Cars splash through on Vernier in Grosse Pointe Woods Monday night. More than 6 inches of rain fell in parts of Metro Detroit, closing freeways, roads and businesses.

Water nightmare

By Joe Warner

Homeowners with flooded basements won't agree, but the worst of Monday's storm hit the streets around Grosse Pointe and Metro Detroit.

More than 6 inches of rain fell in spots, leaving hundreds of motorists stranded and highways closed around town. Sections of I-94, I-696 and I-75 were hard hit, along with M-10 and M-39, the Lodge and Southfield freeways.

Reports of 14 feet of standing water were the reason for closures at I-75 and I-696, snarling traffic Monday night and all day Tuesday.

Dozens of businesses were closed because of damage, including the Warren Tech Center and the Detroit Zoo.

Around the Grosse Pointes, back-to-back Monday rains hampered operations at Lake Front Park, the city park for Grosse Pointe Woods located in St. Clair Shores (see pages 3A and 4A for details).

Grosse Pointe Park reports minor damage from more than 3 inches of rain (see page 4A for story).

Grosse Pointe Farms Mayor James Farquhar told the Grosse Pointe News damage appeared minimal after a tour of his city, while Richard Van Gorder, manager of buildings and grounds for the Grosse Pointe Public School System said minor leaks were issues at a couple buildings.

His crews assisted where needed Monday night and Tuesday. Work on a new roof on Brownell Middle School caused minor leaks. Power was lost at Monteith Elementary School for a few hours during the storm, but was restored by Tuesday morning.

Grosse Pointe South had a small leak, causing a problem with a few ceiling tiles.

Flooded basements were reported in all five Pointes Tuesday. Insurance agents were busy making calls on their clients.

"We had calls from homeowners, businesses and apartment renters," said Ed Lazar, a State Farm agent in Grosse Pointe Woods. "It's been crazy since last night. My cell phone and the call center was busy all night."

Lazar said his goal is to pool resources and get claims faster for clients. But his goal Tuesday was to visit as many of his customers as he could.

"I'm receiving a lot of calls asking about their coverage," Lazar said, pointing to a special "water back-up" endorsement that costs $75 a year for $10,000 in water damage coverage.

"A lot of people say no to save money. Right now, they wish they hadn't. It's worth the little extra." Lazar said car damage from the flood waters on the roadways is typically covered under comprehensive coverage, even if the driver tries to drive through the water.

"It's not smart to do that, it's dangerous," Lazar said. "But they're likely covered."

Voters will pay for roads

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

CITY OF GROSSE POINTE — Few people like paying higher property taxes.

But, results of the municipal millage election, Aug. 5, indicate more City of Grosse Pointe voters prefer paying an extra 2.5 mills for smooth roads than to endure rough rides and automotive repair bills caused by pot holes.

Voters supported the millage increase 714 to 484, a 60-to-40 percent margin.

"I'm pleased it passed," said Councilman John Stempfle. "My wife and I recently spent over $600 repairing her car, in part, because of the poor shape of the roads throughout Michigan."

Council members, realizing that road repairs — 29 percent of city roads are rated in poor condition — overwhelmed the dwindling capital projects fund, sought a solution through a millage increase starting in 2015 and lasting up to 15 years.

Receipts are reserved for road maintenance.

"The citizens saw the benefit of the program that was presented," said

Mayor Dale Scrace. "It's very thorough and dedicates an income stream to do this work."

The millage raises $825,000 annually, more than triple the $250,000 currently available for road repairs.

A 2.5 mill increase translates into $330 additional taxes for the average city dwelling, which has a taxable value of $132,123, according to city officials.

Construction starts next summer.

"Between now and construction, there will be another citywide assessment of the streets conducted after the winter is over, as we have done annually since 2006," said Peter Dame, city manager. "Then, the city engineer will put together a plan for approval next spring for council consideration. This process will repeat each year of the comprehensive pavement management program."

Unlike rain that came and went on election day, voters entered the polls at a constant drizzle.

"Turnout was nice and steady," said Julie Arthurs, city clerk.

Slightly more than 28 percent of registered voters cast ballots.

Woods, Park too

By Kathy Ryan

GROSSE POINTE WOODS/PARK — Voters went to the polls Tuesday and by wide margins approved special millages that will be used for road construction and repairs.

In Grosse Pointe Park, voters approved a five year, 1.75 millage increase with a vote of 1,651 in favor to 772 opposed.

"I am grateful for the support of our residents," said Mayor Palmer Heenan.

In Grosse Pointe

Woods, voters approved, by a three to one margin, a $10 million, 10-year road bond request. The vote was 2,951 to 1,017.

"I am very happy that residents want to make this investment in our community," said councilwoman Vicki Granger, who chairs the Woods' construction committee. "A lot of Grosse Pointe Woods residents worked very hard to spread the word about this important issue and make sure voters were educated on how this bond would be used to improve our roads."

Aug. 5 primary results

The following is a synopsis of election results in the five Grosse Pointes:
In Grosse Pointe Woods, voter turnout was 34 percent.
In contested races, 14th

Congressional incumbent Democrat Hansen Clarke took 891 votes with Rudy Hobbs finishing second for Democrats

THE GROSSE POINTES — Friends and supporters gave, and then gave more, to help paralyzed retired patrolman Keith Andersen pay his recovery bills.

“Keith is gathering strength from all of you and using that for his physical therapy,” Scott Andersen, Keith’s older brother, told an estimated 1,000 people attending a corn roast benefit for Andersen Tuesday, Aug. 5, at Grosse Pointe Farms Pier Park. “We’re hoping for a full recovery when we can celebrate him walking.”

Donors blew through the $50,000 goal, according to lead organizer Joe Adams, a City of Grosse Pointe public safety officer and president of Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 102.

“I didn’t need to ask for help,” Adams said. “People just poured in. Words can’t express how thrilled I am.”

“From the bottom of our hearts, we thank you,” said Sue McCallum, Andersen’s sister, to the group. “We guarantee we’re going to pay it forward.”

Attendance was so high, parking spilled into a municipal field across Lakeshore.

Officer Andersen, 48, married and the father of three daughters, retired a few months ago after 19 years with the Grosse Pointe Park public safety department.

He and his family moved to Illinois to be near his wife’s parents.

Andersen was paralyzed from the neck down in a crash June 21 while driving home from his new job as a hospital X-ray technician.

“He’s doing well, but doesn’t have much movement,” said Kristin Smith, Andersen’s step-sister. “He has a long road, but he’s strong and determined. With God’s help, he’ll be good.”

McCallum read a message Andersen wrote to his supporters.

“This has been a very humbling experience in my life that has been made much more bearable because of the outpouring of love and support from you,” he wrote. “The proceeds from this benefit will be a blessing to my family, for which no words can describe the depth of thanks and gratitude. May God bless you just as you have been a blessing to us.”

Support

Turnout exceeded Adams’ expectations. “We’ve gone through 700 ears of corn and 1,400 hot dogs,” he said halfway through the event. “We just went to get another 500 hot dogs.”

“We put the word out and this is what they do,” said Dave Hiller, Grosse Pointe Park public safety director. “Everybody shows up.”

FOP Michigan President John Paul Sadowski drove from Saginaw to show his support.

“When one of ours is hurting, we band together to help the best we can,” he said.

James Demeulenaere, a retired Grosse Pointe Shores lieutenant, remembered when Andersen began his law enforcement career as a Shores dispatcher.

Demeulenaere couldn’t think of any embarrassing tales.

“Keith was such a good guy, mild mannered,” he Andersen was en route during the picnic to a temporary residence in Michigan.

“He’s being transported by ambulance,” said his mother, Kathy Andersen. “He’ll be doing out-patient therapy in Michigan.”

He’s moving into a house in Roseville provided by his church, the Roseville Church of Christ.

“Keith is a very special member of our church,” said Jim McClelland, a church elder. “The house will be theirs to use as long as they need it.”

Andersen is known for having a soft spot for underdogs.

McClelland told an anecdote to sum-up Andersen’s selflessness.

Park, pool take brunt of storm

By Kathy Ryan
Staff Writer

GROSSE POINTE WOODS — Last week's heavy rains left Woods residents high and dry pool-wise, as the torrential rains that fell late in the afternoon Monday, Aug. 4, wreaked havoc with the pool filtration system at Lake Front Park.

The city was forced to close the pools at the park when rain water flooded the filter room that controls the heaters and filtration system for the pools. Nearly two feet of water damaged the electrical system that controlled the pumps, as well as putting the actual pumps under water. The system was shut down while workers dismantled, removed and replaced control panels, boilers and pool heaters.

Before any work could begin, workers in hazmat suits had to go in to check the air quality and check for any chemical spills.

"Once the area was secured, we could send in workers to begin the clean up," said city administrator Skip Fincham. "Unfortunately, they found the transformers were fried and the pumps destroyed."

While the Woods was forced to shut down the pool for several days to make repairs, the other Grosse Pointes offered the use of their parks to Woods residents. Residents were notified of the invitations to other parks via the city's website.

"We are cautiously optimistic that the pool will be open Wednesday, Aug. 14," Fincham said. "New pumps had to be brought in from Indiana. We had to replace two pumps, two boilers and the transformer."

The cost of the repairs is expected to be about $10,000, which will have to come from the city's general fund, as the city carries a $10,000 deductible on its insurance policy.

Fincham kept an eye on the sky this past Monday, as once again, heavy rains drenched the area, but the pool area and filtration room avoided any additional damage.

But the city had to close the park early, at 9 p.m., as the heavy rains caused flooding on Jefferson.

Residents should check the city's website, gpwmi.us, for updates.

Car thieves target Fords

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

GROSSE POINTE FARMS AND CITY — One of the questions police will ask suspects of recent car thefts is if they've driven a Ford lately.

The perps' Job 1 last week was targeting the Blue Oval.

"They're going after Fords almost exclusively," said Lt. Richard Rosati, head of the Grosse Pointe Farms public safety detective bureau.

Although the crooks seem to think there's a Ford in their future, police have a better idea, arresting them.

"We think it's the same group of people," Rosati said.

The unknown thieves whisked through the Farms and City of Grosse Pointe last week stealing four Ford products.

Entry in most cases was by breaking a side window.

Three vehicles were recovered.

Officers found two, minus wheels, abandoned on Woodhall near Bremen, two blocks across Mack on Detroit's eastside.

A Farms patrolman on the midnight shift thinks he glimpsed the unknown suspects operating from a teal minivan.

City police are processing fingerprints lifted from a recovered car.

The first theft of the week occurred in the Farms between 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. Monday, Aug. 4.

Someone took a 2014 Ford Fusion parked curbside in the 400 block of Touraine.

The next morning, Tuesday, Aug. 5, an officer found it on Woodhall, wheels missing and a window smashed.

Thieves grabbed three vehicles early Thursday, Aug. 7.

Shortly after 3:40 a.m., they took an orange 2014 Ford Taurus parked on the south side of the 200 block of Moran.

At 3:55 a.m., a patrolman found a damaged 2013 Ford Edge in the Mack alley at Fisher.

Police think it was stolen five hours earlier on Kenwood Court.

Dents, scratches and teal paint transfer on the rear bumper indicated thieves used another vehicle to push the Edge from Kenwood.

The patrolman reported a teal van being driven from the alley northbound to Canyon in Detroit. He lost sight of the minivan near I-94.

At 4:38 a.m., a City officer searching Woodhall at Bremen recovered a black 2014 Ford Explorer, minus wheels.

"The tires and in-dash navigation system (were) missing," said another City officer. "Several fingerprints were on the vehicle and may be able to be processed."

Police contacted the registered owner, a man living in the 700 block of Loraine.

He said the Explorer should be parked in his driveway. Shattered glass on the pavement marked the empty spot.

Serving his country, following his family

Colin J. Edwards of Grosse Pointe Farms was recently promoted to Captain in the U.S. Marine Corps.

Role models are easy to find. Many of his family members have led the way.

The Grosse Pointe Farms native and 2005 Grosse Pointe South graduate recently was promoted to the rank of captain in the United States Marine Corps.

Edwards is a 2010 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md., where he was a member of the crew team. He was invited to try out for the U.S. National team in his final year.

Upon graduation, Edwards completed the basic school in Quantico, Va. and was assigned to the 2nd Law Enforcement Battalion at Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Edwards was deployed twice, once to Afghanistan and then with the Black Sea Rotational Force to Romania, other Eastern European countries and Israel. In September, he will be assigned to the USMC Wounded Warriors Regiment back in Quantico.

He is the son of Ann and Marcus Edwards of Grosse Pointe Farms.

Edwards' twin brother, David, is a police officer in Plymouth and his sister, Emmelyn, works for the Department of Veteran Affairs in Detroit and has won multiple awards for service and high achievement.

"We are proud that all of our children have chosen professions that provide service to their community and country in different but important ways," said Ann Edwards. "David and Colin are both doing work that can, at times, be dangerous and with potential for great risk. Colin's experiences during his deployments involved many activities that he has been unable to share with us and we don't ask."

"He is extending his USNA obligation for five years of service after graduation to commit to working with the Wounded Warriors Regiment, of which we are very proud."

It's not difficult to see why Edwards chose a career of service.

Marcus Edwards was a highly decorated Detroit police officer. Colin's grandfathers both served in World War II and were police officers in Detroit, with his maternal grandfather a high-ranking Detroit police official in the 1960s who was the only police officer in Michigan history to be given the annual American Civil Liberties Union award for his work to free prisoners convicted for crimes for which he proved their innocence.

His maternal grandmother served in the British Royal Naval Service as a WREN in World War II.

"They are carrying on family traditions," Ann Edwards said.

Minor damage in Woods, Park

By Kathy Ryan
Staff Writer

Once again this week, Lake Front Park took the brunt of torrential rains that hit the area Monday night, according to city administrator Skip Fincham.

The city shut the park at 9 p.m. Monday when Jefferson flooded, and sections of the park were quickly under water as well. There was no flooding in the area of the pool filter room, where work is continuing to clean up after last week's record rainfall.

"The rain and flooding did wash down two docks and a paddle boat from the Milk River into our marina," Fincham reported, "and a portion of a tree came down in the park."

Lake Front Park, located in St. Clair Shores, reopened Tuesday morning, but the pool remained closed.

Within Grosse Pointe Woods, damage was minimal. There were about a dozen calls to the public works department to report flooded basements, and a report of a low hanging power line on Moorland. A public safety auxiliary officer was assigned to the power line until DTE Energy could respond.

"Public safety received many calls reporting flooded street with a few cars stalled out and abandoned," Fincham said. "But no power outages were reported."

In Grosse Pointe Park, Chief of Police David Hiller reports minimal damage in the Park following Monday's storms.

"Other than a few limbs coming down, we did very well," Hiller said. "The phone lines at Windmill Pointe Park are down, but that's about the only thing we can report."

According to Park city administrator Dale Krajniak, nearly three inches of water fell, but the city's pumps were able to handle the deluge.

Meter reader

An unknown man wearing a "meter reader" vest scooted when a resident of Alger Place asked him what he was doing in his backyard.

The encounter occurred about 11 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 2.

"(The resident) stated it appeared the suspect did not know where to locate the meter or how to read it," said a public safety officer. "When the suspect was confronted, he left the area."

The man drove away in a white 2009 Chevrolet Tahoe, the resident reportedly told police.

Police traced the vehicle's registration to a middle-aged woman living in Detroit.

A few days later, the resident contacted DTE Energy.

"(An employee) advised that meter readers do not work on weekends," said the officer.

Third arrest

A 73-year-old Detroit man was pulled over for running a red light at 2:41 a.m. Tuesday, Aug. 5, from East Warren to eastbound Mack.

During curbside questioning, he registered a .20 percent blood alcohol level, according to police.

It was his third drunken driving arrest, police said.

A search of his 1984 Buick four-door revealed a 3/4 empty bottle of Richard's Wild Irish Rose wine under a jacket on the back seat.

Special case

Police released an accused shoplifter last week because the complainant wouldn't prosecute.

The suspect, a 31-year-old Roseville man, is on record with Macomb County authorities as having mental problems, according to Farms police.

"Due to his mental order and no prosecution, (he) was released," said an investigating officer.

A patrolman dropped him off in the neighborhood of Nine Mile and Gratiot in Eastpointe.

Witnesses reported him stealing a can of Red Bull Energy Drink at 11:52 p.m. Friday, Aug. 8, from a service station on Mack at Moross.

An officer caught him walking eastbound on the Mack sidewalk near Bournemouthe.

One down, one to go

Police obtained witnesses accounts of two men accused of breaking into a 1-day-old GMC Sierra pickup truck parked behind a store in the 18500 block of Mack and stealing a windshield-mounted radar detector worth $500.

The theft was reported at 3:03 p.m. Friday, Aug. 8.

One suspect, a 41-year-old resident of Clinton Township, got away.

The other, 44, of Novi, with spiked hair, was arrested during a foot chase across Mack into Detroit, past East Warren and back to Mack.

Patrolman Thomas Dionne caught him in a Detroit restaurant.

"He was out of breath, sweating and excited," Dionne said. "He lowered his shoulder and attempted to run through me. I lunged at (him) and took him to the ground with assistance of City of Grosse Pointe Officer (Greg) Burks."

Although the Novi man isn't accused of physically stealing the radar detector, he reportedly interfered with attempts by the pickup's 17-year-old male driver to stop the alleged accomplice from taking it and getting away.

Charges against the Novi man are:

- ◆ larceny from auto,
- ◆ possession of narcotics paraphernalia, a pipe,
- ◆ possession of 11

ounces of marijuana, ◆ resisting police and ◆ violating a court order to keep the peace.

He's also wanted on an unspecified outstanding felony warrant, police said.

Officers said they confiscated:

- ◆ an iPad Mini, held to confirm proper ownership;
- ◆ currency totaling $714, held for drug forfeiture;
- ◆ Mace and
- ◆ unspecified "suspicious documents."

She said, he said

The live-in girlfriend of a Meadow Lane man camped out in his driveway early Wednesday, Aug. 6, to avoid fallout from her domestic violence complaint, according to police.

"(She) agreed to spend the night in her vehicle, in the driveway, to avoid any confrontation with (the man's adult son)," said a patrolman.

Dispatchers sent the officer to the residence at 12:38 a.m. to check the circumstances of a 911 hang-up call.

Women Who Motor

Edsel & Eleanor Ford House's new exhibit, "Women Who Motor: A Century of Shifting Cultural and Industry Standards." The multimedia experience, opening Saturday, Aug. 23, with a public celebration, journeys through more than a century of "her" story.

Visitors will get a front seat view of how automobiles changed the cultural roles of women, and at the same time, how women changed the automotive industry.

The exhibit focuses on three time periods: the early years 1880 to 1945, the post-war years 1946 to 1964 and the modern era 1965 to present day. It features vintage advertisements, film clips and artifacts, such as Clara Ford's Canadian driver's permit and her navy blue, five-button duster.

There also will be three historic vehicles on display — Helen (Mrs. Henry) Joy's 1914 Detroit Electric, Eleanor Ford's custom made 1952 Lincoln Town Car and a 1965 Mustang owned by a female member of the Ford family. The exhibit also highlights modern day influential women in the automotive industry.

To commemorate the exhibit's unveiling, an opening celebration is planned for 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 23, in the Ford House garage and garage courtyard. Opening celebration festivities are included in regular Ford House admission and is free to members.

"Women Who Motor" is open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday through 2016 and included in the Ford House admission and is free to Ford House members. For more information, visit fordhouse.org or call (313) 884-4222. The house is located at 1100 Lakeshore, Grosse Pointe Shores.

Hat thrown in the ring

To the Editor:

By now, most residents are aware we will once again be saddled with the poor representation in the State House of eight-time convicted felon Brian Banks for the next two years.

Similar to 2012, it has left many asking how and why this happened to our community.

Unlike 2012, this year there is a clear and concise answer; Mike Koester. His haphazard campaign single-handedly doomed Grosse Pointe Woods and Grosse Pointe Shores of any strong, quality leadership in the state legislature.

I, like many in the community over the past couple months, witnessed a strong and well thought-out campaign by young United Way employee and Detroit resident Rebecca Thompson. Ms. Thompson had the grassroots organization, campaign war chest and significant endorsements to unseat our incumbent in the primary.

So what happened? Mike Koester, current Grosse Pointe Woods city councilman and small-business owner, threw his hat in the ring.

Unlike Thompson, Koester relied on his "name-recognition" and ran a seemingly thoughtless and depressing campaign.

Unaware of the tireless effort it takes to run a State House campaign, Koester failed to properly fundraise, knock on doors or get in touch with the rest of the district.

Why does this matter?

Koester's lack of effort but decent name recognition drew enough Grosse Pointe Woods votes from Thompson, the much better candidate, for her to lose by a small margin to Banks.

Over the next two years, while our property taxes continue to rise, roads deteriorate and in-classroom funding continues to get cut, we can, in large part, thank our city councilman Mike Koester.

JOHN HIRSCH

Thanks Farms rescue team

To the Editor:

I would like to publicly thank the Grosse Pointe Farms Police and Emergency Rescue Team for its swift and professional response to my 911 call, on Thursday evening July 21, that resulted in my wife's life being saved by their immediate intervention.

Words can't express the depth of our family's gratitude.

GUEST OPINION By Matthew R. Rumora

Trampoline Court Safety Act

Legally speaking: A new law went into effect last February which impose duties and liabilities on trampoline court operators and persons who use trampoline courts.

A trampoline court is an area containing trampolines or trampoline court foam pits used in a commercial or institutional facility.

The law requires the operator of the trampoline court to comply with certain requirements.

An operator must maintain the trampoline court according to the safety standards published by the American Society for Testing and Materials and post in conspicuous places the duties of the users of trampolines and spectators and the duties and liabilities of operators.

The operator is required to deliver instructions concerning trampoline court rules to participants before they engage in the activity, and also convey the operator's responsibilities before the person engages in trampoline activity.

There are also numerous requirements placed on trampoline participants. They require, in part, the person read and follow all posted signs and warnings, avoid bodily contact with others and refrain from activity that may cause injury to others.

participants. They require, in part, the person read and follow all posted signs and warnings, avoid bodily contact with others and refrain from activity that may cause injury to others.

Additional rules prescribe overloading individual sections of the trampoline court, avoid landing on the head or neck or participating in the activity if the person has a pre-existing medical condition.

Nevertheless, an individual who participates in the sport of trampolining accepts the dangers in that activity that are obvious or necessary, including, but not limited to, injuries resulting from collisions, falls and landing on the trampoline.

A person who violates this law is liable in a civil lawsuit for damages for the portion of the loss or damage that results from the violation.

This law is designed to insure the safety of persons who participate in trampoline activity.

New limits on meth-producing substances

A new law goes into effect Jan. 1 that places limits on the purchase or possession of the drug ephedrine or pseudoephedrine — ingredients commonly found in cold medicine.

These drugs can typically be purchased over the counter at stores and can be used to illegally make methamphetamines.

One section of the law prohibits purchase or possession of any amount of ephedrine or pseudoephedrine by a person knowing or having reason to know it is to be used to manufacture methamphetamine.

A person who violates this section is guilty of a felony and can be sentenced to up to five years in prison and/or a fine up to $5,000.

Another section of the law prohibits the purchase of more than 3.6 grams of the substance within a single calendar day and the purchase of nine grams or more within a 30-day period.

Violations of these provisions are misdemeanors carrying up to 93 days in jail and/or a fine up to $500.

Moreover, possession of more than 12 grams is a felony carrying up to two years in prison and/or a fine up to $2,000.

A person who solicits another to purchase or otherwise obtain any amount of the substance knowing it is to be used for the purpose of illegally manufacturing methamphetamine, is guilty of a felony and can be imprisoned up to 10 years and/or fined up to $10,000.

This law does not apply to persons who are licensed by the state to possess or sell the substance, nor does it apply to a person who has a prescription to possess the drug.

To conclude, this law is intended, in part, to prevent persons from purchasing small amounts of medicine from numerous stores to illegally make methamphetamine.

REPORTS:

edly told the officer her 57-year-old boyfriend of eight months pushed her during an argument, causing her to hit her head on a radiator.

The officer noted her lacerated scalp, bloody shirt and hand.

"(She) stated she tried to call 911, but (he) took her phone away from her and refused to let her call," the officer added. "(She) stated that she had been living with (him) since October 2013 and that he has been physically abusive to her in the past, but never reported it."

Police questioned the man.

"(He said) she fell and hit her head on her own," said the officer. "(He) stated he did not assault her."

Medics treated her head wound on scene.

Officers arrested the man for assault and domestic violence.

"(I) located (her) cell phone in (his) right front pocket," said the patrolman. "After (his) arrest, (the woman) became very uncooperative and refused to give any more information and refused to fill out a witness statement."

The man was arraigned on assault and battery, domestic violence and freed on $1,000 personal bond, according to Detective Lt. Richard Rosati.

"He has to be in court (Wednesday) Aug. 27," Rosati said. "It doesn't look like (the woman) is going to prosecute, though."

Avoids police

A female alleged car thief from Livonia gets around.

The 23-year-old suspect was arrested in Utica last week about an hour after evading Grosse Pointe police in back-to-back pursuits, said police.

At 3:21 a.m. Monday, Aug. 4, a Farms patrolman pulled her over on Moross near Chandler Park Drive for making an illegal turn at Moross and Mack.

She was driving a gray 2002 Pontiac registered to a Redford Township woman.

Upon stopping for the Farms officer, the suspect reportedly fumbled through her purse, said, "Sorry," and sped away.

The officer followed her meandering course through eastside Detroit until she returned to the Farms and stopped on eastbound Mack near Bournemouth.

She took off again, avoiding officers from the Farms, Shores and Woods until they called off pursuit for safety reasons.

A Redford investigator spoke with the Pontiac's owner, a woman employed at a group home for recovering drug addicts.

She said her car was stolen by one of the female residents.

Officers confirmed the suspect's identity through her driver's license photo.

At 4:46 a.m., Utica officers arrested her for car theft and felony drug charges.

Cars recovered, tires gone

Once again this week, tires seemed to be a prime target for thieves. Sometime overnight Sunday, Aug. 10, two cars were taken from Bedford. A 2014 Ford Fusion was taken from a driveway in the 1200 block of Bedford. It was later recovered in Detroit, minus all four tires. A 2013 Dodge Charger was taken from the 1400 block of Bedford. It was also recovered in Detroit, minus all four tires.

Garmin taken

Sometime overnight Saturday, Aug. 9 a Garmin GPS was taken from an unlocked car parked in the 1300 block of Audubon.

Eviction

On Thursday, Aug. 8, at 11:30 p.m. police were called to a house on Sunningdale where the resident, who was being evicted, asked police to investigate a report that the owner of the house had come in and taken items belonging to the tenant. It appears the homeowner had entered the house through the attached garage. Police advised the people involved to discuss the dispute with the court officer overseeing the eviction.

Carry purse

At 4 p.m. Friday, Aug. 8, a 70-year-old Woods resident was shopping at the Kroger on Mack when she got into a conversation with another customer about the high price of food. She believes that it was during this chat that someone reached into her purse which was in her shopping cart and took her wallet. Police remind women to always keep their purse with them and not in the cart.

Raising a cheer for Kids on the Go

By Ann L. Fouty
Features Editor

The crack of the bat sound is sweet.

Enthusiastic chants from the cheerleaders prompts the crowd to get involved and encourage a favorite team.

Meet the Little Sluggers and the Friendship Cheerleaders. These youngsters attended Kids on the Go summer camp and showcased weeks of newly-learned skills to family and friends during an Aug. 11 baseball game in Grosse Pointe North High School's gym.

This is the fifth year the special needs baseball team practiced the basic skills of America's game. Ranging in age from 7 to 10 years old, there were two girls and 16 boys striding up to home plate.

Seven girls, with seven peer helpers, were cheering on the baseball players. This is the first year for the cheer squad and it is the first year enough children enrolled in the camp to create two teams, resulting in a rousing baseball game.

"It's been great," said Kristy Piana Schena, executive director and founder of Kids on the Go. "It's fun to watch. The girls get to dance and move. The children don't realize they are practicing balance, strength and social skills. They learned simple routines they will do at the baseball game."

Tish Hasting of Grosse

Hitting for the blue team was Max Ellcessor, who hammered a home run.

Pointe Farms agreed saying her 8-year-old daughter, McKayla, in her second year at Kids on the Go has increased her peer socialization skills, as well learning how to take turns and sharing through the structured program.

Max Ellcessor commitment to practice paid off hitting a home run during the game.

"He practices every day," said his mother Amy Dietrich of Grosse Pointe Farms.

"He loves it so much he wears his glove all day long," said Nate Dodson of his 8-year-old son, Asher.

This was Asher's third year as a Little Slugger and Dodson said he has witnessed the athletic improvement not only in his son, but the entire team.

"They caught pop flies. It took three years. They had so much more fun," he said.

And he has made friends through the camp. "The high fives have turned to hugs," Dodson said.

The sluggers were encouraged by the cheerleaders who wore matching T-shirts and rustled pom poms for the two baseball teams differentiated by the color of their hats — red and blue.

Dressed in white T-shirts and pink shorts with pink ribbons in their hair, cheerleaders, including 7-year-old Lily Forkin of St. Clair Shores practiced at home, as well as once a week as a group. Forkin has been a Kids on the Go camper for three years.

"Cheering has been her favorite thing," said her mother, Jenny. "She was really excited about tonight. She's learned socialization and following directions."

Once a week for five weeks the baseball teams met indoors to work on

The triplets swim for the Grosse Pointe Farms' Barracudas, the team that clinched the overall title this year. St. John Providence Health System was a sponsor of the swim finals this year.

Girls on the Run incorporates training for a 5K with lessons inspiring third through eighth graders to develop essential life skills. The topics covered during the 10 weeks help young women develop and improve competence, feel confidence in who they are, respond to others and oneself with care and compassion and make a meaningful contribution to community and society. STRIDE is a fitness and running program for boys in grades third through fifth. They have the chance to share their thoughts and opinions about various relative topics in a safe, encouraging environment that helps them develop character, while building their endurance to compete in a 5K. Not only do they develop themselves as runners — a physical activity they can enjoy for a lifetime — they learn lessons about self-esteem, peer pres-

ASK THE EXPERTS By Edward Dabrowski M.D.

Sports injuries need early treatment

Q. My 9-year-old son wants to play football next school year. Should I let him play?

A. Contact sports, such as football, are more likely to result in a higher number of injuries than a noncontact sport, such as swimming. Sprains and strains, tennis elbow, dislocations and illness due to heat exhaustion, cramps and stroke are common for growing children who participate in sports. Awareness of warning signs and early treatment help to keep athletes in the game. Teaching athletes proper strength training, flexibility, conditioning and endurance minimizes the risk of injury.

Q. I have heard concussions among athletes in contact sports such as football, hockey and soccer are common. What symptoms should I look for after a head injury?

A. Symptoms can happen immediately after an injury or several days later. Symptoms to watch for include headaches that get worse, drowsiness or difficulty waking up the person, insomnia, the inability to recognize people or places, repeated vomiting, unusual behavior, confusion, irritability, weakness or numbness in arms or legs, slurred speech and memory loss.

Concussions require identification, careful evaluation and specialized management before athletes can go back to their activities. Returning to play too soon after a head injury can lead to serious complications. CT and MRI scans are useful in diagnosing head injuries, but can be difficult to diagnose. If you suspect a concussion, it is essential to see a doctor.

Q. My daughter participates in gymnastics. I hear very different stories from parents about how they handle their child's foot and ankle sprains. Some don't seek medical care and just "ice it." What should I do?

A. It is always best to have the injury evaluated by a physician. When an injury to the foot or ankle occurs, it limits the ability to run, jump, kick and pivot. Treatment and rehabilitation are crucial in returning athletes to full participation and function. Improperly managed treatment and rehabilitation of the foot can cause secondary injuries. Initial treatment for a sprain, when swelling and pain management are the primary concerns, is often immobilization and crutches. How long the injury is immobilized will vary and depend on the severity of the sprain.

A LA ANNIE By Annie Rouleau-Scheriff

Pasta — the year 'round food

2 cups frozen peas, thawed
1 cup chopped fresh parsley
1/2 cup diced red onion
olive oil and red wine vinegar to taste 1 1/2 cups crumbled feta cheese salt and pepper to taste
fresh tomatoes for garnish

Pasta is such the year round food. Hot in the cool months and chilled in the warm months. The "tip" I give out most to anyone who is too busy to plan a meal is to cook a pound of pasta once a week and you'll have the foundation for a meal.

This week I tossed my already cooked farfalle noodles with chicken, peas, hard cooked eggs and feta cheese.

Chilled Mini Farfalle with Chicken, Peas and Feta

1 pound pasta, cooked al dente, cooled and chilled

4 cups cooked chicken (white and dark meat), shredded or cubed

6 hard cooked eggs, cubed to bite size pieces

Place pasta in a very large bowl and add chicken, egg, peas, parsley and onion. Toss gently and thoroughly. Drizzle with olive oil and a bit of red wine vinegar. Toss and repeat three or four times until pasta is well coated. Toss in feta cheese. Taste and season with salt and pepper. Chill until ready to serve.

Garnish with fresh tomatoes (halved or chopped).

Take care when cooking and cooling your pasta. I stand guard, tossing the pasta often as it cools, with tiny drizzles of olive oil. Toss until completely cooled.

A rotisserie chicken from the market saved even more time.

History in story form

For more than 300 years, stories about this region that borders the Detroit River and Lake St. Clair have been collected. Based on oral traditions, these stories retell a history that reveals not only the events, but the character of the people who first settled here.

Legends of le Detroit, bring the stories to life through storytelling. For one evening, 7 p.m., Friday, Sept. 26, guests can listen to storytellers relate the area's early history on the side porch of the Provencal-Weir House.

Bring a chair and dress for the weather. The rain date is Saturday, Sept. 27.

Cider and donuts are available for purchase beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The stories were preserved and published in a collected work by Marie Carolyn Watson Hamlin. Published in 1884, the stories reflect Detroit's French Canadian heritage. Hamlin is related to the early habitants: Godfroy, Marentette and Navaree.

The first of four stories to be heard is from 1701, "The Nain Rouge," and tells the tale of the founding of Detroit. It is read by Gina Telford.

"Francois and Barbe" from 1710 is about the habitants or French farmers and is read by Kay Burt-Wilson.

The third tale, "The Sibyl's Prophecy," a 1806 story from the Huron's is read by Peter DiSante.

The fourth and finale story is an 1815 Chippewa tale, "Kishkaukou," read by Sal DeMercurio.

Coaching the storytellers are: Isabelle Donnelly, Peter DiSante and Sal DeMercurio.

Storytellers will be dressed in period costumes.

The area will be lit with Tiki lights.

Local artist displays works at U of D Mercy

City of Grosse Pointe artist Jennifer Gariepy has her work on display at the University of Detroit Mercy's McNichols Library.

Titled, "Look Closely: The Art of Jennifer Gariepy," it encompasses 100 paintings and drawings, including illustrations for "Sideshow, and Other Stories" by Thomas Ligotti.

Much of Gariepy's pictures are on a miniature and are primarily watercolors and pen and ink drawings.

"You might say my works are the size of book illustrations," Gariepy said, "and many of them have to do with imaginary city architecture."

Gariepy has worked as an artist for more than 20 years.

The exhibit is on display through June. Library hours are 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday.

PASTOR'S CORNER

Blight or beauty?

Whenever I have first-time guests, they comment on the contrast between Detroit and Grosse Pointe Park. I live, work and worship at the intersection of Mack and Alter, so it is a contrast I am confronted with every day. It no longer hits me the way it did the first time I visited the Pointes. In fact, having lived here awhile, I see the city through new eyes. Where I used to see only blight, I now see beauty.

I see the beauty of vacant lots slowly converting into meadows and forests. I see the beauty of hidden treasure in the form of art-deco facades on abandoned buildings. I see the beauty of neighborhoods taking shape around the efforts of people who insist we're better together.

I see the beauty of gardens of wild flowers and vegetables taking over a landscape once punctuated only by burned-out houses.

The temptation, for those of us living in the suburbs, is to react to the blight by turning a blind eye. To us, vacant lots and burned-out houses represent loss and brokenness; the inexorable demise of our efforts to build a dream. So we stick close to home, creating activities and edifices to obscure our view of the city.

When we do this we cheat ourselves. We cheat ourselves of the beauty that resides outside our borders. We cheat ourselves of the world that is rather than the world we think should be. We cheat ourselves of hope. Hope devastation, depression and decay can give way to something new. Something unexpected. Something beautiful.

The Bible begins with the story of a powerful and perfectly loving God creating a world that is the way it's supposed to be. The Hebrew word for this is shalom, which we translate "peace."

Human beings broke shalom by choosing our way over God's. The landscape of creation was blighted by our impulse to serve ourselves. The rest of the Bible is the story of a God who refused to turn a blind eye, and is instead turning our brokenness into something beautiful.

In the sixth century B.C., the city of Jerusalem was about to be destroyed by the Babylonian Empire. On the eve of this devastation, God tells his prophet Jeremiah to buy a plot of land. Why? Because God is not done with this city.

This is what the Lord says: "You say about this place, 'It is a desolate waste, without people or animals.' Yet in your city there will be heard once more the sounds of joy and gladness, the voices of bride and bridegroom . . . pastures for shepherds to rest their flocks." (Jeremiah 33:10-12)

Where we see blight, God sees beauty. Where we see futile efforts and failed dreams, God sees hope and a future. The God who offers us reconciliation and redemption also invites us to see the world through the lens of restoration. God is in the business of new life. God is faithful and able to make us new people. And God is relentless in the work of renewal. Don't turn a blind eye. Take in the blight and see the beauty. Hope in the one who is at work, even now, doing something new.

Allen Freiwald

Grosse Pointe Park resident Allen Freiwald, 88, died peacefully Saturday, Aug. 9, 2014.

He was born Nov. 5, 1925, in Detroit, to Elmer and Ida (nee Weil) Freiwald. While growing up on the east side of Detroit, he competed in Soap Box Derby races, one year competing at the national finals in Akron, Ohio.

As a teenager, he became a Boy Scout troop leader and a mentor for the Big Brothers Big Sisters organization. He also played saxophone and clarinet and had his own dance band that played in the Grosse Pointe area.

After graduating from Cass Technical High School in 1944, trained as a pilot in the U.S. Navy and attended the University of Michigan, from which he earned a bachelor's degree in engineering and a Master of Business Administration degree.

He worked as an engineer, then became a residential contractor, Allen Freiwald Inc., building more than 400 houses in the Grosse Pointe area. He transitioned from building homes to home renovations.

He was active in the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church, a member since 1951, and served as its president in 1989. More recently, he was a member of the Grosse Pointe Senior Men's Club and joined his wife as a member of the Grosse Pointe Newcomers Alumni.

Mr. Freiwald enjoyed photography and created a collection of striking and memorable black and white images. He also photographed many weddings in the area. Additionally, he and his wife traveled the world with the former Nomads travel club.

His family said he had an inquisitive mind and a keen interest in politics and science. He loved Big Band music and was also an avid sports fan, cheering on all of Detroit's major teams, as well as University of Michigan sports teams.

Mr. Freiwald is survived by his wife, Patricia Freiwald; daughter, Lynne Walker ("Happy"); son, Dean Freiwald; grandchildren, Edward and Blake Freiwald and Steven and James Walker and step-daughters, Kathryn Hillman (Edward McKenna) and Sherri Hillman (Dave Bernath).

He was predeceased by his sister, Ann Richter and brother, Don Freiwald.

A memorial service will be at 11 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 6, at the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church, 17150 Maumee Avenue, Grosse Pointe.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church, 17150 Maumee, Grosse Pointe, MI 48230.

fundamentals. Mike Fremont and Shaun Hickey, plus four volunteers, worked with the boys and girls. Anthony George, Spencer Lukas and John Rahi, University Liggett School students, and Beth Crader from Grosse Pointe South High School, helped the special needs children with skills such as batting, running bases and catching the ball. The last week the Little Sluggers went outside to put their skills in play.

Grant Hatterman stepped up to the plate and singled.

While the boys and girls learn the art of America's pastime, parents are interacting with their children and meet other parents of special needs children.

"Parent participation is mandatory," Schena said. "Those dads get to play ball and bond with their sons."

This is a reward of the program, Schena went on to say. "They have the opportunity to experience what other children are doing. The parents network."

Kids on the Go summer camp provides speech, occupational and physical therapy, pairing children with professional therapists at no cost to the campers. Kids on the Go serves children with autism, Down Syndrome, Fragile X Syndrome, DeGeorge Syndrome and those who are developmentally delayed.

David Falbo skillfully catches the ball.

Toyota updates Corolla for 2014

Toyota says it had improved handling and great fuel economy in mind when staff began engineering a restyled 2014 compact Corolla for 2014.

The top-selling sedan offers a range of models, two 1.8-liter engines and three transmissions in its latest incarnation. A new LE Eco model may get highway fuel economy of 42 miles per gallon. It uses a continuously variable transmission with a 1.8-liter four, underbody covers for improved aerodynamics and low rolling resistance tires on 15-inch wheels.

The Corolla LE Eco starts at $18,700.

Our test car was a 2014 Corolla S Premium, available at a base price of $20,400. Some attractive features included power-adjustable heated front seats, heated outside mirrors and a back-up camera. The review car included two options packages. The $1,500 driver convenience package came with the Entune infotainment system, navigation, Bluetooth wireless, HD radio with weather/traffic service and satellite radio hook-up available. A power sliding sunroof with shade added another $850. An $810 delivery fee brought the bottom line to $23,570.

The test car featured a continuously variable transmission. A six-speed manual and four-speed automatic are available on some models.

Fuel economy numbers for the Corolla S Premium are 29 mpg city and 37 mpg highway, for a combined average of 32.

In past years the Corolla S was among the most economical models for the nameplate. It was dressed up a bit with an appearance package. It now appears to be a mid-level choice, sandwiched between various L and LE models. Prices for the sleeker, better equipped 2014 Corolla lineup range from $16,800 for the L with six-speed manual to $20,100 for the LE Eco Premium with continuously variable transmission.

Automotive Technology

Jaguar Land Rover develops self-learning intelligent car of the future

Cutting-edge technology is being pioneered by researchers at Jaguar Land Rover to develop an intelligent self-learning vehicle offering a completely personalized driving experience and help prevent accidents by reducing driver distraction.

Using the latest machine learning and artificial intelligence techniques, Jaguar Land Rover's self-learning car will offer a comprehensive array of services to the driver, courtesy of a new learning algorithm that recognizes who is in the car and learns their preferences and driving style. The software then applies this learning by using a range of variables including the driver's calendar, time of day, traffic conditions and the weather to predict driver behavior and take over many of the daily driving

'chores', allowing the driver to concentrate on the road ahead.

The intelligent car will recognize the driver by the Smartphone or other device in their pocket, and by the time the driver has opened the car door, the mirrors, steering wheel and seat settings will be set to the individual's preferences. The cabin will be pre-set to the desired temperature—and be intelligent enough to change it if it is snowing or raining.

Through the "Smart Assistant," the car will also review the driver's schedule for the day and intelligently pre-set the navigation depending on traffic conditions to avoid congestion. It will also predict the next destination based on the driver's schedule.

If the driver is taking the children to school, the car will recognize every passenger and offer each their own preferred infotainment options. And the Smart Assist will review the driver's calendar and send reminders to their Smartphone.

If the driver usually makes a phone call at a certain time or on a particular journey, the car will predict this and will offer to make the call.

The self-learning car will also be able to learn an individual's driving style in a range of traffic conditions and on different types of road.

The personalized experience would also not be limited to the car owned by the driver. If the driver rents an intelligent Jaguar or Land Rover in the future, the car will recognize the driver and passengers and offer them the same preferences learned by their vehicle at home.

GROSSE POINTE SOUTH

South duo playing college lax

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

Grosse Pointe South 2014 graduates Bridgett Champane and Shannon Novak finished their high school athletic careers by earning First Team All-State this spring.

Each excelled at their position on the field and displayed their talents in the Michigan High School Senior Showcase Hall of Fame Game at Detroit Country Day this summer.

Champane was a prolific goal scorer and was named MLive Detroit Player of the Year for girls' lacrosse. She scored 89 goals and 18 assists for 107 points in the Blue Devils' 14 games this spring. Novak was one of the best goalkeepers in the state and finished with a goals against average of less than 10 per game.

The girls have been friends since attending elementary school at St. Paul's.

The friendship has blossomed into a closeness which resembles being sisters.

They have gone to school together for a dozen years, but that will change this fall when they go separate ways

Bridgett Champane

when they head to college.

Champane is going to Robert Morris University in a suburb of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Novak is heading to Lincoln Memorial University in Harrogate, Tenn.

If they take I-79 South, the drive is seven hours and 43 minutes between the campuses.

Despite enrolling at different universities, each is playing women's lacrosse and share the bond of athletics at the next level.

"I chose Robert Morris my junior year because I like the city-feel to the campus and it is a relatively newer program," the 18-year-old Champane said. "I had other D1 and D2 offers, but this is the college I liked the best when I made my visits and it feels right."

The Colonials finished 11-6 in the spring and 5-2 in the Northeast Conference competing against Sacred Heart, LIU Brooklyn, Bryant, Central Connecticut State, Saint Francis University, Wagner and Mount St. Mary's. They ended the season with a conference tournament semifinal loss to Wagner.

Head coach Katy Phillips should field another solid team next spring with Champane moving from her forward position to an offensive-defenseman role.

"Moving to a more defensive spot on the field is OK with me," Champane said. "I want to get on the field and contribute anyway I can. I can still use my offensive skills, but I think I can learn to play a more all-around game under coach Phillips here at Robert Morris."

"I'm excited to get going." For Novak, she is part of the first women's lacrosse program at Lincoln Memorial. The Railsplitters will play in the South Atlantic Conference.

Shannon Novak

Catawba, Lenoir-Rhyne, Newberry, Queens, Wingate and Coker will be in the conference, along with Lincoln Memorial under head coach Caitlyn Corace.

"I'm excited to be part of this new lacrosse program," the 18-year-old Novak said. "I fell in love with the school when I made my visit and I think we can surprise some people next year. We are all working toward the goal of playing in a winning program."

Other D2 and D3 programs were interested in Novak, but in the end she chose to head to Tennessee for her college experience.

Both Champane and Novak work hard to be the best lacrosse players they can be. They work out together on and off the field, pushing each other beyond what it takes to be the best.

The duo and their Blue Devils teammates had a great season. It ended with a tough playoff loss to Bloomfield Hills, but they both agreed their biggest win of the season came against highly-touted Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook-Kingswood. "Beating Cranbrook was great for us and we pounded them," Champane said. "I wish we would have performed better in our playoff game, but that didn't happen."

"We had a nice season up until the playoffs," Novak said. "I don't know why we played so poorly against a team we could beat, but for some reason we came out flat. However, it was a successful season."

First-year head coach Alyssa Valentine did a nice job with the program and one thing Champane and Novak did was play in the 7-on-7 fall league.

Each had success with their Blue Devils teammates and the success and high expectations carried over to the spring.

In addition, both played on club lacrosse teams, which helped them improve their skills to the level where they are playing at the next level, college.

"We always wanted to pick everyone up and that was our job as captains," Novak said. "We had a lot of fun being teammates for so many years. I will miss playing on Bridgett's team, but at least we will be able to hang out on breaks and during the summers while we are in college." "I'm going to miss Shannon, but at least we can still communicate through a number of ways, so that is a positive," Champane said. "We will both be busy, but not too busy to call or text."

Champane finished South with a 3.6 grade point average and is majoring in marketing with a minor in finance. She wants to pursue a career in the sports field, focusing on lacrosse. She reports to Robert Morris Aug. 21.

Novak had a 3.8 grade point average and wants to pursue a career in criminal justice, her major, with a minor in psychology. She reports to Lincoln Memorial Aug. 14.

Grosse Pointe North

RUNNING

Schaefer ready for OU

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

Natalie Schaefer is ready for the next challenge.

The 2014 Grosse Pointe North graduate embraced the challenge of excelling at high school running and she accepted the chance to duplicate the success for Oakland University and head coach Paul Rice.

"I'm excited and nervous to begin college," the 18-year-old Schaefer said. "I liked the smaller class sizes and the campus here at Oakland. I'm looking forward to the change of scenery."

The life-long Grosse Pointer went through the educational process, moving from Ferry Elementary to Parcels Middle School to Grosse Pointe North.

The 3.95 grade point average student-athlete was also interested in Michigan State University, but chose the smaller confines of Rochester and Oakland U. She is a Golden Grizzly.

Schaefer finished her high school career as one of the Norsemen's all-time best runners, competing in the state finals.

She helped the Norsemen finish 20th in the 2013 Division 1 state championship meet by taking 88th with a time of 19:49.7.

Schaefer also competed in the Division 1 state title meet as a freshman finishing 171st with a time of 21:13.2.

"Natalie Schaefer is a tremendous young lady who will be sorely missed on our team and will make a great contribution to Oakland's program," North girls' cross-country head coach Scott Cooper said.

2014 North graduate Natalie Schaefer, right, and her high school cross-country coach, Scott Cooper, after a meet her senior year.

"She was a 19-minute U is getting a great runner which should equate to great success down the road.

"From the moment Natalie joined the team as a freshman, until her final race as a senior, she was loved by the team. She was always a team favorite. She was a great, positive personality.

"We called her Lil' Nat from the start because she was tiny, and continued to call her that even as she was a much taller senior.

"At the Old Skool race where we do a river crossing twice, I brought her a life preserver to wear as a joke.

"She was a team favorite because she cared about others. On the first day of practice her senior year, I asked the captains, which she was one of, if they could name as many members of the team as possible (we had 70 girls).

"Lil' Nat stood up and walked around our circle of runners and named them all without error and without pausing.

"She set a great example with her hard work each and every day at practice, and went into every race wanting to do better than ever Oakland runner I can be and I am thankful for him."

She made Academic All-State as an individual and the team earned the honor during her senior year on the cross-country squad. She also earned the Coaches Award, and was the Rookie of the Year as a freshman.

"I put in a lot of effort in running with a great group of girls and I will miss them," she said. "However, I will make a new set of friends at Oakland and I'm looking forward to it.

"Coach Cooper did a lot to help me and my pursuit to be the best runner I can be and I am thankful for him."

She ran track at North her sophomore and junior year, running distance events.

She is the oldest child of Michael and Mary. Her younger sister, Stephanie, is a freshman this fall at North. Stephanie is also going to run cross country.

"I will be anxious to get updates from Stephanie and tell her how I did," Schaefer said. "It will be a little sad to say goodbye from my family when I move in, but Oakland is close to home and it's a great opportunity for me to experience campus life and meet new friends."

She is undecided on a major and picked her classes for the fall semester, pre-calculus, political science, Spanish and an Honor College course.

During the tournament, the team hit several home runs coming from Will Frame (4), Alex Hartz (2), Pete Lianos (1) and Tanner Belanger (1). It's a success

The Lakeside Baseball 9U Dirtbags capitalized on timely hitting and a battery of arms to win the GPWS 10U local tournament. The Dirtbags went 2-0 in pool play to earn a spot in the championship game. The championship game was tightly contested, but a 7-run third inning was enough of a cushion for the Dirtbags to hold on for a 9-7 win. Dealing with the heat

Despite unseasonably cool temperatures this summer in Michigan, high school athletes should prepare for the heat that usually accompanies August and the beginning of Michigan High School Athletic Association fall practices began this week.

The topic of heat-related injuries receives a lot of attention at this time of year, especially when deaths at the professional, collegiate and interscholastic levels of sport occur, and especially since they are preventable in most cases with the proper precautions.

Also this school year, for the first time, the MHSAA is requiring all assistant and varsity coaches at the high school level to complete the same rules and risk minimization meeting requirement as high school varsity head coaches, or, in the alternative, one of several online courses designated for this purpose on MHSAA.com.

The MHSAA Representative Council adopted in 2013 the Model Policy for Managing Heat &

Humidity that, while not mandated for member schools.

The plan directs schools to begin monitoring the heat index at the activity site once the air temperature reaches 80 degrees and provides recommendations when the heat index reaches certain points, including ceasing activities when it rises above 104 degrees.

Roberts said the first days of formal practices in hot weather should be more for heat acclimatization than the conditioning of athletes, and that practices in such conditions need planning to become longer and more strenuous over a gradual progression of time.

He added schools also must consider moving practices to different times of day, different locations, or change practice plans.

The widespread use of herbicides sprayed on fields of genetically modified corn and soybean crops is killing the milkweed, the plant on which Monarchs and other butterflies lay their eggs.

This has caused an 81% decline in the number of Monarch butterflies in the Midwestern United States since record keeping began in 1993.
