Council takes Plan B

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

GROSSE POINTE SHORES — There are master plans, the Marshall Plan, even "Plan Nine From Outer Space."

None have more current relevance to Grosse Pointe Shores residents than Plan B, the framework for next fiscal year's $7,974,290 municipal budget, approved Tuesday, May 21, and effective July 1.

Passage of the budget included a 6.25 percent increase in water and sewage rates, largely to meet 4 and 6 percent increases from Detroit and Wayne County, respectively, but also to shore-up reserves in the city water fund.

Plan B, which its alphabetic designation denotes is the alternative to Plan A, which was rejected, includes a 1 mill tax increase.

Plan A had no tax rate increase.

Revenue generated by Plan B is to implement public safety enhancements, such as restaffing public safety headquarters 24 hours per day and installing security cameras at the city's main gateways and intersections.

Bonds may fund roadwork

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

CITY OF GROSSE POINTE — Many roads and water mains in this city have miles to go before being above average.

To get them up to speed, City of Grosse Pointe officials and their consulting engineers are developing a schedule of "selective" improvements, according to Mayor Dale Scrace.

"Over the next few months, bring back to council strategies for some kind of staged bonding to get some of this done," Scrace told City Manager Peter Dame last week.

Scrace seeks "a holistic program to start to address the really serious issues, whether water or streets."

"Essentially, what you're saying is you want to raise the levy to pay a bond for roads," Dame answered. "That is going to be the result of the investigation."

"I agree with the mayor," added Councilman John Stemplfle. "We need to consider some type of bond proposal."

Statues stolen

A cement menagerie of 11 suspected pilfered lawn ornaments is in the Grosse Pointe Farms public safety evidence room awaiting recovery. There's a couple of rabbits, a cat, a dog, griffin, incubus, a young baseball player wearing a bow tie and more. Officers, responding to a citizen, rounded them up the morning of Saturday, May 25, from the front porch of Grosse Pointe South High School.

"(They) were placed neatly underneath the columns of the school," according to a Farms report.

Officers figure it's a student prank coinciding with the end of the academic year. Participants may be graded in ways they don't expect. "South will be contacted after the (Memorial Day) holiday weekend so any video surveillance evidence may be obtained," police said. Officers want the statues returned to their owners. "Many of these statues may have sentimental value," police said. Call the public safety department at (313) 885-2100 for recovery information.

Road work

Construction workers had a rainout Monday in the resurfacing of Lochmoor, Sunningdale and Hampton Tuesday, May 28, in Grosse Pointe Shores.

"The top layer of asphalt has been removed," said Councilman Robert Barrette. "That's the first step." Workers anticipated rebuilding the roads' subsurface and catch basins by the end of last week, Barrette added. "It will be next week," he said. "The subsurface has to dry five to seven days to get a good seal."

The revised deadline is the middle of this week. "Following that, (replacing) street lights on Lochmoor and Sunningdale will be started," Barrette said.

Waiver deadline at GPPSS is June 1

The deadline for current Grosse Pointe residents to submit a Kindergarten Waiver Request to the Grosse Pointe Public School System is Saturday, June 1.

Waivers are required for parents or legal guardians whose child turns 5 no later than Dec. 1, 2014; the previous cutoff date for eligibility.

Effective June 26, 2012, Public Act 198 of 2012 revised the minimum age requirement for children entering kindergarten. Starting in the 2013-2014 school year, a child is eligible for enrollment if he turns 5 no later than Nov. 1, 2013; in 2014-2015 it's Oct. 1, 2014; and Sept. 1, 2015 for the 2015-2016 school year.

Per the Act, parents or legal guardians still have the option of enrolling their child should he turn 5 no later than Dec. 1 by submitting the waiver request forms.

Current non-residents who move into the district during the summer have until Aug. 1, to submit a waiver.

Waiver forms are available via the "Kindergarten" link on the district website at gpschools.schoolwires.net. For more information, contact the residency and enrollment office at (313) 432-3083.

Proposal would man building 24/7

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

GROSSE POINTE SHORES — A homeless man sleeping on a couch in the lobby of city hall during a recent early morning was a wakeup call to Grosse Pointe Shores officials that the public safety station, located in the building, ought to be staffed at all times.

Although public safety officers are on duty all the time, headquarters hasn't been manned during non-regular business hours since June 2011.

It was then, in an effort to save nearly $500,000 in response to declining housing values and consequent drops in municipal property tax revenue, the 24-hour-per-day dispatch department was shut down.

Operations were contracted through May 2014 to Grosse Pointe Farms.

While officers are on patrol, the vacant station leaves an empty feeling in some Shores residents, according to Mayor Ted Kedzierski and members of the city council.

"Residents are asking for more," Kedzierski said.

They'll get more by giving more.

A 1 mill property tax rate increase in next fiscal year's budget funds the hiring of part-time clerks. They'll work at the station during times regular municipal office personnel aren't on duty.

Clerks will answer non-emergency telephone calls, help officers with paperwork and monitor a system of security cameras on municipal property, plus those to be installed in at least three locations in the city.

"At midnight, if you're nearby and seek the safety of this building, you'll be able to talk to a person," Kedzierski said. "It's important to offer it on a trail basis."

Emergency 911 calls will remain routed to Farms headquarters for dispatching.

"If you have an emergency and want to come in the building, there will be someone here at all times to assist you," said

Shores Councilman Bruce Bisballe.

"We'll keep good statistics about the demand for this service (and) the number of people coming in," Kedzierski added.

City Manager Mark Wollenweber said he anticipates hiring eight to 12 employees.

Pay is forecast at $13 to $15 per hour.

The program will cost about $100,000 per year, Bisballe said.

"The workers will be non-union," Kedzierski said. "There would be no benefits. There's no pension or healthcare."

John Schulte, public safety director, is tasked with hiring and training the new staff.

City officials are preparing a public awareness campaign to teach residents when to call 911 as opposed to calling the station on administrative matters.

Public Safety Reports

City of Grosse Pointe

Holiday vacation

No incidents filed all week.

—Brad Lindberg

Report information about these or other crimes to the City of Grosse Pointe Public Safety Department at (313) 886-3200.

Grosse Pointe Farms

Gun gone

A 59-year-old Grosse Pointe Farms man reported his Smith & Wesson .357-caliber, five-shot revolver stolen last week from the trunk of his unlocked car.

The theft occurred in Detroit between 11 p.m. Wednesday, May 22, and 11:16 a.m. the following morning, the man reportedly told police.

“The firearm was being stored in the trunk of his vehicle while he was at a liquor establishment in the downtown Detroit area,” said a Farms officer. “When he returned to Grosse Pointe Farms and attempted to retrieve (the) firearm from (the) trunk, he discovered the firearm was no longer in the trunk.”

People generally don’t file reports in the Farms about alleged crimes in other jurisdictions.

“(He) stated he attempted to report (the) firearm stolen in Detroit, but Detroit police refused to take (the) complaint,” said the Farms officer.

Two arrested

Grosse Pointe Farms officers helped City of Grosse Pointe counterparts arrest two Detroit men during a traffic stop at 11:05 a.m. Wednesday, May 22, in the 17400 block of Mack near St. Clair.

One suspect, 48, admitted owning a leather jacket with pockets containing several plastic baggies, a scale, a box cutting knife and three cellular telephones, according to Farms police.

The other suspect, 46, was wanted on an unspecified outstanding warrant, officers added.

City police didn’t release a report on the matter.

Crybaby

A fired baby sitter won’t leave worse enough alone, according to an account by Farms police.

The suspect, a 64-year-old woman, was fired last week by a Farms resident, according to police.

“The suspect demanded a ‘glowing letter of recommendation’ in her mailbox tomorrow,” said an officer, citing the complainant. “If it isn’t there tomorrow, she states, ‘I will see a few people.’”

Police are investigating the incident as extortion.

Known pest

A male shoplifter known by police for violent behavior was at it again during the evening of Saturday, May 18, according to police.

At about 8 p.m., the 22-year-old suspect from Clinton Township reportedly tried to steal $3.97 worth of chewing gum and mints from the BP station at Mack and Moross.

“(He) is a mental subject who is aggressive while off his medication,” said an officer. “Due to (his) agitated mental state — aggressive and combative behavior — officers committed (him) to St. John Hospital.”

Spat

A 42-year-old Eastpointe man is accused of smashing a glass bottle against a vehicle belonging to a Farms man, 45, at 1:46 p.m. Sunday, May 19, at the intersection of Kercheval and southbound Lothrop.

The Farms man told police the suspect is his ex-wife’s boyfriend.

Cycle wreck

A motorcyclist’s maiden voyage ended in Titanic fashion for a 48-year-old man from Northville.

Out for a first-time ride at about 3:15 p.m. Tuesday, May 21, he failed to navigate the 90-degree curve in the 1100 block of southbound Lakeshore and deep-sixed over the curb onto the median.

“(The) driver was injured and taken to St.

John Hospital (by Grosse Pointe Shores medics,” said a public safety officer. “(He) was a novice cyclist. (He) just bought (the) motorcycle today.”

Car thefts

Overnight Wednesday, May 22, a 2008 Toyota was taken from a driveway in the 1400 block of Maryland.

Overnight Tuesday, May 14, a 1990 Chevrolet truck was taken from a driveway in the 1400 block of Wayburn.

Carjacking

An 18 year old Detroit resident was taken into custody at 2 a.m. Thursday, May 23, after attempting to flee following a carjacking. According to police, the owner of a 1994 Jeep heard her car, which was parked on Mack, start up and observed it pulling away. She ran out and tried to open the car door, but the suspect sped up, knocking her to the ground. She suffered minor injuries. The vehicle was pursued by Park police, and the suspect was eventually arrested in Detroit. He has been charged with carjacking.

Report information on these or any other crimes to Grosse Pointe Park police at (313) 822-7400.

Grosse Pointe Woods

Pot arrest

A 15-year-old Grosse Pointe Woods resident was arrested at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday, May 21, after he was found to be in possession of suspected marijuana and other drug paraphernalia. Woods police were called by a resident of Hidden Lane who reported finding a gate to his backyard open and a baseball equipment bag lying on the ground. He then saw the suspect pick up the bag and start to walk away. He stopped him and called police. The suspect said that he was looking for a friend, and when police checked his bag, they found the suspected marijuana. Police notified Grosse Pointe North school officials that the student would not be in class that day, took him to the station and released him later in the day to his mother.

Smash and grab

At 2:55 a.m. Tuesday, May 21, unknown suspects threw a rock through the front window of the Radio Shack store on Mack and made off with a television, digital camera equipment and a laptop. Police also thought they made off with several cellphones, but the manager explained that the items on display were demo cases and not real phones.

Car theft

A 2002 Chrysler Voyager was taken around 7 a.m. Monday, May 20, from a driveway on Stanhope.

OUR VIEW

Another night the Grosse Pointes will shine

As in the past, this year's honorees for The Guild at St. John Hospital and Medical Center are a worthy group. We're a little biased with the honorees for Philanthropic Services — they're this newspaper's owners, Vicki and Robert Liggett Jr. Their work and contributions for and to St. John Hospital is a source of pride. They'll shy from the recognition of next week's dinner that will honor them.

When you look at the list of honorees over the years — and those from events in and around Detroit — you always see Grosse Pointers.

As will the Ahee family, this year's winner of the Sr. Vernice McQuade Distinguished Service award.

The Ahees give so much back to the Grosse Pointes and Metro Detroit. Generation after generation has made it a priority to be part of the community, help businesses, foundations and nonprofits. Their work with the Capuchins is the party of the summer, year after year.

As with the Liggetts, schools, municipalities, business groups and foundations know they have support thanks to their generosity. And they are asked all the time.

They believe in giving back to this community — not because they'll be recognized. There are many, many families in the Grosse Pointes that are exactly like the Liggetts and Ahees.

When you look at the list of honorees over the years — and those from events in and around Detroit — you always see Grosse Pointers. They support the Capuchins, the Boys & Girls Clubs of Southeastern Michigan, the American Cancer Society, the American Red Cross and dozens more worthy causes.

At St. John's annual dinner June 5, they'll also honor Dr. Ali Rabbani, as the St. John Physician of the Year.

Over the 53 years of Guild dinners, many of the doctors honored are also Grosse Pointe residents.

The Guild's fundraiser, with proceeds going to the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit of St. John Hospital and Medical Center, is set for 6 p.m. Wednesday, June 5. The event will draw hundreds to Penna's of Sterling in Sterling Heights.

We're proud to be a longtime sponsor of the event, which will feature a great dinner, awards ceremony and the comedy of David Alan Grier. Special prizes will be donated by Edmund T. AHEE Jewelers and Ray Laethem Motor Village — also longtime sponsors.

Tickets and sponsorships are available. Contact Kathy Taranto at (313) 343-3674 or visit stjohnguild.org.

Thanks to The Guild for the work they do, to the families and doctor honored for their gifts and to the sponsors, donors and volunteers who make it a great event.

The Grosse Pointes will be well represented.

Concerns of fracking

To the Editor:
Thank you to Glen Scherer for his guest opinion, "Fracking national parks," that appeared in the May 16 Grosse Pointe News.

I share his concerns about protecting our parks and natural areas and appreciate his article in a local newspaper. This is an issue of utmost importance. The more people educated on this topic, the better.

We have seen the TV commercials on shale and how it benefits communities. When I see those commercials, I am angered at how they deceive people.

The public is led to believe natural gas burns clean. It is not as clean as one thinks. Methane is the primary component of natural gas and it is a powerful greenhouse gas — 25 times stronger than carbon dioxide. Producing, processing, and transporting natural gas releases methane into the atmosphere.

The process of fracking is far from clean. Between 2 and 8 million gallons of water are needed for each frack job. More than 400 tanker trucks are needed to carry water to and from the sites.

Forty thousand gallons of chemicals are used. Up to 600 chemicals are used including carcinogens and toxins such as uranium, mercury, ethylene glycol, methanol, hydrochloric acid and formaldehyde.

Along with the methane gas, these toxic chemicals leach out from the system and contaminate nearby groundwater. This is the same ground water used by the public in nearby towns and cities.

It is no wonder cases of sensory, respiratory and neurological damage from ingestion are on the rise in communities close to fracking sites.

Over half of the toxic fracking fluid is uncovered and is left in the ground. It is not biodegradable. Whatever waste water is recovered is left in open air pits to evaporate, thus releasing harmful volatile organic compounds in the atmosphere resulting in contaminated air, acid rain and ground level ozone.

This is what gas companies are not revealing to the public. Their primary goal is their profit. Are they concerned at the price of countless environmental, safety and health hazards?

I urge everyone to educate themselves about this issue. A good place to start is to view the award-winning documentary, "Gasland," by Josh Fox. Secondly, everyone must take action. Please write to your lawmakers and voice your concerns.

Monteith traffic jam

To the Editor:

I have a very simple and cheap solution to the traffic jam at Monteith: Encourage students to walk and or ride their bikes to school.

Please parents, do not use the excuse it is too dangerous for the children, there is a not a "boogeyman" around every corner.

Now-a-days children have cell phones and their ipods to keep in touch with a guardian. A number of Americans are over weight and out of shape — we should start at a young age to encourage healthy habits such as walking and riding a bike.

Mackinac Policy Conference

To the Editor:

Just as the swallows return to Capistrano every year in March, we can count on the so-called movers and shakers to return to Mackinac Island this time of the year for the annual Mackinac Policy Conference.

Over the next week we will be bombarded with news about the conference which has little if any impact on the millions of residents of Michigan.

Having attended this event in the past, I can tell you first-hand it is tantamount to a rollicking fraternity/sorority party. At the conclusion, no one remembers what took place.

The conference goal as outlined on the website states, "the 2013 Conference will feature national experts and innovative change-makers who will challenge us to work collaboratively to create a globally competitive, financially attractive business environment in Michigan." Let's be candid here — rarely does anything of substance come out of this conference? It is a vacation for most attendees with follow-up action plans as absent as cars on the island.

So as daily reports come in about the conference from reporters who try to convince us dramatic discussions are taking place that will have a significant and positive impact on our lives in Michigan, keep in mind the aroma of fudge and horse manure and the site of gaudy golf slacks has, no doubt, clouded their judgment.

As such, be prepared for a daily recount of activities of this group of island marauders as some of our tax dollars are going to buy fudge and a buggy ride for some government bloke. Giddy-up!

GUEST OPINION By Kathy Galeota

Memories of a lifetime left setting there

I sat watching from my living room as the family stacked bags and boxes by the curb. They were all rushing and stuffing items into their vans as the rain started to fall gently.

My house was quiet, but I could imagine the sound of excitement in their voices trying to complete their task before the downpour. The closing on the house was scheduled for the next day, so there was no time for sentimental exchanges.

As the caravan of cars sped away for the last time, I found myself grieving once again for my deceased neighbor whom, we said goodbye to many years prior.

What was left of her lifetime of memories and experiences was sitting there at the curb.

The house was built in 1949 and was the first house on Kenmore Drive. Katherine Grammens lived there until she went into a nursing home in 2009. We used to talk over the fence and she would share stories of how the horses from the Hunt Club would walk down the street before it was paved and how the fields around our houses were filled with berry bushes.

As the rain continued to fall, I could see that some of the contents of the boxes were carefully wrapped with packing paper. I retrieved a box from the pile. Enclosed was the family Kodak video camera from the 1950s complete with owner's manual and a canister of unused film, a document folder contained copies of Life Magazines from 1963 with the Kennedy assassination on the cover and several stacks of newspaper clippings in an envelope.

As I was going through the newspapers, I tried to envision what on the page moved her to save the paper for 50 years. I could smell her house on the documents as I sat on the floor sifting through the items reading the scraps of yellowed paper she carefully cut and others had meticulously folded from decades before.

As I carefully replaced the items into the box, I felt as if I had just had a visit with an old friend.

The new owners will move in and begin their own memories in the modest bungalow that housed a lovely family for over 60 years.

Deck deal

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

GROSSE POINTE SHORES — A legal settlement is finalized regarding the replacement of failed decking at the municipal marina, according to Brian Renaud, attorney for Grosse Pointe Shores.

“The product is going to be ordered from the supplier,” he said.

The supplier is giving the Shores 50,000 feet of composite decking to replace material installed during marina reconstruction in 2008, but is cracking ahead of its expected 10- to 15-year lifespan. The Shores pays delivery costs.

A contractor also is compensating the Shores $10,000 cash, according to Renaud.

Decking may be delivered in late June or early July, but won’t be installed until after Labor Day.

“We don’t want to disrupt summer usage (of the marina),” said Mark Wollenweber, city manager.

Shores officials said last month it will cost about $10,000 to replace the decking.

Councilman Bruce Bisballe has a plan for excess new decking.

“Put it on Craigslist and sell it,” he said. “Take the cash to offset labor costs.”

“We’re asking for one year, on a trial basis, 1 mill to fund those activities and see what the results of that are in terms of improved security, resident feedback, utilization and safety,” said Councilman Bruce Bisballe, finance chairman.

Plan B’s additional mill generates $247,571 property tax revenue to, in part, hire about 10 part-time, non-union administrative clerks at public safety headquarters in city hall.

New employees will coordinate coverage 24 hours per day, seven days per week, according to budget documents.

Yet, the hike doesn’t generate enough money to reinstate in-house dispatch operations, which remain contracted to Grosse Pointe Farms.

“We looked at bringing the whole dispatch process back,” said Councilwoman Kay Felt, a member of the finance committee. “It would, in our view, cost more than is justified, particularly with putting Plan B into effect.”

Differences between Plan B and the rejected Plan A relate to the tax increase.

Plan A had no additional funds to staff combined police, fire and EMS headquarters after normal business hours or on weekends.

Plan B’s hike follows a 1.5 mill property tax rate decrease from last fiscal year’s budget.

Combining the reduction and increase nets a

.5 mill rate increase in fiscal year 2013-’14.

“Residents are still going to see a tax reduction, even with Plan B,” Bisballe said.

The .5 mill drop represents about a 3 percent cut from last year’s rate, which is greater than a 2.4 percent increase in taxable property values indicated by Rhonda Ricketts, finance director.

“There should be a net decrease in the majority of homeowners’ tax bill for city tax,” Ricketts said.

Plan B also reflects:

- ◆ a $2.9 million system-wide infrastructure improvement contract with Honeywell,
- ◆ the same employee compensation levels and
- ◆ resumption of tree trimming,
- ◆ $25,000 for police vehicles,
- ◆ $50,000 for public works trash carts and
- ◆ labor costs to replace failing decking at the municipal marina.

Mayor Ted Kedzierski anticipates adding $90,000 to the rainy day fund.

“We hope when this fiscal year ends, we will have nearly $1 million in fund balance,” Kedzierski said. “That’s a rainy day fund to tap in the event on bad times again.”

Councilman Dan Schulte cast the single vote against the budget. He opposed the tax increase, saying the council promised last year to rescind its 1.5 mill increase, used for road repairs, after one year.

“If we don’t live up to that promise, it makes us look like the stereotypical government that never keeps its word,” he said.

Falling backwards

The percentage of roads in poor condition increased nearly 180 percent from 2006 to 2013, according to an inventory by the city’s consulting engineers. Nine percent were unchanged.

“We’re doing the best we can, but we’re kind of going backwards,” Scrace said. “It’s like when I work out at the gym. The more I work out, the harder it seems to keep even.”

Roads in fair condition declined 19 percent during the same period, according to engineers. Another 40 percent remained fair.

“The only reason they’re in as good a condition as they are is that we have been able to garner federal grants to pave streets that are eligible,” Dame said.

The roughly 15 percent of roads in good shape stayed nearly the same.

“We’re holding our own at the good end, but losing traction at other end,” said Stephen Pangori, of Anderson, Eckstein and Westrick engineers.

City officials retained the firm to develop a capital improvement plan, which prompted the discussion about bonds at the Monday, May 20, council session.

“All of our money now is going to street reconstruction,” Dame said.

He’s targeting work in areas rated at the bottom of the smoothness scale, 1 to 10, with one being the worst. Engineers rated no city streets at either the worst or best possible condition.

Most roads rated 7, meaning somewhat good (27.9 percent) or 4, somewhat bad (24.55 percent).

“Streets we’re proposing to do now are in the No. 2 category,” Dame said. “Goethe is basically dirt. Cadieux has a rating of 4 in some spots. It’s not nearly as bad as Goethe or Chalfonte.”

“I avoid those two streets,” Ste.nplfe said.

“They’re horrible.”

Cadieux is due for resurfacing in four years, Dame said.

At the current rate of road expenditures, $235,000 per year, it would take nearly 12 years and $2.5 million to resurface the 6.2 miles of city roads rated 4 and 5, according to Pangori.

“Life expectancy of repairs is 7 to 10 years,” he said. “But, we need 12 years to get that done. So, you can see how we’re losing traction.”

“Total needs (of the station) are $4.7 million,” Pangori said. “Plus, man-hole rehab is another $355,400.”

This multi-million honey-do list was being discussed before a city council that recently passed a $5,473,086 general fund budget for next fiscal year, but forecast a $346,000 deficit for the year after.

“The budget’s treading water,” Scrace said.

Bad design

Problems with city roadways start with their design, according to Dame.

Most don’t have a gutter.

“That’s a problem,” Dame said. “Water collects at the edge of the asphalt and the curb and deteriorates the curb. The curb falls off the edge of the asphalt. Then, every time you have to do the asphalt, you have to do most of the curb.”

It costs more to construct streets with gutters.

“But, we don’t have funds available to do things the right way,” Dame said.

North's Abud named Teacher of Year

By A.J. Hakim
Staff Writer

Gary Abud, a chemistry and physics teacher at Grosse Pointe North High School, became only the second teacher from the Grosse Pointe Public School System since 1952 to be named Michigan Teacher of the Year.

A surprised Abud learned of the honor last Thursday at an all-school assembly in the school gymnasium, during which state Superintendent Mike Flanagan made the official announcement.

"This is a surprise," said Abud, who also recently received the Michigan Science Teachers Association's 2012 Michigan Teacher of Promise. "I mean, we don't have assemblies like this with channel 2 News here every day that are scheduled the morning of. I knew I was a finalist, I knew that they told me you won't find out except for a surprise, that it'll be a surprise when you find out."

Other educators selected as finalists were: Misty Balkema, 5th/6th-grade social studies at Lawrence Elementary School; Todd Chappa, third-grade teacher at Lake Center Elementary; and Michael Medvinsky, music teacher at Oakwood Elementary.

"They're looking for outstanding teaching, and frankly, if you get to the five, you've got five winners," Flanagan said. "But they said that Gary just was that much more ahead than the others. His enthusiasm, his ability to connect with kids."

With the distinction, Abud receives a car for a year, a non-voting seat at the state board of education regular monthly meetings throughout the year and becomes an active voice for teachers, engaging in occasional discussions on advancing the state's education system.

GPPSS also receives $1,000 courtesy of MEEMIC Insurance Company in honor of Abud's recognition.

"I represent a variety of levels in Grosse Pointe public schools, from student to educator, and I think that all of that together is something I really want to convey, attribute it to my success," said Abud, also a graduate of North, class of 2002. "Working with the students here, working with the educators here and as well being a student of this school system has really helped me to be the best professional I can be, and I really want to dedicate this award to all those people in this school system that have helped me to be so successful."

Ralph N. Deal, a former GPPSS high school teacher, was selected Teacher of the Year in 1964. Abud is also the 14th high school teacher to earn the distinction, and fourth in the past four years.

"It's impossible to do something like this without a supportive family network, and that my wife, Janice, has been a true supporter and encourager of what I do in the classroom," Abud said. "And as a fellow educator, she's shared a lot of great ideas with me that have influenced how I think about education. And my family in general has been truly supportive."

Abud graduated premed from Wayne State University, as well as earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in philosophy from there, and a master's in teaching from Saginaw Valley State University.

Flanagan's visit

Before last Thursday's assembly, Flanagan spent time in the morning visiting with North students and learning about programs such as Applied Medical Research and the mentor program.

"The one, I guess if I had to pick one that most impressed, is their mentor program, where higher achieving kids get an independent study hour and part of their responsibility is taking kids who are struggling and working with them in and out of school," Flanagan said. "Costs no money. Very effective. I don't see that. To see this structure, so tightly structured."

Of plastics and polymers

Chemical engineering in its purest form, at least as it relates to plastic and polymers, said Marjorie Weiner, "is getting the sparkles into your toothpaste, getting the tube to squish out, or getting the stripes to squish out onto your toothpaste the right way."

"That is chemical engineering in its purest form," said Weiner, an outreach educator for the Society of Plastics Engineers and author of the society's national PlastiVan program, designed to introduce students to the plastics industry, the fourth largest industry in the United States.

She visited St. Paul on the Lake Catholic School in April, educating students about the chemistry, history, manufacturing and application of plastics and polymers through a set of lectures and quick experiments.

Her visit, which consisted of five sessions throughout the day Wednesday, April 17, was courtesy St. Paul's Teacher Parent Guild, an enrichment committee responsible for finding assemblies and programs for the school, among other responsibilities.

"There was a friend of ours, Mary Frazier, she works at BASF, and they're part of the specialized plastics industry," said Patrick Bierkle, of the TPG. "Through their societies, they found out about this program that was being offered, so Mary had sent information to (St. Paul principal) Dr. (Mary) Miller. We ran it by Dr. Miller and she was like, 'Oh, that sounds fantastic.'"

During each of the hour-long sessions, Weiner had students experiment with polymer chains of a balloon; mixing water and sodium polyacrylate, an absorbent polymer that can absorb up to 300 times its mass in water, making it ideal for disposable diapers, what Weiner said is "an engineering work of art"; as well as a few other materials.

Weiner started the program 17 years ago and has traveled the country educating students on the industry.

In that time, she said the majority of experiments have remained unchanged, though she has altered the way in which she presents them due to the societal evolution.

"The experiments stay the same, but the influence kind of changes, everything changes a little bit," Weiner said. "It's funny, years ago, I would hold (the top piece of a plastic Coke bottle) up and kids would look at the screw top and go, 'Oh, soda bottle, soda bottle.' People have taken soda out of their diets now. Now it's water bottle. They don't know what it is because they're not drinking 2-liter bottles of soda anymore.

Grace Paschke plays with a gel-like concoction, a mixture of borax and polyvinyl alcohol.

"It's the evolution of what goes on in society that changes what we do."

Feeding the less fortunate

By A.J. Hakim
Staff Writer

For a third straight year, Ferry Elementary School has joined in the DMC Children's Hospital of Michigan's Professional Nurse Council's and Gleaner's Community Food Bank's fight against child hunger, donating 994.5 servings of cereal to its annual Cereal Drive.

All cereal boxes support Gleaner's and the more than 550 food pantries the organization partners with.

"The way we measure the amount of cereal, it's not by boxes, it's by serving sizes" said Madelyn Torakis who organized Ferry's drive with her daughter, Elizabeth, and guidance from Ferry third grade teacher and student council advisor, Jane Ellis. "Every serving of cereal makes a big difference because we know these are for kids that have either free or reduced breakfast and lunches during the school year but don't get that when they're not in school."

Though Ferry's cereal drive concluded last week, the council's actual drive starts Friday, May 31, and runs through Friday, June 7. So, Torakis said, those who missed Ferry's drive and wish to donate still have the opportunity next week.

"If anyone wants to make additional donations of cereal, they can do so at Children's Hospital of Michigan during that first week of June," Torakis said.

This year and last, all Ferry students participated; whereas, only fourth and fifth graders donated in the first year.

"Ferry was excited about it because it makes an impact for kids their own age," Torakis said.

PASTOR'S CORNER By Meg Wilson

The dictionary's definition of anxiety is a painful or apprehensive uneasiness of mind, usually over an impending or anticipated ill.

Physicians report an increased number of patients seeking treatment for anxiety induced symptoms.

Turning on the news, we are bombarded with stories of crisis. We learn about bombings in Boston, children being abducted and held captive for more than a decade, tornados that have decimated communities. All of this impacts us.

We also struggle with our personal concerns. So if your palms are sweating and you find your heart racing — take a deep breath in and remember to exhale. You are not alone; we are part of a society struggling with anxiety. We don't always identify this feeling. We may feel irritable or have physical symptoms. We may enter into a place of denial, until two o'clock in the morning when we wake up engulfed in anxiety.

In the Hebrew scriptures and the New Testament, we meet people facing extreme challenges. We can take comfort that through the ages people of faith have struggled with and survived anxiety, even before online dictionaries were around to define it.

Jesus was fully aware of the human condition. Jesus served as a healthy example of someone with the ability to identify and acknowledge the situations that made his heart ache.

From Matthew 6: 34 comes this message:

"Give your entire attention to what God is doing right now, and don't get worked up about what may or may not happen tomorrow. God will help you deal with whatever hard things come up when the time comes."

Jesus knew it was human nature to focus on the "what ifs" and the "may-bes." He knew we get pre-occupied with what's around the corner. Jesus says, take a deep breath — give your entire attention to God — right in this moment — be present.

Here is a breakdown on what the average person's anxiety relates to:

- ◆ 40 percent — things that will never happen,
- ◆ 30 percent — things about the past that can't be changed
- ◆ 12 percent — things about criticism by others,

mostly untrue,

◆ 10 percent — about health, which gets worse with stress and

◆ 8 percent — about real problems that will be faced.

The percentages help us to put Jesus' words into perspective. Jesus understood if our focus was on God right now, we could better cope with our life circumstances. Christ brings a message reminding us we are not alone. We belong to God.

On my bulletin board I keep a photo of the Earth. I feel less alone when I stare at the image of land masses and water. I think about all of the beating hearts across the earth and I feel a sense of connection to them and a deeper connection to our maker. I am reminded that I belong to the one who created the oceans and the mountains. We're going to be all right because the creator of heaven and earth holds me and holds you and the entire world in the palm of his hand.

Wilson is the director of children and youth ministry at Grosse Pointe Congregational Church.

James A. Ruffner

Longtime Grosse Pointe Park resident James A. "Jim" Ruffner, a respected science historian and Detroit jazz impresario, died Thursday, May 16, 2013, after a brief illness.

He was born in 1930, in Akron, Ohio, to Olive (nee Taylor) and Frederick G. Ruffner and earned a bachelor's degree in physics from The Ohio State University in 1952. He served with the U.S. Air Force Air Weather Service until 1956. He earned a master's degree in meteorology from the University of Michigan in 1958, and a doctorate in history of science from Indiana University in Bloomington, Ind. in 1966.

Scholarship and jazz went hand-in-hand throughout Mr. Ruffner's life. While jazz was his love — he first organized jazz performances as an undergraduate at Ohio State — his profession was scholarship in science history. He was recognized as an expert in Isaac Newton's theories of cosmology.

Mr. Ruffner began his teaching career at a small college in Texas. In 1964 he joined the Wayne State University faculty as a professor in Monteith College. When the university closed Monteith in 1975, he joined the university's science library staff until his retirement in 1996.

A memorial service will be held at 10:30 a.m. Friday, June 21, at Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian Church.

Donations may be made to the Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian Church Jazz Fund, 8625 E. Jefferson, Detroit, MI 48214.

She was a dedicated mother and grandmother whose positive outlook and grace will continue to influence their lives.

A memorial service will be held at 1 p.m. Tuesday, June 4, at Christ Church Grosse Pointe, 61 Grosse Pointe Blvd., Grosse Pointe Farms. Interment will be in the church's columbarium garden.

~ Sarah Adams Hill ~

Former Grosse Pointe resident Sarah Adams Hill, 75, died Tuesday morning, May 21, 2013, at her daughter's home in Durham, North Carolina.

She was born Sarah Randolph Adams on December 8, 1937, at her grandmother's home in Bluefield, West Virginia to Charles Henry (Harry) Adams and Mary Katherine Higginbotham. Soon afterwards, they returned to the Adams' home in Kingsport, Tenn., where Harry was a pharmacist. Sarah lived there with her family until she left for college in 1955. Sarah loved Tennessee, and told her children that she wanted her ashes to be scattered in the Smoky Mountains.

At Dobyns-Bennett High School in Kingsport, longtime friend Lucy Crymble Morse remembers a classmate who wrote features for the Indian Tribune student newspaper. "It amazed me what she could do with words — take something that I could finish in three sentences and have a page of wonderful prose."

College began at Agnes Scott in Decatur, Georgia and ended with honors in journalism at the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill. She was one of the founding members of their chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

After college, and a brief stint in Atlanta, Sarah headed north to Boston. Barbara Apple Pittman remembers living with Sarah and two others in a dilapidated house behind the Harvard Law School. They shared one bedroom, one bathroom, a Chinese red piano in a large dining room and a huge kitchen. The law students upstairs had a pet boa constrictor that often slithered downstairs to visit. Those years were filled with laughter.

"Such a beauty Sarah was with a gorgeous Tennessee complexion," Barbara said. "My father called her the Kingsport filly."

In 1966, Sarah met the man who would become her husband, editorial cartoonist Draper Hill, at a party in Boston.

Sarah and Draper moved to Memphis shortly after their second child was born in 1970. Sarah loved everything about Memphis, making dear friends and giving generously of her time to make a positive impact on the city, a passion that continued for the rest of her life.

When her husband Draper was hired as editorial cartoonist at The Detroit News, the family moved to Washington Road in Grosse Pointe. While raising her family was her priority, Sarah also became an active member of the community and parishioner at Christ Church Grosse Pointe, where she served on many committees as well as the vestry. One of her favorite projects was the Christ Church Antiques Show, which she helped begin in 1984.

Sharon DeHaven often sat with Sarah in church. "Her scintillating intelligence, gracious humor, singular laugh and stylish dress created a picture of my dear friend that I have carried with me through all the years since those days in the late seventies ... At some point, we started meeting at the corner of Washington and Maumee and walked in the morning. I miss her."

As in Memphis, Sarah threw herself into the city. Early on, she began volunteering at the Detroit Community Music School, which brought musical instruction and performance to the residents of Detroit. She went on to be active in many organizations that promoted and preserved the artistic community, particularly the Detroit Artists Market, where she served as chairman in the late seventies.

Sarah also loved fashion. Her children teased that she was often overdressed. This led to the creation of Blithe Spirit, a fashion line she began with dear friend Audrey Platt that featured wearable art. "Gathering beautiful clothes and jewelry from designers all over the country, she traveled with eight or more suitcases as well as racks all over the U.S. doing shows in friends' houses and commercial storefronts as far afield as San Francisco, Savannah, Greenwich and Grosse Pointe," Audrey said. "She was even quoted in Women's Wear Daily on what would be new in fashion that season. It was part theater, part style and the rest just plain fun."

Another close friend, Eleanor Marsh, describes Sarah as exceptionally kind to strangers. "She introduced me to friends, taking me under her wing and getting me involved in the Artists Market." They also worked together on the board of Greening of Detroit and "spent lots of happy hours planting trees in the city." Eleanor recalled "many an evening at the Hill's, enjoying Sarah's superb dinners and lively conversations with an eclectic group of friends — such wonderful memories."

Sarah Hill is survived by her daughter, Jennifer; her son and daughter-in-law, Jon and Erin and their sons Jack and Charlie; and her younger twin siblings Charles Henry Adams Jr. and Mary Adams Parsley and their families.

She was predeceased by her husband, Draper, in 2009.

A memorial service will be held at 11 a.m. on Friday, May 31, at Hall-Wynne Funeral Service, 1113 W. Main St. in Durham.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Detroit Artists Market, 4719 Woodward Ave., Detroit, MI 48201 or Greening of Detroit, 1418 Michigan Ave., Detroit, MI 48216.

2013 Mazda5

Ah, the elegant simplicity of it: the 2013 Mazda5, a six-passenger carryall with artistically sculpted sides and a practical streak.

The Mazda5 debuted in 2006 and has been getting regular updates and improvements in the intervening years. Mazda5 models for 2013 include Sport, Touring and Grand Touring.

All models share the Mazda's MZR 157 horsepower 2.5-liter engine.

The 2013 Mazda5 can be equipped with either a six-speed manual transmission, Sport models only, or a five-speed electronically-controlled automatic with manual shift mode. The 2.5-liter with manual transmission has an EPA rating of 21 city/28 highway miles per gallon. With the automatic, the vehicle's fuel consumption is rated at 22 city/28 highway.

The Mazda5 is a handsome smaller family multi-purpose vehicle with a modest base price of $25,000.

All models feature seating for up to six, with captain-style second-row "armchairs" between which passengers headed for the two-person split rear seat pass.

Safety updates for the 2013 Mazda5 include rear backup sensors for the Touring and Grand Touring models.

The mid-level Touring model also has 17-inch alloy wheels and all-season tires, a rear liftgate spoiler, clear lens halogen fog lights, Bluetooth hands-free phone and audio, leather-wrapped steering wheel and shift knob and a trip computer.

To those features the Grand Touring model adds a power moonroof, Xenon high-intensity discharge headlights, automatic on/off headlights, heated outside mirrors and rain-sensing windshield wipers.

The Grand Touring interior offers heated front seats, leather-trimmed seating upholstery and satellite radio with a four-month subscription.

The test Mazda5 Grand Touring had a window sticker of $24,470. The Mazda5 Sport starts at $19,940.

Did you know this Grosse Pointe fact?

The Grosse Pointe Historical Society's charge is to gather, preserve, disseminate and promote the area's stories.

The following are short tales of Grosse Pointe. It is also a way to entice readers to learn more about their community and, perhaps, attend the historical society's 10th annual summer gala, "La Dolce Vita," from 7 to 10 p.m. Thursday, June 6, in a historical Grosse Pointe Farms house.

Windmill Pointe

Windmill Pointe began at the present-day Water Works Park on Jefferson Avenue and continued to Bishop Road. The entire area was surrounded by lake, marsh and creeks and called Presque Isle.

The area around Windmill Pointe did not earn its name until about 1750, when a windmill was constructed.

The first inhabitants were seasonal fur trappers and fishermen. In 1701, when the French established a permanent stronghold at Fort Pontchartrain, settlement became an option.

These early settlers soon outgrew the fort. To create a place for them to live, France's king issued land grants. To ensure every farmer had access to the water for food, irrigation and transportation, "ribbon farms" were developed. Each land grant allowed for a small amount of water frontage and the property stretched inland for miles. Generally, the house was at the front of the property with out buildings behind it and fields stretching west.

From Water Works Park to Bishop Road was the Grand Marais, a marsh.

During the Great Depression, banks foreclosed on many houses and Grosse Pointe Park acquired six lake front lots that became Windmill Pointe Park, which has been open since the 1930s.

Filling in

Following the French and Indian War, political control of Detroit shifted to the British, but had little effect on Grosse Pointe, which continued as a quiet farming community.

Americans assumed control of Detroit in 1796. At the time, the population of the city was 700 plus militia. Two years later, Wayne County was established and the area divided into four townships, with Grosse Pointe becoming part of Hamtramck Township.

Transporting people and goods from the East Coast to the Midwest was possible, but it meant traveling through the mountains. The 1825 opening of the Erie Canal connected the Port of New York to Buffalo, N.Y., creating a boom period for Detroit.

By 1846, the area's population was such that Grosse Pointe became its own township, with borders from the foot of the lake to Macomb County,

Historic house sets the scene

The beauty of the Tuscan countryside is the backdrop for the Grosse Pointe Historical Society's 10th Summer Gala, "La Dolce Vita," from 7 to 10 p.m. Thursday, June 6, at the Charles A. Dean house in Grosse Pointe Farms.

"All of us at the society are looking forward to our party and a step back in time in this wonderful Tuscan Villa," said Susan Hartz, the historical society's president.

Ridgeland, the Tuscan-style home designed by architect Hugh T. Keyes, was built for Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Dean Jr., on one of the few sloping sites in Grosse Pointe. Bordered by giant oak trees, the Italian-style villa is the result of a successful collaboration between the homeowner and architect.

Cynthia Dean Navarra, the Deans' daughter, is an honorary event chairwoman. Frederick G. Ruffner Jr., who purchased the house in the mid 1970s, and his two sons, Rick and Peter, are honorary chairmen.

Hartz and Susan Budrys are the co-chairwomen of the gala.

The party includes tours of the house and an Italian-inspired strolling supper.

Music in one of the gardens features Cristina Carollo, lyric soprano, and Joe Recchia, accordionist. Classical guitarist Levi Henson performs in another garden.

In the living room, pianist Jack McCormick plays the music of George Gershwin, Cole Porter and other American song book composers.

"Preserving our historic buildings honors the artisans who poured their talents into their work, and so we are pleased to welcome supporters of the Grosse Pointe Historical Society to our home, Ridgeland," said Lora Mazza, owner and hostess.

Like many Americans in the years following World War I, the Deans were fascinated with the art and culture of the past. They wanted their home to reflect the romance of those earlier days choosing Keyes as their architect. He had studied at Harvard, worked in the Albert Kahn studios before opening his own

Street names

Grosse Pointe street names were selected from a variety of sources. Some streets were named for famous local people or former French grantees; others, the names of cottages or estate names, and still others from the names of the subdivision developers' families.

Streets in Detroit — Rivard, Fisher, Moran — also exist in Grosse Pointe.

Other streets names have changed: Barrington was King Street, Pemberton was Queen Street and Wayburn was originally Wayside, where the streetcars turned around.

The owner of the Detroit Motorbus Line, Thomas Bedford, is immortalized with a street named for him.

Three Mile Drive refers to one of three one-mile race tracks in Grosse Pointe.

To learn more about Grosse Pointe, contact volunteers at the Grosse Pointe Historical Society Moran Resource Center at (313) 884-7010 or gph-storical.org.

and the width of the ribbon farms.

To support the additional traffic, a plank road was built in 1851 on Jefferson from Detroit to Fisher Road. In rainy weather, however, the road became impassable. People who wanted to get to Grosse Pointe still relied on water for transportation. To alleviate the muddy road problem, a dike was built in 1870 running parallel to the lake about 100 feet from shore. A pumping station was erected at the foot of what is now Audubon, draining the Grand Marais.

In 1890, the neighborhoods of Beaconsfield and Nottingham below Jefferson were the first to be surveyed and mapped in Grosse Pointe Park.

'We, as well as the previous residents, enjoy the architectural brilliance of this unique home. It is designed to fit the landscape while creating views which really make one feel as though they are in Tuscany. Built in the 1920s the house is perfectly suited for entertainment of large or small parties and offers many charming features to please the eye.'

LORA MAZZA
Grosse Pointe Farms

Houses built here were either derivatives of the Craftsman bungalow or a railroad flat with porches on each floor.

Dirt from Detroit's burgeoning construction sites was used as fill for the Grand Marais.

By 1903, Jefferson was paved from Water Works Park to Fisher Road. The area rapidly went from swampland to habitable sites including homes, manufacturing plants and three racetracks.

From 1880 to 1918, Detroit annexed many small townships and villages to support its need for land to be used for additional building sites. Detroit was then a hub for manufacturing that included Pullman car construction and stove production.

To avoid annexation, the Village of Grosse Pointe was incorporated in 1879, encompassing the land from Conner to St. Clair Shores. Grosse Pointe Farms was incorporated in 1893, followed by Grosse Pointe Park in 1911 and Lochmoor/Grosse Pointe Woods in 1927.

Moran Road

In the mid-1800s, a day or overnight trip from Detroit to Grosse Pointe might end at one of the roadhouses that sprang up along Jefferson. There, the offerings for the traveler would include accommodations, meals and opportunities to fish, play games or gamble.

Meals featured fish, chicken and a specialty dish of frog fricassee. Travelers could also expect fresh fruit from local cherry, pear and apple trees.

The Moran Roadhouse was erected by George Moran in 1870 at the foot of what is now Moran Road, on the shore of Lake St. Clair. The back of the roadhouse was built over the lake — an unusual feature at the time. Moran created several small ponds stocked with fish, which were ready to satisfy the appetite of a hungry guest.

Moran also kept live sturgeon for which visitors would dive, winning a prize if they could bring one to the surface. Moran operated his roadhouse until it fell into the lake.

ASK THE EXPERTS By Mary Ellen Brayton

Eight reasons to 'age at home'

Q My 82-year-old father lives alone and is fiercely independent but he's finding it more difficult to handle everything at home. We are not sure if he should still be driving, cooking and if he's actually taking his medications on a regular basis. It's a touchy topic with him, but we are starting to see a decline in his abilities.

A "I don't need help" is a typical response when a family member suggests calling someone for assistance. As tough as it may be to enlist the help of a "stranger" when it comes to caring for your parents, sometimes it's for the best. It will take the strain off the family and your parent may also benefit from professional care in the comforts of home.

Here are some advantages to home care:

◆ Home care promotes healing: "I know that our clients enjoy a much better quality of life which many families have said helped to extend the lives of their loved ones," Peter Ross, CEO and co-founder of Senior Helpers said. In many circumstances the person does better in the home, especially if he or she have dementia. He or she remain in a familiar environment and more comfortable.

◆ Home care is safe: Many risks such as infection are eliminated or minimized when care is given at home. Quality home care by professional caregivers can also help prevent falls in the home since seniors may be too weak or dizzy from medication and fall when they're cleaning or bathing.

◆ Home care allows for freedom: Patients at home may be engaged with their typical daily activities as their health permits and it allows individuals to remain in their community.

◆ Home care gives them some control: As loved ones age, home care gives them more control over the type of care they'll get to choose.

◆ Home care is personalized. It is tailored to meet the needs of each client as they receive one-on-one attention.

◆ It eases the burden on the family. While length of stay in the hospital decreases, many go home earlier. Professional home care can provide loved ones with the help they need to recover at home.

◆ Home care is comfortable. Most people choose to stay at home, where the atmosphere is familiar and comfortable.

◆ Brayton is a community relations manager at Senior Helpers in Grosse Pointe providing companions and personal caregivers to seniors in the tri-county area. She can be reached at (313) 885-0600.

The Family Center is a non-profit organization founded to promote a deeper understanding of the role of parents and others in supporting our youth to become competent, caring and responsible community members. All gifts are tax-deductible.

◆ ST. CLARE TO

BUILD: Grosse Pointe Park Council approved vacating one block of Audubon Road and the issuance of a building permit to St. Clare of Montefalco Church.

This action clears the way for St. Clare to begin construction on an eight-classroom addition to the present school structure. A gymnasium will be included.

◆ DUCK SETS UP

SMOKE SCREEN: Both City fire trucks responded to reports of a smoke-filled home at 522 Neff. The firefighters arrived to find the homeowner had left a duck cooking while she ran an errand. The duck was well-cooked.

◆ MOTORISTS SEE

PREMATURE LAUNCHING: A boat was launched in the middle of Mack.

A Detroit driver was hauling a trailer with an 18-foot "Run-About" type with an outboard motor secured to its stern. Suddenly, between Lochmoor and Hunt Club Drive, a support rope holding the boat atop the trailer broke and the vessel launched itself, stern first, into the middle of Mack.

Eventually the driver succeeded in re-securing his vessel and continued on his way, presumably to give the boat a second launching — this time on water.

◆ HIGH SCHOOL PRANKS — THE BANE OF OFFICIALS: Some teachers and school officials don't like to publicly discuss high school pranks, because an otherwise tranquil student body may turn ugly. But each spring with or without media attention, a Volks-wagen or Elias Bros. Big Boy may appear on the roof of the school or a greased pig may squeal down a hallway.

Last week, five University Liggett School students were suspended and three seniors will not be allowed to take part in commencement exercises for dumping horse manure in hallways and in office files. Also, at least one live chicken was dismembered, and parts were left on a librarian's desk.

◆ HILL MERCHANTS PITCH IN FOR LIMO SERVICE: If you saw a beautiful white stretch limousine around the Hill during the past few weeks and wondered if there was anyone important in it, there was: Hill customers.

A group of Hill merchants found a way to bring visitors from the Junior League Designer's Show House to the Hill and not have them worry about finding a parking space.

◆ STATE TITLE IN JEOPARDY: A senior prank at University Liggett School sent the school spinning May 6, but on the tennis courts, the move may cost the school a state tennis title.

ULS, which holds the nation's top honor for winning 25 state titles, is trying to defend its boys' 1987 Class C-D title, but it could prove quite elusive after three of their top five players were dismissed from the team.

The three players were not identified by ULS sources, but it was learned that two of them were seniors and one was a sophomore. On May 6, ULS officials discovered manure spread in a hallway, on a desk of a science teacher and in a few files and blood from chickens was also found in the hallway.

Scholarships awards

Five high school students were given scholarships by the Grosse Pointe Theatre April 14.

Jeremy Harr, a student at Grosse Pointe North High School, Grosse Pointe South High School students Connor Reinman, Grace Muawad and John Leo and Grant Hale, a Romeo High School student were the recipients of the scholarships.

Twelve high school students performed or presented technical work before theatre judges Bob Montgomery, Susan Davis and Timothy Higgins. They entered in either performance or technical theater.

Those in the performance category performed two memorized monologues or sang. Students entering in the technical showed models or portfolios.

The scholarships can be used for tuition to a summer performing arts program or college tuition.

Quick, inexpensive pasta dish

Fettuccine Alfredo by today's standards is pasta tossed with a thick and gooey "white" sauce.

Invented in the 1920s, by a guy named Alfredo di Lello, this Roman dish calls for Parmesan cheese, eggs, cream and butter, tossed with just cooked noodles. The method, besides the pasta, is no-cook and the result is a light sauce that actually clings to the fettuccine.

You will never buy Alfredo sauce in a jar again. I promise.

Classic Fettuccine Alfredo (Mark Bittman)

1 lb. fettuccine (or other pasta)
2 eggs
1 cup grated Parmesan cheese
½ cup heavy cream
4 tablespoons butter, melted
salt and pepper to taste
Special equipment — oven safe bowl rections.

In the meantime, whisk eggs with Parmesan cheese and the heavy cream. Set aside.

When pasta is ready, carefully pull bowl from oven and add egg mixture. Top it with drained pasta and toss right away. Drizzle with melted butter and toss again. Taste and season with salt and pepper to taste. Watch the salt!

There are so many great things about this recipe. It's authentic. It's dinner in less than 30 minutes, feeds four to six people for less than $5 and you can top it with anything flying off the grill this summer. Yea!

high water mark in charm and ingenuity of design."

Construction on the L-shaped house, about 8,800 square feet, began in 1924 and was completed in 1926.

Every major room on the ground floor has access to the surrounding gardens. The exterior includes decorative stonework plaques and insets, as well as two original fountains.

The original hand-painted walls, which resemble hanging drapes and a quarter-round corner fireplace.

The great room ceiling is decorated in the 14th century Florentine style, and has two fireplaces, one at each end. In lieu of a mantel, the north-end fireplace has an imported chapel altar canopy of twisted columns and a wall niche containing an icon of the Sermon on the Mount, painted in the Greek Orthodox style. The south-end mantel is a copy of one in the Palazzo Davanzati. Also Italianate in origin are the stone window seats on the east side of the great room.

North finally beats South

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

It's been a while since Grosse Pointe North girls' soccer team was able to celebrate after playing city rival Grosse Pointe South.

Last week, the host Norsemen enjoyed the moment after beating the Blue Devils 3-2 on a cool, windy and rainy afternoon.

"After our team has been through a lot this season, it means a lot to beat South," North senior Francesca Ciaramitaro said.

"This is my first time beating South and it feels great," North senior Emily Armbruster said.

It was a 1-1 game until late in the second half when the Norsemen put two goals on the board to take a commanding 3-1 advantage.

The Blue Devils scored with two minutes left to make it interesting.

"This is a nice win and I think we're really playing some good soccer," North head coach Skipper Mukhtar said.

Senior Kim Cusmano scored twice to lead the Norsemen and sophomore Ryane Pangborn also tallied.

For the Blue Devils, senior Elizabeth Clevenger and sophomore Cydney Webb scored in the final regular season game for both teams.

In other games last week, Grosse Pointe South lost 1-0 to Detroit Country Day to end the regular campaign 7-2-1 in the Macomb Area Conference Red Division and 11-6-1 overall.

For Grosse Pointe North, it played a couple of 2-0 games, beating Chippewa Valley in a MAC Red Division contest and falling to Rochester in non-league action.

Grosse Pointe North finished its regular season 3-7 in the MAC Red Division and 10-10-2 overall.

Included in North's overall record are results from two tournaments.

LIGGETT

Knights capture MLAC title

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

University Liggett girls' soccer team won the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference title last week, blanking Ann Arbor Greenhills 3-0.

The host Knights avenged a 1-0 loss to Greenhills suffered the week before.

"The girls really played well and their hard work paid off with a nice win over a good team and a division championship," head coach David Dwaihy said.

Senior Eleni Pitses scored two goals, with junior Ania Dow assisting on both.

Junior Caitlin deRuiter tacked on an insurance goal in the second half. She booted the ball softly over the goalkeeper's head.

Junior Kaitlyn Vrekeen set up the scoring play, corraling the ball and sending a perfect pass to deRuiter.

"The girls played very crisp at both ends of the field," Dwaihy said. "They knew what was on the line and they went out and executed."

In other action last week, Liggett lost to Summit Academy, 5-0.

"The score is a little deceiving because I think we played very well," Dwaihy said. "We lost 2-0 to them earlier in the season, yet I thought we played better as a team in this current game."

"They're a very good team and this is a perfect team to play before districts begin."

Liggett ended its regular season 9-1 in the MLAC and 9-4-1 overall.

Next for the Knights is a possible spot in a district championship game at 11 a.m. Saturday, June 1.

"We have a good opportunity to win a district title, but it will not be easy," Dwaihy said. "We have some good competition ahead of us and of course we have to take it one game at a time and not get ahead of ourselves."

ROWING

Pointers make national event

Several Grosse Pointe high school students earned a medal in the 2013 Midwest Junior Rowing Championships.

In the girls' varsity 4X, Grosse Pointe South's Emily Hughes, Isabella Strickler, Paige Swegles and Noelle Perry earned a silver medal and qualified for nationals.

National qualifiers and third-place finishers in the girls light weight varsity 4+ were Grosse Pointe South's Anna Mordell, Gabriela Tucker, Olivia Kiehl and Margaret Sullivan, and Grosse Pointe North's Jennifer Gmeiner.

South's Margijane Brennan took second place and qualified for nationals in the girls varsity 1X event, while the girls light weight varsity 8+ squad of Mordell, Tucker, Kiehl, Sullivan, Gmeiner, and Grosse Pointe South's Alison Matthews, Sarah Tischbein, Asha Sanford and Gianna Manchester, took third place and qualified for nationals.

The duo of Grosse Pointe South students Casey Wizner and Claire Platt finished third and qualified for nationals in the girls 1st varsity 2X event, and winning a gold medal and qualified for nationals in the girls varsity 2- were Brennan and Wizner.

For the boys, Grosse Pointe South's Rob Robson, Christian Norin, Andrew Seski, Serein Koszyk and Michael Landuyt; Grosse Pointe North's Raymond Mattingly; University Liggett's Dylan Goitz; and home school students Andrew Kelly and Sam Kelly, took second place and made the nationals in the boys light weight varsity 8+ event.

Taking second place and making nationals was the boys light weight varsity 4+ team of Robson, Mattingly, Seski, Koszyk and Nemeh.

In the boys 2nd novice 4+ event, the squad of Robson, Grosse Pointe South's Donald Rosati, Jared Ells, Matthew Dimond and Sean Nemeh placed second to earn a medal, but it was not a national qualifier event.

In addition, the duo of Grosse Pointe South's Bennett Kalmar and Joseph Ross took second in the boys 2nd varsity 2X event. Once again they medaled, but it was not a national qualifier event.

GOLF

Rain plays havoc with MAC Tourney

Grosse Pointe North and Grosse Pointe South boys' golf teams never finished the regulation 18 holes in last week's Macomb Area Conference Red Division Tournament at The Meadows Golf Course at Grand Valley State University.

Heavy rains prompted officials to call the tournament after only nine holes. The final score was based on score over par since the competitors played different holes.

Utica Eisenhower won the title, with Grosse Pointe South second, Grosse Pointe North third, Utica Ford fourth and Romeo fifth.

Leading the way for the Norsemen was Steven Zak, who broke the school record for 9-hole average with a 37.6.

Next for the two is a Division 1 district tournament Thursday, May 30, at Greystone Golf Club.

Words of Wellness

Whether by mud, water or sand, obstacle races are the big craze in the fitness community. Where the traditional 10K might test the legs and lungs, obstacle races may have you crawling your way to the finish line.

These events, like the Tough Mudder or The Warrior Dash, take the idea of an obstacle course to the extreme. Most of these challenges span the distances of 3 to 13 miles and are plotted with full-bodied, full-fledged obstacles to overcome. Obstacles such as rolling through mud pits, hurdling city buses, swimming in freezing water and yes, even sustaining electric shocks, are a few of many types of obstacles these events host.

From a training aspect, these races are a great way for you to get out of your comfort zone to try different modes of fitness. After all, you'll need more than a running regimen to help you climb over muddy walls or scamper across a set of greasy monkey bars; to do that requires strength training. And, if you're one who enjoys company with your misery, that's good because most of these races are a team-based effort so it's often wise to find a training partner to help attack the prep, and the race, together.

If you find yourself seeking a challenge and want to put your strength (and possibly your sanity) to the test, below are a few of the more popular races in our area:

Michigan Hero Rush — 6/22

The Michigan Hero is a four to five-mile race that has more than 17 different obstacles that are all firefighter themed. Obstacles like sliding down a firehouse pole, feeling your way through a "smoky" maze and being hosed down are a few of the highlights of this event. This race seems to be condensed with more obstacles than running, a perk for some people. Registration fee $75 at herorush.com.

Mud Factor — 6/22

The Michigan hero is a smaller obstacle race at only 5K (3.1 miles). It boasts obstacles like a massive 'Slip N Slide', 15 foot high cargo net climbs and of course, lots and lots of mud crawls! This race seems like it would be the most, dare I say, timid of the bunch and likely a great event for your first mud-run. Registration fee $65 at mudfactor.com.

Tough Mudder — 6/29-30

At four weeks away if you aren't already training for this, it might be nearly impossible to finish and that's because it is nearly a half marathon at 10 to 12 miles long.

The Tough Mudder has been the king of the obstacle races in recent years in large part for its extreme challenges.

One thing is sure; during this race you will get soaked and likely shocked. You heard right, the Tough Mudder races have what they call "Electroshock Therapy" in which the contestants must pass through an area of dangling live wires worthy of submitting 10,000 volts of electric current through its victim. And, if you didn't bring a buddy you'll have to make nice with the other participants as many of the obstacles require teamwork. Registration fee $145 at toughmudder.com.

Warrior Dash — 7/27-28

This race, a big favorite among the obstacle-race enthusiasts, can be completed by many people and with little pre-training.

This race is a 5K (3.1 miles) and offers obstacles that most participants would consider fun rather than terribly challenging. Contestants of this race, often dressed in costume, take on things like wall hurdles, balance beams and cargo net climbs scattered throughout the course. But the real fun is said to begin after the race is completed at the epic post-race party. Registration fee $65 at warriordash.com.

Men's Health Urbanathlon — 10/19

The Urbanathlon only takes place in three U.S. cities: Chicago, San Francisco and New York City. Last fall the Chicago event was my first obstacle race experience and it did not disappoint.

At 10 to 13 miles per race and only 10 obstacles in between, this race favors the runner.

But even the seasoned runner will find that after you've climbed the stairs of Soldier Field and hurdled the hoods of Subarus in Navy Pier that running is no easy feat! Aside from the great views of running along the city's edge, the greatest draw for these races might be that their obstacles are cleaner than the others...last year I left the course with nothing more than a grass stain.

Registration fee $125 at menshealthurbanathlon.com.

NORTH &amp; SOUTH BOYS

North edges South

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

Grosse Pointe North and Grosse Pointe South boys' track and field teams were neck-and-neck in last week's Macomb Area Conference Red Division meet at North.

LIGGETT

Team gets split

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

The University Liggett girls' softball team hosted Warren Regina in a tune-up before the state districts begin this weekend. Liggett's explosive offense was held in check by Marissa Tiano in a 3-0 loss.

"We had some chances early and didn't take advantage," head coach Ted Alpert said. "We gained some confidence playing a close game against a good pitcher and good team in Regina. "We're ready for the district tournament."

The Knights had a first-inning sharp single by junior Emma Nicholas and an infield single by sophomore Kacie Wuthrich in the second inning.

Junior Lea Evangelista was hit by a pitch in the third inning, stole second base and moved to third on a groundout by Nicholas.

Junior Taylor Slayton hit a fly ball to left field. Evangelista tried to score after tagging up, but the throw home beat her by three feet. Evangelista tried to slide around the tag, but the catcher got her on the arm for the inning-ending double play.

After that, Tiano retired the Knights in order in the final four innings to toss a two-hitter with 11 strikeouts.

For the Knights, senior Ashley Tengler pitched well, giving up only six hits and one walk.

"We played well defensively and even turned a couple of double plays," Alpert said.

Earlier in the week, Liggett completed its Michigan Independent Athletic Conference schedule without a loss after beating Southfield Christian 9-1.

Nicholas was 2-for-4 with two runs and an RBI and freshman Anna Majewski was 2-for-4 with one run and three RBI.

Evangelista was 1-for-2 with two runs, two walks and three stolen bases and senior Amber Baldwin was 1-for-1 with two runs, two RBIs, two walks and a stolen base.

Freshman Emily Kanakry was 1-for-2 with one run and two RBIs and senior Libby Stallings was 1-for-3 with one run. Tengler earned the win, going all seven innings and scattering six hits, with no walks and two strikeouts.

Liggett finished 12-0 in the MIAC and is 22-4 overall.

Next for the Knights is a Division 4 district tournament semifinal at noon Friday, May 31, against Warren Macomb Christian at Sterling Heights Parkway Christian.

LIGGETT

Knights make it three straight

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

The University Liggett boys' baseball team won an unprecedented third consecutive Michigan Independent Athletic Conference championship last weekend, beating Franklin Road Christian 9-3.

If the visitors won, they would have forced a tie atop the standings.

"We didn't play our best early, but then our hitting took off, Connor (Fannon) got into a groove on the mound and we beat a good Franklin Road squad to win the title," head coach Dan Cimini said. "It's nice to win this conference again and make it three straight years of going 14-0."

In fact, the Knights have won 47 consecutive MIAC games, dating back to the 2010 season.

Fannon was shaky in the first three innings, giving up three runs on five hits and walking four. However, he was dominant in the final four innings to earn the win. He finished with 12 strikeouts, including striking out the side in the top of the seventh.

He also hit a home run to get out of a funk and was hit by a pitch in his final at-bat.

The Knights used the long ball to beat the Warriors. Senior Nate Gaggin hit a three-run shot to center field in the third inning, which gave the home team the lead for good, 4-3.

Fannon hit a solo shot in the fifth and sophomore Nick Azar belted a three-run homer that landed on the football field in the bottom of the sixth, giving the Knights a six-run lead.

Azar drove in four runs and was 2-for-3 with a walk, while senior Mark Auk was 2-for-3 with a walk and three runs scored.

Sophomore Ian Clark did not have an official at-bat. He had two sacrifice bunts, including one that drove in a run in the fifth inning, and was hit by a pitch.

Liggett finished 14-0 in the MIAC and improved to 24-4 overall.

Earlier in the week, the host Knights swept a doubleheader from Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest, winning 10-0 and 10-1.

In the opener, junior Adam Fiema was 1-for-3 with two runs and two RBIs, and the trio of Azar, Auk (two runs and two RBIs) and Fannon (one run and two RBIs) combined to go 6-for-9.

Junior Anthony Simon and Clark each had a hit and scored one and two runs, respectively.

Fannon earned the win, going five innings. He gave up only three hits, did not walk a batter and struck out eight.

In the second game, Fiema was the winning pitcher, going all seven innings, with six hits against, two walks and six strikeouts. He also did it at the plate, going 2-for-3 with a walk.

Auk was 3-for-5 with two runs, and Gaggin had a big game, hitting two home runs and driving in four.

Azar was also 2-for-3 with one run and two RBIs.

Liggett also beat Sterling Heights Parkway Christian 6-1 to open the long week of games.

GROSSE POINTE NORTH

Norsemen split DH

By Kevin Allen
Special Writer

Grosse Pointe North's boys' baseball team split a doubleheader with Sterling Heights Stevenson last week.

The Titans, champions of the MAC Red Division, beat the Norsemen 8-2 in the opener, but North rallied to win the second game 10-9.

The teams battled with disruptive weather, but both games were played. Evan Hayden, North's left-handed ace, got the start in game one. He lasted four innings, striking out two, surrendering three walks and seven runs.

Stevenson's hard-hitting lineup sprayed the ball all over the field, driving Hayden out of the game earlier than North had hoped.

"I thought that he was pitching fine," said head coach Frank Sumner. "We weren't making all of the plays for him, and [Stevenson] is a good hitting team."

Jacob Zacharias came in to pitch in the top of the fifth and allowed only one run in his three innings of work.

North's first run came in the bottom of the first when Dan Robinson scored from second on Mike Messina's base hit to right field.

Only one more run would cross the plate for the home team, and it came in the bottom of the fourth when the second baseman Cody Parafin singled in David Kracht.

The wind had been steadily increasing late in the game, and a 30-minute delay due to thunder postponed the bottom of the seventh inning.

There was a fair amount of rain, but it subsided quickly and the game was continued.

"There's nothing you can really do about the weather," said Sumner. "I'm just happy it's not cold anymore. It's good that we got these two games in."

Parafin got the ball for the Norsemen in the second game, and despite making good pitches, he gave up seven runs over three innings.

North's defense had a tough time getting outs, especially in the top of the third inning when five runs came in due to defensive mistakes.

The inning ended, however, with two fine plays by the second baseman Sal Ciaravino.

Andrew Remus entered the game in the fourth inning in relief of Parafin and held Stevenson to one run over three innings, while striking out four.

"Remus did an excellent job in relief today. That was huge for our team," Sumner added.

Down 9-5 entering the bottom of the fifth, North's offense exploded for five runs that gave them a lead they would not surrender.

The inning was highlighted by Kracht's third double of the game, with which he drove in the tying and eventual winning runs for his team.

Kracht ended the game with three doubles and five RBIs. Ciaravino reached base four times and scored each time.

Grosse Pointe North stands at 19-12 overall.

Blue Devils drop two

By Bob St. John

The Grosse Pointe South boys' baseball team played two squads from the Catholic League Central Division last week.

The Blue Devils didn't fair well, losing 7-2 to U-D Jesuit and 6-5 to Warren DeLaSalle, falling to 16-15-1 overall.

Senior Jack Doyle started and pitched four innings against U-D. He gave up three runs, but only one was earned.

Offensively, senior

George Fishback was 2-for-3 with an RBI and junior Brett Bigham had a run-scoring single.

Senior Carmen Benedetti pitched one inning, while junior Richie Kish tossed two innings in relief.

Only one of the seven runs against the Cubs was earned.

"We didn't play very well, especially giving up only one earned run," head coach Dan Griesbaum said.

Against the Pilots, senior Eddie Champane took the loss, going all six innings.

At the plate, Benedetti drove in two runs, while sophomore Ryan Liagre had one RBI. Junior Jimmy Menchl had two hits and two runs scored, too.

Next for South is a 12:30 p.m. Division 1 district semifinal game Saturday, June 1, against host Grosse Pointe North. St. Clair Shores Lakeview plays Eastpointe East Detroit at 10 a.m.

The winners play at 3 p.m. for the district championship.

Team falls; coach wins

By Bob St. John

It was one of the best endings to a loss a coach could get.

Grosse Pointe South girls' softball head coach Nicole Crane was bummed out about the team's 4-1 non-league loss to Fraser.

Rain washed away the final inning, leaving the umpires to call the game official after six innings were in the books.

However, to Crane's surprise, her long-time boyfriend Eric Hallberg got down on one knee at pitcher's mound and proposed to her.

With tears streaming down her cheeks and in front of family, friends and her players, Crane said yes.

Junior Megan Fleming is starting to get into a groove. She pitched well again, but suffered another close defeat.

The Ramblers scored a run in the first inning, one in the fourth and two in the sixth to beat the host Blue Devils.

The home team scored its run in the third when junior Brianna Harris beat out a bunt to score the runner from third.

Harris had one of the Blue Devils' four hits with junior Christy Tech, sophomore Katie Kish and freshman Claire Young getting the other singles.

Crane's squad had its share of bad luck. The Ramblers might have been more lucky than good as the Blue Devils hit several balls right on the nose, but the Ramblers' defenders turned those potential hits into outs.

South dropped to 9-15 overall.

The Grosse Pointe North girls' softball team heads into the state district playoffs with a little momentum.

The Norsemen beat host Marine City 10-6 last week, improving to 4-25 overall.

"The girls came out hitting and we were able to play well enough to win," head coach Claire Cannon said.

Junior Emily Alway earned the win on the mound and the offense backed her up by blasting two homers. Senior Sarah Richardson and junior Izzy Kirck hit solo blasts.

Kirck also had a single, a triple and stole a base, while senior Paige Micks had two hits and a stolen base. Senior Madison Bush chipped in with two hits, two RBIs and a stolen base, and sophomore Nikki Haggerty drove in three runs for the Norsemen.

With its regular season concluded, North and Cannon focus on the district playoffs.

"We have to stop the big inning and I think we can do that in the districts," she said. "We have a chance to win the title, but we have to get good pitching, solid defense and hitting to accomplish it."

North opens the district tournament with a 10 a.m. game Saturday, June 1, against host Grosse Pointe South. St. Clair Shores Lakeview, the title favorite, plays East Detroit at noon.

Tough lesson

It just wasn't the way the season should have ended.

Grosse Pointe South's girls' lacrosse team had plans of playing city rival Grosse Pointe North in a regional playoff game.

However, the Blue Devils fell one game short, losing 15-12 to Troy in a Division 1 regional first round game.

"We just made a few mistakes that they capitalized on," head coach Taylor Barczyk said. "We're a young team and you just can't make those mistakes in a game of this magnitude."

"This will make us a better team in the long run. We're not happy to end our season, but our future is bright."

The host Blue Devils fell behind at the half and never could sustain any momentum at both ends of the field.

Grosse Pointe South and Grosse Pointe North boys' lacrosse teams didn't enjoy their state regional first-round games last week.

The Blue Devils lost 17-8 to host Troy Athens, while the Norsemen dropped a 13-0 decision to host Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook-Kingswood.

For the Norsemen, they ran up against one of the favorites to win a Division 2 state title. The Norsemen had no answers for the Cranes as they ended the season with the defeat.

For first-year head coach Mark Seppala, he loses a heavy dose of seniors to graduation, Ben Good, Nick Shoemaker, Meldon Lewis III, Sal Rizzo, Tommy Gmeiner, Carston Koziol, George Teftsis, Jay Warren, Tom Stevenson, Joe Dueweke, Jack Stapleton and Cody Cross.

University Liggett's girls' lacrosse team won the rubber game against Dexter last week.

The first two games were played in the regular season with both squads winning a one-goal game on its home field.

This game came in the Division 2 regional first round with Liggett winning 12-8. Liggett's semifinal opponent, Farmington Hills Mercy, beat Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard 17-5.

Head coach Tamara Fobare's young squad has improved during the second half of the season and it outplayed the host Dreadnaughts to advance.

Jena Pangborn's two blocks and two attempted passes got the Knights moving in the right direction and the defense forced several turnovers.

Goalkeeper Keara Crook returned to the net after missing a few games due to a concussion and was steady. She finished with 15 saves and one interception.

Offensively, eight players scored goals with Allison Stapleton scoring three to lead the Knights. Olivia Wujek and Grace Scarfone had two apiece. Lily Petitpren (first career goal), Maranada Saigh, Mackenzie Lukas, Meg Shannon and Jacqueline Kopicki (first career goal) also tallied for the visiting Knights.

"The girls were quick on the draw, as well as the ground balls," Fobare said. "They were good at anticipating the next pass and were able to react quickly to a missed pass or loose ball."

"Our transition was effective in setting up the offense, and our defense was tough and strong to shut down their top players."

With the win, Liggett improved to 3-8-1 overall.

Honors

Three players, Rosemarie DeRoo, Maranda Saigh and Olivia Wujek earned Second Team All-SEML this season. DeRoo has nine goals and two assists, while Saigh has 10 goals and three assists, and Wujek has 16 goals.

Born to run

Grosse Pointer Chris Mengel has added a new wrinkle to his game, sports agent.

The Grosse Pointe Woods resident played the role of college athlete, playing baseball at the University of Notre Dame, before earning a law degree.

After years of serving the public as an attorney and losing some of the athletic edge he had in his 20s and 30s, Mengel chose to rejuvenate his battery and take up running.

"I needed to get back in shape to be physically healthier," the 60-year-old Mengel said. "It was an uphill battle for a while, but I learned to love it and now running is a big part of my life."

Mengel's training turned serious and he began to run with his marathon-running daughter, Meredith. After learning the ropes, Mengel is an accomplished marathon runner, posting a career-best time of 4:19.

"I'm loving every minute of it," Mengel said.

Through meeting runners of all abilities, Mengel has evolved into the spokesperson for several runners, including Luke Humphrey, a 2:14 marathoner and long-time member of the prestigious Hansons-Brooks Distance Project, and Tim Young, a 1:04 half-marathoner and two-time winner and course-record holder of the Marine Corps Historic Half Marathon.

"These runners need a voice because many people don't know that a vast majority of runners don't make a very lucrative living in this sport," Mengel said. "I guess I fell into the sports agent business. A runner needed some legal advice and I am an attorney, so he came to me for help."

"One thing led to another and I took the sports agent test in Florida. I passed it and now I'm a sports agent."

His agency, Elite Runner Management LLC, aims to empower athletes to achieve their personal best.

"Things are going very well for me and the runners I represent," Mengel said. "It's a lot of fun to see these young men reach their potential."

He deals primarily with USA Track and Field (USATF).

"I bring to the table a wealth of experience, training and education that will help athletes secure a better financial future for themselves and their families," Mengel said. "It's the athlete's job to perform. The mantra of Elite Runner Management is simple: Empowering athletes to achieve their personal best."

Mengel was at the Boston Marathon in April, but wasn't near the finish line when the bombs went off.

"I received a phone call from my wife to make sure I was OK, and I asked her OK from what," he said. "I couldn't believe what happened to those innocent people near the finish line. It's a tragedy, but I think we, as a nation, became stronger. The help for those in need poured in from everywhere. It's an overwhelming feeling and I imagine next year's Boston Marathon will be bigger and better."

At the moment, Mengel is busy running miles for pleasure, helping his clients and running around his grandson.

"Things are going very well right now and I'm enjoying every aspect of my life."

Register for camp

Registration for the annual Liggett Summer Sports Camps is ongoing. This is the Liggett Day Camp's 50th anniversary.

Muriel Brock began the camp in 1963 after running a smaller camp at the Little Club. She was a long-time teacher, college counselor and Liggett Athletic Director before retiring.

She was instrumental in convincing then Liggett Headmaster, John Chandler, to build an outdoor pool for the camp and today there are two outdoor pools. There are daily swim lessons from certified American Red Cross WSI instructors.

The camp provides tradition with innovation. Weekly themes include carnival, pirate, safari and week of champions.

Session 1 is June 24 to July 3, and session 2 is July 8 to 19. Session 3 is July 22 to Aug. 2.

The sports camps are coordinated by experienced University Liggett School coaches who are assisted by Liggett student-athletes and alums. Through their participation, campers will develop and improve sports-specific skills, learn and execute sports-specific drills and engage in games and challenges using the skills taught and practiced during camp.

Sports offered are lacrosse, girls field hockey, boys baseball, girls softball, hockey, girls basketball, girls volleyball, soccer and tennis.

It is for students entering grades 1 to 10 this fall and the hours vary by sport and age.

The day camp emphasizes learning basic skills of arts and crafts, tennis, archery, swimming, singing and drama, sports, and science and nature. In addition, campers have special events and activities throughout the season.

This is for students entering grades 1 to 5 this fall and runs 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The junior day camp allows campers to engage at their own educational level. They explore games, stories, music, science, art and swimming. Each week, activities are based on a theme and special events add to the experience.

This is for 3- and 4-year-olds and students entering kindergarten this fall. Campers must turn 3 by June 15 and be potty trained to attend.

It runs 9 a.m. to noon Monday through Friday and there is a 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. option for those entering kindergarten.

For questions regarding sports camps and day camp, contact Michelle Hicks at (313) 884-4444, ext. 370, or camp director Pete Dettlinger at ext. 391. For questions regarding registration, contact Mary Jo Campo at (313) 884-4444, ext. 371.

Early morning care is available from 7:30 to 9 a.m. and extended day care is available for junior campers from noon to 6 p.m. and from 3 to 6 p.m. for full day campers. Blocks of time may be purchased in advance as 10 hours is $60, 20 hours is $120 and 30 hours is $180.

Unused hours are non-refundable. The drop-in hourly rate is $8 per hour and payment is due at the time of service.

Campers attending full day camp and junior camp extended day care bring their own lunch and beverage. Junior campers not staying for extended day care are dismissed before lunch. Refrigeration is provided.

The day camp uniform consists of a white T-shirt with the camp insignia, shorts, tennis shoes and socks. T-shirts are available for purchase on Thursday and Friday, June 20 and 21, from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 1:30 to 4 p.m.

Some campers may wish to wear swim shoes in the pool during their lessons and free swim periods. All campers should bring a towel to camp each day.

The camp staff is carefully screened and chosen for their ability to work with children.

Students can spend a few days at the end of summer removing the cobwebs and jumpstarting their next school year at the new Academic Boot Camp for rising sixth through ninth-graders.

Two-hour sessions in language arts, math, advanced math, Spanish and forensic science are designed to offer study tips.

Sessions run Aug. 12 to 15 and Aug. 19 to 22. Tuition is $120.

New coach named

Dan Cimini, who brought Liggett's football program back to life in 2009 and served as its head coach for two years, is back as head coach when the team starts practicing again in late summer.

"I am happy to be back in charge of our football program," Cimini said. "My love for our student athletes and our school is paramount, and I expect the school spirit and our football program will continue to grow into the future."

He replaces Lou Ray, who has coached the team for the last two years, winning two MIAC championships and advancing to the second round of the playoffs in the fall.

"We appreciate everything Lou has done to bring great success to our football program," said Head of School Dr.

Joseph Healey.

Healey also expressed support for Cimini.

"I would like to thank Dan for his loyalty to the school and his willingness to take on this extra responsibility to continue the success of our football program," Healey said.

Cimini is the middle school boys athletics director, physical education teacher and varsity baseball coach.
