ASTRONAUT JOHN H. GLENN, Jr. has indicated that he will run for the U.S. Senate on the Democratic ticket in his home state of Ohio this year. His opponent in the primary will be Senator Stephen M. Young of Cleveland. Glenn reportedly told a news correspondent that he felt that his days as an astronaut were numbered because of his age, 43, and that he could best serve his country by running for the Senate.

TWO "PHANTOM SNIPERS" were held by Detroit police in a shooting that involved five victims over a widely scattered area of the city. The two men, brothers, are Paul Fortin and David Fortin. They were charged with carrying concealed weapons. None of the victims was seriously wounded. Officers became suspicious of an old panel truck the brothers were driving and upon examination discovered a .22 caliber pellet pistol under the seat.

A NATIONAL MASTER contract granting union members wage and fringe benefit increases was approved by the Teamsters Union and major trucking companies in Chicago. The agreement represented the first of its kind in the industry's history. An 80-man executive policy committee of Trucking Employers, Inc. and a nationwide organization of 1,100 transcontinental and local freight carriers ratified the agreement.

Saturday, January 18

ASTRONAUT John Glenn's announcement that he is entering politics was met with disfavor by some Washington officials and a space agency. Certain legislators thought it undesirable for Glenn to capitalize on his fame in order to enter public affairs. There were also comments that he was unqualified to become a senator. Rep. Charles A. Vanik, a Democrat from Ohio, spoke out publicly because he is supporting Glenn's opponent, Sen. Stephen M. Young.

THE GOVERNMENT proposed new rules to regulate the advertising for cigarettes and wants them labeled as a health hazard. The Federal Trade Commission, following findings of the recent Public Health Service report on smoking, recommended that a notice of the health hazard be required in every cigarette advertisement. The commission further proposed that no advertisement claim that cigarette smoking is an aid to good health or promotes well-being.

JAMES R. HOFFA, whose jury tampering trial will begin in Chattanooga, Tenn. today, and his lawyers will invite Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy to appear as a defense witness. William Buffalo, president of Teamster Local 955, and a Hoffa attorney admitted that Kennedy might be a hostile witness, but they want him anyway. Chattanooga lawyer, Harry Berke, said that if Kennedy, who is now in the Far East, refused to appear, they would subpoena him.

THE AUTO INDUSTRY was urged by the Johnson administration to cut prices on new cars. The move would help stabilize the cost of living and avoid jumps in prices and wages that might touch off an inflation. Another advantage would be to thwart Walter Reuther's attempts for the United Auto Workers to take a greater slice of industry's profits, which have been very good this year. The report, which was sent to Congress, was part of the report of the Council of Economic Advisors.

Defer Students Tackle Middle Ages Project

Four boys and girls in the sixth grade of Mr. Harvey Dahl at Defer School are shown exhibiting the projects they fashioned in culminating a social studies unit on life in the Middle Ages. Left to right are LESLIE WRIGLEY, MARTHA HUTTON, DARLENE KLOVSKI, and BOB LINDQUIST. While most of the examples of medieval architecture are made of cardboard and paper, the one in the lower right hand corner is formed of sugar cubes. The knights' shields on the bulletin board behind the children are also examples of pupils' handiwork resulting from their study.

The Farms will ask the state chairman of the Republican and Democratic parties for recommendations to appointments to the Farms Board of Canvassers to canvass the votes at city elections.

Board of Review Meets in City

The Grosse Pointe City Board of Review sessions on the 1963 Assessment Roll were held Monday and Tuesday, January 20 and 21.

These hearings are held annually to provide recourse to individual taxpayers to request adjustments in the assessed valuations of their property before the tax roll is confirmed.

A number of persons were scheduled to be heard before the board which consisted of the City Assessor and two private taxpayers residing in the City.

Most of the persons appearing before the board were protesting assessments resulting from the revaluation program recently completed in the Grosse Pointe communities.

Mothers Ready to March In Annual Drive Tuesday

The warm hearts of 40,000 Wayne County women volunteers will not be deterred by the cold weather plaguing the country as they join 200,000 Michigan women across the U.S. for the annual Mothers' March, Tuesday evening, January 28, the highlight event of the 26th annual March of Dimes.

These Marching Mothers (along with some men and teens assisting the mothers) led by Mrs. Anne Campbell Stark and Mrs. Sanford Jackson, co-chairmen, know why it is worthwhile to call on each home in even the bitterest weather.

They believe every child's birthright should entitle him to a full useful life. They are willing to brave the elements to ask

Public School System Finds Interesting Figures In Transportation Survey

Cold Weather Cuts Down On Use of Bicycles; Many High School Students Drive Cars; Seniors Get Best Parking Space

There is a large group of Pointe public school students who combine a form of exercise with necessity in getting to and from classes during the 1963-64 semester, according to a survey conducted in the Pointe School District.

When school opened in September, hundreds of public school students used bicycles as a means of transportation to classes, but there was a decided drop in the number when winter fastened its icy grip on the area.

The survey showed that when winter hit, the number of cyclists varied from 200 at Parcels Junior High School, to nine at Richard School. During the semester, there were 250 cyclists at Parcels, and 225 at Richard. The enrollment at the schools is 920 and 532, respectively.

Same at Others

In the other two Pointe junior high schools, Brownell, with an enrollment of 845 students, recorded between 300 and 325 pupils using bikes when the weather was warm; and Pierce, with an enrollment of 788, recorded 300 bike users. The winter figure is between 75 and 125 at Brownell; and 42 at Pierce.

In the other nine elementary schools in the District, the number of youngsters using bicycles to get to school, dropped considerably when the cold weather arrived.

The following is a report on the survey of these schools:

Barnes: Enrollment — 431;

winter bike riders—25; warm weather riders—150.

Defer: Enrollment—640; winter riders—between 10 and 12; warm weather riders—100 or more.

Ferry: Enrollment—729; winter—20; warm weather—between 250 and 300.

Kerby: Enrollment—610; winter—between 34 and 50; warm weather—250.

Maire: Enrollment—571; winter—34; warm weather—237.

Mason: Enrollment—540; winter—between five and eight; warm weather—between 100 and 125.

Monteith: Enrollment — 762; winter—20; warm weather—200.

Poupard: Enrollment — 716; winter—25; warm weather—75 (low figures attributed to the fact that many students must cross the Edsel Ford Freeway).

Trombly: Enrollment — 449; winter—37; warm weather—between 150 and 175.

Autos Popular at GPHS

In a survey at Grosse Pointe High School, where 2,546 students are enrolled, automobiles predominate as the mode of transportation.

The survey showed that there were 205 autos in limited parking space on the high school premises and in the vicinity of the school building, during this semester.

There are 90 cars belonging to seniors parked in the High School parking lots; and 115 belonging to seniors and juniors, who of necessity, park in legal areas on the streets.

There are 57 known car pools, comprised of senior drivers, currently in existence, containing two to six, or seven, students, who alternate in using their cars to drive to classes.

FARMS PAYS $11,653

Begrow and Brown, Architects, certified that Alban G. Brinkman company had completed mechanical work on the Municipal Building alterations and additions in the amount of $59,066, and recommended to the Farms council on Monday, January 20, that the firm be paid the sum of $11,653.20 as partial payment. The council approved the payment.

Fred Scribner, Jr. Fourth Lecturer On Center Series

General Counsel of Republican National Committee To Talk on Politics on National Level in Fries Auditorium Tuesday Evening

Fred Clark Scribner, Jr., will be the next speaker at the Tuesday evening series of lectures called "Politics—1964". He is the general counsel of the Republican National Committee.

He will speak on candidates and issues from the Republican point of view in contrast to last week's speaker, Arthur M. Schlesinger, Jr. who covered the same topic but from the Democratic viewpoint.

This is the fourth of the lectures. The first two speakers were Zoltan A. Ferency and Arthur B. Elliott, Jr. who discussed political matters on a state level.

The final two speakers will be Lee Hills, vice president and publisher of the Detroit Free Press and executive editor of the Knight Newspapers, Inc., and Martin Hayden, editor of the Detroit News. These two men will attend the first four lectures and then comment on them from a journalistic point of view.

Mr. Scribner's home is now Portland, Me. He was born in Bath, Me. in 1908 and was educated at Dartmouth College and the Harvard Law School. He has received honorary law degrees from the University of Maine, Colby College, Dartmouth College, Bowdoin College and the University of Vermont.

In 1935 he married Barbara Merrill and they have two sons. After being admitted to the bar in Maine and Massachusetts, he practiced law with various firms and in 1955 was nominated to be General Counsel of the Treasury Department and assumed that position later that year. Following that he was Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and Under Secretary of the Treasury and also served as a member of the Planning Board of the President's National Security Council. He is a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church and served as a deputy at three of their General Conventions.

Mr. Scribner's lecture will be introduced by George R. McMullen, who organized the series which is sponsored by the War Memorial Association, will begin promptly at 8:15. Arnold D. Johnson, a minister of the Congregational Church, will give the invocation. Following the lecture which will be about one half-hour in length, a question and answer period will be held, after which refreshments will be served in the Crystal Ballroom and guests will have an opportunity to meet Mr. Scribner.

Tickets are available at the door for $1 or from the War Memorial.

PARTIAL PAYMENT
At a regular meeting held on Monday night, January 20, the Farms council approved partial payment of $12,712, in the amount of $3,543.30, to Bencal Contractors. The sum will be paid for work done to date at the Water Filtration Plant, Moross and Lake Shores. The work was certified by Hubbell, Roth and Clark, Inc., city consultant engineers.

Harvath cleared the crimes from the unsolved cases of the police departments in Oak Park, Southfield Township, Royal Oak Township, Garden City, Dearborn, Redford Township, Ferndale, Highland Park, Hamtramck and Detroit.

On the December date, Harvath was arrested with Donald Asher, 22, of 4103 Cicotte, Detroit, by Park Patrolmen Gustave Boone and Bobby McAllister, after an 80-mile an hour chase through Park streets.

Harvath and Asher were in a car and going 40 miles an hour on Charlevoix, at 2:30 a.m., when they were seen by the officers.

When he observed the police car approaching, Harvath stepped up his speed, dodging through several streets and avenues, trying to lose the police-men.

As the get-away car approached Essex, on Westchester, the driver lost control and the right front tire hit the curb and blew out, forcing the car to come to a halt.

Had Phone in Car
Harvath and Asher were taken into custody. At the station, a search of their car disclosed a telephone on the rear floor, taken from a construction shack at the St. Clare of Montefalco School, where additional classrooms and a gymnasium are being built.

The two men confessed to taking the phone, and also to numerous burglaries in the Detroit area.

European Film Festival Opens at Center Sunday

A festival of outstanding European films, each of which has left a significant mark on the history of motion pictures, will be presented at the Fries Auditorium of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial during the second Grosse Pointe Foreign Film Festival, starting January 26 and running four successive Sunday evenings.

Ranging in content and mood from hilarious English comedy to problems engulfing a youngster in unsettled France and the pathos of war in Russia, this notable motion picture program consists of films that have won world-wide acclaim from both critics and the public here and abroad. The presentation will be made in cooperation with the Studio Theatre and the films in this series were especially selected by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Film Committee and the Studio Theatre Corporation of Detroit.

Opening picture in the series is the classic British film, "Genevieve," the story of the annual London-to-Brighton run for veteran motor cars. One week later, February 2, the Grosse Pointe Film Festival will present "The 400 Blows," considered one of the timeless French pictures which launched the so-called "new wave" in Europe. On February 9, "A Coming Out Party" will be shown. Set in a prisoner of war camp, this great English movie

HW Contract Offer Called Fraudulent

Official Blasts Harper Woods Councilman Geo. Scopas, Chiefs Praise System.

A copy of a contract said to have been submitted by the Motorola Corporation of Chicago, offering to install and service a police-fire emergency radio system for Harper Woods at a greatly reduced cost, was denounced as a fraud by a Farms councilman at a regular council meeting held Monday night, January 20.

It was disclosed at the meeting that a copy of the supposed contract, which listed detailed costs of services and parts and an agreement pertaining to the same, was mailed to all mayors, councilmen and city managers of the Pointes and Harper Woods. It was not revealed who mailed the copies.

It was also disclosed that a letter was received by the Farms, the managing municipality of the Grosse Pointe Inter-City Municipal Radio System, from a high official of the Chicago firm, in which it was denied that the corporation had offered a contract to Harper Woods.

Harper Woods Threatens

The Radio System (police-fire emergency radio), is jointly operated by the Five Pointes and Harper Woods, in which all are equal partners and pay proportionate shares in annual costs and services. Harper Woods has charged that the costs are excessive and has threatened to bolt the partnership, if the costs are not brought down.

The cost controversy, spearheaded by Harper Woods Councilman George Scopas, has reached a degree where Harper Woods has applied to the Federal Communications Commission for approval of a radio frequency for a separately operated police-fire radio system.

The FCC denied the application on the grounds that Harper Woods failed to obtain the approval of the Michigan Public Safety Allocation Commission, which submits recommendations to the FCC, before that agency will act on whether or not to grant a radio frequency license.

The cost controversy, spearheaded by Harper Woods Councilman George Scopas, has reached a degree where Harper Woods has applied to the Federal Communications Commission for approval of a radio frequency for a separately operated police-fire radio system.

Farms Will Protest

The Farms, as managing municipality, indicated that it will enter a protest against Harper Woods' proposed use of the same radio frequency being used by the local Radio System. A license will not be granted, if there is a protest, because of interference in the operation of the radio system, it was said.

At the Farms Monday night meeting the council voted to withhold the contents of the supposed contract and the letter, to be held as a "hammer" over Harper Woods. If that community persists in carrying on the controversy.

The charge that the contract was a fraud, was made by Councilman Henry Bodman, II. He said:

"I am sick and tired of this trouble caused by Harper Woods. Scopas is doing more harm than good. If there is a possibility of a law suit, we ought to sue him.

"Obviously, this contract was obtained by someone and filled out, and mailed to the officials of the Pointe and Harper Woods. As a matter of fact, I would go so far as to say that it is fraudulent, and something should be done about it."

Butler Urges Caution

Councilman William Butler said that the Farms should go easy on Harper Woods. If Harper Woods wants to act the way it does, the Farms should not put itself on the same level, and must show that it is better than that community, he added.

The "hammer" threat was made by Councilman Ledward Mitchell, who said that he was in agreement with Butler. He said that the contract and letter should be kept on file, to be used against Harper Woods if it persists in creating trouble.

The remaining councilmen agreed with Councilman Benjamin Warren, who pointed out that the Pointes do not want Harper Woods to leave the radio partnership, that that community is needed in the system.

Mayor William Connolly pointed out that he and City Manager Sidney DeBoer, and Harper Woods Mayor William
Huber and City Manager Allan Kronbach, had received letters from all the police and fire chiefs, including Harper Woods, that the present radio system is "the greatest system in operation" and they don't want to see it changed. Neither do they wish to see Harper Woods leave the system, the mayor said.

City Managers Meet

The city managers of the six cities met yesterday, January 22, at the Farms Municipal Building, 90 Kerby road, to discuss the annual radio budget, which will be submitted to their respective city councils for study and action.

At its regular meeting Monday night January 20, the Harper Woods council did not discuss the supposed contract, or the letter from the Motorola official, it was disclosed by City Manager Kronbach.

He said that he had been instructed by his council to present a number of suggestions at the budget hearing which should help in settling the radio controversy and bring down the cost in operating the system.

concern is not "new." The National Foundation-March of Dimes began to attack the long-neglected problem of Birth Defects in hundreds of disabling forms back in 1958. Then, as now, medical authorities recognized that the many forms of birth defects overshadow all other child disabilities. Every year more than a quarter of a million babies survive despite significant defects.

To bring expert help to the nation's children, the National Foundation-March of Dimes, which helped conquer paralytic polio through totally supporting the research for the Salk and Sabin vaccines, started a Birth Defects program which has already made significant accomplishments in the short time of its existence.

"Perhaps the most important thing about the 1964 March of Dimes," said Mrs. Stark and Mrs. Jackson, "is the knowledge on the part of each Mother's March volunteer that she is giving new hope to parents and a greater chance of a normal life to little children."

Perrone Hurt in Bombing

next to the lot and over the building into an alley.

Find Guns in Trunk

In the trunk of the shattered car, police found a .22 caliber rifle with a telescopic sight, a 20-gauge double barreled shotgun, and ammunition for both.

Also found, were hunting equipment, clothing, toilet articles, four bottles of whiskey and two hunting licenses, one made out to Gaspar Ancona of 13454 Hasse, Detroit, and the other to Sam Orlando of 565
Pear Tree Lane.

Detroit Patrolmen Robert Reed and Thomas Heyser were driving 50 feet away on Gratiot when they heard the explosion and saw car parts hurtling through the air. They whipped their scout car around into the parking lot, just as Perrone fell out of his automobile to the ground.

Reed said when he saw Perrone fall out of the car, he called for an ambulance. He and his partner were scarcely out of their cruiser when a Fire Department Rescue Squad
sped to the scene.

Three Other Witnesses

Three other persons, two girls and an employee of Perrone's auto wash establishment, also witnessed the explosion and saw Perrone fall to the ground.

They are: Linda Wormsbach-er, 21, of Richmond, Mich.; Sandra Lee Derry, 20, of 35217 Little Mack, Mt. Clemens; and James Phillip, 67, of 38670
Hammond, Mt. Clemens.

The two girls were in a telephone booth approximately 20 feet from where Perrone's car was parked.

Miss Derry told police that she was dialing and happened to look as Perrone shut the door of his car. She said she saw Perrone lean forward to start the engine and then came the explosion "and there was smoke all over."

Jumped Off Ground

Miss Wormsbacher said that she saw the car "jump right off the ground," and saw Perrone holding on to what was left of his right leg. The concussion of the blast caused her and her friend to bump their heads against the side of the phone booth, the girl said.

Phillip told authorities that he had left his boss only moments before the explosion. He was one of 17 employees of the auto wash who worked until 4 p.m.

He said that Perrone always paid wages in person, and he (Phillip) was the last to be paid.
Phillip said he got into his car and drove onto Goulbourn, toward Gratiot.

He said that as he neared the corner, he "heard a big noise and saw a bunch of black smoke. I saw the boss on the ground."

Phillip said he raced to Perrone's side just as Heyser and Reed swerved into the parking lot. He and the two officers reached Perrone at the same time, the man said.

Perrone was 25 when he had his first brush with the law.
He was arrested in 1919 as a suspect in an armed robbery case.

Last Arrested in 1961

His last encounter with police was in 1961, when he was arrested for conspiracy to blow up the Victor Oil company, 11511 East Warren, Detroit. He and three others were released after the State's only witness said he made a mistake.

Out of his two dozen arrests, Perrone drew only one prison term, and that was in 1936, when he was sentenced to six-years for violating the Volstead Act by operating six stills.

In 1930, he was convicted on a similar charge, for which he paid a fine of $400.

Perrone's biggest trouble came in 1954, when he was accused in a warrant as one of four men conspiring to murder UAW President Walter Reuther, who was shot and wounded in his home in 1948.

The accusation fell through later, when Detroit Recorder's Judge Joseph A. Gillis, at the request of the late Wayne County Prosecutor Gerald K.
O'Brien, dismissed the warrant on information that Canadian courts refused the extradition of a key witness.

Witness Fled Country

The witness, Don Ritchie, a con-man and small time hood-lum, charged that Perrone and three others were responsible for the Reuther shooting. Ritchie fled to Canada at the height of the inquiry.

In 1945-46, a grand jury accused Perrone and others of

City Considering Change In Trash Pick Up Method

The regular meeting of the City Council of Grosse Pointe was held Monday evening, January 20. One of the items on the agenda was a communication from John Mazer, representing the Highway Department employees, requesting a meeting to discuss the use of private collectors for rubbish collection in the City.

As it now stands, the City takes care of trash pick-up. The Park, Woods and Shores have arranged for private companies to take care of it, but they do not have backyard pickup. The Farms is the only one of the Grosse Pointes that has backyard pickup, which while more expensive than curb pick-up, tends to make the neighborhood more presentable on rubbish collection days.

If the City accepts the bid of a private company, it would be for a period of three years, and cost about $50,000 a year. The present arrangement costs about $80,000 a year.

A committee was appointed to meet with Mazer and discuss the various aspects of the arrangement before a decision is made by the Council.

Another item on the agenda was a communication from City Engineer Gilbert Jerome, concerning an advance planning grant for planning a storm sewer construction program to eliminate basement flooding conditions. The Council voted to proceed with this, subject to the approval of the City Attorney.

The City Manager, Lawrence Savage, recommended that bids be considered for the purchase of a Jeep for sidewalk snow removal and recommended further that the bid be accepted from the lowest bidder. This was approved by the Council.

The Council further approved a recommendation that the November 18, 1963 resolution naming the Detroit Bank and Trust Company as depository for the Water and Sewer and Automobile Parking System Bond and Interstate Redemption Fund be amended to include safe keeping.

Farms Building Tops $3 Million

The Farms Building Department approved a total of 128 construction permits, for buildings valued at a total of $3,135,350, during the calendar year 1963, according to a monthly report submitted by City Engineer Murray M. Smith. The number of permits include three granted for nonassessable buildings valued at a total of $717,000.

The total permits and values exceeded that of 1962, when 114 permits were approved for buildings valued at $2,058,600, including three permits for nonassessable property worth a total of $750,000.

During December, 1963, the Building Department granted two permits for the construction of residential buildings valued at $196,000, and four permits for miscellaneous construction worth $24,000. No applications for commercial buildings were received, and none for nonassessable property.

During December 1962, only three applications for miscellaneous building permits were granted. These were worth $16,000.

Last year, 32 residential permits valued at a total of $2,083,000 were granted; one for a business building, valued at $11,000; and 92 miscellaneous permits, valued at a total of $324,350.

By comparison, December, 1962 records showed that 22 residential permits on property valued at $982,000 were approved; one for a business building valued at $33,000; and 88 miscellaneous permits valued at a total of $283,600.

Hospital Gift To Honor Lord

An operating room in the surgical department of the new Children's Hospital will be established in memory of John Norton Lord, Jr., deceased son of the late John Norton Lord.

Russell A. Swaney, chairman of the hospital's $4,000,000 building fund, said that a $39,000 gift by the John and Rhoda Lord Family Fund will make it possible to build and equip the room.

The unit, an orthopedic operating room, Swaney added, will be one of eight operating rooms in the new surgical department. The present surgical facilities, he said, are not adequate in view of the number of operations now being done at Children's. During 1963, over 4,000 major operations were performed at the hospital, as compared with fewer than 1,000 in 1951. From 1960 to 1963 alone, the number increased from 2,623 to 4,078.

John Norton Lord, who lived in Touraine road, died in June of 1962 while serving his fifth consecutive term as president of the Michigan Hospital Service (Blue Cross).

Check Passer Awaits Trial

James W. Considine, 25, of 10048 Aurora, Detroit, arraigned before Judge Grant E. Armstrong on Saturday, January 11, on a charge of uttering and publishing bad checks, stood mute and waived examination. He was released on $1,000 personal bond to await trial in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Considine was arrested on Friday, January 10, by the Detroit Police Bogus Check Squad, to whom he surrendered voluntarily. His surrender followed the finding of a folder by a Detroit juvenile, which contained identification papers of well known Detroit figures, who were victims of fraudulent check passing by Considine. The boy turned his findings over to his father, who in turn gave it to police.

Considine was questioned by Farms Det. Sgts. George Van Tiem and Jack Paisley, and Park Det. Lt. Arnold Hough and Det. James LaPratt and Detroit police. He confessed to the officers, that he passed a number of checks in the Farms, Harper Woods and Detroit, and that he burglarized homes and broke into parked cars.

Considine confessed to Hough and LaPratt, that he broke into the home of Ralph Osterman, 506 Pemberton, last October 10, and that he stole approximately 10 watches.

New members of the vestry are Joseph G. Standart, Philip Dawson, George McMullen and Hugo S. Higbie.

Scheets, executive vice-president of the Greater Warren Chamber of Commerce; secretary; and Simpson C. Leonard, president of Michigan Leather Products Company, assistant secretary-treasurer.

Plans of the Association, a non-profit organization, include continued operation of Detroit Memorial Hospital, located downtown at Chrysler Expressway and Clinton, and the construction of a new $5 million South Macomb Hospital in suburban Warren, Michigan. TO THOSE LIVING IN THE COMMUNITIES SERVED BY DETROIT EDISON

As you grow and prosper, so do we. The nature of our business makes us very much a part of the 67 cities, 76 villages, 214 townships and 258 other communities that make up Southeastern Michigan.

It is mutually advantageous for us to encourage farmers to follow good agricultural practices, for example. Electrically driven machinery, so vital in combating the cost-price squeeze, is fast turning farms into food factories and there is much to learn in the process. The successful farmer of the future will be the one who best knows how to evaluate and use these "wired hands."

In behalf of business, we're constantly searching for new and improved ways to put versatile electric energy to work. This helps make our recommendations to our industrial and commercial customers more valuable and meaningful.

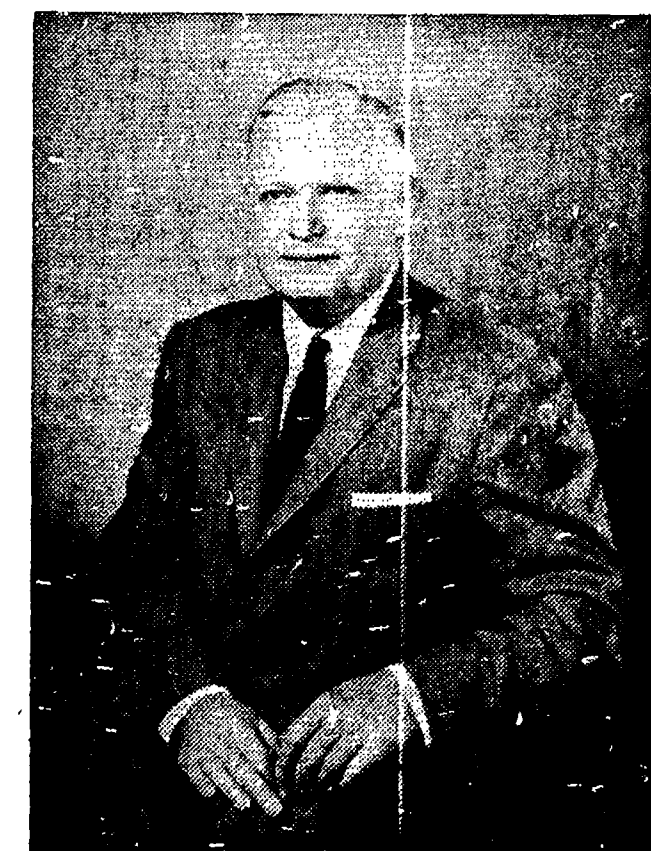

To aid in bringing new business enterprises into this area is another goal of ours. We help firms in search of new locations to find the best sites. Of greater long-range importance, we help communities make themselves more attractive to industrial newcomers. One way of doing so is by assisting in the research and work which lead to community planning and to the establishment of industrial development committees.

As you grow and prosper, so do we. We seek always to be staunch and enthusiastic boosters of the area and the people we serve.

Sincerely,

Walker L. Cisler

City Studying Vehicle Code

Lawrence Savage, Grosse Pointe, City Manager, recommended at the regular meeting of the Council January 20 that the Michigan Vehicle Code for Michigan cities and villages be adopted by his municipality.

This would involve the changing of various laws which would lower points for certain violations and change certain ordinances such as parking on the street between 2 and 6 a.m. This would enable snow removal trucks to work more efficiently. If the plan were adopted immediately, it would be put into effect by March 1.

However, the Council wanted a month to study the booklet put out by the Michigan State Police and will make a decision later. The booklet is available to all interested citizens.

DRIVER PENALIZED

It cost Donald Reetz, 19, of 5814 Lemay, Detroit, $35 for changing the birth date on his operator's license, and another $5 for ignoring a stop street sign. The fines were imposed by Park Judge C. Joseph Belanger, who found the youth guilty on both counts following a hearing.

Family Venture Celebrates 40th Anniversary

Forty years ago, Sam Olejniczak and a partner ventured into the sausage business under the name of SAM and WALTER PROVISION COMPANY. The small enterprise grew steadily with the years as demands for their products became greater and greater. In 1950, the company became a closed Olejniczak family corporation. Back row, left to right: ALFRED D. MORAN, MRS. TED OLEJNICZAK, TED OLEJNICZAK, MRS. EUGENE KOPITZKI, EUGENE KOPITZKI, CARL E. NOWICKI. Front row, left to right: MRS.

A. MORAN, MR. and MRS. SAM OLEJNICZAK and MRS. CARL E. NOWICKI. The family, which includes 10 grandchildren, resides in Grosse Pointe with the exception of the Nowickis who reside in St. Clair Shores. Community minded and lovers of the arts, the Olejniczaks are enthusiastic supporters of the Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra, the Grosse Pointe Community Theatre, Friends of Polish Art and others.

"Mr. Sam" as he is known to his many employees and customers, became President of the firm and his wife, Frances, became Vice-President. From the very beginning, Frances Olejniczak has played a great part in the success of the company.

Raising a family of four children did not prevent her from assisting her husband in the business world. New ideas for continual progress and expansion have always been the objective shared by this couple. Currently, a Sam and Walter Booklet of delicious luncheon meats and sausage menus prepared by culinary artist Clare Buczkowski is being published. Included are tasty dishes of "Old World" favorites for "New World" homemakers. Also, they new feature a delectable "Party Tray" for all festive occasions.

Ted Olejniczak, General Manager, stepped into the important role of a father-and-son team. Completing the family enterprise are the Olejniczak's sons-in-law: Carl Nowicki as Purchasing Manager, Eugene Kopitzki as Sales Manager and Alfred D. Moran, Promotion.

The results of the past years' efforts indicate that today the Sam and Walter Provision Company manufacture one of the largest varieties of American and European sausage and luncheon meat favorites. At present, they process more than 70 high-quality products which are distributed daily throughout Southeastern Michigan.

Contributing to the success and many wonderful memories of the Sam and Walter Provision Company have been "Our family of employees," says Mr. Sam. "Some members have been with us for many many years." At present, heading various departments are the following: Walter Filipowicz, production foreman; Herbert Olenzek, shipping foreman; and Mrs. Mollie Mazurek, office manager.

Delicatessen store managers include: Mrs. Margaret Antica, Mrs. Eugene Filipowicz, Mrs. Marguerite Griffin, Mrs. Harriet Kucharski, Mrs. Wanda Jankowski, Mrs. Irene Lisky, Mrs. Harriet Pittel, Mrs. Eleanor Rezekpa, Mrs. Virginia Rockwell, Mrs. Carol Singleton and Mrs. Theresa Weinstein.

DOG BITES BABY
Robert Wood, age 21 months, of 335 Rivard was bitten on the mouth January 16 by their family dog, a male Dachshund. The dog must be kept in the home for ten days and the Board of Health was notified.

The plant, located at 3407 Caniff, Hamtramck, supplies its own chain of attractive Sam and Walter Delicatessen Stores, franchised stores and individually owned retail stores. A planned program of activity throughout the 40th Year Celebration is now in progress.

Rotarians Hear Senator Hart

Rotarians of District 640 heard Senator Philip A. Hart speak on "A New Look At Foreign Aid." Saturday at the Pointe War Memorial. District 640 comprises 42 clubs in southeastern Michigan and a portion of Essex County in Ontario.

Senator Hart's talk was part of an all day seminar on international affairs. This year Rotary Clubs throughout the world have been paired off with others in other countries to help develop a better understanding. District 640 is paired with District 445 covering some 35 clubs in Peru.

Senator Hart's theme was that no longer is the U.S. giving money with no strings but rather it now is granted in the form of loans with the stipulation that the receiving country must prove it too is doing something. He saw no end to foreign aid in our time.

Earlier in the day Dr. Carl Cohen, professor of the University of Michigan, gave an excellent summary of the people of Peru as he had seen them as a most recent Fulbright Scholar lecturing in the larger universities. He painted a most bleak picture of a people unbelievably poor, almost totally uneducated with over 70 percent unable to speak Spanish, the so-called language of the country. In place of Spanish they speak in a dialect derived from the Incas. The land is most rich in resources but much of the profits go not to the people but to foreign owners.

Following his talk, U.S. Department of Commerce Foreign Trade Chief Good, of Detroit gave a presentation of the trade aspects of Peru and of South America. In sugar, fish, oil, and copper Peru is doing very well but the internal transportation problems are terrific. A desert on the western coast; the huge Andes mountains in the middle; and a vast unexplored jungle on the east make for many many small groups of isolated people.

GPHS Students Capture Honors

Three Grosse Pointe High School students have achieved honors recently. One is Beth Murphy of Belanger road who won a $600 scholarship for an essay she wrote titled, "I went back to school because..."

The contest was sponsored by the Women's Advertising Club which has been concerned over the number of high school dropouts and has introduced a "Stay in School" campaign.

Beth is not certain just how she will use the money yet. She may save it until the year after next when she graduates or she is also thinking of donating it to some worthy cause, perhaps through the Mothers' Club.

Jim Dolega, of Moross road, also a member of the class of 1965 won a similar award.

Peggy Comly of Lakepointe avenue was one of 19 state finalists in the annual competition sponsored by the National Council of Teachers of English. She is one of seven Michigan high school winners, the rest were runners-up. Ninety-nine per cent of the finalists are accepted by the college of their choice.

Each winner will receive a scroll and will be recommended for scholarships. The tests taken by the students deal with grammar, word usage, and vocabulary. The test also included an impromptu essay on one of six topics. Peggy chose as her topic, how man's search to know himself has been expressed in literature. Each school can enter only one student for every 500 students.

PTA Schedules Trip to Theater

A trip to the theater is in store for Barnes School students Saturday, January 25.

The Barnes PTA has reserved 130 seats for the matinee performance of "Cinderella" at Vanguard Theater, and has arranged for buses to transport the group, leaving the school at 1:15 p.m. and returning about 4:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Palmer and Mrs. Richard O'Connell, PTA ways and means co-chairmen, are planning on organizing the trip. Mothers have been in charge of ticket sales at the school this week.

According to Principal Roger O'Connell, the Barnes staff is in agreement with the viewpoint, expressed by many parents, that it is valuable for the children to have contact with live theater whenever possible. Following the performance, the children will have the opportunity to meet the actors, in their makeup and costumes, in the lobby of the theater.

Another theater venture, this one for adults, will be the PTA-sponsored trip to "Never Too Late," March 2 at the Fisher Theater. Barnes parents on the ticket committee are Mrs. Harold Haddas, Mrs. Jack Palmer, Mrs. William Lane, Mrs. Ross Stone, Mrs. Hugh Fletcher, and Mrs. Otis Schroeder.

GOPs Hear Talk By Tony Brown

Economic opportunity, not "Civil Rights" legislation is what will best improve the lot of the Negro, Tony Brown told 14th District Young Republicans at their January 16 meeting.

Mr. Brown, journalist and juvenile court adviser, said that the opportunity to buy a house in a white neighborhood is far less valuable than having the money to buy that house or any house.

Contrasting the roles of the two major parties in the life of the Negro, Mr. Brown said that Republicans and their philosophies are virtually unknown in the Negro community, while the Democrat Party has its representatives on every community board and committee.

Democrats have prevented Negroes from reaching political maturity, he said, "by perpetuating their existence on the dole." He also expressed scepticism about Democrat concern for the Negro beyond concern for the Negro vote.

Mr. Brown advised the Young Republicans to approach Negro voters just as they would all others, but added that special effort should be made by the party to become a permanent part of the community. His speech was the first of a series to be presented by the club, which is composed of Republicans aged 17 through 38.

The Young Republicans will have their next meeting and program on February 20, at the 14th district headquarters, and welcome all qualified residents of the district.

Democratic Club Meets Jan. 27

The Grosse Pointe Democratic Club will hold a general meeting Monday, January 27 at 8 o'clock in the Veterans' Room at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

Edward Connor, Detroit Councilman and Chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, will discuss County Re-organization. Guests are invited.

Christ Church Has Two Flags

Two flags, now flying each day at the entrance of Christ Church, have attracted a great deal of interest among people traveling down Grosse Pointe boulevard.

The flag on the left is the American flag and the one on the right is the flag of the Episcopal Church.

The latter is similar to the flag of the Church of England to which the American church is indebted for her foundation and a long continuance of care and protection.

The nine crosses refer to St. Andrew, the patron saint of the Episcopal church, and are also a reminder that the first American bishop, Samuel Seabury, received his orders from that church in 1784.

Crash Victim Still in Coma

James A. Lauve, 19, of 622 Sunningdale drive, is still in critical condition and in a coma at Bon Secours Hospital, as a result of a January 11 accident on Lake Shore road. The car he was driving went out of control and disintegrated after hitting two trees at the Moross intersection.

Three other teenagers, passengers in Lauve's car, were also injured. They are Robert B. Evans, Jr., 17, of 984 Lake Shore; Margaret Ann Tappert, 16, of 1128 Devonshire; and Kevin Cassidy, 17, of 65 Lake Shore.

Evans, who suffered a broken shoulder, was released from the hospital on Tuesday, January 21, and is at home recuperating.

Miss Tappert, who suffered a depressed spinal vertebra, and Cassidy, who suffered four broken ribs, have not yet been released, it was disclosed.

According to witnesses, Lauve, on the January date, was traveling west on Lake Shore at a high rate of speed, and passed through the Moross intersection just as the light turned green. He lost control of his car when it hit an icy patch on the pavement.

The vehicle jumped the curb of the island crashed into and broke a tree, traveled approximately 100 feet and hit another tree, uprooting it.

The undercarriage of the automobile ripped off, and 70 feet further the rear end fell off. As the car ploughed ahead, the roof came off and the passengers flew out and were tossed 138 feet from the wreckage.

Lecture Series Opening Tonight

J. Clayton Lafferty, Ph.D., will open the program series, "Your Window On The World" tonight, January 23, at 8 o'clock at the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church. His talk, "The Tyranny of Irrationality," will be a discussion of the concept each individual develops of himself and the way in which this influences his relationships with others.

Dr. Lafferty is past-president of both the Detroit and Michigan Psychological Associations and is president-elect of the Michigan Society of Consulting Psychologists. He serves as consultant to the Wayne County Board of Education and the Waterford Township Public Schools. He is on the part-time faculty at the University of Michigan and Wayne State University and conducts a private practice in Detroit.

Theme of the four-part series in the remark of Alfred Korzybski that "people do what they do because they see the world as they see it."

Douglas A. Sargent, M.D., will consider problems of perception in his talk, "Father To The Thought," on Sunday, February 2. The influence of language on perception will be the topic of the talk on Sunday, February 9, by Rev. William D. Hammond entitled "Being Comfortably Different."

All programs will be held at 8 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church, 17440 East Jefferson Avenue, at Rivard, and the public is welcome. A fee of 50 cents will be charged for each program or a series ticket may be purchased for $1.50. For information or reservations, call 881-0338 or 885-0233.

Hockey Chiefs Win and Lose

First games of the new City of Grosse Pointe-Neighborhood Club hockey league were played Saturday, January 18, at the club rinks with six teams in action.

In a Bantam contest the Stars edged the Comets 3-2 as Dan Griffin, Tom Pike and Rick Schoew rapped in goals for the winners and Pat Gage and Tad Turner sank shots for the Comets. Steve Maxon also stood out for the victors while Tom Canfield and Brian Hickey were Comets highlights.

In the Pee Wee division the first of two contests saw the Wings romp to a 5-2 victory over the Leafs as Sandy Sides racked up 4 goals in a great display of skating and shooting. George Limberg also sank one shot and Phil Edwards had two assists. Sandy Turner and Ricky Jahn played well and Jim Bayes did a good job in the nets. For the losing Leafs Rob Imesch had a nice goal and Kevin Bolton also scored and had an assist while his brother Jim Bolton was tireless and Doug McClure was flying.

The Hawks and Bruins skated to a 5-all draw in a second well-played contest as center Ed Wells of the Hawks and left winger Davy Hoag of the Bruins matched hat tricks with three goals apiece. Wells repeatedly stick handled through the Bruins' defense to notch his three while Tom Campbell and Bill Edmunds bagged one apiece and Doug Campbell played fire hockey with 4 assists. John Howard and Skip Lauth also looked good for the Hawks.

Next Saturday will see play continue with three more contests.

Dearborn Icemen Defeat Pointers

It was a long ride home Sunday for the Grosse Pointe Chiefs hockey team. They were dumped 5 to 3 by Sunnyside Market of Dearborn at Essex, Ont.

However, later in the week, they bounced back with a well-earned win over a highly favored Detroit Harper Sport Team. The game was played at Gordie Howe's Hockey Land which is the Chiefs' home ice. Led by Bill Noecker, their unpredictable goalie, they were inspired and took an early 2 to 0 lead in the first period, then held off a fast-skating, hard-playing Harper Team and won the game 4 to 2. Noecker easily was the Number 1 star as he turned in a sparkling job. Rob Zink, Ron Numura, Doug MacArthur and Bill Acker netted goals for the Chiefs.

Grosse Pointe takes on St. Clair Shores and Royal Oak this week. Both games will be played at Gordie Howe's as they prepare for the state tournament games which begin in February.

Scranton Due for Build-Up?

We don't know what the Detroit Free Press has (if anything), against Governor William Scranton of Pennsylvania, but someone on the staff certainly played a dirty trick on him in Tuesday's issue. The Feature Page carried a column by Russell Kirk under the heading "Scranton Eclipses Romney and Nixon," then, with a gesture that suspiciously resembled an attempt to "Eclipse Scranton," embellished it with a picture of the respected governor that might have been a mug shot of a toothless fugitive from justice in a police line-up. How the Free Press happened to preserve this picture at all, let alone use it, gives pause for thought.

Bill Scranton is a very attractive guy. We happen to be natives of the same town, the one named after his family. It's been so long since we've seen him he probably wouldn't recognize us if we fell over each other. On the other hand, it seems a relatively short leap into the past when his daddy asked us to help him learn how to play squash racquets. The family had the finest squash court we've ever seen, on Bill's grandmother's block-square estate right in the heart of downtown Scranton. Our newspaper office was a block removed, and being one of the much-blessed few who were given keys to this magnificent recreation spot, we played practically every day of the week. Bill was a gangling kid then, one of the nicest youngsters we've ever known. While happenstance has kept our paths from crossing for a long time, we have maintained a pretty close watch over his development through the years. We still have a summer home near Scranton and have continued contacts with many of Bill's close friends and some of his relatives.

Russell Kirk's column says that Governor Scranton's name is not well known, and this is the reason he has been at the bottom of the list in the national polls. His political experience has also been brief, the columnist cites, but predicts that within the next few weeks "several mass-circulation magazines will carry articles on Mr. Scranton, calculated to tell people outside of Pennsylvania that he exists."

We wouldn't be a bit surprised. There is plenty of copy available and Governor Scranton has just the right connections to see that it gets into print. His sister, Sally, married James Linen, president of Life magazine and former publisher of Time. We well recall their engagement announcement party, held on the same grandmothers' estate. As a matter of fact, Jim Linen probably had more to do than any other individual in talking his brother-in-law into politics. After his graduation from Yale, Bill made a considerable reputation in a very short time as a most astute businessman with pronounced leadership qualifications. Linen, who in his early days after college had political aspirations himself, switched these ambitions to Bill Scranton and talked him into running for Congress in a district that was strongly Democratic, though it had been staunchly Republican during our youthful days in Scranton. Bill won, impressively, then was persuaded to tackle the harder job of seeking the governorship of the state.

Personally, we are disappointed that Governor Scranton isn't staying clear of the Presidential fracas this year. We can't dispel the hunch that President Johnson is going to be a shoo-in come fall, and that his opponent will be Richard Nixon, and that Nixon will take a real beating this time instead of the eye-lash defeat he suffered at the hands of the late President Kennedy.

We rather wish that Bill Scranton would wait until 1968, by which time we'll wager he will be one tough hombre to lick. But who knows? Maybe the exposure he is getting now will stand him in stead for future achievements, which we predict will be great.

Brownell PTA Meets Jan. 27

Parents of Brownell Junior High School students will be offered an informative program demonstrating "Today's Teaching Techniques" at a meeting of the school's PTA on Monday, January 27, beginning at eight p.m. in the school's auditorium-gym.

Teachers of two departments, science and social studies, will each explain their general goals and the methods they use to achieve them.

Jerry Keeney, coordinator of Brownell's social studies department, will be assisted by Mrs. Ruth Schmult, who will demonstrate the development of a climate unit for seventh grade geography; by Mrs. Susan Schultz, who will present the re-creation of a historical event by tape for eighth grade American History; and by Mrs. Mary Tallani, who will use a film strip to develop an economics unit for ninth grade Civics.

Following this, Thomas Given and other members of Brownell's science department will do a series of demonstrations from at least three of the sciences taught in junior high school. Stress will be placed on methods of inquiry developed in classes, relationship of science to society, and actual techniques of research today's scientists really use.

Refreshments will be served in the gym following the program.

What Goes On at Your Library

By Virginia Leonard

Is it too late for New Year's resolutions? I think not, especially when it comes to procrastination in reading. I've just finished canvassing our Library staff, asking them all, in turn, two questions. The first: what book or books have you been planning to read all your life, but have never gotten around to doing? Second: what book or books did you honestly intend to read during 1963, but now have deferred until 1964? Here are the results.

The scope and types of reading material are indeed interesting, and, as might be expected, varied. Several authors have figured prominently, such as Albert Camus, Thomas Wolfe, Emily Dickinson, Marcel Proust, Thomas Mann, Par Lagerkvist and Tolstol. In most of these cases, the people consulted felt they would like to read a number of works of each. As for Tolstol, WAR AND PEACE and ANNA KARENINA were the two books mentioned.

Several single titles received two or three votes. These were ADVISE AND CONSENT by Allen Drury, DOCTOR ZHIVAGO by Boris Pasternak, THE DECLINE AND FALL OF THE ROMAN EMPIRE, by Edward Gibbon. (This, I think is a hardy perennial—my husband has been trying to get through it for twenty years!). Two authors are represented by two titles each. One is Winston Churchill: A HISTORY OF THE ENGLISH-SPEAKING PEOPLES, and THE SECOND WORLD WAR—both very ambitious. The other author is Irving Stone with his THE AGONY AND THE ECSTASY, and LOVE IS ETERNAL.

In some instances, fields of study were indicated, rather than specific authors or titles. One girl showed an interest in reading more poetry; another has taken as her special project the colonial period in United States history.

Some lean toward older, more classical, types of reading for their postponed pleasure. Titles have been suggested such as George Santayana's THE SENSE OF BEAUTY, William James' VARIETIES OF RELIGIOUS EXPERIENCE, Boccaccio's DECAMERON, Kierkegaard's A KIERKEGAARD ANTHOLOGY, Henry David Thoreau's WALDEN, and Charles Dickens' MARTIN CHUZZLEWIT (inspired, in this instance, by some ashtrays with illustrations from this classic). One excellent children's book has been listed: THE WIND IN THE WILLOWS, by Kenneth Grahame.

Contemporary volumes also figure prominently in our poll. Jessica Mitford's THE AMERICAN WAY OF LIFE, John F. Kennedy's PROFILES IN COURAGE, James Michener's HAWAII and Victor Lasky's J.F.K.: THE MAN AND THE MYTH are, apparently, waiting on several bedside tables to be read. THE GREAT HUNGER, by Cecil Woodham-Smith, THE VOYAGE OF THE NINA II, by Robert F. Marx, and two others figuring in one staff member's 1964 agenda.

Other titles which somehow defy category, but certainly show the diversity of interest of interest of my co-workers, are: Somerset Maugham's OF HUMAN BONDAGE, Douglas Freeman's biography of LEE, Charles Darwin's VOYAGE OF THE BEAGLE and Franz Werfel's FORTY DAYS OF MUSA DASH. And last, but not least, our own Dr. Charles H. Wilson's A TEACHER IS A PERSON is a "must" for several library workers for the coming year.

And what of my own plans? Right now, I'm deep in Frederick Crews' THE POOH FLEX (a delightful satire), and hope next to explore Mary McCarthy's works (other than THE GROUP). The new WAPSHOT SCANDAL of John Cheever, which is receiving good reviews, has prompted a long-delayed reading of his earlier WAPSHOT CHRONICLE. And so it goes—the bedside table is always groaning, and I suspect that some plans will have to be carried over until 1965. Also, some of my colleagues' suggestions have titillated my intellectual curiosity and I may well add many of their fine ideas to my own dossier of titles.

How about all of you? Do any of these suggestions interest you, or do you have your own list? We hope so, and we also hope you'll use our Libraries to make your 1964 choices.

Brownell Band Giving Concert

Friday evening, January 24, marks the first public appearance of the Brownell Junior High School's seventh grade band, when former students of Monteith, Kerby, Barnes, and Richard will present a concert beginning at 8 o'clock in the school's auditorium-gym.

This band, which was just organized last September with full instrumentation, has achieved a remarkable degree of proficiency in a very short time. Selections to be played before an audience of friends and relatives include Tchaikovsky's "Andante Cantabile" and a medley of familiar circus marches.

Following these numbers the Concert Band, consisting of 80 more experienced eighth and ninth grade instrumental students, will present two difficult selections: "Welsh folk suite," and an arrangement of George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue."

What's New on THE HILL...

By Roberto

Let's give nature a nudge on these dark, chilly, damp days of January. Let's look more beautiful from the inside out. Whatever we do we should want it to sing... get it from the Hill... where the service they offer means so much.

It's always exciting where they are looking for and actually finding fresh new things like. It's like that at the Trail Apothecary Shop. Right now they are featuring Nails Alive... Golden Safflower Nail Conditioner and Q-ticle time, the moisturized cuticle softener... they work!

"By Popular Demand"

In again at the League Shop are the tole supper trays. They hold complete place settings of dinner china. A delightful way to serve effortless buffet parties. Sets of 4 trays. Black and white only. 72 Kercheval.

Hair Stylist,

Peggy Mason, whose coiffures for the young and young-in-heart were long time favorites in this area, has returned to Grosse Pointe, and re-joined the top flight staff at Marie Bird's Salon, on the hill, where quality has always been the by-word. For appointments call TU 1-6833.

Sign of the Mermaid

The world famous pattern, Rothchild Birds, is attractive in the new breakfast sets at The Sign of the Mermaid, where they feature this exquisite china in hand-painted natural colors. 75 Kercheval. TU 2-1610. You can still take advantage of their 50% off sale here.

Lovelier, shinier

full of bounce... that's what we all dream of for our hair. It's the natural beauty... the ability to catch the light, the silhouette of YOU that they strive for at Anthony's. Relax in the quiet charm that is Anthony's... and let the staff do the rest. TU 5-9955.

You don't have to be an heir to a bubble gum fortune... or a psychoanalyst... to own that huge brass milk jug at the Wm. Denler & Co. It's an antique and can be used as a table base... most attractive. 77 Kercheval. See it now in their windows.

Have you noticed the January 1 and 15 issues of the Vogue Magazine Beauty News? Their thinking reflects much of the same attitude of Marie Bird's in her column "Beauty By-Line" that appears so often on the feature page of this paper. Just shows that our gal prefers to lead rather than follow.

Much can be said for the integrity and the service of the fine staff of pharmacists at Trail Apothecary Shop. We never miss taking advantage of their fine, dependable, prescription service. 121 Kercheval. TU 1-5688.

WOMEN'S PAGES

From Another Pointe of View

By Janet Mueller

King's consciences aside, "the play's the thing" in the Pointe this weekend, as Grosse Pointe Community Theater opens its 1964 season with "Detective Story."

Guests of honor at the premiere performance in Fries Auditorium tomorrow evening will be six local men with a professional interest in the play.

Police Chiefs Andrew Teetaert, of Grosse Pointe City; Arthur Louwers, of the Park; Fred Duemling, of the Shores; James Furtun, of the Farms; Alan Miglio, of Harper Woods, and Vern Bailey, Grosse Pointe Woods Director of Public Safety, have been invited to enjoy cocktails in the Woods lane home of director George Wilson.

The Chiefs will then join forces with the first-night audience. Especially interested in the authenticity of sets and actors is Chief Teetaert, who acted as technical advisor for the production.

Chief Teetaert's assistance proved invaluable in casting and directing Pulitzer Prize winner Sidney Kingsley's rendition of one dramatic night in a big city precinct station.

"Detective Story," starring Dean F. Erskine, Shirley Shepard and Robert Pothoff, will run four nights, January 24, 25, 31 and February 1 at Fries Auditorium, then go "on the road" to Fenton, for a February 15 performance in that city's Second Annual Living Theater Series.

Palestrina Institute Benefit

A giant card party has been scheduled Friday evening, January 31, in St. Clare de Montefalco Parish Hall, by the newly formed Palestrina Auxiliary. Proceeds will benefit the Palestrina Institute, which trains boys as organists and choir directors for churches of the Archdiocese of Detroit and offers (Continued on Page 15)

The Reverend Bertram deH. Atwood officiated at the candlelight ceremony.

They wore identical two piece floor length gowns, with bodices of midnight blue velvet and skirts fashioned of chiffon over peau de soie. Matching velvet cretels with short blue veils formed their headpieces, and

She is a member of the PTA at Gabriel Richard School, where she herself attended classes, and an active member of Grosse Pointe Memorial Presbyterian Church.

ROSLYN ROAD
NR. FERRY SCHOOL

Immaculate three bedroom 1½ story. Excellent kitchen, paneled games room, garage. Don't miss this one! TU 1-6300.

Johnstone & Johnstone

MAY WE BE a bit presumptuous in asking if you like to revel in the luxury of large rooms which have been masterfully decorated; to lounge in your large bedroom or its sitting alcove? Do you insist on the privacy of a warmly paneled library, and when summer comes like the quiet of a sheltered terrace projecting into the completely screened yard? Must you have quarters for stay-in-help or just the rooms which you know are always there for visiting family and brood? If you can project yourself into this picture, then let us start the ball rolling by showing you this offering today.

NOT JUST ANOTHER house on McKinley Avenue, but this immaculately maintained colonial boasts that all important den on the first floor. The spacious kitchen expands into a family-sized breakfast nook. Carpeting and draperies, plus tastefully chosen papers and fabrics make this a stand out among the others.

SHOULD COMMAND your immediate and undivided attention if you have been waiting for the newer, four bedroom colonial which never comes on the market in "the right location". Well we have one which has these prerequisites plus a family room and a den. Naturally there is also a large and modern kitchen with the works built-in. Priced at $52,500.

MAKE NO MISTAKE, which is just what you will make if you ignore this one on Lincoln road. If you've been shopping for that four bedroom home; with a den, and a half bath, washer and disposal in the kitchen, if you have big house ideas but not the purse to match? Then let us pleasantly surprise you by showing off this fine listing in a prime location. Having a second car would be an unnecessary extravagance 'cause the home is just a minute's walk to everything.

A CONTEMPORARY showplace in Deepdells, show, with the most modern in house gadgetry. All three bedrooms have their own baths. Cozy den leads to a secluded patio, to live on in summer, to look at in winter. Enough extras to fill a book.

TRY THIS ONE for size if you desire the charm of Early American your house, yet demand all the conveniences built in to the newer homes. A kitchen which you may have dreamed about, room for the family and big enough for house guests. If four bedrooms are all you need, you need to see this one.

OUR JANUARY clearance sale may well continue into February if these four vacant homes are not sold in the ensuing week. In all four cases the present owners have purchased new homes and are prepared to listen to any reasonable offers. Could one of these offerings be what you have been waiting for? All four homes have recently been reduced in price to clear the way for a quick sale.

"He has half the work done, who has made a Beginning."

Basic Courses Set for Adults

The traditional "Reading, Writing and Arithmetic" have taken on a New Look in the Adult Education courses currently offered by the Department of Community Services, Grosse Pointe School System.

In the reading division, "Reading Improvement for Adults" is being offered beginning Wednesday, February 12. This eight week course, sponsored by the University of Michigan, is a systematic approach to reading with greater speed and accuracy. Printed and visual aids are employed throughout the course.

Students enrolled in this class will learn to improve their learning capacity through reading comprehension. More enjoyable leisure reading time and increased comprehensive reading ability for business and professional people are some of the benefits derived by Grosse Pointers previously enrolled in this class, now in its ninth consecutive year.

"Handwriting Analysis" is perhaps as unconventional an approach to the "3 R's" as is Reading Improvement, yet just as effective in its own right. Mrs. McKeown, the instructor, will teach her students the classification of basic personality traits as illustrated in various methods of handwriting, through a systematic analysis of handwriting techniques. This class, which is enjoyable as a hobby as well as helpful in many businesses, is scheduled to begin soon.

All levels of mathematics, through trigonometry, will be offered later this month. Inquiries and registration for any of the above courses may be made by contacting the Department of Community Services, at TU. 5-3808 or TU. 5-0271.

STOLEN BIKE FOUND
Mrs. Elizabeth Baubie of 529 Lakeland reported January 15 at 4:30 p.m. that her son James's bike had been stolen from the bike rack at Maire school. Police recovered the bike, a 26" Schwinn, at Cunningham's Drug Store at Notre Dame and Kercheval, and returned it to the owner.

training and refresher courses for adult organists and choir directors.

Festivities begin at 8 o'clock, admission is $1.50, and refreshments will be served. Advance reservations may be obtained by contacting Pointe area chairman Mrs. Philip Perrone, Tuxedo 5-5249. Joseph Kotylo, of Barclay road, serves as president of the Auxiliary.

"Inside Cottage Hospital"

Miss Carolyn Wicks, administrator of the Pointe's oldest hospital, will address members of the Women's Auxiliary to Cottage Hospital next Thursday, January 30, at the Auxiliary's annual meeting.

Miss Wicks' topic at the 10:30 o'clock morning gathering in Cottage's Ridge road Nurses' Residence will be "Inside Cottage Hospital."

Whether or not she brings any new information to dedicated Auxiliary members, who donate many hours of volunteer work "inside" the Hospital On The Hill, Miss Wicks' lecture is sure to be interesting and entertaining.

At the annual meeting, Auxiliary women will elect a first vice-president, treasurer, assistant treasurer, corresponding secretary and parliamentarian, to serve two year terms. Luncheon will follow the business session.

Garden Clubs Gathering

Winter wind may howl, and snow blanket the daffodil beds, but gardeners refuse to recognize a specific "green thumb" season.

Next Thursday, mid-winter by the calendar, District I of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan will hold a day-long meeting at the Women's City Club. The session's aim is to provide local garden clubs with many delightful, exciting and adaptable ideas for programming monthly meetings.

Slides of the recent Flower Show and Table Setting Exhibition at the Charles W. Warren Co. will be shown and, after luncheon, Mrs. John W. Knight, Jr., of Cuyahoga Falls, O., well-known throughout the Middle West as a lecturer and writer in flower arranging, will give a creative demonstration, "New Dimension in Design," showing the abstract influence in flower arranging.

Among those who plan to attend the meeting are Mrs. Raymond J. Hodgson, of Renaud road; Mrs. Frederick J. Schumann, of Devonshire road; Mrs. F. F. Stetekluh, of Handy road; Mrs. Frederick Condit and Mrs. Charles J. Pollock.

"Let's Take Stock"

Many Grosse Pointe women found unsolicited "stock certificates" in their mail this past week—unique certificates, symbolizing their "shares" in United Community Services and inviting them to a special "Board Meeting," the 29th annual UCS Women's Committee luncheon.

Mrs. Burdette Ford, of Sunningdale drive, is one of three civic leaders selected to chair the session, scheduled Monday, February 3, at 12 o'clock noon, in the Crystal Ballroom of the Masonic Temple.

Other Pointers with major responsibilities in the 29th anniversary observance are Mrs. William M. Adams, of University place; Mrs. Edward Gehrig, of Balfour road; and Mrs. Boyd Horne, of McKinley avenue.

Featured on the program will be a panel of leading representatives from business, government and labor: Joseph L. Hudson, Jr., president of the J. L. Hudson Co., William T. Patrick, Jr., of Michigan Bell Telephone, former Detroit Councilman, and Leonard Woodcock, vice president, UAW-CIO.

Richard F. Huegli, of Radnor circle, UCS managing director, will give the opening address.

Culture In The Automotive City

Members of the Colonial Dames of America in the State of Michigan will gather at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, in the Beacon Hill home of Mrs. J. Verner Davis, for a mid-winter meeting.

Following the business session, to be conducted by president Mrs. Hansel Dwight Wilson, Willis Woods, director of the Detroit Institute of Arts, will speak on "The Cultural Development of Detroit."

Introducing Mr. Woods will be program chairman Mrs. George Schemm. Assisting Mrs. Davis at the tea following the meeting will be Mrs. Ames Howlett and Mrs. William Ledyard.

Health Council Meets Monday

The Mothers' Health Education Council of Grosse Pointe will hold its regular meeting Monday, January 27, at 1 o'clock, in the Main Library.

To alert Council delegates to the ever-present danger of literary filth, Mrs. William G. Self, program chairman, has asked Mrs. Richard E. Jones, representing the Grosse Pointe Council of Better Literature for Youth to speak.

Mrs. Jones' topic will be: "Speak Up for Decency." All delegates are urged to attend and bring a guest.

At the Council's Board meeting, on Monday, January 13, in the home of the president, Mrs. William Heller, Welfare chairman Mrs. Carl Nolte reported that 24 delegates had helped, for six days in November, with the Chest X-ray Mobile Unit stationed at Mack and Moross roads.

Mrs. Nolte also noted that she is in need of more clean, usable clothing suitable for distribution to school children. Her address is 84 Clairview road, phone Tuxedo 1-0582.

Most people are never satisfied—do them one favor and they expect an encore.

Outline of script for Grosse Pointe's answer to Keystone Cop comedies—Reel One: Time, early afternoon. Mrs. Ralph Raymond leaves home in Bedford road, carrying ice skates; arrives at Park pier. Park pier deserted. Mrs. Raymond enters warm-up room, puts on ice skates. Mrs. Raymond prepares to leave. Horrors! Mrs. Raymond is locked in! Reel Two: Close-up of Mrs. Raymond, thinking. Look of shock changes to look of delight as she discovers loose change in pocket. Pan to show Mrs. Raymond crossing room to pay telephone, inserting change, dialing. Caption, "Help, police . . . I am locked in the warm-up room at the Park pier!" Reel Three: Longshot, Mrs. Raymond standing on bench, peering out of upper window. Cut to arrival of police car. Enter hero, stalwart former life guard, newly sworn in as officer of law, brave, courageous, true, bold, etc. Show hero opening door, Mrs. Raymond's face expressing joy (at her deliverance) and recognition (she knew hero when . . .). Pair prepare to leave. Reel Four: Hero puts hand on knob, pulls. Pulls harder. Close-up of hero's face. Horrors! They are both locked in! Hero and Mrs. Raymond look at one another. Hero speaks. Caption, "I'll go out the window." He goes out window, races to door, opens door, holds it open. Mrs. Raymond exits and is saved. Caption, THE END. Shades of Mack Sennett!

Nominee for babysitter of the year: Siglinda, a mixed German shepherd belonging to the Ethan C. Prewitts, of Ridge road. When young Margaret Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Harris, III, of Cloverly road, objected to being "sat with" while her parents went out during the holidays, Siglinda saved the day! Acceptable to Margaret, who like most girls in their early teens is quite capable of putting herself to bed, and acceptable to her parents, who wanted a "reliable" guardian for their daughter, Siglinda donated her standard 50-cent-an-hour fee to Planned Parenthood. The dog's advantages over human sitters are legion—she does not raid the icebox, does not spend half the night talking to her boyfriend over the telephone, and operates a built-in early warning system of ferocious woofs and snarls. (she is really a gentle, friendly dog, but takes her "job" seriously—so seriously, in fact, that Mr. and Mrs. Harris had a little trouble entering their own home late at night; Siglinda insisted upon positive identification before letting them through the door).

The case of the split-personality society editor has been solved. Mrs. T. Raymond Jeffs, of McKinley avenue, whose daughter, Peggy, worked as a reporter on the NEWS for several summers, has "dropped in" our offices for years, knows most of the staff well, and was especially friendly with former society editor Pat Talbot, who moved to Philadelphia last fall. An outgoing person, Mrs. Jeffs always says, "Hello!" to friends and acquaintances she meets on the street. For the past two years, she has puzzled over the fact that some days Pat Talbot would return her friendly greeting, other days "freeze" her with a cool nod. Last week, as Mrs. Jeffs wheeled her cart down a supermarket aisle, she almost ran into "Pat Talbot." She stared for a minute, then burst out with, "Why Pat, how nice to see you; what are you doing here?" "Pat" turned, looked Mrs. Jeffs full in the face, and replied, "You know, you've been calling me by that name for a long time. I'm not Pat!" Slightly embarrassed, but delighted to discover Pat Talbot is no Jekyll-Hyde character, Mrs. Jeffs apologized for the identity mix-up and continued shopping. She swears the woman in the store was Pat's "double," that the mistake was completely natural, and is hoping to run into the ersatz "Pat" while in the company of someone else who knows the "real" Pat well, to check on the resemblance.

PILFERINGS

It was almost 5:30 in the afternoon. The salespeople in the huge department store went wearily about their business, checking stock, tidying shelves, adding up sales.

At long last, the closing bell rang. "Come," said one exhausted salesman to another, "They're playing our song."

Bachelor-girl in mid-thirties to friend: "At my age, I no longer plan the future. I PLOT it!"

The incoming freshman at a major Midwestern university was puzzled about the proper way to address his English professor.

"Should I call you Dr.," he asked, "or Mrs.?" The professor laughed. "Mrs.," she replied. "I worked harder for it."

Canteen Conversation

BY RICK MILLS

"Turn off that 'radio'!" "You mean you spent one good American dollar for that trash!" "You can't actually call that music?" "Why can't you listen to good music as we do? These are familiar phrases to the teenager who appreciates the fine sounds of modern music. Parents either stonewall out of the area with great disgust, or they try to turn the radio off when this style of music comes on. Many a fierce battle has been fought because the kids know and understand the music while the parents just take it as so much junk. Who is right? From the slightly biased point of view of the teenager of Grosse Pointe come these replies.

Bill Heyd: "When our parents were our age they liked the type of music they listened to. Why can't we be left alone to choose what kind of music we prefer?"

Kathie Wicks: "I don't think the parents should complain. When they were young they had their music and we have the same right to have ours. My parents do not complain very much."

Janet Woodcock: "Our tastes change as we grow older and what sends us now may not interest us later. Parents need not worry about the music we listen to now because our likes will change. After all, our parents used to enjoy all that wild stuff in their day, but they have changed their opinions since then."

Nancy Brown: "Parents have no right to dictate what kind of music we should listen to. It's up to the individual alone. Our grandparents probably felt the same way toward them as they feel toward us."

Peggy Smithers: "If the parents feel strongly enough about our kind of music then I think we should not subject them to it. We can always enjoy it when they are out of hearing range, or at least turn down the radio when they ask us to."

I'll stack up our rock and roll any day against the stuff our parents flipped for. Can you fathom such intellectual gems as: "Doodle-de-Do," "Yes We Have No Bananas," "I Wish I Could Shimmy Like My Sister Kate"? Can't you see your mom and dad doing the "Charleston," "Black Bottom," or the "Jelly Roll"?

Didn't Socrates express alarm over the fact that the youth of the world were shocking their elders by their foolish actions even in his day? It seems that history continually repeats itself and that this generation proves no exception.

RIA BROUWERS, OF RADNOR CIRCLE

By Janet Mueller

Sixteen-year-old Ria Brouwers has two mothers, two fathers, a brother, (in The Netherlands), three sisters, (in Michigan), and a host of friends on both sides of the Atlantic Ocean.

One of six exchange students currently enrolled in Grosse Pointe High School, Ria lives with her "American" parents, the O. R. Wilcoxons, in Radnor circle, attends classes with her "American" sister, 17-year-old Claire Wilcoxon, celebrates family birthdays and holidays with her two other "American" sisters, Mary Lee, 20, and Ann, 12.

Meanwhile, in Meeuwen, a city in the southern Netherlands, her Dutch parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. A. Brouwers and her almost 12-year-old brother Johan, keep apprised of their daughter's overseas sojourn via letters.

Part of Ria's assignment during her year in the States, sponsored by the Youth For Understanding program of the Michigan Council of Churches, is to become a member of an American family.

She calls the Wilcoxons "mother" and "father" without affectation speaks naturally of her "sister" Claire, dresses and looks like a typical U.S. teenager—the very nicest kind of U.S. teenager, a technicolor high-busted girl with pink cheeks, China blue eyes and taffy-blond hair just touched with molasses.

Her English is fluent. She speaks three other languages, Dutch (naturally), German and French. Already graduated from her higher grade school in Holland, she is a senior at Grosse Pointe High, with a solid course schedule that includes English, American History, Economics, American Government, and, this semester, two electives, Speech and Journalism.

Mrs. Ruth Flom, High School Dean of Girls, says she is doing well academically. Ria's personality, her friendliness and charm, make social adjustment to a new country and the finding of new friends no problem. Actually, Ria had a head start on the other exchange students. Her American sister, Claire Wilcoxon spent last summer with the Brouwers in The Netherlands. Claire, a U.S. Youth For Understanding export, and Ria, her Dutch sister, saw Holland by bus and train.

As the only English-speaking Brouwers—Ria's father understood a little English, but did not speak it; Johan managed to pick up a good deal of U.S. teen slang during Claire's two-month visit—Ria was thrust into the role of interpreter and confidant.

One of her Dutch friends was also playing hostess to an American exchange student, and the four girls often got together to talk and compare notes. When Ria arrived in the States this fall, she had little trouble adjusting to a new language . . . probably because she had "practiced," on Claire, all summer.

In fact this Christmas, when she decided to send a phonograph record home to her parents, Ria found herself groping for Dutch words! After four months of thinking in English, she found it almost impossible to deliver a monologue in Dutch.

"It would have been much easier if someone had answered me," she says. Locally, her only Dutch conversations are with a Netherlands-born lady for whom she sometimes baby sits.

Two Sets of Sponsors
Four of the High School's exchange students are sponsored by the American Field Service; the other two, (Ria is one of these), by Youth For Understanding.

The Youth For Understanding selection process, in the United States and abroad, is similar to that of AFS. Applicants wishing to study in America must know a little English and have a broad general education.

its exchange students, including visits to New York City and Washington, D.C., where the entire group is received by the State Department.

Youth For Understanding has no such program, but Ria and her American family plan a private tour of New York and Washington during Easter vacation. They have already covered most of Michigan; Ria was very impressed by the Mackinac Bridge, which she terms "fascinating."

Active in dramatics in The Netherlands, she played a lady in waiting in the High School's production of "The Mouse That Roared."

Other favorite hobbies are sports—she would like to do more bicycle riding and ice skating—and reading. Ria enjoys all kinds of books, from Moliere's stylized comedies of inner life. Her favorite American author is Hemingway.

The one absolutely hateful thing she found in America was cottage cheese. Her other complaints, that people rush too much and always want to go out, seem to be the traditional comments of visitors on this side of the Atlantic. Apparently, Americans are born in a hurry.

Likes Friendliness
She likes most things American, is especially enthusiastic about the friendliness of people here. "Everybody talks to me!" she marvels.

Homesickness has not bothered her, although every so often "I would like to stick my nose around the door of my Dutch home." By and large, she has had no time to be homesick.

Ria Brouwers, living in America, as an American, is a busy, happy member of the Pointe community. When she does finally "stick her nose around the door of her Dutch home," Meeuwen will welcome back a busy, happy young citizen of The Netherlands.

And Ria will take up life as a Dutch girl, study physical therapy, skate and read and go on dates, act and speak and behave like thousands of her compatriots. And yet not quite like them.

Ria Brouwers has two families. So has Claire Wilcoxon. They have added a dimension. Their eyes will always be just a little more widely opened.

"Traction-Baldness," says noted New York dermatologist Dr. Irwin Lubone in his newest book, "New Hope for Your Hair," is a condition unique to the female species. It comes from constant pressure on the hair by over-teasing . . . sleeping in tight rollers or pin curls . . . and stiff nylon brushes that tear the teasing and the hair out by the roots.

If the hair is subjected to such strain over a long period of time by being held "in traction" . . . the hair follicle may shrink and dry up resulting in permanent baldness. For men receding hair lines and baldness are accepted . . . but when a woman's crowning glory is something less than that it is indeed a sad story!

The scientific approach to beautiful, healthy hair that we follow in our salon at 117 Kercheval . . . plus the extra time and care that is given to revitalizing the hair . . . artificial color and permanent waving can give new hope for your hair . . . not in a book . . . but in reality . . . today!
