The Village is ready to be revitalized

By Brad Lindberg Staff Writer

Preparations are under way te solicit bids for a major facelift of the Village shopping district in the City of Grosse Pointe.

The city has up to $500,000 tucked away in its budget for the project, which could involve up to 19 improvements that include everything from the unique and exceptional, such as a fountain and sculpture, to the mundane but necessary, like resurfacing Kercheval and repairing curbs.

As long as construction doesn't take place during the Christmas shopping season, I think it's a great idea," said Bill Huntington, owner of Hickey's/Walton-Pierce, Construction is slated for spring and summer next year. Until then, the city is consu'ting the local business community, their customers and nearby residents for ideas. If things go according to schedule, the project's final design will be drawn up this fall. Bids will be taken during the late winter for work to begin immediately after.

City officials have already interviewed urban planners for the improvement campaign, We hope to make a decision by the next meeting of the city council" on Sept. 21, said Christine Breiner, assistant city manager. It has been nearly 15 years

Woods to begin making improvements to areas around its Lake Front Park

By Jim Stickiond Statt Writer

Now that the summer swimming senson is over, the Grosse Pointe Woods administration can begin working on making ome improvements to Lake Front Park dasigned to attract winner crowd.

"Construction of a new walkng path around the park will begin before the end of September," said city adminis-trator Peter Thomas, "We are trying to make Lake Front more popular during the winter months. The boardwalk has proven to be very popular and along side the path. The city will also begin the work of improving the 10 teames counts at the park, said Thomas.

Between Ang. 9 and Aug. 15 about 8,000 residents visited Lake Front Park. During that period 5,500 people used the new water slide at the park. That indicates to Thomas that distance around will be about the pool is the park's main attraction. By making improvements to the tennis courts and by building a pedes-By placing the pedestrian trian path, the park becomes walk at the edge of the park, more attractive to non-pool

The tennis courts will be elevated and resurfaced, Thomas said. This should improve drainage and make the surface more playable. The combined cost of the path and the tennis court improvement is about $900,000, he said.

Money for the projects came from a voter-approved bend floated in late 1996, said Thomas. The $3.9 million raised from the sale of the bonds has been dedicated to a series of municipal park improvement projects.

These projects, said Thomas include the water slide at Lake Front, as well as new boat wells and some improvements at trinesquiere Fark.

While Borders Books continues preparations to occupy half of the former Jacobson's Home Store in the Village, Damman Hardware has its sights on the other half.

If everything goes according to the company's plan, the longstanding hardware store could complete a 60 percent expansion by February 1999.

Rick Damman, president and CEO of Damman Hardware, said the store meets room to increase product lines "like housewares, lawn and garden, paint and decorative items. The Village store is a strong seller of housewares."

He said the expansion would be a "positive thing for the Village" and allow "a general upgrade throughout many of the company's product lines. It will also allow us to better merchandise our existing products.'

During the expansion, Damman said. "we're looking to renovate our existing store," including changing the store layout and entrance locations. Damman Hardware has been on the corner of Kercheval and St. Clair for a decade. Before that, it occupied a nearby 3,000-square foot location. If the expansion goes through, the hardware store will increase from about 18,000 to 29,000 square feet.

The expansion is in the "operative phase.

We'll start the renovation as coon as possible after signing. We won't be finished by Christmas, but we want thing ship-shape and ready to go early next year," he said.

c) Is there a healthcare company out there that'll let me see a specialist -without asking for permission?

At HAP, we've partnered with Henry Ford Medical Centers to create a breakthrough new program celled SelfDirect. SelfDirect gives people the freedom to refer themselves to most specialists. So, when you need to see a specialist, you can. It's as simple as that. SelfDirect is an idea that's the first of its kind in Michigan. And now, it's available to HMO members who use Henry Ford Medical Centers. For more information, call us at 313-872-8100. Or, visit us at www.hapcorp.org.

Does Clinton merit rebuke or censure?

s the discussion of Kenneth Starr's case against President Clinton continues to hold national attention, the early public opinion pells show that a majority of Americans favor some kind of punishment for the chief executive.

In these early polls, 56 percent and 59 percent of the respondents favored censure or a rebuke for Clinton, but they also opposed impeaciment on the 11 grounds that Starr had charged against the president.

As Americans join in the discussion of the appropriate punishment for the president, many newspaper columnists and reporters offer us their views, which often can serve as different perspectives on the case.

In our view, the best discussion of Kenneth Starr's massive report on Clinton's alleged wrongdoings came from the New York Times' Linda Greenhouse, who covers the Supreme Court for the Times.

"Starr's 445-page referral specifying 11 possible grounds for impeaching the president is brimming with information: dates, times, questions from previously secret grand jury testimony, and graphic rescriptions of sexual encounters between Clinton and Marcia Lewinsky," Greenhouse wrote.

"It is the way the report marshals and characterizes the information it presents that converts it into an aggressive piece of legal advocacy. Few of the factual assertions are left to speak for themselves.

"In short, this is a document with attitude. It serves up a worst-case scenario: conversations that some might find inconclusive, ambiguous, or at worst suggestive."

Another Times reporter, Michael Winerip, offered a candid portrait of the atmosphere in the home in which Starr was reared in Arkansas that helps explain the "attitude" that Greenhouse cited.

Starr's father was identified as "a fundamentalist minister" who "used to deliver sermons back home in Texas on the perils of women dressed in Bermuda shorts."

A woman who had attended the elder Starr's church told Winerip that Starr's daddy "was one of those hellfire and damnation preachers."

Discussing Starr's complete report, Winerip wrote that "there may be a thin line between the precision (that Starr claims) and voyeurism.

"In many cases the same graphic details are related in the grounds for impeachment section, the narrative section and in the footnotes.

"The report mixes the legal and the lewd, and at times is so formal in its description of mankind's most private behavior that is is hard to know whether to laugh or cry in reading it.

This is very plainly a report produced by a lawyer who moves in the most sophisticated circles, sings religious hymns on his morning jogs and keeps a calendar of daily Bible Scriptures in his Arkansas apartment."

A Detroit News columnist, Laura Berman, offered this conclusion in her column about the case:

"Instead of hard evidence of corruption or victimization of more interns, we've been handed a ream of salacious sexual detail."

We would go along with a strong congressional rehuke to the president. although we still think the best route for the country would be to send both Clinton and Storr packing now that the report has been presented to Congress and to the people.

However, we have not yet seen or heard all of the arguments, pro and con, on the president's plight, but it is apparent that the great majority of the public wants Congress to wind up the mess soon.

The people, in our view, have already had more than enough of this salacious story that has demeaned the presidency, and especially its current occupant, as well as Congress and all the people.

A view from the sidelines Gehrig a hero in Ruth's era

he excitement over this year's home run derby, which escalated to a peak with Mark McGwire of the St. Louis Cardinals blasting No. 62 to set a new big league record, is a bit reminiscent of the 1927 hullaballoo over Bahe Ruth when he hit his record 60.

But there was no competitor against Ruth with the clout of the Chicago Culos' Sammy Sosa who last Sunday matched McGwire by hitting two homers to bring his total to 62, too,

In fact, my favorite player in those days was Lou Gehrig, the Yankee first baseman, who not only was a serious home run hitter himself, but also was one of the few college graduates playing in the big leagues in those days.

Furthermore, Genrig was as quiet and unobtrusive both on and off the field as Ruth was boisterous and obstreperous. But Ruth was the home run king, of

And he did die only two years later, on June 2, 1941.

McGwire has earned his right to be called baseball's man of the hour today, and probably will boost his record still" higher before the season ends.

He also has become a credit to the game for the centlemanty way in which he conducted himself during the season and even after he had won the title as the new ome run hing.

Yet for the time being at least he now has to share honors with Sosa. Both exceeded Roger Maris' record of 61 homers that surpassed Ruth's but all three had done so in a slightly longer season of 162 days as contrasted with Ruth's only by Cal Ripken of Baltimore.

When both were in peak form, Gehrig never surpassed Ruth in homers even for a season, although Gehrig did hit 47 in 1927 when Ruth hit his 60. And Gehrig did lift his own record to 49 in 1934 and 1936 after Ruth had retired.

Gehrig, however, always will be remembered in baseball lore for his dramatic rctirement from the game because he had

n what one sponsor called a historic vote, the U.S. House of Representatives recently approved a bipartisan bill to overhaul the ways U.S. political campaigns are financed.

A 237-186 vote for passage indicated that the bill had a good chance of surviving against several competing but weaker proposals, usually sponsored by the GOP.

In the end, the House, in a final rebuke to the GOP leadership, approved the measure by a 252-179 margin, which was even greater than the preliminary approval in earlier votes.

The legislation was hailed as a victory not only for Democratic supporters, but also for Republicans who defied their leadership to enact the measure.

The bill would "effectively ban the unlimited, unregulated donations to the political perites, or soft money, that lot w the abuses of the 1996 presidential campaign," the New York Times reported.

That's probably true, because the way things are going in this contest, more debates could lead to fisticuffs or worse.

Meanwhile, it appears that Mayor Dennis Archer is unlikely to support Fieger after the two had another public spat over whether Archer has heard Fieger's urban agenda.

Archer has said he wants to hear the Fieger urban agenda, and Fieger claims he has "told him (Archer) about 50 times in person" and "in writing."

The governor has said he wants to capture at least 50 percent of Detroit's vote in November, but Lansing pollster Ed Sarpolis of EPIC/MRA told the Detroit Free Press that Fieger can do well without Archer's backing.

We'll learn in the November vote who is right about Fieger's appeal in Detroit.

Such is the case for the wooded area of the Farms that longtime residents call the Pine Woods. You've seen it at the dead ends of Lothrop Road, at both Charlevoix and Ridge Road.

Specifically, a developer would like to divide the central property in that area, ruining this wooded and established neighborhood and the Pine Woods forever.

We will certainly be present at the variance request hearing open to all Grosse Pointe residents on Sept. 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the Farms city hall, 90 Kurby Road.

At that time, we will attempt to save the historic Pine Woods neighborhood from developers who clear the land and who eat away st prime and established Grosse Pointe properties for the benefit of their own monetary gains.

To the Editor:

I read a wonderful item the other day that reminded me of our president, William J. Clinton.

A reporter listening to a politician's version of facts commented out lout, "How does he get away with it? He's murdering the truth." The reporter next to him shook his head in disagreement. "Have no fear, he'll never get close enough to do it any bodily harm.

Other than a good gag line, there is an element of truth in the comment. the curious part of the President's tenure is how long it has taken the American Scheenherr, public to catch on.

Featuring movies

People are still talking about the list of the top American movies published a few months night depending on the camera ago by the American Film Institute.

Among the people I've talked to, any compilation of movies to watch isn't complete that doesn't include "Caddyshack." "Fast Times at Ridgemont High," complete with Ray Walston as the frustrated history teacher, Mr. Hand, and "This is Spinal Tap," the greatest-ever send-up of the presumptuous genre of rock 'n' roll documentaries.

Some movies aren't good, but aren't bad either. Some movies are so bad they're good, and some are even worse, which makes them terrible. Like the clunker "Road House," a movie that is remarkable for containing the dumbbell line, "Pain don't hurt." Does that mean

Today, more and more people are making funeral arrangements in advance. Pre-arranging funerals is especially important to anyone considering public aid.

In addition to set amount of cash assets, the Michigan Department of Public Aid allows a pre-arranged funeral including casket, vault, cemetery property, grave marker or burial crypt. If you or someone you know are considering aid, consult our funeral home for information on pre-arranged funerals.

It is wise to make funeral arrangements before applying for aid. We are glad to answer your questions about pre-planning funerals any time.

We're months away from tax time, so why talk about investing and taxes?

Simply put, savvy investors can't afford to take a vacation from tax planning. Here are four tax tips to help maximize your in venium

1. Compare after tax return rates.

Short-term goals call for low-risk investments like money market funds, government securities and short-term certificates of deposit (CD's).

But before putting a short-term plan in place, compare the after-tax rates of return between investment vehicles.

The after-tax return rates should help to guide your investment decision

2. Invest in mutual funds with low turnover rates.

Capital gains realized by mutual funds are passed through to you and all the other fund shareholders. If you invest in funds with a low turnover rate, you will reduce your taxable capital gains distributions.

In addition, mutual funds with low turnover rates generally have a lower annual expense percentage. 3. Defer income.

Growth stock mutual funds and zero-coupon bonds are popular investment choices when deferring income. Investments that generate capital gains rather than current income are taxed at Consult with a certified public accountant (CPA) or an investment specialist to determine if this strategy can work for you. 4. Keep track of deductible investment expenses.

Maire mania

On Thursday, Sept. 10, at 4:30 p.m., a City resident reported to City police that his son's bicycle had been stolen from the campus of Maire school.

The next day, Friday, Sept. 11, at 3:05 p.m., a teacher at the school told police that her purse was stolen from her desk sometime during the day.

Locked in auto

Last week, there were five cases of people who locked themselves out of their vehicles in the City of Grosse Pointe. It's a common occurrence in the community's two business districts and the parking lot at Bon Secours Hospital.

In a new twist, a man was locked in his vehicle when the car's electrical system malfunctioned. The man refused help from the police. Instead, he called a tow truck to restart the electrical system so he could unlock the door.

Store break in

At 4:55 a.m. on Thursday, Sept. 10, a store on the Hill was broken into and an undetermined amount of money taken. The thief was unable to open a cash box and cash register. The store had been entered through a broken window, below which police found drops of blood on the sidewalk.

A 40-year-old woman from Grosse Pointe Park and a male companion who said he was a homeless resident of Detroit were arrested for possession of crack cocaine on Wednesday, Sept. 9, at 2:10 a.m. on Lakeshore in the Shores.

Police witnessed the woman, who was driving a 1992 red four-door Ford Tempo with a burned out headlight, toss something from her car. When she was stopped, officers found what appeared to be a crack cocaine pipe on the driver's side rear seat. The car also contained a "copper scouring pad, cigarette lighter and what appeared to be a small white rock, probably crack cocaine. according to police. Police also found a crack pipe and a small wrapper of cocaine in the road.

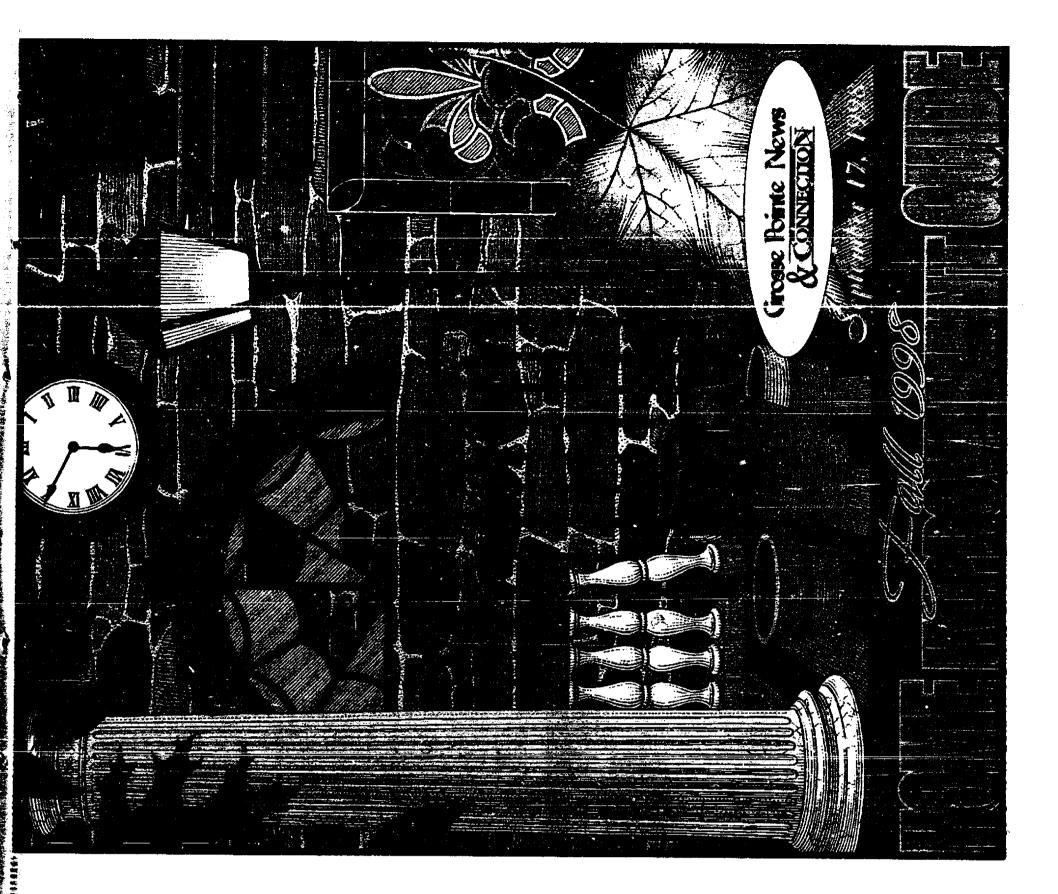

The woman was charged with possession of a controlled substance, possession of drug paraphernalia, driving with a suspended license, and operating a vehicle with a defective headlight. She paid $300 bond and was released. The man was charged with having drug paraphernalia and released on $100 bond. Both were given court dates.

IN THE GUTTER Waiting until spring to work on your guiters is an expensive mistake, so you need to roll up your silecters now. Start by clearing, your suiters of all leaves, twigs and other debris. Gutters trap nunoff that freezes, risking ice buildup and severe damage to your gutters and even the roof. For a stubborn gutter that constantly clogs buy a downspout guand. This whre basket prevents knaves and plantcones from cumulating

A clean gutter doesn't mean you can't have water damage. Many home owners ignore where their gutters empty. Make sure to keep flowing water clear of your foundation, driveways and sidewalks. Otherwise, you may have water seepage problems in your basement as well as water-damaged siding and trim.

Prepping the humidifier for winter's worst

a new humidifier; it was overflowing water into my furnace last suring. It stopped when I shut off the little supply valve, but is there something I can replace or is it a goner? Should I check the float or anything else? John B. of S.C.S.
A. John, last spring was a long time ago. Are you sure you want to rush in to this? There are at least a week or so until you need the furnace. And another month or so until the house dries out and the wife starts to complain about the dryness. I don't even want to se your air filter. Those probably hust you at least six months, but should be changed monthly.
Enough abuse from Mr. Hardware, at least you knew you had a float in the humidifier. If there is a float, then there is a valve hooked to it that maintains a certain water level in the base. When the water in the valve wears out (usually in five or more yhumidifier. The overflow water should drain out of a drain hole in the batt of the bottom of the unit but if it is clogged or plugged the water will overflow into the furnace. First, you will need to get the pid out of the humidifier. Most lift up away from the motor, then away from the motor and littad out. This is harder than it seems if your parts are buried in calcium deposits. (Hurnidifer descaler or vinegar may help in loosening Inside the box and next to the water feed tobing will be the valve. It is also connected to the float, not unlike a ballcock in a tailet. It doesn't care if the water is coming or , joing, only that it maintains a perticular level. I)isassemble the mechanism that connects the float arm to the valve and right there (somewhere) is the washer: that shuts this thing off when the water is right. About one hal of an inch below the top of the everflow, usually on the opposite site of the tank. Replace the vasher with a rub-ber, not stiff, neoprene one found at full-service hardware stores, heating and cooling companies and plumbing suppliers. The float is replaceable, as is the whole float valve. Some are around $10, so a complete over-haul isn't that expensive. Even the motor is replaceable, but they run a little over $20 for some mod-

After replacing and turning on the water, you may have to adjust the float so the water is below the overflow, but still high enough to fully wet the rotating drum. Some have adjustment screws while others require bending the float

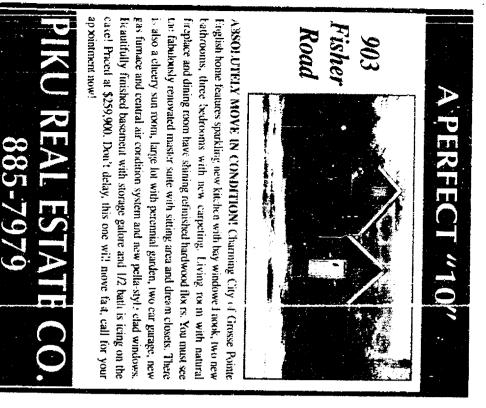

Many units have a rotary drum that is in a pan of water. As the drum rotatus it carries water up into the path of the furnace air. A foam pad on the drum is responsi-ble for lifting the water up. The pada, filters as many of my customers call them, are easily replaceable when they get hard and crusty. Crusty ones d n't carry water as well as a soft one, so if you need to increase the humidity, keep them clean or replace yearly. Remember to take the frame and the name of the model to the store to expedite the purchase a stationary flow-through pad rather than a drum. These units use a solenoid valve and a timer and literally dump water over the Fad. Some professionals prefer these models due to the amount of vater they can get into the air. However, one must keep the druin clear due to the constant flow of excess water. These pads, the solenoids, almost all parts are reparable or replaceable so never throw out, simply rebuild.

Be aware, that some models use

"The Power of Leverage"

nakc You've heard the old adage that it takes money to money. This philosophy is especially true when buying a home. The sood news is shart, ou can use someone else's money to make NODEV The use of some or else's money when making a purchase is called leverage. If as an example, you purchase a home for $100,000 with a $20,000 down payment and $80,000 mortgage, you off ctively leveraged $20,000 of your money into a $100,000 pu chase.

If the value of the house rises to $110,000 in a year, your $10,000 profit is equal to a $0% return on your original investment of $.(c),00.

The arithmettor lessified above is a simple explanation of the value of a home purchase with the use of borrowed funds in addition, the feileral governux nt still allows the mortgage interest and annual property taxes to be deducted from your annual income before computing your federal income tax obligation

(C) N

How much should you put down when buying a home. You may consuder putting down the least amount that would still allow you to have a menthly mortgage payment that you could afford.

Prepping Q. Mr. Hardw the humidifier for winter' S worst

e, I thunk 1 need a rew humidifier; it was overflow-ing water into my furnace last spring. It stopped when I shut off the little supply valve, but is there soriething I can replace or is it a goreer? Should I check the float or anything else? John B. of S.C.S. in a goreer? Should I check the float or anything else? John B. of S.C.S. in a goreer? Should I check the float te rush in to this? There are at least a week or so until you need the furnace. And another month or so until the house dries out and the wife starts to complain about should be changed monthly. Enough abuse from Mr. Hardware, at least you knew you had a float in the humidifier. If there is a float, then there is a a certain water level in the base. When the washer in the valve wears out (usually in five or more yoars), it will start to flood the humidifier. The overflow water should drain out of a drain hele in the bottom of the unit but if it is clogged or plugged the water will overflow into the furnace. First, you will need to get the paid out of the humidifier. Most lift up away from the motor, then away from the motor and lifted out. This is harder than it seems if your parts ar: buried in calcium deposits. (Hundifier descaler or vinegar may help in loosening Inside the tox and next to the water feed tribing will be the float, not unlike a ballock in a toilet. It doesn't care if the water is coming or going, only that it maintains a particular level. Disassemble the mechanism that connects the float arm to the valve and sight there (somewhere) is the water is doesn't care if the water is the water to float arm to the valve and sight there (somewhere) is the washer that shuts this thing off when the water is right. About one hall of an inch below the top of the to erflow, usually on the opposite side of the tank. Replace the valve and suff, not stiff, not care stores, at full-service hardware stores.

heating and cooling companies and plumbing suppliers. The float is replaceable, as is the whole float valve. Some are around $10, so a complete over-haul isn't that expensive. Even the motor is replaceable, but they run a little over $20 for some mod-ala

After replacing and turning out the water, you may have to adjust the float so the water is below the overflow, but still high enough to fully wet the rotating drum. Some have adjustment screws while others require bending the float

Many units have a rotary drum that is in a pan of water. As the drum rotates it carries water up into the path of the furnace air. A ble for lifting the water up. The pads, filters as many of my customers call them, are easily replaceable when they get hard and crusty. Crusty ones don't carry water as well as a soft one, so if you need to increase the humidity, keep them clean or replace yearly. Remember to take the frame and the name of the model to the store to expedite the purchase.

purchase. Be aware, that some models use a stationary flow-through pad rather than a drum. These units use a solenoid valve and a timer and literally dump water over the pad. Some professionals prefer these models due to the amount of water they can get into the air. However, one must keep the drain clear due to the constant flow of excess water. These pads, the solenoids, almost all parts cre reparable or replaceable so never throw out, simply rebuild.

"The Power of Leverage"

You've heard the old adage that it takes money to make money.

This philt sophy is especially true when buying a home. The good new is that you can use someone else's money to make money

The use of someone cise's money when making a purchase is called levirage. If, as an exumple, you purchase a home for 5100,000 with a $20,000 down payment and $80,000 montgage, you effectively leveraged $20,000 of your money. into a $10,000 purchase

If the value of the house rules to $110,000 in a year, your $10,000 Field is equal to a 50% return on your original investmen of $26,000.

The arithm vic described above is a simple explanation of the value of a come purchase with the use of borrowed funds.

In addition the federal government still allows the mortgage interest an annual property taxes to be deducted from your annual income before computing your federal income tax obligation How much should you put down when buying a home? You may considir putting dot in the least amount that would still allow you is have a monthly mortgage payment that you could afford. A typical fall lawn food analysis might be 10-20-10. other lawn fertilizer? A. There are many different companies making lawn fertilizer. Each company has their own catch phruse, such as "Winterizer or Turf Builder." Yet all fertilizers contain nitrogen, phosphorus and potash. When you learn what these elements do for your lawn you can make a better choice when purchasing your next bag of fertilizer. The three ratio numbers on the bag will indicate how much of each element is in the bag. All fer-tilizer packages must

The American Woodworker Show returns

The American Woodworker Shov, America's ultimate con-sumer woodworking event, is set to return to suburban Detroit's Nov. Expo Center on Friday Sept. 18, -hrough Sunday, Sept. 20, for a three-day woodworker's extra -agariza. The most prestigious woodworker the country, it is produced by American Woodworker magazine, the lear-ing publication for dedicated woodworkers.

"(rur live demonstrations by expert woodworkers really set The American Woodworker Show apart from any other woodwork-ing show in the country" says Americar Woodworker edicor and putlisher David Sloan. "You will be inspired and armazed by the skill and krowledge dipplayed by our cast of master craftsmen on the demonstration aisle — this is to u y the heart of our show!"

Help build

Thoreau's cabin

Foy Underhill, the well-known craftsman-historian and star of the PBS-TV series "The Woodwright's Shop," will build a full-scale replice of the cabin that Heary David Thoreau built at Welden Pond in 1845, using the same kinds of authentic tools and miterial: that Thoreau might have used. Attendeet have a chance to get in on the action and swing a broad axe or chop a mor-tise right along with Underhill as he demonstrales the eld house-building techniques to erect the cabin throughout the three-day cabin throughout the three-day rua of the show.

Face-to-face

with the masters

Next stop or the demonstration aisle is the 1,500-square-foot American Woodworker Wood

Shop, a fully-equipped workshop staffed by editors and expert friends of the magazine. Bring your questions; we have answers. Continue down the midway of the show and you can chat with Stuart Mortimer, the British wood turner who successfully turned the world's largest wooden bowl at The American Woodworker Show last season.

Long renowned in the United Kingdom for his delicate "barley twist" goblets and beautiful miniature lidded vessels, you'll be amazed as he turns these tiny Cutter masters, giving the demonstrations throughout the shows Japanese craftsman and sculptor, who constructs tradition-al shoji (wood and paper screens used in Japan as walls or doors); Ian Agrell, British master carver and teacher of classical carving; Don Weber, who demonstrates Welsh chair making with the primitive tools which a Welsh "bodger" (itinerant woodworker) would have used a hundred years ago; Patrick Edwards, trained at the famed Ecole Boulle in Paris, who demonstrates the fascinating art of veneering and marquetry; and American Woodworker con-tributing editor and turning free giving masters Other objects.

expert Steve Blenk. And for more inspiration, The American Woodworker Show Gallery displays museum-quality works in wood – from exquisitely crafted furniture, turnings, musi-cal instruments and carvings, to marquetry and sculpture.

Go to school

with the experts

"If our demonstration aisle is the heart of our show, then our seminars are the soul," continues Sloan. "Our empliasis is on educa-tion, as well as entertainment, so we provide a full schedule of in-depth seminars where woodwork-ers at every level can upgrade their skills."

Klausz, "Woouwur....., Fundamentals" and "Design and Build a Workbench"; Ian Kirby, "Make the Most of Your Tablesaw" and "Design and Build Great Furniture"; Bill Hylton, "Router Basics" and "Advanced Router Work"; Michael Dresdner, "T:..ishing Secrets"; Sandor ind "Au.. Michael L.. ng Secrets" Sandu ...v. "Jigs and ... Vorndran, Featurec craftsmen and their seminar topics include Frank Klausz, "Woodworking "Finishing Secrets"; Nagyszalanczy, "Jigs Fixtures"; and Steve V "Scrollsaw Savyy."

Shop 'til you drop

More than a hundred of the leading tool manufacturers, retailers of wcodworking tools and equipment, local dealers and dis-tributors will offer special show discounts on the newest tools and accessories.

There are demonstrations at almost every exhibitor's booth, and many let you try it for your-self before you buy it.

Society of Home Inspectors provides advice

ASHI, the most frequent problems found during home inspections include:

Improper surface grading/drainage. The most frequently found problem, this is responsible for the most common of household maladies: Water penetration of the basement or crawl space.
 Improper electrical wiring. Home inspectors often discover insufficient electrical service to the house, inadequate overload protection and amateur, often dangerous, wiring connections. Improper electrical wiring is a serious safety hazard.
 Roof damage. Roof leakage, caused by old or damaged sonsidered by ASHI members to be a frequent problem. Shingle near the end of their life span may require renalized in the span may require renalized in the span may require renalized.

this Heating systems. Problems in category include broken or malfunctioning operation controls, blocked chimneys and unsafe exhaust disposal. These conditions represent more than just inefficient heating, they are health and safety hazards. Heating systems should be serviced and maintained by a qualified professionel, according to the manufacturer's instructions.

Poor overall maintenance. Americans often take better care of their cars then they do their homes. Home inspectors often getterior lumber, cracked, peeling or dirty pairted surfaces, crumbling masonry, makeshift wiring or plumbing, and broken fixtures or appliances.

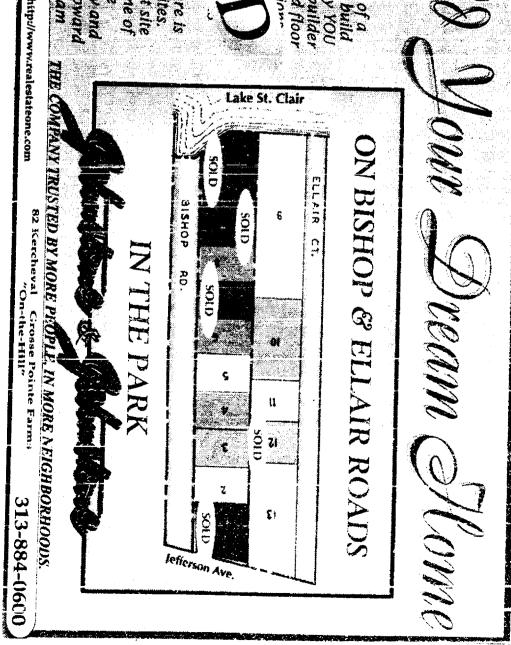

Choosing an inspector Prospective home buyers must be aware that they need to look beyond the cosmetics of a home for possible signs of problems with their purchase, and that means choosing a qualified and ethical home inspector to examine the home they wish to purchase. A qualified home inspector knows how a home's many sys-tems and components work together, and they contract work together, and they contract major aspect of a house during inspection. By making sure a nome inspec-tor is an ASHI member, home buy-ers can be assured the inspector has been tested and screent based on technical and professional requirements.

Home buyers who x ish to know more about the Amer can Society of Home Inspectors or obtain the names of ASHI members near them may contact the organiza-tion at 932 Lee St., State 101, Des Plaines, IL 60016. Pront: (800) 743-2744. Or visit the ASHI website at For more information

From the beginning of history and in every civilization in the world grains have been a major staple of diet. Breads made from grains are the "staff of life." Then are hundreds of refer-ences to bread, and the grains from which it is made, in the Bible. It is interesting to know what some of these and the grains were, an how their modern coun-terparts are like, or unlike, them. We seldom hear, these days, about spelt, millet, pulse and maize, although barley, wheat, rice, corn, rye and buckwheat are familiar to 118,

Grains of wheat have been found in ancient Egyptian tombs and in the remains of the prehis-toric lake-dwellings of Switzerland. Five kinds of wheat are native to and still grow in Palestine and its neighboring lands. At least eight other are cul-

Steering Pull ( On Outboard

WHEN YOU TRIM YOUR outboard engine either "in" or "out" you may feel a pull on the steering wheel either to the right or left. If the steering pulls grows beyond a slight pull, on inadvertent release of the steering wheel can cause the boat to go into a rapid sharp turn and occupants could be thrown within or even out of the boat. Always keep a firm grip on the steering wheel. Many outboard engines come equipped with power trim which raises or lowers the drive unit. Also, some boats are equipped with no feed-back steering, which can eliminate steering pull. Check your owner's manual and if your boat is not equipped with these

Here are some other points to remember when treating someone suffering from hypothermia:

 Get the victim out of the wind, rain or water,

Treat the hypothermia victim gently, and do not allow him or her to walk unless absolutely recensary.

 Replace wet clathing with dry. Facus as preventing further heat loss by wrapping the victim in a sleeping bag or blankets. Slowly apply warm moist tewels or heating pads. Even when wet, materials like wool, polypropylene and other synthetics will help retain body heat. Jackets or blankets con-trining these material should be kept on board.

• It is all right to give a warm liquid to the victim, but not one containing atcohol or caffeine.

• When you return to shore, a warm both will work in mild cases but should never be tried when the victim is unconscious.

• If the victim is unconscious or other symptoms persist, take the victim to the hospital. • If the victim is semi-conscious, try to keep him or her awake. If breathing is difficult, make sure his or her air passages are open, and comfort the victim until medical help arrives.

When trapped in water because of an accident, chances of sufferirg hypothermia increase greatly. Here

LIHOUGH A PWIC IS CONSIDERED a Class A boat and comes under only other bisat, there are specific con-siderations for the FWC operator:

STEERING J. PWC • Most PWCs have a steering nozzle at the back of the unit. The nozzle is controlled by a handlebar or steering wheel that directs the stream of water from right to left. When the steering nozzle is turned right. The force of the water stream leaving the nozzle then pushes the back of the boat to the left, which causes the PWC to turn right.

The most important thing to remember about seering most PWCs is that you must always have power to the impellar in order to maintain control. If you allow the engine to return to idle or shut-off during operation you lose all steering control. The PWC will continue in the direction it was headed before the engine was shut off, no matter which way the steering control is urned.

COURTESY WHEN ENCOUNTERING OTHER BOATS
Jumping the wake of a possing boat, or riding too close to another boat, creates special risks and is restricted or even prohibited in some states. Visibility around the boat making the wake may be blocked, both for the PWC operator and ior oncoming traffic. It can be very stressful for boat operators to have PWCs continually in close proximity to their boats. This is one of the most common complaints boaters have against PWC operators.
Excessive noise from personal watercraft often makes them watercraft often makes them unwelcome with other boat apprators as well as with people on shore. Here are some tips on how you can be a courtsous PWC operator.

Vary your operation area and avoid repetitious operation during your ride.

Avoid making excessive noise near increase annaying noise tevels.

and relaxing time on or near the water. - Avoid maneuvers that cause the engine exhaust to lift out of the water as this can cause increased noise

Do not modify your engine exhaust system if the result is more noise. Improperly modified exhausts will not make your PWC any faster and may raise the noise to an illegal level.

When operating your PWC always

When operating your PWC always be considerate of the effect you may have on the environment.
Do not operate a PWC in shallow water (less than 24 inches deep).
Bothom sediments or aquatic vegeta-tion can be sucked into the water pump and damage your PWC and the environment. • High speed operation in very shallow water or near shore can cause erosion. osion. Take extra care when fueling your "^ :.. ~ near the water. Oil and share, water fowt or other aquatic animals.

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS

Regulations concerning PWC; can vary from state to state.
 You and anyone aboard must wear a personal flatation cevice (PFD)
 Frequently inspect rour PWC's electrical systems (e.g., starter and ergine gauge connections) to ensure there is no potential for electrical system (e.g., starter and ergine gauge connections) to ensure there is important because gas furnes can collect in the engine compartment and an explosion could occur if a spark from the electrical system ignites the furnes. After fueling snift the ergine compartment for any evidence of gas furnes.

 Because falling and taking spits are all part of the fun with a PWC, every operator and passenger should know how to swim

Keep hands, feet, and hair sway from the pump intoke. When cleaning debris away from the pump intake, always shut the engine off Know your limits and ride according to your a silities. Never exceed the load limit of your PMC.

Fall is upon us and with it the opening of a Grosse Pointe Show House whose interior may rival anything Mother Nature herself may unveil this season

On Saturday, Sept. 19 the Junior League of Detroit, a philenthropic organization committed to the improvement of the Detroit community, will open the doors of its major fundraiser of 1998 to the public. The 14,000-square-foot Georgian Revival mansion, the former residence of J.B. Ford. sits newly restored and decorated by designers who, whether in anticipation of an autumnal unveiling or by a union of artistic sentiment, have been largely drawn to the warm hues of the season's palette.

The public is ushered into the house through Michael Pawlowski's vestibule of eggplant-colored walls brushed with gold.

They pass through the large foyer and main hall and step into the library which Hudson's Interior Design Studio has bedecked in the contrasting colors of spicy nutmeg, cinnamon and indigo blue.

Across the hallway from the library, Philip W. Venticinque and Catherine Walker of Arkay-Walker have saturated the Music Room in gold. The sumptuous silk which frames the windows, the walls which provide the backdrop for the eclectic furniture (from heavily gilt baroque tables to simple, wool-covered hairs) and the plush rug upon which it sits comprise a stunning golden

чð

palette. According to Venticinque, the plan for the room, one of the gems of the Show House, was governed by one objective — excess. "We wanted an opulent look," said Venticinque. "We just like stuff. We love all the accessories. It just never seems overdone to us." Upstairs, Rick Carmody of Au Courant has achieved a rich, subdued look in the Boudoir. Simple in decor and peaceful in mood, the room has warm, yellow walls covered entirely by flowing, breezy georgette hanging from the ceiling. Sharon A. Holton's plan for the Lady's Guest Room was inspired by the gold and red fabric she selected for the bed. The golden yellow walls of the room are accented with delicate, wheat-patterned relief plaster with gold leaf inspired by the French chintz fabric design of the drapery. The space is rich in shades of red. gold and green And so continues the tour of rooms which, if they do not boast the same style and mood, are strikingly harmonious and impart a sense of fluidity and ease.

The two most striking aspects of the 1998 Show House are the abundance of Upstairs, Audrey Baenzinger brings the bedroom passageway to life with a landscape mural; and artist Andrzej Sikorra contributes his artistry with wall paintwhich the Kramers have found ings in the Music Room and the Young Girl's Bedroom.

Of special notice is the Children's Playroom on the third floor into which Grosse Pointe artist Jan Purdy Hulme has effectively brought the outdoors inside with her whimsical wall murals.

"I was looking at this space during the initial tour," Hulme said about the room that overlooks the lake and the terrace below, "and I was thinking that if I were a child I would live on that back porch. So I thought it would be fun if we incorporated the terrace into the design of the room and recreated the facade.

Hulme painted the stone balustrade onto the walls and the lake, complete with freighter, behind it. She painted land and trees on the north and south walls to complete the view. On the floor she painted the terrazzo floor of the terrace, adding ladybugs and butterflies for authenticity.

"I wanted this room to be a reflective space, more than one for active play," said Hulme. "I would say this room is ideal for a younger child.1

Another room of special interest is the Home Theater on the third floor designed by Maddalena Design LTD. The dark purple walls are accented with silver and gold and a glass fireplace to create the huxury of 1920s Art Deco. Six original sears from the old State Theater in Detroit add to the authenticity of the style. The room is outfitted with the best of 21st century technology.

Wendy Jennings, adviser to this year's Show House chairmen, is pleased with the designers' results.

"What's nice about this house is that the rooms are a good size, but they're not nuge," Jennings said. "That made it easier on the designers and gave them a realistic space to work in. Forty designers is the most we've ever had in one house. There are so many creative and talented people in Detroit, and this house was great because it gave us an opportunity to work with a lot of artists."

Cottage Hospital Auxiliary presents annual kitchen tour

Cottage Hospital Auxiliary's annual kitchen tour will be held from noon to 5 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 27.

Five Grosse Pointe kitchens will be open for viewing by tour-goers. Proceeds will be used to enhance the Cottage Hospital operating room computer system.

The featured kitchens will be at 87 Moran in Grosse Pcinte Farms, 831 S. Oxford in the Woods, 869 Edgemont Park in the Park and 11 Alger Place and 329 Rivard in the City of Grosse Pointe.

"Each kitchen reflects the unique architecture and lifestyle of the home and its owners," said Judy Cooper, tour chairman. "The special designer touches and state-ofthe-art appliances are fascinating - stainless and mirrored appliances, an air-switch disposal, a 'hidden' microwave, a warming drawer for food or plates and a Thermadore range with four gas burners and two electric burners.

Many of the architects, designers and builders will be on hand to talk about the kitchens and answer individual questions.

Tickets for the tour are $10 and are for sale at the Cottage Hospital gift shop, Mutschler Kitchens Inc., Riverside Custom Design & Remodeling, the Pointe Pedlar and Hurst Appliances. Tickets will also be sold at each home on the day of the tour.

For more information, or to order tickets by mail, call (313) 821-4035.

Happy New Year, 5759 By Roger Skully

Lay Cantor

The beginning of the Hebrew month of Tishrei, this Sept. 21, is celebrated by Jews the world over as Rosh Hashanan --- the New Year.

The mood of the holy days during the 10-day period from Rosh Hashanah through Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, is called the Days of Awe. This is a time of somber, penitential introspection. As community and individuals, the focus is on change and selfimprovement. The recognition of past wrongdoing and the desire to set one's life on a more positive and Godly path are the main themes. Community is an essential ingredient in the celebrations of each holiday. Jewish prayer services require a Minyan, or quorum of 10 adult Jews where the holiness of God and His Kingship are to be proclaimed.

This sense of community is an essential part of Judaism which does not elevate individual asceticism, but urges us to be participants in everyday life with others. To live correctly in one's community is the road that Judaism pursues.

The prayers use a book as an allegory for these holidays. On Rosh Hashanah it is opened and God writes in it all of the prophecies for the coming year - who will live, who will die, who will prosper, who will be humbled and who exalted.

On Yom Kippur, the book is closed. However, since God is compassionate, true repentance can alter an unfavorable decision.

A ram's horn, called the shofar, is sounded to herald the coming of the New Year. Tradition says to use a ram's horn since a ram was used for sacrifice instead of Isaac in the Biblical account. This story is read from the Torah on Rosh Hashanah and marks the acceptance of God by Abraham and the beginning of the covenant relationship that the Jewish people have had with Him ever since.

The impulse to cleanse ourselves and seek forgiveness is universal. This holiday message speaks to all people. For the whole community of our friends and neighbors, we pray:

"Remember us unto life, O King who delights in life, and inscribe us in the Book of Life, for Your sake, O God of life.'

L'shana Tova. Happy New Year.

Laser treatment is for enlarged prostates

By Dr. Robert DiLoreto Special Writer

Bon Secours and Cottage Hospitals, together with Bi-County Hospital, have purchased a laser device, called the Indigo LaserOptic Treatment System, to be used as an alternative therapy to treat symptoms associated with an enlarged prostate.

Benign prostatic hyperplasia (BPH) is the noncancerous entargement of the prostate, usually affect ing men in their 50s.

Traditionally, BPH has been controlled with aaily oral medications which can cost as much as $100 to $150 a month. In some patients the medication stops working after time. Others grow weary of taking the daily medication.

A surgical procedure called a TURP has been the standard method of treatment for BPH when medications are no longer effective. But surgery can have complications such as bleeding, swelling and postoperative discomfort.

The Indigo system is one alternative therapy that is as effective as medical therapy and surgery in relieving urinary symptoms in men with BPH.

The Indigo procedure can be performed using minimal anesthesia. So patients with multiple medical problems, who may not tolerate the anesthesia required for traditional surgery, may benefit from this method. In addition, the procedure can be done on a same-day outpatient basis and produces minimal bleeding with little discomfort after surgery.

The Indigo system enables a specially trained surgeon to insert a small laser fiber into the enlarged prostate in several locations. The laser superheats only that area of the prostate that is swollen, preserving surrounding structures such as the prostatic urethra. The tissue that was heated then shrinks away, relieving the bothersome urinary symptoms.

Men who have an extremely large prostate or a large median lobe of the prostate are not good candidates for the Indigo system. A urologist could determine what form of treatment would most benefit them.

Free prostate screenings

Prostate cancer is a real concern for men age 50 and older. It produces no symptoms until it is advanced, so the best chance to cure it is by detecting it early before it spreads.

As part of the American Cancer Society's Prostate Cancer Awareness Week, Bon Secours and Cottage will team up to offer free baseline prostate exams and PSA blood tests as follow:

• Physicians from the Michigan Institute of Urology will offer prostate screenings from 3 to 7 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 22, at Cottage Hospital, 159 Kercheval in Grosse Pointe Farms. Screenings are by appointment only and can be scheduled by calling (313) 640-2425. • Grosse Pointe Urologic Surgeons will screen new patients from 8 a.m. until noon Wednesday, Sept. 23, at 18325 10 Mile, Suite 200 in Roseville. Call (810) 773-6300 to schedule an appointment. If you are 50 or older and don't see a physician regularly -- or over 40 with a family history of prostate cancer — schedule your baseline exam today.

CANCER INFORMATION?

1-BOO-4-CANCER

"By Word of Mouth" Dr. Kevin Prush, D.D.S.

What do Kim Alexis, Suzanne Sommers and Bruce Jenner have in common? They all do infomerciais on bleaching teeth. Having your teeth bleached is a very safe procedure. The ingredients of tooth whiteners are all FDA and ADA (American Dental Association) approved. When I was younger, I had to sit in the den-tist chair for 1-1 1/2 hours with an ultraviolet light shining on my teeth in order to bleach them! Fast forward to today... your dentist can make custom fitted trays which fit on your teeth. and supply you with bleaching gel so you can do the job at home! Instructions should be followed diligently to obtain best results. Your dentist will nuitor the improvement

Temporary tooth sensitivity is a possi-ble side effect and for this reason everyone abould start at a low concentration level of bleaching gel and build up to a higher con centration grachally, if needed. I whitened my daughter's teeth last year. Just recently her best friend asked me; "Just how does whitening work?" Well, the enamel on our teeth is made up of "pores" on a microscopic level. Over time, these pores pick up proteins, plaque, stc. creating a yellowing appearance. The best time to bleach your teeth is after a professional cleaning by your dental hygienist or dentist, when the enamel pores are cleaned out the bost.

Sound exciting? I think so. Ask your dentiet or hygienist if you are a candidate for teeth whitening.

Enjoy hoummos at your next meze

Hoummos, a popular Middle Eastern dip, is traditionally served at the "meze," better known to people of Western culture as "cocktail hour." The meze is a time for people to gather, drink and break bread together. Pita is the bread of choice and hoummos is the most popular of many dips or spreads that are served. Tabbouleh and baba ghanoush (other Middle Eastern dips) as well as hoummos are often found in the appetizer section of menus at hoth Greek and Middle Eastern restaurants. Grocery stores carry prepared versions of the spreads in their gourmet food isles.

Hoummos is simple to make and has a delicious flavor that will be sure to surprise those who have never tasted it. It's not a typical "comfort food" like pizza or a Coney Island Dog. It does have a wonderful taste and can be served with foods that complement its smooth texture

It also has a number of presentation options. My favorite way to serve hoummos is on a plate surrounded with wedges of pits, topped with Greek olives, and drizzled with olive oil. You may also wish to garnish the plate with feta cheese and (or) cucumber slices.

> Homemade hoummos

both of our games this year."

North got on the scoreboard first when linebacker Sean Friedlund intercepted a pass and returned it 22 yards to the South 18. On fourth and one, Koerber attemped a quarterback susak and broke through the line for a nine-yard touchdown run. Baratta added the extra point.

It was the second straight rame in which a Friedlund interception set up North's only touchdown.

South answered on its next possession, driving 71 yards in 11 plays with quarterback Mike Kaselitz sneaking in from the one. Andrew Hendrie, who did a good job punting, kicked the extra point to tie the game at 7-7.

South had runs of 12 and 23 yards by Josh Lorence and Kaselitz completed an 18-yard pass to tight end Adam Maloof.

"Lorence had one of his best games." McLeod said. "And Dan Griesbaum had one of his best blocking games at fullback. He also did a good job running the ball and probably would have averaged 10 yards a carry if we had blocked their linebackers instead of just hitting them."

Frank Mabry VII recovered two fumbles for South, while Maloof was outstanding on both sides of the ball.

"Our whole defense did a nice job," McLeod said, "but the ends, Justin Simon, Marty Harms and Sam Henderson, did especially well. Marty was sick, but he really played tough."

Bryan Kupets led North in tackles with 13, while John Trupiano had three solo stops among his 12 tackles. Sean Carter, who also had an interception, had 11 tackles, while Friedlund and Tony Strickland had nine apiece and Rick Pesta and Will Solomon each had seven stops.

"We played well defensively," Sumbera said. "Our leading tacklers were our linemen and our inebackers. You don't want a lot of tackles from the seccndary.

"We have to work on our running game. We had only 120 yards rushing. I'm sure South's defense and a big part in that, but we have to move the ball on the ground better. I've got a lot of ideas on how to improve it, now we just have to see now they work.

Sports Editor Pat Wilson's Grosse Pointe North boys cross country teams usually are at their best at the end of the season, so if this year's early-season showing is any indication, the Norsemen could be in for a good year.

Last weekend. North finished fifth at the Algonac personal record. Muskrat Invitational. "That's the best we've ever done there and it's the best we've done at any first invitational," Wilson said. North's first four runners each won medals. Matt Mikula led the way, followed by Scott Serilla, Billy Farmer and Mark Chasteen.

"Our fifth runner, Pat Kenny, just missed medaling," Wilson said. "He dropped his PR (personal record) by a minute and a half. He had a wonderful run." Others who did well were John Lucido, freshman Nate Mikula Jim Bogen, Brad Walling, Vito Catalfio and Steve Zygmontowicz, who all had their best times.

Jason Rozycki, Dan Larose, Greg Blackburn and Paul Simon also had good races. "Simon is a senior, who is running cross country for the first time," Wilson said. "By the end of the year, I'm looking for him to really help us." North jost its dual meet opener 19-39 to Ford II, but Wilson was encouraged by the way his team competed. The Falcons took the first two spots, but Matt Mikula came in third overall. "Matt is a good racer, who'll run with most of the top runners in the area." Wilson said.

Hills, like Carr, guided his team to an undefeated regular season last year but both the Wolverines and the Knights have struggled this year, each losing their first two games.

"I've had people mention that and I feel sorry for him." tino sala after Ch to Hamtramck last Friday.

"But don't feel sorry for me. We're paying for our mistakes right now, but what we're going through will make these kids champions again They're playing as hard as any team I've had here. How can you get mad at them? These kids want to win. They're paying the price to win and we're close to where sumebody else is going to have to pay. We're back in the dues line right now, but this is a good football team."

One of the things that made Hills the proudest after the Hamtramck game was when Cosmos coach Don Mullin "told us that we were still the hardest hitting team in the league." It was the same script as the opening game loss to Harper Woods when ULS faced a huge North also had a solid race halftime deficit.

This time it was 20-0. Hamtramck scored on a 69yard run on its first play from scrimmage. A 37-yard touchdown run on a fourth and four situation and a 65-yard scoring play on a screen pass did the damage.

"We were stopping them but they made the three big plays," Hills said. "Then we had penalties that set us back when we'd start moving the ball. We only had four penalties, but every one hurt because they stopped man volleyball, junior varsitv drives.
