Mayor Robert Novitke, in response to public reaction, called for a special council meeting on Aug. 26.

"Everything was on the table Monday night," said Novitke. "We were considering doing away with parking meters, as well as rolling back parking rates to what they were before the increase. One of the reasons we waited until the 26th to hold the meeting was to see how the special parking moratorium was working out.'

On Aug. 5, the council passed a special parking moratorium at the behest of Mack merchants to see if the idea was feasible. Novitke also asked that all merchants and businesses along Mack in the Woods be polled, so that when the council made a decision, it would be an informed one.

"About 190 businesses said Novitke. "The council was only given raw numbers, and of those responses about 50 percent wanted to eliminate parking meters and 50 percent

Councilmember Bill Wilson said that he wanted to see more than just the raw numbers. He wanted to see the business people's comments.

We're looking at every solution," said Wilson. "I want to see those comments; it stands to reason that some of them might have ideas the council hasn't thought of — ideas that are worth checking out."

Councilmember Eric Steiner, chairman of the city council's finance committee, said whatever the council decides, eliminating meters or rolling back rates, the decision must be fiscally responsible.

Each councilmember has his own solution," said Steiner. "My concerns are over the costs associated with maintaining Mack, with cutting the grass along the median, with the cost of insuring city-owned parking lots. These all cost money, and if we eliminate parking meters, the money for these operations will have to come from the taxpayers, and I don't want that."

Farms man helps handicapped, seniors enjoy swimming pool

By Chip Chapman Staff Writer

Most of us take for granted things such as taking a dip in a pool or going for a boat ride. For people who are not ambulatory, such activities can be difficult, if not impossible.

Thanks to Farms resident Stephen Vartanian, more people can enjoy activities at the Pier Park.

He has donated a Swim Lift, a mechanical chair which lowers people into the water and, when they are done swimming, will lift them back up to the pool deck.

Before this, the guards would lift people into and out of the pool," said parks and recreation director Dick Huhn. "This lets people be more independent.

"Its wonderful," said one Farms woman. "Without it, many of us wouldn't be able to use the pool.' Vartanian also has donated a golf cart, which will enable people to ride from the front gate out to a boat or picnic area in the park.

"I am in a wheelchair," Vartanian said, "and I know people who are not ambulatory that need things like these.

The important thing is that people use them.

Although the pool is closed for the season, the park is still open for boating and picnics. If you need to use the golf cart, call the Farms parks and recreation department at (313) 343-2405 and let them know you are coming or tell the guard at the gate.

City to replace part of watermain

By Chip Chapman

As summer is coming to an end, a new project begins in

Starting Monday, Sept. 9, the City of Grosse Pointe will replace part of its 70-year-old water distribution system along Jefferson and Cadieux.

In August, the City council awarded the $986,000 contract to Troelsen Excavation Co., the lowest of six bidders.

"This will be a major improvement to our water system infrastructure," said City manager Tom Kressbach.

As a result of the project, water flow will be increased for both firefighting and peak demand requirements. There will be newer and more isolation valves added, as well as the replacement of old fire hydrants.

The first phase of construction entails replacing an 8inch main with a new 12-inch main along the south side of Jefferson, from Roosevelt to Cadieux.

At times, this part of the project will reduce Jefferson traffic to two lanes while connections are being made to mains on the intersecting streets.

When this phase is completed, near the end of November, second phase along Cadieux will begin. Starting at Kercheval and running toward Jefferson, 6-inch mains will be replaced with 12-inch mains.

Traffic on Cadieux may be temporarily closed, one block at a time, as a portion of the new main is laid in the street.

The contractor, city engineer and city staff will work with Bon Secours Hospital regarding necessary accommodations of emergency ambulance service and with residents who may be temporarily inconvenienced by the construction.

"We will be sending a separate notice to residents who will be the most affected by the project," said City administrative assistant Brian Vick.

The Grosse Pointe Farms water department continues its watermain flushing program on Monday, Sept. 9, in Zone 4, which runs from Fisher to Moross, between Charlevoix and Chalfonte, and also from Fisher to Carmel Lane, between Grosse Pointe Boulevard to Lake St. Clair.

Residents of Zone 4 will be gram by mail.

For more information, call the Farms water department at (313) 885-6600.

The Swim Lift, donated by Stephen Vartanian, allows more people to use the pool at the Pier Park.

Farms man helps handicapped, seniors enjoy swimming pool

By Chip Chapman Staff Writer

Most of us take for granted things such as taking a dip in a pool or going for a boat ride. For people who are not ambulatory, such activities can be difficult, if not impossible.

Thanks to Farms resident Stephen Vartanian, more people can enjoy activities at the Pier Park.

He has donated a Swim Lift, a mechanical chair which lowers people into the water and, when they are done swim-ming, will lift them back up to the pool deck. "Before this, the guards would lift people into and out of the pool," said parks and recreation director Dick Huhn. "This lets people be more independent."

"Its wonderful," said one Farms woman. "Without it, many of us wouldn't be able to use the pool."

Vartanian also has donated a golf cart, which will enable people to ride from the front gate out to a boat or picnic area in the park.

"I am in a wheelchair," Vartanian said, "and I know people who are not ambulatory that need things like these.

The important thing is that people use them."

Although the pool is closed for the season, the park is still open for boating and picnics. If you need to use the golf cart, call the Farms parks and recreation department at (313) 343-2405 and let them know you are coming or tell the guard at the gate.

City to replace part of watermain

By Chip Chapman Staff Writer

As summer is coming to an end, a new project begins in the City.

Starting Monday, Sept. 9, the City of Grosse Pointe will replace part of its 70-year-old water distribution system along Jefferson and Cadieux.

In August, the City council awarded the $986,000 contract to Troelsen Excavation Co., the lowest of six bidders.

"This will be a major improvement to our water sys-tem infrastructure," said City manager Tom Kressbach.

As a result of the project, water flow will be increased for both firefighting and peak demand requirements. There will be newer and more isolation valves added, as well as the replacement of old fire hydrants.

The first phase of construction entails replacing an 8inch main with a new 12-inch main along the south side of Jefferson, from Roosevelt to

At times, this part of the project will reduce Jefferson traffic to two lanes while connections are being made to mains on the intersecting streets.

When this phase is completed, near the end of November, the second phase along Cadieux will begin. Starting at Kercheval and running toward Jefferson, 6-inch mains will be replaced with 12-inch mains.

Traffic on Cadieux may be temporarily closed, one block at a time, as a portion of the new main is laid in the street.

The contractor, city engineer and city staff will work with Bon Secours Hospital regarding necessary accommodations of emergency ambulance service and with residents who may be temporarily inconvenienced by the construction.

"We will be sending a separate notice to residents who will be the most affected by the project," said City administrative assistant Brian Vick.

The Grosse Pointe Farms water department continues its watermain flushing program on Monday, Sept. 9, in Zone 4, which runs from Fisher to Moross, between Charlevoix and Chalfonte, and also from Fisher to Carmel Lane, between Grosse Pointe Boulevard to Lake St. Clair.

Residents of Zone 4 will be gram by mail.

For more information, call the Farms water department at (313) 885-6600.

Clinton seeks bridges into 21st century resident Clinton in winding up the 1996 Democratic National Convention Thursday night pledged to build bridges into the 21st century that will "meet our challenges, protect our basic values and prepare our people for the future.

In a speech that ran six minutes more than an hour, the president accepted his party's nomination for a second term and vowed to protect programs for children, the elderly and the environment from GOP budget-cutters.

In 1996, it was a Clinton convention all the way, even though the president started his campaign on the first three convention days by riding his "21st Century Express" through five states, including Michigan, that he hopes to carry.

Yet it was clear that the president's new moderate approach took precedence over the more liberal views of most congressional Democrats who would have preferred a more traditional Democratic view of the future.

Yet the liberals weren't overlooked in the convention. The Rev. Jesse Jackson and former New York Gov. Mario Cuomo and Hillary Clinton expressed liberal views that all three regard as part of the liberal traditions of the modern Democratic Party — but no longer are the dominating force.

In his own acceptance speech, the president himself, however, offered two new moderate proposals: a new capital-gains tax break for homeowners and tax incentives for businesses that create jobs for welfare recipients.

They were among the modest proposals for executive and legislative action that he has recommended in recent months, despite his agreement with the Republicans that the era of big government is over.

Yet it was ironical that Dick Morris, the political strategist seen as chiefly responsible for many of the more moderate ideas and themes in the president's acceptance speech, had suddenly resigned earlier in the day.

His departure came after The Star, a lurid tabloid newspaper, had revealed that Morris had been involved in a yearlong affair with a Washington prostitute and had discussed White House matters with her in private moments.

Washington news commentators saw the Morris departure as a big story and perhaps it was and is. Outside of the Washington Beltway, however, we suspect that the public will not pay much attention to the departure of an adviser who was not widely known or recognized except in political circles.

As the Democrats headed home, they were buoyed by the "bounce" that the Clinton-Gore ticket had begun to get from the Democratic convention. In several early polls, in fact, the president had recaptured his 20-point lead that had been sharply trimmed during the GOP convention.

So now the real campaign begins, with Clinton trying to become the first Democratic president since Franklin D. Roosevelt to be returned for a second

But Clinton already has made it clear that the Democrats no longer are the New Deal party of FDR but now are modern moderates fashioned by the president and his associates to fit into the more conservative mould of the 21st century.

Will it work for Clinton and the Democrats seeking to regain control of Congress? The campaign will supply the answers on Nov. 5, if not before.

Conventions useful but no fun

re national political party conventions doomed, despite the apparent success of the just completed GOP session in San Diego and the Democrats conclave in Chicago?

Several panel discussions led by modern historians and newspeople during dull moments at the two conventions cited the current uselessness of the conventions.

In addition, Tom Wicker, retired political writer for the New York Times, wrote a recent Sunday piece making the same

Wicker emphasized that the conventions lost their attractiveness to the general public when they became so choreographed that the public saw and heard only what the party managers wanted them to see.

That made them predictable and dull, promptly causing a sharp reduction in the amount of time allotted to their coverage by the TV and radio stations, and, to some extent, a reduction in space in the print media, too.

In the pre-TV days, which also predated the presidential primaries, the identities of the nominees for president and vice president often were not known until the conventions had begun - and sometimes not until the conventions' final davs.

But with the use of presidential primaries, each party's presidential choice now is known weeks, if not months, prior

And very often the presidential nominee also has made his vice presidential choice, too, by that time, as Bob Dole did on the eve of the opening of the 1996 GOP festivities when he selected Jack Kemp.

Yet most of the journalists and historians reviewing the future of conventions concluded that they still served a legitimate purpose — and we agree with them.

They felt that the conventions' major purpose now is to launch the fall campaign of the party's choices for president and vice president.

That certainly was true for both conventions this year. But the conclaves also served another major party purpose. They bound the delegates closer together, aroused new enthusiasm for the ticket, and thus gave both parties a good start on the fall campaign.

However, even hearings, discussions and votes on the platforms, while not getting too much attention these days, give the delegates something to do while they await the inevitable speeches by their leaders and their chosen presidential

Further testimony came from Sgt. Steve Berg of the community crime prevention unit, who emphasized that the city's major problem is the homicide rate, but that "most of those victims are targeted individuals" and the crime is "lifestyle relat-

Character education is not a trend, fad or curriculum to buy

By Clark Durant President,

state board of education Wow, did we strike a nerve.

Bible values are tools in plot to kill public schools" smacks one headline. "Character education . . . a stark necessity in a nation where kids run wild? or a move toward church-run public schools" begins a news account of last month's (state) school board meeting.

The state board of education started this conversation by discussing a resolution on character education.

It encourages but does not require Michigan public school boards, administrators and teachers to involve families and communities in different ways of promoting good character, citizenship and values in the schools.

Certain columnists and cartoonists notwithstanding, the board has received positive support from parents, teachers and other citizens.

The state school board raises the issue of character education because we have lost what used to be a common understanding: education is a moral undertaking.

As Theodore Roosevelt said, To educate in mind and not morals is to educate a menace to society." We are also losing sight of our uniquely American character and dividing ourselves into a bevy of Balkanized groups.

While many teachers valiantly work to promote good character in their classrooms, others teach (sometimes unwittingly) a moral relativism. Good citizenship, strong communities and excellent performance require of us all a common understanding of good character and our American idea.

Whenever the words virtue, morality, character, truth or even right and wrong are raised in public schools, there are those who ask, "So, whose values or whose truth do you want to teach in schools?

Are there no virtues upon which we as Americans living at the edge of the 21st century, in the most free and prosperous society in the history of humankind, can possibly agree? Have we forgotten that. as a people, we began our experiment in freedom recognizing certain self-evident truths?

Attributes of character which make freedom and a good life possible are integrity, wisdom, a sense of justice, courage, self-discipline, humility, a capacity to forgive and to be forgiven, to love the good and to avoid evil. Keep commitments. Learn from mistakes. Seek what is true. Do what is right. Reject envy. Seek to meet the needs of others. Take responsibility. Possess a discerning heart and a teachable spirit. Work hard. Pursue excellence.

Character education is not a trend, a fad, or a curriculum to buy. Character is primarily taught by example, foremost in the home; but moral teaching can result from reading good literature, which broadens our moral imagination and brings abstract principles to

This literature can come from many cultures and yes, even Abraham, Moses, Esther, Ruth and other stories from the Hebrew Bible can be read legally in a public school classroom to discuss the lives and moral teaching of many great men and women. On a cultural and political level, G. Mennen Williams, Michigan's longest-serving Democrat governor, observed in his first inaugural address in 1949 that the very foundation of our Western democracies is rooted in the teachings of Moses and Jesus. In Abraham Lincoln's short but poignant second inaugural address (delivered a few weeks before an assassin's bullet brought his life to an end), he suggests a profound cause of the Civil War and a framework for binding up the nation's wounds. He draws meaning from the Bible in Matthew's book twice, David once, and closes with the central idea of the first chapter of James' letter to the 12 tribes scattered among the nations.

Agree or disagree, as a matter of academic and political integrity to form thoughtful judgments, we need to explore these understandings, their sources, and then determine what, if any, relevance they have for us today in what we do and how we understand our own history, culture and moral foundations.

Religious liberty and tolerance of our great diversity and deepest differences are a cornerstone of the American idea. It makes America, as James Billington, the Librarian of Congress, observed, "a country that has historically added without subtracting."

Yet Billington urges us to explore more deeply the roots of our common and distinctive heritage so, paradoxically, we might better understand the resurgent cultural diversity throughout the world. "The bridges to other cultures will not be solid unless they begin with casements that are sunk deep into one's own native ground. And all the branches of our learning will die if they are cut off from their roots that lie deep in that ground."

Billington, like Gov. Williams and President Lincoln, challenges us to explore that deeper ground of our heritage and our knowl-

I invite all to join this discussion: in Lansing, Muskegon, Marquette, Detroit, across the state and at home, in the public square, in veteran's halls, in barber shops, on our playing fields, in schools, on radio talk shows and in print. Drop us a note with your thoughts. It is a conversation long overdue.

Headline story

Winston Hughes lost his really National cool Geographic baseball-type cap and because of it the son of Dan and Didi Hughes, of the Farms, had a tale to tell his third-grade classmates at St. Paul Catholic School.

OK, so he didn't lose it for very long: Winston was Boston with his family this past spring when wind his much-prized cap ("He wears it all the time," says his mom) and blew it into a busy street.

His uncle, David Thibideau, tried to catch it when suddenly a Boston police car appeared, siren wailing. The driver slammed on the brakes, the door opened, a uniformed arm snagged the hat and the car took off again.

Family members watched in disbelief as the cruiser then made a quick U-turn and stopped in front of them. "National Geographic. Looked important," said the officer who handed over the slightly battered headgear.

Dan Hughs later told the Vaughn, who originally gave Winston the cap.

As a result, the story and a great photo of Winston, plus cap, is in the September issue of National Geographic magazine and representatives visited his school to donate copies of the issue plus several atlases and geography software programs.

At this point, where this story is going to end is anyone's guess, but FYI's advice to Winston is: Hang on to your hat. Unless you're in Boston.

Southern hospitality

It was not your once upon a time storybook wedding. It was

We were invited to attend a wedding in July in Nashville. In the spirit of such events, the guest list consisted primarily of young friends of the bride and groom. Being close friends of the bride's parents, we were pleased to be included among the chosen few on their list. Acceptances were tendered and we flew to Nashville early one Friday last month.

The bride had chosen a recently restored hotel for her guests and the accommodations were extremely comfortable. In an effort to keep travel in the hot Tennessee climate to a minimum, the rehearsal dinner was held in a beautiful restaurant within the hotel. The setting exuded Southern charm. The mix of guests was eclectic.

The young couple were not fresh post teens. They had both enjoyed successful careers, had graduated from fine universities and been raised in similar comfortable surroundings. However, they were searching for something more and they found it in each other and in their church.

The rehearsal dinner began as an elegant affair, with the majority of guests dressed in black tie and enjoying each course of the meal, from salmon to the creme bruleé. A wonderful dance band provided background music as elegant Southern women bedecked in heirloom jewelry warmly welcomed their Northern friends.

Peppered among the tables of 10 were the friends of the young couple. They were mostly under 35 and all were members of the church. After dinner, the groom's parents toasted their son and his bride and guests were invited to say some words if they so wished. Without any urging, they seized the

What followed was an overwhelming expression of affection. One after another of the young men and women rose to acknowledge and to share loving tales of friendship. Like a human quilt of varying shapes, sizes and colors, they rose to address the honored couple. Some recited poetry, some sang beautiful love songs and played their own compositions in their tributes. At the end of each toast, the friends embraced. It was genuine and extremely moving to witness such an articulate outpouring of love. As I observed the people around me, it was interesting to attempt to evaluate the reactions of my generation. Of one thing I am certain, there is no way a feeling human being could have come away from that night and not have been touched in some way by what had transpired in that room, and their willingness to articulate.

Many gifts had been brought to their tables, were opened and shared with us. It was an intimacy rarely experienced on such a broad scale.

The wedding ceremony continued in much the same vein. As the guests settled into the pews, we were treated to joyful gospel music that became infectious as the most staid of guests were soon joining in the clapping and singing. This was followed by a magnificently sung operatic offering and exquisite chamber music all performed by friends of the bride

We enjoyed a beautiful reception in a lovely club festooned with wondrous displays of flowers in the family silver pieces. From beginning to end, we were the recipients of that hospitality indigenous to the South.

And although we were told many times how "special" and precious" we were to have come all that way for the wedding, when we heard our final "bless your heart" as we headed for the airport, we felt they truly meant it.

Books on what to eat and cult." how to exercise abound. But somehow many who follow a regimen of fitness find that they still don't feel good. Something is missing and that something we are told, is mental health.

Studies have been made that show there is a connection between the brain and the immune system. What you think can send messages to your immune system.

Sometimes it sends healing messages, sometimes messages that can cause disease. It all depends on us.

Health, we are told, is a balance of mind, body and spirit. Thinking positively, keeping in shape physically and putting trust in our government, our educational system, ourselves.

The importance of this interplay of the three areas of mind, body and spirit and their impact on total health was highlighted when an organization called OASIS (Older Adult Support Intervention) won the Michigan Project Independence Award in the area of mental health.

Their staff members, along with seven volunteers, provided services in the area of men-lal health and prevention #eatment and support in the Muskegon community. They felt that older people have different mental health needs than that of the wider community and should have services designed accordingly.

Marilyn Rewitzer, supervisor, believed that many older people are not comfortable walking into a traditional community mental health treatment center. For one thing they were raised during a time when being mentally being

CORROSIVE EFFECTS

Automobile exhaust systems wear out due to corrosion. To the casual observer, the primary culprits in this rusting process are rain, show, and/or nidity, as well as road salt used on the icy roads of northern states. While all these elements may play roles in the creation of external rusting, the greatest amount of corrosion occurs internally, mostly in the muffler. This rusting inside the ethaust system reaches operating temperatures, moisture condenses on the cool surfaces of the exhaust. Then, as the surfaces become hot, the moisture evaporates. This is why short trips that are not long enough in duration to get the exhaust system hot are more likely than long drives to create corrosion problems for the exhaust system.

If your exhaust system is sounding a bit loud, perhaps it's time to check it out for corrosive wear and tear which can reduce its effectiveness as well as provide a noisy announcement of your arrival. At RINKE TOYOTA, we meet our goals which is to satisfy you with the highest quality work available in the shortest time possible. Ask for our super price specials. Memories

Students in the Junior Red Cross at Pierce Junior High School in 1945 sent letters and parcels to children in the war-torn town of Coutances in the Normandy region of France.

The following summer, received an acknowledgement, below. The letter, dated July 5, 1946, read, "Accept these two photographs, one from our school after the battle, and the other from our new wooden school, which has taken the place of the one crushed by bombs. With these photographs there is a postcard from our cathedral, one of the most famous and fine, this historical church still rises among the ruins." The writer says his students would be happy to correspond with students at Pierce, "chiefly with those of you about 14 years old who learn our language." A bulletin board at Pierce, above, displayed the photographs sent from France.

This is the first installment in what will be an ongoing feature throughout the 1996-97 school year, which marks the 75th anniversary of the Grosse Pointe Public School System. If you have a personal computer and a modem, you can be instantaneously in touch with the rest of the comvirtual reality that promotes the concept of a 'global village'. You can correspond via e-mail to distant places at a much cheaper price than a long-distance telephone call.

The Internet is an information superhighway with various services that act as entrance ramps that can be leased or bought inexpensively. Physicians can search the tion and consult with other lyst. Many have jumped at the physicians. Anyone can look up or buy most any book. You can write a letter to your president or congressman, or directly to the editor of most newspapers

Just as truckers can talk back and forth on it, giving each other pertinent information, computer junkies can enter into conversations in virtual reality. Sometimes, these 'virtual' (not real) relationships can develop into real ones, and there is a society column edited by "Cupcake" (her handle) which documents relationships, marriages and children. These relationships, marriages and children are REAL.

I have heard of retired men, formerly bored and lonely, spending many hours each day meeting people and having "chats" on a variety of subjects. Some channels are earmarked for special interests, such as poetry and various medical conditions, others are for teenagers or senior citizens. Open channels are full of "thirty-somethings" looking for conversations on everything from drinking to religious talks.

Online channels are like cocktail parties, with people throwing quips at a rapid pace. Many of the conversations are "in" jokes about the ongoing problems or activities of people who have come to know each other via CB for years. If you are new in the group, you are called a "newbie" and after a while the conversation will be devoted to letting you in on the "rules." Different groups have different characteristics and

HAVE A PLEASANT TRY AT PERFECTION BRIDGE BY WOODY BOYD 春 🛡

Most begin our game with a compelling and resolute interest in attainment. Many gain it. Others just have fun. But when that fire has faded and your quickness and skills have waned, never consciously weaken to the temptation of sloppy play. For invoking this self-control, you will be everlastingly valued.

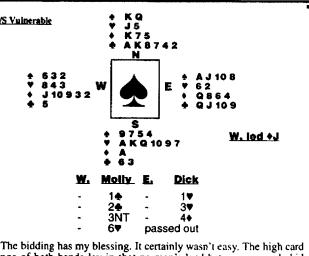

Two of Jack and Helen Chapin's friends from Arlington, Vt., Dick and Molly Falk, stayed with me this past June, to survey the pros play at the U.S. Open. Both have marvelous credentials for our game. Eons of years ago they taught, played and directed duplicate in our east side parlors of provocative play. Of course, those were the days when Stayman and Blackwood were the only bidding conventions known to man.

In the years between then and the sophisticated play of today the bringing up of their young ones, Richard, Karen and Susan, and a giant combine which kept selling the public on, "Progress Is Our Most Important Product" pruned their passion to improve. As Richard said, "to be worsted and given it your best is pardonable, but to be done so and know you're to blame is unacceptable. Molly and I just didn't have time." Jack Welch, his chairman, will tell you that next to collaring Molly it was the smartest decision Dick ever

After 35 years, Dick and Molly evacuated that demanding course of resourcement and chose instead to settle in the maple syrup land to the west of the White Mountains. In this poky plutocratic culture, the history of one's business, the alarm clock and the commute are only memories. Fishing and bridge and the front nine take precedent over everything else. Of course they're back at it and their weekly game in Arlington is so sought after it draws a bigger get-together than Vermont's fabled

Dick and Molly sent me this one from one of their recent meditations and it's what I would expect of their regenerated

The bidding has my blessing. It certainly wasn't easy. The high card range of both hands lay in that no man's land between an underbid and an overbid. The eventual result spurred by Dick's four diamond cue bid was reasonable.

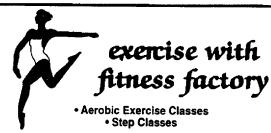

When declarer saw the lead and Molly's dummy, he could count one spade, six hearts, two diamonds and two club winners, but that was one short of his goal.

Certainly he could pick up a twelfth if the missing trumps and clubs broke 2-3 (a 68 percent probability), but if either were 4-1 (a 28 percent division), that required most careful surgeon's work. Note his

He won the diamond ace. Played a club to dummy's ace. Pitched a club on dummy's diamond king and ruffed a club high, uncovering the 4-1 break. A trump to dummy's jack and another small club ruffed high. At trick (7) and (8) he drew the missing trumps with his queen-10. Then at trick (9), a spade to dummy's king and east's ace, but he still had his trump nine to ruff east's diamond return. At trick (11), a spade to the queen and dummy's club king, eight to pitch his two losing spades.

Note our master goes set if he plays the ace, king of clubs prematurely or draws trumps before ruffing clubs. His play of a club on dummy's diamond king was a craftsman's knack and allowed for almost any bad break. When I told Jack Chapin about his Arlington neighbor's play, his comment was most complimentary. "God, that man's play does bridge honor!"

Battle against breast cancer to be priority in the Pointes

By Janice Hertel Special Writer

A little-known but alarming statistic has captured the attention of the health care community on the eastside:

Eastside women are 30 to 40 percent more likely to develop breast cancer than Michigan women in general and, even more troubling, 30 to 40 percent more are likely to die from breast cancer. Over the past five years, on average, one eastside woman has died from breast cancer every 16 days.

This statistic was noticed about a year ago, when representatives from six eastside cities came together to form a Community Health Status Advisory Board to review information and identify the highest priority opportunities to improve health status in the region.

The committee studied a tremendous amount of existing information on the causes of death and premature death, hospitalization, maternal and child health issues, communicable disease and injury.

In general, we found that most eastsiders were healthier than people in surrounding areas, with two troubling exceptions — breast cancer and teen/young adult suicide.

Further survey of individual concerns in our communities led us to select breast cancer as our primary target. Experts consulted on the subject believe that the explanation for the higher incidence of breast cancer on the eastside probably does not lie in the environment but rather in our socio-economic status. In other words, the fact that women here, on average, eat better and are better educated, may be putting them at higher risk for developing cancer. One theory is that women who are more educated often have delayed childbearing in order to go to college or establish a career.

Furthermore, well-nourished women have more menstrual cycles which repeatedly expose their body tissues to high levels of sex hormones and add to the risk factor. Poorer and less well-nourished women who may have shorter lifetime periods of fertility, and who may spend more of their lives pregnant have fewer menstrual cycles and often lower rates of breast cancer.

So, it seems, living well could increase your risk for breast cancer. The key is breast cancer awareness and detection early, when it is most curable.

The American Cancer Society (ACS) recommends that all women over age 40 have a mammogram at least every two years, and annually after age 50. In addition, it is vitally important that they also do a monthly Breast Self Exam, or BSE, and visit their obstetrician/gynecologist or other medical practitioner regularly for a thorough exam.

Unfortunately, the Wayne County Health Department estimates that the number of mammograms performed at the three local hospitals on eastside women is only about one-third what it should be.

The good news is that the ACS reports that if a breast cancer is diagnosed before it spreads, there is a 96 percent likelihood of survival.

Obviously, diagnosing breast cancer as early as posable is critically important. To help get this message out to the community, Grosse Pointe Cable will air a two-part program, "Breast Cancer on the Eastside." Watch your cable listings for specific dates and times.

In addition, the Wayne County Health Department and others involved in the advisory board are offering a speakers bureau to eastside organizations. Henry Ford Cottage Hospital, as well as Bon Secours and St. John hospitals, have all taken on the breast cancer "epidemic" as a focus of community programs and activities.

October is national Breast Cancer Awareness Month and, to highlight the importance of early detection, the WomanWise Network of Henry Ford Health System invites all women to an evening dinner symposium.

Laugh and learn through the wit, warmth and wisdom of Marcia Wallace on Wednesday, Oct. 2, at Assumption Cultural Center in St. Clair Shores.

You may remember Marcia as the irreverent, wisecracking receptionist on "The Bob Newhart Show," or as the voice of Bart Simpson's beleaguered fourthgrade teacher, Ms. Krabapple.

Today, however, she also plays the real-life role of a courageous and inspiring fighter against the breast cancer epidemic.

WomanWise Symposium '96 begins with an hors d'oeuvre reception from 5 to 6 p.m. Reservations are $25 a person and include dinner, speakers, informative displays and useful gifts to take home. For reservation information, call (313) 640-2425.

Also in October, Henry Ford Cottage Hospital WomanWise representatives will meet informally with women in the lingerie department on the second floor of Jacobson's Grosse Pointe store to encourage women to take charge of their own breast health. They will show a video on what to expect from a mammogram and on the proper technique for performing monthly BSEs. Free literature and BSE shower cards will be provided. The representatives staffing the display have had personal experience with breast cancer and are able to offer insight.

Janice Hertel is director of volunteer's community services at Henry Ford Cottage Hospital and a member of the Eastside Community Health Status Advisory Board.

The concept of church

By a member of the Christian Science Church

Today the church is commonly thought of as a place to worship God, a place where the family and community look for counseling, support, and recreation and a place to meet in good Christian fellowship.

In this respect our churches are fulfilling a very important role in society. As human thought progresses spiritually, however, it is natural that we embrace an expanded, more spiritual concept of

In the book of Revelation we are reminded: "He that hath an ear let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; To him that overcometh will I give to eat of the tree of life which is in the midst of the paradise of God." (Rev. 2:7)

What is the author of the book of Revelation talking about overcoming? What is meant by eating of "the tree of life which is in the midst of the paradise of God?

Isn't this a promise that, as we overcome the temptation to believe in a power apart from God, we will experience eternal life and awaken to our spiritual identity "in the image and likeness of God," as we are told in Genesis?

To the degree that we overcome the temptation to accept a strictly material basis of creation and embrace the spiritual, the limitations that this mistaken concept would impose begin to fall away and we begin to experience better health, greater harmony at home and in the workplace, companionship, abundance and more.

Christ Jesus said, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you." (Matt. 6:33). And this is eating of "the tree of life which is in the midst of the par-

In her book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Mary Baker Eddy, the discoverer of Christian Science, defines church as "The structure of Truth and Love; whatever rests upon and proceeds from divine Principle.

The church is that institution, which affords proof of its utility and is found elevating the race, rousing the dormant understanding from material beliefs to the apprehension of spiritual ideas and the demonstration of divine Science, thereby casting out devils, or error, and healing the sick." (pg. 583.)

This awakening from material beliefs to an apprehension or understanding of spiritual ideas is what Christ Jesus taught 2,000 years ago, what made possible the unparalleled healing success of the early Christian Church, and what is enabling Christians throughout the world to demonstrate many of those same wonders today. Is this not a new and expanded understanding or concept of the mission of church?

Thanks to the efforts of many generous donors, worshipers at Christ the King Lutheran Church in Grosse Pointe Woods will have the opportunity to be on hand when the church dedicates its new pipe organ, on Sunday, Sept. 8. It is replacing the old organ which needed releathering and pipe repair.

The church was able to purchase a 44-pipe organ from Queen's College in North Carolina, and with the help of the congregation complete installation is expected by spring of 1997.

At Sunday's dedication, Bruce Sininger, music director for the church, will perform Choral #3 by Franck and Bach's Fantasia and Fugue BWV 542, as well as selections by Dupre, Vierne, Rorem and Handel. The 35 voice choir will offer arrangements of traditional hymns accompanied by the Brass Choir. The celebration begins at 10:30 a.m.

It's time to plan your fall and winter trips

Aha! The kids are back in school. It is just about time to put the boat away. It is not time to head for Florida for the winter yet. We are heading into one of Michigan's prettiest seasons - autumn - and we begin to think of new travel possibilities.

Here are some fun options: As we all know, Detroit is a city full of car buffs. There is hardly a one of us who does not know a collector or two. So how about a trip just for Don't own one? Maybe you can borrow . . .

The tour runs Oct. 18-20 and my friend Gary Knowles from Milwaukee is at the helm. Up to 100 vehicles are expected to participate in this event which is being planned and coordinated by the Wisconsin Convertible Classic (WCC) and Wisconsin Sports Car & GT (WSCC) groups.

The tour will start with a reception and autumn harvest dinner on Friday night; Saturday the cars will cruise along colorful autumn trails that lead to important Frank Lloyd Wright sites followed by a country cookout. Sunday will include optional tours and the opportunities to play golf, swim or hike or relax in the spa at the Springs Resort in Spring Green, Wis.

The package for two people costs $399 including registration fee, all events, a two-room suite for two nights with a whirlpool bath and several Here's a different way to see California. This fall, Alaska Sightseeing/Cruise West will offer several short cruises called "The Best of Northern California — By Water" aboard its 84-passenger Spirit of Discovery.

These 3- and 4-day cruises offer visits to the wine country of both Sonoma and Napa valleys, the sprawling San Joachim and Sacramento River delta and historic Old Sacramento.

I might suggest combining one of these cruises with a few days in San Francisco. For more information, contact your travel agent or call (800) 426-7702.

If you have been thinking that this is the year you will go to Antarctica, this is when you should be nailing down your booking. If you are a hockey buff, then your season is about to begin. And if you like to follow teams on the road, you should check out a company called Roadtrips which specializes in putting together just about whatever kind of trip you can imagine that involves hockey.

You can opt for either a thoroughly planned, escorted trip or to be independent and go on your own. Either way, Roadtrips can make your arrangements, from rooms to tickets. There is going to be a lot of hoopla at the end of September down Orlando, Fla., way when Disney World celebrates its 25th anniversary. But the folks out there in California are doing plenty to jazz up Disneyland in the meantime.

The company has committed to a $1.4 billion expansion of The Disneyland Resort. which includes a new theme park (does this formula sound familiar?) built next to Disneyland. It will be called "Disney's California Adventure" (I thought that is what the original Disneyland was.) And this park will include three themed lands that focus on the beach, Hollywood-movie-making and the state's abundant natural resources. Huh? I guess we'll have to see it.

The S.S. Independence departs Honolulu on Saturday, Dec. 7, cruising around Pearl Harbor from approximately 8:30-10 a.m. on Sunday. Lectures focusing on the war in the Pacific and its impact on Hawaii will be presented by two noted authors. Retired Capt. Detroit Edison expands appliance repair plan

Detroit Edison customers can eliminate worries about paying for basic appliance repairs by joining the utility's appliance repair plan now available for the first time to all its southeastern Michigan customers.

The $9.99 per month package offers an appliance service contract that covers parts and labor for repairs due to normal mechanical failures of refrigerators; oil, gas or electric furnaces; and gas or electric water heaters and ranges.

Customers can sign a one-year contract for a limited time at the $9.99 monthly fee, a savings of nearly one dollar off the regular $10.95 per month price.

Other appliances can be included in the service contract for an additional $3.49 per month per appliance.

Additional appliances that can be covered include window or portable air conditioners, microwave ovens, chest or upright freezers, dishwashers and electric outdoor post lanterns.

The utility also offers other packages that will provide coverage for central air conditioners, washers and gas or electric dryers at low monthly fees.

"This plan gives customers the peace of mind that comes from knowing they won't face major, unanticipated repair charges." said Robert J. Buckler, Detroit Edison senior vice president for energy marketing and distribution. "It provides one number to call and someone they can trust when their appliances need repairs. Generally, one repair pays for the plan's annual cost."

The plan will cover selected parts for all listed appliances regardless of age or model and an unlimited number of repairs.

If repairs covered by the plan cannot be made because of age or lack of parts, the customer will receive up to $150 toward a new model.

Customers who do not make a claim may cancel at any time.

Detroit Edison introduced its appliance repair plan through a pilot program in Wayne and Macomb counties last year.

The plan offers a network of qualified, reliable service specialists who answer calls around the clock 365 days a year.

Participating customers will receive a toll-free hotline number to call when appliance repairs are needed.

Customers are billed monthly with their Detroit Edison statement.

For further information about Detroit Edison's appliance repair plan or to request an enrollment form, call 1-800-395-5582.

G.P. Board of Realtors to host Home Fair Sept. 11

It is time to mark your calendars for the Grosse Pointe Board of Realtors' Home Fair on Sept.

Come meet Appliance Doctor Joe Gagnon. He will be on hand from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. to answer any of your appliance questions, help solve problems you might have or simply share some of his tried and true helpful hints that really work.

For example: Did you know that if you pour a large jar of Tang Instant Breakfast Drink in your dishwasher it will break up any or did you know that white vinegar in your washing machine dissolves soap scum on the tub. Bring your best "Stump the Doctor" questions.

Gagnon can currently be heard on Saturday and Sunday afternoons from 4-6 p.m. on WJR radio. His best selling book, "First Aid" by the Appliance Doctor, is sold in all major bookstores.

This free event which will be held at the Assumption Cultural Center in St. Clair Shores, Sept. 11 from 1-7 p.m.

'Building green' does more than help the environment

A recent survey conducted by the Rocky Mountain Institute found that those living under a "green" roof that takes advantage of natural light feel better physically and are more productive in their work.

The survey found that not only does the effect of better lighting and other natural benefits add to productivity and well being, environmentally friendly purchase decisions also save on the utility hill

The consumer trend toward "green" products is not something that is catching United States manufacturers off guard.

Many companies have already established themselves as environmentally conscious companies.

"There is a definite trend toward environmentally friendly decisions, but that doesn't mean customers have to sacrifice traditional concerns, such as beauty and durability in the home," said Patrick Bushey of Pella Window & Door Co., the local representative of Pella Windows and Doors.

"Those thinking about remodeling or buying a new home have a number of environmentally sound alternatives to choose from," Bushey said. "Some of these alternatives, such as installing high-performance windows, are environmentally sound while still meeting the homeowner's basic criteria to look good, last long and reduce heating and cooling expenses."

Bushey adds that people building environmentally secure homes or home additions should carefully consider the building products they are selecting.

For example, wood windows are considered among the most energy-efficient types of windows because wood is an excellent insulator, Bushey said.

The natural benefits of wood include the fact that wood is 1,770 times more efficient as an insulator than aluminum, according to the Wood Products Promotional Council.

In addition to environmentally sound products, Bushey recommends selecting a contractor or architect who takes environmental issues, such as a window's energy efficiency, into consideration.

For free literature about making window decisions, call 1-800-847-3552 or visit Pella Corp. on the World Wide Web at http://www.pella.com.

Many of us cherish childhood memories of climbing trees.

We probably didn't stop to think then that we might have been putting our lives in jeopardy. Yet the reality is that trees that are not professionally maintained can become dangerous.

Take widowmakers, for example. These are broken or nearly broken tree limbs that are hanging over a high traffic area, such as a walkway, road or driveway.

"Widowmakers have maimed and killed those standing beneath them when the wind picked up, or a branch supporting them broke," said Peter Gerstenberger, director of safety and education for the National Arborist Association (NAA).

The NAA is the trade associa-

Q. My grandmother has a blue and white handkerchief or bandanna that is 11 by 12 inches. There are 16 pictures showing "the several stages of a Man's Life from the Cradle to the Coffin." What was it for?

A. You have a "child's instructional handkerchief." It was probably made in England about 1850. The handkerchiefs were popular gifts for children from 1850 to the 1880s. They were made in Europe and America.

The handkerchiefs pictured poems, stories, the alphabet, nursery rhymes, hymns and historic events. If your handkerchief is in good condition, it is worth over $150.

Q. I would like to know about a tin Jazzbo Jim toy. It is 11 inches high. When you wind it up, Jazzbo plays the banjo while standing on top of a small tin log cabin.

A. This is a well-known toy that was made by Unique Art Manufacturing Co., of Newark, N.J., in 1921. It is popular with collectors, and if it is in good condition, it sells for over $1,000.

tion for owners and operators of tree care companies.

Widowmakers can be found in back yards, along roadsides, in parks and anywhere large trees grow. Yet the first time most of us notice them is when it's too late and a tragedy occurs. There can be several victims of these tragedies when lawsuits are brought against owners of trees that cause injuries.

Widowmakers are just one among many dangerous tree conditions. Another is less obvious: A tree made top-heavy by root dam-

"If a tree's roots are severed, perhaps by construction, it can become unstable as its leaf mass continues to increase," Gerstenberger said. "Over time, reduced root support can send the tree crashing down onto your house or driveway."

A tree with a decided lean or severely imbalanced crown is likely to be hazardous.

To check if you might have a problem tree, draw an imaginary vertical line up from the base of the trunk.

The leafy crown should be growing more or less evenly all around that line.

"Fortunately, some trees give clues to future problems," Gerstenberger said. "For instance, if a tree has large branches attached with tight, V-shaped forks, you may want to consider having those branches removed or lightened."

Other warning signs of structural instability include cracks in the trunk or major limbs, hollow and decayed areas, or the presence of extensive dead wood.

Even a healthy and otherwise safe tree can become hazardous depending on where it grows, particularly a tree that grows close to electric power lines.

Someone who touches or climbs a tree while it's resting on a live power line can be electrocuted. If you're unsure as to a tree's safety, consult a professional arborist, who will identify and remove hazards.

You can find an NAA-member arborist close to you by calling the National Arborist Association at 1-800-733-2622, or by a ZIP code search on the NAA's Web Site: http://newww.com/org/naa.

Q. What can you tell me about crackers? Not the kind you eat. but the kind used for party favors when I was a child. The papercovered tube had a long tab. When you pulled the tab, there was a loud bang, the tube opened and toys and a paper hat could be retrieved. I have collected them for several years, but find most of my collection in England.

A. History says that in Paris in 1840, Tom Smith, a London baker, saw some sugared almonds wrapped in paper with a twist at each end. He started to make the same candy, and included a motto with each nut. He then started selling small gifts in the cracker packages. They did not sell well, so he added the hat and a pop. The cracker became a Christmas tradition in England.

When the idea migrated to the United States, it was transformed into favors for birthday and

Fourth of July parties. The crackers are still being made, and there are even authentic Victorian reproductions on the market. Modern crackers may hold small tools, golf tees, key rings, earrings, combs, tape measures, cards or tiny toys. Some of the Insurance companies spend billions of dollars a year filling claims for damaged goods.

While claims adjusters are familiar with the cost of structural repairs, they are a little more vulnerable when it comes to personal properly claims, unaware that many of these claims are for goods that are salvageable.

With the advent of water mitigation technology, it has become possible to restore or repair much of what was once considered damaged.

In fact, many times, these goods are repaired to 100 percent of their original state, for a fraction

Neatness counts — When serving corn on the cob, take a slice of bread, cut it into six squares.

Place a pat of butter (square) on each of the six pieces and place in the freezer on a paper plate.

When ready to serve corn, use the bread as a holder for the butter and smear the corn. Afterward, the bread can be either eaten or discarded as desired — no dripping or mess. Tobby N., Baldwin, N.Y.

Rug ingenuity — I had a bathroom rug set that included a lid cover I didn't use, but lacked a small rug that would fit between the sink and heating grate.

of the cost of replacement.

In order to restore goods to the point where you, the customer, will feel that the restored property is even better than replaced property, be sure your insurance company does the following when looking for a restoration contractor:

- 1. Can the contractor visualize the "big picture?"
- 2. Do they have water extraction capability, including pumps for deep water?

- 3. Do they use specialized diagnostic instruments?
- 4. Do they use proper drying equipment to dry the total affected environment and everything in it?
- 5. Do they have the capability to control possible biohazards?
- 6. Do they have experience with common hazardous materials such as asbestos and lead paint?
- uch as asbestos and lead paint?

 7. Do they have the ability to restore electronics?

- 8. Do they have the ability to restore documents?
- 9. Do they have confirmation testing ability?
- 10. Do they stand behind their work?

For additional information on choosing a water damage restoration contractor or to locate a contractor in your area, call ASCR International at 1-800-272-7012.

Home Tips

A friend removed the elastic from the lid cover. Voila! I now have a small rug that covers the bare spot. Jeannie T., Creve Coeur, Mo.

Nifty holder — I do lots of embroidery work and when I have a small piece of material to work with, I have devised an easy way to do it.

I use a metal ring from a canning jar and a rubber band to hold the material tightly against the ring. It works every time. Linda G.,

Columbus, Ohio

Shoulder pads — After removing pretty colorful shoulder pads, I coordinate them to match color schemes in my rooms.

Then I tack them on the wall behind each door as a cushion so the door knob will not hit the wall. It also adds a little decor to the room. Rita K., Omaha, Neb. Car ornament — Have you ever seen someone driving down the road with a purse or briefcase on top of the car?

To make sure this won't happen to you, whenever you need to set something down, place it on the windshield of the car, directly in front of the driver. Toni V., Hedgesville, W.Va.

Grosse Pointe Norths offense could be explosive

By Chuck Klonke

Sports Editor

You think the Lions' offense is going to be the toughest one in the metro Detroit area?

Don't forget the one coach Frank Sumbera has put together at Grosse Pointe North.

The Norsemen had one of the most potent offenses in the Macomb Area Conference last year and they might be even more explosive this season.

"We averaged 25 pointsper-game last year and maybe we'll be even better this year," Sumbera said. "We have a lot of experience on offense."

It begins with quarterback Steve Champine, who is a four-year starter.

"He looks real good so far," Sumbera said. "He's playing like the four-year starter he is. He's everything I expected of him when I made him the starter his freshman year.

"Steve's just bubbling with confidence this season. He's speaking out more, which he didn't do last year. He and (Troy) Bergman have become very vocal leaders. In our scrimmage against Bishop Gallagher, Champine looked real smooth. Every pass he threw was right on the money."

Champine completed 60 of 144 passes last season for 914 yards. He's also quick enough to run the option effectively.

The backup quarterback this is sophomore Brian Kasiborski. Sumbera wants him to get practice experience with the varsity.

If Champine decides to hand off the football, he has some excellent choices.

Leonard Harris rushed for 998 yards in 115 carries in 1995 and Sumbera said the senior tailback looks even stronger this season. That strength, coupled with 4.6 speed in the 40, makes Harris a big-play threat every time he touches the football.

When Harris was hurt last season and missed some games, sophomore Nick Aubrey was called up from the junior varsity and the running game never over Fraser.

Michael Turner has moved from linebacker to fullback to replace league MVP Dan Shefferly. Turner is a solid 6-feet and 230 pounds.

"He's real exciting at fullback," Sumbera said. "He's a lot like Shefferly only a little faster."

If Champine decides to throw the ball he has some excellent tar-

Frank Sumbera IV is in his third season on the varsity and is a sure-handed receiver with excellent speed. Vince Meli, who is even quicker than Sumbera, does the 40-yard dash in 4.65 and stands 6-2 1/2. Last year's backup quarterback, Joe Ellis, has been moved to receiver.

"Joe's a tree now," coach Sumbera said. "He's 6-4 and 180. He has good speed and great hands."

The tight end position will be manned by Jim Simon and Chad Cooper. Simon is a 6-footer, while Cooper stands 6-2 1/2 and weighs 220.

The offensive line has two returning starters in right tackle Scott Vandenberghe (6-2, 240) and right guard Bergman (6-3, 220).

The three newcomers are center Steve Dube (6-1, 210), left tackle Ryan Stevenson (6-1, 220) and left guard Jeff Thibodeau (5-11, 190).

Sumbera is toying with the idea of changing that lineup, however. Jason Ramberger (6-1, 220) might replace Stevenson at tackle, with Stevenson shifting to guard and Thibodeau moving to linebacker.

"Ramberger has looked good and he'll play somewhere," the coach said.

The defense isn't quite as experienced as the offense, but it should still be solid. The ends will be Bergman and sophomore John Trupiano (6-0, 215).

Mike Benedettini (5-11 1/2, 240) returns at one of the defensive tackles, while Nick Fuga, who was a backup in both lines last year, takes over at the other tackle. Fuga is 5-11 and 280.

Another defensive line candidate is Mike Mancinelli, who didn't play last year, but is back for his senior season at 6-2 and 195 pounds.

The inside linebackers are Phil Cataldo and Jerry Cardani, while Chris Morkut and Steve Bernhardt are the starting outside linebackers. Bernhardt was the No. 3 linebacker last season and cracked the starting lineup a couple of times.

Returning starter Mike Ciaramitaro anchors a solid secondary from his halfback position. Sumbera hasn't decided on how the rest of the secondary will shape up. Gary Bordato has been playing halfback with Champine at safety. But he could use Aubrey at halfback and either Ellis or Bordato at safety.

The coach isn't real keen on using his quarterback as a two-way player.

"I've never had my quarterback play on defense, but I promised Champine I'd let him play safety when he was a senior," Sumbera said. "Now that time is here. You should see him play safety. He really hits people."

Another solid hitter on defense is Nick Goerke, who was hurt much of last year but packs a lot of wallop in his 5-7, 150-pound frame.

Champine again will handle the kicking chores. He made 26 of 28 extra-point attempts last year and had a punting average of 32 yards-per-kick.

The MAC Blue Division again promises to be a tough one with Fraser, North and Warren-Mott the pre-season favorites.

"Cousino has their former coach (Pat McAleer) back and I'm sure they'll be improved," Sumbera said. "There's some good teams in our league and we open with some tough non-leaguers in Anchor Bay, Port Huron Northern and Ford. I've heard people say Ford might be the best team in the (MAC) Red."

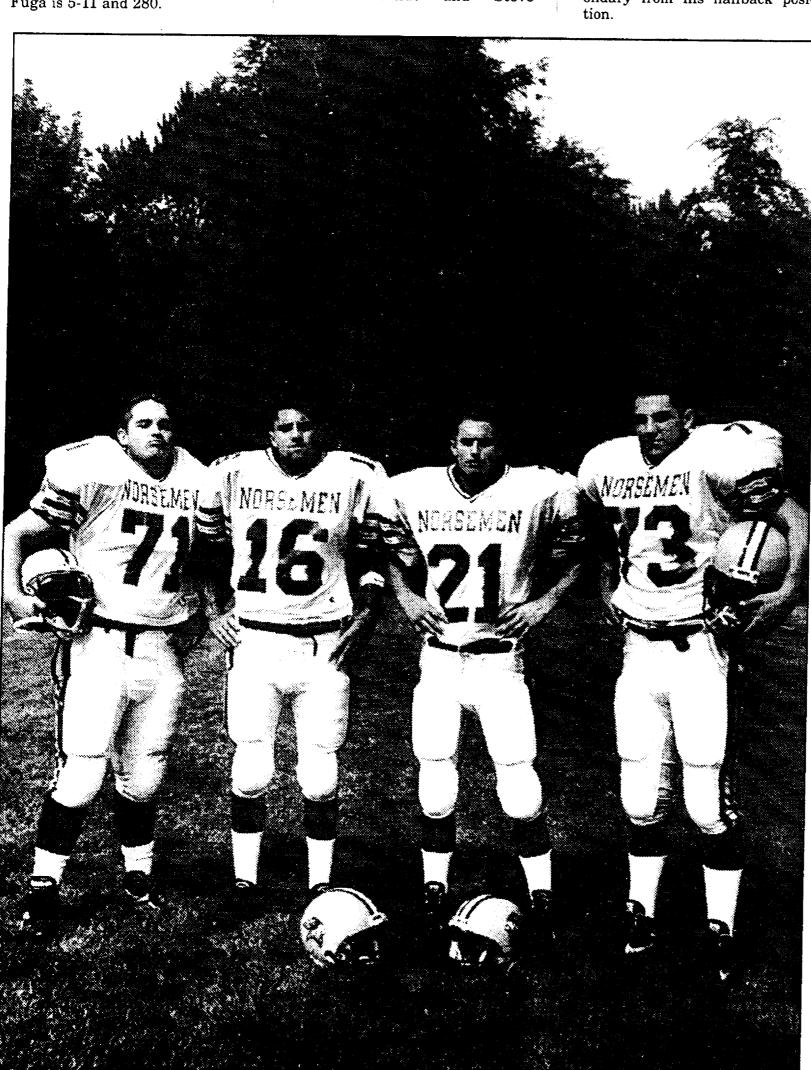

Dream job for North's Sumbera

Grosse Pointe North football coach Frank Sumbera will be head coach of the East squad in next summer's high school all-star football game.

"That's quite an honor," Sumbera said. "I'm looking forward to it."

One of the things he likes best is that he'll be able to take one of his coaches with him to the game in East Lansing.

"I'm planning to take Nick Thompson," Sumbera said. "He's coached 22 years in the (Detroit) PSL before coming to us. It'll be nice for him, too."

Grosse Pointe North's four football captains have several seasons of experience and success in the program. From left are Mike Benedettini, Steve Champine, Michael Claramitaro and Typy Bergman.

Blue Devils getting that winning attitude in '96

By Chuck Klonke Sports Editor

Mike McLeod is going to have to start getting up earlier in the morning if he's going to beat his Grosse Pointe South football players to practice.

"I usually get to school at 7 a.m. for an 8 o'clock practice, but this year I've been getting here at 7 and there have been kids waiting for me," McLeod said.

"That's how the attitude has changed in the four years that I've been here. My first year there was a handful of players with a great football attitude. Each year it expanded and now it's almost the whole team with that attitude."

That — and some talented athletes — is what McLeod is counting on to get the Blue Devils on the winning side of the ledger for the first time since he arrived on the scene.

"The kids who've been in our weight program for four years are reaping the benefits of it," McLeod said. "Ryan Ermanni and Chris Campbell are lifting 590 (pounds), Dave Jennings is at 500 and Ben Reynolds, who weighs about 185, is lifting 460. At our scrimmage last week, you could pick out the kids who've been lifting."

South's offensive line is built around the 6-foot-4. 296-pound Jennings, who'll play left guard. He's the only returning starter in the line and is a good one.

"I thought he was a sure MAC (Mid-American Conference) player, but he's getting letters from nearly all of the Big Ten schools," McLeod said.

Jennings is a three-year varsity starter for the Blue Devils.

The strong side tackle is 6-6, 306-pound Al Missant, while Thatcher Sloan, a 6-2, 245-pound transfer from Derian, Conn. The 6-2, 245-pound Campbell, a starter in the defensive line last year, gets the nod at right guard. The center is Andrew Kotsis, a 5-10, 200-pounder.

"We're not small up front this year," McLeod said. "We might not have a lot of experience, but people aren't going to push us around. In our scrimmage we moved the ball well."

Grosse Pointe South football coach Mike McLeod keeps a watchful eye on his players while they go through a blocking drill during one of the Blue Devils' early practice sessions. South's attitude has been one of the things McLeod has been happiest about so far this season and he's hoping it will be a factor in the Blue Devils climbing above .500 for the first time in his four years as head coach.

"That winning attitude has expanded each year with each player.

Burns and David Bilbrey. Starting linebackers Ben Reynolds and Zack Meyers could also play in the offensive line.

South is extremely deep in the backfield. Junior Matt Moran and seniors Josh Lorence and Ryan Ermanni are the tailbacks.

"Each of them brings a little different talent to the table," McLeod said. "Ermanni weighs 205 and he can also play fullback. He'll be on the field some place. Lorence is the fastest of the three and Moran is just a tough kid."

Fullback is solid too, with Ermanni, sophomore Jason Lorence and Andy Beaupre battling for playing time.

Kyle McCartney and Josh Nyenhuis return to the receiving corps, where they're joined by Steve Gayman, Dave Kazma and Brian Mack. Tight end is wide open between Bill Lerner and Nick Arrigo. Arrigo is also the backup quarterback.

Sophomore Mike Kaselitz has won the starting quarterback job and McLeod is looking forward to watching his development the next three seasons.

"He started on the JV as a freshman," the coach said. "He has a good arm, he's between 6-3 and 6-4 and he's been a great leader so far. Sometimes that's tough for a sophomore."

South will continue to use several defensive linemen in hopes of keeping fresh players in the game.

"We'll probably play eight guys in the defensive line and we consider them all starters," McLeod

The group consists of Felipe Torres, Lerner, Bilbrey, Adam Gorczyca, Vandeweghe, Koenig, Jennings and Sloan.

Reynolds, Meyers and Jason Lorence are the linebackers, while Ermanni is a fixture at strong safety. The free safety candidates are Pat Howe and Beaupre, while Gayman and McCartney will probably share time at one cornerback spot, while Josh Lorence and Moran will man the other.

McCartney returns as the punter, while Paul Yeskey, Greg Peppler and David DeGutis battle for the place kicking job.

South continues in the White Division of the Macomb Area Conference and McLeod sees L'Anse Creuse North as the team to beat.

Football's a family affair in the Missant household

There's going to be a Missant on every one of Grosse Pointe South's football teams this fall.

Albert III is a senior on the varsity squad. Charles is a sophomore playing on the junior varsity and James is a member of the freshman team.

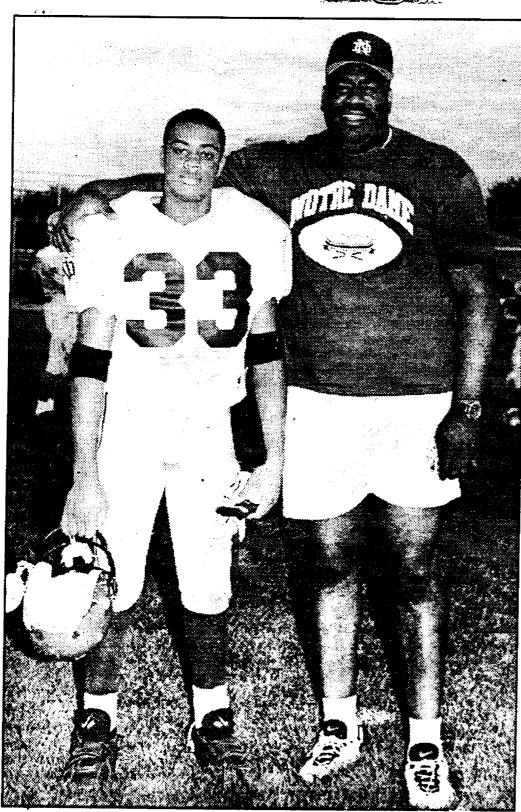

That's creating a lot of work for their mom, Robin.

"I'm going through a lot of Simple Green (detergent) to keep their equipment clean," she said with a laugh.

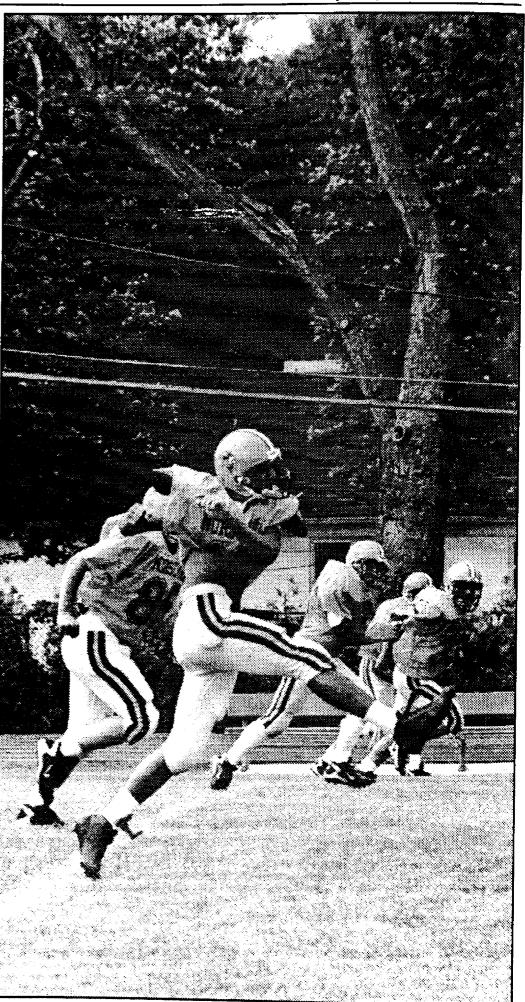

The three Missant boys are following in the footsteps of their father Albert II, a 1969 South grad, who played on the Blue Devils' football team.

Albert III, a 6-foot-6, 306-pounder, is going to be one of the Blue Devils' starting offensive linemen this season.

Former Detroit Lions defensive end William Gay is a proud father these days when he watches his son Ruben, a sophomore safety and wide receiver on the Notre Dame football team.

Knights to have JV squad

University Liggett School will have a junior varsity football team for the first time in several seasons.

"We have 13 freshmen coming in from the middle school program and we plan to use 11 of them on the JV team," said head coach Gary Hills.

"It'll be a good step for them. Some of them aren't ready for the varsity yet and I don't want to do anything that could get those kids hurt. And this will allow them to get good experience because they'll be playing nearly every down."

The Knights will play a limited JV schedule this year because many other Metro Conference schools don't have enough players to field varsity and junior varsity squads.

"We're getting more kids into our program each year so we'll have more of them playing JV in the future," Hills said.

University Liggett is through building character

By Chuck Klonke Sports Editor

Gary Hills and his University Liggett School football players have been told that losing builds character and they don't want to hear it anymore.

"Our kids have character," Hills said. "They're all good students. They have good manners. They're just good kids. But they're tired of losing.

"We've said, 'let's go out and do the things you have to do to win football games.' That's hit people. I want these kids to be polite and well-mannered off the field, but when they get between the white lines I want them doing everything within the rules to win."

ULS, which had been the doormat of the Metro Conference for several seasons, earned the respect of its opponents for its hardnosed play in Hills' first season as coach last year.

Now the Knights want to go one step farther.

"We'll still be the youngest team in the league," Hills said. "But we've matured earlier than a lot of people think. They're more confident now. We have to keep getting them to believe that they belong on that field, no matter who they're playing. I don't see any reason why we can't win more games than we lose this year."

Off-season workouts have improved the ULS players.

"We had a group of 11 players who lifted diligently throughout the off-season," Hills said. "We also played in a passing league at the University of Toledo and went to camp at Eastern Michigan. We were the talk of the camp at Toledo. We could throw the ball and our line learned some good techniques. We came out of the camp with a passing offense so all we had to do now was put in our running offense.

"I know it's a backward way of doing things, but we'll throw to set up our running game."

One of the closest battles on the ULS team is at quarterback where last year's starter, Justin Macksoud, is being challenged by sophomore A.J. Stachecki.

"It's definitely the most competitive position on the team," Hills said. "I think we have the two best quarterbacks in the league. Whichever one doesn't start for us could probably start for any other team in the conference. We've split the snaps about 50-50 in practice and we'll make the decision on who moves the football with the fewest mistakes in our scrimmage."

ULS should have an excellent ground game with senior Jeff Kenzie and junior Kevin Espy. Kenzie is playing football for the first time since middle school and he looks like he's never been away from the game.

"He's like a gift," Hills said. "He's a great kid. He won't ever give up. He's been a battler on the tennis court and he brings that same attitude to the football field."

Hills expects Kenzie's blocking to help Espy's performance.

"If Kevin's healthy for nine games he can be all-everything," the coach said. "He's heavier and no one can catch him. I think he came back this year with another gear. And with Kenzie blocking for him, he can be twice the player he was last year."

Kyle Denham is a 6-foot-3 tight end who was one of the most impressive players in the Toledo camp. The wide receivers are freshman Wharf Hawasli, Will Watson and Brian Bruenton.

"They're all 6-2 or better," Hills said. "I've told our quarterbacks I don't want to see them throw anything lower than eight feet. These guys all have the ability to go up and catch the ball in traffic."

The offensive line is young but experienced. Junior center Shaun Dillon was pressed into service last year when Jason Capen contracted mono and played the last five games. His development allowed Hills to move Capen to one of the guard positions.

"I told Jason that he'd probably never play the same position two years in a row and he wouldn't play the same position in college that he did in high school," Hills said.

Renard Morey-Greer, like Capen a co-captain, is the other starting guard.

The tackles will be junior Bill Tringale, a three-year starter, and freshman Anthony Legree. Legree steps in for C.R. Moultry, who might miss the season with a knee injury he suffered during a summer basketball camp at Central Michigan.

"We had Legree running with the second team until he got into pads. Then he took on a new look," Hills said. "He's such an intense kid and his technique is outstanding. He graded 85 percent in our first scrimmage."

The Knights won't scare opponents with their size on defense, but they'll confuse them with their agility.

"Look for us to be physical and tough," Hills said. "We're small, but Alabama quick. We'll play a 5-2 defense with a lot of movement."

See ULS, page 8

Denham and Capen are the ends and sophomore Jimmy Wood and Kenzie are at the tackles. Wood is a second-year starter and one of the hardest hitters on the team at 5-9 and 180.

Jason Cooper is a short, quick nose tackle who can be tough to block.

Morey-Greer and Jeff Mehr are the linebackers. Mehr is a junior who hasn't played football since eighth grade.

"He's another find for us, just like Kenzie," Hills said. "Jeff has a strong upper body and loves to

"We're putting more emphasis on the kicking game," Hills said.

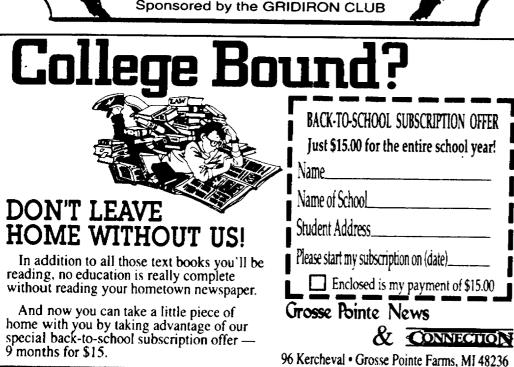

"We're going to put our best athletes on the special teams and try to make the big plays."

"The guys really rose to the occasion last season, especially the seniors," head coach Ron Paschal said. "They wanted to end their high school careers with a winning record."

The Shorians' seven victories, however, weren't enough for them to earn a state playoff position.

"We missed earning a playoff berth by percentage points," Paschal said. "We want to repeat last year's results this season and let people know it wasn't a fluke."

The Shorians have added a new

"We did play a night home game last season under portable lights (Lake Shore beat St. Clair 33-26 in triple overtime)," Paschal said. "The booster club helped raise the money needed to install the lights and the kids are excited about playing home night games."

Lake Shore's first home game of the season is slated for 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 13, against longtime rival South Lake.

"I'm happy with our skill position players," Paschal said. "They have varsity experience. We don't have the fastest players, but they're smart ones."

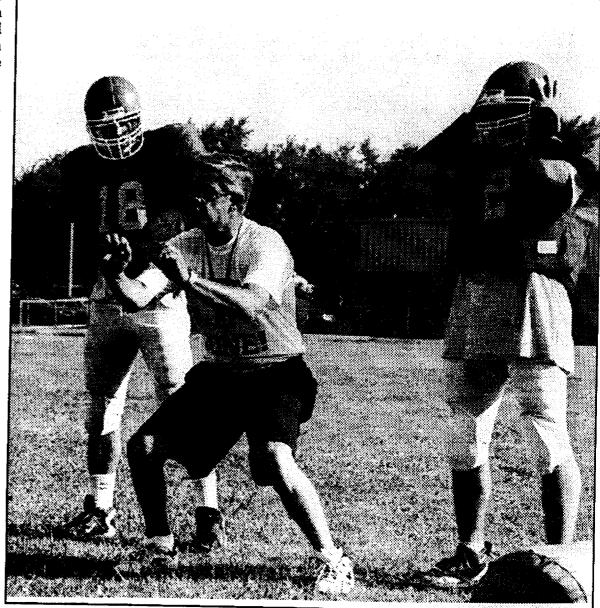

The Shorians lost last year's quarterback Todd Krasnicki to graduation. Nadolsky has the upper hand this season, but don't be surprised to see junior Joe Closurdo or sophomore Josh Pate see some playing time.

"Krasnicki started every game for us last year so we are a little inexperienced at the quarterback position," Paschal said. "I'm confident my quarterbacks will step up to the challenge and lead this team."

The Shorians' other returning seniors are kicker Frank Caruso, guard Pat Shaw, guard Jason Czurgo and tackle Chris Bujalski.

"We don't have a quickstrike offense, but it's one that will methodically move the ball down the field," Paschal said.

A parent's lesson in the internet for the back-to-school season

Are you behind the times when it comes to technology? Is your child more savvy with the computer than you will ever be? This back-to-school season, impress your child by understanding how the Internet works and how it can be used to help him or her in school.

So, how does the Internet work?

The Internet is a worldwide network of computers linked by phone lines. This linkage makes communication tools available such as electronic mail (e-mail), newsgroups and the World Wide

In fact, the Internet can actually minimize the amount of time your child needs to spend at the library.

Additionally, the Internet opens the door to resources and people worldwide and helps your child expand his or her communication skills by encouraging him or her to write down thoughts and read articles on a wide range of subjects. There are also many interactive Web sites designed to stimulate your child's imagination and get him or her excited about learning.

For example, a new site from the Mead Corp.

(http://www.meadweb.com) offers students the opportunity to access practical information for school as well as well-written articles on everything from entertainment to sports. The site also and music.

"We feel it is important to provide students with a wellrounded learning experience on the Internet," says Dana Walker, marketing manager, Mead School Supplies. The Mead site will provide helpful tips on issues such as interviewing, time and money management and includes direct links to educational resources such as Vote Smart, NASA and more. Encouragement builds writing skills...

Young children love to write poems, stories, riddles and jokes. However, in school, where most writing activities take place, children have a hard time writing anything.

Children enjoy writing at home, because it is fun and they feel no pressure to receive a "good" grade on an assignment.

Because children like writing at home, parents need to encourage their children's writing skills. Once a child finds the joy in writing and practices at home, school writing exercises should become fun as well.

Parents need to provide children of all ages with the proper supplies. These include the tools of the trade: paper, pencils, pens and, if available, a computer or typewriter. A comfortable, quiet place to write and enough time to let the imagination soar also should be included. Children need this time to daydream and encourage creativity.

Children who enjoy reading and want to make up their own stories are more eager to write on their own and for school assignments. To help prepare your children for a life-long love of reading, the Teachers & Writers Collaborative and The National Endowment for the Arts suggest trying the following steps.

 Read aloud to children, even when they are very little. Reading aloud offers a moment of intimacy with parents that brings about a good feeling for reading and books. Taking the time to read shows that you respect written words. Be sure to keep reading to your children, even after they learn to read on their own.

• Encourage children to read by taking them to the library. Even children who enjoy only simple books will move on to more advanced books as they mature. As a reward or present, give your children a book.

• Answer your children's questions and listen to their stories. If children don't think you care enough about what they say and the stories they tell, they will not feel confident enough to express themselves, either aloud or on paper.

Your response to your children's writing is extremely important. If you are proud and praise their written work, they will be proud of it and want to continue writing. Point out what you like about their writing. Praising their strengths, instead of pointing out weaknesses, is a much more effective measure to encourage writing. Be specific and honest when praising. If you comment on everything they write with the same compliments, the effect will be lost.

Once children feel confident in their ability to write on their own, writing in school will seem like less of a task — and they'll actually enjoy writing and completing assignments. Students will receive better grades and feel less pressure, which will make the school year a lot easier and more fun.

720 Reasons to apply to college using a computer

Here's good news for high school seniors and their parents. A new computer program allows you to apply to as many colleges as you like, in the time it takes most students to apply to one.

Called CollegeLink,® it streamlines the often tedious college application process. Applications prepared using CollegeLink are welcomed at over 720 colleges, including Dartmouth, Boston University, Emory, University of Maryland, MIT, Southern Methodist, Loyola-Chicago, USC and Johns Hopkins.

CollegeLink guides you through a comprehensive application form on either an IBM-compatible PC or Macintosh®. When you make your college selections, the program asks any college-specific questions the schools may require. This information is sent—via modem or diskette—to the CollegeLink which replicates each college's regular application. These are returned to you so you can sign and submit each one.

According to Michael Steidel, director of Admission at Carnegie Mellon University, "Applying to college by computer makes sense for today's students and admissions offices. That's why we—and so many other leading colleges and universities—welcome applications prepared using CollegeLink."

CollegeLink software is provided to students at no cost. Each completed application is just $5. To order, call CollegeLink at 1-800-394-0404.

"Hey, Mom, What's For Dinner?"

It's back-to-school time again! Fall signals the return of classes and after-school activities. Parents will add car pools and meetings to already busy schedules. Amidst the back-to-school rush, it's difficult for family cooks to devote much thought to their own "homework"—preparing dinner each night. Understanding the challenges moms face every day, Kraft has developed Kraft Simple AnswersTM—great-tasting dinner ideas designed especially for busy families.

A cinch to remember, these dinner ideas provide new twists to old family favorites, and they're easy on the cook, taking 30 minutes or less to make and calling for only a handful of common ingredients.

To receive a free set of Kraft Simple Answers dinner ideas, call 1-800-547-3112.

Easy Pasta Bake

Why fuss with lasagna? This zippy Italian dish is just as good, takes less time and makes great leftovers. Cook 1 lb. ground beef in large skillet and drain. Stir in 5 cups cooked pasta, 1 jar (30 oz.) spaghetti sauce and 1/2 cup Kraft 100% Grated Parmesan Cheese. Spoon into 13 x 9-inch baking dish. Top with 1 pkg. (8 oz.) Kraft Shredded Mozzarella Cheese. Bake at 375°F for 20 minutes.

Creamy Chicken Broccoli Skillet

Stir until thoroughly melted and serve over cooked Minute Original Rice.

Encouragement can help children have an A+ school year

Once again, it's time for children to go back to school. After a summer of fun and adventure, it may be hard for them to adjust to a new schedule of getting up early, going to school and coming home to do homework. With making new friends, working with different teachers, earning good grades, and trying out for sports and other groups, kids can be worn out.

To help make the back-to-school transition easier, parents can consider the following suggestions.

• To get their children excited about school, parents should be enthusiastic. They should be interested in their children's day -What did they learn today? Did they meet anyone new? How was the math test? With whom did they sit at lunch? Also, if they have the time, parents should become involved in school activities. If there is a school carnival, they should go with their children, or they should chaperone a daylong field trip. When parents are involved in school, their children are more likely to be too.

• When it comes to studying and earning good grades, parents should be supportive of their children. Instead of forcing them to do their homework, parents should encourage their children to study and help them set up an afterschool schedule. Children usually respond more favorably to encouragement than force. If children come home with some bad grades on assignments, parents first should comment on the good points. Then, they should discuss the poor grades with their children - not yell at them. They should allow their children an opportunity to say why they think they got the low marks. Not only will parents be treating their children with respect, but they'll also help them become more responsible.

• When it comes to their children's friends, parents shouldn't make rash decisions before meeting them. Kids always are making new friends at school. Instead of basing their opinions of these new children on the stories they hear, parents should wait until they meet them. Parents may even want to have these kids over for dinner, so they can get to know them better. By doing this, they'll not only be making informed decisions, but they'll also be showing their children that they trust their opinion.

School supplies to match your childs personality

If you look at any class picture, you'll witness a huge array of personality types. Behind the braces, giggles and funny faces are athletes, academics, class clowns, artists and trendsetters.

Today's market caters to each of these personality types. And when it comes to shopping for school supplies this year, your children will have many more choices than you had when you were a kid. Today, school supplies have personalities to match every kid in the picture.

• Trendsetters. If your kids are creative trendsetters whose idea of what's "cool" changes constantly, they'll adore Strokes pens. Strokes come in 27 exciting designs—from nature and celestial themes to collaged faces and ethnic characters. These sophisticated pens write smoothly and are available in highlighters, roller balls and ultra-fine styles.

Many of today's trendsetters are also environmentally conscious. If your kids encourage you to recycle or make Earth Day a regular holiday celebration,

Eagle Recycled pencils and Eagle Jeans pencils will appeal to them. Eagle products are manufactured from surprising ingredients like recycled school lunch trays and reclaimed denim jeans.

• Sports Lovers. Lots of kids today are athletes. If your kids thrive on the playing field and know every sports statistic, they'll go wild over Team NFL and Major League Baseball pencil collections. These pencils feature exciting threedimensional graphics and actual team colors and

• Budding Artists. If your kids are blossoming Picassos who are ready for quality supplies a step above crayons, they'll love Colorific. Colorific markers and coloring pencils are perfect for doodling or creating masterpieces to hang on the fridge. Markers are available with fine and broad tips, and coloring pencils come in a wide range of colors that will excite young imaginations.

• Live Wires. Let's face it: Not everybody can get psyched up about school. If your kids need a little extra stimulation, Yikes! line of zany supplies—from pencils to portfolios—will breathe life back into any homework assignment. They come in bright colors with whimsical patterns that are guaranteed to spark creativity and put the fun back in school.

• Perfectionists. If your children are extremely organized and won't leave the house without matching their socks, shoes and shirt, they'll love FUN d'Mentals supplies. FUN d'Mentals are perfectly color-coordinated and offer every item a teacher includes on her supply list (like scissors, protractors and sharpeners) in four hot colors.

Back-to-School vision checks offered Nationwide

If a student's vision doesn't meet the grade, his or her performance in school may not be a true indicator of academic capabilities. Give your children a head start in school this year with a free vision check at the fourth annual All American Eye Check Day, offered at more than 700 Sears Optical locations nationwide from noon to 4 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 4. No appointment is necessary. The eye check takes five to seven minutes to complete and is open to adults as well as children.

For children as young as 21/2, the Lea Symbols test will be used to measure sharpness of near and far vision. Developed by Finnish ophthalmologist Lea Hyvärinen, M.D., an international specialist in visual assessment of children, the Lea Symbols test creates a play situation by using familiar shapes - circle, square, house and heart - instead of letters of the alphabet.

For older children and adults, the Snellen chart (E-chart) will be used to measure sharpness of distance vision. The Near Vision Reader Card will be used to check near vision.

A vision check is a good first step in protecting eye health and preventing unnecessary blindness. Further visual evaluation and a comprehensive eye examination are recommended when the check indicates a possible vision problem.

"Through these vision checks, we can detect vision problems in a substantial number of people who do not realize they are having a vision problem," says Dr. Michael Cohen, Sears Optical director of professional services. "Children particularly don't know when they aren't seeing proper-

- Blinks more than usual or is irritable when doing close-up
- Is unable to see distant things clearly.

Complaints

- Eyes itch, burn or feel scratchy.
- Cannot see well.
- Dizziness, headaches or nausea following close-up work.
- Blurred or double vision. If a child exhibits one or more of these signs, seek professional eye care.

All American Eye Check Day ushers in National Eye Exam Month, an educational and philanthropic effort sponsored by Sears Optical and Prevent Blindness America. During this time, many independent doctors of optometry associated with Sears donate to Prevent Blindness' sight-saving programs. Additionally, Sears will donate $1 for every eye check performed this year to support the sight-saving programs of Prevent Blindness America. During the last seven years, National Eye Exam Month donations have totaled more than $1 million.

For free information on a broad range of eye health and safety issues, consumers can call Prevent Blindness America's tollfree number, l-800-331-2020, during regular business hours, or visit the organization on the World Wide Web http://www.prevent-blindness.org.

Education Costs Going Up

The cost of a college education seems to be going higher and higher each year. In fact, it now costs on average more than $7,000 per year for in-state tuition at a public university. That tally rises to $16,000 a year plus if you are attending a private institution.

But there are ways to afford college during the 1990s. Most people are aware of financial aid packages that schools offer to their students. These packages consist mostly of federal and state loans and grants. But there are other untapped resources out

Help Girls Improve Their Self Esteem

Sometimes, going to school can be a very difficult task. Children have a tendency to criticize their peers for not being "skinny enough," "dressed the right way," "weighing too much" or for hanging out with friends who are "uncool."

At some point in their lives, all children feel insecure about their looks or social status, which can be a direct result of a classmate's cruel comments. When a child is doubting his or her self-image, self-esteem takes a huge dive.

During the school years, children of both sexes may suffer from bouts of low self-esteem. Girls, however, according to Girls Inc., need to overcome traditional stereotypes like ones that say they are nothing more than "sugar and spice and everything nice."

The following, courtesy of Girls Inc., the nation's leading voice for girls, are some tips to help girls become "strong, smart and bold." These tips also can help girls accept themselves, regardless of how others think they look, and can help raise their self-esteem.

• Give girls many opportunities to experience science, math and technology. Girls are ready, willing and eager to explore, but often haven't had enough encouragement or exposure. Allow them to put objects in water to see if they float, or let them learn to repair their own bicycles.

· Debunk the myth of Prince Charming. Teach girls that most women will work for pay most of their lives. Every girl needs to be prepared to support herself.

Avoid rescuing girls. Encourage them to get dirty, Tang Transport to the control of the disheveled and sweaty climbing trees or playing in the grass. Allow them to take risks.

 Introduce girls to dynamic women who combine paid work, volunteer work and family life.

 Use the television to start a discussion about body image. Consider how girls are portrayed on television: Are heavier girls unpopular? It is only skinny girls who are shown as sex symbols?

Hopefully, these ideas will help girls to challenge limitations, improve their self-image and expand options for girls worldwide.

How to beat the SAT I blues

Some are calling it the mother of all tests. Others suggest that's a little overblown, but admit the SAT I is still tough. In any event, the new SAT I college entrance exam continues to give high school students their share of the jitters.

The SAT I, first given in March 1995, included longer passages and more questions on reading comprehension. For the first time, students could also use calculators to do the math problems, which included ten questions that were not multiple choice.

Since then, hundreds of thousands of high school students have anxiously anticipated their turn at the test.

How should you overcome those pre-test worries?

Well, as any professional testtaker will tell you, the first thing to do is relax. Then, begin making a realistic study plan.

 Begin well in advance of the test date, four to six weeks or even more.

 Take advantage of any workshops your school offers. They'll give you an important subject matter review and test-taking experience.

 Divide your preparation sessions into five or six segments to study the test in manageable amounts.

 Study every other day (or at larger intervals). You'll retain what you learn better if you're not rushed.

• Don't cram the night before the exam.

Not only does that waste your time, it can leave you tired and nervous and actually lower your score.

> • Instead of cramming the night before, get plenty rest. You'll want to be fresh for the exam.

Pack your bag the night before with all the materials will you need for the exam.

Leave plenty of time to get to the test site. Once the test has begun, relax and congratulate yourself for being prepared to do your Practice taking the actual SAT I exam, perhaps several times. Cliffs StudyWare for the SAT I®, computer software from the makers of Cliffs Notes, allows you to take up to five sample tests-two on computer and three in a companion study guide.

The software and guidebook cover all the changes incorporated into the new SAT I exam. They show how to answer grid-in math questions as well as paired reading passages. Since students are now allowed to use calculators on the SAT I, the package includes tips on effective calculator use.

"Cliffs StudyWare for the SAT I not only is the most comprehensive study aid available for this new college entrance exam, but it is also highly economical, affordable for most students and schools, and extremely flexible," said Rick Pam, director of Cliffs StudyWare. The software is available in both IBM and Macintosh® formats from college stores, book stores and computer retail outlets nationwide.

Kids, parents and teachers agree

Computers. You use them to be more organized at home and more productive at the office. Now it's clear that Americans also use computers as an educational tool. according to a new Microsoft/IntelliQuest National Computing Survey.

The survey of more than 2,800 Americans included teachers, children and parents. Overall, 74 percent of Americans surveyed believe computers have improved the quality of education.

The results reveal that among computer-using children, two of the top three uses for computers are education-related: 76 percent use them for homework and 60 percent use them for school research.

Eighty-six percent of the children surveyed believe those skills are important for getting good grades in school and more than 90 percent believe computer skills will help them make more money in future jobs.

"We commissioned the National Computing Survey because we wanted to understand what Americans like and don't like about their computers and what role computers play in the education of America's children," said Pete Higgins, senior vice president at Microsoft.

Survey results also show that parents support their children's use of computers, with 86 percent believing that a computer is the most beneficial technology they can buy for their children.

Eighty-four percent Americans surveyed believe that the money spent on computers for schools is not a waste. And 84 percent believe that a computer is necessary to achieve educational success.

Most teachers agree that computers are beneficial. Seventyseven percent of teachers responding and 67 percent of all respondents believe that computers can help kids learn at their own pace.

"The computer is a powerful learning tool," said Dr. Merle Marsh, academic dean of the Worcester Country Day School in Berlin, Maryland. "The survey confirms my belief that computers can greatly enhance creativity and encourage individualized learning."

Who is driving the "computer revolution" for kids? Fifty-eight percent of parents surveyed believe teachers should be the ones helping kids learn how to use computers, while 28 percent believe parents have that responsibility.

Conducted by Microsoft and IntelliQuest, the National Computing Survey studied a cross section of Americans to understand attitudes, perceptions and behaviors regarding computers and information technology. It is the first survey of its kind to address specifically how people feel about computers and information technology and their role in education, work and family. the same of the sa

Fightin' Irish ready to flex some gridiron muscles

By Bob St. John Connection Sports Editor

The 1996-97 Notre Dame football team is looking for respect this season after finishing 4-5 last year.

"We had a semi-successful season a year ago, but now we want to move up another step," second-year head coach Joe Spada said. "We have a senior-oriented squad that has a ton of varsity experience."

The Fightin' Irish have 18 seniors on the roster, including eight returning starters.

Leading the pack are offensive linemen Chris Fortson (6-feet, 3 inches tall, 315 pounds), Bryan Lennon (6-2, 220), Steve Matlock (6-4, 275), Nick Porada (6-2, 195) and Nick Reichling (6-5 1/2, 255).

"We are very big and strong up front," Spada said. "These guys have been lifting weights and conditioning the entire summer and they love to knock heads."

Senior tight end Nick Moschouris (6-2, 210) adds size to the offensive line, as will seniors Alfons Szymanski (6-0, 200) and Nick Fromius (6-1, 220) to help protect senior quarterback Jason Stoicevich, who is 6-2, 190.

Matt Walny (6-0, 195) is another returning senior who will catch some passes at tight end. Seniors Tom Gallus, Tom Jenkins and Brian Barrett are wide receivers who are tall and have great hands.

Senior running back Rick Court (6-0, 200) has the size to run through tackles and the speed to get outside. He should get some big holes to run through with the help of junior fullback Brian Cruciano.

The Irish's offense scored only 125 points last year, 13.9 points per game.

"I'm excited about our offense," Spada said. "My line is big and strong and Cruciano and Court both love to run over people. We have a balanced attack, which should make it harder to defend us."

On the defensive side of the ball, Spada has nine returning starters from a squad that gave up 17.8 points per game a year ago.

"Defense is our strong point," Spada said. "We have an experienced bunch of players who will lead the team." Spearheading the defensive corp is junior inside lineback-Jason Cruciano (5-11, 265) and his twin brother. Brian, who will play outside linebacker.

Lennon and Porada will secure the other linebackpositions, while Court Barrett and will headline the defensive backfield.

Junior Jeff

Cetlinski (5-10, 245) will see time at defensive tackle and junior Kevin Coyro will utilize his quickness at defensive end.

Other defensive leaders will be Fortson, Matlock, Moschouris and Reichling.

"I think our front line will be able to put some pressure on the quarterback and our linebackers are heavy hitters," Spada said. "Our defensive backs have varsity experience and should be able to hold their own against some of the better passing teams we face this season."

Spada's depth chart includes juniors John Lucido, Dan Melnyk, Dave Porada, Dominic Biondo, Tom Hewson and Paul Suchola, who is recovering from an eye injury.

"We have a lot of depth on the team, which will help keep everyone fresh for the second half," Spada said.

Sophomore Ruben Gay will see some time as a safety on defense and wide receiver on offense.

The Fightin' Irish's kicking game is better than in year's past. Senior Tim Bradley will kick field goals while junior John Marchand will handle the punting. Sophomore Chris DelPapa is also capable of kicking for the Irish.

Notre Dame finished 1-3 last year in the Catholic League Central East Division, beating city rival Bishop Gallagher 14-6.

"I think we have a solid chance to contend for a division championship," Spada said. "We have an experienced team with a lot of size, but Brother Rice is still the team to beat. De La Salle, Bishop Foley and Bishop Gallagher all return tough teams, so we have our work cut out for us."

Spada's assistant coaches include Terry DeLamielleure (defensive coordinator), Frank Ferretti (linemen coach) and Paul Tripp (offensive coordinator). Former Detroit Lions all-pro William Gay is also helping the Fightin' Irish this season.

"Our coaching staff is doing an excellent job preparing the guys for the season," Spada said. "We're cautiously optimistic about posting a winning season.

"Our goal this year is to win a division title, play at the Silverdome in the Prep Bowl and gain Notre Dame's first ever state playoff berth."

The Notre Dame football squad opens its season at 6:45 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 6, at Grosse Pointe South.

Pioneers look for back-to-back Division titles

By Bob St. John

Connection Sports Editor

The Harper Woods football program is coming off a dream season last year after earning its first-ever state playoff berth.

The Pioneers were 7-2 in the regular season, 8-3 overall. They won their playoff opener 27-22 over Brown City, but were eliminated by Burton Bendle, 20-0.

"We have a great returning nucleus of players who know what it takes to win a league title," head coach John Moher said. "Now we have to get it done on the field."

The Pioneers will lean heavily on senior co-captains Jason Achs and Andrew Cicarella, both of whom will see time at wingback and runningback.

"Jason and Andrew are quick cut of the backfield, but both will try to run over the opposition," Moher said. "They should get some room to run this season."

The offensive line will be anchored by John Rinaldi, Brian Ceresa, Aaron Michael, Frank Hess and Joe Elias, who is back after missing last season with a knee injury.

Damien Ramberger and Mike June will play either at tackle or tight end for Moher, and Eric Marochek will get a lot of playing time on the line.

"My offensive line is solid," Moher said. "They should give the quarterback some time to throw and open some holes for my tailbacks to run through."

back this year.

"Roger and Shaun have good throwing arms, which is something we haven't had at Harper Woods for a long time," Moher said. "Their passing will give our offense some new looks."

Senior wide receiver Pat Gonyeau will be the quarterback's favorite target.

Gonyeau is 6feet 4 and can jump over defensive backs to catch a pass.

"Pat's jumping ability will make him a great offensive threat, but he will also get doubled-teamed so it will allow some of our other receivers to break open," Moher said.

The Pioneers won't venture too far away from their patented hardnosed running attack. It helped produce 236 points last season, 21.5 points per game.

Defensively, the Pioneers gave up 155 points last season, including 55 in a loss to Morenci.

"Our offense did a big part in helping us win a league title, but it was our defense that shut down most of our opponents," Moher said. "I expect the same effort this season and my players understand a solid defense carries teams to league championships."

Look for Hess, Rinaldi, Ceresa, Michael and company to put a lot of pressure on opposing quarterbacks.

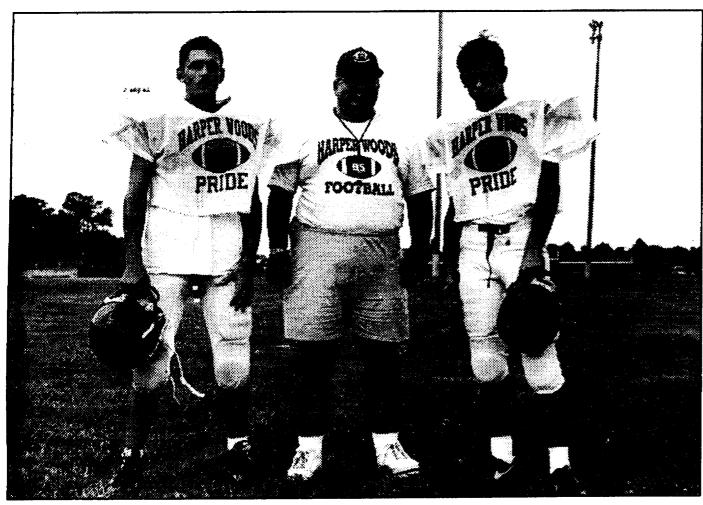

"A good pass rush tends to disrupt the opponents' offensive play," Moher said. "We're going after the other team and we won't stop until we get the quarterback."

Can Harper Woods win its second straight conference championship?

"I think Hamtramck is the favorite, but Lutheran North and Lutheran East should be tough competition," Moher said. "But don't rule us out. If we stay injury-free, we'll be right there."

Moher's team is also scheduled to play a mid-season game at Benzie Central High School.

South Lake seniors geared-up for successful year

By Bob St. John

Connection Sports Editor

The South Lake football program is ready to take off after finishing last season with a winless campaign.

Second-year head coach Don Roda has 23 roster players, including 15 returning seniors.

"I like our chances against our league opponents."

Don Roda Head Coach

"We're not big in numbers, but the guys on this team have practiced hard and will be ready to play our season opener," Roda said. "We're excited to play and improve on last season."

Last year the Cavaliers were without a victory, scoring only 66 points while giving up 267.

"The guys were learning a new system last year and it was a little tough getting everyone on the same page," Roda said. "I think we'll be in much better shape this season."

The list of returning seniors consists of Darren Tutt, Sean Stephens, Chris Alef,

Other seniors are Al Baston, Brian Baulch, Steve Orn and Steve Szymanski.

"Our seniors are going to have to lead this team," Roda said. "But one of our key players is quarterback John Beene. He's a year older, taller and stronger. He's the man."

Beene, who started all nine games last year, is a junior who should post some solid passing numbers this season.

Juniors Joe Bacha, John Curlee Jr., David D'Angelo, Jason Danta, Erik Hakala and Mike Nowicki give the Cavaliers depth at most of the positions.

"Beene should get a lot of passing protection from our offensive line, especially from Dumont (he is 6-feet 6 and 285 pounds)," Roda said. "I like the way our offense has come around. We looked pretty good in the passing camp this summer."

The Cavaliers' defensive team will run a 4-4 alignment with Orlikowski (linebacker) spearheading the group.

Baston and Brian Nowicki (first team all-B-C-D and second team all-county last year) give the Cavs a double defensive threat.

"I like the way our defense has improved," Roda said. "We gave up too many points last year, but I know we'll cut that number down this season."

One thing Roda has emphasized is regaining the "city title", won last year by Lake Shore. The Cavaliers lost 28-12 to Lakeview and 28-0 to Lake Shore.

"We gave the Lakeview game away," Roda said. "We had three snaps sail over our punter's head and we committed some other costly mistakes. They won't happen this season."

All heads will be turned toward Dumont, who has had calls from Central Michigan University and national football powerhouse University of Texas.

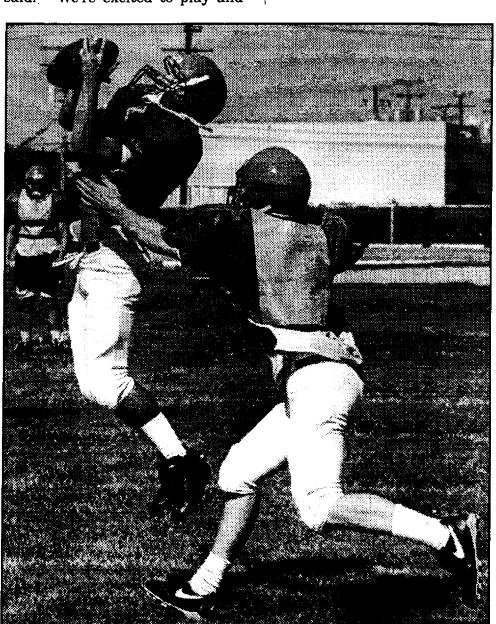

"Eric's a great player, but he's a team player," Roda said. "He will have a great season, but he's not going to have to lead the team on his shoulders. The guys know it's a team game and it takes all 23 players to win games."

The Cavs are only scheduled to play eight games this season, including three league contests against Center Line, Warren Fitzgerald and Warren Lincoln.

"I like our chances against our league opponents," Roda said. "Our ultimate goal is to make the state playoffs," Roda said.

The South Lake football team opens its season at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 6, hosting Lakeview.

"We want to beat Lakeview and get a little revenge," Roda said.

Bishop Gallagher hungry for state playoff position

By Bob St. John Connection Sports Editor Bishop Gallagher's 1996-97 football team is roaring loud,

"We have a good nucleus of seniors and juniors who have played varsity football..."

> George Sahadi Head Coach

ready to knock heads with its competition.

The Lancers finished 3-6 last year with a roster loaded with underclassmen.

However, head coach George Sahadi is optimistic that his underclassmen have gained a year experience and are ready to step in and lead the team.

"We have a good nucleus of seniors and juniors who have played varsity football for a couple of years," Sahadi said.

The Lancers' senior trio of quarterback Joe Young, fullback Morico Thomas and receiver David Strunk are the focal points in a seasoned offense that scored 132 points (14.7 points per game) last year.

Junior Julius Curry will start at tailback. He has great speed and the size to run over would-be tacklers. Senior TajMahal Harnois is the other starting wide receiver for the Lancers.

"I have a couple of other wide receivers who will catch a lot of passes," Sahadi said.

Protecting Young are junior guards Mike Gojcaj and John Bourdeau, but senior Sam Moore might get one of the starting jobs. Senior Pete Koch and junior Jerome Record will start at the tackle positions and sophomore Scott Koch will be the center.

We have a solid offensive line that I would line up against any in the area," Sahadi said. "We have a good offense with a lot of speed and experience."

Junior Pat Kilcoyne will start at tight end. He has good blocking ability and good hands.

We should be able to put some points on the board, but we're still trying to work out some kinks,"

Above, a Bishop Gallagher tailback hopes he can run the Lancers past their opposition this season.

Sahadi said.

Defensively, the Lancers will use a 3-4 alignment with junior Rich Moore playing the noseguard, while Gojcaj and senior Antonio Sherrell will start at the tackle spots.

The outside linebackers will be Kilcoyne and Moore and the inside linebackers will be Bourdeau and junior Josh Booker.

Sahadi's starting defensive backfield comprises senior Marlon Louis, sophomore Steve Slowke, Curry and his brother, Marcus, a freshman. "I have a lot of confidence in the defensive unit," Sahadi said. "Our schedule is loaded with talented, explosive teams, so our defense will have to be tough and ready to play every down." The Lancers' depth chart includes Josh Bohlinger,

Gerald Brown, Lawrence Clark, Jason Collins, Dennis Kot, Cedric Louie, Melvin Moss, Bill Messina, Kyle Ralston, Joe Rapas, Karl Scott, Henry Stewart, Chris Tancredi, Terry Thomas and Drake Wilkins.

"I would like to have more players on our roster, but the kids who are currently in our program have been practicing hard and are ready to begin," Sahadi said. "Everyone on the roster will see playing time because we will need fresh players for the final quarters of our games."

Last season the Lancers were 1-3 in the Catholic League Central East Division, beating Bishop Foley 27-21.

"I think Brother Rice is definitely the team to beat in our league, but the other teams — Notre Dame, Bishop Foley and De La Salle - are big, tough squads," Sahadi said. league will be very competitive this year."

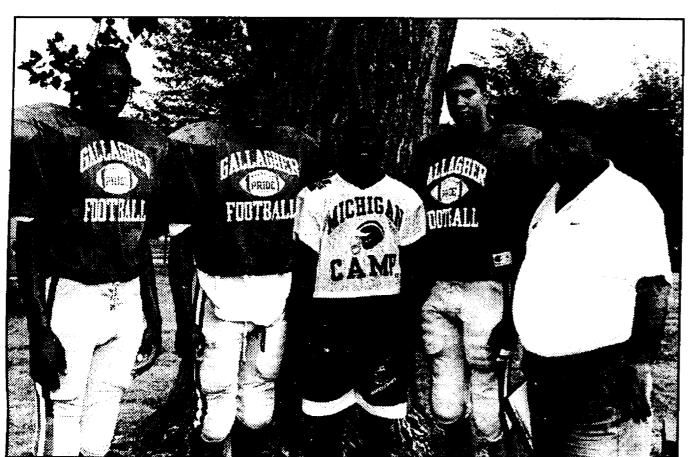

Gallagher's non-division opponents are Dearborn Divine Child, Ontario Belle River, Orchard Lake St. Mary and Detroit St. Martin DePorres.

"Our schedule is always tough and this year is no exception," Sahadi said. "My players understand they are going to have to play hard every game in order to win games."

The Bishop Gallagher football team opens its season at 1:45 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 7, against Dearborn Divine Child, at the Pontiac Silverdome.

Eagles look for third straight state playoff trip

By Bob St. John

Connection Sports Editor

The Lutheran East football squad is coming off a solid 1995-96 season, which saw the team secure its second consecutive state playoff spot and win its first league title in 19 years.

"We have done very well the past two seasons," head coach Bruce Tuomi said. "We have some high expectations heading into this season and it will take a team effort to get back to the playoffs."

The Eagles soared through their schedule last year, winning eight of nine regular season contests. Unfortunately, the Eagles lost their playoff opener, 19-0, to Center Line St. Clement.

"I thought we had a great chance to win the game, but an early turnover really put us in a hole," Tuomi said. "That game was a great learning experience for the team."

This year's squad will have a different look, especially on offense where last season's top running backs, Marlin Fair and Kodi Spencer, changed schools.

"We won't change our offensive schemes because our backs this year have solid ability," Tuomi said. "Our offensive line is very good and we return both quarterbacks from last year."

Junior quarterback Phillip Condon is back and will be the offensive leader. Senior Jason Riske, who started eight games last year because Condon's injury, might also get some snaps at QB. "It might take a couple of games to gel, but eventually our offense will be a tough unit,"

"Our offensive line, quarterbacks and receivers have a ton of experience," Tuomi said. "We might throw a little more this season, but our offense will basically stay the same."

Defensively, seniors Aaron Bachman and Lucious Brown will join Collins and Fields.

"I'm impressed with our front four and linebackers," Tuomi said. "I think they'll put some pressure on the quarterback and help stop the run."

The Condon brothers will start at outside linebackers, while Tuomi and junior Tyler Rhudi will be inside linebackers.

Riske, Daggett and Kirksey will start as defensive backs for the Eagles.

"The defensive line will have to carry the team for the first couple of games," Tuomi said. "We have some nice size on defense and the guys can hit hard."

East was Metro Conference cochampions last year with a 7-1 mark. A 20-6 loss to co-champion Hamtramck was their only blem-

"I think we have a chance to repeat as league champions," Tuomi said. "However, it will take a true team effort on our part to get the job done."

Hamtramck and Harper Woods are considered the favorites to win the Metro, but Lutheran North and Lutheran Westland have improved teams.

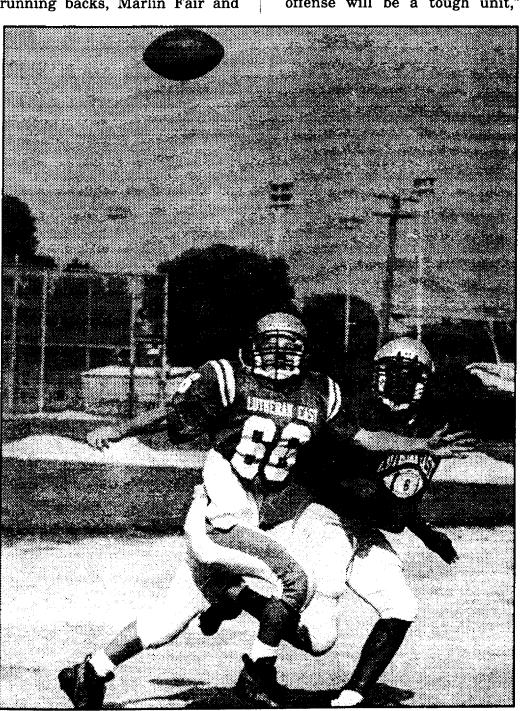

"I think Hamtramck and Harper Woods are the best in the conference," Tuomi said. "But the other schools are better, which should make for some close games this season."

The Eagles' only non-league game this season is a home contest on Friday, Sept. 13, against Detroit Loyola Academy.

"Our schedule should be tougher this season with the improvement in our league," Tuomi said. "We're going to take them one at a time and see where we stand after nine games."

The Lutheran East football team opens its season at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 6, hosting arch rival Lutheran North.

"It will be a tough opener, playing against a rival," Tuomi said. "The game will give us a good indication of how much work we need to do for our second game."

Lakeview prepares for 1996 gridiron challenge

First-year interim head football coach Scott Walker is confident he can lead Lakeview back to the .500 mark.

"We want to establish Lakeview as a perennial winner," said

"It's important for the players to be a team."

> Scott Walker Interim Head Coach

Walker, who was an assistant coach at Lakeview last season. "We want to get the program back to its glory days of the late 70s and early 80s."

The junior varsity and freshman football teams each won more than half their games a year ago, but the varsity fell on hard luck, finishing 1-8.

"We won some moral victories last year, but this season I want the guys to settle for nothing but the best," Walker said. "I want every player on this team to have a winning attitude."

The Huskies will look for senior co-captains Brian Carrithers and Tony Stonik to step up and lead the team on and off the field.

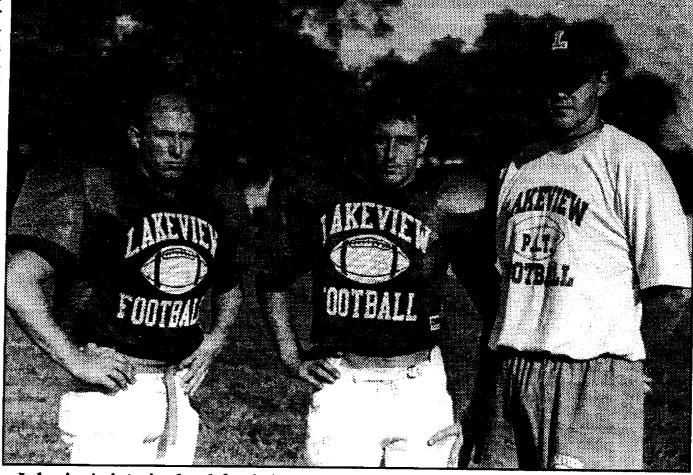

"It's important for theplayers to be a team," Walker said. "I want the football program to be a close group. You win and lose as a team, not an individual."

The Huskies will start junior Justin Jacobson at quarterback. He led the junior varsity team a year ago.

Jacobson inherits an offense that only scored 61 points (6.7 points per game) last season.

"We're going to run an offense similar to last season," Walker said. "I think the guys are gaining a strong hold of the offensive sets."

Senior Andy Kay and junior Tom Ozar should also shine on the field this season. Both have been working hard and Ozar has put on an extra 20 pounds of muscle in the off-season.

"Tom's worked extremely hard in the weight room," Walker said. "All of our players are realizing that success is a year-round commitment."

Senior Jason Kryscynski and junior Ben Deyonker have varsity experience.

"We have a lot of underclassmen who have varsity experience," athletic director Chris Clark said. "I like the way Scott and his staff have handled the kids and I think > they will take Lakeview the right direction."

Defense has been a problem for the Huskies recent years. Last season Lakeview gave up 225 points, an average of 25 per game.

Players like senior Kurt Eggly, junior Ryan Quinlan and junior John Pellow will have to extend themselves and help opposing offenses.

"I'm happy with our progress in practice," Walker said. "I think we have the guys working toward a positive goal."

The Huskies started fast last season, beating city rival South Lake 28-12, but the team stalled and lost its final eight games.

"We are focusing on one game at a time and our season-opener against South Lake is our first opponent," Walker said. "We are counting down the days until we play because we want to make it two wins in a row over one of our city rivals.

"We also want to beat Lake Shore and capture the city championship. It's definitely one of our goals this season."

The Huskies begin their second season in the Macomb Area Conference (MAC) Silver Division. They were winless in four games last year.

Defending league champ Clintondale is once again the favorite, along with Warren Woods Tower. Lake Shore also has a chance to win the division.

Lakeview and Mount Clemens are improved and can contend if they get some breaks and play error-free football.

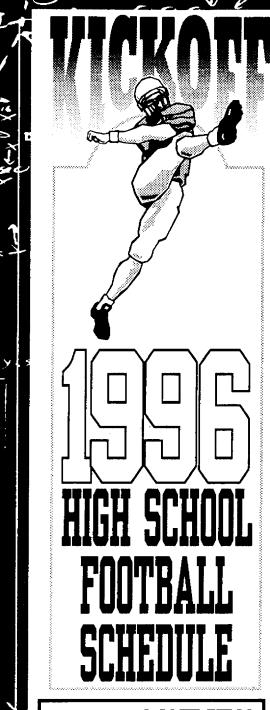

"We're excited and ready to go," Walker said.

The Lakeview football team opens its season at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 6, at South Lake.
