SMALL FOOD STORE proprietors' handling meats have been served with notice by the Teamsters Union (AFL) to join their union or be forced out of business. Store proprietors charge "labor racketeering" and "strong arm" policies. Bert Brennan, president of Local 337 Teamsters Union, frankly says the drive was aimed to force packing houses to resume war curtailed meat deliveries, thus providing more work for drivers. The Union plan is to make the merchants associate members of the union, operating under $5.00 union "permits."

OUR STATE DEPARTMENT announces credits of $90,000,000 for Poland have been arranged on conditions that Poland pledges to hold free and unfettered elections in accordance with the Yalta agreement. Of the amount, $40,000,000 has been arranged through the Export-Import Bank for the purchase of locomotives and coal cars in the United States and $50,000,000 is earmarked for the purchase of American surplus property abroad which could be used for reconstruction.

PRICE OF CIGARETTES raised by OPA. One cent rise on every two packages. Price not to be raised on single package. Tax applies on all brands.

STRIKE SPECTRE still hangs over Chrysler. Executive Board of UAW threatens to call a strike to protect the jobs of 15,000 Chrysler employees. Joseph Rubin, assistant director of the UAW (CIO) Chrysler department, says Chrysler has threatened to discharge men who have reached the age of 65 in the clerical, plant protection and engineering departments. This has been no discussion regarding job protection for men under 60.

AN INJUNCTION SUIT will be filed today in Detroit Federal Court to halt the further sale of surplus war materials by the War Assets Administration until the "ill and monopolistic practices" are stopped. Suit to be filed by the Armvets (American Veterans of World War II).

JAN CHRISTIAN SMUTS, Field Marshal of the Empire and Prime Minister of South Africa, sounds a cheerful note on World peace during these jittery days. The Nestor of the British Commonwealth of Nations says "there will be no more wars" and that future relations between Russia, England and the United States "will be good." Says current disputes between the three great powers are only a matter of quarrels "within a family."

THE LOBAID JURY brings in a verdict of guilty after only 12 minutes deliberation. He is found guilty on two counts, rape and attempted murder. He may be sentenced for life on either, or both counts.

ONE OF THE WORST RAIL DISASTERS in recent railroad history occurred early yesterday afternoon on a block from the Nashville, Ill., railroad station, when the Burlington Road's Exposition Flyer, going more than sixty miles per hour, traveling west from Chicago, crashed into the road's Advance Flyer, reported to have been stopped by a hot box. Morning papers stated at least 40 were killed, possibly 50, and 125 injured. Accident caused by human failure; either the stopped train failed to put out signals, or the engineer of the oncoming train failed to see warnings.

THE ROW BETWEEN REUTHER AND THOMAS in the organization of the new administration of UAW, seems to have resolved itself into a squabble for patronage in which Thomas appears to have gotten the best of it.

THE BIG FOUR FOREIGN MINISTERS' CONFERENCE in Paris seems to have opened to a harmonious start. Russia concedes United States and France's

Wake Up Pointer; Planting Time's Here!

WHILE EXPERTS ESTIMATE that millions will starve to death all over the world this year, and state that Victory Gardens are more necessary than ever, the number of community gardens in the Pointe has been greatly reduced. Food is more vital than ever and every foot of land that can be cultivated should be planted.

Pointes Spending Huge Sum Annually to Handle Problem of Garbage, Rubbish Disposal

Jointly Owned and Operated Incineration Plant Appears Likely Means of Saving for Taxpayers

The strike among the garbage and rubbish collection crews in the Farms has brought the attention of the taxpayers throughout the Pointes to the high charges they are meeting for this service. This high cost is chiefly due to the extremely long hauls that have to be made in disposal of the waste.

An examination made into this matter by the NEWS in recent days develops figures which should be of interest.

In the case of the Park, the largest and wealthiest of the five municipalities, the cost for garbage collection and disposal last year was $16,500. It had to be hauled a round trip of 28 miles. Rubbish disposal cost $30,000. It was hauled a round trip of 76 miles. Total cost $46,500.

Everitt B. Lane, the Village Manager in the Park, has urged for the past three years that some more sanitary and economical method be provided. He has blue prints for an incinerator for both garbage and rubbish with a capacity of 5-7 tons per hour, which he says would care for the waste materials of a population of 45,000, or more than the total population of the entire Pointe. The chief barrier he has encountered against the adoption of such a plan has been the inability of the five communities to get together and seriously consider this problem of common interest. The Park's population estimated now at 14,500.

In the Farms, the village, with an estimated population of 8,500, spent last year $19,500 for garbage disposal and $35,576.17 for rubbish. The round trip hauls for the garbage was 32 miles and for rubbish 28 miles.

The Woods seems to be getting out of the problem about as favorably as any of the communities. It has a contract with one party who collects both the garbage and rubbish for $15,000 a year. The garbage is collected twice a week and the rubbish twice a month. In this case the distance of haul is immaterial to the Village as that is the collector's problem. The collector however has a round trip haul for the garbage of about 30 miles and for the rubbish of 42 miles. The Woods population is estimated now at 6,500 to 7,000.

The Shores Village, gets away with the disposal of both for $6,000 a year. It has an arrangement whereby this waste is burned up for them by the Detroit crematorium. The population of the Shores however, is only about 900.

The City has longest hauls of any of the Pointe municipalities. It is compelled to make a round trip haul of 96 miles for its garbage and 28 miles for its rubbish.

Wave of Crime Nearing Pointe

Chief Louwers of the Park calls attention to the unusual number of burglaries that are occurring in the Detroit Fifth Precinct, which adjoins the Park immediately to the west. He says the Park residents are apt to come in for some of the overflow from this neighborhood and suggests that the home residents be especially on the alert at this time and report at once to the police any suspicious looking persons or incidents about their neighborhood.

Damsels in Distress Scared When Gallahads Gallop Up

City Patrolmen Flannagan and Johnston while cruising in their car about 11 o'clock on April 25, encountered two young maidens who had just had a minor accident with their car on Lakeland just north of Charlevoix. The Gallahads in blue pulled up to lend a chivalrous hand. The young ladies seemed greatly perturbed at the unexpected appearance of the officers. Their manner was far different from that of the usual young women in distress when the friendly police-

Pointer Cited For Helping Make A Bomb

Arthur Trombly Receives Legion of Merit Award For Services

The story of the part a Pointer played in the production of atomic bombs is revealed in the award of the Legion of Merit by the President to Arthur J. Trombly, Jr., whose parents live at 1139 Wayburn, Grosse Pointe Park. Trombly attended St. Ambrose School and is a graduate of the Engineering School of the University of Detroit. He took his degree in chemistry.

The citation accompanying the award says:

"For performing exceptionally meritorious services from April to August 1945 as a production specialist on the Atomic Bomb Project. On his own initiative and in addition to his assigned duties, he invented a process for the production of a new type material that can greatly reduce manufacturing time and cost."

Three Cars Hit By Wild Fourth

Ray C. Taft of 4390 Chatsworth, Detroit, was driving a Nash car east on Charlevoix at Lakepoint at 6 o'clock Monday night when he struck a parked Pontiac, empty, owned by Alphonse De Beas of 1238 Wayburn.

The flying Nash then turned left into Lakepoint where it struck a parked Chevrolet, also empty, in front of 1408 Lakepoint, owned by Fred C. LaRocque of 13115 E. Jefferson. The Nash then struck a Plymouth, also parked and empty, owned by Paul Van de Ginste. In fact, there were few cars that Mr. Taft missed along his crash route.

His route was strewn with scraped car bodies and crumpled fenders, but personal injuries were nil. The contacted cars were fortunately empty.

He got a ticket for reckless driving.

POWER MODEL EXHIBIT The Fourth Annual International Power Model Exhibit showing half a million dollars' worth of model boats, planes and racing cars will be held from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, May 4 and 5, at the Sylvia Allen Crafts Center, 9900 E. Jefferson avenue in Waterworks Park. The exhibit is sponsored by the Department of Parks & Recreation.

Pointe Urged To Plant Own Garden Plots

Desperate Food Situations Calls for Greater Activity Than During War

The desperate world wide food situation has called for a victory garden movement as strong or stronger this year than at any time since the war in Europe started.

This situation is well appreciated here in Grosse Pointe. The accumulating appalling stories of the food situation in Europe and China awakened the local Garden Council to the need of continuing the fine work it carried on during the actual war years.

In the early informal discussion among the Garden Council members during the winter the thought at first prevailed that this year there might be a let down in the strenuous garden work this summer. This idea was quickly altered however on the news stories of the world food shortage and when the government began to urge garden work more strongly than ever, preparations were put under way to carry on in the usual wartime manner.

Vincent De Petris, who has been head of the Garden Council here during the whole war period, says every effort will be made again this year to get the most possible out of the garden plots.

The women and children of Europe are going to be the worst sufferers, he said. They are going to need tomatoes, with their rich vitamin contents, and other foods and juices that will help restore their strength.

The present local aspects of the garden plot situation are: the Haurout plot in the Park will be in full use. The Park will probably have about the same area under garden cultivation as formerly. The Beaupre plot in the Farms will be in use but other plots previously cultivated have been reduced by building operations either already in progress or to be undertaken during the building season. These two large plots have already been largely applied for. The Bon Secours plot on Manumee was available and the plot at Three Mile and Essex will be available if sufficient applications are registered to use it.

The whole question of gardens is going to be as much a matter of the will of the people as of available land. The method of acquiring a plot and its use and preparation will be as formerly. The Council urges the people to grow such vegetables as carry a high food value as well as lend themselves to preservation for later use.

This means, of course, lots of potatoes and tomatoes, but all sorts of tubers are of special value in contributing to the long ranged food pool.

The more we produce at home the more will there be left to feed the starving abroad.

Mr. De Petris says the prospect for a big harvest of both vegetables and grains is excellent. Frosts are reported to have killed as high as 25 per cent of the fruit crop in upper Michigan.

The unusually dry spring helped early plowing and planting. If the dryness continued it might be tragic in its effects, but the law of averages indicates there will be plenty of moisture in May and June, when it will be most needed, and the moisture put into the ground then will carry over to prolong the growing season in mid and late summer.

Dirtiest Trick Played on Driver

One of the lowest of low-down tricks that can be played on an auto driver is to put sugar in his gas tank. This was the outrage of which Harry Fruehauf of 728 Lakepoint complained to the police Sunday night. A guest at his home had left his car parked in front of the house and when he tried to start it a few hours later ran into inexplicable difficulties. Closer examination disclosed the telltale crystals around the gas filling vent.

Board of Education Petitions CPA for Building Authority

Permit Asked to Proceed with Construction Plans on Vernier-Mack Unit and Vernier School Addition

The Grosse Pointe Board of Education has entered formal applications to the Civilian Production Administration for authority to construct two school buildings in compliance with Veterans' Housing Program, Order Number 1. The two structures for which application for authority have been made are: (1) an 18-room section or wing of the proposed new building to be erected on Vernier and Mack for elementary and junior high school pupils; (2) a Quonset Hut temporary addition of four classrooms at the Vernier elementary school on Vernier road.

Approval of these applications are necessary under the present building restrictions before bids can be secured or contracts issued for construction. It is the hope of the Board of Education that this very essential construction can get under way in the near future. Architectural plans and specifications have been completed by Giffels & Vallet, Inc. for the elementary-junior high school building at Vernier and Mack. Plans and specifications for the Quonset Hut addition at the Vernier school are being completed by Derrick and Camber.

In submitting the applications, the following arguments for justifying this construction were made by the Board of Education:

I. There are two school buildings in the Grosse Pointe Woods-Shores-Gratiot area of our school district built to house a recommended capacity of 450 students.

II. These buildings were housing that number in 1939, and at the present date there are 1018 pupils enrolled in the two schools, or a surplus of 568 over the recommended capacity.

III. The overflow has been provided for since 1940 by the following adaptations:

1. Converting Mason school library into two classrooms.
2. Making classrooms out of activity rooms in Mason.
3. Converting locker rooms into classrooms in Mason.
4. Building a 12-room addition in 1941 at Mason.
5. Providing three teachers in two kindergarten rooms for taking care of over-sized enrollments at Mason.
6. Cutting out 5th and 6th grades and reducing school to a 4-grades school at Mason, and to a 5-grades school at Vernier, in spite of the fact that our elementary school program is planned on the basis of 6 grades to a unit. These reductions have been effected by transportation program.

Pointer Fails To Enjoy Trip

John M. Ready, of 820 Rivard, phoned to the police last Thursday that a man was pulling up stakes he had driven into his lawn as a temporary barrier against persons walking over his newly planted grass seed.

The police brought in a party giving the name of Walter Colburn, of 761 Fisher, who had conceived a mighty antipathy against these particular stakes. He said he stumbled over one of them and "it has made me so mad that I started to pull all of them up."

The police had some doubt about Mr. Colburn's momentary mental accountability but none whatever about the efficiency of his self-appointed stake pulling job.

They suggested that he try his strength on some of the stumps that abound in Michigan and sent him on his way with an appropriate warning.

Ring Tosser Has Harrowing Experience in Garbage Pit

The harrowing experience of one Farms resident who paid a visit to the temporary garbage dump on Chalfonte during the strike, filtered into the NEWS office last week.

The way we heard it, said resident was all set to leave for his office, all dressed up in a brand new suit, (believe it or not) when his wife asked him to dump a box of garbage on the way. He wasn't too enthusiastic, as he also has a brand new car which he wasn't particularly anxious to

Driver Pays $45 for 80

Sanctity of Days Fails to Impress Judge Belanger in Traffic Court

Judge C. Joseph Belanger, presiding in Woods traffic court last Tuesday night, ran across one of the speediest traffic offenders that has faced him in many a day.

Hans Herrick Lovisa, aged 32, residing at 14018 Edmore, Detroit, was up on a charge of driving 80 miles an hour on Eight Mile on April 19.

Asked by the Judge why he drove at such an outrageous speed Lovisa said, "Well, you see Judge it was Good Friday and I was hurrying to get home."

The Judge decided that neither the sanctity of the day nor the urgency of the errand warranted the burst of speed and fined him $45 plus costs. His license was also revoked for three months.

Other cases disposed of were: Peter Rinaldi, of 11110 Wayburn for failing to stop at a stop sign, on April 11 was fined $15.

John Lee, of 139 Ridge road, G. P. Farms, for failure to have car under control resulting in an accident, paid $35 and $5 costs.

Andrew L. Belcours, of 9770 Caley, Detroit for speeding 55 m.p.h. on Mack avenue on April 22 was fined $15 plus $5 costs. Robert L. Williams of 22707 Nine Mile, who was charged with colliding with a car driven by Philip Gusmano of 2016 Van Antwerp, was dismissed. On examination it was found that Gusmano, a minor, had cut across his line of travel on Anita and the accident was unavoidable. Young Gusmano's ticket was turned over to the juvenile court.

Car Borrowed For Joy Ride

Edwin A. Schaub, of 1427 Nottingham, reported to the Park police early Saturday morning that he had left his car, a brand new 1946 Mercury, parked on Nottingham north of Jefferson the night before. When he went to get it he found the spotlight missing and the cushions and trim all smeared with some sticky substance. He guessed it to be half-dried coca-cola.

The mysterious part of the whole incident was that when he left his car he carefully locked it. When he came back it was still locked but there was indubitable evidence of someone having been in it. He believes the car was picked out by parties for a joy ride, prudently equipped with a master key.

At the dump he gingerly lifted out the box. As he deftly tossed out dump-wards he realized with dismay that in the process he had lost a ring off his finger. . . . a very special ring given him by his wife. He was sure he saw it plopped into the dump and knew just where he could pick it up.

Down the steep side of the dump he scrambled and as he stepped out he discovered that he was talking into it. At the dump he gingerly lifted out the box. As he deftly tossed out dump-wards he realized with dismay that in the process he had lost a ring off his finger. . . . a very special ring given him by his wife. He was sure he saw it plopped into the dump and knew just where he could pick it up.

Employees Ask Reopening of Wage Study

300 Hungry Pigs Fed Again As Regular Collections Are Put in Effect

Employees of the Grosse Pointe Farms public works and pier departments who struck on April 8 and were subsequently discharged by the village officials, went back to work Monday morning. Regular schedules are being maintained and it is expected that all back work will be caught up by the weekend.

The discharged employees sent word to village authorities on Thursday that they would like to present a proposition. Permission was granted and a meeting was arranged for Thursday night.

The employees stated they would go back to work on the new pay basis approved by the trustees, provided a new wage committee was appointed to study the situation, with a representative of the employees to be included on the committee. The trustees agreed to this.

A committee has been appointed, which has not yet met. Richard Maxon and William F. Connolly, trustees who were on the former committee, were re-appointed, as well as Wallace Jensen of Hillcrest road, a resident. One more resident, G. B. Duffield of Meriwether road, has been added to the committee, with Ed Goosen of the pier department as the representative of the employees.

hungry on the farm where the village garbage is dumped, are well fed again. The pit which was dug on the village property off Chalfonte, is helping the men catch up on the back work. Rubbish which was formerly hauled a long distance is now being dumped in the pit to fill it up and save time.

The issue of pay for the time the employees were on strike and out of the employ of the village, has not been raised, it was reported.

Favor Library As Memorial

Pointe Branch of University Women Go on Record With Resolution

At recent meeting of the executive board, the Grosse Pointe Branch of the American Association of University Women went on record as favoring the building of a library as the proposed memorial for service men of World War II.

This group emphasizes that there is a real need in this community for a library and small auditorium centrally located and accessible to all Grosse Pointe communities. It also states that this type of memorial would be easiest of all the proposals to maintain because it would be a tax supported agency.

The resolution adopted at the meeting is as follows:—

Whereas, World War II was fought for the principles of democracy, and

Whereas, our struggle must continue in some form until democracy is established throughout the world; and

Whereas the Public Library is the only medium through which free access to ideas may be obtained by all;

Be It Resolved that the American Association of University Women of Grosse Pointe go on record as favoring a central public library building as a suitable memorial for the members of the armed forces in the Grosse Pointe communities who lost their lives, and to those who served in defending these principles of democracy.

Letters have been pouring in during the last month or six weeks from servicemen stationed all over the world, favoring the erection of a field house or gymnasium as a permanent memorial. This is the first organized appeal for a library since it was revealed that the majority of the members of the Permanent War Memorial Study Group favored the library idea.

Infra Electric heater

An Ideal Portable Heater for Bedroom, Bath or Game Room

- The Infraelectric Heater operates electrically on a principal different from that of the usual type of electric or gas heater. Where conventional heaters first warm the air in the room to bring it to a comfortable temperature, the Infraelectric Heater warms objects in the room—it dispenses heat through glass plates by means of invisible rays.
- This type of heat is the most penetrating heat known—so penetrating that it is not deflected by air currents or drafts.
- This is one of the most versatile heaters made—it can be connected to either AC or DC current of any home or commercial voltage and to any circuit having fuses of 15 or more amperes.
- This heater operates without flame, glow, fumes or smoke—there is no visible indication that the heater is in operation.
- The heater is designed (in the portable models) to be easily carried from room to room—it can be picked up by the handle at full heat.
- It is virtually indestructible. The glass, even if hit by metal objects, will not break. The heater can be dropped or turned over without damage. Cold water splashed on the glass will not crack it or hamper the heater's efficiency.

Private Citizen Vents Wrath At Surplus Property Sales

Hullabaloo Raised Over War Assets Administration Has Repercussions in Pointe Offices

The hullabaloo that has been raised against the War Assets Administration has washed up on the local shores.

The other day a NEWS reporter happened into the office of a citizen who had been trying to buy a government used truck. He was busy examining a bale of pamphlets and price lists of trucks and such that the government purportedly had to sell.

"The H— of it is," he said,

"that after you have picked out the truck you want, there is no certainly you will get it after you have sent in your application. A short time ago I picked out one and they told me to be ready to come down and pick it up when they sent me word

When the notice arrived I went down and they were awfully sorry but the truck had been sold. So there you are and what is the ordinary citizen to do?"

From there on, he launched into the recital of innumerable instances, some personally known to him and others only reports of WAA shortcomings.

"One great fault with the whole procedure of WAA is that they insist on selling in such large quantities in single sales as to practically put thousands of articles out of the reach of the average buyer.

"The other day I wanted to buy a dozen rain coats but to get them I would have had to buy enough to equip a regiment of workers on a hydro-electric development.

"Those fellows are more concerned in taking care of the interests of certain dealers than they are serving the plain citizens, and all this mountain of materials that the Government accumulated in keeping 13,000,000 men in service, is a million miles away from us plain fellows.

"There is scarcely an item worn or used by men of which there is not an ample supply available in Government warehouses. When the plain citizen gets them, if ever, he will pay through the nose and the harpies between will reap the profits."

This same citizen said he was talking with a party recently who is in the know on the Government's disposition of its surplus war accumulated supplies, and this party told him the people of this country would still be buying articles made for the government 15 years hence, and paying the highest price for them the tariff would bear.

"There's a fine lot of piracy going on in this whole field" and the Government is either the willful or unwitting partner in the deal," he concluded.

Parked Car Suffers At Hands of Thief

George Suros of 927 Beaconsfield went into the Park Police station at 2:45 a. m. Thursday and reported that he had had his car parked in the rear of 15012 Jefferson between 9:30 o'clock of that night and 2:30 in the morning.

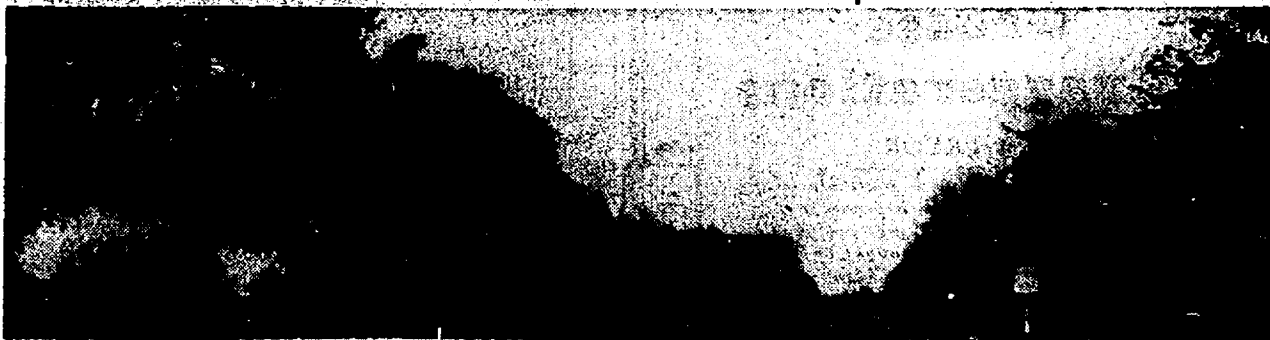

When he went to drive his car away he found four hub caps gone, the left door window broken and the ventilator window broken.

As far as he could determine nothing had been taken from inside the car.

MORE CAREFUL?

For the first time in several weeks there were no cases in Park Traffic court Wednesday morning.

Nature's Annual Masterpiece

MARCH WINDS AND APRIL SHOWERS bring May flowers as the old saying goes, and Lake Shore drive has not been slighted this spring. The scenic drive has taken on a beauty that would put an artist's masterpiece to shame with the annual appearance of brilliant spring blossoms which attracts spectators by the thousands each year.

Robbers Operate Close to Limits

There was an entry and burglary at the home of Mrs. Auchmuty at 1377 Wayburn on April 25 between 7:30 and 9 p. m. The family was out of the house during that time. The thieves had forced the rear dining room window with a heavy bar.

Jewelry and other articles of value were taken.

At that location the Grosse Pointe-Detroit city line cuts directly through the properties. The entry had been made in Detroit area. That same evening these thieves, or others, had also broken into a house on Alter road, definitely in Detroit.

Truck, Scooter, Tangle in City

A panel truck driven by Merle L. Bush, was going south of University Monday afternoon before crossing Kercheval. When Bush started across a motor scooter ridden by Thomas Redmond, aged 17, of 920 Balfour, collided with him broadside.

There was slight damage to both machines but young Redmond was removed to the Bon Secours hospital and held overnight for observation. The next morning he was released and taken home by members of his family.

Target Practice Stops When Police Appear

Word came to the City police one day last week that somebody was shooting a gun in the vicinity of 873 University Place.

They found Robert F. Murphy at the address indulging in target practice. It was no BB gun that Murphy was using but a .22 Marlin rifle, which, with high-power ammunition is a deadly weapon even at long range. The gun was taken but later restored with a warning.

Woods' Second Oldest Store Now Fine New Super Market

The new Roslyn Self-Serve Super Market, located in Grosse Pointe Woods on Mack avenue between Hampton and Roslyn roads, was opened to the public early this week.

The market, which formerly occupied smaller quarters three doors east, is owned and operated by Joseph Corbat and is the second oldest business establishment in the Woods.

Mr. Corbat managed a super market for one of the large chains before entering business for himself in 1940, the same year the News was founded. His advertisements have appeared in every issue of the News since 1941.

The new Roslyn Super Market is full of innovations for the convenience of the customers. Open refrigerating units permit self-service in the dairy, fruit and vegetable departments. Controlled temperature and moisture keep the vegetables garden-fresh.

The quality idea is more than an idea at the market. Custom-

Harbinger of Spring Warned by City Police

On the morning of April 24, City patrolmen Onstwedder and Dereda picked up George Anderson, colored, of 2123 E. Larned street, Detroit, who was gathering up the rubbish bags on Rivard preparatory to carting them away in his Ford pickup truck. He was brought to the police station and warned to leave the bags alone, and keep out of Grosse Pointe.

Free lance junk men picking up these rubbish bags are as certain harbingers of spring-time in the Pointe as the robins themselves.

LEAVE PRINTS

Scrawls and footprints in fresh cement at the new building under construction at 36 Radnor place, were reported to Farms police on April 28.

Discover Way To Build Cheaply

Shortly before 4 o'clock Friday afternoon a neighbor living on Rivard observed a car draw up where a new house is in construction next door, and leisurely load in a liberal supply of cement building blocks. The lady observer was quick witted enough to note the car number and phoned the police.

Quickly word went from police quarters to the address of the car's owners, to hurry back with some cement building blocks to the place of beginning—and quickly.

Very soon the blocks were in place and the parties were told to come around the next afternoon as Chief Trombly desired a little personal chat with them.

World's Food Shortage Triumphs Over Baseball

The owner of the vacant lot at the southeast corner of Lake-pointe and Fairfax complained to the Park police Saturday morning that he had intended to use the lot for a Victory Garden, but doesn't know whether he or a gang of boys who have been using it for a baseball diamond will have first priority?

He asked protection for the plot by the police and they assured him he would have it.

GOLFERS MAD

Irate golfers would like to find the nincompoop who drove his car over the 12th and 13th greens at the Country Club last Saturday night.

Vice-chairman of the Detroit Council of Veterans Affairs, Webber is also a leader in the affairs of the Michigan Retail Institute, Detroit Board of Commerce, Better Business Institute, Boy Scouts, Adcraft Club of Detroit and the American Red Cross.

Atomic Bombs Vs Religion

In speaking before the Army and Navy General Commission on Chaplains at their annual banquet in Washington the other day General Eisenhower, Chief of Staff of the Army, came out boldly for a moral regeneration throughout the world. He said without this "there is no hope for us and we are all going to disappear one day in the dust of an atomic explosion."

It is significant that this man, whose profession is that of arms, frankly acknowledges that the physical survival of the race must find its answer in the salvaging of its spiritual values.

The thought advanced by General Eisenhower has been previously expressed by churchmen and religionists and serious thinking men and women throughout the world, who are accustomed to rely on the efficacy of religion to heal our moral wounds, but when a practical realist who was our late successful commander-in-chief of the greatest army the world ever knew, frankly forswears reliance on physical might to win and hold a permanent world peace and warns that only by a reeducation to the practices and teachings of the great Prince of Peace can we even survive, it is an opinion from a source that should command closest attention.

It is one of the highest endorsements of the saving values of the Christian Faith that has been uttered in many a year.

The General spoke in detail of the practical application of the latent religious impulses of the world. He urged "progressive disarmament, international cooperation, mutual tolerance and understanding of the other fellow's viewpoint."

Neither was there any thought implied that this needed revival of conscience should be merely an unorganized and undirected movement. He bluntly says that this recreation of moral forces must be undertaken through the agency of organized religion. He says that "through the churches there is the opportunity for organization of moral forces to bring these purposes before the world."

He said the world is experiencing today an "era of doubt, confusion, fear and mutual suspicion through which we can travel only with eternal truths."

Both the General and Admiral Nimitz, who also spoke, took occasion to tell, out of their own ample experience, of the practical application of working Christianity at its best during the war, by our own Army and Navy chaplains.

Throughout the remarks of these redoubtable fighters the thought prevailed of the old school of American soldiers who "shot as he prayed" had not perished from the ranks of our own America's fighting forces.

Needed—A Pause

Words of wisdom were uttered the other day in Aberdeen, Scotland, by the venerable former Prime Minister of Great Britain. The world needs a "breather," he said. No truer word was ever spoken. For one short moment during Franklin Roosevelt's reign, we were deluded into hoping that we in this country were to be allowed a reviving breath. That was when he said "business was going to be permitted a breathing spell." It never came. Quickly, Mr. Roosevelt, who was eternally politically minded, discovered, or thought he discovered, more votes awaiting harvest by a pseudo championing of the cause of the "forgotten man," and plumped his whole party into the maelstrom of economic regulation, class cleavage, repression of private enterprise and all of the thousand and one experiments that made such a sorry mess of the whole domestic picture in our country.

But all that is largely water over the home dam. Now the old Premier, from the vantage point of a half century of vision and intimate contact with the world arena of men and things, says that, above all else, the world stands in need of a pause. The world has been trying to do too many things in too short a time. The old principle of orderly and studied progress has been largely abandoned under a "do it now" urge that has brought only confusion and doubt.

There are too many agencies at work, from Governments of great nations down to the Podunk Cross Roads Ladies Society for the Savings of the Butterflies. The mote and the beam are too much in evidence in every channel of world activity.

"Crises" and "emergencies" have chased each other so rapidly across the world's screen that common men are beginning to ask each other whether these things are real.

Here in our own country we have "Days" or "Weeks" for everything under heaven and a "Queen" of everything. There is a "problem" around every corner and confusion and misunderstanding everywhere.

We have just emerged from a great war that was fought to give us world peace and now the world does not seem capable of adopting the composure it thought it had won.

In this country we are plagued with a great cult of professional wisecracks ready to lead us and command us in doing anything and everything the human mind can lend itself to. Every activity of government, conferred or usurped; every concern of private life, has its mentors or dictators to say how, when and where.

If the world ever stood in need of allopathic doses of the simple life it is now. If every person would make it his business to get back to his accustomed work as quickly and as earnestly as possible and let the rest of the world go by for a while, it would be the best medicine in sight for the world's ills.

The Human Failure

The terrible railroad accident that occurred the other day at Naperville, Ill., was apparently a tragic instance of the failure of the human element. Machinery did not fail to function; there was no spreading of rails. A flagman neglected to drop flares to warn a following train which he must have known was only a few minutes behind. More than forty lives were crushed out and over a hundred persons maimed and injured.

The responsibility of the railroad company for the acts of its employees or agents is acknowledged, but money cannot pay for the precious lives that were sacrificed to the momentary neglect of a single employee.

How vitally the work of the world depends on each one doing his or her allotted task promptly and faithfully.

Grosse-Exaggerations

A. PRYOR

"You talked with such a nimble wit,
Your voice made such a pretty sound
As you discoursed on things profound,
On life and what you thought of it.
And yet, I should have been aware
That you were just a disphonie
Repeating brightly as your own
What others had recorded there."

(Don Blanding)

You (and we) who haven't a house full of maids and butlers, cannot appreciate the relief of being 'alone'. Before you start to "oh, yeah?"... LEAVE us explain that lots of women who employ sizeable domestic staffs, have admitted that while it is nice to have your work done for you... it can also be a large pain in the neck.

For example, most cooks feel that they OWN your kitchen. Except for a brief visit there to say good morning or give the day's orders, YOU don't belong in the kitchen... and raiding the icebox behind the cook's back, is sacrilege! Women have told us they've heard reverberations downstairs after having sneaked a snack on the previous night. Such cracks as "Madame must have had a glass of milk last night" or "The master upset MY icebox last night. Most of the ham is gone..." are no Grosse Exaggerations.

Also, we remember a woman telling us, soon after we got into the war, that it was a relief to have to do her own work, because she at least had the house to herself and could sing off-key at the top of her lungs if she felt like it, or go around all day barefoot. She could ignore the ringing of the phone if she didn't feel like talking nor did she have to see the Fuller Brush man just because the maid said she was in. She had to prepare her own dinner, but she and her family could also eat it when they felt like it instead of HAVING to eat at six-thirty so the maid could go home. There seems no doubt that having help has its drawbacks... so don't let's fret about it!

All this leads up to a prize tale we heard this week, about a local woman who is 'fraught' with domestic help. She usually doesn't leave her bedroom and sitting room quarters until about 11 a.m., but this morning in question, she got up and started to dress at about 9. She got as far as the brazier and step-in stage, when she remembered something in her office (down the hall) that she wanted to take downtown. Just so she wouldn't forget it, she dashed down the hall bare-footed and in her scant costume, under the impression that the butler was off for the whole day. Just as she got inside the door of her office, she heard the butler in the upstairs hall right outside the door... In a panic, she rushed into a closet in the room and closed the closet door.

What seemed like an eternity to her, passed, with the butler still putting around in the hall while she was trapped in the closet... It occurred to her to call out to him to leave the hall so she could get back to her room, then it also occurred to her that he'd probably think she was nuts. Sooooo, she held out and hoped for the best... A few more minutes went by, when one of the maids came into the office, dusted around for awhile, then quite unexpectedly opened the closet door. When she saw her mistress standing there in shorts and bra at an hour when she was supposed to be in bed and asleep, her face turned white and she opened her mouth to scream, but Madame "shushed" her just in time. The badly frightened and puzzled maid left the room, trembling from every pore. It was not until much later that the woman had a chance to explain to the maid WHY she had been caught in the closet and that she hadn't wanted her to scream for fear it would bring the butler on the run.

The woman tells us the maid still looks at her queerly and she constantly feels as if she ought to go on and on trying to make the maid see the predicament she was in and how it might happen to anyone. She also wishes she had her house to herself so wandering around in dishabille would be no one's business but her own... and she wouldn't feel as though she'd been caught robbing the safe.

Our "Pointe Counter Points" author, Olive Larned, received a fan limerick this week that she is too modest to print on her own page... so we swiped it to model here:

"There is a fair lady named 'Oley'
Whose News column is so drolley;
That the merchants all say 'Our take is not bay;
The chatter brings in folding money!'"
We feel (in our own poetic way) that instead of "moolah" as a slang word for money, we ought to have one called "moley" (for rhyming purposes)... however, one is never choosy about one's fan letters. Which reminds us... does anyone know of a word that rhymes with 'orange' and makes sense?

How it Ticks

Earl Browder, who not long ago was kicked out of the Communist party in this country, has gone to Russia to "make a study" of the operations of the party over there.

Browder's visit to the shrine of communism prompts the natural query why he should at this late date find it necessary to study anew at the fount of the party on whose theories he presumed to risk at one time to be elected President of the United States.

Mr. Browder had better look out. He might repeat the experience of the late Emma Goldman, once the she-front of communism in the U. S. She went to Russia twenty-five years ago to be near the Decroville brothers and sisters and grew so heartily tired of the repression and annoyance that surrounded her over there that she yearned to get back to the America she had tried to remake. She even promised a certain citizen of Wisconsin, whom she met there, that if he would somehow arrange to smuggle her back to America she would henceforth be a most loyal citizen of this land.

It couldn't be arranged then, but the understanding is that some years later she did get back. Seeing wasn't believing for Emma and it may not be for Mr. Browder. In fact it would be a fine thing if a few shiploads of fellow travellers on this side might be given a generous vacation over there just to learn, first hand, how the machine ticks.

Imperium in Imperio

The local teamsters' union is highly incensed at Mayor Jeffries for ordering the police to make an investigation of the teamsters' organizing drive. They have told him to mind his own business. The teamsters' union should turn this advice upon itself. The application would be pat.

The attempt to extract tribute from the small grocers and meat dealers by compelling them to pay five dollars for a little plate to show they are paying for the privilege of hauling their own meat in their own vehicles is one of the most outrageous gestures for the extension of union power ever devised by a labor organization.

This plate is not a state license. Oh no! It is just the formal notice to all and sundry that this group of small business men has been compelled to obtain a permit from a private labor union run over the public streets carrying their own merchandise. The union has even had the gall to ask the city council to back them up with legislation. Thus far it appears not any of the city fathers have quite had the nerve to openly align themselves with this private racket.

The best defense the union has been able to cite for the action is that it will make more work for union teamsters.

Talley Ramt

by
Helen Talley

See by the GROSSE POINTE NEWS that Detroit is having a little pigeon trouble at the airport. I've been told that travelers getting out of the planes, are handed umbrellas for the sprint from ship to shelter. We, too, have a little pigeon saga this week! You know the Columbia Broadcasting building on 52nd and Madison! Well, in the two foot space, on a low wall, between CBS and the next building, there is a nest complete with mama and two baby pigeons. I don't mention papa because handsome MIKE DONOVAN, the CBS doorman, has taken on papa's duties. MIKE feeds and waters the family, and makes like an Irish terrier when the cat from ST. PATRICK'S comes snooping over from 51st street. But what, you ask me, and rightly too, what happens at night when MIKE goes home? Well, I'll tell you—I haven't the faintest idea!

If you're thinking of coming to NEW YORK, come now! We are at our very best. Our trees are lacy, our PUBLIC LIBRARY has had its face washed and our feminine FIFTH AVENUE strollers, from 48 states in the UNION never looked so flowery and pretty. EASTER started it. There are eight thousand EASTER LILLIES in the channel gardens at ROCKEFELLER CENTER. The HORTICULTURAL SHOW has a gorgeous display of narcissi—and the floods of golden daffodils at the BOTANICAL GARDENS should be seen to be believed. Probably the most famous outdoor flower show in New York is the CHERY WALK in the Brooklyn Botanical Garden. There are hundreds of the Kwanzan variety trees. They are pale pink and double flowered. A million of those pretty blossoms makes a lovely sight.

EASTER went off as per schedule, with one slight difference. This year, practically no motors were allowed on FIFTH AVENUE. As a result, people strolled in the street, and were able to get about leisurely, to enjoy the novel sight. JIMMY MELTON and his wife drove slowly through the crowd, in a high, old-fashioned electric. A lady had a radio loudspeaker in the crown of her hat. Several white bansom cabs rolled along carrying pretty girls from the circus. INDIANS appropriately, hatted in their beautifully feathered war bonnets, rode in dignified file. CARDINAL SPELLMAN appeared for a moment in his gorgeous robes. The sun beamed on a million people—out in their billowing veils and best faces. It was real nice!

KISSING is always a pleasant subject to talk about—so let's. It seems that some wonderful doctor named SAMUEL FANT of the New York Board of Health, says kissing is beneficial—it builds up resistance. Are you the resisting type, is the question you must ask yourself! The Doctor says you don't have to kiss to get germs, altho it seems a much pleasanter way than just going to the cinema alone and letting them fly at you in the dark. The Doctor is heartily in favor of a few germs—they build up immunity. Kissing, he says, is more efficient than shaking hands. Good man, FANT.

All that yap, yap about no rooms to be had in New York is the bunk. We've had a guest in town who has lived in Marble Hall for 38 days—and it hasn't cost him a cent. His name is OSWALD PHILLIPS and he is 65 years old. Originally he came from IRELAND and at one time was chief engineer on a sugar plantation in CUBA. When he was evicted from his rooming house recently, he simply moved into the PENNSYLVANIA STATION, and there he has lived for the past six weeks. He says he has no complaints. He changes his bed every night—bench by bench—and that's more than you or I can do. When he gets hungry, and has any dough, he eats at the lunch counters in the station—and he cleans up in the wash rooms. It's a simple life, but MR. PHILLIPS likes it.

Letters to the Editor

April 18, 1946

Dear Sir:
Hearing of the plans to build a War Memorial at the high school, I would very much like to offer my suggestion.

The one suggestion I have is for a field house. My opinion is most likely prejudiced, being a former athlete at Grosse Pointe high; but I can also readily realize the need for such a building. The present gymnasium is too small to accommodate the number of students, and the seating capacity is limited. The only persons that can enjoy and use the facilities are those participating on the athletic teams. Neither an adequate intramural program can be had, nor a suitable place for other types of recreation.

Even on this small island where I am stationed, we have a larger and better gymnasium than the high school. It serves a double purpose of passing, dragging, hours, and offering some means of enjoyment. In the same way, a field house would turn minds to athletics and physical prowess rather than to other lines that cause adolescent troubles. And I think that we shall agree Grosse Pointe has an overabundance of such troubles.

I am sure that no veteran of this war would object to a field house as a fitting War Memorial.

Thanking you for your attention,

Sincerely,
GLENN HOLB, Ph. M. 2/c
M.O.B. Medical Dept. Navy No. 230, % F.P.O., San Francisco.

To: Punch and Judy Theater.

Dear Sirs:
I am very much distressed to hear of the discharge of "Dick," the doorman man, whose courtesy and friendliness has meant so much to the patrons of your theater. I am sure there is some perfectly reasonable explanation for the action on his part, which seemed to enrage some disgruntled person.

I sincerely hope you will reconsider this matter, both for the good of your theater and the satisfaction of his many friends.

Truly yours,
Mrs. Cameron B. Waterman.

Grosse Pointe News.

Dear Sirs:
I want to protest on behalf of myself and my family, the dismissal of "Dick" Dickerson from the employ of the Punch and Judy Theater. We've grown to think of Dick as a friend and neighbor and would all miss him very much, especially the children, if he isn't at the Punch anymore. We feel he must have been misjudged.

Thank you.
Mrs. R. S. Andrews.

Grosse Pointe News.

Gentlemen:
I have read your article relative to the discharge of Dick, the doorman at the Punch and Judy Theater.

This man had a particular talent for making and giving service, particularly to children, and I know that I am only one of many who was the recipient of countless courtesies at his hands. His presence at the Punch was one of the principal reasons why, as a family neighborhood theater, it was different.

I sincerely trust that the owner of the theater will reconsider his apparently hasty and ill-considered action, and reinstate Dick to his former job, and leave it to the manager of the theater to decide whether such reprimand as Dick's action may have merited.

Very truly yours,
Mrs. Paul G. Tossy.

Open Letter to the Grosse Pointe News.

Dear Sirs:
"We, as a family who have experienced only courtesy and good service from Dick, the recently discharged doorman of the Punch and Judy Theater, wish to voice our protest of such action in this 'open' letter to your newspaper.

We were delighted to see that this paper took the same attitude that we, and many of our friends, who are patrons of the theater, are taking... and feel it to be a most unjust action for such a petty offense.

Dick has served the public for many years and has been a faithful servant to the Punch and Judy and the person or persons causing his dismissal should have taken into consideration Dick's loyalty and trustworthiness, which by far out balance his misdemeanors.

The punishment in this case is entirely too severe for the crime.

Sincerely,
The Howard Ballantynes.

Grosse Pointe News.

Dear Sirs:
I would like to register my protest at the dismissal of "Dick," the doorman man at the Punch and Judy theater. My family join me in hoping a way will be found to reinstate such a nice old fellow, who has long been associated with the people of the community.

Very truly yours,
A. Z. Rogers, M. D.

April 20, 1946

Gentlemen:

As the mother of a son serving his country as a pilot of a dive bomber for our Naval Air Forces, and of a son whose life is at present centered in the sports world of Grosse Pointe High School, I cannot endorse too strongly the proposal of those people who have initiated this idea of a Field House and Gymnasium as a fitting memorial for our veterans of World War II.

There is a "crying need" in Grosse Pointe for more facilities for boys' activities and outlets for their normal boy instincts, as well as for outlets for the emotions of our returned veterans.

My sons join me in my opinion that nothing could be more fitting as a tribute to the men who have suffered or died for their country than a memorial that will help build the young sons of our community into fine citizens with strong bodies, and at the same time offer the returned veteran a place for recreation and enjoyment to assure his successful return to civilian life.

I want to extend my deepest and sincere thanks to the men who have shown an understanding for the vital needs of Grosse Pointe and have taken the lead on this most worthy project.

Very truly yours,
Helen M. Grubbs.

Historical Group Outlines By-Laws

The Grosse Pointe Historical Society had a meeting Wednesday evening, April 24 at the Grosse Pointe Yacht club with the principal discussion concerning the set-up of the by-laws that will govern the conduct of the organization.

The committee on by-laws made a partial report. The committee charged with the drafting of the by-laws is composed of Kenneth L. Moore, Murray Smith, William Sloan, George Elworthy and Arthur Neff. Other members of the society who attended were Lincoln Mair, Vincent De Petris, Louise Rau, Florence Severs, Douglass Moran, Frank Fieger and Norbert P. Neff.

Although the organization is still in its formative state, already it is considering historic sites in the Grosse Pointe area that merit suitable markings with permanent tablets. The interest and cooperation of the men and women of the Pointe area in the society and its aims and purposes is cordially invited.

In 1944 there were 1,748 deaths from tuberculosis in Michigan. These deaths could have been prevented if the disease had been discovered in time.

Be Sure of Your Heart

By FRED M. KOPP, M.D.

People who suffer from indigestion or complaint of "gas" stomach should explain these symptoms to a doctor.

Such discomfort could indicate serious heart disturbances. Panacea for so called indigestion may only aggravate the real condition.

The doctor will detect the underlying cause and prescribe treatment. Relief is both possible and probable. Certainly it is gratifying to know exactly what causes the distress.

Often a change in diet, needed rest, a little medication is all that is required. The doctor's advice is available, costs much less than the loss in efficiency which discomfort produces.

A capable druggist will accurately compound any prescription ordered by the doctor.

Vets Invited To Big Party On May 11th

Neighborhood Club to Be Turned Over to Them;
Orchestra Engaged

At a meeting in the Neighborhood Club last week of the committee planning the Grosse Pointe Veterans Dance, it was announced by Jeep Del Barba, music chairman, that Bobby Baker and his nine piece orchestra have been engaged to play at the dance, which is to be held at the Neighborhood Club on Saturday, May 11, at 9 p.m.

The entertainment committee, with George Verdonet acting as chairman, reported that the Pointe's own Jackie Ward of WWJ's "Coffee Club" will sing during the intermission. For the vets not wishing to dance, all facilities of the Neighborhood Club will be available. The Neighborhood Club will belong to the Pointe vets the evening of May 11.

The Breakfast Club, which is securing and will prepare refreshments for the dance, commented on the fine spirit of cooperation shown by the Pointe merchants in helping out with the food problem. Mrs. Douglas Crane of the Breakfast Club promises that there will be "plenty of food for everybody."

The finance committee under C. Norbert Neff, City Clerk for the City of Grosse Pointe, reported that residents of Grosse Pointe are being more than generous in their donations of money to pay for this affair. It will be truly a community project.

The dance, which will be an all World War II Pointe veterans affair, is to be an informal get together. Vets are asked to bring their wives and dates if they wish. However, a partner for the evening of dancing will be furnished if the vet will just call Niagara 4600 and let the committee know that he is coming. There will be no charge for the dance. A discharge button worn on the lapel will let the veteran in.

The committee working on the dance is made up of: Decorations, John Curran; Stan Mumford; Marjorie Allard; Entertainment, George Verdonet; James Locke; Food, The Breakfast Club; Finance, Norbert Neff; Hostesses, Mary Louise Smith, Mrs. Frederick Rising, Mrs. Jeep Del Barba; Publicity, Harry Lipski; Norm McElroy; Reception, Al Meissner; Bobby Messner; Jack Egan.

Rally to Be Held By Luther League

On Sunday, May 5, Faith Lutheran Church will be the host for the Spring Rally of the Detroit Federation of Luther Leagues.

Prior to the rally (3-4 p.m.) the Choral Union composed of singers from all the various Leagues will hold a rehearsal. Special music will be rendered by this group which will also serve as the choir in the worship service. Registration will be from 3:30 to 4:30.

The afternoon session will start promptly at 4:30 with Rev. C. Wolf of Capital University, Secretary, former pastor of Faith Church, as the presiding officer. Dinner will be served by the ladies of Faith followed by a program of after-dinner entertainment.

At 7:15 there will be a candle light Vesper Service. The vicars of Mt. Zion, Salem and Faith churches will conduct the liturgical service and Rev. Theo Pretzlaff of Port Clinton, Ohio, will deliver the message.

Society News Gathered from All of the Pointes

From Another Pointe of View

by
Jane Schermerhorn

The Junior League was practically bombed out of print (its own choice) during the war years . . . Although meetings were held . . . and all the worthwhile projects carried on . . . it was pretty much thumbs down on frivolity . . .

Now it makes a smart leap back into the post war social world . . . a Junior League with even more definite good purposes . . .

And a nod to gaiety . . . will be its Country Fair to be held June 13 on the grounds of the late Emory Ford's home at the Pointe on Lake Shore Road . . .

All proceeds going to a group therapy project which the League has just taken over . . .

JUNIOR LEAGUE TO GIVE COUNTRY FAIR

Plans are still nebulous . . . but it is proposed that the Junior League will sponsor and maintain a home (to be somewhere near Wayne University) . . .

This home will house young boys from "disturbed" homes . . . not problem boys . . . just lads who aren't getting a fair break in their formative years . . .

The Junior League has taken on a five year sponsorship of the project . . . which will undoubtedly be run by trained social workers, etc. . .

And thus, the fair . . . to begin raising the funds they will need for their sponsorship . . .

The lively and capable Mrs. Thomas Paddock is to be chairman of the Country Fair (she let the Pointe know about it early when that snappy Ford Station Wagon was noised about as one of the Grand Prizes! . . . incidentally Ford Motor donated the station wagon . . .)

And Mrs. John Garlinghouse heads the workers on the group therapy project . . .

Add to this the League's work with the handicapped . . . its braille program . . . and many other fine interests . . . and we're ready to doff our cap to the post war Detroit Junior League . . .

As that precious weekly news magazine would say: "The Junior League, no social butterflies, they!" . . .

MISS HELEN EDWARDS TO WED MAY 25

Miss Helen Muir Edwards . . . daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Fulton Edwards of Lothrop road . . .

Will become the bride of George Tazewell Thomas on Saturday, May 25 . . .

Mr. Thomas is the son of Mrs. Tazewell Taylor Thomas of Baltimore, Md., and the late Mr. Thomas . . .

At present . . . no further details . . . except we understand the Pointe will lose Miss Edwards following her marriage . . .

She and Mr. Thomas will make their home outside of Philadelphia . . .

IADOM MEMBERS HAVE BENEFIT SOCIAL

We wish Mrs. A. Sellers . . . and the other members of Iadom Club realized how much we always like to publish news of them . . .

Then we're sure they'd see that we got a hint of their activities in good early time . . .

We'd have loved to urge Pointers to attend the social which Iadom members gave on April 26 in Christ Church House.

Autumn Bride-Elect

(Paul Gach Photo)
DOROTHY MARIE MOTSCHALL, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Motschall of Three-Mile Drive, will become the bride of Gerady Andrew Grout of Flint in October.

SHELDEN, PHILIP RAHM, DAVID JOHNSTON, NICHOLAS PHELPS, FRED FORDON and DICK SUTHERLAND.

Another gathering of Young Things was held at TERRY WILLIAMS' home on Merriweather road. JANE FORDON was the host's "date" for the evening and dining with them were MIMI THOMPSON and DAVID MANN, CHARLOTTE SMITH and DON LANDIS, MARY BANACH and ROGER MULIER and BAYARD JOHNSON.

Grosse Pointe High Juniors are planning their Prom on Saturday, with MARILYN SMITH, SANDY MALCOLMSON, EARL BRABB, SALLEE SLOCUM and JENNY QUIRK as committee heads.

Pointe pals of Mrs. Joseph P. Sullivan (whose current return address is APO 777, care of the United States Forces in Austria) will be glad to know she finally made the steamer which is carrying her to Europe and a reunion with her husband, General Sullivan, who has been with General Mark Clark's staff for the past several months.

Returning to the Pointe from the south this week are MRS. JOSEPH V. CARR and JEAN CARR of 413 Lincoln road. They spent Easter with friends in New Orleans.

MRS. THEODORE H. HINCHMAN of Vendome road has returned to the Pointe after a month's stay in Tryon, N. C.

MRS. GEORGE WILLIAMS, who has been here as the houseguest of her mother-in-law, MRS. WILLIAM K. WILLIAMS of Beaufre road, has departed the Pointe to visit her parents, MR. AND MRS. HARRY L. MCKEAN of Big Rapids, Mich.

JANICE WOODRUFF of Lewiston road, who has been in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., with her grandmother, MRS. F. J. ROBINSON of Bloomfield Hills, has returned.

MR. AND MRS. HENRY S. SANGER of Lake Placid, N. Y., are here visiting the HENRY H. SANGERS of University place, who recently came back from a stay in Morristown, N. J. The young Sangers, with BETSY and JOHNNY, will be going on out to their Metamora farm before long.

Pointe pals of MR. AND MRS. ALFRED MAYER ("MEIGS" RICHARDSON) are delighted to be welcoming them back from their long residence at Balboa Island, Calif., along with their two charming and lively offspring. For the nonce, they are houseguesting with the SENIOR MAYERS of East Grand Boulevard.

MRS. WILLIAM JAMES MILLER, who lived with her mother, MRS. A. INGERSOLL LEWIS, of Lewiston road, during the war, has gone to Coronado, Calif., with COLONEL MILLER. The Millers have been in Mexico but expect to live in Southern California.

THEODORE D. BUHL of Ridge road and CARSTEN TIEDEMAN of Kenwood road will motor to Louisville this weekend to see the Kentucky Derby.

PERCIVAL DODGE and his daughter, NANCY, will be leaving the Pointe tomorrow in favor of Huron Mountain and the lure of trout-fishing. While they are thus engaged, MRS. DODGE will be hostess to her sister, MRS. J. H. ALEXANDRE, JR., of New York City.

MRS. C. BROOKS BEGG of Lakeland avenue is spending several days in Springfield, Mass., with her parents, MR. AND MRS. PERCY O. DORR, who make their home there.

DR. AND MRS. E. C. BAUMGARTEN of Windmill Pointe drive are back after a three-week stay down in Asheville, N. C.

DR. HOWARD L. BERGO is back with his family in Bishop road after serving four years overseas with the Navy.

MR. AND MRS. FREDERICK M. ALGER, JR., are expected home shortly after their lengthy stay in Palm Beach and their stop-off in Washington, D. C., to see Mr. Alger's parents, MR. AND MRS. CHARLES S. DEWEY.

MR. AND MRS. C. HENRY BUHL intend to be back in their Elair Place home this week-end following their Winter (and Spring) stay in Palm Beach, Fla., where they have a charming home.

MRS. RAY L. SPITZLEY of Renaud road is leaving for California next Monday to be the guest of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hulse, Sr. She will be accompanied by her nephew CLAUDE HAUSE, JR., who has been a houseguest of the Spitzleys for the past three weeks.

Anne McMillan Joins Betrothed

Lovely Anne McMillan has joined the list of The Betrothed. Her engagement to William Reid Manierre II, of Lake Forest, Ill., was made known by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Thayer McMillan of Essex blvd. Her fiancé is the son of Mrs. E. Harrison Manierre of Lake Forest and C. Edison Manierre of New York. He recently took up studies at Yale University which he dropped about three years ago to serve as a lieutenant in the United States Army Air Forces. Prior to entering Yale, young Manierre was graduated from the Hill School.

The bride-elect studied at the Masters School, Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., and is a member of Tau Beta and the Junior League.

Two Woods Residents United in Marriage

Elizabeth Mary Eliason Becomes Bride of Harold C. Weidbusch; Leave for Mountain Honeymoon

The marriage of Elizabeth Mary Eliason, daughter of Mrs. Simon George Eliason of North Oxford road, Grosse Pointe Woods, and the late Mr. Eliason, to Harold C. Weidbusch of Hampton road, Grosse Pointe Woods, was solemnized the morning of April 27 at the home of the bride.

Dr. Herbert B. Hudnut, pastor of the Woodward Avenue Presbyterian church, read the ceremony.

The bride wore a light blue wool suit with a white flowered hat. Her accessories were in navy blue and she wore a white orchid corsage bouquet.

Winifred Eliason attended her sister as maid-of-honor and wore a two-piece wool suit of gray with a flowered hat and a corsage bouquet of Spring flowers.

N. Stewart Brown was best man.

A reception followed after which the bridal couple left for a motor trip through the Smoky Mountains.

They will make their home at 1450 Hampton road.

George Baileys to Entertain Houseguests from Wisconsin

Mrs. George D. Bailey has had her days fully occupied since she returned from her trip to San Francisco, Palm Springs and San Antonio.

Guests in the Bailey household on Vendome road over last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Charles DeWoody of Topping lane, Chagrin Falls, Ohio, and their children, Penny and Toby. Mrs. DeWoody is the former Nancy Tremaine and her Pointe friends are legion. The Baileys gave a luncheon in the Little Club for their guests on Sunday.

Coming on Monday to visit the Baileys are Mrs. Eben Minahan and Mrs. L. C. Stephens of Green Bay, Wisconsin. They will stay for a week and will be joined on Friday for the week-end by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Minahan of Milwaukee.

Mrs. Eben Minahan was a delegate to the Wisconsin State Republican convention this week.

Mrs. Bailey found time to attend the Federated Garden Clubs meeting in Grand Rapids on Tuesday of this week.

Lewis Fisher Browns Remaining in Tucson

It'll be June before Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Fisher Brown and their daughter, Sandra, return to Grand Marais.

They have become charmed with life at Tucson, Ariz., where they took an attractive house, "Rancho Vita," several months back.

Mrs. Brown's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lovell R. Krause, have been down there, also, but have recently returned to their lovely home on Berkshire.

Enemy guns cost the lives of 253,000 Americans in World War II. During the same period, nearly 206,000 Americans died from tuberculosis.

Mrs. Hudson Hostess To Parenthood League

Mrs. V. C. Hurlund, New Executive Director and Members of National Federation are Honor Guests

The Detroit League for Planned Parenthood held a tea in the home of the chairman, Mrs. J. Stewart Hudson, on Wednesday, May 1. Those invited included many who are interested in various social and health agencies throughout the city. The tea was in honor of the league's new executive director, Mrs. V. C. Hurlund, and two members of the National Federation, Mrs. E. R. McKinnon, special consultant, and Mr. Beekman Pool, associate director of the federation.

Mrs. McKinnon and Mr. Pool are in Michigan the week of April 29 to talk before groups interested in Planned Parenthood. Their arrival in Detroit coincided with the opening of the Detroit League's membership campaign which is being launched to help raise funds necessary for clinic maintenance and expansion.

The four types of membership, one to 10 dollars, are Supporting, Associate, Professional and Sustaining. Any person contributing more than $10 becomes a Contributing member. It is the intention of the Detroit League to omit the usual fund-raising in order to join in a national fund raising campaign with the Planned Parenthood Federation of America in the Spring of 1947.

The aims of this nation-wide program will be three-fold: to provide child spacing services to married women who do not have access to private medicine; to offer medical guidance to couples who want children but find they cannot have them; to provide marriage counseling to aid young people in establishing their marriages on a firm and lasting basis.

In discussing the work of the Detroit League, which through its membership drive seeks to augment its funds to carry on this same three-fold program locally, Mrs. Hudson revealed that there is now an increasing demand for infertility treatment from married couples who are eager to become parents.

Also, Mrs. Hudson said, in our post war world many young married couples are seeking marriage counseling. Funds are needed not only for these purposes but in order to maintain the five clinics operated in Detroit at Harper and Woman's Hospitals and the North End Clinic. These are open to all married women seeking advice on child spacing who cannot obtain medical assistance elsewhere. No one is ever turned away because of inability to pay the normal clinic fees.

Mrs. Hudson explained that the Planned Parenthood Federation of America with which the Detroit League is affiliated, is a member of the National Health Council, and as such is a recognized part of preventive medicine, and an aid to infant and maternal health and better marriage relationships.

Elizabeth Cass Chapter To Hold Annual Meeting

Elizabeth Cass Chapter, DAR, of Grosse Pointe Farms, will hold a meeting on May 8 at noon in the Women's City Club. Luncheon will be served, after which Mrs. Walter R. Fruit, regent, will be in charge of the monthly business meeting.

Since this will be an annual meeting, reports of all officers and committee chairmen will be heard and election of officers for the coming year will be held.

Mrs. A. E. Wells, chairman of the committee on American Indians, will give a paper on her work.

Mrs. Dwight T. Randall, who spent the winter in Tucson, Ariz., will tell the highlights of her visits with DAR chapters in that region.

Ibex Club's Play To Aid Red Cross

Resuming its annual custom, interrupted by the war, of staging a benefit play for some worthwhile cause each spring, the Ibex Club will present the courtroom drama, "The Night of January 16th" in one of the Federal Building courtrooms on the evenings of Friday, May 10, and Saturday, May 11. The proceeds will be contributed to the Camp and Hospital Service of the American Red Cross, toward the construction of a greenhouse for patients at Fort Custer Hospital.

Mrs. Frank W. Munger, Mrs. David Stapleton, Harold H. Emmons, Jr. and William Way Merrill have the leading roles. Others in the cast are Mrs. Robert M. Kerr, Jr., Mrs. George V. Candler, Jr., Miss Jean Hatcher, Mrs. Alexander K. Gage, Jr., Mrs. Robert B. Hunter, Mrs. David D. Williams, Mrs. Thomas Sage, Judge Robert Toms, John L. Kolle, Frank Standish, David D. Williams, Robert M. Kerr, Jr., Charles M. White, Edward D. Trowbridge, Robert Morse Hamilton, Eppa H. Heaton, Harvey Kimerly and Francis Van Deusen. Mrs. Charles M. White of Lake Shore Road, who is president of Ibex this year, has appointed Mrs. Clark Wells as general chairman of the production, which Howard Snyder is directing. Mrs. Hugo Ulbrich, Jr. of Vernier Road is ticket chairman.

Ball Scheduled At Yacht Club

Preceding the Commodore's Ball at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club on Saturday, May 11, Commodore and Mrs. George N. Lilygren will entertain at cocktails in the Green Room for the former Commodores and their wives, the present officers and the Board of Directors of the Club.

Later, they will be seated for dinner at tables appropriately decorated with the Officers' Flags which will be presented on this occasion.

Former Commodores List: Mr. and Mrs. George M. Stocum, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Woodall, Colonel and Mrs. Frank Couzens, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Pierzen, Mr. and Mrs. Ward H. Peck, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Marks and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Thomas. Officers and Board of Directors List: Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Scherer, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Teetzel, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. McGregor, Mr. and Mrs. Warren H. Farr, Mr. and Mrs. R. Earle Milligan, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Herreshoff, Dr. and Mrs. Clifford Loranger, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bleicher and Mr. and Mrs. John R. Sutton, Jr.

Boat Club Party Draws Pointers

Many Pointers were present at Detroit Boat Club's monthly luncheon when all roads led to Bell Isle for that bit of Victorian whimsy labeled "My Lady's Memories".

Mrs. Richard Haynes was there as was Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, Mrs. Frank Reid, Mrs. David Sutter (chairman of the event), Mrs. Robert Henkel, Mrs. Herbert F. Poehle and many others.

The tables were especially attractive with arrangements of double yellow tulips, purple iris and white gladioli set off by masses of cedar and huckleberry foliage.

Recently Married

Before her marriage, Tuesday, Mrs. RICHARD A. SCHRAGE was Helen Ann Bayne. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evan P. Bayne of Berkshire road.

Ann Fruehauf Miami Bride

Marries Robert Kuhns in Ceremony Uniting Pointe Families

From Miami comes the news and Ann Fruehauf's marriage to Robert Alan Kuhns.

The ceremony was performed at All Souls' Church last Saturday at 4 o'clock.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Fruehauf of Three Mile Drive and her husband's parents are the Robert Kuhns of Lake Shore road.

Both families have winter homes on Pine Tree Drive in Miami Beach.

For the wedding, the bride wore a smart white linen suit while her attendant and aunt, Mrs. Roy Fruehauf, was in white wool trimmed with royal blue.

Frank W. Kuhn was his brother's best man.

After the wedding, a reception was held at Indian Creek Country Club.

Sometime this month, the young Kuhns will return to make their home in the Pointe.

Lochmoor Club Sponsors Party

The Lochmoor Club will sponsor a women's bridge luncheon at 12:30 o'clock on Wednesday, May 8, to be featured by a fashion show staged by the Ernst Kern Co. This will start at 3:45.

There will be prizes for golf and bridge winners as well as door prizes. Mrs. William M. Tetter and Mrs. Hansel D. Wilson are co-hostesses. For reservations, phone Niagara 1470.

AAUW Schedules Four Meetings

The general meeting for May of the Pointe branch of the American Association of University Women, is being held tonight, Thursday, at 8 o'clock, in the home of Mrs. Taylor H. Seeber; co-hostesses will be Mrs. Mary T. Serge, Mrs. Raymond Wertz, Mrs. H. W. Merrill and Mrs. Willis Bugbee.

George Schermer, director of Inter-Racial Relations, in Detroit, will be the speaker.

The social group will meet at 1:30 p. m. on May 9 with Mrs. Paul Bauldwin, of 1160 Whittier road, Mrs. B. W. Beyer, Jr. and Mrs. George True will discuss "Minority Groups in Our City."

The international relation group will hold its meeting at 1:30 p. m. on May 23, in the home of Mrs. John Pear, 707 Trombley road. Mrs. Lloyd Kerby, state international relations chairman, and Dr. Helen Huus of Wayne University will be the speakers. There will also be sound movies showing the work of UNRRA following in the wake of the devastation in Europe.

The annual meeting of the branch will be held on June 1 in the Lochmoor Club. Annual reports and election of officers will be at 11 a. m., followed by a luncheon at 1 p. m.

Pointers Active In YWCA Drive

Mrs. Kins Collins of Westchester road, is leading one of the divisions in the YWCA's current Membership Month campaign. First report luncheon for the campaign is scheduled for Monday, May 6, at Central Branch YWCA at 12:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Willis Bugbee of Kensington road, Mrs. John J. O'Brien of Kercheval, Mrs. Stanford Phelps of Provençal, Mrs. George A. Schemm of Maumee, Mrs. John Sades of Burns and Mrs. Henry Ballard of Fisher are also working in the campaign.

They invite all women and girls in the Pointe to join the YWCA through them. The campaign goal is 8700 members to maintain the total citywide membership at 20,000 in 1946. Members are also invited to contribute to the YWCA's world fellowship fund for the support of its work abroad.

Engaged Couple Feted At Numerous Parties

Marcia Netting and Bill Thompson Honored by Friends Arranging Pre-nuptial Gatherings

There have been, and will continue to be, numerous parties for that betrothed pair, Marcia Netting and Bill Thompson. With their wedding date set for May 10, their friends have been popping up with requests that they set aside evenings and afternoons for all manner of charming gestures — such as the bridge-luncheon which Mrs. Paul Jerome gave at the Lochmoor Country Club just the other day.

Then there was the dinner which Mrs. Frank Zimmerman of Buckingham road tendered at the City Club and, next day, the luncheon and miscellaneous shower Mrs. Albert Cooney gave at her home in Merriweather road.

Mrs. Hugh L. Dill of Neff road is giving a tea today and on Saturday, Marcia's cousins, Richard and Marian Jerome of Rochester, are holding a dinner and dance at the Detroit Boat Club.

Bill Hurley, who'll be best man, is scheduling a cocktail party for Sunday afternoon and on the day before the wedding, the Elmer Charles Thompsons of Ann Arbor will give a dinner at the Detroit Athletic Club.

Still others who have entertained include Mrs. John Veech, Mrs. J. J. Wharam of Dearborn, Mrs. Arthur Hirt and Mrs. L. R. Twyman.

Albert Fraser Walls Off for Run for Roses

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fraser Wall of Devonshire road, plus their daughter Marilyn, will be among those attending the Kentucky Derby this Saturday.

They recently acquired a beautiful estate, "Lismore Farms," right next to the Charles T. Fishers' "Dixiana."

Dominican High Mothers Plan Annual Bridge Party

The Dominican High Mother's Club is planning that annual bridge party, to be held Saturday, May 11, at 2 o'clock in the school, Whittier and McKinley roads.

Mrs. A. A. Lynch, committee head, has asked Mrs. O. L. De-nomme to accept reservations. She may be reached at NL 6628.

Pointers Entertain California Visitor

Mrs. Lucian S. Moore, Jr. of La Jolla Feted at Parties Being Given by Her Many Friends

All those parties planned for Mrs. Lucian S. Moore, Jr. have been produced on-schedule, with many more to come. Here from La Jolla, Calif., as the houseguest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord W. Gillis of Burns avenue, Mrs. Moore was feted, Saturday afternoon, with a tea by Mrs. Alexander W. Copeland at her home in Moran road.

About 50 of Mrs. Moore's friends were present and Mrs. Gillis and Mrs. Frederick Clifford Ford assisted at the tea table.

Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Ernest Kanzler gave a small luncheon in her Touraine road home and on Friday, Mrs. Ledyard Mitchell will also be a luncheon hostess.

After Mrs. Mitchell's party, the group will go on to Mrs. Richard H. Webber's home for an afternoon meeting of the Garden Club of Michigan.

Friday Evening Fish Dinner With Pineapple-Orange Bread

By BETSY NEWMAN

Some of us dislike to cook such foods as fish, onions or cabbage, because they "smell up the house." Open windows help this condition, and you can also burn incense, orange peel or spices, to get rid of the odor.

Most of us like the foods well enough not to mind the odors too much, as they quickly evaporate. For a minimum of odor in cooking fish, try the method below.

Today's Menu

Broiled Fish
Crisped Potato Chips
Green Peas
Watercress or Lettuce Salad
Pineapple-Orange Bread
Butter or Margarine
Coffee or Tea
Broiled Fish

1 lb. fresh fish, slices or steaks, lemon juice, flour, oil or melted fat. Salt, pepper.

Paprika

Sprinkle fish slices or steaks generously with lemon juice. Flour one side only. Cover bottom of heated broiler pan or shallow low baking dish with oil or melted fat, dip floured side of fish in the hot oil, then turn at once.

Season with salt, pepper and paprika. Broil floured side up, without further turning, until fish is cooked through and browned, about 12 minutes. Serve on a hot dish with sprigs of parsley and lemon garnish. Serves four.

Pineapple-Orange Bread

2 1/4 c. sifted all-purpose flour.

2 1/4 teaspoons baking powder.

1/4 teaspoon soda.

1/2 teaspoon salt.

2 tablespoons shortening (soft).

1 c. pineapple jam.

1 egg, beaten.

2 teaspoons, grated orange rind.

1/2 c. orange juice.

1/2 c. nut meats.

Sift flour, measure and sift 3 times with dry ingredients. Combine shortening, pineapple jam, egg, rind and juice. Add all the flour mixture and stir well. Add chopped nuts and turn into a greased loaf pan (approximately 4 1/2 x 8 1/2 x 2 1/4 ins.) and bake at

325 degrees F. for 1 hour and 15 minutes.

After it is done, let the loaf stand 5 minutes, turn out to cool

on wire rack, and do not store until completely cooled.

Mrs. Mason Hostess To Matinee Musicales

Mrs. Parker Mason is opening her home on Moran road tonight to members of the Matinee Musicales who are celebrating with their annual Guest Day program.

The evening recital has been arranged by Mrs. Ben Frost who will also be one of the soloists.

Members and their husbands planning to attend include Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Brucker, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Sterling, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lamb and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eisenhauer.

Bettie Flanders Visits In Pebble Beach, Calif.

Bettie Flanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Flanders of Barrington road, is off on an extended visit in Pebble Beach at Monterey, Calif., with her grandmother, Mrs. Hazel M. Flanders. Same day she departed the Pointe, her brother George left to return to his Naval Air Base down in Norfolk, Va., after a several-day leave.

Michigan's approved tuberculosis hospitals and sanatoria have a total of 4,733 beds available for tuberculosis patients.

Young Pointers Enroll at Camp

All set for summer vacation days ahead are Peggy Lou Etling of McKinley road, Joanne G. Johnson of Lakeland, Louise Lee of Barrington, Jean Giles of Somerset, Jean Merrill of Notre Dame, and Phyllis McRae of Fisher. This little group of Grosse Pointers are among the first girls to "sign up" for vacations at Camp Cavell, the Detroit YWCA camp for high school girls on Lake Huron. They are all former campers.

Registration for "new" campers, girls who have not attended Camp Cavell before, opens on Saturday, May 4, at Central Branch YWCA, 2230 Witherell street.

Miss Marjorie Magee is directing Camp Cavell again this year. Camp is to be more fun than ever, she reports. Everybody's particularly excited over the development of Cavell's new pioneer unit. Here campers sleep in tents, learn to cook whole meals over a camp fire and have a wonderful time going "rustic."

There is also to be more bike-hiking this season and youth hosting. The horses will be stabled on the camp grounds. A full schedule of riding instruction for beginners, intermediates and advanced riders is offered, and there is always a horse show in mid-season.

Mrs. Stanford Phelps of Provincial road is chairman of the general camp committee which supervises the preparation of all YWCA camps for the season. Mrs. Phelps reports that Cavell's beach is simply wonderful this year. There is more than a quarter mile of smooth white sand.

DAR to Install New Officers

The annual meeting of Louise St. Clair Chapter, D.A.R. will be held on Thursday, May 9, in Newberry House, at 10:30 a.m. with the Regent, Mrs. Charles H. Mooney, presiding.

A Memorial Service will be conducted by the Chaplain, Mrs. Francis C. McMath.

Installation of the new officers for the coming year will take place. They are: Regent, Mrs. William Dixon Lent-Koop; 1st Vice Regent, Mrs. Hansel Dwight Wilson; 2nd Vice Regent, Mrs. Gordon K. MacEdward; Chaplain, Mrs. Henry D. MacKaye; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Kenneth C. Koppitz; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Elizabeth B. Owen; Treasurer, Mrs. Millard H. Toneray; Registrar, Mrs. Zehner R. Peterson; Historian, Mrs. Robert M. Meisel.

Directors of Departments are: Americanism, Mrs. William F. Streil; The Flag, Mrs. Charles Sylvester Lewis; Junior Membership, Mrs. S. Wright Belling; National Defense, Miss Eloise O. Goddard; Patriotic Relief, Mrs. Albert W. Besancon; Social, Mrs. Robert June.

Directors are: Mrs. George H. Hopper and Mrs. Oscar F. Keydel, Jr.

The Social Department, Mrs. Robert June, director, will be in charge of the luncheon.

MONAGHANS RETURN

Mrs. G. W. Monaghan returned on April 25 from New Mexico where she went some time ago to bring her invalid son, G. W. Monaghan, Jr., home from the military hospital where he had been convalescing from a serious illness.

May Festival to Be Held By Woods Community Club

The Grosse Pointe Woods Community Club will present its annual May Festival on Tuesday, May 7, at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the Mason School on Vernier road. Mrs. Walter Rees, recreational director, is arranging the program, which will feature the various activities of the club as carried on during the past year.

Edna Jose, ballet instructor, will present her pupils in various colorful routines including a baton novelty by individual members of the club.

Two fashion shows will be staged by members of Irene Sutton's millinery classes and the women who have studied dressmaking and tailoring under Mrs. N. W. Swain. Hats and costumes will be modeled by the makers.

Mrs. Bernie Falk, who directs the Tuesday Night Club for Old

Charles Appleton Meyers Wesson Seyburns' Guests

The Charles Appleton Meyers and their little daughter, Brook, are making an indefinite stay in the Pointe with Mrs. Meyers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesson Seyburn of East Jefferson avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Meyers have arrived from New York City following a motor trip to Salt Lake City where they attended the christening of Edward M. McIlvain II, their small nephew.

er Boys, is planning to have an exhibit of acrobatic and gymnastics, staged by his pupils.

There will also be a display of the work of the handicraft classes sponsored by the club, including knitting of all kinds, hand made rugs and jewelry made from shells.

Admission will be free and the public is invited.

Trombly Party Set for May 3

There will be a desert bridge and Bake Sale in the Trombly School gymnasium, starting at 1 o'clock tomorrow, Friday, afternoon. There will be table and door prizes.

A few tables are still available and reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Fred Price at LEnox 3748.

SAFETY DRAMATIZED

A new and dramatic program characterized by Donald Slutz, managing director of the Traffic Safety Association, as "a highly interesting and valuable contribution to the fight against traffic deaths and injuries," has been inaugurated by Station WWJ. Titled "The Voice of Carelessness," it may be heard at 5:25 p.m. each Tuesday and Thursday.

MORE DEVILTRY
The damage continues on the Country Day School property. Authorities reported that two more windows were broken this week and that about 50 flower pots had been smashed. Fingers are still being pointed at students from the high school next door.

LOST—ONE NIGHT STICK
It is reported that while one of the Farms police officers was twirling his night stick on duty at the temporary garbage dump off Chalfonte last week, the stick slipped out of his hand and plunged deep into the muck of the dump.

St. Paul League To Conduct Sale

The Women's Auxiliary League of St. Paul's Cathedral, Woodward avenue and Hancock, is holding its annual Rummage Sale on Friday May 3, from 10:30 a. m. until 5 p. m. in the Parish House. Mrs. Frank Quinnan, chairman, has collected many useful household articles, and there are fine bargains in clothing for children and adults. The public is welcome.

The myth that tuberculosis is nearing the point of being conquered has received two rude shocks of late. The first is the discovery of tens of thousands of unsuspected cases through mass X-ray surveys. The second is autopsy proof that the infection rate has not lessened proportionately to the decline in mortality.

Beauty Authority To Give Lecture

Gayelord Hauser, famous diet authority and author of the new best seller, Diet Does It, is coming to Detroit to give two free lectures in the Music Hall, 350 Madison avenue. The theme of his lecture this year is "Get Ready to Live."

Hauser believes that through the use of natural forces, proper diet, sunshine, air and water, one can achieve glowing health, vitality and wholesome beauty.

Several years ago he was associated with Miss Elizabeth Arden in establishing the world's first Beauty Farm on Miss Arden's famous Mainance estate in Maine. In addition to their regular beauty treatments Miss Arden's clients at Mainance were given special Hauser diets, which were highly successful in overcoming many beauty problems.

Some of the world's most famous beauties in the social world as well as the stage and screen are followers of the Hauser Design for Well-being, in fact, his clients embrace women from all walks of life—the housewife and mother being represented in large numbers. About one-third of the Hauser followers are men. It seems everyone from Shirley Temple to Eddie Rickenbacker and Bing Crosby has followed a Hauser diet.

On Monday evening, May 13 a woman will be chosen from volunteers in the audience for a complete transformation. She will be given a completely new costume, new coiffure and make-up with the compliments of the Hauser staff and be presented in her new personality on Tuesday evening, May 14.

Many Pointers Work In Cancer Campaign

Schools and Clubs Organize to Promote Three-fold Program Being Supported by Field Army

With a goal of $320,000 to reach, the Field Army of the American Cancer Society begins a two-day campaign of street solicitations in every section of the city, May 2 and 3. The money will be used in financing a three-point program of Education, Research and Service.

Of the 170,000 patients who died last year from cancer, fifty percent might have been saved had they learned to recognize early symptoms of cancer and report for treatment. To meet this need for education the Field Army maintains five detection centers in Detroit hospitals. More must be established in order to reach the great number of applicants.

The Field Army is also the main support of the Detroit Institute of Cancer Research, now engaged in studying the causes and treatment of cancer at the Medical School of Wayne University. The most powerful weapon against cancer is knowledge. The research work on this dread disease, which ranks second only to organic heart trouble in mortality rate, must go forward. Another part of Field Army work lies in its aid to patients. Bandages, dressings, medicines, Visiting Nurses service, and many other activities designed to ease the suffering of patients are grouped under the Patient's Aid Committee, headed by Mrs. Richard H. Webber.

Additional Money for Juvenile Home

Carl Schweikart, G. P. Township Supervisor and chairman of the Juvenile Detention Home committee of the County Board of Supervisors, appeared before the committee on Ways and Means Tuesday afternoon to urge the special appropriations he has asked to remedy conditions at the home. He had asked for an additional appropriation of $11,900 and he got it.

This additional sum will make it possible to have a full-time doctor at the home and a part time dentist. Provision is also made for a school teacher to tutor the wayward youngsters in their school work so that too much time will not be lost in their study schedules during the time of their detention.

There will also be suitable furniture in the way of comfortable chairs and tables for the library room. There is also an item of $500 for the purchase of books. Mr. Schweikart had remarked some time ago that in as far as he could observe the old library had consisted of comic papers from the Sunday newspapers.

The new p. y grounds will also receive additional equipment.

Kid Bits

By Betsy Bachmann

Did you hear about CHET SAMPSON's latest trip to Washington? Well, he left last Friday after school, and arrived home on Wednesday night, taking with him 14 lucky girls. Among the many exciting experiences that they will have to remember are a night at Annapolis, a session of Congress, and a meal in the Senators' Private Dining Room. But, not to get away from the usual rustic quality of Mr. Sampson's trips, the girls did prepare a few meals out.

Saturday, they met three old grads of G. P. H. S. in Washington, George Eversman, Bill Beaver and Martin Morsack. Peggy Terry, Carol Sharrer, Mary Antrim, Joy Heidrich, Bonnie Lee, Janis Tunbull, Margie Simon, Lesley Yeager, Ann Hammond, Ann Barker, Helen Waugaman, Barbara Smith, Mona Pich and Julie Ford were the travelers.

The "U-Y" Dance was held at the high school on Friday, sponsored by the United Youth of the Grosse Pointe Churches. One of the high-lights of the evening came with the cascading of the many-colored balloons to the floor, where there was a mad dash to find the one which bore a ticket for a prize. Dortha Davis and Ronnie Dykstra were the winners, and from then on they were envied by everyone else at the dance, for the prize was no less than an honest-to-goodness ORCHID! Seen at the dance were Nancy Hodges and Dave Bull, Barbara Stoerkel and Phil Skillman, Betty Auch and Don McPhail, Joann Morrison and Bill Beardslee, Sally Ives and Don Drader, Jane Sunday and Dave Savage, Debby Herschleb and George Heidt, Alice Sellers and Doug Griegar, Jennie VanBaclear and Bill Boakes, Joan Cope and Denny Thomas, Helene Himmilene and Bill Hooper, Di Faulk and Dick Wuerket, Bev Eidt and Tom Rice, Barb Golla and Bill Lord, Joanne Snuger and Dave Penniman, Doris Buser and Dan Beck, Evie Rogers and Jerry Thiede, Jane Osborn and Marty Beer, Donna Dahlen and Mike Chagot, Jack Leverenz, Phil Keith, Harry Garber, Bob Serge, Bob Sheridan, Malcom Sutherland, Joe Kennedy, and Dick Flannigan.

Where did they all go after the dance? Why, over to CHUCK MACKRIS' of course. Everyone over there was having a wonderful time, playing ping pong and drinking Pepsi. Kathy Schrenkhausen was with Chuck, Marge Bull with Dick Carter, Flo Michie with John Boydell, Pat Hollister with Peder Field, Betty Brooks with Jim Hild, and Donna Marie Cadieux with Chuck Dell.

Maybe you were over at BOB FISHER's on Friday night. Rumor had it that quite a few kids were seen at his house. His date was Janie Gehlert, Libby Powell was with Jim McNaughton, Sally Frost with Ed Baker, Joanne Gehlert with Bob Cudlip, Izie Baxter with Ted Osus, Peggy Jackson with Bob Smith, and Elaine Kramer with Harry Downer.

NORMA NEEB and BARBARA ORPHAL got together on Friday night and gave a dinner party at the Hawthorne House before going up to the Country Club to dance. Norma's date was Hill Pierce and Barbara was with Jim Vrooman. The others who were invited were Carol Grylla, Allen Bryant, Barb Bauman, Bill Pierce, Judy Gehlert, Bill Hester, Annie Candler, Gerry Langsein, Butch Edgar, Lloyd Murray, George Beattie and Pete Cook. After the dance the whole party went back to Norma's for cake and cake.

The LIGGETT SENIORS cooked up a mighty swell evening for themselves and their dates on Saturday night. The Prom this year was limited to seniors only, and it turned out to be quite a fancy affair. They started out the evening with a dinner at the Book, given by Jean Faye Thomas, then the dance at the home of Cynthia Lovejoy, and finally, an open house over at Kitty Carey's. In case you're wondering who was with whom, the date line reads as follows: Jean Faye Thomas and Ed McPhee, Joy Pickell and John Butterfield, Ann Baldwin and Pete Schmittidell, Phyllis Biggs and Bob Damschroder, Barbara Behr and Jerry Coughlin, Cynthia Lovejoy and Bob Halbrook, Barb Gallardo and Wally Peters, Jean Halliday and Burke Wilson, Elaine Kramer and Bob James, Margie Maxon and John Purdy, Kitty Carey and Don Duncan, Mona Lou Jacob and Bob Fink, and Hermine Roby and Ace Wilson.

Those who weren't included in the Liggett Prom could probably have been found at the Country Club on Saturday. If you were there you might have seen Joan Mulford and Art Marschner, Ann Wedthoff and Leigh Middleiditch, Dawn Osus and Sam Kilner, Peggy Barrie and Bob Fisher, Nancy Hall and Wally Guertler, Mary Whitehead and Tom Joyce, Sally Frost and Bob Smith, Sue Reekie and Gunny Jarre, Libby Powell and Eddie Baker, Martha Johnson and Bob Smith, Martha McClintock and Bob Kennedy, Shirley Jerome and Ted Kratzet, Lois McKinley and Jim Corfield, Carol McPherson and Bill Wood, Evelyn Osborn and Harry Downer, and Ann Stringer and Dave Robb.

Members of the Hunt Club gathered on Sunday morning for a breakfast ride, with an impromptu horse show afterward. Some of the girls who are almost always on hand for such events are Barbara Bull, Sue Essington, Toni and Donna DiMarco, Carol Stewart, Joan Zeigler, Janet Allen, Judy McKeel, Suzie Spurrier, and Joyce Mulkey.

Liggett and Country Day School are eagerly preparing for their May Day celebrations. According to the latest word, Margie Maxon has been chosen Queen for the Liggett festivities, and those attending her will be Beth McCracken, Joan Stanton, Joan Cochrane, Joan Jaekel, and members of the lower school. Joyce Mulkey will rule the day for the girls of Country Day, and her attendants will include Sally Frost, Martha Johnson, Gerlie Ford and Susan Wheelock.

Woods Church Women Elect

The reorganization meeting of the Womens Association of the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church was held on Friday night, April 26, at the Vernier School. Because of the wide interest in this new project, the meeting was well attended by both members of the church and the congregation.

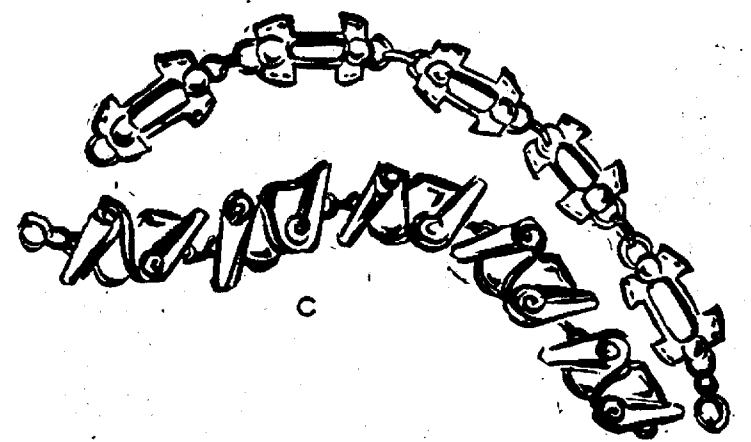

One of the features of the evening was the election of officers. They are as follows: Mrs. Gordon N. Cameron, president; Mrs. James Alexis, Mrs. Joseph Paxton, Mrs. Don Matzer, vice-presidents; Mrs. Ray DeGraw and Mrs. Arthur Hirt, secretaries; and Mrs. Russell Baude and Mrs. Maxwell Salisbury, treasurers.

The circle leaders chosen are the Mesdames Wm. Meecham, Kenneth Higgs, Ray Nelson, Harold Friewald, Kenneth W. Smith, William Stothers, John Rooks, and Wesley B. Orr, Jr.

Mrs. Frank Dettmer was guest soloist of the evening. She was accompanied by Mrs. Max Luce at the piano.

The executive board met at the home of the new president on Monday night to plan for the year. All women of this church are invited to take an active part in the development and work of the association.

who, where and whatnot

By Whoozit

Have seen the very attractive BETH DODGE recently wearing two goodlooking suits; one of navy with which she wears a striking "shocking pink" blouse, and a brown tweed enhanced by a blouse of Paisley silk patterned in browns and greens.

DOTTIE McGIVERIN'S open-crowned toast straw bonnet wreathed with field flowers, which echo the colors in a print dress is most becoming. A smart royal blue coat worn over this dress doesn't do her any harm either!

MRS. PAUL DEMING receives our vote for one of the best dressed ladies in Grosse Pointe, and I do not mean to limit her to G.P. As a matter of fact she could compete anywhere. I love the mustard colored feathered hat she uses with a Hunter's green silk dress.

MRS. WILSON MILLS wears the heavenly blue color of her eyes quite often and it is lovely with her coloring, but I also admire a navy blue costume with a dash of emerald green. Such a gracious lady, and I mean "lady."

Speaking of blue eyes, JO MORSE'S appear more "sapphiry" than ever when she wears that raspberry sport suit.

Saw the "inseparables" NAN BRIER FORD and NAN FORD MARTIN dashing about the market place, in the inevitable "tweeds" adopted by the young, old and inbetweeners. The former in a blue and white mixture, and the latter in a yellow and brown combination. Two of the most attractive of the young, young marrieds, with their good looks and better than that, their charming manner and manners.

HIT PERFORMANCES

BOB BROWN, editor of "Editor and Publisher" gave the Overseas Press Club the following advice: "Stand up to be seen, speak up to be heard, and sit down to be appreciated."

Adaptable dress suit with a zipper arranged extension whereby a tuxedo can be made into a formal suit are now in production; the idea has been patented.

HELEN HAYES was riding in an elevator with two men, when the elevator lurched and she was thrown against one of them. "I'm so sorry," she said. His companion smiled condescendingly and told her, "That's quite all right, lady. Now you can go home and tell all your friends that you touched the man who played 'Superman' in the movies." Such is fame!

PLEASANT RUMORS

PLEASANT RUMORS

Leaded casement windows on three sides of the living room of the GYRIL EDWARDS house are responsible for the brightness of the room. And the "summiness" is contributed by the lemon yellow curtains; the yellow china base of a lamp, and a stunning pewter bowl filled with daffodils when Nature permits. Of course Old Sol does his bit every now and then. The walls and carpet are of a soft moss green. There is so much that is unusual in the room, I scarcely know what to tell you about first.

Let's start with the white marble fireplace and mantel upon which are arranged several Staffordshire figurines. Before this is a loveseat, and two chairs covered with unglazed chintz; white background with flowers in pale purple and blue, with a predominating brown design.

An interesting antique checker board table opens to reveal a modern backgammon board. On one wall are hung Mrs. Edwards' collection of two fans. These are encased in semi-circular gilded wooden frames with glass fronts. One particularly beautiful fan is made of black tulle with Rose Pointe lace medallions and an ivory figure. Another is of rose taffeta with the figure of a girl painted upon the silk; and a tortoise shell frame has yellow silk with gold sequins forming a pattern.

A sofa covered with white brocade is flanked by two occasional chairs. These have been antiqued white and a smart looking green and white striped satin used for the upholstery.

The old mahogany breakfast room is filled with beautiful Staffordshire figures. Outstanding among these are the King and Queen of Sardinia and two men or horseback who turned out to be General French and General Kitchener.

I could tell you more, but space will not permit. I just hope that I have made you feel the charm of this "livable" living room.

Pointers of Interest

JOHN S. NEWBERRY, JR., OF LAKE SHORE ROAD

By OLIVE H. LARNED

Three years ago MR. JOHN S. NEWBERRY, JR., had never worked a DOUBLE-CROSTICS puzzle; now he composes them. One evening, while relaxing over his after dinner coffee with a friend, the latter, who is a great DOUBLE-CROSTICS fan, urged him to try his skill at one. That was the beginning of an absorbing interest. Of course, MR. NEWBERRY'S first and foremost interest is in art, as he is the CURATOR OF GRAPHIC ARTS at the DETROIT INSTITUTE OF ARTS.

Next week—Mrs. Forman Johnston

For the benefit of those unacquainted with DOUBLE-CROSTICS let me explain that a Double-Crostic resembles a cross word puzzle insofar as it has empty squares to be filled in, and definitions such as "seeming; not real; half way"; in five letters. Any resemblance to crossword puzzles ceases there. Solving a Double-Crostic gives you a literary quotation, together with the names of the author and the book or poem quoted. Lack of space prevents my going further into the mechanics of solving a Double-Crostic, but if you are interested you will find them published weekly in the "Saturday Review of Literature," and there are many books available in the shops.

MR. NEWBERRY started his career as a Double-Crostic addict by subscribing to this magazine. After reading an article in the "New Yorker" about Mrs. Elizabeth Kingsley, the inventor of the Double-Crostic, he decided to try his hand at creating one. One led to another. Mr. Newberry said: "It's just like eating peanuts!" So he passed them among his friends and finally sent them on to Mrs. Kingsley. She wrote back that they were extremely well done; but as the "Saturday Review of Literature" holds a copyright on "Double-Crostics" no one else can call puzzles by that name nor publish them as such. The solving of the puzzles requires the use of reference books and Mrs. Kingsley feels Double-Crostics are a great means of education and growth in knowledge.

She mentioned in her column that Mr. Newberry composed Double-Crostics and as a result he received letters from 150 other "Crostic" fans requesting his puzzles. These he sends out regularly and in return has received many letters and gifts including 10 lbs. of pecans (which I had been writing this article then), a hearth brush, and boxes of candy.

Among the prominent people with whom he exchanges letters and to whom he sends puzzles are EX-AMBASSADOR GREW, KENNETH ROBERTS, GELETT BURGESS, WILL IRWIN, LEONARD BERNSTEIN and RUTH MOSHER PLACE. During the war he sent puzzles to many service men and he is continuing to send them to veterans in the hospitals.

Mrs. Kingsley also granted permission for the publishing of a Double-Crostic created by Mr. Newberry for the "Bulletin" of The Garden Club of America employing only horticultural terms. Mr. Newberry offered a prize to the person first solving the puzzle.

One of his "followers," a gentleman of ninety years, claims that he works the puzzles without touching pencil to paper. I dislike doubting his veracity, but if he does, he's a better man than I!

Mr. Newberry's Christmas cards are Double-Crostics containing his Christmas wish to his friends. He has been shown all over Europe and America, and many cities and museums are fortunate possessors of fine examples of his great art.

Needless to say a great deal of time, energy and money is spent in producing these puzzles for Mr. Newberry's and others pleasure. It is completely philanthropic on his part, but he says that he enjoys it so much and receives so many appreciative letters that he is more than repaid.

Upon being asked his recommendation for beginners he suggested MRS. KINGSLEY'S book, "Invitation to Double-Crostics." He laughingly added, "Don't start unless you're prepared to go on, as there's no 'Lost Weekend' about Double-Crostics. They're an all time urge!"

Alger House Museum Notes

Carl Milles, whose real name is Carl Emil Wilhelm Anderson, was born at Lagga, Upsala, Sweden, June 23, 1875. Building dams, miniature fountains, and whittling small figures of animals were among his childhood pastimes. His mother died early and, when he was ten, he was sent to the Jacob School in Stockholm. At seventeen, he left school to become an apprentice to a cabinet maker.

Near the shop was the studio of Borjeson, the Swedish sculptor, and his interest was so aroused that he attended the evening class at the Technical School. Very soon he won the Swedish Arts and Crafts Society Award. Two forces were pulling him: sculpture and his love of the sea. In company with a family friend he left for Marseilles by way of Paris. In Paris the sculptor was stronger than the sailor, and he stayed on. His first salon showing was in 1899. He possessed a great love of nature and animal life and this was constantly being thwarted by living in the city.

In 1904 he married Olga Grammer, young Austrian painter whom he had met in Paris. He had worked so constantly that he was forced to go to Italy to rest, but the love for Italian art spurred him on. In 1908 he returned to Sweden and established himself in a villa on the cliffs of Lidingsö. There he was able to express the unity of sculpture with nature. He changed from a pictorial, natural style to monumental expressionism.

The fountain piece, called "Sunglitter," was executed in bronze in 1918. It is 2 feet 8 inches in height. It is well placed at Alger House Museum, where the golden sun rays can dance and play with the mermaid and the dolphin. His Scandinavian ancestry is visible in his sculpture; there is a joyous manifestation of life but well disciplined, and a great sense of proportion. There is a deep and quiet understanding of human experience and a simplicity born of knowledge of great values. There is a play of sunlight and shadow in well constructed design. One can feel the surge of the waves as the dolphin rides them, and the power of the mermaid as she sails.

In 1931, Milles accepted an offer at Cranbrook. His works have been shown all over Europe and America, and many cities and museums are fortunate possessors of fine examples of his great art.

(This was playing in London, the Lunts received a letter from the King of England expressing his regrets that the royal family could not attend their magnificent performance, due to an old law which forbade their attending a play dealing with adultery. "State of the Union" opened in Detroit and I hope that you saw it, as it is considered one of the best plays in New York now.

If you want music try "Carousel," "Oklahoma," "Show Boat," "Song of Norway" and "Billie Holiday Baby," "Annie Get Your Gun" opened April 25 and should be a winner judging from the producers, stars, music, lyric and book writers.

When it comes to papers, my dear E.M.T. My heart belongs to the Grosse Pointe News. The reasons why you may readily see, If from cover to cover you'll only peruse!

Dear Mrs. Anthony: If possible, would you please print the rest of this poem and tell me who wrote it? "I know from whence I spring Insatiable as a flame, I glow and consume myself, All I touch flashes into fire, All I leave is a charred remnant. Such by nature am I flame." Thank you so much for your trouble.

C.C. "Nobody knows the trouble I've had," I have searched every available book on poetry to no avail. I am so sorry not to be able to help you. Perhaps it was published in some recent magazine as it seems to be modern verse, and if so, would not appear in any present anthology. If any reader can supply the requested information, please do let me know as Mrs. Anthony regrets deeply her inability in the matter.

Address all communications for this column to Mrs. Anthony, Grosse Pointe News, 99 Kercheval Avenue, Grosse Pointe Farms 30, Michigan.

Pointe Counter Points

by OLIVE H. LARNED

NYLON for men in the form of raincoats can be found at PROPER'S. Seems a shame, girls, but maybe that's not the nylon used to make stockings, I wouldn't know! Anyway, the men have to have a break sometimes and this is the time. These raincoats are light weight, grey in color, and are $25. There are other nice models from $15.75. Cotton gabardines, ZELAN CLOTH (if you know what that is! I didn't, and MR. PROPER gave me the low down. It's like cotton broadcloth, if you're interested.) TACKLE TWILL, made of the same yarn as football pants only reversed so that the shiny side is on the inside. That's a break for the ladies as we wouldn't want the men to outshine us, would we?

"THEY" say that there is nothing new under the sun, but MR. DE PETRIS can disprove that theory. He is famous for his hybrid chrysanthemums, which are shipped all over the U. S. and Canada. Of course he doesn't ship them all away; you are fortunate to be able to get them at his shop on Grosse Pointe Boulevard. He has several hundred seedlings growing at all times; these are the result of years of careful hybridization. From these, a minimum amount of varieties are chosen and grown for at least two years and checked constantly for any weakness such as poor foliage, weak stems, flower necks and of course hardness. This explains why DE PETRIS HYBRIDS are the finest hardy garden chrysanthemums in existence today. That's what the book says and it certainly makes sense to me. All I can say is that I'm glad they don't check children that carefully; I'm afraid that I'd have been discarded long ago. My "flower neck" would never have passed the test!

BLANCHE, CYRIL, MATHILDA, BETTY, ONALEE and WILLMA—put them all together, mix well, but don't stir them up! Add a dash of spice, a touch of fun, lots of service, enough courtesy and quantities of ability and what do you get? Ah my pretties, it isn't a plum pudding! But it is a hairdressing establishment on Fisher road, known as "BLANCHE AND CYRIL'S," due to the owners' first names. They all are excellent hairdressers, except MATHILDA, who specializes in manicuring, pedicuring, and removing of objectionable hair. As a matter of fact all but the owners give manicures and arches. CYRIL handles most of the hair cutting, and they all give "permanents." Any one of them can turn out a "halfy hair do" for any one of you. In addition, if you're a cross word puzzle addict you and BLANCHE will be as one!

Now is the time for all good housekeepers to put the moths and the buffalo bugs on a diet of total abstinence. And, there is only one sure way of doing so. That is to store your garments and furs. QUEEN CLEANERS have a GUARANTEED cold storage. Don't kid yourself that cleaning and placing your clothes in moth proof bags will protect them. I've been cured of any such wishful thinking by opening said moth proof bag after the clean garment has been carefully sealed within it and found that it could be used as a sieve. Men who are ably qualified in the cleaning of furniture have returned from cleaning the Nazis and the Japs to their former more pleasant cleaning for QUEEN CLEANERS. The furniture is taken to the cleaners, but you aren't! For instance, davenport comes home like new for $12 and chairs for $4 and up, depending on the amount of upholstery. All I can say is let's keep this thing clean! And do lay your treasures away where moths cannot corrupt.

You have heard that "all good things come to an end," but that isn't true. HAWTHORNE HOUSE, certainly a good thing, is expanding. They are adding No. 9 KERCHEVAL to their present abode at No. 11 and intend to offer their baked goods there. You may remember MRS. DE NEFF'S cousin, HELEN PARSONS, who so ably assisted them when they owned HAWTHORNE HOUSE. Now she is going to lend a helping hand to the Manninos, and MRS. SERAS; the present owners, in organizing the BAKERY DEPARTMENT. They will have all kinds of baked goods: cakes, cookies, French pastries, and special one-crust pies, or soft pies if you prefer that appellation. The name is not important but the quality is, and I can assure you that the excellent HAWTHORNE HOUSE formulas, the original ones, are being used in the baking of all these goodies.

Speaking of quality and values remaining the same, PONGRACZ JEWELERS tell me that despite the constantly rising prices of diamonds they still have them in the low price range. Also the "TRAUB ORANGE BLOSSOM" rings, wedding and engagement, are as beautiful and of the same quality as ever. I hope that you aren't as foggy as I was, until MR. PONGRACZ enlightened me about these "TRAUB ORANGE BLOSSOM" rings. I thought that they were an exclusive with a store in Detroit, but not at all. You can get yours right here in Grosse Pointe at PONGRACZ JEWELERS. Diamond rings, including all taxes (I dislike mentioning such matters) can be yours for $150 up to $1500 and oh, how proud your lady will be!

KOPP'S PHARMACY reminded me that MOTHER'S DAY comes around this year on May 12 and that they are well prepared in advance. They have many and varied gifts to intrigue the most discriminating shoppers. That reads like advertising copy to me, I hope not to you! Among their enticing wares you'll find "Herb Farm" products. The very popular "Night Scented Stock" (a floral scent, not a stock market quotation) may be had in sachets, sachet powder, soaps, talc, dusting powder, bath essence, cologne and perfume. A very special package called "Blessed Event" is most appealing; a little cradle filled with delights for Mother and her very special package, be it boy or girl.

How would you feel if you had had to face the wintry blasts, the slush and snow without the protection of an overcoat, and had salt so deeply imbedded in your paint job that you had lost your fine finish? You'd feel just the way the automobiles do and that's not sorry! That salt treatment may be all right in conjunction with a steam bath, but it's degrading to the chromium. I asked "DOC" at the KERCHEVAL-CADIEUX SERVICE STATION if he or his competitors were responsible for the placing of the salt on the streets during the winter. They could certainly write it down as a business promoter. But he assures me that it is purely a protective measure taken by our police departments, to keep us from skidding. So I guess that we'll have to be grateful for that, and see that our cars are given a body massage at the earliest moment. "SIMONIZING" is your safest insurance for long life for the old car's body, and if you have a new car, waxing is a "must" to insure its keeping up a good front.

Park Will Grab Unlicensed Dogs

Police Chief Louwers of the Park is about to bear down on the tardy dog owners who have not yet taken out their licenses for this year. Normally the Park issues 1,000 licenses. They have been due since April 1, but to date only about half this number have applied, and Louwers says there are no fewer dogs in the Park than formerly.

The department is being equipped with a dog wagon which will facilitate the work of gathering in the unlicensed animals and also largely relieve the regular police of the nuisance of occasionally bringing in an animal in the police patrol. It will also lessen the number of complaints made by owners of dogs who have criticized the method of their handling.

Financial Aid for Single Wounded Veterans Sought

Mrs. Glenn Anderson addressed the Woman's Republican Club of Grosse Pointe Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of Mrs. John Ford, on the plight of the wounded service men who are chronic paralytics as the result of wounds they received in the war. The purpose is to arouse interest, particularly in the inadequate financial provision that has been made for single men.

Mrs. Anderson's deep interest in the wounded men at the Percy Jones Hospital early brought to her attention the lot of the single men who will, in most cases, be confined in wheel chairs for the rest of their lives in some hospital the Government has provided for them.

Last week she flew to Chicago to attend a meeting with a group of Congressmen whose interest has been directed to these cases. The injustice meted out to the single men is seen in the provision of only $20 per month. Out of this they must provide their own clothing and such minor or personal expenses arising over and above their hospital care.

If any of these cases are fortunate enough to have family dependents, their pension is increased to $200 per month with an additional $100 per month for attendants' service.

The attention of Congressman Rabaut has been brought to these cases and while he was at first inclined to accept the provision made for them by the Veterans' Administration, when he learned the full measure of the injustice done the single men, he promised to enlist himself actively in their behalf. There are only 1500 such single men cases in the entire country and their adequate care, Mrs. Anderson claims, should not be a too great additional burden for the pension rolls.

Veterans Set For Poppy Sale

Both of the Pointe veterans posts are making extensive preparations to carry through the annual Poppy Day sale on a big scale.

The American Legion Poppy Day committee is headed by Elmer Ulrich and the Alger Post V.F.W. has as co-chairmen George J. Tilton, Sr., and Thomas Reed.

The sale will be on May 23. Commander Julius Stork, of the Alger Post says in a statement he has prepared for public information in advance of the event, that the Veterans of Foreign Wars are making 20 million poppies to be sold throughout the Nation prior to Memorial Day.

The flowers are made by disabled veterans of both World Wars in Veterans Administration hospitals. The making of these flowers by the injured men has a double significance in that the men are paid for their work, so being given a chance to earn money, and the work itself is commended by the highest medical authority as a valuable form of occupational therapy.

The entire proceeds of the collection in both the case of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Legion are channelled back to the aid of the veterans and their families. In both instances a certain percentage of the gross proceeds are allocated to pay the veterans who made the poppies. In the case of the Foreign War veterans a percentage of their collection goes to the maintenance of the National Home at Eaton Rapids, Michigan, and the rest to family welfare work among the needy members.

The local post of Foreign War veterans has set a goal of 10,000 poppies for its day's sale.

Traffic Injuries Show Big Jump

You can add 2,200 to last year's total of 11,224 Detroiters injured in traffic accidents and get a conservative estimate of the 1946 injury toll, the Traffic Safety Association warned today after an analysis of the city's first quarter accident experience.

Or—stated another way—the chance that you personally will be a victim has increased 21 per cent.

During January, February and March, Detroiters were injured at a rate of 33 a day, six more than the 1945 average for the same period. Non-injury accidents climbed from an average of 73 to 87 every 24 hours.

According to the Association, the Detroit fatality record, while extremely gratifying, is apt to be misleading. With traffic deaths nationally up approximately 35 per cent over 1945, Detroit is running neck and neck with its last year's experience. But, year in and year out, fatalities occur in a ratio of 1 to 35 with injury accidents and if injuries continue at their present rate an increase in deaths is practically inevitable.

It would be wise, the Association advises, for Detroiters, both drivers and pedestrians, to keep in mind that the volume of traffic is heavier today than it was back in the peak travel year of 1941, this despite the fact that there are fewer automobiles.

Add this increased traffic to old, mechanically-worn, accident-prone cars and the necessity of increased law observance and caution is apparent.

Statement Issued by Edison On Coal Shortage Situation

Angus D. McLay, vice-president and sales manager of Detroit Edison, has issued the following statement:

"We are issuing this statement because of several press-and-customer inquiries about the present coal shortage and how it may affect Detroit Edison customers. The questions usually asked are: How many day's supply of coal do you have and when and how will electric service have to be reduced?"

"Whether and how much electric service is restricted depends on how long the coal strike lasts, on the amount of coal that we have and on when our larger industrial customers in this area begin to shut down or reduce operations because they lack process coal and raw materials such as steel.

"Such shutdowns are bad news for the area but they will decrease the use of industrial electric power and so stretch out the electric-coal supply for household and others uses. Until this situation is cleared, we cannot give a true or very significant estimate as to the days supply of coal. We have been talking to these larger industrial users so as to better estimate the coal situation and to enlist their help in all practical conservation of the electric-coal supply.

"If it becomes necessary we would not hesitate to ask industry to shut down to avoid any interruption of essential services vital to health and safety. That time has not yet arrived. Before it does we will also ask for the elimination of commercial, display and other lighting such as was done in the wartime brown-out. Meanwhile any voluntary reduction of electrical use will help some and as soon as it appears that drastic cuts in electrical use are necessary, our customers will be advised.

"While there is cause for concern, we are doing all we can to meet this situation. The purpose of this statement is to inform but not alarm our customers. We plan now to issue another statement on the matter during the week of May 6 unless by that time the strike has been settled and coal shipments are again moving."

Lot Owner Foresees All-Basement House

Thomas Dickson is afraid that by the time he gets around to building on lots he owns on Roll and just off Bournemouth, most of the structure will be basement. Dickson complained to Farms police on April 30 that someone has been hauling loads of black dirt away from the property.

Of the 48 states, Michigan is fourteenth in deaths from tuberculosis. In 1944 the total U. S. tuberculosis deaths was 54,123.

MORE HUB CAPS VANISH

J. P. McKinley of 41 Colonial road, reported to Farms police on April 29 that someone had stolen the hubcaps from his car while it was parked outside of the Punch and Judy Theater the night before.

SIGNS REMOVED

Three house signs were taken from the Thrall property at 388 Lake Shore road, Farms police were notified on April 28. One was removed from a brick pillar on the grounds.

From one Detroit Edison power plant there stretches underground for seven and one-half miles into the heart of industrial Detroit a seven-inch steel pipe. In this pipe, around a cable made up of three copper wires the size of your thumb, nitrogen gas is compressed at 200 pounds per square inch. Through this cable, night and day, flows 100,000 horsepower.

It is the only instance where the total output of one generator is carried in a single high-voltage cable to a center of electrical use miles away.

There is nothing else like it in the world.

The pipe protects the cable from outside damage. The gas pressure keeps the 120,000 volts from destroying the cable insulation. So rugged and reliable is this transmission system that no alternate stand-by cable facilities are necessary. The loss of power over the seven-and-one-half-mile course is less than one per cent.

Construction of this cable was a job of Detroit Edison pioneering. It is known in the industry as the "SMD" cable because, particularly, it was an accomplishment that is credited to Samuel M. Dean, chief engineer of the system.

It was another Edison FIRST brought about by constant devotion to the task of giving Edison customers dependable electric service at low cost.

Jesus ordained twelve, that they should be with Him, and that He might send them forth to preach.

Jesus summoned Peter, Simon, and James (and John), sons of Zebedee, He named them, saying, "Be ye fishers of men."

John told Jesus that he had forbidden a man to cast out devils, in His name, and Jesus rebuked John.

MASON SCHOOL

Many of the Junior Audubon Club members of Mason School attended the Junior Audubon Rally at the Rackham building on April 12. The national representative, Bert Harwell, presented the second award to Mrs. Hazel Messner, leader of the Junior Audubon Club of Mason School. The award was a set of six records which contain recordings of the songs of 72 different birds. The award was won through nature activities experienced in the third grade. These activities included field trips in which birds, plants, flowers, and insects were observed. On these trips many common nature specimens were collected and studied in the classroom.

One of the most exciting highlights of the year was the presentation of a gift by the group to the school science museum. This gift was the skin of a short eared owl which was prepared for laboratory study by the leader. Six other birds which had been found dead were also prepared and presented to the museum.

The display case in the hall on the second floor at Mason is a popular place at present. Various groups of children may be seen gathered about the case finding out which groups have cooperated most with the Mason School Council.

The Mason School Council was organized this year to formulate rules and policies for the children better and safer conduct during work and play. Each group is represented in the council by two representatives who have been elected by their group. Awards have been given to the classes that have proved themselves worthy of them by practicing very good citizenship.

The names of the members of the council are also on display in the show case as well as the awards.

The children in Rooms 107 and 108 at Mason were visited by Daisy and her family just before Easter recess. Daisy happened to be a large American Flemish rabbit. Her family of eight were only ten days old. The children were delighted with the visit which was made possible through the kindness of Mrs. DeCloedt, Eddy and Peter's mother.

vided by the school district from these two schools to schools six miles away in the lower end of our school district.

7. All available school space in the lower end of the school district will be utilized during the coming year by further transportation from this area.

8. Basement has been converted into classrooms at Vernier.

9. The Vernier district line has been moved twice in order to adjust to population.

10. Continued growth of school population in the area, even during the war, in spite of the fact that building ceased, promises to accelerate the elementary levels.

11. There is no outlook for modifications, alterations, transportation or expediencies to provide for the overflow and continued increase of school population than to build.

12. During the war, while these expediencies were being made, the school district and community made definite plans for building permanently to relieve this congestion as follows:

a. School site purchases for location of elementary schools were carried out and completed.

b. Architects were employed to design specifically two buildings to relieve congestion in the area. Throughout the war period, and since then, plans and specifications have been completed and submitted to the Michigan State Planning Commission and to the School Plant Division of the Department of Public Instruction totaling approximately $2,000,000 in costs.

c. Application is being made herewith for permission to enter construction stage of an 18-classroom wing of these proposed buildings.

d. On March 4, 1946 the electors of the school district voted an approval of a plan for construction of the above proposed plan. The community voted to support this financial program on the assumption that construction on this wing would probably be underway during the summer of 1946, if materials and labor were available. It is doubtful whether the community would have approved this financial program if it had not anticipated some relief at a very early date.

Perennials Need Care in Spring

To control insects, improve growth and insure more blooms, care for your perennials now. All dead branches and plant stalks should be cleaned out of borders and beds of perennials according to C. E. Wildon, horticulturist at Michigan State College.

This is important, he says, for thick-stemmed plants such as peonies, hollyhocks and delphiniums because cane borers, corn borers and similar insects overwinter in the dead stalks. With coming of spring, these insects become active and seek the new young plant growth. Often they come into a garden from surrounding weed patches. It is advisable to clean these surrounding areas in the same manner. Burn trimmed stalks to kill the insects.

Control weeds by cultivation. Divide clumps of old perennials before growth starts or before they have more than three or four inches of growth. A few kinds, however, should not be disturbed at this time. These include peonies, lily of the valley, iris, bleeding heart, primroses, oriental poppies, doricornis and madonna lilies. All of these except peonies are better divided and transplanted in August. Peonies should be transplanted about mid-September.

The season of growth of perennial phlox can be extended by cutting the growth back two-thirds in late June.

Water requirements for plants need as careful watching now as in mid-summer. A spell of warm, dry windy weather may dry the soil excessively and plants will die.

TROMBLY SCHOOL

For their parents and friends, several of the early elementary groups at Trombly School have been giving auditorium programs recently.

Miss Olga Martin's 2A-3B group gave a program as a summarization of the work covered in the social studies unit, "The Postman." Chuck Norris stood in the doorway of the Centerville Post Office and did the announcing. Bruce Rockwell, Chuck Norris, Jeff Barry and John Stroh gave reports about Eskimo, the Eskimo dog and mail delivery in the snowy North. Peter Huestis and Alice Lynn Martin gave reports about the swimming postmen on the South Sea Islands. Bill Rieger and Alice Jane Moore gave reports about the Pony Express and Buffalo Bill.

Other children who participated in the program were: Gail Lawrence, Carolyn Moody, Martha Haye, Tom Knapp, Mary Ogden, Irene Stempfle, and Wanda Walgenbach.

Miss Mary Gargan's 2B-2A group gave a program entitled, "The Country Bunny and The Gold Shoes." Cindy Ramer was the interpreter. Betsy Davidow played the part of the Country Bunny. Ella Mae Harrison was the Mother Bunny and Brian Brigham played Grandfather Rabbit. Jack Rabbits were: Wendell Frank, John Vatis, and Bill Carnegie.

White Rabbits were: Beverly Jensen and Nancy Hayes. Baby Rabbits were: Harold Joerin, Denise Sovanin, Betty Pernohis, Reggie Hudwin, Wendell Faulk, Steve Horn, Beverly Jensen, Kirk Lamkins, Jerry Tobler and Mary Ann Ray.

Mrs. Jean Frasier's 3A class gave a program based on a social studies unit on Egypt. Tommy White was the announcer. Reports on Egypt were given by Mitze Speier, David Holihan, David Reimer, and Marcia Murphy. Original poems were read by Bobby Schreiber and Mae Huestis. An original play entitled "An American Tourist Goes to Egypt," was written and played by: Patsy Miller, Phil Hutchins, Roberta Stevens, Carole Stoneking, and Dennis McGinty.

Cleanup Week Also Brings Protection Against Fires

There is more than pride in cleanliness—it is safety. Fire Chief Rector of Grosse Pointe Park points out.

In a direct appeal to housewives, he urged them to marshal the family into a clean-up, fix-up and repair "task force" to make this year's Spring Clean-up Campaign a concerted drive against fire hazards.

"If each housewife would take charge of the Clean-up Campaign, we not only would have the cleanest city, but the safest city in which to live," he asserted.

Half of all fires in the nation occur in homes, Chief Rector said, quoting figures of the National Fire Protection Association. "When you stop to think that over, then you realize how important it is to wipe out the

is largely a question of luck in finding the piggies who want the garbage. All of the garbage from the Pointe, with the exception of that of the Shores, goes to feed pigs. This, too, is a procedure which is fast coming under the ban of health authorities throughout the country.

The City, however, has an off-set in its waste disposal item in the reduction plant, it operates at Warren and Madison. Neil Blondell, the figure man for the City government, takes pride in the profit he has been able to show for a number of years in the operation of the reduction plant. Here, all salvageable materials are reclaimed and a considerable sum accrues each year from this source.

The city last year took $16,514 at the reduction plant. This was after paying school children, Boy Scouts and kindred organizations $2,969.53 for waste paper and other materials they brought in and allowing for the extra expense that would have been incurred if it had to be hauled and destroyed.

This brought down the total expenses of the highway department, including the collection of ashes down to approximately $40,000 for the year.

A summary of these figures for the four villages and the city shows that there was spent for the disposal of garbage and rubbish about $163,000 annually. It is quite possible that in some cases the figures included ash disposal.

This, however, is a minor item on the haulage score because of the nearer location of the dumping grounds.

Former Pointe
Pastor Returns

Dr. Augustus P. Reccord, former minister of the Detroit Unitarian Church and minister emeritus of the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church, will be guest speaker at the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church on Sunday, May 5.

Dr. Reccord, though retired a few years ago, has been very active in denominational affairs. He has been preaching in many of the Unitarian churches in Canada and the United States, and has also been active in broadcasting.

Dr. and Mrs. Reccord are being lavishly entertained by their many Detroit and Grosse Pointe friends.

Dr. Reccord will play a prominent part in the annual meetings of the American Unitarian Association to be held in Boston the week of May 19, after which Mrs. Reccord and he will go to their summer home in Vermont.

When we deal with the Old Adam we'll be on the Eve of a new age.

Hear Marauder
In Beauty Plant

Peter Wilhelmson, the night watchman at the Beauty Counter establishment on Mack avenue, noticed a customary light was out when he reported for duty in the evening on Tuesday night.

As he entered the Cadieu side he noticed it came on again. At the same moment he heard footsteps in a remote part of the interior and a moment later a door slammed.

He called the police and examination revealed that a marauder had been within. The return of the watchman a little earlier than schedule had apparently interrupted a nocturnal visitor. The watchman could not tell whether or not anything had been stolen.

Thrift Shop Does Big Job Helping Neighborhood Club

How many Pointers realize that the Neighborhood Club, that community center which gives so much to residents of this area, would have a tough time without the Neighborhood Thrift Shop, that little establishment next door?

Every cent which the Thrift Shop makes above overhead goes to keep the club operating. It has averaged $410 per month for this purpose. There are only three paid workers and everyone else connected with the Shop is a volunteer.

The Shop is kept going by donations and profits from sale of the many articles which can be found there. And most everything can be found there, clothing, bric-a-brac, china, books, toys, just to mention a few.

Many a veteran has been able to get a suit of civilian clothes through the Thrift Shop. Clothes in good condition may be either donated or taken to the Shop for sale under an arrangement whereby the Shop keeps a 30 per cent commission.

The Shop has given $500 every year to the Red Cross drives. It gave the Neighborhood Club an extra $1000 to build a new tennis court. It has contributed to foreign relief in many forms and has taken care of needy cases referred to it by the club.

The Shop is now in the midst of its spring drive for donations of all kinds. Pointers are asked to remember the Shop when they are cleaning out their attics and getting rid of things around the house. By supporting the Shop, Pointers support the Neighborhood Club.

First Tulip Time Since War To Be Held in Holland, Mich.

For the first time since Pearl Harbor the picturesque and utterly enchanting town of Holland will stage its Tulip Time this year, the dates May 15 through May 18. Not only will Holland have its brilliant pageantry of flowers, but it will be celebrating the ninety-ninth anniversary of the arrival in Michigan of saintly Albertus Christian Van Raalte and his Netherlands.

The show this year will be put on in a slightly different manner, in that it will open on a Wednesday and close with Saturday night, but the dates—May 15 through May 18—are late enough in the Spring that the tulips will be at their best, not only the long expanses of the blooms in the downtown areas and in the downtown parks, but in the fields with their acres of the brilliant blossoms.

The festival will officially begin at 2:30 p. m. on Wednesday with the traditional scrubbing of the streets, a tradition going back to old days in the Netherlands when the towns literally scrubbed the streets in preparation for the arrival of distinguished visitors.

In the festival ceremony Dutch men and women in authentic Dutch costumes, many of them brought from the Netherlands, actually scrub the streets with great brooms and brushes. Immediately following the scrubbing of the streets the town crier, in authentic costume and carrying an authentic crier's bell from the Netherlands, parades the main street proclaiming the festival.

On Wednesday evening there will be Dutch dancing and musical programs, tours of the tulip farms and hours spent in exploring the magnificent Netherlands Museum, in which are literally thousands of intriguing exhibits telling the story of the pioneers and portraying life and customs in the Netherlands and in the Dutch possessions overseas.

Thursday will be Children's Day, with costume parades, a parade of flower floats and a wide exposition of many things traditionally Dutch, including dog-drawn milk carts, the costumed flower girls and the costumed water carriers with ancient yokes across their shoulders. In the evening, in Riverview Park, there will be more of music, with present plans calling for high school and college bands from all over Michigan, the same bands which will appear in the Band Review and parades on Saturday.

Friday will be Veterans' Day with military pageantry and memorial services for the Holland men who died in four wars. Beginning with the Civil War, Holland patriots have died in every struggle to preserve the freedom the Dutch so love. It is planned to have Governor Harry Kelly and other state officials, as well as representatives of the Netherlands government in Holland for that day. That night there will be staged the traditional Music Festival, in which visiting bands, choral groups and soloists will present a full program, with a great deal of traditional Dutch music.

Saturday at 2:30 p. m. the washing of the streets will be repeated, followed by a review of all the bands, after which will come the traditional Tulip Time Parade, one of the most colorful of all the features, for in that parade appear hundreds of Dutch men, women and children in authentic Dutch costumes, most of them from the mother country. It is during this afternoon that the visitor sees the picturesque klompen dancers, the wooden shoe dancers who dance the old dances brought to the new world from the Netherlands.

Calvary Church Buys Parsonage

While awaiting completion of the several units included in its long term building program planned for the 495 ft. frontage on Vernier and Mack, Calvary Lutheran Church, Grosse Pointe Woods, has purchased a temporary residence at 1702 Stanhope to house its pastor.

The Rev. Walter J. Geffert, with his wife and two sons, have been residing at 1539 Huntington since their arrival in October from Kingfisher, Oklahoma. Further developments in the building program will highlight the monthly meeting of the men of the congregation of Calvary Lutheran Church, Grosse Pointe Woods, Tuesday evening, May 7, at 8 p. m. The architect's preliminary sketches and layouts, adaptable to the church's property on Vernier will be presented.

At the present time there is no cure for tuberculosis. However, much research in that direction is being carried forward.

ODD FACT
A catfish 3,500 years old was recently bought by a Southern university from Egypt, where it had been found, mummified and wrapped in linen, in an ancient tomb.

Pointe Tennis Team Keeps Five Year Record Intact

Net Stars Take 54th in Row In Conquering Birmingham

Coach Westerville's Boys Capture 78 to 91 Games in Match to Continue Five Year Streak

By FRED RUNNELLS

Grosse Pointe's amazing tennis team continued its consecutive winning streak started five seasons ago by defeating Birmingham, 7-0, to win its 54th straight scheduled tennis match.

Displaying power to burn, the Blue Devils breezed through the match in championship style winning 78 of the 91 games in the match.

Butch Skau started the victory ball rolling when he defeated Dick Adams 6-1, 6-1 in the number one singles match. An Jemel followed up in the number two match defeating Dick Holstead, 6-0, 6-1. Bob King matched Skau's feat by whipping Harris Jackson, 6-1, 6-1 while Andy Creamer had little trouble disposing of Edgar Bealy in the number four singles, 6-0, 6-1.

The number one doubles team of Paul Grubbs and Tom Willson scored a smashing 6-1, 6-1 victory over John Bones and Bob Daeschner. The two Don's Guy and Broadbridge, won their first match in varsity competition when they defeated Ted Land and Ralph Dunbar, 6-0, 6-2. Ray Schuman and Bill Fenoyer lowered the boom in the closing contest, on Pete Whitlow and Dave Ballentine, 6-1, 6-2.

The team as a whole looks excellent but Coach Larry Westerville is still looking for another top notch doubles team because Paul Grubbs is the only veteran from last year's championship team and to let the doubles situation continue as it is might prove disastrous to the amazing winning streak when the team meets some of its stronger opponents.

Westerville says, "First year boys will be brought up to the varsity in an effort to find better material for the doubles combinations I am looking for."

The singles situation is a head pipe cinch to go through the season undefeated because of the five singles players it is impossible to point out the best.

The five are Butch Skau, Andy Creamer, Jim Kennedy, Bob King and Andy Creamer. Anyone of them can take over the number one spot and become a consistent winner. That is how tough the competition is among the players on the Grosse Pointe tennis squad.

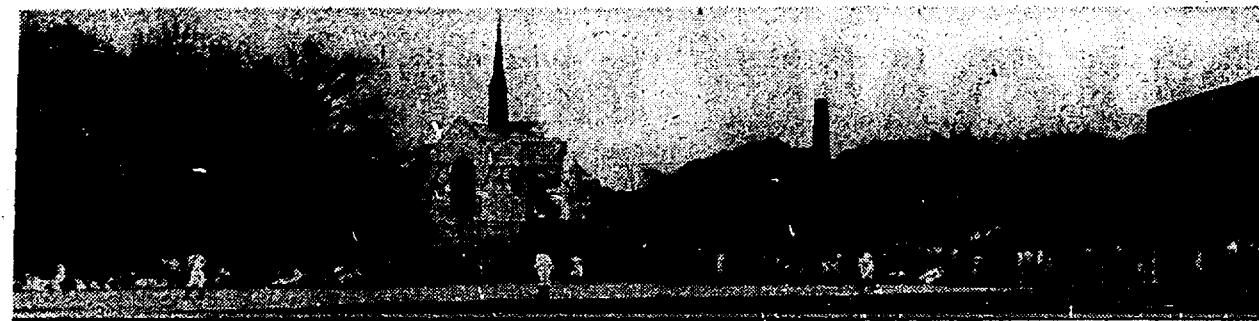

With the addition of the three new courts rebuilt by the board of education last summer, Grosse Pointe is fast becoming sports minded. Which goes to prove that if the students are given the proper facilities with which to train and play they will in turn give Grosse Pointers something to boast about.

Record Crowd Attends Opening Baseball Game

THE LARGEST CROWD that has ever attended an opening baseball game at Grosse Pointe High School turned out to see Girardin of Wyandotte hurl a no-hitter against the Blue Devils and earn a 4-0 victory last Thursday. The Crowd was estimated at between 600 and 700 persons, the large majority of whom had to stand throughout the game. Picture by Fred Runnells

By FRED RUNNELLS

THURS., APR. 25 — JACK ADAMS, manager of the Detroit Red Wing hockey team, said today that a June meeting will determine whether franchises in the National Hockey League will be granted to the two petitioning Pacific Coast cities, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

LEO (LIPZY) DUROCHER awaits the verdict in his court trial for assaulting ex-soldier John Christian, last season at Ebbetts Field. If convicted Duocher can be sentenced to five years in prison. If found guilty Baseball Commissioner (Happy) Chandler said he would bar Duocher from the game for life.

WAYNE UNIVERSITY was told last fall by the Michigan State Sportsman's directors to "get a reputation" when Wayne attempted to schedule State in football. The Tigers did just that when they defeated the high flying State baseball team, 8-7, at Northwestern Field.

FRI., APR. 26 — HANK GREENBERG was named the year's top Jewish baseball player.

DICK KLIMCZAK, 17-year-old St. Florian High School pitcher, hurled his second straight no-hit game. His first was against Rosary on Monday and today he set down St. Agnes, 4-0.

NORTHVILLE DOWNS, at Northville, Michigan, announced that trotting races will be held from July 15 to August 10, inclusive.

SAT., APR. 27 — BOBBY McQUILLAR scored a technical knockout over Leroy Willis at Olympia and won the right to meet Bill Eddy of Flint for the Michigan state lightweight championship.

MEISTER BRU bowling team from Chicago rolled 2879 in the American Bowling Congress tournament.

MICHIGAN STATE'S track team won one championship, placed fourth in another and qualified for the finals in three events of the 37th annual Drake Relays.

HARRY FELDMAN starting pitcher for the New York Giants, and relief hurler Ace Adams were scheduled to leave for Mexico via plane to play in the Mexican Baseball League after accepting irresistible salary terms.

SUN., APR. 28 — UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS track team missed joining Michigan and Pittsburgh as the only schools to win four titles in one Penn Relay carnival. A dropped baton in the 880-yard relay trials cost Illinois the chance.

EDDIE ARCARO definitely will ride Lord Boswell in the 72nd running of the Kentucky Derby, Arcaro had his chance of either Lord Boswell or Knockdown, both entries of Mrs. Elizabeth Graham's Main Chance Farm.

DETROIT BASEBALL fans set a new attendance record for Briggs Stadium when they bricked the turnstiles 58,092 times to see Detroit and Cleveland battle in a 12-inning pitching duel between Stubby Overmire and Chuck Embree. Embree won his own game with a double in the 12th to edge out the Tigers, 3-1. The old paid attendance mark was set on September 22, 1940 and was also achieved with the Indians furnishing the competition.

VETERAN JOHNNY LONGDEN has formed a new turf partnership with Charles T. Fisher's Spy Song for the 72nd running of the Kentucky Derby next Saturday at Churchill Downs.

BABE RUTH, the old New York "Sultan of Swat," is going to Mexico for a look-see at the Mexican Baseball League. It is rumored that the Babe might consider a job managing one of the "south of the border" teams in the so-called "outlaw league."

MON., APR. 29 — WAYNE U. found Hiltedale College an easy victim when the Tartars' big bats came to life and pounded out a 13 to 3 victory. It was Wayne's second victory in seven starts.

Two No-Hitters Presented To Blue Devils' Ball Team

Grosse Pointe High School's baseball team, lacking power at the plate, was defeated twice last week as the result of two no-hit performances by Bob Girardin of Wyandotte and Kleinsmith of Monroe.

On Wednesday, April 24, the Blue Devils opened the current season before approximately 700 rabid fans, the largest opening day crowd in the school's history, and were set down to the tune of 4 to 0. Bob Girardin struck out 17 of the 21 men to face him in the regulation seven inning game.

Veteran Dick Wuerker, Coach Pat Kaulitz's choice for the opener, was greeted in the first inning with a two run outburst, after he had gotten two men out. After striking out the first two batters to face him, Wuerker walked Juicki. Stepaniak then smashed a clean double into deep left field scoring Juicki. Stepaniak scored the second run of the inning when Johnson lined a single through the box. Wyandotte continued to threaten when Mayoras also singled, sending Johnson to third, but both base runners were stranded when Bowersox lined out to Wuerker for the third out.

The Bears added another run in the second inning, after two were out, when Caterino beat out a slow roller to second base. On the first pitch to Palmara, Caterino stole second base. Palmara caddie cart salesman, was named State PGA tournament secretary for the fourth year.

JIM FUNSTON, a Detroit, led the Michigan State golf team to victory over Marquette University by a 20-4 score. Funston scored a hole-in-one on the seventeenth hole. It was State's second victory of the season.

TUES., APR. 30 — THE NATIONAL FOOTBALL League, working with three top minor professional loops, prepared today to "squeeze out" the rival All-American Conference by putting its players in the same category as baseball stars who jump to the Mexican League.

STROH BOWLING TEAM participated in a benefit match at the Palace Recreation. Approximately $700 was raised for the American Cancer Society fund from the spectators.

CLARK GRIFFITH, owner of the Washington Baseball Club, is hoping mad as a result of director Robert Murphy's accusation that the Washington club has been dealing illegally with the baseball union. Griffith himself hotly denied the accusation. Describing them as "deliberate lies," he declared that Murphy was "shooting at" his statement that the guild would "knock baseball flat on its face."

WED., MAY 1 — EDDIE ARCARO can break the record for most winners ridden by one jockey in the Kentucky Derby if he can boot home his mount ahead of the field. If he does he will become the only man to ride four winners in the annual classic and break the existing record of three winners jointly held by Isaac Murphy, Earl Sande and himself.

HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION Joe Louis was scheduled to arrive in Hampton Lakes, N. J., to begin the final phase of training for his title defense against Billy Conn June 9.

TIPPY LARKIN, of Garfield, N. J., picked himself up off the canvas three times and went on to win the world junior welterweight title by virtue of a unanimous decision over Willie Joyce of Gary, Indiana.

An examination by the police failed to disclose any damage but the doctor was unable to completely check on possible missing articles of furniture.

55th Victory In Row Taken By Net Stars

Cocky Monroe Tennis Team Handled Worst Defeat as Pointe Wins 6-1

By FRED RUNNELLS

A cocky, confident Monroe tennis squad, riding the crest of an eight match winning streak, invaded Grosse Pointe last Tuesday afternoon, intent on wrecking the Blue Devils' 54 match winning streak. But before the afternoon was over the Blue Devils had handed Monroe its first defeat of the season in crushing style by winning the match six sets to one.

Monroe won its first eight matches via the clean sweep route, which added brilliance to the Blue Devils victory.

The number one singles match was by far the outstanding contest of the day. Jim Kennedy got the Devils off to an early lead when he defeated Vic Braden, Michigan State singles champion, in straight sets with his superb net play. Braden forced Kennedy to the limit in the first set but Kennedy tucked that one away to the tune of eight games to six and then went on to win the second set with comparative ease, 6-3.

AX JEMAL had little trouble disposing of Charles Kirby in the number two singles, winning 6-0, 6-0. Butch Skau almost matched Jemal's feat when he defeated John McIntyre 6-0 in the first set. McIntyre captured one game in the second set, Bob King, playing number four singles, drew Tom Tumbling, the son of Monroe's coach, for his opponent and it proved to be the toughest singles assignment of the afternoon. Tumbling jumped into an early lead winning the first set, 6-1. Kennedy then gave his opponent a tennis lesson while he was taking the final two sets, 6-3, 6-1, to make it a clean sweep in the singles matches for the Blue Devils.

Veteran Paul Grubbs and first year player Tom Willson teamed together to form the number one doubles team for the second time this season. This was the only match the Blue Devils lost but it should be explained that the combination they opposed, Art Kovitz and Bill Brenton, were semi-finalists in the 1945 State tennis tournament. The Kovitz-Brenton combine received the surprise of his life when Chubb and Willson out stroked them to capture the first set, 6-1. This was the signal for the Monroe combination to crawl into its shell and turn to a strictly defensive game to win the second set, 6-3. Grubbs and Willson forced their opponents to the limit in the last set which Kovitz and Brenton won 11-9. Every time the Monroe team attempted to stroke with the Blue Devil combination they looked like first year rookies and had to resort to the safe style of game by going on the defense.

ARMY CREAMER and Ray Schuman made up the number two doubles team and defeated Dick Griesle and Bill McPike, 6-4, 6-3, while the two Dons, Guy and Broadbridge, playing their second match in varsity competition whipped Jack Bunkelman and Dick Refus, 4-6, 7-5, 6-2. It was obvious the Blue Devils were nervous in the first set but after their stage fright had vanished they played like veterans and won the match that handed Monroe its worst tennis defeat since the series started between the two schools several years ago.

After the drubbing the Monroe coach congratulated Coach Larry Westerville and told him that he couldn't see how any team in the state could beat the Blue Devils if they continue to play as they did against his team.

Coach Westerville said, modestly, "I guess we have a pretty well balanced team and if the boys continue to improve as they have so far this season Grosse Pointe might prove tough competition in the state tournament this year."

From where your reporter sits it is hard to see how any high school team can snap the amazing victory string, started six seasons ago, of 55 consecutive matches. Of course there are up-

Track Team Captures First Meet from Hazel Park, 90-14

Clean Sweeps Scored in Six Events but Coach Frank Banach Still Clings to Pessimism

By FRED RUNNELLS

Winning all but two of the 12 events in their opening track meet, the Grosse Pointe Blue Devils crashed through to a lopsided 90-14 victory over Hazel Park, last Wednesday, April 24, at Hazel Park.

The Pointers showed plenty of power and in six of the twelve events made clean sweeps.

Hiles, Beck and Flom finished in that order in the 120 yard hurdles while Cudlip, Drew and Drader did the same in the 100 yard dash. Ed Isbey, Fraser and Marty Beer were one, two, three in the 440 yard run, and Beck, Hiles and Flom took the 280 yard low hurdles in stride. Bill Drew and Cudlip tied in the 220 with Louie Champine taking third place. Lamb, Johnson and Cowan increased the Blue Devils' lead by sweeping the 880.

In the field events Campbell and Purdy took first and second in the pole vault, with Hazel Park's Gerald coming in for a third. Campbell cleared the crossbar at nine feet three inches. Wolfe of Grosse Pointe won the high jump with five feet four inches followed by Herman of Hazel Park. Duncan and Allured, both of the Pointe, battled to a tie for third place. Champine, Isbey and Drwg swept the broad jump event with Champine leaping nineteen feet six inches.

The 880 relay team, composed of Drew, Fraser, Beck and Cudlip, won in the comparatively good time of one minute 39 seconds.

Hazel Park won its two first places in the mile and shot put. Dearborn defeated Godfrey and Redmond of the Blue Devils in the mile run and Jones took the measure of McPhail and Isbey with a toss of forty two feet and one and one quarter inches in the shot put event.

Even though his team scored this one sided victory, Coach Frank Banach has put in an early order for sweeping towels because he says this season is going to be one of the toughest his boys will have. According to Banach every team in the Border City League are world beaters and should whip the Blue Devils every time out. Well, we wonder after seeing the Pointers in action. The team looks strong in every event except the pole vault and high jump. As far as the times in the first meet go, they were comparatively good for so early in the season and the limited amount of training time because of the weather. The Blue Devils are bound to get better as the season wears on and it wouldn't surprise me one bit if the Pointers weren't perched right on top of the heap when all the results are posted at the end of the season, which ends on May 21.

THIEF SET TO GARDEN

Frank S. Spring of 835 Rivard reported to the police last Thursday that somebody had entered his garage during the night and stolen two lawnmowers, a heavy roller and various garden tools and appliances. Mr. and Mrs. Spring are new comers to the community.

TOO LITTLE TIME

The Arthur Totz home at 712 Berkshire was broken into on April 24. Entrance was gained by breaking a basement window. The residents were unable to find anything disturbed and the police theory is that the thieves were scared away before they had had time to steal anything.

sets that must be contended with in all sports but if the Blue Devils don't get over confident the school on Fisher road will smash the record for consecutive victories before graduation time, come June.

Just as an added feature to the already satisfying news, Ross Herron, a former Blue Devil tennis member and now enrolled at the University of Michigan, has advanced from the number twelve position, which he won a couple of weeks ago on the U. of M. varsity tennis squad, to number eleven and is challenging the number ten position next week. That just proves how well Grosse Pointe boys learn to play the game.

"Kiss of Death"

By LAWRENCE RANDALL
As Told to Mary Madison

The steamer tickets were another thing. There was still time to have Dunn get in touch with the steamship offices and have her kept off the boat. She was a material witness in this murder case—if not technically involved. She couldn't get by the United States immigration officers, if Dunn issued a court order to have her held. Have her—and who ever was the unlucky groom—held with her. But they'd have to stop her at the very last minute the ship was sailing, so she couldn't shop around for another exit from the country.

I'd get right up to Dunn's room, here in the Detroit Club. Dunn would act instantly—unless—I halted—

Had Dunn himself gotten the steamer reservations in New York yesterday for Fay Ames? Did Dunn have cause to get her out of the country quick? Would her presence mean foul publicity for his Consolidated Motors public relations account?

No, I wouldn't tell Dunn I'd found the tickets—only to have him pocket them, perhaps, and fly them down to Fay Ames.

I sat there, smoking and staring at the folders.

WHO was Fay Ames going to meet and marry?

Larry, old thing, just locate the egg who's going to lay the golden goose—and you've got Miranda's murderer.

there, in the power of that monster, was Miranda's ashes. I shuddered, slamming shut the windows.

Two doors down the corridor was Jock Pendleton's suite. I got a surprisingly buoyant "Come in!" in answer to my knock.

Gone was the confused and crumpled creature I had found this morning, collapsed on the bed. Jock Pendleton had regained his poise. He was once more the Name Band Leader, even if I'm not saying what name came to me. The me-and-my-public kid.

On the tables, on the desk, were stacks of telegrams. He was seated at the phone, rallying the Playboys for a broadcast performance, giving each one of them a personal cheer megaphoning. The boy who'd never blown a sour note on his horn was blowing notes of false gaiety that curled the atmosphere. But I noticed that the lyrical fingers of his hand, gripping the desk, were stretched taut as the open sticks of a fan.

"This is pretty rugged on the boys," he sighed, putting down the phone.

He picked up a bottle of House of Lords and spilled two sloppy doubles before sloshing the bottle back on the desk.

He said: "I've been worried about the reaction of my public, but they're being beautiful about it, simply beautiful—bless their hearts!"

He shoved a tumbling stack of telegrams toward me.

"What are these? Congratulations?" we inquired.

"For God's sake, Randall, don't be so bitter."

"How's your sponsor taking all this crime in swingtime?"

"Oh, you know sponsor," he said, draining the glass; "but I love mine—the bastard. I think I'll send him all these wires of condolence—not that he'll believe them. He claims I hire four sec' retaries, one to answer my fan mail and the other three to write it."

He was at the House of Lords bottle again. I had an idea it wasn't his first bottle today. Why had this chain coke musician suddenly decided to call it an alcohol holiday?

"You never can tell about these sponsors," he went on, "I mean when they're going to get religion or look up a morals clause in your contract or some asinine trick. But Cornelius Dunn tells me to say nothing—just sit tight."

"Well, you're sure sitting tight, kid."

"Here, have another yourself. Don't go godly on us."

I said: "Look, Pendleton, you can trust me—"

"Say, I don't trust my own trust company. No today. You don't know how it is in this music business. You're box-office today and a bum tomorrow. Tell me, Randall, do they think I killed her—that damn canary? Why, she wasn't worth killing. You don't think I'd kill off the best canary in the business, do you? Where'd I get another singer for the band? She was off color, all right, but never off key. The only thing that burns me, Randall, is this—with a hundred and thirty-eight million people in this here country, why did she have to pick MY bedroom to die in?"

"Maybe she didn't pick it; maybe someone picked in for her."

"That sounds as if it might mean something, but I wouldn't know what—"

"Pendleton lifted The House of Lords bottle again. I was beginning to feel the only way he and that bottle could be separated was to amputate—the bottle. Still, he might go off the pop and on the hop."

I said: "Why did Sue marry Don Monaco?"

He sputtered over the glass. "Ripley or not, it was strictly from love. 'Lamouri! That very grand passion! I know, Randall. I've been waiting my turn with her for months. No admittance. Positively. Sue was steamed up like a callopie over Don. These Luns all got a hex on sex."

"Was he in love with her?"

Pendleton laughed. Crazy laughter. "You know Don, or don't you? He likes his hot dishes all right, and Sue was plenty of hot shot. But the flaky part was, she insisted the thing be made legitimate. Now, drink that one over, will you?"

I took over the bottle, and poured our quotas.

I said: "Pendleton, on the night of Fay's dinner party—that ghastly farewell fete—you recognized the clasp on those pearls, didn't you? And you didn't admit it!"

"Oh, for Gawd's sake, don't you start this quiz biz stuff."

I said: "I know you recognized it, because the night Miranda was killed, she dropped it on the lawn while she was trying to get away from you. You picked up the pearls and put them back on her neck for her."

Carmen Cavallaro, poet of the piano, drops in between appearances at the Downtown Theatre to chat with charming Marjorie Feteau during the afternoon cocktail hour at The London Chop House.

"So what?" he laughed that crazy laugh again. "That doesn't prove I killed her. I don't go around killing all the girls who fight me for making a pass—that would be mass murder, boy..."

The bedroom door was shoved slowly open. Don Monaco walked wearily in. His dark suit accented his macabre good looks. If I ever saw a groom who looked as if he'd been dragged through a wedding ring, Monaco was the man.

He sighed. "I've got to speak to you, Jock."

"Go ahead, Randall's our pal—"

Don Monaco sat, holding his head, running those sensuous fingers of his through the heavy black seal-like hair.

He moaned elaborately. "I'm all shot. I can't play, Jock."

"Sure you can, kid. Here, have a brace—help yourself—"

Don Monaco didn't stir. He gave him a long, upslanting look from the sulking tent of his tense and intense brow. Pendleton drew back as from a phantom blow.

"Look here, Don, you can't do this to me—without a notice."

"Did Sue give you any notice?"

"But that's different, Don. Sue's dead—"

"Well, I'm dead, too," said Monaco.

Monaco posed there, ominously quiet, his dark eyes smouldering with hate. You could feel what he was thinking. He was unable to shrug off the fact that only a few hours ago his wife had been found dead in Jock Pendleton's room, and that so far Pendleton hadn't given any logical explanation of how she got there or how she died.

I didn't like the emotional weather in the room. I got up and walked over to the Capehart cabinet. I began thumbing through a new album of Bizet's Opera Carmen. Idly I put on The Lovebird Song.

The Capehart began to play it, a wild soaring melody, sharp with ecstasy. A haunting strain, elusive as yesterday's rapture and enticing as tomorrow's tryst.

In a flash I realized the truth—it zigzagged, lightning like, in the dark cavern of my consciousness. This was The Lovebird Song; it was also the melody of Pendleton's song, "Haunting My Heart."

Pendleton sensed my discovery. He knew that I knew. His knuckles were rigid white knots as the song throbbed in the room.

"Randall, do you hear what I hear? I must actually have lifted that song of mine—"

He'd stolen the tune, all right. The music of "Haunting My Heart" was more than reminiscent. It was the same melody, hyped into an off beat tempo. Pendleton had done a swell job of musical larceny.

Pendleton was verging on hysteria. "I never knew it. The damn theme must have been rooted in my subconscious all the time I thought I was creating that song. I've been hypnotized, I tell you—hypnotized—"

Don Monaco's voice was listless. "I wouldn't worry Jock. No one will recognize it, with your eccentric tempo—"

"No one but the critics and hypocrites!" I put in. But I wasn't thinking of critics. I was thinking of the police. In way, of course, this record was giving Pendleton an alibi. If The Lovebird Song was in the public domain before he wrote his version of it—then anyone who ever heard Carmen could have been humming the melody that Birdie Maclean heard the morning of Miranda's murder. Anyone who'd even bought the new Opera Carmen Album could have heard and hummed it.

I put the needle on the record again. The Lovebird Song. So certainly dragged a herringbone across the police trail."

Carroll said: "Let's eat. I'm hungry and you ought to be—I've seen healthier looking people on the morgue slabs."

Down in the lounge of the Grosse Pointe Golf Club they were staging a wedding reception with social mob rule at a high pitch. There stood the poor grounded aviator and his unblushing bride. Emotionally grounded for life, if the marriage took—and I could tell from the iron jaw of the bride's cooling mother that only a shot gun divorce would ever liberate him.

One of the Flower Arrangers, who'd likely sneak out of her own casket and rearrange the wreaths. And the daughter would be the mother's replica twenty years from now—the replica of that terrifying grande dame in her menopause blue ensemble.

I said to Carroll, "Don't you think every man ought to live with his bride's mother before taking her on—then he'd know what he was in for—"

Carroll laughed. "Wonderful—a common-law-mother-in-law."

Carroll ate ravenously. The covered dishes passed before me without temptation. Out table gave me too harrowing a view of the blackening lake and sky. I had to get out. Feel some clean, stinging air. I excused myself to Carroll.

I snaked my way through the wedding guests, and slipped out of the French doors on the north wing of the lounge. Pendleton's Playboys had struck up a rat race number in a crashing, smashing tempo. I could see Carroll's men, patrolling the verandahs, pacing the walks.

The wind tugged at my body as I started across the lawn, heading for the huddled black mass of trees in the grove. Something was pulling me toward that snarling gray lake.

The moon was a grotesque white plaster mask, eyeless and sinister as death. I tried to shake off the chill, the cold fingers of fear clutching my heart. This was not the shining white cold of winter but the slimy cold of fall. The icy firth of mud and decay.

I wondered why the theologians persisted in depicting hell as a state of fire. Why not a state of cold—this searing, writhing cold of Hades, like gnawing white worms clinging to the foul robes of Persephone.

I kept on walking. I was at the edge of the grove. It was eerie and sinister with the swishing of wet branches, the moaning of the wind caught in the black whirlpool of the woods. The grotesque limbs creaked rheumatically, like the gigantic arms of old Druid gods. The wind was choking their asthmatic windpipes. Their black, devouring eyes made me shrink

Melody Mistress

VIRGINIA MATTHEWS, mistress of modern melody, is delighting the patrons at the Fiesta Room in the Savarine Hotel, East Jefferson at Lenox. A piano and vocal artist of unusual ingenuity, Virginia sings old tunes and introduces new ones with equal ease and is always gracious in complying with requests.

like a lost gnome in the gaunt forest of some very Grimm Fairy tale.

Sensing a bulk of something human heading toward me along the path, I kept on going, numb with panic, the damp earth quicksand my feet along the soggy trail.

"Hi there!" came the blithe young voice just in time to avert a head-on crash.

"Oh, it's you, Birdie. What are you doing out in this god forsaken grove?"

"I'm heading for the clubhouse. I had to pick up some clubs to be repaired down on one of the boats at the pier."

I serpentine past him in the thick, feeling my way toward the clearing that led to the stone promenade. Neither the pier nor the promenade was lighted, except for maritime signals. The pressure of the storm may have cut the current, or was it the storm? Had someone cut off the electric switch for his own purposes?

Hitting the sure footing of the stone promenade, I could see beyond the pier the outline of anchored boats, with their faint flickers of light. But one group of lights was strong, powerful and alert among the impotent blurs. That boat was being readied for a cruise. Who would risk the treachery of the lake tonight?

Who except someone planning to escape under cover of the storm? Who except the killer? I must battle the storm back to the clubhouse and set the trap—but fast! I began climbing blindly up the trail in the grove.

The heavens were loosed in a blinding rage. I fought the stinging needles of rain and the body blows of wind. It was all quite Jovian. Made you reckon with the supernatural. I believed in God, all right, I only hoped he believed in him.

Nature was leading her own orchestra of the elements—the drums of thunder, the crescendo of the moaning lake—what a Wagnerian production!

Near the edge of the grove, I lost the path. I stumbled, my feet anchored in the soaking muck. This was the cold, slimy inferno of death.

The moans I heard now were not part of the strident music of the storm. These moans were human. I tried to call out. My vocal chords were stiff with constrained horror. The moans were closer—

Tangled by the underbrush, I swayed, I sank upon a mound of something still warm and human. A body—a body clutching a brace of golf irons. The body of Birdie Maclean.

LIEUT. RICHARD W. RAY,
USNR, was given his discharge at Great Lakes, Ill., on Tuesday and is returning to the Pointe tonight, Thursday, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A.
Ray of Westchester road.

Lieutenant Ray served with the Navy four years. He took his boat training at Notre Dame and was commissioned an ensign at Northwestern University in Evanston.
He served in this country until last August, when he was sent to the Philippines as personnel officer on an APL.

When the skipper of the ship received his discharge, the Pointer was given command. He is a graduate of Detroit University High School and attended the University of Detroit.

Notice of a citation received by PFC. LAWRENCE R. JAC-QUES, son of Mrs. Bertha Jacques of 1777 Anita, Grosse Pointe Woods, has been released by Headquarters Fifth Infantry Division, Camp Campbell, Ky.

The citation which accompanied the Bronze Star presented to the Pointer, reads:

"Private First Class LAW-RENCE R. JACQUES, 36109104,
Infantry, 2nd Infantry Regiment,
United States Army. For distinctive service in connection with military operations against the enemy during the period 13
July, 1944 to 8 May, 1945 in Europe. Although frequently subjected to heavy enemy fire and severe weather, Private JAC-QUES, a security guard, with utter disregard for personal safety, protected the regimental command post with superlative vigilance. When belligerent German prisoners were placed in his custody, he maintained order and discipline at all times. The calmness and self assuredness with which he dispatched his duties are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and his indomitable courage and intrepid actions reflect great credit upon himself and the armed forces. Entered military service from Michigan.

Woods Gets New Super Market

THE ROSLYN SUPER MARKET is having its grand opening this week on Mack avenue between Hampton and Roslyn roads. Joseph Corbat, the owner, has built his business up from a small store in the neighborhood to this most modern structure.

Eugene Lorton, publisher of the Tulsa (Okla.) World, and his editor, N. G. Henthorne, asked Sherman Billingsley, a fellow Oklahoman, to pose in a picture with them at the Cub Room. Mary Lou Schrier, the beautiful young photographer whose lovely face often appears in ads, snapped the picture. "That's the way it should be," remarked Editor Henthorne. "Three old Oklahomans bowing before lovely Miss New York."

"My home town," said the girl sweetly, "is Shawnee, Oklahoma."

This is the Hollywood way: Metro bought a radio show, "Date With Judy," for a picture, chiefly for the title. For a story to go with it, the company purchased "Pigtails." Then it bought a book, "The Birds and the Bees," because it decided that was a more fitting title for the story than "A Date With Judy."

Tempus Fugit Note: In earlier days of Hollywood, Francis X. Bushman had the females of the silent film era swooning in droves that would outlast the current box-office brigade followers of Van Johnson and Frankie Sinatra. One of his contemporaries was handsome Herbert Rawlinson, the Clark Gable of his day. Today Messrs. Bushman and Rawlinson are members of a stock company of supporting players on an air show, "Cavalcade of America," emoting anonymously each week for fans who don't even remember them.

Up in historic Bear Mountain, where dim traces of the Revolutionary War still linger, Bruce Woodcock, British heavyweight, is training for his fight with Tami Mauriello. The other afternoon he came up to Jack Martin, the owner of the Bear Mountain Inn, and panted: "Find me some new trails to run over, will you?" "Why?" asked Martin surprised. "Getting too monotonous?" "Monotonous, me bloody eye!" exploded the fighter. "Everywhere I go over those roads I see signs boastin' how the bally Americans beat the livin' day-lights out of us Brits!"
