Easter delight

Two-year-old Nicklas Kettler of Harper Woods tracked down the brightly-colored Easter eggs on the lawn of the Heartland Health Care Center-Georgian East during his first Easter egg hunt. He carefully placed the eggs in his container and headed off to find another egg. Kettler along with about three dozen other children took advantage of a sunny Saturday, April 12, to collect eggs filled with candy and surprises.

Below, Ellie Birgbauer, 3, with her sister Katie, offers insight on where the Easter Bunny hops to after his yearly deliveries. See Suzy Berschback's Streetwise, Page 7A.

Lofty plans for Jacobson's site discussed

By Bonnie Caprara
Staff Writer

Visions for a mixed use development may become a reality in the Village as Velmeir Companies revealed conceptual plans for the site of the former Jacobson's building to City of Grosse Pointe officials last week.

The plans call for a new four-story building with two levels of underground parking for 350 to 450 cars and retail tenants on the first floor. CVS Pharmacy, Velmeir's joint venture partner in the $10.7 million building purchased in September, would occupy about 16,000 square feet of one of the corner spots on the first floor.

"They have an array of retailers who want the space," City Manager Michael Overton said.

Sandra Jouhett, general counsel for Velmeir, said, "Our first attempt was to go after department stores, but there was no interest. However, we've had a lot of interest from smaller national retailers."

Jouhett declined to give names of prospective tenants.

"They also have two high-end restaurants who want to be there," Overton added.

Small retail stores and restaurants aren't the only ones who have come to Velmeir looking to be part of the action.

Jouhett said a couple of unnamed hotel operators have expressed interest in the site. She also said residential developers have told Velmeir that there seems to be a desire and a small niche market for condominiums. Condominiums would likely range from 1,200 to 2,800 square feet and could share some hotel amenities such as a health club, laundry and a cleaning service.

At this point, Jouhett did not indicate how much space would be devoted to a hotel, condominiums or both on the third and fourth floors as allowed by the Village's new zoning ordinances approved last November.

Jouhett said office and/or retail space would be part of the building's second floor.

Hotel, condominium and office space would be subject to a special use permit granted by the city council.

A pool, located in an open glass roofed courtyard in the middle of the building could become part of the development.

Regardless of the development mix, Overton said, "It will be very upscale and very nice. The rents will be significant."

Drawings of the proposed building were not made available to the Grosse Pointe News. Jouhett said an architect would be selected in about a month and no dollar amount has been attributed to the project.

Overton indicated that Velmeir may present building plans to the Zoning Board of Appeals in about 90 days and would like to break ground by the end of the year.

The plan, however, is contingent upon the City handing over its parking structure located behind the former Jacobson's building.

"Some council members have suggested if Jacobson's was worth $10.7 million, we're worth at least $5 million," Overton said. "In order for us to even consider 'free,' we need to crunch some numbers. We'll need to know what the value of the development will be. We'll need to know what the break even analysis is."

If the City does not grant Velmeir the structure, the developer indicated it would remodel the existing store.

Merchants who heard Overton's report of Velmeir's plans last Wednesday were thrilled to get "everything we've wanted — a hotel, restaurants and condominiums," but some were concerned of the disruption that may come about with large scale construction in the Village.

Some merchants suggested the City work with building owners across the street from the former Jacobson's building to renovate the back entrances of stores and

Park's activities building is on time and on budget

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

Construction of the massive activities center at Windmill Pointe Park is on schedule and on budget.

Opening day has been confirmed for Saturday, May 24 — the same date forecast last September by Park leaders undaunted by the year-round building's $3.2 million price tag.

The cost includes everything from planning and construction to outfitting and landscaping.

Best of all, according to Mayor Palmer Heenan, the project has been financed without having to raise taxes or burden property owners with bond debt.

"It's better than anyone thought it would be," said Heenan, who added that he has been taking tours of the construction site every Saturday morning. "It will help make our community the most attractive place to live."

The sprawling facility — its manor-like brick facade enclosing a host of family-oriented appointments, including locker rooms, a movie theater/lecture hall and nearly full-sized gymnasium — will be the backdrop of a ribbon cutting ceremony May 21.

At that time, the two-story, multi-function facility will be christened in honor of Delores and Paul Lavins. The Park couple were among many residents who donated or pledged a total of $800,000 for the building and its contents through the city's volunteer fund raising arm, the Grosse Pointe Park Foundation.

"This is the biggest project the foundation has undertaken," said Robert Denner, longtime foundation trustee and newly-appointed councilman.

When residents tour the facility during an open house being planned for an undetermined date next month, they will enter through wide doors onto the tiled floor of the John and Betty Stevens atrium, named in recognition of the couple's donation.

A short walk down the main hallway will take visitors to the facility's grandest feature, the Dr. Clark Okulski theater, which will soon be outfitted with row after row of stadium seating overlooking a stage and movie screen.

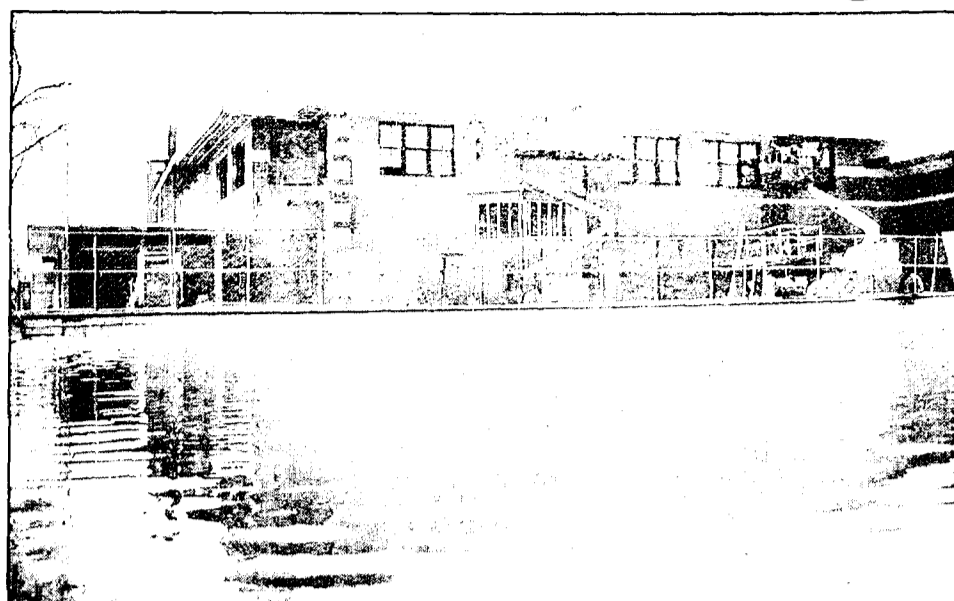

A few days ago, the theater's projection booth was nothing more than a dusty cubicle of bare cinder block walls overlooking a spacious yet empty cement-floored cavern. But on June 16, when the center's myriad activities programs begin, the curtain will rise on the first of a series of family-oriented feature films presented at discount prices.

A spacious second-floor fitness room, yet to be named, will be outfitted with exercise equipment.

Overhead lights have been installed in the gymnasium, which comprises an entire wing of the structure. Basketball hoops will soon be installed, as will a floor-to-ceiling curtain which will divide the gym into a dual-use facility. The wood floor will be laid last.

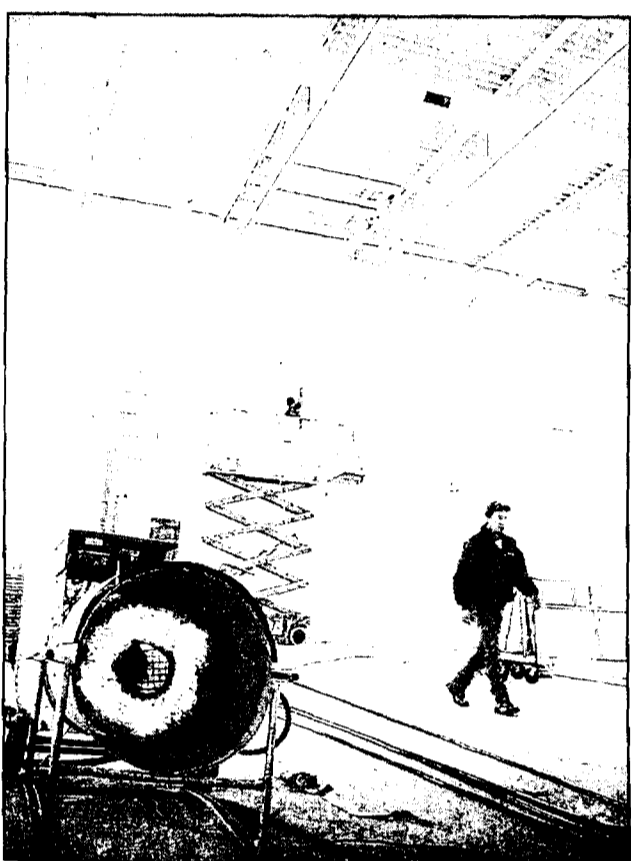

The building's brick facade is 90 percent finished, Denner said.

"The building is completely closed in, except for windows in the atrium and life-guard station bay," he said. "The news is all good."

A year-round Delores and Paul Lavins activities building and pool house will open on time and within budget on Memorial Day weekend at Windmill Pointe Park. Grosse Pointe Park officials included numerous appointments in the $3.2 million structure, including a nearly full-size gymnasium, far left, in which construction crews work by the warmth of super-sized space heaters. Below, a tradesman works from a cherry picker outside the window-lined second-story fitness center overlooking Windmill Pointe's swimming pool, picnic area, marina and Lake St. Clair.

Village Spring Cleanup May 3

By Bonnie Caprara
Staff Writer

The City of Grosse Pointe and the Grosse Pointe Village Association are holding their Second Annual Spring Cleanup Day on Saturday, May 3, from 9 to 11 a.m.

"Last year was the first year we did the cleanup," said Mike Kramer, Grosse Pointe Village Association cleanup chairman. "We got a lot of work done during that two-hour time period. It's a reminder of something we have to do all the time, not just for two hours on a Saturday."

"We had families, scout troops and city council people come last year," said Ellen Durand, Grosse Pointe Village Association president.

Kramer said two scout troops have already committed to return to work on May 3.

"It was much more fun than work," said John Denomme, Grosse Pointe Village Association publicity chairman.

Volunteers are asked to call (313) 886-7474.

Village store personnel and property owners as well as City public works employees will be donating their time, but individuals and groups are encouraged to participate.

relocate Dumpsters in a manner similar to the stores that back up to Kercheval Place to allow for easier and more aesthetically pleasing access to stores.

Overton said such plans have been on the City's radar for the past two years and were a priority.

Merchants also wanted to be part of the construction planning process and to be informed of the development's progress.

Overton said it would be very likely that the City's Merchant-City-Landlord Committee would be closely involved.

"We're going to need lots of input," Overton said. "There will be lots of questions."

Jouhett said Velmeir would welcome input from neighboring businesses through the construction process.

Beverly Leinweber, strategic planning manager for the Grosse Pointe Village Association, advised the merchants: "We want the best possible building we can have there, and everybody is going to have to look down the road and say it will be a much better Village when it's all done."

"I think it's great," said Ellen Durand, president of the Grosse Pointe Village Association and co-owner of Village Toy Co. "I trust what the city and the council will negotiate. This could be such a revitalization for the Village. This town is ready for it."

Points about the Pointes

If you were living in the Pointes in the 1960s, you will remember that the Pointes were a place where things happened in and around the Pointes. It is my hope that the Pointes will meet with his approval. Ahmed Ismail

During one of our recent Mack Avenue business association meetings, I had the pleasure of listening to a presentation by Sharon Maier, Executive Director of Services for Older Citizens (SOC). Sharon discussed the many services that SOC provides the seniors of our community. The one service that I was particularly touched by was the Meals on Wheels program. The volunteers for this program coordinate the delivery of balanced meals to homebound seniors five days a week. This year, Meals on Wheels will deliver over 26,000 meals to seniors in the Pointes and Harper Woods.

At Speedi Photo, we have proclaimed every Wednesday as Meals on Wheels Day. Visit our store on any Wednesday and purchase a picture frame, photo album or Speedi Same Day processing and tell us, "I support Meals on Wheels." 50% of the total of those purchases will be donated to the Meals on Wheels Program. It's our way of saying "Thank you" to the seniors for being part of our community!

Wayne State professor conducts a symphony of science

By Carrie Cunningham
Staff Writer

For Dr. Robert Silver, curiosity and a mentor propelled him down the path of revealing the intricate mystery of how cells make decisions.

Silver, 52, is a professor of pharmacology, physiology, radiology and biomedical engineering at Wayne State University. He is currently examining the role of calcium signals and metabolic networks in the control of cell division. Additionally, he is looking at the movement of calcium ions to decipher how nerve cells talk to each other.

As a child, Silver was mesmerized by the interrelated web of matter, both natural and man made. He used to watch the movement and connections of frogs, fish, birds and raccoons. He took clocks and tape recorders apart in order to see how they operated.

When he was in ninth grade, Silver was assigned a book report on a Scientific American article on cell motility, which is how cells move. The article outlined the sliding filament theory for muscle contraction. The idea illuminates how muscle filaments slide apart and slide together in order for the muscle to work. The theory is buttressed by three technologies: electron microscopy, X-ray diffraction and the use of polarized light.

POINTER OF INTEREST

"I threw myself into it. I went to the library and came up with an appreciation for it," he said.

His teacher of the class, however, did not subscribe to the theory but rather adhered to the now-outdated spring theory of muscle contraction. Silver was convinced based on the evidence he read in the article that the sliding filament theory was correct.

"I knew she didn't understand it even at that age," he said. "If I had a different personality, I might have said, well, OK. I might have been very smarmy and saddled up so I could get my A. I got a B because I kept saying no this is what the data are."

Silver's independent and incisive mind as well as a lucky twist of fate later served him well when as an undergraduate at the Illinois Institute of Technology, he was taught by the author of the Scientific American article, Teru Hiyashi.

Silver had been working with Hiyashi for some time before he told him his article had spurred his interest in the cell motility of muscle cells. When he finally told Hiyashi, their relationship changed.

"It became far more of a partnership than anything else," Silver said. "I refer to him as my teacher. I don't use that term with anyone else."

Silver went on to work in Hiyashi's lab, performing experiments that he had conceived on a final exam. His father, Seymour Silver, owner of a laundry and dry cleaning business, paid him for his work there. He later went to the lab to see what his son was working on.

"I still remember one of my fondest memories was having my father come into the lab. We spent a day together, and we ran an experiment," Silver said.

Silver later got a doctorate in zoology at the University of California at Berkeley. His thesis had to do with understanding gene expression in heart muscles from the embryo to late adulthood. He discovered the multiple structural genes for the protein myosin.

Silver went on to teaching posts at the Chicago Medical School, the University of Wisconsin at Madison, Cornell University and since 2001, WSU.

The upbeat nature of people at Wayne convinced him to teach at the university.

"The deciding factor in the end was that people laughed," he said.

Silver likens the way cells function to the seamless components of a symphony. He and his staff use microscopes and video cameras to watch calcium ions enter into a nerve cell through gates called ion channels.

"The space-time-pattern release of calcium becomes like the notes, and the particular set of notes is unique to a particular reaction type which we can think of as a particular voice in an orchestra," he said.

He found that calcium enters and acts within cells in very small regions.

He and his colleagues use numerical modeling to understand cell functioning.

"We can with our State University, does research on how cells make decisions. Laboratory in Woodhole, Mass. Silver is currently single. He was previously married two times. His first wife passed away, and he divorced his second wife.

He currently lives in the City of Grosse Pointe. He finds the friendliness of the Grosse Pointe community infectious. He found it very easy to settle in the City, finding his way around by the generosity of Michiganders. Silver plans to continue his search for the way the building blocks of cells work together, elucidating the music of how organisms perform.

Three Harper Woods teachers receive tenure

By Carrie Cunningham
Staff Writer

Three teachers from the Harper Woods School District were awarded tenure. They are Pete Newman, an assistant principal for the secondary school, Jennifer Burtka, a special education teacher at the Middle School and David Rabbideau, a fifth-grade teacher at Tyrone Elementary.

In order to achieve tenure, teachers must be on probation for four years, during which time they partake in 15 days of professional development and work alongside a teaching mentor to hone their skills.

Tenure allows teachers to appeal to the state if they are dismissed for any reason.

"It's really job security," said Superintendent Dan Danosky. "Before they get tenured, they don't have the right of appeal."

Danosky was effusive in his praise of the teachers.

"They're phenomenal," he said. "We have a great crop of young teachers."

As a token of his admiration for the teachers, Danosky gave the teachers a violin lapel pin with a card bearing a short story by William Graves about the wonder and value of the profession. The story reads:

"When little Jascha was growing up in Russia, his gift for playing the violin led him to embrace the goal of becoming the very best. Years later, as a world-famous violinist, Jascha Heifetz prepared to trade his highly celebrated stage career for the role of music teacher. When asked why, Heifetz replied, 'I remember my old violin professor in Russia. He said that (if I worked hard enough) someday I would be good enough to teach.'"

Danosky says he has given the lapel and accompanying story as part of a tradition, one which surely should make the newly tenured teachers proud.

Farms mayor selection: If broken, fix it

The Grosse Pointe Farms City Council has a decision to make: Is it broken?

"It" is the way of selecting the mayor in the Farms. Under the current city charter, the seven Farms council members select the mayor from among themselves. This has been going on since the city charter was written decades ago.

At a working session Monday night, the Farms council engaged in frank and open discussion of the mayoral selection process.

Bob Herdegen, who was appointed to fill a vacancy due to Ed Gaffney's election as state representative, said, "If it ain't broke, don't fix it."

But new councilmembers Louis Theros, Therese Joseph and Terry Davis countered, "It's broken."

True, as Herdegen said, the city has been running along just fine for some 75 years under the current system. But the mayoral problem occurs every two years when members of the council must choose one of their peers to be their leader, the mayor.

At such times, a good deal of politicking goes on. There is a fair amount of "angst" among the councilmembers, and divisions and animosities can develop.

Opinion

It has been our experience that cities with appointed mayors, such as Port Huron and Sterling Heights, are more likely to have divided councils, resulting from 4-3 mayoral appointments.

The Farms council has been able to avoid open hostilities largely through the good character of its members. But hurt feelings often lie close to the surface.

Further, injustices have occurred under the current system. As resident Myrna Smith pointed out, one 17-year veteran of the council never did get the opportunity to be mayor, and it was allegedly because she was a woman. We do not want to believe that was the reason, but the slight nevertheless occurred.

As Davis said, under the existing charter, "I would hope that anyone who has served on the council for eight or 10 years or more would have the honor of being called mayor."

During candidate interviews prior to every Farms election, this newspaper asks candidates how they feel about the way the mayor is selected. It is no secret that this paper has called for the direct election of mayor in the Farms, as is the case in the other Pointes and Harper Woods.

We do not know why the framers drafted the Farms charter as they did. But we think the mayor should be able to be a strong leader in the community and on the council. The mayor should receive a mandate from the people to be a leader. The mayor should have the authority to lead. As one among peers, the Farms mayor currently does not have that mandate or authority, we believe.

One resident asked that an advisory question be put before Farms voters asking whether they think the mayor should be directly elected by the voters. We thought that sounded like a good idea.

But Davis and other members the council felt that the voters' response would be obvious — yes. Current Mayor Ron Kneiser concurred, saying 99 percent would be in favor of an elected mayor. Why? Because "it's like mom and apple pie." Davis said. "Everyone's for it."

Herdegen disagreed.

So first the council has to decide if "it's broken." And if so, it has to decide how to fix it.

City attorney William Burgess said there are two ways to change the charter: 1) through amendment and 2) through revision. Amendments are for smaller, less substantive changes, while revisions are for fundamental changes and require the forming of an elected, nine-member charter commission.

An amendment would be easier and less costly. A revision would require several elections, which if not connected to a general election, would cost the city up to $8,000 to hold.

We favor the amendment approach as it would be quicker, less complicated, less costly and less unpredictable. A charter commission could propose many changes other than the mayoral selection.

Some think the entire charter needs updating. We do not think that would be necessary unless the amendment process is struck down by the appellate court if challenged.

But what the council needs now is some indication from the public whether "it's broken." We invite you to submit letters to the editor, which we will print for the council and residents' benefit. We also suggest you call or write councilmembers and attend the council's next work session on May 19.

The council has until September to put an item on the November election ballot. We hope this matter can be put before voters without undue delay.

We would also like to commend the council for opening this important discussion to the public, who ultimately have to make the decision at the polls.

In celebration of Arnold Palmer

To the Editor:

Next summer is the 50th anniversary of Arnold Palmer's first major championship, the 1954 U.S. Amateur at the Country Club of Detroit.

I spent an enjoyable week watching Arnold and others in what Arnold has said many times, is his favorite championship.

I am sure the members of the Country Club of Detroit are planning to ask Arnold back to celebrate this memorial occasion. It would be wonderful to have Arnold, and perhaps several others from that championship field, play 18 holes open to all of Arnold's fans.

For children's special needs

To the Editor:

I would like to express my disbelief over something I saw during the televised Grosse Pointe Public School Board Meeting of April 7.

At the conclusion of the meeting, one of the board members held up a March 25 Detroit Free Press article, "Child's Play," that appeared in the Body & Mind section. The article featured the recreational therapy program for special-needs children at the Neighborhood Club.

On the cover of the Body & Mind section was a photo which included my daughter. She is one of the many children who enjoy the Kids at the Club programs available through the Neighborhood Club.

The article highlighted the Grosse Pointe parent instrumental in starting the programs — Jeanne Lizza. In the article, Ms. Lizza spoke of the Kids at the Club programs, the children and parents who participate in them, and how the programs came into being.

On April 7, the school board member acknowledged Ms. Lizza, and her hard work on these programs and then proceeded to commend the superintendent of Grosse Pointe Public Schools and the director of special education for their involvement in these programs. The praise was met with a "yes."

This is where my disbelief begins:

I'm not sure if the school board members are aware, but the Grosse Pointe School District nor its administrators have any involvement whatsoever in the privately run and funded special-needs programs at the Neighborhood Club.

I can only assume that it is a lack of information, failure to read the article, or wishful thinking that could prompt such misleading praise by a member of the board.

I would like it to be made clear that the Neighborhood Club, its staff, coordinator Jeanne Lizza, the therapists and volunteers who give of themselves to support the programs are the only ones who deserve the board of education's accolades.

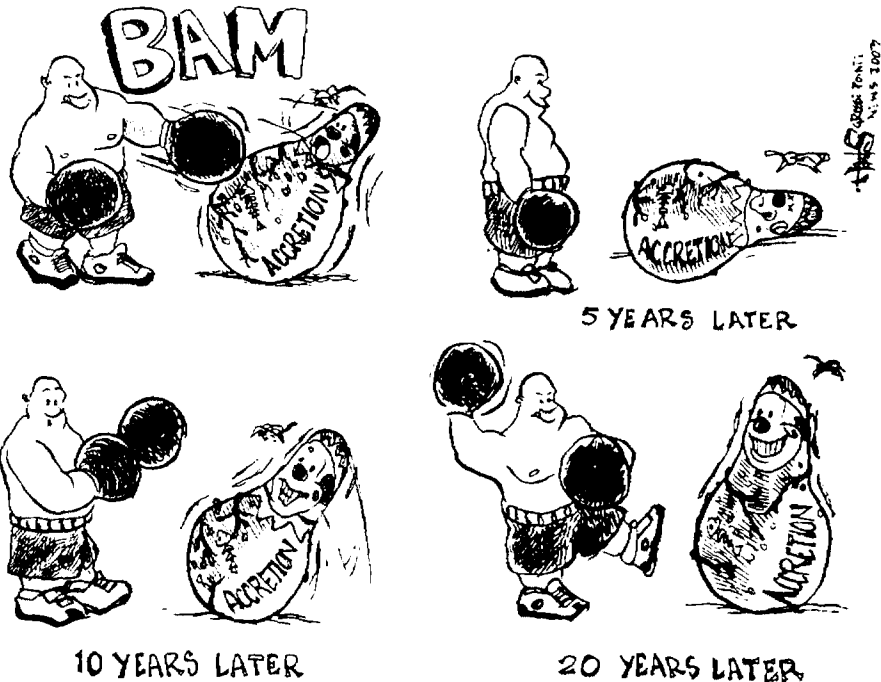

So let's give credit where credit is due. This much the school board and their administrators deserve credit for:

1. Turning down parents who repeatedly asked the school district to provide recreational programs for special-needs children.

2. Informing the parents that due to a budget crisis, the district could not offer recreational programs for special-needs children.

The cooperation and willingness of the Neighborhood Club to help our children, organizing the programs, and most notably the success of these programs, cannot and should not be credited to the Grosse Pointe Public School District nor its administrators — despite what they may want you to believe.

Enact for special needs

To the Editor:

I happened to catch the end of the school board meeting on April 7. I was rather surprised that Dr. Klein did not correct Jack Ryan's assertion that she and Dr. Lemerand played any role in the establishment of the Neighborhood Club's programs for special-needs children.

My friend, Jeanne Lizza, works tirelessly to enrich the lives of these children and she is the one who deserves to be recognized for her efforts.

Her son, my daughter, and many other children have greatly benefited from the program she, with community support, established at the Lochmoor Club, swimming and tennis; the Hunt Club, horseback riding therapy; and the Neighborhood Club, recreational and music therapy.

I suppose, in a roundabout way, Dr. Klein and Dr. Lemerand could claim credit for these programs for their inaction inspired Jeanne Lizza to make a difference in the lives of special-needs children.

Exercising pedestrians

To the Editor:

I don't know who the letter writer is and I am sure she is a fine person, but her April 10 Grosse Pointe News letter to the editor, "Safer in the street," stops just shy of being the most astonishing thing I've ever read.

In case the letter writer hasn't checked recently, cars not only (illegally, I freely concede) roll through crosswalks, those same vehicles barrel at high speed, and quite within the bounds of the law, through the same street intersections in which the letter writer beseeches us to jog, walk and bike. Incredible.

The simple and inarguable fact is that pedestrians using the streets contrary to established law for jogging and other forms of exercise make things far more dangerous for drivers, motor passengers, workers and the pedestrians themselves.

I implore the police in our community to enforce the law as written and to take the "exercising pedestrian" off of the street.

Damaged sign

To the Editor:

I was dismayed and concerned the morning of April 14 to find the "Peace" sign that we have on our lawn, removed and torn in several places.

I am not sure why anyone would feel threatened by this sign. Perhaps, it was children on their way to school or more ominously, an adult who is uninformed about the Constitution and freedom of speech.

Although I am opposed to war on moral grounds, I support those who disagree with me the right to have a different opinion. I watch and listen to the news accounts with the same tears and horror, when any human, coalition or Iraqi, is brutalized by the war. I am moved by the suffering of families, who must wait out the fate of loved ones who are missing in action or who are prisoners of war.

I usually do not voice my opinion with signs or with

Just a little table talk

No tears! No sniffles! I know, it's just an inanimate object, an old piece of furniture that has outlived its usefulness. Yes, it's silly to be sentimental about it, especially in times like these.

But, still, I couldn't help but feel a little pang of guilt and sorrow as I prepared to part with the old dining room table that I inherited from my mother's family.

After all, I think I acquired more precious knowledge about life ensconced at that pedestaled mass of mahogany than I did at any institute of higher education.

Around that table I discovered:

...My family, relatives of those who were sitting next to me and few of who departed this world long before I was born but came alive again in the delightful din of their dinner conversation.

...The fine art of weaving a story, and in doing so was gifted with a vast wealth of family lore that I now can pass on to my own children.

I Say

Madeline Socia

...One of life's most valuable, albeit sometimes torturous, lessons, such as how to eat what was put in front of me, whether I like it or not. That kind of discipline comes in mighty handy in so many circumstances later on.

Over the years, I learned: ...How to listen, and in polishing that skill, gained the ability to explore the world from dozens of different perspectives without ever departing the dining room.

...How to speak my mind and, perhaps more importantly, when not too.

...How to develop a hankering for those funky old family recipes that come under the heading "acquired tastes." Things like Irish soda bread and egg and olive sandwiches that still provide a kind of sumptuously cozy comfort in troubled times.

...How to wrap gifts and dye Easter eggs and write Christmas cards and create a beautiful place setting and execute all the little niceties that make the occasions of our lives truly special.

...How spicing up a meal with a few tart observations, a little hot gossip and the sweetness of laughter can elevate the physical act of eating into the spiritual experience of dining. Of course, you should always go easy on the salty language.

...How a beautiful centerpiece and gourmet fare are far less important than exquisite manners and a deliciously gracious attitude in making a guest feel welcome.

There's a new model now waiting to take its place, minus the scratches, and creaky chairs and annoying bumps where the inserts don't quite fit together any more. And as my family gathers around it for the first time, I look forward to dishing out the hearty helpings of fond memories that were served to me at that dear old dining room table.

Last week, he was named an outstanding journalist for his biweekly column, "Immigration Insights" that appears in the Detroit Legal News.

Volunteers have gone on to be university presidents, cabinet officers, attorneys, judges, teachers, art gallery owners, corporate executives and the like.

"Professionally it can do nothing but help you," one alum said.

I have written about several in this column over the past two years and would like to mention briefly some additional ones who have given of their time, sweat and spirit to promote the American way of life in the best possible way. If you know of others that I have missed, send along their names and duties and I will include them in a future column.

For example, David Diedrich, who used to do business locally as Arthur Victor Painting, has been in Mali since August 2001 analyzing grant programs to women starting small businesses and trying to sort out computer programs that flying carpetbagger consultants fobbed off on the Small Enterprise Development operation. Dave will be in that African country until October.

Here are some other folks who are serving their country and their missions: Michael M. Cronin, 24, Grosse Pointe Farms, a business adviser in Nepal; Brent J. Hayduk, Grosse Pointe Farms, 49, a business development volunteer in the Ukraine; Kathy L.

Donahue, 26, an environmental education volunteer in Lesotho; and Jack L. Tocco, 24, Grosse Pointe Park, an agriculture extension volunteer in Niger.

Bethany S. Strunk, 29, of Grosse Pointe Woods is serving in Tanzania in the Crisis Corps, a subset of the Peace Corps for alums who volunteer to go back on active duty to provide short-term assistance in disaster relief and humanitarian response efforts.

There are about 6,500 Peace Corps volunteers serving today overseas. About 10 percent of those are married couples. If you have a college degree you probably qualify and can get details by booting up the Peace Corps Web site.

You'll find a quote there by Clemenceau Williams about why she joined: "I like to travel and I like adventure, and I like to teach."

We should be proud of each of our Peace Corps volunteers and thank them for their contributions when they come home.

Book drive

There are 17 boxes of books on their way to The Gambia, West Africa today to help '95 North High School graduate Maureen Magee of the Woods start a school library in the village of Saraju.

They are the result of Maureen's plea in these pages a few weeks back for you folks to contribute a buck and a book to get the library started.

Commends volunteers

To the Editor:

I would like to thank the Services for Older Citizens (SOC) Meals on Wheels volunteers for their dedication and commitment to the homebound seniors in our community.

On Monday, April 7, when we were all surprised with an early spring snow-storm, not a single volunteer called in to cancel delivering meals. And when these wonderful volunteers arrived at the meals site to pick up their deliveries and were informed that the meals were running late because of the weather, not a single volunteer grumbled or complained.

There were 100 homebound seniors in our community who received a hot, nutritious meal thanks to these gracious volunteers.

Thanks Good Samaritan

To the Editor:

Hopefully this letter will reach the very kind doctor who assisted me last March 17, 2002, when I fell while walking on Ballantyne Road near Fairford.

As the date this year approaches, I wanted to tell him that neither myself nor my family have been able to find him to thank him.

I'm healthy and well and walk as often as I can. Thank you, and God bless you!

Thanks for generosity

To the Editor:

I am writing on behalf of the 45,000 children who received holiday gift packages from the Old Newsboys' Goodfellow Fund of Detroit this past Christmas.

The entire Goodfellow organization is so grateful for the overwhelming support we received from the community.

Thanks to the hundreds of people who purchased a newspaper from a Goodfellow member or a Detroit Police Officer on our very snowy sales day last Dec. 2.

Thanks also to the hundreds more who made contributions through the mail. Your donations enabled us to achieve our goal of $1.75 million for 2002 and helped to ensure our pledge, "No Kiddie without a Christmas."

The residents of the metropolitan Detroit area remain very supportive of the mission of the Old Newsboys' Goodfellow Fund and we are truly grateful.

Thanks on behalf of all of the children in Detroit, Highland Park and Hamtramck who benefited from your generosity.

To the Editor:

I would like to express my most heartfelt gratitude and thanks to the woman who found my purse in a Kroger shopping cart last Tuesday.

I cannot truly express what a burden she saved me from. I regret not being able to find out who she is and I'm hoping that someone will let me know so that I can thank her personally.

I admire her honesty and integrity and will always be grateful.

Harper Woods artist receives loads of accolades

By Carrie Cunningham
Staff Writer

For Harper Woods High School senior Stephanie Sturton, art is a way to communicate things about herself and a means of helping others express themselves as well.

"I love what art does for me, and I love helping others realize what it does for them," she said. "It can do so much for a person depending on how you take it."

Sturton has been very prolific in her artistry, and she has received copious recognition. She received a scholarship from the Center for Creative Studies, where she will attend college, of $3,500 every year for four years.

She has been selected as a finalist in Wayne RESA's Student Purchase Award exhibit for her drawing of Edgar Degas' dancers.

Being named as a finalist allows her to receive a minimum of $75. Her art work will be framed and matted and either hung in a permanent collection or exhibited in RESA's Education Center. If RESA selects her as a winner, she will win $150.

Sturton is also a finalist in Coca Cola's Art of Harmony drawing contest. If she wins this competition, she will receive a $5,000 U.S. Savings bond and have her art work enlarged as a mural.

"She has far surpassed any of my expectations," Jelane Meehan, Sturton's art teacher at the high school said. "She understands the intrinsic value of beauty. She's truly the example of an artist."

Sturton enjoys the recognition, but she says she immerses herself in art for the love of creating. Hoping to some day become a high school art teacher alongside painting, she also hopes to give people the gift of making art.

"People are appreciating my art work. That's a big thing for me," she said. "I'm doing this for me because it pleases me, and it helps me help others; so it's more like a chain reaction."

This summer, Sturton wants to start an art class for children in kindergarten through third grade. She wants to write up a budget and hopes to get some funding from the district.

Sturton thinks art can be a way to evoke emotions from children. She has seen different types of kids in the eighth grade all communicate through art.

"You see how some might be more outgoing than others, but when they sit down and you try to calm the one down and you got the other who hardly talks, it doesn't matter because in their art work they both can be just loud or just as quiet," she said.

Sturton additionally sees an art class for kids as a way of potentially dissolving boundaries in the community of Harper Woods.

"Our city is opening up and getting more diverse, and you know some of them are afraid of that," she said. "Hopefully this can bring them together."

Sturton has loved art since she was a child. She started drawing pictures of Mickey Mouse as a way to emulate her brother who painted and drew.

She has evolved over the years to create portraits and still lifes. She enjoys using a technique called blending where she fuses together colors of different hues. She has an affinity for how art can mean different things to different people.

"I like doing pictures where people will look at it, and one person will think it's underwater or some people will think it's a sky scene," she said.

Meehan said Sturton is one of a kind.

"She has a reverence for what she does," she said. "It's more of a feeling than a body of knowledge."

Stephanie Sturton has won much recognition for her art work. A portrait she drew, above, is on display in the high school's art room.

Three HW High School students receive drafting awards

By Carrie Cunningham
Staff Writer

A trove of budding design engineers and architects from Harper Woods High School's computer aided design (CAD) class showed their prowess in a recent drafting contest.

In a competition sponsored by the American Society of Body Engineers held on March 19 in Troy, three students received awards for their drawings of a car part known as a "bracket."

Junior Josh Agattas received the Best of School award and $25 for his manual drawing of the part.

Sophomore James Slago placed 14 in the top 25 drawings for his computer picture, garnering him $30. Senior Chris Carolan won the Best of School for his computer drawing and placed 11th in the top 25 drawings. He won $75.

Twelve members of the CAD class submitted drawings for the competition. A total of 176 drawings from 20 metro area high schools were considered in the contest.

"I enjoyed it," said Carolan. "I was happy I actually placed in the state."

Carolan said he loves the CAD class and plans to enter the mechanical engineering career field. He plans to continue his study of design at Michigan Tech.

He says he's going to miss the CAD class.

"I'm sad that I'm leaving," he said. "But, it's definitely helped me a lot."

Agattas said the competition motivated him and got him to think of things in new ways.

"It was really cool," he said. "It encouraged me personally because I realized I had to get things done."

He's proud of his performance. "It makes me feel as if I really accomplished something; as if I did something worthwhile," he said.

Agattas wants to get into three dimensional architectural design. He dreams of designing sky scrapers one day.

Slago said he enjoyed the challenge of the contest.

"It was pretty hard," he said. "It was fun to do too."

Slago wants to be an engineer of some sort.

He thinks the teacher of the CAD class, 28-year veteran Tom Cherry, is a wonderful teacher who makes learning fun.

"It's one of my favorite classes," he said.

Cherry said the designs students work on in the CAD class are devoted mostly to car parts and buildings, like homes, duplexes and small commercial buildings.

He says his favorite part of the class is taking students who know nothing and building them into designers.

He said 50 percent of the students from his class embark on a design-related career.

"The goal is to encourage students in a career of mechanical or body engineering," he said.

Student interns open doors to future careers

By Jennie Miller
Staff Writer

A lone high school student stands in the midst of St. John Hospital's emergency room.

She takes in the action — the nurses and doctors bustling around, tending to patients — and helps wherever she can.

As part of a school assignment, Amber Ozog is getting a first-hand glimpse into what she hopes is her future career.

The Grosse Pointe Community School's internship program is helping Ozog and students like her to open the doors of potential career paths.

In its second year, the program has seven students under its wing.

In addition to Ozog, Molly Hobstetter works in Defer Elementary School's fifth grade classroom.

Mike Hoffman, with the desire to become a music producer, works with Dan Vikary at the Community Performing Arts Center.

Caitelyn Yamada is a marketing representative for a women's fashion line. Ian North assists in the special education resource room at Brownell Middle School.

Ashley Johnson is a Web designer for Pangborn House of Design, and Matt Grant is studying the business world at Prudential Life Insurance.

Program coordinator Kaisa Mikkola believes that an internship is a marvelous experience for students.

"It ties school and work experiences together on a daily basis," she said.

The Community School's administrative intern Deb Trapp agreed.

"It helps students to make a connection between their current education and the real world," she said. "It is important for students to have the opportunity to do career exploration because it empowers them to make better educational and career choices in their future."

Upon expressing interest, the high-achieving students are required to participate in the internship program for one full semester, spending a minimum of five to six hours per week at the sponsor's site.

The idea is for students to learn the intricacies of their respective field of study by working directly in the environment they choose.

"It's going to help me in college to know that I've already had some experience in a hospital and I have learned some of the simple things like the different sections of the ER," Ozog said of her experience at St. John.

The program is based on the principle that learners require educational experiences that enable them to be directly involved in real-life problem solving situations.

This will allow them to expand awareness of their own goals, abilities and interests, relative to future careers.

"Students see themselves differently as a result of the internships," Trapp said. "They end up being able to redefine who they are. They realize that so much more is possible than they ever thought before. It has the grand capacity to do something powerful — it can be life altering."

Each student is required to keep a daily journal of projects and work responsibilities. He or she must also undertake special assignments through the sponsor to demonstrate knowledge and skills that have been acquired.

At the end of the semester, each intern will complete a portfolio, prepare a summation of the experience, and be subject to an evaluation by the sponsor.

"The best part is the relationships the students develop with their sponsors," Trapp said. "The basis for success in life has to do with the ability to create and maintain relationships. Any opportunity that allows you to do so is quite valuable."

Ozog is grateful to have the experience of working at St. John.

"The internship program can benefit every student," she said. "It's a great way to figure out what you want to do and what you don't want to do."

Amber Ozog takes a break before assisting doctors in St. John Hospital's emergency room, as part of the Grosse Pointe Community School's internship program.

Board OK's Steeby as North principal

By Jennie Miller
Staff Writer

Less than 10 months ago, James Steeby was a retiree.

In the fall of 2002, he agreed to serve as Grosse Pointe North High School's interim principal for one year, following the resignation of Caryn Wells.

But now, after spending eight months at North, Steeby doesn't want to leave.

"As I've gotten to know the school and the community, it dawned on me that this is a good school and a great community where education is valued," he said of his decision to apply for the principalship.

On Monday, April 14, the Grosse Pointe Board of Education approved

Steeby's appointment as principal with flying colors.

Superintendent Dr. Suzanne Klein said the school district is fortunate to have Steeby as a part of its administration.

"He brings a variety of expertise as an administrator to our district," she said. "He once said that he felt he was born to be a high school principal, and it is our pleasure to extend that opportunity to him as principal of Grosse Pointe North High School."

Steeby, a Troy resident, spent many years serving as principal of Avondale High School and as assistant superintendent of the Avondale School District.

He earned his bachelor's degree from Central Michigan University and his master's in educational administration from Michigan State University.

His role as North's principal will be effective on July 1.

"It is always our shared vision to make North a great place to be," Steeby said, "and to continue improving our schools and providing the opportunities and programs for students to grow and stretch and to ultimately make the world a better place."

Presidential Scholars semifinalist

Andrea Hawksley, a senior at Grosse Pointe North High School, has been named one of approximately 500 semifinalists in the 2003 Presidential Scholars Program.

The semifinalists were chosen from more than 2,600 candidates on the basis of superior achievements, leadership qualities, personal character and involvement in community and school activities.

Writing contest winners

Lawrence Technological University's College of Arts and Sciences has announced the results of its 33rd annual high school writing contest, where three Grosse Pointe South High School students were honored.

Junior Daniel Fishman won first place for his "Pay Homage to the Corned Beef Sandwich," junior John Leverenz earned second place for his "Chuck Atkins," and junior Lily Papakhian claimed third place for her "Away with Melancholy." All three awards were in the essay category.

The awards ceremony will take place on Saturday, April 26, at 1 p.m., on Lawrence Technological University's campus.

The date of determination of registered owner for purposes of payment of interest as provided in this paragraph may be changed by the Issuer to conform to market practice in the future. The principal of the Series 2003 Bonds shall be payable at the designated office of the Paying Agent. The Series 2003 Bonds shall be sold at not less than 98.25% of their par value.

The Series 2003 Bonds may be subject to mandatory sinking fund redemption as provided in the notice of sale.

The Series 2003 Bonds or portions thereof maturing on or after November 1, 2014, may be subject to optional redemption prior to maturity at the times and prices and in the manner and with notice as set forth in the form of the Series 2003 Bonds in this Ordinance.

Notice of redemption shall be given in the manner specified in the form of the Series 2003 Bonds contained in this Ordinance.

In case less than the full amount of an outstanding Series 2003 Bond is called for redemption, the Paying Agent upon presentation of the Series 2003 Bond called in part for redemption shall register, authenticate and deliver to the registered owner a new Series 2003 Bond in the principal amount of the portion of the original Series 2003 Bond not called for redemption.

The Bonds may be issued in book-entry-only form through The Depository Trust Company in New York, New York (DTC). So long as the Bonds are in the book-entry-only form, the Paying Agent shall comply with the terms of the Letter of Representations to be entered into among the Issuer, the Paying Agent and DTC, which provisions shall govern registration, notices and payment, among other things, and which provisions are incorporated herein with the same effect as if fully set forth herein. The City Treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to enter into the Letter of Representations with DTC in such form as determined by the City Treasurer, in consultation with bond counsel, to be necessary and appropriate. The Paying Agent is hereby authorized and directed to also enter into the Letter of Representations with DTC as agent for the Issuer. In the event the Issuer determines that the continuation of the system of book-entry-only transfer through DTC (or successor securities depository) is not in the best interest of the DTC participants, beneficial owners of the Bonds, or the Issuer, the Issuer will notify the Paying Agent, whereupon the Paying Agent will notify DTC of the availability through DTC of the bond certificates. In such event, the Issuer shall issue and the Paying Agent as transfer agent shall transfer and exchange bonds as requested by DTC of like principal amount, series and maturity, in authorized denominations to the identifiable beneficial owners in replacement of the beneficial interest of such beneficial owners in the Bonds.

The Paying Agent will serve as paying agent and also as bond registrar and transfer agent if the Series 2003 Bonds cease to be held in book-entry-only form. In the event the Series 2003 Bonds cease to be held in the book-entry-only system, the interest on the Series 2003 Bonds shall be payable when due by check or draft to the person or entity who or which is, as of the fifteenth (15th) day of the month preceding each interest payment date, the registered owner of record, at the owner's registered address.

DTC may determine to discontinue providing its services with respect to the Series 2003 Bonds at any time by giving notice to the Issuer and the Paying Agent and discharging its responsibilities with respect thereto under applicable law. Under such circumstances, bond certificates are required to be delivered as described in this Ordinance. The beneficial owners, upon registration of certificates held in the beneficial owner's name, will become the bondholders.

So long as the book-entry-only system remains in effect, principal, redemption price, if any, and interest payments on the Series 2003 Bonds will be made in DTC or its nominee, Cede & Co., as registered owners of the Series 2003 Bonds.

So long as the book-entry-only system remains in effect, in the event of a partial redemption the Paying Agent will give notice to Cede & Co., as nominee of DTC, only, and only Cede & Co. will be deemed to be a registered owner of the Series 2003 Bonds.

The Series 2003 Bonds shall be executed in the name of the Issuer with the manual or facsimile signatures of the Mayor and the City Clerk and shall have a facsimile of the Issuer's seal printed on them. No Series 2003 Bond shall be valid until authenticated by an authorized signer of the Paying Agent. The Series 2003 Bonds shall be delivered to the Paying Agent for authentication and be delivered by the Paying Agent to the purchaser in accordance with instructions from the Finance Director or the City Clerk upon payment of the purchase price for the Series 2003 Bonds in accordance with the bid tendered when accepted. Executed blank bonds for registration and issuance to transferees shall simultaneously, and from time to time thereafter as necessary, be delivered to the Paying Agent for safekeeping.

Section 6. Registration and Transfer. The Transfer Agent shall keep or cause to be kept, at its principal office, sufficient books for the registration and transfer of the Series 2003 Bonds, which shall at all times be open to inspection by the Issuer, and, upon presentation for such purpose, the Paying Agent shall, under such reasonable regulations as it may prescribe, transfer or cause to be transferred, on said Bonds, Series 2003 Bonds as hereinafter provided.

Section 7. Payment of Series 2003 Bonds. The Series 2003 Bonds and the interest thereon shall be payable solely from the Net Revenues, and to secure such payment, there is hereby created a statutory lien upon the whole of the Net Revenues which shall be a first lien of equal standing and priority with the lien established in the Outstanding Ordinance in favor of the Outstanding Bonds to continue until payment in full of the principal of and interest on all Series 2003 Bonds payable from the Net Revenues, or, until sufficient cash or Sufficient Government Obligations have been deposited in trust for payment in full of all Series 2003 Bonds then outstanding, principal and interest, to maturity, or, if called for redemption, to the date fixed for redemption together with the amount of the redemption premium, if any. Upon deposit of cash or Sufficient Government Obligations, as provided in the previous sentence, the statutory lien shall be terminated with respect to the Series 2003 Bonds, the holders of the Series 2003 Bonds shall have no further rights under this Ordinance or the Outstanding Ordinance except for payment from the deposited funds, and the Series 2003 Bonds shall no longer be considered to be outstanding under this Ordinance or the Outstanding Ordinance.

Section 8. Fixing and Revising Rates, Rate Covenant. The rates presently in effect in the City are estimated to be sufficient to provide for the payment of the expenses of administration and operation and such expenses for maintenance of the System as are necessary to preserve the System in good repair and working order, to provide for the payment of the principal of and interest on the Bonds as the same become due and payable, and the maintenance of the reserve therefor and to provide for all other obligations, expenditures and funds for the System required by law, the Outstanding Ordinance and this Ordinance. In addition, it is agreed that the rates shall be set from time to time so that there shall be produced each fiscal year Net Revenues in an amount equal to 110% of the principal of and interest on the Bonds and the Outstanding Bonds coming due in the fiscal year. The rates shall be reviewed not less than once a year and shall be fixed and revised from time to time as may be necessary to produce these amounts, and it is hereby covenanted and agreed to fix and maintain rates for services furnished by the System at all times sufficient to provide for the foregoing.

Section 9. Bond Reserve Account, Flow of Funds, Surplus Funds. The Bond Reserve Account established by the Outstanding Ordinance shall be increased by an amount which, when added to the monies on deposit, shall be an amount equal to the lesser of (1) the maximum annual debt service on the Bonds due in the current or any future year, (2) 125% of the average annual debt service on the Bonds, or (3) 10% of the principal amount of the Bonds (the Reserve Amount). To provide such additional amount, the Issuer shall withdraw from the funds on hand in the System and deposit in the Bond Reserve Account a sum of money sufficient to meet the requirements of this paragraph. Alternatively, the Issuer shall deposit sufficient proceeds of the Series 2003 Bonds into the Bond Reserve Account to meet the requirements of this paragraph. Alternatively, the Reserve Account may be satisfied by the purchase of a surety bond which the Finance Director is hereby authorized to purchase.

Section 12(A) of Ordinance No. 656 is supplemented and amended to add a new subsection (3) and to renumber and revise the existing sections (3) and (4), as follows:

(1) PILOT Fund. After the transfers required in (1) and (2) above, Revenues shall be transferred monthly in an amount equal to one-twelfth of the annual payment in lieu of taxes due to the Issuer pursuant to the Issuer's charter, ordinances and resolutions into the PILOT Fund established and maintained by the Issuer. The moneys in the PILOT Fund shall be used to make payments in lieu of taxes to the Issuer at such time as the Issuer shall determine. If there is a deficiency in the amount previously set aside, that deficiency shall be added to the next succeeding month's requirements.

(2) Replacement Fund and Improvement Fund. The Replacement Fund and the Improvement Fund each created pursuant to Ordinance No. 545 shall be maintained and after the transfers required in (1) (2) and (3) above, Revenues shall be deposited therein to the extent and as provided in Ordinance No. 545.

(3) Reverse Flow of Funds, Surplus Moneys. In the event the moneys in the Receiving Fund are insufficient to provide for the current requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund, the Redemption Fund (including the Bond Reserve Account), the PILOT Fund, the Replacement Fund in the Improvement Fund, any moneys and/or securities in the funds or accounts of the System established by the Outstanding Ordinances and this Ordinance shall be transferred, first, to the Operation and Maintenance Fund, second, to the Redemption Fund, third, to the PILOT Fund, fourth, to the Replacement Fund, and fifth, to the Improvement Fund.

All moneys remaining in the Receiving Fund at the end of the fiscal year after satisfying the above requirements shall be transferred to the Redemption Fund and used to redeem Bonds or portions thereof, or at the option of the Issuer, transferred to the PILOT Fund, the Replacement Fund or the Improvement Fund and used for the purposes for which they were established, provided, however, that if there should be a deficit in any of the funds or accounts described in the section on account of defaults in setting aside therein the amounts heretofore required, these transfers shall be made from such moneys remaining in the Receiving Fund to such funds or accounts in the priority and order named in this section to the extent of such deficits.

Section 10. Bond Proceeds. From the proceeds of the sale of the Series 2003 Bonds there shall be immediately deposited in a subaccount of the Redemption Fund established in the Outstanding Ordinance an amount equal to the accrued interest and premium, if any, received on the delivery of the Series 2003 Bonds. If required, from the proceeds of the sale of the Series 2003 Bonds there shall be deposited in the Bond Reserve Account a sufficient sum of money to satisfy the requirements of Section 9 of this Ordinance. The remainder of the proceeds of the sale of the Series 2003 Bonds shall be deposited in a separate account designated MACK AVENUE WATER LINE CONSTRUCTION FUND (the Construction Fund). Moneys in the Construction Fund shall be applied solely in payment of the cost of the acquisition and construction of the Project, including any engineering, legal and other expenses incident thereto and to the financing thereof. Any payments for construction, either on account or otherwise, shall not be made unless the Engineers shall file with the City Council a signed statement to the effect that the work has been completed in accordance with the plans and specifications therefor that it was done pursuant to and in accordance with the contract therefor (including properly authorized change orders), that such work is satisfactory and that such work has not been previously paid for. Any unexpended balance of the proceeds of sale of the Bonds remaining after completion of the Project in the Construction Fund shall be used for further improvements, enlargements and extension to the System.

Section 11. Bond Form. The Series 2003 Bonds shall be in substantially the following form:

Section 12. Covenants. The Issuer covenants and agrees with the holders of the Series 2003 Bonds that so long as any of the Series 2003 Bonds remain outstanding and unpaid as to either principal or interest:

(a) The Issuer will maintain the System in good repair and working order and will operate the same efficiently and will faithfully and punctually perform all duties with reference to the System required by the Constitution and laws of the State of Michigan and this Ordinance.

(b) The Issuer will keep proper books of record and account separate from all other records and accounts of the Issuer, in which shall be made full and correct entries of all transactions relating to the System. The Issuer shall have an annual audit of the books of record and account of the System for the preceding operating year made each year by an independent certified public accountant, and a copy of the audit shall be mailed to the manager of each syndicate or account originally purchasing any issue of the Bonds. The auditor shall comment on the manner in which the Issuer is complying with the requirements of the Outstanding Ordinance with respect to setting aside and investing moneys and meeting the requirements for acquiring and maintaining insurance. The audit shall be completed and so made available not later than six (6) months after the close of each operating year.

(c) The Issuer will maintain and carry, for the benefit of the holders of the Bonds, insurance on all physical properties of the System and liability insurance, of the kinds and in the amounts normally carried by municipalities engaged in the operation of sewage disposal systems, including self-insurance. All moneys received for losses under any such insurance policies shall be applied solely to the replacement and restoration of the property damaged or destroyed, and to the extent not so used, shall be used for the purpose of redeeming or purchasing Bonds.

(d) The Issuer will not sell, lease or dispose of the System, or any substantial part, until all of the Bonds have been paid in full, both as to principal and interest or provision made therefor as herein provided. The Issuer will operate the System as economically as possible, will make all repairs and replacements necessary to keep the System in good repair and working order, and will not do or suffer to be done any act which would affect the System in such a way as to have a material adverse effect on the security for the Bonds.

(e) The Issuer will not grant any franchise or other rights to any person, firm or corporation to operate a System that will compete with the System and the Issuer will not operate a system that will compete with the System.

(f) The Issuer will cause the Project to be acquired and constructed promptly and in accordance with the plans and specification therefor.

Section 13. Tax Matters, Qualified Tax Exempt Obligation. The Issuer shall, to the extent permitted by law, take all actions within its control necessary to maintain the exclusion of the interest on the Series 2003 Bonds from gross income for federal income tax purposes under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the Code), including, but not limited to, actions relating to any required rebate of arbitrage earnings and the expenditures and investment of proceeds of Series 2003 Bonds and moneys deemed to be proceeds of the Series 2003 Bonds. In addition, the Issuer hereby designates the Series 2003 Bonds as qualified tax exempt obligations for purposes of deduction of interest expense by financial institutions.

Section 14. Additional Bonds. Except as hereinafter provided, the Issuer shall not issue additional bonds of equal standing with the Outstanding Bonds and the Series 2003 Bonds.

The right is reserved in accordance with the provisions of Act 94, to issue additional bonds payable from the Revenues of the System which shall be of equal standing and priority of lien on the Net Revenues of the System with the Series 2003 Bonds but only for the following purposes and under the following terms and conditions:

(a) For subsequent repairs, extensions, enlargements and improvements to the System or for the purpose of refunding part of any Bonds then outstanding, or both, and paying costs of issuing such additional bonds including deposits which may be required to be made to the Bond Reserve Account. Bonds for such purposes shall not be issued pursuant to this subparagraph unless the Adjusted Net Revenues (hereinafter defined) of the System for the last two (2) preceding twelve month operating years or the Adjusted Net Revenues for the last preceding twelve month operating year, if the same shall be lower than the average, shall be equal to at least one hundred and thirty-five percent (135%) of the maximum amount of principal and interest thereafter maturing in any operating year on the then outstanding Bonds and on the additional Bonds then being issued. If the additional bonds are to be issued in whole or in part for refunding outstanding bonds, then the average annual principal and interest requirements shall be determined by deducting from the principal and interest requirements for each operating year the annual principal and interest requirements of any Bonds to be refunded from the proceeds of the additional Bonds. For purposes of this subparagraph the Issuer may elect to use as the last preceding operating year any operating year ending not more than sixteen months from the date of delivery of the additional Bonds and as the next to the last preceding operating year, any operating year ending not more than twenty-eight months from the date of delivery of the additional Bonds. Determination by the City Council as to existence of conditions permitting the issuance of additional Bonds shall be conclusive. No additional Bonds of equal standing as to the Net Revenues of the System shall be issued pursuant to the authorization contained in this subparagraph if the Issuer shall then be in default in making its required payments to the Operation and Maintenance Fund or the Redemption Fund.

(b) For refunding a part of the outstanding Bonds and paying costs of issuing additional Bonds including deposits which may be required to be made to the Bond Reserve Account. No additional Bonds shall be issued pursuant to this subparagraph unless the maximum amount of principal and interest maturing in any operating year after giving effect to the refunding shall be less than the maximum amount of principal and interest maturing in any operating year prior to giving effect to the refunding.

"Adjusted Net Revenues" means for any operating year the excess of revenues over expenses for the System determined in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, to which shall be added depreciation, amortization, interest expense on Bonds and payments to the Issuer in lieu of taxes, to which may be made the following adjustments:

(1) The Revenues may be augmented by the amount of any rate increases adopted prior to the issuance of additional bonds or to be placed into effect before the time principal or interest on the additional bonds becomes payable from Revenues as applied to quantities of service furnished during the operating year or portion thereof that the increased rates were not in effect.

(2) Revenues may be augmented by amounts which may be derived from rates and charges to be paid by new customers of the System.

The adjustment of revenues and expenses by the factors set forth in (1) and (2) above shall be reported upon by professional engineers or certified public accountants or other experts not in the regular employment of the Issuer.

Section 15. Other Matters. The Mayor, the City Clerk, the City Administrator and the Finance Director each is authorized and directed to (a) approve the circulation of a preliminary official statement describing the Series 2003 Bonds and to deem the preliminary official statement final for purposes of Rule 15c2-12 of the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") and execute and deliver a final official statement in connection with the Series 2003 Bonds; (b) solicit bids for and approve the purchase of a municipal bond insurance policy for the Series 2003 Bonds; if, upon the advice of the financial advisor to the Issuer, the acquisition of such insurance would be of economic benefit to the Issuer, or to qualify the Series 2003 Bonds for municipal bond insurance; and (c) do all other acts and take all other necessary procedures required to effectuate the sale, issuance and delivery of the Series 2003 Bonds.

Section 16. Severability, Paragraph Headings, and Conflict. If any section, paragraph, clause or provision of this Ordinance shall be held invalid, the invalidity of such section, paragraph, clause or provision shall not affect any of the other provisions of this Ordinance. The paragraph headings in this Ordinance are furnished for convenience of reference only and shall not be considered to be part of this Ordinance.

Section 17. Publication and Revocation. This Ordinance shall be published in full in the Grosse Pointe News, a newspaper of general circulation in the Issuer, qualified under State law to publish legal notices, promptly after its adoption, and shall be recorded in the Ordinance Book of the Issuer and such recording authenticated by the signatures of the Mayor and the City Clerk.

Section 18. Effective Date. Pursuant to the provisions of Section 6 of Act 94, this Ordinance shall be approved on the date of first reading and accordingly this Ordinance shall immediately be effective upon its adoption.

St. Paul sends live message to troops in Iraq

By Jennie Miller
Staff Writer

Although the war in Iraq is taking place thousands of miles away, the troops are fresh on the minds of St. Paul Catholic School students.

"We are trying to look at our troops and the honorable duty they have put forth to help protect us all and the liberty and freedom we have," said the school's principal, Cindy Leaman, thinking of all the school has done to support the troops.

Earlier this month, the students sent quite a large message to Iraq through Channel 7's "Support Our Troops" program. During a live broadcast, Bill Spencer encouraged the students to sign the portable billboard and offer prayers and words of support to the troops.

"All my prayers are with the troops and good luck in Iraq," eighth-grader Joe Shanley said on camera.

"All my support is behind you and God bless," said eighth-grader Jon Ramberger.

The students have also been collecting monetary donations to send to the USO to purchase care packages for those overseas.

The students' thoughts are with the troops every day. In the school's main hallway hangs a billboard that was created several weeks ago that includes photographs of members of the military known by students and family members. Also included are addresses so students can send individual letters of support.

Each of the classes have "adopted" troops and pledged to pray for them every day through the Web site: www.presidential-prayerteam.org.

"We're going to continue to adopt the troops through the end of the war," Leaman said. "We hold a special prayer every morning for the troops and think about how we can affect peace overall."

Take a ride on St. Clare of Montefalco's Peace Train

By Jennie Miller
Staff Writer

Taking a cue from Cat Stevens' song, "Peace Train," students at St. Clare of Montefalco Catholic School created the Peace Wall, filled with student drawings and poems to promote peace.

"My poem questions why

"Please bless all the soldiers who are risking their lives for our country. Please help this war end soon and have everyone return home safely."

— an excerpt from Ashley Lumpkin's prayer for the troops are we at war, why is there hate, and why can't we just love each other," said Chelsey Pasha of her poem, "Where did our country go wrong?"

The wall also includes a tree with a yellow ribbon tied around it. Newspaper clippings have been attached to the tree that contain pictures and information about missing or perished soldiers.

"It's about praying that everything will be OK and the troops will be home safely," said Ashley Lumpkin. "Even those who have gotten killed — it is so people can remember them for all the hard work they did."

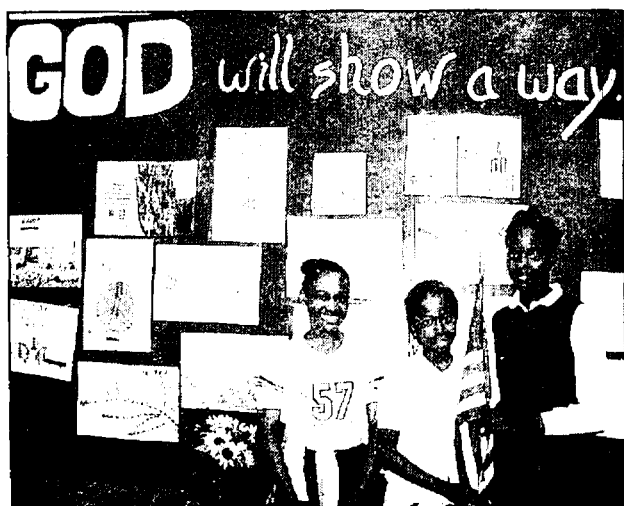

"We may not be for the war, but we still support the troops," Pasha said.

The school also recognizes this time of war with its patriotic addition of red, white and blue paper tulips in classroom windows.

"Different classes are responding in different ways," said campus minister Kathy Chateaux.

One class shared thoughts of what each student would say to the president if given the chance. Another has collected the names of family members who are serving in the military overseas.

"We want to keep the war in everyone's awareness," Chateaux said.

St. Clare sixth-graders Ashley Lumpkin, Paula Blount and Chelsey Pasha are pictured standing in front of the school's Peace Wall.

After 50 years Corvette is still hot

By Derek Price
AutoWire

It's hard to believe it's been half a century since Chevrolet unveiled the fabulous fiberglass bodied Corvette, America's only mass-produced sports car.

Today's Corvette has come a long way since those first 300 cars of 1953 rolled off the assembly line with 150 horsepower six-cylinder engines and a $3,500 price tag. While the base price has swelled to about $43,000 for a 2003 model, who can argue with 350 horsepower and a throaty V8, not to mention the latest 21st century technology?

Chevrolet celebrates the Corvette's 50th birthday with a special edition that includes a spattering of fancy badges, a gorgeous dark red metallic paint scheme and a miracle of technology called magnetic selective ride control.

Basically the system provides a quieter, smoother ride without compromising handling precision. It works by varying the electric current sent to a special liquid inside the Corvettes shocks, which instantly makes the liquid thicker or thinner to adjust for varying road conditions. The ride is still extremely stiff — exactly as it should be in a sports car — but the new system takes the edge off bumps and makes the Corvette more livable for a daily commute.

Surprisingly, the magnetic ride control has little effect on the car's high-performance handling, which is incredibly well balanced and responsive.

Body roll is virtually nonexistent even in tight turns, and the thick steering wheel transmits road feel from the front wheels with almost surgical precision.

The heart of every Corvette is under the hood, where a pavement-crunching 5.7-liter V8 breathes fire as it makes 350 horsepower with a window rattling exhaust note. It's enough to reach 60 mph in just over five seconds with an automatic transmission and even quicker with the optional six-speed manual gearbox.

As if that's not quick enough, Chevy offers the souped-up Z06 model with a 405-horsepower engine that can reach 60 mph in a mind-blowing 3.9 seconds. It's the fastest sports car in the world you can buy for $50,000.

It's important to note that

The 2003 Corvette

there are several world-class sports cars in the Corvettes price range, including the Porsche Boxster, the Mercedes Benz SLK, and the brand-new BMW Z4, all of which offer a completely different driving feel. The Corvette more closely competes with the much more expensive Dodge Viper in terms of handling and raw acceleration, but the Viper doesn't offer as many amenities or real-world drivability. For a mix of comfort and true sports car handling, the Corvette's closest competitor is the Porsche 911, which also is much more expensive. Both those cars make $43,000 look like a bargain.

My favorite thing about this fifth-generation

Corvette, aside from its superb engine, is the traction control system that saved me from at least two dry-weather spins but still let me have some fun. Unlike other traction control computers that abruptly interrupt at the first hint of sideways skid, even the intentional kind, the Corvettes system won't take over unless the driver is clearly on the verge of losing control. Essentially it lets you have fun using the accelerator to slide the back end through corners and only kicks in when the driver makes a dumb decision. Amazing, isn't it?

What's even more incredible is that Chevrolet continues to improve on this legendary sports car year after year. A completely new Corvette is rumored to be faster and more refined when it's introduced in 2005, and with continued improvement don't be surprised to see a 100th anniversary edition a few decades down the road.

From behind the wheel of a Corvette it's bound to be another fun ride every day.

The 2003 Chevrolet Corvette Coupe base price is $43,335. Options are the 50th Anniversary Edition package for $5,000 and a high-performance differential for $395. The as-tested price was $49,490. So why buy it? Even at $43,000 for a base Corvette, it's a true performance bargain with absolutely perfect handling and a mammoth engine. And it's one of the most legendary cars ever built.

Satisfaction with buying new vehicles skyrockets

(NAPSI) — A new study has found that a major reason U.S. consumers continue to buy new vehicles at a near-record pace is a dramatically growing satisfaction with automobile dealers and the car-buying experience.

The poll, released by Automotive Retailing Today (ART) also reports that the high customer satisfaction levels are prevalent across all ethnic and gender categories, and are especially strong among women buyers.

"Simply stated, Americans are walking into showrooms more informed and confident than ever before, and dealers are meeting or exceeding their expectations," says James Willingham, ART chairman. "Maybe it's time to give the last rites to those old negative stereotypes about car dealers."

Overall, 94 percent of survey respondents gave thumbs-up to the purchase experience. In addition, 52 percent of automotive journalists believe that consumers would report a positive new-car buying or leasing experience — up from 39 percent in 1998.

Today is a coalition that includes all major automobile manufacturers and dealer organizations. To learn more, or to download a copy of the survey, visit the Web site autoretail.org.

Understanding your car's electrical system

By Greg Zyla

Ever wonder how your car's electrical system keeps the battery fully charged at all times? For the answer, we talked with Dave Caracci of the Robert Bosch Corp., a leading manufacturer of starting and charging system components.

Your car's charging system includes an alternator, voltage regulator, wiring and the battery itself. The alternator produces the electricity your vehicle needs to operate and keep the battery charged.

trols how much of the alternator's output goes into your vehicle's electrical system, and how much is put back into the battery. The voltage regulator operates much like a faucet, opening and closing (electrically, of course) as needed.

If there is an electrical problem, a charging-system warning light on the dash or a gauge will alert you. Take action quickly to find the problem and fix it. Otherwise, a dead battery — and possibly engine failure — will result.

When your warning light or gauge indicates a failure in the charging system, it's time for a professional technician, using specialized equipment, to diagnose and correct the problem. He will replace a faulty voltage regulator or alternator with a new or remanufactured unit.

"Make sure the alternator you're installing has features that will allow it to last as long or longer than the original unit — larger bearings, improved circuitry, increased output and additional provisions for cooling are well worth a small price premium," says Caracci. "And make sure the remanufactured alternator includes a brand-new, not reclaimed, integral voltage regulator."

In summary, make sure the replacement alternator comes with a good warranty. Some replacement alternators, such as those from Bosch, offer an extended protection plan that includes 24/7 towing or jump-start coverage even after the original warranty has expired.

She was a loving person who enjoyed English history, reading a good novel, solving a difficult crossword puzzle, all animals, especially dogs, and, most importantly, being with her family and close friends.

She is survived by her sons, Chris (Laura) and Carl (Ann); her daughter, Martha Miller (Keith); four grandchildren, Sarah Wenz, Jennie Wenz, Brian Wenz and Lloyd Miller; and her sister, Patricia Flood.

She was predeceased by her husband, James.

Funeral services were held on Monday, April 7, at A.H. Peters Funeral Home in Grosse Pointe Woods.

Interment is in Mount Olivet Cemetery in Detroit.

Something To Think About

JOSEPH A. STANLONIS DIRECTOR

Put It In Writing

Many of us feel uneasy around someone who is grieving and find it difficult to say the right words. Well, there really are no one set of right words, no magical combination of nouns and verbs that could express all feelings and banish all discomfort.

All you can do is express your sympathy simply and sincerely. You aren't expected to come up with clever or polished rhetoric. A few words at the funeral should be enough. If you have more to say, and have difficulty expressing your feelings aloud, write them in a letter, even for a friend who lives just across the street. It may make it easier for you to say what you really want to say, and the gesture will be treasured by your friend for a long time.

In fact, whether or not you can attend the visitation and funeral, it is a nice gesture to send a sympathy card. It is a clear, material reminder of all the people who care.

War-weary stock market looking for direction

After three weeks of watching bombs, tanks and falling statues, bleary-eyed American investors turned off the TV and turned to the financial pages of their newspaper.

But stock market prices were basically unchanged.

Last Friday's (April 11) Dow closed at 8,203, only 4.3 percent higher than the March 14 Dow close of 7,860.

The stock market, recently, feels like the I-94 freeway to the airport: Here a pot-hole, there a bump, watch that rut!

During the last six months, activity on the NYSE has become increasingly institutionalized, with 35 to 45 percent of volume attributed to computerized trading by hedge funds, mutual funds and other professionals.

Retail-oriented stock brokers tell LTS that individuals have been sitting on their hands (and money), especially since year-end. Last week, the Dow slipped 73 points, less than 1 percent, closing at 8,203, while the NASDAQ Composite drifted 24 points lower, or 1.8 percent, closing at 1,358.

President Bush's plan to eliminate the double taxation of dividends appears in deep trouble as the entire Tax Stimulus Program is tangled up in congressional politics.

Meanwhile, the House and Senate members have gone home on recess.

This week is another of those holiday/holiday-shortened weeks, with U.S. stock and bond markets closed tomorrow in observance of Good Friday.

Investors continue to be bugged about the economy. Most of us have a relative, or a friend, who is out of work, looking for a job.

Good news! The University of Michigan's Consumer Sentiment Index rose in April, to 83.2, up from March's nine-year low of 77.6.

Retail sales surged 2.1 percent in April; it's biggest rise since October 2001, with auto sales contributing to the boost.

Fed may be aggressive

Martin Crutsinger, writ-

Let's talk...STOCKS

ing for the Associated Press in the Detroit Free Press (April 8), reported that Fed Chairman Alan Greenspan is refining an emergency economic rescue plan that includes further interest rate cuts and billions of dollars in extra cash for the banking system.

The Fed's effort would be aimed at pulling the country out of a nosedive that has seen 465,000 jobs evaporate in the last two months, raising fears that the weak recovery will be in danger of stalling out altogether.

Based on comments by Greenspan, the Fed may revive purchasing long Treasury bonds directly from the market, thereby lowering long-term interest rates. (During World War II, the Fed "pegged" long rates at 2 1/2 percent for the duration.)

Crutsinger further reported that Vincent Reinhart,

the Fed's top monetary policy staffer, recently told an economic conference that the Fed is striving to act preemptively before falling prices become entrenched.

Some economists believe the Fed will not wait until its next regular meeting on May 6 but may opt to call an emergency telephone meeting, possibly this week or next.

Auto insurance

How much do you pay per mile for your auto insurance?

We all know that insurance for a luxury car costs more than for an economy car. Then why do we pay as much for a stay-at-home spouse's car as your own when he/she drives less than half the miles you do?

Why not charge auto insurance on a per mile basis? Like rental cars used to be rented before unlimited mileage?

Most insurance companies are cool to mileage-based auto rates.

Why? Because half its customers would have to pay higher rates, and that half would be angrier than the other half would be pleased.

But pay-per-mile rates might make sense to a company that wants to grow and attract more stay-at-home customers.

Antique car owners long have paid per-mile insurance for their classic cars that are warehoused all winter and most of spring and fall.

hat's more than enough miles for "show off, top down" neighborhood driving, plus a couple of auto shows each year.

Forbes' article (March 17) reports some insurers offer 15 percent discount if you drive less than 7,500 miles a year, but names no

Remember the good old days?

Remember when gas was 25 cents a gallon and you could fill your gas tank for five bucks?

Your grandfather would tell you (again and again) when bread was just 5 cents a loaf. Dinner out at a nice restaurant for two people cost $6 or $7.

Times have changed, but you can still check out the purchasing power of money in the United States or the Colonies from 1665 to any other year.

The place to stop on the Internet is called Economic History (www.eh.net/hmit). (Note that the "eh" is not Canadian.)

Once you are on the Web site's home page, click on the sentence that says, "Purchasing power of the U.S. dollar."

To determine the value of an amount of money in one year compared to another, enter the values and dates in the appropriate places offered on the site.

For example, you may want to know how much money you would need today to have the same "purchasing power" of $500 in year 1970. If you enter these values in the correct places, you will find that the answer is $2,290.12.

You can also click on "What is the relative value?" to look at the prices of things way back when.

Please be aware that your kids will roll their eyes and give you a look and say, "Did dinosaurs live back then?"

By Mike Maurer

they hadn't invented dirt yet." It usually takes them a few seconds before it sinks in.

(Remember the old saying that old age — and treachery — will always win out over youthful exuberance?)

Let's move on to etymology.

Etymology is the linguistic origin or meaning of a word or, in this case, a name.

Linguists divide the languages of the world, past and present, into various language families.

English belongs to a family of languages called the Indo-European Language Family, which includes Greek, French, Russian, Hindi, German, Irish and many other tongues of Europe and Asia.

My last name is Maurer and my ancestors were, and I guess still are, German. Maur is German for wall. A person who makes walls is a Maurer.

It translates to bricklayer or stonemason.

My first name — Michael — means "godlike."

I guess that means I'm a "godlike stonemason." Go figure.

(Aside to my editor, your last name is not listed. Readers may fill in their own one-liners.)

So where did I find this information? It was on a Web site called, "Behind the Name," (behindthename.com)

They also will provide you with the most popular names, names by usage, names for twins, anagram names and chance to vote for our favorite names (Hint: M-I-C-H-A-E-L).

And now for a word about spring break, something where my generation started playing baseball not partying in exotic locations. We couldn't afford it. (See Economic History above.)

Have you ever heard of South Padre Island? Neither had I until visiting a Web site called Spring Break (www.springbreak.com). It's in Texas and invites young people to a "Beach Party on South Padre Island."

I am not recommending the island, just the Web site.

One of the links is to the top 10 spring break locations picked by the Travel Channel on cable TV.

They are, from number 10 to the top: The Bahamas; Rosarito Beach, Mexico; Key West, Florida; Daytona Beach, Florida; Mazatlan, Mexico; Jamaica; South Padre Island; Lake Havasu, Arizona; Cancun, Mexico; and Panama City, Fla.

Mom and Dad should not visit the "Girls Gone Wild" link, if they prefer to keep their heads buried in the sand their kids will be partying on.

As for what is in it for the beachfront cities down south, let me give one example.

In Panama City Beach, spring-breakers bring in a third of the city's yearly revenues, more than $300 million.

As for my spring break, I look upon it with a rakish swagger. That's right. I'm the one in the front yard with a rake in his hand.

BUY MORE HOME, NOT LESS

Some people spend more than they can afford when buying a house. Equally painful is the mistake of buying the cheapest possible house and then suffering through its shortcomings.

I have no intention of stating how much anyone can afford for a house. This is a very personal decision. There are guidelines of monthly averages that mortgage companies use for housing expenses. But - like the "height/weight" charts printed on scales - these are only averages.

Don't hold back if you feel you can exceed the guidelines. When you are willing and sufficiently disciplined to economize on other expenses, you can get more house than the average calls for. A good house may seem costly, but the rewards are well worth it. Investing in a house that's a little more expensive gives you an excellent inflation hedge while your whole family enjoys a better place to live. And often, the resale opportunity is brighter. Chances are you will grow into that higher payment very easily.

A proposal to lead the Pied Piper

By Bonnie Caprara
Staff Writer

For many elementary school children, the concept of a class play is usually far from Broadway.

"They have some costumes; they learn some lines, but that's the extent of their experience," said Mike Trudel, member and past president of Grosse Pointe Theatre and father of third-grader, David.

It was his son's upcoming class play that inspired Trudel to offer the third-grade teachers a proposal to lead the Pied Piper so to speak.

While working on the third-grade production of "The Pied Piper of Hamelin's Hangout" (written and directed by Trombly parent Cathy Shah), the students got an onstage and backstage look at GPT's current production at the time, "Proposals."

"We went to the Fries Auditorium at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, and the kids got to talk to the light designer, the sound person, the producer, and they got to tour the makeup room," Trudel said. "They got to see the props and the sets, and they learned how people moved furniture between scenes. We then took them to the Grosse Pointe Theatre building on Fisher and led them on a tour of the scene shop.

"They didn't realize there are usually twice as many people involved in a production offstage as onstage."

GPT kicked up its involvement another notch when it invited a group of the students back to the scene shop a week later and assisted them in building flats for "Hamlin": a circa 1950s malt shop and a town backdrop.

"It really enhanced our show a lot," third grade teacher Sonja Franchett said. "If speaking isn't their favorite part of being in a play, then there are other aspects in which they can be involved."

Third-grader Claire Boyle said she enjoyed both acting and set design and said she learned a lot from the experience.

"You have to keep in character because if you don't, it won't be exciting," Boyle said. "I was an old person with a Southern accent; I was the narrator."

"I also painted, and I learned you have to be careful moving the paint brush around because the paint might drip."

"I learned what the director and the other people do," said Boyle's classmate Nathan Trocsinski. "I helped make the big flats on the second field trip. They really helped with the set."

"I thought the flats were big pieces of plywood," said student Zachery Wiese. "It's actually cloth glued to the wood, and then they paint the cloth."

Aside from learning acting and set building techniques, Franchett said the experience has crossed into other areas of the third-grade curricula.

"In using one of our economic terms, 'interdependence,' this was a perfect example," Franchett said. "This also involved one of our life skills words: 'cooperation.'"

According to Trudel, interdependence and cooperation worked both ways.

"When you have kids involved, then parents get involved, which brings us new and involved members," Trudel said. "That has turned out to be the case."

The field trips also built interest in GPT's youth program, Youth on Stage.

"This experience opened a lot of eyes," Trudel said. "The Youth on Stage program will double next year, from 30 to 60 kids ages 8 and older."

Trudel said GPT is considering doing other field trip programs for students.

"Having done this and seeing the reactions, there's a thought this is something that would make sense to do with other students in the future," Trudel said. "The Grosse Pointe Theatre is a great resource to have in the community," Franchett said. "I'm glad we and the children were able to take advantage of it."

The membership campaign will kick off with an invitation-only Jazz Masters Club special event at the Music Hall for prospective members on Monday, April 21, beginning at 6 p.m.

The Detroit Jazz Masters Band, consisting of Detroit-based all stars Marcus Belgrave, Ken Cox, Marion Hayden, Burt Myrick and Donald Walden will perform as part of the festivities, which will include open bar and hors d'oeuvres.

The Music Hall hopes to raise approximately $100,000 from the club to help support the jazz festival in 2003 and beyond.

"The Ford Detroit International Jazz Festival is a cultural jewel of our community," said Frank Malfitano, festival director. "The commitment from citizen icons such as Dennis Archer, Anthony Soave and Elliott Hall to keep this prestigious event at the highest level artistically, while helping to place it on sound financial ground, speaks volumes about the festival's importance to jazz, and volumes about the festival's importance to Detroit."

The 24th Annual Ford Detroit International Jazz Festival will take place on Hart Plaza during Labor Day weekend, Aug. 30 through Sept. 1.

For more information on the Jazz Masters Club, call the Music Hall's development office at (313) 962-

Freedom — Passover

By Roger Skully
Beth Tephilath Moses

The 3,000-year-old holiday celebration of freedom, Passover, began on the evening of April 16. It was already over 1,000 years old when Jesus gathered his disciples for their "Last Supper." Their ritual celebration meal was part of an ongoing tradition celebrated today by Jews (and some Christians) the world over.

In the beginning of the dinner (called Seder "order" because the dinner follows a regular series of steps from a book, the Haggadah, which means to "tell") a paragraph in Aramaic says, "This is the bread of affliction (some translations call it the poor bread) that our fathers ate in the land of Egypt. Whoever is hungry, let him come and eat; whoever is in need, let him come and join in the Pesach celebration."

Aramaic was the common language of the Jews of the 1st century C.E. and is still spoken by some peoples in the Middle-East today (Chaldeans and Assyrians).

Of course, this refers to matzo, the unleavened bread eaten during the eight days of the holiday. (Some have referred to it as a temporary filling for tooth cavities; in balls in chicken soup, it has been referred to as a delayed reaction bomb.)

The holiday message is particularly relevant as we view today's historic happenings in the world. Pesach symbolizes life, liberty, pursuit of justice and the blessings and endowments given to us by God.

Slaves do not have a life that is their own. They exist at the behest of their masters. Only free men truly have life. Liberty begins when people cooperate, and it grows as they establish law to which they freely submit. When a people pursues the happiness and equity for others in society, justice and peace flourish.

On Pesach, the Hebrew slaves became a nation as they began their journey to Sinai to receive Torah, the law, God's law. The people of the exodus had to overcome obstacles on their journey to becoming a nation and a people concerned with justice and freedom.

It was revealed to them that their freedoms are God given, and must be in tune with the will of our Creator. He enters history and we are challenged to be his co-workers in the completion of his creation.

In whatever way you will celebrate this season of Pesach, contemplate its message, freedom and justice. Enjoy the meal and incorporate its message into your personal journey. Have a good Pesach.

Community Way of the Cross to be held in Park, Detroit

The annual Community Way of the Cross will take place Friday, April 18, at 3:30 p.m. Members of various churches in Detroit and the Grosse Pointes will carry a large cross through the streets of Detroit and Grosse Pointe Park and stop to pray at various significant sites. The aim of the event is to commemorate the death of Jesus, recognize and pray over Jesus' continued suffering in the body of human kind and build bridges of fellowship between city and suburban communities.

The walk begins at St. Columba Episcopal Church, located at Jefferson at Manistique. For more information, call George L. Bush at (313) 640-8295.

Christ Church Grosse Pointe holds Good Friday concert

"The St. John Passion" by Johann Sebastian Bach will be performed at Christ Church Grosse Pointe on Good Friday, April 18, at 7:30 p.m.

The performance of this masterpiece by Bach will be performed by the 70-voice Christ Church Chorale, orchestra and soloists. Nathan Northrop, tenor, will sing the Evangelist role; James Gray will sing the Jesus role; Dalos Grobe will sing the Pilate role; Jeanne Bourget will sing the soprano arias; and Elise Quagliata will sing the alto arias. The audience will join the choir in singing the chorales. Frederic DeHaven will conduct the performance.

There is no admission charge; the concert is given to the community as part of the Good Friday observance. For more information, call (313) 885-4841.

Jazz at St. Michael's Episcopal

St. Michael's Episcopal Church of Grosse Pointe Woods invites the public to a Jazz Mass at its 10:30 a.m. service Sunday, May 18. The service will feature the Rev. Matthew Lawrence, senior chaplain of Canterbury House at the University of Michigan, and members of Quartex. Lawrence, drawing the liturgy from the Book of Common Prayer and other sources, will preach and preside over the service in collaboration with the clergy and choir of St. Michael's, at 20475 Sunningdale Park Drive. There will be a reception at Yeoman Hall in the church afterward.

For more information, call (313) 884-4820.

The Pastor's Corner

Up to Jerusalem!

By the Rev. Gustav Kopka, Jr.
St. James Lutheran Church

"To hear some people Fictionalize their faith Jesus appears in technicolor As some sort of glorified Benevolent babysitter For his fortunate followers. He rocks their comfortable Cradles ever so gently Lullabies their crassest And most conventional Ideas and ideologies Proclaiming them Innocent and beneficial However brutal or Anesthetized. They overlook Unsettling words He had to say at times Even to rough and ready Ground floor disciples: 'You have been around me Weeks and months And yet And yet And yet You do not know me!'"

Again, it's Thomas Carlisle Chastening our complacencies During this high holy season. Lent is lent to us for being More of the rising God life In, with and for others. We are too willing to be Satisfied with childish Minimums of Gospel Information and understanding.

"Christ crashes our headlines And haunts our shelter Self-conscious skelter. It is all we can do To ignore him Successfully But we manage. We manage."

Historic St. Joseph's in downtown Detroit to host Easter vigil

Downtown Detroit's historic St. Joseph's Church is planning a celebration for the Feast of the Resurrection of the Lord.

Salzburg, where he was a colleague of Leopold Mozart and a model for the young Wolfgang Amadeus.

The "Chiemsee-Messe" was composed in 1793 for a special occasion: a young woman named Ursula Oswald, apparently a friend of Haydn's, took vows as a nun at the convent on the Fraueninsel (Lady's island) in the lake called Chiemsee near Munich.

Thus, the Mass is named in honor of the young nun's patron saint, and its nickname derives from the location of her convent. The Mass has extended solos for the soprano, and as Ursula Oswald is known to have been a fine singer, we might wonder if she sang the solos at her own profession of vows.

Other music for the vigil includes two Easter motets, also by Michael Haydn: the Marian antiphon of the Easter season, Regina coelii; and Alleluia, in die resurrectionis, originally composed as the Gradual for White Sunday; these two Haydn motets will receive their first performances in the Detroit area.

A new setting of the canticle Cantemus Domino by Michigan composer Moonyeen Albrecht will receive its first performance during the service.

The music will be performed by the soloists, chorus and orchestra of the St. Joseph Academy of Music under the direction of the choirmaster of the parish, Ronald A. Bemrich.

St. Joseph's parish has a tradition of almost 150 years of orchestral sacred music in the tradition of South Germany and Austria; the Easter vigil continues that long tradition.

St. Joseph's hopes to welcome everyone in its historic and magnificent church for this most important feast of the church year. The church is located at the corner of Jay Street and Orleans Street, near Gratiot Avenue. For further information, call (313)393-8212.

Bon Secours Cottage sponsors Project Healthy Living at mall

Bon Secours Cottage Health Services (BSCHS) is sponsoring Project Healthy Living on Wednesday, April 30, through Friday, May 2, from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. at the Macomb Mall on Gratiot in Roseville.

The project offers free and low-cost health screening tests and services to anyone at least 18 years of age.

"While the screenings should not take the place of regular visits to your health care provider, they can help to detect a condition that is developing, hopefully leading to early treatment," says Pauline Kramer, manager for volunteer services at Cottage Hospital.

Free services include height and weight, blood pressure, vision, and stroke and depression screenings. An optional blood panel of 22 profiles is offered for $40; Prostate Specific Antigen (PSA) blood test for men for $25; CA-125 blood test for women for $25; H. Pylori blood test for ulcers for $15; and colorectal cancer screening take-home kits for $8.

All Project Healthy Living sites offer a counseling and referral station where participants can sit and talk with a medical professional regarding any of the screening tests and services they received.

The medical volunteers that staff the counseling station can refer participants to free and low-cost prevention programs for conditions such as hypertension, cancer, smoking and weight management. Participants are urged to continue periodic check-ups with their health care providers.

"Last year we served 1,200 people at the Macomb Mall," said Kramer. "All totaled, it is estimated that Project Healthy Living provides individuals with $350 worth of diagnostic care and risk assessment services. This is particularly valuable to the large percentage of uninsured or underinsured who annually attend."

For more information about the BSCHS site, or any other Project Healthy Living location, call Project Healthy Living at (248) 616-9100.

discussion include:

- May 6 — "Life after diabetes." Former class participants share their experiences.

- June 3 — "Tempt your taste buds." A registered dietitian discusses recipe makeovers and special dishes.

FAQs about this smallpox

By Janice Rey

Recent world events have created questions about the threat of smallpox and, especially, the need for vaccination. Information provided in the media can be confusing and may leave some questions unanswered.

Following are some frequently asked questions and answers about smallpox and the vaccine:

Q. What should I know about smallpox?

A. Smallpox is an acute, contagious, and sometimes fatal disease caused by the variola virus and marked by fever and a distinctive skin rash. In 1980, the disease was declared eradicated following worldwide vaccination programs. However, the U.S. government is taking precautions to be prepared to deal with a bioterrorist attack using smallpox as a weapon. As a result of these efforts, a detailed nationwide smallpox preparedness program has been developed. It includes the creation of preparedness teams that are ready to respond to a smallpox attack on the United States. Bon Secours Cottage is part of this effort and is represented on the southeast Michigan team.

Janice Rey

Q. If I am concerned about a smallpox attack, can I go to my doctor and get the smallpox vaccine?

A. At the moment, the smallpox vaccine is unavailable for members of the general public. In the event of a smallpox outbreak, however, there is enough smallpox vaccine to vaccinate everyone who would need it.

Q. If smallpox is released in aerosol form, how long does the virus survive?

A. The smallpox virus is fragile. In laboratory experiments, 90 percent of aerosolized smallpox virus dies within 24 hours. In the presence of ultraviolet light, this percentage would be even greater. If an aerosol release of smallpox occurs, 90 percent of virus matter will be inactivated or dissipated in about 24 hours.

Smallpox is spread from one person to another by infected respiratory droplets during face-to-face contact.

People with smallpox are most infectious during the first week of illness. Contaminated clothing or bed linen could also spread the virus.

Q. If someone comes in contact with smallpox, how long does it take to show symptoms?

A. After exposure, it takes between seven and 17 days for symptoms of smallpox to appear (average incubation time is 12 to 14 days). During this time, the infected person feels fine and is not contagious.

Q. If someone is exposed to smallpox, is it too late to get a vaccination?

A. Vaccination within three days of exposure will completely prevent or significantly modify smallpox in the vast majority of persons. Vaccination four to seven days after exposure likely offers some protection from disease or may modify the severity of disease.

Q. Is it possible for people to get smallpox from the vaccination?

A. No. The smallpox vaccine does not contain smallpox virus and cannot spread or cause smallpox. However, the vaccine does contain another virus called vaccinia, which is "live" in the vaccine. Because the virus is live, it can spread to other parts of the body or to other people from the vaccine site. This can be prevented through proper care of the vaccination site, which includes hand washing and careful disposal of used bandages.

Q. Is it possible to get vaccinia, the virus in the vaccine, from someone who has recently been vaccinated?

A. Yes. Vaccinia is spread by touching a vaccination site before it has healed or by touching bandages or clothing that have become contaminated with live virus from the vaccination site. Vaccinia is not spread through airborne contagion. The vaccinia virus may cause rash, fever, and head and body aches.

Q. Who should not get the vaccine?

A. People who should not get the vaccine unless directly exposed to the smallpox virus include:

- Those allergic to the vaccine or any of its components (polymyxin B, streptomycin, chlortetracycline, neomycin).
- Pregnant women; women who are breastfeeding.

- People who have, or have had, skin conditions, especially eczema and atopic dermatitis.

- People with weakened immune systems. This includes people who received a transplant, are HIV positive, are receiving treatment for cancer, or taking medications like steroids that suppress the immune system.

- Individuals younger than 12 months of age.

- The Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices (ACIP) advises against non-emergency use of smallpox vaccine in children younger than 18 years of age.

- The vaccine manufacturer states that the vaccine is not recommended for use in geriatric populations in non-emergency situations. These people should not receive the vaccine unless they have been exposed to smallpox.

- People who are using steroid drops in their eyes should wait until they are no longer using the medication to get the vaccine.

- Those with heart disease, including previous heart attack, angina, congestive heart failure, and cardiomyopathy should not get the vaccine at this time. In addition, individuals who have three or more cardiac risk factors identified by their physician should not get the vaccine. Heart disease may be a temporary exclusion and may change as more information is gathered.

Know Your Skin

by Lisa A. Manz-Dulac, MD

Seborrheic dermatitis is a controllable, though not curable skin condition which often becomes worse in winter.

Seborrheic dermatitis most commonly appears on the scalp as red, scaly lesions and as whitish scaling throughout one's hair—this is the condition most of us refer to as dandruff.

Dandruff is not contagious, nor does it lead to hair loss or baldness unless the scalp becomes infected. Medicated shampoos are the most commonly used treatment, though patients may need to try several types to find the one which best manages their condition.

To learn more about the treatment of dandruff contact your dermatologist, or call us at Eastside Dermatology - (313)884-3380.

Here's a memorable quote for all ages!

I think you'll be as impressed by this quote as I was. After all, it's not often you get an honest and unequivocal statement from a member of Congress.

Here's the quote:
"It's insulting when they lay off thousands of people and then pay top executives millions of dollars in bonuses."

The quote is from Sen. John McCain, and he was talking about the U.S. government being asked to bail out airlines when its executives are still pulling down millions.

Although his statement referred only to airlines, there are too many companies where this has been and is still going on. Reports on what's been happening to Kmart over the last year or so, for example, are guaranteed to raise the blue pressure.

But even if Kmart does manage to survive, all the stockholders who held Kmart stock over the years have lost all the money they invested. Thousands and thousands of loyal employees who planned to retire someday from Kmart have lost their jobs and many of them are too old (50 or older) to get much more than a minimum wage job, which they'll be working at until their health gives out. And it will give out a lot sooner because they won't be able to afford health care coverage.

Enough of this horrifying saga. Here's some news that may put memory loss into better perspective.

Memory is subject to the same aging process as other parts of our body, such as vision and hearing loss or gray hair, according to a study conducted at the University of Toronto. For many, inability to recall specific details does not indicate the advent of senility or Alzheimer's disease.

The study tested young and healthy old people on how the different age categories recall incidents, both sad and happy.

Their results lead them to believe aging causes subtle, neurobiological changes in the frontal lobe that may reduce processing power. That is why younger adults will be able to give more specific information about an event than older people. But older people have the ability to relate more general information acquired over a lifetime and to integrate the event into their lives, which younger people cannot do. The idea that with age comes wisdom is valid.

Results of this study are printed in the December issue of Psychology and Aging.

The study didn't deal with such things as how stress affects memory, but I know from experience that when I am tired and totally stressed out, I have trouble remembering my own name.

When I am rested and calm, most information can be retrieved from my brain with no problem. I believe that what I can't then recall isn't going to make any difference in my life or how I function.

speaking on topics ranging from money management, health care and technology to exploring family roots.

Oncology: Treatment of Mind, Body and Spirit," by Dr. Cynthia Browne.

Financial planning for new seniors

Because of the recent declines in the stock market, many Americans will be forced to lower their expectations for retirement income or even postpone their retirement according to the recently published report from the Economic Policy Institute, "Retirement Insecurity: The Income Shortfalls Awaiting the Soon-to-Retire."

A University of Michigan's Health and Retirement Study estimates the bear market has wiped away more than $67 billion in retiree wealth over the last two and a half years.

Nevertheless, there is good news for most Americans in their 50s and 60s. It is not too late to plan for retirement.

The first step is to discuss the various options with a financial services professional who specializes in the senior market.

Professionals who specialize in retirement planning for seniors bring more targeted experience to the table. This experience and insight can prove invaluable as seniors consider their options.

Separating emotions from wise financial decision-making is essential to avoiding dangerous pitfalls, especially for seniors who have spent nearly a lifetime building a retirement portfolio.

Arts and Scraps presentation

material and provides educational programs serving 240,000 children.

Local studies look at preventing breast and lung cancer

Each year, the president proclaims April Cancer Control Month to highlight advances against cancer and rededicates the nation to fighting this disease. Locally, a number of cancer control prevention trials are being offered through the Van Elslander Cancer Center at St. John Hospital and Medical Center in Grosse Pointe Woods and Webber Cancer Center at St. John Macomb Hospital in Warren.

One study for women is looking at preventing breast cancer — giving hope that they may no longer have to wait for breast cancer to happen. Women at high risk for developing breast cancer are invited to participate.

The Study of Tamoxifen and Raloxifene (STAR) is designed to determine whether the osteoporosis prevention and treatment drug raloxifene is as effective as tamoxifen in reducing breast cancer risk.

The study seeks postmenopausal women of all ethnicities and races who are at least age 35 and have an increased risk of breast cancer as determined by age, age at first menstrual period, age at first live birth, number of breast biopsies (regardless of the results) and personal medical history. In addition, women who have a first-degree relative — that is mother, sister or maternal grandmother — who have had breast cancer, are considered at increased risk and may be eligible to participate.

The two St. John hospitals are part of a network of more than 500 centers across the United States, Puerto Rico and Canada seeking to enroll 22,000 women in the trial.

After completing five years of drug therapy and monitoring, trial participants will undergo at least two additional years of follow-up monitoring that will include blood tests, mammograms, and physical and gynecologic exams.

Another study is aimed at determining whether or not selenium can prevent development of a second lung cancer in men and women with a history of Stage I non-small cell lung cancer who have had surgery.

Those diagnosed with one lung cancer are at a higher risk for developing a second lung cancer. Research will help learn more about selenium as a supplement and its role in lung cancer prevention.

Selenium is an essential trace element that acts as an antioxidant and has been shown to enhance the immune system. Cancer research suggests that it may stop tumor growth.

For more information on either trial contact the St. John Hospital and Medical Center Van Elslander Cancer Center Oncology Research Office at (313) 343-3166 or the St. John Macomb Hospital Webber Cancer Center Clinical Trials Office at (586) 573-5127.

Both of these St. John hospitals are members of the Michigan Cancer Research Consortium Clinical Oncology Program (CCOP). These hospitals have access to more studies than do most cancer centers in Michigan.

CCOP programs are supported by the National Cancer Institute and include only those community hospitals that have met the highest standards of excellence in conducting cancer clinical trials. There are only 50 such programs in the United States.

Wellness Workshop for cancer patients, families

A free Wellness Workshop for cancer patients and their families will be held on Thursday, April 24, at 8:30 a.m. until noon at The Van Elslander Cancer Center (VECC), 19229 Mack and Moross.

The workshop will feature the following health practices that can further promote hope and healing:

- Learn how music therapy eases pain and stress from Andrew Stewart.
- Understand how guided imagery influences well-being with Andrea Kremko.

• Discover resources available to cancer patients from Rebecca Dougherty.

• Experience the benefits of energy therapy, reflexology and massage with Mary Natschke and Eva France.

• Explore nutrition options and enjoy lunch prepared by Christina Edge.

Seating is limited and pre-registration is required. For more information or to register, call (313) 647-3000 or toll-free at (866) 246-4673.

The Van Elslander Cancer Center at St. John Hospital and Medical Center is a member of St. John Health, a growing network of community-based hospitals and health care services in southeast Michigan and one of the largest employers in metro Detroit.

St. John provides comprehensive prevention, primary care and advanced treatment programs with more than 125 outpatient centers and nine hospitals spanning six counties.

À LA ANNIE

By Annie Rouleau-Scheriff

A recipe to make it spring

Spring into spring with this quick and delicious pasta dish that will fit nicely next to your Easter ham. Spaghetti with Lemon, Parmesan and Peas is a blend of fresh flavors combined with low-fat cream cheese giving it a creamy finish without all the fat.

Spaghetti with Lemon, Parmesan and Peas

1 lb. spaghetti (uncooked)

1 10-oz. box frozen peas

2 tablespoons olive oil

1 1/2 cups finely chopped onion

12 oz. low-fat cream cheese

3/4 cup (add more as needed) reserved pasta water

1/4 cup finely-chopped fresh chives

1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese

1/4 cup chopped fresh parsley

Salt and pepper to taste.

Bring a large pot of salted water to a boil. Cook the spaghetti according to package directions, adding the peas for the last few minutes of cooking time. Meanwhile, heat the olive oil in a large saute pan over medium heat and add the onion. Cook and stir until the onion becomes tender (but not brown), about 10 minutes. Lower the heat and add the cream cheese. Gently stir until the cheese is melted. Stir in 3/4 cup of the pasta water to smooth out the sauce. Stir in the lemon zest, Parmesan cheese and chives.

Drain the pasta and peas and transfer to the pan with the cream sauce. Toss the pasta and peas with the sauce until all of the spaghetti is evenly coated. (At this time you can add more pasta water if needed.) Season with salt and pepper, and place in a large pasta bowl. Sprinkle with the chopped parsley and additional grated Parmesan cheese.

I clipped this tasty spaghetti recipe from Good Food — a British magazine.

If you already have your Easter menu planned, save this recipe and toss in diced leftover ham. Yummy! Spring has sprung!

2 boys, 2 cats, 2 authors, 2 good reads

By Heler Gregory

Last November, the prestigious Booker Prize went to Canadian Yann Martel for his second novel, "The Life of Pi." Even people who haven't read it know it's about a teenaged boy stranded on the ocean in a raft with a royal Bengal tiger.

From this unforgettable premise, Martel constructs a highly readable adventure. The first section covers Piscine "Pi" Patel's childhood in India at the Pondicherry zoo his father tends. During this time, Pi becomes a practicing Catholic, Hindu and Muslim, with a wildly comic scene involving his religious mentors and his father. Faith is extremely important to Pi's story. When Pi is 16, after a political upheaval, his family plans to relocate the zoo to Canada. They set out with the animals aboard a ship that sinks.

After the shipwreck, the story moves into its second phase — action, violence and survival. Pi floats, lost in the Pacific in a raft with a zebra, a hyena, a baboon and a tiger. It gets down to Pi and the tiger, Richard Parker. (Don't you love that name?)

The third section appears to be a transcript of an interview sorting out the horror of what probably happened. Throughout early parts of the book, Martel alternates time — Pi past, Pi present. He never falters; he never loses the reader.

A few readers who claimed to have found God through the book appear to have taken their lead from one character that claimed to have found God through Pi's story.

You aren't likely to find God in this story unless your God eats puppies for breakfast.

The book is, however, a magnificent survival tale, if you can take the violence as well as the doldrums on the sea. Furthermore, it has more layers than a chicken coop. It can bear rereading for metaphor, language and meaning way beyond story. But if all you want is story, this is a classic.

So, ultimately, it's no surprise "Pi" won the Booker. The surprise came after the award was announced. It seems that in 1981 a widely respected Brazilian writer named Maocyr Scliar (pronounced Mwa-seer Skleer according to an author blurb) published a novella called "Max and the Cats."

Scliar tells Max's tale in three parts. "The Tiger on the Wardrobe," "The Jaguar in the Dinghy" and "The Onca on the Hilltop." Part one covers his childhood in Berlin with his father, a furrier, during the rise of Nazism. Unlike Pi, Max has early experience in sexuality, but this is Europe rather than India, and Max is two years older, 18, when he leaves the country by ship.

Part two is the bulk of the book, much like Pi but without the great detail and mysticism. After a shipwreck, Max is alone in a dinghy with a jaguar.

Part three briefly covers Max's life after the adventure with the big cat. "Onca" is Portuguese for "jaguar." The onca on the hill, however, is metaphorical. A rich German who may be a Nazi, who may be the reason Max had to leave home, has moved to the hilltop.

They're both good stories that read fast the first time through (especially Max). They both have multi-levels that can bear rereading.

The main premise, the thing that makes both books unforgettable, is a teenaged boy trapped alone on the open sea with a man-eating cat.

Is it plagiarism? Probably not. It will not get to a lawsuit, though it almost did when Martel, who seemed to think he was being generous when he said he got the idea from reading a review of "Max and the Cats."

You might want to check it out for yourself. You can get "The Life of Pi" just about anywhere right now. If you want to read "Max and the Cats," you'll have to order it from outside Grosse Pointe, Detroit or the Library Network. I had to order it from OCLC. It costs $2 when it arrives, and it will be checked out to you with an inflexible return date. It did come in much faster than I expected. It was definitely worth the two dollars. If it comes back into print, it would be worth standard pricing.

You could contact a rare-book dealer, but the prices are currently over $150 for the paperback. That, for a non-collector, is steep.

As for the plagiarism: John Lennon is credited in good sources as saying, in regard to plagiarism, that, after all, "We all have the same eight notes to work with." Earlier sources credit the comment to British composer Sir Arthur Sullivan.

Enough said.

A Grosse Pointe South batter squares around to bunt during the Blue Devils' baseball game with Grosse Pointe North last week.

South pitching looks good in three early-season wins

By Chuck Klonke
Sports Editor

A late spring combined with a late Easter has thrown Dan Griesbaum's schedule out of kilter.

"Never in my 20 years coaching here have we opened with a league game," the veteran Grosse Pointe South baseball coach said.

"Usually we play eight to 10 non-league games before we finally play a league game. That gives us a chance to experiment a little. We still have some things that we'd like to find out."

One bright spot in the early going was the pitching. The Blue Devils got solid pitching from their starters in three of the first four games.

In the Macomb Area Conference White Division opener with Grosse Pointe North last week, Mark Russell allowed four hits through six innings and struck out nine in a 4-1 victory.

Adam Abraham pitched a scoreless seventh to earn the save.

"I'd like to use Adam as a closer, but we might still need him as a starter," Griesbaum said.

When he's not pitching, Abraham plays shortstop for the Blue Devils and contributed several key hits in South's first three victories.

Against North, South opened the scoring in the second. Singles by Abraham and Charlie Mackinnon and a walk loaded the bases and Abraham scored on a balk.

Regina gets solid pitching to earn sweep against Ladywood

By Bob St. John

Regina's pitching staff was on fire during the softball team's first week of action.

"Our pitchers did a great job during our first six games," head coach Diane Laffey said. "We would have won all six of our games, but Anchor Bay's pitcher shut us down in the final game of the tournament."

The Saddlelites began the season by beating Livonia

Ladywood 5-0 and 1-0 as senior Amy Whaley (game one) and freshman Nicole Nemitz (game two) each tossed two-hitters.

Laffey's squad finished second in the Chesterfield Classic the following day, losing 1-0 to Anchor Bay in the championship game.

The Tars scored a run in the first inning, which held up.

"It was a great game, but we didn't get the hits when we needed them," Laffey said.

The Saddlelites earned a spot in the finals after beating Armada, Macomb Lutheran North and Richmond.

During the Saddlelites' six games, senior Kim Petrucci posted a .438 batting average and a .550 on-base percentage, while Nemitz had a .471 hitting and on-base percentage.

South tennis has good turnout

By Chuck Klonke

Grosse Pointe South boys tennis coach Tom Berschback was encouraged by what greeted him at his first practice this year.

"We had 41 kids try out for the team," Berschback said.

"I've never had 40 kids come out before. That shows that tennis is on the upswing again."

This year's team is one of the youngest Berschback has had at South, but that's not a concern to him.

"We're kind of green, but we have a lot of capable players who we hope can rise to the occasion," he said. "We have a good mix — three seniors, four juniors, two sophomores and three freshmen in our top group."

South grads help Albion post winning tennis mark

A pair of former Grosse Pointe South players helped the Albion College tennis team cap the non-league portion of its schedule with a 5-4 victory over Grand Valley State University.

Richard Marsh teamed with David Swan to win 8-6 at No. 1 doubles. At third doubles, John Fodell and his partner, Brian Reed, posted an 8-2 victory.

Marsh and Fodell are both first-year players for Albion, which took a 6-3 record into last weekend's Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association opener.

Earlier, the two former South players did well on the Britons' spring trip to Hilton Head, S.C.

Marsh led the team with a 3-1 singles record, while Fodell won two of his singles matches and posted a 3-1 record in doubles play.

Chiefs win GPHA Pee Wee playoff championship

The Grosse Pointe Hockey Association Pee Wee Chiefs capped a season of steady improvement by winning the league's playoff championship.

The Chiefs won the Steve Doughty Memorial Trophy, named in honor of a long-time GPHA coach and father, with a thrilling 3-2 victory over the Blue Max.

In the preliminary rounds, the Chiefs defeated the Wild 3-1, beat the Thrashers 4-1, blanked the Hurricanes 5-0, downed the Devils 4-1 and tied the Penguins 2-2. Their only loss was 4-2 to the Blue Max.

The championship game started with some heavy bodychecks. On the first shift, the Chiefs' Tim Griffith and Austin Swancoat sandwiched the first Blue Max player that tried to enter the zone, and it seemed to set the tone for the rest of the game.

Midway through the first period, the Chiefs' Adam Brewster dug the puck out of a scrum in the corner and fed a centering pass to Chris Thomas, who scored to give the Chiefs a 1-0 lead.

The second period began with some rugged play on both ends of the ice as the teams battled very evenly. Chiefs forwards Justin Callert and David Clem made some swift, accurate passes and Clarke Dirksen fired some hard slap shots at Blue Max goalie Andrew Spagnuolo, who turned them all away.

Finally, the Chiefs' Justin Grobbel took a hard shot that was deflected into the net by Swancoat to make it 2-0.

Leading by two goals, the Chiefs turned to the defense that had been so successful all season. Goalie Matt Gaggin provided a solid last line of defense as he recorded nine shutouts in 50 games.

The Chiefs' team effort on defense featured fierce backchecking and quick breakouts.

Defenseman Alex Piku, who is the best shot blocker on the squad, stepped into several shots to take scoring chances away from the Blue Max. Keith Gillum, the strongest of the Chiefs, carried the puck out of his zone, often holding off opponents with his free arm.

The elusive Andrew Broderick used his deft moves to move the puck out of danger. The Chiefs rotated five defensemen who learned to communicate with each other to point out where the open ice was and who to hit with a pass.

The Blue Max picked up the intensity in the third period and peppered Gaggin with shots from all angles. He turned away several of them before Andrew Sudney hit Eli Thomas with a pass and Thomas found a small opening to cut the lead to 2-1.

The Chiefs tried to take away the Blue Max's momentum as speedy forecheckers Jack Davies and Pranav Moudgil intensified their pressure and

East falls to Woods-Tower

By Bob St. John

Lutheran East's boys baseball team dropped a doubleheader last weekend, losing 10-0 and 8-4 to host Warren Woods-Tower.

"We made 12 errors in the two games," head coach Nick Capoferi said. "We weren't ready to play, which was evident by our lack of production."

The Eagles' bright spots were freshmen Joel Machemer and Steve Johnson.

Machemer gave up only one earned run in game two, while Johnston was 2-for-4 with four stolen bases.

"Our young kids played very well in game two," Capoferi said. "We didn't do anything right in the opener, Annie Shepard made several hard checks. Shepard took several hard hits in return, but never backed down.

With time running out, the Blue Max pulled their goalie for an extra attacker. Gaggin gloved a long shot and cleared a pass to Swancoat deep in the Chiefs' end. He carried the puck out and fired a 100-foot shot into the empty net to make it 3-1.

The Blue Max didn't give up, however. They kept the pressure on and with 26 seconds left, Alex Kuczera fed a pass to Alex Marshall. Marshall's shot from close range went off the crossbar and into the net.

Although the Blue Max had momentum on their side once again, the Chiefs stayed calm and controlled the puck for the final seconds.

The Chiefs are coached by Dave Thomas, Chris Piku and John Davies, an experienced trio that teaches by example and worked all year on line combinations, practice drills and game strategy.

but at least the guys came back and did some nice things in the second game."

Colleen Trybus hit a pair of three-run homers to lead the Alma College softball team to a doubleheader sweep of Bluffton College.

Trybus, a junior who graduated from Grosse Pointe South, hit her first home run in the opening inning of the first game. She also had an RBI single in the fourth to cap the Scots' scoring in the 9-0 victory.

Trybus' second homer came in the seven-run second inning of the second game, which was also won by Alma 9-0.

South JVs skate to victory in Cleveland hockey tournament

Grosse Pointe South's junior varsity hockey team used the combination of an explosive offense, a determined team defense and outstanding goaltending to win the championship in a JV tournament in Cleveland.

The Blue Devils won the title and completed an undefeated run with a 5-3 victory over Buffalo (N.Y.), a team that South defeated 8-1 in its first tournament game.

Buffalo came out strong and scored the game's first two goals, but South answered with three in a row to take a 3-2 lead.

Andy Kross, who was the tournament's most valuable player, got the Blue Devils' comeback started when he tipped in Erik Howell's shot. Kyle Polack tied the game 58 seconds later, assisted by Matt Anderson. Will Fitzgerald put South ahead when he scored at the end of a fine passing play with Jimmy Marshall and Anderson.

Ross Mischnick opened the final period with a goal from Ben Osborn and David Altschuler. Polack iced the win with a power-play goal, assisted by Osborn and Kross.

David Hollidge was in goal for his third victory of the tournament.

South wasted no time getting on the scoreboard in the tournament opener with Buffalo. Kross scored at the 18-second mark, assisted by Miles Livermore and David McCoy.

Kross scored again five seconds later, assisted by Livermore, and Osborn followed with the first of his three goals. McCoy and Will Poirier had the assists.

Mischnick opened the second-period scoring, assisted by Zak Brooks and Pete Fromm. Kross then completed his hat trick and McCoy collected his third assist.

Osborn scored twice in the third period, sandwiched around a goal by Brooks. Mischnick had two assists in the period, while Brooks, Osborn, Evan Wouters and Fromm each picked up one. Hollidge was in goal for the Blue Devils.

Defense was the story in South's second game — a 6-0 victory over Erie, Pa. Erie managed only four shots against Blue Devils goalie Mike Grob, who recorded the shutout.

The defense also scored three of the six goals. Fromm scored the only goal of the first period. Davis Smith, Anderson and Fitzgerald, who was coming off a foot injury, notched the second-period goals for South.

Mischnick and Altschuler scored unassisted in the third period.

Mischnick, Marshall, Altschuler and McCoy collected the South assists.

North beats Foley, 8-6

to go over .500 in lacrosse

Grosse Pointe North's lacrosse team got three goals and an assist from David Watson and Patrick Hogan scored twice and collected one assist in the Norsemen's 8-6 victory over Bishop Foley.

The win improved North's overall record to 3-2.

Jake Krystoforski had a goal and an assist for North while Roland Vandenbroeck also scored for the Norsemen.

South had a much tougher time in its next game with West Seneca, N.Y.

West Seneca tied the game at 2-2 with eight seconds remaining, but Anderson picked up a loose puck at center ice and scored with one second left to give the Blue Devils a 3-2 win.

West Seneca opened the scoring, but South's Alex Alvarez tied the game with an unassisted goal and Livermore converted a pass from Kross to put the Blue Devils ahead.

Hollidge was in goal for South.

Later that day, South skated to a 2-2 tie with Davison.

Brooks scored a second-period goal for South, assisted by Osborn, but Davison took the lead in the third period. Mischnick got the equalizer late in the period. It was set up by Kross.

Grob withstood a late barrage of shots by Davison to preserve the tie.

Howard Hoban, Keith Owen and Julian Alvarez are the coaches. Bill Fitzgerald is the team manager.

Earlier, Watson scored all three goals for North in a 4-1 loss to L'Anse Creuse.

North rolled to an 8-0 victory over Notre Dame as Watson led the way with four goals and Nick Janutol added a pair.

Senior defenseman and co-captain Kevin Coleman played a strong game for North. Sophomore goalie Shane Mallon made five saves in the second half.

South scored three times in the first inning. A walk to Mike Arrigo, a single by Abraham and an error or a ball hit by Mackinnon produced the first run. Keogh then helped himself with a two-run double.

Abraham's single drove in the Blue Devils' final run in the third.

A three-run rally in the bottom of the fourth inning overcame a 3-1 deficit and helped lift South to a 6-3 win over Sterling Heights.

The Blue Devils picked up an unearned run in the first inning, but the Stallions scored three times in the top of the fourth. The key bow was a two-run double, which was the only hit allowed by winning pitcher Drew Bedan, who struck out six.

South came back in the bottom of the fourth. Abraham doubled and scored on Ben Jenzen's single. Bedan had an RBI single to tie the game, and after a balk, Anthony DeLaura singled home the go-ahead run.

The Blue Devils got their final two runs in the fifth on RBI singles by Janutol and Jenzen.

Kyle Hacias also had two hits for South.

The Blue Devils winning streak ended in the final game of the day when they lost 11-0 to Romeo.

"Romeo scored five runs in the first inning after we botched a rundown and they scored five more in the second," Griesbaum said. "It was a combination of mental and physical errors."

A bright spot for South was 2 1/3 innings of scoreless relief pitching by Hacias.

The Blue Devils managed only two hits in the game — singles by Janutol and Mackinnon.

North track team is off to a flying start with two dual wins

By Chuck Klonke
Sports Editor

Things are looking up for Grosse Pointe North's boys track and field team.

"We're off to an incredible start," said coach Dan Quinn. "I knew we'd be better, but I didn't expect us to improve by leaps and bounds like we have done."

"The young kids have really developed and we've had excellent senior leadership. The whole attitude is 100 percent better and that's because we've started winning. It's amazing what winning can do. It's contagious when you see so many people doing so well. Every point is important. We haven't won a lot recently and losing isn't much fun."

Quinn also credits his coaching staff, which includes Pat Wilson, Sarah Neely and newcomer Matt Trombley, for the positive attitude.

"There isn't a better track coach around than Pat, and Sarah might be the best throwing coach in the area," Quinn said. "Adding Matt to work with our jumpers just makes us that much better. Everybody is working hard, but we're also having a lot of fun."

North dropped into the Macomb Area Conference Gold Division this season, but that isn't the reason that Quinn is looking for the Norsemen to at least double their victory total.

"I think the strength of the competition is equal to last year in the Blue," he said. "We're just a better team. I think we can get four or five wins."

North beat Grosse Pointe South 84-53 in a MAC crossover, then opened the MAC Gold season with an 81-56 victory over Marysville.

The Norsemen also made a strong showing in last weekend's Grosse Pointe North Invitational, finishing third, only one point out of second place.

Sterling Heights finished first with 114 points, followed by Roseville with 78 and North with 77. Notre Dame was third with 76 points.

North had several second place finishes in the meet.

The 4x1,600-meter relay team of Rob Matouk, Stefan Cross, David Secord and Ben Landsiedel was second in 20:50.5.

The 4x800 relay team of John Bremer, Scott Dyle, Phil Smyly and Mario Sexton was runner up in 8:56.2. Robert Bailiff, Vincent Viola, Ed Kotwick and Marcell Maxwell teamed up for a second in the 4x100 relay (45.1).

The 4x400 relay team of Scott Nixon, Dyle, Sexton and Phil Saffron was second in 3:43.9.

The high jump relay of David Klein, who had a personal record of 5-feet, 10-inches, and Kevin Kwiatkowski was second with an 11-4 total.

North got a third place from the 4x200 relay team of Bailiff, Nixon, Viola and Maxwell. The middle distance relay of Saffron, Aric Minney, Kwiatkowski and Bremer also took third place.

Fourth places came in the shuttle hurdle relay (Nixon, Klein, Kwiatkowski and Grant Ditzhazy), sprint medley relay (Bailiff, Kotwick, Maxwell and Viola), and long jump relay (Kwiatkowski, Kotwick and Viola). Kwiatkowski had a PR of 19-4 in the long jump.

North had fifth-place finishes in the field event 4x100 relay (Ryan Stephens, David Selak, Spencer Channel and Eric Mancik), and shot put relay (Stephens, Mancik and Jacob Masinick).

North was sixth in the discus relay with Channel setting a PR of 107-2.

Quinn said that he was impressed with the finishes of Bremer and Cross.

"They beat some of the best runners in Macomb County," he said. "Marcell ran some great splits, even into the wind."

After four meets, Kwiatkowski leads the North squad with 24.83 points. Maxwell is right behind with 24.5 and Klein has 23.

In the Marysville meet, North won all four relays and the Norsemen were first in eight individual events.

The Norsemen swept the two sprints. In the 100, Maxwell was first in 11.5, followed by Viola and Jeffrey Miller. Maxwell also led the 200 sweep in 22.9, followed by Bailiff and Viola.

North had 1-2 finishes in both hurdles races. Klein won the 110 highs in 17.4, a PR, while Kwiatkowski was second. The order was reversed in the 300 intermediate hurdles. Kwiatkowski had a winning time of 45.1 and Klein was second. Both had PRs.

Bremer won the 400 dash in 54.5, which places him third on the school's all-time list for sophomores.

Saffron cleared 12-0 to win the pole vault and earn a spot on the all-time list for seniors. Klein won the high jump and Viola took first in the long jump.

Bremer, Matouk, Smyly and Sexton won the 3,200 relay in 8:44.8; Bailiff, Nixon, Saffron and Maxwell were first in the 800 relay in 1:36.6; Bailiff, Viola, Kotwick and Maxwell won the 400 relay in 45.2; and Nixon, Dyle, Minney and Saffron won the 1,600 relay in 3:44.4.

Others setting PRs were Joe Masinick, 100; Cross, 1,600; Ditzhazy, 300 hurdles; Sexton, Minney, Dyle, Kyle Klanow, Anthony DiCristofaro, Allan Fullerton and Channel, 800; Bailiff, Viola, Ditzhazy, Steven Ruppe, Kotwick, Patrick Cusmano and George Dallas, 200; Matouk, 3,200; Jacob Masinick and DiCristofaro, shot put; and Stephens and DiCristofaro, discus.

In North's win over South, the Norsemen swept the four relays. The team of Bremer, Matouk, Cross and Minney won the 3,200 relay in 8:57.1. Bailiff, Nixon, Saffron and Maxwell had a winning time of 1:37 in the 800 relay. Bailiff, Viola, Kotwick and Maxwell won the 400 relay in 46.8, and the 1,600 relay team of Dyle, Smyly, Sexton and Saffron won in 3:47.

Maxwell and Viola finished 1-2 in the 100. Matouk won the 1,600 run in 4:58. Dyle was first in the 400 in 54.95, edging Sexton, who was second. Bailiff won the

All three seniors are captains and two of them — Derek Seifulla and Jon Sierant — will play the prestigious No. 1 doubles position.

South has sent its top doubles team to the state final match for seven straight seasons and Berschback is hopeful that Seifulla and Sierant, who played No. 2 doubles last year, can keep the streak alive.

The other senior co-captain, John Simon, will play No. 4 singles.

Sophomore Joe Vallee, who played second singles last year, moves up to play No. 1 this season. Alex Galvin will play No. 2 singles and Sevi Jensen returns to play No. 3.

Veteran Kirk Willmarth and junior varsity graduate Doug Biske are the No. 2 doubles team. Five players are battling for the remaining four spots in the starting lineup. They are junior Taylor Zalewski, sophomore Max Haarz and freshmen Brent Parshall, Joe Halso and Matt Prigorac.

Two other contenders for starting roles are sophomore Eric Berschback and freshman Patrick Whelan.

South opened the season with an 8-0 victory over Stevenson in a Macomb Area Conference Red Division meet.

The Blue Devils then dropped a non-league match to Detroit Country Day 5-3, but Tom Berschback saw some encouraging things from his team.

"We won three doubles matches in three sets and Simon, in his first time out, lost 6-4, 7-6, which was a good indication that he'll play well at No. 4 singles for us," the coach said.

Once again, South looks like it will be strong in doubles because the Blue Devils coaches impress on their players that playing doubles means just as much as singles to the team's success.

"Dr. Detroit (assistant coach Jeff Hodges) and I always say that a point in fourth doubles is just as important as a point in singles," Berschback said. "Frankly, I don't know why anybody would want to play singles. It's a lot more grueling than doubles."

game in the third on a walk and an RBI double by Josh Lewis. Lewis had two of North's four hits.

The Blue Devils broke the tie with three runs in the sixth inning. Consecutive singles by P.J. Janutol, Abraham and Mackinnon produced the first run and Dan Keogh followed with a two-run single.

Mackinnon finished with three hits for South.

A non-league second game was suspended because of darkness with the teams tied at 6-all. It will be completed the next time North and South meet.

South won two of its three games last Saturday in the Grosse Pointe South Invitational.

Keogh pitched a one-hitter and struck out 10 as the Blue Devils began play with a 4-0 win over Troy Athens.

Know Your Skin

by Lisa A. Manz-Dulac, MD

Seborrheic dermatitis is a controllable, though not curable skin condition which often becomes worse in winter.

Seborrheic dermatitis most commonly appears on the scalp as red, scaly lesions and as whitish scaling throughout one's hair—this is the condition most of us refer to as dandruff.

Dandruff is not contagious, nor does it lead to hair loss or baldness unless the scalp becomes infected. Medicated shampoos are the most commonly used treatment, though patients may need to try several types to find the one which best manages their condition.

To learn more about the treatment of dandruff contact your dermatologist, or call us at Eastside Dermatology - (313) 884-3380.

ULS softball team edges Detroit King

On paper, it looked like a mismatch, but on the field it was anything but.

Last weekend, University Liggett School's softball team met Detroit King in a non-league game and the Division IV Knights defeated the Division I Crusaders 6-5.

ULS overcame a 4-1 deficit to win the game with a pair of runs in the top of the seventh inning that snapped a 4-4 tie.

Kelly King singled with one out in the seventh inning and came around to score on Katie Andreovich's double. Andreovich then came in with what turned out to be the deciding run on Melissa Kruszyna's single.

The Crusaders scored an unearned run in the bottom of the seventh, but the Knights prevented further damage.

ULS opened the scoring in the third inning. King hit a two-out single, stole second and scored on Andreovich's single.

Three singles and an error produced a pair of runs for King in the bottom of the third and the Crusaders added two more unearned runs in the fourth to increase their lead to 4-1.

ULS closed the margin to two in the fifth when Laura Ralstrom drew a leadoff walk and scored on Julie Borushko's double.

The Knights tied the game in the sixth. Singles by Kruszyna and Alex Houghtalin around a walk to winning pitcher Lavin Morgan loaded the bases. Ralstrom then hit a two-run single to make it 4-4.

Harper Woods' girls softball team improved to 2-0 in the Metro Conference last weekend, beating host Lutheran Westland 12-0.

Sophomore Maria Mahon gave up only four hits in the five-inning mercy-rule game.

"Maria pitched pretty well, and our offense scored some runs for her," head coach Carol Arthmire said. "It was nice to finally play a game after the snow canceled our other games."

Junior Jade King hit her second home run of the season and added a single and triple, to lead the offense. Sophomore Sally Smolinski also had three hits.

"I wish we would have played more than two games because of the inexperienced girls need to play," Arthmire said. "We will have to make up the games after the break, which will make for some busy weeks."

Baseball

Harper Woods' boys baseball team couldn't repeat the softball squads performance against Lutheran Westland.

Head coach DeAndre Cooper and his Pioneers lost 6-4 as his players combined to strike out 14 times.

"We faced a pretty good pitcher, but our kids played pretty well," Cooper said. "We had a couple of errors that killed us."

Sophomore James Slago suffered the loss, while junior Jesus Melendez (2-for-3) had a two-run double.

Soccer

The Harper Woods' girls soccer team opened its season last weekend, losing 10-0 to University Liggett School.

"We played pretty well in the first half, trailing 3-0," head coach Nicole Safina said. "The girls tired out in the second half, playing a very good Liggett team. It was a tough season opener for us."

"Rob ran a very smart race," Quinn said of Matouk. "That is what a captain is supposed to do for a team."

Saffron and Kotwick were 1-2 in the pole vault, while Klein tied for first in the high jump.

Kwiatkowski was second in both hurdles races. Other seconds came from Bremer (800), Cross (3,200), Kotwick (long jump), Mancik (shot put) and Channel (discus).

Kotwick and Channel both had PRs.

North also had some fine performances in the Macomb County Indoor Championships at Macomb Community College.

Dyle earned a fifth-place medal in the 600 run. Bailiff had good performances in the 55 and 300 dashes. Matouk had a PR in the mile and Cross had a PR in the two-mile run.

North also had a good effort from the 3,200 relay team of Smyly, Bremer, Secord and Lanseidel.

a .417 batting average and a .538 on-base percentage in the six contests.

Sophomore Andrea Ligotti tossed a one-hitter against Armada, while Nemitz no-hit Lutheran North, and Whaley limited Richmond to two singles.

"Shutting down Ladywood in the doubleheader was a great way to start the league schedule," Laffey said. "We have a couple of huge doubleheaders (they were played on April 14 and 15), but I think the girls are ready."

The Regina softball team is 2-0 in the Catholic League Central Division and 5-1 overall.

Coming up for the Saddlelites is a home doubleheader on Tuesday, April 29, against Birmingham Marian.

Soccer

The Regina soccer team lost 3-0 to host Livonia Ladywood last weekend, falling to 2-2 overall.

"It was back and forth for the most part, but Ladywood made the most of its opportunities, and we did not," head coach Matt Naidow said. "Our kids weren't mentally into the game."

Kelly Parente, Bridgette Gibson, Ashley Mellor, Nicole Benson and Chrissy Henderson were standouts, according to Naidow.

Next for the Saddlelites are their first two home games on Tuesday, April 29, and Thursday, May 1, against Allen Park Cabrini and Riverview Gabriel Richard.

Track

Regina's track and field team placed fifth out of six squads in last weekend's Grosse Pointe North Relays.

"I was pleased with our performances," head coach Gregg Golden said. "It had been a while since our girls competed in a meet, and overall the girls ran well."

The shuttle hurdle relay team of Anna Czojowski, Laura Simpson, Emi Delmotte and Ashley Couture earned a silver medal, as did the 400-meter relay squad of Sara DeMari, Ginika Brown, Elisa Viviani and Lauren Manuzak.

The 800-meter relay quartet of Anita Blundt, DeMars Brown and Manuzak captured a bronze medal, while the long jump relay trio of Manuzak, Gina Shermaterra and Kiki Barkovic won a bronze medal.

The Saddlelites' final medal-winning relay came in the shot put as Jade Savage, Rhonda Crittle and Anita Grolson earned a bronze.

The host Norsemen won the relay meet.

"We have to endure another week break before resuming our schedule during the final week of April," Golden said. "Every team will have a very busy month of May."

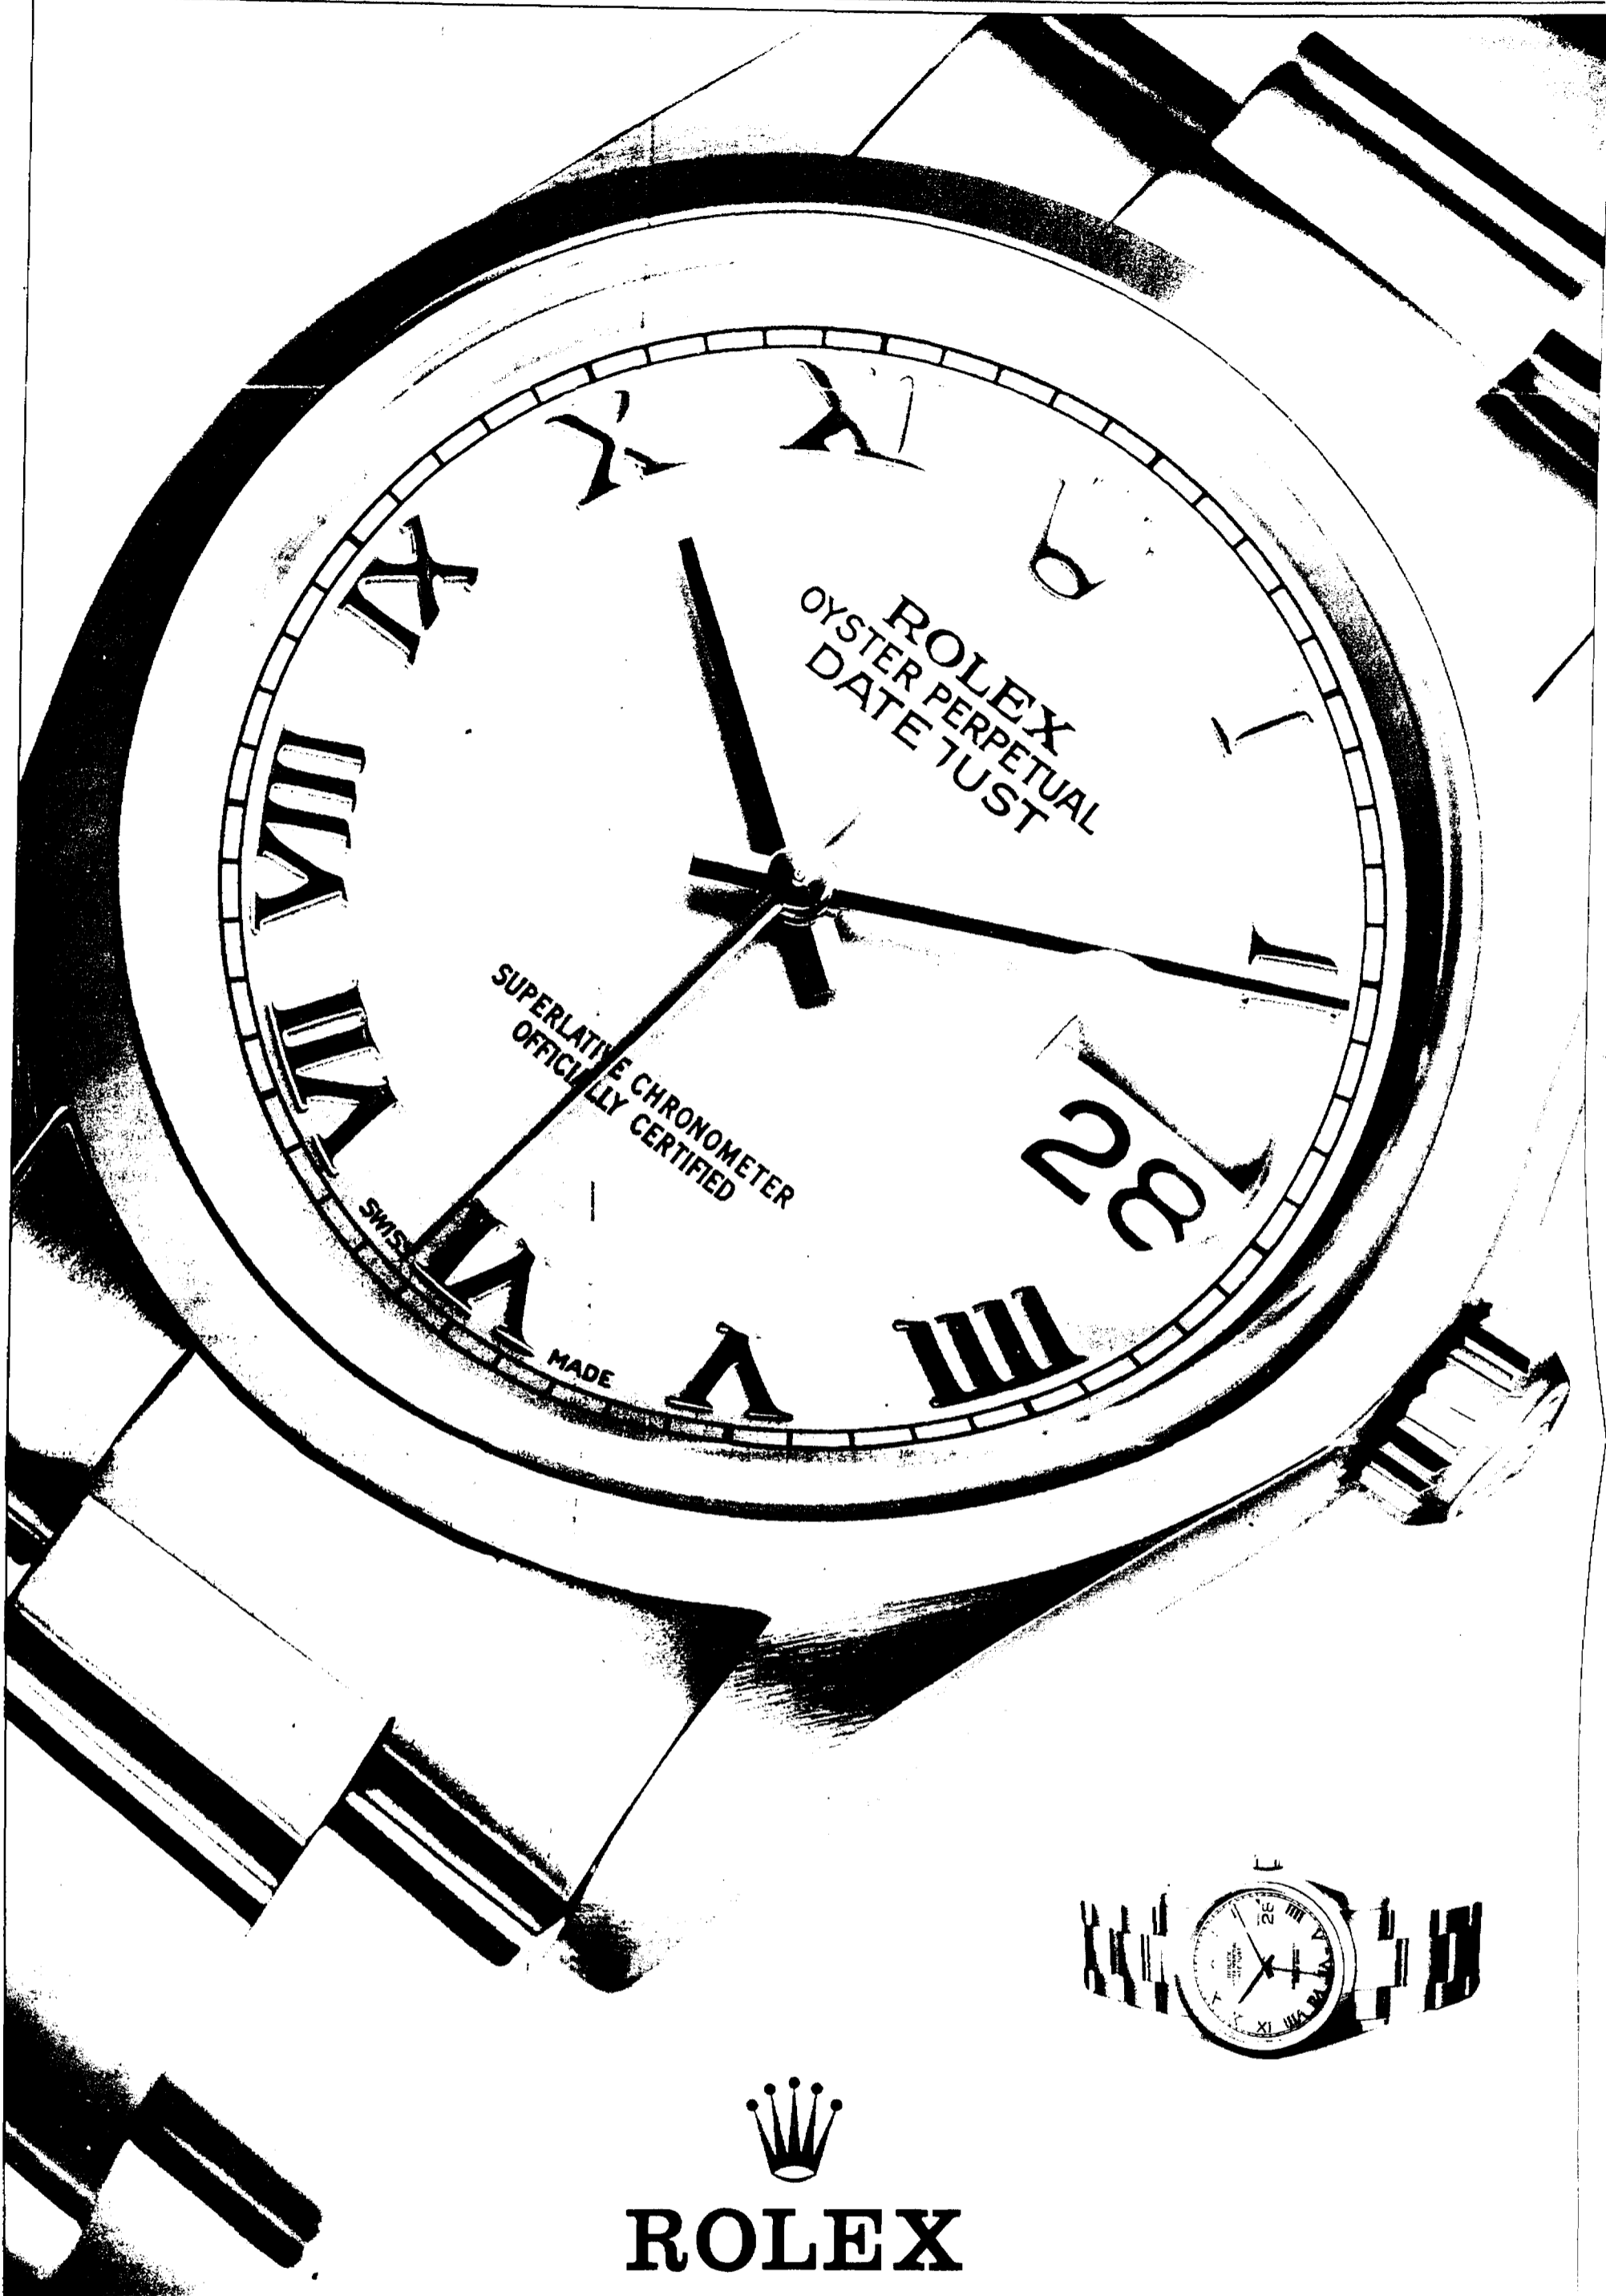

The Regina track team will run at Livonia Ladywood on Wednesday, April 30, in its next competition.

Golf

The Regina golf team finished in the middle of the pack in the Brighton and Flint Powers invitationals last weekend.

Senior Josie Artymovich was the Saddlelites' top golfer in each tournament, finishing ninth at Brighton with an 81 and second at Flint Powers with an 86.

"The girls will be able to get in several rounds of golf during the next week then we have the break," head coach Bob Artymovich said. "We're aiming to do well in the Catholic League, and playing in these tournaments helps our girls."
