PRESIDENT EISENHOWER presented "the framework of a plan for peace in the Near East" to the General Assembly Wednesday. His proposal for an "Arab development institution on a regional basis," to be "governed by the Arab states themselves" was the outstanding passage in his 30-minute speech.

If the Arab states would support and contribute to such an agency, he said, "The U.S. would be prepared to support it." He did not name a figure, but Washington reports have indicated the United States is willing to donate $100,000,000.

Following Ike's speech, Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko urged the Assembly to accept a Soviet resolution calling for the withdrawal of British and American forces "without delay."

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES Wednesday cited Bernard Goldfine, the New England businessman and friend of Sherman Adams, for contempt of Congress. The vote was 369 to 8.

The citation had been a virtual certainty since Goldfine refused to answer 22 questions put to him by the House subcommittee on legislative oversight. The House vote signals the start of what will be a long legal battle.

The citation now goes to the Justice Department, which said it would act promptly to ask a grand jury for an indictment. A trial would follow an indictment, and then would come appeals.

TWO BALLOONISTS preparing for a high altitude flight were injured—one critically—Wednesday night when their open-cockpit gondola dropped over 100 feet to the earth as they attempted a landing in a Wisconsin pasture near Lake Superior. Air Force Capt. Gov. D. Schock, 23, of Galesburg, Ill., who was to have made a 20-mile solo flight above the earth Friday, was reported in serious to critical condition. He was in shock with possible leg and vertebra injuries.

A KLM ROYAL DUTCH AIRLINES Super Constellation with 99 persons aboard, including 51 Americans, crashed in the stormy North Atlantic Thursday on an economy fare flight to New York.

All aboard were believed killed in the worst single commercial airliner disaster in history. The plane vanished 35 minutes after taking off from Shannon, Ireland, on the Gander (Nfld.) leg of the flight from Amsterdam, apparently in the midst of a violent squall.

A KLM spokesman said the two-million-dollar plane, a model 1049-H which the airline had used only three or four months, evidently was in one piece when it hit.

WITH AN EYE on possible adjournment next week, Congress Thursday sped action on "must" legislation. As a result,

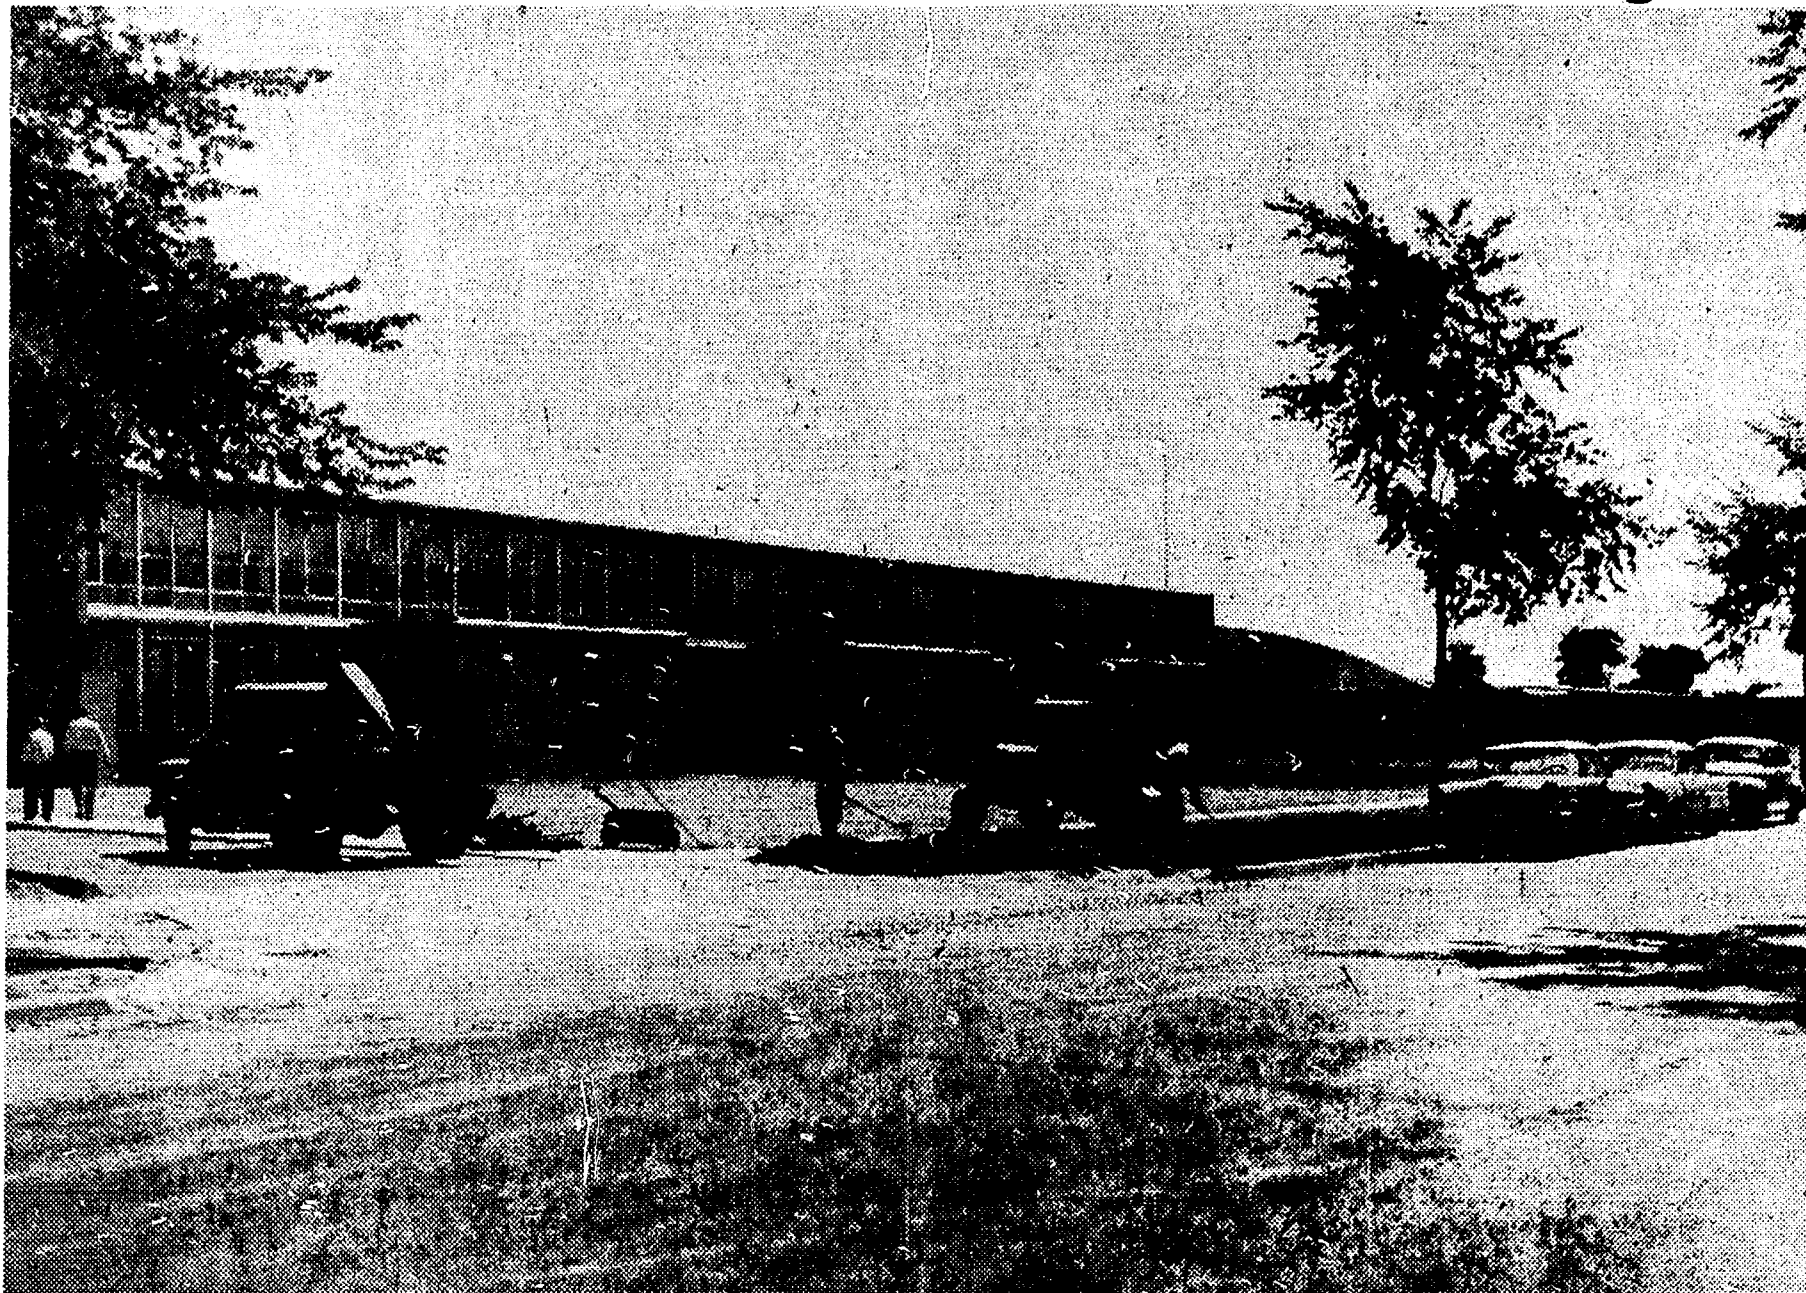

1) The Senate Finance Committee ignored veto warnings and voted to increase Social Security benefits 7 percent and to boost Federal grants to the states for public assistance benefits.

2) The House approved a compromise bill making sweeping changes in the excise tax laws and 3) By voice vote, the House extended the Mexican farm-labor program until June 30, 1961.

THE SENATE backed away in a tumultuous session Thursday night from an immediate vote on whether to deny funds for a Government study of possible plans whereby the United States might surrender to an enemy in a future war. The debate centered around an amendment to a pending appropriations bill that would withhold funds for such a study. It lasted until 11:00 p.m. Thursday night, at which time the Senate moved to recess until noon Friday, when it would

City, Farms Ready for Fish Rodeo

Jointly Sponsored Event To Be Held Aug. 30; Prelim. Contest in Progress

The annual Fishing Rodeo jointly sponsored by the Farms and the City, in cooperation with the various service clubs, will be held on Saturday, August 30.

Co-chairman for this year's event will be Edward Kennedy and M. J. DeBrabander. Assisting them will be Roland Gray, Norbert Neff, Carl Liebold, Verne Weot, Clyde Putnam, Jess Lowther, City Police Chief Thomas Trombly, and the ladies of the various service clubs of the Pointe area.

Entry blanks may be obtained at either of the parks from the gatenmen, and applications will be accepted up to the morning of the rodeo. However, in the pre-rodeo contest, entries must be in before the measurement of any fish caught and submitted for judging in the contest.

The Farms has already accepted some very large fish, including a 25-inch Northern Pike turned in by George Proccisi, a 24-inch catfish from Russell Proccisi, and a 17 1/4-inch pike caught by Tom Brecht.

Contestants are reminded that pre-rodeo prizes will be given to both boys and girls. Judges will award the prizes, not only on the size of the fishes caught, but also on how hard it was to catch them.

Participants are also reminded that they must turn in their fish before the 6 p.m. deadline of Thursday, August 28, when the pre-rodeo closes.

Woods Policeman Injured Responding to False Alarm

A Woods police officer suffered minor injuries and was knocked unconscious when his scout car crashed into two parked cars on Friday, August 15, after two unheeding motorists blocked his way while he was answering a bank burglar alarm, which later turned out to be false.

Injured was Patrolman Gaylord Golding, who suffered a badly bruised left hand, upper lip and ribs. He was unconscious when placed in a police ambulance by Patrolmen Donald Sabel and Richard Prietz for transportation to St. John Hospital. Enroute, the injured policeman regained consciousness.

At the hospital, Golding was x-rayed, and treated for his injuries, and when it was

Center Parking Lot Tilt To Be Aired Before Farms Council on September 15

Will Act as Board of Appeals to Hear Arguments From Both Sides; Court Hearing On Project Postponed

The Farms council will sit in as a board of appeals on September 15, to hear arguments on both sides regarding the parking lot expansion at the War Memorial Center, recently halted by a temporary court restraining order.

A letter from James K. Watkins, former president of the Farms when it was still a village, the attorney for Mrs. Julian P. Bowen, who is protesting the construction, was received by the council on Monday, August 18, and placed on file, and the appeal date set.

Mrs. Bowen, through her attorney, contends that the parking lot is in violation of the Farms' city ordinance governing zoning restrictions in the area of the Center.

Cut in School Tax Announced

At Monday night's August 18 meeting of the School Board, it was announced that because certain bond issues have been paid earlier than originally anticipated, the School Tax Rate, for all purposes in all taxing units except Grosse Pointe Township, (Shores), and a small portion of Grosse Pointe Woods, (Alard and Stanhope), during the 1958-59 fiscal year, will be $21.71 per $1,000.00 of State Equalized Valuation, as compared with $23.72 in 1957-58. This amounts to a decrease of $2.01 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

At the hospital, Golding was x-rayed, and treated for his injuries, and when it was donated to the whole Pointe community by the Alger estate, the Farms has jurisdiction in the matter of zoning because the Center is within the corporate limits of the city.

Mrs. Bowen's residence is at 40 Lake Shore road, directly next to the Center. Her home was nearly completed at the time the Center was given to the Pointe.

One of her chief complaints against the parking lot project is that she was not consulted about the expansion, which plan, she feels, affects her property. She is in sympathy with Center officials pertaining to the lot development, but feels increased parking facilities should be added next to the existing parking site of

Second Polio Case Reported

The season's second case of infantile paralysis, in the Grosse Pointe-Harper Woods Health District was reported on Friday, August 15. The patient is a 12-year-old boy living in the Farms. He has been taken to Herman Kiefer Hospital.

While there have been only two cases in the local district, Detroit is experiencing a severe outbreak of polio. By this week there had been more than 100 cases in Detroit, with half them accompanied by paralysis. There have been five deaths there.

The latest victim of the disease was given three shots of Salk vaccine last year by Dr. Thomas S. Davies, health commissioner. His case is said to be a mild one, with no paralysis.

Detroit officials report that of those who have had the Salk inoculations only about one-third suffer any paralysis, whereas as the paralytic accompaniment among those who have not had shots, runs about one-half.

New City Hall To Be Voted On In Woods Again

Council Wants Advisory Ballot at Regular Election on November 4 About Spending $200,000 Of Improvement Fund

Woods voters will be given an opportunity to have a say as to whether they want the city to spend $200,000 for two-thirds of a proposed new city hall.

On Monday, August 18, the Woods council adopted a resolution prepared by the city attorney which will place the matter before the people at the November 4 election. The vote will be by paper ballot and will only be advisory and not binding on the council.

A second resolution, a request for a bond issue in the amount of $175,000, for construction of the other third of the municipal building was rejected by the council.

Would Cover Two Wings

The council wants to spend $200,000 of $308,000, which was "found" and placed in the Municipal Improvement Fund, for two sections of the proposed building, an administration wing and a council-court room wing.

The $175,000 issue would have been for the public safety wing.

The $308,000 was garnered from "the bottom of the barrel" that is, monies were placed in the Improvement Fund from unused funds from different projects, accrued interest from bonds and bank savings, etc., which according to policy, if remained unspent by the end of the year, are placed in the Improvement Fund.

City Comptroller Gerald Lonergan and the city auditors have been "scrapping the barrel bottom" since last March, adding to the Improvement Fund and giving the city the total of $308,000, which the council members did not know the city had, but which they were glad to find out about.

Would Use Park

The proposed new city hall would be constructed in Ghesquiere Park on Mack avenue, between Kenmore drive and Huntington. The site was originally purchased for this purpose and also to give the city additional recreation space.

The council decided to take the matter of the $200,000 expenditure to the people because it was a little wary about using the sum for the building, since voters rejected three previous bond issues for a new hall.

At the meeting held on Monday, August 11, the council was of the opinion that the people wanted a new building, but rejected the three issues because they feared it would raise their taxes. The Woods has a 14.55 mill tax rate as compared to between 16 mills and 21 mills in the other Pointes.

On February 21, 1955, Woods taxpayers turned down a bond issue for $320,000; on April 11, 1957, for $475,000, and again on December 16, 1957, for $340,000.

Pointe's Merchants Note Upturn in Local Buying

Business leaders in Grosse Pointe's shopping areas are this week reporting up-trends in local buying, with sales in summer and early fall merchandise in several cases totaling those of the same week of a year ago.

Notable, too, is the increase in traffic and parking both in The Village and The Hill shopping districts as well as along Fisher road and Mack avenue, it is reported.

Auto Agencies Gain, Too

It appears that sales in men's and women's clothing parallel those of teenager, youth and back-to-school apparel. Local motor car agencies also report up-trends in both new 1958 and used cars. Station wagon sales are reported in the ascendancy.

Metro Club To Be Host To Children

Annual Field Day For All Youngsters 5 to 15 Set For Saturday at Neighborhood Club

The Grosse Pointe Metropolitan Club will hold its 18th annual Field Day on Saturday, August 23, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., at the Neighborhood Club, 17145 Waterloo.

Admission is by park pass, to children during the time of the affair.

There will be plenty of games and refreshments. Winners will take home 10 bicycles, rods and reels.

Plan 15 Races

There will be 15 race events for both boys and girls, from ages five to 15, with cash for each winner, $2 first prize, and $1 for the runner up.

Scheduled to be on hand for the affair is Marv Welch, the "Wixie" of TV fame, and the American Legion's Forty-and-Eight team.

The Pointe Metropolitan Club is comprised of members of all Pointe police and fire departments and postal employees of the Grosse Pointe Post Office branch, Mack and Warren avenues.

The organization's juvenile program is made possible through the generous support of Pointe merchants and patrons, and the club is in hopes that local residents will continue to support the merchants so that the club can carry out its program each year.

Damaged School In Shape Again

The Annex to the High School, (the old Grosse Pointe Country Day School building), which was damaged by fire last May is ready for occupancy after a considerable amount of repair and, as yet uncalculated expense.

Twenty-one new window sashes were installed, eleven rooms painted, acoustical tile put in two and new floor covering in four rooms, and one half of the front exterior required painting—to mention just a portion of the renovations.

District Adds 1,123 Persons During Year

Woods and Shores Show Growth; City Park and Farms Decrease

The census for the Grosse Pointe School District shows that the population of the district has increased by over 60 per cent in the last ten years, according to figures released by the Board of Education.

In 1948, the school census recorded a total population of 38,696 persons making their home in the Pointe district. The school census for 1958 revealed a figure of 62,857 residents, a gain of 24,161 or 62 per cent.

A census of school children in the 5-19 group in 1948 brought out a figure of 8,881. Today, it is 17,283 or very nearly double the earlier number.

9,869 in Schools

The public school membership of May, 1948 was only 5,087; and as of May of this year, it was 9,869. Again, this figure has nearly doubled in the past decade.

In 1948 the Park had a population of 13,818. This year's census shows that it is now 15,970, an increase of 2,152, or 15.6 percent; the city had 6,321, now it is 6,798, a gain of 477 or 7.5 percent; the Farms had 8,596, today it is 12,702, a pick up of 4,106 or 47.8 percent.

The Woods has enjoyed the most phenomenal growth of all the Pointes. In 1948 8,145 residents were registered while today's figures show a total of 18,734 persons, a gain of 10,589 or 130 percent. This again, when related to the overall growth of the school district, accounts for nearly half of that total.

Shores Has Big Gain

The Shores and that portion of Harper Woods in the Grosse Pointe School District also showed big gains in the ten year period.

The Shores had a figure of 973; its present population is 2,046, a gain of 1,073 or 110.3 percent. Harper Woods grew from 843 to 6,607 for a net increase of 5,764 residents or 680 percent, the largest percentage wise.

Since the census taken in May 1957, the Pointe District showed a population gain of 1,123 persons. The Park, City, and Farms actually lost slightly in their total count. The Park and Farms each show 23 fewer residents than a year ago while the City lost 107.

Woods Gains 899

Grosse Pointe Woods, Grosse Pointe Shores, and the Harper Woods Fraction all showed gains large enough to more than offset the other communities' losses. The Woods gained 899; the Shores 108; and Harper Woods 269.

The May 1958 public school membership was 9,869, the total population, 62,857. This is a ratio of 15.70 percent, or one public school child per 6.4 persons residing in the district. This reflects but a slight change in the proportion of the population enrolled in public schools. Last year there was one public school child per 6.5 residents.

School Windows Broken by Boys

Three 10-year-old Park boys were taken into custody by Park police on Wednesday, August 13, and charged with breaking 15 windows of the Defer School, 15425 Kercheval.

The parents of the boys, who went to the police station with their sons, said they would make restitution, amounting to about $25 for each boy.

Chief Arthur Louwers said that when one of the lads was asked why he broke the windows, he stated that the other boys kept giving him stones to throw, and the windows were logical targets.

"It's a good thing the boys did not find too many stones," the chief said, "or there would not have been a whole window in the school."

Gladiolus Show Held at Cannon

The Southeastern Michigan Gladiolus Society and the Michigan Gladiolus Society held a joint gladiolus show at Cannon Memorial, Saturday and Sunday, August 16 and 17. Syd Cartwell, Jr., of Berea, Ohio, was winner of the Grand Champion Award for his white flowering specimen. Earl Cooper, of Monroe, Mich., was awarded the Grand Sweepstakes Trophy (for exhibiting the largest number of points in the entire show). Mrs. Forrest J. Coulter, 438 Roland road, was awarded the Division Champion Rosette for the prize-winning flower arrangement. Mrs. Coulter is chairman of the Garden Group of the Grosse Pointe Women's Club.

The Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

Higher Costs Cited
The War Memorial Association pointed out that this would entail higher cost than by expanding the present site, particularly in regard to drainage and the creation of new entrances and exits.

In an open letter to the public and to all principals concerned, Charles W. Elliott, president of the Memorial Association, pointed out that use of the Center has tripled since its inception.

"More important," he said in the letter, "the Center is the meeting place of nearly every worthwhile community group whose activities daily fill its calendar."

"Parking expansion is necessary to continue this community activity and to relieve the congestion on Lake Shore road cleared by Smith."

An engineering firm planned the project and it was cleared by Farms City Engineer Murray M. Smith, who informed the council that no action is needed by the city in the matter.

A good portion of the Center's lawn next to the present parking lot was dug up when Mrs. Bowen obtained the restraining order.

2 Park Homes Burglarized; Thief Thwarted at Third

Two Park home owners returned from vacation to find their residences had been broken into and ransacked, and another owner discovered that someone had tried to enter his house while he was out of town, it was disclosed by Park Police Chief Arthur Louwers.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Montgomery, 1255 Berkshire, was discovered broken into on Saturday, August 16; and that of the Joseph Lemanski, 1389 Bedford, was reported on Sunday, August 17. Both houses had been ransacked.

The near-burglary was at the home of J. M. White, 759 Barrington, who returned from a few days absence to find his milk chute had been smashed. It is believed that an entry attempt was tried sometime between August 15 and August 18.

The would-be thief was thwarted by metal rods that White had placed across the chute as an added precaution against burglars, Chief Louwers said. However, he added, enough force was used to loosen the rods, and knock two milk bottles down the basement steps. The noise apparently frightened away the prowler.

At the Montgomery home, the burglar first attempted to enter the house by breaking the glass of the patio porch after cutting the screen, and when this failed, entered through the dinette window after breaking the glass. He ransacked every room in the house.

An investigation by Det. Lt. Stanley Enders and Cpl. Charles French disclosed the burglar was looking for a possible wall safe. Finding none, the thief took a man's wrist watch, a lady's multi-diamond wedding band, a portable TV set and miscellaneous pieces of silverware, all valued at a total of $391.

It is not known, as yet, what is missing from the Lemanski home, other than a small table radio and $15 in change taken from three small banks.

Lt. Enders and Cpl. French believe that it was the same man, or men, who forced his way into the Montgomery residence, as here, too, evidence pointed to the fact the burglar looked for a wall safe.

Entrance was gained by cutting the screen of a door at the south side of the house and breaking the door glass.

A loss inventory is still pending, Chief Louwers said.

The chief repeated a request for the co-operation of all citizens, in that if they should hear glass breaking near their homes, or hear any suspicious noises, especially during the night, or notice any suspicious persons in their area, to please call the police.

"It is better to answer 1,000 false alarms," the chief said, "than take the chance that a burglar might be at work, and then get away because citizens did not want to 'bother' police with what might be considered something trivial."

"Anything heard or seen, which might appear out of normal, should be reported," the chief added. If this is done, he said, it is possible a burglary might be nipped before it is started, or police might apprehend a thief at the scene.

Burglar Loots Home in Park

A determined burglar, after several attempts, broke into the home of Mrs. Mae Raupagh, 1331 Somerset, on Monday, August 11, and escaped with an expensive fur piece and other loot, after ransacking the house.

Reported missing were a natural mink cape valued at $2,000, a man's wrist watch, no value given, three bottles of imported perfume, a lady's billfold, empty, and a bag containing 54 silver dollars.

Police recovered one bottle of perfume in the back yard of 1330 Nottingham, apparently dropped by the thief while he was climbing the fence in his get-away.

Park Police Cpl. Charles French, assigned to the detective bureau, said the burglar first attempted to gain admittance into the house by trying to reach the side door latch through the milk chute.

Failing in this, he tried to pry open the side door with a screw driver, and when this failed, went to the rear porch and removed a pane of glass from a jalousie window of the door and cut the screen. Unable to reach the door latch, the thief went to the other side of the door and repeated the operation, succeeding this time in gaining entrance into the house.

Cpl. French said that it is believed that the invader left the Raupagh home about 9:15 p.m. About that time, he said, a neighbor heard a gate on the premises slam. Mrs. Raupagh came home shortly

Unruly Prisoner Starts Fight in Police Station

Donald J. Medwid, 22, of 16526 Santa Rosa, Detroit, was arraigned before Woods Judge Don Goodrow on Monday, August 18, on a charge of breaking and entering in the night time. The judge found sufficient cause for a trial and bound Medwid over to the Wayne County Circuit Court.

Medwid could not post a bond of $1,000, and he was remanded to the custody of the Wayne County Sheriff's office until trial date.

The accused man was arrested by Patrolman Everett Plumb who was on routine patrol on Jackson on the Monday date. Between Norwood and Hunt Club, shortly after midnight, the officer heard a noise inside a garage at the rear of the Alvin Russells' home, 1952 Norwood.

Plumb went to the garage to investigate, and found Medwid trying to hide in a corner of the building, just inside the door. The man had on a pair of gloves. The officer also found the doors of the car and the glove compartment open and the contents of the compartment scattered on the front seat.

Medwid was put under arrest and taken to the station, where the prisoner passed out and fell to the floor. While a resuscitator was being used on him, a call was put in for Dr. Clarence Candler, city physician, who took over.

A police report disclosed that Medwid came out of the spell fighting and had to be handcuffed. Even with the cuffs on, the man continued to fight and began to scream.

On advice of Dr. Candler, Medwid was taken to the Detroit Receiving Hospital, and the Harper Woods police ambulance was utilized. Medwid was transported strapped to a stretcher.

While trying to subdue Medwid, Patrolman Plumb injured his back and sprained a finger of his right hand. Also spraining a finger, was Police Lt. Harold Gregory.

During the fight, in the squad room, a typewriter was damaged, a table overturned and the air conditioning unit attached to the window was nearly torn from its frame.

A friend who was with Medwid earlier in the evening, said Medwid attended a party with him and left about midnight for a walk.

Medwid told authorities he was on bond for a breaking and entering in Detroit.

A warrant charging Medwid with the Woods breaking and entering was obtained by Det. Sgt. Walter O'Dell from the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office.

Medwid was detained at Receiving until his examination in the evening, and then sent to the County Jail following the hearing.

Every man has a choice—if he isn't satisfied with the rules of the game he can start one of his own.

Schools Serve Many Groups

Not generally realized is the amount of usage buildings belonging to the Grosse Pointe Public School System have by community groups.

During 1957-58, exclusive of playgrounds and athletic fields, the various schools buildings were in use for a total of 13,600 extra-curricular hours.

This year's total marks a 30 percent gain in the hours various Pointe groups are utilizing their school facilities. Undoubtedly, a large portion of the increase can be attributed to the community swimming program, begun last fall. Total receipts for building rental and labor charges amounted to $13,156.82.

Shores Police Charge 3 Youths as Disorderly

Three young Pointe men were arrested by Shores police Monday, August 19, and charged with being disorderly persons. Two of the men were taken in custody after a warning shot was fired by a policeman when the men tried to sneak up on another officer.

Each was placed under $1,000 bond, pending a court hearing before Judge John Gillis on Monday, August 25.

George D. Heckendorn, 21, of 1010 Roslyn, one of the three charged, was also accused of using improper license plates on his car, and having no car registration on his person.

The others arrested were Eric P. Demrose, 22, of 1437 Somerset; and Eric H. Schmidt, 27, of 1342 Devonshire.

According to Shores Police Chief Fred Duemling, Patrolman Charles Painter was patrolling Lake Shore road, when he saw two cars traveling south in an erratic manner. The cars pulled into the driveway of 915 Lake Shore, pulled out a short time later, and with the officer in pursuit, went south on Lake Shore to S. Edgewood, turned onto Ballantyne where they turned into a driveway at number 885.

At this point, the chief said, Heckendorn, Demrose and Schmidt jumped out of their cars and ran between houses and into a field. The pursuing officer called for help, and Patrolmen Gordon Swartz and Jack Lietke responded.

Heckendorn was captured by Painter and Swartz, handcuffed and put in the scout car, and while Lietke guarded the prisoner, the other two officers took after Demrose and Schmidt.

The two policemen searched the area for about 10 minutes, when Swartz noticed the two men coming up on his fellow officer. Swartz fired a warning shot in the air, and Demrose and Schmidt surrendered meekly. They were handcuffed and all three prisoners taken to the station where they were charged.

A search of Heckendorn's car disclosed a second set of license plates, which he said was registered to him, Chief Duemling said. The plates on the car, were registered to another person.

Heckendorn was given two tickets, one for being disorderly and one for using improper license plates. His two companions were ticketed for being disorderly.

After they posted their bonds, the men were released until trial date.

Durant Scores Political Win

With all the color and rivalry of a national convention, local politics held their own Wednesday night, August 13, at the convention of the 14th Congressional District in downtown Jackson Junior High School.

Parades of placards, and cheering crowds of 1,000, added zest to the sensitive scene of political warfare. Fred M. Alger, Jr., former Secretary of State and Ambassador to Belgium, was in the winner's circle just a week previous, having defeated Richard C. Durant as 2nd precinct delegate in the City of Grosse Pointe. But this time it was Durant's victory and Alger's loss, when the former was voted permanent chairman of the convention, 163 to Alger's 129 votes. The defeat meant loss of control of the Republican machinery of the 14th Congressional District.

Both men, who live a block apart on Lincoln road, waged a hot campaign prior to the August 5 primary elections, in which Alger emerged victor by a 194-172 margin. Wednesday night's results insure the re-election of Stanley J. Baldwin, who lives in Lakepointe avenue, as district chairman for the ensuing two years. Baldwin is another proponent of Durant's group, which challenges Alger's defense of "modern Republicanism."

Largest Summer School Attracted 1,165 Students

This year's Summer School session was the largest in the history of The Grosse Pointe Public School System. The total enrollment for classes from June 16 through July 25 was 1,165 students—more than 26 percent above 1957's attendance.

The largest increase occurred in the secondary schools, where 847 pupils were enrolled and the normal staff of 18 teachers was necessarily expanded to 22 full-time instructors.

In addition to the usual classes in English, Mathematics, Social Studies and Typing, courses in Spanish and Latin were incorporated into the curriculum for the first time in several years.

Special non-credit classes to help interested students improve their reading and writing abilities were continued. The elementary school sessions at Mair, under the leadership of Frank Bozarth, and at Mason, under Joseph Krutell, enrolled a total of 318 pupils. The instrumental music instruction enabled the children to accelerate their progress.

Distance Swim Set for Aug. 30

Swimmers from all five Grosse Pointes will have an opportunity to pit their might against Lake St. Clair on Saturday, August 30. The time slated for the Second Annual Grosse Pointe Farms 2-mile swim from the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club to the Grosse Pointe Farms Pier is at 2 p.m.

Mermaids and mermen of all ages are eligible to compete in the affair providing they are Grosse Pointe residents. Everyone who completes the two miles will receive a trophy to recognize his feat.

In addition, trophies will be awarded to first, second and third place finishers; first and second places in the junior 15 years and under division, and to the first girl finisher.

Each swimmer will be accompanied by a boat furnished by him or the park which he represents. Any competitor may withdraw from the water at any time.

The two-mile course parallels Lakeshore road between Moross and Eight Mile roads, in full view of Labor Day weekend sports fans.

Entry blanks are available at any of the five Grosse Pointe Pier Parks. The Grosse Pointe Metropolitan Club is sponsoring the event.

Park Submits Traffic Report

Park police have investigated 17 hit and run traffic accidents since January 1, in which nine cases were cleared, nine persons arrested and six persons convicted, according to a monthly report released by Park Police Chief Arthur Louwers. The 17 incidents involved property damage.

There were three hit and runs during the month of July, in which three persons were arrested, clearing the cases, but there were no convictions, the chief's report disclosed.

Chief Louwers said that his department recorded a total of 170 accidents since the beginning of the year, of which 37 were non-fatal (accidents in which persons were injured), 40 persons injured, and 133 property damage caused. There were no fatal accidents and no one died as the result of injuries.

Since January 1, there were 10 auto-pedestrian accidents, of which there were no fatalities, 10 non-fatal, no property damage, 11 persons hurt and no one killed.

Three auto-bicycle accidents resulting in two non-fatal, two people injured, one property damage, no fatalities and no one killed.

During July, there were 24 traffic mishaps, six non-fatal, six persons hurt, 18 property damage, no fatalities and no deaths.

Auto-pedestrian and auto-bicycle accidents were recorded at one each, and each resulted in personal injuries. There were no fatalities, no deaths and no property damage.

Chief Louwers' report showed that since the first of the year, 88 accidents occurred on city streets from Mack to Kercheval; 63 took place between south of Kercheval to Jefferson; and 19, south of Jefferson.

For last month, it was 12 from Mack to Kercheval; nine south of Kercheval to Jefferson; and three, south of Jefferson.

Hatchet Burial Cheats Goodwill

It was a hot Friday afternoon.

The last of the familiar red trucks had pulled out of the Goodwill Industries' lot for the day.

Inside the Goodwill plant, girls were taking routine calls for pick-ups. The phone rang persistently. Even more persistent was the lady on the other end of the line.

"I am moving to California and wish to give everything in the house to Goodwill. Have a truck out here today! I leave tonight."

The donation of a houseful of furniture and furnishings is not an every-day occurrence. It meant work and pay to handicapped people. Trucking supervisor Bill Baumgartner could not call a truck off its run. It would disappoint other contributors of discards.

There was one chance open. A truck was in the garage for repairs. Baumgartner put pressure on the garage. Extra mechanics were put on the job, and the truck wheeled out at 3:05 p.m. with three more men borrowed for the job.

Farms Conducts Fishing Rodeo

The largest turnout on record aided and abetted by Dame Nature's sunny disposition, was on hand at the Park pier last Saturday, August 16, for the Annual Fishing Rodeo. Some 135 contestants were cheered on by friends and family.

Grand awards were won by Nancy Dismet, of 1376 Lakepointe, and a near neighbor, Scott Fraser, of 1442 Lakepointe. Nancy, girls' winner, caught a 7-ounce green bass just 60 seconds before contest time ran out, and Scott's winning 1 pound-9 ounce sheephead was just 30 seconds short of zero hour, and the last fish caught. Both received a trophy and complete fishing outfit.

Other contestants, who by regulation had to be residents of the Park, were Paul Dismet, Can de Gonzalez, Bob Thurlow, David McColium, Robert Begemann, Mary Jo DeSchryber, Virginia Frys, Linda Christofaro, Regina Michael, Philip Addy, Jack Gajewski, Cris Todd, Gail Beel, Jim Marquardt, Kath-

Ever since Alexander Hamilton told George Washington

"Not only the wealth, but the independence and security of a country, appear to be materially connected with the prosperity of manufacturing..."

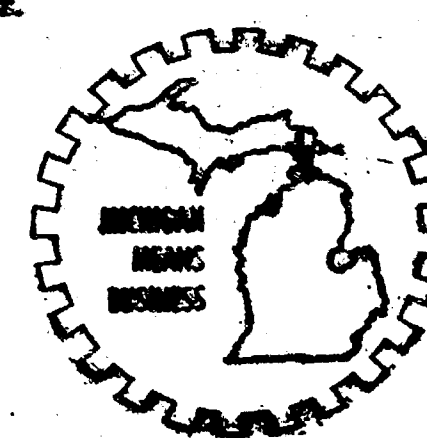

"Whence it follows, that it is the interest of a community, with a view to eventual and permanent economy, to encourage the growth of manufacturing."

In these words Hamilton, Secretary of the Treasury, reported to the President and to the Congress on December 5, 1791... and the book of industrial development was opened.

TROMBLY SCHOOL

Vacation is drawing to a close and soon school bells will be ringing for "Joey and Sal." The Trombly School office will be open from Monday, August 25, to August 29 to make ready for the new school year and to accept registration of new pupils and for those enrolling for the first time.

Parents are invited to attend to registration in the afternoon between 1 and 4 o'clock. Parents of Kindergarten children are reminded to bring birth certificate, physical examination and enrollment information blanks; the latter were mailed to all known residents from the office of the Superintendent.

Parents new to the district may obtain these blanks from the Trombly School office. Parents new to the community or the school enrolling children in Grades 1 through 6 are asked to bring the child's 1958 report card from the sending school and the child's birth certificate. These documents enable the school office to make up complete official records for each new entrant.

The professional staff reports on Tuesday, September 2, to make preparation to welcome 460 or more pupils on opening day Thursday, September 4.

Members of the staff are: Mrs. Donna King and Miss Patricia Seltzer (half-time), Kindergarten; Mrs. Eleanor Pawluk and Mrs. Jacqueline Westman, Grades One; Mrs. Harriet Benfer and Mrs. Patricia Lowery (nee Abel), Grades Two; Mrs. Olga Doherty and Mrs. Martha Graham, Grades Three; Mrs. Mae Fuller and Miss Katherine Kinne, Grades Four; Mrs. Dorothy Dahl, Mrs. Diana Nicholls, and Miss Wallace, Grades Five; Mrs. Juanita Arndt, Mr. Kenneth Grittens, and Mr. Louis Jorissen, Grades Six; Mr. Wayne Smith, Vocal and Instrumental Music; Mr. Donald Schrom (Part-Time) Art; Mrs. Angela Peters, School Secretary; Frank J. Welchenbach, Principal. Miss Seltzer.

Mrs. Nicholls, Mr. Jorissen, and Mr. Schrom are new to the staff and to the school system. Miss Seltzer has her Bachelor of Science from Ohio State University and Master of Education from Wheelock; she will teach a morning Kindergarten class at Richard School and an afternoon group at Trombly. Mrs. Nicholls obtained her Bachelor Degree at the University of Colorado and taught in Howell, Michigan last year. Mr. Jorissen is a graduate of Western Michigan and completed a 3½ year tour of duty with the United States Navy. Mr. Donald Schrom earned both his Bachelor and Master Degree in Art at Bowling Green, Ohio and did some substitute teaching in the Chicago Public Schools during the past year. We welcome these fine additions to our school staff.

School hours are the same as in preceding years: 8:45 to 11:30 a.m. and 12:45 to 3:30 p.m. (Tuesdays-Dismissal at 3:15 p.m.)

The Safety Patrol Boys and officers-Captain Peter Short and Lieutenants Donald Lindley and Lee Shepard—want their schoolmates and parents to know that they will be patrolling school crossings on opening day, Thursday September 4. Patrol boys are on duty twenty minutes prior to the beginning of the morning and afternoon sessions and when school is dismissed. To make fullest use of this safety service, pupils should time their coming to school when patrol boys are on duty.

"Hear-dem bells!" They will soon be ringing out "A bright new school year is here." The Trombly Staff, in cooperation with the home and community, will earnestly seek to facilitate the best educational progress for each child.

POUPARD SCHOOL

Poupard School will be open for new registrations from 1:00 to 4:00 each afternoon from Monday, August 25 through Friday, August 29. Children who will need to enroll are kindergarten children who were not enrolled in the spring, and children in grades one through six who were not in Poupard School last year.

To be eligible for Kindergarten a child must have reached his 5th birthday by December 1, 1958. If his birthday falls between December 2, 1958 and January 31, 1959, a child may be admitted to Kindergarten if he is judged mature enough for this experience.

Arrangements for the necessary tests for these children may be made by calling Mr. Paul Mawhinney, Director of Pupil Personnel, Grosse Pointe Administrative Offices, 89 St. Clair Grosse Pointe 30, Michigan (TU 5-2000). A birth or baptismal certificate must be presented at the time of registration to verify the date of birth of new kindergarten students. The certificate will be returned at that time.

CAR CATCHES FIRE

Alice J. Gaskill of 990 Lake Shore road, was lucky when Shores Patrolman James Jurcak cruised by on Lake Shore road on Wednesday, August 13, just as her car motor caught fire. The officer and Shores Police Chief Fred Duemling, who answered a call for assistance, put out the fire with hand extinguishers from their scout cars.

Rare Music Box Collection
Loaned Museum by Painter

Arch L. Rankin, 589 Neff road, has loaned over 50 rare music boxes and musical instruments to the Detroit Historical Museum for a major exhibit which will be on display through October 15. "Music in the Air" features items from Mr. Rankin's collections valued from $25 to $10,000. Mr. Rankin estimates his total collection to be worth upwards of $75,000.

Versatility is the keyword for the collections of Mr. and Mrs. Arch L. Rankin. They have long been interested in preservation of good things of earlier years and take pleasure in "living with" and using the objects of their collections. While their hobbies range from antique cars to jewelry—their particular interests are mechanical musical instruments and pitchers.

A recognized authority on music boxes, Mr. Rankin has served as consultant in this capacity to the Detroit Historical Museum and Henry Ford Museum. Mr. and Mrs. Rankin are members of the Detroit Historical Society and the National Music Box Society.

Musical boxes are said to have come into being about 1770 in Switzerland. During the next half century, the industry developed in its native country with improvements being made in the construction of the rotating cylinder and refinements in the quality of the comb.

The first musical movement was contributed by a watchmaker and the same expert workmanship which that craft required led to others in the same profession employing their skill in the creation of tiny music producing units which were ultimately contained in such objects such as snuff boxes, walking stick top seals and jewel cases.

The Belated 'Find'

Mayor Koppin of Grosse Pointe Woods was slightly miffed over the story in last week's issue about the city discovering it had $308,000 in the bottom of its barrel. What upset him seemed to be the headline, "Fund to Start New City Hall Building 'Found' in Woods."

As far as can be determined, the facts of the story were completely accurate. The comptroller and accountants were given credit for scraping the barrel bottom and coming up with the pleasing residue, an accumulation of unused money appropriated for various projects, interest on bonds and bank savings, etc.

It matters little whether we call this revelation a "find," "discovery," or anything else. The intriguing angle of the story is that the city officials were in total ignorance of the existence of any such amount of cash on hand.

Three times the council has tried to get the residents to approve a bond issue to construct a new municipal building. Three times the proposal has been turned down. Much of this hidden money must have been available at the time the first request was made of the voters. The fund had grown by the time the building was put to a vote the second and third times. Had the council been able to inform the residents that a substantial portion of the cost of the structure was already on hand, the outcome of the vote might have been far different.

One of these elections was a special one called on the municipal building proposal alone. Elections are not cheap to conduct and the average taxpayer doesn't feel particularly happy when he discovers that all the facts are not furnished the voters before the casting of ballots.

The city fathers now propose to put the $308,000 in the Municipal Improvement Fund, and to earmark $200,000 of it for a start on the new city hall. They expect to ask the voters, "in a purely advisory capacity," to indicate their wishes in the matter. The $200,000 would build two wings, one for administration and the other for a council-courtroom section. Another $175,000 would be needed to construct a third wing for the public safety department. There is a question whether council will ask the public to approve a bond issue to take care of the third wing, or wait until the barrel bottom has become coated again with enough money to pay for completion of the proposed project.

It will be interesting to note what influence the belated "find" has on the voters when next they are asked to express an opinion. It isn't particularly conducive to confidence in their officials when the residents realize they have been so nebulous in their selling program of a project which they consider of vital importance.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

While vacationing with the Francis Beaupre family a few weeks ago, my little granddaughter and I met with an accident—fell down the flight of stairs at the observation tower at Grosse Pointe Farms Park—and had to be taken to the hospital.

The marvelous treatment and consideration accorded us by everyone in your community: the life guard, the ambulance driver and attendant, the police who accompanied us on the way to the hospital, and the Sisters, nurses and doctors at Bon Secours Hospital were all of such outstanding calibre that I would like to thank each and everyone of them.

Never before have I been treated with such overwhelming solicitude, patience and kindness as was shown to us during our accident, and I wonder if the residents of the Pointe fully appreciate the high quality of character of those who have been given charge of their welfare.

Anyone should be proud to call Grosse Pointe his home! Mrs. Viola Kinney, Racine, Wisconsin

To The Editor:—I have lived in Grosse Pointe City for many years, and I am also a home owner. I just love Grosse Pointe and am proud to say I live here. But I have a pet peeve and it's about this awful litter which is strewn around two prominent drug stores at all times. Our city has provided trash cans, but everyone is too tired to use them.

Detroit has a $100 fine for litterbugs. Let's get those signs up and maybe that will help us to keep Grosse Pointe City what it used to be... Kileen! Mrs. J. M. Smith, 17021 Waterloo.

Grosse-Exaggerations

A. PRYOR

"I who am dead a thousand years
And wrote this sweet archaic song,
Send you my words for messengers
The way I shall not pass along.
O friend unseen, unborn, unknown,
Student of my sweet English tongue,
Read out my words at night, alone;
I was a poet... I was young,
Since I can never see your face,
And never shake you by the hand,
I send my soul through time and space
To greet you: You will understand."
(James Elroy Flecker)

The languid summer weather has us down. As we sit here in our overcoat, looking longingly at our bathing suit, we decided it is too hot to write a column... so later on down the line we shall pass on a reprint from the Dearborn Press... that was sent to us by a mad character named James Limbacher. We think you will enjoy it.

CLASSIFIED DEPT.
This was culled from an Eastern paper: "3 Area Advisors needed immediately... for both part and full time work. To qualify you must first look like a woman, think like a man, act like a lady and work like a horse. Must have car. Telephone... etc. etc."

CARTOON DEPT.

Sent to us in the mail... magazine not identified. The picture... a large blonde about the size of Sophie Tucker "trussed" into a girdle that was so tight it might have been made of steel. Two men, looking at her... no doubt pondering what would happen when she took off the contraption at night. One sez to the other: "Bet it's like the breaking up of the ice floe in the Spring."

LIMBACHER TAKES OVER

(NOTE: Every year during my vacation, I ask a noted movie reviewer to take over this column. Again this year, it is my pleasure to present the lovely and talented Claudette Beaupre with her views of the best films of the year. Aloha, Hawaii, it's a party, Claudette! That's my advice to you!—Jim Limbacher)

Well, it's been a big year in Hollywood, friends, and it's nice to be back with you again to give you the latest dope from Hollywood (me, ha ha). Here are my reviews of the best films of the year!

A FARE TO REMEMBER—The story of a lady taxi driver who drives men mad in midtown Manhattan. She endears herself to her riders by accepting only fruit and vegetables as payment. This leads to many complications on busy days when the produce begins to decay in the trunk of the taxi and arouses the suspicions of the N.Y. Police Department. But the girl (played delightfully by Brigitte Bako) is saved from arrest by Dr. Cloddey Scalpel, the noted urology specialist from Kansas City. They fall in love and have their wedding in the operating room. Don't miss this one! It's full of cutting remarks.

I WAS A TEEN-AGED CHICKEN PLUCKER—The teen-age favorite, Don B. Half-safe, stars in this story of a boy who discovers he is sprouting feathers after a mad doctor injects him with a strange serum during a drag race. Anyone who misses this film is chicken.

LA HARVE IS A MANY-SPLENDORED THING—Rock Packard is a sailor with a girl in every port. Handsome, devil-may-care, he laughs at love until he runs into Brigitte Clendennin, the daughter of a French barge captain. He barges in (no pun intended) and kidnaps her from the arms of her lover, Lex Birdseed (who's never looked better, girls). After a wild chase, Brigitte and Rock drown themselves in the sea as the accordionist plays variations on "Molly Malone." We never did find out what happened to Lex Birdseed, but he was wonderful, especially when he cried out "Vive La French."

A BRIDGE FOR THE RIVER GUY—Fiendish, half-demented Colonel Corn is captured by enemy troops but refuses to do any dental work, although he was a practicing dentist in civilian life. After ten days in the torture chamber, Colonel Corn finally agrees under terms of the Geneva Convention to make bridges for the enemy, whose teeth are falling out as the result of palagaria. The film ends with a brilliant flash of teeth.

PEACHTREE COUNTY—Who else could star in this one but ZaZa Pitts?

LAVA COME BACK TO ME—Here is the story of a Hawaiian maiden who meets a white man, defies the gods and causes Mount Humauki-walkuhaloie to erupt. In order to save the town, this lusty and sensuous maiden jumps into the volcano and the eruption stops. As a fitting climax, the hero (played by Rex Sidesaddle in his first grown-up role) walks into the sunset playing a Hawaiian guitar.

TV LINGO QUIZ
Sometimes we watch so much television that we forget the "backstage" crew on TV. These hardworking people get little credit and have substituted for this a very quaint language, some of which I'd like to pass on to you today.

See if you can guess what these TV words mean, then look below for the answers (no fair peeking until you've tried them all):
(1) The Snake Pit; (2) Idiot cards; (3) Brownies; (4) Porcelain Studio; (5) blah-blah-blah or ring-a-ding; (6) Pen-cil, paint brush or lavalier; (7) pipe; (8) flat; (9) pan; (10) sink.

Answers: (1) the control room; (2) cue cards held behind the camera for the actors to read; (3) TV cameras; (4) the men's room; (5) saving a punch line for the real show by substituting the words above; (6) types of microphones; (7) telephone; (8) canvas walls used in room settings; (9) slow movement of the camera from left to right or vice versa; (10) short for synchronization.

Now that you're more confused than ever, go back to the TV set and forget you ever read this.

SUMMER THEATRE QUICKIES
It was wonderful to see Ann Sheridan in "King Sir." Annie's been a favorite of mine since I was 12 years old and I wouldn't have missed seeing her for the world. Wish she'd get a road company of "Auntie Mame." Everyone else has one.

The wonderful Menasha Skulnik opened at Northland Playhouse last night. Don't miss a chance to see one of the world's great comedians. The play, in case you care, is his last Broadway show, "Uncle Willie."

What Goes On at Your Library

By Jean Taylor

The newest achievement of the Nautilus which opened up a new route from the Pacific to the Atlantic gives renewed interest to a book published four years ago, "The Atomic Submarine and Admiral Rickover" by Clair Blair, a correspondent well-versed in submarine research. This is the story behind the design and construction of the first atomic submarine. It is also the story of Admiral Rickover, whose career is inextricably interwoven with the whole project.

If you are a non-technically inclined as we are, a small book "Atomic Submarine" by John Lawless, published the same year, will shed light on this formidable subject. Written primarily for young people, it is for the uninitiated of any age. Mr. Lawless has taken the nuclear powered Nautilus for his principal theme, comparing it with earlier types of submarines.

It is small wonder that all these fantastic present day happenings are breathing new life into Jules Verne. Almost a century ago his ingenious "electric Nautilus" with the indomitable Captain Nemo, sailed a similar route, South rather than North in "Twenty Thousand Leagues under the Sea." Also Verne's startlingly prophetic novel of space travel, "From the Earth to the Moon and a Trip Around It" has recently appeared in a thirty-five cent edition. Many readers today are interested in discovering how inventions which we now take for granted, were dreamed of by this author many years ago.

If you are an ardent follower of polar discoveries you will be interested in a new book now on order at the library, "From the Ends of the Earth" edited by Augustine Courtland. This is an anthology of writings about the polar regions from the eras when there was only rumor on which to base them, to the age of scientific exploration.

Edna Ferber's "Ice Palace," arriving on the bookstands just at the time when Alaska's long hoped for Statehood was making headlines, gave added impetus to her recent best seller.

Also released from the press with good timing is "Daughter of the Gold Rush," by Klondy Nelson with Corey Ford. This is a rollicking account of Klondy Nelson's life in Alaska where she was taken as a little girl by her mother, who was determined to share her prospector-husband's life. Warren Nelson was not one to settle down, however, and eventually Klondy and her mother, with the two younger children, are left to shift for themselves. There are some grim moments, but they pull together, and Klondy manages to have a taste of the "outside" when she returns to the States to study music. Her marriage to a young deputy from New Hampshire, who seeks not gold but adventure in Alaska, brings her back to the North Country.

Corey Ford, sent to Alaska to do some articles on wild life conservation, found Klondy a wonderful story teller, and sensed the possibilities of a good tale in her reminiscences. Their collaboration makes an entertaining yarn of rugged life in Alaska at the turn of the century.

Finance Wizards Train With Army
Camp McCoy, Wis.—A group of experts in the field of finance and accounting spent a two-week "busman's holiday" here this summer practicing their trades the Army way.

The 311th Finance Disbursing Section, a Reserve unit from Detroit took its summer field training at Camp McCoy. The unit arrived here August 3 and departed on the 16th.

The fast growing unit has a present strength of two officers and 26 enlisted men. The majority of the personnel are graduate accountants in civilian life and work as auditors or cost accountants. During their summer encampment they are becoming reacquainted with duty in the field. In their training, they are following a complete payroll operation through all the entries, calculations, deductions, additions, and logging involved in arriving at the final disposition of the correct pay, allotments and allowances.

The unit is commanded by Major Albert E. O'Neal, Grosse Pointe, Mich. He has commanded the 311th since its activation on June 28, 1956 at Fort Wayne in Detroit. When activated, the unit consisted of one officer, Major O'Neal, and one enlisted man, Master Sergeant Joseph Martinez, Detroit, who is the present First Sergeant and Chief Clerk. The Executive Officer is Lieutenant Richard L. Allen of Dearborn, Michigan.

This is the fourth summer encampment at this post for Major O'Neal, who was inducted into the Army in January of 1942, and spent four years on active duty. Since 1946, he has been in the Active Reserve and has served in a number of staff and troop assignments. He has attended the Enlisted Finance School, Finance Corps Officer's Candidate Course, and the Army supervised Budget and Fiscal School.

At the units home station, Fort Wayne, the unit participates in practical exercises.

Not too many years ago, a common remedy for lung disease was an onion plaster. "Strong," but hardly effective. Now, thanks to medical research we have powerful drugs which have drastically reduced the death rate among lung patients. Effective medications are important to your health. When you're ill, they can mean the difference between pain and comfort... between life and death. So don't rely on home remedies. Let your physician decide what medications will be best for you. Then let us fill his prescriptions.

From Another Pointe of View

By Kitty Marriott

The last two weekends in August will be busy ones in the Westchester road household of Mr. and Mrs. Thoburn H. Wiant. Mrs. Wiant's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Browning, are coming in from Los Angeles tomorrow for a three-day visit. From here, they will continue to New York, where they'll go by boat to Europe for the September 8 concert of their pianist son, John S. Browning, at the World's Fair in Brussels.

Localities will remember the youthful pianist, who was here in February to appear under Tuesday Musicale auspices at Detroit Institute of Arts. John will return again December 5 to give a Pro Musica concert locally. A consistent award winner, he has done a great deal of concert work here and abroad including frequent appearances with the Los Angeles Philharmonic at the Hollywood Bowl.

Visitors from Glasgow

There'll be some informal entertaining during the Brownings' brief stay. Then, the Wiant's will just about have time to catch their breath before Mrs. Wiant's brother-in-law and sister arrive for the next long weekend. The Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Wick are just returning from Glasgow, Scotland, where Rev. Wick has been an exchange preacher.

Wick youngsters, Mark, seven, and Rachel, four, were very small when they left the States, and the Wiant family can hardly wait to hear the Scotch brogue they've acquired. It's reported that their speech is full of Scotch colloquialisms. The Wick foursome will go from the Pointe to Lafayette, Ind., where a new parish awaits them.

Reception in the Garden

Lighted gardens at the Middlesex boulevard home of Dr. and Mrs. Lyndle R. Martin were a fitting backdrop for their daughter's wedding reception Saturday evening. After Cynthia's 7 o'clock marriage to Richard Mitchell, some 300 guests converged on the Martin grounds where round ice cream tables and ice cream chairs, painted pink and white, helped to create a nostalgic scene.

Rose tablecloths reached to the ground, (the rose shade matching the attendants' frocks), and the wedding cake centered a large round table topped by a white cloth trimmed with flower garlands.

A conversation piece was the new Mrs. Mitchell's dainty lace bridal handkerchief, a made-in-Paris gift from her mother. The handkerchief was a surprise gift at the rehearsal dinner... with bride and bridegroom's name and wedding date monogrammed in a heart on its center... and room for future generations to inscribe their names and wedding dates on the heirloom-to-be.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Loughlin of Lake Shore road were surrounded by their entire family last week for the first time in 8 or 10 years. Their son, Bill Loughlin, and Mrs. Loughlin, with their daughters, Micaela and Mary, were visiting from Houston, Tex., for a fortnight.

In honor of the Texans, the Edsel Loughlins came from LaGrange, Ill., with Linda, Charlotte and Tommy. And of course, the elder Loughlins' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Collins, of Lincoln road and their daughter Katie, joined in the family reunion.

Pointe Yacht Club Plays Regatta Host

Cocktail Party and Dinner Dance Follow Sail Racing Event in Perfect Weather; Wedding Proves Added Attraction

Regatta day at Grosse Pointe Yacht Club last Saturday was an enchanting time around the clubhouse. The regatta spectacle was marvelous—approximately 160 sailboats of different classes stretched over Lake St. Clair's blue waters, moving neatly before the wind—their spread canvas like great white birds in the sunshine.

A few dazzling spinners—one in broad red and white stripes—were conversation pieces.

Early spectators in smart sports clothes took over the lawns—the first boats were away at the 11:30 a.m. warning gun. Hurrying here and there were judges and timers in yachtsmen's smart dress uniforms—they were commodores of the regatta-sponsoring Detroit River Yachting Association and of the area's yacht and boat clubs.

The regatta well under way, a few officials switched to wedding guest roles—Dr. Karl Weber, GPYC fleet surgeon, Dr. Clifford B. Loranger of the yachting committee, and DRYA's T. A. Davenport, with their respective wives, took time to pay respects to the newly-married Charles A.

Muirs (Betty Zimmerman) at their reception at the club.

Outdoors, officials were on docks and on the fleet of judges' boats—with GPYC's Vice Comm. and Mrs. Robert F. Weber on their "Maroda" were the Howard Shaws, the Rex Brophys, the Joseph Caskeys, the Webers' daughter, Rosalind, and her friend Julie Ayres. Mrs. Weber came ashore early to assist the ladies committee.

The Venetian Room was a party center at 5:30 o'clock as GPYC officers and yachting committee, and their wives served as cocktail hosts to honorary and official judges and timers, and their respective wives. Heading the receiving line were George C. Cossaboom, GPYC yachting chairman and also race committee chairman, and Mrs. Cossaboom; Vice Comm. and Mrs.

Weber, and Rear Como, and Mrs. William A. Ternes.

The Cossabooms, (She in a stunning sapphire blue taffeta sheath), brought their house guests, the Charles Stuart Macphersons of Swindon, England. Mrs. Weber had changed to a yellow and white printed silk cocktail dress and Mrs. Ternes was in white coin-dotted navy chignon, the slim dress having a flowing trapeze-style back panel.

Among those at the cocktail fete and following dinner in the Commodore Room were DRYA's Como, Paul J. Adam and Mrs. Adam, Como, and Mrs. Don Fairchild, Como, and Mrs. F. L. Martin, Como, and Mrs. T. A. Davenport, Como, and Mrs. Bruce Tappan, Como, and Mrs. Brad S. Pyle, Como, and Mrs. E. P. Robertson, Como, and Mrs. Richard Brand, Como, and Mrs. Oscar E. Ralston, ad the John J. Wetzel's—he's secretary of Grosse Pointe Power Squadron.

At late dinner in the main dining room were the Russell D. VanHoutens and the Stark Hickey's—eyecatcher was Mrs. VanHouten's tailored, sheer organdie coat in dark navy and white check, worn over a linen dress of white bodice and willow green skirt, joined at the low hipline with heavy white embroidery.

In the stream of comers and goers were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Sanders—her black dress had a bodice top of fine white embroidery; the Lester F. Brookers who were hosts in an eightsome; the Gordon O. Suttons. Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Barthush were more regatta day visitors.

Charles Burbach, former Grosse Pointe now living in Ft. Lauderdale, reported to friends that Mrs. Burbach, Mary, Charles and Freddie were so enthralled with Lauderdale's sailing and swimming that they refused to come north for the summer. He had to be here on business.

The Wayne E. Longs and Dr. and Mrs. Leo Saraf embarked for a cruise on the Longs' boat, "Cumalong" just as the orchestra tuned up for the outdoor dance, with a promise to be back before dancing ended. The William M. Schmidts and son Bill, just back from Georgian Bay, came with the Emmet McNamaras. There was dinner-dancing in the main dining room, too—all in all, a gala regatta time.

This couple was honored by Mr. and Mrs. William Hertz of Rutherford road, at a steak barbecue in their patio. Diane's aunts, Mrs. Harry Jones and Mrs. Marie Jones, gave a miscellaneous shower and Sunday night supper.

The "Trinkle-Toe" cabin cruiser was the scene of a bathroom shower. The party of twelve were taken to the D.Y.C. for luncheon, and then the shower gifts were opened on board while "cruising down the river."

A few days later Mrs. William J. Dungan of Cadieux road gave a champagne-brunch and pantry shower.

While the prospective bridegroom was enjoying his "Stag Party" Friday night several of her colleagues had a "hen party" for Diane.

Diane's aunt Mrs. Ray Lange of Trinidad in the West Indies—formerly of Grosse Pointe—poured at a tea where the guests had a view of the wedding gifts.

Friday before their August 23 wedding, Mrs. Michael R. Sullivan, the bridegroom's mother, will entertain at the rehearsal dinner.

Tim and Diane will honeymoon at the Governor's Mansion on Mackinac Island.

They will be home in Wade Avenue after Labor Day.

Cynthia Kay Martin Married Saturday

Becomes Bride of Richard Eugene Mitchell in Pointe Congregational Church, Reception Held in Parents' Garden

Evening rites in Grosse Pointe Congregational Church united Cynthia Kay Martin and Richard Eugene Mitchell in marriage Saturday, August 16.

The Rev. Charles W. Scheid, of Grand Rapids, heard the exchange of vows. He was assisted by the Rev. Charles Hastie, chaplain of Olivet College, Olivet, Mich.

A reception followed in the lighted gardens at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Lyndle Raymond Martin of Middlesex boulevard.

The bride's princess gown of imported ivory peau de soie had a sabrina neckline and cap sleeves. Seed pearls and iridescents highlighted the bodice and were applied on the bouffant skirt which fell into a chapel train.

A lace shell cap held her double tiered illusion fingertip veil. Gardenias and stephanotis topped her white bible.

Alice Lynne Martin served as her sister's maid of honor. Mrs. George L. DeVos Jr., and Mrs. Walter Goll were bridesmaids.

Their rose tissue taffeta gowns had scoop necklines, sheath skirts with bell-shaped overskirts cinched by a large bow at the waist in back. Tiny velvet bows trimmed their matching cloches made of veiling, and they carried sweetheart roses arranged on white fans.

Victor John Nyboer performed the duties of best man. Ushering were the bridegroom's brothers, Robert Louis Mitchell and Ronald Scott Mitchell; Robert Berry Lawrence and George Louis DeVos Jr.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Martin chose a soft aqua chiffon sheath with side drape and hat of taffeta leaves. She pinned cymbidium orchids to her white headed bag.

Dion blue with reem-broidered lace and matching accessories were Mrs. Mitchell's choice. She also wore cymbidium orchids.

When the newlyweds left on a motor trip through Michigan, the new Mrs. Mitchell changed to a beige Italian silk suit dress with brown accessories.

They will live in Olivet, Mich., where Mr. Mitchell will teach at Olivet College.

'Great Lakes' Makes Debut As 162 Battle for Honors

"Great Lakes," John Warnke's controversial 54-foot steel cutter, made her belated debut on Lake St. Clair last Saturday, August 16, in the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club's twenty-ninth annual regatta.

This was the attention that received so much from the press as her skipper and his crew raced against time to get her ready in time for the Bayview-Mackinac race in July.

It was a valiant effort they made. They worked around the clock for nearly a week and had high hopes of making the race when they completed the task three days before the Lake Huron event. These high hopes were dashed when on "Great Lakes" trial spin the ship proved unmanageable under sail due to a mistake of the designer.

Skipper Warnke, a great guy with great ideas and faith in himself and his fellow man, heartbroken, withdrew his yacht from the Mackinac. But he vowed he would have his ship racing on Lake St. Clair before the 1958 season was over. This he did and it was fitting that he had the "Great Lakes" make her debut in the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club's regatta under whose colors she will sail.

Take Steps Closer
"Great Lakes" didn't do too well in her first outing, because Clarence Baker and Jerry Clements have their sights set on the 1958 Cruising "A" season championship and took a step closer to their goal when their beautiful sloop "Last Straw" made shambles of all of the Cruising Classes by taking over honors. Warnke had the dubious satisfaction of crossing the finish line second in "A" but corrected time knocked the new ship down to sixth place in the standings.

Clarence Jacobs' "Falcon" placed second and Bill Kaiser and Cliff Grey's Eight meter sloop "Pintail," sailing for the first time in "A," took third.

Hank Burkard's "Meteor III" continued her winning ways by topping the three boat Cruising B fleet by beating John Detweiler's "Vashti" and Llywd Ecclestone's "Bikini."

Tommy Hanson's "Dauntless II" got back in the groove by winning the big Cruising C race. Tommy said, "It's about time after losing our chance in the Mackinac race. That's the big one we wanted." Gerd Schneider's "Radiant" took second on corrected time and Bill Bremer's "Balquhider" was third. Kurt Keydel's "Grace Note" edged in for the fourth place prize.

Day Grows Better
It was a beautiful day for a race but it didn't look so hot as the 162 boat fleet assembled at the starting line in the morning. The sky was overcast and threatening but by race time little blue patches expanded and the tattle tale gray clouds disappeared. But the choppy sea left over from the night before made the going a bit tough as the breeze out of the east-northeast diminished as the fleet clawed its way up the weather leg of the triangular courses.

It was the first time this season the fleet had sailed a course other than the regular DRYA triangles. Next week the fleet will get another chance to look for marker buoys in the Crescent Sail Yacht Club regatta. Grosse Pointe and Crescent always set their own courses and are the only two clubs that do not conform to the pattern set by the Detroit River Association to sail all races on the Canadian side of the ship channel.

Bobbie Dodd and Will Howard were probably the happiest guys afloat that day. Both became "brides" the sailors' term for first win of a season. Dodd topped the huge 19 boat Cruising D fleet and Howard walked the Privateer class handily. Will said "You know it was just good

Boat Banter

In an all-out attempt to prevent fatal accidents during the running of the annual 1958 Silver Cup Race on the Detroit River next Saturday, August 23, John Carter, general race chairman, has insisted that all competing boats be equipped with a "dead man" throttle. This is in accordance with the American Power Boat Association rule that states a spring attachment must be secured to the throttle that will stop the motor when pressure is released.

Carter pointed out that in the Gold Cup race at Seattle, Washington, a couple of weeks ago, when Bill Muncy (driver of Miss Thriftway) collided with the Coast Guard Patrol boat, his engines were still running minutes after the collision. Also, in the recent Detroit Memorial race Bill Cantrell was dragged across the river behind Gale V after he was thrown from the cockpit.

Warnke has given former race boat driver Danny Foster, chairman of the safety committee, specific instructions to insist that all unlimited hydroplanes in the race be equipped with safety equipment which would shut off the ignition system, thus killing the engine.

It is felt that with the large number of entries every precaution should be taken not only to protect the drivers of these behemoths of the waterway but also the spectators who line the banks of the Detroit river with pleasure boats.

While we are on the safety kick it is really interesting to learn that the State of Michigan has a huge bundle of dough it is sitting on not earmarked for anything in particular. This fund was raised through the new boat registration law and currently stands at about $460,000. That's two bucks each boat owner was forced to pay this spring before he could use his boat on inland lakes. About 230,000 boat owners have complied with the law. There are still some 100,000 boats not registered. When these do pay up the fund will reach approximately $600,000 and no one is just exactly sure where these funds will go. There is a growing fear among safety-minded boat owners that the fund will revert to a general fund.

The Water Safety Commission would like to see some of this money spent on a broad training program for boat owners.

To this we personally subscribe. There is nothing as dangerous as a motor boat—either inboard or outboard—in the hands of an inexperienced landlubber who all of a sudden finds he has a couple of bucks extra and can afford to buy a boat. All this person has to do is find a dealer, plunk his dough down and the seller will show him how to turn on the key and start the motor. After that he's on his own and heaven help those who get in his way.

If a few bucks from the expected $600,000 could educate people in the basic rules of the road it would be money well spent. Most accidents are caused either by carelessness or someone not knowing what to do in an emergency situation.

It is sad to note that to date the Legislature recently appropriated $30,000 for water safety. We wonder if they could spare it to make this Water Wonderland state of ours safe from inexperienced and crazy power boat operators.

A recent survey showed that in the last four years and the first six months of 1958, 1,313 persons have drowned in the state in swimming and boating accidents.

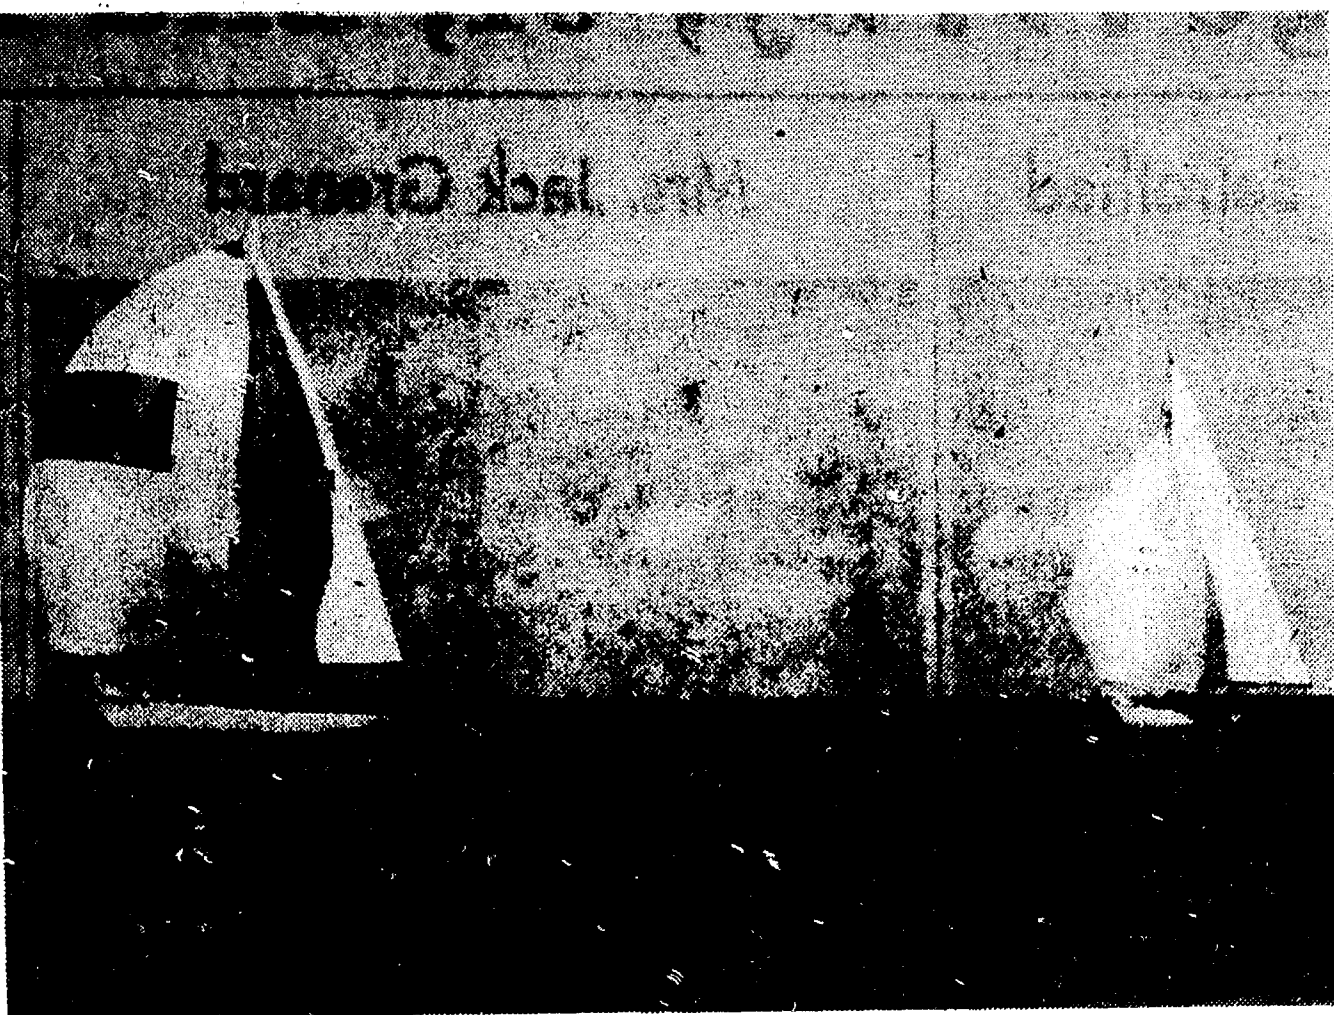

We have preached in this column for years, and have even written letters to Governor Williams, that there should be some sort of a boat operator's license requirement to operate an automobile.

How long do you think the secretary of state would allow you to drive your car on the highways without an operator's license? Just about as far as the first police station.

Why then must we put up with the situation that exists on the waterways of this state today. Why doesn't the Water Safety Commission recommend to the State Legislature that a law be passed requiring every one who takes the wheel of a boat, (any size), to have an operator's license.

The examination for this boat operator's license could be similar to that of the automobile operator's examination. It could also be taken at the police station, thereby eliminating extra personnel to handle the boat owners. The examination should be on the basic "rules of the road." If everyone knew these the majority of boating accidents could be avoided. It would not be a bad idea to have a first aid examination and this could serve just as great a purpose for both boat and car

Controversial Yacht Makes Debut

John Warnke's new 54-foot steel cutter "Great Lakes" sailed in her first regatta, staged by the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club on Saturday, August 16. She finished second in Class "A" and dropped to seventh on corrected time. A disappointment in her trial runs prior to the Mackinac race on July 12, her owner made structural revisions.

St. Paul Lakers Await Grid Call

The 1958 football season is just around the corner and head coach Eddie Lauer will welcome his St. Paul candidates on Monday, August 25, to issue practice equipment.

Seniors will report for their equipment on that day and will be followed by the Juniors on Tuesday, the Sophomores on Wednesday, the Freshmen on Thursday, and Friday by all those who couldn't make it on the mentioned days.

Last year's line coach Frank Brayton along with the new backfield coach Mel Perrone will be on hand to greet the players. Perrone previously has coached at St. Catherine's and at St. Mary's of Mount Clemens.

The 1958 season will be the first year in a new league for the Lakers and they will have their work cut out for them when they meet such larger schools as Servite, St. Ambrose and St. Anthony as well as five other new opponents.

After the 1957-58 basketball season St. Paul officials announced the school would abandon the East Side Second Division Parochial League because competition was not as good as the Lakers desired.

In football the Lakers will be forced to take their lumps, as all the other schools have larger enrollments to draw from. But in basketball and baseball the Lakers will be a serious title contender.

The opening game will be against Servite on September 21 on Servite's home gridiron.

Lochmoor Golfer Aces Hole Twice

Two holes-in-one within three weeks is the proud accomplishment of Dr. John J. Galvin, of Cadieux road.

He aced the 147-yard eighth hole at Lochmoor Club on July 24, then duplicated on the same hole on August 14.

operators. A little knowledge helps a lot when you get in trouble.

So many times have we seen youngsters operating boats with high powered outboard motors hanging on the transom. They don't realize what a dangerous weapon they are.

THINK THEY HAVE CONTROL. Too often we have seen boat owners turn the wheel of a boat over to a novice and let him steer. That's just what he does—STEER—until something gets in the way. Then he is lost and yelps for help and in most cases help comes too late.

Would you think of turning the wheel of your car over to your youngster while you take a nap in the back seat? Of course you wouldn't. There would be too much of a risk to your own neck. It's the same thing in a boat, but in case of a collision you can't walk away from the accident because the water is too thin.

It is high time someone got off his duff and got something going to protect the boatmen from the boatmen. A broadened training program would go a long way to meet this end.

We still think the licensing of boat operators is a good idea and very necessary to weed out the incompetent from the conscientious. The latter takes the time to educate himself in one of the numerous Power Squadron sponsored training classes. The former would never take the time unless he or she had to pass a test and obtain an operator's license before he could operate a boat in the State of Michigan.

New Senior Baseball Loop Witnesses Many Upsets

Upsets appear to be the order of the day in the newly organized Senior Baseball League. Last Sunday, August 17, the All-Star team, under the guidance of George Foster, suffered a 7-2 setback administered by manager Leo Collins' Vikings in the first game of a double header played on the Grosse Pointe High diamond.

George Oliver was the winning pitcher, who after allowing two runs early in the game, settled down to shut-out the losers.

Manager Jim Huntington saw his team pull the second game out of the fire in the last inning to beat Paul Blackburn's team 4-3. Huntington's team was trailing 3-0, going into the last inning and surprised the Blackburn outfit by pushing across 4 runs to give pitcher Dave Schwemmer the victory.

Beltz Belts Orlando
At Kerby Field on the same day the Beltz team really belted Orlando by a football score 23-14 behind pitcher Al Hillenbrand.

Results of games played during the week are as follows:

Crescent Sail Yacht Club

Crescent Sail Yacht Club was founded in the Fall of 1932 by "a group of young men desirous of forming a club which would offer sailing opportunities to men of moderate circumstances." A constitution was drawn up, Flag officers elected, and Board of Directors appointed. The membership fee was set at $10 and yearly dues at $6. The name of "Corinthian" was adopted but "Corinthian" was dropped in a short time to Crescent Sail Yacht Club because the old Corinthian Yacht Club was attempting to survive.

The first club site was the J. B. Book property. In April 1933 C. S. Y. C. was accepted for membership in the I. L. Y. A. and on July 1, 1933 it held its first regatta with 61 boats entered with everyone guests of S. C. S. Y. C. for the evening.

The Star Fleet held a series for club championship. Toward the middle of the year Snipes were taken in as a group and also sailed a series for club honors. Club's Social activities consisted of dances and bridge parties with various members acting as hosts.

Regular monthly meetings were held with instruction on seamanship and navigation by Stan Paddford (still active in this club as other yachting activities).

The first year ended with 55 members on the roster and the club in a good financial position. In March 1934 the club had to give up its first home, the J. B. Book property, in favor of the new tenant a showboat (the former Promise), Commissioner Busch, of the Department of Parks and Blvds. granted permission to use Memorial Basin as temporary mooring place. A new club site had to be found. At one time an option was taken on a 300 ft. lumber schooner. In the midst of this search for a home Commodore Burns died which was a great loss to the club and caused the cancellation of the planned regatta.

Henry B. Joy agreed to the lease of his boathouse property to the club and approval of the Board of Trustees of Grosse Pointe Farms was obtained principally through efforts of "Ted" Barbier.

Much work had to be done to alter and repair the boathouse for club purposes. It was accomplished by typical Crescent means, namely everybody pitched in and worked, donated, borrowed materials and in July 1934 the fleet was towed to the Joy harbor and Crescent Sail Yacht Club had at last a place to expand.

From this beginning through the intervening years Crescent has expanded its facilities by cooperative efforts. It is a part of each member's obligation to spend at least two days each year working on the maintenance and improvement of the club property. This is a minimum requirement which is fulfilled willingly by the members, particularly the board of directors and flag officers who devote many days of their time to keeping the club functioning.

Crescent has been active in the D. R. Y. A. and I. L. Y. A. since its early days. It sponsors a D. R. Y. A. regatta each year which attracts 125 to 150 or more boats of all sizes. Many other sailing events are held in cooperation with other local clubs such as the Kendall Series for Lightings which is an invitational regatta sponsored by the Detroit Yacht Club whose past commodore Kendall donated the perpetual trophy for the event in 1938 to stimulate in this class of boats when they were just becoming known.

Crescent has sponsored many outstanding small boat racing events but probably its biggest undertaking to date was the Lightning Class International in 1954 which was brought to Detroit when Crescent's Commodore Henry J. Cawthra won the championship the year before. Over 100 top boats from all over the United States and Canada plus a crew from Hawaii competed in a four day regatta.

From a humble beginning in 1933 to a healthy silver anniversary in 1958 Crescent Sail Yacht Club has fulfilled its purpose as a "club which would offer sailing opportunities to men of moderate means."

Callie McGuffin, 64, of 677 Parker, Detroit, was found guilty and fined for being drunk and disorderly by Judge C. Joseph Belanger on Friday, August 15. McGuffin paid $20 rather than serve five days in the Wayne County jail. He was arrested in the alley at Jefferson and Wayburn.

Farms Finishes Swim Classes

Grosse Pointe Farms Pier wound up its swimming instruction with Red Cross tests for those qualified. The following received their Red Cross cards:—

Beginners, Cards, Neil Sweeney and Paul Frank; Intermediate cards, Terry Baxter, Sue Desimile, Mimi Kolojeski, Lynn Kreighoff, Dick Lord, Toby Murphy and George Wilson; Swimmers cards, Martha Baxter, Mary Beth Dean, Kathy Moxley, Barb Rochford and Pat Stillwell.

Throughout the summer the Farms had 600 students enrolled in the swimming classes. Many of these students could not take their tests because they were on vacation.

Next year the Farms will again offer swimming, lifesaving, water ballet, and possibly diving, if the lake is dredged.

President Grant House Relocated

Visitors to the Michigan State Fair, August 29 through September 7, will see the home of Ulysses S. Grant, with its exterior partially restored for the first time, and in a new location on the Fairgrounds.

The one-time Detroit home of Grant eventually is to be completely restored as it looked back in 1849 when the future President of the United States lived there—and worked in Detroit—as a young lieutenant in the U.S. Army.

The year 1849, by the way, is the exact date of the founding of the Michigan State Fair—109 years ago.

In 1936, the home was still on its original site at 1369 East Fort Street and when it was doomed to destruction by a new development, the Michigan Mutual Liability Company saved it from the wreckers' axe. The then president of the company, P. W. A. Fitzsimmons, had a great admiration for the man who led the Union forces to victory and so he arranged for the purchase of the home and its presentation to the State of Michigan as a historical memorial.

It was moved to the State Fair Grounds that same year and in the next 22 years has been visited by 35,000 people during each of the annual State Fairs although located on an out-of-the-way spot.

This year the home was moved to a high traffic area in the Picnic Grove of the State Fair and steps taken to restore the home exterior again through the financial cooperation of Michigan Mutual. Through the years, occupants had "modernized" the home but now the porch will be removed, shutters added and other alterations made to show the home as it was when Grant lived there.

One of the restorations will be an exact duplicate of the picket fence which originally surrounded the home. It will take several years to complete the restoration.

Since 1946, the Grant House project has been undertaken by the Detroit Historical Museum and members of the Detroit Historical Society continue to serve as hostesses.

Be Extra Careful During Holidays

The Detroit Red Cross chapter safety services department is suggesting BE EXTRA CAREFUL as the family watch-word over the coming Labor Day holiday weekend.

Fred K. Cody, safety service chairman of the chapter, says that the tremendous increase in the number of persons participating in water sports and the current popularity of boats of all types enhances the importance of Red Cross teaching of swimming, boating and first aid as community services.

Last year the Detroit chapter issued 27,289 certificates to people successfully completing requirements in categories ranging from beginning swimmer through life saving and basic survival courses.

Cody says many of these certificates were earned through cooperation with departments of parks and recreation and schools in a year-round program where Red Cross-certified instructors teach prescribed courses and determine pupils' eligibility for certification.

Others were earned during summer-camp periods. In addition, 156 swimmers who had completed all of these courses, with additional training, qualified as instructors, and 28 who had not yet reached their 18th birthdays, became instructor's aides.

Red Cross-certified life guards and/or instructors, many of them volunteers, are on duty at most public pools and beaches, 809 currently holding certificates issued through the Detroit chapter.

Red Cross first aid courses are being scheduled for early fall, to be conducted at chapter headquarters, 153 E. Elizabeth street, and in many community locations. Location and time of classes may be learned by calling WO 1-3900.

In advanced swimming, first aid and boating safety classes, artificial respiration methods are taught, including infant resuscitation.

Safe boating demonstrations will be given throughout the winter, open-water classes in the spring. Safe boating certificates were issued this year to 99, sailing certificates to 28, and canoeing certificates to 207. Five persons were issued small craft instructor certificates in boating, nine in sailing, and 12 in canoeing. As in swimming, these certificates permit the holder to teach his skill at any public or private beach or pool.

Cody says: "There will always be accidents as long as there are untrained and careless people using our waterways. Red Cross teaching of skills, its emphasis on safety, and its cooperation with all other organizations which promote safety and water-related knowledge, are helping to make the Michigan Water Wonderland a really wonderful place in which to enjoy oneself."

Mrs. Burgess Tours Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Mexico—August 14—Mrs. Charles J. Burgess of 920 Beaconsfield avenue, Grosse Pointe 30, Michigan is gathering first-hand impressions of historic and contemporary Mexico this month, as member of a special Christian social action travel seminar sponsored by the Council for Christian Social Action, United Church of Christ.

Mrs. Burgess, along with other social action leaders from Congregational Christian and Evangelical and Reformed churches over the United States, arrived in Mexico City August 8 and, by August 27 when the tour ends, will have traveled some 1,500 miles by chartered bus, considering problems and Mexican education, religion, economic and social conditions, and U.S.-Mexican relations.

Choice of Mexico as focal point for study is in line with the 1958-59 home missions study topic of the National Council of Churches on "North American Neighbors." It is anticipated that tour members, upon their return, will be enriching their local churches and communities over the country through illustrated lectures and seminars.

In addition to visiting historic Mexican museums, the national palace, shrines and archaeological sites, and other cultural items of uniqueness, the social action leaders are having opportunity for personal conferences with responsible Mexican officials in a number of fields.

Four to Teach Courses At Wayne U. Center

Four Pointe area residents will teach courses at Wayne State University's Materials Management Center this year.

Those who will be teaching and the courses they will instruct are: Clarence E. Bradley, of 939 Lakepointe, job shop management and estimating; Hughit Moltzau, of 1422 Berkshire road, making sound supervisory decisions; Donald G. Neill, of 1621 New-castle, materials handling problems; and Charles Thiede, of 1410 Berkshire road, management of tooling problems.

Established at the request of industry in the spring of 1952, the Center provides a practical blend of education and training in the fields of management science and technology for men and women who are called on to assume important responsibilities in commerce and industry.

Through its comprehensive program of study and its top-flight instructional staff, recruited from industry and the regular faculty of the University, the Center provides an educational service tailored to the needs of modern business.

Headlines of the Week

Saturday, August 16

A NORTHEAST AIRLINES plane with 33 persons aboard crashed and burst into flames Friday night in an attempted landing in fog at Nantucket Airport.

The twin-engine DC-3, en route from New York, crashed about a mile short of the runway during an instrument landing. Witnesses said the craft burst into flames almost immediately and cut a path 500 feet through a wooded area.

23 of the 33 passengers were killed, with many remaining on the critical list. Among the dead was Gordon Dean, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

COURT-APPOINTED monitors called Friday for a union trial of Teamster Vice President Owen (Bert) Brennan, buddy and business partner of James R. Hoffa.

The monitors also recommended that Hoffa, Teamster president, cut himself off completely from the trial because of his business deals with Brennan, some of which are being investigated.

The monitors recommended Brennan's expulsion "on the ground of misappropriation, and on the ground that he has violated his oath of loyalty and his oath of office; that he has engaged in conduct unbecoming a member and activities which tend to bring the union into disrepute, and that he has committed acts which are inconsistent with the duties, obligations and fealty to members of the union and which violate sound trade union principle."

AN OPTIMISTIC PICTURE of America's economic future was sketched Friday by General Motors President Harlow H. Curtice. He told of "indications that the country had passed the bottom of the recession," and he predicted a car market of 5½ million units in 1959 and more than eight million by 1965.

Sunday, August 17

CONFERENCES are in progress in several Middle Eastern cities to complete details for creation of a United States of Arabia within the next month, well-informed sources reveal.

Efforts are being made to persuade the young King of Jordan to turn over the government to a nationalist board that would vote on 1) Federation of Jordan with the United Arab Republic. 2) Union with the UAR, or 3) remaining independent.

Representatives of Saudi Arabia are in Cairo conducting preliminary negotiations for federation.

THE SENATE Saturday night passed a 75-0 roll call vote on a bill increasing Social Security benefits and taxes in what it hoped was veto-proof form.

The legislation, which now goes back to the House for acceptance of Senate changes, carried a 7 percent increase in benefits, plus increased taxes to finance them.

If enacted, as seems assured in this election year, the benefits would be reflected in checks going to retired persons next Feb. 3.

A RECORD 374,500 Detroit children will be in school when classes resume after Labor Day in public and parochial schools. Superintendent Samuel M. Brownell has predicted an enrollment of 287,000 in public schools alone—up 5,500 from last September.

Monday, August 18

HERMAN KIERDORF surrendered to the Oakland County Prosecutor's office at 10 p.m. Sunday. His surrender ended a 13-day search by seven law enforcement agencies.

He was wanted for questioning about the fire which fatally burned his nephew, Frank Kierdorf, 56-year-old Flint Teamster business agent. But Herman, 68, said he would not be able to contribute anything to the solution of the case.

He said he does not think Frank was connected with the arson and still believes Frank's story that he was burned by two men who took him from his home August 3.

AMERICA'S first moon rocket exploded about 10 miles in the sky Sunday morning—77 seconds after blastoff. This means that another lunar probe attempt probably won't come until Sept. 14, when the moon will again be about 222,000 miles from the earth.

While the odds were all against getting the 88-foot-long rocket into orbit around the moon, they had hoped that all three stages of the missile would fire and drive it up to the 25,000-mile-an-hour speed necessary to escape earth's gravity.

Instead, trouble developed in the first-stage engine—a modified Thor intermediate-range ballistic missile and the 52-ton rocket exploded 77 seconds after its takeoff.

THE PENOBSCOT Building light failed Sunday night. Calls flooded the city from Canadian citizens who missed the big red ball flashing on and off through the night. While the light is not an official landmark for planes, the various airports are always notified when it is shut off. The company which maintains the light assured it would be back in service by Monday night.

Tuesday, August 19

THE AFL-CIO ordered its affiliates Monday to end all dealings, formal or informal, with James R. Hoffa's Teamsters.

The directive completed the exiling of the huge truck union which was expelled from the AFL-CIO in December on grounds of corrupt leadership. It drew a sharp line between clean unions and corrupt unions and said there could be no association between the two.

THE FEDERAL COURT OF APPEALS Monday reversed an order which would have postponed racial integration of Little Rock schools until 1961.

A source close to Gov. Orval E. Faubus predicted that he will call the state Legislature into special session this week, to cope with the Court's decision.

The 6-1 vote came 18 days before the scheduled reopening (Sept. 2) of the school where integration was troop-enforced last year, reversing the ruling of Federal Judge Harry J. Lemley who, at the school board's request, suspended integration at Central High School to allow for a "cooling-off" period.

CONGRESS COMPLETED action on a farm bill in its adjournment drive Monday, but major labor and housing legislation was killed in the House. The Senate passed, by voice vote, and sent to President Eisenhower an eleven-hour measure aimed at preventing sharp cuts in cotton and rice acreage next year.

Wednesday, August 20

THE PEOPLE of Arkansas, who backed Governor Orval E. Faubus' adamant stand on school integration by overwhelmingly voting him a third term, Tuesday awaited his reaction to a legal development that would thwart his will. He is expected to summon a special legislative session to handle the issues posed by Monday's U.S. Appellate Court ruling against a 2½-year integration delay.

FULL OF CHARM A frantic call to Grosse Pointe police, from Jacobson's store in "The Village," on Tuesday, August 5, reported five-year-old Laurence Amterger, of 138 Mapleton road, was choking seriously. He was rushed to Bon Secours Hospital where the impediment proved to be a small charm which the boy had swallowed along with a mouthful of cracker jack. What a prize!

Farms Police Chief to Retire

Farms Police Chief Walter R. (Tex) Hoyt will have to retire when he reaches the mandatory retirement age of 60 on October 21.

The chief's petition to the Farms council, read during a meeting held on Monday, August 18, requesting an extension of service to July 1, 1959, was denied by the council, on the grounds that the police department head could not give a good enough reason for the extension.

Under the rules adopted by the Retirement Commission on April 12, 1950, applications for extension in service of Department heads must be approved by the council.

Chief Hoyt is a veteran of World War I and II, serving as a private with the Ninth Mounted Engineers, Camp Courchesne, Fort Bliss, Tex., during the first war; and was with the Ninth Naval District's permanent Shore Patrol, with the rating of specialist second class during the second. After each war he received an honorable discharge.

He joined the Farms Police Department on June 4, 1929, and was a patrolman when he took a leave of absence to join the Navy on July 18, 1943. He returned to the department on January 1, 1946.

On October 21, 1948, Chief Hoyt was elevated to his present position, taking over officially about eight days later, succeeding Chief Joseph H. Trombley, who retired on March 1, 1948. Two other officers of the department were acting chiefs, prior to Chief Hoyt's assuming the high office.

Chief Hoyt is married to the former Elizabeth Reno of the Pointe. The couple have four children, a son, Robert, Mrs. Marian Forster, Mrs. Patricia Dewar, and Barbara Hoyt. There are eight grandchildren.

The chief is making plans to retire to Algonac, Mich., but has no definite plans on how he is going to live out the retirement.

He is a member of the Grosse Pointe American Legion Memorial Home of Grosse Pointe, 2018 Mack avenue.

He is also a member of the International Chiefs of Police, Michigan Chiefs of Police and the Southeastern Chiefs, of Police Associations.

FREE BLOOD TESTS

A three-in-one blood test that shows a person's blood type, his Rh classification and indicates the possibility of his being a diabetic will be offered to visitors at the Michigan State Fair this year by the Michigan Department of Health in cooperation with the Michigan State Medical Society.

Technicians at the two agencies' booth will take a small amount of blood from each person desiring to have his blood tested. On this one sample all three tests will be run. Results will be reported through the individual's physician, and no charge will be made for the tests.

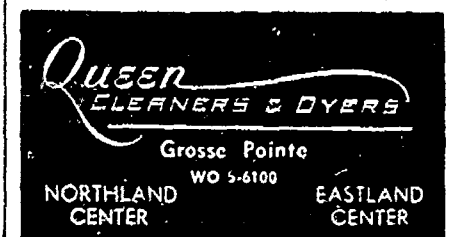

Contests Held By Sail Club

The Grosse Pointe Sail Club held its Power Boat contests last Sunday, August 17. The sailors of the club, headed by William McGraw, acted as judges and presented three problems to the skippers.

Chairman of the contest committee, James McCarthy, revealed the three phases of the challenge: a predicted log contest, a piloting problem, and 20 true and false questions.

Charles D. Todd, Jr., Vice Commodore of the Grosse Pointe Sail Club, with his "Wayno," won first place with a total of 147 points. Second place winner was Earl Blohm, in his "Isabelle II," and Leo Cowling, in "Sue Ann," came in third. The 3 winning skippers were all presented with silver bowl trophies by Commodore William J. Tuscany.

The club will convene this Saturday, August 23, for a steak roast which will be held at the Grosse Pointe Park Pier.

By PAT TALBOT

While Washington and his Continental troops were wintering at Valley Forge, old Henry Hudson was juggling as proprietor of a fabulous hotel on the shores of Lake St. Clair where the Dodges' yacht Delphine is moored today.

Old Henry was quite a character and often was in trouble with the local constable. But his wife, chate-laine of the large log hotel, was the real talk of the neighborhood. When the law came to reprimand her for scandalous carryings on in her husband's place of business she was apt to pour boiling water on the poor law enforcer. She was a huge woman, always barefooted in the summer, and pitted with small pox marks.

The Hudsons were ornery but they were hospitable. They planted a lovely cherry orchard and visitors were welcome to pick the fruit.

Merritt Fisher, a Detroit grocer who had married a Ten Eyck girl (her father was sheriff of Wayne County) owned the acreage in 1850. He built a brick saloon three stories high and 100 feet across with bricks made on his property.

His brick kiln supplied many of the French farmers. In 1861 when the guns at Manassas were booming, Fisher died but his wife carried on the road house. Then she leased it to Proctor Weaver, a saloon keeper of some repute.

The Grosse Pointe Democratic Club met at the Weaver place and held giant rallies. There was a 75 foot hickory tree to which they tied their banners. In 1865 General George McClellan's poster floated from the tree as the GP campaigners gathered to tout their candidate.

In 1886 six prominent summer colonists bought the acreage from the Fisher estate and built the Country Club which was famous for miles about. But the residents missed the road house where they could eat a delectable fish, frog or chicken dinner of a Sunday for 35c a plate.

In 1929 the late Horace Dodge (who, it was rumored, was turned down in his bid for membership in the exclusive club, bought the old Hudson property and in 1932-33 his wife built the imposing mansion which stands there today.

In the meantime the Country Club had moved to its present site and famous architect Albert Kahn designed its gracious Tudor facade. Nothing remains to show where the Hudsons reigned a century and a half ago, when Commodore Grant was building his castle at the foot of Moran road, but their name and memory is inscribed in Pointe history.

"I've got 'bees in my belfry,'" lamented Mrs. James J. Phelan Jr., who called the NEWS last week in her search for a "bee remover."

The Phelans have been redecorating their Moross road home in preparation for the reception to follow daughter Terry's (Ellen Skae Phelan) September 6 marriage to David M. Hamilton.

Discovery of bees in the attic halted all upstairs operations; the bees simply had to go before the painters could continue.

Attractive Mrs. Alex Wrigley wore an effective white lace sheath over pink underskirt, slim straps gracing her tanned shoulders, at a recent club fete. Great red roses applied down the left bodice side, ending in rose cluster at the waistline and glimpsed through black chiffon outer garment distinguished Mrs. George Renaud's black costume. Crepe and chiffon skirts came together at harem hem.

Mrs. Gordon Birgbauer... attending a shower for her prospective daughter-in-law, Margaret Poosch, of Dearborn, who will marry Ronald Birgbauer on Saturday... attired in yellow linen sheath, neckline and waist banded in matching satin. Her chapeau, a large brimmed yellow straw trimmed in yellow and shaded melon roses.

Beige linen frock, the tiered skirt accented by large white pearl buttons, was the choice of Mrs. James Forster, shower hostess. Her close-fitting net cloche was completely covered by tiny black flowers. Bands of Roman stripes accented the toes of her black silk shoes with pointed toes.

Mrs. Glenn Carpenter wears a lovely white linen shirtwaist dress, the Peter Pan collar edged in blue with a blue monogram. Matching blue outlines the button strip from collar to hemline.

Luncheon guest Mrs. Stanley Smith donned yellow linen sheath with matching sweater. Shallow horizontal tucks covered the bodice and the narrow band around the neck folded into a soft bow at the back.

A full-skirted white barred dimity was fetching on Mrs. William Coddington. 'Twas banded in fagoting with collar outlined by narrow lace ruffle. Her bag was a shiny white straw "honey pot" splashed with pastel butterflies.

PILFERINGS

Tom was going to spend the week with his grandmother. His mother, packing the six-year-old's clothes in one bag and catcher's mitt, ball and toys in another, suggested, "You might take along a book or two."

He opened his closet door and came out with several books, one of which was entitled "Child Guidance."

"Oh, yes I do," he stated firmly. "Grandma still believes in spanking."

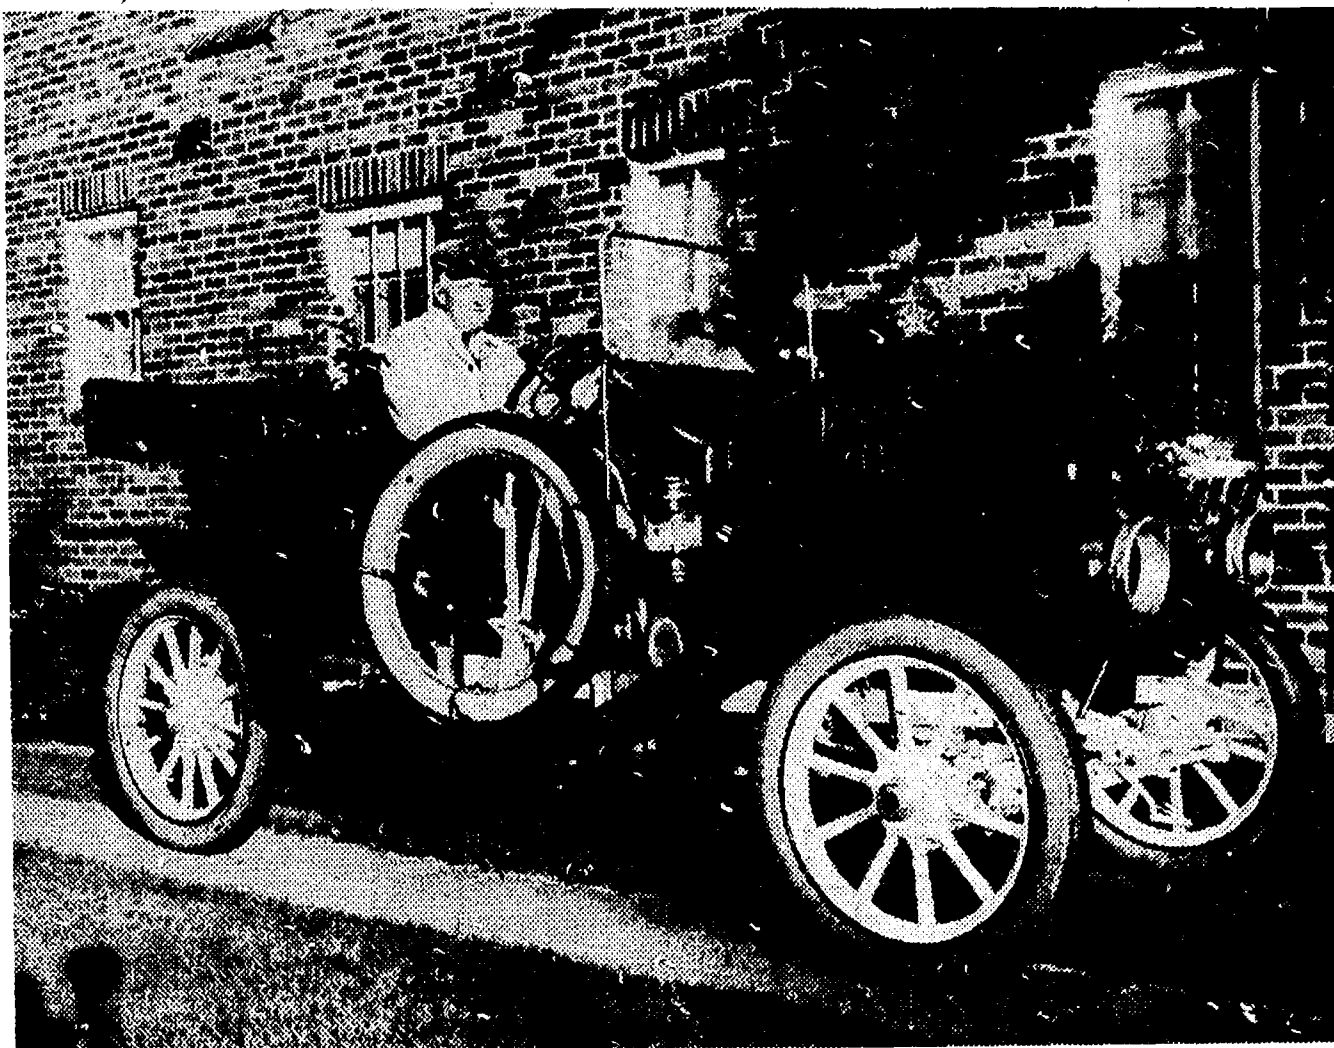

At the height of his fame, William Makepeace Thackeray, the great British novelist, became a candidate for Parliament. His Tory opponent, Viscount Monck, was a good-natured nobleman. He was also a warm admirer of Thackeray's books.

During the early stages of the campaign, the two candidates met by chance in the street. They talked pleasantly about current events for several minutes.

As they parted, Thackeray genially repeated the popular slogan, "Well, may the best man win!"

"Oh, I hope not," replied Viscount Monck, with a courteous bow.

MR. PAUL R. BALDWIN OF WHITTIER ROAD

By Kitty Marriot

September will find the pioneer spirit in full bloom right here in Whittier road, when Mr. and Mrs. Paul Baldwin settle themselves in one of their several antique cars and head for Bretton Woods, N. H., on the annual Glidden Tour.

The Glidden Tour is the national trip which that growing clan of vintage car enthusiasts enjoys each year. Antique auto owners from across the country converge on one locality for a week-long meet.

Early in the century the original Glidden Tour was introduced; from 1903 to 1913, the tour served only to demonstrate the crying need for good roads on which the "horseless carriages" could fulfill their potential.

In 1946, the tour was revived, thanks largely to interest stimulated by singer James Melton, and it has been growing in popularity to this day.

Glidden Tour

Mr. Baldwin, who describes himself as a novice in the antique car field—he picked up his first old car only a little over two years ago, although he had toyed with the idea for about 15 years—took his glossy 1922 Packard on the last two Glidden tours to Virginia and Indiana.

This time, he will take the handsome maroon and black touring car, a 1918 Packard. Actually, the big Packard Twin Sixes look much alike, have many of the same features.

"They didn't make changes as fast in those days," chuckles the Pointer.

1918 Packard

The seven passenger 1918 car has two jump seats in back, a top which goes down and two oval glass rear windows set in canvas. Most astonishing feature is the folding windshield for occupants of the REAR seat. The three-part windshield set behind the front seat—slides back a distance of three feet to shield passengers in the rear seat—and an attached canvas apron fits across their laps to button them in securely against the elements.

Way, way up front on the auto hood sits a motor meter, a bit like a thermometer, which shows a warning red when the water temperature rises too high.

One variation in the 1922 model is the double backseat windshield with folding glass sides to shield passengers in front too.

Toy Tonneau

Mr. Baldwin's 1909 Cadillac, a rich deep blue trimmed in cream, resembles nothing so much as a royal carriage with its ornate door handles and double step which assists passengers to reach the rear seat.

A good arm is a necessity with this "Caddie," which starts with a turn of the cream-colored crank. This toy tonneau was really the "most" in its day; the rear seat could be removed to make it a runabout or two-seater.

It's a right-hand drive with standard shift; spark and throttle levers center the steering wheel, creamy hand brake and gearshift are outside of the car body between the body and running board. And that spare tire lashed to the side is NOT an ornament.

Accessories Galore

Gold kerosene lamps flank the front seat and the golden bulb horn, which resembles a French horn in a band, is beside the driver's seat. There's a cut-out pedal for the muffler, which enabled the gay blade of yesteryear to make more noise, as if he needed to! A small carbide tank, also set on the side of the car, allowed one to "whomp up"

E. C. White Company Celebrating 50th Year

On Saturday of this week E. C. White one of the area's best known furniture dealers, will round out his 50th year in business, having founded the former Gardner-White Co., on August 24, 1908.

Today his furniture company is called the E. C. White Co. "The Old House" and is located at 26717 Little Mack, in St. Clair Shores.

Born in Bedford, Ohio and having spent three years with the Cleveland Trust Co., "Gene," as he is known to his countless friends, came to Detroit at the age of 20.

While serving as president of the Mack Avenue Business Men's Ass'n., some 30 years ago, he worked to get Mack avenue widened and paved. It was then only a muddy alley from St. Jean avenue to Grosse Pointe.

Active in many civic affairs, he served as chairman of the 22-group organization which brought about Detroit's City Airport, then the most conveniently situated airport in the country.

Mr. White served ten years as president of the Michigan Retail Furniture Ass'n., and many years as a director of the National Furniture Ass'n. He is now in his 71st year and is still active in his furniture business.

one's own gas for the gas headlights. Today's gas station attendant would search a long time before he found the gas tank cap under the front passenger seat.

Another smart-looking member of the Baldwin collection is his 1929 black Packard. Its features include a roomy rear seat with shades on the back window and two side windows, and side mount tire wells trimmed in silver.

Naturally, summer is the best season for restored cars and for their congenial owners. The Baldwins have attended antique car meets this year in Granville, O., and Lake Forest, Ill., as well as any number of one-day affairs in the state and participated in parades such as the one marking St. Clair's centennial observance.

Michigan Tour

The last week of July found Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin taking the Michigan tour to Ludington accompanied by their granddaughter, Carol Brock, 7. The Baldwins have a daughter, Jane (Mrs. William Brock) in Sandusky, O., and another granddaughter, Ellen, 4.

"Bulb Horn," national magazine of the Veterans Motor Car Club of America, and "Goggles and Gauntlets," publication of the Great Lakes region unit of VMCCA, are popular reading matter in the Baldwin household.

Mr. Baldwin is also a member of the Horseless Carriage Club of America and the Antique Automobile Club of America. On the business front, he handles real estate licensing for the Michigan Corporation Securities Commission.

Mrs. Baldwin, who espouses golf as her hobby, confesses that her golfing colleagues are bewildered these days to find her missing from the greens whenever the antique cars take to the road.

Right now, her wardrobe plans involve a long white skirt, vintage blouse and racoon coat—she's getting a costume together to match that 1918 car.

Woman Seeks Lost Bracelet

Mrs. Helen Schoenherr of 115 Stephens road, asked Park police to aid her in locating a yellow gold charm bracelet, valued at $350, which she lost some time about August 8, between Beaconsfield at Jefferson, and her home.

The woman described the bracelet as having a double link, with a charm watch bearing the name GUBELIN on one side and her initials, HHS, on the other. Also there is a large yellow gold medal with an image of the Sacred Heart on one side, and one of the Virgin Mary, on the other side.

Any one finding the item can return it to Mrs. Schoenherr, or take it to the Park police station, behind the Municipal Building, Jefferson and Maryland.

ICEBOX GETS HOT

A refrigerator motor on fire in the basement of the Alexander Wiener home, at 6 Woodland place, last Tuesday, August 12, summoned both City trucks to the rescue. Firemen pulled the box's plug and doused the blaze, returning to the station a brief 12 minutes later.

Tires Pave Way For Speed Marks

A steady succession of new auto speed records, ranging up through 265 miles per hour, has been set by Americans at the world's major tracks during the past year, a recent review of racing records discloses. Drivers and engineers attribute their achievements, in large part, to recent improvements in tires which have made it safer to approach the full power of modern engines.

The 500-mile race at Monza, Italy, is a case in point. For two years prior to the 1957 event, European drivers refused to compete because they considered the track too fast, rugged, and dangerous for both cars and drivers. Three-inch vertical separations between huge concrete slabs on the banked turns were a hazard which they thought would be too much for tries at speeds approaching 150 miles per hour.

Yet American drivers on American tires, entering the race for the first time, hit velocities of close to 200 miles per hour to set a new world record of 160 miles per hour average speed. This spring they raised the average speed to a torrid 166 miles per hour.

Both years, drivers were forced out of competition when cars were shattered by road shock—but their nylon cord tires came through both races without a single failure.

Tire engineers cite the introduction of nylon in racing tires in 1954, and subsequent developments which have allowed them to take full advantage of the fiber's superior strength, as a major factor in bringing about the greatest increases in speeds in racing history.

A survey shows that over the past year records have been broken at 11 top American tracks and at Monza. At the nation's two special speed-run competitions at Daytona Beach, Fla., and Salt Flats, Utah, 13 records were broken at each event. All these records were established on nylon cord tires. Further developments in engines, frames, and tires are expected to result in more record-breaking performances late this summer.

One significant result of this high-speed performance of racing tires is its translation into passenger tires. The five major tire manufacturers point out that the tires they specifically recommend for highway driving at high sustained speeds all incorporate nylon construction.

Too many people pride themselves on their ability to understand things without giving them a thought.

4 Cases Heard In City Court

A relatively meager docket faced City Judge Douglas L. Paterson last Tuesday, August 12, for the bi-monthly Traffic Court session.

Called first on the agenda was Frank A. Condino, of 4398 Euclid avenue, in Detroit. Charged with a stop law violation, Condino failed to appear in court and a warrant for his arrest was subsequently issued.

A first offense for Mrs. Elsa L. Soderbach, of 454 Shelbourne, was treated kindly by the Judge. Charged with entering an intersection without due caution, he found her guilty, fined her $10, and suspended the sentence.

John M. Penberthy, of 8900 East Jefferson avenue, on a plea of guilty to car not under control violation, was fined $20.
