LWV hosts Michigan House candidates

By Anthony Viola
Staff Writer

With just more than a week left before the Aug. 7 primary, local candidates for Michigan House are making their last pitches to residents.

Eight of the 12 candidates for districts 1 and 2

— which comprise the Grosse Pointes, Harper Woods and parts of Detroit — attended a forum held by the League of Women Voters of Grosse Pointe and Detroit Wednesday, July 18, at the Mary Ellen Stempfle University Center in Harper Woods.

“The League of Women Voters is a national organization whose mission is to promote political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government,” said Tom Wells, LWV GP president. “The league neither endorses nor opposes candidates or political parties.”

The candidates fielded questions from the audience mostly concerning education and insurance rates.

For House District 1 — Grosse Pointe Shores, Woods, Harper Woods and parts of Detroit —

Democratic incumbent Tenisha Yancey, Republican Mark Corcoran and Libertarian Gregory Creswell were present.

Running for District 2 — Grosse Pointe Park, Farms, City and parts of

Drouin named football coach

Grosse Pointe North High School has a new varsity football coach, Joseph Drouin, who replaces Frank Sumbera.

Drouin is a teacher in the Grosse Pointe district and most recently was named the North boys varsity ice hockey head coach last season.

His football coaching experience dates back two decades, and it includes assistant coaching duties with Grosse Pointe North, Grosse Pointe South, Roseville and St. Clair Shores Lakeview high schools.

He also coached high school student-athletes in baseball, softball and lacrosse. His first day as the North varsity head football coach was Monday, July 23, and he now has the arduous task of preparing his team for its season opener Thursday, Aug. 23, at Warren Michigan Collegiate.

North taking a different coaching direction

By Mary Anne Brush
Staff Writer

Superintendent Gary Niehaus opened the regular meeting of the Grosse Pointe Public School System Board of Education Monday, July 23, with a statement recognizing Frank Sumbera’s 49 years of service to Grosse Pointe North High School as head football and baseball coach, while announcing the decision to move in a different direction.

In the statement printed in full below, Niehaus accepted full responsibility for all personnel decisions and reminded the community these decisions are made with the best interests of students in mind.

“No one can take away 49 years of coaching memories at Grosse Pointe North High School as the Head Football Coach and Head Baseball Coach. We know Frank Sumbera is a Hall of Fame coach in both sports. We know his teams earned over 1,000 baseball victories and over 200 football victories.

“We also know that he has players who hold great memories. We have coaches that have been loyal to Coach Sumbera and his program. He has had the opportunity to work with players and coaches for 49 years, impacting nearly 5,000 student athletes.

“As a district we have honored Coach Sumbera at a board meeting just like this. We are willing to plan a retirement celebration to honor his coaching years at a football game this fall. We all want Frank to receive the honor he deserves as a Norseman.

“We all wanted this to end in a different way. But we believe the time has come for him to no longer coach at Grosse Pointe North High School. We need to move on in a different direction.

“Here is what I can tell you about the personnel

Jury finds Day guilty in rape of Woods woman

By Melissa Walsh
Staff Writer

DETROIT — Accused of a crime spree in the Grosse Pointes occurring more than a year ago, Gerald Day Jr. was found guilty Monday in the jury trial for home invasion and criminal sexual conduct charges in the Woods April 15, 2017.

Day, 28, was arrested in Grosse Pointe Farms April 23, 2017, following a manhunt for a suspect in two early morning home invasions.

Following four days of witness testimony beginning Tuesday, July 17, a jury found Day guilty in all seven felony counts in the rape of a 37-year-old woman in the 19000 block of Raymond — first-degree home invasion, two counts of first-degree criminal sexual conduct, second-degree criminal sexual conduct, assault with intent to rob, felon in possession of a firearm and felony firearm.

Wayne County Circuit Judge Kevin Cox allowed the prosecution to admit “other acts evidence” in presenting a common scheme in a wave of crimes in the area involving home invasion and sexual assault against female victims.

According to police reports and trial testimony, approximately 2:30 a.m. April 15, 2017, a single mother of four sleeping with her 4-year-old son beside her woke up and saw a man in her bedroom doorway. He was wearing dark clothing, a face mask and gloves and holding a handgun.

“Where’s the stuff?” he asked. The woman told him he could take what he wanted but she

Mike's adds 'rooftop' food-truck service

By John Minnis
Publisher

Mike's on the Water, the popular Nautical Mile restaurant, is set to begin food-truck service this week — weather permitting — on the roof!

"I was thinking of having a food truck in the parking lot," owner Mike LeFevre said, "and then a light went off. How about the roof?"

Last summer, LeFevre opened "The Lookout," complete with a full bar and seating for 48. However, when wait staff began taking food up to The Lookout, the hamburger buns were blown away by the wind up there.

To prevent that — and to provide table service on The Lookout and take some load off Mike's main kitchen — LeFevre figured a food truck would be just the thing. But first he had to get his plans approved by the city of St. Clair Shores.

"They just threw up their hands," LeFevre recalled from when he presented them with his idea. "They didn't know if it could be done." They advised him to submit the plans and see where it goes.

LeFevre did so last December before heading off on his usual winter adventure — this time to South America. When he returned rested — and with tall tales from Carnival in Rio — his rooftop food truck plans were approved.

Larry and Nic Demanaco of Lawrence Construction provided the expertise and craftsmanship — and the truck.

"They have been with me since 2011," LeFevre said. "That is the truck they used from the beginning and through all my expansions."

The box construction truck is 25 feet long, 8 feet wide and 10 ¼ feet tall and weighs 8,200 pounds. Lawrence Construction used some 20 tons of concrete and 7,000 pounds of steel to support the food truck, weighing in at 13,000 pounds when fully equipped.

The Demanacos used a 300-ton crane to hoist the food truck into position.

The food truck is colorfully clad with license plates from all 50 states, which coincides nicely with Mike's "world map" on The Lookout. Snoopy, the Peanuts character that holds special meaning to LeFevre, is behind the wheel. (Snoopy, the fighting ace, and plane also have landed on The Lookout's roof.) Luggage atop the food truck cab relates to LeFevre's traveling adventures.

The food truck order window is up a short flight of steps from The Lookout bar. The window is for wait staff, not customers, as food will be served to tables and bar. However, there is room for sightseeing with a cold one on the deck in front of the food truck.

"It's one of the best views on the Nautical Mile," LeFevre boasted of

The 16-by-8-foot, fully-equipped commercial kitchen will be run by chef Shannon Nowowiecki. He worked three summers at Comerica Park and previously ran the "Primitime Grill," a mobile "entertainment center and catering innovation" in Arizona.

The Lookout will have its own menu with eight to 10 "comfort food" items, including a double-decker smash burger, a salmon reuben, a fried crispy chicken sandwich, a peameal bacon sandwich honoring Canadian neighbors, stacked meatloaf on mashed and others. The food truck menu will only be offered to patrons on The Lookout or for boater takeout.

But what about the wind? "All items will be wrapped and picked," Nowowiecki said.

"It serves a big purpose," LeFevre said. "It takes pressure off the kitchen and the view is stellar."

Snoopy's food truck hours are 5 to 10 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and noon to 10 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Armed robbery suspects caught quickly

GROSSE POINTE FARMS — A 15-year-old Farms resident was held up at gunpoint by three Detroit juveniles approximately 8:45 a.m. Friday, July 20, in the 300 block of Hillcrest.

The three suspects were caught on Hayes at Whittier in Detroit approximately an hour and a half later and were positively identified by the victim. The suspects were found with fake handguns.

The victim reported the crime just after 9 a.m. She said she was riding her bike down the street when a gray SUV passed her, then pulled to the curb a few houses down.

As she approached the vehicle, two black males exited the vehicle, pointed handguns at her and demanded her possessions. She quickly complied and the suspects got back into the vehicle and fled toward Ridge.

Officers reported the victim was not injured, but visibly shaken.

Detroit police officers spotted a vehicle matching the description a short time later and apprehended the suspects.

Police believe the suspects may be connected to other armed robberies in the area.

After 6 dunk tank proceeds benefit community members

By Anthony Viola
Staff Writer

GROSSE POINTE PARK — For the August 2017 After 6 on Kercheval, Parks and Recreation Director Chad Craig decided to have a dunk tank. It was simply another attraction for the monthly summer event and, when the Grosse Pointe Sail Club took over running it, a promotional opportunity for the club.

Afterward, however, with the proceeds in hand, Craig and sail club Vice Commodore Mike Sherwood tried to figure out how best to spend the money.

There happened to be a gentleman in the marina, said Craig.

“This guy just got done battling brain cancer and we knew his medical bills would probably be pretty high,” said Craig. “It was not going to be anything special, but here’s $400 to $500. At least you can take your family out to a couple of dinners or pay a smaller fee. Just something to help him out after all that. They were very grateful for it.”

This year, because of its popularity, Craig decided to bring back the dunk tank and the sail club agreed to continue to run it and donate the proceeds to Grosse Pointe community members in need.

Holly Burns, an avid sailor and sail club member, was the first beneficiary this year. Earlier this year, she was diagnosed with stage four colon cancer.

Craig said they were able to raise $650 to help her out.

“Is the $650 going to be the saving grace for her? Probably not,” Craig said.

But it may ease a difficult situation, he added.

For the July event, Max Witherow was selected by

From left, Chris Delmege, Grosse Pointe Park marina supervisor; Michael Sherwood, vice commodore, Grosse Pointe Sail Club; Holly Kerslake Burns, director of Grosse Pointe Sail Club and donation recipient; Andrew Morlan, rear commodore, Grosse Pointe Sail Club; Chad Craig, director of Parks and Recreation.

Craig and Sherwood. The 2-year-old was involved in an accident June 8 where he lost his foot. Craig said although Witherow lives with his mother, Shelby Fachini, in the Woods, Grosse Pointers, no matter which city they live in, are always looking out for each other and care about each other.

“We want to show that not only the people in Grosse Pointe Woods, but the Park know about it, feel for them,” Craig said.

The dunk tank is open 6 to 10 p.m. Saturday, July 28, next to Antonio’s in the Park. Cost is $1 per ball or $5 for six balls.

Sherwood said they are always looking for people to volunteer. If interested in helping run the booth or being dunked, contact Craig at craigg@grossepointepark.org.

“There’s always hope,” Sherwood said. “That’s what this whole dunk tank was about, was bringing hope to these people. Because they see the community coming out, rallying around them. ... Hope is everything.”

Detroit — Democrats Willie Bell, Latisha Johnson, Joe Tate and Carla Tinsley-Smith and Republican John Palffy — the only Republican running in the district — attended.

In House District 1, a district which votes consistently democratic, the two right-leaning candidates said they would like to see less government intervention in citizens’ daily lives.

Corcoran, a Woods resident and contractor, said he is running because he does not like the direction the country is going. He said he would like to see lower taxes and a voucher system for schools.

“I believe I should have the right to work and give my money or put my money where I think it should be,” Corcoran said, “not give it all to the government and have them take care of me and have them give me a bed and a house and clothes and food. To me that’s slavery.”

The Libertarian candidate, Creswell, espouses individual freedoms in a free, capitalist market.

“We (Libertarians) believe that taxation is theft,” Creswell said. “We Libertarians believe in reducing the power and control of access to our income and property is the best method to freedom. As Libertarians, we believe what you own belongs to you and nobody else.”

The incumbent, Yancey, a Democrat, was voted to take Brian Banks’ vacated seat November 2017. She said she is running to continue the work she started less than a year ago, specifically helping “promote and to help our educators,” she said.

Since elected, Yancey has introduced four bills ranging from education, women’s health, environmental protections and amendments to the juvenile facilities act, all of which are still in committee. She also has co-sponsored a plethora of other bills and resolutions.

In District 2, another solidly blue district — voting around 75 percent for the Democratic candidate in the last two presidential elections and 62 percent in the last gubernatorial race — the only Republican candidate lauded his qualifications.

Palffy, a Park resident, said he has more than 40 years investment banking and small business advising experience. He also said he was appointed by President Ronald Reagan to the No. 3 spot in the federal government’s largest lending agency and worked as Vice President Dan Quayle’s chief economist.

“My experience in the public, academic and private sector distinguishes me from, I think, most of the opponents at my table,” Palffy said.

Palffy said he would like to see economic development in the Jefferson Chalmers area and investment in education with more competition from charter schools.

“Education is the foundation of a good voter, a good citizen and most importantly to a good economy,” he said.

Tate, a Democrat, former NFL player and Marine Corps officer, said he is running because of the values instilled in him by his parents.

“I come from a family of servants,” Tate said. “My father was a firefighter and my mom was a public school teacher in Detroit. Growing up, they embedded in me not only the value of service, but also of sacrifice.”

Tate said his focus will be on the community.

“I want to be able to focus on the community and, talking to the residents, I’ve learned that and I know that it is about the community,” Tate said. “So whether we are focusing on education, revenue sharing, infrastructure, auto insurance, the focus always has to be around the community.”

Johnson said she is a true product of Detroit.

“I grew up in a low-income household,” she said. “I am the fifth of eight children. I am unfortunately the first in my family to obtain a college degree.”

She received a finance degree from the University of Michigan, served on Detroit’s Board of Zoning Appeals and currently serves on Detroit’s fifth precinct police community relations council and runs a nonprofit organization in the Morningside, East English Village and Cornerstone communities.

“The reason I decided to run is I would like to address some of the oppressive policies that we see coming down in Lansing that have impacted families the way they impacted me when I was a child,” she said.

Tinsley-Smith lost to current Rep. Bettie Cook — who is term-limited in the House and running for State Senate — by 17 votes in 2016.

“A lot of the same concerns that we had two years ago, we still have today,” she said. “Our education system needs to be improved, our communities need to be improved and we are lacking workforce development training opportunities for people to get good paying jobs to take care of their families.”

Bell is a U.S. Army veteran and former Detroit police officer. He currently serves on Detroit’s police commission.

“The concern in this nation, as you well know, we can’t make our schools safe,” Bell said. “It’s public

Even though Brian Banks resigned his Michigan House District 1 seat last year after pleading guilty to misdemeanor charges, because his past felony convictions were not related to his official capacity as a lawmaker, he is eligible to seek office.

He is seeking a Michigan Senate seat in District 2.

Park resident offers ways to 'peace out'

By Jody McVeigh
Editor

It's been four years since Sheri Sansom and her husband, Fred, decided to call Grosse Pointe Park home.

During that time, she's become a part of the community in many ways and has fallen in love with the town she hopes will be her last.

Born in Ohio, Sansom has lived in California, Virginia, Kentucky, North Carolina, Illinois, Indiana, Connecticut, Arkansas and Michigan. The Sansoms had three children in three different states, but years ago chose to raise their family in Novi. They had since moved on.

"When my husband's job was moving to Detroit, I said, 'I don't want to repeat an old chapter,'" Sansom said, noting they called the Mojave Desert home before moving back to Michigan. "He asked me where I wanted to live ...

I said Grosse Pointe."

She made the selection because of a yoga studio, she said.

"Ten years ago, I had a significant illness, which led to me practicing yoga," Sansom said. Her love of the practice led her to want to teach it, so she took a 500-hour course on therapeutic yoga in Arizona. "There were Michigan gals there who opened a yoga studio in Grosse Pointe."

After settling in, Sansom said she reached out daily looking for opportunities in the community. The addition of yoga to her repertoire — Sansom is a professional musician — led to more doors opening for the Wayne State University graduate.

She started teaching therapeutic yoga at St. John Hospital & Medical Center, where she found another new love — singing bowls.

"They have this amazing set of 99.99 percent quartz crystal bowls that someone gifted to the hospital," she said. "Singing bowls create a strong frequency that tends to resonate in your body."

"The physics of it is the sound wave that comes off the bowl mimics the alpha wave pattern in the body," she continued. "The alpha wave pattern is, you know when you're laying in bed, worried, going through the day and then — it's the moment when you feel your body relaxes. That's the alpha wave. ... So with the bowls, your brain wants to sync up with the alpha waves. You're totally awake but profoundly relaxed."

Sansom used the bowls during sessions with cancer and other patients and was so impressed with the effects, she bought her own set. She uses them during presentations and private sessions, which she offers in addition to teaching yoga classes and workshops at Living Waters Yoga in Sheri Sansom enjoys finding new ways of reaching people facing challenges.

The Village. Though she no longer works at St. John, she also currently teaches music and therapeutic yoga at Special Kids in Grosse Pointe Woods, as well as offers private piano, therapeutic yoga and singing bowl sessions.

"I'm doing all of these profoundly weird things," she said, "teaching piano, doing therapeutic yoga, using singing bowls and also working with local churches filling in on piano or organ."

Sansom majored in keyboard and, "spent most of my life working all over the U.S. primarily at churches and schools directing music and playing keyboards," she said.

Now, with her three children living in three different states, she said it's hard to commit to working at a church every Sunday. Thankfully, she finds enough opportunities in the community to occupy her.

When not working, Sansom, a grandmother of six, said she enjoys writing and journaling.

"Absolutely my favorite place to go for my rest and restoration is the DIA," she said. "I sit in Kresge Court with a pen and paper or maybe a book. ... The DIA is my sacred place."

Additionally, "my husband and I are new kayakers," she said. "And I'm learning to play the carillon at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. ... I've got all these little things that I do. It propels me."

COACH:

According to a press release sent by the Grosse Pointe Public School System, Drouin demonstrated in the application process how he will use his motivation, communication and decision-making skills, as well as his teaching and coaching background, to give student-athletes the high school experience they deserve. His ability to build a sense of teamwork will enhance the strong program North has enjoyed.

His football experience is vast. In 2015-16, Drouin was responsible for offensive line technique development at Roseville High School and in 2013-14, he instructed the offensive line at St. Clair Shores Lakeview High School. From 1996 until 2013, he coached football in GPPSS. For eight seasons, 2006-13, he was employed as the offensive and defensive line coach at North. From August 1996 until March 2006, he coached at Grosse Pointe South; along with varsity position responsibilities, he spent four years as the head junior varsity coach.

Prior to the 2000 football season, he was named assistant head varsity coach at Grosse Pointe South and was responsible for film breakdown and evaluation, offensive game plan and strategy, overseeing game plan and everyday practice planning and organization.

He took on many of the same responsibilities while coaching at Grosse Pointe North, Lakeview and Roseville.

After the 2010 football season, he was the recipient of the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association Assistant Coach of the Year Award. He has been on the football staff during a district championship and regional semifinalist season of 2000, two league championship seasons, 2003 and 2006 and part of a team that qualified for the MHSAA playoffs for six years straight.

Drouin also has been instrumental in working with several players who played at the collegiate level.

didn't have much. He pointed the gun at her, grabbed her wrist and told her to get up, pulling her. He led her to the kitchen, where he forced her to the floor and raped her.

Awakened by his mother's cries, the woman's 15-year-old son came to comfort her after the man left. She told him to call 911 and she texted her church's security team and pastor.

When public safety officers arrived, the woman was sitting on the porch wrapped in a blanket rocking back and forth crying. Her pastor, members of her church and her ex-husband were assisting with her four children.

The victim was transported to St. John Hospital, where a nurse trained in sexual assault trauma took samples for a rape kit.

Expert testimony by Michigan State Police forensic scientists concluded one of the DNA samples taken from the victim shows it is 40 quadrillion times more likely to be Day's than an unknown person's (and the victim's ex-husband, who submitted a cheek swab).

This, along with evidence linking Day to a home invasion in the City of Grosse Pointe April 22, 2017, and to home invasions in the Farms April 23, 2017, factored into the prosecution's case against Day and the jury's guilty verdict.

Descriptions of the gun by the victims in the Woods and City crimes also supported the prosecution's case. Both victims described a handgun with green lights. The 9mm semi-automatic Glock pistol found in a yard near the site of Day's arrest April 23, 2017, uses neon green lines of sight. The gun was reported stolen from a Farms residence in 2016.

A search of Day's bedroom in his home on Moross in Detroit uncovered a backpack with ski mask, gloves, screwdriver and pepper spray, in addition to dark hoodies and shoes. Officers found a .25 caliber handgun under the mattress.

Cell phone data gathered by Woods detectives showed signal activity with Day's phone at the addresses of the home invasions in the Farms during the early morning hours of April 23, 2017, before Day's arrest a block away.

On July 12, a jury found Day guilty in felony counts related to a home invasion and domestic violence in Detroit Dec. 20, 2016. His sentencing in that case is July 27.

Day's sentencing for the Woods crimes is Aug. 24.

process. Coach Sumbera met with the Grosse Pointe North principal, athletic director and an HR representative. We received a verbal retirement. He denies that retirement/resignation. Central office had a subsequent face-to-face meeting with Coach Sumbera and his attorney to discuss reinstatement. The district made the decision to move on with the head football coach interviews. We interviewed seven candidates. Four were asked to come back for a 30-minute workout with the varsity football players and an assistant football coach. Three finalists interviewed with Dr. Jon Dean, Michelle Davis and Kate Murray on Friday, July 20, 2018. We chose Joseph Drouin.

"I know that I have used 'we' to describe our intentions and actions. As a Superintendent, I always have the final decision on personnel. The Board of Education hires the superintendent. The superintendent handles the supervision of all school system employees. A superintendent hires, recommends and dismisses employees.

"Every step along the way, I knew what was going on and supported the decision. The board president and board attorney were informed of the decision before the letter from Principal Kate Murray was released at 4:30 p.m. on Thursday, June 27, 2018, to baseball and football families. Ultimately, I am held accountable for what happened with the decision, process and public relations dilemma. That does not change our decision.

"We do want to honor Frank for his 49 years as a coach at Grosse Pointe North High School. We do want to move forward. We hope our community will help us do so knowing that every decision is made with the best interest of students in mind."

During public comments on non-agenda items, George Farrell, a resident of the City of Grosse Pointe, expressed gratitude for his former football coach. He relayed a personal story about coming off the bench from an injury his senior year at North with a hope "to be put into one game and make one good play." At the "classic rivalry" game between North and South Nov. 2, 1985, Farrell said Sumbera turned to him and said, "Farrell, get in the game." This resulted in "five words from my parents — 'I am proud of you' — (that) made a huge difference in my life.

"My story is unique, but I am sure it was one of thousands from former players that Coach Sumbera has inspired over his many years of coaching," Farrell continued. "I understand he has been coaching since Grosse Pointe North opened in the fall of 1968. My degrees in military service and both the Marine Corps and Air Force can all be traced back to an inspirational coach who believed in me and gave me a chance. ... I just felt it was time to honor this remarkable man and mentor. He was like a father figure to me."

OUR VIEW

Woods seeks Headlee fix

The city of Grosse Pointe Woods is asking voters for a 4-mill Headlee override to counter revenue losses due to plunging property values following the 2008 housing bubble collapse. As housing values dropped, so did the city's revenue.

According to an informational sheet sent to homeowners, the city's taxable value dropped from $8.67 million in 2008 to a low of $6.01 million in 2014. It has since rebounded some to $6.5 million in 2017, 25 percent less than it was in 2008. City revenue based on property taxes would have declined proportionately.

The informational sheet also notes a $6.091 million loss in revenue sharing funds over the 13-year period, 2003-2016.

Yet, despite the setbacks, the city said it has maintained a "budgetary status quo" and has continued to provide residents the services they expect. The Woods administration and council have been able to do this by numerous cost-cutting and cost containment measures:

- ◆ Eliminated nearly 25 percent of full-time and part-time positions and deployed other staff cost-saving measures amounting to $11,141,000 since 2006.
- ◆ Contracted basic and advanced life support services with Medstar in 2014.
- ◆ Contracted assessing services with WCA Assessing in 2016.
- ◆ Eliminated retiree health care for new employees hired after 2011.
- ◆ Implemented five unpaid furlough days for all city employees in 2011.
- ◆ Concessions made by all city employees to forego wage increases from 2009 to 2015.

But even with these measures, according to the city, it has been unable to replace or resurface roads, maintain municipal buildings and other facilities and replace vehicles and equipment. Consequently, the mayor and council see no choice but to go to voters for a Headlee override.

If the 10-year, 4-mill Headlee override is approved by voters, it will raise an additional $2,784,098 for the city in 2019. The city would use the funds for:

- ◆ The hiring of two additional public safety officers.
- ◆ Maintaining staffing levels.
- ◆ Repair and maintenance of facilities throughout the city.
- ◆ Capital improvement bond funding to replace an obsolete E911 system and public safety and public services equipment.

The cost to a homeowner with a 2018 median taxable value of $95,000 and a state equalized value of $190,000 would be $380 per year or $31.66 per month, according to the city.

We feel the city's pain, but we fear the Headlee override will be a hard sell with homeowners, what with a SMART transit tax on the primary ballot and, on the November ballot, the Grosse Pointe Public School System's $111 million bond proposal.

FEATURED LETTER

Weigh remedy on newsprint tariffs

The following letter was sent to Commerce Secretary Wilbur Ross and International Trade Commission Chairman David Johanson.

Dear Secretary Ross and Chairman Johanson:

We write to express concern regarding the countervailing duty and anti-dumping investigations into the import of uncoated groundwood paper from Canada, including imported newsprint. As the commission approaches the final phase of the investigation, we ask that you carefully take into consideration the negative impact a trade remedy will have on the U.S. newspaper industry.

While we support efforts to combat illegal trade practices to level the playing field for U.S. companies, the imposition of up to 32 percent in tariffs on paper from Canada has the potential to cause even greater harm to an already struggling newspaper industry. Of equal importance, the tariffs on uncoated groundwood paper from Canada are not supported by the U.S. paper industry that it is intended to benefit, and has the potential to endanger more than 600,000 jobs across the United States, including jobs in our home state of Michigan.

Consumers of newsprint tend to buy newsprint in their region, close to their printing operations. The lack of available U.S. groundwood paper producers in the Midwest region has led to an increased reliance on Canadian imports in order to meet production capacity. According to the October 2017 preliminary International Trade Commission report (publication 4732), the Midwest received around 35 percent of uncoated groundwood paper from Canada. Producers in our state are concerned that the combination of countervailing and anti-dumping duties could negatively impact their bottom line and their ability to cover increased costs.

The potential consequences of these actions could lead to supply disruptions, job loss, movement of greater content to digital platforms, and scenarios that would harm not only the papers but the communities they serve. Local newspapers are essential to our communities, since they are often the primary distributor of regional news and local small business advertisements.

This case could have serious economic implications for print newspapers in Michigan and throughout the country. If these tariffs remain in place, local newspapers will suffer, undermining our nation's commitment to a free and accessible press. As such, we urge you to weigh the impact a remedy will have on the newspaper industry as you deliberate during your investigation.

Thank you for your attention to this issue.

Frank Sumbera Sports Complex?

To the Editor:

This letter is in support of Coach Frank Sumbera. My son played in the Grosse Pointe North baseball system 2004-07. I found Coach Sumbera to be gracious, decent and fair with all the boys on the team. Never once did I ever hear him use inappropriate language nor berate the team in any way.

I only ever witnessed respect on that team, both from Coach Sumbera and his staff toward the players and from the players toward the coaching staff. My son never reported to me any inappropriate behavior. The team was very professionally run.

Coach Sumbera's

recent treatment at the hands of the Grosse Pointe North administration is nothing short of deplorable.

For a man to have devoted so many solid, positive years to Grosse Pointe North and to the athletic program there, his 11th hour clandestine termination has shown the Grosse Pointe administration to be gutless, spineless, spiteful, cowardly and petty.

Treat him like an adult, school administration. To paraphrase Coach Sumbera, if they'd wanted to fire him, then they just should have fired him, rather than squeezing a "retirement notification" out of him and then offering up a wholly patronizing statement "thanking" him for his years of service.

I agree with the unnamed Grosse Pointe school employee in the July 19 edition of Letters to the Editor; the baseball field should be named in his honor.

Even better still, the baseball and football fields should be named the Frank Sumbera Sports Complex.

He should have been afforded an opportunity to take a "victory lap" season and given a proper and dignified send-off.

Grandparent for GPPSS bond

To the Editor:

As a grandparent of one Grosse Pointe Public School System graduate, two grandchildren currently in the schools and two grandchildren who will soon be GPPSS students, I strongly support the school bond initiative.

I did my homework, attended one of the Town Hall meetings, where I learned about the critical infrastructure needs of the schools, and have attended school board meetings as well.

Our students and incredible staff should learn and work in buildings that are well maintained and safe.

Like many of the homes in our beautiful community, our schools are old. And, like any homeowner knows, we must invest in the maintenance of our buildings.

Unfortunately, there simply is not enough money in our school budget to do the needed maintenance and increase security to meet modern standards, while maintaining small class sizes and offering our students all of the vital opportunities to participate in not only world class academics but in art, music, theater and sports programs that are also truly outstanding.

Our outstanding schools are the cornerstone of the community we love. I will be supporting our schools and our community by voting yes on the bond in November, not only for my own grandchildren but for the future of the community I've lived in more than 50 years.

I SAY By Anthony Viola

Civility — or lack of — on the sideline

on the sideline — said something like, “Hey man, he’s still new.” And let me remind you, I was 15, couldn’t even drive and the children I was reffing were younger than 10.

I was a youth soccer referee for about two months when I was 15. I quit shortly after a game where the coach and parents of one team took exception to a call I made and wouldn’t let it go.

If I remember correctly, the foul wasn’t egregious, but it was close and the kids were younger than 10. I wanted to see a safe game.

The harassment got so bad, at one point my older brother — who happened to be assisting

I am almost certain there were no college scouts in the lawn chairs lining the small, uneven field. But by their reaction, the parents and coach seemed convinced otherwise.

After I stopped reffing, I continued to play soccer through high school. Of course, there were times when I disagreed with a call (I was still a certified ref), but I respected their decisions.

It’s like the idea that every person should be required to work in the service industry for at least six months before they are let out of the house. I understood what it meant to be the center of an entire sideline’s ire.

Perhaps that abuse for officials, whether it’s the ref or coach, is a carry-over of our disdain for the professional version.

I would be lying if I said I never joined in to boo with tens of thousands of other people in an arena or yelled at my TV over a questionable call. It feels good to be a homer sometimes. But there’s no place for that in high school or youth sports.

And I get it, there’s often a huge investment for parents to put their kids in sports. With thousands of dollars spent every year, I’m sure it’s easy to feel like every whistle or play call will determine little Johnny or Maddie’s sporting career.

Let me assure you, it won’t and it never was.

Yelling at a referee or coach during a game will never change the outcome. It only serves to embarrass yourself and your kid.

The only thing parents can — and should — do is provide opportunity, guidance and support for their children. Nothing more.

Fighting another parent on the sideline or yelling at the coach through the fence doesn’t help them get college scholarships or more playing time.

It also doesn’t help with keeping passionate referees in the game.

As reported by the New York Times Sunday, July 22, 70 percent of new referees quit within three years, according to the National Association of Sports Officials.

Now, surely there are many reasons for an individual ref to quit, but abusive spectators is high on that list. That’s a problem.

Without qualified people to officiate the game, there is no game and there are no scholarships for Johnny and Maddie.

Also, with the advent of social media, it’s important to remember your actions are no longer limited to your immediate surroundings, but can be shared across the country or world in moments.

That’s how Brian Barlow, a Tulsa-area referee, is fighting back. He is offering $100 for clips of unruly parents to post on his Facebook page, Offside. The idea is to shame the abusers who act more like petulant children than adults.

“I do it to hold people accountable — to identify and call out the small percentage of parents who nonetheless create a toxic environment at youth sports,” Barlow told the Times. “It’s a very visual deterrent and not just to the person caught on video but to others who ask themselves: Do I look like that jerk?”

It’s a great idea.

DRUG FIRM VICTIM OF EMBEZZLEMENTS: One man is awaiting trial in Wayne County Circuit Court on charges of embezzlement and receiving stolen property in the theft of thousands of dollars from a drug store chain.

The man admitted to taking approximately $50,000 in drugs and other items from the Woods branch of Arnold Drug Inc. and other firm stores to which he had been transferred.

FOUR YOUTHS FACE CHARGES FOR ASSAULT: Four Grosse Pointe Woods boys are being charged with assault and battery for their role in what Grosse Pointe City police termed a “vicious” attack on two City youths.

Two boys, 16 and 17, stopped their car at the corner of Neff and Waterloo when their passage was impeded by a human road block consisting of six boys.

One of the boys got out of the car first and was beaten and kicked in the head and body. His friend, who got out of the car later, was beaten less severely.

An unidentified caller alerted police to a “gang fight.” Police found the injured boys and took them to the hospital for treatment.

GROSSE POINTE SCHOOL OFFICIALS KNEW TROUBLE WAS COMING, BUT NOT LIKE THIS: The state Legislature approved a plan last week that would slash 95 percent of Grosse Pointe schools’ revenues for the 1994-95 school year.

While the tax cut will not directly affect the 1993-94 budget, the district probably will have to make adjustments in preparation for the following year.

SCHOOL PROPERTY TAX CUT COULD END UP COSTING POINTES BIG BUCKS IN FEES:

The plan to eliminate school property taxes could end up costing Grosse Pointe cities hundreds of thousands of dollars in fees paid to the cities by the school district for collecting school property taxes.

Cities collect a 1 percent administration fee for collecting school property taxes. They also earn interest on the money collected for the school district.

Attend the meeting

To the Editor:

For the past several months, we have heard much about a proposal for Rocket Fiber to install a fiber optic ring throughout the Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods for high speed internet.

On Monday, July 30, at 7 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Farms Pier Park community building, the Grosse Pointe Farms

Council will hold a work session to discuss the proposal. The meeting is open to the public. Here are some basic facts regarding the proposal:

1) Costs of the installation only of the ring are not budgeted by any of the responsible entities. They are: GPPSS $737,839.50; Park $240,795.50; City $394,487.67; Farms $401,990.65; Shores $265,177.34; Woods $397,149.84; Grosse Pointe Public Library $271,403.34; Harper Woods $276,287.04.

2) Total and future costs are unknown.

3) Fiscal and operational control of the ring will be by an appointed body, not an elected one. 4) Residents will be taxed three times — by your city, by the school district, by the library.

5) Residential internet service is not calculated into these install costs.

Attend the meeting.

Facebook rumor starts wildfire

By Mary Anne Brush
Staff Writer

President Brian Summerfield closed the July 23 regular meeting of the Grosse Pointe Public School System Board of Education with cautionary words.

"I would note that social media is a terrible place to get your news," he said. "It creates frenzies that are unnecessary and, frankly, bad for the community."

He encouraged concerned residents to contact Superintendent Gary Niehaus or email the board before jumping to conclusions, adding Niehaus "has an open door policy. He meets with community members constantly."

"There's nothing secret about what we're doing up here," Summerfield added. "What we try to do is be very transparent with the community so we're all on the same page. So when you're on Facebook and you see people saying something that just doesn't make sense to you, there's probably more to the story than that and I would encourage you to go out and get the information from a reliable source like Dr. Niehaus."

One of the "frenzies" he referred to began with a post on Facebook containing misleading information about a proposed school policy, including in the thread a false claim the policy committee had voted on the policy.

The policy, according to a public Facebook post by Anne Vanker, was "a proposal before the School Board's 3-member Policy committee to allow Michigan students who live 100 miles away or more to be enrolled in GP Public Schools if they are exceptional in athletics or art."

What in fact occurred was a request from Grosse Pointe Farms residents Jen and Sam Steinhebel for the district to allow a 16-year-old from Traverse City they are hosting to enroll at Grosse Pointe South High School for the 2018-19 school year. The player was offered a position on a Belle Tire AAA hockey team and is moving to the area.

"In the hockey world, it's very common for families to billet players," said Jen Steinhebel, whose daughter also was offered a spot. "We said we'd be happy to host this child. She's from a great family. Her parents are teachers. She has straight A's, a phenomenal athlete."

The Steinhebels met with Superintendent Gary Niehaus to explain the situation.

"We thought it was a reasonable request," Steinhebel said. "She's not playing on any Grosse Pointe team. She is not going to displace any Grosse Pointe kid on any team; this was not the issue."

Vice President Margaret Weertz, who chairs the policy committee, agreed to present the request to the committee for review. A meeting is scheduled 5 p.m. Monday, Aug. 6, at 389 St. Clair. Present for any policy discussions in addition to committee members Weertz, Cindy Pangborn and Christopher Profeta are administrators and the district attorney. The meeting is open to the public.

"Typically we'll discuss this at the policy committee (level) and then we'll take it to the board if it's something we want to have a detailed debate on," Weertz said, adding, "This is not an attempt to recruit students from all over Michigan for our sports teams and it would not be fair for them to play sports in our schools."

Steinhebel decided to speak publicly at the board meeting to set the record straight when she saw the Facebook post and comments July 20 and realized the thread was about her family's request.

"When I read about a thinly veiled disguise to get into school of choice, I knew that was absolutely off," she said. "I knew (the policy committee was) meeting and I knew they were working on a draft. The comments I was reading were outrageous. It's not OK to put out information that is not the whole truth. It was just totally misconstrued."

In fact, the board voted unanimously Monday to decline schools of choice, "historically something we have always done, at least in my five years on the board," Summerfield said.

Steinhebel posted a comment to identify herself as the host family and clear up any misunderstanding.

"I said I am the host family," she said. "This information is completely incorrect. If you want to talk to me, call me and I'll tell you my situation, but we don't want to be the catalyst for somebody's back door political agenda. We're trying to help out a child. We're not trying to push somebody's political agenda."

She declined to go into specifics on Facebook, but suggested anyone interested in learning the truth should attend the board meeting or call her directly, even providing her cell phone number.

"My information is from the school board member who is on the policy subcommittee which voted last week on this policy," Vanker replied on the thread. "In addition I have contacted the superintendents (sic) office and school board for the exact policy. PLEASE do not tell ME I don't know what I am talking about and PLEASE don't make this about you! I do not know ANY details of your situation nor did I know you were involved. It is not about you and Facebook is a place I intend to share information."

"Respectfully it is about us," Steinhebel countered on Facebook. "Perhaps the board member gave you some information or omitted some information but not in proper context."

The post, which was shared multiple times, "started a wildfire in this community and people are really angry," Steinhebel told the Grosse Pointe News. "I as a citizen think everybody else as a citizen has a right to know the complete story. My intent and my husband's intent (in going) to the school board (was to) address this really irresponsible act of several people. The person on the school board knows the entire truth. They are part of the three-person committee. Instead of being fair and balanced, giving the complete picture, I think they gave a partial picture and totally misrepresented the situation."

"There has been no attempt to quash any of the incorrect information," she added. "I feel like by not correcting (it), you are facilitating the rumor mill. You are just allowing the story to get wild and that's not fair to anybody."

Academy Adventures push boundaries

By Mary Anne Brush
Staff Writer

Grosse Pointe Academy students tested both their individual stamina and ability to work as a team during the Academy Adventures summer trip to West Virginia June 18 to 22. Whether whitewater rafting in 12-man boats on Class V rapids or alone in a kayak on Class III rapids, the middle schoolers stepped outside their comfort zones, according to Trevor Clor, one of three teachers who led the trip with the help of professional river guides.

"The biggest thing for the students is that their boundaries are pushed," Clor said. "They're challenged to do things they wouldn't normally do, whether that be kayaking as an individual ... alone going down these big rapids" or with seven other people in a boat.

"Those rapids are really big; they're very intimidating, so you're kind of forced to work as a team and get through that," he added.

One of the biggest challenges for Clor was the high ropes course on a zip line. For students who were not strong swimmers, water activities were their biggest challenge. Another fun activity was standup paddle boating, testing balancing skills.

"That was what was cool about it. Everybody was challenged in a different way," he said.

Other benefits of the trip, according to Clor, were bonding with teachers and peers and the personal responsibility students assumed by helping set up camp, packing their own gear and preparing for each river trip.

Clor added he was happy to see students shine who may not have the most academic success.

"Different students stepped up on the trip than would in the classroom," he said.

Finally, students enjoyed good old-fashioned fun making s'mores by the campfire.

"I attempted to tell scary stories," Clor said, upholding what he called a long tradition in more than three decades of Academy Adventures.

TEACHERS IN THE SUMMERTIME

This article is part of a series on teachers spending time in the summer to enhance their knowledge and enrich their classrooms for the benefit of their students.

A multi-dimensional meeting of minds

By Mary Anne Brush
Staff Writer

Many Grosse Pointers head north in the summertime. Sue Speirs, a science teacher at Grosse Pointe North High School, headed to one of Michigan's most northernmost points — Michigan Technological University in Houghton in the Upper Peninsula.

This wasn't a vacation jaunt to kick off summer; the purpose of Speirs' trip was to attend the fifth annual meeting of the Michigan Physiological Society in her role as K-12 outreach chairwoman. Other members of the nine-member 2017-18 leadership panel include Alma College President Karen Ball, MTU President-elect John Durocher and Wayne State University Past-president Patrick Mueller.

As K-12 outreach chairwoman, Speirs had the opportunity to work with research scientists representing universities, hospital research centers and medical schools all over Michigan and help prepare the teacher and student workshops for the annual meeting June 14 to 15.

She also was able to include students in the experience. From her applied medical research class, 16 students comprising four research teams submitted their clinical research abstracts to the MPS for publication and presentation. Not only were all four abstracts accepted, they all received high scores, according to Speirs. Topics related to grip strength included how verbal encouragement and caffeine ingestion increased grip strength and the difference between grip strength in female hockey players and inactive females.

Benefits to Speirs' involvement with the society extend beyond the opportunity to plan for and attend the conference. She also had the chance to create connections.

"With the curriculum we have now that is so beyond the walls and confines of the classroom, it's so awesome to have these connections with physiologists in our society," she said. "It really opens up opportunities for students and their learning."

Unfortunately due to the distance — each year the conference is hosted at a different location — and scheduling conflicts, none of the students were able to attend to present their posters. However, while typically posters are only allowed if researchers are present, an exception was made so the students' posters could be on display, generating a lot of interest among attendees, Speirs said.

"The keynote speaker, Dr. Virginia Miller, was very interested in the poster on hockey and female grip strength and how that could be a predictor on health," she said. "She asked me to email the abstract and poster to her lab at the Mayo Clinic."

Miller is the director of the Women's Health Research Center at Mayo Clinic. Her research focuses on the role of gender differences in cardiovascular health. Speirs said she was walking from poster to poster with Miller without realizing who she was.

"We were having this wonderful conversation and I was like, I'm a high school teacher. She said, 'These are some great ideas. There are some ideas on the poster that your students presented here that I'm interested to see.' She even said she'd come to North High School. She's a research scientist at the Mayo Clinic for 23 years and for her to say her potential future investigation is impacted by the ideas of high school students? She even said these are publishable in a journal and said I could submit this work to be published."

Other attendees were impressed with not only the topics the students selected, but their writing ability as well.

"Kudos to our English department," Speirs said. "Writing across the curriculum — that's a wonderful kind of thing in the Grosse Pointe Public School System and particularly at North."

Participants "were all impressed and wanted to know how we get high school students to be that engaged and work at such a complex level," she added.

In addition to the poster session, oral presentations from scientists and keynote address, Speirs had an opportunity to participate in a hands-on student engagement workshop, helping build a model to demonstrate human blood flow while also learning about different ways to implement and deliver compelling lesson plans.

"It was a full day, from 7:15 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.," she said. "It's a wonderful organization. Not only did I get a chance to help develop the professional development, but I got to participate and bring teachers together and get to know people from the Upper Peninsula. And we got to showcase Grosse Pointe North students. It was multi-dimensional."

Reader dog in the spotlight of 'Annie'

The sun came up on a cast of 62 during two performances of "Annie" at Brownell Middle School. Shortly after school let out for the summer, the Grosse Pointe Public School Summer Musical Theatre Workshop held auditions and, in nine short rehearsals, pulled off morning and evening performances June 29.

According to workshop directors Heather Albrecht and Michelle Stackpoole, the children in the show ranged from 8 to 13. Albrecht started the workshop more than 10 years ago at The War Memorial. Stackpoole came on board in 2009 and the workshop moved to the Grosse Pointe Public School System in 2015.

A new twist this summer was the addition of a live animal to the cast in the role of Annie's dog Sandy. Simon, a 6-year-old golden retriever, is a known entity at Defer Elementary School and other local schools he visits as a reader dog.

"He is like magic everywhere he goes, especially with children. He's just so gentle," said Christina Michaud of the family dog who does double duty as a registered therapy dog. When Stackpoole reached out to her to check on Simon's availability on stage, the family agreed to postpone their vacation so he could participate in the show. In fact, Michaud said all three of her sons — Jack, 15; Luc, 13; and Mason 12 — insisted on it, saying it was "his one shot" in the spotlight.

"We were hoping he would get a Tony nomination," she joked.

"The cast literally cheered when I told them Simon was joining our cast," Stackpoole said. "Many of them knew him from Defer. He was very easy to work with. The Michaud family has always been so supportive of our program, we knew it would be a good fit."

Simon was a quick study, according to Stackpoole, attending one rehearsal and one dress rehearsal.

"Everything worked out perfectly," she said — so much so, Simon received a bouquet of flowers at the curtain call.

"I think he likes the reading thing better than being on stage, but he did very well," said Michaud.

The unsinkable class of 1968

Last class to graduate 'The High' celebrates 50th reunion

By Mary Anne Brush
Staff Writer

"It was the best of times, it was the worst of times. It was the age of wisdom, it was the age of foolishness."

It wasn't 19th century Charles Dickens; it was Grosse Pointe in 1968. During the best of times, seniors enjoyed the waning months of their high school careers as the last to graduate from Grosse Pointe High School — known as "The High." With the close of a single Grosse Pointe High School in June, 997 seniors joined 16,103 earlier graduates, according to the 1968 yearbook. That fall the newly constructed Grosse Pointe North High School opened to its first class of students and The High became Grosse Pointe South, beginning a rivalry between the two cross-town high schools.

The worst of times was a decade beginning with the Bay of Pigs invasion in 1961 and the Cuban Missile Crisis in 1962, followed by the assassinations of John F. Kennedy, Martin Luther King Jr. and Robert Kennedy. In fact, King spoke March 14, 1968 in The High's gymnasium to a capacity crowd of nearly 2,700 three weeks before he was shot in Memphis, Tenn.

"We were embroiled in an unwinnable war, there were race riots from coast to coast and a drug culture taking root among the nation's young," reminisced 1968, alumnus John Steininger. "Guys burned their draft cards and a few of our classmates even crossed over to Canada to avoid military service."

On a summer evening at Cellar 313 on Kercheval in Grosse Pointe Park, Steininger and other members of the Class of 1968 took a break from planning their 50th reunion in September to share memories of a time gone by.

Back row, Bill Schaefer, Kevin Killebrew — treasurer, John O'Brien, Harry Kurtz — historian and Randall Cain.

For such a big class, everyone got along great, they said. There were even a number of high school sweethearts in the class.

"The whole community was much more unified by having just the one high school," said Cathy Mantay Wynn. "There was no rivalry. It was just Grosse Pointe."

And there was good, clean fun.

"We didn't have the internet," said Bill Schaefer.

"They didn't have to take our cell phones away from us," said Bryan Melvin.

Some of this fun included pranks, according to Cathy Champion — "like letting the crickets out in the high school."

Steininger owned up to his role in the senior shenanigans. He found an ad in a fishing magazine for Selph's Cricket Ranch in Memphis, Tenn., and ordered $19 worth of crickets to be delivered to his house in Grosse Pointe Woods.

"We collected cigar boxes from all the different little retail stores, punched holes in the top," Steininger said. They transferred the crickets from a large container into the cigar boxes and distributed the boxes among the students. The plan was to release the crickets all at once during second bell.

"I personally remember someone who ... threw the whole box at this girl," Steininger said. "I'm sure she's still traumatized to this day."

Another student sprinkled crickets on the cafeteria food and called the health department, he said.

"They chirped in the lockers for weeks," said Melvin.

The students accomplished their goal — to shutdown the school, Schaefer said. While Assistant Principal and Dean of Discipline John Thursby suspected Steininger was the culprit behind the mischief, he was unable to prove it, Steininger said.

Another claim to fame generating class camaraderie was winning the homecoming float contest each year, "which was unusual because usually the senior class won," Champion said, adding the only reason the class

A thing of the past

The first Grosse Pointe High School opened its doors in 1921 in the old Cadieux building on St. Clair to bring together for the first time students from all the Pointes. The school has grown steadily, basking in the exuberance of the '20s, enduring the Depression, surviving the chaos of World War II and riding the crest of the post-war boom, since 24 seniors graduated in 1925.

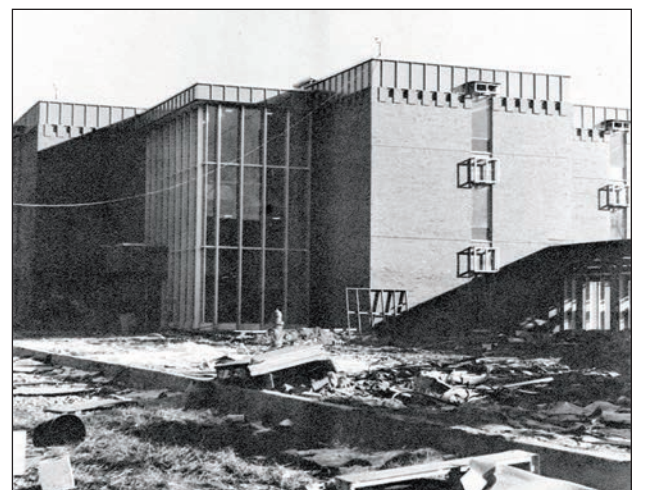

Growth has not always been easy. The present building, opened in 1928, was built on an old marsh which hid Indian relics. The quicksand almost swallowed a steamshovel. W.L. Walling, superintendent of schools in 1928, looked forward to the day when the community would be big enough to fill the corridors of the new school. His view of uncrowded classrooms in a single school serving all the Grosse Pointes proved short sighted.

Crowded conditions necessitated the construction in 1942 of the Industrial Arts building, which had a third floor added in 1961.

Country Day School became the Annex in 1954, the same year the Quonset Hut became the home for driver education. Cramped recreation facilities required the construction of the Gymnasium in 1955, and in 1964 the library moved from Cleminson Hall to the Wicking building. As enrollment passed 3,000 this year, the concept of a single high school serving all the Pointes became a thing of the past.

Summer campers host lemonade stand for charity

By Jody McVeigh
Editor

Students at St. Paul Catholic School are always finding new ways to give back. They realize how blessed they are and want to share their blessings with others.

It's no surprise the school's summer camp — taught by kindergarten teacher Toni Landa and Young 5's and half-day kindergarten teacher Amy Peterson — decided to host a lemonade stand to raise money to support the fight against childhood cancer.

"The students here at St. Paul are so intent on giving back," Landa said. "They always want to do something to help others. I thought this would be a great opportunity for them."

The lemonade and bake sale took place Wednesday, July 25, in front of the school on the boulevard. There was no set cost for products; students asked only for donations per purchase.

Proceeds benefit Alex's Lemonade Stand Foundation, a national childhood cancer foundation dedicated to raising funds for research into new treatments and cures for all children battling cancer.

"We do things throughout the school year, like dress-down day," Landa said. "It costs $1 to dress down. That money goes to an organization. We do a lot of trying to give back to the community. This is just a different time of the school year; we're trying to keep it going."

Campers, ages 5 and 6, helped make lemonade, as well as baked items for the sale. It's a normal part of camp curriculum, Landa said. The three-week camp meets Tuesday through Thursday and involves a variety of hands-on activities — making snacks, slime and crafts, as well as doing math or letter recognition activities.

"The kids are excited," Landa said. "They like to do a lemonade stand. They're excited just to do anything."

Landa said she hopes to host the lemonade stand again next year, but for those who missed out on this year's event, there's a way to donate online.

REUNION:

won junior year was because the seniors burned down their float the night before the parade.
Undaunted, the juniors towed the hulk of their float in the parade with a banner across the front that read, "You can't sink the class of '68" — and won first place.

Other memories revolved around popular hot spots, dances, local bands, favorite teachers, former classmates, sports and music programs, including an orchestra and marching band, and the Detroit Tigers World Series win.
Organizers look forward to sharing more memories with classmates — or anyone else who wants to join in the fun — Friday, Sept. 11, to Sunday, Sept. 13. Events include a meet and greet at Atwater in the Park Friday, tour of Grosse Pointe South High School Saturday morning, party at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club Saturday evening and family picnic at Windmill Pointe Park Sunday.

Attendees who haven't been back to Detroit in a while are encouraged to head downtown to explore some of the latest developments in the city's resurgence.

"We're all 68, we graduated in '68, and the tickets are $68," said Champion.

"This is kind of like the last hurrah," said Steinger.

WEDDINGS

Mathew and Victoria Stinson

Stinson-Jennings

Mathew Arthur Stinson and Victoria Tholl Jennings were married Saturday, May 12, 2018, at Veritas Vineyard and Winery in Charlottesville, Va. David Fialkov, the groom's cousin, officiated the service, followed by a reception at the winery.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. Bill and Anne Jennings of Grosse Pointe Woods. The groom is the son of Arlene Stinson of Philadelphia and Arthur Stinson of Roosevelt, N.J.

The bride wore a natural waist, A-line Ramona Jacobs-designed sheath of blush satin with an illusion back, fully overlaid with handmade soft lace, accented with pearls and sequins. She carried a hand-tied spring garden bouquet with roses, antique hydrangeas and white tulips, accented with thistle and eucalyptus.

Serving as maid of honor was the bride's sister, Kelly Jennings. Bridesmaids were Lizzy Rewalt Masotta, Katie Wood and Kathleen Gannon, all friends of the bride, and the groom's sisters, Hannah Stinson and Liz Stinson.

The bride's attendants wore full-length dusty blue gowns with blue-metallic lace overlaid bodices of varying necklines.

Flower girls were Lilah Fialkov, the groom's cousin's daughter, and Nora Ezzyat, the groom's niece. The ringbearer was the groom's nephew, Sami Ezzyat.

Coale Mechlin, the groom's friend, served as best man. Groomsman were the groom's friends, Alex Pagan, Shaun Schachner, Colin Hartwig, Greg McDonough and Ryan Paradis.

The bride graduated from the University of Michigan with a dual degree in political science and international studies. She is a vice president at Mercury Public Affairs.

The groom earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in economics from Wesleyan University. He is a regional director for Blackboard.

The couple honeymooned in Greece and live in Washington, D.C.

Willett-Cannon

James Gordon Willett and Elizabeth Charlotte Cannon were married Saturday, June 30, 2018, at St. Catherine of Siena Chapel in Allenspark, Colo., with the Rev. Ed Ruane officiating. A reception at The Pavilion at the Stanley in Estes Park, Colo., followed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Charles and Margaret Cannon of South Fulton, Tenn. The groom is the son of Gordon and Ann Willett of Grosse Pointe Farms.

The bride wore Nashville designer Olia Zavozina's Camille ball gown made of French lace with a custom bolero. She wore a cathedral-length veil with blusher and carried a hand-tied bouquet with neutral trailing ribbon wrap with eucalyptus, olive branch, hanging amaranthus, clematis, anemone, thistle, spray rose, rose, lisianthus and hellebores.

Serving as maid of honor was the bride's college friend, Robin Parker. Bridesmaids were the bride's sisters, Renee Parker and Claire Wolcott and groom's sister, Lindsay Needle.

The bride's attendants wore floor-length dresses of various shades of purple. They carried bouquets of eucalyptus, clematis, thistle, rose and lisianthus tied with trail-

James and Elizabeth Willett

ing purple ribbon

The groom's niece, Mallory Needle, was flower girl.

Ricky Joshi, the groom's college friend, was best man. The bride's nephew, Charlie Wolcott, was ringbearer.

The bride earned a Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Mississippi and a Doctor of Pharmacy degree from the university's School of Pharmacy. She is a clinical pharmacy specialist in palliative care with Kaiser Permanente Colorado.

The groom earned a bachelor's degree from Dartmouth College and a medical degree and master's degree in bioethics from the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine. He is a palliative care physician with Colorado Permanente Medical Group and the medical director of Kaiser Permanente Colorado ethics.

The couple honeymooned in Saint Kitts and Nevis and live in Denver.

Caregiver College classes offered

Caregiver College is a series of six classes focused on helping caregivers manage the care of a loved one. The program started Tuesday, July 24, and runs until Tuesday, Aug. 28. Classes take place 1 to 3 p.m. at American House, 161 Kercheval, Grosse Pointe Farms.

The goal of the program is to prevent caregiver burnout and depression, avoid hospital readmissions and improve quality of life for patient and caregiver.

"We know with 40 million unpaid family caregivers in the U.S., there is a need for support," said Shawn Bennis, family caregiver coordinator for Henry Ford Health System. "Caregiver College is meant to provide that support, to help avoid burnout, to give guidance on topics that are part of everyday life for caregivers and their loved ones."

The schedule includes:

- ◆ Building Cooperative Relationships — July 31. Productive, cooperative relationships can make all the difference for the patient and those providing care. Learn how to work with the patient's professional care and family caregiving teams, as well as the patient. Gain perspective on helpful or unhelpful characteristics and behaviors.

- ◆ Preventing and Solving Problems — Aug. 7. Caregivers face many of the same problems. Learn how to solve them using a five-step model and explore strategies that can prevent problems from developing.

- ◆ Using Local Resources — Aug. 14. Caregivers often do everything themselves, but it's important to have support. Learn about local resources, how to access them and how to navigate the system.

- ◆ Safety First — Aug. 21. Hear from medical professionals who can answer specific questions participants may have about safety issues they experience with loved ones. Topics include fall prevention, medication safety and advance care planning.

- ◆ Building Resilience — Aug. 28. Caregivers need to be able to bounce back from disappointment, stress, bad news and the blues. Discover how to prepare for and respond to traumatic events and find meaning and purpose in caregiving.

Respite care is available for all class sessions. Register for respite care by calling (313) 874-4838 at least one week in advance of class start date.

Cost is $5 per class. Topics include locating local resources, developing problem-solving techniques, improving home safety and creating self-resilience. For more information, visit henryford.com/caregivercollege or call (313) 874-4838.

She was born March 8, 1964, in Royal Oak, to Richard and Joanne Courtney. She grew up in Ann Arbor, graduating from Huron High School in 1982 and Miami University in 1986.

Kris was predeceased by her father, Richard. She is survived by her children, Mitchell and Paige Evers; mother, Joanne Courtney; sister, Pam Montgomery (Bob); former husband, Ronald Evers, all of Grosse Pointe Farms; nephews, Rob Montgomery of Los Angeles and Austin Montgomery of New York City; aunt and uncle, Marcia and David Courtney of Naples, Fla., and five cousins.

Kris will be missed deeply by all who loved her. A service is not planned at this time.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to a tribute fund in her name for the American Diabetes Association at main.diabetes.org/goto/kristenevers.

Condolences may be shared at cremation michigan.com.

Anthony Kalogeridis

Anthony Kalogeridis passed away suddenly Wednesday, July 18, 2018.

A longtime resident of Grosse Pointe Park, Anthony and his wife, Carla, moved to St. Clair, in 2017. He was known for his generous spirit, warm smile and joy-filled approach to everything he did.

Anthony was born July 27, 1963, in Ioannina, Greece. At age 18, he left Greece to attend the University of Reading in Reading, England, where he met Carla, who was attending the same university on a year abroad.

Their inspiring love story spanned the next 34 years and included a life of great happiness, mutual admiration and obvious affection.

Anthony and Carla built a successful publishing business and worked side-by-side 28 years, but their highest sense of accomplishment and joy came from their children, Weston and Angelica.

Anthony was an active member of the Grosse Pointe Sunrise Rotary and recently completed a term as president and received the Paul Harris Award. He loved planning Rotary fundraising activities, volunteering in the St. Charles Church soup kitchen and awarding Rotary scholarships.

Anthony also was a longtime member of the Detroit Athletic Club, where he was active in bowling and squash leagues and professional activities. Anthony considered his fellow Rotarians and DAC members to be among his closest friends.

Left to honor Anthony and remember his love are his wife, Carla, and his children, Weston and Angelica; mother, Gita Kalogeridis; sister, Iliia Prokopaki (Iraklis) and nephew, Achilleas; Carla's parents, Tom and Betty Lou Detscher, who considered him their son;

Carla's siblings, Melissa McAfee (Tom), Chuck Detscher and Greg Detscher, and their children; and numerous nieces, nephews, cousins, aunts and uncles in the United States and Greece.

Anthony was predeceased by his beloved father, Achilleas Kalogeridis.

A private family service will be held in Greece, followed by a Celebration of Life in late August. Details will be posted on Facebook, or contact Carla for additional information.

Sara Malcomson Ralph

Longtime City of Grosse Pointe resident Sara Malcomson Ralph, 91, died Wednesday, July 18, 2018, with her children by her side. Sara's death followed a recent battle with internal illness.

Sara was born in late 1926, at Harper Hospital Detroit, to George and Constance Malcomson. She happily lived most of her life in the Detroit area, where she has been a resident of Grosse Pointe since 1963. Sara was a devoted wife, loving mother and dedicated homemaker. Sara also was a caring neighbor.

Sara was a proud graduate of Grosse Pointe High School's Class of 1945. Accordingly, Sara faithfully helped organize the class's periodic reunions. She appreciated her classmates and enjoyed their friendships over the years.

Sara was a supporter of Grosse Pointe Theatre, a longtime member of Christ Church Grosse Pointe and a participating member of the Grosse Pointe Historical Society. For many years, she also enjoyed and participated in gatherings at Indian Village Tennis Club.

Sara was married twice; to Nathan VanOsdol and Richard

Robert Allen Estabrook

Kristen Courtney Evers

Anthony Kalogeridis

Sara Malcomson Ralph

Philip Michael Steffes

Ted J. Centers

Ralph. Both men were graduates of Grosse Pointe High School.

Sara is survived by her daughters, Natalie VanOsdol (the late Mark Etra), Julie Lynch (Denny) and Amy VanOsdol; sons, Scott and Todd; grandchildren, Alicia Moore (Chuck), Leah Griffith (John), Jordan Etra (Danielle Mainas), Sara Kroll (Kris), Megan Abbamonte (Brett), Derek Ralph (Ivette), Max Schultz, Chris Ralph (fiancé Alex Breaux), Noah Ralph and Pilar Ralph and great-grandchildren, Audrey Moore (fiancé James Winiarski), Matthew Moore, James, Liam, Aiden and John Jr. Griffith, Ellie Abbamonte and Alexandra Kroll.

Sara also is survived by her brother, George Malcomson and sister, Connie Deardorff.

Sara was predeceased by her husband, Richard Ralph; daughter, Kathy Schultz; son, Richard Ralph; sister, Jane Stroh and former husband, Nathan VanOsdol.

The family plans to celebrate Sara's life this autumn. An important part of this celebration will be a memorial observance at Christ Church on a date yet to be determined.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made in Sara's memory to National Multiple Sclerosis Society

Michigan Chapter at nationalmssociety.org/Chapters/MIG; Special Olympics Michigan at somi.org; or Lighthouse Food Bank at lighthouse-foodbank.org.

Philip Michael Steffes

Former longtime Grosse Pointe Farms resident Philip Michael Steffes, 81, passed away Wednesday, June 13, 2018. He lived in Lexington Heights.

Born in Detroit to Dr. Everette and Mary Steffes, Philip graduated from Lawrence Technological University with an engineering degree. He worked at Holly Carburetor and retired from Chrysler Corp. after 30 years of service.

He was a volunteer with the Grosse Pointe Farms police and marine safety officer and instructor with the Macomb County Sheriff. He was a former member of Christ Church Grosse Pointe and a member of Trinity Episcopal Church in Lexington.

Philip was an avid golfer and target shooter. Most of all, he enjoyed spending time with family and friends.

Philip is survived by his wife, Krystal; daughters, Susan and Krystin; sons, John, Tim and Terry; 10 grandchildren and one great-grandchild. He also is survived by his sister, Marilyn and brothers, Bill and Michael.

Visitation is 9 to 11 a.m. Friday, Aug. 10, at Trinity Episcopal Church, 5646 Main Street, Lexington. A memorial service immediately follows the visitation.

Donations may be made to the American Heart Association at heart.org or Trinity Episcopal Church, 5646 Main Street, Lexington, MI 48450.

Ted J. Centers

Lifelong Grosse Pointe Park resident Ted J. Centers passed away unexpectedly Tuesday, July 17, 2018. He was 51.

Born Aug. 20, 1966, to Robert and Margaret Centers, Ted was a 1984 graduate of Grosse Pointe South High School. He was fiercely dedicated and loyal to his family and friends. His sense of humor and contagious laughter will be sorely missed.

Ted is survived by his sisters, Kathy Machowicz (Mark) and Deanna Koch (Gary) and nieces, Diana Bankowski (Craig) and Elizabeth Koch.

He was predeceased by his parents.

A private memorial is planned.

Health Pointes: Be a part of the process

By Healthy Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods
Guest Writer

Healthy Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods invites you to be part of a series of community meetings to learn more about an exciting new initiative. While we know the Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods are a great place to live, work and raise a family, we also aspire to improve the health and well being of our families, neighbors and community to become recognized as cities in which every resident has the opportunity to live a long, healthy and active life.

During these meetings we will share the recent Community Health Needs Assessment priority health needs that will be addressed over the next several years. While Wayne County health outcomes have lagged substantially behind Michigan and most of the nation, there are actions we can take immediately to impact health in our local community. We know our health is linked to education, employment, economic opportunity, housing, the environment and more. These interrelated issues require interrelated solutions. Beaumont Healthy Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods will work with all systems that impact community health — health care, schools, human services, business, economic development, transportation and land use.

Please join us to learn more about the vision for Beaumont Healthy Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods and share your ideas on what programs and services play a role in creating a healthier place to live, learn, work and play.

Making plans

St. John Fontbonne Auxiliary's 2018 White Christmas Ball Committee recently held its kickoff meeting at Jennie Silva's home in Grosse Pointe Farms. Pictured with committee members is Grosse Pointe Shores resident Gail Kachadourian Howe, seated at right, this year's chairwoman. Honorary chairmen, not pictured, are Drs. Raymond Bauer, Paul Cullis and Bill Ventimiglia. Proceeds from this year's ball will fund the construction of a patient family day lounge for the hospital's new stroke unit, set to open this year.

ASK THE EXPERTS By Asha Shajahan M.D., MHSA

Creativity can boost health, counter depression

Q: Is engaging in creativity and art a good treatment for anxiety and depression?

A: Participating in creative art can reduce anxiety, depression, pain and fatigue and improve the perceived quality of life. These therapies include music, dance, movement-based expression (such as acting), visual art and creating art.

You may wonder how. These creative expressions influence the neurotransmitters of the brain — specifically norepinephrine, dopamine and serotonin. Norepinephrine awakens the brain and enhances self-esteem. Dopamine improves mood, motivation and the sense of wellness, addiction management and the attention system of the brain. Serotonin combats sadness and impulse control.

By participating in creative activities, you can naturally boost these neurotransmitters. According to a study in Psychosomatic Medicine by Michael A. Babyak from Duke University, pulse-pounding exercise two days a week for 30 minutes is a good treatment for depression. The study showed it is as effective as taking an antidepressant because it naturally boosts the immune system and the benefits last longer.

Think about enrolling in a dance class or exercise. The added benefit of music and movement can boost your neurotransmitter and exercise not only your body, but your entire brain. When you are making plans for the weekend, think about joining an art class, going to a live concert or a museum. Pick up a coloring book from a bookstore. If you used to play an instrument, consider playing again. If you never played one, maybe it's time to take those guitar lessons you have always wanted to take. It's never too late to engage in creativity and you don't have to be an artist to reap the benefits of art for your health.

If you want to learn more about creative expression and how it can help benefit your health, particularly for anxiety and depression, read "The Creativity Cure" by Dr. Carrie Barron. Also visit the Foundation for Art and Healing at artandhealing.org to learn about more ways you can naturally enhance your health.

UNIVERSITY LIGGETT SCHOOL, GROSSE POINTE SOUTH

Embracing life's next chapter

Yoshida has big year ahead

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

University Liggett School graduate Naomi Yoshida is taking a different path to college.

The 17-year-old Grosse Pointe Woods resident is taking a gap year before officially beginning her freshman year at Middlebury College in the fall of 2019.

"Middlebury offers this great chance to spend a year getting to experience life away from the college," Yoshida said. "I thought this would be a way for me to experience a life-enriching experience before I get to be a student at the school a year from now."

Yoshida still plans on walking on to the women's field hockey program, but that opportunity will wait 12 months. She will get plenty of practice in the fall when she becomes an assistant coach under Jayant Trewn at Liggett.

"I'm happy to stick with field hockey and get a chance to continue to work out until the first of the year," Yoshida said.

She will be spending several months abroad, working in France, Nepal, India and possibly Italy, before returning home in early summer.

"I'm going to use my time helping others and working with a group of peers, and I'm going to make the most of these opportunities," she said. "I'm a little nervous, as is my dad, about spending time out of the country, but overall it's going to hopefully be a fulfilling year."

"She is very determined about going abroad and learning more about the world through experience and started working and saving money early last year to make it happen," her mother, Barbara Yoshida, said.

Yoshida is a field hockey standout. She played her freshman year at Grosse Pointe North before transferring to Liggett as a sophomore.

She missed her sophomore season of field hockey due to the Michigan High School Athletic Association transfer rule, and missed her junior season with an injury.

Yoshida was back on the field and excelled during her senior season. She earned Division 2 All-State First Team honors in the Michigan High School Field Hockey Association. She helped the Knights make the state championship game, but they lost 2-1 in overtime to Grand Rapids Forest Hills.

"Naomi is a receptor learner with a desire to master newly acquired field hockey skills in order to perfect them," said Trewn. "I would describe Naomi as an individual eager to learn a skill and driven to master that skill through repeated practice and she gives back by helping other athletes learn the skill."

"On the field, hockey field, Naomi is an effective motivator. This attribute of her character is not just driven by a good nature to help the team, but, I believe it is driven by her natural ability to work well in groups and by her kind and helpful nature."

"We had a great season, and it was nice to finally play and contribute," Yoshida said. "It's too bad we lost in the championship game, but it was fun getting there. It will be nice to coach and be around the program."

She also played ice hockey for the Norsemen and Knights, but a concussion early in her junior season put her on the shelf. She suffered another shoulder injury early in her senior season, and did not play again. She has officially put ice hockey out of her mind and is focusing on her physical therapy and getting back on the field in October.

"I've had my left shoulder surgically repaired twice, and it has been a long road of physical therapy," she said. "I will be able to go full tilt in October, and I'm excited about that."

When Yoshida returns home from her trek around the world, she will get back to field hockey and working out before heading to Vermont and Middlebury College. She plans on walking on to the team.

"I'll give it a shot and see what happens," she said. "Middlebury has a good field hockey program, and I just hope I can make the team. It will not be easy."

Yoshida finished high school with a 3.9 grade point average, and plans to major in international studies at Middlebury.

She is the middle child of parents Barbara and Atsushi Yoshida.

Her brothers are Max and Luke Yoshida.

Szura set for role as student

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

Grosse Pointe South graduate Natalia Szura is ready to start the next chapter in her life, college.

The 18-year-old Grosse Pointe Park resident finished her high school athletic career by earning a spot in the Division 1 track and field state championship meet at East Kentwood in the pole vault.

Coming off an impressive performance at the state regional meet where she won a gold medal with a personal-best mark of 9 feet, 10 inches, Szura was happy to make the finals. She didn't earn a medal in the finals. Her mark is also a school record.

"I enjoyed my final year of pole vaulting, and my entire career at South," Szura said. "I learned a lot about the sport, worked on my technique, was encouraged the entire time, and had fun with it."

Szura also was on the girls cross-country team, and ran a 20:43 in a state regional meet in the fall.

She will not be a student-athlete at the University of Michigan, but said she plans on being a member of the school's running club team.

"I can make running with the club team as serious as I want," Szura said. "I'll still get in my running, but I'll be able to really focus on my studies. I'm excited to attend U-M."

Szura started running in third grade as a member of St. Clare of Montefalco's CYO program. She turned up her intensity toward running in seventh grade and began pole vaulting as a freshman at South.

"Natalia has been with me for eight seasons," South cross country and track head coach Steve Zaranek said. "How this young lady developed her skills in both cross

No. 1

The Red Wings recently won the Grosse Pointe Farms-City Little League AAA Division regular season and playoff championship this season, finishing 18-2-1 overall. The team went 14-1-1 during the regular season, and had one loss during their double elimination playoff run. The Red Wings had to beat the team they lost to earlier in the playoffs twice in a row to win the championship coming from the loser's bracket. They won 19-5 on June 23 and 10-1 June 25. Starting pitcher A.J. Zieleniewski earned the win during the first game, with relief pitcher Carson Girvan hurling the final two scoreless innings. Starting pitcher Christopher Runk won the final contest by throwing a two-hit complete game. Pictured below are, back row from left, coach Dennis MacGillis, manager Doug Zieleniewski and coach Dave Runk; middle row from left, A.J. Zieleniewski, Aidan Clarke, Lanny Eickhorst, Andrew MacGillis and Carter Adams; front row from left, Carson Girvan, Nicolas Ayala-Alonso, Christopher Runk, Christian Peabody, Isaac Snyder and Trey Grabowski; and kneeling, Sydney Eickhorst.

Local players earn All-State accolades

A handful of local baseball players earned a spot on the 2018 prestigious Dream Team. Joe Naporano joined teammate Davis Graham, as well as Grosse Pointe North's Tyler Hill, and University Liggett School's Alec Azar and Noah Miller, as members of the Dream Team. The four also made All-State First Team. South's Dan Griesbaum was named the Coach of the Year, as well as the USA Today's All-USA Michigan Baseball Team Coach of the Year after guiding the Blue Devils to a Division 1 state title with an 8-1 win over Brownstown Woodhaven in the championship game. Local players who made Division 1 All-State Second Team were South's Cam Shook and Nate Budziak and North's Chad Lorkowski and Pete Ciaravino. Naporano and Miller were also named to the All USA Michigan Baseball Second Team. —Bob St. John country and track, along with captaining both of these programs her senior year is uncanny. "Natalia ran the 5K course in 21 minutes, pole vaulted in track to a school record 9 feet, 10 inches, ran the hurdles and helped us over the years in three relays. That versatility comes only through extreme hard work. Her leadership skills developed to perfection due to her total understanding of team commitment." Szura said her focus in pole vaulting was keeping it simple, and focusing on only one thing. "I couldn't keep thinking about everything I had to when I was ready to vault," Szura said. "I made sure I was ready, and I let it rip. "I couldn't have been this successful without coach Zaranek's support and encouragement. He helped with the mental part of the sport. Every year I ran cross country I got better. I learned a lot about the sport and learned about my body and how it worked." Her time management skills were also in full use. She excelled in the classroom, too, finishing high school with a grade point average above a 4.0. She is undecided on a major, and will take her time figuring it out.

The stairlift is fitted with these essential safety systems to eliminate any possibility of an uncontrolled descent of the stairlift.
  - PADDED SEAT AND BACKREST
Ensures that Acorn stair lifts give the most comfortable ride available.
  - DIRECTIONAL PADDLE SWITCHES
Easy to operate, even by those with limited dexterity.
  - SEATBELT
Stair lifts are fitted as standard for added security.
  - FOLDING ARMS, SEAT AND FOOTREST
Slimline fold-away design allows easy access to the staircase.
  - LOCKABLE SWIVEL SEAT
Allows the user to safely enter and exit the stair lift without the need for twisting the body.
  - FAST INSTALLATION
Acorn 130 stair lifts fix quickly and easily to your staircase, so there's no mess, and no need for any repairs.
  - LOCKABLE ON/OFF SWITCH
Allows the user to prevent others from using the stair lift.
  - DIAGNOSTIC DIGITAL DISPLAY
Informs the user of the status of the stair lift.
  - SAFETY SENSORS
Five safety sensors on the footrest and carriage stop the stair lift if an obstruction is encountered.
  - REMOTE CONTROLS
2 handsets supplied, which allow the user to 'call' or 'send' the stair lift up or down the staircase.
- Installed NEW in May. Paid $4,300. Asking $1,500. Call or text John at (313) 682-7048
