Resignation Beyster Accepted

Successor Expected to Be Named at Next Meeting of Conference

A new commissioner to take the place of Henry E. Beyster, head of the public health department whose resignation was accepted Monday by the village council of Grosse Pointe Park, will be appointed next Monday night, it was revealed today.

Three men in the village were considered for the post, but Beyster's resignation came as a result of important defense work he was doing for the navy from home, and therefore he was unable to attend a meeting since the first week.

Beyster submitted his resignation to Karl B. Goddard, president of Grosse Pointe Park last week. Goddard then called a meeting of the board of commissioners, and voted to accept it.

At the regular council meeting today, Homer C. Fritsch, commissioner of public health, was named as Beyster's successor. The new commissioner will assume the duties of the public health commissioner.

Cupid's Denied Injunction

Age Merriam Says Full
Hearing Should Be Held

A request for an injunction to stop two young men from frequenting a restaurant, owner of Cupid's restaurant, was denied today by Judge Merriam after a hearing. The court ruled that the two young men, who were 17 and 18 years old, were not in violation of the law. The court also ruled that the restaurant owner had no right to sue for damages.

Congratulations

The citizens of the Grosse Pointes may well congratulate themselves that they have had the foresight and wisdom to approve the Mason school bond issue. The rapid growth of this community made imperative a quick expansion of its school facilities and the people have sensibly made provision for a step which could not long be delayed.

We may be further congratulated that this expansion will be undertaken under the direction of able and honest school authorities who can be relied upon to see to it that the funds which the taxpayers have provided will be intelligently applied.

The Unconquerable Thing

It is interesting to look at the military victories of Hitler in Europe and to have been the victor part of his conquests. Tanks and planes in sufficient numbers have had no great difficulty in overcoming smaller peoples, illy prepared. His successive overthrow of Czechoslovakia, Poland, Denmark, Norway, Holland and Belgium was in fact no outstanding military achievement. The speed with which it was accomplished merely reflected the greatly increased tempo of modern mechanized and air sailing war. His quick overthrow of France was a shock to the western world but subsequent and more accurate information of what was transpiring there tells a story of disunity and treason which is ample explanation of her tragedy.

However, for modern Genghis Khan may lead his devastating hordes, the time inevitably comes when he can go no farther. Hitler, like the Tartar conqueror of the middle ages, professes a Divine call to conquer the world. As with his barbaric progenitor any empire he creates will be as transient and ephemeral.

The Germanic thrust for world domination faces an even more certain defeat in that Hitler, unlike Alexander the Great, Genghis Khan, or even the Napoleon whom he so deeply admires, practiced their arts of blood and iron against peoples who had never lived and enjoyed the sweets of political and spiritual liberty and freedom as have those whom he has momentarily subdued.

Signs multiply that the Holland Dutch whose passion for freedom is historic are ready to live again the cry of the old bergmaster of Leyden who was ready to eat his left arm to give strength to his right but would not surrender to the bloodythirsty tyrant. The hardy Norwegians are making life miserable for the Germans and even those French who have been living under the heel of the conqueror in occupied France are keeping the country in a turmoil. Information is less frequent or accurate from Poland and Czechoslovakia but it is impossible to believe that these people who have suffered so much from German tyranny are quiescent. Thousands of these hardy people who have created the German empire are among the most vindictive fighters in the British forces.

To complete his conquests Hitler faces his most difficult task. He must conquer that unconquerable thing, that passion for freedom which we must make our decision to bear our part or acknowledge before the world that our use of these weapons in the past quarter century has been more idle mauling.

To withdraw into a shell of isolation when the very foundations upon which our social and political structure is based and the monuments to human dignity which we have constantly built for more than a century and a half are rocked and shaken throughout the world, is unworthy of the traditions and the spirit of this land. The decision must soon be made which will tell us either that the spirit which had birth at Concord bridge and preserved to the Museum Argonne still lives, or that our moral and spiritual decline has definitely set in.

Deliver The Goods

It is a rather discouraging picture which Raymond Clapper, Scripps-Howard staff writer fresh from England, paints from the receipt and of the all out aid to England. More than fifteen months after the fall of France, when the realization of the peril to ourselves and the cause of free men throughout the world hit us like a blow in the face, the "Arsenal of Democracy" has thus far furnished only a feeble trickle instead of the flood of material so loudly proclaimed.

Mr. Clapper says the English are so anxious to avoid even the appearance of criticism or disappointment that nothing is said of this subject in the British newspapers. This purpose of avoiding offenses to the Americans is so pronounced that

Grosse Exaggerations

A. FRYOR

This column this week ought to resemble a shining example of the blind leading the blind. A. Fryor is in bed with what sounded over the telephone like a "cold". She had a few ideas, but lacked the strength to translate them to a typewriter. So the whole staff has been called upon to contribute to the continuity may be found wanting, but please be charitable. The News is also in the throes of changing printers this week, and if you think that doesn't bring on the blind spots in great degree, you're just plain crazy.

Another sick eye in our machine phoned in to report she had amassed some "Jollies in Bed". She asked us please to print the note to change that to "Jollies". We include her effort:

I took the first three days of this week out for flu and copious coughing. The only thing not on the blink is my eyesight and I've read a lot of everything—daily papers, magazines and mysteries. Nothing like the latter to take you "out of this world" and that "bed of pain". It's particularly tough to be laid low in the fall when life is new—year school starts, business booms, clothes take new twists, elude recovery. It didn't take a job of selling advertising to teach me that everything begins AT 12:30 Labor Day—

My phone is a nuisance but where would I be without it? I learn that that lovely home (with swimming pool on Cleverly) goes on the market this week. My sister and the Bunde too yesterday was splendid—Martha Douglas having all the swank in the world.

Tonight I must miss a course at Grosse Pointe High school for beginners in art. After talking with Mrs. John Peay, I verbally rolled. It sounds like just the place for one who is anxious to learn ART in a class with other No-Nothings.

One friend called this A. M. to report she was having a couple of dinner tonight. If I know her at all, she started the meal at 2 p. m. and after the demi-tasse will be too exhausted to talk to her guests. Which do you prefer—a course meal with hushers on the ropes, or corned beef 'n' cabbage and an evening of fun?

Renewed Faith Dept.

Dickie Phillips just reported he had broken a window in our garage.

From a crowded corner of the office comes the information that a certain Police police chief got his middle name because he was born on February 14. Yes—IT'S VALENTINE.

A Police victor was provided with some unscheduled entertainment this week after being taken to Canada to inspect a new duck marsh being developed there. Returning home and his host had snuck into his room in Windsor. When their car was halted just outside the tunnel entrance they got out to see what was going on.

Said guest... from Cincinnati incidentally and he's still strolling for the Reds, (maybe he came here to see another World Series for all we know), became too curious and stepped over a line into a forbidden area. He was promptly clapped into the improvised hoosegow... the customs house. He spent 45 minutes there and reports not a single dull one. A sergeant was busy on the telephone, keeping a superior officer busy with a batch of prisoners and... they were all under control."

The Red rooster and his host finally got out of it all, with anti-aircraft and anti-tank guns banging like blares all around them.

articles and cables prepared by himself on the other side were effectively censored for all irritating matter... arrived on this side. Mr. Clapper proceeds to tell us some things we should know. They are far from complimentary to us and the results we have thus far attained in our most boasted help.

The fiscal parade of help to Britain is impressive but England cannot carry on by "appropriations, allocations and transfers." Tanks, bombers and food are the media by which she is to survive. These have been going on in quantities, which rationed upon their need, have been a mere dribble. The story of food deliveries is especially humiliating. "Food," as Mr. Clapper says, "doesn't have to wait until factories are built." We already had that here in vast quantities and yet up to the time Mr. Clapper wrote less than three weeks ago only 200,000 tons of lease-lend food had been delivered to Britain. This is only two and a half days' consumption in England alone. Lease lend has been in operation for six months yet in this time we have sent across only about 1 1/2% of England's annual food consumption.

The story of our contributions of fabricated material of war is no better. Although bombed, battered and bruised as few countries have ever been by war, England is producing many times the number of tanks we are. England had depended upon the help we have given her thus far she would have succumbed months ago. She has been carrying on almost solely by means of her own productive forces, and let no boasting American entertain any contrary notion. Thus far our all out aid to Britain warrants no pinning of medals on the Yankee boom.

The declared purpose of giving all possible aid to England is supported by a near unanimous sentiment as any proposal that has come before the people of this country in many years. Even the most rabid Anglo-phobe shamelessly agrees to this. Its only opponents are the more or less openly declared Nazis. President Roosevelt a year ago said our country was to be the "Arsenal of Democracy." The record up to this time is disappointing. The fulfillment of the President's promise is a question of national honor. The American people expect it to be done. Whether the failure to date is caused by strikes, monopolistic desires in industry or by red tape and inefficiency in the government service itself, the people demand that the knots be cut. Our good faith is at stake. We must deliver the goods; and the solution of this immediate problem rests squarely in Mr. Roosevelt's lap.

These Things Happen in Manhattan

A popular little restaurant was burned out shortly before dawn early this week. Not far distant from the N. Y. Daily Mirror office, Mirror newsmen and photographers were on the job promptly while the flames backed away and poured on the water. A burly fellow named Walter Marshall tried to convince the firemen and the policeman to let him through the lines. "Please," he screamed, "this is my place of business. I own it. I tell you I own it."

"Sorry, mister," he was told. "You can't get through. Too dangerous. Now step aside and let this reporter from the Mirror get by." The fellow was over an hour later and he was permitted to study the ruins. But Marshall was not the only one who was so completely forgotten. That he was a full-fledged reporter on the scene—had his reporter's card which would have permitted him to pass through the fire lines

We sat with Irving Berlin and a well-known publisher in a 52nd street restaurant. A distinguished gentleman and two pretty girls came toward our table. The man seemed slightly shy—but the young girls nudged him. Finally he cleared his throat and, looking at Irving Berlin with awe and diffidence in his manner, he said, most politely: "Would you mind, sir, meeting my two daughters?"

Derlings, this is Mr. Ted Husling."

An enterprising young gentleman named Art Franklin is becoming known as the publisher of from rags-to-riches editors. One of his top accounts, for instance, is the quartet known as the Four Ink Spots, the colored singing stars who only a few years ago were porters in the Paramount Theatre. Yesterday he came into the office pleading for a mention of the Four Ink Spots in the current program. He recently has the "Four Ink Spots" and his reporter's card which would have permitted him to pass through the fire lines

Mr. Archie Robbins, a likeable comedian currently spilling his comedies from the stage of the Roxy Theatre, some years ago wrote an essay on "The Flag and Patriotism." Young Mr. Robbins was then in junior high school and thought his essay was a precious piece of literature but the judges in the essay contest in which his masterpiece was entered awarded the prize to others. All through these years, though, Robbins has felt that his piece was not properly appreciated. At long last his reward has come.

When the new show and picture contest came into the Roxy last Friday, featured on the stage will be a series of tableaux with 35 superbly beautiful and a half dozen principals participating. The tableaux will be based on young Mr. Robbins' unregarded essay, "The Flag and Patriotism."

Aside to Geo. Jean Nathan: Saw your head drop a little several times as you dozed through that show the other night. First time, I guess, you've given the nod to a drollish play... Wendell Wilkie: Just as you are leaving that restaurant on W. 52nd street, several afternoons ago, who do you think it was passed you by coming in? Senator David L. Walsh, who is as staunch an isolationist as you are an interventionist. Neither of you knows or ever will know. John Gunther: Your book "Inside Asia" still sells well in Japan and China although the chapter on the Emperor is deleted in the Japanese and another whole chapter in the Chinese edition.

Petty Points

Months you've heard the Bond Men's outfit in the city, and how prominently a couple of Pointers figured in the match, which was the high of the program.

The various financial town complete against each other, a two-man team, with a based on the low end of the scale.

One of the best plays of the whole district... and each sent a house which cost must be two miles at the most. Their scores were 75 and 103, respectively, but the 75 is a slip of paper as large as an old stand.

Churches Plan Their Annual Rummage Sale

Old Christ Church on E. Jefferson avenue and Christ Church chapel, Grosse Pointe, will hold their annual rummage sale on Saturday, October 5, at 11 o'clock. The program for both days will be from 10 o'clock until five o'clock. Mrs. Leslie E. Allington is general chairman this year, with Mrs. Murray, Mrs. Mary Leary, Jr., Mrs. Charles A. Galano of Whit- tier avenue, is co-chairman representing Christ Church chapel. Other members of the committee include Mrs. Robert Barie, Mrs. Rufus Clark, Mrs. George West, Mrs. Henry Leary, Jr., Mrs. Donald Van Zile, Mrs. Charles Hicks and Virginia Pad- dock, Mrs. Julian Hieber, Mrs. Janney Smith, Mrs. Roscoe Hoff- man, Mrs. Ernest Davis, Mrs. H. B. Brown, Mrs. Doris Donald, and Mrs. John Seales.

Conservation Club Will Aid In Drive

Governor Van Wagener has proclaimed October 5 to 11 as Michigan Conservation Week. This is the state's first concentrated effort to draw the nation's attention to Michigan's wild life attractions. During the week the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, of which the Grosse Pointe High Conservation Club is a member, will issue and sell commemorative stamps in sheets of 24 for 25 cents. The funds will be used to advance and stimulate interest in conservation throughout the state. This year's wildlife stamps are in four colors, picturing a spotted fawn, a group of lake shippers, a trout fisherman in a stream, a male and female pheasant, a lake shore autumn scene and a winter view of the Upper Peninsula's famous Tahquamenon Falls. In addition to the stamps, which are to be used on mail, local conservation minded groups and clubs are urged to tell others about the abundance of wildlife and beauty of scenery in Michigan. The Grosse Pointe High Conservation Club will invest its share of the profit to make Michigan more attractive to the tourist, recreationist, and sportsman.

RUTH DRAPER TO OPEN TOWN HALL SEASON

Ruth Draper, creator of the new- woman theatre, will provide a glamorous opening to the Detroit Town Hall season in the Fisher Theatre Wednesday morning, Oct. 15, at 11 o'clock. She will present a program of her famous sketches since 1935 when she played the Cass Theatre for three days in a solo performance. Miss Draper returned to Broad- way last winter after a retirement of several years in a joint perfor- mance with her nephew, dancer Paul Draper. They were an un- qualified hit. "The Drapers are emphatically tops!" wrote the World Telegram. "Brought down the house!" reported the Herald Tribune. Sir Philip Gibbs will be the sec- ond speaker on the series of 20 Wednesday mornings. He flies by clipper from London to speak on Wednesday, Oct. 22, on "The Spirit of Britain." Edward Tomlinson, NBC's in- ter-American advisor, will report on South America Wednesday, Oct. 23. For the past 10 years Mr.

Tomlinson has made an annual tour of the South American re- public. This year his weekly Sat- ursday broadcasts from South America have been a feature of the Blue Network, listened to by millions. Newman Cowley, a famous young editor of The Saturday Re- view of Literature, will speak Nov. 5 on "Dynamite Between the Covers." On Nov. 12 comes Er- skine Caldwell, author of "To- bacco Road," direct from Mexico. Clare Booth, William J. Shuf- fer, Bill Culbertson, Mr. J. Borden Harriman, Kathryn Turner Gut- ten and William Lyon Phelps are other celebrities scheduled. Mem- bership information at 230 Hotel Statler, Cherry 5617.

W. A. Mann is Appointed to Research Committee

W. A. Mann, Grosse Pointe High School science teacher, has been appointed a member of a com- mittee on evaluation and applica- tion of research by Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, superintendent of Public Instruction for the State of Mich- igan. In different schools throughout the state, new teaching methods are being used. The results of these experiments will be written and submitted to the committee observations.

Alexander Macomb Chapter Has Meeting

Mrs. Jesse W. Shields enter- tained the members of the Gen- eral Alexander Macomb Chapter, United States Daughters of 1812, in her home in Kensington road, on Wednesday, October 1, at an Indian luncheon. Assisting her were Mrs. Edward A. Day, Mrs. Charles W. Holden and Mrs. Wil- iam G. Nelson. A short business meeting fol- lowed luncheon, presided over by the new president of the society, Mrs. Jacob John Lamb. For the program, featuring the American Indian, a paper was read by Jim Shields. "Distribu- tion of Mammals, Reptiles and Birds," read by Mrs. W. Sprague Holden. A paper was presented a group of American In- dian songs, accompanied by Mrs. Kenneth Landis. Members were asked to bring donations of books for the Mi- chigan Marine Library, to Mrs. Charles Monney, chairman.

SICKNESS FAILS TO DOWN WAR RELIEF BALL WORKERS

Reservations Swell For Charity Event

List of Those Taking Tables for Gala Entertainment Includes Most of Pointe's Social Leaders

In spite of the fact that a general checkup of the ball committee found most of them in bed with colds Wednesday, plans seemed to be moving along in first rate order for the British War Relief Ball to be held in the Book-Cadillac Friday night, October 17.

With the ball just a little over two weeks away, everything is practically all set. Charles Hughes, who has the floor show as his special concern, is in New York this week and it is expected that he will come home with a show to enter all shows.

Mrs. Boyer Candler, who has charge of collecting articles for the auction, reports that the collection is so very wonderful that at least for the time being, she and Mrs. Frederick Alger, the Ball Chairman, have decided to keep the list a secret.

The Kit Kat Club under the sponsorship of Mrs. J. Stewart Hudson is now practically a set. Among those who have reserved tables are Mrs. Hugh Dillon, Mrs. Alfred Glancy, Jr., Mrs. Warren Booth, Mrs. W. A. Miller, the Thomas Fiddocks, and the Merlin Cudlifs.

In the Trocadero Room where the tables have been reserved already, the James J. Phelans and the Harold Roberts will dine together as will the Joseph Schumanns and Mrs. Russell Alger, and in another group the John B. Fords, Jr. and the Frederick S. Fords.

Among others who have purchased tables are the Berrien Eatons, Dr. and Mrs. Fred T. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Keller, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Given, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Buhl, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kuntler, Mrs. Thomas Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Standish Backus, Mr. and Mrs. Wesson Seyburn and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zeder.

The Edsel Fords will be there, as will the Oscar Websters and the Wendell Andersons. Others will be Mrs. Arthur Buhl, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. John Lord Booth, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Skelton, Mr. and Mrs. Alvan Macaulay, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Marquis, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Booth, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Holm MacDonald, Mr. and Mrs. George Fink, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Buhl, Mrs. Anna Kresge, Mrs. Louis Mandelstam, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Earle, Mrs. Filer Le Gro, Mrs. Allan Sheldon, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Wood and the Albert Bradleys, with Mr. and Mrs. C. Haskell Buice.

The C. E. Wilsons will have a table and also the William Yaws and another has been reserved by Donald Van Pelt. A table has been reserved by a local concern for Sophie Gubel and her husband and party. Sophie is one of America's top-notch designers and some of her clothes will be in the fashion show that evening.

MR. AND MRS. H. JOHN CRAIN of McKinley road announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Adelle to Richard Webster Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. Allen of Detroit. The wedding will take place sometime in January.

JOSEPH PARSONS of Buckingham road was host at a steak roast on Thursday evening at his home.

Mary Ann Hughes Speaks Her Vows

Mary Ann Hughes of McMillan road, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hughes, and John Cady Lungenhausen of Grand Rapids, son of Mrs. Florence S. Lungenhausen of Detroit and John T. Lungenhausen of Mt. Clemens were married on Friday at an 8:30 o'clock service in the Grosse Pointe Memorial church, with the Rev. Frank Pitt officiating.

All vows of white chrysanthemums before a background of woodruff fern and burning tapers.

Mrs. HARRY G. LYON of Kenwood court will leave Saturday for a month at Santa Monica, Calif. and is also planning to spend about a month at Sun Valley, Idaho before returning home.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM D. STOCKARD have moved to their new home on Tole Lane in Grosse Pointe Woods.

MRS. HURVE CRESS of San Diego, Cal., is visiting Mrs. Albert Green of East Jefferson avenue for a week.

MRS. FRED W. PARKER of Evanston, Ill. spent the day here Wednesday visiting her son, Fred W. Parker, Jr., of Rivard boulevard.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Hugh Boyd Wilkinson of Marion, Ind., the bride wore a gown of ivory tulle tulle designed with a square neckline, bracelet-length sleeves edged in hollow rose point lace which was also used in the bride's halo cap holding the illusion veil in place. Her bridal bouquet was of stephanotis and gardenias.

The bride's two sisters were her bridesmaids, the late Mrs. Robert F. Fink of San Francisco, matron of honor and Jane Hughes, maid of honor, wearing gowns of geranium rose faille Wilkinson of Marion, Ind., a cousin of the bride.

Richard Crozer Smith of Ann Arbor, Albert Abraham of Seymour, Ind., and Mrs. Earle Dodd Stevenson, II, of Chicago, groomed in turquoise frocks fashioned similar to that of the bride's and they wore halos of velvet bows. Their flowers were Johanna Hill roses.

John Milton Berry was best man and seating the guests were Richard T. Lungenhausen of Blaney, Mich., Chalmers Ayers Raymond C. Hubbard, Vernon E. Schafer, Jr., all of Detroit and Thomas W. Cross and LeRoy M. Mc Clements.

The reception following the ceremony was held in the bride's home with Mrs. Lungenhausen, Richard and the bride, Mrs. Hugh Boyd Wilkinson of Marion, Ind., greeting the guests. Mrs. Lungenhausen wore a wild grape crape dress and her flowers were gardenias. Mrs. Wilkinson wore a blue bodice trimmed with a lead design at the waist and necklines. Richard and the bride wore ivory tulle frocks with an illusion veil.

Following a wedding trip through the Upper Peninsula, the couple will make their home in Grand Rapids.

Modesty is a shining light; it prepares the mind to receive knowledge, and the heart for truth.—Gaius.

Schreck-Hartwig Vows Are Spoken

Carol Helen Schreck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Schreck of Westchester road and Elmer William Hartwig, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hartwig of Detroit, spoke their nuptial vows on Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock with the Rev. R. D. Linhart officiating in Faith Lutheran church.

The bride wore a gown of bluish pink satin fashioned along princess lines with her white tulle veil secured to her head by a Juliet cap accented with orange blossoms. Her bridal bouquet was of white gladioli centered with a white orchid.

Shirley Schreck was her sister's maid of honor and the four bridesmaids were Mrs. Gerald Miller of Saginaw; Mrs. Robert Reynolds of Detroit; Mrs. William Erwin and Betty Brown, wearing gowns of blue tulle and velvet and old fashioned bouquets. They carried bouquets of yellow and gold chrysanthemums.

Dr. John G. Schreck was the best man and the ushers were William Hartwig, Jr., Gerald Miller, Floyd Clise and Stanley Warren.

Mrs. Schreck wore a heaven blue shade of gown and Mrs. Hartwig chose a pale blue shade. Both women wore white gladioli. After the reception in the Whitaker for 150 guests, the rowdies left on their wedding trip to the Smoky Mountains.

The greatest ornament of an illustrious life is modesty; its humility, which goes a great way in the character even of the most exalted princes.—Napoleon.

ENOS B. BOOKWALTER of Rivard boulevard is vacationing on a two weeks' motor trip through Texas, with his mother and father, residents of Columbus, O.

LILI CAMPAU of Balfour road will leave Monday to spend a month in the East visiting her mother, Mrs. M. Woolsey Campau, and her two sisters, Margaret Campau and Mrs. H. Werner Bernot in New York, and then spend some time with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Chaucher M. Adams, of Hamden, Conn.

More and more formerly custom-tailored men are wearing Hickey-Freeman suits...

...Most of them bought the first one (usually their first ready-to-wear suit) because they were curious... but they bought the second because they were convinced... that in a HICKEY-FREEMAN suit they are as comfortably and as flatteringly fitted as they ever were in their lives.

They enjoy a saving, too, at $65, $75, $85 of about a third of the prices they formerly paid. But most of them are less impressed by the saving than they are by the clothes themselves. We think you'd feel the same way.

John Corliss Holley To Wed Jean Husted

Jean Husted, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Chas. Husted of Evanston, Ill., is engaged to John Corliss Holley, son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Holley of Provincial road.

The bride-elect is attending Welles college and Mr. Holley is studying engineering at Cornell.

The date of the wedding and pre-nuptial plans will be announced later.

October 2.

Mrs. Elbert Williams of Dallas, Texas, National President will preside at all the sessions and outstanding speakers will include Mrs. Arthur H. Vandenberg, wife of the senior Senator from Michigan; Dr. William S. Sadler, consultant in psychology at the W. K. Kellogg Foundation; Dr. Howard V. McCluskey, assistant director of the American Youth Commission; Miss Wilmer Shields, head of the Division of Community Volunteer Service, Office of Civilian Defense; and Dr. Jay B. Nash, of New York University, Vice-President of Camp Fire Girls.

A pageant of service will highlight the Thursday afternoon program when Camp Fire's contribution to the National Red Cross will be presented to Mrs. Phelps Newberry, of Grosse Pointe, representing the National Red Cross Guild.

One of the special functions will feature the "Coming Out Party" of the Horizon Club, newly formed national organization for senior Camp Fire girls and plans are being formulated to organize such a club in Grosse Pointe.

Several Grosse Pointe girls are serving as committee chairman arranging for the National Council meetings including: Mrs. Helen C. Joseph of Grosse Pointe.

Now that the Thrift Shop Tea is over, the most important job she has is the vice-chairmanship of the British War Relief Ball, and that means being on the job every minute to do all the things the chairman thinks up for her to do.

She says that she's just a normal sort of person, going to market every morning, planning the day for her and one-half year old daughter, Polly; driving into a bit of golf or tennis, playing a little bridge or mah-jong in the afternoon, but just read the list of Boards which claim her membership and you'll quickly put her in the Who's Who of Grosse Pointe.

The Junior League where she has a very special job getting ready for war emergencies; the Neighborhood Thrift Shop as chairman of the Retail Department; and Toui Beto. Besides these, she works for Bundles for Britain especially at the sock-knitting machine, and then comes home just to check up on things and start forth on the work for the British War Relief.

She is very popular as a dinner guest, as she is an excellent conversationalist, and is vitally interested in all things. She likes to dance, but admits that after all, the outdoor sports are her pleasure pastime. Last year, she and her husband did their first bit of skiing, so now, they hope to spend many week-ends at Vanderbilt. Their summers are spent at East Hampton and their attractive home in the Pointe is on the corner of Moran road and Grosse Pointe boulevard.

Her friends call her Mary.

art T. Hanson, transportation; Mrs. R. L. Colton, social event committee which has arranged for a visit to Greenfield Village on Wednesday afternoon with a tea following at Dearborn Inn; Miss Irene Hickey, banquet committee for the affair being held Friday night at the Hotel Statler; and Mrs. Louis Charbonneau, hospitality committee for guests.

Local women who are working on committees are: Mrs. D. H. Corey and Mrs. H. B. Gardner on the hostess committee; Mrs. Norman E. Miller, publicity; Mrs. John Holstein and Mrs. Harold A. Korff, banquet; Mrs. Charles Bradford, Mrs. G. G. Reid, and Mrs. Orla Free, information desk and Mrs. Leo J. Kiersey, social event committee.

Miss Pauline Masak, guardian of the Waukegan group of the Neighborhood Club will represent that group.

Thrift Shop Bundle Tea Great Success

Grosse Pointe's Neighborhood club was jammed Tuesday afternoon as women came from all over Detroit area for the annual Bundle tea and fashion show sponsored by the Thrift Shop.

Young matrons and debutantes modeled the striking trends, fashionable afternoon dress and glamorous evening and dinner gowns.

Modesty seldom resides in a breast that is not enriched with noble virtues—Gouldsmith.

Women members of Grosse Pointe's IADOM club have formed a knitting circle with Miss Betty La Charneck named as chairman of the group.

The women will knit garments for Bundles for Britain and all women are welcome to attend meetings. Members can obtain wool from Niles LaCharneck at 17021 Kercheval avenue.

Bette Picks Funny Locale For Comedy

Bette Davis is a funny girl. And she takes it seriously. For her first real fun-making on the screen, a Warner Bros. picture called "The Bride Came C.O.D." and opening Friday at the Shores Theatre, she traveled to the unfunniest place in the world, to the loath, rough sand dunes of Death Valley. Death Valley's history is as tragic as the notable screen plays that made Bette Davis the first lady of Hollywood.

Spaniards were among the first white persons to explore the vast, death-dealing valley. They perished by the hundreds, dying of thirst and heat, in their search for BETTE DAVIS was supposed to find in soft sand when she took a parachute leap. Instead she plopped straight into a cactus patch while making "The Bride Came C.O.D.", which comes to the Cinderella theatre Friday for a week.

The Normans came later, seeking precious metals. Their bones now mingle with lime deposits.

Not until Death Valley Scotty, a man of fabulous imagination, apparently impervious to 130 degrees of heat, made the Valley his home and publicity headquarters almost half a century ago, did tourists venture in.

Seven or eight die every summer in spite of rigid precautions by the Federal officers.

This is where Bette Davis came to make her comedy with James Cagney.

As an eloping bride in the picture and a bride in real life of only two weeks, Bette honeymooned comically in Death Valley with a Warner Bros. company of 150 technicians and players.

In her first scene, she leaped out of an airplane and landed in a cactus patch. As a matter of fact, she was supposed to land

Pistol Expert Gives Laurels To Old-Timers

Coached Robert Taylor in Making of "Billy the Kid," Coming to Esquire

The crack pistol shot of today could shoot rings around the old-time gunman from long range, but anywhere within twenty-five yards he'd never have a chance. That's the expert opinion of Carl Hunt, Western entertainer and rodeo performer noted for his trick shooting, riding and rope work, who coached Robert Taylor in gun handling for his title role in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Billy the Kid." The Technicolor picture opens Friday at the Esquire Theatre for an engagement of four days.

The life-and-death factor was very important in the days when outlaws were riding the Southwestern range. In those days the gunman had more incentive for perfect firing and less reluctance to shoot point-blank at another human.

With Priscilla Lane and Jeffrey Lynn, the sweethearts of "Four Daughters" fame, and Ronald Reagan heading the cast, "Million Dollar Baby," a delightful new comedy romance, begins a local run on Tuesday at the Esquire Theatre.

Besides Miss Lane, Lynn and Reagan, the cast includes May Robson, Lee Patrick, Helen Westley, George Barbier, Nan May, John Qualen, Walter Catlett and Fay Helm.

Course in Blue Print Reading May Be Added

A number of inquiries which have been received by the department of adult education in the Pointe, have led Forrest Geary, director of the department, to announce that a course in blue print reading will be added to the curriculum of a sufficient number of persons are interested.

Those who would like to enroll in the course here are urged to contact Mr. Geary at Niagara 2000.

PARKING CAMPAIGN

Grosse Pointe City police this week are conducting a campaign against illegal parking in the Kercheval avenue business district.

Officers on duty have been instructed to give tickets to all motorists who park their cars over the parking guide parking lines.

Illegal parking in the parking spaces results in three parallel parking lanes being used by one automobile.

Alger. And although they are giving the best performances of their life as actors both fear they will be remembered as fighters.

There are 47 fights in the picture and Robinson and Garfield participate in all but seven of them.

Highlighting national defense activities and the ever-present threat of sabotage on the high seas, the exciting 12-chapter serial, "Sea Raiders," starts Saturday at the Esquire Theatre.

The "Raider Stripes" will be shown.

Also, included in the program at the Esquire for Saturday will be an hour of all color cartoons along with the two feature pictures "One Night in Lisbon" and "The Sea Wolf."

VERNIER SCHOOL

Pupils of the fourth grade have cut a supply of wood for our fireplace from a big maple tree which was blown down near our school building by last week's storm.

Punch Fans To See Two Top Artists

Those topnotch performers, Clark Gable and Rosalind Russell, are co-starring in "They Met in Bombay," which comes to the Punch and Judy Theatre this Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Gable is in two-fisted story in a vital story which gives ample rein to his characteristic talents, while Miss Russell is wholly captivating as a smartly dressed adventuress whose brittle exterior yields to sentimental adoration when she discovers that Gable is more than the match. This is keenly devoted to present both stars in roles and surroundings unlike anything heretofore employed.

Contributing skillful performances are Peter Lorre, Jessie Ralph and Edward Ginnelli.

"Trilling romance and poignant drama sweep through the intensely emotional story which is unfolded in Richard A. Rowland's "Cheers For Miss Bishop," the stirring film drama which comes to the Punch and Judy Theatre this Monday through Thursday.

The film is a tribute to the brilliant directorial talents of Tay Garnett, and the splendid production, and the splendid acting of a top-notch cast headed by "Cheers For Miss Bishop" wins high praise for the brilliance of its production. The story moves along at a smart pace, with excellent photography, lighting and dialogue enriching its gripping tale from the first shot to the final fadeout.

Peter Higgins Starts Second Week at Club

Royale Retains Popular
Tenor With Varied Repertoire

Always a favorite of Club visitors, Peter Higgins starts his second week of the present engagement this Friday. Higgins is a tenor, and his program is varied, including old-times, semi-classic, and the songs of the day. His appeal has always been the richness and power of his voice, plus his own very charm.

Bride Peter Higgins, Club Royale presents Chalk and Lee, two musician-comedians, whose work on harmonicas and guitar is real music, and whose satirical treatment of radio is worth deep laughter from all who have witnessed the weakness of the great American one-fingered instrument. Burlesque dancers Park and Clifford start first in a red-light eye pinettes music which is arranged with a white orchid and a shower of white satin ribbon and swarovski.

Marion Holmer of Loralain was the maid of honor wearing a turquoise blue fall gown designed along similar lines to that of the bride's. She wore a triangle cluster of American Beauty roses in her hair and carried American Beauty roses and larkspur.

Barbara Ketterer and Mrs. William D. Munro, Jr., sisters of the groom, were the bridesmaids wearing gowns identical to the maid of honor. The junior bridesmaid, Mary Lou Sattelle of McKeesport, Pa., wore a gown of dusty rose faille.

William D. Munro, Jr., was best man for his brother-in-law and the ushers were Irving Shilabe and Robert McElvaine of Loralain and Edgar Seegerlund and Stuart W. Reed of Grosse Pointe.

Mrs. Murray chose a gown of Wedgewood blue crepe accented by a corsage of rubrum lilies and Mrs. Ketterer was gownied in blackground and a corsage of rubrum lilies also marked her shoulder.

The young couple left on a motor trip through the South following a reception in the church house and upon their return they will live in Loralain.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Kraft of Canton, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Sattelle and Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Sattelle of McKeesport, Pa., Mrs. Edgar Seegerlund, Mrs. Stuart Reed, Mrs. C. Ketterer, Mr. and Mrs. Ormsley P. Eyre, Mr. and Mrs. H. Seegerlund and J. L. Sperry, Mrs. M. Christianson and C. C. Simonsen, all of Grosse Pointe.

This orchestra plays a nice variety of types of music, ranging from lilting Viennese waltzes to the well-beaten rhythms of Latin music. Tunes of today, and the hits of years back, present an interesting pattern for dinner and supper dancing.

D. A. C. To Conduct Another Land Cruise

Another popular land cruise to the Greenbrier at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., has been scheduled by the Detroit Athletic Club. Leaving Thursday, October 3, the special train arrives at the mountain resort early Friday morning. Among those having already made their reservations are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Trex, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Lamy, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Berry, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. McHenry and Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Zimmerman.

APPEARS IN PLAY

Miss Helen Marie Rauen, daughter of Carl F. Rauen of Whittier boulevard appeared in the production, "Masque of the Holy Cross," given at Saint Mary's college, Notre Dame, in connection with the final three-day ceremonies of the Centennial celebration of the founding of the Congregation of the Sisters of the Holy Cross.

Betty Alexander of Manor road, president of the Association of Women Students at Wayne University, has announced that the freshmen co-eds are being given equal responsibility with upper class women in planning campus projects for the first time this year.

Edward Ketterer Married in Ohio

Janice Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Murray of Loralain, O., spoke her marriage vows on Tuesday evening, September 30, in the First Congregational church of Loralain, to Edward F. Ketterer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Ketterer of Lincoln road.

The Rev. Herbert Loomis officiated at the ceremony. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of starling blue satin fashioned with a fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline with the extended train laid in soft folds from the waistline. A Mary Queen of Scott's cap held her finger tip veil in place and she carried a white prayer book arranged with a white orchid and a shower of white satin ribbon and swarovski.

Marion Holmer of Loralain was the maid of honor wearing a turquoise blue fall gown designed along similar lines to that of the bride's. She wore a triangle cluster of American Beauty roses in her hair and carried American Beauty roses and larkspur.

Barbara Ketterer and Mrs. William D. Munro, Jr., sisters of the groom, were the bridesmaids wearing gowns identical to the maid of honor. The junior bridesmaid, Mary Lou Sattelle of McKeesport, Pa., wore a gown of dusty rose faille.

Simonsen, all of Grosse Pointe.

Pointers On Hand At Grave Marking

Grosse Pointe was well represented when the Michigan Society of the U. S. Daughters of the 1812 unveiled an official marker on the grave of Caroline Bechora Portman (Mrs. James M. Campbell) in the Marshall cemetery in Marshall, Mich. Tuesday afternoon.

The late Mrs. Campbell, a native of Marshall, was active most of her life in the society and in other patriotic organizations. Her activities in behalf of historical research covered a period of 40 years. She bequeathed many valuable manuscripts to the library of the University of Michigan.

Among those attending from here were Mrs. Lloyd DeWitt Smith, an honorary state president of the society; Mrs. Sidney C. Probert and Mrs. Edward J. Savage.

"Sarah Is So Sensible"

CHAPTER FIVE

"Why, Jimmie," Mary had said the same evening. "Where on earth have you been keeping yourself? You haven't phoned me or come around since the night I told you I had a job. Don't you like working girls?"

She had tried to be light about it, but underneath was a very real hurt. She had thought Jimmie was a real friend and now she discovered he wasn't. She wondered if he was perhaps jealous of the fact that her job was a better one than his. That didn't seem like Jimmie.

"Hello, Mary," answered Jimmie. "I've just been busy, that's all."

He hadn't even asked her to dance. He hadn't even spoken of her new dress. He had always been so quick to comment before. Mary had thought he would say, "Gorgeous. Been star riding again, haven't you?"

Well, he could just be as busy as he was. Mary had said to herself, "He danced with the other boys, taking care to be especially nice to me. He must have brought her to the party. It was the very last dance that she found herself left alone at the table with Jimmie. He brought his drink and came to sit beside her."

"Thank him," said Jimmie. "They both looked at their glances. This is Jimmie—though Mary thought it was Jimmie and not Jimmie. He didn't know what to say to each other. Why we have always been such good friends. He and Greg, and I. Her natural honesty came to her rescue and she looked frankly at him."

"I don't know myself, Mary," she said. "I don't know myself, Mary."

"I don't like any girl messing around in things like business and politics. Maybe you'll think I'm a back number—I probably am. But that's the way I feel."

Mary was a little angry. "Listen to me, Jimmie. You are not only a back number, you are small enough to be jealous of the fact I got a better job than you did. I never dreamed you'd be such a pro-f fool as that."

"Thank you," said Jimmie. "Now that I know what you think of me, I will say good-night."

He just walked off and left her there alone at the table, but, fortunately, the dance stopped and the others came back to her right away, never noticing that Jimmie had gone.

Mary smiled all through the rest of the evening.

George Robinsons Hosts at Cocktail Party in Home

Mr. and Mrs. George Robinson of Washington road were hosts at a cocktail party on Friday evening in their home. Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Rex Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shipman, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Sorenson, and Mrs. Sigurd Becker, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stuart, Mrs. Russell Kewer, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Hall, Mr. Joseph Parsons, Edward Stark, Mr. and Mrs. John Twarda, Mr. and Mrs. Boone Gross, Mrs. Alfred Glancy, Jr.

of the evening, but when she got home and Dad asked her if she had a good time, she had just looked at him and then to put and her own consternation had burst into tears. Dad was sweet. He didn't say anything, just got up and limped over to her and patted her shoulder and when she ran off to her room, he didn't try to follow her. Neither did Mom. Somehow they both seemed to understand that she wanted to be left alone. Dear Dad—dear Mom—dear Jimmie anyway—thought Mary as she finally cried herself to sleep.

Mentime Sonia had found a room—a tiny hall bedroom in a bleak, musty house way downtown. Now the trouble was that Sonia couldn't find a job. Day after day she followed the advertisements in the papers—only to be turned away. Her little store of money was dwindling fast—she was tired and discouraged after a month of walking the streets. One night, as she sat on the side of the bed counting her money, the worried thought of living was "with while. Death seemed so much easier than this struggle to live. She had forty dollars left. She began to despair, began to count and save her tiny hoard in every possible way. The rest for work seemed so hopeless.

At last one of the agencies told her—"Try for domestic work. There isn't a thing in it for you, or modeling now—but people DO want domestic help. Besides it will give you board and room, too. You can save more."

It sounded sensible so Sonia and the next day she applied for work at a domestic employment agency.

"Are you experienced?"
"No," said Sonia honestly. "I have never worked at housework. I have been a model and saleswoman in department stores."
"You will find experience counts just as much in housework as in a business position," said the manager. "There is very little to call for green girls unless, of course, you are willing to start for very little and willing to do anything and everything you are asked to do."
"What do you call very little?" asked Sonia.
"Five dollars a week," answered

LOCAL FOOTBALL TEAMS SUFFER MORE DEFEATS

Grosse Pointe High Gridders Go Down to One of Worst Defeats in History of School

For the second successive week in a row, none of Grosse Pointe's three high schools scored football victories last weekend.

The Blue Devils of Grosse Pointe High School suffered one of the worst defeats in their history Saturday by going down to a powerful River Rouge High School team 47 to 0.

Lacking any sort of an offensive attack, the Pointers were pummeled under and scored upon almost at will by the fast and heavy down river team.

Olin Evans, right half of the Rouge, and without question one of the best backfield men in the state, was the ace threat against the Pointers.

Bob Heller, another Rouge back, scored twice. Randolph Evans and Ed Lyons also crossed the goal line for River Rouge.

It was the second game of the season for the Pointers and the second in which they have failed to score. At no time Saturday did the Blue Devils threaten too much.

St. Ambrose Losses
St. Ambrose of Grosse Pointe lost its first game of the season Sunday to St. Catherine's in what might be called a minor upset.

In a high wind and rain, the local lads went down to a 12 to 0 defeat. It was Dick Tuschak, playing his first football game, who scored both of St. Catherine's touchdowns.

Young Frank Hank ran 21 yards in the first period to score and later sprinted around for 35 yards to mark up the margin of victory.

Tragedy came early in the first period to the local team when 16-year-old Earl Greishamer, who was a broken leg when he was blocked out of a play by three St. Catherine's players.

Greishamer was taken to the Grosse Pointe Cottage hospital by Grosse Pointe Farm police where his condition Monday was reported satisfactory.

STUDENTS GET SCHOLARSHIPS

Scholarship Excellence Helps 11 High School Graduates Continue Education

By virtue of the excellence of their high school records 11 students from the June '42 and January '41 classes of Grosse Pointe High School have entered college this fall assisted financially by scholarships.

Adolph Neme, June '41, who won Mothers' Club and Veterans of Foreign Wars scholarships, was also awarded one by the college which he is entering this fall, Rutgers University in New Brunswick, New Jersey.

George Miller, June '41, and Roger MacNaughton, January '41, were awarded National Club scholarships. George is attending Wayne University and Roger the University of Michigan.

All the others have enrolled in colleges and universities by which they were awarded scholarships.

Arne Eldridge, June '41, has stated her freshman year at Michigan State.

Barbara Swain, June '41, is attending MacMurray College, Clarendon, Illinois.

Cleland Nelson, June '41; Ralph Strem, June '41; and Anita Uhl, June '41, have all opened their books at the University of Michigan.

Evelyn Rink, January '41, who won both Mothers' Club and Wayne University awards, is studying to be a laboratory technician.

Margerie Chavey, June '41, has also entered Wayne.

A Massachusetts Institute of Technology scholarship has taken Bill Kolb, January '41, to Boston for his college course.

SENIOR CLASS HAS ELECTION

Jack Cudlip Chosen to Lead His Class as President

In the 12A election held at Grosse Pointe High school the following officers were chosen to lead the senior class: Jack Cudlip, president; Joan Farnham, vice-president; Jean Farnham, secretary; and George Strub, treasurer.

Each of these officers has been in many activities in Jack's record includes Camera Club, Forum, Prom board, View Pointe staff, and various football and track squads.

Ray has been a member of the Conservation and Shop clubs, in addition to being the treasurer of the 11A class and vice-president of the 12B class.

Joan has participated in the Service, Bowling and A Aquatic club, and is secretary of the junior class.

The new treasurer, George Strub, has been active in Pointe Players and Theatricals and a member of the Stamp, Mathematics and Camera clubs. He has been on the View Pointe staff four semesters and on Prom for one semester.

He has served several semesters on the Honor Court bench. This is his second semester as treasurer of his class.

It will be the duty of these officers to handle all class affairs of the January graduating class.

The recipes for baked tuna fish and apple cake in this week's column are by Prize Winners Mrs. J. R. Ryan and Mrs. J. R. Ryan respectively.

RECIPES
Baked Tuna Fish
1 can tuna
1 cup mushrooms (chopped)
1 cup pineapples (chopped)
1 cup peaches (chopped)
4 oz. cottage cheese
2 hard boiled eggs
2 cups white sauce
2 cups noodles (boiled)

Method: Mix mushrooms, pineapples, green peppers and cheese, then add the white sauce and mix well. Now add tuna fish and mix well. Place in baking dish and sprinkle with bread crumbs. Place in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 1 hour. Garnish with hard boiled eggs.

Calif's Lin - Spanish
Take six slices of calves liver 3 inch thick, season with salt and pepper, roll in flour and fry in melted butter. When nearly done place on a platter and keep hot. Four one pint of Spanish sauce over liver and put in oven for about 5 minutes.

Spanish Sauce
Put in a sauce pan 3 oz. butter, one onion, minced and three shallots, green peppers. Simmer for 10 minutes or until soft, but not brown. Then add 1 can of sliced mushrooms to juice; can of sliced

Another Winner in Torch's Contest
This week's winner of Torch's contest is Mrs. John Girard Ryan of Meadow Lane, Grosse Pointe Farms. A letter which she wrote to the contest was selected by Mrs. Al Green's restaurant to lunch on any day of the week excepting Sunday has been forwarded.

Two free luncheons are awarded each week to the person sending in the best simple recipe, which will appear later in "Tips from Torch" in the News. Men are not excluded so you make lunch artists get busy too.

Big Race Meeting Set For Saturday

The eleventh running of the Metamora Hunt Race Meeting will be held on Saturday, October 4, over the Alger Farm Course in Oxford Township, Oakland County, five miles northeast of Oxford.

The race is sponsored by the Bloomfield Open Hunt, Grosse Pointe Hunt Club and Metamora Hunt.

There will be four flat races and three steeplechase over brush jumps up to five feet in height. Feature race is the Estelle Z. Greenan Memorial, two and one-half miles over brush, last won in 1937.

Another important steeplechase is the Frank J. Navin Memorial, two miles over brush. It was while schooling last year's winner, Miss Charlotte Nichols' Hugh O'Mally, last Sunday (Sept. 21), that Guy M. Haines was thrown at a jump, sustaining severe injuries. Haines is still in the hospital, but Hugh O'Mally was not hurt, and will probably go to the post a favorite over such contenders as Theron Catbirds, Molly O'Mally and Divide.

Not quite so speedy but just as exciting will be the ever popular farmer's race—The Metamora—1 mile.

Jobs Are Obtained For High Students
Between July 1, 1940, and June 30, 1941, 69 full-time jobs with 25 different firms were provided for graduates by the Grosse Pointe High School placement service.

Charles Salter, assistant principal, also stated that 44 students received part-time employment from 17 different organizations through the service. This does not include more than 150 miscellaneous positions, such as moving, lawns, raking leaves, and "baby sitting."

Huston Motor Car Company put 18 former students on the payroll during this period, while the Cadillac Motor Company placed eight. Briggs Manufacturing Corporation employs six Grosse Pointe graduates.

Mr. Salter declared that "the service could have placed more if we had had the people to fill the jobs offered."

What we most need is the proper student desire for growth in grace, expressed in patience, meekness, love, and good deeds.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Daughters of Colonists
Hold Boat Club Meeting

The Michigan State Society Daughters of American Colonists held their first meeting of the season last week in the Detroit Boat Club. Mrs. Harold R. Smith and Mrs. Alfred W. Cribb were the hostesses.

An attractive arrangement of fall flowers in a yellow pottery bowl, was used on the long luncheon table where the group was seated in the main dining room. Mrs. Edward F. Dickinson Jr., Regent, presided at the brief business meeting. Carroll Parker Adams of the Detroit Orpheus Club gave a program of songs, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Guy A. Reem.

Sentence Will Be Passed on Youthful Slaying Today

Sentence will be passed probably late this afternoon on Harold Gustafson, 19 year old youth, found guilty on a manslaughter charge last week in Judge Christopher E. Stein's Detroit Recorder's court.

Gustafson, who shot and killed his 20 year old married sweetheart, was captured shortly after his crime by Grosse Pointe City police officers. The youth faces a maximum sentence of 15 years in prison.

Co-Starred For First Time

ROSALIND RUSSELL and CLARK GABLE, from a scene in "They Met in Bombay", coming to the Vogue theatre Friday.

Vogue Inaugurates
New Two Hit Policy

"They Met in Bombay" and "Cheers for Miss Bishop" Open There Friday for Seven day Run

Inaugurating a new policy of two top hit attractions the Vogue Theatre starting Friday, October 3, will bring East Detroit two of the year's most popular screen features... Clark Gable and Rosalind Russell in "They Met in Bombay" plus the best-selling "Cheers for Miss Bishop" starring Michigan's own Martha Scott with William Gargan.

The new policy featuring the whole show on the screen will bring to the Vogue in the near future some of the prospective Academy Award winners of 1936 from the Hollywood show shops. The initial offering "They Met in Bombay" and "Cheers for Miss Bishop" will run seven days at the Vogue. On Saturday there will be a special children's show at the matinee featuring chapter 14 of "Jungle Girl" serial, one hour of cartoons and a special feature in place of "Miss Bishop" featuring Roy Rogers in a fast-riding Western "Sheriff of Tombstone".

One of the year's outstanding productions "They Met in Bombay" co-stars Clark Gable and Rosalind Russell for the first time in an adventure packed story of romance and intrigue laid against a background of the exotic East. The being of grace must go before the increase of it; for there is no growth without life, and no building without a foundation.—Lovington.
