Safe and Sane Halloween Assured Pointe Youngsters At Nine Community Parties

Elaborate Program Arranged for All Age Groups; Varied Entertainment Will Include Dances

Details for the sixth annual Grosse Pointe Community Halloween party have been completed. If advance planning is any indication, the boys and girls of Grosse Pointe are due to have an evening packed with wholesome fun and entertainment next Wednesday, October 31.

Due to the expansion of the year's party to include entertainment at nine community centers, a total of 18 professional acts have been engaged. These acts include magicians, ventriloquists, acrobats, jugglers, trick roller skating, singing impersonators, fortune tellers and a specialty dog act. In addition to this, a total of 22 different cartoon movies will be shown at the various centers.

Parties for the elementary age groups will include the above acts and movies. The center chairman and the schools where these parties will be held from 7 to 9 p. m., are: Mason School, Miss Ethel Tucker; Richard School, Clarence Messner; County Day School, Miss Florence Brown; Defer School, Fred Kerby; Trombley School, Mrs. Ethel Cowe; Maire School, Herbert Hobart. There will be no admission for the elementary school parties. Although these parties are primarily for the children, parents may accompany them if they feel it is necessary to do so. Steals Car, Holds Up Store, Lands in Jail Within Hour

At 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon a lone man about 25-30 years old walked into the Beaupre hardware store at Kercheval and Moross road and told Alvin Guoin, the proprietor to fork over. He did not actually display a pistol but his hand in his coat pocket apparently held a weapon that protruded menacingly toward Mr. Guoin.

Guoin gave him what money he had in his pocket, amounting to about nine dollars. The robber made no move towards the cash register but ran quickly out of the store as Guoin had produced.

Guoin noted the car number as AU 3272 and so reported to the Farms police, who broadcast it

Howls Rise Against Bus Reroute Plan

Residents Storm Park Commission With Objections Against Change

The very tentative suggestion made by William L. Potts, Traffic Engineer of the Michigan Automobile Club, to the Park Village's Planning Commission, that bus travel in the village might be made more convenient and safer by a re-routing of their lines of travel has borne strenuous fruit.

At the Commissioners' meeting last Monday night petitions of protest against the proposed routes fell like leaves in October. They came from practically all points along the proposed routes. There was no question about the protesters' feelings in the matter. They just didn't want buses of any sort running past their places of residence.

Most of them came from the Lakepointe area. This street has heretofore been free of buses, but in the new scheme for bus routes this street would come in for an important part in the north-south lines of travel.

One of the dissenters in this section intimated that travel would be so thick that the auto owners might as well remove their hubcaps and fenders because they would get knocked off anyway. (Continued on Page 2)

Pointers Asked To Fete Veterans

The Neighborhood Club is planning to bring 37 wounded soldiers from Percy Jones Hospital, to Grosse Pointe, after taking them to the Ann Arbor Football Game, on Saturday, November 24th.

Anyone who would like to take one or two of these boys into their home for Saturday night and Sunday until about 4 p. m., is urged to get in touch with Mrs. Ferris Fitch, NL 8458.

City Approves Alley Lights Off Kercheval

Brilliance of Avenue to Be Dimmed to Illuminate Rear of Stores

"Let there be light", said the council members of the City of Grosse Pointe in meeting Monday night. Their decision was the answer to a recommendation made at the previous meeting by Police Commissioner Clarence Blessed, that lights be installed in the alleys behind Kercheval avenue from Cadieux road to St. Clair avenue.

Commissioner Blessed said that in his opinion the lighting of the alleys would be a great protection to the stores which front on the avenue and would cancel out any invitation to thieves to visit the neighborhood. He also said it would make patrolling much easier for the men of the police department.

Discussion of the matter at the previous meeting brought the suggestion that the lights along Kercheval itself were much brighter than necessary, and it might be possible to cut these down, light the alleys and still not spend any extra money. The matter was referred to the lighting committee for study and the results were announced Monday night by Commissioner Hal Smith, Jr.

The committee recommended that the lights along Kercheval be reduced by about half, and that the alley lights be installed as asked by Commissioner Blessed. It was also recommended that a light be installed at the rear of Bon Secours Hospital for the convenience of the doctors and nurses who have to use the rear entrance at night, and to relocate the light in the block of Jefferson between Neff and St. Clair.

The council approved the recommendations unanimously.

Property Sale Put on Ballot

City Seeks to Obtain Permission to Sell Plot on Warren Avenue

An addition to the City ballot for the election on November 6 was approved by the council Monday night. It has to do with the proposed sale of property which the City owns in Detroit along Warren avenue.

A committee of the council has been studying the advisability of selling the property for some time. It recommended at Monday night's meeting that if the City could obtain $35,000 net cash for the plot it should sell.

City Attorney Albert Meder advised the councilmen that it would be necessary to obtain the approval of at least three-fifths of those voting at a regular or special election before such a sale could be made. In view of the fact that an election is scheduled for November 6, the council quickly approved placing the proposed sale on the ballot.

A Catholic Order has been interested in the property for some time, with the idea of building a school there.

$1,000 Is Stolen From Park Home

One of the most serious forcible entry and burglary cases that has occurred in the Pointe recently happened Saturday night in the Phillip Drinkaus home at 1105 Kensington. The thieves entered by breaking in the kitchen door sometime between 2 o'clock and 11:35 p. m.

The thieves stole about $1,000 in cash and other articles of value and all of the private papers which were in the strong box which contained the money. Later, in making a thorough search of the surrounding area the police found the empty box.

Municipal Officials Ask Cooperation in Cleanup Campaign

Victory Garden Council Sponsors Drive to Get Plots Cleared; Trucks Will Make Pickups

Municipal officials of the City, Park, Farms and Shores are cooperating with the Grosse Pointe Victory Garden Council to make next weekend's Cleanup Campaign a great success throughout the Pointe. The dates are November 2 through 4.

The Victory Garden Council has asked for a spotless community for the men and women coming home from the armed services. "They have seen enough of bombed-out villages and cities of rubbish scattered everywhere, of abandoned crops," a council statement says.

All residents are asked to clean up their own grounds, especially their Victory Garden plots, to burn what can be disposed of on the grounds, and to pile the rest where it may be gathered by the municipal trucks and carted away. Fires should not be started on streets in the Park or City, but may be in the Farms and Shores.

A special plea is made to clear away all dead plants from the garden plots. Hardy stalks like corn, tomatoes, peppers, squash, pumpkin and melon vines provide a harbor for all kinds of harmful garden insect pests. They also attract rats.

Those who can are also asked to help clean up vacant lots adjoining their own properties. The City will make its pickups on Monday, November 5, it was decided at the council meeting Monday night.

Mason School Cup Winner

In recognition of its outstanding traffic safety education program during the 1944-45 school year, the traffic and safety division of the Automobile Club of Michigan will present Mason School with the Traveling Safety Cup Award at 9 a. m. Monday, Oct. 29.

The presentation will be made by Bayard A. Clark, Automobile Club traffic analyst, to Miss Ethel Tucker, principal. The cup is not presented permanently to the school but is retained by the winning school for only the following school year.

Citing Mason School for its excellence in the field of safety education, Ernest P. Davis, director of the Automobile Club's safety and traffic division, declared, "This activity of Michigan educators directed toward the development of proper attitudes and habits of safety is a vitally important factor in the prevention of child traffic deaths and injuries. We are indeed fortunate in this state that so many teachers have such a keen appreciation of the need for traffic safety education."

Schools next in standing to Mason were Pierce, Junior High, Country Day, L. E. Maire and St. Paul's in that order.

Two Sets of Triplets Born In Hospital in Nine Months

The second set of triplets within this year at the Cottage Hospital arrived with the birth there on October 16 of two boys and a girl to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Folske of New Baltimore, Mich.

The mother and the little ones are in good condition. The two boys are slightly larger than the girl, weighing 4 lbs. 4 ounces and 4 pounds 3 ounces respectively. Baby sister was a strong third at 4 pounds 2 ounces.

The previous set of triplets were the Costello babies born last January. All three are now strong healthy babies averaging thirteen pounds each.

Mr. and Mrs. Folske were until recently residents of Grosse Pointe.

Lower Rate May Follow Waste Cuts

New York Concern Finds System in Better Condition Than Expected

Commissioner of Public Works William Gillett of the Park village presented an encouraging report to the Board of Village Commissioners Monday night on the results of the recent waste water survey.

Disturbed by fears of waste and inefficiency in the village's water service, the Commissioners some time ago authorized the village manager to retain the services of the Pitometer Survey company of New York to examine and report on the condition of the system. For this service the village paid the Pitometer company a fee of $2400. The consensus of the Board of Commissioners at the end of the reading of Mr. Gillett's report was that it was one of the best $2400 the village ever spent.

The high spots of the report were—nine major leaks were found, all in service lines, accounting for losses ranging from 2000 gallons to 9000 gallons per day. The aggregate loss was 67,000 gallons a day. Only one of these leaks was apparent on the surface, which is testimony to the wisdom of getting the service of a concern equipped to report on under surface conditions. All of these wastes have been stopped. No major leak was found in the mains. Such minor ones as were located were nothing more, the Pitometer company said, than would be expected in any normal efficient system.

The dollar saving to the village on the service leaks alone amounts to $1,650 a year, or two thirds of the total cost of the survey.

Most important of all to the taxpayers of the village is the fact that the general condition of the water service is in vastly better condition than feared. It will not be necessary for the village to undertake the extensive and costly operation of renewing much of the underground work. This represents an unknown but certainly large sum of money. Certain minor deficiencies were discovered, such as leaky valves, faulty meters, etc. The valves have already been repaired and the inaccurate meters are being replaced or repaired.

The saving in the water costs to the citizens and to the village government already effected or in immediate prospect, prompted by Commissioner Gillett that a study be made at once of the prospect of so reconstituting the basic water charges that a reduced rate can be set up for the citizens. Mr. Gillett said it is not a certainty that such reduction can be accomplished, but the heartening situation revealed justifies such an examination.

The Commissioners expressed their appreciation of the good work that Commissioner Gillett and Manager Lane had done and decided to act at once on the recommendations contained in the report.

Two Parked Cars Hit-Run Victims

A car belonging to Mrs. Charles R. Johnson of 784 Pemberton, parked in front of her home, was struck by a hit and run driver at 3 o'clock Sunday morning. The car was going north on Pemberton and did considerable damage to the parked car.

There were no witnesses to the collision and neither car nor license number are known. The police will appreciate any information coming in from a garage of a car with a badly damaged right front.

Earlier the same evening a car belonging to Charles Huntley of 3630 Beaconsfield, Detroit, was also hit by an unidentified night driver while it was parked at 15008 Mack. In this case the tail light was destroyed and the left rear fender badly wrinkled up.

City Studies Zoning Shift

Public Meeting Called to Discuss Moving Back of Business Line

A public meeting will be held at the City of Grosse Pointe municipal offices on November 19 for the purpose of discussing the feasibility of amending the zoning laws as they pertain to business property off Kercheval avenue.

It has been suggested that the line terminating the business section on the side streets of Kercheval be set back further. It is necessary to have a public meeting to give residents a chance to approve or protest before the council votes on a change in the ordinance.

Light Pole Is Knocked Down by Car in Farms

When Bernard Stroh, Jr. of 487 Rivard boulevard failed to stop at Moross and Grosse Pointe boulevard last Sunday night, he crashed into a light pole in front of 54 Moross and knocked it down.

Detroit Edison repaired the damage and Farms police issued a ticket to Mr. Stroh for reckless driving.

Percy Jones General Hospital Annex
Fort Custer, Michigan
October 17, 1945

Dear . . .

I am writing to thank you on behalf of the two patients of the Percy Jones Hospital Center who, thanks to your generosity, were able to attend the World Series game October 5th.

I can't think of anything, ever done for an army hospital patient that was more appreciated by the men than your ticket-donation. When the 300-odd soldier patients—who were privileged to attend the game—were told that they were going to the Series only because some person had elected to stay away from the game so that a man from Percy Jones might go, I feel certain that there wasn't a man who didn't realize the sacrifice involved.

If any soldier felt that the end of the war also meant the end of his being remembered, I know that your generous gesture must certainly have changed his feeling.

It is our hope that the nation will continue to remember those men in army hospitals who face months and, in many cases, years of hospitalization.

Sincerely yours,

The whole subject of re-routing buses has so far gone no farther than informal discussions before the Board of Park Village Planning Commissioners. It may never go any farther. It won't if the irate home owners along the affected area have anything to say about it.

The protest was expressed in several petitions carrying, in one case, as many as nearly sixty names, but many of the protests came from individuals who just took their pens in hand and let their hearts' feelings flow out in no uncertain words. Many of the protests came from mothers who are concerned over the safety of their small children which they reckoned would be further jeopardized by buses on usual streets.

Some day, if and when the proposal gets beyond the talk stage with the Planning commission, it should reach the Board of Village Commissioners, and the real answer will appear.

Boys and girls of junior high school age can go to either the Neighborhood Club or the John D. Pierce School. These parties will be held from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m. In addition to an auditorium program of movies, professional as well as a few amateur acts, there will be dancing from 9:30 to 11:30 p.m. Music at the Neighborhood Club will be furnished by Max Gail and his 10-piece orchestra, while at the Pierce School students will dance to the music of Eddie Marshall. George Elworthy is the center chairman at the Neighborhood Club and Charles Leavitt is the chairman at the Pierce School.

The senior high school students will as usual hold their party at the Grosse Pointe High School. Here, as at the other centers, there will be an auditorium program made up of the best professional and amateur acts, in addition to movies. It is planned to have the same two dance bands at the high school which played last year. Leroy Smith's orchestra will be in one gym and Del Delbridge and his musicians will furnish the music in the other gym. The high school party will begin at 7:30 p.m. and close at 11:30 p.m. The center chairman for the high school is Walter Cleminson.

The price of admission to the junior and senior high school parties will be 25c if tickets are purchased through the schools prior to noon, Wednesday, Oct. 31. Tickets purchased at the door will cost 50c. The Mother's Club and the Pierce P.T.A. will serve refreshments at the Neighborhood Club, Pierce School and the High School at a small additional charge.

Representatives of the following local organizations and schools have helped plan this year's program—Grosse Pointe Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis Clubs, American Women's Voluntary Services, American Association of University Women, Mothers Clubs, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion Grosse Pointe Post 303, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Township of Grosse Pointe, City of Grosse Pointe, Grosse Pointe Park, Grosse Pointe Farms, Grosse Pointe Shores, Grosse Pointe Woods, Elementary and Junior High P.T.A.'s, Board of Education, Parochial and Private Schools, Neighborhood Club, Junior League, Metropolitan Club of America, Inc., Grosse Pointe

Pointe Blood Bank Is Goal Of Rotarians' Annual Party

Big Event Will Be Held in Neighborhood Club on Monday Night, November 19; Hostess Corps Helping

The Grosse Pointe Rotary Club is making preparations for the biggest and most successful annual festival and general good time in its history.

Because many of the prizes are chickens, turkeys and ducks, they are called "feather parties". There are many other articles of artistic or practical value to be given as prizes.

The big prize of the evening will be the grand door prize of two round trip tickets to Florida by air. The lucky winner of these tickets will be able to make a trip to the land of winter sunshine free of travel expense.

While a deal of fun and amusement is always had at these parties, the real motive behind them is one of fine service for the community. This year the Club hopes to create the nucleus of a fund to provide a permanent blood bank for Grosse Pointe. The recent abandonment of the blood bank by the Red Cross in Detroit accentuates the importance of the project.

With all the fun and social contacts enjoyed by Rotary, the public should always remember that its main purpose is that of service to the Pointe. As such, its affairs are deserving of support from the entire community.

The big party will be held in the evening of Monday, November 19 in the Neighborhood Club. Tickets for the event can be obtained from any Rotary Club member. In addition to this a booth will be set up in the Jacobson store on Kercheval for the sale of tickets by members of the former Hostess Corps. There will probably be similar booths operating in other centrally located commercial establishments.

The Rotary Club recently assisted the Hostess Corps in its money raising project for the benefit of the Percy Jones Hospital and the corps members are happy now to assist the Rotary organization in its present enterprise.

League Seeks Federal Help For Building

Lane and Johnson Report on Meeting of State Group At Travers City

Village Manager Lane and Controller Johnson of the Park village, who represented the Park at the recent meeting of the Michigan Municipal League at Travers City made their report to the Commissioners Monday night.

Mr. Lane stated that one of the chief subjects discussed was the problem which is now holding the attention of all municipalities throughout the country and concerns the measure of State or Federal aid that may be forthcoming for municipal post war improvements.

Thus far the Federal Government has looked askance at suggestions for direct government aid for actual construction work and inclines to the belief that such national aid should be in form of participation in the cost of engineering plans similar to the scheme which was set up by Michigan on Governor Kelly's suggestion and in which several of the Pointe municipalities have already participated.

Hope was expressed at the league meeting that eventually some plan of Federal aid will be forthcoming similar in general outline to the 45-55 per cent federal aid plan in effect in the early days of the Roosevelt administration.

Mr. Lane also referred to a recent decision of the courts in Kalamazoo where on an issue before it, it had severely criticized the activity of the league in influencing legislation. The Court had made it clear that the organization is primarily intended to collect and forward information of legislative activities at the state capital which affect municipalities but is to operate in no sense as a lobby to influence the course of such legislation.

The State Municipal League has proved one of the most valuable agencies in the country as a clearing house for its members. All of the Pointe municipalities are members of it and highly appreciative of its services. Whether or not its recent lobbying activities, as charged by the Kalamazoo court, will affect its usefulness, is an as yet unanswered question.

HIGH HAIR-DO'S and gay costumes from Mexico's Acapulco amplify the natural charm of MISS PETIE WOOD of the Woods. During the war years, Petie, a veritable USO, had more than one woman's share of friendly dates with the boys on leave. Her impression on GI Joe's was terrific. Now, come peace, she learns by letter, phone and wire that no less than five of the boys will be home for Christmas—and Petie!

War Brides

OF THE 45,000 British wives of American boys, two will grace the Pointes. One, already here, is the wife of JACK CHAMBERLIN. The other—to arrive in turn—is MRS. JOHN HUME, JR., wife of Staff Sergeant Hume who gets out of the army this week.

More Bowling?

IN HIS OWN PLAN for reconversion, HENRY KINZIE, returned vet, turns his thoughts from stars and stripes to spares and strikes. The possibility of promoting bowling alleys in the Pointe's Rockefeller Center appeals to Hank. A similar project headed by HENRI GERMAIN was turned down by the Farms' Fathers several years back. With bowling limited to the Country Club alleys, other Farms' enthusiasts might like to see Hank's dream come true.

Doll Business

WITHOUT REALIZING IT, MRS. EUGENE W. LEWIS, JR., ardent Junior Leaguer on Neff road, went into business two years ago. She made a clever little doll for a friend, Margaret got so many requests for more dolls like it that she finally realized that a good thing was in the making. Today dozens of workers assist her on contract, and all dolls are made by hand. There are a dozen different numbers, all trademarked. This year's special is a Santa Claus doll, a favorite with big stores like Marshall Field. Husband Bill is salesmanager, bringing Margaret's creations to market, thus rounding out a big business in little dolls.

Uncle Sam Appreciates Fun, But Issues Warning to Kids

With the approach of Halloween, the United States Post Office Department, annual victim of seasonal pranks, has issued the following statement:

"Fun, laughter and happiness are some of the basic principals upon which our great country has survived. The relaxation they provide has made us stronger and more persevering in our efforts to ever maintain the privilege of keeping joy and happiness in our land of freedoms.

"Fun is one of the things our brothers, fathers and husbands recently fought for so valiantly and so successfully preserved.

"There are limits, however, to just how far we may go and what should be considered fun. Acts of harmful nature to others and destruction of property are later resented and destroy the joy and happiness of some seemingly harmless prank. This is experienced so often among school children and especially around Halloween. Many good paddlings have resulted afterward for some unconsidered and unkindful act performed the night witches ride brooms through space and jack-o-lanterns peer through the darkness.

People Who Live In Glass Houses

A woman residing in the 1,000 block on Yorkshire road telephoned to the Park police complaining of an investigation of rats about her premises and suggesting in no uncertain terms that they were caused by neighbors throwing leaves and rubbish in an adjoining vacant lot.

When the police arrived they proceeded to make a thorough examination of the premises and these adjoining. Their advice to the complainant was to have the leaves and rubbish cleared away from her own backyard.

The lady, much chagrined, said she would instruct her own gardener to clean it up, and said they could be assured he would not hereafter use their own place for a dumping ground.

"The Post Office Department is burdened with its share of damage to government property and loss and theft of mail matter entrusted to its care. Many complaints from patrons result. Uncle Sam who is a big strong broad shouldered man hates like the dickens to place the blame on some young boy or girl just having fun.

"Postmaster Roscoe B. Huston reports that in investigating a great many individual cases, no harm was intended yet some considerable degree of damage and inconvenience resulted.

"Without any attempt to curb the fun of youngsters on Halloween or any other time, they are cautioned to refrain from tampering with boxes on roads, streets or porches designated for the deposit and delivery of mail, or their contents. Such action is a serious violation of postal laws and severe penalties may result for offenses of this nature. Parents are cautioned to warn young children of the seriousness of such actions and of the consequences."

Boisterous Kids Keep Police Busy

A prominent citizen of the military caste who lives on Windmill Pointe drive reported to the Park police Sunday night that a gang of boys and girls were raising merry ned in his neighborhood.

Exactly eight minutes after the police had dispersed the noisy ones, another complaint came over the phone from a resident on Pemberton, duplicating the first report with the more urgent message that "a man was calling for help."

The police responded to this call on the run. They found much the same crowd of not so merry merry-makers, but after dispersing them a second time a diligent search of the concealed spots of the neighborhood failed to disclose the straggled remains of any helpless wayfarer.

CLASSIFIEDS GET RESULTS!

Driveway Widths Limited by City

Driveways for future businesses in the City of Grosse Pointe will be limited to 30 feet in width, according to a resolution passed at the council meeting Monday night.

The matter came up at a previous meeting when it was pointed out that some business establishments, especially gas stations, had used far too much of the curbing for driveways, thus cutting down parking space.

A new station is soon to be erected at Fisher road and Mack, and because this is a very narrow street at that point, three driveways will be permitted.

The resolution provides that in the future only two 30 foot driveways will be allowed each business establishment, unless the council approves an application for special dispensation.

Right Address Means Freedom

The residents at the property at 725 Washington road reported to the city police at 8 o'clock Saturday night a suspicious looking man who had been loitering about the street in the same place for the past half hour.

When Officers Rabaut and Mauch investigated they found a man apparently about fifty years old who was mumbling to himself and acting in an altogether strange manner. On questioning he said he "was in a lot of trouble" but refused to elucidate further. He freely told them his name however, and said his residence was the Harper avenue branch of the Y. M. C. A. Moreover he had plenty of papers and general credentials to make good on his story.

The police opined that a man who hailed from such a respectable domicile as the "Y" must be all right, so let him go on his way with the admonition to do his soliloquizing in a less nervous neighborhood. And the cause of it all still remains a mystery.

We won the war by sticking to our guns. We can only win the peace by sticking to our principles.

The Truth

It has been many a year since the American people have heard as patriotic and common sense expression from their President on the theme of national defense as that issued by President Truman in a message to the Congress on Tuesday.

He bluntly told the national legislators that the only alternative to a large standing army is a still greater body of trained civilian reserves if we are to live in even reasonable safety in the future against attack from any hostile power.

His proposal conforms exactly to the formula of the democratic processes pursued in our political life from our beginnings. It is an admirable adaption of the precept of Washington to "prepare for war in time of peace" without once having to employ the phrase. It was not necessary. All of his listeners knew intuitively to what he referred.

The people will approve also his emphasis on the fact that this great body of our trained youth is not to be confounded with any of our existing military establishments. They are to be distinctively a component part of our civilian life and remain in this status until they are inducted into the militant armed forces, if and when a great emergency arises.

His almost casual reference to the physical and moral benefits to be gained by our young manhood by this year of training lost none of its force because of the mildness of the observation.

The people will also like his thrice made reference to the fact that Congress, the real voice of the people, is to set the moment when these millions of our youth are to march to their country's defense.

The President's recommendation was largely predicated on the recent report of General Marshall on the conduct of the war in its later stages and his statesmanlike advice for our future safety. This too gives strength to his argument, as no utterance of any public man in this country, in either civil or military life, in recent years has so instantly commanded the serious thought of the people as has that of our Chief-of-Staff.

The President has laid the case directly in the lap of Congress. It is up to that body to implement the wise proposal, which the overwhelming majority of the people already approve.

Wilson's Proposal

It is reported that President Truman and many of the more obvious politicians of Congress are more afraid of deflation than inflation. This is the natural viewpoint to expect from men who live constantly in fear of God (the masses) and the next election.

This is the pap that stimulates them to publicly hold to the belief that it is better to raise wages at once without further ado, even if the way is not yet exactly clear, how industry is to pay out more than it takes in. They doubtless hope that somehow, someday this slight economic barrier can be hurdled.

The idea of raising prices to compensate for increased costs is naturally repugnant to this school of thought. There is slight difference in the opinions of Mr. Truman, the more radical labor union economists and the professional economic management group, on this general thesis. They would all like to arrange it so that business would take the entire licking.

Mr. Truman and his advisers are firmly convinced that the only way to bring prosperity is to increase the buying power by higher wages. That sounds good too. Every wage earner, at least every wage earner who never bothers himself with annoying thinking, is for it heart and soul. All the union leaders ask is 52 hours pay for 40 hours work. That certainly strikes a popular chord.

Obviously the theory of the labor strategists is that when faced with a difficult issue if they only aim high enough some of the velvet is bound to fall on their side of the fence.

The eventual reception that will be accorded the proposal of C. E. Wilson, President of General Motors, will be watched with no little concern. Mr. Wilson doesn't have to be told that the more wages the worker gets the more he will have to spend. That's good for business and General Motors et al, are certainly business concerns. But business has to look at the other side of the picture also. Are they going to take in enough to meet these higher costs of production? That's the as yet unanswered question.

It is improbable that Mr. Wilson is any more impressed with the general idea of "spending ourselves into prosperity" than was President Hoover, or his own distinguished predecessor, Samuel P. Sloan, who inveigled against that scheme more than ten years ago.

We began following it out in the whole national field twelve years ago and instead of spending ourselves into prosperity nearly landed, Governmentally speaking, in the bankruptcy courts. The war itself was merely an unwitting further foray into the same field on a grand scale. The figures on the bad side of the ledger for both the prewar and post war eras are so monumental that no one yet seems to know within billions what they actually are.

Mr. Wilson's plan is that the employes shall be paid an advance in wages of probably about eight percent. They should work 45 hours per week instead of 40 as the union leaders propose. These hours, he says, with the increased rate, would give labor practically the same take home wage it got during the war. And industry, with this increase in hours worked, might be able to get by on at least an even keel.

We'll see what happens. At least it is an opinion from a man who knows something about the practical side of the problem.

THANKSGIVING FOR ALL —

Women Competitors

No one in fairness can argue against paying women the same pay as men when engaged in similar work. It is not difficult however to envisage the social and economic repercussions growing out of the exact application of this practice in industry.

Naturally, thousands of women whom the war emergency called into industry enjoyed receiving the biggest money they had ever earned in their lives. They are going to put up a great fight to continue this favored position if possible.

Fortunately the average normal woman would prefer to be a wife and mother with a home of her own and this circumstance will doubtless go far in countless thousands of cases to solve this looming question of competition in industry between men and women. In cases however where a woman has passed the age where marriage is probable or where she is the sole support of aged parents or younger brothers and sisters, she should be assured of a completely equal chance with men for employment and at the same wage where she is equal in productive capacity.

Because of her lesser physical strength and, in most cases her unequal manual dexterity, industrial employers will probably be loath to hire women if men are available for the same job. Added to this, the common understanding that most women regard work as a stop gap until they are married, makes them undesirable with employers who frequently judge the desirability of a new employe through the view of his long time service which would become more valuable to the employer with his increasing skill or experience.

Where young women workers insist upon work in industry which will obviously close the door to employment for some young man with a family, either already in being or prospective, to support, she should receive secondary consideration. The exception should be as mentioned where she is herself a supporter of dependants.

The young woman of marriageable age who insists upon employment in competition with young men who normally look forward to the establishment of homes of their own is acting directly against her own best social security.

Multiple such circumstances by the tens of thousands and we have introduced into American domestic life one of the greatest threats that has arisen in the aftermath of this total war. The whole question is so charged with social dynamite that the wisest treatment of the prospective problem by either legal enactment or union labor regulation, is exactly nothing at all.

Adolescent Good Manners

A recent outbreak of disorderly conduct on the part of a few High School students has so disturbed the school and police authorities that they have already had one meeting to consider methods of curbing this tendency and others are planned.

The truth is that this small ruckus that occurred a few weeks ago that centered about a handful of too strenuous half grown boys in the High School was not even remotely associated with the wave of juvenile outlawry that is currently sweeping the country.

The minor misdemeanors of these local youngsters called more for a few well applied lessons in good manners than any other treatment. The responsibility for this in the first instance starts in the home. That is where the growing boy or girl should naturally receive their direction, which like first impressions, are the most lasting. There is a too great tendency among parents of this period to pass on to others not only the mental training of their children but also the control of their manners and morals. However conscientiously our school teachers and public authorities may labor to fulfill this implied obligation they are assuming an almost impossible task unless the initial wholesome impulse is given in the home and cooperation in that quarter maintained.

Fortunately in this favored Grosse Pointe community this is done in the great majority of homes. Where it has been neglected the parents of youngsters who get into trouble should be wise enough to whole heartedly back up the school and police authorities in such correctional or punitive steps as they adopt.

Decent cooperation with the public authorities at this stage may spare the parents' great distress later on where some of these youthful escapades left uncorrected, might lead to crime and major offenses against society.

Sweden's Penitentiaries Go

The Swedish Government is seriously considering the abolition of its penitentiaries and placing all their inmates at work in healthful, outdoor employment in agriculture or in training for useful gainful occupations.

It looks like a vast step forward in the age old problem of combining punishment with reformation and social betterment.

Workmen in America and other countries have always objected to facing the competition of prison labor, and in this labor was exactly right. At the same time it is humane and socially desirable that these condemned members of society should be given a wholesome chance for rehabilitation and restoration to useful membership.

Grosse Exaggerations

A. PRYOR

"If you can keep your head and calmly ponder
How silly spending drives the prices high;
If you can save the cash you'd like to squander
And only buy the things you need to buy;
If you can do your part to fight inflation
By simply being thrifty with your self,
You'll do a vital service to the Nation
And furthermore . . . you'll benefit yourself."
(Berton Bralley)

Tyro after-dinner-speakers, please take note. At the banquet given recently by and for the Automobile Manufacturers Association, everyone and his grandfather got up to say a few hundred words. All the 'parts' men spoke first, then Mr. Bigshot was called upon last . . . as the piece-de-resistance of the banquet. He rose to his feet, handed a sheaf of papers to the man on his left, and said, "There are enough of these (his speech) to pass around to each man. I think this bladder contest has gone on long enough!" P.S. The speech-making broke up!

Right in the midst of all the congratulations that were being showered on Dean Robinson on the occasion of his being elected to the presidency of Briggs Manufacturing Company, something happened that might have taken a lot of wind out of his sails . . . if he were that kind of a guy. Which he isn't.

"Robbie" was getting his exercise by raking the leaves from his Kenwood road home. Mrs. Robinson was called to the telephone. It was the cook in the house across the street and her message was—"Mrs. Robinson, will you please see if that man working for you has any spare time? We've been trying for days to find someone to rake the leaves over here . . . and that man seems so good at it."

One day last week, a couple from out of town were taken by their host and hostess to the house of a friend, for afternoon tea. The day was fine, so the group sat in the formal garden . . . which happens to be quite a distance from the main house . . . in fact, the house isn't even visible. However, the home of the next door neighbor IS in sight of the garden.

During the conversation the male guest, in trying to describe a distance, said, "I'd say the thing ran from about here to the beginning of your garage" . . . whereupon he pointed to the neighbor's house. The neighbor, who was present at the time, is to be commended for not saying a word!

We horned in on a local dance last week and planted out flat feet quietly on the floor while we watched one of the local debs turn on a jitter-bug out of this world. We remarked enviously to a girl standing next to us, "Isn't she GOOD!" Said the female of the species: "Sure . . . anybody could be that good with $500.00 worth of lessons from Arthur Murray!"

And speaking of jitter bugs . . . we nominate Bill Curran in the male department . . . boy, oh boy . . . and in the lady department it would be hard to find better all round dancers who KNOW their rhythm, than Mrs. Charles A. (Susie Seyburn) Meyer and Mrs. Charles (Cynthia Dean) Mohler.

A friend in New York writes us that during the newspaper strike there a few months ago, a lot of funny sights were rampant, but none as amusing as the well known member of the New York Stock Exchange, seated in his chauffeur-driven car at the Asbury Park railroad station, calmly perusing the only paper available that morning . . . The Daily Worker.

We read that not long ago, Prof. Allen Crafton of the University of Kansas, gave the following toast, during an address in the middle west: "I give you Kansas . . . the state where there are more rivers and less water; more dry voting and less dry living; where you can look farther and see less than any place in the world except Texas."

And that reminded us of the lanky Texan, waiting in line at an aircraft corporation in San Diego, Cal., singing "Deep in the Heart of Texas" and shouting intermittently, "Boy, Oh, Boy! I'm goin' home." His friends asked him why he was so anxious to return to Texas . . . he replied, "WHAT? Have my baby bawn in California? You must be crazy!"

Soap opera haters can really go to town these days with their gripes. For the past week, not only do you have to listen to the commercial, but three fourths of the story (in two cases we know of) are taken up with ringing in of yet another ad about a miracle washing machine.

The two programs we have in mind both deal with a triangle . . . a third party who is a menace to the husband in one case and the wife in the other. As we eat our morning meal of grapefruit covered with Duz (which does everything), we listen with bated breath for the de-no-mong (i.e., the husband finding out all) . . . when suddenly the wife, who has been distraught over her problem for weeks, says to her husband, who has been frantic for as many weeks, "Dear, have I told you about the party I'm going to give so my friends can learn how to get one of those new miracle washing machines?" Hubby puts all thoughts of infidelity behind him as he croons, "No! Do tell me all about it." She does . . . for ten minutes while he ejaculates from time to time with feverish breath over the wonders of the new washer. It is all fantastic.

Seven building permits granted in the City during the month are for building with a total valuation of about $8,000. From January 1, 1945 to date, there have been permits issued for new buildings and alterations totalling $21,891.

Hospital Care

By FRED M. KOPP, R.Ph.

Hospitals have become really palaces of healing. Shiningly clean, extraordinarily efficient, miracles of order, the very atmosphere of comfort and often of beauty is a contributing factor to rapid recovery.

Often a patient spends a few days in the hospital for a routine checkup. The rest from care and worry, the jangle of radios, telephones, newspaper headlines, is in itself a great assistance to the diagnostician.

Blood pressure subsides, nervous strain disappears. The doctor is able to get to the true facts of the case, without disturbing factors which exist in so many war nervous situations today.

The best medication is provided by a skilled druggist.

Park Invests In Uncle Sam

The Park village has about $60,000 in its Improvement Reserve Fund, set up by appropriations of $30,000 in the two successive years of 1944 and 1945. This fund has been in process of creation as a nest egg against the time when the village will be spending extra sums of money on improvements that are in the post war agenda. At the Commissioners' meeting Monday night Commissioner Karl B. Goddard, chairman of the Finance Committee, proposed that his committee be authorized to put half of this amount, or $30,000, in short term Certificates of Indebtedness, in which form it will be always immediately available for conversion into actual cash whenever needed. This action was authorized. At the same time he said he had been informed by Mr. Johnson, the Village Controller, that about $55,000 was available in the Park Site bonds sinking fund account would not be needed for redemption purposes for several years and that these funds might as well be set to work earning some money for the village.

Kid-Bits

By Joanie Williams

Hi again everybody . . . Ain't life grand? Things have been happening so fast 'n furious 'round here lately that home-work's hardly getting a fair chance. Take last Saturday frinstance. Should have seen the mob 'a kids that dashed out to Wyandotte to watch G. P.'s fourth big football game of the season. Just to mention a few who were running 'round like mad saying "Hi" to everyone . . . we saw: Hank Kuhlman, Bill Kerr, Julie Hubner, George Eversman, (home on furlough), Don Sullivan, B. J. Auch, Letty 'n Frannie Kretchmar, Jan Reid, Annie Davis, Marilyn Buck, Joey Johnstone, Dick Shumann (home on furlough), Bob Brinker, Jeff Welsher, Bob Cudlip, Tom Parker, Mike Chagot, Joan Fast, Sue Hoffman, Donna Dahlen, Jo Faulk, Vince Scheck, George Beatty, Hill Pierce, Bill Hester, and just lots of others. Out in front leadin' all the cheers we saw Buster Knope 'n Dick Phillips and helping them out now and then was Loyal Jodar, home from U. of M. for the week end.

The Sagebrush Stomp up at the High School Saturday night also attracted the usual big crowd. Saw among the happy gang: Barb Golla 'n Harry Garber, Graham Miekke 'n Carolyn Robinson, Ed Isbey 'n Annie Davis, Dan Beck 'n Mary Thorn, Butch McKendrick 'n "Izlie" Baxter, Hattie Hovenstein 'n Jim Sanford, Karin Lindh 'n Buster Knope, Annie Candler 'n George Beatty, Ray Shumann, 'n Letty Kretchmar, Paul Friese 'n Frannie Kretchmar, Judy Zick 'n Bill Penoyer, Don Hiles 'n Beth Klaver, Marilyn Lamb 'n Ched Swenson, Earl Lapp 'n Ellie Hewitt, Bill Queen, 'n Anna Joyce Scott, John Bartemier 'n Annie Leiminger, and more too. Lotsa fellas home on leaves and furloughs were there with dates like George Eversman 'n Joey Johnstone, Chuck Standish 'n Janie Sheaffler, Dick Krimmel 'n Dodo Giemond, Jack Huckins 'n Pat Baumgarten, and Dick Shumann 'n Barb Webb. Round the edges we saw George Kennedy, Dan Guy, Bill Kildow, Ted Likert, Dan LaFerte, Andy Creamer, Vince Scheck, and Dave Sutter making up a good part of the stag line.

Several small parties sprang up after the S. A. dance. One of them that was reported to be pretty special was over at Jack Williams' house with George Eversman 'n Joey Johnstone, Jack Huckins 'n Pat Baumgarten, Julie Hubner 'n Adele Gillette, Dick Krimmel 'n Dodo Giemond, Hank Kuhlman 'n Mitz Cronin, Walt Bailey 'n Donna Dahlen, Bill Kerr 'n B. J. Auch, Loyal Jodar 'n Macky MacPherson, and Carol Castricum was Jack's date.

'Nother party that was started out at Carol Lecklider's and ended up at Barb Golla's was composed of Carol 'n Ed Shoulb, Don Winslow 'n Kay Schrenkeisen, Ax Jemal 'n Dolly Lisse, Dick King 'n Mary Roney, Barb Greenleaf 'n Eric Anschuetz, Thelma Fife 'n Bob Winning, and Barb was with Harry Garber.

Also heard 'bout a big hag party with all the fixin's over at Nancy Hall's house Saturday night. There was Joyce Mulkey, Prim Groch, Bev Brown, Sal Potter, Pat McKean, Sal Sutherland, Nancy Weisinger, Barb Bill, Pat Mason, Dawn Osius, Bunny McKinnan, Jo Collins, and Diane Scripps, 'n Loel Amburg just in from Kingswood with Loel's week end guest, "Eddie" Von Henkie.

Couple of fellas came home from Dartmouth for a short visit last week end. Names? Why Don Kuhn, Bill Mackey and Jim Krentler, of course.

Next Friday night there'll be a big hag dance at Rocena Morton's house for the benefit of the "Pericon", Country Day's year book. Some of the gals already have dates lined up, like Sal Potter 'n Bill Ghesquire, Joyce Mulkey 'n Johnny Cosgrove, Flo Spalding 'n Artie Davis, Pat McKean 'n Chunny Pemberthy, and Betsy Whelden 'n Louis Palmer.

Marva Machris is giving a "Come As You Are" party Saturday for the whole senior class at Liggett. Some of the lucky gals are: Marj Maxon, Jean Haliday, Jean-Faye Thomas, Jean Marson, Mona Lu Jacobs, Bev Brown, Peggy Jackson, Kitty Carey, Joy Pickell, Sally Childs, and all the rest.

The Liggett field hockey team is giving a weiner roast in honor of the girls on the Sacred Heart Convent team after their practice game on Tuesday.

Last Sunday afternoon Mitz Cronin, Macky MacPherson, Mary Thorn, Marilyn Kaiser, Marilyn Smith, Donna Dahlen, Adele Gillette, B. J. Auch, Annie Wakeman, Dottie Wulz, Jan Reid, Annie Davis, Letty and Frannie Kretchmar, Joanie and Janie Gehlert, Libby Powell, Carolyn Orr, Carol Chadwick, Patty Erskin, Pauline Perrone, Barb Doherty, Evie Osborn, Joan Bauman, Ellie Hewitt, Joey Johnstone, and lots of others arrived at Barb Moynaux's all dressed in their Sunday bests for a very super tea.

Guest that's 'bout enough dirt for this week, 'sides the first finger, right hand is suffering from an acute case of "type-writeritis" . . . Be sure and don't forget the big community Halloween party next Wednesday night and I'll see ya all mighty soon.

Child's Fear of the Barber

By GARRY C. MEYERS, Ph. D.

The child's first hair-cut at the barber shop may prove a terrifying experience.

"Dear Dr. Myers:—My son, nearly three, is afraid of the ordeal of a hair-cut in the barber shop. I have taken him twice. He cried and screamed until he vomited, was soaking wet with perspiration and completely gave out and went to sleep.

Never Fearful
"I sat in the chair and held him. He had never expressed fear of people. The day prior to this I took him to church where he sat with 500 people. But the day following his trip to the barber shop the minister came to call on us. The minute he came in the door my little boy started to cry just as in the barber shop and was soaking wet with perspiration and gave out and went to sleep.

"Am I doing right to take him to the barber shop when he is so afraid? Please answer me in the enclosed envelope."

Doctor's Advice
In answering this mother, I advised about as follows: Don't have the barber try to cut that child's hair for several months in the meanwhile, help this child feel, gradually, more secure in the presence of any stranger. Hold him when a male guest arrives, keeping at a distance from the guest that will be comfortable to the little tyke. Work on the principle of very gradual adjustment, which principle I discuss at length in my special bulletin, "Fears" (enclosed).

During the intervening months clip a few stray locks of this child's hair yourself to help him grow adjusted to the sound of the scissors. Long before he is to be clipped by the barber, invite the barber for a casual visit into the family circle, with the understanding you will pay him for his time. That would be a small expenditure in consideration of the serious problem you are attacking.

Another's Hair-cut
Later, take this child to the barber shop with you to see another member of the family having a hair-cut, a second family member keeping and entertaining him the while, helping him feel secure. Also, have him see one or more other children he knows having their hair cut.

During such a visit to the barber's, he might grow more acquainted with the barber, see his shears, comb, and how the chair is adjusted, anything to help him grow gradually adapted to experiences at a barber shop. If, at last, when you try him again and he still evinces strong fear, don't force him to go through the ordeal. Work still longer at helping him feel secure and be ready to cooperate comfortably. The time and patience you invest in such procedure will net you rich dividends in this child's emotional life.

Let all parents who take the child to the barber for the first time be very skillful lest this youngster might be terrified by the strange experience. The same principle applies to his early visits to the dentist. In either instance, it usually is advisable to take the child thither several times before there is any work on his hair or teeth.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. I have always encouraged my daughter, 13, to bring her friends home with her but she sometimes brings one in just before mealtime when it may be very inconvenient to have a dinner guest.

A. Let this child learn to plan always with you in due time beforehand when she wishes to bring home a dinner guest.

Wee Lydia Stroh Is Christened

In Christ Church Chapel Sunday afternoon tiny Linda Dwyer Stroh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Stroh, Jr., of Beverly road, was christened by the Rev. Francis B. Creamer.

Linda's grandmother, Mrs. J. Dwyer Kinnucan, feted the christening party at a tea in her home after the ceremony.

Frances Stroh and Mrs. Charles H. Bliss, Jr. were godmothers for the infant, and George W. Malcomson, Jr. here godfather. Coming from Phoenix, Ariz. for the occasion, Mrs. Bliss and her son, Billie, are staying with Mr. and Mrs. C. Hascal Bliss, of Beverly road.

Society News Gathered from All of the Pointes

From Another Pointe of View

by Jane Schermerhorn

Things are a little on the zany side this week . . . We met a fascinating East Indian . . . complete in native garb . . . who several times during the evening struck out at American society pages . . .

We never did exactly understand what the charmer's complaint about them was . . . She just kept saying in a dark-eyed Bombay way, "Your society pages in America . . . I don't understand . . . Truthfully, we don't either . . . so we were kind of glad that it all passed unsolved . . ."

When the day comes that soc. pages can be explained . . . just where'll we be . . . ! . . .

REAL DISGRACE

Then an acquaintance . . . who has several high degrees in science from some of the Eastern colleges . . . and who was an all A student . . .

Was in a complete funk the other evening . . . "I'm going to flunk" . . . she repeated over and over . . . And we finally learned that she was afraid she was going to be flunked as an Arthur Murray instructor because she can't jittersbug! . . .

AN OLD ELEPHANT BELLE

We were chagrined the morning a gentleman arrived at our desk . . . he said he came as an admirer . . . and that he had brought something which reminded him of us . . . Our smile weakened when we saw an elephant bell in his outstretched hand . . .

But the day was considerably cheered when we heard from Miss Annie Ward Foster . . . that sometimes our pearls are read in far away places . . . This time a letter from Lieut. Bob Standart, on Leyte . . . in Miss Foster's mail . . . told us the flattering news . . .

BOB STANDART REPORTING

We were so proud to think of someone reading Grosse Pointe News way off in the Philippines that we begged Miss Foster's permission to reprint the letter in part . . . It's dated, Leyte, October 1 . . . and reads:

"Dear Miss Foster, This is a short note from a far off spot but Mother sent me a clipping from the Grosse Pointe News telling of the great Victory Ball that you're planning for your next May Party. So, naturally, I couldn't resist writing and wishing you all the luck and success in the world in all your plans. The only other wish I could add to the above is that I'll be on hand for the great celebration. May parties are happy childhood memories for all of us to recall.

"As to what I've been doing (excuse this scribble and the occasional cross outs as the ship is rolling just a little too much for my penmanship) in the past three and a half years: "After graduating from college have been sort of a world traveler with the Navy seeing such spots as England with its London; France with its Paris; The Atlantic with the Azores; The Pacific with Pearl Harbor; Guam, the Philippines, etc.

"This is soon coming to an end we all hope but it's been an experience as is all of life. Sure would like to hear from you, Sincerely, Bob Standart" . . .

AN IDEA TO ACT UPON

We think right here and now . . . there should be a great big drive on the part of all the parents of Miss Foster's former pupils . . . and present ones . . . to see that the big Victory Ball becomes a reality . . . It would be a joyous . . . and deeply Detroit way . . . of welcoming home our boys and girls . . .

HERE AND THERE

And add facts about The Pointers: Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Evans (the former Catherine Viot) who have made their home in Cincinnati for some time . . . are returning to the Pointe and have bought a house on Colonial road.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cope of Suningdale will be among those flocking to Grosse Pointe Yacht Club this Saturday evening for the Halloween party . . . they'll be hosts at a cocktail party before the dinner . . . and the special occasion will be Mr. Cope's birthday anniversary . . . they've asked about 24 guests . . .

Just to let you know that the Defer School PTA is keeping busy . . . they're having a meeting this very Thursday afternoon (Continued on Page 8)

Short And To The Pointe

Portrait of a Pointer

MRS. CARSTEN TIEDEMAN of Kenwood road posed for this picture in her home at the request of her daughter Mary, who wanted the picture for her birthday present. The artist is Mrs. John P. St. Clair of Birmingham, the former Jean DeVos of Indian Village, whose works have won prizes in many art exhibitions in Detroit and elsewhere. Photograph by Fred Runnells.

MRS. JOSEPH B. SCHLOTMAN, of Lake Shore road, and MRS. HARRINGTON E. WALKER, of Dyer lane, made up for wartime travel restrictions by heading for New York last week. The Ritz was their headquarters during their seven day stay in the metropolis.

From Atlanta, Ga. MRS. NELLE DUSENBURY arrived in the Pointe for a visit with her daughter, MRS. CARSTEN TIEDEMAN, of Kenwood road.

Approving of his parents' new home on Lakeland avenue, HARRY COMAN MUNROE has discarded his title of Radioman First Class now that he is back in civilian life. Harry had two years duty in the Marshall Islands. His parents are MR. AND MRS. STEWART W. MUNROE.

MAJ. AND MRS. EDWARD H. MURPHY, of Piqua, O., recent house guests of the CHARLES S. VAN DYKES, of Beverly road, are busy people. They returned to Ohio for a few days after leaving the Pointe and before going on to Hot Springs, Va., where they plan to stop with Mrs. Murphy's aunt and uncle, MR. AND MRS. SHOUTEAU WALSH.

When the postman stops at the Lincoln road home of MR. AND MRS. CAMERON BEACH WATKINSON these days, it is usually with letters from their son, CAPT. REUBEN WATKINSON, now in Japan. The captain served in New Guinea, New Britain, Luzon and Mindanao. His wife, the former Paula Squire, and their two children are in Carmel, Calif.

MRS. HARRY G. LYON, of Kenwood court, has left for Santa Monica, Calif., but plans to return home for Christmas.

On hand to cheer the Notre Dame football games this season are MR. AND MRS. RAY WHYTE, of Trombley road. The Whytes spent last week-end in Bay City with his parents, MR. AND MRS. PETER WHYTE.

Much-feted Pointe visitors were MRS. WICK HENRY and her daughter, JOAN, who have gone on to Can Francisco after a stay with MR. AND MRS. ANDREW D. HOTCHKISS, of Rivard boulevard, and MR. AND MRS. CHARLES B. CROUSE, of Provençal road. Joan also spent some time with her father, EDWIN B. HENRY, of Belanger road.

LIEUT. AND MRS. PIERRE J. FONT are dividing their leave between her parents, the H. MURRAY NORTHROPs, of Three Mile drive, and his mother, MRS. RENAUD FONT, of Lincoln road.

MRS. H. H. BORGMAN, of Berkshire road, is taking advantage of Indian Summer for her trip to Arlington, Va. to visit her son-in-law and daughter, MAJ. AND MRS. D. E. FARKES. Later this month MR. BORGMAN will meet her in New York.

October vacationers include MR. AND MRS. TAYLOR H. SEEBER, of Merriweather road, who spent a fortnight at the Homestead, Hot Springs, Va.

After a week with the HOWARD P. BALLANTYNES, of McKinley place, LIEUT. AND MRS. JOHN M. NORCOTT, with their son, DAVEY, set out for the East to visit MR. AND MRS. E. P. DODGE. The lieutenant will be on terminal leave until Oct. 30, and the Norcotts will divvy the next two months between the Pointe and Evanston, Ill., the home of his parents, MR. AND MRS. HENRY NORCOTT.

Joining the ranks of civilians is LIEUT. ROBERT F. WEBER, USNR, who is settling in his Touraine road house with MRS. WEBER and DAVID and ROSALIND after a year's service in Panama.

MRS. THOMAS T. PETZOLD of Edgemont Park, returned from a long stay at her summer home just in time to pack for a week in St. Paul, Minn., where she visited her brother-in-law and sister, MR. AND MRS. S. M. SHEPARD, JR. The Petzolds vacationed at Rye Beach, N. Y. with their children, ANNA DEE, BILLY, RUTH and PATTY.

For the first time since Pearl Harbor MRS. LAURA HIGBIE, of E. Jefferson avenue, was hostess at a Sunday morning breakfast for Metamora Hunt Club riders. The party was an annual event before the war and promises to be again.

Mary Jean Campbell Weds Stuart Hanger

Evening Ceremony Held in Harvard Road Residence of the Bride's Brother; Couple to Make Home in Detroit

Simplicity keyed the Saturday evening ceremony which united in marriage Mary Jean Campbell and Stuart T. Hanger, of Portsmouth, Va., in the Harvard road home of the bride's brother, Clarence D. Campbell.

The young couple repeated their vows before the Rev. Frank Fitt.

Mary Jean is the daughter of the late Mary Dickinson Campbell and the late Clarence A. Campbell. Mr. Hanger is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Hanger.

A street-length dress of fuchsia satin was the choice of the bride for her wedding. With it she wore a matching toque and corsage of white orchids.

Mrs. C. Barrett Campbell, of Grand Rapids, Mary Jean's matron of honor and only attendant, was gowned in powder blue crepe. Her flowers were sweet-heart roses.

C. Barrett Campbell was Mr. Hanger's best man, and ushering guests to their places was Compton Beaumont.

A reception was held in the Clarence Campbell home.

For her wedding trip the new Mrs. Hanger changed into a plum colored suit and hat, with black accessories.

The Ridge road home of MR. AND MRS. OWEN R. SKELTON is bustling with excitement these days with COL. OSCAR G. SKELTON here from Dallas, Tex. and JOYCE SKELTON and her Bennington classmate, JEAN McKEE, of Bennington, Vt., home between semesters. On Saturday Joyce honored Jean at a luncheon in the Country Club. Guests included PAM KNOWLSON, CYNTHIA FINN, PAT BAUM, GARTEN, BRYAN BREESTER and BETTY KOEBEL.

Wearing the Purple Heart, the Bronze Star, the Legion of Merit, the Presidential Unit Citation and six battle stars, LIEUT. BENJAMIN F. ROBERTSON is spending a 25-day sick leave with his parents, the B. F. ROBERTSONS, of Harvard road. Mrs. Robertson is also here from Boston, where the lieutenant has been hospitalized since returning to the States from Europe in January.

Snow time can't come too soon for the LEWIS FISHER BROWN family, of Grand Marais boulevard, who have leased a beautiful ranch in Tucson, Ariz. for the winter months. Mrs. Brown's parents, MR. AND MRS. LOVELL R. KRAUS, of Berkshire road, will be practically their neighbors, for they, too, have taken a ranch house for the season.

Among the Pointers who have already migrated South are MRS. ADDISON E. HOLTON and her daughter, BETSY, of Bishop road, who have joined the resorters at Hot Springs, Va.

House-hunting in the Pointe occupies the time of LIEUT. AND MRS. TED GUETHING, who are bidding with the CARL T. GUETHINGS out in Birmingham while Ted is on terminal leave from the Navy.

Also awaiting discharge from the Navy is LIEUT. CMDR. FREDERIC M. SIBLEY. He is back in his Whittier road home after two years in the Aleutians.

CAPT. FRANK E. WERNERKEN'S silver bars were seen in town last week as the officer visited his parents, the senior Wernekens, of McKinley road. His wife, CONSETTA, met him in Washington upon his return with her discharge papers from the Army Nurses Corps in hand.

LIEUT. CMDR. AND MRS. RALPH B. NETTING, of Lincoln road, are back in the Pointe after journeying to Annapolis for the hundredth anniversary of the United States Naval Academy. They were the guests of REAR ADM. AND MRS. C. A. TREXEL, of Washington.

Much-feted Pointe visitors were MRS. WICK HENRY and her daughter, JOAN, who have gone on to San Francisco after a stay with MR. AND MRS. ANDREW D. HORTCHIKSS, of Rivard boulevard, and MR. AND MRS. CHARLES B. CROUSE, of Provencal road. Joan also spent some time with her father, EDWIN B. HENRY, of Belanger road.

LIEUT. AND MRS. PIERRE J. FONT are dividing their leave between her parents, the H. MURRAY NORTHRUPS, of Three Mile drive, and his mother, MRS. RENAUD FONT, of Lincoln road.

MRS. H. H. BORGMAN, of Berkshire road, is taking advantage of Indian Summer for her trip to Arlington, Va. to visit her son-in-law and daughter, MAJ. AND MRS. D. E. FARKES. Later this month MR. BORGMAN will meet her in New York.

October vacationers include MR. AND MRS. TAYLOR H. SEEBER, of Merriweather road, who spent a fortnight at the Homestead, Hot Springs, Va.

After a week with the HOWARD P. BALLANTYNES, of McKinley place, LIEUT. AND MRS. JOHN M. NORCOTT, with their son, DAVEY, set out for the East to visit MR. AND MRS. E. P. DODGE. The lieutenant will be on terminal leave until Oct. 30, and the Norcotts will divvy the next two months between the Pointe and Evanston, Ill. the home of his parents, MR. AND MRS. HENRY NORCOTT.

Joining the ranks of civilians is LIEUT. ROBERT F. WEBER, USNR, who is settling in his Touraine road house with MRS. WEBER and DAVID and ROSALIND after a year's service in Panama.

MRS. THOMAS T. PETZOLD of Edgemont Park, returned from a long stay at her summer home just in time to pack for a week in St. Paul, Minn., where she visited her brother-in-law and sister, MR. AND MRS. S. M. SHEPARD, JR. The Petzolds vacationed at Rye Beach, N. Y. with their children, ANNA DEE, BILLY, RUTH and PATTY.

For the first time since Pearl Harbor MRS. LAURA HIGBIE, of E. Jefferson avenue, was hostess at a Sunday morning breakfast for Metamora Hunt Club riders. The party was an annual event before the war and promises to be again.

Mary Jean Campbell Weds Stuart Hanger

Evening Ceremony Held in Harvard Road Residence of the Bride's Brother; Couple to Make Home in Detroit

Simplicity keyed the Saturday evening ceremony which united in marriage Mary Jean Campbell and Stuart T. Hanger, of Portsmouth, Va., in the Harvard road home of the bride's brother, Clarence D. Campbell.

The young couple repeated their vows before the Rev. Frank Fitt.

Mary Jean is the daughter of the late Mary Dickinson Campbell and the late Clarence A. Campbell. Mr. Hanger is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Hanger.

A street-length dress of fuchsia satin was the choice of the bride for her wedding. With it she wore a matching toque and corsage of white orchids.

Mrs. C. Barrett Campbell, of Grand Rapids, Mary Jean's matron of honor and only attendant, was gowned in powder blue crepe. Her flowers were sweet-heart roses.

C. Barrett Campbell was Mr. Hanger's best man, and ushering guests to their places was Compton Beaumont.

A reception was held in the Clarence Campbell home.

For her wedding trip the new Mrs. Hanger changed into a plum colored suit and hat, with black accessories.

League Sponsors Talk On European Children

Dr. Howard E. Kershner Coming November 7 to Lecture in Pierce Junior High School

The Junior League of Detroit is sponsoring a lecture by internationally famous Dr. Howard E. Kershner, author, publisher and lecturer, on Wednesday, November 7 at 8 p.m. in Pierce Junior High School auditorium.

"Europe's Children . . . Four Months After Liberation" will be the theme of Dr. Kershner's lecture. He has just returned to the States after visiting the devastated areas of Europe, where he observed and is well qualified to describe graphically the utterable destruction and what it has meant to the children of Europe.

Dr. Kershner has been chairman of the Temporary Council on "Food for Europe's Children"; vice president and director of the "International Bureau for Assistance of Child Refugees" and director of "Relief in Europe for the Friends Service Committee."

He retired from business in 1938 to become director of relief in Europe and in 1942, organized a campaign to send food through the blockade to children of German occupied countries. In 1945 he was elected vice-president of the "Save the Children Federation" and chairman of the overseas committee.

"Dr. Kershner has worked ceaselessly in an effort to get the facts and report them to the people of this country. There is no greater authority on the subject and since it is our duty to know and do something about it, it is a privilege and an honor to have Dr. Kershner impart his knowledge to us, first hand."

League officers state. Among members of the local committee sponsoring the lecture are: Miss Ethel Flinn, Mrs. James

McEvoy, Jr., Mrs. Eugene Lewis Jr., Mrs. Herndon Wagers, Mrs. Richard Durant, Miss Eugenie Heenan, Miss Jean Ferry, Mrs. William Lerchen Jr., Mrs. Harry Hoey, Mrs. Wessell Booth and Miss Barbara Cupper.

Other reservations which have been made for the party include: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gallamo, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Strauss, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Cochrane, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Steiner, Dr. and Mrs. P. W. Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Emmet, Mr. and Mrs. William Barr.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Laudie, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Gurwell, Mr. and Mrs. George Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Mehrer, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Shulte, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. French, Mr. John F. Stone, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Owens, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Biederman, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Reardon, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Noble, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Morin, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse W. Fleck.

Also Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Roensch, Mr. Harold M. Carr, Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Koebel, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barrons, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney M. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Esch, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Motshall, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Belfield, Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Williams and Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Sanderson.

Dr. and Mrs. Wilfred Cowen, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Stoup, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Oyler, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Harmon, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Zimmerman, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sibbert, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Walling and Mr. and Mrs. George Bigly.

Guild Sponsoring Breakfast Party

Members of Bon Secours Guild, auxiliary to the hospital of the same name on Cadieux road, Grosse Pointe, are especially busy these days. Of special concern at this time is the Subscription Breakfast ("Breakfast in Hollywood") planned for Wednesday, November 7 at 10:30 a. m. in Annunciation Hall, 1318 McClellan avenue.

Breakfast is to follow the unusual program scheduled for 11 a.m. Bridge will complete the day's entertainment.

Mrs. Elmer T. Labadie and Mrs. Louis Marick have general charge. Assisting are Mrs. W. C. Weibe, Mrs. Jesse Champine, Mrs. Earl R. Wilson, Mrs. Dalton J. Snyder and Miss Eileen Monaghan.

Town Hall Books Knickerbocker

H. R. Knickerbocker, one of the world's most colorful journalists will speak at Detroit Town Hall in the Fisher Theatre, Wednesday morning, Oct. 31 at 11 o'clock.

In his lecture, "Ringside of History", the ace correspondent will analyze today's headlines and interpret the latest developments in the international situation.

For seventeen years Knickerbocker covered the news both at home and abroad. He was in Europe, Africa, Australia and South America on assignment, and at the war fronts during the fiercest fighting. Since his return from overseas after winning the Pulitzer Prize for distinguished reporting, the noted newsgetter has kept closely in touch with post-war problems. The energetic red-headed newspaperman is the son of a Methodist minister from Texas. He came to New York at twenty, and from there to Munich where he officially began his writing career as a foreign correspondent. From then on, Knickerbocker courted danger in every war-ridden country on the continent.

Octogenarian Honored At Family Birthday Fete

Birthday greetings echoed in the Whittier Monday night as the family of Cornelius W. Rau, of Kensington road, gathered to honor him on his eighty-fifth birthday.

Big slices of his birthday cake went to his sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Chester B. Heck and Mr. and Mrs. Myron Bears and to his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe R. Rau, who came from Chicago for the occasion.

Mr. Rau's two grandsons, Charles and Jack Heck, also joined in the festivities.

Sailor's Bride-Elect

Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Clarke, of Lakewood avenue, formerly of the Pointe, announce the engagement of their daughter, Audrey Elaine, to Jerry Alan Schiebel, Electricians Mate 1/c, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Schiebel, of Dayton, Ohio. The wedding will take place Saturday, Oct. 27 at 6:30 p.m. in Peace Lutheran Church.

Michigan Alumni Will Hold Party

The University of Michigan Alumni Club of Grosse Pointe will hold a party on November 10 in the Alger Post clubhouse on St. Paul avenue. The club has sponsored several such parties which have proven popular with the members. There will be an orchestra for dancing.

The board of governors of the organization met October 16 and Dr. E. R. Stoliker, new president, appointed the following heads of committees: Program, Douglas Crane; social, Col. Henry W. Jones; publicity, Mrs. John D. Lynch; scholarship, Paul Franseith; and membership, Dr. M. M. Sheaffer.

Church Women To Hold Bazaar

The Women's Association of the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church will hold its annual Bazaar at the corner of Wayburn and Jefferson avenues, on Friday and Saturday, November 2 and 3.

The Committee and Members have been working on hand knitted garments, gifts, aprons and toys. There will also be a pantry shelf sale.

Mrs. Edgar Sims is general chairman, Mrs. Warren Helle, assistant, and the other members of the committee are Mrs. Frederick Farr, Mrs. James Cunningham, Mrs. James T. Heutte, Mrs. Clinton F. Berry, Mrs. Ernest L. Ray, Mrs. Lynn O'Brien, Mrs. Leonard Slowin, and Mrs. Paul K. Kolvoord.

Lieut. John D. Lynch Is Married in Akron

Pointer Marries Patricia Ann Arnall of Akron At Fashionable Autumn Ceremony Held On October 17

Pointers travelled to St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Akron, O., Wednesday, October 17 for the lovely autumn wedding of Patricia Ann Arnall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Arnall, of Westfield Inn, LeRoy, O., and Lieut. John D. Lynch, Jr., USAAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Lynch, of Yorkshire road.

For "something borrowed" the bride wore the white faille wedding dress of the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. James W. Rae, Jr. Adorned with marquisette and heirloom lace, the gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice and bouffant skirt ending in a long train. A cap of the same lace topped her veil of illusion, and she carried an armful of white gardenias.

Mrs. Rae, as matron of honor, was in sapphire blue velvet. Her gown featured a low drawing-neckline. Contrasting it were her small hat of pale blue ostrich plumes and her bouquet of yellow roses.

Best man for the lieutenant was his father, and guests were seated by Lieut. Charles Brazzell, of Miami Beach and Hendersonville, N. C., and Louis Schilling, of Akron.

Mrs. Arnall chose a frock of gray crepe for the occasion, while Mrs. Lynch was in brown crepe. Both had corsages of orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnall were hosts at the reception in the Portage Country Club which followed the nuptial service.

For traveling to Hondo, Tex., Patricia pinned her gardenias to a gray flannel suit and brightened her costume with navy accessories.

After attending Penn Hall, the bride was graduated from the University of Michigan, where she was a Phi Beta Phi. Lieut. Lynch also attended the University of Michigan and affiliated with Chi Psi.

EYE FOR COMFORT
A complaint received by the Farms police on October 21 concerning the theft of two pillows from a porch at 71 Moross road, was cancelled the following day when the occupant called to say a dog had taken them and they had been recovered.

Newcomers' Club Outlines Program

At a meeting of the Grosse Pointe Newcomers committee last Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Burgoon, Jr., plans were completed for the organization of a newcomers' club for Grosse Pointe.

The charter meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Lundgren, 1237 Harvard road, Friday evening, November 2 at 8:30 o'clock. While it will be necessary to limit the membership, any new residents who have moved here recently from outside the Detroit area and are interested in joining with other newcomers in forming a social group are asked to contact members of the organizing committee promptly.

A program of dances, card parties, pot-luck suppers and similar forms of entertainment is being planned with the first event scheduled for November 16th, at the Neighborhood Club.

Members of the organizing committee include: Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Burgoon, Jr., 1162 Grayton, TU. 1-4477; Mr. and Mrs. Cliff L. Lundgren, 1237 Harvard, TU. 1-0921; Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Lister, 851 Lorraine, NI. 4324; Mr. and Mrs. Allen D. Walter, 1409 Yorkshire, NI. 5759; Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Near, 1882 Hunt Club drive, NI. 0108; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Naragon, 257 McMillan road, TU. 1-1616.

Cass Town Hall Presents Author

Emily Hahn, author of "The Soong Sisters" and "China To Me," glamorous and magnetic scientist, is the third speaker on Cass Theatre's Town Hall program of 14 lectures on Friday morning, November 2 at 11 o'clock.

From Miss Hahn's nine year's stay in China and her opportunity to know Madame Chiang Kai-Shek and her sisters came her best-selling biography of the famous Soong Sisters, published in 1941. "Mr. Pan," her next book, is a series of sketches of a Chinese gentleman and his large family. In 1943 after returning on the second trip of the Gripsholm from the far East, she wrote her own story of her years in China. She speaks Chinese fluently and knows the people intimately.

Before choosing writing as a career Miss Hahn was awarded the first engineering degree, (mining), ever given a woman from the University of Wisconsin. Graduate work in mineralogy at Columbia University followed and then study at Oxford of anthropology preceded her writing for The New Yorker magazine.

Vets to Benefit From Card Party

The Grosse Pointe Schools Secretaries Association is giving its annual Card party on October 26 in the Pierce Junior High School gymnasium at 8 p. m.

The proceeds of this party are to be given to the Percy Jones Hospital as a Memorial Fund to honor the servicemen and women of Grosse Pointe who have given their lives for their country. The admission price includes table and door prizes and refreshments. Tickets may be purchased from any secretary in the various schools, at the Board of Education office, or at the door on October 26.

Mrs. Joseph Baker Feted At Birthday Club Party

Mrs. Joseph Baker, of Lakewood avenue, was guest of honor at a birthday dinner given by the Birthday Club in the home of Mrs. Agnes Koenig, of Maplewood road, Friday evening.

On hand for the festivity were Mrs. Ann Stoudt, Mrs. Caroline Ritter, Mrs. John Baker, Mrs. Sarah Mishot, Mrs. Morris Lawrence and Mrs. Florine Waltzer.

Pointe's Legion Auxiliary Sees Jump in Membership

Looking forward to the day when the American Legion Auxiliary will have a strength of one million members, Auxiliary officers at national headquarters are planning for rapid expansion of the organization during the coming year.

Already the largest women's organization in the world, the Auxiliary gained 61,907 members this year, reaching a strength of 631,351 members. Advance enrollments for 1946 indicate that this total will be far surpassed next year. New members are largely women eligible through World War II service of men of their families, or through their own service in the armed forces.

Enrollment of members for 1946 will be begun actively this month by the Auxiliary's 9,711 local units throughout the country, with special invitations going to mothers, wives, sisters and daughters of veterans who have recently enrolled in the American Legion, and to young women recently discharged or still in service with the War, Navy, Spars and Marine Corps Women Reserves. Women relatives of those who have lost their lives in the war are given Gold Star membership.

"Strength for our program lies in a great membership," said Mrs. Charles B. Gilbert, National president, in a message to the organization as the 1946 enrollment began. "We must search for the wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of those enrolled now in the American Legion and invite them into our own ranks. We need them as they need us. Our service program can be expanded by them and our service to the veterans and the nation will be greatly increased by their added strength."

Your membership in the Grosse Pointe Auxiliary No. 303 will be most welcomed. For information, please call Mrs. Ethel Clark, TU. 2-1355.

The City offices issued a building permit Wednesday morning for a new and large-service station which Marvin Beaupre and R. J. Fannon will build at the southwest corner of Fisher and Mack avenue.

Rally at Pierce High School Will Observe Girl Scout Week

Girl Scouts in Grosse Pointe will join with more than a million Scouts throughout the nation in observing Girl Scout Week from Sunday, Oct. 23, through Saturday, Nov. 3. Theme for the week will be "Girl Scouting—Citizenship in Action Throughout the World".

In Grosse Pointe, the highlight of the week will be a rally to be held on Friday evening, Nov. 2, at Pierce Junior High, in the auditorium, at 8 p. m. All adults in the community are invited to attend. A program of music, singing by the Scouts and Brownies, and a talk on Girl Scouting by Miss Oleida Schrottky, from the New York office of National Girl Scouts, have been planned for the evening's entertainment.

Alpha Lambda RUSHES Group of Neophytes

Epsilon-Sigma Alpha Sorority's rushing season has begun and ALPHA LAMBDA CHAPTER is busy these days planning their rushing parties. Recently the rushes, Patricia Endres, Madeline Hurvae, Willie Richard, Betty and Joan Canfield were entertained at a coke party at President Madeline St. Germain's home and will be guests at a Rush Tea on Sunday, October 28th. Madeline St. Germain, Marjorie Malleis and Rosemary Sullivan will be on hand to receive the guests at Dorothy Byrne's home and Rita Graef and Margaret Fedewa will pour.

Southeastern Woman's Club to Hold Luncheon

The Southeastern Woman's Club will hold a luncheon bridge party at the Woman's Guild on Oct. 29th. The time will be 12 o'clock.

The proceeds will be used to carry on the work of the war service committee, under the able leadership of Mrs. LeVerne Crandall, such as completing the furnishing of a room in the Marine Hospital and continuing the USO work.

Ten Pointers Now at Albion

Ten residents of the Grosse Pointe area are among the 601 students enrolled at Albion college this year, according to the registrar.

The list includes: Nancy Lou Anderson, freshman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson of 1245 Beaconsfield; Robert L. Beyer, sophomore, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Beyer of 1173 Kensington; Shirley Jean Brattin, junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brattin of 1327 Nottingham; Jack H. Buck, junior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buck of 851 Pemberton; Patricia Ann Jaekel, sophomore, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Jaekel of 1023 Nottingham; Jack A. Laing, freshman, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Laing of 1376 Bishop Road; Jane A. Lindow, freshman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lindow of 1204 Kensington; Harold L. Schroeder, freshman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Schroeder of 1238 Yorkshire; Shirley Searles, sophomore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn L. Searles of 457 Cloverly.

Also: Mary Lou Watson, senior, daughter of J. Gordon Watson of 365 McKinley Road; Pauline E. Woodard, junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Earl Woodard of 1070 N. Oxford.

The enrollment at Albion shows an 11 per cent increase over last year's enrollment. Forty-five are returned veterans, and the ratio of men to women is 1 to almost 3.

Often we pick other people apart because we have failed to pull ourselves together.

End of the Week Dinner Menu Is Tasty Yet Easy to Prepare

By BETSY NEWMAN

IF you make a cake for Saturday night dinner, you can serve part of it for Sunday night supper—if you have the kind of family that eats only part of a cake at a sitting. A simple supper for the last day in the week is nice. I think, unless, of course, you have weekend guests, and even then with a big dinner coming up Sunday you can go easy on Saturday.

Today's Menu
Meat and Spaghetti Supper
Tossed Vegetable Salad
Buttered Beets or Squash
Eggless Chocolate Cake
Coffee

Meat and Spaghetti Supper
1 onion, chopped
2 tsp. lard
1 lb. ground beef
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. black pepper
½ tsp. chili powder
1 can mushroom soup
1 can tomato soup
1 7-oz. package spaghetti

Lightly brown onion in hot jar. Add ground beef and cook slowly until well browned. Add remaining ingredients and simmer ½ hr. Pour meat sauce over hot cooked spaghetti. Sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese. Serves 6.

Eggless Chocolate Cake
3 tsp. shortening
1½ c. sifted flour.

1 c. sugar
6 tbsp. cocoa
tsp. soda
1 tsp. salt
1 c. buttermilk
Melt shortening, cool slightly. Blend in sugar and cocoa. Sift together flour, soda and salt, and stir into cocoa mixture alternately with the buttermilk. Pour into greased and floured 8-in. square pan, sprinkle broken nut meats over top, if desired, and bake about 30 mins. in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.)

Potatoes Boiled in Jackets
Scrub the potatoes, then drop them in a kettle of boiling (not just hot) water, enough to cover them. Cook covered until tender; drain at once so the potatoes won't get water-logged. Peel, season with table fat, meat drippings or gravy, salt and pepper to taste. Or eat skins and all, if they are tender and smooth.

The celebrating out Merriweather road way last weekend was in the nature of a cocktail party honoring LIEUT. LEONARD FACKNER's return to the Pointe. MRS. FACKNER issued invites to the festivity when she learned that the lieutenant would be on terminal leave from the Army Intelligence, after serving two years in Hawaii.

Judy Frost Is Dinner Hostess

Eighteen junior misses donned their party frocks for Judy Frost's dinner party Friday evening before their Paul Strasburg dancing class.

Judy dined her pals from Country Day and other schools in the Village lane home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Frost.

Gathered about the table were Gay Buhl, Les Wadsworth, Ann Brass, Mimi Thompson, Betty Lou Givens, Cynthia Wade, Mary Macdonald and Mary Johnson.

Other dancing enthusiasts were Mary Phelan, Doreen Booth, Julie Dickson, Sigard Koebel, Kitty Macaulay, Mary Bahr, Adele Huebner, Joyce Whittaker and Mary McKean.

R. L. Spitzleys Weekend At Canadian Lodge

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Spitzley, of Renaud road, trekked up to Amherstburg, Ont. for a perfect harvest week-end in their hunting lodge.

Guests for the week-end included Mrs. Yolanda Aitken and Miss Eva-Lis Wourio, of Toronto.

With food rationing eased a bit, more and more Pointe hostesses are engineering dinner parties, and on last week-end's social calendar were the dinners given by MRS. A. INGERSOLL LEWIS, of Lewiston road, MRS. STANDISH BACKUS, of Lake Shore road, and the JOHN WATKINS, of University place.

There is Something About Mink

In furs, and especially in Mink, we are perfectionists. We believe that unless you want the best of quality, it is folly to choose Mink. It is with that idea that we select only the finest coats . . . and we suggest the same credo to you.

As a matter of fact, the extra cost of perfection becomes insignificant in the light of your enduring satisfaction. Illustrated: Our Sunburst Shoulder Canadian Wild Mink coat, priced at $700.00 including Federal Tax.

Wyandotte Crushes Pointe High, 25 to 0

Victory Bubble Bursts With Loud Explosion as Down River Team Tramples Blue Devil Eleven

By FRED RUNNELLS
That loud explosion last Saturday afternoon wasn't an Atom bomb. It was Wyandotte's powerhouse eleven exploding the Grosse Pointe Blue Devils' high hopes for an undefeated season. If the big third quarter could be scratched from the score book Wyandotte would have beaten the Blue Devils 6 to 0, BUT Wyandotte succeeded in pushing across three big scores and an extra point in this period to swamp Grosse Pointe 25 to 0.

On the very first Wyandotte play of the game Caterino made a beautiful 52 yard end run which ended in the Blue Devils' end zone. All was gloom in the Grosse Pointe stands for a moment but then the officials called the play back and penalized Wyandotte 15 yards, for clipping back to their own 33. Grosse Pointe's glee soared into the stratosphere when captain Don McPhail recovered a fumble on the Wyandotte 33. On the first play play Marty Beer crashed through right tackle and went all the way to the Wyandotte 2 yard line before he was pulled down from behind.

On three successive plays Beer crashed the same spot in the Wyandotte line in an attempt to reach pay dirt, but on the third play he was hit so hard he fumbled and Wyandotte recovered on the one yard line. Caterino wasted no time punting out of danger to Beer on the Devils' 43. Beer took the kick on a dead run and carried two tacklers on his back as he was forced out of bounds on the middle stripe.

Play Settles Down

After the thrilling start made by both teams the play settled down to a fairly even battle for the remainder of the first quarter and the early stages of the second period.

Late in the second quarter Grosse Pointe was on its own 35 yard line with fourth down coming up. It seemed like a simple maneuver to get rid of the ball, BUT a bad pass from center and a fumble by Beer as he attempted to get off his kick, was something the Devils hadn't counted on. Wyandotte recovered the fumble on the Devils' 22 yard line. Caterino completed a pass to McGrath on the Grosse Pointe 11 and on the next play Sheets skirted left end to negotiate the remaining distance for Wyandotte's first score. Wyandotte attempted a line play for the extra point but was stopped cold.

After the kickoff by Wyandotte to the Devils' 25 yard line Louie Champine, displaying a beautiful piece of broken field running, went to the Wyandotte 45. Beer on the next play on an off tackle smash went to the Wyandotte 24. At this time it looked as though the Blue Devils were going to get back that touchdown they so generously gave to their opponents but the attack bogged down when Beer missed a first down by six inches on the fourteen and a half yard line.

Wyandotte punted out of danger once again as the half ended.

Touchdown March

As the second half started Caterino took Beer's punt on his own 25 and with a bit of flashy broken field running brought the ball back to the Wyandotte 35. It was here that Wyandotte started its touchdown march. Sheets made two first downs in succession to the Grosse Pointe 33 and Caterino was one yard shy of another first down but Meyers mare than made the necessary yard when he broke through right guard and ran from the Grosse Pointe 22 after shaking off three would-be tacklers for

AT A COLYUMISTS' DESK!
(And the rains leak in at the windows, drenching the grasshopper—that's what I said—grasshopper—perched on the steam radiator behind me).

Francesca Warde, 70-year-old retired actress, graciously sends me a photograph taken of a distinguished group 25 years ago in connection with the founding of the Catholic Actors' Guild. . . . Among those in the picture are many no longer with us: John McCormack, Patrick Cardinal Hayes, Father Francis P. Duffy, Victor Herbert, David Belasco, Frank McGlynn—also Augustus Thomas, Chauncey Olcott, Pedro de Cordoba, Grant Mitchell and Brandon Tynan. . . . Understand the wives of Senators Vandenberg and Caldwell found little comfort in a fashionable resort in Maine—came back with giant hives. . . . Greer Garson and her husband will spend their two weeks here on a shopping spree.

Occurs to me, female impersonators have dropped into disrepute since the days of Julian Eltinge, Karyl Norman and Francis Renault. . . . Eltinge is dead. . . . Norman (the Creole fashion plate), when last I heard of him, was operating a restaurant in North Carolina. . . . What is left of vaudeville. . . . Renault started out as Tony Oriemma, a fighter, from Providence, R. I. . . .

Have a note in my little book about a beautiful youngster named Iva Withers. . . . This girl yesterday had the rare distinction of stepping into the lead of two of the biggest musicals in town—"Oklahoma" in the afternoon, "Carousel" at night—when each of the principals was unable to appear. . . . I hear that Noel Coward has finished his musical, "Jazzmania," which will star Josephine Baker. . . . Word comes that Mark Hellinger has won a much-coveted radio spot at a reported figure of $3,500 a week.

Almost certain Vivian Leigh, having patched up her feud with David O. Selznick, will play Becky Sharp in Thackeray's "Vanity Fair." Milton Berle drops in, chiefly to talk about his forthcoming book, "Out of My Trunk." . . . Dennis McEvoy calls—says he's definitely off to Japan soon. . . .

Young F. D. Roosevelt, Jr. and his pretty wife made the town recently. . . . Roosevelt told me he's out of the Navy but still wearing his uniform until he takes stock of his civilian clothes. . . . Says he has no definite idea of what activity he's going into—"unless you can get me a job on your paper." . . . Must remember to write to the head of that chain of restaurants inquiring—politely, of course—if he doesn't think 50 cents isn't an exorbitant charge for a few slices of onion to go with a hamburger. . . . That's what I was charged—when I asked for the onion to go with my wife's order. . . . Call from Lt. "Stookie" Allen, hero of so many German campaigns, whose thrilling letters often appeared in this department. . . . Allen is back, safe and sound, making the rounds with his artist wife. . . . Some interesting contribution to underground slang compiled by Author Kurt Singer. . . . To blow up a Nazi factory was to "lift." . . . A telegraph or secret short-wave set was a "music box." A time bomb was a "pencil"; a revolver a "fountain pen." . . . You didn't telephone to say someone was nabbed by the Gestapo—you said, "Nils is sick." . . . If he was "very sick," it meant that he had been shot. . . .

Park's War Plants to Close Or Convert by March 2, 1946

Village Commission Stipulates Not More Than Five Mechanics Shall Be Employed After Deadline

Five plants in the Park village which have been engaged in the making of materials for the war are all due to quit business, as war plants, by March 2, 1946. They were permitted to operate, contrary to the spirit of the zoning, as a concession by the village to the war needs, with the clear understanding that they must discontinue such work within six months of the end of the war. March 2 is the deadline date.

Where any of these plants desire to reconvert into other small businesses it is stipulated that they shall not employ more than five mechanics nor use more than five horsepower in their operation. This is done to preserve the residential character of the company and protect it against the noise and dirt that might accompany larger operations.

Some of these properties will doubtless reappear as garages or service stations, but the noise and

Chickens in Pies Must Have Wings

"Who got the pies?" is a query agitating the neighborhood of the 500 block on University, and mildly interesting the City police. A well known citizen of that well known residential highway told the police that on the evening of Monday, October 22 while on the way home from his daily toil he had purchased two chickens.

When he got home he "placed them in the refrigerator", he told the police. The next day it occurred to him to surprise the family with the delectable treat he had prepared for them, but, lo! the pies were non est inventus.

He raised a considerable ruckus over the missing treasure, but the police have been unkind enough to express doubts whether the pies were ever actually deposited in the refrigerator. The guess is that they were more likely left in the refreshment emporium where they were purchased.

Slip Is Embarrassing For Man Parking Car

John J. Osbrowski, of 15793 Snowdon, was trying to park his car directly in front of the Park Municipal building on Tuesday when his foot slipped off the brake and caused him to plunge into the car ahead, which, of all things, happened to belong to the Motor Insurance company in the General Motors Building. The place, the victim and the faulty brakes made an embarrassing complication for Osbrowski. The combination won him a ticket for bad brakes.

Juvenile Delinquency Wave Engulfs 13-Year-Old Youth

Pastor Attempting to Straighten Out Youngster Who Will Go to Reformatory on Next Offense

Chief of Police Tom Trombly of the City, was in Judge Healey's Juvenile Division of the Probate Court last Friday morning. He reported that in all his experience in that court he had never seen so many cases of juvenile delinquency up for disposition.

The Chief was there to follow through on the case of a youth only thirteen years old who in his brief career as a car thief has already piled up a formidable record. Young Norman Fred Cleveland, of 17221 Minneapolis avenue, Detroit, was the party who recently stole two cars in the City and one in the Farms. He had stolen a car belonging to Alex Sellers of 319 Roosevelt place on September 21 and another belonging to Mrs. Teresa Font of 442 Lincoln road on October 4.

It was the latter escapade that led to his capture. The City Police put the theft on their teletape and it was broadcast to the Detroit police. A cruise car of the Detroit department got the message and soon thereafter spotted the right car number.

They chased the youth over a goodly part of downtown Detroit, meanwhile sending four pistol bullets into the body of the car to make him stop. Even this persuasive medicine failed to stop him until a second police car had joined the hunt. The two cars ganged up on him and forced him into a light pole at Randolph and Larned.

In court the youth's parents, two eminently respectable and worried folk, confessed the boy had been a problem. Under an understanding with the Judge the boy was placed on probation in charge of his pastor, the Reverend Mr. Abbott, who was willing to undertake the problem of the boy's reformation. Another slip on the boy's part and he will be headed direct for the state reformatory at Jackson, as warned by the court.

All three of the cars were recovered at various times by the local and Detroit police. One of them he had driven all the way to Farmer, O.

The more ready we are to admit our faults the more willing the other fellow will be to extol our virtues.

Driver's Haste Causes Smashup

Mrs. John Cudia of Beaconsfield and Vernor Highway, glanced out of the window of her home Thursday noon just in time to see a smashup that did considerable damage to both the offending and innocent car.

Arthur Lapeer, of 69 E. Mahon, Hazel Park, driving north on Beaconsfield, had tried to make a quick spurt across Vernor but instead, collided with a car going west on Vernor, driven by Peter Axell of 3010 Drexel.

There was no personal injury but plenty of property damage. Lapeer was given a ticket for a later hearing in Traffic court.

Concrete Evidence Found by Police

Last Thursday Mrs. Charles Dennis of 3976 Guidford phoned the City police that someone had pushed her husband's car from the driveway where he had been doing some work at 785 University place and he was away and she didn't know how to get it back.

Mrs. Dennis's consternation was well understood when the police who went around to University place to oblige found that the car was a concrete mixer. With the help of a few other cars, public and private, they maneuvered it around into the driveway again.

Ukulele Vanishes From Front Porch

Bob Moore of 430 Lakeland, parked his ukulele on the porch of the Patterson home at 688 St. Clair last Thursday evening while he and the Patterson boy went to the Neighborhood Club. When they returned later in the evening the instrument was gone.

Mr. Moore reported to the police that the ukulele cost $39 when purchased 22 years ago. Its sentimental value today, however, he says, places its value far beyond that figure now.

The implements for Halloween pranking ranges from liquids to solids. A resident on Berkshire called up the police the other day to report that some kids, who work harder on devilry than they ever would over excavations. They had lanterns stolen two successive nights in the Park Saturday night.

Far East Air Forces, Manila—Completing processing at General George C. Kenney's Far East Air Force's 22nd Replacement Depot in Manila, prior to being redeployed to the United States, is SERGEANT MARK W. JARRETT of Grosse Pointe. He was assigned as a crew chief with the 312th Bombardment Group of the Fifth Air Force.

A veteran of 24 months overseas service, the 26-year-old sergeant is authorized to wear the Asiatic-Pacific Theater Ribbon with four battle stars, Philippine Liberation Ribbon with one battle star, and the Good Conduct Ribbon.

Before joining the armed forces in December, 1941, Sergeant Jarrett was employed by the Plymouth Motor Car Company, Detroit. He attended St. Paul High School.

His wife, Mrs. Mary Catherine Jarrett, lives at 813 Kerby road. His mother, Mrs. Frances Jarrett, resides at the same address.

CAPTAIN ALFRED E. HILLENBRAND of the Medical Corps AUS, returned to his home at 437 St. Clair avenue on Oct. 13. He is on terminal leave at the end of which he will have his permanent discharge from the army.

Captain Hillenbrand has been in service since May, 1942. He went overseas in December, 1942. He saw service in the North African, Italian, French and German invasions. On his return to the United States he reported at Camp Kilmer and thence to Indiantown Gap in Pennsylvania. When he returned he saw his little son for the first time. He is a lively little chap who chatters and runs around with his daddy as the Captain renews old acquaintances in the Pointe.

Captain Hillenbrand expects to return to private practice about January 1.

PFC. DON C. KUJATH, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Kujath of 1325 Grayton road, has returned home on furlough after two years in the European Theater of Operations. He is wearing a Presidential Unit Citation and seven Battle Stars.

Private Kujath was in the technical supply branch of the Army Air Force. He expects to receive his discharge soon.

LIEUTENANT (j.g.) HUGH S. SIMCOE, JR., who formerly lived with his uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. James Lee Weldon on Oak street, and attended Grosse Pointe High School, received a Letter of Commendation with ribbon from Vice Admiral Charles A. Lockwood, Commanding Officer, Submarine Force, Pacific Fleet.

The citation read in part: "For distinguishing himself by meritorious conduct in the performance of his duties as a member of a crew of a U.S. submarine during a war patrol of that vessel. His proficiency at his battle station materially assisted his commanding officer in successfully conducting a special mission. His calm manner and devotion to duty contributed directly to the success of the mission. His conduct throughout was an inspiration to all with whom he served and in keeping with the highest traditions of the U.S. Naval Service."

1st. LIEUT. JAMES F. BARRETT, son of J. L. Barrett of Grosse Pointe Park, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal "For meritorious service in sustained frontline combat operations against the enemy," according to word received from Public Relations Department of the 36th "Texas" Division.

On the USS Matanikau—CHARLES R. MILLER, machinist's mate, second class, 865 Vernier, Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich., and JACK E. CUMMINGS, aviation machinist mate, 2/C, 1741 Brys drive, Grosse Pointe Woods, served on this escort aircraft carrier when she steamed into Ominato harbor, on the northern tip of Honshu, main Japanese island, as part of the occupying force.

Before the area, including the Ominato Naval Base, was taken over, planes from the Matanikau dropped food and supplies to prisoners in camps in the vicinity.

CAPTAIN GEORGE A. ZIENTOWSKI, USAC, is home on a leave with his wife and children, who have been making their home during his service with Mrs. Zientowski's parents, Village Attorney and Mrs. Fred McGravy of 1377 Devonshire road.

Captain Zientowski has been in military service for five years, the last year and a half of which he spent with the Twelfth Air Force overseas.

Although Captain Zientowski has accumulated 136 points for discharge, he is strongly considering remaining in the Air Force permanently.

FIRST LIEUTENANT FRED W. GEROW of 831 Notre Dame, is home from the war. He stepped off the boat at 2 o'clock a. m. a week ago Saturday and was home the following Wednesday, October 17.

Lieutenant Gerow has been in the army five years. He was in the Field Artillery with the First Army and served his entire period of service from June 8, 1944, when he landed on the Normandy beach, as a forward field observer for artillery fire. When it was impossible to locate their objectives from advanced ground position they did their work from a cub plane and in this work alone he made 136 sorties.

He is thoroughly enjoying the company of his 15 months' old son, Fred Michael, whom he had never seen until he stepped into his home a week ago Wednesday night.

Lieutenant Gerow is the holder of three Air Medals which he accumulated during his 230 combat hours as an observer. Spotting for artillery fire, which takes the observers far in advance of the guns whose fire he directs, is considered one of the hottest spots in the whole field of war service.

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS.—After 19 months' overseas service with the Army Air Forces, 1st LIEUTENANT ALFRED M. ROBINSON, JR., of 448 Allard road, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich., is being honorably separated from the Army of the United States at the San Antonio District installation of the AAF Personnel Distribution Command.

Prior to entering the service, he was employed by Chrysler Motor Corporation in Detroit. While in the Army he was a bombardier, participating in 49 combat missions.

Kids Do Damage At Building Site

The A. N. Hickson contracting concern which is doing work for Tom Boyd's new service station and garage which is going up at Nottingham and Jefferson, reported to the Park police that malicious mischief on the part of someone had cost them a pretty penny.

The marauders had deliberately taken a lot of the sewer crocks that were on the premises and thrown them down into the twelve foot ditch that has been dug through the property preparatory to installing sewer pipes. Eleven of them were broken and piles of dirt and stones and miscellaneous rubbish thrown into the ditch.

"The barometer began to fall steadily. The sky got grayer and the water rougher. Before long all small craft got unmaneuverable and were tossed around like leaves on a pond. A Liberty Ship alongside of us rammed into an LST and soon after we just missed a floating drydock by inches. Everywhere craft were piling up on the beaches and reefs and smashing into each other.

"It kept getting worse all evening and we lost both anchors. Then we were struck in the front by an LST, but by excellent seamanship it was only a glancing blow. We had to get out in the ocean with our anchors gone and it was no mean trick to maneuver between 400 ships. Several times the captain said we were going to hit another ship, but somehow we made it. All this time I was on the bridge, operating the telegraph, keeping the record of operations and answering the telephone. The mates were all needed on the wings as lookouts. Everybody was praying for the daylight which finally came at 5:45. The sunrise was a dirty gray but it sure looked beautiful to us. The storm had started to subside and I was able to turn in at 7:30 a. m. I slept like a log.

"At 2:00 that afternoon we picked up three survivors from a mine sweeper which had hit a reef and turned over three times. One of the survivors couldn't swim and his life preserver was only good for a few more hours as it was becoming waterlogged. We transferred them to a destroyer later. The destroyer had lost its rudder and had rigged up a temporary one.

"We returned yesterday to an anchorage and this place is quite a sight to see. About 20 ships are high and dry on the beach. Some ships have big holes and gashes in them and the island itself is a mess. Quite a few men were killed.

"They won't start unloading us again for another 30 days, so my chances of getting home for Christmas look pretty slim."

From San Antonio, Texas has come word of the promotion from 1st. Lieut. to Captain in the Army Air Forces of GEORGE W. CROCKATT, JR.

Captain Crockatt, a 1941 Grosse Pointe High graduate, has been in the Air Corps for 3 1/2 years. He served as a Flying Fortress pilot over Germany, spent 20 months in a German Prison camp and has the Air medal with Oak Leaf Cluster and the Purple Heart.

He returned from Europe in June and on July 21 married Betty Vanderzee of Neff road. Captain Crockatt has decided to remain in the Air Forces at present and with his wife is awaiting reassignment at Kelly Field, San Antonio, Texas.

TROMBLY SCHOOL

The fifth and sixth grade art classes are making and painting their own masks for Halloween. They are made by molding strips of gummed tape on cheese cloth over the face. The boys and girls plan the design for their masks and paint them with showcard colors. A final coat of shellac makes them very durable.

Dick Echel and Tom Davis, both of 6A, made an interesting mask of a tiger for an exhibit in one of the school show cases.

Miss Smith and the art groups plan to exhibit the masks soon.

MALICIOUS WASTE

The tomato throwing phase of the glad Halloween season was in full swing last week. In one night reports came from three different properties that feeble minded youngsters had thrown overripe tomatoes at the doors and windows of houses at 526 Neff road, 552 Lincoln road and 846 Lincoln road.

VERNIER SCHOOL

The Parent Teachers Association of Vernier School made an auspicious beginning for the current school year on Wednesday, October 17, 1945, at the school-house.

After the officers for the 1945-46 school term were elected, each parent met with his child's teacher to discuss his progress and to inspect his work.

Following these discussions, refreshments were served in the gaily decorated first grade room.

The new officers are: president, James Laffer; vice-president, Robert Hackathorn; secretary, Mrs. Catherine Anderson; treasurer, Edgar Galloway; social committee, Mrs. Douglas Clark, Mrs. Harold Keyes and Mrs. Milton Cross.

Membership committee, Mrs. Donald Wallace; program committee, Mrs. Alfred Engelhardt; representative to movie council, Mrs. Everett Roll (1 year); Mrs. Robert Powers (2 years).

Representatives to PTA Council, Mrs. Clark Bassett, and Mrs. Henry Bock.

Publicity Committee, Mrs. Vincent Ayres.

The staff of Vernier School is composed of the following members: Kindergarten and 1B, Esther Bradley; 1B and 1A, Beatrice Haas; 2B and 2A, Catherine Anderson; 3B and 3A, Florence Cummings; 4B and 4A, Eleanor Hunt, (taught last year at Adrian, Michigan, but whose home is Sturgis, Michigan).

5B and 5A, Marshall Jameson, (head teacher); clerk, Marion Goodhand; custodian, Martin Brines.

MASON SCHOOL

A Chinese atmosphere was present in the library at Mason School on Tuesday, October 16, when Miss Helen Seymour's 2B-3A group entertained their mothers at a Chinese Tea. "The Dance of the Chinese Doll" from Tchaikowsky's Nutcracker Suite" was played at the beginning of the program. Original stories which explained the Chinese ways of living were read by the members of the group. Chinese almond cookies, which were made by a committee of girls assisted by Mrs. Byron Runde, Room Mother, were enjoyed as well as the imported Chinese tea, which Miss Ethel Tucker, principal contributed.

Many brightly colored paper lanterns hung from the walls, while fierce dragons and gay kites, made by the class, decorated the walls. Chinese paper money and coins, silks, brassware, lacquer, and bamboo products were a few of the articles shown in an exhibit. To further complete the Chinese tea room atmosphere, Chinese incense was burning in an incense burner, an image of the Buddha.

PIERCE JUNIOR HIGH

The American Junior Red Cross Chapter of Pierce Junior High School has planned a busy year. The Council, composed of representatives of the twenty-six home rooms, held its first meeting on Thursday, October 11. The following officers were elected: president, Floyd Deveroy; vice-president, Jean Parfitt; secretary and Treasurer, Mary Mohr. The faculty sponsors for the Red Cross activities are Miss Claudia Greenhoe and Mrs. Evelyn Westerville.

The activities carried out so far by the students for the Red Cross include the making of one thousand menu covers for Christmas dinner on the ships of the Pacific Fleet. These covers were printed from linoleum blocks made by the Art Department under the direction of Mrs. Janette Gray. They were printed by the boys in the printing class under the direction of John Hackenjos.

The students also generously contributed gifts for the instructional boxes to be sent to the European children. These gifts were of the type which will enable the refugee children to carry on their school work.

At the present time the Council is sponsoring the War Chest Drive at Pierce.

"KISS OF DEATH"

By LAWRENCE RANDALL
As Told to Mary Madison

SYNOPSIS OF THE STORY SO FAR

Coming home to Grosse Pointe, brilliant young publicist LARRY RANDALL finds Grosse Pointe shocked by the mysterious death of the girl he loves and idealizes MIRANDA AMES, fabulous beauty and heiress of the world's greatest motor fortune, Consolidated Motors, with her stepmother

FAY AMES, a champagne blonde with a colorful past. LARRY RANDALL is assigned to suppress publicity on the murder by CORNELIUS DUNN, public relations counsel for Consolidated Motors, directing the case from New York, and sending ace detective GUY ZINGLER to aid Grosse Pointe police solve the crime, in charge of

LIEUTENANT CARROLL, homicide expert, who shows LARRY the exhibits found by MIRANDA'S body on the pier of The Grosse Pointe Golf Club. (1) match folder from The Plaza Hotel. (2) spilled face powder of unknown brand. (3) a wine menu with the autograph of the big name band leader, Jock Pendleton and (4) a string of $50,000 pearls on MIRANDA'S body. In vengeance, LARRY vows to kill MIRANDA'S killer.

Meet the Champagne Blonde

A hot sun was glazing Lake Shore drive into a hard, glossy postcard scene, as I swerved along towards Fay Ames' home. Vast houses of the mausoleum school of architecture stared glassy-eyed on sharply manicured lawns and white crescents of driveways.

At the top of Lake Shore drive, Fay Ames had built, under the pompous arms of the oaks, a pompous, aged-in-the-wood English manor. It contained Burke's peerage in the library and the new Zipper Bibles in the servants' quarters. They claimed that at Fay's houseparties she had to have room clerks to manage the convention crowds of guests.

In fact, via the sour grape vine, Grosse Pointe said a lot of things about Fay Ames. They did a lot of things to her, too. But Fay was indestructible. The one clue she ever gave me to her code was the time she said: "Larry, it isn't the things other people do to you that hurt you—it's the things you do to yourself."

Fay Ames got into the Social Register through knowing a dog, and into Who's Who through knowing a horse. No one could say whether she picked up the dog or the dog picked her up. He belonged to Thaddeus Reed, the Third, who was Fay's second husband and the son of one of those Grosse Pointe families that are so old as to be slightly moldy.

Fay had left a vague first husband somewhere in the backwash. Boston, he seemed to have been, and she gave the impression that he had gone to the flesh-pots in a Mayflower way.

The dog's name was Lord Beaconsfield. The dog was quite a woman fancier, and called Thad Reed's attention to Fay Ames when they were on one of their nightly walks to The Cricket on the Hearth. This was the name of the little British bookstall Fay had opened when she first came to Grosse Pointe. With its high redwood walls, balcony, old stone hearth and Charles-of-London divans and decor, it was more like the bookstalls the British would like to have than the ones they did have. Fay wouldn't permit a book in the place, unless it was a first edition—even the telephone book.

Fay Ames' marriage to Thad Reed had lasted less than a year. He got the custody of the dog; Fay got the honorable Thaddeus Reed name. Now, people had to put her on their invitation list, even if they wouldn't take eyes for an answer.

The horse's name was Piccadilly.

Fay Ames was bidding for Piccadilly at a breeder's sale—bidding against old Marcus Ames. Fay got the bid at a figure higher than her current bank balance would cover, and was about to withdraw. Marcus Ames suspected this, and as a gallant gesture took Fay to luncheon after the sale and made out a check of his own as a payment.

By the time the check got through the clearing house, Fay and Marcus Ames were married.

Piccadilly sired the winner of that year's Derby, and put Fay into Who's Who in America as his owner. Fay didn't have merely the Midas touch—she had the Midas touchdown.

The second year of her marriage to Marcus Ames, Fay had a very lucky headache. Ames was flying to New York to attend a board meeting of Consolidated Motors, of which he was the controlling stockholder. It was a wind-lashed December night, unfit for flying. Fay begged off from accompanying Ames on the trip.

Marcus Ames never landed in New York. His charred body was found in the wreckage of the plane that came down in the storm. When Fay Ames awoke, she owned half of Marcus Ames' fortune. The other half was owned by his daughter by the first marriage, Miranda Ames.

Now that Miranda was dead, her holdings in Consolidated Motors would revert to the Ames' estate. The Ames estate was Fay Ames. So, Consolidated Motors was Fay Ames.

I was musing on Fay's background, as her butler let me into the Ames' hall of the Lake Shore estate. What would Fay do with the world-wide money empire that Marcus had won, with the lusty greed of a man in a back-room poker game? Give her enough rope and she'd hang herself, people had said of Fay; but she didn't hang herself—she hanged them.

Standing at the far end of the hall in a Gothic archway, was Fay Ames' weird lady-in-waiting, a Miss Sneed. Sneed baffled both the peasants and princes of the Pointe. She had been Miranda's governess, uniform and veil—a nurse without a charge.

"I'm sincerely sorry for you . . . there just isn't anything to say . . . is there, Sneed?"

She lifted her face and it flashed across my mind that she could step right on the set and play one of Macbeth's witches without putting on any makeup. She didn't answer. She stared at me with those sooty black eyes. Then she pulled her hand away and spat one word at me in her ghoul drool.

"Cannibalism!" she sniffed and strode off.

There didn't seem to be any answer to that. Probably the old gal had gone right off her already shaky rocker.

I wandered about, unreceived and unscouted in the feudal halls and rooms, until I caught a glimpse of Fay Ames on the terrace.

Fay Ames was a champagne blonde. A blonde by the grace of God, only slightly assisted by the knowledge that science is golden. After years of speculating in what magic fluid Fay rinsed her hair, Grosse Pointe's glamour shift got the answer from Fay herself. She rinsed it in champagne. An answer that became a champagne in the neck of those who tried to figure whether she was fooling or schooling them.

Pale, dry and sparkling, her halo became the champagne blonde.

Fay was lounging now under the cobalt blue awning, curved on a wrought iron chaise-loungue deeply cushioned in blue alligator skins.

She looked up: "Hello there, Larry. It was sweet of you to come right away—"

Sweet of me? What was this? Open House on murder? I thought, she's in her British pose of carrying-on and muddling through.

I said: "Neil tells me you think it was an accident—about Miranda."

"I don't think it's an accident. I just said that because I thought poor Neil was too ill to know. That police detective doesn't think it was any accident. You know . . . whatever his name is . . . he's very good looking, isn't he?"

"Carroll good looking? It hadn't occurred to me, Fay."

But it had occurred to her. Maybe you could get Fay Ames' feelings through a concrete mixer but at that moment I doubted it.

She sighed: "It does seem an awful pity—and waste. I mean about Miranda."

"Waste?" the word stopped me. "Yes, Miranda was a frozen asset, you know."

"Frozen asset?" I echoed.

"A virgin, pet," she smiled slantingly at me.

I looked away but I could feel her eyes following me like hot swivelling spotlights.

She said: "Sneed's been following me around with warm milk and sedatives. The only soothing drink on a day like this is a mint julep. Shall we have some?" Pull that cord there, Larry."

I said: "Maybe hot milk is Sneed's antidote for cannibalism?"

"What do you mean, cannibalism?"

It's Sneed's word. She hurled it at me like a black medieval curse as I crossed the threshold.

"Pay no attention to her, Larry. I'm sure the woman consorts with cadavers."

The butler came in and placed a tray of frosted silver glasses between us on the table. Equal parts of Kentucky Bourbon and iced dynamite, and about that dinner party at the Grosse Pointe Golf Club that Miranda was at, last night.

"There's nothing to tell. It was Jock Pendleton's party. Let's see, there were Sue Manchester, Don Monaco, Roger Brooks, Miranda and himself and my house here first and dinner later at the club. Everyone was high, but no one went off into the wild blue yonder. Why, Larry?"

"Jock Pendleton was in love with Miranda, wasn't he?"

"How do I know? I thought he was in love with me? she shrugged. "Men, men, men! Hey, say when, Larry!"

She put back the silver pitcher and yawned.

"What about this Sue Manchester," I asked.

"Don't say 'this' Sue Manchester. You sound like a cop."

"How do you know what cops sound like?"

"Do shut up, darling. Someday I'll make you a present of my past, but not today. Sue's the canary in Jock's band, that's all. She roomed with Miranda at Miss Price's a few years ago, and they planned to have a big time while she was here singing at the Club. The poor girl has been in a collapse ever since she heard of Miranda's death."

"And this Don Monaco?" I inquired.

"This' Don Monaco is the clarinet player in the band. For my money, he's the ten best clarinet players in the country."

"But who is he?" I persisted.

Fay said: "Larry, you're the kind of man that would take a girl's fingerprints from your own pyjamas. And I know about Don Monaco is that it's his real name. He joined Jock's band while they were playing in Rio De Janeiro last spring. He's Spanish—dates back to Castilian Royalty under Isabella. Very continental. Very, very romantic."

"Over whom? Miranda?"

"Larry, you're positively rabid on the subject of who was or was not in love with Miranda. She was engaged to Roger, and I hope you're not going to ask a case history of him, while he's in the room."

"Roger in the room?" I looked around.

From a divan at the far end of the terrace, a tall ambling figure stood, and walked to a cavernous chair near us, into which he again folded. Roger Brooks was the only man I know who could look horizontal sitting up.

"Hello, Larry," he yawned. "I guess I was asleep. I've got a headache."

His pale gray eyes were shallow pools of well bred boredom, and his mouth a loose curve of sensual conceit. So this was the man Miranda had chosen to marry, when—God help her—she might have had me.

Roger sat slackly, having his headache.

I said: "Did either of you notice whether Miranda was wearing a string of pearls at dinner?"

Roger didn't reply. Fay said that she hadn't noticed them. All she knew was that the pearls Carroll had shown her, and which he said Miranda had been wearing were not her own pearls.

I turned to Roger. "I take it that after you said goodnight to Miranda and she went up to Sue Manchester's room for the night, you drove home?"

"No," drawled Roger, I didn't drive home. I slept out on my boat, docked at the Grosse Pointe Golf Club. It's cooler there."

"You mean you slept on the boat near the pier where they found Miranda's body?" I tried to sound calmer than I felt.

"That's right," he said.

"Did you hear any outcry, Roger?"

He shook his head negatively. "But you must have heard the whistling—"

Again he shook his head.

"Did anyone see you get on or off your boat, Roger?"

"No, there weren't any of the crew on the cruiser."

"That's too bad. That leaves you with an alibi."

Roger's jaw nose dived into his open shirt front. "Alibi? Why should I need an alibi?"

"Not just you. An alibi is a handy thing to have, that's all. The police are funny. They go around collecting alibis, after a murder."

Fay clunked down the heavy silver glass of julep. "Is it an alibi that Sneed let me into the house after Don Monaco and I got home?"

"That is an alibi," I told her.

Roger Brooks heaved himself out of the chair and walked out to the terraced rose gardens at the side of the house.

"When would you like to have Miranda's funeral, Fay? You'll want it private, of course. I can see to the arrangements."

"I'm not going to have a formal funeral," she said. "I'm going to have Miranda's body cremated, and her ashes tossed out over Lake St. Clair. She lived in the sun, wind and water. I think she'd like to be one with them. So, I'm going to ask a few of her friends here on Tuesday evening, and as the moon is rising, we'll go out on the lake with her ashes, and have a simple farewell. I'm wiring Cartier's to send a platinum urn—"

Before I could reply to this plan of Fay's which would make a Roman Holiday, not to mention an Alcohololiday for the newspapers if and when they heard of it, the butler padded in. Sue Manchester was on the phone for Fay and didn't care to leave a message.

Fay stood up. "I'll be right back, Larry."

I fumbled and found a cigarette, but no match. On the table was a lighter that clicked, but the fuse was dead. I looked around on the other tables. Taking the top off a bronze box, I found at last a match book. But I didn't light my cigarette. I kept on staring at the match book. It bore the crest of The Plaza in New York.

I lit the cigarette, pocketed the match book. I wandered back to the group of chairs where we'd been sitting with the juleps. Beside Fay's chair was a book table, and on it was a thin platinum vanity case, paved with an abstract design in diamonds. I pressed the catch. The case sprung open. I lifted a thin disc, beneath which was a small quantity of powder in a deep peach color.

I slipped an envelope out of my inner pocket, and with my knife scooped into the envelope a portion of the powder from the vanity case. I sealed the envelope, replaced it in my pocket, and was flicking the powder off my coat sleeves, the case still in my hand, when I saw Miss Sneed bending over me. She seemed to be aiming that face at me, that shrewd, narrow, clay colored, motheaten face, steered by the sharp weatherbeaten prow of her nose. She could steer through a gale with that profile.

"Well, Miss Sneed, what can I do for you?" I clicked the case.

"Well," she countered. "I've been watching you. I was there when the police took a sample of that powder off the pier. Now, you take a sample of Mrs. Ames' powder. Why?"

"Would you tell me what you meant by shouting 'Cannibalism' at me, when I came in, Miss Sneed?"

"That's what it is! All this swing music. It's goddess! It's evil! It's the tom-toms of the savages in the jungle of sin!"

"You ought to sell those dreams to Hollywood, Sneed."

She gave me a look that was pure Boris Karloff, gone in for female impersonation.

"What's your real reason for suspecting Mrs. Ames of murder? Tell me. It can't be just the powder—"

I looked over my shoulder. Fay Ames peacocked into the room, took the case out of my hand, shooed Miss Sneed out of the scene, and kissed me playfully before sitting down.

"Larry," she smiled, "you mustn't go around snitching perfumed powder out of my case. People will think you're a BAD boy!"

Navy Day

Acknowledging the part of its NAVY in final victory, a grateful nation celebrates Navy Day, Oct. 27. The war won, the importance of its air and seapower recognized, the "world's greatest Navy" readies itself for a vigilant peace; guns, ships, planes and men on the alert. The final story of the Navy's careful integration of its sea-air power and landing forces, will go down in history as an epic of military achievement. These official Navy photographs show several facets of the hard-fought struggle.

MIAMI PLAYS MIAMI in the Orange Bowl Stadium at Miami, Friday night and the boys are calling it the Confusion Bowl Classic. One Team is the University of Miami, at Miami, Fla. The other is Miami University of Oxford, Ohio. Should be fun for the radio announcer keeping the teams straight in his own mind let alone getting it straight for radio football fans.

MONTREAL, of the International Baseball League, set off what probably will be a test case in baseball circles when they signed Don Robinson, Negro Monarchs of the Negro American League. Montreal is a Brooklyn Dodgers farm but it was pointed out that Robinson was signed to a Montreal contract and not a Dodger contract.

THIS WEEK in SPORTS

By FRED RUNNELLS

Thursday, Oct. 18
HARD TO BELIEVE but television caused Billy Conn to temporarily refuse to sign his contract with Mike Jacobs for his coming world's heavyweight bout next June. Conn's lawyer discovered Conn wouldn't be entitled to a cut of the television rights. Jacobs intends to beam the much publicized match to the nation's big theaters.

CHARLEY GEHRINGER, former Tigers' second baseman and one of baseball's greats, was promoted to the rank of Lt. Commander. Detroit friends doubt if the promotion will induce Gehring to remain on the navy payroll. He has 48 points which makes him eligible for discharge November 1st.

PHEASANTS ARE SCARCE and the Conservation Commission is toying with the idea of cutting the bird season short to preserve the birds. To non-hunters this move would be approved, but from those who think it is great sport to bring home a bag of game it will probably bring a loud howl.

Friday, October 19

DETROIT LIONS have signed Seth Maughan, former Utah State halfback, to bolster their backfield for the strenuous stretch drive for the Western Division title in the National Football League.

SIR NORMAN BROOKS, Australia's tennis hero of yesterday, named Big Bill Tilden as the finest player of all time. Brooks will arrange Australia's challenge round for the Davis Cup which will start in December of 1946.

PAUL RICHARDS, 36 year old catcher who blasted out two doubles to clinch the 1945 World Championship for the Detroit Tigers, was lauded by athletic leaders from his home state, Texas, at an appreciation banquet in his honor.

Saturday, October 20

PURDUE BOILERMAKERS passed and ran the highly favored Ohio State University team into submission in a sensational upset, 35 to 13. It was the passing of 17 year old Bob DeMoss and the hell-bent-for-leather running of Fullback Ed Cody that showed the way for Coach Cecil Isbell's well balanced team. It was Ohio State's first defeat since 1943 when U. of Michigan dumped them from the unbeaten ranks. Cody scored three touchdowns and DeMoss passed for the other two.

BUTTERFINGERED ILLINI tossed away a golden opportunity to score their first Big Ten victory of the season when Wisconsin held them to a 7-7 tie. The Illini fumbled repeatedly while in scoring position, with Wisconsin always recovering.

BIG TEN LEADER University of Indiana routed Iowa 52 to 20 to make it three straight while the Golden Gophers from Minnesota trounced the Northwestern Wildcats 30 to 7 for their first Big Ten victory and the fourth straight win of the 1945 season.

Sunday, October 21

LIONS PASSED the Chicago Cardinals into submission with a 28 to 0 rout on Chuck Fenebock's three touchdowns, passes at Briggs Stadium. Dave Ryan scored the Lions' last touchdown on a one yard smash after an 88 yard march down the field.

Like cream coming to the top of a quart of milk the rest of the NFL top teams whipped their opponents by sizeable scores. Cleveland Rams won their fourth straight game by downing the Chicago Bears 41 to 21 while Don Hutson scored 17 of Green Bay's 38 points to take the Boston Yanks into camp 38 to 14.

U. OF DETROIT tasted defeat for the second week in a row when a classy Villanova team handed the Titans a 14 to 0 licking.

Monday, October 22
TICKET SALES, for the Michigan-Purdue game, November 17 leaped after the Boiler-makers upset Ohio State last Saturday. Before the upset the crowd for the November 17 game was estimated at between 25,000 and 30,000 but today conservative estimates put the figure at the 60,000 mark which will mean $100,000 greenbacks in U. of M.'s till.

SID LUCKMAN, the man who runs the once great Chicago Bears from quarterback spot, apparently put his finger on the Bears' trouble after they had lost their fourth straight game of the season Sunday. Luckman says it's simply a case of lack of co-ordination. When the line is working well the pass offense and defense is poor and vice versa.

Tuesday, October 23

SOCCER PLAYERS, in Manchester, England, went on strike today to back up their demands for higher pay. At present the players receive $32 per game and are only paid for six months of the year. They want full year contracts and more dough.

Club Stevadora Has New Show

Proof that comedy and sentiment are a good mixture is evident in the current new variety floor show at Club Stevadora where Bernie Green, the popular zany, violinist extraordinary and master of ceremonies is the "mixologist".

Bernie possesses the happy faculty of rocking you with laughter one moment and then lifting you to sentimental heights with the strains of a violin rhapsody. He is in his sixth consecutive week as the club headliner.

The attractive Pat Walsh Girls are again a dancing and decorative feature of the supporting line-up in addition to some talented newcomers. Hard-working Sammy Mandell and his orchestra continue as the music maker.

RED HAMILL, back from two years in the service, was made captain of the Chicago Blackhawks hockey team of the National Hockey League.

Michigan Mirror

By GENE ALLEMAN

"Full employment for everyone? Sure, I'm for it, and so is everyone else in Michigan," replied the Country Editor. He adjusted the green visor over his eyes and smiled.

"I'm also in favor of having good government and having all the churches packed every Sunday morning and abolishing war and the atomic bomb. Jobs for all? Of course, I'm for it!"

"We had dropped into the newspaper office for one of our occasional chats. The Country Editor had a habit of keeping his finger on the public pulse in his hometown. As the saying goes, he 'got around' quite a bit and he did a lot of listening.

"NOW I'VE BEEN READING up about this so-called full employment bill," the Editor continued, pointing to a stack of Congressional Records and government reports. "Senator Vandenberg's first bill in the senate back in May, 1928, was a plan for a 'prosperity reserve', to use the Senator's own words. The government was to plan for useful public works in advance of a possible depression. When a depression threatened, this reserve was to cushion the shock by providing jobs.

"In Michigan the state legislature created a prosperity reserve during the recent World War boom. It impounded millions of surplus state revenue into a post-war fund for needed public improvements and also for aid of Michigan's returning veterans.

"LET'S SEE WHAT THE BILL at Washington calls for. One provision is to 'stimulate, encourage and assist state and local governments, through the exercise of their respective functions, to make their own effective contribution to assuring full employment"—to use the official language. Michigan has already done that. So has my own home-town.

"The federal bill goes on to say that 'it is the responsibility of the Federal Government to foster free competitive private enterprise and the investment of private capital' and furthermore that 'all Americans able to work and seeking to work are entitled to an opportunity for useful, remunerative, regular and full-time employment'.

"Now that's a mighty constructive idea. Jobs for all. We're for it.

"YOU WILL NOTE THERE are no partisan lines to the idea. Michigan's own Tom Dewey went on record in a campaign talk at San Francisco that 'the government can and must create job opportunities because there must be jobs for all in this country of ours.' There you have it, 'jobs for all'!

"Senator Hatch, Democrat of New Mexico, proposed an amendment which was adopted by the Senate. It proposed that the government's underwriting of full employment should be 'consistent with the needs and obligations of the Federal Government and other essential considerations of national policy' to quote the senator's own words. Senator Taft, Republican of Ohio, sponsored another amendment, also adopted, which would require the government to finance all this by 'a program of taxation designed and calculated to prevent any net increase in the national debt'.

"Apparently these two senators don't favor perpetual deficit spending at Washington any more than you or I. Pay-as-you-go is just as sound for the government as it is sound for your family and my family. To do otherwise is to invite disaster.

"WHAT I AM WONDERING about is this: 'What's the chance of the idea working? The president would have to estimate the number of jobs needed, estimate the number of jobs industry is likely to provide, and finally estimate the amount of government spending needed to make up the difference. Simple, isn't it?'

"Well, let's look at the actual record of the federal budget at Washington and see how successful the President and the Budget Director have been in their estimates of federal expenditures, revenues and deficits during peace-time fiscal years. You'll recall that Harold Smith, the present budget director at Washington, was formerly state budget director at Lansing and left Michigan in the spring of 1939.

"The average error in budget estimates of federal receipts in seven of the ten years, 1935 to 1941, omitting our war years, was 9 to 10 per cent. The average error in estimates of federal expenditures during these peace-time years was 23 per cent. And remember, exactly 23 per cent of American workers were unemployed in 1933—the same percentage.

"HOW ABOUT THE BUDGET'S estimates of the annual net deficit? Well, hold on tight. The budget's error averaged just 150 per cent in these peace-time years!

"Now, if the above is true and here are the official figures, what I'd like to know is this:

"If the President and the Budget Director cannot estimate accurately what Congress is going to spend, even though the President has a veto power to control spending, how can the government estimate accurately what 48 state governments, thousands of local governments, hundreds of thousands of business firms and 140,000,000 people are going to spend when a lot of them don't know themselves?"

THE COUNTRY EDITOR PAUSED. Outside of the office window the autumn foliage was turning to bright gold. It was harvest time in Michigan. There was work to be done.

"That just reminds me," he said. "My wife hopes to finish her canning this afternoon. We like good things to eat. We had our own garden. One way to make sure you're not going to be hungry is to grow food, can food and cook or bake food yourself. Maybe there's still something to the old saying, 'God helps those who help themselves.' I wonder."

And so do we.

New Equipment Received for P. O.

Word has been received at the Grosse Pointe post office that practically all of the equipment for the office has been delivered at the main office down town. As soon as the rest of it is received it will all be installed at one time. This is expected very soon.

The equipment consists of a safe for the storage of stamps and other valuables and the usual metallic desks and wickets that go with a modernly appointed post office.

Go-Ahead Given Police Addition

Councilmen of the City of Grosse Pointe Monday night looked at proposed plans for the addition which is to be made to the police headquarters on Maumee avenue, then authorized the hiring of an architect to prepare final plans and obtain bids.

The plans shown Monday were some which Commissioner Clarence Blessed had prepared after all interested parties had agreed on what accommodations would be needed in the addition.

The architect who will be hired is George Kimber of Neff road, who designed the original building which houses the police and fire departments.

Youngster Lucky In Car Accident

Mark Sillman, aged 4, of 927 Fisher road, escaped with slight injuries Sunday afternoon when he ran into the side of a passing car in front of his home.

After being knocked down the car passed over his left leg.

Robert Kaschinski, of 4425 Radnor, driver of the car, took the youngster to Cottage Hospital, where x-rays were taken and treatment given.

The following day the child was taken back to the hospital and to Dr. Scott for further examination. It was determined his only injuries were bumps and bruises on the head.

Drivers Fined In Park Court

Judge Belanger disposed of cases in Park Traffic Court Wednesday morning as follows:

Ernest J. Calcat, of 3100 Philip, Detroit, for speeding 60 m.p.h. on Mack on October 20 was fined $20 and $5 costs.

Charles Walker Bates of 7451 Woodward, for failure to have his car under control, causing an accident, was fined $10 and $5 costs. He was also directed to make restitution to the village for breaking a light pole to the extent of $133.69.

James E. Hawkins of 1634 Dickerson, Detroit, was fined $10 and $5 costs for failure to have car under control. Involved in the same accident, Kathleen H. Bickford of 3635 Nottingham, Detroit, who had been given a ticket for failing to give proper signal, was acquitted.

Veteranews

from the Office of Veterans' Affairs Lansing

Realizing that the returning veteran will, in all probability, turn to his home community to continue his education, the Michigan Department of Public Instruction is organizing Veterans' Institutes throughout the State.

Act 182, of the Michigan Public Acts of 1945, authorizes the establishment of Veterans' Institutes by boards of education in any school district which maintains an approved high school.

Each Institute is open to all veterans of World War II residing within the school district. Non-resident veterans may attend the institute with the approval of the local board of education.

The Institute is to be operated as a separate department of the school and will provide studies to meet the needs of the veteran.

Some of the veterans have never left the United States. Others have traveled to many parts of the world. They are older, and all are concerned about obtaining the necessary education and training that will help them obtain an immediate goal.

The Institutes offer studies under individualized instruction, thus enabling the veteran to progress at his own rate of speed by using self-directive study material within the field that the veteran plans to pursue.

Ignores Sign; Causes Crash

Mrs. Birdie F. Beatty of 2158 Fleetwood drive, Grosse Pointe Woods, failed to stop at a stop sign on St. Paul the other day and crashed into a car driven by Mrs. Mary Purdy of 1012 Three Mile drive.

Returned WAC Gets City Job

Melba Miller, of 577 St. Clair has accepted a position with the City government as secretary in charge of the clerical work in the police department.

Miss Miller just returned on September 14 from eighteen months tour of duty with the Women's Army Corps in the European theater. She came back on the last transatlantic trip of the Cunard liner Africana prior to its return to the British.

Charles Parthum Fatally Stricken

The Park police received a hurried call at 9:30 o'clock in the morning on Tuesday, October 16, from Mrs. Charles F. Parthum of 1129 Nottingham. Mr. Parthum had collapsed in their home and she was unable to reach a doctor.

Officers Dilloway and Van De-

Ginste got Mr. Parthum to his room on the second floor on a stretcher and summoned Dr. Neumann. Mr. Parthum had been stricken with a heart attack and died that same evening.

He was a heavy man, weighing about 245 pounds but had not previously complained of any trouble with his heart. He was 55 years old and a long time, popular resident of the Pointe. By profession he was an accountant and conducted an insurance agency of his own.

It is said that men must be free in order to be good. The truth is that they must be good before they can be free.

Pointer Scores Six Times In Colorado Football Game

A clipping received in the mail imparts the information that Bill Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs.

Park Studying New Ordinance

A proposed ordinance to license and regulate convalescent homes in Grosse Pointe Park was read before the Commissioners' meeting Monday night. It proposes to provide for the inspection of such places as to their safety against fire hazard, their general sanitation, their equipment to service and care for their inmates and the general conduct of the places.

Certain passages of the measure apparently needed clarification and the matter was referred to Mr. Lane and Village Attorney McGraw to bring in a corrected copy at the next meeting.

C. Thorne Murphy of Rivard boulevard, established something of a record in a football game between Fountain Valley High School and Catholic High School in Colorado Springs, Col.

Bill, who is captain of the Fountain Valley team, known as the Danes, scored touchdowns six of the seven times he carried the ball. Fountain Valley won by a 69-0 score.

Bill appears to be a chip off the old block. His grandfather was the famous "Mike" Murphy of University of Pennsylvania athletic fame, and his father is an all-around athlete who still plays excellent tennis and golf.

Hallow'en Jokes Annoy Residents

The Farms police blotter was full of Halloween complaints this week. Reports ranged from boys using pea shooters promiscuously and maliciously to tomatoes being tossed about indiscriminately.

A woman complained that her newly painted home on Muskoka road had been the target for many ripe tomatoes, some of which had been deliberately rubbed on newly painted home doors.

A motorist called to say boys were throwing tomatoes at cars passing Cloverly road at Kercheval. Another resident said over-ripe fruit was being tossed about on Grosse Pointe boulevard.

The owner of the home at 269 Mt. Vernon said his mailbox had been stuffed full of apple cores, and more tomatoes were thrown at the house at 238 Fisher road.

City Discusses Food Handling

A long discussion concerning licensing food handlers and fingerprinting servants, was terminated at the City Council meeting Monday night when the matter was tabled for further consideration at a future meeting.

Mayor Hugh Dill, who favored the fingerprinting of all servants in the City, said he realized the opposition this would produce. This thought was concurred in by Police Chief Thomas Trombly who said he knew one woman who rehired a maid three times after she had committed a series of thefts in her home.

It was also pointed out that a Kercheval avenue store which has been the scene of a number of robberies, had been asked to have future porters fingerprinted before they were hired. This suggestion was made after a porter had done a nice job of helping friends rob the place.

The store manager said it was more important to have the store cleaned than to stop the robberies, the council was told.

Discussing the licensing of food handlers, the council was informed that all of the large chain stores in the city have their employees licensed by the City of Detroit. Employers have been urged to use cards which the City Police Department has on hand, but it has been found difficult to make them do this.

Councilman Thornton Waterfall said he understood the greatest danger in the spread of disease comes from glass washing at soda fountains and bars and he felt something should be done to protect the public against this threat.

Unexpected Guest Is Most Welcome

When Mr. and Mrs. Gordon V. Burgess returned to their home at 799 Loraine Saturday evening after attending a local theater they saw at a glance that someone had been there since they left.

They called the police. There was no sign of theft but the evidence was indubitable that someone had been in the house and very much at home.

A little later the mystery was settled. Their son, who is in the navy, came home unexpectedly and finding the folks out had helped himself to food and anything else his fancy craved and then went out to see other friends until his parents returned.

There is no gain in subtracting from your character to add to your popularity.
