Auspicious Start Made by Cagers Against Roseville

By FRED GALLAGHER

Sinking shots from every angle, Grosse Pointe's Blue Devil cagers started the 1941-42 basketball season with bang last Friday night when they buried the Roseville Wildcats under an avalanche of baskets. When the final whistle ended the game, the score read 56-18 in favor of the locals.

Leading point getter for the Devils was Acting Captain Glen Holt, who connected for six field goals and two free throws, thus making 14 points. Right behind Holt were Larry Louisa (three) and veteran Mike Ware with four field goals, two charity shots, and two points apiece. Doug Mackenzie and Bob Brown, the other two starters, followed with seven and six points, respectively.

Mike Ware really started the game the right way. After he took the ball from the opening tip off, dribbled into Roseville territory, stopped, got set, and delivered through a beautiful set shot. The Devils thus scored with the game only a few seconds old. A few moments later Mackenzie added another hand shot and Chirvat and Brown killed on free throws. Mackenzie added another one hander and Holt dropped a one hand shot on a free throw. With the game underway less than four minutes, the Devils led 12-0.

The Devil attack kept rolling on, and gave no signs of letting up. Working close and methodically, the blue and gold offense was too much for the Wildcats' defensive efforts. At the end of the first quarter, Grosse Pointe led 20-3; at the half it was 35-9; at the third period the scoreboard read 48-14; and the final score was 56-18. Coach Geary used his reserves freely and every one of the twelve men carried saw considerable action.

Friday's contest proved one thing: the Devils have a team that can play hang up basketball. They can handle the ball and they know how to shoot. However, just how good the Blue Devils really are may be more accurately deduced this Friday when they will meet a stronger opposition in Jackson. They will try to avenge last year's 22-20 defeat administered by Lee Vikings.

Local Students Visit Cranbrook

Minutemen of ancient people's concept of the world were one of the many exhibits in the Hall of Science seen by the Conservation Club of Grosse Pointe High school on its visit to Cranbrook a week ago Saturday.

The Egyptian theory was one of the most bizarre and interesting. According to it, the world was not elongated box bounded by very high mountains with a plain in the center, which was Egypt. When the G-4s let down stars on cables through numerous holes in the roof.

One of the most beautiful yet awesome sights of Cranbrook's hall of science were the fluorescent minerals. These rocks look like any other that you might find anywhere, but when an ultra violet light was thrown upon them they showed their true nature by glowing with purple, green, red, or rose light. Equally amazing and almost as beautiful were the ones, they ran anywhere from rough rugged, brownish copper to crystalline lowered quartz.

Every science was represented in this hall. Dinosaur tracks, the time clock showing the development of the earth, the tree of life, the 402 pound clam shell, and the numerous exhibits of birds especially appealed to the club members.

Thirty-one members of the Conservation Club were taken to Cranbrook by bus. Everyone brought his lunch which was eaten in the bus. Apples, candy, and soft drinks were supplied by the club treasury.

High School Players Do Themselves Proud in Their Latest Play

"Kind Lady," a mystery drama created in the Grosse Pointe school auditorium so skillfully that the audience's interest never for one second waned, was the latest production of the High School Players. Mary Herries, who plays the role of the mysterious woman, tells her story, which is a Christmas Eve in London, several years before the friendly act of taking cold, penniless Henry Abbott (John Smith) in the house for a night, led to Mary's imprisonment in her own house. Mary got herself established in her career by having him, a poor, cold, who had taken refuge into the house and put it, and then having a fake accident her too ill to be seen, he got rid of Mary's aid brought in some friends to work the reality, to watch the play. And so things stood, perhaps three or four years, Mary thinking Mary was perfect, but the villains were careful in their attempts to Mary sign away all her possessions.

High School Bakers Adopt Soldier Orphan

At least one of the homeless boys in Uncle Sam's Service will be remembered Christmas because 84 girls in the foods class taught by Miss Marian McMullan at the Brownell Junior High School, have the real Yuletide spirit.

By writing to the Carnation Bouquet program, which is sponsoring a "Make for the Boys" campaign, they received the name of a soldier without parents or close relatives who would otherwise be forgotten.

The girls are now busy baking cookies for the box which they plan to send him this week. Each week two girls in the class are to write him letters; and the next box, which will be sent before Christmas, is to include home-made candy as well as cookies.

State School Commission Hears Brownell Program

The Samuel Miller Brownell Junior High School's "Homespun" guidance program was described by Vincent Peterson at the annual meeting of the Junior High School Commission of the Michigan Association of the Secondary Schools in Lansing last Friday.

Various sections of the state sent representatives to make reports on different phases of junior high school work.

After a discussion of each report, it was evaluated by Dr. John Emms, director of personnel of the Detroit Public Schools.

Paul L. Esbert, superintendent of schools, said: "There was a great amount of real taking and the audience was aware of this talent and it accordingly."

Superior's "St. Francis" of Pius Players, said: "The play was very well handled by the group in that 'Kind Lady' psychological, as well as a mystery drama. Only a group of Pius Players could have justice to such a play."

School Heads Outline War Part Their Institutions Can Play

A Joint Statement of the Administrative Staff of the Grosse Pointe Public Schools.

What can the Grosse Pointe Schools do to help win the war? Over the last 48 hours a string of new type of request has been coming into the principals' and superintendents' offices in the public schools. Will the schools provide bomb-proof shelters? Are the schools planning for immediate evacuation of children? What are the schools doing about conscientious home guard and other types of organized units? Why haven't the schools provided a radio in every room so that every movement of the present war situation can be followed by the children? These and many other questions are already pouring in to our offices.

One thing that the teachers and officers of the schools have attempted to do is to make every effort to be calm and to face this war situation without hysteria. On the other hand we do not intend to shirk any responsibility which we can be of real service in winning the war. The following statement is made largely to the teachers, parents and the public that the public schools are continuing a definite plan in seeing where it seems they can be of the most immediate and effective service.

Face Difficult Situation
The most important place where the schools can function at the present time is to prepare the minds and emotions of children for the difficult situation they have to face. Probably no one is so physically as the physical safety of our children is not more so in their emotional stability. Reports have come to us that children are silently and dazedly groping with their understanding of the situation. In a fearful and somewhat hysterical mood. Young people are suddenly seeing the realities of a nation at war brought close to their door, and many of their plans for the future are suddenly being changed to plan for the immediate present.

Young men are asking whether they should enlist. Children are taking their heads from their school desks as roaring planes go over the school, half wondering whether they are friendly or hostile. They are seeing in their homes and perhaps in their schoolrooms the worried look and the excited tension of their elders. It is the emotions and the minds of these children which we in the schools must do everything we can to stabilize and protect. We must feel that this is our Number One job at the present moment and any other plans must be developed as the situation becomes more clear.

Must Avoid Rumors
In the first place we in the schools must avoid the careless passing along of unconfirmed rumors and reports. We must avoid excited publishing and talking of wild suspicions in the halls and in the classrooms and in the presence of these young people. We must be attentive, well informed and deeply conscious that everything we say and do may add to the confusion for either a false resolve and purpose for a nation possibly and hysterical.

This does not mean that we should try to hide the fact that we are in a war and that war constitutes an unpleasant and distasteful job. As teachers, we must make clear that the job must be done and that all must help to do it. Specifically there are about ten things that we would suggest as an outline of a definite program that can be carried on in ordinary daily routine of our classrooms without any special holiday or exciting demonstrations that tend to upset and add to the distressed feelings of our youth.

1. We can intensify our program of National Defense Savings by changing from an attitude of savings of surplus or investment to savings by sacrifice. Children can be taught immediately to learn to save by giving up some things that seem desirable. They can learn that most of the efforts that were made for the war for a National Defense Savings must be doubled, tripled and increased beyond all previous plans. That their safety depends upon the speed and efficiency of producing costly machinery and materials and transporting them to the proper places.

Civilian Defense
2. Many of our older youth and every teacher and worker in the public schools can register for civilian defense at the various village. At this registration they can indicate their best abilities and equipment for serving in home and civilian defense. Most improvements will need to be made in all lines of civilian organization and made quickly and efficiently if we are to do our job properly. Help will be needed in the fields of publicity, recreation, mechanical work, construction, fire protection and many other fields that are indicated on your registration card. Through the homeown and through other channels in the school, parents of the community can be urged to register at their proper village government headquarters.

3. Every classroom assembly and homeroom can work out ways and means to make the lesson of "conserve" a much more significant. The need for saving of all waste materials, of using sparingly many of the things that are of importance in a war situation, of learning to "waste the best of things" and to "use less of those things that are strategic and important to military purposes" can be stressed. Conservation of our energy and our health in orderly and rigorous practice of good principles of health, in eating, in sleeping, in recreation and in building strong bodies can be emphasized. Probably the next few months will demand much of the energy and time and good health of all citizens. The schools can help greatly in this type of conservation.

Must Prepare Themselves
4. It is evident from statements of government officials that enlistment in the armed forces is being urged as the Junior Red Cross, air warden, fire-fighting, messenger and other public service activities. Young people will be expected to take part in these services where they can and to perform these physically and mentally to respond to emergency calls.

5. Every school staff in every building will be organized carefully for the meeting of any additional fire hazard that might occur. The schools will, in the near future be adequately prepared for a quick and immediate dispersion of the children to their homes in case of any emergency measure. Adequate cooperation of homes and schools must be essential in such arrangements can be made in as orderly a procedure as our previous and present fire drills.

6. In every classroom where it is possible a study of the history of our recent official relations and our relations in the Pacific should be simplified and treated with honesty and understanding. Particularly relationships with Japan during the past seven months. This unit of study should replace at the present time the usual study of the world's great nations. This may have been particularly significant but are not as urgent in meeting our present problems.

Ideals Not Abandoned
There is no need in a emergency such as this to feel that by introducing material that had not appeared in its proper sequence and order that there is any violation of good education practice. This history of our relationships with Japan should be taught in such a way that children understand much more the fact that the great ideals of trying to settle problems by peaceful negotiations have not been abandoned by their government or their fellow citizens, and that those ideals are important objectives of the present conflict and are at stake in the conflict. An important contrast in the outcome of our efforts toward peaceful negotiations can be studied in our good neighbor policies toward Latin America.

December 15 has been designated as Bill of Rights Day. Every child from the fifth grade on through the high school should become aware of the significance of the Bill of Rights. No classroom is too specialized to give some time and attention to this important bulwark of our nation's entry into the war. It should be made clear to children that these great ideals for which we have stood throughout our national life are really what are at stake in this war. Our lives are important but living a free and independent life is far more important, and in declaring war have signified that we hold home things more dear and precious than purely the right to remain alive. The teachers of our schools have been, during the past few years, emphasizing these important principles of democracy and our freedom. We will now intensify these efforts in every occasion possible. In addition every teacher should become more individual in treating a spirit of tolerance of young Americans for children from homes of foreign extraction.

Ensemble Service
7. We should stress and emphasize the importance of service through the Junior Red Cross and intensify the activity of the schools in this area which is already underway. One hundred percent of our school membership is registered in the Junior Red Cross. More boys and girls than ever before should take an active part in this work over and above merely being an enrolled member.

8. Last week's bulletin was issued to the teachers from the Superintendent's office urging that as many teachers as possible register or take an interest in training for first aid. This is an important service that may become more and more necessary and should be a part of the contribution of our profession to the well being and safety of our community.

Create High Morale
9. As time goes on and our duties become somewhat monotonous and difficult and somewhat oppressive, it will become more and more important that through our educational organization we create a high morale in the role of willing service that may become more and more necessary and should be a part of the contribution of our profession to the well being and safety of our community.

The Place for this particular type of morale can be stressed in our facilities, in our custodial services and in our offices by our clerks and secretaries by keeping high what in England is known as "thumbs up". Let us do our tasks well and thoroughly, so thoroughly that it will not have to be done by the next generation. Let us who teach be leaders in our own willing acceptance of the war share of our responsibility.

This statement will be placed in the hands of every employee of the public schools and discussed in each building in special meetings, called by the Principals. One week from now, on December 17, each building will be organized for special responsibilities of perfecting procedures in each of these ten general tasks.

PUBLIC SPEAKING CLASS
W. Carey Foster, activity secretary at Hannu Y.M.C.A. has announced that the Public Speaking class for young men at the "Y" is now meeting every Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. instead of Thursday. Fred Delluge, a graduate of Hope College, is the instructor.

Libraries Need Support More Than Ever Before

There before have the public libraries needed your support as never before," stated Miss Florence in a lecture to senior citizens at the Grosse Pointe Public Library recently.

Miss Florence stated that the public libraries are needed more than ever before because of the increasing need for information. In a time when every book is being destroyed, the public libraries are the only ones that have the books that are still in existence. She stated that the public libraries are the only ones that have the books that are still in existence.

Should He Be Paid for Home Tasks, or Have an Allowance?

By Gary Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

In his "Return to Religion," Dr. Henry Link states that children should not have allowances, but should earn their money. He bases his assertion on the fact that by investigation he found that more children who earned their own money ranked high in social status of personality than those who did not.

The untrained reader of his statement, like the man who made it, fails to realize that the few children who have the only jobs available, do so chiefly because they are more self-reliant and industrious, and have more initiative, no doubt, in other words, the jobs tended to select those who had the better personality traits already.

The facts Link found about these few children tell us nothing about the many times much larger group of children who, in order to earn money, would have to have jobs created for them. It would seem, indeed, that the results then would be very different.

Pay for Work at Home? Some parents, sharing Dr. Link's point of view, pay their children for helping about the home. When they do that, how is the child to feel he is a responsible contributor to the family? How is he to get the better values of conscientiousness in the family experiences and obligations?

If, moreover, he is paid for everything, he does about the home, his parents are inclined, when he neglects his tasks, to scold or punish him rather than to scold or punish him for not getting paid, for not earning his pay.

Whether the child is paid or not, an allowance, some parents will punish the child by docking him on his earnings or allowance.

Candlelight Dinner and Carols on Program; Tiny Tots and Older Children to be Entertained December 20

Activities in the Colony Town club continue with the candlelight dinner and Christmas carols program on December 14, with Mrs. John S. Newberry in charge.

On December 20 the tiny tots and the older children will have their day with a Christmas tree, Santa Claus and gifts.

The hours from 3 until 5 o'clock have been reserved for the little boys and girls and the older ones from 5:30 to 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. Charles G. Breeding heads the committee for the day assisted by Mrs. W. E. Simmons, Mrs. Herbert F. Hennessey, Mrs. M. D. Seawright, Mrs. George E. Villard, Mrs. George DeVos, Mrs. John J. Ives, Mrs. Lester Johnson, Mrs. L. M. Cunningham, Mrs. A. W. Scamplier, Mrs. Allan A. Walker, Mrs. Roger W. Walker and Mrs. M. J. Aik.

It's an excellent idea to make your reservations early so that plans to "Christmas" know what gifts to bring.

Monroe to Talk To Camera Club

"Philosophy of Photography" will be the subject given by Mrs. Monroe, one of Detroit's outstanding photographers, on Tuesday evening at the meeting of the Grosse Pointe Camera Club in Grosse Pointe High School. Mrs. Monroe will use photographic prints of her own making to illustrate her lecture.

Plans for the New Year have already taken form for the club and it will start the year with a talk by Indore Berger, A. R. S. P. President of the Detroit Miniature Camera Club, at its first meeting on Tuesday, January 6. His topic will be "Composition and Photography in General."

At the coming meeting on Tuesday, members of the club are to submit their version of a humorous photograph which will be awarded place according to the story told by the print.

MORALE IS A WOMAN'S BUSINESS
Every time you listen to war news on the radio, you think "How can I do more to help?" You go to First Aid classes. You spend hours at the Red Cross. And still you feel a little apologetic because you're only a woman. You even feel guilty when you take time off for feminine things, like buying a new hat or getting your hair done. BUT, HAVE YOU FORGOTTEN THAT SMALL, TERRIBLY IMPORTANT WORD "MORALE"? Have you forgotten that morale is a woman's business, now, more than ever?

The way you look at things affects so many people around you... your family, your friends, even strangers whom you pass in the street. To them, a woman's beauty stands for courage, serenity, a gallant heart... all the things that men need so desperately these days. The time spent in your favorite beauty salon every day is not just a frivolous, it's part of your job of morale. It's a woman's way of saying we won't be beaten. So why not phone for your beauty salon appointment now.

Just One $1.50 per copy

No WRITER on the local scene has the warmth and compassion of H. C. Jackson whose column "Evening in an Detroit" in the Detroit News, has been followed by thousands of Detroiters since it began 11 years ago.
The cream of Mr. Jackson's stories have now been collected in "The Paper Bag," published this week at $1.50 per copy. This is a book that you will want to read and give. The stories traverse the full scale of human emotion, humor, pathos and fear. There are more stories that take you back to your childhood and youth. Few writers have that human touch that makes the daily writings of H. C. Jackson the favorite of thousands.

News From Pointe's Elementary Schools

TROUBLE SCHOOL. The Trobly School group were seen moving about in the hall, waiting in line for the opening and enjoying performance in the auditorium last week. The group was National Holiday Week. The children were invited to their parents to visit the school for an assembly, an open program, or to observe their progress through their everyday experiences.

A special observance of National Education Week, the kindergarten children made several gifts to the Trobly School group. The 1B grade had the house the entire week. The 2B grade had open house on Monday, and the 3B, 4B, and 5B grades.

The 4A, 5A, and 6B grades presented programs which consisted of an individual research in the field of the Trobly School group. The 2A group is studying the Trobly School group. The 3A group were on world cities. The 4A group were on literature. The 5A group were on architecture, music, and the theater. The 6A group invited their parents to a program which was a presentation of a village that the Trobly School group had constructed in the Trobly School group. The 1B group gave an assembly as a culmination of a unit study. The 2A children invited their parents in a play after which they served their parents and the Trobly School group.

The Trobly School group assembly was given by the 6A group. Mrs. J. J. Walker, a representative of the Trobly School group, gave patriotic banners to a representative from each of the Trobly School groups. The 6A children presented a program which explained the value of buying defense stamps, to enjoyable meeting of the Trobly School group.

Portraits by Moffett Studio

... of folks all over our country who are buying Defense Stamps and Bonds. Harry Lowther, Jack Brink, Suzanne Sherman, and Richard Tidwell showed a Stamp buying in a small town. Kansas Post Office, Susan Clark, Beatrice and Charles Harris next gave their interpretation of a Seattle, Washington conversation. John Jervis and Bruce Davenport showed us a New England coast town episode that takes us more about Defense saving. They're buying stamps even in the "funny papers," was Charles Harris' remark as he wrote the playlets about our friends, the Hampdens, who were represented next by Pecton Wemy and Phyllis Burdette. A hint in a big city was the scene of the last conversation which instructed all of us on sound investments. Frank Wilson and John For portrayed the clever business men. Uncle Sam himself appeared in his part in the person of Bill Cunningham, appealing to a group of young patriots, who were played by John Cane, Ronna Hocking, Sue Rogers, and Phyllis Burdette. This arrangement was written by Shirley Davis.

Butty Wickung and Betty Frieder were able amateurs for the program.

MARION SCHOOL. American Education Week was fittingly observed at Marion School from November 9 to 15. The 1B group gave a "Reading Program" on Friday afternoon. A "Thanksgiving program of songs and poems" was presented in the 1A room.

The activities of Miss Soles' 2B grade was a maturation of the library for parents and children. Miss Soles' room entertained their mothers on Wednesday. The boys and girls played three pieces in the rhythm band, sang some songs, and recited an original circus poem. The room mother assisted with refreshments. Mrs. Kroll, room mother, was in charge of the tea served in Mrs. Crockett's 2A room.

The room mothers of the fourth grade class served tea on Tuesday. Before the tea Miss Gaudin's room presented "Storybook Land" for the parents. Some of the parents of boys and girls in Miss Gaudin's 4B group saw a science class in progress, while a demonstration lesson in spelling was held in Mr. Hourihan's room.

Altogether 149 people visited Marion School during American Education Week.

RICHARD SCHOOL. More than 300 parents attended the Nov. 13 meeting of the Richard parent-teacher association and listened to an excellent talk given by Captain Don Leonard of the Michigan State Police.

The P.T.A. has sponsored a Cub Scout Pack and a Boy Scout Troop for some time now. Recently it became the sponsor of a brownie group. Mrs. Lewis Spaulding, troop leader, is assisted by Mrs. Lawrence Pace. They have announced the accomplishment award for the period up to Christmas. These will include the making of Christmas tree decorations for the Children's hospital, while after the holidays the activities will be in behalf of the Junior Red Cross. Regular troop meetings will be held on Thursdays at 4:45 in the school.

MAINE SCHOOL. The 4-A class had a visitor recently. Harry Munroe spent the day. He is attending the St. Andrews College in Quebec this year.

The 4-A's have a new girl in their class. Her name is Susan Martin. Michael Bourke was home for Thanksgiving and he visited his friends in the 2-A class. Michael is going to Monroe this year.

Alger Will Stage Another Grab Bag

Next Saturday, December 13, the Alger Theatre has planned another candy grab bag matinee with extra special prizes for the boys and girls.

"HOLD THAT GHOST"

lucky enough to pick them out of the big grab bag of fun.

On the screen will be these two favorites among children, Abbott & Costello in "HOLD THAT GHOST." The second feature on the program will be "BELLE STARR" with Randolph Scott and Gene Tierney.

Tito Coral Heads Club Royale Show

Singing romantic Spanish ballads, Tito Coral heads the show at Club Royale this week. Coral is a South American singer and screen favorite, and has sung at the Fox Theatre and at the Detroit Athletic Club in this city. His voice is full, and his singing full of emotion and fire. Earl and Josephine Leach, a red-headed brother and sister, are the headline team, but they are not Latin dancers. Their Hawaiian number is especially noteworthy. Key Taylor, delightful little tap star, contributes numbers, and the Three Harmanides blast real music from their harmonicas.

The Harriet Smith dancers present their own dance ideas. Bob Hopkins is master of ceremonies, and music is by Skeeter Faltner and his orchestra.

MOVIES OF CHINA

Roland Lavier, missionary from China, will show technical pictures of life during the undeclared war in China, Sunday night in the Eastminster Presbyterian church.

Newest Books To Be Reviewed

Olive Deane Harnel will give special attention to Rebecca West's new book, "Black Lamb and Grey Falcon," in her lecture "Books to Share—The Best of the New Books from a Holiday Angle," third in the University of Michigan Alumni Club of Grosse Pointe.

The lecture will be given at 8 o'clock, Monday evening, December 15 in the auditorium of the John O. Hove Junior High School. "Return to the River," the Harnel's story of the Chinook nation, is another book which will receive special emphasis.

Novels to be especially cited are "Windwings" by Mary Ellen Chase, "The Empty Room" by Charles Morgan, and "Saragosa Trunk" by Edna Ferber.

Among the outstanding biography to be discussed is "Carl Sandburg" by Carl Deller. Anne Hoxley Cleveland's delightful Western autobiography, "No Life for a Lady," will also be featured.

Miss Harnel will also give attention to several unusual new books on art and music, including the Deans Taylor Treasury of Gilbert and Sullivan; to the leading new books for children; to the new volumes of poetry, including "The Poetry of Eliot" edited by Selma Rodman and to Clifford Padman's choice anthology, "Reading Two Lives."

Waltz Popular At Olde Wayne

A favorite meeting place before curtain time, or for a refreshment of the night's program, among theater-goers, is the Olde Wayne Club, where Charles Costello dispenses the music, with the comely McCall Twins assisting him on the stools.

Reaching his belief that the waltz will run the rhumba a close second in popularity this season, Costello is mixing waltz medleys with the Latin-American and fox-trot tunes in his dance sets, while Barker and Alastair offer exhibitions of popular dance acts several nights each week.

Jack London, singing to his own accompaniment, and offering unusual arrangements of old and new favorites on the piano, provides music for the cocktail hour and for the interludes between dance sets.

Monthly Meeting Is Held By Council of St. Paul's

The monthly meeting of the National Council of Catholic Women of St. Paul's church was held November 11 in the home of Mrs. Joseph Hickey.

The chairman of the various committees read their reports. Plans were made for the party to be given by the N.C.W. early in February.

She's Lovely to Look at

Paulette Goddard is the glamorous brunette beauty who joins runabout forces with James Stewart in James Roosevelt's "Pol O' Gold," the gay comedy with music which will open Sunday at the Equipe theatre.

The Queen of the Ice

Safer Pointe

the following committees, which will be augmented later: Committee on Uniformity; E. E. Van Alstyne, chairman; Victor Wahmster and Henry Newman; Education; Paul Scott; Education; C. O. Page, Lambert Whitcombe and Paul Russell; Engineering; V. R. DePetris, chairman; Dr. Marion Steadler and James Quisen.

Other officers elected by the council are: Mrs. Florence Muzic, vice-president; and Vincent L. Peterson, secretary.

The council will meet again after the separate committees have held meetings.

CHRISTMAS BINGO

By popular request, a Christmas Bingo party will be held in the Boat Club Saturday, December 20. Games will start at 8:30 p. m.

Book Featuring Ballroom Team

A new rhythmic ballroom team, Mata and Hart, are in the Book House lineup this week. They do satirical dancing, poking fun at such stylized routines as the usual apache dance, and others.

Music is still by Joe Reichman, the pianist of the Philco, and his beautifully trained orchestra. With orchestral arrangements that reflect his own brilliant keyboard work, Joe Reichman's orchestra has won many Detroit friends.

Joe Fulton is the featured vocalist, but each of the band men is an accomplished entertainer in his own right. Smith Howard, the drummer, is moving in his rendition of "Begin the Beguine."

Club Congo Holds Sepia Songstress

Margaret Watkins, sepiat songstress, is being held over for another week at Detroit's Harlem night spot, Club Congo. Her original, and her old favorites have been well received.

The rest of the fast revue also remains another week, headed by the Bechdelers, an unusual dance team as Detroit has seen, with their South Sea Adagio dance; the Gaire and Lottos, with their musical adaptability and nonsense; and the Congo dancers show new steps in their production numbers.

Orlando Robinson's silky singing highlights the musical numbers by the Club Congo orchestra, and Hootie West is master of ceremonies.

Guest Artists to Appear With Detroit Symphony

Helen Traubel, reigning American queen of Wagnerian opera, whose voice is considered one of the greatest ever developed in this country, and Richard Stewart, founder and former conductor of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, will be the guest artists at the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's concert Thursday night, Dec. 18, in Masonic Auditorium.

With the orchestra under the direction of Stewart, Miss Traubel will sing two of the most popular of Richard Strauss's songs, "Aberglow" and "Zigeuner," as well as the stirring Brahms's "Immolation Scene" from the third act of Wagner's immortal music-drama "Das Rheingold" ("Götterdämmerung").

DAUGHTERS PLAN PARTY

The Andrews circle, Daughters of Isabella, will sponsor a card party Tuesday night, Dec. 16, in Gabriel Richard hall, 5275 Amity.

Legion News

Last week we solicited members through the columns of this paper and from the inquiries received and numerous questions asked, there seems to be a little confusion as to what constitutes eligibility in the American Legion. With your kind indulgence we will give you the necessary information as taken from the by-laws of the National Constitution of the American Legion. It reads as follows:

"Any person shall be eligible for membership in The American Legion who was regularly enlisted, drafted, or inducted or commissioned and who was accepted for and assigned to active duty in the army, navy or marine corps of the United States at some time during the period between April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1918, both dates inclusive, or who, being a citizen of the United States at the time of his entry therein, served on active duty in the naval, military or air forces of any of the governments associated with the United States during the Great War; provided, that no person shall be entitled to membership (a) who, being in the army, navy or marine corps of the United States during said period, refused on conscientious political or other grounds, to subject himself to military discipline or to military service, or (b) who, being in such service, was separated therefrom under circumstances amounting to dishonorable discharge and has not subsequently been officially restored to an honorable status."

This painting of The Redeemer, by Francesco Solimena, late 17th century and early 18th century Italian painter, is now being shown in the Detroit Art Gallery, 500 East Jefferson Avenue. It was probably painted in the late 17th century. Solimena's work was great in his lifetime and brought exceedingly high prices.

Should you be qualified under any of the above, and have thought of joining a Legion post, why not sign up with Grosse Pointe's only Legion outfit. We welcome you and to make it as easy as possible, all you have to do is call or write Walter R. Hoyt at 190 Oak street, telephone TU 2-1013, or Tel. Edred at 1197 Maryland, and someone will contact you at your home. We'll be looking for your call and be seeing you, T. R. X.

HANDBALL TOURNAMENT

The fourth annual Lorenzo Handball Tournament opened at Hamman Y. M. C. A. on Monday, December 8, with at least 18 entries, according to James L. Waring, Director of Physical Education. The trophy was given to the "V" by Charles A. Lorenzo, a Grosse Pointe attorney, and will become the personal property of the first "V" member who wins the tournament for the third time.

The New Orders

Japan's plans for a New Order in Eastern Asia is not a political development of recent growth. It dates from the day when she first emerged from the medievalism which ended with the abolition of the Shogunate and the restoration of the Mikado shortly after our Civil War. With her skilled initiative use of the implements of Western civilization, which has been one of the distinguishing characteristics of her progress for the past seventy years, came the ambition to be a great world power and the ultimate dictator of the destinies of the people of Eastern Asia, or if possible of all Asia and the islands of the Pacific.

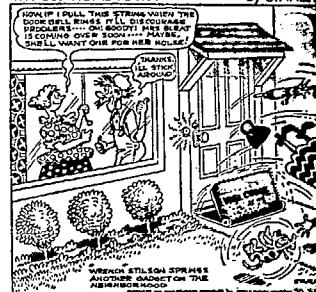

The so-called "New Orders" so significantly discussed at the same historic moment by both Germany and Japan should deceive no intelligent observer of contemporary or recent history. They both mean the same thing. Their foundation is military conquest to be followed by political control which deprives their victim nations of sovereignty and all right of free contacts with other nations, and finally a penetration and dictation which neglects no minutiae of the cultural, spiritual or economic life of the subject peoples.

In the more frankly spoken periods of history this process was called conquest and its ultimate brutal name was human slavery.

Until a few days ago people, wishing to be fair to Japan, stated that at least she represented her penetration into China and the other Oriental lands towards which she edged, as accompanied by mutual benefits and prosperity. Our inability to plumb the subtleties of the Oriental mind did not reveal the final program for those peoples she aims to conquer. Now we see the picture truly.

In the case of Germany there never was misunderstanding. Her naivete is equalled only by her essential brutality. She frankly says that she is out to conquer the world; that there is not room for democracy and the totalitarian scheme of state in the same world at the same time; that she possesses a superior culture and, as the "master race," has a divine right to impose her rule on the rest of the human family. And finally, being very practical in some things and knowing an effective appeal to a people who have suffered greatly, she promises German Michael and the artisan who has had no employer but the state in recent years, and that at small wages and poor living, that having conquered all Europe and rendered the rest of the world impotent against their economic dictation, they will proceed to skim the cream and live a life of unaccustomed ease from the toil and sweat of their conquered neighbors.

This picture is not in the least over wrought. It is the identical lure which is driving thousands of German peasant boys to die in windows before Russian pill boxes on the frozen plains in front of Leningrad and Moscow and in the Donetz basin. It is the direct present day sequencer of Von Bernhard's preaching of "World Domination or Decline" which so largely prepared the German people spiritually for their previous ill-starred thrust for world dominion a quarter century ago.

SERVICE WITH A SMILE

Out of the Air

WJTB's Three Aces—Large, Keen and Masked—are now on the network Wednesday morning at 8:30. They're followed by Greenfield Village (civvy), also on the air by WJTB. . . . Back to GILLYW's schedule come two new shows: Rose Room, with Irene Lander as singer Tuesday and Thursday at 3:15 P. M. and Vignettes of Melody, Tuesday at 8:00 P. M. . . . In the "The Girl," she is readying a new show and Al Johnson is flirting with a new account. . . .

Sterling Holloway, one of O'J's favorite screen comedies, is a great help to the "Family Hour" on WJTB at five Sunday P. M. . . . Screen star Judith Allen is now playing "Innocence" on C.R.L.W. Shadowy series. . . . William L. Shriver (we used to hear him from Berlin) is giving to plenty to this about on WJTB at 5:45 Sunday afternoon. . . . Looking for a husband might join the Don Large drama at 11:15. . . . Bunkers and wedding bands come in thick and fast. . . . Cal Timney still pulls in punches in "Silence on the News" on C.R.L.W. Mon. Wed. and Fri. at 8:00 P. M. . . . Jean Haines' Valiant Lady (WJTB) has been renewed. . . .

When you're a bit behind on the Washington news Jim Crowley gets you right in date on his GILLYW program from the White House at 8:15 P. M. on Tuesday and Friday. . . . Fibber McGee and Molly are leading in GILLYW ratings and that's the survey generally accepted by radio men. . . . Alice Austen, Al Pearce's "Mr. Kitzel," is at the Cedars of Lebanon hospital for treatment. . . .

WJTB's Tom Harmon won't be called into the air force for several weeks, probably. Lots of red tape to untangle at Washington first. . . . "British Sparks" has a new time on GILLYW—11:15 nights. . . . WGN Chicago, is offering ten grand for the Great American Opera. . . . The annual Old Newsboys Goodwill Fund show on WJTB is slated for Friday night at 11:15. Norman White, last year's president and one of the WJTB players, will be in charge and will have the station's musical and dramatic talent behind him. All donations received so far make the poor kids of Detroit happy at Christmas. The Goodwills use no money for expenses. . . .

CHURCH COURT LEAGUE

Nine churches have entered ten teams in the Grand District Inter-Church basketball League, according to an announcement by James L. Worthing, physical director at Harman Y. M. C. A. . . .

Churches represented are: Bethany Evangelical, St. Marks, Covenant Presbyterian, Cadillac Presbyterian, Jefferson Avenue Methodist, Eastminster Presbyterian, Grosse Pointe Memorial, Mack Avenue Evangelical and Reformation. . . .

Nite Hawks Club Organized at 'Y'

A new club, the Nite Hawks Club, has just been organized at Harman Y. M. C. A. especially for "Y" members who are working on split shifts and cannot avail themselves of the regularly scheduled evening activities. . . .

John Jeffries, newly elected chairman of the group, is working with a committee composed of Charles Paul, Tom Jurken, John Sloan, and Paul Shook, to set up a special program of social and athletic activities for club members. . . .

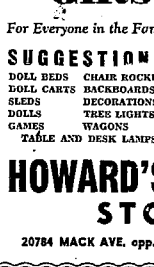

DO POINTERS' PLAY

Ray W. Ingham of Nottingham road won the major drama Hopwood award at the University of Michigan last June with his play, "Full House". . . .

Starting on December 8, the Michigan Union Mines Opera is presenting its 1941 all male show, "Full House". . . .

Mr. Ingham is doing graduate work at the University of Michigan and is in the cast of "Full House". . . .
