Farms goes Krogering at Mack and Moross

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

The property on the southwest corner of Mack and Moross is one step closer to being put to use now that Grosse Pointe Farms has bought the Kroger building.

The $600,000 acquisition completes the city's quest to purchase commercial and residential property in the block, said Richard Solak, Farms city manager.

How the land will be used is anyone's guess, said Solak, as the Farms investigates various options, including suggestions from a citizens advisory committee.

The front runner, however, seems to be a community and recreational center, complete with an outdoor sports facility.

Solak said such proposals are at best guesses at this point, and he was unable to say if such a facility would be for the use of Farms residents exclusively or residents of all five Pointes.

In December 1994, the Farms bought the lots containing Sears, A.L. Price, Jo-Ann Fabrics and the adjacent parking lot for $3.4 million. As part of the deal, the Farms had an option to buy Kroger by May 31, 1998. As the deadline approached, the Farms decided to move on the deal.

In what might be called the mother of all recycling projects, a string of empty houses owned by the Farms on the west side of Moross might be relocated to Detroit.

In an arrangement facilitated by federal enterprise zones, the Farms might team up with a Detroit organization called U-SNAP PAC and the Community Development Bank to truck the houses to Detroit in what Solak called a win-win situation.

"We save on demolition costs, well-built houses get recycled, and people get homes," he said.

WEEK AHEAD

Saturday, May 2

The University Liggett School Lacrosse Invitational Tournament begins with a match between Grosse Pointe North and South high schools at 2 p.m. at the ULS lacrosse field.

At 4 p.m., ULS plays the Ann Arbor Pioneers. The championship game starts on Sunday, May 3, at 1 p.m. The consolation game begins at 11 a.m.

Sunday, May 3

Grosse Pointe Park holds its annual Law Day Celebration in Windmill Pointe Park, beginning at 1 p.m.

Featured attractions include demonstrations from the U.S. Coast Guard and the Park Public Safety Department.

Monday, May 4

The Grosse Pointe Woods City Council meets in city hall, 20025 Mack Plaza, at 7:30 p.m.

The Rotary wheels

To benefit the Rotary Club of Grosse Pointe, former Rotarian John Minnis, center, editor and general manager of the Grosse Pointe News, buys a 1996 Indy Corvette Pace Car raffle ticket from Leon, right, and Alan Sheoyan at Leon's Hair Salon. The Sheoyans are displaying the pace car and selling tickets on behalf of their friend, Mark DuPuis, the Rotarian spearheading the raffle and who purchased the car for the raffle.

With raffle proceeds going toward the local Rotary Club's many worthwhile causes, ticket purchasers have a chance to win the pace car (first prize), $1,000 (second prize) or $500 (third prize). The drawings will be held at 10 a.m. on Sunday, May 24, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

The $100 tickets can be purchased at Leon's Hair Salon on The Hill, from any Grosse Pointe Rotarian, or by calling (800) 521-3019. There are only 1,500 tickets being sold, so DuPuis advises that purchasers act fast! The Indy pace car will be on display periodically in front of Leon's Hair Salon until the raffle is drawn.

Local mayors speak out against recent liability ruling on floods

By Jim Stickford
Staff Writer

A recent ruling by the State Court of Appeals concerning a city's liability over flooded property has some Grosse Pointe mayors worried.

The State Court of Appeals, on March 31, ruled on the appeal of the city of Midland over a $95,000 judgment. The city was held liable for damages done to a building after a flood.

Two judges, Myron Wahls and Michael Kelly, wrote that municipalities are liable for damage under the trespass nuisance theory. If sewage backs up into a basement, it has trespassed from city property onto private property. Under this theory, negligence doesn't have to be proved.

Judge Hilda Gage dissented from the majority opinion and called for the state Supreme Court to give a final ruling on the issue of a city's liability.

As case law currently stands, a city's sewers can be working properly, with no blockages, and that city can still be held liable for damages. This is what scares local officials.

"Under the this theory of strict liability, as I understand it, I can see taxpayers paying a lot more for government services," said Woods mayor

Robert Novitke. "Even if a city has done nothing wrong and the plaintiff has even been negligent, the city is still liable. It doesn't take a great deal of imagination to foresee higher costs."

Grosse Pointe Woods is a defendant in a lawsuit over damages resulting from a number of flooded basements last August, after an unusually strong storm. Novitke said his comments were about the recent court ruling. He could not comment on any specific cases, including the one against the Woods, while they

Habitat founder challenges Pointers

By Amy Andreou Miller
Special Writer

Hundreds of Grosse Pointers are poised to make a positive, history-making impact on the city of Detroit, and Sunday, April 26, they were applauded for it — momentarily — and then urged to reach even higher.

"There are thousands of derelict houses in Detroit. Grosse Pointe is your community, but Detroit is your city. You have the means, and I applaud that you are taking the responsibility to change things for the better in the city," said Millard Fuller, founder and president of Habitat for Humanity International, who spoke before about 400 people Sunday April 26, at the fieldhouse on Grosse Pointe Academy's campus.

"I urge you to lift others less fortunate than you to the light of God. Whether someone is Protestant, Catholic, Jewish or Muslim, they all can believe in the 'theology of the hammer,'" he said, touting the 22-year-old Habitat for Humanity International organization which has succeeded in building nearly 60,000 homes for more than 250,000 low-income people in 53 countries.

"Providing all of God's children a simple, decent place to live and lay their heads at night when they get sleepy is something we can all agree on," said Fuller, who begged Grosse Pointers in the audience to donate money to the cause.

And many did. One person in the audience wrote a check for $5,000. Also, a collection was taken during the course of this

A ceremonial groundbreaking took place Sunday, April 26, for the 55 Habitat for Humanity homes to be built on Tennessee Street on the east side of Detroit. Participating are, from left, Grosse Pointe Memorial Church parishioner Jack Williams, who leads the Habitat Ecumenical Committee of Grosse Pointe comprised of nine local churches; Michael Kidd, whose family acquired a Habitat home in 1995; Pegg Roberts, president of the homeowners/businessowners group located near the proposed homes; Ken Benson, president of Habitat for Humanity of Michigan; and Millard Fuller, founder and CEO of Habitat for Humanity International.

A good sign

With flowers blooming along Lakeshore, can summer and good weather be far behind? We hope not. While April showers may be good for the flowers, the cooler-than-normal temperatures are a bummer!

two-plus hour ecumenical worship service, and another $1,500 was collected in cash.

Fuller said that Grosse Pointe must have some millionaires who are willing to write a million-dollar check to Habitat.

That very thing has happened on a number of occasions when Fuller has spoken before similar audiences in Georgia and Texas.

Fuller also spoke earlier on Sunday before another 400 people during two worship services at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

Nine churches in Grosse Pointe have pledged to be the driving force to see funds raised — about $3 million — and thousands of volunteers marshaled to build 55 houses for low-income families on Tennessee Street, south of East Jefferson near Bayview Yacht Club on the east side of Detroit.

Churches comprising the Habitat Ecumenical Committee of Grosse Pointe and sponsors of Fuller's visit are:

- Christ Church Grosse Pointe
- Grosse Pointe Memorial Church
- Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church
- Grosse Pointe United Church
- Grosse Pointe United Methodist Church
- St. Ambrose Catholic Church

- St. Clare of Montefalco Church
- St. Paul Catholic Church
- St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church

Memorial Church already has raised $55,000 — the cost of building one Habitat house.

The churches are still working to finalize securing the plots of land from the city of Detroit, said Grosse Pointe Farms resident Jack Williams, who is the Habitat leader at Grosse Pointe Memorial.

The committee hopes to dig five basements and begin the foundations by June.

Despite the snag, Williams acquired a pile of dirt from the site so the church leaders, Detroit residential community leaders, Habitat residents, Detroit and Michigan Habitat leaders, and Fuller could participate in a ceremonial groundbreaking Sunday.

Joining in the support of Sunday's event — and providing additional energy and inspiration — were the senior pastors of each of the participating churches.

Also, about 50 teenagers from Grosse Pointe Memorial's youth group "signed" the Lord's Prayer. They were following the direction of Grosse Pointe Farms resident Julie Bellovich, a Memorial parishioner and Poupard Elementary School teacher who knows sign language, while fellow parishioner Don Brown sang it.

The audience of about 400 people sang 10 hymns. And a family who qualified for a Habitat house in 1995 — Michael and Vera Kidd, along with their children, Rodney, 14; Naomi, 6; and Noah, 3 — told the audience how having a decent and affordable home to call their own has changed their lives for the better.

The Detroit Habitat affiliate has about 1,600 people on its waiting list, and has already identified the first 15 families who will become homeowners in the first phase of the Habitat project — called Creekside — to be built on Tennessee Street.

Habitat houses are sold to qualifying low-income families. The families make monthly mortgage payments for 20 years; the mortgages are interest-free.

Other qualifications include that the family must contribute 400 hours of "sweat equity" helping to build their own home and future Habitat homes.

Fuller said that he enjoyed visiting Grosse Pointe and is excited by the project, hoping that it will grow in momentum toward 200 houses built in a year, by the year 2001 — the 300th anniversary of Detroit, and the 25-year anniversary of Habitat for Humanity International.

Michigan has the most Habitat affiliates of any state in the country. There are 84 affiliates in 82 of Michigan's 83 counties.

To become involved in the local Habitat for Humanity efforts, contact one of the nine churches listed in this article, or call the Habitat for Humanity Detroit affiliate at (313) 521-6691.

Lake pollution problem can be solved by local action

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

Lake St. Clair got in its present bacteria-laden condition because too many people crammed themselves into too small an area for too long without thinking about the environmental consequences, agreed political and environmental officials in a forum on the status of the lake.

In the words of Roy Schrameck, supervisor with the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality surface water division, "I've met the enemy and they are us."

Ironically, the lake appears cleaner now than it did a few years ago, said Richard Huhn, director of parks for Grosse Pointe Farms. The Farms has the only municipal park in the Pointes that allows swimming in the lake.

"A few years ago, the water wasn't clear. Now, I can see down five or six feet," said Huhn. Looks are deceiving. Residents can't jump in without risking infection.

Since the first recent beach closing in the Farms in 1992, an unwelcome routine has established itself whereby high levels of bacteria cause the beach to be closed toward the end of June, and it stays closed for the rest of the season," he said.

The Farms may have unavoidably added to the bacteria problem by cleaning up after huge numbers of waterfowl. "We washed geese and seagull droppings off the docks and into the lake, which must have raised our beach's bacteria count," said Huhn.

To keep birds away this season, Huhn is installing a filament netting that beaches in Macomb County have used to discourage waterfowl. To fight bacteria growth in stagnant water, the Farms is considering using bubble machines to improve circulation.

On the matter of stagnant water, Michael Donahue, executive director of the Great Lakes Commission, said expansion of the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club into the lake should be examined carefully to see if it would reduce circulation by cutting off currents.

"The lake's problem is the result of a lot of little problems," he said.

"The problem of Lake St. Clair includes overcoming decades of inertia," said John Hertel, chairman of the Macomb County board of commissioners. Hertel outlined Macomb's recent establishment of the Water Quality Board, which will be in place by the end of May, the Surface Water Improvement Monitoring team, and a special prosecutor. The three units will team up to identify, punish and correct polluters.

Hertel also reported that officials in Oakland County "are pushing for the creation of a new drainage system, which is the most important physical change along the watershed."

The panel said there are numerous political obstacles to cleaning the lake, ranging from cooperation among regional governments to coordinating action by the United States and Canada.

"It's hard enough to manage a water basin, and much harder to manage one-half of a water basin," said Donahue, in a call for action on both sides of the lake. For its part, Canada has increased its wetlands protection and upgraded waste water treatment in Sarnia, Ontario, said Schrameck.

Patrick Brunett, manager of land use and environmental programs for the South East Michigan Council of Governments, said a successful cleanup lies in "developing a consensus among the region's multilevel political system."

Key to the strategy, he said, "is pressing the right political buttons to get things done. 'Include everyone,' he advised. And he is.

SEMCOG is coordinating a regional action plan to include the 14 local governments bordering the lake from the mouth of the St. Clair River to Detroit, including: the five Grosse Pointes, Harper Woods, St.

Clair Shores, New Baltimore, Algonac and Detroit, and Harrison, Chesterfield, Clay and Ira townships.

The DEQ's Schrameck said because numerous local problems have contributed to the lake's overall condition, the best solution is local action financed with local money.

"The state should be active, but not the leader" in specific cleanup actions, he said.

Local funding is more effective because it targets specific problems, he said. The state would take a broader approach.

"We have a lot to gain, and not much to lose if we try," said Schrameck.

New concessions building planned for South's athletic field

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

Taking care of business will mean different things to different people if a combined concession stand, restroom and storage shed is constructed near the south end of the football field at Grosse Pointe South High School.

Currently, athletes and fans at South's athletic field have to use restrooms located inside the school, said Jo Lake, South athletic director.

"The bathroom is a long jaunt from across the baseball field from the football stands," she said. Also, allowing people access to the school raises safety issues, she said.

The building will also contain a team room for the football team to meet during half-time, said Lake.

About 70 percent of the building's cost is expected to be paid for by the South Booster Club, the athletic budget and "popcorn sales," said Lake, referring to money raised through concession sales.

Lake, who has been at South for 12 years, said the proposed building is an outgrowth of a now-defunct plan to build a storage shed beneath the football bleachers.

"In order to build a storage structure that could store flammable materials, we needed to install a sprinkler system. In order to keep the sprinklers from freezing during the winter, we had to heat the building year-round. It became too expensive," so the new plan was put forward, she said.

The oblong, one-story structure will be attached to the COMTEC and TV lab at 64 Fisher, a tennis court-topped one-story cement structure built in the style of the bunkers of Field Marshall Rommell's North Atlantic wall.

The new building will have a brick facade, three eight-foot windows and the equivalent of "porch lighting," said Dale Ehresman, the architect in charge. It will extend approximately 26 feet north toward the football field and 102 feet toward the baseball field, he said.

To help shield the building from Fisher, the structure will be buffered behind a landscaped berm.

Concerns over noise caused by rain falling on the shed's dull-metal roof led Farms officials to request the architect to top the building with another material, like asphalt.

The proposed structure will replace the cinder block concession stand at the north end of the football bleachers, which will be used to store athletic equipment, said Lake.

Although the Farms approved the plan, the school board has the final say.

Christian Fenton, assistant superintendent of business affairs, said the district will solicit construction bids in two to three months.

"We didn't want to put time and money into requesting bids until the city gave us the go-ahead," he said.

AT&T microwave tower proposal stepped on in the Shores

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

A proposed 140-foot microwave communications tower has been replaced by a tornado warning siren that will soon be erected behind the Grosse Pointe Shores municipal building.

The unit should be up and running within 30 days.

Shores officials are confident that the tornado siren will bolster their arguments against a microwave tower proposed a few months ago by AT&T.

John Huettelman III, village president, began digging a grave for the communications structure last month when he placed a moratorium on the construction of microwave towers in the Shores.

The tornado siren idea originally came up after five people died at the Farms Pier Park during last July's freak storm. Huettelman wanted an independent alert system.

"During the storm, our siren wasn't triggered. Neither was the one in the Farms," he said. "I don't want the safety of Shores residents dependent on anyone else's system."

Daniel Healy, chief of the department of public safety, ordered a 2001 DC outdoor warning unit two weeks ago from West Shore Services of Allendale, Mich., "one of the top makers of alert systems in the country," he said.

"The unit is very reliable, and you will see very little maintenance associated with it," said Jeffery DuPika, president of West Shore.

The unit costs $16,040, including delivery and installation on a 50-foot pole. The Shores will follow the manufacturer's recommendations and test the siren once each week, probably Saturdays at 1 p.m., said Healy. The rotating siren will be loud enough to alert everyone within 5,000 feet of an approaching storm, he said.

Michael Kenyon, village manager, hinted as long ago as April 1 that the microwave tower wasn't "going to happen," but couldn't speak openly about it while the Shores was developing a strategy to battle the microwave tower. To mix the metaphor, Shores officials weren't showing their hand to keep from being snookered by AT&T.

"Under the 1996 Federal Communication Act, cellular companies have the right to build towers," said Kenyon. Despite letters and petitions from residents fearing a connection between microwave emissions and cancer, Shores officials knew the federal government wouldn't listen to arguments based on medical grounds. The village had to come up with something else — the tornado tower.

Huettelman's management of the siren issue may strengthen his fight against AT&T. Arguing tornado safety and esthetics, the Shores thinks it has built a good case for denying the cell tower.

Keeping the strategy tight-lipped caused problems for the Shores. "Recently, we've been trimming trees in preparation for the tornado warning tower.

Some residents complained because they thought we were putting up the cell tower," said Kenyon.

The microwave issue had been a major plank in the platform of Dr. Daher Rahi, Huettelman's opponent in the May election.

"I was never informed that the city was moving ahead on this issue, even though I've been in touch with them almost daily since announcing my campaign," said Rahi. "I made myself very clear that I was opposed to this issue."

Rahi remains opposed to the idea of expanding the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club and Shores municipal marinas into Lake St. Clair.

Floods

Grosse Pointe Park is also being sued for damages resulting from flooded basements. The Park's case goes back to the summer of 1996, when during heavy rains, a number of homes between Lake St. Clair and Jefferson were flooded.

"It's a plaintiff lawyer's dream to be able to get damages from strict liability rules," said Park Mayor Palmer Heenan. "The taxpayers will have to pay the price for the lawyers who are suing cities to get one-third of the settlement. Judges should do something about reducing the high incentives these cases have, in which taxpayers sue taxpayers."

The problem, Heenan said, is that cities are really made up of taxpayers. When a city pays off a lawsuit, the money has to come from somewhere. So the end result can be higher taxes for everyone, including the winners of the lawsuit.

"Taxpayers are the ones who end paying a city's bills," Heenan said. "Negligence is one thing. If a government is responsible for a flooded basement, then that government should pay. But if the flood is caused by something out of the government's control, like two or three inches of rain falling in an hour, then that government should not be held responsible."

Heenan also said that he could not talk about the particulars of the lawsuit against the Park while the issue was in court.

"Liability insurance for cities will skyrocket if the Supreme Court does not overturn the recent Appeals Court ruling," Heenan said. "With the potential for lawsuits so high, insurance companies will raise their rates. Liability insurance can cost hundreds of thousands of dollars for a city, so it's not a small expense."

When a city loses a lawsuit, it pays for more than just the settlement amount, Heenan said. It must pay for attorney costs, insurance costs and interest on any money borrowed to pay the settlement.

"Fortunately, once the Park's separated sewer system is completed later this year, we should be immune from basements flooding," Heenan said. "For the past two years, the city has been building, at an expense of over $20 million, a separated storm and sanitary sewer system. If the storm sewers become overwhelmed, excess storm water will go into the streets, not into basements. But that is an expensive and very disruptive way to handle things."

Grosse Pointe Academy artist captures mood and time

She sits behind a drawing table in the southeast corner of a second-floor studio measuring 45 by 20 feet, but extends halfway around the world and through time.

Bright, sharp eyes guide small, delicate hands as she creates renderings and images at once lifelike and ethereal.

Here was the girl who in her youth realized her dream of becoming a fashion designer, and later taught art to schoolchildren who were just as open minded and spontaneous as she is now, and in her senior years has earned international recognition for her sculpture and paintings.

The room smelt of turpentine, oil, paint, paper, canvas, wood and clay. And in a way that cannot be measured or qualified, but is as real as any law of nature, there was a sense of accomplishment.

Through light blue eyes that still have 20/20 vision, that have looked upon ceramics in art classes with Anne Morrow Lindbergh, and not recognized John Wayne at a party in New York City many years ago, Mrs. T., as she is called by people who like her and, consequently, as she is called by everyone, works in her art studio on the second floor of the Grosse Pointe Academy, as Artist-in-Residence.

She made her way through a forest of paint brushes, dozens of them stored in buckets, their handles worn with use, their upturned bristles clean like new.

mother superior," she said. "I got the job and it's been one of the most rewarding experieverything and call it art. There is creativity in every human. Thomas Aquinas said, "Art is the right reason for something to be made."

She met her husband while on a blind date with someone else. "I was married 48 years to the love of my life," said Mrs. T.

A sketch of her late husband, Robert, hangs by her drawing table near the windows looking over Lake St. Clair. Muted sunlight, partially shaded by trees on the Academy's front lawn, enters the room.

His image rests in an easy chair, feet up, reading, as he did so many times while visiting his wife as she drew or sculpted. He was an aeronautical engineer.

No wonder their son, Joseph, likes airplanes.

Her son lives in Colorado and flies a P-51 Mustang World War II fighter named Crusader in the Reno air races. "His flying keeps me on my prayer bones," she said.

Her grandson continues the family interest in flying as a pilot with a small airline who. He hopes to advance to a major carrier.

"I tell him to keep following his dream. Don't worry about the money. It will all work out. It doesn't matter how much money you make unless you're happy in your work," she said.

Her daughter, Bernadette, takes after her mother and teaches creative writing and art history at Baker College in Muskegon.

Mrs. T. and her husband built a house in Grosse Pointe Woods 57 years ago. She still lives there.

When her mother saw where she was planning to live, she said, "I can't believe that you're going to live way out in the country with that little girl," referring to Mrs. T.'s newborn daughter.

"Mack Avenue was just a country road then," said Mrs. T.

Mrs. T. is often busy creating commissioned artwork which she arranges by appointment.

Her studio contains children's furniture and stuffed animals to help put kids at ease when they arrive for their sitting.

"Like that little girl," she said referring to a portrait she's working on.

"The purpose of art is to capture the essence of the subject. I just love her. Her image is real to me."

Her credits include two sculptures of ballerinas winning prizes in the Smithsonian Institution's miniature school. She had an exhibit in the U.S. Senate, and numerous shows and awards in the United States and Europe.

Unassuming yet secure, she has definite opinions on art and artists.

"I am very much against people exhibiting art that their teacher has also worked on. I think that's awful," she said.

Among the wonderful jewelry, fabulous once-in-a-lifetime vacations and heartfelt keepsakes donated to the Academy's 1998 Action Auction, Mrs. T.'s sculpture of a little boy walking to school perhaps best represents the Academy's mission.

"First day of school" was inspired a few years ago as she drove to her studio.

"I saw a little boy with a book bag slung over one shoulder. All people are significant, but as I looked at that boy I thought, there goes our future. I sketched the boy intending to sculpt the image," she said.

"Art is not just the doing, it's the selecting," she said.

Why we favor repeal of vote for casinos

In Grosse Pointe, there is growing awareness among the general public that the Coalition to Repeal Proposal E deserves to be heard — and supported — in order to protect the young people of this community from the proposed casinos in Detroit.

That awareness also was recognized last week by Mayor Palmer T. Heenan of Grosse Pointe Park, and by representatives of the City of Grosse Pointe and the Shores who signed the petition to repeal Proposal E.

In general, the campaign against the three casinos proposed for the city of Detroit is being waged in Grosse Pointe precisely on the point mentioned above: its threat to our young people.

While some adults in the Pointes may be able to gamble away some of their money without too much damage to their livelihoods, that may not be true of youngsters from good homes and good backgrounds who may succumb to the gambling habit.

Furthermore, we tend to agree with Mayor Heenan that "it is really piling on" to add casinos to the list of gambling opportunities already offered in this state.

The supporters of the repeal have distributed some effective publicity which they hope will attract more Pointers to vote against casinos on the repealer if it gets on the November ballot.

Their fact sheet cites the huge increase in compulsive gamblers — between 100 and 550 percent when gambling is brought into an area, according to a study by University of Illinois Professor John Kindt.

It also cites The Detroit News report that just since the opening of the Windsor casino, gambling-related bankruptcies in metro Detroit have increased some 40-fold.

It further calls attention to a U.S. News & World Report analysis that counties that added casinos in the early 1990s have experienced no additional growth in new businesses.

The gambling opponents further charge that "dozens of elected officials in Louisiana, Missouri, South Carolina, Arizona, Kentucky and West Virginia have been convicted or forced out of office in gambling-related corruption."

Furthermore, the gambling foes allege that domestic violence and child abuse have increased dramatically when gambling comes into an area, and cite the Maryland attorney general's 1995 report on the subject.

But the argument that really hits home in Grosse Pointe offers us the following finding:

"Children of compulsive gamblers do worse in school than their peers, are more likely to engage in substance abuse, are more susceptible to gambling and eating disorders, and are more prone to depression."

That comment comes from the National Council on Problem Gambling.

More specific charges emanate from Mt. Pleasant, home of Central Michigan University, which now has three pawnshops which cater to students caught up in the gambling obsession at the Mt. Pleasant casino.

Would the Pointes escape the problems that gambling has brought to many residents of other communities just because the Pointes are admittedly a community of super-achievers with most incomes well above the average?

We doubt it, which explains why we support the attempt to get the proposal to repeal Proposal E on the ballot next November.

Charter schools: good & bad

Michigan and Arizona are featured in the April 27 issue of U.S. News and World Report which takes a long and fairly hard look at the charter school movement.

In those two states, the magazine reports, "the notion of a free-market school system has moved well beyond the theoretical stage." Arizona's 241 charters and Michigan's 107 make up nearly half the country's charter schools.

But the story about these two states says that it reflects "a picture of educational entrepreneurialism that features not only the classic benefits of any market-based enterprise, but also the classic drawbacks."

"Charter schools are both better and worse than ordinary public schools," the magazine goes on to say. "The best charter schools pursue innovation and educational excellence with an enthusiasm lacking in many traditional public schools."

"But these schools are in the minority. Much more common are schools beset with problems as bad as — and in some cases worse than — those found in traditional public schools."

The study cites a few schools in each state as "truly innovative." One is a secondary school created by the Ford Motor Co. and located in the Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn where "students study the museum's technology exhibits as part of the curriculum."

It also cites Sankofa Shule, an Afrocentric elementary school in Lansing, that includes instruction in four languages, and the Leona Group, a Michigan based for-profit operator.

Among other items in the U.S. News and World Report story are the following:

- "Many of the charter teachers are low-paid neophytes; as a result, staff turnover is high. Labs and libraries are rare. Even basic classroom supplies are often lacking."

- Chester Finn Jr., a conservative education expert, is quoted as saying: "We have not found a single (state) with a well-formed plan for dealing with problem schools or outright failures."

- The report also finds that "20 percent of Arizona's charter schools and nearly half the charters in Michigan are former private schools that converted to charter status, frequently as a way to raise their revenues."

The Sankofa Shule school, one of half a dozen African-centered charters in Michigan, "deliberately places itself outside the cultural mainstream," the magazine report says.

"Rather than Labor Day, Memorial Day, and Presidents' Day, it observes holidays such as African Independence Day and Malcolm X, Remembrance Day." And a teacher writes in the school newsletter this additional comment:

"The traditional concept of Thanksgiving, like the Fourth of July, has nothing to do with us." The magazine adds the comment that a daily "affirmation" spoken by the entire school begins, "I pledge to my African nation."

What this report proves, in our opinion, is that charter schools in Michigan ought to be better monitored.

But the U.S. News and World Report study shows that it would be foolish to add any more charter schools to the 150 now permitted until the state Legislature, the state School Board, the state Department of Education or someone else in authority really begins to check up on the quality of the education being offered in our state's charter schools.

Obstacle to hiking taxes killed

We praise those U.S. House Republicans who last week joined Democrats to help kill a bill that would have made it much more difficult to raise future federal taxes.

The measure was a proposed constitutional amendment that would have required both the U.S. House and Senate to muster a two-thirds vote, rather than a simple majority, to approve any increase in federal revenues.

True, it still would have allowed a simple majority in each House to pass minimal tax increases, or increases in time of war, the New York Times reported.

Such a bill failed to win the two-thirds majority necessary to send it as a constitutional amendment to the states for ratification. In the House, the vote was 238 to 186, or 45 votes less than necessary to send the issue to the states.

The Senate has not even considered the measure, which supposedly made the House vote just a gesture. If so, it was a vote with a political purpose, which is to put more of the onus for increased spending on the Democrats.

The Times quoted Democratic U.S. Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Detroit, as saying that while he didn't like higher taxes, he opposed the proposal because it would allow a minority of one-third of each house to tyrannize the majority.

Other critics said it would make it harder to raise money to pay for government obligations such as Social Security, Medicare and veterans' benefits.

We think that is an important point, even though we don't like higher taxes, either.

With a special investigator seeking access to the books that Monica Lewinsky bought at Washington book stores, Jefferson's remarks are worth repeating:

"I am mortified to be told that, in the United States of America, the sale of a book can become a subject of inquiry, and of criminal inquiry, too, as an offense against religion; that a question like this can be carried before the civil magistrate. Is this then our freedom of religion?"

In effect, he reminded us of our rights under the First Amendment.

Letters

No mail-in drug kits

To the Editor:

I am a teen, age 14, and I am writing because I read your article: "City police offers residents free mail-in drug kits," by Brad Lindberg.

I think that the public safety department should not give the drug kits to parents.

After I read that article, I became more aware of the large numbers of teens using drugs and I agree that it is not just wrong, it is dangerous to use drugs.

But imagine what would happen when a parent comes to his child and tells him or her that he wants to do a drug test. The teen will feel that his parent does not trust him, and not only will he not do the drug test, he will not go to his parents to get help and will keep using drugs.

If the public safety department will mail information about how to talk about and stop drug use, or invite families to talk about it together with an expert, I think it would help more than sending drug kits.

Tal Mamon
Pierce Middle School

Good idea

To the Editor:

Your article, "City police offers residents free mail-in drug kits," was brought to my attention in school by my journalism teacher. He asked us to write to you stating our opinion.

While the majority of students in my middle school class thought this was a bad idea, I would just like it to be known that I think that mail-in drug tests being available on request are a good idea.

It is especially good that the department of public safety is distributing these kits free to Grosse Pointe parents. I'm sure you think it's weird that, being an eighth-grader, I would have an opinion like that, but I do, and I will explain myself.

First of all, drugs are bad. Parents should know if children are doing drugs, so they can get some help. Giving out free drug tests is one way to help with the drug problem in our area. I feel that drugs are a dangerous problem that must be kept under control.

There are many people at my school whom I know do drugs, and that is why I do not want my name printed if you publish my letter.

However, I must also add to my letter that drug testing kits sitting around in houses, supposedly as a threat, are not going to solve the world's drug problem by themselves. But making drug testing kits available to parents is a start. Thanks for listening!

Against kits

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter in response to your article, "City police offers residents free mail-in drug kits," printed in the April 16 edition.

Though the drug kits serve a very good purpose, I don't believe that they should be used in most households. Scaring children into submission is not the best way to teach them good habits.

If only 67 percent of kids pay attention to their parents when it comes to drugs, then the problem is bigger than that. Also, the signs of drug abuse listed could be caused by many other things. If children display these symptoms, then their parents should talk to them first.

Forcing your son or daughter to take a drug test will distance your relationship further than it already might be. And if the results come back negative, how will your child be able to trust you?

If you are almost positive that your child is on drugs, then I do think that the kit would help. But otherwise, I am against them.

AP courses

To the Editor:

After reading Mrs. Ellison's letter last week ("Academics First!," April 23) and a previous article in the Grosse Pointe News, it is apparent I did not express my sentiments on AP (advanced placement) classes very well.

Let me clearly state that I think AP courses are an essential ingredient of an outstanding high school curriculum. I am very proud of the number of AP courses offered in our high schools, the quality of those courses, and our students' success on the national AP tests.

Each of my two children who graduated from South took five AP courses and found them a valuable part of their high school education. My youngest son is registered for two AP courses next year.

My concern was that the AP program was the sole criteria by which high schools were being evaluated. I think it is important to supplement academic subjects with athletics and other extracurricular activities.

As valuable as AP classes have been for my own children and many others, there are students whose needs cannot be met in AP classrooms. A truly outstanding high school helps these students excel as well as those in AP courses.

Jack Ryan
Treasurer, Grosse Pointe Board of Education

Let's deal

Help me and I'll help you.

You tell me how to handle a little problem and I'll tell you how to improve your chances of getting something in the newspaper.

Me first

How do you discipline someone else's child?

Without inadvertently starting a fight with an inattentive parent, how does someone other than a parent or guardian stop a kid from yelling and throwing food in a restaurant, running unbridled down the aisle of store, or playing tag in the public library?

Assuming it takes a village to raise a child, how do all of us conscripted uncles and aunts, fathers and mothers, big brothers and sisters tell our adopted-by-deed siblings to behave as we know they should?

Or do our rights as villagers end with the responsibility of paying for entitlement programs to help raise other people's kids, while not including a say in how they are brought up?

Unruly kids are let loose in public and effectively learn they can get away with anything.

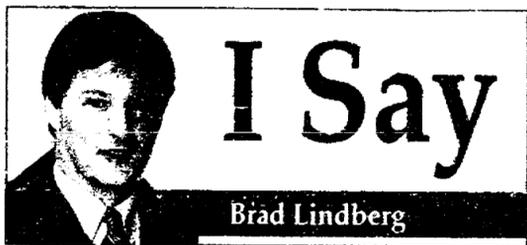

Lax, irresponsible parenting is to blame.

When these kids reach school age, they're shipped off to classrooms where teachers are expected to do the job that the parent has been avoiding from day one.

As the kids grow up, most will straighten out.

Those who don't will wonder why others consider them an annoyance. Their lack of socialization can make them functionally unemployable, contributing to financial and health problems or, in the vogue mantra, put them "at risk."

I don't know what to do about someone else's problem

that periodically becomes my problem.

On the other hand, if parents aren't going to step up and properly care for their kid, why should I?

Now, I'll help you.

Most of well-intentioned people torpedo their chances of getting announcements and news tips in the newspaper because they operate outside the rules.

- They don't respect deadlines.
- They don't submit information that is relevant to the newspaper's coverage area.

• They submit incomplete or contradictory information;

• They submit photos that are of poor quality or contain people who are not identified;

• They blatantly try to pass off purely promotional pitches as news items;

• They demand coverage of events and want publication guaranteed;

• They try to pass off oddball events as special.

When submitting an idea for coverage, remember that journalists rank items by their possible news worthiness. That's it. That's the criteria.

So, try to come up with a news angle for your special event or feature profile.

Be honest: Are you pitching a product or service that you hope to benefit or profit from? Trying to fool people in the newsroom is a great way to get your information canned.

When submitting an idea for its possible newsworthiness (there's that phrase again), put it on paper. Written submissions, or news releases, don't have to be fancy or official looking, just legible and complete.

Include the following:

- The who, what, when, where and why of the idea.
- The name and telephone number of someone we can call in case we need to ask a few questions.

After submitting a release, its OK to call and see if we received it or are interested.

Then back off.

Remember that editorial space is limited in newspapers. If you're promoting an event that absolutely requires publication in a specific issue, you might be better off talking to the people in the advertising department.

They guarantee we consider.

On another issue, what's the deal with the recent local anti-gambling crusade?

Why didn't these people show their hand a few years ago when their grassroots efforts could have mattered?

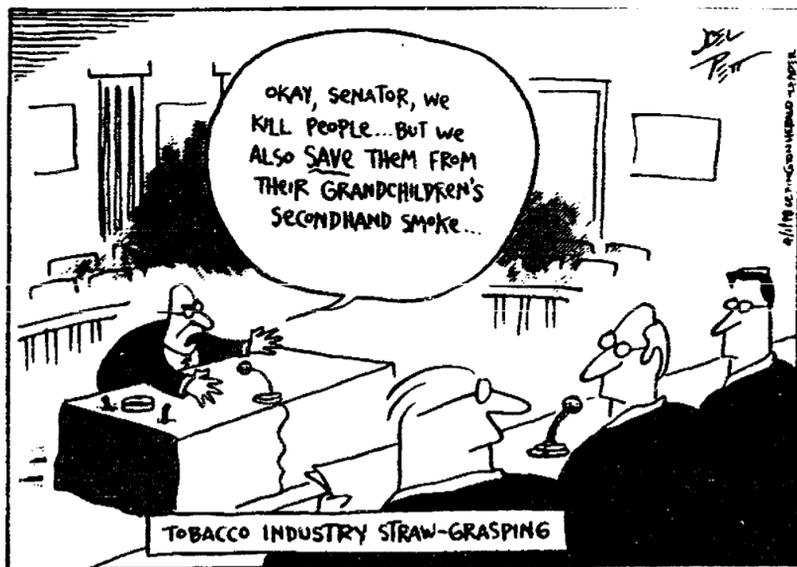

Talk about swinging after the bell.

Waiting until now to lobby against gambling makes me wonder what these folks could have accomplished if they had raised their voices when the issue was subject to debate.

Revenge of the squirrelphobes

They dig up our lawns and gardens, perforate our plastic trash bins, snip our phone lines, chew their way into our houses and gleefully vandalize our attics — but now there's just a bit of payback for those squirrely pests who positively infest our neck of the woods.

"Take a look at what they're selling in that fishing store in the Village," Coffee Grinder regular and FYI tipster Jay Russell whispered in FYI's shell-like ear last Thursday. Of course, he meant AuSable Outfitters, already known as the Pointe's "Orvis Store."

Sure enough, among trendy angler's merchandise like, "The Ultimate Casting Shirt" ($69), leather and canvas gun cases ($130), half-size but very realistic double-barreled cap-pistol shotgun sets ("for teaching gun safety to youngsters") at $79.95 and top-of-the-line fly casting rods (up to $600), FYI spotted them: genuine gray squirrel tails, (squirrels not attached), at $2.25 apiece.

"They're age-old standard equipment for fly tying," explained salesman Bill Vogel, a tall gent who also teaches fly tying at the store on Saturdays. He demonstrated how to lift a little swatch of tail hairs to make a perfect banded tuft for luring fish to their doom.

— A fate that has already happened to certain squirrels, FYI trusts.

Any chance these are local tails? "Probably not," said Bill, noting that the packager, Orvis, is in Manchester, Vt. "But a lot of fly-tiers pick up hit-run squirrels on the road and use them."

Maybe there's hope yet.

Adding insult to arboreal rodent injury, the store also carries a "Plush Squirrel Dog Toy," a murchable fuzzy-tailed beanie baby for dogs, billed thusly: "Our large squirrel is designed to look like one of those pesky fence runners who drive our (canine) friends crazy."

FYI didn't check the price, but it's got to be worth every penny.

Street food a la cart

The unusual fragrance wafts up and down The Hill, sometimes mingling with the perfume of the new Cleveland pear trees planted along Muir by the landscapers at Cottage Hospital.

Unusual, yes: It's the smell of steaming Kowalski franks from what has to be the only regular outdoor hot dog cart in Grosse Pointe. When it's out, it's hard to miss: Complete in all its gleaming stainless-steel glory, it even boasts a large blue-and-white umbrella emblazoned with that classic incantation, "Coca-Cola."

FYI first noticed it earlier this year, popping up on rare nice days, and now it's there just about every Tuesday, right outside the Pierson Clinic at 131 Kercheval.

"It was my husband, Don's, idea," says North High grad Mia Gumm. "One time we were at Eastern Market, got hungry and noticed there was nothing like it around. We talked to my mom (she's Rosalind Trentacoste, owner of the Rosebud Cafe in the atrium of 131 Kercheval) and she thought it was a good idea."

The day FYI stopped by, there were three dog-coke-andchip clients sitting on nearby benches and enjoying the fare.

Running the 'Naked Mile'

The Naked Mile is getting more and more media coverage. At midnight on Tuesday, April 21, hundreds of coeds shed their clothes and streaked down State Street stark naked.

It is a U-M tradition that may go back to the panty raids of the '50s. In the '80s, it was men who streaked, and in several years, probably as a result of women's lib, coeds joined their student brothers. The runners and appreciative fans grew in numbers from year to year and now it is a well-established tradition.

Something happens in spring, when the sap runs (or saps run?) before June is busting out all over. In spring, a young man's thoughts turn to love, and it seems now that some modern women turn to exhibitionism, as if to attract that love (or lust).

Exhibitionism sounds like a perversion, and it can be that, the male flasher being an example. But isn't it interesting that no one wants to prosecute or label young people who are sufficiently unfettered by societal disapproval or embarrassment to expose themselves totally in a like-minded crowd?

What is a psychiatrist to think? The joke goes, how can you tell a psychiatrist in a burlesque show? He's the one who is looking at the audience! Similarly, I look at the phenomenon like the social observer, like I was an anthropologist.

The Naked Mile is like some primitive tribal rite. The "Rite of Spring" by Stravinsky created a riot because of the powerful primitive emotions provoked by the music, though it no longer disturbs or incites modern audiences. The rite of spring goes back a long way in recorded history.

With the advent of spring and the end of winter, many societies to this day celebrate fertility rites. It was believed that couples making love in the springtime in farm fields help fertilize the soil and induce the gods to provide an abundant harvest. So the rite was both fun and practical. All societies have outlets for the release of primitive emotions, whether they be sexual or aggressive. The athletes of the early Olympics were nude, and all Vigeland's statues in the Froglund Sculpture Park in Oslo are nude. Nude is natural. Clothes make a secret of the body, but most fashions for women are a combination of concealing and revealing.

Not being a primitive society, we are expected to control ourselves and adhere to societal norms. Nowadays, fertility rites are taboo, but the great writers historically spin tales about primitive instincts out of control. Otherwise, what would make the book interesting?

The "Call of the Wild," "Anna Karenina," "Dr. Zhivago," "Gone With the Wind" and the Bible are all examples. In classical Greek drama, "The Bacchae" reveals the Bacchanalian rites in which every taboo is violated. Of course there are consequences, and they must be borne. Greek tragedies acknowledge the power and presence of primitive animal instincts. They serve as a warning to the audience members, as well as entertainment. The great writers are always teaching us lessons about the human condition.

What will be the consequences of U-M coeds running down the street naked? According to group dynamics, it is OK if everybody is doing it. It is another matter for one woman (or man) to do it alone.

It seems that education is felt to be oppressive, stressful and burdensome, and at the last day of classes some want to throw off all inhibitions. In previous years, lecherous voyeurs have seized the opportunity to photograph and grope, but this year the university, along with volunteer student monitors and the local police made sure the runners are safe. T-shirts were provided at the end of the run and cameras were verboten.

Naked Mile has a website and offers videotapes of previous years' naked runs for sale. One would think that the men and women who were photographed might have trouble running for public office, as participating in a naked run might be considered irresponsible or poor judgment.

Or the other possibility is that when these men and women are old enough to run for public office, their appearance in videos will be cheered and applauded. The next century may be a "Brave New World" for all we know.

In my last column I reminisced about the lower Village. This week I'd like to talk about the Hill area when I was growing up in the '40s and '50s.

Since I went to Richard school, I spent a good deal of time on the Hill. The fact that my Dad and Grandfather worked on the Hill was as good an excuse as any to pop into their office for TLC or to have a report card signed, etc. The Hill of the '50s bears little resemblance to the Hill we know today. Paskals Flower Shop was always a fun place to visit and I often left with a few blossoms that had fallen on the floor. The Punch and Judy Sodette Toyland provided a child with numerous delights and diversions, everything from tiny toys to huge wagons and stuffed animals and copious amounts of enticing penny candies. Our passions ranged from Fleers bubble gum to the charms of the Story Book dolls we collected.

It seems the entire Grosse Pointe population, all ages, played tennis in those days. We all bought from and had our racquets restrung by Roland Gray. Many hours were spent in his sport shop and it was a gathering place for young and old. The Christian Science reading room is now on that site. The Sign of the Mermaid and The League Shop were the places to buy important gifts, unique and personal. There was an elegant linen shop on the Hill, too. Korte's Gas Station was on the corner of Kercheval and Oak (now Muir) and we pumped up our bicycle tires there. Of course, they also hand washed your car! The Punch and Judy bar was a hang out for the older folks (21 and up), long before it became the Bronze Door, London East, Charlie's, 123, Chianti's or Jimmy's.

Many of us still miss Salem Square, the large upscale super market, so handy for the local residents and beautifully maintained. Hamlin's provided personal service and a selection of fine wines. Mac was the one to consult concerning a delicate palate. Johnston Optical provided my glasses all during my childhood. Mr. Roberts spent many hours straightening my bent frames.

In the '50s Anthony's was the place to have one's hair coiffed and Eugene was everyone's favorite. Margaret Rice was where we drooled over cashmere sweaters and hoped for one with a huge monogram for our birthdays. The Village Store provided preppy young ladies and their moms wonderful choices in apparel. I think I still have a couple of their red and gold boxes in the attic. The Pointe Pedlar now occupies that building.

Maxon Bros. and C.W. Toles were the real estate brokers of the early Hill days. Frank Adams Lincoln Mercury dealership was located in the beautiful building now housing D.J. Kennedy Interiors.

The building where William Denler and Company stands was one of the original businesses located on the Hill.

The lower Hill has been the object of the most radical changes since my younger days. Where the bank now stands on the corner of Fisher and Kercheval stood Titus Drugs. We gave old Mr. Titus fits as youngsters hanging around the soda fountain and candy counters. That block during the early days was home to Irvings deGrimme Art Gallery, Furs by Robert, the first Grosse Pointe News office and The Hawthorne House, a tea room atmosphere with the best caramel and coconut cakes ever made. On the corner stood our home away from home, the Punch & Judy theater. It was there that we were introduced to Lassie, Snow White, "Gone With the Wind," smooches and cigarettes in the upstairs lounge. Mr. Krueger, the manager, rode herd on us if we got out of hand. Saturday matinees were 14 cents!

On the second floor of these buildings our teeth were drilled and our fingers schooled in piano lessons. Individuals rented space to introduce the youth of the area to music, art and dance.

Oh to have a nickel for every time my little feet trod the path to and from Richard up and down the Hill in and out the doors of my youth! The years continue to fall off the calendar, renovations are made, flowers and greenery planted and brick laid. And, once in awhile, it's OK that the short-term memory betrays me. Those good old days, the ones still engraved indelibly, are a good place to visit.

Park Mayor Palmer Heenan says, 'Repeal Proposal E'

By Palmer T. Heenan
Mayor, Grosse Pointe Park

The recent renewal of downtown Detroit has been significant. We have watched redevelopment bustle with stadiums, an opera theater and GM's acquisition of the Renaissance Center. I am concerned about the impact which casino gambling will have on this process. In other cities which have tried casino gambling, surrounding areas tend to become seedy and suffer from increased crime.

While casino promoters are quick to claim that thousands of new casino jobs will be created, few candidly discuss the inevitable increase in broken homes, suicides, bankruptcies, prostitution, embezzlement and theft which accompany increased gaming activity.

The cost in extra police and judicial time and the social welfare cost offset the new-found revenue and jobs. In a regional gambling market such as Detroit, where most of the gamblers will be local residents, the costs associated with gambling pathology will be borne primarily by our state and local governments. Every year thousands of new crimes will offset the thousands of new jobs.

As new gambling casinos are opened, other local businesses will suffer. For example, restaurants, bars and racetracks find it hard to compete with casinos, which often subsidize their food and beverage operations. As a consequence, there is already a movement in our state to legalize video poker and blackjack in bars and racetracks.

This type of gambling has had disastrous effects in South Carolina yet it is being considered in Michigan as a needed countermeasure to casinos. In Oakland County, various public officials are considering the establishment of an Indian casino to prevent entertainment dollars from being siphoned off into Detroit's casinos.

What began as a single casino in Windsor has now turned into at least two casinos in Windsor, three casinos in Detroit and increasing pressure for legalized video gaming and suburban casinos. Unless it is stopped now, the pressure for more gambling venues will only increase. And, as more venues are opened, the attendant advertising and competition will lure more and younger local residents into gaming halls.

The state's wealth will be transferred from lower-income players to the wealthy owners of these gambling casinos. Yes, it is the reverse of Robin Hood — taking the poor to give to the rich.

The gambling industry has the financial resources to dominate our political process. As it expands, it will be harder and harder for politicians to say "no."

The people of Illinois and Ohio have wisely rejected the expansion of gambling in their states. I urge Michigan's voters to sign the petition to repeal Proposal E so that we may prevent gambling from permeating our society and debilitating the renewal and growth of Detroit and its surrounding communities.

District bubbles over with boiler upgrades

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

Parcells Middle and Mason Elementary schools will be outfitted with new boilers this summer that Grosse Pointe public school officials say will cost less to operate and maintain than existing units.

"Conservatively speaking, the new boilers will pay for themselves in 12 to 20 years," said Christian Fenton, assistant superintendent in charge of business and support services.

The 47-year old boiler at Parcells dates from when the school was built and originally burned coal, said Suzanne Klein, superintendent of schools.

The aging Mason unit was built to burn coal, upgraded to burn oil, and upgraded again to burn natural gas. Understandably, the 35-year-old unit is having "combustion problems," said Fenton. The feed water tank needs replacement, and the boiler has needed repairs about five times a year for the last several years, he said.

It will be replaced by a $113,107 gas Weil-Maclin boiler, complete with installation by the Detroit Boiler Company.

As for Parcells, a larger unit by the same manufacturer was purchased for $249,668, including installation by Supreme Heating.

Bus companies get spring athletic deals

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

There are approximately 150 sporting events to be lined up this spring involving the two Grosse Pointe public high schools, and school officials hope that two new contracts with transportation companies will help the athletes get to the games on time.

The new carriers take over from bankrupt Tower Bus and Laidlaw, which stranded students by "often being late or not showing up at all," said Christian Fenton, assistant superintendent of public schools in charge of business and support services.

This spring, athletes from North and South will ride to sporting events care of Robinson Bus Service and Safeway Transportation, respectively, said Fenton.

Athletic directors from both schools, Tom Gauerke from North and Jo Lake from South, helped line up the new companies, according to school documents.

Both companies appear on the Michigan Department of Transportation's listing of authorized carriers, and charge approximately $32 per hour, "which is slightly lower than the original bid by bankrupt Tower Bus," said Fenton.

The district has budgeted $30,000 for spring sports at the two schools. The new agreements last until the end of the 1997-98 season.

School board candidate forum held May 20

All are invited to attend the Grosse Pointe School Board Candidate Forum, sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Grosse Pointe on Wednesday, May 20, at 7:30 p.m. in the Wicking Library at Grosse Pointe South High School.

Two candidates, Ted Cwiek and Beth Konrad Wilberding, are running for the position of Timothy Howlett, current president of the school board, who is not seeking re-election. The election will be held on Monday, June 8.

The forum is designed to inform voters of the two positions of the candidates. JoAnn Kelly will be moderator.

After the candidates have set forth their ideas in opening statements, they will respond to written questions from the audience. In brief closing statements, the candidates will sum up their views.

The forum will be televised on local access cable, Channel 20, by the students of Dr. Julie Corbett of Grosse Pointe South High School.

For more information, call Pearl Warn at (313) 885-8077 or Kay McDonald at (313) 882-3497.

Farms to flush water mains during May

Grosse Pointe Farms will conduct a water main flushing program beginning May 4 and continuing throughout the month.

Prior to flushing, residents will receive a notice from the city indicating what day flushing will occur.

During this process, residents may experience a discoloration of water due to disruption of natural sediments in the pipeline. This doesn't contaminate the water, but people shouldn't use washing machines on the date of flushing to avoid staining the laundry, said Shane Reeside, assistant city manager.

If residents notice rusty water after flushing is completed on their street, the city advised running the basement faucets until the water clears.

Some cloudiness of tap water is common during the flushing program.

Questions? Call the Farms water department at 885-8600.

Park prepares Windmill Pointe for annual camping spree

By Jim Stickford
Staff Writer

In an effort to put a little of the "park" back into Grosse Pointe Park, Windmill Pointe Park is going to be transformed into a campground for a weekend.

The annual event, referred to as "Camp Windy Mill" is sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Park Parks and Recreation Department.

Twice a year, in the spring and the fall, the parks department gets together with Park residents to put Windmill Pointe Park to a different use.

"This spring, there will be 45 camp sites at the park," said park employee Colleen Jogan. "A lot of families like to rent a site and spend the night as a kind of introduction to camping. Campers can come to the park after 2 p.m. on Saturday, May 16. They have to be out before noon on Sunday, May 17."

The cost of renting a site is $10, but because the event is so popular, said Jogan, there are no more spots available.

While at the park, residents can pitch their tents, Jogan said.

Each site has an outdoor grill. There will be no open fires, with the exception of a bonfire that will be at one of the park's two volleyball sand pits.

"We want people to use the outdoor grills to do their cooking," Jogan said. "We will stagger the groups around the main bonfire. You don't want 100 kids trying to cook s'mores on one fire. There will also be games for the kids. On Sunday morning, we'll be getting up early to cook french toast for the campers."

During the history of the event, Jogan said, the park's luck has held out.

"We've only had rain during one of the campouts," Jogan said. "That was last year, and why the park was nicknamed 'Camp Monsoon.' But there is no raindate for this event. If it rains, it rains."

Campers will have access to the park's indoor bathrooms, but they won't be able to take showers, Jogan said.

The next camp out is scheduled for after Labor Day.

Annual Percentage Yields (APYs) and interest rates are accurate as of 4/29/98 and apply only to new accounts opened with new money. *New money is defined as money not currently on deposit with First of America. APYs and interest rates are subject to change without notice after account opening. The APY for FirstRate Fund balances of $10,000 or more is tied to the 13-Week Treasury Bill rate. The APY for balances below $10,000 is determined by the bank and is currently set equal to 1.13%. For Superior Performance Fund, the interest rate for the portion of the balance that is $100,000 or less is tied to the 13-Week Treasury Bill weekly auction discount rate, less 1.00%. The APY is 6.58% for the portion of the balance that is over $100,000. The interest rate for the portion of the balance that is $25,000 or more but less than $100,000 is tied to the 13-Week Treasury Bill rate less not more than 1%. As of 4/29/98, the interest rate for this tier is set at 6.51%. The APY ranges from 4.59% to 6.58%. The interest rate for the portion of the balance below $25,000 is tied to the 13-Week Treasury Bill rate less not more than 5%. As of 4/29/98, this interest rate is set at 4.53%. The APY is 4.99%. Mercedes, Lexus jump on the 'sport-ute' bandwagon

If you have always wanted to own a Mercedes-Benz, but it was too much money, the ML320 sports-utility vehicle may be for you.

If you have always wanted to own a Lexus, but it was too much money, the RX300 and sporty car that looks like a truck.

The Mercedes has a separate frame, which gives the ML320 the rigidity necessary for off-road applications. But its four-wheel independent suspension gives it a highway people who want a Jeep that rides like a Mercedes or a Lexus. Both succeeded.

The all-wheel-drive Mercedes-Benz ML320 carries a base price of $34,545. The Lexus RX300 weighs in at $32,045 base price for front-wheel-drive version or $33,445 for the four-wheel-drive.

Now, it won't take long to run the price up to around $40,000 for either vehicle. These are luxury vehicles, not workhorses, and the available options reflect this.

For example, the ML320 can be ordered with a $2,950 package that includes such non-truck-like items as leather-trimmed seats, steering wheel and gearshift knob; burl walnut dashboard and console trim; heated eight-way power front seats; auto-dimming inside rearview mirror; digital trip computer; digital outside temperature indicator; lockable safebox under front passenger seat, and rear privacy glass.

A wide range of sound system options, cellular phones, moon roofs and other goodies are also available at extra cost. Not to be outdone, the Lexus RX300 with trim packages that include, among other features, such goodies as leather trim, driver's seat sports-utility vehicle may be for you.

These two luxury car makers have joined the rush to the hot sport-utility market with a couple of exceptional vehicles which look a lot alike, but are quite different.

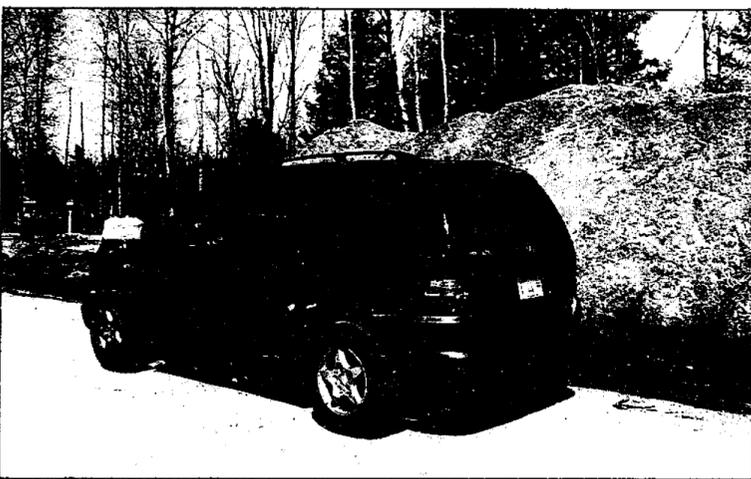

The Mercedes ML320, built in Alabama, was created from the ground up as a unique Mercedes, designed for off-road and poor weather use and highway travel with the luxury, safety, and performance one would expect in a Mercedes.

In direct competition with the ML320, the Lexus RX300 looks a lot like it, but is designed with a different philosophy. The Mercedes is a true off-road vehicle that can go anywhere and can divert all its power to a single wheel, allowing it to move with three wheels off the ground.

The Lexus, slightly longer, wider and lower than a Jeep Grand Cherokee has the ground clearance expected of a sport-utility but is really a luxury tall wagon that looks like a sport-utility. It was created on the theory that most sport-utility owners never take their vehicles off-road and, in fact, want a luxurious ride that feels and handles like a Mercedes sedan.

The most interesting characteristic of these two similar but different vehicles is their aggressive pricing. Both Mercedes-Benz and Lexus obviously want a big helping of the burgeoning cohort of Mercedes-Benz ML320 approaches a road construction area in Traverse City. The vehicle is capable of functioning in that environment, but we didn't go in because we didn't want to get arrested.

A more adventurous driver than I took this ML320 off-road and got it splattered with mud.

The shape of the ML320 may be strange for a Mercedes, but the bold three-pointed star in the grille leaves no doubt as to the make.

memory system, electrochromic rearview mirrors, three-way programmable transmitter for garage door and driveway gate and dust and deodorization filter.

The Mercedes ML320 is powered by a 3.2-liter V-6 with aluminum-alloy cylinder heads with two intake valves and one exhaust valve per cylinder.

Each cylinder has two high-energy ignition coils and spark plugs. The engine puts out 215 hp, runs on premium unleaded fuel and is rated by the EPA at 17 mpg city and 21 highway.

Standard engine in the Lexus RX300 is the all-aluminum 220-hp 3.0-liter V-6 recently introduced in the Lexus ES300 sedan.

Continuously variable valve timing is a feature of this engine. The RX300 weighs less than most sport-utilities since it does not have a separate frame.

Four-wheel antilock brakes are standard and the RX300 has side airbags in addition to front driver and passenger bags.

EPA mileage ratings are 18 mpg city and 22 highway. The Lexus RX300 had a couple of nifty features that are unusual. The shift lever for the automatic transmission comes out of the dashboard instead of the floor, which provides a flat spot on the floor between the seats for temporary storage.

And the express-down driver-side window also has an express-up capability.

The Mercedes-Benz and Lexus look a lot alike, their driving feel is very similar and they are about the same size.

The Mercedes is 180.6 inches long, just a half-inch longer than the Lexus.

Another thing they have in common: they are going to have a strong impact on the luxury sport-utility market.

The Lexus RX300 has a shape and size similar to the Mercedes, but is easily distinguished by its toothy grille.

The correlation of weather and its effect on your health

The newspaper lands against the door with a thud. What is the first item of interest that you turn to? Probably the weather. Then, perhaps the horoscope for the day.

Now we may be able to add to these two points of interest. Before long, our daily printed link with the immediate and faraway world will carry another important message that could help us plan our day and to operate at peak efficiency — a rundown on how today's weather may affect our health.

Example: expect a mixture of freezing rain and snow all day accompanied by gusty winds, high in the low 30s, barometer 29.1 and falling.

Health index: look for greater energy and endurance but watch out for increased aggressiveness, sleepiness and sensitivity to pain. General medical complaints: 3 percent above average.

The index seems to be pretty much on target and at least as accurate as many predictions and more reliable than horoscopes.

At the very least, the index will provide a medical excuse for not performing as well as usual on bad-weather days.

But what can we use as an excuse when the weather is wonderful and we are not? Maybe we could find an alibi in the horoscope section.

The correlation of weather and its effect on your health is no joke. Since 1952, West Germany required its weather service to make health predictions available to doctors and hospitals.

Prime Time

By Marian Trainor

The doctors get coded information on the type and intensity of ailments the weather is likely to bring about in the next 12 to 36 hours.

In the United States, we can find weather health reports on cable-TV's weather channel. We already know of some 44 conditions including blood pressure, migraine headaches and mood shifts that correlate with the weather.

Right now you may be saying, "I already know that the weather affects moods. It's just common sense to know that people feel better on warm, sunny days and worse when the days are gloomy and gray."

But it's not that simple. Research shows that how you feel today may be associated with yesterday's weather.

This seems to indicate a need for weekly compilations of reports so that you can check back to why you feel down on a day when the skies are blue and the sun shines.

The answer, the experts say, is that weather — especially air temperature, humidity and amount of sunshine — may exaggerate pre-existing disorders, illnesses or change behaviors.

Studies show that because of the weather, you may tire easily or be unable to sleep. Under other conditions you may find yourself taking medications to control weather-induced aches and pains.

For instance, on a cool, rainy day, you're likely to anger easily and be more sensitive to pain. You won't sleep as well and your arthritis or ulcers will cause distress.

Cool, clear days, on the other hand, decrease your chance of getting a migraine, asthma attack or stroke.

One of the worse weather conditions that occurs is a warm, humid, partly sunny day on which rain is expected. Such weather conditions cause you to feel sleepy, lazy and out-of-it.

If you are susceptible, those same weather conditions are right for cramps, stomach upsets, glaucoma attacks, fevers, bronchitis and heart attacks.

Two-thirds of the population reacts to weather conditions. The rest do not.

Those who react are categorized as weather-keen people. This star-crossed group is composed of females, young or old, slender or overweight, excitable or shy and from both upper and lower income groups.

Now that you know who you are, you can prepare yourself to deal with weather conditions that affect you. Half of solving a problem, is knowing the problem.

Just as weather can slow you down, so it can also make you feel good. Studies show that the weather that gives the most pleasure is — you guessed it — sunshine! If it is a cool, dry, sunny day you should feel great.

We can't go into hibernation and sleep the days and nights away until the sun breaks through the sullen clouds of winter.

Economics will not permit it. Duty calls, which involves getting up and going to work no matter what the weather.

But even the routine of going and coming and staying out of the weather as much as possible can get too restrictive. Tensions build.

There are ways to relieve tensions. One of them is exercise such as walking.

Walking doesn't have much appeal when each footfall could land you bottom-side down on a sneaky piece of ice. Health clubs and exercise classes may be too structured.

What's left? Walking the malls. They are warm in winter and cool in summer; they have music for diversion and are long enough to chalk up mileage.

Senior citizens and heart patients are often advised by their doctors to exercise in the malls to avoid temperature extremes and other stresses of outdoor walking.

Besides, as one walker remarked, "You don't have to watch for cars, dogs or holes in the sidewalks."

Hospice volunteer training offered at Cottage

Cottage Hospice is offering volunteer training to caring men and women who are interested in helping provide support to terminally ill patients and their families in the home and in extended care facilities.

The Caring Person Program is a five-week, 20-hour program, beginning Saturday, May 2 and continuing through Friday, June 5.

Classes meet every Tuesday and Thursday morning from 10 a.m. to noon at Henry Ford Cottage Hospital, 159 Kercheval Ave., one mile south of Moross in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Men and women who plan to become hospice volunteers are required to participate in the full 20 hours of training which prepares them for a range of family situations and patient conditions. The Caring Person Program offers instruction by professionals on many aspects of care for the terminally ill.

Effective communication, bereavement and spiritual care, comfort care, legal issues and funeral planning are a few of the topics presented.

Volunteers can help make a person's final days more meaningful. Because so many people need extra love and care, hospice volunteers are a vital part of the hospice team.

They help provide the support terminally ill patients and their families deserve. For more information about the next Caring Person Program, call Maria Ciccone, hospice volunteer coordinator, at (313) 343-6051.

'Coping With Aging Parents' program offered

Adult Well-Being Services provides a "Coping With Aging Parents" program offered for adults who may feel guilty, angry, resentful or overwhelmed by their elderly parents' growing emotional and physical needs.

This supportive, informative program deals with these issues and other frustrations felt by persons who care for elderly relatives. Additional topics include information about aging, community resources and alternative living situations. A continuing support group is offered.

The program will be held at two locations:

- Holy Cross Hospital, 4777 E. Outer Drive in Detroit beginning Wednesday, April 29 - Thursday, June 4 from 10 a.m. to noon.

- St. Thomas Aquinas Church, 5780 Evergreen, at Ford Road, in Detroit on Thursdays, 6:30 p.m. - 8:30 p.m.

There is no fee for this program; however preregistration is required by calling Adult Well-Being Services at (313) 833-3765.

For those who won't settle for checking that's just

With Free Homeowner's Checking™ from Standard Federal Bank, you get a checking account that's more than free. You get value-added extras that

- make your account worth even more. Like,
- no monthly service charge
- no minimum balance requirement
- no per-check fees, no matter how many checks you write.

But that's not all. We'll throw in 30 minutes of free, long-distance calls to use any way you like. Have your kids call home from school. Call when you're out of town...it's up to you!

And we'll include even more value-added incentives:

- a book filled with valuable Standard Federal coupons
- 50 free checks
- check buy-back of up to $10 for unused checks from another bank.

That's quite an offer. And you don't even need to have your mortgage with Standard Federal to qualify. Even if you don't own a home, there are ways you can still avoid paying a monthly service charge on your Regular Checking Account. So get more value out of your checking, come to the Standard Federal Banking Center near you, or call us at 1-800/643-9600.

Grosse Pointe public schools gift roundup totals $43,000

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

In a wealth of gift giving by Pointe residents, the public school system recently accepted more than $43,000 in donations and pledges, including:

- The Ferry Elementary School PTO donated $928.28 to continue buying elementary reading books that Ferry principal, Janet Watt, gives to each Ferry student on his or her birthday.

"The child can make a selection from a set of books that are age-appropriate," said Suzanne Klein, superintendent of schools.

The program also calls for each child's name to be engraved in calligraphy on the birthday book.

"(This program) is a great idea," said council member Jack Ryan.

- The Brownell Middle School Student Council and the Brownell PTO teamed up to pledge $33,570 over a two-year period to purchase and install ceiling fans in Brownell classrooms.

"Most PTO's have donated ceiling fans" in the past, said Christian Fenton, assistant superintendent for business and support services, explaining that the district doesn't depend on donations to maintain or renovate school buildings or capital equipment.

- The Grosse Pointe High School Choir Boosters donated $3,537 to purchase a computer, 17-inch color monitor, and a color laser printer for the South High vocal music lab. The equipment will be used to help prepare performance arrangements, said Klein.

- The Defer PTO gave $2,000 to the Defer Elementary School library to purchase new books and library materials. Funds for this gift were raised by the PTO and the annual Defer Book Fair.

- Also at Brownell, the school's PTO gave $1,523 for instructional materials for the school.

- The Grosse Pointe South High School Dugout Booster Club donated $1,500 to buy a covered scoring table for the South Athletic Department.

Buy a brick and cement your place in North history

Now is your chance to "pave your way into history!" The Grosse Pointe North High School Class of 1999 invites the public to cement its legacy at North by buying a personalized, engraved brick. The bricks will be installed adjacent to the Grosse Pointe Community Performing Arts Center during the summer.

Whether a parent, student, alumni, teacher, staff member, supporting citizen, or a future Norseman, this is an incredible opportunity to become one of North High School's enduring memories, says a member of the fundraising committee.

The committee member further said that these bricks are only $50 each, a small price to guarantee you'll be a permanent part of North High lore.

Eight Grosse Pointe teens win national scholarships

Seven Grosse Pointe teens were among the 2,200 high school students named as the nation's academic champions and winners of National Merit $2,000 Scholarships, according to a recent announcement by officials of National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC).

They are: Stephen B. Cenko of the City of Grosse Pointe, Shaun D. Dillon of the City of Grosse Pointe, and Thomas C. Durant II of the City of Grosse Pointe, all seniors at University Liggett School; Seth M. Lloyd of the City of Grosse Pointe, and Claire E. Molloy of Grosse Pointe Farms, both seniors at Grosse Pointe South High School; Eric H. Bonten of Grosse Pointe Woods, a senior at Grosse Pointe North High School; and Matthew J. Nowinski of the City of Grosse Pointe, a senior at University

Detroit Jesuit High School. And one Grosse Pointe teen — Brianna S. Crantz of Grosse Pointe Woods, a senior at University Liggett School — was among 600 winners nationally of an Achievement Scholarship. This award is also supported by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, which conducts the achievement program.

While the National Merit Scholarship Corporation selected the above seven students to be among the 2,200 winners of National Merit $2,000 Scholarships, it is not the only announcement the organization will make this spring of winners. On May 20, about 2,500 recipients of college-sponsored Merit Scholarship awards will be announced, with additional winners of college-sponsored awards to be released in late July. The 1998 competition for Merit Scholarship awards began when about 1.1 million juniors in 20,000 U.S. high schools took the 1996 PSAT/NMSQT, which served as an initial screen of this large number of program entrants. In September 1997, some 15,000 top scorers were named semifinalists; only those students, representing less than 1 percent of high school seniors nationwide, had an opportunity to continue in the rigorous competition by advancing to the finalist level.

To become finalists, semifinalists had to have extremely high academic records and meet other requirements. Approximately 14,000 able finalists were notified of their standing earlier this year, and from this group all Merit

15 University Liggett students inducted into Cum Laude Society

Fifteen University Liggett School students were inducted April 14 into the prestigious Cum Laude Society.

Inducted into the ULS chapter were senior Scott Simpson, Brianna Crantz, Carl Spina, Marcus Faust, Sans Danish, John Staniszewski, Sheena Parikh and Naeha Dixit, and juniors Ryan Clement, Nima Bararsani, Nadine Harik, Michelle McGoey, Kimberly Watrick, Kira Hinds and Shree Venkat. They join present senior members Ariadne Lie, Allison Johnson, Thomas Pozios, Vishal Srivastava, Shaun Dillon, Clark Durant, Brad Cenko and Matt Nowak, inducted last year.

Guest speaker was Bloomfield Hills attorney

Lou Kasischke, a member of the ill-fated 1996 Mount Everest expedition that killed eight climbers in a freak storm — chronicled in the book "Into Thin Air" by Jon Krakauer.

The Cum Laude Society was founded in 1906 at the Tome School in Maryland to "promote learning and sound scholarship in secondary schools."

Charters of membership in the Cum Laude Society were granted to schools of acknowledged academic superiority. Among the earliest were Exeter, Andover and Penn Charter. The ULS chapter was founded in 1944. Membership in the society is the equivalent of membership in Phi Beta Kappa on the college level. There are more than 300 chapters in existence today.

In determining membership for Cum Laude, the ULS faculty reviews academic records and takes into account the membership limit specified in the national organization's bylaws. In each class since 1944, there has been a select percentage elected to membership in their junior year, while the remainder of eligible members have entered during their senior year. While grade point average is a major factor, also considered are the student's commitment to challenge in honors courses taken, character, and the overall involvement at ULS.

Liggett to hold fundraising car wash May 2

Members of the sophomore class at wing entrance at 1045 Cook Road in Grosse University Liggett School invite the public to have their cars washed by the students in a school fundraiser on Saturday, May 2.

From 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., the car wash will be held in the parking lot near the school's art wing entrance at 1045 Cook Road in Grosse Pointe Woods. The students will wash vehicles for $4 each. The funds raised from this car wash event are earmarked to support class activities.

South physics teacher attends national-level conference

Mark Davids, physics teacher and a department chairman at Grosse Pointe South High School, attended the National Science Teachers Association (NSTA) National Convention held April 16-19 in Las Vegas.

More than 15,000 science teachers, scientists and education leaders from around the country exchanged ideas at the convention about effective ways to teach science to students of all ages.

Teachers participated in a variety of hands-on workshops, short courses, demonstrations and area study tours and tried out up-to-date teaching materials and cutting-edge technologies exhibited by more than 450 companies and organizations.

Founded in 1944, the National Science Teachers Association is the world's largest organization dedicated to promoting excellence and innovation in science teaching and learning for all.

The association's current membership of more than 53,000 includes science teachers, science supervisors, administrators, scientists, business and industry representatives, and others actively involved in science education.

The NSTA web site can be accessed via computer at <http://www.nsta.org>.

Wayne County RESA hosts photo contest for high school students; deadline is May 6

Wayne RESA, the Regional Educational Service Agency for Wayne County, is sponsoring a photography contest for high school students in Wayne County. This year's theme, "People, Places and Pride," gives students the opportunity to submit photos from a wide variety of subjects that are most important to them.

Three winners will be selected in each of the three categories: people, places and pride. Students can submit portraits and candid photos of:

- family, friends, classmates;
- classroom or extracurricular school activities;
- cultural institutions;
- landmarks;
- community events;
- traps and more.

First-place winners will receive a $100 United States Savings Bond; second-place winners will receive a $30 U.S.

Savings Bond and third-place winners will receive a $25 gift certificate good at Borders Bookstores.

All of the winning photos will be displayed at the Wayne RESA Art Fair on Saturday, June 6 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. "Our goal for the contest is to recognize the tremendous talents of our high school students and give them an opportunity to share that talent with the community," said Michelle Gaynier, communications manager and coordinator of the photo contest.

The winning photos and others that are submitted will be displayed throughout the RESA facilities and used in RESA's traveling informational exhibits and publications during the coming year.

"Wayne County is a tremendously diverse community and what better way to capture that and the spirit of youth than in visual images created by high school students," Gaynier said.

Students must submit a 3 inch x 5 inch color or black and white photograph, along with their name, school, address and home phone number by Wednesday, May 6 to Wayne RESA, 33500 Van Born Road, P.O. Box 807, Wayne, Michigan 48184 to the attention of Michelle Gaynier.

For more information or a copy of the entry form, call (734) 334-1587.

Scholars

Scholar designees are being chosen. At the conclusion of the 1998 competition, over 7,400 Merit Program Finalists will have received Merit Scholarship awards worth a total of $28 million for college undergraduate study.

Founded in 1964, the Achievement Program is an annual academic competition established specifically to honor promising Black American youth and to increase their educational opportunities, according to the National Achievement Scholarship Program's public information officer.

All of the 1,200 finalists in the 1998 achievement program competed for one of the single-payment "National" awards; these scholarships are distributed on a regional representation basis, in numbers proportional to the population of Black Americans in each of several geographic regions. More than 100,000 black students entered the 1998 Achievement Scholarship competition by requesting consideration when they took the 1996 PSAT/NMSQT as high school juniors.

The names of nearly 600 winners of this year's Achievement Scholarship awards were announced last week by officials of the National Achievement Scholarship Program.

Village Food Market welcomed students

Kerby Elementary School children took a field trip recently to Village Food Market on Mack in Grosse Pointe Farms to get a behind-the-scenes look at the tremendous work that goes into running a business like Village Foods which must stock its shelves daily with fresh produce, meat, etc. Armed with a clipboard full of questions are students (front to back) GeGe Geha, Michael Willemain, and Danny Gosselin. Following behind are the adult chaperones Bonnie Burke and Christine Willemain.

The Council approved the Site Plan Review for Christ Church, 61 Grosse Pointe Boulevard, for temporary parking on the Church grounds, subject to certain conditions.

The Council approved the request from the Rotary Club of Grosse Pointe-Sunrise, to hold the 21st Pointer Sunrise Run on Saturday, September 20, 1998.

The Council scheduled a Public Hearing for Monday, May 18, 1998 at 7:30 p.m. to consider the formal adoption of the Proposed General Fund Budget for Fiscal Year 1998-1999.

The Council adopted a resolution exercising an option to purchase real property.

The Council adopted a resolution/proclamation proclaiming Friday, April 24th as Arbor Day in the City of Grosse Pointe Farms.

The Council approved the low bidder, Superior Ford, in the total amount of $62,056.00 to replace two public safety vehicles and one administrative vehicle.

The Council approved the low bid of B & B Environmental, Inc., in the amount of $18,495.00 for underground storage tank closure.

The Council received the Building Department Quarterly and Property Maintenance Code Quarterly Reports and ordered them placed on file.

The Council approved the services of Katherine Beebe & Associates, Inc., in the amount not to exceed $6,000.00 for services related to the determination of a feasibility for a community center to be located at Mack/Moross.

Upon proper motion made, supported and earned, the Meeting adjourned at 11:15 p.m.

THE NEXT REGULAR MEETING OF THE CITY COUNCIL WILL BE HELD ON MONDAY, MAY 18, 1998 AT 7:30 P.M. IN THE CITY COUNCIL CHAMBERS, 96 KERBY ROAD, GROSSE POINTE FARMS, MICHIGAN.

St. Paul students donate 'beary' loving support to St. John hospital

About 150 big-hearted elementary school children from St. Paul Catholic School in Grosse Pointe brought a bit of comfort to grieving parents by donating 17 Gund teddy bears to the St. John Hospital and Medical Center Perinatal Loss Program.

The industrious sixth-, seventh- and eighth-graders gave their free time and ran errands, did odd jobs around their neighborhoods and babysat in order to raise the $425 needed to purchase the stuffed toys. A group of students also picked out the bears themselves and personally presented them to the hospital.

opportunity to make a contribution to the community," said Betsy Berg, a teacher at St. Paul. "The kids really worked hard to earn the money and had a good time doing it."

The St. John Perinatal Loss Program was established both to comfort and assist parents who have suffered a miscarriage, stillbirth or infant death. In addition to the bears, parents receive a package that contains a book about bereavement, an "angel gown" and a tiny blanket for the infant (both handmade by volunteers), photographs, a card with the baby's footprints, and other support materials. Custom-made bags that hold the mementos are also provided by hospital volunteers.

Donations are always welcome toward the purchase of fabric and other materials used in the perinatal support packages. For more information or to make a donation, call (313) 343-7447.

St. John Hospital and Medical Center is the flagship hospital of St. John Health System, a growing network of community-based health care services including nine hospitals, and more than 100 ambulatory and medical offices, located throughout Wayne, Macomb, Oakland and St. Clair counties.

South's NCA accreditation renewed

Principal Arthur F. Miller of Grosse Pointe South High School announced last week that the school's North Central Association (NCA) accreditation has been extended through the 1997-98 school year.

This action was taken at the NCA's Annual Meeting in Chicago on March 31.

"Along with hosting periodic on-site evaluations by a visiting team of educators, each NCA school is accredited on the basis of an annual report on conditions in the school and on such supplementary information as the Commission on Schools requests," Miller explained.

"The continued accreditation means that the conditions for effective education exist in the school."

The North Central Association is the largest of the country's regional accrediting agencies.

It is a voluntary coalition of more than 8,400 schools and more than 1,000 colleges and universities in the 19-state region of the central United States.

The association works with schools to improve the quality of education through a continuous process of accreditation and evaluation.

NCA currently accredits 1,224 schools in Michigan.

A swell pair

A 19-year-old man from Grosse Pointe Park, out riding with a 15-year-old Park girl, was arrested by Grosse Pointe Shores police for possession with intent to deliver marijuana.

On Thursday, April 22, at 10:43 p.m., the man was stopped by Shores police on south bound Lakeshore near Webber Place for driving his red two-door 1989 Plymouth erratically and almost hitting the curb. Upon detecting a strong odor coming from the car, police asked the suspect if there were any marijuana in his vehicle.

"No. Go ahead and search if you want," he said, in a claim repeated by the girl, according to police. "You are not going to find anything."

Oh, yeah? The following were among the drug-related items police found that he claimed he didn't have:

- An Altoid can containing a razor blade and a "small amount of marijuana";
- Chrome scale;
- A small zip-top bag containing what a later drug test showed was marijuana;
- A bag of suspected marijuana "stuffed under the driver seat." The man was released the following afternoon after posting a $200 bond. The girl was released to her father.

Close call at GPYC gas dock

The Shores dispatched two officers on Tuesday, April 21, at 7:49 p.m. to investigate a refusing mishap at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club gas dock.

Gasoline was "somehow" pumped into the septic tank outlet instead of the gas tank of a boat belonging to a man from Roseville. The boat was flooded with 15 gallons of fuel.

If a fire had erupted, the Shores' new foam fire-fighting truck could not have reached the gas dock because outlying dockage areas lack access paths, said Sgt. Archie Grieve of the Shores department of public safety.

PUBLIC SAFETY REPORTS

Yellow retriever retrieved in GPS

In the third animal rescue in three weeks, police from Grosse Pointe Shores recovered a young golden Labrador retriever wearing New Jersey dog tags that was barking loudly in the neighborhood of Sunningdale and Stratton Place on Thursday, April 23, at 12:55 p.m.

The animal was taken to the Grosse Pointe Animal Clinic in the Park, where his owners, who recently moved to the Shores, retrieved him. The prospect of Hunt Club members riding horses off-site beginning Sunday, May 1 means the Shores might have a chance to add to their animal tally next week.

OUIL situation back to normal

After a week of no arrests for drunken driving on Lakeshore in Grosse Pointe Shores, things returned to normal on Monday, April 20 at 9:01 p.m., when police stopped a 43-year-old Eastpointe man for driving a red 1998 Chevrolet pickup truck without taillights.

Suspecting the man had been drinking, police administered various field sobriety tests, all of which the suspect failed, including trying to touch his nose. The suspect blew a .27 blood alcohol content, spent the night in jail, posted a $100 bond, received a court date and was released.

Jewel heist

A $39,500 14 karat yellow gold ring with baguette cut diamonds was reported missing from an office in the 100 block of Kercheval in Grosse Pointe Farms. The owner reported the ring missing on Thursday, April 23 at 2:30 p.m., and suspects it was stolen within the previous fortnight.

Over the limit

A man driving a black, 1987 2-door Jeep CJ-7 with a nearly empty bottle of Mohawk vodka in a paper bag in the back seat nearly passed an alphabet field sobriety test in the Farms last week. After starting at the letter "a," he ran out of gas at the letter "w."

The 42-year-old Grosse Pointe Farms resident registered .30 on a chemical alcohol test after police suspected him of repeatedly trying to take a series of field breathalyzer examinations.

The man had been pulled over for driving erratically on Lothrop near Williams on Saturday, April 25 at 4:20 p.m.

Woods snowmobiles go missing

A resident of the 19800 block of Vernier in Grosse Pointe Woods told police that when he went to his garage on Tuesday, April 21, he noticed two snowmobiles and a trailer hitch were missing. They were last seen on Saturday, March 28.

Lowdown on Park tool thefts

Witnesses reported seeing four men in a mid-1980s tan two-door Nissan with a partial license plate "PDP" drive up to a landscaping truck parked at the corner of Fairfax and Barrington at about 4:30 p.m. on Saturday, April 25.

The suspects then left their car, went to the truck and took several pieces of lawn and gardening equipment.

The suspects then got into their car and drove north on Barrington, hitting an orange construction barrel before turning west onto Jefferson.

Park car theft

A 1983 Oldsmobile Cutlass parked in the 1200 block of Wayburn was taken between 6 p.m., Wednesday, April 22 and 8 a.m. Thursday, April 23.

Teaching kids about personal finance may be best investment

By Sam Ventimiglia

Today's parents spend tens of thousands of dollars to send their teens to college, but many graduates will be financially illiterate.

Because of a lack of understanding of personal finance, many consumers rack up personal debt, fail to save for retirement, and invest their money poorly, without understanding the relationship between risk and reward.

So how do we make sure our children — the next generation of consumers — become financially responsible adults?

The answer is simple. If they learn to handle their finances responsibly as children, they are more likely to handle their financial responsibilities as adults.

Most financial experts agree that an allowance is one of the best ways for parents to teach children how to manage money. Nearly 50 percent of children between the ages of 9 and 14 do not receive a regular allowance, and those who do are likely to receive an amount that is too small to teach them a meaningful lesson about personal finance.

This may be a serious miscalculation by parents, because studies show that children who receive an allowance learn how to save, set priorities and live within their means — skills that will serve them well as adults.

Many financial advisors suggest starting an allowance at age 7 or 8, while some even recommend starting as early as three. Most seven-year-olds are able to distinguish between coin denominations and their relative values (i.e., four quarters equal one dollar), and they are still young enough to accept financial direction from their parents.

Generally speaking, however, children are ready to get an allowance as soon as they begin to understand that money can be exchanged for goods in stores.

But how much is enough — or too little?

A good rule is to give a dollar for each year of a child's age, or as close to that as you can afford. To be a useful money management tool, the amount needs to be large enough for children to buy things they want within a reasonable amount of time, with some money left over for savings.

An important budgeting lesson can be learned if the allowance is divided into several parts.

One popular method suggested by experts is to have children put 30 percent of their allowance into long-term savings for college, 30 percent into savings for short-term goals, such as a new toy or computer game, and 10 percent toward a charity of the child's choice.

The remaining 30 percent is pocket money or "quick cash" that children can use when they are shopping and want to buy something.

Using this method, children decide where their dollars are going. It is an opportunity for parents not just to give their children money, but to give them financial control.

These percentages are just a suggestion. In practice, whatever works best for your family is fine, as long as you and your child agree on how the system will work.

One critical issue for parents is whether to tie their children's allowance to chores.

Almost all parenting experts agree that children should be expected to do specific jobs around the house simply because they are members of the family, but say parents would be wise to avoid paying children an allowance for doing these regular chores, because it may lead children to expect a cash bonus for any task they are asked to perform.

While some parents say subtracting an amount from the allowance when the child breaks a house rule can be a useful disciplinary tactic, financial experts advise against using allowance as a punishment, advocating the revoking of another of the child's privileges instead.

Perhaps the most important thing parents can do is to let their children learn from their financial mistakes.

It may be difficult to resist the impulse to steer our kids away from attractively packaged but cheaply constructed toys when they have their hearts set on the toys, but remember that splurging on inappropriate items is part of the learning process. Don't interfere by saying, "That's not a smart thing to spend your money on."

Once the allowance starts accumulating, where's the best place for your children to keep their money?

Several options are available, starting with the good old-fashioned piggy bank. Watching money physically accumulate is often good motivation to save.

To give your children a real sense of the importance of saving and the magic of compounding, take them to the bank to open passbook accounts of their own. Periodically, take them to the bank to make subsequent deposits of allowance funds. Some banks allow children to open an account with a minimum deposit of $10, and others even have special savings programs to attract young customers.

If your bank does not waive penalties for small balances or for accounts that remain inactive for periods of time, make sure your child's account is cross-linked with your own savings and checking accounts.

When your children are between 8 and 10 years old, another good option is to involve them in the stock market, where their money can potentially grow more rapidly, while they learn how businesses operate and how investors buy and sell stocks.

Investing in the stock market provides additional learning opportunities for your children.

For example, stock prices are reported in fractions, which is an important math concept for grade-schoolers to learn. Reading the newspaper to follow up on their stocks provides an opportunity to develop research and communication skills.

With a stake of several hundred dollars per child, parents can pay a discount broker to buy a small number of shares of stocks their children choose.

Children may be more interested if they are asked to pick stocks of companies that make products they know, such as Disney, McDonald's or Nintendo.

With these kinds of stocks, a lunch break or an afternoon playing computer games can become a lesson in how shares of a company grow in value when other people like and use the company's products.

Parents can also open an account in their children's name in a mutual fund that invests in brand-name companies their children will recognize. Some of these funds also send out quarterly newsletters that profile the companies in the fund and teach basic investment concepts.

It's important to remember, however, that parental guidance is needed when investing in the stock market. Under state laws, minors can own securities but the parent must execute trades.

Once you've started your children on the road to good fiscal sense, you'll be able to watch as they reap the benefits.

Giving your children a solid foundation in financial matters may take time and patience, but be assured it will pay dividends for the rest of their lives.

The U.S. Post Office now accepts credit and debit cards Continually providing the best customer service, the U.S. Post Office has begun to accept payment by credit card and debit (ATM) card, making them the largest retailer in the nation to accept such forms of credit.

"This new customer convenience is uniform in all Metro Detroit post offices, and all post offices in the nation," says Carl T. January Jr., Detroit district manager.

In the most extensive credit card and debit card acceptance rollout ever, the postal service and NationsBank of Charlotte, N.C., jointly installed 60,000 card acceptance terminals and trained more than 100,000 employees in system usage.

"We are very pleased to join the postal service and our processing partner, First Data Merchant Services, to install a payment system that will benefit all Americans, says NationsBank Vice Chairman and Chief Financial Officer, James H. Hance Jr.

Postal customers can purchase all postal products and services with debit cards including those excluded from credit charges such as money orders, meter settings and bulk mail payments.

County commissioner pitches anti-tax plan at Park council meeting

By Jim Stickford
Staff Writer

A brief discussion at Monday night's Park city council meeting on the proposal to change the way Wayne County raises taxes turned into a free-floating discussion on the state of bus service and casinos in Detroit.

Wayne County Commissioner Christopher Cavanagh requested a few minutes to speak to the council about the proposed proposal that, if passed by county voters, would require a super majority of the county commission and 60 percent of county voters to approve any county millage increases.

Cavanagh represents the East District, which covers a portion of the city of Detroit as well as the five Pointes and Harper Woods. His is the only district that straddles Detroit and the suburbs, he said.

"When the county commission approved placing this proposition on the August ballot, the vote was passed by a vote of 8-7," Cavanagh said. "The seven commissioners from the suburbs voted to place it on the ballot and the seven commissioners from Detroit are entirely within Detroit voted to keep it off the ballot."

Cavanagh said he vetoed to place it on the ballot because he didn't want this to become a Detroit or suburbs issue. Rather he said he thought it was about giving the voters of Wayne County a voice in how property taxes are assessed.

"Taking away that decision from voters is patronizing," Cavanagh said.

When he asked the Park council if they had any questions, Cavanagh was not quite prepared for the queries he received.

Mayor Palmer Heenan tried to pin him down on his view of casinos in Detroit.

When Cavanagh said that he opposed riverfront casinos because of the traffic problems they would create on Jefferson, Heenan asked if he opposed casinos in general, or just along the river. Cavanagh had to admit it was the river location that bothered him, not the casinos.

Heenan then asked Cavanagh about efforts to merge SMART and Detroit Department of Transportation bus lines.

Heenan said merging SMART with D-DOT was a bad idea because suburban residents would have to assume D-DOT's debts and pension obligations, an expensive idea.

Councilman Greg Theokas then quizzed Cavanagh about his views on merging the two systems.

Theokas serves on Wayne County's consulting board to SMART. He said that a merging of the two systems would mean the loss of autonomy for the suburbs.

"I predict if SMART and D-DOT are merged, many suburban communities will opt out of bus service all together," Theokas said.

Cavanagh said that there is pressure from the state transportation department to get SMART and D-DOT to cooperate more. If the two systems don't, there is a good chance that the state will end its funding, he said.

A merged system between SMART and D-DOT would be bad," said Heenan. "If Detroit can set the transportation tax rates while the suburbs pay them, there's no responsibility or accountability to the taxpayers. That won't produce a good system."

"I want more cooperation between the two systems," said Cavanagh. "Not a merger."

After finishing the SMART portion of the evening, Heenan concluded Cavanagh's discussion by saying that Wayne County residents pay about 8 mills in property taxes. He contrasted that figure with the 4 mills paid by Oakland County residents and the under-4 mills paid by Macomb County residents.

"With taxes like that, it motivates people to move out of Wayne County," Heenan said. "We don't want that. We want people to stay in the county. But high taxes aren't the way to keep people."

Here are flood safety tips for May showers

• Preparing for a flood:
— Make an itemized list of personal property well in advance of a possible flood. Photograph the interior and exterior of your home. Store the list, photos and documents in a safe place.

— Memorize the safest and fastest route to high ground. Keep a battery-operated radio on hand, along with emergency cooking equipment and a flashlight.

— If you live in a frequently flooded area, keep sandbags, plastic sheets and lumber on hand to protect property.

— Know the elevation of your property in relation to nearby streams and other waterways, and plan what you will do and where you will go in a flood emergency.

• When a flood threatens:
— If forced to leave your property and time permits, move essential items to safe ground, fill tanks to keep them from floating away and grease immovable machinery.

— Store a supply of drinking water in clean bathtubs and in large containers.

• During a flood:
— Avoid areas subject to sudden flooding.

— Do not attempt to cross a flowing stream where water is above your knees.

— Do not attempt to drive over a flooded road.

— Keep children from playing in floodwaters or near culverts and storm drains.

• After a flood:
— Seek necessary medical care at the nearest hospital. Food, clothing, shelter and first aid are available at Red Cross shelters.

— Use flashlights, not lanterns or torches, to examine buildings — flammables may be inside.

— Do not handle live electrical equipment in wet areas. Electrical equipment should be checked and dried before being returned to service.

— Do not use fresh food that has come in contact with floodwaters.

Flood facts

Q. What is a flood and when do most occur?

A. The inundation of a normally dry area caused by an increased water level in an established watercourse, such as a river, stream, or drainage ditch, or ponding of water at or near the point where the rain fell. Flooding can occur anytime during the year. However, many occur seasonally after winter snow melts or heavy spring rains.

Q. What are flash floods?

A. Flash floods occur suddenly and result from heavy localized rainfall. Flash floods can begin before the rain stops. Water levels on small streams may rise quickly in heavy rain storms, especially near the headwaters of river basins. Heavy rains can also cause flash flooding in areas where the floodplain has been urbanized.

Q. What are other causes of flooding in Michigan?

A. Ice jams and dam failures can also cause both flooding and flash flooding.

Q. Are people killed as a result of floods?

A. Many people are killed by flash floods when driving or walking on roads and bridges that are covered by water. Even though the water might only look inches deep, it could be much deeper and the current might be strong. It only takes 2 feet of water to carry away many of today's automobiles. If you are in a car and water starts rising, get out and move to higher ground.

Q. What is a flood watch?

A. Flood watch means that heavy rains occurring or expected to occur may soon cause flooding in certain areas. It is issued to inform the public and cooperating agencies that current and developing weather er conditions are such that there is a threat of flooding, but the occurrence is neither certain nor imminent.

Q. What is a flash flood watch?

A. Flash flood watch means that heavy rains occurring or expected to occur may soon cause flash flooding in certain areas.

It alerts residents to the possibility of a flood emergency which will require immediate action. When a flash flood watch is issued, be prepared to move out of danger with little notice.

If you are on the road, watch for flooding at highway dips, bridges and low areas. Distant heavy rain may not be visible to you, but may be indicated by thunder and lightning on the horizon.

Q. What is a flash flood warning?

A. Flash flood warnings mean that flash flooding is already occurring or imminent on certain streams or designated areas. Immediate precautions should be taken by those in threatened areas.

When a flash flood warning is issued in your area — act quickly. Get out of areas subject to flooding and avoid areas where flooding has already occurred.

NOTICE OF LAST DAY OF REGISTRATION FOR THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF THE GROSSE POINTE PUBLIC SCHOOL SYSTEM, WAYNE COUNTY, MICHIGAN

TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF SAID SCHOOL DISTRICT:

Please take notice that the Regular Election of The Grosse Pointe Public School System, Wayne County, Michigan, will be held in the School District on Monday, June 8, 1998.

Section 1052 of Act 451, Public Acts of Michigan, 1976, provides as follows:

"The inspectors of election at any annual or special election shall not receive the vote of a person residing in a registration school district whose name is not registered as an elector in the city or township in which the person resides or whose name is not in the registration file in the precinct in which the person offers to vote when city or township registration records are used in school elections as provided in section 1053."

THE LAST DAY on which persons may register with the Clerk of the Township or City in which they reside in order to be eligible to vote at the Regular Election to be held on June 8, 1998, is Monday, May 11, 1998. Persons registering after 5:00 P.M., Eastern Daylight Time, on Monday, May 11, 1998, are not eligible to vote at the Regular Election.

Under the provisions of Act 451, Public Acts of Michigan, 1976, registrations will not be taken by school officials, and only persons who have registered as general electors with the Clerk of the City or Township in which they reside, or through registrations at a Secretary of State Driver's License Bureau, are registered school electors. Persons planning to register with the respective City or Township Clerks must ascertain the days and hours on which the Clerk's Office is open for registration.

Registrations of unregistered qualified electors of the School District will be received at the following places:

1. Residents of the City of Grosse Pointe Park shall register at the office of the Clerk of the City of Grosse Pointe Park, 15115 East Jefferson Avenue, City of Grosse Pointe Park, Michigan.
2. Residents of the City of Grosse Pointe shall register at the office of the Clerk of the City of Grosse Pointe, 17147 Maumee, City of Grosse Pointe, Michigan.
3. Residents of the City of Grosse Pointe Farms shall register at the office of the Clerk of the City of Grosse Pointe Farms, 90 Kerby Road, City of Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan.
4. Residents of the City of Grosse Pointe Woods shall register at the office of the Clerk of the City of Grosse Pointe Woods, 20025 Mack Avenue, City of Grosse Pointe Woods, Michigan.
5. Resident of the City of Harper Woods shall register at the office of the Clerk of the City of Harper Woods, 19617 Harper Avenue, City of Harper Woods, Michigan.
6. Residents of the Township of Grosse Pointe shall register at the office of the Clerk of the Township of Grosse Pointe, 795 Lakeshore Drive, Village of Grosse Pointe Shores, Michigan.

This notice is given by order of the Board of Education of the Grosse Pointe Public School System, Wayne County, Michigan.

YMCA helps parents make the 'most of kids' summer vacations

During a season when parents are in search of exciting recreation for their children, the YMCA of Metropolitan Detroit offers tips to help ensure they choose the right summer camp.

YMCA Camping Services executive director David Marks identifies five key points to consider:

1. The camp's staff: This, says Marks, is the most important element. What is the staff-to-camper ratio? Is the staff qualified and, when necessary, certified?

How extensive and comprehensive is the camp's staff-training program?

2. The philosophy of the camp: Is it a camp where everyone "wins" or is the camp designed to enhance the child's competitive edge? Is it a specialty camp geared specifically to their child's sport or hobby of choice?

Or is the parent in search of a well-rounded camp experience for his or her child, encompassing athletics, crafts, dramatics, nature studies, etc.?

3. The camp's activities: What types of activities will the child participate in?

Are the activities age appropriate? Do the activities correspond with the child's interests?

4. Camper demographics: Does the parent want the child to learn about diversity of culture, background, etc., from the camp experience?

Or is the parent looking for a homogeneous environment where the child will interact with peers only of a similar background?

5. The quality of the camp's physical features, equipment and the location: What is the camp's setting like? What "natural" features does it have (i.e., a lake for boating and swimming, a forest or a bog for nature hikes and studies, etc.)?

Marks oversees the YMCA's 170-acre resident camp, Camp Nissokone, located on Lake Van Etnan and bordering a 1,000-acre national forest in Oscoda, and Camp Ohiyesa, a 300-acre regional day camp on Fish Lake in Holly. The YMCA offers round-trip transportation to Camp Ohiyesa if parents are unable to make the commute.

"The key to our program's success is experienced and enthusiastic staff," said Marks. "They provide a supervised, fun and challenging camp experience in a safe, caring environment." The staff also emphasizes character development and allows campers to make self discoveries. "The kids grow in self-esteem, learn to work cooperatively with others and improve their sense of responsibility and independence."

Marks adds that the program's strategic staff-to-camper ratio each session ensures campers are known by name and are treated as individuals.

"Campers should come home from camp with more appreciation for nature, lasting friendships and growth in creativity and awareness of the world around them," said Marks.

Marks noted that each YMCA camp experience strengthens the spirits, minds and bodies of all who participate, and no one is turned away because of inability to pay.

Parents can attend one of his informational meetings Thursday, May 7, at the Farmington YMCA, 28100 Farmington Road in Farmington Hills, or contact YMCA camping services at (248) 887-4533 for details about camps Nissokone or Ohiyesa.

Sidewalks to be replaced in the Woods

By Jim Stickford
Staff Writer

Residents of Grosse Pointe Woods' district No. 8 will have their sidewalks replaced, beginning in June.

Each year the city reviews the sidewalks in a particular sector. There are eight sectors, so a cycle of repair takes eight years. Sector 8 covers Vernier to Fairford and Wedgewood to the Grosse Pointe Shores border, said Woods director of public works Thomas Whitcher.

Those concrete sidewalk blocks that are deemed damaged or dangerous are marked for replacement, said Whitcher. If the block is a city block, then the city pays for its replacement. If, however, the block in question does not fall under the responsibility of the city, then the homeowner on whose property the concrete block is on is responsible.

"Beginning on May 1, we will notify residents in Sector 8 as to whether they will need to replace a sidewalk block," Whitcher said. "If they want to, the residents can hire their own contractor to do the work." Core Construction of Livonia has agreed to the price of $3.12 per square foot for four-inch deep concrete and $3.64 for six-inch deep blocks, Whitcher said. The average size of a sidewalk block is 25 square feet.

"We will begin notification on May 1," Whitcher said.

The cat's meow

Gaye and Justin Kelley put their cat Stanley Cup, known to his friends as Stanley, through his paces. The Woods feline was recently named the second smartest pet in Detroit at the recent Michigan Humane Society PETelethon, which raised $351,000 for homeless and needy animals in metro Detroit.

Stanley was adopted by the Kelley family from Grosse Pointe Animal Clinic on the day the Red Wings won the cup. The award was given to Stanley in recognition of the fact that "cats are 10 times harder to train than dogs." Stanley can shake hands, sit up, roll over and give a kiss on command — provided a treat is on hand.

DISTINCTIVE PERSONAL BANKING

Market ends last week a little tired — no where to go?

Last Friday, April 24, the DJI fell 78 points to close at 9,064.62, off 103 points for the week. The S&P 500 and NASDAQ Index followed suit.

The market is trying to digest the first-quarter earnings. About 75 percent of the S&P 500 companies have reported so far, with year-over-year earnings per share up about 3 percent. Earlier estimates had first-quarter profits about even.

Analysts noted that this 3 percent gain, to date, is the worst since 1991's fourth quarter, according to First Call, which monitors these things.

Barron's (April 27) writer Andrew Bary quotes Byron Wein, strategist at Morgan Stanley, "The market doesn't have a lot of vulnerability now, but it also doesn't have a lot of upside potential."

Doug Cliggott, strategist at J.P. Morgan, last Friday cut his equity asset allocation from 60 percent to 50 percent. The 10 percent sell-out of stocks is allocated 5 percent each to bonds and cash.

Meanwhile, the advisory services are still bullish, on balance. LTS subscribes to Investor's Digest ($60 per year), which summarizes dozens of market letters sold to the public on a subscription basis.

Joe Granville's Granville Market Letter says, "Don't change a thing and stay fully invested."

On the other hand, Leo Hood, editor of Profiles wrote, "If we should break through 9,000 (on the DJI) ... we could see a rush to 10,000 ... which would set the stage for a crash, followed by a several-year bear market. This would be the end of our love affair with stocks for a generation."

To which, LTS says, "Take your pick." Without both bulls and bears, trading would dry up and there would be no market.

Last Saturday, April 25, the USA Channel (Channel 49 on Grosse Pointe Cable) featured "Wall Street," starring Michael Douglas and Charlie Sheen, with Douglas winning the Best Actor Oscar for his role.

In 1987, the movie wasn't a "Titanic," but it was really big! Remember this was the era of Mike Millken and his Drexel Burnham meiger machine, in which junk bonds fueled the "unfriendly take-over game."

LTS' daughter, Anne, was on Wall Street. Her friend at Salomon Brothers, the bond powerhouse, was the set design consultant to the film production company. He assisted in the layout of the sales bull-pen in the Jackson-Simonds fictional brokerage firm, which was staged in a loft building near Wall Street.

Did the movie accurately represent Wall Street with all its avarice, chicanery, covetousness, deception, front-running, greed, insider-trading (it goes on and on)?

This 1987 movie portrays 1985 Wall Street, and it may or may not have reflected the mores of that time. Then came October 1987. That Monday is forever remembered as "Black Monday," when the DJI dropped 508 points, or 22.6 percent, before they rang the bell early and stopped trading.

Some press reports then blamed "program trading," also called "computerized trading," for the frenzied selling. Others said how could the NYSE floor specialists compete with computers?

It was the usual, "He said, she said, they said, we said, etc.," but nobody remembers exactly what was said.

October 1987 was the first big sell-off that individual investors identified as a personal buying opportunity. And what a "cherry-pick" it turned out to be. Most oversold growth stocks rebounded with an up-bounce that carried their market price in less than 6 months to where it was before the crash, or higher!

Fun with funds!

Mutual funds are the all-American investment medium. Funds are owned by almost every man, woman, child, grandchild — IRA, 401(k) plan, profit-sharing plan and pension fund.

LTS remembers when there were, maybe, only 400 funds to choose from. Families of funds were just beginning to spawn. Now there are thousands and thousands of funds. And fund families are multiplying just like rabbits!

Last week's Barron's (April 27) contains a 23-page Mutual Fund Section, with information and quotations on approximately 6,670 funds. This proliferation of fund statistics and price quotations is far beyond the capacity of the local daily, or even Sunday, newspaper.

In the old days, B.C. (before computers), most money managers were content to run half a dozen separate funds, split about evenly between equity and fixed income assets.

The equity sector would specialize in differing stock portfolios, such as, aggressive growth, emerging growth, and growth and income (balanced).

The fixed income sector would be represented by a money market fund, a taxable bond fund and a tax-exempt municipal bond fund.

But now fund families have hundreds of offspring. The Fidelity family of Boston manages 190 funds (as of last week); Merrill Lynch has 175 in-house funds; and the Putnam Group oversees 138 funds.

The oldest mutual fund is the Massachusetts Investors Trust, founded March 21, 1924, and still going strong! LTS' grandfather purchased some of these shares in 1942, which have been handed-down into the third generation.

Most funds are categorized by how they are sold, meaning: Is there a sales charge deducted from your cash remittance? The four general categories are 1) normal load; 2) "low" load; 3) no-load; and 4) "rear" load, or early redemption fee (ERF).

Other "old-timer" funds include State St. Research-Investment, CI C (1924, no-load); Putnam Investors, CI A (1925, load); Pioneer Fund, CI A (1928, load); Vanguard-Wellington Fund (1928, no-load); Scudder-Growth & Income (1929, no-load); Seligman Fund-Common Stock (1929, load); and Fidelity Fund (1930, no-load).

From the above, you can see that the argument of load vs. no-load has been with us from the very beginning of the birth of the fund industry. We all know that securities are "sold," rather than "purchased." The marketing of mutual funds costs money, which is paid by the investor, one way or the other.

In the beginning, the load funds were marketed through brokerage houses, hence the load was needed to pay the account executive's commission. The no-load funds were initially marketed to the public by the fund manager, which sometimes established regional sales offices. In this case the fund manager paid most of the marketing expenses, some of which were reimbursed by the fund itself.

Which are the largest mutual funds?

The five largest in terms of net assets in $billions are: 1) Fidelity Magellan ($72); 2) Vanguard Index 500 (the S&P 500 Index fund) ($59); 3) Washington Mutual Investors Fund ($45); 4) American Funds-Investment Company of America ($44); and 5) Fidelity Growth & Income ($43).

LTS will continue this discussion of mutual funds next week.

By Bryon Elson

You or a family member is likely to need long-term assistance due to a prolonged illness, a disability or general deterioration of health.

You can protect your assets, your lifestyle and that of those close to you with long-term health care insurance.

Here are three questions to ask when considering a policy.

1. What should a Long-Term Care (LTC) policy provide? Ask yourself these questions when assessing and comparing policies:

How long will this policy pay benefits? Does this policy provide respite care? Does this policy have fixed premiums? Does this policy provide a clause for pre-existing conditions, such as Alzheimer's disease? Are there any exclusions in this policy? Does this policy provide asset protection?

2. How much will it cost?

The cost of coverage generally starts at $400 per year. The major factors affecting the overall cost of the policy include your age, the benefits you select and inflation. Younger people pay less for LTC insurance, but be careful.

Don't get enticed into buying a policy based on price alone. Skipping on annual premiums today may actually wind up costing you more down the road. Lack of adequate LTC coverage may result in higher out-of-pocket expenses later when benefits are needed.

Also, be sure that the policy you choose has an inflation rider.

3. What is covered?

A LTC program may cover nursing home care only, or a combination of nursing home care, home health care and alternate level care, defined as the services provided during the period of time spent waiting for nursing home care.

Skilled nursing care, intermediate nursing care and adult day care are all things that you might need. Make sure they are included in the plan you choose.

The more flexibility your plan allows, the better. Consult a licensed insurance agent before purchasing a plan. He or she can provide you with the latest and most current information available.

Business People

The Children's Center of Wayne County has announced the appointment of Carol Bosche as chief financial officer.

Bosche, a certified public accountant, holds an MBA from the University of Michigan.

She lives in Grosse Pointe Woods.

First of Michigan has named Bruce Rockwell, of Grosse Pointe Farms, to vice chairman.

He was promoted from the position of senior vice president/director of product marketing.

Rockwell has been with the company since 1960, and has worked in positions involving municipal bonds, mutual funds and unit investment trusts.

Grosse Pointe Shores resident Sherrill Wolford has been elected to membership in the law firm of Dykema Gossett.

Wolford is a member of the firm's taxation and estates practices group and practices international, federal and multi-state taxation law.

She is a graduate of the University of Detroit Mercy Law School.

Gov. John Engler has announced the appointments of Maureen Pulte Reilly and Wallace Riley to the board of Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Michigan.

Reilly, from Grosse Pointe Park, is a retired judge of the Michigan Court of Appeals and graduate of the University of Detroit Law School.

Riley, of Grosse Pointe Farms, is founder and chief executive officer of the law firm Riley and Roumell, P.C.

Both terms expire in the year 2000.

NBD Bank has named Andrew Camden of the City of Grosse Pointe as senior vice president and director of the private banking and investments group at its main office in Detroit.

Camden earned a bachelor's degree in finance from Michigan State University.

He also received an MBA from the University of Detroit and is a graduate of Northwestern University's National Graduate Trust School.

Patrick Imesch has been promoted to purchasing agent for Olympia Entertainment.

In his new job, he will streamline buying for Joe Louis and Cobo arenas, and the Fox Office Building.

A resident of Grosse Pointe Farms, Imesch completed a bachelor's degree in business from Sienna Heights College.

Safely powering up lawn and garden tools this spring

Most people look forward to venturing outside when temperatures are on the rise. When spring hits, spring cleaning enthusiasts break out lawn and garden tools to do their seasonal spruce-up around the house.

- The safety experts at Underwriters Laboratories Inc. (UL) recommend the following tips to remember when using lawn and garden appliances:
 - Before using any appliance or tool, read and follow the manufacturer's use and care instructions that come with the product.
 - Always look for the familiar UL listing mark before purchasing a power tool, garden appliance or any other electrical product. The UL listing mark on a product means that representative samples of that product have been tested to nationally recognized safety standards with regard to fire, electric shock and related safety hazards.
 - Before each use, inspect power tools and electric garden appliances for frayed power cords and cracked or broken casings. If the product is damaged, stop using it immediately. Don't attempt to repair it yourself. Return the product back to the retailer or manufacturer or have a qualified repair shop examine the product.
 - When using power tools and garden appliances, always wear proper attire. Keep your clothing, hands and feet away from cutting blades at all times. Never wear jewelry when working with tools. Always wear safety glasses.
 - Pay attention to warning markings. Don't allow tools to get wet, unless they are labeled "immersion." When using tools or extension cords outside, make sure they are appropriate for outdoor use.

Leaky doorwall can be the most frustrating problem

Ask Mr. Hardware By Blair Gilbert

have to be caulked properly. Try to get at least as much caulk into a void as it is wide. Too often installers get a thin skim coat of caulk to cover a void. The problem is as soon as there is any settling or expansion the caulk will get hairline cracks. Soon afterward dampness, mold, peeling paint and other problems may become apparent inside the house. This is especially important with dissimilar surfaces as with wood or vinyl against brick.

One way to help seal the door-wall to the brick house is to use non-expanding foam sealant. Usually I try to install the foam deep into the void so it is touching the backside of the exterior casing. My goal is to stop the water, and the drafts, at the source. Don't let the water get past the first quarter inch, why fight something after it gets in the void?

Also, check the threshold on the doorwall. It could have drain holes that are plugged or facing the wrong direction.

Did you caulk the side jambs of the doorwall to the threshold? Water could be seeping there. Last, but not least, get some silox sealer, and paint the exterior 2 or 3 inches of the brick around the doorwall. Seepage could be through the mortar. Paint the perimeter in a neat line so if it leaves the bricks darkened it won't look messy. If it works you could seal the whole back wall.

Let me know how it works. These can be the most frustrating problems to deal with. Send your questions to Mr. Hardware c/o Gilbert's Pro Hardware at 21920 Harper, St. Clair Shores 48080, call 810-776-9532, or e-mail blair@mrhardware.com

Home Tips

SHARP SCISSORS — Needing sharper scissors, I drew my emery board carefully along the length of the blades, using first the coarse and then the fine side of the board. It worked for me. Try it! Linda K., Port Hueneme, Calif.

LAUNDRY BOXES — Save large laundry-detergent boxes with handles for children's smaller toys. They are strong and can also be decorated with wallpaper. Betty S., Morgantown, W.Va.

DRESS THEM UP — Here's a tip you might be interested in that I've been using in my own home. For attractive wastebaskets, buy baskets for large plants in the garden department of any discount store. They are lined with plastic, which is a big plus. Also, some of them are decorated to make them more appealing. Chris L., Ottawa, Kan.

COOL IT — I needed an extra cooling rack for cakes recently. In desperation, I used the burner grate from my gas range. It worked great! Linda V., Wolfe City, Texas.

Avoid using 'hot manure' by composting organically found in different concentrations and from different animals. If sold as a fertilizer, the manufacturer is required to put the analysis on the bag. By looking at the numbers you can see what percentage of nutrients to the weight of the bag you are getting.

By David Soultiere

Poultry manure usually has the highest nitrogen content since urine and feces are in one dropping. Then comes sheep manure followed by cow manure. I have yet to see horse manure available in bagged form. Simply put, the higher the fertility level of the manure the less you will have to use. Some prefer using totally natural materials, others are content with man-made materials while many use a combination of both.

To put things in perspective, 500 pounds of manure with an analysis of 1-1-1 equals the same amount of nutrients as 50 pounds of a commercial 10-10-10 fertilizer. Pound for pound the commercial fertilizer will be less expensive.

The big advantage of using manure is the soil improvements. Adding the organic matter will improve the soil texture and increase the amount of beneficial microorganisms in the soil. Adding compost from your garden or purchasing compost will also improve the soil. The gardeners who know their soil and how to improve it will always have a head start. All plants including your lawn will thrive if you start with good soil.

In this area we have a lot of clay so our work is cut out for us. Adding organic materials like manure or compost is the best way to start. TIP OF THE WEEK: I noticed with the recent Easter holiday that supermarkets were offering free turkeys or hams to customers who spent a certain amount of money over a period of approximately a month in their stores. In one supermarket, it was $250. Another asked you to spend a total of $150, but in exchange, you received money off. For example, instead of spending a certain amount of cents per pound per ham or turkey, it was a much lower amount.

Look what's sprouting in today's lush landscapes

When it comes to outdoor trends, many homeowners are evaluating landscapes by asking, "What have you done for me lately?" With today's busy lifestyles, people want to do less and get more from their landscapes. The American Nursery and Landscape Association (formerly American Association of Nurserymen) keeps gardeners abreast of recent developments with the following highlights:

Garden cuisine. Anything edible is of interest. Gardeners may not have time to fill big gardens, but they can still grow fresh produce. Nursery professionals can show homeowners good varieties for containers. Herbs are especially popular.

Water-wise. Landscapes. Imagine watering only twice a month. The popularity of water-efficient landscapes is driven by drought and watering restrictions in many areas. Far from arid deserts, many water-wise gardens are indistinguishable from conventional landscapes.

Nursery professionals are teaching gardeners to use low maintenance plants — groundcovers like manitoba or rosemary, or lemons of sales you need at the time and the prices are competitive with other area markets. As for me, it simply fell into place. That's not always so.

When I receive my supermarket sales fliers each week, I study them all and look for the store offering the best sales on the items I may need that particular week. I also take into consideration whether the store offers double or triple coupons and how many I can use. Then I decide which store to ultimately patronize. Had the store offering the free ham or turkey not fallen in that category, I wouldn't have participated in the deal. It wouldn't have been worth the extra money I would have had to spend. I could just as well have purchased my own ham or turkey.

Thus, whenever a special grants your attention, be sure to do your homework. Otherwise, you're just falling for a gimmick.

Hybrid Bernuda or dwarf fall foliage.	Energy conservation. Narrow areas alongside houses are no longer dead zones. The "cool trees" idea — semi-dwarf fruit trees trained on trellises — provides fruit and cooler houses up to 20 deg. was kept. Fuji apples and cherry trees work well on trellises. Leaves drop in the winter, allowing the sunshine through to warm up the house.	Powder-puff plants. In many cities, nurseries help police departments and community groups by recommending crime deterrent plants. For example, barber's ya's impenetrable thorny growth and holly's sharp leaves both do their part to enhance home security.

Rocking cow is uniquely 'udderly adorable'

Full-size patterns bring this project well within the capabilities of any parent or grandparent who has access to a few basic tools. All joints meet conveniently at 90 degrees, so there are no difficult angles to cut and all curved portions can be traced directly from the pattern onto your wood.

To begin your cow, ask for pattern No. 5027 and send $8.95. Make your check or money order payable to "Constructive Ideas" and mail it, along with your request to: Constructive Ideas, Dept. 48236, c/o PO Box 1469, Champlain, NY, 12919-1469.

Plans for a nifty rocking motor.

cycle (pattern No. 5019) are also available. This plan is also $8.95. Ordered together, both plans are $14.95.

Coldwell Banker Schweitzer honors top award winners

Mark Monaghan

Coldwell Banker Schweitzer Real Estate recently held its 36th annual awards celebration at the Fairlane Club in Dearborn, honoring top achievers for 1997. The event drew more than 350 sales associates from throughout southeast Michigan.

Mark Monaghan was recognized as the No. 1 Sales Associate in the Grosse Pointe Farms office. Monaghan was also named to the President's Top 30 Club and finished eighth out of over 500 sales associates within the Coldwell Banker network. Membership in the President's Top 30 Club is limited to the 30 agents in the company who were leaders in gross commission income during the calendar year. Dianne Karabetos and Dan Kuhlmeier were also honored for high sales volume in the Farms office.

Other award winners in Coldwell Banker Schweitzer's Grosse Pointe offices are:

Kercheval/Hill office — Sally Coe was the Kercheval/Hill office's top sales associate for gross commission income. Ann Porter led in listings sold and buyer-controlled sales. Peggy DeLozier, Mia Bardy, Robert Hatch, Nora Chenail and George Palms were also honored for their high sales volume.

Grosse Pointe Woods — Laila Abud was the top sales associate in the Grosse Pointe Woods office for gross commission income. Ed Remenapp was named top sales associate in buyer controlled sales

Household Help

With your center punch and hammer, gently tap a hole near the middle of the damaged tile. Be sure to wear safety glasses and don't punch a hole in the crack. This hole will be your starting point for drilling through the tile.

Next, use a masonry bit (one-eighth inch or larger) and drill through the hole in the tile. With your glass cutter, firmly press from the drilled hole to each edge or corner to form an X shape.

Take your hammer and chisel to chip away the pieces of cut tile. Be patient. It may take several attempts to pry the broken pieces from the grout underneath.

After removing all of the tile square, scrape away the old grout with a putty knife. Be sure the surface is cleaned of the old adhesive.

Use the notched trowel to apply

Fire danger high; DNR advises extra caution

Outdoor enthusiasts hoping to take advantage of anticipated warm weather are urged to be extra careful when handling fire, Michigan Department of Natural Resources fire experts say.

"Spring is the most dangerous time of year for wildfire, because fires spread very rapidly through dry leaves and grass," says Art Sutton of the DNR Forest Management Division. The danger of wildfire is especially high in northern Michigan. While rain has been falling in some parts of the state, too many areas haven't received significant rain in the past week and are extremely dry, Sutton says.

In fact, fire agencies have responded to many wildfires during the past week, and several were large enough to destroy at

- Use plenty of water, stir and add more water until everything is out.
- Turn over unburned pieces and wet the underside.
- Dispose of charcoal briquettes by soaking entire briquette with water until out cold.
- When burning brush or leaf piles, keep it small and have sufficient help and tools to contain the fire.
- A charged hose, shovels and rakes will aid in keeping the fire under control.

Do your part to help Smokey. "Remember, only you can prevent wildfires!"

Don't burn on windy days. DNR fire experts urge residents to protect their structures from fire by mowing and removing brush, leaves and dead grass from around buildings; cleaning leaves and twigs from roof gutters and valleys; and storing firewood at least 30 feet from buildings. For additional information, contact your local DNR office.

Broilmaster - A Perennial Favorite

Are you looking for a traditional gas grill that cooks as good as it looks? One that comes from a company known for the best customer service and warranties? Then you should look at a Broilmaster.

In 1997, Michigan Fireplace was named "National Dealer of the Year" by Broilmaster in recognition of their outstanding sales performance. Over 1000 dealers nationwide compete for the title.

Long known for their attention to durable construction and praiseworthy performance, Broilmaster designers installed the finest features in their mid-priced conventional gas grills. The Broilmaster "P" Series is a stainless steel grill line. The "D" Series is a silico-painted galvanized steel line which won the Consumers Digest "Best Buy" award for premium gas grills. Both models come with a multi-level porcelain-coated cast iron cooking grid. You can adjust the 1 1/2 inch of the grid for simultaneous cooking to rare, medium and well-done.

The stainless steel bowl burners underneath the grid are a unique Broilmaster design. The resulting flame pattern ensures even heat distribution. They can even be set up on either side of the grill for indirect cooking. The bowl burner has a 15 year warranty.

Both the "P" Series and the "D" Series come in either a two-level (smaller), or a three-level (larger) grid. Each delivers 40,000 BTUs of heating power, with a degree-calibrated heat indicator for monitoring the temperature. For value, versatility and durability, you can't beat the performance of a Broilmaster.

Broilmaster grills have been recognized for their excellent value and performance. Both the deluxe "D" series (a Consumer's Digest "Best Buy" award recipient) and the premium "P" series are available in liquid propane or natural gas.

WHERE THERE'S SMOKEY THERE'S FIRE...

SIZZLING BARBECUES FROM MICHIGAN FIREPLACE

By Margaret K. Fitzgerald

Everybody's got a different opinion when it comes to their favorite dish hot off the grill. For some, it's salmon or marinated shrimp. Others long for a thick and very rare New York strip. And then there's always someone with a penchant for grilled eggplant, portobello mushrooms, and smoky plum tomatoes. Lay that on a steamy bed of rice.

It's just a simple fact. A barbecue makes good food taste better. Are you hungry yet? Then stop in at Michigan Fireplace & Barbecue at 2908 East Long Lake Road in Troy and check out their lineup of some of the finest gas grills around. While it's true that the best barbecued foods get their good flavor from careful kitchen preparation, that's only half the story. A skilled chef is important, but the barbecue itself can make or break the most savory creation. For premium performance, you need a premium grill. Michigan Fireplace has a lineup of nine brands, including two in a class by themselves: get set for innovation from TEC and Broilmaster.

Get a Taste For Grilling At Michigan Fireplace
Come out to Michigan Fireplace this weekend and sample a steak cooked on some of their most popular grills. They want you to taste for yourself because they know what you know — if the grill doesn't cook, then it's not worth a look.

At Michigan Fireplace, they're confident you'll like what you see. They have a full line of accessories and replacement parts, and attention to customer satisfaction is their highest priority. For over 20 years, they've carried only the best brands, and offer things like free delivery, setup and product demonstrations. You test-drive a car at the dealership, right? Why not test-drive a grill?

After all, when you get it home and heat it up, you don't want any surprises. All you want is that perfectly cooked filet. And, of course, you want it now.

Looking for some special attention? That's what you'll get at Michigan Fireplace & Barbecue, along with the best products at competitive prices. Here you'll find a carefully selected lineup of grills, and employees who take the time to explain the details. Come out on any Saturday and you'll find them cooking up steaks and hot dogs on their most popular models.

TEC grills come any way you like. The Bolt-Down Post style (left) sits securely on your deck or you can opt for a Built-In model (bottom right).

Thermal Engineering Corporation was recently awarded the American Taste Award of Excellence by the National Board of American Tasting Institute. Nationally recognized chefs tested TEC's full grill line, and bestowed the award across the board in honor of their superior cooking performance.

TEC Grills Are Really Hot

If you want a state-of-the-art grill, TEC is the brand to consider. TEC grills cook your food using Infra-Red radiant heat. This technology was originally developed and patented by TEC engineers for use in the auto industry. It quickly found its way into steakhouse kitchens across the country. Infra-Red heat is much more intense than conventional gas grill heat. This means your food cooks 25 to 50% faster.

Most grills operate best with the lid on to keep the cooking area hot. Your food is cooked as much by the heating element underneath as by the heated air surrounding it. The problem is, in this hot, dry environment the drippings which fall on charcoal or lava rocks. Flame-ups burn your food. A TEC grill cooks with the lid open, so hot air doesn't dry your food out. TEC grills don't use lava rocks, eliminating any chance for flare-ups. And their unique channelled cooking grid immediately vaporizes meat drippings into smoke, which flavors your food. Dinner will never again be destroyed by out-of-control flames.

TEC ceramic burners heat up quickly. In three minutes you're ready to cook. There are separate burners for each cooking section, maximizing temperature control. Their Intense 1600 degree heat sears your food, locking in precious juices.

There are three models to choose from.

1. The Patio II has a corrosion-resistant painted body and a 547 square inch cooking surface.

2. The Sterling II is constructed of solid stainless steel, also with a 547 square inch cooking surface.

3. The Sterling III is made of solid stainless steel, with an 816 square inch cooking surface. With over 50% more cooking space, the Sterling III is an obvious choice for those who love to entertain.

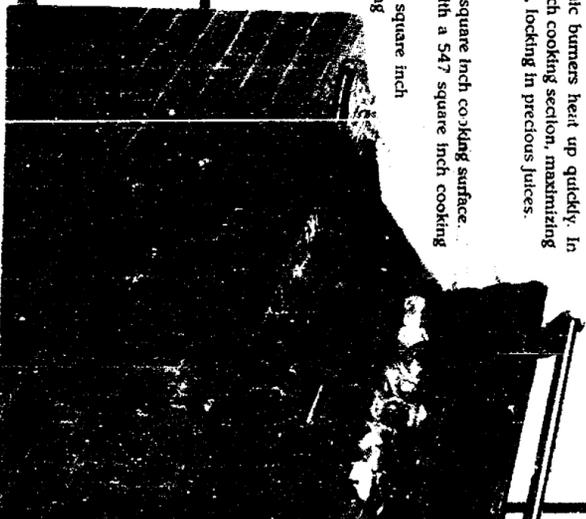

All TEC grills have extensive warranties, and come in either liquid propane or natural gas models. If you're hungry for flavor and insist on the best, TEC is the ultimate outdoor appliance.

Michigan Fireplace & Barbecue is located at 2908 East Long Lake Road, at the southwest corner of Long Lake and Dequandre, in Troy. You can call them at (248) 689-2296.

Employees who take the time to explain the details. Come out on any Saturday and you'll find them cooking up steaks and hot dogs on their most popular models.

If you were at the 1998 Home & Garden Expo at the War Memorial in March, you probably saw the Michigan Fireplace crew busy grilling steaks for you to sample.

Change springs maternal: It's not your mother's birthing room

By Jim Stickford
Staff Writer

We've all seen old black and white television shows where the wife, as she is just about to give birth, is wheeled into the delivery room, while the husband, who is acting like a fool, is directed to a waiting room. The scene ends with a nurse coming in and telling the husband and other appropriate relatives/cast members that mother and baby are doing fine. The father can go to the nursery and see the baby in its bassinet and then visit the mother once she's rested.

Those are classic comedy conventions based on the way mothers gave birth in the 1940s, 1950s and 1960s. But beginning in the late 1960s, a movement started to change the way women gave birth — to make the process more natural.

"The way women have babies now is very different than the way it was done 30 or 40 years ago," said Joan Lefere, director of women's health at St. John Hospital. "The types of drugs available for pain control have changed. Prenatal care is greatly emphasized. The ideas about smoking and drinking during pregnancy have changed."

In the old days, Lefere said, giving birth was a highly regimented process. Women arrived at the hospital and gave birth in a delivery room or operating room used as a delivery room. This room was not very warm or inviting.

Once the mother gave birth, she was taken to the recovery room and ultimately her postpartum room, where she stayed for about a week, Lefere said.

The baby was immediately taken from the delivery room to the nursery, where he or she was kept in a bassinet surrounded by other newborns. Nurses took care of the babies.

As for the father, it was his job to drive the mother to the hospital and to fill out the forms once they arrived. Once that was done, Lefere said, he went to the waiting room, where he paced back and forth and smoked.

Once the child was born, the father could view him or her through the glass at the nursery and visit the new mother during visiting hours.

That approach has changed completely, Lefere said. Now women give birth in birthing suites. The fathers most often are there. The mother stays in the suite for the duration of her stay, which is — barring complications — one or two days.

This change in the way things are done is not unique to St. John Hospital. Rich Swenson, a spokesman for Bon Secours Hospital, said, the mother was essentially knocked out. When she woke up, she had a baby. But then the natural childbirth method began to become popular. This meant no drugs.

Since then, there has been a change. More mothers are using drugs, but they are much different from the drugs of the 1950s.

"Medications today are more in the nature of pain control," Lefere said. "They can also help the mother relax."

At Henry Ford Cottage Hospital, the midwife has made a comeback. But to paraphrase Madison Avenue:

the case at all."

The idea behind the nurse-midwife movement, Gagleard said, is that giving birth is a natural process so it doesn't need to be treated as a disease. Nurse midwives have a specific patient population and deal with uncomplicated pregnancies.

These days fathers are encouraged to participate in the whole process, from prenatal checkups to being in the delivery room and helping coach the mom as she gives birth, Gagleard said.

"We sometimes even have to schedule prenatal checkups around the or get the patient to get up and walk around when that's appropriate. We do things for the convenience of mothers. We want birth to be the most positive experience possible so that our patients will continue to come back to see health care professionals."

Part of what is driving nurse-midwife care is the fact that patients are more educated and want options. Collins-Fulea said. Too many people, when they enter a hospital, feel that they lose control and are intimidated by doctors and by the whole medical establishment.

"We believe in mothering the mother and in providing a more nurturing approach," Collins-Fulea said. "We feel that women do better at home, so instead of keeping them in a hospital for five days, when it's appropriate, we send them home after a day or two. But we also follow up with a home visit. Part of the problem with the nuclear family is that there often isn't that other woman around to be a mentor."

Continuity of care for new mothers is also important, Collins-Fulea said. Under the old system, a woman was moved from the labor room to the delivery room to the recovery room to the postpartum room. Each section within the department had its own staff, so the mother was constantly being placed in the care of new staff. There was no chance to bond or get comfortable with the same group of people during her stay.

"No more being shuffled from room to room," Collins-Fulea said. "The new mother doesn't have to have a different nurse at each step of the process. That's a big help."

Fans of new television situation comedies have no doubt seen the scenes where the father-to-be comes in the delivery room, video camera in hand, to share the experience.

The mother usually curses him for getting her pregnant and crushes his hand during contractions. The father still acts like a fool. Some things don't change.

This birthing room in Cottage Hospital contains items one might expect — a baby monitor, a bassinet and medical equipment. But the room also contains a reclining chair for the father, a TV set, a dining area and even a menu. This kind of one-room care contrasts sharply with the way things were 30 years ago. Below is a photo of a nursery in the early 1940s. Years ago, mothers, fathers and babies were separated by rooms, procedures and hordes of health care professionals.

"Cottage Hospital has had a nurse-midwife program since 1991," said Renay Gagleard, clinical nurse specialist at the Cottage Family Childbirth Center. "Our nurses all have extensive training with either Ph.D.s or master's degrees. They are backed up by physicians in case of complications and they work in hospitals. When people hear of midwives, they usually think of the woman who comes to help the frontier wife give birth. That's not said that Bon Secours was the first licensed metro Detroit hospital to feature full service, single-room maternity care.

"This means the entire birthing experience — labor, delivery, recovery and postpartum, takes place in a private room," Swenson said. "Each room has the necessary equipment to monitor mom and the baby as they progress. A pediatrician is on call 24 hours a day to assess the newborn should the need arise."

The use of drugs in giving birth has changed. In the old days, Lefere

Gardening class

The Grosse Pointe Garden Center Inc. will offer a free class, "Savvy Gardening," at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 6, in the art room of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore.

The program will feature the "Garden Artists" — Mildred Anthony, at the left, and Sherrie Werely, who will present a hands-on demonstration of soil preparation, tips on transplanting and division of perennials.

A sandwich, dessert and beverage may be purchased from the War Memorial at cost, at 6 p.m. Food reservations are required. To make a reservation, call (313) 881-4594. For more information about the program, call (313) 885-8836.

Scott Miller of Grosse Pointe Farms will play a clarinet solo at the Grosse Pointe Community Concert Band's concert on Tuesday, May 5, at Parcels Middle School.

Band plans free concert

The public is invited to an instrumental music concert by the Grosse Pointe Community Concert Band at 8 p.m. Tuesday, May 5 in the auditorium of Parcels Middle School. Admission is free. A free punch and cookie reception for the public will be provided afterward.

The Grosse Pointe Community Concert Band is a group of 50 musicians ranging in age from teens to senior citizens. Some are professional musicians.

The concert will kick off the celebration of the group's 10th year. It was founded in the summer of 1988 by Ralph Miller, who is the group's music director.

The band will perform marches as well as selections from "My Fair Lady," a musical that another community group — the Grosse Pointe Theatre — currently is staging.

Also on the play list is a solo — Weber's Second Clarinet Concerto — that will be performed by band member Scott Miller, who has played the clarinet for more than 20 years.

Salad Sampler

The women of the Kappa Kappa Gamma Detroit East Suburban Alumnae Association will hold their 32nd annual Salad Sampler and Fashion Show at noon Thursday, May 14, at Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church. Proceeds will benefit Kappa philanthropies such as the Detroit Rehabilitation Institute.

The luncheon will feature fresh flowers, salads and fashions by the Jane Woodbury Shop. Music will be by Stelene Mazer. Tickets are $12 and may be purchased from Kappas or by calling Lee Peters at (313) 882-2685.

Not shown are committee chairmen Lee Peters, tickets; Kay Van de Graaf, decorations; Laurie Huetteman, commissary; Sharon Mertz, set-up; Lee Miller, waitresses; and Win Meredith, food and garnishing.

Herb society

The Grosse Pointe unit of the Herb Society of America will hold an herb plant sale from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday, May 8, and from 8 a.m. to noon Saturday, May 9, in the Grosse Pointe Woods Municipal Building, 20025 Mack.

Proceeds from the sale will benefit the development and maintenance of herb gardens and educational programs of the unit.

Valparaiso University Guild

The Detroit chapter of the Valparaiso University Guild will hold its annual fashion show and luncheon at noon Friday, May 8, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Tickets are $20 and may be ordered by calling (313) 881-9703.

AAUW

The American Association of University Women will hold a mystery dinner party, "Pasta, Passion and Pistols," on Saturday, May 16. Proceeds will go to the AAUW's legal advocacy fund.

The AAUW sponsors a variety of study groups each year. This season's offerings include Adolescent Survival, La Causerie — French Conversation, International Relations, Investment Study, Evening Book Discussion, Day Stutchery, Morning Literature, Music Appreciation, Mystery

Readers, Afternoon Literature, Party Bridge, Poetry Exploration, Art Appreciation and Moviegoers. Sessions are usually held in members' homes and members may join or visit as many groups as they wish.

For information about membership, call Mary McNair at (313) 866-4339.

Fox Creek Questers

Fox Creek chapter No. 216 of Questers International will meet at 12:30 p.m. Thursday, May 7, at the home of Carolyn Steketee. Co-hostess will be Carol Sauter.

The program, presented by Steketee, will be "A Frog By Any Other Name."

Lakeshore Optimists

The Lakeshore Optimist Club of Grosse Pointe will hold its 16th annual Respect for Law Program from 7:30 to 9 a.m. Wednesday, May 6, at the Lochmoor Club.

Detroit Police Chief Isaiah McKinnon will be the speaker. As part of Law Week (the first week of May), Optimists will honor local public safety departments and will give citations to officers and citizens for special conduct.

The breakfast program is open to a limited number of guests at a cost of $15 a person. For reservations or more information, call (313) 824-7900.

Windmill Pointe Garden Club

The Windmill Pointe Garden Club will meet at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday, May 6, at the home of Mrs. Arthur Blumenstock. Co-hostess will be Mrs. Richard Flynn.

After a plant exchange and luncheon, the annual meeting and election of officers will be held.

HAVE A PLEASANT TRY AT PERFECTION BRIDGE BY WOODY BOYD

"Mine eyes have seen the glory of the young, and my handwork's only purpose is to make it a little easier for those who can use my help."

—Stan, The Super Carpenter Man

On a scale of 0-10, I would rate Stan Morganstern a 9.47. There are those who would inflate that rating, but I think it is prudent to hold a trifle in reserve. Bob Talbert of the Detroit Free Press says he's less than a split digit below the finest person he's ever had the pleasure of knowing.

Today's bio about him is based upon only a 12 year friendship that came about because of our interest in bridge and his magnificent, pleasing manner with everyone. It's immediately conspicuous and practiced incessantly.

Stan retired 14 years ago from a long and distinguished career with Metropolitan Life Insurance so he could savor the years past 60 with his lovely wife, Brinah, and their three fine children, Peggy, Jim and Rick. Unfortunately Brinah is gone now, but I'm positive the song "Thanks For The Memory" was originally written because of her.

Until recently, only Stan's family and closest friends knew of his other lifelong contributions to the young, especially the exceptionally gifted. Have any one of you ever been told, "I'm sorry I can't play this week; I promised one of my young ones I'd have her rocking chair with special headrest and leg supports ready tomorrow?"

You see, Stan is a magnificent handyman and cabinetmaker, and some years ago he put that aptness to work helping children. He's created useful devices for the young in West Bloomfield, Auburn Hills, Garden City, Howell, Oak Park and many other school districts in his travels to find where his skills could be helpful. Mort Crim featured his wonderful, creative ventures for the young on his TV show "Above and Beyond" a couple of years ago, and Stan told me he was uncomfortable with such attention. As he says, "I just plain enjoy helping those who can use my skills."

Local MS Walk is May 3; starts at North High School

More than a quarter of a million Americans will walk — or volunteer to help with — the annual MS Walk, a fundraiser which is held all over the nation to raise funds for the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Michigan's MS Walks will take place in 11 different locations.

Grosse Pointe's MS Walk will begin at 9 a.m. Sunday, May 3, at Grosse Pointe North High School. Registration will begin at 8 a.m. Walkers may choose a 20K, a 15K or a 5K route, which is new this year and measures about 2.5 miles.

Some 2,000 people are expected to walk in Grosse Pointe.

Local funds raised by the event will help support free services provided by the Michigan chapter for the more than 15,000 Michigan residents with MS.

"The mission of the MS Society is to end the devastating effects of multiple sclerosis," said Elana Noble, communications director for the Michigan MS Society. "We support tremendous research that some day will find the cure, and even now has brought recent breakthroughs in treatment."

The MS Walk asks each walker to raise money for each kilometer the walker completes. The event will include rest stops, lunch, entertainment, medical support, volunteers and fans to give tired walkers a lift if they need one.

All walkers who raise more than $100 will receive a T-shirt and those who raise more will qualify for bigger prizes, including a luxury trip for two to New York City with six nights' accommodations in the Renaissance New York Hotel.

MS is a chronic disease of the nervous system that wears away the control a person has over his or her body. Symptoms vary from person to person and most people are diagnosed with MS between the ages of 20 and 40, the prime of their lives.

For more information about the benefit, call (800) 247-7382, ext. 216.

This bud's for all: The Junior League Gardeners will present a free flower show from noon to 4 p.m. Thursday, May 7, in the lobby of Henry Ford Cottage Hospital.

The show's title, "Mom," will feature a judged display of flower arrangements as tributes to Mother's Day.

The 11 judging classes were named in honor of mothers — "Mother Earth," for instance, and "Red Hot Mama," "The Mamas and the Papas," "Mamma Mia," "Things Your Mother Never Told You" and more.

The final class, "Mother Waddies," will feature arrangements in disposable containers which will be donated to the hospital's nursing stations after the show.

The Rose Bud Cafe, 131 Kercheval (across the street from the hospital lobby) will offer a discount coupon for an after-show treat.

The Junior League Gardeners, a separate group within the larger Junior League of Detroit, sponsors a flower show every few years. Its purpose is to give members a chance to compete and to provide a display of flowers, plants and accessories for the

Annual flower sale

The Grosse Pointe North Parents' Club will hold its 28th annual flower sale from 2 to 6 p.m. Friday, May 8, and from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday, May 9, in the school's gym.

Available this year: six colors of geraniums at $16 a flat; eight colors and six varieties of impatiens at $12 a flat; pachysandra at $24 a flat; hanging baskets of impatiens, geraniums and begonias; and more.

To preorder, call Leehr at (313) 881-7958 by Sunday, May 3.

Ice Cream Social

Molly Onderecke, 5, of Grosse Pointe Farms, likes ice cream cones. The Friends of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial will hold an old-fashioned Ice Cream Social from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Tuesday, May 5, at 32 Lakeshore in Grosse Pointe Farms. The cost is $4 a person; $10 a family.

community's enjoyment.

Mrs. John H. Roberts, Mrs. Michael Carey, Mrs. James Rauh, Mrs. George Zinn and Mrs. Charles Matthews are members of the planning committee. Mrs. Lloyd Semple is in charge of staging; Mrs. Thomas H. Jeffs is assisting with arrangements for parking; and Mrs. Richard Kost is hosting a luncheon for judges. Mrs. John Standish is president of the Junior League Gardeners.

Zoo Do: The Michigan Humane Society and 27 other animal welfare organizations and purebred rescue groups will present the sixth annual "Meet Your Best Friend at the Zoo" adoption event from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, May 2 and 3, at the Detroit Zoo.

Hundreds of adoptable dogs, cats, puppies and kittens will be available for new homes.

Fashions and luncheon: The Cottage Hospital Auxiliary will hold a fashion show and luncheon beginning at noon Wednesday, May 6, at Assumption Cultural Center in St. Clair Shores.

Mothers, grandmothers, daughters and grandchildren will model clothes from the Jane Woodbury Shop in Grosse Pointe Farms and Connie's Children's Shop in St. Clair Shores. Also to be featured — a 50-50 raffle and a special raffle for a Princess Di Beanie Baby.

A light lunch will be served and proceeds from the event will be used to enhance the operating room computer system at Henry Ford Cottage Hospital. Tickets are $22. For reservations, call Jean Carmichael at (313) 882-6549.

Karmanos fundraiser: The Barbara Ann Karmanos Cancer Institute's 16th annual dinner will be held on Saturday, May 9, at the Chrysler Corp. Conner Assembly Plant in Detroit.

The Beach Boys will perform at the black-tie event. Among the co-chairmen are

The Pastor's Corner

For children's sake

By the Rev. E. A. Bray
Grosse Pointe United Church

The most endangered species in the United States is our children.

In a report issued by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention just last year, the authors made the claim that there is a new "epidemic" of teen violence almost exclusive to the United States. Among the world's 26 richest nations, the United States has the highest rates of childhood suicide, homicide and gun-related deaths.

Thus, the report is sounding an alarm: it is time we take our children and their needs more seriously.

In looking at high-risk behavior by our youth, the conclusion drawn in still another study, The Longitudinal Study of Adolescent Health (a survey of 90,000 young people from seventh through twelfth grades across the U.S.) was simply that "feeling loved, understood, and paid attention to by parents helps teenagers avoid high-risk activities, regardless of whether a child comes from a one- or two-parent family."

One more eye-opener came from a recent survey taken at the University of Chicago. Graduate students were asked where they got most of their ideas about morality and religion. Their response was that it was through conversation with family at mealtime.

In the Hebrew text of the Bible, the writer of Proverbs teaches us to "Train children in the right way, and when old, they will not stray." (22:6).

Being a parent is not easy. It is an extremely important and honorable profession. Each new generation of parents faces new challenges that previous generations could not even imagine. However, it seems that one element of success is consistently present in all generations of parenting. That element is a parent's love that is strong enough to set standards, be honest, be disciplined and be always available and attentive.

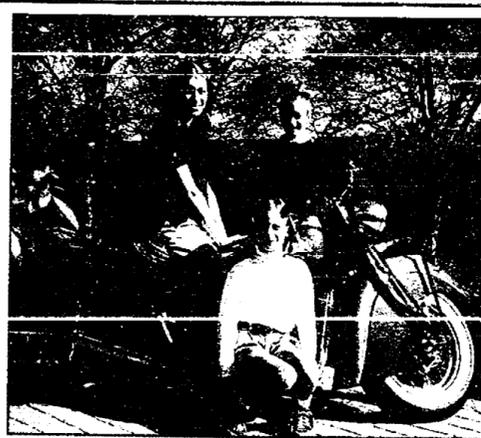

A recent cable television documentary revealed something about President Theodore Roosevelt as a parent that this writer found to be impressive.

At 4 p.m. every day, no matter what was happening, Roosevelt stopped what he was doing to spend at least one hour with his children - an hour totally devoted to them.

Our children need clear, defined guidance. Our children need their parents' presence in their lives. Most of all, our children need their parents' love.

Quite often a society is judged by historians in the way that society cared for and loved its children. The time has not expired for our current generation to face history's challenge and "train... (our)... children in the right way..."

It is possible, as a result, we could become known for having the largest epidemic of love for our children in the world.

Action Auction

Grosse Pointe Academy will hold its 31st annual Action Auction from 5 to 9:45 p.m. Saturday, May 9. The Preview Auction will be from 6 to 9:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 6. Proceeds from the nearly 1,000 items up for bid will be used to finance educational activities at the academy.

Also on the bidding block is a Queen Anne-style mahogany chest, below, decorated by Grosse Pointe artist Anne Leete Parcells and donated by DuMouchelle Art Galleries. The front of the chest is painted to resemble the main building of Grosse Pointe Academy.

Tickets for the auction may be purchased at the door or by calling (313) 886-1221.

Bon Secours offers diabetes support group

Bon Secours Hospital will offer free monthly support group meetings for people with diabetes and their families from 6:30 to 8 p.m. at the Bon Brae Center, 22300 Bon Brae in St. Clair Shores.

Participants will discuss exercise and diabetes, how to count carbohydrates, and control and monitor glucose levels.

Upcoming topics to be discussed will include: Diabetic Skin Manifestations, on May 6; Diabetic Neuropathy, on June 3; Exercise and Diabetes, on July 1; and Creative Snacking, on Aug. 5.

For more information or to preregister, call (810) 779-7900 between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Joint replacement to be topic of lecture

Bon Secours Hospital will sponsor a free lecture concerning new techniques for joint replacement surgery from 1 to 3 p.m. Saturday, May 2, in the Bon Secours Hospital Connelly Auditorium.

Orthopedic surgeon Dr. Paul Schreck will discuss "high-tech" surgery that can help patients live normal, active lives again.

For more information or to preregister, call (810) 779-7900 between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. weekdays.

Free screenings available for anxiety disorders

Anxiety is part of everyday life — a necessary part. Anxiety can warn us of impending danger, encourage us to prepare for an examination, help us cope and keep us civilized. Sometimes we seek out situations that create anxiety, like roller coasters, horror movies and extreme sports — just to give ourselves a sense of mastery and control over our lives.

But everything is a matter of degree. When our emotional response is too sensitive or too intense, it can be crippling.

"An anxiety disorder is an illness often related to biochemical makeup and life experiences and can run in families," said Dr. Dan Guyer, chief of psychiatry at Henry Ford Cottage Hospital.

"Anxiety disorders include generalized anxiety disorder, specific phobias, social phobias, post-traumatic stress disorder, panic disorder and obsessive-compulsive disorder. While these illnesses can be debilitating, they are also treatable," Guyer said.

Henry Ford Cottage Hospital will offer free screenings on National Anxiety Disorders Screening Day from 5 to 8 p.m.

Dr. Dan Guyer

Wednesday, May 6, in the lower level boardrooms of the hospital. The free screenings are designed to help educate the public about anxiety disorders and to assist those suffering from the symptoms identify their illness and get help.

No appointment is necessary for the screening.

In addition, Guyer will present a free luncheon lecture program from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. on the same day, Wednesday, May 6. Reservations are necessary for the lunch. Call (313) 640-2244.

Just walk (chewing gum is optional)

American Institute for Cancer Research

It's as easy as putting one foot in front of the other. In fact, it is just putting one foot in front of the other.

Walking is one of the most popular forms of exercise in America. The reasons are obvious — walking doesn't cost any money and it can be done by almost anyone, almost anywhere, at just about any time.

But is something as simple as walking really beneficial to our health?

Absolutely, say health experts. Walking helps burn fat and calories, relieves stress, strengthens the heart and decreases the risk of some forms of cancer, according to the American Institute for Cancer Research. All are great reasons to put a little spring into your step, or, since it's April, a little step into your spring.

While there's an endless variety of exercise options available today, taking a daily walk is one of the simplest, making it an especially good way for people who aren't accustomed to regular exercise to begin.

The American Institute for Cancer Research recommends getting at least one hour of moderate physical activity every day. An hour's brisk walk each day is a great way to fit this in. And brisk hill-walking for at least one hour each week is equivalent to the hour of weekly vigorous exercise that the institute also recommends.

Not only can walking regularly help lower risk for heart disease, diabetes and cancer, it can also be a key to healthy weight loss. A 150-pound person, walking at a moderate pace, burns about 5.4 calories per minute. Multiply 5.4 by 60 minutes, and that's 324 calories burned in just an hour of walking. Grab a pair of free weights while you walk, and you can also strengthen and tone your arm muscles.

If it's difficult to find one whole, uninterrupted hour to walk during your day, or if you're just beginning a walking regimen and want to start slowly, break your walk up into half-hour or 15-minute increments. Shorter sessions of exercise can be just as effective as one long session, and are always better than no exercise at all.

You can probably fit more walking into your everyday lifestyle than you realize. For instance, do you usually drive around the parking lot looking for the closest spot to the door? Start parking farther away. The time you save searching for the "perfect spot" can be spent walking instead.

And make it a goal to start taking the stairs instead of the elevator whenever possible. It'll be good for your heart and waistline, and less frustrating than waiting endlessly for the chance to be crowded into that little moving closet with a bunch of strangers.

The main message? Get moving. Staying physically active, even in small ways, can mean a healthier, trimmer you, and less risk of chronic illness.

Mother-daughter bond is basis for life's relationships

With Mother's Day just a few weeks away, it's natural to think of our own relationships with our mothers and to reflect on the many things they have done for us in the past.

But it's a regrettable fact of life that many adult women don't enjoy good relationships with their mothers. Sometimes a schism occurs between them following a disagreement, or simply because of a failure to connect due to divergent interests and outlooks.

Yet mother-daughter relationships are important to one's personal development, according to Sandra M. Schiff, Ph.D., director of planning and development for the Eastwood Clinics and author of a study called "Mothers and Daughters — The Bond of Later Years."

"Research has shown that this special bond forms the basis for establishing healthy relationships with other people," Schiff said. "It's likely that the daughter will have a great deal of difficulty connecting with others on an emotional level if this fundamental bonding between mother and daughter doesn't occur in early childhood."

While it may seem impossible to establish a healthy relationship with one's mother later in life, especially if there were conflicts and other circumstances that kept them apart for years, strong mother-daughter relationships form the basis for healthy relationships throughout life.

Schiff believes it's never too late to try to connect. Start by listening to your mother and genuinely caring about what's happening in her life. Call her frequently and take an interest in her daily activities, no matter how mundane they may seem.

"It's important to realize that your mother likely will have different concerns than you do at this point in your life — notably, concerns about health, finances and her own reaction to the aging process," Schiff said. "But even though these concerns may not mirror your own, you still have something in common — a biological bond that will enable you to share details of your lives and encourage each other to new heights. And the reward will be many days of laughter, love and closeness that can't be matched in other relationships."

Learn more about how to cultivate a healthy mother-daughter relationship by attending the "Picture a Healthier You" health and lifestyle conference for women on May 9 at the Sterling Inn in Sterling Heights.

In addition to Schiff, who will give a presentation on mother-daughter bonds, there will be healthy living workshops, health screenings and exhibits for women of all ages.

Free skin cancer screening will be available from 9 to 11 a.m. on Wednesday, May 6

It's the time of year when thoughts turn to white, sandy beaches and lazy days in the sun.

Before you head south or to the tanning booth, however, consider these projections from the American Academy of Dermatology and the American Cancer Society:

- About one million new cases of skin cancer will be diagnosed in the United States this year and the figure is rising annually.

- Most of these will represent basal cell carcinoma and squamous cell carcinoma as well as a smaller number of malignant melanoma.

- Melanoma is the most common lethal cancer among people aged 25-29. When melanoma is detected and treated early on, however, it can be virtually 100 percent curable.

- This year more than 40,000 people will be diagnosed with the potentially deadly malignant melanoma. Of these, approximately 7,000 will die.

As part of Skin Cancer Detection Day, a number of St. John Hospital dermatologists will conduct free skin cancer screenings from 9 to 11 a.m.

Wednesday, May 6, at the Neighborhood Club, 17150 Waterloo (one block north of Kercheval) in Grosse Pointe.

"Screening for skin cancer is not the only benefit of this event," said Dr. Lisa Manz-Dulac, dermatologist at St. John Hospital and coordinator of the event. "The screening also provides an opportunity to educate the public about dermatology, the importance of early detection of skin cancers and the importance of sun protection."

Other St. John Hospital dermatologists participating in the event are Dr. David Balle, Dr. Judith Lipinski and Dr. Richard Ferrara Jr.

No appointments are necessary. For further information, contact the American Cancer Society at (800) 925-2271.

Soloists are good omens for DSO European tour

In presenting works and soloists that will appear on the programs in the DSO's 16-city European tour this month, Neeme Jarvi and the orchestra whetted our appetite to become concert tour groupies.

European audiences are in for a treat. Our music director and orchestra are in the best of form and they are making music of the highest — and more important — the most exciting quality. And no more authoritative testimony could be found than the comments of the two soloists in the last two weeks' concerts.

Following his electrifying performance of the knuckle-busting Prokofiev Third Piano Concerto at Orchestra Hall two weeks ago, pianist Leif Ove Andnes glowed with enthusiasm.

"Mr. Jarvi makes it possible for me to play my best. It was with his help that I had such a great success when I played the Rachmaninoff Third with him conducting the New York Philharmonic. It is the same with the Prokofiev. And every time we do it, it gets better." Andnes will perform it on the first half of the DSO tour.

Violinist Pamela Frank was no less vibrant last week after performing the spectacularly challenging Bruch Concerto with the DSO.

"Mr. Jarvi makes you feel as if you are in his living room, because performing with him is so flexible and comfortable. And the music is filled with love and passion." Frank will play the Bruch on the second half of the tour.

Without knowing what she had said, Jarvi returned Ms. Frank's compliment. "Performing with her is wonderfully comfortable," he said. "She watches the conductor and works with you to make good music happen easily." He takes particular satisfaction in knowing that he helped establish Andnes' career.

"But that is what you must do," Jarvi said. "You have to help the world discover such a fine young artist."

It is little wonder he chose these two exceptional young soloists for the tour. It is not just that they are both topnotch virtuosos. As they play, they are in constant touch with him musically, making possible performances enhanced by shared, spontaneous inspirations. It is an experience that Jarvi often speaks of and values highly. It is not achievable with every soloist, however. When it happens, it is something special. That was amply evident in the performances of the past two weekends and should contribute immeasurably to a successful tour.

State of the Arts

By Alex Suczek

But there are other treats in the tour programs as well. Insights into music that is genuinely American are sure to reward the tour audiences as they hear the DSO's deeply felt performances of William Grant Still's Afro American Symphony, Samuel Barber's Overture to School for Scandal and Duke Ellington's Solitude. Not an orchestra in Europe can provide a comparable experience, no matter how well they play.

For an impression of reactions over there, watch for a State of the Arts column in a few weeks reporting the performance in Prague, Czech Republic.

Meanwhile, programs for next season, are also being announced.

For the DSO, 1998-99 will be split between going back to basics and innovation. The season will include a complete Beethoven piano concerto cycle and major works such as Mahler's Symphony No. 5, Bruckner's Symphony

No. 7, Strauss' Ein Heidenleben, Rachmaninoff's The Bells and Brahms' German Requiem.

There will be premieres of music by Dudley Buck Jr. (whose overture is based on The Star Spangled Banner), Alexander Scriabin (Russian), Erkki-Sven Taur (Estonian), Bohuslav Martinu (Czech), Christopher Rouse and Stephen Rush (American), Witold Lutoslawski (Polish), Franz Berwald (Swedish) and Alfons Diepenbrock (Dutch). Eighteen works will be first performances by the orchestra.

For Pro Musica at the DIA, there will be Detroit debut recitals by three emerging great young artists. The elegant Viennese violinist, Julian Rachlin, who subbed at the last minute with a lush performance of the Brahms concerto with the DSO last fall, will open the Society's season Oct. 23. Pianist Arnaldo Cohen from England, already a star in Europe, will follow on Jan. 29.

And Pro Musica will end its season on May 15, 1999, with a home-grown talent who is now a budding star at New York's Metropolitan Opera. Baritone Christopher Schaldenbrand, who grew up in the Detroit area and studied at the Music School of Indiana University, will give his first recital in his home town. He was seen nationwide last January in the Met's broadcast of "Carmen" on educational TV.

That's a lot to look forward to. For more subscription and program information, call the DSO at (313) 576-5120 and Pro Musica at (313) 885-0793.

'Mock' Alfredo sauce — It's heart smart, too

Heart patients rejoice. There's hope for the bikini bound. It's white and creamy; it's tasty and extremely low in fat. What, you ask, could this be?

By Annie Rouleau-Scheriff

"Mock" Alfredo sauce. Traditionally tossed with fettuccini noodles, this sensational sauce (which is usually prepared with butter, Parmesan cheese and heavy cream) works with any hearty pasta. I obtained the recipe from my sister Christine, who found it in a magazine called Taste of Home. The credit, however, goes to a woman named Ruby Williams from Bogalusa, La., who sent the recipe to the magazine.

Ingredients
 1 1/2 cups low-fat (1 percent) cottage cheese
 1/2 cup skim milk
 2 minced garlic cloves
 2 Tablespoons flour
 1 tablespoon lemon juice
 1 teaspoon dried basil
 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
 pinch of salt (optional)

In a food processor or blender, mix the cottage cheese, skim milk and garlic until smooth. Add all of the remaining ingredients and blend well. Pour sauce into a medium no-stick pan and slowly heat over medium heat. Do NOT boil. The secret here is low and slow. High heat will cause the sauce to break (separate).

Toss with 8 oz. of your favorite (precooked) pasta and top with a freshly chopped, seeded tomato. You might also try a grilled chicken breast on top and turn this creamy dish into your main entree.

Total prep time for the sauce before heating was about 6 minutes.

I can't remember the last time I came across a recipe that was this easy to make, tastes this delicious, and is actually good for you. Even if you're a skinny minny with a perfect ticker, cut out this recipe and save it for a not so skinny minny or for a friend or relative who may have a heart condition.

Believe me, it will be appreciated. Just ask my friend, Bill O'Donohue of Grosse Pointe Park.

Grosse Pointe North's softball team and coaches Bill Taylor and Tim Van Eckoute celebrate the Norsemen's second straight victory in the George Morrisett Invitational. The Norsemen beat host East Detroit 7-6 in the championship game.

North repeats as champion in East Detroit tournament

Grosse Pointe North's softball team enjoyed its victory in last year's George Morrisett Invitational so much it decided to do it again.

The Norsemen won the championship with a come-from-behind 7-6 victory over host East Detroit, scoring twice in the ninth inning.

East Detroit scored five runs in the first two innings and led 5-2 going into the seventh, but North tied the game with three runs in the seventh.

"It was impressive the way the girls didn't quit when they were down 5-2," said assistant coach Tim Van Eckoute. "They just pulled together and were determined to win the game."

Julie Mack picked up her second win of the day and Lindsay Hawkins led the Norsemen's offensive attack with two hits and she scored three runs, including the game-winner.

The three victories in the tournament improved North's overall record to 9-1.

North opened the tournament with a 5-4 win over Port Huron.

The Norsemen jumped ahead with two runs in the third inning, fell behind 3-2 in the fourth but regained the lead in the fifth and stayed ahead the rest of the way.

Mack posted the victory, while Hawkins, Erin Drouillard and Andrea Spencer collected two hits apiece.

all North needed as it rolled past Center Line 12-2 to earn a spot in the championship game.

Sarah Smith pitched a three-hitter to pick up the win. Meg Guillaumin, Megan Simon and Michelle Champine each had three hits for the Norsemen.

North remained perfect in the Macomb Area Conference Blue Division with a 10-0 win over L'Anse Creuse North. The Norsemen are 2-0 in league play.

North took control of the game with two runs in the third inning and five in the fourth. The Norsemen won on a mercy rule when Hawkins hit a two-run homer in the fifth — her third hit of the game.

Mack scattered five hits to post the shutout.

South lacrosse team wins tournament in Grand Rapids

By Chuck Klonke
Sports Editor

Grosse Pointe South's boys lacrosse coach Gary Donohue believes in letting his players get involved with more than just playing the games.

"We had a meeting before our game with L'Anse Creuse and I asked them what they wanted to do," Donohue said. "I let them put in the game plan and they implemented it perfectly."

The Blue Devils, ranked third in the state in Class B, beat the fifth-ranked Lancers 11-7.

South then went on to win the Forest Hills tournament in Grand Rapids with an 8-4 victory over Forest Hills Central in the championship game.

"L'Anse Creuse was probably our biggest competition in the Eastern Conference," Donohue said. "We played an outstanding defensive game. We made them take most of their shots from the outer perimeter. C.J. (goalie C.J. Lee) played an outstanding game, but he had a lot of help."

South's first-line defense of Dave Bilbrey, Chris Schulte and Thatcher Sloan played very well in front of Lee, who stopped 20 of the 27 shots he faced.

"Thatcher has become the leader of the defense," Donohue said. "And he's a wizard with the stick."

L'Anse Creuse scored the first goal of the game, but South answered with three straight to take a 3-2 lead that it never relinquished.

"We answered every goal they scored and sometimes we answered with two," Donohue said.

Jon Bayko led the Blue Devils with three goals and three assists, while Charlie Norton collected two goals and three assists. Brad Balesky had two goals and an assist, Drew Wrosch had two goals and Adam Whitehead con-

assists. Matt Moran had a goal and an assist, Ben Weaver picked up two assists and Clint Carpenter, Ryan Joyce and Lee each had one assist.

"Wrosch is a sophomore who is starting to dominate games," Donohue said. "He's our second-line center. He just powers through the defense. He's one of the kids who allows us to spread around our ability. We don't rely on just one or two people."

South began the Forest Hills tournament with a 9-5 victory over East Grand Rapids.

"That figured to be our toughest game," Donohue said. "Once we beat them, I thought we'd win the tournament."

Bayko continued his consistent play with two goals and three assists, while Norton had two goals and two assists and Balesky scored twice.

Whitehead had a goal and an assist and Wrosch and Carpenter each had a goal.

Carpenter has been a versatile performer for South for three years.

"I asked him to play defense his first year because we needed help there," Donohue said. "Because he helped me then, I told him he could be an attacker last year because that's where he wanted to play. This year we've moved him up to midfield and he's been doing a good job."

Whitehead has also made some key contributions.

"I call him our director of operations," Donohue said. "He's very quiet off the field, but on the field he controls the play. He sees the whole field and understands the game."

South reached the championship game with a 9-2 victory over Notre Dame.

Tight games for ULS

By Chuck Klonke
Sports Editor

University Liggett School's lacrosse team has given its fans plenty of excitement so far this season.

The Knights have played two overtime games and two others in which the margin of victory was two goals or fewer.

"We've been having a lot of fun," said coach John Fowler. "We're 2-5 right now, but we're playing pretty well. We've faced some real good teams."

The highlight of the season was an 8-7 four-overtime win over East Grand Rapids. Chris Mitchell scored the winning goal with 1:24 left on a play that reminded Fowler of his days coaching hockey at ULS, where Mitchell was one of his top players.

"The ball came out to Chris in the slot, and like a good hockey center, he just banged it in from a goalmouth scramble," Fowler said. "What a game. (Goalie) Jason Capen was huge in the overtime and we played very well as a team."

It was Mitchell's second goal of the game. Kevin Espy also scored twice, while Andy Adamo, John Riddle, Bray Miller and Waref Hawasli added a goal apiece.

The Knights' other win was a 16-1 victory over Notre Dame.

Espy scored five goals and Hawasli added four to lead the way. Mike DiLoreto, Nima Bararsani, Trevor Broad, Justin Macksoud, Mitchell, Adamo and Riddle each tallied once.

ULS opened the season with a 7-6 double-overtime loss to L'Anse Creuse. Espy scored three times, while Adamo, Miller and Mitchell had one goal each.

"It was our first game and they had played four, but we did a good job," Fowler said.

The Knights' next outing was an 11-7 loss to Troy Athens. Hawasli and Espy each scored twice. Miller, Riddle and Mitchell had a goal apiece.

"We just didn't have our team defense down to where we wanted it," Fowler said.

Espy scored four goals in a tough 9-7 loss to Cranbrook. Adamo had two goals and Riddle picked up the other one.

ULS' most-lopsided loss of the season was 18-8 to Lansing Waverly, which is ranked No. 1 in the state in Class B.

The Knights dropped another heartbreaker to Novi, losing 10-9, despite four goals by Espy and two apiece from Adamo and Riddle. DiLoreto got the other goal.

"We had the ball at the end, but couldn't get the tying goal," Fowler said. "We didn't get any scoring from our attackmen in that game."

ULS is led by three returning All-State players -- Capen in goal, Espy at midfield and Macksoud on defense.

The top attack line includes Mitchell, Miller and Hawasli, while Nick Clark heads up the second unit. The top midfield line of Espy, Riddle and Adamo played together a lot last season.

"We can also substitute Steve Gotfredson, Kees Janeway, Nima Bararsani, Mike DiLoreto and Trevor Broad in certain situations," Fowler said. "Lacrosse is a lot like a chess game."

Macksoud leads a defense corps that includes Tim French, Tim Peters, Jeff Brown and Eli Binns-Cooley.

Capen has been outstanding in goal again this year and backup Mike Elanges has done well when he's been called upon.

The Knights host their annual tournament this weekend. Grosse Pointe North and Grosse Pointe South meet in the first game at 2 p.m. Saturday, while ULS and Ann Arbor Pioneer play at 4 p.m.

The consolation game is scheduled for 11 a.m. Sunday with the championship to be decided at 1 p.m.

James Thomas, Norton and Chris Provenzano added a goal apiece.

Whitehead had three assists, Jon Miller and Moran each collected two, while Wrosch and Balesky had one apiece.

"I put a new player with two of the more experienced ones," Donohue said. "This forces the third player to play up a notch than if I'd played three lesser experienced kids together."

South wrapped up the tournament championship with an 8-4 win over Forest Hills Central.

Bayko had three goals and an assist, Norton had two goals and an assist and Weaver scored twice. Whitehead and Provenzano each collected a goal and an assist, while Moran had two assists. Balesky scored the other Blue Devils' goal.

South also got a strong game from Nate Bradley.

"He didn't play a lot during the first few games because that was when I was trying to get a look at different people," Donohue said. "I think Nate was afraid he wouldn't get to play a lot, but I know what he can do. He always plays in our man-down situations and he's very consistent and quick. He played well in this game."

South trailed 2-1 after the first quarter -- the only time the Blue Devils were behind in the tournament -- but tied the game in the second quarter and won it with three goals each in the third and fourth quarters.

South is 7-0 overall.

Ealba, defense the keys to ULS victory

By Chuck Klonke
Sports Editor

Sophomore Erin Ealba figures to score a lot more goals before her soccer career at University Liggett School is over, but few will be more important than the two she scored last weekend.

"She was in the right place at the right time," said Knights coach David Backhurst after ULS' 2-1 non-league victory over Ann Arbor Pioneer.

Ealba got the Knights going with just under 20 minutes left in the first half. She redirected a crossing pass from Mieke Teigte that the Pioneers' goalie stopped, but Ealba pounced on the rebound and tapped it under the netminder's hand.

"I think we shocked them," Backhurst said. "Pioneer came in expecting to beat us easily. They came with 22 players and when the game started, we had only 11. I was the only one on the sideline."

Before Pioneer got over the initial shock of Ealba's first goal, she gave ULS a 2-0 lead. Mieke Tompkins sent a crossing pass that hit the crossbar, but once again Ealba was there to score on the rebound.

"Both goals came on quick transition plays," Backhurst said. "We used our speed."

Pioneer scored with about five minutes left in the first half and the second half was a matter of the Knights withstanding a heavy charge by the Pioneers. Pioneer outshot ULS 22-11.

"They came out rip-roaring in the second half," Backhurst said. "We were backed up in our end most of the second half, but our defense -- Kristin Byron, Allison Johnson, Adriane Lie and Celeste Hubbard -- did a great job and goalie Konita Roy was outstanding."

"This was a big victory for us. We haven't beaten them since the seniors were freshmen and I didn't think we would win this game because they have so much depth. I was hoping we could hold them under five goals, but we've improved a lot in the last couple of weeks."

ULS had a much easier time in its only Metro Conference game last week, beating a first-year Lutheran Westland squad 10-0.

The Knights spread the scoring out among eight players with Karine Polis and Byron getting two goals apiece. Lie, Tompkins, Beth Bogusz, Jonanna Guillien, Erica Brammer and Katie Danaber added a goal apiece.

Roy posted her third shutout of the season.

The two victories improved ULS' overall record to 4-1-1. The Knights are 2-1 in the Metro Conference.

Metro D camp taking registration

Registration is now being accepted for the sixth annual Metro D Basketball Camp, which will be held at Harper Woods and Lutheran East high schools in July.

The staff, which includes camp directors John Switchulis, Jim Champine and Jim O'Connor, has worked camps together for the last 15 years, including the last five at the Metro D camp.

The dates and ages for the camps are boys 12 through 18, July 6 through 10, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; girls 12-18, July 13-17, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; boys 8-12, July 20-24, 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.; and girls 8-12, July 20-24, 1:30 to 5 p.m.

The cost for the full-day camps is $140 and the half-day camps is $90.

Each camper receives a T-shirt and a basketball, while the full-day campers get a hot lunch each day.

For more information or a brochure on the camp, call (313) 884-3057.

Indoor champs

The Grosse Pointe Soccer Association Salvo '89 won the recently-completed under-9 indoor soccer season at Fraser Total Soccer with an 8-0 record. Last year, in its first indoor season, the Salvo was second with a 5-2-1 mark. Ryan Deane and Michael Wolcott shared the goaltending and also played in the field. David Szandzik, Colin Maloney and Tim Deters led the defense. Spencer MacGriff, Brad Jensen and Eric Szandzik were midfielders, while Greg Carmody, Matthew Faiver, Jake Mandel, Matt Naber and Brendan Symington led the strong Salvo offense. Robbie Fisher is the honorary captain of the team, which is coached by Rick Symington. The Salvo was recognized as league champion at the Detroit Rockers' final home game at Joe Louis Arena.

Mikula collects key hits for Norsemen

By Chuck Klonke
Sports Editor

Chris Mikula has been tough in the clutch for Grosse Pointe North's baseball team.

"We've won 11 games and he's had the game-winning hit in five of them," said coach Frank Sumbers after Mikula's RBI double in the top of the seventh inning drove in the winning run in the Norsemen's 8-5 win over Fraser in the Macomb Area Conference Blue Division.

"Chris had a good year last year and he's started in right where he left off. He's batting between Jerry Cardani and Scott Koerber, who are also hitting the ball well, so he's seeing some good pitches. Chris is also doing a good job in the field."

North's has quickly gotten back on the right track after dropping its division opener to Warren-Mott.

Since losing 5-1 to the Marauders, the Norsemen have beaten L'Anse Creuse North 9-8 and Fraser to improve to 2-1 in the MAC Blue and 11-3 overall.

The win over Fraser was a seesaw battle. The Ramblers scored first but North took a 2-1 lead in the second on Mike Fine's two-run double following walks to Phil Kozlowski and Brian Kasiborski.

After Fraser tied the game 2-2 in the third, North broke the deadlock with two runs in the fourth. A walk to Kozlowski and Kasiborski's single set the table for Rich Inger's two-out, two-run single.

Fraser scored three unearned runs in the fifth to take a 5-4 lead, but the Norsemen pulled back into a tie in the sixth. Koerber doubled and took third on Kozlowski's bunt single. Kasiborski followed with another single to drive in Koerber.

Inger started North's seventh with a walk and stole second. He was held at third when Craig Ziolkowski singled, but scored on Mikula's double. Koerber drove in a run with a groundout and Kozlowski capped the rally with an RBI single.

Mike Lane pitched the first five innings for North and allowed only two hits, while striking out eight, but he also walked eight. Kevin Diedrich pitched the last two innings, allowing one hit, to pick up the win.

North's win over LCN was also a come-from-behind thriller. The Norsemen trailed 8-3 going into the bottom of the sixth. Singles by Ziolkowski, Matt Burns and Inger produced one run and Mikula, duced one run and Mikula, who had four doubles and four RBI, knocked in another to cut the Crusaders' lead to 8-5.

North loaded the bases in the bottom of the seventh on three straight walks. Ziolkowski singled in one run and a walk to Cardani forced in another. Then Mikula followed with another double to drive in two runs.

Kozlowski and Burns each had two hits for North. Kasiborski picked up the victory with 4 2/3 innings of strong relief, allowing no earned runs.

In the Mott game, the Marauders scored all their runs in the third inning to overcome a 1-0 lead the Norsemen got on Mikula's RBI single.

Lane took the loss, despite a strong effort on the mound. He allowed six hits and struck out nine.

"He had one bad inning and even in that he wasn't hit hard," Sumbers said. "A couple of their hits landed on the foul line. Three or four balls they hit had feelers on them."

Junior champ

Pointe Aquatics swimmer Kammy Miller won the 100-yard breaststroke at the United States Swimming Junior National Championships on Long Island, N.Y. She won the event with a time of 1:04.24, qualifying her for the USS Senior National Championships in Clovis, Calif., in August. Miller, an eighth grader at Parcels Middle School, will be swimming for Grosse Pointe North in the fall. Other Pointe Aquatics swimmers who scored in the junior national meet were Cortney Piper, a senior at North, who was 13th in the 1,000 freestyle and 10th in the 1,650 freestyle and Carly Piper, a North freshman, who was ninth in the 1,650 freestyle.

Blue Devils are perfect in MAC White

By Chuck Klonke
Sports Editor

So far there hasn't been any pitching in the Macomb Area Conference White Division that has been able to stop Grosse Pointe South's baseball team.

The Blue Devils have outscored their opponents 31-2 in chalking up victories in their first three division games.

South has also received some quality pitching in the three contests.

"When we cut the walks down to three or four a game, we can play with anybody," said coach Dan Griesbaum.

The Blue Devils' latest division win was a 9-0 victory over L'Anse Creuse.

Brian Hodgman pitched a two-hit shutout, striking out 10 and walking only two. He also helped himself with a double and a single.

South broke the game open with four runs in the fifth inning, highlighted by Karl Freimuth's RBI double.

Charlie Braun had three hits and drove in two runs, while Chris McGratty, Dan Griesbaum and Paul Yeskey delivered RBI singles for the Blue Devils.

South got a key MAC White victory last Friday when it beat Romeo 10-2 behind the seven-hit pitching of Ted Swarthout. Swarthout, who struck out four and walked three, allowed two runs in the first inning and blanked the Bulldogs the rest of the way.

"Romeo has a good team," coach Griesbaum said. "They lost 4-3 to Sterling Heights. We expect both of them to be the division, so beating Romeo at their place was important."

South had three three-run innings against the Bulldogs. The Blue Devils jumped ahead with a three-run outburst in the first inning, featuring Matt Vandeweghe's RBI single. Jason Mangol was hit by a pitch to force in a run and another scored on an error on Hodgman's grounder.

Freimuth hit a run-scoring double in South's three-run fourth inning and McGratty knocked in a run on a sacrifice fly. Hodgman's RBI doubled highlighted South's three-run fifth.

The Blue Devils opened the league season with a 12-0 win over Roseville.

Pat Howe pitched the first four innings of the five-inning merry game. He allowed one hit, struck out six and walked four. Dan Battjes pitched the fifth and struck out three.

McGratty had an outstanding game with three hits, including a pair of homers, and six RBI. Mangol hit a two-run homer and Vandeweghe contributed a pair of hits.

South split a non-league doubleheader with Berkley last weekend, losing the first game 6-5 but coming back to win the nightcap 16-1.

"We just couldn't get the hit we needed in the first game," coach Griesbaum said. "We hit a lot of balls right at people."

McGratty had two hits, including a two-run homer in the first.

Tough pitching cools Knights' bats

University Liggett School's baseball team ran into two of the best pitchers in the Metro Conference last week in and they managed to cool off the Knights' hot bats.

Harper Woods' Brian Bayer and Cranbrook's Rick Sharpe

"Bayer and Sharpe are two of the best pitchers we'll face all year," said ULS coach Walter Butzu. "Unfortunately, we got them both in the same week, but we can't blame our inconsistent pitching and lackadaisical fielding on opposing pitching."

Harper Woods beat the Knights 11-0 behind the shutout pitching of Bayer. The Pioneers staked him to a big lead with six runs in the first inning.

Shaun Wise hit a three-run homer for Harper Woods in the fourth inning.

Andy Shelden pitched effectively in relief for ULS.

Cranbrook's Sharpe struck out seven and allowed only one hit in a 10-0 victory.

In between those two defeats, the Knights beat Lutheran East 14-4 for their only win of the week.

A five-run second inning and a seven-run fifth carried ULS to its first win in the Metro Conference.

Anthony Legree was 3-for-3 with a walk and seven RBI. Jay Minger was also 3-for-3 and scored three times, while Justin Young had two hits and scored three runs.

Minger pitched well, but tired in the fourth and loaded the bases with one out. Jeff Mehr relieved and struck out the next two batters to get out of the inning without further damage.

Mehr sealed the mercy win in the bottom of the fifth with two more strikeouts and a grounder to the mound.

"If we're going to make any noise in the Metro Conference we're going to have to hit good pitching and our pitchers are going to have to find a way to hold us in the game until the bats come alive," Butzu said.

"I'm waiting to see some scratching and clawing and mental toughness in difficult games. I think we can be a good team, but we won't fully believe that until we win a tough contest against a good opponent."

Sprinters become a strength for North boys track team.

By Chuck Klonek
Sports Editor

A concern at the beginning of the season has become a strength for Grosse Pointe North's boys track team.

"I was a little worried about our sprinters," said coach Pat Wilson. "In our first meet, the times were slow, but now our younger kids have come on faster than I expected. They're really helping us."

Senior Steve Drader, who won four events in the Norsemen's 74-63 victory over L'Anse Creuse in a Macomb Area Conference Blue Division meet has been steady all season, but even he is showing improvement. Drader ran 11.3 in winning the 100-meter dash and had a 23.0 winning effort in the 200. Both times were personal bests.

"We've only had two 200 times better in the last nine or 10 years," Wilson said. Drader also won the long jump and the 400.

Wilson has also been pleased with the improvement from Adrian Boyd, who was second to his teammate in both sprints.

"Boyd had two big drops in the L'Anse Creuse meet," Wilson said. "He took a half-second off the 100 time with an 11.4 and he dropped almost two seconds in the 200 (23.6). We were disappointed with his times in the first meet of the year, but he didn't say anything. He just worked harder. Now he's at the point we were thought he might be by the end of the season."

In addition to Drader and Boyd, Torrey Bryant, Paul Valencia and Jesse Graff also had personal bests in the 100 in the L'Anse Creuse meet.

Chris Hubbell won the discus and pole vault, while Matt Atkinson took first in both hurdles. North also won the 800 relay with Atkinson, Chris Fici, Devin McKenzie and Boyd, while the team of Bryant, Fici, Atkinson and Boyd took first in the 400 relay.

"We ran a 45.8 in the 400 relay. That's a time I didn't think we'd see all year," Wilson said. "It was a real good meet for us."

Other personal bests came from Steve Zygmontowicz in both hurdles; Matt Mikula, Mark Chasteen and John Lucido, 1,600; Cheo Rowzee, 400; McKenzie, shot put and discus; Kurt Ellis, Adam Drader, Ian Fenton and Rob Weathers, discus; and Alex Lentine, Brent Nielubowicz and Graff, long jump.

Earlier, the Norsemen won several medals at the Grosse Pointe North Invitational.

The shuttle hurdle relay team of Charlie Dallas, Trey Stewart, Hubbell and Atkinson was second. So was the 800 relay team of Boyd, Fici, Hubbell and Steve Drader and the high jump relay team of Steve Drader and Lentine.

Third-place finishes came from the 400 relay team of Bryant, Fici, Atkinson and Boyd, the sprint medley team of Fici, Atkinson, Boyd and Steve Drader and the long jump relay team of Nielubowicz, Lentine and Graff.

Personal bests came from Boyd, Hubbell, Steve Drader, Mike Caramagno, Rowzee, Dallas, Dave Caldwell, Nielubowicz, McKenzie, Fenton and Ellis.

Last weekend, North scored in 10 events at the Port Huron Relays.

The Norsemen's best showing was a third place from the pole vault relay team of Hubbell, David Hirt and Caldwell.

Other who scored were the shuttle hurdle relay (Hubbell, Zygmontowicz, Glenn Hauk and Stewart), the 8,400 relay (Chris Hirt, Mikula, Chasteen and Billy Farmer), the sprint medley relay (Zygmontowicz, David Hirt, Lentine and Chris Mancik), the Port Huron special relay — 100, 200, 300 and 400 meters (Bryant, Ben Staperfenne, Boyd and Randy Faust), the distance medley relay (Scott Serilla, Caldwell, Mikula and Chris Hirt), the 400 relay (Bryant, Fici, Staperfenne and Boyd), the high jump relay (Steve Drader, Lentine and Mick Myslinski).

North's team of McKenzie, Jennifer Pagel, Valencia and Annie Laethem also placed in the coed middle distance relay.

South girls stay perfect in track

Grosse Pointe South's girls track team improved to 3-0 with a 101-27 Macomb Area Conference White Division over Cousino.

South finished first in 13 of the 16 events.

"Our team continues to improve and it displays incredible depth," said coach Steve Zaranek.

A good example of the Blue Devils' depth was in the 400-meter relay where South placed seven teams — the varsity and six junior varsity units — ahead of Cousino's No. 1 team.

"As solid as our distance group continues to be, our sprinters and hurdlers have proven at every meet that they can compete with anyone," Zaranek said.

South's sprinters, led by Erin Smialek, Isabel Roa, Marlowe Marsh and Anne Laperriere, outscored the Patriots 26-1.

Laperriere won the 100 hurdles, Smialek was first in the 400 dash and Marsh won the 100 and 200 dashes. That quartet raced to a 51.9 in the 400 relay — one of South's fastest times this decade.

Smialek also won the long jump, while Meghan McGahey was first in the high jump.

Janel Zuidema had a season-best performance in winning the 300 hurdles.

South's distance runners outscored Cousino 23-4 as Beth Auty, Sara Crowe and Heidi Crowley each took firsts. Caitlin Carroll, Erica Hill, Kristin Ritter and Elizabeth Osburn also contributed points in the distance races.

South's 800 relay team of Dana Galinato, Erin Bannon, Katherine Miller and Julie Kamerud had an 11-second victory margin in their event, while the 1,600 relay team of Elizabeth Kwiatkowski, Zuidema, Galinato and Suzi Piech won by 12 seconds.

Krystal Parker, Amy Rodowski and Caitlin Fitzgerald each placed in the throwing events, while Caitlin Hofmann jumped a season-best to place in the high jump.

South also dominated the eight-team L'Anse Creuse Relays, placing in all 16 events and winning eight of them.

Among those earning medals were Julie Mezer-Schmidt, Meghan Scallen, Bridget Horne, Kerry Walker, Molly Ramsdell, Shannon Moore, Theresa Watts, Katy Day, Mary Gavrilovich, Lauren Mardirosian, Monique Perreault, Rhea Young, Bona Kokoshi, Alexa Babcock, Ryan Baril and Marianne Smith.

You've heard of home field advantages.

University Liggett School has a home track advantage. And it also works in the Knights' favor when they go on the road.

"Our track can often be an advantage for us," said coach Philip Langford after ULS opened the Metro Conference season with a 94-29 victory over Harper Woods on the Knights' dirt track.

"Team come here and groan when they see the dirt. After their first slow time they tend to get psyched. We travel, the other track is always better."

ULS' 3,200-meter relay team of Joe Varani, Kurt Niemi, Shaka Bahadu and Matt Nowak won the first of 15 first places for the Knights.

Varani was also on the winning 1,600 meter relay team with Sonny Ford, Travis Broad and Niemi. Karthiek Narala won both hurdles and the discus and was third in the 100. Kevin Espy won the 100 and was on the winning sprint relays.

Other first place finishers were Nowak, 1,600 and 3,200; Kyle Denham, long jump; Jim Fortune, 400; Ford, 800; and Brian Bruenton, high jump.

The Knights opened the season with a second-place finish in a five-team invitational at Center Line.

The host Panthers won with 107 points and ULS had 61.

"We have attempted to get an early meet with Center Line for a few years and this year it worked," Langford said. "They have a beautiful new track and coach Joe DeFusco runs and efficient meet. I think we would have been more competitive, but the timing of our spring break meant we had only six days of practice before the meet."

Junior Jonathan Kish won the long jump with a leap of 19-foot-2. Denham was third at 18-11 and Brad Wisk fourth at 17-8.

The 400 and 800 relay teams of Kish, Denham, Bruenton and Narala posted firsts in 48.0 and 1:39 despite what Langford called "some pretty ugly handoffs."

"Narala ran a split of 10.4 in the 400 relay. He took the baton late in the zone and gave it up way too soon. I think he ran the minimum 80 meters."

Nowak had the other first for the Knights in the 3,200 run. He was second in the 1,600. Niemi picked up a fifth in the 800.

ULS finished sixth in a 19-team field at the Rocket Relays hosted by the University of Toledo.

Kish was second in the long jump with a 19-2 1/2 effort. Moments later, Nowak ran an anchor split of 2:08 to put the 3,200 relay team in fifth place. Sprinter turned distance runner Fortune led off with a 2:16 leg, followed by Bahadu and Niemi.

Nowak was second in the 1,600 by one-thousandth of a second with an outstanding performance. He was clocked in 4:40.

"Coach (Jon) Sieber (ULS' distance coach) told me to run an even race, going out in 68 or 69 seconds," said the Knights' senior captain. "I came through the half in 2:18, about 10 yards off the leader. At this point the guy did a huge surge. I let him go, thinking he was going way too fast, especially after his 62-second first lap."

Going into the final lap, Nowak was nearly 60 yards behind the leader.

"I kept picking it up and went all out at 150 yards to catch him," Nowak said. "I caught him just a few feet from the finish, but he outleaned me at the line."

Nowak was fourth in the 3,200 with a 10:40.6.

The 400 relay team improved its exchanges and finished fourth in 46.2. Kish had the best start in the field and handed off to Narala. The second exchange was "mediocre, but a great final handoff allowed the Knights to recapture fourth," Langford said.

ULS girls are off to a good start

The Spartan Relays at Michigan State University was a good barometer of things to come for University Liggett School's girls track team.

With 11 newcomers on the 23-person squad, coach David Boynton used the tough competition with only four days of practice to test his young team.

It tested it in another way, too. "We could only enter two girls per event, so we had to spread the events thin," Boynton said. "We had nearly everyone attend so many just sat in the stands for 10 hours. That was a test of team spirit but we were yelling right down to our final event."

Keli Bonner advanced to the finals in the 60-meter dash, placing fourth in 7.63. She was also part of the 800 relay team that overcame a bad handoff to place third in its heat. The shuttle hurdle relay team placed eighth.

"Last season we had two novice hurdlers," Boynton said. "It had been four years since we had a hurdler and now we have four."

ULS finished 27th among 52 teams in the girls B-C-D standings and sixth among Class C teams.

The host Panthers beat ULS, but the Knights outscored Allen Park Cabrini, Center Line St. Clement and Warren Bethesda.

"We were hoping to be competitive (with Center Line) but with Bonner out we had to shuffle our sprints and relays at the last moment," Boynton said.

Bisi Alli was ULS' top performer in the meet with firsts in the long jump (14-foot-4 1/2) and 200 dash (28.7). She also teamed with Erica Stock, Tara Terry and Karissa Feucht to win the 800 relay.

Amy Silverston and Dorinda Varley finished 1-2 in the discus and Terry, a freshman, threw 29-1/2 to win the shot put.

Christina Oney and Kristin Lingemann appeared headed for a 1-2 finish in the high hurdles when Oney caught her foot on one of the slats and fell. Lingemann won the event, but Oney was out for the rest of the meet, leaving the Knights without two of their key performers.

"First Bonner, then Oney out of the meet was a death blow," Boynton said. "With the girls still sore from little practice, we thought it was best not to press them. We had no one in the low hurdles — an event we think we could have gone 1-2-3. That was the difference in the meet."

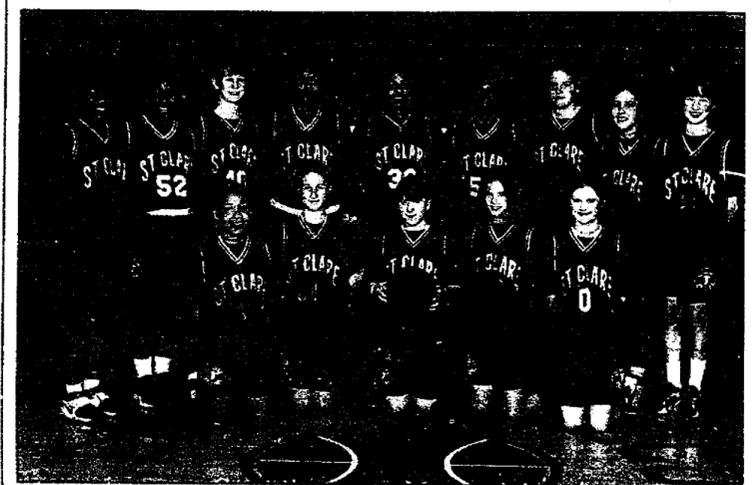

Two freshmen took second — Aleksa Moss in the high jump and Sherma Brown in the 200.

"We hope to come back to Center Line next year," Boynton said. "The coach and team put on a fun and efficient meet."

A week later, the Knights finished 10th in a 20-team field at the University of Toledo's Rocket Relays.

Bonner was second in the long jump and advanced to the finals in the 100 with a 13.1, but pulled a hamstring 40 meters into the race and didn't finish.

Silverston was fifth in the discus, while Stock nipped Moss for fifth place in the high jump on the basis of fewer misses. Oney reached the finals in the high hurdles and finished eighth after an ill-timed hurdle. She came back to

CYO champions

The St. Clare of Montefalco seventh and eighth grade girls basketball team won the Catholic Youth Organization Eastside Division championship. The squad also won the district and regional championships in the city playoffs and advanced to the final four of the 64-team field. In back, from left, are Alex Marshall, Katesha Lee, Alexa Davenport, Ericka Canty, Megan Allen, Alexis Terry, Lauren Miller, Nichole Lummetta and Hilary Zaranek. Not pictured are coaches Mike Shapiro and Morris Blackwell.

North is fourth at Port Huron

A victory in the sprint medley relay highlighted Grosse Pointe North's fourth-place finish in girls division of the Port Huron Relays.

North's team of Anastasia Lianakis, Stacey Lut, Jane Kopf and Katie Powers posted a winning time of 3:12.2 as the Norsemen finished with 59 points.

North also had a pair of second-place efforts. The high jump relay was runner-up with Jennifer Spindler, Allison Glovak and Maureen Redinger. The 6,400-meter relay team of Erin Lenahan, Betsie Huebner, Julie Mielke and Nicole Raspa was also second.

Three of North's relay teams had third-place finishes. They were the shuttle hurdle relay with Spindler, Claire Cadorin, Jessica Schore and Redinger; the 1,600 relay with Lianakis, Kim Feikens, Glovak and Powers; and the discus relay with Jennifer Pagel, Tiffany Gaidica and Annie Laethem.

Andrea O'Boyle was fourth in the pole vault.

The long jump relay, the shot put relay, the 3,200 relay and the distance medley relay teams each took fifth place, while the 400 and 800 relay teams were sixth.

Earlier, North beat L'Anse Creuse 70-63 in a Macomb Area Conference Blue Division

South netters wrap up MAC Red dual meet championship

By Chuck Klonek
Sports Editor

Grosse Pointe South's tennis team followed a strong showing in the tough Ann Arbor Huron Invitational with a victory over crosstown rival Grosse Pointe North to wrap up the Macomb Area Conference Red Division dual meet championship.

"It's been a good couple of days for us," said coach Tom Berschback after the Blue Devils' 8-0 victory over North.

"I was really happy with our showing at Huron, because six of the top eight Division I teams in the state were there."

Top-ranked Midland Dow was first with 21 points and South was second with 19.

"That our best showing in that tournament since 1990," Berschback said.

The Blue Devils had two flight champions. Tony Tocco beat Dow's Jason Mersci 6-4, 7-6 in the championship match at No. 3 singles and the first doubles team of Mike Case and John Berschback beat Huron 6-2, 6-2 in the championship match.

"John and Mike dominated," said coach Berschback. "They won their first match 6-0, 6-0 and took the next two 6-2, 6-2."

Nick Lodzinski finished third at No. 4 singles, losing a tough three-setter to Ann Arbor Pioneer.

The highlight of South's win

A.J. Rohde at No. 2 singles and the second doubles team of Brian Gorski and Ezra Bertakis each won their consolation bracket.

"A.J. drew the best player in the flight in his first match, but came back to beat the No. 2s from Traverse City Central and (Bloomfield Hills) Lahser," coach Berschback said. "I was really happy with our second doubles beating Okemos and Traverse City."

The third and fourth doubles teams of Chip Getz and Evan Roarty-Collins and Mike Day and Nate Steiner each won one match to complete the South scoring.

The highlight of South's win over North was Preston Gaspar's 6-4, 6-1 victory over Anthony Stefani in first singles.

"Preston had a real good match because Anthony is an outstanding player," coach Berschback said.

Rohde, Tocco and Lodzinski also won their singles matches for South while the doubles teams of Case-Berschback, Gorski-Bertakis, Getz-Roarty-Collins and Day-Steiner were also victorious.

South defeated a pair of state-ranked opponents when the Blue Devils beat Port Huron Northern 7-1 and Redford Catholic Central 6-2.

matches in the Macomb Area Conference Red Division meet with PHN.

Gaspar defeated Mark Walker 6-0, 6-4 at No. 1 singles. Rohde won 6-2, 6-4 at No. 2. Tocco posted a 6-4, 6-3 victory at third singles and Lodzinski had a 6-4, 7-5 win at No. 4.

Case and John Berschback beat Rob Ross and Randy Power 6-4, 6-1 at first doubles. Gorski and Bertakis posted a 6-3, 4-6, 6-3 win at No. 2 doubles and J.R. Mason and Jason Jeffreys won 6-3, 6-4 at fourth doubles.

In the match against fifth-ranked Catholic Central, Rohde beat Tom Tomacki 6-1, 6-1 in first singles. Gaspar posted a 6-2, 6-3 win at No. 2 and Tocco won 6-3, 6-1 at third singles.

Berschback and Case beat Brian Foley and Jeff Flazar 7-6 (6-3 tie-breaker), 6-3 at No. 1 doubles, while Getz and Roarty-Collins won 6-3, 7-6 (7-5) in third doubles and Day and Steiner beat their fourth doubles opponents 6-0, 6-1.

Openings remain for tournament

There are still some opening remaining for the North American Youth Basketball program's annual spring tournament for the Detroit area.

The deadline to enter is Friday, May 1.

The tournament will be played May 22 through 24 at the University of Michigan-Dearborn and other area sites.

The tournament will have 10 brackets — fifth and sixth grade boys and girls, seventh grade boys and girls, eighth grade boys and girls, ninth and 10th grade boys and girls and 11th and 12th grade boys and girls.

The entry fee is $90 and guarantees each team a minimum of two games. Half of the teams will play at least three games. Awards will be presented to first, second and consolation places.

For more information or an entry form call Mike Trudeau, the Detroit area NAYB director at (810) 469-4242 or Dave King at the NAYB toll-free tournament hotline at 1-888-629-2275.

Pointe Aquatics does well at state swimming meet

Two state titles, a Junior National qualifying time and a high-point trophy were the highlights of the Pointe Aquatics swim club's performance at the 13 and older Michigan Swimming state meet at Saginaw Valley State University.

Pointe Aquatics sent 15 swimmers to the meet and several outstanding times were recorded. The club, coached by Mike O'Connor, Jennifer Paolucci and Liz Stavale, finished eighth among 45 teams.

Melissa Jamerino won the girls 13-14 50-yard freestyle in 24.07 and qualified for the next Junior National United States Swimming meet in Buffalo, N.Y.

Lee Elsey won the state championship in the 13-14 boys 1,650 freestyle with a time of 16:53.57.

Lindsay Rodin scored 110 points to lead the Pointe Aquatics team and finished third in the high-point competition for the girls 13-14 division.

Following are other 13-14 swimmers from Pointe Aquatics who placed among the top 16:

Marcia Keat, 10th, 100 backstroke, 1:06.54; and 15th, 100 breaststroke, 1:14.09.

Melissa Jamerino, fourth, 100 freestyle, 54.84 and 200 freestyle, 1:58.77; seventh, 500 freestyle, 5:22.29; eighth, 200 individual medley, 2:20.04; ninth, 400 individual medley, 4:56.75; and 10th, 100 butterfly, 1:03.51.

finish sixth in the 300 low hurdles, matching her best time last season.

Junior Allison Ricci, a newcomer to the squad, was fourth in both the 1,600 and 3,200 runs.

"Assistant coach Jon Sieber told her to run as evenly as possible and not to worry about anyone who went out fast," Boynton said. "In both races she began near the back of the pack and eventually worked her way up to fourth."

Terry was eighth in the shot put and another freshman, Kia Williamson, was 10th.

Alli led the Knights to their second Metro Conference victory in a meet against Harper Woods.

ULS won all but two events. The Knights slammed the 100 as Alli led teammates Brown and Terry across the finish line. Alli also won the long jump and anchored the winning 800 relay team, that included Brown, Feucht and Terry.

Alli misjudged the finish line in the 200 and took third, but Brown and Terry finished 1-2 in the event.

Lingemann, Oney and Moss finished 1-2-3 in the 100 hurdles. Moss was first and Stock second in the high jump. Molly Marco won the 800 and 1,600 runs.

The 400 relay team of Brandy O'Neal, Lhountu Lockridge, Silverston and Williamson finished first. Feucht won the 400. Silverston and Varley took 1-2 in the discus. Lisa Brown, Meki Bracken, O'Neal and Feucht won the 1,600 relay. Lisa Brown was also second in the 800 run.

Lauren Janutol, eighth, 1,000 freestyle, 11:30.52.

Stephanie Leaman, second, 1,650 freestyle, 17:40.8; third, 1,000 freestyle, 10:45.8; fourth, 500 freestyle, 5:19.4; and 13th, 200 freestyle, 2:04.49.

Lindsay Rodin, second, 500 freestyle, 5:13.61 and 1,000 freestyle, 10:35.21; third, 1,650 freestyle, 17:50.89; fourth, 100 butterfly, 2:14.53; fifth, 1,000 freestyle, 11:01.56 and 400 individual medley, 4:49.35; sixth, 500 freestyle, 5:22.07; and ninth, 200 individual med-

Norsemen facing a grueling schedule

By Chuck Klonek
Sports Editor

Any victories Grosse Pointe North's tennis team picks up the rest of the year will have been hard-earned wins.

"The rest of our dual meets are all against state-ranked teams," said North coach Derek Lefevre after the Norsemen tied for third last weekend in the Grosse Pointe North Invitational.

"Year in and year out we have one of the toughest schedules in the state and this is no exception. Our goal every year is to reach the state finals and how well we do there determines how successful we've been."

In North's seven-team invitational, the Norsemen tied Port Huron Northern for third place, one point behind runner-up Rochester Adams and five behind Brother Rice, which won the championship with 21 points.

"Brother Rice is ranked No. 5 in Division I and Adams in 10th in Division I," Lefevre said. "We're 10th in Division II."

Two of the Norsemen's doubles teams reached the finals. Andrew Neeme and Justin Dloski lost 6-2, 6-2 to Brother Rice in the final at No. 1, while Paul Kaye and Scott Vanderkerkove dropped a 6-3, 6-2 decision to PHN in the second doubles finale.

Freshman Anthony Stefani, who has been outstanding in his first varsity season, lost a 3-6, 6-4, 6-3 opening match to Brother Rice's David Lynn. That defeat is Stefani's only loss in nine matches this season.

butterfly, 1:00.86; fifth, 200 freestyle, 1:58.92; sixth, 200 butterfly, 2:16.62; 10th, 50 freestyle, 26.05; 11th, 200 individual medley, 2:19.18; and 12th, 100 freestyle, 56.9.

Kristin Shelden, second, 200 butterfly, 2:14.53; fifth, 1,000 freestyle, 11:01.56 and 400 individual medley, 4:49.35; sixth, 500 freestyle, 5:22.07; and ninth, 200 individual med-

Lee Elsey, second, 500 freestyle, 4:55.11 and 1,000 freestyle, 10:09.6; fifth, 200 freestyle, 1:53.18; and 12th, 50 freestyle, 25.18.

The girls 13-14 medley relay team of Janutol, Dzul, Rodin and Jamerino were third in 4:21.23.

Adam Ziegler competed in the boys 15-16 division and was second in the 1,650 freestyle in 16:36.53; third, 1,000 freestyle, 9:56.38; fourth, 500 freestyle, 4:48.44; and 15th, 200 freestyle, 1:48.56.

Grosse Pointe South swimmer Maggie McGrath competed unattached in the girls 15-16 division and was 12th in the 100 breaststroke in 1:11.21.

Other Pointe Aquatics swimmers who participated in the state meet were Nikki Wouczynna, Lindsay Stefani, Kevin Paavola, Scott Paavola, Ashley Wenk and Brad Newton.

Both camps will run from 9 a.m. until noon each day. Youngsters will be divided into three age groups — 5 through 7, 8-10 and 11-13.

Spindler and Lenahan were double winners for the Norsemen. Spindler won the high jump when she cleared 4-foot-8 and she had a winning leap of 14-0 in the long jump. Lenahan won the 1,600 run in 5:52 and was first in the 3,200 in 12:40.

Schore won the 100 hurdles in 18.2, while Lianakis took first in the 400 dash in 1:02. Powers won the 800 run in 2:37.

North's 3,200 relay team of Powers, Feikens, Tracey Secord and Betsie Stafford won a close race in 10:39.

ORDINANCE NO. 98-1

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND TITLE 2, CHAPTER 8, SECTION 2-833 OF THE CITY CODE OF ORDINANCES TO PROVIDE FOR THE CUSTODY AND PAYMENT OF FUNDS FROM THE EMPLOYEES RETIREMENT SYSTEM

Section 1. That Section 2-833 of Title 2, Chapter 8 of the City Code of Ordinances be and is hereby amended to read:

Sec. 2-833 PAYMENT FROM RETIREMENT SYSTEM

The City Treasurer shall be the custodian of the assets of the retirement system except to the extent that such assets may be placed with a custodial service provider designated and authorized by the Board. All payments from funds of the retirement system made by the City shall be upon checks or vouchers signed by two individuals as authorized by resolution of the Board. A copy of the resolution designating the persons and containing specimen signatures of the persons shall be filed with the City Treasurer and the Board's designated custodial provider. Payments of funds by a custodial service provider shall be made by checks or vouchers signed by an authorized officer of the custodial service provider. No checks or vouchers of the retirement system shall be drawn unless such as been previously authorized by a general or specific resolution of the Board.

Section 2. REPEAL. All Ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed only to the extent necessary to give this ordinance full force and effect.

Section 3. SEVERABILITY. If any article, section, subsection, sentence, clause, phrase or portion of this ordinance is for any reason held invalid or unconstitutional by any court of competent jurisdiction, such portion shall be deemed a separate, distinct and independent provision, and such holding shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this ordinance, it being the intent of the Council of the City of Harper Woods that this ordinance shall stand, notwithstanding the invalidity of any article, section, subsection, sentence, clause, phrase or portion thereof.

Section 4. EFFECTIVE DATE. This ordinance shall take effect ten (10) days after enactment as provided by the City Charter.
