TEAMSTER'S UNION head James R. Hoffa said Wednesday that his powerful organization will try to coagulate 10 million city, county and state employes.

The drive will get under way in full force by late January or early February, Hoffa said. He held a press conference in Miami Beach where his union's executive board has been holding a week-long meeting.

The organizing drive will be aimed at "practically every policeman and fireman and municipal employe in the country," the controversial president said. He refused to pinpoint where the money would come from to finance the massive job.

TWO FORMER MEMBERS of a curious religious cult were identified Wednesday night by detectives as the men who dynamited the sect's headquarters in Chatsworth, Calif., killing nine and possibly 10 persons.

The dynamiters are believed to have died in the blast. Other victims included two children and the cult's (known as the Fountain of the World movement) bearded, barefoot leader, 47-year-old Krishna Venta.

The bombed building had two levels housing offices above and a dormitory below. Eight of the colony's 53 cultists were known to have been sleeping in the building.

THE LITTLE TOWN of Oswego, N. Y., hard hit by earlier storms this week, had 16 more inches of snow Wednesday, completely paralyzing the city of 23,000. It reported an average snow depth of more than six and a half feet and drifts of more than 20 feet. Damage was estimated at one million dollars after the roofs of several large businesses and industries and some homes and barns collapsed.

A FEDERAL COURT threatened Thursday to oust James R. Hoffa as president of the Teamsters unless he and other bosses of the giant union quit blocking and obstructing recommended reforms.

F. Dickinson Letts, 83-year-old district judge, directed Hoffa and other Teamster chiefs to obey orders of court-named monitors to accomplish a general housecleaning of the 1½-million-member union.

In effect, Letts armed the three-man monitor board with power to enforce its cleanup orders. In Miami Beach, where Hoffa is attending a meeting with the Teamsters International Executive Board, the union head challenged "We will appeal it all the way."

IN RUSSIA, another powerful union, the Soviet declared Thursday night that any Western attempt to 'break through' to West Berlin by force would be considered an act of war by all the Warsaw Pact nations.

In an official statement issued by the Tass news agency, Russia attacked the West for delaying on Soviet proposals for "normalizing" Berlin. It said nothing remains for Russia to do but end the occupation of Berlin unilaterally if the West will not negotiate in a "business-like manner."

Authoritative reports Saturday said the U. S. had been on the verge of sending tanks to free an Army truck convoy held up by the East Germans last month.

SOARING RAMBLER sales have made necessary an immediate increase by one-third in American Motors Corp.'s car-making facilities, president George Romney announced Thursday.

A $10,150,000 program will be completed for the start of 1960 model production next fall, but most will be accomplished in time to bring big output increases by spring.

Children Display True Christmas Spirit

—Picture by Fred Runnells

The children in Mrs. Parent's Third Grade at the Maire School feel that Christmas has more meaning when they give something to someone in need, or lacking attention and affection. The boys and girls chose the patients at the United State Public Health Service (Marine) Hospital, and brought gaily wrapped gifts for these men who are mostly far from home on Christmas Day. The Gray Ladies of the Red Cross supplied a list of suitable presents. Helping get the gifts ready for delivery are, left to right:—JAMES SCHLACHTER, LINDA KORDAS, NORMA CHAMPINE, BRIAN KEOGH and SUSAN RADCLIFFE.

Annual Christmas Program For Whole Community At Memorial at 4:30

The Annual Christmas Program at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center, featuring the tree lighting and a visit from Santa Claus, will be held this Sunday, December 21.

The program will commence at 4:30 p.m. with the first performance of a puppet show and a play by the children's Theater given at that time. A second performance will be repeated at 6 o'clock, following the 5:30 tree lighting ceremoney.

Santa Claus will pass out candy canes to all the children, and the Grosse Pointe Men's Chorus will accompany

10,370 Students On School Rolls

The total enrollment in the Grosse Pointe Public Schools, at the end of November, was 10.370. This represents a decrease of 16 under the previous month—but an increase of 382, or 3.8 percent over that of a corresponding date one year ago.

The enrollment in the elementary schools was 5,884. The junior high school figures totaled 2,293 and Grosse Pointe High School enroiled 2,181 in November of this year.

Project of Garden Council Expected to Make Pointe Bright With Yule Lighting

Volunteers to Take Pictures of Outstanding Decorations And Effects to Make File for Use In Future Years

The nippy air and recent snow are inspiring residents to hasten their outdoor Christmas displays. Every day more wreaths or canes or swags are appearing on doorways to add to the festive air in our shopping districts—soon the Yuletide lights will be brightening our residential streets.

The Grosse Pointe Garden Club Council hopes that the outstanding lighting and decorative effects which were highlighted last year will be repeated so that the Men's Committee and other camera enthusiasts may be able to photograph them for a file of colored slides for future use.

Last week the requirements for these 2x2 colored slides were outlined. The street and number of each subject taken must be included, as well as name and address of donor. Cost of accepted slides will be paid by Council. Send or deliver to Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lake Shore Drive, care of Grosse Pointe Garden Club Council. Pictures of Outdoor Christmas Decorations may be taken during the day or at night.

Suggested Categories

For residents and photographers alike, the following categories are again suggested: Traditional, Contemporary, Religious, Child-Appealing. Give consideration to balance, harmony, scale, continuation of one motif, use of floods or spots, colored bulbs, design, light and shadw.

Remember, a single tree or doorway, a lighted window or a lighted interior may better express the spirit and warmth of the Nativity season than a too elaborate decorative display. Often the most joyous or reverend beauty is found in the small simple homes.

At a recent lecture held at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, sponsored by the Council, many valuable suggestions for safe and beautiful Christmas lighting were given. Much advancement has been made in effective equipment at reasonable prices, in the last few years. Be sure all outdoor equipment is marked "weather proof." Par lights are used for floods (wide beam) and spots (concentrated). There is a cast iron type, one with spike and with bulb way inside, one with a mounting for attachment to side of house and one with open head which should

Joy Carillon Presented to G. P. Farms

Familiar Bells Will Ring at New Location on Water Plant Grounds

Since 1929 Farms residents have been thrilled by the peal of bells from the Henry B. Joy estate on Lakeshore road. The bells have been stilled for some months since the death of Mrs. Joy last winter, but they will ring again.

The Joy family has given the precious carillon to the City of Grosse Pointe Farms so this soft version of London's Big Ben will continue to chime, and remind Pointers of the lovely lady who had them built many years ago.

Built for Estate

On one of their frequent trips abroad the Joys were thrilled by a clock mechanism they saw in France. They commissioned two Frenchmen to install a clock and bell house at Fairacres, their estate here.

For almost 30 years the bells were rung every noon day with the Big Ben chimes and four times an hour time was noted by the softer tinkle of musical notes. The bell house became a landmark to residents.

On December 1 the Mayor of the Farms appointed a committee to make a study of suitable properties to house

Police Catch Pole Crasher

Cooperation among the Pointe's five separately-maintained police departments resulted in the apprehension of a hit-and-run driver last Monday, December 15.

Robert McDonald, of 1031 Lenox, Detroit, stopped in the City's station early Monday morning, at 1:10, to report a Detroit Edison pole which was lying in the street in front of 17130 East Jefferson.

A broadcast was put on the air for other departments to be on the lookout for a car with front-end damage, headed from all appearances east on Jefferson. Shortly after the alert, a Shores policeman picked up Andrew Vinzie, 40, of 22825 Colony, St. Clair Shores. He was apprehended at Deeplands and Lake Shore road.

Subsequent questioning revealed Vinzie was the negligent driver and he was ticketed by City police for reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident. He was released on a $50 bond, pending a court appearance scheduled for December 23.

Faulty Brakes Cause of Crash

A truck with faulty brakes slid out of control and into two cars Monday afternoon, December 15. The driver, George E. Willmont, of Toledo, O., was not ticketed by City police.

Willmont was headed east on Mack avenue and approaching the Cadieux intersection when his brakes suddenly failed and he plowed into a car being driven by Mrs. Theresia Schultz.

Mrs. Schultz, who lives at 6252 Edwin, pulled ahead of the truck and stopped but Willmont, still out of control, kept moving forward.

When he saw a baby in the front seat of the Schultz car he swerved to avoid hitting it a second time and slammed into another. The second victim was Wesley S. Phillips, of 1136 Lakewood. Fortunately, no one in any of the three vehicles was injured.

Peddler of Pornography Sent to DeHoCo for Year

Theodore Wichman, 58, of 1423 Berkshire, who was arrested three times on charges of peddling pornography, was sentenced to one year in the Detroit House of Correction by Recorder's Judge W. McKay Skillman on Thursday, December 4.

Wichman was found guilty of selling obscene literature and materials, on charges brought by Detroit police following his arrest on September 26, when a Detroit police officer purchased four 16 mm 200-foot reels of filthy movie films. The buy was made with marked money.

The convicted man was in his store at 7547 Harper avenue, Detroit, opposite an elementary school, when authorities took him into custody.

The pornography peddler was arraigned twice before, once on August 1, 1956; and again on November 22, 1957, before Woods Judge Don Goodrow, on charges of selling filth.

After the second arraignment, Wichman was ordered to close up his store, the Empire Gift and Camera Shop, Mack and Hampton, and leave town.

The shop was raided by Woods police the first time when they received information that the shop proprietor was selling pornography. A number of obscene films, literature and materials were confiscated.

For this, Wichman was fined $100 and placed on two years

Kerby Widening Will Be Discussed At Public Hearing

Farms Engineer Recommends Two to Four Feet Addition and Straightening Out of Voltaire Place with Kerby Entrance

The Farms council will hold a public hearing in the City Hall on Monday, January 5, at 8 p.m., to hear arguments from residents living in Kerby road, from Ridge road to Grosse Pointe boulevard, on a proposed widening of that section of the road.

A recommendation of the proposed widening and resurfacing of Kerby was made to the council by City Engineer Murray Smith, who is pushing for completion of the project during the summer of 1959.

Residents of Kerby from Ridge to the boulevard, will be asked to the meeting, to give their views on whether the road should be widened by two, or four feet. The present width of the road is 24 feet.

Cost Estimates

The estimated cost of this program is set at $26,676 if the road is made 26 feet wide, and $31,920, if 28 feet.

In his report to the council, Mr. Smith stated that consideration should be given to the vacation of a section of Voltaire place, and the providing of a new opening to Kerby. The proposed vacation will provide over 7,500 square feet of additional residential property with a frontage on Ridge road of about 37½ feet and a depth of about 200 feet along Kerby road.

He said this would eliminate the necessity of maintaining 200 feet of unnecessary pavement, if this plan is adopted.

The proposed improvement would include the construction of new concrete curb and gutter on both sides of the street, and asphalt resurfacing similar to that already done on Kerby during the past two years.

The total cost of the improvement, if it is 28 feet, including the relocation of Voltaire place, is estimated at $34,500 which is approximately the sum expended this year on Kerby, from Chalfonte to Ridge.

Quick Action Needed

Mr. Smith said early approval of final plans are necessary since the Detroit Edison Company must relocate its poles and power lines, which have to be moved about six feet southerly on the south side of the road. This will not cost the city any money, he pointed out, but action must be taken as soon as possible because it would take the company about four months to do the work.

Early approval, Mr. Smith said, will also permit the city to include the proposed project in the Farms' January report to the State Highway Department as a part of the expenditures under the State Weight and Gas Tax.

Goodfellows Fall Short of $10,000 Goal

Raise $6,200 in Annual Newspaper Sale to Help Needy and Charities

The Goodfellows did their best to put their 30th consecutive drive over the top in their annual Newspaper Sale, which was held on Monday, December 15. However the tough times were reflected in the total sales, which were noticeably less that last year.

The Grosse Pointe Lions Club, which conducted the sale, set a $10,000 goal, as in years past. Working along with club members were some 85 personnel of the community's police and fire departments.

Lions Club president, Edgar A. Beauchamp, appointed James N. McNally and Carl Schweikart, Sr., co-chairmen of the annual drive for funds to help the Pointe's needy.

Weather Didn't Help

According to Carl Schweikart, the Goodfellows collected a total of $6,200 this year, as compared with last year's figures of $7,100. He accounts for the depreciation as being a combination of the recession's hangover, and the cold weather. A great many of the usual Goodfellow contributors, the

GPHS Graduates Win High Honors

Grosse Pointe High School graduates have again reflected credit upon their school system, this time at the University of Michigan.

Recently 705 freshman students at the University took the French Proficiency Test, 36 of whom displayed fourth-semester competence (which satisfies the school's foreign language requirement for graduation from the college of Literature, Science and the Arts).

Among the select few who so scored there were two Grosse Pointers: Gretchen Nyboer and Paul Whitmore. Three other Pointe students rated a competency of at least one semester beyond that normally credited the examinee.

Donna Day, Judith Phelps, and Cynthia Zdrodowski were among the 25 Michigan freshmen who qualified in this area.

School Program Modified To Improve Opportunities

Local educators have modified the school program in several respects this year in efforts to improve the total educational opportunities offered Grosse Pointe students. Important among these are a new approach to the administering of student examinations at mid-year and a change in the previous system of making the mid-year a terminal point in the school program.

Senior high school students will have their mid-year tests spread over eight days this January instead of concentrated in a two or three day session as heretofore. They will be given in the regular class periods as students continue on their regular daily schedules. While more than one class period may be used for any test, and parts of it may be administered on different days, no student will have more than two tests on any one day.

School officials point out that in addition to a considerable saving of time there are other advantages to such an arrangement. For the student it will certainly mean a more even distribution of tests with fewer being scheduled on any given day. This should reduce the "cramming" some students feel to be a necessary part of their preparations, or at least reduce the number of subjects for which last minute preparations are made at a particular time.

A more regular schedule for review of the course materials ought to be possible and a higher degree of understand-

Pointers Get Benefit From New Stretch

Access Now Possible at Norcross in Chandler Park; 10.63 Miles Completed

The opening of an east-side extension of the Ford Expressway on Tuesday, December 16, brought the expressway closer to the Pointe and more accessible to Pointers who use the way in their daily travels.

The new section, 3.1 miles long, lies between Mt. Elliott and Norcross in Chandler Park, and is the longest single stretch of expressway ever opened at one time in Detroit.

The Conner-Norcross section was opened eight months ahead of schedule, according to John C. Mackie, State Highway Commissioner.

Coming to Moross

Expected to be completed by late 1959, is a second extension to the Detroit city limits at Moross (Seven Mile road), thus bringing the expressway still closer to the Pointe.

In October, the Wayne County Road Commission completed the widening and improving of Moross road, from Kelly road in Detroit to within several hundred feet of Chalfonte in the Farms, because Moross, according to reports, will be an interchange for the expressway.

Now that the new section has been opened, motorists will be able to travel 10.63 miles, from Wyoming on the west side to Norcross.

Motorists traveling west on the new section of the expressway, will be able to leave at Conner, Gratiot, Van Dyke and Mt. Elliott. Entrance ramps will be at Norcross, Conner, French, Gratiot and Van Dyke.

Eastbound Exits

Eastbound traffic will be able to exit at Van Dyke, Gratiot, French, Conner and Norcross, and enter at Mt. Elliott, Van Dyke, Gratiot and French.

Interchanges are at Gratiot and Conner.

Pointers desiring to get to the Norcross entrance ramp, which is the closest, need only to travel west on Harper avenue which leads right to the ramp.

If motorists desire access to the expressway via Conner, they need only to drive west on either Jefferson, Vernor, Charlevoix, Mack or Warren, and turn right on Conner to Chandler Park.

Find Stolen TV In Vice Center

A recent raid by members of the Detroit Vice Squad, in that City, led to the arrest of a man wanted by the Grosse Pointe City police on a breaking and entering charge.

When Mrs. Olive H. Morton, of 17590 Mack avenue, reported to the police on November 16 that her apartment had been broken into and her television set stolen, a description of the missing item was put on the inter-cities teletype.

Two weeks later, when Detroit police raided a vice center, they recognized the T-V in the room as answering the description of the missing set. A check of the serial number verified its identity.

Further questioning of the apprehended dope peddlers led police to issue a warrant for the arrest of Harry W. Robertson. He was caught, in a downtown hideout, a few days later and handed over to the Pointe police for disposition of the case.

Judge Joseph P. Uvick, held an examination on December 10 and bound Robertson over to Circuit Court. The defendant is currently being held in Wayne County Jail on a $2500 bond.

DRIVER ACCUSED

Farms police charged Riley T. Bradford of 22540 Kendall, Detroit, with not having his car under control and causing an accident, when he lost control of his vehicle and it crashed into an Edison pole in front of 135 Lake Shore road on Friday, December 12. He had been drinking, police said.

the ceremony with carols. Coffee, cocoa and cookies will be served to every one at this time.

Tree Donated

This year's tree at the Center has been given by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Nelssen. The beautiful blue spruce will be topped by a magnificent cross and star, loaned by the John J. O'Brians.

The Youth Council of the War Memorial is in charge of the annual Christmas program. They will serve as a welcome committee at the festivities. At the time of the tree lighting, representatives of the Pointe's various youth organizations will join hands around the tree and the Men's Chorus will sing "Silent Night." A closing prayer will be offered by the Rev. Father Robert Rohlman of St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church.

Five Shows Scheduled

Two puppet shows will enhance the day's program: Gordon Westphal will present "Santa Presents Brave Mr. Frog" and the Girl Scouts Puppeteers of Troop 257 will enact "McDonald's Farm."

There will be two performances of the latter, the first at 4:30 and the second at 6. There will also be two performances of the Children's Theatre production "David's Christmas Star," at 5 and 6:30 p.m.

The entire community is invited to partake of the warm spirit of Christmas this Sunday, at the War Memorial Center, with a special invitation extended to the Pointe's children.

be protected and can be concealed with greens.

Colors Now Added

To the white light bulb which has been in use many years, has been added four saturated colors. As these are often too strong, new tinted bulbs in subtle tones are now available. The new blue-white is effective on green and red, the amber on green and gold, the pink is dramatic on white.

When lighting outdoors, the connection spot of weather proof extension cords should be wrapped with pyrofilm bags and made secure at each end with black electrician's tape. It is also suggested that whenever there are empty lamp sockets in light strings, these should be protected in a similar way.

For inside floods or spots, not as heavy equipment is needed and smaller (75) watt bulbs are now available as well as a small spot of 30 watts. The public is now aware of the coloramic lamp bulbs.

A suggestion for the most effective use of floods is grazing of the lighting pattern, where the bulb in shield or holder is placed at the side of object to be lighted.

Safety Hints

For general safety reminders remember:—

Do not overload fuses.

Check connections.

Watch for frayed or worn spots.

Never place cord where it will be walked on.

Do not shut cord under door or window, (a narrow board with hole for cord, can be fitted into bottom of window).

Watch for placing of spots outdoors where opening door will throw glare in face.

Never work with live equipment.

Board Modifies School Program

ing and preparation achieved by all. The new testing schedule at the senior high school, running this year from January 7 through January 16, will undoubtedly result in fewer tests being administered on a given day then now typically occurs at the end of a marking period.

Another advantage gained by both student and teacher, according to a spokesman for the secondary principals, is that the regular classroom teacher will administer the test. Students who may be puzzled or misled by the terminology of a question will have the benefit of the advice of one who is familiar with both the question and the student. The tests are also more likely to be accurately tailored, he said, to the capabilities of the particular groups being tested. A better performance by the student and a more accurate evaluation by the teacher should result from this change.

Students will not attend classes at the senior high school on Thursday and Friday, January 22-23. These days have been set aside on the school calendar for teachers to evaluate their students' work, complete their records and make preparations for beginning the second half of the school year. Teachers in the elementary and junior high schools will be similarly engaged so their students have a brief holiday also.

Administrators and teachers pointed out other modifications of great importance. As the last mid-year graduating class finishes its course of study in the Grosse Pointe schools next month the whole system will then be completely on an annual promotion basis for which plans were first laid in 1945. The last mid-year class entered kindergarten in January 1946. All classes since then have been admitted only in September. Thus, graduation will always occur in June henceforth.

With the departure of the class of January, 1959 from the junior high schools several years ago these schools were able to put into effect the step now being taken at the senior high school. Sections of students were kept intact from September to June and in most cases had the same teachers throughout the year. Thus, any abruptness in the stop at the end of the first semester was considerably modified. The mid-year now became something less than a terminal point.

As a result, less time was thought to be wasted and less interruption in the courses of study occurred, the educators stated. Teachers did not feel a compulsion to reach a certain point in the textbook regardless of other factors but moved along at the pace best suited to the particular group. Neither did they feel they had to slow down or mark time with a group that had demonstrated an ability to move faster than the average section.

Examinations could now be looked upon as instruments equally useful as diagnostic tools as well as devices designed to measure achievement. Junior High school teachers knew that any weaknesses pinpointed by the examinations could be concentrated upon and strengthened in the beginning weeks of the second half of the school year.

Where a change of teachers had occurred under the old system, such diagnosis and remedial work was relatviely impossible. These same advantages will be equally as important to the senior high school student as they have been to the student in the junior high school, the secondary school principals said.

It was stated that one of the chief advantages to be derived from a modification of the mid-year practices was that more time for instruction will be gained under the new program. In view of the steadily increasing funds of knowledge and subject matter to be covered with pupils this extra time will be a boon to both students and teachers, a spokesman said.

He pointed out that still further economy of time will result in the High School from the fact that there will be no need for teachers and students to use the first week or two of the second half of the school year in becoming oriented to one another. The adjusting processes will already have been accomplished and each will know exactly where to take up his work in the first class meeting of the new half. Evaluations of the mid-year test results can be made immediately while still fresh in everyone's mind. Re-teach-the bells, given to the Farms by Henry B. Joy, Jr.

Joy Carillon Given Farms

Herbert Micou, of Kerby road, a builder and designer, was requested to give his opinions in the matter. He made an inspection of the City Hall and stated that the installation of the bells where the old belfry was installed would cost in excess of $3,000 and further that the structure would be too large to be erected on the City Hall.

Location Selected

In Mr. Micou's opinion the Water Filtration Plant, Moross at Lakeshore roads, would be the most suitable location for the carillon, but it would have to be screened by proper planting as the type of structure conflicts with the Plant's architectural form.

The committee met on December 13 to review these opinions and made the following recommendation to the Council.

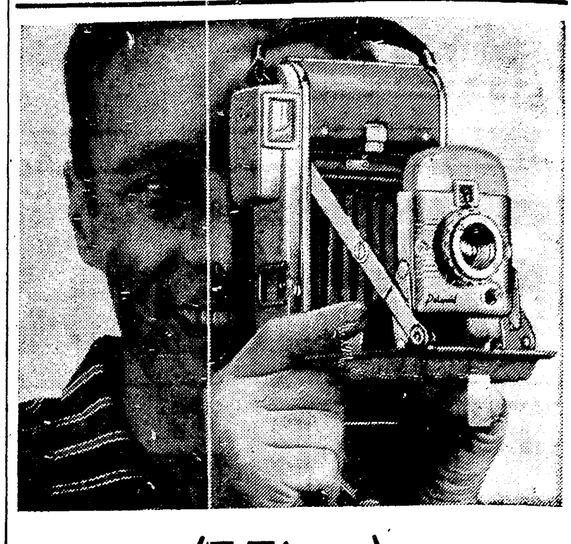

"That the carillon be located on the Water Filtration Plant grounds facing Grosse Pointe boulevard, approximately in line with the westerly portion of the fence which surrounds the outdoor filter and between the fence and the Water Filtration Plant driveway, and that suitable evergreens be planted around the structure.

Further that the sum of $2,000 be appropriated to cover the cost of moving, rehabilitation, and planting."

The Joy bells will continue to chime to remind residents, who need no reminder, of the fine family whose gift they are.

Pointers Named To State Group

Two Grosse Pointers have been named to the Board of Directors of the newly-created Committee on Michigan's Economic Future, by Governor Williams.

The list of directors includes many of the state's prominent business, industrial, labor and educational leaders.

Named from the Pointe are Henry T. Bodman, of Vendome road, president of the National Bank of Detroit; and Joseph L. Hudson, Jr., of Washington road, vice president and general manager of the J. L. Hudson Co.

William M. Day, of Lakeland avenue, who is president of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., was named earlier in the year to head the committee.

Introducing Pointe's Newest Teachers

Don E. Cook came to Grosse Pointe from a brief teaching assignment in Canfield, Ohio. Born in Rockford, Ohio, he was raised and educated in Celina and is a graduate of Bowling Green University. Between high school graduation and enrollment in College, Mr Cook served nearly four years in the U.S. Air Force. Much of this was duty in the Far East during the Korean War.

Mr. Cook is single and comes from a family of eleven children. He teaches sixth grade at Mason. Golf and bowling are two of his favorite sports. He also enjoys listening to classical and semi-classical music.

Miss Maureen A. Keillor has returned home to teach. Born and raised in Grosse Pointe she now teaches 3rd grade at Mason, her initial experience other than several months substitute teaching here last spring. A graduate of Michigan State she also attended Wayne State and the University of Michigan where she plans to do graduate work leading to an advanced degree. In her spare time she likes to ski, read, and travel. Miss Keillor toured Europe recently, visiting eleven countries in all.

Mrs. Diane Ogle is a native of Chicago and environs. A graduate of the J. Sterling Morton High School she received her A.B. from Hope College. She also attended Northwestern University. Teaching experience includes two years at Riverside, Illinois. Mrs. Ogle also has served at various times as a playground director and a camp arts and crafts director. She is pursuing an advanced degree at Michigan State and the University of Chicago. Mrs. Ogle teaches 6th grade at Mason. Her husband, Bob, teaches social studies at Brownell. She likes most sports and art in almost any form.

Miss Susan Pollock teaches art at Mason, Maire, and Monteith. She was born and raised in West Frankfort, Illinois. A graduate with high distinction of Murray State College in Kentucky, she was chosen outstanding art student in 1957. A member of the national art fraternity, Kappa Pi, she also affiliated with Kappa Delta Pi. She has exhibited oils, watercolors, and sculpture in art exhibits and art galleries in Louisville and Huntington on several occasions. Miss Poliock likes to travel, camp, and, of course, engage in crafts such as photography, ceramics, enameling, painting and so on. Gardening and swimming are also among her many interests.

Mrs. Nola Huse Tutag was born and raised in Wellington, New Zealand. There she attended the University for two years and won "blues" in tennis, swimming, and basketball. During World War II she served in the RNZAF, meeting and marrying an American Marine. They returned to Detroit in 1947, later moving to Grossse Pointe. Mrs. Tutag completed her Liberal Arts degree at Wayne State in 1954. In the spring of this year she entered Wayne's Post Degree Teacher's Training Course and qualified to teach elementary grades last August. She now teaches the 4th grade at Mason.

Although Mrs. Barbara Barnes Reed was born in Lafayette, Indiana, she calls Battle Creek home. There she graduated from the Lakeview public schools and went on to Western Michigan University. There she received a 4-year State Board Scholarship based upon her scholastic average and service. In recognition of her outstanding contributions to the University she was one of ten girls chosen as an Aristan, an honorary society for senior women. She also pledged Kappa Delta Pi. Nothing is sure in this life, but the surest things seem to be the expenses we hadn't counted on.

7 Cases Heard In City Court

Grosse Pointe City's Municipal Judge Douglas L. Paterson presided over Traffic Court in the City of Grosse Pointe last Tuesday evening, December 9, and listened to a total of seven cases.

First on the agenda was Louis Smith of 1633 Hampton road. Charged with reckless driving, he was found not guilty and his case was subsequently dismissed.

Susan Elaine Williams, of 15225 Essex, faced a charge of driving without having her car under control. She was judged guilty, fined $10, placed on three months' probation.

Because the complainant refused to sign, Kurt Gerhard Dehne's case was dismissed. Dehne, who lives at 10410 Cadieux road, was charged with not having his car under control.

Bernadine K. Simonds, of 324 Beaupre, facing the same charge as Dehne, was also dismissed when the complainant failed to appear.

A $20 fine with three months' probation and an order to appear at as many sessions of Traffic Court was Judge Paterson's decree for William A. Porter. Porter, who lives at 1792 Littlestone, was found guilty of driving recklessly, at a speed of 45 miles-an-hour.

William Richardson, of 17015 Maumee, forfeited his bond of $50 when he failed to appear in court to answer to a charge of leaving the scene of an accident and failing to report same.

A fine of $25 was imposed upon Robert A. Harley, of 902 Neff road, after the Judge found him guilty of a reckless driving charge.

women shoppers of the Pointe, failed to get as early a start as usual in their day's chores and consequently the bulk of the collection came from businessmen on the way to work in the early hours of the morning.

The City of Grosse Pointe topped the other communities in their total sales. Together, the fire and police departments took in $1,443.56, while a breakdown shows that of this amount the police collected $850.72 and the firemen $592.84.

Individual honors go to Sgt. Doug Allor who, it will be remembered, was seriously injured in last year's drive, by a passing automobile. Allor collected the City's high of $201.32 at his usual corner, Jefferson and Fisher.

Assisting Allor on the "winning team" were Police Chief Tom Trombly, and Patrolmen Ed Benthuys, Dave Munson, Blair Martin, Duncan MacEachern, John Rabaut, John Ontswedder, Foster Mauck and William Waldecker.

On the City's fire squad crew were Art Brisson, Parnell D'Hooghe, Joe McEachern, John Rea, John Ontswedder, Jr., Jim Bloom, Severn Bliss, Fire Marshall George Coriden, and Fire Captain George Poupard.

The combined police-fire department of the Shores collected $1,150.20; and the Woods team contributed $772.08 to the total. The Park's fire and police squads' collections totaled $1,380, and the Farms' $986, with $420 coming from the fire department and $566 from police efforts.

The monies will be used in various ways. Some of it will go to the Leader Dog for the Blind fund, some to scholarships for needy Pointe students, and the remainder to public charitable organizations and private charities and families.

probation by Judge Goodrow.

The second arrest came when Woods police noticed Wichman's car parked illegally in front of his store, and investigating officers found a suitcase in the back seat filled with pornography.

Found guilty again by the Woods judge, Wichman was bound over to the Wayne Circuit Court, after Judge Goodrow added another year to the still unexpired probation time originally imposed. This was when the man promised to close his store, never to return.

Later, in Circuit Court, Wichman was found guilty, and two more years were added to his probation period.

The opening of the store in Detroit, and the returning to the sale of filth, brought about the final downfall and the jail term.

School Property Being Appraised

The Grosse Pointe Board of Education acted at its December meeting to make substantial improvements in its insurance program. A firm was engaged to perform a complete appraisal of all school buildings and their contents. Also, a binder was secured on a policy protecting the school system in the event of liability claims or of vandalism.

A committee of Board of Education members and school administrators have been studying the insurance program of the school system for several months. Board Vice President Edward Pongracz is the committee chairman. Trustees Robert Weber and Bert Wicking are committee members.

The committee recommended to the full Board that an appraisal be made immediately. It was pointed out that such a procedure would insure that sufficient and adequate coverage was in force and that some areas were not over insured. Also, the appraisal lists would provide reliable and up-to-date information for the use of claim adjusters in the event a loss should occur.

In October, bids were sent to several well known qualified firms asking that the cost of a complete appraisal of all real property and building contents be estimated. The bid specifications stated that current replacement costs and current sound insurance values were to be furnished in the final tabulations. R. A. Schettler and Associates, a Detroit firm, was the low and successful bidder. They are to begin work immediately and to be finished with it in approximately three months.

The Grosse Pointe Board of Education asked for and received a binder on a liability policy so as to be protected in the event a claim was instituted against the school system. The policy tentatively decided upon offers a maximum of $500,000.00 for injury to one person and a maximum of $1,000,000.00 for all injuries connected with one incident. Property damage and medical payment features are also a part of the policy.

The Board of Education will continue its study of its insurance program and make a final decision on the protections desired at an early meeting. Although the history of the district has been good with respect to acts of vandalism the Board obtained a rider to the present fire insurance policy to cover this area. Damage to both buildings and to personal property will be secured up to the face value of the policy.

Board Modifies School Program

ing of misunderstood or inadequately learned material can take place as necessary.

Some concern has been expressed that under the new program students who fail some part of the course would have to repeat a whole year's work. The principals of the Grosse Pointe secondary schools firmly stated that such need not be the case.

If failing work occurs in either half of a year long course they indicated only that portion failed would have to be repeated. In most instances, they said, such deficiencies might well be erased by successful work in a summer school session. Each case will be decided on its own merits just as is now done. They emphasized that the changes and modifications represented decided gains towards the goal of offering each student the best of educational opportunities.

People who have but little knowledge are always willing to spread it mighty thin.

Richard School Pupils Celebrate

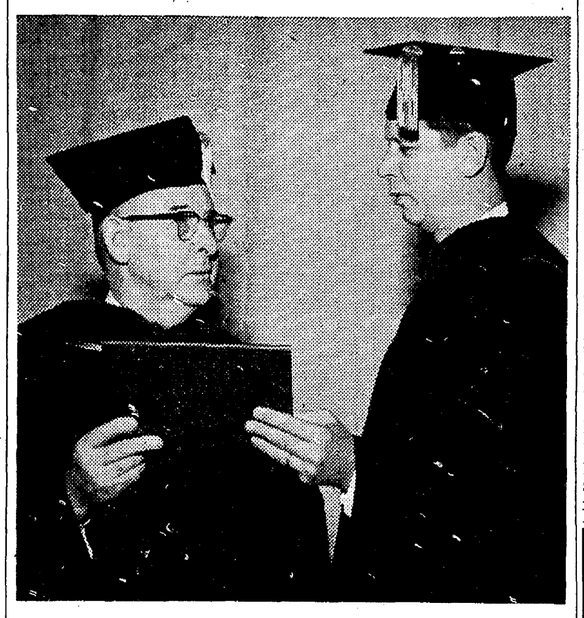

In connection with the metropolitan area's observance of Father Gabriel Richard Day on Monday, December 15, as proclaimed by Detroit Mayor Louis C. Miriani, students from the Gabriel Richard School in Grosse Pointe took an active part in the celebration.

Representing the local school in the City's downtown parade were Cathy Palmer and Gregory Hykes. The two students, both in the sixth grade at Richard, were on a float in the parade which was televised throughout the metropolitan area.

Some of their classmates at Richard viewed the parade over portable televisions, (donated by students' families), in their homerooms while the rest of the school gathered in the auditorium to see the spectacle.

Tip to motorists: if more people drove right there would be many more people left.

Given Honorary Degree

M. C. PATTERSON (left), of Devonshire road, general manager of Dodge Division and vice-president of Chrysler Corporation, received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree on Wednesday, December 10, at Taylor University, Indiana. Shown presenting the LL.D. degree to Patterson is Evan H. Bergwall, president of the university.

Phone Vanishes At High School

The Monday night after Thanksgiving, December 1, custodians at Grosse Pointe High School discovered an incident of vandalism that, apparently, took place over the holiday week-end.

A hole had been cut in the steel mesh on the door of a telephone booth located in the auditorium-gymnasium, and the phone had been stolen. There have been several instances of missing telephones at the high school and the phone company had refused to install another unless a steel mesh covering was put around the booth.

Assistant Principal Campbell has since told the students that no more public pay phones will be placed in the school until a solution is found for the problem.

The surest road to failure is to spend all your time trying to prove that luck is against you.

Bon Secours Establishes New Research Laboratory

A new department has been formed at Bon Secours Hospital known as the Bon Secours Hospital Research Laboratory. This department is the latest of a series of developments at Bon Secours Hospital and has been planned so that the hospital may continue its modern service to the community.

It was with this same thought in mind that the Bon Secours Hospital Disaster Plan was developed one year ago in conjunction with the National Civil Defense Program.

The Bon Secours Hospital Disaster Plan after several "dry runs" was put to a successful test only recently following a tragic airplane accident in nearby Detroit. The entire medical staff, nursing staff, and all hospital personnel were alerted within a few minutes to care for any disaster victims.

The Research Laboratory is located on the ground floor of the hospital and is modernly equipped for the study of new techniques in medicine and surgery.

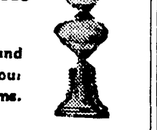

Various animals will be used in some of the studies of these techniques. This is a normal and necessary procedure carried out in all modern hospitals before any new operation or new medical equipment is used on a human patient.

This applies to medical treatment and surgical procedures. It enables the medical profession to prevent complications rather than having to treat complications after they occur. It is because of this factor that the community benefits from a Research Laboratory.

Statsitics for the United States as a whole have revealed heart and blood vessel disease as the leading cause of death. Three hundred and thirty cases have been diagnosed in a six-month period at Bon Secours Hospital. This fact has interested the medical staff in planning the first research project in the field of heart and blood vessel surgery.

It is by using various types of animals as patients that the various techniques and types of equipment can be perfected for use on the human patient.

Scouts Eagerly Await Another Summer

This is "The Resolute", 54-foot ketch of Sea Explorer Ship 690, sponsored by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association and the Grosse Pointe Exchange Club, as it was being given a workout on Lake St. Clair. Interested recruits (minimum age 14), are invited to attend meetings of the ship, Tuesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Memorial Center. The winter program on seamanship, safety, sailing, rigging and repairs, is now underway.

Church Offers Xmas Pageant

The children of the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church will present a Christmas Pageant on Sunday, December 21, at 10:30 a.m. at the church.

The production was written by Mrs. Otto Fisher, Director of Religious Education, and is being produced under her direction. Mrs. Gordon Sorenson, C. D. Drake, and Mrs. Russell Peebles are assisting Mrs. Fisher, and Mrs. Nancy Clifford is co-ordinating the project with other church functions through her position as Chairman of the Religious Education Committee.

Mrs. William Reddick directs the junior choir which takes part in the pageant.

The theme of the pageant is "Christmas Around the World in Time and Space." Preparations have been under way since last summer, when a committee was formed to trace the sources of some of our Christmas customs and traditions.

Many customs that existed long ago were adapted by the early Christians, and woven into the celebration of the birthday of Jesus. The rites of the Aryan tribes at the time of the Winter Solstice; the Roman Feast of the Saturnalia; and the Egyptian celebration of the Birthday of Horus were all held in the latter days of December, and some portion of their spirit has come down to us as part of our Christmas heritage.

The Evergreen Tree of the Germanic tribes, and the Feast of Lights of the Jewish religion contribute their symbols to us. The pageant draws on this historical background for material, and also upon those customs peculiar to certain lands in our modern world.

It is believed that the pageant will increase understanding of the breadth of our Christmas inheritance from many lands and times, and will stimulate and inspire renewed faith in Jesus' eternal message of the Brotherhood of Man. Visitors are cordially invited.

Prosperity changes the appearance of some people so much that they can't recognize their best friends.

Christ Church Picks Readers

Six laymen of Christ Episcopal Church will be made layreaders at the 11:00 o'clock service Sunday.

The men, who have been studying since fall under the leadership of the Rev. John Goodrow, rector of the Church of Our Saviour and St. Mary's Church, were required to pass examinations set by diocesan officials based on the Book of Common Prayer, the Hymnal and a manual of Holy Scriptures.

Once received as layreaders, they will assist the ordained clergy in their own home parishes, at missions where the clergy can be present only occasionally, and in places where there are no resident clergy at all. They may perform only non-priestly functions.

Burglar Visits Home in Park

A burglar who entered the home of the Frank Foleys, 1036 Kensington, through an unlocked door, on Monday, November 24, ransacked the dresser drawers on the second floor bedrooms.

The burglary was discovered by Thomas Potvin, nephew of Mrs. Foley, who told police that he left the house about 8:25 a.m. and returned at 9:30 p.m., but did not go upstairs until some time later.

Potvin, who resides at the Kensington address, said he found the dresser drawers ransacked when he prepared to retire, and immediately called police.

Det. Lt. Stanley Enders and Cpl. Charles French, who were assigned to the case, said the thief gained entrance to the house through the rear downstairs door.

The only thing taken, according to Park Police Chief Arthur Louwers, was a .25 caliber automatic revolver registered to Mr. Potvin, which was in the owner's bedroom.

Lt. Enders and Cpl. French surmised that the thief had come from Yorkshire, an adjacent street, since footprints in the mud led to the house, and the thief had tracked some of the mud into the building. Tracks also indicated that when the burglar had left the house, he retraced his steps back to Yorkshire, the officers said.

Every day is pay day for the man who enjoys his chosen work.

Youngsters Give Christmas Play at Club

The children of the Neighborhood Club extended the season's greetings to their parents and friends in the form of a Christmas play entitled "The Stockings Were Hung" in the Club Auditorium Friday night December 12. The cast, under the direction of Mrs. Ethel Drake and Miss Marian Campbell was as follows:—Elf, Karen Waltensperger; Mouse, Barbara Kimball; Santa Claus, Dan Smith; Book Ends, Lynda Patterson and Barbara Begg; Cuckoo Clock, Susan Ludeke; Mice, Linda Brown, Regina Michaels, Patricia Jahn, and Joan Griffiths; Rastus and Sambo, Susan Donnell and Lorraine Metry; Five Little Peppers, Christine Bohn, Jane Hubbard, Kathy Jens, and Bill Swor, and Jane Peebles; Dutch Twins, Sandra Taranto and Linda Guill.

In the novelty numbers, Shari Strachan headed the Teddy Bears who were the Play Mates.

Pam Rapallee led the Toy Soldiers who were the girls in beginning Tap Class and Mike Smith was the Leader of the Brass Band who were boys from the Gym Class.

The Rag Dolls were the girls of the Gym Class.

The finale of the Christmas all to join the Guys & Dolls in Program was an invitation for their usual Friday Night Dance —which featured such dances as "The Mexican Hat Rock", Guy's Choice & Doll's Choice, Virginia Reel, and the Walk.

During the Holiday Season no regularly scheduled classes will be held except Guys and Dolls Dances on Friday night, but the Club facilities will be available to all members for Games Room and Gym Activities.

SAFETY HINT

Where there's smoke there's flame, but its the smoke you need to fear the most in home fires. According to the Institute for Safer Living, most home fire deaths occur as a result of suffocation or asphyxiation caused by inhaling smoke and deadly gases. When fleeing a fire, cover mouth and nose and crawl on the floor if necessary, where smoke is less dense.

Pop Drinker Tongue-Tied

Thomas Gravelle, 13, of 1156 Yorkshire, could not talk during the time he was being transported to Bon Secours Hospital by Park police on Friday, December 12.

Young Tom, son of Dr. and Mrs. L. J. Gravelle, was unable to move his speech organ after he began sipping a bottle of ice cold pop.

At the hospital, a well tapped blow broke the suction, releasing Tom's tongue which was stuck in the bottle.

MERRY . . . AND SAFE

The trucking industry of Michigan is again working hand in glove with Santa Claus in an effort to insure all Christmas gifts arriving at their destinations on time . . . It's just one of scores of ways in which trucks serve the people of Michigan. Transporting everything you eat, wear, or use, trucks play a vital role in the running of the home, the operation of business, the provision of roads, public utilities, and facilities for national defense . . . Trucks set a pattern for safety, too, and the State's thousands of truck drivers, in wishing you and yours a Merry Christmas, pledge to do their part to make 1959 a safe and Happy New Year.

Authority on Alcoholism Addresses Capacity Crowds

Internationally known Canadian physician and head of the Bell Clinic near Toronto, Ontario, Dr. R. Gordon Bell told two capacity congregations Sunday and more than 100 men and women of the community Saturday at Christ Episcopal Church that contemporary medicine is still at the horse-and-buggy stage with respect to chemical (drug) addiction.

"We know today of drug addiction about what was known at the turn of the century of germs—not much. All I have to offer you," he apologized, "are the working hypotheses of medical researchers. Furthermore, our reseach is progressing haphazardly. The Salk vaccine was not discovered by the methods used in the search for the causes and cure of addiction."

He told his hearers, among whom was a substantial sprinkling of physicians from the Detroit area, that the distinction commonly made between "poisonous" and "non-poisonous" chemicals was not realistic.

"There exists no chemical which is not potentially toxic to the human organism," he said, "even too much water and oxygen can be taken."

"Some chemicals," he added, "produce pleasant effects and these are the chemicals which produce addictions. There are occupational hazards such as those found in medicine where workers have easy access to drugs. You pick a drug you can get "drunk on and then you lean on it and eventually it becomes your way of life, and that is addiction."

"Alcohol, most readily available drug, produces pleasant effects for some people but causes others to vomit."

"Nobody who gets sick at the taste of alcohol," he said, "will become addicted to it."

He described two categories of depressant drugs and one of stimulants. One depressant group includes alcohol, and the popular tranquilizers — chemicals which "in sufficient dosages can get you drunk". "Another depressant group," he said, "works differently. The brain is slowed down as by opium and its derivatives. in one month's time, heroin can turn a man into a creature whose only reason for living is to get heroin."

Chemical stimulants include tea and coffee which contain caffine; benzedrine, methadrine, tobacco and food.

"There are actually people addicted to food," he commented. "They reach for the refrigerator door the way some people reach for a bottle, or a smoke or a pill."

The speaker noted that chemicals used by a person might be exchanged with one another "within the groupings" but that this happened rarely from group to group.

"Slavery did not end with Lincoln," he commented. "People—droves of them—are enslaved by new masters among which are chemicals. Drug addiction is a way of living involving a self-perpetuating, enslaving dependence on harmful quantities of any chemical capable of producing welcome effects."

He described what he called the "seed-bed" situation out of which chemical addiction may arise; the "physical, psychological and social factors."

"These areas must be analyzed to be understood and changed. In the physical area, heredity, nutrition, age, illness must be examined; psychological factors of childhood and adulthood such as rejection, over protection or overdiscipline; marital problems, work or economic problems are important and finally social matters such as family, community and occupational drinking customs are of concern. In thes areas there may be needs, and if a chemical is taken which produces pleasant effects in their stead, the addictive process becomes a full potentiality."

Dr. Bell divided the process of addiction to alcohol into four stages: "contentment, concern, conflict and conquest".

When a person becomes "concerned" about his drinking he begins to notice the physical symptoms of pathological drunkeness or the necessity for a drink first thing in the morning, or liver or stomach ailments.

Psychologically, a person then worries about the undesirable effects of his drinking and may try to vary the pattern—switching from 'hard stuff" to "beer" or trying "bout drinking" punctuated by periods of abstinence and of remorse.

Socially the person's drinking begins to encroach on other areas of his time. "Usually first to go is family time; then eating time; then sleeping time and club time may be given up by the drinker—but always last to go is working time. A man has to buy his liquor."

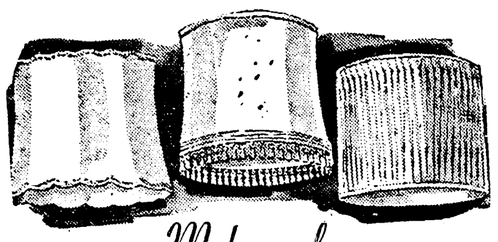

"Thus," concluded Dr. Bell, "the addict replaces one way of life for another. Acquisition of his favorite chemical becomes his only reason for living."

He said it is useless to ask a person to give up such a demanding way of life without offering something to replace it. The twelve steps of Alcoholics Anonymous are actually "another way of life" offered to the alcoholic. At the Bell Clinic the speaker said that efforts are made to show patients unknown inner resources and resources in other people. The clinic, which is back to back with an Anglican Church, also points its patients to God.

"Fundamentally the treatment of chemical addiction consists in showing a man his road to freedom where another way of life independent of chemical need is possible."

Dr. Bell was invited to Christ Church through the efforts of the Rev. George Whitney, Vicar. Mr Whitney has long been associated in Grosse Pointe with the work of Alcoholics Anonymous. An AA group meets each week in the parish buildings.

Joy Bells To Be Heard Again

A vote of thanks is due the family of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Joy for the gift to the community of the carillon from their estate at Lake Shore and Kerby. Thanks are also due the city of Grosse Pointe Farms for accepting this gift and appropriating the funds which will insure the perpetuation of the carillon.

Mr. and Mrs. Joy commissioned two Frenchmen to create the clockworks and bells in 1929, since when they have contributed much to the happiness of thousands of Pointers and visitors who have become accustomed to listen for their lovely sounds. At noon each day the carillon reproduces the voice of Big Ben and four times each hour the bells tinkle their cheerful marking of the passage of time. They have been stilled since the death of Mrs. Joy some months ago.

The carillon will be moved to the grounds of the Farms Water Filtration Plant in Moross road between the lake and Grosse Pointe boulevard. The announcement of the news is particularly fitting at this festive time of the year. It is nice to know the Joy bells will continue to ring throughout the Pointe.

Hear This . . . . and Heed!

The police departments of the Pointe have asked us to pass on a message from them to our readers. We do so gladly and add our urgent plea that it be heeded.

"Your police departments have one major function and responsibility: to do their utmost to protect the life and property of every man, woman and child in the community. We want you to know that we are striving to discharge this responsibility with an increasing degree of departmental efficiency. Every officer is receiving special in-service training to improve his individual proficiency. But we need the full cooperation of the citizens of Grosse Pointe.

"A highly important current problem is your safety in traffic. As you may know, December is more dangerous, traffic-wise, than any other month of the year, chiefly because most fatal accidents occur during hours of darkness and December has the longest nights. Inclement weather, slippery streets, Christmas shoppers and holiday festivities aggravate the problem.

"We are determined to hold fatal and injury accidents to a minimum this December by stepping up traffic law enforcement efforts, with special emphasis on the four most hazardous violations, reckless driving, speeding, driving while under the influence of alcohol and violations of our pedestrian regulations.

"We need your help. Obviously, as voluntary observance of our traffic laws is increased, the need for enforcement becomes less urgent. By obeying traffic laws, you will do your part in helping us to make this a happy and joyful holiday period. We in the Grosse Pointe Police Departments are banking on your cooperation."

Jacobis Kept Busy Abroad By Admiral's Assignment

Editorial note: The following excerpts from a letter written by Mrs. Leon J. Jacobi to Mrs. Mark Edgar tell of the popular Pointe couple's travels abroad. Admiral Jacobi is the International Head of Naval Reserve and the pair live in Fisher road. The letter is dated December 1 from Dusseldorf.

". . . Just returned from London and a glorious six days it was. Air travel was uncertain due to so much fog in the area, so we traveled from Paris by sleeper train. A commander met us, walked us through customs and deposited us in a car with English chauffeur, assigned to us for the entire stay.

"We went to London to represent the Defense Dept. at the dedication of the American Chapel in St. Paul's Cathedral, 'in the presence of Her Majesty the Queen,' was the way the invitation read. Not since the Coronation had so much British royalty and so many church dignitaries assembled for an event. Leon's (Admiral Jacobi) seats were eight rows back of the Queen. Mother, sisters, aunts and cousins.

"Two thousand in the Cathedral all by ticket, and not only was there protocol of guests, but protocol of cars and chauffeurs on the outside to be reckoned with. Our car was called twice before we were able to get outside to occupy it.

"We were very busy visiting the military area, but there was a chance to revisit some of our favorite areas, see Bea Lillie in "Auntie Mame" and of course purchase a few items in the "Silver Vaults."

"It was a shame to leave London this morning with sun shining, first time in 30 days. We traveled in the Secretary of Defense's private plane, with Assistant Secretary and Mrs. Finucane, just the four of us, two pilots, one aide and one stewardess, an ideal two hour flight with good views of the White Cliffs of Dover and Brussels.

"Oh, yes, we had dinner at the American Embassy on Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. John Lyles as our guests. She was Beverly Skillman and lived across from us on Fisher road.

"The flight from Washington on November 3 was more than perfect, VIP and Blue plate, and it certainly fulfilled its name. There were one hour stopovers in Newfoundland, Harman Air Base, and Orly Field, Paris before the final destination. Protocol officers met us each time with a car, to take us to the local officers Club.

"When the flight ended at Frankfort, Germany, the military of the area were there to meet us, along with Leon's European representative and we have been on the move almost constantly except for five days here, two weeks ago. This hotel is like home to us after the enjoyable Christmas in Dusseldorf in '57.

"We leave again on Friday for more visits with the military, Southern Germany, Spain and North Africa. Then to France and Paris again in about ten days. We were there before going to London but due to the Berlin situation most of the time was spent at SHAPE headquarters and European Command headquarters, with briefings for both of us.

"We have already visited military areas in Heidelburg, Gieasen, Wiesbadden, Garmish, Kaiserslautern, Raurstein and Munich, where the banquet was very formal. Each visit means a lecture and I now know all of Leon's speeches and qualify as an understudy for the tour.

"There was a week end at Monte Carlo for the Dept. of Europe meeting. My banquet partners were the Mayor of Monte Carlo-Monaco, and Father Teicher, who arranged the Ranier-Kelly match. The Reverend Father is a delightful person, with a wonderful sense of humor and stories unending. I had a wonderful time! I stayed in Nice long enough to do some sight seeing in the area before returning to Dusseldorf via Geneva.

"Van Cleef et Arpels of Paris had a three day showing of their jewels in this hotel. We were invited to the preview and cocktail party where tall glasses of orange juice rated with champagne and we thought it was a big treat. Fresh juice has been hard to get, even at $1.00 a glass.

"London was gay with Christmas decorations, and Dusseldorf is sparkling in clear white dress, no colored lights in German decorations.

"We have had fine weather, always just ahead of the rain, 33 degrees here today."

The man who is puffed up with conceit is seldom a swell fellow.

Building is closed. MERRY CHRISTMAS

HOUSEHOLD HINT

"Sit Down and Save" is a good rule if you want to cut dollars off the food bill advises the Detroit Consumer Marketing Information Agent. Sit down and plan. Plan family meals for at least a week ahead and make out your shopping list at the same time. Check you cupboards and your refrigerator. What do you have on hand that will fit future menus? Check prices of fresh, frozen and canned goods . . . and check the sizes of packages and cans. Do you know how many servings to expect from each package and can? Do you know the quality of the different brands of foods in your grocery store? You need the answers to all these questions when you plan your marketing list. It takes time and it may take some study. But isn't it worth the effort if you can cut dollars off the food bill?

SAFETY HINT

An ounce of prevention is well worth a houseful of tragedy. Family fire drills, knowing exactly what to do if fire should strike suddenly is a vital safety measure for every household says the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company. Regular fire rehearsals will help to minimize panic if the real thing occurs.

What Goes On at Your Library

By Jean Taylor

While Dasher and Comet are snug in their stable
We're boarding a jet as soon as we're able
To wish all the authors of the past year
A Merry Christmas with Holiday Cheer.
If they did not write, no one would read
And, for us, that would be very sad indeed!
We're landing in Lisbon. PORTUGUESE ESCAPE
Makes this city real to us as things take shape.
So to you Ann Bridge, a happy Yule,
With largess from Santa's reticule.
TOMORROW IS MANANA and we're off to Spain
Where the rain, we understand, is mainly in the plain.
We raise the cup to Shirley Deane
For depicting so well the Spanish scene.
We make fast our seat belts. That's Venice below,
With gondoliers singing and lights aglow.
And who's to meet us but Marcia Brown!
With FELICE and Marcia we paint the town.
In Holland, we ask Saint Nick to bring
Piet Bakker a holiday fling.
"And please, from your bag, with this and that Make a happy day also for CISKA THE RAT."
In Norway, of course, we have a ball
For there we meet Thor Heyerdahl.
And may the skies be always blue
For his guardian spirit, AKU AKU.
And now we're in Russia; no Christmas bells ring,
But Pasternak greets us as we take wing.
No mention is made of a happy Noel
But his grave eyes twinkle as he wishes us well.
His Nobel winner, Doctor Zhivago
Is famed from Moscow to Chicago.
With wassail bowl, at a hurried pace,
We hop over England from place to place.
Angela Thirkell in Barsetshire
Is not in CLOSE QUARTERS should you inquire.
Paul Gallico, it's possible, may be a little lonely
With MRS. 'ARRIS GONE TO PARIS, we stop a minute only.
Next we approach the hills of West Riding
To bring Phyllis Bentley a joyous tiding.
Carolers greet us with Christmas trills
The CRESCENDO echoes from the hills.
It involved a SEARCH, but we couldn't go
Without wishing God Yul to C. P. Snow.
Sure, we can't miss Ireland whatever we do.
IN THIS QUIET LAND is O'Donaghue.
And in spite of the fact that the temperature's freezing,
Honor Tracy insists THE PROSPECTS ARE PLEASING
A wave of the hand, and we're on our way
Back to our home in the U.S.A.
If we tried to greet all the authors here
It would take us the better part of a year.
And so the best that we can do
Is to ring out the bells for all of you.
Can those be the lights of Grosse Pointe we see?
What a wonderfully pleasant place to be!
Customs may vary, but when all's said and done
People are people, whether Moslem or Hun.
So we wish Peace and Gladness for each person in the sun
And a Very Merry Christmas. "God Bless Us Everyone."

Letters to the Editor

Grosse Pointe NEWS

Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich.
Dear Sir:

As a taxpayer and patron of Grosse Pointe public schools, I should like to ask for a public explanation by our education officials of their policy of not allowing interscholastic sports competition between the three junior high schools of this community.

With pleas from President Eisenhower for more physically fit youth, and with a constantly more competitive world ahead of us, this seems a strange policy indeed.

Rumor has it that several mothers brought "pressure" upon our school officials on the basis that their "little darling" might get hurt.

This I refuse to believe for two reasons: First, the unfortunate lad with this type of mother isn't likely to be playing any kind of competitive sports. And second, the athletically - talented youngsters are playing anyhow in intermural competition. Since they are playing, why not let them compete against the other junior high schools—at least in basketball, baseball and track?

Many of these youngsters have been playing Little League baseball, All-America football and Neighborhood Club basketball since they were nine or 10 years old. They are highly skilled athletes who thrive on competition. Now that they have reached the very competitive age of 13 and 14, why should they now be denied the fun and thrill of playing against other schools?

PUZZLED TAXPAYER

P.S. (To the Editor): Inasmuch as my youngster is one of those puzzled by this strange policy, I would prefer that my name not be used.

Dec. 14, 1958

Dear Sir:

Would you have space to mention the wonderful job the 16 members of the Community Chorus, under the direction of Donald Simmons, did on Tuesday night, December 9, at the High School, for the Tenth Anniversary of the United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights program? They sang a group of international songs.

Mrs. Frederic Beddow
Very sincerely,
(Member of the East Side Committee)

Santa's Sleigh Offers Best Pay

Wayne State University students are finding that wearing whiskers is the best way to earn money during the Christmas season.

A company has hired 65 students to represent Santa Claus on a rental basis. Santa will visit a family for a fee of $2.50. Before his visit, he checks with parents on such things as dolls and sleds.

He also gets a behavior report on each child in the family. In addition to his regular calls, Santa is available to preside at Christmas parties.

With the exception of the Santas, few job offers have been received by Wayne State's placement service, which in past years has had a backlog of requests for holiday workers.

"There is still a recession so far as we are concerned," said James W. Hill, counselor at the placement service. "Jobs are almost non-existent."

"Most industries would rather hire experienced help than inexperienced part-time workers," said Merland Kopka, director of the placement service.

HOUSEHOLD HINT

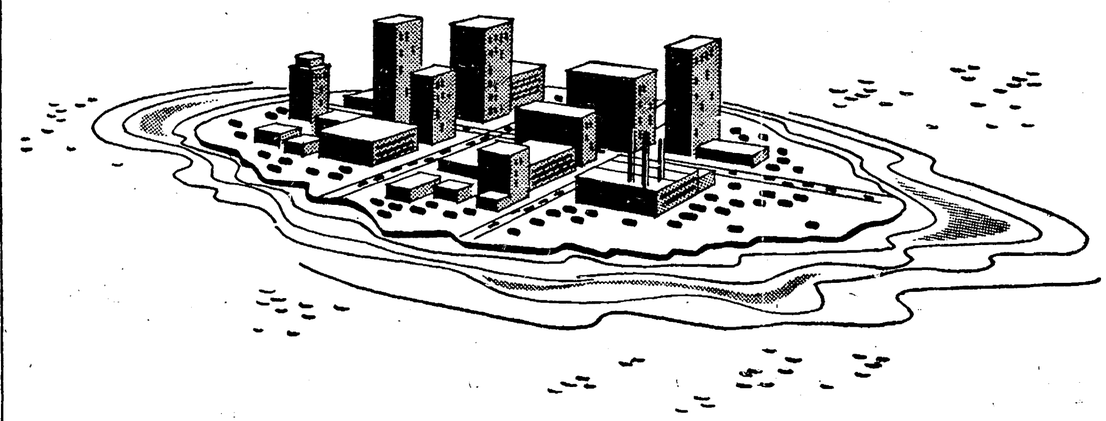

Why not add a holiday touch to meals on other days by including cranberry sauce or cranberry relish? The sharp tang of cranberries goes well with almost any meat, pork, chicken or veal in particular, as well as its traditional table companion, turkey. And the Detroit Consumer Marketing Information Agent says cranberries are very, very plentiful this year.

How De We Read Prescriptions?

by Fred Kopp, R.Ph.

According to some of our customers, prescriptions aren't written — they're doodles. Yet your pharmacist looks at the cryptic scribbles and calmly reaches for a bottle. The right bottle. Prescriptions are written in a special international language known to physicians and pharmacists . . . a kind of universal, standardized shorthand that's grammar and penmanship-proof. It exists so any registered pharmacist anywhere can fill your prescription accurately. That's how we're always able to give you just the drug your physician prescribes, and why the directions are always correct. We are pleased to serve you whenever prescription medication is required.

NO TOWN IS AN ISLAND

No town lives alone. It lives with its neighbors and must work with its neighbors. Its people should take an interest in the things that are good for the area and should take part in programs for development of the area.

The competition among areas for business and industry is hot and growing hotter. How well an area fares in this competition usually depends upon how well the towns of the area work and live together.

It is almost always true that as the area goes, so goes the town.

Spectacular World of Sound Now Here

One of the most elaborate and certainly the most amazing demonstrations of high fidelity sound and stereophonic reproduction is now being presented daily and evenings too, at K.L.A. Laboratories, Inc., 7375 Woodward avenue in Detroit.

Developed by the Electro-Voice Company of Buchanan, the World of Sound Demonstration has been seen and heard by thousands across the nation at various high fidelity music shows.

Actually a complete and dramatic sound story, the World of Sound shows what the human ear actually hears. The listener discovers the importance of tone range in listening to music—and the listener learns very definitely that genuine high fidelity music in the home is not necessarily too costly.

You'll see and hear the now famous Electro-Voice Stereon—the diminutive speaker system which can be used with your present speaker to reproduce brilliant stereophonic sound.

You'll see the complete line of nationally known Electro-Voice loudspeaker systems—from the magnificent Patrician down to the compact Baronet.

The World of Sound demonstration is, without question, the most informative Hi-Fi and Stereo demonstration ever presented to the public—and should be seen and heard by everyone interested in good music.

Demonstrations are continuing daily through December at the K. L. A. main store and showroom, 7375 Woodward avenue. In conjunction with the demonstration, K. L. A. is offering an outstanding door prize—one of the famous Electro-Voice Patrician IV four-way Loudspeaker Systems, worth $890. Nothing to buy—full details and entry blank when you visit the demonstration.

James J. Lombardo Assigned to Alaska

FORT RICHARDSON, Alaska—Army Pvt. James J. Lombardo, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Lombardo, 19990 Emory court, Grosse Pointe, Mich., recently was assigned to the 43d Artillery at Fort Richardson, Alaska.

A radar operator in the artillery's Battery B, Lombardo entered the Army in June 1958, completed basic training at Fort Benning, Ga., and arrived in Alaska last month.

He is a 1955 graduate of St. Paul High School and attended the University of Detroit.

Simplest Heating Device

A wire carrying an electric current is the simplest heating device. The wire, which is generally made of a nickel-chromium alloy, is also the simplest electrical device and is 100 per cent efficient as all the power taken from the line is converted into heat.

March of Dimes Workers Needed

The March of Dimes chairman of women volunteers for Wayne County, Anne Campbell, has issued a call for volunteers to help conduct the most important drive in the organization's long disease-fighting history of 21 years.

She said extra hands will be needed during the 1958 campaign to help raise funds for the expanded new health program being launched in January.

"The unexpected polio epidemic in Wayne County this year which has struck down 865 persons and ended 23 lives, made us grateful to American women who raised the money rushed to Detroit to take care of the epidemic. With patient care bills for 1958 in Wayne County totalling more than a million dollars, plus the cost of starting the Salk vaccine clinics to protect more than half a million persons, the 1959 March of Dimes should be the biggest ever held," she said.

In addition to the polio problems Wayne County will have for years to come, the new March of Dimes program sets up a broad attack against arthritis and birth defects. An over-all basic research program in virus diseases and disorders of the central nervous system is under way. Funds are urgently needed also to train professional disease fighters both in laboratories and hospitals.

"With the Salk vaccine record behind us, we go on to even greater victories. The new program that grew out of the polio fight, has raised our sights to disease targets that affect literally millions of people.

"Especially we need more volunteers than ever before to take part in the Mothers' March.

Ford Fantasy Open to Public

The annual Ford Rotunda Christmas Fantasy, one of the most popular yuletide shows in America, opened for a 25-day "run," November 29.

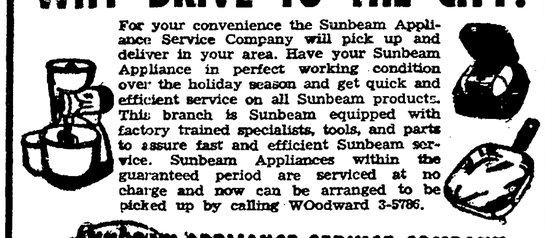

Scores of new exhibits, including a 15,000-piece miniature circus, and animated characters from fiction and folklore, are on display to entrance young and old alike.

A 40-foot Christmas tree with 18,000 lights dominates the Rotunda front entrance, and Santa Claus is enthroned in his hilltop castle to hear the wishes of youngsters.

As in the past, the Rotunda center court is occupied entirely by a huge Nativity scene, with life-size figures of the Holy Family and the three Wise Men.

Rotunda hours are from 8:30 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Saturday, and from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Sunday. The Christmas Fantasy will close at 3 p.m. Christmas Eve.

MERRY CHRISTMAS and HAPPY NEW YEAR

Church to Give Yule Musicale

The combined choirs, soloists, vocal and instrumental ensembles of St. Paul Ev. Lutheran Church will present their annual Christmas musicale on Sunday evening, December 21 at 7 p.m.

The church is located at Chalfonte and Lothrop. The presentation of special Christmas music has been a long tradition with the musicians of this church. All are welcome. There is no admission charge.

Among the works to be presented by the combined choirs are the "Advent Motet" by Schreck and seven sections from the Christmas portion of Handel's "Messiah." An ensemble of a few instrumentals performing Handel's original parts which have been recopied for this purpose, will give new musical life to these world-famous compositions.

Among the soloists who will appear that evening will be Joan Reynolds and Ernest Deiss, sopranos; Donald Hoemke, soprano; and Leonard Schim, baritone. The latter two soloists will present portions from the Handel work.

Augmenting the vocal groups of the church will be the string quartet from Cass Technical High School plus William Prince, trumpet, from Wayne State University. The organist is Helen Koepplin, also director of the junior choir, and Dr. John Bryden, director of the chapel and senior choirs.

To Hold Service Christmas Eve

St. James Lutheran Church, McMillan at Kercheval, will observe Christmas Eve with a candlelight carol service at 11 o'clock.

The chancel choir, under the direction of Carl Munzel, will beautify the service by singing the following Christmas anthems: "On This Good Christmas Morn" by Noble Cain; a Besencon carol, "Shepherds Shake Off Your Drowsy Sleep"; "Greensleeves" by Shaw; "Lo, How a Rose" by Praetorius; Christiansen's famous "Beautiful Saviour"; and "Silent Night," arranged by Gruber-Wetzel.

Mrs. William Heller will sing "O Holy Night" by Adams; other solos will be sung by Mrs. Evan Evans and Mr. Albert O'Neal. Rev. George E. Kurz will have a brief Christmas meditation.

A family worship service will be held on Christmas day at 11 a.m. "A Joyous Christmas Song" by Gavaert, and "Let Your Gladness Have No End" by Reske will be sung by the chancel choir. There will be a nursery for small children.

CHRISTMAS EVE SERVICE

The Christmas Eve Candlelight worship services at Salem Memorial Lutheran Church, 21230 Moross road at Chester, will feature the music of the three choirs and the English Handbell Ringers. These traditional services will again be held at 6:30 and 8 o'clock on Christmas Eve.

Four members of the 1957 Detroit Lions squad, tackle Lou Creekmur, linebacker Joe Schmidt, and defensive halfbacks Jack Christiansen and Yale Lary were named to All-League teams.

Church Prepares For Dedication

Additions to the Baldwin Organ will be dedicated at St. Paul Ev. Lutheran Church, Chalfonte and Lothrop next Sunday at the 11 o'clock service.

In memory of his wife Adele Miottel, Raymond W. Miottel has contributed a Choratone, a Harp Ensemble and an amplification unit, which will enhance the beauty of the instrument.

The three choirs under the direction of Dr. John Bryden will present a Christmas concert at 7 o'clock Sunday evening. A string ensemble from Cass Technical High School and a trumpeter from Wayne State University will be featured. There will be an informal reception in the fellowship hall afterward. Mrs. Clemens Koepplin is the organist.

The Sunday School children will present their annual Christmas service at 7 o'clock on Christmas Eve. The program will feature the story of the composition of "Silent Night." The primary children will present a pageant entitled "A Christmas Fantasy."

The church Christmas worship service will be held at 10 a.m. Christmas Day.

The young people of the church will sing Christmas Carols for the sick and shut-in members of the congregation on Tuesday evening, leaving the church by chartered bus at 6:30.

We celebrate Christmas as the birthday of Jesus of Nazareth, leader, teacher, philospher, Man of the Ages. This is indeed a fitting time to re-affirm our belief in his message of the Brotherhood of Man.

Our Christmas heritage also includes elements from other times and faiths. From time immemorial, mankind has celebrated the season when the sun reverses its trend and the days grow longer, as a symbol of the eternal renewal of life. The Yule Log and the Evergreen Tree of the tribes of Northern Europe; the Festival of Lights of the Jewish religion, and countless other mid-winter celebrations, have each contributed to our Christmas.

If you are in sympathy with a religion whose pursuit of truth leads it to this broad interpretation of the Christmas spirit, we cordially invite you to visit our church. On Sunday Dec. 21st, at 10:30 a.m., we will have our Christmas Festival Service, with Children's Pageant. Rev. Hammond will speak on "The Light That Christmas Brings" The traditional Candlelight Service will be held Christmas Eve at 11:30 p.m.

GPHS Alumni Get Invitation

Alumni of Grosse Pointe High School who are home for the holidays and who plan to visit the high school are urged to register in Room 141 (the main office).

The registration is intended to make it possible for the graduates to visit classes and meet former teachers.

Class visitation, a new feature this year, is being arranged by the Guidance Co-ordinator, Dr. F. J. Hanson, so that students and teachers may benefit from the college and work experiences of alumni.

Slides Into Bus On Icy Pavement

An icy pavement was blamed for the collision of a car and a Lake Shore Line bus at Colonial and Lake Shore roads, in which the car driver suffered a neck injury on Wednesday, December 10.

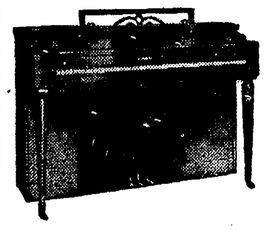

Suffering a severe cut, according to a police report, was Albert H. Aldinger, Jr., 54, of 138 Meadow Lane, who was taken to Bon Secours Hospital by Shores police, for treatment of the wound, and then was issued a ticket for not having his car under control and causing an accident.

The driver of the bus, Frederick T. Hanneman, 46, of 29309 Taylor, St. Clair Shores, told police that he had stopped at Colonial to pick up a passenger, and as he closed the door, he felt the force of the impact. Neither he, nor any of the bus passengers was injured.

Aldinger said he was about 50 feet behind the larger vehicle when it came to a stop, and when he applied his brakes, the car slid on the icy pavement into the rear of the bus. Damage to both vehicles was extensive, according to police.

Court date in the matter has been scheduled for Monday, December 29.

Time is money—but don't spend a dollar's worth of time trying to save a penny.

162 Policemen Given Diplomas

A graduation luncheon honoring 162 police officers, including 32 trained in the Pointe, who completed 90 hours of basic police training, was held at the Devon Gables, in Bloomfield Hills, on Thursday, December 11.

The course is given in three 30-hour semesters, in schools held in the Park, Royal Oak and Lincoln Park, under the sponsorship of the Southeastern Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The policemen are taught the fundamentals of law enforcement, and the principal duties of a lawman, and how to react in emergencies of all types.

The 32 officers who trained in the Pointe, were instructed by Park Police Chief Arthur Louwers and his staff, at sessions held in the Park Municipal Building. The balance of the graduates were trained in Royal Oak (84), and Lincoln Park (46).

The master of ceremonies at the luncheon was Birmingham Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley, chairman of the Police Chiefs Training committee, who introduced the Rev. Stephen L. Malaric of the Holy Name Church in Birmingham, who gave the invocation.

The principal speaker of the evening was Thomas J. Gearty, Special Agent in Charge of the Detroit office of the FBI, who spoke on "Public Relations in Law Enforcement."

Diplomas were presented to the graduates by Pontiac Chief Herbert Straley, president of the association.

Unique Christmas Cards Being Shown at Museum

In keeping with the Christmas motif. David R. Keever, of 821 Washington road, president of the Wolverine Post Card Club, and members, Mrs. Sophie Pollard and Mrs. Esther Orcutt, have graciously provided materials and design for a unique Christmas Card Display in the Collector's Corner at the Detroit Historica Museum. The exhibit continues through December.

It is especially appropriate that the Post Card Club members should assemble the Chrismas Card Display, because the first postcard was sent as a Christmas Card . . . designed by John Calcutt Horsley, R.A., painter and illustrator for Sir Henry Cole, the inaugurator and first director of the Victoria and Albert Museum in London, England.

The important and voluminous custom we now have apparently began with the laxness of one man, who in 1843, having neglected to write greetings to his correspondents, sent this first card to a number of his friends, instead. From this modest beginning, Sir Henry Cole's adding Christmas greetings to the age old custom of sending New Year's greetings, the practice of sending Christmas cards grew steadily.

Four years later in 1846, one thousand copies were lithographed, hand colored and sold by Felix Summerly's Treasure House in Bond Street. Some Puritans frowned on the first card, whose center panel depicted the "conviviality of the season;" however, the small panels on the sides which depicted the acts of "clothing the poor", and "feeding the hungry", helped offset the criticism.

By 1860, the custom of sending Christmas cards became established throughout the British Empire.

Most of the cards featured at the display come from the first decade of the 20th Century. A few older and newer cards are included to show contrast; for example, interesting and amusing to note are the "changing faces of Santa". Favorite kinds of Santas apparently come in fads: there are the weary and burdened with work, the happy, the sad, the strict little old men who read letters from "parents of naughty children", the whole gamut—to the present jolly old elf, the Santa familiar to us today.

Manger scenes and toy motifs are also very popular in card presentations.

Collecting cards is fun—and the Wolverine Post Card Club which meets at the Detroit Historical Museum on the third Tuesday of each month — cordially welcomes new members.

G.P.U.S. News Notes

The December issue of the Grosse Pointe University School Parents' Bulletin has just appeared. Its cover was designed by Nancy Asselin, of the 4th grade. The Bulletin is issued by a committee of parents. Mrs. H. James Gram is chairman; Mrs. Otto W. Pongrace is co-chairman; and the following ladies comprise the staff; Mrs. Grant E. Armstrong, Mrs. John J. Bradley, Mrs. Paul P. Fischer, Mrs. William P. Harris, III, Mrs. John C. Hodges, Mrs. Robert E. Jones, and Mrs. John R. Odell.

Basketball has replaced football these days at G.P.U.S., but the pep rallies of the fall are continuing right on into the winter, and just about every Friday at 1:30 p. m. the rafters really ring in the Upper School auditorum.

Chistmas programs at G.P.U.S. for the various grades will be as follows: Grades 1-3, 9 a.m., Dec. 17; Grades 4-6, 10 a. m., Dec. 17; Grades 7-12, 11:30 a. m., Dec. 12.

Mr. Allan Shelden, III, President of the Board of Trustees, through a gift to the Nursery School, has made it possible to change the film "Nursery School in Action" from magnetic sound to optical sound. The film will be reedited, then sent to Kansas City to be reprocessed so that it may be used again n January in the community.

Random notes from the colleges reveal the following bits of information: Judith Diekoff—honor record in her freshman year at Wellesley; Julie Pearce—Dean's list at Smith; Mary Susan Ryan—Dean's list at Marymount; James Barnes—Dean's list at Yale. Edgar Howbert and Reade Ryan have maintained consistent honor records at Princeton and may well qualify for Phi Beta Kappa. Mr. Howbert is a candidate for a Rhodes Scholarship.

Henry Peiter and William Lewis were among 50 students of a freshman class of 650 who passed Brown University's proficiency test in English.

Normal ambulatory life began again last week for Bruce Gillis, '60, and Paul Sparre, '59, both of whom had the casts removed from their legs. Each had suffered injuries during the football season. However, the unparalleled "hex" in the field of sprains and fractures continued, for Tom Clark, '60, promptly sprained his ankle in the first basketball game of the season.

The list of those injured either in or out of athletics this past fall (and we may have omitted some) includes Tom Ballantyne, Jim Davis, Pete Smith, Paul Sheridan, Miss Lockhart, Mrs. Robinson, Peter Dodenhoff, Barbara Love, Janet Old, Sally Leisen, Peter Kross, Johnny Kretzschmar, Marilyn Davis, Betsy Webber, John Webster, Mrs. Munger, John Adair, and Sally Lewis. These statistics seem to this writer to exceed all the injuries he can remember over a seventeen year span at G.P.U.S.

At the Christmas program, December 12, the Glee Club of grades 9 through 12 at Grosse Pointe University School presented a program of carols and hymns. Mrs. David Arner was the director, with Mrs. Hortense Robinson as accompanist. Readings and commentary were by Gregory Otte, '59, and Susan Stair, '59. Miss Elena Grossi, '59, sang an Italian Christmas song, and carols were sung in the foreign languages by French, Spanish, and Latin classes. The G.P.U.S. Band also accompanied several numbers.

The recent cold weather has made possible an extended period of skating on the G.P.U.S. rink during the last two weeks, and just about all grades have participated at one time or another. Some of the very special fans even stay after school until darkness ends the afternoon's activity.

More than a dozen G.P.U.S. students were among the young people who aided the drive last Saturday for funds to flight muscular dystrophy. The campaign was conducted locally in the Grosse Pointe Village and netted some $200 out of a total of over $1,100 from the Detroit area.

Council Lists Approved Films

The Grosse Pointe Motion picture and Television Council has released its list of approved films for the month of December, as recommended by the National Legion of Decency, Parents Magazine and Consumer's Research.

Recommended for family viewing is "The Barbarian and the Geisha," holder of a Special Merit Award by Parents' Magazine. Filmed in Japan, this is the story of Townsend Harris, the first U.S. Envoy to that country. It tells of the Japanese distrust of the American "barbarians" and how the latter overcome this obstacle to international goodwill. Also on the family-recommended list is "From the Earth to the Moon," a science-fiction tale of a trip to the moon, dramatized in detail from the rocket's take-off to the flight through a shower of meteorites.

There are four films judged to be highly acceptable for teen-agers. They are "Tank Force," "Houseboat," "The Matchmaker," and "Ride a Crooked Trail."

Plan Concert at Parcells

The nimble fingers of art students are busily preparing festive decorations for the annual Christmas concert, to be given at Parcells Junior High School on Friday, December 19. This special musical program is the traditional feature of the second P.T.A. meeting of the year.

Donald Simmons, teacher of vocal music, has been rehearsing with 130 students in the A and B Choruses, the Girls Glee Club, and the Boys Glee Club. These singers are combining their talents to present an interesting program of traditional Christmas music. The selections will include:

"O Come, Little Children," Schuiz; "The Three Kings," French Carol; "O Come, O Come, Emmanuel," Traditional; "What Child Is This?", Old English; "Break Forth, O Beauteous Heavenly Light," Bach; "How Sweet the Bells of Christmas," Klem; "Watts Nativity Carol," Shure; "No Candle Was There and No Fire," Lehmann; "O Holy Night," Adam; "Jingle Bells," Pierpont.

A group of ninth graders will be featured on the program. Jon Gandelot, winner of the annual Oral Reading Contest, will read the selections from the Bible which recount the Christmas Story. Sharon Wright will be the soprano soloist in the carol, "Lullaby on Christmas Eve." A special arrangement of "Silent Night" will be presented by another soprano soloist, Lana Pellock. The three student accompanists are Dianne Ruppe, Sue Lamont, and Betty Place. Also, Mrs. Thomas Given, a member of the faculty, will accompany some of the numbers on the organ.

A replica of a stained glass window made by art students will be used as a backdrop. This year it has been enlarged to include more of the Nativity scene. The members of the audience will be invited to join in community singing. Mr. Thomas Groehn will conduct a short business meeting of the Parcells P.T.A., of which he is president.

Following the program there will be a social hour, with refreshments served, held in the two gymnasiums, which will be attractively decorated. Mrs. Howard Gandelot, Mother Vice President of the P.T.A., has asked Mrs. Robert Bux and Mrs. George Allardyce to be co-chairmen of the reception. They are being assisted by Mrs. Roger Colpaert and Mrs. Fred Robinson, and the eighth grade Home Room Mothers.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend this Christmas program of fine music. As one student wrote on his composition in English class, "Christmas music expresses the meaning of Christmas just the right way."

Publicity Hex? Yale Lary of the Detroit Lions had his first punt blocked in the National Football League just four days after a publicity release called attention to his record of 139 pro kicks in five seasons without having a single one blocked.

Open House Set by Trombly PTA

The Trombly P.T.A. Christmas Open Schoolhouse is set for Monday evening, December 22. The classrooms will be open from 7 to 9 o'clock for visitors to view and enjoy the colorful, varied Christmas activities and other projects of the children.

Association officers and committee members will be on hand to greet visitors and guests. The festive board will be set to lend spirit and sociability to this informal occasion but for purposes of clarity it must be said that the fruit punch will be "sans spirit."

The social committee, under the leadership of Mrs. Henry Dobzalski and Mrs. Richard Royer with the able assistance of Room Parents, is planning and arranging the decor and refreshments.

Parents, families, friends, and neighbors are cordially invited to the Trombly Christmas Open Schoolhouse.

Play to Benefit Epilepsy Drive

Detroit theatergoers are offered an opportunity to enjoy an evening in the theater while donating to a worthwhile cause. The management of the Shubert Theater has made it possible for The Greater Detroit Council, For Epilepsy to a share of the box-office receipts at the Friday, December 26, performance of "Sunrise At Campobello", which opens in Detroit, December 22.

The Greater Detroit Council for Epilepsy, a volunteer organization with a membership of 455, is devoted to the raising of funds for research in the treatment of the disease. One of its primary aims is to encourage a broader public understanding of epilepsy and its related problems. The Council is particularly eager to dispel the false stigma that is still attached to epilepsy by many who persist in believing it to be a hereditary mental disease. A Neurology Scholarship Fund for research has been esetablished and portions of it have been allocated to the College of Medicine of Wayne State University and Henry Ford Hospital.

Proceeds from the benefit performance at the Shubert will be used for further research. Among other accomplishments of the Council are: placement of epileptics in gainful employment; donation of funds to the Michigan Society for Epileptic Children for the benefit of children at Campe Crile; and the handling of countless requests for information on the proper services for the epileptic.

"Sunrise at Campobello" opens Monday, December 22 and will run through Saturday, January 3. Leif Erickson plays the Franklin Delano Roosevelt role, created on Broadway by Ralph Bellamy, in the play produced by Dore Schary.

Tickets for the benefit performance, December 26, may be ordered by writing Epilspsy, P.O. Box 2295, Detroit 31, Michigan, or by calling LAkeview 1-0155 and may be purchased at the box office of the theater.

Festival Choir To Sing Sunday

The Festival Choir of Christ Church, Grosse Pointe will present its annual Christmas Concert this Sunday at 4 p.m. The major work of the performance will be the Midnight Mass by the French composer Marc Antoine Charpentier.

In addition two works for solo organ, by LeBegue and DuMage, and Part II of the Christmas Oratorio by J. S. Bach will be heard.

The concert is open to the public. The Festival Choir is under the direction of Richard Roeckelein, the church's musical director and official organist of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Bridge Called Top Attraction

The Mackinaw bridge and the straits it crosses are judged the most interesting attractions in Michigan by a group of University of Michigan professors and staff members.

Last month 33 U-M faculty and staff members, selected from a cross-section of fields and interests, were sent questionnaires asking them: "What, in your opinion, are the 10 most interesting attractions (both natural and man-made) in Michigan—those you would suggest natives and others see when touring the state? List them in order of preference."

The question was answered by two-thirds of those queried. Of those who replied, nine picked the mammoth bridge and the Straits as their first place choice.

As might have been expected, Detroit's industry—including all the auto plants with emphasis on Ford Motor Company's River Rouge plant and the General Motors Technical Center in Warren—was second in the poll. Only one first place vote, however, was awarded these attractions.

The locks at Sault Ste. Marie were selected as the third best place to visit. The Lake Michigan sand dunes, with special emphasis by the group on Sleeping Bear Sand Dune at Glen Arbor came in fourth.

Swinging south again, the professors and staffers picked Dearborn's Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum in the fifth place spot with one first place vote.

Michigan's Upper Peninsula again grabbed the spotlight as Newberry's Tahquamenon Falls registered in sixth place.

Following closely behind was the modest selection of the University of Michigan with special emphasis on the Phoenix Memorial Laboratory, atomic reactor, Michigan Stadium, and North Campus.

Eighth place, with one first place vote, were the controversial Porcupine Mountains, including Lake of the Clouds.

Ninth most interesting attraction, according to the survey, is the U. P.'s Keweenaw Peninsula. In tenth the group chose Mackinac Island.

Dominican Sisters To Benefit from Tea

30th Anniversary to be Celebrated at Christmas Party in St. Ann's Convent to Aid Sisters Who Nurse Poor; Mrs. J. William Lavigne, President

This year marks the 30th anniversary of the Sisters of the Dominican Sick Poor. To aid the sisters, who as registered nurses minister to the needy, a Christmas Tea will be held at St. Ann's Covent, 700 Boston Boulevard, on Sunday from 2 until 6 o'clock.

This is the third year that the convent has been opened for the tea. Arrangements are being made by the Auxiliary Board of Directors under the chairmanship of Mrs. J. William Lavigne, of North Renaud road, president of the Auxiliary.

A musical program has been planned by the Dominicanette choral group and Frank Gillen, who will play. There will be a traditional tree and Christmas goodies baked by the members.

Pointe Auxiliary members working on the tea include Mrs. Charles T. Fisher, Jr., Mrs. Emmett Tracy, Mrs. Cyril J. Burke, Mrs. Walter A. Bayer, Mrs. Robert L. Gotfredson, Mrs. Arthur G. Kirchner and Mrs. Arthur F. Martz among others.

Wallaces to Entertain Family for Christmas

The David A. Wallaces, of Lewiston road, will have, as guests for Christmas their two nieces and their families, the David Blackburns and David, of College Park, Md., and the Leigh B. Middleditchs, Jr., Katherine and Leigh III, of Charlottesville, Va.

On January 17 the Wallaces will leave for an around the world cruise, arriving home on April 1.

Christian Science Reading Room Moved

Members of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Grosse Pointe Farms, are happy to announce that the new location of their Christian Science Reading Room is now on the ground floor at 19613 Mack avenue in Grosse Pointe Woods.

They cordially invite any who would like to read, purchase or borrow the King James version of the Bible, many fine Bible dictionaries and commentaries of authorized Christian Science publications to visit them at their new home.

PROTECT CHILDREN

Children under 10 years of age cannot be expected to realize the serious consequence of playing with match or fire. Never leave them alone in the house, even for a short time warns the Institute for Safer Living. Remember, the high price of a child's life may hinge on the small cost of paying a baby sitter.

Weisgerbers Continue New Years Tradtion

The F. Rankin Weisgerbers, of Lincoln road, will hold their annual New Year's Eve open house this year.

The Greene Fenleys III, of Old Greenwich, Conn., will be here for the holidays with the Weisgerbers and the junior Fenleys, of University place.

The most serious problem in life seems to be that we get too old to soon and wise too late.

Unitarian Church Service Committee Has Yule Plans

At Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church a great deal of Christmas activity and preparation centers on "Giving Ourselves" through the program of the church's Service Committee and by way of a "Service of Giving" participated in by church school children.

The children's Service of Giving on December 21 will benefit the National Unitarian Service Committee's work with the Navahoes at Gallup Center, N.M. Each child will bring a small child's book, a wash cloth or towel, wrapped in holiday paper. These will be placed in the "Christmas Gift Box" during their Christmas Service of Worship.

Gallup Center wants these particular items because so many needy Indian families use this building as their only available "home" during their visits to town. G.P.U. children also participate actively for UNICEF, T.B. seal sale, Red Cross, Easter seal sale, United Foundation and the Education Scholarship Fund of G.P.U.

On Friday, December 19, Mrs. Charles Feldman, assisted by Mrs. Philip Tabb, Mrs. John Gulevich and Mrs. Lark Jones will take a Christmas party to the young (under 12) patients at Lafayette Clinic, Detroit. There will be a carol and Christmas song program given by a group of selected voices from East Detroit High School with their choral director, Mrs. Bernice Manos. A Santa will distribute individual gifts to each child and their refreshment table will be gaily decked with two "holly men" and holly trimmed candy cane favors.

The second unit of Grosse Pointe Unitarian Service Committee will take a similar party to their "adopted" ward of men at Northville State Hospital on Sunday, December 21. Ten to 12 members of the congregation will "host" this party. They will have a Christmas Tree and a Santa who will have identical gifts for each patient.

Mrs. Manos will present the East Detroit High School concert choir in a program of Christmas songs and will conclude the program by leading a "community sing" which most of the patients enjoy. The serving of the homemade cakes and coffee is always a highlight for the patients since sweets are real luxury for them.

Feeling that their service efforts help many of these people, also the children, to discover that "Somebody Cares," is ample reward to those who take part in this type of service program.

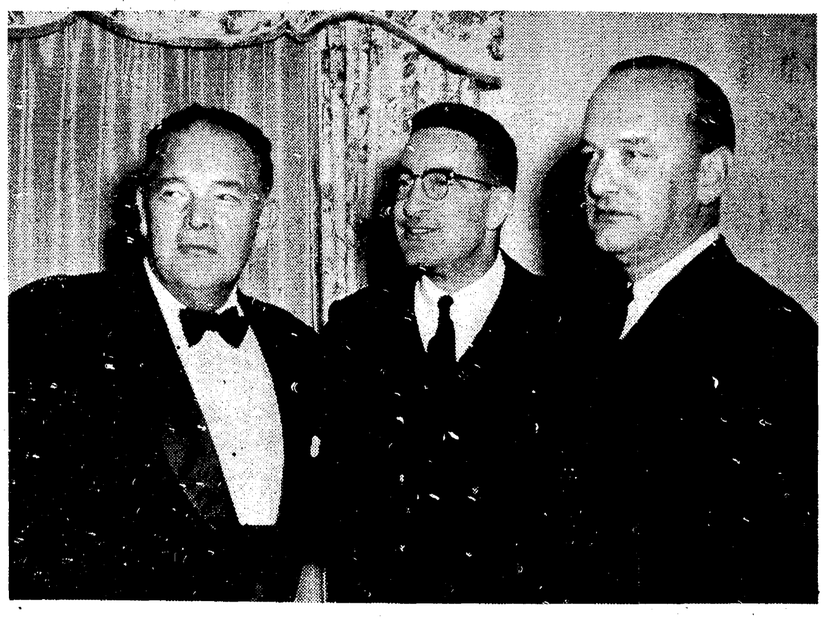

Both Lafayette Clinic and Northville State Hospital welcome pre-arranged visits from small groups interested in giving constructive and creative help in this long neglected field of human need.

WANTS TOO MUCH

The luxuries of today make it hard for a man to keep his earning capacity geared to his yearning capacity.

The world is filled with small caliber men who are trying to explode in big caliber jobs.

Yacht Club Elects New Officers

Robert F. Weber, 992 Lake Shore road, was elected commodore of Grosse Pointe Yacht Club by the board of directors at the club's annual meeting Dec. 10. He will serve for 1959, succeeding Charles L. Jacobson in the top post.

Weber is a past trustee of Grosse Pointe Shores, and present trustee and a past president of the Grosse Pointe School System.

Among his many activities, he currently is president of Goodwill Industries, Detroit; is present chairman of Kiwanis International Committee for Programs and Music and a past international chairman of Kiwanis International Committee on Business and Public Affairs; is a member of the United States Defense Orientation Conference Association.

William A. Ternes was elected vice commodore for 1959. John R. Wilt was named rear commodore.

Cletus J. Welling was chosen treasurer, and Paul I. Moreland was named secretary.

GPYC's membership chose four directors for three-year terms. They included Wilt and Welling, who were re-elected. Newly - elected were Hans Gehrke, Jr. and Charles J. Glasgow.

Charles A. J. Kotcher was appointed by the board of directors to fill the unexpired term of one year, created by Charles L. Jacobson who resigned from the board.

Library Report Issued by Orr

Robert Orr, head of the Grosse Pointe Public Libraries, has submitted a report highlighting the activities of the various buildings for the first quarter.

Mr. Orr stresses that there has been a continuous, substantial increase in library use throughout the past six years. The first quarterly report, issued a year ago, showed an increase in book circulation of 6,959 over the previous year, while book circulation for the current year shows an increase of 15,362 over the same period.

The Park Branch led the three Libraries with an increase in circulation of 5,188, followed by Central with 5,129 and Woods close behind with 5,045. Of the total increase, 8,800 books were adult and 6,562 juvenile.

Registered users increased 1:132 over a year ago, totaling 23,236 on November 1 of this year. The adult increase was 797; juvenile, 335.

The book collection reached 89,731—a net increase of 6,869 books over a year ago. 4,789 residents attended 131 meetings during the season's first quarter, all at the Central Library.

Use of the three Public Libraries by children was especially noteworthy during this period. The Summer Film Program, with weekly film showings in each of the three Libraries, was attended by 5,518 children. 512 attended 22 Pre-School Story Hours. 1,100 children in 42 classes visited the Libraries for Story Hours and Library Instruction and, prior to the summer vacation, 5,000 Vacation Book Lists were delivered to children in the classrooms.

A political plank has to be wide enough for some sidestepping.

REPORTS THEFT

Early Yule Dinner

Most families are anticipating a quiet holiday together with reunions around the Christmas table. The John Denlers are having their dinner for all the relatives a bit early.

They will dine on Tuesday evening and exchange gifts, for the William Denlers will be off for her family's in Saginaw over Christmas.

Bonnie Denler, the John Denler's daughter, is a Christmas Day baby, but she will have her very own celebration Saturday with a grown up luncheon at the Boat Club with a visit to Santa on that day of the club's party.

Her mother and father are deep in rehearsal for the Christmas tableaux at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church where they will portray Mary and Joseph in the seasonal re-enactment of the timeless story.

Week-End Story

This week-end there will be parties for the very young and the young in heart. Carol Stephenson has invited friends to help her celebrate her 12th birthday at a very grown up dinner on Friday. The group will go on to dance at the Neighborhood Club.

On Friday afternoon Mrs. Charles M. Endicott will welcome friends to a Yule tea in her Blairmoor court home.

Mr. and Mrs. Remington Purdy will hold open house in Beaupre road on Sunday.

Delayed Arrival

On the Saturday afternoon after Thanksgiving the first big snow fell and although it was cheered by skiers and young sledders it was a small tragedy to the C. Bayard Johnsons, Jr., of Shaker Heights, O.

They had planned to drive to the Pointe for the christening of Richard Allan Speer, Jr., son of the Richard A. Speers, of University place. Mrs. Johnson was to be godmother for her new nephew but there had to be a proxy that day for the roads from Cleveland were impassable.

But the Johnsons will arrive this Wednesday to stay with his parents, the senior Johnsons, of Merriweather road, and of course, visit the heir.

Here for the chistening at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church (one of the last at which the Rev. Paul Ketchum officiated) were the Alfred Entenmens, of Stamford, Conn., the paternal grandparents. Bill Boydell and Jack Stephenson were godparents for young Richard and the senior Johnsons entertained everyone at supper after the ceremony.

Here From California

Not taking a chance on flying weather Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Johnson, of Beverly Hills, Calif., left by train this week to arrive here for the holidays.

They will be the guests of their son-in-law and daughter, the Henry Kleins, of Touraine road, over Christmas and of course, the Kleins' five pretty daughters.

The Kleins will have a quiet family Yule with a small dinner for her parents during the Christmas week. Mrs. K. is currently learning lines for "Light Up the

Bocci-Byrwa Vows Solemnized Here

Daughter of John S. Byrwas, of Lexington road, Wears Embroidered Antique Satin for Recent Rites in Our Lady Star of the Sea Church

Marilynn Byrwa, daughter of the John S. Byrwas, of Lexington road, was married recently in Our Lady Star of the Sea Church to Jerome Bocci, Jr.

For the rites the bride chose an antique satin gown fashioned with an empire waist and scooped neckline. The bodice and full skirt, which deepened into a cathedral train were embroidered with seed pearls and lace.

A crown of lace and pearls held her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried white orchids, roses and stephanotis.

Nancy Schik was maid of honor and the attendants were Marge Kaye, Jean Cavanaugh, Diane Delling, Judy Johnson, Karen Evatz and Sandy Jasky. They wore sapphire blue satin ballerina gowns and carried yellow roses and carnations.

Gasper Dara was best man for the bridegroom, son of the senior Boccis, of Bournemouth road. Ushering were Bill Dean, Bob Byrwa, Bob Piche, Bill Arpino, Tom Bocci and Jack Byrwa.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Hillcrest Country Club.

Few things give more satisfaction than being able to park on what's left of the other fellow's nickel.

Borge Concert Seats Available

The 1,200 persons who pay a steep price to hear the famed pianist-comedian Victor Borge in a program Saturday night, December 20, in the Detroit Institute of Arts Auditorium, will meet the artist in person at a reception afterward. Furthermore, their contributions of $25 each will be used to purchase contemporary art works for the Art Institute's permanent collection.

Saturday night's concert is the most festive fund-raising event ever staged for the Detroit Institute of Arts. It is sponsored by the Friends of Modern Art, an Art Institute Founders' Society activity which since 1931 has helped develop the modern art galleries.

Chairman is Mrs. Frederick M. Alger, Jr. On the patron list are 106 individuals and couples who have each contributed $100 for the cause.

Refreshments will be served during intermission on the balcony foyer and in the Romanesque Hall adjoining the main floor. The reception will be held in the Romanesque Hall.

Attendance is limited to 1,200 because that is the seating capacity of the auditorium. Some tickets are still available by calling the Founders Society office at the Art Institute, TEmple 1-0360.

Although Borge has drawn capacity crowds for years, his current tour has had unprecedented patronage. In Worcester, Mass., where 400 persons were seated on stage and 3,300 out front, he was almost unable to return to the stage after intermission because of the crowd. He shouldered his way through and then spent 15 minutes helping a lady find a seat on stage.

Over the years, Borge's "intimate" show has been presented in such intimate spots as Soldiers Field in Chicago and Copenhagen Park in Denmark with 110,000 in the audience. For such arenas with a center stage he has installed a mechanical turntable on which he and his piano revolve steadily so that all may see. This giant-sized "lazy Susan," said Borge: "Makes me feel I'm being served Danish smorgasbord style. But in Detroit I won't need it — I'll be straight-forward at the Art Institute."

Center Holding New Year's Ball

An especially gala New Year's Eve Ball will be held at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center, 32 Lake Shore road. As traditionally, it will be primarily for the college crowd home for the holidays.

The price $5.00 a couple includes a bargain package. Al Ross' fine orchestra will play from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. Everyone will be provided with noisemakers and fancy hats. Just after midnight a fine turkey and ham buffet supper will be served complete with all the trimmings. Punch will be served throughout the evening but no alcoholic beverages will be allowed.

Approaching midnight, there will be the usual welcoming of the New Year with all the horns and noisemakers going full force. On the stroke of 12 the lights will be flicked off for a few seconds to officially mark the change of calendar.

Cards announcing the affair are being mailed to all recent high school graduates in time to reach them as they return from their various campuses.

There are only 250 tickets available and everyone is urged to go to the Center and purchase his ticket well in advance. If there are any left they can be had that night at the door, but judging from past attendance at these parties this is doubtful.

The party is semi-formal; men can feel comfortable in either a dinner jacket or a dark suit. The young ladies, of course, will have on their glamorous party dresses.

Centenary Collegians Arrive Home Friday

Students from the Pointe who are students at Centenary College for Women, Hackettstown, N. J., will return home Friday for their Christmas holiday and remain until January 6.

The trouble with learning lessons the hard way is that it's usually the wrong people who get the experience.

School to Fete Club Presidents

Past presidents and presidents of federated clubs will be honored at the annual membership tea of the School of Government to be held on Monday, December 22, in the Hall of Citizenship, Detroit Historical Museum, Woodward avenue at Kirby.

Among the guests will be Mrs. Wilber M. Brucker, founder of the club and its educational director, who, with Mr. Brucker, secretary of the Army, will come from Washington for the holiday season.

Colored slides on Formosa will be presented with Edward Bova as commentator.

Mrs. James W. Reid, president has named as co-hostesses, membership chairman Mrs. Clyde M. McGuffie and social chairman Mrs. J. Raymond Almond.

Their committee will include Mrs. Miles Knowles, Mrs. Lloyd Grinnell, Mrs. Samuel M. Brownell, Mrs. Clarence A. Nichols, Mrs. O. R. Enge, Mrs. C. R. Martens, Mrs. Edward A. Long, Mrs. Eugene Hunter, Mrs. Charles H. Rese, Mrs Walter Laitner, Mrs. Owen R. Baker and Mrs. Norman Parker.

Santa to Visit Tots At Lochmoor Sunday

Cartoons, Presents, Ice Cream and Cake on Party Agenda for Youngsters Who Will Tell St. Nick Their Requests; Mrs. Melvin Duffy in Charge

This year, with all the snow, Santa Claus should have no trouble coming in for a landing on his annual visit to Lochmoor Club. However, snow or no snow, he will not disappoint the lads and lassies eagerly awaiting him at 3 o'clock on Sunday, December 21.

Mrs. Melvin Duffy and her committee have been getting things ready for St. Nick's visit. Because Santa's schedule is so crowded that he can't promise the exact time of his arrival, the youngsters will be kept in the party mood with a program of cartoons.

Of course, the climax of the day will be the arrival of Santa and his bag of toys. As every boy and girl tells his dearest wish to Santa, he will be given a present to keep him happy until ice cream and cookie time.

To assist in the lost mitten department, the zipping of zippers, and tugging on of boots, will be a Junior committee. Just graduated from the "Santa Claus Set" themselves Leslie Beckenhauer, Patty Moran, Susie Tracy, Kathy Duffy, Margaret Ann Tappert, Terry Atkin and Barbara Ohly will be on hand to help with the little ones.

Mrs. Harvey Olson will probably avail herself to their help with Terry, Bobby, Teddy and Muffy; as will Mrs. Don Woods with her four Nancy, Ginia, Tommy and Caroline.

Looking forward to the big day are Linda and Sandy Colombo; Billy Nimz; Nancy, Bill, Susie and Tommy Marantette; Linda and Patricia Lane; Barbara, Edward, Linda and Chrissy Brink. Kristin Schmidt, not quite two, will make her debut; and of course Chissie and Timmy Duffy will be there in their holiday outfits of the brightest red.

People wouldn't have such a hard time keeping up with expenses if they didn't have to keep up with their neighbors.

Skiiers Have Snow

No worries about snow for the skiers this holiday and the usual horde will be leaving for the northern slopes as soon as they have unwrapped their gifts.

The Rex Brophys have planned a New Year's Eve gala at Otsego with skiing and parties on the agenda.

The Eric Strohs will dash East for the holiday, spending it with her mother in Llewelyn Park, N. J. after which they will meet the David Stackpoles (Alice Jane Hooker), of Providence, R. I., and the Daniel D. Jacksons, (Bettina Stroh), of Rye, N Y., for a gay ski week-end at Whiteface Mountain, N.Y.

Big New Year's Eve Plans

All the guests who danced at the fabulous pink ball given by the C. Hascall Blisses, the Harold R. Boyers and the Thomas Morrisons last Friday night at the Little Club honoring the Harley Earls are still talking about this most elegant party of the season.

The Boyers and Morrisons, party givers extraordinary, will do it again on New Year's Eve. They will be joined in their hosts duties by the T. D. Buhls for this gala.

Scene of the dinner dance will be the Lothrop road home of the George O. Johnstons, who will be moving January 15 to East Jefferson avenue, to live for a spell while they complete plans for building a new home, site still unknown.

Movers will take all the furniture from the Johnston's living room to leave plenty of space for dancing and dining at this festive welcome to 1959.

Candy Village

The James Harlands have built a candy village to excite their children for Christmas. A church of marshmallows, slated roofed in gum, sugar lump and gingerbread houses accented with lemon slices, cinnamon drop roads and the whole confectionary delight outlined in licorice.

Mrs. H. is quite a gourmet, her holiday cookies always a special treat. This year she didn't do her usual baking because of the Christ Church Fair and this candy village is the exciting substitute.

The Harlands have invited a group for Sunday brunch, to view but not taste the village, and also enjoy other holiday goodies the talented hostess will brew.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Bacon, of Barrington road, announce the engagement of their daughter, ANN ELIZABETH, to James W. Fulks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hilburne G. Fulks, of New Orleans, La.

The bride-elect attended Detroit Business Institute, was graduated from the Carnegie Institute and is a junior at Wayne State University.

Cadet Fulks is a senior at The Citadel in Charleston, S.C. A September wedding in St. Michael's Church is planned.

EASY TO TAKE

Too many people seem to prefer a religion that is not too hard on the conscience.

Huestis Clan On Yule Trip

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Huestis are giving their family an exciting trip for a Christmas gift.

Saturday they left their Grand Marais boulevard home for Lansing where they picked up son, Mac, after his exams. He will be leaving January 3 for the University of Mexico.

Then they went to Howe Military Academy in Indiana to get son, Robert, a senior. From Howe it was on to South Bend, Ind., where son, Peter, was competing against Notre Dame on the DIT diving team.

Daughter, Jean, a student at Grosse Pointe High School, was along on these jaunts and the whole family finally arrived in Miami where they caught a plane for Bimini and joined the schooner, Polynesia.

This world's largest schooner is taking a vagabond sail through the Bahamas, along the coast of Cuba to Havana, and making port in Miami.

Here the Huestises will leave for Sanibel in the Gulf where they will meet the Bennett Burgoons, formerly of the Pointe, for Christmas. Both families will stay at the Colony.

They will be home in time for New Year's Eve festivities.

Ballet Classes Start Dec. 29

Mary Ellen Cooper who has been the War Memorial's ballet instructor for the past several years will be starting a new term of instruction Monday, December 29.

Because this is during a school vacation it will be possible for many parents to bring their children in to enroll on this date. Miss Cooper will be interviewing in the late afternoon between 3:30 and 6 p.m.

Miss Cooper will take beginning ballet students at age 5. Classes are grouped according to age and ability up through the teens and are scheduled after school and all day Saturday in the Center's recreation room.

Miss Cooper also is scheduling a special adult class on Wednesday evenings at 8:30. One need not be an experienced dancer to join and it is an excellent way to keep fit.

Soroptimists Hold Yule Fete

Teen Lighters Hold Election

Members of Our Lady Star of the Sea Teen Lighters Club held their first meeting on Sunday afternoon in the Church Club Room. The officers for the following year were elected at this time: president, Tom Staats of Austin; vice-president, Ann Meyers of Regina; secretary, Pat Spoor of Regina; treasurer, Phil Zoufal of Grosse Pointe High; and corresponding secretary, Pat Schuch of Grosse Pointe High.

Following the meeting, 63 members boarded the bus for the skating party.

Father Barton has designated the second Sunday of each month, 10 o'clock Mass to be the Teen Lighters Communion Mass.

Parish students who are in the ninth grade and attend Parcells or Brownell Schools are invited to join the Teen Lighters Club.

Future events planned for the pleasure of the Teen Club members call for enjoyable get-togethers. Check the dates off on your calendar.

Sunday, January 11, a Toboggan Party, followed by a short business meeting. Refreshments will be served.

February 7, a Valentine Dance, with an orchestra on hand for your dancing pleasure and on March 15, a St. Patrick Swimming Party.

Then in April there will be a Roller Skating Party.

John Andersons Home From Far East for Yule

Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson, the former Lisa Ferraday, have arrived home for Christmas from a wedding and business trip which took them to Hawaii, Japan and Australia.

They will occupy the Washington road home of Mrs. Charles B. Warren, Jr., while she is in Europe and spend Christmas Day with the Wendell W. Andersons, of Vendome road.

Also at the Andersons will be the Charles P. Sagars, of Short Hills, N.J., with their children. The Andersons will give a party for them two days after Christmas. Joining the group for the day will be the Wendell Andersons, Jr. and their children.

Accomplishments are the result of mistakes that have been corrected again and again.

Youth Council Holding Dance

All nights are alike to teen agers during the holidays. That is why Youth Council at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial has chosen Monday night, December 29 for the Christmas Dance. The hours will be from 9 to 12 and it will be a dress-up affair though not formal.

The party has been made a girls' invitational so that the young ladies may have the opportunity of repaying their best beaux for their Christmas presents.

The dance is being called "Mistletoe Magic." Pat Hagland is in charge of the decorations—an easy job this time as the Memorial is currently resplendant with Christmas arrangements. Linda Libby is ordering the refreshments. Diane Longyear is inviting the chaperones. Peggy Carpentier is arranging the entertainment. The boys are confining themselves to running the door committee which is headed by Jon Rice and to taking care of the clean up in the charge of Phil Keim.

An extra special collegiate orchestra headed by Dick Ween will furnish the music for the dance.

It is a couples only affair and this time the girls will be stopped at the door for the usual hand stamp.

Favors are seldom satisfactory—so live that you don't need them.

MacFarlanes Building Home in Delray Beach

After spending 17 winters in Delray Beach, Fla., the Donald MacFarlanes, of Country Club drive, have decided to build a home of their own there. They plan to move in sometime in February.

Home for Christmas with his family is Donald MacFarlane, Jr., from Taft School. He will be joining sister, Marilyn, 13 and brother Bruce, 5.

SAFETY HINT

Use care and common sense when choosing ashtrays for the home, urges the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company. Trays should be sufficiently deep, with grooves or holders which snuff out cigarette stubs, and should be of the type that will not tip over. Larger trays that hold more than a dozen stubs are recommended. Thoughtless smoking and use of matches causes the highest percentage of all home fires.

People may refuse to face the facts, but that doesn't change them at all.

Police Investigating Resident's Complaint

Mrs.. Dorothy Dee, of 704 Lincoln road, reported to City police on Wednesday, December 10, that things were amiss at her residence.

She told of going to the garage, where her car had been parked overnight, and finding its headlights on and the battery dead. She also reported missing a man's gray coat, a rubber raincoat and a road service card.

An investigation is pending.

SAFETY HINT

Many "electrifying moments" spring from unsafe electrical appliances and amateur home wiring, according to the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company. Toasters, grills, mixers, floor lamps, washers and vacuum sweepers are only a few of many modern home appliances which start fires after becoming defective. Fires from electrical causes are the third largest destroyers of homes and property.

BROCCOLI VERSATILE

Broccoli is considered the aristocrat of the cabbage family. It's good tasting and good-looking served plain. So we sometimes forget to try it in other dishes says the Detroit Consumer Marketing Information Agent. You can prepare a casserole with layers of fresh broccoli, ham and sharp Cheddar cheese, covered with white sauce. Or, you can prepare a salad with stalks of cooked broccoli marinated in French dressing. Arrange broccoli over slices of head lettuce and add a dash of mayonnaise flavored with lemon juice. Or, you can top fresh cooked Broccoli with creole sauce made with diced celery, green peppers and chopped onion. Broccoli is considered the aristocrat of the cabbage family. You might like to consider broccoli for one of your menus.

Scherer Mansion To Be Ball Scene

Grandchildren of the Late Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Scherer Will Give Dance Friday Evening in Lakeshore Road Home Built as Summer Retreat in 1898

Not for three decades has the late Hugo Scherers' masion been decked for so festive a ball as will take place Friday evening with the Scherer grandchildren as hosts.

Mrs. Forbes Howard, Skid Livingstone, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Scherer Higbie and the Harley G. Higbies, Jr., of Oklahoma City are giving the dance in the mansion's third floor ballroom.

The home in Lakeshore road at Moran, was built in 1898 as a summer retreat and then converted to a year round residence. The Scherer grandchildren have many memories of past Christmas galas in the old house and will revive the gracious past at this dance, decking the house from top to bottom with holiday greens. A buffet supper will be served at midnight in the dining room.

The John C. Chapins will have guests for cocktails before the ball and will dine at the Country Club. The Woodruff B. Crouse party will go on to the Little Club for dinner after cocktails in their Hall place home.

The Victor H. Taylors are planning a party at home and dinner at the Little Club and the Roy D. Chapins, Jr., and the Benson Fords will have dinners before the ball.

Marriages, Engagements and Charitable Parties Kept Pointers in Whirl During First Six Months of Year

After gift giving, open houses, debutante parties, caroling and warm hearted hospitality during the 1957 Christmas season, Pointers settled down slightly in this new year to the constant round of community activity and small gatherings which are a 'year round delight.

On the first Saturday of January dark-haired beauty, Christine Watling, in candlelight peau de soie, wed Peter B. Paddock in Christ Church, one of the loveliest of 1958's brides.

Not replete with holiday goodies, a turn-away crowd reported at the War Memorial in January for the gourmet classes. Mrs. Irving Ingraham was named new president of the Women's Republican Club of Grosse Pointe. Miss Marie Louise Anderson, guiding spirit of the Garden Center membership drives, began a new one.

James S. Hudson, Jr., claimed Julie Hutchins as his bride in Christ Church Cranbrook and after a New York wedding trip they went to live near Sylvan Lake.

A generation of Tau Beta Community House workers saw the need for their settlement house vanish as the organization closed the Hamtramck house this month after 30 years service.

Commodore Charles L. Jacobson and his lady were honored at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club's annual ball.

February

Skiers have been away to Otsego and Sun Valley since holiday time, although local snows have not been so evident.

Lovely Mrs. Henry T. Ewald, Jr., and a talented cast presented "Desk Set" for Ibex to benefit the Nephrosis Foundation.

The William Moore Joys' house warming in St. Clair, attracted Pointers who drove up to view the new modern home overlooking the river.

The teens were busy rehearsing for the February 27 Tuxis Show, always a big event is this variety show.

Mrs. Frederick C. Ford, Mrs. Alexander L. Wiener, and Mrs. Roy D. Chapin, Jr., worked very hard on the National Cathedral Association drive and brought Mrs. Theodore Wedel here to speak at Christ Church.

Sigma Gamma sold its hospital school in Mt. Clemens and enlarged its contribution to the Orthopaedic Clinic.

March

Jack Oliver came to write our columns and we pinch-hit for the editor while he vacationed in Cuba, where a large contingent of Pointers joined him this blustery month.

The Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra burst into a fever of activity for their annual fashion shows and teas.

Dartmouth alumni in the area grandly supported their alma mater's 200th year at a DAC gala.

The Girl Scouts marked their 46th birthday and sold batches and batches of cookies.

Grateful alumnae of the Convent of the Sacred Heart initiated a fund raising idea, they planned a mother-daughter breakfast at the GPYC.

April

The traditional showers brought a horde of Pointers traveling south during their children's school recess. In Palm Beach this month Suzanne Gardner, daughter of former Pointers, the Arthur Gardners, wed Frank MacLear.

Republican women went into action with luncheons and fund raising activities slanted toward the fall elections.

All the local clubs had Easter festivities, Lochmoor bringing the bunny to delight the small fry.

Fashion experts looked for the chemise at the Easter parade, Pointe women as usual, lovely and conservative in gay suits and the tiniest of hats.

A lovely bride of April was Julie Watson, who married Scott Daugherty, Jr., in Christ Church.

Bachelors sent out invitations to their "New Girl in Town" party at the Hunt Club. Two of the local eligibles married girls, not local. Robert Cole Finnie married Anne Stoddard in Connecticut and Julius John Huebner found his bride, Cynthia Keydel, in Indian Village.

May

The Grosse Pointe Mothers' Club sponsored a very successful spring tea, bringing out the membership in aid of scholarships for High School students.

Our international glamour girl was married in Christ Church. Sammy Chapin became the bride of Cincinnati's Charles R. Hassan.

Lochmoor ladies and gentlemen donned blackface for the annual Minstrel Showboat.

The Pointe's 100 years and its three nation heritage were ably shown at the Grosse Pointe Garden Center's Flower Show at the War Memorial.

Social Review of 1958

Church famed pastor, Norman Vincent Peale officiated at the wedding of his niece, Cynthia Stafford and Harry M. Sisson, Jr.

Water colors and oils done by local artists went on display at the War Memorial.

Duke Ellington played to a packed dance floor at the Country Club and the next evening the Fine Arts cast of "Can Can" put on a show at the Boat Club.

James Howe Campbell traveled to Lake Forest, Ill., to marry Marie Washburne. They are living nearby in St. Clair Shores.

Popular Joan Wick Henry was a May bride. She married Paul Toohey and they have a quaint carriage house on Maumee as their address.

His Excellency Sir Harold Caccia, British Ambassador, was honored at a plush dinner at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

Over the Memorial Day week-end cottages at Huron Mountain, Mullet, Pointe aux Barques and other Michigan resorts were visited and turned out by their Pointe owners. The stay-at-homes had a gay holiday at the clubs.

June

The season of debutantes and brides also brought the Cottage Hospital Kitchen Tours, always a bright spring rendezvous, and the Grosse Pointe University School Carnival.

Joan FitzSimons had a lovely home reception following her wedding to Marcus Wellington Smith.

Tau Beta held its spring meeting in the Lothrop road home of Mrs. J. Stewart Hudson. Mrs. Nelson Diebel opened her Touraine road home for the tenth anniversary of the Bon Secours Assistance League, which celebrated with a tea.

Our own Alden Edgar, staffer of the News, became engaged to John Robert Gordon.

Rugged members of the Yacht Club traveled to the Old Club for a gala Field Day.

Sigma Gamma members turned out for ground breaking ceremonies at the new orthopaedic clinic.

Debutantes hurried home from colleges to enjoy the June season. Michael Ann Mullen's pink and white dance at the Little Club was memorable. And Virginia McMillan was presented in the old fashioned way at a home dance in the gardens of the Rathbone place home of her parents, the James McMillans.

Alice Jane Hooker was married to David Stackpole in peau de soie and rose pointe lace and the newlyweds summered in Little Compton, R. I., in a honeymoon cottage before taking up their residence in Providence, R. I.

There were a raft of pretty brides, Anne Aldinger, Mary Sue Morgan, Marcella Seymour, Nan Maxwell, Donna Wartena and Susan Scott, to name just a few, in this most popular nuptial month.

Use Great Care In Picking Toys

Now that the biggest "toy time" is here, if you intend to give toys, know what the child can use before you buy them, Dr. Joseph G. Molner, City-County Health Commissioner, advises. Adults must watch that they do not buy gifts to please themselves rather than to give pleasure to the child.

Make sure one of your first considerations is the child's happiness, but remember that safety and suitability for age are important if they are to bring this happiness. Wise selection of toys as gifts by aunts and other relatives will help to give the child's parents an enjoyable Christmas in addition to delighting the child. Select toys that are durable to give to young children. They should be easily cleaned and not have removable parts small enough to be swallowed.

Each toy should stimulate its owner to some activity, either mental or physical. Some of the longtime favorites which meet this requirement include dolls, wagons which have pull strings or round handles and blocks with rounded corners. These are universal favorites with children, because they can be used by youngsters of different ages and under almost all circumstances. Instead of buying toys which do things, it is well to remember that children need to do things with their toys. Activity should come from the child not from the toy.

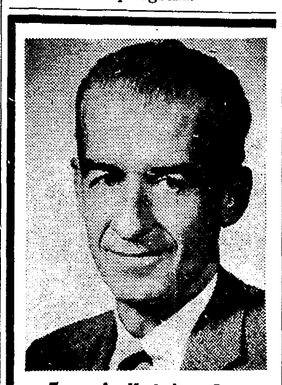

Normal physical growth and personality development require opportunity for wholesome play and toys are the tools of play. Take into consideration the age and living conditions of the child before you buy toys. A sled or skates given to a boy who has no safe place to use them only tempts him to take unnecessary risks and to use them in unsafe places or else they make him feel frustrated because he cannot enjoy them.

The tiny baby's first toy should be a bright one to hang where he can follow it with his eyes, but not grab it. When he is three to four months old, he can grasp and hold a rattle. A child between one and two years is learning fast and he needs toys to push and pull, to load and unload, to pile up and knock down again.

A young child will be happier if his holiday celebration is spread over several days. If he is given too many toys at once, he is merely confused and bewildered and his enjoyment diminishes by the confusion. Make sure the toys you give him do not have sharp points and that they will not break or splinter. Avoid stuffed animals with glass or button eyes which a child might breathe into his windpipe or shove into his ear.

Young children and babies are sensitvie to the emotions of those closest to them. If there is a baby or young child in your family, surround him with the feeling of security and warmth of a happy family holiday and try not to make it too different from the experience he is accustomed to on other days. Don't overwhelm him with too many visitors, too many toys, or too much excitement. If you expect him to have a happy Christmas, make sure that he has enough rest by preventing over-excitement.

The purpose of learning to employ every minute properly is to unclutter our hours, deliver us of feverish activity and earn us true leisure.—Robert R. Updegraff.

Drunk Drivers To Go to Jail

Blaming holiday office parties for boosting the Chirstmas traffic toll, Traffic Judges George T. Murphy and John D. Watts issued a statement this week announcing their holiday policy of giving straight jail sentences to all motorists convicted of drunken driving. The statement follows:

The National Safety Council has blamed office parties for boosting the Christmas traffic toll and has urged employers to keep the cork in the bottle or eliminate the parties.

Detroit's Traffic Court heartily endorses this plea by the National Safety Council. In past years in Detroit, tragic accidents stemming from drinking at office or plant parties have wiped out the lives of many innocent persons. The holidays have been bleak for the families of those involved in the accidents.

In hopes of avoiding any such tragic accidents this year, this court wishes to call to the attention of employers the hazards created by office or plant parties where drinks are served. In our opinion, employers who give such parties are morally, if not legally, as responsible for any accidents that result as the drivers involved.

We also wish to alert all persons who drive after they have become intoxicated that they face jail if detected by police officers.

Christmas Tree Hazards Cited

Seven ways to reduce the fire hazard of Christmas trees are listed by State Fire Marshal Glenroy M. Walker in the current issue of Michigan Fire Service Bulletin, published by the University of Michigan Extension Service.

The ways are:

1. Buy a freshly cut tree if possible and keep it out of doors standing in water or snow until such time as it is taken into the house to be set up. Use a standard which will contain water and fill the container daily. This will keep the tree green and moist and reduce flammability.

2. Place the tree away from doorways so that it will not block an exit and support it so that it will not be knocked over.

3. Use only lights which have been approved by Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc. and disconnect them when there is no one around to maintain a watch. Do not overload the circuit and make sure that the wire is in good condition.

4. Use only non-combustible decorations, or when using combustible materials, be sure they are flameproofed.

5. Place gift wrappings in a box and dispose of them quickly as they could be accidentally ignited.

6. Keep a good fire extinguisher available and know how to use it, if necessary.

7. When the tree becomes dry, dispose of it quickly and safely.

"There is no reason why, with the proper care and an 'ounce of prevention,' Christmas should be any more dangerous than other times of the year," Walker adds.

"Remember the hazards that a Christmas tree may present. Remember the accidents and lessons that we can learn from the past. Remember that common sense and good housekeeping are the best fire prevention methods that we can practice."

Church Holding Special Service

The Christmas candlelight service at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church will take place December 21 at 8 p.m.

Following a carillon recital of traditional Christmas carols by James S. Vaughan there will be five tableaux of the Christmas story with Russell Werneken as narrator; Don Kipke as the Prophet Isaiah; Gloria Pflaumer as the Angel and William Coddington, Don McConanchie and John Mason, shepherds. Edward Acomb, Harry Schroeder and William Carleton will be the Wisemen. The part of Mary will be played by Heather Denler and Joseph, by John Denler.

Directing the tableaux are Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Leisinger; Mrs. Edward Suits and Mrs. James Vaughan are in charge of wardrobe; Mrs. Lewis Leisinger, Mr. Clark Wells and Mr. James Vaughan are arranging the lighting and Mrs. Hansel Wilson will do the decorations.

Ford Museum Having Exhibit

The Henry Ford Museum's Eighth Annual Christmas Exhibit, "Home for Christmas," shows how a nineteenth century family went about getting ready for the biggest day of the year.

The exhibit is open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and continues through January 4.

Symbolizing the theme, a horse and bright red sleigh stands in winter background as a centerpiece, ready to take the married children back home for the occasion.

A modern homemaker would find the Christmas preparations of the nineteenth century similar to today, but the means to do them much different.

Cleaning the house — the necessary first step to get ready for this season—includes such objects as a painted tin Sitz bath of 1850, early vacuum cleaners, scrub board and early motorized washer.

The additional baking and cooking which mom had to do at this season, is shown too. The kitchen equipment includes an 1884 stove, a churn made by E. H. Funk's Champion Churn Works Toledo, Ohio; tin cookie cutters and earthenware pudding moulds and pitchers.

As a feature of the baking exhibit, Mrs. Bertha Finger, supervisor of food production at Greenfield Village's Glinton Inn, bakes oldtime holiday cookies on the old-fashioned stove.

A section also is given to decorating the house. This includes tree ornaments of assorted shapes and sizes and a nineteenth century Christmas tree complete with cranberries, popcorn strings, hand-blown ornaments, candles and other oldtime trimmings.

Gifts for father, mother and children of that era comprise the largest section.

Serving the Christmas dinner in 1900 is represented by a Victorian table all set for the gay occasion, with nearby sideboard complete with silver plated candelabra and large silver punch bowl.

While the family was at dinner, they might have been entertained with an Edison Acme phonograph with its wax cylinder record playing softly, "The Bird on Nellie's Hat." Afterwards, they might have entertained themselves with a stereoptician, or viewer, or perhaps an electric Radioptican, for projecting colored pictures.

Christmas cards make up the last section and besides old-fashioned greeting cards it includes such writing equipment as a portable desk, ceramic and glass ink bottles, quill pens and cutters and wax seals.

drink, whether at such parties or under any other circumstances. This court is again announcing its annual holiday policy on drunken and drinking drivers. Tho policy follows:

All persons convicted of drunken driving will receive straight jail sentences without any alternative. (Under State law, it is also mandatory that the driver licenses of such persons be suspended for at least 90 days.)

Persons convicted of reckless driving, where drinking is a factor, may also receive straight jail sentences.

Unsealed Cards to Canada Cost 4c, P.O. Warns

With the Christmas mailing period rapidly approaching its peak it has become apparent, local postal officials said that some confusion exists among mailers as to the correct amount of postage to apply to Christmas cards for dispatch to Canada and Mexico.

Postmaster E. L. Baker reminded senders that unsealed Christmas cards, bearing no written message, mailed to Canada or Mexico must bear postage in the amount of four cents for the first two ounces and two cents for each additional two ounces.

Baker said that cards mailed at this rate, if undeliverable at original address will not be returned to the sender. First class postage will provide this additional service without further charge, and a message may be included.

The first class rate of postage to Canada and Mexico is four cents per ounce. To avoid possible disappointment, to sender or the recipient, mailers are urged to send their greetings first class.

Sets Deadline for New Applicants

Friday, Jan. 23, is the deadline for applications from students seeking admission for the first time to the evening division of Lawrence Institute of Technology. Applications now are being accepted at the campus, Northwestern Highway and Ten Mile road.

Officials announce that former students may register Monday, Feb. 9 through Friday, Feb. 13, for the evening classes which begin Monday, Feb. 16.

But new students must apply on or before the Jan. 23 deadline to facilitate the transfer of high school credits before registration begins.

Because of Lawrence Tech's record enrollment of 3150 students this year, the mid-year enrollment will be limited to 70 first term freshmen in engineering, 100 in the engineering pre-college classes and 200 in the Technical Institute division, it was announced by James W. Hobson, vice president.

There's a "point" of quality in the newspaper case that Abbe uses for its customers. If it's well-fitted and set to fit the form then you know that craftsmen have been a-working. The tempo of printing is not always judged by ink, presses and paper, but by that extra something that the artisan puts into his work. Newsprint needs quality craftsmen to dress it up and put extra life into your sales message. After all, almost all builders use bricks, lumber and stone, but it is unusual when two builders put that same "oomph" into the building. Abbe will put that "flare" into your newspaper, Mr. Publisher. So, why not call Abbe Press immediately?

Feared Fordson Swimmers Submerged by Blue Devils

What was supposed to be one of the two toughest tests of the 1958-59 season for the Grosse Pointe Blue Devil swimmers turned into a rout last Friday, December 12, when the Pointers submerged the Fordson Tractors 70-26 in the local pool.

Every member of the Devil team had been brain-washed into believing the Tractors had the necessary tools to derail the Devil express from the track to the title which they shared last year with Fordson.

Before judge George Wibbey fired the gun for the first event the Devil team and the capacity crowd of fans figured this would be the meet of meets in the Border Cities League this season. Even Coach Paul Wheeler was on edge as he gave his charges last minute instructions. But by the time the fourth event was run, everyone, except the Fordson team and its followers, was sitting back enjoying the rout.

Slam First Four

The Devils slammed the first four events and held an unheard of 32-4 lead. It wasn't until the fifth event, the 100 yard breaststroke, that the Tractors managed the first of two second places and that coupled with its first place in diving was all that kept the Devils from scoring a perfect meet.

To add insult to injury the Devils' 160-yard Medley Relay team, of Mike Bremer, Dick Law, Jim Carne and Mark Gregory, splashed to a new school and pool record of 1:23.1. The old mark was 1:24.9.

Fordson's only claim to fame that day was the slam scored by its two excellent divers, Bill Monthaven and Roger Lancina. Monthaven placed fifth in the 1957-58 State meet last year and is figured to be one of the top favorites next spring in the State classic. Both boys exhibited diving talent such as has not been seen off the Blue Devil board in many a year.

No Double Winners

There were no double winners in the meet because Coach Wheeler pulled his "power" in the last five events in an effort to keep the score respectable. But the Devils were not to be denied.

The Devils' next big test will come this Friday, December 19, when they travel to Monroe to tackle the Trojans who also are reported to be a strong contender for the title. This will be the finale before the Christmas holidays. The Pointers will swing back into league action when they entertain Wyandotte on Friday, January 9.

Friars Romp To Third Win

Teams may win and teams may lose but Austin, the 1957-58 State Class A champions just keep right on winning. The Friars chalked up their third straight win of the season when they toppled league foe St. Joseph 78-29 last Friday, December 12, on the Friar court.

It was just as easy as that, too. The Friars' starting quintet rolled up a comfortable 22-7 lead in the first period and then retired to the bench to watch the second stringers have some fun. Not only did the starting five exhibit some plain and fancy shooting but turned in an exceptional defensive display which limited the Bluejays to exactly "0" points in the first five minutes.

Hold Big Lead

By halftime the second stringers had run the score to 42-15. In the second half, except for the first three minutes, Coach Hollosy used only juniors, who continued to romp by posting a sizeable 57-20 margin going into the last period, which saw the Friars put on a shootng exhibition for 21 points.

The Friars were playing without the services of veteran Gary Ruprich, who injured his back and will not return to action until after the holidays.

De La Salle will be the next league opponent who will attempt to halt the Friars mad dash for their fourth consecutive Central Division title. The Friars have won the crown in each year since they joined the league and there isn't a single lad of the all male enrollment that won't tell you "we're going to win it again."

Boat Banter

By Fred Runnells

As winter's icy grip slowly strangles Lake St. Clair, members of the yacht clubs which dot the shoreline are busy electing their new flag officers for the 1959 season. The first club to change the watch was the Detroit Yacht Club, which held its election late in November and elevated Freddie Jensen to the post of Commodore, Al Steiner to Vice Commodore and Judge Joseph Belanger to Rear Commodore.

Crescent Sail Yacht Club came next on December 2 and Elijah Poxson, Jr. became Commodore with Frank E. Taylor assuming the Vice Commodore duties. Dr. R. G. Glasner was the successful candidate for Rear Commodore.

The Detroit River Yachting Association, which is comprised of 15 member clubs from Port Huron to Grosse Ile held its election on Friday, December 5. At that time John Detwiler, of the Grosse Pointe Club, moved up to Commodore, Arthur Rautenberg, of Crescent Sail Yacht Club, took over the Vice Commodore post and Robert L. Benkert, of Bayview Yacht Club, became the Rear Commodore.

Grosse Pointe Sail Club, comprised entirely of Grosse Pointers, held its annual election-dinner meeting and Charles Todd, Jr., was elected Commodore, William Patrick Connolly became Vice Commodore and William McGraw is the new Rear Commodore.

The Inter Lake Yachting Association held its annual meeting at Lorain, Ohio, and elected Lee T. Braken, of the Port Clinton Yacht Club, to Commodore. Ted Barnier, past Commodore of Crescent Sail Yacht Club, became the new vice commodore and Al Mastics, past Commodore of Cleveland Yacht Club, was the successful Rear Commodore candidate.

Clubs still to hold elections are Grosse Pointe Club; Grosse Pointe Yacht Club; Grosse Ile Y. C.; Ford Y. C.; Detroit Boat Club; Edison Boat Club; North Star Sail Club; St. Clair Y. C.; Windsor Y. C.; Port Huron Y. C.; Windmill Pointe Y. C. and Bayview Yacht Club which annually is last to hold its election which usually takes place early in January. Boat Banter would appreciate learning of the change of watch in these clubs and will publish the results of the elections when notified.

From time to time during the past summer the News carried an interesting column, "The Commodores' Corner", in which many of the Commodores of the various Detroit River Yachting Association clubs expressed their views on yachting in general.

It was the first time the Commodores had had an opportunity to put their thoughts in print and some of the articles cast a new light, from a different angle, on boating. Because of this we thought it would be interesting to hear from one of the "Mamadores" so we asked Mrs. Paul Adam, the wife of the 1958 DRYA Commodore, to provide the following article.

"WIFE OF A COMMODORE"
By Dorothy Adam

From the distaff side, Mamadore, that is—I have been graciously allowed to have the LAST word. The gold stars have been changed to silver and the year 1958 now a panorama of work and recreation, the fun of serving and sharing a common interest with enduring friends. Of course, it was not always thus, I earned my rating first as a wife of a sailor, learning the ropes the hard way — mate, cook and crew. Even joined the Helldivers club at Bayview Y. C., one cold October night many years ago. Believe me, lines on the deck are not designed to walk upon. In view of my close association with yachting, from the 'Lagoonatic' days to the gold stars of the Detroit River Yachting Association, I would like to do some cheering from the sidelines:

THREE CHEERS for the ladies 'in waiting'—waiting for the race to start—waiting to finish; waiting on endless meetings, late dinners. I know of no other sport where the little woman shares such enthusiasm in the preparation and participation as in boating today. Age is no barrier. She knows the proper terms, salty yarns and ditties; can take the helm and is prepared to rough it in bermudas and topsiders. At the end of the day, she arrives pretty and charming, bringing fresh attire for her man and the promise of relaxation and good fellowship ahead.

THREE CHEERS for the yachtsmen who provide the use of their boats on Regatta days in true cooperative spirit and congeniality. Finally, THREE CHEERS for the "braid"—they too do a bit of 'waiting' at the line. The D. R. Y. A. is as strong as the men behind it. Each volunteering many hours of planning and preparations throughout the year. God bless 'em, one and all.

I am proud and happy that I could share this past year with my silverhaired Commodore. Thank you.

Fordson Beats Blue Devils In Opening League Game

After racing through three non-league opponents, the Grosse Pointe Blue Devils bumped into a rough and ready Fordson quintet that snapped the Pointers' streak at three with a low scoring 45-41 victory on the Tractor home court last Friday, December 12.

Actually Fordson was a two-man team but what those two men did to the Devils was amazing. Captain Emil De Grazia pumped in 21 points and Dave Scott, a 6' 6" 260-pound lad whom Coach Vanderhull had been afraid to start in three previous games because of his clumsiness, dropped in 20 points. Between the two they equalled the entire Blue Devil point output.

De Grazia, last year's co-captain and one of the best guards in the league, was figured to give Coach Howard MacAdam's squad a trying time, and he did. What wasn't known was the ability of Scott and that was the story of the Tractor victory, which was the second in four starts this season. Scott controlled the boards grabbing 24 rebounds.

Purdy Bottled Up

The most disappointing showing was that of veteran forward Rem Purdy who was limited to a meager four points. Purdy's lapse is unexplainable. Usually the lanky 155 pound cager can be counted on to collect points in the double figures and proved this in the first three games this season. Despite Purdy's ineffectiveness the Devils were in the ball game right up until the last minute and a half when they pulled to within two points of the Tractors, 39-41. But at this point the Devils appeared to lose their poise and Fordson racked up two quick buckets and finished off with four free throws to ice the game.

Although veteran guard Larry Bruzzese was suffering from the after-effects of a week-long bout with the flu he was the bellringer along with Lars Anderson. Bruzzese caged nine points and Anderson kept the score respectable with 15 points of his own.

College Teams To Clash Here

Gonzaga University, perennially a power in Northwest college basketball circles, is laying its bid for national prominence on the line in an encounter with Lawrece Tech at the Grosse Pointe High School gymnasium on Tuesday, Dec. 30.

Seven players, including 7-foot, 3¼-inch Jean Claude Lefebvre, of Paris, France, the nation's tallest player, are back from the 1957-58 team that won 16 games while losing 10.

The game against Lawrence Tech will be the third in a five-game cross-country tour that will pit the Bulldogs against such formidable court foes as Bradley, of Peoria, Ill., Creighton, of Omaha, Neb., Providence, of Providence, R.I., and the University of Scranton, of Scranton, Pa.

The Gonzaga team is highly rated on the basis of speed, shooting prowess and rebounding ability.

The intercollegiate game will be the main event of the Grosse Pointe Park Little League's annual all-star night, held to defray the expenses of the league's baseball season.

The preliminary program begins at 7:15 p.m. with a Little League basketball game between the Grosse Pointe Park All-Stars and the Grosse Pointe All-Stars.

Don Lund, former Detroit Tiger outfielder and coach and recently named coach of the University of Michigan baseball team, and Casey Lopata, Philadelphia Phillies scout, then will lead a baseball clinic.

The Gonzaga-Lawrence Tech basketball game is scheduled to begin at 8:15 p.m.

Between halves of this contest, Soupy Sales, popular Detroit radio and television comedian, will entertain the crowd.

Tickets may be obtained for a $1 donation from any Grosse Pointe Park Little League player or at Gray's Racket and Sport Shop and Cameron's Gift Shoppe.

Goebel Grabs Bowling Lead

Goebel Two whacked Woods Lounge for three points in their crucial match on Thursday, December 11, and moved into sole possession of first place in the Grosse Pointe Business Men's Bowling League. Ernie Nierath paced the winners with the high single series of the night with a 601. Hap Aalto led the losers with a 542 series.

Maple Lanes clung to second place despite dropping three points to G.P. Pharmacy which put the druggists in sole possession of third place, one point ahead of Wigle which split its match with last place Kercheval-Beaconsfield.

Barrett's tripped Larry's for three as did Goebel One over Cramer, Belding over Adam Simms and Atwell over Prestwick.

In the remaining match Kennelly and Cox Baker split four points.

Sixteen 200-plus games were posted with Frank Fletcher leading the way with a 233. He was followed by Russ Blauser 231, Hap Aalto 230, Gaines King 223, Hal Neirath 222 and 200, Bruce Morris 220, George Sommerville 213, Ernie Neirath 213, Harry Rudge 211, Walter Buehler 210 and 203, Gil Sarkison 209, Jim Stafford 207, Pete Kosmas 203, John Hotia 202 and 201, Roy Barrett 201 and Mel Persky 201.

Fishing Is Good At Metro Beach

Perch eight to 12 inches long and plenty of them are bringing ice fishermen by the thousands to Metropolitan Beach where both the anglers and skaters have the safety of four to six inches of ice under them.

Fishing, skating, tobogganing and skiing are equally good at Kensington Metropolitan Park near Belleville are drawing crowds.

"This is the earliest ice fishing season in the memory of the earliest inhabitant of Metropolitan Beach," said James J. Pompo, manager of the beach park on Lake St. Clair.

The beach was officially opened in 1951 by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority which filled in the 550-acre marsh site with three million cubic yards of sand pumped from Lake St. Clair.

Church Grounds Now Off-Limits

The grounds of Christ Church have been put "off limits" for students at Grosse Pointe High School during school hours of 8:30 a.m. to 3:20 p.m.

The action was taken by the administration after several complaints from church members, although the church itself never formally complained. The congregation took exception to the parking lot being monopolized by the students, and the litter and smoking that occurred during the noon hours.

An announcement to the effect that trespassing on the church grounds was prohibited was made over the school's public address system, to go into effect Wednesday, December 10.

SELF-APPRAISAL

It's impossible to push yourself forward by patting yourself on the back.

Knights Win Third in Row

Two busloads of Grosse Pointe University School students saw their team win its third game in as many starts when the Knights knocked off the Madison Lamphere Rams last Friday night by the score of 36-26.

Maybe it was because it had been exam week at G.P.U.S., or maybe it was because the Knights were over-confident after having beaten the Rams decisively two weeks before, but in any event Lamphere led 13-11 at half time as the Knights were only able to sink five of 21 shots in the first half.

The second half was a different story. The third quarter was the big one for the Knights as they scored 18 points to lead 29-24 going into the last quarter.

The Knights stalled throughout most of the last period and the Rams were only able to score two points in the whole final stanza.

At one time G.P.U.S. had possession of the ball for two minutes and 10 seconds before they attempted a shot.

Bob Wood was the leading scorer with 16 points, and Greg Otte played the best game under the boards.

MSU Tests Athletes For Effects of Milk

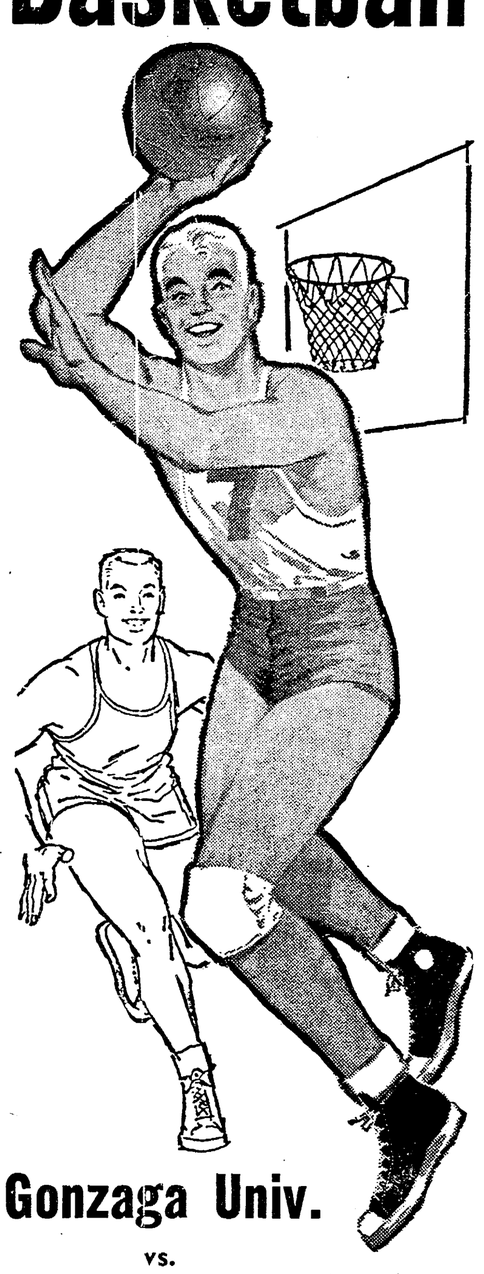

College athletes at Michigan State University are being tested to determine the effects of milk and ice cream on their performance.

Eight freshmen distance runners are to be studied. Four of them will be deprived of milk and ice cream while the other four will consume their usual amounts of these foods.

All subjects will be given periodic efficiency tests and other examinations to determine the effect of these two foods on conditioning.

The research, being financed by a grant from the National Dairy Council of Chicago, is one of a number of studies concerning health and physical education being conducted at M.S.U.

Rouge Popular With Tourists

Michigan's industrial colossus—the Rouge—also rates as one of its top tourist attractions.

In a poll of more than 30 University of Michigan faculty members, the auto industry in general and the Rouge in particular rated second only to the Straits of Mackinac bridge as a place to see in Michigan.

Historically, the two spots have a common tie. In early colonial times, the Rouge area was the first shipbuilding site in the Upper Great Lakes, according to F. Clever Bald of the U-M Historical Collections.

One of the two ships built there — the 70-ton Schooner Tracy—sailed up through the Straits in 1803. Aboard was Capt. John Whistler, builder of Fort Dearborn and commander of the military garrison from Detroit which settled Chicago that year.

The ship yard, located just east of the present Rouge property, was given to the U-M by the U. S. government after Congress authorized a "seminary of learning" in the territory in 1826. The Woodmere Cemetery now stands on this land.

In modern times, Henry Ford turned out ships on assembly lines at the Rouge before automobiles were built there. These were the World War I submarine chasers known as "Eagle boats".

Ford's early fear of dependence on outside suppliers led him to build the world's largest integrated complex of factories at the Rouge. In 1956, the gift of his 210-acre estate, Fair Lane, brought the U-M back to the surrounding area.

Spread over some 1,200 acres of land, the Rouge has a work force of 60,000 in normal times, with a daily payroll in excess of $1 million. Its popularity as a tourist attraction is attested by nearly 200,000 persons who visit its assembly lines every year.

In Stretch, PO Praises 'Early Birds'

With the expectation that the Christmas mail load will hit its peak within the next few days, Postmaster Edward L. Baker expressed his appreciation this week for cooperation thus far received on his annual "Mail Early for Christmas" campaign.

The postmaster said, "It's too late to talk about early mailing of Christmas gifts and cards, because time means everything now—even a few hours delay in getting your cards and gifts mailed may mean disappointment to your friends and loved ones on Christmas Day."

He suggests that last minute mailers use air mail for their Christmas cards or gifts that are going out of town. There's still time for local deliveries, but all Christmas cards should be sent by first class mail. Be sure to include return address on all Christmas card envelopes and package labels, he said.

Postal employees are digging in for the final drive to get everything delivered by Christmas Eve. All stations and branches will remain open from 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., week days and from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday.

"Now that we are nearing the end of the big rush," Baker said. "I want to express my thanks for the fine cooperation from everyone. The 1958 'Mail Early for Christmas' campaign will be a rousing success if everyone will just keep up the good work.

"This year, on Christmas Eve, I'd like to see every mail bag empty and every post office employee relaxing at home."

IMCO IS THE INITIALLED-TITLE OF THE newest Specialized Agency of the United Nations. To come into existence early in 1959, the Inter-Governmental Maritime Consulative Organization will be twelfth of the subsidiary bodies of the UN to be created.

IMCO will, in its early stages, concentrate its activities in the technical field of maritime transport—safety at sea, prevention of pollution of the sea, and standard regulations for the tonnage measurement of ships.

How to Cook Xmas Turkey

According to Mrs. Marjorie Gibbs, Detroit Consumer Marketing Information agent, the primary "real" problems which seem to face homemakers when they are preparing their Christmas turkey are how and how long to cook it. Most methods are simple variations of two basic ones—cooking it covered or uncovered.

Open pan roasting at a moderately low heat 300 to 325 degrees, is considered the best method. If the bird is too large for the roasting pan, the broiler pan may be used but in either case, a rack should be used to keep the bird out of the drippings. Rub the entire surface of the turkey with butter or other fat. Then cover it with a "tent" of aluminum foil.

Press the foil gently at both ends of the bird to anchor it. Do not press it down on top, however. Leave room for air circulation over the top and through the open sides. Do not secure the foil to the sides of the pan. Once or twice during the roasting the foil may be removed and the bird brushed with fat to give it that even golden-brown color. Check the bird about an hour before you estimate it should be done to see if it is getting as brown as you like. If it isn't, remove the foil cover, brush it with fat and finish the cooking entirely uncovered.

For oven braising, entirely cover the turkey with aluminum foil or the roaster lid. The advantage of this method is that it saves time. The steam produced in the pan speeds the cooking but the oven temperature must be raised to 350 degrees.

Turkeys cooked this way will not have the fine appearance of those roasted without a cover. Even if you take the cover off during the last half hour or so to brown the turkey, the skin usually splits and blisters and the color is less rich and even than the bird which is uncovered or partly covered. But if you plan to slice the turkey in the kitchen and then bring the sliced meat to the table, this won't matter.

It is impossible to estimate cooking time to the minute but the following chart should be helpful. Presume that it will take the maximum time:

Weight (Lbs.)	Oven	Time (Hrs.)
4-8	325°	3-4½
8-12	325°	4-5
12-16	235°	5-6
16-24	325°	6-9

The best way to check doneness is with the meat thermometer inserted in the inside thigh or the thickest portion of the breast—being sure that it does not touch the bone. 200 to 205 degrees is about right for breast meat, 200 to 208 degree is recommended for thigh meat.

If you do not have a meat thermometer, gauge doneness by pressing the thickest part of the drumstick with thumb and fingers protected with paper toweling or pot holder. It should be soft and pliable. Also the drumstick should move up and down easily.

If the turkey is done as much as an hour ahead of schedule, turn the oven low, even to 250 degrees. Then take the bird out of the oven 20-30 minutes before serving. It won't cool noticeably and will be much easier to carve.

Don't forget that if you can use a large amount of turkey meat immediately, or if you have plenty of freezer space for leftover turkey, a large turkey will provide the most edible meat per pound.

Saint Nick Also Gets Good Deal

It's little wonder that Saint Nick is especially generous to the American people. History proves that the Americans have done a lot for Saint Nick!

According to Donald Ludgin, editor of the Holiday articles in World Book Encyclopedia, the Americans have given Saint Nick a new name, a new face and figure, and a new means of transportation.

The original European version of Saint Nick was a tall, angular man who rode on a bony, gray mare. Both the horse and Saint Nick looked as if they hadn't had a good meal in some time. The Saint had deep sunken eyes, and wore a flowing, threadbare cloak and a black skullcap.

The early English settlers in this country started giving Saint Nicholas his "New Look." The English children adopted the legendary Christmas figure from the Dutch, but they had trouble pronouncing "Saint Nickolous." Somehow the name changed to "Santa Kalouf," and finally it was corrupted to "Santa Claus."

However, this was only the beginning. In 1809 Washington Irving, in his "Knickerbocker's History of New York," wrote of the Saint as the guardian of New York City. Irving described Saint Nick as a jolly fellow with a broad-brimmed hat and huge breeches. He taught Saint Nick to smoke a long pipe, and, in the story, replaced his shuffling hay-burner with a trim wagon that floated over New York house-tops.

A short time later, Saint Nicholas' transformation was aided by Clement Moore in his famous poem, "The Visit from Saint Nicholas," written in 1822. Moore, a professor of Divinity in a New York Theological Seminary, gave Saint Nick a sleigh, twinkling eyes, cheeks like roses, nose like a cherry, and a round little belly.

Today's Santa Claus is by no means streamlined, but he is a far cry from the lean, ascetic, somberly dressed fellow who, for centuries, on Christmas Eve, guided his mare through the streets of Europe.

Christmas Star Not Identified

For almost 2,000 years people have marvelled at the Christmas star.

Hazel M. Losh, University of Michigan associate professor of astronomy, says: "Although we are continually reminded by the limited description of the event and the uncertainties of early calendars that any exact astronomical explanation or determination of the time of the Christmas star is out of the question, the bright planets are always promising and alluring."

Mars dominates the night sky during December, although it is rapidly drawing away from us, she continues. "It shines more brilliant than any star except Sirius.

"Another planet, Venus, is just coming into the evening sky. By the end of December, it will set nearly an hour after the sun, and may be seen in the twilight near the southwestern horizon. This planet has often been pointed out as a possible interpretation of the Christmas star."

Meteors are also mentioned in connection with the Star of Bethlehem, "but their transient character seems to rule them out immediately," she adds.

"After Orion comes over the horizon, he is followed by Canis Major, his faithful dog. No difficulty ensues in identifying this figure, as Sirius, its brightest star, outshines all others in the sky. From time immemorial Sirius has been watched, admired and revered, rising in the early evening as it does around Christmas time. It was worshipped by the Egyptians and temples were built in its honor."

Sirius, one of our nearer neighbors, is only 8.6 light-years distant, she notes. "It is about 27 times more luminous than our sun. If our sun were removed to the same distance as Sirius, it would appear to us only as bright as the North Star. On the other hand, if Sirius were as close to us as the sun, the earth would quickly be consumed."

Sirius' companion is believed to be so dense that if a pint were placed on the earth's surface, it would weigh more than 25 tons, she adds.

Another attraction in the Christmas sky is the Northern Cross or Cygnus. "It is at its best during the evenings of the month as an impressive symbol of the season. As it moves from the zenith to the northwest, it gradually assumes more and more of a vertical position, until by Christmas Eve it stands outlined against the northwestern sky, the long bar of the Cross standing upright," she concludes.

"WE THE PEOPLES OF THE UNITED Nations . . . " That's the way the Charter of the United Nations begins. Does that make you a part of the UN? It certainly does. You and about 160 million people are the United States; and the U.S. belongs to the UN. You have a responsibility to the UN. It needs your faith and support, and your understanding.

school bus collided at a rural railroad crossing near Essex, Ont. Friday. Two others were hurt and six escaped with only minor injuries.

The New York Central's westbound Detroiter, slowed by heavy snowstorms in upstate New York, was late Friday. The unsuspecting bus driver, not expecting a train at 7:46 a.m. approached the tracks with 10 students in his 54-passenger bus.

As he crossed the tracks, he saw the headlight of the approaching train and "gunned her," but the motor cut out and the Detroiter hit the rear portion of the bus, slicing off a six foot section, sending the rest of the vehicle more than 100 yards up the tracks.

THE KIERDORF TORCH case flared again Friday with the arrest of Teamster Jack Thompson, 41, close friend of the late Frank Kierdorf, was held for five days early in the case, but released because of "insufficient evidence."

Principal clue pointing to Thompson was the discovery of his fingerprints on the door of Kierdorf's car. At the time Thompson refused to discuss the case or take a lie test.

New evidence against Thompson has since the August arson, been collected "bit by bit" until it appears there is enough to try for a conviction. Examination has been set for Dec. 18 and Thompson has been released on a $1,500 bond.

TWO BANDITS held up the North Wayne branch of the National Bank of Detroit just before it closed at 6 p.m. Friday, and escaped with an estimated $5,056.

It was the bank's second holdup in two weeks. The branch is at 2909 S. Wayne, in Wayne. On Nov. 29 a lone bandit fled with $1,500 from the same branch.

A STURDY LITTLE monkey outfitted like a jet pilot, rode a missile nose cone through space early Saturday only to be swallowed up in the Atlantic at the end of the historic voyage.

Nonetheless, the Army hailed the brief trip of the surprise rocket passenger (named "Lil Old Reliable") as an important contribution to a research program aimed ultimately at sending man into space.

There was no indication as to whether the monkey survived when the cone plunged back into the earth's atmosphere from about 300 miles up and into the ocean. It was certain, however, that the space traveler lived through at least 13 minutes of the 15-minute hop.

THE TEAMSTERS UNION'S own "anti-rackets commission" is ready to disband in the face of a court decision giving unquestioned control of union affairs to a court-appointed Board of Monitors.

"I assume that we're through," retired Circuit Judge Ira W. Jayne, one of the three members of the commission, said Saturday. Set up by Union leader James R. Hoffa less than four months ago, the commission never began any serious investigation of charges of gangster infiltration and corruption in the 1,500 000-member union.

The decision to disband, subordinating the role of Hoffa to the monitors, was handed down in Washington Thursday by Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts.

A TRUSTED WOMAN bookkeeper was sought by police Saturday after an official of a Detroit estate investment firm reported $100,000 missing from the company's accounts.

Named in a warrant signed by Recorder's Judge Paul E. Krause, was Mrs. Louise Milhorn, 32. The complainant, Fred Ettinger, secretary-treasurer of the F & E Sales Corp. 1822 Union Guardian Building, told detectives approximately $100,000 had been taken from his firm over the past six months.

THE WESTERN Big Three Sunday night rejected a Russian ultimatum that they get out of Berlin and, simultaneously, East Germany warned that the Allies risk "an acute danger of war" if they don't leave.

The Allies will confer with other North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations before delivering a formal reply to Russia's note, but they declared firmly on Sunday "We are determined to maintain our position and rights with respect to Berlin, including free access."

The Allied agreement came in a 2½-hour meeting of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and West Germany's Heinrich von Brentano, in Paris.

GAS EXPLOSIONS tore apart a 120-year-old hotel Sunday in Allentown, Pa., killing six curious spectators attracted to the scene after an earlier blast. At least 20 other persons were injured.

The victims were trapped on the first-floor porch of the Mountainville Hotel as they viewed gas-fed flames leaping out of a hole in the street directly in front of them. Suddenly, the blazing sheet of fire engulfed the building—just as it was split by an underground blast.

The ancient structure, of brick and stone, collapsed. Most of the injured were hurt by the fire that resulted, and from falling debris. Countless hazards still faced police and firemen late Sunday as telephone and electric wires lay in tangles along several streets and the strong scent of gas could be smelled a mile from the scene.

CHRYSLER CORP. and UAW negotiators prepared to meet again Monday after a marathon bargaining session broke up in a deadlock early Sunday. Both sides reported progress after 16 hours of continuous talks.

But a strike by 7,100 UAW Local 3 members at the Dodge Main plant went into its 14th day today, Monday. The strike has crippled other Chrysler divisions and idled 41,440 workers in 27 plants throughout the country.

THE SECOND school bus accident in the area, within four days, occurred Monday as a heavy freight train plowed into a stalled busload of students. The near-tragedy occurred in Saginaw.

The monster engine hit the front end of the bus, which carried 48 children. Fortunately, it had slowed almost to a crawl so that the impact was not enough to overturn the vehicle.

Only one child was seriously injured. He, 7-year-old Edward G. Adams, was treated for a double skull fracture. Nineteen others were treated, but none required hospitalization.

THE DETROIT BOARD OF EDUCATION met for 12 minutes Monday night before voting unanimously to forget about putting a multimillion-dollar bond issue on the February 16 ballot.

Observers said they felt the Board's quick action means it favors Supt. Samuel M. Brownell's alternative plan for a 90-million-dollar bond issue and a tax increase, both proposed for the April general election ballot.

It was the first time since World War II that the Board held a formal session at night. The meeting was called at the request of member Leonard Kasle, who urged the seven-member Board to approve a proposed 56-million-dollar emergency school building bond issue for the February ballot. His motion was never even debated.

THE NATION'S RECORD-breaking cold wave threatened Florida fruit crops Monday and sent new snow driving across New England. The second week of the cold wave started with temperatures below zero as far south as Fayetteville, Ark.

Although Miami's 73-degrees still warmed tourists, it was 41 at Jacksonville and a possible freeze threatened the state's northern fruit crop.

A MOVEMENT IS UNDERWAY in high circles of the Teamsters Union to oust James R. Hoffa as president. The plotters, according to reports, headed by Teamster Vice President Einar Mohn, are stalling for time in the hope that they can garner sufficient support to defeat Hoffa when the next Teamster convention is called.

Blue Devils

daal saw action early in the game when Fordson began working the first of four different zone defenses. Although Dave wasn't among the high scorers he did turn in an acceptable job on defense which helped keep the Tractors in check.

Fouls Spell Difference

The Devils could have hobbled the Tractors had they been able to find the range from the foul line. Both teams connected on 15 field goals but Fordson gained the lion's share of its winning margin at the foul line, out-shooting the Devils with 15 of 20 tries while the Pointers made 12 of 24 attempts.

After the game Coach MacAdam said, "It's hard to explain just what happened tonight. I know one thing for sure we are going to have to develop more poise when the going gets tough."

He continued "we still have not come up with a "take-charge guy" like Tommy Woodruff or Bruce Boardman. Those two lads made the hair-line difference in our team last year that fought its way to co-championship with Highland Park for the Border Cities League title."

The coach certainly said a mouthful when he said Woodruff and Boardman made the difference last year. Neither of those boys knew when they were licked and they inspired the rest of the team to keep plugging until the final whistle.

Played Raw Team

With an all-veteran team the Devils are certain to find themselves and jell into a winning combination. They displayed a whirlwind offense against Pontiac Northern the Tuesday before the Tractor defeat. It is admitted the Pointers were playing a new school that was flooring a team for the first time and all the players were tenth graders. In this game the starting team saw action only in the first quarter and retired to the dressing room with the Devils holding a commanding 25-9 lead at the end of the first period.

Against Pontiac Purdy racked up 10 points and Bruzzese 11 in a matter of eight minutes. And the Pointers' fast break attack left the visitors practically standing in their tracks with their mouths hanging open.

The Devils will attempt to get back on the winning track when they entertain Monroe on Friday, December 19, in the last league game before the long holiday layoff.

Life Size Nativity Setting at Church

A beautiful life size nativity setting, including all of the traditional figures and numerous animals can be viewed with a great deal of enjoyment at Bethany Lutheran Church, East Outer Drive at Chatsworth during the present Christmas season. It is probably one of the finest religious displays in the city.

The setting was a gift to the Congregation by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schultz, and their children, Lorne and Sandra, in memory of their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reinhold, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schultz.

HOUSEHOLD HINT

When dinner is set for a definite hour, wise homemakers will start their Christmas turkey 20 to 30 minutes ahead of schedule to avoid delay should the turkey take longer to cook than estimated. This also allows time to make gravy, remove trussing cords, and arrange the bird attractively on the platter, points out the Detroit Consumer Marketing.

Compile Manual Of State Plants

A University of Michigan botanist and various assistants over the past two years have traveled the equivalent of nearly once around the earth—without leaving the state—collecting specimens to be used in compiling a manual on Michigan plants.

Edward G. Voss, research associate at the U-M Herbarium and the project's principal investigator, estimates he has journeyed 22,000 miles in Michigan—much of it on back roads and trails—collecting specimens of flora from each of the state's 83 counties.

Voss's research began late in 1956. It is supported by a five-year, $60,000 grant from the Horace H. Rackham School of Graduate Studies Faculty Research Fund. The project's goal: To develop an illustrated manual of all species of Michigan flora complete with distribution maps and identification keys. Voss believes there are about 2,000 individual species of plants in the state.

In addition, he says, the field work has provided "a broad familiarity with field conditions in all parts of the state . . . obtaining the largest number of significant records in the limited time available."

So far Voss has collected 5,500 numbered collections, 3,000 of them last summer. Altogether, approximately 6,700 Michigan specimens have been mounted during the past two years at the U-M Herbarium and about 10,200, including some previously mounted, have been inserted in their proper places in the collection. In all, about 8,000 Michigan specimens are set for mounting, he adds.

Voss will spend the project's remaining time writing original keys to flora already collected. He will also coordinate information now on hand.

Several organizations have assisted Voss in the study and countless amateur botanists have helped with the collecting, he says. Much of the work has been done in poorly known (botanically) sections of the state such as Hillsdale, Ogemaw, Kalkaska, Mecosta, Lake and Missaukee counties.

On the other hand, Voss has drawn on information previously gained in counties such as Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, St. Clair, Kalamazoo, Kent, Emmet, Cheboygan, Houghton and Keeweenaw.

Besides work done by Voss, his assistants, student, amateur, the Herbarium, and other agencies, several specialists in certain genera where difficulty in identification is known have been enlisted, he says.

Careful planning makes a smooth road for the wheels of progress.

Grand and gala may be your entertainment plans for this holiday but a peek in the party diary of a turn-of-the-century hostess would make the modern chatelaine of even the most elaborate establishment gasp.

Mrs. Cameron Davenport Waterman was noted in the gay nineties society of Grosse Pointe and Detroit for her fabulous dinners. The Watermans lived downtown but many of their guests were Pointers. The Waterman family had some interest in our community. In a map of 1886 the J. W. Watermans are listed as property owners. They had land near Kerby road, although they spent most of their leisure time on Grosse Ile sailing to the Pointe occasionally on their yacht, "Varda".

December was the height of the season in Detroit and invitations to Mrs. Waterman's dinners were highly prized. One lovely fete eleven days before Christmas, 1899 numbered 10 courses served to the Samuel T. Douglases, the Walter S. Russels and the Henry D. Sheldens. The table was set with white hyacinths, crysanthemums and asparagus fern (a different touch).

Here is the menu: raw oysters, consomme, fish mousse with lobster sauce, green peppers stuffed with hominy, French peas, cheese souffle, filet of beef and green beans, Roman punch, quail, Saratoga potatoes, salad, celery, nuts, jelly, frozen plum puddings, all accompanied by the proper wines.

Quail was a standard menu item for the fancier dinners, as were larded sweetbreads.

A real triumph was the supper the Watermans gave in 1904 for the visiting Count and Countess Matuschka (Elsa Walker), following a performance of the "The College Widow."

At the theater among others were the Henry B. Joys, the George V. N. Lothrops, the Cameron Curries and the Charles Du Charmes.

They ate lioness bouches of caviar, crab meat croquettes, oyster and clam bouillon, roast partridge, hominy croquettes endive salad and coupe Thais.

Debutantes were even more glamourous in those days, for the young misses were very sheltered before they made the grand bow. When the Watermans presented their neice, Ernestine Tappy, in 1902, the Masonic Temple was transformed into a bower with American Beauty roses and Christmas pines (and this before the days of air express).

Mrs. Waterman wore white satin and silver spangled tulle with lace medallions, the bodice trimmed with pink rosebuds. Her necklace was of glittering diamonds and pearls and she carried lilies of the valley and orchids.

The debutante wore white tulle and satin, accordian pleated and trimmed with silk roses, caught by baby ribbons.

Guests danced from 10 until 4 in the morning and although the midnight supper is not printed you may be sure it wasn't scrambled eggs, more probably quail and champagne.

Signs of the season are all about us, in "The Village" and "On-the-Hill," the lovely carols to soothe shoppers, the glittering strings of lights at the city limits, the trees, unadorned for sale, and decorated for the Yule . . . and all the shoppers with exciting bundles calling cheery greetings.

One snowy afternoon Mrs. George E. Bushnell, Jr., in parka and slacks weighing the merits of knights and castles. . . . Would you like to help with a neighbor's gift problem? Mrs. Robert Bacon of Whittier road, has been searching rare book stores, catalogues and just everywhere for a child's book that was a classic and is now out of print, Johanna Spyri's "Cornelli". She badly wants to give it to her sister, Jeanne Plante, for Christmas. She has the family copy and wants to keep it for her own five young readers, but would like to give her sister this sentimental token of their happy childhood. Readers please help.

Mrs. William D. Laurie, Jr. loves decorating and this year has a wire screen in the living room hung with candy, animals, a puppet Santa, flutes and toys . . . a real delight to children. Her dining room table holds a candy tree this December with nuts and cookies added. For her front door she admits to being conventional and loves a big wreath.

Succulent odors are drifting from the Colonial road home of Mrs. Robert A. Merrill as she bakes batches of old fashioned cookies. Here is a lady with Christmas in her heart all year long. She is the first at the door with broth, jelly, a ham, when sickness or sorrow comes to a neighbor.

THE SPIRITS OF CHRISTMAS PRESENT

—Picture by Fred Runnells

By Patricia Talbot

Here they are, the reason for this holiday which celebrates the birth of the Christ Child, all the children from babes to teens, who make the season the most joyful, yet solemn days of the year.

In homes all over our town this week the children are in fantasy, preparing for the greatest day of their year, Christmas.

Shopping for the biggest pine of all, sledding down gentle slopes and driveways, mittened and booted reveling in the snow that is the Yule's due, trembling voices lifted in "Silent Night", they bring with them the real spirit of the season to a jaded, tired and doleful world.

Wrapped in Wonder

From Thanksgiving to the Eve itself they are wrapped in the wonder of it all. There is the dumping of piggy banks and the shopping for mother and dad, the ash trays and coasters they painstakingly fashion in school, the endearing scrawled cards with the season's greetings and the heart rending promises to be good so Santa will remember them.

Gifted this year with a bountiful snow, they can see with a child's clear eye St. Nick and reindeers covering the thousands of miles across dusted roofs, to their own chimneys.

For their parents, their teachers, all the adults who treasure their friendship, this season is heart warming as they relive their own Christmases past in the excited anticipation of some beloved child.

Brightens Old World

For the harrassed mothers who try to chain the exalted energies of Christmas' children, for the fathers who pay Santa's bills, for the merchants who help them select the dollar tie or bottle of eau de cologne, their unclouded joy, their wonder makes this worried old world seem fresh and new.

Uncritical, tolerant, delighted and welcoming, all year long children bring to life's experiences the untested, untried loving hearts, which are theirs by right. At Christmas their unsophisticated, sentimental feeling for the birthday of The One who loved them all is a lesson in living the older generations may envy.

A child confides that the night before Christmas is the best, for lying in bed awaiting the jingle of sleigh bells before drifting off to dream of sugar plums, dolls, trains and a huge bursting turkey, the wonder is all to come. But even the realization of their dreams is perfect. Christmas is the climax of the year.

They're Greatly Blessed

Children in our town are the gifted, fortunate ones. The lovely homes, with fires crackling, and stockings waiting by the hearth, the warm family relationships, the devoted parents, they can accept these as their right, most of them. They will never know the cold, the hunger, the proverty of children whose star bright crisp skies, white birthright was not theirs.

But in schools and churches, all over our helping, grateful community, these other children are not forgotten. Nickels and dimes from young allowances go to Red Cross, foreign missions, orphanages. In their own bounty the Pointe's young do not forget.

Schools will recess this Tuesday after their own holiday parties, releasing a stream of delighted youngsters, the youngest ones to sled and skate, to make snow forts, to lick the batter bowls of Christmas cookies, to drink cocoa and hear the Christmas story again and again; their older sisters and brothers to share in the gift wrapping and delivering, to dance in pretty frocks and receive their first corsages, to help trim the tree and bake the goodies. They all will be sharing, contributing their gayety to the Yule.

Time of Reunion

Christmas is a time of reunion, when generations gather to celebrate and give thanks for their blessings, the best of these being the children, aglow with the excitement of the season.

As stockings are hung, the traditional star placed on the top of the tree, the fruit cakes cut, the wreath-decked door opened to welcome guests, the children bright and merry are in the midst of it all, the real spirit of Christmas in their hearts. We would join Dicken's most endearing child, Tiny Tim, to speed them a joyous season and "God Bless Them Everyone!"

GPHS Juniors Give Dance

An emergency appendectomy kept Sue Sellheim from one of the most gala nights of her life last Friday but she sent her beau, Gene Gargaro, to Lochmoor just the same.

Sue, daughter of the William Sellheims, of Hidden lane, was one of a quartet of juniors at the Grosse Pointe High School who gave a dance, Holly Hop, last Friday at Lochmoor.

The other girls who received their guests were Carol Carbone, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Louis Carbone, of Lakeland avenue, Penny Distin, daughter of the Clifton Distins, of Grayton road, and Dorothy Jane Hyne, daughter of the Fred Hynes, of St. Clair avenue.

The teens danced to records and were entertained by an impromptu jazz session played by some of the guests' fathers.

In the receiving line with the hostesses were James Thistlewaite, Robert Kerr III and Peter Aronson.

SAFETY HINT

How long has it been since you have had your kitchen stove cleaned, checked for defects and possible needed repairs? According to the Institute for Safer Living, nearly 27 per cent of all home fires originate in the kitchen, while defective stoves or kitchen heaters account for the largest number of these fires.

Brogans Home From Hawaii

Arriving by plane this Friday evening from two years Navy duty in Hawaii will be Lt. (jg) Pat Brogan and Mrs. Brogan for 15 days of the holiday.

They will stay with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Edgar James, of Westchester road, and also spend some time with his parents, the C. R. Brogans, of Merriweather road.

On Sunday the James house will be open for a welcome home party to the two visitors, both of whom spent their school days here.

Christmas Day they will be at a family reunion in Ann Arbor at the home of Mrs. Brogan's brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Kerry.
