Latest danger to lakes — zebra mussels — discussed

By Ronald J. Bernas Staff Writer

Zebra mussels -- those tiny invaders from Eastern Europe which have made their home over here — have the potential to destroy the ecological balance of the Great Lakes and cost businesses and municipalities which draw water from the lakes tens of thousands of dollars annually

They can be controlled, however, and although sometimes it seems bleak, there is some hope for destroying the newest biological menace to the lakes.

The zebra mussel, and ways of controlling it, were discussed at a forum last Thursday at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

The forum was co-sponsored by

A Grosse Pointe Farms pharmacist and a St. Clair Shores man face up to 20 years in jail and a $1 million fine if found guilty of illegally selling prescription drugs.

Pharmacist Thomas J. Fredal. 51, a Farms resident and owner of Fredal Pharmacy, and Charles Dunaway, 42, of St. Clair Shores, were arraigned Oct. 17 on federal charges of illegally distributing controlled substances.

Fredal and Dunaway were released on $100,000 and $15,000 unsecured bonds, respectively. They were arrested at the pharmacy in the 18500 block of Mack

Cars burglarized

Four cars on Bournemouth Circle in the Farms were broken into sometime between 3 and 4 a.m. Oct. 17.

All the incidents occurred at three adjacent addresses in the 400 block.

The front passenger window of a 1990 Oldsmobile was broken in an unsuccessful attempt to steal a radio. A passenger window of a 1986 Oldsmobile was smashed, but nothing was taken.

The driver's window was broken on a 1986 Lincoln Continental in an attempt to steal the radio, and the driver's window of a 1991 Crown Victoria was broken in an unsuccessful attempt to steal a car phone.

Out of the four cars broken into, the only thing taken was a briefcase and some clothing.

Shoplifter rescued by man with gun

When a Sears security guard tried to detain a suspected shoplifter Oct. 18, he ended looking at the barrel of a handgun.

The security guard followed a woman out of the store at Mack and Moross in the Farms. When he confronted her in front of the store on Mack, a man in a gray Renault drove up and pointed a gun at him.

The guard backed off, and the woman got into the car and she and her rescuer drove off.

longshot because it would probably require approval from Detroit voters.

"It's within the realm of possibility," Bryant said. "I'm willing to help them work on it."

Bryant praised the local municipalities for taking the initiative in trying to halt the expansion of Detroit City Airport. So far the majority of the governments in the Pointes and the city of Harper Woods have all approved the hiring of former U.S. Transportation Secretary James Burnley IV to lobby in Washington, D.C., against the propose expansion.

Bryant said Burnley is a good choice because he knows the people locally, in Lansing and in Washington, and because he knows the subject.

If the total expansion is completed as planned, the air traffic would be doubled. Currently, there are 85 gates at Metro. After the expansion, there will be 160 berths.

The $100 million revenue bonds would be paid for with Metropolitan Airport revenues, not county tax dollars.

With the proposed $1 billion expansion of Metro Airport dependent on approval of the $100 million bond referendum, Deputy County Executive Michael Duggan expressed concern last week that Grosse Pointe and eastside residents are confusing Metro with the proposed City Airport expansion.

He fears that those against City Airport expansion will vote stand that the two airport plans are in no way connected. However, Greg McKae, a spokesman for Dearborn-based Citizens Against Aircraft Noise (CAAN), a group fighting the Metro expansion, fears that Pointers will vote in favor of the Metro bond referendum by believing that an expanded Metro Airport will relieve the need to expand City Airport.

Such sentiments were expressed by Park Councilman James Robson in an Oct. 11 story in the Grosse Pointe News. McKae pointed out that the

He said that because Metro is a hub airport and City is a commuter facility, expansion of one will not affect traffic at the other. Another significant difference between the two airports is that one is run by the city and the other by the county, he said.

Out of the four cars broken into, the only thing taken was a briefcase and some clothing.

Shoplifter rescued by man with gun

When a Sears security guard tried to detain a suspected shoplifter Oct. 18, he ended looking at the barrel of a handgun.

The security guard followed a woman out of the store at Mack and Moross in the Farms. When he confronted her in front of the store on Mack, a man in a gray Renault drove up and pointed a gun at him.

The guard backed off, and the woman got into the car and she and her rescuer drove off.

Children's Home gets grant to combat drugs

The Skillman Foundation has service agencies' professional awarded a grant of $10,000 to the Children's Home of Detroit to enable the home, located in Grosse Pointe Woods, to implement a four phase educational substance abuse program.

The first phase will provide a substance abuse training program for the home's employees. The second phase will provide specialized training for the home's Social Services Department including therapists and other professional staff. The third phase will involve specialized training for other human staff with Children's Home serving as the facilitator. The final phase of the program will involve substance abuse workshops for community residents.

With the financial assistance of the Skillman Foundation, the Children's Home of Detroit hopes to enable the individual to better understand the problem of drug and alcohol abuse among our young, and more importantly take an active role in preventing substance abuse in the community.

are some of the reasons that he is continually chosen for special committee work to write major legislation.

Bryant said studying a wide variety of issues over his political career has given him a strong background and an interest in all issues affecting his constituents.

The lawmaker said the single most important issue affecting Michigan voters in the recent past is property tax and educational funding reform. Bryant voted to support the 1/2 cent hike in the sales tax to help fund Michigan schools, though the proposal was voted down.

He added that there is continuing pressure on legislators to place the burden of school funding on the wealthier districts and in the future that type of legislation will appear before voters across the state.

Commenting on the Michigan Senate race affecting Grosse Pointers, Bryant said Republican Philip Tannian has a good chance of defeating incumbent John Kelly in the state 1st District Senate race.

"Tannian would be perfect for the district and he is a wonderful candidate," Bryant said. Tannian's police-related experience and police contacts in Detroit's northeast area make him a good choice, he said. Kelly-Tannian Senate race called close ne of the closest contests in the state general election Nov. 6 is likely to occur in the 1st District in which the Democratic incumbent, Sen. John Kelly of Grosse Pointe Woods, is facing a strong challenge from the GOP nominee, Phillip G. Tannian of Grosse Pointe Park.

Two factors contribute to the heightened interest by both political parties in the contest between two Pointers. One is the desire of Republicans to hold their two-vote margin of control over the Democrats and the efforts by the Democrats to overturn it.

The other is the importance of the upcoming legislative decisions on legislative and congressional reapportionment. The decisions on new district boundaries will help determine the political complexion of both houses in Lansing as well as the state's congressional delegation for the next decade.

What are the issues in the Kelly-Tannian contest?

To some extent, they are the usual Democrat vs. Republican issues such as taxes, spending, ethics and so on. But there are some special issues in the 1st District.

One, of course, is opposition to the expansion of Detroit City Airport. Both candidates claim to be against this project and pledge to continue to work against it in the state Senate.

As we've already indicated, another is the future of the Pointes in any congressional reapportionment plan. With the five Pointes now split between the 13th and 14th congressional districts, most residents appear to favor being reunited in one district. On this issue, too, the two candidates appear to agree with most Pointers.

However, Kelly has been accused of having voted for the reapportionment bill, passed by the Democratic-controlled Legislature in 1982, that divided the Pointes between the two congressional districts. While that bill was vetoed by GOP Gov. William Milliken, it became the basis for the reapportionment ordered into law by the U.S. appeals court.

In response, Kelly points to the record showing he had offered an amendment to the 1982 legislation to restore the Pointes to a single district and twice supported the Pointes in that losing cause. But on final passage he voted for the legislation at the request of 14th District Democratic Rep. Dennis Hertel who wanted to gain more Democratic territory for his district.

Hertel told the News he was never involved in the Grosse Pointe decision but, instead, had sought Hamtramck for his district. In answer to Hertel, Kelly pointed out Hertel couldn't have all the Pointes as well as Hamtramck because of the cap on the district's population. That apparently is why Grosse Pointe Park and City were shifted to the 13th District.

Another controversy has arisen over Detroit's utility tax, which was originally imposed while Tannian was deputy controller of the city of Detroit. As a lawyer representing private business interests, Tannian was involved in court actions against the tax and its extension until last spring.

At that time, he was barred from any further participation in the action by the Wayne County Circuit Court because his law firm had hired the city of Detroit's supervising assistant corporation counsel, who had had direct responsibility for legalmatters relating to the city utility users: tax, without isolating him from the case.

Tannian says he had no connection with the tax when it was proposed by former Mayor Roman Gribbs and then adopted after legislative permission was granted. However, Kelly challenges that version and says Gribbs has told him Tannian went along with the proposal although he was not the chief author of it.

Commenting further, Tannian says that Kelly voted for the renewal of the tax last spring but against a provision that would have required approval by voters in Detroit before it became effective.

However, the sequence of votes shows that Kelly twice voted for a requirement for a vote but after it lost, the senator voted for the tax bill on final passage and for a motion putting it into immediate effect, meaning it became law without the proviso for a vote by the people.

Kelly says he did so only after Mayor Coleman Young promised in writing that during the fiscal year beginning in July 1990 he would not lay off any part of the Detroit police, as he had threatened to do when seeking to get legislative approval of the utility tax.

Tannian sees public concern about crime and drugs as another issue that he is familiar with because of his service with the FBI and as a police commissioner and police chief in Detroit under both Gribbs and

For his part, Kelly, who has served on the Senate Judiciary Committee for his 12 years in Lansing, points out he has a long record of legislative actions in the law enforcement field and strong support from law enforcement organizations, locally and statewide.

In our view, it is a close race and one that is as difficult for us to decide as it will be for many Pointers who also think highly of both candidates.

Tannian appears to be the best of the GOP state senatorial candidates to run in recent years but we support the re-election of Sen. Kelly because of his independent stance in Lansing, his proven concern about Grosse Pointe interests and his experience in office.

rerun for commissioner

rerun of the 1988 election is being staged in the 1st Commissioner District in which David Pochmara of Harper Woods, the GOP nominee, is attempting for the second time to unseat Democratic Commissioner David Cavanagh of Grosse Pointe Woods, who is seeking his third term.

It is a rerun for another reason, Pochmara says. He is making the race because he says, as he did two years ago, that Cavanagh still has not addressed the problems and issues of the Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods communities.

In response, Cavanagh says he is proud of his record and has accomplished a lot in his four years in office. More specifically, he claims he and County Executive Edward H. McNamara with the support of the other commissioners have turned the county around and achieved a balanced budget for the first time in 12 years.

Perhaps his strongest claim to Pointe support, however, is his opposition to the expansion of Detroit City Airport. He claims it is not feasible for the federal government to finance expansion of both the City and Metropolitan airports, and says the area doesn't need two regional airports anyway.

However, as chairman of the commission's Committee on Roads, Airports and Public Services, Cavanagh points out that part of his responsibility is to oversee the county's two airports, Metro and Willow Run.

In line with that responsibility, he says he is enthusiastically supporting the proposed expansion of the Metro facility, including the $100 million revenue bond issue to finance it.

Overall, Cavanagh says he has done everything he said he would do when after the 1988 election he pledged that among other things the county would balance its budget, update its computer equipment and expand its budget for public information services.

As might be expected, Pochmara sees Cavanagh's record in a different light. He says Cavanagh did not even mention taxes as one of the subjects in which he has been interested, contends the incumbent has on occasion sought Headlee overrides and had remained neutral on the City Airport expansion issue until recent months.

Pochmara strongly opposes the airport expansion himself, would favor hiring experts to oppose the further funding of the facility and insists the county commission itself could put some additional roadblocks in the path of the airport project.

So which of the two commissioner candidates is the better qualified?

An incumbent usually wields increasing power as his terms continue and Cavanagh no doubt does so. However, we doubt that he made as many important contributions to the improvement of county management as he claims.

But how much could Pochmara do to improve county services to the district even if he were elected as a second Republican member of the predominantly Democratic commission?

We doubt he could do much, which means that we favor Cavanagh's re-election in a contest we expect to be closer than it was in 1988.

From the start, poor race

Then the contest between Gov. James Blanchard and his Republican challenger, John Engler, began last January, the Grosse Pointe News said, "A pox on both your houses."

That opinion was expressed after the candidates had delivered their comments on the "State of the State" in which both were guilty, we said, of offering "pap, puffery and propaganda that serve only their own personal political purposes.'

Unfortunately, their comments apparently set the tone for the rest of the campaign which is now nearing its close with less than two weeks left before the Nov. 6 general election.

We think, however, that the governor should be held more responsible for the low level of the campaign than his challenger. It was the governor who retorted to the first Engler campaign comments with overkill that usually exaggerated the faults he found and thus perpetuated the campaign's low tone.

Unfortunately, Engler ran a somewhat negative campaign, too, although as a challenger he was probably justified to do so. Furthermore, he has had to spend so much time fending off the governor's barbs he hasn't really made as effective a case against Blanchard as he could have done.

As for the debates, which we had hoped might restore a semblance of balance to the campaign, we think the candidates sounded like a couple of quarrreling grade school kids saying, "Yes, I did," and "No, you didn't," to each other for most of the debate time.

In January, we had expressed the hope that both candidates would address the hard issues involving the state's needs but, as in Washington, the word taxes apparently frightened them both into talking only about tax cuts and ephemeral cuts in spending.

As a result, we're still disappointed with both candidates but we think Engler could be an improvement. True, we disagree with the Senate majority leader on abortion and several other issues but we believe it is time for a change in the governor's chair that could bring about a more positive approach to Michigan's future.

A phantom foe for Bryant rosse Pointe's own Rep. William R. Bryant Jr., already the ranking Republican in the state House of Representatives, is running for his 11th term against what appears to be a phantom opponent.

The Democratic candidate is Shirley A. Pilette of Harper Woods who has declined to be interviewed by the Grosse Pointe News or other media and who has never even been seen by the GOP incumbent so far as he knows. So to newsmen as well as to Bryant she remains a phantom candi-

It is true, however, that the 13th District that Bryant has represented for 10 terms and 20 years is regarded as up to 75 percent Republican which means that it's a safe district for the GOP incumbent so long as he doesn't commit some obvious public misstep.

Bryant has been highly regarded by his colleagues as well as his constituents. He carries into his 11th campaign the prestige of having served two terms as minority leader and terms as floor leader and assistant floor leader before his election to the top leadership post by his fellow Republicans.

In fact, Bryant has often been mentioned as a possible candidate for governor but this year Senate Majority Leader John Engler had locked up the necessary GOP support so early that Bryant eschewed his effort. Bryant and Engler entered the Legislature at the same time back in 1971 but Engler soon went on to the Senate and has become, according to Bryant, a good loyal GOP leader.

Reviewing his 20 years of service at the request of the Grosse Pointe News, Bryant does not point to any single accomplishment but he says he has offered ideas that have brought people together, has recognized problems and thus has left his imprint on many legislative actions.

For example, it was Bryant who first proposed a state tax amnesty as a one-shot method of boosting state tax revenues. The plan was adopted by Gov. James Blanchard and the Democrats with full credit to the Grosse Pointe Republican for initiating it.

Bryant also has been recognized as a major foe of the ballot and legislative proposals that seek to further limit state aid and also cap the taxes that the Grosse Pointe School District and other out-of-formula districts can raise themselves. To date, he has succeeded in beating back most such plans.

Characteristically, Bryant says the caliber of his district enables him to wield his influence over a wide range of issues. Why? Because he says the 13th District does not often need the kind of legislative time and help that many representatives must invest in the problems of their own constituents.

Under the circumstances, the path seems clear to Bryant's return to the House in the Nov. 6 election. And once again the Grosse Pointe News endorses his candidacy.

Presented by Linn Osborn, ssistant manager of English Gardens garden center, the program will cover seed types, selection and placement of bird feeders and the selection of plants to attract certain birds. A question and answer period will follow the presentation.

It's all free and open to the public. The one-hour program will be presented on Friday in Clinton Township at 7 p.m.; and on Saturday, in West Bloomfield and Dearborn Heights at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. For more information, call Matt Borden at 278-4433. Bob Walker at 851-7506 or Dean Darin at 286-6100.

Green, green grass; big, big problem

What's dark earthy-brown and friable and so rich-looking that you just gotta run your fingers through it?

Yup, dirt. But not just any dirt - this is the composted result of all of last year's leaves, just reaching maturity out at the incinerator property. All they have to do is screen it and truck it back to member communities (that's you) and you can put it in the garden.

Last fall, 1,200 tons of leaves were collected. They decayed through the winter and created about 500 tons of mulch.

Grab it while you can, because it's anybody's guess how much will be collected this year at the site. Outside factors are combining to put a lot of pressure on cities (and the refuse authority), causing them to scramble for alternatives.

The demand to do something with yard wastes is almost "spontaneous," says Ed Whedon. administrator of the incinerator. It's sudden and inexorable, like a building falling in slow motion, with officials and recycling volunteers running frantically to avoid getting hit.

First, twin pressures of cost and impending law are combining to keep grass and leaves out of landfills and incinerators.

Question: Where else can they go in a group of communities that have no real space left? Possible answers: Private composting sites (four of the eight Grosse Pointes-Clinton group have already opted for that, for the short term, at least). The authority can buy some property (that's being looked into, but it's a long-term solution that leaves the cities hanging for a couple of years).

Possible problem: Composting grass is a new process, technologically speaking. The state hasn't yet developed guidelines, and when the South Oakland incinerator authority started composting a mix of grass and leaves, they were hit with an injunction because the stew stinks. The private composting site of choice, Indian Summer in Casco Township, is brand-new. The operator is working with township and county recycling officials to develop a process that won't offend neighbors - but only time will tell. As everybody involved seems to agree, composting grass is tough. So tough that the Grosse Pointes-Clinton authority has promised Clinton Township that it won't even try grass on-site. Residents put up with landfills in the old days and with the incinerator now, but grass is asking too much.

So tough that the authority's board spent better than an hour going over and over the problem last week.

In a nutshell (ha!), the cities are worried about guaranteed disposal rates (composting tipping fees are about one-third of landfill or incinerator fees); the authority is worried about the size of the waste stream; the cities are afraid the authority will take too long to get its own composting site up and running; the private composting site wants a mix of grass and leaves; the authority needs leaves to comply with its state grant for composting and can't take grass at all (except to burn); the state and federal governments want all yard waste out of the landfill/incinerator stream in two years (it isn't law yet, but everyone is operating on that assumption). Got that?

Over the long haul, the likely outcome is that the authority will develop a site and all the eight member communities will compost their yard waste there. That way, the authority will still be handling the entire waste

Further, getting grass out of the burning cycle will accomplish two things:

• It will leave space for the communities to expand with legitimate burnables (and capacity has been a great concern for several years as Clinton Township has burst its population buttons);

• The incinerator will burn hotter and combustion will be more complete (all that wet grass can hold temperatures

And once the communities all start to recycle - and they will there will be fewer toxics going into the incinerator, which means fewer coming out the smokestack or the ash heap.

The number of good eventual outcomes is encouraging, but the short term is making everybody crazy.

Working at home has some surprises. The other day I came home and headed for my office where I found the balcony door open (nay, off its hinges!), a tea tray on my desk, and five roofers enjoying a coffee break.

I've had my first fan "male." No, it wasn't Bob, who, when he read the first column, sniffed "you had to put that in about the hole in the ceiling.'

Of course. A column about the perfect patch in the ceiling lacks drama. Who would read it?

No, my fan is the current owner of my grandmother's fakeleather-bound collection of Walter Scott. He evinced faint interest when I raved about "Ivanhoe" and "Quentin Durward" and "Kenilworth," so the next thing he knew, I had loaded all 28 volumes into my car and brought them to him. Bet his head was spinning.

But he said he enjoyed seeing his books in the paper. My guess is that if there's anyone out there with a yen for Sir Walter, he might be willing to make a deal.

School taxes

To the Editor:

Once again our school board has proven that they are true elected officials: The more money they have, the more money they spend.

I do not know of anyone, except of course teachers, who receives a 7 percent a year wage increase in today's economy.

From 1986 to 1989, my school taxes have increased 28.8 percent. My intermediate school district tax and special education tax have increased 151.8 percent, all of this during a three-year period when inflation totaled less than 12 percent. I have not received my school tax figure for 1990, however since my 1990 assessment is up almost 25 percent, it is safe to assume that my school taxes will be up a proportionate amount.

Despite this excessive increase in revenue from myself, and I assume, the other taxpayers in the Pointes, the school board has seen fit to increase school taxes 9.5 percent this year. It is past the time for our school board to accept and practice fiscal responsibility.

It is also time to replace the board with business people who are aware that the taxpayers are not a bottomless pit of money for the board to spend carelessly.

I fear that in the not-toodistant future that there is going to be a taxpayer's revolt that will make the Boston Tea Party look like a children's party.

Many names

To the Editor:

I wish to thank Rob Fulton for the great article on our daughter Emilie a couple of weeks ago. He didn't misspell her name even once. Emilie is an extra-special person who makes a good role model for a lot of other teenagers. She maintains a part-time job, she babysits, she plays varsity basketball and volleyball and, she carries a 3.0 in her studies at

I say all this because 17 years ago when she was 7 months old we almost lost her to spinal meningitis. The day we took her to the hospital she had a 50-50 chance of lasting the night and the chance of brain damage was 95 percent. She came through all this with some she overcame with many hours of extra work in elementary school.

George Bernard Shaw once said that "a child with many names is well-loved." Well, you can rest assured that Emilie has many names around the Ayrault household. Again, Rob Fulton, thank you very much.

Rights

To the Editor:

In your Oct. 4 issue, Norman H. Opyd of Harper Woods responded to my earlier letter on gun control. Mr. Opyd's offering was some letter. It was straight out of the NRA handbook. The chapter on how-to-respond-to-questions-frequently-asked, and-issuesfrequently-raised.

However, he strayed off on his own in a couple of instances, and tore his pants figuratively speaking. Like when he accused me of intellectual dishonesty in using a 20th century dictionary to define the noun "militia." I was supposed to do as the NRA did and look up an obscure report from an obscure senate sub-committee hearing in 1968, which came up with a ridiculous finding which was found useful by the NRA.

When I was in college, the Jesuits taught us a principle: "Before you argue, define your terms." They also taught us definitions found in dictionaries.

Also the word "intellectuality" is a strange term to use in connection with the NRA. Remember these were the intellectuals who brought us that bumper-sticker gem, "If guns are outlawed, only outlaws will have guns." Translated into English, that means: If you break a law, you are a lawbreaker.

Mr. Opyd defended the right to "keep and bear" the AK47, and all other battlefield and assault weapons. In his defense of the right to keep and bear these weapons, he says they are designed to "wound, not kill." If that is true, I rise to ask why the NRA is on record as contending they are hunting weapons? Am I to understand NRA hunters are intent upon wounding deer, so they can go stumbling through the woods, bleeding and in pain, to die a lonely, lingering death in torment? Of course not. They insist, truthfully I presume, they wish to dispatch their prey as quickly and painlessly as

Then why defend AK47s? Why defend handguns, the leading killer of humans, and designed solely to kill? Question these and you get the old, tired, threadbare, handbook foot-in-the-door argument you've heard a million times.

One reason you've heard it a million times is the NRA runs the second strongest lobby in Congress, second only to the Israeli lobby. Both use the same tactic. Approach a potential dissenter. Ask his/her support. Threaten if they don't agree to go along to support their opponent with whatever it takes - money, propaganda, the works -- to assure his/ her defeat. God bless Amer-in one sense the NRA and Mr. Opyd as its on-hand spokesman — are the most selfish people I know. All they talk about are their "rights." Not a word about their obligations. Not a word about the rights of others in fields other than those sacred guns.

No concern for the poor, the starving, the homeless, the handicapped, the sick, the dying, and - of course the almost countless and still-mounting thousands killed by handguns. Not a whit of sympathy for Jim Brady who was permanently disabled protecting the life of their icon and fellow-NRA member Ronald Reagan. "Brady wants gun control, doesn't he? To hell with him." You'll recognize that as vintage NRA talk.

Again in college, in our courses in philosophy - specifically general and applied ethics - we learned that every "right" carries with it a corresponding obligation.

But not in Mr. Opyd's thinking, as displayed in his letter. He recited a list of his "rights" that have already been violated — by the government, no less. According to his thinking he would abolish, as intrusions on his "rights", airport security checks. (Welcome aboard handgunners and bombers!). His other violated rights reside in the income tax, drug testing where indicated and required, age restrictions on his right to vote. He'd probably contend that an arrest for DUI is an intrusion on his unalienable right to drive while drunk, if he so

He gets around to the right of a woman to have an abortion. But he says nothing about the God-given right of the infant to its life! He quotes the Declaration of Independence concerning "certain inalienable rights

.." But he stops before the very first of those stated rights set forth in the Declaration, the right to life. A little editing by selection, Mr. Opyd?

The NRA's idea of "public service" is to sponsor Charleton Heston (whose wheels fell off in Ben Hur), a loyal and steadfast NRAer, in a TV commercial boasting that NRA sponsors classes to teach people to shoot. Some public service! Our problem is the United States already has too many people who know how to shoot. They're particularly good at shooting each other.

St. Thomas Aquinas wrote and spoke often of the summum bonum - the greatest good for the greatest number, as a guiding principle in personal life and conduct. That's not for Mr. Opyd not at all. His interest is first, last and always his "rights."

Mr. Opyd concludes his gospel according to the NRA handbook with these words: "In summary, my rights are unalienable. Mr. Wright may freely waive any and all rights for himself, but he does not have the right to waive mine."

OK, Mr. Opyd, I'll overlook your intrusion on my inalienable right to waive your unalienable rights — in the interest of peace all around.

Now, about those corresponding obligations that go with those rights Joseph P. Wright Grosse Pointe Farms

To the Editor:

I read with much interest your opinion article on "New faces could boost Durant," dated Sept. 27.

Clark Durant will be excellent in the Supreme Court. He is a good family man, honest, dedicated, of high moreal character and a strong leader.

You mentioned another new face, Kenneth C. Mc-

Nealy for U.S. representative. He also has the same good virtues as Clark Durant has. I've heard him speak and was very impresssed with his platform. People who know him say that he gets the job done. Kenneth McNealy will fight high taxes and will represent and not forget his constituents.

Still another new face is Philip Tannian. Like Clark Durant and Kenneth C. McNealy, he has the same desired qualities and also will fight the high taxation.

When going to the polls to vote on Tuesday, Nov. 6, remember the names of the new faces.

Let's vote the rascals out and make a change for the better!

Autumn in Grosse Pointe

Fall sneaked through the back door when we weren't looking. It rode in on the backs of raindrops and asserted itself not so subtly, weighing heavily on our hearts and back yards. And just when we are about to scream uncle and cry for mercy, the sun reappeared to taunt us with the memory of an all-too-brief summer.

The leaves, golden and spent, flee their branches and surrender to the elements. One tries not to think about the ensuing five months of gray days, lest he becomes bogged down prematurely. For surely we shall be granted a few more precious days of autumn splendor before we fold our tents and head for hibernation.

We tease ourselves with our own form of Russian roulette, leaving the plants unprotected for another few days, daring nature not to send Jack Frost in chilly pursuit. If we choose not to see it, perhaps we can forestall the inevitable coming of winter.

But there are worse things than autumn in Grosse Pointe. There are clear crisp days beckoning us to walk along the lake and watch the waves tossing about the shoreline. There are the pheasants along Grosse Pointe Boulevard. There are homecomings and parades, Halloween in a community where we are still secure that our youngsters will be safe and appreciated.

There are sidewalk sales and candied apples. There are fruit markets and mum plants. Bikers and joggers have a freshness in their spirits, no longer reduced to exhaustion by the heat, but refreshed by chilly winds from the lake. There are a few diehards with their boats still in the water, hoping for a few final days of time spent on the wa-

The shrill sound of a referee's whistle pierces the air. The teams take the field and the crowds respond to the cheerleaders with resounding affirmations of support.

All in all we are blessed to be able to witness the changing of the seasons. If nothing else, it keeps us sharp and aware. Don't forget who's waiting around the corner: Ho, Ho, Ho.

the job market or a change in careers. Applicants must have a bachelor's degree; interest in developing marketable, transferable skills; and a commitment to finding a job after the internship is completed. Those currently in the midst of an educational program are not eligible.

Job descriptions, which must be read by applicants before applying, are available at the center. Copies can be made for $1 or mailed for $2. Application letters and resumes must be received by Nov. 2.

All internships pay an educational stipend of $1,000 for 240 hours of work (20 hours per week for three months). Longer internships are paid proportionately more.

The center is located at 330 E. Liberty St. in Ann Arbor. For more information, call 998-7210.

Diagnosing the substance abuser difficult

In my last column I reprinted a letter from Margery Carney, a Birmingham parent who poignantly described the pain of realizing that her 17-year-old daughter is chemically dependent, and that she and the rest of the family will be living with that disease for the rest of their lives.

But perhaps just as frightening to any parent reading that letter was Mrs. Carney's description of how many counselors and other "trained people" told her and her husband that they didn't think their daughter was using: something that, of course, they very much wanted to believe and which delayed her getting the help she needed still longer.

Mrs. Carney says she doesn't blame herself or the school or those others who could have helped. She knows that her daughter was responsible for both her use and all the lies she must have told to keep that use a secret. But still we have to wonder, "How could this have happened?" Why couldn't these so-called "experts" diagnose the problem sooner?

The answer to that question is complicated because the disease itself is so complicated. A doctor can look at a symptom - elevated blood sugar levels - and suspect the pancreas, the organ which produces insulin, is malfunctioning and diagnose diabetes. Shortness of breath or chest pain may lead a doctor to examine the organ affecting those symptoms - the heart - and diagnose heart disease. Alcoholism is a disease whose first "symptoms" are behavioral, because it is the brain — the organ that controls behavior - that is first affected.

Therefore, anyone attempting to diagnose alcoholism — unless it has progressed to the point where brain, heart and liver damage is severe — usually has only behavioral symptoms to look at. So the "expert" asks questions like these of the patients and their families: has drinking or other drug use resulted in behavior that interfered with this person's family, work, school, or social life? Has this person said or done anything while under the influence of alcohol or other drugs that has resulted in legal problems, financial problems, or loss of reputation and self-esteem?

Even the diagnostician who has had the opportunity to ask these questions still has several problems: 1) How honest and complete a response can he or she expect from patients, who (if alcoholic) are probably frightened at this threat to their use, and defensive because they truly don't believe the drug is the problem, and may in fact firmly believe it is the solution to their problems?

2) How much information can the diagnostician expect to get from the loved ones of the patient? Many family members have been trying to protect their loved one from the consequences of their behavior for a long time, and even though they're worried, they hesitate to admit that things are really so bad and that they have been powerless to help. Even if the family is willing to share all they know (as did the Carneys), there is often much they are truly unaware of, because most alcoholics are very ingenious and skillful at "covering their tracks.'

And so from the beginning the 'expert" is operating with less than all of the facts.

Add to this the undeniable fact 1) many persons have had family, legal, financial or moral problems while absolutely sober, and 2) even those who have experienced some of these problems while "under the influence" are not necessarily alcoholics.

And the situation is more complicated still when we are dealing with an adolescent. Because, after all, behavior that is impulsive, rebellious, secretive, unpredictable and unreliable may also be described as, well, "adolescent"! In other words, many of the red flags of substance abuse, taken separately, are within the range of normal adolescent development.

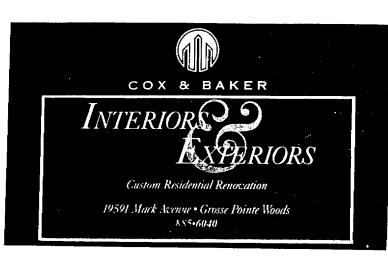

Looked at it this way, the fact that anyone ever gets diagnosed correctly is beginning to seem quite amazing! And it explains why it often takes so long, as it did in the case of the Carney family, for things to reach the point where the pattern of behavior was so clear that someone was able to put it all together.

There's no magic. Getting an accurate diagnosis of substance abuse requires 1) honestly looking at a pattern of behavior, and 2) finding someone knowledgeable about the disease who can gain the trust of the affected person to the point where he or she is willing to talk about some of the internal signs of alcoholism (the craving, the preoccupation, the loss of control) that signal the disease, and then offer the hope of recovery

Where do you look for such a person - seemingly a combination of Columbo and Mr. Rogers and how do you know when you've found them? I'll offer some suggestions in my next col-

Man beaten. dumped in Shores, vehicle stolen

32 Lakeshore

A Taylor man reported seeing a man thrown from a vehicle, beaten up and left stranded at the corner of Lakeshore and Lochmoor in the Shores Oct. 17.

The incident occurred at 7:20 p.m. A late model utility vehicle, perhaps a Jeep Cherokee or a Ford Bronco, turned off Lakeshore onto Lochmoor and stopped. The driver threw the passenger out of the vehicle.

The driver then got out of the vehicle, walked up to the man and began kicking him, according to the witness' statements to Shores police.

The driver got back into the vehicle and drove away west on Lochmoor. The victim then began to yell that his vehicle was being stolen, and he ran south on Lakeshore.

When police arrived, they were unable to locate the victim or the vehicle.

Kids 8-12 sought to 'co-anchor' holiday parade

WDIV-TV, Channel 4 is looking for children to offer live color commentary on the 64th Annual Michigan Thanksgiving Parade, airing Nov. 22 at 9 a.m. on WDIV-TV.

The group, made up of three to four kids, will join Chuck Gaidica as the parade winds its way down Woodward Avenue in Detroit. Their insight will offer a child's perspective of the day's festivities.

Prospective candidates must audition for the "co-anchor" position. WDIV is asking groups of relatives and friends between the ages of 8 and 12 to attend try-outs at the WDIV studios on Saturday, Oct. 27 from 9 a.m. to Groups must be made up of not less than three nor more than four children. All groups must be accompanied by a parent. Kids should come prepared to talk about Thanksgiving Day, the parade and their fondest memories of the holiday season. One group will be selected and announced on Friday, Nov. 16, on WDIV-TV.

GENERAL FUND

This fund provides for all general operating activities of the School System, with the exception of activities associated with other Funds as identified above. The General Fund receives the bulk of its revenue from two main sources. The first and largest source is from tax levies on real and personal properties within the school district. The second is from earnings on investments.

Comments on the General Fund Operation:

For the year under review we report that the School System received no basic per pupil membership allowance under the 1989-90 State Aid Act. Our School System does not qualify for basic membership State Aid because our State Equalized Valuation per pupil is greater than the equalizing factor contained in the applicable distribution formula.

The System, however, does qualify for some Categorical assistance in financing special education programs such as Reading Support, Mentally and Physically Handicapped, Emotionally Impaired, Teacher Assistants, Social Workers, and School Psychologists. In addition, Categorical assistance is received for the Bilingual program, Vocational, Community Education and Special Education Transportation. All of this, however, is reduced by the Base Revenue Deduction of the State Aid Act. Approximately 60% during 1989-90 of the Categorical Aid was "recaptured" or taken back by the State of Michigan.

The Board of Education continues to be committed to the concept of a balanced budget and continually reviews its financial condition and considers necessary adjustments to finance the educational programs within available sources.

Grosse Pointe Theatre will hold open auditions for its second production of the season. "A Little Murder Never Hurt Anybody.'

Auditions for the show, an original comedy-farce, are from 1 to 5 p.m. Oct. 27 and noon to 4 p.m. Oct. 28 at the theater's rehearsal hall, 315 Fisher Road.

There are parts for four men and two women and are as fol-

Matthew Carter Perry IV -50s. He talks and acts before he thinks. His boredom with his rich lifestyle leads to a bizarre New Year's resolution.

Julia Jacobson Perry - 50s. She's poised and elegant and always in control - a perfect foil for her husband. She's always one step ahead of everybody.

Bunny Perry - 20s. Their daughter. She's as pretty as she is dumb, but she knows what she wants.

Donald Baxter - 25s. Bunny's fiancee, an old-fashioned romantic. He's also prone to jumping to the wrong conclusions. Buttram — 50s. The perfect butler, with an attitude and a dark secret.

Plotnik - 40-50s. A hardboiled gumshoe who can't figure the solution to the crime even though he has all the facts.

Director Mike Trudel encourages those who audition to prepare a two- to three-minute monologue. Although not required, it may help in casting. Other readings will be taken from various sources and the play itself.

Dorothy K. Miller

Mrs. Miller died Wednesday, Oct. 17, 1990. She was born in Lansing.

She attended Michigan State University, where she met her late husband, Franklin A. Jr.

Mrs. Miller was a member of the Bon Secours Guild and Assistance League and was one of the founding members of the Puppet Makers of Bon Secours.

An artist, Mrs. Miller created original ceramic works, painted with oil and was a photographer, owning her own darkroom. She was also a buyer for the Holy Cross Hospital Gift Shop in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

She is survived by her daughter (Deone) Patricia Lowe (Mrs. Gary); a son, Frank A. (Mick); her stepmother, Margaret Kelly; sisters, Ida Lee and Kathie Murphy; and six grandchildren.

Interment was in Mount Olivet Cemtery, Detroit.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Alzheimer's Association, 17251 12 Mile Road, Southfield, Mich. 48076.

Lillian E. Kilbride

Services for Lillian E. Kilbride, 99, of Grosse Pointe, were held Monday, Oct. 22, at St. Joan of Arc Catholic Church in St. Clair Shores.

Mrs. Kilbride died Thursday, Oct. 18, 1990. She was born on a farm in Frenchtown, Mich., and was a direct descendant of the original French settlers who emigrated from Quebec to Detroit in

AMENDEMENT TO MUNICIPAL WASTE ORDINANCE (Garbage and Rubbish)

Ordinance No. 305

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE MUNICIPAL WASTE ORDI-NANCE, CODE NO. 8-03, ENTITLED "AN ORDINANCE TO REGULATE THE HANDLING AND COLLECTION OF MUNICI-PAL WASTE, TO PROVIDE A PENALTY FOR THE VIOLATION THEREOF AND TO REPEAL ORDINANCE NO. 24 ENTITLED "AN ORDINANCE TO REGULATE THE DEPOSIT, COLLEC-TION, REMOVAL AND DISPOSAL OF GARBAGE OFFAL AND OTHER ANIMAL OR VEGETABLE REFUSE" AND ALL ORDI-NANCES OR PARTS OF ORDINANCES CONTRAVENING THE PROVISIONS OF THIS ORDINANCE."

THE CITY OF GROSSE POINTE FARMS ORDAINS:

SECTION 1. Immediately following Subsection (f) of Section 1 of the Municipal Waster Ordinance, Code No. 8-03, the following Subsection (g) is hereby added:

(g) Recyclable Materials

Recyclable materials shall mean the following commingled and/ or pre-sorted materials that are separated from other rubbish prior to the collection thereof, and whether left at curb-side or at a drop off center for collection: high grade paper, glass, metal, plastic, aluminum, newspaper, corrugated paper, fallen leaves, cut grass or yard clippings.

SECTION 2. Section 6 of the Municipal Waste Ordinance, Code No. 8-03, as enacted by Ordinance No. 303, is hereby repealed and the following Section 6 substituted therefor:

SECTION 6. Authorized Hauling of Refuse and Duties of Private

(a) It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, partnership, corporation, association or business entity of any type to engage in the collection, transportation, hauling or disposal of refuse or recyclable materials deposited for collection under this Ordinance unless the same are employed by the City or authorized to make such collections by a Resolution of the City Council. The City Council may by Resolution authorize certain persons. firms, partnerships or corporations (hereinafter referred to as "Private Collectors") to collect municipal wastes or recyclable materials. Any such Private Collector so authorized by the City Council to collect municipal wastes or recyclable materials shall comply with the following requirements:

(i) Such Private Collector shall be responsible for any act or is in the discharge of any contents of any vehicle upon the streets, alleys or other private or public places in the City of Grosse Pointe Farms, and it shall be the driver's duty forthwith to remove from any such street, alley or other private or public places in the City of Grosse Pointe Farms any refuse or recyclable materials which have been so discharged. It shall be the duty of the Director to enforce the provisions of this Ordinance, and the Director shall have the right to impound any vehicle associated with any violation of this subsection until the Director receives adequate assurance of full and continued compliance with this subsection.

(ii) Such Private Collector shall furnish at its own expense and keep in force at all times sufficient liability insurance protecting both the Private Collector and the City of Grosse Pointe Farms. Such insurance shall be supplied in an amount of not less than One Million Dollars ($1,000,000) for injuries or death to any one person, and property damage insurance in an amount of not less than Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000) for any occurrence. The Private Collector shall submit to the Director a certificate of insurance naming the City of Grosse Pointe Farms as an "Additional Insured" and "Certificate Holder" entitled to thirty (30) days written notice prior to any cancellation or reduction in the coverages afforded by such insurance. Such Private Collector also shall supply all necessary insurance required by applicable federal and state regulations.

(iii) Such Private Collector shall comply with the requirements of the Michigan Workers' Compensation laws, and shall at its own expense maintain such insurance as will protect such Private Collector from any and all claims under said

(iv) Such Private Collector shall at its own expense maintain such additional insurance as will protect such additional insurance as will protect such Private Collector from any other claims for personal injuries, including death, which may arise from operations under any contract between the Private Collector and the City of Grosse Pointe Farms, whether such operation is by the Private Collector or by anyone directly or indirectly employed by such Private Collector. The Private Collector will protect, defend and hold harmless the City of Grosse Pointe Farms from and against any damage, claim, liability or expense whatsoever, or any amount paid in compromise thereof, arising out of or connected with the perfor mance of such contract.

(b) It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, partnership, corporation, association or business entity of any type to engage in the collection, transportation, hauling or disposal of municipal waste from any business, commercial or community service establishment (including without limitation any school, church, private club, hospital, fraternal organization, office or other commercial establishment) within the City of Grosse Pointe Farms without having a valid license issued by the City permitting such activity. The provisions of this Section 6(b) shall not apply to persons, firms, partnerships, corporations, associations or business entities engaged in or contracting for the collection, transportation, hauling or disposal of any hazardous wastes or recyclable materials. Any person, firm, partnership, corporation, association or business entity desiring a license to collect, transport, haul or dispose of municipal waste from any business, commercial or community service premises within the City of Grosse Pointe Farms shall file an application for such license with the City Clerk on such forms provided for such applications. The City Clerk may consider applications and issue licenses subject to the following requirements:

(i) All licenses must satisfy the requirements for Private Collectors set forth in Section 6(a) of this Ordinance. In addition, each licensee must provide to the Director (A) a list of customers and the estimated number of cubic yards of solid waste and refuse to be collected from such customers on a monthly basis; (B) a current copy of any contract or agreement for the disposal of such waste or refuse; (C) an agreement that the licensee will comply with the City requirement that all permitted burnable solid waste and refuse (excepting recyclable materials) collected by the licensee will be disposed of at the Grosse Pointe - Clinton Refuse Disposal Authority (the "Authority") incinerator in Clinton Township, Michigan, and providing that the licensee will pay to the City of Grosse Pointe Farms the amount of charges made to the City by the Authority for all items disposed of at the Authority by the licensee in accordance with any schedule adopted by resolution of the City Council; and (D) a letter of credit, cash bond or other security satisfactory to the City Clerk, in the amount of $5,000.00 in favor of the City of Grosse Pointe Farms to ensure that the licensee will comply in full with its contractural and monetary requirements as aforesaid. Such letter of credit or other security must be issued by an institution satisfactory to the City Clerk. Any cash bond shall be retained by the City for a period of 90 days after the expiration of any license, and thereafter the unused portion shall be returned to the licensee with interest thereon at the rate of 6 percent per annum. If the City is billed directly by the Authority for charges related to items disposed of by the licensee, the licensee shall reimburse the City promptly upon receipt of an invoice for such

(ii) Each license application shall be accompanied by payment of $100.00, payable to the City of Grosse Pointe Farms as an annual license fee. Each license issued under the provisions of this ordinance shall expire on the 30th day of \bar{J} une of each year. The fee for any new license shall be reduced by 1/12 for each full month that has elapsed from the June 30th immediately preceding the date of submission of the license applica-

(iii) Each licensee shall receive from the City Clerk a license plate or tag, which shall be posted conspicuously on the left side of any motor vehicle operated in connection with the licensee's business. If any licensee uses more than one motor vehicle, additional license plates or tags will be furnished at a charge of $1.00 for each additional plate or tag.

(iv) No licensee shall be deemed to be an agent of the City of Grosse Pointe Farms for any prupose. The licensee shall be held responsible for full compliance with the rules and regulations of the Authority concerning the type of materials acceptable by the Authority for incineration. Any violation of the rules or regulations of the Authority resulting in damage to the incinerator, or creating a stoppage of the incinerator or the imposition of penalty by governmental authorities upon the Authority, shall be charged to the licensee. The licensee shall indemnify, defend and hold harmless the City of Grosse Pointe Farms for any liability or responsibility in connection with any such violation or damage.

(v) Any license issued hereunder may be revoked by action of the City Council upon a finding that the licensee has failed, neglected or refused to comply with the regulations set forth in this Ordinance or the applicable regulations of the Authority. Prior to such revocation, the City Council shall cause the licensee to be advised of the alleged violation, and the licensee shall be afforded the opportunity for a hearing before the City Council to respond to the alleged violation. Any license revoked by action of the City Council shall not be reissued or reinstated to such former licensee for a period of at least one year form the date of revocation.

(vi) Should any licensee fail, neglect or refuse to reimburse the City for charges made to the City by the Authority for solid waste or refuse delivered to the Authority by the licensee, and should such charges remain unpaid by the licensee to the City for a period of thirty (30) days from and after the date of any invoice submitted to the licensee, the license issued hereunder shall automatically be revoked and said licensee shall not be authorized to collect any refuse within the City until such invoice is paid in full, together with a reinstatement fee in the amount of $250.00.

(vii) Each licensee shall cause to be delivered monthly to the Authority Incinerator solid waste and refuse in an amount equal to the estimated cubic yards of solid waste and refuse generated and produced monthly by the customers of such licensee whose contracts or agreements with the licensee are renewed, exstended, renegotiated or newly obtained during the period from and after October 16, 1990 through October 15, 1992. After October 15, 1992, licensees shall deliver all burnable rubbish and refuse collected from establishments within the City of Grosse Pointe Farms to the Authority in-

SECTION 3. This Ordinance shall take effect immediately upon its enactment, based upon the finding that such immediate effect is necessary to preserve public health or safety.

He also discounts the idea that if FAA funds are used to expand Metro, then not enough money will be available for City Airport. He believes the FAA could and would fund expansion for both airports.

If the bond referendum is approved, "I think they'll expand Metro and then City," McKae

Normally, the county as the airport administrator can issue revenue bonds without voter approval, but because 20,000 residents signed petitions circulated by CAAN, the matter was forced on the Nov. 6 ballot.

Initially, CAAN was formed to combat the airport noise that developed over the Dearborn area last year, but the group is now fighting the airport's expansion as well.

Duggan said the complaints of noise from Dearborn residents began in November 1989 when the FAA changed flight paths to and from the airport. The changed routes, as well as directing flights over new areas, required planes to take off at a steeper angle, thus creating more thrust and noise.

Last month, the FAA agreed to re-evaluate the flight paths. Duggan said it is the first time the FAA has agreed to sit down with a community and discuss routes. He believes the flight paths will be revised and the noise problem will be solved.

The FAA isn't expected to reach a decision until Dec. 1, after the election.

"The frustrating thing," Duggan said, "is that the solution is on the way.

McKae, who is a lawyer, doubts the FAA will change the flight plans. He said the reason the routes were changed was due to safety concerns arising out of more air traffic at Metro and, therefore, a change in flight paths will be ruled out as un-

Metro's $1 billion expansion plan

$100 million bond referendum:

- 3,500-space parking structure
- Flood control
- Construction of anti-noise berms
- Creation of a noise control office

$185 FAA grant (awarded):

- A fourth north-south runway
- A second cross-wind (east-west) runway
- A south entrance off Eureka Road and 1-275 Additional ramps and taxi strips

Future revenue bonds:

- A new, mile-long, mid-field terminal
- Automatic train service between terminals
- 75 new gates

ing which Duggan debated CAAN President David Esper, the deputy county executive said that based on the progess of talks with the FAA, he is confident noise-reducing flight plans will be developed.

But if noise continues to be a problem, he said, the county will take regulatory steps to reduce it, even if it means canceling plans to expand the airport.

The only way to reduce noise over Dearborn and other westside communities, McKae said, is to drastically reduce the number of flights coming in and out of Metro. But he doesn't expect the county or Northwest to voluntarily cut back.

CAAN, however, does favor the building of a second regional airport to serve the Detroit area. He said a Macomb County group is circulating petitions to have the question of a regional airport put before county voters.

McKae said he favors a Macomb County airport provided it's built in a rural area with minimal impact on existing residents' quality of life. He believes a voter-approved Macomb County airport could relieve some Metro's traffic and, at the same time, not force Dearborn's aircraft noise and pollution problems on someone else.

CAAN is opposed to expansion of City Airport, for example, because it means adverse noise, pollution and safety concerns in the middle of an urban area.

Duggan, however, points out that defeating the bond referendum will not in itself eliminate noise at Metro airport, while approving the bonds will not add

He said existing gates at the airport are being used to capacity and additional flights are dependent on new gates to accommodate them "This bond issue will not add gates," he said, "and therefore will not add flights or traffic.'

The bond revenues, if approved, will pay for completion of a new 3,500-space parking structure, flood control, preliminary design for a second crosswind runway and south vehicle access road, berms to block noise and the creation of a noise-control office.

A new cross-wind runway is needed because during certain weather conditions, all landings and takeoffs must be handled on the one existing east-west runway, causing long delays.

Parking is already overburdened at the airport. An existing parking structure has been partially torn down and a new one is being built, but some of the revenue bond funds are needed to complete the parking struc-

Also, flood-control, which is needed to prevent flooding of basements in Romulus and Taylor, is being tied in with the bond referendum funds.

McKae argues that the flooding and parking problems have existed for years and the county could have corrected them at any time. Instead, they are lumping the necessary improvements in with the expansion

Duggan argues that if residents are still disenchanted with the airport in the future, they can force another referendum when revenue bonds are needed to build the new terminal, which will add gates and traffic.

He said that if the bond referendum is defeated, then any future expansion of the airport will most likely be unnecessary because Northwest and other airlines won't be able to wait a couple of years to see if Metro will add gates.

If the referendum is defeated, the county would have to wait two years before trying again because the $2 million cost of a special countywide election would have to be borne by the airport and Northwest, a cost they would most likely avoid,

Duggan indicated.
"This may be our last chance for expansion," Duggan said, "but this won't be their last chance (to block it)."

McKae believes that if the bonds are approved, the county will have moved so far forward with the $1 billion expansion plan that it would be even more difficult to stop it. Also, opponents would then have to go out and get another 15,000 signatures to force the issue on the ballot.

McKae takes the position that the county should first correct the noise and pollution problems to the residents' satisfaction and then seek revenue bonds for modernization of the airport.

Esper and McKae also disagree with Duggan that Northwest will expand elsewhere if the bond referendum is defeated. They believe the airline has too much invested in Detroit to pick up and leave, which would be an expensive undertaking.

Duggan countered, "If we're going to be smug and say 'You're not going anywhere,' then we're going to lose."

If the airport modernization and expansion plan is denied and Metro is forced to scale back operations, the county believes the 10,000 jobs at the airport and another 40,000 in off-airport support businesses will be in jeopardy - not to mention the 20,000 jobs the modernization project would create, according to county estimates.

McKae doubts the county's employment figures and he questions the quality of the jobs at Lastly, McKae questioned the use of the airport. He said that most of the airport's business comes from passengers who merely stop off at Metro enroute to other destinations. Detroit is not the destination or departure point for most travelers, he said.

He wondered whether residents wanted an expanded airport just to serve as a connection point for non-Detroit passengers.

Sen. Kelly faces former Police Commissioner Tannian

Assistant Editor

Three-term incumbent state Sen. John Kelly, a Democrat, is facing an experienced challenger for the 1st District seat.

Republican candidate Philip G. Tannian's political experience goes back to the days of former Detroit Mayor Roman Gribbs. Tannian promises Kelly a tough

The state Senate's 1st District includes all of the Pointes, Harper Woods and a large portion of Detroit. Senators run for fouryear terms and their salary is $45,450 plus an $8,500 expense allowance

John Kelly

John Kelly, 41, of Grosse Pointe Woods, has served as the 1st District state senator for 12 years. He was first elected to the seat in 1978. He is seeking his fourth term.

He is minority vice chairman of the Judiciary Committee and also serves on the Government Operations and Health Policy committees. In 1989, he was a Detroit Police Officers_Associamember of the select committees on ethics and export and trade. He has served on a host of comittees throughout his years in the

He earned a bachelor's degree in political science at the University of Michigan in 1972 and a master's degree in public administration from Wayne State University in 1974. He was a graduate student in international relations at Georgetown University in Washington, D.C., in 1976 and earned a law degree from the Detroit College of Law in 1983. Kelly is a doctoral candidate in political science at Wayne State University, and he teaches political science at Mercy College of Detroit. He has also taught at the University of Detroit and serve from 1972 to 1981. As far as his Grosse Pointe constituents are concerned, the key issue is the proposed expansion of Detroit City Airport. congressional seats in Michigan Though the airport is not within as a result of decreased populaactive in fighting the proposed expansion.

When the lengthening of a runway threatened Gethsemane Cemetery, Kelly was able to get the plan halted and forced the city to come up with a master plan before proceeding with the $501 million expansion, according to Kelly. Since then, he has introduced legislation and amendments to limit the airport's growth.

Currently, Kelly's Airport Expansion Bill is in committee. Kelly also urges that the expansion be dependent on a Department of Natural Resources environmental impact study. He would like to see all state and federal pass-through funds be held up pending the environmental study.

Kelly said that not only should the airport plans be controlled, all of Detroit's projects should be limited.

He said his Detroit constituents are most concerned about crime and safety. Kelly said his record shows he has been tough on crime. He has introduced bills on such issues as early release and prison expansion.

He has also introduced bills that would create a metropolitan police agency that could do multi-jurisdiction investigations. He is also advocating the use of retired judges to clean up the civil court docket to free more judges for criminal cases.

He said he is backed by the tion, the Grosse Pointe Fraternal Order of Police, the Police Officers Association of Michigan, the Michigan Sheriffs Association, the Lieutenants and Sergeants Association and the Michigan Correction Officers Association.

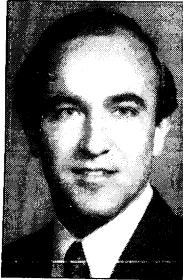

Kelly has spent 12 years on the Judiciary Committee.

Kelly is also one 15 senators calling for a limited constitutional convention to deal with the issues of property tax and school finance reform. He said ing for a decade on property tax reform.

If Kelly and his colleagues are successful, state voters would decide if they want a convention called to amend Articles VIII and XI of the state Constitution. The articles govern school finance and property taxation.

Kelly believes that no matter what the voters decide, at least they will have had a chance to speak and decide how important school finance and property tax reform are to them.

Concerning the redrawing of political boundaries next year due to the expected loss of two the boundaries of the 1st Senate tion, Kelly said he favors all the Kelly's opponent is critical of the incumbent's backing of the controversial Detroit utility users tax renewed this year by the Legislature. Kelly, however, said approving the tax was the only way to keep 1,000 Detroit police officers from being laid off, which would have jeopardized the safety of Detroiters.

Though a Democrat throughout his political career, Kelly is receiving no support from his party. Some have called him a 'loose cannon" because of his independence in decision-mak-

Philip G. Tannian

Philip G. Tannian, 55, of Grosse Pointe Park, a lawyer, is president of his own law firm.

He graduated from University and earned a bachelor's degree in accounting from the University of Notre Dame in 1957. He earned his law degree in 1963 from the Detroit College of Law. He is also a 1965 graduate from the RCA Institute, where he studied computer programming and system design.

From 1963 to 1967 he was an agent for the FBI and was stationed in Washington, D.C., Baltimore, Philadelphia and Detroit. He then worked for two years as an assistant prosecutor for Wayne County.

He was executive secretary to Detroit Mayor Roman Gribbs and deputy controller from 1970 to 1973. He was then Detroit police commissioner in 1973 and

Philip G. Tannian

1974, when current Mayor Coleman A. Young asked Tannian to continue in the position.

In July 1974, the police department controlling bureaucracy was reformed and Tannian became the first police chief, he said. In 1977, Young "threw me out on my ear," Tannian said.

From 1977 until he created his own firm in 1983, Tannian was an attorney with Nederlander, Dodge and McCauley.

This year, Tannian joined a group of other Detroit law firms in challenging the Detroit utility users tax. He said many of his clients are big businesses and institutions in the city that have to pay the tax, which expired in 1988, though the city continued to receive the tax.

Though he was the deputy controller in the city when the utility tax was being set up, Tannian said he didn't play a role in it.

He is critical of Kelly's recent vote to reinstate the tax, and he charges that Kelly voted to have the tax continued without a vote of the people, which Tannian contends is a violation of the Headlee Amendment.

An examination of Kelly's voting record on the utility tax isfavor of a bill to prevent the tax from going into effect unless approved by voters. The bill failed.

He then voted affirmatively to have the bill reconsidered, but that attempt failed. Kelly then voted with the majority to have the utility tax extended and to have it go into effect immedi-

Locally, a reception was held for Tannian Oct. 16 and several Pointe officials served on the host committee, including Grosse Pointe Shores Village President Edmund M. Brady Jr., Park Mayor Palmer T. Heenan, state Rep. William R. Bryant Jr. and Susan Durant, wife of failed U.S. Senate candidate Clark Durant, who is now a candidate for the Michigan Supreme Court.

Heenan praised Tannian for his efforts on the Park's public safety committee when the city was working to merge the police and fire departments. Tannian also served on the search committee that recommended the hiring of current Pubic Safety Director Richard Caretti, Heenan said.

Tannian is also working on behalf of several suburban municipalities in seeking the reimbursement of more than $50 million in overcharges as a result of the Vista Disposal scandal.

"Someone needs to step out into the political arena and challenge Coleman (Young)," Tannian said.

If elected, Tannian said he will seek to strip Detroit of control of regional services and institutions, such as water and sewer, transportation and cultural facilities. He said it doesn't make sense to have services used by nearly half the state controlled by one city.

in need of property tax and school finance reform. He said property taxes must be rolled back. "People are being taxed right out of their homes," he said, "especially during retirement.

He said the size of government has to be reduced.

Concerning school finance, he believes putting more money into education would be a mistake. He said studies show parochial schools with fewer finances consistently provide better educations than do public schools. He believes public schools must be made to compete with each other.

He also believes state taxes and regulations need to be revised. Businesses and residents are being forced out of Michigan by unfavorable laws and taxes, Concerning the efforts of neighboring Detroit communities to secede from Detroit, Tannian said he favors the idea, though it needs thorough study. He said he has no problem with people wanting to create their own, better community.

While he has the support of the Republican Party, Tannian said he is not seeking its financial support. He indicated he has had no problem raising his own campaign funds. He is getting non-financial support, such as campaign workers and informational services, from the party.

While campaigning earlier for the primary, Tannian said there is one word he would like voters to remember concerning his candidacy: change.

Entertainment DSO's opening concert sets an Olympian standard

Special Writer

Taking full advantage of its possession of one of the world's finest concert halls, the Detroit Symphony is offering a series of four recitals this season.

The opener on Sunday, Oct. 14, certainly matched the quality of the hall. It featured Murray Perahia, an experience in superlatives.

Opening with the Haydn Sonata in A flat major, he treated the classical form with the utter clarity reminiscent of the remarkable playing of Glenn Gould, but with none of the reading that was both joyous ed in the ear. Yet Perahia imand intelligent, so much so that parted full dramatic energy to the listener could well feel he was communing directly with Haydn.

Adagio or presto, piano or triple forte, Perahia kept every note in balance, expressing perfectly its share of the musical message. Whatever the dynamics, he showed mastery. His legato playing eliminated any thought of the piano as a percussive instrument. His crescendos rang without bombast.

Even the big chords opening the Brahms Sonata No. 3 in F mannerisms. It was a sensitive minor, sang rather than crash- quently in his peformance. His He was also a generous perevery note.

> The andante of the Sonata is a Brahmsian reverie with the simplest thematic material. It was developed tenderly and with total control. Yet the emotional content was unrestrained by technique. Perahia's technique is so profound that it simply sets his expression free.

In giving full expression to the emotional content of his music, he does push his limits and takes risks. And it verifies the humanity that is evoked eloobvious concentration is on what the music is saying and every one of Perahia's inflections and emphases is right on.

That was equally true in the opulent romanticism of Chopin and the pyrotechnics of Liszt where Perahia combined the technical brilliance that is fashionable among many pianists today with a sensitive eloquence that was paramount a couple of generations ago.

Perahia does it with clarity and conviction. There is never a moment when you wonder, "What did he say?" His musical statements are invariably clear.

former, adding a Chopin Ballade and a Mazurka to the F Major Nocturne and the Rhondo that were programmed.

Liszt's fiendish trills and runs in the concluding Waldesrauschen and Mephisto Waltz No. 1 were likewise performed with an obvious awareness of the impressive musical ideas that are borne along by Liszt's ear-catching technical dazzle.

After that, the Schubert Impromptu played for an encore was more than even the most demonstrative audience had any right to expect.

Perahia set an Olympian standard for the recitalists that follow in this series but the DSO has booked some very impressive successors. On Jan. 27, pianist Peter Serkin will perform; on March 7, violinist Isaac Stern and finally on May 12, soprano Jessye Norman.

These are rich desserts indeed to top off the feast of the DSO concert series this year.

More immediately, we can look forward to three weeks of conducting by Music Director Neeme Jarvi starting tonight.

WSU Dance Company to perform for children

The Wayne State University Dance Company will present its 37th annual Dance Concert for Children Tuesday through Saturday, Nov. 13-17, at the Community Arts Auditorium on main campus.

Tuesday through Friday performances are scheduled at 9:45 a.m. and 11 a.m., especially for metropolitan Detroit area school groups. The Saturday performances are open to the public at 2 and 3:30 p.m.

The theme for the 1990 concert is "Mother Earth," according to Georgia Reid, WSU dance department chairperson. "The dancers will explore our relationship to the natural phenomena around, beneath and above us,' she said.

Featured in the program is a revival of the production of "Every Everything," with original music, lyrics and script by composer Richard Berent and choreography by Eva Powers.

The program consists of a variety of exciting dances, specifically geared toward children. It introduces young people to dance movement in a lively and informative manner and provides a memorable experience for youngsters using children's songs, music, literature and games, according to coordinator Linda Simmons.

On hand to stir up audience participation will be metro Detroit's favorite dance host, Freda Frump. Frump is a comic character created and brought to life by Portia Fields. Frump amusingly describes each dance to be performed, helping children appre-

On Friday and Saturday, Frump will be joined by Elta Hambrick, who will sign four performances to enhance the enjoyment of the hearing impaired. Hambrick is director/founder of the Unity of Hands Deaf Chorale needs program at Greenfield campus, Wayne County Community College.

Saturday concerts will feature guest performers from high schools and community dance groups, selected by audition. In previous years guests have included Mumford High School, Cass Technical High School, Roeper City and Country School, for more information.

Graphic sexuality is the theme of 'Henry and June'

By Michael Chapp Special Writer

The first, strongest and most enduring notion one has about "Henry and June" is the irony that surrounds it.

Here is a film about Henry Miller, an American writer who moved to Paris in the days before World War II because he wanted more freedom - freedom to push the envelope of acceptance in literature. His work, much like his life, was filled tense some considered it obscene. Indeed, his first book, "Tropic of Cancer," was finished in the early 1930s, but it wasn't printed in America until 1961. For Miller, sexuality was something to be enjoyed in the moment. Making it anything more was to blow it out of proportion. Making it anything less was to trivialize it. It was such an atti-

In taking us on such a journey, the film ventures into moments that are on par with the graphic sexuality that writers like Miller and Nin tried so hard to make acceptable.

That's where the irony comes in. Director Phillip Kaufmann, who charted somewhat similar territory in "The Unbearable Lightness of Being" a few years ago, was reportedly prepared for a lengthy battle to keep some of

The Jazz Forum will continue Wednesday, Oct. 31, at 8 p.m. with a performance by singer Dyke Quartet at Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church.

"Most Detroiters will probably remember Earl from his association with Motown," said Jim Ruffner, Jazz Forum director, and may not know his work as a jazz player. Earl is one of our finest jazz pianists."

Ruffner added that versatility its Fall '90 concert series characterizes the career of featured singer Marla Jackson. "Marla is classically trained and Marla Jackson and the Earl Van has sung opera. She's done nightclub work here and in Chicago, and has worked with such Detroit luminaries as Jimmy Wilkins and Bill Meyer. She also works regularly in commercial recording studios," he said.

Instead, the Motion Picture Association of America, bowing to pressure from filmmakers and theater owners, agreed to change the rating system. Now, pictures like "Henry," with artistic merit to complement their sexual content, can be spared an X rating.

This film, of course, is the first to receive the new NC-17 rating, which means no children under 17 will be admitted to the theater. The more conservative viewers would argue this is just one more example of obscenity gaining a foothold in mass media.

The more liberal viewers the kind Miller himself would have been trying to appeal to will applaud such a move as one more step in the evolution of an

Wolverine Jazz Band celebrates 13 years

By Paul B. Rutledge

Special Writer gathering of the clan Tuesday night at the Lido on the Lake. The occasion was the 13th anniversary of Chet Bogan, Dixiebelle and the Wolverine Jazz Band playing there Tuesday nights. The band is formed by professional men from different walks of life. But they do share a fervent mutual interest: the common chord of dixieland jazz. They spend their personal time practicing and playing good Basin Street music for the enjoyment of others.

The tunes played by the band are from the "book," arranged by its leader, Dr. Chet Bogan. Bogan is dentist by day and jazz cornetist by night.

Bogan is flanked on the frontline by outstanding clarinetist and saxman, Jim Wyse, and highly talented trombonist, Chuck Moss.

The jazz buffs in the audience years. hear Bogan's cornet sounding Wyse blends the sweet clarinet owners and management of the

The talented rhythm section in the back row include Marc Moultrup on piano, Rich Kowalewski, stand-up bass; and Dave Taylor percussion.

Sharing the spotlight and adding zip to the band is vocalist Dixiebelle. The variety and range of her repertoire, together with her exciting presentation, makes her a favorite. She is an accomplished musician, vocalist and performer. Many of her songs were made popular by Bessie Smith and other legendary singers of the past.

Attic to present a love story When "Frankie and Johnny in are Nov. 8-11. the Clair de Lune" opens at the Attic Theatre on Nov. 14, it will be through the mutual efforts of two of Detroit's leading artistic directors. "Frankie and Johnny" begins after an evening of sexual intimacy when Frankie and Jonnny get to know each other as people in an afterglow that lasts until dawn. In this searing, costumeless production (the principals sport only sheets, towels and underwear) the audience vicariously partakes in a relationship at two levels at once. Lavinia Moyer, artistic director and co-founder of the Attic Theatre, is directing this modern love story by Terrence McNally.

David Regal, artistic director of The University of Detroit's Theatre Company, portrays the persistent, sometimes obnoxious, but always compelling Johnny, the short-order cook who woos waitress Frankie throughout the night in her one-room apartment.

Mary Bremer plays Frankie, the waitress who is reluctant to get involved with her co-worker just because she has spent the night with him.

She expressed confidence that "Frankie and Johnny" will be as well received by audiences here as it was in New York.

This very funny and touching encounter between two fortysomething people who have failed at love before presents a naked display of the human need for companionship, trust and acceptance - and the fear, awkwardness and risk that must be faced to find them.

Verdi's popular 'Rigoletto' to open MOT's 20th season

Michigan Opera Theatre will open its 20th anniversary season Friday, Nov. 2, at the 2,100-seat Fisher Theatre with one of Giuseppe Verdi's popular masterpieces, "Rigoletto," a tale of corrupted power, seduction and murderous revenge set in Renaissance Italy.

Scheduled for six performances Nov. 2, 3, 4, 7, 9 and 10, the musical score will be sung in Italian with surtitles by a cast of American and European opera stars, including sopranos Maureen O'Flynn and Joan Thorngren alternating in the role of the innocent Gilda; baritones Richard Clark and Mark Rucker in the title role; and young tenors Florin Georgescu from Romania and Peter Riberi as the Duke of Mantua.

The creative team is led by MOT principal guest conductor Mark D. Flint, and director Robert Tannenbaum in his company debut will stage the operatic

"Rigoletto" is the first opera in the Verdi trilogy, followed by "Il Trovatore" and "La Traviata." After its premiere in Venice on March 11, 1851, the critics at first dismissed it in favor of the "weightier" works of Richard Wagner.

Composer Igor Stravinsky, however, later defended "Rigoletto," in which he found "more genuine inventiveness." In fact, Verdi tried to go beyond the classical division of opera into arias, recitatives and duets, with the aim of achieving the greater continuity one can find in his later collaborations with the librettist Boito.

The story of "Rigoletto" is based on the verse drama "Le Roi s'amuse" (1832) by Victor

October 25, 1990 Grosse Pointe News Enlerlainment Belle' chronicles youth, bravery of men who flew B-17s

Banks of white fluffy clouds drift across the screen as the credits roll for "Mephis Belle." Then the camera settles down on a sunlit field. A group of young men are playing touch football.

It's a scene that has been reenacted many times in family back yards and neighborhood playfields. But this is not anyone's back yard nor is it a playfield: This is London, 1940, and they are playing on a field adjacent to an air base.

They are the crew of the Memphis Belle, one of the armada of B-17s commissioned to bomb Germany into submission during World War II. They have completed 24 perilous missions without a casualty, very much the exception among American air men in Europe.

They have just one more mission to go and they will be furloughed home. It is the most precarious mission they have ever flown. The assignment - bomb Bremen.

Before the take-off, Monte Merrick's scenario gives us 45 Earth-bound minutes to know the 10 young members of the crew, played by an ensemble of fine young actors. Among those who distinguish themselves are Henry Connick Jr., who makes his debut as a singing farm boy; Eric Stoltz, the crew's poet; Matthew Modine as the cool-headed pilot, and Billy Zane, the dashing would be doctor.

Having been through so much

They argue, engage in horseplay and take care of each other. They mug and make the cynical officer's (John Lithgow) life miserable. He wants to mythologize them - take them on a tour of and showing them off. They want to go home and be with their families.

There is a dance the night before the mission. It is a gala occasion with wall-to-wall young couples. It ends with a screen filled with balloons. It is a memorable sequence, a contrast to what the boys will be facing the next night.

Most of them are excited but some have moments of dreadful fear. Once airborne, the gravity of their situation begins to sink in as they watch one, and then another of the B-17s around them shot down in brutally realistic battle scenes.

Inside the Belle's cramped cabin, emotions begin to rise as they get closer to the target and enemy planes move in on them. Blood spatters the cockpit window. One of them grasps his lucky medallion. When it is

One of the most moving sequences in the movie involves a verbal encounter between the commanding officer and the PR officer who is intent on glorifying the Memphis Belle.

He reminds him that not only the crew of the Belle deserves to be honored but everyone who participated in the mission should be remembered too. He then proceeds to read aloud heart-breaking letters from wives, mothers and girlfriends of those who lost their lives flying through skies swarming with enemy planes.

The Memphis Belle's story has been told before. The flights of the actual B-17 were documented in 1943 by director William Wyler for the Army. It was highly praised for its realistic portrayal of war in the air. His daughter Catherine co-produced this movie with Donald Puttman, who also did "Chariots of Fire.'

Greenfield plans traditional holiday

Visions of sugar plums are and food preparation using recisure to dance through the heads of visitors to Henry Ford Museum & Greenfield Village in the coming holiday season

From Dec. 1 through Jan. 1 (except for Christmas Day) special displays and demonstrations at the indoor/outdoor historical complex will rekindle some of the magic that marks the holiday, and revive a variety of Christmas traditions from past generations as the holiday celebration "Traditions to Treasure" is presented at both the museum and the village.

The centerpiece for the museum celebration will be a towering Christmas tree decorated with cookies, candy, dolls, stuffed animals and small toys. Every child, young and old, will find something to wish for on the giant tree; and it's not inconceivable that a Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtle or two might find its way onto the branches.

More traditional holiday sights and sounds will await museum visitors in the concourse area, where the cheerful toots from a fantasy Lionel train layout will mingle with the strains of Christmas music.

Folks can even leave a little part of their family history with the museum by contributing photographs of their own holiday traditions to the holiday photo wall. Of course, Santa Claus will preside over the merriment and be available to hear every little one's Christmas wish.

Dozens of "Traditions to Treasure" will be recreated in the historic buildings of Greenfield Village. Customs and trimmings from past decades will be featured ranging from a rural English yuletide in the seventeenth-century Cotswold Cottage, to a more modern 1880s American Christmas celebration at the Firestone Farm.

At scheduled times throughout the day, costumed staff in various homes throughout the village will create decorations and gifts, and demonstrate cooking pes, utensils and techniques from the past. The Edison Homestead will offer one such domestic scene with the preparation of old-fashioned candies and baked goods. Other holiday settings and activities to be enjoyed will include an 1890s millinery where ladies busily fashion winter bonnets; the creative craftsmanship of potters and glass blowers; and the General Store where children are welcome to play with reproductions of yesteryear's toys. At the Activities Center located in Town Hall, children will find holiday crafts to keep little fingers busy, while holiday singers brighten winter days.

For a final touch of enchantment, the Henry Ford Museum Theater will present "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." The two-hour play will run Dec. 1-22, Saturdays only, with additional performances Dec. 16-30. Two matinees will be staged each show date, the first at 11 a.m. and the second at 2:30 p.m., except Dec. 16 and 30 when only a 2:30 p.m. show will be performed. Call the Henry Ford Museum reservations center at 271-1620 for more information.

Nightime weaves a special kind of spell around the museum and village, and the public is invited to discover it in two afterhours programs: a 1920s Holiday Gala at Lovett Hall and an 1850s Holiday at Eagle Tavern. The festivities at Lovett Hall recreate the high society scene of the 1920s, complete with champagne toasts, an elegant dinner and dancing under glittering chandeliers to the vintage tunes of the Hotel Savarine Society Orchestra.

The village's Eagle Tavern presents a hearty, family-style meal in the manner of the 1850s, complemented by the holiday music and singing of a troupe of traveling musicians and entertainers. Advance reservations for both programs are

Innovative benefit package to offer services of law firm to employees

By Ronald J. Bernas Staff Writer

A new company has come up with a unique program employers can offer employees as part of a package of benefits along with life and health insurance.

My Lawyer, Inc., is the first program of its kind in the country and it is sparking a lot of interest, says the company's founder, Grosse Pointe Shores resident Joseph C. Spieser.

"It's like a legal HMO with all the good points of an HMO, but none of the bad ones," Spieser

It works like this: If a company chooses to provide its employees with this benefit, a small weekly charge - Spieser says approximately $3 a week - provides the employees with the services of a prestigious law firm for all sorts of problems.

"This is a real breakthrough in terms of serving people from all walks of life," he said. "It's like having a lawyer on retainer.

Those covered will have a lawyer on hand to handle, among other things, auto accidents and traffic offenses, property purchases, consumer fraud, wills and landlord-tenant disputes. Many times, a letter from a prestigious law firm will settle a case, Spieser said.

Currently it does not include divorce, but coverage may expand as the program grows. The service does not cover criminal matters, and will not represent an employee in a suit against his or her employer.

'We're not encouraging people to go around suing everybody," Spieser said. "What we want to do is to educate the people as to their legal rights.'

Spieser said he spent the last few years studying this idea, trying to determine its feasibility, and found it's so simple, it's a wonder no one thought of it

Not only does it provide a benefit for the employees; it helps employers and law firms, too.

Those in the top 10 percent income bracket have no problem affording top quality legal service, the bottom 20 percent get assistance, which leaves the middle 70 percent in the lurch.

"In my research I discovered that there are three major reasons why most people don't go to lawyers' offices," Spieser said. "Many people don't know their rights. And they thought going to a lawyer would be too expensive. And often it is. They might have a $500 problem and it would cost them $1,000 to settle

Spieser found another reason people wouldn't see an attorney even if they knew their legal rights was that they didn't know how to go about finding one.

Others shunned legal action because they were intimidated by prestigious law firms.

The law firm gets a monthly retainer from the dues the employees pay. With enough people in the program, Spieser says the retainer can add up to a substantial amount.

'What that means is that our $14 a month client is treated like Mr. Big," he said.

The law firms are encouraged by that big retainer to provide the best service - if they don't they stand to lose a hefty monthly retainer.

Spieser contracts with only the most reputable law firms, and ensures that the lawyers used will have had at least three years experience, and be easily accessible to all participants.

Because most legal work and court appearances are scheduled during the day, employees must take time off work to deal with the problems. An attorney representing employees will cut down on absenteeism, Spieser said.

Word about the new service is spreading, and Spieser believes it won't be too long before more employers begin providing the service.

Other services provided by My Lawyer, Inc., include seminars and a quarterly newsletter explaining new laws and court decisions, Spieser said.

"Our projections - and we've kept them low - are that we'll have a minimum of 2,000 new members a month starting in 1991," he said.

"I've talked with a lot of different employers and they really feel we're doing something for the average man.

Joseph Spieser of Grosse Pointe Shores created My Lawyer. Inc., a sort of legal HMO. employers can offer as part of an employee benefit package.

Business leaders to host Executive Seminar

In 1984 a group of local business and professional leaders and their wives organized what they called the Executive Semi-

The purpose of the seminar was to provide an opportunity for couples, as well as singles, to take time out, in a relaxed setting, to examine how to apply their faith in meeting the daily pressures they face.

This year the Executive Seminar will celebrate its sixth year, when approximately 125 men and women gather at the St. Clair Inn, Nov. 2-4. The participants will hear nationally recognized speakers as well as share life-changing experiences that have influenced their marriages, families and career priorities.

The hosts for the event are: Mr. and Mrs. John A. Boll (presi-Mrs. Allen G. Carter (director, International Commerce, Unisys Corporation), Mr. and Mrs. James M. Lane (senior vice president, National Bank of Detroit), Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Mercier (president, P.J. Mercier & Co.), Mr. and Mrs. John R. Nicholson (partner, Abbot, Nicholson, Quilter, Esshaki and Youngblood), Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Robarts (president, Robarts Real Estate), Mr. and Mrs. Michael T. Timmis (vice chairman, Talcon Inc.; partner, Marco Timmis & Inman).

The featured speaker will be Robert Mitchell, a senior executive with World Vision and a nationally recognized spokesman for its domestic missions and programs.

In reflecting on the growth of the seminar, Michael Timmis, one of the founders, said: "It has been very gratifying to see the continued growth and success of the seminar over the past six years. The high quality of speakers we attract along with the sharing of insights and experinces that takes place between participants makes this a most invigorating, enjoyable and rewarding experience.'

The weekend begins with a Friday evening dinner and extends through a Sunday morning breakfast. In addition to a variety of presentations, there is ample free time for participants to enjoy both the ambience and the amenities of the St. Clair Inn, which includes an indoor pool, a whirlpool, walking distance to many antique gift shops, and the magnificent view of the St. Clair River from the world's longest fresh water boardwalk.

For those interested, additional information concerning the seminar is available by calling Susan Graham at 885-8100.

October 25, 1990 Grosse Pointe News By Jove, the Brits have done it with the Sterling 827Si genealogy, the Sterling 827Si luxury sport sedan is basically a Honda Acura Legend that has been redone in England by Austin Rover. Those folks are responsible for its exterior, plus things like suspension modifications and interior instrumenta-

It's a beautiful car. I was prepared not to like it (mostly for petty personal reasons which we won't go into), but after a week driving a new version of the car called Oxford (which smells terribly British with its leather upholstery), I'm willing to let bygones be bygones.

Before reviewing the Sterling's strengths, which are many, may I digress and discuss instrumentation in upscale cars?

There's a gentleman in Grosse Pointe who has owned a fantastic turbocoupe for about four years. During this time, he never figured out how to set the radio, the digital clock or his keyless entry system. There has been reason to think perhaps he didn't use the defroster properly. This man is a very well-educated professional with a reasonable fondness for cars and who has decades of driving experience. Yet he isn't enjoying the conveniences of his hot coupe.

There are several reasons. The instrumentation is confusing, hard to see. It's often done in black plastic with tiny white letters telling the driver which button to press for what service. That is, it's next to invisible. And the buttons are designed for child-size fingers.

The owner in question does have one very lame excuse: He has never studied his owner's manual, which explains the car's instrumentation and how to use

But I prefer to lay most of the blame on the automakers and their passion the last several years with electronics and gadgetry in new cars and for trendy black buttons on instrument panels. Each has tried to outdo the other with things like dashboard voices warning of open doors (actually, they liked to pull your leg by telling you your door was ajar), computer screens displaying all manner of usually useless information and those indecipherable digital bar-graph readouts instead of good, old-fashioned dials, idiot lights and numbers.

My first ride in this Sterling Oxford was as a front-seat passenger. The tan leather seat was in semi-reclining position and we couldn't find any rational way to bring the seat back up. In desperation, we resorted to maneuvers involving buttons in two disparate locations, and we finally righted it.

The first day on my own in the Sterling was blissful. The weather helped. It was one of those balmy interludes we've enjoyed this past month, in between monsoons and freezing winds. Indeed, the weather demanded we open the power sunroof early in the morning and keep it ajar (oops!) all day. Perfect day, perfect car.

The second Sterling day included a plunge in temperatures that found one wondering how you could live most of your life in Michigan and not have sense enough to listen to the weather report and bring along a warm coat. Groping across the instrument panel trying to bring some heat into the car was futile. Fancy instrumentation, humbug! Granted, I didn't take time to read the owner's manual. But really. Wouldn't you think controls for something as basic as working the heater would be intuitive? This is a British design and we all speak English, don't

Most of that 20-minute trip was spent pushing buttons that brought first a loud, high-speed fan blowing cold air, then a readout of the outside temperature (47 degrees). Adding insult to injury, the power sunroof, a feature I dearly love, was leaking on the passenger seat because I had not closed it properly.

Let's digress again. A few years ago I was traveling with a friend in Wales. We were driving a Rover 3500, a predecessor, I think, of today's Sterling, although at that time there was no connection with Honda. We were on our way to a medieval feast at an old castle at Ruthven in North Wales, not far west of Chester, England. As twilight darkened into night, my friend began groping around the dashboard and cursing in a most ignoble way. He couldn't find the headlamp switch.

Cursing, he pulled off the road to conduct an in-depth search, refusing to read the owner's manual, which he claimed was written in British and would be no more intelligible than the logic of the Rover's instrument switches. He finally found it out of sight on the left side of the steering column, turned on the headlamps and proceeded, returning to his incessant praise of the very British Rover, with which he seemed to have a curious love-hate relationship. Not o curious, perhaps.

The Sterling 827Si Oxford Edition: Honda engineering with a British flair.

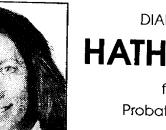

Enough complaining. My overall impression of the Sterling Oxford was very favorable. I liked the car from the moment I put it in gear. After all, it shares mechanicals with the Acura Legend, and a couple of years ago I decided the Legend Coupe was one of my all-time favorites.

I asked a few fellow auto writers, is it normal to like British cars? I was relieved to find they all like the Sterling. It's very fast, very smooth, driver visibility is tops, the seats are comfortable (and infinitely, if peculiarly, adjustable), it's luxurious, it's a pleasure to drive.

The 2.7-liter Honda V-6 engine with port fuel injection is surprisingly fuel efficient. Although we didn't run a true test, a check through the instrumentation indicated it was getting around 27 mpg, in a mix of city and highway driving, mostly city, which is a lot better than the EPA rating of 21 mpg city.

That little engine puts out 160 horsepower, enough to move the Oxford with alacrity, with its smooth automatic driving through the front wheels. It is not cheap with a base price of around $26,500, but is basically a Legend with a British flair and probably a bargain.

While the Legend benefits enormously from the name Honda, Austin Rover dubbed its ersion with the new name Sterling apparently because it was afraid of memories Americans might have of Rover.

SOME ADULTS NEVER GET HALLO-WEANED

By Margie Reins Smith Feature Editor

For some adults, Halloween is a cheap thrill.

... Buy a few dozen candy bars ... throw a sheet over the kids or slap together a hobo costume ... sit back and enjoy the silliness.

For others, Halloween is an excuse to crank up the creative juices - to participate in some childish hijinks - to scare the bejeepers out of their families, friends, neighbors and strangers.

Jack Fischer, a fire specialist for Grosse Pointe Farms, likes to decorate for all holidays, but Halloween is his favorite.

Traffic is backed up for several blocks in all directions from his St. Clair Shores home. He puts up a display on his front lawn that includes a life-size dummy of Freddy Krueger, complete with scarred face, striped shirt and bloody claws; lifelike trees with limbs that move; a bloody corpse with a severed hand and a heart that has been torn out and lies, still throbbing, on the corpse's chest; the head of Me. dusa, snaky hair and all, on a silver platter; tombstones; witches; skeletons; ghosts; mummies; Batman; a coffin with a dummy in it; and more gore.

"It's a hobby that got out of bounds," Fischer said.

He has set up a kinder, gentler Halloween display in the lobby of the Grosse Pointe Farms city hall. For sure it's scary, but it's designed for younger children, with lots of pumpkins, rubber snakes and bugs, a stuffed Ninja turtle, a mechanized version of Alf, lots of plastic rats, skulls, bones, spiderwebs and a full-sized Batman.

He slips in a commercial too: SMOKE ALARMS SAVE LIVES. CHECK YOUR BAT-TERIES TODAY.

"It's good clean fun," Fischer said. "Not too scary, but scary enough.

Fischer has two grown children and has been with Grosse Pointe Farms for 24 years. He said his foray into Halloween decorations started with a modest display four or five years ago - three monsters on his front lawn.

He's added some new creepy stuff each year. Last year Chuck Gaidica broadcast Channel 4's weather forecast from Fischer's front lawn.

The new scare this year, he said, is a life-sized dummy with his arm in a wringer. "His eyes bulge out. His tongue hangs out. His hand moves and his other hand is on his head. I bought a mask and then enhanced it by adding veins to the eyes and lengthening the tongue."

The decorations are only out on Halloween night and the two nights before, he said.

"Three days is enough. People are so nice. We've never had any troublemakers — ever. Everyone is courteous. Some people come up to me with handfuls of coins. I don't want any money.

"The best thing is that my neighbors put up with it."

Fischer said before he began decorating, he gave out about 50 pieces of candy on Halloween night. Now he passes out between 300 and 400 pieces.

The scary stuff in the Farms city hall is on display during business hours.

Paul and Gay Shuert of Grosse Pointe Čity began putting up Halloween decorations in the front yard of their home at 649 Rivard about four years ago. Gay Shuert said she began decorating because only about 20 kids came to her door on Halloween night.

"I love Halloween and I love children, so I put up a small display.'

Last year the Shuerts gave out 760 bags of chips.

This year, their display includes a witch that flies between two trees; a coffin with a dummy who sits up; a flying bat; hands which appear to be wiggling out of the ground next to tombstones; an eight-foot wide skeleton head; and a huge spider web. Schuert is a grandmother and is the mother of five grown child-

"It makes me feel good to see the fun of Halloween rekindled. I remember how wonderful Halloween was when I was a kid.'

She credits family friend Gordie Munn for the mechanized portions of the display, which are operated by someone inside the house.

"Last year we had fun with three little boys," Schuert said. "The littlest boy was watching the coffin. While the other two were looking at other things, my husband made the corpse pop up.

"The little guy kept tugging on his brothers' shirts and pointing to the coffin, but every time they looked, the corpse was still. Every time they looked away, it

"He had the hardest time convincing his brothers that the corpse moved.'

Schuert said she also wants to thank her neighbors who put up with the traffic jam that forms on her street during Halloween

Anna Cunningham, 1, of Grosse Pointe Farms, was enthusiastic about Jack Fischer's Halloween decorations when she visited the Farms city hall with her mother recently.

The Blake Company has been members of the Grosse Pointe community for three generations. We know why people live here, and why they go to great lengths to remain here.

Over the years their homes have become too large and difficult to maintain and until now, the Grosse Pointe area has offered very few alternatives to people who want to change their homes, not their lifestyle.

The Blake Company has created the alternative, Harbor Place: a luxurious condominium community located on the shore of Lake St. Clair, near everything you hold dear.

Designed with traditional New England architecture with an emphasis placed on privacy, security and scenic beauty. Choose between townhouses or terrace homes each in two- and three-bedroom configurations, lavished with an endless list of amenities, including a 2 car garage, exceptional landscaping and boat slips. Call Rob MacGregor today for an appointment and experience the tradition of Harbor Place, you'll see that we really do understand.

The Harbor Place site will be open from 1-5 PM Daily To visit the site enter through Riviera Terrace, 100 yds. North of Nine Mile Road, just off Jefferson

Bridge

HAVE A PLEASANT TRY AT PERFECTION BRIDGE BY WOODY BOYD 🛦 🕈 🛊 🛧

Many have asked how strong a player was Helen Sobel Smith? Mr. Bridge, Charlie Goren, her pre-eminent partner of the forty's and fifty's was most emphatic . . . "By far the finest woman player in the world."

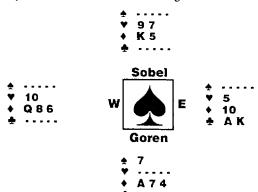

Helen Sobel started playing winning tournament bridge in the early nineteen thirty's. By 1963, when she married Stan Smith and moved to Grosse Pointe, her illustrious career had dimmed to a twinkle, but in the preceding thirty years, no woman was more successful in tournament play. Charlie Goren was her steadiest and most successful partner, but the likes of such greats as Sidney Silodor, Harold Ogust, John Gerber, Sam Stayman, George Rapee, John Crawford and Waldemar K. Von Zedtwitz teamed with her too and her record with them was envious.

Charlie told many fine stories about Helen. Today's hand is the basis for one of them and is significant support for his praise for her play and appraisal. This hand was dealt many years ago at a mixed team of four championship in Miami.

East, obviously apprehensive of an opponents probable spade holding preempted with 5 clubs. After Charlie's spade call he carried on to 6 clubs. South now made a forcing pass and Helen then chose to penalize East. After the defense had collected two diamonds and a heart for plus 500 Goren hastily announced that N/S had been euchred out of a small slam. It seems that the legendary John Gerber, one of the quickest thinkers in bridge had been kibitizing and instantly countered that the spade slam would have been beaten if West had led the trump ace and another. Helen who had only a momentary glimpse at all the cards was just as quick to assert that six spades was invincible and a wager covering dinner that evening was promptly made. The cards were again spread and in an instant Helen showed John the proper technique.

The spade ace by West and continued which North wins with the six. Heart king from dummy, East's ace and ruffed by declarer. A diamond to dummys jack and the heart jack covered by East queen and ruffed. Now South runs all the spades and here is the four card ending.

When South plays his last spade West is quashed, which means he is suddenly and completely subdued. In bridge that translates to squeezed.

Gerber immediately conceded that he had spoken too quickly while Goren proudly smiled in quiet acclaim of partners acumen. Capitulation from one so great was the finest praise that could have been given to Helen. Of course the distinguished Mr. Gerber was a charming host at dinner following.

Music sampler: Ten diverse musical groups will participate in something called "From Mozart to Motown: A Collage Concert," sponsored by the Arts Foundation of Michigan, on Sunday, Nov. 4, at 3:30 p.m. at Orchestra Hall.

The 1 1/2-hour musical event will feature each of the 10 groups performing, with the music flowing from group to group without pause, from different sites in Orchestra Hall.

"The collage concept is intended to be a teaser underscoring the remarkable variety and quality of music performance in Michigan with the hope that people will want to get more of the above," said Peter Schoenbach, chairman of Wayne State University's music department. Schoenbach and Fedora Horowitz, artistic director of the Lyric Chamber Ensemble, are co-artistic directors of the event. The performing groups are: the Lyric Chamber Ensemble, the Larson/Allvin Duo, the Brazeal Dennard Chorale, the Detroit Chamber Winds, Michigan Opera Theatre vocalists, jazz artist A. Spencer Barefield, the Golden Rain Percussion Ensemble, Francisco Mora and the New World Jazz Ensemble, jazz clarinetist Wendell Harrison and his ensemble and Teddy Harris and the New Breed BeBop Society.

Some Grosse Pointers on the Arts Foundation board of trustees: Randolph J. Agley, Georgiann Henritzy, Carol Hennessey, A. David Mikesell, Peter B. Spivak, Elaine Schweitzer, Linda Axe, Margot Kessler, Bradley D. Osgood and Marilyn Gushee.

Tickets are $100 for patrons (includes box seats - possibly shoulder-to-shoulder with some of the performers - and a postconcert reception); $18; or $15. Tickets are available at Orchestra Hall, 833-3700 and Ticketmaster outlets, 645-6666.

For information, call the Arts Foundation of Michigan, 964-2244. The project is supported by the Michigan Council for the Arts, W.K. Kellogg Foundation, Detroit Council of the Arts and the Katherine Tuck Fund.

COMMUNITY EDUCATION PROGRAMS

The Pastor's Corner Pastoral care

By Joel F. Beam Chaplain, Bon Secours Hospital

The week of Oct. 22-28 is National Pastoral Care Week During this time, we especially ask for your prayers and support for all those engaged in ministries of caring.

Our theme, Partners in Healing, suggests that the multifaceted care which takes place in hospitals is a partnership of many disciplines (pastoral care being one of them) which hold the patient to be a central partner in the process of healing. The parish ministry, of which you are a part, is an extension of that partnership into the community. We are most grateful for the relationship we enjoy with the church community as we work together as Partners in Healing.

The butterfly symbol suggests new life after confinement. Taken a bit further, it is also a symbol of transientness, gentleness and peace. Perhaps those are some of the qualities which St. Paul had in mind in this verse taken from his letter to the Romans:

May the God of all hope fill you with all joy and peace in beleiving, so that by the power of the Holy Spirit you may abound in hope.

In the spirit of that message, we invite your continued participation with us through your prayers as Partners in Healing.

Washington National Cathedral is topic of church program to build a Gothic cathedral.

Richard Feller, canon clerk of the works of the Washington National Cathedral, will speak to the Episcopal Church Women of Christ Church on Tuesday, Nov. 6 about his 37-year involvement in the evolution and preservation of the cathedral.

The massive construction project was begun in 1907. Feller, who came on board in 1953, is credited with bringing modern innovations to the cathedral while preserving the integrity of its Gothic architecture. His title, clerk of the works, is an honorable 13th century title for the administrator for the king, bishop or prince.

Feller joined the cathedral staff as an accountant, but was put in charge of the entire construction of the cathedral in

Diabetes education

Holiday Eating and Weight Control, the latest program in St. John Hospital and Medical Center's free ongoing diabetes education program, will be presented on Thursday, Nov. 1, at 7 p.m. in the hospital auditorium.

Pre-registration is required. Call 1-800-237-5646 to register or for more information.

G.P. Business, Professional Association

When will the Pointe Plaza project at Mack and Moross be open? What type of businesses will occupy the site? How will traffic and parking on Mack Avenue be affected?

The Grosse Pointe Business & Professional Association of Mack Avenue hopes to find the answers to these questions at its party and meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 30, at 6:30 p.m. at the Jefferson Colonnade Restaurant, Jefferson between Nine and Ten Mile roads.

Robert I. Schostak, vice president of Schostak & Co., and Robert F. Vail, leasing representative of Schostak Brothers, will speak at the meeting. The Schostak Co. is a general partner in the project. The price is $8 a person. There will be a cash bar, hors d'oeuvres, hearty soup and French bread. Reservations should be made by Oct. 25 by calling Lee Meyer at 881-9099.

The Single Way

The Single Way, a group of interdenominational Christian single adults, will feature a special video presentation by Evangelist David Ring at its next general meeting on Saturday, Oct. 27. Ring will talk about "God's 11th Commandment." Games and fellowship will follow.

Price is $3 for adults; $1 for teens and kids. The group will meet at 7 p.m. at a member's home in St. Clair Shores.

The meeting is open to Christian singles of all ages and faiths. For more information, call 776-5535.

Women of Wayne plan seminar

The Grosse Pointe chapter of Women of Wayne will kick off its 1990-91 season on Saturday, Nov. 3 with a seminar, "Financial Planning in a Fast-Changing World."

Financial and estate planner Helen Hart will speak at the Jefferson Colonnade, 24223 Jefferson Ave., in St. Clair Shores.

Registration begins at 11 a.m., followed by luncheon at noon. The seminar will begin at 1 p.m. The cost of the presentation and luncheon is $16. Reservations may be made by sending a check, payable to Women of Wayne, Grosse Pointe chapter, to R. Hauch, 20211 Old Homestead, Harper Woods, Mich. 48225.

Dance Club

The Villagers Dance Club executive committee met recently at the home of Ralph and Ann Cooper, president couple, to plan a season of dining and dancing. Five dinner dances have been scheduled, beginning with an October event at Lochmoor Club. Other dances will be at the Detroit Yacht Club, Detroit Athletic Club, Grosse Pointe Hunt Club and Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

Membership is limited to 80 couples. At the present time, membership is full; however, guests are always welcome.

G.P. Camera Club

The Grosse Pointe Camera Club will meet on Tuesday, Oct. 30, at 7:30 p.m. at Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfonte, for monochrome and color print competition and pictorial and nature slide competition. Pictorial assignment: HANDS.

Visitors are welcome. 824-9064 or 881-8034 for more information.

Village Garden Club

The Village Garden Club will meet on Thursday, Oct. 25, at 11 a.m. in the Detroit Garden Center, 1460 East Jefferson.

Judith Biggs will present slides on England. Hostesses will be Mrs. James Mullaney, Mrs. Marion Scott and Mrs. Fred Guertler.

Hearts of Gold

Heart of Gold Council members, from left, Linda Gintzig, Jeanne Bertelson, Marlene Borman. Marion Smith and Shirley Reeves recently attended a council meeting to plan the 1991 awards program.

The Heart of Gold Award, which recognizes and honors outstanding volunteers, is sponsored by the Heart of Gold Award Council and the United Way Volunteer Council. Any tri-county area resident may be nominated for his or her contributions to child and family care, retirees and senior citizens, church, cultural and educational activities, health care or involvement in citizen groups.

Nominations are being accepted now through Nov. 1. For further information, call 226-9296.

Arts & Scraps has workshops using recycled materials

Arts & Scraps, a non-profit organization that recycles industrial byproducts into children's art material, is offering two new programs beginning in October.

Adult workshops are taught by working artists, volunteers and staff. For a two-hour class, the cost is $5 — and occasionally there is a small materials fee.

G.P. Symphony Society to hold benefit gala on Friday, Oct. 26

The board of directors of the Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra Society has scheduled its sixth annual Inner Circle of Musical Chair gala for Oct. 26 at Lochmoor Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cook are honorary co-chairmen of the dinner party. Honored guests are Maestro and Mrs. Felix Resnick. There will be dancing to the music of Jerry Luck and live entertainment. It will be a black tie affair starting with cocktails at 6:30 p.m.

Proceeds will help support the Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra by partially making up the difference between concert production costs and concert ticket income. A contribution of $150 will endow one orchestra chair for the 1990-91 concert season. It entitles the donor to concert program listings and two tickets for the 1990 dinner party.

Mrs. William O. Bradley Jr. and Mrs. James R. Daoust are co-chairmen.

Members of the planning committee are Gerald L. Stoetzer, Mrs. Jack Tocco, Mrs. Gerald L. Stoetzer, Mrs. William H. Bundesen, Mrs. John M. Lazar, Mrs. Herbert J. Mainwaring, Mrs. Edward Malewski, Mrs. Alfred W. Massnick, Mrs. Joseph N. Jennings and Mrs. John E. Young, Jr.

Mel Stander is the president of the Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra Society.

For more information and to make reservations for the benefits, call Mrs. Gerald L. Stoetzer at 881-7348.

Autumn is good time for legal checkup

In the fall when the sun grows to make plans for the adjust- your home which determines the ments to see that your interests dimmer and the leaves begin to fall, we are reminded that the lazy, hazy days of summer are gone. With it go our excuses for not doing many things such as getting a medical checkup, exercising more, renewing social contacts or making an effort to make new ones. With the doors closed and the windows shut and the cool winds blowing, we now have time to do those things.

While making that list, we should add another item. If we do not have a family lawyer, we should get one. A lawyer can help us avoid making many mistakes and as we grow older, the margin for error begins to disappear, so it is important to avoid mistakes.

As young working people we could recoup our losses if mistakes were made. Now, we may not have a chance to do so.

If you are still working, but are close to retirement, it is wise ments of retirement in advance, while you still have time for full consideration.

Family and friends can be helpful. Those with special training, such as people from the business world or someone in a social agency who specializes in counseling older people can advise. But when it comes to the legal aspects of important decisions, you need a lawyer.

A family lawyer can give you a legal checkup much as your family doctor can let you know if there are any health problems developing which need attention.

Laws and circumstances change. A death in the family, a birth, a marriage, a divorce or a change in your financial condition are times when legal advice can prevent problems.

If you move from one state to another, you need counsel. The procedures for handling them. law of the state where you make or a contract or look over docu-

The U.S. Office of Human Development Administration on Aging has this advice for choosing a family lawyer: Find a satisfied client. Call the local bar association. Someone there will give you the name of a reliable attorney and you can schedule a first interview for a modest fee. If you are not impressed, you are under no obligation to continue. If you cannot afford to pay, call the Legal Aid Society or write the National Legal Aid and Defender Association, 1155 E. 60th St., Chicago, 60637, for help in finding free service.

In some cases, lawyers charge on the basis of the amount of time they spend with you, so you can save money by discussing your affairs clearly and concisely. Pumpkin recipes are packed with nutrition

Pumpkins, ornamental gourds and Indian corn are symbols of the autumn season and they are enjoyed on holidays such as Halloween and Thanksgiving. Pumpkins are the most colorful and shapely winter squash and come in a wide variety of sizes. There are several varieties and some weigh up to 225 pounds. During the two or three weeks prior to Halloween is when most pumpkins are sold.

The traditional symmetricalshaped, deep orange-colored pumpkins used to make jack-olanterns on Halloween are not the best variety to use for cooking or baking pies because they are stringy. A small orangeskinned variety called the sugar pie pumpkin is thicker, with deeper-colored flesh with a tight small seed pocket. Its taste is sweeter and its texture firmer. It is best when used for pumpkin pie filling or cooked like a squash. Sugar pie pumpkins also make delicious soup, breads and Sugar pie pumpkins lead all vegetables and fruits in vitamin A content. There is more vitamin A in sugar pie pumpkins than we could possibly ever use. They're also low in calories and carbohydrates, and have one of the most complete varieties of nutrients in the fresh-food world.

Pumpkins were one of the three basic foods, along with corn and beans, that supported so many North American Indian civilizations. Sugar pies are the first pumpkin to be harvested. They're available by the third week in September or earlier, and many stores have high quality inventories as late as November.

Pumpkin Bread

2/3 cup shortening 2-2/3 cup sugar

4 eggs

1 pound puree of pumpkin

2/3 cup water 3-1/3 cups all purpose flour

2 tsp. soda 2 tsp. salt

1/2 tsp. baking powder

1 tsp. cinnamon 1 tsp. cloves

2/3 cup coarsely chopped nuts

2/3 cup raisins

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease two 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pans or three 8-1/2 x 4-1/2 x 2-1/ 2 inch loaf pans.

In a large bowl, cream shortening and sugar until fluffy. Stir in eggs, pumpkin and water. Blend in flour, soda, salt, baking powder, cinnamon and cloves. Stir in nuts and raisins.

Pour into pans. Bake about 70 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean.

Pumpkin, Date and Nut Cookies

2 cups all-purpose flour

1 tsp. baking soda 1/4 tsp. salt

1 tsp. ground cinnamon

1/2 tsp. freshly ground nutmeg

1/4 tsp. ginger

1 stick unsalted butter, softened, or vegetable shorten-

1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar

1 large egg

1 tsp. vanilla

1-1/2 tsp. grated orange rind 1 cup canned solid-pack pumpkin puree

1 cup chopped nuts (pecans or walnuts)

It hurts, it really, really hurts

Pain? No problem. A little stiffness? No prob-

A couple jammed fingers? No problem.

A bum knee, now that's a problem. Grosse Pointe North's Kelly Kunkel has one problem, actually two - her knees. Kunkel, who has played three years for Gary Bennett's girls' basketball team, has missed something big this season — playing. For years she played in the shadows of Kim Reiter and Melissa Champine. She was there, a silent partner who didn't say much. She'd let her zealous, yet controlled and physical style of play, speak for her. Opponents didn't want to go into the paint because Kunkel was the artist who would paint a rather gloomy picture.

owever, this young lady has worn those unattractive black sleeve braces over her knees for several seasons now, and on Sept. 24 she fell to the court grabbing for her knee. Pain? Yes. Discouraged? Goes without saying.

Kunkel injured her knee doing the most insignificant thing possible: "I was just walking and suddenly something gave me an incredible amount of pain.'

That pain came from a stretched anteriorcruciate ligament that doesn't need to be operated on, but does need rest.

They tell me I'll never be able to play again," Kunkel said. "I don't believe them because I think I can."

But she hasn't been back since she fell, just six games into the season.

She has, behind closed doors, tried running some sprints, jumping and moving laterally. (भूजिल), all those moves are done tian yout a defender, or a critical move. She's beating only a shadow, but all the time she's holding onto hope.

She's even tried to tape the knee herself and experiment. She says it feels fine, doctors say otherwise. She wants to go to the hoop. She has a desire stronger than a thoroughbred, and has a difficult time accepting her fate.

From all-state potential to team cheerleader, Kunkel has taken a new role; one she wanted to leave to someone

She won't be back, doctors say. She will be back, she claims.

"We still have districts," she said in a subtle, yet optimistic voice. "I can't stand to sit on the sideline and watch things go by."

ut the heady, poised and somewhat over aggressive post player North had high hopes for, sits impatiently on the bench, a very unfamiliar and uncomfortable place to be.

She's tried riding a stationarv bike. She's been lifting weights, but still no progress, say doctors. Kunkel says difer-

"I feel a lot of pain, but no more than I did before," she said. "I lift weights to try to strengthen my hamstrings and to stay in shape just in case I can come back.

Strengthening the hamstrings, jumping rope, doing line sprints. It's all a part of her self-imposed : genda.

Kunkel's going to miss her senior year of basketball, her first love. She's not committing to volleyball, but she's North's starting third baseman on the softball team. All that — in her senior year - could be gone. No longer will she compete, so say doctors.

"We've all heard those stories about people who make miraculous comebacks," she said. "Maybe this will be one."

Just one year after winning a 10th straight Class C-D state tennis title, the University Liggett School girls' team won the Class A tournament.

That's right, Class A. ULS had 31 first-place points with five teams tied for second with 15 points.

Grosse Pointe South, which edged North, 19-18, to get to the state meet, finished ninth.

After waltzing to the C-D championship a year ago, ULS coach Bob Wood gathered his players, and their parents and asked them if they'd like to jump to Class A. They voted yes so ULS made the move.

Not only was the Class A championship the first for any team at ULS, but it was also the first time in the state that a high school team rose two classes and won the state title.

ULS, which finished the dual meet season unbeaten at 11-0, had girls playing in five of the seven finals flights, but that seemed only academic after the first day of competition.

The Lady Knights, winners of 10 consecutive regional titles before capturing the Class A regional Oct. 12, had 22 points after each player advanced past the first round Oct. 19 in Midland.

"The surprising, yet exciting part, was when we sat down at the end of the day Friday and started adding up our points," said Wood. "We were shocked and pleasantly surprised. Going into the finals, we knew we were state, but at that point that doesn't matter because dualmeet champs don't always win the title. We knew we had to get all the girls through the first round and once we did that we were very confident."

And who wouldn't be confident with the schedule ULS plays.

"Our schedule prepares us very well, but we were under a lot of pressure all season long," said Wood, whose team held the No. 1 spot in the Class A rankings all season. "When you're ranked No. 1 in all classes, everyone wants a shot at you. The girls played well all season long and handled the pressure well. They should be proud of what they've accomplished."

Individual state champions for ULS were Heather Heidel (No. 2 singles), Anne Cavanaugh (No. 3 singles), Lauren Gargaro and Lynn Sinkel (No. 2 doubles) and Natasha Levy and Liz Thomas (No. 3 doubles). Ali Frederick and Ify Obianwu were runnersup at No. 1 doubles. Shannon Byrne, at No. 1 singles, and Carrie Birgbauer, No. 4 singles, were semifinalists.

"We knew we had a chance because of our outstanding talent and experience and leader-ship in doubles," said Wood. "Our seniors really played a key role in shaping this team's character. I really think they helped the younger kids out a great deal and that made for an incredible season."

Those seniors include Frederick, Sinkel, Thomas and Levy.

"The girls on this team are blessed with a great deal of talthe best dual meet team in the ent, but they deserve credit, too,

The 1990 version ended 0-0 after regulation.

This was the first time the North-South game counted toward league standings. North, now 5-3 overall and 4-3 in the league, has been in the Macomb Area Conference White Division for four years, and South, (4-4, 4-3) joined this season after winning nine Eastern Michigan League titles.

said Norsemen coach Frank Sumbera. "We really played sound defense through the entire game and I feel we got stronger as the game wore on.

And so did South's defense, which didn't allow the Norsemen past the South 40-yard line.

"Both teams played well defensively," said Devils' coach Jon Rice. "But we felt we played a little better on defense. Our problem was not being able to put the football in the end zone."

South had the ball inside North's 20 twice in the first half, but failed to convert. On the first occasion, North stopped South at the 1-yard line.

North quarterback Sam Sanom (22) releases the ball just moments before South's Don Leal (white jersey No. 70) applies stand," said Sumbera. "That really set the tone for us.'

South managed just about 100 vards total offense, led by Harwick's 68 yards on 21 carries, and North had only 135 total yards. North's longest play from scrimmage was a 26-yard run by Craparotta. Gramling ran 11 yards in the opening drive for South's biggest gain of the day.

Each team had five first

From the opening kickoff, the day looked like it belonged to the Blue Devils. On the kick, the ball hit a Norsemen and bounced back into the hands of South's Brion Czaiczynski. South drove a few yards, but eventually had to punt after Gramling was sacked. And thank goodness punter Matt Recht had a fine day.

Recht punted seven times for a 45-yard average, getting South out of several difficult situations. North punter Adams also punted seven times for a 42-yard average, and like Recht, saved North's offense.

"Marc was the best offensive threat we had," said Sumbera.

After a Recht punt that buried North at its own 1, Adams returned the favor with a 58-yard punt to start the fourth quarter.

"He was our savior," Sumbera said. "We really had terrible field position until he punted. South was putting us in some tough situtations with its fine punting and strong defense, and Marc got us out of those spots."

Adams also had to field a couple of errant snaps.

North's defense was led by Adam Korzeniewski's 12 tackles. while Mike Denardis had 10 and Scott Nesom, Craparotta and Jim Kutscher had eight each. Adams had seven tackles and an interception in the North end zone that thwarted a South drive in the second quarter.

"We had several opportunities to score in the first half and just didn't do it," Rice said. "We controlled the game but didn't score.

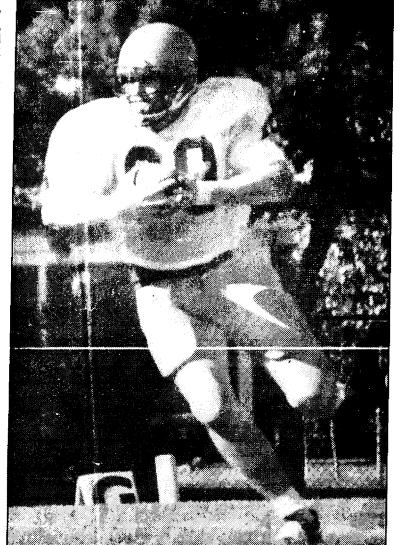

South's defense was led by senior linebacker Jason Bedsworth who had 11 tackles. Brian Burrows had eight tackles and a fumble recovery, and Frank Voelker, who had a fumble recovery, had eight tackles. Kelly Graves had 10 tackles and Brian Blake had eight tackles. Chad Hepner had two key pass breakups.

"This was one of the toughest losses we've ever gone through," said Rice. "We dominated the game and it just didn't work out. We felt we controlled the game in every aspect but we just didn't score.'

The stingy South defense and the poor field position North had most of the game, forced Sumbera into a more limited offensive selection.

"I think I was more conservative in my play calling because we were always in a hole," Sumbera said. "The best field position we had was in the overtime period."

And that's because the ball starts at the 10-yard line.

South's Chris Harwick carried 21 times for 68 yards in a 7-0

North, South cross country teams rule MAC Lady Devils get first championship

Sports Editor

After winning an unprecedented 11 straight Eastern Michigan League cross country championships, the South girls' team knew its reign was over at the end of last season.

The consecutive titles had to end in the E.M.L., but now a new streak may have begun. South, winners of 134 meets in 12 years against only eight losses, beat Grosse Pointe North, 36-39 to win the White Division championship in the Macomb Area Conference.

L'Anse Creuse was third with 105 points in a 13-team race. The White and Blue Divisions were combined for the girls'

The win was South's second over North in a week's time. South had beaten North, 17-41, one week earlier in the season's final dual meet.

North finished 16-1 overall.

The E.M.L. folded and its schools joined the MAC this season. North had won the previous three girls' titles, but South is the new champ on the block.

"Certainly one of our goals was to win the league championship in our first season," said Devils' coach Steve Zaranek. "But we really didn't win it in true style.' South had cruised to 16 straight wins going into the MAC race Oct. 16, and something Zaranek feared all along finally came to pass.

"We were due to have a meet like this because things were going so well," he said. "Sooner or later we were bound to struggle and not run up to our potential. We just didn't look sharp, but we had enough talent to win it despite having a down meet."

Yielding the league championship was not something North wanted to happen. The Lady Norsemen had won 11 straight championships, dating back to the Bi-County League and the dual-meet defeat to South was their first ever league loss.

"The girls ran a lot better in the league meet than they did in the dual meet against South,' said Norsemen coach Charles Buhagiar. "I think there was a lot of pressure on the girls in the dual meet with South. We had never lost a league meet before and the girls knew that, so I think they were nervous. But after that loss, the pressure was gone and I think they responded well in the league meet.' Warren Cousino's Amy Doucette, and Utica's Julie Banks took first and second, respectively. But South freshman Rachel O'Byrne, who has paced the Lady Devils all season, took third overall (19:33). North's Jessica McLalin was on O'Byrne's heels and finished fourth (19:37). "I believe even if we did run well, that North still would have been all over us," Zaranek said. "We have a lot of respect for

North and we knew they'd be tough.'

North's goal was to stay on South throughout the 3.1-mile

"We wanted to get as close to South as we could," Buhagiar said. "And I think we accomplished that. We talked about having respect for our efforts when we finish the race and I think we accomplished that, too. We have more respect for our-selves now and I think South does, too.'

Joy Ramberger finished sixth for North (20:15), but the next three positions (7-9) were filled by Blue Devils.

"That was the key," Zaranek said. "The girls really ran well together and pushed one another. If we didn't have them finishing together, then the meet could have gone to North.'

But it didn't, thanks to Erica Mondro (20:21), Sandy Dierkes (20:34) and Heidi Wise (20:47).

"We took the 10th, 11th and 12th spots," said Buhagiar, "but unfortunately South took the three just ahead of us. That was the difference.

North's Allison Liebold (20:53). Anne Scallen (20:56) and Alissa Zepke (21:07) finished 10th through 12th, respectively.

South's Claudine DuPont was 13th (21:12) and Michele Evans was 15th (21:22).

North boys win 4th straight title

By Rob Fulton Sports Editor

For the fourth consecutive season, the Grosse Pointe North boys' cross country team has won the Macomb Area Conference White Division cross country championship.

Since North joined the MAC, no other team has occupied the top spot and that's how. North

But South, in its first MAC season, doesn't take too kindly to North, which also won the dual-meet championship with a 6-0 mark, won the MAC race with 40 points. South was second with 60 points and Romeo had 79 third-place points.

The Norsemen also won the dual-meet championship at 6-0, and South was third at 4-2, just one meet behind Romeo, which had beaten the Devils in one of the season's first meets.

'We honestly thought we could come back this meet and catch North," said South coach Tom Wise, whose team lost to the Norsemen the previous week, 27-30. "The last time we ran against North we were able to get a guy in front of Tom Gauerke, but this time we couldn't.

"Gauerke was well prepared and ran a great race, and not getting in front of him was a major problem for us."

Gauerke was a problem and so were the rest of the Norsemen.

"We feel very good about our performance," said North coach Pat Wilson. "We ran as a team and won very soundly. It was a nice race for us to win.'

Another difficulty was trying to beat North's Scott Collins, but that wasn't about to happen.

Collins ran to a first-place finish in 16:24, six seconds ahead of Romeo's Chris Hincks.

Gauerke was third at 16:44 and Reeve Brandon followed with a seventh-place time of 17:22 for North. Dan Quinn, who who got in front of Kraft, Gauerke the week before, was 10th in 17:32.

"Tom (Gauerke) ran a fine race," said Wilson. "In the two years I have coached him and Scott Collins I have not seen either one of them run a bad

"This one was exceptionally nice for Tom because he beat the kid from Romeo who he had had a battle going with for a few Gauerke, who pulled away from a step-for-step run in the last 600 yards, beat Geoff Netterhouse by five seconds.

"I do feel we had the best team and we just had the talent to run well all season long," said Wilson. "We won the dual-meet championship and the MAC championship so I don't think it was a fluke. We had a strong Chris Hamilton, who has filled in for the injured Dave Meda, took 11th for North (17.35).

"I was very happy with and for Chris," said Wilson. "Chris' was our No. 4 or 5 runner all season, but he moved out of the top seven after some poor, race But when Dave went down it enabled me to get Chris back up there and he's really done a was eighth overall, was South's nice job. It's been a redemption first finisher at 17:24, and Marty of sorts for Chirs to make his way back.

> Brandon Farmer (17:51), Andy Lee (17:54) and Tony Oloya (17:58) finished 14th, 17th and 18th, respectively for South.

South's Josh Christian (18:01) and North's Jim Moore (18:06) battled for 20th place, with Christian prevailing.

"We thought we were going to have more success than we did, but we still ran a good race,' said Wise. "I'm very pleased with the kids, but we've got to really start concentrating on the off-season conditioning because I think we get hurt by not training in the off season.

In 1988, North finished 12-1 under Marlene Maige, taking first in the district and third in the region. So what happened in Narr.' And Narr restored North's rich golf history as his team finished with an 8-2 record and a third place in the regional meet.

In the previous five years, North won three league championships, finished second once and qualified for the state championships three times. That's why last season's sixth-place league finish shocked the Norsemen, who qualified for this year's state meet and finished in 23rd place.

'This year we have an excellent coach," said Gauerke, "and I think the team is finally back where it belongs.

At the state meet at Michigan State University, North was led by Brian DiLaura's 94, while Scott Carson and Andre Emery each carded a 97.

"I have a very strong belief that people make programs and therefore, a great deal of credit for the rebounding of this team has to go to the coach. Of course, however, he can't do it without some athletes," said Gauerke. Those athletes include, Scott Carson, Brian DiLaura, who didn't play last season, Andre Emery, Mike Zolik, who finished fourth in the regional match, Tim Meek, Matt Van Coppenolle, Mike Klobuchar, Steve Daniell and Ryan Oliver. Carson, Emery and DiLaura were the most consistent, according to Narr, but the help of the others really fit Narr's philosophy.

"I tried to get everyone involved," he said. "At the beginning of the season, I told the kids we were going to do some different things and they all responded well.

"In fact, 11 of the 13 guys we had on the team played at least one varsity match. I would always mix the lineup based on who was shooting well that week and it seemed to work fine.'

And things look just as good for next year because DiLaura, Carson, Emery, Klobuchar and Daniell all return to the Norsemen lineup.

Mustangs lose in Marriott finals

The Pointe Girls Soccer Association U-14 Little Caesars Mustangs qualified for the finals of Oakland University's Marriott Classic Soccer Tournament, but lost to the Centerville Elites, 3-1.

The U-14 division had 20teams competing from Michigan and Ohio. The Mustangs played their first game on a rainy Friday night against the Birmingham Blazers.

The Blazers had recently won their division of the State Čup in the spring, and were all the Mustangs could handle. After trailing by a goal early in the first half, the Mustangs came back in the second half on goals by Robyn Maples and Joanna Catalfio to win, 2-1.

The next day, the Mustangs battled the Canton Sidekicks and came away with a 3-0 win. The Mustangs then played the Livonia United and advanced to the quarterfinals with a 2-0 win.

In the first quarterfinal game, the Mustangs prevailed, 2-0, over the Royal Oak Wildcats, setting up a semifinal match with the Troy Challengers.

The Challengers and Mustangs played to a 0-0 tie after the first half, but once again the conditioning of the Mustangs allowed them to pull away in the second half with goals by Maples and Maureen Zolik. The defense of Rebecca Hessen in goal, backed by Cassie Pangborn, Lauren Kordas, Robyn Dold, Carla Legwand, Kim Hepner and Laura Somogyi once again held a very strong opponent scoreless.

In the finals, the Mustangs got on the board first with a Maples goal from the corner, and held onto that lead into the halftime. In the second half, the Mustangs tried to hold off an Elites comeback, but couldn't. The Elites tied the score with 10 minutes remaining and then with less than five minutes to play scored the game winner en route to a 3-1 win.

The Mustangs were led by Emily Grenzke, Maggie Durant, Jenny Dahn, Tara Chevalier, Laurie Ness, Molly McKenzie, Kate Moloney-Egnatios, Shera Teitge and Maureen Ryan.

Steve Andris had an MVP tournament, scoring eight of the team's 11 goals, while assisting on two others. Christian Auty (1) and Angelo Lapiana (2) also scored for the Bruins, which beat Indianapolis, 4-3, to reach the finals. Devon Allard, Ryan Case,

Mike Getz, Ryan Lutz and Francis Rodriguez contributed heavily to the Bruins' success.

Habitants 6, Port Huron 0 Great forechecking and solid defense highlighted the season opener for the Mite "A" Habs. Robbie Starrs led the scoring attack with a goal and three assists, while Chris Burke, Justin

Fish, Brandon Przepiorka, H.J.

Richardson and Patrick Brennan each added single goals. Robert Wright earned the win in net, while Eric Werner played a strong defensive game.

PLEASE DON'T DELAY! SPAY or NEUTER YOUR PET TODAY!

An altered pet is a healthier and happier companion. Also, it spares you the grief and pain of having puppies and kittens destroved when no homes can be found. Countless numbers of sweet, innocent little ones are euthanized every day in shelters across the country because a pet wasn't spayed or neutered. If we cut down on the numbers of unwanted litters being born, we will also cut down on the number of abandoned, lost and unwanted animals to de-
