of the WEEK

Thursday, June 18
A FRIDAY AFTERNOON deadline was set by the Michigan Supreme Court yesterday for the state's Legislative Apportionment Commission to produce a new districting plan for the election of senators and representatives. If the bipartisan commission is unable to reach a decision, the eight justices will draw districts themselves, probably at a meeting scheduled for Monday. The change in the districting is due to a United States Supreme Court ruling on Monday which said that each state legislature must be divided into districts on the basis of population.

THE WAY WAS cleared for the passage of the civil rights bill by the end of the week when the Senate Wednesday turned back a final round of Southern amendments. Senate leaders then ordered a vote on a motion to substitute a bipartisan version of the bill for the original House passed measure. The new version puts more stress on voluntary compliance. The motion passed 76 to 18.

Friday, June 19
SENATOR BARRY GOLDWATER, candidate for the Republican nomination for president, announced Thursday he will "reluctantly" vote against the civil rights bill regardless of the political consequences. He said that he could not support the bill because of the public accommodations and fair employment sections. He emphasized, however, that he is unalterably opposed to discrimination or segregation on the basis of race, color or creed.

A RECORD $324 billion temporary debt limit was approved by the House Thursday. If passed by the Senate, it would raise the present $315 billion debt ceiling by $9 billion so the Government can pay its bills during the year beginning July 1. The temporary debt ceiling has been increased 11 times in nine years.

Saturday, June 20
EXACTLY ONE YEAR after the late President John F. Kennedy asked its approval, the civil rights bill was passed by the Senate. The Friday vote was 73 to 27. The bill gives the Federal government vast powers to help erase discrimination in voting, schools, employment, Federal aid programs and in access to public facilities and many private businesses open to the public. Front-running Republican presidential candidate, Senator Barry Goldwater voted against the bill as he said he would.

Sunday, June 27
DR. PAUL RUSSELL, chief of surgery at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, told newsmen Saturday that Senator Edward M. Kennedy, whose back was broken in a plane crash, was in no way paralyzed and had complete use of his limbs. He said, however, that complete recovery would take at least six months and possibly as much as 10 months.

AN ELABORATE AIR FORCE base at Danang in South Viet Nam is near completion, according to the New York Times News Service. The base, together with specialized facilities elsewhere in South Viet Nam and Thailand will give the West a forward strategic position confronting Communist China. The system of installation has been planned to serve anti-Communist strategy for the Southeast Asia area far broader than the present war effort inside South Viet Nam.

Tuesday, June 23
HENRY FORD II, board chairman of the Ford Motor Co., said Monday in a policy statement that the nation's prosperity is endangered by the United Auto Workers bargaining demands and warned that his company is willing "if necessary—to accept a strike." He also said that the public and government should be prepared to accept the strike "as part of the price we must pay for the preservation of free and responsible collective bargaining."

Rotary Club Names Lauer Top Citizen

Athletic Mentor at St. Paul High School Winner of Service Club's Annual Award

Ed Lauer, a man who has done wonders with Pointe athletics and recreation programs, was named the Rotary Club's Citizen of the Year at a ceremony June 15.

A proclamation honoring the award winner summarized his years of service. " . . . Edward Lauer has faithfully and ably served this community for 25 years as coach of all sports at St. Paul High School . . . and he has influenced the lives of literally thousands of students, in his modest, quiet, unassuming manner . . ."

During his years at St. Paul, Lauer has turned out a number of all-state and all-city players, and coached more than one state champion team. In addition, the resolution states, "he has always emphasized sportsmanship and character, along with the desire to win."

In addition to his work with St. Paul School, Lauer holds the summer post of director of the Farms' municipal pier park, and in this position has personally built up an extensive program of summer recreational activities.

His present interest he reports, is developing an active program of competitive swimming in the Pointes. The Farms, under his leadership, has headed a recent campaign to form the Pointe Inter-City Swimming League, which will engage in four or more competitive meets this summer. The Farms program has already attracted well over 50 boys and girls, and is still growing.

Police Obtain Prints From Forced Desks and Cabinets; Coins and Papers Strawn On Floor Indicate Hurried Departure

As the old saying goes, we was robbed. Sometime between 6 p.m. Friday, June 19, and 9 a.m. Saturday morning, a burglar entered the rear door of the NEWS office, 99 Kercheval avenue, and broke into a desk and a safe, leaving with approximately $300.

Farms police took photos, fingerprints and other evidence on the scene Saturday morning, and the case is still under their study. According to Det. Sgt. George Van Tiem, the burglar "seems to be somebody who had some knowledge of where the money was kept."

His method of operation seemed very dissimilar to that of the still active cat burglar, who has struck many private homes in the Pointe and generally escapes with loot in the

Water Service Stopped Briefly

A short circuit in a 4,800 volt pump starter at the Farms pumping station knocked out the water supply to all of the Farms and City for five minutes Saturday afternoon.

An alternate pump was swiftly substituted for the shorted unit, and service was restored. The breakdown occurred between 1:15 and 1:20 p.m.

As the short circuit took place, an automatic circuit breaker cut off all electrical power to the plant's pumps. The plant operator, Carl Commerson, isolated the defective piece of equipment and switched in the alternate pump, and restored the electricity.

Farms police reported a flood of phone calls.

neighborhood of $7,000 per home.

Discovered in Morning
Friday night's burglary was discovered at 9 a.m. the next morning by Mrs. Mary Lorimer, a member of the NEWS advertising department, and Miss Kathy Dickson, of the classified advertising staff. Mrs. Lorimer had entered by the rear door, and noticed several pry marks on the doorframe. The door was locked, and she thought the marks indicated an attempted, but unsuccessful, entry.

After Miss Dickson's arrival, about 10 minutes later, the two discovered strewn papers and money on the floor of the bookkeeping section in the east wing of the building. Mrs. Lorimer phoned Robert B. Edgar, the paper's editor and general manager, who notified Farms police.

From a locked drawer of a standup desk, the burglar escaped with approximately $250. A combination filing cabinet and safe, immediately adjacent to the desk, was also broken into, and $50 were reported missing.

Entered Rear Door
The burglar made four attempts to enter the rear door of the building, before he successfully sprung the lock. The instrument he used was a screwdriver or prying tool one-fourth to five-sixteenths of an inch in width, Sgt. Van Tiem stated. The same tool was used to pry open both the bookkeeper's table and the filing cabinet-safe, he revealed.

"It's hard to tell whether he's a real pro, or someone just starting out in the business," Sgt. Van Tiem observed. The burglar was experienced enough to know that he did not need any large tools, he added.

Although both the desk drawer and the cabinet door showed pry marks, there were no marks on the safe door itself. Police said the safe "could have been opened with little effort by one who knew something about them."

Prints Obtained
Farms detective bureau investigators obtained a palm print and several partial latent fingerprints on the cabinet and desk. As of Tuesday, they were still processing a cash box and a number of papers for additional prints. Fingerprints of several NEWS staff members (Continued on Page 2)

Water Level Problem Hits Farms Pier

Parents Mad as Swimmers Turn to Land Games As Lake Stays Extremely Shallow

"The biggest wading pool in the country."

These were the words used by Ed Lauer, director of the Farms pier, to describe the Farms' swim facilities. The lake level is down seven inches below that of last summer, and shifting sands are adding further to the problem. "Mothers have good reason to complain, and they are," Lauer reported.

Over the whole expanse of the swimming area, water levels are no deeper than waist level, with the exception of the dredged diving area. As Lauer spoke, he looked out at two teenage girls about 100 yards from the beach, standing in water that came barely up to their knees.

A mother of five, Mrs. Dean Riddle of 419 Hillcrest, viewed, "I think it's terrible. I really think it would be worth the extra taxes to have a decent place to swim."

As she spoke, four of her children, David, 11, Jan, 7, Nancy, 5, and Danny, 2, jostled in the sand nearby. She said that both she and her husband, "gave up swimming here."

Won't Solve Problem
Lauer explained that many residents approach him asking why dredging would not solve the park's problems. His answer is that dredging is not as easy as it sounds.

For three years running, he explained, the only part of the swimming area to be dredged has been a small diving area at the end of the swimming pier. For the rest of the area, dredging would only uncover a bottom composed of mud, rocks and rubble. The job of dredging and removing foreign materials, and then carrying in a new sand base, would be enormous, he explained.

The Farms is in a unique position among the Pointes. Both the City and the Woods have their own pools, the Shores is scheduled to complete one next month, and the Park has a semi-enclosed basin where water level can be controlled and the water chlorinated, Lauer explained.

Farms Is Worst
This leaves the Farms with the lowest, and the murkiest water of all the Pointes. He disagreed, however, with those Farms residents who claim a pool to be the only solution, and called the kind of arrangement used in the Park a good one. "Besides, I wouldn't holler too loud for a pool if the water (Continued on Page 4)

Preserving Pointe For Ideal Living Calls for Planning

Planners' Report to City Follows Lengthy Study of Necessary Steps to Guard Against Deterioration of Area

(Editor's Note: The series of articles prepared by Scott Bagby and Associates of Grand Rapids, City Planners, is continued in this issue of the NEWS. The report pertains to the planning needs of the entire Grosse Pointe community, and a long range guide for present and future community action. This is a continuation of the Planning Program.)

Business Development: Grosse Pointe, while primarily residential in character, has a very valuable asset in the type and value of its business properties. Out of a 1962-63 total assessed property value of $23,021,580, approximately $3,917,500 is business property, paying slightly less than one fourth of total tax bills.

In addition, this business property pays a substantial portion of the taxes on $2,943,930 in personal property assessments, a total of almost one fourth of all taxes in the City.

Fortunately, the Associates stated, the Central Business Area on Kercheval is located in a three-block area where it has no adverse effect on any good home area. The Fisher District is located where it does not harm any residential values, and the Mack area has not been permitted to spread southward into adjacent home areas.

Assessed Valuations
The following is a breakdown of the business area's assessed valuations: Kercheval—$2,823,000; Fisher—$330,000; Mack—$563,600; and non-conforming—$200,900, which gives the total figure of $3,917,500 stated by the city planners.

Without its taxes from business property, the average home in Grosse Pointe would have paid over $100 more in taxes in 1963. Grosse Pointe not only profits from its excellent business (Continued on Page 6)

Road Planting Award Winner

An award of $250 was given to the Grosse Pointe Garden Club Council for the Lakeshore road planting project, by Sears, Roebuck and Co., through the Michigan State Federation of Garden Clubs.

Sears gives $2000 each year to each State Federation, and the Federation awards prizes to each district for the most worthy community project.

"We are delighted that our project filled all the requirements for an award," said Mrs. Pierre V. Heftler, president of the Council. "The first requisite was community beautification, and the plan drawn up by a qualified landscape architect. Our plan was designed by Mr. Max Hilton of Wayne County. Another qualification was that it be a continuing project, and we, of course, plan to go on next spring and use this award to add to the contributions made by the 11 garden clubs in the Council."

Mrs. Frederick Schumann, Mrs. David Lowe, and Miss Christine Edwards worked on the presentation. Winners were announced at the annual Federation meeting in Kalamazoo. Jack Harrington, manager of the Grosse Pointe Sears store, presented the check to Mrs. Joseph Carr, treasurer of the Council.

Okay Proposed Development Of GP Park Civic Center

After years of being an "eyesore," the civic center property opposite the Park Municipal Building, 15115 East Jefferson, may become something of beauty.

At a regular meeting held on Monday, June 22, the Park council authorized City Manager Robert Stone to acquire the services of an architect, to prepare plans and specifications, and estimated costs of developing at least two of the lots as a park and for offstreet parking for approximately 40 cars.

In addition, the council authorized the purchase of another lot in the proposed center from John Gillis of 74 Vernier road, Shores justice of the peace, and two share owners, who own the lot near the Professional Building in Jefferson. The asking price is $19,500. The acquisition of this lot will make four that will be owned by the city. Three other lots must be purchased for the full development of the civic center, it was said.

William Kessler, a member of the Park Plan Commission, presented a detailed outline on the development of the lots, as a whole, and on a "piece-meal" basis.

The Plan Commission member told the council that the commission had met with the executive committee of the Windmill Pointe Subdivision, wherein all the lots are located, and the committee approved the plans as recommended to the city body.

Kessler said that the Plan Commission recommended two plans, one for the complete development of the center from one end to the other, for continued on Page 2)

Delinquency Increasing In Pointes

Officers Angry Over Failure to Instill Proper Principles in Children; Cite Cases

By Margaret Ethridge

Grosse Pointers are inclined to read the tales of juvenile delinquency in Detroit with a sigh of relief and the thought that this sort of thing does not happen in their community.

After all, the city governments and the citizens here do many constructive things for the benefit of the children. They support one of the finest school systems in the country. They maintain recreational areas almost unequaled by any other area. They conduct summer playground activities at elementary schools. They run excellent Little League and Babe Ruth baseball programs.

But if one reads carefully each week the pages of this newspaper, one realizes that juvenile delinquency, with a capital J and a capital D, does exist here.

It is, in fact, increasing so steadily and frighteningly that police officers in all the five Pointes are concerned and angry. They are concerned because they care about Pointe youth and their development into adult citizens who contribute constructively to society wherever they may live.

They are angry because in their endless work to keep Grosse Pointe a lawful and good place in which to live, they have found much of the trouble the young people get into is due to lack of parental supervision.

And this is something that no police officer or court of law can combat or adjudicate without a lot of help.

An example of the juvenile delinquency is found in the City's police day book. The City is the second smallest of the Grosse Pointes and the number of cases of vandalism, petty thievery, public annoyances and lack of concern for laws and rules are often more numerous in the larger areas.

Schools Are Targets
City police have answered calls this week made by the custodians of Mair school and the Board of Education building. At Mair they found that five windows had been broken by young children who had thrown rocks at the school. The Board of Education building was entered by a youth and the men's room defaced by human defecation.

On June 16 at 11 p.m. four boys, all 14, were picked up by City Police for possession of an alcoholic beverage, a bottle of Scotch.

Petty thievery has been and is being reported at Norbert Neff Memorial Park. Life guards at the park are complaining that mothers leave young children unattended at the pool and assume that the guards will do their babysitting for them. It is the duty of the guards to save lives and maintain order at the pools. It is not their job to wipe noses and comfort crying children.

Woman Injured At Traffic Light

A Warren, Mich., woman was taken to St. John Hospital June 12 after she suffered neck injuries in a two-car accident at Mack and Calvin in the Farms.

The injured, Miss Marilyn Marie Hemmingsen, 20, 7512 Wood, Warren, was treated at St. John for severe neck strain and released the same day.

A passenger in her car, Miss Judy Latimer, 22, of 1346 Kensington in the Park, was uninjured.

The accident occurred as Miss Hemmingsen had stopped for the traffic signal at Mack and Calvin. When the signal changed, she reportedly drove into the auto in front of her. Both were headed east on Mack avenue.

The driver of the car in front of her, Edwin M. Hiller, 53, of 5278 Lannoo, Detroit, was uninjured. Damage to the front of Miss Hemmingsen's auto and the rear of Miller's was estimated at $100 on each.

BOY BREAKS ARM
John Stieber, 9, of 1060 Bedford, fell from a tree on the front lawn of his home on Friday, June 19, and suffered a compound fracture of the upper part of his right arm. He was transported to Bon Secours Hospital by Park police ambulance, and suffered a laceration for emergency treatment.

tunity, and the other, on a "piece meal" basis, in the event the three desired lots cannot be obtained.

He said that since the three lots in question are in litigation, the commission finds it difficult to present a complete recommendation at this time.

In 1951, the Plan Commission adopted a resolution to plat the proposed civic center, and use it to construct a water storage plant, and recommended the council take action in the matter.

The latest litigation pertains to the three lots, two owned by the McBrearty family and one owned by the Brandau family, both of Detroit, who sought to break the residential zoning restrictions on their properties, and have them established for commercial use.

The McBrearty own two lots between Lakepointe and Beaconsfield, and the Brandaus own a lot at Pemberton and Jefferson.

The McBrearty had filed suit in circuit court when the Park refused to issue them a permit to build a gas station on their property.

The family asked the court to declare the residential one-family restriction as unconstitutional, claiming that there are already several commercial buildings on both sides of Jefferson.

Last March 7, the court denied the McBrearty's motion, and the family is appealing to the Michigan Supreme Court.

Slope said that the Park had attempted to buy the three disputed lots, but the families refused to sell unless they were paid commercial, rather than residential property prices. The Brandaus are awaiting a decision from the high court before determining what to do about their lot.

In the acquisition of the lot from Gillis and his partners, the city manager said, the city will pay the asking price of $19,500, over a four-year period at three percent interest.

The agreement calls for $5,000 down, and $5,000 for the next two years, with the final payment of $4,500 to be paid the fourth year.

of office since 1950, only a week previous, at a regular city election. He died seven days prior to taking his oath of office.

A few weeks before the death of Mayor Fritsch, Councilman Robert McKean, who was mayor-pro-tem, resigned from the council to take up residence in another Pontine community.

The Park was without a mayor and mayor-pro-tem, and the council met in caucus to elect a mayor.

Under the Park City Charter, when a mayor dies or resigns, the council must elect a new mayor from its own ranks to complete any unexpired term of the mayor's office within 60 days, or a special election must be held.

On April 15, 1957, Cunningham was elected mayor-pro-tem, to preside at meetings until a new mayor was picked. On April 29, he was elected mayor by his colleagues. He was returned to office twice by city electors.

Cunningham told the council, on presentation of his resignation, that he was resigning so that he could have some time for himself. He is 68 years old. He said that he will spend his retirement doing what he likes to do best, hunting, fishing and gardening. His hobby is raising orchids.

Approximately $10 in coins and papers from the desk were strewn on the floor of the book-keeping office. A locked desk in the news office at the rear of the building had also been pried open, but nothing but papers were within.

If the burglar had been planning the job for some time, he couldn't have had a better invitation to put the show on the road than the one issued by the radio and TV stations Friday night during the violent thunder and wind storm.

Again and again the message was broadcast: "Don't call the police stations. The phones will not be answered. All the officers are busy responding to calls on felled wires and trees."

What a wonderful opportunity for a cozy little robbery, out of the wind and the rain and secure from interference by the minions of the law.

Park Policemen Win Certificates

Seven Park police officers received certificates from the Wayne County Medical Examiner's Office, attesting to the fact that they have successfully completed a course in Homicide Investigation, it was disclosed by Park Police Chief Arthur Louwers on Thursday, June 18.

The course was taught by Dr. Edward S. Zawadzki, chief medical examiner, who conducts a homicide investigation training session for personnel of law enforcement agencies, once a year.

Awarded certificates were Park Patrolmen Henry A. Wilson, Jr., Collin LaLonde, Richard Wedding, Robert Saffary, Donald DelPlace, William Crandall and Paul Roek.

Chief Louwers said that the certificates will become part of the policemen's records.

WALLET MISSING

Florence Harcourt of 22309 Twelve Mile road, St. Clair Shores, called Woods police on Sunday, June 7, and complained that her wallet was missing from her locker at Vic Tanney's Gym in Mack avenue. It contained eight dollars in cash, various credit cards and her operator's license, she said.

Burglar Robs Park Market

Park police officers, while routinely checking doors of business places along Mack avenue, during the early hours of the morning on Thursday, June 18, discovered a grocery store had been forcibly entered and robbed.

Entered was the market owned by Pauline Tulumella of Detroit, located at 15134 Mack. According to Det. Lt. Arnold Hough, the store was broken into between midnight and 3:28 a.m., when the policemen found that the glass of the front door had been smashed.

The detective said that the thief, or thieves, took only two cases of beer, total value, $7.50.

Lifeguards and Firemen Battle Farms Boat Blaze

The quick thinking of two lifeguards prevented a large-scale fire Friday night, as an outboard motor boat exploded and erupted into flames at the Farms pier.

The fire, believed to have come from spontaneous combustion of gas fumes in the small craft, erupted at about 6:30 p.m. Lifeguard Jack Koerber, of 479 St. Clair avenue sighted the boat in flames from the boathouse. He alerted the other guard, Don Dansbury, of Mapleton road, who called the Farms fire department.

The explosion originated in a 16-foot outboard owned by W. W. Hassig, of 161 Stephens road, moored in the fifth well from the boathouse on the main dock. Damage to the boat was total.

The boats in wells on either side of the Hassig boat both were damaged by flames. On the shore side was a 16-foot sailboat owned by Leonard Sheppard, of 455 McKinley avenue, and on the other side a 15-foot outboard belonging to William Willis, of 454 Cloverly road.

The two lifeguards acted quickly to free the burning boat from its moorings and moved it into the harbor away from the other boats. When firemen arrived, the boat was in the harbor, attached by a single bow mooring to its mooring post.

The firemen ran two lines of hose to fight the blaze, one through the boathouse and one on the main dock. The two lifeguards were called upon to enter the water, grab the still-burning boat by its mooring lines, and tow it to a vacant spot on the dock, where firemen quelled the remaining gasoline fires with chemical extinguishers.

The Hassig boat had a hole on each side, and finally was sunk by water entering it. It was valued at $2,100.

Both of the adjacent boats were smoldering when firemen arrived. The fiberglass side panel of Sheppard's sailboat was charred; on Willis' outboard a plastic windshield had been melted, and the side burned.

The pier's head lifeguard, Stephen Kingsley, of 436 Madison road, commended the two guards for their quick work. He also reported that each year there are several incidents of canvas boat tops being burned by discarded cigarettes of passersby, and cautioned Farms residents to exercise extreme caution in the boatwell area.

The exact cause of the Friday fire will remain undetermined unless new evidence is uncovered, Farms police stated.

Tree Smashes Truck

A large tree in the Farms was blown down and fell on a panel truck owned by Michael J. Callahan, 21, of 17320 Prest, Detroit, who luckily was not in the vehicle at the time. The amount of damage was not disclosed. The truck was parked at Lewiston and Ridge.

Trees were down in front of 889 Rivard boulevard; a large branch was reported over a wire at the rear of 793 St. Clair; over the sidewalk at University and Jefferson, at 434 St. Clair; Mack and Lorraine; 17015 Maumee; 408 Notre Dame, causing some damage to the house; 537 Rivard; and on Mack, between Lincoln and Washington, an Edison pole was nearly blown from its base. The pole was tilted at an angle, but there was no interruption of electrical service.

Limbs were also reported in the streets in front of 810 Washington and 459 Fisher.

Edison and telephone company crews made repairs as quickly as possible, but were kept busy throughout the entire weekend. Electrical service was off for many hours in some localities. Personnel of the Department of Public Works in all five Pointes, cleared away the debris left by the storm.

Lightning was reported to have struck a television antenna on the home of Otto Proefke, 19856 Ida Lane, melting the antenna and burning out the inside of a television set.

Another antenna, on the home of Robert Surmont, 18866 Ida Lane, was also hit by a bolt of lightning, which burned a hole in the living room ceiling.

Traffic Victim Helps Pay Fine

A woman motorist, victim of a traffic accident in which she suffered minor injuries, contributed the extra dollar to enable Allan Gill, 18, of 20283 Annott, Detroit, to pay his fine in Park court on Wednesday, June 17.

Gill entered a plea of guilty to entering an intersection without due care and caution and causing an injury accident. The case was heard by Park Judge C. Joseph Belanger, who ordered the youth to pay a fine of $15.

The young man informed the judge that all he had in his possession was $14, whereupon, the woman he hit, Mrs. Florentine Heath of 336 Kercheval, who appeared as a witness against Gill, stepped forward and offered the one dollar to complete the fine.

Gill accepted the dollar, with thanks, and pledged to repay Mrs. Heath, whose car he struck at Whittier and Charlevoix.

In other cases heard by the judge:

Marsha Robinson, 19, of 821 Balfour, pled not guilty to reckless driving and was found guilty and fined $35 or serve five days in jail. She was ordered to attend four sessions of Driver Safety School at her own expense. She paid her fine.

William Taylor, 29, of 871 Grand Marais boulevard, failed to appear in court on charges of ignoring a stop street sign, driving without glasses, and having no valid operator's license on his person, and Judge Belanger ordered his bonds, totaling $50, forfeited, and the cases closed.

Roger Highby, 17, of 5502 Audubon, Detroit, paid a fine of $15, and $20 in court costs, after he was found guilty of reckless driving, in which he hit a tree, after narrowly missing a pedestrian.

Paul DeWitte, 18, of 9 Fairlane, pled guilty to a charge of drag racing, and was fined $35, placed on probation, and ordered to attend four sessions of Driver Safety School.

William Zimmick, 40, of 7318 Woodmont, Detroit, was found guilty of speeding 65 miles an hour on East Jefferson, a 35-mile zone, and was fined $50, or serve five days in jail. He was placed on probation for three months, during which he is forbidden to drive, except to and from work.

He spent 10 hours in the Park jail, until his fine was paid.

Pointer Named To Lakes Post

The U.S. Lake Survey has announced the appointment of Lloyd W. Curry of 895 Lakepointe avenue to the position of chief of the Great Lakes Regional Data Center.

This new assignment is in addition to Curry's recent appointment as co-chairman of the Data Processing Branch of the Great Lakes Study Group. The prime objective of this group is to coordinate the research information from studies of the Great Lakes, leading to a better understanding of the physical characteristics of the Lakes and of the best way to more fully utilize and preserve this very important water source.

Church Reports Television Lost

A 21-inch table model television set was reported stolen from the new building of the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church on Lake Shore drive on June 15. According to Eams police reports, the set was taken after 8 p.m. June 14. Its absence was discovered the next morning by a janitor. The janitor found the door on the east side of the building standing open.

A window on a first floor bathroom was also found open. The television, a Zenith model, has a gold tag with the inscription, "Donated by the Detroit News." It was valued at $150.

Pay Tribute To Helen Dean

"I am privileged to add expressions of my appreciation of your unselfish service to the Republican Party and to the nation," former President Dwight D. Eisenhower wrote.

"With great pleasure and feeling, Pat and I proudly join in this richly deserved tribute to you," wrote former Vice President Richard Nixon.

The lady to whom these messages were addressed, Mrs. Charles A. (Helen) Dean, Jr., of Lewiston road, the Grand Lady of Michigan's Republican Party, was honored last Thursday by more than 600 of her friends and admirers, gathered in the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel. Rep. Charles Halleck, of Indiana, House minority leader, came from Washington. Escorting the guest of honor into the ballroom on "Helen Dean Night" was Governor George Romney, who also claimed the first dance.

Mrs. Dean, member of the Republican National Finance Committee for many years, received messages of friendship and affection from Republican leaders throughout the country.

A social as well as a political leader, she made a dramatic entrance in a floor length gown of pink satin and chiffon, with necklace and earrings of topaz.

At her own request, a speaker's table was abandoned in favor of smaller tables. Mrs. Dean sat with Governor and Mrs. George Romney, Rep. Halleck, Toastmaster Don E. Ahrens, State Republican Finance Committee chairman, and Mrs. Ahrens; Helen Dean, Night chairman Philip Weiss and Mrs. Weiss, the Rev. Erville C. Maynard, rector of Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, Mrs. Carl Gerstacker, Mrs. Marion Steketee, Mrs. Dorothy Elston, of Washington, president of the National Federation of Republican Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Ella Koeze, of Grand Rapids, Republican National Committee woman.

Al Navarro, (he is Mrs. Dean's son-in-law), and his orchestra played dance music during the evening while his wife, Cynthia, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. C. A. Dean, III, (her husband, ill with a virus, was forced to stay at home), sat at a nearby table. Friends, seated in the ballroom, included Frederick M. Alger, Jr., former U. S. Ambassador to Belgium, Judge Homer Ferguson and Mrs. Ferguson, Arthur B. Summerfield, Paul Bagwell, Mrs. Dudley C. Hay, (she worked with Mrs. Dean for prohibition reform), and delegations from the Red Cross, Franklin Street Settlement, the Junior League, the Zonta Club, and Parke-Davis, (Mrs. Dean's father, the late Frank G. Ryand, was president of Parke-Davis).

Hostesses were women with whom Mrs. Dean had worked on GOP fund-raising projects. "Were there more Helen Deans, with her dedication and devotion for that in which she believes, I would never despair for the future of this great country of ours," Rep. Halleck said.

"Her singular friendliness and thoughtfulness of people is constant. With over 600 friends present, Helen Dean had to be introduced to only one couple. The others she could call by name," Governor Romney, last of two official speakers, (Halleck was the other), reported.

Accepting a gift volume, containing messages from all over the United States, Mrs. Dean said:

"It is completely incredible how happy you have made me tonight. It is true that the Republican Party has been the consuming interest of my life. The frustrations. The fun. The excitement. The daily crises. All have made life richer. . . . "When I try to express my gratitude to you for this wonderful night and for your friendship, I am carried back to the time when, as a young girl, I traveled with my father to Japan.

"One of our hostesses on that trip was a 10-year-old bride from whom I was astonished to hear that Japanese women do not kiss their husbands.

"I asked her, then, how could she let her husband know she loved him and she, pointed to her heart, said to me, 'I feel it here'."

Mrs. Dean placed her own hand over her heart. "And so, she concluded, 'tonight I hope all of you know how much I feel it here.'"

Forming Swim Club in Farms

The Grosse Pointe Farms Park Pier announces the formation of the Grosse Pointe Farms Swim Club. The purpose of the club is to create an opportunity for participation in a competitive Inter-Pointe swimming program.

The goal of the Swim Club is to create sportsmanship, teamwork, and better qualified swimmers who take an active role in a working community program. Only swimmers who take an active part in practices and are signed up with the Swim Club will be eligible to participate in the meets. The club is open to all and interested persons may pick up information blanks at the check room of the Farms Park.

Also, due to the level and condition of the water at the park this year it is necessary to discontinue the annual Farms-City meet. Representatives to the Grosse Pointe Inter-City meet will be chosen from the best times which are posted by the members of the Swim Club against the other Pointe teams.

Practices are held on Tuesday and Thursday nights. The boys meet at 5:30 p.m. and the girls at 6:30 p.m. at the far end of the Park. For any further information please contact Les Roddis, TU 4-9806, at the Farms Pier.

Registration for swimming classes is still open at the Farms Park Pier. The registration table will be open daily from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. until Sunday, June 28. There are openings in most classes and those wishing to take Senior or Junior Lifesaving may also register at this time.

All who are interested may sign up at the first aid room at the Farms Park. For further information contact Barb Herick at TU 4-9806.

Farms Pays Special Bills

The Farms council approved appropriation of funds amounting to a total of $20,880, to pay special bills due for work done in the city.

At its regular meeting held on Monday, June 15, the council authorized payment of $9,979.20 to the Brenzel Contractors for additions to the Water Filtration Plant; and $189.58 to Hubbell, Roth and Clark, city engineers, for engineering services at the plant.

Also authorized was the payment of $405.35 to Begrow and Brown, Architects, for work on the Municipal Building; $6,246 to Alban G. Brinkman, for mechanical trades completed on the building; and $4,050, estimate number one, to Shaw Electric for work done on a transformer installation.

Election Held By Youth Group

The Youth Group of St. James Lutheran Church recently held election of officers for the coming year.

They are: president, Richard Bopp; vice-president, Sandra Kackley; treasurer, Frank Vendemello; and secretary, Janet Guimette.

Those retiring from office are Barbara Ruthven, William Langbauer, Richard DeMers and Christine Morrow.

Water Level Problem Hits

level would just go up again," he added. The level of contamination of the lake water is annoying, but not dangerous, he explained. Counts taken three times weekly by the Wayne County Board of Health have revealed this year's levels to be very close to the peacetime par for Lake St. Clair in the last few years.

But meanwhile, while the water is down, many children who generally frolic in the water have taken to land for their activities. He pointed them out—groups of young teens for the most part, standing around, talking.

Play Land Games
Some of them play basketball and shuffleboard and other deck games; many simply sunbathe. But they aren't spending the time in the water that they have in previous years. "We try to keep an eye on them, and keep them out of trouble, but the job is harder now," he explained.

Another problem: no more swim meets in the Farms. The area where the annual inter-city meet has traditionally been held within the Farms boat well area at the end of the main dock, is far too shallow to permit safe racing dives, he explained. In addition, the water within the harbor tends to become dangerously stagnant. After last year's meet, several contestants complained of eye and ear problems, Lauer said.

According to F. Wells Robinson, public information officer for the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, Lake Survey Division, Lake St. Clair is an even seven inches below last year's level. The level has stayed the same between the period from May 19 to June 19, he further explained, but it is expected to drop an additional inch in the next 30 days.

The Army Corps of Engineers revealed that the principal factor causing long-range lake level fluctuations is the amount of rain and snow falling on the Great Lakes basin. The Weather Bureau's records show that the lack of precipitation during recent years has ranged from about seven inches below normal on Lakes Superior, Huron and Ontario, to about 11 inches below normal on Lakes Michigan and Erie.

In addition, there are man-made influences. These factors are dredging in the St. Clair-Detroit river for the improvement of navigation, and diversion of water out of the Great Lakes basin at various points. However, the Lake Survey analysts report that the effects of all of these artificial factors are quite small in comparison with the variations due to natural causes.

The major diversions of man-made origin are the Long Lake and Ogoki projects—a total of 5,000 cubic feet per second diverted from the Hudson Bay watershed into Lake Superior, and Chicago, 3,200 cubic feet per second diverted out of the Lake Michigan basin into the Mississippi river.

A few weeks of spring rains will not correct a deficiency that started in 1961. The analysts predict that seasonal rises in the lake level will occur during the rest of this year, in fact, they have already begun.

If future precipitation is below normal the lakes will continue at seasonally low levels, but if a period of average precipitation should occur, the levels should start a slow upward trend.

But it would take unusually heavy rains to restore to Lake St. Clair the seven inches it has lost in the past year, and the analysts cautioned that nobody makes accurate predictions on lake levels; because they are in the end determined by that unknowable factor—tomorrow's weather.

If you will be pulling a boat or trailer on your vacation, the Automobile Club of Michigan reminds you that trailer hitch maintenance is very important. Keep the hitch ball well lubricated. Use heavy, fiber-type bearing grease in the wheels and carry some with you, applying it as needed, particularly if the bearings get wet when your boat is launched.

On your vacation trip this summer be sure to rotate your tires, including your spare, after every 5,000 miles even though the wear seems slight. The Automobile Club of Michigan reminds you that rotation distributes wear on all five tires.

On your vacation trip this summer don't try to set an endurance record. If there are passengers in the car who can drive, the Automobile Club of Michigan suggests that you let them take regular turns at the wheel.

Delinquency

The City Police Department says too that parents are allowing their children to go to the park alone, without proper instruction on the use of their bicycles on the streets and the sidewalks, and at which point to cross busy Jefferson avenue in order to reach the park. Not only is there danger of accidents if the children do not cross at the pedestrian light at Lakeland and Jefferson but there are inconvenience and hazards for the motorists who must stop suddenly because a child is not crossing at the pedestrian crosswalk.

The complaints from citizens on speeding teenagers, on exploding firecrackers and roaming bands of youths are endless.

But it should not be endless. The time has come for many parents to realize that knowledge of right from wrong must be instilled in their children. The time has come for parents to know where and what their children are doing.

The young people should not be wards of the police but children of thoughtful, caring parents.

Plan to Preserve Pointe

ness areas from the tax standpoint, but many of the services and goods Pointe families need are readily available without long shopping trips.

It is to everyone's advantage to insure that the business areas remain healthy and valuable during the coming years, the firm pointed out.

Like residential values, business values can decline rapidly, as evidenced by the thousands of dead or dying business buildings on the arterial streets in Detroit. If Grosse Pointe business values decline, this will not reduce the cost of running the City or its schools, and any decline will have to be made up by increases in home taxes.

Everyone Has Interest

Naturally, the greatest losers from a decline in business values will be the business property owners, but everyone has a very real pocket-book interest in maintaining or increasing business property values, the Associates disclosed.

Existing business areas are in a deadly serious competition, with newer, and sometimes better, planned shopping areas. The effect of this competition has been felt everywhere in the Detroit area with the development of Northland and Eastland and other well-planned shopping centers.

Grosse Pointe business owners can profit from some time from their location, but there should be a district-wide reevaluation of their competitive advantages and disadvantages, and steps should be taken soon to improve some existing factors.

Must Be Accessible

The first factor planned in a new center is complete accessibility by automobile. The second is the proper diversity of companion merchandise and services, so that all purchases can be made from a single parking spot; and the fourth is attractiveness in architecture, landscaping and planting.

These factors carefully determined, the new center then provides more than ample free parking space sufficient to care for the seasonal shopping peaks, usually four square feet of parking for each square foot of flooring space.

The City must carefully analyze its assets and liabilities, particularly in the Kercheval business area, since Mack avenue business is primarily highway or general business usage, and the Fisher area is more properly a neighborhood business area.

The Kercheval area has an excellent diversity of merchandise, which would be cause for envy in any new shopping area, the city planners stated. This will continue to attract a high-purchasing power shopper if he or she can conveniently reach the area. The area has a natural compactness and this compactness can be retained.

The area is very attractive in architecture, but the elimination of a few discordant signs and the addition of more planting and landscaping features could add appeal and attraction. The area cannot meet the 4-1 parking ratio of the new center, but could have adequate free parking by proper redesign, it is stated.

Study of business need shows that the key problem of the Kercheval area is circulation. It is suggested that this need be met with outlets to the east from the parking areas north and south of Kercheval avenue, according to Scott Bagby.

Should Acquire Strips

It is recommended that 45-foot strips from the rear of the two-family lots facing Neff be acquired and developed as access and exit lanes, with a 20-foot roadway, a 20-foot parking bay, and five feet of fencing and landscaping.

Eventually, the firm proposed extra land be acquired from the Maitre School property to provide three through east-west lanes of parking, and that all parking south of Kercheval be unified landscaped municipal parking.

A similar proposal for circulation and parking for the Fisher road business area is also proposed, and a new parking area between University and Rivard, south of Mack, is suggested in connection with the Chalfonte-University street extension.

Grosse Pointe home owners and business owners will profit from well-maintained, high quality business areas. Pointe home owners and business owners will profit from well-maintained residential areas.

Ends Golf Round In Dream Style

For former Grosse Pointe, A. G. Ropp of Kingsville, Ont., and Aiken S. C., a golfer's dream came true recently—a hole-in-one.

Playing the Kingsville Golf and Country Club, Ropp, 70,aced the course's 145-yard 18th hole by dropping his tee shot into the cup. He ended up with an 80 for the round.

A veteran golfer, Ropp is a life member of the Lochmoor Country Club, which he joined in 1934. Until his retirement, he was senior vice-president of Manufacturers National Bank in Detroit.

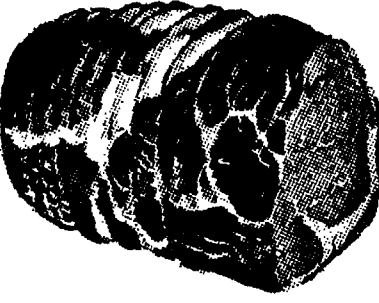

Dance Planned By Garden Club

Windmill Pointe Garden Club members will discard gardening gloves in favor of summer party attire to honor their husbands at their annual dinner dance, which will be held Saturday, June 27, at the Lochmoor Country Club.

Day Appointed To Drive Post

Thomas F. Morrow, of Vendome road, Chrysler vice president and 1964 Torch Drive Chairman, today named William M. Day, president of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., to be drive co-chairman for Corporate Gifts.

Day, who has been a director and officer of the United Foundation since 1950, retiring as chairman of its board of directors a month ago, will head a committee of corporation heads. They will review the present pattern of corporate support in order to develop an effective program to improve corporate giving.

As the first step in getting the committee organized, Day has called a luncheon meeting of top corporate executives for noon Friday at the Detroit Club.

The new Torch Drive co-chairman has been an executive of Michigan Bell since 1948, coming to Detroit as vice president in charge of Public Relations. He served as vice president and general manager from 1950 to 1956, when he was named president.

In addition to his work with the United Foundation, Day serves as a director of many Detroit business and civic organizations. These include American Ordnance Association, Detroit Area Hospital Council, Inc., Greater Detroit Board of Commerce, Detroit Symphony, Economic Club of Detroit, Greater Michigan, Inc., Junior Achievement of Southeastern Michigan, U.S.O. of Detroit, and Metropolitan Building Fund and the National Bank of Detroit.

Day is a trustee of Children's Hospital, Detroit Educational Television Foundation, Detroit Industrial Safety Council, Grace Hospital, Traffic Safety Association of Detroit, and University of Detroit.

His memberships include Detroit Sales Executive Club, Engineering Society, of Detroit, Family Service Society, Michigan Economic Development Commission, Newcomer Society, and National Conference of Christians and Jews.

A native of Pittsburgh and a graduate of Yale University, Day lives with his wife, the former Elizabeth Hartman, at 372 Lakeland avenue. He holds memberships in the Country Club of Detroit, The Detroit Club, Grosse Pointe Club, and the University Club of New York.

Before coming to New York, Day served with the New York Telephone Co., and the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., in various capacities. During the war he was a special assistant to Donald M. Nelson, War Production Board and later a Lieutenant Colonel in the Armed Service Forces. He was awarded the Legion of Merit. In 1952, he served the government for several months while on leave from Michigan Bell. He was director of the Communications Equipment Division and later assistant administrator of the National Production Authority.

Author of 'Rich, Rich, Rich' Writes Reply to Critics

Holiday staff writer Stephen Birmingham has written a brief defense of his controversial "Rich, Rich, Rich" article which appeared in the April, 1964, Holiday.

The July issue contains three letters of comment on the article, only one of them from a Pointer.

A former Pointer resident, Mrs. Franklin G. Treat, now living in Langhorne, Pa., objected in a letter that the article implied that "unless you are rich, rich, rich, Grosse Pointe is not for you."

Citing several of the civic advantages of Grosse Pointe residency, an aspect unmentioned in the article, she concluded: "I hope there will always be communities as nice as the Grosse Pointes, where people work hard to achieve an above-the-average standard of living."

A less favorable letter came from the pen of Robert L. Rosekrans, of St. Clair Shores. Referring to the article as a "little journey into megalomania," Rosekrans praised the author for an effective "tongue-in-cheek piece on our 'upper class ostriches.'"

The third letter came from a Michigan State sophomore, Miss Lisa Mower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis V. Mower of Roosevelt Place.

Miss Mower asked, "Why don't you feature an article on the ninety-nine percent majority who are just normal, hard-working people?" She argued, "Most Grosse Pointers are human and natural, like most people throughout the world, not a class by themselves as your article seems to suggest."

Responding to these critics, author Birmingham commented, "These critical readers make valid and intelligent points, but they are of course asking for an article with a different focus from the one I wrote."

As the title and tenor of my piece suggested, I was writing about . . . 'social Grosse Pointe.' If you will, I could, I suppose, have written about the Grosse Pointe school system, the community chest drives, the excellent police force, and the efficient bus system. I agree that all these are superior in Grosse Pointe."

The author said he agreed "that there are many 'normal, hard-working, and quiet' people in the five towns." But he argued that "these are not the people who have given the place its special atmosphere and flavor, its particular social cast."

"Nor are they the ones who have given Grosse Pointe its considerable national reputation," he concluded.

Mrs. Squirrel Takes Pointe System in Natural Stride

This is not a mystery story. This is not even a solution to a mystery story.

In fact this is not about the European shelduck, whose unhappy and lonely life on the shores of Lake St. Clair was so poignantly covered on the front page of a major daily, which is published in an area adjacent to the Pointe.

This is a story of a squirrel. A squirrel, who is perhaps from a little mining camp up north, but has managed to find happiness in "Rich, Rich Grosse Pointe."

A true-blooded all-American, obviously, Mrs. Squirrel has chattered her way, in spite of a thick Midwestern twang, through all the alleged barriers of the Pointe's point system.

After all, she has been a year-round resident of Norbert Neff Memorial Park in the City for more than nine years.

Let no one assume, however, that Mrs. Squirrel is just an ordinary, run of the mill variety of squirrel. She may not be imported but she has lived longer by several years than an average one. According to the Detroit Zoological Society, squirrels reach their full maturity in the first year of their lives, which is generally a two to four year span.

The toast-colored Mrs. Squirrel also has the distinction of having lost, in her early years, the beautiful bushy tail which is her natural heritage.

Vernus Weot, the City's Park Supervisor has watched her each year make her home in one of the many trees that shade the park. He says, however, that she is not in any way confined to that area. She has

Clubs to Open Swim Season

By Ric Hendee

Another season of competitive swimming at the various clubs in the area will begin this week. Most of the teams have been working-out since the end of school to get in shape for the early meets.

Hal Willard, director and coach at the Country Club of Detroit, called the first practice when the public schools were still in session. He soon divided the team into two age groups, swimming the younger kids at 3:30 and the senior team at 4:15.

He hopes to have the team ready today for a practice meet against the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. The evening meet will begin at the Country Club at 5:30.

At Lochmoor Coach Roy Pouliot is also fighting a time limit. He swims his first meet next Monday against C.C.D. at Lochmoor. Then, on July 2, he hosts Western Golf and Country Club swimmers in the first real meet of the season. The meet will begin at 5:30.

Bob Sherwood, an alumnus and former varsity swimmer on the Grosse Pointe High School team, has returned from Michigan State to coach the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. Their first meet is with the Detroit Boat Club on July 2.

Coaching the Detroit Boat Club team is Bob Kinnear who coaches the Grosse Pointe High School Varsity squad during the school year. He has an advantage over the other coaches in the league with his Olympic size 50 meter pool. He can get twice as much work done.

Several swimmers are depended upon to spur the summer attack. The Detroit Yacht Club has a strong 15-16 boys age group with high school swimmers: Tom Mertz, Craig Dever, John Swegles and Jim Sherrila.

At Lochmoor Coach Pouliot will depend on Tom Heholt (11-12 boys) and Cheryl Gardner (15-16 girls).

C.C.D. will have a strong boys squad with four 16-year-olds returning. Coach Willard is looking for a special relay in which he can swim the four boys: John Chapin, Ric Hendee, John Mabley and Roy Pingel. He is also watching Marty Blood as a strong contender in 15-16 girls.

At the Boat Club Bob Gay will spur the attack. He will be especially strong in the free-style.

Automotive League
Grosse Pointe Rambler was the winner of the first half of the season boasting an 8 and 2 record to assure themselves of a playoff berth for the season's championship.

Roy O'Brien Ford, who held the last place position for a number of weeks in the first half, roared into first place by winning two games last week. Adam Perkowski was the winning pitcher as O'Brien beat Causley Pontiac 8 to 6. Paul Shakotko was the big hitter, getting 3 hits and 2 RBI's. Gary Pagoto had 2 singles for Causley as Rick Chouinard was the losing pitcher.

Eight runs in one inning on five errors enabled O'Brien to squeeze by Grosse Pointe Rambler 3 to 6 in their second game. Ron Frankland had 2 singles for O'Brien and Mark Ranney had 3 hits for the losers.

Thirteen-year-old Greg Ulmer pitched a perfect game as Green Chrysler-Plymouth shut out Richard Buick 5 to 0. Brian Berlenback, who also had a no-hitter earlier in the season, also bested Grosse Pointe Rambler 11 to 9 with Jim Charles the victor over Mark Ranney.

Shalla Chevrolet clobbered Causley Pontiac 14 to 5 as Rick Shalla helped his own cause by hitting a double and triple and batting in 4 runs. Sam Orlando also had 3 singles for the winners. Gary Pagoto had a single and a home run for Causley. Mike Leu was the losing pitcher.

It took 9 innings for Richard Buick to beat Shalla Chevrolet 9 to 5. Ken Czubay went the route for Richard, while Don Cattle had the loss. A perfect squeeze play by Marv Howle and Bab Lynch's 2 RBI's were the outstanding highlights.

ALL-AMERICAN
The first place race in the All-American League is still up in the air as Dobbie Lumber must win a make-up game if they want to tie City Messenger for the lead.

City Messenger walked by Boutin Realty 21 to 11 on only 5 hits. Boutin Realty had 8 hits, including a triple by Bob Schmitt the losing pitcher.

Dobbie Lumber, behind the 2 hit pitching of Jack Elias, white-washed City Messenger 19 to 1. Kevin Elsey had the only extra base hit for Dobbie with a double. Ten runs in the first inning on mostly walks and a few singles was too much for Kevin Fosse who had the loss.

Eleven errors by Dobbie Lumber gave Connecticut Mutual their first win of the second half 16 to 3. Mike Addy had 3 singles for the winners as Jack Elias had 3 singles and Kevin Elsey a home run for the losers.

Mutual Trust Life squeezed by Connecticut Mutual Life 9 to 6 on only 4 hits as Joe Hughes was the winning pitcher striking out 7 batters. Mike Addy had a single and double for Connecticut. Denny Altes had control difficulty as he walked 9 batters in his loss.

many, many errors did not help the cause either.

On Thursday those Yanks came through under Mike Ferrrell to win 2 to 1 over the Red Sox in a real close game. At the other diamond it was the Cards 21 the Phillies 6 as Phil Connor helped with a grand slam homer. Bill Gross was the winning pitcher.

Friday the Indians came back to win 6 to 5 over the Giants in a real close one. Todd Pike was the winning pitcher and Wally Marantette the loser. Wally did real well and even came back in the last inning after being hit by a pitched ball. We understand all is well however. These new helmets certainly offer no ear protection the way the old ones did. Seems like one isn't supposed to have one's ears in the way just the top of the head?

At the other diamond it was the Braves 9 and the White Sox 8 in what we hear was a real thriller right up to the very last play. Bill Blakeslee was the winning pitcher.

On Saturday we had three games—Tigers 5 and Phillies 3 as Bill Bockstanz pitched the winning game and Donny Thompson was called the loser. The Yanks went down to the Cards 4 to 12. Those Cards had 9 runs in the first inning and that with the heat took the wind right out of the Yanks. In the last game it was the Dodgers 8 and the Red Sox 2 in what we believe is the first reported errorless game. With this game Jim Blackburn Jr., left for five weeks traveling with 40 girls out west. Also Tiger manager Stu McMillin left for a summer in Europe and we hear John Bruce, Giant manager, is off to a camp in Wisconsin. This is all a new twist as usually it's the managers that stay on and the players go traveling and camping.

Little League Results

by Dr. J. H. Perry III and Dean Riddle

The first week of the final round of majors play was full of surprises.

The week opened June 15 with the Phillies defeating the Red Sox, 11 to 10, with Mike Duika the winning pitcher. He hit a long home run with one on, while Allen Bidwell doubled to score an RBI, and played beautiful defensive ball in right field. Dan Barrett had a double and single, and Greg Thoen, Bob Kulka, and Hank Chase had singles for the Phillies. Gordon Piche, who shared the pitching for the Red Sox with Bill Roberts, had a homer for the Sox.

At the High School Field the Tigers began to belt the ball heavily behind Dick Hudson's pitching to beat the Pirates 11 to 3. Dick struck out nine batters. John Fountain and Allen Backman had doubles, while Dick Hudson hit three singles.
Carl Oldani, Mark Boerner and George Hubbard two each, while John and Ed Moran, Harold Siegel and Mark Tocco also hit for the Tigers.

On June 16 the Giants beat the Yanks 7 to 4 with Tim Allard pitching, relieved by Ronnie Trefzer in the fifth. Tom Reinman homered twice, while
Don Fromm, Tim Allard, Mike
Sankovich, Pep Perry and Gary Reaufat singled, Tim and Pep having two each. Jack Critch-field homered for the Yanks, and pitcher Glen Hillier doubled in the fifth inning, allowing Critch-field to score on a passed ball to complete the Yanks' scoring.

The same night the Reds bested the Indians 8 to 3, with Van Conway pitching, also hitting two doubles for four runs.
Dave Newhouse walked four times, getting to be a habit with him. Jack Hendrie and Doug Schultz hit for the losing Indians.

On Thursday, June 18, the Tigers again blasted the ball, and the Indians 16 to 1 with Mark Boerner the winning pitcher. He and Jim Hoffman and Ed Moran each had two hits, one of them doubles, while Dick Hudson, George Hubbard, Carl Oldani, John Fountain, Harold Siegel and Allen Backman all hit for the winners.

At Kerby Field the same night, the Reds exploded in the fifth inning to pull ahead of the Yankees 7 to 2. The Yanks had led 2 to 1 on Jack Critchfield's homer and Glen Hillier's single when Dave Newhouse singled, followed by doubles by Rick Rankin, Van Conway, and Jim
Parker and singles by Max Gardner and Greg Messacar to go ahead 7 to 2, then preserved their lead with a beautiful double play. Parker to Conway to Rankin in the bottom of the fifth. Pat Murtagh, John Davos and Critchfield also had singles for the Yanks. Jim Parker was the winning pitcher, and homered in the first inning to tie the score at 1 to 1.

On Friday, June 19, the Giants were beaten 10 to 1 by the Red Sox, with Jim Van Eman pitching beautiful 3 hit ball to baffle the batters. Charlie Williams led off with a single with Bill Caulkins bunting safely, followed by singles by Lorne McConachie and Bill Roberts and another successful bunt by Jim Van Eman, followed by a double by Gordon Piche to score 5 runs in a big second inning. Aided by walks and Giants' errors, they were able to pick up five more runs on singles by Mc-Conachie, Van Eman and Piche and Mike Gorfredson before the sixth.

Tim Allard and Pep Perry hit for the losers. Dannie Griffin and Ronnie Trefzer were the Giants' pitchers.

The same night, the Phils were surprised by the Pirates to go down 3 to 2. Baron Munchausen was the winning pitcher, and Bob Kulka the loser, though each team had 6 hits. Mike Corbett, Baron Munchausen, Bert Fosse, Stu Frazer, Tom McGraw and Blair Parsons for the winning Pirates, while Kelly Farr had two, Joel Caskey three singles and Greg Thoen one single for the Phils.

At the end of the first week,
the teams' standings are as follows:

Team	Won	Lost
Reds	2	0
Tigers	2	0
Red Sox	1	1
Phillies	1	1
Giants	1	1
Pirates	1	1
Yanks	0	2

were the second place Red Legs who also won both their games of the week. Like the Cardinals, the Red Legs beat the Braves.

Their winning score: 6 to 3.
Fred Rohm was the winning pitcher. Scott Ferringa recorded a double to top Red Leg hitting for the afternoon.

Red Leg pitcher Joe Jaglois struck out 13 players to lead his team to a 2 to 2 victory over the Pirates. Both Pirate runs were round-trippers smacked by Tom Hummel and Chris Pen-oyar.

Success eluded the Pirates earlier in the week also when Skip Lauth pitched a no-hitter for the Giants, struck out 16 men and then smothered a home run to spark his teammates to a 3 to 0 triumph.

The Giants racked up a .500 record for the week when they lost to the Dodgers, 5 to 2, with Jim Meyers helping to win his own ball game with two hits.
Don Palazola got three hits
for the Giants.

National League Minors
The hitherto unblemished record of Indiana became a thing of the past last week when Illinois ended the team's long series of wins with a 3 to 0 shut-out. Winning pitcher was Kevin Reid.

Indiana had a close call the day before but finally emerged victorious in the seventh inning over a determined Iowa team, 12 to 11.

Northwestern climbed from the cellar at the end of the season's first half to share first place with Illinois in the first week of the second half. Northwestern defeated Minnesota, 21 to 6, and Iowa, 11 to 5.

Linc Gletz was the winning pitcher and smashed three hits in the meeting with Minnesota.
Winning pitcher in the Iowa game was Tom Van Lokeren.
Derek Tate got two hits for Northwestern, and Dwight Van Steenkiste hit a triple and two singles for Iowa.

Illinois also tallied two wins for the week. In addition to its morale-boosting victory over Indiana, Illinois shut out Navy, 12 to 0. Winning pitcher Tom DuFour scored three hits.

Navy evened things up by mauling Minnesota, 22 to 2.
Only two hits were yielded by Minnesota, but Navy made the most of 25 walks. Winning pitcher G. Morrison got one of Navy's two hits.

Base running by the Giants'
Steve Schleicher was a decisive factor in the Giants' 3-2 win over the league leading Braves.
The Braves' Mike Pastor struck out nine but walked Steve Schleicher, who ran all away around the bases behind Gary Bennett as the Giants threw the ball all over the diamond trying to catch them. Gary Bennett also shared the pitching with Bill Schleicher. The Giants then came back again to beat the Cards 6-1 with Gary Bennett pitching again with Steve Schleicher.

The Phillies bested the Pirates 3-2 as both teams sported fine pitching. Robert David struck out 15 batters in six innings as Mark Fossee also had 15 strikeouts for the Pirates.
The Phillies' Keith Soregoos and Pirates' Robert Haas each fanned two batters in their inning of pitching for a game total of 34 strike-outs. Rick Woodbury and Mark Fossee each had a long home run. Joe Theman and Mike Breen each had two Pirate hits.

Then the Phillies won another, beating the Dodgers 9-5 as Bill Crawford and Keith So-regoos pitched for the Phillies and Dave Reaney and Bobby Friedhoff for the Dodgers. Eric Claude, Joe Doyle, Rick Woodbury and Soregoos all got two hits for the Phillies. Fine fielding plays were turned in by Kurt Kohler, Brad Van Sickle and Dave Kroth, who also delivered two Dodger hits along with Richard Di Cicco, who slammed three Dodger hits.

The Cards beat the Reds 9-3 with Dykstra pitching for the Cards and also coming through with a long home run as Stil-zel, Staffel and Shelton were on the mound for the Reds.

The Cubs 10, Dodgers 1, as Tommy Herron and Zarnak led the hitting attack with Herron's three hits and Zarnak's double and home run.

And the Cubs also beat the Reds 5-2 as Zarnak and Johnson had a no-hitter between them and Len Constantine had two for two.

The Braves just barely beat the Pirates in a close 3-2 game, as Larry Griffin pitched the whole game, and the Braves are still talking about Mike Pastor's big seventeen strike-outs

over the Dodgers and he even was responsible for the eighteenth out too.

CITY MAJOR LEAGUE

By Ernie Kelly

Tuesday, June 16

The Cubs started off the second half in convincing style by shutting out the Braves 8 to 0.

Dennis Gannan pitched a strong 3 hitter, allowing only 2 bases on balls and no runs. Tom Reghanti and Kevin Dreaan got back-to-back home runs, plus singles, and Gene Whitely got another home run. Chris Thu-man, Peter Brodhed and John Donnelly got good hits, as did Dennis Gannan and Steve Hamann.

Monty Gage spoiled Gannan's no hit attempt in the fifth, and in the sixth, Chris Marcupulos and Mike Ware added singles to round out the Braves' hits.
Marcupulos was the losing pitcher.

Wednesday, June 17

The Braves did not look like the same team that took such a drubbing last night, as they came out roaring to down the Dodgers 10 to 1. Mike Wee pitched a strong game, allowing only 4 hits and striking out 11.
Dodgers, Mark Walker, Tim Cornille, and Chris Marcupulos were the hitting stars for the Braves, ably assisted by Jim Bayer, Muggsy Stephenson, Monty Gage and George Cotichio. Ralph DiDomenico got the Dodgers only extra base hit, and Vince MacDonald, Ernie Calcat and Jack Spiess got singles.

Thursday, June 18

The Cards squared their season record at 2 each with the Cubs, as they ended the Cubs 9 game winning streak in a thrilling 2 to 1 victory tonight.
Kevin Dreaan, the league's leading pitcher, locked in a tight duel with the Cards star, Keith Cunningham. The Cubs scored one unearned run in the fourth on a single by John Orr, a Cardinal throwing error, and then a single by Chris Thuman, otherwise Cunningham held the Cubs scoreless. Going into the last of the sixth, Dreaan had allowed no hits and had struck out 9. With one out, Ernie Schmatz walked, advanced to second on Dave McLeod's hot grounder through short, and they both scored on a game winning double by Sandy Sides.
It was a well-played game all the way, and a hard-earned victory for Cunningham. Needless to say, it was a heartbreaker for Kevin Dreaan in his first loss of the season.

Friday, June 19

The Cardinals stayed on top in the major league standings with a close win over the Dodgers 3 to 1. Dave Peterson pitched another fine game, allowing only three hits while striking out 9 Dodgers. A base on balls to Chapel, plus singles by Ralph DiDomenico and Vince Ma-
Donald produced the Dodgers only run, coming in the third inning.

The Cards scored in the first after Ricca singled and Ernie Schmatz walked. They both advanced on passed balls, Schmatz scoring after Ricca was out at the plate.

Ricca again singled, stole second and scored on Dave Mc-Leod's single in the fourth, and Schmatz singled and scored on passed balls in the sixth. Peterson was helped considerably in the field by great defensive work on the part of McLeod, Schmatz, Sandy Sides and Mike Kelly. Ralph DiDomenico was the losing pitcher, but did a fine job, allowing only 4 Cardinal hits.

as they beat San Diego 25 to 4.

going 5 for 5. John Boccacio also was 5 for 5, all singles; Steve

Woods Center Hassle

Nostalgia and hazy syllogisms have played a part in the controversy currently raging in the Woods over whether or not to close down the Community Center, an imposing building on the corner of Mack avenue and Hampton road. The center's proponents claim that it is "extremely shortsighted" for the Woods council to discontinue any recreational facilities at a time when the Woods population is still burgeoning. The Woods council, to a man, seems to feel that better use could be made of the city's recreation dollars by expansions at other sites, such as Ghesquiere Park and the lakefront property.

Each side in the hassle should be heard, and a solution will only be reached by a careful weighing of the relative advantages of a small community type program such as that at the Community Center against those of a large play center. At this observation, it would seem that the Woods could expand its expenditures in the recreation area enough to allow for operation of the Community Center. However, the Woods council is more aware of its fiscal situation than we can be, and if they deem the closure a financial necessity, then the case is closed. However, a community as recreation-minded as the Woods purports to be, should, it would seem, be able to earmark the money to keep this convenient and functional center in operation, even if it does serve only a portion of the community's residents.

But please, let's keep false issues out of the discussion. Certain Woods residents are wrong to claim that the fact that the Center was built largely with donated money and material gives them any legal claim to its facilities, which were purchased by the city back in 1949; the house or property a man once owned stops being his when he sells it. Councilman Thomas E. Leah displayed shaky reasoning in recent discussions when he called the rising vandalism and delinquency reported in the area a good reason for closing up the Center. Rather, it would seem to be a very pressing reason to stick around and help youths who need good guidance.

If the argument is conducted coolly and rationally, hopefully by a larger group of Woods residents, it seems possible that the council might be convinced that the money spent in the Community Center is indeed money well spent.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Is it now time for your newspaper to attack the problem of traffic lawlessness prevailing to such a high degree in the Grosse Pointes.

In The Village, at all hours of the day, pedestrian traffic crosses in indiscriminate disregard of safety and authoritative traffic light regulations. The worst aspect of this deplorable condition is the parental disregard of these regulatory provisions while in charge of minor children who are continuously being educated by transgressing parents to void and disregard legal and authoritative safety regulations.

Any day your photographic and movie staff can amass an alarming quantity of visual proof, that Grosse Pointe Village is one of the outstanding examples of dangerous traffic law violation and non-observance, almost every shot you accumulate showing parents deliberately teaching children to similarly disregard vital traffic laws.

Something should immediately be done about this. I cannot think of any medium or group which could be as formidably capable of bringing to the attention of the authorities who are so blandly supporting this widespread anti-safety condition by their absolute attitude of blind connivance, as a newspaper of your calibre which so widely and conscientiously serves the Grosse Pointe Community. It is truly ironic, and sadly reflective on the continuous gush of Probationary, Religious and Newspaper comment anent the breakdown of teenager regard for laws and regulatory observance, that such conditions can be no only flagrantly espoused by the daily examples set by the adult population of this one of Detroit's supposedly most enlightened and elitely cultural suburbs, but that the Police and other regulatory authorities, shut their eyes to its manifest conspicuously dangerous law-breaking indoctrination, while vigorously and most persistently pursuing harmless "Time" parking violations.

These parentally supported lawbreaking conditions are undoubtedly responsible for the almost unbelievable disobedience of traffic regulations by young cyclists. Hardly one of them stop before crossing at STOP signs and most of them disregard even the operating traffic light signals. These basic factors of traffic safety should be rigidly upheld by police observance. This is not so, as can any day be proven by observing the hundreds of young and very young cyclists who commit constant traffic violations in the Grosse Pointe Village center, and at almost every cross street in the whole Grosse Pointe environs.

I am not signing this. It needs no individual signature. The responsibility is greatly yours and continuous editorial castigations of its continuance would accomplish the greatest potential of remedial action. I do not believe that there is a community in America which so continuously and completely educates its young to break traffic violations by parental and other adult example. Look Magazine would highly value the chance to see and use the visual records which could so easily be collected to establish in the minds of its readers that this, Grosse Pointe Village, is the country's greatest example and center of deliberate parental education in the vicious art of traffic law violation, with its complimentary achievement as a vital factor in the statistical records of our country's automobile accident savagery, so much of which stems from traffic law violations.

To the Editor:

I would like to thank the Grosse Pointe News for the detailed coverage of the last Woods Council discussion of the Community Club and the recreation program at Chene-Trombley park. It should be of interest to all Woods citizens to know how quickly and quietly a major change, affecting so many people, can be accomplished.

One small error might be corrected, however. In discussing the fact that the public school's craft program is now geared to early elementary children I did not say that the schools "avoided" the older children. Perhaps, rather, the older children are eager, for a change, to "avoid" the schools! Forrest Geary, director of the schools' summer program, had, in fact, specifically said that if the school program became overcrowded due to the elimination of crafts in the city's park programs he would simply hire more people to supervise them. My point, just then, was that the Community Club is uniquely well suited to serve the needs of older elementary children and young teens, with ping pong, pool, table games, and wood working facilities which, I believe, are not duplicated in any other park or school program.

What seemed quite obvious at the last Woods Council meeting was that the Woods Council did not really know very much about the Community Club building, its present or potential uses. Neither did it know much about the 6 week public school program which it assumed was a duplication. If the Council had followed the usual procedure and had consulted the Recreation Commission it might have been spared some embarrassment.

I am not convinced that the closing of this building is simply part of a plan to gain a parking lot as many people are led by circumstances and rumor to believe. I still tend to feel that our councilmen are for the most part public spirited men who contribute much time

What Goes On at Your Library

By Virginia Leonard

With the Cow Palace in San Francisco taking on added importance this summer — with potential Republican Presidential candidates ebbing and flowing like the tides — with the eyes of everyone on various primaries—it would seem like a good and timely idea to write a column on political parties, possible Presidential nominees, and some of their literary output.

First of all, in the general field, there is Ralph Martin's very recent BALLOTS AND BANDWAGONS, a study of the role of the convention in politics, examining in depth the Republican National Conventions of 1932 and 1956. A 1964 book in Nelson Polsky's PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS, which not only explains the organization of parties, the operation of the electoral college, and other political aspects, but offers an argument and criticism on the proposed reforms and the democratic process. A delightful title is JUMBO AND JACKASSES by E. P. Hoyt, subtitled: "a popular history of the political wars." This covers the last 25 presidential campaigns, 1860-1960, by major political parties. A slightly different type is C. B. Judah's THE UNCHOSEN—an account of nine men who waged unsuccessful campaigns for the Presidential nomination. Theodore White's well-known THE MAKING OF THE PRESIDENT fits in here too. The author tells who the Presidential candidates were (1960), how they campaigned, and factors which hurt or helped them.

As for the Republican Party specifically, we have just received George Mayer's THE REPUBLICAN PARTY, 1854-1964. This is an extensive analysis of party politics, the Party's position on major issues, and its action in and out of power. An earlier one, Raymond Moley's THE REPUBLICAN OPPORTUNITY, discusses the theory and practices of Republican conservatives.

And now let us get down to the aspiring candidates. For the Democratic Party there seems to be no problem, so let us consider simply our material on Lyndon B. Johnson. Booth Mooney wrote a book in 1956 called: THE LYNDON JOHNSON STORY. Now, understandably, in 1964, we have a new edition, updated to include Johnson's succession to the presidency. We also have a 1964 volume by our President: A TIME FOR ACTION, which is a selection from his speeches and writings. These range from Johnson's public statements as Democratic minority leader in the 1953 Senate through his 1964 State of the Union message as President of the United States. On the distasteful side, Ruth Montgomery, in MRS. L. B. J., gives us a syndicated columnist's profile of the First Lady.

As for the Republicans, shall we start out with the one most outstandingly in the limelight—Mr. Conservative? In 1962 Stephen Shadegg wrote BARRY GOLDWATER: FREEDOM IS HIS FLIGHT PLAN. Here the author gives Goldwater's background and ancestry, his campaigns and views, especially on domestic and foreign policy, as well as labor legislation. In 1963 R. L. De Toledano published THE WINNING SIDE: THE CASE FOR GOLDWATER REPUBLICANISM, reviewing the trend of conservatism over the past 30 years and the candidates of both parties for the 1964 elections. Jack Bell's MR. CONSERVATIVE: BARRY GOLDWATER is an analysis of the Senator's ideas, motives and objectives. There is one more, on order but not yet received, by Edwin McDowell, entitled BARRY GOLDWATER. We also have two books written by the Senator: THE CONSCIENCE OF A CONSERVATIVE (1960), which sets forth his viewpoints on many topics of national and international significance. The other is WHY NOT VICTORY? A FRESH LOOK AT AMERICAN FOREIGN POLICY (1962). This is a critical examination of foreign policy and foreign relations at present and over the past 20 years.

Let us proceed to Rocky. James Desmond has recently written NELSON ROCKEFELLER: A POLITICAL BIOGRAPHY, which is a profile, telling of the Governor's life as an undergraduate at Dartmouth, his problems and achievements as co-ordinator of inter-American affairs and as a Republican campaigner prior to JFK's victory. In 1960 J. A. Morris produced NELSON ROCKEFELLER, an account of the private and public life of a successful political leader. We also have one book written by the Governor: THE FUTURE OF FEDERALISM (1962), which presents the case for the usefulness and necessity of federalism in the modern world.

Our only lady contender is represented by one biography: MARGARET CHASE SMITH by Frank Graham, which is both a profile of the woman and a description of the professional life of a senator.

Richard Nixon is well represented, naturally. There are many biographies about him written by such men as William Costello, Ralph De Toledano, James Keogh and Earl Mazo. His own two works are: THE CHALLENGES WE FACE (1960), consisting of material edited and compiled from the speeches and papers of the former Vice-President since 1956. The other is SIXTY CRISIS (1962), covering events in his early career, his campaign with Eisenhower, and his own campaign for President. Sidney Kraus is editor of THE GREAT DEBATES: BACKGROUND, PERSPECTIVE, EFFECTS (1962)—essays analyzing aspects of the Kennedy-Nixon television debates. And finally, we have a dual one: NIXON AND ROCKEFELLER: A DOUBLE PORTRAIT by Stewart Alsop, written at the time of the last Presidential election, when, conceivably, one of these two men might have become the next President of the United States.

So there you are—quite a collection, n'est-ce pas? And I'm sure more and more books in this political arena will be forthcoming. Why not read up on some of these men and events. Whether you favor the donkey or the elephant, this is a very real part of your world.

plants than on recreation of which we have plenty.

To the Editor:

We thought the era of the "Smear Grosse Pointe" campaign had at least temporarily ended. All the grumbling, the jokes, the slurs on the Pointe's alleged collective "segregationist conspiracy" are still ringing in our ears since the days of the trumped-up Pointe System scandal of a few years back.

But, as evidenced by an article which appeared in the Detroit Free Press just last Thursday, those old resentments and hostilities are still all too present, at least in some people's minds. The Free Press chose a harmless enough topic, a rare European duck who has taken up residence in the vicinity of the Resident Club docks. In reporting this story (on their front page!) the newspaper felt somehow obliged to haul in every old slur against the Pointe that could possibly be deemed relevant to a hard-luck duck.

One paragraph of this dispatch really went down the wrong way. The alien duck just doesn't get along with the other ducks on the beach because, well, "a certain amount of reserve is expected of Grosse Pointe ducks." And "Then, too, there is the Pointe's point system and the sheldrake's ancestry is dubious." The sad result. "The sheldrake swims alone and suns alone on a little corner of the little beach."

I am delighted, in a way, to see the Free Press attempt to be allegorical and cute in the best Aesopian tradition, but I would respectfully submit that real bigotry, real racial injustice, is difficult to joke about. I venture to guess that Grosse Pointers are well informed enough to back the civil rights bill solidly, which is more than can be said of the uninformed majorities in parts of the country.

It is cool-headed, legislated expediency, and not snide cynical slurs that will bring an end to the closed door policy in the Pointe, and more important, in the areas of the country where racial intolerance is a more painful degradation for American minority groups.

WOMEN'S PAGES

From Another Pointe of View

By Janet Mueller

Virginia has its Williamsburg, Illinois has its reconstructed New Salem—and now Michigan has its own "window into the past," at Huron City, north of Port Huron, thanks in large part to Mrs. Russell H. Lucas, of East Jefferson avenue.

Mrs. Lucas' grandfather, lumber pioneer Langdon Hubbard, came to Huron City in the mid 1850's.

He built three houses (forest fires claimed the first two), and in 1882 completed the third, still surviving house, "Seven Gables." Mrs. Lucas' uncle and aunt, Professor and Mrs. William Lyon Phelps, summered at Seven Gables for 40 years.

Now the house belongs to Mrs. Lucas, who enjoys living there two or three months out of every year. Twelve years ago, she built a Memorial Museum for her uncle, preserving his portrait, books, desk and other mementoes.

The project mushroomed. Today hostesses, dressed in period costumes, conduct visitors through "the city that was," with its log cabin, church and inn, during July and August.

The log cabin, 135 years old (at least), was not burned in either forest fire. Inside are mannequins, representing Mrs. Lucas' grandmother and her three children, in life-like attitudes (Mrs. Hubbard is seated in a rocking chair, holding her baby, Richard).

The museum contains nine murals, painted by Mrs. Lucas' aunt, Mrs. Phelps, depicting her father's lumbering days in the area.

At the inn there is a Bride's Room, with mannequins showing Mrs. Lucas' mother and aunt in their wedding dresses (they were married in 1892 and 1893), and there is also a school room, replica of the old school built by Mrs. Lucas' grandfather in 1880.

Everything, with a very few exceptions, came from old houses in Mrs. Lucas' family, and the buildings are all original structures.

Mrs. Lucas will spend most of the summer in Huron (Continued on Page 16)

Susan Ford Bows at Dance

Hundreds of pink geraniums lined the Little Club's foyer Saturday night, leading to the living room where tall, tanned Susan Sloane Ford and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Ford, Jr., received their guests at Susan's coming-out-dance.

The brunet debutante, who has just completed her freshman year at Connecticut College for Women, wore a floor length strapless sheath of white cotton lace, with a cummerbund of pale pink satin and satin panels, falling to her hemline. She carried pink geraniums, white stephanotis and ivy, her father's gift bouquet.

Mrs. Ford chose an Empire waisted, floor length gown of silk linen, in a pale pink shade, with white beading details on her bodice.

Susan's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Ernest Brier, who entertained the debutante and her friends at a small dinner at the Country Club preceding the dance, wore a gown of powder blue chiffon and a corsage of white orchids.

Mrs. Frederick Sloane Ford, Susan's paternal grandmother, chose a flowered green silk gown, and wore a pearl necklace.

Geranium "trees" flanked the fireplace before which Susan and her parents received. Pink and red balloons, printed with Susan's name, were hung at the entrance to the Dining Room, where the tables were covered with alternating pink-striped and shocking pink cloths.

More balloons were featured in the Pine Room, where more geranium "trees" were scattered around tables centered with geranium-ringed hurricane lamps, and "Susan" balloons bobbed on the music racks of Jack Qualey's orchestra.

Ushers, who wore ambassador ribbons, in two shades of pink, across their chests, and matching carnation bouton-nieres, were Denny Bourke, Bill Bavinger, Jim Bingham, Lance Gotfredson, Tony Fisher, Peter Maxwell, Michael FitzSimons, Philip Angell, Sanford White and Rick Ford, Susan's brother.

Coming from out of town for the party were Susan's college classmates, Virginia Page, of Shaker Heights, O., and Margot Barnes, of Mansfield, Mass.; and her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Goodhue, of Mt. Kisco, N.Y., with their son, Randy.

Mr. Jeffs Weds Patricia Lucas

Thomas Hamilton Jeffs, II, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Raymond Jeffs, of McKinley avenue, and Patricia Lucas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh L. Lucas, of North Glengarry road, Bloomfield Village, exchanged marriage vows Saturday in Christ Church, Cranbrook.

The Reverend T. H. Michael Nesbitt officiated at the 2 o'clock ceremony, after which guests gathered for a garden reception at the home of the bride's parents.

For her wedding, the former Miss Lucas wore a Galina gown of silk organza and Swiss embroidery, designed with a Sabrina neckline and short sleeves. Her controlled skirt and her train, falling from her shoulders, were banded with embroidery.

An embroidery band caught her veil of imported illusion, and she carried white roses.

Matron of honor Mrs. William A. Young, the bride's sister, and bridesmaid Margaret Ellen Jeffs, sister of the bridegroom, wore floor length sheaths of rose quartz georgette.

Their Empire waistlines were sashed with brocade ribbon, and they carried pink roses.

Flower girl Jan Scott Lucas, another sister of the bride, wore a frock of white organza over pink taffeta. Her head-dress of pink roses matched the headaddresses of the senior attendants, and she, also, carried pink roses.

Bride Chooses Gown of Italian Silk Linen, With Lace Bodice, For Rites Friday June 12, In Grosse Pointe Congregational Church

Catherine Ann Wilke and Robert William Price exchanged marriage vows Friday evening, June 12, at a candlelight service in the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church.

A reception at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club followed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wilke, of Hampton road. Her husband is the son of Mrs. Howard R. Price, of University place, and the late Mr. Price.

For her marriage, the former Miss Wilke chose a gown of Italian silk linen, designed with a lace bodice. Her bustle-backed skirt ended in a full Court train, and a silk linen bow caught her veil of imported English illusion.

She carried white roses with camellia leaves.

Elizabeth Price, the bridegroom's sister, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Elizabeth Dettmer and Susan Koenig.

They wore French blue floor length A line gowns, with peti-pointe bands accenting their raised waistlines, and carried Sweetheart roses with ivy.

Stephen Blucher served as Mr. Price's best man. Ushering were Harry Doerr and Jack Horner.

The mother of the bride wore a pink organza over taffeta gown, while the bridegroom's mother chose an aqua cocktail length frock. Both Mrs. Wilke and Mrs. Price wore Georgianna orchid corsages.

The newlyweds are making their home in Detroit, and plan a wedding trip to Georgia in late August.

'Best Friends' Bow At Dinner

Two young ladies who have been "best friends" since seventh grade days at Grosse Pointe University School, Mary Lellie Renchard and Susan Fink, made their bows to society together Tuesday evening, June 16, at a dinner in the Country Club of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Tyson, Jr., of Charlevoix avenue, presented Mary Leslie, Mrs. Tyson's daughter, and the Edgar L. Finks, of Vendome road presented their daughter Susan.

The debutantes, both wearing floor length white gowns, received with their parents in front of the fireplace, draped with yellow and white daisy garlands and greens, in the club's Great Hall.

Mary Leslie, a student at Bradford Junior College, chose a Frock of heavy silk, with spaghetti straps and a bead-accented bodice. Her mother wore a gown of pale yellow linen.

Susan, who attends Penn Hall, featured large pearl buttons at her waistline, while Mrs. Fink wore a jewel-necklined lilac print. Both debutantes carried bouquets of white daisies and ivy, gifts of Mr. Fink and Mr. Tyson.

Mary Leslie was escorted by David Alger, and her ushers were Danny Marentette, Emory M. Ford, Jr., and Michael Lynch.

Susan, who attends Penn Hall Junior College, was escorted by Michael Miller. Her ushers were Tom Tracy, Simpson Leonard, and her cousin, John Fink.

Tables for eight, each covered with a green cloth and centered with daisy-ringed hurricane lamps, were scattered on the Country Club terrace. Susan and Mary Leslie sat at a long table with their out-of-town guests, including Janet Borelli, of Philadelphia, Susan's college roommate.

Parents, family freinds and relatives, including Mary's grandparents, the Richard H. Mahbotts, of Lake Forest, Ill., ate in the dining room.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Joy, Jr., of Provencal road, entertained in honor of Susan, and Mary's grandmother, Mrs. William L. Davis, feted her debutante granddaughter at a luncheon at the Detroit Club last Thursday.

Tea Ceremony Honors Thayer

A bamboo curtain at the entrance of Dr. and Mrs. Edward P. MacKenzie's University place home signalled the theme of the tea Monday, at which Mrs. MacKenzie presented her debutante daughter, Thayer MacKenzie.

Thayer received in a sheath of turquoise linen, with a full overskirt. She carried her father's gift bouquet, an arrangement of blue iris, daisies in two shades of blue, and mums.

Mrs. MacKenzie, in a gown of white linen with embroidered head accents on her bodice, and Mrs. C. Reid Johnson, of La Jolla, Calif., the debutante's grandmother wore corsages, miniatures of Thayer's bouquet.

Trees, representing the four seasons, were placed on the MacKenzie's living room mantel, and the dining room table centerpiece featured an Oriental doll, surrounded by purple, blue and turquoise flowers. Thayer's assistants, distinguished by their corsages, included her sister, Mimi MacKenzie, Sally Granger, Susie Kinzie and Sharon Korbenky, of Kalamazoo, the debutante's classmate at Ferris State College.

Tables, centered with white china figurines, and Japanese parasols were scattered through the MacKenzie gardens. Judge and Mrs. James Cullen, Thayer's great-uncle and aunt, and her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. H. Braith Davis, came from Baltimore, Md., for the party, as did Nanci Alderman, of Bay City.

Following the tea, Dr. and Mrs. MacKenzie and the Theodore H. Grangers honored Thayer at a small supper dance, in the MacKenzie home.

Brunet Sibley Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Johnson, Jr., of Rivard boulevard, made her bow to society last Thursday, at a tea given by her grandmother, Mrs. Charles B. Johnson, in her Washington road home.

Three generations of Johnson women received their guests in front of Mrs. Johnson, Sr.'s living room fireplace.

Sibley's sleeveless dress featured deep blue lace on a pale blue background. She carried a bouquet of blue delphinium and stephanotis, her grandparents' gift.

Her mother wore a blue and white frock, while her grandmother chose a gown of pale blue lace. Both Mrs. Johnson, Sr., and Mrs. Johnson, Jr., wore corsages of stephanotis and ivy. Garden flower and gift bouquets filled the rooms, and were placed on the tea table, covered with a white lace cloth. Pink candles, in silver candelabra, also adorned the tea table.

Distinguished by white carnation corsages were Sibley's aunts, Mrs. Frederick S. Ford, Mrs. Henry L. Caulkins, Mrs. George P. Caulkins and Mrs. Kirkland B. Alexander, who assisted the hostess.

Also assisting were Mrs. Richard H. Webber and Mrs. William R. Pierce.

Sibley's assistants were Susan Grace, Meg Hill, Janet Walton, Connie Parke, Carol Delbridge and Lisa Thiele, of Dayton, O., the debutante's roommate at Briarcliffe College.

Dance Honors Linda Stroh

Butterflies, and twinkling lights on stylized trees, lined the foyer of the Little Club Tuesday evening, June 16, as Linda Stroh was presented to society by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Stroh, Jr., of Merriweather road.

The debutante and her mother and father received in front of the club's fireplace.

For her coming-out dance, Linda chose a white peau de soie gown with a scooped neckline, dipping low in back, and floating back panels of chiffon, in varying shades of pink and red, dotted with rosebuds.

She carried her father's gift bouquet, a cluster of pink and red rosebuds, accented with stephanotis.

Mrs. Stroh wore a halter necked gown of pale pink French silk, with floating back panels.

The party's pink and red color theme was repeated in butterfly mobiles featured in all of the club rooms. A shocking pink bandstand, emblazoned with Linda's name, served as headquarters for Jack Qualey's Orchestra, which alternated with Eddie Santini's Dukes of Dixie.

Tomorrow, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Goodenough will honor the pair at a luncheon in their Lathrop road home. Mr. Spicer's sister, Mrs. Robert W. Strong, and Mrs. Donald D. The rehearsal dinner is being given by Mrs. E. Goodenough Spicer in her Farmington road home, and will include the three young flower girls, Katherine Lowell Shields, Lisa's cousin; Elizabeth Addie Spicer, the bridegroom-elect's sister; and Lisa Congdon Van Dusen.

Two parties in Monroe last week ended Lisa's year of teaching at the Riverside School. She was given a shower by the school staff, with Mrs. Mildred Marx acting as hostess.

And at a surprise kitchen shower, which the children had kept secret for a week, Lisa was presented with two silver bowls, engraved, "To Miss Bodor, with love from the first grade class."

The two room mothers, Mrs. George Hill and Mrs. Jerry Anteau, were hostesses and chose the gifts.

The bride, the former Mary Josephine Sajan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Sajan, of Barrington road, wore a gown of silk organza trimmed in Alencon lace, its bodice featuring a sweetheart neckline and elbow length sleeves.

Lace motifs defined her waistline and accented her controlled skirt, which ended in a chapel train. Her bouffant illusion veil fell from a beaded crown, and she carried a cascade of white miniature carnations, ivory gladioli and ivy.

Mrs. Thomas Salmoni was her sister's matron of honor, and bridesmaids included Kathy Marshall, the bridegroom's sister, Ruth Palmer and Mrs. Edward Borninski.

They wore cocktail length frocks of powder blue taffeta, and carried bouquets of miniature carnations with ivy streamers.

Dr. Marshall asked his brother, Thomas Marshall, to serve as his best man. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Marshall, of Detroit.

Twins Adventure

Sue and Kathy Klick, twin daughters of A. J. Klick, of Fontana lane, received a fabulous graduation (from Grosse Pointe High School), present.

Both girls are in Switzerland, courtesy of their father, studying French under the auspices of the Foreign Language League. They plan to sight-see on the weekends, visiting Venice, Rome, Florence and the Riviera, and covering as much Alpine territory as possible.

En route home, they will spend four days in Paris and three in London. Sue is scheduled to enter Northwestern University this fall, while Kathy will enroll at the University of Michigan.

Trans-Atlantic Travel Roundup

Susan Harper, daughter of Mrs. Andrew B. Harper, Jr., of Moran road, and Anne Ware, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Ware, of Touraine road, leave July 1 for six weeks in Europe.

Before returning home, Susan will go to Media, Pa., for the wedding of her cousin, Mary Drew Preston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour S. Preston, Jr., on August 15.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gardner, of Anita avenue, in the midst of THEIR six-week European vacation, recently "ran into" the Queen of England!

It seems that the Gardners were browsing through London shops, and Mrs. Gardner and Elizabeth II share the same good taste; they both admired the same antique.

A Busy June

Settling down after a busy, busy month are Mr. and Mrs. Omar Field Rains, of Mapleton road, who welcomed his brother and sister, Emil Rains, of Paris, Ky., and Mrs. Herbert H. Bacon, of Indianapolis, Ind., in early June.

The gentlemen (both are Kentucky Colonels), and the ladies visited for a week; the day they departed, Mrs. Rains packed up her bags too, and left with Mrs. John McNe. Burns for a house party in Northern Michigan.

Mrs. Rains and Mrs. Burns were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mount at their summer home near Gaylord.

"We half-froze up there, and now we're smothering here!" Mrs. Rains reports. She arrived back in The Pointe in the middle of a spectacular heat wave, and is spending as much time as possible in her lovely garden.

13—REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

CANDY'S DANDY but we prefer Handy, and we believe this could be the Place for you. A first offering of this four bedroom, two bath will probably be the only time this add will appear. Priced at $36,500 for an immediate sale.

WE'VE DEDUCED, when the price is reduced, there usually follows a sales boost.

We refer specifically to the new price of $37,500 on this white, farm colonial in Radnor Circle. The home has three bedrooms and a single bath on the second floor and a master bedroom and bath on the first. Also, there is a den and a large and enclosed porch. Vacant and ready for your furniture.

THIS ONE should head your list if you must have four bedrooms and demand your next home have that extra first floor room. If you fall in this category you know seldom does a house appear priced at less than $30,000. On Washington Road we offer you a newly decorated home which has the above features, and is situated on an estate-sized lot.

LIGHTNING does strike twice. Only two weeks ago we offered a three bedroom, bath and a half home on Merriweather Road. With lightning like speed we sold this colonial. This week, on the same street, we are offering another three bedroom home which we believe will sell just as quickly. Large, modernized kitchen and paneled first floor den are two excellent reasons to see this one today.

WE'VE SEEN it happen so often. Our prospects in the forty thousand dollar range demand these three conditions when looking for their next house: Location, location, and location. While it lasts, we are offering this four bedroom, two story home which also has that extra room down. The house was custom built just ten years ago, and is situated on a large lot on what many call one of the Pointe's "best" streets.

ON GRAND MARAIS we are offering a traditional center hall colonial with four gigantic bedrooms in the second floor and another on the third for family or stay-in help. The generous proportions are reflected throughout, and we quote as an example the 32' long living room. The large kitchen has been re-done as has also an immense basement recreation room. We feel this home is priced quite fairly at $42,500.

For The Guy Who Came In Out Of The Field, this contemporary is not for one of those who is satisfied with a tri-level plan that lends itself to a variety of room arrangements. Tucked away on a dead-end street, yet easily accessible to schools, but still in the Shores. Priced in the sixties.

THE PERFECT home for you who must have bedrooms for a large family. Besides four bedrooms and two baths on the second floor there are two more rooms and two baths on the third. The sprawling first floor has two extra rooms, one for grown-up entertainment and one for the kids. All this is in this fine home on Rivard Blvd., just a block from Kercheval.

"The wise man sometimes flies from society from fear of being tired to death."

who, where and whatnot

by whoozit

Two local gentlemen . . . William D. Dahling, of Hawthorne road, and Leet E. Denton, of Edgemere road, are now among the alumnae (alumni?) of Connecticut College for Women! This rather unusual distinction results from participation, early this month, in Connecticut's fourth annual Alumnae College. For two days, the College for Women welcomes Men, as ex-girl graduates bring their husbands back to campus for lectures and seminars on changes in American civilization during the past 30 years. Climax of two days' hard study is the annual Alumnae Reunion weekend; this year, almost 400 Connecticut College graduates, accompanied by 97 husbands, gathered for the festivities.

Unforgettable! . . . is the name chosen by Karen Christensen Watson for her twin daughter, whose brother bears the rather prosaic title of Christopher Kerwin Watson. Always interested in mythology and Greek and Roman philosophy, the daughter of the George Christensens, of Oxford road, called her first girl child Ariadne Perpetua!

The Ecumenical Movement . . . has reached all the way from Rome to Grosse Pointe, embracing Mrs. David E. Henes, of Grayton road, a devout Catholic, and her friend Bill Schindler, a devout Baptist. When she heard Bill was going abroad on the Press Club tour this spring, and that he had written to the Vatican, requesting an audience with the Pope, Kathy Henes asked him to have rosaries blessed for herself and her four children. Bill said yes; he arrived in Rome and approached Vatican officials, asking, rather diffidently, if they had received his communication. Much to his surprise, the Vatican had a COMPLETE file on Baptist Bill's church activities (he is very interested in church work, and does a great deal of it), and had arranged for him to meet Pope Paul VI at a semi-private audience, with 20 diplomats! Unfortunately, the date of the audience was still 10 days away, and Bill's Roman Holiday hours were numbered—so, as "consolation prize," he received tickets for himself and two friends to a Papal Mass, at which the Pope blessed religious articles held up by the congregation. Bill remembered Kathy and all the young Heneses; each now has a rosary blessed by the Pope, brought back to the States by a Baptist.

Planning for a fall opening . . . but still desperately in need of funds, the Northeastern Child Guidance Clinic has secured offices in Mack avenue, near Moran road. Number one current priority project is carpeting and furniture. The Clinic is searching for someone, interested in children's welfare, who would be willing to donate carpeting for the offices. Interested philanthropists may contact Mrs. George C. Crane, Jr., of Moorland drive, at TUxedo 4-6451.

That outstanding, scintillating and very talented "star" performer . . . Kathy Marshall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Marshall, of Harbor Hill, will appear as Titania in the University of Detroit summer theater's production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream." The play (perfect choice for a SUMMER theater) opens in July. There will be 12 performances. U. of D., incidentally, is the only college theater in the country to have a year-round repertory program.

PILFERINGS

As the Pentagon elevator was about to close, a major general appeared in the corridor. The elevator operator waited: the officer stepped into the elevator and barked out, "Tenth floor!"

"But sir," the operator protested, "this building only has eight floors."

"Do the best you can!" growled the general. "Do the best you can!"

An old Indian, wrapped in a blanket, sat in a saloon, his proud face inscrutable as he watched a typical TV Western with a wagon train besieged by thousands of painted warriors.

Just as the U.S. cavalry conveniently arrived with colors flying and bugles blaring, the Indian leapt off his stool and ran out the door.

When he returned a few minutes later, a ragged barfly asked, "What scared you, Injun? U.S. cavalry to the rescue?"

"Nope," the Indian replied. "Cop standing near my Cadillac."

Canteen Conversation

By Rick Mills

Have you heard the joke about the topless bathing suit? The funny thing is it's not a joke any more. People are starting to get serious about it. Think of it! Your seven year old son, beginning to establish a sense of moral values goes to the beach for a cool, refreshing swim. The water is the same, but my, how the view has changed!

What do you say to him when he comes home with a mouth full of questions? "Well son, times change." How they do change! America is asking why the moral values of its youth are so "shocking." Where do teens get these immoral ideas? All a teen need do today is walk around with his eyes open to get these ideas! Movies, books, jokes, magazines, and T.V. all create an image of loose, wild living in the adult world. What fine examples of life these are! What strong moral "building-blocks," we find in today's mass media. And now, to add to this list of moral "building-blocks," we have the topless swim suits. What do teenagers think of this new fashion? Here are some of their thoughts.

Anne Boynton: "I think the whole idea is in bad taste. These new suits may sell for a short time as a novelty, but they will not catch on. Anyone who wears one will need a lot of nerve!"

Ed Beyster: "When I first heard of them I was shocked. I just couldn't believe it. I doubt whether this idea will have any real success. The whole thing is rather ridiculous."

Rick Stander: "I was surprised at first and thought it was just a funny idea. I think the style will spread however, people in England are already wearing them. The first ones will cause a shock in America but it will catch on in time."

Mary Walker: "It is just a publicity stunt to get attention. Personally I think the suits are ugly."

New fashions and ideas come and go. Some last longer than others. But each new idea affects our lives in some way. We are the ones who accept or reject each new idea. We are the ones responsible for the condition that exists.

The next time the question comes to mind: "What is happening to the youth of our country," try looking at the adult world through a teen's eyes, but watch out: What you see just might answer your question!

MR. AND MRS. ELMORE W. FRANK, OF FISHER ROAD

By Janet Mueller

"Everything's coming up roses" at the Elmore W. Frank household this month. The Pointe's prettiest garden is a blooming delight; the bent grass lawn stretches smooth and free from weeds; and Elmore and Wanda Frank, snatching odd hours from a Busy Season schedule of flower shows, lectures and meetings, spend as much time as possible working with, and enjoying, their "growing things."

Married 38 years, the Franks have always had a garden. Elmore cannot remember a time when he was uninterested in flowers; his father had a garden, and soon after he and Wanda were married, on Thanksgiving Eve, they bought their first piece of plant material, a rose bush.

Like so many young couples' first piece of plant material, the rose bush died.

Never Daunted

But the Franks went on gardening. They moved to their present home in Fisher road in the early 1930's, and immediately began work on the backyard, although, with three young children, a truly ambitious flower-growing program had to take a back seat to boys' and girls' "room to grow in" for a few years.

When the Men's Garden Club of Grosse Pointe was organized, in 1953, Wanda "insisted" that her reluctant husband attend the first meeting; he is a past president as well as a charter member of the group.

He and Leland Gilmour are the only two accredited judges of the Men's Garden Clubs of America in Grosse Pointe. Mr. Frank served as chairman of the Judging School for the Men's Garden Clubs' Great Lakes Region, and has been a member of the Detroit Rose Society for years, serving on its Board of Trustees and, in 1959, as its vice president.

The American Rose Society, headquartered in Columbus, O., maintains a consulting service, referring pleas for help or information to local authorities; Elmore Frank is the Society's consultant for the Grosse Pointe area.

To Get Life Certificate

Wanda Frank, no less interested in flowers than her husband, will receive her life certificate from the National Council of Federated Garden Clubs this summer. This certificate is granted only after some 12 years of work and study; Wanda, who has taken landscape design courses and interior decorating courses and flower arranging courses, is very proud to have earned her life rating.

She still has one more National Farm and Garden Association-sponsored course to take before receiving her certificate from THAT group, (one can't help but wonder: "What can they teach her?")

She judges and lectures, serves on the Women's City Club Flower Arrangement committee, is on the Board of the Detroit Garden Center and has helped organize the Grosse Pointe Garden Tours for six years.

Children Were Hobby

"My children were my hobby when they were here," she explains. All three junior Franks were graduated from Grosse Pointe High School, and all three are now married and living out of town.

Marvin, the eldest, a graduate of the University of Houston, lives with his wife and son in Houston, Tex. He does no gardening.

Wesley, father of two boys, is a landscape architect, a Michigan State University graduate, and makes his home in Albany, N.Y. Phyllis (Mrs. William H. MacFarland), mother of two girls and a boy, lives in Bellevue, a suburb of Seattle, Wash. The Franks are EXTREMELY proud of Phyllis' husband, Bill, who passed his Washington State Bar Exam last January and is now a full partner in a Seattle law firm.

Bill was captain of the University of Michigan hockey team, and studied law while playing for the Seattle Totems, a professional hockey team. Captain of the Totems, and a star player, he intends to continue with the team for a season or two.

Phyllis, who received her degree in Speech from the University of Michigan, is active in Junior League work, and recently, to her parents' delight, has begun to take an interest in Garden Club activities.

His Latest Project

Elmore Frank's latest project, and the one to which he devotes a good portion of his current time, is the Grosse Pointe Rose Society. A young group, (the first regular meeting was held in January '63), but healthy and enthusiastic, (the Pointe Rose Society boasts about 45 charter members, although Mr. Frank credits a nucleus of six with really "putting the Rose Society on the map"), the Society exhibited at Jacobson's earlier this month. The show was an outstanding success.

Elmore Frank, with his garden club background, knew many Pointers whom he felt would be interested in forming a local Rose Society. He wrote to the American Rose Society, asking for names of other area residents who might be interested in the new group, which promptly elected him president.

He was the logical presidential choice. Roses had always interested him; since 1955, he has maintained a Rose Test Garden for the Men's Garden Clubs of America, growing and reporting on as yet unmarketed varieties.

Tests 24 Varieties

This year, he has 24 varieties under test, (he has had more in other years), and he has begun hybridizing, creating his own varieties.

Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Frank discount the amount of work involved in growing and maintaining a beautiful garden, but, "It's work only if you make it so," says Wanda Frank. "Any hobby that you have, you have to work at," her husband adds. "You love it, but you have to keep at it."

Their garden includes a wild-flower section, (Mrs. Frank's favorite; it is a mass of color in the spring), a built-in brick barbecue pit, (where the children used to make their summer headquarters), and beds and beds of roses and other flowers and plants.

It is constantly beautiful — and constantly changing. Mrs. Frank has persuaded her husband to add a retaining wall in one corner, and she would eventually like to see a tall piece of statuary placed between two formal rose beds.

Are Never Satisfied

When these "improvements" are completed, Elmore and Wanda Frank will probably find other ways to alter their garden. Like all people who work with plants, they are never satisfied — perhaps because a garden is a live, growing place, never "finished" in the sense of a book or a painting.

A gifted and inventive arranger of flowers, Wanda Frank has exhibited in just about all major Detroit area shows, in Cobo Hall, at Warren's and at Wright Kay. She "collects" things that might someday find their way into an arrangement.

Elmore Frank laughingly complains that the aisles in his basement are getting narrower and narrower—and that he has not been able to get the family car into the garage for several years!

"Two years ago," he recalls, "we took a trip to the West Coast, to see Phyllis and the World's Fair. Instead of getting lighter, our car became heavier as we went along; Wanda kept picking up rocks for her arrangements!"

Avid Collectors

The Franks have brought driftwood from the Gulf of Mexico back to Michigan; they have picked up unfinished marble slabs in Georgia, petrified wood in the Southwest, knickknacks everywhere.

"You don't have to be crazy in this business," Elmore laughs, "but it helps!"

A popular, accomplished speaker, Mr. Frank's knees turned to water the first time he had to address an audience. He promptly traipsed down to Wayne State University, enrolled in a public speaking class, and learned how to talk on his feet.

Recuperating from a heart attack a few years ago, he started to read up on entomology.

He had always been a bit of a camera bug so, combining his new interest in insects with his old interest in photography, he started to experiment with microphotography.

Now, he can photograph the head of a pin, and has one slide of an aphid, (plant louse), giving birth to living young.

Midwife to Louse

Wanda Frank, who waited upstairs the night the aphid-birth was captured on film, called down in exasperation after her husband had spent several hours patiently waiting for the Great Event, "Elmore, I thought I'd

Mr. Frank makes a point of taking slides of his grandchildren whenever they visit. He has about 100 slide portraits of single roses, but confesses his biggest failures are the pictures he attempts to take of his wife's arrangements — the camera seems jinxed whenever Wanda prepares an exceptionally lovely exhibit.

Now that he is retired, as of March 1, from Detroit Edison, Elmore Frank can put on his old clothes, go out in the yard and garden to his heart's content. "I have an affinity for dirt," he confesses, and Wanda nods; Elmore is one of those men who can walk, hands in pockets, through a garden—and have to wash up to his wrists when he comes in the house. Somehow, the dirt finds him.

Typically, now that he has the time, he has decided to do something about this "dirt affinity," and is preparing to take a course in soil composition. For a gardener, there is ALWAYS something new under the sun.
