

Rowdies mar May Dance; War Memorial cancels 'school's out' party

By Shirley A. McShane
Staff Writer

A small group of rambunctious students lit firecrackers and stink bombs at a May 9 youth dance at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, prompting its directors to cancel next month's year-end celebration.

Barbara Denler, War Memorial program director, said a few bad apples among 500 sixth- through eighth-graders at the dance spoiled plans for the June 22 "school's out celebration."

"We want to make everyone realize the seriousness of this," Denler said. "This is the first time this has happened; our dances are sell-outs, they're safe and everyone has a good time. Maybe (the boys involved) thought they would test us to see how we would react. This is how we're reacting."

Providing activities for Grosse Pointe area youths has been a longstanding tradition with the War Memorial. Youth dances have been on-again off-again in popularity, Denler said. In the last two years, students have attended the monthly dances in record numbers. She said with the help of parent chaperones and hired security guards, there have never been any serious problems.

But the May 9 incident, which Denler said was instigated by a few boys, involved firecrackers, stink bombs and a cap gun. In addition, the boys acted in a disrespectful manner toward the chaperones. Denler said she was concerned about negative publicity and rumors growing from the incident. She said one parent had heard a student had a gun — which was actually the cap gun that was confiscated from a student at the dance.

"I don't want to judge the whole bunch," she said. "I don't think the boys realized the seriousness of their actions. I will give them the benefit of the doubt that at their age they don't realize the consequences of their actions and that this could have been dangerous."

Denler said the War Memorial wants to continue to provide activities for children and young adults. This Sunday, May 23, the resurrected "Battle of the Bands" will be held for the second year in a row following a 10-year hiatus.

The War Memorial does not anticipate any problems at the event that draws high school students, and Denler said no

Protesters march on Korte barrier

Complaining that Grosse Pointe Park's closing of Korte Street to automobile traffic sends the wrong message to Detroit residents, protesters demonstrated at the Korte barrier Saturday.

Park director of public safety Richard Caretti estimated that about 75 people attended the protest. Caretti said that the march began at the Pentecostal Temple Church at the corner of Fairfax and Alter Road at noon. The protest was sponsored by the Jefferson-Chalmers Citizens' District Council, the Creekside Community Corp., the Warren Conner Development Coalition and the Racial Justice Center of Grosse Pointe.

Protesters, then peacefully marched to the newly erected Korte traffic barrier, and stayed there for about 30 minutes, said Caretti.

William Weld-Wallis of the Racial Justice Center of Grosse Pointe, Inc. spoke at the Korte site. Weld-Wallis said that while there is a traffic problem at Korte, the Park should seek an alternative solution to closing the road completely.

The barrier sends the message that Detroit residents aren't welcome in the Park, and that the residents on the Detroit side of Alter can only perceive this action as racist in nature. Weld-Wallis urged the Park to reconsider the building of the barrier, and asked in the name of good race relations, that it be taken down.

The city of Detroit passed a testimonial resolution on April 15, in support of Saturday's protest. The resolution called for the Park to work with area citizens to find a cooperative solution that does not require the building of barriers.

Baby animals

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial sponsored Baby Animal Day last Sunday. Children were encouraged to pet baby farm animals, including newly hatched chicks, above, and a baby duck, left, who made friends with Kathryn Carey, 2, of Grosse Pointe City. About 1,000 people attended the annual event.

Juvenile defendants in Gravel murder may face life

By John Minnis
Editor

Two Detroit juveniles convicted in the 1990 death of Farms businessman Benjamin Gravel could face life in prison following a Michigan Court of Appeals reversal of their earlier sentencing as juveniles.

The appeals court Monday agreed with a Wayne County prosecutor's contention that two of the defendants, who were tried as adults, were improperly sentenced as juveniles to the custody of the department of social services until they reached the age of 21.

The court reversed Detroit Recorder's Chief Judge Dalton Roberson's Aug. 28, 1991, sentencing of Kermit Haynes and returned the case to the lower court with instructions to sentence him as an adult.

The court also reversed the sentence of Cortez Miller, another defendant in the case sentenced as a juvenile.

Haynes was 16 and Miller was 15 when they and four other youths ambushed Gravel, 53, on the night of Feb. 8, 1990, as he was driving on Clairepointe Road in Detroit after leaving the Bayview Yacht Club.

Using a gun provided by Miller, Haynes fired several bullets into Gravel's car when Gravel ignored Haynes' orders to stop the vehicle. The fatally wounded Gravel was unconscious by the time his car reached Jefferson, where it collided with a bus. He was pronounced dead at St. John Hospital.

Haynes and Miller, if sentenced as adults, will be the only defendants in the case to serve time in prison for the murder.

Two other juvenile defendants in the case — Gregory Brown and Willie Hobbs, both 16 at the time of the slaying — pleaded guilty as adults to second-degree murder in a plea-bargain arrangement under which they agreed to testify against two adults in the case. Brown and Hobbs were put on juvenile probation.

The remaining two of the six defendants — Christopher Sims, who was 18 at the time, and Rico Searcy, who was 17 — were acquitted by a Wayne County jury on Oct. 31, 1991, of charges of first-degree murder and assault with intent to commit robbery.

The six defendants in the case had gotten together on the night of Gravel's murder and decided they needed a car to go to a party. Several attempts to steal a car failed before Gravel stumbled into the gang's trap.

Teen assaulted in concert ticket line

An 18-year-old Woods man was treated at Bon Secours Hospital for minor head injuries following an allegedly unprovoked attack May 14 outside a record store and ticket outlet on Mack in Grosse Pointe Woods.

The victim's friend told police that he had parked his car on Stanhope across the street from the store at 5:15 a.m. to join the crowd of people waiting for "Lollapalooza" alternative music festival tickets to go on sale when the two encountered a group of youths standing near a parked car.

The victim thought one of the boys in the group was staring and asked him if he had a problem. He received a reply in the form of a blow to the left side of his head with an 18-inch-long wooden object.

The two then left and went to Bon Secours' emergency room. Several youths waiting in line at the store told police they had witnessed the incident and believe the assailant is a St. Clair Shores resident. The suspect was reportedly seen in a green Pontiac Grand Prix with chrome wheel rims.

Pointer of Interest Marion Leigh Smith

By Jim Stickford
Staff Writer

For Grosse Pointe Park resident Marion Leigh Smith, volunteering to help others is not something to be taken lightly — it is a lifetime commitment.

Smith will retire June 4, five days shy of her 65th birthday, from her position as director of volunteer services for the Henry Ford Medical Center. Her responsibilities include all the medical systems facilities in metro Detroit, as well as the main facility in downtown Detroit.

"It's been such a joy to supervise volunteer services," said

Unfair tests blamed for high lead level reports

By Jim Stickford
Staff Writer

According to the federal government, the drinking water of Grosse Pointe Woods and Grosse Pointe Park has the highest lead content among Metro Detroit area cities.

According to officials from both communities, unfair testing methods have inaccurately measured lead levels in their cities' drinking water, and they'd like to see something done about it.

"The Park lead levels as stated by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency were based on readings from two houses," said city manager Dale Krajniak. "One of those readings, 628 parts per billion, was taken last August from a home that was tested three times. The first test showed normal levels. The second test showed the 628 reading. The third test taken last March showed normal levels again."

"We informed the Michigan Department of Public Health of the new results on April 2, but apparently they chose to use figures taken in August of 1992. Of the five August 1992 water samples taken from homes in the Park, the state public health department took the two highest readings, added them together, divided the figure by two and came up with a lead level of 324."

That means, Krajniak said, that the health department extrapolated lead levels in drinking water for a city of 12,000 people by sampling two homes. He said that strikes him as slightly less than sound scientific sampling techniques.

"We at the Park city hall learned about the EPA report from the media," Krajniak said. "We didn't hear from the EPA until about 3 p.m. Tuesday, May 11. By that time I had already heard from CNN,

Centennial stuff!

Lead

Belcher said that the Woods' lead readings were also based on five samples, with the two highest samples were used to determine lead levels.

"We found the problem in just one house we tested at," said Belcher. "When we retested the water at that home, we did find higher than desirable lead levels. So it is just one home that is skewing results for the whole Woods."

Belcher also said that rules governing the lead testing are set up to find the highest lead numbers possible.

"We were told to test houses that had either lead solder holding joints together, used lead pipes or had lead service lines," Belcher said. "That assures higher lead level readings."

Jim Cleland of the state department of public health said that his staff collected the data for the EPA. If cities had high lead levels, the cities had the option to retest the home. The EPA used figures taken between July and December of 1992. The Park's March 1993 retest of the house with the high lead level was too late to change the test results.

"The EPA protocol, or rules of the test, don't use true scientific statistical methods," said Cleland. "So in the case of the Park or the Woods, a single high lead sample could unfairly skew the results. When the EPA adopted this protocol, there was a lot of protesting. People were afraid of getting results like the kind the Park got."

If people are worried about lead in the water, Cleland suggests that before drinking run the faucet for about 20 seconds. "In the Detroit area, lead pipes went out of fashion before the beginning of World War II," Cleland said.

additional security measures will be sought.

"I think they are old enough to know better," she said. "When they reach that age, they can stop the troublemakers."

In fact, Denler said she is hoping that when the monthly youth dances begin again this fall, the junior high students will police each other's actions.

"If they see that something is about to happen, they should tell the others not to do it or they will ruin it for everyone," she said.

Smith. "Volunteer services is big business. Hospitals, with the exception of churches, depend on volunteers more than any other business I can think of."

When Smith took over volunteer services for Henry Ford eight years ago, she had to find a way to recruit volunteers for facilities spread over all of metro Detroit.

"I was recruited from Toledo to head Henry Ford's program," Smith said. "I am a firm advocate and believer in youth learning early in their lives about the value of volunteerism. To that end, I started up the student credit program. I don't believe in doing business as usual."

The student credit program allows high school students to get school credit for volunteer work in the Henry Ford medical system. The first high school she signed up was Cass Tech. Now Henry Ford uses over 1,500 volunteers.

"When I was growing up in the 1940s, Cass Tech was one of Detroit's really good high schools," said Smith. "I was pleased to learn that it is still that way. I signed up a number of high schools in metro Detroit after Cass Tech."

In addition to high school students, Smith was able to develop a program for college students from the U of D-Mercy pre-physician's assistant's program. Students in that program work in Henry Ford's emergency room with nurses and other ER staff.

"This is a great program," said Smith. "It allows students to get a taste of working in a medical environment while they are still students. They go through a training course before they start, of course."

In Detroit, students from high school and college make up about 50 percent of the volunteers. There are a number of reasons why students volunteer, Smith said.

"They can receive school credit. It looks good on their resume, and it can even lead to a job, though that doesn't always happen," Smith is quick to point out.

"I will miss working with volunteers because it has exposed me to different cultures," said Smith. "Detroit is made up of diverse ethnic groups, and they all have a different point of view. It has been a pleasure to work and learn from these people."

While Smith has been a volunteer since she was in high school, and has been involved in the United Way, United Community Services, Adult Well Being, the Junior League, the Grosse Pointe Park Beautification Committee and Christ Church, she wasn't always a professional volunteer supervisor.

She worked in retailing for Dayton-Hudson, and then for a chain store in California. While working in retail, Smith remained an active volunteer in a number of organizations. Because Smith had never married, job-related moves have been no problem.

"I had moved to California, and had been living there for about 22 years, when my company 'downsized,'" said Smith. "I was 45 years old, and without a career. I thought about my life and what my priorities were, and decided to become a volunteer administrator. I had always been a volunteer, and thought being an administrator would be a nice way to do something important for a living. I worked in Toledo for about seven years, and was hired by Henry Ford to handle their volunteer program."

Smith was surprised and pleased to come back to the Detroit area, where she grew up.

"I had been away so long, I never expected to get a job that would take me back home," said Smith. "I have chosen to retire this June because I feel I am at the right age, and I feel I have accomplished what I was hired to do."

Retirement from Henry Ford does not mean that Smith will be retiring from work. She is planning to start her third career as a dog groomer.

A conversation with her veterinarian a year ago set everything in motion. As an animal enthusiast, she will have the chance be around the creatures she loves, as well as go off in yet another direction.

TWO STORY HOME WITH ONE UNICO SYSTEM

What It Means For Your Home

Removes More Moisture
Unico System removes up to 30% more moisture than conventional central air conditioning systems. That means more comfort for you, even at higher thermostat settings. And because Unico System is adaptable to a variety of air cleaning devices, your home's air will be fresh and pure.

Quiet
You'll feel the Unico System's cool comfort, but you'll hardly hear it. The last 36-inch section of duct has flexible, sound absorbing tubing that provides quiet air flow from each individual outlet. The central return air grill also connects to sound absorbing duct to maintain quiet operation.

Draft Free
Unico System works on the principle of aspiration. Cool streams of high velocity air enter a room, creating gentle circulation without drafts. You enjoy even room temperatures from floor to ceiling.

Fits Any Decor
The barely noticeable outlets blend in with any decor, whether they're installed in the ceiling, floor, or wall. The Unico System avoids the staining of walls and ceilings that can occur with metal registers and diffusers.

No matter when your home was built, or what its physical configurations are, installing the Unico System is always a possibility. Authorized Unico System contractors have installed thousands of these systems across the country and in Canada, in homes that were built without central air conditioning and in those homes where existing systems have proven inadequate. There's a Unico system solution for your home - let us show you.

How Much Does It Cost

At the Emergency Medical Service Expo held in Battle Creek May 1 and 2, three L.C. Taylor Ambulance paramedics who provide emergency medical technician service to Grosse Pointe Park and Grosse Pointe Shores were awarded third-place honors. They are, bottom from left, Philip Fusco, Eric Kaczynski and Richard Kuhn. Standing are, from left, Park public safety director Richard Caretti, Shores village councilmember John Huettman and Shores public safety director Daniel Healy. The contest, in which 21 agencies representing full-time fire departments, private agencies and local municipalities competed, was a test of the paramedics' proficiency in written and practical application of advanced life support skills.

Park police chief says good will knows no barriers, cites example

By Shirley A. McShane
Staff Writer
Richard Caretti doesn't think Grosse Pointe Park is such a bad neighbor to Detroit.

In fact, he thinks a combined rescue effort between three Grosse Pointe public safety departments on May 10 shows better than any demonstration how helping hands are stretched across city borders.

When Park police dispatchers received a call at 6:57 p.m. May 10 that a boy was drowning in the Fox Creek Canal, the department immediately responded, Caretti said. The Park sent five patrol cars, two ambulances and a fire engine to the foot of Alter Road, where the 11-year-old Detroit boy was reported to have gone under the water and not resurfaced.

"We think it's very important to show the quality and intensity of our efforts to aid in a situation that was not within our borders," Caretti said. "We had all the tools and equipment to do whatever we had to do to find the youth."

Public safety officers boarded boats and searched up and down the canal along Alter. When U.S. Coast Guard personnel located the boy's body nearly 30 minutes later, Park officers immediately began resuscitation and placed the boy in an ambulance. Patrol cars from the Park, City and Farms, blocked traffic along Mack to allow the quickest possible trip to St. John Hospital, Caretti said.

Despite the extensive efforts of several police agencies, the boy could not be saved.

But out of the despair of a child's death and the negative publicity surrounding the Park's decision to close Korte street, Caretti remains hopeful that Detroit residents will realize the positive message its neighbors have sent.

"This is a message," he said. "A clear example of hands across Alter Road in a meaningful manner."

Caretti said any time there has been a need for help along the border — whether it is a serious auto accident or a report of a baby choking — the Park has never hesitated to send help into Detroit.

"We are good neighbors," he said. "And any time and every time we have the opportunity to demonstrate those qualities, we always do."

Caretti said the Park has a good working relationship with the Fifth Precinct (Jefferson) of the Detroit Police Department. Detroit officers did not respond to the May 10 drowning, Caretti said, probably because they were not called.

"I'm not criticizing Detroit," he said. "I don't think they knew about it. But we do that all the time; if it's right along the border we can quickly respond to render humanitarian aid. I'm hopeful this will have some impact. . . . We are not racist and we are not bad neighbors."

Reaside named Farms clerk; talents hailed

Shane L. Reaside

By Chip Chapman
Staff Writer

Shane L. Reaside, assistant city manager for Grosse Pointe Farms, officially added the title of city clerk after the Farms city council unanimously approved his appointment last week by city manager Rich Solak.

Solak had previously held both the city manager and city clerk jobs.

Reaside, 28, who will retain his title as assistant city manager, will be responsible for administering elections as well as serving as city clerk for the council.

"Mr. Reaside has, in fact, more than proven himself capable of administering the election process as well as other duties required of a city clerk," Solak said.

"He has furthermore demonstrated initiative and resourcefulness, thoughtfulness and good judgment in his day-to-day activities, excellent public relations skills in working with the citizens as well as with such groups as the Hill Association, Farms Foundation, Beautification Commission, and many other attributes vital to his job."

Reaside was hired in July 1991 as assistant city manager with the expectation of being promoted to city clerk. He was an assistant administrator in Gibraltar after earning a political science degree from Michigan State University.

He is currently enrolled at the Rackham School of Graduate Studies through the University of Michigan, where he is pursuing a master's degree in public administration.

"The transition was kind of what I expected," Reaside said, "where I could become seasoned as a city clerk."

Reaside lived in Grosse Pointe Farms from 1972 to 1982 before moving with his family to Birmingham. He and his wife, Sara, recently purchased a home in the Farms.

"I feel fortunate to be working in a community where we have the dedication of city employees and the residents of Grosse Pointe Farms," he said. "It makes the Farms a good place to live and work."

Resident witnesses attempted car theft

A resident in the 800 block of Neff reported an attempted car theft in progress at 3 a.m. May 16.

The man told City police he saw two men dressed in jogging suits walking north from Neff. Officers responding to the call found a 1993 Chevrolet Blazer with a smashed driver's side window and a broken steering column. Police searched the area but did not locate any suspects.

Tool time

Several tools and gardening implements were stolen from garages in Grosse Pointe Park over the last week.

A resident in the Avondale and Lakepointe area reported a 10-speed bicycle, a tool box and miscellaneous tools were stolen on May 6. A homeowner in the 1400 block of Maryland had a power mower taken from the garage, where it had been secured with a chain.

Another power mower was stolen from a home in the 1400 block of Nottingham. And in the 800 block of Barrington, a resident reported that a boys' 27-inch bike, three power drills and other miscellaneous tools were stolen on May 12.

Park cops nab car theft suspect

A Detroit man was arraigned May 13 in Grosse Pointe Park Municipal Court on charges he attempted to steal a 1982 Chevrolet Camaro parked in the 1200 block of Wayburn on May 11.

An innocent plea was entered for Mac Nakia Johnson, 18, of Detroit, who is being held in Wayne County Jail on $15,000 bond and will appear before Municipal Judge Kirsten Frank today, May 20, for a preliminary hearing.

Officers responded to a citizen's call of a car theft in progress. The suspect was chased and apprehended on Ashland in Detroit.

Weight Loss Shocks Scientists

Seattle — A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete food tablet would eliminate world hunger, until the study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause weight loss without dieting.

Scientists in Europe found that an ingredient in the product named Food Complex 3 actually caused people to lose weight, even though they weren't changing their eating patterns. According to a study published in the British Journal of Nutrition, scientists had speculated that the weight loss was due to a reduction in the intestinal adsorption of fat grams.

The development of Food Complex 3, a project of First Lite Int'l, Inc., could not be used to fulfill its intended goal but it has been a great success for overweight people. A Miami Beach, Florida man struggling with a weight problem for 15 years used Food Complex 3 on the recommendation of his doctor and lost 43 lbs. He said, "My cholesterol dropped 96 points and I lost 43 lbs. Now I have to buy all new clothes." In another report from Mess, Arizona, a pharmacist lost 16 lbs in 14 days with Food Complex 3 and never felt hungry.

Food Complex 3 is available through physicians and pharmacists without a prescription.

Food Complex 3 is not a drug and only contains natural ingredients known to be safe by the FDA. Copies of the references are available from First Lite Int'l, Inc., 3370 N. Hayden Rd., #123-157, Scottsdale, AZ 85283. Please allow $3 for shipping and for each request.

Business rolling along at Bikes, Blades & Boards in the Park

By Chip Chapman
Staff Writer

Not long ago, Mike Le Van was selling commercial real estate and working at a bike shop in Chicago. Then he and his wife, Kathleen, decided that Chicago wasn't the place they wanted to raise a family so they looked to relocate.

While considering new job options, Kathleen Le Van introduced her husband to family friend Tom McGovern, a local sports enthusiast, whose children she had babysat when she was growing up in Grosse Pointe Park.

McGovern had explored the possibility of opening a bicycle shop, even before meeting Le Van. McGovern talked with his nephew, Phil Richards, who has worked for Schwinn for 10 years, about the idea.

Richards, who works in Colorado, suggested finding a third person, a bike enthusiast who would be part owner and run the day-to-day operations. That is when Kathleen, a dentist seeking to buy a practice here, introduced Mike to McGovern.

Mike Le Van had entertained job offers from bike dealers in Chicago and Florida, but the Bloomfield Hills native chose to return to Michigan.

"Having family here made the decision easier," he said. "I almost accepted a job with the new Schwinn, but overall, this was the place to be."

McGovern purchased the building on the corner of Mack and Cadieux when Maskell Hardware closed last fall.

"I wanted to do something in the area of cycling, hockey and Rollerblading," McGovern said. "When Maskell's became available, I wanted it there."

Richards charted the bike shop scene on the eastside, McGovern said, and decided there was room for another store. Le Van said he wasn't worried about opening the store, primarily because of the latter two items in the Bikes, Blades & Boards name.

"I have seen what happens to bike shops in October, November and through the winter with the store having to cut their staffs," he said.

Blades stand not just for the in-line skates the store sells, but also for the ice skates and hockey equipment that will be for sale as the hockey season approaches. And the boards refer not to skateboards, but to

"Hockey was a natural winter addition to the bike business," Le Van said. "I'm an avid hockey player so it was a natural addition from a knowledge as well as a business standpoint."

The only competitors in the area which sell snowboards are ski shops, Le Van said, "but they tend to treat snowboards like stepchildren."

He said that snowboarders are selective customers and Bikes, Blades & Boards will be able to offer them more selections.

The store does not sell skis, but will sharpen and tune snowboards and sharpen ice skates.

Le Van said the store will be transformed about three times a year to showcase the items for a particular season. The store doesn't sell merchandise from the manufacturers on consignment; they must purchase it. Therefore, Le Van said, off-site storage will be needed between store changes.

The store has only been open during the bike and in-line skating seasons so far, "but things are going wonderfully," Le Van said.

"Bike sales are strong," he said, "a little better than expected. And the skates are selling significantly better than expected. We're doing a lot more business than anyone expected us to do."

Business is going so well that Bikes, Blades & Boards is looking to hire a third full-time person. There are presently five part-time employees, along with Le Van and Rick Teranes.

Teranes, the head mechanic and shop manager, is the current state champion in Cyclocross, a 15-mile bike race with obstacles.

Because the shop offers next-day turnaround on repairs, Le Van and Teranes have spent many late nights at Bikes, Blades & Boards servicing bikes.

Aside from what's listed in the name, Bikes, Blades & Boards sells jogging strollers, bike trailers, sunglasses, components, clothing and other accessories.

How much did you lose last year on nondeductible interest?

8.50% APR.*

FIXED RATE

Maybe you've noticed it while getting your taxes ready. All the interest you've paid on consumer loans that's not deductible.

Well, now's the time to think of a strategy for next year's taxes. And consider borrowing against the equity in your home.

At First of America, we can lock you into a low fixed 8.50 percent APR loan with terms of up to 7 years. To make the offer even more attractive, all fees will be waived, so there will be no annual fee, appraisal fees, closing costs or points. And you'll have a fixed monthly payment that will never change.

The sooner you take advantage of it, the more you can save on financing home improvements, education, a car or anything else worthwhile. You can even refinance a loan that you have somewhere else.

Be sure to consult your tax advisor to make sure the interest is deductible.

We can give qualified applicants fast approval—usually within 24 hours. So stop by any First of America office or call 1-313-339-5644 to apply today.

And make last year's nondeductible interest a thing of the past.

Harper Woods, Grosse Pointe Woods want representation on drain board

By Jim Stickford
Staff Writer

The Milk River Drain Board, which has decided that Grosse Pointe Woods and Harper Woods will spend $33 million on a sewer retention basin, has no representatives from either city, and that bothers local officials.

"State law determines who gets to sit on what is known as an inter-county drain board," said Woods city manager Phil Belcher. "The board consists of a member from Wayne County, Macomb County and from the state's Department of Agriculture."

Grosse Pointe Woods and Harper Woods belong to a sewer system that includes several communities in Macomb County. But because the Woods and Harper Woods are the only two cities in the system that use the Milk River pumping station and retention basin, they are responsible for paying for the new system.

The current retention basin holds just under four million gallons. The new basin will hold just under 20 million gallons, said Woods director of public works, Tom Whitcher.

Most people are surprised to find out that the Department of Agriculture is involved. But according to Harper Woods city manager James Leidlein, inter-county drain boards were first established in the 1920s to provide drainage for farmers. Changing the law to make exceptions for urban/suburban areas has proved difficult.

"It's an old law that for the most part still works," said Leidlein. "There are still a lot of rural districts that use this law to establish drain systems.

"It works for them, and the demand to change the law comes from districts like ours. We are in the minority. Last session there was a bill to change the law and it didn't go far. It's hard to change a policy that has been working for 70 years."

Hearings were held two years ago when the Milk River board found out that the DNR would not renew a permit that allows the dumping of excess water from the Milk River retention basin into Lake St. Clair during heavy storms, said Belcher.

The drain board had to decide on how to solve the problem, Belcher said. To that end, the board hired the Ann Arbor engineering firm of MacNamee, Porter and Seeley. Richard Force of MacNamee, did a study of the Milk River problem and recommended seven different solutions. The board then discussed the possible solutions with Force, and decided on the retention basin.

During heavy storms, sewer overflow will be sent to a retention basin that holds 18 million gallons. When the storm is over, the water can be sent to Detroit for processing. Previously, the excess water was dumped into the lake.

"The board kept both us and Harper Woods informed," said Belcher. "Nothing was done secretly. We and Harper Woods hired a consultant to check Force's study, and our consultant said that the study was pretty much on the money.

"But we are spending the money. I think that perhaps we could have found a less expensive solution to the problem."

"Part of the problem is that the people affected by the costs have no say," said Leidlein. "I want to say that we were consulted and kept informed at all stages of the process; we have no complaint there. But it is not the same thing as having a say."

"The second consultant we hired said that there possibly could be a cheaper way to take care of the problem. He had nothing definite, and any suggestions he had needed to be looked at very carefully, but they weren't. Representation would have really helped. But it's state law we are dealing with. What can you do?"

Field wide open for Farms council race

By Chip Chapman
Staff Writer

With two of four incumbents deciding not to seek another term, the field is open for seven challengers and two incumbents running for four seats on the seven-member Grosse Pointe Farms City Council.

Mayor Pro tem John Crowley and councilman Bruce Rockwell have decided not to run for another term on the council. Current councilmembers John Danaher and Gail Kaess each will try for re-election to the council.

Also vying for council seats are challengers Erin Barthel, Chris Corden, John DeHayes, Lisa Gandelot, Ken George, Elaine Hartmann and Ron Kneiser.

An Aug. 3 primary will reduce the field of candidates from nine to eight. The top eight finishers on Aug. 3 will run in the Nov. 2 general election, where the top four finishers will win seats on the council.

"It's been a great eight years," said Crowley, who has served two terms on the council. "With a 5-month-old son in the family, it's time to step aside and let someone else in."

Rockwell, who served on the council from 1983-89, was appointed to the council in 1992 to finish the term of Harry Echlin, who resigned.

"I was glad to do it, but it takes a lot of your time," Rockwell said. "I had already served six years before this."

Rumora to face challenge

Attorney Eugene Casazza will challenge sitting Judge Matthew Rumora in the Nov. 2 election for municipal judge.

Because Casazza and Rumora are the only candidates running, an August primary is not necessary.

Rumora will seek a second four-year term on the bench.

Woods helps Woods

A Grosse Pointe Woods public safety officer on patrol at 4:44 a.m. May 13 heard a police radio broadcast that a Harper Woods party store had been burglarized. Within minutes, he had arrested three suspects.

The men and evidence found in their car were turned over to Harper Woods police.

Harper Woods police were alerted by a resident who saw a man crawling through a broken window at the Parkcrest Party Store on Harper. The man was seen leaving the scene in a white station wagon occupied by two other men.

At 5:46 a.m. the Grosse Pointe Woods officer saw a white station wagon traveling eastbound on Vernier from Mack and stopped the driver. The officer found a large amount of cash, cigarette cartons, a 12-pack of beer and a packet containing 10 rocks of crack cocaine in the car.

The Grosse Pointe News will profile each candidate during the weeks before the August primary.

McNamara holds town meeting at Eastland — outlines county's future agenda

By Jim Stickford
Staff Writer

Wayne County Chief Executive Edward McNamara held a town hall meeting in Eastland's lower concourse Thursday, May 13, to talk about upcoming projects and answer questions from county residents about county services.

The meeting, which was scheduled to begin at 7 p.m., was delayed 40 minutes because McNamara was late. McNamara apologized to the audience for being tardy, explaining that he couldn't decide what car to take, a humorous reference to recent reports in the media that he has three luxury cars assigned to him.

McNamara started off by telling the audience that Metro Airport expansion could be the greatest generator of jobs in the state. It is hoped that airport expansion would create up to 22,000 new jobs, he said.

"If we don't make the airport a world class airport, we'll be losing business and jobs to Chicago or Cincinnati or Cleveland," said McNamara. "The cost of improvements, well over a billion dollars, will be coming from the airlines, not from the taxpayers."

McNamara added that every 747 jet that lands at Metro, means $1 million in business.

"With foreign balance of payments being what they are, we need this expansion," said McNamara.

Expansion plans include building a new parking structure, a new terminal and runways that can handle the largest jets. This would permit international flights to travel directly to and from Detroit, instead of stopping at coastal cities as is now the case.

McNamara also spoke of how the county, in just the last six years, has been able to find enough landfill space to last another 25 to 30 years. He said when he took over as county executive, the county only had three or four years of landfill space remaining.

Grosse Pointe Park city council member Jim Robson asked McNamara about efforts to create a Community Development Bank (CDB). McNamara explained that community development banks lend money to those who live in poor neighborhoods.

A CDB in Chicago has proven so successful that commercial banks have begun lending money in areas where they traditionally have not, he said.

"No bank will admit that 'red zones' exist, but CDBs lend to people who live in the red zone," McNamara said. "Just as urban blight can spread from house to house in a neighborhood, so can rejuvenation.

We hope to set up the first CDB during the Clinton administration."

The county has cited three areas where CDBs would operate. Highland Park, Detroit's eastside and Hamtramck. McNamara suggested that Grosse Pointers could help out by depositing money in these banks.

"The Chicago bank has made a small profit every year," said McNamara. "Because these banks don't need to make a profit for stockholders, they don't need high profits, but they do need depositors."

McNamara also spoke briefly about the recent media reports that his office has rented three luxury cars. He said that the cars were rented at very reasonable prices and were used for a number of purposes, including picking up VIPs at the airport, as well as being used for advance work.

McNamara said that good roads and a decent public transportation system are vital for the county's economic health, when asked about efforts to bring business to the area.

"Wayne County only keeps 70 percent of the revenues generated from the state's gas tax," said McNamara. "The other 30 percent goes to places like Oakland County. They take away from Wayne County businesses like Chrysler, and then turn around and use Wayne County money to build roads to relieve the congestion they created by taking away our businesses. That's not right."

McNamara also complained of an amendment state Sen. John Kelly has added to the state's transportation bill. The measure would require that 50 percent of county road money generated from the gas tax be spent on county roads in the city of Detroit.

"Wayne County is responsible for over 700 miles of road within the county," McNamara said. "Only 10 percent of those roads are within Detroit. That means, unless the state House can eliminate the amendment, 50 percent of the money will be going to 10 percent of the roads. That's not right. But it does look like the amendment will not make it."

Sen. Kelly strongly believes that Detroit and the rest of the eastside of the county have been shortchanged. He points out that Grosse Pointe receives no county funds for roads. In addition, he said the county roads used by Pointers are long overdue for repair.

"I don't represent western Wayne County," Kelly said. "Detroit may have only 10 percent of the county roads, but these county roads feed into 4,000 city streets.

"This money is meant to end urban congestion, not turn two-lane roads into six-lane roads so that people can get to developments built by McNamara's buddies at the western part of the county."

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara addresses eastside residents on local issues.

Blue-ribbon school

Headmaster Sidney I. DuPont went to Washington, D.C., May 13 to pick up the Blue Ribbon School Award for the Grosse Pointe Academy. Lower school principal Camille DeMario and middle school principal Sheila Conolly accompanied DuPont to the nation's capital. The academy was named a blue ribbon school by President Clinton and the United States and the U.S. Department of Education, and was one of 11 schools nationwide to be honored for 1992-93.

Student Spotlight Sarah Nemeckay

Each week in this column, we focus on the work of a student. It can be a poem, a drawing, a short story, a picture of a scientific experiment or a woodworking project, a book review.

Sarah Nemeckay, an eighth-grader at St. Clare of Montefalco, is an honor student and vice-president of the National Junior Honor Society.

I Am

I am a lovable girl who likes to enjoy life.
I wonder what the world would be like if it was flat.
I hear the wind whispering my name.
I see the stars dancing around the moon.
I want a chance to see all the countries of the world.
I am a lovable girl who likes to enjoy life.
I pretend that I could make peace in the world by the snap of my fingers.
I feel the wind push me along.
I touch the clouds when I succeed at something important to me.
I worry about the world coming to an end.

Sarah Nemeckay

I cry when innocent people die.
I am a lovable girl who likes to enjoy life.
I understand that things can't always go my way.
I say that love at first sight is true.
I dream that I will save the world from hatred.
I try to get along with everyone — even my worst enemies.
I hope I can make the world a better place.
I am a lovable girl who likes to enjoy life.

Problem solvers of the future

A team of sixth-graders from St. Clare of Montefalco school became the first problem solvers from a Catholic school in Michigan to win a place in the state finals for future problem solving at the University of Michigan.

Jeanette Pierce, Meghan Mott, John Berschback and Matt Nelson finished third in the state in the junior division (grades 4-6) by successfully completing in the required two hours a 17-page problem-solving booklet on the topic of oceans and then creating a three-minute commercial based on their final solution.

The sixth-grade team, along with a seventh-grade team made up of Allison Brown, Kate Calandro, Allison Johnson and Angela Withers, helped St. Clare set several records in the finals of the gifted/talented national program. Some of the records included: first Catholic school to earn a final place (third in the state); first to send multiple teams to the finals (two teams) and the first Catholic school to earn a place in the finals more than once (this is St. Clare's third trip in four years).

A young visitor enjoyed ice cream and balloons during an ice cream social following the dedication of ULS' new primary school building. Parents, students, faculty and staff attended the May 2 dedication ceremonies. Edsel B. and Cynthia Ford II and their four children helped dedicate the 11,000-square-foot facility that features preschool and kindergarten classroom space. The new building was made possible by a donation from the Ford family. At its May 3 meeting, the ULS board of trustees voted unanimously to create a primary school division at ULS which will include the current kindergarten and pre-kindergarten.

— Author Marilyn Mayer Culpepper, Ph.D.

Marilyn Mayer Culpepper, the author of Trials and Triumphs, The Women of the American Civil War, has been a secondary school and college teacher for 42 years. After meeting University Liggett School students as a visiting lecturer on American History, Ms. Culpepper was thoroughly impressed with their attention and their responses to her seminar. Her encounter caused her to write, "Whenever anyone despairs over the educational system today, I'm sending them to University Liggett School to see how classes should be conducted."

At ULS, our small class size enables teachers to meet the individual needs of all our students. Our classes are full of discussion and Socratic dialogue. By teaching in this fashion, we believe that we can stimulate each student to reach his or her potential.

We invite families interested in quality education to visit ULS at any time. Also, our next admissions test session is Saturday, May 22, at 9:00 a.m. Please call the admissions office at 884-4444 to reserve a space for your child, or for more information.

Seasons

Winter coming like a cloak
Snuffing out the last of summer.

In Autumn . . . .
A cold dark blanket of death
Covering half the world.
The meandering river and all.
Then spring comes creeping
Then leaps on it.
Like a lion on its prey.
It is a flame
And winter is its kindling.
Spring is here.

Young artists were busy last Saturday creating paintings on the windows in the Village for the seventh annual Paint the Window contest sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Village Association. To help celebrate the Farms and City centennials, youngsters were asked to paint images of life in Grosse Pointe today.

Panel discussion on Proposal A to air on cable

The League of Women Voters of Michigan has prepared a videotape containing a panel discussion regarding Proposal A, Gov. Engler's attempt to lower property taxes while raising the sales tax to finance education.

Voters may watch the panel discussion on Grosse Pointe Cable Channel 20 at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, May 26. Proposal A will go before voters in a special election June 2.

Of sculptures, bait and lawnmowers

Residents reported the following larcenies to the Grosse Pointe Park public safety department:

A business on the 15100 block of Kercheval reported that a bronze sculpture was removed from the premises at 1:30 p.m. May 5. The suspected thieves are described as a man walking with a cane accompanied by a woman pushing a baby carriage.

A resident living in the 1400 block of Nottingham told police his lawnmower was stolen from the back yard May 1. Another resident in the same block reported four wheel covers stolen from his parked car on the same day.

A tackle box and contents from a boat docked at the Windmill Pointe Park marina were reported stolen April 30.

Servicar awarded 3-year contract for G.P. schools

Servicar of Michigan has been awarded a three-year contract for special education transportation by the Grosse Pointe Public School System board of education. Servicar came in as the low bidder at $830,120. The district received bids on March 26 from four companies: East Side Bus Inc., Tower Bus, Deluxe Motor Stages and Servicar of Michigan Inc.

Servicar serves the Oakland County area and focuses on special education transportation needs. The company is based in Royal Oak, but told the district it will locate a service yard within five or six miles of the Grosse Pointe area.

The 1993-94 budget for special education is anticipated to be $430,000.

Unwanted Romeo

Grosse Pointe Shores public safety officers ticketed an 18-year-old St. Clair Shores man for throwing rocks at a house on Lakeshore May 16.

The homeowner called police at 2 a.m. when he heard someone in his back yard throwing rocks at his daughter's window. Two scout cars arrived at the home and found the man hiding in the bushes.

The father told police that the young man has been pursuing his daughter for a year and that the daughter had repeatedly told the unwanted suitor to let her alone. The man was issued a ticket for trespassing.

175 kids paint windows in Village

The weather was perfect Saturday, May 15, for the Grosse Pointe Village Association's seventh annual Paint The Window Contest.

About 175 area children between ages 5 and 12 created 2-by-3-foot paintings on the store windows, turning the Village into a huge open-air gallery for the community to enjoy through May 20.

Because Grosse Pointe City and Grosse Pointe Farms are celebrating their centennial this year, the children were asked to depict what they thought should go in the cities' time capsule, including images of life today in Grosse Pointe. Their suggestions were numerous.

Roller skating and soccer were the most popular of the 22 outdoor activities featured. Sailing, fishing, and Lakeshore were also favorite subjects. Among the many other suggestions were trolls, computers, walkmen, the Grosse Pointe News, cars, Grosse Pointe South's 65th birthday, recycling, and even parking meters. A complete list of the children's ideas will be placed in the official centennial time capsule which will be dedicated in August of this year.

The Village Association extends a huge thank you to Damman Hardware for underwriting the paints and brushes, and also to Notre Dame Pharmacy for providing the paint stirrers.

Grosse Pointe artists Ruth Whipple, Rosemary DuMouchelle and Rita Finchman tackled the difficult task of judging. Thirty-four prizes were awarded, located on 22 different stores:

Kindergarten: honorable mention, Christian & Elizabeth Bielski; third place, Kasey Kir-zias; second place, Stephanie Stocking; and first place, Michelle Verbeke.

First grade: honorable mention, Blair Cotter, Amelia Altavenna and Emily Shipman; third place, Erika Jost; second place, Charlie Turner; and first place, Waseem Ksebat.

Second grade: honorable mention, Katie Riley, Sarah Nowosad and Rebecca Tyler; third place, Jacqueline Whelan; second place, Leigh Jankewicz; and first place, Rachel Gruner.

Third grade: honorable mention, Martha Fleming, Perrin Fortune, Lauren Moffett and Kristine Moore; third place, Leah France; second place, Ashley Smith; and first place, Carolyn Black.

Fourth grade: honorable mention, Evann O'Donnell, Jesse Graff, Dianna Courson and Maureen Donnelly; third place, Michelle Sullivan; second place, Alexa Ducsay; and first place, Patrick Michels.

Fifth grade: Third place,

Stephanie Tyler; second place, Michell Danel; and first place, Emily Mabley.

Among these winners, Jost, Whelan, France, and Courson also won prizes in 1992; Ducsay in 1991; and second-grader Jankewicz has won prizes three years in a row.

Finally, fourth-grader Nicholas Bommarito is to be congratulated for winning the grand theme prize. His painting, located on the window of Danielle's, depicted the Grosse Pointe News and scattered "photographs" of his home, sailing, Grosse Pointe shops, tree city, etc. His rendering of his ideas as photographs which could easily fit in a time capsule was unique.

Congratulations to all the participants for their imaginative creations. Children who were not on the plaza to receive their prizes can pick them up at Danielle's, 17009 Kercheval, between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

Village of Grosse Pointe Shores Michigan

WAYNE AND MACOMB COUNTIES
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES

The Council of the Village of Grosse Pointe Shores will hold a public hearing at 7:00 p.m. on Tuesday, May 25, 1993 in the Council Chambers of the Grosse Pointe Shores Municipal Building, 795 Lake Shore Road. The Council will hear comments and discuss a proposed additional 1993 Village operating millage rate.

In 1992 the Village levied 12.3593 mills ($12.3593 per $1,000 State Equalized Valuation) for its operating expenses. Because of an estimated increase in State Equalized Valuation of existing property within the Village, State Law, Act 5 of 1982, provides that the base tax rate for 1993 Village Operating taxes be reduced to 11.5122 mills ($11.5122 per $1,000 SEV). This is 1.8471 mills lower than the 1992 operating rate.

In order to fund the Village's proposed 1993/94 budget and maintain essential services, the Village finds it necessary to increase its operating levy for fiscal year 1993/94 by 1.2568 mills ($1.2568 per $1,000 SEV) above the 1992 base tax rate (11.5122). This will provide an estimated 10.91% increase in Village operating tax revenues and would result in a 1993 operating tax rate of 12.7690 mills ($12.7690 per $1,000 SEV).

SHOULD "PROPOSAL A" BE APPROVED BY VOTERS ON JUNE 2, 1993 ASSUMING A 3% ASSESSMENT INCREASE, THE FOLLOWING WILL APPLY:

Because of an estimated increase in State Equalized Valuation of existing property within the Village, State Law, Act 5 of 1982, provides that the base tax rate for 1993 Village Operating taxes be reduced to 12.008 mills ($12.008 per $1,000 SEV) from 12.3593 ($12.3593 per $1,000 SEV). This is 1.2568 mills lower than the 1992 operating rate.

To maintain the present level of Village services and provide capital improvement funding, the Village finds it necessary to increase its operating millage. An additional millage rate levy of 1.3073 mills ($1.3073 per $1,000 SEV) is proposed above the 1993 base operating tax rate. This represents an increase of 10.89% in operating property taxes. Under its Charter and State law, the Village has complete authority to establish the number of mills to be levied within its fully authorized millage rate.

Oral or written comments on the proposed increase are welcome.

Time to heed Hillary on the Korte dispute

The controversy over the closing of Korte Street in Grosse Pointe Park last March needs a meeting of minds of people of good will more than it needs any more political rhetoric if it is to be settled fairly and amicably.

Some but not all of the residents on both sides of the boundary that divides the city of Grosse Pointe Park from the city of Detroit agree that the heavy traffic on Korte is creating a problem for residents of both communities.

Unfortunately, the solution that the Park has put into effect is creating another problem: the perception in Detroit and among some Grosse Pointers, too, that the barrier that closed Korte was really aimed at barring Detroiters from easy access to the Park.

It seems to us, however, that if both sides can accept the fact that there really are two problems, people of good will in both communities ought to be able to fashion a solution to the traffic and perception issues without more disputes.

For example, a Detroit, Paulette Winston-Foster, president of the Jefferson-Chalmers District Council, has reportedly offered a proposal that would alleviate the traffic problem and perhaps help revise perceptions on the Detroit side about the purpose of the barrier.

Her suggestion, which makes sense to us, is that the Park and Detroit work together to put a "No Left Turn" signal on Alter at the intersection of Alter and Korte.

Even if that isn't practical or doable, as some say, the suggestion ought to serve as a starting point for friendly and joint community negotiations about ways to end both the excessive traffic and the perception that the Pointes want to bar Detroiters from their streets and cities.

In opposition to the street closing, a group of residents from both cities demonstrated Saturday by joining hands, circling the Korte barrier and expressing their concern about the insensitivity they believed they perceived among the Park's leaders about the issue.

Sponsors of the demonstration included several concerned community and neighborhood groups from Detroit as well as the Racial Justice Center of Grosse Pointe.

Commenting on the dispute, the center's executive director, Bill Weld-Willis, said that because African-Americans on the Detroit side perceived the barrier as "a racist act," then "it is a racist act and must be opposed."

We do not question Weld-Willis' sincerity but as journalists we often find it difficult—and even insensitive on occasion—to identify other peoples' motives.

In this case, we prefer to believe that most of the people on each side are saying what they truly believe; that in some cases, racism may be involved, but that in all cases what is said must also be considered in the context of the announced purpose of the Korte closing.

The fact is that traffic barriers to close streets and otherwise divert traffic are not unknown in the Farms, the City or the Woods, nor are they unknown in Indian Village or other parts of Detroit where narrow streets never were designed for heavy flows of traffic.

Unfortunately, the Park's barrier apparently is seen from Detroit as a "Keep Out" sign, and, in fact, had been objected to in advance by such Detroit community organizations as the Jefferson-Chalmers Citizens District Council, the Creekside Community Development Corp. and the Warren Conner Development Coalition, all organizers of Saturday's rally.

In addition, the Detroit Planning Commission had expressed its opposition early on, and, at the request of Councilman Keith Butler, a Republican, the Detroit City Council on April 15 passed a resolution supporting Saturday's demonstration and protesting the Korte closing.

On the other side, the Grosse Pointe Park City Council authorized the erection of the barrier; Daniel Lamar, vice-president of the Fox Creek Homeowners Association, backed it as a deterrent to the heavy traffic on Korte, and a number of other individuals supported it as a traffic control move in letters to the editor.

While the Grosse Pointe News concentration of its news coverage on the Grosse Pointe side of the argument has been criticized, the paper also has opened its letterbox to people on both sides of the issue who have responded generously with their opinions.

Now that all sides seem to have had their say, everyone could profit by heeding Hillary Clinton's advice at Monday's commencement exercises at the University of Pennsylvania, recently the scene of racial incidents:

"What we have to do at this university and in this country is to find a way to celebrate our diversity and debate our difficulties without fracturing our communities."

It IS public school property

We think the Grosse Pointe board of education acted properly if belatedly in calling a public hearing June 1 on the proposed sale of the property and buildings at 389 St. Clair that house administrative offices.

Superintendent Edward J. Shine has targeted the property for sale to help cut school costs by reducing the number of buildings the system operates and maintains.

While the building has been on the market several times since 1979, the proposed sale has run into several sets of critics this time. One is made up of those chiefly interested in preserving an historic building and another comprising those who oppose the sale and think the public should take part in any decision to sell it.

Many of the arguments for the latter view are outlined in a letter to the editor in today's issue of the Grosse Pointe News from a citizen who identifies himself as a member of an ad hoc citizens group opposing the sale.

Several candidates for school board in the June election also are expected to make a campaign issue out of what they regard as inept handling of the proposed sale of the buildings and property.

In one of his regular reports to the people, Shine outlined the history of the property and the plans to sell it, and then added his basic argument for the sale in these words:

"Faced with a financial future that is at best uncertain and at worst devastating to our educational program, divesting ourselves of a building and the costs associated with renovating and maintaining it seems a reasonable and responsible choice."

The critics take issue with this recommendation and contend that, as the letter to the editor says, "the people have a great deal to lose if the board is allowed to sell the last remaining piece of non-school property owned by the system."

From what has gone before, it is clear a public airing of the pros and cons ought to offer the board valuable advice on whether the community as a whole agrees with the proposed sale or whether the critics have better ideas for use of the property.

Letters

Sale of 389 St. Clair property opposed

To the Editor:

The citizens of the five Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods should be aware that superintendent Shine has proposed that the board of education approve the sale of the school system property at 389 St. Clair.

The board has agreed to hold a public forum regarding the proposed sale. That forum is scheduled for 8 p.m. on June 1 at Pierce Middle School on Kercheval in Grosse Pointe Park.

As a member of an ad hoc citizens group that is against the sale, I would encourage every concerned person in the Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods community to attend that meeting and voice opposition to this destructive proposal.

The people have a great deal to lose if the board is allowed to sell the last remaining piece of non-school property owned by the system.

Should the board adopt the planned course of action, the school system administrative operations will be divided and moved to four different locations. The planned locations include Barnes School, South High School, North High School, and Parcels Middle School.

The move and related sale are being contemplated despite the fact that the buildings at 389 St. Clair are historically significant and structurally sound, but need some renovation work.

In his various mailings and public pronouncements on the sale, the superintendent has described his proposed course of action as a money-saving move that is necessary in light of threatened state funding reductions. I strongly disagree with that assessment.

More letters on page 8A

The superintendent's cost figures are overly pessimistic at best and deliberately misleading at worst. Among the numbers cited as "costs" should the board decide to stay at 389 St. Clair is $785,000 for the proposed renovation and $618,000 for annual maintenance expenses over a 10-year period. Alternatively, the cost of moving the system's administrative operations to Barnes, South, North and Parcels will be $896,000.

At the board's public meeting of May 10, I presented a financial analysis of Dr. Shine's cost figures which showed that his numbers unrealistically favor the sale of 389 St. Clair.

During the May 10 meeting, I detailed several cost discrepancies that include the following: The costs of renovating and maintaining 389 St. Clair are spread out over a 10-year period while the cost of moving the administrative offices would have to be incurred immediately. Since a dollar today is worth more than a dollar 10 years from now, the total cost of the proposed move in 1994 is higher than maintaining and renovating 389 St. Clair over a 10-year period.

An additional discrepancy with the $785,000 stated cost of renovating the 389 property includes the proposed expenditure of $112,000 for architect and contractor fees. These fees seem unrealistic given that in recent years, at least eight studies and/or proposals have been received from architectural firms to either improve the entire facility or to renovate portions of 389 St. Clair.

Another questionable renovation expense is the proposed $53,000 for a new roof, even though in 1988 and 1990, new roofs were placed on the two main

Hill finally wins some attention

Mike Hill, one of the two golfing brothers from Brooklyn, Mich., who are on the senior tour, is finally getting the attention he deserves from the local and national news media.

Mike for some weeks has been the leading money winner on the senior tour and last weekend solidified his position by capturing the PaineWebber Invitational at Charlotte, N.C., to win $65,000 and his 15th tour victory.

The Detroit Free Press finally found

We wuz wrong!

We apologize to the candidates who ran for office in the Grosse Pointe Shores village election as well as to the other officials and other citizens for using the wrong date for the election in last week's editorial.

True, we got the day right, but not the date. Fortunately, the news story by Chip Chapman had both right for the election held on Tuesday, May 18.

We are sorry for the error and any inconvenience it may have caused any Shores resident.

A double for Clinton, too?

Rather than a White House staff shakeup, perhaps President Clinton could use a double, as "President Mitchell" does in the new movie, "Dave," to the ultimate benefit of the national interest.

"Dave" is a charming variation on the theme of "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," with the scheming special interests being routed and the good guys winning, space for a tiny one-column, 2-1/2-inch picture of Mike waving to the crowd after sinking a birdie putt on the 18th hole to take his second tour title of 1993. The Detroit News did use a longer story but no picture.

Mike's win boosted his season's earnings to $417,470 and prompted the plaudits of better-known pros. For example, Tom Weiskopf, who came in second, was quoted by the Free Press as saying, "Mike Hill has been the best player on this tour the last three years."

But you probably wouldn't have known that by reading the Detroit dailies or even by watching earlier tournaments on TV — at least, that is, not until last weekend, when for the first time he was frequently on the tube and identified as the leading money winner even before his victory.

True, he was a co-winner of the senior golfer-of-the-year award several years ago when he also led the circuit as money winner, but in golf as in other sports, champions have to justify themselves by winning year after year.

Mike Hill has done just that.

which so seldom happens in politics these days in either real or screen life.

Best of all, from Bill Clinton's viewpoint, honesty and the public interest also emerge victorious in what turns out to be a good summer entertainment.

And just imagine all the time and effort the president could save by turning many of his boring pro-forma public appearances over to a look-alike stand-in.

2 Pointe sophomores attend leadership seminars at EMU

Robert C. Bigelow of Grosse Pointe North High School and Nathan A. Kuhl of Grosse Pointe South High School attended the 1993 Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation seminar May 13-16 at Eastern Michigan University.

Bigelow and Kuhl, both sophomores, were selected to participate based on their demonstrated leadership and potential for continued leadership growth. HOBY seminars bring together high school sophomores in a forum to interact with leaders in business, government, education and other professions to discuss present and future issues.

The goal of the program is to provide valuable learning experience about the American incentive system and democratic process. Emphasis is also placed on broadening the students' understanding of their leadership potential and encouraging self-development.

The HOBY was established in 1958 by actor Hugh O'Brian upon his return from a visit with Dr. Albert Schweitzer in Africa. O'Brian was determined to give back a bit of his own success and motivate aspiring future leaders.

Sign up for week-long day camp

The Grosse Pointe department of community education will hold a series of week-long day camps in August. Hours for the half-day sessions, which will be available for students ages 4-9, are 8:30 a.m. to noon. The fee for the week-long program is $70 and sessions are slated to begin Aug. 2, 9, 16 and 23.

Deadline for registration in any of the day camps is Friday, June 11. The program will include sports, arts, crafts, games and special events. Call 243-2178.

St. Clare students on state honor roll

Donald Polla and Allison Johnson, seventh-graders at St. Clare of Montefalco school, have been named to the Michigan Honor Roll for the 8th annual American Junior High School Mathematics Examination (AJHSME). The Michigan Honor Roll includes middle and junior high school students who rank in the top 5 percent among all Michigan AJHSME participants.

The AJHSME, sponsored by every key mathematics organization in the country, is designed to promote interest in mathematics and to develop problem-solving skills through friendly competition. With 9,472 students from 180 Michigan schools participating, Michigan ranked second in the national registration figures.

The two St. Clare students were the only representatives from the Archdiocese of Detroit, and along with four students from University Liggett School, were the only students representing all of the Pointes.

Winners

Graff wins contest

Grosse Pointe Woods resident Jesse Graff won first place in the "conserve energy" poster contest conducted by the U.S. Army Tank Automotive Command for his picture of a jogger running home to turn off the lights. He received $20 for his winning entry.

Grosse Pointe City councilman Carl Rashid Jr., who has purchased a home in the Woods, indicated he will be leaving the City council. He had not submitted a letter of resignation to the council as of press time.
The City requires that a member of the council be a City resident. Although he has not sold his home in the City, Rashid told the Grosse Pointe News that Monday was his last meeting.
Once a letter of resignation is received, the council must accept the resignation at the next council meeting, which is scheduled for June 21. The council may appoint a new council member or wait until the July 19 meeting.

Any registered voter who has lived in the City at least three years is eligible to serve on the council.
Rashid's term expires in November 1995.

Gandelot to run for council

Lisa Gandelot has announced her candidacy for the Grosse Pointe Farms City Council.
Gandelot, a life long Grosse Pointer and 16-year resident of Grosse Pointe Farms, is eager to serve her community in this capacity.
"I have wanted to run for city council for several years, but had not felt the timing was appropriate. However, with two incumbents choosing not to run, I felt this would be a perfect time to wage a campaign," she stated.
Gandelot, a former elementary teacher in the Grosse Pointe Public School System, has spent the last 20 years as a volunteer in countless organizations in the Grosse Pointe community. She has served on boards of the Junior League of Detroit, Grosse Pointe War Memorial, Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, Mother's Club of Grosse Pointe South, Grosse Pointe Historical Society and the Children's Home of Detroit. Currently, she is completing her second year as president of the board of trustees of the Children's Home of Detroit.
She serves on the Grosse Pointe Futuring Committee and the Grosse Pointe Farms Historical Advisory Commission (charter member). She has been instrumental in raising funds for the restoration of Cleon Hall at Grosse Pointe

"I love Grosse Pointe. I have dedicated myself to enhancing our community through my volunteer efforts. I have devoted countless hours to raising awareness and dollars for each organization I've joined. I believe the experiences I have gained over the past 20 years make me uniquely qualified to serve as a Farms Council member," she said.

Swim, tennis registration in the Farms

Registration for first-session swimming and tennis lessons and synchronized swimming programs are being taken by the Grosse Pointe Farms recreation department on a mail-in or drop-off basis only.
Mail-in or drop-off registrations will not be accepted before Tuesday, June 1. The registrations must include the participant's name, address, phone number, age (as of the first day of lessons) and the specific class the participant wants. Three choices should be submitted for the class time desired.
A check for the full amount — $15 for swimming and tennis lessons — must be included.
Walk-in registration only will be held for the second sessions in each program. It will be held Friday, July 16, from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturday, July 17, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the recreation building.
Children must be 4 years old by June 21, to be enrolled in the tots class. Tots and beginner classes will be limited to six students per class. All other lessons will have a maximum of eight students per class.
There is no guarantee that all registrations received will be assured a place in any class.
Swim classes are four-week sessions, two days a week. Classes will be offered Mondays and Wednesdays or Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 a.m. until noon.
The first four-week swimming classes will begin Monday, June 21, and the second four-week session will start Monday, July 19. Classes will meet at 9:15, 10:15 and 11:15 a.m. each day.
In addition to tots, there will be swim lessons for beginner I, beginner II, advanced beginner, intermediate and competitive.
Youth tennis lessons will be offered for beginner, advanced beginner and intermediate level players. Classes will be held at 9, 10 and 11 a.m. and at noon. The classes are 45 minutes long and are open to youths 6 through 12.
The four-week sessions start the weeks of June 21 and July 19.

Schools gauge curriculum success through new math assessment test

By Shirley A. McShane
Staff Writer
A new math assessment test given to Grosse Pointe Public School System students serves to pinpoint what students don't know rather than to showcase what they've learned.
More than 1,700 students in the third, sixth and ninth grades took the test in February. The test was developed by Roger McCaig, the district's director of research and evaluation.
Results of the examination were delivered May 10 to the Grosse Pointe school board.
The math test was developed this year in conjunction with the district's revision of the math curriculum last year.
As part of an ongoing process, the district evaluates and updates all areas of the curriculum. Last year the curriculum coordinating council looked at the math program. This year it is studying the science program. Next year, administrators will do the same for the art and music programs.
The assessment was written to be difficult, said Alfrida Frost, assistant superintendent of curriculum and evaluation. The test included items the students should know for next year and the results give teachers information about where their students are in relation to where they need to be.

"(The results) provide information for teachers about how each student is performing," Frost said. "They then are using that information to help focus their instruction for the rest of this school year and they can pinpoint exactly which parts the students need help in."
Frost said the assessment is not graded and is not intended to be a mastery test. Rather, it is a mid-year check to help teachers identify which students will need help preparing for next year's Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP) test.
Beginning with the class of 1994, all high school graduates must pass the grade 10 MEAP test administered by the state in order to receive a state-endorsed diploma, Frost said.
Results were graded in the following categories: exceeds Grosse Pointe standards, meets Grosse Pointe standards, meets Michigan standards and falls below Michigan standards.
Letters showing how each student fared on the exam were mailed to parents. Frost said despite the myth that girls don't do as well as boys in math, the test results showed no significant difference in performance for boys and girls.

Trustee Carol Marr said as a parent whose child took the assessment test, she didn't fully understand what the letter to parents meant.
Frost said she has not heard any parents express concern about the contents of the letters.
Administrators based the test content on local, state and national math objectives.
Although the idea of administering a locally developed test is not new in Grosse Pointe, the district had not done so for the math program in prior years, instead relying on a nationally developed standardized test, Frost said.
The district has been using a locally developed test for reading and writing.
As far as what the district is doing with the overall test results, Frost said her department has not made any summary interpretations.
"Next year we'll have some comparative data," she said. "We can do that to see if there are any trends."

Park art gallery engages in coverup

By Jim Stickford
Staff Writer
For owner William Austin, complaints about a painting of Adam and Eve kissing that was recently displayed in the front window of the Impact Art gallery on Kercheval in the Park were much ado about nothing.
"Everyone has their own viewpoint on art," said Austin. "It's supposed to be subjective. I didn't put the picture up to be controversial. I thought it was a nice spring painting."
Austin said that Chief Richard Caretti of the Park public safety department recently visited him and told him that the department had received three complaints about the painting.
"Chief Caretti was very nice about the whole thing," said Austin. "He said that personally the picture did not offend him, but that the department did receive three complaints. He asked in the name of good public relations if I couldn't do something about the situation."

Austin's solution was to place a banner that blocked out certain portions of the picture. On the banner was written the word "censored."
"If people want the picture covered up, fine," Austin said. "But it is censorship. The majority of people who have commented on the painting have told me that they weren't offended."
The painting was recently sold for $450 and was removed from the window said Austin.
"Art covers a broad spectrum of styles," Austin said. "Some pieces are meant to shock, some are meant to engage people's interest. Maybe if the gallery were in Royal Oak, I wouldn't have had this problem."

Austin has received complaints only once before about a display. Someone called him and said that a rendition of plastic chickens in flight weren't in keeping with Grosse Pointe's image. That was an unusual complaint, Austin admitted.
"I've been here for about a year," said Austin. "Support from my fellow merchants and from the community has been good. I hold monthly showings, and people from all over metro Detroit attend. The neighborhood restaurants benefit from the shows. I am just interested in seeing people have a good time."

Dog days of summer can be fatal

As temperatures soared into the 80s last week, I began noticing one of the most horrific, yet common mistakes pet owners make when taking their pet along on errands.
Leaving Stimpy in the car while you dash in to buy a few groceries can be hazardous to his health, and in many instances, after a brief period, can be fatal.
On a warm day, the temperature inside a parked car can reach 160 degrees in a matter of minutes, even with the windows partially open. Stimpy can quickly suffer brain damage or die from heatstroke when he has only hot air to breathe.
Heatstroke is a common cause of death among pets in the summer months. It is imperative that pet owners think twice before leaving Stimpy in the car on a hot summer day.
Heatstroke — also known as sun stroke, heat stress or heat exhaustion — can be caused in several ways, like confinement in a closed area or car that's exposed to the sun and has poor ventilation; excessive exercise or excitement in the sun or during times when the temperature is uncomfortably high; increased humidity; and not having drinking water available.

Pet Pourri

By Kathleen Ferrilla

parent shock, and sudden collapse.
If your pet displays any of these signs, his body temperature must be lowered immediately. Here's how:
Get him in a cool or shaded area, pronto. Apply cool (not cold) water all over his body; apply ice packs or cold towels to his head, neck and chest only (you don't want to overcool him, causing hypothermia), and encourage him to sip or drink small amounts of cool water, or let him lick ice cubes or ice cream (non-chocolate). If he won't drink, don't force him.
If your pet shows signs of shock — pale or dry lips and gums, weak but rapid pulse, irregular, shallow or rapid breathing (about 40 breaths per minute), dilated pupils, clammy or cool feeling to his skin and legs — get him to the vet "now!"
Prevention of heat stroke is quite simple. On hot days, keep your pet in a cool, shaded area with lots of fresh drinking water. Avoid all strenuous exercise during the hottest times of the day, taking walks in the early morning or in the evening when temps begin to drop.

Do your best to properly maintain Stimpy's body weight for his age and size. And, most important, keep him out of hot, sealed cars — no matter how quickly you expect to return. Leaving him at home in a well ventilated and cool place may not only save his life, but will also ensure that he'll always be there to welcome you.

By the year 2000, the aging workforce may increase the rigidity of the economy. An older, more stable work force may adapt poorly to a rapidly changing economy. As the baby boomers reach their middle years, their willingness to pull up stakes in response to new opportunities will decline, according to "Workforce 2000," a U.S. Labor Department publication.

Disclaimers I've known and loved

Everything we buy is wrapped in disclaimerspeak. Denial, nullification and refusal to accept responsibility are only newly popular attitudes, however.

I recently perused a fragile, yellowed copy of the Detroit Free Press from Feb. 22, 1903 — more than 90 years ago.

I marveled/chortled/chuckled/guffawed at the grandiose promises and claims in its advertisements.

Beecham's pills, for example. The manufacturer claimed the pills would cure nervous disorders, sick headache, constipation, giddiness, dizziness, drowsiness, cold chills, flushings of heat, loss of appetite, shortness of breath, blotches on the skin, disturbed sleep, weak stomach, disordered liver, impaired digestion, fullness and swelling after meals, frightful dreams, nervous and trembling sensations and more unnamed ailments.

"The first dose will give relief in twenty minutes," the ad promised.

What if it didn't?

On another page, the "liquid extract of the choicest barley malt and hops" was ballyhooed as a tonic for nursing mothers.

"It gives strength and vitality to both mother and child," the ad promised. "...to be taken with all meals and before retiring."

Ya hoo.

A full page ad included a dozen testimonials singing the praises of Dr. Colwell's Magic Egyptian Oil as a sure cure for rheumatism, diphtheria, neuralgia, sciatica, cholera morbus, croup, coughs, colds, asthma, catarrh, bronchitis, lumbago, sprains, bruises, scalds, soreness of any kind, headache, earache, toothache, stomachache, cramps, colic, diarrhea, dysentery, frost-bites, chilblains, corns, bunions or swollen feet.

From the pen of one mighty satisfied customer, this account:

I Say

Margie Reins Smith

"I threw my hand back and down under a patent rocker in such a way as to rock the flesh completely off the left middle finger from the nail to the first joint, leaving the bone and sinew bare. I replaced the flesh, pressed it around the nail, wrapped it up and a friend gave me part of a 50-cent bottle of Magic Egyptian Oil... In a very short time my finger was as perfect as ever."

I'm all for truth in advertising. But some manufacturers load their products with disclaimers for the obvious, while other unsolicited stuff gets dropped in our laps without so much as a one-liner in the way of instructions.

An unwary consumer could develop catarrh, frightful dreams and trembling sensations merely from reading the fine print on the labels of some common household items.

"Buyer assumes all responsibility for safety and use not in accordance with directions." "Keep out of children's reach." "This product is not for use on humans." "For external use only." "Intentional misuse by deliberately concentrating and inhaling the contents can be harmful or fatal."

Duh.

Other fine-printed stuff gives one cause to pause: "May cause excitability, especially in children." "May cause drowsiness."

"See your doctor if pain persists for more than 10 days."

Some is appropriate. "Smoking by pregnant women may result in fetal injury, premature birth and low birth weight." "Consumption of alcoholic beverages impairs your ability to drive a car or operate machinery and may cause health problems." "Do not remain in enclosed area after use." "Do not mix with chlorine bleach."

Some claims are questionable, even by today's standards.

"One size fits all." "This procedure may cause minor discomfort." "We will not be undersold."

Lots of stuff comes to us disclaimer-less, but desperately needs something — instructions perhaps; warnings; a care-and-maintenance booklet; a warranty:

Pets. Chain letters. Diets. Mutual funds. Birth control devices. Live performances. Fancy golf clubs. Suicide machines. Exercise equipment. Lottery tickets. Fluff cycles on dryers. Souffle recipes. Spouses. Weather predictions. Drop-dead Restaurants. Spandex clothing. Children.

Especially children.

Babies should be born with bracelets: "This child may fall short of — or exceed — parental expectations. It may cause sleeplessness, altered career plans, unscheduled trips to emergency rooms, sibling rivalry, and increased tension within the family. It may cause a breakout of great joy, pride, maturity, happiness and unconditional love. No returns or exchanges.

Diets should come with disclaimers: "The success of this diet depends on the dieter's interpretation of serving size."

New pet owners should be warned. "This animal's presence may cause harm to any or all of the following: rugs, chairs, lawns, socks, TV remotes, mail, shoes, homework, wastebaskets, food, mailmen, fences, trees, bushes and other animals in the neighborhood.

My hairdresser is no stranger to disclaimers. She has a sign displayed prominently on her mirror: "I'm a beautician — not a magician."

Sore back sufferers — maintain your lordosis

Former smokers are the worst.

Having overcome enormous psychological and physical obstacles to giving up tobacco, they can't stand to see anyone else enjoy it. There's a messianic zeal, a fire, that drives them to make other people stop, too.

Michael Dorris wrote about the same zeal, but, in his case, in a fight against fetal alcohol syndrome. His three adopted children all suffer in varying degrees from mothers who drank alcohol during their pregnancies. Writing about it in "The Broken Cord," he said he could scarcely enjoy a restaurant meal because of the pain of watching pregnant women at other tables drinking a glass of wine with dinner.

When he told them of the dangers, they didn't appreciate his interference (in fact, they told him to buzz off). Smokers don't like it, either.

People don't like someone telling them what to do, even if it's good for them. Especially if it's good for them.

So when I tell people to sit up straight, they look at me like I'm nuts. You see, I'm on the healthy back bandwagon. A sore back isn't as serious as fetal alcohol syndrome — thank goodness — but lots more people suffer with it.

A "bad back" is the most common ailment in America — and for the first time, I understand why. And, like it or not, I'm going to tell you.

But first, sit up straight. My credentials as a sufferer from lower back pain go back (as it were) to my 16th year, when I was foolhardy enough to try a swan dive from the three-meter board. Swan song was more like it.

Ever since then (and this is getting to be quite a long time, people), my back puts out negative signals, grabbing, aching, stabbing when I least expect it. In fact, it:

Nancy Parmenter

Grabs when I get up from a chair;

Freezes in position when I vacuum, garden, and spread concrete (well, it would if I were ever to spread concrete, which I wouldn't);

Seizes when I get out of bed (I can hardly reach my knees when I wake up, but by evening I can touch my toes).

Imagine my flash of recognition when I read this list (and more) in "Treat Your Own Back." It's a little self-help tome that my massage therapist lent me. A New Zealander named Robin McKenzie (F.N.Z.S.P., DIP.M.T. — whew!) wrote it.

The first thing McKenzie tells you is that managing your back pain is your responsibility. As one who unceasingly wishes for magic bullets, this wasn't what I wanted to hear, but after years of grabbing, seizing, and stabbing, I gave it a shot. And you know what? Robin is right.

The causes of lower back pain are posture, posture, and posture. Slumping, bending, sagging, lolling — even if your problem started with an injury, as mine did, it's your rotten posture that's making it worse.

In case you think that couldn't possibly apply to you, the book is fully illustrated with photos of Everyman slumping at work and play. It's you — and me.

The watchword here is maintain the lordosis. Now, you probably thought (as I did) that lordosis is some exaggerated curvature of the spine. But no. It's simply the inward-curving hollow at the small of the back — the thing that disappears when you lounge.

Maintaining the lordosis is even harder than I expected. I read this book on a flight to Baltimore a couple of weeks ago, sitting so tall that my fellow passengers probably thought I'd swallowed a ramrod. But I kept forgetting. It's a good thing that McKenzie reminds you of your lordosis in every other paragraph to shoot you upright out of your slump again.

Along with sitting tall, you must stand tall. If you do heavy lifting, lift with your legs (bet you've heard that one before). Before, during, and after heavy lifting, stretch backward a few times, arching your back. And don't sleep in a fetal position.

There's lots more, including some exercises that are easy to do — or would be, if your back could bend (which it will, if you're faithful with the exer-

Secretary of State offices shut for 3 summer holidays

All 180 Secretary of State branch offices will close for the three traditional summer holidays. The offices will close Monday, May 31, for Memorial Day; Monday, July 5, for Independence Day; and Monday, September 6, to observe Labor Day. Motorists are also urged to begin the summer with a renewed commitment to safety belt use, especially during "Buckle-up America! Week," May 23-29. "Of the 18 people who died in traffic crashes last Memorial Day weekend, 15 of whom were vehicle occupants, only three were using safety restraints," said Secretary of State Richard H. Austin. "Many of the victims might be alive this Memorial Day had they buckled up."

Safety belts must be worn by drivers, front-seat passengers and advice about lumbar rolls (a sort of support cushion to help maintain that lordosis).

I know, I know — you didn't buy the paper so you could read about my back. But, like an ex-smoker, I just can't help myself.

The former editor of my hometown paper used to write every week about his current aches and pains. A particularly lingering memory is his annoying blow-by-blow account of a gall bladder attack, written almost 20 years ago, and still talked about here from time to time. (Not admiringly, I might add.)

But, hey, this posture thing works. I'm telling you that by remembering about half the time to sit up straight, my grabbing and seizing is way down. It isn't a cure, but it sure is a miracle.

This is about your back, too. So sit up straight. Like your mother taught you.

Honored by peers

For the past nine years, federal lawyers in the area have honored a respected co-worker with the prestigious Len Gilman Award.

Following his untimely death while in office as U.S. attorney, Gilman was hailed by his peers as "an outstanding lawyer — honest, fair and diligent." Using those standards, again, this year, a panel of judges and lawyers honored assistant U.S. Attorney Blondell Morey of Grosse Pointe Shores.

He heads the economic crimes unit, prosecuting federal rules and regulations cheaters, fraud in postal use and health crime fraud.

His wife, Phyllis, is a practicing lawyer with the downtown firm Pepper Hamilton & Scheetz, specializing in corporate litigation. They have three daughters: Tameka, who graduated from University Liggett; a pre-schooler, Chantel; and Whitney, last year's family addition.

Phyllis graduated from University of Tennessee in law and Blondell is a University of Michigan law graduate, with a political science degree from Eastern Michigan University. Blondell, 45, graduated from Case Tech., and was eager for a military career, especially in law. But having clerked with federal lawyers and judges, and spending a few years in the Virgin Islands, he longed to return to Detroit.

Blondell shrugs when reminded that he is the first African American to win the Gilman award.

"Honored, yes, but honesty and decency in doing the right thing is what you're supposed to do."

Search for excellence

Last Sunday's Detroit Free Press listed 50 winners of the annual Academic All-State and All-City scholars, as chosen by the newspaper after querying nearly 1,000 school principals. The comparable enrollment size of schools, grade point averages of students, the Scholastic Achievement Tests and American College Tests were weighed.

The top 300 high school seniors included Grosse Pointe North's Renee Luise Dwaihy and University Liggett's Riley McCormack; honorable mentions were given to Grosse Pointe North's Lynn Rader and Grosse Pointe South's Damon Smith.

Just another day?

It was a sunny May 28 in Detroit in 1938 as European sovereign borders were being disputed by belligerent armies as the Japanese rampaged through North China's Manchuria, but the United States was under way with strong recovery from a long depression. Factories hummed and the workforce swelled, though Congress was reluctant to grant arms contracts and prepare for war on the horizon. Jim Oates had a good job in manufacturing engineering, so he was confident that he and Ethel would make a go of their marriage. That was 55 years ago, and they will celebrate Friday, May 28.

"My sister Maureen, my family, Lizbeth and our two children, Wendy and Holly, will have a nice dinner. Possibly we'll go to Grosse Pointe Memorial Church on Sunday, which has been our church for about three decades," said son Greg Oates, who indicated that he and his dad would likely talk cars, as the women discussed family matters.

You can be sure the children will have special hugs for grandma and grandpa, and it won't be just another day for the Oates family in the Farms.

We are now installing Pella windows. Energy efficiency, structural integrity and long-term durability have become hallmarks of Pella products. No wonder more architects recommend Pella windows than any other window.

buildings at 389 St. Clair.
Furthermore, the proposed expenditure of $213,000 for heating, ventilating and air conditioning improvements appears exorbitant, given that the facility's maintenance men state that the heating system works well and a boiler was replaced in 1981.

While the proposed sale of 389 St. Clair makes little sense from a cost-savings perspective, it makes no sense when one considers its probable effects on the quality of education in the Grosse Pointe school system.

As elementary school students and their parents in Grosse Pointe Woods and Harper Woods are well aware, overcrowding has become a major concern. With average class sizes in the area elementary schools beginning to approach 30 students, it is clear that moving the administrative offices into Barnes School would be ill-advised.

Overcrowding at Monteith Elementary School is bad enough that a committee of parents and teachers appointed by the school board to study the situation recommended establishing a kindergarten center at Barnes. Despite the committee's recommendation, which was intended to alleviate the problem, the board rejected the kindergarten center option.

Since Barnes was closed in the early 1980s, the number of elementary school students within the school's old boundaries has increased by more than 30 percent. If this trend continues, and if the overcrowding at Monteith and the other area grade schools cannot be alleviated, the only option will be to re-open Barnes School. However, moving the administration's offices into Barnes will make this option unavailable.

In summary, the buildings at 389 St. Clair are structurally sound and in functional condition. The proposed move to existing school facilities will not generate true cost savings, and putting the administrative offices in Barnes School will make it difficult if not impossible to reduce overcrowding at the elementary schools in Grosse Pointe Woods and Harper Woods.

I urge all concerned parents and citizens to attend the June 1 meeting at Pierce Middle School and voice their opposition to the sale of 389 St. Clair.

Schools respond to St. Clair letter

To the Editor:
Mrs. Pangborn's letter regarding the possible sale of 389 St. Clair (5/13/93) contained several inaccurate statements that need to be corrected.

First, the board of education has openly discussed the door-to-door census of the north end of the school district, which will be taken in October. The purpose of that census is not to determine if Barnes will reopen but to keep closer track of the pupil population in that area of the school district.

There is classroom space available at Ferry, Mason, and Poupard elementary schools, and the north-end census will help us determine if we need to use that available space.

Second, the board of education does not want a new administration building. We are trying to downsize the school system in a reasonable way by eliminating the cost of renovating and maintaining one building.

Third, the board of education has never made senior citizens the scapegoats for any of their actions. It is Mrs. Pangborn who is singling out seniors and announcing that the school board is placing the sale of 389 on their shoulders.

The board is only doing what it was elected to do — balancing the costs of a quality educational program with the ability and willingness of residents to pay for that program. Selling the administration building is a way to economize without directly affecting our students.

I do echo Mrs. Pangborn's invitation to attend the public hearing on Tuesday, June 1, 8 p.m., at Pierce Middle School. Whether you agree or disagree with the proposed plan, this is your chance to be heard.

Ugliness mars our reverie

Sun, sand, surf, solitude, just a few of the necessary ingredients for a relaxing, uncomplicated vacation. We had it all and are now refueled and ready for the gift of a Michigan May. This special time in our community is relished by us all and helps to relieve the shock of re-entry after being away. Heaven knows, Michiganders have been patient for six long, gray months. We Grosse Pointers do deserve our precious few moments in the sun and May usually delivers the goods. And isn't Mother Nature strutting her stuff! It can't recall more glorious days than we have enjoyed this month.

As we were winding down, nearing the end of our trip, the real world insinuated itself into our peaceful reverie. We were taking a horse-drawn carriage ride along the Battery section of Charleston, when we noticed an enormous ship in the harbor. Our driver informed us that the ship was Serbian and had been anchored there for over six months. The crew is imprisoned on the ship, not being permitted to unload the cargo or land, because of the embargo which went into effect while they were at sea. We are told that local churches have become involved and take supplies of food and water to the captives on board. We can't help but wonder how many similar scenarios are being played out around the world, innocent pawns caught up in political struggles.

Our living rooms are flooded with tragic audio and visual testimonials to the atrocities being committed in foreign lands. Fellow human beings are hurling their newborn children onto the backs of trucks in hopes that strangers will find the compassion to give them freedom. Our hearts are wrenched when we see old men and women with canes, wandering their war-torn homeland in hunger and confusion.

It is true that we have many problems in our own country and serious concerns in our cities. Stressed-out people gun down their co-workers or shoot up a restaurant. Snipers fire at schoolchildren. Innocent drivers have dangerous objects thrown at them as they drive to work. We ask ourselves if it's the economy, the drugs, the lack of education. We wring our hands. Some of us become involved and attempt to make a difference. There are more questions than answers these days.

However, I cannot feel guilty that we have this fine community to call home and that we are able to enjoy an occasional vacation. I will worry on the day that I begin to take what we have for granted and forget that this isn't the case for the rest of the world.

HEALTH WATCH

How to get along swimmingly during your pregnancy.

Swimming toward labor day

While many forms of exercise benefit women during pregnancy, perhaps the most ideal is swimming. At a time when your joints are lax and your center of gravity is thrown off, water supports you and reduces strain on muscles and joints.

If you're not used to exercising, start at a slow pace and continue as long as you feel comfortable. Add a few laps each time, easing toward 20-40 minutes. As always, check with your doctor before beginning an exercise routine.

The water's fine for mother and child

Besides the pleasure of taking a dip in the pool, you'll enjoy physical benefits as well:

- Exercise encourages an efficient use of oxygen for you and your baby
- Stronger muscles can prevent back pain and ease cramped muscles
- You may have an easier delivery and recovery
- Exercise gives you more energy and fights fatigue
- It can also help you control your weight

South journalists scoop Spartan award

Student journalists at Grosse Pointe South High School dominated their division in state competition sponsored by the Michigan Interscholastic Press Association, winning the coveted Spartan Award for the seventh consecutive year and earning nearly half again as many points in individual categories as any other school.

The Spartan Award goes to newspapers that meet rigid point requirements in evaluation of three consecutive issues by judges from outside the state. The Tower scored 482 of a possible 520 points.

Eleven Class A newspapers were honored this year. The Tower has won Spartan Awards in each of the six years it has been presented. In individual competition for Division 2 schools, South students won 19 awards worth 53 points. Utica schools finished second with 36 points and Grand Haven schools placed third with 28 points.

Mark Rossman was the school's top winner, taking first place for both his column and for a personality profile. He also placed third in news writing and shared in honorable mention for feature page design.

Winning second place were Chris Jeffries for news analysis, Eli Ruhf for portrait photography, Anne Krappmann and Matt Galnor for sports page design, Dan Conroy, Francis and Deason for information graphics, and Lucy Ament, Francis and Deason for front-page design.

Third place awards went to Marsha Zeller for human interest feature writing, Paul Motley for sports feature writing, Tom Szmeccanyi for illustration and Kevin Ozar for personality profile.

C.C. Root won an honorable mention for sports photography and Scott won for opinion page design. Maggie Weyhing, Heidi Kpenig and Rossman won for feature page design.

Stander wins scholarship

Brandon R. Stander of Grosse Pointe Woods has been awarded a four-year scholarship through the State Farm companies foundation.

Stander, a senior at Grosse Pointe North High School, plans to pursue a bachelor of business administration degree at the University of Michigan.

State Farm scholarships are awarded on the basis of academic excellence and leadership potential. Applicants must be sons or daughters of State Farm agents, employees or retirees.

Winners are selected annually by the National Merit Scholarship Corp., based on the students' test scores, academic record, extracurricular activities, a personal essay and counselor recommendation. Winners receive $2,000-$6,000 annually for up to four years.

Stander is a member of the National Honor Society and is on the high honor roll.

Silver Streak meets King's Island

St. Clare school's show choir, Silver Streak, finished its season by taking a trip to King's Island amusement park near Cincinnati earlier this month to perform in the midwest choir competition.

In its first formal competition, Silver Streak, which is composed of 27 sixth-, seventh- and eighth-graders, earned an "excellent" rating from the three-judge panel.

The group works under the direction of Jonah Burakowski, who handles musical direction, choreography and repertoire.

Pot o' good will

Fifth-graders from Our Lady Star of the Sea school visited Crossroads Christian social services organization May 5 as part of a community awareness development project. The children toured the facility and helped separate rice and powdered milk into one-cup bags.

ULS hosts art literary review

University Liggett School will present an all-school art and literary review today, May 20, at 7 p.m. in the arts wing studio and gallery at the school on 1045 Cook Road.

Students from ULS' lower, middle and upper school will present their selected pieces of art, including photography, painting, drawing and ceramics, as well as literary works, including the upper school's Phases literary magazine.

The public is invited to attend the admission-free event.

Bound for France

A group of 50 fifth-graders from Kerby and Richard elementary schools boarded a plane bound for France at 5 p.m. Monday as part of the French-American Back-to-Back Program between Grosse Pointe and Boulogne-Billancourt & Vanves.

The Grosse Pointe students will spend three weeks with the families of French children who visited Grosse Pointe in early March. The exchange program is conducted by the Association of French-American Classes Ltd.

Grosse Pointe's Greatest Garage Sale draws near

For the 11th straight year, Grosse Pointe's Greatest Garage Sale will take place over Memorial Day weekend in the carriage house parking structure behind Jacobson's in the Village.

The Village is located on Kercheval between Notre Dame and St. Clair in Grosse Pointe with easy access from all nearby expressways exiting at Cadieux Road going east to Kercheval.

Held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday and Monday, May 30 and 31, the garage sale features more than 150 exhibitors selling everything from household treasures, wonderful crafts, collectibles, antiques, T-shirts, flea market fancies and miscellaneous items, both new and old.

Drummy Olds will display new cars. Refreshments will be available with coney, as always, offered by the Grosse Pointe Theatre. Popcorn, cotton candy and pop are also offered by other service groups.

As a special added attraction, The Lake Shore Chorus of Grosse Pointe Barbershoppers will perform at 11 a.m. on Monday, May 31. In the past 10 years, exhibitors and vendors from all over the Grosse Pointe/Detroit/suburban areas have gathered to display and sell their goods! Exhibitors from out-of-state, even as far away as Florida, find this sale worthwhile to attend.

Thousands of eager shoppers have frequented this event over the many years the association has held the garage sale. The event helps to fund Grosse Pointe's Santa Claus Parade held the day after Thanksgiving each year to welcome the Christmas season.

Profits from the garage sale come from the rental of the 9x18-foot spaces. Rental for the two days is $75, with an additional refundable $10 cleanup fee. There is an additional charge for electrical outlets. Additional profits come from the $1 admission fee, with children under 12 years old admitted free.

Any individual or group wishing to rent space should call 885-1900, leaving name and telephone number. A member of the Village Association will return your call.

Munich, Salzburg, Vienna information night scheduled for August trip

Learn more about the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Aug. 14-22 trip to Munich, Salzburg and Vienna at an informative meeting on Wednesday, May 26, at 7 p.m. Special trip consultant, Alex Sucek, will review trip plans and expenses.

The trip begins in Bavaria's Munich, one of the jolliest cities in all Europe, where there is a pleasing blend of elegance and rustic charm — the naughty and the nice. A half-day city tour introduces you to the sights with the afternoon and evening free to explore this manageable city on your own.

The tour continues to the fairytale castle of Neuschwanstein, the most famous of King Ludwig's castles. Located at the southern end of the Romantic Road, it has been copied by Disneyworld and its high, thin peaked towers are instantly recognizable.

Spend most of the morning here then stop at the Passion Play village of Oberammergau before continuing on to Salzburg. For music lovers, Salzburg is mostly Mozart. The copper domes and bellfries of the Old City give it a fairy tale quality that envelopes you immediately.

A pleasant stroll with a local expert takes you through the historic center of Mozart's home town. Continue to Vienna — the city of Beethoven, Schubert, Haydn, Brahms, Johann Strauss and other musical giants.

Once the glittering capital of the Hapsburg Empire, its magnificent palaces and ballrooms are now active with tourists and special events. The richness of its cultural life is matched only by the richness of its divine pastries, strudel and the legendary Sachertorte.

The final touch to this tour is a drive through the Vienna Woods to Krenns to board a Danube steamer for a leisurely cruise along the most scenic section of the river.

The trip is $2,299 per person, double occupancy; $275 single supplement. The package includes round trip air from Detroit; three nights in Munich, two nights in Salzburg, two nights in Vienna; seven buffet breakfasts, three dinners; sightseeing with local guides in Munich, Neuschwanstein Castle, Salzburg and Vienna; and round trip airport transportation from the War Memorial.

Ticket lines anger Woods residents

By Jim Stickford
Staff Writer

Citing the mess and the noise made by youths waiting in line overnight at a local record store to buy tickets to a rock concert, Woods residents asked the city council to enact an ordinance to prevent this sort of thing from happening again.

"Kids are camping out overnight outside Harmony House on Mack, near Stanhope, so that they could be the first to buy tickets to a rock concert from the store's ticketmaster machine," said Jim Sheppard of Stanhope Street in the Woods.

"There were no rest room facilities for the kids to use, so they ended up urinating on the street and in the doorways of the offices next to Harmony House."

Sheppard said he spoke with representatives of Harmony House, and said they were sympathetic to his complaint. The company told him it doesn't like people camping out overnight by its stores, but unless the city has some sort of ordinance against it, they can't forbid people from doing so.

Barbara Sheppard of Stanhope spoke with her neighbors and with the office occupants near Harmony House. She said her neighbors also had complaints about the noise and the trash left behind by the youths. She said that one of the doctors who has an office by the store had to enter through the rear door because the smell of urine was so bad.

Barbara Sheppard said that she spoke with the police, but was told that unless they caught someone doing something illegal, they could not arrest anyone. Because there is no ordinance forbidding loitering overnight, police do not have the legal authority to disperse crowds camping out overnight for tickets.

Mayor Robert Novitke and several city councilmembers were dismayed to learn what neighborhood residents had to put up with. The council asked that city administrator Phil Belcher have a report on options available ready for the council's next meeting.

"Woods residents shouldn't have to put up with this sort of thing," Novitke said. "If it will take an ordinance banning nighttime loitering, then I think the council will pass one."

Chuck Papke, vice president of marketing for Harmony House, also attended Monday's meeting. Papke said that Harmony House does not like people waiting overnight either. To prevent that from happening in the future, the company is willing to hand out numbered wrist bands.

The order of ticket sales will be determined by the number on the wrist band. That way customers gain no advantage by getting in line the night before tickets go on sale.

"I came to this meeting to apologize on behalf of Harmony House," said Papke. "The ticketmaster machine sells tickets to a number of events, and we would like to keep it at our Woods store. We do not want to be a burden to the neighborhood. If the wrist band plan does not work, we will stop selling tickets there. We want to work with the community to solve this problem."

Farms Judge Rumora seeks re-election

Judge Matthew Rumora has declared his candidacy for re-election to the bench of the Municipal Court in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Rumora has been the Farms municipal judge for the past five years after having been appointed in 1988 by the City Council, and later elected to a four-year term in 1989.

Prior to becoming judge, he served as city prosecutor for Grosse Pointe Farms. A practicing attorney with 19 years experience in both criminal and civil cases, Rumora also serves as visiting judge by specific assignment in numerous courts throughout Wayne and Macomb counties.

Rumora's professional achievements include appointment as magistrate for 36th District Court, Detroit Traffic Court referee, Circuit Court mediator, and arbitrator for the American Arbitration Association.

Among his professional associations, Rumora is a member of the State Bar of Michigan, the Macomb County Bar Association, American Trial Lawyers Association, Michigan Trial Lawyers Association, American Judges Association, and District Judges Association of Michigan. He currently is vice-president of the Municipal Judges Association.

Judge Matthew Rumora

Rumora is a lifelong resident of Grosse Pointe and a graduate of Grosse Pointe High School. He attended St. Paul School and remains a member of that parish. He is also a member of the board of directors for the Grosse Pointe Farms-City-Park Babe Ruth Baseball League and vice-commandore of the Grosse Pointe Farms Boat Club.

He has worked as a Grosse Pointe volunteer probation officer and as a volunteer attorney for Family Life Education Council (FLEC).

His wife, Kathleen, who also is a lifelong resident of Grosse Pointe, is employed as a comptroller for Midwest Analytical Services, an environmental testing concern.

Rumora is a member of the Grosse Pointe Rotary Club, Grosse Pointe Crisis Club, Exchange Club of Grosse Pointe, Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, and Grosse Pointe Farms Foundation.

The Grosse Pointe Farms municipal judge is elected to a four-year term and is responsible for arraignments in criminal cases and preliminary exams in felony cases.

Rumora presides over trials of all misdemeanor violations, civil cases up to $1,500, including small claims, landlord/tenant disputes and all traffic violations.

Grosse Pointe Farms Municipal Court is regularly held on every other Wednesday of each month.

What happened between a Grosse Pointe Farms man and a Grosse Pointe City woman on the night of April 15 will be decided in Detroit Recorder's Court.

The City woman, 29, reported to Grosse Pointe Shores public safety officers that the Farms man sexually assaulted her in his relative's home in Grosse Pointe Shores shortly after he invited her inside to look around.

Following an investigation by the Shores public safety department, Robert K. Martindale, 28, was arraigned April 21 in Shores Municipal Court on a charge of third-degree criminal sexual conduct, a 15-year felony.

But Martindale's attorney, Dean Metry, said the two engaged in a consensual act and had his client not taken the woman's car afterward without permission, the matter would never have made it to court.

Following a May 12 preliminary hearing, Farms Municipal Judge Matthew Rumora bound over Martindale to Recorder's Court in Detroit on the third-degree criminal sexual conduct charges and for unlawfully driving away an automobile.

After hearing testimony from the woman, whose name is being withheld to protect her identity, Rumora decided there was sufficient evidence to establish that sexual penetration took place and that force was used.

Additionally, Rumora said there was enough evidence to establish that Martindale took the woman's car without her permission.

Following the hearing on the Shores case, Martindale pleaded guilty during a probation hearing in Farms Municipal Court on charges that he violated terms of a November 1991 probation he is serving for fraud charges.

Rumora originally sentenced Martindale to serve 58 days in jail. But Metry asked Rumora to amend his sentence allowing Martindale instead to enter a 60-day in-patient treatment program. Rumora granted Metry's request.

"I don't think (Rumora) had any choice but to bind (Martindale) over but there was no sign of physical abuse on either (the defendant or the victim) or any action after the occurrence that would indicate trauma or sexual assault," Metry said. "There certainly was a lack of desire for her to contact police voluntarily. I think she was angry about him taking her car."

Metry called the charges a "cover-up" for a sexual encounter.

But the woman testified that she had known Martindale since they were children and hadn't seen him in about 10 years when she encountered him at a Grosse Pointe Park bar, where she was watching a sporting event on television with friends.

The woman said Martindale asked her for a ride home because he did not have a driver's license. She agreed to drive him home after he told her he had to attend to a broken water heater.

After arriving at his relative's house, the woman said he invited her in to look around.

After a quick tour of the house, the woman said Martindale approached her and assaulted her and then left the house, apparently taking her car keys from her jacket.

The woman testified that she used the telephone at the relative's house to call for a ride home, but could not reach anyone. She walked to Mack and Moross, making phone calls along the way. When she finally contacted a friend to give her a ride, she said she told her friend of the assault. Her friend urged her, despite her initial reluctance, to report the incident to the police.

Shores police arrived at the relative's house and took the woman to a nearby hospital.

Metry said after his client is cleared of the charges, he may seek malicious prosecution charges against the woman.

City Airport revisited

To the Editor:
During recent weeks, three letters opposing Detroit City Airport expansion have appeared in The Grosse Pointe News "To the Editor" columns. Very timely letters.

The first, quietly and tastefully disagrees with a newly appointed DCA official's statement that the Grosse Pointe residents could not hear noises of DCA plane landings and takeoffs. Then what are those noises we heard, even before storm windows were deactivated, overgrown bees?

How could a quasi-public official imply that Grosse Pointe residents could not hear plane landings and takeoffs? Semantics? Technical definitions of landings and takeoffs? Every take-off, and whatever follows, involves an earlier landing preceded by an approach.

According to newspaper reports, the Southwest's April 1993 revenue passenger miles jumped 22.1 percent vs. April '92. This month, Southwest will increase its DCA flights from 16 per day to 20 a day, a 25 percent increase. So even without expansion, by May 10 Southwest Airlines will have 20 landings and 20 takeoffs per day at DCA — a total of 40 commercial events.

The second letter, also very thoughtful and intelligent, quietly reminds us that the many factors originally causing opposition to DCA expansion still exist. To re-quote in part, "DCA would be trading a small plane airport for a major jetway with maximal intrusion to its surroundings."

As recommended before, let's keep DCA a small non-commercial facility.

The third letter, a genuine service to our community, revisits and updates, reminding us: "Continue to fight City Airport." It was "must reading" for all Grosse Pointe residents.

Its theme, "Grosse Pointe opposition helped defeat the first two proposals for DCA expansion and will continue to be effective against the third three-stage plan." Gov. Engler, Sen. Riegle and Sen. Levin must be apprised of Grosse Pointe opposition to the use of state or federal funds (our taxes) to expand DCA.

Deserving repetition and emphasis, and of particular importance to Grosse Pointe residents, "Pointers have made it clear that they do not want public funds used to construct a facility that will destroy the quality of life in their communities. They object to the noise, water and air pollution attendant upon an expanded airport, and are unwilling to have their community underlie an airplane expressway."

As Grosse Pointe residents we should dig out back copies of the Grosse Pointe News and re-read these three commentaries by three fine citizens who have the best interests of our community at heart. They are trying to help all of us.

The upcoming mayoral election may result in increased opposition or increased backing for DCA expansion. That will have to take care of itself. The least we can do is advise the governor and our senators of our opposition.

Perhaps also, if subsequently confirmed by the Senate, advise David Hinson, former chairman of the now defunct Midway Airlines and more recently vice president marketing and business development at Douglas Aircraft Co., nominated by President Clinton to head the FAA.

Within recent months have any of us noticed increasing commercial airplane activity over the Grosse Pointes? Do any of us sense an "easing into the ultimate objective?" Are we willing to have our community "underlie an airplane expressway?"

There comes to mind a World War II slogan: "We did it before and we can do it again!"

Civil rights and wrongs

To the Editor:
The civil rights activists are at it again, stirring up a furor to keep themselves in the public eye and "in business." It most certainly does nothing to improve human relations or "civil rights."

The only "wall" Grosse Pointe Park has is one to keep out the Detroit River. Detroit people come and go into Grosse Pointe Park as freely as people of the Park do in Detroit. There is no barrier at Jefferson, Fairfax, Essex or Avondale — only at Korte.

The protest is not really over the closing of Korte east of Alter Road, but over the "perception" of its significance. The Park residents who asked for the barrier are condemned for racism or at least "insensitivity" because they fail to understand how this is perceived as an insult by the Detroit neighbors, presumably all black — pardon me, African-Americans — who have been taught to look for insults in everything a white person may do.

I marvel that such sensitivity is permitted to run only one way; there is no expectation that any racial group other than Caucasian should show sensitivity to another entity. So it is now "racist" to deplore crime in Detroit or America, to point out that children do not fare as well in single parent families as intact two parent families, that urban schools are having a greater problem trying to educate children, that urban crime drives away residents and jobs, etc.

When are our professional civil rights leaders going to permit a rational discussion of the issues that lead to misunderstanding and conflict? Traffic and crime were the problems that prompted the barrier at Korte. Why does that have to be "perceived" as a racial matter? If civil rightists so perceive it that way, what does that say about their judgment of the race predominant on the other side of Fox Creek?

It's time to stop this nonsense and begin an effort to solve our mutual problems through cooperation rather than incitement to resentment. I'm sorry the Detroit News and Free Press saw fit to blow this matter so big. I'm sorry that Bill Weld-Wallis and the Rev. Bill DeVries could find nothing better than kerosene to throw on a little blaze. I hope some cooler heads will act to throw cold water to put out the fire. We need cool heads — not hot heads!

A homeowner in the 1000 block of Balfour suspects high school rivalries as the reason why his front window was smashed May 18 by a group of teenagers.

The homeowner told Grosse Pointe Park public safety officers that the window was smashed with a baseball bat after six carloads of teenagers stopped in front of his house. He suspects the vandalism is possibly in retaliation for a fight that occurred two weeks earlier between teens from two different high schools.

Prayer letter a fraud

To the Editor:
I am writing from Meadow Vista, Calif., where my family and I have lived since February of this year, when we left Grosse Pointe.

Imagine my surprise when several friends in Grosse Pointe called us in California to comment on a letter to the editor that ran over my signature in your May 13 issue — my surprise, because I did not write the letter and theirs because the letter took a position that I would never take on the current controversy over an invocation or student-led prayer at North's graduation.

I have always opposed prayer in public schools, and I commend the superintendent and school board for the position it took on the North issue.

The letter is especially insidious because it is such a deliberate and elaborate deceit. The writer apparently saw some advantage to attaching my name, as I was active in school matters during our stay there. Was the writer trying to embarrass me? To exploit my name? What sort of confused individual doesn't merely lack the courage to use his or her own name, but is willing to forge someone else's?

Hopefully, this letter will set the record straight. Thanks very much.

Everybody's talking about RK!

Everywhere you go, people are talking about the new radial keratotomy surgery to help people with nearsightedness and astigmatism see much better without their glasses. Many people forget about wearing glasses at all.

So, with the freedom of summer with us, maybe now is the time to think about having the new radial keratotomy surgery so you won't be bothered with your glasses and contact lenses this summer. Lots of people are having this revolutionary surgery...your neighbors... your co-workers...and the people you see every day in your meetings and at the parties you attend.

Metropolitan Eye Center, right in your neighborhood on Mack north of Eight Mile at Shady Lane, is a national trendsetter in the new surgical procedure. It's safe, it's almost painless, and the surgery is performed in our fully equipped surgical facility on an outpatient basis. To find out if RK surgery might be an answer for you, call today...

1. To request information in the mail.
2. To schedule a one-on-one consultation.
3. To reserve a seat at a free RK seminar.

Spring blossoms with photo ops

Spring is here at last! Aching backs from shoveling and frozen fingertips are gone. Springtime livens our hearts, stimulates our senses and serves as an incentive to get the camera out of winter hibernation.

Many exciting and challenging picture-taking opportunities are available in springtime. Now is the time to dust off the camera and get in gear for some rewarding experiences.

If your camera has been sitting around all winter, make sure the batteries are fresh and that you brush up on your knowledge of all controls.

Ready to begin? There's a lot of picture potential out there. Here are some ideas of what to shoot, where to go, and how to do it.

Perhaps the best place to begin your springtime photography is with the abundance of flowers and blossoms in the area. Some flowers have vivid and bold colors, some soft and pastel, but all invite your camera to record their springtime serenade.

For best results, move in tight, using close-up equipment such as close-up filters or a macro lens. You need to be steady when you shoot in close, so be sure to use a tripod and cable release. Carry a piece of dark poster board with you to place behind the flowers in order to eliminate distracting backgrounds.

For blossoming trees, shoot in early morning or late afternoon light to get maximum texture and detail in the foliage. A polarizing filter will darken the blue sky, adding further impact to your shot.

An exciting springtime locale is your local zoo. While the zoo offers year-round picture possibilities, it is especially attractive in spring. Many animal species, such as deer, sheep and goats, have their offspring this time of year. The children's zoo is always alive with springtime photo opportunities, not just of the animals but candid shots of the kids as they are absorbed in the antics of their animal friends.

Many state parks surround the metropolitan area and they offer picture prospects, too. From a meandering stream to an intimate waterfall to the path leading into the woods, parks offer tremendous photo possibilities. Just keep your photographer's vision in tune and "spring" into action with your camera.

Barthel declares candidacy for seat on Farms council

Erin J. Barthel, district legislative liaison for state Sen. John Kelly, will seek a seat on the Grosse Pointe Farms city council.

Barthel, a life-long resident of the Farms, graduated from the University of Michigan at Dearborn with a bachelor's degree in political science with additional studies in government at American University in Washington, D.C.

She has worked for the state Legislature for the past two years and has served as a legislative aide for the House Select Committee on Narcotics Abuse and Control under its chairman, Rep. Charles Rangle, D-

N.Y.

Barthel is a member of the League of Women Voters in Grosse Pointe, the Detroit Association of University of Michigan Women, University of Michigan Alumni Association, Public Safety Task Force for the Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods futuring process and alumna of Grosse Pointe South High School.

Barthel is a concerned citizen of Grosse Pointe Farms and would like to contribute her skills to the Farms council.

"After first-hand experience on both the federal and state levels of government, I believe I am qualified to serve on the council and welcome the opportunity to participate in local government and assist in the policy-making process," she said.

This dramatic photo of four amaryllis is a sure sign of spring. Monte Nagler took this shot at the University of Michigan Botanical Gardens.

3 Pointe volunteers to be honored

Three Grosse Pointers are among the 30 outstanding volunteers to be honored by Gov. John Engler and the Wayne County Republican Committee at a Tuesday, June 8, reception-dinner.

Arthur Getz of Grosse Pointe Park, Cheryl Preston Costantino of Grosse Pointe Farms and Arthur Kuehnel of Grosse Pointe Woods are being honored for their contributions to the community and the Republican Party.

"This will be the biggest event held by the Republicans of Wayne County in nearly 40 years," stated Preston Costantino, the event's co-chair.

The 6 p.m. reception and 7 p.m. prime-rib dinner honoring the volunteers will be held at the Fairlane Club, which is located at 5000 Fairlane Woods Drive, off Hubbard Drive between Southfield and Evergreen in Dearborn.

Tickets and information can be obtained by calling Preston Costantino at 884-9118 by May 24 or by calling Donzell Greene at 393-2504 or Ed Haroutunian at 837-2366. Donation is $30 a person.

Rehabilitation: Walk your way to renewed health

When I was 20, I was invited to live and explore in the Himalayas for a year in country rarely below 11,000 feet. This was in Ladak, in the northeastern corner of Kashmir along the border of Tibet and Chinese Turkistan.

Diphtheria was endemic there, and children often died of it. In one of the larger villages, I was invited to the home of the local rajah and spent some time entertaining his 5- and 6-year-old listless boys. Two days later they were dead of diphtheria.

Then I came down with it. I was sick for five days with a high fever.

Two or three days later, it was necessary for me to start on a journey of more than 500 miles through high mountain country. I did it right out of a sick bed, and fortunately without relapses. I don't recommend such haste but my body did it. I repeat, I was 20 years old.

A couple of years ago I had a bout of dysentery. I was in bed with fever for three days and was up in five, but I was weak as a kitten. Before I was sick, I had been walking at least a mile a day at a pace of a little more than 3 mph. I was comfortable with that.

In this illness my fever did not reach 100 degrees, and I began just walking around the house two days after my temperature had returned to normal. Even that walking fatigued me. It was two weeks

Senior Health

By Dr. Roger O. Egeberg

before I was able to walk a mile at one time, and I was exhausted doing it. I was determined to get back to my pre-illness pace, and did. But it took determination and about five weeks. At that point I was almost as strong as I had been before my illness.

Both of these efforts of getting fit again were, in effect, the process of rehabilitation. However, there was certainly a vast difference in the speed of improvement in attaining my goal. This process is often referred to as recovery or convalescence and is considered something that the body takes care of automatically. It is, in effect, rehabilitation.

I was surprised during this latest illness at how hard I had to work to return to my former competence in exercise. I had to be determined to walk each day, to see that I climbed stairs each day, and I even counted the times I leaned over to pick things up from the floor.

In the Himalayas, I brought strength back into my muscles by using them, and had I not made the effort at that time, it would have taken several months to recover completely.

I probably would never have attained my previous state of physical well-being after my last illness if I hadn't pushed and pushed. One of these illnesses occurred when I was 20 years old, and the other when I was in my late 80s.

Getting back into good form — getting back into shape — after any illness takes longer and longer and requires more and more determination and effort as you grow older. At some point, you may not be able to get back to your former condition, but every bit of effort and determination you put into it in trying to get there is worth it.

Prevention and rehabilitation are the long-term forces that govern our health and abilities increasingly as we grow older. Of course, we want treatment and a cure if we are ill, but too often that is considered the only responsibility of a doctor. If the doctor pursues prevention and rehabilitation, he or she won't be called out as often to do the more dramatic job of curing.

Some street-crossing tips for mature pedestrians

More and more mature adults are becoming health conscious. And with the arrival of spring, they'll be jogging and walking. But, unfortunately, more mature adults are also being fatally injured while crossing the street.

While graying adults represent only 12 percent of the population in Michigan, they represent 20 percent of those killed as pedestrians and 7 percent of those injured, AAA Michigan reports. In 1991, the last year for which statistics are available, 36 persons over age 65 were killed and 232 injured.

To aid this growing segment of the population, AAA Michigan is offering a new public awareness brochure and program, "Walking Through The Years: Pedestrian Safety For The Older (65+) Adult."

The brochure is available free at AAA Michigan branches statewide. Groups or senior citizen organizations desiring a presentation by a AAA Michigan Community Safety Services representative should call (313) 336-1410.

"While street-crossing suggestions were developed with the mature citizen in mind, they apply to everyone, from children on up," said Jerry Basch, AAA Michigan's community safety services manager.

"Senior citizens may be more vulnerable, however, because of possible vision and hearing problems, slower reaction times and greater difficulty in recovering from a crash. A careless motorist may be responsible for many of these tragedies, but the aging pedestrian cannot assume he's safe just because he's doing everything properly. He can be 'dead' right."

Among suggestions:
• See — Be sure you can see turning or approaching vehicles, especially at intersections, and be sure the driver sees you before stepping off the curb. Vehicles turning left are more dangerous to pedestrians than those making right turns — even right turns on red traffic signals.

• Be seen — Wear light, bright colors during daylight, particularly in winter when the days are short, the low angle of the sun creates long shadows and pedestrians tend to wear dark clothing. When walking at night, particularly in rural areas, wear reflective clothing and carry a flashlight to warn motorists of your presence.

• Walk smart — A green light and "Walk" signal do not necessarily mean it's safe to cross. Check for turning or approaching vehicles. Don't assume all traffic will stop. Be alert when you step in front of a stopped bus or truck — its size makes it harder for overtaking drivers to see you.

• Timing — Too often pedestrian signals don't give a person enough time to cross the street before the "Don't Walk" light comes on. Don't start if the signal already is flashing. If you are in the middle of the street, continue to the other side.

Baker to address senior gardeners

Louie Bruno, Grosse Pointe's representative for the financial-services firm Edward D. Jones & Co., will host a free seminar for area retirees Wednesday, May 26, featuring Jerry Baker, America's master gardener, at Bruno's office in Grosse Pointe Woods.

The program will be broadcast live via satellite from Jones & Co.'s St. Louis headquarters. It will feature an in-house demonstration of techniques to improve your gardening results.

"Whether you have a green thumb or you've always wished you did, you'll enjoy this informative hour of gardening tips and live demonstrations with America's best-known gardener," Bruno said.

Jerry Baker is one of the most recognized names and faces in gardening. He hosts the weekly "On Garden Live" radio program, which airs across the United States and Canada. Baker is also the best-selling author of more than three dozen books, and he serves as the contributing garden expert to the world book encyclopedia.

For more information, contact Bruno at 884-0175. The office is located at 21115 Mack at Roslyn Road.

Even in retirement, a good lawyer is a must

Most of us have professionals we turn to when we have health problems. We refer to them as "my doctor," "my dentist," "my optometrist." It gives us a sense of security that they are there when we need them. It's a good bet that missing from that list is "my lawyer." Yet a lawyer can help us avoid making mistakes, and as we grow older, the margin for error begins to disappear. As young working people, we could recoup our losses if mistakes were made. Now, as seniors, we may not have a chance to do so.

To make it more personal, if you are still working but are close to retirement, it is wise to make plans for the adjustment to retirement in advance while you still have time for full consideration.

Family and friends can be helpful. Those with special training, such as people from the business world or someone in a social agency who specialize in counseling older people, can advise you, but when it comes to the legal aspects of important decisions, you need a lawyer.

A family lawyer can give you a legal checkup, much as your family doctor can let you know if there are any health problems developing which need attention.

Laws and circumstances change as the years go by, which warrants periodic consultation. A death in the family, a birth, a marriage, a divorce or a change in your financial condition are examples of times when legal advice can avert problems.

If you move from one state to another, you need counsel. The laws of each state differ. Inheritance law may differ, for example. The law of the state where you make your home determines the validity of your will.

Perhaps you have a lawyer in mind to whom you can turn for a review, update and advice. But if you don't, the U.S. Office of Aging offers advice on choosing a family lawyer.

One suggestion is to find a satisfied client. Another is to call the local bar association. Someone there will give you the name of a reliable attorney, and you can get an initial interview for a modest fee or, sometimes, free. If you are not impressed, you are under no obligation to continue with his services. If you cannot afford to pay a fee, you can call the Legal Aid Society for free advice.

What services can a lawyer perform for you? His primary purpose, of course, is to advise you about the legal status of your affairs and, if necessary, to use legal procedures to handle them. He may draw up a will, a deed or a contract or look over other documents that have been prepared by someone else to see that your interests are adequately protected.

Because of his general knowledge of people and business, he may advise you about various aspects of your affairs, which are not entirely matters of law, or he may call on experts from other fields. When it comes to legal fees, there is no universal rate, but there are guidelines. In most cases, a lawyer charges for the amount of time he spends with you, and you can save yourself time and money by discussing your affairs clearly and concisely. Sometimes attorneys set a flat fee for certain types of work, such as drawing up a will, probating an estate or handling a real estate transaction.

In your first consultation with a lawyer or in consulting him about a new matter, you should ask on what basis he sets his fee. If it is on an hourly basis, ask what the rate per hour is. The attorney may be able to give you a rough estimate of the total cost even though he charges by the hour.

For certain kinds of legal work, a lawyer's fee is subject to approval by a court or by a state or federal agency. For example, the lawyer's fee is controlled in cases involving guardianship, estates of the deceased and in cases concerning certain types of retirement benefits, such as Social Security.

In most cases, all you have to do to get Social Security benefits is to apply for them. But if you are not satisfied and wish to have your benefits re-examined within the agency or by the courts, it is advisable to be represented by an attorney if you go to court.

Many older people add to their retirement income by earning extra money. However, there are legal implications that must be considered. There may be zoning ordinances which prohibit your right to carry on certain activities.

There may be state or local regulations covering the work you want to do and your earnings might affect your right to collect retirement funds.

Sometimes even leisure activity can require the services of an attorney, such as when you sign a contract for membership in a club, a course of instruction or buy equipment to use in pursuing your activity.

Choosing a place to live may have legal implications. If you decide to stay in the old home, more than likely you will have maintenance problems. If the repair work involves substantial cost, you should see a lawyer. He will look over the contract to protect your interests.

Don't sign anything involving an important decision or a substantial sum of money until you get legal advice. If you decide to move to a cooperative or a condominium, your lawyer can determine the extent of your rights in the property and your liabilities to other owners and the public. It is also important to find out whether the enterprise as a whole is financially sound.

No one wants to think ahead to a time when illness or general poor health might make it difficult to look after one's affairs, but it could happen and it is best to make arrangements ahead of time. There are different ways in which you can give another person legal authority to look after your affairs. In choosing one, you should consult a lawyer.

And then there is the matter of making a will. Have a lawyer do it. Do not buy a legal form and fill it in yourself. When used in a will, different words can have a meaning that is quite different from their meaning in common usage. Also, have your lawyer supervise the way in which you and your witnesses sign the will. There are formal requirements for the way in which this is done.

Featured vocalist

Denise Stevens, vocalist with the Mel Stander "Gentlemen of Swing" Quintet, will play dance music for the Grosse Pointe Senior Men's Club annual Ladies' Night at the War Memorial on Thursday, June 3. Cocktails are at 6 p.m., dinner at 6:45 and dancing at 8 p.m. For reservations, call 882-8404.

Senior Men to honor top students

The Senior Men's Club of Grosse Pointe will meet at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore, at 11 a.m. Tuesday, May 25. The topic will be Academic Recognition Day. The 10 top-ranking students from Grosse Pointe South High School and 10 from Grosse Pointe North High School will be honored. The presenter will be past president Wilbur Baetz. Special awards will be given to the students. The event will be recorded for cable Channel 32.

On Ladies' Night, Thursday, June 3, at 6:15 p.m., we raise the curtain on our annual gala dinner-dance in the Crystal Ballroom of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. The entree will be beef stroganoff, San Francisco vegetables, greens, raspberry fluff pie and beverage.

Dancing to the music of Mel Stander and his "Gentlemen of Swing" orchestra featuring vocalist Denise Stevens. Your own table arrangement with 4 to 12 is available.

Reservations at $25 are due May 29.

For further information and reservations, call Sheldon Flynn at 882-8404.

State seeks public input on helping elderly

A blueprint for serving Michigan's elderly, developed by the Michigan Office of Services to the Aging (OSA), is currently being reviewed by the public, according to OSA's interim director Carol Parr.

The document, a draft State Plan for Services to the Elderly (1994-1996), outlines how the state of Michigan will assure that services will be accessible to older Michiganders and delivered fairly and equitably. The proposed plan also addresses how the state agency and the 15-member Commission on Aging intends to advocate on behalf of Michigan's 1.5 million people age 60 and older.

Among the new objectives, says Parr, are specific steps aimed at the development of a systematic statewide approach to provision of long-term care services.

Also among the list of proposed new initiatives are objectives to strengthen the rights of older persons, to increase the participation of Native Americans in aging programs and services, to study the needs of the state's Asian Pacific Islanders, to strengthen communications and planning for the future, and to analyze data which can be used to re-examine costs of delivering services to rural elderly residents.

The public will have a chance to express opinions about the proposed plan on Thursday, June 17, from 2-4 p.m. at the Inkster Recreation Complex, 2025 Middlebelt Road, Inkster.

People with disabilities, needing accommodations to participate in these meetings should contact OSA at (517) 373-8230 or (517) 373-4096 (TDD) at least one week in advance to request mobility, visual, hearing or other assistance.

If unable to attend the public forum, people are encouraged to send written comments to OSA on or before June 25.

Copies of the proposed plan can be obtained from the state agency or any Area Agency on Aging in the state.

A professional photographer will photograph original photos in mid-June at the society office. The filmed footage will be transferred to videotape in mid-June at Grace and Wild Studios. All materials will be handled by experienced technicians under the supervision of a historical curator. They will be promptly returned upon completion.

The society will maintain all rights to the completed documentary and will determine if and where it will be shown. The finished documentary will be offered at cost to the society's membership. All money generated will be allocated toward the reimbursement of the project's expenses.

The documentary is being produced by award-winning filmmaker Kimberly Conely with historical society board members Mike Skinner and Peter Robbins.

For more information, and details regarding the procedure to allow the society to use your materials, call Jean Dodenhoff, the society's curator, at 884-7010.

Privately financed rest room and storage facility dedicated at Elworthy Field

John Hoben cuts ribbon at the new rest room and storage facility at Elworthy Field. Hoben was the chairman of a citizen committee who raised $45,000 in material, labor and cash for the structure.

By Chip Chapman
Staff Writer

A new rest room and storage facility was officially dedicated Saturday, May 8, at Elworthy Field.

A citizen committee raised the $45,000 in material, labor and cash that was needed.

The entire project was funded by donations.

Chairman John Hoben; committee members Mike Hendrie, Dick Hurford and John Bruce; architect Peter Gormley and site engineer George Jerome officially turned the building over to Grosse Pointe City for use by all community groups, including Little League and Babe Ruth baseball, Neighborhood Club activities, soccer teams and others.

izzo Construction, C & M Mosony, Dennis Clow-Painter, Cornillie Concrete, Deckard Plumbing, Eastview Aluminum, Flame Furnace, Mr. and Mrs. Art Getz, Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Getz, Mr. and Mrs. John Hoben, Huron Land Development, James Leamon Landscape, Leonard's Roofing, Makos Building Co., MichCon Foundation, Phil Pitters Co., Pete Pullam Co., Joe Ricci Automotive Group and Shoreline Electric.

At the dedication, Hoben expressed his appreciation to all involved.

"Getting all these people involved tells us how important this project was to all the people that use Elworthy," he said. "This building not only provides us much needed bathrooms, but also ample storage facilities for maintenance equipment and supplies to help keep the Elworthy facility one of the best in the area."

More than 50 additional donations were received to help defer expenses. The committee asks that anyone interested in making a small donation to help defray the remaining bills and to show support for the effort may send a check to: Babe Ruth League "GPFPC," P.O. Box 36026, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. 48236.

Please write "Elworthy" on your check.

Summer fun at Neighborhood Club's camps

Those lazy days of summer can quickly lead to boredom for children once school is out. The day camp programs offered by the Neighborhood Club provide an opportunity for children to learn, play, and make new friends.

Three different camp programs are available: Tot Camp, for preschoolers; Games Camp, for children ages 5 to 7; and Theme Camps, for children ages 8 to 10. Ages are as of Dec. 1, 1993. All three camps are professionally organized programs which feature a variety of activities such as sports, games, arts and crafts and special events.

The Tot Camp is held at the Neighborhood Club. Both indoor and outdoor activities are offered. The program is designed for preschoolers aged 3 and 4. Children may attend three mornings per week, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, or Tuesday and Thursday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Session I runs from June 21 through July 9; session II from July 13 through July 29.

The Games Camp and the Theme Camp are held at Ben Neil Middle School. Children attending the Games Camp attend Monday through Friday on a weekly basis. They may attend mornings only, from 9 a.m. to noon, afternoons only, from noon to 3 p.m. or all day from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The Theme Camps are held on a weekly basis, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Each week features a special theme which will be carried out through the games, crafts and special events for that week. The themes are Sports, USA, Mystery, Party, and Olympic.

Discounts on the fees are available to participants who enroll for multiple sessions. All campers must have a Neighborhood Club membership. Registration may be made by mail or in person at the Neighborhood Club, 17150 Waterloo, Grosse Pointe.

For further information, call 885-4600.

"I'm afraid a designer will try to push his or her tastes on me. How can I get across what I like?"

"A lot of people believe that designers try to create rooms that reflect their own tastes. At Hudson's, our philosophy is that you're the client; you're the decision maker.

"That philosophy is evident in your first meeting with us. That's probably the most important of all our meetings, because it's a time to explore your likes and dislikes and to talk about your lifestyle and interests. It helps if you can bring blueprints along, but even more valuable are magazine pictures of rooms you like. There in living color are rooms that appeal to you, and your designer will be looking at them very closely. You'll explore a lot of ideas, from color schemes to art work. At the end of this first session, you and your designer should be feeling like partners, ready to start on a great collaboration."

"How expensive are Hudson's interior designers? Do I pay a flat fee for their services?"

"People always ask if there's a charge for our services. When you're purchasing through our Studio, the design services are complimentary. Some special services do involve an hourly fee; ask your designer which if any of our services will cost extra."

and the time frame for the project. There is no obligation or charge for this information-exchanging session."

"What if I can't find what I want at Hudson's?"

"People who use our designers are surprised at the legwork they do. In addition to the advantage of having the vast resources of Hudson's to work with, they have access to designer showrooms and a library of special order resources. Our designers have thousands of options for pulling together fabrics, furniture styles, art and accessories. From the very beginning, you'll be shown floor plans, photos, fabric and carpet samples, so you feel comfortable that the project meets your expectations."

"The fact is that many people have been buying clothing and furniture here for years. They know what we stand for. It's very hard to beat Hudson's service and value. It's the best. It really is."

"How do I begin working with a designer?"

"Call any of our Interior Design Studio locations: Northland, Eastland, Westland, Oakland, Lakeside, Southland or Genesee Valley, and ask for an appointment. When you meet with your designer, you'll talk about your style preferences as well as budget guidelines

'93 Mazda 626: Same quality, prettier package

Mazda's re-styled 626 looks good in a tough market.

Generations change. The so-called third-generation Mazda 626 compact sedan was: dependable but not exciting; predictable but not sexy; economical but not subtle.

The 1993 model year brought a fourth generation of 626 that forces us to take an eraser to some of those earlier adjectives. No, that's not right. It's still dependable, predictable and economical. But it's also very pleasing to the eye and easy to drive.

Is it the fact that the 626, which has been built in the United States since 1989 in our own Flat Rock facility, is falling under a different influence? The change is as dramatic as seeing someone after an absence who has a radically new hairdo (or maybe a facelift?), or has been working out, got reshaped and is eschewing discount catalog shopping in favor of trips to Jac's or Express.

Generation No. 4 of the 626 is dramatically rounded and nicely proportioned on the outside. It is light and spacious inside.

Before we review its vital statistics, let me add that a great number of cars also answer to the above description. Cars like the all-new Nissan Altima, the re-styled Geo Prizm and the Toyota Camry bear close resemblance to the new 626. I suspect the re-styled Honda Accord will, too, when it bows later this year. It's a tough market, but an important one. Brand loyalties are solidified or shattered by owner experience, and buyers of mid-size family sedans won't tolerate design or performance shortcomings.

The 626 comes in three models: DX, LX and the V-6-powered ES. LX and DX both come with a new 2.0-liter four. The V-6 has a 2.5-liter displacement. The aluminum alloy engine offers 164 hp and delivers 21 mpg city, 26 mpg highway. The smaller 118-hp 16-valve four boasts 26 mpg city, 34 mpg highway with a 5-speed manual.

All models have a driver-side air bag. Antilock brakes are available as an option. Mazda said it has revised the suspension to accommodate the car's lower hoodline and lighter weight. Front struts have been lowered; an improved version of Mazda's twin trapezoidal link suspension stabilizes the rear. Torsional rigidity and resistance to bending were increased to further improve ride and handling.

The only problem we detected in our 626 ES was its reluctance to shift into fourth gear and into reverse. The larger V-6 provided the quick acceleration needed to get on the freeway in a hurry or move into the exit lane in heavy, fast-moving traffic. The leather seat surfaces had a luxurious look and feel plus they're easy to keep clean. A power sunroof is always a pleasure; so are power locks that work in unison when the driver's door is locked or unlocked.

All these amenities and improvements don't come cheap. The base 626 DX starts at just over $14,000. The ES with antilock brakes and air conditioning runs close to $20,000. The models. A front-drive 626 bowed in 1983, followed by the third generation in 1988.

Chrysler delivers first EVs

Chrysler announced recently that it has started delivery of the Dodge Caravan Electric — the nation's first federal safety-certified electric vehicle — to utilities around the country. The electric Caravan was developed by Chrysler with the help of the Electric Power Research Institute, the research and development arm of the electric utility industry in the United States.

California's 1998 deadline for zero-emission vehicles has the major auto makers scrambling to perfect alternative-fuel vehicles like the electric van.

The Caravan Electric recently completed a nine-day Detroit-to-Los Angeles drive that allowed a team of engineers to evaluate its to-date progress. While the run set a new world time/speed/distance mark for EVs, Chrysler said, problems such as battery overheating and varying recharging times showed that further work needs to be done to make these vehicles practical.

Other issues such as infrastructure to support and recharge EVs also need to be considered by the auto makers and EPRI. To sell vehicles in California, each maker must offer 2 percent of available vehicles as zero-emission in 1998 and work up to 10 percent by 2003.

Heads-up display keeps drivers' eyes on road

Pontiac considers its heads-up display (HUD) feature an important safety advantage. Drivers of some 1993 Pontiacs can keep their eyes on the road and still know how fast they are going as certain types of information are optically projected onto the windshield at about the line of the front bumper.

HUD is based on a system used in fighter aircraft and was adapted for use in automobiles by a team from Hughes Aircraft Co. and Delco Electronics. It bowed back in 1990 on the turbo Grand Prix. Today it's standard on the Bonneville SSEi, and available on the SSE

Baby on board

The excitement of a new addition to the family tends to make everybody act a little silly. Dad starts making those funny baby noises when no one else is looking, while mom subscribes to 30 different parenting magazines.

But with a new baby, safety is nothing to joke about. Many new parents realize the importance of a child restraint seat, but don't know that there are several types for different stages of a child's growth.

Infant seats protect children who weigh less than 20 pounds. They are placed in a vehicle in a rear-facing position, to allow a baby's back to absorb the force of a crash.

Toddler seats are designed for the child who weighs between 20-40 pounds, and who can sit up without assistance. There are four different types of toddler seats, which vary according to harnesses or shields. They provide crash protection in such a way that the force of a crash is spread over a large area of the body.

Convertible seats have a reclined style, which allow them to be used for an infant, or they may be moved into a more upright position for a small toddler.

It is vital to buckle your children up. During a 30 mph crash, an unrestrained child will hit the dashboard or windshield with force equal to that of a fall from a three-story building. Take the time to choose the right seat — be safe with a baby on board.

— Michigan State Police

Car Cost Guide.

The guide relied on factors like initial cost of the vehicle, depreciation, plus costs to maintain, repair and insure. Honda said its Accord DX coupe led the midsize under-$20,000 segment and the Accord wagon LX topped the midsize wagon under-$20,000 category. The Civic CX hatchback had the lowest cost of ownership among all automobiles reviewed.

For the first time, American Honda became the top automobile importer to Japan in the first quarter of 1993. Honda captured more than 20 percent of the import car market. The company ships North American-made Accord wagons, coupes and sedans and Civic coupes to Japan.

Honda also wants you to know it builds cars, not lemons. Honda received a perfect score in the Massachusetts 1992 "Lemon Index," with no lemon law claims filed against a Honda automobile last year. The index tracks defective vehicle sales and resolutions of consumer complaints in the state. Iuzu, Mercedes-Benz, BMW and Audi also earned perfect scores.

Coming attractions

Domino's Farms is the site of a three-day collector car auction featuring 300 vehicles plus other collectibles. Charleston Productions Inc. of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Troy-based collector and restorer Ed Lucas will run the auction over Father's Day weekend, June 18-20. Domino's Farms is located near US-23 and M-14, just this side of Ann Arbor.

The Hudson-Essex-Terra-plane Central Region group will hold a meet June 17-19 at the Holiday Inn on Ford Road near Southfield Road in Dearborn. Activities will include a bus tour of former plant sites, a visit to the archives in Highland Park, a flea market and a '50s-style gala banquet with all the hot dogs, burgers, fries, Jello and baked beans you can consume.

For details, contact Ken Poynter at 886-9292.

Golf gear gone

A member of the Country Club of Detroit reported to Grosse Pointe Farms police that his golf bag containing assorted clubs, golf balls, shoes, gloves, a golf umbrella and a visor were stolen from the men's locker room on May 10. The man said he had placed the bag and equipment in the locker room, which he thought was locked and secure, and found all the items missing when he returned.

1994 Toyota Supra

Toyota introduced its exotic 320-hp twin-turbo Supra 2+2 to the Detroit automotive press corps on Belle Isle recently. Also available in a tamer, normally-aspirated version with a 3.0-liter engine that produces a mere 220 hp, the 1993 Supra goes on sale in early June. The turbo model offers a six-speed manual transmission or four-speed automatic with an unusual manual shift mode. It also has an exotic tall rear spoiler that will turn more than a few heads. No price was announced, but everyone expects the awesome rear-wheel sports cars to be more than $30,000.

LAST CHANCE FOR A HOME NEAR THE LAKE

You can still buy a great home that's just a five minute walk from beautiful Lake St. Clair. You can also have the condominium lifestyle while living in a well-kept residential neighborhood.

North Shore Villas on Masonic, (13 1/2 mile), just west of Jefferson, in St. Clair Shores, offers new, spacious "ranch villas," each built with quality workmanship and a sense of personal care by Piku Management Co.

But there are only six homes left for sale at North Shore Villas.

Frank Piku and his son Chris are offering a last chance opportunity to own a custom-built home in St. Clair Shores for under $100,000.

And St. Clair Shores is the place to live on the east side, with its easy access to I-94, well-respected schools, beautiful parks, and city services.

By purchasing now you can take advantage of incredibly low interest rates, as well as move into your brand new home at the same time that all of the development's landscaping and road paving is completed.

Only four one-car-garage and two two-car-garage homes of this 40 home development remain to be sold as of last week. When Piku Management Co. bought the five and-one-half acre site for North Shore Villas they received some of the last land zoned for residential development.

If you take the time to visit with either Frank Piku, who has been a developer for 38 years, or his son Chris, who builds the homes, you'll discover the quality construction and high professional standards they bring to all their homes.

The people who have already made the move to North Shore Villas, like Forest and Wendy Sanislow, whose story of satisfaction is detailed below, are happy with their decision. People like the Sanislow's like being able to chose between five floor plans and deciding on modifications during the construction phase at no extra cost.

Each home has two bedrooms, a full basement, attached garage, dining and living rooms, kitchen with eating space, the option to include two baths, and a first floor laundry.

Shopping, dining, the Shore's municipal golf course, and a park on the lake are all close by for recreation.

North Shore Villas offers a lot of value for your money, including a recently reduced association fee of $72 a month for a one-car-garage-home, $85 a month for two-car-garage-homes. This fee includes all exterior building & grounds maintenance, water and sewer usage, landscaping, snow removal, underground sprinklers - eliminating all of the back-breaking outside maintenance a homeowner contends with.

Let yourself have that home you've always wanted. The price is right.

A standard one-car-garage ranch home is $98,900 while a deluxe one-car-garage is $102,545, which includes a 50 percent savings on a deluxe package of options. A deluxe two-car-garage ranch home, which includes one and-one-half or two baths, and a first-floor laundry, is priced at $119,690.

With 20 percent down, a buyer can move into a standard one-car-garage home for $546 a month (based on a 30-year, 7.375 percent mortgage).

North Shore Villas is between Harper and Jefferson off Masonic (13 1/2 Mile) in St. Clair Shores. Piku Management Co. is open Monday-Friday from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m., weekends from 1-5 p.m.

For more information, call North Shore Villas at 293-6760.

THE PERFECT HOME FOR FOREST AND WENDY

We all know perfection is hard to find these days. Especially when it comes to finding that perfect home that satisfies all your needs.

Forest and Wendy Sanislow, formerly of Commerce Township, searched for more than two years to find a home that had all the amenities they wanted and that was also in a good location.

Then one day last fall Forest spotted an ad for North Shore Villas. He and Wendy checked out the development on a Wednesday and bought a deluxe one-car-garage condominium two days later.

"We had traveled all over the east side of Detroit looking for the right home, but after taking a look at the homes at North Shore Villas it was an easy decision to buy there," says Forest.

"Chris Piku, the man who builds the homes, is very willing to work with you on anything you want," says Wendy.

Wendy is pleased she was able to chose the color of the carpet and walls, the kinds of cabinets, tile, and counter tops in the kitchen, the bathroom fixtures, and even whether she wanted to have the laundry upstairs or in the full basement.

She chose to have the laundry upstairs next to the two bedrooms and bathroom, freeing up the 1,200 square foot basement to store extra furniture and house Forest's workshop.

Forest likes living at North Shore Villas because now he's only a two mile drive from his business, Imperial Discount Mattress at 14 Mile and Gratiot, and also, when he comes home at night he no longer has the responsibility of maintaining a home with a big yard like the one he moved out of last September.

"I've been a homeowner since 1956 and this is the first time ever that I've been able to come home from a day's work and just relax on the porch," says Forest, in reference to North Shore Villas' low association fee that takes care of all exterior and ground maintenance, landscaping, underground sprinkler system, snow removal, water and sewer and insurance for each home.

"I love living here," says Wendy. "A lot of great dining places and shopping malls are close by."

The Sanislow's are also happy that at North Shore Villas they can keep their longtime companion and pet dog "Roxie".

A home with a lot of space, including a front yard, nestled in the middle of a quiet residential neighborhood with little traffic, and only a couple of blocks from a park overlooking Lake St. Clair.

"This home is really nice," says Wendy. "We're really enjoying it."

The Sanislow's love their new home. Come to North Shore Villas and fall in love with a home of your own.

Ex-Little League champions turn to coaching

By Chuck Klonke
Sports Editor

The Grosse Pointe Woods-Shores Little League baseball program has gone full cycle for Larry Baetens, Bryan Ulatowski and Mike Walkowiak.

Those three young men, who played on the 1979 Woods-Shores team that went to the Little League World Series in Williamsport, Pa., are now coaching the Comets, one of the league's T-ball squads.

"We took all of this for granted when we were kids, but now we'd like to give something back for all we received," said Ulatowski.

He and Baetens both work for former Grosse Pointe Dave Reaser at the New England-Troy insurance agency. Reaser, who played baseball at Grosse Pointe North in the mid-1970s, encourages each of his employees to become involved in their communities.

With Ulatowski's and Baetens' backgrounds in Little League, coaching a team became a natural for them, even though they don't have children of their own. Then they got Walkowiak involved, too.

"Dave's responsible for getting us back into the program, and we're really enjoying it," Baetens said. "I thought we'd just be assistants, but they gave us a team of our own and next year we're going to have one of the 11-12-year-old teams."

Bob Rini and Bud Engel were the coaches of the 1979 Woods-Shores team that went to Williamsport. Now Rini is a player agent and one of his duties is to oversee the coaches in the league.

"First he coached us as players and now he's coaching us as coaches," Baetens said with a laugh.

The 1979 Woods-Shores squad finished eighth in the world and was second among United States teams. It is one of only two Michigan teams to travel to Williamsport. The other was the Hamtramck team that won the Little League World Series some 20 years earlier.

Since T-ball is usually a youngster's first introduction to baseball, there's seldom a dull moment.

"At one practice we stressed running through first base when the kids hit the ball into the infield," Ulatowski said. "One of the kids ran past first and into the outfield and didn't stop until we ran out to get him. It's worth seeing what these kids will come up with next."

Baetens and Ulatowski have also found out that coaching is a good way to relieve the pressures of everyday life.

"We have this one 6-year-old named John, who's like bottled sunshine," Baetens said. "This kid always has a smile on his face. You can't help feeling better when you're around him."

The Comets had four practices to prepare for their season opener last week and the rookie coaches could see the improvement.

"There was a major turnaround from the first practice to the fourth," Ulatowski said. "The kids learned a lot, but so did we."

"I'm still not sure what we got ourselves into, but we're excited about the season starting," Baetens said.

North stays unbeaten in Blue

There's been no stopping Grosse Pointe North's softball team when it plays Macomb Area Conference Blue Division opponents.

Last week's 20-1 romp over Clintondale that featured a 12-run first inning and the one-hit pitching of Beth Bertelsen, improved the Lady Norsemen's record to 7-0 in the division and 10-5 overall.

Kristen Loeher, Heather Arioli and Amy Bliss each had three hits for North, which supported Bertelsen with excellent defense.

Earlier, North won an 8-7 thriller against Cousino when it scored a run in the bottom of the seventh. Arioli singled, moved to second on a sacrifice by Bertelsen and scored on Stacy Kent's double.

The Lady Norsemen had

Strong second half carries North

By Chuck Klonke
Sports Editor

It might not go down in history with Knute Rockne's famous "Win one for the Gipper" halftime speech, but Guido Regelbrugge's talk to his Grosse Pointe North soccer team last week during the break in its game with Grosse Pointe South had the desired effect.

"I told them at halftime 'If you lose that's what people are going to remember,'" Regelbrugge said after the Lady Norsemen scored six second-half goals to beat South 7-1 in a Macomb Area Conference White Division match. "They aren't going to remember that you beat them last year." Then they went out and had a fantastic second half."

The game was tied 1-1 at halftime on goals by South's Amy Stewart, who took a crossing pass from Molly McKenzie and fired into an open net with the game less than five minutes old, and the first of five goals by North's Felicia Paluzzi, who was assisted by Amy Shepley.

The Lady Norsemen had a brisk wind at their backs during the first half, but were unable to score again as they appeared to be suffering the effects of playing their first quality opponent since a 2-2 tie with South more than two weeks earlier.

The second half was a different story.

Paluzzi set up Kelly Konsler for a goal seven minutes into the second half and about seven minutes later, Paluzzi drilled a low shot into the corner of the net after taking a pass from Robyn Maples.

Konsler made an outstanding play to keep the ball in bounds and then kicked a long pass to Paluzzi, who beat South's goalie on a high shot from the 18-yard line with 19:06 left in the game.

Paluzzi made it 5-1 with 6:21 to go and she scored her fifth of the game less than a minute later. Maureen Zolik set up Paluzzi's last two goals.

Shepley completed the scoring on a shot from midfield with 27 seconds remaining.

"They just took it to us in the second half," said South coach Tom Caranicholas. "They made every play and got every free ball. It was a different ball game. You could see how much they wanted it."

"North's a senior team and this is their year. We're young. Next year will be our year, but this still hurts," Caranicholas said.

South played most of the second half without McKenzie, a freshman who has been one of the Lady Devils' top offensive threats all season. She sprained an ankle during the first five minutes of the half and didn't return.

North also had strong performances from Torrey Teetaert, who broke up several South's rushes at midfield, Allison VandeGinste and Jennifer Clein.

North, which is 12-0-1 overall and ranked second in the Class A state ratings behind defending champion Rochester Adams, followed its victory over South with an impressive 5-0 non-league victory over Troy.

Paluzzi scored three goals, while Zolik and Tara Chevalier added the Lady Norsemen's other tallies.

North returned to league action this week with an 11-1 victory over Romeo. Paluzzi scored five times to increase her season total to 47. Konsler and Gretchen Sazama added two goals apiece and Teetaert and Zolik scored once each.

Laura Ness of Grosse Pointe South heads the ball during the Lady Devils' soccer game with Grosse Pointe North last week.

taken a 7-4 lead in the fifth inning on Alana Hansen's three-run homer, but Cousino tied the game in the top of the seventh.

Loeher, Kent and Laura Cartwright each had two hits for North.

North scored four times in the first and fourth innings on the way to a 9-1 victory over Warren Woods-Tower.

Bertelsen pitched a four-hitter, while Loeher collected three hits for the Lady Norsemen. Cartwright hit a run-scoring triple and Hansen had two hits, including a three-run homer.

Hansen and Keri Muccioli each had two hits to lead North to a 6-3 victory over Lake Shore.

The Lady Norsemen built a 5-0 lead with two runs in the first inning and three in the fifth. Winning pitcher Bertelsen tossed a three-hitter and struck out eight.

Kent hit a grand slam and Bertelsen pitched a two-hitter and struck out eight to lead North to a 13-3 victory over Lakeview.

CLEAR OUT THE GARAGE

Do you have a cluttered garage? Who doesn't? There's one way you can clear out that garage and make a little money—have a garage sale! The best way to make your garage sale a success is to place an ad in the classified section. Most garage sale shoppers plan their shopping schedule from ads listed in the newspaper. Don't miss the opportunity to attract attention to your sale.

A Grosse Pointe North runner gets back to first base in a cloud of dust after an attempted pickoff by Grosse Pointe South's pitcher.

North netters are first at Mott

By Chuck Klonke
Sports Editor

A technicality cost Grosse Pointe North the chance to tie crosstown rival Grosse Pointe South for the Macomb Area Conference Red Division tennis championship last week, but nothing could stop the Norsemen in the Warren-Mott Invitational a few days later.

"I'd say we had a pretty good week," said North coach Ken Gutow. "Hopefully, this will move us up a couple notches in the state ratings because we beat Rochester, which was ranked seventh last week, at Mott."

The Norsemen were tied for the 10th spot in Class A going into last week's matches, while South was ranked fourth.

In the Mott tournament, North was first with 25 points, followed by Birmingham Groves with 23 and Rochester with 21.

North took the first three singles matches at Mott behind Mark Levine, Craig Rogowski and Mark Gregory, while Matt Masek finished third at fourth singles.

Levine beat a Birmingham Seaholm player 6-2, 6-2 in the finals, but a key victory was a 7-5, 6-1 win over his Rochester opponent in the semifinals.

"Mark has been playing all the best players in the state and it has made him a better player," Gutow said.

North took No. 4 doubles behind Will Duell and Matt Holuszko, who beat a Groves team 6-3, 3-6, 6-2 in the finals. Kyle Foresman and John VanAssche were second in No. 1 doubles and North's Jeff Barlow and Sean Brady were runners-up at second doubles. Ajit Sarnaik and Brent Krastner lost a 6-7, 7-6, 7-6 decision to Groves in the semifinals at No. 3 doubles, but they won their consolation match to finish third in the flight.

In the conference meet, North and South each won four flights and each won four matches in head-to-head competition, but two of the doubles meetings occurred in the semifinals, which cost the Norsemen a point in each.

League rules state that a player or doubles team has to compete at least three times in a flight in order to be seeded in the league meet. South coach Tom Berschback had made some changes in his second and fourth doubles teams in order to find the right combination for the regional and state meets, so the players he entered in the conference meet weren't seeded.

They met North's teams in the semifinals and both times South came away with a victory.

"North and South were clearly the two best teams and should have met in the finals, but because South wasn't seeded we met them in the semis," Gutow said. "If we'd have met them in the finals they'd have gotten seven points to our six, but since it was in the semis we got only five points and they had seven."

With South winning the meet 50-48, the two points North lost by playing South in the semis cost the Norsemen a tie.

Levine won first singles with a 6-1, 6-3 victory over Eisenhower's Chris Zoller. Zoller had beaten Levine in the dual meet between the two teams.

Levine, who was unseeded

Ex-Wolverine on winning doubles team

Ed Nagel, who played four years of tennis at the University of Michigan, and Maureen Drake of Toronto defeated Brian Veillette and Candy Kopetzki in the championship match of the Western Open Indoor Mixed Doubles Tennis tournament at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club.

This is the third straight year that Veillette and Kopetzki have been runners-up in the tournament.

because of his loss to Zoller, reached the finals when top-seeded Cullen McMahon of South had to retire because of illness after splitting the first two sets with Levine.

"Cullen was up all night before the tournament with the flu and at first he wasn't going to play, but he decided to give it a try to help the team," Gutow said. "He won four points for them by just showing up and playing his first match. He's a class player and a great kid, too."

Rogowski beat South's Jeff Wheeler 6-3, 2-6, 7-5 in the finals at No. 2 singles and Gregory topped the Blue Devils' Andy Loreda 6-2, 6-4 in third singles. South's Shawn Coyle beat North's Mike McHugh in fourth singles when McHugh, who is coming off a foot injury, had to retire.

South won three of the four doubles flights. Jeff Halso and Paul Power beat Foresman and VanAssche 4-6, 7-6, 6-4 in first doubles. Tom Rhoades and Andy Giraldo won second doubles and Rob Hostetter and M.J. Morris took third doubles. North's Sarnaik and Krastner beat South's Todd Scallen and Andy Schumaker 6-3, 6-0 in No. 4 doubles.

Prime pitching for North

By Chuck Klonke
Sports Editor

It didn't matter which pitcher Grosse Pointe North coach Frank Sumbera sent to the mound last week.

Whoever got the assignment carried it out in fine fashion.

The Norsemen got four complete games as they beat Lakeview 8-3 and Mount Clemens 9-0 in Macomb Area Conference Blue Division games, then swept a MAC crossover doubleheader from Grosse Pointe South 3-0 and 6-2.

"Our pitching is coming around again," Sumbera said. "We need it because we have a very big week with league games against Lake Shore, Warren Woods-Tower and Cousino and we can't afford another loss. We dug this hole for ourselves and now we have to win the rest of our games and hope somebody beats Cousino to help us."

The Patriots led the Blue Division with an 8-1 record when play began this week. L'Anse Creuse was second at 7-2 and North and Lake Shore were tied with 6-3 records.

Scott Spada got the Norsemen's comeback rolling with a six-hit, 11-strikeout performance against Lakeview. He helped himself with two hits and two RBI.

Jason Jaworski had two hits, including a home run, and drove in two runs, while Tony DiLaura and Mike Haskell each had two hits and one RBI.

Haskell and Jaworski combined on a one-hitter against Mount Clemens. Haskell worked the first six innings and struck out 10, while Jaworski struck out the side in his one inning.

Spada had two hits, including a bases-loaded triple, and drove in five runs. Jaworski, DiLaura, Joe Maceri and Pat McCarthy each had RBI singles.

Jaworski pitched a five-hit shutout and struck out eight in the opener of the doubleheader with South. He also knocked in the Norsemen's first run with a second-inning single.

"He pitched a real strong game. I felt he was in control all the way," Sumbera said after Jaworski's victory over the Blue Devils, who had moved into the top 10 in the state in Class A last week.

Nick Chapie's double scored Nate Treska in the fourth to give North a 2-0 lead and the Norsemen got their final run in the fifth when DiLaura walked, stole second and scored on Spada's double.

Maceri didn't allow an earned run in the second game as he went the distance. He gave up six hits and struck out seven.

South took a 2-0 lead in the first. Matt Haack doubled and scored on an infield error with two out. Erik Lindsay followed with an RBI single.

North came back with four runs in the bottom of the first. DiLaura singled, Haskell was hit by a pitch and Donny Tocco smashed a three-run homer. Treska followed with another home run.

Treska hit his second homer of the game in the fourth inning. North picked up its final run in the sixth when Tocco walked and came around to score on Rob McLeod's single and an outfield error.

South girls are alone in first

Grosse Pointe South's girls track team took sole possession of first place in the Macomb Area Conference White Division last week with a 91-37 victory over previously unbeaten Utica.

The Lady Devils, who are 6-0 in the league and 8-0 overall, dominated the meet by taking 13 of the 16 first places.

South hurdlers Rebecca Schultz, Rachel O'Byrne, Becca Walter and Lisa McCurdy combined to give the Lady Devils a sweep in both the 100- and 300-meter events.

South outscored the Chieftains 23-4 in the distance races with Heidi Wise (1,600-meter run), Amy Balok (800) and Aimee Vasse (3,200) taking firsts.

Also placing were Mary Rowe, Katie Weed and Sandy Dierkes.

Kristine Mueller and Katy Lupo gave the Lady Devils first-place finishes in the 100 and 200, respectively. Amy Zanglin added a first in the 400 to help South post a 20-5 edge in the sprints. Melissa Van Hoek placed in each of the short sprints.

Jenny Mangol finished second in the shot put with a season-best effort of 31-feet-10, while Keri VanderMale threw the discus 87-11 to finish third. Balok won the high jump and McCurdy was first in the long jump.

Others who ran on winning relays were Shannon McGratty and Eileen Lang.

Earlier, South beat Ford II 82-46 in a MAC White meet. Martha Kerfoot, Bibi Danko, Stephanie Keim and Beth Voigt turned in excellent performances against the Falcons.

South hosts a state Class A regional Saturday with preliminaries starting at 10 a.m. and the finals scheduled for a 1 p.m. start. South will also host the MAC White Division meet on Tuesday with the finals slated to start at 5:30 p.m.

Knights' goalie stars

Junior goalkeeper Joe Hanna is an accomplished opera singer, but lately he's been making some of University Liggett School's lacrosse rivals sing the blues.

"This is the first time Joe's played an organized sport and he has been improving almost daily since he's been filling in for Mark Waterman," said Knights' coach John Fowler. "He played a great game in our 6-4 win over Lansing Waverly."

Hanna made 17 saves as a replacement for Waterman, who has a separated shoulder.

"His save percentage is 69.3, which is very good in lacrosse," Fowler said.

Matt Hambright and Mike Vandenstock each scored twice for ULS, while Tom Simmonds and Ken McIntyre added a goal apiece.

"Four of our six goals were assisted, which means that we're playing well as a team. All six guys in the attacking zone are touching the ball," Fowler said.

The coach was also encouraged that his players picked up 50 ground balls in the game, which is almost twice as many as the average.

"And we did it without two of our top players, Nick Giorgio and Hank Ackerman," Fowler said. "We were fundamentally strong."

The Knights' other victory last week was a 7-5 triumph over Grosse Pointe North.

ULS built a 5-1 halftime lead, then held off a late rally by the Norsemen after the Knights picked up three penalties and were down three men.

"It was a great defensive stand by Don Wolford, Ackerman and Hambright," Fowler said. "You just try and do the best you can and hope for a turnover."

Waterman went into goal late in the game to take some of the pressure off Hanna, although he still didn't have full range of motion in his arm.

"We just wanted to get Mark's experience into the game at that point and he made two good saves at the end," Fowler said.

Sophomore attacker Steve Fitzgerald and Brad Espy each scored two goals, while Pat Moltane, Simmonds and Ackerman added one apiece. Ackerman had three assists and Moltane one. Hanna made 13 saves.

ULS dropped an 8-3 decision to U-D Jesuit. It was a 4-2 game until the fourth quarter.

"I felt good about how well we played defensively," Fowler said.

In other action, the Knights bowed 9-3 to Ann Arbor Pioneer, 4-3 to Troy and 5-1 to Troy Athens.

Espy leads ULS in scoring with eight goals and nine assists, while Ackerman has eight goals and eight assists. Giorgio, who has missed several games with a back injury, has seven goals, Vandenstock six and Hambright five.

"We've had real good goal distribution among our attacking players," Fowler said.

ULS is 4-3 in the Michigan Interscholastic Lacrosse Association Second Division and 4-6 overall.

ULS will host Grosse Pointe North on Friday at 4:30 p.m. in the first round of the Division II playoffs.

Babe Ruth action

INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE

Orioles 2, Dodgers 2

Brad Hohlfeldt and Andy Smith pitched for the Orioles in the game that was halted after eight innings.

Orioles 10, Rangers 8

Pat Hurford led the Orioles with his pitching and hitting, while Alex Weryly also contributed timely hits. Jim Meyers did a good job defensively at catcher for the Orioles.

Norsemen perfect in league

By Chuck Klonke
Sports Editor

Pat Wilson remembers the days when Lakeview and Grosse Pointe North staged some epic battles in boys track.

That's why he went into last week's Macomb Area Blue Division meet with some apprehension.

"I was worried about them because they're real strong in five events," Wilson said after the Norsemen beat the Huskies 83-46 to remain undefeated in the division. "Then if they get a few other points here and there, it becomes a close meet. But once again our depth paid off. We don't have the depth (Grosse Pointe) South does, but we have more depth than any other team in our division."

Wilson, who coached at Lakeview for 20 seasons before taking over at North four years ago, admitted he's still getting used to being on the other side of the Huskies.

"After one of the hurdles races I yelled, 'OK you Lakeview guys, move the hurdles,' and then I quickly caught myself and said, 'North, move the hurdles,'" he said with a laugh.

Matt Dube and Eric Peters were each double winners for the Norsemen, who are 6-0 in league meets and 7-1 overall. Dube won the shot put with a throw of 39-feet-11 and had a winning heave of 121-8 in the discus. Peters won the long jump with a 20-7 effort and was first in the 200-meter dash in 24.0.

"Matt played baseball until this year, but he's really improved our field events," Wilson said. "It was a tremendous lift to get him because he's such a leader."

Peters had quite a duel with one of the Lakeview long jumpers.

"The first two times Eric jumped the other kid passed him on the next jump, but the third time he wasn't able to respond," Wilson said.

North's other firsts were recorded by Hayko Ekmekjian, high hurdles, 15.0; Geoff Grant, 100, 11.8; Dave Slanec, 800, 2:12; and John Ament, pole vault, 11-0. The Norsemen's team of Jon Rapp, Peters, Grant and Ekmekjian won the 800 relay in 1:38.4.

North had several excellent non-winning performances. Bob Stevenson, who was running his first 800 since spraining his ankle last month, finished second to Slanec and Bill Stevenson was second in the 1,600 with a personal best time of 4:40.2. Jeff Henson also broke the five-minute barrier in the 1,600 for the first time. Marty Bogen ran a strong 3,200 to finish second in 10:48 and Dave Bonkosky posted a personal best 10:56.

Earlier, North beat Clintondale 83-54 in a meet highlighted by a school record by Ekmekjian in the low hurdles. Ekmekjian's 40.6 was six-tenths of a second better than the time he posted in last year's conference meet.

"He stuttered on two hurdles and alternated his step on another so if all goes right, he could break 40 seconds," Wilson said. "He didn't have any competition against Clintondale, either. He finished two seconds ahead of the guy in second."

Hosea Peters had an excellent meet, winning the 100 in 11.5 and the long jump with a leap of 20-2. He was second to Rapp in the 200, with a personal best 23.6. Rapp's winning time was 23.4.

Peters just nosed out his brother in the long jump as Eric was second with a leap of 20-1 1/2.

Bogen won the 1,600 with a personal best 5:01.5 and Bonkosky was second with 5:03.6, also his best. Slanec chopped four seconds off his previous best in winning the 800 in 2:09.7.

"He hadn't run in two weeks because of a bad hamstring, but sometimes rest is as important as hard work if a runner is in shape," Wilson said. "Once you're in shape you don't have to work as hard. Lately, track people are subscribing to the theory that you have to rest the body, too."

Shareef Simaika won the high hurdles with a personal best 16.1.

North's other individual winners were Ament, pole vault, 11-0; and Bill Stevenson, 3,200, 10:38. Mike Song, Eric Peters, Grant and Ekmekjian won the 400 relay in 46.3 and Chris Georgandellis, Eric Peters, Grant and Ekmekjian took first in the 800 relay in 1:36.3.

North hosts the MAC Blue Division meet on Tuesday, May 25, and although the Norsemen will be favored, Wilson knows it won't be easy.

"I mapped it out on paper, just like I used to do in the old Bi-County League meets with North and Lakeview, and if everything goes right we should win by 15 points," Wilson said. "The only problem is, you never know if everything's going to go right."

North girls rout foes

Grosse Pointe North's girls track team had an easy week with lopsided victories over Clintondale and Lakeview in the Macomb Area Conference Blue Division.

Jessica McLalin's first-place time of 5:35 in the 1,600-meter run was a highlight of North's 125-3 victory over Lakeview.

Other individual winners for the Lady Norsemen were Jenny Trachy, high hurdles; Kim Dornbrook, 100; Jean Seo, 400; Karen Powers, low hurdles; Rebecca Clor, 800; Sarah Merz, 200; Nina Misuraca, 3,200; Lynn Rader, discus; Maria Berdayes, shot put; Tonya Hamilton, high jump; and Anne Maliszewski, long jump.

Maliszewski won three events and Trachy and Linda Krieg each won two to lead North to a 101-27 victory over Clintondale.

Maliszewski had a leap of 15-feet-1 in the long jump, a winning time of 12.9 in the 100 and 1:02 in the 400. Trachy won the high hurdles in 18.1 and the lows in 51.9. Krieg won the discus with a throw of 115-3 and her winning effort in the shot put was 34-10.

McLalin won the 800 in 2:29 and Hamilton cleared 4-10 in the high jump to finish first.

North swept all four relays in each meet.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION To Be Held WEDNESDAY, JUNE 2, 1993

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a Special Election will be held on Wednesday, June 2, 1993 from 7 o'clock in the forenoon until 8 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time qualified registered voters may vote for the following:

PROPOSAL A

A PROPOSAL TO LIMIT ANNUAL INCREASES IN ALL PROPERTY TAX ASSESSMENTS, REDUCE MAXIMUM SCHOOL OPERATING TAXES, INCREASE THE STATE SALES AND USE TAX RATES FROM 4% TO 6%, CONSTITUTIONALLY DEDICATE FUNDS FOR LOCAL SCHOOLS AND SET A PER-PUPIL FUNDING GUARANTEE

The proposed constitutional amendment would:

- 1) Limit for each property parcel (excluding new construction) annual assessment increase to 5% or the inflation rate, whichever is less. When property is sold or transferred, adjust assessment according to current market value.
- 2) Reduce maximum school operating taxes to 18 non-voted mills. Permit districts to levy up to 9 additional voted mills.
- 3) Reduce 50-mill maximum property tax limit to 40 mills.
- 4) Increase state sales and use tax rates to 6%. Dedicate this additional revenue and lottery proceeds to schools.
- 5) Establish a minimum state/local per-pupil funding guarantee, annually adjusted for revenue changes. Provide a minimum 3% per-pupil funding increase in 1993-1994.

SHOULD THIS PROPOSAL BE ADOPTED? YES _____ NO _____

Here's a European design that's only 55 feet wide

Home Tips

Makeup on collar — My winter coat has a fleecy lining. Unfortunately, the part of the lining which touches my jawbone became soiled with makeup. My husband came up with a great solution. He put liquid laundry detergent (just a little) on the stains and let it dry. Then he took a small brush and gently brushed away the dried detergent. The makeup came off with it. He then washed the area with some warm water and more detergent and dried with a blow dryer. It did the trick, and I didn't have to launder the whole coat!

The two story foyer entrance leads to the stunning family room that is shown with a partly flat and partly vaulted ceiling. This room is available to the large dining room and kitchen and is provided with direct access to the sun deck.

The distinctive features included in the master bedroom suite are the tray ceiling, fantastic closet space, compartment bath with garden tub and separate shower stall and immediate access to a second bath. Two additional bedrooms are included, one of which features a vaulted ceiling.

Laundry facilities are between the garage and kitchen-dining room and by locating the garage to the front, the designer is able to include 1,630 square feet of a comparatively narrow lot.

The European exterior style is complete with Palladian window treatment, stucco finish, dormer windows and multiple roof breaks for character.

The plan is No. 694. It includes only 1,630 square feet of heated area. It is a computer generated plan. All W.D. Farmer plans include special construction details for energy efficiency and are drawn in accordance with FHA and VA requirements. For further information write W.D. Farmer, P.O. ## Household Help by John Amartea

Q. I read your article, "Wallboard - Key to Cracked Tile," in the Sacramento Bee today, and have a similar problem with my tile entryway in my (2-3/4-year-old) home.

At first, the grout cracked (separated from one side of the tiles) in a more or less straight line, 33 inches long, with the grout separating from the tiles on the other side, continuing another 11 inches parallel and a third grout separation continuing parallel another 8 inches. My husband noticed the grout cracks some time ago, but thought this was just the house settling.

More recently, a diagonal crack developed in the middle of an 8-by-8-inch tile running through the grout and into the adjacent tile. As background, you should know this house has been found to have a substandard foundation in the linoleum-covered kitchen, nook and guest bathroom due to unevenness, rolls and mounds, according to the licensed contractor sent by the state contractors' license board.

In your opinion, what do you think is causing the tile and grout to crack? How could this problem be professionally repaired? How would I go about invoking repairs on my 10-year warranty, since I believe this is a structure-related problem?

A. Realistically, without actually seeing your cracked tile, I will try to be as precise as possible.

The probability of a weak foundation in that particular area is likely. In conjunction to this, your grouted tiles may be seated on an unstable underlayment. The underlayment (or your finished plywood) may be warped or even not securely nailed to the subfloor. This will consequently cause any surface product, including tile, to crack, loosen or rise out of its place.

The good news is, this damage can be professionally repaired. Your best bet is to contact the original contractor and have the site inspected. I'm sure that after all is said and done, you can come to an equitable agreement.

Antiques by Ralph & Terry Kovel

Q. How old are the wooden-soldier-shaped nutcrackers?

A. The nutcracker was said to bring good luck and to keep evil spirits away. Many different figures have been made through the years. It is said that decorative nutcrackers were made in Austria before 1650. Carved wooden nutcrackers were popular as Christmas gifts for children.

Q. I have a quart of preserved cherries that were home-canned in 1961. The top is held with a metal clamp. The jar is marked "Whitall's Patented, June 18th 1861" on one side, "Millville Atmospheric Fruit Jar" on the other. Is it of value? Are the cherries safe to eat?

A. The jar was made with a glass lid on an iron yoke clamp that was screwed tight. This is not a completely safe seal, so the cherries should not be eaten. The pale aqua jar sells at bottle-collector shows for $100 to $125.

Q. Is there any way to date my old Gorham sterling silver? It is marked.

A. The Gorham Silver Co. was founded in Providence, R.I., in 1831, and it has produced silver in many styles. The factory mark has an anchor and a lion. Near that mark the factory stamped a single letter from 1868 to 1884. From 1885 to 1933, the extra stamp was a small picture of an animal or object. In 1941, the company began to use four numerals indicating the year.

For a copy of the Kovels' leaflet, "How to Refinish and Date a Trunk," send $1 and a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Kovels, P.O. Box 22900, Beachwood, Ohio 44122.

First-quarter existing-home sales rise in 29 states

Despite a cold, wet winter in many areas across the country, home buyers still ventured into the marketplace, pushing home resale activity up in 29 states during the first quarter of 1993 compared to a year ago, the National Association of Realtors reported recently.

According to the association's latest quarterly state-by-state survey of sales of previously owned homes, the increases ranged from 0.1 percent in Texas to 25.7 percent in Hawaii, while a total of 10 states registered double-digit increases. Figures for Alaska and Georgia were not available.

NAR president William S. Chee said the increase shows that even in bad weather, consumers recognize that market conditions are peak for purchasing real estate.

"While adverse weather conditions in the first three months of the year did stall sales in some states that had previously experienced increases, the activity in many states shows that serious home buyers will not let the cold keep them from taking advantage of a market full of opportunities," Chee said. "We anticipate this activity to continue through 1993, given the fact that consumer confidence appears to be on the mend and interest rates are expected to continue to remain low."

Nationwide, the NAR survey of sales of existing single-family detached homes, town houses, apartment condominiums and co-operatives, showed a seasonally adjusted annual resale rate of 3.92 million units during January, February and March of this year, an increase of 3.4 percent over the 3.79 million units registered during the same period the previous year.

The NAR survey, which covers sales of existing single-family detached homes, town houses, apartment condominiums and co-operatives, showed that every region of the nation, experienced a rise in resales during the first quarter of 1993, compared to the previous year.

John A. Tuccillo, NAR's chief economist, said the slow down in momentum in some areas can be attributed to the bad weather — especially the "Blizzard of '93."

"The survey numbers clearly show a sales drop in states where the weather was the worst, rather than a lack of consumer confidence in the economy. For instance, Hawaii, which has no snow, led the states in sales activity during the first quarter," Tuccillo noted.

The region posting the greatest increase in resales for the first quarter of this year compared to the same period a year ago was the Northeast, with an 8.6 percent rise. Leading the region was Pennsylvania with a 19.2 percent increase. Vermont followed, with a 17.9 percent growth rise; and Massachusetts came in third with a 13.5 percent growth rate.

Ranking second among the regions was the Midwest, which posted a 3 percent increase in resales for the first quarter compared to the same period a year ago. States in this region showing the strongest increase were: South Dakota, with a 16.2 percent rise; Indiana, with 10.8 percent; and Michigan, at 10.1 percent.

Scotts says, Your lawn needs a steady diet, too

It's easy to keep your lawn looking great, but statistics show that a lot of people haven't gotten the message.

A recent market research study by the Scotts Co. showed that nearly half (46 percent) of Americans who own a house with a lawn do not fertilize or treat their lawns in a given year. Another 13 percent say they feed or treat their lawn only once a year.

Scotts' lawn care experts say that just three or four feedings of the proper nutrient mix each year will provide the balanced diet that will help a lawn prosper. For the average lawn, one feeding application should take about 20 minutes. That means that most American homeowners can have the beautiful lawn they desire simply by investing an hour or an hour and 20 minutes every year.

"If more people understood how easy and quick it is to create and maintain a beautiful lawn, I'm sure you'd see a lot more people taking the necessary steps," says Dean Mosdell, turfgrass scientist at Scotts. "With just three or four feedings of the right products each year, lawns get the right combination of nutrients to replenish the food supply they've used up as the seasons change."

To help more people achieve a great-looking lawn, Scotts has come up with new and simple ways to feed lawns properly.

The new Scotts Lawn Care System for weeding and feeding comes in a handy box that's easy to carry, store, and use. Each box contains three seasonal applications of the nutrients your lawn needs for healthy growth. Depending on the area of the country you live in, one of those applications will also contain the proper amounts of weed or insect control.

For homeowners who want to take the extra step toward a truly outstanding lawn, Scotts 4-Step Annual Program provides just the needed extra boost through fertilizer applications in the early spring, late summer, and fall. The early spring application contains a crabgrass preventer, the late spring application includes broadleaf weed control, summer's application contains an insect control, and fall's provides the lawn with an extra helping of needed nitrogen and potassium before winter.

"Scotts has always been dedicated to helping people have beautiful lawns, but we understand that people have different objectives in their lawn care plans," Mosdell says. "That's why these two programs were developed. Either can be matched to an individual's objectives to achieve a beautiful, healthy lawn — quickly, easily, and inexpensively. This is lawn care made easy."

Scotts is always looking for better ways to help create a more beautiful world. If you have ideas or suggestions, or if you have any questions on lawn care, call the Scotts experts at 1-800-543-TURF.

Realtors in the News

Forman Johnston, president of Bolton-Johnston Associates, Grosse Pointe Farms, was recently installed as director at large of the Michigan Association of Realtors (MAR). Johnston was elected to the two-year position by the MAR delegates during the association's annual convention at the Detroit Westin Hotel last October.

Johnston

As director at large, Johnston sits on the 25-member board of directors for the statewide Realtor organization, which represents more than 23,000 members.

Johnston was a director of the Grosse Pointe Board of Realtors from 1986 to 1991 and served as its president in 1989. A native Grosse Pointer, he lives with his wife Ellen in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Adlhoj & Associates, Realtors honored its top sales associates at a recent meeting. Top producers for 1992 were John D. Hoben Jr., Thomas L. Taber, Cynthia Curtiss Ireland, Linda C. Rodriguez, Thomas D. Steen, Robert J. Crandall, Patricia A. O'Grady, Maureen L. Allison, Ann W. Sales, Craig C. Dougherty and Marianne H. Davies.

President William G. Adlhoj announced the company reached record sales levels for the ninth consecutive year and forecast a strong market for 1993.

The Prudential Real Estate Financial Services of Michigan has appointed Craig Kohler to financial specialist, based out of The Prudential's Grosse Pointe Realty office. Kohler, of Grosse Pointe Woods, had been a mortgage originator for Towne Mortgage of Sterling Heights since 1992 and before that was a marketing representative for IBM of Southfield.

Expert offers air conditioning tips to be cool this summer

With warm weather just around the corner, air conditioning experts have several tips for homeowner's who are buying or maintaining an air conditioning system.

Gary Marowske, vice president of Flame Furnace Inc., offers these basic tips if you are buying a home air conditioning system:

1. Pick a quality contractor. Look for licensed, insured contractors who have been in business for a long time. For background on contractors in your area, check with the Better Business Bureau, your local building inspection department or the State of Michigan Department of Licensing and Regulation.

2. Be sure the contractor has copies of all city permits required for the installation. Contractors should be able to show you copies of these permits before they begin work.

3. Have the contractor explain the energy efficiency of the unit they are recommending. This is known as the SEER Rating (seasonal energy efficiency rating). The rating should be a minimum of 10. A rating of 12 is considered an excellent rating but you will pay more for a system of this efficiency.

4. Always purchase an air conditioner from one of the top national brands. That is your best assurance that parts and services are readily available. Brands that have local service and parts offices in the Detroit area include Bryant, Lennox & Carrier.

Marowske also has several tips for homeowners who already have home cooling systems and need to get their systems ready for summer:

1. Prepare your cooling system for the summer season by washing down the outside unit and removing all the leaves and debris attached to the coil.

2. Shut off the water to the humidifier and drain the system.

3. Clean or replace all filters, if needed.

4. Check the fuse or breaker to make sure the system is on. Also, be sure that the thermostat is set correctly.

5. If the system is not working after completing tips 1-4, contact your local heating and cooling contractors for servicing.

For further information on air conditioning and cooling systems, contact Gary Marowske at Flame Furnace at (313) 527-1700. Flame Furnace Co. has been providing heating and cooling services to the Metro Detroit area since 1949.

Flame named Contractor of the Year

Flame Furnace Co. has been named the 1993 Residential Contractor of the Year by the industry publication, "Contracting Business."

The prestigious award is given to only one residential contractor from throughout the United States and after an extensive selection process. Nominations were accepted by the magazine from numerous manufacturers, distributors, associations and contractors. Flame Furnace was featured in the February issue of "Contracting Business."

Flame Furnace Co. has been providing heating and cooling services to the metro Detroit area since 1949. For further information, contact Gary Marowske at Flame Furnace Co. at (313) 527-1700.

Home improvement fad generates thousands of inquiries to the BBB

In metropolitan Detroit, with the nation's largest proportion of single-family homes, recent warm weather launched the home improvement season.

Home improvement is big business in Detroit where residents spent more than $312 million in home remodeling and repair during 1992, according to the National Association of the Remodeling Industry.

As more metro Detroiters choose to fix up or expand existing homes rather than build new ones, many have found the projects can lead to unexpected frustrations.

Local home improvement activity generated more than 200 calls a day to the Better Business Bureau of Detroit and Eastern Michigan last year. That amounted to more than 67,000 inquiries and 1,900 complaints regarding local residential repair and remodeling companies, according to Carmel Weems, the bureau's public relations coordinator.

provement inquiries and complaints deal with general home remodeling, window and door installation, Weems said.

"The major complaints we hear from consumers regarding home improvement companies include poor workmanship, low quality materials, cost overruns, slow completion, and scrap materials left at the site," Weems said. "By calling the bureau ahead of time to find reputable companies, people can save themselves time and money."

The bureau offers background information on contractors, carpenters, plasterers, handymen, electricians, window and door installers, and other local companies offering home repair services, as well as building supply stores for do-it-yourselfers.

Weems said consumers can call a 24-hour information line, 644-9100. The BBB's pamphlet, "Tips on Home Improvements," can also help homeowners make wise decisions, she said.

Edison suggests a spring shape-up program for garden power tools

Electric lawn and garden tools have spent a long, lazy winter in storage. Before using them this spring, Detroit Edison advises a shape-up program to provide the proper conditioning for the seasonal workout.

The first, and most important, step is to unplug the electric tool before cleaning, adjusting, repairing or doing other maintenance work.

After winter storage:

- Check the housing and cord for cracks, deterioration and damage. Return any damaged tool or part to the manufacturer for repair or replacement.

- If a trigger or switch does not start the tool immediately, have the tool checked for needed repairs.

- Check blades and bits to ensure they are tight and straight, not bent, dull or damaged. Sharpen the blades.

- Inspect for rust, which you can remove with steel wool.

- Before using your lawnmower, change the oil, lubricate moving parts, clean all filters and check the gas tank for rust. Refill the tank with fresh gas.

To avoid personal injury or property damage:

- Use quality tools that have been tested and listed by Underwriters Laboratory (UL).

- Use a ground fault circuit interrupter on outdoor outlets to prevent electrical shock. Make sure each tool has a three-pronged plug or is double-insulated.

- Use only extension cords approved for outdoor use.

- Never use electric tools or lawnmowers in wet weather or on wet surfaces.

- Wear sturdy, rubber-soled shoes or boots while using electric tools outdoors. Never use them while barefoot.

- Keep tools out of the reach of children.

Leslie Lickfold, daughter of Fred and Susan Lickfold of Grosse Pointe, was initiated into the Delta Rho chapter of Delta Delta sorority at the University of Kentucky.

Michelle Baetz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Baetz of Grosse Pointe Farms, was one of 43 Hillsdale College students who spent spring break helping rebuild Du Lac, La., a community devastated last year by Hurricane Andrew. The program, called Alternative Spring Break, is sponsored by Great Opportunities for Assistance and Leadership (GOAL), a Hillsdale program which involves students in community service projects and promotes the volunteer spirit on campus.

Ann Marie Creed of Grosse Pointe earned a master of science degree in administration from Central Michigan University. She did her undergraduate work at Wayne State University.

Susan Dale, daughter of Chuck and Nancy Dale of Grosse Pointe Woods, was elected corresponding and recording secretary of Alpha Phi sorority at the University of Michigan.

Joyce E. Stuckey of Grosse Pointe Park, daughter of Paul and Patricia Stuckey, was elected president of the Rho Epsilon chapter of Phi Mu sorority at Albion College.

Coast Guard Petty Officer 3rd Class Lisa J. Travillian of Grosse Pointe recently was awarded the Coast Guard Humanitarian Service Medal while serving in Seattle. She participated with other members of the Coast Guard in duties ranging from maritime search and rescue and marine environmental protection, to national defense and law enforcement. The award recognizes those who are involved in selfless acts of humanitarian assistance far beyond the call of duty.

Glen T. Okonoski of Grosse Pointe Woods was named to the dean's list at Ferris State University.

Among those who graduated from Central Michigan University in December were the following Grosse Pointers: Kathleen M. Evans, Mary E. Jones and Thomas S. Sullivan, who earned master of science degrees in administration; and Jennifer A. Drummond, Melissa Preston and John H. Verlinden, who earned bachelor of science degrees.

Laura K. Phy of Grosse Pointe Woods graduated from the University of Michigan with a bachelor of science degree in kinesiology and a teacher's certificate to teach physical education and the social sciences.

Camille Bunchek, daughter of Virginia Bunchek of Grosse Pointe City, graduated in March from the John Robert Powers Modeling School in Southfield. She is also the daughter of Lawrence Bunchek of Grosse Pointe Farms.

Emily Malcoun, daughter of Dr. Anthony and Elaine Malcoun of Grosse Pointe Shores, was named to the dean's list at the University of Notre Dame. She is a freshman.

Andrew Van Deweghe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Van Deweghe of Grosse Pointe Farms, is a member of the Lake Forest College Garrick Players Theatre group which presented the Greek comedy "Lysistrata" in February.

Centennial fundraisers will include birthday party, golf outing and (sponsors hope) cooperative cow

By Margie Reins Smith
Feature Editor

Grosse Pointe Farms and Grosse Pointe City — both marking their 100th anniversary this year — will offer nearly three dozen different ways for residents and non-residents to help celebrate.

The activities — designed for adults and children — will include diversions for every taste: a birthday party, dedications of historic markers, an art fair, a 5K run, a bike parade, an ice cream social, a family field day, a centennial parade, a picnic, fireworks, a band concert, a boat race, a raffle, a chili cook-off, a golf outing, a fishing rodeo and the sealing of a time capsule to be opened in 2093.

The celebration will peak on the weekend of July 4, but activities began in mid-May and will continue through the end of August.

"We hope this will be a celebration of the community, by the community," said Kathy Neumann, centennial coordinator. "And by no means are events restricted to people from the Farms and City. We want all Grosse Pointers and their friends to participate."

Who will pay for all this merriment?

The money will come from three major fundraisers and the sale of centennial merchandise, Neumann said.

The fundraisers appeal to a variety of tastes.

An old-fashioned birthday party for the Farms and City will be celebrated at Jacobson's in the Village from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday, June 10. Tickets are $35 a person and will include banjo-pickin' foot-stompin' music by the Red Garter Band, food by Jacobson's, a birthday cake created by ONE23 especially for the centennial celebration, and a cash bar. Reservations for 250 people are available. Call 885-8128.

A Centennial Golf Outing will be held at the Country Club of Detroit on Monday, Aug. 9. Lunch begins at 11:30 a.m. The shotgun start will be at 1 p.m. Cocktails and hors d'oeuvres will begin at 6 p.m. The cost is $175 a person.

Prizes will be given for men's, women's and mixed foursomes. There are spaces for 144 golfers. Call 886-6496 or 885-8128.

Then — for those who are convinced that nothing new in fundraising will ever come along — listen up.

ster, owner of Upland Hills Farm and provider of the cow.

Upland Hills Farm will also bring a bunch of farm animals for children to pet while their parents ogle the cow.

"We're bringing two farmers," said Goodwill, "a calf, a goat, a sheep, some piglets, rabbits and poultry."

Children might have a chance to milk the cow or see one of the chickens lay an egg, she added.

The committee has 2,500 Meadow Muffin Mania tickets to sell. The winner will take home $1,893. The Centennial committee gets the $10,000 or so left from ticket sales. The cow gets a pat on the head and dinner.

"This all ties in with the fact that Grosse Pointe was originally farmland. It was all strip farms," Neumann said. Cows used to live here.

In addition to the three fundraisers, merchandise such as T-shirts, mugs and sweatshirts bearing the Farms/City centennial logo are available at Jacobson's in the Village; the Grosse Pointe Farms and Grosse Pointe City offices; the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore; and Joyce's Salon, 17912 Mack in Grosse Pointe City.

For more information about the Farms/City centennial celebration, call 885-8128.

Meadow Muffin Mania, a raffle, will take place within a roped-off section of the Farms Pier near the tennis courts, from noon to 4 p.m. Saturday, July 3.

Tickets are $5 each. The winner will take home nearly $2,000 if a certain cow (you read it correctly: C O W) makes . . . uh, a certain deposit on the ticket-holder's certain numbered section of lawn.

"We are not guaranteeing anything from this cow," said Sandy Goodwill, secretary to Steve Web-

'Follow the Yellow Brick Road' is theme for 1992 Trial Garden

The Grand Marais Garden Club, winner of the 1992 Trial Garden Award for excellence, has chosen "Follow the Yellow Brick Road" as a theme for the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Trial Garden's 1993 plantings.

Along with the Grand Marais Garden Club, the following clubs and groups will design, create and plant their own plots: Windmill Pointe Garden Club, Pointe Garden Club, Junior League Gardeners, Grosse Pointe Shores Garden Club, Grosse Pointe Farm and Garden, Garden Club of Michigan, Grosse Pointe Garden Club, Trowel and Error Garden Club, Grosse Pointe Park Garden Club, Grosse Pointe Unit of the Herb Society of America, Village Garden Club, Deeplands Garden Club, Suburbia Garden Club and local children who participated in the Grosse Pointe Garden Center's educational program on May 15.

Under the auspices of the Grosse Pointe Garden Center, the Trial Garden is planted each spring by members of local garden clubs which are assigned plots in the garden on a rotation basis. A panel of judges selects winners based on design, execution of theme, plant material and overall care of the plot.

The Trial Garden committee and participating garden clubs spend many hours each year to ensure that these gardens continue to enrich the community. Flowers, trees and shrubs are labeled. Local gardeners are encouraged to view the plots at various times throughout the season to get ideas for their own gardens. The Hillside Memorial Garden serves as a quiet place for meditation. The area is also a beautiful backdrop for weddings, receptions and community activities.

The establishment of the Trial Garden dates back to 1950 when local residents introduced the idea of a "test" garden patterned after the Berkshire Trial Garden in Stockbridge, Mass.

A permanent endowment was created in 1970 with community contributions and named in honor of Vincent DePetris, who was primarily responsible for the founding of the Grosse Pointe Garden Center. DePetris was also one of Grosse Pointe's most distinguished gardeners. The interest earned on the principal is used to support the Trial Garden.

Contributions to the DePetris Fund are welcome at any time. Mail to the Grosse Pointe Garden Center, 32 Lakeshore, Grosse Pointe Farms, 48236.

Partners Against Crime needs help

More than 70 percent of young adults placed on probation for misdemeanors in the city of Detroit fail to complete probation. Partners Against Crime (PAC), a volunteer group working with the 36th District Court, is changing this downward path of repeat offenses and crime.

Parents Without Partners meets

The St. Clair Shores chapter of Parents Without Partners will hold its general meeting at 8:15 p.m. Friday, May 21, at the VFW Bruce Post, Jefferson at 11-1/2 Mile.

Jim Smithy of the Platonic Learning Center will talk on the topic: "Communicating Better With Your Children." The meeting is open to the public free of charge. For further information, call 468-1770.

Following the meeting there will be an open "May Day" dance to a live eight-piece band. The cost is $7 for members; $10 for guests; open bar.

You send $4,976 to Washington every year. It's worth $29.95 to find out how they spend it. A full year—52 weeks—of insight for just $29.95. Call toll-free now with your credit card handy. 1-800-356-3588 Ask for Operator 0046

When young adults are placed on probation with the PAC program they receive a year-long commitment from a volunteer community probation worker to help them in every way toward completion of probation and toward a life as law-abiding citizens. The trained volunteers are ordinary citizens who have made the commitment to help one other person.

The 36th District Court has committed to providing over 2,000 probationers each year, as quickly as trained volunteers are available to work with them. Volunteers are needed now. Call Partners Against Crime at 964-1110 for information and training dates.

Support group helps mentally ill, families

The Alliance for the Mentally Ill-Eastside, a support group for families and friends of those who are mentally ill, will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday, May 24, at Henry Ford Nursing Center, 19840 Harper in Harper Woods.

"Working Inside the Mental Illness System," is the topic to be presented by a nurse who works in a hospital psychiatric unit. For information, call 884-9005 or 839-9826.

Discovery Ball

Martha Reeves and the Vandellas will entertain at the Discovery Ball, an annual benefit for the Michigan chapter of the Leukemia Society of America. The black tie event will be at 7 p.m. Friday, May 21, at the Ritz Carlton in Dearborn.

From left, are co-chairmen Elise Hayes and Marcia Avis, Reeves, and Grosse Pointer Karen Pyle, executive director of the LSA Michigan chapter. Other Grosse Pointers on the committee are Beth Fisher and Caprice Wilson Baun.

Tridelta alums plan annual dinner

Grosse Pointe area Tridelta alumnae will hold their annual pansy dinner on Tuesday, May 25, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mary Saylor.

Wine and hors d'oeuvres will precede dinner. Special guests will be recent graduates of University of Michigan and Michigan State University. Also honored will be the recent recipient of a Panhellenic Scholarship, Kristina Olsen, a Tridelt pre-med student.

All Trideltas in the area are invited. To make reservations and/or arrange for a ride, call Renee Waldmeir at 882-9689 or Karen Liederbach at 885-5029. The price of admission is an inexpensive toy for Children's Hospital.

Women's Connection will meet

The Women's Connection will meet Thursday, May 27, for dinner and a lecture by Sharon Michaels, who believes success is a choice. She earned a degree in education, taught special education in Michigan and Colorado, developed programs for using newspapers in education, and earned a law degree. She has conducted more than 1,500 workshops, seminars and training sessions, teaching people new skills to achieve success.

The Women's Connection of Grosse Pointe is a women's networking and support group composed of business and professional women and women preparing to enter the workforce.

The meeting, which is open to anyone, will begin at 6 p.m.; dinner will be at 6:30; the speaker will begin at 7:45. Reservations must be made by Monday, May 24. Call Nancy Neat at 777-0888 or 882-1855.

G.P. Clown Corps seeks new members

The Grosse Pointe Clown Corps is seeking new members (first grade and up) to help Grosse Pointe City and Grosse Pointe Farms celebrate their centennials. The corps meets at 7:30 p.m. Tuesdays at the Grosse Pointe Woods municipal building for clowning classes. Members also perform at children's birthday parties.

For more information, call Arthur Kuehnell at 881-8186.

G.P. Camera Club

The Grosse Pointe Camera Club will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 25, at the Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfonte, for program night, fellowship and refreshments. Visitors are welcome.

For more information, call 824-9064 or 881-8034.

Eating disorders support groups

Support groups for anyone with eating disorders are offered by the Eastwood-Oxford Network of Care, an affiliate of St. John Hospital and Medical Center. For times, dates and locations, call 882-8860.

HAVE A PLEASANT TRY AT PERFECTION BRIDGE BY WOODY BOYD ♠♥♦♣

When I was a tender aged apprentice and learning, my parents strongly advocated many helpful cannons. One that seems to have a valued use in today's undertaking... "Never take a lady for granted for some have simply accepted the challenge of advancement with more serious intent than you."

Mrs. Daniel Marcus of Bloomfield Hills is a fine example of that teaching. This lovely lady also carries a Barbara before the Marcus, but to the legions who know and admire her sparkling effervescence she's just Bobby. Behind this charmer's happy go lucky let's have a fun time personality is a very keen mind who has diligently set "expert play" as a duplicate goal she intends to achieve. This hasn't come easy for it was some twenty years ago she was crowned a life master only to learn that that laurel alone didn't qualify her to be one. But she has bided her time and taken advantage of every meaningful opportunity at hand to become one and today she is close to that goal in the opinion of many. The exceptionally medalled North American master, Mark Lair, considers Bobby to be as talented as any bridge hobbyist he's played with and that's fine praise. But her accomplishment goal isn't limited to just bridge. She's a pretty good golfer to boot and she applies the same set of intensive standards to that. "I'd love a game with a Nicklaus, Palmer, Couples or Norman. What a stimulating experience that would be," she was once overheard to say.

This week, Bobby has a playing date with famous Italian blue team star, World Master Benito Garozzo who graciously accepted the S.O.M.B.A. invitation to attend our Wolverine Regional at the Southfield Civic Center Pavilion. I, for one, am going to thoroughly enjoy kibitzing their play.

Don't conclude from this recital that she's picky about her partners. I know of no one who spreads her play as generously among so many as she is sought after often, but Daniel remains her favorite and that's as it should be. I wasn't the least bit surprised when she told me that Clerely

Chaney is another. Bobby's praise says it with aces. "She's a wonderful partner." Here's a recent hand from The Bridge Connection in which they teamed up to destroy declarer in what seemed to be an invincible contract. At least at every other table, declarer scored a ten or eleven trick victory.

old heart lead wasn't enough. She had to hope Bobby would conclude that the card she played was a suit preference signal so that she could, with a ton of luck, give her partner a second ruff. Blessings upon Clerely, she led the heart eight and the walls of Jericho started to tumble. Bobby ruffed and knew partner wanted a diamond back, but not so fast; which one? Clerely had to have the ace or the defense had no chance. If South had the king and dummy, the known jack which diamond card would give declarer the maximal guess to go wrong? Finally she played the ten and South went into a prolonged huddle. Bobby had struck pay dirt! Would declarer play her for the ace and put up the king? It only took two minutes of patient waiting to tell. In that abbreviated period, Bobby and Clerely sat stolid showing no emotion, but anyone could tell that South was up against the fight of his life. Twice he started to make his play, but put it back. At last the diamond king and our lady players had victory. Quickly they rattled off the diamond ace, another heart ruff and the diamond queen. The only label one can place upon this kind of play... Miraculous Defensive Action!

Poems wanted for contest and anthology

Sparrowgrass Poetry Forum Inc. is offering a grand prize of $500 in its new "Awards of Poetic Excellence" poetry contest. Thirty-four other cash awards are also being offered. The contest closes July 31.

Poets may enter one poem only, 20 lines or less, on any subject, in any style. The contest is free to enter. Poets are encouraged to submit their work as soon as possible, since poems entered in the contest will also be considered for publication in "Poetic Voices of America," a hardcover anthology. Prizes will be awarded by Sept. 30.

"We are looking for sincerity and originality in a wide variety of styles and themes," says Jerome P. Welch, publisher. "You do not have to be an experienced poet to enter or win."

Poems should be sent to Sparrowgrass Poetry Forum Inc., Dept. G., 203 Diamond Street, Sistersville, West Virginia 26175.

'Will Rogers' comes to the Fisher

Coming to the Fisher Theatre for three weeks Tuesday, June 1, through Saturday, June 19, "The Will Rogers Follies — A Life In Revue" celebrates the life and career of Will Rogers as the great showman Flo Ziegeld would have presented it, with all the girls, the glitter and the glamour of pure entertainment.

"The Will Rogers Follies" stars Keith Carradine and Dee Hoty, who originated the roles of Rogers and his wife Betty Blake on Broadway. Director Tommy Tune received Tony Awards for both his direction and choreography. The play has a book by Peter Stone, with a Tony-winning score by composer Cy Coleman and lyricists Betty Comden and Adolph Green. The set design is by Tony Walton; the Tony-winning costumes are by Will Kim; the Tony-winning lighting is by Jules Fisher.

The multi-million dollar musical opened May 1, 1991, at New York City's Palace Theatre to rave reviews. In addition to six 1991 Tony Awards and a 1992 Grammy Award, "The Will Rogers Follies" won the 1991 Drama Desk Award and the 1991 New York Drama Critics Circle Award for Best Musical.

Tickets are on sale now at the Fisher Theatre box office and all TicketMaster outlets. For more information call (313) 872-1000.

Leslie Lickfold, daughter of Fred and Susan Lickfold of Grosse Pointe, was initiated into the Delta Rho chapter of Delta Delta Delta sorority at the University of Kentucky.

Michelle Baetz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Baetz of Grosse Pointe Farms, was one of 43 Hillsdale College students who spent spring break helping rebuild Du Lac, La., a community devastated last year by Hurricane Andrew. The program, called Alternative Spring Break, is sponsored by Great Opportunities for Assistance and Leadership (GOAL), a Hillsdale program which involves students in community service projects and promotes the volunteer spirit on campus.

Ann Marie Creed of Grosse Pointe earned a master of science degree in administration from Central Michigan University. She did her undergraduate work at Wayne State University.

Susan Dale, daughter of Chuck and Nancy Dale of Grosse Pointe Woods, was elected corresponding and recording secretary of Alpha Phi sorority at the University of Michigan.

Joyce E. Stuckey of Grosse Pointe Park, daughter of Paul and Patricia Stuckey, was elected president of the Rho Epsilon chapter of Phi Mu sorority at Albion College.

Coast Guard Petty Officer 3rd Class Lisa J. Travillian of Grosse Pointe recently was awarded the Coast Guard Humanitarian Service Medal while serving in Seattle. She participated with other members of the Coast Guard in duties ranging from maritime search and rescue and marine environmental protection, to national defense and law enforcement. The award recognizes those who are involved in selfless acts of humanitarian assistance far beyond the call of duty.

Glen T. Okonoski of Grosse Pointe Woods was named to the dean's list at Ferris State University.

Among those who graduated from Central Michigan University in December were the following Grosse Pointers: Kathleen M. Evans, Mary E. Jones and Thomas S. Sullivan, who earned master of science degrees in administration; and Jennifer A. Drummond, Melissa Preston and John H. Verlinden, who earned bachelor of science degrees.

Laura K. Phy of Grosse Pointe Woods graduated from the University of Michigan with a bachelor of science degree in kinesiology and a teacher's certificate to teach physical education and the social sciences.

Camille Bunchek, daughter of Virginia Bunchek of Grosse Pointe City, graduated in March from the John Robert Powers Modeling School in Southfield. She is also the daughter of Lawrence Bunchek of Grosse Pointe Farms.

Emily Malcoun, daughter of Dr. Anthony and Elaine Malcoun of Grosse Pointe Shores, was named to the dean's list at the University of Notre Dame. She is a freshman.

Andrew Van Deweghe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Van Deweghe of Grosse Pointe Farms, is a member of the Lake Forest College Garrick Players Theatre group which presented the Greek comedy "Lysistrata" in February.

John Strehler, a freshman pre-veterinary medicine student at the University of Findlay, placed third in the open flat division during the first show, and sixth in the open flat division of the second show at the Intercollegiate Horse Show Association competition in February. He is the son of John and Jo Strehler of Grosse Pointe Woods.

Centennial fundraisers will include birthday party, golf outing and (sponsors hope) cooperative cow

By Margie Reins Smith
Feature Editor

Grosse Pointe Farms and Grosse Pointe City — both marking their 100th anniversary this year — will offer nearly three dozen different ways for residents and non-residents to help celebrate.

The activities — designed for adults and children — will include diversions for every taste: a birthday party, dedications of historic markers, an art fair, a 5K run, a bike parade, an ice cream social, a family field day, a centennial parade, a picnic, fireworks, a band concert, a boat race, a raffle, a chili cook-off, a golf outing, a fishing rodeo and the sealing of a time capsule to be opened in 2093.

The celebration will peak on the weekend of July 4, but activities began in mid-May and will continue through the end of August.

"We hope this will be a celebration of the community, by the community," said Kathy Neumann, centennial coordinator. "And by no means are events restricted to people from the Farms and City. We want all Grosse Pointers and their friends to participate."

Who will pay for all this merriment?

The money will come from three major fundraisers and the sale of centennial merchandise, Neumann said.

The fundraisers appeal to a variety of tastes.

An old-fashioned birthday party for the Farms and City will be celebrated at Jacobson's in the Village from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday, June 10. Tickets are $35 a person and will include banjo-pickin'-foot-stompin' music by the Red Garter Band, food by Jacobson's, a birthday cake created by ONE23 especially for the centennial celebration, and a cash bar. Reservations for 250 people are available. Call 885-8128.

A Centennial Golf Outing will be held at the Country Club of Detroit on Monday, Aug. 9. Lunch begins at 11:30 a.m. The shotgun start will be at 1 p.m. Cocktails and hors d'oeuvres will begin at 6 p.m. The cost is $175 a person.

Prizes will be given for men's, women's and mixed foursomes. There are spaces for 144 golfers. Call 886-6496 or 885-8128.

Then — for those who are convinced that nothing new in fundraising will ever come along — listen up.

ster, owner of Upland Hills Farm and provider of the cow.

Upland Hills Farm will also bring a bunch of farm animals for children to pet while their parents ogle the cow.

"We're bringing two farmers," said Goodwill, "a calf, a goat, a sheep, some piglets, rabbits and poultry."

Children might have a chance to milk the cow or see one of the chickens lay an egg, she added.

The committee has 2,500 Meadow Muffin Mania tickets to sell. The winner will take home $1,893. The Centennial committee gets the $10,000 or so left from ticket sales. The cow gets a pat on the head and dinner.

"This all ties in with the fact that Grosse Pointe was originally farmland. It was all strip farms," Neumann said. Cows used to live here.

In addition to the three fundraisers, merchandise such as T-shirts, mugs and sweatshirts bearing the Farms/City centennial logo are available at Jacobson's in the Village; the Grosse Pointe Farms and Grosse Pointe City offices; the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore; and Joyce's Salon, 17912 Mack in Grosse Pointe City.

For more information about the Farms/City centennial celebration, call 885-8128.

Meadow Muffin Mania, a raffle, will take place within a roped-off section of the Farms Pier near the tennis courts, from noon to 4 p.m. Saturday, July 3.

Tickets are $5 each. The winner will take home nearly $2,000 if a certain cow (you read it correctly: C O W) makes ... uh, a certain deposit on the ticket-holder's certain numbered section of lawn.

"We are not guaranteeing anything from this cow," said Sandy Goodwill, secretary to Steve Web-

Flower sale will benefit Foundation for Exceptional Children

A flower sale will benefit the Foundation for Exceptional Children, a program for handicapped children in Grosse Pointe Farms. Flats of begonias, impatiens, and other varieties of flowers will be for sale behind Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, 16 Lakeshore, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, May 22, and from noon to 4 p.m. Sunday, May 23.

Funds will be used to provide a summer camp program for handicapped children.

Volunteer honored:

The Detroit Institute of Arts recently selected Marilyn Gushee of Grosse Pointe Farms for the 1993 Outstanding Volunteer Award Program of the National Society of Fund Raising Executives. Gushee was one of the outstanding volunteers from 22 organizations honored April 23 at the Ritz Carlton.

Gushee was cited for 37 years of volunteer commitment to the DIA. She was the first chairman of the innovative "Art to the Schools," a program that has become an important educational tool for the museum.

During her term as volunteer committee chairman, Gushee led a 550-plus corps of men and women to strengthen volunteer professionalism.

She is currently an elected member of the Founders Society board of trustees and is on the development, exhibition and professional practices committees. She is also chairman of the volunteer committee division Partnership for Renewal campaign and serves on the museum's women's committee.

"The museum is very fortunate to have a volunteer with such outstanding contributions," said Samuel Sachs II, DIA director. "It's been a privilege working with Marilyn in so many significant partnerships for the DIA."

Follies at the Fisher:

The Will Rogers Follies will open at the Fisher Theater with a benefit performance at 8 p.m. Tuesday, June 1. Proceeds will go to the American Autoimmune Related Diseases Association, a new national non-profit voluntary health agency founded to focus on autoimmunity, the major cause of more than 67 chronic illnesses such as juvenile diabetes, multiple sclerosis, lupus and Grave's disease.

Western is the theme — and ticket-holders will find an afterglow that includes country and western music, dancing and a chuckwagon meal.

Committee members for the event include Grosse Pointers Edyth Longyear and Mrs. Emmet E. Tracy.

For more information, call 371-8600.

Pewabic Pottery

... has received the Charles Fergus Binns Award, the highest honor in the field of ceramic art. The Binns medal, which has not been awarded to an individual or organization for more than 30 years, was presented to Pewabic during the American Ceramic Society's recent conference in Cincinnati.

Pewabic Pottery was founded in 1903 by Mary Chase Perry Stratton and Horace J. Caulkins and is now a non-profit organization that serves as a learning center for the ceramic arts, an exhibition gallery, a museum and a production facility for handcrafted architectural tiles and vessels. It was recently designated a National Historic Landmark.

Pewabic Pottery is located at 10125 East Jefferson, across from Waterworks Park. It's open from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays. For information about tours, workshops or classes, call 822-0954.

Hospice tea

Volunteers for Cottage Hospice were honored at a tea on April 23 at the home of Eleanor Janutol of Grosse Pointe Woods. Fay Fitzgerald of Henry Ford Hospital's Heart Smart program spoke to the group about good nutrition and the refreshments were prepared from recipes provided by Fitzgerald.

Joanne Wisniewski, at the left, was thanked for her work finding volunteer drivers for people who need rides to chemotherapy and radiation treatments. Kathleen Ritsma, at the right, is the volunteer coordinator for Cottage Hospice.

The Pastor's Corner Revival

By the Rev. David H. Wick Grosse Pointe Baptist Church

"What do they want?"
I've begun to ask myself as I take in the reporting and opinions of much of the news media. Simply put, it seems to me the "New Agenda" is abortion on demand, gay rights, the lifting of any controls on sexually explicit material, and tight controls on any kind of dissent from the New Agenda, including the policing of speech for political correctness, and the suppression of any expression of moral standards (read "bigotry").

By way of contrast, what do I want?
Logically, it may seem that I should want strong pro-life legislation, the maintenance (or maybe restoration) of a status quo regarding sodomy laws, and a resurgence of moral standards. I'll admit if these things were to happen, I wouldn't complain. But they are peripheral to what I really want.

What I really want is Revival — a genuine, heartfelt reawakening of faith in and devotion to Jesus Christ. I believe this is the only answer to our nation's slide into self-centeredness and immorality.

Revival begins with Christians, not with the world. Christians, even when united in the church, even when politically organized, cannot do much to control what happens in the world around them. But Christians can do something about the state of their own souls.

Revival brings up a discomfiting truth: that the real problem is not with sinners in the world, but the sin in my own life and in the lives of people who profess to follow Jesus Christ. If the church were not in a backsliding state, the world would not be so far gone.

The answer for the church is not a particular political agenda. Such an agenda may be a clever way of shifting the focus from the real problem: the state of our souls.

Read the history of our nation in the first and second Great Awakenings and you will learn that when Christians looked to their souls, repented of their sin, and made a radical commitment to Jesus Christ, God took care of the moral decline and social injustices outside the church. Sinners in the world were overwhelmed with conviction when they saw genuine repentance and commitment on the part of those who called themselves Christians.

We are praying in my church for revival, not in judgment of others, but in prayerful examination of our own hearts.

What is the state of your soul? Pray for revival!

Christina Judson, center, is the director of the First English Evangelical Lutheran Church's three bell choirs. The choirs will present a free concert at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, May 23, at the church, 800 Vernier in Grosse Pointe Woods.

Detroit mayoral candidate to speak

Dennis Archer, candidate for mayor of Detroit, will be the guest speaker at 10:15 a.m. Sunday, May 23, at a forum for adults at Christ Church Grosse Pointe.

Archer's topic will be his vision for future partnerships between the suburbs and Detroit. Archer is a former justice of the Michigan Supreme Court and is currently a partner in the law firm of Dickinson, Wright, Moon, VanDusen & Freeman. He is one of several declared mayoral candidates.

Guest speaker visits St. James church

St. James Lutheran Church in Grosse Pointe Farms will host a Lutheran Social Services education Sunday, May 23. Guest speaker Paul Blinkilde will lead the 8:30 a.m. adult class and preach at both the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services.

As director of church relations at Lutheran Social Services of Michigan, Blinkilde is one of a number of executives who have taken early retirement to put their talents to work for the church. Blinkilde was president and CEO of Alpha Technology in Howell.

A support group for patients and family members touched by leukemia, lymphoma, multiple myeloma and Hodgkin's disease is held the fourth Thursday of each month from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at First English Evangelical Lutheran Church, 800 Vernier in Grosse Pointe Woods.

First English presents annual Bell Choir concert May 23

The bells will ring at First English Evangelical Lutheran Church at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, May 23, when the church's three bell choirs perform music from Bach to Andrew Lloyd Webber. Admission is free; an offering will be taken. A reception will follow in the fellowship hall. First English is located at 800 Vernier at Wedgewood in Grosse Pointe Woods.

The Good News Ringers had its debut in 1981 under the direction of Christina Judson; More Good News Ringers followed. The Lord's Company Ringers, a youth bell choir formed by Judson, is now under the direction of Robert Foster, music coordinator at First English.

Members of the Lord's Company Ringers include Jennifer Augustyn, Chrissy Creech, Jocelyn Creech, Burgandy Hosbein, Bill Hosbein, John Kaloerakos, Eric Liebold, Patty Milne, Chrissy Phillips and Rick Szwickler.

The Single Way plans a day of sports

The Single Way, a group of interdenominational Christian single adults, will offer a day of volleyball, badminton, and croquet at its next general meeting. Children are welcome. The group will meet at 2 p.m. Saturday, May 22, at a member's home in St. Clair Shores. The price is $3 for adults; $1 for teens and kids. Bring extra money for dinner if you would like to join the group for pizza. The meeting is open to Christian singles of all ages. For more information or a calendar of events, call 776-5535.

Christian singles to play walleyball

Christian singles are invited to join The Single Way on Friday, May 20, for walleyball. Adults and teens are welcome. The group will meet at 7:45 p.m. at the Warren Racquetball Center, 29901 Civic Center Drive near 12-1/2 Mile and Van Dyke in Warren. Players should make reservations by the day before. The group will play for two hours and the cost is $6 a person. For more information or a calendar of other events, call 776-5535.

Singles ministry presents seminar

Eastside Singles will sponsor a workshop/seminar by Doug and Jacque Bingham on Friday, May 21, at 7:30 p.m. at Grosse Pointe Baptist Church, 21336 Mack in Grosse Pointe Woods.

The seminar is entitled "The Glue that Binds A Relationship."

There will be a $3 charge at the door for the workshop. Child care will be available for infants through age 12, at a cost of $1 per child. For information, call 881-3343.

Health foundation supports Crossroads

Metro Health Foundation of Detroit has awarded a $10,000 grant to Crossroads for therapeutic prescription drugs and supplies. Crossroads is an ecumenical, non-profit, social service ministry which offers counseling and emergency assistance to people in need.

The Metro Health Foundation grant will allow Crossroads to provide help to people who lack funds, insurance or public assistance for medication.

Dr. Judith Bean, trustee of the Metro Health Foundation, is at the left. At the right is the Rev. James McLaren, director of Crossroads.

Don't underestimate lifesaving potential of mammography

By Dr. Robert M. O'Bryan
Henry Ford Medical Center -
Pierson Clinic

Many of the women over age 40 who aren't following the recommended guidelines for mammograms may be missing more than they realize.

Besides losing their chance to detect breast cancer in its earliest stages, many of these women also could be forfeiting their opportunity for a cure if they do have the disease.

Even though breast cancer is highly treatable in its early stages, the disease is still the second leading cause of cancer death among American women. Lung cancer is the first. Breast cancer will kill 46,000 American women in 1993 according to estimates from the American Cancer Society.

With early detection, many of these deaths could be prevented. If every woman over 40 had a regular mammogram, experts estimate the death rate from breast cancer would drop by at least 30 percent.

Mammograms are low-dose X-rays which can detect very small cancerous lumps up to two years before they can be felt by hand. Early detection is key to a woman's likelihood of recovery, because the effectiveness of treatment is largely determined by a tumor's size. If caught early — when the tumor is no bigger than one centimeter in diameter, or about the size of a pea — nearly 90 percent of breast cancers can be cured, if the disease has not yet spread to the lymph nodes.

Even better, a woman's chances of conquering breast cancer may approach 100 percent if she's found to have a type called ductal carcinoma in situ (DCIS). This form of the disease is characterized by a cluster of cancer cells "trapped" inside a milk duct, within the breast. Treatment for DCIS is very successful, since, by definition, this form of cancer has not yet spread to the lymph nodes or into the bloodstream.

Before widespread use of mammography, doctors thought DCIS was a rare form of cancer. That view quickly changed when DCIS began showing up on more and more mammograms. Currently, DCIS accounts for about 25 percent of all cancers discovered with mammography and doctors suspect it may actually be the earliest stage of breast cancer.

When tumors aren't discovered through mammography or self-exam, the cancerous lumps steadily grow larger and the chances of a cure shrink. For example, by the time a cancerous lump has reached two centimeters in diameter, or about the size of a gumball, the cure rate has dropped to about 65 percent.

Unfortunately, the majority of women aren't taking full advantage of mammography's lifesaving potential. Last year, a survey conducted by the American Cancer Society found that only 41 percent of women were adhering to screening guidelines.

Those guidelines, established by the American Cancer Society and the American College of Radiology, include: having a baseline mammogram between the ages of 35 and 40; having a mammogram every one or two years between the ages of 40 and 50; having a mammogram every year starting at age 50. These guidelines only apply to women who don't have any symptoms of breast cancer such as a lump or other changes in the breast. Any woman who has symptoms should see her doctor immediately.

To get the best possible results from your next mammogram, follow these suggestions:

- Have your breasts examined by your doctor before your mammogram so that any abnormalities or suspicious lumps can be checked out very carefully.

- Make sure your mammogram is state-of-the-art. The facility's equipment should be used exclusively for breast X-rays and its technicians and radiologists should have special mammography training.

- If possible, choose a facility accredited by the American College of Radiology. To find out if a center is accredited, call the American Cancer Society at 1-800-ACS-2345.

- Don't schedule your mammogram just before or during your period, when your breasts might be tender. To obtain a high-quality image, your breasts must be compressed briefly between two plates. That can be uncomfortable, especially if your breasts are sore.

- If you have any symptoms of breast cancer, mammography may provide your doctor with useful information. However, mammography should never be used to rule out the possibility of cancer. Any suspicious lumps must always be biopsied.

The American Cancer Society estimates the average woman has a one in nine chance of developing breast cancer by the time she reaches the age of 85. If you've been putting off getting a mammogram, remember you may also be putting off early detection of cancer that could save your life.

Former Pointer writes of home and suicide

By Ronald J. Bernas
Assistant Editor

A writer couldn't buy the kind of publicity garnered by Jeffrey Eugenides' first novel, "The Virgin Suicides."

Esquire, People, Elle, Newsweek and Vanity Fair have published rave reviews of the 249-page hardcover book. The New York Times called it "a small but powerful opera in the unexpected form of a novel."

Even Jay McInerney, one of America's hottest young writers, said Eugenides is a "skillful craftsman and a hypnotic storyteller."

Eugenides, 33, enjoys the press he's received, but is reticent when asked to describe his style or the book itself.

"The book is there," he said. "I don't like analyzing my work because you always sound like an ass. I'll let other people comment on it. I have a fairly vivid writing style. I tend to favor highly textured prose."

And that's all he says before lapsing into modesty mode.

"The Virgin Suicides" is not Eugenides' first novel, but it's the first one he's published.

The book is set, although he never comes out and says it, in Grosse Pointe. Bon Secours Hospital is in it. Three Mile Park is mentioned. And the fish flies play a part, if only to set a mood.

And the story — about five sisters who commit suicide — is imbued with the mundane experiences, the odd humor and the repression found only in upper middle-class suburbs.

The novel took three years to write and sprang from a chance conversation with a young baby sitter who said that she and her sisters had all attempted suicide.

He says he's never been particularly fascinated by suicide, although, he admits, like most people he's had thoughts about it and has known vaguely of people who have killed themselves.

"You hear about writers who kill themselves and then if you look back at their writing people say you could see it coming," Eugenides said. "I wonder what people are thinking about me."

People, at least the critics, are thinking that a major new literary force has emerged upon the scene.

"The first few pages and the first chapter came very easily, but after that it was much more difficult to write," Eugenides said in a phone interview from his Brooklyn apartment. "It didn't take over like you hear other writers say their works do."

That first chapter was published in The Paris Review and earned the Aga Khan Prize for fiction. He also received an Ingram Merrill Foundation Fellowship in 1992. It also earned him the attention of an agent and a publisher, Farrar, Straus and Giroux.

"This is the first time I wrote about my home town and I was surprised at how I was able to make the transition from literature to my life," he said. "Before, I think it was a little more reserved or staid or intellectual."

He says the suburban setting has made his story, which he admits is far-fetched, more universal. He's received letters from teenage girls who say they identify with the thoughts of the five Lisbon sisters. He's also received letters from Grosse Pointe friends he hasn't seen or heard from since he was 5.

Eugenides said he never wanted to be anything but a writer.

"There was a doubt as to whether I'd ever be a writer, but ever since I was 16 I wanted to be a writer. When I was 15 I wanted to be an actor, but my parents thought being a writer would be safer."

Born in Detroit, Eugenides and his family moved to Grosse Pointe Park where he attended public schools before moving to University Liggett School, where he graduated in 1988. He attended Brown University where he majored in English, then earned a graduate degree in English and creative writing from Stanford.

"Right now I'm living off my writing," he said. "It's nice to say, but I don't know how long I'll be able to say it."

The attention "Suicides" has received belies Eugenides' modesty. He's leaving this week for a book tour of Europe where his novel has been translated into German, Dutch and Italian and will eventually be sold in 12 countries. He is currently working on a new novel.

"This has been fun," he said. "It's been very exciting."

Jeffrey Eugenides

We know portions of the diary by heart now . . .

We could never understand why the girls cared so much about being mature, or why they felt compelled to compliment each other, but sometimes, after one of us had read a long portion of the diary out loud, we had to fight back the urge to hug one another or to tell each other how pretty we were. We felt the imprisonment of being a girl, the way it made your mind active and dreamy, and how you ended up knowing which colors went together. We knew that the girls were our twins, that we all existed in space like animals with identical skins, and that they knew everything about us though we couldn't fathom them at all. We knew, finally, that the girls were really women in disguise, that they understood love and even death, and that our job was merely to create the noise that seemed to fascinate them.

Write on

Former Pointer writes of life

By Ronald J. Bernas
Assistant Editor

Clarice Birdsall has seen a lot in life.

In the preface of her book, "Seven Generations of Twigs and Branches," she recalls a time before pantyhose, penicillin, credit cards and frozen foods.

"In our day . . . grass was mowed, coke was something to drink, and pot was something you cooked in," she writes.

The book is her memoir — she turned 87 last week — containing remembrances and observations regarding her life, which started in Hillsdale County and continues today in Detroit at the Whittier.

Details of life on a farm in western Michigan and then Depression-era hardships in Detroit are related in a conversational style that's easy to read.

Birdsall's first major job was at J.L. Hudson Co. during the Depression. She earned $12 a week.

Grosse Pointe plays a big part in the book because Birdsall and her husband Wendell lived here for nearly 40 years. The pair were in the real estate business for more than 35 years.

Family photos, drawings and other mementos illustrate the book, which took Birdsall about six months to write.

"I saw an item in the St. Petersburg paper (where I spend the winters) that the St. Pete's Junior College was offering a class in writing personal histories," Birdsall said. "But when I went down to sign up there were so many buildings that I just turned around and went home. So I called the instructor and asked if she would come and teach the class at Sea Towers, the complex I live in down there."

The teacher said she would, but only if there were at least 12 students. Birdsall got 18 residents interested and the class was launched.

"After my first assignment, the teacher said I had a very good ability to relate the past to the present," Birdsall said. "And at the top of the page she wrote 'Write On! So I did.'"

"Seven Generations" was self-published and Birdsall said that writing it has opened new doors to her past.

"People write me after reading the book and recognizing family names and

It was also Prohibition years. . .

The Interurban Building (where I worked) was on East Jefferson, but the Detroit River was very close to its south wall. I had noticed a man with one of those bags, a valise type of luggage, who often came to the office.

The assistant purchasing agent took him into the stock room. Also, I noticed that soon after he left, a nice-looking younger man came in and he was taken to the stock room.

One day, the assistant purchasing agent came to me and said that this nice young man would come in and would I mind giving him a big envelope box that was on such and such a shelf.

Before the man came, I thought why so much secrecy, and what was in the box that it couldn't go on the bus to its destination as all supplies did?

I had a key to the stock room. I went in, found the box, and raised the lid. In it there were two bottles of Canadian Club. When the man came, I gave him the box. This ended the episode.

But now, I was perhaps learning more about the big city. I thought seriously about what would have happened had the nice young man been an undercover agent. Where would I be? How would my folks feel to read about my bootlegging in their morning Free Press? I drew the line right there, telling the assistant purchasing agent he'd have to handle his own misdemeanors.

'Dave' stands up for fun

By Marian Trainor
Special Writer

"Dave," an enormously funny update of "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," is a comedy that gently satirizes what happens when someone thinks government is a simple equation — see what needs to be done, then do it.

Dave (Kevin Kline), who works in an agency for temporary workers by day and does impersonations of the president during his off-hours, finds out differently in this glossy, energetic comedy by Canadian Ivan Reitman, who entertained audiences with "Meatballs," "Kindergarten Cop" and "Ghostbusters."

Gary Ross, who wrote the screenplay, accents the contemporary by including in his script excerpts of presidential speeches delivered by Dave that have a familiar ring, and inserting comments that are delivered by well-known public figures in cameos.

Among them are members of the McLaughlin Group, show biz figures, Oliver Stone, Arnold Schwarzenegger and Faith Prince. Tip O'Neill, former speaker of the House, stands out among the political figures.

They all seem to have as much fun spoofing themselves as we do watching them.

But the most fun comes from Kline's obvious take-off on former President George Bush. He walks, talks and has the same mannerisms. It is a remarkable performance that contrasts with his role as light-hearted Dave Kovic who rides his bike to work while singing "Oklahoma" at the top of his voice. Dave is a happy man whose world is disrupted one evening when he arrives home to find FBI agents in his apartment.

They are there to ask him to perform a service for his country and he is whisked off in a limo to take up residence in the White House. Once there, he is informed that President William H. Mitchell is too busy to appear at all the minor things that require only his presence. What he needs is a stand-in who will walk through the crowd, wave and shake a few hands.

At first Dave is reluctant but the president's chief of staff, Bob Alexander (Frank Langella) and White House press secretary Alan Reed (Kevin

Free from the tedious tasks of the presidency, Mitchell now has more time for more pleasurable activities such as rendezvous with blond secretaries. Although he has been told not to say a word, Dave sometimes breaks free of his coached role, such as when he turns to the crowds and shouts, "God bless you all," or when he rides into a fair on the back of a sow to the astonishment of First Lady Ellen Mitchell (Sigourney Weaver).

Dave's fun and games as presidential stand-in become something more when President Mitchell has a stroke. Alexander sees this as his chance to move into the presidency and launches a mean plot. But he forgets to take into account the common man — especially Dave.

He becomes irate when money is cut from the budget for the unemployed and calls in his pal Murray Blum (Charles Grodin) to look over the books.

The ending is contrived, but clever and everything ends up as it should. Kline is a masterful comedian with an uncanny sense of timing.

Although he shines, Kline does not stand alone. He is supported by an outstanding cast. Weaver displays an adroitness in her dual roles; one as the icy, quick-tempered first lady and the other as a girlish, enthusiastic woman charmed by Dave.

Others who add to the film's enjoyment are Langella as the unscrupulous power monger; Grodin, who is hilarious as Kline's helpful friend; Duane Stevens as Dave's Secret Service man, and Ben Kingsley as the beleaguered vice-president.

From beginning to end, "Dave" is a fun-filled film that slyly cuts through the pomposity of high office.

Mr. Summer's Story
By Patrick Suskind
Knopf, 116 pages. $17

Patrick Suskind is a German writer who lives and works in Munich. His first novel, "Perfume," won international acclaim several years ago. Later, two more books have come from his pen, impressing readers by his clever miniaturization of both plot and character. He ably compresses his words to convey meaning and action, and he is fortunate to have a skilled translator, John E. Woods, who beautifully manages to convey his particular style.

By Elizabeth P. Walker

"The Pigeon" is a small novel packed with meaning. Actually, it is a fable of how some people can become too accustomed to their way of life, digging themselves into an inescapable groove.

Jonathan Noel is a middle-aged bank guard in a Parisian financial institution, a job he has proudly held for 30 years. Because his routine is so mechanical and limited, he sometimes appears to be like a robot, unthinkingly carrying out his minimal duties. Also, he has transformed his tiny bachelor apartment into a snug shell into which he crawls at the end of each day, cocooning himself from the worries and disturbances of the outside world.

Suddenly, all of this peace is demolished one morning as he steps out of his room to walk to work. Confronting him in the hallway near his door is a beady-eyed pigeon which has somehow gained entry into his apartment building. Completely unnerved, Jonathan fearfully skitters around the bird, and pussyfoots to avoid the droppings and shed feathers.

Jonathan, his equanimity utterly shaken, complains to the stolid concierge, who, strangely enough, appears to be totally unconcerned about the avian intruder. Shattered and demoralized, Jonathan "had once calculated that by the time of his retirement he would have spent 75,000 hours standing on these three marble steps (of the bank). He would then assuredly be the one person in all Paris — perhaps in all France — who had stood the longest time in just one place."

The rest of the day is full of terrors and mishaps for Jonathan as he struggles through his job, and then must face the cold, unfeeling city. His whole life has been turned upside down because of the pigeon; the encounter has caused the little bank guard to go through an emotional, psychological, and physical upheaval. This tale has a real moral for many of us; no matter how limited and circumscribed our lives appear to be, we must take brave steps to overcome our fears, imaginary or not, that seem chimerical after we dare to face them.

Another fable, "Mr. Summer's Story," concerns a young boy and a strange elderly man who continually pass each other during their daily walks in opposite directions.

The little boy strolls to school and back home while the hiking man strides doggedly forth on his spindly legs carrying a tall staff and furiously heading the other way. For years they pass each other and the little boy constantly wonders where the man is heading, always at such a headlong pace, back and forth from morning to night.

Eventually the little boy grows to be a young lad, old enough to have his own bicycle on which he rides to the woods to climb trees, his favorite pastime. From his perch, he can see Mr. Summer, the tireless hiker, still striding forth to his unknown destination. This activity continues to baffle the boy, and he decides to follow the man one day to solve the mystery for once and all. But one early evening as the boy races home on his bike, the wheel chain slips off, and he is forced to stop.

At that moment he sees Mr. Summer for the last time, and the reader realizes how closely parallel their lives have been, but with very different conclusions.

The French artist Sempe has richly and charmingly illustrated "Mr. Summer's Story" with delicate watercolors which delightfully reflect the mood of Suskind's words. All the mystery and pathos of the separate but intertwining lives of the young boy and the brooding hiker are unforgettably captured.

Elizabeth Walker's Biblio-file column runs on alternate weeks in this section.

A short trip can make for summer fun

This is the time of year when we begin looking forward to taking some short summer trips. Here are a few suggestions:

Stratford, Ontario: Always a delightful choice. The theater season runs through Nov. 14. (Call 800-567-1600 for details. Ask about backstage and warehouse tours.) Stay at a bed and breakfast. Restaurants are special here: The Church, The Old Prune, Woolfy's, Keystone Alley Cafe. Dedicated foodies will make the hour's drive to Enver's in nearby Morristown, especially good for lunch.

Bayfield, Ontario: Stay at the Little Inn (519-565-2611) or at the nearby Benmiller Inn in Goderich. There's good dining at both the Little Inn and the Red Pump across the street. Browse the shops and walk the marina.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ontario: This is the home of the famed Shaw Theatre Festival, about a four-hour drive from Detroit. Call 800-724-2934 for an excellent handbook which lists the plays for this season and gives lots of visitor information. The season is already under way and runs through Oct. 31. Just 20 minutes away is Niagara Falls, worth a brief visit even if you've seen the falls before.

TRAVEL TRENDS

By Cynthia Boal Janssens

B&B's may be booked through Niagara-on-the-Lake Bed and Breakfast service, 416-358-8988; the B&B Association of St. Catharines, 416-937-2422 and St. Catharines Homestay Association, 416-934-5913. The Niagara-on-the-Lake Chamber of Commerce also books hotels, inns and B&B rooms, 416-468-4263.

London, Ontario: Stay at the centrally located Journey's End hotel. Eat lunch at the Gallery Cafe in the London Regional Art Gallery. Take in a play at the Grand Theatre on Richmond Street or stroll the town. Enjoy dinner at the Verandah Cafe and cap off the weekend with Sunday brunch at the Sheraton.

Mackinac Island: Maybe you've made day trips, but you can't really appreciate this island until the evening, when the "fudgies" have gone home. Choose one of the following fine B&Bs: Inn on Mackinac, Bay View, Haan's 1830 Inn, Metivier Inn, Market Street Inn or Cloghau. Be sure to have whitefish dinner at the Village Inn, known as the "VI" to locals. It's best to avoid the crowds on Main Street during the day: Play a round of golf, take a carriage tour or rent a bike (or bring your own). Call the Chamber of Commerce: 906-847-3783.

Lewiston: You've probably never heard of it so that's why you should visit. A tiny town surrounded by lakes and natural beauty. If you want wonderful golf and luxurious surroundings, then stay at Garland Resort (517-786-2211). Much more rustic (and much cheaper) is the Lewiston Lodge (786-2452). Otherwise, you can stay at the Gorton House B&B (786-2764) or the Lakeview Hills Country Inn (786-2000).

Visit one of three antique stores in town and be sure to have a burger for lunch at Tally's Log Cabin Bar and top it off with dinner at the Redwood Steak House or the Rustic Inn. Great homecooking (no booze, however) can also be found at the Depot in nearby Johannesburg.

A listing of cottage rentals may be obtained from the Chamber of Commerce, 517-786-2293. Forty minutes down the road in Mio you can rent a canoe from Hinchman Acres and spend a day on the Au-Sable River.

Leelanau Peninsula: One of my favorite corners of the state. Just keep going through Traverse City and you come into beautiful country. Suggest you stay at the Sylvan Inn B&B in Glen Arbor (616-334-4333). Condos are available at the Homestead and Sugar Loaf resorts.

Visit Sleeping Bear Dunes one day and the next head up to Fishtown in Leland where you can charter a boat for some excellent fishing (suggest you book ahead with Bill Wright, 616-256-9581/9045). Just keep driving and eventually you'll come to Northport and Sutton's Bay. This is Michigan wine country and there are some very nice restaurants in this area.

Saugatauk: I've never been there and it's high on my list for a weekend getaway. Reputed to be full of nifty B&Bs (616-857-1701), art galleries, shops and restaurants. Saugatuck-Douglas Convention and Visitor's Bureau is 616-857-1701.

Here are some suggestions for day trips:

War Memorial sponsors day trip

Take a drive with the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association to two turn-of-the-century towns and experience some old-fashioned, small-town charm that only a day in the country can provide on Tuesday, May 25, from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Stroll through the village of Linden where you'll find a mill by the water's edge, the town museum and a few specialty shops.

After lunch, the group will move to Holly's Battle Alley.

Greenfield Village/Henry Ford Museum: I bet some of you haven't been there in years. On a nice day, stroll around outside. On rainy or terribly hot days, take in the two new exhibits: "Made in America" and the "Automobile in American Life." Both are excellent.

Cynthia Boal-Janssens' Travel Trends column runs twice a month in this section. Look for a special, more expanded travel feature in the first issue of each month.

Once the scene of bars, brawls and brothels, it is now a 19th-century street lined with Victorian lampposts. Its buildings have been restored and are filled with specialty shops.

A visit to the Davisburg Candle Factory and a stop at an orchard for cider, caramel apples, honey and homemade pies will complete the day.

Tickets are $27 and include motorcoach and lunch. For more information, call 881-7511.
