

Library hopes to join information superhighway within the next year

By Shirley A. McShane
Staff Writer

If you live in Grosse Pointe, you still have to find your own on-ramp to the information superhighway. But soon, you may have access through the public library.

While the library board and administration prepares its 1995-96 budget, discussions have touched upon technological improvements for the library — including the possibility of signing on to the Internet.

"We'd like to see this happen within the next year," said library director Charles Hanson. "That's our target; I hope we can find the right combination because everything involving technology is changing so fast."

Administrators are researching costs to tap into the Internet, what equipment and additional wiring is necessary and if access would be on-site only or on-site and remote.

"We don't have any firm figures right now," Hanson said. "But we have set aside some money in next year's budget."

The money has been earmarked, said library board president John Bruce, but toward what technology it will be channeled has not been determined.

"The board is struggling with this and our budget is still under development," Bruce said. "We have an understanding with the administration that we need to increase the money available to improve technology and we will continue to address that in the coming months."

Bruce said short-term goals include exploring how the librarians and staff will utilize the Internet. Once library personnel are comfortable, the larger issue is how it will be made available to the public, he said.

"There also are issues of whether we should limit access on the Internet. What access is appropriate for students? Where would we locate the stations?" Bruce asked. "The challenge is taking these short-term goals and fitting them in with our long-term plans for improving technology, along with buying books and CD-ROMs and other materials. It's a balancing act the board is just beginning to wrestle with."

The Grosse Pointe library's exploration of ways to expand technology is part of a larger campaign by the Michigan Library Association and its Na-

School millage vote set for June 12

By Shirley A. McShane
Staff Writer

Voters again will be asked to consider a pair of school millage proposals — this time on the June Grosse Pointe school board election ballot.

The school board on Monday discussed the millage proposals recommended by superintendent Ed Shine and is expected to take action at its Monday, April 10, meeting.

Shine asked the board to OK placing on the June 12 ballot two requests directed at taxpayers:

- Approval of 6.8303 mills for five years to provide general operating funds. This would generate an estimated $12.6 million in 1995 and would be levied against homestead properties.

- Approval of 1.3255 mills for five years to provide funds for acquiring, installing, operating and maintaining technology. Levied against homesteads, this would generate an estimated $2.4 million in 1995.

The recommendations were based on community feedback sought by school officials following the failure last February of the district's request for 8.5 "gap" mills.

Voters last Feb. 7 approved the request for 18 mills levied on non-homestead properties for five years, which the district needed in order to qualify for the state-guaranteed $6,500 per-pupil foundation grant.

Grosse Pointe is one of a handful of school districts in the state permitted to seek additional or "gap" mills to maintain spending levels imposed before the passage of Proposal A in March 1994.

Shine and board members theorized after the election that voters didn't understand the proposals and that without a clear plan for technology, there was no guarantee the district would dedicate a portion of the "gap" millage to technology improvements.

"A future millage election is the topic of almost every PTO meeting and PAC meeting I attend. There is no doubt in my mind that a millage election is considered vitally important to most people in the greater school community," Shine said.

Board members were supportive of Shine's recommendation, although trustee Sears Taylor said he would like to see the five-year requests reduced to three-year requests.

"Based upon the discussion at the last board meeting, it was clear to me that the board felt it was necessary to break the 'gap' millage request into two questions," Shine said.

The new overall millage request of 8.1558 is lower than the district's first request for 8.5 mills because property owners in the school system saw an average 2.6 percent increase in the taxable portion of the state equalized valuation of their property.

Transportation millage not smart idea, Park says as it opts out

By Jim Stickford

Saying that they have not been given enough time to review all the details of county executive Ed McNamara's proposed transit authority millage, the Grosse Pointe Park City Council unanimously voted last week not to place a county-wide transportation millage proposal before Park residents in May.

In the next few weeks, residents in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties will vote on a special millage proposal designed to guarantee funding for SMART, metro Detroit's public transportation system. Each county will have its own transit authority to collect the millage and act as the county's representative on the SMART ruling board.

"The Park council voted to opt out of the SMART vote, in effect saying that while we support public transportation, we want to consider financing local public transportation," said city manager Dale Krajniak. "The language of the county proposal gives local communities the right to not join the newly created Wayne County Transit Authority, and the council decided to do just that."

The Park is not the only local community that declined to join the new transit authority. Grosse Pointe Township, the portion of the Village of Grosse Pointe Shores in Wayne County, had earlier voted to opt out of the Wayne County Transit Authority.

Given the expense the proposed third of a mill tax would impose on Park residents, about $130,000, the council thought it should investigate all options, said mayor Palmer Heenan. But that wasn't the only reason the council acted the way it did, he said.

"We are very concerned about placing another millage request before the voters within three weeks of a local school millage proposal," Heenan said. "The SMART vote is scheduled for May 23, and the school is

The D-DOT buses will originate at Eastland and travel east along Vernier, making a loop on Marter, then continuing south along Lakeshore to downtown Detroit, as well as return service.

Service in Detroit will be limited, with fewer stops, and local.

Things formerly known as books

Patrons may not be aware that the Grosse Pointe Public Library now circulates about 20 multi-media CD-ROM software packages. They also may not realize that if they have an IBM-compatible or Macintosh computer with a modem, they can access the library's bulletin board and card catalog from home.

"We've been automated for a while and we just keep adding on and upgrading," said Kent Graham, automation coordinator for the Grosse Pointe public library. "We've had a computer card catalog since 1979 and we were one of the first libraries to do so."

Here's an overview of things in the library that are not books, but just as useful:

- By following a simple set of instructions available at all three branches, anyone with a home computer can access the card catalog and the bulletin board to find out library hours, upcoming events, children's story hours, the New York Times bestseller list and a listing of award-winning books available at the library. Soon, patrons will be able to reserve books from their home computers and gain full-text access to magazine articles and other databases.

- Each branch has IBM-compatible computers and laser printers available for public use.

- Reference material on CD-ROM is available at all three branches. Available are the 1990 Michigan Census; biographies and critical information on contemporary authors; the Detroit Free Press 1992-present; listings of more than 10 million American businesses and organizations; PC-SIG, a listing of more than 20,000 shareware software programs; ProQuest, a database indexing magazine articles back to 1986; white pages and yellow pages for the midwest; Standard & Poor's; a medical encyclopedia; research information on classic literature; and documents and journal citations concerning education and related fields.

Internet service well-received at Rochester library

By Shirley A. McShane
Staff Writer

As one librarian sees it, the library of the future will have no walls and hours of operation will be limitless.

"I call it the virtual library," said Christine Lind Hage, director of the Rochester Hills Public Library in Rochester. Since May 1994, her library, along with seven other west-side community libraries, through a cooperative effort, have formed a gateway to the Internet.

"The library now goes beyond our walls and beyond our hours," Hage said. "The Internet has brought the public library into your home."

The Rochester library, along with the Baldwin library in Birmingham, and the public libraries in Bloomfield Township, West Bloomfield, Canton, Independence Township, Farmington Hills and Southfield, formed MetroNet, a non-profit corporation that provides shared technology.

By pooling their resources, the eight libraries spent $130,000 to purchase the necessary hardware, upgrade equipment, add phone lines, conduct staff training and establish maintenance fees.

The Rochester library has eight computers on-site for patrons to use. Access is unlimited, Hage said. This has not caused a problem, she said, because the majority of users access the Internet from their home computers.

The response has been positive, Hage said, because patrons pay only the cost of the phone call to dial into the network and benefit from the library's expertise in organizing what's available on the Internet.

"The Internet is a massive network of information and it is intimidating. It's hard to find your way around on your own," Hage said. "It takes time to learn. When I was learning how to use it, I would spend six and seven hours in front of the computer."

The advantage to getting on the Internet through MetroNet, Hage said, is that the library has organized information into gophers — or menus of subject categories that start out broad and generalized and become more specific as the user moves through the system.

"The gopher, much like the animal it's named after, guides the user level-by-level through the tunnels of information on the Internet," she said.

Much the same way the library has organized books using the Dewey decimal system, it has organized information on the Internet.

Gaining access is as simple as registering at the library. There is no fee and patrons are given a password. The library has four dial-in lines serving a 72-square-mile area and 77,123 residents, she said.

Hage offered an example of how the system works: a high school student came into the library to get a copy of the Contract with America. The library did not have a copy on the shelves that evening. However, a librarian was able to find a copy on the Internet and print it out for the student.

"Once a user gets on the Internet, he can go anywhere," Hage said. "If they know the resource, even if it's not on our gopher, they can get there."

The library does not offer direct access to bulletin boards or discussion groups on sex, politics or alternative lifestyle topics, she said. The library is, however, developing a policy statement to display on the computer explaining that the library supports intellectual freedom and does not control databases or services available through the Internet.

Will the information super-highway render libraries obsolete? "Just because we have the Internet doesn't mean we no longer need libraries," Hage said. "Some people do not have computers. People still like to pick up the latest bestseller. The library is a community center."

Grosse Pointe Park has plan in place for disposal of yard waste

By Jim Stickford
Staff Writer

The state Legislature passed a law requiring local communities to come up with a yard waste disposal program or face sanctions. That's no problem for Grosse Pointe Park, which has had a program in place for years.

"Park residents have nothing to worry about," said city manager Dale Krajniak. "Composting saves us money, and we've been ahead of the state on this."

For the past few years the city has contracted with King of the Winds Farms in Macomb County to compost yard waste, said Krajniak. Composting has cost advantages over incineration as a form of disposal.

"Last year we composted about 490 tons of grass clippings at King of the Winds Farms," Krajniak said. "To incinerate that amount would cost between $45-$50 a ton. Composting it, including hauling fees, costs the city only about $10 a ton. So there are real economic benefits to composting."

The Park's curbside pickup program for grass clippings will begin the week of April 10, and will last until October, said Krajniak, when the city begins its leaf pickup program.

"We pick up, in terms of tonnage, a lot more leaves than grass clippings," Krajniak said. "Last year we picked up about 3,900 tons of leaves. That compares with picking up 8,500 tons of non-yard waste refuse. So we pick up a lot of leaves. If we incinerated the leaves, we'd pay about $190,000. Last year, by composting, we paid $65,000."

City regulations require that yard waste be placed at the resident's curb in a clear plastic bag for easy identification. Yard waste pickup day coincides with recycling day, said Krajniak. Trash bags should be placed next to recycling bins.

"We like clear bags because we debag the grass and leaves at the curbside," Krajniak said. "Our trash hauler provides the truck and the city hires two people part-time to debag the grass in the city. Part of the problem with bagging yard waste is that the plastic bags aren't always biodegradable, so the waste must be debagged either at the pickup site or at the dropoff site. We prefer to debag at the pickup site with our own employees."

PUBLIC SAFETY REPORTS

By Shirley A. McShane

Farms church burglarized

Two pieces of stereo equipment were reported missing from the Christian education building at Christ Church in Grosse Pointe Farms sometime between 1 p.m. March 22 and 9 a.m. March 24.

The room in which the equipment is stored is always locked, church officials told police, and the building had no signs of forced entry. A group of teens who were in the building without permission a week before the equipment turned up missing are suspects. Police are continuing their investigation.

Police question prowler suspect

Grosse Pointe Farms police are seeking petitions in Wayne County Juvenile Court against a Harper Woods juvenile suspected in one break-in and two reports of attempted break-ins on Provençal on March 22.

Police captured the teen around 6 p.m. after a resident in the 200 block of Provençal reported that someone was trying to break into his house. The resident said he heard someone rattling the front door-knob and trying to get through the door. When he looked out a front window, he saw a young man walking away from his house and acting suspicious.

Police located the teen and ordered him to stop, but he ran from the officers, leading them on a brief foot chase before he was captured.

Earlier that day, someone attempted to get into a house in the 100 block of Provençal by raising a storm window, but was thwarted when the home alarm was set off. Another house in the 100 block of Provençal was broken into on March 22 and the homeowners reported several items missing.

Police released the teen pending issuance of warrants.

No window of opportunity

Burglars were unsuccessful in their attempts to get into a house in the 1100 block of Maryland in Grosse Pointe Park.

The attempted break-in occurred sometime between 6 p.m. March 27 and 6 p.m. March 29. The would-be intruder took a plastic chair from the front porch, placed it under a kitchen window and then removed the outer screen on the window but could not open the inner window. Police are investigating.

Open houses held on Lake St. Clair issues

Three open houses to provide information and to answer questions from the public on issues related to public health and the ecosystem of Lake St. Clair will be held in Macomb County during April.

The open houses will be held from 4-7 p.m. at the following locations:

• April 11 — Freedom Hill County Park, Independence Building, 15000 Metro Parkway, Sterling Heights.

• April 18 — St. Clair Shores Library, 22500 11 Mile, St. Clair Shores.

• April 20 — Beaufait Addition, Rosso Hall, 38255 L'Anse Creuse, Harrison Township.

The Department of Natural Resources, together with the Department of Agriculture and the Macomb County Department of Public Health will have displays and staff available to answer questions on a variety of topics, including aquatic plant management, sewers, sampling of sediment bacteria, wastewater treatment system improvements and septic tanks. Representatives from St. Clair Shores and Harrison Township will be available at the open houses held in their communities.

"These open houses are part of an effort to involve the community and increase awareness of the complexity of issues surrounding Lake St. Clair," Mindy Koch, deputy director of DNR Region III, said. "The Lake St. Clair ecosystem is evolving and we want to provide information on the many factors affecting the lake."

For more information on the open houses, contact Denise Mogos of the DNR's southeast Michigan district office at 313-953-1528.

Daughter-to-father heart transplant highlights surgeon's career

By Margie Reins Smith
Feature Editor

When Chet Szuber of Berkeley received a new heart last August, the media went nuts.

But to Szuber's surgeon, Dr. Jeffrey Altshuler of Grosse Pointe Farms, it was all in a day's work. "Medically, it wasn't a big deal," he said.

The circumstances of this particular heart transplant, however, were unusual. Szuber received the heart of his daughter Patti, who had been killed in an automobile accident in Tennessee.

"We believe this is the first time this ever happened," said Colette Stimmell, assistant director of public relations for William Beaumont Hospital, where the surgery was performed.

Szuber is doing well seven months later, Altshuler said. He and his family — once they realized they were in the public spotlight — wanted to use the opportunity to heighten the public's awareness of organ donations.

"The important thing here was that Patti had said that if anything ever happened to her she wanted to donate her organs," Altshuler said.

"She told someone. It's important for people to know it's not enough to just sign the back of your driver's license. You should tell your family and friends about your wishes."

Altshuler grew up in Southfield, graduated from the University of Michigan with a degree in zoology; then graduated from Wayne State University School of Medicine.

He completed a five-year general surgery residency at Wayne State's Medical Center, then considered several specialties: pediatric surgery; plastic surgery — specifically, hand surgery — and heart surgery.

He went to the University of Utah in Salt Lake City for a

POINTER OF INTEREST

Dr. Jeffrey Altshuler is a cardiac surgeon who does about 50 heart transplants a year. The surgical procedure is rather routine, he said, but the circumstances of Chet Szuber's transplant were so unusual that he got national and international attention. Szuber received the heart of his daughter, who was killed in an automobile accident.

two-year residency in cardiovascular surgery, then returned to the Detroit area.

"Actually, my wife Nancy said she was coming back to Detroit and I was welcome to accompany her if I wished," he said, with a smile.

"I also came back because of Dr. Don Magallian, head of heart surgery at Henry Ford Hospital at the time."

Altshuler is one of 10 surgeons, Southeastern Michigan Cardiac Surgeons, who formed a private practice in Troy. He is on staff at William Beaumont Hospital, one of three centers in the metropolitan Detroit area that does cardiac transplants. The other two are Henry Ford Hospital and the University of Michigan Hospital.

Altshuler estimated he does 45 to 50 heart transplants a year. "At any given time," he said, "80 to 100 people are waiting for a transplant. One-third to one-half of those people die while they're waiting."

"Actually, transplants are the least frequent kinds of surgery I do. Mostly I do coronary bypass and cardiac valve surgeries."

Altshuler remembers the call he got on a Sunday evening last August. "Szuber had already had three bypasses. He had been referred to us and was a good candidate for a transplant. He was waiting."

Once they realized Patti would not live, he said, the family remembered her wish to donate her organs and asked that her father be considered.

An important factor for heart transplants, Altshuler said, is the time it takes to get the organ from the donor to the recipient.

"It can't be more than about four hours. Tennessee — where Patti was — was just about the outer limits for that time frame."

Altshuler personally went to Tennessee to retrieve the heart. Once he determined that the heart was suitable for transplant, his partner started Szuber's surgery at Beaumont.

"Yes, we really do use Igloo coolers," Altshuler said. "And Tupperware containers. I got on the plane with the heart and barely had time for a cup of coffee when we were ready to land in Detroit. It was Monday morning — rush hour traffic — so I took a helicopter to Beaumont. The transplant took about six hours and by noon Chet was in intensive care."

Szuber didn't want a media circus, Altshuler said. "But before we were even back from Tennessee, the hospital got a call from a local newspaper."

Eventually, Stimmell said, the hospital fielded calls from local, national and international media representatives.

"We heard from CBS, Connie Chung, 'Dateline,' '20/20,' 'Prime Time,' a TV station in Germany, 'Hard Copy,' all the talk show hosts, the British tabloids, all of it. We just took names and numbers."

Within a few days the family decided to hold a press conference. Altshuler emphasized that the surgery was fairly routine. The family's story, however, was news.

"I was there to answer questions about medical issues. The family decided they wanted to use the unusual amount of publicity to heighten people's awareness of organ donations."

Altshuler emphasized that organ donations can be made with hearts, kidneys, lungs, corneas, livers, pancreases, bones and skin. "If you want to donate an organ, tell your family and friends," he said. "Also sign the donor card on the back of your driver's license."

Altshuler and his wife Nancy have three children: David, 8; Peter, 6; and Hayley, 2.

"I like Grosse Pointe," he said. "It's nice to work in a city, but to come home to what's like a small town for the weekend."

He said he's a hockey addict and he skis with his children. He and his wife are volunteer fundraisers at University Liggett School.

1-Tablespoon Italian Seasoning 1/2-Teaspoon Ground Red Pepper

Combine Italian Seasoning, Garlic Salt and Red Pepper: Rub evenly over roast. Place roast, fat side up, on rack in open roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer so bulb is centered in thickest part. Make certain bulb does not rest in fat. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325 degrees F) to desired degree of doneness: 140 degrees F. for rare; 160 degrees F. for medium. Allow 35 to 40 minutes per pound, depending on desired doneness. For easier carving, allow roast to "stand" in a warm place 15 to 20 minutes after removal from oven. Since roast continues to cook after removal from oven, it is best to remove it about 5 degrees F. below the temperature desired.

Term limits: Wrong relief for problem

Despite popular support, the term limits amendment went down to a sharp defeat in Congress last week.

True, Speaker Newt Gingrich promptly announced that it would become a major GOP issue in the 1996 election, and he is probably right that it will be prominent in both congressional and presidential campaigns.

It is one of the few aims on Gingrich's Contract with America that was not achieved in the first 100 days that expire Friday, although the GOP did get the vote on it that showed the great majority of Republicans in favor and most Democrats opposed.

Ross Perot supporters also give term limits a high priority on their particular agenda. But the measure's public and political support doesn't make it right.

As we have said from the very outset here in Michigan, setting term limits on state and national legislators is the wrong way to deal with the national problem it presumably addresses.

In fact, the problem seen by many original sponsors of term limits, the 40-year Democratic control of the U.S. House of Representatives, ended with the GOP victory last November.

The campaign for term limits was financed in part by wealthy Reagan Republicans who helped support even the successful Michigan campaign to limit the terms of legislators as well as congressmen. Twenty-one other states took similar action, which prompted demands for federal action.

The reason? State laws imposed differing limits and, in addition, often created seniority problems for their congressional delegations in vying for committee seats against legislators from non-limitation states.

But now that the 1994 GOP sweep has accomplished the original intent of ousting Democrats from control of Capitol Hill, the GOP Congress ought to move on to enact real campaign reform.

That should include curbing franking privileges and other internal abuses, but, even more important, sharply limiting contributions that too often create formidable barriers for challengers of incumbent legislators and congressmen.

While Gingrich chiefly blamed the Democrats for the defeat of four different proposed constitutional amendments, leaders among Gingrich's own GOP crew also opposed most or all of the proposed limitation plans.

Why is term limits a bad idea?

A major reason is that it imposes restrictions on the individual's right to vote for whom he pleases. This limitation, in fact, may be found unconstitutional when the Supreme Court rules soon on the issue.

Equally serious, term limits empower unelected staff members, lobbyists and executive department officials, who will be increasingly influential with inexperienced legislators.

It is true that public opinion polls have shown strong support for term limits. But the public has been wrong before. Look at the prohibition amendment. It never succeeded in its purpose and after only 14 years, the people repealed it by approving the 21st Amendment in 1933.

State Senate hammers Detroit

With outstate Republicans still controlling the state Senate, they are whacking away again at state support for Detroit's public institutions.

Thankfully, this time the senators are not picking on the Detroit Institute of Arts, the Detroit Zoo or the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, the real jewels in Detroit's crown, all of which apparently will maintain their current state support.

Instead, this time outstate senators, apparently with the blessing of Gov. John Engler, want to cut about $8.5 million from the annual equity package that helps finance the Detroit Historical Museums, Belle Isle Park, the Detroit Police Department, Cobo Hall's deficit and the people mover system.

What bothers us are the cuts of $1.9 million from the Historical Museums, which apparently would force the closing of both Historic Fort Wayne and the Dossin Great Lakes Maritime Museum, and a $1.5 million trim from Belle Isle Park's funds.

True, we never have thought much of the continuing subsidies by both the state and city for the people mover system, which loses $195,000 in state aid by virtue of the Senate action.

Nor do we think it justifiable for the city to ask the state to cover the $2.78 million in red ink for Cobo Hall operations.

Unfortunately, the revision in funding requires that each county will receive $1.23 per resident in arts funding, with Detroit having to compete with the rest of the state for money to be distributed by the Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs.

Instead of this regional pork approach, the original program, devised by former GOP Gov. William Milliken, was based on the obligation he felt the state owed not only to Detroit but to the rest of the state to make sure that Detroit's cultural jewels could remain open for statewide benefit.

True, that package was broadened later to provide additional financial support for other Detroit needs, and also for outstate cities, whether they have cultural jewels of their own or not.

However, we never have approved of the state's funding of the Detroit Police Department's overseeing of special events, or financing the losses of the operations of Cobo Hall, or even helping support the people mover.

So we hope the Legislature continues to provide adequate funds for Detroit's cultural jewels as well as for the Detroit Historical Museums, attended by many people from outside Detroit, and beautiful Belle Isle Park, so popular with area residents.

Is it safe to trim the FDA?

In several polls, the public recently has indicated that the GOP may be going too far on some of its proposed "reforms."

We tend to agree, especially when Congress proposes to weaken the standards and regulations that the Food and Drug Administration imposes on the producers and suppliers of our food and prescription drugs.

True, the GOP does have a point. It is that the current regulations often delay the introduction of food, drugs or devices that already have been approved in some foreign countries.

But does the GOP wish to endanger this nation's well-earned reputation as observing the world's highest health and safety standards, which enable Americans to consume the best and safest food and drugs sold anywhere?

Furthermore, legitimate U.S. businesses approve of most FDA regulations because they help to uncover bad food, unsafe prescription drugs, and unsatisfactory medical devices sold or distributed by irresponsible competitors.

Yet even some of those businesses may be pushing for some relief from the FDA standards because, as they engage in worldwide trade, they wish to introduce into the U.S. market products that are approved for sale and use in foreign countries, but not in the U.S.

It may be that the FDA occasionally takes too long to test and approve an item proposed for the market, but the professional staffers who run that agency know that ultimately they are responsible for the health and well-being of the U.S. public.

Instead of reducing the FDA's mission, we think the FDA should get the federal funds it needs to do its job to protect U.S. citizens.

Ironically, it was a GOP president, Theodore Roosevelt, who started the legislative campaign to protect the American consumer of food and drugs.

A reprieve, not a solution

The good news is that baseball will be back with the regular Tigers in uniform and the opening games scheduled for April 26.

The bad news is that it is a reprieve, not a solution, that brings baseball back, even though hopes are high that both sides will see the necessity of agreeing on a contract just as they finally did on a belated resumption of the game.

Even as most of the familiar names and faces reappear on the Tigers roster, we feel some sympathy for the replacement players who had only their moment of glory and then fizzled out, like so many skyrockets, when the regular schedule was announced.

The owner of the Florida Marlins, however, showed his appreciation by awarding each of his substitute players $25,000 above and beyond the $5,000 each was assured at signing. He also invited 15 of them to the organization's minor league camp.

Unfortunately, his generosity was not shared by the majority of the owners who ordered their replacements off the payroll at the last minute to avoid paying them more than their initial guarantee.

Engler tests Clinton in poll

Gov. John Engler trailed President Bill Clinton by only a 42 to 45 percent margin in a recent public opinion poll conducted for "Inside Michigan," a Lansing political newsletter.

Since the nationwide poll had a margin of error of 3 percent, which is regarded as too close to call, the results are seen as a stand-off and a boost for the Michigan governor.

However, only 28 percent of those responding to the poll knew who Engler was. So it is clear that much of Engler's support from outside Michigan came from those who favor anybody but Clinton.

Yet the poll probably will improve Engler's prospects of becoming a serious national candidate in 1996, more likely for vice president than president since the active candidates for No. 1 already are out on the campaign trail.

In a Sunday TV interview, former Texas Gov. Ann Richards, a Democrat, predicted that Sen. Phil Gramm of Texas would be the GOP presidential nominee, because of his money-raising ability.

Other observers have cited Engler as a potential running mate for Gramm, who has taken an early lead in Michigan presidential polling and already has campaigned here several times this year.

But at this early date it's impossible to do more than speculate about a Gramm-Engler team. It would, of course, satisfy the regional appeals, but would also put on the ticket two of the most conservative Republicans in the country.

Is that a big enough tent to produce a winning GOP team?

Engler nailed by rare rebuffs

Gov. John Engler, accustomed to having the GOP Legislature jump through hoops for him, was recently given a rare rebuff by the state House.

In fact, the House voted down his effort to push through the Legislature a new Michigan Economic Growth Authority (MEGA) to try to attract more new businesses and encourage the expansion of others.

The governor, however, was also rebuffed by two of his strong newspaper supporters, the editorial pages of the Wall Street Journal and The Detroit News, on the same MEGA issue.

The proposed legislation called for setting up an eight-member authority to offer 20-year tax breaks to selected businesses that aim to bring in new jobs or increase current employment.

The Senate-approved version said eligible firms would have had to bring in 150 new jobs or add 75 new jobs. Even though the House cut the new-job requirement to 25, it defeated MEGA by a 57 to 36 vote. MEGA needed 55 to pass.

The governor claimed the state required the program to compete with 44 other states offering similar inducements, but some GOP House members criticized it for allowing an unelected body to pick "winners and losers" among competing businesses.

In his Sunday column, Tom Bray, Detroit News editorial page editor, raised serious questions about MEGA and warned that "the governor's flight from principle" could even "undermine his image as one of the rare politicians who is tough enough to take the heat from the special interests."

Earlier, the Wall Street Journal had warned that MEGA would use "discredited industrial-policy notions to entice businesses to relocate," and "create a new bureaucracy to grant government goodies to businesses that locate in Michigan." Then it added:

"The stark contrast (with earlier reports of his governmental reform successes) shows how even principled governors can lose their bearings if they lack a consistent second-term agenda."

Or, we might add, if they make too many trips to Washington and pay too much attention to talk that they're being considered for the 1996 national GOP ticket.

With winter weather finally disappearing, thoughts turn to vacations. While I enjoy the idea of a vacation, the actual taking of a vacation fills me with fear.

Let's face it, vacations are a lot of work. You have to plan the thing. Do you go to Disneyworld? Do you visit your Aunt Clara or do you go some place educational and good for you like Colonial Williamsburg?

You need a vacation just for picking a place to go on vacation.

Let us not forget vacation advice. It's always fun when people you know recommend places they've been. Just to make sure that you'll have a good chance to see what you're getting you can go over to that friend's place and see their vacation slides.

And of course once you decide where you're going, everyone has some advice.

"Going to France? Be sure to avoid saying bad things about Jerry Lewis," a thoughtful co-worker tells you. "When I was there, I said Lewis never should have broken up with Dean Martin; they chased me for miles. I only got away when I threw the crowd my greatest hits in jazz tapes. Plus, the food is funny; I ordered escargot, and they gave me a plate full of snails."

Or friends advise that when in Kansas City be sure and visit the cattle museum because they know you'll enjoy the pictorial history of industrial slaughterhouses from 1850-1975.

I Say

James M. Stickford

Then when you finally decide on where you're going, you have to visit the local travel agency. Travel agents are helpful people who present you with 37 options on how to visit your destination.

Do you want to go in the morning? You do? Well that costs extra. You'll go at night? Great, but the plane stops at 156 locations before reaching your destination.

If you order 120 days in advance you can save big bucks, but you can't cancel the ticket should something come up. Order 60 days in advance and you save a little less money, but they give a free mint when you get on the plane.

With the deregulation of the airlines, travel by plane has become an ordeal. Instead of flying directly from Detroit to, say, Fort Myers, Fla., passengers get to fly to St. Louis and Dallas first. A flight that used to take two hours, including travel time to and from the airport, now takes all day.

I won't even talk about money. Watching your savings account dwindle is not exactly one of the big thrills of any vacation.

And when you do get back, your friends, God bless 'em, say things like, "you went where? What kind of person visits London in the spring? That's got to be the most awful place in spring. You go to London in the summer, you idiot!"

Then when they ask if you ate at some fancy restaurant you couldn't afford to eat at, they say, "I can't believe that you went all the way to London during the off-season and you didn't eat at the Rich Snob?"

Or say you've decided to visit some place exotic, where they don't speak English. People will tell you not to drink the water, or not to eat the local food. And for the love of Mike, don't talk to the natives, they're all thieves who love to take advantage of ignorant Americans.

"As long as you stay at the Hilton and eat at McDonald's, you'll be fine. There's a tour company that is run by Americans for Americans, so it's like you never left home. There's no reason why visiting a foreign country, everything you see has to be so foreign."

I suspect the real value of any vacation is the horror stories one gets from them. Vacations where everything goes well don't lend themselves to amusing anecdotes.

But when you can tell friends and colleagues about the time you slammed your finger in the car door while on your way to see the Pope, why you can dine out on that story for months, if not years.

It makes coming back to work a pleasure, and in the end, maybe that's the best reason of all to take a vacation.

World rolls by beyond ER doors

Try as I may, I just can't seem to keep my mind above the belt. Bob's belt, that is.

The duodenum, to be exact. Like everybody else, I studied the digestive system in high school biology. Duodenum, ileum, cecum, ileocecal valve. Now I know a bunch more about it.

After years of ulcer freedom, Bob was ambushed by a sneak attack. So sneaky that it fooled us and the doctors and could have killed him.

Between inconclusive visits to the emergency room, we learned a big lesson about bleeding ulcers: They don't necessarily hurt all the time, that you may just grow weak and shaky and lightheaded while half your lifeblood leaks out, until finally you collapse on the kitchen floor, out cold.

Bob spent three months "not feeling up to snuff." Then he got the flu, aches and fever and nausea, and dosed it with aspirin. Then the ulcer he didn't know he had began bleeding heavily.

We learned a lot about waiting, too. Time frozen in hospital waiting rooms, people coming and going, people nodding off, the television droning in the background. You go outside and are surprised to find it's still daytime. Or day again, and normal people are driving to work.

Time I spent in suspended animation, watching late-night TV. Bob spent on a gurney, waiting too, wondering what test they'd give him next. We know the emergency room inside out now.

We were there the day the high school gunshot victim was brought in. That day they took X-rays and tested Bob for kidney stones. That was the same day Kato Kaelin changed his story, the first time I ever watched the O.J. trial.

The next night we were back. A new cast of characters in the waiting room. The day before, lots of moms and tots; at night, grownups in groups, talking and laughing, sounding more like a cocktail party than a hospital. The buzz only suspended when the local news aired and re-aired footage of the disruption of the Detroit school board. Attention focused momentarily on the screen, disgusted viewers noisily advising the Maced protester to sue the board.

Behind the ER doors, more waiting game. Yesterday's tests were inconclusive, but, eventually, tonight's point straight at the duodenum.

This time the hospital kept him. They gave him blood transfusions and electrolytes. They went down his throat with a fiberoptic tube and took pretty color pictures of his insides. (We're going to use them for our Christmas cards next winter: Season's greetings from the depths of our being.)

For a week the world rolled by us. The CIA was investigated, an avalanche buried people in Afghanistan, Congress wrangled, Engler kept on fighting for a discredited industrial plan, SMART hung on by its fingernails, and we didn't notice. Our attention was focused entirely on the sixth floor at St. John's, on two little round holes in Bob's insides.

He's home now, and better, thanks. Please pass the jello.

What's that you said?

He is what I would call a happy-go-lucky kind of guy. He is always upbeat and has a great sense of humor. He is also very rigid about his values and lives a clean-citizen-type life. He completed his routine annual physical for his company and didn't think about it again. Until...the phone rang in his office about three weeks after the exam and a stern voice informed him that there had been traces of cocaine found in his urine.

He laughed and told the lady on the other end of the phone that there had to have been a mistake and she assured him there had been none. Perplexed, he called his wife and related the story. They giggled about the absurdity of the charge since he rarely even took aspirin. A few days later the light dawned when Mrs. Straight reminded Mr. Straight that he had been complaining for several hours about a severe headache a few weeks back, and she had suggested he take one of her pills or shut up.

The mystery having been unraveled, our friend called his accuser and explained the circumstances which might have led to the drug results. She admonished him for taking someone else's medication and informed him that his wife could be prosecuted for dispensing pills without a prescription. After a lengthy lecture, followed by apologies from the perpetrator, he was summoned to the boss' office. Upon opening the door he was immediately aware of several of the senior officers sitting around the room and several lines of white powder on the coffee table and other surfaces. His peers had decided to join him in enjoying a few lines of powdered sugar.

By the way, the woman who called had said codeine, not cocaine, and our friend is seriously considering a hearing aid.

Sprung chicken?

Just when I thought I'd heard of every possible kind of critter around here, I get a call from Martha Schroeder with the story of her brother Greg Steen and sister-in-law Susan Parent, of Rathbone Place in the City.

"Last Sunday night Susan glanced outside and saw a rooster sitting on their fence," Martha says.

The couple opened the door and the rooster made a beeline for their porch. It must have liked the Cheerios they fed it, because it was back the next morning, came inside and made itself right at home.

Martha jokes about them not needing an alarm clock since their visitor, white with a gold neck and a red crest, arrived. "He crows when the sun comes up," she explains. This delights their 2-year-old, Katherine, but goes over less well with the couple and their two dogs.

Last Thursday, this paper's LOST AND FOUND section had this ad:

"FOUND Bantam Rooster — Early riser found Sunday night by city park. Please call 884-2413 so we can get some sleep."

As of this past Sunday the rooster was still getting Greg and Susan up every morning and nobody's claimed him. Makes you wonder if this chicken flew the coop or was tossed out on his noodle.

Cheep thrill

When former G.P. schools assistant superintendent Larry Kennedy told me what he saw, I got a slightly spooky feeling.

It seems shortly after the time our obit for the white squirrel of Lothrop Road ran here at the end of October, what looked like a white sparrow appeared in Larry's back yard. (Shades of reincarnation.)

"I first noticed him about November and he stayed all winter," said Larry, who keeps a well-stocked bird feeder.

The odd bird always appeared with a flock of regular sparrows, and besides being all-white except for the tips of his wings, had only two other differences: He had a pink beak and never ate at the feeder.

Like Whitey, the departed squirrel, he also had dark eyes rather than the pink of a true albino.

One mystery may have been solved when Larry conferred with Ellis Van Slyck, who's chairman of the Birds and Nature subclub of the Pointe's Senior Men's Club.

Ellis is quite sure the beak and feeding habits identify it as a slate-colored junco, the white feathers being a "rare leucistic form."

Which leaves another question: Why does this rare bird

hang out with a bunch of sparrows?

My guess is he's no bird brain — he waits for that messy crowd to knock the seeds on the ground, which is where juncos prefer to dine.

Souperwoman

"It's the best-kept secret in the Pointes," says my friend Helen Peters — a fish market that sells hot soups."

Just the thing to cut the chill of a cold April day, I think, so I strap on my VELCRO (Copyright) (Trademark) trouser clips and pedal down Kercheval to the Park's Blue Bay Fish & Seafood Co., which opened only about six weeks ago in the building that once housed Bruce Wigle Plumbing.

"I try to have at least one hot soup every day," says owner Nancy Gutierrez. The carry-out menu includes Creole gumbo, clam chowder, lobster bisque and mixed seafood chowder, made either by her or chef John Pollard, who gives cooking lessons at Pointe Pedlar.

Nancy's a dietician who came to fish marketing in a roundabout way: "I do ceramics and fish are the only thing I can make," she laughs. "I made some for some Indian friends, who introduced me to the Bay Mills Indians who do commercial fishing up near Sault Ste. Marie, and I started working with them."

"I was impressed with the quality of their fish and learned they wanted to bring their catch directly to the Detroit market," she says, explaining that the best of it, especially the Lake Superior whitefish, was going to New York.

The next thing she knew, she was in the business, selling every kind of fish you can imagine. Most of her stock is just-off-the-truck fresh and whole, so you can look your meal in the eye.

"The kids who come in with their parents like to hold the fish they've bought and peek in its mouth," says Nancy, cradling a croaker lovingly in her hands. "It's the last thing you can still buy that lives in the wild and comes in one piece."

Ken Eatherly is angling for fresh FYI items at 822-4091.

Imprints editor speaks without censure

To the Editor:

I am the editor of Grosse Pointe South High School's Imprints, a publication few Grosse Pointe News readers were aware existed prior to our recent controversy. I am writing in response to two letters printed in the March 30 issue: Joseph W. O'Brien's and Cyndi Burton's.

To Mr. O'Brien: Your vocal support is very much appreciated. I am so close to the situation I find it difficult to sort out my various feelings of outrage and frustration into a cohesive defense; you carefully plotted out many points myself and the rest of Imprints' staff feel are important. We may live under the extensive shelter Grosse Pointe's far-reaching glass dome offers, but we are no less subject to thoughts of the outside world than a student at, say, Finney High School, where the real world is a reality.

To answer Ms. Burton's question ("What is the difference if you write a story that depicts the rape and torture of a college student or the shooting of a mailman?") in reference to the e-mail scandal at the University of Michigan: The difference is enormous; it is the difference between fact and fiction, reality and satire. Have you read "Chris' First Mailman," or only heard about it after its ensuing controversy? In any case, this piece is a brilliantly scathing piece of satire. It is not a piece to run to the police with, and any mailperson seeking a restraining order against Mr. Blenman (the author) would undoubtedly be laughed at by authority figures.

There is a large margin of error between aiming a piece at a directly named individual or at a group, such as the postal force. This piece does not threaten mail carriers. It does not condone murder. It is a statement of our society's increasing desensitization to, and hunger for, violence. Does violence disappear if we ignore it, or censor the written satire of it? Are thoughts of suicide pushed aside when damaging, threatening pieces such as "Scissors" are tossed into the garbage, never to see print? Do doubts of God's existence become silenced when no one questions his religious choices?

If a person truly believes in the freedom of speech, she cannot moments after voicing her belief whirl around and condemn that speech with which she does not directly agree. If every piece printed in a publication met unanimous critical acclaim, the publication would be printed on a single sheet of 8x11 paper, bi-annually, at that. Every member of the Grosse Pointe community need not find merit in every work included in Imprints. I would like to believe, however, that every member of this community would find fault when an institution their tax dollars supports condemns certain very real ideas from ever finding voice.

Mary Beth Smith, a prominent author in our community, has been asked for the past several years by the Grosse Pointe South Mothers' Club to judge Imprints' pieces for the annual English Honors Tea. This year she, along with the other judges she has worked alongside, will not be asked to return. This is due to the hasty decision on the part of Mothers' Club chairs to cut their donation of $450 for this occasion.

Mrs. Smith is appalled by this decision and by the uproar caused by Sears Taylor; she, better than anyone, knows that the material found so controversial in our now-famous issue is no different than what Imprints has always published, and is being met with unnecessary censure. The quality of writing in our publication has always been unquestioned, and remains so in the professional opinion of Mrs. Smith.

Hopefully, our staff will have sufficient funds remaining in our budget to invite Mrs. Smith and her colleagues back on our behalf, if not on the behalf of our long-time sponsors, the Mothers' Club.

In closing, a word of reminder: Imprints is intended to be a means of voice, a forum for the students at Grosse Pointe South. Our parents supply tax dollars; we, in turn, supply our personal feelings, uncensored. I hope next year's editor will not need to reword that last sentence.

To the Editor:

As an educator, I have always supported the school millage.

However, since the city of Grosse Pointe Park has raised my assessment $12,000 in three years (taxpayers have no recourse from the city assessor), they make it impossible for me to support a raise in the millage.

Writer defends Imprints content

To the Editor:

As a writer and creative writing guest lecturer for Grosse Pointe South, I have been honored to judge the Imprints awards contest sponsored by the Grosse Pointe South Mothers' Club for the past few years.

Apparently, no one has ever read the poems, essays and stories printed in prior publications because the students have always grappled with trying to understand a higher power, death, love, murder, anguish, suicide, all the human elements of life you and I struggle with daily.

As I understand it, the question at hand is whether or not an adult panel should censor what should appear in the publication. The next logical question, of course, is where does one draw the line when dealing with subjective art in the form of literary prose and poetry.

I found nothing in the February issue that smacked of purporting "how to" murder, blaspheme God, or commit suicide. Nor did any piece border on pornography. If anything, the works dealt with "how not to" in an original and profound manner all wrapped up in an art form. I found honest and heartfelt explorations of life's inequities and paradoxes whether written as a poem, short story or farce as in the mailman story.

It would be a sad world, indeed, if young writers had no "place that counted" to explore their questioning, concerns, and gripes without fear of being censored or censured.

I also noted that none of the messages echoed the all too familiar "whines of victimization." In each situation the stories' characters or the authors (in the case of poems) assumed resultant responsibility. In the untitled poem about religion, the poet recognized the dire effect of thinking God is dead by stating that now mankind (generic) must fill the void, and "that ain't gonna be easy." Even in the story of the young girl who exposes her mother's infidelity, she understands her role as the cause of change and is willing to accept the consequences.

More letters, page 10A

Young writers often see humanity's failures so clearly as black and white.

Art mirrors life, and we desperately need our fresh young artists to paint the pictures before their sharp images fade "Like Druids of old, indistinct in the twilight," as Longfellow put it.

I hope the skeptics will reread the February publication of Imprints along with other issues and reconsider their condemnation as they find the depths of meaning in the authors' intent.

I suggest the Imprints forum should remain as open as this marvelous opportunity to express ourselves in letters to the editor.

Kaess backs SMART tax

To the Editor:

Your editorial, "How to finance a bus system," hit a key point squarely, but also misses some significant points.

You are correct, of course, that the SMART regional bus system "is important to the Pointes." It does, indeed, serve many publics: the transit dependent — the elderly, poor, young, disabled — as well as the downtown commuters.

But, you question whether the "current" (1/3 mill) plan will improve efficiency and make the service self-supporting. First, the 1/3 mill expands the existing system by 20 percent, providing critical connections to over 150,000 jobs and 9,100 businesses.

"Self-supporting"? No public transit system in the Western world operates on self-supporting fare box revenues. All require some form of subsidy. Nineteen of the top 20 metropolitan areas in this nation provide a dedicated source of local funding. The only one which does not? Greater Detroit.

You also raise doubts about the proposed three-member, non-elected board with "no direct responsibility to the people." That is exactly the governing process of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Parks Authority, a model in this nation of effective and efficient public governance. Our region is also replete with special purpose authorities, primarily in waste treatment, using the same model.

Yes, the SMART system is important to the Grosse Pointes and the entire region. Yes, the 1/3 mill will improve the efficiency of the bus system. And, yes, the Grosse Pointes should solidly support the May 23 millage vote.

SMART's DUMB

To the Editor:

As a regular rider of SMART, I have been observing the firestorm of babble swirling around the imminent cessation of bus service to some suburban sectors of the greater Detroit metropolitan area with a certain degree of apprehension and a healthy dose of disgust.

I suppose the turning point came for me when I got on the bus one morning and was greeted by yet another series of "Bulletins," this one pointing the finger at a Wayne County commissioner who is asking for the very thing SMART so grievously lacks: accountability.

I hope Mr. Richner sticks to his guns: It's time SMART was put into a receivership so it can be run like the business it's supposed to be, and not as Mr. Duggan's private political fief. Right now, SMART sounds pretty DUMB to me.

First class

To the Editor:

Twenty-seven years ago, I moved to Grosse Pointe with my two (eventually three) pre-school children. On a teacher's salary (from another suburban community), this required a little sacrificing and second jobs, but I felt it was worth it so that my children could receive the excellent education programs offered by the Grosse Pointe Schools.

It cost me a little more, but it was well worth it. All three eventually received college degrees and have become useful citizens, and I am grateful to their teachers for a job well done.

That is why I was more than a little dismayed when I walked into the polling place at Pierce school for the recent millage election, and saw the horde of senior citizens with that "No" vote look on their faces. Even though my children have long since finished school, I guess I feel an obligation to help provide the same superior education for future generations that was provided for my children. And, from a purely selfish standpoint, I guess I don't feel that saving $700 or $800 in taxes is worth the price of seeing my property devalued by $20,000 to $30,000. And believe it, it will be.

Everyone in the community benefits from a good school system. I would hate to see happen in Grosse Pointe what has happened in so many other districts every time there is a millage election. There is always the threat of "Plan B" if it fails: no sports, no art, music or physical education, and on and on. I guess I shouldn't say "threat," because it is a "reality." If you don't have the funds, you can't operate.

Keep Grosse Pointe first class. Vote for a full millage renewal.

Sears Taylor to the rescue

To the Editor:

The local residents should remember and support Sears Taylor as a school board trustee who alerted taxpayers from being "stuffed" by the board on the last millage vote, the result of which vindicated him.

Sears and the Detroit Free Press correctly indicated that the 8.5 renewal represented a subterfuge proportional increase tax. For his disclosure, Sears was roundly criticized and also took flak for his opposition to the de-emphasis of the basic three R's in the first two grades at Maire Elementary School.

Fear not, Sears Taylor. Riding to the rescue for respectable education in this state is our own Grosse Pointer, Clark Durant, the newly-elected president of the State Board of Education of Michigan and a staunch advocate of the basic four R's core curriculum.

A warning to the parents, teachers and students in fourth grade and above: There will be new proficiency tests coming in the fall.

I would imagine that Grandpa Lewis E. Maire and Superintendent Samuel Brownell, who in the early 1930s established, built, administered and oversaw the highly successful educational system that lasted for over six decades, are both rolling over in their graves, prompted by the latest adverse publicity and the "spin" from the current board — excepting Sears "Newt" Taylor.

Girl Scouts to the rescue

To the Editor:

On behalf of the Grosse Pointe Public Library and the Friends of the Library, we wish to thank Girl Scout Troop 125 from Pierce Middle School for coming to our rescue after unexpected circumstances held up production of the Library Pointes newsletter two weeks ago.

On very short notice, troop leaders Kathy Mooney and Jane Knaus assembled a team of 17 hard working, cheerful Scouts at Pointe Printing and in two days collated, stuffed and sorted 22,000 newsletters for mailing to the community.

Thanks to these Girl Scouts and their leaders, the Library Pointes newsletter was in the mail in time to promote National Library Week and other upcoming library activities. Troop 125, we salute you!

City of Grosse Pointe Woods, Michigan

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City Council, meeting as a Board of Appeals under the provisions of Section 5-14-1 of the 1975 City Code will meet in the Council-Court Room of the Municipal Building, 20025 Mack Plaza, on Monday, April 17, 1995, at 7:30 p.m., to hear the appeal of Frederick Petz, Palindromic Associates, 20902 Mack Avenue, who is appealing the denial of the Building Inspector to issue a building permit for Palindromic Associates, 20902 Mack Avenue, Grosse Pointe Woods. The permit was denied due to a deficiency in the amount of off-street parking as required in Section 5-3-16 (1) (4) (b) of the 1975 City Code. A variance is therefore required. All interested parties are invited to attend.

Wide-angle lenses can produce unique perspectives such as this footbridge found by Monte Nagler during a hike in the woods.

Add depth with wide-angle lenses

Did you know that you can dramatically widen your photographic horizons by employing wide-angle lenses? Wide-angle lenses are exciting to use and my favorite of all lenses.

A wide-angle lens will alter depth-of-field and perspective and give you a picture quite unlike what a normal or telephoto will produce. It's a lens that "sees" more, taking in a wider expanse than other lenses.

There are several advantages to the wide-angle lens. First is the increase in depth-of-field — the range of sharpness realized in the final print. A moderate wide-angle lens such as 28mm at an aperture of f/8 will produce a depth-of-field from five feet to infinity. In contrast, a normal 50mm lens, properly focused, will give you a depth-of-field of 20 feet to infinity. This means that with the wide-angle lens more of what you see in the viewfinder will be sharp and in focus.

Going even wider, a 17mm lens (super wide-angle) at f/16 will produce an astounding depth-of-field of one foot to infinity. This means that if lighting conditions enable you to shoot at f/16, you never have to focus the camera as long as you are at least one foot from the subject.

Second, you can get by with much slower shutter speeds with a wide-angle lens, a nice advantage when light is limited. The "rule" is that a lens can be hand-held at the shutter speed closest to its focal length. Therefore, a 28mm lens can be safely hand-held at 1/30 second and a 17mm lens at 1/15 second. With slow speed films, low level light, and a desire to maximize depth-of-field, this can be quite an advantage.

Many photographers ask

nothing else matters.

AMERICAN LUNG ASSOCIATION

Photography

By Monte Nagler

about distortion, the bending of light rays characteristic of wide-angle lenses. Buildings will begin to "lean" and some subjects may begin to look unreal. But the inherent distortion of wide-angle lenses can be turned into one of your biggest advantages. Selective distortion can be a plus. Strength, drama, and impact can be added to your photographs through proper use of distortion.

Creatively used, distortion can emphasize certain parts of a picture and give a photograph an artistic quality no other lens can produce. Sweeping foregrounds and bold subject framing are easily attainable. And you can deliberately exploit the wide-angle lens' tendency to exaggerate the size of close objects at the expense of distant ones.

Wide-angle lenses will produce truly unique and exciting photographs for you.

SMART

nues while producing reduced service, we want to analyze that very carefully," said Heenan. "We have questions on how SMART is operated. Any organization that takes in $43 million a year and spends $47 million should be audited to see why. This deficit has been consistent over a period of several years, and voters should not be asked to fund deficit spending indefinitely."

Heenan also said that the transit authority's initial millage levy would be low, but if voters approve the May 23 proposal, they could be asked to fund public transportation to the tune of 5 mills.

"The Wayne authority would have the power to place even higher millage proposals on the ballot," said Heenan. "Park residents could see the millage reach 5 mills even if they voted against it, because a majority of voters in the whole county voted for it."

SMART, according to the authority's own survey, picks up and drops off, on average, 79 people a day in Grosse Pointe Park, said Krajniak. That averages out to about 40 round trip riders a day.

"Most Park SMART riders either go to downtown Detroit or go to Grosse Pointe South High School," Krajniak said. "We can get D-DOT to extend service into Grosse Pointe, which would allow us to concentrate our resources on more local transportation concerns. For example, we might want to increase the role PAATS provides for those without a car. The Park could also contract out for public transportation."

"We've been asked to make an important decision, yet we on the council feel that we haven't been given the proper amount of time or the proper information to make an enlightened decision," Heenan said.

"We are for providing public transportation, but we feel the solution isn't writing a blank check. We aren't the only community in the county that feels this way. Northville has also chosen not to join the new authority. Too many questions are unanswered."

A new twist

Preschool grows

Beginning this fall, Christ the King Lutheran preschool will add another classroom to its program. In its ninth year, the program will soon be offering a five-day morning program for 4- and 5-year-olds. For more information, call 313-884-5090.

Student Spotlight

Meghan Butler

Each week in this column we focus on the work of a student. It can be a poem or short story or essay.

Meghan Butler is a second-grader at Defer Elementary School. She is the daughter of Jim and Kate Butler of Grosse Pointe Park.

Meghan Butler

The World and Me

I love the world and the world loves me. When the world needs help it can turn to me. When I need help I can turn to the world.

Mary Maniaci

Mary Maniaci is in the fifth grade at Richard Elementary School in Grosse Pointe Farms. She wrote this poem for a school assignment.

Mary Maniaci

What am I?

Can you guess what I am?
I am a furry, fuzzy, flying creature
I have lots of different features
I have wrinkled wings, and pointed toes
With five fingers and a snouted nose
I catch fish, insects, frogs and birds
Also I fly in groups or herds
I sleep in the day and fly at night
I eat insects, fish, frogs and birds for delight
I live in a cave
And I know how to behave.
I fly all around
But I don't make a sound.
Some live up to 30 years old

I am dark black and very bold.
I have nocturnal sight
Which means I can see at night.
I thrive in warm weather
But don't have a feather
Can you guess what I am?
I am a bat!

Andrew Dixon

Andrew Dixon is the son of Eileen and John Dixon of Grosse Pointe Farms. He, too, is in Nancy Swartz' second-grade class.

Oh, why do winters seem so late?
Winter will come someday somehow.

Winter's Coming

I wish winter would come soon.
A winter with kids - oh so great,
But it feels like the middle of June.

Oh, winter will come, I vow.
Because winter is coming I find myself humming.
Winter will come, But not right now.
Winter will come, But how? Oh how?

Kate Ansaldi

Kate Ansaldi is a second-grader at Richard Elementary School in Grosse Pointe Farms. She is the daughter of Wendy Hall and Gary Ansaldi of the Farms. She is in Nancy Swartz' class.

Children Go Out to Play

It was a nice cold day. Some children decided to go out and play.
So they went out in the nice bold snow.
They went skating, the ice seemed to glow.

Party time

Brownell Middle School students danced in the gym, swam in the pool, played basketball, table tennis and engaged in other activities March 10 at the school's annual all-school party.

A little bit of France

A delegation of 33 fifth-graders from France arrived in Grosse Pointe on March 13 to begin their three-week study of American culture. The pupils from Mortefontaine, France, located near Paris, are staying with Kerby Elementary School families.

This is the seventh year the Grosse Pointe schools have participated in the French-American Back-to-Back exchange program sponsored by the Association of French-American classes. Grosse Pointe families have received more than 250 French children from 10 schools in nine French communities.

The visitors are attending classes at Kerby school and participating in social and cultural events planned well in advance by a committee of parents.

On May 10, the participating Grosse Pointe students will depart for France to spend three weeks with their French "brother" or "sister" for a similar experience.

On their first day, the French students visited Pewabic Pottery and had lunch at the Summit Club in the Renaissance Center. Upcoming events include a walking tour of the Grosse Pointe area, visits to Cranbrook, the Edsel & Eleanor Ford house, Greenfield Village, WDIV-TV studios and the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Sponsoring families also have planned a traditional Thanksgiving meal, a Halloween party (with trick or treating on Belanger Road).

Leaders

Brownell Middle School students Andrew Hill, Amanda Lindow, Kevin Messacar and Christine Ritter were selected to attend the middle school leadership conference sponsored by the Macomb Area Student Activities Commission. Topics for discussion included team building, decision making, leadership qualities and goal setting.

Bonnie Aumann

Aumann aces spelling bee

Bonnie Aumann, a seventh-grader at St. Clare of Montefalco school in Grosse Pointe Park, advanced to the state finals of the LTU/News spelling bee by winning the area regional held at St. Clare.

Bonnie placed first among 20 contestants by correctly spelling the word "quiver." She competed in the state finals April 4 at Lawrence Tech.

Academy hosts enrichment fair

The Grosse Pointe Academy and the parents' coordinating council program committee is sponsoring the first biennial summer enrichment fair on Wednesday, April 12, from 3:30 to 5 p.m. in the academy's lower gym.

The fair will feature representatives and informational brochures explaining the local area's museums, sports activities, along with the academy's summer programs.

ULS up close

University Liggett School will present a unique open house at its primary and lower schools on Tuesday, April 11, from 9 to 11 a.m.

The event offers a special opportunity for guests to visit ULS during a typical school day. The ULS primary (ages 3 and 4 and kindergarten) and lower schools (grades one through five) are located at 1045 Cook Road in Grosse Pointe Woods. For more information, call the admissions office at 313-884-4444.

ULS admission test April 8

University Liggett School will offer admissions testing (for students entering grades one through 12 in September) on Saturday, April 8, at 9 a.m. at the school's main campus, 1045 Cook Road, Grosse Pointe Woods.

For more information, or to reserve a space, call the admissions office at 313-343-4444.

St. Clare problem solvers

Three teams of students from St. Clare of Montefalco school have been invited to participate in the 16th annual Michigan Future Problem Solving program state bowl.

Eighth-graders Becky Pierzchala, Keli Bonner, Dana Galinato, Lashonda Butler, Evan Collins, Jeanette Pierce, Jim Poledink and John Berschack, along with fifth-graders Bridget Scallen, Erin O'Brien, Stephanie Leaman and Toshie McSwain and coach Hank Burakowski, will meet in Ann Arbor this month to compete with 140 teams.

The state bowl is the culmination of a yearlong program where students are taught to creatively seek, attack and solve problems relating to projections into the future. Topics include homelessness and violence.

More than 14,000 Michigan students worked on problem solving during the 1994-95 school year.

Distinguished grad

Donald R. Berschback, center, was named as the 1994 Catholic Elementary School Distinguished Graduate by the National Catholic Education Association. Berschback graduated from Catholic elementary school in 1956 and went on to study at Austin Prep High School and the University of Detroit law school. Each year the NCEA recognizes a Catholic school alumnus who has chalked up considerable accomplishments within the Catholic community. Berschback was selected because he is "a model of strong family values," said St. Clare principal Hank Burakowski, right. Berschback is active with the American Cancer Society and serves as a eucharistic minister, commentator, a member of the five-year planning committee, former chairman of the stewardship, head of lector training and present chairman of the Detroit area chapter of the Augustinian retirement campaign.

The big 100

Why didn't your story run?

The Grosse Pointe News welcomes stories and pictures about things going on in the public and private schools. But we also rely on readers to keep us informed.

Information about upcoming school events, results of events that have taken place and stories about enterprising students should be typed, double spaced, on 8-1/2 by 11 inch paper. This is called a news release. It also should answer all relevant questions: Who? What? Where? Why? When? How? It must also have a phone number for clarifications.

Color and black-and-white prints are acceptable. Polaroids, slides and negatives are not. Pictures should be clear and close-up of small groups of people. The entire fourth-grade lined up against a gym wall and positioned more than five feet away from the camera is not acceptable. All people in photos must be identified from left to right.

Submitting a news release to the paper does not guarantee it will appear. Editors have the final say about what goes in the paper as well as when — and in what form.

As a general guideline, releases should arrive at the Grosse Pointe News at least one week before publication.

School reporter Shirley McShane can be reached at 313-343-5591.

INTRODUCING GENTLE CHIROPRACTIC!

Hi, I'm Dr. Mary Quarnstrom. Perhaps gentleness in chiropractic is a new concept to you; it was to me before I began the six years of college training necessary for my doctorate degree. During those six years I learned the precise locations where light pressure can bring chiropractic relief to pain.

In addition to my doctorate, I am certified in both Impairment Rating and Ergonomics (man's relationship to his work). I have completed courses in advanced Orthopedics and Neurology. Even now I attend nationwide seminars to stay current on the advances in this rapidly changing field a weekend each month.

If you have hesitated visiting a chiropractor, perhaps you didn't know about this gentle or "soft touch" technique. It has been effective treating:

- |           |           |               |                 |
|-----------|-----------|---------------|-----------------|
| Back Pain | Headaches | Shoulder Pain | Painful Joints  |
| Neck Pain | Arthritis | Arm/Leg Pain  | Stiffness       |
| Numbness  | Bursitis  | Hip Pain      | Cold Hands/Feet |

And, because most insurance companies recognize and cover chiropractic care, your treatment may be at little or no cost to you according to the limits of your insurance policy.

New Chrysler Cirrus redefines the mid-size, family sedan

You may have noticed Chrysler's distinctive new Cirrus sedans going to and fro in recent months. Did you happen to catch the looks on the drivers' faces? Their contented postures behind the wheels of their mid-size passenger cars?

We recently discovered what we think are some of the reasons those folks are smiling. One thing: There is a beautiful car. Another is it's comfortable. And it's distinctive — doesn't look like so many of the well-mannered Japanese sedans. It feels like it's hugging the road. It handles well. A lot of glass lets in a lot of light. It may be like driving a space ship the way the front end of the car isn't visible from the front seats.

My best guess is the owner smiles are the result of combinations of the above. But above all, it has to be the styling. This is such a neat-looking car, both inside and outside the vehicle. A handsome body-colored grille area with thin vertical teeth looks luxurious. The gently contoured body is rather amazing — how do they do that with steel panels?

Another smile comes from not having to make too many options decisions. There are

Autos

By Jenny King

just two Cirrus models and they come well-equipped. The LX offers driver and passenger air bags as standard. It also has ABS, power windows and door locks (bravo) and a personal security package in a remote entry system. The LXi offers all of the above plus a standard eight-way power driver seat, theft alarm (ugh), power antenna and aluminum wheels. Leather seats are available. Both models feature a 2.5-liter V-6, 165-hp, four-speed automatic.

According to Automotive News, the base LX Cirrus starts at $17,435. A Honda Accord LX 4-door sedan with V-6 engine starts at $22,300. A Toyota Camry SE sedan with V-6 is $23,498. A Mazda 626 LX sedan with V-6 is priced at $19,595; add $800 for automatic and another $800 for ABS. If you own a Cirrus, smile.

Riding on a 108-inch wheelbase, the new sedan offers great back-seat leg room and hip room. Headroom for a tall person is adequate. Visibility is good. The rear doors open fairly wide, making entrances and exits pleasant. The doors themselves, front and rear, are light and easy to open and close.

The thought of playing back seat passenger for an extended trip is not discouraging. The only immediate drawback would be having to wrestle for a second backseat rider for control of the single beverage holder on the center console. There are two farther forward for the bucket seat occupants.

Handles on the headliner above the three passenger doors help riders pull themselves out or maintain their composure during fast cornering.

Chrysler says its five-passenger sedan with front bucket seats and the largest rear-legroom is the best in its class. It even provides almost comparable room and features for less cost than midsize alternatives such as Lumina and Taurus.

Cirrus provides features such as full-folding rear seats, the largest trunk (15.7 cu. ft.) in its class with lockable passthrough and remote trunk release.

The trunk has some peculiarities. You must grab the edge to lift it once unlocked (whatever happened to proper trunk handles?), and a spring tends to pull it down unless you push the lid all the way up.

There's a futuristic instrument panel with enormous shelf stretching out to meet the generous-size windshield. Controls on the driver's door for locks and windows are backlit and visible in the dark. Radio buttons are teeny-tiny and black with small white markings.

Cirrus was designed largely to attract buyers in their 30s and 40s who are considering a sedan — perhaps their first one, or at least their first domestic sedan. The corporation came up with a luxurious, sporty four-door that breaks tradition. When you think "family sedan," do you think "boxy and boring?" When you hear "all-new," do you think "face lift?" This really is a new car, one to be taken seriously.

Summer fun just around the corner

An all-new convertible model of the 1995 Chevrolet Cavalier is scheduled to be available this summer. The Cavalier LS promises seating for five — it has a three person back seat the back of which folds down to add storage space. A single center lever is located on the header just above the rearview mirror. The owner presses the release button, pulls the lever downward to release the top, then pulls back on the lever to lower the top. Rear-quarter windows are automatically lowered with the top. Chevrolet has designed the new convertible with a larger glass rear window than in the previous model. A three-piece boot with soft center and semi-rigid molded ends, protects the lowered top. Standard LS features include dual air bags, anti-lock brakes, full headliner, battery-run-down protection, air conditioning and AM/FM radio. The price has not been announced.

Chrysler's new Cirrus is more than just a pretty face; it's an all-around family sedan to be taken seriously.

Violenda E. Nelson

Violenda E. Nelson

Services were held Sunday, April 2, at the A.H. Peters Funeral Home in Grosse Pointe Woods for Violenda E. Nelson, 91, of Detroit, who died Wednesday, March 29, 1995, at St. John Hospital in Detroit.

Born in Ironwood, Mrs. Nelson was a former resident of the City of Grosse Pointe.

She was a vocal music and choral director in the Ferndale public schools, the first chairperson of the Grosse Pointe Symphony Society Women's Committee and is listed in "Who's Who in Music" as an "American music educator, pianist, organist, teacher, composer and mezzo-soprano."

Mrs. Nelson attended Northern State University and Eastern Michigan University, majoring in piano and composition. She earned a bachelor's and master's degree from the Detroit Institute of Musical Arts in 1937.

She met her husband, the late John Wilbert Nelson, at the Old Orchestra Hall when she was playing piano with the Ypsilanti State Choir. They were married in 1937.

Mrs. Nelson was a charter member of the Detroit Tuesday Musicale, a member of Kappa Delta Pi, the Michigan Composers Club, Pro Musica Fine Arts, the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs, the English Speaking Union, the music committee of the Founders Society of the Detroit Institute of Arts, the Detroit Grand Opera Association and the Michigan Music Teachers' Association.

She composed "Dawn," a tone poem for full symphony and "The Nativity," a cantata with piano, as well as many other songs, piano pieces and compositions for instrumental ensembles.

When she was the vocal music teacher at Harding school and Ferndale High School, Mrs. Nelson's glee clubs always won excellent or superior ratings. She directed operettas and musical pageants with as many as 900 children in the cast.

Mrs. Nelson retired in 1964 after 40 years of teaching.

She was awarded the first and second highest achievement awards by Sigma Sigma Sigma, her sorority. An active member, she organized two Grosse Pointe alumnae chapters and composed and sang the song, "Renewal Vow," for their 1962 national convention.

Mrs. Nelson is survived by a sister, Leona Joyce Tuckwell, and a brother, Leslie W. Sepala. She was predeceased by her husband, John Wilbert Nelson.

Interment is in Calumet.

Memorial contributions may be made to the charity of the donor's choice.

Catherine P. Grieg

Private services were held for Catherine P. Grieg, 91, who died Sunday, April 2, 1995, at Bon Secours Hospital in the City of Grosse Pointe.

Born in Mount Clemens, Mrs. Grieg was a resident of Grosse Pointe Park.

She graduated from Southeastern High School in Detroit.

Mrs. Grieg was a "great mom," according to her children, who loved to read, watch movies and keep a clean house.

She is survived by two daughters, Lauralyn and Catherine; and four grandchildren. She was predeceased by her husband, James W. Grieg.

Interment is at Elmwood Cemetery in Detroit.

Elynor K. Wickline

Funeral services were held Thursday, March 16, at the Chas. Verheyden Inc. Funeral Home in Grosse Pointe Park for Elynor K. Wickline, who died Monday, March 13, 1995, at her home in Grosse Pointe Woods.

Born in Detroit, Mrs. Wickline was a graduate of the University of Detroit.

She was a property manager for her family's real estate business.

Mrs. Wickline was a member of the Detroit Golf Club, the Lochmoor Club and the Suburbia Garden Club.

She enjoyed spending time with her grandchildren, attending her children's theatrical events and keeping up with current events.

She is survived by a daughter, Denyse Wickline Clayton; a son, Dennis Wickline; and six grandchildren. She was predeceased by her husband, Emory Wickline.

Interment is at Gethsemane Cemetery in Detroit.

Memorial contributions may be made to the First English Lutheran Church Building Fund, 800 Vernier, Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich. 48236.

City of Grosse Pointe Woods, Michigan

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING: Please be advised the Planning Commission of the City of Grosse Pointe Woods will hold a public hearing under the provisions of Section 5-17-3 of the 1975 City Code on Tuesday, April 25, 1995, at 7:30 p.m., at 20025 Mack Plaza, in the Council Court Room of the Municipal Building, to hear the request of Tom Bygn Homes, 306 Afton, Grosse Pointe Woods, Michigan, to rezone Lot 27 of Assessor's Grosse Pointe Woods Plat No. 1, property commonly described as 1110 Vernier Road, situated between Young Lane on the West and Virginia Lane on the East. It is proposed to rezone such property from R-1C (one family residential) to R-2 (two family residential) conditionally. Such proposed rezoning would amend Title V, Chapter 19, Section 5-19-1 of the City Code of the City of Grosse Pointe Woods of 1975 (Zoning Map). Any interested person is invited to attend the public hearing.

Cecile M. Forster

A funeral Mass was said Monday, April 3, at St. Clare of Montefalco Catholic Church for Cecile M. Forster, 79, who died Friday, March 31, 1995, at her residence in Grosse Pointe Park.

Born in Germany, Mrs. Forster completed her education and married the late Frank A. Forster before emigrating to the United States in 1937.

She was a devoted wife and mother who supported her family's endeavors in the Forster Furniture Co. for more than 50 years.

Over the years, Mrs. Forster's hobbies included the needle arts, oil painting, decoupage and gardening.

She was a life member of the Catholic Kolping Society and the German-American Cultural Center.

She is survived by three sons, Franz G., Paul H. and Ronald G. Forster; five grandchildren; a sister, Sister Seraphin (Hilda Thiele); and a brother, Paul Thiele.

Arrangements were made by the Chas. Verheyden Inc. Funeral Home in Grosse Pointe Park.

Memorial contributions may be made to St. Clare of Montefalco Catholic Church.

Grayce E. Poppen

Grayce E. Poppen, of Grosse Pointe Farms, died Tuesday, January 31, 1995, at Whitehall Convalescent Home in Novi. She was 87.

A memorial service will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday, April 15, at the Grosse Pointe United Church in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Mrs. Poppen attended Bradley University, where she was a member of Chi Omega sorority. It was there she met her husband of 62 years, Howard.

She was an active member of the Grosse Pointe schools' PTA, contributing her talents to clubs and play productions. Taxis student productions of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church also benefitted from her talents and volunteer spirit. She treasured letters of appreciation from Dr. Frank Fitt and Rev. Paul F. Ketchum, recognizing her efforts.

Mrs. Poppen was a 40-year member of the Grosse Pointe Park Garden Club. During her tenure, she was president and general chairman of the Grosse Pointe Garden Center Flower Show at the War Memorial's Fries Auditorium in June 1963. She was also in charge of the Trial Gardens at the War Memorial.

Mrs. Poppen was an instructor of bonsai classes, exhibiting and winning numerous ribbons for her work at the Fries Auditorium shows.

When the U.S. Army stationed soldiers at Patterson Park during the Korean War, she was asked to instruct the troops in the beautification of the area.

Mrs. Poppen served the Cottage Hospital Guild for 35 years and is recognized with a plaque in the lower hallway of the hospital. She was in charge of the gift shop for many years as well as the Boutique, the group making craft items for the annual Christmas Fair benefiting the hospital.

During the past 20 years, Mrs. Poppen found much pleasure in decoupage. As a member of the National Guild of Decouppers, she attended many conventions and seminars.

As a member of Grosse Pointe Congregational Church, later Grosse Pointe United Church, since 1947 she served as a member of the board of trustees and as a secretary of the board.

Mrs. Poppen is survived by her husband, Howard Poppen; three daughters, Janet Poppen-Carr, Judith Hanneman and Joyce Quinn; and six grandchildren.

Memorial contributions may be made to Grosse Pointe United Church, 240 Chalfonte, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. 48236.

Julie C. Shumaker

A memorial service was held Thursday, March 30, at the Stone Funeral Home in Petokey for Julie C. Shumaker, 66, of Brutus, who died Tuesday, March 28, 1995, at Northern Michigan Hospital.

Born in Nashville, Tenn., Mrs. Shumaker was a former resident of Grosse Pointe Farms.

She grew up in Nashville and Detroit, graduating from Southeastern High School and the University of Michigan.

Mrs. Shumaker was a talented artist and loved nature. She lived in the Brutus area the past seven years where she made many friends. She was a volunteer for Meals on Wheels.

Mrs. Shumaker is survived by a daughter, Susan Latronico; two sons, Dan and John Shumaker; and six grandchildren.

Memorial contributions may be made to the National Kidney Foundation of America.

Walter Batura

Walter Batura

A funeral Mass was said Friday, March 31, at St. Paul Catholic Church in Grosse Pointe Farms for Walter Batura, 84, who died Tuesday, March 28, 1995, at his home in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Born in Detroit, Mr. Batura was an advertising representative for the Detroit Free Press for 54 years, responsible for entertainment.

He was referred to by publisher Neal Shine as "a walking compendium of the history of the entertainment industry in Detroit."

Places like the Island Lake Casino, Blossom Heath, the Chocolate Bar, Club 509, Mar/Jo's, Club Maxine; and the people like Sammy Safferin, Benny Rush, the Hucks, Jim Cornelius, Ely Robinson. Even the rising stars like Danny Thomas and Sojnia Hejne, the figure skating legend of the time, were not just his clients. The supper clubs, saloons, the people who owned them and who entertained in them — the people who made Detroit an exciting place to party in the '30s and '40s — people and places that Mr. Batura cared about and would recall with affection, people, who as part of his life, were his extended family.

He boasted a proud Russian heritage and was a member of the Russian Orthodox Church.

During World War II, on leave of absence from the Free Press, he served his country under the command of Gen. Omar Bradley.

Mr. Batura is survived by his wife, Caroline; a daughter, Carol Lynn Herman; and two grandchildren.

Interment is at St. Hedwig

Cemetery in Dearborn Heights. Arrangements were made by the Chas. Verheyden Inc. Funeral Home in Grosse Pointe Park.

Memorial contributions may be made to Harper Hospital's radiation oncology clinic.

Loris Hadden

A memorial service was held Monday, April 3, at Christ Church Grosse Pointe for Loris Hadden, 79, who died Thursday, March 30, 1995, at the St. John-Bon Secours Senior Community in Detroit.

Born in Denver, Mrs. Hadden was a resident of Grosse Pointe Farms.

A 1942 graduate of Cornell University, she worked in government sales with the Kodak Co. in Rochester, N.Y. She was also a manager of the Neighborhood Club's Thrift Shop.

Mrs. Hadden was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma and Recordings for the Blind. She also was a member of Grosse Pointe Theatre, Flint Theater and Rochester (N.Y.) Theater.

She directed the first play, "Send Me No Flowers," presented at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Fries Auditorium.

In addition to the theater, Mrs. Hadden enjoyed reading. She is survived by her husband, David Hadden; a daughter, Ann Munoff; two sons, David Jr. and Jeffrey A. Hadden; five grandchildren; and a brother, Jay H. Jeffries Jr.

Interment is in the Christ Church columbarium. Arrangements were made by the Chas. Verheyden Inc. Funeral Home in Grosse Pointe Park.

Memorial contributions may be made to Christ Church, 61 Grosse Pointe Blvd., Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. 48236.

Proposed lights, fence draws criticism from St. John Hospital neighbors

By Jim Stickford
Staff Writer

Despite assurances that its plan for new lights and a new fence for its rear parking lot would be a great improvement over what is currently there, St. John Hospital received criticism from its residential neighbors who declared that the medical complex once again has acted in an insensitive manner.

The hospital needs three variances to implement its plan. The first would let it build a six-foot wooden fence at the property line that separates hospital property from residential property instead of brick fence between two and four feet in height. It also needs a variance to build 32 foot tall light poles and it needs a variance not to build a greenbelt as required by law.

City building inspector Melissa Spranger noted that the hospital parking lot was built before the city passed its parking lot ordinances, and had "grandfather clause" protection.

Spranger also told the council that she was satisfied that the proposed lighting plan would send less light into residential areas than the current, legal lighting system.

"We need new lights for our parking lot," said hospital director of engineering and maintenance James Wild. "Our current lights are over 20 years old and need replacing. This gives us the chance to put in more modern lights that use the latest optical technology."

The hospital's plan calls for 16 light posts to be placed around the rear parking lot. There are currently 28 light poles. The new poles would be 32 feet tall, as compared with the current poles which are 28 feet tall.

Wild also told the Grosse Pointe Woods City Council that the hospital wanted to replace the old six-foot wooden fence that separated the back yards of residents from the hospital parking lot.

"A fence should be at least six feet high to keep light from car headlights spilling into backyards," Wild said. "A brick fence that high would cost $550,000 to build, as compared with about $25,000 for a wooden fence."

Wild also said that the lights, despite being brighter, would actually send less light into the back yards of residents than the present lights.

"We will be using state-of-the-art technology that will focus the light straight down," Wild said. "We've had engineers from Virginia come and look at the lot six different times to determine the best positioning for the lights. They've come up with a plan that will shine more light on the lot and less light in people's back yards."

But despite the hospital's assurances about the proposed lighting system being better, several area residents' belonging to the Country Club Woods Progressive Association complained that the hospital was once again trying to implement a plan that would hurt the neighborhood without properly consulting with area residents.

"I want the hospital to build a six-foot brick wall," said Carol VandenBussche. "Too much light spills between the slats with a wooden fence. There's only three feet of space between the wooden fence and the parking lot curb. A brick fence would increase property values. And if the hospital does build a wooden fence I urge the council to require the hospital to plant trees or shrubs in that space between the curb and the fence to help keep light out."

Area resident Jim Dane said hospital officials tried a similar action two years ago when they tried to move traffic from Mack onto a sidestreet. They did not inform neighbors and created much friction. Dane said the hospital did not inform neighbors of its plans until January and only sent out a couple of letters.

Another area resident said that the hospital's plan to give neighbors $300 to plant their own shrubs on their property was not enough, and that the hospital should plant its own shrubs.

Michael Moore, president of the Country Club Woods Progressive Association, said building a brick wall would be a great safety measure because it would prevent people from crashing into back yards from the parking lot. Moore said he could not name a specific incident in which that happened.

Director of hospital security Ron Kelemen said that he never heard of a car crashing into a back yard.

Mayor Robert Novitke told hospital representatives that because they were asking for a variance to city ordinances, five councilmembers would have to approve the request. Novitke noted that councilman James Alogdelis was absent, leaving only six councilmembers present.

"If St. John representatives want to wait until a later date so that they can speak with their neighbors more, we understand," said Novitke. "But this action would be tabling a motion before the council. That means that if the council vote is delayed, there will be no additional public hearing and that the council is not obligated to send out letters notifying the public about the vote."

Moore agreed to notify association members of the vote. The city council agreed to table the vote until the May 1 council meeting.

Novitke said that the council was aware of the area residents' concerns, but to be fair he thought that the hospital had sent out a lot more information about this plan than in previous cases.

"I think they've tried to be a good neighbor," said councilwoman Jean Rice. "But I think that they can't win, and satisfy neighborhood concerns, no matter what they do."

Fiscal fitness 1995: Painless strategies to maximize savings, investments

"No pain, no gain," or so the saying goes. However, this advice need not relate to those concerned with building their financial future. According to the Michigan Association of CPAs (MACPA), there are many painless ways to save money and gain financial independence. Here are a few methods the MACPA recommends.

Pay yourself first. This age-old precept sounds simple and it is. The key is to make saving your money an integral part of your expense budget, not an afterthought. First, determine how much you want to save each month.

Then, when it's time to pay your monthly bills, write a check to your savings or investment account before paying other bills.

If you don't have the discipline to pay yourself first, consider turning the task over to a third party. You can put your savings strategy on auto-pilot by arranging for your payroll department or bank to have a fixed amount from each paycheck deposited to a savings or investment account. You'll find that your savings will grow painlessly because, typically, what you don't see, you don't miss.

Better yet, if your employer offers a 401(k) plan, you can contribute a percentage of your salary on a pre-tax basis. Your contribution reduces your gross income, which means you pay less in taxes, and the interest or dividends your account earns grow tax-free until you withdraw the funds at retirement.

If you work for a company that matches part of your contributions, your earnings will multiply faster.

Most major mutual fund families are happy to help you automate your savings habit. With your authorization, you can have a pre-set amount debited from your checking account each month, with as many shares purchased as your payment covers, and those shares credited to your account.

This method of investing a fixed amount at regular intervals reduces the impact of market dips.

When you get a raise, continue to live on the amount you previously received and bank the rest. Sock away any minor windfalls, such as bonuses, tax refunds and gifts, too.

Along the same lines, if you have recently paid off a car or personal loan, continue to set aside the same amount each month and deposit it in your savings account.

If you're paid every other week, try to live on two paychecks a month — that's 24 checks a year. When the extra two checks come around, plan on banking each of them.

If you're paid weekly and can live on four paychecks a month, you'll have four extra checks in '95 to add to your nest egg. With this painless strategy, you can save about 8 percent of your salary.

Most mutual funds and some stock plans will automatically reinvest your dividends in additional shares. This is advantageous to you for two reasons: it prevents you from spending your investment income and enables you to benefit from the compounding of interest on your investment income.

Investing as much as you can in a tax-favored retirement plan like an IRA (Individual Retirement Account), Keogh, or SEP (Simplified Employee Pension plan) is a smart way to build your savings. Make your contribution early in the year if you can. The earlier you contribute to your plan, the more time your money has to compound tax-free. If you find it difficult to come up with a lump sum contribution, try making monthly contributions instead. Either way, you'll be taking important steps toward building a financially secure retirement.

A somewhat less direct, but nonetheless efficient way to build your savings, is to pay off your debt. Start by reducing your credit card debt. Cutting out those 15 to 20 percent interest payments amounts to instant savings.

You might also want to try adding an extra $50 to $100 to each monthly mortgage payment you make. This reduces the principal balance on your mortgage and can save you thousands of dollars in interest costs.

MACPA emphasizes applying even a few of these strategies will help you gain a more secure financial future with little or no pain. Choose the strategies that are right for you and your family, follow them, and watch your savings grow.

Mack Ave. merchants fired up for fireworks

By Jim Stickford
Staff Writer

With any luck this year's Fourth of July fireworks display should be a booming success thanks to the efforts of the Grosse Pointe Business and Professional Association of Mack Avenue.

The display will again take place at Parcels Middle School in Grosse Pointe Woods just after sundown. This year the event is scheduled for Sunday, June 25, with a Sunday, July 2, rain date.

The association has sponsored the Independence Day fireworks display for the past 12 years. There almost wasn't a show last year due to funding and weather problems. The association was able to come up with the money needed to put on the show, but there was little they could do about the rain.

"We received a lot of complaints last year when we put on the show during bad weather," said program chairwoman Robbie Curry. "What people didn't realize was that if we didn't hold the show then, it never would have happened. We plan for a main date and an alternative date in case of bad weather. If the alternative date also has bad weather, we either cancel or put on the show; we can't have a third date."

The reason is simple, explained Curry. When making plans for a fireworks display, a primary date and a backup date are scheduled. The school district, Lochmoor Club, Grosse Pointe Woods and the fireworks contractor keep those dates open, so if something happens on the primary date, they are ready on the backup date.

"Simply put, there are too many organizations involved to have an unlimited number of fireworks dates," said Curry. "Also, the Fourth is a busy time for fireworks contractors. They can't guarantee to be available for three or four nights just to put on one display. They lose too much business that way."

Usually, having a single backup date is all that is required, Curry said, calling last year a fluke.

"We've just sent out a mailer to association members asking for contributions to fund the show," Curry said. "We need to raise about $30,000. The general public can also make contributions by making out a check to Mack Avenue U.S.A. Fireworks, and mailing it to 19251 Mack, Suite 95, Grosse Pointe Woods, MI, 48236. Donations are tax-deductible."

The association is currently seeking bids from fireworks contractors. Curry said that she hopes to have one signed up by the end of the month.

Business People

Grosse Pointe Farms resident Bill Zoufal was recently made president and chief operating officer of Hinckley Associates, a broad-based consulting firm operating in Michigan and Florida. Zoufal was formerly the executive vice president for administration and development at the Detroit Historical Society.

Grosse Pointe Farms resident Jeffrey Wayne Daum, president of Competency Management, will return to his alma mater, Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, to participate in the school president's executives and professionals in residence program. Daum is consultant and designs and implements programs that seek to maximize the human resource side of running an organization.

Grosse Pointe Park resident Leo Romzick was recently named chairman of chapter 18 of the Small Business Administration's Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE), a national professional organization of volunteer retired business people who provide free counseling and low cost training programs for small businesses.

A WOMAN'S INFLUENCE

What is the influence of the American woman upon the U.S. car market? As any industry insider can tell you, women accounted for 48% of U.S. car sales in 1993 (the last year for which figures are available.) It may also surprise the average person to learn that women accounted for 24% of all truck sales (including minivans, pickups, and sport-utility vehicles) in that year. These numbers make up 40% of total U.S. automobile industry sales, up from 35% in 1976 (according to a study by Consumer Attitude Research). With this total expected to rise to 60% by the year 2000, you can be sure that automakers are taking a woman's point of view in account when designing their products.

In today's world, women and men increasingly share responsibilities inside and outside the home. So it should be no surprise that women make nearly half of all car purchase decisions. At RINKE TOYOTA, we look aggressively to the right financial solution for your automotive needs. We strive to meet your preferences and your price. You can find us at 25420 Van Dyke. Phone: 758-2000. Hours: Mon & Thurs 7:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m., Tues & Wed, 7-7, Fri 7-6, closed Sat & Sun. Stop in soon!

Hint: Among the design features influenced by women to be found in today's vehicles are: easier entry/egress, easier-to-manipulate radio controls, and improve seating position.

Alfred E. Hillenbrand

A memorial Mass was said Friday, March 31, at St. Paul Catholic Church in Grosse Pointe Farms for Alfred E. Hillenbrand, 52, who died of emphysema and heart failure Tuesday, March 28, 1995, at Bon Secours Hospital in the City of Grosse Pointe.

Born in Detroit, Mr. Hillenbrand was a resident of Grosse Pointe Farms.

A graduate of Austin Prep and the Detroit College of Business, he was a former accountant for the Cadillac Motor Co.

Mr. Hillenbrand served two years in the U.S. Naval Reserves.

He was a past president of the St. Paul Ushers Club and a past coach of Babe Ruth league baseball in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Mr. Hillenbrand loved sports. He is survived by his mother,

Alfred E. Hillenbrand

Doris M. Hillenbrand, and a sister, Diane Egan. He was predeceased by his father, Dr. Alfred E. Hillenbrand.

Interment is in the St. Paul Catholic Church columbarium.

Arrangements were made by the Chas. Verheyden Inc. Funeral Home in Grosse Pointe Park.

Memorial contributions may be made to the American Lung Association, the Bon Secours Assistance League or the Michigan Humane Society.

Adult attention disorder discussed

Terry Rudolph, a licensed psychologist on the staff at the Grosse Pointe Center for Individual and Family Therapy, will discuss adult attention deficit disorder: The Silent Problem on Tuesday, April 11, from 7 to 8 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore, Grosse Pointe Farms.

Rudolph specializes in attention disorders in children and adults and will present an overview of the signs and symptoms of this silent problem. Only recently has the diagnosis of AADD become recognized. Learn what can be done to help persons who have it.

This lecture is $3 and is co-sponsored by St. John Hospital and Medical Center. For more information or reservations, call 313-881-7511.

Senior Men to discuss lake

The Senior Men's Club of Grosse Pointe will have its next luncheon meeting at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore, on Tuesday, April 11, at 11:15 a.m. The speaker will be Bruce Manny, a fishery biologist. His topic will be "The Outlook for Lake St. Clair this Summer" — a matter of special interest to all Grosse Pointe residents, especially fishermen, swimmers and boaters.

Manny, who has been with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service of the Department of the Interior for over 20 years, has been studying the lake full time for the past 10 years. He recently participated with other experts at a public meeting sponsored by the Clinton River Watershed Council. He will be presented by Joe Callahan.

The Senior Men's Club of Grosse Pointe, the largest club of its type in the area, provides many activities for retired male residents of the Pointes. The golf league is preparing for the new season. Members interested should contact chairman Don Carter at 313-886-7329.

Blanche Christine Boldt

Services were held Wednesday, April 5, at the Hackett-Metcalf Funeral Home in Dearborn for Blanche Christine Boldt, 93, who died Sunday, April 2, 1995, at the DMC Nursing Home in Dearborn Heights.

She is survived by a daughter, Marilyn Lloyd; a son, Robert C. Boldt; eight grandchildren; 16 great-grandchildren; a sister, Erma LaMondra; and a brother, Clyde Wood.

Interment is at Woodmere Cemetery in Detroit.

W. Brace Krag

Kyrsten Hope Webb

Private services were held Monday, April 3, for Kyrsten Hope Webb, of Grosse Pointe Woods, who died of cardiorespiratory arrest Friday, March 31, 1995, at St. John Hospital in Detroit. She was 9 weeks old.

She is survived by her parents, Michael and Lori Webb; two sisters, Allyson and Kyleigh Webb; and grandparents, William and Patricia Webb and Art and Mary Van Elslander.

Arrangements were made by the A.H. Peters Funeral Home in Grosse Pointe Woods.

Memorial contributions may be made to the St. John Hospital Neonatal Intensive Care Unit.

W. Brace Krag

Services were held Monday, April 3, at Christ Church Grosse Pointe for W. Brace Krag, 90, who died Thursday, March 30, 1995, at Cottage Hospital in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Born in Detroit, Mr. Krag was a resident of Grosse Pointe Farms.

He was a graduate of The Hill School, Princeton University and the University of Michigan Law School.

After practicing law with the firm of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone for nine years, Mr. Krag joined the trust department of the National Bank of Detroit, where he worked for 30 years until his retirement at age 65 as a vice president of the bank.

Mr. Krag was a member of the Country Club of Detroit and the Yondotega Club. He served on a number of boards, including Pointe Aux Barques and the Christ Church vestry.

He is survived by two sons, William Brace Krag and Michael Trowbridge Krag; and four grandchildren. He was predeceased by his wife, Julia Quirk Krag.

Interment is at Woodlawn Cemetery in Detroit.

Arrangements were made by the Groesbeck Chapel of the Wm. R. Hamilton Co.

Memorial contributions may be made to Christ Church, 61 Grosse Pointe Blvd., Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. 48236.

Grosse Pointe AARP meets

AARP Grosse Pointe Chapter No. 3430 will hold its monthly meeting on Monday, April 10. Bill Roscup will share with the membership a video of his trip through Switzerland.

The board of directors meets at 12:30 p.m., followed by the General Membership meeting at 1:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served after the program.

People over 50 years of age are welcome to join the chapter, where you get the chance to meet some new friends, and enjoy the many interesting programs and speakers that the chapter arranges.

Contact Julie Brunett, the membership chairperson at (810) 775-5975 if you would like more information about joining.

Helen E. Mehrer

Services will be held at 1 p.m. Friday, April 7, at the Chas. Verheyden Inc. Funeral Home in Grosse Pointe Park for Helen E. Mehrer, 96, who died Tuesday, March 28, 1995, at her home in Grosse Pointe Park.

Mrs. Mehrer was a former member of the Lochmoor Club and Women's City Club. She was the oldest living member of the Central Methodist Church in Detroit before her death. She also was affiliated with King's Daughters and the Cottage Hospital Auxiliary.

Mrs. Mehrer is survived by a daughter, Sally Wood; a son, James D. Mehrer; and two grandchildren. She was predeceased by her husband, Fred A. Mehrer.

Interment is at Roseland Park Cemetery in Berkley.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Michigan Heart Association or to the American Diabetes Association.

Nothing is more valuable than the safety of your children. But children are fearless. They're independent and don't think they need parental supervision. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Children — particularly from ages 5 to 11 — are accident-prone. The likelihood of danger is even greater in the spring and summer months. The Emergency Department at Bon Secours Hospital encourages parents to take charge. Begin teaching your children safety tips early. Help them form good habits that emphasize safe fun and focus on accident prevention. Set some basic rules:

Always wear a helmet. Know "the rules of the road." Never ride alone, in the dark, or without reflectors.

Swim with a buddy. Never swim when overtired. Or where there's no lifeguard. Always enter the water feet first. No horseplay. Use waterproof sunscreen and avoid over-exposure to the sun.

Wear protective equipment like a batting helmet for baseball and safety goggles for street hockey. Drink plenty of fluids, and stretch out before and after a work-out.

Always wear helmets, and protective padding and gear. Maintain controllable speeds. Stay out of the street and away from cars.

Buckle up before the car moves. Review traffic signals. Look both ways before crossing the street.

Children under 16 should not operate power lawn or garden equipment. Turn shovels, hoes and other garden tools face down when not in use.

Help prevent accidents — before they happen. Keep emergency phone numbers near all telephones and consider a CPR course as an added precaution. Keep a first aid kit within easy reach. And remember that your Bon Secours Emergency Department staff is available around the clock should your child need immediate medical attention.

As a parent, you want to protect your children from danger. But remember, they learn by watching. So please practice what you preach. And enjoy spring and summer out of harm's way.

WOMEN'S ALLIANCE TOWARD COMPLETE HEALING

By Margie Reins Smith
Feature Editor

Sheryl Hogan wore a bright pink sweatshirt with the WATCH logo across her chest. WATCH is Women's Alliance Toward Complete Healing.

About 10 minutes into a conversation with Harriett Mellin, Hogan pulled up her sweatshirt to point out some scars.

"We show everything here," she said.

Sheryl Hogan

This was Mellin's first WATCH meeting. She is recovering from two surgical procedures — a mastectomy and a heart bypass operation. She was skeptical. She asked her husband to wait close by, in case she wanted to go home.

"I had plenty of medical explanations," Mellin said. "But I need to talk to other people who have cancer."

Mellin stayed for more than two hours.

Six years ago, Grosse Pointe Gail McEntee and four other women started WATCH for exactly the same reason — they wanted to talk about their cancer and their treatment.

WATCH is a grass-roots support group designed for survivors of pre-menopausal breast cancer. It is unusual, unstructured, un-funded, informal and perhaps the only group of its kind on the east side of Detroit.

"We heal in many different ways," McEntee said. "This group helps us heal our spirits — and we hope, our bodies as well. It's unusual because we focus on pre-menopausal women."

Founding members were McEntee and Hogan, Cathy Van Acker, Eve Brennan and Kathy Damp. They were all being treated for breast cancer in 1989 and arranged to get together for breakfast at a local restaurant once a week. They talked about their fears, their progress, their setbacks, the side effects of their treatments, their problems and what they'd read about new cancer research. They supported and encouraged each other.

"At that time," McEntee said, "there were no groups that specifically addressed the needs of younger women undergoing chemotherapy and/or radiation, women who were actively involved in raising families and had job responsibilities, as well."

The group gradually expanded. They outgrew their restaurant booth and moved to the Ram's Horn restaurant in Grosse Pointe Woods. They still meet there Wednesday mornings. But their mailing list has grown to more than 130 people.

McEntee and Hogan are still actively involved. Van Acker is pursuing other interests, McEntee said. Sadly, she added, Brennan died in 1991 and Damp died in 1994.

WATCH also meets from 7 to 9 p.m. on the fourth Tuesday of the month at St. Paul Lutheran Church in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Spring was in the air at the last evening meeting. Summer loomed. And before the meeting ever got started, the conversation turned to bathing suits.

"Trying them on is a terrible experience," said Fran Partridge.

"It was a terrible experience even before my surgery," someone added. Most of the women agreed. They laughed.

"I can go into the water without an undershirt this year," Partridge said. "I just got the word from my doctor." She raised both hands, fists clenched; smiled broadly. "Yessss."

"We laugh a lot," McEntee said.

At last week's meeting, in fact, some of the jokes were about cancer.

"We all know how it feels to be depressed," said Lore Bertram, who claims she is the oldest WATCH member. "We can call each other and we help each other."

McEntee said the group's founding purpose was to address the needs of younger women battling breast cancer. "But," she emphasized, "if what we have is what you need — you're welcome here." This includes women with other kinds of cancer and older women.

The group discussed a recent survivorship conference that tags and to stuff goodie bags to be passed out to racers and walkers. She hauled out a banner — "Breast Cancer is an epidemic" — that was carried last October in a Washington, D.C., rally to promote more federal funding for breast cancer research.

WATCH members come from diverse backgrounds, McEntee said. Last Tuesday evening's group included an attorney, a nurse, a translator, a former school bus driver, a former nanny, a retail saleswoman, a cashier and a dress designer.

"You get different kinds of information by talking to different people," said Judy Rashid. "Some information is medical, but we're very realistic here."

If you've been having sudden, sharp shooting pains, for instance, she said, it's nice to talk to others who have sudden, sharp shooting pains.

"This is an encouraging group. Not depressing," Rashid said.

"We cry sometimes," said Mary Ann Budnick. "After all, in less than a month many of us went from feeling fine to having an amputation. Every day we have to get up and shower and look at ourselves in bathroom mirrors. This group helps. We have fun, too."

"Sometimes, someone just wants to talk. We listen to her."

Anyone interested in attending a meeting of WATCH should call McEntee at (313) 833-0715, ext. 424 or (313) 885-5194.

How to join the Race for the Cure

Detroit's fourth annual Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation Race for the Cure will be held on Saturday, April 22, at the Detroit Zoo.

More than 350 volunteers and 10,000 runners, walkers and racewalkers are expected to take part in the five-kilometer run/walk/racewalk and one-mile fun walk that is designed to promote positive breast cancer awareness, early detection and survival.

Racers and walkers of all ages and athletic abilities are welcome.

Participants will include hundreds of breast cancer survivors, their families and friends. Many will wear signs in memory of loved ones and in celebration of survivors of the disease.

Michigan's First Lady Michelle Engler and Detroit's First Lady Trudy Archer are honorary chairmen of the event.

Seventy-five percent of the race proceeds will go to the Michigan Cancer Foundation to fund breast cancer awareness, early detection programs and to help low-income women get follow-up tests after abnormal mammograms. The other 25 percent will be used by the Komen Foundation to help fund national breast cancer research grants.

Registration begins at 7 a.m.; a 5K race for men begins at 8:30; a 5K race/walk/race walk begins at 9; a one-mile fun walk begins at 9:10.

The entry fee for the race is $16 if paid by Friday, April 7; $20 if paid by Friday, April 14; and $25 thereafter and on the day of the race.

Entry forms are available at Jacobson's, JC Penney's, Pier 1 Imports and local stores that sell running shoes. Or, call the Motor City Striders' hotline at (810) 544-9099 or the MCF at (313) 833-0715.

A pasta party will be held from 6 to 9 p.m. Friday, April 21, at the corporate headquarters of Standard Federal Bank, 2600 W. Big Beaver in Troy. It's open to anyone — racers, walkers, families, supporters — and will include a pasta supper, music, entertainment, door prizes and special guests.

Reservations are required. Tickets are $15 for adults; $8 for children under 12. Call (810) 544-9099.

Sally Maguet and McEntee attended; they shared good and bad news about former members and friends who have cancer; they discussed a recent news story about a Boston reporter who had breast cancer, but died while undergoing chemotherapy.

They got down to the business of the day — preparing for their participation in the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation 1995 Detroit Race for the Cure, an annual 5K run/walk/racewalk.

The fundraiser and consciousness-raiser for breast cancer will be held on Saturday, April 22, on the grounds of the Detroit Zoo.

Many of the women at the meeting planned to participate in some way — either by walking, preparing materials for walkers and runners, or by attending and rallying around the group's huge banner.

"This year 10,000 people are expected," McEntee said. She asked for volunteers from WATCH to help with name

DIO's Friends of Vision plans luncheon at Lochmoor Club

Friends of Vision, a support group for visually impaired adults associated with the Detroit Institute of Ophthalmology, will hold a spring luncheon and fashion show beginning at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday, May 10, at the Lochmoor Club. Proceeds from a raffle will help fund field trips for members of the support group for visually impaired adults that meets at the DIO. Raffle items include an oil painting of Grosse Pointe's "Nun's Walk" by Jack Petz, a lady's watch from Ahee Jewelers; a gift basket from Suttons Maison; a $100 gift certificate from George Koueiter & Sons Jewelers, and more.

Fashions will be by Bon Loot. Models will include three visually impaired young adults and board members of Friends of Vision.

Luncheon tickets are $25. Raffle tickets are six for $5. For reservations or more information, call Pat Shmina at (313) 881-0409.

Fashion show: "On Parade," a fashion show and luncheon, will feature clothing by the Somerset Collection. The benefit for the Salvation Army will begin at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday, April 12, at the Somerset Collection.

Local TV and radio personalities such as Sonny Eliot, Bob Allison, Rich Fisher, Nikki Grandberry, Jennifer Howe, Marilyn Turner and others, will model fashions.

Chairman of the benefit is Grosse Pointer Sybil Jaques. Other Grosse Pointers on the committee include Dale Austin, Mado Lie, Jane Meade and Diane Schoenith.

Tickets are $30, $50 or $75. For more information or reservations, call (810) 443-5500, ext. 231.

Hall of Fame dinner: Junior Achievement of Southeastern Michigan will hold its third annual Business Hall of Fame, a black-tie dinner, on Wednesday, April 26, at the Ritz-Carlton in Dearborn. Four people will be honored as business success stories — examples of lifetime accomplishments for the 40,000 young people who take part in Junior Achievement programs.

Three of this year's laureates are Grosse Pointers or former Grosse Pointers: Beverly Beltaire, founder and senior counsel of PR Associates; the late Walter P. Chrysler, founder of the Chrysler Corp.; and the late J.L. Hudson, founder of J.L. Hudson's Department Stores. Also named: Dave Bing, founder and CEO of the Bing Group.

Junior Achievement programs offer children from kindergarten through twelfth grade a variety of business, economic and life skills programs.

Tickets for the Business Hall of Fame are $150 a person. Call (313) 255-3900.

Pledge drive: WDET-FM's spring on-air fund drive has two more days — until Saturday, April 8. The Detroit Public Radio station at 101.9 on the FM dial, expects 5,000 phone calls and $325,000 in pledges during the nine-day fundraiser. To pledge, call (800) 959-WDET.

Pastor

great thinkers of the Roman Catholic church, St. Thomas Aquinas. The story goes that while walking amid the splendors of Rome, a friend said to St. Thomas: "We Christians certainly no longer have to say to the world, 'silver and gold have we none!'" To this St. Thomas replied, "But neither can we say to the lame man, 'In the name of Jesus of Nazareth rise up and walk.'"

To walk in the way of Jesus is to be more than the recipients of God's forgiveness. It is to experience the healing power of Christ surging through our lives, to be able to reach out and heal the lives of others, to overcome hardships, ridicule and rejection. It is to live the life of a Christian disciple who lives in the hope and the promise of one's own resurrection. May we all experience the power of Easter in the cross and the resurrection.

Evening of Hope

EXAMINING YOUR OPTIONS
Fully 80 percent of the information we perceive about the world outside our bodies comes through our eyes. Thus, it is in everyone's best interests to preserve, protect, and enhance their vision. The purpose of this column is to discuss issues of eye care and eye wear so that those reading it can make informed decisions about their eyes and ability to see. At some point, we all have need of this information. If not to properly address a common refractive error, most of us will eventually require corrective lenses for reading. Beyond that, special situations concern low vision and other eye problems. Whether one decides to make use of contact lenses, eyeglasses, or special vision aids, the eye specialist stands ready to present the many available options.

Welcome to our new bi-weekly column about how to maintain good vision and keep your eyes healthy. At WOODS OPTICAL STUDIOS, our professional staff is very experienced in performing thorough eye examinations. Our staff doctor uses only state of the art equipment. We can determine the level of your vision as well as detect any underlying problem or disease that might be affecting your vision. We have three convenient locations at 19599 Mack Avenue in Grosse Pointe Woods (313-882-9711), 79 W. Long Lake Road in Bloomfield Hills, and 6900 Orchard Lake Road, Ste. 307, in West Bloomfield.

P.S. In light of information linking ultraviolet (UV) light to eye damage, sunglasses are seen to play a bigger role in our lives than as mere fashion accessories.

The Pastor's Corner

The cross of Christ and the resurrection

By the Rev. Ron Corl
Redeemer United Methodist Church

The hymn writer writes these words:

In the cross of Christ I glory,
Towering o'er the wrecks of time;
All the light of sacred story
Gathers round its head sublime.

— John Bowring

Dallas Willard, in his book, "The Spirit of the Disciplines," Harper San Francisco, c. 1988, reminds us that "the cross, in the early life of the church, was more than a mere forgiveness of sins, leading to heaven beyond this life. It was the point where Jesus' life was most fully displayed and triumphant, forever breaking the power of sin over concrete human existence."

"The resurrection was a cosmic event only because it validated the reality and the indestructibility of what Jesus had preached and exemplified before his death — the enduring reality and openness of God's kingdom. It meant the kingdom (in the form of the early church) would go on, 'and the gates of the grave (Hades) would not prevail against it.' (Matthew 16:18). That, and the fact that Jesus was not dead after all — and that when we die, we won't stay dead — is what made the resurrection earthshaking, transforming good news." (Willard, p. 37.)

Yes indeed, the cross points to something more than God's forgiveness of our sins. The cross, along with the empty tomb, and Jesus' post-resurrection appearances to his disciples, point to the life-giving power of those who follow the way of Jesus — a life that engages in prayer, in weekly worship with other Christians, in reflection and meditation upon the Scripture, in fasting, living the simple lifestyle and reaching out in compassion to care for others.

Willard reminds us of a story told about one of the

Christ the King Lutheran Church welcomes new assistant pastor

The Rev. Timothy A. Holzerland of Swissvale, Pa., was installed as assistant pastor of Christ the King Lutheran Church April 2. The Rev. Roger Pittelko, Lutheran Church Missouri Synod English district president, was the guest preacher for the event.

Holzerland, 32, is from Osmond, Neb. He earned a bachelor of science degree in television broadcasting from Wayne State College in Nebraska in 1985. He was a television director for WAQP-TV in Saginaw and WTCT-TV in southern Illinois before beginning his seminary studies.

While a student at Concordia Seminary, Holzerland was assigned to Redeemer Lutheran Church in Highland, Ind., for a year. He earned a master of divinity degree from the seminary and was ordained on July 21, 1991.

Holzerland is married to the former Kimberly Mohland of Saginaw.

St. Paul Choir presents concert

The St. Paul Choir will present a program, "Music of the Chant Tradition," at 4 p.m. Sunday, April 9, at the church, 157 Lakeshore in Grosse Pointe Farms. The program is free and open to the public.

Works will include Versets on "Veni Creator Spiritus" by Nicolas deGrigny and the "Requiem" by Maurice Duruflé.

Soloists will include bass baritone Lawrence Formosa and soprano Margaret Bragle. The ensemble will be conducted by Norah Duncan, director of music ministries for the Archdiocese of Detroit and choirmaster-organist of the Cathedral of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

David Wagner, music director of St. Paul, will be the organist in the deGrigny work and will be accompanying the choir for the requiem.

Jarvi's 'Don Giovanni' is macho music

With a dozen or more versions of Mozart's opera "Don Giovanni" listed in the CD catalog, one might well ask if there is really a need for one more. After listening to Chandos' recent release of a performance directed by Detroit Symphony Orchestra music director Neeme Jarvi, the answer is unequivocally yes. It takes only one hearing of just the opening scenes to recognize that this is an exceptional recording.

The orchestra is the Cologne Radio Symphony, the singers are obviously hand-picked and all excellent, and Jarvi displays the same spontaneity and attention to artistic detail that his Detroit audiences have admired in his leadership of the DSO. Most importantly, the performance has superb ensemble and style that bring out the special qualities that make this opera a masterpiece.

As the opera unfolds on this three CD set, it exhibits a unity of musicianship that is rare in opera, on or off the record. There is no prima donna behavior of singers strutting their stuff with the conductor and orchestra relegated merely to trying to accompany the vocal parts. Jarvi has welded the entire team into a performing ensemble in which singers and orchestra work closely to render Mozart's superbly constructed score as a total artistic creation.

It is particularly noticeable at critical moments like the entrance of Zerlina and Masetto where a change to upbeat mood and tempo comes across with freshness and spontaneity. Or again in the solemn, oath-like feeling of Don Ottavio's aria, "Dalla Sua Pace." It has a deliberate and dramatically suitable tempo and the aria often misses as other conductors have let the tenor show off his lyrical singing instead of adhering to the aria's real meaning.

The hand of Jarvi is evident throughout and his expressive detailing is often breathtaking. If there is a regret it is only that these superb effects come so frequently and pass so quickly that there is hardly time to appreciate one before the next occurs. The result is a recording that can be listened to repeatedly to discover and enjoy all the delectable touches.

By Alex Suczek

Most interestingly, the dramatic impact of Jarvi's treatment enhances tremendously the opera's amazing breadth from melodramatic morality play to mischievous satire. Even in the overture, the violin accompaniment of an orchestral theme sparkles like Mozart laughing at his own joke. And one can imagine the composer's middle European, 18th century audience sharing his amusement over Leporello's catalog aria revelation that in Spain, the insatiable Don has actually seduced 1,003 of the country's most proper ladies.

As for the incorrigible Lothario, Don Giovanni himself, he comes across as the most macho version of the role in the entire catalog of performances. It is partly because Jarvi chose his singers well. Italian bass-baritone Renato Bruson sings the role elegantly.

The rest of the cast is equally fine. Bulgarian basso Nicola Ghiuselev brings a wonderful note of sarcastic subservience to his resonant Leporello. American soprano Sonja Gazarian's rich voice provides drama and conviction to the role of Donna Anna while the young country couple, Zerlina, sung by Patrizia Pace, and Masetto by Stefano Rinaldi Miliani, make a refreshing contrast in their unsophisticated roles which they sing and act marvelously well.

Lone tenor in the cast, Giuseppe Sabatini brings unusual strength to Don Ottavio as Donna Anna's avenging champion. It is a role that often comes off as somewhat wimpy but not here.

It is interesting to note that at the time of the recording, not one member of the cast had yet appeared in North America. Yet every one has a voice worthy of the most prestigious stages.

The fact that the album has not been promoted here is also inexplicable. It is available, nonetheless, and well worth the three hours to sit down, follow the excellent libretto that comes in the package, and lose oneself in this singularly outstanding re-creation of one of the great works of all time.

'Payne' is a comic pleasure

By Marian Trainor
Special Writer

In the cartoonish new comedy "Major Payne," comedian Damon Wayans makes the most of his role as the single-minded tough marine who fancies himself a killing machine. He makes it his mission on the battlefield to wipe out entire units of the enemy. He glories in his chest full of medals.

That is why he is so astonished when told the marines no longer need him. He pleads: "There's got to be somebody needs killing."

When a friend finds him an assignment as an officer in charge of a junior ROTC cadet training corps at a private school, he accepts.

Over six feet of muscle is not only physically threatening, he has adopted a frightening manner and expression. Maj. Payne has a robot walk and talk and when he curls his lip and shows his gold teeth, he is a terrifying presence.

He is definitely not the man to whip into shape a group of stock characters — fat boy, the egghead, the rebel and a captivating 6-year-old named Tiger played by Orlando Brown. They are a motley group who are as green as their uniforms.

As threatening as he appears, the boys are confident they can wear Payne down like they've worn down others who have preceded him. They laugh when he barks out orders, but when he lines them up and shaves their heads, they realize that getting rid of him is not going to be easy.

The only woman on campus is a sexy looking counselor, Dr. Emily Walburn (Karen Parson). She tries to soften his method by pointing out that his training program is too vigorous for young boys. When she moves in closer and gazes at him with her big brown eyes, we see a change in his austere demeanor. We also see that he might be capable of human behavior and he might be headed for a downfall. That possibility becomes more apparent when he accepts an invitation to go to dinner with her. He has no sense of how to have an ordinary conversation. To every leading question she asks, he replies, "Negative."

Every year, there is an all-Virginia ROTC competition. He promises the boys he will leave if they win the trophy. That possibility provides the spark to make them willing to endure Payne's tough training.

Wayans is outrageously funny as the irreverent Payne — so much so that he elevates an oft-told story of the underdogs winning to a family comedy that marches to a beat that keeps you laughing.

South to get musical with 'Pippin' April 6-8

Grosse Pointe South High School will present the musical "Pippin" April 6-8 at the Grosse Pointe Performing Arts Center at Grosse Pointe North High School.

"Pippin" follows the adventures of the title character, son of Charlemagne, as he searches for meaning in life. The jazzy musical is full of upbeat music and dance routines and takes a comic, almost vaudevillian, look at the relationship between Pippin and his father and the history of the Holy Roman Empire.

The show is double-cast with Bill Drummy and John Riley sharing the lead role of Pippin; Tracy Ganem and Melissa Danckaert play the Mistress of Ceremonies; Joe Calarco and Peter DeVries play Charlemagne; Jeff Case and Brendan Walsh are Lewis; Laurie Mayk as Fastrada; Heather Danckaert and Bridget Kaiser as Berthe; Neely O'Brien and Shelly Ritter as Catherine; and Andrew Keenan-Bolger and Zach Hermann as Theo.

The show is directed and produced by South's choir director Ellen Bowen and drama director Meaghan Dunham, with help from acting coach Tom McNally, professor at the University of Northern Colorado, and musical accompanist Jeff Bruning. Set design and construction are by Dan Vicary, the choreographer is Andy Haines, aided by Nancy Gagnon-Korich. The costume designer is Danielle Defauw.

Stage manager is Tim Reynolds, Heather Danckaert is assistant to the music director and Katie Sperti is assistant to the producer.

Showtimes are 7:30 p.m. Thursday, April 6; 8 p.m. Friday, April 7; and 2 and 8 p.m. Saturday, April 8. Tickets are $8 for adults and $6 for students and seniors.

Tickets may be purchased in advance at Third Coast Booksellers, 15129 Kercheval in Grosse Pointe Park, or Posterity, a Gallery, 16487 Kercheval in the Village of the City of Grosse Pointe Woods.

Tuesday Musicale presents pianist

Nelita True

Pianist Nelita True will perform at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 11, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial as part of the Tuesday Musicale Artist Concert series.

True is a world-famous pianist who has recorded more than 90 works. She won the Julliard Concerto Competition and debuted at Avery Fisher Hall in Lincoln Center. She was a Fulbright Scholar and studied in Paris, earning a doctorate in performance. She is currently chair of the piano faculty at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, NY.

Her program will include music by Mozart, Schumann and Clara Wieck.

Tickets will be sold at the door for $10; students are $5. A reception with the artist follows. For information, call (313) 884-6645.

True will also present a piano master class at 10 a.m. Wednesday, April 12, at the War Memorial. Admission is $10. Call (810) 645-5312.

Cinema League travels Europe

The Grosse Pointe Cinema League will present a 35mm slide presentation, "Historic Sites, Towns, Notable Monuments and Farms on the Back Roads of Western Europe," by Robert Goodman at 8 p.m. Monday, April 10, in the Fries Auditorium of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

The presentation will feature the Pyrenees Mountains, the Rhone delta and north (where Hannibal crossed the Alps), traverse the Lombardy into the Appenine Mountains to the oldest republic in Europe, explore the Dolomite Range of the Alps and Liechtenstein into lovely Switzerland and see castles and vineyards on the way to Luxembourg and Belgium.

Goodman, professor emeritus of geography, taught at Wayne State University for 36 years. He received a Fulbright award to establish graduate training at Karnatak University in southern India where he lived and taught for a year.

They love you, Conrad

The Parcels Middle School musical "Bye, Bye Birdie" will be performed at 7:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday April 6 and 7 in the Parcels Middle School Auditorium. The show is directed by Mary Jane Failla. Tom Pachera and John Donnellon. Tickets are $3 at the door.

Ham makes an easy Easter dinner

Along with pastel-colored eggs and baskets of goodies, Easter in America has always meant ham. Aside from upholding tradition, there are many reasons for making ham the centerpiece of your holiday table this year.

Ham is a food-lover's favorite. Its mildly sweet, smoky taste complements many other flavors. Perhaps because it is so tasty and versatile, many cooks (and would-be cooks) lose sight of ham's biggest asset: It's easy to prepare.

Most people think of holiday meal preparation as a complicated, day-long process, and maybe with the Thanksgiving bird that's true. But preparing a ham is a breeze. It's precooked so it just needs heating up. Even amateur chefs who might be intimidated by a large piece of meat can fix a ham.

And, as if taste and ease of preparation aren't enough, cooks and eaters alike may be surprised to find that ham is low in fat and calories.

Ham is a nutritious meat, with high nutrient density. Because it comes from one of the leanest pork cuts, the leg, ham is happily a lean meat choice, and it's full of essential B-vitamins and minerals. The great news is that a 3 oz. serving of extra lean ham has only 116 calories and 4.1 grams of fat.

Rules of Thumb

To ensure the perfect Easter dinner here are some simple tips for selecting, storing and preparing ham:

- When serving boneless ham, plan on four to five servings per pound. Count on two to three servings per pound with a bone-in ham. For the dollar-conscious cook, the boneless ham delivers superior value, and also offers hassle-free carving.
- Don't freeze a ham before

ELEGANT EATING

By Irene H. Burchard

you use it, refrigerate instead. Both bone-in and boneless hams, in their original packaging, will keep several weeks in the refrigerator.

- Virtually all hams on the market today are precooked, so they only need to be reheated to an internal temperature of 140 degrees for serving. An uncooked ham will be labeled "cook before eating" and requires an internal temperature of 160 degrees for doneness. If you don't have a meat thermometer, you can generally plan on cooking an uncooked ham 30 minutes per pound. For a precooked ham, just follow the directions on the label, and heat in a moderate (325-350 degree) oven.

- Refrigerate a ham within two hours of serving and you can enjoy the leftovers for up to five days.

- Unlike Thanksgiving, where preparation centers on the bird, the easy elegance of ham provides extra time for cooks to jazz up their Easter side dishes. Try familiar spring flavors and ingredients in new combinations. Give your menu a face lift with Dilled Peas and Potatoes Vinaigrette and Goat Cheese, Pepper and Bacon Tart. Try a delicious fruit chutney to complement your Easter ham.

Asparagus Spears with Citrus-Ginger Dip

3/4 c mayonnaise
3/4 c sour cream
1 T distilled vinegar
1 T orange juice
1 t grated orange zest
1 garlic clove, peeled and crushed
1 T Dijon style mustard
1 1/2 T grated fresh ginger root
1 t soy sauce

salt and pepper to taste
Snap tough ends off asparagus. Peel stalk, if desired. In a large skillet, bring about 1 inch of water to boiling. Add asparagus and simmer, uncovered, until barely tender, about 4 or 5 minutes. Drain and dunk in ice water until cold; drain, cover and chill until serving.

Meanwhile, combine well all remaining ingredients in medium mixing bowl.

Transfer to serving bowl, serve with asparagus spears or cover and chill until serving. Serves eight as an appetizer.

Smoked Ham with Cranberry Chutney

a Bowen and Dunham Production

Thursday, April 6, 7:30 p.m.
Friday, April 7, 8:00 p.m.
Saturday, April 8, 2:00 p.m., 8:00 p.m.

The year is 780 A.D. and the setting is the Holy Roman Empire. Through song, dance and spectacle, PIPPIN tells the story of King Charlemagne's eldest son, an intelligent, intense young man who is obsessed with the need to be completely fulfilled. Like many young people of today, this dissatisfaction leads Pippin on a search for his own unique identity and purpose in the world. Through his often spectacular and extraordinary adventures, we learn, as does Pippin, that "everything" that glitters is not gold. He discovers that his destiny need not lie in imitating the grandiose exploits of his conqueror Father, but in the happiness he has found with Catherine and Theo, the family that he has come to love.

lar." British Museum Cat was a popular cat named Mike who reigned at the gate of the British Museum for some twenty years, from 1909 to 1929. When he died, a 165-page obituary was published and poems were written in his memory. Sir Winston Churchill was an inveterate cat admirer; one of his last cat companions was Jock who was "also a frequent visitor at numerous wartime cabinet meetings held at the prime minister's residence. Churchill would personally take Jock to a safe place during the blitz in London. Jock refused to leave his owner's bedside during Churchill's final illness. But just hours before Churchill died, the cat suddenly left the house, as though he knew his owner would soon depart."

Felix the Cat, the first true animated film star, was based on Charlie Chaplin. Between 1921 and 1928, Felix starred in 150 silent cartoons, and he "eventually ended up on TV, and was the first still image broadcast on television in 1930."

Many authors were devoted cat-fans. In the case of Ernest Hemingway, when "he committed suicide in 1961, he left behind a reputation for award-winning writing, sons, and many cats." Today his home in Key West "is a museum and visitors can see descendants of those cats."

Since I have been owned and entertained by cats, I was particularly intrigued by some of the unusual breeds photographed and then described by Altman: for instance, those I was especially taken with were the Scottish Fold, "a cat breed, which arose from a spontaneous mutation, got its name from its 'folded' ears which curl tightly over its head."

All breeds are in this book, all with descriptions and many with lovely color photographs. Altman has performed a tremendous service in recounting all aspects of catdom; she has thoughtfully provided a Resources section which lists animal welfare societies throughout the country along with their addresses and telephone numbers.

Elizabeth P. Walker's Bibliography column runs every other week in this section.

The section on Intelligence informs us that, as if we did not already know it, "in general, cats possess an IQ far superior to that of dogs. The only animals allegedly smarter than cats are monkeys and chimpanzees, and primates are the only other animal proven to have the ability to learn by observing others."

Elderly cat lovers will be pleased and relieved to read about The Last Post, an establishment founded in 1982, a plush retirement community for cats located on 35 acres near Falls Village: "over 400 cats reside there... it is a non-profit organization with much of its expenses paid by cat owners who leave money to The Last Post to care for their cats upon their death."

South skaters are rewarded for finest season

By Chuck Klonke
Sports Editor

There were several reasons why Grosse Pointe South had its best hockey season ever this year.

Six of them are named John Graffius, Bill Starrs, Justin Braun, Josh Prues, Todd Dunlap and Terry Brennan.

Graffius, Starrs and Braun were first team selections on the coaches' Class A All-State team, while Prues, Dunlap and Brennan received honorable mention.

"The line of Starrs, Graffius and Brennan was the fastest in the league this year," said Blue Devils' coach Bob Bopp, who was named Michigan Metro Hockey League East coach of the year after guiding South to a first-place finish in the division.

"There wasn't a better defensive pair than Braun and Prues. And Dunlap was one of the best goalies in the state in a year when there were a lot of great goalies. I've never had three all-staters before, so these kids had to impress a lot of other coaches, too."

Graffius posted some impressive statistics — 22 goals and 23 assists to rank third on the team with 45 points — but according to Bopp, Graffius couldn't have cared less.

"John doesn't care about goals and assists," the coach said. "That's rare to find, but as long as we were winning, he didn't care how many goals he scored. I really enjoyed having him because he could have played for any number of teams."

In addition to his regular shift, Graffius was a fixture on South's power-play and penalty-killing units. He had several shorthanded goals and many of them came at crucial situations.

"John's natural position is center, but we put him at right wing on the line with Starrs and Brennan," Bopp said. "There wasn't a team in the league that could keep up with them."

Graffius received the South Coaches Award.

Starrs impressed the coaches with his work ethic.

"Bill's very talented, but he's also the hardest worker on the team," Bopp said. "Other coaches in the league have mentioned, 'What a competitor,' when they've talked about Starrs. He studies the game and it rubs off on the other players."

Starrs led South in scoring with 25 goals and 32 assists for 57 points.

These six Grosse Pointe South hockey players were named to the Class A All-State team selected by the Michigan High School Hockey Coaches Association. From left are John Graffius, Josh Prues, Todd Dunlap, Justin Braun, Bill Starrs and Terry Brennan. Graffius, Braun and Starrs were first team selections, while the other three received honorable mention.

Pair of Norsemen also honored at state level

The recent awards night for Grosse Pointe North's hockey team turned out to be a bitter-sweet occasion.

Several North players, including all-staters Kevin Kasiborski and Chuck Schervish, received post-season honors but the evening ended on a sad note as head coach Jeff Henchel announced his resignation.

Kasiborski was named to the Michigan High School Hockey Coaches Association All-State Academic team. The senior forward, who carries a 4.1 grade-point-average, earned a similar honor for football last fall.

Kasiborski also was picked by his teammates for the All-Norseman award in recognition of his effort and intensity throughout the season and his leadership on and off the ice.

Schervish received All-State honorable mention in voting by the coaches' association and he was also named to the Michigan Metro League East Division first team.

The senior goalie also was a unanimous selection for team Most Valuable Player for an unprecedented fourth season.

"Chuck has great character. He's the backbone of the team at times," Henchel told North's school newspaper during the season. "He'll stay in the net when he's getting bombarded with a hundred thousand shots. He's got great spirit and is a very strong leader."

"Ever since he started, he's had to be strong. Without him it would be a very tough year.

Blue Devils' pitching has depth

By Chuck Klonke
Sports Editor

It would seem logical that Grosse Pointe South baseball coach Dan Griesbaum would be worried about pitching after losing the hurlers who accounted for all but two of the Blue Devils' 20 victories in 1994.

But Griesbaum, who's starting his 12th season at the helm of South's baseball team, isn't concerned about his mound staff.

"I know it sounds strange after losing all but one of our pitchers from last year, but pitching could be our strength this season," said Griesbaum, whose team will open the season Saturday at home in a non-league doubleheader with Marysville.

The reason for Griesbaum's optimism is a group of five hurlers who played key roles on a 22-4 junior varsity squad, the top starter on last year's freshman team and Randy Vasser, the only pitcher with varsity experience.

Junior lefthander Joe Schmitt posted a 9-0 record on the JV team last year. He struck out 70 in 53 1/3 innings and had an ERA of 1.31.

Righthander Kevin Schroeder also pitched occasionally on the JV team, but was used more often as a catcher.

"He pitched a lot during the summer and we expect him to pitch a lot for us," Griesbaum said.

Vasser had a 2.0 record with a 3.75 ERA on the varsity last season, while sophomore Steve Gayman was 4-1 with a 1.14 ERA for the freshman squad. He had 48 strikeouts in 30 2/3 innings and has an excellent curve.

Mike Stines, who was 8-0 with a 3.07 ERA for the JVs, could crack the rotation, but Griesbaum would prefer to use him in relief.

"Stines has excellent control and we're looking for somebody to fill the role Karl Davids did for us last year," the coach said. "Davids made 11 relief appearances for us last year."

Other relievers could be a pair of lefthanders, Cory Schroeder and Chris Tiede.

"We'll use all seven pitchers," Griesbaum said.

South's catching is in good hands with Vasser (.258) and Kevin Schroeder, who has good power to go with his .444 average on the JV. Another catch-

South girls break record

Grosse Pointe South's girls track team made its first invitation to the Macomb County Indoor Championships a record-breaking one.

The Blue Devils took two seconds off a 1984 meet record in the two-mile relay when the team of Katy Lupo, Jonnie Vasse, Amy Zanglin and Aimee Vasse was clocked in 10:19.1.

An hour later, Lupo and Zanglin teamed with Gretchen Carter and Lisa McCurdy to win the mile relay in 4:22.7. That team came within two seconds of breaking an 11-year-old meet record.

Also placing for South were Becca Walter in the 60 high hurdles, Carter in the long jump and 300 dash, Katie Weed in the mile and Sandra Hammel in the 600.

Blackhawks win Squirt house title

The Blackhawks completed an exciting run through the Grosse Pointe Hockey Association Squirt division playoffs with a 4-1 victory over the Penguins in the championship game.

The victory gave the Blackhawks the first President's Cup, which is awarded to the Squirt playoff winner.

The Blackhawks jumped out to a 4-0 lead. Brendan Wells-Reid opened the scoring 53 seconds into the game, assisted by Jordy Owen. Bobby Colombo made it 2-0 on a breakaway at 7:13 of the first period. He was

Justin Brantley increased the Blackhawks' lead to three goals with a little more than a minute left in the first period with the first of his two tallies. Will Moran and Colombo assisted.

The Blackhawks controlled the opening period with a tenacious defensive effort. Aggressive forechecking by Justin Rock, Boomer Urisko, Andrew Werthmann and Joey Agacinski kept the puck in the Penguins' zone for most of the period. When the Penguins were able to break out of their end, Blackhawks defenseman Johnny Coleman, Phil Saffron, Jimmy O'Neill, Moran and Boccaccio stood strong and didn't allow a shot on goal.

Brantley made it 4-0 early in the second period, assisted by Sam Ciaramitaro and Coleman.

The Penguins' defense tightened in the second period and Eric Kelly, Kyle Karwowski, Matt Lampkin and Jeff Bogen, along with the fine goaltending of Troy Casey, kept the Blackhawks off the scoreboard the rest of the way.

The Penguins came alive offensively in the late stages of the game with heavy pressure from Perrin Fortune, John Ozog, Brian Donovan, Jimmy Roney, Brett Faber and Ian Elich.

Andy Carter finally broke up Blackhawks goalie Steve Stock's shutout bid when he scored from Stefan Knost and Mike Mueller with 21 seconds left in the game.

Stock finished the playoffs with a 1.13 goals-against average that included three shutouts.

Highlights

The Neighborhood Club recently crowned champions in its adult men's volleyball league.

Vita-Pac claimed its fifth championship by beating the Rec-Looses in the Thursday night playoffs behind the good spiking and hustle of Bob Habrowski and fine plays by Mike Bolton.

Jim Pellerito, who sponsors the club, said that concentration on fundamentals is a key to its success during its 12 seasons in the league.

"Our team pays attention to the little things," said player-manager Hank Chase.

The Boo Radleys came out of the losers bracket to beat Cal's Pizza in the double-elimination tournament for the Wednesday night league.

Excellent teamwork and the motivation provided by coach Teresa Pfaff were factors in the Boo Radleys' success in their second season in the league. Last fall they finished second in the most competitive division of the league.

Soccer coaches clinic

All community soccer groups are invited to a free youth soccer coaches clinic sponsored by the Neighborhood Club on Saturday, April 8, at Brownell Middle School.

The beginners session will be from 9 a.m. until noon and the advanced session will be from 1 to 4 p.m.

George Saady, a United States Soccer Federation D license certified referee with 10 years of youth coaching experience, will head the staff of instructors that includes Drago, Tom Caranicholas, Kathy Hill and Guido Regelbrugge.

For more information, call Kevin Zizio at the Neighborhood Club (885-4600).

Inline hockey

It's time to sign up for inline hockey at the Neighborhood Club for youngsters in kindergarten through eighth grade.

Games will be played on a portable rink in the club's parking lot. The season begins Saturday, May 6, with games on Saturday and Sunday afternoons through June 17.

Youngsters in kindergarten and first grade will participate in an instructional league with practice for one half hour, followed by a half-hour game. Players at all levels must provide their own equipment, including skates, stick, helmet, gloves and knee and elbow pads. A uniform shirt, team picture and participation award will be provided.

The cost for the program is $45 for kindergarten and first grade players and $55 for the older children. Players must have a current club membership, which may be purchased at registration.

Signup is through April 12 and may be done in person or by mail to the Neighborhood Club, 17150 Waterloo, Grosse Pointe, 48230. Call 885-4600 for more information.

Fastpitch softball

Registration is being accepted for girls fastpitch softball at the Neighborhood Club. Players may sign up for the Macomb County travel league's 12 and under or 14 and under divisions.

There will be 20 regular-season games in June and July, followed by playoffs.

The registration deadline is April 13. The cost of the program is $75 and participants must have a current club membership, which may be purchased at registration.

Signup may be done in person or by mail to the Neighborhood Club, 17140 Waterloo, Grosse Pointe, 48230.

The number of teams the Neighborhood Club can register in the travel league is limited so if more players register than can be accommodated, a selection process will take place.

For more information, call 885-4600.

South

player, but he made himself a great player," Bopp said. "He works just as hard in practice as he does in a game."

Starrs was working just as hard in the final minutes of South's regional championship game with Trenton, with the Blue Devils trailing 9-2, as he was in the first few minutes of the contest.

Starrs, who had a team-leading four hat tricks, was named South's most valuable player.

Braun capped a fine career with his best season, earning the Metro East best defenseman award.

"He's been our top left-handed defenseman all three years," Bopp said. "He can really handle the puck. He does a good job of getting the puck to our forwards. Justin is also a good shooter. He's not a real physical player, but he knows how to play in the neutral zone and in our end."

Braun scored seven goals and collected 15 assists. He figured in several more goals, but because South did such a good job of moving the puck, there were usually more than two people handling it after Braun made his clearing pass and only two assists are awarded.

Braun's value to the Blue Devils extended beyond his hockey skills.

"He did a tremendous leadership job on and off the ice," Bopp said.

Although Prues was considered more of a defensive defenseman, he actually had higher offensive statistics than Braun.

"Josh always joked with Justin that he had more points," Bopp said. "He was a steady player and rarely made a bad play."

Prues scored three goals and collected 22 assists.

"Those two worked so well together," the coach said. "I maintained all season that we had the best defensive pair in the state with Braun and Prues. They have great confidence in each other. They each feel the other one is a great player. They control the play when they're on the ice. They see the ice so well and do such a good job of moving the puck to the forwards. We didn't look for them to score, but they both had pretty good offensive numbers."

Dunlap was South's last line of defense and posted some impressive statistics while handling most of the Blue Devils' work in goal.

He recorded 18 of his career-total 41 victories this season and had a goals-against average of 2.00 in 1,035 minutes. Dunlap turned aside 89 percent of the shots he faced.

Dunlap played a little as a freshman at South, but began making an impact as a sophomore when he was voted the Blue Devils' most improved player. That progress continued last season.

"I've been coaching a lot of hockey since 1977 and I've never had a goalie whose teammates and coaches have as much confidence in as Todd," Bopp said. "I expect that after next season he'll be the best goalie in South's history."

Bopp was hard-pressed to come up with a part of Dunlap's game that stood out.

Grosse Pointe North's Kevin Kasiborski, top, was named to the Michigan High School Hockey Coaches Association All-State Academic team, while his Norseman teammate, Chuck Schervish, received honorable mention on the Class A All-State squad.

Pointe relay sets national mark

The Pointe Aquatics swim club broke a national record and set three state marks in the recent Michigan 12 and under short course championships.

Marcia Keat, Kammy Miller, Kristin Shelden and Melissa Jamerino combined to set a state and national record of 2:03.38 in the 10 and under girls 200-yard medley relay.

Jamerino also set a state record of 28.17 in the 50 butterfly and won the high-point trophy for the 10 and under girls division.

Miller set a state record of 1:14.64 in the 100 breaststroke and was third overall in the girls 10 and under group.

Jamerino took first in seven events. Her other wins came in the 50 freestyle (26.07), 100 freestyle (57.92), 200 freestyle (2:06.25), 100 backstroke (1:07.17), 100 individual medley (1:07.63) and 200 IM (2:22.3).

Miller's other first came in the 50 breaststroke (33.94). She was third in the 100 freestyle (1:03.58), 200 freestyle (2:13.81), 100 IM (1:10.42) and 200 IM (2:30.43) and fifth in the 50 freestyle (29.30).

Keat, who was fourth overall in the division, won the 50 backstroke in 31.76. She was second in the 50 breaststroke (37.59), 100 breaststroke (1:22.9) and 100 butterfly

(1:10.96), third in the 50 butterfly (31.85) and fourth in the 100 backstroke (1:12.62) and the 200 IM (2:38.15).

Shelden was sixth overall with a first place time of 1:09.14 in the 100 butterfly. She was second in the 50 butterfly (31.59); fifth in the 200 freestyle (2:19.93), 100 IM (1:15.24) and 200 IM (2:39.1); and ninth in the 100 freestyle (1:05.45).

Lindsay Rodin finished 10th overall with a fourth in the 100 butterfly (1:15.87), fifth in the 100 freestyle (1:04.26), sixth in the 50 freestyle (29.50), seventh in the 200 freestyle (2:23.49) and ninth in the 50 butterfly (33.42).

Others from Pointe Aquatics who placed in the girls 10 and under division were Stephanie Leaman, sixth in the 200 freestyle (2:22.2) and seventh in the 100 freestyle (1:07.75); Cassidy Miller, 10th in the 50 backstroke (35.15); Ashley Wenk, 13th in the 50 backstroke (36.10); and Lindsay Stefani, 15th in the 50 breaststroke (41.53).

The Pointe Aquatics 200 freestyle relay team of Jamerino, Keat, Shelden and Kammy Miller was first in 1:54.72 and the team of Wenk, Cassidy Miller, Leaman and Rodin was fourth in the same event (2:04.25).

The 200 medley relay team of Cassidy Miller, Stefani, Rodin and Wenk was fourth in 2:21.88.

Boys 10 and under

Brad Newton was 15th overall with a top performance of fifth place in the 200 freestyle (2:21.89). He was ninth in the 100 freestyle (1:05.46) and 100 butterfly (1:17.07), 11th in the 50 butterfly (34.36), 15th in the 100 IM (1:21.46) and 16th in the 100 backstroke (1:20.41).

Girls 11 and 12

Carly Piper was fifth in the 500 freestyle (5:33.03) and 12th in the 200 freestyle (2:09.25). Lauren Janutol took eighth in the 500 freestyle (5:34).

Boys 11 and 12

Jeffrey Zens was 10th in the 50 backstroke (30.74) and 16th in the 50 freestyle (27.34), while Scott Paavola was 11th in the 200 freestyle (2:07.61) and 12th in the 500 freestyle (5:41.32).

The 200 freestyle relay team of Scott Paavola, Nick Sinclair, Kevin Paavola and Zens was ninth in 1:52.39. The same four placed 10th in the 200 medley relay (2:08.07).

"He does everything so well it's hard to say there's one thing he does better than anything else," the coach said. "He was well-coached early in his career so he's fundamentally sound. He plays the angles well and doesn't leave many rebounds."

Bopp doesn't know how long Brennan will stay at South, but he treasures every game the sophomore center plays in a Blue Devils' uniform. Several top travel teams have expressed an interest in Brennan.

"He was the best 10th-grader in the state, but we never considered him a sophomore," Bopp said. "He's just a great, great player regardless of his age."

Brennan chalked up 24 goals and 23 assists, but the numbers alone aren't what impressed Bopp.

"He scores a lot of goals, but his passing is amazing," the coach said. "He always makes the pass at the right time and to the right spot. He's a lot like a Gretzky where he's thinking a couple of plays ahead all the time. He has excellent hockey sense, which is something you can't teach."

Baseball

ing candidate is Dan Gough, who hit .386 for the JV.

Ryan Miller, a .484 batter on the JV team, is the leading candidate to replace Chris Fox at first base. Fox led the Blue Devils with a .437 average. Schmitt, who batted .349 for the JVs, could play first when he isn't pitching, with Miller moving to the outfield.

Second and third base are still up for grabs between Tim O'Loughlin, Chris Nelson, Mike Gehrke and Charlie Beaupre. Gehrke and O'Loughlin were two of the top JV hitters last year with averages of .413 and .389, respectively.

Shortstop is in the capable hands of senior Brian Nugent, the only full-time returning starter.

"Brian has looked very good so far," Griesbaum said. "He's going to be the one we look to for senior leadership. He has good range at shortstop."

Nugent batted .318 last season with seven extra-base hits and 20 RBI. He also stole 10 bases.

Seniors Bill Starrs (.239) and Nate Kuhl (.333) saw some starting action in the outfield last year and they'll get the early nod to flank sophomore center fielder Terry Brennan, who batted .323 on the JV. Mike Shepard (.371 on the JV), Gayman, Schmitt and Miller could also play in the outfield.

"A lot of positions are still undecided," Griesbaum said. "We hope to use Easter week to get the lineup set for the league games. We'd like to settle on nine to 11 guys. They'll let me know who belongs

Griesbaum said the Blue Devils should hit for a little more power this season than they did a year ago when they depended on singles, defense and the pitching of Gene Agnone and Jay Harrington.

Although he has only five seniors on this year's team after graduating 12 in 1994, Griesbaum isn't calling this a rebuilding season.

"We're not thinking about next year," he said. "We'd like to achieve our goals of winning the league and getting to the final four in the state this season."

In Griesbaum's 11 seasons at the helm, South has finished lower than second in the league only once and won titles in 1987, 1988, 1992 and 1993.

North

He helps immensely. When he's not on the ice the team loses its confidence. I don't think we would be doing as well without him."

North also had several players earn Metro League honorable mention. They were senior forward David Ferguson, junior center Tony Bommarito and sophomore forward Troy Bergman.

Bergman also won the team's John Russell award for most goals, thanks to a four-goal effort in North's regional victory over Southgate Anderson.

Freshman defenseman Jim Raymond won the other team award, getting the nod as the most improved player.

During the program an emotional Henchel regretfully announced his resignation.

Henchel, who is a chemist, was recently promoted and the demands on his time won't allow him to continue to coach the team. He was an assistant coach for the Norsemen for eight seasons before taking over as head coach this year.

Henchel praised the squad for its effort and tenacious attitude and predicted that the 12 returning players would show vast improvement over this season's won-lost record.

PLEASE DON'T DELAY! SPAY or NEUTER YOUR PET TODAY!
An altered pet is a healthier and happier companion. Also, it spares you the grief and pain of having puppies and kittens destroyed when no homes can be found. Countless numbers of sweet, innocent little ones are euthanized every day in shelters across the country because a pet wasn't spayed or neutered. If we cut down on the numbers of unwanted litters being born, we will also cut down on the number of abandoned, lost and unwanted animals to destroy.

A lawn care primer to help make mowing easier

Finally, cutting the grass is as easy on man as it is on grass plants. Technology, take a bow. First sheep, cattle and buffalo served as our mowers. Then came people-powered, push-type reel mowers. Progress continued and gas-powered reel mowers appeared, followed by the gas-powered, single-blade rotary lawn mower. These were (and still are) noisy, smelly and fraught with complications like pollution, winterizing needs, etc.

This year, Ryobi has made mowing more civilized and practical by introducing the "Mulchinator" model BMP 2418, the only cordless, battery-powered, self-propelled mulching lawn mower on the market today. Easy to use, the Mulchinator starts with the push of a button, runs very quietly, requires no gas or oil, and recharges overnight. For the environmentally concerned homeowner, there are no smelly emissions to annoy the user or harm the troposphere with pollutants.

Of course, the basic function of any mower is to cut grass. The following are basic guidelines that will lead to a nice cut and a healthier lawn:

- Cut modestly — no more than one-third of a grass blade should be cut in one mower pass. A lawn grown excessively tall can be brought under control by a two-step mowing regimen. First, mow at the machine's highest setting. Second, mow again in a few days at one setting lower. This gradually removes excess blade length and conditions the plant for subsequent mowings.

- Cut high — a lawn cut high is better equipped to stay green and growing through periods of dry spells than a lawn cut low. Optimal height is 2 1/3 to 3 inches.

- Cut clean — keep a sharp blade on the mower at all times to ensure a clean, crisp cut. Dull blades tear grass and leave ragged edges that turn an unsightly brown.

- Cut dry — wet grass makes it easy for the operator to slip and difficult for the machine to cleanly cut and discharge clippings. For safety's sake, and the lawn's, wait until moisture from dew, irrigation and rainfall has dried.

- Cut often — mowing twice a week during heavy growth periods is easier on lawns than maintaining a rigid weekly schedule. Frequent mowing means less blade is cut and clippings, in return, will decompose more quickly.

Weekly mowing is OK during summer, when growth has naturally slowed.

- Let clippings lie — mulching mowers such as the Mulchinator series from Ryobi eliminate the need to bag clippings. Turf experts say grass clippings return so much nutrition to the soil that homeowners can skip one lawn feeding each year if clippings are left to decompose, rather than being bagged and carted off.

- Cut attentively — pay attention to what you're doing, nearby children and pets. Look out for rocks and other objects that could be thrown if caught under the mower deck.

Of course, lawn care is more than good mowing practices. Regular feeding is a must. Three feedings yearly are recommended, the most important being applied in November, which nourishes grass roots for spring.

Plenty of water is vital. Lawns need an average of one inch of water weekly. If rainfall isn't adequate, water heavily once a week or lightly several times a week. Turf experts aren't sure which of the two approaches is best.

What does seem sure is that smart cutting combined with prudent care methods will lead to a healthy, thick turf, and that condition isn't only a beautiful sight but an effective defense against drought, weeds, insects and disease.

Ryobi customer service fields more than 40,000 calls a month from consumers. If you have any questions about the Mulchinator or need to locate a dealer near you, call 1-800-525-1579.

HOME & GARDEN FEATURES

LAWN CARE MADE EASY — Save time, effort, and the environment when mowing the lawn by using a product such as Ryobi's battery-powered, rechargeable, self-propelled Mulchinator BMP 2418 lawn mower.

Home Tips

PLASTIC SQUEEZE BOTTLES — I have another use for plastic squeeze-type bottles that ketchup comes in.

I make my own salad dressings and they make great dispensers to use for this purpose. I have also used them for honey and syrups. Edna P., Metairie, La.

CHICKEN BROTH — Many of today's low-fat, heart-healthy cookbooks recommend using chicken broth instead of oil to saute foods. Rather than opening a can of chicken broth, using one or two tablespoons of broth for a recipe and storing the remainder in a very full refrigerator, I started freezing broth in ice-cube trays.

I keep a plastic bag of broth cubes in my freezer now. One or two cubes work well for preparing a wok full of vegetables or a pan full of turkey or chicken cutlets. Harriet M., Findlay, Ohio.

PLASTIC WRAP — The simplest way I have found to locate the end opening on plastic wrap is to just turn under about an inch of the edge. That way it stands out very well from the rest of the roll. Jamie C., Springfield, Va.

ADDRESS BOOK — I recently moved to a small city. As I met new friends, I kept their addresses and directions to their homes on a piece of paper which soon cluttered up the glove compartment of my car.

I bought an address book and wrote the directions across the page from the name and address. Now it's all organized and at my fingertips as soon as I get into the car. It sure beats getting out the map to hunt it up again.

I also put our favorite restaurants in it. Beatrice L., Willard, Mo.

Home remodeling easier with improved 'rating game'

Six out of every seven houses purchased today are existing homes, as opposed to newly constructed dwellings, reports the National Association of Home Builders. And when those existing homes don't quite meet the home buyer's expectations, the buyer is likely to remodel. And quickly. Most homeowners remodel within the first 18 months of occupancy.

Remodeling an existing home is easier today, thanks to the improved information available on many remodeling projects. For example, the window and patio door industry has established standard rating systems allowing "apples-to-apples" comparisons between competing products.

"Today's remodelers can make smarter, better informed decisions," said Patrick Bushey of Pella Window & Door Co., the local distributor of Pella windows and doors. "It used to be that each window manufacturer tested its products in different ways. That meant you couldn't accurately compare competing products. But now, the National Fenestration Rating Council's (NFRC) uniform rating system really makes the choice easier."

The NFRC rating system systematically evaluates a window or patio door's total unit U-value — the amount of heat lost through both the glass and the window frame. Since all NFRC testing is conducted the same way in controlled, monitored laboratories, NFRC ratings can be compared among multiple manufacturers. Remodelers should note that the NFRC system establishes a way for windows to be evaluated and rated — it does not set minimum performance standards for windows.

A window or patio door's U-Value measures the amount of heat lost through the glass and window frame.

"Homeowners who are comparison-shopping for windows and doors should ask the salesperson for the product's NFRC U-value. The salesperson should have a catalog of NFRC values to share. The lower the U-value, the more energy-efficient the entire window," Bushey said. "A good, energy-efficient U-value to shoot for is about 0.35 to 0.4 inches."

For free information about making window decisions, call 1-800-847-3552.

UFOs (Unwanted Flying Objects) in a lawn near you

By Ellen Henke

John Deere Lawn and Garden Expert

Seen any UFOs lately? I'm talking about "Unwanted Flying Objects" — branches, twigs, stones, pine cones, tools or toys that could be potential mowing and safety hazards. By taking a few extra minutes to survey your lawn and remove any UFOs, you could save an expensive trip to a dealership or repair shop or, worse yet, a visit to the doctor.

If twigs or leaves or other debris clog your mower's discharge chute, turn off your mower immediately. With a walk-behind mower, be sure to disconnect the spark plug wire to keep the engine from restarting if you accidentally turn the blade while examining the mowing chamber. With a riding mower, turn the ignition key to "off." In either case, don't touch hot engine or exhaust surfaces and carefully use a stick or tool to dislodge the debris. Never use your hands or feet to clear a clog!

Fill, level and cover any low spots or depressions in your lawn that could turn an ankle. Also, be sure to navigate safely on slopes. Mow across slopes in your yard if you're using a walk-behind mower. If you were to slip and fall, your mower would be less likely to roll on top of you. Do the opposite with a riding mower: Mow up and down slopes for greater stability.

Regardless of the terrain, always keep family members, especially children, far away from the area you're mowing to protect them from UFOs. ### DRAYTON'S DOLLY DINGLE DOORSTOP

One of the more popular illustrators of the early 20th century was Grace Drayton. Born as Grace Gebbie in 1876, her first drawings were published in the 1890s. She later gained fame as the creator of the Campbell's Soup kids in 1904 and a popular paper doll named Dolly Dingle in 1913.

She was married twice, to Theodore Widerseim and W. Heyward Drayton II. Her illustrations were marked with any one of her three surnames but she is best known as Grace Drayton.

Drayton illustrated many children's books, advertisements, magazine poems, stories and wrote a comic series called "The Pussycat Princess." Her round-eyed, full-faced characters were copied in many forms, including dolls, bookends and even iron doorstops.

Q. I have eight small plates with a pink and white design. On the back of the plate is the following: "Kent, Made in England by Swinnertons Ltd. Genuine hand engraving, acid and detergent resistant colours." I know the word detergent has been in use since 1832 but to me it has only been in popular use since the advent of the dishwasher. Can you help?

"detergent resistant colors" were first used about 1944. You probably have a rather recent version of an antique pink transfer design plate. Swinnertons Ltd. has been making dinnerware in England since 1906.

TIP: For a pollution-free rug cleaner, use cornstarch. Sprinkle on rugs or carpet, then vacuum.

The wide variety of outdoor furniture

The furniture that fills today's decks — and lanais, pool aprons, patios, sunrooms, breezeways, porches, gazebos, and even living rooms — is a far cry from the lawn furniture of yesteryear. This new generation of furniture is beautiful, stylish, and made to last — outdoors.

Casual furniture falls into a half-dozen categories, based on frame material: aluminum, resin, steel, wicker/rattan, wood, and the wrought and cast metals.

Aluminum is by far the most popular material. It doesn't rust. It's easy to move. It's durable. It comes in a broad range of prices. It requires little care. And it's available in a wide variety of styles.

Both aluminum and steel furniture are usually "powder-coated" (sealed in a plastic finish that is thick, glossy and durable) instead of painted.

Steel furniture has been popular since the 1940s. It is heavy, extremely durable, less expensive than many other frame materials and, if not properly prepared and coated by the manufacturer, and maintained by the owner, guaranteed to rust.

Reputable manufacturers have spent small fortunes developing finishes that inhibit rust. All you have to do is be meticulous about following their rather simple care instructions.

Resin furniture is the darling of outdoor furniture in Europe, where it commands upward of 90 percent of the casual furniture market. Resin is actually polypropylene — plastic to which chemicals have been added to enhance strength, whiteness, resistance to dirt and to the sun.

Resin can sell for $5.99 a chair or $2,000 for a set. The difference is not discernible to the naked eye.

Wicker is not a material; it's a method of weaving. Anything from sea grass to reeds to synthetic materials can be woven into patterns called wicker. Weather-resistant wicker is a special category that is tremendously popular today. It has been treated to allow constant outdoor use, and is sun-proof, rain-proof, snow-proof and chlorine-proof.

Wrought iron has been around since the 1920s, and is characterized by elegant, traditional design. It is actually steel that is hammered and bent (literally "wrought") to form graceful curves. Wrought aluminum, duplicating the grace and style of wrought iron, is lighter and easier to maintain.

Wrought aluminum marries the centuries old craft of handforging to the twentieth-century performance of aluminum. Introduced only a few seasons ago, it provides the traditional elegance of the wrought-iron look in a material that is lightweight and rust-proof. This relatively new furniture type uses solid bars of a special aluminum alloy, which are bent and welded in the manner of tubular aluminum.

Cast iron and cast aluminum are formed when molten metal is poured into molds. Cast pieces usually feature intricate, traditional designs that reflect eighteenth-century styling.

Wood furniture is available in pine, white oak, redwood, cypress, teak, mahogany, cedar, maple, birch and beech, as well as an array of exotic African hardwoods with names such as bubinga and ovengkol. Because the exotic woods, including teak, are often harvested from tropical rain forests, look for a seal of approval from Friends of the Earth, or certification that the wood was plantation-harvested.

For more information on casual furniture and the outdoor room, call 1-800-852-2144 for a free copy of Casual Decor, an 80-page guide to outdoor/indoor furnishings.

Master gardeners host Spring Plant Exchange

Bring garden plants and paraphernalia and plan to leave with plants from others' gardens at the Macomb County Spring Plant Exchange. Hours are 9 a.m. to noon Saturday, May 27, at the Macomb MSU Extension parking lot located at 21885 Dunham Road in Clinton Township. The event is sponsored by master gardeners of Macomb MSU Extension. Anyone may bring healthy plant material, preferably labeled with name and growing information for trade or just to share. No registration is necessary. The exchange will be rescheduled for the following Saturday in case of rain. For more information, call Sandra at (810) 469-6440.

UFOs (Unwanted Flying Objects) in a lawn near you

By Ellen Henke

John Deere Lawn and Garden Expert

Seen any UFOs lately? I'm talking about "Unwanted Flying Objects" — branches, twigs, stones, pine cones, tools or toys that could be potential mowing and safety hazards. By taking a few extra minutes to survey your lawn and remove any UFOs, you could save an expensive trip to a dealership or repair shop or, worse yet, a visit to the doctor.

If twig leaves or other debris clog your mower's discharge chute, turn off your mower immediately. With a walk-behind mower, be sure to disconnect the spark plug wire to keep the engine from restarting if you accidentally turn the blade while examining the mowing chamber. With a riding mower, turn the ignition key to "off." In either case, don't touch hot engine or exhaust surfaces and carefully use a stick or tool to dislodge the debris. Never use your hands or feet to clear a clog!

Fill, level and cover any low spots or depressions in your lawn that could turn an ankle. Also, be sure to navigate safely on slopes. Mow across slopes in your yard if you're using a walk-behind mower. If you were to slip and fall, your mower would be less likely to roll on top of you. Do the opposite with a riding mower: Mow up and down slopes for greater stability.

Hills too steep to mow safely shouldn't be mowed at all. Add a decorative ground cover or plant the area in native wildflowers. Steer clear,

too, of embankments and drop-offs.

Regardless of the terrain, always keep family members, especially children, far away from the area you're mowing to protect them from UFOs. Never take passengers on a riding mower — and never allow children to operate mowers. Be particularly careful when backing up with riding or walk-behind mowers.

So the next time your neighbors see you cleaning debris off the yard, tell them you're looking for UFOs. You may get a funny look, but remind yourself that safety, yours and your family's, comes first.

Here's a traditional wood picnic table you can build yourself

Western Wood Products Association

For outdoor dining, nothing suits the relaxed, informal mood of summer better than an old-fashioned picnic table. This traditionally-styled table, with its crossed legs and kid-resistant 2x6 top, is surprisingly easy to build with economical Western softwood lumber. Western lumber is an excellent choice for the picnic table as well as many other home improvement projects, both inside and out. Wood is not only attractive and easy to work with, it's also environmentally sensitive because it's the only building material that is perpetually renewable.

The table, built from standard-size 2x4 and 2x6 lumber, requires no special woodworking tools or skills. For long-lasting weather resistance, use a naturally durable wood such as cedar and cover it during inclement weather.

To assemble the legs, cut four lengths of 2x4 each measuring 36 inches. Lay the 2x4s flat and mark the location of a bolt hole in the center of each leg, 18 inches from the ends. Drill a 3/8-inch bolt hole in each leg. Connect two legs together, scissor fashion, using a 3/8-inch bolt with washers; tighten the nut with finger pressure only. Complete the second set of legs as described above.

Cut two 25-inch lengths of 2x6 for the rails.

To trim the legs to the correct angle, lay the X-shaped legs on a flat surface. Position the rails across the legs so the sides of the legs intersect the corners of the rails, as shown in Figure B. Make sure the rails are parallel, then mark cutting lines on the legs using the outside edges of the rails as guides. Cut as marked.

The rails are used to connect the legs to the table top. With the rails laying flat, cut a notch measuring 1 1/2 inches by seven inches in one end of each rail; at the other end, cut a notch measuring three inches by seven inches. (See Figure C.) Drill 3/8 inch bolt holes in the rails approximately two inches and four inches from each end. (See Figure C.) Temporarily position legs in the notches, then mark the exact location for the bolt holes in the tops of the legs. Drill matching 3/8-inch holes in the legs and attach them to the rails with bolts, washers and nuts.

For the table top, cut five 72-inch lengths of 2x6. Place the boards on a flat surface, best face down, and space them 1/4 inch apart with the ends even. With legs attached, position the rails six inches from each end, notches facing the inside. (See Figure D.) Pre-drill screw holes and, using 2 1/2-inch screws, attach the rails to the table top, two fasteners per plank.

Cut one 25-inch 2x4 for the center brace; position it between and parallel to the rails and attach with screws. (See Figure D.)

Stand the table on its legs, making sure legs are straight. To determine the proper length for the stretcher, measure the distance between the outside legs and cut a 2x4 to that length. Attach the stretcher to the legs with two screws at each end. (See Figure A.)

To preserve the natural look of unfinished wood, apply a clear water-repellent finish. For a longer-lasting finish, use a water-repelling semi-transparent stain.

For a free list of indoor and outdoor projects you can build with wood, write Western Wood Products Association, Dept. HI-195, 522 SW Fifth Ave., Suite 400 Portland, Oregon 97204-2122.

Household Help

Q. I recently had a new roof installed because I was afraid there might be some rotted wood under the shingles. The original roof was put on in the early 1950s (new construction) and the second roof, about 20 years later.

When the old shingles were removed, I was told that no rot was showing. I'm thinking of having my unfinished attic insulated with some type of insulation. However, the new roof shows a lot of nails protruding into the attic and I'm wondering if these nails will interfere with the insulation. The previous two roofs showed no nails coming through into the attic.

I'd like your opinion on what type of insulation I might use and whether these nails will interfere with the installation of the insulation.

A. It is of utmost importance to have your entire home insulated, including your unfinished attic. All house insulation is based on R (for resistance) factors. In your case, because you live in the northern region of the country, you will need to use a higher rate of fiberglass insulation. The R factor for your area is a minimum rating of R-19 and the maximum rating is R-57. Your local home improvement center can detail any information you may need.

It is also important for you to have the proper thickness recommended for your area. You mentioned that you would like to insulate your attic, so 6 inches of insulation will be adequate. The most common type used is foil-faced fiberglass insulation. One side is exposed and the other has an aluminum foil type covering. This kind is most popular in new construction. It is also considered the standard material for attics, crawl spaces and framed walls.

Regarding the protruding nails, you need not worry. The most logical reason I can think of as to why the roofing nails did not come through the attic before is because the proper length was used. But the nails that have come through your roof are not a problem or even an interference. As a matter of fact, the protruding nails will help the installation of the fiberglass because they will penetrate the foil covering and adhere.

Always insulate safely and be sure to wear the proper work gear. Also, wear a buttoned-up shirt and tape the cuffs for added protection.
