ELECTIONS IN LANSING on the issue of selling liquor by the glass leads City Officials to recount the vote already recorded by voting machines... tabulations at first show "liquor by the glass" had carried in Lansing by 74 votes. A recount of the totals has thus far not changed the result.

PAUL MALLON, in Detroit Times, says that the coal strike against the Government was "deeply stained with politics"...

... says Lewis times his notice of a breakage of contract with the Government to fall just prior to the election... says the re-precussion may be that Lewis will now lose his strike in contrast with the fact that he never lost a strike during the Roosevelt administrations.

Saturday, Nov. 23

MORE ATTENTION SEEMS TO BE GIVEN towards conserving the nation's thirty days' supply of coal than of digging coal "with bayonets," if no other way can be found... every indication exists of John L. Lewis's willingness to court personal humiliation to influence the miners to stick it out... these same men or their fathers have endured through six months' strike in the past, a circumstance which today would court national disaster.

CHAIRMAN SLAUGHTER of the House Surplus Property committee calls a meeting of his committee for Monday to consider the practicability of putting the "Big Inch" and "Little Inch" pipe lines in operation again to combat the coal shortage with natural gas... ### Post-Election Disturbance at Voting Booth

This election booth at Mack and Moran became a tunnel Saturday night when an automobile drove all the way through it. Thomas B. Prince, 22, of 1691 Newcastle, G. P. Woods, made a left turn into Moran from Mack. Two witnesses said he was driving so fast he couldn't make the turn, so crashed all the way through the booth and kept on going. A short time after this accident Prince tried to take what used to be a short cut through Bournemouth in Grosse Pointe Woods. A stone barrier has been erected there and when the car crashed into this, the wild ride ended. Prince and his two friends, Gerald Gallagher of 9303 East Jefferson, and Joseph Bruett of 453 Moran road, were picked up by Farms Police Officers Jarret and LaBroski. Prince was charged with reckless driving and destruction of property and will be arraigned in Farms police court. The damage to the booth was done by Prince and Arthur Keyes, of 477 Manor, and Bob Richter of 421 Moran.

Confession Deftly Obtained From Deaf Mute Taxi Bandit By Expert in Sign Language

Prisoner Is Despair of Police Headquarters and Hard on Paper Supply Until Lieutenant Calls for Help

One of the two holdups of taxi drivers which occurred recently in the Pointe is well on its way to solution. Eugene W. Podschlin, a checker cab driver was held up on Nov. 9 by a fare he had picked up at St. Jean and Mack, who ostensibly wanted to be taken out to Grosse Pointe. The passenger directed him to turn into Balfour as he came out Jefferson. A block off Jefferson he stuck "some hard instrument" into Podschlin's back and with much grunting and gesticulation, like a deaf mute, directed him to pull up to the curb.

Here he robbed the driver of $9 in hard money, but overlooked $25 in the glove compartment, and high tailed it away on foot when it was discovered the car wouldn't start again because of a weak battery.

The driver ran over to the Park police station and told his story. This was all there was to it until another taxi driver, Harold Vargis, was held up and robbed at 12:30 Thursday morning, Nov. 21—by a deaf mute. Some of the Detroit men attached to the Fifth precinct recalled having had "talk" recently with a deaf mute who was frequently seen in that neighborhood. It didn't take them long to pick him up at the Savoy bar on Jefferson and escort him around to Lieut. Edward Robinson, in charge of the Fifth precinct. They went to work on him via pad and pencil. It was a long and tedious process. Al-

Burglar Ready To Go Hunting

Gerald R. Mitchell, proprietor of the Salerno Hardware store at 15728 Mack, reported to the police Saturday afternoon that a shotgun had been stolen from the gun rack in the front of his store.

Guns, like the dogs that go with them, are prime objects for theft during the hunting season. Detective Enders is on the lookout for the possessor of a shotgun that looks as if it might never have been fired.

Alger Keeps Dinner Date, But Going Proves Rugged

Secretary of State-elect Fredrick M. Alger got to the dinner which Governor-elect Kim Sigler and his staff gave last Friday night for the entire State Legislature... but it wasn't easy.

Mr. and Mrs. Alger went to Palm Beach, Fla., right after election, for a well-earned post-campaign rest. Fred promised he'd be back for the dinner.

On Thursday, a few hours before he was scheduled to fly north, the airlines informed him that it would probably be necessary to cancel all air trips because of bad weather brewing in the north. Fred talked fast and persuasively. It was too late to get back by train and he had to get north.

It was finally decided that one more flight would be made out

Suspensions Rile Voters In Farms

Clerk Furton Explains Reasons for Confusion; 1597 Notices Sent Out

The Grosse Pointe Farms Village Clerk, Harry A. Furton, recently sent out 1597 "Notices of Registration Suspension" which caused a great deal of confusion because many persons receiving them had voted in the recent National election.

The confusion comes from the fact that the general registration laws apply to Villages as well as to Townships. That is, voters must vote at least every two years in order to keep their registration in proper order.

There are three separate sets of registration records in a community, which is over-lapped by Township government and a combined School District. One (1) for the School which is permanent and not affected by the two year voting requirement. One (1) in the Township, County, State and National elections, and one (1) for the Village which is used solely for Village elections.

Persons recently receiving "Notices of Registration Suspension" are those who have not voted at the local Village elections within the past two years and should sign the card provided for a confirmation of their registration if they so wish to do.

Auto Club's New Building Waits Permit

Organization Promises Pointe Fine Structure as Soon as Possible

Government controls on building and shortage of materials are the only things keeping the Automobile Club of Michigan from proceeding with its plans for a beautiful clubhouse at East Jefferson avenue and Somerset road.

William G. Bryant, past-president, director and general counsel of the organization, told the NEWS Monday that the only changes in plans for the building, announced some time ago, were that the structure would probably be larger than originally anticipated. An architect's picture of the proposed building was published in the NEWS at the time permission to build was granted by the Grosse Pointe Park Commission.

"We are getting more Pointe members every day," Mr. Bryant said. "We intend to put up a clubhouse which will not only provide suitable headquarters for our present members, but for those who will be joining in years to come," he stated.

The club's property has approximately 120 feet frontage on East Jefferson and is 150 feet deep. The structure to be erected will be of Colonial architecture and is expected to be a fine addition to that area.

The club has been in close contact with the government agencies controlling building. It has been advised that a permit cannot be obtained right now because of the great shortage of materials and need for housing facilities, especially for veterans, and for essential industries. The government has promised to notify the club as soon as an application can be considered.

"Even though costs are excessively high and labor very hard to get right now, we would build immediately if we could get permission," Mr. Bryant said. "We intend to build the Pointe before any others which we have planned, and we want the people of Grosse Pointe to know that we shall give them a very fine clubhouse just as soon as we are given a permit to proceed with construction."

Tree Awakens Dozing Driver

Falling asleep while driving his car on Lake Shore road late in the afternoon of November 22, William J. McLeod, of 902 Roslyn road, crashed into a tree in front of No. 60.

The car was damaged to the extent of $150, according to Farms Policemen LaPonsa and Dhavelosco, who investigated the accident.

McLeod was taken to Cottage Hospital for an examination.

Priorities Halt Plans in Park

The plans of the Park village for extensive additions to its municipal garage in the rear of the Municipal Building have had to be indefinitely postponed.

Two attempts to obtain priorities for work and materials from the Federal authorities have been denied. The work will be started as soon as this objection clears up.

New Catholic High School Expected to Ease Pointe Burden

Augustinian Order Reported Ready to Erect 1,500-Student Building With Complete Facilities at Mack and Radnor

It is reported that the tentative plans for the new high school which the Augustinian Order propose to build on the plot they acquired from the City of Grosse Pointe across Mack at Radnor some months ago, are finished and the working plans will be ready for builders in a short time.

Much time and patience have been used in a country-wide examination of high school structure. It is the intention of the order to incorporate in this building the latest and most modern equipment used in high school design. In addition to the building proper, ample provisions will be made for campus space with all of the facilities for athletic activities.

The large semi-square chunk of this property, which is the part lying nearest Grosse Pointe, has been reserved for the high school development. The narrow, long strip extending all the way to Canyon avenue across Chandler Park drive, is to be taken over by the City of Detroit for the extension of its public park area.

It is presumed now that as the labor and material factors in building operations eases, this fine addition to the educational facilities of the Pointe area will be started.

Public school authorities here are welcoming the advent of this new high school. They claim it will be a welcome addition to high school facilities and ease the burden which now rests upon the central high school at Maumee and Fisher.

The school is designed to house 1,500 students.

Alert Chief Nabs Young Prankster

An unhappy choice in the selection of a victim for his pranks was made on the night of November 20 by Richard Kline, 11, of 55 Mapleton.

Richard decided he would like to let the air out of some tires and picked on a machine parked in the driveway at 89 Mapleton. But the sharp-eyed owner, Farms Fire Chief George Dansbury, happened to be looking in the right direction and caught the youngster red-handed.

George called in his close associates, the Farms police, who in turn referred the matter to Richard's mother, who promised that justice would be done, and promptly.

New Traffic Law Adopted by Park

The Park council at its brief meeting Wednesday night passed the type of traffic ordinance which had been drafted by the Automobile Club of Michigan and urged for adoption upon all of the Grosse Pointe villages and on other communities of similar size and conditions.

It is believed that this streamlined traffic regulation has now been adopted by all of the Pointe municipalities. The City was the first one of the Pointes to adopt it.

Firemen and Policemen Set To Spread Christmas Cheer

The Toy Club, which is the pet Christmas Charity of the Grosse Pointe Policemen and Firemen, is getting set again to do its usual fine job for the kids of the Pointe who might otherwise miss out on the Christmas toys and goodies.

This organization had its start year ago during the great depression which left its scars on the home life of the Pointe as well as on other less favored places.

At that time a large part of its charity work was in giving baskets of food and clothing to the unfortunate of the community, but in later years the work has chiefly been giving toys for the

Rate Jumps From $16.94 To $22.62

Authorization of Increase of Five Mills for Schools Boosts Bills

The taxpayers of Grosse Pointe who have not been keeping close track of the various movements affecting their taxes, are going to be in for a severe shock when they get the tax bills which will be mailed out on December 1.

By comparing the taxes they paid last year on School, County and Township, they will discover that instead of the figure of $16.94 per thousand they paid last year the rate has now jumped to $22.62.

This is chiefly because the taxpayers authorized an increase of five mills in the school millage during the year to be spent partly for new buildings, and partly for increased employees' pay. There was also a smaller increase in the County tax. There was an increase in the Township millage although Supervisor Carl Seiwert says the aggrieved taxpayer will be inclined to think that his office is responsible for this in some indefinable way for the jump, the taxes being paid at his office.

In the case of the schools, though, the census which the schools themselves took last May results which were announced in the press only last week, show an increase in population in the Pointe of only 258 during the year to a total of 37,352. The authorities say the already overcrowded condition of the school, plus the anticipated increase in population in the near future, justified the jump in the millage. A large portion of the new taxes will go into building new schools, the teachers' and other employees' boosts being the main part.

Building Defilers Sought by Police

The handwriting on the wall spells trouble for the kids responsible. Farms police have announced following the receipt of a number of complaints.

Oscar M. Condryer of 181 Oak street, whose home is immediately adjacent to the bus stop at Kercheval, says he will have to have his house repainted, so badly have the kids defaced it with crayon and lipstick.

The NEWS can sympathize with Mr. Condryer. The pillars of his building on Kercheval, pristine in their newness but a few short months ago, have been defiled time and again. The lipstick so often used, points the finger of guilt at those of the fairer but not better-mannered sex.

When time comes for a small blasting of the stonework, it is to be hoped some of the miscreants will be on hand to receive a slight application on their nether extremities.

Pedestrians Missed, Car Hit

As Raymond Oberhauser, 5109 Cooper, Detroit, was driving west on Jefferson about midnight Sunday, he failed to see two pedestrians at Jefferson and University until he was almost upon them.

In swerving his car suddenly to the left to avoid hitting them he hit the left rear fender of a Pointe Taxi company's cab going east.

Considerable damage was done to both cars and Belle Harrison, a maid at 355 Provincial road, a passenger in the taxi cab, suffered injuries to her right leg. She was removed to the St. Joseph's hospital.

No tickets were issued by the police. They considered that Oberhauser had done a skillful job in avoiding what would probably have been a fatal accident for the pedestrians.

FURNACE MOTOR BLAZES
A small fire reported in the basement at 981 Beaconsfield had its origin in a small motor attached to the furnace. Only minor damage was done before it was extinguished by the Park firemen.

Taxi Bandit

though the mute, whose name it was learned by that time was James Crabb, of uncertain address, couldn't stall too long with a paper and pencil, he was doing a very creditable delaying action. After the lieutenant's desk was piled high with assorted notes and scraps of paper he called out in despair, "Hell's Bells; it'll take a month to get this guy's story and we haven't got enough paper in the shop anyway. Where is our man who knows this finger talk stuff?" The precinct finger talking specialist was off duty but was hastily summoned. From then on things moved fast. The finger talk policeman flourished his digits with amazing rapidity and the quiet taxi patron, overwhelmed by the display of such skill, came through clean. He had robbed Podschin. He had participated in two or three other taxi holdups in the Pointe. But his memory as to the names of his partners was hazy. The next morning in Detroit the lineup in police headquarters amply confirmed his confession. They said it would be only a matter of hours to gather in the gang that had been pulling off the taxi robberies out here and in numerous other points in Detroit and suburbs. Chief Louwers of the Park police believes he was the standby man to whose car the Chandler Park drive taxi robber transferred and then shot at the taxi driver's car when he tried to follow them without lights to get their car number. In this race the pursuing driver was discouraged by shots through his windshield which narrowly missed his face.

Fire Chief Tells Pointers How to Protect Residences

Chief Edward L. Rector of the Grosse Pointe Park Fire Department has issued the following statement in connection with protection against residence fires in the Pointe:

Every minute of the day and night, fire strikes some American home. By the end of each day twenty-eight human lives have been snuffed out, thousands left homeless as they watch their dwellings and their personal possessions go up in smoke.

This year, the lethal, destructive finger of fire will point at one out of ten homes in your neighborhood. IT CAN happen to YOU. Eighty percent of these fires, fire safety experts estimate, can be prevented or controlled in their early stages. Your best defense against fire, then, is (1) to keep it from starting, and (2) to put it out while it is small.

Examine your entire home and garage and make a list of hazards where you find a combination of factors which will both produce and support a fire. Take special note of the hazards in your attic, your heating plant, your kitchen and your garage. Here are the danger spots in your home—the seven major causes of major fires:

1. Rubbish.
2. Defective chimneys.
3. Combustible roofs.
4. Defective Heating Apparatus.
5. Matches and Careless Smoking.
6. Gasoline, Kerosene and other Flammable Liquids.
7. Electrical Defects.

Having reduced these hazards to your own satisfaction, the next step is to provide equipment which will knock out a small fire. . . FAST. Proper type portable extinguishers in the home often mean the difference between a small fire and a big fire. Many small fires can be extinguished by these hard hitting portables without the aid of the local Fire Department, while large fires can be retarded or kept under control until the professional fire-fighters arrive.

Carbon Dioxide portables are the ideal first aid fire extinguishers for the heating and cooking hazards that account for a majority of the fires in the home. They smother small household fires in seconds, do no damage and leave no after fire mess. The extinguishing agent, inexpensive carbon dioxide gas, will not freeze or deteriorate with gas.

Fire prevention and "first aid" fire fighting equipment are the best insurance against a serious fire in your home. Remember that a clean house seldom burns. And don't forget to have handy portables on hand. They are always ready to go into speedy, effective action.

Be sure that you and your family follow these essential safety rules.

1. Send clothes to the cleaners or use non explosive cleaning fluids.
2. Burn oily rags in the in-

Julie Bowman Struck by Car

As Adam Andryszek of 4563 Hereford, Detroit, was driving across the intersection at Harvard and Charlevoix at 4 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, Nov. 21, Julie Bowman, aged 16, started to run across the street from the curb where a Lake Shore bus was stopped. She ran into his car. She was knocked down by a fender and suffered severe bruises and abrasions. He loaded her into his car and started for the hospital. Meeting patrolman Flannahan of the City police on the way he asked him to get in the car with him. At the hospital Julie was treated by Dr. J. A. Casper and soon permitted her to be taken to her home by Mr. Andryszek. She absolved him of all responsibility for the accident.

Threat Removed

The light pole at Village lane and Notre Dame was leaning over at a dangerous angle and at the City's direction, was taken down by the Detroit Edison.

Keeps Date

Things were pretty rugged. The Secretary of State-elect figured he knew Michigan pretty well from the air. . . after his rigorous flying campaign of all summer with Sigler. He has just finished telling the pilot they ought to be over Battle Creek when, through a rift in the storm, he saw Willow Run below. A 55-mile-per-hour tailwind had shortened the trip from Chicago to a scant hour and 20 minutes.

The plane came up the river to approach the Municipal Airport into the wind and Fred heard the pilot burst into laughter. When he asked the cause of the merriment he was informed that when the control tower was contacted for landing instructions the request had been greeted with a roar of derision at the mere idea of trying to land in such a wind and with so much snow.

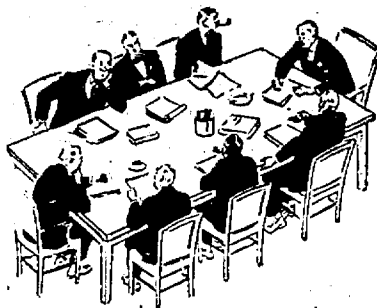

Fred couldn't see quite that much mirth in the situation and hoped the pilot was right when he said he guessed he could land the ship all right, but it would be fun!

About then the snow abated somewhat and the pilot dove in against the terrific wind to make a perfect landing. The flyer's skill was proven a minute later when a much heavier air transport came in and bounded up and down five times before being brought to a stop just short of the administration building. The Secretary of State-elect

Police Chief Suggests Park Create Village Parking Lot On East Jefferson Avenue

Property Opposite Municipal Building Stagnated by Zoning Restrictions Cited as Ideal Location for Operation

Chief of Police Louwers of the Park has made what looks like a sensible suggestion regarding the use of the vacant lots on Jefferson avenue opposite the Park Municipal building.

Under the reservations that exist on this tract, these lots cannot be used for commercial buildings. This reservation runs for approximately twenty years yet and despite all of the agitation for their use for this purpose the other property owners on the same tract but farther south of Jefferson are adamant and it looks like a long wait for their owners.

It is improbable that any of them will be improved by residential development, but they are highly valuable for business sites.

Chief Louwers suggests that the Park municipality acquire one or more of these lots either by rent or purchase, and convert them into a municipally owned parking lot. It would be a great convenience for Detroit-bound commuters who could leave their cars there all day for a nominal parking fee and go downtown on a bus and drive home from the lot at the end of the day.

Experience has shown that municipal parking lots, or the use of the parking meter, have proved highly profitable enterprises for the cities and towns having them. The arrangement would also be a great convenience for Grosse Pointers having business in the Detroit end of Jefferson avenue within easy walking distance.

Driver Thrown Clear of Wreck

Alfred M. Robinson of 448 Al-lard road, Grosse Pointe Farms, miraculously escaped serious injury at 2 a. m. November 20, in an automobile accident at Charlevoix and Lewiston.

Robinson was driving his Chrysler east on Charlevoix and struck the light pole at the southeast corner of Lewiston. So great was the impact that the car rolled over and skidded on its top for a distance of 60 feet.

Robinson was thrown clear and the only injuries he suffered were cuts on both knees. He was taken to Cottage Hospital by Farms Police Officers Roberts and Jarrett and then driven home.

Damage to the car was estimated at $800. The light pole was also ruined.

Clumsy Burglar Scares Himself

A. A. Andries, of 1164 Notting-ham, phoned the police late Saturday, November 16 that he had just seen somebody enter the home of the Anthony Giambruno family, his neighbors at 1156 Nottingham. The police sent a couple of squad cars post haste but the burglar already flown.

Examination of the premises told the story. Someone, presumed to be a 16 year old boy previously seen loitering about the house, had tried to burglarize the place but in climbing in a window upset some heavy article which fell with a bang outside the house and this scared the would-be burglar away a moment after he was seen entering the window by Mr. Andries, but who did not see his hurried exit.

An examination of the interior by the police disclosed that nothing had been disturbed.

The Giambruno family is away in Italy on an extended visit but had failed to have their house placed on the watch list before leaving.

LEAF FIRE SPREADS

Burning leaves in the yard of Harry Whittingham, 150 Merriweather road spread to a wood-pile and a garage on the night of November 24. Farms firemen extinguished the blaze before done.

Club to Exhibit Christmas Cards

A photographic exhibit of Christmas cards made by the members of the Grosse Pointe Camera Club will be held at the club's meeting on Tuesday evening, Dec. 3.

The members have been requested to make enlargements of their Yuletide cards to 8x10 size in order that they may be shown in the specially built viewing box and can then be viewed by the full audience. Judges have been selected to pass upon and discuss the cards and awards will be made to the outstanding prints. All of the cards in order to qualify for the showing must be made by photographic means.

Stanley Kenn, president of the club, also has announced that on the same evening an exchange of negatives will be made between the members so that another member may make a print from his fellow member's film and then comparison will be made with the original prints made by the owner of the negative. This is part of the educational program of the Camera Club.

Mr. Kenn has issued an invitation to the interested public to attend the meeting, which will be held at the Neighborhood Club.

Police Referee Drivers' Fight

On Monday morning, Nov. 25, at about 3 o'clock a driver pulled up alongside Officer A. Conlon's car at Maryland and Jefferson and craved protection. A suspicious car had been following him all the way from Warren and Conner.

A moment later the officer had the pursuing car in hand and took its entire passenger list, counting four young men from 17 to 19 years of age, and the complainant, who gave the name of Carl G. Romatz of 23298 Stewart, into the station house.

The young men's story was that the other party had cut in between them and the curb downtown narrowly escaping a bad sideswiping and had accompanied his maneuver with a lot of complimentary expletives.

They turned into a restaurant near Conner and Jefferson and the other party did also. He then called out to the driver of the car he had nearly hit and invited him to come out and fight. When four husky young gladiators responded with alacrity he changed his mind. He then jumped into his car and speeded out Jefferson. They were following to get his car number.

The young men were all questioned separately and their stories checked ok. The police discharged all of the parties with the opinion that it was only a case of a reckless driver who had bitten off more than he could chew.

BUS SUSPECTED

Farms Policemen Seelow and Sylvester reported on November 24 that they had discovered a broken-off telephone pole at Mack and Moross. The officers reported marks on the pole looked as if a bus had been the cause of the damage.

Declare War On Speeders

City Police Get Tough in Enforcement of All Traffic Regulations

The City of Grosse Pointe police are stepping up their program of getting tough with violators of the speeding and general traffic regulations in the City.

On Monday, Nov. 18, they gave a ticket to Virginia Tower of 333 Touraine and to Parcelle M. Thomas of 20743 Marter road both for speeding 40 m.p.h. on Waterloo. The latter was also cited for not having an operator's license.

On Tuesday, Nov. 19, Michael P. O'Donnell of 326 Merriweather was ticketed for speeding 40 m.p.h. on Jefferson and Rosemary H. Fresard of 2503 Liberty St., St. Clair Shores, was also ticketed for speeding. The same day Sandra S. Betts of 1084 Bedford got a ticket for going through a red light at Maumee and Fisher.

The police say that the recent improvement of the streets as the result of the new paving program has been too much of a temptation to some drivers to "let her out" a notch or two when they strike one of these newly paved thoroughfares.

Pursuant to their program of bearing down hard on traffic violators the City police on Saturday, Nov. 23, issued two more tickets for fast driving. One of these went to Eleanor S. Stahl, of 194 Merriweather road, for driving 40 m.p.h. on Waterloo, and Truman H. Newberry II, of 110 Cloverly, got a ticket for a 47 m.p.h. spurt on the same highway.

A short time later Newberry went around to the police station on Maumee and wanted to know what the fine was. He wanted to pay it on the spot, but was informed by the sergeant that that would have to be following a court hearing.

The Sergeant said this arrangement didn't suit Mr. Newberry at all. To show his disagreement with the arrangement he drove his car over the grass plot in front of police quarters despite the "keep off the grass" sign.

TOOL SHED BURNS

A tool shed fire on the property of Arthur H. Buhl, Jr., 390 Provincial road, was extinguished by Farms firemen on Nov. 21 after damage estimated at about $200 had been done to the building and contents.

Halsey's "Color Blind." Subsequent meetings will deal with other current and social problems which beset our society. Membership in the Discussion Club is open to the public and registration may be made at the Grosse Pointe Public Library.

Ann Seymour Bride Of J. P. Terrien, Jr.

Ceremony in St. Paul's Church Followed by Reception in Lochmoor Club; Honeymoon in New Orleans

White mums and gladioli graced the three altars at St. Paul's on the Lake Shore last Saturday morning when Ann Elizabeth Seymour became the bride of Joseph Peter Terrien, Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Terrien, of Calvert avenue.

Ann, who is the daughter of Mrs. William J. Seymour, of Grayton road, and the late Dr. Seymour, wore a gown of ivory satin, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves and a full skirt which ended in a short train. The tightly fitted bodice came down into a small flared peplum. Her three tiered veil of illusion was fastened to a coronet of braided tulle, and she carried a bouquet of white mums, baby breath and white orchids.

The bride's sister, Mary Jane Seymour, was her maid of honor. Her cranberry faille gown was made with a fitted bodice and dropped shoulders which formed cap sleeves. The full bouffant skirt was draped with a small bustle at the back. She wore a halo of matching material, trimmed with white ostrich tips.

The bridesmaids, Cecile Teller and Mrs. Robert Hough were dressed in yellow faille gowns, fashioned similarly to that of the maid of honor. All of the attendants carried bouquets of white mums with yellow centers.

Jerome Terrien was his brother's best man. The groomsmen were Henry Lindeman and Edward Blackwell, and the ushers were the groom's two other brothers, Burnham and Milton; and the bride's cousin, Hoyt Seymour.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Seymour chose a deep aqua crepe gown fashioned with a square neckline and a draped skirt. She wore a brown satin hat trimmed with brown tipped white ostrich plumes, and she wore brown orchids.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Terrien, chose a black chiffon velvet gown with a hat made of the same material. She wore purple orchids at her shoulder.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast and reception was held at the Lochmoor Country Club.

When the newlyweds left for their honeymoon in New Orleans, the bride was wearing a cutaway suit of beige wool with a squirrel trimmed hat and squirrel muff. Her accessories were brown. Upon their return sometime next month, the junior Mr. and Mrs. Terrien will make their home in the Pointe.

Stolen House Number Bestowed on Vacant Lot

A house number sign that looked as if it had been recently uprooted from some lawn was found by the gardener of the Fruehauf property in a vacant lot nearby, on Windmill Pointe drive.

A short time later it was returned to Mr. Shepherd of Balfour road. He was equally certain that his house had lost a sign and that the missing number was 687.

Baha'is Welcome Alaskan Visitor

Baha'is from Grosse Pointe and Detroit attended an open house at the home of Mrs. Harry Fiedler in Wyandotte Sunday, for Miss Honor Kempton, a member of the Baha'i community in Anchorage, Alaska.

Miss Kempton sails Thursday on the Queen Elizabeth for England, where she is to visit her family, and then proceed to Luxembourg where she is to establish residence as a Baha'i pioneer.

As part of the Seven Year Plan of the American Baha'is, Miss Kempton will contact a former Grosse Pointe resident, Mme. Etty Graeffe of the International Baha'i Bureau in Geneva, Switzerland. The goal is to establish Baha'i centers in European countries, and to contact those Baha'is who were displaced in the war years. Among the Baha'is greeting Miss Kempton at the open house were Isidore Scheimberg, of Ecuador, who has just arrived to make his home in Detroit.

Kid Bits

By Mary Prevo

Super-colossal was the hay ride put on by BUNNY SHIPTON Friday! A hearty group of half a hundred Grosse Pointe High Schoolers made up the two wagon loads of merry-makers. The clubhouse out at Clover Lane riding stables was bedecked with streamers and balloons, and gobs of potato salad and sandwiches provided nourishment for the evening. Dancing to recorded music were Bunny and Bob Clark, Ann Hicks and Dick King, Meeky VanZanen and Bill Joop, Joan Blanchard and Harry Constance, Marilee O'Brien and Jim Trousdale, Carol Sharver and Spider Webb, Frannie Kretschmar and Paul Friese, Diane Fruehauf and Bill Anderson. Others in on this gala affair were Doris Buser and Dan Beck, Shirley Davis and Bill Montory, Marge Schulte and Lee Walker, Annie Davis and Ed Isby, Sally Smith and Dick Jackson.

DOTTIE WULZ arrived home from Kingswood Wednesday to celebrate the Thanksgiving season with her family. She will return Monday for the short interlude between now and Christmas.

A grand opening for the holiday balls was the OARSMEETS BALL at the Boat Club Wednesday evening. Bill Gail and his orchestra furnished the music for the dancers including Bonnie Wegman with Al Whittaker, Ann Hicks with Dick King, Marilyn Smith with Roy Lineweber, Sue Campbell with Bill Casteel, Annie Davis with Ed Isby, Joan Heise with Don VanBeelaere, Barb Stoerkel with Phil Skillman and Dorothea Davis with Ron Dykstra.

"You are hereby drafted to report to Miller hall on the evening of November 24, by order of the Chi Rho club of Christ church," satted a postal from the young people's organization to all members. The jollity of these Sunday evening meetings was carried out in a most novel way this week when there was an induction. Everyone took certain tests and physicals such as dropping clothes pins in a milk bottle and memory tests. The evening was filled with much hilarity, and those partaking in the fun were Dave Bodycomb, Tucker Whitehead, Elton Bamford, Larry Hittel, Paul Terbrueggen, Tony Stever, Mary Waterfall, Nancy Stever, Dolly Fischer, Carla Lipski and Katie James.

SUE CAMPBELL'S home on Harvard road was the scene of a most lovely tea Sunday afternoon. SUE, MARILYN KAISER and JOAN HEISE were the hostesses, and their guest list ranged up in the 60's. Marilyn Smith, Doris Buser, Annie Davis, Diane Faulk, Janet VanOsdol, Dolores DeCoster, Marge Smith, Shirley Drake, Sally Blasic and Mary Ann Queen were there. More were Kaye Kernkamp, Les Yeager, Jennie Quirk, Joanne Morrison, Pat Day, Pat Gullberg, Jessie Farquhar, Dottie Lander, Dolores Lindquist, Ruth Eigel and Michie.

ANDY CREAMER is in town! He came via train in the very wee hours of Thanksgiving morn, but only to return to the University of Virginia at the close of this week-end.

Mingling in the crowds during intermission at the Friday and Saturday performances of CHILDREN OF THE MOON were Sally MacDonald and Ted Fuger, Sally Smith and Bill Gallagher, Andy Klingbell and Denny Thomas, Nancy Weed and Pete Klaver, Jo Singer and Dave Penman, Sara Stephenson and Clark Stevenson, Helene Himmelein and Bill Hooper, Jean Shortkroff and Joe Daugherty, Jane Rogers and Jerry Thiede, Doris Buser and Dan Beck, Florence Erringer and Jack Wilson, Marilee O'Brien and Earl Lapp, Barb Elliott and Don Lewis, Dottie Lander and Bill Penoyar, Mary Waterfall and Tim VanAntwerp and Letty Kretschmar and Ray Schuman.

Thanksgiving

Amid the current coal strike and the general jitters which beset the country in its laborious efforts to get back to a sane and just peace-time economy following the tremendous dislocation which came with the great war, some will fancy it a difficult time in which to give thanks.

But if our people will pause for a moment in the midst of their present anxiety and view the national picture clearly and without panic they will be mightily reassured.

The troubles that plague us now are man-made troubles. Man, with any reasonable clarity of thought and a revived sense of decency and responsibility towards his fellow man, can apply the cures which will soon set our national house aright and, in due time, those of our world wide neighbors.

The first Thanksgiving was wholly inspired by gratitude that a kindly Providence had given us enough to eat. Mother Earth, under the urgings of a band of pioneers who had narrowly escaped starvation, had produced the sustenance which guaranteed their ability to live on a little longer. That remains to this day the great underlying cause for Thanksgiving.

In that scale the measure of our cause for thanksgiving should be boundless. Not only have we been able to produce the food which has meant life for the wretched human flotsam of war throughout the world, but we have produced a new harvest this year that tops all records of our past.

Iowa, alone, with 650,000,000 bushels of corn, (meat on the hoof), grains, fruits and vegetables across a continent in a profusion never known before. Food; food for ourselves and a surplus which will mean life to unfortunates in far lands still grubbing the soil without tools, in some instances literally with their bare hands.

Thanksgiving? Why, the American people on the score of food alone and without counting the innumerable blessings that face us on every hand, should bow their heads in humility and give thanks to Our Heavenly Father that He has again given us such an abundance of that which builds the physical and spiritual courage which will enable us to face and overcome those man-made plagues that an approaching happier day will quickly dissipate.

Let us give thanks this year with a fervency never felt before.

Labor Awaking

The personally arranged and conducted coal strike which John L. Lewis has foisted upon the nation is already having some repercussions that indicate a nervous awaking of labor to its responsibilities to the common welfare.

Roving newshawks in the coal fields report that the spirit among the miners is in striking contrast to that which formerly existed in the early stages of other strikes. While the men bravely proclaim their willingness to follow "Our John" in any course he leads, there is a frequently heard query whether or not John hasn't this time bitten off more than he can chew. They are sustained by the fact that he has always been a winner, and they hope, not too enthusiastically, that he will be one again.

There is not as yet anything approaching a serious self searching among the miners as to their general responsibility to the common welfare. If they could win, everything would be ok. so far as they are concerned. But the rumpus which they, or rather their bullheaded and defiant leader, has touched off is regarded in a deeper vein in other quarters.

Out in St. Louis, the other day, the St. Louis Labor Tribune, the official organ of the St. Louis American Federation of Labor Council, asks Lewis to call off the strike, significantly, "for the sake of the United Mine Workers and the entire labor movement. It says, mildly, that Lewis, a national vice president of the AFL, should "resort to peaceful negotiations to get desired wage adjustments." This is a quite different timbre detected in labor's voice only recently.

Labor is being jolted into a realization that it may have gone too far since the war. When Henry Ford II stated the other day that his company had lost more than Fifty Million dollars in the first nine months of the year it made Walter Reuther's learned arguments that the auto manufacturers could raise wages without increasing the price of cars look silly.

Down in Atlantic City where the CIO is holding its annual National convention an utterly different atmosphere is said to permeate the gathering than formerly. Instead of the cavalier or dictatorial manner in which it used to meet its problems with the employers there is a subdued quality to the talk in both the committee rooms and the general assemblies. The confidence, and, in some instances even arrogance, with which this body used to talk has been succeeded by a quiet anxiety.

Many of the men in this meeting who are in a position to view the labor field in its national sweep are beginning to have misgivings. Maybe they have gone too far in crippling the bird that lays the golden eggs? The course of events since the end of the war has emphasized the interdependence of labor and management and a lot of these labor leaders are smart enough to interpret a picture correctly.

It is altogether probable that many of them secretly have little sympathy with the coal strike, certainly not with the Lewis' tactics which led up to it. Philip Murray, personal head of the Steel workers, would scarcely have little relish for the mass unemployment that hangs over the heads of his own group. The same thoughts probably run through the minds of the leaders whose particular unions will early feel the weight of chain unemployment.

The plain citizens who envisage cold and unlighted homes and the dead stop of the public transportation systems on which they depend have little liking for the prospect. They are fed up and their voice will be heard louder and louder as the strike goes on. In the private citizen's mind all strikes are bad, but those which vitally affect the daily life of all the people are abominable. The time is rapidly approaching when such strikes cannot be, and never has a great strike fallen on the Nation which has so fragile support in public good will.

It will not last long. Nothing can that runs counter to a manifest adverse public opinion.

The sailor would not watch the star,
And David's Psalms had never been sung
If grief his heart had never wrung."
(Benjamin Schmolke)

A local married gent telephoned us (now don't jump at conclusions), to tell about the "hired girl" who presides over their pantry whenever they have a dinner party . . . which they did, recently. It seems they have one of those portable bars in the library, where the guests make their own drinks. After the guests had been there for about a half hour, the host suddenly noticed that he'd forgotten to remove two empty whiskey bottles that had been on the bar all day. He took them to the pantry, where he ran into the maid. She glanced at the empties with raised eyebrows and said, "Gee! They're drinking 'em fast tonight, aint they?"

KEEPING AN EYE ON THE OPPOSITION DEPT.

Whoever said, "You can find enough entertainment in your own yard . . . if you look for it," knew whereof he spoke. We happened to glance out of our upstairs window last Saturday and noticed that the small newsboy who delivers one of the dailies, was just in the act of putting his paper in our curb mailbox. He peered in the box first, and hauled out the other daily paper that was already in there. He then proceeded to settle back comfortably on his bike (which he leaned against the box for further comfort) . . . opened the other newspaper and began to read it. We thought he might possibly be looking for the Funnies . . . but no. He read every page and spent an inordinate amount of time on the Stock Quotations! After about twenty minutes, he had quite finished; rolled the paper up neatly and returned it to the box before pedaling off at a slow pace. Perhaps NO newspaper is a hero to its own newsboys!

YOUNG FINANCIER DEPT.

This is the story of a fourteen year old woman of the world and her ten year old financier brother. The young lady it seems, was invited to spend the week-end in New York by the family of one of her OLD school ties. Her parents, who didn't think it a good idea, refused permission on the grounds that it would cost too much and that if she couldn't finance the trip out of her allowance, she definitely COULD NOT GO.

Knowing she didn't have enough allowance saved up to make the trip, they were rather startled when she came to them one evening and said she was all set to go . . . and that she had the necessary cash for the trip. It turned out that her ten year old brother, who had been more frugal with his allowance, was lending her the money at five per cent interest . . . Something they had worked out between them on 20 reams of paper . . . but accurately!

A very circumspect, quiet-of-mien, timid little matron of the Pointe, trekked to New York recently for the first time in 15 years. She didn't know anyone in New York but that was all right with her. She planned on a three day spree of window shopping and in a devilish mood thought she might take in a show. On her first day in the beeg city, she ventured timidly into Brooks Brothers to buy a tie for her husband. WHO should she run into there but a third or fourth cousin, whom she hadn't seen in years. He made great to-do over her being in New York and insisted she have dinner with him, in his apartment. After a maddening amount of fluttering, she agreed to taxi herself there at 7:30 that evening.

The apartment turned out to be in a fairly shabby neighborhood and it was with great misgivings that she climbed the four flights to his bachelor walk-up. They had a nice chafing dish dinner and spent the evening (believe it or not) looking at his etchings! When she suggested leaving at 11 p.m., he insisted she have a wee night cap to ward off a chill before going out into the wild night. This she did . . . not quite knowing how to refuse. What with looking at more etchings and family chit-chat, it was a good 1 a.m. when she finally got ready to depart. Little cousin insisted that she take a silk bathrobe he had, back to her husband for a little present . . . he'd worn it only once or twice . . . and he really didn't want it anyway. There was nothing in which to wrap it, so with the bathrobe slung over her arm, she descended into the street with cousin in tow, to hail a cab.

Not until she was about to enter the cab, did she realize what the cab driver might think. Liquor on her breath (?) a man putting her in a cab in that neighborhood at THAT hour and her with a man's robe slung over her arm just like a hussy. She worried about it all the way back to her hotel . . . then when getting out of the cab, she said brightly to the driver, "That was my cousin! I hadn't seen him in 15 years until I ran into him today." The driver, fishing out her change, said dryly, "Oh YEAH?" The poor little soul hasn't gotten over it yet.

The Veto

M. Molotov has again said NO! to approaches by the other four of the Five great powers which dominate the Security Council to a softening of the veto power. M. Molotov is a realist, plus. So much has been said by our leaders in foreign affairs and written in our newspapers that a belief has been built up here that there is something sinister and Machiavellian in Russia's stand on this point. In all honesty it is a stand in its final analysis for the principle of ultimate national sovereignty. He may not be too far wrong. Already some pretty substantial straws have come to the surface in the United Nations' whirlpool of politics under which we might wish to put down a heavy foot ourselves.

The suggestion was advanced in the Assembly the other day for the placing of the Panama Canal under the United Nations. The same suggestion has gone for the Suez canal and the touchy waterway through the Dardanelles. This brings the U. S., Britain and the Soviet Union into the picture, with bristles up.

With what enthusiasm would the American people who built the Panama canal with their own money and who guard and maintain it for the benefit of the whole world, welcome handing over the ultimate decision on its control and use to a group of 55 nations, including some 18 or 19 black-and-tan play democracies in this hemisphere, which at any throw of the political dice might be arraigned against us?

Our own country is a pretty well based and long lived democracy. The United Nations Organization has not yet learned to creep, let alone walk. When, in the longed-for future, it has grown to respect-commanding stature this now cherished basic national sovereignty may be surrendered to other keeping; not until then, and the American people would make answer in no uncertain voice if given the opportunity to do so.

Talley Rant

by
Helen Talley

The fabulous VIVIENNE AKSTON (the former VIVIENNE WOOLLEY - HART) owns the most unique picture gallery in New York. In the first place it is right in VIVIENNE'S own home. It is the three story penthouse on PARK AVENUE which for years was the abode of the late CONDE NAST. From the great glassed-in terrace you can see all of New York and the PEARLY GATES besides. CONDE gave wonderful parties. He knew EVERYBODY, here and abroad, and combined the ARTS and SOCIETY in a perfect melange.

VIVIENNE, equally well known as an international party-giver, is also an arresting artist of professional standing. She is the ideal chateleine to carry on at 1040 PARK. During the month of December the GALLERY VIVIENNE is showing HERBERT GURSCHNER'S work. His ANNUNCIATION is in LONDON'S TATE GALLERY. This collection contains his famous LAWRENCE OF ARABIA. If you are in New York and go to 1040, you will see a fine showing, a beautiful gallery, and possibly one of the most attractive and interesting women in international society.

OUR TOWN reverberates with the high, thin shriek of motor sirens as our very IMPORTANT PERSONS are convoyed hither and yon, day and night. The WALDORF, where the VIPS make haste to edge somebody out of a TOWER suite if possible, is completely surrounded by police. You just can't dawdle around the sacred vicinity—you keep going, honey. When MOLOTOV steps into the clear blue air he is completely surrounded by our secret service and his own guard besides. Probably the only sight he has seen in New York is the patch of sky when he looks up. The BIG FOUR, staying at the WALDORF with their families and chief aides, all rate police escorts. So do the WINDSORs, also at the WALDORF. It's like the MOUSE GAME—somebody always scampering in and out of an opening. The MOUSE gets cheese—the VIPS get cheese AND a siren.

Our restaurants have become completely cosmopolitan. That goes from the top establishments where a meal with wine is twenty dollars to the little side street bistros where one can dine on native dishes of towns all over the world, for a dollar or two. The INDIAN lady in her shimmering, silken sari and the jewel in her forehead, possibly dines at the COLONY. The third as assistant secretary to her husband's aide probably makes a dash for the RAJAH, where she will find a room full of her countrymen and a fine hot curry. The fashionable little CHINESE women wear their pretty embroidered robes in the restaurants in the evening when they dine at such places as the PAVILLON or VOISIN. It all adds charm and grace to our city and we love it.

I came back from Washington on a plane not long ago and found one of my favorite people in the seat beside me—LOWELL THOMAS. LOWELL has done a lot of traveling the last few years and plans not too far from now to do a lecture tour, with pictures, to be called "AROUND THE WORLD WITH LOWELL THOMAS." Millions of people know his famous voice. This trip will give them a chance to become acquainted with his pleasant personality.

Young LOWELL—SONNY—has just had an experience most men would give their front tooth for. He flew on the last flight made by the AIR TRANSPORT COMMAND to inspect—and to abandon many of our round-the-world bases. SONNY was cameraman on the trip and brought back the only complete motion picture in color of a flight around the world. Back at Dartmouth, he spends his spare time on off week-ends, lecturing with the film. He expects to be at the Detroit Museum Auditorium some time the first of the year.

At dinner the other night I sat between GENERAL ROBERT RICHARDSON and DR. MORTON BROWN and my ears grew large and flappy with interest at what each was saying. GENERAL RICHARDSON'S name you probably know well. He was in command in the central Pacific and the feats of his men are legendary. DR. BROWN, you probably haven't ever heard of, but he will be in the public prints on or about the first of December. On that day he will take unto wife Miss ILKA CHASE. ILKA is now in Nevada shedding BILLS. After a honeymoon in California, they will return to New York and start a new chapter.

Wayne to Present Handel's Messiah

Nationally-known soloists and a combined chorus and orchestra totaling over 600 members will be presented in Wayne University's 17th annual production of Handel's "The Messiah" at the Masonic Temple, Tuesday and Wednesday, December 3 and 4.

Featured soloists will be Hilda Ohlin, soprano; Martha Lipton, contralto; Metropolitan Opera star and guest artist on the Ford Sunday Evening Hour; Donald Dame, tenor, winner of the Metropolitan Opera auditions and star of the American Family Album radio show, and Richard Bonelli, bass, Metropolitan star.

Supporting the soloists will be a choir of 500 voices composed of the Wayne University chorus and choir and alumni and community groups. The Wayne University Orchestra, trained by Leo Lemke, assistant professor of music, and Harry Langford, associate conductor of the University choral groups, at the organ, will accompany the singers. Directing the entire production will be Harold Tallman, associate professor of music and conductor of the Wayne University choral groups. Over 10,000 people are expected to attend the oratorio, which was first presented by Wayne in 1938 in the auditorium of the College of the City of Detroit before an audience of 40 persons. Since 1938 the production has been so popular that it was moved to the Masonic Temple. By 1944 public interest had grown to such an extent that two performances were scheduled, and that policy has been followed ever since.

Doctor's Advice As to Drugs

By FRED M. KOPP, R. Ph.
Amazing specifics have appeared in recent years, even in recent months, which are restorative of health.

Their use, however, must be under the control and advice of a physician. Sulfa drugs and penicillin are examples. Often the doctor's warning appears almost too simple to be taken seriously, but each piece of advice is given for a specific reason.

The rule applies, of course, to all medicine. The safest plan is to have a doctor's prescription and to have it filled by a competent druggist.

Debutantes Promised Holiday Season Whirl

Julie Hudson, Mary and Helen Owen, Peggy Couzens, Sally Baker and Susie Stoepel on Long List to Be Honored

Grosse Pointe debutantes are promised a whirl of festive parties over the holiday season, with many plans already firmly entered in engagement books throughout the Pointe. When Julie Hudson arrived home from Endicott Junior College she began filling out her calendar for parties during the holiday season.

Julie, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. Stewart Hudson, of Lathrop road, will be presented at the Country Club at a dance given by her grandmother, Mrs. Arthur H. Buhl, on Dec. 26. Preceding the dance, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore D. Buhl will honor their niece at a dinner party in their home for thirty or forty of the young set.

Mrs. Louis Mendelssohn is making plans ahead of time, and has decided on Thursday evening, Jan. 2, as the date on which she will honor the young deb.

She will be hostess for a dinner for Julie and a group of friends, all of whom plan to go on to the dance at the Country Club, which is to be given by Mr. and Mrs. William R. Yaw, in honor of their niece, Peggy Couzens.

Twin debutantes, Mary and Helen Owen will be presented at a dance on Dec. 20 by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Owen III at the Country Club. Two days later, on Dec. 22, the twins will be honor guests at a party to be given by Mr. and Mrs. L. Rothe Farr and their sons, Lewis R. Farr, Jr. and Frederick Farr.

In honor of her two sons Mrs. Shelden has asked some 50 of their friends for a buffet dinner Saturday evening, after which the group will go to the Country Club for dancing.

WIND PLAYS TRICKS

Mrs. Harriet Martin of 1691 Cranford Lane stopped her car in front of 17116 Kercheval the morning of Nov. 22. As she opened the door a heavy gust of wind blew it all the way open, causing another car passing at the moment to hit it, badly damaging the door of her car.

Junior League Opens Pioneer House at Tea

Ambitious Project to Take Care of Training of Needy Boys Launched at Formal Reception in New Building

The official opening of Pioneer House, which took place on Tuesday, Nov. 26, when the Junior League entertained several hundred people at an Open House and Tea, marked the end of many months of hard work on the part of Junior League members to renovate and furnish the house that they had purchased at 5740 Second blvd.

All the current problems of obtaining materials and labor, delayed the opening of Pioneer House, which had to be made ready to accommodate the 10 boys chosen by Dr. Redl and his staff to live there under his group therapy care. The Junior League's new project is to provide specialized care for little boys between the ages of eight and eleven who need particular training to equip them to lead normal lives in their community.

At the Open House on Tuesday, the rooms were all open for inspection, and play-rooms, work-rooms and bedrooms, complete with 10 man-sized beds, waited the arrival of the boys, which will probably take place soon after December 1. The children will come mainly from Detroit and Wayne County and have been accepted only as referrals from social agencies. All public and private agencies may refer children. The agencies will remain in contact with Pioneer House Staff. No change in guardianship will take place.

Besides financing the project, and working to prepare and equip the House for occupancy, the Junior League will continue to play an active part in its operation. All volunteer League workers, planning to assist with the children or in any way join in the running of the project, are attending a special seminar on group therapy taught by Dr. Redl, covering problems of child development, technique of work with difficult children, and interpretation of Child Behavior.

Under the guidance of the Co-Chairmen of the Junior League Board of Pioneer House, Mrs. Roy D. Chapin, Jr. and Mrs. Harry Hoey, many League members have donated their time, energies, and inspiration as well as possessions, to equip all the various rooms. Storerooms and cupboards, attics and basements, as well as many a house furnishing store, have been ransacked to provide good, usable furniture, kitchen ware, athletic equipment and material for the indoor and outdoor games rooms. A children's library and arts and crafts tools have not been overlooked, and Junior Leaguers have also been busy contacting outside community resources to provide essentials for Pioneer House.

The Public Schools of Detroit have promised their enthusiastic co-operation. The children will be placed in one of the special classes in one of the public schools, and plans for specified co-ordination between school and Pioneer House have been developed.

The Pioneer House staff, which have been in residence and hard at work since September, include: Dr. Fritz Redl, Professor of Social Work, School of Public Affairs and Social Work, at Wayne University, and a specialist in Group Therapy; Mr. David Wineman, Executive Director and Case Work Supervisor; Miss Mary Lee Nicholson, Executive Director of the Detroit Group Project; Miss Emily Kenner, Housemother, and three Field Work students of Wayne University Graduate School for Public Affairs and Social Work. In addition to this, students from other departments of Wayne University, as for instance Nursing, Art, Education, Special Education, will give occasional services to Pioneer House.

Members of the Advisory Board representing other community interests, who will assist the Junior League Board and their staff at Pioneer House, include: Leo Bartemier, M.D.; Mrs. E. J. Bemis, Miss Katherine Faville, Miss Alice B. Hanchett, Miss Eleonore Hutzell, Dr. Mason Matthews, Dr. Editha Sterba, Mr. Paul H. Voelker, and Paul V. Wooley, Jr., M.D.

DIPLOMACY being the art of saying what you don't mean, so that no one can figure out what you do mean—one can only accept with the dear old elevated eyebrow The Word of the Gay Attache from Washington. The Gay Attache reports that there will be two White House dinners, of equal importance, honoring the diplomatic corps of the world. The explanation is that the White House dining hall is too small to accommodate them all at once. The question is, did the dining hall shrink during the year or did the diplomats swell?

Obviously, those ambassadors and their wives, invited to the second dinner will resent not being asked to the first dinner. Precedent being of such prime importance in this tight little circle, it would seem the only solution would be to hold the functions simultaneously. For, according to our Gay Attache, we are still living in a world where someone might throw an atomic bomb like a spit ball if protocol is ignored. If the Turkish envoy gets into a cab ahead of the Russian envoy, watch out! And if the Russian envoy gets into a Turkish bath ahead of the Turk, just charter the nearest yacht and get away from it all.

WASHINGTON is, at the moment, the world's greatest hotbed of culture. The Willy Wives of the diplomatic corps are such virtutes for culture that they can hold you up at the point of a lorgnette. They can confound a young dining-out diplomat, to such an extent that he yearns only to hang himself with his own white tie on the crystal chandelier.

In proof whereof, we present the Gay Attache's own pre-story of his first excruciating encounter with the Willy Wives. The sharp young blade, shaking in his white tie and tails, with hardware by Cartier, had been rehearsed in this dining-out dialogue by The Oldest Member at the Embassy.

Said the Oldest Member: "You have to put these Willy Wives in their places. Intimidate them before they intimidate you. Here's how to do it. Just ask them these three questions. They'll pipe down. You can then wallow in the squab and champagne.

"First, you turn to the Lady on your Left. You ask her: 'Are you married?' She says Yes! You ask her how many children she has. She says four. Then you fix her firmly in the eye and ask: 'Really! Whose ARE they?' That shuts HER up!

"Next, you turn to the Lady on your Right. You ask her: 'Are you married?' She says No! Then you ask her oh, so sweetly: 'How many children do YOU have?' That shuts HER up!

"Finally, you turn to the Lady across the table. You ask her: 'Are you married?' She says Yes! You inquire how many children she has. She replies she has none. So you ask her very subtly: 'How do you manage it?' That shuts HER up!"

THAT was the way the Oldest Member gave the dinner rehearsal to the Gay Attache—but THIS is the way it came off.

The Gay Attache, beaming on the Lady at his Left asked her: "Are you married?"

"Yes!" she said.

"How many children do you have?"

"Four!" she replied.

"Really! Whose ARE they?" he asked.

"Wouldn't YOU love to know!" she laughed charmingly.

THAT SHUT HIM UP!

Turning to the Lady on his Right, the Gay Attache asked:

"Are you married?"

"No!" she smiled, archly.

"And how many children do YOU have?" he asked her.

"To tell you the truth, I've lost track!" she smiled back.

THAT SHUT HIM UP!

Finally, the Gay Attache beamed at the Lady Across the Table and asked her:

"Are you married?"

"Yes," she nodded.

"How many children do you have?" he inquired.

"None!" she told him.

"How do you manage it?" he asked.

"Drop around tomorrow, sonny boy, and I'll SHOW you!" she snapped.

THAT SHUT HIM UP! BUT FOR GOOD.

"EVER since that night," confides the Gay Attache, "I knew I couldn't like the Willy Wives. Since then, I just sit and sip and sip. Washington dinner parties to me are just a champagne in the neck!"

WHO'S WEARING WHAT

The Opera Season, with the Vets of the Met on hand, exploded with such a flashing of tiaras and smashing of photographers bulbs that you couldn't tell whether the flashlights blinded the dowagers or the diamonds blinded the photographers.

Actually, the late opening gave scope to the most stimulating array of formal fashions this season. The two hits bowing in are The Hoop Skirt (with town car built around it) and the ankle length Ballet Skirt (with or without The Swan Dance).

The dramatic designer, Valentina, wore one of her own costumes—a voluminous champagne satin gown topped by an Elizabethan cape of black velvet. With her was the opera singer, Gladys Swarthout, in an American Beauty metallic threaded gown.

And that draped harem gown that's been such a Paris threat appeared at another premiere on none other than Wallis, the original Gone-with-the-Winds Duchess.

A farmer in Illinois has a three-legged duck with four feet. Two of the legs are normal, and the third, growing out near the tail, is the two-footed one.

ST. PAUL

HI-LITES

By PAULA BEAUPRE

A tremendous crowd made their way Sunday by car and bus to the U. of D. stadium for the play-off between St. Paul and St. Mary of Royal Oak. The long list included Tom Carrier, Dan Campau, Freddy Maddock, Carol Staub, Judy Henneke, Nancy Logue, Ann Dungan, June Allard, Nora Allard, Marty Mauer, DoDo Backman, Georgie Doane, Josephine Mannino, Bill Wybo, Nancy Stahl, Betty Sheridan, Virginia Miklovich, Al Moir, Jack Auckland, Joe Cavanaugh, and Theresa Dupuis.

Other Paulites cheering for their gridsters were Jerry Hollerbach, Dick Hoskins, Doug Kerich, Marion McLaughlin, Chuck Boulit, Nan Downey, Connie Curran and Nancy Schumacher.

Pearl Frontera, Elaine Wujek, Carol Boxrud, Sue Burke, Mike Ferguson, Mary Gerardy, Sue Sharrow, Margaret Lynch, Jo Camella, and Ray Allor did a wonderful job of leading the cheers for the group.

Some of the senior girls took advantage of the "free day" on Monday by gathering at JOAN WEIDMAN'S Fisher road home on Sunday eve for a strictly feminine fun session. Sleeping quarters were provided for the drowsy girls who were only too happy to make use of them before being called to the delicious breakfast of waffles and syrup. We saw Pat Van Tiem, Henrietta Sutton, Pat Rabaut and Carolyn Englehardt busily engaged in a pillow fight while Beatrice Marchand and Ellen Boulit did the refereeing.

Another slumber party took place at PEGGY WORTLEY's after the Youth Club Dance Friday. Before getting their "forty winks," the girls decided to make their own entertainment so they settled comfortably 'round the piano and sang the latest "hit parade" tunes while their hostess took care of the accompaniment. Those who chatted away for hours during the affair were, Nancy Schumacher, Alice Fauser, Jeanne Kulka and Betty Ann Huettner.

The YOUTH CLUB DANCE beckoned many more "fellas" and "gals" this week. As usual, the games and juke box provided the entertainment for the crowd. Some of the students who were having a specially good time at the ping-pong table included Nancy Logue, Margaret Hyde, John Clark, John Carpenter, Margaret Clark, Harry Hammond, Harold Michaux, Chuck Wyllie, Joan Whyte, Butch DeRocher, Anna Marie Tamm, Bill Sharp, Joannie Beaupre, and Myra Lou Backman.

A surprise party for JOAN SCHUMMER and NAN BERGMANN was also on the agenda last week end. The sops did the planning for this gathering. Two beautiful birthday cakes, adorned with 15 candles each, were presented to the celebrators which were followed up by ice cream and orange "cocktails." The rest of the evening was spent in "tripping the light fantastic" to the newest collection of recordings. The two in the spotlight were escorted by Dick Morketter and Tim Carrigan. Others who joined in were Marg Clark and Chuck Wyllie, Ann Meathe and Jim Law, Judy Athman and John Hoey, Dot Hillebrand and Jerry Ghoult, Marilyn Mureur and Stan Jursek, and

Pat Trombley with Harry Hammond.

A group of sops decided that there should definitely be a celebration when the Flyers became East Side Champs after being victorious in the St. Ambrose contest, so they all got together at PEGGY LABADIE's home after the winning game. A group of the "fellas" and girls who were noticed roasting hot dogs included Joan Schummer, Dick Morketter, Marie Meldrum, Chuck Wyllie, Marg Clark, Harry Hammond, Nan Bergmann, Dick Hoskins, Pat Trombley, Joe Cavanaugh, Sally Murphy, Tim Carrigan, Rita Leithausen, Stan Jursek, Von Tamm, Judy Athman and Ann Meathe.

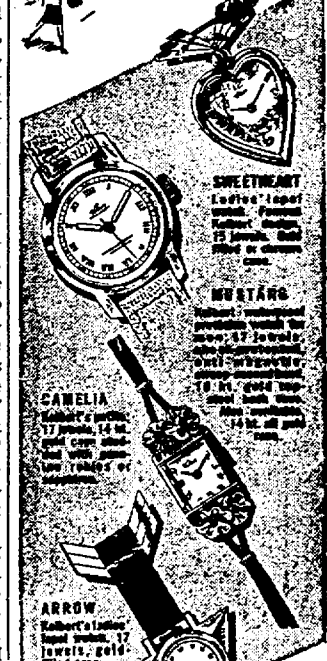

MARILYN OTTO and NANCY ROCKWOOD agreed that they didn't want to miss the last home Michigan game of the season, so they wended their way to the stadium at Ann Arbor where they met some friends who accompanied them to the encounter with Wisconsin. Afterwards, Marilyn and her date, Andy Paton, were seen at the dance at the League.

Virginia Purdy Weds Charles W. Weiler, Jr.

Ceremony in St. Catherine's Chapel of SS Peter and Paul Church Followed by Reception in Home of Bride's Parents

St. Catherine's Chapel of SS Peter and Paul Church was the scene last Saturday morning of a lovely ceremony which united in marriage Virginia Catherine Purdy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Purdy, of Three Mile drive, and Charles W. Weiler, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Weiler, of Martindale drive. Father Benedict J. Rodman performed the ceremony.

Tiny seed pearls were embroidered into a laurel leaf design along the off-shoulder neckline of the bride's candle light satin gown. Fashioned in princess lines, the full skirt ended in a long train. A halo embroidered in seed pearls held her cathedral length veil of illusion. She carried white orchids with her prayer book.

Mrs. Robert E. Coleman was her sister's matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Marie Purdy and Ruth Henkle. They were gown in bouffant gowns of heaven blue faille, with matching halos trimmed with velvet loops. Mrs. Coleman carried a bouquet of talisman roses and the bridesmaids carried bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums.

Virginia's niece, Caroline Coleman, as the flower girl, wore a floor-length blue organdy frock and a band of blue ribbons and flowers in her hair.

The best man was Charles Cole, of Upper Montclair, N. J. Seating the guests were Jay Purdy, Robert Coleman, Dean Conway, Harry Salsinger, and Hayes Holmes.

Matching lace trimmed Mrs. Purdy's French blue crepe gown. Her small blue felt hat was accented with small puffs of veiling. She wore a spray of orchids on her sable scarf.

For her son's wedding, Mrs. Weiler chose an emerald green crepe gown, and she wore a bronze velvet hat trimmed with bronze and pink ostrich tips.

Following the reception at the Purdy home, the young couple left for a honeymoon in the East. The bride was wearing a three-piece suit of honey-shade duvetyn with nutria collar and cuffs. They will make their home in Cumberland, Md.

Girl Scout News

Have you heard about our Girl Scout office? We have been given a room at the Neighborhood Club where we can keep our supplies, and where our field worker can meet with the leaders to discuss any problems that may arise. (And breathe there a leader without any problems?) Mrs. Daub will be in her office every Wednesday afternoon from 1-1:30. Come and see her!

Ellenor Frizzell, the new scribe for troop 201, writes, "Troop 201, meeting in Miller Hall, recently held a Halloween party in honor of its leader, Mrs. Alton Huntington. Doughnuts and cider were served, and many games were enjoyed by all the girls."

During October, Mrs. Huntington spent a well-earned two weeks' vacation in Iowa and Chicago, visiting friends.

Troop 201 is now engaged, so we hear, in collecting toys for Children's Hospital, and making tiny dolls for the younger patients. Sounds like Christmas!

PERSONAL APPEARANCES

Saw FRANNIE SHELDEN (MRS. ALGER) at Town Hall looking chic as ever in a smartly tailored grey woolen suit piped interestingly with scarlet and the cute grey chapeau perched on her head was trimmed in the same manner.

CERTIE WHELDEN, when last seen was becomingly garbed in a nutmeg brown broadcloth suit trimmed with broadtail of the same shade, and a perky little hat of brown felt having a broad band of the broadtail. Senator Claghorn said that it was a southern broadtail, and I say that it was good looking.

The WEIR girls, better known as MRS. WILLIAM BONBRIGHT and MRS. ALLAN SHELDEN III put on a sister act at their recent party, being beautifully gowned, somewhat alike, in lustrous satin which looked as though it could stand by itself. One would not know these girls were sisters, by their looks, but it might be detected by their naturalness and charm of manner.

FILFERINGS

Did you hear about the popular Grosse Pointe matron who remarked after a recent dance, "I had such a wonderful time that I broke every bone in my dress?"

Robert Montgomery, who is in New York to produce "The Big Two" in association with Elliott Nugent, was instrumental in obtaining a Manhattan apartment for a member of his staff. This man had heard of an apartment and told the landlady about his employer. "If you'll fix it so that I can shake hands with Bob Montgomery," the landlady promised, "I'll let you have the apartment." Montgomery duly appeared, shook hands with the lady and the lease was arranged. . . . When this story was repeated one of the "hearers" asked Montgomery: "Doesn't it make you feel good to be such an eminent screen star?" Montgomery replied: "I can only tell you what I once told Audrey Totter when she spoke of becoming a screen star, that eminence has been achieved by four horses and three dogs."

The recent stock market dives made Harrison Williams' friends wonder how much this reduced his wealth. Williams revealed how much he had a few years ago when he heard that Gilbert Miller had told Helen Hayes: "Comes the revolution you won't have to worry because even if they take away your money you'll always be able to act. And I won't have to worry because even if they take away my money they'll always have plays to be produced. But Harrison Williams, when they take away his 47 million dollars, what will he have?" . . . Williams set next to Gilbert Miller at a dinner party a few nights later and he said: "Gilbert, if they take away my 47 millions—I'll still have 32 million left."

Word has come via the grapevine that a new game is being played by the readers of this column called "Impressions"—why not try it when next you entertain, or if you prefer, write some on your own time. Whoozit will be delighted to receive and publish any "Impressions" if they contain no unkind innuendoes nor disparagements.

Who Am I?

I was born during the latter part of the nineteenth century—after graduating from a well known university began my career as an archeologist—later turned to writing which I mixed with soldiering and became a Lieutenant-Colonel. However I jumped this job and joined the Royal Air Force under an assumed name. My end came abruptly while riding a motorcycle.

Pointers of Interest

MR. EUGENE W. LEWIS OF JEFFERSON AVENUE
By Olive H. Larned

It was the custom 25 years ago for gentlemen to carry walking sticks, and this led to Mr. Lewis' decision to purchase one in each country he visited to keep as a souvenir of his travels. As a result he has an extensive collection of canes fashioned from the woods native to each country and decorated in a manner associated with the country in which they were bought.

The cane from Cairo, Egypt is made of domwood; the head and trim on the cane being constructed from buffalo hide. Scotland produced a charming cane in the shape of a shepherd's crook, and one from Stockholm was fashioned from wood found only in Sweden and is trimmed with inserts of ivory.

Mr. Lewis says that canes are characteristic of the people of a country, as exemplified by his cane from London, which is made from pimento wood and looks very sturdy and dependable. The Berlin cane has a stolid look with a ring pattern every inch, which agrees with the regularity which governs the thinking of the German people. I was reminded of the old story of how the soldiers could set their watches in a certain territory as the German planes passed over regularly every day at the same hour, just like clock work.

A lovely "blonde" from Oslo, Norway, wears a coat of tan and forms a graceful walking stick. In other words the wood is blond with brown streaks in the grain; very light to carry but of great sturdiness. A most interesting cane from Athens, Greece is formed from a yellow native wood, having an inscription carved around the neck and the head is shaped like a shoe. Palestine's contribution is very heavy, having an inscription also used to form a pretty neck band.

Bamboo is found in a cane from Madiera, in one from the West Indies and in a full dress cane from Monte Carlo, which resembles a swag stick and has a head made of bone and a silver neck piece. Other dress canes include one from Algiers, a slim pole having a silver head and silver dots imbedded in the wood forming an interesting mosaic; and one from Paris is constructed of redwood with a design in the head formed from white bone.

There are many other examples to recall the foreign travels of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis but I think that the United States should be included, and it is—in a very personal manner through the canes of Mrs. Lewis' father. One is a dress cane with a gold head, inscribed "Merry Christmas, 1882" and another is a sturdy briar stick carried by Mr. Lewis' father in 1881.

A trip to Yellowstone resulted in the acquisition of another briar, the head of which is carved in the shape of a very realistic grizzly bear. I found it much more pleasant to meet him in the Lewis home, rather than at his!

Canes from Mexico City and Tia Juana resemble totem poles with their intricate carving of leaves and figures. A design of a matador and bull is repeated again and again in one of the canes and both are painted in brilliant colors.

It's a most interesting method of travelling by proxy to interview Mr. Lewis' walking sticks and surprising what they will tell you about their countries and peoples.

ALBUM OF MANHATTAN

In Trinity Churchyard, the brownstone Soldier's memorial to the City's unknown dead of the American Revolution. . . . It was erected long before the nation honored its unknown warrior dead with the impressive shrine in Arlington Cemetery. . . . For some reason the original design was never carried out—the plan having been to have a huge figure of a Continental Soldier dominating as a monument. . . . Just off Broadway, facing Pine st., the Memorial was placed on this precise spot to prevent the City ever cutting a thoroughfare through the churchyard. . . . Today, its broad base provides a resting spot for weary sightseers and the noon-hour lunchers.

The Duke (what a tired looking hunk!) and the Duchess of Windsor (thinner than when last I saw her) on Park avenue near 49th in conversation with a man and woman, unknown to this observer. . . . That was the afternoon following the Big Brawl tossed by Jules Glaenzer at which Everybody was present. . . . Some thought it was sweet of the man from Cartier's to have a party for these forlorn visitors who had lost all their jewelry, but it developed later the festivities were in honor of the less royal Edgar Bergen (who entertained with the aid of Charlie McCarthy). . . . Ethel Merman did a bit of singing, too. . . . Among those who shook hands with Eddie and Walter were Gilbert and Kitty Miller, Vinton Freedley, the Richard Rodgers, Richard Aldrich, Clifton Webb, Mme. Schiaparelli, Paula Laurence, Eddie Luckenbach and others. . . . The wrinkled old carnation woman on Broadway at 48th—wearing a faded orchid! . . . In 21, Max Blouet, managing director of the Hotel Georges Cinq in Paris—on his very first trip to the U. S. . . .

An argument over football roars on at Toots Shor's among a group consisting of Coach "Skip" Madigan, Eddy Duchin, Joe DiMaggio and others. . . . Nicky Blair of the Carnival joins the party at the height of the bickering and one of "Slips" hecklers jeers: "This fellow Blair in his day could outplay any of the guys you've got."

Belligerently, Madigan demands: "Blair! Blair! What position did you ever shine at?" Meekly, Blair replies: "Swivel stick." The slim, determined looking gent with an attractive young woman in the Cub Room—Major Gen. James M. Gavin, chief of the heroic 82nd Airborne Division—in subdued muffs. Traffic is halted at 48th street and 7th while the brawny cop hails a cab, waves it to turn around—and then gently helps a little, white-haired old lady into the taxi. To a colorful and long popular Village restaurant, where courtesy of the old-fashioned type still prevails—Enrico & Paglieri on W. 11th. . . . Office workers on W. 57th st., with earplugs to soften the roar of the blasting. . . . Jascha Heifetz, listening with evident appreciation to melodies tugged forth from the gifted Cy Walters at the piano in the Drake Room. . . .

On West 52nd street, Freddy Weitch, the champion horseman who won acclaim at the recent horse show in Madison Square Garden, tells me that next year Liz Whitney, who has 107 horses on her place in Virginia, will bring most of them up north to participate in 1947's horse show. . . . British Foreign Sec'y Ernest Bevin with a staff of UNDERlings pile into two waiting limousines outside the Waldorf-Astoria. . . . The nightly dinner-time excitement in the popular rendezvous of Broadwayites who stray over to 6th avenue—Howie's. . . . To an exhibition of the spirited and satiric art of a master, William Gropper, at the Associated American Artists' Gallery (one magazine labels Gropper the "American Daumier"). . . . At Lindy's I run into Stan Kenton, who tells me he's added 64 strings to his band. . . . "A harp," is his grinning explanation. . . . On West 45th, Tom Pedi, the burly 225-pound bartender in "The Iceman Cometh". . . . In his day he has been a truck driver and a plumber's helper—but the heaviest revenue was in a shop on Broadway near 23rd—Pedi was an expert embroiderer! On Fifth ave., I encounter H. B. Patten, son of the late Gil Patten, creator of the beloved Frank and Dick Merriwell of our youth. . . . I tell Patten many of us have been getting a thrill out of the Frank Merriwell broadcasts Saturday mornings, in which the famed baseball hero has been brought back to life (remember his baffling "double curve") in the Stork Club, Hugh Herbert tips with a silver dollar—he brought along a flock of the cartwheels as part of his personal celebration of his 20th year in movies. . . .

Pointe Counter Points

by OLIVE H. LARNED

Columbus discovered America but I discovered something almost as rare as radium at HARRISON'S, the shop of floor coverings on East Jefferson between Notre Dame and St. Clair. Blue marbled linoleum—this is the most popular color in marbled linoleum and there is probably not another store in this vicinity that has been able to secure it. We're all proud of our good connections, but HARRISON'S came through with a substantial shipment of this particular linoleum which has been playing "try and find me" for such a long time. It is practical and may be used wherever you'd like this type of floor covering, and besides it's good looking—it's like an old friend, it wears well. This is one case of the "blues" we'll all want to have and HARRISON'S will be glad to share it with you.

Let's talk about you—do you know of any more interesting subject? Neither do we—What do you hope for when you go to the hairdressers? A thorough shampoo and a massage that leaves your scalp on your head and your ears free from nicks from finger nails? A hair cut that doesn't make you feel like a shorn lamb? A smart "hair do" by an experienced operator? An over-all manicure, not one of those 20 minute "brush off" jobs, and the polish put on with care, not as though the house were being painted? An arch that leaves you looking human? A pedicure that enables your ten little piggies to go to market and everywhere else in comfort? A "permanent" that doesn't make you look like a refugee from the Fiji Islands? You'll find this hope fulfilled at BLANCHE AND CYRIL'S on Fisher Road. Call Tuxedo 2-8300 for an appointment as at Phil Harris would say, "That's What I Like About BLANCHE AND CYRIL'S!"

It's a poor workman who uses poor tools and I'm sure that the man who cuts your grass would never do that but to make sure that he won't, call GIRARD PAYE at Tuxedo 1-8474 or Niagara 3680 and he will call for your lawn mower, be it a hand or power model (not a Powers model, he's a married man!). He'll clean, repair and sharpen it and return it looking and acting like new. All of the lawn mowers who have put themselves in the hands of GIRARD PAYE love the treatment he gives them, and so will you.

If there's any doubt in your mind as to whether or not to have the rugs cleaned, try walking on them in your bare feet, and you'll have your answer. And after the crumbs from the Thanksgiving dinner table have been well mashed into the dining room rug, there ought not to be any doubt about that one! The Queen Cleaners have the answer to the cleaning problem. For rugs tacked to the floor they have an "expert" who has been "experiencing" for them for 12 years with excellent results for them and the rugs. Being taken to the cleaners and making a come back can be accomplished in much less time than ever before with the help of the QUEEN CLEANERS. If you like service, call Fitzroy 4100, or if you're in the neighborhood of the branch office on Kercheval, between Neff and St. Clair, drop in with the dirty work; you'll save money that way!

If there's a kitchen in your house, you should see the layout the GROSSE POINTE HOME APPLIANCE COMPANY has in their house on Jefferson, near Beaconsfield. Frigidaire is responsible for making home work in the kitchen a pleasure. The layout consists of an electric range of white porcelain with a chrome trim, de luxe metal wall cabinets of white porcelain and floor cabinets to match; metal sink having a stainless steel or white porcelain top, and a super duty refrigerator. One of the practical points to bear in mind is that should one have to move it is possible to move the kitchen with the family, as everything is portable. I cannot go into all the advantages of the electric range but here are a few of the high lights—a fluorescent cooking top light so that you may see while you work as well as while an oven light which automatically illuminates the interior when the door is opened (sounds like Aladdin's lamp) a roasting rack, which assures even roasting of meats and fowl without turning—signal lights so that one would never leave the heat on—clock controls—you needn't punch these—time signal—extra appliance outlets—warming drawer—utility drawers—well, there's lots more but you should see for yourself. The refrigerator is a "dream boat" has the new Frigidaire Cold Wall—will store frozen foods—makes it unnecessary to cover food has 16 usable shelf arrangements—utility storage bin—5 ice cube trays from which the cubes pop out instantly. . . . no melting or hacking required—well, if you aren't convinced now, you will be if you'll go to the GROSSE POINTE HOME APPLIANCE COMPANY. Take my word that any woman would be happy to have her place in the kitchen if it were a Frigidaire kitchen.

Did you hear about the three business men who lunched per usual at HAWTHORNE HOUSE and one day they each ordered for dessert the butter pecan pie, topped with gobs of whipped cream. It was so delicious that they ordered a second serving and finally a third repeat order. Now, don't misunderstand me and infer that the portions were so small that it took three servings to satisfy them, or that they were giants, not at all—the portions are good sized but that pie is just so delectable that it gives you the come-on. These gentlemen certainly had good taste. I know also of a "happy birthday" thought for a fortunate young lady attending school in Philadelphia. One of these heaven sent angel food cakes was baked and packed at HAWTHORNE HOUSE in the morning and sent airmail so that it provided the final thrill at her birthday dinner that night. Now I know the airplane is here to stay.

SCHEITLER'S have Mem's for men—after shave lotion and cologne in stunning bottles with hunting scenes on them that look almost hand painted and the smart looking wooden boxes they come in adds that extra look of something special for that "something special" in your life in the male department. Together these are priced at $6, or they may be purchased separately. They may be had also, in a larger box containing, in addition, two giant cakes of soap, strictly masculine, all the way through. SCHEITLER'S have Reta Terrell's noted products for the ladies, but you don't have to be a lady to love Reta Terrell's exquisite fragrances. She has a dusting powder that makes dusting a pleasure, and it makes a lovely gift for $2.75 with its pretty ribbon tie and saucy flowers. ## Questions and Answers Forum

By Barb Beranek and Mary Londe

Dear Barb:

Have you got a—? I imagine you don't, but I think it would make such a lovely gift if you do have it. You know, I went into a shop the other day and the sales girl, she was awfully sweet, well, anyway, she told me that they haven't had it in since the war—something about not being able to get that particular color because the Navy's using it for uniforms. Oh! gracious, the war, the war, the postwar, everything, well, I suppose I shouldn't complain because I can't find such a small item. Well, thank you anyway. I just better look some place else. And, I was so hoping you might have some in stock. You know, I've been dealing here for twenty-five years. I don't want to keep you from other customers so thanks again. Bye now.

With that this poor stepped-on Christmas shopper goes on her merry way to drive some other innocent working girl crazy. Now, don't get me wrong. I have nothing against the annual jolly group of gift hunters; it's only that I'd like to survive to enjoy this Christmas too.

The other day, I found that the quickest way to travel on Woodward is to stand on the street and either wait for the crowd to give you one big shove or, the wind is very dependable these days.

Another aversion of mine is the fact that the shopper makes more fuss over a five-cent article than one costing a couple of dollars. Why, one woman came in the other day and was horrified because the four-cent Christmas tag she bought didn't have a string on it like the ten-cent one did. After a little controversy on the matter she decided she could get a better buy elsewhere. I'm just as glad because the 'ol gal was going to pass a Canadian nickel on me anyway.

Then, there's always the type who wants a bolt of red ribbon with green polka dots and can't understand why you're out of it and have only a bolt of green with red polka dots. Why, she exclaims, I can't tie my package with that outrageous combination, I must have the red ribbon with green polka dots. To make a long story short, our dear friend decides that if that's all we have to offer she'll take it even though her artistic sense keeps repeating, no, no, no!

Of course, when it's time for the shop-worn woman to start for home, it is quite a task for her to attempt to catch a bus back to the old homestead. She is just in time for the 5 o'clock rush. People are pouring from all places of business and suddenly she finds herself on the wrong bus!

Oh! Driver! she frantically shouts, I'm on the wrong bus! Sorry, lady. This is express to Pointville.

But, I've got to get off. My husband will be home in 15 minutes and he'll be furious because dinner isn't ready!

Sorry, lady. This is express to Pointville.

I can see the dismayed damsel now, waiting on a cold street corner in Pointville for an express back to Grosseville. It is indeed a sorry sight.

Well, Barb, I guess you and my other friends can expect something from the corner drug-store for Christmas as I shudder to think of being in the same situations as the characters before this one.

As ever,
Mary.

Planned Parenthood League Gets Support of Clergymen

The demand for expanding planned parenthood services in the Detroit area, as called for in a national resolution signed by 3,200 of the nation's religious leaders, presents a challenge to all hospitals and health and welfare agencies of this region, according to the Reverend Francis B. Creamer.

The National Clergymen's Advisory Council of the Planned Parenthood Federation of America, Inc. sponsored the resolution and it was signed by 23 Protestant and Jewish clergymen from Detroit and 108 from other Michigan cities. The document endorses the position of the Federal Council of Churches on "the elementary importance of planned parenthood for the health and security of the family" and calls upon Protestant and Jewish clergymen to "exercise a fundamental democratic right" and insist that child-spacing services be made available to all who desire them.

"We believe the future quality of the population," said Mr. Creamer, "and the carrying on of every good cause make it necessary that people of good health, mental and physical, and of good principles have their full quota of children. At the same time we believe it is a true expression of respect for human personality to plan the coming of children, thereby insuring the health of the mother and providing both adequate education and comradeship within the family."

"There are five planned parenthood clinics in Detroit maintained by the Michigan and Detroit Leagues for Planned Parenthood with headquarters in the Park Avenue Building," concluded Mr. Creamer, "and those clinics offer child-spacing information, treatment for childless couples, and education for marriage and parenthood but we seek the inclusion of planned parenthood services in more hospitals and other agencies."

Clergymen from the Detroit area who signed the resolution are Rabbi Morris Adler, Rabbi Leo M. Franklin, and the Reverends T. T. Brumbaugh, Henry H. Crane, Francis B. Creamer, Malcolm G. Dade, Jonathan A. Dames, Charles A. Hill, B. F. Holme, Irwin C. Johnson, Carl R. Key, and Charles Bayless.

Other ministers who signed are the Reverends T. S. Buchmueller, Howard W. Burden, Clyde C. Gibson, Charles F. Kesting, Karl Rest, and Henry Simpson.

Leaders Ask Unsolicited to Send in Gifts to Help Bridge Big Gap

Hoping to lessen the 10 per cent gap between the money collected during the Community Chest Campaign and the "minimum amount" needed to operate the 125 Red Feather services in 1947, campaign leaders this week urged all persons who were not solicited to send their gifts directly to Chest headquarters at 51 W. Warren, Detroit 1.

"During the past three days, in answer to this plea, persons have mailed or brought in checks amounting to about $5,000 and averaging $10 each," Laidlaw announced on November 15. "This raises our total to $5,210,012, and if such response continues, we shall come closer to the $5,800,000 goal."

"The money is absolutely necessary to insure adequate operation of all family, child care, health and recreation services supported by the Community Chest, and we feel sure that the citizens of the metropolitan area will not let those agencies down."

Reports given at the final meeting at the Book-Cadillac hotel showed a grand total of $5,205,012, which was 90 per cent of the quota.

Highest percentage was achieved by the Commercial and Professional Unit, headed by Ben E. Young and W. A. P. John. Collections totaled $1,816,842, or 102.3 per cent.

The Industrial Unit, with John R. Davis and Bayard Kunkle at the helm, reached 85.7 per cent, $2,337,961.

Chairman Edward T. Gushée of the Metropolitan unit, in which a shortage of volunteers seriously hampered collections, announced that his workers would continue their solicitation. The unit reported $1,050,197, which was 81.1 per cent of quota.

Most imposing division record, $7,684 or 176.7 per cent, was made by Metropolitan's area 19. Co-chairmen were Mrs. H. W. Jordan, 9559 Sorrento, and Mrs. Clarence E. Schaffer, 7746 Fenrod. The Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills solicitation netted 119.2 per cent, and the Industrial Unit's utilities and transportation division reached 100.8 per cent.

Most of the "100 per centers," however, were in the winning Commercial and Professional Unit. Out in front was the lawyer division, headed by Louis Miriani, which totaled 123.8 per cent. Others were: department and multiple unit stores, 107.1; specialty stores, 119.4; news and advertising, 100.7; professional, 101.4; food industry, 100.4, and financial 100.8.

At the closing meeting, James B. Webber, Jr., general chairman of the drive, thanked all workers for their participation.

Medical Center on Mack Still Planned by Doctors

Some months ago the village of Grosse Pointe Farms served notice on the Roland estate, owners of the property on the north side of Moross at Mack that they should lay sidewalks in front of the property.

At that time representatives of the Roland estate and a Dr. Poole went to the Farms offices and asked to have action delayed in the sidewalk until October. This request was later made to have it extended to December.

The Roland estate explained that this property had been sold to Dr. Poole and some associated physicians on a contract and that it was the intention of the physicians to erect a building on it in the near future, which was to be utilized by the doctors for office locations and would be known as a clinic and medical center.

They asked not to be compelled to lay the sidewalk until their plans for the building were completed and they would have, with these plans, the detail of just what size and type of sidewalk would be best adapted to the property.

Dr. Poole stated that as soon as materials were available and building arrangements could be completed, it was the intention to go ahead with a building which would be highly creditable to the community. Very elaborate and attractive plans were shown the village authorities.

Supreme Court Given Tax Case

The case of the lakefront property owners who are trying to have the assessments on their properties reduced, has been appealed to the Michigan Supreme Court.

Attorneys Fred Behr and John R. Watkins, acting for the property owners, filed notice of appeal last week.

Dinner Honors Leonard Sauer

Leonard C. Sauer of 1222 Bedford road, Grosse Pointe Park, was the honor guest at a testimonial dinner in Hotel Leland on Saturday night, November 23. Mr. Sauer, former vice-president of the Peter Pan Bakeries, was tendered the dinner by Jack Schaffer, president of the concern. The Pointer is leaving to open a Ford sales agency in Erie, Pa.

Although Mrs. Sauer had just returned home from the hospital and was unable to attend the event, she and her daughters, Mary Jane and Barbara, enjoyed every minute of the program. Mr. Schaffer arranged with the Michigan Bell Telephone Company to pipe the entire going-on to Mrs. Sauer's bedside.

More than 150 attended the dinner. Mr. Sauer was presented with a set of matched golf clubs and a watch.

Two Cars Crash On Boulevard

Damage totaling an estimated $375 was done when two cars collided on Grosse Pointe boulevard just east of Kerby road on the night of November 23.

Hamilton D. James of 337 Rivard boulevard, whose car was parked on the south side of the boulevard, had just pulled away and was about to make a U-turn, when his left rear fender was rammed by an Oldsmobile, driven by Robert J. Schick, of 1825 Brys drive. The front of the Olds was smashed.

Both drivers were given reckless driving tickets and ordered to appear in traffic court.

People who can't get their own way become either a noisy nuisance or a silent menace.

Can anyone propose to change the world if he does not propose to change himself?

Historical Society Displays Christmas Tree of Long Ago

The ban on Christmas tree lighting this year, because of the current dimout, does not detract from the simple charm of the Yule tree now standing in the Detroit Electrical Society's headquarters at 441 Merrick ave. It is trimmed with old-fashioned weighted candle holders, complete with their original candles used during the early nineteenth century.

Together with simple, home-spun ornaments in use during great-grandmother's day, the candles recall a type of Christmas tree decoration which today's children know only through story books. Only the oldest will remember the strings of nuts, the paper and popcorn garlands, the fish ornaments made of gilt paper, the tiny gilded bottles with candy in them, and the little paper cornucopias.

The tree might not be regarded by all as a thing of beauty or color in these days of lavish ornaments, fluorescent lighting, and modern gadgets. It is rather a reminder of the days of the pioneer—of a period of horse-drawn sleighs and Currier and Ives engravings.

The ornaments and trimmings on the tree are the gift of Miss Hulda Starck, whose family has handed them down from generation to generation. An old-style

Award Contract For Flood Gate

There was a short meeting of the Park Village Board of Commissioners Wednesday evening at which the contract for the backwater sewer gate on Jefferson at Barrington was let.

The job went to Ray D. Baker of Detroit for $6,403. This is about the figure used in the first estimate and nearly $4,000 less than the lowest bids received on the first attempt to let the contract.

This is the backwater gate designed to prevent flood water from Detroit backing up into the Park's seven-foot sewer under Jefferson and hence into homes. To circumvent the same results the sewer outlets in the northwest corner of the village which have been running directly into the Detroit sewers have been blocked off and sewage from this area will hereafter be diverted into the village's own main sewer under Jefferson.

At the same meeting bids were received for much of the sewer work that has been provided for at different locations throughout the village, but none of these were let. They are being held under advisement by the Village Manager and the sanitary engineers.

Failure to Stop Cause of Crash

On Thursday, November 21, Eloise D. L. Barnett of 3884 Cadieux, driving south on that street, failed to stop at Vernon and struck a convertible Packard sedan, owned and driven by Lotta Boyer Backus of 725 Lake Shore road.

There was no personal injury, but both cars were considerably damaged. Mrs. Barnett was given a reckless driving ticket and Lotta Backus received one as a witness for the hearing at a later date in traffic court.

Pooch's Pounce Causes Crash

Mrs. Florence Hewitt, of 836 Lincoln road ran into Mrs. W. C. Poland's Cadillac car as it stood parked in front of her house at 815 Washington road, on November 21.

Mrs. Hewitt explained the accident by the fact that her pet dog, riding on the back seat of her car, suddenly decided to jump over on the front seat with her. This caused her to lose control of her car for a split second.

Car Fire Cause Of Two Alarms

Two firm alarms were received at the Park fire station late Saturday night at practically the same moment. It looked like a busy night for the firemen, but it was later discovered both had been sent for the same cause.

One came from box 32 at Balfour and Kercheval, the other from box 28 at Nottingham and Kercheval.

An automobile belonging to Edward Kay, of 1245 Balfour, had caught fire from a short in the wiring.

Carelessness Causes Flurry of Excitement

Some excitement was caused in the 1100 block of Yorkshire on Monday night, Nov. 18 when neighbors observed lights burning brightly in a house at 1153 that was known to be unoccupied. Investigation by Patrolmen Barclay and Del Place disclosed that decorators who had been working in the place had neglected to turn off the lights that had been on for their late afternoon work. They had also neglected to close the front door when they left.

Leads to Closing Minutes; Then Is Conquered, 12-7

St. Mary's of Royal Oak Takes Championship of Catholic League Second Division in Thrilling Grid Battle

St. Paul's High School football team, rated two touchdowns beneath St. Mary's of Royal Oak before their game in U. of D. Stadium Sunday to settle the Catholic League Second Division title, surprised the experts with its valiant battling, but was unable to stave off eventual defeat. St. Mary's won the title by a 12-7 score, coming from behind in the last two minutes and 50 seconds.

The Pointers turned back the Royal Oak team twice in fourth period goal line stands. Ken Barnowski hurled a five-yard pass to Bob Sevald for the pay-off counter.

St. Paul halted a 45-yard march on its own six-yard line in the final quarter, and five minutes later, stopped another threat on its own one. Bob Cucchi's punt from his end zone was partially blocked and St. Mary's took the ball on the Pointers' 10. Then it finally scored.

St. Mary's tallied first in the second quarter with Bill Wagner taking the ball over from the 10 on a fake reverse spinner. This had been set up by a 74-yard drive. The conversion was unsuccessful.

St. Paul came roaring back and led 7-6 at the half when Ray Huettnerman scored from the four on a reverse from Art Smith. The extra point was good when Huettnerman caught Cucchi's pass.

St. Mary's, coached by the son of Gus Dorais, Tommy, had piled up 251 points in winning nine straight, while holding their opposition to a total of 16 points.

Independent Loop Battle Grows Hotter

Leaders Tumbled in Closest Match of Season; Don Seck Rolls 633 Series

In the closest match of the season in the East Side Independent Bowling League, Hakim Brothers came out of their slump on Nov. 19 and shut out the Whittier Cleaners, who had been in first place. The games were decided by 7, 5 and 1 pins respectively. Ted Neisch led the victors with a nice 575 series.

William and Carl Melchior of Dillon's combined to make it a rough evening for the giant killers. Star Bar. William rolled a 225 game in a 610 series and Carl had 214 in a 570 series. The winners took three points. However, they had to take a back seat to Don Seck of the Losers, who rolled 228, 194 and 213 for a 633 total.

Harper-Berkshire service is beginning to get going and at the last meeting blanked Merle's, Edwin Schroeder getting 213 and 208 in a 597 series.

The new team, Cadillac Glass, continued its hot pace by taking three from Town Pump. Kurly Motors took four from Springer Shoes, Form-Rite Stamping downed George's, 3-1. Jim's Bar took three from Horn Fuel and Supply. Falcon Recreation and Jack's Service split even.

Others rolling 620 or over included: Donald Pfeifle, 221; Albert DeMuro, 221; Arthur Weiber, 220; George Deep, 214; Richard Kurowski, 213; Wesley Miner, 211; Gordon Hays, 209; Edward Roscoe, 209; Roland DeSellers, 206; Earl Groh, 203; William Starr and Ted Neisch, 201; and Pat Duberg, 200.

Dear Myrtle (he wrote):

I'm sending this with the flowers in the hope that you will consider your words of last night. While what you said is true—I WAS with that blonde when you saw me—your conclusions were utterly false. Why, if her boss wasn't my best customer, I wouldn't look at her. Honest, I don't even think she's attractive except maybe in a fleshy way. Please don't hang up again when I call this afternoon. Let's talk this over dinner at the Wedgwood Room (1465 E. Jefferson) and stay and listen to that fine trio, too. Penitently, George.

P. S. My eye is healing fine. Hardly noticeable.

Jefferson Team Takes Over Lead

Jefferson Station holds down the lead in the Detroit Post Office-East Side Bowling League with a record of 34 wins and 14 defeats, after shutting out Holzbaugh Ford, 4-0. DeSantis went into second place when Al Loewen, lead-off man, set a hot pace with a 604 series to gain a clean sweep over Grosse Pointe Cab.

St. Clair Shores takes over fourth place by beating Wilsher Studebaker by four points. Gunner Nelson and Baekerout rolled games of 212 and 203 respectively for the Shores.

Floyd Biernett's 212 helped Meyer's Drugs take three from Fox Creek and Walter Panzl was high on the Alles team with a 204 while that outfit was grabbing three from Welding Gas.

The Clerks are doing better, again getting three points, this time from the Hat Cleaners.

The lead in the St. Paul's Ladies' Bowling League changed last Wednesday night when the Verbrugge Grocery aggregation went into a tie for first with Lingenam Flowers as far as won or lost points are concerned, each showing 27 wins and 17 defeats.

Billiet Team Still Leading St. Paul Loop

Al DeRiemacker's Aggregation Stays Close Behind in Bowling League

D. Billiet's team stayed on top in the St. Paul's Men's Bowling League last week, hanging on to a slim one-point margin over Al DeRiemacker's aggregation.

Individual standings were not shaken up any, Billiet still having the high 640 series, with C. Trombley second with 604 and G. Gallagher third with a 602.

Harry Furton's team still has the high three games with 2684 and single game total of 998. Harry's 257 is still the high individual game of the year, with L. Brecht and T. Gardner close behind with 249's.

There was no bowling on November 26, the alleys being occupied by the Traveling Leagues.

Lynch All-Stars To Meet Bulldogs

Jerry Lynch's Detroit All Stars will make their first appearance in Hamtramck when they take on the storied Canton Bulldogs at Keyworth Stadium at 2 p. m. Saturday afternoon, Nov. 30. The contest is being sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars for the benefit of their welfare fund.

The All Stars will go into the game protecting a glittering record that shows seven victories in eight starts to date. Jerry Lynch's gridders haven't been beaten since they lost to the McKeesport Rocks by a 13-7 margin six weeks ago. Since that time they have been strengthened by the addition of Macloszyk and Jack Mattford, former Lion, and by the return from the casualty lists of Cass Browner and Danny Dallesandro, regular guards, and Ernie Rostock, first string center.

Football Reserves Hang Up Uniforms Until Next Fall

Strange as it may seem, the Grosse Pointe reserve football team was forced to end its season one game short of the seven game schedule when the Monroe High School athletic department called the game off because it was raining and said that their field needed the water.

This was a disappointment to the Blue Devils because this game would have given them a chance to better their season record, which finally finished up with three wins, two losses and one tie.

With the reserve uniforms completely tucked away for another year, let's take a look at what the boys accomplished. Coach Charles Peterson, back to teaching school after a hiatus in the Armed Forces, greeted 56 boys on the first day of school. In the first week of practice the boys battled so furiously for starting positions that two promising gridders were injured and unable to play all season. Ralph Allard, 6 foot 2 inch end, and backfield candidate Bob Coleman were the two unlucky boys, but they showed so much in that first week that the coaches are counting on them next fall for varsity competition.

The reserves played their first game, after only one week of practice, against East Detroit. Coordination was bad because of lack of the necessary practice time, but the Blue Devils managed to put this one on the right side of the ledger, 7 to 0, as the result of Tom Follis' 75 yard touchdown jaunt after picking up an East Detroit kick-off on his own 25 yard line and ran through the entire green and white team for the only score. Center Johnny Corfield added the extra point.

The reserves lost three players before the Hazel Park game, due to injuries, and Bob Bolo's decision to move to Ohio, but the squad received some unexpected support from Coach Frank Banach's intra-mural team when seven boys moved up. Among them were Reyst, Spurrier, Laitner, Miller and Vercurrye.

The Blue Devils really went into high gear for the Hazel Park game and whipped the Parkers, 18-0, on Tom Follis' two line plunges for scores and Cal Purdy's pass to Hansen in the end zone.

Riding high on a two game winning streak the squad had its ears pinned back the following week by a powerful, alert Fordson team, 13 to 7, on a blocked punt in the last quarter.

The next game was played in a steady downpour against the Highland Park Polar Bears, who took advantage of a dry ball early in the game to score both of their touchdowns for a 13 to 6 victory. Grosse Pointe's only touchdown came when Spurrier blocked a Polar Bear punt in the end zone.

After dropping two consecutive games the Devils snapped out of their slump and rose up to smack the Royal Oak Acorns, on their own field, 31 to 0. The five counters were scored by Miller from the twenty yard line, Purdy from the one, Follis on an intercepted pass from midfield, and Purdy hit Hansen for two more touchdowns and an extra point.

The Wyandotte game was the muddiest game played all season with the players virtually wallowing. Both squads were happy to settle for a 13 to 13 tie. Wyandotte scored all its points on line plays after a couple of long runs by a substitute half back. Both of the Devils' scores were made by Follis on line smashes but were set up by a beautiful exhibition of pass catching by Laitner, who had little trouble holding on to the slippery pigskin.

The reserves outscored their opponents 82 points to 39, for an average of 13.67 points per game as against 6.5 points per game for their opponents.

In each defeat and in the tie game the Devils' opponents scored 13 points.

Tom Follis led the touchdown parade with 36 points, followed by Hansen with 19, Purdy 12, Miller, Spurrier and Laitner 6 each and Corfield 2 points after touchdowns.

Pointer Visiting Mexico Learns Magician's Secret

Another letter has been received from Charles Fossati, young Pointer who is in Mexico City, improving his Spanish and learning the customs of our southern neighbors. Chuck has been relating his experiences through a series of these letters to the NEWS.—The Ed.

Charles G. Fossati

Nov. 13, 1946

Grosse Pointe News
99 Kercheval Ave.
Grosse Pointe 30, Mich.
U. S. A.

Dear Folks:
To me the main street in Mexico is San Juan de Letran. Many American tourists would not agree with me, for unlike Madero or Juarez it does not cater so much to the tourist trade, but from the Mexican point of view I maintain that it is the main street.

It is the widest in Downtown Mexico, and its broad sidewalks make ample room for the many street vendors who are so numerous in Mexico, and more numerous than ever on San Juan. Street car tracks run up and down it, and cross it at almost every street corner. Music stores, selling American records, blare out their music through open store fronts, each trying to be heard above the street noise, and each seemingly trying to drown out competition.

Razor blades are sold abundantly on every street corner by blind Mexicans, at any price from one peso to a peso and forty centavos. Organ grinders are industriously grinding out their product in front of the bars or "Cantinas" which thrive in Mexico. Little boys are pestering every passing person to buy gum which they hold out in dirty little boxes. One vendor is selling toys of plastic and is doing well. Another is vending heavy knit socks which he knits right there on the spot from a yarn that looks to me like barbed wire.

Mexico is well supplied with automobiles, half of which are taxis. Like taxis all over the world they are driven with a care free ferocity that seems to disregard the fact that there are other cars on the road. Because there are so many taxis in Mexico, everyone else must drive the same way out of self protection, with the result I dare say that the auto horn has become one of the most popular instruments of annoyance in Mexico.

It's not uncommon to see a horn on the fender of a car, a good four feet long. One very popular horn sounds like a very loud version of the whistle the girls in the States are accustomed to hearing when a wolf approaches, while another reminds me of the deep whistles of the freighters that pass by Grosse Pointe.

Added to all the confusion of noise are strange smells, which emit from the stores selling food to the native Mexicans. Oysters with the mud of the sea still on them, lobsters, octopus, crabs, snails, blood sausage, fish of all kinds, meat of every description, any of which might nauseate you, and all the organs. No part of the feast is wasted. When I pass by a Mexican butcher shop or grocery store I invariably give thanks that I have the good fortune to live with Spaniards and partake of Spanish food. But the Mexicans thrive on their food and who am I to say that it is not good?

It is at night that San Juan is most interesting. From the heap of tangled humanity and traffic here and there rise the gleaming jewel-like lights of the theaters. The Teresa in classic beauty, the Princesa richly ornate, and the Novelly, cheap and ugly, like a toad in the midst of the roses. It is at night that one sees the fire eaters and the magicians, who take advantage of the dark to create their illusions. The magicians fascinate me.

Walking along San Juan one night I came upon a group of Mexicans standing around a strange little fellow dressed in a black suit and a happy smile. Yes, his smile was so big and genuine that he seemed dressed in that too. He was demonstrating his magnetic powers, the secret to which he was selling for a peso. He could make coins, pencils, matchboxes, paper or anything else slide along the sidewalk into his hand, or better yet leave the sidewalk and float to him through the air. I was amazed but wasn't going to be one of the suckers and spend my peso that night for what must have been a trick, but every night that I was on San Juan I would look for the little man with a smile, watch his act and wonder how he did it.

Always the gullible one I was beginning to think that he really was doing those amazing things. Money was really flying through the air, and no longer able to withhold my curiosity I at last paid my peso. I hurried under a light to read the instructions and to see what was in the little package I had been handed with them. I needn't have bothered with the instructions. The contents of the package were self explanatory. Not a magic potion but a thin wire with a wad of gum on the end. But his illusion was too perfect. Even with the evidence before me I wonder if that little man dressed in the black suit and the big smile didn't really make those things fly through the air?

Funeral Services Held For Mrs. C. H. Bredin

Funeral services were held on Tuesday, November 12, for Mrs. Charles Henry Bredin of Grosse Pointe boulevard. Burial was in Butler, Pa.

Mrs. Bredin, mother of Mrs. John M. Bloom and Lewis L. Bredin, suffered a heart attack in her home on November 9 and died the following morning. She was to have left for California this week, to make her home there.

STOVE STARTS FIRE
Fire started by an over-heated oil stove in the residence of Fred Hoper, 91 Oak street, was extinguished on November 22 by Farms firemen before any material damage could be done.

Court Settles Traffic Cases

In Traffic Court in the City Monday night Donald Blanchard of 1658 Defer place was fined $25 and $5 costs for reckless driving.

Four other parties who had been summoned in connection with two minor accidents were all discharged without fine. In one case, involving the passing of a red light, both claimed they had the green light and in the absence of other witnesses, were discharged.

The other case involved a bus and an automobile in which there was no personal injury and little property damage.
