Firebombing suspect arraigned

By Kathy Ryan
 Staff Writer

GROSSE POINTE PARK — Charles Patterson Kay, 20, was arraigned on arson charges related to the firebombing of a house in the 700 block of Whittier Friday, May 17.

Kay, a Park resident, is being charged with arson second degree, sending an explosive with intent of causing damage and possession of a Molotov cocktail. The first two charges carry a sentence of 20 years in prison if convicted; the third, a sentence of four years.

A preliminary examination is set at 9 a.m. Wednesday, May 29.

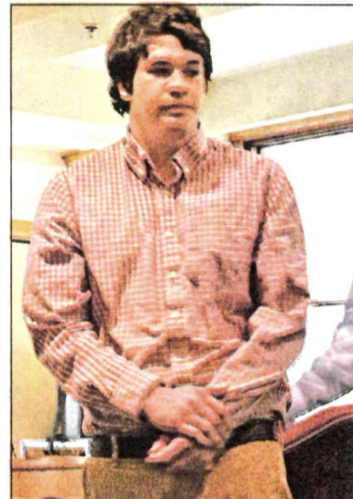

Other than acknowledging he understood the charges against him, Kay remained silent at his arraignment.

Kay's attorney, Charles Berschback, asked the court to grant a reasonable bond, citing the fact his client is a resident, his family resides here and it is likely he will return to court.

Berschback acknowledged his client was on probation for a minor in possession charge out of Grosse Pointe Farms, had a history of treatment by a psychiatrist and takes medication for attention deficit disorder and depres-

Murder on Wayburn

By Kathy Ryan
 Staff Writer

GROSSE POINTE PARK — Police are declining to comment on a report they have taken a Grosse Pointe Park resident into custody in connection with last week's murder of Sabrina Gianino.

According to a source, who requested anonymity because they weren't authorized to speak about the case, a neighbor of Gianino's was taken into custody over the weekend. The Wayburn resident, described as being in his late teens or early 20s, was reportedly in possession of several items taken from the flat Gianino shared with her boyfriend.

Gianino's body was discovered by her boyfriend when he returned to the flat shortly after midnight Thursday, May 16. He called police, who labeled her death as "suspicious." Her death was ruled a homicide by the Wayne County Medical Examiner following an autopsy. The cause of death was strangulation.

Gianino, 35, was the head receptionist at Platz Animal Hospital on Mack. A fundraiser was held Tuesday at Marge's Bar to help defray the costs of services for Gianino.

Court dismisses Park case

By Kathy Ryan
 Staff Writer

A motion to dismiss a lawsuit filed against Grosse Pointe Park alleging violations of the state's Open Meetings Act has been granted by Wayne County Circuit Judge John H. Gillis Jr.

This effectively dismisses the lawsuit brought by Park resident Robert Payne. The suit alleged Grosse Pointe Park officials bought and sold several properties in private without the authorization of the full city council.

In all, Payne alleged 43 real estate transactions, totaling $3.3 million, were not done in compliance with the Open Meetings Act.

Grosse Pointe Park filed a motion to dismiss the lawsuit in March, and the decision to "dis-

CITY OF GROSSE POINTE — Next fiscal year's city budget, previewed last week at a public hearing, passed the council Monday, May 20, by unanimous vote.

The budget for fiscal year 2013-14, beginning July 1, remains the same as previewed during the City of Grosse Pointe council's public hearing Monday, May 13.

The council also maintained the operating and solid waste millages the same at 11.8391 mills and 1.7755 mills, respectively, and reduced the debt service to .6989 mills, a .0394 mill reduction, according to Kim Kleinow, finance director.

Memorial Day ceremonies set

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial honors service men and women during a free 10 a.m. Monday, May 27, service on the lake side lawn with the Selfridge Honor Guard. Selfridge Air National Guard Base Col. Victoria Reardon, Michigan Joint Forces Headquarters Staff Judge Advocate, gives the keynote address.

Reardon is the senior attorney (judge advocate) for the air component. During her active duty career and as a member of the Air National Guard, Reardon has deployed in the war effort contingency operations in support of the conflicts in Afghanistan and Iraq and has provided legal advice to senior commanders and soldiers. She has traveled to remote global locations providing direct support for non-traditional multinational operations and rule of law mission engagements to champion national security and foreign policy objectives, provide professional legal education and training to international military officers and civilian government officials.

Music will be provided by The Forum Shoppers, Joe Armijo, Dave Pas, Harrison Krasner, Heather Albrecht and the Pierce Middle School students and bagpiper Mary Beth Nicholson.

Grosse Pointe Farms Mayor James C. Farquhar presents the Gold Star honor roll.

Veterans of all wars are honored, specifically Grosse Pointers involved in World War II, Korea, Vietnam, Iraq and Afghanistan conflicts.

A bell is tolled for those who died in conflict along with a rifle salute by the V.F.W. Bruce Post 1146 ritual firing team. "Taps" are played and the Selfridge Honor Guard advance, place and retire the colors.

A memorial labyrinth will be on the back lawn which the community can visit after the service. From a distance, the labyrinth appears to be an American flag, lined with bags of red, white and blue and stars.

Participants can write an intention, the name of a veteran or active duty person to carry through the meditative walk and place in a helmet at the center for a ceremonial burning when the event concludes.

Norma Housey constructed the labyrinth. Her daughter is a U.S. Air Force officer. Ed Lazar's State Farm insurance agency sponsors the labyrinth. He is a War Memorial board member and his son is a U.S. Army combat medic with the 82nd Airborne.

Groups participating in the morning events include the Selfridge Honor Guard, Grosse Pointe American Legion Post 303, Knights of Columbus 1795, VFW Bruce Post 1146, Boy Scout troops 86 and 96, Junior Girl Scout troops 70426 and 75082, Daughters of the American Revolution Louisa St. Clair chapter and the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Veterans Club.

Woods remembers

All are invited to the annual Memorial Day observance, Monday, May 27, at the Grosse Pointe Woods Circle of Honor at Vernier and Mack Avenue where those who served our country are remembered and honored. The ceremony begins at 10 a.m.

Veterans and active duty service members are encouraged to attend and asked to wear all or part of their uniforms. A group photo will be taken following the ceremony.

This is the 31st year the Woods Historical Commission has sponsored the event. This year's keynote speaker will be U.S. Marine Corps

Major Mat Pheffer. The Rev. Matthew Swiatek of Crosspointe Christian Church offers the invocation. The flag will be raised by local scout troops and the Anchor Bay High School Air Force Junior ROTC color guard. The program also includes music from Montie Elementary School students and the annual appearance of Gentlemen of Swing. The program concludes with a cannon salute and "Taps."

In the event of inclement weather, the program will be moved to Parcels Middle School auditorium.

A law by which to live

GROSSE POINTE WOODS — It's a spring tradition people can live with, literally.

Grosse Pointe Woods public safety director Andrew Pazuchowski has announced that once again his officers are participating in the annual Click It or Ticket campaign that promotes seat belt use and the use of child safety seats.

Michigan law requires all drivers, front seat passengers and passengers 15 years and younger in any seat in the vehicle to use a seat belt. Children must be in a car seat or booster seat until they are 8 years old or 4 feet, 9 inches tall, whichever comes first.

Click It or Ticket is a national campaign, with more than 200 Michigan law enforcement agencies participating. The official campaign began Monday, May 20, and continues through Sunday, June 2.

"This is the fifth year we have participated," Pazuchowski said. "This allows the city to put extra officers on the street using funds provided by the state from federal traffic safety funds. We are proud to participate in this program."

Pazuchowski said data from the Michigan State Police show that 367 of the people who died in traffic crashes in Michigan were not wearing seat belts.

"We know seatbelts save lives, and this campaign gives us the opportunity to both educate the public and make sure they comply with the laws."

Pazuchowski also reminds motorists while the Click It or Ticket campaign runs through June 2, seat belt enforcement is something his officers focus on all year round.

Cameras will protect public, officers

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

CITY OF GROSSE POINTE — The latest thing in public safety fashion is a body camera.

City of Grosse Pointe officers are getting six cameras purchased with aid of grant money. "Cameras will be worn by officers and record incidents that are outside the view of in-car cameras, thus reducing liability as well as providing evidence in prosecutions," said Stephen Poloni, public safety director. Some 90 percent of the $5,511.70 cost is being paid by a Byrne Justice Assistance Grant obtained in conjunction with the Michigan State Police.

The city's obligation is $551.17.

"The rest will be reimbursed by the state," Poloni said. "The city would pay the entire invoice price utilizing drug forfeiture funds and then be reimbursed 90 percent of the expense."

Body cameras also could serve as backup to in-car cameras.

"In case one becomes inoperable, this can easily be mounted on the dash to replace the defective camera," Poloni said.

Neff Park ready for summer

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

CITY OF GROSSE POINTE — The Norbs municipal swim team isn't named after a type of penguin, as some team members from seasons past speculated due to the squad's penguin logo.

Rather, the Norbs honor Norbert Neff, a late and longtime City of Grosse Pointe manager for whom the lakeside municipal park also is named on donated land below Jefferson at Lakeland.

Park hours are 6 to 11 p.m. daily through Oct. 31.

Numerous improvements to the park over the years, including the playscape, pool office, marina and pavilion, were accomplished without detracting from the facility's dual roles as a quiet hideaway and recreation center.

"Even though it has been more challenging this year with reduced staff, the staff we have has really stepped up," said Christopher Hardenbrook, park director. "They have pride in the appearance of the park."

Pools

Swimming and wading pools open at 10 a.m. Saturday, May 25.

Pool hours through June 13 are 4 to 8 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays, 4 to 9 p.m. Fridays, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturdays, and 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Sundays.

Hours expand June 14 through Sept. 2: noon to 9 p.m. weekdays and 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. weekends, with extended hours closing at 9 p.m. on Memorial, Independence and Labor days.

Early morning swim through June 13 is 6 to 10 a.m. Monday through Friday, 6 to 8 a.m. Saturdays and 8 to 10 a.m. Sundays. Hours June 13 through Sept. 2 are 6 a.m. to 8 a.m. Mondays through Saturdays, and 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. Sundays.

The park is for residents and their guests. A park pass must be shown upon entry.

Call the park office at (313) 343-5257 for a pass application and schedule of the next photograph session.

Marina

The municipal marina has 160 slips. Some wells are designated for personal watercraft.

Dredging is scheduled to start this week.

"They're going to bring in a larger barge instead of making multiple trips with a smaller barge," Hardenbrook said. "It's going to take a lot less time. They're going to do three trips."

Members of the Grosse Pointe Boat Club, based at the park, organize sailboat races at 7 p.m. Wednesdays during June through August.

Additional social activities include overnight boating trips, a lobster boil, steak roast and chili cook-off.

Events & classes

Special events at the park this year are:

- ◆ Camp Norbert P. Neff, a $40 per-family overnight stay Friday-Saturday, Aug. 2-3. Activities include arts and crafts, an outdoor movie, campfire and pancake breakfast. Register beginning Monday, July 8.
- ◆ Fall Harvest, 3 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 28, with petting zoo, pony rides, hot dog roast and mechanical bull.

Numerous classes and programs offered by the recreation department include, but are not limited to, babysitter training, lifeguard training, swimming lessons, water aerobics, aquatics, diving, synchronized swimming and kayak rentals.

Again this year, tennis lessons at Elworthy Field

Pier Park summer preview

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

GROSSE POINTE FARMS — There's a new outlook this summer at Pier Park, literally.

The George Gerow observation deck, completed late last year, lets visitors scan upper Lake St. Clair from atop the park's northeast break-wall, about halfway between the tennis courts and gazebo.

The 14-by-23 foot viewing and fishing deck was funded by the Grosse Pointe Farms Boat Club and named after its late and longest continuous member.

At 17.5-acres, the residents-only park has a landscaped picnic area, two swimming pools, bath houses, the Pointes' last remaining beach, a marina with raised observation deck, a community center and more.

Pools

Park hours are 6 a.m. to midnight through Oct. 1, and 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Nov. 1 through April 30.

Main pool hours are noon to 9 p.m. Saturday, May 25 through June 15. Hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. June 16 through Sept. 2, and tailored to weather conditions thereafter through Sept. 8.

Hours for the wading pool and splash playground are noon to 6 p.m. Saturday, May 25 through June 15.

Hours are 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. June 16 through Sept. 2, with adjustments to weather conditions thereafter through Sept. 8.

Passes

Entry to the resident-only park is by pass.

Park passes are issued to residents age 8 and older.

Obtain park pass applications at:

- ◆ city hall, 90 Kerby,
- ◆ the park recreation office at the foot of Moross or
- ◆ download online at grossepointefarms.org.

Programs

Summer recreation programs include yoga, aerobics, earlybird lap swimming, water aerobics, arts and crafts, synchronized swimming and more.

"The biggest thing this year is the new website," said Dick Huhn, parks and recreation director. "People can register and pay for certain programs online."

Registration for swimming lessons starts Saturday, June 8, for the first session starting June 17.

Registration for second and third sessions start June 8 and July 20, respectively.

Lessons last two weeks and cost $50 per child.

Separate lessons are for parents and tots ages 1 1/2 to 3 years old, plus a five-level program for beginners ages 4 and older.

Tennis lessons are taught in multiple divisions, stage one through advanced, beginning June 17.

Barracudas

The Barracudas municipal swim team, typically 200 strong, seeks to repeat this year as champions of the Lakefront Swimming Association.

Team memberships are open to youth ages 6 to 17, cost $135 each and $90 for each additional swimmer in a family.

The registration deadline is Friday, May 24.

Meets are at 5:30 p.m. Wednesdays, unless otherwise noted:

- ◆ June 19, at Grosse Pointe Woods,
- ◆ 10 a.m. Saturday, June 22, relay at St. Clair Shores,
- ◆ June 26, home against Grosse Pointe Park,
- ◆ July 3, at City of Grosse Pointe,
- ◆ July 10, hosting St. Clair Shores,
- ◆ July 17, hosting Grosse Pointe Shores,
- ◆ Tuesday, July 23, time to be determined, championship prelims at Grosse Pointe South High School,
- ◆ 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 24, championship finals at Grosse Pointe South High School.

For more information about the Barracudas, e-mail the recreation office at swimteam@grossepointefarms.org.

Amenities

Additional amenities at the park are a splash pad, boat lift, kayak racks, personal watercraft docks, basketball court that becomes an ice skating rink in winter, paddle tennis courts, cooling building, shuffleboard courts, sand volleyball court, snack shop with grill, picnic tables, individual grills, observation deck, pavilion, fishing pier, rain garden and more.

"The thing people will notice first is enhanced aesthetics of the facility," Huhn said.

Most buildings are coordinated architecturally.

The facade of the pump station, which is located next to shuffleboard courts and directs lake water to the filtration plant, was renovated this spring to a Colonial style.

Members of the Grosse Pointe Farms Foundation paid the cost.

"The foundation wants to make things look right," Huhn said.

In the marina, park staff are helping boaters deal with low lake levels.

"Getting down to boats can be a little challenging, but we're making ladders available to boaters who need one," Huhn said. "From Feb. 12 through last week, the lake was up about 15 inches. We thought we might have to do some dredging, but now it doesn't look like we'll have to."

Sail races

The boat club also sponsors sailboat races. The start-finish line is off the outer pier.

Races start at 7 p.m. on most Thursdays, May 30 through Sept. 5, with time off in July for the race from Port Huron to Mackinac Island.

The most well-attended event of summer is the July 4 weekend regatta, with games, fireworks and concerts.

A major single-day event is the Grosse Pointe Farms-City Family Fishing Rodeo.

"This will be its 65th year," said Dick Graves, event organizer and Farms resident. "It's still the largest and oldest children event in Grosse Pointe. We expect it to be bigger and better than last year."

From the time last year's rodeo ended, Graves has been obtaining prizes for this year's edition.

"Everything's going really well," he said. "The merchants have been very generous. We have huge prizes. The average prize is worth around $30. Every child gets one."

Summer calendar highlights include:

- ◆ fireworks during the regatta, dusk Saturday, June 29;
- ◆ ice cream social, 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 3, and
- ◆ family campout, Friday and Saturday, Aug. 23-24, $10 per person.

Park office hours are 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. through Oct. 31, and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Nov. 1 through April 30.

Osius Park opens this week

GROSSE POINTE SHORES — It takes more to prepare the municipal swimming pool for summer than filling it with water and diving in.

"The public works staff has to drain the pool, clean the pool, caulk the pool, paint the pool and inspect the pool," said Brett Smith, Grosse Pointe Shores public works director. "Then, we get to put the water in."

Shores residents and their guests can test the waters when main and wading pools at the 8.3-acre Osius Park open for the season at 4 p.m. Friday, May 24.

Limited pool hours through June 19 are:

- ◆ 4 p.m. to dusk, weekdays and
- ◆ 10 a.m. to dusk weekends.

Regular hours thereafter are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily.

Admission to the park is by resident-only pass.

Apply for passes at city hall, 765 Lakeshore, or download an application at gpshoresmi.com.

Lessons

Activities provided by the recreation department include two sessions each of swimming and tennis lessons:

◆ June registration starts at 4 p.m. Monday, June 10, at the pool office. Lessons begin Monday, June 17;

◆ July registration for swimming and tennis lessons starts at 4 p.m. Monday, July 1, at the pool office. Lessons begin Monday, June 8.

Sharks

The Sharks municipal swim team competes in six meets this year in the Lakefront Swimming Association, plus finals.

Last year, the team's 110 members, ages 5 to 17, earned a 3-2 record.

"We had a pretty good year," said John Fodel, swim coach. "We hope to draw big crowds this year."

Meets are at 5:30 p.m. Wednesdays, unless indicated otherwise:

◆ June 19, home against the City of Grosse Pointe,

◆ 10 a.m. Saturday, June 22, away relay meet at Grosse Pointe Woods,

◆ June 26, hosting Grosse Pointe Woods,

◆ July 3, away against St. Clair Shores,

Deer me

A couple of deer are the latest wildlife reported in the Grosse Pointes. Two were seen recently in the Shores before roaming into the Farms Wednesday, May 8, in the area of Madison and Webster. "We've been chasing deer," said Lt. Andrew Rogers of the Farms public safety department. Officers contacted the state natural resources department for advice what to do. "They said to let them be, so we're letting them be," Rogers said. The animals appear young and relatively trusting. "You can get within feet of them," Rogers said. "They were last seen at Moran and Chalfonte. A guy was walking his dog and the deer were following him 30 feet back."

Coyote, foxes and deer, oh my!

By Kathy Ryan

No, your eyes are not deceiving you. If you live in Grosse Pointe Woods and think you're seeing deer in your backyard, you probably are.

Residents on Vernier recently saw two deer moving through backyards, and Woods code enforcement officer Debbie Reed said if there are two, there are probably more.

"They won't hurt anyone, but residents have to remember that they are wild animals," she said. "We're not sure where they are coming from, but we suspect they are moving down from the area around Metropolitan Beach."

Reed explained that they are probably simply looking for food, and advises residents not to leave out any food, though that might not be easy with so many residents planting spring and summer plants.

"If you see them, try to scare them away by banging pots and pans or making other kinds of loud noises," she said. She also warned against planning a venison dinner.

"You are absolutely forbidden from shooting them," she said. "The Department of Natural Resources advises that they are a protected species, so don't even think of shooting them."

Reed also advises against using a bow and arrow, citing the case of a Warren resident who was convicted by the Department of Natural Resource with killing a deer with a bow and arrow outside of bow season.

Reed also said that Mother Nature bears some of the blame in the deer population moving south into residential areas.

"We have had relatively mild winters, so many species are surviving the winter when in years past they would not have survived the colder temperatures," she said.

Wildlife is nothing new in the Woods. A few years ago, coyotes were common sights, but now they appear to have been replaced the past few years with foxes.

"I had a call from a postal worker who saw one on a front porch as he was delivering mail," she said. "By the time I got there, it had moved from the porch into the bushes and was nowhere to be found."

Reed advises anyone who sees deer to call her at (313) 343-3400.

Bloodshot

A 39-year-old Southfield woman, slurring her speech and looking through "half closed, bloodshot eyes," claimed not to see the red light she ran on eastbound Mack at Cadieux, according to a public safety officer questioning the woman during a roadside investigation at 3 a.m. Saturday, May 18.

The officer arrested her for drunken driving.

She had a .17 percent blood alcohol level, police said.

Two hit

An estimated 40 employees of Beaumont Hospital Grosse Pointe responded when a motorist reportedly hit two elderly pedestrians near the main entrance of the hospital shortly after 4:30 p.m. Thursday, May 16, according to police.

The victims were a man, 80, and woman, 79, from New Baltimore, police said.

The driver was a 62-year-old Warren woman, police said.

Some story

Police arrested a 25-year-old Detroit woman about 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 15, for stealing a $700 iPhone belonging to a 22-year-old Grosse Pointe Farms woman.

"I was going to turn it into the police department," the suspect reportedly told officers.

The theft occurred at a store in the 17100 block of Kercheval in the Village, according to police, citing the victim's statement and a review of the store security video.

Officers traced the phone to the suspect waiting for a bus at Nine Mile and Harper in St. Clair Shores.

"(I and a detective) confirmed (the) suspect was the same person in the (store) video," said a City officer.

A bad rap

Disruptive behavior didn't help a 22-year-old Clinton Township man, arrested at 7:26 a.m. Saturday, May 18, for shoplifting coffee and potato chips at the service station on Mack and Moross.

"(He) started yelling and swearing at (a female clerk) while opening and slamming shut the exterior door," a witness told police.

A male clerk approached the man.

"(The man) started to rap about beating up (the male employee) and burning down the building," said a public safety officer. "(He) started to throw newspapers all around the business, then turned around and left."

Police caught him across Mack at Pointe Plaza in Detroit.

They charged him with retail fraud and disorderly conduct.

Kicked out

All road officers responded a few minutes before 7:30 p.m. Thursday, May 16, to a report of two men kicking in the door of a house on the first block of Moross, near Kercheval.

Investigators cataloged the incident as family trouble involving a 46-year-old female resident evicting a 33-year-old man.

Despite initial arrests of the man, plus two additional men that the woman asked to stand by during the eviction, all were released.

Drugs

The jaywalking investigation of a 17-year-old Grosse Pointe Park man at 4:07 p.m. on Kercheval near Mapleton resulted in his arrest for possession of narcotics paraphernalia and 7.7 grams of marijuana.

Dog bitten

During the early evening of Tuesday, May 14, a male miniature poodle owned by a resident of Rose Terrace was bitten on the right rear leg by a neighbor's large female mutt, the poodle's owner reportedly told police.

Veterinary bills totaled $194, according to the complainant.

Bike stolen

A blue Fugi Sagres bicycle belonging to a 15-year-old Grosse Pointe Park boy was stolen during the afternoon or night of Monday, May 13, while locked to a rack in the S Lot of Grosse Pointe South High School.

Burglary

Unknown burglars stole two handguns and a $17,000 piece of jewelry last week from a house in the 400 block of Bournemouthe.

The crime occurred between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Monday, May 13, according to the victims.

Entry was through an open southeast window, according to investigators.

"Suspects ransacked the main bedroom," said an officer. "(They) fled through the back door in an unknown direction."

Taken were a .22-caliber Smith & Wesson pistol, a .38-caliber Colt revolver and a gold chain with a green emerald and 18 small diamonds, victims reported.

"The guns were in a cabinet," said an officer. "Jewelry was taken from a drawer of a dresser."

Video evidence

Police have a lead on the theft of an unattended $500 iPad that a 58-year-old Farms woman left behind at a store on Kercheval on the Hill between 2 and 3:15 p.m. Saturday, May 11.

"(The manager said) the perps may have been caught on store video," said an officer.

One and done

Woods public safety officers were called to Grosse Pointe North High School three times during a three-hour open gym night Wednesday, May 15. The first call came to assist school officials with removing a student who had been ordered not to be on school property after 3:30 p.m.

Police returned about an hour later after neighbors reported a fight in the parking lot, but police did not find anything. The third call came shortly before 9 p.m. when school officials requested help in clearing the gym. At that time, police took a report on a stolen cell phone.

The phone was later recovered from a student from another school, who had attended the open gym.

Due to problems, police and school staff agreed the open gym concept was not going to work and future open gyms have been canceled.

OUR VIEW

Great events fire up spring and summer season

We know Spring is here. Last weekend featured a couple of sure signs with the Paint the Window event in the Village, the Great Lakes Boating Festival at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club and the Hot Cars & Hot Cakes show at the VFW Bruce Post in St. Clair Shores.

First, the Paint the Window Contest included a record 190 young artists. What great participation. The event was sponsored by The City of Grosse Pointe Foundation, The Village Toy Company, Print Xpress, Rainy Day Art Supply, Bill Rands, Hala Besmar and the City of Grosse Pointe.

It's wonderful to celebrate the artistic abilities of the local children. The Grosse Pointe News is proud to celebrate more art, with our Kids Ads which will be featured in next week's paper. Elementary school students produce ads for our advertisers in the annual section. They do a great job, so please watch for that in our next issue.

The Great Lakes Boating Festival had perfect weather last weekend. Dozens of vendors take part in the event that really shows off the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, which was open to the public during the weekend.

We were proud sponsors, along with Don Gooley Cadillac, Edmund t. AHEE jewelers, Sterling Insurance Group, Fifth Third Bank, Munder and Stefek's. Boston Whaler, Colony Marine and Ray Laethem Motor Village sponsored a raffle for a 2013 Boston Whaler.

Attendance was great for the event. There are few settings better in the world.

The boat festival was the second-largest event coming to the club. On July 6-14, the GPYC will host the U.S. Optimist Dinghy Association National Championships.

More than 400 sailors and their families will visit Grosse Pointe for the event. The Grosse Pointe News is proud to be a partner in what will be a huge event to showcase everything the Grosse Pointes and surrounding area has to offer.

We'll just need some more perfect weather.

The Hot Rods & Hot Cakes event was a benefit for Vietnam veterans. Featured with dozens of great cars was the Michigan Vietnam Veterans Traveling Wall. The wall, with the names of more than 2,600 Michigan soldiers killed in Vietnam, was a great piece of history to view and learn about. The wall makes its way around the state and is worth spending time viewing if you get the chance.

The Bruce Post of the VFW and Shorewood Kiwanis put on a great event. And Randy Pullin deserves kudos for his hard work.

Follow us

The last week has given the Grosse Pointes news that isn't typical for our cities and not fun to report. Stories of the murder of a 35-year-old resident of Grosse Pointe Park and the firebombing of a waterfront Grosse Pointe house were on grossepointenews.com as breaking stories, including Sunday's arraignment of the Park resident charged with the firebombing.

We also tweeted information about updates. Join us on Twitter, @GPNEWSpaper. The Grosse Pointe News also tweeted scores from different athletic events for Grosse Pointe North, Grosse Pointe South and University Liggett.

Prayers

Finally, the images from Oklahoma once again put into perspective what's important in life and how things can change in a minute. Our heartfelt thoughts, prayers and support go to those affected by this incredible disaster.

Alive with color

To the Editor:

On behalf of the Grosse Pointe Village Downtown Development Authority, I wish to thank all those involved in the 2013 Paint The Window Contest.

Each year The Village comes alive with color and creativity as Grosse Pointe elementary school children paint wonderful pictures throughout our shopping district.

A record 190 young, creative artists came to brighten up the Village on a perfect day and the results were outstanding.

We congratulate all of the participants and winners.

A great big thank you goes out to our major sponsor: The City of Grosse Pointe Foundation.

Thank you also to our loyal sponsors: The Village Toy Company, Print Xpress, Rainy Day Art Supply, Mr. Bill Rands, Ms. Hala Besmar, and the City of Grosse Pointe. We could not produce such a great event without their support.

As always, our dedicated volunteers also deserve a big thank you: Terri Berschback, Linda Jensen, the staff of Village Toy Company, Ellie Parks, Stephen Durand, Robert Durand, Danielle Harris, Wendy Jennings, Sue Martin and Mary Anne Becker.

Finally, I wish to thank the entire Grosse Pointe community as you continue to support our Village events with such loyal enthusiasm and heart.

Hunting

To the Editor:

The majority of Michigan's white-tail deer hunters are about to get a big surprise, thanks to a minority of avid and passionate but selfish hunter activists.

Through social and political relationships with those in authority within the Michigan Department of Natural Resources Wildlife Division, they are demanding regulation changes statewide that will enhance their hunting experience at the expense of the majority.

How will they achieve this? They will achieve this by passing regulations that require all hunters practice antler point restrictions. Their goals are to achieve a 3/4 restriction in zones 1 and 2 and a 4/4 restriction for zone 3.

By doing this, they are asking the NRC to put their trophy rooms ahead of our family heritage and hunting traditions.

Also, they are taking away our right to choose how to put venison in our freezers.

The Wildlife Division has stated many times that mandatory antler point restrictions are not needed for biological reasons, and will not improve or enhance the health of the resource.

They also state publicly that the division supports the voluntary implementation of antler point restrictions, but privately, they have been working with these groups to expand these mandatory restrictions statewide.

Additionally, the last MAR's survey in the northwest Lower Peninsula, 12 counties, was fraught with bias toward the sponsoring organization and compromised throughout the process.

They have been successful so far because of what they believe is apathy on the part of the majority of Michigan's average Joe, non-affiliated deer hunters.

I believe "distraction" is a better word. Just because they don't eat, sleep and breathe deer hunting 24/7 and 12 months a year like the pro-MAR's hunters, they are being punished.

Is this fair because their families, faiths, jobs, hobbies and other interests take priority over deer hunting the other 10 or 11 months of the year? I say no!

The decision for the NW 12 county proposal will be made at the next NRC meeting in Lansing on June 13 at the MSU Diagnostic Center, 4125 Beaumont Road.

It is imperative to act now. Voice your disapproval of mandatory antler restrictions by an e-mail to the NRC atwhipped1@michigan.gov or join us in person at the meeting site on June 13 as Michigan SMART Hunters are organizing opposition for this proposal.

For more information, go to our website at michigansmarhunters.com.

Just remember, for these minority groups to succeed, it just takes a majority of good hunters to be silent.

GUEST OPINION By Bill Kalmar

Working for free

Within the next couple of weeks, scores of college and senior high school students on summer vacation will join the work force.

Many will have jobs at summer resorts while others will perhaps work as life guards, waiters and waitresses at restaurants or toil at some of the state's parks. Others will have positions as interns at some prestigious Fortune 500 companies — and that's where I have a problem.

Many of these companies that hire college students as interns do not offer paid internships. The students work 40 hours per week with no pay. Interns provide their own transportation and pay for their own lunches. The premise is students gain an insight to the company with an opportunity to be hired upon graduation although there is no guarantee.

Some argue it is a great experience and the internship provides an excellent resume comment. I say hogwash.

How can companies expect college students who are probably already burdened with debt to work for free? Can't these companies at least offer a minimum wage and partially reimburse the students for their transportation? I think so.

Some colleges require students to participate in unpaid internships for college credit. Double hogwash.

Companies conclude it is a privilege to be assigned an internship for the summer without

The best companies that attract and recruit college graduates usually pay their interns and that is the type of company graduates should send resumes to.

pay. To me, that is a real stretch. Certainly experience in a particular field of endeavor is important but not paying interns borders on exploitation.

I suspect there are companies that review the work experience of college students and use that information in the hiring process. But other companies look at this same information and conclude nothing significant occurred during an unpaid internship and the candidate was nothing more than a gopher.

When considering a company to work for after graduation one should ask, is this a company I want to work for that doesn't even pay interns?

The best companies that attract and recruit college graduates usually pay their interns and that is the type of company graduates should send resumes to.

All in all the workplace environment is complicated and getting one's resume in front of a hiring manager can be a daunting task.

Maybe being an unpaid intern provides one with a "badge of honor" that hiring managers give extra credit to. But in my mind working for free with no guarantee of a full time paying job down the road is a real crap shoot. And I am not a gambler.

Horton hits homer in history

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

DETROIT — Detroit Tigers legend Willie Horton's imprint on Michigan history is likely to outlast the hand prints and signature he made in cement last week at the Detroit Historical Museum.

The casting is being installed this fall in the museum's Legends Plaza on Woodward.

Horton said the ceremony made him more nervous than batting in front of 45,000 fans at Tiger Stadium.

"I feel kind of numb," he said. "This makes about the third time I've done something similar." He never gets used to it.

"Every time I do it, I get chills," he said. "It's a great honor to represent the people. My whole life is my people."

Horton's casting will be the 25th in Legends Plaza.

Others include Horton's teammate Al Kaline, Red Wings greats Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay, the Pistons' Dave Bing and Joe Dumars, boxing champ Thomas Hearns, rock star Alice Cooper and more.

Horton went to high school in Detroit and hit a home run in his 1963 debut with the Tigers.

His accomplishments as a Tigers outfielder, from 1963 to 1977, include helping win the 1968 World Series, were only part of the criteria qualifying him for Legends Plaza.

After a game on the first day of the 1967 riot, Horton left the stadium and, still wearing his uniform, went to the riot zone and pleaded with people to stop the violence.

Bob Bury, executive director and CEO of the Detroit Historical Society and resident of Grosse Pointe Park, said choosing Horton was obvious.

"We focus on people that everyday people can identify with," Bury said. "The connection we like to make is that they've done something of historical significance and continue to be a positive influence and inspiration to the next generation."

batting average of .273. He's now an advisor to the Tigers team president.

The museum reopened last winter with revamped exhibits and free admission.

"We will easily double our attendance this year over previous years," Bury said.

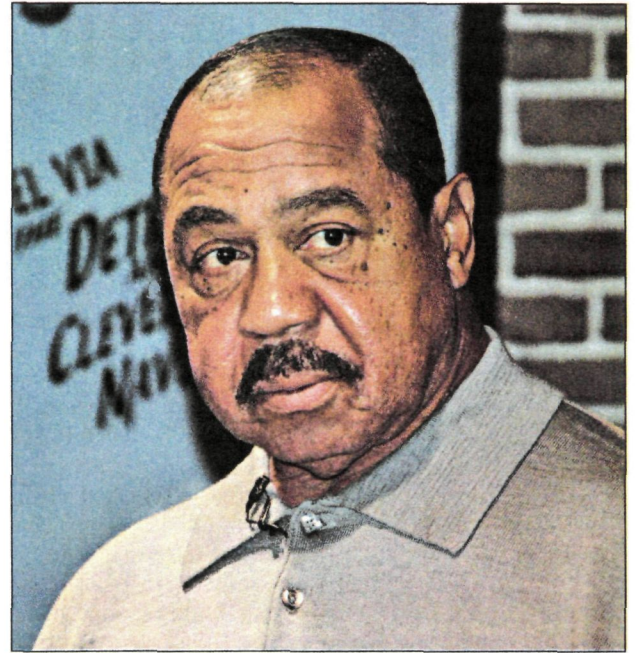

Visitors also are staying longer.

"There's a lot to keep their attention," Bury said. "It helps people understand how this community evolved, especially over the last 100 years. They leave, more times than not, with a positive sense of inspiration that the future is bright as well."

The historical society's Dossin Great Lakes Museum on Belle Isle is undergoing similar renovation. It reopens this spring.

The Detroit Historical Museum is located at 5401 Woodward at West Kirby, kitty-corner to the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Hours are 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday, through Friday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekends. Parking in the museum's gated lot costs $5. For more information, call (313) 833-1805 or visit detroithistorical.org.

Grosse Pointe Park municipal Judge Carl Jarboe set bond at $35,000 cash, and also ordered if Kay did make bond, he would be required to wear an electronic tether, have no contact with the victims and would be prohibited from using alcohol and drugs.

Jarboe said the bond was ordered based on the seriousness of the Grosse Pointe Park police were called to the home of Art Van President Gary Van Elslander at 3:23 a.m. Friday, May 17. It is alleged that Kay threw a Molotov cocktail, which caused fire damage to the house.

The fire was extinguished by family members.

Getting egg-cited about chicks

By A.J. Hakim
Staff Writer

Everyday sounds of a typical kindergarten classroom, the pitter-patter of pencils, the chitter-chattering of voices, may soon give way to sounds of chirps and cheeps and peeps, as students at Mason Elementary School prepare to hatch a clutch of chicks about two weeks from now.

"In 21 days, we will have chickens," teacher Amy Dzapo told the three classes of kindergartners May 15, day one of the project, before placing about two dozen eggs in the classroom incubator, which heats, moistens and rotates the eggs as a mother hen would.

Some hatch, some don't, Dzapo said, but in the 21 days it takes to find out, the kindergartners embark on a collective journey of discovery, using charts and pictures to count down and follow the development of the embryo within the egg.

Students track progress on their own with a daily chick journal, recording the incubator's daily temperatures and any other thoughts or findings.

"And on the 19th day, we candle the eggs," Dzapo said about the process that allows students to determine the fertility of an egg, as well as the growth and development of the embryo. A small blood ring indicates fertility and the potential for a fully developed embryo.

When Dzapo first ran the project two years ago, eight eggs hatched, while last year only three did.

"This is my third year doing it," Dzapo said. "Deb Kraft over at Poupard (Elementary School) does it as well, and when I worked at Poupard, I said if I ever teach kindergarten again, I'm definitely doing this. Because it's just such a cool experience. The kindergarten, all the kindergarten

Board approves layoffs

By A.J. Hakim

A projected 95-student decrease in enrollment at the elementary level, as well as several other factors at all levels, have resulted in the layoff of 10 teachers, as approved by the Grosse Pointe Public School System Board of Education Monday at its May regular meeting.

Retirement, leaves of absences, anticipated number of sections of a particular class and student choice at the high school level were also among the determining factors, in addition to the decreased elementary enrollment.

"This is one piece and is probably one of the most complicated puzzles that we do in this school district," said Jon Dean, deputy superintendent of educational services.

Dean attributed some of the decreased projected enrollment to the district graduating approximately 600 fifth graders, while only bringing in about 430 kindergartners the past two years.

"When we navigate through that, we also tightened up, not reduced services for any of our kids, but made sure to be as lean as possible in our elementary specials environment given our financial situation," Dean said.

Unlike in past years, teacher layoffs were based on evaluations rather than seniority. In July 2011, Gov. Rick Snyder passed a teacher tenure reform bill that required administrators to consider effectiveness over eldership. Board Policy 3131 determines effectiveness through student growth, a teacher's pedagogical skills, management of the classroom and attendance and disciplinary record, among other factors.

All 10 teachers rated effective. "All the people that you'll be taking action on (Monday) are effective teachers determined by

With netbooks, 'sky's the limit'

By A.J. Hakim

It's likely Billy Vogel arrived home after school April 24, settled in next to his preschool-aged brother and read to him.

And it's likely the story Vogel chose for his younger brother was Silly Willy, a short story written by... Billy Vogel.

"It's just a silly story I made," Vogel said. "I got on (Storybird) and I wanted it just to be, I was thinking about what I could do. And so I decided to make a silly one, and I was going to read it to my brother when I got home."

Vogel, a student in Jim Fisher's 4th/5th grade magnet class at Ferry Elementary School, said he created the story in about 30 minutes using Storybird, an online visual storytelling community that allows users to choose from a collection of art and pictures and to write stories inspired by their choices.

He and other students crafted their stories for a writing assignment, one of many assignments this year in which Fisher had them utilizing the classroom netbooks.

Fisher received 25 netbooks and classroom Wi-Fi in the fall through a grant from the Grosse Pointe Foundation for Public Education.

"I can put all areas of the curriculum on the computer," Fisher said of the netbooks, all equipped with Windows XP and built-in Wi-Fi. "Now, I don't have to go to the computer lab once a week anymore, or every other week. It's kind of like, it's like the sky's the limit having these netbooks."

With Storybird, Fisher said, a motivational factor for students is the site's Twitter-like set-up, where anyone outside the classroom can follow students and provide interactive feedback on their stories.

"We can all comment on (students') stories," Fisher said. "Interactive feedback. It's huge. This is one of many programs I'll be doing with my students."

Fisher has also had students write blogs and has integrated the netbooks into grammar lessons, math, reading workshops, science and geography, just a few of what he considers are countless applications for him and his students to help make the classroom more current.

"Hopefully this will keep our classroom current," Fisher said. "Even things like my classroom businesses, now they can do their business cards in class with me instead of going home. Some students don't always have access to a computer at home."

"I'm excited. Things will be faster, more current, more media."

Identity in the digital world

A group of students, all with green personality types, according to the True Colors test, work together to create an amusement park.

By A.J. Hakim
Staff Writer

Members of the Southeast Michigan Diversity Committee of the Association of Independent Michigan Schools discussed "Initiatives in Diversity: Facing and Finding Yourself in a Digital World" during a middle school diversity symposium in April at the Grosse Pointe Academy.

"I really pushed for it to be (at the Academy) because I think the northwest side of the city is more diverse, and I really thought it'd be good if we bring some of it here," Academy diversity coordinator and art teacher Rosi Triano said about the bi-annual event, usually hosted by Sacred Heart.

Sixty-seven students from the Academy, Academy of the Sacred Heart, Eton Academy, The Roper School in Bloomfield Hills and Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook-Kingswood participated.

Assigned to specific groups, students rotated between four breakout sessions, including identity and uniqueness (Kate Vollmayer, upper school teacher; Lauren Busuttill, middle school teacher at Eton Academy), media influences on identity (Sophia Sabas, sophomore at Roper), songs and lyrics and community (Rachel Kovan; Kirsten Drzyzga, students at Cranbrook) and citizenship (Carolyn Lett, diversity coordinator; Carla Young, multicultural director at Cranbrook).

Groups spent about 45 minutes at each session, learning anything from the power of music as a communication tool to advertising and the messages it sends about gender to a personality colors test, a variation of Hippocrates's ancient philosophy of four basic personality traits.

"It's important to be aware of a personality type you might own and knowing that there are different personality types out there, and how you can work better with them, to be a better peer, to be a better friend," said Vollmayer. "It's just one tool, just one strategy that could help them become, like I said, better communicators with others, and also more tolerant of others. Sometimes it's hard for us to accept that not everyone's our color, not everyone is blue."

The diversity symposium is one of several SMDC events, Triano said. One year, members host high school and upper elementary symposiums, and the next year they conduct teacher workshops.

The Association of Independent Michigan Schools is a non-profit organization that works to advance independent education through fostering freedom of choice; collaboration and cooperation; leadership and advocacy.

Students donate hygiene kits

Student council members at Monteith Elementary School in April assembled about 300 hygiene kits of toothbrushes, toothpaste, soap, shampoo, conditioner, mouthwash and other basic necessities for Crossroads East at Salem.

"Each grade level collected for about a month those items, right before (winter) break," said Elizabeth Wang, student council co-advisor. "Then, we had an assembly line — the student council members worked as a team and assembled the personal hygiene kits."

Crossroads East at Salem is one of two Detroit locations for Crossroads of Michigan, an outreach agency providing community support in emergency assistance, advocacy and counseling.

"That was our giving back to the community, helping others," Wang said.

their evaluation," Dean said. "However, at the end of the day, we need fewer teachers next year, particularly at the elementary level and the elementary specialist level, partly because we're having decreased enrollment at the elementary level."

In addition to the teachers, 10 classroom assistants were also approved for layoff, six from the special education grouping and four from general education. Dean said the district typically recalls the majority of special education assistants once Wayne RESA finalizes its Act 18 budget.

The four general education assistants, like teachers, were laid off partly due to projected enrollment figures. Both groups were determined based on seniority, as classroom assistants remained unaffected by the changes to state law.

"This is not an easy thing to do," said Judy Gafa, board treasurer. "I recognize this is generated by the number of students who are enrolled here. I would encourage people to enroll their students. We do always find ourselves, at the end of August, rehiring people as our numbers are more solid. Hopefully we can be able to do that again."

"The sooner we solidify our numbers, the sooner we can solidify our staff," added Joan Dindoffer, board president.

Trustee Cindy Pangborn was the lone dissenting vote for laying off teachers.

"I no longer can agree with the way things are going," she said. "I think we need to take a better look, a different look. We don't have to do everything the state says in the manner they say, and I think we can take a look at some things and see if we can tweak it to reflect some of the values that we have in our school system."

The district laid off 13 teachers last year and 33 two years ago. Many of them were eventually recalled.

Jostens names yearbook a Program of Excellence

University Liggett School's 2013 yearbook staff.

Jostens, a Minneapolis-based company and producer of yearbooks and student-created content, named University Liggett School's yearbook program a 2013 Jostens National Yearbook Program of Excellence. The designation recognizes dynamic school yearbook programs, namely, staffs and advisors who create engaging yearbooks for their school communities.

Liggett's award-winning program is led by students, under the direction of Robert Lyles, the 2012-2013 yearbook teacher and advisor.

"It has been a sincere pleasure mentoring and coaching this wonderfully talented collection of students," Lyle said in a press release. "Each student stepped up in his/her own unique way to accomplish a very difficult yet rewarding task. I am grateful to have been a part of their success."

Jackie Diggs of Grosse Pointe, coverage editor; Andrew Amine of Grosse Pointe Shores, photography and video consultant; Tiana Whitely of Detroit; and Eric Ewing of Harper Woods, Taylor Slayton of Macomb Township, Meg Shannon of Grosse Pointe Farms, Haley Neuenfeldt of Grosse Pointe Woods, Renata Szymanski of Grosse Pointe Woods, Fred Saffold of Detroit and Noah LaMagno of Grosse Pointe Farms as Yearbook Staff.

Jostens awarded Liggett's program for creating an inclusive yearbook, generating school engagement and successfully managing the yearbook creation process.

GP resident assists U-D solar car team

Junior Sean Roarty, of Grosse Pointe Shores, joined five others on U-D Jesuit High School and Academy's Ignatius Ignition team that competed in the Shell Eco-marathon April 4 to 7, in Houston, Texas.

The team finished 24th of 62, averaging 258 miles per gallon in the fuel efficiency competition, consisting of high school and collegiate teams from across North America.

Only half the entries completed the run, which included setting up machines, passing a technical inspection and completing the 10-lap, six-mile course.

It was U-D's first time in the competition.

"We were ecstatic," co-moderator Michael Bindon said in a press release. "One student said, 'It is a miracle.' We had to build and rebuild new street parts in Texas, borrowing tools, bending sheet metal on the end of a pallet to make our car race compatible and pass inspection. It was a great experience."

"The students were very enthusiastic and very dedicated. They take away from this experience an openness that they can make anything they dream up. I would like to see them become entrepreneurs."

Shell's Eco-marathon challenges student teams to design, build and test ultra energy-efficient vehicles, while sparking debate about the future of mobility and inspiring young engineers to push the boundaries of fuel efficiency. Wining teams travel the farthest and use the least amount of energy.

The following students comprised U-D's team: Eric Kelley, of Troy; Romas Sonta, of Troy; PJ Wright, of Taylor; Jacob Byrd, of Orchard Lake; Jonathan Lizardo, of Novi; and Roarty.

Moderators were Bindon and Claudia Foerg.

PASTOR'S CORNER By Roger Skully

No religion is an island*

Recently a new rector, the Rev. Andrew Van Culin, was installed at Christ Church in Grosse Pointe. It was a beautiful and moving service, wonderful music and a spirit of togetherness in the congregation. It reminded me of a short article by Abraham Joshua Heschel.

He was a professor at the Jewish Theological Seminary, a good friend of the great theologian Reinhold Niebuhr and played an important role in Vatican II as a consultant.

In fact, when he died, the Catholic magazine, "America," devoted an entire issue to his memory. This was testimony to his influence in the religious world. This is what Heschel said about religion.

"No religion is an island. We are all involved with one another. Spiritual betrayal on the part of one of us affects the faith of all of us. Views adopted in one community have an impact on other communities.

"Today religious isolationism is a myth.

"For all the profound differences in perspective and substance, Judaism is sooner or later affected by the intellectual, moral and spiritual events within the Christian society and vice versa.

"We fail to realize that while different exponents of faith in the world of religion continue to be wary of the ecumenical movement, there is another ecumenical movement, world-wide in extent and influence: nihilism. We must choose between interfaith and inter-nihilism.

"Cynicism is not parochial. Should religions insist upon the illusion of complete isolation?

Should we refuse to be on speaking terms with one another and hope for each other's failure? Or would we pray for each other's health, and help one another in preserving one's respective legacy, in preserving a common legacy?

"I suggest that the most significant basis for meeting of men of different religious traditions is the level of fear and trembling, of humility and contrition, where our individual moments of faith are mere waves in the endless ocean of mankind's reaching out for God, where all formulations and articulations appear as understatement, where our souls are swept away by the awareness of the urgency of answering God's commandment, while stripped of pretension and conceit we sense the tragic insufficiency of human faith."

It was an honor and privilege to be a representative of Judaism and interfaith in an Episcopal church as it continued its ministry to the Grosse Pointe community.

I certainly hope the words of Rabbi Heschel ring a resonant chord in all of us.

Amen and Amen.

Crop walk

Brownell Middle School student Christopher Poleski, left, raised $125 for the annual walk which this year began at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. His sister, Catherine, donated money from her piggy bank. Despite the rain, the two opened their umbrellas and walked the longest route, five miles. Other distances were 1/2 mile, one mile and three miles.

Left, Julie Froggett and her daughter, Carly, look at the map where their three-mile route takes them. From the money raised during the annual CROP walk, 25 percent stays in the community to feed the hungry and remainder provides food through the global organization. Local organizations receiving the funds include Crossroads of Michigan and Cass Community Social Services.

Virginia Ann Homeier Anderson

Virginia Anne Homeier Anderson, 74, died Monday, March 11, 2013, in Portland, Ore.

She was born Dec. 4, 1938, in Grosse Pointe, to Custer and Myrtle Homeier and graduated from Grosse Pointe High School in 1956. She spent one year at the University of Michigan, where she met Robert Anderson whom she married in 1957. They were married 52 years.

The couple moved to Portland in 1957, where she and her husband began a family which grew to five children. In 1966, Mrs. Anderson returned to college at Portland State University where she earned a bachelor's degree, graduating with honors, while raising her family. In 1969, she began a 30-year career in the Parkrose School District. During that time she was a teacher, building principal and special education director. She earned a master's degree in special education and later a doctorate in educational administration, both from Portland State University. She retired in 1999.

She was long-time member of First United Methodist Church in Portland.

Dr. Anderson, or "VA" as she was known to many, was a tireless advocate of education. She wrote grants and started many programs that benefited youth in the Parkrose School District. Many a day she could be seen on her favorite corner of the couch absorbing a mystery novel, which she read by the dozens every year. Her love of reading rubbed off on all of her children. Her proudest accomplishment in her life was her own children. She was quick to brag to anyone who would listen about each of them.

Charles J. Chevalier

Charles J. Chevalier, 79, of Mount Clemens, died April 22, 2013 at McLaren-Macomb Hospital in Mount Clemens, Michigan.

Charles was born January 20, 1934 in Mount Clemens, Michigan to Harry C. and Helen V. (Hofer) Chevalier. He was preceded in death by his parents; surviving are his brother Leonard of Elkhart, Indiana; three nephews; Jon (Rose) of Bristol, Indiana, Jeffrey (Kim) of Elkhart, Indiana and Lee (Keri) of Lansing, Michigan. Charles was a lifelong Christian Scientist, most recently as First Reader at the Detroit, Michigan location. He made annual and bi-annual trips to the Mother Church in Boston, Massachusetts.

Charles had a teaching career spanning 54 consecutive years, accomplished, initially, at the high school level then on to the university level; Mount Clemens High School followed by Wayne State University where he successfully finished his final semester last month. His teaching was greatly enhanced due to his 40 plus travels to Europe, most notably France and England, which provided him with both the visual and first hand intimacy used in his profession. He was highly knowledgeable and respected in his chosen profession and subject matter.

Charles attended both Mount Clemens High School and Cranbrook School in Birmingham, Michigan, later receiving his Bachelor's Degree from Principia College in Elmhurst, Illinois followed by his Master's Degree from the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, Michigan majoring in Art History.

Charles's life encompassed a continuing introduction to people, making friends and enhancing both his and their lives. This never ended. People loved Charles and he responded in like manner. Students, past and present, along with friends and acquaintances, have expressed receiving a lasting positive impact which he has made for the betterment of their lives. A most joyful and entertaining session occurred on his last day of life with a surprise and unexpected visit which has resulted in a 56 year family friendship with Charles. They talked of old times, experiences and happenings which made Charles come to life in overcoming his physical disabilities. Charles knew his time was here, but miraculously survived almost two hours with literal revival. When Charles took his last breath, the world lost a human being who always gave as much good as he received. As sung by Frank Sinatra, Charles "did it his way" for the better good.

Visitation will be from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. on Saturday, May 25, 2013 at Will and Schwarzkoft Funeral Home, 233 Northbound Gratiot Avenue in Mount Clemens, Michigan, with a Christian Science Service at 3:00 p.m.

Give a new look and feel to the bathroom

Renovating a bathroom is a top priority for many homeowners.

According to Remodeling magazine's 2011-12 Cost versus Value Report, which compares the average cost for 35 popular remodeling projects with the value those projects retain at resale, homeowners can expect to spend upward of $52,000 on an upscale bathroom remodel.

That makes a bathroom remodel one of the more expensive home improvement projects a homeowner can undertake. But there are plenty of inexpensive ways to give a bathroom a new look and feel.

Here's how:

◆ Install a new shower. One of the best ways to give a bathroom a new look is to replace the traditional tub and showerhead with a bigger, more airy shower. Such showers are typically found in modern hotels that boast luxury amenities. Instead of the tub and slide glass, choose a hinged door with heavier glass, replacing the bathtub entirely.

◆ Add windows and a skylight. Many bathrooms, particularly those in older houses, sorely lack adequate lighting. Adding extra windows and a skylight can give a bathroom an entirely new look, even if the existing features or fixtures aren't replaced. Sunlight can make a bathroom more inviting, giving the room the feeling of a sanctuary many homeowners prefer.

◆ Add some entertainment. Just like they offer larger showers with more room to breathe, many luxury hotels now ensure guests can be entertained even while they're in the bathroom. Such hotels often feature small flatscreen televisions that sit behind the bathroom's mirror. Guests don't see the television until it's turned on. Homeowners can bring this lap of luxury into their houses. This is especially valuable to homeowners whose bathrooms currently feature soaking tubs.

◆ Replace old tiles. Many homeowners cite their bathroom's tiles as the feature they would most like to change. Old linoleum tiles give many bathrooms a dated look few of today's homeowners find appealing. Glass tiles are growing in popularity, but old linoleum or glazed tiles can be swapped out with porcelain or stone tiles to give the room an entirely new look without spending excessively.

Replacing old bathroom tiles with newer ones is an easy and inexpensive way to give a bathroom a new look and feel.

Older toilets may be eyesores and many are not eco-friendly. A new toilet can give the bathroom a sleek, modern look, and since many of today's luxury models are low-flow, there are several simple ways homeowners can give their bathrooms a new look and feel without breaking the bank.

Keep your property pest-free

Whether tending a garden, woodland or natural landscaping, keep your land healthy and free of unwanted pests.

"Although trees look strong, woodland ecosystems are particularly vulnerable to natural and man-made dangers that can gradually reduce the health and beauty of your woods," said Mike Burns, forester and program resource manager with the American Forest Foundation.

There are steps property owners can take to help keep trees and woodlands safe from

Unique upgrades for your home

When remodeling, go a step further by giving your home unique upgrades.

Experts say one great way to be distinctive and add value to your home is by going natural.

If you're thinking of redoing the countertops, floors, walls or other key home elements like no one else on the block, think marble, granite and salvaged lumber.

"There is no way to duplicate nature in a laboratory or manufacturing environment," said Garen Distelhorst, communications director at the Marble Institute of America. "Natural stone is quarried from rock beds formed over millions of years. You're never going to find two pieces exactly alike."

Here are some benefits of natural materials to consider:

◆ Return on Investment: In many cases, marble and granite are less expensive than other premium materials and add value to a home when it's time to sell. According to the most current data available, natural stone recovered between 80 to 86 percent of its remodeling cost at the time of resale.

◆ Durability: The ancient civilizations were onto something when they built their cities. Natural stone stands up to weathering and time better than any other building material, natural or man-made. Stone floors, countertops and wall cladding will last for at least 100 years in many cases. Likewise, salvaged lumber is old growth wood, which means it's stronger and has tighter wood grains than new lumber and can

6 home and renovation flicks

Many people are anxious to get knee-deep in home improvement projects. Those who choose to hire a professional contractor can get their fill of home improvement projects by watching films where houses or renovations are central to the plot.

Here's six:

1) "Money Pit" — No list would be complete without including this movie starring Tom Hanks and Shelley Long, who attempt to renovate a mansion only to be met with disaster after disaster.

2) "The Notebook" — Nicholas Sparks' novel turned into this unforgettable, romantic film is a love story at its core. However, the renovation of a Victorian home in the Carolinas is also central to the story and makes for amazing imagery.

3) "Poltergeist" — This movie showcases what can go wrong when a house takes on a life of its own as malevolent ghosts take over.

4) "Under the Tuscan Sun" — While renovating a house might be considered interesting, doing so in the remote beauty of the Italian countryside makes for a much more visually appealing film.

5) "House of Sand and Fog" — A woman is evicted from her house after it is wrongly repossessed and auctioned. Together with a sheriff's deputy the woman begins harassing the new owners of the house in an attempt to get back her residence.

6) "Field of Dreams" — Although it is not the house that is getting a makeover, but rather the fields behind this impressive farmhouse, viewers can be mesmerized by the magic that ensues afterward.

give your home project historical value.

◆ Sustainability: Natural stone is an environmentally friendly choice because it's nearly 100-percent recyclable and is not bonded by petroleum based resins or created in a factory. And because of its durability, it won't need to be replaced for a long time.

◆ Versatility: The number of different colors, patterns and textures of natural stone is limitless. This may make finding the perfect cuts to fit your design needs a bit of a chore, but what you end up with will be unique to your home. And different finishes and edge treatments can lend the same kind of stone a different quality and look, making it ideal for various applications — from floors to walls to fireplaces to roofing shingles.

◆ Cleaning: Warm water, mild dishwashing liquid and a soft cloth are all that is needed for regular maintenance of most natural stone surfaces.

By avoiding synthetic materials, classic upgrades can be made that are durable, beautiful and easy to maintain.

PESTS

about to spread to other trees.

◆ Stay informed about threats in the area. Contact the state forestry agency or department of natural resources to find out what's bugging your area.

◆ Monitor for pests and signs of disease every month or two. Check trees on the trunk, limbs, twigs, under peeling bark and leaves — the most likely places to find injuries. Keep an eye open for things that look out of the ordinary.

◆ If an insect is discovered that you suspect might be a danger to the trees, seal it in a container and store it in the freezer until it can be delivered to a proper authority.

In the long run, nature might well be invincible, but in the short run, residents may need a helping hand to protect local land to keep trees healthy.

How to create a paver walkway or patio

Creating a walkway or patio out of paving stones can add aesthetic appeal to a property.

Pavers are less permanent than concrete and decking. As a result, it is easier to change the design later to give the space a new look.

Installing paving stones can be labor-intensive and a good project for hiring a professional landscaper. However, this is a project that can be tackled by the do-it-yourselfer.

1) Measure and plot out the area that will become the path or patio. The area of the space can be figured out by multiplying length times width. This will help determine how much material is needed.

2) Visit the home improvement store or a supplier of stone and other masonry supplies to determine the style and color of the paving stones used in the project. Some homeowners prefer to have the materials delivered to their house to save the hassle of extra heavy lifting and moving.

3) Using a shovel or tiler, dig down and remove the grass to a depth of four to six inches from the area that will become the path or patio.

4) Fill in the area that was dug out with a paver base material, using a tamper — either manual or power-driven — to tamp down the paver base until it is level and smooth.

5) Apply about one inch of paving sand to further level out the path or patio. This will be the material on which the paving stones are laid.

6) Begin laying the paving stones. Leave the appropriate distance between stones desired by the pattern. If the paving stones will not have any gap and serve as a continuous patio, leave only the smallest gap between them.

7) Spread more paving sand on top of the paving stones and, using a broom, sweep it over the stones and into the crevices between them to set the stones.

8) Create the rest of the garden design around the patio or pathway using gravel, plants and edging sand may be needed to be material to finish the look. swept over the stones to Over time more paver keep them secure.

For 2013, the Chevrolet Traverse is offered in LS, LT and LTZ models with two LT packages/trim levels, in front- and all-wheel-drive configurations.

The single engine available is a direct-injection 288-horsepower 3.6-liter V-6, available with dual exhaust or single exhaust. Chevrolet officials say EPA fuel economy estimates of 17 miles per gallon city/24 highway for the front-wheel drive Traverse compete well with other three-row crossovers, utilities and minivans.

Traverse's second-row seating comes with a pair of captain's chairs or a three-passenger bench. Each incorporates the second-row SmartSlide feature, easing entry to the third row.

Our test Traverse, a champagne-silver front-drive LTZ model, was even equipped with a drop-down video screen to entertain and educate the "young-uns" and perhaps slow their chatter.

Upgraded materials include soft-touch surfaces on the instrument panel and front door uppers, contrasting stitching, chrome and silver accents, and available blue ambient lighting throughout the cabin.

The available intelligent all-wheel-drive system manages the torque distribution between the front and rear axles, based on factors such as wheel speed, throttle and surface conditions, Chevrolet said. There is no driver intervention; the system automatically decides how much torque to apply and delivers it to the wheels that have the best traction.

For 2013, Traverse manufacturer's suggested retail prices start at $30,340, plus $825 dealer freight charge. The modest $850 increase over 2012 represents a great value, given the significant exterior, interior and refinement updates for the 2013 model.

Our front-drive LTZ was extravagantly equipped: 20-inch wheels, rear park assist, a $795 touch navigation system prepped for XM NavTraffic and the $1,445 rear-seat entertainment set up. Its price was $43,765 — plus $825 destination.

The Traverse is built in Lansing

What's old is new again

Browsing the 29th annual Christ Church Grosse Pointe Antiques Show something new and interesting will be spotted, turned up and discovered.

The annual fundraiser, staged May 30 through June 2 on three levels of the church, benefits the Christ Church choirs and the church's outreach ministries.

According to the show's co-chairwoman Karyn Weir, attending just one day of the event is "a unique way to spend the day, in a beautiful setting. There is something for everyone."

"We have a lot of returning vendors," said Betsy Creedon, a Grosse Pointe Farms resident and event co-chairwoman. "They love coming here. They love the Grosse Pointe community. They have made friends here. I'll have the same silver dealer (staying with her) and we have become good friends."

Weir, also of Grosse Pointe Farms, hosts a rug dealer from Kentucky, one she has hosted for many years.

In addition to the returning silver and rug dealers, there will be those who offer items to decorate houses from floor to ceiling, tables, windows and walls. From posters to jewelry, from china to books, from furniture to fine art and personal gifts to presents for the newlyweds and the newly graduated, there is likely to be something to catch the eye and at a variety of price points in one of the 30 booths.

The $10 admission ticket price, a charge that hasn't been increased in years, admits an attendee all three days. Drop your name in the fish bowl on the upper levels and enter a door prize raffle.

Setting up a fish bowl to encourage people to visit each floor of the show is just one show detail among thousands requiring 20 committees to pull the four-day event together. The dozens of volunteers work a year in advance creating mailings, setting up and tearing down church rooms and vendors' booths, selling tickets, advertising, manning the cafe and everything in between. Year after year the show has gained a reputation for quality and pulls in dealers from the Midwest, Interior designer and author Kathryn Crisp Greeley of North Carolina is the main speaker at the Christ Church Grosse Pointe Antiques Show. Her presentation is Friday, May 31.

south and east coast and some, according to Creedon, have been coming since the first year.

"We have so many different ages and different backgrounds from the youngest choir member to an 80-year-old," Weir said of the volunteers.

"We need tons of volunteers," Creedon added, all with different experiences.

She illustrated how a senior woman is paired with a young woman and charged with calling all volunteers. They make the calls and keep a record of responses on a computerized spreadsheet, rather than by hand as the older member would have done in the past.

Their efforts and that of all volunteers is to support the church's choirs. "Betsy and I met 20 years ago when my son was in choir," Weir began, as was Creedon's son. Weir was asked to chair the antiques show and said, "I can't do this alone."

She drafted Creedon and they have been close friends ever since, having served both as co-chairwomen and honorary co-chairwomen.

The pair agree the choral training and traveling are invaluable to choir members. Christ Church choirs have traveled all over Europe and New Zealand, singing both in concert and during services at churches and cathedrals.

"The exposure to incredible cathedrals gives the teenagers a positive sense of identity," Weir said. "People of all faiths singing ... they never forget."

Highlights

One of the new additions this year is a Sunday speaker. John Gallagher, author of "Revolution Detroit: Strategies for Urban Reinvention," at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, June 2, will kick off this new segment to the show.

"We need to connect with Detroit," said Creedon, about the addition of the local author as a speaker. "He has come out with a new book, written on Detroit architecture. It's a great thing on Sunday afternoon to talk about the Golden Age of antiques and tie it in with antiques."

Gallagher is preceded on Friday, May 31, by Kathryn C. Greeley who instructs attendees how to incorporate their collections into new designs, whether it is a table top design or refreshing a room.

In a telephone interview from her North Carolina office, Greeley said she will have a PowerPoint to explain her ideas during the 10 a.m. presentation.

She said her philosophy is to highlight the homeowner's interest.

"I've been in the interior design business for 30 some years and I design to reflect the clients' lives, their passion, their interest, their travels. It's reflective of that collection of what the person is about."

"I work with classic colors, not the trendy. I don't want the client to be stuck with something that in two years is not in fashion. There are wonderful ways to use trendy colors, with lamps or table linens that go with more classic colors." During her presentation, Greeley has the chance of working with a local vendor and show vendors. The League Shop is providing items for Greeley to use in her demonstrations. Incorporating a local store is another of this year's changes.

"We're honored by her selecting our store," said Pat Brinker, the League Shop's owner.

Greeley will use two table settings from the shop's china department, one formal and the second more casual, she said.

"This will highlight our Anniversary recognized with walkathon

The Michigan Parkinson Foundation observes its 30th anniversary with a walkathon and 5K run at 11 a.m. Saturday, June 1, at South Lake High School, 23101 Stadium, St. Clair Shores.

To register, visit parkinsonsmi.org. On-site registration is from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. Participants walk on the track or run through the adjacent neighborhoods on a marked route. Strollers, wheelchairs, children and dogs are welcome.

The foundation's idea began with Raymond B. Bauer as chief of neurology at Harper Hospital. He had conducted drug studies on the medication Sinemet in the 1960s the drug is still used today by Parkinson's patients.

Clinical nurse specialist Doreen Coggan and social worker Jackie Stewart worked with Bauer, who died in 1988, and in his honor created an educational program for those seeking answers to questions about Parkinson's. The six-week educational series provided a comprehensive look at what the disease is, its management and coping with the chronic illness.

Suffering from multiple myeloma, Bauer lived seven years following his diagnosis with multiple myeloma. During that time he lectured and supported newly formed support groups. He also dressed up as singer-songwriter Willie Nelson, playing a guitar to the tune of "Learning How to Smile," a song that had been written for those with Parkinson's Disease.

Early leaders

The foundation, founded in 1983, focuses on helping patients, families and friends afflicted with Parkinson's to sustain a high quality of life.

Honorary chairmen and women of the 2013 event are:

Founding president, the late Raymond B. Bauer, who is represented by his children, Cindy Bauer Gauss, Gwen Bauer Stiles, Raymond T. and Larry Bauer;

Tom Cracchiolo of

Grosse Pointe Shores the foundation's founding chairman;

John Boll, a board chairman;

Betty Rusnack, who established the Eastside Support Group, the first of its kind and Ruth Butler, facilitator of the Livonia/Wester Wayne Support group, and one of the first volunteers, a nurse educator and caregiver to her husband who suffered from Parkinson's for 40 years.

Under Cracchiolo's foundation leadership, he worked with Bauer to create its board, spearheaded the development of the structure of Michigan Parkinson Foundation to insure its financial and resource support, found offices for the staff and advocates for the support groups.

Boll has been credited paving the way for MPF to be able to create innovative services to help people with Parkinson's including a resource center with a nurse counselor, neurologist referral system. He also established a library of PD information and the Raymond B. Bauer M.D. Research Award, designed as a competitive grant to fund students working with health researchers to investigate aspects of the disease.

Also on the original board were Ken Meade, who served as chairman from 1989 to 1991; Herb Steiger; Jesse Cardello;

Mike Timmis; and Art Van Elslander.

Rusnack is a retired Wayne State University professor of social work and a facilitator.

Butler is also a support group facilitator and honorary chairwoman of the walk and run taking place at Northville High School. She is a nurse educator and an advocate for families and patients of PD, speaker and children's book author.

To learn more about the foundation and its mission, a televised interview with Cracchiolo can be seen at 5:30 a.m., 2:30 and 6 p.m. May 27 through June 2 on Comcast channels 5 and 915, AT&T channel 99 and WOW channel 10.

HEALTH POINT By Jeff and Debra Jay

College life and alcohol

Dear Jeff and Debra:

Our daughter graduates from high school this spring and is beginning to make decisions about colleges. One of the things we're concerned about is the quality of college life she'll experience. We hear so much about binge drinking, date rape and other serious problems.

We've talked to her about making decisions based on the social environment and the college's academic environment. What kinds of questions should we ask?

— CONCERNED PARENTS

Dear Concerned:

When your daughter arrives on the college campus this fall, you want it to be a time of new experiences, new friendships, academic challenge and good memories that last a lifetime.

Unfortunately, for many students, these hopes are clouded by alcohol and negative consequences that follow. According to a report to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, the problems caused by excessive drinking on campus "are more significant, more destructive, and more costly than many parents recognize."

Among students age 18 to 24, one out of three meet criteria for a diagnosis of alcohol abuse and 6 percent for dependence. Alcohol contributes to 599,000 injuries and 97,000 cases of sexual assault or date rape each year. In addition, 696,000 students are assaulted by intoxicated students, 400,000 have unprotected sex, 100,000 report being too intoxicated to know if they consented to having sex and 110,000 are arrested for alcohol related violations. About 3.3 million drive while under the influence of alcohol and 25 percent report academic problems related to drinking.

The first six weeks of the first semester are critical to students' success in their first year. Alcohol can interfere with this success. Parents can help their college-bound sons and daughters by alerting them to the problems related to alcohol abuse. Talk about the penalties for underage drinking as well as the risks associated with being intoxicated. Explain to your daughter alcohol will affect her ability to make good judgments and render her more vulnerable to risky situations.

When she is intoxicated, she's more likely to do things she'd never do sober. She is also an easier mark for unscrupulous people. Observe the students on a weekend at the college she is considering. Ask college administrators about the availability of alcohol-free activities and to describe in clear terms how they enforce underage drinking policies and inquire about campus alcohol policies and alcohol-free living arrangements.

During your daughter's first semester, call frequently. Ask about her living arrangement, roommates and what she is doing with her free time. You can stay involved even if she chooses a school far from home.

What is ABA?

help set up the therapy goals and train other service providers (ABA tutors) and/or caregivers to implement the therapy.

Q. My son has been diagnosed with autism and the team recommended he receive "ABA therapy." But I don't even know what that means, or where I can get it.

A. Applied Behavior Analysis, which studies how we learn and how we can change behaviors. We break down complex skills like having a conversation or getting dressed into smaller, more manageable pieces, and use a system of prompts and rewards to motivate learners. ABA treatment is usually conducted by board certified behavior analysts and can help with a variety of skills such as communication, socialization, play, self-help skills, tantrums, feeding, sleeping and toileting, just to name a few.

Q. What is a board certified behavior analyst?

A. A board certified behavior analyst, or BCBA, is a masters'-level clinician who has had specialized training in the field of ABA. BCBAs must hold a master's degree and also must complete specialized coursework, supervised experience and pass a national exam. BCBAs are part of a "tiered service delivery model" in which they

Q. Can ABA help with my daughter's temper tantrums? She's three and it seems like the day is just one long battle after another. I'm at my wit's end.

A. Behavior "problems" are one of the areas ABA is pretty well-known for targeting. The key is to figure out what is causing the tantrums. Is it trouble communicating, or difficulty waiting or transitioning? ABA therapy can help parents target the causes of behavior problems and teach strategies to reduce these problems.

Q. I'm the not-so-thrilled mom of a very picky eater. My son eats about five foods, and he's even becoming rigid about how the food is prepared. If the food is touching other food, or it's on the "wrong" plate, he has a fit. What can I do?

A. Luckily, principles of ABA can help here, too. Feeding disorders and "picky" eating respond very well to a behavioral approach. Again, breaking down the skill of "eating a healthy variety and amount of food" into step-by-step goals can turn the challenge around.

KNOW Your Skin
By Lisa A. Manz-Dulac, MD

Summertime and sunlight. For many, though, summer's sun can be very harmful, especially for those with photosensitivity, a condition that increases your skin's vulnerability to burn.

For some, photosensitivity is part of their genetic makeup. For others, photosensitivity is the result of medications including such common items as antibiotics and diuretics. For these individuals, prevention is key. Always wear sunscreens and protective clothing to reduce the risk of rapid burning.

Photosensitivity can also manifest itself in terms of photoallergic response to certain chemicals or foods. For example, some individuals get an itchy raised rash after handling foods such as parsley or citrus products and then being exposed to the sun (yes, spilling that margarita on your skin can cause the area to burn quicker!).

Begin summer with hot dogs

Memorial Day is the unofficial start of summer and the official start of hot dogs.

Those dogs that show up at every barbecue just in case there isn't anything for the "kids." Who ends up grabbing the dogs? The adults. Be ready this weekend with an "adult" style topper for your favorite hot dog.

Sweet and sauerkraut is a concoction of green onion, celery and red onion tossed with sauerkraut then marinated overnight in a sweet vinaigrette. This recipe is quite old, yet it's flavor is quite bold.

Eleanor Cunningham's Sweet and Sauerkraut

1 - 32 oz. jar sauerkraut

Start the summer season with a hot dog topped with sweet and sauerkraut.

- 32 oz. water
- 2/3 cup chopped green pepper
- 2/3 cup chopped celery
- 2/3 cup chopped red onion

Vinaigrette

- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup vinegar (white, white wine or cider)
- 1/2 cup vegetable

Place sauerkraut in a sauce pot and add water. Bring mixture to a quick boil then simmer for 15 minutes. Drain thoroughly. Toss drained sauerkraut with chopped vegetables in a large bowl. In a small bowl combine sugar with vinegar and vegetable oil. Mix well then pour over sauerkraut mixture and toss well. Refrigerate overnight, tossing now and then. The sweet vinaigrette bounces off of the sauerkraut and the sharp flavor of the green pepper and red onion. The added crunch from the celery is a bonus.

Beyond the dog, you'll want to top a brat or a sausage with this sweet and sauerkraut.

Civil War events re-enacted

Greenfield Village transforms into 1860s America during Civil War Remembrance May 25 through 27.

More than 450 re-enactors re-create Union, Confederate and civilian encampments, perform military tactical demonstrations, offer dramatic presentations and participate in comprehensive Civil War events.

Honor the sacrifices and achievements of those who have fought and continue to fight in defense of our nation during a commemoration presented by historian William Hendricks at noon Monday, May 27.

The Henry Ford also participates in a national moment of silence at 3 p.m. that day, as signaled by the Armington & Sims shop whistle.

See artifacts from the Civil War inside the Village Pavilion including original military items, clothing worn during that time and original artillery pieces from the First Michigan Light Artillery.

Special presentations are delivered by historians and experts from Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania. As part of the weekend's activities, trace your family tree to the battlegrounds with Civil War historian Dale R. Niesen or create a souvenir ribbon rosette at Edison Homestead. Join the battle by "enlisting" at the recruiting office located at the Phoenixville Post Office and receive a reproduction Volunteer Enlistment paper.

At 9 p.m. Saturday, the Dodworth Saxhorn Band, a 19th-century brass ensemble, performs on the Village Green.

Admission to Civil War Remembrance is free with membership or $24 for adults, $22 for seniors 62 and up and $17.50 for youth 5-12. Children four and under are admitted free.

china and accessories and give good ideas at home and how to update with new products," she said.

"I'm working on a surprise table top presentation," Greeley said of what the League Shop is providing her.

She also will be showcasing some items available from antiques show vendors.

"I know a lot of dealers in Michigan who were in the Orlando show (she recently attended) who will lend me pieces for a few hours," she said. "It will give people a good idea of what will be there.

"I like to do a couple tables so people can walk around."

Greeley said one of her strong points is getting people involved in her presentations so she can help them combine something old and something new.

Another one of her working points, Greeley said, is helping people find collections suited to them. While she collects blue and white English porcelain, not everyone should, she said.

"A lot of people don't know what they want to collect," Greeley said. "I question them enough to what they have or have inherited and pull out what might make their heart sing. I have to dig it out of them."

This year, Christ Church Antiques Show competes with Detroit's Grand Prix, June 1 through 3, and PBS's "Antiques Road Show" Saturday, June 1, at Cobo Center.

Creedon acknowledges WDET, the local PBS station, will have a card available for those attending "Antiques Road Show" printed with a coupon for $2 off the admission price to Christ Church's event and a map.

More importantly, this event offers free parking in the high school parking lot Saturday and Sunday.

Kick off

The show's festivities begin with an archangel preview party at a private residence to honor the three levels of donors — silver, gold and archangel. During the evening, guests can meet Greeley and take part in a silent auction.

Funds from the archangel event held the Thursday evening before the show opens is donated to the church's missions projects, including Crossroads of Michigan, Habitat for Humanity and Mariner's Inn. Attendees also have a chance to win a two-year lease for a MKX Mercury provided by Crest Lincoln.

"The girls are playing some good tennis and now we need to finish on a high note in the finals," head coach John VanAlst said when his girls were warming up for their championship matches.

The Norsemen did end the regionals on a positive note as the seven champions won their matches in straight sets, including No. 1 singles Ali Scoggin, beating a good Joelle Kruczek 6-2, 6-0 of Lakeview in the finals.

Valentina Izzi went on to win their title match 6-3, 6-0 over the Huskies.

Dayle Maas and Sydnie Allor played well in their 6-0, 6-1 title match victory over the Huskies in the No. 3 doubles flight.

The No. 4 doubles team of Deanna Hanley and Katelyn Carroll played well, but lost a tough three-set match 6-2, 6-7, 6-4 to Lakeview in the finals.

Next for the Norsemen is the Division 2 state final Friday, May 31, and Saturday, June 1, at Grand Blanc and Holly high schools.

Blue Devils work hard in finals

Grosse Pointe South's girls' tennis team gets its opportunity to defend its state title from a year ago.

The host Blue Devils won another regional championship last week, earning 29 points. The top two teams make the finals or a squad needs to earn at least 18 points to qualify.

Three teams made the finals out of this region with Troy taking second with 24 points and Troy Athens made the cut with 19 points.

"We had some great competitive matches today," head coach Mark Sobieralski said. "Our girls are playing some great tennis and now we get a chance to win a state title."

Detroit Cass Tech placed fourth with eight points, followed by Warren Cousino with seven, Fraser with six, Sterling Heights with six, Sterling Heights Stevenson with three, Warren Mott with two and Detroit East English Village Prep with zero.

The Blue Devils won five of the eight flights and took second in the other three.

Winning singles titles were Brooke Willard, Maggie Sweeney and Madie Flournoy.

Knights use focus to make finals

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

University Liggett's girls' tennis team advanced to the Division 4 state finals after finishing second in last weekend's regional tournament at Almont.

"I think we're ready for the regionals," head coach Cathy Hackenberger said during a recent match. "ASH (Academy of the Sacred Heart) is the favorite, but I feel confident we can get that second finals berth by taking second."

Hackenberger was right as Sacred Heart won the tournament by winning seven of the eight flights and earning 31 points.

Liggett was second with 20, while Almont and Clarkston Everest Collegiate tied for third with 14.

The only one ASH didn't win was No. 1 singles where Clarkston

Everest Collegiate's Carly Sutkiewicz beat Tyler Papazian in the title match.

As for the Knights, they enjoyed a ton of success in the regionals with all four doubles teams reaching the finals of their respective flights.

At No. 1 doubles, Victoria Chochla and Clarissa Dixon lost to Kelsey Nagle and Emily Nash, while the duo of Katherine Woodward and Jane Ninivaggi dropped the title match to Sarah Spangler and Heidi Lemon at No. 2 doubles.

At No. 3 doubles, Caroline Eckrich and Ariane Staricco lost to Kendall Lehmann and Hannah Gerard, and at No. 4 doubles, Jo Hummel and Ellene Bricolas lost to Elia Wilson and Gretchen Lempon in the title match.

As for the singles players, Sabrina Ajjour (No. 1), Mara Hillyer (No. 2), Alexa Yates (No. 3) and Sara Anthony (No. 4) had a taste of success, but didn't win enough matches to claim a flight championship.

Ajjour won her first match in three sets, winning 6-4, 5-7, 6-4, over Clawson's Allison Steinbach before falling to Sutkiewicz 6-4, 7-5 in the next round.

Hillyer won her first match 7-5, 7-5, but was eliminated with a second-round loss, 6-1, 6-4.

Yates also won her first match 6-1, 7-5 before falling in the next round, and Anthony made it two wins before falling in the title match at No. 4 singles.

"All in all, we were all so proud of this team and how far they proceeded in the meet," Hackenberger said.

Next for Liggett is the Division 4 state championship tournament Friday, May 31, and Saturday, June 1, at Kalamazoo College.

Grosse Pointe resident Phoebe Piku, left, and her Elmira College teammates beat Middlebury 1-0 to capture its third Division III national championship in mid-March. Leading the way for the Soaring Eagles (23-5-1) was goalie Lauren Sullivan, who stopped 30 shots to record her school-record 11th shutout of the season and Taylor Steadman scored her seventh goal of the season on the biggest stage. In the first round, Elmira beat Bowdoin College 4-0 and it beat Gustavus Adolphus 4-3 in overtime in the national semifinals. Piku, a freshman defensive player, played in 25 games this season, scoring one goal and recording four assists for five points. "It was an unbelievable feeling," Piku said. "Our goalie played amazing and we played very well in front of her. It was a tough game, but the best feeling when we won."

RIVALS

South easily wins, North second

The Grosse Pointe South girls' track and field team won its fifth consecutive state regional title last weekend and Grosse Pointe North took second, dominating the field of 15 Division 1 teams.

The meet was hosted at South under perfect weather conditions. It was also the Blue Devils' 17th regional title in the past 20 years.

"We had three simple goals — to be great teammates, to use our depth and pull in points from all 17 events, and to thoroughly enjoy the experience," South head coach Steve Zaranek said. "With the type of girls we have on our team, I knew we would accomplish our first and third goal."

"The second goal is rarely accomplished at any state level. Our girls rose to the occasion with extraordinary depth to place in every single event."

South's point total, 226.50, was the highest point total ever scored at a state regional meet.

allowed the team to qualify to the state finals in 12 events. Seventeen South girls will compete at the finals with 13 earning regional championships.

For the Norsemen, seven girls made it to the finals.

The 3,200-relay team of 16.91; Benson in the 100-dash, fourth at 12.60; 800-relay team, eighth as Emma Abessinio, JoJo Beeby, Micah Darnell and Lewis ran a 1:53.84; Natalie Schaefer in the 1,600-run, fourth at 5:52.00; 400-relay team, seventh as Abessinio, Beeby, Autum Gutierrez and Darnell ran a 54.80; Julia Rustmann in the 400-dash, seventh at 1:02.64; Mack and Alexis Jimerson in the 300-low hurdles, fourth and fifth with times of 51.95 and 52.77; Sarah Rustmann in the 800-run, fourth at 2:22.18; Carney and Francis in the 3,200-run, fourth and fifth at 11:36.70 and 11:49.55; Cochran in the shot put, seventh with a throw of 29-feet, 9 1/2-inches; Abessinio in the long jump, fourth at 15-feet, 2 1/4-inches; and Mack in the high jump, tied for sixth at 4-feet, 9-inches.

South's distance runners rolled over the competition, scoring 86 points in just three events.

South went 1-2-3 in the 3,200-run; 1-2-3 in the 1,600-run and 1-2-3-5 in the 800-run.

In addition, South won the 3,200-relay by a 27-second margin over second place Grosse Pointe North.

For the Blue Devils, Hannah Meier led the way, anchoring the 3,200-relay and winning the 800-run. Meier came through the finish line with her sister Haley Meier to tie in the 1,600-run.

Sophomore Ersula Farrow had the finest competition of her career, racing to her fastest 1,600 and 800 times ever (4:53.9 and 2:10.0).

In addition, Farrow, the Meier sisters and Alexa Calas easily won the 3,200-relay, while Lily Pendy teamed up with the Meiers and Farrow to win the 1,600-relay — the final event of the competition — with a season-best time of 3:53.6.

South's long distance

3,200 runners led from start to finish.

Kelsie Schwartz ran a season-best 10:55 to win with Christina Firl (11:09) taking second and Megan Sklarski (11:16) taking third. All three qualified to the finals (top two go but additional runners set last year.

In the 100-dash, Mia Perkins, Elise Grever and Kayli Johnson all placed with season-best performances.

The South 400-relay won the regional title covering one lap of the track in 49.11 seconds — .01 off five events," Zaranek said.

South had three regional champions in the field with Aubryn Samaroo winning the high jump at 5-feet, 3-inches, and Hannah Adams winning the pole vault at 8-feet even.

DiCresce also won the long jump at 16-feet, 8-inches.

But it was once again the team depth that accounted for the massive point total.

Alexandria DiCresce had a season-best 15-foot, 11-inches to place third in the long jump, and Lisa Conley cleared 8-feet even in the vault to place second.

With Samaroo winning the high jump, teammates Tamira McCoy-Motton and Elise Grever added second and sixth place finishes. Neala Berkowski threw a season best 88-feet, 5-inches to place fourth with Samaroo taking the seventh spot.

And in the shot put, Samaroo placed second (34-feet, 10-inches) with freshman Kayli Johnson South's Meier sisters, Haley and Hannah, cruised to win spots in the state finals in the 1,600-run in a Division 1 regional meet.

North was second with 88.50 points, followed by Detroit Renaissance with 67, Detroit Cass Tech with 59.50, Eastpointe East Detroit with 42, Detroit Martin Luther King with 39, St. Clair Shores Lakeview with 38.50, Warren Woods-Tower with 24, Roseville with 19, St. Clair Shores Lake Shore with 19, Detroit Mumford with 18, and Detroit Western International with 0.

"I estimated we could score between 150-200," Zaranek said. "Usually around 80 points will win a regional. The girls blew away my prediction."

South's domination

Katelyn Carney, Julia Rustmann, Allison Francis and Sarah Rustmann took second with a time of 9:40.40, and Sydney Benson was second in the 400-dash with a time of 59.85.

In addition, the Norsemen's 1,600-relay team of Sarah Rustmann, Julia Rustmann, Benson and Gabby Lewis made the finals, taking second with a time of 4:09.72, and Breanna Cochran was second in the discus with a throw of 90-feet even.

can qualify if they hit a state mark at this meet. All three did so in this race.

South's sprint contingency led the school record-setting performances in two events.

"We had a very tough goal to advance all four of our regional 100-dash qualifiers to the final heat," Zaranek said. "It was great to see four South uniforms in that field of eight finalists."

Junior Jasmine Brathwaite qualified to the state meet in the 100-dash, racing to a second-place finish at 12.0. The 12.0 performance bettered the old mark of 12.2 set last year by Caitlin Moore and then anchored South's record setting 800-relay.

The team of Mia Perkins, Christy Ford, Andrea DiCresce and Brathwaite finished second with a 1:43.8, eclipsing the old mark of 1:44.3

the school record. The team consisted of Perkins, Grever, DiCresce and Brathwaite.

South's depth prevailed again as both DiCresce and Ford placed in the 200-dash (3rd/4th). In addition, the 400-dash resulted in two additional placings for South as Pendy finished third with Claire DeBoer finishing eighth.

The hurdles also proved a positive result.

"Our hurdlers — a very young group — have worked hard all season long to have the chance at earning a medal at the regional," Zaranek said. "The work paid off."

Sophomore Spencer Graczyk ran a career-best 17.9 to place fifth, while freshman Katie Marschner placed seventh in the 300-hurdles (52.9).

"We had an incredible day in the field events scoring 75 points in those placing fourth with a season best 32-feet, 2-inches.

"This is an extraordinary team. Perhaps the best South has ever seen," Zaranek said. "It is so difficult to cover all 17 events with so much talent. Our girls, through their hard work and camaraderie, proved it is possible."

Next for the Blue Devils and Norsemen is the Division 1 state championship meet Saturday, June 1, at East Kentwood High School.

The state meet will be a tight competition at the top as South is the two-time defending state champion.

"We will be in the mix with Saline, Rochester Adams, Oak Park, and two or three others," Zaranek said. "The state meet promises to be a very exciting event. We are definitely ready to make a superb attempt to defend the title."

LIGGETT

Knights send trio to state title meet

The University Liggett track team competed in a Division 4 regional track meet hosted by Lutheran Westland last weekend.

"The Knights went into the day with the common goal of placing higher overall as a team than they had the year before. The boy's and girl's teams were 7th and 11th respectively, out of 11 total teams last year, and qualify as many individuals for the state finals as possible," said coach Lindsey Bachman.

Kicking off the meet in field events, senior Ariana Castillo and freshman Madison Jerome jumped their way to fifth and second place, scoring the team 12 points.

Jerome's jump of 14-feet, 3/4-inches was more than a one foot improvement from her previous personal best and her second-place finish made her the first state qualifier of the day for the Knights.

William Loner and Anthony Garvey also had strong performances in the long jump. Adding to the medaling performances in field events was sophomore Andrew Lohman, who placed third overall in the high jump, pushing through severe lower back pain which he had been battling for more than a year.

Competing in the discus, senior Alec Josaitis threw a personal best of 91-feet even, which advanced him to the final round of competition for the day.

With only the field events completed, the Knights had already scored nearly double their finishing points from last year.

Advancing to the finals in the 100-dash for the girls were Castillo and Jerome, who took second and fifth overall, with times of 13.49 and 14.31. Castillo also placed second with a 29.01 in the 200-dash final, joined by fellow senior Beth Ottosen who took eighth with a 30.25.

Castillo's top two performances in the 100 and 200 earned her state qualifications in both events.

Competing for the boys in the 100- and 200-dash final was sophomore Fred Saffold, who took sixth and eighth with times of 12.41 and 25.19.

Sophomores Eric Miller and Garvey also achieved personal bests in the 100 and 200 preliminaries, respectively.

In the hurdles, freshman Taylor Clancy placed fifth in the 100-high hurdles and 300-low hurdles finals, with personal bests of 21.32 and 101.56, while Loner ran third in the 300-intermediates.

In the 400-dash, Eleni Pitses placed fourth overall with a time of 1:10.31, followed by Jerome, who gave a great effort at the end of her long day of races, placing ninth.

Lohman also added to the team's growing point total with his eighth-place finish of 59.10 in the 400-dash.

Moving on to the distance events, senior Aaron Robertson and sophomore Will Gilbert gave tremendous efforts in the 1,600-run. Robertson executed a beautifully split race to achieve his season-long goal of breaking 5:00 minutes, with a 4:59.45 sprint finish where he took third, while Gilbert's 5:23.16 earned him fifth and served as the perfect warm up for his 3,200 still to follow.

Shortly after, Robertson ran a 2:15.07 in the 800-run, placing him fourth. He was joined by Miller, who ran a personal best.

In a nail biter race, it came down to another sprint to the finish in the 3,200-run, where Gilbert took second with a personal record time of 11:16.72 and earned a spot in the state finals.

Three was the magic number for all of Liggett's relay teams for the day. The boy's 3200m relay took a commanding third place, and with an all sophomore team consisting of Gilbert, Noah LaMagna, Loner, and Lohman, the four are sure to return as top contenders next year. The girls 800m relay, run by Pitses, Ottosen, Jerome, and Castillo.

They all play on Liggett's varsity soccer team.

They took a close 3rd with a time of 1:58.95, and to close out the meet, the boys 1600m relay of Saffold, Loner, Lohman, and Robertson placed 3rd in the field as well.

By the end of the meet, the Knights qualified three individuals for the state finals — Jerome in the long jump, Castillo in the 100- and 200-dash, and Gilbert in the 3,200-run — medaled in 23 events, scored a grand total of 105.5 points, compared to their 11 last year, and placed fourth overall for boys and girls in a field of 12 teams.

The top scorers were Castillo for the girls and Robertson and Gilbert, tied for the boys.

"I knew this group of athletes had great potential from the start," Bachman said. "With many of them being new to the sport of track and field, my goal this season has been and will continue to be, to help each athlete train in such a way that will help them tap into and realize his/her full potential.

"For being a relatively young and small team, I think we had a very strong showing at regionals this year; one that will hopefully put our team on the map for top contending schools."

The trio of state finalists compete in the Division 4 state championship meet Saturday, June 1, at Hudsonville High School.

Knights split games

By Kevin Allen
Special Writer

The University Liggett girls' soccer team dropped its first division game last week, losing 1-0 to Ann Arbor Greenhills.

"It was a disappointing loss, but Greenhills is an excellent team and they deserved the result," head coach David D w a i h y s a i d. "Fortunately, they are coming again to play us on Monday, so we will have an almost immediate opportunity to turn things around."

The Knights responded two days later, beating Plymouth Christian 5-0.

"We worked really well, which shows in our early lead," said junior Ania Dow. "We learned to slow the game down by passing because it was so hot outside."

"The other team was really good at catching us offside, so our usual long balls that a forward runs onto weren't working.

Overall, it was a good win that's taking us one step closer to our goal of being conference champs."

Eleni Pitses scored twice, once unassisted and the second assisted by Dow.

Dow scored, assisted by Ariana Castillo, to make it a 2-0 first-half lead, and Gabrielle Masi, assisted by Haley Neuenfeldt, tallied to up the lead to 3-0.

Later in the first half, Caitlin deRuiter scored, with Madison Jerome netting an assist, and Pitses scored her second to give the Knights a commanding 5-0 half-time advantage.

Beth Ottosen earned the shutout in goal.

"This team only has nine players, and in the first half we played with our usual 11 and were able to get five goals," Castillo said.

Liggett dropped to 8-1 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference and 8-3-1 overall.

The score was closer, but in the end, Grosse Pointe North's girls' lacrosse team beat city rival University Liggett last week.

North trounced Liggett 19-6 a couple of weeks ago, but Knights head coach Tamara Fobare used an improved all around play as the Norsemen won 13-6 last week.

"We are working hard to improve our game and I saw a lot of improvement today," Fobare said. "North is a tough team to defend because of their speed, but I thought we handled it better today."

"We lost, but we feel we played a more competitive game this time around."

For the Knights, Allison Stapleton and Grace Scarfone had two goals apiece, while Mackenzie Lukas and Olivia Wujek each tallied once.

For head coach Bill Seaman and his Norsemen, Caitlin Gaitley scored four goals, followed by Bryn Moody with three, Jennifer Hawring with two and Kit Maher with two.

Scoring single goals were Anna Giordano and Julia Guest.

This was the final regular season game for Liggett, 2-8-1, but North played two other tough foes last week.

The Norsemen beat Lake Orion and lost to Rockford to head into the playoffs with an 8-4 mark.

"We played some tougher teams down the stretch to get ready for the playoffs," Seaman said. "We will see what we can do under the pressure of the state playoffs."

Norsemen playing well

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

The Grosse Pointe North girls' soccer team split its division games last week, beating Sterling Heights Stevenson 2-0 and losing 3-0 to Utica Eisenhower.

"The girls played pretty well in each game and I'm happy to see the progress the girls are making," head coach Skipper Mukhtar said.

Against Stevenson, seniors Chris Kouskoulas and Emily Armbruster scored, while freshman Emily McPharlin was solid in net to record the shutout.

The Norsemen played shorthanded in the first half against division-leading Eisenhower and fell behind 3-0.

They played an even second half and had a couple of good scoring chances to keep the Eagles on their heels.

Last weekend, North played a non-league game against the third-ranked team in Division 3, Detroit Country Day. Senior Jenna Paglino scored to give the visiting Norsemen a 1-0 lead, but the Yellowjackets tied it with just under a minute left in the opening half and won it with a second-half goal.

Grosse Pointe North heads into the final week of the regular season 1-7 in the Macomb Area Conference Red Division and 8-9-2 overall.

On Monday night, Cydney Webb scored twice in the first half, with Collins assisting the first at the 26:47 mark and Gabrielle Nguyen assisting the second at the 14:04 mark.

Manning scored at the 27:36 mark of the second half to make it a 3-0 Blue Devils lead.

The Blue Devils finished their Macomb Area Conference Red Division slate with a 10-6 win over L'Anse Creuse North.

John Denison led the home team with three goals, while Andrew Wright had two.

Andrew Hyde, Jared Brush, James Champane, Robert Carroll and Liam McIlroy had a goal apiece.

Season over

By Bob St. John

The University Liggett boys' lacrosse team ended its season with an 11-5 loss to host Madison Heights Bishop Foley last weekend.

Head coach Bill Brusilow said this was a game that could go either way since both were evenly matched.

"We feel good about our chances, but we have to play well to win,"

Brusilow said before the week began.

The Knights couldn't keep up with the Ventures on the defensive end of the field and the offense was slowed. In fact, Bishop Foley's Stephen Redding outscored the Knights with his six-goal outburst.

Earlier in the week, Liggett played a non-league game against Lake Orion, losing 12-6 to end the season 6-5 overall.

Knights close in on title

By Bob St. John

The University Liggett boys' baseball team won the Beal City Invitational last weekend, destroying Shepard 12-4 in the championship game.

"Everyone was hitting the ball," head coach Dan Cimini said. "The guys are really playing with a lot of confidence right now and winning this tournament gave us more momentum heading into the districts."

Senior Kevin Allen had three hits, while seniors Nate Gaggin and Mark Auk added two hits apiece to lead the Knights' offense. Junior Adam Fiema earned the win, going the distance and striking out 10.

In the semifinal, the Knights won what could be a Division 4 state championship preview, edging host Beal City 1-0.

"It was a great game by both teams," Cimini said. "Both teams played well.

We had some timely hitting and great pitching from Connor (Fannon)."

After five scoreless innings, the Knights scored in the top of the sixth inning.

Senior Cole Zingas led-off with a single and moved to second on a single by sophomore Nick Azar.

With one out, Fannon flew out to deep right. Zingas tagged up on the play and advanced to third. With runners on first and third with two outs, Gaggin singled home Zingas with the game's only run.

Fannon was all business after that, retiring Beal City in order to lift the Knights to the win.

Earlier in the week, Liggett swept a double-header from Allen Park Inter-City Baptist, winning 22-7 and 10-4.

In the first game, Gaggin earned the win, scattering four hits and striking out six in six innings. He also blasted

The University Liggett girls' softball team won a Michigan Independent Athletic Conference championship last week.

Kanakry earned the win, going the first five innings. She gave up three hits, two earned runs and struck out two. Senior Ashley Tengler finished up, pitching the final two innings with two hits allowed and one strikeout.

Liggett improved to 9-0 in the MIAC, whipping Lutheran Westland 13-2, as Tengler earned the win, going five innings with five hits allowed, two earned runs and three strikeouts.

Offensively, the host Knights had a field day with senior Julia DeRoo going 3-for-3 with two runs scored, one RBI and a stolen base.

took second due to the tiebreaker of fewest runs against.

The Blue Devils tied St. Clair 3-3 as Doyle was 2-for-3 with a double and RBI, and Eaton had a double and RBI. Doyle started and went six innings, giving up seven hits, walking four and striking out five.

Eaton and Champane had RBIs.

The Grosse Pointe North girls' softball team is preparing for the state playoff with a tough slate of games.

Last week, the Norsemen lost 12-3 to Macomb Area Conference Red Division foe Macomb Dakota and ended their MAC White Division schedule with a doubleheader loss to Chippewa Valley.

Head coach Claire Cannon went home as she was a standout player for Chippewa Valley during her four-year high school career.

"It's going to be a little weird coaching against my old high school head coach," Cannon said after the Norsemen played Dakota.

The Norsemen lost 12-2 and 11-6 to the Big Reds, ending the season 1-11 in the MAC White Division.

In the loss to Dakota, Senior Madison Bush started and junior Emily Alway came in to pitch relief.

Offensively, the Norsemen were led by junior Izzy Kirck and senior Sarah Richardson, who came close to hitting a home run, but her blast hit the top of the fence in right center.

Grosse Pointe North also lost a non-league game to Rochester Hills Stoney Creek, falling to 3-22 overall.

Grosse Pointe North's boys' baseball team swept its third straight two-game division series last week.

The Norsemen beat Warren Mott 15-3 and 8-3, finishing with a seven-game winning streak in the Macomb Area Conference White Division.

"Good pitching, good defense and hot bats have been leading us of late," head coach Frank Sumner said. "The guys are playing very well at the right time of the season."

The Norsemen also swept Utica Ford and L'Anse Creuse to finish in a tie for second place in the MAC White with a 7-3 mark. St. Clair won the division at 8-2 and Romeo was also 7-3.

In the first game against Mott, senior Cody Parafin earned the win, while junior Sal Ciaravino paced the offense, going 3-for-4 with two runs scored and two RBIs.

Senior David Kracht drew two walks and drove in three runs, while seniors Evan Hayden (two RBIs) and Cory Pierce (one RBI) had two hits apiece.

In the second game on home turf, the Norsemen scored four runs in the second inning to grab a 4-0 lead.

Senior Joe Andreoli and Parafin singled home the first two runs, and Hayden delivered a two-run single.

Mott came back with two runs off Hayden in the third inning, but Parafin hit a solo homer in the fourth to make it a 5-2 game.

In the fifth, the Norsemen put the finishing touches on the victory.

Sophomore Dan Robinson singled and stole second. He scored when sophomore Malik Bruton reached on an error and senior Mike Messina, who walked, scored, along with Bruton, on junior Jacob Zacharias's single.

Pierce reached on an infield single, but the Marauders got out of the inning without further damage.

Hayden gave up a run in the sixth, but shut the door in the seventh to lead the Norsemen to a win in their final division game of the 2013 season.
