Freeman resigns

By Dan Jarvis
Staff Writer

After 11 years as mayor and another decade as a city councilman in Grosse Pointe Woods, Mayor George Freeman resigned at Monday's meeting of the Woods City Council, effective Oct. 15.

"I've been considering it for some time," Freeman said. "There was some concern on the council as far as the residency requirement in the city charter."

Freeman, who currently resides both in the Woods and St. Clair Shores, said he was looking for a permanent residence in the Woods, but probably will retire and move to Florida.

Councilman Paul Beaupre said the city charter requirement for residency is vague.

According to wording in the Woods City Charter and state statutes, an elected official in a city must also be an elector, meaning he or she must be registered to vote in that city and must be a resident.

Freeman resides on Yorktown in the Woods and is registered to vote in the Woods.

"The majority felt that the spirit of the city charter was not being met even though he did retain a Woods address," Beaupre said.

"It's unfortunate that he had to retire at this time, but the mayor felt it was in the best interest of the city."

George Catlin, city attorney, recently issued a legal opinion at the request of the City Council stating that the residency of an elector is based on the intention of that person to remain a permanent resident of that city.

State statutes say that residency is defined as the place where a person spends the majority of his or her time.

"The attorney's opinion and the city charter left a lot of room for a difference of opinion," Beaupre said. "It was very ambiguous and the mayor didn't want to leave the impression that he was doing anything wrong. He was not. It was his decision to retire and his decision alone."

"He will certainly be missed very much in the Woods. He was very dedicated and that is the reason he won so many landslide victories and had so little opposition in several elections. He was a true leader and he will be sorely missed."

Robert Novitke, mayor pro-tem, said Freeman had the unique ability of maintaining a balance between several on the council with varying opinions. "He formed a good working relationship with the City Council and the city administration," Novitke said.

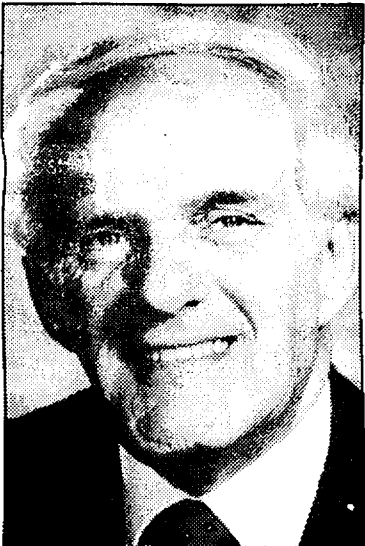

"George will be missed very much both by those with the city and by the residents."

The City Council must now appoint a mayor to serve out the remainder of Freeman's term, which runs until November 1991.

Novitke said in the absence of a mayor, he will chair the council meetings and sign official documents which require the mayor's signature.

Chester Petersen, city administrator, said the City Council will accept Freeman's resignation at its Nov. 5 regular meeting. The council, in the meantime, can appoint a mayor to finish the term, he said.

"He served the community very well," Petersen said. "He has been instrumental in making

The gold of autumn

The area known as the Nuns' Walk on Kenwood inspires this anonymous 19th century poem:

Come said the wind to the leaves one day

Come over the hills with me to play

Put on your garments of scarlet and gold

Pointer of Interest Tony Nelson

By John Minnis
Assistant Editor

Artist, sailor, father, saloon-keeper, scuba diver, teacher, inventor, partier, Santa Claus. These words either describe a crowd or one man: Tony Nelson.

Nelson, 60, has been a Grosse Pointe Park resident for nearly 30 years, and during those decades and before he's amassed myriad experiences. One thing he hasn't done is failed to live life to the fullest.

He was born in France but came to this country at an early age, living at first in Freeport, R.I., and then the east side of Detroit. The family was not well off.

Tony Nelson

As a young man in the 1950s, Nelson attended art school in Chicago, but it seems he learned about everything except art.

"I went to school and got a good education, but not an art education," he said. "I learned how to treat people."

To earn his way through college, he worked in restaurants and bars. In Chicago, he started as a busboy for Stouffer's and worked his way up to bartender. He then tended bar at a strip joint in Chicago, and he said that's where he got his real education.

Having learned the worldly lessons, Nelson decided he needed a good art education, so he left the Windy City and went to the West Coast to attend the prestigious Los Angeles Art Center. The school was expensive, and at times he worked three jobs while attending school. He said those were the hardest three years of his life.

Today, as an instructor at the Center for Creative Studies, Nelson points out that many young people say they are unable to get an education because their family can't afford to pay for it. Recalling his time in Los Angeles, Nelson has little sympathy for that argument.

"Anybody can go to college," he said. "This is the greatest country in the world (because) anyone can get an education."

After earning a bachelor's degree from the L.A. Art Center, Nelson was offered a job back in Detroit, but he didn't want to return to the Motor City.

Because he had only $5.40 in his pocket, however, he decided taking the job may be a good idea, even if it was in Detroit. Besides, the $7,500 a year he would be making in automotive styling was pretty good in 1956.

"Back in those days," he said, "if you made $10,000 you owned the world."

Nelson said that at the time he resented being in Detroit. He wanted to be where the action was — New York City. So after a couple of years, still single, he packed up and went to the Big Apple.

In New York, he and others worked all night and slept during the day. They'd pick up and drop off jobs in the afternoon and then pull all-nighters. Nelson and the other artists in the group would eat breakfast at suppertime and dinner in the morning. The hours suited him just fine.

"I'm not an early riser," he said. "I hate getting up in the morning."

While in the big city, he got around on a motor scooter and scavenged antique and second-hand shops for his furniture. "It was the fun of finding it," he said of his scavenger hunts, "not buying it."

After a year and a half and a broken relationship, Nelson came back home to Detroit. But this time, it was because he

Woods investigation leads to culmination of counterfeiting case

By John Minnis
Assistant Editor

A counterfeit cashier's check investigation initiated by Grosse Pointe Woods police in August has led to charges involving two young men from the west side who allegedly made the bogus checks on a home computer.

One of the young men, Anthony Grewal, has been arraigned in U.S. District Court in Detroit for passing or possessing counterfeit securities, which is a felony carrying a maximum of 10 years in prison and a $250,000 fine. Grewal and an unnamed, and so far uncharged, accomplice are reported to be about 23 years old.

Details were sketchy Monday because while Grewal was arraigned on the charge, the accomplice had yet to be charged, according to federal prosecutor Diane Donahue, who is handling the case.

Also, in federal court, all prosecutions result from indictments handed down from a federal grand jury. Thus far, the case has not reached the indictment stage, Donahue said.

According to Grosse Pointe Woods Detective Sgt. Michael VanDeGinste, the case began on Aug. 25 when a Grosse Pointe Woods merchant reported a suspicious incident. On that day, the suspects involved were shopping in a Mack Avenue store. While discussing the purchase, the pair made the merchant suspicious of their intentions.

When they left the store, the merchant obtained a description of their car and got their license plate number. He then reported the incident to Woods detectives.

VanDeGinste's subsequent investigation revealed that the two men had attempted to buy goods from two other Mack Avenue stores using cashier's checks. VanDeGinste said the method of operation was always the same.

The suspects would go shopping on Thursday, line up merchandise they wanted to buy, found out what the total bill would be and then showed up on Saturday with a cashier's check for the exact amount of the purchase. Because it was Saturday, the merchants would not be able to verify the cashier's checks.

The checks represented numerous banks in the area. VanDeGinste said the suspects began buying jewelry, something which could be more easily converted to cash. They began small but worked their way up to bigger purchases and bigger checks. They began to buy goods for their own use, not just for their ease of liquidation.

On Sept. 28, the suspects allegedly used a $17,000 cashier's check to buy a complete desktop publishing computer system from an outstate Michigan Computerland store. Police speculate that the suspects planned to go into the counterfeit cashier's

Library plans to be discussed

Charles Hanson, director of the Grosse Pointe public libraries, has issued an invitation to anyone who wants to discuss the plans for a new central library and the upcoming library bond issue.

Appointments can be arranged by telephone at 343-2091 at Central Library, 10 Kercheval, or on a drop-in basis from 10:30 to 12:30 on Wednesdays beginning Oct. 31.

Hanson is presenting a free class at Barnes School on Thursday, Oct. 25, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. titled "The Manuscript Meets the Word Processor: Information Access at the Public Library - Today and Tomorrow." Registration for this class is through Community Education at 343-2178.

Corrections

Corrections will be printed on this page every week. If there is an error of fact in any story, call the newsroom at 882-0294.

The headline on the story about Lifeline, a weekend program aimed at increasing family communication offered at Pierce Middle School, should have made clear that the program is open to all families in the Grosse Pointe school district with children in middle school, not only Pierce families. The program is being offered Nov. 2-3 and registration can be made by calling any one of the middle schools.

An incorrect telephone number was printed in last week's notice about the Grosse Pointe South High School class of 1973's reunion. Mike Mengden's number is 881-5993.

Auto history

A lighthearted program, "You Ought to have an Auto," will provide a chronological history of the automobile in America and how it has changed our lives.

The lecture will be presented Thursday, Oct. 25, from 7:30 to 9 p.m., at the War Memorial.

The slide show and lecture will review the works of Henry Ford, the Dodge brothers and other early developers of the auto. Dr. Martin Brosnan will also examine what happened to the auto industry during World War I, the Roaring '20s, the Depression of the '30s and World War II.

Brosnan has hosted similar programs at the Smithsonian Institution, the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village and the Detroit Historical Society.

The lecture fee is $8 a person. For more information, call 881-7511.

St. Ambrose demolition

The former St. Ambrose Community Center was torn down last week to make room for more parking at the Grosse Pointe Park municipal complex. The Park purchased the building in June for $70,000. As the low bidder, Richters Contracting of Mount Clemens was awarded the contract to tear down the wooden structure that was built in 1917.

While the structure was being torn down, nearby residents and parishioners watched. The building originally stood where the current church stands and was moved across the street in 1924-25.

4 more communities approve continuation of airport battle

By John Minnis
Assistant Editor

Grosse Pointe City, Woods, Farms and Harper Woods all approved resolutions Monday night that would allow the local fight to continue to block the proposed expansion of Detroit City Airport.

The four communities followed earlier action by the Grosse Pointe Park council to approve in principal a $300,000 request by the Grosse Pointe-Harper Woods Airport Study Committee to prepare a rebuttal to Detroit's master plan for the $501 million proposed airport expansion.

The officials of the various cities will be negotiating sharing the costs based on either population, state equalized value, or a formula using both population and SEV.

The $300,000 will be used to continue to retain Washington, D.C., attorney James Burnley IV, who is a former secretary of transportation. Initially, the six communities in the study committee shared the $25,000 expense to hire Burnley to come up with a preliminary report on Detroit's plans for the airport at Gratiot and Conner.

Burnley's report indicated that Detroit's expectations of Federal Aviation Administration grants, in his opinion, were overly optimistic and unlikely to be forthcoming. Further, he said there were serious environmental problems that needed to be addressed.

Following Burnley's report, the study committee decided to recommend retaining Burnley to prepare a rebuttal to Detroit's master plan for the airport. Also, aeronautics and environmental experts and a local law firm will be hired to assist Burnley.

The City, Farms and Harper Woods city councils unanimously approved the $300,000 resolution. In Grosse Pointe Woods, Councilwoman Jean Rice was the only one to vote against the resolution.

Of the six communities making up the study committee, only Grosse Pointe Shores has yet to meet. The airport resolution is expected to be brought before the Shores Village Council at its Oct. 23 meeting.

Also, it is expected that the city of Warren may chip in on the costs. Warren Mayor Ronald Bonkowski is expected to bring the matter before his council Oct. 24.

Park detectives investigating four related armed robberies

Four armed robberies in as many days are being investigated by Grosse Pointe Park police, who believe the crimes are related.

On Oct. 7 at 1:30 a.m., a 30-year-old woman was waiting in a car in a parking lot in the 15200 block of Kercheval when she was approached by a man who put a handgun to her head and demanded her money. The woman argued with the gunman but then gave him her purse.

On Oct. 10 three similar armed robberies were reported.

At 10:12 p.m., a man in the 1400 block of Wayburn approached a resident who was in his rear yard. The suspect pulled a gun and demanded money. The resident didn't have any money on him and the suspect fled.

At 11:25 p.m., a man sitting in a car in the 1000 block of Maryland was approached by a suspect with a gun who demanded money. The man in the car then sped away. The gunman fired a shot at the car as it was leaving.

At 11:20 p.m., a 26-year-old man was in his rear yard in the 1100 block of Wayburn when he was approached by a man with a gun. The gunman demanded money, which he counted as he walked away.

According to Park police, the four armed robberies are believed to be the work of one man. The police were in the middle of the investigation Monday and could not comment further on the robberies.

Farms burglary suspect arrested after deportation from Canada

By John Minnis
Assistant Editor

A 19-year-old St. Clair Shores man learned last week that the long arm of the law is not a myth.

Eric Anthony Shellum was arraigned on burglary charges Oct. 14 after he was extradited from Holland, Mich., where he was staying after being deported from Canada. Farms Municipal Judge Matthew Rumora set bond at $50,000 cash or surety and Shellum was put in Wayne County Jail where he awaits arraignment on the charge in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Shellum pleaded innocent to the burglary charge.

Shellum's run from the law began shortly after noon July 17 when a house-sitter reported the home in the 100 block of Merrivether in the Farms had been burglarized. A stereo system, compact discs, a man's leather jacket, miscellaneous items and a BMW were reported stolen.

Shellum, who had spent the night and several days at the house before being told to leave, was the prime suspect. He was reportedly seen driving the BMW at North High School and of allegedly trying to sell the CDs at a local record store, according to earlier police reports.

Shellum then disappeared.

Within days, the stolen BMW was found abandoned at the Toronto International Airport. According to Farms Detective Michael McCarthy, Shellum apparently heard on a police scanner that there was a lookout for the BMW so he allegedly ditched the car at the airport.

On Oct. 10, Farms police received a teletype that Shellum was being deported from Calgary, Canada. On the following day, Shellum was turned over to customs officials in Sweetgrass, Mont. At the time, the Wayne County prosecutor's office refused to extradite Shellum from Montana.

Farms police learned Oct. 11 Shellum was back in Michigan when the Secretary of State's office sent a teletype seeking confirmation of a warrant against Shellum, who on Sept. 27 applied for a driver's license in Holland, Mich.

On Oct. 12, Holland police arrested Shellum, and Farms Detectives Dan Jensen and Michael McCarthy went to Holland and brought Shellum back to the Farms.

Clothes are revealing

Do clothes reveal our truest identity? They not only identify us as belonging to a specific culture, but as performing specific roles in that culture as well.

The brown bag luncheon program "You Are What You Wear," will examine the question: "Do clothes really make the professional?" It will be held free of charge in the Booth-Wilkinson Costume Gallery of the Detroit Historical Museum, on Wednesday, Oct. 24, at noon.

Professor Joy Hansen from Eastern Michigan University will trace the way in which fashion reflects society. She will explore historical relationships between our outward appearance and events in time. Visitors will have a chance to look at how dress symbols communicate a visual statement of economic, social, and professional status.

Shown above in a recent rehearsal are Tony Amato of Harper Woods and Marie Boyle of Grosse Pointe Park as presidential candidate John P. Wintergreen and Mary Turner, the campaign worker he chooses for his first lady. The award-winning Gershwin musical will be presented Oct. 30-Nov. 4 and Nov. 6-10 at the Fries Auditorium in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial at 8 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and 7 p.m. on Sunday. Tickets are $10 for all performances; group rates are available for some performances. Call the GPT Ticket Hotline at 881-4004 to order tickets.

Basketball game to benefit kids

The Grosse Pointe Fraternal Order of Police, Lodge 102, has organized a basketball game to raise money for the Wayne County prosecutor's Child Abuse Unit.

The game will be on Sunday, Oct. 28, at 3 p.m. at Grosse Pointe North High School. The cost is $5.

The Grosse Pointe police officers will be challenged by the Court Jesters from WKSG-FM. Also, for each slice of Domino's pizza sold at the game, a portion of the proceeds will be donated to the Child Abuse Unit.

The Wayne County prosecutor's Child Abuse Unit provides

"vertical prosecution" — that is, the same prosecutor follows the child through the entire court process. In other counties, a child may be assigned five or six different prosecutors by the time he or she is through the process.

Another feature of the unit is the use of a child advocate who prepares the child for the court proceedings. Because children are at the unit for a couple of hours at a time, the unit provides snacks and toys to play with when they are not being interviewed.

Sunday chamber music concert

Grosse Pointe Chamber Music will present its monthly Sunday afternoon concert at the War Memorial in the Crystal Ballroom on Oct. 21, at 2:30 p.m.

The program will feature the Detroit Woodwind Quintet in works by Franz J. Haydn, Jacques Ibert, Charles Lefebvre and Scott Joplin. The group consists of Deborah Katz, flute; Sylvia Starkman, oboe; Linda Borushko, clarinet; Elizath Wilson, bassoon, and Ernestine Barnes, horn. Charles Wingert, tenor, and John Miller, piano, will be heard in Robert Schumann's "Dichterliebe" and "Widmung." Violist Michelle Moffett will play two selections from Suites No. 2 and 3 by Johann Sebastian Bach.

Light refreshments will follow the program. The public is invited. Admission at the door is $5. Members attend free.

Halls of Nightmares opens Monday

The St. Paul Athletic Club will once again host its Halloween fundraiser "Halls of Nightmares."

Running Oct. 22-30, the gymnasium will be turned into a haunted house with all proceeds going to help athletics at St.

Paul School in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Doors open at 6 p.m. each day and close at 11 p.m., midnight on Friday and Saturday. Admission is $3.

For a second opinion, call The Southeast Michigan Laser Center first.

If surgery has been recommended for you, or for a member of your family, you might want to consider a second opinion. And a second opinion from the independent surgeons practicing at The Southeast Michigan Laser Center at St. John Hospital and Medical Center could shed some healing light on your problem.

The simple solution. Laser instruments can be so precise they can actually remove dried paint from an inflated balloon without bursting it. Such precision allows surgeons to operate with minimal damage to healthy tissue. And so surgery is likely to cause less pain, less loss of blood and patients are less likely to need transfusions or experience complications.

The simple recovery. Some forms of major surgery that might result in a lengthy hospital stay with ordinary surgical methods can be treated simply as an outpatient procedure at The Southeast Michigan Laser Center.

Recovery can be more comfortable, with fewer pain-relieving drugs, less time in bed and

Pointes plan new attack on airport issue

Grosse Pointe foes of the Detroit City Airport expansion now are girding for a new assault on the $501 million project that many Pointers fear will damage the quality of life in their community if it is carried out.

Encouraged by the findings of the first Burnley report, the Grosse Pointes-Harper Woods Airport Study Committee last week proposed that the involved cities contribute up to $300,000 to line up new ammunition to kill the project if possible.

More specifically, the recommendation was that the involved cities retain Transportation Secretary James Burnley IV, the report's author, and additional experts to gather more evidence and thus buttress their case against the airport expansion plan.

Thus far, four of the five Pointes and Harper Woods have approved the committee's recommendation, subject, however, to the negotiation of an equitable formula for the sharing of the additional costs by the Pointes and other communities involved in the battle against the airport expansion.

The new funds would permit the hiring of environmental and aeronautics experts to find "areas where facts are incorrectly stated or stated in such a way as to be misinterpreted" by the people with whom they are filed. Burnley then would use this information to prepare a rebuttal to Detroit's master plan and to try to persuade federal agencies to reject the project.

True, the size of the proposed opposition fund is formidable. However, with the cards apparently stacked in favor of the expansion by virtue of the implied state and federal support for it, surely the Pointes and the other protesting communities would be justified in this investment to protect themselves against it.

In his first report, Burnley had made the major point that Detroit is over-optimistic in expecting to receive some $342 million in Federal Aviation Administration grants to finance the project. He cited the fact that the FAA's largest grant has been $351 million for Denver's new $2 billion airport and the FAA had promised only $185 million for the $1 billion expansion of the Detroit Metro Airport.

In that connection, Councilman James Robson of the Park has urged Pointers to support the expansion of Metro airport in order to lessen pressure for the completion of the master plan for the Detroit City Airport.

His point is that if Metro's $100 million bond referendum is defeated in November, aviation officials might look more favorably at expansion of Detroit City Airport in order to lessen Metro's traffic load.

Many objections to the Metro expansion rest on the increased noise which began after November 1989 when the FAA changed flight patterns, forcing steeper take-offs and more resulting noise.

But Wayne County officials say the FAA has agreed to re-evaluate last year's changes in flight patterns, which were made, in part at least, to answer complaints from Windsor residents about the increased noise from an increasing number of flights.

Wayne County Executive Edward H. McNamara recently told a congressional subcommittee that the county is nearing completion of a plan to limit airplane noise and urged the subcommittee to write federal airport noise guidelines to protect residents nationwide.

The contrast between the attitude of Wayne County toward critics of the Metropolitan Airport expansion and the attitude of the city of Detroit toward critics of the Detroit City Airport expansion is startling.

McNamara obviously pays attention to citizen complaints and seeks to do something about them. Mayor Coleman Young and his cohorts ignore and play down criticism and do little or nothing to answer complaints.

Robson's contention that the Pointes could help prevent expansion of Detroit City Airport by supporting expansion of Metro Airport is similar to the NIMBY (not in my back yard) argument against many community developments, but it does seem to be pertinent in this connection.

Surely local residents do have the right to protest against and, if possible, even block developments that they fear will damage their property values or the quality of life in their community. If a more distant development spares them from that inconvenience, surely they also have the right to say so.

To date, it appears that the protestors against the noise they fear at an expanded Metro airport are given a serious hearing while critics of the noise and safety factors at Detroit City Airport are apparently ignored.

That factor also should affect Pointers' opinions with respect to the two developments.

Engler's hopes growing dim

Engler suffered another blow over the weekend when Helen Milliken, wife of Michigan's last Republican governor, announced she had endorsed Blanchard's reelection because of the "enormous importance" of his pro-choice stand on abortion.

An Engler spokesman attempted to play down the endorsement by claiming the GOP nominee has substantial support from other pro-choice Republicans as well as anti-abortion Democrats. But Mrs. Milliken's action was a reminder to women voters of Engler's position and his choice of a pro-life running mate.

In another bad news blow, Engler learned just before his first debate with the governor on Oct. 6 that the Detroit News poll that was published Oct. 7 would show Blanchard ahead by 26 points as compared with the governor's 12-point margin in an early September News poll.

Two polls by the Detroit Free Press had slightly smaller leads for Blanchard, however. One had reported Blanchard with a 12-point lead just before the August primary and the other put the governor ahead by a 13-point lead on Sept. 27.

Despite the bad news, Engler is credited by Detroit News political writer George Weeks with having had "a slight edge" in his first debate with Blanchard.

Our own notes indicate that both candidates made frequent claims and charges in that first debate that in our opinion were not completely justified.

For example, the governor, referring to the debt-reduction crisis in Washington, said that "if the federal government had made the tough decisions we made seven years ago, it wouldn't be in the shape it is in today."

He neglected to add that the state under its Constitution is not permitted to run deficits at all. Nor did he mention that in some respects, notably its unemployment rate, Michigan is in worse shape than the federal government.

For his part, Engler said that Michigan is one of only a few states losing population in the last decade and yet its government spending went up 68 percent, or 40 percent above inflation.

This statement, too, is distorted unless the candidate also reports how Michigan compares with other states in spending and explains that many increases in state expenditures were caused by a cut in federal aid under a GOP president.

As far as the overall results of the first debate were concerned, however, we thought that Engler had the better of it with his contention that the major issue is the future of Michigan and his promise that he would have an 83-county perspective and not let "the Lansing-Detroit axis" dominate his thinking.

As for the second debate Monday night, it was just more of the same with charges, countercharges, exaggerations and sharp exchanges that led to no clear-cut decision.

Even though his hopes now must be dimming, Engler knows that in politics as in baseball, it's never over till it's over. But the time for Engler to catch up is surely growing short.

A Bush-Hoover comparison?

A paraphrase of an old saying, Hell hath no fury like a conservative scorned, appears to be appropriate to describe some of the anti-Bush reaction these days.

True, a good many people aside from conservatives also find it difficult to understand just where the president stands, and why, on the momentous deficit-reduction package now before Congress.

But three times in recent days, in publications ranging from the Detroit News to the New York Times, we've read conservative opinions comparing Bush with Herbert Hoover, whom Democrats like to call the architect of the Great Depression.

But the opinions come from people normally supporting Bush, except that they're now saying that his economic policies, as expressed in the original deficit-reduction package he endorsed, would, like Hoover's tax and tariff policies, help bring on a depression.

The truth is, of course, that the higher taxes proposed in the deficit-reduction package would no doubt reduce demand just at a time when the economy is slowing down into a recession in many parts of the country.

But most economists we've read still think debt reduction is essential, and should include some tax hikes as well as further cuts in domestic spending, because of the enormous cost of paying the interest on the debt which, in fact, soon will become the biggest single item in the federal budget.

But to some conservatives, and especially ultraconservatives, any effort to reduce the deficit in part by raising taxes is wrong and therefore George Bush becomes a president to pillory and scorn as another Herbert Hoover.

True, Bush's position on the tax issue has shifted so many times in recent days, it's difficult to know where he stands at the moment. So maybe the ultraconservatives have frightened him into buying their line, wrong as we think it is.

But if they don't support George Bush, where will these conservatives go in 1992? To help the ambitious Rep. Newt Gingrich of Georgia who sparked the House revolt against the deficit reduction deal backed by the president? Don't be ridiculous.

Interesting

To the Editor:

I am writing in regard to John Minnis' article about the history in Grosse Pointe on Sept. 13.

I am 15 years of age and I have lived in Grosse Pointe my whole life. I have never known too much about the history of Grosse Pointe. My house isn't too far from the discovery about the street car tracks, and I had no idea any such thing had ever existed.

I find this very interesting about uncovering a part of past history. As a child growing up I never was informed about how this city came to be what it is today. All of this information is new to me. I would like to read more about the history of our community.

I think it would be a good idea to start having a small section in the paper (if only a paragraph or two) letting readers know some of the facts about Grosse Pointe.

I hope to read more about our community's history in the future. It will be appreciated by the younger generation.

Night lights

To the Editor:

I am writing in regard to the absence of a lighting system at Grosse Pointe South. Without lights, the football games must be played on Saturdays, not Friday nights like many of the schools.

There is a need for a new, good lighting system at South so football games may be played on Friday nights.

There are many people who enjoy watching both high school and college football games. A conflict arises when the varsity team is playing on Saturday, the same time as most colleges. With a lighting system, the games could be on Friday nights and sports fans could watch both levels.

There are many disruptive things that juveniles do on Friday nights. If our local high school football team was having a game, they may choose to attend and stay out of trouble.

Also, the varsity team would not be the only football team using the facility. The freshman squad could play on Wednesday nights and the junior varsity could compete on Thursday nights.

A lighting system for Grosse Pointe South's football field is a must for the school. It would have only a positive influence on our community.

The old days on the lakes

Recent shipping disasters such as the fire aboard the gasoline tanker Jupiter and the sinking of the ill-fated Edmund Fitzgerald both serve as reminders that while safety of shipping on the Great Lakes has vastly improved over that of the previous century, there are still no guarantees.

The Jupiter, owned by Cleveland Tankers, ignited in the Saginaw River after the passing vessel Buffalo created a large wake which snapped its fuel intake lines.

The Edmund Fitzgerald sank into the deep icy waters of Lake Superior, taking with it a crew of 29, after huge waves cracked the vessel apart, separating the fore and aft portions of the ship.

Even with these disasters, shipping in the 20th century is safer and better regulated now than in its earlier days.

During the season of 1871, just six years after the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln, more than 1,165 shipping disasters were reported on the Great Lakes.

In the period surrounding America's Civil War, most Great Lakes schooners and steamers were constructed entirely of wood, carried few lifeboats, had virtually no fire protection equipment and lacked navigational lighting now required for night travel.

Many disasters resulted from fires or nighttime collisions between vessels. High death tolls among crews and passengers were common.

One such disaster, as related by author Dana Thomas Bowen in his book, "Shipwrecks of the Lakes," was that of the elegant passenger steamer Lady Elgin in 1860.

In the dark early morning hours of Sept. 8, Lady Elgin was steaming from Chicago toward Milwaukee carrying 300 members of the Union Guards, their friends, some 50 other passengers and a crew of 45.

The ship was about 10 miles off shore near what is now Lake Forest, Ill., when out of the darkness appeared the sharp prow of the heavily loaded freight schooner Augustus of Oswego, under full sail.

The force of the impact drove the schooner's prow deep into the passenger ship's port side.

After the crash, the schooner, which carried no lights, was swept away from the scene by a swift wind and made no attempt to come about.

Aboard the ill-fated Lady Elgin, crewmen and passengers panicked as the huge ship quickly took on water. Cattle were pushed overboard to lighten the load, but to no avail. The captain steamed for shore, but soon the cold waters rushed into the boilers and the engines were rendered useless.

As the vessel settled deeper into the frigid waters of Lake Michigan, passengers were swept westward into Lake Erie toward its eventual goal of Chicago. But after only 150 miles, a mate reported smoke coming from the steamer's luggage and freight hold.

Because the ship was only five miles north of the Ohio shoreline, the captain immediately ordered the vessel toward land. Although attempts were made to fight the fire, the hold was packed with freight and soon flames were leaping from below.

The captain of the G.P. Griffith was in a desperate race for shore with the fire gaining ground by the minute. Sadly, he and the majority of his passengers lost that race for safety.

By the time the vessel was within three miles of the Ohio shore, the flames had leaped to the main deck. The sleeping passengers were awakened from their berths and many crowded into protective corners on deck to avoid the increasing heat and flames.

When the flaming ship reached a point only one-half mile from shore, the heavily loaded steamer, sitting low in the water, hit a sandbar, which kept the ship from reaching shore.

Soon after, flames enveloped the entire ship.

Only about 30 passengers out of the original 297 survived, with many of the dead washing up on shore.

By August 1859, the United States Congress passed a set of navigation laws requiring hull and boiler inspections as well as other safety measures. Today lake freighters benefit from a host of safety instruments and regulations which have saved numerous lives.

Captains can pinpoint their ship's location, the location of other vessels, the water's depth and wind conditions.

Ship masters of today also have accurate weather information to gauge storms.

Modern admiralty law requires a host of fire protection equipment as well as lifesaving gear for all persons on board a vessel.

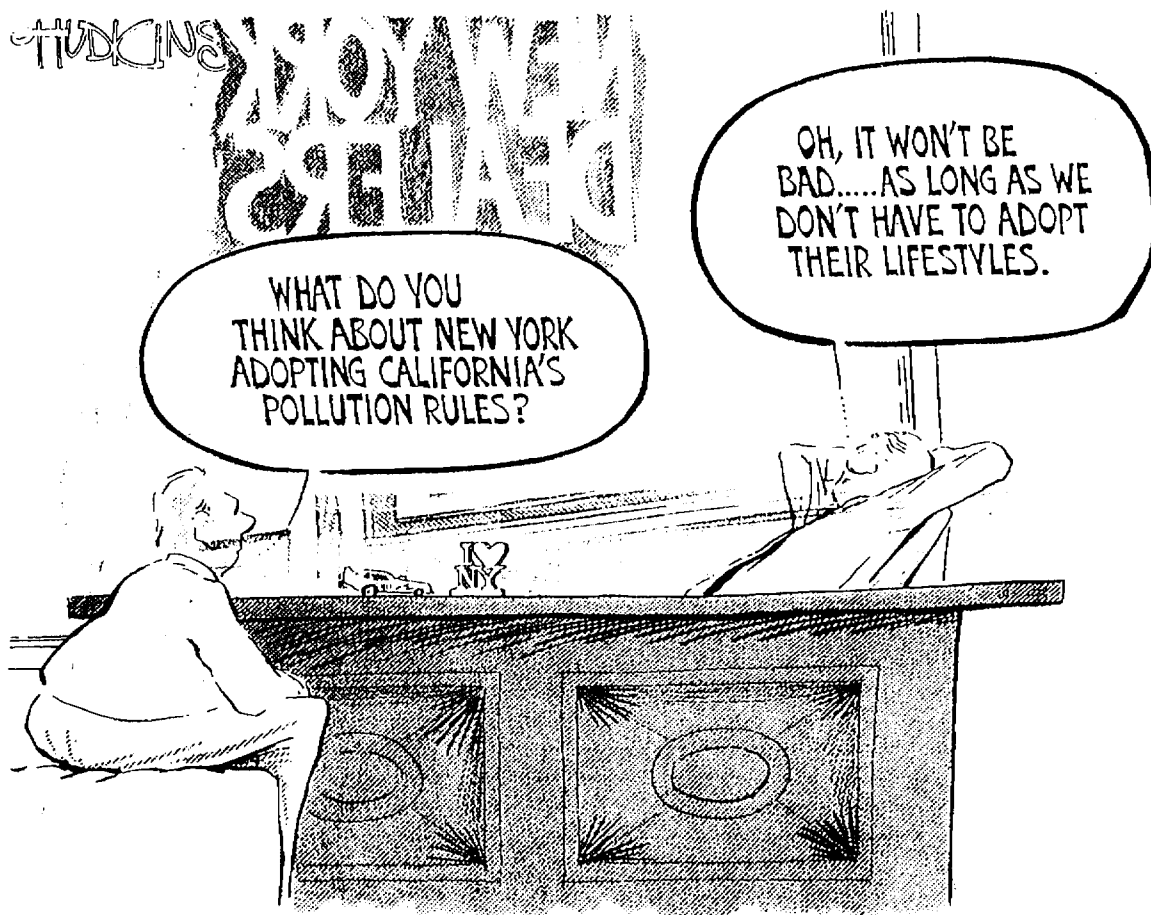

Even with the improvements, shipping on the Great Lakes remains a dangerous calling for those who harken to the sea's siren call.

As was the case with the Edmund Fitzgerald and its crew of 29, modern safety and communication instruments cannot always save a vessel when nature turns against man and machine.

Treasures await serious bookie

By Nancy Parmenter
Special Writer

Sssshhh!

That soft murmuring you hear is the sound of bookworms browsing. The sound of profound concentration.

It's Thursday afternoon at the AAUW used book sale, one of the slow days. Enough book lovers have gathered to bump into each other in the aisles, exchanging friendly grins — just so long as you don't grab the book I wanted!

It's so quiet that Kay Kirby doesn't have to raise her voice to announce the afternoon's "blue light special," a bargain in paperback romances. But the announcement doesn't cause even a ripple; these bookies are serious types.

Table upon table is arrayed in the hall, with cardboard boxes underneath — quite possibly the source of undiscovered treasure.

A collector could find darn near everything John P. Marquand ever wrote. Ah, remember "B.F.'s Daughter." For nostalgia's sake, I'm tempted to pick them up. But reason rules; I've read them all.

Wait a minute — here's "The Sound and the Fury" in exactly the same edition that's missing from my bookcase. I even open the flyleaf to see if my name is in it. (It isn't.) I drop it in my box, even though I've read this one too.

Serendipity reigns in spite of the book committee's best efforts. Browse through the biographies and happen upon "Nuclear War: What It Can Do For You" (hmmm) or "Erotic Something-or-other" (hhhhmmmm) or "Earthworms" (I take that one).

Here's one with an inscription: To Linda, from Eddie, Christmas 1943. And a sad addendum: Just three weeks after Christmas, Eddie died.

What a poignant, tantalizing peek into someone's life! Who are Eddie and Linda? A few days later and a couple of chapters into the book, it really isn't very good — an anthropomorphic view of backyard birds — but I keep reading. Kind of a tribute to Eddie. Books can connect people that way.

Booklovers can't resist books any more than candy-holics can walk past a fudge shop. And they can't throw them away, either.

So the book barrels ended up with a bunch of books that might be good for somebody (though one wonders who) — like textbooks from long-gone college days. I hate to be the bearer of bad news, but some of that stuff ended up in the trash anyway.

"Booklovers hate to throw books away, but they'll let us do it," said Carolyn Sullivan, who spent hours and days of her summer life sorting through piles of literature and junk as co-chair of the marking committee.

On the other hand, you can't assume that old books aren't worth anything. Sullivan has found that out.

"Some old books are worth more than new ones, and if you're a collector in a certain area and find a book that's out of print, you take it now, because you can't go out and pick it up tomorrow."

So bookies spend hours sitting on the floor if they have to, looking at all the titles, risking terminal myopia, and going away with enough books to open a store.

Or one book. One buyer was so excited at an art book she had found, she told Sullivan she was going to give it to her son for Christmas. But then, her husband piped up plaintively, "Why don't you give it to me?"

When my grandmothers died, I took all the books I could carry. A shelf full of Sir Walter Scott in matching fake red leather, with real gilt edges. Assorted pre-World War I fiction, some classics, a lot of history.

One of my grandmothers, a truly serious reader who educated herself widely, loved to underline and notate her books. Now, after almost 20 years, her personality shines out at me again as I read her books.

Not long ago, I was reading her copy of Catherine Drinker Bowen's "Adventures of a Biographer." Beside a paragraph on the correct pronunciation of John "Quinzy" Adams' name was scrawled "I learned this from Nancy." The intervening years rolled away for just a second when I read that.

In a fit of cleaning one day, I decided to get rid of all the books I'd probably never read. I took 'em all to a church rummage sale and gloried briefly in my organized shelves.

Then I went to a neighborhood garage sale with a big book table. Browsing through, I discovered some with my grandmother's name on the leaf. By heaven, it seemed a hard, cold fate for Grandma's beloved books to be displayed at some stranger's sale.

I bought them all back.

Boo whos, whats and whens

Halloween is less than two weeks away. Here are some charity scares:

- A Spooky Maze. This event is sponsored by St. John-Bon Secours Senior Community. For $2, you'll get a hay ride, cider, doughnuts and access to a maze which was designed by Todd Wise, director of laundry at the senior community. It's all wheelchair accessible, too.

The scary stuff will take place at 18300 East Warren on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 26 and 27, from 6 to 9 p.m. Call 343-8000, ext. 1009, for more information.

- The Zoo Boo. This one takes place at the Detroit Zoo on Saturday, Oct. 27, through Wednesday, Oct. 31, from 6 to 9 p.m. It's designed as a fun-filled, safe alternative to neighborhood trick-or-treating.

Children under age 12 will get coupons redeemable for treats at eight stations along the Halloween Trail. In addition, there will be hundreds of carved pumpkins, characters from children's books, a Zoo Boo pumpkin patch, and a live illusion show performed five times each night.

Advance tickets are $2. Children under 2 are free. Tickets may be purchased at the zoo ticket office daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mail orders should include check or money order, self-addressed, stamped envelope and three alternate dates. Send to Zoo Boo, P.O. Box 39, Royal Oak, 48068. Tickets are limited. If space is available, tickets may be sold on the night of the event for $3.

Zoo Boo is sponsored by WJBK-TV, the Detroit Zoological Society, Elias Brothers, Comprehensive Health Services of Detroit, the Fred Silber Co., Mattel Toys and M&M Mars. For information, call 398-0900.

- Halloween Collection for the Animals. The Michigan Humane Society is holding its sixth annual Halloween fundraiser on Halloween night. Trick or treaters may ask for donations instead of the usual treats or candy, and proceeds will be used to help fund the Michigan Humane Society's Cruelty Investigation Division.

DevilTo the Editor:

I am writing in regard to the lack of the Blue Devil insignia on Grosse Pointe South's football field pressbox. This is an idea that many have had and was once followed through on, but the absence of the team logo is absurd, and his presence would greatly enhance the look of the field.

The devil should be painted on the Fisher side of the box, perhaps with a caption proclaiming the football program's traditional success and all of their championship seasons. That plain, white pressbox is in dire need of a paint job and an intimidating South Blue Devil.

This symbol would intimidate the busloads of players that pull into the parking lot on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, letting them know that they are about to face a tremendous football power. The Devil would stare down at them relentlessly, and they would glance at the proclamation of success in the Eastern Michigan League, and know they are in for a hard game. They also would see what pride South has in its program, and how deep-rooted in tradition the program really is and with a record as good as South's was in the E.M.L., no South student could look at the Devil shamefacedly.

The great Blue Devil would greatly upgrade the looks of the now somewhat drab stale pressbox, along with the field. Passersby would recognize it as Grosse Pointe South's field, and if they didn't already know, they would learn that they are perennial football powers in the area. The proposed symbol would give the football facilities a look of professionalism and would resemble the stadiums of some colleges.

Lastly this Devil would give the students and players of the high school a great sense of pride. A glance at their mascot would remind the players of their expected success and also that they are playing with "Blue Devil pride." The desire instilled in them could give them the extra edge in any game.

All in all, the field and the pressbox greatly need this Devil. The conditions of it now are incredibly plain as is the field. The athletic department at South and the people at City Hall should look at this as a way to enhance not only the field, but Grosse Pointe South itself. I think it's time to look at this seriously and to realize that it is greatly needed.

SoccerTo the Editor:

Soccer as a sport is overlooked at South High School and the community. It is neglected by the newspaper, the athletic department and the school. Soccer is a sport on the rise, but without the help of others, it will always be downgraded.

Without the hype of the newspaper, no one will know what is happening in the soccer situation. If the paper could write articles about the big games and rivalries more, people would know and want to come cheer their team on. Also they could improve on the articles before the season analyzing the team, how they might do, who to watch and the strengths. These little things would help South soccer in the biggest way possible.

Soccer has also been neglected by the training department. It does not receive the proper first aid supplies and if it does, it is in limited amounts. Soccer is not supplied with a trainer or any kind of help if injuries were to occur during games. South soccer is hurting right now because of the amount of injuries occurring and the absence of a trainer.

The school has also caused its problems in the program. With the absence of a soccer field at South the soccer team must play at Barnes which is only a couple blocks away from North. This limits the fans to only the ones who have transportation and the will to go. The stands at the field are less than adequate. Also being away from South, we have no lockers or rooms to watch films or even have a chalk talk. The soccer program is also out of money after having to buy the goalposts for their field.

The soccer program is a secondary sport to football, but with the help of the paper, trainers and school, soccer could be a big sport. With a little recognition, the attendance would go up and the team would improve.

JoyTo the Editor:

I would just like to express my feelings of happiness and joy to learn that Grosse Pointe Woods began curbside recycling. This act brings us one step closer to saving our slowly deteriorating environment.

Hopefully the rest of the Pointes will soon follow in this helpful and healthy movement towards our precious environment.

ExpansionTo the Editor:

In your July 12 issue, you so kindly published my letter covering the responses I received from various responsible state and federal officials in the matter of our objections to Detroit City Airport expansion, which we mailed April 3.

Your Aug. 16 issue contained our feelings about the Michigan Department of Transportation report titled: "Value of Detroit City Airport to the Greater Detroit Area."

This will probably be the last time we'll bother you, because we are beginning to get the feeling, real or imagined, that people are too busy to make known their thoughts concerning the real value of life in the northeast suburbs.

At any rate, here's a copy of the letter we sent to U.S. Sen. Donald W. Riegle Jr. in response to his Oct. 4 response to our letter of April 3. There would seem to be no reason to repeat his letter, because our response is based upon it; its nature can be readily ascertained.

We're beginning to wonder if Wayne County government feels the same about this matter as do our northeast communities. Also, we wonder if Macomb County government feels the same as does Warren. Is something being overlooked?

Charles F. Loeher
Grosse Pointe Woods

Dear Sen. Riegle:

Thank you for your Oct. 4 response to our letter of April 3 in which we requested you to express opposition to expansion of Detroit City Airport. Thank you for being interested in our opinions on this controversial matter.

We regret that Congressman Hertel's H.R. 4338 continues to lie dormant with the House Subcommittee on Aviation and that no complementary resolution has been introduced into the Senate. Perhaps such action would be taken soon.

Perhaps federal-level action could be taken to stimulate the reversal of the Michigan Legislature's denial to Warren voters of the veto power over DCA expansion. Perhaps the matter should be reviewed because voters from many more areas, also, would like such veto power.

"Enhancing the local economy of Macomb County" should also include respect for the residents of Warren, which is located within Macomb County, as well as northeast Wayne County.

Displacement or disruption of local homes and businesses; ever-increasing unwanted noise, pollution and safety for all of us in the densely populated suburbs in close proximity; and concern for lessened quality of life are not the only concerns for many of us — important as they are.

The step-by-step gradual increase in the number of flights since DCA's first expansion — which, incidentally, we call "the psychology of easing into the ultimate objective," — attempted to make people in our area feel secure in the belief that there wouldn't be anything to be concerned about.

Then Warren objects to the factors you mention, for good cause. Then Windsor objects, making certain that flight paths avoid that city, again for good cause. Then, with more arrivals and departures and more days of flights, the flight paths start taking advantage of the five Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods.

When multiplying the present flights by a factor that establishes an arrival and takeoff every four minutes, we realize that attempts are being made to ignore the wishes of a great many people.

Perhaps the powers to be figure that a high percentage of us who are opposed are senior citizens who are "on the way out" anyway and whose wishes no longer matter.

In recent years it's been a genuine pleasure to witness the number of young families moving into our areas for the same reasons as did their parents. Will this pleasurable phenomenon continue with an expanded DCA? What we're saying is this:

"The very moment that the expanded DCA's traffic is increased, several thousand residences in Grosse Pointe Park, Grosse Pointe City, Grosse Pointe Farms, Grosse Pointe Shores, Grosse Pointe Woods, Harpers Woods, Warren and others, will depreciate in marketability due to plummeting valuation and desirability. The entire character of the areas will change from what we worked to achieve to something we don't want."

Recent surveys of retired senior citizens in our areas revealed that near 90 percent prefer to continue to live in their present homes. But then, that was before the first expansion of DCA.

It then becomes likely that those of us who could afford it would take a financial loss and move out of the area. Those of us who couldn't afford to move away would eternally regret that we didn't take steps to prevent DCA expansion. Small businesses depending upon residential types of revenue would lose also.

There should be no need to expand DCA. Metro Airport and Willow Run should be the nucleus for a regional format of airports. DCA, as a large, expanded facility is too near to Metro Airport and would degrade and eventually cause many ideal communities to disappear. A large tax base would be eroded.

Thank you for closely monitoring the situation. We urge your opposition to DCA expansion as a part of your commitment to look out for the best interests of the Michigan citizens of the five Grosse Pointes, Harper Woods, Warren, etc.

State lawmakers to honor retiring Judge Schneider

By Dan Jarvis
Staff Writer

Woods Municipal Judge Patricia Schneider, who recently announced she will retire by the first of the year, will soon join the impressive list of Michigan judges honored by the state Legislature.

Schneider will soon become the recipient and the subject of a joint resolution adopted by both the Michigan Senate and House of Representatives, according to state Sen. John F. Kelly.

Kelly said the resolution will be adopted by the Legislature in mid-November and will honor Schneider and her career as a dedicated public servant.

"People have to understand that this type of public service is truly for the benefit of the community," Kelly said. "Many in the judicial branch are greatly compensated financially. Schneider, as a municipal judge, never was.

"Her service on the bench shows her dedication to the preservation of the lifestyle we have in the Pointes. She has a soft-spoken style and a tough enforcement of the law.

"She's done a great job and has the gratitude of the entire community."

Patricia Schneider

When a Senate concurrent resolution honoring one's career is proposed, an elected official collects data on the person and it is passed along to the Legislative Service Bureau which puts the proposal into written form.

The document is then signed by its sponsor, in this case Senator Kelly. It is then assigned a resolution number and read to the state Senate, whose members vote on its adoption.

The proposed resolution is currently read in to the Michigan House of Representatives, whose members also vote for its adoption.

After adoption by both legislative bodies, the resolution is printed in the Senate and House journals and becomes part of Michigan's permanent legislative record.

"It shows that the person was recognized and honored by Michigan's top legislators and the resolution becomes part of our state's history for all time," Kelly said.

The idea for a combined Senate-House resolution was proposed by Farms Councilwoman Gail Kaess, who said Schneider richly deserves the official honor.

"Pat Schneider has been in the forefront of community leaders in presenting innovative ideas and is well respected in the community," Kaess said. "She was one of the first women judges in this area and she'll be sadly missed by all.

"With a keen ear, she's listened to people's concerns and has done an outstanding job on the bench."

Kaess said Schneider frequently met and listened to elected women on local city councils and the Grosse Pointe Board of Education to hear and address their concerns.

"All of us admire and look up to her and we felt we needed to express that appreciation in a long-lasting way," Kaess said.

Another local councilwoman, Jean Rice of Grosse Pointe Woods, has known Schneider for a quarter-century, since the two met at school affairs when their daughters attended the same school.

"The members of the council were devastated when we found out she was retiring," Rice said.

"We all admire her very much for the great things she's done for the city and the entire area, among them the development of the Youth Assistance Program.

"She's always had patience and treated people fairly, showing no favoritism and doing what the law requires," Rice said.

"I don't think people in this city realize yet how much she will be missed. It will be very hard replacing her."

Rice said the city's judicial search committee is still seeking nominees for Schneider's replacement and will soon begin to interview candidates.

Drunk burglar apprehended

A Grosse Pointe Park woman reported to police that someone was breaking into her home in the 1300 block of Nottingham at 5 a.m. Sept. 29.

When police arrived, they found the suspect in the act of bending back an outer screen and breaking the inner window of a door leading to the woman's living room.

The suspect appeared to be highly intoxicated, according to police, and the woman refused to press charges.

Newspapers stolen

On Oct. 14 at 9 p.m. a Woods patrolman on Hampton saw a light green Chevrolet Impala loaded down with newspapers. The driver was checking the trash set out for the next day pick-up.

The officer ordered the man to pull over, which he did, but while the police car was turning around to get behind the suspect, he took off. A high-speed chase ensued but had to be stopped when a radiator hose on the Woods patrol car broke.

According to police reports, the suspect most likely fled because he was stealing newspapers that had been set out for recycling.

Burglary reported

A home in the 15300 block of Windmill Pointe Drive was burglarized sometime between 6:30 p.m. Oct. 4, and 12:28 p.m. Oct. 5. Taken were pillows, curtains, a television, compact disc player, power sander, stereo and speakers.

Touring actor finds role is turtle soup

By Ronald J. Bernas
Staff Writer

Jack Scott is living the dream of every classically trained actor — he's part of a multi-million dollar touring production playing to packed houses across the country, with advance sales so good there will probably be an extension past the scheduled June bookings.

However, it's not "Hamlet" or "Phantom of the Opera" that's packing the houses Scott plays in. It's those ultra-hip, ultra-green icons of pop culture — the Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles in their first national tour, "Coming Out of Their Shells."

Scott doesn't play one of the pizza-munching dudes, but that's OK with him. As Baxter Stockman, a mad scientist who works for the turtles' nemesis, Shredder, Scott is one of only two people in the show who actually look like people. (The other, for those afflicted with turtle mania, is April, the lovely reporter.)

Scott, who studied classical acting at Ohio Wesleyan University, auditioned for the show, and was called back for a second audition.

"Then after the callback, there was like a three-week wait, and Stuart Howard, the casting director called me directly at home, which was a shock in itself because casting directors just don't do that," Scott said. "He told me they liked what I did at callbacks and they created the role of Baxter Stockman for me."

Baxter is in the Saturday morning cartoon and the multi-million dollar grossing movie but was not originally in the touring show.

"This is a lot of fun," he said of the tour which is billed as a rock and roll show with a plot. "It's my first chance to play someone evil, but Stockman's not totally evil, because he's kind of a bumbler so he gets some laughs."

The tour started five weeks ago with sold-out performances at Radio City Music Hall and ends 40 cities later in Los Angeles. And there is, of course, a record the tour is promoting.

It's a show with an anti-drug message aimed right at the post-Sesame Street, pre-teen idol worship crowd which swarms the theaters where the heroic amphibians perform.

"There's one song called 'Walk Straight' which tells kids to be strong and not to give in to peer pressure, but to be proud of who they are," he said. "So far the kids have loved it."

Scott's back home in Grosse Pointe Shores this week, playing at the Masonic Temple, the same theater he sat in as a child and fed his appetite for the spotlight.

"I think the first show I remember seeing is 'Annie Get Your Gun' with Ethel Merman at the Fisher," he said. "That's, I think, when the bug first bit."

Then, as a student at University Liggett School, Scott played Amahl in a school production of the operetta "Amahl and the Night Visitors" and he was hooked forever.

He was accepted to study at the Neighborhood Playhouse School of Theatre and performed in regional productions of "Brighton Beach Memoirs" and "Biloxi Blues." He performed on Broadway in the Tony-award nominated play "Largely, New York."

Scott is surprised at this particular turn in his career, but by no means disappointed that he's not doing what he was trained for on Broadway.

"Is it ironic that I'm doing this after I studied classical theater? Yes, it is ironic, but this is such a big project and it's opening a lot of doors for me," he said.

By big, he means names. The production staff reads like a Who's Who on Broadway: The set was designed by Eugene Lee who created the sets for Leonard Bernstein's "Candide" and Stephen Sondheim's "Sweeney Todd"; the lighting designer, Jules Fischer, has three Tony awards on his shelves, and the producer and creative director Bob Bejan worked on Broadway productions of such musicals as "Annie," "West Side Story" and "A Chorus Line."

What's next? "I don't know," he said. "We're booked through one with possible extensions. There aren't too many actors who are assured of a job for that long."

Will worry about next July next July.

"Coming Out of Their Shells," will run at the Masonic Temple Theatre in Detroit Wednesday through Friday, Oct. 17-19, at 7 p.m.; Saturday, Oct. 20, at 10 a.m., 1 p.m., 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. and Sunday, Oct. 21, at noon, 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. Tickets are $16.50 and may be reserved by calling the Masonic Temple Theatre box office, 832-2232 and all TicketMaster outlets including Hudson's and Harmony House stores. To charge tickets to Visa or Mastercard, call 645-6666. For group ticket information, call 377-0100.

Carolyn 'Carrots' Kidder Logan

A private funeral ceremony was held for Carolyn "Carrots" Kidder Logan, 66, formerly of Grosse Pointe.

Mrs. Logan died Friday, Oct. 13, 1990, of cancer in her Maui, Hawaii, home.

Carolyn Kidder Logan

She was born Jan. 11, 1924, in Almont.

As a young adult, she moved to Detroit where she married Dr. William Geer, later moving to Grosse Pointe City.

Her daughter, Candice Geer, author of the Book "Six White Horses," said her mother taught her the meaning of beauty and the importance of enjoying life.

Mrs. Logan was a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution and Junior Group Goodwill Industries.

In 1982, Mrs. Logan moved to Maui, Hawaii, with her second husband, Dr. David Logan.

"Selflessly devoted to her, David cared for her completely during the 1 1/2 years of her illness," her daughter said. "She was a woman of great physical beauty, wit, intelligence, compassion and faith and had one of the biggest hearts a human could possess."

Mrs. Logan's ashes were spread over the island of Maui.

Besides her husband and daughter, Mrs. Logan is survived by a son, Kevin Geer; two sisters; a brother; and two grandchildren.

Samuel M. Brownell

Funeral services for Samuel M. Brownell, the Grosse Pointe educator for whom Brownell Middle School was named, were held in New Haven, Conn.

Mr. Brownell, 90, died Friday, Oct. 12, 1990 in New Haven, Conn. He was born in Peru, Neb.

Mr. Brownell was a former U.S. commissioner of education and the former superintendent of the Grosse Pointe schools, serving from 1927 until 1938.

He was Detroit's superintendent of schools from 1956 until 1966, overseeing the expansion and integration of the district.

He was educated at the University of Nebraska and at Yale University, where he earned his master's and doctoral degrees.

He left Grosse Pointe and became a professor of education administration at Yale. In 1953, Mr. Brownell was appointed U.S. commissioner of education during President Dwight D. Eisenhower's first term.

Frank J. Welcenbach, the former principal at Trombly Elementary School, praised Brownell as being a "tremendous person and a dedicated educator."

"He embodied everything in an executive that is required," Welcenbach said. "He never lost sight of the main emphasis of education, that of teaching students. He inspired a strong instructional program and inspired warm feelings and cooperation from the staff."

Mr. Brownell is survived by a daughter, Ruth Green of Ann Arbor.

John Phillip DeWald

Services for John Phillip DeWald, 65, of Grosse Pointe City, were held Tuesday, Oct. 16, at Christ Church in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Mr. DeWald died Saturday, Oct. 13, 1990, in his home. He was born in Hillsdale, Mich.

He was a self-employed builder and property manager. Mr. DeWald recently retired, closing his offices in the Fisher Building after 26 years.

He was a graduate of Hillsdale

College and Bowling Green University.

He was a charter member of the New Center Lion's Club, the Cottage Hospital Auxiliary, St. John Hospital Guild and the Friends of Bon Secours Hospital.

He was a U.S. Army veteran of World War II, serving in Japan.

Mr. DeWald enjoyed playing tennis and golf.

Survivors include his wife of 40 years, Joan Retta; sons, David Warren and John Elliott; a sister, Mary Inman; and a grandchild, John Elliott Jr.

Mr. DeWald was predeceased by his brother, George.

Cremation was at Forest Lawn Cemetery, Detroit.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Cottage Hospital Hospice or to Christ Church in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Peter G. Theokas

Services for Peter G. Theokas, 88, of Grosse Pointe Woods, were held Wednesday, Oct. 10, at Assumption Greek Orthodox Church in St. Clair Shores.

Mr. Theokas died Sunday, Oct. 7, 1990, at Bon Secours Hospital in Grosse Pointe City. He was born in Greece.

Mr. Theokas owned the Parkside Drive-In restaurant on East Warren in Detroit for about 30 years. He retired in 1963. He also owned the P & G Restaurant at Chene and Madison in Detroit.

An avid walker, Mr. Theokas was an Eastland Mall "1,000 Miler," a group of cardiac patients who walk the hallways of the mall for health.

He was a member of Assumption Greek Orthodox Church senior citizens group.

Survivors include his wife, Ethel; a daughter, Mary Carfes; a son, Gregory; four grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

Burial was in Cadillac Memorial Gardens East in Clinton Township.

Memorial contributions may be made to Assumption Greek Orthodox Church, 21800 Marder Road, St. Clair Shores.

Arrangements were made by the A.H. Peters Funeral Home, Grosse Pointe Woods.

Irene Lucinda Shier

Services for Irene Lucinda (Wood) Shier, 92, of Grosse Pointe Park, were held Monday, Oct. 8, at the Chas. Verheyden Funeral Home in Grosse Pointe Park.

Mrs. Shier died Friday, Oct. 5, 1990, at Bon Secours Hospital in Grosse Pointe City. She was born in Detroit.

Mrs. Shier was a sales clerk for the J. L. Hudson Co.

Survivors include her son, James A.; seven grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren.

She was predeceased by her husband, James C.; and a daughter, Geraldine Blackwood.

Burial was in Glen Eden Cemetery, Livonia.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

Jordan Thomas Yinger

Services for 6-1/2-month-old Jordan Thomas Yinger of Grosse Pointe Park were held Tuesday, Oct. 9, at St. Matthew Church.

Jordan, twin brother of Ga-

Jordan Thomas Yinger

rielle, died Friday, Oct. 5, 1990, at Bon Secours Hospital in Grosse Pointe City.

Jordan and his twin sister were born at St. John's Hospital in Detroit after a successful in vitro fertilization procedure.

"He was one of our miracle babies," said his mother, Michelle Beaupre-Yinger of Grosse Pointe Park. "He was the happiest baby ever. Even when he cried, we could make him laugh."

The infant died of sudden infant death syndrome (SIDS) and until his death two weeks ago, Jordan was a healthy and vibrant child, his mother said.

"Once home, he thrived and was never sick, not even a cold."

Other survivors include his father, Timothy Yinger of Grosse Pointe Park; grandparents, Thomas and Terri Yinger of Monroe, and Kenneth and Doris Beaupre of St. Clair Shores.

Burial was in Resurrection Cemetery, Clinton Township.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Southeast Michigan Chapter of the Sudden Infant Death Syndrome Foundation, c/o Children's Hospital, 3901 Beaubien, Detroit, Mich. 48201.

Arrangements were made by the Chas. Verheyden Funeral Home in Grosse Pointe Park.

Henry DePoorter

Services for Henry DePoorter, 83, of Grosse Pointe Park, were held Tuesday, Oct. 9, at St. Ambrose Catholic Church in Grosse Pointe Park.

Mr. DePoorter died Saturday, Oct. 6, 1990, at Bon Secours Hospital in Grosse Pointe City.

He was born in St. Charles, Ill.

He was a member of the Belgian-American Century Club.

Survivors include his wife, Mary; a daughter, Mary Butler of Grosse Pointe Park; sisters, Julia Surmont and Mary VanBelle; and three grandchildren.

Mr. DePoorter was predeceased by his brothers, Morris and Alphonso

Burial was in Lake Orion. Memorial contributions may be made to the Gazette Van Detroit, 18740 13 Mile Road, Roseville, Mich. 48066

Laurie Jennings Hunt

A memorial service for Laurie Jennings Hunt, 36, formerly of Grosse Pointe, was held in Summit, N.J.

Mrs. Hunt died Monday, Oct. 9, 1990, in Overlook Hospital, Summit, N.J.

A graduate of University Liggett School, Mrs. Hunt graduated from Wellesley College and was active in the college's alumni association and the Tau Beta sorority.

Survivors include her husband, Jonathan A. Hunt; sons, Wesley J. and Joseph B.; parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Joseph Jennings; a sister, Victoria B. Ross; and a brother, John J. Jennings IV of Bloomfield Hills.

Memorial contributions may be made to the University Liggett School, 1045 Cook Road, Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich. 48236.

Thomas J. Lough

Services for Thomas J. Lough, 101, of Grosse Pointe, were held Saturday, Oct. 13, at Grosse Pointe United Methodist Church in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Mr. Lough died Tuesday, Oct. 9, 1990, in his home. He was born in Fargo, N.D.

Mr. Lough earned degrees in civil engineering from the North Dakota Agricultural College, (now North Dakota State University) and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he was initiated into the Theta Xi fraternity.

After graduation, Mr. Lough served as a commissioned officer in the U.S. Army Engineering Officers Corps in France during World War I.

He then worked as a civil engineer in Canada and North Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and Michigan.

He later became general manager of Thomas Stephens Inc., as real estate holding company that constructed several gas stations, supermarkets and commercial buildings in the Detroit area.

Mr. Lough was a member of the Grosse Pointe Senior Men's Club. He was an avid bridge player, playing duplicate bridge twice weekly at the Neighborhood Club.

"During his long life, he was known as an able investor and businessman, and as a golfer and a musician with a beautiful tenor voice and a talent for playing the clarinet," said Mr. Lough's son, Thomas S.

Mr. Lough is survived by his daughter, Evelyn Lough Montgomery; a son, Thomas Stephens Lough; eight grandchildren; and 10 great-grandchildren.

He was predeceased by his wife, Genevieve Simpson Lough in 1978.

Mr. Lough's ashes will be interred in the garden at Grosse Pointe United Methodist Church.

Robert E. Coleman, D.D.S.

Services for Robert E. Coleman, 75, of Grosse Pointe Shores, were held Monday, Oct. 8, at Our Lady Star of the Sea Catholic Church in Grosse Pointe Woods.

Dr. Coleman died Friday, Oct. 5, 1990, at St. John Hospital in Detroit. He was born in Detroit.

A graduate of Notre Dame High School, Dr. Coleman attended Notre Dame University and earned his bachelor of science and dentistry degree from the University of Detroit.

He was a veteran of World War II.

Dr. Coleman was head of the department of orthodontics at the University of Detroit School of Dentistry from 1950 until 1963. He served as president of the Edward H. Angle Society of Orthodontics, the Great Lakes Society of Orthodontists, the University of Detroit Dental Alumni Association and the Omnicrom Kappa Upsilon Chapter of the University of Detroit.

Dr. Coleman was chairman of the American College of Dentists. He was listed in "Who's Who in the Midwest" and "America's Dental Leaders." He was the first graduate of both dental schools of the state of Michigan.

Survivors include his wife, Marion; a son, Michael E.; daughters, Carolyn Sieffert, Mary Scarfone and Janet Polombit; and 15 grandchildren.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Grosse Pointe Ophthalmology Clinic or to the American Heart Association-Detroit Chapter.

Arrangements were made by the Chas. Verheyden Funeral Home, Grosse Pointe Park.

CCS to host open house

The Center for Creative Studies - College of Art and Design will host an Open House on campus, Sunday, Oct. 28, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

This annual event provides arts enthusiasts and their families the opportunity to explore and experience the institution's offerings. Visitors can enjoy demonstrations, sit in on working classes, take part in workshops, and view original student works in crafts, fine arts, graphic communication, industrial design and photography.

The event also provides an opportunity to meet and talk with faculty, students, alumni and staff. Information will be provided on portfolio preparation, degree concentrations, non-degree programs and financial aid.

Highlighted this year is the unveiling of the schools' new super computer design system. Demonstrations will be provided throughout the day in the computer labs.

Other activities on campus will include: A bronze pouring (1 p.m. in the foundry); ongoing paper making, printmaking, ceramics and glass blowing demonstrations; a fine arts exhibit and transportation design, clay modeling, drawing, painting and photo studio demonstrations.

There will also be displays regarding the center's involvement in two special projects: interior design concepts for the neighboring Children's Museum and a display of the soon-to-be-published book documenting De-check business by printing checks to order and selling them at a percentage of their face value.

VanDeGinste said the young men came from the Birmingham-Bloomfield area, and one of them is believed to be a Michigan State University student. In fact, the university's computers and equipment may have been used to print the bogus checks — along with the use of a home computer, VanDeGinste believed.

The checks and subsequent purchases would be in the $2,000 range, and many times even though sales agents would be suspicious, they couldn't turn down the prospect of a good commission, VanDeGinste said. Fortunately, one Grosse Pointe Woods merchant was suspicious enough to check out the suspects.

Once he learned the nature of the suspected offenses, VanDeGinste contacted the U.S. Secret Service, which investigates counterfeiting activities.

VanDeGinste commended the Secret Service and Special Agent Peter Damos for their excellent assistance in the investigation, and he commended the alert merchant.

"If it hadn't been for the merchant getting the license plate number and his refusal to do business," the suspects might not have been caught so quickly, he said.

Shortly afterward, the suspects stopped using their own cars and began using borrowed cars and even allegedly used tape to alter the license plates.

The two are believed to have passed counterfeit cashier's checks at several malls, including Lakeside, Fairlane and Eastland.

VanDeGinste said the scam was quite clever.

"If they spent half the time constructively," he said, "they would have done well for themselves."

Grewal reportedly was arrested Oct. 5. The second accomplice turned himself in Oct. 12, VanDeGinste said.

Donahue said that in federal cases, the suspect charged with a crime often enters a plea agreement. If an agreement is not reached, then the U.S. attorney files the information and if facts warrant, an indictment is handed down. The case has not yet gone before the grand jury.

Grewal's counterfeit cashier's check charge involves an incident where he allegedly passed a $1,263.08 check for jewelry. The alleged counterfeiting activity occurred from Aug. 1 through Oct. 3.

Donahue, who did not have much information at her disposal, said the case was at its very earliest stages, at least as far as federal prosecution is concerned.

troit's historical churches. Volunteer students and directional signage will be on hand to guide visitors to various locations and ongoing activities.

Free parking is available in the college's Brush Street parking lot. Additional paid parking is available in University Cultural Center parking facilities near campus.

The old, the new

The Blake Co. of Grosse Pointe is moving right along on the construction of a new home next to the old Cadieux farmhouse on Notre Dame.

The city earlier this year approved a lot split of the property to allow The Blake Co. to build a new house and to refurbish the 1830s vintage farmhouse that was built by Isidore Cadieux.

wanted to be back, and he fully intended to enjoy life here, which he has ever since.

He and a few other bachelors got a five-room apartment above the Fox and Hounds at Long Lake Road and Woodward. Nelson bought a Corvette and a 32-foot boat, which was christened the Ark "because we figured we could get every animal in the world on it," he said.

"And I lived," he recalled. "I damn near killed myself living." After a fun-filled weekend, "I'd come to work Monday morning looking like I'd been dragged through death," he said.

Nelson took up skiing, and it was through this winter activity that he met Rosemary, who was to become his wife.

"I did everything there was to do in Michigan," he said. "I found out this was a great state to live in. I came back here and decided this was going to be it." He's been here ever since and has no regrets.

"I worked hard though," he said. "I loved my trade."

He worked at a number of jobs and finally ended up in advertising with Campbell-Ewald about 1962. When asked what he did, and does, as an artist, Nelson doesn't like labels, like graphic or commercial artist. He describes himself as a conceptual artist.

"I'm a concept person," he said. "I like to solve problems, create ideas." Like a highly skilled rough carpenter, Nelson likes to leave the finishing work to others.

Never one to stick with one job for a long time, Nelson got restless. He came up with the idea that Detroit needed a bar where all the advertising types could get together to get crazy and let off steam. So he bought an old, derelict saloon at Monroe and Brush. The bar at that location today is well known, especially on St. Patrick's Day. It's the Old Shillelagh.

But when Nelson bought the building (for a song, he says) during the '70s, it was a dive, and the advertising community patronized it. Nelson tried to throw a party there at least once a month. And the reasons for a party sometimes got quite creative, such as Christmas in July.

several improvements over the years."

Freeman was responsible for the establishment of many of the city's commissions. During his tenure, the city began the Memorial Day observance program, the re-establishment of the Woods fireworks display, the employees recognition awards program and the city's charitable gift program.

"He was responsible for getting more citizens involved in civic affairs by getting them to volunteer for the many commissions in the city," Petersen said. "We in the City Hall had a close and cordial relationship with him and we are going to miss him very much. He truly loved this city and the residents benefited from his years of service."

In Freeman's 20 years with the city, he said his proudest accomplishment was serving longer than any other mayor. He was first elected mayor in 1979, serving six consecutive terms.

He was president of the Michigan Municipal League from 1980-84, past president of the Michigan Association of Mayors and a past delegate to the White House Conference on Aging.

All about cars; for women only

In a class for women only, learn how to tell if the used car you are buying has been in an accident, if you need life, accident and health insurance on your car loan, and how not to be intimidated by a car salesman.

Mike Whitty, president of Automotive Sales Training Specialists and author of the book, "The Complete Guide to Selling New Cars," will present "Don't Call Me Honey: Buying and Selling Cars for Women," on Wednesday, Oct. 24, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the War Memorial.

Lecture cost is $15 with an optional $3 material fee payable to the instructor. Early registration is suggested. For more information, call 881-7511.

A Park resident for nearly 30 years, Tony Nelson now teaches at the Center for Creative Studies. A conceptual artist, he sketches an idea at his home office.

He'd even send out fliers, and the place would be packed.

"I knew everybody in the advertising business," he said, "and they knew me."

Fittingly, the name of the bar was Terrible Tony's Saloon, and even to this day some people still call him Terrible Tony, including some of his students, he said. As a saloonkeeper, Nelson called upon his experience working in bars and restaurants while he was going to college.

While working at Campbell-Ewald, some of his General Motors contacts approached him with the idea of opening a bar and restaurant across the street from the GM Building.

He bought the restaurant building, fixed it up and started selling food and drinks. He named the restaurant Terrible Tony's, the same name as his bar.

"I just offered a good, clean restaurant," he said. It was a big success. So much so that he had to quit his advertising job.

"I was killing myself," he said. "I couldn't do both." He also had a gourmet catering service called Anthony's.

"I'm going to miss being mayor," Freeman said. "I've enjoyed it and I've enjoyed serving the residents for so long."

"I'm at the point where I'm counting my blessings and looking forward to my future. I want to thank those who have given me the opportunity to form personal friendships over the years."

One day a man everyone called "Gorgeous George" showed up at the restaurant and offered to buy the restaurant. Nelson said he told the man to give him an offer, and when he did, Nelson replied, "Double it." Gorgeous George balked at the price, but he kept coming around and making higher offers, and Nelson kept saying "double." Finally, Nelson got his price — "double."

He then got out of the saloon and food business and retired at the age of 50. He started sailing more and enjoying himself full time, but then David Davis, publisher of Car and Driver magazine called, Nelson said, and wanted him to redesign the magazine. Though he had never designed a magazine before, Nelson accepted the assignment on the condition that it didn't turn into a job.

The redesign took 2-1/2 years, by which time Nelson was bored with the job and, apparently, Davis was tired of Nelson, who was fired. "I was ready to quit anyway," Nelson said.

Retirement again proved elusive for Nelson. He started his own design, marketing and photography business, and before long he was taking pictures for some of Detroit's largest public relations firms.

"All of a sudden the retiree is working very hard," Nelson said. "At 50-something I was starting over again. The money was pouring in. I never made so much money in my life."

He ran the business out of his house. He did it alone — no employees, no overhead. When he needed help, he contracted someone. The business lasted five or six years and he had some nice accounts, he said, but then a friend at the Center for Creative Studies (CCS) needed someone to teach art direction.

Though he'd never taught before, Nelson was willing to give it a try.

On his first day of class, Nelson recalled, he looked at his watch and discovered he'd told the students everything he knew and only 15 minutes had gone by. "Now what am I going to do?" he wondered.

His daughter, Stephanie, who is a teacher, told him he needed a syllabus, and he soon had a system down. He now teaches Art Direction I and II at CCS.

He couldn't teach and run his business, so he let the business die out. He still does an occasional assignment, but he does it on his own schedule and won't let it interfere with teaching.

"Right now I enjoy teaching," he said. "I'm not sure my students enjoy me. I'm a tough teacher."

Somehow over the past dozen years, Nelson found time to learn to scuba dive, and he's been all over the world diving. Some of his trips have been to the Caribbean, Cayman Islands, Mexico, Egypt, San Salvador, Honduras and Guatemala.

"You're in a different world," he said. "You're in their world. That's why I like going there."

He said everywhere he goes the natives call him Santa Claus, which is understanding considering his cottony beard and handlebar mustache.

Nelson even found time to be an inventor. He came up with the idea of a "gift sack," which was a decorative cloth bag with a draw cord. He tried to sell the gift sack locally, but a recession hampered the product's success, he said.

Looking back at his life, Nelson is satisfied. He and his wife raised five children — a full house, he said, "queens over kings" (three girls, two boys). All the kids went through Grosse Pointe South High School, and they are now living throughout the country.

They all get together at Christmas, which is a special time for the family. "I've got a good family," he said. "It's a terrific family."

Nelson suffered what he called a heart condition, and that changed everything, he said. Now all visits and conversations with his children end with "I love you," he said.

When he suffered his heart condition, which he said wasn't a heart attack, Nelson said his wife called the Park police, and emergency medical technicians were at his house almost instantly, for which he is grateful to be living in the Pointes.

He points to the many benefits of the Pointes, such as the lake, schools, churches and fine old homes. He attends St. Paul Catholic Church.

"Living here is terrific," he said. "I wouldn't live any other place."

Star plans open house

Parents and young women bound for high school are invited to attend the open house at Our Lady Star of the Sea High School Wednesday, Nov. 7, at 7 p.m.

Our Lady Star of the Sea High School offers academic excellence in addition to Catholic environment and instruction. There will be an opportunity to visit the classrooms and meet the teachers, staff and students.

The school is located at 467 Fairford, Grosse Pointe Woods. For more information, call 881-5110.

PSAT set at North

The PSAT, the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test, will be held at Grosse Pointe North High School Saturday, Oct. 20. Registration is in the school's counseling center.

The cost for the test is $8. This is the only time the test will be offered this year.

Schools can vie for circus tickets

Perry Drug Stores, Inc. is sponsoring a contest which will permit schools to take all their students to the Moscow Circus on opening night at the Palace in Auburn Hills on Nov. 7.

Students can enter the contest at any Perry drugstore and the one grand prize winner will receive 1,000 tickets to the circus.

The prize will also include a visit by circus performers to the school, and it will permit one student to be an honorary ringmaster.

Another 10 winners will receive 60 tickets to the circus Nov. 7 while 196 winners will receive eight tickets each.

Entries to the contest must be dropped off at a Perry drugstore by Oct. 28. The winners, picked at random from all entries, will be notified the following day.

Ceramicist will be ULS's artist-in-residence

Detroit ceramicist Jeff Hale will be University Liggett School's Hoag-Bickett ceramic artist-in-residence Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 7-8.

Hale teaches at the Center for Creative Studies and maintains a studio in the St. Charles Artists Collective in Indian Village. During his residency at the school, Hale will demonstrate Raku firing techniques using a portable kiln as well as discuss and demonstrate his clay construction techniques.

Hale will work with upper and lower school students on Nov. 7, beginning in an upper school ceramics class at 8:48 a.m. He will be at the middle school campus on Briarcliff Drive on Nov. 8.

Parents, alumni and friends are invited to attend any of Hale's classes or presentations at the school, 1045 Cook Road in Grosse Pointe Woods.

For more information, call art teacher Karen Katanick at 884-4444.

Halloween concert offered at ULS

A music concert with a Halloween theme is set for Friday, Oct. 26, at 7:30 p.m. in the upper school auditorium at University Liggett School, 1045 Cook Road in Grosse Pointe Woods.

The upper school's jazz choir, band and jazz ensembles will perform "scary selections." Upper school music students will also be featured in solos.

The public is welcome. Admission to the one-hour concert is free, however, chorale and choir members will be fundraising at the concert to help defray the cost of the 1991 performing tour.

College night

Thursday, Oct. 25, marks the 11th annual College Night being held this year at Grosse Pointe South High School at 7:15 p.m.

More than 150 colleges and universities will be in the main gymnasium and classrooms located throughout South High School until 9:45 p.m.

For more information, call Deanna VanAntwerp at 882-8505 or Linda Greenfield at 886-3594. All parents and students are encouraged to attend.

Kelly honored

Kerri Sue Kelly has been selected for the third year in a row to "Who's Who Among American High School Students" as a multiple award winner, she is among less than one-half of one percent honored for three years.

Kelly was the starting pitcher for the Grosse Pointe North High School varsity softball team which took the first district win in the school's history. She will attend Lake Superior State University on an athletic scholarship where she'll major in sports medicine.

Kelly is the daughter of Sue Kelly of Maple City and Bernard Kelly of Plymouth.

NOTICE TO RESIDENTS
City of Grosse Pointe Farms Michigan
FALL LEAF COLLECTION

The Grosse Pointes and many other communities in Michigan are taking steps to reduce the amount of solid waste by undertaking a composting program for lawn waste beginning with this Fall's leaf collection.

YOUR COOPERATION IS REQUIRED if we are to succeed in this endeavor. EFFECTIVE immediately, please follow the procedures below:

1. Leaves must be bagged separately from regular household rubbish and placed at the curb on regular rubbish pick up days.
2. Leaf bags must be clear plastic and kept apart from regular household rubbish bags.

The above procedures will enable our Department of Public Works to provide separate leaf pick-up with the least amount of disruption to our normal waste removal procedures and with minimal personal and equipment costs.

Thank you in advance for your cooperation.

Methodist women unite to aid homeless kids in metro area

By Dan Jarvis
Staff Writer
"I wondered why somebody hasn't done something about homeless children. Then I realized I am somebody."

So said Belia Morris, a volunteer with the Detroit East District of the United Methodist Women.

Members of the United Methodist Women (UMW) then issued a call to the participating Methodist churches in the area to help the homeless.

The UMW volunteers called on fellow members to donate toys and personal hygiene items for children between 4 and 10.

"Today was not a happy day for children who have no place to call home, never knowing where they will sleep tonight, what they will eat or when they will have clean clothes," Morris said.

"Many don't know if they will ever play again with the new friend they made yesterday at the shelter. The little things that our children take for granted, some of these homeless children will never have.

"Every child should have a toothbrush, a comb and a favorite toy, but the child on the street does not. We cannot take each of these children home with us, but we can give them some of the things every child needs."

So the mission team within the Detroit East District of UMW proposed giving "love bags" to homeless children.

Organizers said the love bags were personal gifts from members and were taken to homeless shelters and distributed to children.

The members of UMW came through in a big way, said Lois Rieckhoff, president of the Detroit East District of UMW.

Answering the call, Methodist women volunteers donated more than 1,800 love bags to homeless children in southeast Michigan.

Each bag was made of sturdy cloth and contained the following items:

- One pair of children's tube or sport socks.
- A toothbrush, plastic toothbrush holder and tube of toothpaste.
- A bar of soap in a plastic soap box.
- A comb, brush, washcloth and packet of tissues.
- A coloring book, crayons and story book.
- And a small toy, such as a car or truck for boys and a doll for girls.

The bags were collected and displayed at Redeemer United Methodist Church in Harper Woods during the East District UMW's annual meeting.

County official to discuss recycling

Terry L. Guerin, administrator of solid waste management for Wayne County, will outline uses of recycled material at a meeting of Grosse Pointe Citizens for Recycling scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 24 at 7:30 p.m. in Cleminson Hall at Grosse Pointe South High School.

Guerin will discuss the current status and trends in solid waste management with emphasis on recycling and developing markets.

After his talk, there will be a question and answer session.

For further information, call Jim Kerwin at 331-5352 or Anne Roehrig at 821-2465.

Bureau provides nautical speakers

Need a nautical speaker for a yacht club, Coast Guard Auxiliary, Power Squadron or community group meeting? Leading experts on a wide range of recreational boating subjects are available through the Boat Owners Association of The United States (BOAT/US.) speakers bureau.

The BOAT/US. speakers bureau maintains a list of more than 400 professionals who are qualified to speak on subjects ranging from hull blistering and sail maintenance to marine weather and powerboat racing.

To schedule a speaker, call the speakers bureau Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. EST, toll-free at 1-800-678-6467.

Gift bags are loaded by volunteers for distribution to homeless shelters in the Detroit metropolitan area. From left, Shirley McClenahan, chairperson-nominating committee; Bill McCasland, volunteer; and Ronald Corl, pastor of Redeemer United Methodist Church.

With the altar packed with donated gift bags for homeless children, members of the Detroit East District of United Methodist Women donated and gathered the bags and presented them to the Rev. Ed Rowe of Cass Community United Methodist Church and other locations in the area for distribution to the homeless.

The love bags were then delivered to the Cass Community United Methodist Church in Detroit and to the Baldwin Avenue United Methodist Church in Pontiac.

From those churches, they were distributed to homeless children through the Homeless Union and Drop-In Center, which arranges for churches to provide temporary shelter for the homeless.

"The bags were large enough for other belongings since the children travel quite a bit," Rieckhoff said.

"They are something to replace the garbage bags that the children carry with them.

"A lot of these children don't have anything to call their own so this in an effort to give them a bag full of love. It will let children know there is love for them in the world."

Rieckhoff stressed the need to care for homeless children and praised shelter volunteers for giving their time.

"These children should have something to do besides just sitting there," Rieckhoff said. "The bag gives them something personal, something of their own."

Rieckhoff added that the love bags represent more than $32,000 worth of donated goods by the Detroit East District. The group has already pledged and donated more than $100,000 during 1990.

Last year, they donated more than 4,000 books to FocusHOPE. The new books were giftwrapped and given to children as Christmas presents.

"We keep going," Rieckhoff said. "We have a mighty benevolent bunch."

Harper Woods councilman challenges Commissioner Cavanagh

By John Minnis
Assistant Editor

For the second time, two-term Democratic incumbent David P. Cavanagh faces Republican challenger David Pochmara, now a Harper Woods councilman, for the 1st District Wayne County Board of Commissioners seat.

County commissioner terms are for two years and the pay, effective Jan. 1, is $41,396.

The general election is Tuesday, Nov. 6.

David P. Cavanagh

Democrat David P. Cavanagh, 35, is seeking his third term on the Wayne County Board of Commissioners. He is chairman of the Roads, Airports and Public Services Committee and former head of the Audit Committee.

A Grosse Pointe Woods resident, he is married and has two children. He is an investment and financial planner and a former planner with the city of Detroit. He has a bachelor's degree in public law and administration from Eastern Michigan University.

As former chairman of the Audit Committee, Cavanagh shares credit with Wayne County Executive Edward H. McNamara for balancing the budget for the first time in a dozen years. Cavanagh said he called all the department heads before his committee to justify their proposed spending.

Cavanagh is also opposing the proposed expansion of Detroit City Airport and is "ardently supporting" the proposed $1 billion expansion and modernization of Metropolitan Airport.

His grounds for opposing the City Airport expansion are:

- There isn't enough federal funding to support two major airport expansions in metropolitan Detroit.

- The Detroit area does not need two regional airports.

- His constituents in his district, which includes all the Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods, are opposed to City Airport expansion.

Cavanagh also claims credit for working with Grosse Pointe communities in getting Lakeshore in the Farms and Shores and Mack Avenue up to Cadieux repaved. He said he has a goal of getting all county roads in his district, including Moross, repaved by 1992.

According to his campaign literature, Cavanagh lists his accomplishments in office:

- Directed county tree planting and beautification programs for the east side.

- Sponsored a county program for rehabilitating crack houses.

- Achieved purchase of a sheriff marine patrol boat in the Pointes.

- Authorized various audits of county funds and implemented new auditing safeguards.

- Initiated a program to get better returns on invested county funds.

- Helped in setting up a new county law enforcement program.

He also said he completed campaign promises from 1988, such as getting a study completed of the Milk River drain system, updating the county computer system and building more jail space.

Cavanagh said he gets along well with McNamara, whom he calls "a great administrator." McNamara is running unopposed in November.

"My experience and qualifications make me the prime candidate," he said. "I'm not running on my name now. I'm running on my accomplishments."

David Pochmara

A Harper Woods councilman serving his first term, David Pochmara, 43, is continuing his 1988 attempt to unseat the incumbent.

A former supervisor of security at the Renaissance Center, where he was employed for about 12 years, Pochmara is now self-employed and working to develop senior citizen housing in Detroit.

David P. Cavanagh

As a security officer for the RenCen, Pochmara had the full authority of a police officer, he said. Though he did not attend a police academy, Pochmara said he worked his way up in the security department.

Pochmara describes himself as a conservative Republican. He beat out two incumbents to earn his seat on the Harper Woods City Council, he said.

He said he is running for county commissioner because he believes the incumbent has not addressed the problems of the community. "And they are getting worse," he said.

He said taxes haven't been addressed, and the incumbent is on record as trying to override the Headlee Amendment. Pochmara said he voted against a Headlee override as a councilman in Harper Woods.

Pochmara said he is opposed to expansion of Detroit City Airport. He said he voted in favor of financially supporting the Grosse Pointe-Harper Woods Airport Study Committee.

There are things the county can do to fight the proposed City Airport expansion. He said the county controls the infrastructure, such as roads, that is needed to support the airport. County funds could also be restricted from supporting the airport, Pochmara said.

He said he has been active in passing out some 4,000 pieces of literature in opposition to the airport and has invited speakers to address his homeowners association on the airport issue.

"As a Wayne County commissioner you can do all sorts of things," he said. "It's my intention to do so, to be an active commissioner."

He favors the planned expansion of Metro Airport, which he said will be good for business in the Detroit area.

Pochmara is opposed to the 38 percent pay increase for county commissioners that goes into effect Jan. 1. Currently, the commissioners get $29,970 in salary, which increases to $41,396 at the first of the year.

While he believes County Executive McNamara has done a good job cleaning up the county budget, he doesn't believe Cavanagh has been using his clout to help his constituent communities.

In Harper Woods, Pochmara is promoting the redevelopment of the Kelly Road business district, and he believes the county can be helpful to the rejuvenation of the commercial area.

He is also critical of the "dogooders in Lansing" who have forced the cost of disposing incinerator ash to skyrocket. His comment was in reference to the closing down of the Grosse Pointe-Clinton Disposal Authority incinerator due to cadmium found in the ash.

As a result, the Grosse Pointes have begun collecting batteries, of which some are a source of cadmium. Nevertheless, the cost of disposing of the ash has caused large increases in the budgets of the cities that are members of the incinerator authority.

"It's not a big environmental problem," he said of the cadmium issue.

Pochmara said he is three courses short of earning a bachelor's degree in public administration, which he plans to complete. He is married and has four children. Two have graduated from Grosse Pointe schools and two are still attending the public school district.

"It's a great community," he said of the Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods. He grew up in Harper Woods and graduated from Notre Dame High School.

October designated for lupus

October is Lupus Awareness Month. Systemic lupus erythematosus is a chronic inflammatory autoimmune disease that mainly affects women, especially women in their childbearing years.

Samir Yahia, MD, chief of rheumatology at St. John Hospital and Medical Center, says that the most common symptoms of lupus are a skin rash and joint pain. Many of the early symptoms, however, are dismissed by women as merely fatigue.

"They might experience tiredness, a little bit of a fever, along with aches and pains. Some call it rheumatism or a change in the weather. I think if anyone has any questions they should consult their doctor, not necessarily become very paranoid about it, but an evaluation by an internist or a rheumatologist is important," he says.

Because lupus is a systemic disease affecting many of the body's organs, an early diagnosis is important. Medication, including anti-inflammatory drugs, corticosteroids, and in severe cases, immunosuppressive drugs, are the mainstay of treatment for lupus.

Yahia adds, "In addition to taking medications, one has to learn how to cope with the illness, such as avoiding unnecessary drugs, avoiding exposure to the sun, using sunscreens and also coping with chronic fatigue, tiredness and taking rest. Sometimes you may have to even change your job or lifestyle to minimize the physical and emotional stress in your life.

"Depression is part of the disease. So, people with lupus, or any other chronic illness, need help. They often need counseling for depression."

Many people with lupus have mild symptoms. By taking an active part in treatment, the person with lupus can help to keep the disease under control.

DSO concert features Schubert, Copland, Brahms

By Alex Suczek
Special Writer

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra's program for its concerts last week was a major potential crowd-pleaser.

Take Schubert's "Third Symphony," completed in 1815 when he was 18. Replete with happy Austrian melodies and surprising harmonic modulations, it has instant appeal and remains unmatched by any teenage composer since.

As the opener on the program, The Schubert aroused expectations for an evening of musical refreshment and delight.

That is not to say that Schubert's music is superficial. The symphony's tuneful themes and ingenuousness are deceptive. The young composer has sometimes been unfairly judged to have fallen short of the classical standards set by Haydn, Mozart and Beethoven. In fact, he seems in some ways to have anticipated the sophisticated harmonies of Brahms.

The first movement, for example, introduces its theme on an unconventional choice of instrument — the clarinet — and Schubert, instead of developing it with variations, proceeds to explore harmonic modulations.

He created what in 1815 was a new kind of musical suspense.

Moreover, the theme brings to mind a call on the Alephhorn with associated visions of scenic views in the Tyrol. Once established, the tour idea persists throughout the work. A dainty minuet in the second movement, very daintily performed by the orchestra under guest conductor Henry Lewis, brings to mind the formal Hapsburg court. A Laendler, Austria's slow country waltz, evokes images of picturesque villages.

Always, the music has a playful quality. While Lewis' tempos and dynamics, in his spartan, almost laid-back conducting style, were somewhat restrained, they could not suppress the inherent liveliness and charm.

Lewis was not quite so laid back in Copland's "El Salon Mexico." This work's offbeat and uniquely Mexican rhythms demand musicians who can also count on their toes and in a few of the trickier sequences, Lewis looked like he might want to take his shoes off.

But for anyone who savors folklore and Mexican musical styles, "El Salon" is invariably satisfying and invigorating. The color and spirit of the music, in fact, inspired Mexican critics at its premiere to pronounce it "as Mexican as Revueltas." It is even more of a programmatic travel piece having been inspired by Copland's visit to a native Mexican night club while traveling in that country. Again, the music transcended Lewis' lack of machismo.

The concert came to its finale with a move into yet another highly popular work in an always popular form — Brahms' "First Piano Concerto." The symphony fan today expects much of Brahms whose sensuous harmonies are a hallmark. Yet this work was actually hissed at its second public performance with Brahms himself at the keyboard.

Pianist Mischa Dichter, as soloist last week, escaped that fate. He has a brilliant, detached playing style that does much to reveal the structure of the music. However, his forceful, dramatic touch and heavy pedaling tended to obscure the composer's soaring romanticism.

Moreover, the difficulties of the first two movements, which may have contributed to its original reception, seemed to put conductor and pianist in competition on occasion, to determine who was really in charge. This faded in the last movement where piano and orchestra put aside restraint and gave more expression to Brahms' passion in the "Rondo."

This week, the DSO opens its Weekend Pops series with music of John Phillip Sousa and conductor Keith Brion in his portrayal of America's great bandmaster. Performances are scheduled on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 19-20, at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday, Oct. 21, at 3:30 p.m.

The great news for regular symphonygoers is that the orchestra's new musical director, Neeme Jarvi, will be here to conduct the first of his series this season starting on Thursday evening, Oct. 25. On the program are Weber's "Overture to Oberon," "Symphonic Metamorphoses" by Hindemith, "Pastorale for Oboe and Strings" by Hanson and Nielsen's "Symphony No. 4." There will be four performances in all, Thursday and Friday, Oct. 25-26, at 8 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 27, at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday, Oct. 28, at 3:30 p.m.

For tickets and information, call 833-3700.

Music Director Neeme Jarvi takes the podium next week to lead the Detroit Symphony in the first of three consecutive weeks of concerts. He is the 11th music director of the orchestra.

'Mr. Destiny' is uplifting, predictable

By Michael Chapp
Special Writer

"Mr. Destiny" is not the most original film of the year. It's not very solid in the plot department. And it's not the funniest picture you'll ever see.

That said, there is something worthwhile about this movie. Maybe it's the underlying theme. Maybe it's just the way it makes you feel. Whichever is the case, it's hard not to come away from the theater feeling at least somewhat satisfied.

"Destiny" is a modern-day "It's a Wonderful Life," almost all of its best ideas and moments are derived in some way from that Jimmy Stewart classic. Instead of Stewart, however, we have Jim Belushi. And instead of a classic we have a mildly entertaining, but ultimately mediocre, piece of work.

Belushi plays the average blue collar American kind of guy. He's got a nice home in the suburbs, even if it is missing a driveway because the contractor refuses to put one in. He's got a beautiful wife who loves him, even if she does occasionally forget his birthday.

He's got a decent job at a sporting goods company, even if the boss is a little overbearing. And he's got a nice set of friends, even if some would call them nerdy.

His problem is this: When he was a kid, he struck out during a crucial moment of the state baseball championship. Now 35, he's been carrying that failure around for his entire life. He wonders how things would have been different if only he had hit a home run when it mattered.

Enter Michael Caine, the title character. On a dark night in a deserted bar, the bartender, gives Belushi a chance to see what life would be like if he had hit the home run.

Suddenly Belushi is married to the beautiful daughter of the owner of the sporting goods company, meaning Belushi is also the president of the company. Suddenly he's living in a castle, with a garage full of Rolls Royces and servants to use at his whim.

And, guess what? Suddenly, he's not as happy as he was when he was just a simple guy with bills and a broken down car. Sound familiar?

It should, since this is a formula we've seen before. But the main problem here is not that the movie is predictable. It also loses viewers by putting the old Belushi — the middle class guy with middle class values — into the body of the new Belushi, who's supposed to be an upper class guy with upper class values. If, as Caine explains at one point, everything is supposed to be different in this new life, beginning at the moment of the home run, then Belushi shouldn't be a prisoner to his old values.

That's a complicated explanation for a point which could have been easily fixed by the writers. Still, if that point had been fixed, the movie's themes of being content with what you have and keeping things in perspective would never have worked.

So even if this isn't one of the most consistent films of the year, it is, probably, one of the more uplifting ones. It's just too bad it couldn't have been both.

Options available for Thanksgiving travel

Fuel prices — 36 percent higher than this time last year — are not crimping the plans of Thanksgiving holiday travelers, AAA Michigan reports.

Michigan motorists will find plenty of gasoline to make that traditional trip to Grandma's house, but at higher prices. Regular self-serve unleaded is up about 36 cents a gallon more than last year when the price averaged $1.01 per gallon.

Rising fuel prices have caused those planning airline and train travel to make plans earlier for the upcoming holiday.

"Many airline travelers, fearful of the effect of rising fuel prices, got their tickets for the Thanksgiving weekend prior to Oct. 1, when a 4.2 percent fare hike took effect," said Diane Willard, vice-president of AAA Travel Agency. "As a result, many airline seats were filled for the holiday by early autumn. By the end of September, one major carrier had 40 percent of its seats sold for Thanksgiving and 25 percent for Christmas."

But tickets are still available to the airline traveler who purchases now by consulting a reliable travel agent, Willard said.

Discount seats always sell first — so travelers are advised to book as soon as possible. A good travel agent can find the best rates offered by all carriers at no cost to the customer.

Most airlines anticipate that the volume of travel this Thanksgiving season will be comparable or slightly above last year.

Train travel promises to be a popular option this holiday season. Amtrak rail service expects a half-million riders across the United States to travel by train this Thanksgiving. Since fuel represents only 3 percent of Amtrak's total budget, fares to date have not increased. Travelers are advised to buy tickets at least a month ahead of the planned travel date to avoid sold-out seats.

The busiest trains are expected to be headed to Washington, D.C., New York City, Philadelphia and Chicago. Greyhound Bus Lines also anticipate more travelers than last year. Officials advise passengers to purchase tickets 30 days in advance to get the best rates.

For the thousands of Michiganders who will drive to their turkey dinner, AAA Michigan advises those concerned about conserving fuel to heed the following suggestions:

- Plan driving routes so that you can travel at constant speed and bypass congested areas. Avoid traveling during peak traffic hours.

- Travel at moderate speeds on the open road. Higher speeds require more gasoline.

- Make sure your automobile is tuned up before making a long trip. An out-of-tune car can use 3 to 8 percent more fuel.

Motorists should buckle up and avoid alcohol this Thanksgiving holiday which officially begins at 3 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 21, and runs through midnight Sunday, Nov. 25. During last year's Thanksgiving weekend, 14 people were killed on Michigan highways, compared to 24 in 1988. Half of the fatal crashes involved alcohol. Thirteen of the victims had seat belts available but 10 chose not to use them.

Latvia choir at Marygrove

The Marygrove College Music Department will present the Jazepa Medina Music High School Boys' Choir of Riga, Latvia, U.S.S.R. on Monday, Oct. 29, at 8 p.m. in the Sacred Heart Chapel on the campus located at 8425 West McNichols in north-west Detroit.

The award winning choir, composed of 29 boys ranging in age from 10-14, won first place at the Boys' Choir Festival for all of Latvia in 1988 under the direction of choir conductor Romans Vanagas.

General admission tickets are $10 and $8 for students and senior citizens. For reservations or further information call the Marygrove College Music Department at 862-8000, ext. 232.

Metropolitan Band goes Latin

The Metropolitan Symphonic Band will present a Latin Holiday Program on Sunday, Oct. 28 at 3:30 p.m. at the Macomb Center for the Performing Arts on the Center Campus of Macomb Community College, Hall and Garfield Roads in Clinton Township.

The 45-piece band, under the direction of Dr. Martin Stella, will present a number of Latin favorites including music from "Bolero," "West Side Story," and "La Fiesta Mexicana." Special guest artists will be lyric soprano Gail Mitchell, and dancers Bill Wilson and Nira Pullin.

Tickets are $8 for adults, $6 for students and senior citizens, $5 for children 12 and under, and $5 for groups of 10 or more. Tickets are available at the box office, or by telephone at 286-2222, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

'Another Antigone' is excellent choice to open new theater

By Alex Suczek
Special Writer

With a title that is a quote from Shakespeare and a statement of goals that are ambitiously lofty, Serpent's Tooth Theatre, a new company based in Oakland Community College's Royal Oak Campus, has internationally signaled that it is setting its sights high. To the organizers' credit, their first production hits the mark in many ways.

The play is "Another Antigone." As the name suggests, the gifted author, A.R. Gurney Jr., borrowed the thematic ideas of the classic Greek work to explore contemporary conflicts and values.

He has created a modern theater piece well worthy of the expressed ambitions of Artistic Director Michael L. Geiger to present "intellectually stimulating and artistically challenging drama."

That goal, of course, runs the risk of sounding too arty. A new theater in any community must live or die presenting shows that people relate to and enjoy without compromising its ideals.

Serpent's Tooth Theatre has scored again. "Another Antigone" makes its audience laugh, cry and go home with a lot to think and talk about. The audience is caught up even before the performance begins. It is difficult not to speculate on how Gurney is rendering one of the greatest of all classic Greek plots in contemporary terms. This turns out to be one of the clever tricks of the play. It becomes clear in the opening scene that this is also the mind set of the play's leading character, classics Professor Henry Harper.

His student, Judy Miller, has let him know she expects an A for her "Antigone" script set in the context of the Cold War. He responds coolly that hers is only the latest of such efforts and does not meet his requirement for a term paper.

With this, the plot thickens fast. It opens a conflict that spreads to other important issues and values in college life today including ethnic prejudice, educational discipline, academic compromise and personal identity — things that move us all.

Harper's inability to compromise his scholastic standards and see Judy's work as credible, and her tenacious efforts to rewrite it and then produce it on campus so that she can graduate, make the irreconcilable conflict. Like Antigone and King Creon in the original, they are on a collision course in which both just finally lose.

But with remarkable ingenuity, Gurney has taken advantage of two other classical devices that go beyond the boundaries of the original.

The first springs from a triangle that develops in the relationship between Professor Harper, Judy, and her boyfriend and fellow student, David. All three simultaneously experience a change in loyalties and goals that is as jarring as when the trio in Sartre's "No Exit" realize the true nature of their punishment in hell.

The second is an inspiration at the end of the play.

David, like any youth in the process of self-discovery, decides that the classics are his true calling and is moved by the sincere encouragement of the professor. He turns away from Judy and from his major in chemistry to follow in Harper's footsteps.

Standing in Harper's empty office to retrieve a book the professor left for him, David is like Orpheus reborn. It is a masterful touch that intensifies the impact of the startling conclusion of the play.

"Another Antigone" is such good theater that it transcends and uplifts the atmosphere of its community theater venue. The college lecture hall used as a theater and the audience in it become integral parts of the performance as Professor Harper delivers his end of term lecture and agonizing farewell.

The four members of the cast do more than rise to the challenge of the script. They are swept up in its power to deliver performances that are alternately touching, infuriating, shocking and almost always real.

Mark Rademacher as Harper is totally the scholarly professor, inept in his lack of personal sensitivity to others' emotional needs; unyielding in his enforcement of academic rules. Many students have known him.

Denise Edwards gives her role as Judy all the driving intensity of the self-confident, goal-driven Jewish girl who achieves by sheer force of personality. She doesn't know how to give up and when cornered, makes her Jewishness the issue.

Stephen Knollenberg as David achieves the perfectly likable collegian trying to graduate in his chosen field. He keeps his role on even keel as his girl and the prof go head to head, then makes his pivotal shift — the Orpheus image — with sympathy-rousing conviction.

Tying it all together is Joyce Uzela in the supporting role of the college dean and confidant of Harper. She keeps the story in touch with reality by her affectionate display of concern and impatience with Harper and sincere advice. Any college administrator would sympathize with her frustration.

Serpent's Tooth Theatre's challenge now has a new dimension: to live up to an excellent opener and go on to greater achievements.

"Another Antigone" is playing the next two weekends in the OCC building at Washington and Main in Royal Oak. Friday and Saturday performances are at 8 p.m.; Sunday Matinees at 3 p.m. For tickets and information, call 544-4940.

Judy and David in "Another Antigone" are played by Denise Edwards and Stephen Knollenberg, who are recreating in the play aspects of their own recent college experience at Wayne State and Boston universities.

Halloween show planned

Ghosts, goblins and monsters of all ages will haunt the stage when the Utica Dance Center presents its family Halloween show, "Things That Go Bump in the Night," at Macomb Center for the Performing Arts at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 31.

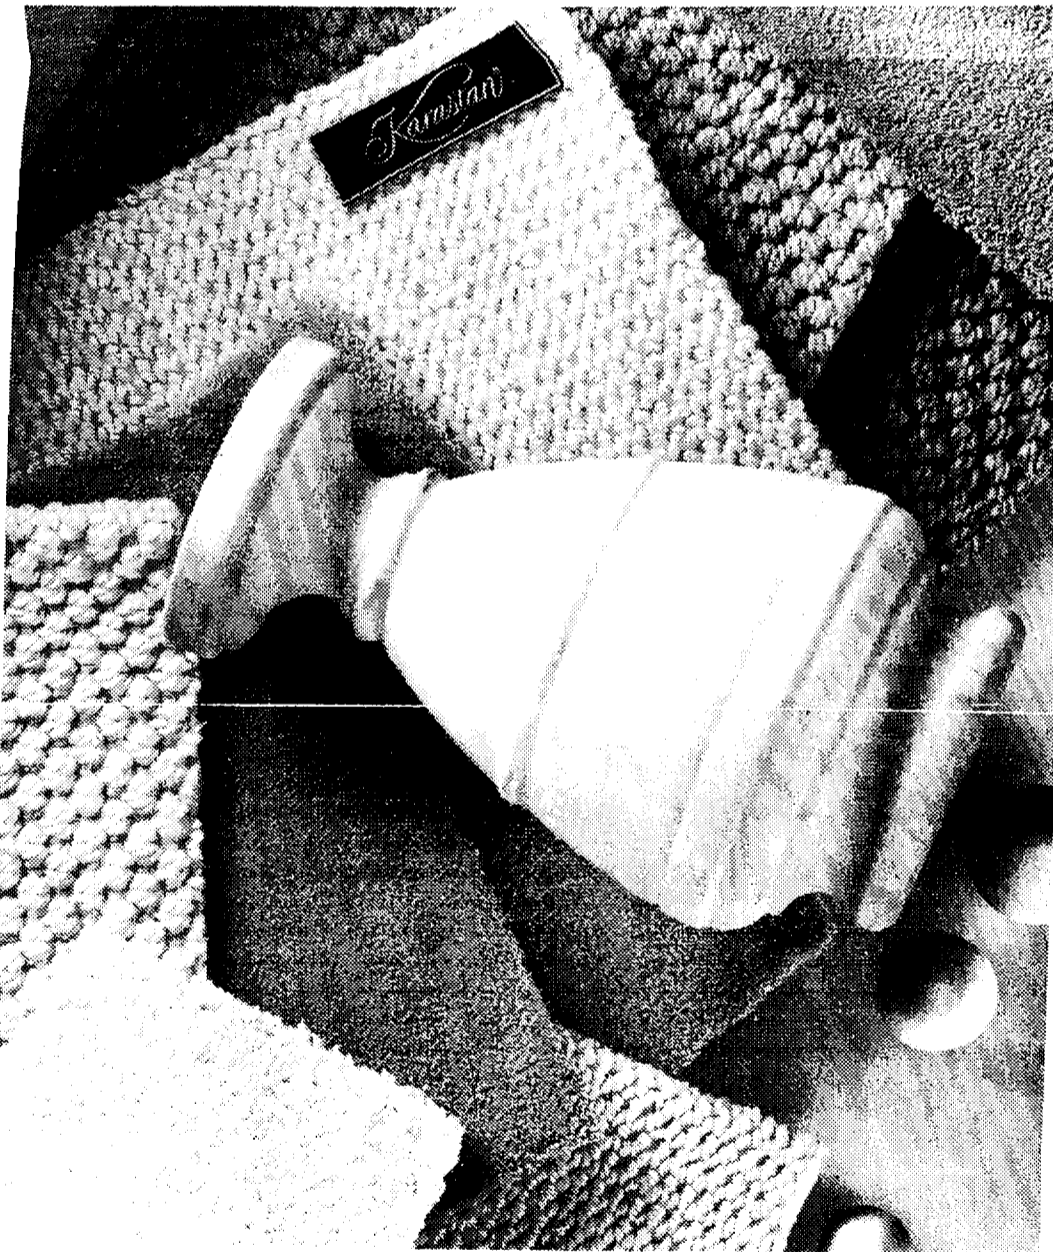

The 60-member cast of these "things" is made up of the Dance Center's students and faculty. During the one-hour show, they will entertain the audience of trick-and-treaters with a "wonderful alternative to an ordinary Halloween night."

The show features special staging effects in keeping with the Halloween spirit, allows for plenty of audience participation, offers free treats and invites parents as well as children to attend in their favorite costumes.

Tickets are $4 for children and $6 for adults. They may be obtained at the center's box office or reserved on credit card by calling 286-2222, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Special group rates are available. Macomb Center is located on the Center Campus of Macomb Community College at Hall (M-59) and Garfield roads in Clinton Township.

'Miller's Crossing' is above-average gangster film

By Marian Trainor
Special Writer

"Miller's Crossing" stands apart from the rash of gangster films that hit the screen recently in that it is more than a strung-together series of violent confrontations.

Nothing happens that hasn't been carefully mapped out. At the same time nothing happens that is predictable to the viewer.

The "will he" or "won't he" quotient is high and, at the same time, the suspense it generates is equally so. It depends more on characters than on violence to hold viewers, but there are some scenes that may cause viewers to turn their heads away from the screen.

The time is 1929. The place is an unidentified city with some superb settings shot in New Orleans, among them the untamed woods of Miller's Crossing, where the mobsters bring their victims.

"Miller's Crossing" is the work of brothers Joel and Ethan Coen who concocted "Blood Simple" and "Raising Arizona." A film with few screen antecedents, it is a mold-breaking gangster film that was chosen to open the New York Film Festival.

It is dominated by three figures: Leo, played by Albert Finney, Johnny Caspar (John Polito), and Tom (Gabriel Byrne).

The relationship becomes strained by a tough-talking beauty, Verna (Marcia Gay Harden) and her brother Bernie (John Turturro) who makes his living by selling information and double-crossing everyone he can.

Scenes in "Miller's Crossing" fit together like pieces in a puzzle. They all have significance. Among them is one showing Finney mowing down a half a dozen hit men with "Danny Boy" blaring in the background.

Another shows a corpse propped against a wall. A little boy and his dog eye it with a puzzled expression. Stealthily the boy goes over and removes the dead man's wig and runs off. When the absence of the wig comes up for discussion, a mobster remarks: "He was just a cheap politician with more hair than brains."

This film scores on many levels, even comedy. It is laughable to see the city fathers scurrying around like keystone cops trying to please whichever gang is in power. There is suspense and action too, but the film is more memorable for its portrait of characters.

The viewer will not soon forget Turturro's manic performance as Bernie who nevertheless manages to control every situation. Finney's Leo is both deadly and tragic in his mindless infatuation with Verna.

Polito's Caspar is bigger than life with his rages and wild philosophical discussions. Both he and Finney handle their roles with flair as crooked guys who in their own way are straightforward. Harden's Verna is both tough and smart.

Most memorable is Byrne as Tom, the pale, tough presence at the center of the deadly turmoil who leaves the viewer with a question. Is he a hero or a turncoat? A violent, cleverly arranged ending makes this a difficult question to answer.

Opener

The Theatre Arts Club of Detroit will present its first play of the season Oct. 26 at 1 p.m. at The Players. Cast in "Steel Magnolias" are Sharon Conti, Jean Hawkins, Jane Combrink-Graham, Jean Coyle, Sharon Strika and Monica Locke.

Guest artists to perform

Soulful folksinger John Prine of The Flying Karamazov Brothers, and spellbinding storyteller John Patterson will provide four days of varied entertainment at the Attic Theatre Oct. 25-28.

Prine will perform Thursday and Friday, Oct. 25-26, at 8 p.m. Tickets are $19.50. The Karamazov shows are Saturday, Oct. 27, at 7:30 and 10 p.m. Tickets are $19.50. John Patterson will appear Sunday, Oct. 28, at 2:30 and 7 p.m. Tickets are $12.

Tickets may be purchased at the Attic Theatre box office at 7339 Third at West Grand Boulevard or by calling 875-8284. Tickets are also available at all TicketMaster outlets or by calling 645-6666. Visa and MasterCard are accepted.

In the tradition of Woody Guthrie and Bob Dylan, Prine's songs are reflections of American life — pictures captured by his gentle acoustic strumming and gemlike lyrics, by turns funny, sad and cynical.

Prine's songs have been recorded by Bette Midler, Bonnie Raitt and Johnny Cash.

With more than eight albums to his credit, Prine is a recording artist on his own label, "Oh Boy Records." Opening for him is Ann Arbor blues/folksinger Dick Siegel.

The outrageous antics of the Flying Karamazov Brothers follow in the weekend lineup. Jugglers, comics and musicians, this unrelated quartet of zanies sings four-part harmony while throwing clubs, champagne bottles, eggs and an occasional octopus.

Sporting ponytails, black pantaloons and geometric-shaped black hats, these Marx Brother of the manual dexterity circuit present a piece called "The Gamble." One member of the troupe, designated "The Champ," attempts to juggle any three objects presented by members of the Attic Theatre audience.

Blending mime, dance and acting, storyteller John Patterson performs on Sunday in his one-man show, "When the Colored Band Goes Marchin." The dynamic Patterson brings to life literary landmarks of freedom by Black-American writers including Frederick Douglas, W.E. DuBois, James Baldwin, Langston Hughes, Martin Luther King Jr., Alice Walker and more.

Americana exhibit

"Detroiters Collect," an exhibition of books and other printed materials from the collections of 14 local collectors, will be on view in the third floor exhibit hall of the Main Detroit Public Library, 5201 Woodward in the University Cultural Center, from Oct. 19 through Jan. 15, 1991.

Viewing hours are the same as library hours, Tuesday through Saturday, 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Wednesday, 1 p.m. to 9 p.m.

The show is sponsored by the Friends of the Detroit Public Library in cooperation with the Michigan Center for the Book. There is no admission charge.

The theme of this year's show is Americana. Collectors of Americana have an advantage in time. The American past is still quite recent with many items available for collecting, and the American present is a fertile source of collectibles, as history is made daily.

'Damn Yankees' on deck at Macomb

The Broadway musical "Damn Yankees," a tune-filled fantasy about a middle-aged baseball fanatic who trades his soul for a chance to lead the Washington Senators out of the cellar into a pennant race with the New York Yankees, has been booked for a three-night run at Macomb Center for the Performing Arts.

Singing and dancing to songs like "Heart" and "Whatever Lola Wants," a touring New York theater troupe will present fully staged and orchestrated performances at 8 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 25-27.

On Broadway, the original version won three Tony Awards — Best Musical, Best Score and Lyrics and Best Book.

Tickets are $22 for adults and $20 for students and senior citizens and may be obtained at the Center's box office or reserved on credit card by calling 286-2222, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Macomb Center is located on the Center Campus of Macomb Community College at Hall (M-59) and Garfield Roads in Clinton Township.

Michigan Opera Theatre lifts curtain on 20th season

For 20 years, Michigan Opera Theatre has stood for excellence in opera entertainment and education throughout the Detroit community. It has also achieved national stature as one of the country's 10 largest opera companies based on its operating budget.

As the curtain ascends on Michigan Opera Theatre's 20th anniversary season, this is a look back to the company's beginnings, its early days of operating as a fledgling addition to the city and state's cultural life, and through its maturation process as one of the nation's premier producers of grand opera and musical theater.

In 1963, David DiChiera began the production of the popular Overture to Opera series, a program of staged operatic scenes which he presented and narrated in hundreds of schools and community centers throughout the state. The program was the educational component of the Detroit Grand Opera Association which annually brought the Metropolitan Opera to Detroit.

In addition to presenting excerpts from the Met's annual offerings, Overture to Opera gradually assumed its own identity, producing more than half a dozen rarely heard one-act operas.

In 1969, the celebrated bass Italo Tajo joined the troupe in performances of Donizetti's one-act opera "II Campanello"; the following year he returned to direct and sing in Overture to Opera's first full-length production, "The Barber of Seville" starring mezzo-soprano Maria Ewing in her professional operatic debut.

The success of this series over a period of years laid the groundwork for the establishment of Michigan's own professional opera company which launched its first full-length season at Detroit's historic landmark theatre, Music Hall in 1971.

The premiere season's prophetic programming path — "La Rondine" by Giacomo Puccini and "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat" by Andrew Lloyd-Webber — demonstrated the company's equal commitment to the beloved works of the grand opera and operetta tradition and the significant contributions from contemporary composers, with particular emphasis on American composers. Its mission was to provide an alternative to the traditional grand opera presentations by the Metropolitan Opera, and to make opera accessible for everyone.

In 1973, the company changed

Hilberry presents 'Twelfth Night'
Shakespeare's last romantic comedy, "Twelfth Night," directed by Marti Maraden, guest director from the Stratford Festival, opens at the Hilberry Theatre Saturday, Oct. 27, following a preview Oct. 26, and runs in repertory through Dec. 15.

"Twelfth Night" is one of Shakespeare's highest achievements in sheer comedy and probably the happiest play he wrote. It is a mixture of comedy and melancholy, romance and mistaken identities.

Principal roles will be played by returning company members Kate Willinger, recipient of 1990 acting awards from both the Detroit Free Press and The Detroit News, Bart Hansard and Lee Heinz, and newcomers Tami Evans and Max Baker.

"Twelfth Night" will run in repertory with "Noises Off" and "Farther West" through Dec. 15. For information about tickets and season subscription discounts, call the Hilberry box office at 577-2972.

its name to Michigan Opera Theatre in accordance with its mandate to serve the entire state. All productions were performed in English until the early '80s when both English language and original performances were offered.

Michigan Opera Theatre was also the first opera company in the Midwest to provide its audiences with surtitle translations, a technology which has become standard in most major opera houses around the country.

Today, the company offers a full spectrum of opera entertainment, from the comedies of Mozart to the drama of Verdi to the 20th century verismo of Stephen Sondheim. Recently, Michigan Opera Theatre has enhanced its seasons with presentations of grand classical ballet, providing Detroit audiences with the opportunity to enjoy an art form rarely seen in the city.

As a result of MOT's commitment to artistic excellence and accessibility, its total base of support has grown impressively: more than 230,000 people annually are exposed to both main stage productions and educational outreach performances across the state; the company's subscribers now number more than 8,000; and its financial contributors have swelled to more than 7,500.

Highlights of the company's more than 550 main stage performances include many operatic triumphs: the professional operatic debut of Kathleen Battle, who is considered the finest lyric coloratura soprano in the world today; the final "Norma" of Dame Joan Sutherland and its subsequent nation-wide broadcast on National Public Radio; the revival, telecast and ensuing Broadway run of "The Most Happy Fella"; the directorial debut of actor Sal Mineo with "The Medium," in which he also played Toby; the telecast of Copland's "The Tender Land" with the composer himself at the podium; the American opera debut of Cleo Laine in "The Merry Widow"; Catherine Malfitano's first "La Traviata"; Victor Vergara's first "Carmen"; the American role debut of Ghena Dimitrova in "Turandot"; the historic Detroit concert debut of Luciano Pavarotti, the world premiere of Pasatieri's "Washington Square," the American premieres of the Armenian opera "Anoush" and Poland's "The Haunted Castle."

Further national recognition has come from mounting important revivals of such American works as Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess," Blitzstein's "Regina" and Gruenberg's "The Emperor Jones." In fact, 25 percent of the company's main stage productions have been devoted to opera and musical theater works by American composers. And in a wonderful stroke of serendipity, the final opera of this two decade-long era, "Madame Butterfly," which concludes this season, will be the company's 100th presentation.

The company's philosophy of offering aspiring artists performance opportunities is well regarded, and particular recognition has come for its role in the emergence of such outstanding black American singers as Battle, Maria Ewing, Leona Mitchell, Carmen Balthrop, Wilhelmina Fernandez, Vinson Cole, Andrew Smith and conductor Willie Waters.

The spirit of this opportunity is kept alive annually with the Young Artists Apprentice Program, which offers nationally recruited singers and production personnel performance and career opportunities.

Under the leadership of educator and composer Karen DiChiera, Michigan Opera Theatre's successful winter residency program is now enjoying its 17th successive year of touring the state, bringing opera to communities in both the upper and lower peninsulas.

With approximately 300 services annually, the company's 12-year-old education department has taken the national lead in providing performance pieces that both educate and entertain families and young audiences about the perils of substance abuse, smoking and a variety of social issues.

The department has given special emphasis to providing necessary tools for the enjoyment of opera to the physically challenged through American Sign Language interpreted performances, audio tapes for the blind, TDD Voice for hearing impaired ticket buyers, in-school curriculum for special needs students, and has been instrumental in establishing the South East Michigan Chapter of the Very Special Arts Festival.

DiChiera's efforts to establish MOT as one of the pre-eminent companies in the nation have been recognized and honored, including special citations from the Detroit City Council, the Michigan State Legislature, and the Michigan Foundation for the Arts.

The Detroit News, in electing him as a Michiganian of the year in 1979, stated "DiChiera has done more than any single person in the city or state to bring opera to the people." The president of the Republic of Italy recognized his achievements by investing him with the order of Cavaliere al Merito della Repubblica.

The company's national prestige is further enhanced by DiChiera's appointments as general director of Opera Pacific in California's Orange County and artistic director of Ohio's successful Dayton Opera. The relationship between the three companies has proven to be a cost-effective means of co-producing new, lavish main stage productions and presenting important community education performances.

As a non-profit company, Michigan Opera Theatre derives its annual income from a variety of sources including the sale of tickets, both season subscriptions and single performances; through the generosity of private donors, corporations, foundations, state and federal agencies; and through myriad special fundraising events coordinated by a body of dedicated volunteers.

Together, these sources have kept the company's $5 million plus budget deficit-free and in the black, having been cited by the Ford Foundation as one of the most fiscally responsible arts organizations in the country. The organization is governed by a 40-member board of directors with further guidance by the 290-member board of trustees.

Now entering its third decade, the company looks forward to ending its nomadic existence and establishing its presence in Detroit. Within the next four years, Michigan Opera Theatre will complete the renovation and expansion of the opulent Grand Circus Theatre (formerly the Capitol) as a new opera house for the city of Detroit and a permanent home for Michigan Opera Theatre's many activities.

The Grand Circus Theatre was the first in a series of palatial vaudeville and moving picture houses to be built in the 1920s surrounding Grand Circus Park. As with all of C. Howard Crane's theaters, its acoustical properties are considered among the finest from any of its 3,000 seats or 18 boxes.

Resplendently decorated in Italian Renaissance style, the theater boasts Tiffany stained glass panels, crystal chandeliers, frescoes, brass fixtures and marble stairways and drinking fountains.

Several years ago, the opera company concluded that its future rested upon having control of its own facility, one which would adequately house the tremendous resource demands of grand opera and the company's many outreach activities, while providing necessary audience amenities. After an exhaustive search by MOT board members of the city's existing facilities and analyzing costs of building a new facility, MOT selected the Grand Circus Theatre as the ideal solution.

Unlike most American urban centers which demolished their grand theater edifices in exchange for parking lots, six former entertainment palaces within a three-block area still stand in downtown Detroit. Collectively they represent the largest theater renovation program in the world.

Among the nation's 15 largest cities, Detroit is the only one whose opera company does not have a permanent home. To complete the entertainment district, anchor its core, provide a broader programming base, bring more employees into the area, and introduce new life year-round into the area, and ultimately to satisfy the needs of the burgeoning Michigan Opera Theatre, the Detroit Opera House is being developed.

Book Village, School Bell find a winning combination

By Dan Jarvis
Staff Writer

A marriage of convenience or good business sense?

Both, according to the managers of the Grosse Pointe Book Village and School Bell, speaking of the recent joint venture of the two stores, now side by side under one roof in the Village.

Is it two stores or one? It's two stores in one and it's anything but conventional.

Here's the setup.

The School Bell, established 15 years ago, was located on Mack Avenue in Grosse Pointe City. When owner Rita Flaherty got the opportunity to move the educational toy and game outlet for kids to the Village, she jumped at it.

At the same time, when the owner of Grosse Pointe Book Village, Gwendolyn Bashara Samuel, was presented with the opportunity to join forces with the School Bell to move into 17047 Kercheval, she also jumped.

Located next door to the former site of the Book Village, also established 15 years ago, the combined store now offers all things educational for kids and adults, as did both operations in the past.

But now, like the phrase "bigger than both of us," the store offers something neither store could provide before: combination theme gifts for kids.

According to Book Village Manager Stephanie Elaine Samuel, parents often come in looking for something for a child and are delighted that both the Book Village and School Bell can each offer one half of an almost tailor-made gift.

At Book Village, parents can pick up Joe Kaufman's book titled "The Human Body," while the School Bell can offer the hands-on educational game, "Some Body."

"Both complement each other and more than once, parents have purchased the two items together," said the younger Samuel, 19, a 1989 graduate of Grosse Pointe South.

For a Halloween theme, the School Bell offers an educational toy, "Bag of Bones," featuring a skeleton in a bag.

Its partner in print is the book, "Funny Bones," in which a skeleton dog jumps for a stick and falls apart when it hits the ground. The object in the book is for the dog's human pals to put it together correctly.

Other combinations include the Sesame Street Snuffleupagus in puppet and book form. For the staffs on both sides of the store, the combinations seem endless.

Both sides offer a selection of storybook videos, with the Book Village side featuring classics like "Captain Kid" with Charles Laughton. The School Bell side specializes in kid-style videos such as "Let's Sing Along," a concert for kids which comes complete with a toy microphone.

When it comes to books alone, the Book Village offers a complete selection for adults, including "Plains of Passage" by Jean M. Auel, and a complete selection of children's books, including those by author and illustrator Chris Van Allsburg.

And for those interested in Great Lakes shipwrecks and local history, there are several to choose from.

"One of the best things is that we have come to know many of our customers and we can special order items if we don't have them at the moment," Samuel said.

"A match made in heaven" is how Stephanie Samuel, left, describes the relationship between the staffs at Grosse Pointe Book Village and the School Bell, which recently opened under one roof at 17047 Kercheval in the Village. At right, School Bell manager Pat Manthe holds one of the many combinations for kids offered by both the Book Village and School Bell.

Because Samuel has been coming to her mother's store since she was just 4 years old and began working there nearly seven years ago, she's had plenty of opportunities to get to know the Book Village's long-term customers.

Besides her work at Grosse Pointe Book Village, Samuel is active in Grosse Pointe Theatre, both as a performer and choreographer, and is currently choreographing the musical review "Cole," based on the music of Cole Porter.

Samuel said the one thing that makes the partnership between the two businesses work so well is that both sides recommend each other's items.

Being under one roof allows them to get to know the stock offered by the other side.

Though some would say it's twice as much merchandise to be familiar with, Samuel said the partnership is a "match made in heaven."

School Bell owner Rita Flaherty, who also teaches fifth grade at Kerby Elementary School in the Farms, sees it much the same way.

"One of our goals is to encourage everyone to be readers as well as thinkers," Flaherty said. "We never outgrow the need to educate ourselves."

Flaherty said one of the specialties of the School Bell is offering educational tools for children with special needs.

"There is a wide selection of material that we can order to keep them interested in learning," she said. "We avoid the fads because there are so many good quality things that can help the children think."

She added that the combinations that the two stores can offer go beyond what is on the shelves.

Summing up the last few months of cooperation by the two stores, Samuel said, "The relationship between the two stores works very well. Who knows where it will go?"

Michael G. Magee, chief engineer for the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, has received a 25-year HCMA service pin. He joined HCMA June 28, 1965. He began as a staff design engineer and then was principal design engineer prior to being promoted to his present post on March 31. He received a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering from Wayne State University in 1966. He is a resident of Grosse Pointe Woods.

Magee

Grosse Pointe Woods resident John Casey has joined Banker & Brisebois as marketing director. Based in Birmingham, Banker & Brisebois is a national retail advertising firm and has been operating since 1912. Casey will be responsible for the marketing and promotion of the many services the company offers retail furniture dealers and furniture manufacturers. Casey will also supervise all copywriting for the firm. Previously, Casey had been advertising manager for First of America Bank in Detroit.

Rod Burton of Grosse Pointe Park has joined DDB Needham Detroit as vice president, management supervisor. Burton's primary focus will lie in new business development. A 30-year veteran in the advertising business, Burton was formerly vice president/director of the retail division for six years at J. Walter Thompson, Detroit. Before joining J. Walter Thompson in 1984, Burton managed his own firm, Burton Advertising, for almost 20 years. He is also a member of the board of governors for the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

Burton

Ken Forrester of Grosse Pointe Woods has been named director of anesthesia services of Hutzel Hospital. Forrester's previous positions include coordinator of anesthesia services and staff nurse anesthetist. He joined Hutzel's staff in 1986. He earned a bachelor's degree in nursing from Michigan State University, a bachelor of science degree from Wayne State University and a master's degree in administration from Central Michigan University.

Larry D. Rankens, formerly of Grosse Pointe Woods, has joined the institutional trust and investment management group of Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit as first vice president. Rankens is the officer-in-charge of the business development division. He is responsible for marketing the bank's trust services to companies throughout the Midwest. Prior to joining Manufacturers, Rankens was vice president in charge of Illinois Trust Business Development for N.B.D. Bank, N.A. in Illinois.

Margit A. Jackson of Grosse Pointe Shores was named an alternate delegate of the state's delegation to the 1991 White House Conference on Library and Information Services in July 1991. Jackson is the state treasurer for the League of Women Voters. The selections were made by senate majority leader John M. Engler and house speaker Lewis N. Dodak.

William E. Lauppe of Detroit Automotive Parts in Grosse Pointe was elected to the board of directors of the Michigan Automotive Parts Association by the association general membership. As a member of the board for the 1990-91 term, Lauppe will provide leadership and direction for the association's 656 members. Lauppe is a resident of Grosse Pointe.

Paul Saylor of Grosse Pointe has been named a producer at Campbell-Mithun-Esty Advertising. In this new position, Saylor is responsible for the production of all television commercials from inception to completion for the 28 Jeep and Eagle dealer associations nationwide. Most recently, Saylor was a junior producer in the broadcast production department. Prior to joining the firm in 1987, he worked for a year at Tracy Locke/BBDO as an assistant account executive on the Pepsi business and for four years at BBDO as a traffic coordinator on the Dodge account.

Thelen

Bruce C. Thelen has been elected to a one-year term as chairman of the International Law section of the State Bar of Michigan. The International Law section was formed in 1988 in response to the rapid growth of international legal practice in Michigan. The section sponsors seminars, luncheon programs and other activities of interest to the international legal and business communities. Thelen is a Grosse Pointe resident.

New Saturn shows some signs of a promising future

All right, I was wrong. About a year after the Saturn project was announced by General Motors, I confidently predicted that there would never be a car named Saturn built by General Motors in the United States. It was just a publicity stunt (GM did get years of publicity from the project) designed to get the federal government off the corporation's back (something did it).

But now Saturn is ready to move into the market, the latest in a long line of import-fighters, but by far the most serious effort ever made by an American auto company to take sales back from Japan. If it comes even close to GM's plans for it, the Saturn will assure Roger R. Smith's place in automotive history as a visionary and a great leader, filmmaker Michael Moore notwithstanding.

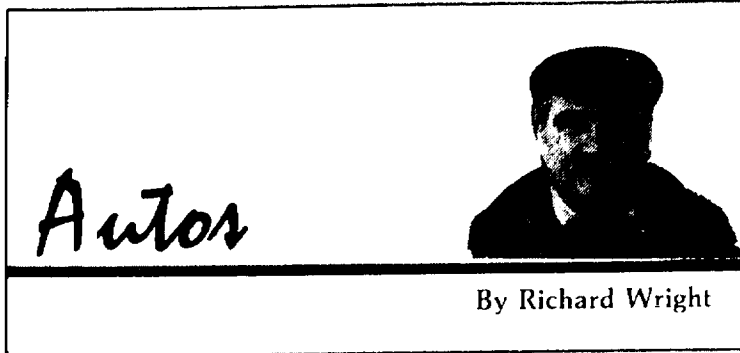

If it doesn't fare well against the Japanese, well, neither did the Corvair, the Vega, the Chevette, the X bodies. But none of the previous import fighters had eight years of planning and development, a separate corporation and a new name removed from the rest of GM, a new factory in Tennessee using revolutionary methods and technologies to build them, a wide variety of innovations on the car itself and a marketing approach that stressed quality, workmanship and the human element of Saturn.

Even Saddam Hussein lent a hand with his invasion of Kuwait by provoking fears of higher fuel prices just as Saturn unveils its small Japanese-type cars, which are rated by EPA at 23 through 27 miles per gallon city and 32 through 37 highway.

But perhaps the most important market wedge the Saturn has is its price structure, which starts at $7,995. With a basic package of equipment, the price will approach $10,000, but dealers are confident they can sell a lot of Saturns at that price. About 30 dealerships on the West Coast and Southeast will begin later this month selling the first new car line from GM since the Oakland was replaced by the Pontiac in 1926.

And there are other aspects of

By Richard Wright

Saturn's market plan which is interesting. Saturn dealers are encouraged to operate in a more businesslike and less "horse-trading" manner than the retail auto business is used to. If all goes well, there will be no dickering over price, no discounts, no rebates, no haggling over used-car trade-in allowance — in short, the Saturn will be sold much the way a Honda or Mazda is.

Salespeople will be authorized to close deals without approval of managers. The usual method is for the salesperson to make a deal with the customer, then get it approved by a manager. Since this system lends itself nicely to use of the lowball, in which the manager kicks up the price one way or another, it arouses suspicion in the buyer; and rightly so.

If all goes according to plan, the Saturn will be sold like other merchandise, with a minimum of haggling and costly surprises.

This should make buying a new car a lot less scary than it is now for many people.

The big question is, of course, will the Saturn actually cut into sales of Japanese cars? Many buyers are deeply skeptical about the American automakers' ability or intention of achieving the kind of quality that the Japanese have. It will take time and it will take a different kind of car than usually comes out of Detroit.

The Saturn may well be that different kind of car. Its modern styling seems a combination of GM and Japanese (the sports coupe looks a lot like a Geo Storm, which gets generally high marks for its appearance) and there has been an effort to make it feel and drive like a Japanese car.

Detroit has had little success in rolling back the tide of imports over the years. Henry Ford II once said Ford Motor Co. was going to push the imports "back to the sea," but Ford's efforts have met with no more success than GM's or Chrysler's.

Some of the import fighters have had great sales success, including Chevrolet's Chevette and Citation and Ford's Pinto and Escort, but they did not stem the tide of imports and had no discernible effect on Japanese sales growth. They seemed to have more appeal to buyers of American cars.

Saturn wants to change that.

Business Notes

Market Opinion Research and Product & Consumer Evaluations Inc. have joined to form MOR•PACE Inc., as the holding company of each operation. Grosse Pointe resident Frederick P. Currier, former chairman of MOR, will become chairman of the new company. PACE and MOR will continue to operate independently.

Female management seminar scheduled

Madonna College in Livonia will offer a seminar, "Supervision and Management for the Woman Manager," Saturday, Oct. 27 from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. The cost is $50.

Major topics to be discussed include: The working woman's role in the '90s and beyond; the great balancing act: career, education, social life and family. Two successful women executives will be the presenters.

For more information, call the Continuing Education Department at 591-5188. Madonna College is located at I-96 and Levan Road, Livonia.

Women to meet

The Business Management Institute of Marygrove College will sponsor a one-day workshop for "The Entrepreneurial Woman" on Saturday, Nov. 3, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Madame Cadillac Hall located on the College campus at 8425 West McNichols at Wyoming in northwest Detroit.

The workshop, designed for women interested in "Starting Their Own Business," will focus on topics such as Selecting a Business Opportunity; Developing a Business Plan; Structuring Your Company; Taxes, Licenses and Permits; Financing Your Business; Marketing Your Business and The Power of Networking.

Women business owners featured are: Barbara Poulos, president/CEO of Business Basics Seminars and of Franchise Marketing, Inc., and Joy A. Schmidt, MBA, CFP, founder and president of Joy Schmidt and Associated, Inc.

Other program presenters include Dorothy Benedict, small business consultant with NILAC Economic Development Center, and Heidi M. Bulich, J.D., and Cynthia A. Moore, J.D., who are associates in the Detroit office of Dickinson, Wright, Moon, Van Dusen and Freeman.

The keynote luncheon speaker, Jeanne G. Paluzzi, APR, will speak on "The Tricks, The Traps and The Treasures of Being on Your Own." Paluzzi, owner of JGP Marketing Group International, Inc., develops strategic plans to launch new and expanding companies.

Today in Michigan, four out of five new businesses are started by women.

The $98 workshop fee includes lunch and materials. To register or for more information, call Marygrove College, Office of Continuing Education, at 862-8000, ext. 240.

A new Vein Clinics of America opened recently in St. Clair Shores at 22811 Greater Mack, phone 778-2410. The clinic specializes in treatment of varicose veins by injection-compression sclerotherapy. The new procedure is performed on an outpatient basis at one-fourth the cost of surgery, and cure rate in most cases is close to 97 percent, according to a release issued by the company.

Gallerie 454, 15105 Kercheval in Grosse Pointe Park, is hosting an exhibition of contemporary glass sculpture to celebrate the grand opening of the gallery's new sculpture gallery. The exhibit will run from Oct. 20 through Nov. 14.

Borg to address secretaries

The Detroit chapter of Professional Secretaries International (PSI) will hold its monthly meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 24 at the Portside Inn, 3455 Biddle Avenue in Wyandotte. Cocktails will be available from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m., and dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m.

Tom Borg, president of Tom Borg & Associates, will speak on "Re-Inventing Customer Service." Borg is a professional consultant and speaker who has conducted training programs, seminars and workshops since 1982 and has been a featured guest on a number of television and radio talk shows.

Cost for the meeting is $17. For more information, contact Ann Dickinson at 549-8558.

Suhrheinrich honored

Judge Richard F. Suhrheinrich was honored by his former law firm on the occasion of his appointment to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit. The firm, Kitch, Saurbier, Drutchas, Wagner & Kenney, was founded in 1969 by Suhrheinrich and Richard A. Kitch. From four lawyers and two secretaries, the firm has grown to one of the largest full-service law firms in Michigan with more than 100 lawyers.

Looking over the portrait of Suhrheinrich that was presented to him are, from left, Jeremiah J. Kenney of the law firm, U.S. Court of Appeals Judge Cornelia Kennedy, Suhrheinrich, and Richard A. Kitch.

Forty years ago this month, about 25 women — newcomers to the Pointes — responded to an invitation issued by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. They met in the Veteran's Room at the War Memorial for a social afternoon designed to promote friendship and to acquaint them with the War Memorial's facilities.

The afternoon's program featured a violin recital by a talented 15-year-old from Denby High School and a demonstration of flower arranging techniques.

Mrs. Frederick C. Ford and Mrs. Charles B. Lord were responsible for the gathering. Mrs. Frank P. Lister served as hostess for the autumn afternoon.

The women were so enthusiastic, they decided to get together again — in fact, to meet once a month.

The two dozen women became the founders of the Neighbors Club, a woman's organization which has evolved into what is known today as the Grosse Pointe Woman's Club.

Over its 40-year history, the group has grown to 240 members.

"It started as a neighborhood group. We just sat around and talked. We were seeking friendship," said Marjorie Stoner, one of the charter members. Stoner moved to Grosse Pointe in 1948.

"The purpose was to welcome women new to the area and to introduce them to the War Memorial," said Mary Grace Adams, also a charter member. Adams moved to the Pointes in 1950.

"We were called the Neighbors Club of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center at first," she said.

"We had outstanding leadership. We worked as volunteers for blood-mobile drives. We worked for the Red Cross and we sewed cancer pads. We performed and acted in plays. Some of the women played bridge."

Other programs included book reviews, fashion shows and lectures about gardening.

"We were a very informal group. Very congenial. Not sophisticated. We had lots of fun and got to know each other beautifully," Adams said.

The group met on the first Monday of the month. Dues were 50 cents a meeting.

By January 1951, the club membership had doubled and the group had elected officers and adopted by-laws.

By 1952, membership had reached 95.

"We weren't looking to become involved in social issues of the day," Adams said. "The group was strictly for friendship and enrichment. In fact, the articles of incorporation specifically state that the club is not to become involved in political campaigns, pending legislation or propaganda activities."

In 1953, the group joined the Detroit Federation of Women's Clubs and changed its name to the Grosse Pointe Woman's Club.

According to Adams and Stoner, one of the group's most popular activities was a parliamentary law class taught by Mrs. John Griffin. Other activities included a bridge group, a discussion group and a service group which worked for Children's Hospital. Members planned tours of the library, held a Men's Night, and presented programs involving art, travel, literature and current events.

In 1954, membership had reached 212 and the group separated from the War Memorial to become an independent organization. A scholarship committee was formed. Scholarships were awarded each spring to local students.

In the early 50s, the club had a symphony committee which provided refreshments for members of the Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra during rehearsal breaks and at the receptions after the symphony's first few concerts.

The orchestra later organized an auxiliary to take over these activities.

By 1967, there were 239 members in the Grosse Pointe Woman's Club.

Janet McConkey, newly-elected president, has been a member for 10 years. She said that monthly meetings usually draw between 125 and 130 members to the War Memorial for tea, coffee, sandwiches and a program.

"We have two fundraisers each year. In November, we have a more elaborate lunch and perhaps a fashion show. This year the program will be 'Gender issues in the courts.' In May, we have a fashion show and luncheon, usually at the Yacht Club. We use the funds to award scholarships, two each year, to female students at the two public high schools."

She said the Woman's Club is looking for new members. Currently, most of the members are 40 or over. Few members are in their 30s or younger because so many are working. Like most women's organizations, McConkey said, the Woman's Club has adapted to the trend of women returning to full-time employment.

"We used to meet for two or three hours. Now we plan something that allows women to take one or 1 1/2 hours to hear a speaker, then get back to work."

Over the years, the Grosse Pointe Woman's Club has sponsored a variety of programs and fundraising projects ranging from a panel on juvenile delinquency, lectures on Grosse Pointe's mansions, canasta parties, bake sales, fashion shows and bridge luncheons. They've donated money for needy Grosse Pointe families at Christmas, funded Halloween parties for teenagers and donated money to decorate the War Memorial's Christmas tree. They've worked on dozens of service projects, including knitting mittens and giving holiday parties for needy children, conducting blood drives, collecting eyeglasses for the needy and volunteering at a variety of institutions such as hospitals and the Foundation for Exceptional Children.

"The club offers an opportunity to share fellowship, community and camaraderie with other women in the Pointes and to provide and share in the concerns of the community," Adams said.

"It's a conscientious, enlightened group," McConkey said.

"I always have fun. I wouldn't miss a meeting," Stoner said.

Bridge

HAVE A PLEASANT TRY AT PERFECTION
BRIDGE BY WOODY BOYD ♠♥♦♣

I have never had the pleasure of playing with Dorothy Hayden Truscott, but it is a whim I dearly cling to. Dorothy's luster (26th ranked world grand master) is so universal that few would quibble that she has been the leading world class woman player for over twenty-five years. Coupled with this eminence is her magnificent wit, arithmetical reckoning and playing probity. She is ever so popular because of her charm, magnificent partnership consideration and gifted poise. All of these characteristics bloom in her many successful manuscripts on bidding/play and adventuresome table experiences.

Two of her many famous hands came from play with her favorite partner, the immortal B.J. Becker. Every bridge columnist has written about the one she and B.J. played in the 1963 International Team Trials in which they reached six clubs thru a bidding mix-up with three small hearts in each hand. The defense failed to lead the suit and Becker found a prize winning line of play to win twelve tricks. It was an epic adventure in bridge history. The other, today's hand, is one of those difficulties that becomes simple when you see it, but an agonizing quest for twelve tricks that pains you in your search for the proper play. There are many others from her gallery of great exhibits, but this one particularly will test your best intellectual stress. Dorothy's prologue is wonderful, so let her pen set the stage.

"It seems a mid-western motorist was lost on one of the country roads of southern Minnesota, so he stopped and asked a farmer for directions. After some thought and scratching his head for a while, the farmer came up with this marvelous but puzzling reply, 'Well you can't get there from here.' And that is how today's hand gained it's name.

East looking at 19 H.C.P. sat in shaken disbelief at B.J. and Dorothy's action when the bidding returned to him. His illustrious opponents must be crazy he thought. Conceivably a seven save in the minors might be right, but in the presence of experts his timid nature convinced him to lay in wait as such an imprudent call as theirs would naturally have to crash.

Dummy's diamond ace won the obvious singleton lead. B.J. immediately realized there was a communication problem. Setting up dummy's spade suit for diamond discards was his only hope, but how could he get there from here as often as he had to with the cards as they are? He could win the spade ace, ruff a spade and re-enter dummy with the trump king to ruff a third spade, but then what? The dummy was empty of entries so he couldn't get to the good spades from his side or could he? ... By now my readers can obviously see how B.J. did it.

At trick four, after ruffing the spade to his hand, he let West win his trump five with her six! West is now end played at this early stage. A spade play by West would be ruffed by declarer, setting the suit and the trump king would still be the much needed entry to run spades. If West instead led a club dummy ruffs and declarer pitches a diamond. Now the third spade ruff and the trump king is the extra entry to dummy's set up spade suit.

As the farmer said, "You can't get there from here," but B.J. did!

CREATIVE WORLD® ST-ART TIPS

RECEDING PLANES

To create a feeling of depth in a painting or drawing, it is necessary to make some objects recede into space while others advance. The method of overlapping objects is one way to accomplish this. Remember that distant objects look smaller and less detailed than those which are closer to you.

CLEANING OLD PAINT FROM A PALETTE

To remove dried paint from an oil painting palette, use a palette knife to scrape off the major part of the paint. Then use linseed oil, some salt and a cork to rub off the remainder.

Furnished Model by Kennedy & Co. NOW OPEN

We Understand.

The Blake Company has been members of the Grosse Pointe community for three generations. We know why people live here, and why they go to great lengths to remain here. Over the years their homes have become too large and difficult to maintain and until now, the Grosse Pointe area has offered very few alternatives to people who want to change their homes, not their lifestyle. We Understand.

The Blake Company has created the alternative, Harbor Place: a luxurious condominium community located on the shore of Lake St. Clair, near everything you hold dear.

Designed with traditional New England architecture with an emphasis placed on privacy, security and scenic beauty. Choose between townhouses or terrace homes each in two- and three-bedroom configurations, lavished with an endless list of amenities, including a 2 car garage, exceptional landscaping and boat slips. The Pastor's Corner Golden anniversary

By Rev. Joseph P. Fabry
Christ the King Lutheran Church

A number of churches in our Grosse Pointe community are celebrating anniversaries this year and we extend heartfelt congratulations to all of them. Christ the King Lutheran Church on Mack and Lochmoor is one of the celebrating congregations. We are commemorating the golden anniversary of our founding in pre-war 1940 with year-long activities focusing on the theme, "Rejoicing in God's Love."

Anniversary events for Christian congregations are first and foremost opportunities for people to praise God for His bounteous mercy to us in our Lord Jesus Christ. God is glorified as we remind ourselves again and again that we are His people and He has delivered us from the dominion of sin and death through the atoning work of His beloved Son. The church's ongoing task is to keep sharing that word of deliverance with people everywhere until the Lord comes again in glory.

Do you realize that all our anniversary celebrations can be traced back thousands of years to the time of God's people in the Old Testament. Ever since He delivered Israel from slavery in Egypt, led them through the wilderness and brought them safely to Canaan, the Lord kept reminding the Israelites of His great acts of protection and provision. He commanded them to observe Passover annually in family-style so fathers could tell their children about the Exodus from generation to generation. And He commanded them to observe the Sabbath on the seventh day as a perpetual reminder of His mercies. Further, God commanded that every seventh year be hallowed as a "sabbath year," with special observances for family and synagogue. And after seven sabbath years, 7 x 7 equals 49, the 50th year was to be observed as the "year of jubilee" — slaves were to be set free, debts canceled, and land allowed to lie fallow. You can read more about this Jewish festival in Leviticus 25.

Reflecting upon God's mercies in this year of jubilee, we thank Him for the faithful pastors and teachers who have communicated God's Word to us week after week the past five decades. We also thank Him for the devout church members who have received that Word in honest and faithful hearts and whose lives have been changed and enriched by it.

Permit me to cite a few historical items. Christ the King congregation originated in 1940 as a preaching station of The Lutheran Church — Missouri Synod and continues as a member of that church body to this day. Sunday services and Sunday school were begun in a modest concrete block building on Mack and Lancaster. In 1953 the congregation built a new church just a stone's throw from its first building. The present church was dedicated in 1964 and includes a 45-foot bell tower with three swinging bells installed on the church's 35th anniversary. Beginning with a handful of charter members, the congregation today numbers 640 baptized souls. In its five decades, the congregation has been served by four pastors; Rev. Wilbert C. Burmeister, 1940-1945; Rev. Walter J. Geffert, 1945-1979; Rev. Joseph P. Fabry, 1972 to the present; and Rev. Randy S. Boelter, 1985 to the present.

There is a full complement of weekly parish activities offering Bible classes and service opportunities for children, youth and adults. The congregation opened a preschool in 1986 with an enrollment of four children which doubled by

James Hammann

Organ concert at Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian

James Hammann will perform an organ concert at the opening of the fifth season of the Jefferson Avenue Music Series on Sunday, Oct. 21, beginning at 4 p.m., at the church, 8625 East Jefferson at the corner of Burns.

The program will include music by Hindemith, Bach, Faulkes and the Fifth Organ Symphony by Charles Marie Widor.

The program is open to the public. Guarded parking is available behind the church.

Rummage sale

Historic Iroquois Avenue Christ Lutheran Church will hold a rummage sale on Saturday, Oct. 20, from 9:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. Items will include books, furniture, clothing, toys and household goods.

Memorial Church's organ to debut at recital

The new three-manual 48-stop Klais tracker organ in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church will make its public debut at 3:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 21, in a recital by William De Turk, director of music and carillonneur.

The recital will include works by J. S. Bach, Haydn, Peeters, Widor and Vierne. It will feature a new work by Detroit organist and composer Thomas Kuras. The Kuras piece was specially commissioned for the debut of the hand-built 3,575-pipe instrument.

G.P. United Church celebrates 50 years

Grosse Pointe United Church, on the corner of Lothrop and Chalfonte in Grosse Pointe Farms, is celebrating its 50th year.

Members have designated Sunday, Nov. 4, as Homecoming Sunday. Members will invite friends and neighbors to visit the church, enjoy cider and donuts, and find out what Grosse Pointe United Church is all about.

The celebration is open to the community.

Rick Hawley is chairman of the organizing committee for the event. For more information, call the church office at 884-3075.

Fall festival at St. Columba Episcopal

"Love Is In the Air" is the theme for the entertainment at St. Columba Episcopal Church's fall festival on Sunday, Oct. 14.

Three local singers, James Wilking, Cecelia Mac-Smith and Grace Ward, will provide a program of old and new love songs beginning at 3 p.m., with selections from stage, screen and

"Each piece on the program was chosen to display the range of color and other musical aspects of the new organ," De Turk said. "We think it is one of the finest instruments of any size in this area — perhaps in the entire country."

The German-built organ was completed and dedicated at a special service at the church late last year. The organ project, including multiple studies, visits to various organ builders, an extensive fund-raising campaign and the actual construction of the instrument, consumed much of the last decade, according to De Turk.

"We knew we wanted a new organ for the new millennium,"

Holiday bazaar

St. Joan of Arc Church, 21620 Mack, will hold its ninth annual bazaar on Sunday, Oct. 28, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Items will include lawn signs decorated for special occasions and holidays, homemade clothes for Barbie dolls, hand made jewelry, Christmas cards and decorations, hand made sweatshirts, food and more.

All proceeds will go to the Children's Athletic Club.

said Susan Reames, chairperson of the church's New Organ Committee and longtime supporter of the project. "The organ will play an important role in the musical life of the larger community. It belongs to everyone."

De Turk's recital will be the first of frequently scheduled performances. In addition to recitals and its role in the church's worship services, weddings and memorial services, the Klais organ may someday be the center of master classes for musicians and meetings of keyboard professionals, De Turk said.

"Herr (Hans Gerd) Klais is expected to be with us for this first recital," said De Turk. "He will be traveling here from Bonn, where Klais Orgelbau is located."

De Turk said the instrument is the result of the efforts of hundreds of people, ranging from craftsmen, committee volunteers, interested musicians and music lovers, and, of course, the many donors who made it financially possible.

"But Oct. 21 belongs to the organ," De Turk said. "This is its day."

Mass for sick

A Mass for the anointing of the sick will be held on Sunday, Oct. 21, at 2 p.m. at St. Clare of Montefalco Church, Grosse Pointe Park.

The Mass is an opportunity for those who are not able to attend regular Sunday Masses because of health reasons, to receive the sacrament. There will be a reception immediately afterward.

Soroptimists

Soroptimist International of Grosse Pointe will present Sister Angela Cerna-Blata in a special program on Wednesday, Oct. 24, beginning with a 7 p.m. dinner at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

Improving the lives of women and children in a central Andes highland region of Peru has been a two-year funding goal for Soroptimist International of the Americas.

Sister Angela is a native of Lima, Peru, and has been in the United States since 1976. Currently, she works in the Archdiocese of Detroit in Hispanic affairs and teaches at Sacred Heart Seminary.

The public is invited. The dinner cost is $9 and reservations should be made with Lee Meyer at 881-9007 no later than Oct. 22.

Call Sandy Beard at 884-7488 or 962-6875 for more information.

School of Government Inc.

Detroit City Council member Keith Butler will be the featured speaker at the second meeting of the 50th anniversary celebration of the School of Government Inc.

The meeting will be on Wednesday, Oct. 24, at the Detroit Golf Club, beginning at 11 a.m. Butler's topic will be "What Detroit Needs for a Change."

President Rosemary Elias will preside at the meeting and Jean Kirkman, second vice president and social chairman, will report on future events. Ida Mae Massnick, first vice president and program director, will report on future speakers and will introduce the chairman of the day, Catharine McMullen, who will present Butler.

Louisa St. Clair, NSDAR

Louisa St. Clair chapter, NSDAR, will meet Oct. 20 at 10:30 a.m., at Guest Quarters Suite Hotel, Troy. The hostess is Helen Finsterwald.

State Conference reports will be given by Regent Barbara Clark, Elizabeth Ryckman, Jackie Omlor, Joyce Edson, Andrea Weyhing and Dorothy Brown. Jackie Omlor was installed as state treasurer on the 1991-94 state board by president general Marie H. Yochim.

Louise Reading will introduce Claire Harter of Piety Hill chapter, who will speak on the NSDAR Centennial Program, "A Century of Science."

Eva Klein and Charlotte Varzi attended a luncheon at the College of Architecture and Urban Planning of The University of Michigan and met the Eloise O. Goddard scholarship recipient, Sarah Wagner.

For luncheon reservations, call Mary Nahhat, Harriette Wheeler or Louise Reading.

Alpha Phi Alumnae

Alpha Phi Alumnae will hold a Founder's Day Brunch at the Sterling Inn Banquet and Conference Center, 15 Mile and Van Dyke, on Sunday, Oct. 21, at 12:30 p.m.

A breakfast buffet will be served from 1 to 3 p.m. for $12 a person.

Peggy Woodhouse, president of the Detroit East Suburban Alumnae chapter of Alpha Phi, and Claudia Jackson, president of Detroit North Alumnae chapter, invite all Alpha Phis in the area to attend. For reservations, call Susie Fraser at 774-0393 or 774-1803 by Oct. 18.

General Josiah Harmar, NSDAR

The General Josiah Harmar chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution will celebrate its 52nd year at the Detroit Boat Club on Saturday, Oct. 20, at 12:30 p.m. The chapter was named for General Josiah Harmar who, following the Treaty of Peace in September 1783, was chosen by Congress to carry the ratification of the treaty to Paris and deliver it to Benjamin Franklin.

Regent Charlotte Buchanan has invited the regents of several neighboring chapters to be guests. Don Miller will speak to the group on "Highlights of Michigan's Nature Association."

Vision screening

The local alumnae of Delta Gamma sorority have organized a preschool vision screening program for nursery schools in the area. The sorority's national philanthropy is sight conservation and aid to the blind.

Free vision screenings were given last week to 3- and 4-year-olds at Grosse Pointe Pre-Kindergarten Central, located in Grosse Pointe United Church.

Last year, according to Ann Baxter, vision screening chairman, Grosse Pointe Delta Gammas screened 356 youngsters from eight nursery schools and referred about a half dozen children to physicians for further evaluation. Of these, three now wear glasses and two underwent therapy.

Middle East expert to address Women's Economic Club

Judith Kipper, a guest scholar in the foreign studies program of the Brookings Institution, will be the luncheon speaker at the Women's Economic Club on Wednesday, Oct. 24. Her presentation, "Shifting Sand: The Middle East in Turmoil," will examine Iraq's aggression and the political and military heat that has been applied by the rest of the world.

She will examine the roots of the Middle East crisis and the

Kipper is a consultant to the Rand Corporation, ABC News, and she established and directs the Council on Foreign Relations Middle East Forum.

Kipper is currently co-editing a book, "New Directions in Foreign Relations: The United States in a Changing Middle East." She frequently analyzes regional events for television programs including "Today," "Meet the Press," "Nightline," "World News Tonight," "Morning News," and others. She was on the staff of Senator Robert F. Kennedy and served as a news assistant to Walter Cronkite at CBS News.

The luncheon will be held at noon in the Southfield Sheraton Hotel, in the Superior room. Tickets are $17 for members and $22 for guests. For reservations, call the WEC office at 963-5088.

Senior Men's Club

The Senior Men's Club of Grosse Pointe will meet on Tuesday, Oct. 23 at 11 a.m., at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore.

The speaker will be Fred Currier, president, Market Opinion Research. His topic will be "Elections in 1990." The presenter will be Mark Beltaire.

Fox Creek Questers celebrate 25th anniversary

The Fox Creek chapter of The Questers celebrated its 25th anniversary on Oct. 7 at a brunch at the Country Club of Detroit. Fifty-two members and guests gathered to commemorate the formation of the chapter, one of seven Quester chapters in Grosse Pointe.

Among the special guests were Beverly Cyr, international president of The Questers, and her husband, Donald; Marianna Bair of Brighton, president of the Michigan state organization of The Questers; and Dorothy Tepatti, area coordinator for the East area of Michigan. Tepatti is a liaison between the state organization and the seven Grosse Pointe chapters.

"We, the People - Reflect" was the subject of a talk by Roger Kirk.

Co-chairmen for the event were Helen Priest and Rita Brennan. Both are charter members, the only two of the original 14 members remaining in the Fox Creek chapter.

The Questers is an international organization, incorporated in Pennsylvania in 1944, with almost 900 chapters throughout the United States and in two provinces in Canada. The International Headquarters Building is located in a historic Philadelphia building.

In May, the annual international convention was held in Philadelphia. It offered members an opportunity to visit the headquarters building which they support. The organization also sponsors many preservation and restoration projects and a graduate scholarship program at Columbia University for an architectural preservation student.

Local Quester chapters meet monthly in the homes of members. Individual members share lectures on antique artifacts and significant preservation sites. Occasional field trips are planned to visit museums, private collections of antiques and historical landmarks.

He hasn't done it yet, but a betting person would lay odds that, with his energy and attitude, George Burns will make it to 100 or more.

What's the secret that makes the 94-year-old Burns so amazingly vital? In his book, "How to Live To Be 100 — Or More," Burns tells all, lays it on the line and runs it up the flagpole.

The result is some excellent advice on remaining healthy and active as one grows older — advice laced with humor.

In case you are one of those who ask why anyone would want to live to 100, Burns disposes of that question right off.

"I know some people who are not the least interested in reaching that age," he says, "but they are all under 10.

"I am a member of a club where I run into 50 and 60 people a day. I've yet to meet anybody who said, 'George, I'd like to die today.' Dying is not popular. It has never caught on.

"It's bad for the complexion. It also upsets your daily routine and leaves you with too much time on your hands."

With the assumption that many people are interested in staying around to celebrate a century of living, Burns moves into his how-to lesson.

In a chapter Exercise Can Do Wonders: Look At Me But Not Too Closely, he describes his daily exercise routine, which is a combination of stretching exercises and calisthenics.

To make sure that you can follow his instructions, there are pictures of Burns going through his routine. You might say it's easy for him because of the company he keeps. Many of the photographs show him doing his exercises with shapely young beauties.

He also takes a daily 15-minute walk. He has been exercising both his body and his humor all his life. He has no patience for those who will not exercise because it is boring or time-consuming.

"You make time, that's all,"

Health seminars

The newly-formed Grosse Pointe East Shore division of the American Heart Association of Michigan and the Department of Community Education of the Grosse Pointe public schools are co-sponsoring a seminar for seniors series consisting of four health information sessions.

The purpose of the sessions, presented by Madelyn Kleitch, R.N., is to provide insights into how persons can take better care of themselves.

The sessions are from 1:30 to 3 p.m. on Friday afternoons during October. The next one is Oct. 19: "Nutrition and Diet," on Oct. 26: "Medications."

All sessions are at Barnes School, 20090 Morningside, Grosse Pointe Woods. They're free and open to all seniors 60 and over.

Call 343-2178 for additional information.

he says. "If boring helps, you should be bored for half an hour a day. What's wrong with that?"

He admits that he hasn't got a body like Burt Reynolds but he contends, "He hasn't got a body that looks like mine."

Next to exercise, Burns believes that avoidance of stress is important in prolonging life.

"If you ask me what is the single most important key to longevity, I would have to say it is avoiding worry, stress and tension. And if you didn't ask me, I would say it anyway."

He admits there are many things to worry about these days and that if you try to ignore them, television will remind you. From 4 p.m. when the news starts, until 7:30 p.m., he says, you see explosions, taxes, fire, AARP No. 2151

The Grosse Pointe chapter No. 2151 of the American Association of Retired Persons will hold its next meeting at 1 p.m. Monday, Oct. 22 at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, 16 Lakeshore.

The speaker will be Dale Pelton, C.E.O. of St. John - Bon Secours Nursing Home. The subject will be "Senior Housing in the Grosse Pointe Area."

Members and guests may have their blood pressure taken before the meeting starts. Refreshments will be served after the meeting. Retired persons who live in the area are invited to attend.

The trip to Romeo will be Oct. 31. The bus leaves the parking area at 9 a.m. and will return at approximately 5 p.m. murders and crashes. In case you miss anything, it's repeated again at 11 p.m.

"I can't change the world," he admits, "but I can change the channels." He tried it but that didn't work either. He got Bela Lugosi biting three beautiful girls on the neck. "It scared the hell out of me," he said, "so I switched back to the news."

Burns finally gets serious and lectures on the toll tension takes in our lives. Worry, stress and tension are not only unpleasant, they can shorten your life, he says. When your body is under stress, it manufactures chemicals that poison your system, lower your resistance and raise your blood pressure. We all know that high blood pressure is the major cause of strokes and heart attacks.

On the subject of worry, Burns advises: If you can't do anything about it, there's no point in worrying. And if you can do something about it, then there's nothing to worry about. "I feel that way when the plane I'm on is bouncing around. It's not my problem. The pilot gets lots of money to fly that plane. Let him worry about it. I never fly in those small private planes, but that's for a different reason. If I'm going down, I want to have an audience with me."

The bottom line with Burns: worry is counterproductive.

Sex is last on the list because Burns really doesn't have much to say on the subject except that moderation is the key. Whatever that means. With his sense of humor, it could mean anything.

George Burns will appear at the Fox Theatre on Friday, Oct. 19, at 6 p.m. Tickets are $35, on sale at the Fox Theatre and Joe Louis Arena box offices and all Ticketmaster outlets.

Senior Men's Club travelogue

The Grosse Pointe Senior Men's Club will present "Let's Go to Hawaii," a movie by one of its members, Pierre Palmantier, on Friday, Oct. 19, at 8 p.m. The film will be narrated by Elfrida Palmantier from the stage of Parcels Middle School.

The movie includes tropical scenery, exotic flowers and historical sites on the islands of Maui, Kauai, Oahu and the big island of Hawaii. On Maui, once the favorite resort of Hawaiian kings, is the restored village of Lahaina, the Williamsburg of Hawaii, where as many as 500 whaling ships once anchored in the harbor. Viewers will also take a scenic 50-mile drive to Hana on a winding, shoreline road which has more than 900 curves.

Kauai, the Garden Isle, was the scene of many famous motion pictures. Spectacular views are shown at the Waimea Canyon, often referred to as the Grand Canyon of the Pacific.

On the island of Hawaii, the Orchid Island, there is Honanau, former city of refuge of ancient Hawaiians, with its temples and tall tikis, the Mokauikau Church built by the first Christians, and the Hulihee Palace, summer palace of Hawaiian kings.

Oahu, which means the Gathering Place, was once the common meeting ground of ancient kings. There is film of the sunken battleship Arizona, visible beneath the waters of Pearl Harbor, with 1,102 men still entombed, and the National Cemetery of the Pacific with graves of 27,000 killed in World War II.

The Japanese Byodo-In Temple, a copy of one in Kyoto, is shown, and there are scenes of Waikiki's famous beaches, luxurious hotels and fine restaurants. Santa Claus is shown arriving in Waikiki by outrigger canoe on Christmas Eve. Interesting animals can be photographed in the 42-acre Honolulu Zoo. There are views of Waimea Falls Park on Oahu's north shore and the Honolulu Academy of Art.

Travelogues are open to the public. The charge is $1 and includes refreshments served after the program.

the end of the school year. This community outreach has seen a marvelous growth and now has an enrollment of 63 children and a waiting list. Donna Vanick, a graduate of Concordia University, is teacher-director and Anne Moore and Nancy Burns are teacher aides.

What does a church do for a "second act" after celebrating its golden anniversary?

Automakers pledge themselves to build better cars, retail stores promise the public improved service, quality merchandise and lower prices, telephone companies promise faster connections and courteous service. But what can you expect from a church?

Our pledge to the community is that we want to remain faithful to the primary work Christ has called His church to do in every age through the preaching of the Gospel and thereby be a leaven in the daily lives of people around us.

Weddings

Dr. and Mrs. Edward John Vermet

Malicki-Vermet

Christine Marie Malicki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell A. Malicki of Grosse Pointe Woods, married Dr. Edward John Vermet, son of Mrs. Arnolda E. Vermet of Grosse Pointe Park and the late Willem K. Vermet, on Aug. 19, 1989, at Our Lady Star of the Sea church.

The Rev. John F. Child of Our Lady Star of the Sea church and the Rev. Stanton R. Wilson of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church officiated at the 5:30 p.m. ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

The bride wore a white satin full-length gown accented with pearl beading and sequined Alencon lace appliques. The gown featured a sweetheart neckline, leg-o-mutton sleeves, a beaded peplum and a cathedral-length train. Her cathedral-length veil was attached to a crown of sequined Alencon lace, pearl beading, Austrian crystals and pearl sprigs and she carried a cascade of orchids, stephanotis, white roses, babies'-breath, pearl and sequined sprigs and ivy.

Bridesmaids were Lori Vermet of Mission Viejo, Calif.; Cathy Kirk of Shelby Township; Laura Ridella of Detroit; Diane Kolasa of Sherman Oaks, Calif.; and Michele Prentice of Southfield.

Michele DePue of Roseville was a junior bridesmaid.

Lia Lewandowski of Clinton Township was the flowergirl.

Attendants wore fuchsia taffeta full-length gowns styled with square necklines, fitted bodices, puffed sleeves and straight skirts. They carried free-form bouquets of lilies, pink carnations, purple statice, babies'-breath, pearl sprigs and greens.

The flowergirl wore a white lace three-tiered full-length gown with lace sleeves, bodice and train and carried a basket of pink carnations, purple statice and babies'-breath.

Brad Launs of Orlando, Fla., was the best man.

Groomsmen were Nick Vermet of Mission Viejo, Calif.; Nick Trost and Tom Stevenson of Grosse Pointe; Andrew Richner of Washington, D.C.; and Robert Kolasa of Chicago.

Brian Adams of Cadillac was the junior groomsman.

Matthew Lewandowski of Clinton Township was the ring-bearer.

a long-sleeved ivory full-length beaded gown accented with pearl beads and iridescent sequins.

The mother of the groom wore a short-sleeved full-length peach chiffon gown with a lace jacket.

Readers at the ceremony were Jan Roney, Nick Vermet and Linda Malicki. Soloists were Stephan Wicik and Ann West. The wedding party traveled to and from the church in a horse-drawn carriage.

The bride earned a bachelor of arts degree in material and logistics management from Michigan State University and a master of arts degree in business administration from Wayne State University. She is a senior industrial engineer for General Motors Truck and Bus Group.

The groom earned a bachelor of science degree in chemistry from the University of Michigan and a doctor of dental surgery degree from the University of Michigan. He is a dentist.

The couple traveled to the Hawaiian Islands.

They will live in Grosse Pointe Park.

Making it through the holidays . . .

For those people who are experiencing grief over the loss of a loved one, the holidays can be a time of loneliness and despair. The Cottage Hospice program is holding a special support group meeting, "Making it Through the Holidays," on Tuesday, Oct. 23, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the conference center on the first floor of Cottage Hospital.

Sister Elaine Hartnett, Cottage Hospice bereavement coordinator, and Kathy Ritsema, Cottage Hospice volunteer coordinator, will explain coping techniques that individuals or families can use to survive the holiday season and begin to experience the healing process. The program also provides a forum for participants to express feelings and share the experiences of others.

For more information, call Cottage Hospice at 884-8600, ext. 2467.

Turning Wheel

Toastmasters

Each year, General Motors' Turning Wheel Toastmasters tries to locate and encourage as many of its former members as possible to meet and enjoy an evening of camaraderie with current members and guests. The meeting is called "Ole Timers Nite." The club encourages ole timers to participate in the program to find out if their speaking skills are still well honed.

This year, the guest speaker will be Donald Runkle, vice president of GM Advanced Engineering staff, who will speak on "The Racing Spirit." A model meeting will be conducted to show visitors what Toastmasters meetings are like and what the organization can do for them.

Everyone is invited. The cost, $22 a person, includes dinner and program. The meeting will be held at the GM Management Development Center at 30901 Van Dyke, Warren, on Thursday, Oct. 18, from 6 until about 9 p.m. For more information or to make reservations, call club president Anil Shrivastava, 947-0926.

Mature driving

The Department of Community Education of the Grosse Pointe public school system will present "55 Alive/Mature Driving," on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 25 and 26. Lucien Fay will conduct the two-day class, which is scheduled from noon to 4 p.m. at Barnes School.

More than 200,000 American drivers over the age of 55 have taken the course, which is designed to improve driving skills and prevent accidents. The course is recognized by all 50 states as an approved driver improvement course, and 22 states have mandated automobile insurance carriers to grant rate reductions to all who complete it. A fee of $7, payable to AARP, will be collected at the first meeting. Call the Department of Community Education, 343-2178.

Fall bazaar

The St. Joseph's Home for the Aged, 4800 Cadioux, Detroit, will hold its annual fall bazaar on Saturday, Oct. 20, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Sunday, Oct. 21, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. under sponsorship of the St. Joseph Carmelite Guild.

Shops in the bazaar will feature attic treasures, jewelry, bake sale and rummage items, a white elephant sale, clothing and furniture. Other attractions will include drawings, silent auctions and a cake walk, a spirit peddler and green plant shop. Refreshments will be available. All proceeds from the bazaar benefit the residents of the home.

Correction

The byline on Ellen Probert's Garden Shed column on Oct. 11 was inadvertently omitted. The article, "Pumpkins, apples, mums lend color, flavor to autumn," appeared on page 18A.

SOC will hold recognition ceremony

Services for Older Citizens (SOC), in conjunction with the 25th anniversary of the Older Citizens Act, will sponsor recognition of outstanding seniors in the area who have been nominated by their churches, service clubs or other organizations.

The recognition ceremony will take place at a wine and cheese reception from 2 to 5 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 21, at Christ Church, 61 Grosse Pointe Boulevard, Grosse Pointe Farms.

The six honorees who will receive plaques at the event are: Elizabeth Bromley, Howard Hush, Alfred Karrer, Edward Piper, Frank Sladen, Jr. and Louise Tewalt.

Piper has donated nearly 12 gallons of blood to the Red Cross. He has delivered Meals on Wheels and is a leader in his church.

Tewalt has aided the homeless, cancer patients and the poor. She is on the board of directors of nearly a dozen organizations, including the Children's Center of Wayne County, the United Way of Southeast Michigan and the Travelers' Aid Association.

Karrer and Bromley serve older adults whose illnesses make them dependent on others for meals, shopping, transportation and other needs. Karrer, a retired chef, often cooks his specialties, and Bromley transports the food.

Sladen has held leadership positions with the Rotary, the Friends of the Grosse Pointe Library and the Grosse Pointe Historical Society. He also works at his church as a Sunday school teacher and elder.

Hush has served as a leader for SOC, the Grosse Pointe Senior Men's Club, the Kiwanis and his church.

Tickets are $15. For information, call SOC at 882-9600.

J. Dennis Andrus, President
Douglas E. Andrus, Vice President

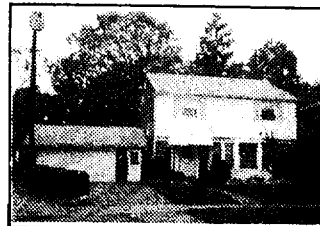

Since our founding we have worked hard to establish a dynamic organization of real estate professionals and services. The key to our success is our people, bright... sensitive... creative people who have brought their specialized knowledge and professional performance to a seldom-found level of expertise.

The relationship between The Prudential and our company is dedicated to the single-minded purpose of ensuring that your experience with us results in the "highest" degree of satisfaction, in all respects. Innovative strategies in marketing, national family relocation service and our own computerized mortgage origination system are continuously evaluated and refined to better serve you.

edmund t. AHEE jewelry co.

If getting engaged is on your mind, let me tell you something about diamonds. Diamonds entered the history of man about 400 B.C. in India. At first prized for its incredible hardness, the diamond became a symbol of strength, courage and invincibility: To be had only by kings.

It wasn't until the 15th century, when Archduke Maximilian of Austria gave the first diamond betrothal ring to Princess Mary of Burgundy, that women started wearing diamonds as a symbol of enduring love. And today? A diamond of a carat or more. To be had only by a very special woman.

edmund t. AHEE jewelry co. has the largest and newest selection of fine quality diamond engagement rings. Our expert jewelers will be happy to explain the difference of characteristics in your quality diamond. Ask about the four C's that determine a diamond's quality: cut, color, clarity and carat weight. Quality, because she deserves the best.

We will custom design your diamond engagement ring in our own art jewelry workshop on premises - Or you can choose from our fresh original in-store designs. We will give you expert quality because she deserves the best... 20139 Mack Ave. at Oxford. Open Monday through Saturday, 10:00 a.m. - 6:00 p.m. Friday evenings until 8:00 p.m. 886-4600.

There's more to lose this time

More police officers will be needed to direct traffic. More bleacher space will be filled. More hot dogs, popcorn and pop will line the shelves in the concession stand. Look out everyone, it's time for the North-South football game. This season, unlike the previous 21 games, North and South will have more to lose — or gain — by the outcome. South, which dominated the Eastern Michigan League by winning nine football titles, joined the Macomb Area Conference this season. North has been in the MAC for four years. A North win would wash away the disastrous 42-14 loss to South last year, and it would give South one more league loss. A South win would be the second straight over North and would knock North further down in the MAC White Division standings.

It's becoming stale to repeat this, but it's true: This game draws a lot of fans who have not attended a game all season.

Oh well, I guess it's like Easter Sunday when everyone shows up at church just once a year.

Neither North nor South has a shot at getting into the playoffs. But a win would salvage some part of the season. However, let's not judge the season on this one game.

I don't care who wins or loses, as long as it's a great game to watch. Many may argue this point, but last season's game was fun for only South fans. The 42 points was the most ever scored in a North-South game, but the Norsemen still hold the overall edge in games, 11-10.

Throw out the previous stats, this season's records, the game books. This game is a war of attrition. Neither team does anything fancy. Both like to control the ball, eat up the clock and stuff the football in the end zone. But, don't kid yourself, if there's an opportunity to use the 52-yard, dive-slant throw-the-ball-in-the-end-zone reverse, then you'll see it.

Most of these players respect one another, and a majority of them have played with or against one another in baseball, Red Barons or basketball, and the finest part of this game is the hugs, tears, hand shakes and high fives that take place among players during and after the game.

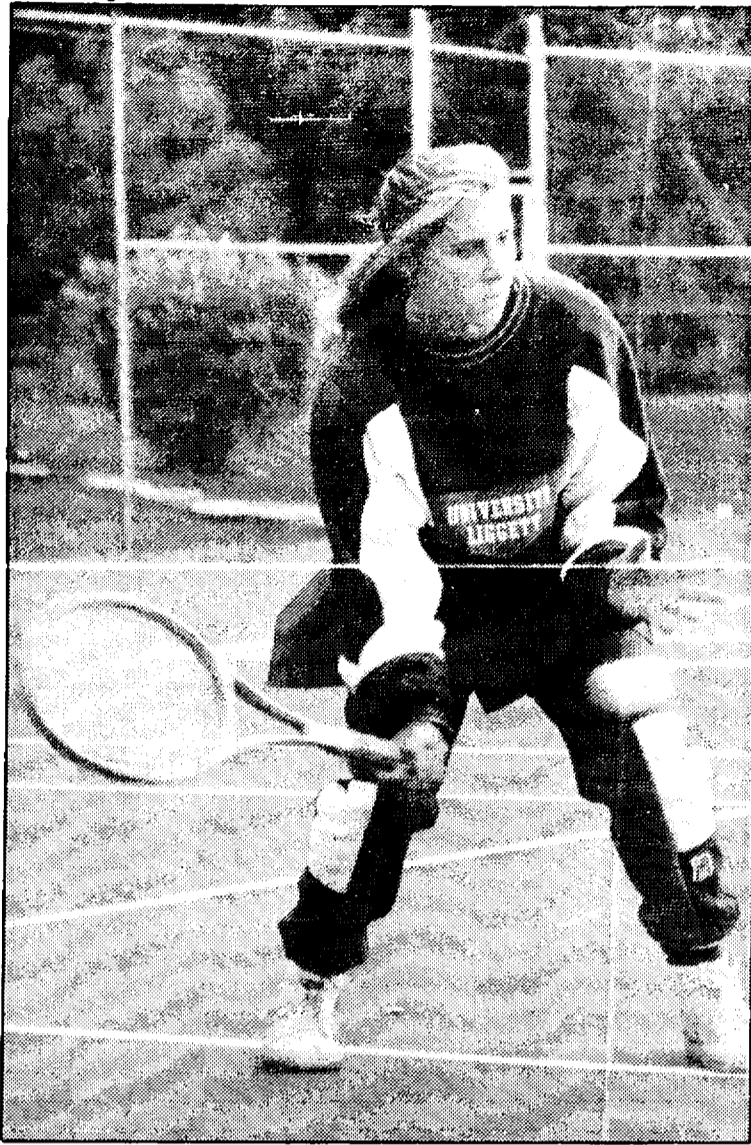

These guys will have to line up in front of an old friend and try to bury him and beat him, but not humiliate him.

Both teams are well coached and disciplined, so there shouldn't be any fighting, just some verbal barbs and shouting matches — the usual stuff that goes on in the field.

This year's game will be played at North, where South hasn't won since 1982 (14-10). But that, too, doesn't mean a thing. Normally the visiting team waits until five minutes before the game — just in time for the coin toss — to show up, thinking it kind of psyches out the home team. Sorry, but that play is getting stale, too.

Painted faces on fans, cars done up in school colors and little pranks throughout the week really make this one of high school's finest rivalries. This game brings out more fans than homecoming, and all those people should be in attendance at every game, not just when North and South meet.

North (4-3, 3-3) and South (4-3, 4-2) will lock horns at 1 p.m. Oct. 20 at North.

Knights capture Class A regional tennis crown

By Rob Fulton
Sports Editor

As expected, the University Liggett School girls' tennis team won the Class A Region 5 championship Oct. 13 at Farwell Field.

ULS, the defending Class C-D state champs, catapulted into Class A this season, where it holds the state's top ranking, and the championship came as no surprise.

The real story to emerge out of this tournament was the battle between North and South.

Going into the second day of the tournament it was no secret ULS had won, but things remained unsettled for second place. The top two teams qualify for the state championships.

North held an 18-16 lead over South, but the Lady Blue Devils evened the score with a win at No. 4 singles and No. 2 doubles.

Deadlocked at 18-18, North and South took to the court for a battle at No. 2 doubles. Win and you go to the state meet, lose and winter starts immediately.

After more than three hours, South's Kathy Nault and Molly Katchmark came away with a 4-6, 6-4, 7-5 win over North's Natalia Rodriguez and Rebecca Damm.

To get to the finals, Nault and Katchmark had defeated ULS' No. 2 doubles team of Lynn Sinkel and Lauren Gargaro, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4, in semifinal action.

"That was one of the biggest wins we've had in some time," said South coach Stephanie Prychitko. "I know that was a tremendous amount of pressure for both teams to go through in that match. I didn't say anything to Kathy and Molly, but I'm sure they were aware that if they won we'd go to the state meet."

Region 5 is generally dominated by North and South, but because of ULS, one of them had to stay home unless North and South had tied for second.

North's No. 1 singles player, Becky Devine, did, however, qualify for the state meet after finishing second to regional champ Shannon Byrne, 6-0, 6-0, of ULS.

North coach Karen Cooksey could not be reached for comment.

Nault and Katchmark had also lost — badly — in two previous matches against Rodriguez and Damm.

"Going into play Saturday, I told the girls that they had a legitimate shot at still getting past North and into the state tournament," said Prychitko. "It was a lot of pressure, but the girls handled it well."

ULS, which won 10 straight Class C-D state titles, isn't used to the kind of pressure it will encounter Oct. 19-20 in the state meet.

"We knew going into the regional meet that we were the favorite because we had done very well against both North and South during the season," said ULS coach Bob Wood, whose team finished 11-0 in dual meets. "But all that means nothing when you get to the state meet. Our girls will have to handle some great pressure the state meet offers. Where or how we finish will all depend on how well we handle the pressure in the first round."

ULS handled the regional pressure fine. Besides Byrne, other regional champions for the Lady Knights include Heather Heidel (No. 2 singles), Anne Ca-

What does the North-South game really mean?

By Rob Fulton
Sports Editor

Review stories seem to always be the same when they are about a big game. And this story

North and South, both competing in the Macomb Area Conference White Division, will clash Oct. 20 at North in the annual battle for football pride.

Fans from all over will see this game. People will come out of the woodwork and see their first — and probably only — game of the season.

So what? It's the North-South game. Why's everyone excited? What's there to worry about? Why is everyone involved so anxious?

BECAUSE, DUDE! IT'S NORTH VERSUS SOUTH.

Players and coaches have prepared long and hard for this battle, and others are betting a few bucks, a lunch and some will even eat crow if their team doesn't win. But what do the people who are not playing think about this 22nd match-up?

North holds the series edge, 11-10, while South has recorded the widest margin of victory in a North-South game; 42-14 last season.

The following are quotes from several people in the school system on what the North-South football game means to them:

Jo Lake, director of athletics at South:

See RIVALRY, page 2C

North will be led by junior Paul Straske.

No matter how things heat up in the Middle East, it's still going to be bitterly cold here this year...

Record lows are predicted for Michigan's winters this year. Invest in properly insulated apparel. We bought early and we bought a lot. So our prices on petroleum-based insulations will remain stable this season.

Rivalry

"It means that Tom Gauerke will buy lunch at our next athletic director's meeting."

Gee, I wonder if Gauerke knows about the bet.

Tom Gauerke, director of athletics at North:

"In my opinion, to suggest that the North-South football game doesn't mean more to the athletes and coaches than any other game is silly. Hopefully, we can have excellent competition and great sportsmanship between the two schools in all sports. Definitely, though, the North-South rivalry is something very special in high school sports."

Tom, Tom! Did you know about the bet?
I didn't think he did.

Roger McCaig, director of research and development for the school system:

"It's a great example of school spirit and competition that's healthy and wonderful."

And less filling, too.
Nancy Peleman, secretary to the assistant principal and athletic director at South:

"Rivalry, rivalry, rivalry."
Well put, Nancy, but say that fast five times.

John Stephens, South librarian:

"Actually, I'm a fan of both sides, so I cheer for both teams. I see the North-South game as an entity in and of itself. I just like to watch the kids get involved from both schools and have some fun."

Sssshhhhh. Boy, if that's not a tweener fan trying to be diplomatic.

Virginia Parsons, North's key computer operator:

"I'm a soccer fan, but may be the best team win."

Virginia, I take it you won't be there? If you do show up, I'll buy you a hot dog.

Russ Lutinen, South assistant principal:

"Usually it means I have to stay home and not go to the Michigan game. I have season tickets and if the North-South game is at home, I've got to be there, but this year I don't have to so I'll be in Ann Arbor."

"Seriously, it's a rivalry that matches that of the Michigan-Michigan State rivalry."

If we had lights and Friday night games, Russ, you wouldn't have to worry about being in both places at the same time.

Scott Roberts, North librarian:

"I'm not very sports oriented. The friendly rivalry the North-South game engenders is exciting. It also pulls kids together."

Engenders? You mean produces, creates? I thought so.

Bob Newvine, ULS head football coach:

"It's a time for the community to come together and realize how great a rivalry it has with the two schools. Throw out the record books and all the stats because that game will be war."

But Bob, we can't throw out the books and stats, otherwise we wouldn't have history.

John Somers, North athletic trainer:

"I cheer for North. I'd be in trouble if I had to go on record with what I really want to say about this game. I hope all the kids play well and don't get injured."

You're afraid to speak up, John, but your colleague Marti VanEenenaam, who works with you at CHAMP, isn't.

Marti VanEenenaam, South athletic trainer:

"It's a chance to kick some butt. I delight in beating North every time because it's like an office rivalry for me. A South win gives me a chance to get my points in and brag for a year. In the training room, however, it's one of the most intense times of the season."

Marti, a North win would really put you on the defensive and as I mentioned in the start of this story, some people could eat crow.

Peggy Andrzejczyk, former Grosse Pointe News sports editor:

"I stand on one sideline for the first half and the other sideline for the second half. This game was the highlight of the entire year sports-coverage wise. It's just a great game to be a part of."

But whose sideline do you stand on first, Peggy?

Bernie LeMieux, South assistant principal:

"It's an event that allows for spirited competition between two schools with the ultimate outcome being that all the kids have the opportunity to get together for a day and have good, clean fun."

Good Bernie, you got that all out in one breath.

Any predictions, Bernie?

"I haven't seen North play, but I'll say South by three."

Care to get in on the Lake-Gauerke wager?

Dr. John B. Artis, South principal:

"I would describe it as a game between friendly rivals who share the same values. It's not a grudge match. It's time for all the kids to join together and have fun."

Sounds like LeMieux told him what to say.

Dr. John Kastran, North principal:

"I hope the kids give it their best effort and all of them play with great sportsmanship. I recall the 3-0 game years ago. My heart was broken over that because both teams played so well and it was unfortunate a team had to lose."

But it was North — your team — that won in overtime Dr. Kastran.

NORTH	SOUTH
Edge  North's Gary Corona started the first five games before Sam Sanom took over. South, on the other hand has stayed with Tim Gramling, who has more experience. Too close to call.	Edge
PASSING Mike Haskell and Paul Straske have carried North's load, but with the addition of Brandon Cromar and Steve Craparotta, North has more weapons. South's Chris Hurwick is a load to bring down, and if North can't stop him it'll be a long day. Don't ignore South's Steve Wisniewski, though.
KICKING GAME Gary Corona has booted four field goals in four attempts for North, and has missed only one of 10 extra points. South's Jay Berschback has struggled all year.
DEFENSE North's Leo Salvaggio is the stopper, but guys like Marc Adams and Craparotta will hit hard. North has also lost end Scott Nesom who was having a great year. South's defense has really come on lately, led by Jason Bedsworth and Kelly Graves. South has the edge because North has defensive injuries and guys who have not played in the same position all year.
ALL-TIME SERIES North got hammered 42-14 last year, but still holds the edge 11-10. Neither team will win the league, but as usual, this game will be a war. North has won four of the last six games, and South hasn't won at North since 1982. — ROB FULTON

Devils declaw Panthers despite weak offensive showing

By Rob Fulton
Sports Editor

Showing signs of its early-season blues, the Grosse Pointe South Blue Devils' football team narrowly escaped Roseville's clutches Oct. 12.

However, a third-quarter touchdown by junior fullback Chris Harwick saved the day for the South offense, which struggled all night long.

Despite the dismal offensive performance, the Blue Devils walked away with a 6-0 victory. South is 4-3 overall and 4-2 in the Macomb Area Conference White Division.

Earlier in the season the offense was inefficient, but in the last two weeks showed signs of improvement. But, after the emotional loss to Fraser the week before, the South offense reverted to some of its old habits at Roseville.

"We had a lot of trouble getting anything going," said Devils' coach Jon Rice. "We really didn't play well at all. I don't know if we weren't mentally into the game because of the loss to Fraser, or if we were looking ahead to the North game."

South travels to North for a 1 p.m. game Oct. 20.

"This game was a little discouraging," Rice said. "We were having a couple of strong weeks offensively, but in this one we really didn't show up. It was a good thing the defense played extremely well."

Roseville only gained 150 rushing yards and didn't complete a pass. South's Kelly Graves set-up the Devils' only score after he recovered a fumble on the Roseville 25. On back-to-back plays, Harwick raced 20 yards and then popped in from the 5. Jay Berschback's extra-point attempt failed.

But the defense wasn't done, yet.

Roseville took possession and, with time running out, moved down the field to the South 3. One play later, however, Norm Rice sacked the quarterback and pushed the ball back to the South 10, where time ran out before the Panthers could get off another play.

Bret Brownscombe had a fumble recovery, and Brian Blake led South with 13 tackles. Jason Bedsworth and Brian Burrows combined for 22 tackles.

In the first half, South turned the ball over three times, twice on fumbles and once on a Tim Gramling interception. Overall, South ran only 30 offensive plays, compared to 62 by Roseville. The Devils didn't even total 100 yards of offense.

Harwick finished with 57 yards on 13 carries.

"The end result was that we won," Rice said. "No matter how ugly it really was, we won."

Basketball

Emilie Ayrault, Erin Lalley and Stephanie Coddens have really been on a tear for the Lady Devils' varsity basketball team.

It's just too bad the team hasn't been able to get consecutive victories.

South beat Roseville, 51-42, behind Ayrault's 16 points and 10 rebounds, but two days later lost to Utica, the leader of the Macomb Area Conference White Division, 58-57.

"We almost pulled off a great upset," said South coach Peggy VanEckoute. "The girls played extremely well and we even had a chance to win it in the final seconds. It was a great game and even at 2-4, I think we're the best under .500 team in the league."

Overall, South is 4-8. South trailed 56-55 with 20 seconds to play but missed a shot and Utica then converted for a 58-55 lead. Ayrault's three-point desperation shot missed, but Karen Ehresman grabbed the rebound and hit a bucket to cut the score to 58-57.

Ayrault, who scored 11 of her game-high 19 points in the third quarter to wash away a 10-point Utica lead, finished with six rebounds and three assists. Erin Lalley, who scored nine points in the fourth quarter to give South a 55-54 lead, finished with 13 points.

Angela Drake had 10 points and ruled the boards for 17 rebounds.

Against Roseville, Drake had 14 points and 12 rebounds, and Stephanie Coddens had 11 points and two blocked shots.

Soccer

In terrible weather conditions and on a soggy field, South tied Utica Ford, 1-1, on senior defender Chris Paul's goal.

South then went on to rout Utica, 9-1, and Romeo, 8-1, to push its record to 12-2-1 overall.

The Devils still trail North, however, by one game in the Macomb Area Conference White Division. South is 8-2 in league play.

At Utica on Oct. 10, John Ostrowski and Jason Dritsan each booted a hat trick, and Matt Smucker, Rick Weinberg and Lou Preston each notched solo goals. Ostrowski now has 16 goals on the season and Dritsan leads South with 23.

Ostrowski continued his fine week by scoring four goals in the win over Romeo.

Sanom played a poised and heady game, and was complemented by the running of senior Steve Craparotta, who carried the ball 20 times for 136 yards and two touchdowns, including the game-winner with three minutes to play in the game.

"This was a game in which we had to play big and the kids deserve all the credit for this win," Sumner said. "Before the game we talked about being at the crossroads in the season. We were 3-3 and we had to make up our minds and decide which way we wanted to take this season. Apparently the guys made up their minds."

North, which gave up the game's first score but later tied it at 7-7 on a Sanom 9-yard touchdown run and a Gary Corona extra point, erased a 13-point deficit in the fourth quarter.

"As soon as Fraser missed the extra point on its third touchdown," Sumner said. "I turned to the kids and said, 'that's our break. let's make that one hurt.'"

The Norsemen did make it hurt, and then some.

Trailing 20-7, the Norsemen went to work from their own 43 after Craparotta returned the kickoff 27 yards. Mike Haskell, who finished with 49 yards on eight carries, ran 32 yards on two plays, and Matt Dube caught a 15-yard pass from Sanom. Four plays later, Craparotta rambled in from the 1 and Corona added his point after, cutting the deficit to 20-14 with just over six minutes to play.

And that's when the North defense, which gave up 229 yards on the day and caused three turnovers, went to work.

Matt Fowler, who finished with nine tackles, rushed Fraser quarterback David Gutow out of the pocket. A hurried Gutow then threw the ball and Jim Kutscher intercepted it and ran it to the Fraser 16-yard line with about four minutes to play.

"Matt played a great game," Sumner said. "Jim got the interception, but it was because of the fine play and pressure Matt made."

Craparotta ran the ball three straight times and got the ball to the 1, but a delay-of-game penalty pushed North back to the 6, where Craparotta carried it for the touchdown just one play later.

Corona's extra point gave North the margin of victory.

Fowler and Adam Mlynarek recovered fumbles for North. Adam Korzeniewski had an outstanding game at offensive tackle, and also had 11 tackles on defense. Marc Adams had nine tackles, and Craparotta finished with 10. Tim Meining and Brandon Cromar each had nine tackles.

And thanks to the offensive line of John Bomier, Matt Winstanley, Chris Mourad, Bob Backlund, Dube and Korzeniewski, the offense got untracked.

"It was nice to see the offense get it going again," Sumner said. "The blocking was crisp and all the guys really played well."

Shawn Penzak scored all three Fraser touchdowns.

"It was an excellent job of come-from-behind football," Sumner said. "We could have just gone through the motions, but we didn't. It was one of the most exciting homecoming games in years."

Golf

Special Writer

What a turnaround this has been.

Last season the North golf team didn't win a match, but this year it has won the Macomb Area Conference White Division and has also qualified for the Class A golf tournament at Michigan State University Oct. 20.

Matt VanCopenolle led North to a medalist round of 81 at the all-MAC tournament, in which North placed second with a 340 team score. Mike Zolik, who finished fourth overall in the regional tournament with a 78, shot an 82 in the MAC tourney.

Andre Emry (82), Scott Carson (85), Brian DiLaura (88) and VanCopenolle (89) rounded out North's scoring in the regional tournament Oct. 12.

Swimming

The No. 6 ranked Lady Norsemen rose to the occasion and defeated No. 5 ranked Birmingham Groves, 99-87.

Wendy Mader, Karen Dundon and Jennifer Paloucci were all double-winners, and posted times that will qualify them for the state meet next month.

The 200 and 400 freestyle relay teams of Paloucci, Lidia Szabo, Mader and Dundon also swam fast enough to make a state-cut time.

Basketball

Amy Sacka led the Lady Norsemen to a come-from-behind victory over L'Anse Creuse, 68-56, Oct. 9.

North had trailed 13-8 at the end of one quarter, but outscored L'Anse Creuse 22-4 in the second quarter to take a 30-17 half-time lead.

Sacka scored 16 points to go with seven rebounds and four steals, and Stephanie Gore had 14 points and three steals.

Noelle Cormier canned 10 points and dished out three assists, and Katie Loehner had four assists and four steals.

Alana Hansen, who had eight points, played in her first game since her season-opening ankle injury.

North is 8-4 overall and 5-1 in league play.

compete. It appeared that we were just there and didn't run to win."

North's Jessica McLaughlin (19:11) finished fourth overall, but then it was South's Claudine DuPont and Erica Mondro who took fifth and sixth.

Allison Liebold (19:59) took seventh for North, and Joy Ramberger (20:07), Becky Clor (20:17) and Anne Seallen (20:54), rounded out North's top-five runners.

"South wanted to win it more than we did," Buhagiar said. "I think the weather really bothered us, but both teams had to run in it. South was better prepared mentally for the conditions, and I think our team worried too much about them."

Buhagiar was right — Zaranek's team wasn't too concerned about the weather that was more fitting for ducks.

"The one thing we've worked hard on all season is not worrying about things we can't control," Zaranek said. "And weather is something we can't control. We wanted to be extremely confident going in and not worry about the course and that approach worked."

The rerouting of the course, normally an uphill run, favored South, too.

"North is a better team on hills, but we didn't have to run the hill," Zaranek said. "We like the challenge of running there and the girls, honestly, were disappointed they couldn't run the hill. I feel we would have been just as successful if we had to run the hill. The mud was fun, too."

Knights secure 10th soccer championship

By Jeff Backhurst
Special Writer

The University Liggett School boys' varsity soccer team played two games last week and emerged with a win, a tie and a league championship.

The win came on Oct. 11 at Lutheran Northwest, 6-1.

Six minutes into the game, Jonah Smith scored his first of two goals. He got his second goal eight minutes later. The other first-half goals were scored by Anthony Ayuyu as ULS took a 4-0 lead at the intermission.

Two minutes into the second half, Alex Crenshaw scored, and after a Northwest goal made the score 5-1, ULS' Richard Berri booted the game's final goal.

On Oct. 12, ULS faced Southfield Christian, and despite a 4-4 tie, the Knights won their 10th consecutive Michigan Independent Athletic Conference championship.

Ayuyu scored two first-half goals, but ULS yielded one goal and hung on to a 2-1 lead at the half.

In the second half, Ayuyu scored his third of the game and 13th goal of the season to give ULS a 3-2 lead, and Crenshaw extended that lead to 4-2 with 10 minutes to play.

But Southfield Christian got two goals to knot the game.

ULS, ranked No. 5 in the Class C-D polls, is 7-5-3 overall.

Basketball

By Linda Morreale
Special Writer

With a pair of victories last week, the Lady Knights ran their basketball record to 8-3 overall.

On Oct. 9, ULS topped Roper, 54-42. Senior Martina Jerant led the scoring with 36 points, and Linda Morreale chipped in with 12 points.

Jerant's 29 points and 10 blocked shots again paced ULS to a 43-37 victory over Lutheran Northwest. Junior P-R Stark added nine points.

Cross country

Jennifer Miller placed third in the Class B-C race last week, and also placed 10th out of 160 runners in the Gabriel Richard Invitational.

"Jennifer has been making drastic improvements the past two weeks," said ULS coach Phil Langford. "She's no longer holding back at the start and has been avoiding being boxed in."

Jon Sieber led the boys' team, finishing fifth in the 96-runner field.

Golf

The Knights, 3-5 overall, posted their best score in recent years at the state regional meet in years.

ULS' 361 earned it a seventh place.

Low-scorers for the Knights were Pat McCormick (87), Wes Sims (91), Andrew Stewart (91) and Jamie Brock (92).

Football

By Rob Fulton
Sports Editor

A beating of this nature wasn't supposed to happen, but it did. And it was the worst loss the ULS varsity football team has suffered in two years.

The Knights, previously ranked No. 8 in the Class C polls, were thrashed by Detroit Country Day School, 40-7 Oct. 13.

Entering the game, ULS knew it had to beat the Yellow Jackets in order to make the state playoffs. Instead, it looks like ULS' winter will start sooner than expected.

ULS, which won its first five games to start the season but has now lost two straight, fell to 5-2 overall.

"We got waxed," said ULS coach Bob Newvine, whose team had only 196 total yards of offense. "We didn't come out to play. A win probably would have gotten us into the playoffs, but even if we win our remaining two games it'll be tough to get in. We had to make our own opportunity, and we just didn't get the job done. This was very disappointing and difficult to watch."

ULS scored on a 73-yard pass from Jason Drook to Chris Carroll late in the third quarter. Mike Whelan added the extra point.

ULS trailed 12-0 at the end of the first quarter and 27-0 at halftime.

"Whatever didn't cave in in the first half," said Newvine, "certainly did in the second half." Drook completed 11 of 28 passes for 195 yards. Ed Merriman caught five passes for 96 yards, and Tom Best had three catches for 27 yards. Kevin Whitfield led the Knights' defense with 26 tackles.

CUISINARTS®...THE CONNOISSEUR'S CHOICE

Superior quality, hand-polished stainless steel lends beauty, durability, heat efficiency and cleanability to Cuisinart cookware. These pieces prove their worth every time you use them.

7-PIECE STAINLESS COMMERCIAL COOKWARE SET

Precision crafted quality. Cuisinart's famous thick copper sandwich bottom conducts heat quickly and efficiently, throughout the entire cooking surface. Dripless rims prevent spills when pouring; covers fit tightly to lock in flavor; vented handles minimize heat transfer. From freezer to oven or burner to cold water. Includes two deep saucepans with covers, Dutch skillet, and stockpot/Dutch oven with cover.

Reg. Price $380.00 Sale Price $350.00

7 1/4" STAINLESS SKILLET

Durable, beautifully polished skillet turns out lacy crepes.
