WALTER REUTHER'S ELECTION AS HEAD OF UAW over R. J. Thomas by a scant 124 votes in a poll of 8,704 presages radical changes in the policy of the organization which may have effects upon the automotive industry. . . special labor writer for the Detroit News says that Reuther will advocate: 1) Industry-wide bargaining based on equal pay for equal work, with an overall master wage agreement; 2) a guaranteed annual wage; 3) a stronger and more responsible union; 4) a drive to organize white collar workers in the automotive industry, including engineers and other technicians; 5) enforcement of the union's constitutional requirements for membership in the UAW.

WHETHER DETROIT'S STREET CARS AND BUSES will be stopped by a strike next Monday still unanswered. . . The question of arbitration of DSR union's demands undecided.

THE ALLIED AUTHORITIES announce the adoption of a plan for the future level of German industry which cuts the defeated nation's economy in half. The plan is apparently not greatly dissimilar to that proposed by former Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau. . . would prohibit Germany from making any products which might be used directly or indirectly for war. . . places chief emphasis on the production of coal and on agricultural pursuits. . . would permit the nation to make for export articles which would allow her to import food which she must get from abroad.

CONFRONTED WITH THE PROBABILITY of failure, the executive committee of the Red Cross has extended the campaign to April 15.

Eighteen Reasons for a Bus Waiting Room

THIS PICTURE, taken Friday afternoon, March 23, shows the location of the former waiting room, torn down by the Lake Shore Coach Lines, Inc., because of the malicious mischief of youngsters who defaced the structure with obscenity and broke windows and doors. Efforts by civic and social organizations to have the room restored have been ignored. The center bench was donated by the American Legion. The others belong to Grosse Pointe Park. This situation isn't too bad on a sunny day, but present facilities are very damp when it rains.

Kind Pointer Is Victimized By "Veteran"

Ad Chaser Talks Sad Tale and Leaves with Carfare for Mythical Wife

Mrs. William M. Curran, of 1005 Cadieux, had a sad tale of misplaced confidence to relate to the Park police the other morning. When officers Eiders and Hennig called around for detailed information they learned the following:

Mrs. Curran had recently placed an advertisement for a maid and on March 23 a man had presented himself at her door and said he had seen her advertisement and wondered whether she could use both a man and wife. "No," she "only wanted a maid." The man, who was of pleasing appearance, seemed crestfallen. He said he was just discharged from army service and was hard up and both he and his wife needed employment badly.

Mrs. Curran was touched by his evident distress and offered him a dollar. This didn't seem to call for the gratitude due. His face however lighted up and he volunteered that his wife might take the job but she was up in Traverse City. Mrs. Curran thought the car fare might be arranged. The gentleman with the open countenance suggested that she call up the ticket office and find out what the car fare would be. She did, and learned that a check for $10 would cover the bill and leave a modicum over. She told him to take the check around to Kopp's Drug store and she would phone the store and tell them it was all right.

The man was thanks personified and assured Mrs. Curran that he would be in Traverse City in a matter of hours and would call her back on the phone and tell her the exact time of their arrival at her house. His name he said was Donald Baxter. He gave his wife's address there and also gave a number of other names as references. Mrs. Curran graciously told him to reverse the telephone charges.

The man was apparently about

Dr. Essert Paid High Honor By Army and Navy for Work In Education During War

Superintendent of Schools Given Certificate for "Accomplishment of Outstanding Service"

Dr. Paul Essert, the Superintendent of Grosse Pointe Schools, has recently been the recipient of high honors awarded him by the War and Navy departments. The story back of this "prized certificate" for the "Accomplishment of Outstanding Service" is in itself an interesting recital of the unusual effort made by the Government to make amends for the interruption of the educational work of the thousands of young men who had their normal educational activities stopped by their participation in the war.

Early in the war, by the joint action of the War and Navy departments an organization was set up, which while apparently far removed from the military prosecution of the war, had a vital bearing on the education of the young men in the armed forces. The "United States Armed Forces Institute" This body was composed wholly of officers in the Army and Navy. They realized however, that to make their work effective it would be necessary to have the assistance of an advisory council of professional educators.

The institute invited a group of about a dozen of the most distinguished educators in the country to serve as an Advisory Committee to stand back of them and lend trained opinion and advice to its work. This Advisory committee was in a very real sense a liaison group between the men to be served and the Armed Forces Institute. It was to this advisory group that Dr. Essert was invited to be a member. The group was responsible for effecting the arrangements whereby credits on high school or college work were given to the young men who desired to continue their studies while in active war service and were so situated they were able to do so.

By the operation of the Armed Forces Institute, aided and advised by the professional educators of the Advisory Group, many thousands of young men were enabled to continue their studies so that with the end of the war they have been able to return to their class room work in high school or college with much of the gap in their work already filled in.

The Advisory committee, of which Dr. Essert was a member, had its final meeting on March 2 in Chicago. On that occasion each member was presented with a certificate signed by the Secretary of the Navy expressing the appreciation of the Department for their "Accomplishment of Outstanding Service."

The Armed Forces Institute was headed by Col. Frank Spalding, who was the Dean of the School of Education at Harvard and has since been made Commissioner of Education for the State of New York.

The meetings of the Advisory Committee were held in Chicago every two weeks. This necessitated many trips by the Doctor and his committee colleagues between there and their home localities. Not many here were aware of the important work in which Dr. Essert was engaged.

SEEK MISSING MONEY

An entry on the City police docket says that at a homecoming party given on Fisher road the evening of March 31, money and checks were later found missing from the women's purses and from the top coats of the men. Lieutenant Ed. Trombly has the case in charge with the earnest cooperation of the host of the party.

Solicitude Appreciated By Postman

George Receives 152 Cards and 75 Calls from Friends During Illness

George De Kimpe, who for the past 22 years was the mail carrier on Fisher, Lincoln and Washington between Kercheval and Geothie, has asked the NEWS to express for him his deep appreciation of the kindnesses and thoughtful solicitude shown towards him during his recent illness.

During the time of his illness, which he received the many of good wishes and encouragement and more than 75 calls from the friends whom he has served so long in this area.

It was largely due also to the interest of these friends that he has been transferred to an inside job in the post office better suited to his physical condition. For all of this he is deeply grateful.

Store Manager Asks Protection

Manager David Livingston, of the Best & Co. store on Kercheval, phoned the City police station asking the police to send around a scout car to keep a special eye on his place for a few days.

Recently, he said, he had had occasion to discharge four girls and the next afternoon at 5:30 o'clock they came around in the alley in the rear of the store and yelled and called names to the other girls who worked in the store. Livingston said they appeared to be intoxicated.

Former Chief Piel of Park Reported Seeking Shrievalty

Aspirations Rumored to Have Bearing on His Resignation As Head of Village Police Department

The rumor persists around the Park Municipal building that politics after all did have something to do with the resignation of Chief of Police Henry W. Piel the other day. It is not the kind of politics however the public likes to ascribe to such changes.

This rumor bird says that the former chief has had his eye on the shrievalty of Wayne County for some time. The rumor further expands into the fact, or theory, that Piel is in comfortable circumstances in his personal affairs, possessing, in addition to his private means an assured life income of more than $3,000 a year as a retired member of the Detroit police department. Those supposed to be in the know say that the former chief never looked upon his position as Park Chief as a permanent assignment anyway, and this is substantiated by the Village commissioners themselves.

Police Commissioner Fritsch of the Park said that Chief Piel was asked to undertake the complete reorganization of the village police department and that he did an excellent job. "The wisemen here in the municipal building say Piel, for reasons best known to himself, chose this time to make the break."

He had a long and honorable career in the Detroit police department, having served for 20 years. He was promoted to chief of police in 1934, and served in that position until his resignation in 1945.

Young Terrorist Is Incarcerated

The parents of three different boys called at the City police station on Maumee Monday and Tuesday to report that a 15 year old boy who lives on Notre Dame was terrorizing and assaulting their children. They all reported the same story. He would knock them down and then warn them to get up within one minute. If they feared to do so he would kick them.

When the youngster was brought into the police station he said he was "only playing with them." The police deemed his style of play so serious that they took him down to the Juvenile Home. They said he would probably be turned over to Mr. Schooley who has charge of such cases for this district of the county.

EPIDEMIC

It's apparently a hard season for hub caps and white rims. Robert Geldert of 2081 Beaufait, G. P. Woods, reported to the Park police that while his car was parked in front of 827 Beaconsfield between 9:30 p. m. and 12:15 a. m. on Friday the hub caps and white rims were taken from his car.

Pointe Landmark Disappears As Popcorn Wagon Vanishes

"Tony" the popcorn man has left his historic stand at Bishop and Jefferson. Considerable excitement was stirred up in the neighborhood by the absence of the familiar red and white truck.

One woman phoned in to the police that he had stopped at Balfour and Jefferson but when the police hurried around the truck was gone.

Mr. Koinis had apparently left strictly within the agreement he made with the Park Commissioners, at the suggestion of the Court, whereby he was permitted to remain in his old stand until April 1, following the enactment of the village's new peddlers' license ordinance.

He has a permanent store at Jefferson and Barrington and presumably he will confine his merchandising business to this location, although he appeared through counsel at a recent meeting of the Commissioners and pleaded for permission to remain where he was for a little longer. This was refused by President Parshall.

Hub Caps, Rims Stolen From Car on Balfour

L. G. Davis, of 712 Balfour, reported to the Park police Sunday morning that some time the evening before thieves had stolen the hub caps and white rims from his car while it was parked in the driveway alongside his house.

Guests were in his home at the time and between 12 o'clock and 12:30 a. m. they heard suspicious sounds outside and made an examination. Apparently they were either too late or too early to catch the worms.

Park Amends Zoning Law For Project

Quarters Will Remain in Packard Building Until Clubhouse is Finished

Grosse Pointe is going to have within a reasonably short time, a beautiful home of the Michigan Automobile Club. The issue which has been debated pro and con for the past two years finally reached fulfillment Friday night with the passage by the Park Board of Commissioners of the amendment to the zoning ordinance which clears the way for the erection of the clubhouse on the northwest corner of Somerset road and E. Jefferson avenue.

The Michigan Automobile Club officials state that construction will begin as quickly as satisfactory arrangements can be made for the work.

There was little opposition to the club idea Friday night. The public hearing on the zoning amendment had been held some time ago, but President Parshall of the Park village, graciously waived the right which the Commissioners might have insisted upon to consider the matter closed to any further public discussion and invited anyone present to speak his opinion. He asked however that remarks be limited to not more than ten minutes.

Such questions as were asked were for legitimate information regarding the security of the Somerset development against future zoning changes.

Many prominent Grosse Pointers who were advocates of the clubhouse were present. Two or three of these were directors of the automobile club of Michigan. It had been stated at a

Park Scene Of Fatality

Charles Tomlinson, 72, of Detroit, Killed Crossing Mack Avenue

There was a fatal traffic accident at 8:05 o'clock Monday night on Mack avenue between Three Mile and Audubon. A Hudson sedan, owned and driven by William J. McGannon of 19207 Kenosha, Gratiot township, struck Charles T. Tomlinson, aged 72, of 3453 Courville, Detroit, as he was walking from the south side to the north side of Mack. He was taken to the Saratoga hospital, but was dead upon arrival.

McGannon works for the Detroit Terminal Carriage company, where he has been employed for the past 12 years. He owns his home on Kenosha and has never had serious traffic trouble before. He is being held at police headquarters on Jefferson avenue pending further examination of the case, with a probability of a warrant being issued against him charging negligent homicide.

Two Drivers Pay In Park Court

In Park Police Court Wednesday morning Judge Belanger imposed a fine of $20 and costs of $5 on Jimmy Tausany of 1060 Berkshire for driving without a driver's license on his person at the time he was involved in an accident at St. Paul and Whittier. Herman Kranz of 3893 Yorkshire, Detroit, who had been ticketed for passing a stop sign at Charlevoix, was let off with a $5 fine because of his previous excellent record and the skill he displayed as a driver at the time of the minor accident which followed his passing of the sign.

previous meeting that out of a board of directors of fifteen members for the whole state organization with its more than 200,000 members, five of the Board were residents of Grosse Pointe, with three out of the five living in the Park.

Among the interested onlookers when the vote was taken were: Col. J. G. Vincent, vice-president of engineering at Packard; Charles T. Bush of 1007 Three Mile drive, Manfred Burleigh, head of Eastern Greyhound line; Henry Slayfield, attorney; H. Augustus O'Dell, who will be the architect of the club house; Ralph Thomas, a director of the M.A.C.; and Joseph Hickey of Edgemont Park.

Richard Harfft, General Manager of the club, who was also there, told the NEWS of the purposes and operations of the club as it will function in Grosse Pointe. The 18,000 odd members of the club who are residents of the Pointe will have conveniently at hand a superior service, not only in every department which has to do with the operation of their automobiles, but many-aids extending beyond this.

Among them will be a travel bureau which will be available for steamship, air and bus travel, in addition to automobile travel aids. Any member desiring to go to South America or Europe, or wherever travel lanes are open throughout the world, can get every aid possible. Reservations for hotel accommodations as well as tickets can be made.

Mr. Harfft was especially enthusiastic about the appearance of the development itself, which he said would be beautiful in building and grounds and fully conforming to the most exacting demands of Grosse Pointe.

The Automobile Club, which has maintained its Pointe branch in the Packard Building at East Jefferson and Lakepointe, is being allowed to retain quarters in a portion of this building through the courtesy of Henry Whiting, who has taken over the building for Packard sales and service. Whiting has established one of the outstanding automobile branches in the country, employing a staff of 15 service men to care for the Pointe. He is now displaying the 1946 Clipper sedan.

The auto club will occupy the front left hand portion of the Packard building until its new structure is completed.

Annual Farms Police Report Contains No Traffic Deaths

Department Handled 1,839 Calls During Year; Scout Cars Travelled Total Distance of 131,536 Miles

A comprehensive report of a full year's activities of the police department of the Village of Grosse Pointe Farms has been submitted to the village council by Acting Chief Eugene Bolo. The period covered is from March 1, 1945 to February 28, 1946.

During the year there were 77 cases of simple larceny, with a total loss of $1,069.11. Of this amount, $506.71 was recovered by the Farms police.

The report shows three cases of grand larceny, with a loss of $579.89, of which $192.95 was recovered. One holdup was reported. The loss was $9.00 and it was all recovered. There were 12 cases of breaking and entering, in which the loss was $1,128.55. All was recovered.

Property destroyed in 41 reported cases totaled $285, with $125 being recovered.

Seven cars were stolen and 13 recovered in the village. Obviously six of the recovered cars had been stolen elsewhere. Of 30 bicycles reported stolen, 24 were recovered. The missing persons item shows 15 reported and 16 found.

A total of 125 traffic accidents did damage estimated at $11,863.50. There were no traffic deaths in the village, but 21 injuries in traffic and 44 injured in home accidents. One suicide was reported and the Coast Guard recovered two bodies off the village shores in Lake St. Clair.

Doors were found open on 73 buildings by the Farms policemen on patrol work. The total number of police cases during the year was 1,839.

Adult arrests for other than traffic cases totaled 62 and the officers also picked up 128 juveniles for various offenses.

There were 42 dog bites reported.

Auto drivers' licenses were issued to 1,618 during the year and 204 bicycles were licensed. Dogs impounded totaled 192 and of these 66 were disposed of, which means put to death. Some 38 stray cats also met their end during the year.

A total of 64 traffic cases netted the village $1,112 in fines, but only one driver had his license suspended. Traffic violation tickets were issued to 207 drivers and $486 was collected for these violations.

Dog tickets brought in another $263. Twenty-six juveniles were sent to probate court to have their cases disposed of.

The scout cars of the department drove 131,536 miles during the year, using 12,869 gallons of gasoline for an average of 10 4/10 miles per gallon.

Youths Disturb Hospital Quiet

The Sisters in charge of the Bon Secours Hospital have been greatly disturbed recently by congregations of noisy boys and girls in the immediate vicinity of the hospital.

The youngsters refused to obey appeals of the Sisters for quiet in the neighborhood of the hospital and the police had to be appealed to.

They have assured the hospital authorities the matter will be attended to.

Alert Officers Catch Hit Run Driver

On Saturday, March 23, City Police officers Moffat and Dedreid observed a suspicious looking car driving down Mack avenue that had apparently been in a recent collision. The front end of the car was smashed in and a bumper was broken.

They chased the car down to Devonshire and overtook Ed. F. Tredeke of Roseville. They learned that the hit-run accident had happened at Mack and Maryland on the north side of the street and turned him over to the Detroit police.

GASOLINE THIEF

Two boys were exonerated of stealing gasoline in the Farms Monday night after they had been picked up following several prowler calls received by the village police.

The youngsters said their car stalled on Maison road and they were trying to borrow some tools when they were apprehended. A previous call said a man in coveralls had been seen stealing gasoline from a car parked on Kenwood court and he had flown to Moran and escaped in an old jalopy. He left a 5-gallon sprayer behind him.

The police thought the boys might be implicated in the theft, but witnesses cleared them.

Some people are so busy doing nothing they never have time to do anything.

Rough Going for Ambulance Patients

THIS UNPAVED, BUMPY DIRT ROAD is the only entrance for ambulances going to the Bon Secours Hospital on Cadieux road. Patients and doctors have been exasperated over the jostling which unavoidably is experienced. The City of Grosse Pointe has been asked to pave the street, Caroline, but so far nothing has been done about it.

Hil Best Named President Of Philatelic Organization

Many Grosse Pointers belong to the Michigan Stamp Club which meets on the first and third Mondays of each month. It is one of the oldest philatelic societies of Michigan. At the 715th meeting the annual installation of officers was held at the Book Cadillac Hotel in Detroit with Al C. Butzen, 3435 Hawthill as installation officer.

Pointer, Hil F. Best, SPA director and former vice president, was installed as president and Jack Davis, well-known Detroit philatelist, won second place on the ticket as vice president.

Wilmot Osborn was installed as secretary along with Walter Guibord as treasurer. Guibord succeeds Horace Hartwell, dean of Detroit collectors, who stepped aside after serving the Michigan Stamp Club long and faithfully, to make way for new faces in the official family. President Best announced that Mr. Hartwell would be given a key appointment in order to retain his experience and services in the Michigan Stamp Club.

Ray Bartz, retiring secretary, was installed as chairman of the Board of Directors and serving

The 32nd annual exhibition and bourse of the Michigan Stamp Club, was held March 23-24 at the Book Cadillac Hotel, with Don MacGregor winning the major award and the SPA award. The Michigan Stamp Club is active in sponsoring the automobile stamp for the Golden Jubilee.

Youths Confess Stealing Mitts

Two boys who live on Oak street have confessed to stealing two baseball gloves from a parked car in the Farms on March 17. The boys' names are withheld because of their ages, 13 and 12, though one of them has been in trouble on various occasions previously.

The gloves were taken from a car belonging to R. Coudsdale of 257 Mt. Vernon, while it was parked opposite the Punch and Judy Theater on Karlov avenue. The boys kicked out the ventilator window to get at the gloves.

When one of them was caught by Farms police last week with a baseball glove answering the description of one of those stolen, he implicated the other. A confession was obtained after numerous denials had been proffered but not accepted.

They are being turned over to probate court, juvenile division, for disposition of their cases.

Warrant Issued In Burglary Case

A warrant was issued yesterday by Judge Belanger for the arrest of Andrew Pulido, aged 29, for burglary at the home of Robert M. Hayes, at 603 Beaconsfield, on March 23. Mr. Hayes signed the complaint in the case.

Pulido is a Mexican, whose last given address was 1553 Howard street, Detroit.

Compensation Continues To Remain High

The Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission paid out a total of $4,475,153.22 to unemployed people in Michigan during the week ending March 23rd, it was announced today by Eugene T. Dornier, executive director. The money was paid to 66,412 industrial claimants and 58,469 unemployed World War II veterans.

The majority of claimants receiving checks during the week represents approximately half of the total number eligible for unemployment benefits, as each claimant is paid on a two-week basis in Michigan.

Optimist Club Formed Here

Service Organization Holds First Meeting of Pointe Branch

A Grosse Pointe unit of the Optimist Club, recently organized, had its first luncheon meeting in the Dorothy-Mary Dining Room on Fisher Tuesday noon. The Club is a service organization of much the same character as the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions club, but accenting as its motto, "friend of the boys."

The Grosse Pointe unit starts out with about 75 charter members, composed of well known business and professional men of the community. Instrumental in organizing the club here was Clarence H. Dusenberry, of St. Louis, superintendent of international extension.

Mr. Dusenberry says that the organization feels it has a great work to perform throughout the nation during these times when there is such concern over the problem of juvenile delinquency. Last year, he said, the club throughout the country assumed direct responsibility for the guidance of more than 200,000 boys.

Following the luncheon the organization meeting was held at which the following officers and directors were elected:

President, Lawrence Korte; 1st V. P., Chester F. Carpenter; 2nd V. P., Dr. W. L. Tuttle; Secretary-Treasurer, Zack Moir.

Directors, G. D. Wooldridge, Barton F. Trail, George F. Knuff, Melvin Berger, Howard Linder, and Donald Reed.

It was decided that the regular weekly meetings would be held on Tuesday at 12:15 p.m.

The Grosse Pointe Unit was sponsored by the Downtown Detroit Club.

The Charter Night will be arranged in the near future when the Charter from the International Headquarters in St. Louis will be delivered.

HOT BATTERY

A shorted battery started a fire in a car owned by Myra Price of 250 Provencal road, while it was parked in front of 315 Moross road at 1:45 a.m. April 2. Farms firemen extinguished the blaze before it did any damage to the car.

The Bus Waiting Room

Grosse Pointe can get a good deal more for itself than it does, but the first step in this direction is the creation of an alert public interest among the citizens in the affairs of their community.

This is not to imply that gentlemen who compose the various council bodies of all of the Pointe municipalities are not doing an excellent job in governing their villages. There are few small cities in America that are favored with a more intelligent and conscientious set of councilmen. But these men must take their cue from the openly expressed wishes of their constituents. If the people go to sleep and say nothing there is no guide in this field for councilmanic action.

Recently a group of women meeting in the Neighborhood club deplored the removal of the little waiting station that has been in use on lower Jefferson avenue as a convenience to bus users during the war. They made their opinion known to the councils and these passed the suggestion for its re-establishment along to the bus company. The bus company said it was there only as a wartime convenience, that the place was defiled by miscreants and finally its presence there was contrary to the Park village's zoning ordinance. The latter was an extremely far fetched objection. The zoning regulation is a responsibility of the village government.

If the people of Grosse Pointe really want this convenience restored to them they can get it. But they can't get it by going to sleep. And moreover it need not cost the taxpayers a dollar. The bus company will jump out of its skin to provide such a convenience as soon as it is convinced the people are in earnest.

This is not picking a quarrel with the bus company. In the main it is giving the people of this community a good service. The people of the Pointe hope the same company will continue to do so. But they should insist that this reasonable convenience be provided. The Lakeshore Coach Lines, Inc., is permitted to operate in the Pointe without the payment of taxes. It is a pleasant situation it would be loath to disturb, and the erection of a neat and clean waiting room would be a cheap quid pro quo.

And when such a convenience is provided it should be the immediate responsibility of the Park police to see that it is adequately protected. They should be able to do this with the waiting room literally under the nose of police headquarters.

Inflation Fuel

The Truman Administration is attempting to wrestle out the post war problems in much the same manner as the preceding Roosevelt Administration tried to work out the answers to the perplexing problems that arose with the stock crash in November and the quick succeeding industrial depression. The formula of trial and error was the common procedure applied in both instances.

Mr. Truman was not hot for the maintenance of the Price Control and the general grip of Government on the whole ensemble of the national economy. Along come the great strikes in the automotive and steel industries. The President appoints fact-finding boards and these agree on recommending substantial increases in both industries. With slight concession all around these became the basis on which settlements were reached. Then, to help out the auto manufacturers, the Government proposes that cuts shall be made in the profits of the automobile retailers.

They are roaring, probably with justice, like Nubian lions. They don't relish being made the whipping boys for the wage increases agreed to between the manufacturers and workers. Neither the unions, still less Mr. Truman and his thousands of office seeking party associates, relish the idea of facing thousands of potential buyers of new automobiles at the polls this fall and again in 1948. Just where the buck can now be passed is not clear.

On top of all this comes something that is real and earnest. The President proposes a hike in the national minimum wage from 40c to 65c per hour. That should please everybody. It should be a political master stroke and would have been had not Senator Russell of Georgia and a numerous following in both Democratic and Republican ranks insisted at the same time on raising farm parity prices. They have been human enough to insist that as long as everybody else is going to enjoy the high price pudding the men who literally make the pudding should get theirs also. It was downright cruelly to the forward looking politicians who hoped to beguile the American people with the belief that some of them could live high, wide and handsome while the others could mull along in the same old lean way.

And neither did the two-bit information volunteered by Chester Bowles, Economic Stabilizer, add to the political composure. He reminded that this Russell amendment would add $4,500,000,000 to the country's food bill, or roundly $125 a year to every family budget. Wurra! Wurra! There are a lot of farmers in this country and they have historically long memories.

The President, scared with the wage and price hike which promises to become universal with this increase of farm prices, has threatened to scrap his whole wage raise program if this rider goes through giving more to the farmers. If this isn't a devil and deep sea picture, the country never saw one.

Some day we may hope the rulers of this country will learn the simple lesson that they are equally responsible for the welfare of all of the people. Elementary to this picture is the fact that wages can't be raised for large elements of the population without a corresponding increase of prices. This holds all along the line.

And will someone kindly define the difference between this and the inflation we all profess to so deeply abhor, but which most all of us are hurrying along as fast as possible?

The Case of Franco

It is high time there should be a warning issue from the people of this country, so unmistakable that it would register at Washington, that they have no patience with meddling in the internal affairs of other countries. International affairs are already so complicated that we are going to have our hands more than full in defending several weak nations whose chief misfortune in the present international picture

"Shall I compare thee to a summer's day?"

Sometime too hot the eye of heaven shines,

And often is his gold complexion dimmed."

In last week's Satevepost on page 5, there is a full page Armstrong Linoleum ad, picturing a candy store in color. We wouldn't even attempt to describe it, except to give you a teeny weeny hint . . . i.e., the legs of the tables and counters are made of something that looks like wide bands of peppermint candy . . . the kind we used to call 'ribbon candy.' It reminds us of our childhood when we dreamed we owned a candy store and could eat all the candy we wanted. It also reminds us of the time a rich uncle slipped us a $5.00 bill which we promptly used for candy before our parents had time to stop us. The following day, we felt just as we feel now looking at this ad!

HOW TO WIN FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE PEOPLE . . .

THE PRYOR WAY

When speaking to close friends, frequently start the conversation this way:

"I hate to tell you this, but . . ."

"Because I'm your best friend, I feel I can tell you this without hurting your feelings too much . . ."

"I know you won't want to hear this about yourself, but . . ."

"I hope you won't mind my telling you this, but I think you REALLY ought to know what people are saying . . ."

When speaking to your business associates:

"Now what I'm going to say is no reflection on your work, but . . ."

"I don't want you to get the idea I don't appreciate what you've done, but . . ."

"I hope you won't take this as a criticism, old man, but . . ."

"May I tell you something for your own good?"

HOW TO GET ALONG WITH YOUR DOMESTIC STAFF:
When you ask for anything NEVER say "please" and don't say "thank you" when you get it. Bawl them out for small things in front of your guests or each other. When serving a formal dinner, if they use the wrong serving fork or spoon, hold up the dinner and make them go back to the pantry for the right one. Tell Cook you want your guests to be served at 8 o'clock sharp, then keep her waiting until 9. (This always makes a hit and endears you to the cook for life!)

In the last Coronet, we read a very enlightening article (that still leaves us in the dark), called, "You'll Have SERVICE, Not Servants." It deals with the findings and practical operation of an agency started in Chicago, that will end all your domestic woes. A few sentences here and there will give you a rough idea. "This agency has a list of some 200 bonded house workers who have been trained in domestic science schools and have graduation certificates to prove it . . ." "Plan four provides a top notch cook, waitress and kitchen scientist (all in one) for four hours every afternoon . . ."

"A bachelor in a small apartment may hire a housekeeper for an hour and a half at a cost of $7.00 a week . . ." "Then, we have 'the little charmer' (something we gotta see) . . ." "If there are any headaches in running a home with services, it will be up to the agency to reach for the aspirin. You won't have to fret over hiring a maid or cry over firing one; the agency does that." (Oh yeah!)

Further along in the article we read that before the war relatively few people could afford to pay FIFTEEN DOLLARS a week for a general maid! They failed to mention which war they were referring to, however. But just to make the author appear less ridiculous, we'll assume she meant the Civil War. If there HAD BEEN such a thing as a fifteen dollar a week maid during the past few years, she'd probably be found in the Smithsonian Institute . . . stuffed.

To get on with this fairy tale, the agency of the future will not only supply you with help, but with uniforms, towels, soap, vacuum cleaners, carpet sweepers, et al. Nor will you be paying for maid's vacations and illnesses . . . nor will you have to worry about her transportation. The agency will drop her off and pick her up! Isn't it all too wonderful? Maybe we'd be better off living in Chicago, the home of this Utopia.

Two young fry met for the first time and finally found a common ground for conversation. Said the first: "My father's a doctor, so I can be sick for nothing." The other replied, "My Dad's a preacher . . . so I can be good for nothing."

is that they happen to possess certain natural resources which some bigger and stronger country covets. Iran and Manchuria are the outstanding examples at the moment.

But for us to assume to tell the people of Spain that we didn't like the color of Mr. Franco's political eyes is a piece of stupidity that the American people should not tolerate among their leaders.

By whatever methods Franco became the head of the Spanish state, he is there, and his deposition is an issue lying exclusively with the Spanish people themselves. If he saw fit to look kindly on his fellow dictators during the war, it was his privilege. Russia would doubtless like to see him ejected but there is no valid reason why we should bend backward at this moment to placate her, particularly in the western world. France is about half communist, in itself another good reason why we should stick to our historic non-involvement tradition.

The maintenance of peace and order within the borders of every disturbed country in the world is not our responsibility. This is doubly true when the turmoil exists within those countries whose sovereignty is not under attack.

Goodwill Industries

The Goodwill Industries, which was conceived many years before we had a problem of furnishing self sustaining work for the war maimed, is going to celebrate its silver jubilee in Detroit the week of April 8-13. It will have open house during that time at its headquarters at 355 E. Congress street where the people of the Detroit area can have visual demonstration of its fine work.

Its mission is one of the highest types of worthwhile social service. It aims to provide honorable employment for those persons who because of physical handicaps would find difficulty in finding work in private industry. Those who possess no dexterity or special skills which they can be taught to apply at once are studied and advised on getting into something they can do and then arrangements are made which will find the place for them to do it. They are paid a regular wage, and every effort is made to maintain in them an upstanding self respect which preserves them as useful, and, in many cases, happy members of society.

The results of their industry has already found a welcome place in thousands of homes in this region. Several stores are maintained which serve as the outlets of the plant.

Talley Rant

by Helen Talley

Getting out of a cab, for lunch at 21, I came upon BONITA GRANVILLE entirely surrounded by untidy young morons with autograph pads in their grimy paws. Reminded me of a time when my son was about 14. I said, "MAC, all your friends at school have autograph books. Daddy and I are having a GALA tonight—it would be a fine occasion if you want to start one. I'll let you stay up a while." MAC looked very doubtful. "Why, nobody important ever comes here," he said. Hoping to justify myself in his eyes, I said, "Well, tonight there are some very important ones—TEDDY ROOSEVELT JR., STRUTHERS BURT, the MARTIN JOHNSONS—MRS. VANDERBILT, and lots of others. "Hee," said MAC, "they aren't important—they're always around!"

It was a gala day alright in 21. WALTER PIDGEON—RAY MILLER and his goodlooking wife—CONSIDER VANDERBILT WAR—BURTON and her pretty, pretty daughter, IRIS—VIRGINIA FIELD, and INEZ ROBB, the gal who flies around the world at the drop of a ticket—from HEARST. GOD'S gift to Ohio, and his wife, MARY, were there—DICK PATTERSON, our Minister of Yugoslavia, DAVID SARNOFF, the all around rascal and handy man. JINX FALKENBURG, in a pale blue blouse with gloves to match, and a tangerine red coat. Over that was spread a bushy, beige fur job. In spite of it she looked as pretty as her pictures. GERTIE LAWRENCE and daughter, PAMELA, ate smoked salmon—VINTON FREEDLY lunched a pert little brunette. A couple of the DAMES got NYLONS on the house. I got a bill for TEN DOLLARS and a dose of COLIC.

Speaking, as we were, of GOD'S gift to OHIO—LOUIE BROMFIELD—I wonder if you've heard this story. MR. B—was holding forth at great length on the beauties and bounties of the hayseed circuit. The farmer's life was the only life—living off the land—great barns full of toll and sweat (honest) and grain. Corn sprouts and spears of grass jerked from the bosom of NATURE by a loving hand. Fine manure—more than a perfect fertilizer—a beginning and an end to a perfect life—on a farm, MALABAR FARM! MR. B—closed his eyes and mentally nosed over the farm. EDNA FERBER nosed in, "Hey, LOUIE," she said, "brush off the caviar!"

The best show I have seen in this country, last month with a British mother to join her American G.I. father, was dressed in clothes made from a nylon parachute which her father sent her mother before she was born. Her entire layette was made from the parachute cloth.

We fight to earn a living instead of to learn to live.

TWENTY-FIVE MINUTES TO LIVE! He cursed his Mother those twenty-five minutes. "She taught me to steal when I was five. If I didn't steal enough she beat me. My Mother is the reason I am here today to die."

I saw PAUL in a bar some time before the play opened. He said, "You know, our new baby has changed my life. I'm a reformed character. I go to bed at a reasonable hour, get up early—drink less, in fact I'm a FAMILY MAN. It's a new life for me." PAUL'S wife, the pretty VIRGINIA FIELD is here from Hollywood, visiting him. Wonder what she thinks of all this VIRTUE and LIGHT and FRESH AIR POISONING!

THE RED CROSS, the CANCER COMMITTEE and the SALVATION ARMY, are having million dollar drives just now, in New York. I have mentioned before that I am on the SALVATION ARMY COMMITTEE. At the BANKERS CLUB for a report luncheon, last week, ENVOY SHEPARD spoke. He said some thing what impressed me particularly—that the life stories of criminals follow an identical arc to the familiar end. As children they start playing hookey from school—go through the probationary and reform schools—on to the prisons; and in a pathetically short time many of them arrive at the death house door. He said that within his own life time, he knew one boy well from the day he first played truant, to the day which eventually came, when he, ENVOY SHEPARD, walked the short distance with the boy, now 20, to the electric chair.

ENVOY SHEPARD has been in the SALVATION ARMY all his life. His Mother and Father were members of the organization all their lives. Most of his work has been in the prisons and he blames the parents of a criminal for most of what happens. He does not believe in capital punishment. He said that not long ago he looked into the eyes of a 19 year old boy who had 25 minutes to live.

Letters to the Editor

March 28, 1946.

Gentlemen:

Since the communities of Grosse Pointe are planning on selecting a memorial for the Veterans, both living and dead, of World War II, I appreciate being able to express my opinion.

For several years I have diligently followed the athletics of the youths of Grosse Pointe and feel that a community such as ours is greatly in need of a Field House. Why? Because a Living Memorial is most fitting in honor of our veterans to preserve and keep alive the Youth of America, the Spirit of Competition, the Best Athletics, and above all—Good Health which is essential to our nation. What could be more appropriate than a Field House?

Very truly yours,
EDW. K. ISBEY, M.D.

Gentlemen:

It is only natural that the citizens of the Grosse Pointe communities want to remember their fellow men who contributed their services in World War II.

This has often been done by erecting some useless structure, such as a monument or statue. This type of memorial does not repay our veterans tangibly. If they could be repaid in a way that would benefit them directly, we would truly be manifesting our tribute in a worthwhile and useful mode.

It has been suggested that our veterans should be given a field house. It is a memorial field house on the high school campus maintained by the school board that I support.

Very truly yours,
ROSS W. HERRON,
January, '45

tried. This is also true of the other sports. Perhaps it is only natural for the Detroit papers to use its sporting sections for more local reporting.

I feel that Grosse Pointe has grown to a size where it now needs and will appreciate a Sports page of its own. You have proven that it appreciates and supports a weekly paper of some sixteen pages. We have several schools in this area that carry on an active athletic program, involving hundreds of boys with several thousand other boys, girls, and adults who are interested in these young athletes. It is only natural to enjoy the wanting of their successes recognized and of seeing their names in print and their pictures in the paper. Scrap books and the pictures on the boys' bedroom walls will prove this point.

Therefore, I would like to suggest that you and your staff seriously consider the adopting of your paper devoted to the reporting of all sport events. I know that it will be greatly appreciated by your many readers and I feel that it will pay you dividends—both in gratitude and money.

The third purpose for writing this letter is to enclose my check for the renewal of your—and I might add my—newspaper.

Very sincerely yours,
Lawrence W. Westerville.

Get For Yourself The Best Advice

By FRED M. KOPP, R.P.H.

You confide in a friend that you are "a little under the weather" and you mention symptoms. The friend promptly advises what to do, even to the point of prescribing a specific remedy.

Remember that your health is your most important possession. The best advice concerning any lapse in health, comes from a skilled physician.

No ethical druggist will prescribe his skill far greater than any layman's, but he also knows his field too well to try to fill a doctor's place. A mild symptom may be a danger signal which only a trained diagnostician can detect.

The doctor will insist that a good druggist fill his prescriptions.

Woods Resident Registers Large Gripe at Zoning Law

Robert Lytle, a resident of Grosse Pointe Woods, appeared before the Council Tuesday night with a large sized personal grievance.

Some time last January he took out a permit for the erection of a two story building on Mack avenue near Manchester. The first story was to be a store and he intended to occupy the second story as his home. The building was of fireproof construction, as required by the Village laws for the location.

In March the village passed its present zoning ordinance which does not permit living quarters over stores on Mack avenue. Meanwhile Mr. Lytle had assembled his building material and, what was even more to the point, had sold his home. The village made its zoning ordinance retroactive and apparently thereby let itself in for a peck of trouble, if Mr. Lytle is prohibited from going ahead with the building arrangements he had made, all in accord with a building permit duly issued by the village in January before its ordinance had been passed.

He asked the council Tuesday night to permit him to restore his permit, which the village authorities had withdrawn. After grave consideration, this, it refused to do. Meanwhile Mr. Lytle's own home has passed to another owner and he wants to get in and Mr. Lytle is theoretically all dressed up; according to village permits, but with no place to go, according to the village's own ex post facto rulings.

What made the case especially aggravating, from the standpoint of Mr. Lytle and other observers, was that at the same session the council did give a permit to Lincoln Maire to erect a "selling

Rabaut Checks Hosiery Shortage

The acute shortage of hosiery has had repercussions, even in a Congressman's office. In response to many inquiries, Representative Louis C. Rabaut, Democrat of Michigan, requested information from the Civilian Production Administration.

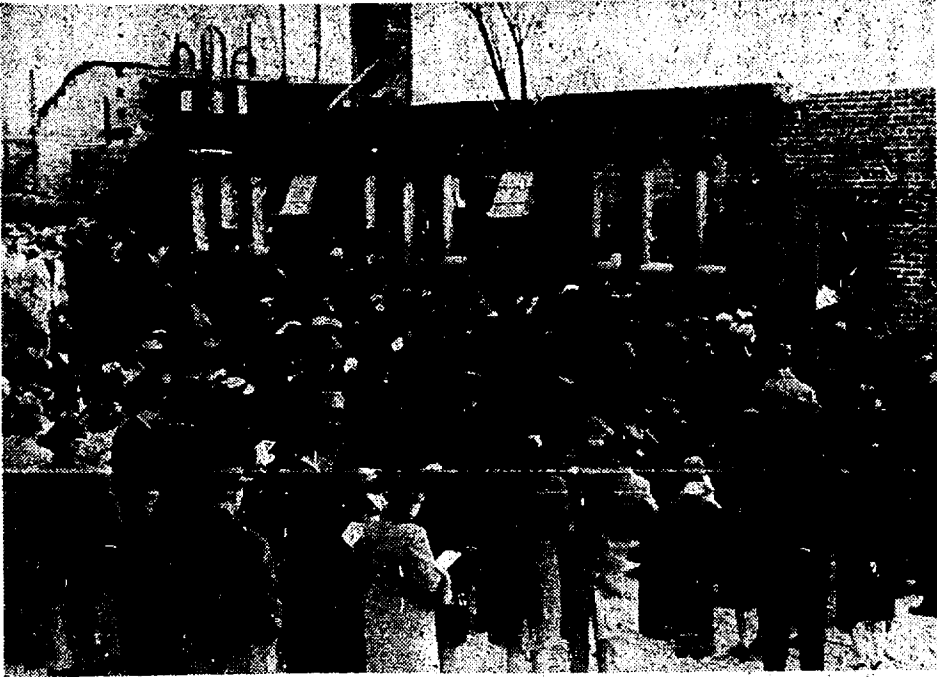

Officials of the O. P. A. explained to Representative Rabaut that it has been estimated that the total production of all types of women's full-fashioned and seamless hosiery will be about 400,000,000 pairs during 1946. If equitably distributed, that would provide a maximum of ten pairs of some kind of stockings for each woman in the United States. Six or seven of those ten pairs will probably be nylons.

Complaints concerning the export of stockings seem to be without foundation as the amount sent out of the country is relatively small. Exports of nylon hosiery from Sept. 1st through Dec. 31st amounted to less than one percent of the new supply produced. Total exports of rayon hosiery during 1945 amounted to only 1.5% of U. S. production.

Proud Grandmother Returns to Home

One of the Pointe's proudest grandmothers, Mrs. C. R. Mabley, left for her Philadelphia home recently after meeting her new granddaughter, Jayne Lamont Necomb, born Feb. 27 to Mrs. Mabley's daughter, Mrs. John Jenness Newcomb, and Mr. Newcomb, of Neff road. The Mableys are expecting to return to the Pointe soon to make their home.

Cornerstone Laid for Salem Memorial Church

HUNDREDS OF PARISHIONERS turned out Sunday afternoon for the ceremony held by this Lutheran church on Seven Mile road south of Harper. The Rev. Wilbert Burmeister is pastor of the church. The sermon at the laying was given by the Rev. William H. Nies, pastor of the Mt. Zion Lutheran Church. Ground was broken November 4, 1945 and the building, which was expected to be ready for Easter services, will not be completed until sometime in May, due to delay in steel deliveries. The new church will cost $45,000.

Brink Brings Back Colored Movies of South America

Earl B. Brink of 742 Berkshire road, has just returned from a 73-day trip through South America. He flew the entire way, going south along the east coast and returning north along the west coast. He visited Rio, Montevideo, Buenos Aires, Chile, Peru, Ecuador, the Canal Zone and Mexico City.

Mr. Brink took 2800 feet of colored motion pictures to add to his already extensive library of colored travel film. For the past several years he has made a hobby of showing these movies free of charge to luncheon clubs, women's clubs and church and civic groups throughout Michigan and in neighboring states. He expects to have his latest films ready for showing shortly after the middle of April.

Detroit Truck Causes Crash

A Detroit city dump truck going north on Wayburn tried to jump the sign at Vernor Highway and was run into by a car belonging to Mrs. Mildred Olney of 787 Fisher road, and driven by Mrs. Martha Cunningham of the same address. The Olney car had its front end smashed in. No damage was done to the truck.

A ticket was given to Nathaniel L. Trucker, driver of the truck.

The Detroit District Association of the American Legion Auxiliary will hold a Pan American Program on Monday, April 8, at 8 p.m., in the Ballroom at the Veterans' Building, Hastings and Jefferson, under the direction of Mrs. May I. Huntoon.

Autos Tangle At Light Stop

At 10:50 p. m. Thursday night when the Rolls-Royce car of Mrs. Louis Mendelssohn of 1000 Lakeshore drive, stopped for a red light on Jefferson avenue in the Park, it was run into from the rear by a Pontiac driven by Thomas Weatherly, of the U. S. Army. Frank Kaplan was driving the Rolls-Royce.

The rear end of the Rolls was quite badly damaged and the front of the Pontiac. There were no personal injuries but a ticket was issued to Weatherly, who resided at 8500 Elgin street, Detroit.

Four Sons Discharged From Service

Four former Grosse Pointe boys all from the same family have returned from the wars. They are: WILLIAM F. PHILLIP B. ROBERT N. and JOHN M. McGRAW, sons of MR. and MRS. WILLIAM F. McGRAW, SR., of Indian Village Manor.

Until the boys all went into service the McGraws lived on Kensington Rd. in Grosse Pointe. William and Phillip were discharged within one month of each other in November and December 1945. Robert and John were discharged on February 10 and 28, 1946, respectively.

From Another Pointe of View

by
Jane Schermerhorn

Strictly ramblings:
Mrs. George E. Schenck's annual party to fete Mr. S. on his birthday is rated one of Pointe's best parties this Spring . . .
Set in a meeting the other day when some of the best authorities on "Speakers" were trying to select an outstanding one for a coming important dinner . . .
And when the final choice was made . . . the biggest recommendation turned out to be that he had found an admirer in a gentleman who wasn't even present at the conference . . . B. E. Hutchinson . . .
"When B. E. Hutchinson says he can make a good speech there's no higher recommendation in my books" said the chairman . . .

FOR MR. FORD'S FILES

Maybe it was hearing Henry Ford II referred to on this week's Fibber McGee & Molly show as young Henry Ford . . .
That reminded us of a discussion we listened to one recent evening . . .
"I like to see him sign his name Henry Ford II using the Roman numerals" opined one . . .
Said the next, "No, I think he should sign himself Henry Ford the Second" . . .
The one who was shushed said,
"I think Henry Ford Two should be the way" . . .
The one who was voted oblivion thought it should be, "Henry Ford Top" . . .

POINTERS WIN FLORAL HONORS

Which reminds us that the senior Henry Fords made one of their rare public appearances . . .
When they visited the flower show at Convention Hall on Tuesday afternoon . . .
They were glimpsed spending quite some time . . . at the exhibit where an early model Ford car was designed of all carnations . . .
Incidentally . . . many Pointers have captured ribbons at the flower show which continues through this Sunday at Convention Hall . . .
These have included up to the time we stroll to press:
Pointe Garden Club's Mrs. W. K. Wheelock (miniature frames) . . . Mrs. Hanel Dwight Wilson (medium frames and small frames) . . . Mrs. Robert C. Winter and Mrs. Brownell Bradstreet (large frames) . . .
To Grosse Pointe National Farm and Garden Club's Mrs. Vincent R. DePetris went a blue ribbon in the large frames class . . .
Saw the Raymond Berries . . . just home from a Florida holiday . . . at the Flower Show, too . . .

NOW AND THEN

Spring, 1946, and other years—
Saw Walter Irving sharing the ride with several Detroiters the other transportationless evening . . .
And were interested to observe ALL the riders in Irving's car were elegantly turned out . . . it would have made a Harper Bazaar picture of Detroit Scene in April . . .
That Spring about seven years ago . . . when the Scintillating Six were debutantes . . . (for the nursery set: the scintillating six included Virginia Ford (Mrs. Samuel H. Bell) . . . Eleanor Stone Brown (Mrs. Sandy Weiner) . . . Ellen Penbody (Mrs. Jonathan Latimer) . . . the late Mary Mitchell (Mrs. Paul H. Deming, Jr.) . . . Mary Gene Smith (Mrs. Arthur H. Buhl, Jr.) and Helen Elise Smith (Mrs. Frederick Latham) . . .
And how they used to roller skate almost as soon as the snow was off the grounds up and down the lovely boulevards of the Pointe . . .

IN WHICH WE MAKE A DEEP BOW

Nominated right here and now to our own Superior Persons Class . . . is the Pointe's Mrs. Reuben J. Shumacher . . .
Who adds something extra when she gives her service as a volunteer to the worthy causes in which she becomes interested . . .
During the Red Cross 1946 Fund Campaign (which ends April 15 and you can still get your contribution in!) she put in longer than office hours five (and in many cases six) days a week . . .
And by the way . . . she passed up a Florida holiday with her family . . . to stay on the job . . .
It isn't often you find that kind of sacrifice in a volunteer . . . as Mrs. Dwyer Kinnucan, international authority on volunteers, if you don't believe us . . .

PERSONAL APPEARANCES

MARTHA BOURKE never looked snappier than she did when I glimpsed her wearing a moss green dress and long coat in a rough material with a bright colored silk scarf tied as an ascot at her throat. "BUDDY" GOETZ was with her and she wore an attractive "freshly scrubbed" look which is so youthful and matches the tailored clothes she usually appears in. Her suit was a becoming brown and white tweed. It's nice to have her back after her wartime absence.

EMMA FORD is another of our "tailored models" and they certainly become her. Saw her in such a pretty grey wool suit with a cute grey hat perched on her hair which was grey to match.

Another gal whose grey locks are vastly becoming is MARIE PETER. She has so much sparkle and her laugh is so contagious, she's fun to meet.

Such a nice picture THE four KAHN SISTERS made lunching together the other day. Mrs. Irene White was smartly attired as usual in tweeds, and the sister MRS. MacLAUGHLIN, from California, was pretty in grey. MRS. STANLEY SHEPHERD was wearing the most beautiful chapeau, made of a golden mustard satin with large rosettes of the same material. Sister KATHLEEN was in brown with birds nesting on the brown felt hat. They seemed to be enjoying themselves no end and they certainly put on a pretty "sister act."

The following have my vote for being the youngest looking "grannies" in Grosse Pointe. FRANNIE MERKEL . . . ELLIE FORD . . . ESTHER FORD.

I got a warm glow the other night when I saw two busses passing each other like ships in the night; they saluted each other by blinking their lights.

PILFERINGS

When the ballot box which will contain the secret votes cast by the U. N. SECURITY COUNCIL was opened a note was discovered which read "May I, who have had the privilege of fabricating this ballot box cast the first vote? May God be with every member of the United Nations Organization and through your noble efforts bring lasting peace to us all—all over the world." Thus the first U.N.O. ballot was a prayer for peace, penned by a tinsmith, Paul Antonio, who made the box.

THE KAISER-FRAZER CO. which complained to the Justice Department that a freeze-out conspiracy was preventing the company from getting the steel it needed, will get the precious metal.

L. E. MAYER, whose horse was beaten by ETHEL HILL'S War Knight at Santa Anita helped Miss Hill finance the purchase of her winning horse . . . ironic?

MAYOR O'DWYER of N. Y. will fly to Los Angeles to be godfather to the baby MR. AND MRS. PAT O'BRIEN are expecting. They have been married fifteen years and have two adopted children and were preparing to adopt the third, when they learned of their own "blessed event."

Marcia Netting Busy With Wedding Plans

May 10 Selected for Ceremony in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church; Parties Start April 9

Marcia's cousin, Marilyn Netting, will be maid of honor, and she has asked another cousin, Marian Jerome, of Rochester; Phyllis Crawford, of Niles, Mich.; Dorothy Casticum and Mrs. Roy D. Fairlamb to be bridesmaids; Cynthia Netting, sister of the bride-to-be, will serve as junior bridesmaid.

Best man for Bill will be William Hurley, while guests will be seated by James Bourquin, of Ann Arbor; Robert Porter, Richard and John McKinley, his cousins, and Richard Jerome, Marcia's cousin.

The first party for Marcia will be a bridal tea Tuesday, April 9 in Mrs. Neil D. Gotschall's home on Nottingham road. Hostesses will include Mrs. Gotschall, Mrs. C. A. Hill, Mrs. Charles Burgess, Mrs. John McIntyre and Mrs. Thomas Kay.

Miss Casticum and Mrs. Fairlamb will honor her at a household shower in Dorothy's home on University place Friday, April 12. Natalie Matern, of Burlington avenue, will follow with an around-the-clock shower in the middle of April.

On Saturday, April 27 Mrs. Paul Jerome will fete the young bride-elect in her Bedford road residence, and Mrs. Albert Cooney will be hostess the afternoon of Wednesday, May 1st, in her house on Merriweather road.

Contest Extended By Alger House

The Alger House photographic competition sponsored by the Detroit Institute of Arts has been extended until October 12, Clyde H. Burroughs has announced. He said the jury took this action because of the small number of entries received before the original deadline of March 16. Burroughs stated that the limited number of entries was due to the shortage of photographic materials and to unfavorable weather for photographs of exterior views.

Camera fans may now take pictures all spring and summer when Alger House and its grounds are best suited for the purpose, Burroughs added.

The jury is comprised of Charles B. Phelps, Jr., of Detroit, who is president of the National Association of Photographers; William M. Keese, of Grosse Pointe Farms, a past-president of the Detroit Camera Club; and Mr. Burroughs.

The prizes have been donated by Edgar B. Whitcomb, president of the Arts Commission of Detroit. They are $25 for the best view of the grounds, gardens, outdoor sculptures or terraces; $25 for the best exterior or interior view of Alger House; and five $10 prizes for the next best pictorial views of the house or grounds.

Photographs must be in black and white, or in color, not less than 8x10 inches, and on white or light-colored mounts, not less than 14x18 inches.

Kid Bits

By Betsy Bachmann

This week has meant a vacation for many of the kids around here, and with vacation we naturally connect a mad rush of parties and gay doings.

PAT CANDLER chose Tuesday for the night of her dinner-dance which was held at the Little Club. Sid Miller was her escort, and other couples seated around the table were John Cochran and Bill Mackey, Carrie Carter and Ray Ives, Peggy Barrie and Johnny Boydell, Libby Powell and Larry Higbie, Shirley Jerome and Benny Paddock, Barbara Burritt and Ted Kratzet, Elaine Kramer and Harry Downer, and Peggy Kemp and Bob Ford. Those who chose to go stag were Jim Robinson, Howie Muir, Johnnie Woodhouse, and Eddie Baker.

On Wednesday night, the same crowd gathered at the home of SID MILLER. Sally Walters was with Sid, and the other dates included Joey Mulford and Art Marschner, Ann Wedthoff and John O'Hall, Patsy vonReis and George McKean, Lee McMahon and Johnny Hooker, Pat Candler and Bill Mackey, Nona Hemminger and Dick Chesborough, Sally Frost and Bill Dahling, and Sally Finkenstaedt and John Woodhouse. Joe Scherer, Jim Robinson, Howie Muir, Mac Woodhouse, and Pete Paddock were the stags.

The kids tramped over to ELIOT PECK'S on Thursday night. Elliot asked Elaine Kramer to be his date, and some of the others there were Carolyn Taylor, Ray Ives, Pat Jerome, Bill Mackey, Ellie Buell, Bill Cole, and Grant Wedthoff.

with Bill Cole, Libby Powell with Larry Higbie, Carrie Carter with Eddie Baker, Joanie Gehlert with Bob Cudlip, and Carolyn Taylor with Peter Prince.

MARILYN LAMB played hostess on Saturday night. Her date for the evening was Bill Queen, Annie Wakeman was with Fred Auch, Marilyn Kaiser came with Joe Hickey, and Ann Leininger was with Bob Nette.

LES JONES was still another who decided to give a party on

Simplified Meal at Home For Entertaining Guests

By BETSY NEWMAN

AM I wrong or is there less entertaining in homes since rationing has stopped? Maybe I belong to a lazy gang, but entertaining seems to have gone to the restaurants. There's some guest dining in private homes, I know, but also an inclination to meet for dinner somewhere and then go to a home for after-dinner entertainment.

People still seem a bit tired. Don't give up the home dinners, girls, just simplify the meals. If they are well-cooked, daintily served and the company's good, everyone will enjoy them. I'm suggesting such a simplified meal today.

Today's Menu

Vegetable or Fruit Juice Cocktails
Old-Fashioned Bean Soup
CROUTONS
Large Tossed Ray Vegetable Salad
Oliver, Pickles
Baked Prune Whip
Hot Biscuits
Coffee
Old Fashioned Bean Soup
1 1/2 c. navy, small pea or soy beans
1 c. minced onion
1 c. minced carrot

1 c. minced celery
2 tbs. bacon fat
2 c. canned tomatoes
1 ham bone
1 tsp. salt
Dash of pepper

Soak beans over night in cold water to cover. Next morning, saute onion, carrot and celery in bacon fat for a few moments; add beans, water in which they have soaked, and ham bone or a small piece of salt pork. Add seasonings, and heat to boiling. Simmer until vegetables are tender, then force through a strainer or not, as preferred. Be sure it is seasoned sufficiently. Serves 6.

You may doubt that this menu would be approved by your friends, but try it. I bet the old-fashioned soup would "get" them, and many would say, "I haven't tasted that type of soup since I was a boy (or girl)."

Baked Prune Whip
2 c. cooked prunes
1 tsp. grated lemon rind
2 tsp. lemon juice
4 tbs. powdered sugar
4 egg whites

Pit prunes and mash to a pulp; add grated lemon rind and juice, and blend well. Beat whites of eggs until stiff, add 2 tbs. powdered sugar and continue beating until stiff. Fold prune mixture by spoonfuls into egg whites. Pile lightly in pudding dish and bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 20 to 30 mins. Serves 6.

Passion Play to Be Presented By Catholic Theater April 13

The Catholic Theatre of Detroit announced this week the beginning of work on The Passion Play, which will be given seven performances on April 13 and continuing through April 17 as the group's annual Lenten drama.

This is The Passion Play written by Rev. Emmet Hannick that, previous to the war, had received over 100 presentations and had drawn audiences in excess of 100,000 people. During the war years man-power shortage necessitated withdrawal of The Passion Play, which demands a cast of 125, as a Catholic Theatre presentation. With the return of Catholic Theatre veterans in large numbers the group is its ambitious project.

Easter Promises Elegance of Old

This year Easter will bring more cause for rejoicing than it has for years. Not only for us, but for our allies the Russians, this Easter means the hope of families reunited, of empty places filled at the feast table.

In Russia, Easter, though it falls one week later than our own date of April 21st, will be celebrated this year with all the pomp and circumstance that proclaimed this holy of holies in the days of the tsars. In Moscow, and indeed throughout all the Russias, the throngs, deeply religious as in Imperial days, will gather at the churches long before midnight on Easter Eve. As the great bells peel out the midnight hour, each member of the vast crowd will turn to greet his neighbor, be he friend or stranger, with the traditional greeting "Christ is risen," and will be answered, as in time immemorial, "He is risen indeed."

For an hour longer the people stand outside the churches. Then promptly at one o'clock the religious procession begins. The white robed priests, gorgeous in all the finery that was theirs under Catherine the Great, start the candlelight procession through the crowd into the church, and following them is the chanting choir. Lastly the people follow, in reverence as of old, to partake of this famous, sacred midnight-to-dawn mass.

The mass lasts till daylight, but only a reverent few will still be there at the end. The others will have slipped out quietly from time to time. For Easter means the end of a twenty-four hour fast—all worshippers are anxious to get home to the feasting that follows for this day—and the two more to come.

For Easter is to the Russians what Christmas is to us. A day of greeting their friends, of exchanging fine food and lavish gifts. The samovar stands ready for a ceremonial glass of tea at any hour, and the tables groan under the luscious goodies.

We here in America will not be able to take part in such gorgeous, tradition-inspired ceremonies. But we will be able to honor Easter in the Imperial Russian way, by giving and wearing an Essence that was the favorite of the great Catherine, Empress of all the Russias. Essence Imperiale Russe is a fragrance that has stood the test of time. It is as truly regal today as it was in the eighteenth century, and it is still chosen, by women who want to be more intriguing, as the gift from the past—for their present!

Essence Imperiale Russe comes in three sizes, $1.50, $2.00, $3.75. Other toiletries in the same regal fragrance.

The Ladies Guild of St. James Lutheran Church will hold its next meeting on Wednesday, April 10, at 1:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Ed. Bauman, 282 Merrilweather road.

You can tell an old-fashioned speaker, says Grandpappy Jenkins. He still says "Sold like hot cakes" instead of "like nylons."

Art Institute To Sponsor Three Exhibitions

Three exhibitions arranged by the Detroit Institute of Arts may be enjoyed by Detroiters during April.

"Sixty Years in Review" is the title of the show containing significant objects of art recalling the days of the old Detroit Museum of Art which was located at East Jefferson and Hastings street.

This exhibition features portraits and reminders of the distinguished benefactors who founded and forwarded the Museum and its activities; a display of documentary material dealing with the Museum's early history and a selection of the first paintings acquired by the Museum.

Included in the exhibition, which closes April 21, are the famous Japanese Wrestlers which were prominently displayed at the old Museum.

The April edition of Little Shows of Work in Progress presents recent paintings by Lyonel Feininger and Harry Bertio and sculpture by Mary Callery. This is the fourth of the small monthly exhibitions of contemporary art in a gallery set aside for the purpose.

Bertio, son-in-law of Dr. W. R. Valentiner, former director of the Detroit Institute of Arts, was an instructor at the Cranbrook Academy of Art. He now lives in California where he devotes his time working in a process called monotype, a special technique of printing with multiple plates, described as half-way between the arts of painting and print-making.

The third April exhibition is at the Alger House branch and features the lithographs, sculpture and oils of Kathe Kollwitz.

Cass Town Hall Lists Speakers

Town Hall is announcing a preliminary list of its speakers for the 18th consecutive season at the Cass Theatre. On October 18 it will open with the author of "See Here, Private Hargrove," Marion Hargrove.

Olive Ewing Clapper, whose husband, the late Raymond C. Clapper, ranks with the world's great journalists, has had overwhelming success on the lecture platform. Since his death Mrs. Clapper has edited and produced the best seller, "Raymond Clapper Watching the World," and with great success published her own book, "Washington Tapes."

Dr. Walter H. Judd, United States Congressman from Minnesota, is a recognized authority on American Foreign Policy and interests in the Pacific. He served eight years as a Medical Missionary under the Congressional Foreign Mission Board in different posts in China.

Two of Town Hall's most popular speakers will be presented: John Mason Brown, editor of The Saturday Review of Literature and author of two of the outstanding books of the war—"To All Hands" and "Many a Watchful Night," will give his "Review of Broadway Plays."

Edward Weeks, editor of The Atlantic Monthly, will review current books.

Pennington Haile, authority on the Problems of Peace, is working today with the World Wide Broadcasting Foundation of New York and Boston. His subject will be "Lasting Peace Is Up To You."

Colonel R. V. C. Bodley, distinguished British scholar, soldier of fortune and successful screen writer and author, knows North Africa, India, the Islands of the Pacific and the Arabs through living for years in the Far East since World War I.

The Hon. William D. Saltiel, one of the platform's ace speakers, an unofficial observer of the International scene in its relation to America, will discuss the youth problem and crime of today in his subject, "Youth Faces a Changed World."

April showers bring May flowers—eventually. But, at the moment, they also bring April glow-ers.

Harmar Chapter Meeting Changed

A regular meeting of the General Josiah Harmar Chapter, D.A.R. of Grosse Pointe, will be held on April 13 instead of April 20 in the Sun Room of the Y.W.C.A. on Witherell street, at 2 o'clock. A dessert luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock.

Mrs. William DeGraff, State Chairman of National Defense, will be the speaker.

The regent, Dr. Nina A. Mangas, will preside and give a report on the State Conference held in Grand Rapids on March 27 to 29.

Mrs. Slater, chairman of the nominating committee, will present names of members to be voted on for officers for the coming year. Election is May 18.

Miss Betty Jo Faulk, the Pilgrim chosen from the Grosse Pointe High School, will give a report on her attendance at the State Conference.

L. Bernstein to Conduct Symphony at Music Hall

Since Nov. 14, 1943, when Leonard Bernstein, then 25-year-old assistant conductor of the New York Philharmonic orchestra, won country-wide attention by substituting, on a few hours notice, for Bruno Walter, the young American has achieved fame, not only on the podium, but as a composer and pianist as well.

It will be as a triple threat artist that Bernstein comes to Music Hall for a concert on April 5. He will conduct an orchestra of 80 musicians from the Detroit Symphony, at least one of his works will be programmed and he will double as piano soloist in two of the numbers listed.

April 5, Leonard Bernstein has prepared the Prokofiev Classical Symphony, Three Quotations from the Bernstein Ballet "Fancy Free," Beethoven First Piano Concerto and the Rhapsody in Blue by Gershwin. Mr. Bernstein will perform the piano lines in the Beethoven and Gershwin works.

Girl Scout News

Out St. Paul way, Troop 579 has had a busy winter. The junior members spent considerable time preparing for their first puppet show. They started from scratch, too. First a demonstration was given by their assistant leader; then the girls were given some material and some extra time to experiment, after which they set to work in earnest, transforming the lowly potato into all sorts of Mother Goose characters. Finally, all was in readiness, and as scribe Ann Reed writes, "The stage was set, the curtain drawn, and one by one the various characters appeared to identify themselves with stories or poems that have made them known and loved by everyone. Little Miss Muffet, Wee Willie Winkie, Little Lulu, Chinky-Chinky Chinaman and others from story-book land were there, too, and when the curtain was finally drawn, all agreed that the puppet show was a great success as well as a lot of fun."

All the girls of 579 made Friendship Bags, 29 in all, and filled 12. For many of the girls, this was their first struggle with a sewing machine, but the completed bags gave no evidence of this fact. They were very professional looking and most attractive, with red stitching on the off-white material, fringed sides, and red cord. "Ornamental, as well as useful" could easily be a Girl Scout slogan!

In spite of this heavy winter program, the girls had fun too. They even braved near-zero weather—remember when?—and had a skating party on the lake, playing tag, ice hockey, and topping off with a huge fire, which naturally means hot dogs, toasted marshmallows, and hot chocolate.

From Richard school we hear that Mrs. J. C. White and her section of Troop 539, along with the assistant leader, Mrs. Joseph Henderson, hiked to the home of Mrs. T. G. Dahlen on McMillan Road recently, where a Fly-Up ceremony was held for Sandra Dickely and Mary Dahlen. Scout pins were awarded to Julie Watson, Marion Klingensmith, and Marie Jacobs. The girls practiced their songs and dance for the rally, and enjoyed the refreshments of ice cream and birthday cake.

These clever girls, with the help of the Troop Committee mothers, made their own aprons for the Swiss costumes which they wore for their part in the Juliette Low program. Ann Melink was chosen to present her troop's contribution to the Juliette Low Fund.

A new member just welcomed into Troop 539 is Nancy Naragon from Youngstown, Ohio. And Nancy's mother has joined our ranks too, having agreed to serve on the Troop Committee.

A new training course for leaders was started on Wednesday, March 20, at 10 a. m., at Defer School. For further information regarding the course, anyone interested may call Mrs. Howard Parfitt, NL 3698.

At the Neighborhood Club on Wednesday, April 3, at 8 p. m., there was a meeting of Girl Scout fathers and other men interested in scouting—the purpose of such a gathering being to organize a Dad's Patrol. You see, we need men's help in getting our campsite ready for summer use.

By now, everyone must know about our camping spot at Holly, Mich., and how Grosse Pointe was one of the fortunate districts to be assigned a site. Permanent buildings cannot be constructed until the necessary funds have been raised, but until that happy day, we can use mobile equipment, and thus give 150 Grosse Pointe Girl Scouts a week's camping experience during the coming summer. Due to the generosity of several of our local service clubs, we have already purchased a trailer, ice-box, cupboards, cots, and mosquito tents. Now we are concentrating on dishes, pots and pans, and additional cooking supplies. It really looks as though our camping dreams are coming true!

During the month of April, every Girl Scout in the Pointe is asked to be responsible for the collection of at least 25c worth of waste fat. The total sum obtained from this drive will be our contribution to the $6,000 that is being raised to support the Detroit Girl Scout Council, without which we could not exist. As you know, the War Chest drive in Detroit was not a success. Consequently, the Girl Scouts did not receive its full quota from the Detroit Community Fund. The result of all this is that there is not enough money to pay our staff workers. We need every member at the downtown office, and are determined to do our share to retain them. So we are asking every housewife to turn over her April accumulation of waste fats to a Girl Scout in her neighborhood.

Council members in this district are also doing their bit. They are making a concentrated effort to sell more Association ($1.00), and Sustaining ($5.00) memberships to people who are interested in scouting even though they have no one in that organization.

Twenty-one girls attended the newly organized Girls' Council meeting at the Neighborhood Club last month. Big plans were made for cook-outs, craft instruction, including copper jewelry, and lots more. The meetings will be held at the same place, on the second Thursday of each month, at 4 o'clock, and two delegates from each troop are invited to attend.

The first meeting for Wing Scouts was attended by over 400 air-minded young people, and according to reports, no more applicants will be accepted. However, if you're really interested, you might call the Detroit office of Girl Scout Council.

Money is still trickling in for the Juliette Low Fund. Grosse Pointe Council members gave as many pennies as they were old—a tidy sum—while the girls of Troop 201 gave a penny for each inch they measured around their waist. At their tender ages, this procedure was more profitable!

Mail to Germany Will Be Resumed

Congressman Louis C. Rabaut has learned from an authoritative source that resumption of mail service with Germany will begin shortly after April 1. Official announcement and exact date will be made probably this week-end. Communications of a non-transnational character on non-illustrated postcards or sealed letters not exceeding one ounce will be permitted. Congressman Rabaut was informed that no parcel post or airmail will be allowed. Rabaut has been interested in the reestablishment of communications with Germany for some time, and has made a number of inquiries to the Post Office and State Department from time to time. He has long felt that persons in this country of German descent should be permitted to correspond with their relatives in Germany, and is happy to announce that this will soon be possible.

She spent several weeks in Czechoslovakia, as well as in Russia. Unitarians will attend from Flint, Ann Arbor, Toledo, Detroit and Grosse Pointe.

CAR CERTIFICATE STOLEN
Thomas Kane of 1029 Lakepointe phoned the Park police at 8:45 Saturday morning that some time between 9 o'clock the evening before and 8 o'clock that morning thieves had broken into his Dodge car while parked in front of his home and had stolen the owner's certificate from the glove compartment. Nothing else was disturbed.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

EARLY SPRING

(From a Pullman Window)

The Bare Conservative forest trees stand expectantly
Looking down upon Spring's annual miracle of resurrection
Unfolding around them:
The white dogwood signalling Winter's surrender;
The young leaves of the adventurous maples
Clothing in lace their work-shop abode;
The trustful fruit trees with bud-laden branches
Promising to burst forth into a crescendo of glory;
The lowly dandelion, symbol of the life-giving sun,
Displaying its impertinence;
As the earth enviously spreads her robe of green,
Not to be outdone by the majesty of heaven's blue dome—
Reminding us that beauty is ours, (and why not happiness),
"On earth as it is in Heaven".

Editor's Note:—This was written by a resident of Grosse Pointe Park whose daughter was spending the winter in Florida and wanted to know how Spring was progressing up north. The author wishes to remain anonymous.

Death Riding County Roads

"Death continues to ride the highways of the out-county area of Wayne County despite extra precaution and alertness on the part of our Road Patrol," said Sheriff Andrew C. Baird in discussing the February report of the Traffic Division of his uniformed Road Patrol.

According to the report of the Traffic Division of the Sheriff's Department, in the month of February there were four fatal accidents which is an increase of 300 per cent over the number of fatal accidents that occurred in the month of February, 1945. There were 41 personal injury mishaps in which 63 persons were injured, and 101 mishaps in which property damage was suffered. There were a total of 145 accidents in the out-county area. This total is an increase of 63 per cent over February, 1945, and the personal injury cases show an 86 per cent increase over a year ago for the like period. Of the persons killed, three were pedestrians which should warn all persons who have occasion to walk on the highways to exercise unusual care and obey all traffic rules.

Are you interested in improving your appearance? Silly question! What intelligent woman isn't? But the trouble is that not every intelligent woman knows how to. If you're a Cinderella, or even if you aren't, your Fairy Godmother in the form of a beauty counsellor will transform you. She will come to your home and give you a "dinner party pickup" (which is not alcoholic, but which I promise you'll find intoxicating). This is a treatment which takes the place of a facial and gives you the privilege of using the products which are right for your special type of skin. The counsellor gives you a skin analysis and recommends a blended "make up" for your particular coloring, and allows you to try the different shades so that you may see for yourself that what she advises is best for you. Believe it or not, all this is free. You can prove it by calling Barbara Henry—Tuxedo 2-9300, the home of Beauty Counsellors, Inc. She will send you a counsellor and you don't have to buy a thing. You have nothing to lose, so why not try it?

Don't stop with improving only your personal appearance. Have pity on your yard which also needs a "beauty treatment" after the rigors of winter. The GROSSE POINTE HARDWARE has just the stimulant to grow thick green "hair" on the bald spots in your yard. Scott's grass seed 35 cents a lb. for the spot just beginning to thin, or $3.25 for 10 lbs. . . . if you're that bald! For all the necessary "hair cuts" they have the correct shears; grass, hedge, and pruning. That is, they have a few, so if you need, get yourself over there but fast. If your rugs or tapestries, (if you have tapestries, I assume that you do have rugs or rug!) need their faces lifted try "Reddy," a waterless cleaner. And for the upholstery, a "facial" with "Mystic Foam." If the walls need a "pick up" try "Solax." MR. NAGLE tells me that they're all excellent and he should know because he sells them.

Congratulations are due MR. MOIR of THE FARMS MARKET as he has just been elected to the Presidency of our local Rotary Club. This is a big job and considering his own "busy business" he deserves a hand for taking on this additional work. The Rotary Club is maintained to render service and his "good works" in this community are too numerous for me to go into here. Did you know that Time magazine sent out a questionnaire to Grosse Pointers asking where they trade and why; what they liked about the shops and which they considered the best. I was amazed to hear that they received replies from 30% of the people contacted. FARMS MARKET was awarded the Time plaque for the most popular market. I don't wish to be tripe but perhaps this bears out that courtesy and service do bring their reward! And I don't doubt that they have found that it "pays."

KOPP'S PHARMACY was awarded the Time prize for the most popular drug store, should you not have known or been forgetful! This week when you go in you may think that you're in a florist as the most beautiful assortment of flowers has arrived. There are not to be confused with Mother Nature's variety although they look real enough to be; these are to be worn in your "hair do"; your "hat do" or any other "do" you wish. But whatever you do, look them over and you'll get at least an idea as to how to be noticed; you might even be whistled at!

SALE! Property for Sale in Grosse Pointe! Valuable property too but not real estate. I am referring to the COLOSSAL SUPER DUPER sale that is going on at PONGRACZ JEWELERS. Every earring in the shop is to be sold 50% off. For those who have difficulty with arithmetic let me add that the original price is marked on the sales tag and all we have to do is to pay half of it. Easy, isn't it? There are earrings to suit all tastes and all shapes of ears—solid gold—antique silver—reproductions of antique earrings—costume jewelry for your "hearing" pieces. I thought of course that PONGRACZ JEWELERS were going out of the earring business, but not at all. They want to make it easier for us to be glamorous girls in the Easter Parade. Doesn't it just make your ears ring?

Unless you are in the "hair business" the importance of the National Hairdressers' convention held annually in Chicago might not register, but take my word for it it is quite a "shindig." The coiffure artists gather to show their works of art; to discuss new styles in hairdressing and the trend of fashion in the beauty world. Mr. Don Pierre and Mr. Joseph Kertesz who wield their artistic touch at YVONNE's pretty shop on Kercheval Ave., have just returned from said convention and will be very happy to give you the latest in hair arrangement. Believe me, the good old days of a woman's assuming her disheveled appearance by saying "apologetically," "I've just washed my hair and I can't do a thing with it!" are gone forever, thanks to the expert hairdressers.

DePETRIS, (for the benefit of the newcomers in Grosse Pointe) is a florist shop located on Grosse Pointe Blvd., noted for its flower arrangements among other things, and if you want to see Spring as she should be seen take a tip from me and go there. They will graciously show you through the greenhouses blooming with beautiful flowers and if you feel in a party mood take your own container (vase or what have you) and they will fill it with some of their lovely "flowers" in a most original manner.

Not all "weekends" need be "lost" when you can be served as efficiently and ingeniously as the "Screen Bar" does the trick. The SIGN OF THE MERMAID has this marvelous aid to the thirsty. Closed, it looks like a four paneled screen covered with silver Chinese paper having a stunning design of birds and leaves in grey green and putty white. This may be cleaned with warm water and soap flakes.

The two center panels separate and fold back to reveal a most clever arrangement. A center board folds down to form a serving shelf. On either side are open cabinets for glasses, etc.

In the rear we find hidden shelves to hold all the "necessaries" for mixing and so forth, and a cabinet with a lock and key for you know what! The interior is painted in a beautiful shade of vermillion; scalloped in white, the fold back panels are papered on the inside with "Gay 90" figures pictured in vermillion on a white background. The beauty of the whole thing is that

It is appropriate to the most formal drawing room or an out-of-doors terrace. And if you're a teetotaler it will take care of you just as well . . . you can lock your nylons in the cabinet!—Adv.

New Packard-Grosse Pointe Company Opened by Whiting

The Automobile Club of Michigan will be allowed to retain headquarters in the Packard Building on East Jefferson Avenue at Lakepointe, it has been announced by Henry Whiting, who recently resigned as Detroit Zone Manager of the Packard Company to open his own sales and service branch in the building. He has been with the Packard Company for 24 years.

The auto club will use the front left hand portion of the building while it is waiting for its new building to be constructed.

Mr. Whiting's company is known as Packard-Grosse Pointe, Inc. Complete sales and service departments are being offered to customers. The 1946 Packard Clipper sedan is on display in the newly decorated showroom. New and used car sales are under the direction of Gerald F. (Sonny) Schneider, who has been associated with Whiting for the last 17 years.

Oscar G. Heinrich, service manager for many years at this location, has joined the new company in the same capacity, as have the majority of his associates, including Milton F. Reischel, parts department manager, and Percy Barlow, shop foreman. Edward McCutcheon will occupy the position of office manager.

In this modern building, with service facilities on one floor, the new company offers Packard service by factory trained mechanics. All the latest equipment available for lubrication, motor testing, wheel aligning and other essential motor car services is at hand.

The Detroit Automobile Club, formerly using the entire showroom, will hereafter occupy the space in the southwest side of the building.

Whiting invites the public, including his many friends and customers, to visit his new place of business that they may acquaint themselves with the service facilities and place their reservations for new Packard cars.

Pointers Find Spanish Learned Here Helped in S.A. Countries

Half the pleasure of visiting Latin-American countries is the enjoyment of making use of the Spanish you learned before leaving home, according to Lawrence C. Pace, of Cadieux road, and Edward H. Thomas, of Nottingham road, who recently have returned from visits to republics to the south and both of whom learned their Spanish by the quick and easy Grosse Pointe method developed by Clarence V. McGuire and used in the evening adult classes sponsored by the department of adult education.

Mr. Pace, a manufacturer who went to Cali, Colombia, to open a branch factory, states that he found the Colombians extremely appreciative of his having studied Spanish before coming to their country, and when he would have difficulty with a word or phrase his new-made native friends would wait respectfully and patiently while he summoned words from his limited vocabulary.

"Seldom does the South American venture to correct you or even to offer a suggestion as to your use of Spanish, so great is his fear of offending you," Mr. Pace says. "His appreciation of your having made the effort to learn his language is obvious and his courtesy is such that he disregards your mistakes. Only if you ask assistance with a word or expression will he offer it."

"For a South American to correct you continues Pace, "may be accepted as a high compliment for it indicates that he has come to regard you as an esteemed friend who will not take offense at trivialities."

Mr. Thomas, Detroit department store executive, who with Mrs. Thomas visited Mexico City and Acapulco, recently states that their study of Spanish in the adult evening classes contributed immeasurably to the enjoyment of their vacation.

"We had no difficulty even when we visited stores, shops, cafes and villages where no English is spoken and where we were compelled to rely on the conversational Spanish we had learned at Grosse Pointe to make ourselves understood," he says. "It was very gratifying to find that the Mexicans understood us very well. Amusing incidents, however, were not lacking. For example, when we were fishing at Acapulco Mrs. Thomas felt a slight nausea and asked for a piece of ice (hielo) to put on her forehead. She was given a piece of heavy thread (hilo)."

As a preparation for future trips to southern countries which they expect to make next year, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas and Mr. Pace have enrolled in the new classes for adults now forming at the high school building.

Father-Scout Banquet Held by Pointe Scouts

The second annual Father and Scout banquet was held at the Steven T. Mason school on Monday night, March 18, 1946. Attended by thirty-five fathers and forty-two scouts, and prepared by sixteen scout mothers under the able leadership of Mrs. Hugh MacTavish, who brought cubbing and scouting to the Woods. The honored guests were Joseph Hourihan, former Grosse Pointe teacher returned from service; Marshall Jameson, the man every one in the Woods calls on for song leading and entertainment; Russell, president of the Mason school P. T. A.; and Charles Lord, Grosse Pointe Scout commissioner.

Both fathers and mothers enjoyed the court of honor which followed the banquet. Awards were as follows:

Tenderfoot—David Krause, Norman Brothers, Thomas Dau,

Don Moenart, Welden Follin, Lawrence Butten, Albert LaBon. Second class—Jimmy Van Assche, Peter Roll, Fred Hicks, Ronald Knope.

First class—Pat Garmon, Norman Van Almen, Fred Duemling. Special award by Mr. Charles Lord: 1st class rank to Scoutmaster L. D. Wild Life Scout, Randall Zeeb, by his father.

Announcement of Eagle rank, earned by David Hogarth. Special award by scoutmaster since rank had not arrived. This is the first Eagle rank to be earned by any scout in the Woods.

Court of honor was followed by a sound motion picture, "Scout Trail to Citizenship."

Excellent Peach Crop Predicted

Prospects for an excellent peach crop for Michigan orchardists is predicted by Don Hootman, extension horticulturist at Michigan State college, who warns that March and April are the months to do a thorough job of pruning the trees.

To increase the size and the flavor of the product, and to prevent exceedingly heavy loads on the trees, Hootman says it is necessary to begin immediately to prune away about half of the live buds.

The winter season this year was mild enough that there was no winter bud killing of the peach trees. A temperature lower than 10 degrees below zero is usually necessary to kill the buds.

"Prune away the thin, weak wood and grow better quality peaches on the more vigorous wood in the tree," is the advice from the horticulture specialist.

CHARLES FREDERICK JEAN, yeoman 3/c, was honorably discharged this week from the Navy at the Naval Separation Center in Toledo, Ohio. He was in the Navy for over three years and spent 17 months overseas. Several battle stars were awarded him while in the Pacific. He is home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Jean of 1040 Kensington, Grosse Pointe Park.

Major JOHN S. HEIL, JR., has returned to the Pointe after four years service in the Army Air Force. He and Mrs. Heil are staying with his parents on Neff road until they can find a "home of their own."

JOHN B. FORD III, 22, formerly QM 1/c in the U. S. Coast Guard, has been released from the service and is returning to Grosse Pointe as a civilian to take up residence at 16638 East Jefferson.

He has concluded 39 months of service in the coast guard, having been on duty in the European, Pacific and American theaters. He will live with his parents, Comdr. and Mrs. John B. Ford Jr. In addition to battle area ribbons, he has earned the following decorations: Good conduct, Victory Medal and three area ribbons.

JAMES W. HOPTON, JR., Coxswain, is a civilian again after serving in the Navy for 31 months. He was given his honorable discharge at the Great Lakes, Illinois, in the middle of March.

Hopton, whose parents live at 500 Lake Shore road, served in the Pacific Theater for 23 months and was on Okinawa from Invasion Day until his departure for the States in late November.

With the Eighth Army in Japan—STAFF SERGEANT FRANK H. QUEENAN of Grosse Pointe Park, Michigan, is now serving with the famous 1st Cavalry Division in the present occupation of the Nippon capital. Overseas 15 months, Queenan is serving with "D" Troop, 13th Cavalary Regiment, as a section sergeant. A veteran of two campaigns, he wears the Asiatic-Pacific Theater ribbon with two stars for Leyte and Luzon. He also wears the Philippine Liberation ribbon with two stars, the Combat Infantryman's badge, and the Good Conduct Medal.

As a civilian, Queenan attended Grosse Pointe High School, and later went to work for Eaton Manufacturing Company, as a timekeeper. He entered the Army on July 28, 1944, and received his basic training at Camp Roberts, California. He hopes to return to his old job after he receives his discharge.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Queenan, reside at 948 Beaconsfield, Grosse Pointe Park, Michigan.

CHARLES S. RICKER, major, Air Corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester S. Ricker, of 424 Lincoln road, returned to the states from a year's duty in the Aleutians on March 28. He is now at Fort Lewis, Wash., and expects to go to Santa Anna, Calif., where he was previously stationed, before returning home.

CAPTAIN FRED B. DEWEY, son of Mr. and Mrs. FRANKLIN H. DEWEY of 16841 Cranford Lane, has been discharged from the Army Ordnance. He spent 20 months overseas attached to the eighth and third corps of the Third army.

Captain Dewey graduated from Grosse Pointe High and was an engineer on plant layout at Ternstedt Division of General Motors before entering the service.

HONOLULU, T. H. — JEAN F. BRACKEN, aviation ordnance man, third class, 827 Lincoln Rd., Grosse Pointe, Mich., is stationed here with Squadron 12 of the Naval Air Transport Service. The squadron handles administration and aircraft maintenance for other squadrons operating over a vast network of air bases in the Pacific.

WHERE THERE'S SMOKE... Some little excitement was caused Sunday afternoon in the 1000 block of Bedford road by a fire in a boys' hut. The firemen succeeded in preserving the majestic proportions of the edifice. There was a suspicion that cigarettes had something to do with the beginning of the fire.

Pointe Boy Now Ranking Middleweight

George Bundy in Finals of European Theater Boxing Tournament

A former Grosse Pointe High school boy, George Bundy, 20, of 1883 Fleetwood Drive, Grosse Pointe Woods, has entered the finals in the middleweight division of the European Theater boxing championships. He is strictly an amateur and has been competing against both seasoned professionals and amateurs.

Out of 75 participants in the middleweight division, he now ranks third with the finals still to be fought. The outstanding part of

George's showing is that he did not box previous to entering the service. He is attached to the 232nd Infantry of the 42nd Division stationed in Salzburg, Austria. While a student at Grosse Pointe High School, George was a substitute on the swimming and baseball teams.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bundy of Grosse Pointe Woods. Naturally, Mr. Bundy is mighty proud of his son's athletic achievement. He, too, was an amateur boxer with the Army of Occupation after World War I, but says, "I never did as well as my son."

Stand for what is right.

Proven Varieties of Seeds Best for Michigan Gardens

Just because a garden seed is offered for sale is no reason that it is the best for Michigan.

That is the best advice that any gardening specialist can offer. Back Rose, Michigan State College authority, believes it is all right to try a few new varieties, but she reminds you that there are some old standbys. And these definitely should not be passed over for the picture that looks so good in the catalog, may be of a variety that does well in Georgia.

A good gardener watches the new creations that come along. Improvements are constantly being made and he misses none of them. But he knows, too, that for the most of his garden, he must depend on the tried and proven varieties, Rose says.

And here are the tried and proven varieties for Michigan which Extension Specialist Rose recommends:

Asparagus—Mary Washington. (Buy roots if possible.)

Beans, Green Bush—Longgreen, Tendergreen, Stringless Green Pod, Logan.

Beans, Wax—Pencil Pod, Cooper's.

Beans, Pole—Kentucky Wonder.

Beans, Lima Bush—Fordhook, USDA No. 2 Henderson.

Broccoli—Italian Green Sprouting.

Cabbage—Copenhagen Market, Golden Acre (early), Round Dutch, Glory of Enkhuizen (mid-season), Wisconsin Hollander No. 6, Bunker (late).

Carrots—Imperator (sand or chuck soil), Nantes Half Long (heavier soils), Red Cored Chantenay.

Cauliflower—Snowdrift, Early Snowball.

Corn, Sweet—Northstar, Spancross (early), Golden Cross Bantam (mid-season), Joana (late).

Cucumber—Burpee Hybrid, A and C, Straight 8.

Eggplant—Black Beauty.

Salsify or Oyster Plant—Mammoth Sandwich Island.

Parsnips—Model, Hollow Crown.

Lettuce, Head—Great Lakes, Imperial 847, New York PW 55.

Muskmelon—Honey Rock, Hearts of Gold.

The Michigan State extension bulletin No. 4, "The Home Vegetable Garden," which was widely distributed last spring, gives other information to the home gardener. If you did not get one of these last year, they are available from your county agent or by addressing: The Bulletin Office, Dept. of Public Relations, Michigan State College, East Lansing, Michigan.

Cafe Robber Held in Bail

Robert Dowling, who shot his way out of the Grosse Pointe Park cafe early in the morning of February 12 when it was surrounded by Park police, had his examination last Friday and was held for Circuit Court in $5,000 bail with two sureties.

His pal in the attempted robbery, Robert Pelchak, turned states evidence at the hearing and made the indictment complete.

A free spirit means escaping from the blight of self-improvement.

The Pointe Now Has a Navy

The "Pointers Navy" which meets at the Neighborhood club is organized similar to the U.S. Navy. Shown above at a meeting of the group are Lieut. Johnny Murphy, who is explaining the details of cabin cruiser plans held by Lieut. (j.g.) Carl Romano. Lieut. Cal Purdy as "Officer of the Day" kept the meeting order.

By FRED RUNNELLS

A group of twenty six Grosse Pointe youngsters, from 12 to 17, have organized a club and call themselves the "Pointers Navy" which meets every Thursday evening at the Neighborhood Club from 6:30 to 7:30 p. m. The purpose of the organization is to teach the boys seamanship, water safety, navigation, communication, weather and any other subjects pertaining to boats.

The pattern of the club follows the United States Navy as far as organization, system of ranks, etc. There are dues each week which will go towards the purchase of a motor boat on which the members will have an opportunity to put into practice their knowledge learned during the winter months. The size of the boat will be determined by the amount of money accumulated through various money raising schemes the club is planning before the summer months. The members themselves are in favor of purchasing an older boat and reconditioning it themselves so they will have the first hand experience of boating from the ground up and believe they will appreciate their boat more than if they bought a boat in first class condition ready to sail.

At present there are five officers, nine cadets, and twelve enlisted men. This number will be increased around the first of May when the cadets will receive their commissions as ensigns and the enlisted men receive their certificates qualifying them in their respective subjects studied during the winter months.

The commissioned officers are members of the Command Staff which sets the rules and plans the future of the club.

Each enlisted man will specialize in the subject that interests him most and are only required to attend the meetings that cover his particular subject.

The cadets are required to attend all meetings, of which there are 12. The subjects studied by the cadets are: Seamanship, Ship and Water Safety, Piloting, Weather and Communications.

Not only does the club offer knowledge that can be used to great advantage later in life but gives the boys an excellent opportunity to pursue good wholesome entertainment throughout the year.

Ernst and Ernst Retained As Pointe Park Auditors

The firm of Ernst and Ernst were retained by the Park Council on March 25 to again do the auditing work for the village. It had first been suggested in the Commission meeting that this work be opened to competitive bidding but the Ernst and Ernst firm refused to enter on a competitive basis, as did all of the other auditing firms that were approached.

The Park will pay the same figure for the work it did last year; not to exceed $1,350.

BEHIND THE SCENES

"Behind-the-scenes" work on a production as large as The Passion Play, which will be presented April 13 through April 17 at the Institute of Arts Main auditorium, requires a staff almost equal to the size of the cast which performs on stage. Though the number of performers in The Passion Play is almost 100 it still demands nearly that many to keep the backstage wheels in motion.

MASON SCHOOL

The Bridge Party given by the Room Mothers of Mason School in the assembly room of the Detroit Edison Company was a real success. One hundred attended the party and enjoyed an afternoon of bridge, in the attractive air-conditioned room, followed by delicious refreshments furnished by the Edison Company. The hostesses were Mrs. Wilson, chairman of the Room Mothers, Mrs. Eckel, who was in charge of prizes, Mrs. Marks, who was in charge of tickets, and Miss Tucker, principal of Mason School.

The proceeds which exceeded $200 will be used to buy educational toys and games for recess and noontime activities on rainy days. Much of the success of the party was due to the generosity of individual parents, Mason School teaching staff and donors of prizes.

At the Mason Parent-Teacher Association meeting the tables from which refreshments were served were covered with the lovely lace dinner cloths which the Room Mothers gave to the school. They were presented to Miss Ethel M. Tucker, principal of the school, by Mrs. Allen Wilson, chairman of the Room Mothers, at a recent meeting.

The three kindergartens of the Mason School will present an assembly program for the school children and for parents on Thursday, April 4, at 1:30. Miss Estelle Quigley's Kindergarten orchestra will play selections. Miss Dorothy Swett's group will sing Easter songs, and Mrs. Irene O'Reilly's children will narrate and dramatize Easter stories. VERNIER SCHOOL

On Thursday, April 4, at 8:30 p.m. Dr. Marion Fitzsimmons, psychologist of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education, will speak to the Vernier P.T.A. about "Parents and Children."

The school will be open at 7:45 p.m. so that parents wishing to talk to the teachers may do so before the meeting.

RICHARD SCHOOL

In building cities we cover the grass with cement, we shut away the skies and we cut down and kill trees to build great motor highways. Some link with reality must be forged for the city child, and museums helps to bridge this link.

Museums are designed for the happiness and inspiration of children, and it also is a vital part of a child's educational experiences.

The museum makes it possible for children to study some of nature's treasures. It also arouses within the child a greater interest in the world about, and leads to hobbies and deeper interests.

Museum material makes a lesson much more realistic and concrete. The oral, printed, and written words mean little to a child unless he has had previous concrete experience with the thing symbolized by the word.

The value of museums consists in enriching instruction by making it, meaningful, and children are encouraged to participate in the activity by collecting, identifying and labeling.

Most of the material at the Richard museum was contributed by children and parents. Identifying material brought in by a child is of vital importance. He often wishes to obtain further information, which necessitates research; and greater satisfaction is found when he in turn is able to report his findings to a group or class.

Last week a field trip was made by the 3B group, under the direction of Elsie Nault, to Pine Woods. The experience was exciting and worth-while. Many signs of spring were observed; the buds on the trees, pussy willows, snakes, ants, cocoons and several butterflies. Frog eggs, baby frogs and weeds were collected. These specimens of nature will be studied and passed on to other groups for study and observation.

Raspberries Add To Home Garden

Why not include some fruit in your home garden? Lack of space is a good reason, but if you have room for 100 or even a 50-foot row of raspberries you can have some fine eating. T. A. Merrill, Michigan State college horticulturist suggests you consider raspberries in your plans.

This fruit can be grown in moderately-fertile, well-drained loam soil or moist, sandy loam, well supplied with humus. Light sands are not satisfactory, Merrill says. Moisture is important, and while good drainage is necessary, the plants do not do well unless they have an ample and continuous supply of moisture.

The two most favored home-planting varieties for Michigan in red raspberries are Latham and Taylor. Latham grows a large, firm and attractive appearing fruit, somewhat lacking in quality. The Taylor berries are large, firm and of good quality and are splendid for canning and freezing. Plants should be obtained, Merrill urges, from sources that will guarantee their freedom from injurious insects and diseases.

Set-out the plants in the spring as soon as soil can be prepared. Plants should be 3 feet apart; rows 6 to 10 feet apart. A hundred feet will supply a family of four and allow enough for canning and freezing.

Manure or commercial fertilizers may be used. Sulfate of ammonia or ammonium nitrate can be supplied the plants at 5 pounds for each 100 feet. After the last berries are harvested, old canes that have borne fruit should be cut out and burned to control disease. In the spring the canes should be thinned to 4 or 5 canes for each lineal foot of row and remaining canes cut back to about 3 feet in length.

THE ACTUAL CURE FOR STRIFE

The scientific remedy for conflict, in industry and elsewhere, is brought to light and continually demonstrated in Christian Science.

It is the understanding (1) that in any situation what is good for one must be good for all, and (2) that what is good for all is always in their reach—understanding which rests on the basic fact—in Science that authentic good is by its very nature impartial and universally available.

If a proposed course of action promises benefits for some but is not good for all, Christian Science leaves no doubt whatsoever that a program far better for even the apparently favored ones is available. If individuals, blocs, or nations have an apparent opportunity for profit through injustice to others, they can do far better for themselves, to say nothing of the others, through action in the interest of all.

This, Christian Science makes plain, is the great practical truth underlying the teaching, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

The complete explanation of Christian Science and its method of healing strife, disease, and other evils is given in

SCIENCE and HEALTH with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy

"KISS of DEATH"

By LAWRENCE RANDALL
As Told to Mary Madison

"I didn't know who she was at the time. I read that letter from Ebba Strum you received. I read it while you were in the bathroom at the hotel last night. It was in your wallet. You left the wallet in your inner coat pocket."

"Nice girl. What else did you take out of my wallet?"

"I didn't take anything. I didn't take the letter. I just read it. You see I have to look out for myself."

I could see. She must have had splitting headaches, as an infant in the crib, trying to figure out how to lift the doctor's watch.

"The only thing to do," Imogene continued, "was to get back into the speedboat and drive it along the shore back to town. I raced it down the river and docked it where the business section below Grosse Pointe begins. I got out and let the boat drift. The current must have carried it over to Belle Isle. I had gloves on and I was careful not to leave any prints."

"I walked from the river up to Jefferson, went into an open-air night drug store and called a cab. When I got out at the hotel, I went into the coffee shop and ordered breakfast. I engaged a waitress in conversation. We talked about dieting. I gave her my suggestions. She was very happy. I knew she'd remember me and the conversation. So I had an alibi if I needed one. So far I haven't."

I said: "Just why are you telling me all this. You know I might go to Carroll and have you held as a material witness. You admit you were at the scene of the crime. You even admit I have a witness in Ebba Strum who can identify you."

"You might," she sneered confidentially, "but you won't. You won't want this story of Roger's liaison to come out, with the implication that Miranda Ames was killed by her own fiancé. That's where the three endings come in. That's where I come in—"

"It ought to be perfectly clear to you that whether Roger killed Miranda Ames or not depends on whether I say he did. I'm his only alibi. First, I can say it's logical to assume Roger didn't kill her or he would never have let me go back to the pier and discover her dead. Second, I can say that he was in a drunken rage and confessed to me on the boat that he did kill her: when she refused him the money. And third—this is the ending you'll pick—I can say nothing."

"And the price of this golden silence?" I asked.

"Will run high," with an infantile smirk. "After all, I'm out the fifty thousand. Roger should have gotten me from Miranda. He'll never pay me now. Besides, I'm afraid of him. I'm not safe while he knows I have this on him. After all, I have no way of proving he didn't kill Miranda. It's just my opinion that he didn't. Which ending will you take?"

I said, "I haven't any money together and bent toward me. Her face was set in white intensity. Her hands looked old tonight. Her face looked old. It occurred to me that exquisitely preserved women like Fay never become middle-aged; they are young—and then instantly they are old.

She said in a low, frightened voice: "It's about Sneed. I had a phone call from her, from Canada."

"Then she's not any more dead than usual."

"Not at all. She ran away. She got on the yacht, but she never went out on the lake with us. She let us all see her. Then she slipped off the boat before it started and on to the dock. She said she'd been in fear of her life ever since she was struck down the other day here. She knows who killed Miranda."

"Then why wouldn't she tell Carroll? He was trying to protect her," I said. "The old cadaver is crazy."

"The worst part of it is that she thinks I know who committed the crime, Larry. She said she'd give me twenty-four hours to tell the police. I don't know. I don't know how she knows. She's a British citizen. She says she's going to live with her sister in Ottawa. Her sister has six small children. She wants to bring them up in fear of the Lord. No cannibalism allowed."

"Wouldn't she tell you where she was in Canada?"

"No, the call came from London, Ontario. That doesn't prove she's still in that town, of course. She rarely spoke much to my face; over the phone she was positively spouting."

Fay clasped her thin white hands in a restless, weaving gesture. "You see, Larry, Sneed had a morbid mother fixation about Miranda. That was fanatical in scope. She was with her since Miranda was three months old. All her child-starved affection and emotion she poured out on Miranda. Marcus told me that Sneed hadn't always been the withered female we've seen. It was when Miranda went away to school and Sneed gradually realized she no longer needed her goddaddy that she began to shrink and warp into a bitter, repellent old woman. She still worshipped Miranda as if she were her own child—sort of an inverted Mother fixation. Worshipped her, and with distorted maternal solicitude, fondly spied on her. It sometimes seemed to me, watching Sneed, that she was rummaging through the girl's inner thoughts the way you'd toss private papers."

"Why didn't you give her the pitch—and a pension, if you wanted?" I asked.

"I couldn't discharge her, Larry. She was Miranda's old nurse and Miranda insisted she be retained. She felt sorry for her. Sneed hated me. I could tell that by looking at her. It was like staring into a cracked, disfiguring mirror that revealed all one's ugliness."

"When Miranda was murdered, something was murdered in Sneed. Her eyes became glazed with suspicion, her whole being curdled with hate. You noticed it?"

I nodded. "The sight of her was unnerving. She ran up my spine like a mouse in a dank cellar."

"Tonight, over the phone, she let forth her bitterness in a hymn of hate to me. She waxed quite Biblical. The curse that comes of dallying among the fleshpots is upon me, she claims."

Fay's face was haggard in the flame that she touched to her cigarette. "She told me 'Nothing on God's good earth satisfies you. Someday you'll demand a square pearl, and crack up because you can't get one.'"

"What does she mean—a square pearl?"

Fay shrugged with despair. "Something to confound me, I presume. Well, her black curse is working, damn her. I haven't been able to quiet down since I heard her voice. She said if I didn't go to the police and tell them what led to Miranda's death, she'd tell them herself."

So that was what was worrying Fay, not the Biblical trouncing.

"What could she tell them? What does she know of anything leading to the murder? We might as well face her fancies, as well as her facts," I argued gently.

"She knows that she could prove. She could distort a number of things, harmless enough in themselves. She could give things a foul twist. Sneed thought no one was good enough to marry Miranda. All part of this exaggerated fixation of hers. She used to toss sly remarks to the effect that a man wouldn't be right for Miranda, but he'd make a nice hobby for me. She suspected them all of conniving with me, Jock Pendleton, Robert Brooks, Don Monaco. They were all my young me to her. She thought I was jealous of Miranda's beauty."

I uncorked the tall wine bottle, handing Fay a slim glass of topaz bubbles. "An old woman's cacklings can't hurt you with the police, Fay. It isn't like you to let her get you down. These vague ramblings of her—"

"The point is, they're not so vague. She's sure that Karl Karlson met Miranda on the pier just before she was killed."

"And did he meet her? In God's name, why would Miranda have a rendezvous with Karlson?"

"It wasn't a rendezvous. He told me about it, himself. Miranda and I saw Karl at Saratoga.

MAESTRO FRANK GAGEN discusses with attentive PATRICIA MACINNIS the return of NOILLY PRAT, the Martini drinker's favorite Vermouth, to the liquor stock of The London Chop House.

We were happy that he was out of prison. "H. was feeling gay. Gambling rather foolishly. On the last day he lost all his winnings on one game. I didn't know he lost. Neither did Miranda. If I knew, I'd have slaked him. Instead, he went on to New York alone. He'd picked up an autographed menu of Jock Pendleton's. Karl forged that check at The 33 Club. He said he was ashamed to ask me for money to cover the check. He knew I idealized him."

"Gawd, Fay, you couldn't idealize that criminal—"

"But I do. Any criminal is just an unlucky opportunist. You know that, Larry. That forgery that sent him to Sing Sing five years ago. He did that for me. I was working in his Beacon Street book shop then. Karl was happy in that dusty old hole in Boston. Books weren't a business to him. They were a passion. I kept urging him to raise money and open a modern shop. Do a volume business. Organize his vast ability."

She sighed ruefully. "Well, he raised the money for a new shop, all right. He did it by the naive method of getting it from a New York bank under the name of John Keats. That bank teller would have honored Shakespeare's check."

"Karl never told the police what he did with that money. He'd given it to me. He told me that the bank would prosecute him, anyway, so I might as well use the money. They did, of course. In six months, I invested John Keats' capital in my bookshop here at Grosse Pointe. No one has ever investigated my investment."

"I married Marcus Ames. Not the least worthy of my motives in that marriage was to lay my hands on enough money to get Karl a pardon and release from Sing Sing. It's a costly and lengthy proceeding. Even with Consolidated Motors' counsel handling the case, it took until this summer to get it. Marcus died. He never knew about Karl Karlson."

"A weird wooing, Fay," I commented.

"One which the French call white, Larry. Karlson is just a visionary. He's out of line with the credo of capitalism. A poet, not a proletarian. Money means nothing to him. You can see why he didn't want to tell me about forging Pendleton's check, just after I'd effected his release from Sing Sing. He phoned here at the house Saturday night after we'd gone to the club. He told Sneed that if she heard from Miranda

Rabaut Supports Emergency Fund

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A powerful Democrat majority in the House, riding rough shod over Republican opposition, recently gave the President a $5,000,000 "blank check" with which he could finance projects not authorized by Congress.

The President's special fund was granted originally during the war emergency. Republicans, however, pointed out that the "Director of the Budget did not offer any justifiable reason for continuing this emergency fund" in peace time and could not foresee any project which would require its expenditure.

Michigan Democrats voting against the economy measure which would have returned this item of government spending to control of the peoples' representatives in Congress included Representatives Frank Hook, Twelfth District; George O'Brien, Thirteenth District; and Louis Rabaut, Fourteenth District. Representative John Lesinski, Sixteenth District, did not vote.

One Republican said: "One of the most fundamental mistakes the Congress of the United States ever made was the surrender in recent years of control over the purse strings of the Nation to the executive branch of the Government." The President's emergency fund, he continued, "has been used for purposes for which it should not have been used."

A MATTER OF TASTE

S. Quentin Quail, an eccentric old guy, Had weird tastes for an epicure's tongue; Particular? Why, he would tell you how high And how long a smoked ham should be bung.

Headwaiters paled when he entered a room, Nearest exits the bus boys would take; The place would be plunged into stygian gloom Like a bird house that harbors a snake.

A la carte menus? A mere waste of time. "I want something that's different!" he'd roar, And being served something delicious—sublime, He would throw the whole meal on the floor.

Waldorf's own Oscar—the chef from the Ritz Dished their best, but gave up in despair. "Oysters in August, indeed!" they said, "it's— Well, beginning to get in our hair."

But one of them whispered in Quentin's ear And he rose and immediately packed; "To Detroit I'm going," he said, "though I fear That this rumor can hardly be fact."

He soon wrote to say "... here the food is OK And the quality here never varies: A mecca for gourmets, some come all the way From the mountains, the valleys and prairies."

WHY ELECTRIC RANGES ARE BETTER

One of the glittering dreams of many a homemaker has been possession of that long-promised, spick-and-span, bright and shining all-electric kitchen.

Soon now you can buy that dream.

It may seem that the vision became a reality overnight, but it didn't happen that way. For at least a quarter of a century The Detroit Edison Company has been working at the job of making the dream come true.

The foundation unit of your modern kitchen is, as always, the stove. Some of the outstanding advantages of electric cooking were well known even 45 years ago, but the electric ranges of that time left much to be desired. They were slow to heat, and they cost too much.

It was in 1920 that Detroit Edison decided to do something about the situation. Analysis and experiment proved to the company's engineers that major improvements were possible. At that point came the inevitable conclusion that the only way to prove to the industry and the housewife that better and lower-cost ranges could be made was to MAKE them.

The Detroit Edison Company abandoned precedent, and through an affiliate company began manufacturing electric ranges. They were not too good, but they were BETTER, and the cost was down. You, the cookers of meals for millions, told us what was wrong with them. We asked for trouble and we got it. You, the customers of Detroit Edison, who bought, used and criticized those ranges played a major part in transforming a vision into accomplished fact.

Alert manufacturers in the electric industry were quick to cooperate and follow through in the Detroit Edison experiment. We were glad to let them carry the ball. That gave Detroit Edison its opportunity to get out of the manufacturing field and back to its real business of selling electricity.

One of the results of this venture in improving the electric range is that people will avail themselves of more Edison service. The Detroit Edison Company is happy that, through your confidence and cooperation, it has been able to help create for you this contribution to modern living—the electric kitchen, superlatively clean, safe, efficient and economical.

Two All-Border City League Teams Picked by Runnells

Pointe Places Two on Cage Aggregation

Wuerker and McPhail Win Berths in Eyes of News Sports Writer

By FRED RUNNELLS
Several years ago it was the customary practice for the Border City League to choose all-league teams in all sports. For some unknown reason this practice was abolished. Your writer believes the picking of an all-league team increases interest, spirit and attendance in all athletic contests and spurs the contestants to give that little extra something which makes an athlete a standout among his competitors. This also gives the spectators a better contest to enjoy.

By reviving the Border City all-league teams the News hopes to form the nucleus of a committee made up of the sports editors of the newspapers in

TED MAUPIN Monroe DICK WUERKER Grosse Pointe DON MCPHAIL Grosse Pointe CARL LANCI Fordson NORMAN ZAUCHIN Royal Oak

Wyandotte, Royal Oak, Monroe, Dearborn and Grosse Pointe which will pick the all-league teams in all sports in the future. Picking a team by one individual has its drawbacks because some persons may disagree with the choices. Therefore a committee should be formed so all nominations may be fairly judged.

Being the first to pick an all-league team your writer knows he is in for rebuffs from all sides but some one has to get the ball rolling and I seem to be elected. My choices were not made by sticking a pin into the score books and saying this is it, but rather, after careful study of season's performances by actually seeing all teams play twice. So here goes and I hope the majority of the people will be satisfied.

TED MAUPIN, captain of the Monroe quintet, was one of his team's most consistent point getters and a swell boy to have around when the going got tough in the closing minutes of a hard fought game. Also kept his team on an even keel and made them play together as a team.

DICK WUERKER, a second year veteran of the Grosse Pointe Blue Devils, was the most aggressive player in the league and led the Blue Devils in scoring with his remarkable one-handed hook shot which caused many a headache to the opposition.

NORMAN ZAUCHIN was the star of the Royal Oak squad throughout the past season mainly because of his versatile shot-making from all angles on the court. Zauchin has an uncanny eye for hitting the hoop with shots that look impossible when the ball leaves his hands. One of the tallest players in the league, he was particularly helpful to his team around the backboards in controlling the rebounds.

DON MCPHAIL, playing his last complete season with Grosse Pointe, was the mainstay of the Blue Devils' defense and repeatedly broke up opponents' scoring opportunities. Could always be counted on for his share of the baskets which saw him battling for high point honors in every game.

CARL LANCI, of Fordson High, was mainly responsible for his team's success in capturing the Border City League basketball championship this year. Always a scoring threat and a dandy team player both on offense and defense.

Pointe, Monroe Dominate All-League Swimming Team

Selections Made by Fred Runnells of News Staff after Seeing All Performers in Action

By FRED RUNNELLS
The 1945-46 all-league swimming team was picked under the same formula as the all-league basketball team with your writer seeing most of the boys in action in league meets. The Monroe and Grosse Pointe swimming teams far outclassed the other schools in the league in all events and therefore dominate the team. The all-league team is as follows:

- 40 yard Free Style—CLARENCE "BUSTER" PINKSTON, of Grosse Pointe, undefeated in this event.
- 100 yard Breast Stroke—HARRY McBEE, of Monroe, was in a class by himself and possessed a marvelous sprint on the last lap of this event.
- 200 yard Free Style—WILLIAM KILDOW, of Grosse Pointe, defeated once in two years of competition but revenged his only defeat by a wide margin.
- 100 yard Back Stroke—WILLIAM NEWCOMER, of Monroe, one of the mainstays of the Border City Champions. Could always be depended on for important points in all meets.
- 100 yard Free Style—DAN LaFERTE, last year's veteran on Grosse Pointe's squad, was defeated in first race of the season but won all remaining races and was picked for the weekly Prep Hall of Fame in the Detroit Times. Swam his event in near record time in each meet.
- 120 Individual Medley Relay—CLARENCE "BUSTER" PINKSTON, of Grosse Pointe, undefeated in this event and always won by a good margin.
- Diving—DONALD DUNCAN, of Grosse Pointe, defeated every diver in the league. Lost only twice during the season, those defeats coming at the end of the schedule.
- 180 Medley Relay Team—Monroe team composed of WILLIAM NEWCOMER, ARTHUR WURZEL and HARRY McBEE, had everything a coach could dream of in a high school relay team.
- 180 yard Free Style Relay Team—GROSSE POINTE, composed of CLARENCE PINKSTON, MARTY BEER, DAVID KAISER and DAN LaFERTE, broke three pool records the first three times they swam together. Won the State High school AAU relay championship and were undefeated in league competition.

LAFF-A-DAY

"I don't believe I like the kitchen on that side. Let's see how it looks over here!"

Any eligible veteran may now receive one year of education or training, plus additional education (up to a maximum of four years), equal to the number of months of active service. He need not have been under age 25 when he entered service, nor need he show that his education was interrupted by war service.

Courses of education or training of the short intensive type are no longer limited to a cost of $500 for an ordinary school year. Under the new plan, a maximum of $500 for tuition and materials may also be applied to a course of shorter duration than the normal school year. The additional cost may be prorated against the period of eligibility to which the veteran is entitled at the rate of $500 per school year.

Monthly subsistence allowances are increased from $50 to $65 for veterans without dependents and from $75 to $90 for veterans with dependents.

The bill also provides for correspondence courses, but the veteran is not entitled to subsistence allowance while studying such courses. One-fourth of the elapsed time used in pursuing a correspondence course is charged against the veteran's period of eligibility. Total amount payable for correspondence courses for any veteran is limited to $500.

Facts for the Veteran
By Theodore Hoffman
Director of Red Cross Home Service

(American Red Cross News Service)
Howard N., 35, had a wife, three children, and his mother and father dependent upon him for support. After serving in the armed forces six months, he was accidentally killed by a careening truck which sideswiped the column in which he was marching. At the time of death he carried $10,000 government insurance.

There are a number of benefits available to the wife, children, and parents of Howard. While these do not compensate for the loss of life, the government has made provision for benefits to the dependents of men who died in service.

Pvt. N's government insurance was paid for by deduction from his pay. If his wife were beneficiary, she would receive between $40 and $42 per month for the rest of her life. She is entitled to a death pension as long as she remains unmarried. The pension amounts, in this case, to $81 a month. A "death gratuity" equal to six months' base pay is paid by the service department. It amounts to about $300 for a private. The accrued pay, unpaid at death, will be paid to the wife upon filing proper application.

Upon official notification of death in service, each service department automatically forwards to the next of kin all necessary forms for the application for benefits. If the completed forms are not received in a reasonable length of time, the claimants must correspond with the proper agency to obtain them.

The American Red Cross is prepared to help those who have difficulty with these forms. Through its field directors in the Veterans Administration offices, its many trained volunteer workers, and its representatives in governmental and service department office its access to military and Veterans Administration records, the Red Cross chapter can obtain and expedite action on the claims.

Red Cross at John R. and Elizabeth is prepared to give

THIS WEEK IN SPORTS

By FRED RUNNELLS

Thursday, March 28
DETROIT RED WINGS were eliminated from the Stanley Cup semi-finals by the Boston Bruins, 4-3, in the first overtime period of the fifth game of the series, when Don Gallinger made a rink length rush to score Boston's series winning goal at 10 minutes and 53 seconds of the overtime play. . . . PORTLAND BEARS, managed by Marv Owen, ex-Tiger infielder, were picked by the United Press to repeat as Pacific Coast League baseball champions as the season got under way today.

Friday, March 29
TONY JANIRO pounded out an eight round decision over Willie Watkins, of Detroit, in their 10-round bout at the Olympia. . . . ROCKY GRAZIANO, slugging middleweight from New York's East Side, scored a technical knockout over World Welterweight Champion Marty Servo at 1:52 of the second round in their non-title scrap before a sellout crowd of 19,088 at Madison Square Garden. . . . OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY paced the National Collegiate Athletic Association swimming meet, held at New Haven, Conn., by scoring first in the one-meter diving and the 300-yard relay—and seconds in the 50-yard free style and low diving for 33 points. Michigan was second with 18 points while Navy trailed with 14 points.

Saturday, March 30
PETE FOX, former colorist

Tiger outfielder and of late with the Boston Red Sox, was given his outright release by Boston. . . . MAX BENTLEY, Chicago Blackhawk forward who led the National Hockey League in scoring, was presented the coveted Hart trophy, emblematic of his choice as the circuit's most valuable player. . . . MRS. ELIZABETH GRAHAM, of the Maine Chance Farm, has nominated six horses for the 72nd running of the Kentucky Derby. All six nominations have been established among the early favorites in this year's Run for the Roses and the $100,000 added money.

Sunday, March 31

OHIO STATE annexed its second successive National Collegiate Athletic Association swimming championship with six titles in the 11th event program for a total of 61 points. U. of Michigan finished second for the fifth consecutive time, 24 points behind the Buckeyes. Michigan State finished third with 16 points, Williams and Navy tied for fourth place. . . . DETROIT TIGERS pounded out a 17-hit barrage over the Boston Braves for a 15 to 5 victory as a parting gesture to their Lakeland fans. The team will start its homeward trek Monday playing exhibition games along the way. . . . BOBBY RIGGS defeated Don Budge in Philadelphia, for the 12th time in 13 meetings in their cross country tour.

MONDAY, APRIL 1—LOUISIANA publicity ballyhoo got off to a flying start today when Uncle Mike Jacobs announced the prices for the return match between heavyweight champion Joe Louis and challenger Billy Conn at the Yankee Stadium June 19. Ring side seats will go on the block at $100 a pasteboard with a scale of $50, $30, $20 and $10 for less choice seats. . . . U. of M. opened spring football training with a record turnout of 126 hopeful athletes requesting uniforms. Wally Weber, freshman football coach at the university before those teams were abolished during the war, has returned to coach the ends and backs.

TUESDAY, APRIL 2—MICK-KEY OWENS, a catcher on the Brooklyn Dodgers team before the war, recently received his discharge from the navy. Owens' first business deal as a civilian was to sign a five year contract with a $12,500 bonus clause with the new Mexican baseball league. JORGE PASQUEL, president of the Mexican Baseball League, announced he had just about completed his raids on the American baseball teams for this year, but said he still had one more bombshell to bring into the fold before concluding his business.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 3—PRINCE, REGENT, 3 to 1 favorite, is being guarded daily by seven policemen before he goes to the post in the Grand National at Liverpool, England, Friday. . . . T. D. BULL'S Likeasnot, 3-4 favorite, won the $2,500 Ragmunde Purse at Tropical Park yesterday. . . . JIMMY CARROLL, St. Louis betting commissioner, says more money has been bet with him on baseball than on the winter book for the Kentucky Derby. SWEDEN'S Olympic Committee has set aside $87,000 to support the country's participation in the 1948 Olympic games.

NIPPED FINGER

William Mason, of Belanger road, was bitten on the right index finger on March 30 by a dog owned by William Harts of Deming lane.

Compensation Questionnaire

1. Q: What is unemployment compensation?

A: It is insurance to pay benefits to workers during periods between jobs and during lay-offs. It is intended to provide something for them to live on while they are without work through no fault of their own. Unemployment compensation is NOT charity; it comes to eligible workers as their right.

2. Q: How are the funds for unemployment compensation raised?

A: Employers pay a percentage of their payrolls into a State fund, and benefits are paid to eligible workers from that fund. Employees pay nothing toward unemployment compensation.

Dance Masters Hold State Meeting at Pointe School

The Spring Normal School of the Dance Masters of Michigan was held on March 31, at the Elaine Arndt School of Dance on Alter road. As was expected, this was the largest convention since the war. On the faculty will be:

Berenice Holmes from Chicago, for ballet; Marjorie Duckett from Memphis, Tenn., for tap, and LeRoy Thayer, secretary of the National Association of Dance Masters of America, came from Washington, D. C., to teach ballroom dancing. Franklin Oakley, president of the Dance Masters of America, is also from New York City for the event.
