Firefighters injured in four-alarm blaze

By John McTaggart
 Staff Writer

GROSSE POINTE PARK — A trio of firefighters suffered minor injuries Sunday night while battling a blaze that claimed a pair of local businesses.

According to Grosse Pointe Park Public Safety Director David Hiller, the officers are expected to make a full recovery.

"One of the officers was injured when the facade of the building came down," Hiller said. "What was originally thought to be a broken ankle was actually a bad sprain. The other two officers suffered smoke inhalation. They're all expected to be fine."

The four-alarm blaze broke out just after 11 p.m. Sunday, May 31, at the Sunrise Sunset Saloon and Rock N Ride.

"We got the call at 11:20 p.m.," Hiller said. "By the time we got there the fire was already very intense."

GROSSE POINTE WOODS — It's back. After a highly successful inaugural campaign, the city's Farmers Market returns Sunday, June 14, in front of City Hall on Mack.

"We're excited to have it back," City Administrator Skip Fincham said. "We were very pleased to see how well it was received and really look forward to a new and improved version this year."

Additional vendors have been added to the lineup, Fincham said.

"We do have a few more vendors taking part this year," he said. "And a lot of returning vendors, too. It should be great."

The market is open between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. every Sunday from June 14 to

GROSSE POINTE WOODS — Beginning Friday, June 5, a new sight will make its way up and down Mack on Friday and Saturday nights — a trolley.

"We're really excited to be able to offer this to residents," Grosse Pointe Woods City Administrator Skip Fincham said. "The mayor had talked about this for several years, so it's always been on his and everyone's mind. Now, it's great to see it actually happening. I think it's something people are really going to enjoy."

"They started to fall in," he said. "So that's when we had to start fighting the fire in more of a defensive attack, from the outside. It just wasn't safe to be in there."

As firefighters from the Park, City of Grosse

Pointe and Grosse Pointe Farms battled the blaze, work also was being done to protect a house standing just feet behind the burning structure.

"There's really only a few feet between those buildings and that house," Hiller said. "So we had guys set up water curtains, making sure the fire didn't spread to the house. We were able to do that. There might be a few scorch marks on the house, but that's it." Crews battled the blaze for more than six hours before the fire was out, Hiller said.

"Both buildings are a total loss I would say," Hiller said. "And right now we're really not sure what started the fire."

The owner of the Sunrise Sunset Saloon, however, noted electrical problems throughout the night, Hiller said. Dimming lights, televisions within the establishment not working correctly as well as a few other electrical issues were also mentioned, Hiller said.

"Our officers, along with those from the City of Grosse Pointe and the Farms did a great job out there," Hiller said. "I'm just thankful this didn't happen at a time when there were a lot of people around. This was a big fire."

Letter to South students and parents

Earlier today it came to my attention that a group of students organized an event this past weekend at the Music Hall downtown. This event was not sanctioned by Grosse Pointe South nor supported by our school in any formal capacity. However, it is my understanding that the content of this comedy show focused primarily on South students and staff. Based on numerous parent and student contacts I've had this morning, it is clear that at least some of the content of this show was inappropriate and in many ways portrayed either our school or our students in a negative light.

Officially, the school cannot control events that are not sanctioned and are held outside of the school day. However, even though administration and this school do not have any formal responsibility for this show, we cannot be silent in the presence of injustice. The Student Code of Conduct does task administration with monitoring student behavior that impacts students during the school day even if that behavior occurred at a non-school sanctioned event. In this specific case and in any future cases that may occur, administration will continue to work to ensure a healthy environment for all students at South.

I have often stated during my first year here at South that it is not sufficient for our students to aspire to be the best 'in' the world. Rather, we need our children to be the best 'for' the world. This challenge to be the best for others extends beyond the confines of our school building and into all of the interactions we have with each other. An event that references inappropriate school behavior and makes light of serious issues such as race, sexual orientation and students with special needs is not something that our young people should have a role in organizing or even attending. As your principal, I expect each student at South to advocate for a better world where each student improves the life of others rather than diminishing the accomplishments of fellow students.

I have found that in times of adversity the true character of both adults and students comes to light. I am pleased that throughout the day both students and parents have stood up for what is right and have articulated a vision for South and our community as a whole that focuses on improving and celebrating each other. Earlier today, the students who organized this event met with me to discuss the fallout from this performance. Those students crafted the following message that they wanted me to share with the South community on their behalf:

We regret any action perceived as racist, homophobic, or generally discriminatory that occurred last Friday. It has come to our attention that many in the community feel that our goal was to personally attack many of the students and staff members in the Grosse Pointe Public School System. This was not our intention. Changes will be made in future shows to prevent similar circumstances. The Second Suburb Cast.

I am a firm believer that we should measure a person's character by their actions under times of crisis and certainly the character of these young adults is evident as they are taking responsibility for their actions.

As your principal, my first responsibility is to ensure that every student at South has an opportunity to safely develop as an individual and to nurture the ethics and morals that will allow them to be successful in our global society. I am confident that in the future students who may be involved in an event such as this will display the character and spirit that we expect from all in our community.

Sincerely,
Moussa J. Hamka
Principal

edy troupe made up of about a half dozen South students called Second Suburb.

In a letter to the South community issued late Monday, Principal Moussa Hamka said "based on numerous parent and student contacts I've had this morning, it is clear that at least some of the content of this show was inappropriate and in many ways portrayed either our school or our students in a negative light."

Hamka also said while the event was not sanctioned by South nor supported by the school in any formal capacity, he was concerned the content of the show focused primarily on South students and staff.

Included in Hamka's letter to the community was a message from the cast of Second Suburb. Their letter said, "We regret any action perceived as racist, homophobic or generally discriminatory that occurred last Friday. It has come to our attention that many in the community feel that our goal was to personally attack many of the students and staff members in the Grosse Pointe Public School System. This was not our intention. Changes will be made in future shows to prevent similar circumstances."

According to several students who attended the show, jokes were made indicating students and staff by name, with some of the jokes being sexual, homophobic or racist in nature. There was also a joke naming a special needs student, all issues Hamka addressed in his letter.

"An event that references inappropriate school behavior and makes light of serious issues such as race, sexual orientation and students with special needs is not something that our young people should have a role in organizing or even attending."

Second Suburb has been loosely associated with Grosse Pointe South since the early 1990s. It took a page from the storied Second City comedy troupe in Chicago and performed satirical skits and improvisational comedy routines, all written and performed by students.

However, it was not without controversy and while it was initially funded by South, it lost its funding and school sponsorship and was forced to move its shows off school property. It was dormant for several years, but was revived in 2008, with students paying to rent a site in downtown Detroit to perform the show. This year's show was held at the Music Hall. There was not a show last year.

Even though the show was not held at the school and Second Suburb does not receive any support from the school system, Hamka felt it was important for the school to address parent and student concerns.

"Officially, the school cannot control events that are not sanctioned and are held outside of the school day. However, even though administration and this school do not have any formal responsibility for this show, we cannot be silent in the presence of injustice."

Foundation event features Tigers greats

By John McTaggart
Staff Writer

THE GROSSE POINTES — For Tigers baseball fans it's a unique opportunity to see some of the team's all-time greats.

In the meantime, it's the chance to raise much-needed funds for a very worthy cause.

The Joe Niekro Foundation's World Series Legends dinner and discussion is set for Thursday, June 11, at MotorCity Casino in Detroit.

Proceeds from the fundraising event benefit the Joe Niekro

Foundation and will be used for brain aneurysm, arteriovenous malformation and hemorrhagic stroke research, said the foundation's Executive Director Natalie Niekro.

"The money is needed," she said. "And it's events like this that help us raise those much-needed funds. I know this is one event I'm really looking forward to."

The event showcases a panel of some of the Detroit Tigers World Series heroes including 1968 team members Al Kaline, Mickey Lolich and Willie Horton, Niekro said.

Also featured are members of the 1984 squad, including Alan Trammell, Jack Morris and Lou Whitaker, among others.

"We're very excited about the six players on the panel," Grosse Pointe resident and event organizer Suzanne Antonelli said. "With a panel this size the discussion can be more in depth and everyone will be heard from. We're also very excited to have Trammell and Whitaker back together again."

Rick Leach, Scott

Lusader, Dan Petry, Dave Rozema, Pat Sheridan, Jon Warden, Pio DiSalvo and others also are expected to be part of the event although they won't be featured as part of the panel.

Detroit sportscaster Eli Zaret will serve as the master of ceremonies.

"It's going to be a great night of great baseball memories," Niekro said. "And these stories are going to be coming right from the players who lived it. It's really a rare opportunity to see all these great World Series heroes together."

Antonelli said the funds raised are critical to the efforts of the foundation and are used for programs right in the community.

"There's a support group for example, at Harper Hospital that started up about three months ago," Antonelli said. "These things are very complicated and tough to start up because of the training involved, but there is a group there now and we're very happy to have helped with that."

Funding for research at the University of Michigan also benefits from the fundraising efforts.

"We're very grateful for what we get and for the generosity of the community," Antonelli said. "It all helps. And the more we raise the more we can help. It's really that simple."

A VIP cocktail reception, a silent auction and a strolling dinner and other features are also part of the event, she said.

Tickets are still available.

All kidding aside

Pope shares laugh with Farms native

By Jody McVeigh
Staff Writer

It's been more than a month, but the excitement of the moment is still alive in Grayson Heenan.

On Saturday, May 2, Heenan, who is studying for the priesthood in Rome, met and shook hands with Pope Francis when the Holy Father said Mass at the Pontifical North American College in Rome.

"Earlier in the morning, there was a conference on Junipero Serra, a Capuchin missionary to the California area in the states who will soon be canonized by Francis," Heenan said in an e-mail from Rome. "Junipero Serra and other American saints were mentioned in Francis' homily at Mass. The whole event was a bit of a prelude for his visit to the states soon."

Heenan, who attended

St. Paul on the Lake from kindergarten through sixth grade from 1993 to 2000, studied at Sacred Heart Major Seminary in Detroit from 2011-13, then was sent to Rome by the Archdiocese of Detroit to finish seminary.

"I'm nearing the end of my second of what will be five years here," he said. "If all goes well, I'll be ordained a deacon in September 2016 at St. Peter's Basilica here in Rome and a priest in the summer of 2017 back in Detroit. I'll finish a second degree here in the year after priestly ordination, so I'll be back home for good around 2018 and will probably be placed in a parish somewhere in metro Detroit."

It's been quite an experience for the 27-year-old, whose parents, Anne and Earl Heenan, live in Grosse Pointe Farms.

"Rome has been an

excellent experience. The city — history, architecture, food, etc. — is great, but the best thing about any place is always the people," he said. "And not just Pope Francis! I'm probably most grateful for my brothers and the faculty here at the seminary."

The North American College is home to around 250 seminarians from all over the states. It's teaching Heenan what he feels has been his calling since an early age.

"I had an intuition, if I could call it that, ever since a young age, maybe around 8 or 9," he said. "I went to Mass every Sunday with my mom and sister and I remember watching the priest and being filled with curiosity. My thought was not just, 'Maybe I could do that,' but also 'that will be me one day.'"

Heenan studied philosophy at Boston College for four years, graduating in 2010. The school, he said, carried with it a culture of volunteerism. That culture called him into missionary work.

"I had a deep sense that God wants to use us to communicate His love to those who suffer," he said. "Around this time, Heart's Home (in Spanish, Punto Corazon) showed up at Boston College and gave a presentation about their work. Once again, God was making moves."

Heart's Home, a French Catholic non-profit missionary organization, was founded 25 years ago by a French priest who wanted to put young missionaries in houses in the heart of the world's poorest places. Currently there are around 40 Heart's Homes across the globe.

"It is, in short, a mission of friendship or sharing God's friendship," Heenan said. "The focus is always to reach out to the people in the neighborhood who are suffering; kids, as well, suffer in a special way in these neighborhoods, so Heart's Homes are meant to be a safe haven for them to play and visit."

After graduation, Heenan was sent to Villa Jardin, a "beautiful and vibrant but mean slum" outside of Buenos Aires in Argentina. He served there for 13 months, from June 2010 to July 2011, and there was never a dull day, he said.

"To say that the experience changed me probably doesn't do it justice. It was really good for me," he said. "I had already planned to enter seminary in my senior year at BC, but wanted the decision to mature for a bit, as well. I finished the first half of the application before Argentina and finished the second half while I was there."

His service in Argentina provided a bit of fun years later when Pope Francis strolled into North American College. "After Mass, there were about 15 of us or so from the college lined up and (Pope Francis) shook our hands one by one," he recalled. "When he came around to me, our rector, Monseigneur Checchio, told him I lived in Argentina."

The following exchange occurred (translated from Italian):
Francis: No, really!
Heenan: Yes, in Villa Jardin with Punto

Corazon.
Francis: Oh yes, Punto Corazon, they do a lot of good work. They're all great ... (smiling, looking at Heenan, winking) ... but a little strange (laughing).

Checchio: (pointing at Heenan) He's a little strange, too, Holy Father! (everyone laughing)

Francis: (putting his hand on Heenan's shoulder) No, I'm joking. Say hello to all them for me. And please, pray for me.

Heenan: Of course!
"I was happy he was comfortable enough to joke around a bit. It was a special moment," Heenan said. "I knew he would remember Punto Corazon/Heart's Home because he did a number of things to help us out in Buenos Aires, though I never met him then. He was a big supporter for us, especially considering his insistence for us as Pope on the missionary character of the church, of going out to the periphery."

While Heenan finishes up his schooling, he sends well-wishes to everyone back home, especially to everyone at St. Paul on the Lake.

"A number of friends from the neighborhood supported me in my mission in Argentina, so a big thanks to them, again, as well," he said.

ChariTea

The ChariTea Tea Party by The Family Center was held Sunday, May 3. The party was created to help develop social skills in young children through a variety of learning activities. The event also helped raise awareness and donations for the Grosse Pointe Animal Adoption Society. # Calley guest at ERC

Brian Calley, America's youngest lieutenant governor, will speak in Grosse Pointe Farms at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 16, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, where he will address members and guests of the Eastside Republican Club.

"We're honored to have Lt. Gov. Calley speak in our community," said Ken Chadwell, chairman of the Eastside Republican Club. "Mr. Calley is a great advocate for Michigan and our talent pool, working hard to connect Michigan employers with trade opportunities in other parts of the world."

The Eastside Republican Club Forum meets monthly from September to June.

Admission is free and the public is welcome. For more information, visit the ERC Facebook page. As a member of the Michigan House, Calley built a reputation for working with Republicans and Democrats to promote a fair and honest legislative process.

As a community banker for over a decade, Calley worked his way from the mailroom to vice president. In that capacity, he helped hundreds of companies preserve or expand their Michigan-based operations and jobs.

He was twice elected to the Ionia County Board of Commissioners and served as board vice chairman. Working with a forward-thinking group of commissioners, he modernized and improved the county's financial operations, measurements and management as it transitioned into a new century.

In 2006, Calley was elected to the Michigan House of Representatives, where he was known for his grasp of Michigan's tax system and became a ranking Republican on the House Tax Policy committee.

Calley, whose daughter has autism, is also known for his outspoken advocacy for autism awareness.

He was named one of the "Ten Outstanding Young Americans" by the U.S. Junior Chamber and one of Crain's Detroit Business' "40 under 40." Other honors include the Small Business Association of Michigan's "Legislator of the Year."

He is a lifelong Michigander, earned a bachelor's degree from Michigan State University and an MBA from Grand Valley State University. He and his wife, Julie, have been married since 1996 and live in Portland with their three children.

tions along the route each night.

Fincham searched all over the country, he said, for the right vehicle before finding it at Tecumseh Trolley & Limousine in Tecumseh.

"We originally touched base with them and they said they didn't have anything," Fincham said. "Then, when we checked back again, they had nine of them."

Tecumseh Trolley finds and restores trolleys, Fincham said, and after a trip to the facility, the 1999 diesel trolley was perfect.

"It seats 18-20 people, with room for more people to stand," he said. "It's got air conditioning and heat, and the windows do come down also. It's really a neat thing."

The trolley, which costs about $47,000, was funded thanks to funds from the city and a $30,000 grant.

"The idea is to go up and down Mack. We're going to have designated trolley stops. We're having the signs done up already," Fincham said. "If people want to come out and just go for a ride to see what it's all about, they'll be able to do that. If they want to walk from their home up to Mack and jump on it and go to a restaurant and then come back, it's great for that, too."

The ride is free of charge, Fincham said, and he is hopeful the trolley will be a hit with residents.

"We're going to try it as a pilot program this summer," he said. "We're going to see how it works."

Fincham said the trolley could be used for events such as the senior picnic and the very popular Polar Express in the winter as well.

"I think it would be perfect for things like that also," Fincham said. "But we'll see how it is received this summer and go from there."

The city will use a pair of drivers who already drive for the city, Fincham said.

"It's a fun thing," he said. "Maybe you don't want to drive and deal with the parking, or maybe you want to have a drink or two. Or maybe you want to run up and get an ice cream with the family. You can just walk to Mack, catch the trolley and go have a good time."

Family Center event always fun

The Family Center's ChariTea Party is always a fun event for young girls and their mothers. This year's event, held Sunday, May 3, collected donations of toys and treats for puppies and kittens at the Grosse Pointe Animal Adoption Society.

Congratulations to The Family Center on another successful party. Having fun while learning is something we all could use.

Show goes too far

The fallout of a performance by The Second Suburb Cast continues to be the talk of the town.

While no one from our staff was in attendance at last Friday's Detroit Music Hall show, we've talked to plenty who were there. And the story on page 1A and letter from Grosse Pointe South High School Principal Moussa Hamka tell what happened.

With what was presented to us by witnesses, we believe this crosses the lines of free speech and becomes bullying, if not slanderous.

Comedy is comedy - and plenty of comedians cross the lines of decency constantly. Calling out specific people, including classmates and teachers, should have seemed like a bad idea to somebody involved in the show.

We salute Hamka for taking a tough stand on what is expected of the students in his school.

Some will say these are children and they'll make mistakes. That is true.

But at some point, this performance should have raised a red flag to someone involved. An apology means something and learning from a mistake is always good.

But the apology contained in Hamka's letter from the cast seems fresh from an attorney. Our guess is the real punishment comes in facing those who were offended. They deserve a real apology.

Wage repeal just wrong

To the Editor:

The guest opinion of May 21 supports the repeal of union wages as sound policy. I do not agree.

This proposal shows a lack of understanding of the situations which effect in the lives of working folks in Michigan. This mandate proposes that construction projects funded by the state need not recognize the already negotiated wages of workers.

We must question a proposal that would lower the working folks' wages and used the myth of lower taxes to give road managers more power. While the Mackinac Center, for who Michael LaFalive wrote this, may support lowering workers' salaries, I doubt that most of us agree.

No one has the right to treat anyone as if they do not matter.

GORDON E. MORLAN

Be kind to your neighbor

To the Editor:

For many years my husband and I have been patrons of Joseph DiMaggio Jewelers on Mack across from the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church. We have parked in the empty lot every time we visited the store.

About eight-to-10 months ago a barrier had been placed up so the parking lot could not be used. The store is closed on Sunday (when the congregation would use the lot) and Monday. Is there any harm to let customers of the jewelry store use the parking lot when the church congregation is not using it as they have done since the store opened in 1957.

What ever happened to being kind to your neighbor?

I've been told several people were locked in the lot when they returned to their cars and the lock prevented them from leaving. I am truly surprised that a Christian Church would be so unkind as to blockade the entrance to an empty lot when it would be beneficial for everyone. Is there a peaceful solution to this situation?

GUEST OPINION By Audrey Spalding

Not as good as you think: How wealthier schools escape scrutiny

The plight of failing schools is often seen as a struggle limited to Michigan's urban centers: Indeed, many of Michigan's lowest-ranked schools are located in Detroit, Flint or Pontiac. But Michigan parents might be surprised to learn many schools in wealthier, suburban districts are failing to provide an acceptable education to their families as well. Though these schools may appear to be doing all right, a new study from the Pacific Research Institute shows that hundreds of Michigan suburban schools are shortchanging their students.

To provide a better measure of school performance, the state should measure schools on the basis of student academic growth, or take student socioeconomic status into account.

For a variety of reasons, poverty plays a role in student academic performance. It is a long-established fact that school-level test scores are correlated with rates of student poverty. Generally, schools that enroll a high percentage of students from poverty backgrounds post lower academic results, while schools that enroll more students from higher-income backgrounds tend to post higher academic results. There are many possible factors driving this relationship, including the basic truth that students in suburban schools do not face the same struggles of safety and family life that their high-poverty counterparts deal with on a regular basis.

Given poverty's impact on student outcomes, examining a school's academic performance within the context of student socioeconomic background provides a more complete view of school performance.

The Pacific Research Institute's study, "Not As Good As You Think: Why Middle-Class Parents in Michigan Should be Concerned About Their Local Public Schools," takes a closer look at Michigan's middle-class and higher-income schools, while taking student socioeconomic status into account. PRI shows that hundreds of suburban schools that enroll students from middle-class families are actually failing to produce acceptable academic results.

The higher-income schools PRI examined are those where a third or fewer of the enrolled students were eligible for free- or reduced-price lunch — meaning that a large majority of students do not come from poverty. Close to half of Michigan students are eligible for the National School Lunch Program, which limits eligibility by income level. Students who are eligible for the program come from families close to the federal poverty line. For example, a family of four would have to earn less than $45,000 per year to be eligible.

A higher-income school is identified as "not as good as you think" in PRI's study if it has more than half of its students failing a state assessment, or if the school is performing worse than expected, given its student population.

Consider Armada High School, northeast of Detroit in Macomb County: The school enrolls one of the wealthier student family populations in the state, with just 14 percent of its students eligible for subsidized lunches. And yet, just 15 percent of its juniors scored as "college ready" on the ACT in the 2013-14 school year. That's lower than the statewide average.

More deplorable is the fact that the percentage of Armada 11th-graders scoring "proficient" or better on the state mathematics test has been lower than the statewide average for the last five years in a row. Indeed, Armada High School received an F on the Mackinac Center's high school report card, which adjusts for student socioeconomic background, and includes four years of student academic performance.

And yet, Armada was able to do reasonably well on the state of Michigan's annual "Top-to-Bottom" ranking of schools, which is strongly correlated with student poverty. Essentially, Armada is able to "get by" with its student population. If the state took student socioeconomic background into account when grading schools, Armada would likely receive a much lower score.

The PRI study serves to shine an important light on more than 200 schools in suburban districts that are able to escape scrutiny, due to their higher-income student populations. The fact is, school quality is an issue that faces all Michiganders — not just those in the state's urban centers. To provide a better measure of school performance, the state should measure schools on the basis of student academic growth, or take student socioeconomic status into account. Otherwise, schools located in high-poverty neighborhoods will be disproportionately penalized, and schools in higher-income neighborhoods will continue to escape scrutiny.

14 suspensions

A few minutes before 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 27, a public safety officer patrolling the Village reported a traffic infraction by a male motorist who, investigation revealed, shouldn't have been behind the wheel in the first place.

The officer reportedly saw the suspect, a 22-year-old Eastpointe resident, violate the one-way restriction from Notre Dame to the Kercheval alley and Kroger parking lot.

"The driver stated he did not have a driver's license," said the officer.

State records showed the license suspended 14 times.

"(He) also had six warrants," said the officer, arresting him.

The warrants were for failing to appear in court for traffic offenses in Detroit and various Wayne County suburbs.

Report information about this or other crimes to the City of Grosse Pointe Public Safety Department at (313) 886-3200.

Wrong way

A drunken driver with a suspended license was caught speeding the wrong way on Mack shortly before 2:30 a.m. Sunday, May 31, according to the arresting officer.

The patrolman spotted the suspect, a 25-year-old Roseville man, driving a golden 2004 Lexus four-door from East Warren to eastbound lanes of westbound Mack.

"(I) estimated the vehicle to be traveling 50 mph," said the officer. "(I) observed the vehicle east on westbound Mack past Moross, the speed still around 50 mph."

The officer caught him as he switched to the eastbound lanes at the intersection of Bournemouth Drive.

The driver reportedly failed a series of sobriety tests and registered a .16 percent blood alcohol level, which is twice the legal limit to operate a motor vehicle in Michigan.

Public Safety Reports

A street light at Mack Avenue and Hampton in Grosse Pointe Woods, was taken out by a driver charged with drunken driving over the weekend, according to City Administrator Skip Fincham. The city closed the Michigan U-turn until DTE Energy arrived for repairs.

Patio capers

For the second time in two weeks, someone made off with backyard patio or lawn furniture.

The latest theft occurred in the 200 block of McMillan during daylight Friday, May 29.

A man reported a missing white, five-foot patio table.

"The suspect or suspects entered his rear yard by opening the fence gate on the driveway," said a public safety officer.

A woman living next door reported similar trouble.

She said someone opened a gate to her property and stole a planter pot in front of her garage.

"She stated she was home all day, except between 9:15 and 10:15 a.m., and observed (the) planter missing shortly after returning," said the officer.

The prior incident occurred overnight Friday, May 22, in the 600 block of University Place, City of Grosse Pointe.

Unknown thieves stole a Weber grill, four deck chairs, two tables, a trampoline and a trash can.

Chased

A male motorist, reportedly fleeing Grosse Pointe Woods police at 70 mph on westbound Mack, was caught and arrested for drunken driving last week by a Farms officer blocking the road at Moross, according to police.

At 1:10 a.m. Thursday, May 28, Woods officers alerted Farms counterparts of the chase.

"(I) was at Mack and Moross and did observe a lone vehicle west on Mack," said a Farms patrolman.

He also saw in the distance a pursuing police car with flashing emergency lights.

"(I) pulled to the front of the (suspect's) vehicle and had the driver exit," said the patrolman.

As the driver, 33, of Detroit, stepped from his silver 1998 Infiniti four-door, the officer smelled alcohol and marijuana, he said.

"He said he was coming from (a bar in the Woods) and stated, 'I only had three beers,'" said the officer. "The odor of intoxicants became stronger as he spoke." Police said he had a .205 percent blood alcohol level.

A search of his car revealed one gram of marijuana, they added.

He was arrested for drunken driving and possession of the drug.

Records showed a prior drunken driving conviction, according to police.

"(He) became angered and uncooperative at (headquarters)," said police.

They took him to a hospital for his blood to be drawn for analysis at a crime lab.

"(He) struggled during the blood draw," said the arresting officer. "Hospital staff and police took control of him."

Road work continues

GROSSE POINTE WOODS — The city's concrete road program is underway and is slated to last through October, with work wrapping up about Nov. 1.

Florence Cement Company crews hit the streets beginning Thursday, May 21, where they worked on individual streets starting with Broadstone, followed by Allard, Lancaster, Sunningdale and South Renaud.

Residents of these streets will have limited access during daylight hours.

At night, residents on the unaffected side of the street will be able to access their driveways.

One-way traffic will be maintained on the remaining pavement once the tear out and replacement efforts begin.

The city's public safety department has temporarily lifted the ban on overnight parking in streets adjacent to road construction projects.

This work is a collaboration between Grosse Pointe Woods, Grosse Pointe Shores and Harper Woods public safety departments.

Hang tags, however, are available to residents at the Department of Public Works office.

For more information call (313) 343-2460.

Eye on the Eagle

By John McTaggart
Staff Writer

GROSSE POINTE WOODS — The process to becoming an Eagle Scout is not easy.

Throw in the fact you're only 13 years old, and the process becomes even more difficult.

These obstacles, however, have done little to deter Teddy Prokop.

The 13-year old Woods resident is a member of Troop 96 and in a matter of a few months, he'll be an Eagle Scout.

"I'm really proud of him," his mother, Anne Prokop, said. "Usually you're much older than Teddy is when you do this, but he wanted to do this now. And that's exactly what he's doing."

Prokop's Eagle Scout process reaches beyond his troop, however, and even benefits the entire city.

A flower bed located on the pool deck in Lake Front Park has been transformed thanks to Prokop.

"Part of the process is doing a project for the community," Prokop said. "I wanted to do a flower bed somewhere in the city. I presented that to the city and they suggested this bed here. I went by and looked at it and saw it needed a lot of work. Then I thought that would be the perfect project."

Shortly after that, Prokop went to work.

He helped with the design of the new bed, got help determining which plants to include in the flower bed and raised in excess of $1,000 to pay for the plants.

The bulk of the money was raised thanks to Mr. C's car wash, Prokop said, who gave him a large portion of the money raised through coupon book sales for the popular Harper Avenue car wash.

"He also collected over 6,000 cans and bottles," his mother said. "And went and turned those in also."

The help didn't end there, either.

"I got some help from Allemon's Landscape Center with the design and the plants I should use," he said. "They were a big help. After that, we looked at that plan and did it."

Prokop, who also had to round up volunteers to help, spent two days renovating the current bed, getting his hands dirty and dodging stormy weather.

"We got out here and mixed in fertilizer, weed killer and new dirt," he said. "Then we planted the new plants. It was a lot of work, but it was fun."

Nearly $800 in new plants now rest in the flower bed — the remainder of the money raised paid for dirt, fertilizer and food for his volunteers.

"I announced it to my scout troop," Prokop said. "And they came out and helped. I couldn't have done it without them."

Grosse Pointe Woods City Administrator Skip Fincham looked over the newly renovated flower bed and smiled.

"This is so great," he said. "He did a great job and it's really going to make this part of the park more beautiful. We're very proud of him and very grateful for what he's done to help the city."

Ex accused of arson

GROSSE POINTE PARK — Avery Javon Smith, a 22-year old Detroit man, was arrested for allegedly breaking into his ex-girlfriend's home in the 1300 block of Wayburn and setting a fire in the dining room of the house.

According to a report filed to the Grosse Pointe Park Public Safety Department, Smith recently broke up with the victim and had been harassing her since the break up.

On Wednesday, May 27, the suspect allegedly broke into the house while the victim was at work by kicking in the front door, then proceeded to start a fire in the house.

A downstairs tenant noticed the smoke and called the fire department, who responded promptly, putting out the flames.

Smith was arrested at a residence in Southfield and arraigned on charges of arson, home invasion and malicious destruction of building, habitual third.

Bond was set at $500,000 cash.

Chief passes on Taser repeat demo

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

CITY OF GROSSE POINTE — It's been 11 years since former public safety director Skip Fincham demonstrated the almost instantaneous effectiveness of then-relatively newfangled Taser stun guns.

He played guinea pig by letting himself be jolted at a city council meeting.

Fincham tried to resist, but wound up on his knees not knowing how he got there.

"The use of Tasers has shown a reduction in liability for police departments and reduced the number of injuries to officers as well as perpetrators," said the City of Grosse Pointe's current chief, Stephen Poloni.

Members of the city council approved the purchase of eight new Tasers.

The allocation totals $8,652.35 and includes holsters.

"The current model has been discontinued and is no longer being serviced," Poloni said. "Our inventory is down to four Tasers."

New units are the multiple shot variety with downloadable data that can be used as evidence.

"Are you going to get Tased, like Skip did?" Councilwoman Jean Weipert asked Poloni.

"I did that many years ago," Poloni said. "I'll pass this time."

Officers drove her to a bus stop at Mack and Moross, consulted a transit representative and advised her the route home.

Sour note

An organist pulled out the stops trying to double-time it to work.

At 8:41 a.m. Monday, May 25, a patrolman pulled over a 55-year-old man from St. Clair Shores for driving a 2014 Honda CR-V at 64 mph through the right-hand curve in the 1100 block of southbound Lakeshore.

Centrifugal force pushed the car into the left lane, nearly hitting the median curb.

"He (said) he was the lead organist for (a church in Grosse Pointe Woods) and was late to church," reported the officer, citing him for careless driving.

A second officer noticed the man having difficulty resuming his commute.

"(I) observed the driver revving his engine trying to switch to drive," said the second officer.

"(I) felt there was more to the careless driving and reapproached the vehicle," said the first officer, detecting the man's watery, bloodshot eyes and two prior convictions for drunken driving.

"During sobriety tests, the driver could hardly stand and had trouble walking," said the second officer.

Police registered the man's .201 percent blood alcohol level.

Shores Municipal Court Judge Matthew Rumora arraigned him Wednesday, May 27, on third-degree drunken driving, a felony.

'Some Enchanted Evening'

Historical Society event features Harley Earl exhibit, classic cars

By Jody McVeigh
Community Editor

It has long been known as "The House Behind the Iron Gate" — a mansion obscurely hidden from the street and passersby.

Now for the first time, the house at 217 Touraine will be among the features of the 2015 Summer Gala fundraiser of the Grosse Pointe Historical Society. Opening its doors to the community, the 1929 Palm Beach-style home welcomes visitors Thursday, June 18, for the unique event "Some Enchanted Evening."

"This event departs from other events because the community will have the opportunity to enjoy one of the most significant homes the community has," said Mary Shafer, who with Stuart Grigg co-chaired the event. "The attendees have the opportunity to enjoy an evening in a venue not shared with the public before."

The home was designed by August Geiger and is the only structure in Michigan built by the architect. It features a rectangular floor plan with a classical, symmetrical facade, arched windows, dramatic ornamentation and beautiful gardens.

The home carries with it historical significance as well, as it was built for John B. Ford of the Ford Glass Family. The grandson of Capt. John Ford, founder of Pittsburgh Plate Glass and son of Edward Ford of Toledo Glass, John Ford Jr. was president of Michigan Alkali for 50 years, founded Portland Cement, served as director of the Libbey-Owens-Ford Company and was responsible for building Wyandotte General Hospital and funding the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. He lived in the house until the late 1930s.

Then Harley J. Earl moved in. Earl made significant contributions to the automobile industry. An industrial designer, Earl was the first director of styling in the industry and was the originator of clay modeling, the wrap-around windshield, the hardtop sedan, two-tone paint, the concept car, the prototype for the Corvette and tailfins.

During the gala event, Earl's grandson, Richard Earl, will host an exhibit featuring photos, displays and classic cars celebrating the life and career of his grandfather. It will be displayed in multiple garages on the property.

"A lot of the accomplishments of Harley Earl will be featured in the exhibit," said James Conway, a Grosse Pointe Historical Society trustee and project manager of Historic Fort Wayne. "He came to General Motors in 1929. He started with designing the LaSalle. He was revolutionary in auto design. Harley Earl's influence affected the whole auto industry."

Conway said apart from the Earl exhibit, the event also will feature cars from the era, on loan from local collectors.

"We hope this will add a historical dimension to the beautiful home that was painstakingly renovated by the Rahaim family," Conway said. "Guests will not only see this beautiful mansion preserved and renovated, but see the cars as well."

"It's a unique house," he continued. "The family has been delightful and accommodating. It's going to be a spectacular night."

The gala serves as a major fundraiser for the Grosse Pointe Historical Society and helps sustain educational opportunities for children in the community, Shafer said. "It also supports our preservation of historical artifacts and documents, as well as helps us highlight and celebrate those that preserve our historical buildings through our annual designation program," she said.

Co-chairman Stuart Grigg said this year's gala will be the best one ever.

"It's a fantastic house. The host and hostess couldn't be more engaged and excited about doing it," he said. "Every house we've had is wonderful in a special way, but this one is unique."

Grigg said the house,

The Grosse Pointe Historical Society's seventh annual Ribbon Farm Days program begins Tuesday, June 23, and has a lineup of fun, crafty activities in store for ages 7 to 10.

The hands-on program teaches students what life was like 100 years ago while making crafts, playing games and having fun.

The program runs in four sessions, each of which operates Tuesdays and Thursdays from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. for a total of four days each.

"It's meant to be for children to get away from their computer, their phones, television, video games," said Isabelle Donnelly, director of education for the historical society. "It's just an opportunity for kids to slow down. We have lunch outside, play with vintage toys, take a walk. Creativity is very reinforced. They learn a lot while having a lot of fun."

Session I, set for June 23, 25 and 30 and July 2, follows a garden entertaining theme. Participants will decorate glass votives and a flower vase, make votive candles, make coasters, design napkins and more.

which has been restored to 1920s splendor, is "everybody's version of what a Grosse Pointe house looks like. Every aspect of this house is awe-inspiring. The owners have an eye for the space."

James and Nicole Rahaim purchased the home in 2013 and restored it to curatorial standards while maintaining the tradition of a grand family home. "We are so happy to host the Summer Gala fundraiser and share our home with others to help raise money for the Grosse Pointe Historical Society," James Rahaim said.

An after-party follows the main event and includes a tour of the home's private quarters, a reception with Richard Earl and entertainment.

"The gala is really critical to our operations (at the house and resource center)," Grigg said of the historical society. "It's a big percentage of our budget. It's important to meet our goals and keep people informed about Grosse Pointe history."

Added historical society board member Patti Theros, "It brings back a lot of history for Grosse Pointe Farms and Detroit history with Harley Earl. We're very fortunate for the gracious hosts we have this year. It's very nice that they're willing to open up their home for us for this fundraiser ... It's a big undertaking."

And a lot of fun, Theros added. "We're thankful for all the sponsors who've contributed. We're still accepting sponsorships. We really have had great support from the community."

"Some Enchanted Evening" takes place from 7 to 10 p.m. Thursday, June 18, at 217 Touraine, Grosse Pointe Farms. Guests receive valet parking, an open bar and strolling supper, a docent-guided tour of public rooms and the carriage house featuring the Harley Earl exhibit, a tented party on the grounds, Big Band entertainment by Scott Gwinnell and more.

"We are so fortunate to live in this community where people will open their homes to us," said Elizabeth Soby, historical society president.

on Grosse Pointe history. Participants will make their own moccasins, a wigwag, a model biplane and more.

Session III, set for July

28 and 30 and Aug. 4 and 6, follows ribbon farm and Hunt Club themes. Participants will learn about horses, the Hunt Club and its history, as well as make a horse barn with craft sticks and more.

Session IV, set for Aug.

11, 13, 18 and 20, focuses on a fairy tale theme. Participants will make a fairy garden and fairy dolls, read "Thumbelina," make a stuffed barn swallow and more.

"It's very labor-intensive, but it's fun," Donnelly said. "They're so proud of their things when they take them home."

Cost per session is $200 for historical society members, $250 for non-members. That includes all of the materials and take-home projects.

"If we don't know our past, we will never know our future or our present," Donnelly said. "It's so critical for them to know the history of Grosse Pointe. Grosse Pointe's history is so unique."

From its ribbon farms to its windmills and even the Fox Indian Massacre — the only battle fought in Grosse Pointe — the area is rich with history. Ribbon Farm Days allows children not only to learn it, but to learn it in an 1823 ribbon farm home, the Provencal-Weir House.

"As they learn it, as a young person, being in an 1823 ribbon farm home, children get it. They're learning their own history," Donnelly said, adding that many children leave the program with wide smiles, declaring it the best time they've had. She added that many come back to experience the program again.

"We offer a really unique opportunity in a historical sense that's really fun," she said. "And we feel better knowing what the past is."

"It's a joy for me to educate children to their past and enlighten them to their future," she continued.

Ribbon Farm Days takes place at the Provencal-Weir House, 375 Kercheval, Grosse Pointe Farms.

Deadline to register for Session I is Tuesday, June 9.

ASK THE EXPERTS By Marla Ruhana

Being fully present

Q. Is it just me or do other people feel stress from technology? I feel like I can't get anyone's undivided attention in my home.

A. You are not alone. Although we see tremendous benefits from technology, we also see drawbacks. Folks complain that they are isolated in their homes with family members present. "They're home but no one is interacting with one another."

Q. Exactly. I am guilty, too. Seems when I attempt to be with my child, I have six unread texts. I feel compelled to check my phone and most of the messages are not urgent, yet consume my time and take me away from my family. I am starting to feel anxious and depressed. I literally feel cortisol being shoveled into my stomach, as if I am pulled in every direction like

Enriching Our Community Through Stronger Families

Gumby.

A. Cortisol is a stress hormone. Often being so accessible precipitates added anxiety and/or depression in people's lives. Many reflect on simpler days, playing a board game with their family and being at peace in their homes.

Q. Indeed. What can be done? When we attempt to watch TV together, someone is on an iPad, someone else has headphones on. It is unreal. Please help.

A. Too much stimulus is anxiety provoking. Create new rules and set boundaries at home. Teach your children that home is their safe haven for rest and relaxation. You are in control, not technology. Limit usage to one hour and set designated times when everyone checks messages.

A LA ANNIE

By Annie Rouleau-Scheriff

'Tis the season for asparagus

Asparagus season is in full bloom. I enjoy the healthy green stalks on the grill, roasted in the oven, tossed with pasta. The possibilities are endless.

This week I'm baking asparagus in a quiche with onions, cheese and a potato crust. I opt for a mixture of egg whites and eggs whenever I'm making a quiche to keep it on the lighter side.

Asparagus Quiche

1 to 2 potatoes, peeled and sliced (1/4 inch thick)
1/2 lb. fresh asparagus
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup shredded cheese (your choice)
1 cup liquid egg whites
4 eggs
1/3 cup milk (or half + half) sliced red or orange pepper for garnish

Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

Arrange potato slices in the bottom of a greased quiche or pie plate. Season lightly with salt and pepper.

Wash the asparagus, snap off the ends and cut the stalks into 1 1/2-inch pieces. Save eight of the asparagus tips for garnishing. Combine the asparagus with the onion and cheese in a medium bowl. Set aside.

In another bowl whisk the egg whites with the eggs and milk. Pour the egg mixture over the asparagus mixture and stir to combine. Gently ladle the combined mixture over the potato slices. Arrange the asparagus tips on top. I like to add some color with sliced orange pepper or sliced tomato.

Bake the quiche at 350 degrees for 40 to 50 minutes, until the eggs are set and the edges are beginning to brown. Slice into wedges and serve.

The potato crust is a nice surprise at the bottom of this yummy, gluten-free quiche. My cheese choice was mozzarella with a bit of feta mixed in.

Enjoy asparagus quiche for breakfast or pair it with a fresh garden salad for a healthy lunch or dinner.

I make quiche all the time. It's a good grab from the refrigerator on a busy morning.

Elizabeth Gillis

Elizabeth Gillis

Elizabeth "Liza" Gillis, 51, of Battle Creek, died Saturday, May 23, 2015, following a long battle with cancer.

Liza was born Nov. 12, 1963, in Grosse Pointe, to Angus Francis Gillis and Mary Josephine (nee Beaton) Gillis.

Raised in Harper Woods, Liza was a 1981 graduate of Grosse Pointe North High School. She attended Michigan State University as an Evans Scholar, studying crop and soil sciences and agricultural engineering. After graduation, she joined the Peace Corps and was stationed in Niger, West Africa. There she built cement drinking water wells, introduced resilient crops and livestock, and developed a deep and lasting respect for Africa and its people.

Liza returned home to join The Kellogg Company where she worked 22 years in the W.K. Kellogg Institute for Food and Nutrition Research as an engineer and later an executive. She was well-known within the company for her efforts to mentor new employees and women in the sciences.

Liza was an avid reader, a hobby that fueled her imagination and wit. She loved learning about the world through National Geographic magazine, but also enjoyed exploring other worlds through fantasy and science fiction literature. She re-wrote endings to books that disappointed her and endlessly entertained family and friends with stories from her observations, travels and the books and movies she enjoyed. When she was young, a librarian challenged Liza to live her life as though it were the sequel to her favorite adventure: "The Three Musketeers." This she did, from her high school job as a golf caddy, many treks across the United States, Europe and Africa and her indulgence in a wide range of hobbies from needlework to learning the bagpipes.

Her family said Liza had a joyful and generous spirit that expressed itself in song and deed. She was an alto with the Battle Creek Community Chorus, where she loved to design and build the group's sets as much as be part of the performance. She enjoyed cooking for others, often hosting guests at her home. She once hosted an office Christmas dinner from her hotel room in Omaha, Neb., — the entire affair prepared in a toaster oven.

She was a generous supporter of the Evans Scholars Foundation, St. Philip Catholic Church and the Diocese of Kalamazoo where she was a member of The Bishop's Circle and served on the Diocesan Development Advisory Board. Her philanthropies were likely to be directed anywhere she saw a need: a high school senior needing funds for a pilgrimage to Rome or stray animals in need of a home.

Liza had a loving relationship with her family. She especially enjoyed playing the "cool aunt" to her nieces and nephew. She took the kids to interesting places and showered them with gifts and experiences. She remained close to her nephew in California by playing online games with him and taking him shark cage diving among the great whites off the coast of South Africa. Liza traveled with her niece to Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, to attend a weeklong "Supernatural" fan convention because they were both avid followers of the long-running TV series.

Liza is survived by her mother, Mary Josephine; sisters, Anne Furlong (Thomas) and Margaret Bruni (Vittorio); nephew, Alec Furlong; and nieces, Josephine and Meredith Bruni.

She was predeceased by her father, Angus.

A Mass of Christian burial was celebrated May 30 at St. Philip Roman Catholic Church, Battle Creek.

Later this summer, Liza will be laid to rest next to her father on the Isle of Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, Canada.

Memorial donations may be made to the Evans Scholars Foundation, One Briar Road, Golf, IL 60029.

David L. Main died Friday, April 3, 2015, of complications of ALS in his home in Hackettstown, NJ. He was 61.

His recent years were made bright by his wonderful wife, Lisa Ames of New York and his work as Financial Manager of Panther Valley PVA ("I really love my job!"). Although his last year was made difficult by the effects of the disease, he faced the challenges with courage and his unflagging dry sense of humor.

David is survived by his wife, Lisa; his father, Jimmy Main of Farmington Hills; brother, Dennis Main and his wife, Eileen McCauley of West Sacramento, CA; sister, Jaime Dziadosz, her husband, Scott and their son, Matthew of Farmington Hills. # St. Paul Crawl returns June 11

Community Editor

St. Paul School offers the community a chance to enjoy big savings during its second annual St. Paul Crawl, from 5 to 10 p.m. Thursday, June 11. Businesses and restaurants in the Village, on the Hill and in the Park offer a variety of discounts and specials to participants who purchase a $25 lanyard.

"The event is organized as a win-win for the school, the participants and the businesses," said Beth Cassidy, who organized the event. "St. Paul Catholic School receives 100 percent of the proceeds from the lanyard sales. The lanyard wearers benefit from the many generous discounts offered by the participating businesses. The local Grosse Pointe businesses benefit from increased patronage by the lanyard wearers."

Last year's event included 236 crawlers, but Cassidy said she hopes for 300 this year.

"The crawl is un-routed, so individuals choose a place to start and receive discounts at every stop along the way," Cassidy explained. "With over 20 stops filled with savings, drink and food specials and pop-up prizes, there is much fun to be had. Lanyard wearers also can get stamps on their lanyards and with 10 stamps they will have additional chances for fabulous prizes."

An added bonus this year is the service of the Village Food Market/Bob Maxey Taxi, a trolley that runs from 6 to 11:30 p.m. exclusively for people with lanyards.

An after-party takes place from 10 to 11:30 p.m. at Atwater in the Park, where Rosetta Pebble performs and prize-winners are announced. The Maxey Taxi trolley offers rides closer to home from the party as well.

While the community and its businesses benefit from the event, the biggest winner is St. Paul.

"The funds will be used for various enrichment programs, technology enhancements and professional development, to name a few," Cassidy said.

To purchase tickets online, visit paystpaul.com. Tickets may also be ordered through St. Paul church or school, 170 Grosse Pointe Blvd., Grosse Pointe Farms. Call (313) 885-3430.

PASTOR'S CORNER By Roger Skully

The Torah

On May 24 and 25, a number of holidays were celebrated in Detroit and Grosse Pointe. In our churches, the holiday of Pentecost was celebrated. In the synagogues, the festival of Shavuot occurred. And in the rest of the United States, it was Memorial Day. In Grosse Pointe Park it marked the opening of the swimming pool, a religious observance for some who worship the sun and water.

Actually, the only holiday I feel competent to address in this column is Shavuot, which literally means "weeks." It occurs exactly 50 days after the end of Pesach, or Passover. Shavuot is counted as one of the three pilgrimage festivals in the Hebrew calendar. The other two are Succoth, which comes in the fall after the High Holy Days of Rosh Hashana and Yom Kippur; and Pesach, which comes at the beginning of spring. It was the custom in ancient Israel for all of the people to come to Jerusalem and bring their offerings in the Temple.

After the destruction of the Temple and the end of a need to celebrate the harvest, the rabbis interpreted this holiday as the day of the giving of the Torah on Mount Sinai. In recognition of the harvest origins and other concerns of the time, the book of Ruth is read in the synagogue. This is, indeed, a significant event, since from that time forward, the Hebrews were now Jews, commanded to obey G-d's laws. According to the biblical account, the Children of Israel responded, "we will do and we will hear." From that day forward, the Torah, or Law, would guide Israel throughout its history.

Technically, the Torah refers to the five books of Moses (Genesis through Deuteronomy). This is called the "written Torah." By Torah, Jews also mean the Oral Torah, "which Moses received at Sinai and transmitted to Joshua and Joshua to the Elders and the Elders to the Prophets and the Prophets to the Men of the Great Assembly."

The Oral Torah included the finer points of the commandments, the guiding principles and the ways by which the commandments were to be carried out. For example, the written Torah forbids "work" on the Sabbath. What is work? That is defined by the Oral Torah.

It is written that animals used for food are to be slaughtered "as I have commanded thee." The Oral Torah gives all of the details that constitute the kosher slaughter of animals used for food.

The Written Torah prescribes capital punishment for various crimes. What legal rules and procedures had to be followed before such a verdict could be handed down? The Written Torah does not say; the Oral Torah does. Incidentally, the Oral Law makes it almost impossible to impose a capital penalty.

Ultimately the Oral Torah was committed to writing. During the second century C.E., it was incorporated into what is called the "Mishna," which in turn became the cornerstone for the "Gemara," which consists of the records and minutes of the case discussions and legal debates conducted by the rabbis and sages. These two works, the law and then its commentary, make up what we call the Talmud. Hence Torah consists of both together. That is why Jews seldom quote scripture per se, as the scripture is really both the Oral and Written Torah.

When a pastor of a church in Grosse Pointe asked me, for his bible study, which scriptures I would recommend, I qualified my answer by saying to him that any scripture had to contain both Oral and Written Torah. This distinction, of course, does not occur in Christianity where verses are cited in a "stand alone" fashion.

The Torah is the teaching that directs man how to live. Although it speaks primarily to Israel, it also has directives for all men. It is concerned with every aspect of human life. Ritual laws are not its only concerns. It asserts its jurisdiction in all areas of ethical and moral behavior, as well as legal jurisprudence in civil and criminal cases, laws of agriculture and disease, death, marriage and divorce as well as the contractual obligations, and contracts themselves, that govern everyday life.

"It is a tree of life to them that hold fast to it," as the prayerbook intones. It is our blueprint for life and conduct. Yes, we are a nation of laws and commandments. They are necessary for a society to function.

I will discuss Talmud further in future columns. May you all have a blessed summer with health and peace. Shalom! Amen and Amen.

Skully is a cantor at the Isaac Agree Downtown Synagogue and president of the Grosse Pointe Ministerial Association.

Pewabic's "Explore Ceramics!" camp begins Monday, June 15, and runs through the end of July. Morning and afternoon sessions are available. Each student creates uniquely-fired ceramic pieces and other crafts that explore the worlds created by the likes of J.K. Rowling, Roald Dahl and L. Frank Baum.

The week also includes story-based games and activities, culminating in an art showcase.

Parents may also sign up their teenagers for Pewabic's Teen Wheel Throwing Camp, available Monday, Aug. 17, to Friday, Aug. 21.

Entries needed for art show

The Grosse Pointe Art Center invites artists to submit recent artwork for the juried exhibit "Faces and Figures," which opens Friday, June 19. Intake is set for June 9 to 13. The show runs from Friday, June 19 to Saturday, July 11. All subjects and media are welcome in this exhibit, with the exception of installations, owing to space constraints.

Amy Foster, a graduate of the Center for Creative Studies, serves as juror. Her award-winning work led her to become a sought-after instructor and to establish her own studio in Richmond.

"The subtle line, the attention to detail and the emotion they (the Renaissance masters) were able to produce with a few strokes are what inspires me to draw," she said.

The University Liggett boys' golf team won its second straight tournament last week, taking first in a Division 4 regional at Polo Fields in Ann Arbor.

Head coach Dan Sullivan and the Knights also won the district tournament the week before to qualify for the regionals.

"Congrats to the boys on winning regionals for the first time in nine years," Sullivan said. "They went out and played with a lot of confidence. They used last year's experience to improve and now they're headed to the state finals."

Liggett finished well ahead of runner-up Ann Arbor Greenhills. Liggett had a 321, followed by Greenhills with a 338 and Frankel Jewish Academy also made the state finals with its third-place total of 343.

BOYS LACROSSE

North, South eliminated in regionals

By Bob St. John

Head coach Don Wolford beefed up his schedule, knowing it would help if his Grosse Pointe South boys' lacrosse team might face top-ranked Detroit Country Day in a Division 1 regional championship game.

He said the goal of his team was to get the chance to play Country Day and see what it could do in crunch time.

They got the chance in a regional final last weekend and the result was a 19-3 loss.

The Blue Devils needed a furious second half to beat Troy 7-6 in overtime to get to the final.

J.D. Norris, who scored two goals, and Jared Brush led the drive back from a 6-2 deficit.

With time winding down and the Blue Devils trailing 6-5, Mac Carroll scored to tie the game and send it to overtime.

Jerry Coyle was the hero, scoring the game-winning goal a minute into the extra session.

Grosse Pointe South finished its season 13-7 overall.

Graduating seniors are Carroll, Norris, Taylor Moore-Hutton, Matt Barrett, Robert Stewart, Brush, Zach Due, Aiden Hubbell, Nikolas Minanov, George Boettcher, Scott Brooks, Jimmy Blondell, Coyle, Brenan Keane and Joey Diehl.

North results

The Grosse Pointe

North boys' lacrosse team played No. 1 seed East Grand Rapids in a Division 2 regional semi-final last week.

"We have nothing to lose coming into this game," head coach Mark Seppala said. "We need to play well, but we have a chance to win and advance."

The Norsemen played well, but lost 13-6 and finished the season 10-7 overall.

Graduating are Jack Rieth, Max Yoshida, Brian Linington, Eric Simoes, Pete Lundy, Brendan Bresser, Will Colborn, Brent Lathan, Spencer Rocho, Richie Filippelli and Nick Soave.

Despite the defeat, the Norsemen produced another winning season under Seppala.

GROSSE POINTE NORTH

North, South win district titles

By John McTaggart
Staff Writer

It took two days, but in the end Grosse Pointe North's baseball squad walked away with a district championship.

After rain dampened the finish of the team's district championship game against Lake Shore High School Saturday, May 30, stopping it in the seventh inning as the skies opened up, play resumed beneath sunny skies Monday, June 1.

"It's a tough situation," North coach Frank Sumbera said. "I can only remember one other time in all my years that something like this happened. It's rare and it's tough."

Play continued with Lake Shore at bat, the game tied at 3-3.

The Shorians threatened, putting runners on first base and second, but North was able to work out of the jam unscathed. North stepped up in the bottom half of the seventh and put two runners on, setting the stage for would-be hero Nick Mazzola.

Mazzola battled to a full count before ripping a two-out game-winning single into center field, scoring Dan Robinson.

The victory propels the squad into the regional round Saturday, June 6, at North.

Grosse Pointe South boys' baseball team kept its Division 1 district championship streak going strong Monday afternoon.

The host Blue Devils used a six-run fourth inning and five-run fifth to beat Detroit Martin Luther King 14-0 in the title game.

"It took a couple of innings to get going," head coach Dan Griesbaum said.

Andrew Fabry earned the win, giving up one hit and striking out seven. His earned run average is less than 1.00 for the season and his record is 8-1 overall.

Ryan Liagre, James

Fishback, Brad Thompson and Will Poplawski each had two hits to pace the offense.

In the district semifinals, South played the game Saturday and crushed Detroit East English Prep 18-0 in only two innings.

Doug Graham was the winning pitcher as he struck out all six hitters he faced.

Grosse Pointe South improved to 29-11.

LIGGETT

Knights make final

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

University Liggett boys' baseball team had to play a Division 3 pre-district game against one of the top contenders to dethrone the defending state champs early last week.

The Knights traveled to Madison Heights Bishop Foley to battle the Ventures in front of a packed house.

Last year in the regionals, the Knights jumped out to a 5-0 lead and held on for a 5-4 victory.

Last week it was junior Matt Gushee once again getting the start on the mound. He handled Bishop Foley in last year's contest and he made it two wins in a row as Liggett won 3-1.

Gushee earned the win, giving up only two hits, walking three and striking out four.

The Knights jumped out to a 1-0 lead when senior Nick Azar singled home a run and junior Joey Cipriano gave the Knights a 2-1 lead with a run-scoring ground out in the fourth.

In the sixth, freshman Noah Miller drove in a huge insurance run with his perfectly executed squeeze bunt with the bases loaded.

Bishop Foley loaded the bases in the seventh inning, but a game-ending double play put the Knights over the top.

After that, Gushee finished off the Ventures and the team moved on to the weekend games.

Cimini could relax a little more after the Knights mowed down Clintondale 10-0 in one of the district semifinals.

Gushee pitched all five innings and struck out five as he was in total control on the mound.

Heavy rains and thunderstorms forced the title game to be postponed until after this edition went to print.

The district title results and regional results, if the Knights won, will be in the June 11 edition.

Liggett improved to 21-11 overall.

Pointe Fitness & Training Center

Pointe Fitness has been a leader in fitness in the community for the past 21 years. When we opened we were the only facility in our area. Since then, over 20 facilities have opened. Wellness Centers and big commercial gyms to small fitness and yoga studios, seems there's a facility for every type of person and workout.

Through all of this, Pointe Fitness has remained true to its original objectives; "To be a club for people who value the basics of working out." We give our members a well equipped, roomy, friendly and helpful gym with good equipment and a lot of support so they can achieve any fitness goal they may have.

Some people say that, "most gyms are the same" and for the most part they'd be right. The trend these days in the fitness industry is to build exceptionally large gyms that market ultra cheap memberships to thousands of people hoping to get thousands of members into one place. It's not uncommon for the $10 a month gym you see advertised to boast 5, 6, 7,000 members at one facility.

The actual gyms are set up more for crowd control like you'd see in an airport than to accommodate the flow of a good workout. It's not uncommon to see over 150 or more cardio pieces in one place and people, elbow to elbow working out on them.

At Pointe Fitness:

We prefer to have a smaller club that works with the community and to know our members by first name.

We believe in recruiting good members, not selling to the masses.

We maintain a membership fee that's affordable yet ensures a quality membership.

We believe in offering help from professional trainers without a pressured sales pitch for personal training.

We take our member's privacy and security seriously.

We offer the best class schedule and instructors in the area; instructors that do their homework and don't teach to a pre-recorded format.

We give you plenty of room in a 20,000 sq. ft. gym with a basketball court and a balcony.

We also offer free parking.

We are a DMC Rehab location and home to DMC's Sports Performance Academy East.

We are locally owned and support numerous community and school functions and charities and the owner is always around.

For some people, none of this will really matter but if this is the type of gym you'd like to belong to, then you are the individual we want to invite to come try out a free pass!

South, Liggett earn district crowns

Blue Devils blank Cass Tech

It took a couple of days longer than anticipated, thanks to heavy rains, but in the end, host Grosse Pointe South girls' softball team won its first district title in 13 years after beating Detroit Cass Tech 11-0 Monday afternoon.

The Blue Devils led 7-0 before the game was postponed. They were up to bat and had a runner on second base with one out and a 2-0 count on senior Eliza Bourke.

When play resumed, Bourke reached on an infield single and she and senior Katie Kish executed a double steal.

Sophomore Emma St. John doubled them home and the rout was on. Senior Andie Anger singled home courtesy runner, junior Claire Drew, to make it 10-0 and they added another run in the fourth when senior Cam Zihlman doubled home junior Christina Ambrosy.

St. John earned the win on the mound, giving up three hits and striking out nine. Her final strikeout, coming on a change-up, was the 300th of the season in only 183 innings pitched.

Kish, Bourke and Anger had two hits apiece to power the offense.

With the win, Grosse Pointe South improved to 30-5 overall.

In the district semifinals, St. John threw her second perfect game of the season and struck out all nine hitters she faced to lead the Blue Devils to a 15-0 win over Detroit East English Prep.

Players with two hits were Kish, freshman Lauren Sancya and Drew, who also drove in two runs.

The game had to go to a shootout.

The script called for it.

Grosse Pointe North girls' soccer team hosted arch rival Grosse Pointe South in a Division 1 district semifinal last week and it had all the makings of a World Cup match.

In the end, it was South prevailing 2-1 in a shootout.

The Blue Devils never missed in their five shots as junior Aubrey Leggat started it off and she was followed by freshman Cameron Zak, freshman Katie Bird, junior Madison Vallan and senior Cydney Webb, who had the game-winner.

For the Norsemen, senior Lexi Ciaramitaro, senior Olivia Ritchie, junior Elaina Emig and sophomore Megan Louwers were successful on their kicks, while freshman Lauren Sickmiller's shot was just wide.

The goalkeepers were senior Jayne Solomon for the Norsemen and senior Katie Robert for the Blue Devils.

In the first half, senior Alexis Farrar scored for North and it was Webb tallying early in the second half for South.

North beat Warren Mott 5-2 in its district first-round game and finished its first season under head coach Olivia Stander 6-13-2.

South crushed Eastpointe East Detroit 9-0 in its first-round game and played Warren Cousino in the district championship game.

South put a cherry on top of its sundae by winning the district title two days later, beating Warren Cousino 3-0.

Vallan, Sophie Hanna and Webb scored for the Blue Devils.

Grosse Pointe South improved to 7-12-2.

Student registration for GPPSS underway

GROSSE POINTE — Parents of students entering Grosse Pointe middle or high schools for the first time in the fall have one more item to add to the summer to-do list, and school officials are reminding them to do it sooner rather than later.

Parents or guardians of incoming sixth and ninth graders are required to appear at the board office, 389 St. Clair, City of Grosse Pointe, with proof of residency. In order to register a student, the parent or guardian must show a driver's license or state ID showing an address within the school district and a car insurance form and any one of the following: a closing statement, a mortgage payment book, a current signed lease or landlord affidavit. Also required are any two of the following bills with the parent or guardian's name: gas and electric bill, telephone or cellular bill, cable bill, water bill, car registration, homeowners or renter's insurance statement or a credit card bill. A "current" bill is considered one issued within the past 30 days.

Questions may be directed to the residency/enrollment office, (313) 432-3083. The office is open Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Friday, 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. No appointment is necessary.

According to Deputy Superintendent Chris Fenton, only 60 out of the required 1,260 families have completed the registration process.

Residency re-verification was adapted by the school board in an attempt to discourage students who live outside the district from attending a Grosse Pointe public school. A district-wide registration was held several years ago; every family in the district had to re-register. Having students entering sixth or ninth grade re-register has been deemed a more cost-efficient measure.

"We are constantly checking and investigating residency-related issues in accordance with board policy and state law," Fenton said. "We do not do investigations, but contract those to an outside firm."

Families are urged to complete the registration process as soon as possible. Incoming ninth graders will not be allowed to participate in fall sports practices, set to begin the week of Aug. 9, without proof of registration. Students entering sixth or ninth grades will not be allowed to pick up class schedules in August without proof of registration.

Additional information is available on the residency re-verification page on the district's website, gpschools.schoolwires.net. Questions may be addressed to Denise Sharples at (313) 432-3083.

Raising funds

Kerby Elementary School is announcing its newest fundraiser, something the entire community can use and enjoy at several local retailers.

Dubbed "the pink" reusable discount card, which will make it easy to find in a wallet or purse, the card can be used at 22 local businesses around town for discounts ranging from 5 to 20 percent.

"This is very exciting for us — as well as the local retailers," said Tanya Bartoszewicz, Kerby PTO president. The card, which is valid July 1, 2015, through June 30, 2016, offers discounts at a variety of local restaurants and several retail stores. Twenty-two merchants in all are participating.

"The concept is great," Bartoszewicz said. "Businesses were asked to participate free of charge and in return they are giving the community a discount of some sort throughout the entire year."

The Kerby PTO is selling these cards for $20 each. Cards can be purchased at Cam's BP at Mack and Rivard and the League Shop on the Hill. For more information, call (313) 506-8447 or e-mail tanyanaumenko@hotmail.com.

GROSSE POINTE SOUTH

Blue Devils earn trophy

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

Grosse Pointe South girls' tennis team was in position to defend its Division 1 state championship.

The Blue Devils, under head coach Mark Sobieralski, were tied for first with 22 points after the first day of competition.

Day two was a disaster as they didn't earn a win and finished third with 22 points.

The top two ranked teams, Northville and Midland Dow, finished first and second with 33 and 28 points, respectively.

Raven Neely, playing No. 1 singles, made the semifinals but lost 6-0, 6-0 to Utica's Davina Nguyen, and Maddie Paolucci, at No. 2 singles, also made the semifinals before falling 6-0, 6-4 to Northville's Shanoli Kumar.

Madie Flournoy, at No. 3 singles, was another semifinalist and had a three-set loss, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2 to Northville's Joanne Gao, the No. 1 seed and eventual flight champion.

Audrey Doherty made the quarterfinals before losing 4-6, 6-3, 6-2 to Ann Arbor Skyline's Cassie Chicoine in her bid to make the semis.

At No. 1 doubles, Maggie Sweeney and Morgane Flournoy played well before making the semifinals against Northville.

However, they lost 6-1, 6-1 in the semifinals, while Kelly Beardslee and Ginny Hayden had a couple of easy wins before dropping a 7-5, 6-3 semifinal match to Dow at No. 2 doubles.

The No. 3 doubles squad of Jennifer Moy and Hanna Wilhelm made the semifinals before losing a grueling 4-6, 6-3, 6-3 match to Northville.

Rounding out the Blue Devils' efforts was the No. 4 doubles squad of Angelica Kalogeridis and Lauren Sommerville. They earned a win before also losing a grueling three-set match, 6-7, 6-4, 6-3 to Dow in the quarter-

LIGGETT

Knights place ninth

The University Liggett girls' tennis team traveled to Holland to participate in the Division 4 state tournament at Hope College's DeWitt Tennis Center and Holland Christian Schools.

Liggett placed 9th out of the 21 teams with 10 points.

At No. 1 singles, Maddie Fozo handily won her first two matches to progress to Saturday's semifinals before losing to eventual state champion Amanda Bandrowski of St. Francis.

Fozo finishes her freshman year at 18-2, with her only losses coming to the state champion, Bandrowski, and runner up, Jeanne Nash from Academy of Sacred Heart at regionals.

At No. 2 singles, senior Sabrina Ajour nearly upset the No. 2 seed and eventual state runner-up Bailey Chouinard, losing in three sets in the quarterfinal.

Ajour was up a set and 3-1 before rain forced the match inside, after which Chouinard rallied behind an aggressive forehand to win the second and third sets.

At No. 3 singles, junior Sara Anthony reached the quarterfinals, also scoring two points for the Knights.

Other players winning first round matches and scoring points for the Knights were No. 4 singles player Hannah Homys, No. 2 doubles Jo Hummel and Gaby Cavataio, and No. 4 doubles Tamara Ajour and Arianna Jan.

Each lost in the second round, with the No. 2 doubles playing a tough three-setter against the No. 3 seed from Grand Rapids North Pointe Christian.

Liggett's 1 doubles and 3 doubles lost their opening matches. 1D lost in the first round while 3D received a bye and lost in the next round.
