do not wish to spend another year in high school because of unsatisfied striking teachers and lost credits.

It is my feeling that the teachers (as the children's educators) should not have their benefits removed or delayed because of some stupid budget cut.

Scholar's lectures range from Islam to pop music

Dr. Robert Giammanco maintains an apartment but believes, "Like (Dutch scholar) Erasmus, I am a citizen of the world."

He is in demand as a lecturer but prefers to keep his itinerary flexible so he may go "wherever stimulating problems, stimulating ideas and an interest in the progress of human intelligence exist." Currently, he is scholar-in-residence at Macomb Community College.

Giammanco, a Fulbright scholar, is an expert in the methodology of social and historical sciences and the sociology of minorities and religion. He was invited by the college's Center for Teaching and Learning to lead a six-session seminar in interdisciplinary teaching for college faculty and to conduct guest lectures in the classroom.

"I hope to promote continuous and unrelenting debate," said Giammanco. "I want them to question themselves and question ideas." In his lectures, some of which will be open to the public, Giammanco will share his insight into the societal implications of everything from Islamic fundamentalism to Madonna.

"She moves millions and represents a stereotype, a reference point for many young people," said Giammanco of pop star Madonna. "She is expressing the spirit, the wishes of a large sector of society. Scholars of human psychology must be aware of these things."

Giammanco is best known in his native Italy for the documentaries he has written and directed for Italian State Television. He has also authored several books and journal articles and has been a visiting professor at several colleges and universities in the United States and Europe, including the University of Florence, Columbia University and Wayne State University. His educational degrees include doctorates in philosophy, and social and historical sciences from the University of Pisa.

One area that particularly interests Giammanco and will be included in his lectures is Islamic fundamentalism, a religious sentiment prevalent in the Middle East. "Current events (such as the conflict in Iraq) should be viewed in terms of their complexity," said Giammanco. "It's more difficult than who is right and who is wrong."

Other topics that Giammanco intends to address during his residence at Macomb include the mass media and television evangelism. "We will see how all these things are products of society and how they influence society," he said. "We will see how this dual relationship is established."

Giammanco will be scholar-in-residence at Macomb through November. He will conduct his first public lecture on Thursday, Sept. 27, from 1 to 2 p.m. in C-101, Center Campus, Garfield and Hall roads in Clinton Township. Giammanco's topic for the free lecture will be "Madonna: Heroine of Our Times."

Magic workshop offered

The "Hat 'n' Hare Mobile Magic Workshop" will be presented at the War Memorial for two weekends.

Created by master magician Mark St. John more than 12 years ago, the workshop has introduced more than 5,000 students to the world of magic. Students learn to develop confidence, motivation and performance skills.

Students must be at least 8 years old. Register by Saturday, Sept. 22, for the workshop beginning Saturday, Sept. 29, 9 a.m. to noon, two sessions. Fee is $25.

Bring a pencil, notebook and two decks of playing cards (one red, one blue) to the second session. Parents are invited to watch the last hour of class.

Call 881-7511 for more information.

Re: War Memorial

To the Editor:

On behalf of myself and other residents of Grosse Pointe Farms who are opposed to the rezoning, as requested by the War Memorial of 40 Lakeshore Road, the former residence of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Griffin, I hereby respectfully request that the action taken by the council at its meeting held Sept. 10, 1990, to rezone the Griffin residence from residential to a non-residential community service center be reconsidered and that a public hearing be scheduled with respect thereto at which time the opponents to the rezoning may be heard.

The following is submitted in support of this request:

1) In view of the substantial opposition to the rezoning expressed by the residents of Grosse Pointe Farms at the Sept. 10 Council meeting and the many petitions against rezoning which were filed at the council meeting, I decided to further investigate the legal ramifications of the rezoning.

2) Preliminary investigation has included an examination of several deeds in the chain of title to the Griffin residence which has revealed the following significant facts:

• On April 24, 1990, Mr. and Mrs. Griffin conveyed the Griffin residence to the John C. Uznis Co. by warranty deed reciting that the Griffin residence was subject to building and use restrictions of record. A commitment for a title insurance policy in the amount of $1.3 million was delivered to a representative of Uznis;

• The title policy commitment in the amount of $1.3 million expressly set forth that the title to the Griffin residence was subject to certain building and use restrictions and listed the county recording reference where such building and use restrictions could be found.

• On May 10, 1990, Uznis deeded the Griffin residence to the War Memorial by warranty deed which also stated that transfer was subject to building and use restrictions of record.

3) An examination of the building and use restrictions of record provides, inter alia, that the Griffin residence is restricted to single family residential use only and such restriction is to remain in full force and effect and be binding upon all present and future owners of the Griffin residence and their heirs and assigns.

While our examination has not been finally concluded, it appears that, on the basis of the facts of record, the use of the Griffin residence is restricted to single family residential and that the rezoning of the property to a non-residential use cannot be legal or effective.

Thank you

To the Editor:

The board of directors of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association would like to thank all those in our community who gave their support to rezoning the adjacent property at 40 Lakeshore to community service. We also thank the Grosse Pointe Farms City Council for the time, efforts and caring they gave to this issue as well.

The property and house represents a wonderful asset for the entire community. The War Memorial will be even better prepared to serve its distinguished mission as a center for family enrichment, learning and community service. It will allow the War Memorial to do a better job of what it does best — to preserve and enhance the quality of life in our Grosse Pointes.

Once again, we thank you.

Josephine Palms Casgrain

Services for Josephine Palms Casgrain, 94, of Grosse Pointe Park, were held Thursday, Sept. 13, at St. Paul Catholic Church in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Mrs. Casgrain died Monday, Sept. 10, 1990, at the Georgian East Nursing Home in St. Clair Shores. She was born in Detroit.

A homemaker, Mrs. Casgrain was involved in several organizations, including the Sigma Gamma Association (sponsor of the Detroit Institute for Children), the Detroit Historical Society, Founders Society-Detroit Institute of Arts, League of Catholic Women, the Garden Club of Michigan, the White Mountain Garden Club, Grosse Pointe Academy's Children of Mary, St. Paul Catholic Church Altar Society and the Country Club of Detroit.

Mrs. Casgrain is survived by her daughters, Josephine D. of Ann Arbor and Isabelle Donnelly of Grosse Pointe Park; sons, Charles W. II of Grosse Pointe Farms and Wilfred V. Jr.; 10 grandchildren; and 11 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Casgrain was predeceased her husband, Wilfred; and a son, Philip.

Burial was in Mount Olivet Cemetery, Detroit.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Sigma Gamma Foundation, Box 36373, Grosse Pointe Farms, 48236, or to the St. Paul Catholic Church Educational Trust, 157 Lakeshore, Grosse Pointe Farms, 48236.

M. Mariane Haythorn Bambas

Services for M. Mariane Haythorn (Reese) Bambas, 80, of Grosse Pointe Woods, were held Sunday, Sept. 16, at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Mrs. Bambas died Thursday,

Speeder arrested in Woods

A Woods officer on Tuesday, Sept. 11, pulled over a speeding motorist on Vernier between Mack and Harper.

When the driver could not produce a driver's license, a check revealed the man's license was suspended and there was an arrest warrant issued by the City of Detroit.

The man was placed under arrest and later released after a court date was set and the man posted $1,000 bond.

from hair salon

A woman who was getting her hair done in a Woods salon was disappointed when she returned to the rear of the store, and noticed her purse was gone.

The purse, which contained cash and credit cards, was in an unattended area of the salon.

An investigation continues.

Cars stolen

A 1988 Pontiac belonging to a Harper Woods woman was taken from a parking space on Mack north of Vernier Sept. 16 or 17.

The woman parked the car when she went to work at 4:15 p.m. Sept. 16. When she got off work at 1:30 a.m. her car was gone. Detroit police later found the car in the 9th Precinct.

A 1978 Oldsmobile Cutlass was taken from the driveway of a home in the 2200 block of East Eight Mile Road sometime Sept. 16. A resident looked out of the home and noticed her son's car was gone. A piece of the car's steering column was found lying in the driveway.

Houses burglarized

A home in the 1000 block of Hawthorne in the Woods was broken into sometime between 11:30 p.m. Sept. 15 and 3:30 a.m. the following morning.

The resident was awakened by a wind chime, which is in the kitchen in front of a window, and was surprised that he had left the window open. He shut the window and went back to bed. In the morning he found the screen had been removed from the kitchen window and a purse taken from a kitchen table.

Two purses were taken from a kitchen table in a home in the 1000 block of Beaconsfield in the Park sometime between 1 and 6:45 a.m. Sept. 11. There was no sign of a forced entry or a search.

Sept. 13, 1990, at Bon Secours Hospital in Grosse Pointe City. She was born in Boston.

Survivors include her daughters, Jeanne Denton Nelson and Karen E.D. Gorman; a son, Thomas R.; 11 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Burial was in Fairview Cemetery, Ann Arbor.

Cleon C. Althaus

Services for Cleon C. Althaus, 79, former Detroit Free Press personnel director, were held Wednesday, Sept. 19, at the Chas. Verheyden Funeral Home in Grosse Pointe Park.

A Grosse Pointe Park resident, Mr. Althaus died Friday, Sept. 14, 1990, at Bon Secours Hospital in Grosse Pointe City.

He began working as the newspaper's personnel director in 1957 and retired in 1974. He was hired in 1955 by Knight Newspapers Inc. to establish personnel departments in several cities.

Known as the "Dean of Personnel" by Free Press veterans, Althaus is credited with helping the careers of many in the journalism field who now are in top management. His former associates also say that Althaus had a great knack for recognizing talent.

He is survived by his wife, Albina; daughters, Kathleen Leavy and Elizabeth Ann O'Grady; a son, Robert; seven grandchildren; and a sister.

Arrangements were made by the Chas. Verheyden Funeral Home, Grosse Pointe Park.

Marian K. Walton

Services were held Sept. 15 at the Peninsula Bible Church in Palo Alto, Calif. for Marian K. Walton who died Sept. 10 at the age of 67.

Mrs. Walton was born and raised in Grosse Pointe.

She is survived by her husband, Howard; daughters, Christina Olson, Julianne, Elizabeth Hanneman and Mary Timmerman; nine grandchildren and a brother, Arthur Kuechenmeister. She was predeceased by two brothers, Carl and Frederick Kuechenmeister.

Arrangements were made by Roller & Haggood & Tinney Funeral Home in Palo Alto, Calif.

Bruce D. Tock

A memorial service will be set at a later date for Bruce D. Tock, 61, formerly of Grosse Pointe.

Mr. Tock died Friday, Sept. 14, 1990, at Cottage Hospital in Grosse Pointe Farms. He was born in Owosso, Mich.

He was an insurance agent.

Survivors include his wife, Carolyn; daughters, Leann and Elizabeth; a son, Daniel; and a brother, Michael.

Memorial contributions were made by the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

Starfest IV

The Our Lady Star of the Sea Elementary parent-teacher group will host Starfest IV on Friday, Sept. 28, from 3 to 10 p.m. on the school grounds on Fairfort in Grosse Pointe Woods. The annual event will include games prizes, a Nintendo Challenge, facepainting, a children's auction, a moonwalk, food, a bake sale, a farmer's market and more. Students awaiting the event are, above, Alexandra Hathaway, Amy Vandenbussche, Danielle Curis and Mary Claire Hathaway.

Bike day to aid cancer center

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital's "Bring-A-Bike Day" safety course will be conducted at St. Peter's Montessori in Harper Woods Friday, Sept. 28, to encourage safe riding behavior among children and raise money to fight childhood cancer.

"Bicycle accidents are a major problem with American children," said Mary Lou Irvine, director of the Montessori program. "According to the National Safety Council, there are an estimated 1,000 fatal accidents and injuries a year involving bicycles."

Parents of children at the Montessori program of St. Peter's school will be seeking pledges for St. Jude Hospital during the program. St. Jude is the leading center for the study of childhood cancer, which, next to accidents, is the leading killer of children.

St. Peter Montessori is located at 19800 Anita, Harper Woods. Registration will be accepted for children ages 3, 4 and 5.

Eastern High plans reunion

The Detroit Eastern High School Golden Years Re-union Committee's 21st annual dinner dance will be held Friday, Oct. 12, at the Polish Century Club on East Outer Drive near 7 Mile Road at 6:30 p.m.

The 50th anniversary of the graduating classes of 1940 will be honored with special attention, but all classes through 1940 are welcome to join in the celebration.

Herbert Fach, who has contributed substantially to the success of the reunions, will be presented with a statuette of an Indian, emblematic of the nickname of the school.

Working toward the success of the reunion are Bethany Tlusty, Gussie Elliott Greenwald, Evelyn Roberts Mayer, Luella Forbes, Allen MacDonald, George Chicovsky and Bill Williams.

Music will be by the Art Baker Trio and will feature music of the '30s and '40s.

General chairman is Robert Weyhing, a former jeweler, who furnished many trophies.

Reservations are necessary; seating capacity is limited to 300.

For further information call Bethy Tlusty at 886-1921 or Gussie Elliott Greenwald at 755-6196.

South's Bob Button, Tower take national honors

Bob Button, journalism teacher at Grosse Pointe South High School, was the recipient of the 1990 Journalism Education Association's Carl Towley Award.

The award is the association's highest honor and is presented to one member whose work is unusually beneficial to the national organization and to the field of scholastic journalism. It will be awarded at the national convention in Indianapolis on Oct. 28.

Button has been an English and journalism teacher at Grosse Pointe South High School and the adviser for the weekly newspaper, the Tower, for 24 years.

His contributions to the group and to scholastic journalism have been numerous. In the early 1970s he served for a term as vice president of the Journalism Education Association.

He was a member of the group's curriculum commission and has served on its national commission studying the role of journalism in secondary education.

In 1988 he received the Dow Jones Journalism Teacher of the Year award. He was also inducted into the Michigan Journalism Hall of Fame, the first scholastic journalism teacher ever to be so honored.

He is the recipient of Columbia Scholastic Press Association's Gold Key, National Scholastic Press Association's Pioneer Award and Michigan Interscholastic Press Association's Golden Pen.

Additionally, the American Newspaper Publishers Association Foundation Cooperative Committee on Journalism Education announced that the Tower was one of only 71 student newspapers from across the country to be recognized for achievement.

The programs were identified by the committee because they have the strong support of their school administrators and produce high quality newspapers without restricting students' basic First Amendment freedoms.

In some cases, schools were cited because they had successfully fended off censorship attempts and won support from administrators.

In recognizing the high school journalism programs, ANPA

Foundation Chairman James M. Moroney Jr. said, "The 1988 Hazelwood decision of the U.S. Supreme Court presented significant challenges to student free press rights. The high school newspapers named by the cooperative committee are among the many all across the United States that encourage excellent work by student newspaper people. We commend them for their diligence and dedication to a strong student press."

South to host back-to-school night

Parents of Grosse Pointe South High School students will go back to school Thursday, Sept. 27, as part of a special program designed to provide parents with an opportunity to meet their student's teachers and become more familiar with the high school curriculum.

Parents will follow an abbreviated version of their student's schedule with the first period scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. with six minutes for passing time between classes. Each of the seven class periods will be 12 minutes in length with the seventh period ending at 9:03 p.m.

During each class period, teachers will define briefly the course of study, describe methods used to develop skills and how they are integrated into the course, list the organizational skills required to understand the content of the course, explain the nature and purpose of the study guides, assignments and tests and interpret the criteria used to evaluate student performance, according to Dr. John Burl Artis, South principal.

Refreshments will be served in Cleminson Hall.

Stay up and watch the stars

The series of planetarium shows scheduled by the Department of Community Education will begin Sept. 20 and will continue throughout the fall with a series of seven new presentations.

"Skies of Autumn," the first of the fall's planetarium shows will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 20. Ardis Maciolek, planetarium director and science teacher, will conduct the series.

"Life in Space," will be presented at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 3.

The third planetarium show in the series, "The Unseen Universe," will be held at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 16. The fourth presentation will be "Geology - The Restless Earth," to be held at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 7.

Next in the series is "What's New Since Hubble," at 7 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 19, to be followed by "The Beginning and the End," on Thursday, Dec. 6.

The final program is "The Christmas Star," which will be held at 7 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 17.

The planetarium is located at Grosse Pointe North High School, 707 Vernier Road, behind the Community Arts Auditorium. Enter the North campus from Morningside Drive and park near the tennis courts. The entrance to the planetarium is the door to the left of the garage door just beyond the tennis courts. No one will be admitted to the planetarium after the program has begun.

The fee for each program is $4. Advance registration is advisable. Call 343-2178.

Youth program needs volunteers

The Grosse Pointe/Harper Woods Youth Assistance Program is accepting applications for volunteer youth counselors. This is an extremely rewarding and challenging position.

If you have at least a bachelor's degree and a desire to be a part of a community-based service agency, call 885-3510 for further information.

Training begins in October.

ULS Homecoming is this Saturday

University Liggett School in Grosse Pointe Woods is hoping that its alumni will heed the call and return to school Saturday, Sept. 22, for ULS' annual Homecoming celebration. And that means all of its alumni.

ULS is the product of several mergers; its predecessor schools include The Liggett School, Detroit University School, the Grosse Pointe School, Grosse Pointe Country Day School and Grosse Pointe University School. All alumni of these schools are invited to the festivities this Saturday, as are ULS's present students and parents, past parents and friends of the school.

There are plenty of activities planned for the day. Beginning at 10 a.m., alumni and guests may watch the following sports: girls' varsity and JV field hockey and boys' varsity and JV soccer. At 1 p.m., ULS's football team, highly ranked in Class C with a 3-0 record, will face Lutheran Westland.

There will be a cook tent where hamburgers, hot dogs and other refreshments will be sold. The ULS Parents' Boards will sponsor a logo store, selling everything from T-shirts to pennants.

For more information, call Mark Dobosz, director of development, at 884-4444.

Fill your leisure time with a hobby

A total of 39 leisure-time, non-credit classes for adults has been scheduled by the Department of Community Education to begin the week of Sept. 24.

St. Paul parents can go back to school

St. Paul School announced its open house for grades six through eight will be on Thursday, Sept. 20, with kindergarten through fifth grade on the following Thursday, Sept. 27.

Both open houses will begin at 7:30 p.m. and parents of all St. Paul school children are invited to attend.

A series of mini-classes that simulate the student's schedule will allow parents to meet all of their children's teachers. In addition to faculty, St. Paul's computer workstation, art, music and Spanish classrooms, the gym and newly renovated library will also be staffed and open. St. Paul's on-staff social worker will also be at both open houses.

According to St. Paul Principal Elizabeth Burns, the two-evening format allows parents more time with the faculty, to ask questions and tour all of the school's facilities. "We're proud of our faculty and educational facilities, and we want to give parents ample time to get acquainted with them," she said.

Schmidt returns to libraries

Margaret Schmidt of Maplewoods Homestead will be back at the public libraries entertaining and educating with her animal friends.

The shows are at 4 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 25, at the Woods Branch Library; Wednesday, Sept. 26, at the Central Library; and Thursday, Sept. 27, at the Park branch.

Students, kindergarten through fourth grade have the opportunity for a close encounter with Tom Turkey and his really unusual chicken pals. Schmidt will tell stories, sing songs and show scenes of autumn at Maplewood Farm.

No registration is necessary and the program is free. For further information call Central Library at 343-2078, the Park branch at 343-2071 or the Woods branch at 343-2072.

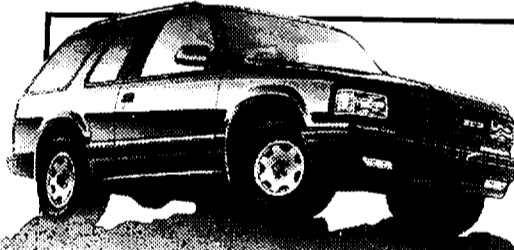

Flower sale is this weekend

Chrysanthemums - the colorful, hardy, outdoor variety - will be on sale this weekend at University Liggett School as part of a fundraising effort by the junior class at ULS.

The mums, which will be available in red, white, yellow, bronze, pink or purple, are $10 per plant. The sale will take place at the University Liggett School field house on Friday, Sept. 21, from 2 to 6 p.m.; and on Saturday, Sept. 22, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The mums are provided by Green Tree Farms, St. Clair. Proceeds from the sale will benefit junior class activities, including the prom, which is hosted by the junior class in April.

Lawyer warns Auburn Hills megamall is bad news for environment

By Ronald J. Bernas
Staff Writer

Planners of the proposed megamall in Auburn Hills — to be named Auburn Mills — want you to shop till you drop at more than 230 stores spread out in two million square feet of shopping space just off I-75 north of Pontiac.

But Karen Kendrick-Hands, a Grosse Pointe environmental attorney fighting the project, says the mall will have a devastating effect on the land and wildlife in the area and indeed over all of southeastern Michigan.

Kendrick-Hands has been fighting the development on behalf of the tiny community of Lake Angelus near the proposed $250 million project. She isn't hopeful about her chances, but adds "sometimes you have to fight the good fight." She is fighting this fight without a fee with the help of Elizabeth S. Harris of the East Michigan Environmental Action Council.

The proposed plan:

- Develop the land along I-75 from Joslyn Road to Baldwin — 230 acres in all — and fill that space with 230 discount stores which will mean two million square feet of retail shopping.
- Upgrade the roads in the area to provide for the 66,000 trips a day to the mall. That adds up to 13 million to 16 million cars a year into and out of the parking lot, which will have enough room for 11,000 cars.

The developer, Western Development, Inc., has two similar malls, one in Virginia and one in Philadelphia. Both have been enormous successes, bringing at least 12 million shoppers a year from across the country by the busload.

Neither of those two malls is as big as the one proposed in Auburn Hills; however, the developers are looking to expand the Virginia megamall by one million square feet.

According to a supporting brief filed by the East Michigan Environmental Action Council (EMEAC), the pollution of the air and waterways — including 32 acres of government-protected wetlands — will devastate the area.

"The developers by law are required to have looked at feasible and prudent alternatives when developing land which contains wetlands," Kendrick-Hands said.

She doesn't believe they have. The wetlands are of major importance to the ecology; losing them would threaten water quality of the nearby Clinton River, which flows into Lake St. Clair.

"Wetlands are like big filters," Kendrick-Hands said. "Water that flows through them becomes purified."

There are two types of wetlands, Kendrick-Hands explains. One which is wet year round, and forested wetlands which are wet only part of the year. They support hundreds of species of wildlife.

In the early '60s there were approximately 11,000 acres of wetlands in Michigan. Today there are 3,000.

Of the 32 acres of wetlands on the mall site, the developers would pave over 16 of them. They have promised to make 19 new acres of wetland, but Kendrick-Hands does not believe that is good enough.

"The remaining wetlands are likely to be seriously degraded by runoff and erosion from the megamall parking lot and construction," said the brief Kendrick-Hands co-wrote with Harris.

Additionally, she does not believe the new wetlands will succeed, because the water runoff from the parking lot will not go into the wetlands to be recharged; instead it will travel down the sewer system to the Galloway Creek to the Clinton River to Lake St. Clair.

"Do you have any idea what's in parking lot runoff?" Kendrick-Hands asks. It contains everything from oil to antifreeze and chemicals such as lead, zinc and copper, she said.

"That water, if not controlled properly, could run through two or three hazardous waste sites," she said.

Another point in the argument against the mall is the air pollution caused by 13 million to 16 million cars circling the parking lot each year. An estimate based on studies shows the carbon monoxide emitted by the shoppers' cars will be greater than the carbon monoxide emitted by Great Lakes Steel in Ecorse.

There is no public transportation which could take shoppers and employees to the mall.

More than 5,000 jobs will be created, but most of them will pay $4.50 an hour.

"You can't get to the mall except by car and you can't afford a car on $4.50 an hour," Kendrick-Hands said.

She also says that the roads would need to be greatly improved which would mean federal road money would go for that purpose, not to Wayne County road projects, and that the effects on the retail shopping industry would stretch as far as the Pointes.

"I really think this will change the cozy little life we have here," she said.

She says the DNR didn't look at the project carefully enough, and applied for a preliminary injunction after the Auburn Hills council approved the project. The injunction was denied, and Lake Angelus appealed. The judge has not made a decision on the appeal.

While the appeal is pending, however, there is a loophole in the law which permits construction to begin.

"I'm not very hopeful," Kendrick-Hands said. "But I feel so strongly about this that sometimes you have to fight the good fight several times to get people's attention."

Arthur Toth, Harper Woods school superintendent, at the left, and Ed Shine, Grosse Pointe school superintendent, flank the students whose work was chosen for the "Why I Like Older People" calendar put out by SOC and the two school districts. The winning students, in no particular order, are Connie Radecki, Heather Books, Thomas Lau, Christing Doher, Jennifer Spinney, Adam Larson, Emily Pope, Justin Matthews, Taryn Stander, Fred Alvarado, Katie Daniels, Leslie Harrell, Kelly Smythe, Amanda Watkins, Christian VanBecelaere, Katie Addison, Alexis Ashley, Daniel Priebe, Michelle Dunn, Danielle DePew, Jackie McClory, Amy Vitale, Jerry Cardani, Chris Miller, Dina Lovisa, John Hadala, Drew Bossler, Meghan Robson, Jill Snyder, Wesley Cadaret, Meredith Wolfe and Phil Peczenik.

Congressman Dennis Hertel to chair hearing on health care

"The Need for Long-Term Care: A Michigan Perspective" will be the focus of a public hearing being chaired by Congressman Dennis Hertel on Monday, Sept. 24, from 1 to 3 p.m. at Macomb Community College in Warren (Building K, Room 301).

Three-ring mystery

A Woods woman called the police on Sept. 13 to report that one of the three rings she placed on her kitchen window sill was missing.

The rings, she contends, were moved by an appliance repairman who was working in the room two days earlier.

When the appliance man left, she noticed one of the rings was missing. It was valued at $1,300.

event is actually a public field hearing of the Subcommittee on Health and Long-Term Care of the House Select Committee on Aging. Congressman David Bonior will join Hertel as co-chair of the hearing.

According to Hertel, the purpose of the hearing is to provide members of the committee and the public with some firsthand insights into the growing need for extended professional care.

Formal testimony will be provided by Dr. Andrew Achenbaum of the University of Michigan's Institute of Gerontology; Professor Leonard M. Fleck of Michigan State University's Center for Ethics and Humanities in the Sciences; Douglas Fraser, chairman of the Committee for National Health Insurance; Roberta Humphries, a home health care specialist, and Olivia P. Maynard, director of Michigan Service for the Aging.

In addition, there will be several witnesses testifying who are the caretakers of long-term care patients and have experienced the emotional and financial hardships involved in providing such care.

"Long term health care needs are a concern for almost every age group in our society," Hertel said. "The testimony given during the hearing will undoubtedly detail the care needed for young adults afflicted with diseases such as lupus and multiple sclerosis as well as the painful stories of senior citizens suffering from Alzheimer's and other afflictions of our aged population."

"If it weren't for older people we wouldn't have a past."

That is what Amanda Watkins, a fourth-grade student at Maire Elementary School, said about senior citizens.

Her comment was chosen to be part of a joint project between Services for Older Citizens (SOC) and the Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods school districts.

"Why I Like Older People," a 1991 calendar and guide to resources for older citizens is illustrated with drawings and quotations from students in the two districts.

All students from kindergarten through sixth grade were invited to participate in the contest last spring. At least one student from each elementary school and the one middle school which entered won.

"The response we had was overwhelming," said Ann Kraemer, executive director of SOC. "We had hundreds of entries; it was very difficult to choose, there were so many good ones."

For example there was "Grandperson, I'm amazed you lived without TV, but I'm glad I have it." And "older people are as gentle as a baby's hand."

Other students liked the way older people stayed young by playing with their grandchildren. One little boy said he could tell his grandma things he couldn't tell other people.

And for the December illustration, a student reminds people they could give an older person a present of love.

The calendar project began after Marge Nixon, head of volunteers for the Grosse Pointe school district, saw a similar calendar at a conference she attended.

The idea is to bridge the generation gap by teaching youngsters to appreciate older people.

The calendar will be sold for $4.50 and all proceeds will go to SOC's programs.

SOC provides:

- An information and referral service which answers more than 3,000 questions concerning the elderly ranging from where to get a flu shot to what to do when a loved one shows signs of deterioration;

- Help in their homes for the elderly who have trouble with the activities of day-to-day living;

- Food and Friendship which provides meals and activities for seniors;

- Meals delivered to homes;
- Minor home repair for those who can't afford it or don't know who to call;

- Respite care in which trained high school students relieve a caregiver for a little while;

Car theft

Last Wednesday, Sept. 12, a Woods woman called the police to report that her 1986 Chevy Club Cab pickup truck was stolen from the Woods Theater parking lot.

Officers investigating the theft found broken glass where the truck had been parked.

- Transportation and support for the Pointes Area Assisted Transit Service;
- Help with taxes for the elderly;
- A television show on Grosse Pointe Cable.

The calendars can be purchased at various places around town including the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, the Neighborhood Club, the Harper Woods Community Center, the Detroit Institute of Ophthalmology, the League Shop, and the SOC offices in Room 132 of Ferry Elementary School.

For more information, call Kraemer at 882-9600.

"the world's funniest final," students will perform their skills in hopes of becoming one of the few, the proud, the foolish. The following day, "contract Sunday," the ax comes down and most of the students will pack their rubber noses, shoes and wigs and head for home.

"The competitiveness is within yourself and you're constantly challenging yourself to do better," DeMercurio said. "I just want to put my heart and everything into the school and get the best from myself. I'll worry about the contract on Oct. 14."

So what would make a 1989 South graduate want to run away with the circus? The answer lies in her senior year at South.

As an extracurricular activity, DeMercurio and a few other South students formed a comedy troupe based on Chicago's famous Second City improvisation club, the one that fueled the careers of Dan Akroyd, John Belushi, Gilda Radner and Shelley Long.

Titled "Second Suburb," the homespun improvisation troupe traveled to the Thespian Festival at the University of Michigan's Flint campus, where DeMercurio ran into a Second City veteran who performed in a Ringling Bros. workshop.

Soon after, she sent in her application to the folks from the "Greatest Show on Earth" and was invited to audition in Rochester, N.Y.

"Basically, I just dropped all my inhibitions and made a fool out of myself and loved it," she said. "You have to totally let go."

At the audition, circus hopefuls were asked to perform freeze frame gestures reflecting such emotions as happiness, sadness and surprise. Because clowns perform these gestures in large stadiums, the actions must be large and exaggerated, with arms and bodies flopping about, she said.

Shortly afterward, the word of acceptance came and DeMercurio prepared for the journey south.

Almost as exciting as being accepted to the school was the greeting the students received once they arrived. With a line of 39 waiting, their guide pounded on the arena doors, which quickly flew open and revealed a full-size, three ring classroom — with all the props.

Once inside, a group of instructors on the college's staff appeared and delivered a rousing standing ovation as the procession of budding clowns strolled past.

"There was music, flashing lights and bubbles everywhere," she said. "It was great."

Besides the physical side of clowning, students also study the clowning philosophies of past greats like Charlie Chaplin, Lucille Ball and Jackie Gleason.

"I won't be heartbroken if I'm not chosen," she said. "I was one of 39 chosen from 2,000, so I made the first cut."

"You get great experience here. What I've learned already is immeasurable. I would use practically everything I've learned here in a comedy routine."

"The best thing is you learn about yourself — to trust yourself and believe in yourself."

"It's been a great personal growing experience and I would recommend it to anyone."

The Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Clown College will hold open auditions on Thursday, Oct. 4, at Joe Louis Arena. For more information, call 1-800-237-9637.

Introductory Dale Carnegie class scheduled

Learn more about the Dale Carnegie course, "Effective Speaking and Human Relations," during a free information session Wednesday, Sept. 26, at 6:30 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Class begins Wednesday, Oct. 17, from 6:30 to 10 p.m.

Students enrolled in the course learn how to gain self-confidence, think more clearly, express ideas effectively, develop a dependable memory and decrease stress in their lives.

The Dale Carnegie course is an original approach to aiding individuals interested in improving their interpersonal relationships, and attaining their goals, regardless of their educational, social or economic backgrounds.

deed fortunate that he has agreed to join the commission staff in this key position."

Face's department is responsible for:

- Prescribing uniform accounting and reporting rules;
- Reviewing various financial reports;
- Analyzing cost and financial evidence submitted by parties to proceedings before the commission;
- Conducting economic and statistical analyses of the transportation industry;
- Compiling and publishing transportation statistics and cost studies;
- Audits of pertinent records of transportation firms; and
- Maintenance of the commission's environmental program.

That's a tall order for a man coming out of retirement, but Face is looking forward to the challenge. He said he has always wanted to get involved in public service.

For the past year, Face has been in Washington, D.C., as a consultant to the Citizens for a Sound Economy Foundation, a conservative think tank.

A conservative Republican himself, Face is all in favor of deregulation. As the former chief economist for Michigan Bell, he knows firsthand about regulations.

His last years at the phone company saw the break-up of AT&T and its phone company subsidiaries into one long-distance company and the independent Baby Bells. He said the break-up has turned out well.

Just getting out of the business of selling phones saved the Bells lots of money and labor. No longer having to fix phones, Michigan Bell was able to put more money into new technology, such as fiber optics, Face said.

The break-up also allowed competition to move into the long-distance business, and even with the proliferation of fax machines and cellular phones, Michigan Bell is doing the job with half the people, Face said.

The break-up of the transportation industry is taking longer, he said. The trucking business was deregulated in 1980, which has opened up competition and driven down prices of transportation, Face said.

The ICC is still involved in watching railroad rates. He said there are still areas in the country that are entirely dependent on a single rail line. Face's job will be to examine the rates and the justification for increases.

Face joined Michigan Bell in 1948 after serving in World War II as a Navy disbursing officer aboard a fleet repair ship in the South Pacific. While being trained at the Navy Supply School at Harvard, he met the woman he later married, Alice, a student at Wellesley.

The Faces have two grown children: Dean, a research scientist at DuPont in Wilmington, Del., and Sally, a systems manager at the BBDO ad agency in New York.

After three decades in the Pointes, the Faces will be moving to Washington after the first of the year. They are looking forward to being closer to their children, and the past year has been tough for them because of commuting back and forth.

Face earned his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Michigan School of Business Administration. His four-year degree is in statistics and economics and his MBA is in finance and accounting.

He said he is pleased to see a heightened interest in economics in college. He said the teaching of economics has improved and is much more disciplined. The use of computer forecasting has been a great help for economists, and Face said the changing world market, such as the opening of Eastern Europe, presents fascinating case studies for economists.

"It's a marvelous time to be studying economics," he said.

clock would be excluded from the ordinance and future business owners would be able to appeal for an exception, therefore limiting the risk of successful litigation.

Robert Novitke, mayor pro-tem, said, "At best, the ordinance would be of questionable constitutionality and at worst it would be unconstitutional. It certainly would not be prudent to enact it, and it would not be in the best interest of the city."

With all opinions stated, the roll call vote was taken and the proposed ordinance received the support of Thomas Fahrner, William Wilson and Beaupre, but it was defeated by Novitke, Jean Rice, Mayor George Freeman and Ted Bidigare.

Catlin said if the city sees a crime problem at restaurants or gas stations, the city must document incidents and address any problems that surface.

That may not be easy since the FBI's 1989 Uniform Crime Report ranked the Woods as having the lowest major crime rate among all cities of 10,000 or more in the Detroit metropolitan area. Major crimes are murder/homicide, assault, robbery, burglary, larceny, auto theft and arson.

City of Grosse Pointe Woods Michigan NOTICE OF MEETING AND AGENDA

A special meeting of the City Council, meeting as a Committee-of-the-Whole in Executive Session, has been called for Monday, September 24, 1990, at 7:30 p.m., to be held in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 20025 Mack Avenue. In accordance with Public Act 267, the meeting is OPEN TO THE PUBLIC, and the topics for discussion will be primarily the implementation of the master plan improvements for Ghesquiere Park as determined by the electorate as well as additional proposed improvements for the said park, namely of which are, but not limited to, as follows:

Soviet art comes to Gallerie 454

By Ronald J. Bernas
Staff Writer

When Mark Doren went to Russia to meet artists there and bring modern work back to show and sell in his gallery, he had no idea what to expect.

The works he brought back — and which will be on display at Gallerie 454 in Grosse Pointe Park — reflect a wide array of styles, subjects and techniques that both surprised and impressed Doren.

"There was a lot of what you'd expect and a lot of what you wouldn't expect," Doren said of Russia and its contemporary art. "The art seems to be an expression of their struggle, but they don't all express it in the same way."

For example: Doren shows a photograph of an oil painting of several happy, smiling, singing Russians in a boat on a river. The colors are bright — almost primary — the scene is curved in an almost comical way. The style is reminiscent of Grandma Moses. The piece reflects an idyllic, peaceful land.

"Then you find out that the guy who did this (Nikolai Nedbailo) has been in prison for 20 years — that's more than half his life — and you wonder where did this come from?" Doren pointed at the painting.

From his talks with Nedbailo through an interpreter, Doren had the feeling the painting — one of several in this style — was a way of showing people how life could and should be.

"He loves Russia, and this is his way of showing it," Doren said.

What is ironic is that while Nedbailo was in prison in Russia, he was not allowed to paint. Now that he's free and able to paint and has some money, he is unable to find materials.

"You hang this in a house in Russia and you see all this color, then you look out your window and see just a gray film over everything. This becomes art in that environment," he said.

But in Russia, people generally don't have art hanging in their houses. Because workers make such meager wages, and most of what they do earn goes to necessities, there is not a big call for artwork.

In fact, in Doren's travels, he noticed that most of the artists had all of their works stacked in a room, or hanging on the wall. With no one to sell it to, there is nothing to do but store it.

Which leads to another point: Because there is no market, Russian artists paint for the purest reasons. They create for the simple fact that they must.

"Their painting comes from the heart," he said. "You find yourself asking 'Why are you painting?' But then you answer yourself 'Because I can't do anything else.' I sometimes wonder what those who didn't paint did to stay sane."

Doren's mission — to introduce Russian art to the American people — was more difficult than he thought. Not only did the different languages present a problem, but Doren's two sides were competing with each other.

On the one hand, Doren is an artist, a painter who appreciates art because he knows first-hand the creative process. Then there is Doren the businessman whose gallery is intended, quite frankly, to make money.

In looking at the art, Doren had to balance his feelings for a piece, or an artist, with what he thought would sell here. Some interesting work was left behind because he knew it was not anything an American collector would buy.

He had to explain, through an interpreter, the idea that just because he didn't want a particular artist's work for his gallery the art wasn't necessarily bad. It might sell in Europe, but not in America. For some artists, it was a harsh form of rejection. For Doren the artist, it was a difficult comment to make.

"There were some political works I saw, but I chose not to bring those," Doren said. "That's not our fight. For us to be showing that type of work I think would demean it."

"Then I thought through picking and choosing are we not, in some ways, deciding what Russian art looks like? That's a hard question."

He thought, at first, that there would be something distinctive about Russian art, an overall style, maybe, or a mood, but he says there isn't. If you weren't told it was done by a Russian, you'd never know, he said. The Russian art show is designed as much to inform people about Russian art as to show it to them.

For decades there were always two types of contemporary artists, those who were sanctioned by the government, and those who were not. The official artists had their work shown and displayed in museums. The unofficial did not.

The subjects, the techniques and the styles do not differ between the two groups; politics perhaps being the only thing separating the two.

With perestroika, the two groups are merging, although government officials are less likely to help the unofficial artists get their work out of the country. Those who agree to help also help themselves to a healthy fee.

Russian art is a new market — basically opening up in 1988 when Sotheby's held an auction in Moscow and determined the prices — so no one knows what to expect. The artists see that a piece of work by a less respected painter went for hundreds of thousands of dollars, while work by an admired artist went for much less. Quite understandably they are confused.

Doren said he gravitated toward the unofficial artists, but the show will contain an equal mixture of work from both groups.

With a lot of the hard work behind him, Doren says the only thing remaining is whether the American public will accept the art.

Doren believes it will.

The works of contemporary Soviet artists will be on display at Gallerie 454 from Sept. 27 through Oct. 17. A preview to benefit the Michigan Cancer Foundation will be held from 5:30 to 9 p.m. Sept. 27. For more information call the gallery at 822-4454.

Above is a painting which depicts the joy one feels upon getting a new pair of boots. It is titled "Brand New Boots" and was painted by V. Shpak. Below is a colorful, whimsical piece by Nikolai Nedbailo and far below is another Nedbailo piece. The work is representative of the showing at Gallerie 454 in Grosse Pointe Park. It is believed to be the largest collection of modern contemporary soviet paintings to enter the United States and was made possible largely through the efforts of KMG International and Sovart Ltd.

Detroit Art Festival scheduled

The Wayne State University campus and the University Cultural Center once again become a 16-block entertainment forum for the fourth annual Detroit Festival of the Arts Friday and Saturday, Sept. 21 and 22, from 11 a.m.-7:30 p.m., and Sunday, Sept. 23, from 11 a.m.-6 p.m.

More than 300 dancers, actors, musicians, acrobats, mimes, jugglers, street and stage performers will participate. In the Artists Market along Cass and Kirby 100 visual artists from across the country will offer their original artwork for sale.

More than 250,000 people are expected to attend the festival, which will feature four stages of continuous musical and cultural performances including jazz, blues, gospel and rock artists.

Headliners are Sugar Blues, appearing on Friday, and the Great Lakes Music Association on Sunday afternoon at 3:30 p.m.

Wayne State art faculty will present an exhibition at the Community Arts Gallery, featuring paintings, drawings and watercolors that are figurative and landscape in nature. The official 1990 festival poster displays the colorful Rio Night, a multimedia abstract artwork of Robert Martin, faculty member.

The WSU Jazztet will perform Friday from 11:30 a.m.-1 p.m. on the WSU stage, Cass at Putnam, and Purdy Library will sponsor a book sale on Sunday.

Other entertainment runs through Saturday and Sunday. The popular WJBK-TV Children's Fair, "Wonder World," a major family fun project with over 40 hands-on activities for youngsters, is centered on the WSU Gullen Mall.

Art on the Move installation of several large-scale interpretive works by resident artists from the Detroit Department of Recreation program will be located at various sites throughout the area.

A new feature this year is the Food Extravaganza, offering healthy food dishes provided by Friar Tuck's and other restaurants.

In addition, Vertamae Grosvenor, Bob Holman and other nationally recognized poets will read their works on Saturday, 11 a.m.-5 p.m., and Sunday, 1 p.m.-4:30 p.m., at the Engineering Society Theatre, 100 Farnsworth.

At the all-day Sunday spectacular Family Kite Fest, children and adults can learn the art of kite-making while experiencing fun demonstrations of kite-flying along Woodward Avenue.

Artist Joanne Sartor of Grosse Pointe Farms will display her collection of geometric jewelry, in which she uses a background of basswood shapes decorated with a combination of acrylic paints, marbelized papers and gold leaf. She adds graphic tapes and imported brown or gold tip Philliping clam shells. Sartor also designs porcelain faces and is researching the Oriental art-form, OshiE, for future projects.

Admission to the festival and most of the performances is free. However, some entertainment requires the purchase of a $3 button. The button is available at various locations throughout the city and entitles one to a 5 percent discount on artwork, some performances and festival souvenirs. Children under 12 are not required to purchase a button. T-shirts, posters and calendars will be available at information booths.

Gerald V. MacDonald, chairman and CEO of Manufacturers National Bank, is chairing the event. Some corporate sponsors and contributors are AAA Michigan, Ameritech Publishing, AT&T, Blue Cross/Blue Shield, Bundy Corp., The Center Companies, Comerica, Deloitte & Touche, Detroit Edison, Ford Motor Co., Health Alliance Plan, Manufacturers Bank, MichCon, Michigan Bell, Michigan Council for the Arts, Michigan National Corporation, National Bank of Detroit, Philip Morris, WJBK and Wayne State University.

For more information call the University Cultural Center Association office at 577-5088.

Mum's the word

The Brownell Middle School fall mum sale and car wash will be Saturday, Sept. 29, in the Brownell parking lot. Yellow, white, rust or purple mum plants in 6-inch pots are on sale now for $6 each and can be picked up between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. the day of the car wash. All orders must be prepaid. Checks may be made to Brownell PTO by Sept. 24 and mailed to Candy Sylvester, 269 Chalfonte, Grosse Pointe Farms, 48236. A car wash the same day costs $3. All proceeds from the events go toward PTO activities.

Topic of talk is children's temperament

Dr. Michael D. McMillan will be guest parenting speaker at Assumption Nursery School Wednesday, Oct. 3, when he will discuss "Temperament of Children."

He will explain the differences that appear to be inherent in children. What is temperament and what does it consist of from a psychological developmental point of view?

He will also talk on "goodness of fit." Parents have expectations when their children are born, and, at times, a child does not meet or "fit" those expectations. His talk also will deal with the "willful child."

McMillan is a psychologist in private practice, an adjunct professor at Wayne State University and is on the staff at St. John Hospital in Behavioral Pediatrics.

The parenting talk will at 7 p.m. at the Assumption Nursery School and Toddler Center, 22150 Marter Road in St. Clair Shores. Babysitting will be available for $1. Fee for the talk is $2.

War Memorial plans annual meeting, dinner

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association board of directors invites the community to participate in a review of the past fiscal year at the annual meeting Thursday, Oct. 4.

Dinner is 6:30 p.m. and the meeting is at 8 p.m.

The brief business meeting includes the election of three new directors by members of the association. All are welcome to attend the meeting at no charge. Reservations for dinner are due by Monday, Oct. 1, and are $11.50 per person.

For reservations, call 881-7511.

Street performers such as those seen above will entertain at the Detroit Festival of the Arts scheduled for Sept. 21-23 in the Wayne State University Cultural Center.

Hill merchants plan Sunday event

The Hill Association Merchants plan a gala event, "Hill Harvest," Sunday, Sept. 30, from noon to 5 p.m.

The area is on Kercheval between Fisher Road and Muir Road.

The street will be filled with activity. There will be strolling musicians, food, free health screenings, craft demonstrations, Ninja turtles, a former Tiger baseball player to sign autographs and the Hill Harvest game card.

Have your card stamped and deposit it in the bin in front of the Grosse Pointe News to be eligible to win a trip arranged by Connolly Travel.

The grand prize winner will have a choice of a weekend for two in Chicago by air or Toronto by rail. Second prize will be an overnight stay at The River Place Inn.

Potted balloons in fall colors will adorn the shops of participating merchants where special promotions will be offered.

Less brassy, classier 'Guys and Dolls' plays well at Stratford

By Alex Sucek
Special Writer

The oldest established floating crap game in New York is now in Stratford and even though it is no secret who wins, the excitement runs as high as ever. In fact, the revival of "Guys and Dolls" is a double pleasure.

Along with putting on a great show, the festival troupe recalls the inimitable characters and style created by the most quintessential of all New York genre writers, Damon Runyon.

You can't go wrong with creations like Nicely-Nicely Jones who "commits eating," Harry the Horse, Angie the Ox and Big Jule, the terror of Chicago's gangland.

Then, of course, there is Nathan Detroit who runs the crap game. He provides a major subplot with his search for a safe place to hold the game while trying to evade marriage to his doll, Miss Adelaide.

Even the dialogue and lyrics are in Runyonesque which limits every utterance to a simple declarative sentence in the present tense. This was rendered by Abe Burrows, author of the musical's book, with just the right degree of compromise to avoid cuteness.

All of which helps make "Guys and Dolls" one of the best shows from the era of America's greatest musicals. The spirit of Runyon emerges perfectly with the musical form. What, then, is needed for an evening of great entertainment is a cast that renders the style really well and a production that takes full advantage of the plot's many highly energized and bizarre situations. Stratford's troupe does both in a fashion that is less brassy and classier than what we get in a typical New York production.

Led by Sky Masterson, whose name in Runyonesque defines the upward limit of his bets, the Stratford company parades before us Runyon's enduring caricatures of petty Times Square hoods and their dolls with verve and moxie.

It is fun, incidentally, to speculate on the experience of an actor like Scot Wentworth making the transition several times a week from performing Mark Anthony in "Julius Caesar" to play Sky Masterson. Is that one of the things that keeps this company sounding so fresh with already three months of performances behind them? If, as some of the Stratford actors say, this is true, it is a big plus for repertoire.

From the moment that boy (gambler Sky Masterson) meets girl (Salvation Army missionary Sarah Brown) the improbabilities abound. Who would believe that a real-life Sarah, for example, would ever fly with Sky to Havana for a day, get high innocently on dulce de leche and fall in love with the lowlife gambler whose soul she set out to save? Marie Baron as Sarah carries it off and brawls her way through one of the best fight scenes in a musical with the Cuban dance hall siren she perceives as competition.

And the caricatures are both funny and endearing, as they should be in a musical. Karen Edissi as Miss Adelaide, doing her nightclub show in The Hot Box Club, recalls for us one of the show's hit songs. It is an example of the mindless pop tunes of the era — "I Love You a Bushel and a Peck" — and she performs it with an accuracy that is unnerving for anyone who recalls the era. Then she ate that Brian MacDonald served as both director and choreographer. Most moves, from the Havana brawl to Nicely's testimony number, are choreographed even though they are not precisely dance numbers. The effect is a flow of action that emphasizes and expedites the progress of the play.

When the action explodes into a real dance number, like the crapshooter's ballet, the musical comedy segues into one of its most wonderful traditions and MacDonald shows he knows his business. His choreographer takes special advantage of the unusual configuration of the Festival stage and brings a heightened sense of fantasy to the dances.

At one point most of the company crouches off the edge of the main stage and beats on it rhythmically, like a giant drum, with tremendous impact. MacDonald owes a debt to the innovations of Agnes deMille and Jerome Robbins, but his is a contemporary treatment and bears his original stamp with plenty of delightful new ideas.

Stratford's "Guys and Dolls," in fact, is no imitation of somebody else's historic production. It is a fresh and valid revival of a show that can well claim to be a classic in a great tradition.

And there is still time to see this one, too. It runs through Nov. 9. For tickets and information in the Detroit area, call 964-4668.

tops it with a rendering of "Take Back your Mink" that couldn't be more in character.

Others have their hit tunes, too. Sarah, climaxing the boy-gets-girl phase of the plot, stirs memories with "If I were a Bell I'd be Ringing" and Nicely-Nicely, played by Jim White, along with the assemblage of gamblers, paying off a bet by attending a service at the Save A Soul Mission, bring down the house with his testimony, "Sit Down You're Rockin' the Boat." Sky himself sings the number that is the most exciting and significant plot-wise, "Luck Be a Lady Tonight."

Along with song, of course, there is dance and it is appropri-

'Postcards From the Edge' is a triumph for Streep, MacLaine

By Marian Trainor
Special Writer

In "Postcards From the Edge," Meryl Streep breaks out of the dramatic roles she played in "Out of Africa" and "Silkwood" to do a comedy — and what a warm, funny performance she gives!

She moves into the part with a grace and ease that makes it appear that she is living the role rather than acting it. Her delivery of the sometimes subtle, sometimes ironic wit is accented by a lift of the eyebrow, a knowing smile or a look that adds spin and sizzle to the one-liners.

Based on Carrie Fisher's 1987

novel which many readers believe was based on her experiences and her relationship with her mother, Debbie Reynolds (Fisher denies it) the film follows the story of Suzanne Vale (Meryl Streep), a well-known actress.

The story takes place over the months in which she emerges from a drug-rehab clinic and moves in with her self-conscious mother, Doris (Shirley MacLaine), who had been a big star.

From the beginning it is a shaky arrangement. Streep has literally been sentenced to her mother's home after being dumped off unconscious from a drug overdose at an emergency ward.

When she regains consciousness and is told that she must have her stomach pumped, she says: "Do I have to stay here while it is done?" It is a telling remark, one of many that reveals her fear of showing feelings and the need she has to hide behind her mother.

Her mother has her own abuse problems. She is an alcoholic. When confronted, she denies it with "I'm no longer an alcoholic. I just drink like an Irish person."

Following an epistolary style, the film traces Suzanne's post-rehab days marking the experience that charts her growth from an overgrown adolescent feeding on her own anxieties to her final acceptance of herself.

As it drops the postcards but keeps the edge, it gives a poignant but humorous account of Suzanne's inner struggle with her insecurities and also hilarious send-up of a show-biz mother-daughter relationship and the workaday absurdity of Hollywood moviemaking.

Macomb Symphony opens Oct. 12

At 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 12, the Macomb Symphony Orchestra, will begin its 16th season with "A Polish Celebration."

Pianist Leszek Bartkiewicz will be the featured soloist in the music of Chopin. The Wavel Dance Ensemble will perform folk and courtly dances to the music of Moniuszko, Stefani and Streep and McLaine make a touching pair of embattled misfits. MacLaine plays a well-meaning but maternal pain-in-the-neck movie mother. Without realizing it, she upstages Streep whenever they are together. She does the talking when a producer tries to set up guidelines for Streep's new film, she tries to move in on her daughter's date and puts on a glitzy party to welcome Suzanne home from the rehab, but claims center stage herself.

She nags her daughter at every turn to tell her why she resents her, but when she gets a straight answer she blows up and denies all, making the situation worse.

Nevertheless, her love and concern for her daughter show through. She is likable, funny and high-spirited. She gives a rip-roaring rendition of Sondheim's "I'm Still Here."

She has the redeeming grace of being able to laugh at herself. She worries about her appearance in the hospital where she has been taken after a minor accident.

In a touching scene we see her without a wig or makeup and watch Streep lovingly help her to look presentable for the press who will be waiting to interview her when she is released. "I don't mind being old," she says. "I just don't want to look old."

The absurdities of Hollywood are pointed up in a scene in which Streep, still shaky from drugs, goes back to work. She is playing a cop in a junk picture that has her terrorized by snakes on the first day of shooting and hanging by her fingernails from skyscrapers the next.

Director Mike Nichols enhances "Postcards" with a solid supporting cast that amounts to cameo appearances. Streep's encounters with Dennis Quaid, a womanizing producer, Richard Dreyfus, a concerned doctor, and Gene Hackman, a solid director, are all played out.

MacLaine is in a role similar to her Oscar-winning performance in "Terms of Endearment" and she is as sharp, witty and loving as she was in that film.

But the final triumph is Streep's. She projects the desperation in one-liners but keeps the delivery light.

"Postcards," by any measure, is an outstanding achievement for both cast and director. It is immensely entertaining and never more so than at the end when Streep belts out a Western style "Heartbreak Hotel." The song continues all through the closing credits and no one chooses to leave. It would have been great to call out "encore" and have it run through again.

'Noises Off' at Hilberry

The Hilberry Theatre opens its 28th season with the President's Preview of Michael Frayn's backstage farce, "Noises Off," on Saturday, Oct. 6. Performances continue through Nov. 17.

The play recounts the misadventures of a troupe of fifth-rate actors as they perform a sex farce titled "Nothing On" during a fleabag provincial tour.

The noises off are the backstage yelps and battle cries of the actors, who are entangled in a sex farce of their own. The second act is set behind the scene at a performance of "Nothing On."

While the actors on the far side of the set invisibly call out their lines, those on the near side conduct a frenzied chase with a wine bottle, a cactus plant, bouquets of flowers and a fireman's ax.

Frayn came up with the idea for the farce one night in 1970 as he stood in the wings of a London theater watching a performance of a quick-change, arms-flapping farce he had written for Lynn Redgrave and Richard Briers.

The idea worked and became a successful comedy in London as well as on Broadway. It was included as one of the Best Plays of 1983-84 in Dodd, Mead & Company's annual publication, and also enjoyed a national tour.

Principal roles are played by Hilberry veterans Nancy Lipschultz, Catherine Coscarelli and Kate Willinger, joined by newcomers Max Baker and Richard Hamblin.

The Hilberry production is directed by Anthony Schmitt. Set design is by St. Clair Shores native Monika Essen, costume design by Mary Beth Robinson, and lighting design by Mark Dean.

"Noises Off" will run in repertory with "Twelfth Night" through Nov. 17. For ticket information, call the Hilberry box office at 577-2972.

Stratford's 'As You Like It' dazzles in Canadian setting

By Alex Suzek
Special Writer

With "As You Like It" at Stratford this summer, Director Richard Monette and Designer Debra Hanson have brought the festival to a major watershed on two impressive counts.

They have matched the glory of Stratford's golden years (the '50s) when Sir Tyrone Guthrie was artistic director and Tanya Moisevich was designer, with a production that sparkles and enchants from beginning to end. The ebb and flow of performers and scenes are so seamless and the performances so finely tuned, that the audience is totally caught up in the delightful illustrations of the play.

In addition, Monette and Hanson have, perhaps for the first time, given the production of Shakespeare a thoroughly Canadian character. They and the festival are to be congratulated on both counts.

This play is easily Shakespeare's most charming and idyllic as it transports lovers and philosophers (all the good guys) from the grim reality of a cruel world to the blissful escape of the Forest of Arden. There they pursue their loves and fancies to our delight and entertainment.

Monette and Hanson were inspired when they chose to set the play in "Quebec City and on L'Île d'Orleans in the fall of 1758." The Forest of Arden suddenly becomes the woodlands and waterways of colonial French Quebec complete with Indians, a birchbark canoe, game and voyageurs — in short, Acadia. Courtiers sport 18th century-style leather britches, a shepherd wears one of those beautiful Hudson Bay blanket coats and the ladies' gowns — especially for the mass wedding that ends the play — are in a flowing country style, set off by stunning, large hats.

But it does not end there. Happy moments in the play are punctuated with French Canadian country dances and the music is an arrangement of a dozen of the most nostalgic and charming French Canadian folk songs.

At the finale, one of Shakespeare's most famous songs, "It Was a Lover and His Lass," undergoes one of its most successful re-renderings, this time as a lively country jig. It brought smiles to the faces and tapping to the feet of even those unaware of the song's long history and many settings.

Strange as it may sound, it all works marvelously. "As You Like It" finds a home in Acadia and, dazzled by this imaginative production, the audience finds the play all the more enchanting.

Yet the setting has to take a back seat to the performance. Lucy Peacock, who attributes her ability to be boyish to growing up with rough and tumble brothers, is a Rosalind as convincing in her male disguise as she is ravishing in her full-skirted white gown and hat. One of the many reminders of Stratford's great early years, in fact, is her excellent diction and the ease with which she projects her voice and the mischievous charm of her role to the farthest corner of the Festival Theatre.

But the success of this production does not depend on Rosalind alone (as it did with Katherine Hepburn's famous performance). Here the entire ensemble weaves a web of romance and escapism with each role a gem of characterization.

Ron Sarosiak's Orlando is appealing in his boyish sincerity, tender in his care for old Adam, gripping in his beautifully choreographed wrestling match and moonstruck in his love for Rosalind.

Marie Baron, standing, is Celia. Lucy Peacock is Rosalind and Ron Sarosiak is Orlando in "As You Like It" at the Stratford Festival through Nov. 10.

Touchstone, played as a killed Scotsman by William Dunlop, makes a highly entertaining, adventuresome Fool as he accompanies Rosalind and Celia (played by Marie Baron) in their voluntary exile. His wooing of the early milkmaid, Audrey (played by Anne Wright), is a hilarious courtship of a cruder sort, in contrast to the idylls of Rosalind and Orlando.

Against this background of woodland fantasy and lovers' pursuits, Peter Donaldson as Jaques recites the famous ages of man speech with amusing pomp. (He replaced Artistic Director David William in the role Aug. 11, to allow William to work on planning next season).

Donaldson's Jaques is a welcome melancholy foil to the sentimental amusements of the rest of the cast.

It is difficult to imagine a more engaging and satisfying rendering of this play. It is performed often, yet this production has so much originality and skill that it is as fresh as a new smash hit. Moreover, given its ingenious Canadian setting, it makes still another argument for Stratford's recognition as Canada's National Theatre.

It is also still possible to see it. "As You Like It" runs at the Festival Theatre until Nov. 10. Tickets and information are available in the Detroit area by calling 964-4668.

'May Fools' at DIA

"May Fools," the new film by French director Louis Malle, plays at the Detroit Film Theatre in the Detroit Institute of Arts Sept. 21-23.

Using the French student and worker demonstrations of 1968 as a backdrop, "May Fools" wryly chronicles the greedy antics of an upper class family as they gather at their country estate to settle the will of their matriarch. The story is told through the observations of an eccentric old man who has spent his life on the estate.

In upcoming months, French film lovers can enjoy other fine offerings presented by the DFT. Among them are a two-weekend engagement of Bertrand Tavernier's film, "Life and Nothing But" on Oct. 12-14 and Oct. 19-21. On Nov. 3, the fully restored version of Bertrand Blier's 1974 film "Going Places," starring Gerard Depardieu and Isabelle Huppert, will be presented.

Showtimes for "May Fools" in the DIA Auditorium are 7 and 9:30 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays. Sunday screenings are at 1, 4, 7 and 9:15 p.m.

Individual tickets are $4 and are available either by mail or at the DIA ticket office. Books of 10 coupons are available for $25 and may be used at the door for single or multiple admissions to all films. Coupons are valid for one year from the date of issue. For more information on advance ticket purchases, call 833-2323.

Rossetti architectural legacy lives on in third generation

By Dan Jarvis
Staff Writer

When a member of the Rossetti family speaks, people in architectural circles stop and listen.

Headed by noted Detroit architect Gino Rossetti, 56, the Grosse Pointe family is carrying on a family legacy that dates back to turn-of-the-century Europe.

That legacy today has led to an impressive list of design projects including the Palace of Auburn Hills, the downtown Hudson's building renovation, several large office complexes and a few Canadian sports arenas and hotels.

As president of Rossetti Associates in downtown Detroit and Los Angeles, Rossetti as a child lived in a house in Grosse Pointe Park designed by his father, the late Louis Rossetti.

Born in Paris in 1895, Louis spent his youth in Germany and Italy. He later became a commissioned officer in the Italian army during World War I. After the war he pursued his architectural education in Europe.

While teaching architecture at the University of Rome, Louis won an Albert Kahn scholarship and immigrated to the United States in 1926. Soon after, he became an associate of the nationally known firm of Giffels and Vallett in Detroit.

It was during this time that the firm produced numerous sizable projects including the Cobo Hall Convention Center.

Some 60 years later, Gino, the patriarch, is carrying on the family's architectural legacy.

Rossetti, who went to Pierce Middle School, and his wife, Donna, have four children, all graduates of Grosse Pointe South. Also, most of the Rossettis at one time or another have worked at the architectural firm established by their father.

Dina, a 1976 South grad, studied architecture and drafting in high school and later earned a bachelor's degree in business from the University of Michigan.

She also worked in the company's L.A. office for some time.

Matthew, a '79 graduate of South, is a full-time architect with Rossetti Associates. After studying drafting and architecture in high school, Matthew earned a bachelor's and master's in architectural design, also from U of M.

His younger sister, Andrea, class of 1980, earned a bachelor's degree in business from the Northwood Institute and owns her own business.

And the youngest daughter, Miga, graduated from South in 1982 and earned a fine arts degree from U of M. As a graphic designer, Miga also performs work for Rossetti Associates.

If you ask Matthew, the next generation's patriarch, what is on the horizon for the company, he will tell you that the agenda is full.

At the top of the list is the Detroit Metropolitan Airport expansion, which involves a new national and international terminal interconnected by a modern underground rail system.

Matthew is heading up the "reskinning" of the Northfield Plaza complex along I-75 near Crooks Road. Now in the working drawing stage, the complex when complete will feature blue tinted glass fascia with several backings at different spots on the structure.

The effect will be a diamond

Business People

By Ronald J. Bernas

Two Grosse Pointe residents have been elected officers of The Salvation Army's Metropolitan Detroit Advisory Board and another has been elected to the board. Dale Austin of Grosse Pointe is the new second vice chairman and Kurt O. Tech of Grosse Pointe Shores became the new treasurer. James E. Long of Grosse Pointe Farms was newly named to the board. Austin has been on the board since 1981 and is also active with The Salvation Army Auxiliary. Tech is a private management consultant since his retirement as president of The Cross Co. He has served on the Army's Metropolitan Detroit Advisory Board since 1985. Long is president and general manager of WJR-AM Radio. He has been employed since 1964 by Capital Cities/ABC, Inc., which owns WJR and numerous other broadcasting facilities around the country.

Boll

Chateau Land Development Co. has named Grosse Pointe Shores resident Kristine L. Boll director of the newly opened fully licensed La Petite Child Care Center at Chateau of Macomb in Macomb Township. She will continue to oversee the company's first La Petite Child Care Center in Chateau of Anchor Bay in Ira Township, where she has been the director since it opened in 1987. In August, Boll and Chateau La Petite Child Care Center II were honored for their progressive practices in the area of child care.

Edward J. Abraham has joined Jay Alix & Associates as an associate of the suburban Detroit-based firm of corporate turnaround and insolvency specialists and certified public accountants. His responsibilities at the firm include insolvency and bankruptcy accounting. Abraham, formerly of Grosse Pointe, comes to the firm from the corporate audit staff of Unisys where he supervised financial and operational audits of all business segments and was responsible for recommending improvements in accounting and operational controls.

Michelle Spivak of Grosse Pointe Park was named associate director of O.K. Harris Works of Art gallery in Birmingham. The gallery is an affiliate of the famed O.K. Harris gallery in New York City founded by Ivan Karp. Spivak attended Ohio Wesleyan University and Wayne State University. She is the former director of The Michigan Gallery and serves on the Founders Junior Council Board, Detroit Institute of Arts, the board of the Detroit Focus Gallery and the board of the Wayne County Council for the Arts.

James C. Greenfield was promoted to senior vice president of the Wharton Resource Group, a national management consulting and financing organization specializing in the needs of small- and medium-sized businesses. A partner in the consulting firm, he previously held executive level positions with Fortune 500 companies. Most recently, he was president and chief executive officer of J.L.A.L. Associates, Inc., a consulting firm focused on national retail franchise development and international marketing. Greenfield received his bachelor's and master's degrees in business from the University of Maryland. He lives in Grosse Pointe.

Dansbury

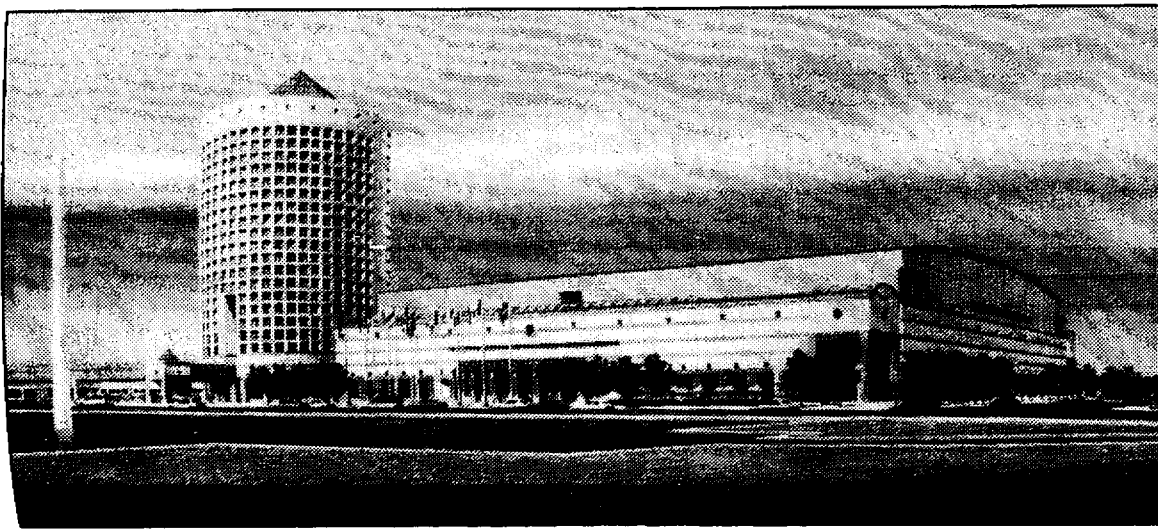

Jay Dansbury of Grosse Pointe Woods was appointed regional sales director for RTF Associates. Dansbury brings more than five years of successful involvement within the sanitary maintenance and building contractor industry. He will be working exclusively with distributors in the state. RTF Associates is a leading sales and marketing organization with more than 75 years of combined sales marketing experience.

Addison Group, Inc., an advertising and marketing agency in Grosse Pointe, promoted Suzanne Ceppos to the position of associate creative director. Ceppos joined the group in 1989 as senior copywriter after serving as copywriter on the Ford account at J. Walter Thompson. Previously, she held similar positions at Ross Roy and McCann-Erickson, working on K mart, Ameritech Publishing, Michigan Department of Commerce and Buick.

Our Lady Star of the Sea School has appointed Marcia Scavarda as director of development. In this capacity she will be responsible for the parish community's capital and annual fundraising efforts and for alumni and parent programs. Scavarda comes to the school from Detroit Country Day School where she served as director of development and alumni relations. She is a resident of Grosse Pointe Park.

plated collage of color and shape which will change shades throughout the day, depending on the angle and intensity of the sun.

Also on the list is the Palace Gardens Amphitheater, to be located adjacent to the Palace of Auburn Hills.

The company has completed initial designs for the soon-to-be-built Ottawa Paladium, near Canada's capital city.

When completed, the Paladium and adjacent hotel will feature suites which surround the arena without sacrificing the view for sports patrons.

And recently, Rossetti Associates won a competition to design the future arena for the Windsor Spitfires, a class-AAA hockey league team.

Gino Rossetti is currently traveling in China where he is leading a delegation of architects from the United States on an exchange tour sponsored by the American Institute of Architects.

While he's away, Matthew is the family spokesman.

When asked about the family's secret of success in attracting major projects, he said the company's reputation in the architecture business is solid.

"We put a high premium on design excellence," Matthew said, "and that means sacrificing a lot of time making sure the design is right. We also make sure the clients are happy and get what they're looking for."

Nissan introduces world-wide sports car to U.S.

The Nissan 300ZX Turbo Automatic has all the high-tech goodies we have come to expect from world-class Japanese sports cars and then some, but there is a surprise too — with its seemingly limitless surge of power delivered smoothly and without hesitation through an automatic transmission it feels like an American muscle car that can turn, stop and handle.

This latest incarnation of the Datsun Z car fulfills the promise that fans saw in those earlier competent but hardly exotic sports coupes. Having shed the Datsun name, the 300ZX Turbo Automatic is a worthy competitor not only to the Corvette, but to some much more expensive exotics from Europe. Its price tag of around $34,000 may not seem cheap, but it is in that league.

There has long been a prejudice against automatic transmissions among sports car buffs and that made a lot of sense in earlier days. Back in the '50s, automatic transmissions could not stay within easy eyeshot of the same car fitted with a four-speed manual.

The spread of the five-speed manual was not so much to widen the gap, but to keep up with improvements in high-performance automatics. Sometime in the '60s, automatics began rivaling manual shifts. In the hands of an expert driver, the manual transmission would still beat the automatic. But most buyers of high-performance V-8s found that their zero-to-60 acceleration was better with an automatic than with a stick.

Traditional sports car fans turned up their noses at Corvette for a long time because through most of its existence, it has been available only with an automatic transmission. Chevrolet offers it with a five-speed manual now, but its automatic will shift gears better than most drivers, so almost 85 percent of Corvettes still are built with an automatic transmission.

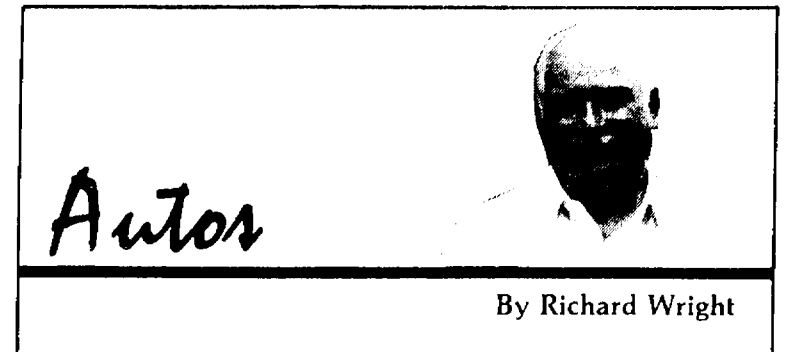

Foreign sports cars more commonly came with four- and then five-speed manual transmissions and the thought of a Datsun Z-car with automatic seems odd.

But it isn't, not now anyway. The new Nissan 300ZX Turbo sports car that is far more user friendly than most. It is smooth, it handles like an extension of yourself and it looks so good that people on the street often comment. And when you punch it, it moves out as if it has a 455 V-8 under the rounded, sloped hood.

Under the hood is a high-tech dream, a weekend mechanic's nightmare. The three-liter V-6 with its twin intercooled turbochargers, electronic engine control system and port fuel injection literally fills all available space from fender to fender and radiator to windshield cowl. You cannot see the spark plugs, let alone remove them. So if you like to tinker, beware.

But if you enjoy high-performance driving, this engine compartment full of mysterious looking equipment will let you do it. The automatic transmission, which gives this Z car such a friendly feel, is similar to the unit developed for the Infiniti Q45 sedan sold by Nissan's silkstocking division. It is a four-speed with lockup torque converter.

Use of two intercooled turbochargers has eliminated any discernible turbo lag and in case you were worried that Nissan had overlooked any engine performance technology, the V-6 has dual overhead cams and 24 valves, four per cylinder, in its aluminum heads (the block is iron). Port fuel injection is electronically controlled, as are all engine functions.

The result is a smooth and extremely responsive flow of power to the rear wheels which drive this remarkable car. Suspension is not harsh, nor is it soft, but just right. A switch on the console allows selection of "sports" or "touring" mode, but touring works fine unless you've got something unusual in mind.

The speedometer goes up to 160 and maybe the car does too, but not wanting to tempt fate or the State Police, I resisted the enormous temptation to "open'er up." In normal interstate driving (which can get fairly rapid), you will never feel you are going as fast as you are, so be careful. The car can probably go beyond your limits of fear, but the law says be cool.

The car's styling is impeccable

1990s Japanese, with rounded and sloped aerodynamic exterior and tasteful, ergonomically correct interior. Seats are so comfortable you pay them little heed once you've got them adjusted to your body. And they support your body so that you can drive all day in comfort.

The test car had a T-top with removable panels. Nissan was not the first with T-tops, but there are none easier to remove and put in. With the panels out, you get all the joys of top-down convertible driving. And when they're in, they are tight, no leaks, no rattles.

Be prepared for total strangers coming up to inspect your car. Motorists driving cars that look pretty good will holler "Nice wheels!" at red lights.

Nissan said its goal with this newest Z car was to make it the best sports car in the world. A tough claim to dispute.

Sandi Jorgensen, promotion co-chairman of the AAUW Used Book Sale, demonstrates what can be purchased for $3 on the last day of the sale.

Saturday, Oct. 6, is bag sale day and patrons are invited to buy an AAUW bag for $3 and cram it with as many books as they can.

Psssst.
Is anybody looking for a rare book? A first edition? A valuable collectors' item?

How about a first edition copy of "Life on the Mississippi" by Mark Twain or "The House of Mirth" by Edith Wharton?

Want some photographic books by Cartier-Bresson?

Or "A Time to Heal" autographed by former President Gerald Ford?

Or "The Professional" autographed by former President Lyndon Johnson?

The American Association of University Women has added a new page to its annual used book sale — a live auction of rare books and collectibles.

The five-day sale begins Oct. 2 at Salem Memorial Lutheran Church, 21230 Moross, between Mack Avenue and I-94, and continues daily until Saturday, Oct. 6.

The live auction of rare books and collectibles will be Friday, Oct. 5, at 7:30 p.m. in the rare book room.

General co-chairmen of the 28th annual event Lynn Rask and Kay Kirby said that the event is the biggest used book sale in the area.

AAUW members have collected a year's worth of hard cover and paperback books — close to 50,000 of them. They've stored their stash in members' basements, garages and a room at the old Vernier School.

Many of the books were donated by individuals, some are from estates, but most were dropped into AAUW book barrels which were placed in local stores during the summer.

AAUW volunteers have sorted donations for easy selection. Categories include recent fiction, classics, autographed books, biographies, children's books, cookbooks, how-to books, recent computer handbooks, science fiction, history and war, local interest books, government and law, foreign language, mysteries, romance fiction, travel, sports, and more.

Most of the books are priced from 50 cents to $3.50. Rare books, collectibles, new books, coffee table volumes and sets cost more.

"I'm impressed with the quality and timeliness of many of the books and by their mint condition," said Ann Schumacher, co-chairman of the marking committee. "Many books are autographed by authors. We're going to have a separate table for these."

"Many seem brand new. Some gift books are still in their wrappers," said Carolyn Sullivan, co-chairman of the marking committee.

Publicity chairman Lenore Marshall said that the sale is an excellent opportunity to practice recycling. Customers can drop off the books they bought last year — then load up on a stack of books to read next year. Drop those off next year and load up again.

Prices for books vary from day to day. On Tuesday, Oct. 2, from 9:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m., books will be most expensive — 50 percent more than they will be on Wednesday and Thursday. This is a popular day for dealers and people who want first crack at the choicest books, Marshall said.

Volunteers will start handing out numbers to customers at 7 a.m. on Oct. 2.

On Wednesday, Oct. 3, and Thursday, Oct. 4, from 9:30 a.m. until 8:30 p.m., books will be sold at their regular prices.

On Friday, Oct. 5, the remaining inventory of books will be marked down 50 percent.

The live auction of rare books will begin at 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 5.

The bag sale will be on Saturday, Oct. 6, from 9:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. Customers may buy a bag for $3 and cram it with as many books as possible.

AAUW's national membership totals 150,000 women. The 46-year-old Grosse Pointe branch has 325 members. The group's stated goals are to promote equity for women, education and self-development over the life span, and positive societal change. Carla Teagan is president of the Grosse Pointe branch.

Proceeds from the book sale will go toward higher education for women, including support of the AAUW Educational Foundation, the oldest and largest non-university program of its kind for women in the nation, according to Marshall. The foundation provides scholarships and grants to women attending local colleges.

Grapevines provide material for wreaths, decorations

Grapevine wreaths are popular right now. Perhaps it's because they are so versatile. You can embellish them with almost anything - dried flowers, silk flowers, real flowers, nuts, fruits, ribbons or anything else. They become the perfect decoration for almost any event.

They are easy to make too, if you have access to grapevines, wild or tame, because the little tendrils that the vines use to attach themselves to fences or arbors will hold the wreath together as you wind the pliable vines around and around.

Orientation for recovery program

An orientation class for persons interested in joining an alcohol or drug related recovery program will be held each Tuesday evening beginning Sept. 25 at Brownell Middle School.

The purpose of the class is to educate the individual regarding the recovery procedure, provide an introduction to the first recovery meeting, select locations and suggest reading.

Concerned families, friends and educators are encouraged to attend.

For further information, call 886-2093 Mondays, Wednesdays or Fridays between 8 and 10 a.m. or write Orientation, 1011 Buckingham Road, Grosse Pointe Park, 48230.

Garden Center

Full classes will begin at the Detroit Garden Center on Wednesday, Sept. 26, with Mary Figley, instructor, presenting "Happiness with Herbs," from 1 to 3 p.m.

Figley is a member of the Herb Society of America and writes a weekly garden column, a monthly book review and has recently completed a lecture series at Cranbrook.

Cost for the program is $7.50. Send reservations to the Detroit Garden Center, 1460 East Jefferson, 48207. For more information, call 259-6363.

Senior Men's Club

The Senior Men's Club of Grosse Pointe will hold its annual meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 25, at 11 a.m., at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore.

The speaker will be Richard C. Van Dusen, chairman of Dickinson, Wright, Moon, Van Dusen and Freeman. The topic will be "Observations on the Future of the Greater Detroit Area." The presenter will be Maurice N. Day.

The club's annual Turkey Trot will be Wednesday, Nov. 14. Tickets are $21 a person.

Babysitting seminar

A one-day seminar to prepare 10- to 13-year-olds to be responsible babysitters will be offered by St. John Hospital and Medical Center on Saturday, Sept. 22, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., at the Partridge Woods Medical Center, 43750 Garfield, Mount Clemens.

To register or for more information, call 1-800-237-5646.

Alliance for Mentally III

The Alliance for the Mentally Ill-Eastside, a support group for families with a mentally ill member, is holding an educational meeting on Monday, Sept. 24, at 7:30 p.m., at Henry Ford Continuing Care Center, 19840 Harper, Harper Woods.

Bill Gallagher, WJBK-TV2, will show and discuss his video, "No Place to Go."

Relatives and friends of the mentally ill are invited to attend. For information, call 884-9005 or 839-9826.

Once the wreath is made, hang it where there is a circulation of air (a stairway is good) and it will dry quickly, the green vines become a nice dark brown, and the wreath will be ready to decorate.

There might be an element of mysticism in grapevines - at least respect for antiquity. The most ancient Greek and Egyptian sources speak of the cultivation of grapes and they are mentioned in many places in the Old Testament.

Grapes were planted by the Romans on the banks of the Rhine in the second century. Soon after, they were grown in Gaul and the first records of grape growing appeared in India and in the Far East. As new colonization occurred, grapes spread. They are cultivated around the world today.

Cato, Virgil and other Italian writers said a great deal about the grape. Its cultivation suffered a decline after the fall of the Roman Empire until the rise of the Italian city-states when it again became a thriving industry.

After the discovery of America, wild species were imported from the new continent and com-combined with the old ones to produce new varieties. Viticulture has progressed during this century so that it is now one of the most important harvests in existence.

By Ellen Probert

In many religions, man's discovery of grapevines is attributed to divine intervention. Grapevines, native to Asia Minor, were one of the Biblical symbols of peace and plenty. In Syria in ancient times, grapevines were trained to grow on fig trees which were also symbols of peace and abundance, hence many references to the vine and fig tree together.

A magnificent reproduction of the vine, sculptured in gold, with grapes made of precious stones, adorned the eastern wall of the temple of Jerusalem. After the war against Judea and the capgrape-cure was popular every fall when people would drive to the vineyards every day and eat great quantities of grapes to benefit their health.

Grapes have been considered a good luck gift, a symbol of the wine of the Eucharist, a token of peace and abundance and a symbol of Canaan, the Promised Land.

It is no wonder that grapevine wreaths are used so frequently today on front doors, in windows, as wall decorations and as gifts. Have you seen the enormous one above the fireplace at the Grosse Pointe Garden Center in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial?

Bacchus, the ancient god of grapes and wine, is always portrayed wearing a garland of grape leaves and statues of Bacchus are often used as garden ornaments.

G.P. Senior Men's Club travelogue

The Senior Men's Club of Grosse Pointe will present "A Circle Tour of Sicily," by Helen Kosy on Friday, Sept. 21, at 8 p.m., in the auditorium of Parcels Middle School.

The 35mm slide program will take viewers through 2,500 years, from the time of the conquest by the ancient Greeks to the present. Through photographs, viewers will visit the ancient valley of the temples in Agrigento, the amphitheatres in Syracuse and Taormina, the interior of a 1,500-year-old Roman villa, cathedrals in Palermo and Monreale, and more.

Admission is $1, which includes refreshments after the show.

Couple to Couple

The Couple to Couple League began its series on natural family planning on Sunday, Sept. 16, from 2 to 4:30 p.m. at St. Edmund, 14031 Twelve Mile, Warren. The series continues once each month on Oct. 14, Nov. 11 and Dec. 2.

Private counseling is also available. A registration fee includes all class materials. To register or to find more about natural family planning, call Jim and Carol Berch, 778-4980.

Colony Town Club

The first meeting of the Colony Town Club will be held on Thursday, Sept. 20, at Bayview Yacht Club. The meeting includes an afternoon of bridge. Chairman of the event is Mrs. William Stetson. Co-chairmen are Mrs. Warren Jones and Mrs. Kenneth Steketic.

HAVE A PLEASANT TRY AT PERFECTION BRIDGE BY WOODY BOYD THE PASTEBOARD PASTIME

The ability to make correct suppositions at the card table is, in this one's opinion, gifted and the most important asset a good player has at his command. Much can be acquired from lessons and execution about bidding and play, but good judgement and card sense are attributes that are basically innate and no amount of study will add much if you don't possess these genetic characteristics.

There are many fine players in our game whose winning ways didn't come easy and there are also those whose genius became conspicuous almost immediately.

Today's difficult hand supplies the ingredients for the case I'm endeavoring to make. Less than ten percent of the experts will miss on this one because they will work out the surest line of play based upon the bidding and probabilities. Better than half of the good club players will too, but among the average finding nine tricks at the table with less than five minutes to define the problem and plan the play isn't easy and a predominant number of them will go down.

North has only nine high card points and might have invited game by bidding two no trump, but middle cards in such circumstances have playing weight which gave him texture and some credibility for his aggressive call. Nevertheless, twenty-five point game contracts are venturesome investments and declarer's errand was precarious.

At some tables East opened a no trump which gave South, who was often the declarer, a maximum advantage for he now could develop his winners knowing the exact whereabouts of each missing high card. Not so with East's third seat one club bid that could range from 10-15 H.C.P. not vulnerable. For South to play this one successfully necessitated exceptional clairvoyance and that kind of intuition is intrinsic.

Surprisingly only two North Souths defended one no trump doubled as they must have concluded the penalty not vulnerable insufficient. Perfect defense scores 800, but no one beat it more than three.

Herb Eder, who's played successfully at the table for aeons of years, won the club queen and counted. Three clubs looked likely so he concluded his best chance lay in also winning two diamonds, two hearts and two spades, but that was at best an iffy enigma of some magnitude. What was East's shape and point count? Could any of the missing kings be with West? Herb finally concluded

-	3NT	1C	1NT
Passed Out
♠ A 10 8 2 ♥ J 9 7 ♦ A 9 7 3 ♣ 8 7		N/S vulnerable
N W ♠ E HERB
♠ 9 7 6 ♥ 6 4 3 2 ♦ 10 8 6 ♣ 5 4 3		♠ K Q 3 ♥ Q 10 8 ♦ K Q 4 ♣ K 10 9 6
♠ J 5 4 ♥ A K 5 ♦ J 5 2 ♣ A Q J 2		West led the club 3

that his play plan would have to remain flexible until he had a better handle on the hand. At trick two a small diamond to dummies seven which East won with the queen. West diamond ten would have changed nothing. Trick three East got out with the club ten won by Herb's jack and now the diamond jack to East's king. At trick five, East's club king to declarers ace and the spade four to dummies eight and East's king. East wins his last club at trick seven, but is now end played. If East gets out a spade, Herb wins in his hand. Then he wins two diamonds in dummy pitching a heart. Wins the spade ace at trick eleven and takes the heart finesse. If at trick eight East gets out a heart declarer lets it ride to dummies jack. Plays queen ace of hearts, wins two diamonds in dummy and the spade ace. Herb's foresightful performance produced a tie for a top which was shared with only two other declarers. Note that if the king, queen of diamonds were doubleton on his right. A crucial consideration, he still would have won two diamonds finessing West's 10-8.

Members of the Detroit East Suburban Alumnae chapter of Alpha Phi sorority have shown St. John Hospital and Medical Center staff that they're sweethearts.

The sorority donated $500 from its annual sale of heart-shaped lollipops toward the purchase of a Schwinn Bio-Dyne exercise bicycle for patients in the hospital's cardiac rehabilitation phase II program.

Alpha Phi alumnae have contributed more than $17,000 to the hospital since 1972, said Peggy Woodhouse, chapter president. Cardiac aid has been Alpha Phi's national philanthropy since 1946 and the sorority has conducted lollipop sales for the last 22 years.

Co-chairmen of the annual fundraiser were Marg Dietz and Marge Nixon, both of Grosse Pointe.

French accent: The official opening of the 1990-91 season of L'Alliance Francaise de Grosse Pointe attracted more than 150 members and guests to a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Easlick Jr. of Grosse Pointe Farms, on Aug. 30.

Greeting Alliance members at the reception were Mrs. Arthur Rooks, chairman of the event, and her assistants, Mrs. Russell

Axson and Mrs. Mary McNair.

Hors d'oeuvres were distinctly (what else?) French and new members Mary Alice and Ray Plummer entertained with a musical program of classical and operatic music.

Among those who attended were Grosse Pointers Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wilkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry de Segur Lauve, Mr. and Mrs. Marco Nobili and Dr. and Mrs. Kim Lie.

Books galore: The Detroit Press Club will hold the last book sale and auction in its old clubhouse at 516 Howard Street on Thursday, Sept. 27.

Old books, new books, fiction, non-fiction, and more will be on sale for $1 for hard covers, 25 cents for paperbacks, and $15 and up for elegant coffee table books.

TV and radio personality Sonny Eliot will auction donated items during the lunch hour. Both the auction and book sale are open to the public, according to Alice Curtis of Grosse Pointe City.

ducting workshops since July, preparing for its herb symposium, "Secrets from Victoria's Tea Table and Other Victorian Pleasures," which will take place on Friday, Oct. 5, at 10 a.m. in the Fries Ballroom at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

One of the handmade items for sale will be a special tea cozy that remains on the teapot to keep the tea warm. Other items for sale are bouquet garni for soups and stews, a special blend of mint tea, herb notes and herb sketches created by Evelyn Snyder, two of the unit's cookbooks, "Seasoned Soups" and "Hors d'Herbs," and other books about herbs.

The cost of the symposium is $21. Reservations may be made by sending a check payable to the Grosse Pointe unit, HSA, to Loraine Lieder, 1206 Hawthorne, Grosse Pointe Woods, by Saturday, Sept. 29.

Art exhibit: The fifth annual Kubinski art competition awards presentation will be held at St. Mary's Campus, Orchard Lake, on Sunday, Oct. 7, from 2 to 4 p.m.

Artists of Polish descent will exhibit their paintings and sculptures on campus and Gregory Biestek of Grosse Pointe Park, first vice president of Friends of Polish Art, and his wife, Monica, will hold a reception immediately after the ceremony.

Theater Arts: The Theater Arts Club will celebrate its 80th year with its traditional Eva Woodbridge Victor scholarship tea on Friday, Sept. 21, at the home of Noel Benjamin of Grosse Pointe Shores.

The tea is an early fundraiser for the group's scholarship, which recognizes and encourages women in the Wayne State University drama program. This year's recipient is Kate Kenny of Rochester. Dr. Robert McGill of Wayne State University Theatre will also attend.

The scholarship was named to honor Eva Woodbridge Victor, who served as president, board member, actress and teacher of speech for the group.

Grosse Pointer Johanna Gilbert is scholarship chairman for the group. Leona Putnam is honorary director; Audrey Jennings is president.

Eat your vegetables

By Rev. William C. DeVries
First Christian Reformed Church

Some things are worth waiting for. Like, "You will not get your dessert until you eat all your broccoli, George."

Then again, some things must be waited for and the desert is just that it feels so good when it stops.

Will you please bear with me? I would like to share some important thoughts with you. The only dessert I have to offer is my stopping. I hope some thoughts I spark in you may offset the pain of hearing me out. The first of my thoughts is that science, and tests, and surveys are not all they're cracked up to be. I don't mean they don't give us a whole lot of accurate information and data. Oh, they do! I mean that the position to which we have elevated science is far out of proportion to its actual value.

It's sort of like my pocket knife, file, scissors, toothpick and tweezers. It's a helpful tool.

But there are some things it just won't do. Like crack rocks or cut wire.

Science is like that. The method of taking surveys or tests or samples is very useful in answering certain questions. But there are some questions that observations and proofs just cannot answer.

Let me give you a specific instance. No amount of observation or testing or marvelous mathematical manipulation will ever prove what caused what.

There are several reasons for this. One is that cause is not actually an event to be observed, but a particular way of explaining a relationship between events. Science, of course, can only test what can be observed in some way.

Another is that science, in answering cause questions, is always wary of some event, some data that is missed. We all know of examples we tested and were sure we knew the cause, only to find out later about the real cause.

By the way, these observations are, of course, not new. Philosophers have been trying to warn us about the limitations of our observations for some time. Admittedly, there is some difficulty in reaching a consensus about those questions that science can't answer. But, to act as if something cannot be true if one cannot make scientific tests prove it, is a shaky thinking style at best.

There are some questions in your life to which surveys, samples, tests and calculations offer not a hint of an answer.

One response you can have is to ignore these questions. One of the questions is, "Does my life have any meaning?" The tactic of ignoring will likely prove vastly unsatisfactory. What we need is some standard by which to gain an evaluation of the truth of competing answers to these unscientific questions.

I propose this standard for a system of answers: Do the answers make me able to make sense of the whole of my experience? Do things really fit together when I answer the question in this particular way?

OK. You've eaten your vegetables, I'll stop now. But there's another course before we get to dessert. If you'll look for it, I promise to move this meal forward here soon.

Christ Church resumes fall schedule

Sunday, Sept. 16, marked the resumption of the full Sunday schedule at Christ Episcopal Church, 61 Grosse Pointe Boulevard.

Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 8 a.m. each Sunday morning, followed by breakfast in the Undercroft. At 9:15 a.m., Holy Eucharist will be celebrated with music by the Choir of Men and Girls. A special children's chapel is held in the Undercroft for children ages 3 through 7, and nursery care is provided in the Christian Education Building for younger children.

The Choir of Men and Boys provides music at the second principal service at 11:15 a.m. Holy Eucharist is celebrated on the first and third Sundays of the month; morning Prayer on the other Sundays. Nursery care is also available.

Between the principal services is an educational hour at 10:20 a.m. Classes are held for children ages 3 through high school in the Christian Education Building and in Miller Hall, with a forum for adults in the Undercroft.

In addition to Sunday services, Holy Eucharist is also celebrated at 5:30 p.m. on Saturdays.

For more information about the fall schedule, call the church office at 885-4841.

Sing, ring, with Christ the King

A sing-along song festival will be held at Christ the King Lutheran Church at 4 p.m., Sept. 23. The bell choir, the senior choir and the children's choir will participate, under the baton of Caryl Schober, director.

Everyone is welcome. Refreshments will follow.

Memorial Church to celebrate 125 years

By Tom Candler
Special Writer

Members of the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church will meet at the corner of Kerby Road and Lakeshore on Sunday, Sept. 23, at 4 p.m., to commemorate the founding of their church at that site in the year 1865.

A stone monument on Kerby Road marks the location where the founding members met on Thursday, Sept. 7, 1865, to establish the Grosse Pointe Protestant Evangelical Association. A small group of 14 people banded together on that date to form a church in a community that until then had been almost exclusively Roman Catholic.

After a brief service at the Kerby Road site on Sunday, church members will fall in behind a Scot piper for a procession down Lakeshore Road to the present church at 16 Lakeshore.

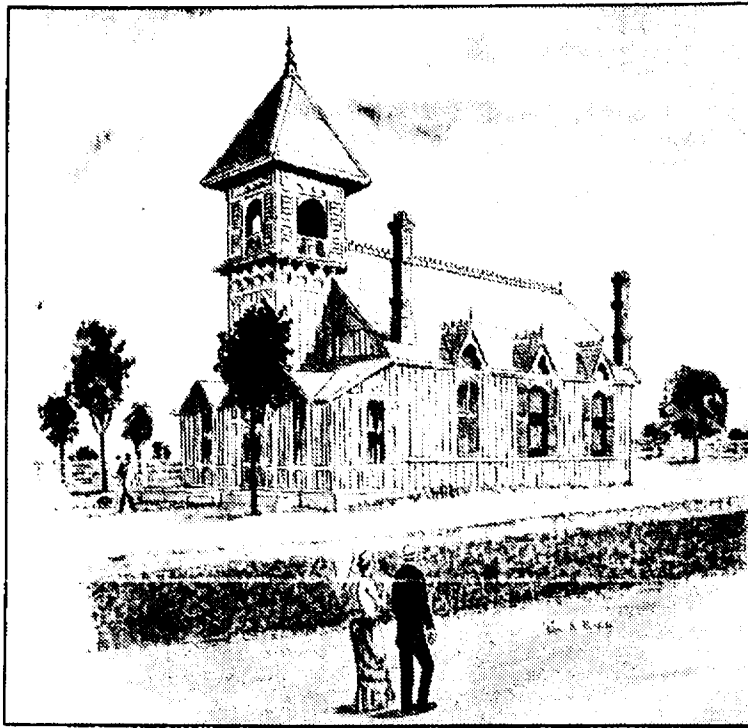

A worship service will be held to commemorate the 125th anniversary. At this service a new banner will be dedicated, a time capsule will be filled and a certificate will be presented from the national Presbyterian Historical Society. A Michigan Historical Society certificate will be presented, and in spring of 1991, a historical marker will be erected on the church grounds.

At the conclusion of the worship celebration, an old time box-picnic will be held on the church grounds, including a barber shop quartet, old songs and hymns, a picnic and a special 125th anniversary cake.

The first church building was completed in 1867 on grounds donated by a founding member, Rufus Kirby, the postmaster of Grosse Pointe at that time.

As the congregation grew, an addition to the original white clapboard building was completed in 1880. By the 1890's, the Grosse Pointe community had greatly expanded with the building of permanent homes along Lakeshore replacing the French strip farms.

The trustees felt that a new

This drawing depicts the first protestant church in Grosse Pointe, which stood on the corner of Kerby Road and Lakeshore. The congregation eventually moved to 16 Lakeshore and the name of the church was changed to Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

church should be built and should be located closer to Fisher Road, where the new trolley line ended its run from downtown Detroit.

The name of the church was changed to the Grosse Pointe Evangelical Church, still an indication of its inter-denominational structure.

The new church building, referred to as the ivy-covered church, was dedicated in 1894, and the church got its first full-time minister, the Rev. Norman W. Carey.

Growth of church membership again brought about the need to expand. In 1912, an addition was built to house the Sunday school and handle its daily activities.

Through its first 50 years, the ivy-covered church served the needs of its congregation, made up of Presbyterians, Episcopalians, Methodists, Baptists and other Protestant denominations.

In 1924, the Newberry brothers, Truman and John, gave money for the construction of the sanctuary in memory of their parents, John and Helen Newberry. The name of the church was again changed, this time to reflect the memorial gift of the Newberrys. In 1927, the sanctuary was dedicated with the name becoming Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

In 1930, the Rev. Frank Fitt became pastor of Memorial Church. During the 28 years of Fitt's service, Memorial Church was active in the community and helped in the founding of Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church and Faith Presbyterian Church in St. Clair Shores. Memorial Church grew five-fold during Fitt's years, and by the late '50s, it was again necessary to expand the facilities. A new Sunday School wing was added which included Fellowship Hall, the Fitt Library and Barbour Chapel.

With the departure of Fitt in 1958, a call went out to the Rev. Bertram Atwood to become the senior pastor. During his years at Memorial, Atwood dealt with racial unrest in the inner city of Detroit and provided leadership in the Presbytery of Detroit.

The Rev. Ray Kiely succeeded Atwood in 1970. During his years at memorial, the ecumenical minister program was started. Vietnamese refugees were brought to Grosse Pointe and a number of service projects were undertaken.

The year 1990 marks the second anniversary of the Rev. Bruce Rigdon's ministry at Memorial Church. Coming here in 1988 from the McCormick Theological Seminary, Rigdon has brought years of Christian service in the world to this church and community, including a number of visits to Christians behind the Iron Curtain.

The public is invited to join the celebration of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church's 125th anniversary.

Foster Grandparent Program to be recognized

Catholic Social Services of Wayne County sponsored the foster grandparent program in September 1965.

For 25 years, the Foster Grandparent program has recruited persons 60 years of age and over to provide personal care and nurturing for children with special needs. Today, 300 foster grandparents are working with more than 1,000 children in need of love at more than 45 institutions and 35 private homes in Wayne and Macomb counties.

Two of the original foster grandparents, Norvelle Maddox and Ollie Golston, remain active today, and will celebrate 25 years of working with children in need of their love.

The Foster Grandparent Program will be honored at a special recognition luncheon on Sept. 26. Tributes will be presented by community leaders and government officials in addition to congratulatory letters from legislators, President George Bush and Gov. James Blanchard.

Special recognition will be given to Maddox and Golston, in addition to community leaders who, through their dedication and support, have helped the Foster Grandparent Program develop into a program of excellence, quality and commitment. The Foster Grandparent Program is part of ACTION, the federal domestic volunteer agency. The program is funded through ACTION, the State Office of Services To The Aging, the Department of Mental Health and through local sources. Catholic Social Services of Wayne County sponsors the largest Foster Grandparent Program in Michigan.

The Foster Grandparent Program recruits caring persons 60 years of age and older who are in reasonably good health and meet the income guidelines. For more information, call 883-2100, ext. 228.

G. P. Camera Club

The Grosse Pointe Camera Club will meet on Tuesday, Sept. 25, at 7:30 p.m. at Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfonte.

Leo Lawson will discuss close-up photography. Visitors are welcome. Call 824-9064 or 881-8034 for more information.

Weddings

Mrs. Peter Manole Griffith

Murphy-Griffith

Anne Wentling Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Murphy Jr. of Grosse Pointe Park, married Peter Manole Griffith of Fort Worth, Texas, son of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Griffith of Houston, on Aug. 18, 1990, at St. Ambrose Church.

The Rev. Timothy R. Peic officiated at the 1 p.m. ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Hotel Pontchartrain.

The bride wore a French white China silk gown which featured a pearl embroidered Alencon lace bodice and a cathedral-length train trimmed at the hem with the same lace. The waistband of the gown was accented with an angle pleated silk sash and a flat bow. Her English illusion cathedral-length veil fell from a matching silk bow and she carried a cascading bouquet of gardenias, stephanotis and ivy.

The maid of honor was Elizabeth Blackburn Murphy of Grosse Pointe Park, the bride's sister.

Bridesmaids were Mary Ann Montagne and Jennie Sichel, both of Grosse Pointe Park, and Robin Griffith of Houston, the groom's sister.

Attendants wore floor-length dresses of celadon taffeta. The maid of honor carried a cascading ing bouquet of gardenias, peach roses and ivy and the bridesmaids carried cascading bouquets of peach roses, white freesia and ivy.

David Griffith of Chicago, the groom's brother, served as best man.

Groomsmen were Paul Linden of Houston, Jeff Johnson of Milwaukee and Robert Phillips of Birmingham.

The bride's mother wore a two-piece dress of peach and cream-colored satin.

The groom's mother wore a two-piece dress of peach silk and chiffon.

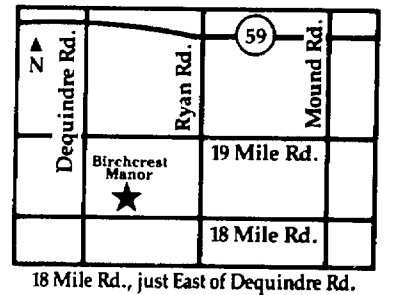

The bride is a graduate of Hillsdale College, where she earned a bachelor of arts degree in theater and speech.

The groom is a graduate of Hillsdale College, where he earned a bachelor of arts degree in English. He is employed by Universal Forrest Products in Fort Worth.

We Understand.

The Blake Company has been members of the Grosse Pointe community for three generations. We know why people live here, and why they go to great lengths to remain here.

Over the years their homes have become too large and difficult to maintain and until now, the Grosse Pointe area has offered very few alternatives to people who want to change their homes, not their lifestyle.

We Understand.

The Blake Company has created the alternative, Harbor Place: a luxurious condominium community located on the shore of Lake St. Clair, near everything you hold dear.

Designed with traditional New England architecture with an emphasis placed on privacy, security and scenic beauty. Choose between townhouses or terrace homes each in two- and three-bedroom configurations, lavished with an endless list of amenities, including a 2 car garage, exceptional landscaping and boat slips. Call Rob MacGregor today for an appointment and experience the tradition of Harbor Place, you'll see that we really do understand.

League of Women Voters

How may the American custom of going to the doctor change in the decade ahead?

David J. Campbell, president and CEO of the Detroit Medical Center, will speak on "Health Care in the 90s. Where Are We? Where Are We Going?" at the annual membership open house and meeting of the League of Women Voters of Grosse Pointe on Wednesday, Sept. 26, at 7:30 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. The public is invited.

Campbell's talk will kick off the league's participation in a nationwide LWV study on public and private health care delivery systems.

Kay McDonald, league co-president, will outline the year's agenda, including publishing voter guides, scheduling candidate forums, and studying the local education system. "The emphasis of our study will be to obtain simple, straightforward statements on how the Grosse Pointe system works," McDonald said. Richard Grady will chair the education study committee.

Pearl Warn, membership chairman, and assistants Miriam Schaafsma and Evelyn Montgomery will welcome newcomers, guests and prospective members to the open house.

The league is a non-partisan organization dedicated to the idea that democracy works best when the citizenry is involved in governmental processes. Membership is open to women and men of voting age. For information about the organization and about joining the League of Women Voters, call 885-8077.

The Fort Pontchartrain Chapter of NSDAR will hold its September meeting at the Detroit Boat Club on Sept. 21.

Luncheon starts at 11:30 a.m. followed by a visit to the Belle Isle Coast Guard station.

New officers are: Mrs. Frederick Schetter, regent; Mrs. Edward K. Sampson, first vice regent; Mrs. Joseph H. Embury, chaplain; Mrs. Milbert A. Ellman, assistant chaplain; Mrs. Leonard L. Jensen, recording secretary; Mrs. Bernard L. Seitz, treasurer; Mrs. Frank S. McKinnon, financial secretary; Mrs. George F. Killen, registrar; Mrs. Francis P. Bennett, historian; Miss Marjorie R. Allen, librarian; Mrs. Gordon Manson, Mrs. Frederick McNamara and Mrs. Anthony Sudney, directors; and Mrs. Gilbert Pulliam, parliamentarian.

School of Government

The School of Government is celebrating its 50th anniversary in 1990.

The next event in the group's yearlong festivities will be on Wednesday, Sept. 26, at Selfridge Air National Guard Base in Mount Clemens.

Members and guests will meet at Lufberry Hall at 10 a.m. for a bus tour of fighter and transport planes, then will attend a reception, a display of the club's archives, and a luncheon.

President Rosemary Elias will give the welcoming address.

Program speakers will be Ida Mae Massnick, program director and first vice president; Alice Errington, public relations specialist; Capt. Jan Smith, group commander, United States Coast Guard; Lt. William Scheiderich, of the naval air facility in Detroit; and Dr. T. Roy Massin, a base doctor.

The School of Government, a non-partisan organization, was founded in 1940 by the late Clara H. Brucker.

ple to understand differences in thinking and how those differences may affect every aspect of their lives.

The Women's Connection is a women's networking and support group composed of business and professional women and women preparing to enter or re-enter the work force. For information about the organization and its activities, call Nancy Neat at 296-7402 days, or 882-1855 evenings. Deadline for reservations for the next meeting is Sept. 24.

Grosse Pointe Singles

Grosse Pointe Singles will hold open dance parties for members, prospective members and alumni Sunday afternoons at Peppers Restaurant and Night Club, 35101 Harper, Mount Clemens.

The parties will feature dance mixers, hors d'oeuvres and live music from 5 to 9 p.m. When a speaker is scheduled, festivities start at 4 p.m. with a get-acquainted cocktail party. The speaker begins at 4:30 p.m.

The guest speaker on Sunday, Sept. 23 will be Bill Latimer, health and fitness writer for the Detroit Free Press. A wine and cheese party at a member's home is scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 14.

Future speakers will be Don Shane, WXYZ-TV sportscaster; Sherry Margolis of WJBK-TV news; and William X. Kienzle, author of "The Rosary Murders."

The club is open to all singles 30 and over, widows and widowers, those who are divorced and those who have never married. It is an active educational, travel and social group whose Find-A-Mate program has found mates for 195 of its members.

Fully Alive support group

The Fully Alive support group, a group for dealing with people or situations which block one from living life to the fullest, will meet weekly on Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m., beginning Sept. 27, at the Living Our Vision Center, 17427 Mack. Use the upper rear entrance.

Fundraiser

The Detroit Red Wings and the WRIF Dee Jays participated in a celebrity softball challenge on Aug. 12 as a benefit for the Foundation for Exceptional Children, which is located in the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

The softball game raised more than $5,000 for the foundation's programs for handicapped children.

Survivors. That's what many people with cancer prefer to call themselves.

Through networking and workshops, cancer survivors are able to share experiences, gather information and learn more about new cancer research.

The Henry Ford Medical Center-Pierson Clinic will sponsor a symposium called "Cancer Survivorship: Issues in Focus," from 9:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 21, at the Hyatt Regency in Dearborn.

Topics will include legal issues, sexuality, changes in interpersonal relationships, employa-bility, health insurance coverage and cancer research and treatment.

Keynote speaker will be Patricia Rieker, Ph.D., director of psychosocial research, Dana-Farber Cancer Institute Harvard Medical School.

For more information, call Alice Morgan, 343-5901 or 661-9138.

Women in Communications

The Detroit chapter of Women in Communications Inc. will kick off its 1990-91 program schedule with "Look at the '90s and Beyond: An Outlook for Communicators."

A group of panelists will share their insights at a meeting on Wednesday, Sept. 26, at Ford Motor Co. world headquarters auditorium in Dearborn. Cost is $15 for members and guests; $10 for students.

Guest speakers for the meeting include Donald Grimes, an economist with the University of Michigan; David Hay, a planner for Oakland County; Susan Lowell Butler, executive vice president WICI national and former president of the National Education Association; and Janice DiNezza, director of marketing, Ladbrooke DRC and national WICI president.

The meeting begins at 6 p.m. with a reception. The panel discussion begins at 7 p.m. and will be followed by a question and answer session.

For more information, contact Women in Communications Inc., Detroit chapter, 35918 Rewa, Mount Clemens, 48043; phone 791-1277.

Founded in 1909, Women in Communications Inc. is a national organization of communicators, both professionals and students, who work in a variety of communications fields including advertising, public relations, education, the news media and freelance writing and editing.

Women, family and chemical dependency

A free presentation concerning women, family and chemical dependency will be offered by St. John Hospital and Medical Center on Thursday, Sept. 20, from 7:30-9 p.m. in the auditorium.

Robert Fetzer, program director of the Oxford Institute at St. John Hospital-Macomb Center, and Bonnie Patrick, program director of Oxford-St. Clair Shores, will discuss the many roles women are faced with when dealing with the problem of drug or alcohol dependency; how to identify problems; when to suggest treatment for a family member, and how to balance life while living with a chemically dependent person.

Dear Residents of Grosse Pointe,

Youngblood and Finn, Inc. Realtors are pleased to announce they have been selected by Better Homes and Gardens Real Estate Service to be their exclusive member in Grosse Pointe, Michigan. The company will become Youngblood and Finn, Realtors, Better Homes and Gardens® on September 20, 1990. The firm will remain locally owned and operated.

As owners, Tom Youngblood and Bill Finn, strongly feel this affiliation positions us to grow as a company as well as joining a national network of over 650 firms that is well postured to bring brokerage services and systems that are effective for all homes.

The company will offer The Home Marketing System, The Home Buying System, The Home Information System and The Home Merchandising System developed exclusively for Better Homes and Gardens affiliates. Services also include a major corporate relocation program.

As Realtors dedicated to bringing the residents of Grosse Pointe the very finest in brokerage services, we are excited about the results you will enjoy when these systems are combined with the dedication and effort of our sales staff.

If you are considering either the sale or purchase of real estate, we think you should explore the Better Homes and Gardens approach.

We look forward to working with you.

Sincerely,

Thomas R. Youngblood

ST - "ART" TIPS

DRAWING THE HEAD: THE CUBE
Using the block method, you can draw a well proportioned head in front and profile views. To draw the head in all positions possible your must use length, width and depth. Use the cube with the same division as on the front and profile views.

FROM CIRCLE TO ELLIPSE
Understanding the perspective of circles will help when drawing more complex circular shapes. The circle is contained within a square that is then projected in perspective. To be drawn correctly, the front half of an ellipse, or "squashed circle," should always be drawn larger than the back half. Note also that the sides of ellipses are round and not pointed.

Norsemen fun

For the first time in about three years I'm having fun watching Grosse Pointe North football.

The Norsemen, guided by 10-year head coach Frank Sumner, have more heart, dedication and fun than the past three teams. Why? Maybe it's their overzealous defense, maybe it's because they don't know any better.

But, whatever the chemistry Sumner has created, it's working.

In the opener against Lake Shore Aug. 31, defensive back and special teams leader Adam Mlynarek set the tone. He left his feet quicker than Superman, and slammed himself, kamikaze style, into a guy and had to leave the game just 30 seconds in. Why? Because of his free-spirit attitude on the football field, and the cobwebs in his head.

This season, unlike past seasons, North hangs its hat on defense. With nine veterans, headed by Leo Salvaggio, Steve Craparotta, Jim Kutscher and Scott Nesom, it's no wonder they've allowed only 21 points in three games. Over the past few years, North football was successful because of guys like Mike Miller, Craig Como and Charlie Stumb.

This season there are offensive names like Mike Haskell, Paul Straske and Gary Corona. Corona, the quarterback, and Straske, the tailback, are juniors. Haskell, who runs with bullish style, is only a sophomore, yet like Straske, rushed for more than 100 yards in each of the first three games.

This season there's a certain aura coming from the field. New stands? No. New press box? Can't be. New attitude? That's the answer.

After a 17-0 shutout of South Lake, and a 22-0 win over Roseville, North was on a roll. The pressure of a maturing offensive line was off, and the defense was playing as expected.

Into Romeo, their biggest nemesis in the last two years, for week No. 3 went the Norsemen, riding a two-game winning streak. This was to be the biggest test of the young season. The Bulldogs, who had beaten North the past two meetings, and the Norsemen tied for the Macomb Area Conference White Division title last year, but this year Sumner and company didn't want a kiss. However, after losing 21-18 to Romeo, a share is all they may get again this season.

What really sold me on this team was its character.

There's a ledge just outside the locker room and on it steps all Norsemen after a win. There, they chant Nooooorsemen in harmony. They're not the choir, but you get the gist of what they're doing — they're bonding and maturing like good, solid teams do.

North doesn't do anything fancy and that's what's nice about its brand of football. The premise of its game is to control the ground attack with Straske and Haskell, let Corona toss the ball when he's forced to, and then play in-your-face defense with Nesom, Kutscher, Marc Adams, Mlynarek and others. It's simple, yet effective and fun.

It seems there's been a rejuvenation of sorts at North, especially after suffering through identical 5-4 seasons in the last two years. There's still plenty of season left and things could take a turn for the worse, but with the pride, excitement and talent, there's still a lot that could go right, too.

Whitfield, Carroll: Backfield in motion

By Rob Fulton
Sports Editor

For three years Chris Carroll and Kevin Whitfield worked like dogs on the University Liggett School football field.

And why did they work so hard?

At that time nobody really knew. The ULS football program was struggling, yet trying to regain some respect. Nobody, however, cared much.

Fans didn't follow the team. Some newspaper reporters wouldn't contact the football coaches. Some people didn't even know ULS had a football team.

But that's the case no longer.

Carroll, 5-feet 9-inches and 179 pounds, and Whitfield (6 feet, 190), perhaps the finest backfield tandem to play at ULS, are finally starting to enjoy the fruits of their labors. And so is the rest of the team.

ULS, currently ranked No. 5 in the Class C polls, hasn't been anywhere near playoff contention since the program was reinstated six years ago, but with three straight victories to start the 1990 campaign, some are already reserving seats at the Silverdome.

But hold on, there are still six games to go.

As freshmen, Whitfield, who played defense, and Carroll, who stepped into the offensive backfield immediately, enjoyed only two wins in nine games. The following season the losses (5) continued to outweigh the wins (4), and that began wearing a little thin.

"During my first year I kept telling my mother I wanted to transfer," said Whitfield, who now leads the team with more than 45 tackles. "I was very frustrated about losing, but she just told me to stick it out and with her help, I did."

Carroll was also encouraged to stay.

"I had only lost three games in my whole life before coming here," he said. "And all of sudden we lose 12 times in two years. That was very frustrating. I never wanted to give up, but it sure wasn't easy to come out every day and lose."

Head coach Bob Newvine wasn't enjoying losing, either, but he knew if he built his team around Carroll and Whitfield that some day this team would become a playoff contender.

"We knew both those guys could help our program immediately," said Newvine. "We got them into the lineup right away as freshmen and now look, they're our captains and have been four-year starters. We knew they were both special athletes."

Special is the operative word. As a freshman, Carroll, who runs the 40-yard dash in 4.5 seconds, set the school's single-game rushing record with 267 yards on only 10 carries. As a junior, he scored 18 touchdowns and rushed for 1,104 yards.

Whitfield, who doubles as a linebacker and fullback, had 130 tackles last season, and should eclipse that this season. He also rushed for 864 yards and eight touchdowns in 1989.

Last year ULS put together its first winning season since the 60s, winning seven times against two defeats. And the two defeats were to two of the toughest teams on the schedule.

What also kept Carroll and Whitfield interested in the ULS program were Lex Smith, now the quarterback at Case Western Reserve, and Dike Ajiri, a running back with the Miami of Ohio team.

"Both those guys really pushed us," said Whitfield. "They were always encouraging us and wouldn't let us slow down."

Carroll tried to emulate Ajiri. "I thought that if I could pattern myself after Dike, that I could be as good of a runner as he was, or is," Carroll said. "When I saw him run hard, I'd want to run harder."

And now Carroll and Whitfield, who will have to carry the bulk of the ULS load for the team to make the playoffs, are complementing one another.

"Chris and I are always kidding one another about who had more yards, or who should get the ball," said Whitfield, "but it's all done in fun. When it's game time, we support and encourage one another."

"It's kind of funny," said Car-

Kevin Whitfield (front) and Chris Carroll have combined to give the University Liggett School football team its finest offensive backfield ever.

roll. "In practice, when we're on opposite sides of the ball, Kevin always says he's going to tear my lead off. I say, 'come and get it.' But he's right — in the game we help one another out all the time."

Newvine sees contrasts and similarities.

"They do complement one another very well and I'd have to say we have the best offensive backfield in the state," he said. "Even though they help one another out, they have varying styles. Kevin runs head on and Chris likes to bust outside more. Both are very elusive, and when the defense stops one of them, they can't rest because there's another one just like him coming next."

Whitfield and Carroll both started playing football at about 6 years of age. Whitfield, who by his own admission is a quiet terror, loves his free-spirit style of defense because "I love to hit people." Carroll, whose mother doesn't really like him playing football, still enjoys watching him — especially when he scores.

"Scoring is the best," he said. "There are a lot of other factors that go into it, but when you score it's the ultimate feeling."

"All my life I've loved to play football and tackle," said Whitfield. "I was a rough boy growing up. We'd play tackle football in the street, so I guess that's where I got the feeling to play hard."

He also got it from following his brother.

"My mom got my brother involved to keep him busy," Whitfield said. "I was the ball boy one year, but then I played the following season."

As a freshman, Whitfield was embarrassed only once — by his mother.

"I remember running down the sideline and then being tackled," Whitfield recalled. "While I was under the pile, I could hear my mom yelling, 'Get off my baby. Please, get off my baby.' That was embarrassing."

Carroll shares the same kind of relationship with his mother and father.

"My mom really motivates me off the field," he said. "She makes sure I get the right diet, makes sure I run in the summer and really keeps me going. My dad's job is to get me going and keep me going on the field. My dad takes care of the fundamentals and my mom has me set my goals."

If ULS reaches the state Class C finals, it will play in the Silverdome, a place Whitfield and Carroll know well.

"For three straight years we had to play an exhibition game there," Carroll said. "Our team got knocked out in the semifinals the week before, so we couldn't play in the championship (CYO) there. We only got to play an exhibition game. I tell you, if we get there again, it better be for a real game."

As an eighth-grader with St. Cecilia's program, the same program Carroll went through, Whitfield also played an exhibition game at the Dome.

"It was a rip-off," he said. "We had a 25-minute game and the clock was running the whole time. We didn't have much fun, but I hope we can get back there this season and play in the state championship."

For the first time ULS can entertain the thought of getting to the finals, particularly because they have Whitfield and Carroll.

Hurricanes finish 2-1 in Troy Classic

The GPSA Travel U-12 Hurricanes participated in the Troy Soccer City Classic Labor Day Weekend, finishing with a 2-1 record.

The first win, a 4-1 decision over the Troy Steelers, was highlighted by Francis Rodriguez's two goals. David Dwaihy and Andrew Klein notched the other goals. Joe Choma and Klein each had one assist, and Greg Pepler was the winning goalie.

In game two, the Hurricanes got goals from Brandon Euashka, Rodriguez, Dwaihy, Brad Cenko and Walter Belenky to beat the Warriors of Waterford, 5-1. Assisting on goals were Sigler (2) and Rodriguez. Klein recorded the shutout in net.

The team's only loss was to the T.C.S.A. Travelers, 3-0. The defense was anchored by Cenko, who played goal.

In the previous two seasons, the Canes combined for a 18-0-1 record in U-10 play, and now they're gearing for play in the U-12 travel division.

GPYC swim team wins championship

The Grosse Pointe Yacht Club swimming team won the 51st Michigan Inter-Club Swimming Association (MICSA) championship with 677 points. It was the Yacht Club's sixth consecutive MICSA championship.

The meet, hosted by the Detroit Golf Club on July 29, consisted of 13 metro-area teams which competed in 46 events.

The team is coached by Fred Michalik, Mary Ann Michalik and Laurie Michalik.

The 8-and-under medley relay team of Alexandra Brown, Mary Cornille, Charlie Gauss and Paul Rashid scored a fourth, while the 8-and-under freestyle team of Lisa Blake, G.J. Kordas, Erica Stock and Jackie Taylor took fifth place. The girls' all-age freestyle relay team of Stephanie Lafond, Katie Blake, Courtenay Youngblood and Lauren Rashid took home blue ribbons after finishing first.

In a very close race, the boys' all age relay team of Patrick Kirchner, Matthew Kirchner, Jon Sieber and Mark Bicken-bach received third-place ribbons.

In the breaststroke, GPYC swimmers turned in a strong showing. Charlie Gauss placed sixth, while Paul Rashid was eighth and Lauren Rashid was second. In the same event, Sara Vollmer took fifth and Jack Sullivan was 12th.

Kathryn Tusa took first in her age group among the breaststroke swimmers, with Missy Kordas taking 10th. Lauren Kordas was third in her age group.

In the 15-16 age group, Jenny Paolucci placed third in the girls' event. Eric DeMeulemeester and Sean Gardella finished third and eighth, respectively in the boys' swim.

Patrick Kirchner established a new boy's 13-14 breaststroke record with a time of 31:88.

The GPYC swimmers showed their prowess in the backstroke, too.

First-place honors were earned by Kathleen Storen, Suzanne Toledo and Brenn Schoenherr. Amanda Defever finished second in her event, and Mary Cornille and Mark Bickenbach each took a third. Katie Blake, Adrienne Fragatos, John McLellan and Jamie Mertz grabbed fourth-place finishes.

Katie Tompkins and Kathryn Tusa both took sixth places in their event, while Lisa Blake took ninth, Mieke Teitge and Kim Lafond were seventh and eighth, respectively, in the 9-10-year-old division.

Whitney Gage was ninth, and Megan Moran and Jenny Smith took 11th and 12th, respectively in their age group.

In the boys' backstroke events, Charlie Gauss placed eighth, G.J. Kordas was 10th and Anthony Stefani was 11th. Mike Kirchner took 12th, and Peter Haarz was sixth and Joe Hanley eighth.

A large percentage of the GPYC points came in the butterfly, where Suzanne Toledo took first and Brenn Schoenherr, Stephanie Lafond and Kathleen Storen all took second. Jenny Paolucci swam to third place, while Amanda Hanley was sixth and Eric DeMeulemeester and Susan Cornille grabbed eighth-place finishes.

Rounding out the point-getters in the butterfly were Peter Haarz (10th), Jamie Taylor, Jon Seiber, Beth Cipriano, each 11th, and Elizabeth Moran, Kacy Hulme, Jenny Smith and Kile Zeller, all twelfth-place finishers.

First-place medals were won by Patrick Kirchner and Stephanie Lafond in the freestyle events, and Mary Cornille took second place. Matthew Kirchner, Amanda Defever and Amanda Hanley each took third place. Ashley Moran and Katie Blake took sixth, and John McLellan placed seventh. Kim Lafond was ninth and Lauren Rashid and her brother Paul each took 10th place in their age groups. Jon Sieber rounded out the freestyle scoring with an 11th place.

The final two events were the 200 meter all-age medley relays for girls and boys.

Kathryn Tusa, Jenny Paolucci, Lauren Rashid and Suzanne Toledo combined to win the girls' event, and Mark Bickenbach, Eric DeMeulemeester, Brenn Schoenherr and Matt Kirchner also won the boys' event.

Red Barons led by Ford

The Grosse Pointe Red Barons varsity and freshman football teams both posted impressive victories, while the junior varsity went down to defeat in action against the East Detroit Tigers.

The varsity posted a 47-0 win, behind the two-touchdown performances of Vince Thomas and Wayne Ford. Morgan Mathews scored a touchdown, while Ben Peters and Eric Van Tiem returned interceptions for touchdowns of 45 and 59 yards, respectively.

Extra points in the varsity game were scored by Thomas, Mathews, Peters and Chris Erickson. The running backs received strong blocking from Jon Day, Ryan Plunkett and Tom Zorwick.

The defense was led by Dan Tucker, Jason Lorence, Chad Andrus, Tim Reynolds and Dan Shefferly. Paul Serra and John Peitz played strong games at linebacker.

The junior varsity team lost

19-7. The sole Red Baron touchdown came on a 1-yard pass from quarterback Jeff Halso to J.R. Hiller. Halso had set up the score with a 40-yard run. Matt Thibodeau scored the extra point.

Nelson Ropke was a standout on defense, intercepting two passes. On the offensive line, Kevin Brandon, Joey Schmitt and Steve Bernhardt played well.

The freshman team got two touchdowns from quarterback Mike Candela, and a third touchdown on a 16-yard pass from Candela to Justin Mack-soud to win, 20-6.

The Barons also got strong running from Paul Bourke, Chris Provenzano and Danny Griesbaum, while Ted Rupert and Matt Kirchner dominated the line of scrimmage.

On defense, Provenzano and Josh Lorence had fumble recoveries, and Jeff Morawski had a quarterback sack. Ben Staperfenny and Pat Reynolds had several key tackles.

Star of the Sea

Tunas beat Redeemer

Kim Smith scored nine points and freshman Cathy Bartlett grabbed eight rebounds, as Star of the Sea earned a 29-28 victory over Holy Redeemer.

In the final 38 seconds, Redeemer had the chance to win the game, but Smith's aggressive defense forced Redeemer's Dolores Zammit to take a poor shot, which Star's Deanna Maday rebounded to preserve the Tunas' first victory of the season.

The victory celebration was short-lived, however, because one day later the Tunas were shelled by St. Agatha, 54-32.

Jennifer Bednarchik led all scorers with seven points, while pulling down seven rebounds.

She also hit five of 10 free throws for Star. Smith, who had seven rebounds, and Nichole Jeanequet each scored six points for the Tunas. Mary Helen Ciarravino added five points for Star.

Tennis

Liz Mange, Elke Zabinski and Evelyn Thomas won singles matches, while Anne Zimmer and Phyllis Thomas took the No. 1 doubles competition as Star beat Oakland Catholic, 4-2.

Kathleen McKenney and Nancy Hellrung lost a tough match in doubles by a 6-2, 5-7, 6-2 score, and Kyli Smith lost in the No. 4 singles match, 6-1, 6-2.

Boat Show sails Sept. 22-30

Boat Show USA will bring the largest fleet of new power and sailboats ever assembled to Metro Beach Metropark Sept. 22-30.

More than 1,300 boats will be on display during one of the largest boat shows presented in the United States.

Large boats will be displayed in the water, boats with trailers will be on shore, and huge tents will cover displays of marine gear and services. The 1991 models will also debut during the show.

"A clean, modern, well-run marina facility, such as Metro Beach, can convey the upbeat family side of boating to the show visitor," said show manager Jack Leverenz.

Show hours are noon to 8 p.m. every day. Admission is $7 for adults and $1 for children under 12.

Jerant paces Lady Knights to win over Kingswood

Senior center Martina Jerant scored 19 points and snatched 10 rebounds as the University Liggett School girls' basketball team beat Kingswood, 42-28.

Two days later, Coach Ann Belloli's squad opened its league season at home against Oakland Christian.

ULS started the game strong, but saw its 10-point lead dwindle into a 50-43 loss. Jerant led the scoring with 26 points to go with 12 rebounds. Linda Morreale added eight points for ULS.

assisted on the goal. ULS outshot Greenhills, 26-17.

On Sept. 13, ULS gave up the first goal to Foley four minutes into the game and 17 minutes later yielded goal number two.

Trailing 2-0 in the second half, ULS' Walter Gasser scored his second goal of the season with 12 minutes left in the game, but that's as close as the Knights would get.

Cross country

Although ULS couldn't field a full team at the Holly Invitational, some individual runners fared well.

Captain Jon Sieber finished first for the Knights and fourth overall (17:24). Sophomore Gary Stark turned in his best time of the season after cutting off two minutes of his time, and Matt Moroun and Aravind Kalahasty also ran well.

Jennifer Miller placed 15th in the girls' race in 22:04. Jamila Hoard was the only other runner for the ULS girls' team.

You win one by a goal, you lose one by a goal.

That's exactly what happened to the ULS boys' soccer team last week, pulling out a 1-0 victory over Greenhills, but losing to undefeated Bishop Foley, 2-1.

ULS played a fired-up Greenhills squad and needed a second-half goal from Jonah Smith to take the win. Anthony Ayuyu

Uznis, Fitzgerald win Scherer Trophy

Bayview Yacht Club's Mike Uznis and Kevin Fitzgerald ended the 1990 D.R.Y.A. Junior Sailing season with an impressive victory in the 27th annual J. Otto Scherer Memorial Trophy Regatta Aug. 26, on the waters off the Crescent Sail Yacht Club.

Light variable winds prevailed throughout the three-race series, sailed in Flying Junior sloops, and from the start of the first race it was destined to be a battle of wits and skill between Uznis and the two CSYC entries.

Upon the completion of the first two races, the series lead belonged to Crescent's John Morreale and Susan Llewellyn, while Uznis and Crescent's Gunther Lie and Kira Christian were tied for second, both only a slim 3/4 point behind.

Uznis and Fitzgerald fought back in the final race with their second first-place finish of the day, to take over the number one spot in the final standings. Crescent's Lie and Christian moved into second place overall, and Morreale and Llewellyn finished third.

Fourth place went to Peter Feldman and Mike Bianco, also sailing under the Bayview colors. Brad Boston and Chris Ongena, representing the Sarnia Yacht Club, took fifth. The Yacht Club's Tricia Morrow and Mike LaHood placed sixth. Seventh place went to Thomas Line III and Amanda Mason of the North Star Sail Club, and eighth place was claimed by the Yacht Club's Lila Marie LaHood and Stefan R. Teitga.

Mrs. J. Otto Scherer, formerly of the Park, was on hand to congratulate all participants and to present the trophy, which honors her husband, the late J. Otto Scherer, for his contributions and dedication to the establishment of the D.R.Y.A. Junior Sailing Program.

Past Crescent commodore Herbert Mainwaring chaired the race committee, which included Marie Mainwaring, Gene Bertelsen, William Herbert, Maynard Rupp, William Sadler, Edwin Boothroyd, Bernard Tonowski and Jo-Dan Hartingh. Past commodore Lee Sutton, of Crescent, and George Gerow were judges.

ron and Robichaud were flight winners over Milwaukee.

"Incredible," said ULS coach Bob Wood. "We won all three matches and we could have very easily lost all three. Everyone, at one time or another, came through."

Kevin Whitfield scored three touchdowns and Jason Drook returned an interception for a score as the ULS football team dominated Kingston, 28-7 Sept. 15.

ULS, now 3-0 overall and ranked No. 4 in Class C, had to travel some 120 miles and that, according to Coach Bob Newvine, played a key factor in the team's flat performance in the first half.

"That's the first time this season we had to travel that far and I don't think we were focused on the game until the second half," Newvine said. "The bus was late getting to the school and that just made us rush everything once we got up there. Mentally, it didn't help us at all."

What helped was a 14-7 lead at halftime despite not playing well.

"Good teams find a way to win and that's all we did that day," Newvine said. "It was nice that we had the lead, but we weren't comfortable with the way we were playing."

Whitfield's 8-yard touchdown run and Mike Whelan's first of four extra points gave ULS a 7-0 lead, but on Kingston's next possession, the score was knotted at 7-7.

However, it was Whitfield's day.

On the ensuing kickoff, Whitfield sprinted 80 yards, giving ULS a 13-7 lead. Whelan kicked the point after and ULS had a 14-7 lead.

Jason Drook got ULS untracked in the second half when he intercepted a pass and ran it back 21 yards for a score. Whitfield's 8-yard run in the fourth quarter capped the scoring. Whitfield also finished with 20 tackles on defense.

Chris Carroll led the rushing attack with 113 yards, and ULS had 275 total yards of offense.

Led by nose tackle Olban Dickerson, the ULS defense stuffed Kingston three times inside the 10-yard line.

"Our defense really picked us up," Newvine said. "We didn't play a great game, nor did we play up to our expectations. We just got the job done and got out of there."

North sports

By Rob Fulton
Sports Editor

All week long it was Bulldog week for the North varsity football team. But it was the Romeo team which was able to collar the Norsemen, 21-18, Sept. 14 at Romeo.

The loss snapped North's two-game winning streak, and dropped it to 2-1 overall and 1-1 in the Macomb Area Conference, just one game behind league leaders Romeo and Fraser.

The showdown was touted as the league championship game even though it was only the third week of the season. But the loss doesn't knock North out of the league race.

"I feel that we lost the game on three plays," said Norsemen coach Frank Sumbera. "Two big pass plays and one big run really hurt us. We had some breakdowns on those plays, but otherwise I think we may have outplayed them."

North's defense had recorded two straight shutouts, but that streak ended on the fifth play of the game when Romeo fullback Marty Butkovich scored from 30 yards out.

Norsemen bulldogged by Romeo, 21-18

"I think we were kind of shocked by that," Sumbera said. "But we didn't allow it to get us down."

Not at all. North's defense, which knew it had to shut down elusive tailback Kent Tanner and Butkovich, limited the Bulldogs to only 218 total yards and six first downs. Compared to North's total yardage of 243 and 11 first downs, it appears it did outplay Romeo.

Tanner, who had one touchdown, finished with only 44 yards and Butkovich had 48.

North's offense was led by the one-two running punch of Mike Haskell, who had two touchdowns, and Paul Straske. Straske rushed for 126 yards on 18 carries and Haskell carried 16 times for 102 yards. It was Haskell's and Straske's third straight game over 100 yards.

North was hurt by an ineffective passing attack, with quarterback Gary Corona completing only one of 11 passes for 12 yards.

"We've got to work on our passing game," Sumbera said. "We've been too inconsistent and obviously it hurt us against Romeo."

After giving up the Butkovich score, North's defense stymied the Bulldogs, forcing them to punt on all but one possession in the first half.

Adam Korzeniewski had 10 tackles and James Kutscher had seven. Leo Salvaggio had five tackles.

After North's initial drive stalled and ended with a punt, defensive end Scott Nesom, who had six tackles and two behind-the-line tackles, jarred the ball loose and Steve Craparotta, who led the team with 13 tackles, recovered the ball at the Romeo 33. Six plays later North cut the lead to 7-3 on Corona's 35-yard field goal on the first play of the second quarter.

"We had a fourth-and-one situation, but we decided to go for the sure points," said Sumbera.

On North's next possession, it took only three plays to go 65 yards, thanks to Haskell's 46-yard touchdown jaunt. Corona booted the extra point and North took a 10-7 lead at the half.

"Things looked good for us," Sumbera said. "Our defense was playing well and our offense was clicking. We were in control and things were going our way."

Until the first of two big passes sank the Norsemen in the second half.

Romeo was stopped on a third-and-one play, but North kept the Bulldogs' drive alive with a 15-yard penalty. On the next play a 27-yard pass took the ball to North's 9, and Tanner scooted in just one play later, giving Romeo a 14-10 lead.

But the 'Dogs weren't done; a 59-yard touchdown pass, that just eluded the fingertips of North defensive back Eric Merte, gave Romeo a 21-10 lead at the end of the third quarter.

"Eric made a great play, but it was just a great throw," Sumbera said. "He was right on the guy, but the ball was thrown very well."

To start the fourth quarter, Haskell capped a North 12-play, 67-yard drive with a 1-yard plunge. The touchdown was set up by Straske's 41-yard run. However, a two-point conversion attempt failed for North.

North cut the lead to 21-18 when Romeo was forced to punt and the punter downed himself in the end zone.

"This was a tough loss," Sumbera said. "The kids really worked hard and this game was very well played. It's not like we went up there and played dead, we just lost the game on three plays. I'm very pleased with the kids' performance."

Basketball

Returning home was not a warm welcome for Coach Gary Bennett's team.

After winning its first two games on the road, the North girls' basketball team lost on its own floor to Mount Clemens, 61-42, and long-time nemesis Regina, 37-23.

Against Regina, the Lady Norsemen offense struggled, with nobody scoring in double figures. Defensively, however, the Norsemen held an explosive offense in check.

Stephanie Gore grabbed nine rebounds to pace North.

North held a 28-25 first-half lead against Mount Clemens, but was outscored 36-14 in the second half. Gore led the way with 16 points and 10 rebounds, while Amy Sacka scored six points, grabbed eight rebounds and had three assists.

North is 2-2 overall and opens league play Sept. 27 at home against Romeo.

Golf

One stroke is all it took for North to beat Utica Ford, 175-176, Sept. 13.

Andre Emery carded a team-low 42, while Ryan Oliver and Scott Carson each shot a 44.

On Sept. 10, the Norsemen beat Romeo, 175-183, behind 43s by Emery and Oliver.

North is 2-1.

Cross country

Packing five runners in the top seven finishers was too much for Roseville to overcome, as the North boys' team won, 18-45 Sept. 11.

Tom Gauerke, Dave Meda, Jim Moore, Chris Hamilton and Reeve Brandon were the top-five finishers. Personal-bests were turned in by Bob Pope, Dave Bonkowski, Mike Weigand, Marty Bogen, James Mouton, Brian Duignan, Mike Alimario and Doug Brown.

Scott Collins and Gauerke, who finished third and 21st, respectively, led North at the Holly Invitational Sept. 15, where more than 150 runners competed.

The girls' team defeated five teams during one race Sept. 11, beating Cousino, Roseville, Mott, Lutheran North and Lakeview to remain unbeaten for the year.

Jessica McLalin, Allison Liebold, Joy Ramberger, Alissa Zepke and Anne Scallen took the top five spots.

In the Holly Invitational, the team finished second behind the first-place run of McLalin, who beat 142 runners.

Devils back on track

By Rob Fulton
Sports Editor

Welcome home, Blue Devils. After two straight road defeats to start the football season, the South Blue Devils returned for their home opener and beat the Tars of Anchor Bay, 21-7.

South, 1-2 overall, picked up its first win in the Macomb Area Conference White Division and moves to 1-1. The win also kept the Devils just one game behind league co-leaders Romeo and Fraser, the only two teams unbeaten in the league.

"It's finally nice to get the first win under our belts," said head coach Jon Rice. "The anxiety of losing two straight was only natural, but this win has eased our minds."

South's offense, which had struggled in the first two games, had some troubles with the Anchor Bay defense early in the game, but put together its most impressive drive of the season to get what proved to be the winning touchdown in the second half.

"We didn't do anything fancy on that drive," Rice said. "We still made some mistakes offensively, but we really got things going with that drive."

What helped, too, was the adjustments Rice and his staff made during the week of practice. Kelly Graves and Brett Brownscombe were moved to the tight end positions, and Chris Harwick made his varsity debut at fullback.

"It looks like we're going to stick with that," Rice said. "It worked out well for us, but we still need some work. We're still looking for some consistency on offense."

Harwick finished with 96 yards on 19 carries, helping South total 150 yards of offense.

The game was won with a defense that limited Anchor Bay to only 107 yards passing and zero yards on the ground. South was able to contain everything the Tars attempted.

"Our defense played very well," Rice said. "We were able to adjust to everything they did and wouldn't allow them to run the ball. The kids responded well." Defensively, the Devils were led by Charlie Lickfold, who had two interceptions. He returned the first one 41 yards for South's first touchdown, and later took one 55 yards to the Anchor Bay 2, where Nick Johnston popped in two plays later to close out the scoring.

Jason Bedsworth and Frank Voelker each had eight tackles, and Graves had seven tackles to go with one interception. Jason Benavidez picked off a pass, his second of the season, and Brownscombe had two quarterback sacks and a blocked punt. Joe Wood recovered a fumble.

Lickfold's touchdown was the only score South could muster in the first half. Jay Berschback kicked all three extra points, in-

Adam Little (goalie), Harry Gaggos, Paul Mallon, Nick Rottundo and Justin Urso played well for the Spikers.

Blazers 2, Rangers 1
Randy Graves and Justin Schoenherr scored goals for the Blazers, with offensive support from Sean Schoenherr, Jimmy Denner, Chip Fowler, Tarik Ibrahim, Ryan McKenzie and Marc Kaplan.

Yorg Keratitio, Mark Jacobsen, Scott Jacobsen and Matt Hollerbach played well defensively, while goalie Derek Schoenherr got the win.

Chichi Kabongo, Chad Blackburn, Chris Bowerman, Pat Moultrie (goalie), Mike Feldman and Brian Killian highlighted the Rangers' game.

Wolverines 3, Kickers 3
Kevin Messacar scored twice and Rich Mayk once for the Wolverines. Todd Otto, P.J. Moir and Alexander Heinen scored for the Kickers.

Playing well for the Wolverines were Brian Gorsky, Michael Matthews and A.J. Rohde, who stopped a penalty kick with one second to play.

Jake Warchail played well for the Kickers, as did Robert Higbie.

Wolverines 6, Strikers 1
A.J. Rohde scored four times and Rich Mayk scored twice in the win.

Mike D'Hondt got the only Strikers' goal.

Matthew Hindelang and Michael Matthews had great games at forward. The Strikers were led by Charles Dallas, Craig Roddis, Mark LaPointe and Steve Bell.

'Canes 4, Bullets 0
Scoring for the Hurricanes were David Dwaihy, Drew Harris, Francis Rodriguez and Mark ZurSchmiede. Brad Cenko assisted on ZurSchmiede's goal. Michael Bramlage, Brandon Euashka and Harris also had assists.

Kevin Hall, Joe Choma, Dom Liimini, Peter Marks and Paul Thursam lent support, as did Greg Peppler.

'Canes 1, Blazers 1
Walter Belenky notched the Hurricanes' only goal after Don Sigler's corner kick. Drew Harris, Michael Bramlage, Paul Thursam and Walter Belenky played strong defense.

David-Michael Boykin were strong in goal and Mary Van DePutte was tough on defense.

Kickers 1, Goalbusters 0
Todd Otto provided all the scoring punch on an unassisted goal and Alexander Heinen and Mac MacPharlin paced the offense for the Kickers. Christian Knudson and G.J. Kordas were tough defenders.

Andrew Hendrie, Jonathan Berg and Mary Van DePutte highlighted the 'Busters' attack.

Turbos 3, Hawks 1
Scoring for the Turbos were Adam Santangelo, Scott Dansbury and Dan Wise. Making key offensive plays were Joe Donahue, Greg Grosfield, Bryan Kupts and Alec Dragovich.

The Hawks came on strong, but Turbo goalie Brad Staniszewski thwarted the attack. Alex Carpenter converted a pass from Jim Kruse for the lone Hawks' goal.

Bears 2, Pitbulls 0
Blake Ellis and Louis Ciotti each scored a goal, while Danny Ferring played a strong game in goal. Jeff Hiller made two outstanding defensive plays.

Mike DiLoreto, Adam Buddy and Joe Petkwitz highlighted the Bears' offense.

cluding the first one that gave South a 7-0 lead in the first quarter.

"We struggled offensively," Rice said. "We had some problems adjusting to Anchor Bay's stunts. Their defense caused some problems for us."

But an 80-yard drive got the offense untracked.

Senior quarterback Tim Gramling capped that drive, which opened the second half, with a 3-yard run, and Berschback kicked the extra point, extending South's lead to 14-0.

Johnston's touchdown after Lickfold's second interception came in the fourth quarter, just ahead of Anchor Bay's only score late in the game.

"We're hoping to pick up right where we left off," said Rice, whose team travels to Utica Sept. 21. "We're still in the hunt for the league. We're going to do what we can to win the next one and just take it from there."

Golf

Paul Power and Brian Campbell each carded a 40 as South beat North, 164-170, Sept. 7.

That win, however, was the only one the Devils could register last week.

South went on to lose to Anchor Bay, 158-174, and Stevenson, 171-182.

At home against Anchor Bay, Campbell and Rem Milligan each shot a 39, and David Reed had a 41 at Stevenson.

Cross country

The Lady Devils improved their record to 6-0 with victories over Romeo, Warren Woods-Tower and South Lake last week.

South also placed second in the inaugural Michigan State

Spartan Invitational Sept. 15, just behind defending state champion Ann Arbor Pioneer.

Against Romeo, 16 South runners set personal-best records. The team was also led by freshman Rachel O'Byrne, who covered the 3.1-mile course in 20:49. Following within 15 seconds were Claudine DuPont, Sandy Dierkes and Erica Mondro.

All six South wins this season have come with perfect 15-50 scores.

At the Spartan invitational, South put five runners in the top 25. Sophomore Heidi Wise continued to pace the Devils, placing ninth overall (20:39). Following closely behind were O'Byrne (11th), Dierkes (15th), DuPont (17th) and Mondro (25th). One-hundred-thirty runners competed.

Others running personal-bests for South included Jenny Cornwith, Eileen Lang, Sara Black, Heather Whitten, Kelly Groman, Whitney Deason, Milissa Chamberlin, Heather Cunningham, Janece Anderson, Maria Romano and Becky McCurdy.

Under coach Tom Wise, the boys' team is off to a 5-1 start, with its only loss coming last week against Romeo.

South jumped to a 3-0 start with wins over Roseville, South Lake and Lakeview. Dan Quinn led South, and was supported by Matt Squire, Josh Christain and Brandon Farmer. Also running well were Jeremy Gayeski, Delaine Boon and Tom Coyle.

On Sept. 8, Squire paced South to a fourth-place finish at the Algonac Invitational. Christain, Farmer and Danny Taylor were also top finishers. Matt Stentx earned a varsity position by finishing second in the jayvee race.

On Sept. 11, South rolled past Center Line and Woods-Tower, but lost to Romeo. Paul Unger, Dan Conroy and Marty Kraft all ran fine races.

South then competed in the Michigan State Spartan Invitational, placing two teams at sixth and ninth place, respectively.

Quinn, Farmer and Christain finished first, second and third, while Andy Le paced the 'B' team.

Basketball

Junior forward Erin Lalley poured in 12 points to pace the Lady Devils to their first win of the season, a 55-39 trouncing of Port Huron Northern.

South, 1-3 overall, got 11 points and nine steals from Emilee Ayrault in that win.

At Stevenson, South's one-game streak ended with a 51-34 loss.

The Devils held a 10-4 advantage early, but in the second quarter were forced to go with reserves after four starters went to the bench in foul trouble. That's when Stevenson ran out to a 21-12 halftime lead.

Karen Ehresman led South with 11 points and Vicky Spicer had eight points, six steals and five assists. Sue McGahey had nine rebounds and Ayrault scored nine points.

Pointe Girls Soccer scores

Mustangs '80 2, Big Reds 0

Anne Morris, on passes from Melissa Brown and Kristin Byron and Elizabeth Tymark, scored both Mustangs' goals.

The defense was sparked by Theresa Franzinger, Georgia Bakalis, Jessica Howlett and Tymark. Courtney Schafer and Kelly Neuman combined for the shutout in net.

Mustangs '80 7, Lobos 0

Goals were scored by Melissa Brown, Courtney Lytle, Anne Morris, Courtney Schafer, Elizabeth Tymrak and Julia Roulis. The Lobos scored on their own net.

Liz Slone, Kelly Neuman, Andrew Muncy, Elizabeth Borowiec and Kristin Byron paced the offense, and Georgia Bakalis, Lavra Cassin, Jessica Howlett and Theresa Franzinger anchored the defense.

Mustangs '79, 5, Burners 2

Abby Tompkins and Haley Holmer each scored twice, and Mieke Teitge notched one goal for the Mustangs. Jenny Mansfield, Ashley Holmer and Abby Tompkins drew assists. Mary Sullivan had a strong game at halfback, while Ruth Hossen and Susan Clark-Reid played well defensively.

Mustangs '79 6, Jets 1

Mullaney Hardesty and Dana Mertz controlled the Mustangs' defense, while Abby Tompkins (4) and Jenny Mansfield provided the scoring.

Carrie Egnatios also played a strong offensive game, and Caitlin Shapiro, Emily Fleury, Haley Holmer and Mieke Teitge drew assists.

500 ANIMALS ADOPT A PET

FREE- Three year old cat, spayed, front declawed. Please call 772-0776.

LOVABLE dogs and cats need good homes. For adoption information call: Northern Suburbs Animal Welfare League Volunteer at 777-5110 or 463-7422.

PLEASE DON'T DELAY!
SPAY or NEUTER YOUR PET TODAY!

An altered pet is a healthier and happier companion. Also, it spares you the grief and pain of having puppies and kittens destroyed when no homes can be found. Countless numbers of sweet, innocent little ones are euthanized every day in shelters across the country because a pet wasn't spayed or neutered. If we cut down on the numbers of unwanted litters being born, we will also cut down on the number of abandoned, lost and unwanted animals to destroy.

WE WILL BE HAPPY TO PROVIDE ADVICE as well as a LIST OF ECONOMICAL SERVICE SOURCES Call us at:

PEPPY is a Beagle pup about 5 months of age. She needs some training and is a little shy. Peppy is available for adoption at the Central Shelter of Michigan Humane Society, located at 7401 Chrysler Drive, or call 872-3400. Adoption hours are 10 a.m. - 4:30 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday.

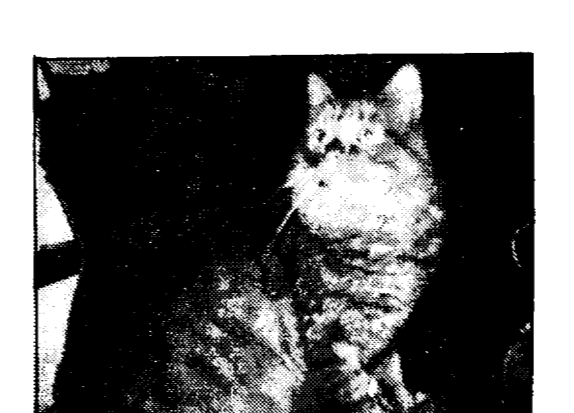

This week up for adoption at The Anti-Cruelty Association, 13569 Jos Campau, Detroit, MI 48212, we have a wonderful selection of companion animals. Our adoption hours are M-S 10:30-3:00. Won't you please stop by and make a commitment that will change your life? Having a companion to share your life is a rewarding experience - all you pet owners know exactly what we are talking about! Call us at 891-7188 for more info.

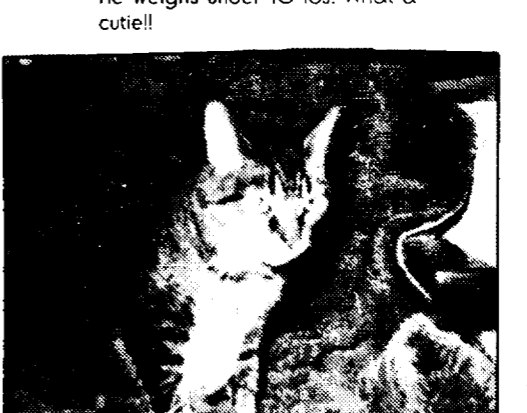

Brownie is a sweet 12 week old female shepherd mix. She has a wonderful personality.

Butch is an adorable 3 month old little male chiu/beagle mix. He's going to be a small fellow. He weighs under 10 lbs! What a cutie!

Toffy is a handsome hefty orange Angora male that's already neutered & declawed. He's got a beautiful personality. You have to see him to appreciate his qualities.

Tiger is a beautiful tabby tiger stripe male that has short hair. He's already been neutered & declawed. He is exceptionally friendly.

Romeo is 3-1 2 years old, neutered & declawed. He's a white & black Persian mix with long hair. Very beautiful and a real hefty weight at about 15 lbs!

Shelly is still waiting too. She's a very unique and beautiful chocolate brown & orange torti. She's had all her shots and is spayed. All she needs is someone to give her a home. She's so affectionate. Please come see how loveable she is!

LITTLE BEAR is four months old. He's an English-mix and is very fun loving and lovable. Little Bear was neglected and is looking for a family to love him.
