WALTER REUTHER, UAW President, addressing a noisy rally of CIO representatives demanding action against spiraling prices, threatens that if Congress does not take action, i. e., restore price control, new demands will be made for wage increases. . . . says that every contract in the auto industry would be broken if necessary to put teeth in his threat. If this would happen the long predicted spiral toward inflation would be well under way.

WILBUR F. HELED, former Prosecutor of Macomb county, testifies that when Ivan Johnson was county prosecutor and he (Heled) assistant, they collected graft from numbers and disorderly house operations and split it between them; one third to himself and two thirds to Johnson.

SOVIET AMBASSADOR NIKOLAI B. NOVIKOV, recently appointed, says "there is no basis whatsoever for war between United States and Russia". . . . believed all differences will be ironed out. . . . says: "I know this. . . . that the people of the United States do not want to wage a war against the Soviet Union or any other country. I know the Soviet Union will never start a war against the United States or any other else."

SENATOR BILBO, Mississippi, runs so far ahead of all competitors in the state primaries he may escape the necessity of a run-off election. . . . says he will accept all other candidates.

LIVESTOCK PRICES DROP SHARPLY in Detroit market, indicating packers have joined merchants and consumers in effort to hold the line against inflation. . . . In Chicago, however, steers reach a high of $22.50, compared with Monday's peak of $22, but average prices for all cattle were below Monday. . . . hogs average $1 to $1.50 lower. . . . a nationwide trend shows livestock receipts far above those of one week ago. . . . meat prices have dropped to near OPA levels and big packers are refusing to bid, even at current prices, in efforts to bring prices within levels formerly maintained by OPA.

BRITISHERS HAVE DECIDED food (grain) is more important than whiskey. . . . within next few days all Scotch distilleries will be closed. . . . Scotch whiskey drought is going to last four or five years, maybe longer, an official says.

SENATOR O'DANIEL OF TEXAS and Representative Wherry of Nebraska, bent on the destruction of OPA, blocked all Congressional action for price control yesterday.

SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY John W. Snyder says the Administration will propose no new tax levies in 1946, but warns that if prices get too far out of hand as a result of expiration of OPA, new increases may be asked for in 1947.

THURSDAY, JULY 4
FURSUIT TO THE PROMISE made to the Filipino people by an American Congress 12 years ago, the Islands attained full sovereign status today. . . . transition made complete by proclamation of President Truman. . . . the archipelago, of which Dewey said on May 1, 1898, "we have conquered an empire," now assumes full stature among the "nations" of the Earth. . . . General MacArthur, who fulfilled his promise to "come back" and lead the American army of liberation, attends the ceremony. . . . President Manuel A. Roxas and all of the native statesmen speaking at the event, express the deepest gratitude to the United States for its protection and tutelage during its growth to maturity as a nation and pledge undying friendship to this country and cooperation with it in all moves in the international chess board. . . . This is the irrefutable answer to all foreign charges of American imperialism.

Police Chiefs Exasperated With Lack of Cooperation Offered by Juvenile Court

Louwers and Trombly to Ask Waiver of Classification in Cases of Chronic Offenders in 15-17 Year Bracket

Both Chief Louwers of the Park and Chief Trombly of the City are exasperated with the lack of cooperation they are getting from the probation officers in the juvenile court. It happens all too often, they claim, that boys in the 15-17 year age brackets who have been repeated offenders, are not held for a period of incarceration in the Detention home. It is usually the plea of parents that moves the probation officers to take this lenient view.

Both of the chiefs make a broad distinction between the children of tender years who get into the jails of the juvenile court and the hard boiled boys between 15 and just under 17 who have been pulled in by the police repeatedly for offenses which are in the real category of felonies. Both of the Chiefs, who were in conference when the NEWS man saw them Friday morning, say they intend hereafter, when one of these chronic offenders past 15 is hauled in, to go to the Prosecuting Attorney's office and ask for a waiver of his juvenile classification. This procedure is specifically provided for in the Michigan criminal law. If the Prosecuting Attorney's office approves of the action, which it usually would do in these chronic cases, the office presents the recommendation to Juvenile Court Judge Healy, who makes the final decision.

This practice pursued by the chiefs of police of this area promises a hard row to hoe for the bad boys of the community, or nearby Detroit, who have been committing major crimes and getting away with it because of the semi-immunity they have enjoyed through their juvenile status.

Chief Trombly mentioned one particularly aggravated case where he personally took a boy down to the juvenile court and found him back in the Pointe before he himself had returned from down town. This aroused his ire and moved him to decide on laying permanent clutches on this type of young criminals. Chief Louwers is of the same mind.

Crowd of 10,000 to 15,000 Sees Annual Fireworks Show

The seventh annual outing and fireworks show sponsored by the Pointe Kiwanis Club attracted a crowd estimated at between 10,000 and 15,000 people to the Mason Field on Vernier road on the Fourth of July. The first show given seven years ago attracted less than 5,000.

More than 500 kids between the ages of four and 14 took part in the games during the afternoon. The night show drew an audience from sections of Detroit and adjoining villages and townships. Cars were parked double on both sides of Vernier road from Mack avenue past Marter road and the field along Mack up

Police Equal To Unusual Emergency

Herman Kiefer Hospital Helps Out in Testing Quality of Hamburgers

The Farms police had a strange request recently. As usual, they supplied service. On the night of June 17 a man and his wife appeared at headquarters on Kerby road. They had two hamburgers, which they insisted were spoiled. They wanted something done about the place which had sold them.

The police gingerly accepted the evidence and sent it right over to Herman Kiefer Hospital for analysis.

The results of the analysis were forwarded to the Farms on June 3. "Test was negative."

Pop Pays Bill For Kids' Fun

Honest Cy Andrews of Kenwood station telephoned the Farms police station on July 9 to notify them that his two boys, aged 6 and 4 respectively, had been on a rampage and had broken eight panes of glass in the Woodruff home at 68 Lewiston.

He wanted the police to know that he was trying to locate Mr. Woodruff to make amends. Mr. Woodruff called police headquarters shortly after to say he had heard from Mr. Andrews and everything was being taken care of satisfactorily.

Pine Woods Subdivision Approved

Pointe Landmark Part of Plot to Be Converted Into New Homesites by Lothrop Estate Co.

One of the Pointe's best known landmarks, the Pine Woods in Grosse Pointe Farms, is to become part of a subdivision. The Farms trustees tentatively approved the subdivision plat prepared by Reaume and Silloway for the Lothrop Estate Company, at a meeting Monday night.

The plans call for the extension of Lothrop road from Ridge road northwest to the top of the hill in the middle of the woods. The steep grade prohibits continuing the street all the way down through the woods to the Charlevoix level, so it will end at a lane running through the woods along the crest of the hill. There would be an easement allowing persons to walk on down to Charlevoix, but it would not be accessible to cars.

Further plans for the subdivision call for the extension of Lothrop from Charlevoix, at the foot of the Pine Woods, through to Chaltona. Lots would be staked out on either side of an 80-foot right of way, through the swampy, wooded section that was once suggested as a World War II Memorial Park. This street has been a favorite haunt for nature lovers interested in the study of birds, snakes, frogs and insects.

There will be 14 lots for sale in the Pine Woods. It is believed it will not be necessary to cut down many of the fine trees that have to retain the present character of the area and will cut out only the trees necessary to build their homes.

Beaure road will be cut all the way from Mt. Vernon through to Kerby road and Williams, starting at Kerby, would be terminated at the new Stephens subdivision, next to the proposed Lothrop development.

Motorist Tags Bicycle Socker

Thomas Shanly, aged 16, of 1488 E. Jefferson, was riding on his bicycle about 10 o'clock Tuesday evening. Riding west on Jefferson he was hit in the rear by an automobile coming in the same direction and thrown against the curb. The machine was badly bent.

The driver of the car failed to stop and Tom was left alone to nurse his bruises and broken machine, but not for long. Within seconds after the accident a man came along in a car and drew up to the curb near Tom.

"Here, take this paper, I think the owner of the car bearing this number will know something about the accident," the stranger said.

Tom reported to the City police and they quickly found through their license tracer that No. BF-90-20 had been issued to William Duncan of 2804 Wethoff, Inkster.

All thanks to the keenness and ready use of his pencil by an observing citizen.

Trailer Crushes Foot of Cyclist

Young Gabriel Remant, aged 13, of 4230 Maryland, stopped to pump air in his bicycle tire at the alley entrance on the west side of Beaconsfield just south of Mack Saturday afternoon, when a heavy trailer belonging to the Switzer Creamery company ran over his right foot, mangle it badly.

On turning it to the alley the truck cut too sharply across the intersection.

At the Bon Secours hospital, where Gabriel was taken, it was reported he had a compound fracture of the foot and would have to be confined to the hospital for some time. The driver of the truck got a ticket for reckless driving.

Woods Civic League Asks Congressional Help to Get School

Letters Sent to Vandenberg, Ferguson and Rabaut Seeking Intervention to Obtain CPA Approval for Building

The Grosse Pointe Woods Civic League has sent letters to Senators Homer Ferguson and Arthur Vandenberg and Congressman Louis Rabaut asking for their help in getting a proper new school for the Woods. The letters were sent after the league had circulated petitions and obtained approximately 2,000 signatures of residents indicating their interest in necessary steps to be taken to obtain the school building.

A copy of the letter, identical to all three, follows:

July 3, 1946
"Several months ago, the residents of the Grosse Pointe Woods District voted, an increase in school taxes for the purpose of providing a fund for the construction of two new schools, which are badly needed in the District. One of the schools is to be a combination Junior High and Elementary School located at the corner of Mack Avenue and Vernier Road, in the Village of Grosse Pointe Woods. Construction of this school was to be started immediately and plans were made to have it ready for occupancy by the beginning of the school year in September 1947. The other school was to be started at a later date.

"In accordance with the wishes of the people, the District School Board proceeded with the plans for the new Junior High and Elementary School. In accordance with current Federal Government regulations, a petition for priority for the building materials (Case No. 3-5-1157) was filed with the local office of the Civilian Production Administration. The viewed that its petition has been denied as most material priorities are to be given to War Veterans and other persons whose requirements are considered more urgent. "We are bringing this matter to your attention because within the last few days approximately 2,000 residents of the Village of Grosse Pointe Woods have signed petitions which have been presented to the School Board and the Civilian Production Administration, in which they have demanded reconsideration of the application for priority. Furthermore, the petitioners have requested the School Board to file an appeal if their request for reconsideration is not granted or, if, on reconsideration, the Board's petition for priority is again denied.

"This action has been taken because of the urgent need for a new school in the Grosse Pointe Woods section of the School District. It is obvious to any reasonable person that school requirements, especially in this District, should receive top priority for building materials. In the Village of Grosse Pointe Woods, which is located at the northern end of the School District and is by far the most heavily populated section of the District insofar as children of elementary

Shot in Arm Not Usual Type

Council Votes Approval of Full Survey

Agrees to Hire Consulting Engineers to Study Situation and Make Recommendations

The Village of Grosse Pointe Farms has taken the first step to correct its faulty drain sewer system which has brought so much criticism during the recent very heavy rains of the last month. Scores of protests have been heard from residents whose basements have been flooded during both severe and mild downpours.

Meeting Monday night the village Board of Trustees heard a report from Village Engineer Murray Smith and approved his suggestion that they hire consulting engineers to probe the problem and offer plans for its correction. The firm of Hubbell, Roth and Clark, Inc., the consulting engineers who planned and built the present interceptor sewers, pumping station and storm water overflow, will be engaged to make the survey. The survey will cost $1500.

The firm will submit a written report including recommendations and estimates of cost on three items. These are:

- (1) Additional pumping capacity required.
- (2) Redesigning storm water overflows to lake.
- (3) Design to correct back pressure and surges at pumping station.

The report will include a resume of the Fox Creek situation, present and future. Much of the flood trouble in the Pointe has been

it has been the consequence of the rains that heavy rains fill the outlet to such an extent that the waters back up into Pointe sewers and form pressure that floods back into Pointe streets and basements instead of carrying off the water as it is supposed to.

Grosse Pointe Park has already engaged engineers to plan a back-water flood gate to take care of this problem.

First Effort of UAW/CIO Directed Against Pointe Landlord in Eviction Case

The first attempt of the UAW-CIO to protect union tenants against "illegal" evictions was directed against a landlord who lives in Grosse Pointe at 1044 Devonshire.

Elmer A. Kundering, owns a four-family flat at 871 Dickerson, and Charles Adkins, a Hudson Motor Car worker, has been renting one of the apartments since February. The other day an eviction notice was served on Adkins and he and his family have been packed out of the place since last Friday. He reported the matter to his union and the flying squad of trouble shooters for tenants in distress went around.

A Mrs. George Howard was caretaker of the building and when a squad of eight men entered and told her to take off the padlock, she thought she was hardly in a position to argue the matter, and took it off. She said she was frightened. Adkins and family moved in.

Kundering said Adkins was evicted because he had been delinquent in his rent since February when he occupied it. He said he contemplated no further move to eject Adkins but would tell his story when the case came up before Circuit court.

Adkins said he had made weekly tenders of $10 ever since June 1 but that Kundering had refused it. Whether he owed more and how much was not disclosed.

STOLEN CAR FOUND
The car that was stolen from Mrs. Velma E. Evans, of Bloomfield Hills, from the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club parking lot on the evening of the Fourth, was recovered by Park officers G. Boone and P. Conlon on Tuesday. It was in a field in the rear of 1008 Beaconsfield. It had been used by some self-help joy riders. No damage, but much less gas aboard.

Driverless Car Rolls Into Oncoming Traffic and Causes Serious Smash

Two automobile accidents on Lake Shore road have been reported by Farms police within the last week. Total damage was estimated at more than $600.

On the night of July 5, Albert Marvin Mussell was driving east when his car was struck in the rear by one driven by James Joseph Benkey. Damage to the Mussell car was estimated at $100. Benkey's car was not badly damaged. The police report says he had been drinking and he was held at police headquarters for some time.

Scooter Peddler Advised to Scoot

Guided, perchance, by the publicity attendant on the business career of Tony the Popcorn Man, an ice cream salesman had the audacity to invade the sanctity of Grosse Pointe Farms on Sunday, July 7. He was peddling his wares from a scooter.

Spotted on Lake Shore road by Farms Police Officer George Champagne, the vendor, Anton Nikaloff, of 1447 East Kirby, Detroit, was hastily conducted to the Farms police station.

There he was told, in no uncertain terms, that the village does not stand for peddlers, especially on its main scenic thoroughfare. He was advised to scoot home and not come back.

Costly Sunbath Taken by Guest

George Herbert, a Pointe visitor from Ohio, reported to Farms police that he had lost his wallet while at the municipal pier on the afternoon of July 5.

Herbert, who was a guest at 319 McKinley road, said he was sunbathing and had his coat alongside him. He was not certain whether the wallet, which contained $40, his Navy discharge papers and his driver's license, had been taken from the coat or he had lost it previously.

BROOKS ATKINSON, New York Times Moscow correspondent, says that the Soviet government of Russia is a purely political machine, to whom the ordinary implications of international friendship mean nothing . . . the country itself is in no sense a democracy, but rather a dictatorship heading a totalitarian government . . . it is the spirit which animates the government that is making it so difficult to introduce friendship and cooperation in the current postwar arrangements . . . the summation of Mr. Atkinson's observations is that the Russian political trend is away from the objective of a world of common equality and justice and towards the old system of power politics in which each nation strives ruthlessly for its own advantage with a minimum of concession to others . . . School school age are concerned, there is but one grade school, the Mason School located on Vernier Road at Charlevoix Avenue. This school has been so overcrowded that it now accommodates only those children in the fourth and lower grades. As a result, fifth and higher grade children (nine years of age and older) are compelled to travel by bus to the Grosse Pointe Park Schools at the southern part of the School District. The fact that this community is growing so fast, the crowded condition of the school young children have to travel so far in this manner in order to attend school, emphasize the urgent need of additional school facilities in this particular section. In addition, we wish to cite the following reasons why it is so important that construction be started without further delay.

1. There are approximately 800 children who are compelled to ride the school buses daily. The buses are operated by an independent carrier with a limited number of vehicles available for this purpose and it is not uncommon for 75 children to be carried on a bus built for 39 passengers.

2. From a safety factor, the local police are strictly opposed to overcrowding of the school buses but can do nothing about it because of the limited number of buses available.

3. The children are, of necessity, compelled to carry their lunches, and eating cold food every day is an unhealthy condition for children of this age.

4. The children from this District are resented by the residents of Grosse Pointe Park, many of whom are older people without children, who are inclined to be very outspoken about the usual annoyances caused by normal grade school children.

"The members of the Grosse Pointe Woods Civic League realize the necessity of such Government Agencies as the Civilian Production Administration. However, we feel that in the establishment of such an agency it was intended that its decisions should be fair and reasonable. Furthermore, we feel that our representatives in Congress are vitally interested in seeing to it that priorities granted by the CPA go to those persons whose requirements are the most urgent."

Further delayed. For this reason, we should like to ask that every effort be made to have the Civilian Production Administration reconsider its decision with reference to the application of the Grosse Pointe School District. Your efforts on behalf of the various residents of this District will be greatly appreciated and we shall be pleased to furnish you with any additional information which you may require in order to properly present this matter to the CPA.

Respectfully yours,
Grosse Pointe Woods Civic League
Rex H. Johnston,
President.

Secretary.

Council of Veteran Affairs Due to Close by November 1

Municipalities Receive Returned Checks and Are Re-billed for Four Month Operating Expenses Budget

The Grosse Pointe Council of Veterans' Affairs will close not later than November 1, it has been announced. It is possible the council headquarters will terminate activities as early as the middle of October.

Checks which have been received from the various Pointe municipalities to meet the annual budget of the council, have been returned with new bills for a four months' budget which will carry the work on until November.

The budget was recomputed by Paul Moreland. An estimated budget of $300 from last year's balance, and the $1,500 estimated as the cost of moving the quarters here, were first deducted and then the new budget set up on a four months basis. The unit can be used in its present location until November 1.

Under this new budget the Pointe municipalities which originally appropriated $2,327 for this year's annual budget, is now asked for only $185.84.

The City, which was the only Pointe municipality which did not appropriate to the budget, was originally asked for $1,151.01. Under the new budget it is asked to appropriate $91.98.

In returning the checks to the municipalities, the Council of Veteran Affairs cited the opinion of Albert Meder, City Attorney, that it is illegal to appropriate to this cause, and enclosed a copy of Bill No. 184, House Enrolled Act No. 62, passed in the regular session of the 1945 State Legislature entitled "An Act to provide for local councils of veterans' affairs, and to authorize appropriations by counties, cities, villages and townships."

Brother's Confidence Justified

FOURTH OF JULY QUEEN at the annual outing and fireworks show sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Grosse Pointe at Mason Field, was Grace Slocum of 2141 Bedford road. After being notified of her selection, Grace discovered that her brother Fred, 13, had heard about the club's search for a queen, and convinced that he had a goodlooking sister, had taken it upon himself to send her picture to the selection committee.

Traffic Cases Settled in Court

In Park Traffic Court Wednesday morning the following cases were passed upon:

William Clair Hancock, of 12600 Chelsea, Detroit, for passing a stop sign at Charlevoix and Whit, had his sentence suspended.

Dorothy Marie Doherty of 123 Edgevale, Detroit, for failing to stop at stop sign at St. Paul and Lakepointe, paid $5 costs.

An unusual case came up in the instance of Manfred Aulbersberg of 8338 North street, Utica, Michigan. He was charged with failure to stop at St. Paul and 3 Mile on July 27, 1945 but had failed to respond to repeated summons for his hearing. The matter was duly reported to Lansing, as is customary in such circumstances and the other day Mr. Aulbersberg showed up in the local court.

The court officers said he had run into embarrassment when he had applied for his driver's license.

Mrs. Paul Gano, of 114 Merrilweather, was before the court for failure to stop at Devonshire and St. Paul, preceding a minor accident but because of her exemplary record of having driven a car for 28 years without ever before having received a ticket she was let off by the judge with the payment of $5 costs.

Veterans Put New Twist On Old Biblical Story

Two Berkley, Michigan young men are putting a new twist on the Biblical story of beating swords into plowshares. They are beating airplanes into fishing rods. Using their veteran priority, the Squires Bros. Corp. recently purchased 5,000 pounds of scarce aluminum tubing from the War Assets Administration Regional Office in Detroit. The tubing, formerly used in aircraft production, was found to be ideally suited to the manufacture of a newtype fishing rod which the Squires designed.

CAR BADLY BURNED

A car owned by Foster Winter of 864 Berkshire caught fire from a short circuit at 3 o'clock in the morning of July 2 and was badly damaged.

Purse Lost From Car On Lake Shore Road

John Gunderson, of 899 Westchester, Grosse Pointe Park, told Farms police that while he was driving out Lake Shore road on the night of July 5, the car door had come open and a purse had fallen out.

Miss L. F. Van Nortwick, passenger in the car, owned the purse, which contained some gold earrings and an unknown amount of cash. A search failed to locate the purse, which was straw with an inner red leather wallet.

Boy Starts Fire In Farms Home

A fire which did $500 damage to the residence of Robert Herdegen at 223 McMillan on the afternoon of July 6 was traced to that age-old cause... a child playing with matches.

A neighbor had seen Billy Esperi, aged 8, lighting matches some time before the blaze was discovered. He had been warned about the danger and disappeared. Suspicion was strong when the fire was found in the Herdegen basement.

Billy was found and soon confessed. He still had some matches in his pockets when he was picked up.

TOTAL LOSS?

A Hupp owned by Lewis Grable of 3407 Montclair, caught fire in front of 285 Moross road on the afternoon of July 8. Farms firemen extinguished the blaze after damage estimated at $30 had been done.

LIFE IN OLD BOYS

Farms police were called to the Grosse Pointe Club at 11 o'clock on the night of July 8 to intervene in a fight. Joseph Jolecki, 63, said he would prefer charges against Sam White, dishwasher, also 63, for hitting him over the head with a shoe.

Police Refuse Retraction Of Pawnbroker Appellation

The dame, Laura Cameron, who did such a land office business in recent months in lifting jewelry and expensive clothing from the Harold Boyer home on Jefferson Avenue, didn't confine her activities to gems and fine raiment. Among other articles taken as side lines were two radios.

Detective Sergeant Ed. Trombly, who carried the main sleuthing role in this case, has already one of them back and expected the other to be brought to police quarters on Wednesday. There have been many other articles recovered from girl friends to whom the Cameron girl made presents of her easily acquired loot.

In discussing the case Wednesday morning, Trombly recalled an amusing incident. The $3,000 earrings which were the piece d'arristance on the loot list, were recovered from a downtown establishment where the Cameron girl had sold them or pawned them for $200. The place was referred to as a pawnshop by the sergeant in his report and so mentioned in the newspapers. The place, it appears, resented the pawnshop appellation.

Late one night, while the case was boiling, the Sergeant was called up by a man with a strange but indubitably pawnbroker voice. He berated the sergeant for referring to his place as a pawnbroker shop and demanded forthwith that he go around to the Free Press and publish a retraction of all that had been said about the pawnbroker character of the place.

"Nay, nay," said the sergeant, "no retraction." An establishment which either buys or loans only $200 on a piece of jewelry worth $3,000 is hardly in the class of a strictly mercantile establishment. And besides the wife of the proprietor was so intrigued by the money and value of the loot that she wore it for several days as a part of her own ensemble.

Albert A. Zeller Dies at Age 28

Albert A. Zeller, aged 28, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Zeller of 152 Ridgemont road, died on July 3 following an illness of three weeks. He had been a resident of the Park for 16 years and lived at the Farms address for the last five years.

Mr. Zeller was an industrial designer and artist with the George W. Walker Company. Previously he had been associated with Frank Chapman Williams, designer, and William B. Stout of Dearborn.

Survivors are his parents and a sister, Mrs. Ruth Rosenow of Detroit.

COSTLY ERROR

When his foot slipped from the brake to the gas pedal while he was driving down Provençal road, on July 8, Harold L. Wadsworth, of 76 Cloverly road, drove his car over the curb and into the stone wall on the Arthur Buhl, Jr. property. Damage to the wall was estimated at $200 and to Mr. Wadsworth's Mercury at $40.

Public Bathing

Grosse Pointe, from its location on the great inland water course of America, should have unsurpassed bathing facilities. The discussions recurring in the City council and the naming of citizens' committees, all concerned with the subject of adequate bathing, has left an unfortunate impression with the citizens. They are fast losing patience with a situation which they surmise is caused by a pinch-penny policy on the part of their municipal rulers.

They will admit of no argument against themselves and their children enjoying the safest and best public bathing that money can buy. Nature has already met our problem nine-tenths of the way by furnishing one of the finest bodies of fresh water in this country and they want quick provision made for us to avail ourselves of it to the fullest extent.

Many inland cities, whose only public bathing facilities come to them via a water pipe, have spent vast sums of money to provide swimming pools, where they must pay for every drop of water used, in addition to the great cost of building cement pools and meeting vast maintenance charges.

It reflects no credit on this community that this ready-made facility for public health and enjoyment should have been so long neglected.

There is no patience with any argument that the water is not always fit for bathing. We put the same water, in our stomachs. If the water entering some enclosed bathing pool needs filtration or other treatment, let's have it. After that the only problem would be a relatively minor one of simple engineering, but let's be about it.

The Philippine Experience

The formal establishment of the Philippine Republic on July 4 was an event of vastly broader implications than the mere establishment of another sovereign state under democratic rule.

It was America's final and complete answer to the hackneyed charge that we are an imperialistic, racial agglomeration of money grubbers. This charge, heard coming most persistently from Russia, is less easily recognized as the same insidious stuff put out, either unconsciously or through ignorance, by that numerous element among our own people who are best described in the revival of that familiar term of a few years back of "parlor pinkies."

Malcolm Bingay's compliments to that group in his own by-line column in the Free Press Friday morning was admirable. He merely told what every thinking American already knew, but his manner of telling should make a dent.

One might almost imagine that Bingay had indited his forthright comments, moved by the invidious article in the current number of Time, in which some bright young man of that staff had proceeded to misinterpret every major international contact this country has had with minor powers since the Mexican war.

The whole tenor of the Time article is to sneer at every American move, to ascribe ulterior motives to our relations with Cuba, with Mexico and with the Philippines. There was a nigger in every woodpile according to Time. Not a single fine and clean purpose in all these experiences is mentioned. Always, according to Time, we are pursuing a "Manifest destiny," the end of which was to acquire power, (land and riches), at the expense of defenseless peoples.

No mention is made of the moral indignation which swept this country over the barbarous treatment of the Cubans by medieval Spain between 1895-98; an indignation which was merely galvanized into action by the treacherous sinking of our battleship Maine in Havana harbor on the night of February 15, 1898. The fact that we did not take Cuba from the Cubans, that we set her up as a self-governing country and patiently guided her and aided her through her early years, that American capitalists did not take over the control of the island, is airily passed by.

Our possession of the Philippines was all the direct result of a deep laid scheme to deprive Spain of her rich possessions in the far Pacific, according to this same misinformant. Dewey's sailing into Manila bay on May 1 was started by orders, "on his own authority," by Theodore Roosevelt, the 40 year old Assistant Secretary of the Navy. Presumably President McKinley or our higher officers directing the strategy of the war knew nothing in advance of this move?

And now we are out of the Philippines and what becomes of the Time's case to prove our chicanery in that quarter?

The Mexican war was engineered, according to this same Herodotus, to possess ourselves of California and Texas. No mention is made of the war for independence from Mexico fought and won by the Texans themselves ten years before the United States went to war with that country, nor the fact that the application which the Lone Star Republic made for admission to the union was the hotly debated issue in the election of James K. Polk in 1844, nor, when it prevailed, that Santa Anna the President-Dictator of Mexico, himself declared war on us.

The whole presentation by Time is as fine an example of historical distortion and jumble as has been offered to the American people in many a day, and with the effect, either deliberately planned by some parlor pink or offered out of his monumental ignorance of recent American history, of placing suspicion on our relationships with these countries.

The simple truth is, that despite a minimum of error on our part, our relations with these countries and with the whole field of foreign states, is so clean and honorable as to defy comparison by any other country in the world.

It is high time that decent, patriotic Americans came to recognize and speak boldly on the virtues and unselfishness of their own country in its dealings with foreign states, and not be befuddled and intimidated by a lot of home grown international muckrakers who are always on the hunt for skulduggery at Washington and extolling the virtues of Moscow and kindred spots.

The Philippine experience should present an embarrassing hurdle for this type of patriots.

New York Cavalcade

By LOUIS SOBOL

A Little O' This,

A Little O' That!

The 90 prisoners in Clinton prison at Dannemora who went on a no-work, hunger strike recently and were confined to segregation where they have nothing to do but listen to the radio and take it easy, have signified their capitulation, pleading that the "lazy" life is driving them nuts. Incidentally, over 30,000 cigarettes exchanged hands at the prison as wage payoffs on the Louis-Conn site. Big surprise was the appearance in the Cub Room of Burns and Allen with Block and Sully. The two comedy teams were supposed to be feuding these many years. Democracy at work: Catholic Bishop Byron McIntaggart had the priests of his diocese up to White Four Inn at Lake Placid for a four days' retreat. The day after they left, the Baptist ministers of Upstate New York moved into their rooms for a three days' meeting. Upon their departure, the Upstate Liquors Dealers moved in for their meeting.

Beatrice Kay, who sings those Gay 90s songs, recalls that her grandfather, arriving in New York from Holland, became the crony of two co-workers who rolled cigars with him in a small shop. At night, they took piecemeal home and because Miss Kay's grandpa was the best educated of the three, he was assigned to read to them while they worked. Miss Kay's grandfather was a Hendrik Wemik—and nobody ever heard of him aside from the immediate members of the family. His co-workers, who weren't burdened with his influence of education, later gained wider reputations—one was Samuel Gompers, first president of the A. F. of L. and the other, Oscar Hammerstein, the operatic impresario.

New York Cavalcade

Oscar Levant, according to Hollywood reports, steals the picture by his performance in "Humoresque," which stars Joan Crawford. Paula Stone's husband, Mike Spojane, was waylaid by thugs in Central Park. His dog, "Bruno," coming to his rescue. Publishers Row is gossiping about the extensive policy changes going on in a famous publishing house. One of the worried execs says: "The textbook and business departments are taking over everything and driving our authors and editors away." Clark Gable had a horrifying experience in his hotel room recently—a gal got in and started chasing him around. He finally beat her off and convinced her she ought to leave.

Sample of the Hollywood caste system: Ray Milland, Jr., aged 7: "My daddy makes pictures." Audrey Thomas, aged 7, daughter of Producer Bill Thomas (Pine & Thomas) — with scorn: "Your daddy ACTS in pictures. MY daddy makes pictures. Go 'way!'" Peter Lind Hayes is working on a new satirical routine about a fellow carrying a torch. Irving Berlin, weary of resting amid Bermuda's blissful calm, flew into N. Y. for a few nites' sitting around in Lindy's and the Stork. When Irving Hoffman commented that he was tanned to a charcoal crisp, the composer replied: "Now the fellows can see for themselves the little colored boy who writes all my songs!"

Add oddities: There's a Saint Peter at Buckley Field, Colo., and Sgt. Chronic is in the hospital. Arthur Law was arrested in N. Y. for hitting a police sergeant on the thumb. There have been white blackbirds, white redbirds and white bluebirds. At the Crest Room, there are twin busboys named Remo and Romolo China, who married twin sisters, Adeline and Helen Serra. Sudden Thought: It's about time the UN took off its brass knuckles and got down to brass tacks.

New York Cavalcade

When Jimmy Durante arrived in New Haven in connection with the premiere of his picture, "Two Sisters from Boston," one of the publicity men thought it might be a bright idea to have him participate in the annual reunion at Yale. He approached dignified President Charles Seymour, who went frigid at the suggestion. "Well," stammered the publicity man, "I thought you might make an exception in the case of Jimmy Durante." "Jimmy Durante, did you say?" shouted the Yale prexy. "Well, now, that's different. That's one fellow we want very much to come to the reunion. He's my favorite comedian—he's funny and he's clean. By all means, yes."

Which explains why, for the first time in the history of the Yale class reunions, an outsider—a comedian by the name of Jimmy Durante, participated in the ceremonies and led the cheering section of the class of 1913!

The Veto Power in UNO

The exasperating objections and delays introduced by the Russians against the business of proceeding with the arrangement of a world order of justice and peace is fast reducing the preachments of Wendell Wilkie and Franklin Roosevelt to the status of kindergarten prattle.

As a declaration of a fine idealism in international relations, their many speeches carrying this motif were unchallengeable, but like all patents they are only good if they work, or can, after infinite patience and perseverance, be made to work. The answer to this question can only be found in the future and the Russian disposition thus far had raised an alarming crop of doubts and discouragements. Her moves point unmistakably to the reinstatement, or rather continuation of the age old practices of power politics.

On the bright side of the picture is the fact that an organization of the nations of the world has been effected, albeit with the inclusion of a single nation veto power within its inner circles which threatens to hamstring it.

This was the compromise on which Russia insisted. Thus far she has been the one who has invoked it in the Security Council. America and Britain have been irritated by the ease and frequency with which she has employed it.

It is time however that we of the western democracies take stock of this provision as is. The future might well hold a situation wherein some contemplated action within the Security Council implied a direct threat against our own national safety and security. Then we might bless rather than damn the single power veto provision. This is something that could happen here. The provision, irritating as it has proved already in specific Russian moves, at least prevents the ganging up of many nations against any single one of their associates within the UNO.

Sigler's Speech

Kim Sigler's speech before the State Republican convention Saturday was especially effective because it was direct and forceful and dealt largely in facts with which the people are already familiar.

He foresees a return to power of the Republican party in the country and seeks to have this state in a position of leadership when the transition takes place. The partisan quality of the speech might not greatly move the average citizen who is more concerned with good government and prosperity than he is with the party that effects it. But when he recites the list of failures in every department of the national economy and social betterment the people recognize the point without harking back farther in memory than yesterday.

What makes his indictment the more damning is that much of this poor leadership antedated a war condition which is the excuse for so much of the muddle with which we are now reckoning.

When he referred to farmers plowing under wheat and killing little pigs, religiously followed out by the school of economists who preached the doctrine of having more by producing less, it left a dark brown taste in the mouths of those who are now facing a world starvation.

Every one knows that the tares we are now trying to pull out of the garden of our national economy were planted there chiefly in the days of the Great Experiment.

Mr. Sigler makes a good point also in reminding us that we have just fought a great war to make ourselves safe both at home and abroad against the forces of either fascism or communism.

His whole talk sums up to the text that we need a change and with this there will be a general and hearty agreement. Mr. Sigler, of course, selects the Republican party as the agency to effect this new economic and social orientation. With this argument, Mr. John Citizen is not so deeply concerned, but he and his tribe are a unit in agreeing that we do need a change.

And this goes for the nearer field of state and local affairs, as well as the broad meadows of the national scene, of which he professes to give us a view.

Grosse Exaggerations

A. PRYOR

"Who drives the horses of the sun
Shall lord it but a day;
Better the lowly deed were done,
And kept the humble way.
The happiest heart that ever beat
Was in some quiet breast
That found the common daylight sweet

(John Vance Cheney)

When Frankie the Voice Boy came out to join the Benson Fords' party, he was accompanied on the plane by a local young father of three beautiful teen-age daughters. When the car met the Voice at the airport, Frankie offered to drop his companion at his house in the Pointe. When the car pulled up at the door, the oldest daughter rushed out to greet her dad . . . and nearly swooned when she saw who was with him.

The other girls were in the house peering out of the window and when they realized Sinatra was right on, the front stoop, they dashed downstairs, only to remember their hair was done up in curlers . . . sooooo, they had to forego shaking the hand that grasps the microphone. Hoddie thought!

Another youth story of the week is about the teen ager who FEELS like an old lady but happens to be far too young to have attended most of the recent parties, so she warrents. Watching her older sister making ready for one gala after another, didn't make our young heroine feel any better about life. Before one of the numerous balls, big sister gave a dinner for about 20 of the young, some of whom were from out of town. Kid sister, wanting to get some of the steam out of her system, begged her mother to let her act as a yardmaid for the party.

Mother agreed, so she got a short black maid's uniform, black shoes and stockings and a dainty white cap. Her mother announced that "Fifi" would bring the cocktails presently. "Fifi" did a swell job. She had passed at least four cocktails before the guests even noticed she was the kid sister.

The out-of-town guests thought of course that she was a maid. One startled young man will probably have something to talk about when he gets back home. The "maid" passed in front of him, drew his attention with a slight cough, then daintily raised her short skirt, displaying a great deal of shapely leg which was circled above the knee with a black silk garter on which was pinned a diamond bar pin. Then she winked at him before quietly leaving the room.

KID STUFF

One day last week, a young mother took her 6 year old boy with her when she called on a friend to spend the afternoon. About 4:30 the child rushed onto the porch and said, "Mother, I have a problem for Mrs. Jones (his hostess) but maybe I better tell you." When asked what it was, he said, "I'm hungry." He was dispatched to the kitchen to tell Cook and later, the mother and Mrs. Jones found what had transpired. Since he had had several fistfuls full of cherries and a number of cookies, the cook thought a hefty sandwich and glass of milk might keep him from starving.

However, when he'd devoured that, he asked, "Anything else?" She then gave him (for dessert) a large bowl of grapefruit flakes, complete with sugar and cream. After that, he said, "What's for dessert?" She asked what he'd like, to which he replied, "Let me see what's in the ice box." After much deliberation, he chose some fresh raspberries, with sugar and cream. When he again began to look hopeful, the cook said, "I think you've had enough, don't you?" But our little hero, with a touch of a sneer in his voice said, "Those raspberries were just a kid's share."

Domesticallia

A woman telephoned a friend of hers to ask if Friday night would suit her for a dinner party she wanted to give for the friend's out-of-town guests. The cook answered the phone and said Madam was out, could she take a message? The woman said indeed she could and explained why she was calling. When she finished, the cook said, "Gee, I wish you'd have it on Thursday instead. That's my day off." We can't figure out whether the cook wanted to go to the party too or whether she was afraid Madam and her guests would starve if they weren't asked out on the cook's day off???

Garden Deadline Fast Approaching

Your last chance to plant anything close to a full garden is approaching. Jack Rose, Michigan State college home gardening specialist, has issued the last call, but says as late as July 15 many items can be planted and mature before average date of first frost.

Beans, cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, brussels sprouts, Chinese cabbage, turnips, rutabagas, kale, radishes, lettuce and spinach can be planted, the gardening specialist says.

Beans can go in as late as July 20 and bear a crop. If cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli and brussels sprouts are planted, only plants should be put in and not seeds.

Rutabagas and turnips grow best when sown in July, he says. Turnips may go in as late as August 1 in southern Michigan.

Kale is an excellent greens crop and should be planted in late July and early August. Rose says it has its best flavor after a few light fall frosts.

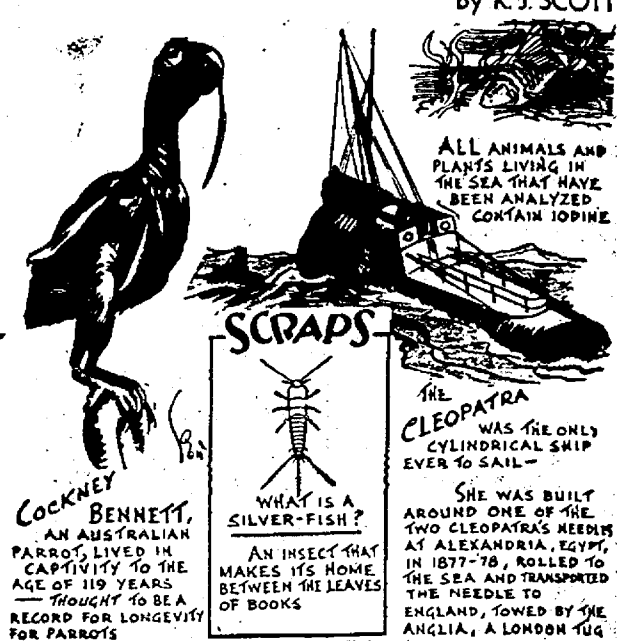

A late garden will keep the fresh vegetables coming late and will also provide some crops for late canning. This way the canning season can be spread over a longer period of time.

July Peak Month For Drownings

July is the peak month for drownings in Michigan, according to the State Health Department. Of the 241 deaths by drowning reported in the state last year, 75 occurred in July. The vacation months of June, July and August account for two thirds of all drownings.

Eighty-six per cent of the drowning accidents occur among males. Of 1407 persons drowned in Michigan during the past five years, 1209 were males.

Among males the largest number of drownings (30 per cent of the total) occurred in the 10-19 age group. Among females the peak age was 5 to 14 years.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

It seems from publicity that a building will ultimately be constructed as the Grosse Pointe War Memorial and this will be a library, field house, community house, etc. It is advised that such a building should embody features that will be attractive to all age groups to assure its maximum use. For instance, if the main features cater to youth, the adult population will not patronize its facilities and the project will become lopsided.

In order to spread interest and make the Memorial attractive to more citizens of the community, it is suggested that an artificial ice rink be incorporated in the plans. The committee can see just such an operation by personal investigation of the Community House in Wauwatosa, Wisconsin, which is a suburb of Milwaukee, very similar to Grosse Pointe.

There the citizens determined to secure a thing of value and permanence under the WPA and this resulted in a most attractive Community House where it seems there is life and activity in ever so many varied programs from morning until late at night. These incorporate both sexes from the very young to the eldest.

The artificial ice rink is the single feature attractive to the most people because it appeals to youthful skaters during the day and to men and women skaters and curlers several nights a week, beginning in September or October and running through April or May. Figure and fancy skating as taught by a professional can be as thrilling and exhilarating as dancing and large and popular classes will no doubt develop.

An income will derive from the ice rink which will go a long way towards defraying the operation costs of the project and this feature should appeal to the taxpayer. This can all be determined for consideration of the committee from contact with Wauwatosa and many similar institutions in the cities of Ontario.

Many Grosse Pointers are famil-

lar with the game of curling through membership in the Detroit Curling Club and these could be the nucleus for starting that sport which is bound to become very popular as it always has wherever introduced. It is now spreading like wild fire into the small cities and towns of Wisconsin.

The following men in our community have been or are active curlers: Frank B. Andrus, C. Stewart Baxter, Fred C. Burden, E. B. Cooper, Glenn M. Coulter, Dr. T. S. Davies, Ferris H. Fitch, Louis B. Hyde, Dr. W. J. L'Heureux, Dr. John M. MacKenzie, Dr. Stanley MacKenzie, Dr. Angus L. McDonald, Walter I. Mizner, Paul I. Moreland, Herbert Morley, S. H. Pardee, Ward H. Peck, Robert Shiell, Walter S. Trowell and C. Gilbert Waldo.

Very truly yours,
Louis B. Hyde.

Let Your Physician Treat Impetigo

By FRED M. KOPP, M.D.

Impetigo is a skin infection that is quite prevalent in summer, especially among children. It usually appears on the hands, face, or legs, and is characterized by blistering sores that are painful and unsightly.

Only a doctor can diagnose Impetigo, consult him at once for this highly contagious disease spreads rapidly on the body, as well as to other persons. Never attempt home remedies as they may cause the infection to spread further.

Your doctor will advise medication. Entrust his prescription to a reliable druggist, then follow the directions implicitly for positive results.

Married Fifty Years

MR. AND MRS. S. ALEXANDER, parents of Milton G. Alexander of 1042 Audubon road, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Saturday, June 6, with a reception in their son's Grosse Pointe Park home. About 70 guests attended the party to honor the couple, who were married in Detroit 50 years ago. Picture by Fred Runnells

Kid Bits

By Betsy Bachmann

What with swimmin', sailin', tennis, and just plain loafing occupying more and more of our time, we are beginning to feel just a wee bit lazy about anything even faintly resembling work! So, pretend that this is last week, and maybe we can catch up on all the vacation doings for the last couple of weeks.

A week ago last Friday (My, how time flies!) MARY ANN QUEEN gave a going away party for Marilyn Kaiser and Dottie Wulz. These two lucky gals are spending most of the summer south of the border, down Mexico way. The guests were served a buffet supper by the two most competent and reliable (?) butlers in G.P., Bill Queen and Fred Auch. Mary Ann was with Dick Jackson, Marilyn with Joe Hickey, and Dottie with Sandy Malcolmson. Others included Katie Kabislesch and Jerry Scott, Doris Buser and Gerhart Gainsley, Di Faulk and Dick Wuerker, Annie Davis and Ed Isby, Joanne Russell and Tom Dewey, Scottie Scott and Byrd Spurrier, Janet Reid and Roger Fitch, Caroline Orr and Bill Boardman, Marilyn Smith and Daisy Thomas, Elie Hewitt and Earl Lapp, and Joann Morrison and Dan Beck.

BETH KLAVER chose Friday night to fete her house guest, Mary MacKenzie, of South Bend, Indiana. Those who arrived in time for the out-of-door grill party, and stayed long enough for a couple of games of bridge afterwards included Charlene Johnson, Mitz Cronin, Barbara Vance, Sue Hughes and Judy Zick.

Saturday was the big night for the Detroit and Grosse Pointe sailing enthusiasts. Rounding up a day of stiff competition in the afternoon races, many a sailor and his date arrived at the Boat Club for the Annual Commodore's Ball, where awards were announced and cups were given. Those who spent the evening dancing under the stars were Macky Macpherson and Bud Roesch, Marilyn Lamb and Bill Queen, Ann Haggarty and Jim Grew, Judy McKiel and Don Marenietto, Joan Cope and Dave Sutter, and Carol Lecklider and Walt Smith.

A few of the girls gathered at MARY TRUMBULL'S on Saturday, for dinner. Mary Thorn, Bunhy Kitson, Betty Auch, Marilyn Lamb, Janie Sheaffer, and Judy Zick were there.

MARY RONEY is spending the summer at her cottage near Pontiac. Those who joined her for a houseparty over the Fourth were Marge Bull, Peder Field, Kay Morris, Bob White, Betty Brooks, Jim Hild and Don Olivier.

What is left of Grosse Pointe gathered at JOANIE WILLIAMS' on Thursday for a big holiday celebration. Firecrackers were appropriately the big event of the evening. Those who partook in the festivities were Bev Brown, Bill Halliday, Bunny Kitson, Bob Tobin, Don Winslow, Ray Schumann, Denny Thomas, Jeanne Simmons, Betsy Bauman, Jeff Welsher, Marilyn Buck, Bill Queen, Bob Nette, Fred Auch, Mary Thorn, Betty Auch, Dan LaFerte, Mike Bloy, Warren Pascal, Bud Roesch and George Kennedy.

Pointers again congregated at the Boat Club on Saturday for the weekly dance. Joann Morrison was with Jack Flattery, Andy Londez with Dudley Christianson, Bev Eldt with Clare Sober, Annie Wakeman with Fred Auch, Janet Reid with Tom Lettmaier, Mary Ann Queen with Ronnie Milner, and Marilyn Lamb with Bill Queen.

PEOPLE IN AND OUT... Jane Mozena is revisiting the old home town. She is staying with Bev Brown, and expects to be here for the rest of the summer. As you may know, her present home is in California... Charlene Johnson has arrived from New York to spend a couple of weeks with Mitz Cronin... Elaine Buhner and George Parker have gone to MacKinac to visit Peggy and Mac MacKenzie... Andy Klingebell will be at Higgins Lake for the summer... Joan Mulford left for her ranch in Colorado for about a month. Martha Johnson and Sue Reekie are with her... Sue Hughes is visiting her cousin, Barbara Vance, in Lake Forest... Carol McPherson has been spending week-ends at Erie Beach with Libby Powell, Elaine Kramer, Joan Cochrane, and Joan and Jane Gehlert... the Frost girls, Sally and Judy, are at Castle Park for the month of July.

The boats entered in the MacKinac races leave tomorrow for Port Huron, and the race will begin from there on Saturday. Afterwards, most of them will take time out for a few weeks' cruise in Georgian Bay. Hardened sailors who will leave on their respective ships include John Rummel on the Apache, Dave Kilgore on the Soubrette, Dave Sutter on his father's ship, the Stormy Petrol, Dick Seymour on the Josephine, and John Sarvise on the Roynona.

Martha Jane Berry To Wed on Saturday

Bennett Junior College and Fordham University Have Monopoly on Wedding Scheduled for St. Paul's.

Bennett Junior College and Fordham University have a monopoly on the fashionable wedding this Saturday of Martha Jane Berry and Edward Alfred Silliere, who are to be married at noon in St. Paul's Church on the Lake.

The bride-elect and two of her bridesmaids are Bennett girls and the complete masculine side of the wedding party (with the exception of one groomsmen) are Fordham men.

Martha is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Berry of Lakeview Court and her bridegroom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Eugene Silliere of New York City.

Mrs. Richard A. Schrage is to be Martha's matron of honor and Gloria Ford will be maid of honor.

Mrs. Andrew Miller (the former Jane Stocking, a bride of late June) will be bridesmaid along with the two Bennett classmates who are now Mrs. Paul R. Sieber of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. John D. Snelham of Ardsley-on-the-Hudson, N. Y.

John Lane, of New York City, a classmate of Edward's at Fordham, is to be best man. Ushers include Richard A. Schrage; and Fordham classmates Arthur Hohmann, Jack Haggerty and William Hines, all of New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Berry will be hosts Friday evening at the rehearsal dinner in the Country Club and again at the wedding breakfast and reception, at Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, following the church ceremony.

Among the out of town guests who will attend the wedding will be members of the Berry and Silliere families.

Mrs. Berry's mother and sister, Mrs. James M. Eckles and Miss Edna Eckles, both of Parkersburg, guests of the Berrys.

Expected to arrive today are parents of the bridegroom-elect, Mr. and Mrs. Silliere and their niece, Mrs. Fred Thompson, also of New York City, who will be at the Book Cadillac during their stay.

This Thursday evening marks two social events on the young couple's calendar.

Gloria Ford and Mrs. Robert Snow will be co-hostesses at the spinster dinner in the Whittier while the bridegroom-elect will attend his bachelor dinner at the Detroit Club.

Martha and Edward will dine in Riverdale, N. Y., upon their return from their wedding trip.

Roy Scharfenberg was his brother's best man and ushers were James Scharfenberg, David Sherwood, Jack Kennedy and Rudolph Pessel.

Friends Welcome Home Taylors

About four hundred of their friends greeted Burt Eddy Taylor, Jr., and his bride, the former Dorcen Wessel of Copenhagen, last Sunday afternoon at the reception and garden party given for them by Burt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burt Eddy Taylor at their home on Lake Shore road.

The lovely young bride is not a stranger to Grosse Pointe, having visited here often with her sister, Mrs. Wessel Booth. In fact during the war years Doreen and her parents, Chilean Minister to Denmark and Mrs. Wessel spent much time here with Mrs. Booth.

The senior and junior Taylors received their guests in the music room of their home. Mrs. Taylor senior chose a floor length deep blue marquisette gown embroidered in soft dogwood. Her daughter-in-law wore a blue print flowered in deep fuchsia blossoms.

"It's really like coming home" said the pretty bride as she stood in the receiving line. Now Copenhagen, where her fashionable wedding took place in May, seems the far away place.

The young Taylors moved this week into Mrs. Wessel Booth's home on Provencal road which they will occupy while she and her daughters, Winkle, Doreen and Jacqueline are visiting this summer in Copenhagen. Incidentally, the young Taylors were in Copenhagen for two weeks after the Booth's arrival and there was much gayety attendant upon the first time the sisters had been together in Denmark in eight years.

Wedding to Unite Pointe Families

Marilyn Ruth Smith has chosen August 3 for the date of her wedding to Robert B. Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Logan Wood of Cranford lane.

The attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Smith of Moran road and her bridegroom-elect will be married at an evening ceremony in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church with Rev. Francis Glazebrook reading the service.

Mrs. David Hinks will be her sister's matron of honor and bridesmaids will include Barbara Wood and Mrs. Reece Hatchett, sisters of the bridegroom-elect; and Mrs. Richard Colville.

Little Diana Hinks will be her auntie's flower girl.

Donald Wood will be his brother's best man and ushers include William and Jack Wood, also brothers of Bob; Charles R. Smith Jr., brother of the bride-elect, and James Stevenson.

Seyburns Gather At Resort Home

The picture-book home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesson Seyburn at Manchester-by-the-sea is always an enchanted spot in summertime, when members of the family—some now married and living in far flung places—return for the kind of warm weather holiday they like best.

Mrs. Seyburn is leaving the Pointe this Monday to spend the rest of the season at her Summer home. Already there are her daughter, Mrs. Edward McIlvain, Jr., of New York and her three little boys.

From Chicago another daughter, Mrs. Charles Appleton Meyer and her daughter, Brooke, have arrived at Manchester-by-the-Sea. Week-end guests are the Richard Hartes (Isabel Seyburn) who now live in Boston.

The Manuel Quintanas of Buenos Aires (Edith Seyburn) have written they'll visit at Manchester in early September.

SHE WAS RIGHT

Mrs. Eggleston of 832 Neff road telephoned the police in the wee hours of Monday morning that there was some "strange object" on top of her car. The strange object which the police removed was a hefty road barricade sign—probably the most convenient spot the boys could drop it.

From Another Pointe of View

by Jane Schermerhorn

When she travels abroad . . . Mrs. Samuel Heffelfinger Bell of Phoenix, Ariz. and Wayzata, Minneapclis . . . may be noted for her John Fredericks chapeaux . . . her striking topaz toned beauty . . . her great charm . . .

But when she comes home to the Pointe . . . she becomes quickly Virginia Ford . . . still the toast of the Pointe . . . and remembered for her appetite (even with which she retains her wondrously trim figure!) . . .

While newspapers heralded her popularity her coming out year . . . the debutante Virginia Ford paid no attention whatsoever to all the fan fare . . . was most impressed with sugar frosted white grapes which were served at all the teas that Summer to her GREAT delight . . .

So it is quite appropriate that when she mentioned to a friend recently that during her visit here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Ford of Bishop Road . . .

The dinner party given her by her friends Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Buhl Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Wiener . . . she said what a wonderful party it had been and then added, "Barbecued chicken" . . .

DINNER FETES MRS. BELL

The Buhl and Weiner party (at the Buhl's Provencal road home) brought together one of the Pointe's jolliest crowds for Mrs. Bell's dinner . . .

Included were: Mr. and Mrs. Cameron B. Waterman II . . . Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Evans, Jr. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Charles Symington, Jr. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Fink . . . Mr. and Mrs. John H. French, Jr. . . . Mead Baker . . . and Gaylord Gillis, Jr. . . .

Following dinner . . . the guests played "The Game" . . . a form of charades they have played for a score of years . . . This week-end Mrs. Bell along with her trio of tots . . . Wendy, Sammy and Sally . . .

Will leave for Wayzata . . . to join Mr. Bell and his parents . . . Mr. and Mrs. James F. Bell for the remainder of the Summer. In the autumn . . . the Bells return to their Arizona ranch . . .

A SEASON TO REMEMBER

The season just past . . . Certainly saw the gayest and grandest entertaining at the Pointe in many a long moon . . . Some say the parties were the most elaborate ever given here . . .

Frank Sinatra's appearance at the dance for Billy Ford was just about the last gasp . . . Frank is a great friend of the Benson Fords . . . who entertain for him whenever he comes to town.

He sang four songs for the guests at the Ford dance . . . and even impressed the Pointers more . . . by remembering the proper names of all he met . . . The old Dale Carnegie touch! . . .

BRIDE-ELECT LEAVES FOR NORTHERN RESORT

During the week . . . Mr. and Mrs. Percival Dodge . . . with daughter, Nancy . . . Left for Huron Mountain . . . and their cabin there . . . On the twenty fourth of August . . . Nancy will be married at the cabin . . . to Earl I. Heenan, Jr. . . . son of Mrs. Earl I. Heenan . . . at an informal Summer wedding . . .

The Dodges will entertain at a large house party that week-end . . . all the wedding guests . . . And Rev. Frank Pitt will go up to perform the marriage ceremony . . .

INFORMAL SUMMER WEDDING

Nancy will not have attendants . . . But the girls who would have been her bridesmaids . . . will act as unofficial maids . . . having a special grouping for the ceremony . . .

Her brother Murry Dodge . . . who graduated this year from Brooks School will return in time for his sister's wedding . . . At the moment . . . the young man (who enters Yale in the fall) is motoring through the west with two schoolmates . . .

MISS FIRESTONE CHARMS

Everyone has been exclaiming over the charm of out of towners . . . Martha Firestone of Akron . . . daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Firestone, Jr. . . . Who was at the Pointe for the Ford dance . . . Petite and blond . . . Martha won friends fast during her brief stay . . . She was the guest of Mrs. Edsel Ford . . . while she was here.

Miss Sassmanhausen Marries Ralph G. Guy

Pointe Girl Living in St. Clair Shores Following Marriage in Mt. Zion Lutheran Church

Among the many weddings which made this past June an outstanding one in Grosse Pointe, was the one which united Lenora Sassmanhausen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Sassmanhausen of Oxford road, and Ralph G. Guy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Guy of Drexel avenue on June 22.

The young couple were married at a four o'clock in the afternoon ceremony which took place at Mt. Zion Lutheran Church.

For her wedding, Lenora wore exquisite bridal robes of ivory satin designed with long, full train and fitted bodice. From a high tiara of seed pearls and ivory sequins fell the long wedding veil, extending the full length of the gown's formal court train. Her bridal bouquet was of ivory roses and white orchids.

Mrs. Helen Kirkpatrick of Elyria, Ohio, was her cousin's maid of honor. She wore pastel pink taffeta with a headpiece and gloves of matching net. She carried deep pink roses.

The bridesmaids were gowned in frocks of pastel rainbow hues—yellow, blue, orchid and peach net. They included Florence Splaser, Evelyn Pendley, Nellie Jogue and Yvonne Germain. Linda Guy, in white organdy shepherd's dress, and Tommy Guy, niece and nephew of the bridegroom, acted as flower girl and ring bearer.

Edward Weber was Mr. Guy's best man and guests were seated by John Judge, Bill Coulter, Robert Odell and Kenneth Chakiris.

Mrs. Sassmanhausen's frock of peach taffeta was distinguished at the shoulder by a corsage of yellow roses and blue carnations. The mother of the bridegroom chose dusty pink crepe for her son's wedding. Her flowers were pink roses and white carnations.

Following the church ceremony there was a wedding reception for 250 guests in the Crystal Ballroom of Masonic Temple.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Guy left for their wedding trip on the Great Lakes and are now at home in St. Clair Shores.

Luncheon Honors Mrs. John Booth

The delightful luncheon which Mrs. Ralph Harman Booth gave at the Country Club last week served a two-fold purpose. As well as introducing Mrs. John Booth (Louise Camper of Roanoke, Va.) to her friends, the luncheon also complimented the hostess mother, Mrs. John J. Batterman of Cleveland, O.

Mrs. John Booth, who is a charming addition to Grosse Pointe's young married set, was most attractive in a white Summer frock splashed with gaily toned flowers. The Booths have taken a house on Rivard boulevard for the Summer.

About 50 guests were present.

Ann McMillan Bride Of W. R. Manierre, II

Candlelight Ceremony Held in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church with Dr. Frank Pitt Officiating

In ivory toned pearl satin and illusion, Ann McMillan, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Thayer McMillan of Grosse Pointe, last Saturday became the bride of William Read Manierre II of Lake Forest, Ill., son of Mrs. E. Harrison Manierre of Lake Forest and Cyrus Edson Manierre of New York.

The candlelight ceremony took place at 4 o'clock in the afternoon in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church with Rev. Frank Pitt officiating.

Ann's wedding gown of pearl satin was lovely with high neckline, long sleeves and a long train. Rosepointe lace edged her illusion veil, which fell from a cluster of orange blossoms. She carried white roses.

Mrs. Edward B. Caulkins, Jr., was her sister's matron of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. George R. Webster, Esther Palmer, Margaret Penley and Mary Elizabeth Hodges.

All were gowned alike in garden frocks of white net with lace bodices and carried arm bouquets of white daisies.

Cyrus Edson Manierre, Jr. of Lake Forest was his brother's best man and the ushers comprised William C. McMillan, brother of the bride; Peter Reinhardt of Highland Park, Ill.; Albert Millet of Lake Forest; Frank Mayfield of St. Louis; William Wallace of Southport, N. Y.; Henry Soter of Sharon, Pa.; David Ogden of Oyster Bay, L. I.; and Irwin Slovoff of Buffalo.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McMillan wore a gown of deep blue lace. Mrs. Manierre chose soft gray silk with a monk's cowl and a yellow cape edged in royal blue.

A reception followed the church ceremony in the home of the bride's parents on Essex boulevard.

For traveling, the bride chose a printed frock of blue and white with a white straw bonnet.

The young couple left for a Western motor trip, following which they will make their home in Lake Forest.

A MICHIGAN FASHION INSTITUTION FOR 77 YEARS

Pointer Takes Canadian Bride

The First Methodist Church in St. Clair Shores was the scene of a very pretty wedding Friday evening, June 21, when Laura A. Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis of New Brunswick, Canada, became the bride of Elmer E. Worden, son of Mr. Edgar Worden, of Grosse Pointe Woods.

The Rev. R. E. Morris performed the ceremony before an altar banked with white peonies, gladioli, orange blossoms and ferns.

The bride wore a street length dress of Danube blue fashioned with full cape sleeves and a round neckline. Her elbow length gloves were of white lace and her hat was of white straw lace. She carried a colonial bouquet of white gladioli and baby breath centered with purple orchids. She was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Howard Noble of Detroit.

Miss Jean Lewis, sister of the bride was her maid of honor. She was gown in pale yellow crepe and wore white gloves and hat. She carried a colonial bouquet of peach gladioli and yellow roses.

James E. Hallead, nephew of the bridegroom acted as best man. The guests were seated by Roy Temper and Gerald Wetzel. A reception for 200 guests was held in the Church parlors immediately following the ceremony. The couple are now on a honeymoon trip through northern Michigan.

DEATH TRAP

The grill covering the catch basin just north of 1320 Lakepointe was missed and reported to the police by a neighbor on Thursday, June 20. Apparently it had fallen into the sewer. It left a dangerous opening which would have meant certain death for any victim, who might have fallen into it. The Highway crew quickly replaced it.

Lamb Chops... London Style

By BETSY NEWMAN
Lamb chops, London style, would make a good dinner any Saturday evening, or any other evening, if you can get the chops. Piping hot Popovers also go well with the chops, and if any are left they may be reheated for breakfast. The chops may be cooked on top of your electric stove or in the oven, as is most convenient.
Pineapple Chiffon would make a delicious "finish-up" for this meal. Don't try to use fresh pineapple in place of the canned, for it won't work, take my word for it.

Such a cute idea of JULIANNE RUST's to wear her gold earrings made up of block initials, one spelling, "oui" and the other "non", in honor of her guest from Paris. Her navy and white print was very becoming and the motor cyclist's leather belt of navy blue leather made all the "femmes" green with envy. JULIANNE having one of the few figures able to carry such a belt. Her pretty dark hair frames her face so prettily it makes a nice picture!

Have never been able to catch "EL" DWYER with her hair down or other than a picture of good grooming. Saw her at a reception in a black crepe with large white flowers in the print and a huge toast straw crownless hat covered with scarlet poppies. The next day I met her in the market in the early a. m., looking just as "handy" as at the party, in another black and white print with bits of emerald green in the design and a cute little toast straw, off the face hat with a trim of emerald green ribbon. EL certainly has that soignée look.

While I'm on the subject I might as well tell you how cute DIANE DWYER looked in a powder blue crepe draped in the latest fashion and fastened at the hem with pale pink rosebuds. Her Grandmama and mother have set quite an example for her in the matter of good taste and smartness in dressing, but she seems able to hold her own and is following in their fashion track.

Pillagers

Have you ever heard the story of Al Jolson's visit to his aged father? He told him of a new musical which would net him $10,000 a week. The old man nodded, looked at his watch and told a crony in the room, "Soon, soon" . . . Jolson continued: "And then I go to Hollywood to do a picture. I'll get over $150,000 for it." His father nodded, and murmured, "Soon, soon" . . . "And then I got a radio program lined up at $4,000 a week," said Jolson. His father repeated, "Soon, soon." "What do you mean, 'Soon'?" Jolson asked. "It's one minute before seven o'clock," the senior Jolson explained. "Seven o'clock—Amos'n Andy."

There is a story that Jolson once punched one of the Shuberts and bloodied his nose. "I guess this winds him up with you, doesn't it?" Shubert was asked. He replied: "Of course not. Any man who makes a million dollars a year for me may punch me in the nose anytime."

PLEASANT RUMORS

The Standish Backus house on Lake Shore road is one of the most beautiful and perfect examples of English architecture in this country. The entrance is through a rather small square hall. On either side of the doorway are two windows of stained glass with antique medallions in lovely old yellow shades. Above an English carved oak chest hangs a beautiful tapestry. On this chest is a large bronze bowl filled with dark green leaves. In the corners stand wrought iron candelabras. Against one wall are two small oak chairs whose backs and seats are covered with petit point. The floor, walls and ceiling are of grey stone and all doorways are arched. The ceiling is arched with decorations of carved leaves here and there, culminating in a large cluster in the center from which is suspended a wrought iron lanternlike fixture. A large archway leads to the main hall which runs the length of the house. The ceiling of this is oak beamed.

Directly across from the first hall is the drawing room, having an archway of stone as a main entrance and there is a most interesting treatment of stone openings; arched and carved to resemble long and narrow windows which run the length of the room so that one may look from the hall into the drawing room and across to the real windows overlooking the terrace and the gardens.

The central archway and these openings are hung with dark wide brocade velvet curtains such as used in the drawing room at the windows. These may be drawn, thus ensuring privacy to the drawing room and the hall when so desired. In this rectangular shaped hall are wrought iron wall brackets holding electric candles. Covering the wall light buttons are plaques of wrought iron with cut out patterns. At various intervals, tall wrought iron candelabras holding large white tapers are standing. Against one of the stone walls is a low oak chest holding an interesting antique wooden ship.

At either side of the door leading to the first hall are identical spool-arm chairs of oak, with backs and seats of petit point. A stunning high chest holds several unusual pieces of pewter, including a large intricately carved box which looks like a treasure chest. Two rare old bowls are on either side of this and two platters are leaning against the wall. At the far end of the hall are two identical oak chairs, delicately carved and having cane seats and backs.

A rare bronze urn is found on another low antique oak chest and a burnished bronze pitcher about three feet high stands in one corner of the hall.

On either side of a beautifully carved wood door leading to the drawing room are wrought iron tripods with three white tapers in each.

MR. HAROLD B. DuCHARME OF LAKE COURT

Picture by Fred Rummels

About 15 years ago Harold B. DuCharme was studying life drawing at the Crafts Guild as a side issue and during the recess period he found himself naturally gravitating to a room where a Mr. Barker instructed in etching. He had always admired etching and so for a month took lessons in acid bitten plate which is "true etching". Then he switched over to "dry point" and educated himself by studying books on etching and "dry point". He prefers the latter as it has a softer quality.

An etching is made on a plate with a wax composition ground, a sharp tool being used to draw through the wax. This is then "bitten" with acid, either put on with a brush or by having the plate dipped in the acid.

"Dry point" is drawing with a diamond point instrument directly on the copper plate, as one would with a pencil on paper. Ink is rubbed in as one proceeds so that progress may be apparent.

The printing process is exactly the same for both an etching or dry point. The plate is warmed slightly and ink is rubbed well over the surface. The plate must then be thoroughly wiped with a large ball of cheesecloth. Mr. DuCharme claims that the secret of a successful print depends on one's technique with the cheesecloth. The plate is wiped clean, then "retouched" with the gauge to raise the ink. Next the plate is placed in a press, covered with a dampened piece of paper with several layers of felt and run through the rollers on the press under heavy pressure. Afterwards the paper is allowed to dry, either between blotters or stretched on a board. Dry point prints are limited to about 75, hence their value.

Mr. DuCharme has created his own Christmas cards and made a few plates for friends who admired them but he has never sold any of his work. He says that he just does it when he gets "the itch to etch" and would not be interested in doing it professionally as he feels that he could not work under pressure.

During the war it was impossible to procure copper plate, and the paper and ink he uses are imported from England, thus his etching had to be postponed. Before becoming interested in etching Mr. DuCharme had become an expert photographer, having specialized in taking pictures of animals at his summer home at Huron Mountain, Mich. Later he went in for portraiture and pictorial subjects. Two years ago, while "wintering" in California he took a very special course in black and white photography and last year a course in color. He is very enthusiastic about color and the use of a process called "metal-chrome" which gives unlimited control in the processing of the color print.

During the war Mr. DuCharme devoted time to photographing veterans at the U.S.O. He has had prints hung in shows at Pittsburgh, Los Angeles, Chicago, Detroit and at International Salon exhibits, and has received first and second awards.

When time and materials will allow, Mr. DuCharme will again take up etching. It is to be hoped that this will not be too far in the future as he is truly gifted. He is so modest I doubt if you will ever be asked to see his work but should this gentleman invite you to come and see his etchings, by all means accept.

Next Week: Mrs. Lester Ruwe.

Dear Mrs. Anthony:

Will you please settle an argument as to which color is proper for a boy baby, blue or pink?

Mrs. B. H. C.

I believe that blue is generally accepted as the proper color for boy babies, but after all it must be an individual matter of choice. As far as I've been able to discover, both colors are worn equally well by most boy and girl babies.

Dear Mrs. Anthony:

I have heard of an illuminated memorandum pad which glows automatically from a light on the inside when the pencil is removed. Can you tell me where I might buy one?

Miss D. H. M.

I regret that in this column I may not print the name of any particular shop, for obvious reasons, but I do know that this pad may be found in several gift shops in Grosse Pointe. Should you not be able to find the right one, please send me a stamped self-addressed envelope and I will be glad to send you the information.

It takes more than vague virtue to cope with violent revolution.

Pointe High School Program Offers Solution to Weighty Problems

By POLLY KAY

Grosse Pointe High School Journalism Student

If you had one thousand hungry children to feed at noon and less than two hours in which to do it, what would you do?

You would worry about where to get the food and what to get. At Grosse Pointe High School the cafeteria assumes this worry. The faculty and student solve the accompanying problems.

To speed up the service and eliminate overcrowding, only about half the students have a lunch period at a time, while the others have a class. The two lunch periods are each 45 minutes in length to correspond to the established class hour time.

Considering a high school student's healthy appetite and the excellence of the service in the cafeteria, it takes less than half of the period to stand in line, buy lunch, and eat it. So every noon there are about 500 boys and girls who each lunch hour have from 25 to 30 minutes free time on their hands.

Consider the problem of finding something constructive for five hundred students to do!

This situation is not a problem at the high school, however, since in 1931 the officers of the Student Association decided to do something about the waste of time and energy. They wanted to see that the students were not only provided with lunch, but also recreation or entertainment for the balance of the time. The recreation had to be quiet because of the classes in session in the building. With faculty supervision they organized a noon recreation program of three sections, two of which are still in use.

Noon dancing began first. The girls' gymnasium was opened, with music provided by records.

Shortly after dancing started, noon movies were organized. In 1931 equipment at the high school could show only silent films, and the majority of the films shown were historical, stranger than fiction, and cartoon reels. The two-reel comedies included such favorites as Andy Clyde and Ted Healy and his Stooges.

The school installed sound track equipment in 1935 and the movies gained in student popularity. Among the first sound track films shown were the always popular serials, Tarzan and Buck Rogers.

It wasn't long before the high school began receiving full-length films. Before they could be shown, however, the Board of Education had to sign an agreement with the PUNCH and JUDY Theatre promising not to show a film before the PUNCH did.

Since then there have been noon movies every year with an average of 30 films shown each semester. The only interruption occurred last year when the movie strike made it difficult or impossible to obtain the films and there were no pictures shown for three weeks.

A Student Association ticket is good for free admission to noon movies on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. On Tuesdays and Thursdays the movie costs five cents. Those are the two days there is dancing.

The third section, and the only one to be discontinued, was intramural sports. These included boxing and all seasonal games and were a great success with both the participants and the onlookers, but the school has grown, and the reason they were discontinued three years ago was that there were too many gym classes, so the gymnasiums and the athletic field had to be put to use both lunch hours.

With the noon recreation providing movies every day and dancing twice a week, there is no more idle time for the students. The only difficulty now is in trying to decide whether to eat first and then see the movie, or whether to see the movie and then eat. By attending the dancing on Tuesday and Thursday instead of the movie, the holder of a Student Association ticket has recreation every day for no additional cost. Lunch hour is fun at the Grosse Pointe High School.

HAMILTON'S TREASURE CHEST on Kercheval, (next to Pongracz Jewelers), announces the arrival of "Touzel Head Sweetie Pie", an arrival the stork had nothing to do with. In case you're ignorant about such matters, the following information is given. T.H.S.P.s are Effanbee dolls, of which there are no finer. They come in a box with a complete wardrobe of the last word in doll's clothing. Their hair may be washed and combed. Imagine the fun your own Touzel Head Sweetie Pie can have with one of these for her very own. The boys can be made happy with plastic speed boats. Jet propulsion enters in through the use of vinegar and soda for one and another is propelled by a gelatine capsule! Isn't it a marvelous age?

PONGRACZ JEWELERS (next to Hamilton's Treasure Chest) now have pre-war quality stationery. If you are a natural born letter writer, it will be a pleasure to you to write upon any one of their White and Wyckoff papers. These run from $1 to $5 and are put up in gift boxes. "Wedgewood Briefs", a white note paper with a border of blue, pink or grey with a Wedgewood pattern raised like the china, are new and distinctive. Another lovely paper is called "Ming." It's a modern reproduction of ancient Chinese paper. The envelopes are lined and there is a border on the side of the writing paper with darling little Chinese figures—storks, pagodas, trees, and people. This comes in white with raspberry, blue with a lighter blue, or grey with shell pink. If you are not a letter writer by choice, but purely from necessity, try writing on these papers; it may become a pleasure!

Had a nice talk with Mr. Mohr of the FARMS MARKET this morning and he explained the meat situation to me, and particularly his position regarding the end of the O.P.A. restrictions. He stated that due to the fact that the Government subsidy of 8 to 8 cents per pound has now been ended and the wholesalers have raised their prices, the price of meat will have to go up sufficiently to cover these increases. He definitely feels, however, as do all reputable dealers that if we, the public, will pull together and not pay the exorbitant prices charged by the "occasional" market, supply will soon balance demand and the result will be plenty of meat for all at fair prices. There you have it, ladies, it's all up to you, let your conscience be your guide.

Have you noticed how neat and clean and well manicured the QUEEN CLEANERS look on Kercheval avenue, near Neff? That's the way your clothes will look if you give them the chance to show you. If you're one of those "I'm from Missouri" guys, (and not in Washington), give them the chance to prove it. They also do excellent carpet cleaning on the floor for 5 cents a square foot. This can be done in one day and dries overnight so it can be walked on the next day. I wish I could be done over in one day, and come out looking the way the carpets do after the "Queen Cleaners" treatment! If you want to be that way about it, they will be glad to furnish references from any number of perfectly satisfied customers, from the best of homes! If you haven't put all the woollens in storage yet, this ought to be the last call or you'll find that the moths are heading the last call to the dining car provided by you!

If you're one of the many who have tried unsuccessfully to get an appointment at BLANCHE AND CYRIL'S Hairdressing establishment, take heart, as they now have adequate help and feel that they can take care of you. It's such a cool shop with its stone flooring and has been built to circulate the air from large fans freely throughout. I guess the weather prompts my sales talk on the advantages of being comfortable while they work, as opposed to "while you work," but they'll let you whistle just the same. And you'll feel like whistling when you see what they can do with that tired looking head you have, as a result of the weather or the water, or those dried-out hands as a result of the dish pan or the sun or what have you!

Mr. De PETRIS tells me that they are now working on their camellias, orchids, gardenias, azaleas and "mums" which would ordinarily bloom in November and they are forcing them to bloom in September. Don't feel sorry for the plants. They love it; they think they are putting one over on Mother Nature and don't we all love putting something over? This fall-flowering is done by shortening the hours of daylight. Bet that fooled you. Instead of 15 hours of sunlight they cut it to 12 hours. Now the flowers that bloom in the Spring, trillia have just the reverse treatment. Camellias that would naturally bloom in February are forced to make their appearance in November, and azaleas which would come out in the Spring, under Mr. De Petris' careful ministrations make their debuts at Christmas time along with the other "buds."

"SWEET N' LOVELY" is the name of a new cosmetic for the sub-teen age at TITUS DRUG STORE. Don't get me wrong; I am not advocating the use of eye shadow for your little one, but have you ever tried it on yourself? When properly applied it certainly does something for you and your love life. But to get back to the young, "Sweet N' Lovely" presents a bubble bath, in which your Sweetie Pie may languish and imagine herself another Rita Hayworth, a powder mitt, bound to do away with the scent of youth, and a cologne that will make her feel very grown up without knocking you off your feet when she enters the room! Shampoo and hand lotion should definitely be encouraged, and there's a lip "smoother" with the palest of pink tints, she'll be crazy for. Gift sets range from $1 to $4. You owe this care to yourself and why not your daughter?

Waffle irons at PROPER'S? What goes on? Well, don't be so literal, they're beach robes and they may be had in blue and white, or maroon and white for $13.50. There are also cotton gabardine models, tan with blue trim, yellow with blue or if you are the type to always take the opposite side they have blue with yellow trim! They aim to please. They also aim to stick to the O.P.A. chart of prices unless the wholesaler raises prices so that they are forced to, but we all hope not. There are alligator belts. I mean belts for men not alligators, and they are sooooo smart looking. The best dressed men are wearing them. If they have been able to find them. A wonderful suntan lotion put out by Janiten called "Jan" inviting you to "Tan with Jan", will keep one from burning but will promote a golden tan. Better buy, your man will thank you.

Another feather in MR. deGRIMME's well filled and qualified cap was added the other night when Mr. Robert E. Mason, a member of one of the oldest Grosse Pointe families was honored upon the occasion of his retirement after 35 years of service with the General Motors Corporation. The feather being added, by the presentation of an original oil painting by V. M. Poorten which had been selected from the de Grimme Galleries. What could be nicer? Mr. Mason must be very grateful for this wonderful gift. Mr. de Grimme must be happy that his Galleries were chosen for the selection, but that was to be expected!

Pointe Draft Board Gets Resignations Of Mills, Belanger

Area to Lose Convenience of Local Headquarters; Will Be Moved into Detroit After July 31

There will soon be a change in both the personnel and place of operation of Draft Board No. 57, which has served the convenience of the people of the Grosse Pointe area ever since the government began drafting men for war service.

Wilson W. Mills and Judge Joseph Belanger have been members of the Board since its inception and feel they are entitled to a rest. They have both presented their resignations to the Selective Service Administration and it is understood they will retire at the end of this month or some time in August. James S. Whitcomb, the third member of the Board, has been in Arizona for some time and his disposition is not known.

It is understood that it is the intention of the Selective Service Administration to concentrate all of the draft agencies in the county in an office in the Owens building in Detroit, with the exception of two or three boards in the outlying sections of the county, such as Trenton, Inkster and Flat Rock. Draft Board 57 will be downtown after July 31.

These gentlemen who have served as a patriotic duty have done a fine service for their country. For the people of Grosse Pointe it will be a deprivation to lose contact with officials of their own community and an inconvenience to have to do business with an office several miles distant.

The move is doubtless in conformity with Government policy to concentrate its draft machinery as our military and naval establishments are reduced to a peace basis.

There will be no draft in July according to official notification from headquarters and it is understood there will be none for August, although official word to that effect has not yet been received.

It was later learned that the Board will move its offices to the seventh floor of the Owens building on Lafayette on July 30 and the new Board members will be Township Supervisor Carl Schweikart of 1033 Nottingham and Floyd M. Beitzel of 1422 York-shire. Pending word from Mr. Whitcomb in Arizona, he will be continued as a member of the new board.

Unexpected Turn Produces Crash

An unexpected right hand turn from a left hand lane was blamed by one of the participating drivers for a crash at Mack and Moross road on July 3.

Edgar Nagel Marcus of 66 Oxford road, told Farms police he had pulled up behind and to the right of a car stopped for the light at the intersection. When the light changed, Marcus said Mrs. Ethel Zimmerman of 5938 Eastlawn, Detroit, made an abrupt right turn from the center line into Moross road.

Mr. Marcus' 1946 Nash was damaged to the extent of $250 he said. The Zimmerman car also suffered considerable damage in the tangle.

Burglar Alarms Temperamental

Burglar alarms going off without any discoverable cause, is one of the common nuisances with which the local police have to reckon. A very large number of business places of the Pointe are equipped with these protective devices.

In the early morning of July 2 a phone message was received at the Park police station from the A.S.T. Alarm company at Shelby and Congress, saying that the alarm was sounding from the State liquor store at 15227 Kercheval and that a man from their headquarters was on his way out. Sergeant Vernier made an examination and found nothing wrong. He shut off the alarm.

Two hours later the alarm at the Crown Cleaners at 15323 E. Jefferson sounded forth. This was shut off by the dawn patrol, after an examination of the premises showed nothing askew.

The police say that these devices are so delicately adjusted that they will start with the slightest jar. A mouse getting into the mechanism is also a common cause of their going off.

Traffic Mishaps Take Big Jump

If traffic accidents continue at their present rate, Detroit's 1946 toll of dead and injured will be approximately 2,500 higher than last year, records of the Accident Prevention Bureau indicate.

During the period from Jan. 1 through June 30, a total of 97 persons lost their lives and 6,211 suffered injury in motor vehicle mishaps on Detroit streets. This is a casualty increase of 23 per cent over the comparable period of 1945.

According to Donald Slutz, managing director of the Traffic Safety Association, there are several reasons for the increase, among them being lack of adequate traffic law enforcement, an all-time peak of traffic volume and a sharp rise in the number of accidents due to unsafe cars.

In connection with the first, Slutz revealed that while casualties have jumped 23 per cent, enforcement of serious traffic law violations has declined nine per cent.

"A traffic safety axiom that has never been disproved is that as enforcement goes up accidents come down," he said. "In Detroit we have actually been getting less enforcement than last year despite the fact that death and injury have been on the increase for several months."

"We have been assured by the Police Department that enforcement will immediately be stepped up to a more adequate level," Slutz revealed that traffic volume is heavier now than it was in the peak travel year of 1941, this despite the fact that there are approximately five million fewer automobiles in operation.

In connection with the mechanical condition of motor vehicles, the association managing director pointed to the results of the current Police Traffic Check Program. Of almost a million cars already checked in the United States, one in three had some obvious safety defects such as bad brakes, inadequate lights, broken windshield wipers and horns, and unsafe tires.

"The situation is definitely critical," he concluded, "and we have pointed this out to the public time after time. But the police check program would seem to indicate a high degree of public indifference to a very real and personal danger. The alternative to proper co-operation by drivers and pedestrians is increased enforcement which we have been promised by the Police Department will be forthcoming the rest of the year."

Jim Connor Injured In Crash on Mack Ave.

Officers Onstwedder and Derardt of the city police found a youth, Jim Connor, of 964 Beaconsfield, at the corner of Kercheval and St. Clair one evening last week, with a bad cut on his head and bleeding profusely. They took him to the Bon Secours hospital for emergency treatment.

Young Connor while driving a light truck had had a collision with another car at Cadieux and Mack.

Notes from the City police docket: "Friday after Master 'Butch' Shankweiler, aged 2½, got lost from his mother while in the Notre Dame pharmacy, reported to the police; found by the police in five minutes."

a half—we can't awaken him'... aroused him and sent him on his way. He is a gardener employed at St. Paul and Balfour."

County Pay Boost $400,000

A $400,000 pay increase for 5,500 county employees, effective July 15, had been approved recently by the county board of supervisors.

Under the measure, all county workers receive a flat $150 yearly increase.

The county board of auditors has recommended that all county employees receive a flat $150 raise on Dec. 31, 1946.

Total of 146 Boats Compete In Pointe Yacht Club Races

Fourth of July Regatta Draws Record Entry; Sailors Scramble for Honors in Unusually Light Air

By FRED RUNNELLS

Although the day wasn't just exactly what a sailor would call a good sailing day, the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club held the distinction of having the most yachts start in their Fourth of July sailing regatta. One hundred forty-six boats made their way to the starting line, using various methods other than the wind to do so.

Early in the morning there was every indication that the breeze would be perfect for sailing and yachts from down river began their long haul up to Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. The wind died before the warning gun was fired at 11 a.m., and paddles could be seen dipping the water as frantic skippers attempted to get close to the line before the starting gun was fired.

The big eight meters were the first to get the gun, but little good it did them because they couldn't keep steerage way and drifted helplessly at the line. Despite the lack of wind the judges kept firing the guns at the regular five minute intervals for the following classes and before a half hour had passed the starting line was so cluttered up with boats that there was a mad scramble of all classes to stay out of one another's way.

The versatile little Star class showed the rest of the fleet why they are so popular, all over the world, by working out of the pack with what little air there was. It wasn't long before the Star fleet had worked up even with the Cruising A division, which had started a full half hour before, and threatened to show the boys on the big boats the way around the course. Just at that point a light breeze picked up out of the northeast and the big boys began to move and preserved their reputation.

All the classes that received starting guns after high noon had a beautiful breeze for their reach to the first marker and the starting line soon was reserved for each class at its respective starting time.

Blitzen, co-owned by Ernie Grates and Murray Knapp, received her fifth straight winning gun in the light going, and had enough of a lead to overcome her handicap, which has knocked her out of the winning circle on four previous regattas, and win the silver trophy in the Cruising A class.

Charley Beck's six meter Djinn, a consistent winner last year that found the competition a lot tougher this spring, finally broke the 1946 jinx and emerged the winner.

Fred Temple's eight meter Thibbe and Gordon Saunders' Armida raced even down to within 100 feet of the finish line and it looked like it might be a dead heat, but Thibbe picked a little private air and scooted over with just 11 seconds to spare for the winning gun.

Tennis Pros Battling for World Title

Talent Galore in National Tournament Under Way at Forrest Hills

Almost every tennis professional of any note is in action in the National Professional Tennis Championships at Forrest Hills, July 7 to 14.

Bobby Riggs, one time national and British champion and present world match champion as a result of his 24-22 victory over Don Budge in their recent cross country tour, will be the favorite.

Even though he will be listed as the favorite, Riggs will get plenty of competition from his nemesis, Don Budge, former world champion as an amateur and a professional.

Fifty-three-year-old Bill Tilden, the miracle man of tennis, is entered and will give some of the younger players an exciting time in his matches.

Among other outstanding entries are Gen. Mako, Frank Kovacs, John Faunce, Fred Perry, Wilby Van Horn and Joe Whalen. Top prize money is expected to be around $20,000.

Gragg-Scherer Defeats Ulrich

Gragg and Scherer chalked up another victory in the Grosse Pointe Class B League on July 7 when it defeated Ulrich Lumber, 2-2.

Bill Crandall wrapped the game up in the ninth when he singled to deep center after two were out, knocking in the tying and winning runs.

Len Osentowski pitched two-hit ball after the second inning, allowing only five hits in all. This is the second straight win for Gragg and Scherer. Neil hit a three-bagger for the losers while Ernie Roberts had two hits out of the four trips to the plate for the winners.

Heated the Browns over a two year period. Greenberg's home run put him one behind Ted Williams for the league home run honors.

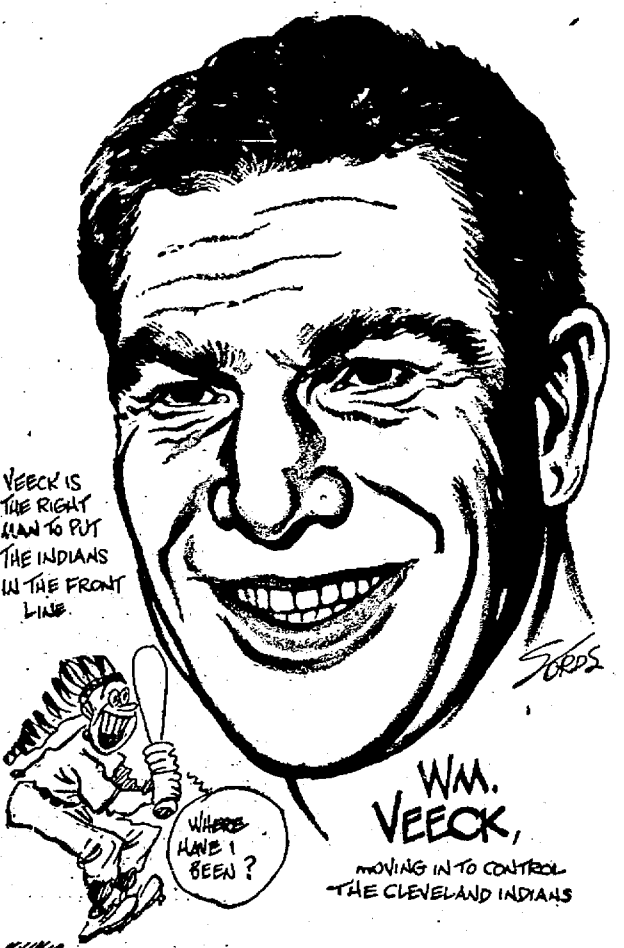

NATIONAL CHAMPION FRANKIE PARKER, of Los Angeles, ranking second only to the great Bill Tilden in the National Clay Court men's singles championships, gained his fourth title by defeating defending champion Billy Talbot in straight sets, 6-4, 5-4, 6-2, in the thirty-sixth annual meet at River Forest Tennis Club.

STEVE O'NEILL squelched the rumor that Hank Greenberg would replace the injured Joe DiMaggio in the All-Star game. "Greenberg is definitely out of the picture," was O'Neill's statement when contacted just before leaving for Boston.

MON. JULY 8—FRANKIE PARKER, after winning his fourth National Clay Courts tennis title, hinted today that he might turn professional "if the offer is good enough." His next tennis stop will be the Spring Lake, N.J., invitational tournament starting Tuesday.

City Team Wins First Half Metropolitan League Race

The fast moving nine from the City of Grosse Pointe won the first half of the Metropolitan Club League. This team has been around the top all through the schedule. Its secret to success has been plenty of hard practice. The Green and White team has been very ably handled by Chas. Kypros.

The Blue and Gold team from Grosse Pointe Woods was a serious contender all the way. This club has shown plenty of fight and is very well coached by that fatherly police officer Don Coats and his Assistant Howard Climey.

Then comes that Big Red and White team from Grosse Pointe Shores. This team started off like a bang but slowed down at the middle, then came on with two well earned victories over the Woods and Farms. That congenial cop up there by the name of Bill Ruel says "Look out for the second half."

The Maroon and Gold team from Grosse Pointe Park got off to a bad start and things didn't look too bright but after a few Cicero was charged with carelessness after he denied any knowledge of how Gypster was doped. He tried to ship his horses to several other American tracks but because of the suspension he was forced to send them to a race track in Ottawa, Canada.

WED. JULY 10—WORLD HEAVYWEIGHT champion Joe Louis finally met defeat, but not in the ring. Joe lost to Dr. Remus Robinson, of Detroit, 2-1, in the Forest City Golf Association's Negro amateur golf tournament at Cleveland.

Yankees Grab Main Honors at Wimbledon

Pauline Betz Becomes Reigning Queen By Defeating Louise Brough

Pauline Betz became reigning queen of the famed Wimbledon center-court to lead the American sweep through the final day of the postwar's first all-England tennis championships.

Miss Betz won the right to the crown that once was worn by such greats as Helen Wills and Alice Marble, by taking the final of the women's singles in straight sets from her arch-rival, Louise Brough, of Beverly Hills, California, to the tune of 6-2, 6-4.

She thus repeated her triumph of two years ago over her neighbor-rival in the American championships and preserved the long line of American succession at Wimbledon, as last held by Alice Marble in 1939 when the war forced cancellation of the matches.

Jack Kramer and Tom Brown, of Los Angeles and San Francisco respectively, took the men's doubles final from Geoff Brown and Dinny Pails, Australia, 6-4, 6-2, with Kramer hitting the high of his Wimbledon endeavors and Pails the low of futility.

Miss Brough and Margaret Osborne, American Champions, won the women's doubles from Miss Betz and Doris Hart in an All-American final, 2-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Miss Brough teamed with Tom Brown and took their second championship of the meeting with a straight set victory, 6-4, 6-1, over Geoff Brown the Australian, and Dorothy Bundy, of Santa Monica, California, in the mixed doubles.

Miss Bundy is the daughter of May Sutton Bundy who, shortly after the turn of the century, scored the first American triumph in the Wimbledon all-country singles. That triumph was not repeated for more than 20 years when Helen Wills won the title.

Olsen Wins Red Run Tournament

The long hitting game of Bob Olson, 18-year old Grosse Pointe High athlete and one of the busiest amateur golfers in the Pointe, paid off dividends in the Junior 36-hole medal event at Red Run, led field with a 153 total, three strokes over his closest opponent, Bob Berry.

Olson maintained his opening day pace on the second day of the event and successfully withstood the threat of Red Run's Berry, another sixteen year old. Olson held a one stroke lead over Berry when the final day's play started but Berry wiped this out on the first nine.

Playing in the same threesome, they were still tied at the end of 31 holes, but Olson's long accurate hitting enabled him to finish the last five holes in one over par, a pace that Berry couldn't match.

Berry lost three strokes to Olson in those last five holes to take runner-up honors just three holes to take shrill shriekish strokes ahead of Bob Zinn, another Red Run youth.

Port Huron-Mackinac Race Attracting Record Fleet

As Many As 60 Boats Likely to Start, With Pointe Well Represented in Annual Sailing Classic

BY FRED RUNNELLS

By the time this story goes to press the majority of the Port Huron-Mackinac fleet will be moored in Black River in Port Huron awaiting the starting gun which will send the huge fleet off in the 21st Annual Port Huron-Mackinac sailing race.

Last year a blustering storm out of the north forced all but four boats back to the Black River harbor. Only Blitzen, last year's winner, Manitou, Apache and Last Straw, this year's Mills Trophy winner, were able to battle the worst storm in 20 years and reach Mackinac.

Only one serious mishap occurred in last year's race, that being to Cleve Wellings' Vitesse when she ran aground near Sanilac and the crew waded ashore. Instead of listing the Vitesse as a total loss as she lay on her side in about knee deep water on the beach, Wellings contacted Flaher Boat Works and had them bring the ship back to Detroit.

For the remainder of the sailing season and all last winter Cleve watched his pride and joy being repaired. The job cost something like $5,000 dollars, but Vitesse was sailing again this spring and proved to her owner the job was well worth the trouble by winning the first race of the season, the DYC spring regatta. Vitesse is listed as a starter again with the same crew aboard this year. Wellings, Les Nevine, Joe Snay, Carl Vosberg, Avery Macklem and Dr. R. D. Ament. Two new additions are Freddie Jensen and Harold Korneloff.

Grosse Pointe will be ably represented by Fred Ford's "Persephone," "Evening Star" skippered by Paul Smiley and J. B. Ford's "Royono," a 72 foot yawl which will be scratch boat of the fleet in the cruising class.

"Stormy Petrel," co-owned by Dave Sutter and Ed Flinterman, will be the sole representative of Crescent Sail Yacht Club. Stormy has been a consistent winner in the recent regattas this year and figures that this race might be the lucky one. As many as 60 boats may start.

Local rowing enthusiasts are quite certain that the local lads from Detroit, Ecorse and Wyandotte have enough on the ball to be serious contenders for rowing honors at the coming Canadian Henley championships later this month as the result of their showing against the St. Louis and Chicago visitors in the Fourth of July regatta held at the Ecorse Boat Club.

Ecorse with a host of specialists in the singles and pair-oared events annexed the lion's share of the 323 points to give that club the victory in the two day regatta. Detroit Boat Club came up with several extremely competent combinations in the four oared events and an unexpectedly strong senior eight to give the Detroit club second place.

Homebred superiority was proven on the second day of the program when Ecorse and the Detroit Boat Club kept St. Louis and Chicago from winning a single race. Ecorse and Detroit divided the honors by taking five events each.

The DBC shell rowed a flawless race, leading throughout, although threatened by Ecorse continually. The victory marked the first senior eight-oared win that DBC has gained during Coach Judson Rose's eight-year tenure.

The most exciting race of the regatta came in the duel between the DBC and Wyandotte High School fours, in which a series of fouls was climaxed when the two contenders locked oars 100 feet from the finish line. In the mad scramble the DBC shell came off second best when two holes were poked in the Boat Club shell. Wyandotte managed to struggle across the finish line, but the race was called no contest. No one was injured in the collision.

THURS. JULY 4—A CROWD of 51,303 fans at Briggs Stadium, the largest turnout in the majors as 210,000 spectators witnessed eight twin bills, saw Roy Cullenbine smash three home runs of the seven hit during the double-header between the Tigers and Indians. Tigers took the first game but dropped the second on a one-run decision.

AS THE OLD SAYING GOES "the team that is leading the league on the Fourth of July will go on to win the pennant." If that is true, and it has worked out that way about two-thirds of the time in the past, the Boston Red Sox and the Brooklyn Dodgers will meet in the fall classic come October. Surprisingly enough the Brooklyn team has a greater lead in the National League than the much discussed Red Sox. Brooklyn leads by seven games while Boston only has a 5½ game lead over the second place Yankees.

BRIGGS BEAUTYWARE softball team split its double header with the champion Fort Wayne Zollners at Mack Park. After losing the first game of a two-bitter by "Diz" Kirkendall, 2 to 0, Briggs handed Leo Lukon his first defeat in 51 games to win the second, 2-1.

FRI. JULY 5—ONLY ONE WING of the famous Oakmont Country Club remained standing today after an estimated $2,000,000 fire had swept the building.

ON THE BASIS of correct times, A. H. Fuller's 57-foot sloped Gesteur, out of New London, Conn., and Mrs. B. W. Henry's 65-foot yawl Good News, out of New York, were tied for the lead in the Bermuda ocean yacht race. Both boats finished well back of Henry C. Taylor's Baruan the first boat to finish and the winner of the last Bermuda race in 1938 but on corrected time the Baruna was more than five hours behind.

SLAMMIN' SAMMY SNEAD, of Hot Springs, Va., won the British Open golf championship with a 72-hole total of 290 and became the first American to win the title since Denny Shute turned the trick in 1933.

BUDDY YOUNG, noted Negro sprinter and halfback, received his Navy discharge and announced he plans to return to Illinois in time for the fall term.

SAT. JULY 6—STEVE O'NEILL, manager of the American League team in the All-Star game to be played in Fenway Park, Boston, next Tuesday, announced he would start Bob Feller. The rules will limit Feller to only the first three innings. O'Neill expects to follow with Hal Newhouse and Spud Chandler.

TOMMY BURNS, 65-year-old former heavyweight boxing champion, applied for a marriage license to marry his childhood sweetheart, Mrs. Charles R. Vanderlip, 80, in Oakland, California.

U. OF MICHIGAN and Stanford University are making football plans well in advance. The two schools are planning to play a regularly scheduled contest in 1952. The game is to be in commemoration of the 1902 "visit" of the Ann Arbor squad to the west when the Wolverines defeated the Indians 49-0. Michigan plans to make the trip by air.

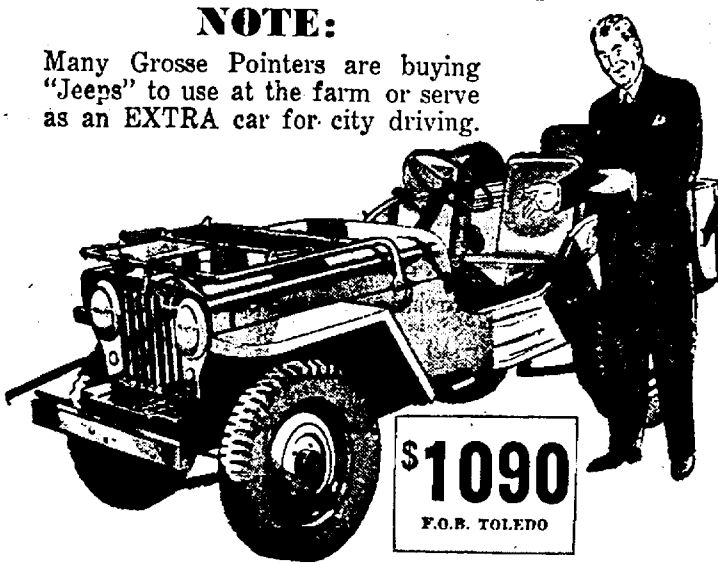

ROY CULLENBINE, the fellow who rode the "pine" while Dick Wakefield, the Tigers $52,000 disappointment, wallowed in an unbreakable batting slump since the beginning of the season, has finally come into his own. Roy hit five terrific home runs in two days against the Cleveland Indians and established himself as a serious contender for a regular berth in the Tiger outfield.

SUN. JULY 7—HAL NEWHOUSE and Hank Greenberg combined their efforts and downed the St. Louis Browns, 3 to 0. The victory marked the eleventh straight time Newhouse has de-

Gratiot Township Bond Issue Receives Approval of State

$225,000 Will Be Used to Construct New Water Mains and Sewers and to Refund Former Issues

Gratiot township has received authorization from the state to proceed with its issue of bonds for water main and sewer extension. The ordinance for the issue was adopted by the township board a few weeks ago and pending the legally required interval of 30 days after the passage of the ordinance the bonds will be sold and the work proceed. This limit will be reached on July 15 and the purpose now is to sell the bonds on that date.

The issue is for $225,000. Of this amount $95,000 will be expended on the sewer and water service and the remainder applied to refunding similar water and sewer service issues made some time ago.

There has been pressure exerted for some time by realtors and subdividers for the water main extension along Harper avenue. It was largely in response to this insistence that the improvement was inaugurated. Already these subdividers have posted cash bonds with the township assuring the immediate installation of the water service laterals. The township is already assured that this water service extension will result in the building of 800 new homes quickly with the prospect that the number will be many more.

The bonds are what are known as revenue bonds, depending for their interest and redemption on the revenues of the water and sewer services. They are not a general obligation bond, and as such did not have to be approved by vote of the citizens prior to issue.

The township board is assured that the additional revenue accruing to the township by this extension will more than provide the necessary revenue to amortize the issue. It is to this added the substantial increase in general tax revenues by the addition of a large number of homes, the township should be well ahead in the deal. The work will be started soon and will be completed well in advance of the end of the outdoor construction season.

Horatio Alger Career Led Pointe's Hugh Joseph Ferry To Packard Vice-Presidency

Hugh Joseph Ferry, of Neff road, City of Grosse Pointe, vice-president, secretary and treasurer of the Packard Motor Car Company, was born at Grand Rapids, Michigan, December 14, 1884.

At the age of three, he moved with his mother and father, an electrician, to Detroit where the family first settled on Elmwood avenue in the City's eastside Corktown.

Less than a year passed after the family's arrival in Detroit when the elder Ferry was accidentally electrocuted. While they were small, the brothers ran errands, peddled papers and were handymen for the neighborhood. Later, one brother, Robert, contributed substantially to the family's income with money earned boxing professionally. It was Hugh Ferry's job, in those days, to accompany his older brother to his fights, collect the purse and take the money safely home.

His early connection with boxing enabled Ferry to closely watch development of the sport in Michigan for more than four decades. He literally grew up with boxing in the state. He saw finish fights on barges in the Detroit river, when such bouts were illegal. Later, he served a long term as A.A.U. Commissioner of boxing for Michigan's Eastern District.

Young Ferry made his formal debut as a money maker at the age of 10. A capable swimmer and diver at an early age he added his bit to the Ferry fund by diving for pennies, nickels and dimes from the old Frost dock at the foot of Detroit's Leis street as pleasure steamers pulled in to dock.

At the age of 11, he began two years' employment in a neighborhood butcher shop where he worked three days weekly for the family's week-end meat.

About this time Ferry got the urge typical of all young men. He wanted to join the Navy. He knew he was too young, but thought he could fool the recruiting officers. But he couldn't. He was rejected in Detroit, Buffalo, New York, Boston, Washington and Philadelphia. He worked his way around the "Navy" circuit, sleeping in a bread wagon one night, and in a box car the next.

In the late 1890's, he started working for the Detroit News as driver of one of the horse-pulled wagons which carried papers out Grand River. At that time the Grand River run ended near Trumbull Avenue.

His career with the Detroit News branched out rapidly. After slightly more than two years' employment he became a journeyman pressman. It was Ferry who ran the News' extra announcing the assassination of President McKinley.

It was then, in the early 1900's that Ferry became associated with factory life for the first time. He went to work for the Michigan Stove Works as time-keeper. He still recalls carrying coffee and sandwiches to firemen when flames swept through the Works in one of Detroit's greatest fires.

Ferry was married in 1906. He is the father of two sons.

After reaching the status of foreman at Michigan Stove, he took the money he had saved and, with a friend, started the Michigan Metal Spinning Company. It was located where Packard's Detroit branch now stands. The new venture went well.

Until an employee, through carelessness, lost a hand in one of the machines. About this time Ferry found it necessary to undergo a major operation. While still in the hospital he learned that a sizeable judgment had been awarded the injured worker.

To meet the judgment, it was necessary for Ferry to sell the company and mortgage his home. He left the hospital on crutches, broke and unemployed.

He looked for a job where he could sit down to allow the incision of his operation to heal properly. The Packard Motor Car Company had one to offer, a $80-a-month position in cost accounting. He accepted. That was March 7, 1910.

Figures intrigued him. He attended night school at the Detroit Technical Institute. Then a school of accountancy. Evenings and holidays were spent studying finance.

In 1911 he was made Packard paymaster. As such he knew personally and paid 4,000 employees. Four years later he was made assistant cashier. His course completed at the Institute, he continued his quest for the education he left unfinished at the 10th grade and began teaching accounting and commercial law at the Institute. Many of his pupils were returning soldiers. Many of them are still working at Packard today. He readily admits he learned as much, or more, teaching as in school.

He became assistant treasurer of Packard in 1919 and in 1926 was made Treasurer, succeeding the late Richard P. Joy. In 1934 he attained the position of Secretary and Treasurer, and was elected Vice President, Secretary-Treasurer, in April, 1945.

Ferry has held many chairmanships, for civic, philanthropic, humanitarian and social functions. One of his closest friends is Father Flanagan of Boys Town. Ferry has been a member of the Boys Town, "bread club" for years, and is an honorary citizen of the town.

Of things financial, he prides himself most on the faith expressed in his ability during the panic of the "Bank Holidays." Despite his more or less impersonal connection with Detroit banks, he was named chairman of the Guardian Depositors Committee and chairman of the committee of the First National Bank of Detroit on settlement of civil liability.

Under his guidance, the two committees made it possible for thousands of depositors to realize a nearly immediate 100 per cent return on monies in deposit when banks were closed. Ferry, himself, after determining that bank assets were adequate to cover deposits, and that an RFC loan could be secured, persuaded a group of large depositors to leave their money in the banks. As a result approximately 135,000 Guardian National Bank depositors were paid in full; the $60,000 depositors who had $300 or less in the First National were fully compensated. The soundness of Ferry's foresight was proven in 1943 when the long litigation was successfully completed and affected banks were in a position to pay all depositors, both large and small, in full.

One of Ferry's most prized possessions is a letter received from Comptroller of the Treasury J. F. T. O'Connor at close of first negotiations. It reads, in part: "My experience in the years gone by is that when men are anxious to accomplish a common purpose, both with honest motives, misunderstanding vanishes when they look at each other and discuss the matter frankly. "Thank you for your visit."

His friendship with O'Connor is evidence of Ferry's ability to make friends through his frank honesty. O'Connor was known in Washington as a man difficult to deal with, brusque of nature and exacting. He had no time for politicians. Following the bank dealings it was reliably reported in Washington that the Comptroller did not consider any Detroit financial delegation official unless Ferry was a member.

Irish manner, soft spoken and friendly.

Despite his stocky athletic build—he was once handball singles champion of the Detroit Yacht Club and K. of C., and teamed with Harry Heilmann in National doubles of a K. of C. tournament—he is an accomplished musician.

During his early varied career, he played the piano and Gene Buck the fiddle for dances at Detroit's old Strassburg Academy. Buck later wrote the lyrics for years for the Ziegfeld Follies, and is now president of ASCAP.

Unemployment Payments Drop

Unemployment compensation payments in Michigan for the week ending June 29 were paid to 19,317 less people than during the preceding week, E. T. Dornier, executive director of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission, announced today. Money payments totaling $3,425,237 were paid to 103,025 claimants.

It's not retiring some people need—it's retiring.

Agate Falls in the Upper Peninsula ranks high among the scenic highlights in that magnificent spread of beauty and romance, the land of Christmas trees and blue lakes, the true Land of Hiawatha.

By The Old AAA Traveler

Forests of towering pines—millions of conifers, a veritable land of Christmas trees—alluring little lakes set like bits of turquoise in a spreading length of green velvet—beaches white as driven snow—Indians in all their picturesque—a climate to heal frayed nerves and strengthen tired bodies—and over it all a peaceful beauty to be remembered through all the years.

That's the Upper Peninsula, of course, that vacation paradise stretching from Les Cheneaux Islands and Sault Ste. Marie to Ironwood on the west, and extending northward to Sopper Harbor and old Fort Wilkins on the tip of gloriously beautiful Keweenaw Peninsula, and southward to Menominee, all of it the answer to the vacationist's prayer.

It matters not a whit where you travel in the Upper Peninsula, you find beauty and romance and history—and the tinge of adventure and thrill which goes with exploring country traveled comparatively little by the touring hordes. You'll see timber never touched by the woodman's axe, and you'll fish in lakes where the big ones lurk in wait for the fly or spinner, and you'll travel miles of flower-bordered highways, and you'll see laughing waterfalls—and even somewhat ambitious mountains when you get into the Porcupine country.

Splendid highways carry you over the Upper Peninsula—albeit winding little roads bear you to spots far off the beaten path, spots so breath-taking in their beauty that you almost expect to see gnomes and leprechauns at play. This virgin beauty has been little touched—let us be thankful that this northern playground has been left largely as it was in the days when the red man's chant rose in the morning air along with the orisons of the early missionaries. Saintry Father Marquette saw this country in an early day and loved it for its beauty—trappers and coureurs de bois thrilled to its splendor—later the lumberman's ax resounded in the forest as Michigan began its climb to fame as a great state, but the natural beauty and charm of the country remained unsullied by a modern age.

From either Mackinaw City or St. Ignace you'll jump over to Mackinac Island for a look-see

Short and to The Pointe

MR. and MRS. RICHARD H. WEBBER have been entertaining THE GAYLORD GILLISSES at their Summer home at Harbor Pointe.

MR. and MRS. WILLIAM PETZOLD CLARK with their small son, BILLY, will leave the first of next month for their new home on Long Island. Since Mr. Clark's discharge from service, the Clarks have been visiting Mrs. Clark's parents, MR. and MRS. ALBERT F. WALL of Devonshire road.

MR. and MRS. ROBERT O. LORD who have been visiting Mrs. Lord's brother and sister-in-law COL. and MRS. PHELPS NEWBERRY of Cloverly road, have left for New York where they will spend some time before returning to their home on Barbados.

Travel news has been running high in the Russell A. Alger clan since the first of the Summer. Now MRS. SIDNEY T. MILLER, JR., with her son, SIDNEY III, and PETE SPENCER and JIM HODGES have left to spend a short time at Huron Mountain. MRS. RUSSELL A. ALGER, who has been at her Summer place at York Harbor, Me., has returned to her home on Provencal road.

Summertime always means Harbor Pointe for members of the Roy D. Chapin family. MRS. ROY D. CHAPIN with daughter, ROY-AN, and son, DAN, are there for the season. Over the long Fourth of July week-end, they were joined by the dashing SAMMY CHAPIN and MR. and MRS. JOHN C. CHAPIN.

Summering at Lee Cheneaux Club for the season are MR. and MRS. HENRY L. CAULKINS with their sons, RALPH and MICKEY. At the moment Ralph's roommate at Yale, RAY BECKWITH, is a houseguest.

Guests of MR. and MRS. JOHN HAZEN at their Trembley road home on Saturday evening for dinner and bridge were MR. and MRS. ALLYNE LITCHFIELD, MR. and MRS. RALPH NETTING and MR. and MRS. EVERETT DOTEN.

Off for the Summer, dividing their time between Harbor Pointe and long cruises aboard their new yacht, are MR. and MRS. FREDERICK S. FORD and their son, BOB, of Windmill Pointe. Joining them, this week for holiday fun were MR. and MRS. FREDERICK S. FORD, JR. with their little daughter, SUSAN.

Upon their return from a Georgian Bay Cruise, MR. and MRS. WILLIAM A. FARLEY, of Buckingham road, have planned a motor trip South. They will leave July 16 to spend several days at Grove Park Inn, Asheville, North Carolina.

ing trails through the forest where the woodman's ax has never fallen.

After you have seen Isle Royale and thoroughly explored the Keweenaw Peninsula, driving cautiously that a deer does not suddenly land in your lap, you move on into Ontonagon. Out of Ontonagon you may follow a coast highway into Silver City and beyond, but you'll have to make it afoot if you want to reach the peak of the Porcupine Mountains, which is the highest spot of all Michigan. Lake of the Clouds in the Porcupines is a spot magnificent in scenic value and you should, by all means, make the run when you are in Ontonagon. From Silver City you'll swing southward to beautiful Lake Gogebic, with its huge state park.

West of Gogebic lie Wakefield and Bessemer and Ironwood—and radiating are roads leading into a score of beauty spots—Rainbow Falls, Sandstone Falls and Presque Isle Falls—and, again, miles of snowy beaches along the lake shore. When you have exhausted this extreme western tip of the Upper Peninsula you begin your eastward swing along the southern edge of the great expanse of country—Marenisco with its immense lumber operations—the virgin forest around Gogebic—Watersmeet and its Thousand Island Lakes—the swing southward to the Wisconsin line for a visit to the magnificent resort of Land O'Lakes—Von Platen-Fox County Park just outside Beechwood—Iron River and Crystal Falls—Crystal Falls with its breath-taking Horace Race Rapids and Michiganame Falls and Peavy Falls—a section of utterly entrancing beauty.

A baby born not long ago in New York State weighed only a little over two pounds and was so small the mother had to dress her in doll clothes.

Boning Saves Freezer Space

From 30 to 40 percent of your freezer storage space can be saved if meat is boned before packaging, according to L. J. Bratler of the department of animal husbandry at Michigan State college. Boneless cuts are easier to wrap, can be wrapped tighter, and will store better than comparable bone-in cuts, he adds.

He also advises the housewife to plan the meat cutting to the family's tastes. If steaks are not enjoyed, the cheaper cuts can be ground and used for meat loaves, chili and hamburgers.

Ground meat, he says, does not store as well as steaks or roasts. If pork sausage is to be frozen and stored, it is recommended that all of the seasoning ingredients except salt be mixed in with the meat. The salt can be added during the cooking process, he believes, accelerates the development of rancidity and should not be added to the pork sausage before freezing.

Cured meats do not store well in a frozen condition because of the salt. Bratler recommends that all meat be tightly wrapped with a moisture-vapor proof material that is elastic, tough and pliable. Beef and lamb supplies should be consumed in six or seven months, while pork and veal should not remain in lockers over three or four months. This, he believes, will insure the meat being at the best quality.

Pointers Flock To Gratiot Inn

From all reports Gratiot Inn has a larger and even more enthusiastic following than ever this Summer. And again Pointers flock to the attractive resort for Summer holidays and long, lake-cooled week-ends.

There, currently, enjoying the music of Hughie Barrett's London and Miami Beach music, the beach, golfing, and the many other attractions of Gratiot Inn are Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Meyer of Fisher road and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle T. Bainger of University place.

Two champion tennis courts have many enthusiasts this season at Gratiot Inn, also.

Mrs. Charles J. Foley Returns from East

Mrs. Charles J. Foley of Neff road and Mrs. Clark Potter of Barton Hills, Ann Arbor, have returned from a two weeks' vacation in Washington, New York and Annapolis.

While in New York they were honored at a cocktail party given by Dr. and Mrs. Elliot Taylor, followed by a dinner party at the Seawood Country Club.

They were the houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Lourie in Annapolis.

Pointer to Wed Merrill Canfield

An announcement of great interest to the Pointe was made last week by Mr. and Mrs. William Bradford Canfield of Van Dyke place who told of the engagement of their lovely daughter, Elisabeth Merrill Canfield, to Charles William Casgrain II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred V. Casgrain of Willow Lane.

Merrill graduated from Liggett and Pine Manor Junior College. She is a member of Sigma Gamma and the Junior League and an ardent Red Cross worker.

Charles graduated from Portsmouth Priory in Rhode Island and in the fall will resume his studies at Princeton which were interrupted during the war. He will be a junior.

FARMS SELLS LAND

The Village of Grosse Pointe Farms has sold a triangular piece of property it owned at Moran and Chalfonte. The owner of the adjoining property, Mr. Lehnen, bought the piece for $800.

Neighborhood Club News

The third annual Neighborhood Day Campers opened the season on Monday, June 24. 100 boys and girls between 7-14 years were greeted by Miss Masak. Movie pictures were taken of this first exciting day by Miss June Fox. These pictures were shown to the children on Wednesday, July 10. The special feature of the week was a trip down to the Village Park where the children swam, ate their lunch and played games. Many tired feet marched rather slowly back to the Club that Friday, June 28 at 3:30.

The second week of Day Camp was known as Birthday Week. The children celebrated every-one's birthday that week. The children were divided into teams: spring, summer, fall, and winter, depending on each one's birthday. Each team presented a play portraying their season and decorated a table according to their season. Ice cream and cake were served to the children. Special thanks and appreciation go to the following mothers: Mrs. Thoreson, Mrs. Standifer, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Christensen, Mrs. Poncrack, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Slack, and Mrs. Poupard who donated the cakes.

The following week was known as Hollywood Week. Each child selected a movie star he or she wished to portray. On July 10 a radio program and movie were staged.

Police Chief Dick Craig chose a new police force for the week of July 8. The policemen included: June Thompson, Mary Jane Keeler, Nancy Mason, Karen Christensen, and Pat Carrier. The policemen are: Herman Keeler, Jerry Shader and Bobby Ban. On Friday, July 12, at 8:30 a. m. 100 Day Campers, including mothers and helpers will board three busses with Cranbrook as their destination. Upon arrival a special tour of the buildings and grounds has been planned. Noon will find all eating their packed lunch.

Next week will be known as "Pet Week". The special feature on Friday will be a pet show. Each child is encouraged to bring any pet he may have at home. Judging from past years anything from a quiet turtle to a beautiful well trained dog will be seen on the playground.

Last two weeks of Day Camp will be devoted to a carnival. In booths and around the grounds one will find freaks, clowns, teachers, and last but not least, ponies—real live ponies. Every child will get a ride too!

Pointers Visit Baha'i School

The opening session of the Baha'i Summer School at Davison, Michigan was attended by Baha'is from Grosse Pointe and Detroit, and their friends. A special conference opened the session, with Baha'is attending from many cities in Michigan as well as Ohio and Illinois. Similar summer schools are also in session in Maine, California, Colorado, Canada and Alaska.

The public is cordially invited to visit the Summer School, which is located on road M-15 near Davison, about 60 miles from Detroit. At the adult sessions there will be such programs as a class by Emile Sala, author of "This Earth One Country," and discussion on the subject, Principles of a World Faith.

The youth sessions will include courses on character development and fundamental spiritual truths for a world civilization. A session of interest to both parents and teachers is that held from July 22 to July 30 at which Dr. McCloskey and Dr. Stevenson from the University of Michigan will discuss phases of parental and adult guidance, and also at which Dr. Skodak and Dr. Palmer will discuss some of the emotional problems which face our youth.

The Summer School is open until the end of August and further information as to the subjects and speakers may be obtained by writing to Baha'i Summer School, Davison, Michigan.

Eye Lifts Bring Sparkle to Orbs

Have you noticed your eyes in the mirror lately? Do they look dim, strained, tired? Summer does that to many eyes. For what with the glare from city streets and sunny beaches, from country roads a. you make the most of summer without gas rationing, those precious orbs of yours do take a beating. And often they're just as tired as they look.

Naturally, you want to get as much fun as possible out of your first post-war summer. So we're not going to tell you to cut out your sun bathing, your golfing or your swimming, nor even your pleasure driving. We're going to tell you instead of a five minute beauty treatment that will let you enjoy all your summer activities to the utmost—yet will restore the twinkle in your eyes and keep them sparkling bright far into the night!

First remove your make-up—eye make-up especially—so you start with a fresh skin. Apply a Maslin's Eye Lift, one of those domino shaped masks saturated with special cooling, refreshing eye lotion. Press it lightly on your eyes. Now flutter the lids once or twice so some of the lotion can work directly on your sparklers—it's made from an oculist's prescription to be used on eyes. Then lie back on chaise longue, sofa, or even flat on the floor for four more minutes.

Last of all remove the Eye Lift, and give your eyes the critical once over in your mirror again. See how that strained look has vanished? How clear and bright your eyes seem—how even the skin around them looks smoother, softer, more dewy fresh? Those bright eyes of yours wake up your whole face. For you know yourself that when your eyes sparkle, so do you!

Newsboys to Get Trips to Chicago

More and more cultural opportunities are being offered to modern boys. For illustration: The Detroit Times is offering 33 four-day, all-expense-paid Chicago trips to boys who deliver the Times in suburban communities.

If the Detroit Times carrier in your neighborhood calls on you to ask you to become one of his customers, one very important reason will be his desire to win one of these trips, which will present to winners educational visits to the Chicago Museum of Natural History, Museum of Science and Industry, Shedd Aquarium, Adler Planetarium, Swift & Co.'s drug store and packing house, and other places of interest. The winners also will participate in Don McNeill's Breakfast Club program, see Chicago's skyline, Lake Michigan and in other ways profit educationally. Their home in Chicago will be at Hotel Sherman.

While obtaining your subscription to aid him to win, will be the idea foremost in the carrier's mind when he knocks at your door, he will be benefiting in other ways, too, for carrying newspapers is a training in sound business practice that will help the boy to win success in adult life.

Any courteous treatment this little merchant receives from prospective subscribers will be valuable to him as an inspiration in this training, helping to develop self-confidence and overcome the shyness inherent in youth.

Controversial Play at Shubert

Newspapermen are not noted for their shyness, and Arnaud d'Usseau and James Gow were good newspapermen. Mr. Gow scored his beats for the old New York World, while Mr. d'Usseau was filling scoops for the United Press in Arizona. When they met in Hollywood, as a pair of screen writers, they found themselves in accord on several theories of the theatre—and fearlessness was one of the things they thought the theatre should possess, along with willingness to discuss serious problems in a serious mood.

Detroit saw them put their ideas into practice two seasons ago, when "Tomorrow the World" was seen here. In one of the most crucial periods of the war they dared to pose the problems of what should be done with Hitler-educated kids after the advent of peace, and to suggest that human hearts might beat under the little brats' brown shirts.

Now in "Deep Are the Roots" opening at the Shubert-Lafayette Theatre on July 14, the authors have taken up the probe of racial discrimination and, in the published edition of the play d'Usseau and Gow admit they handle the theme without gloves.

Heading the large cast is Henry Scott, who in real life was a Lieutenant in the Air Force, for two years over Africa and Italy, and returned with many honors, having participated in over 10 missions. Mr. Scott was born in Columbia, S. C., attended New York University prior to his enlistment in the army Air Force, also is one of the members of the Negro Theatre Guild.

Stuart I. Whitmarsh, editor of the Debutante Register, and Mary Ward Dillon, Michigan Social Register editor, discuss the new book, Debutante Tradition, as they lunch at THE LONDON CHOP HOUSE.

Petty Pointes

Al Hermann probably still believes the Detroit traffic cop who stopped him on East Jefferson on Monday afternoon, has the sharpest eyes in the world.

Al was the winner of the Ford car given by the Pointe Rotary Club in its drive to get funds for community charities. Proud as a peacock, he was driving his new possession home directly after taking delivery at the luncheon meeting of the service organization in the Whittier. He hadn't gotten very far when the officer stopped him. Charge... no license plate.

Al hopped out, cocky as a bantam rooster, to give tongue on his side of his predicament. And guess what? The officer sold him a lot of tickets for the Police Field Day.

What Al may not know even yet, is that one of his fellow club members, who had left the Whittier before him, had stopped the officer previously and arranged the whole thing. Then waited up an alley to laugh.

Dog Mistaken For Prowler

A large black dog darting in and out among bushes and across lots was the unwitting cause of two "prowler" alarms coming to the city police station on Maumee in quick succession early Monday morning.

The lady of the house at 787 Fisher was certain there was a prowler about the premises. The police found no prowler signs. A half hour later another alarm came in. This time the officers spotted a large dog making himself numerous around the neighboring properties. They decided this "prowler" needed no special interrogation. They couldn't catch him anyway.

Model Builders Use Balsa Wood

Of the many thousands of model builders in the nation only a few really know what balsa wood really is.

In the early days of model building, white pine and bamboo were used extensively but with the discovery of the balsa tree, which flourishes in the Latin-American, balsa wood was introduced to the model builder and has become the key product in this hobby.

Balsa is one of the softest, lightest and most pliable woods known but is listed as a hardwood. The balsa tree grows only in the lowlands of the American tropics. It is found in all of the countries south of the Rio Grande River from Mexico to Bolivia.

Balsa wood, properly dried, weighs about six pounds per cubic foot and its strength is about one half that of spruce. It is sometimes used under heavy machinery or fragile instruments to remove sound and vibration.

During the war the United States Government commandeered all balsa wood imports for war use and model builders found themselves back in the same predicament they were in back in the early days of model building, using white pine and bamboo for their models.

We've depended too long on the great powers for peace. Now it's time to depend on the Great Power.

Flight Officer Fromm, a B-29 navigator, flew during combat operations with the 9th Bombardment Group of Tinian. Last November he and his crew were sent to Alaska for a time as a safety and rescue patrol on the Japan-to-Washington air route being pioneered by Lieutenant General Barney M. Giles and his B-29's.

Fromm entered the service in March 1943. Graduating from San Marcos, Texas, navigation school, he entered B-29 training. His overseas tour, in addition to the service already mentioned, was spent in the Philippine Islands, where he was stationed at Clark Field, headquarters of the 13th Air Force's 31st Wing.

Flight Officer Fromm has been awarded the Distinguished Unit Badge with Oak Leaf Cluster, American-Pacific Theater Ribbon with two battle stars, and American Theater Ribbon.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fromm, 321 Kerby road, Grosse Pointe Farms.

Calvary Movies Delighting Kids

The hundred children attending Calvary's first juvenile movie went home chuckling over the cartoon of the three little kittens who really fixed up "Mr. Rat." Next Saturday's program includes the feature, "Mr. Boggs Steps Out!" an hilarious comedy, as well as cartoons, etc., and begins at 2 p.m.

All showings are at Calvary Lutheran Church, Grosse Pointe Woods at Mack and Lancaster, and are well supervised.

Increased interest shown by the community will result in the showing of superior films, several of which have been contracted for to be shown in the near future. The committee in charge hopes to engage such classics as "Alice in Wonderland," "Huckleberry Finn," "Fuss in Boots," "Tom Sawyer," "Swiss Family Robinson" etc. If the cost can be defrayed through a large enough attending audience.

Firecracker Tossers Lose Car for Night

Some boys in a green Ford car were driving down University Place at 8 o'clock in the evening of the Fourth, amusing themselves throwing firecrackers at children playing on the curb and street.

Several phone complaints from neighbors sent into the police station on Maumee sent Officers Reame and Derandt on the hunt and they located the car on Notre Dame by Cunningham's drug store. The youths were a boy 18 and two others 17 each. Their car was taken away from them for the evening and they were sent away with a warning.

Mail Collection Purpose Defeated

The purpose of the new late night collection of mail is being defeated by mailers who wait until the latest possible moment to post their mail, it was pointed out by Postmaster Huston today.

"Many people fail to realize that all mail picked up on the late collection is not dispatched on evening trains. It is dispatched on early morning trains, and of course arrives at its destination many hours later than that dispatched on earlier trains," Huston said.

By inaugurating the late night collection, it was the purpose of the Post Office to prevent mail deposited after the residential collection from being delayed 24 hours.

"If too much mail is received on the late collection, it will force more employees to be placed on the night crew. Too much stress cannot be placed upon the importance of early mailing. It is to the advantage of both the Post Office and the patron to deposit all mail early in the day," Huston declared.

Democrats Lose Censorship Tilt

Michigan Democrats, including Representatives Frank E. Hook, 12th District; George D. O'Brien, 13th District; and Louis C. Rabaut, 14th District, last week unsuccessfully attempted to block a House move to insure uncensored American press reports from countries receiving American relief.

The amendment, introduced by Everett Dirksen, Illinois Republican, denies relief to those countries which refuse to permit American newsmen to report on the distribution of supplies.

Proponents of the move pointed out that with 44 countries participating in UNRRA, United States furnished 72 percent of all supplies and that once these shipments have reached the country of consumption, UNRRA "has nothing whatsoever to do with the distribution."

Debaters also called attention to rumors which charge that Communists deny food to hungry people who oppose Communism. In the face of such facts, refusal to insist on permission for newsmen to report without censorship is "profligate use of taxpayers' funds" and contrary to "common sense," Republican spokesmen declared.

Administration opposition to the free-press amendment "was strongly censured by one Republican who pointed to Soviet newsmen in the Congressional Press Gallery and declared, "... there ought to be reciprocity about this press freedom."

Pointer Lauded in Article In Saturday Evening Post

A Grosse Pointe doctor is given chief credit for the new practice that has come into vogue in American surgery in recent years of doing away with the tiresome bed convalescence following surgery.

In the professions of medicine and nursing it is referred to as "early ambulation." It has been proven in innumerable cases that patients who have been operated upon for abdominal complaints make not only a quicker but more satisfactory recovery if permitted early but cautious movements following their operation.

Presumably it is this same discovery, as applied to child birth, that nowadays prompts many of the most famous obstetricians in the country to encourage the early "home journey" with new mothers. In old times it was almost a maxim among the profession in such cases that a new mother should not place a foot on the ground until three weeks had elapsed since delivery.

An article which appears in this week's issue of the Saturday Evening Post credits Doctor Daniel J. Leithauer, of 847 Whitlaker, Grosse Pointe Park, with the major part in bringing about this new technique in the handling of post operation hospital cases.

This article says, however, that it was the stubborn insistence of another Detroit, no less than Henry Ford, to attend to himself following an abdominal operation, 14 years ago, which first visualized before a group of startled and anxious doctors and nurses, the efficacy of his self prescribed treatment. Instead of dropping dead, or quickly dying in the institution which bears his name, he proceeded to get well, quicker, with less nerve tax and more permanently than they had ever before seen in a man 69 years of age, who had been operated upon for the same complaint.

Dr. Leithauer says that it was an experience at the St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital six years later, however, which really launched the movement for "early ambulation" practices for surgical cases.

There a man named Robert Hawk, an appendectomy patient, had left his bed a few hours after his operation and was discovered by the horrified nurses going up and down the halls of the hospital in the role of a good Samaritan carrying drinking water to other patients. His terse explanation was that he got thirsty and when he found out how good he felt he decided to give the same relief to other thirsty patients.

The nurses called Dr. Leithauer on the phone and told him of the impending tragedy. He hurried over and found Mr. Hawk composed and quite pleased with himself for his Boy Scout deed. Hawk slept like a babe that night and made an unusually rapid and satisfactory recovery. This started Dr. Leithauer thinking. In his post surgical practices he had already urged towards short convalescence periods, keeping his normal satisfactory appendectomy cases in bed only four days when seven and eight was the general rule.

Henceforth he continued to prescribe shorter periods for convalescence with generally favorable results. Common sense was used, of course, in permitting the shorter hospitalization.

New Building Great Addition to Pointe

TOM BOYD'S BEAUTIFUL new sales and service building at East Jefferson and Nottingham is having its formal opening this week. Sales agent for the Ford car, Mr. Boyd has made a great contribution to the Pointe area with his new structure. The service department has been functioning for some time and now the entire beautiful colonial building is thrown open.

Robberies in Farms Solved With Confession of Youth

Questioning by Sergt. Elmer Labadie Produces Number of Interesting Admissions and Clears up Number of Unsolved Crimes

Possession of a billfold that was a little too elegant for his station and age, led a Grosse Pointe Farms youth into confessing a series of robberies in the village. He and two companions were picked up on the complaint of a resident of the village that they had threatened her seven-year-old son with a knife.

The series of events that has kept the Farms police, and particularly Sergt. Elmer Labadie, on the run, started Monday afternoon with a telephone call to police headquarters. Mrs. Joseph Echlin of 445 Moran road reported she had seen three youths, one of them with a knife, threatening her son, Louis Echlin, III, aged 7. She was able to give a very good description of the trio.

The police soon after picked up Daniel Grifford, 15, and George Grifford, 14, both of 225 1/2 Oak street, and Hugh (Timmy) Dunn, aged 13, of 205 Oak street. It is not the policy of the NEWS to print the names of minors who get in trouble, but in the case of this trio, they have been chronic offenders and their names have been withheld so often it appears useless to shield them longer.

George and Timmy are under probation to the Wayne County Probate Court Juvenile Division. Danny served a time in a Philadelphia Detention Home when his family was living in Pennsylvania. He had been in trouble in the Pointe when his family previously lived here.

The three youths were allowed to cool their heels in the Farms police station for several hours before Sergt. Labadie started to question them. In the meantime they had been ordered to dump the contents of their pockets. Among the things stacked on the counter Labadie spotted an exceptionally goodlooking and obviously expensive billfold. The sergeant found out that it had come out of George's pocket. He took George into the inner office for a quiet talk.

Sergeant Labadie's memory had told him of the disappearance of a billfold from the Farms pier on June 10. George insisted that he had bought the billfold from a store on Woodward avenue, but finally broke down and admitted he had stolen it at the pier. At the same time he had taken $1 and a cigarette lighter from a locker at the pier.

About this time another phone call was received at headquarters. W. George Jeakle of 238 Fisher road, reported that his home had been broken into some time between 9:30 a. m. and 5:30 p. m. that day.

Patient questioning produced the confession that George had entered the Jeakle home from a second story porch, cutting the screen and breaking the glass door. He had taken $12 in cash, given $1.00 each to Danny and Timmy, bought the knife with which he had threatened the Echlin boy, and given his mother and sister $1.00 each, telling them he had earned it cutting grass.

There being no money in the quantity of material dumped on the police counter, Sergeant Labadie pressed for information as to the whereabouts of the rest of the cash. All three of the boys shamefully took off their shoes and socks and produced bills. The knife had been thrown away, but the police later obtained it from some boys who had found it.

The Jeakle breaking and entering case bore a striking similarity to the robbery which had occurred at the Francis Moran home at 315 Grosse Pointe boulevard on July 6. There, too, the screen had been cut and glass broken in a door to gain entrance. Missing were five $5 bills, $10 in currency, a black cameo brooch valued at $40, a platinum and sapphire pin valued at $75, a University of Detroit pin with pearls valued at $15, $40 from one purse, $30 from a box on the dresser and a man's wrist watch valued at $65. Other money had been overlooked.

George confessed to pulling this job too, though it took a deal of persuasion to get him to admit it. The police feel he is shielding someone else, as he still maintains he didn't take the jewelry and some of the money, even though at one time during the questioning he told Sergeant Labadie he had thrown the jewelry in the lake between the Joy and Dodge piers.

George cleared Danny and Timmy of any part in the Jeakle and Moran robberies. The trio was taken down to the Juvenile Detention Home Monday night and on Tuesday morning Sergeant Labadie entered charges against them, breaking and entering, larceny and assault against George; assault and violating probation against Danny and Timmy.

When Sergeant Labadie went to the Grifford home Tuesday, Mrs. Grifford gave him a wrist watch which she said George had. She didn't know where he got it, and neither does Sergeant Labadie, but he hopes to find out. It isn't the one stolen from the Moran residence.

Pointe Seniors Very Intelligent

by ED. SCHAUER
Grosse Pointe High School Journalism Student

The typical Grosse Pointe High School senior has a much higher standard of scholarship than the average senior of the United States.

Superior scores were achieved by the members of the June '46 graduating class on nationally given tests.

On grammar, spelling, and composition tests, 80 per cent ranked above the national average. Social studies tests seemed the easiest for them, for ninety per cent were above the national average.

In natural science and literature, they were 80 and 85 per cent above the national averages, respectively.

In the mathematics test, 73 per cent obtained averages above the national.

The averages of these national tests were based on the testing of over 35,000 high school seniors in June, 1943, and represented a total of 814 high schools located throughout the United States.

The way all live in the world will decide what kind of world we're going to live in.
