TRAFFIC JUDGE JOHN D. WATTS proposed a merit system for Michigan motorists. Judge Watts feels that each Michigan driver should have credits as well as penalty points. A point would be given to a driver each year he drives without a traffic violation. Violation points would then be subtracted from the positive number in the bank, instead of the present zero. The plan is being studied by a state committee.

POLICE COMMISSIONER RAY GIRARDIN announced that the projection of the Detroit crime rate for this year through the end of July will be just about even with last year's. Although a 22 percent increase was experienced through February, by the end of June, the increase was down to 2 percent and by the end of this month should be negligible. Girardin also reported that 31 policemen are still investigating 25 leads in the Highland Park slaying of two young boys. Girardin said the leads were encouraging but not definitely promising.

IN WASHINGTON NEWS. The Senate tonight passed by a unanimous vote a $46 billion defense appropriation bill. At the same time the House okayed a Social Security bill which provides a five percent increase in benefits. It will go on to the Senate tomorrow where a Medicare package may be tacked on.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON at a news conference held today announced that he has reached the conclusion that it would be inadvisable for him to recommend to the Democratic National Convention, to be held later this month, any member of the cabinet or any person who works regularly with the cabinet as his selection for the vice presidential nomination. The President's statement eliminated Robert Kennedy, Sergeant Shriver, Dean Rusk, Adlai Stevenson and Robert McNamara. Sen. Hubert Humphrey, of Minnesota, reportedly is a 3 to 1 favorite of the delegates for the nomination.

SEN. CLARE ENGELE, of California, died today of a brain tumor after a year's fight. Speculation is that Gov. Pat Brown will name Pierre Salinger to fill out Engele's term. Salinger is the Democratic candidate for Senator this November.

AN OFFICIAL of Local 80 of the Building Service and Workmen's International Union said today that the union is ready to modify demands that nine men who are charged with sabotage be rehired. This appears to be the only issue holding up settlement of the gas strike. Another official said that there was no truth to the announcement.

RANGER 7, a moon-mission launched Tuesday, July 28, from Cape Kennedy and controlled in California, crash-landed successfully this morning at 8:25, exactly on schedule. During the last fifteen minutes of the flight, pictures were transmitted until the impact time without interruption. All cameras functioned perfectly. This was the thirteenth attempt by the United States to perform such a feat. All previous tries failed.

THE LONG MICHIGAN CONSOLIDATED GAS CO. strike is one step away from ending as a settlement was reached today between union and management negotiators. Only ratification by union members remains. A vote is scheduled for 10 a.m. Monday morning. Members will vote on a three year contract.

MRS. EDWARD (TED) KENNEDY flew to Detroit today to officially open the John F. Kennedy Library exhibit to be held Saturday through Tuesday, August 1 to 4, at the Detroit Institute of Arts. Mrs. Kennedy represented the Kennedy family.

Farms, City Fish Rodeo August 29

Preliminary Contest Now Being Held, Several Prizes To Be Awarded at Farms Pier

The Grosse Pointe Boys and Girls Fishing Rodeo, sponsored jointly by the Farms and by the City, will be held on Saturday, August 29, at the Grosse Pointe Farms Pier.

Most of the service clubs and private individuals also contribute their time and funds to this event. It is sponsored by Better Fishing, Inc., a non-profit organization of sportsmen interested in helping children under 17 to become better fishermen and better Americans.

A committee has been appointed by the two co-chairmen Clyde Putnam of the City and Carl Lieneman of the Farms to supervise all activity at the Rodeo.

The Rodeo begins at 8 a.m. and prizes will be awarded for the biggest fish, the first fish caught, and to anyone who during the time limit.

Soda pop and hot dogs will be served to all fishermen. A separate Pre-Rodeo is being held from August 1 to August 27. To be eligible for this contest, an entrant must catch his fish off of the City or Farms prior to the entry of the fish.

Fish should be turned into either Pier at the checkroom.

Woods Man Beaten, Shot By Robber Outside Home

A Woods man was reported to be in fair condition at St. John Hospital after he was attacked by a robber outside his home July 29.

The victim is John Silvestri, 51, of 1755 Stanhope.

Nine residents heard a shot ring out at approximately 2:40 a.m., July 29. First report was made to Woods police by William Swor of 1765 Stanhope.

Police answered the call and found Silvestri lying on the ground next to his side door, conscious but incoherent. He had been struck on the head by a blunt object and fragments of a bullet had pierced his head behind his right ear, police reported.

His assailant escaped with $150 to $200 in one-dollar bills, but dropped a roll of $290 in bills in the bushes near the front of Silvestri's home.

Explanation Given Voters On Charter Amendments To Be Submitted in City

Legal Loose Ends and Oversight Targets of Proposed Package of Changes; One Would Change Dates of Fiscal Year

(Editor's note: Three bond issues on the City's September 1 ballot have been studied in previous NEWS articles. Three charter amendments in the City are under study in the following article. A future article will summarize all the bond and charter proposals.)

Three bothersome legal loose ends and oversights are the targets of a package of charter amendments that will be placed before City voters September 1.

The three amendments are "non-restrictive" issues—that is, any qualified elector in the City may vote for them. This balloting is not restricted to property holders and their wives as in the case of the three bond issues on the same ballot.

In an interview last week, City Manager John M. Cantwell outlined the three amendments, and urged that all three be met with a "yes" vote by City voters.

1. Fiscal Year
The first of the three proposals asks residents if they favor "amending the City Charter to change the fiscal year to one beginning July 1 and ending June 30, effective July 1, 1965."

Such a change, the question says, would provide that City taxes shall be due July 1 of each year.

Cantwell pointed out that each of the four other Pointes made the switch in 1950 or shortly thereafter to the fiscal year being asked for in the amendment. It is almost universally used throughout the state.

The City should have switched to it long ago—not merely because everybody else has it—but because the present fiscal year term makes it "impossible" to give accurate tax assessments on business places, Cantwell said.

Each January, the City's substantial business community is called upon to make rapid assessments of personal property values as of December 31 of the previous year.

"It is impossible for our local business companies to accurately report these values as reflected by their books at December 31 under our present system," Cantwell said.

As a result, assessments are made too hastily, too arbitrarily, in a manner unfair to both the businesses and the City.

Hard to Appeal
And after the hasty assessments have been made by City assessors, another problem arises because the Board of Appeals hearings on the assessments must also be held hastily, in the last two weeks of January.

After the appeals have been fully heard, early in February, City workers prepare the tax statements to be mailed by April 1.

How did the present tax mess arise? The problem began in 1950 when the Michigan state legislature imposed a state-wide uniform assessment date of December 31 of each year. This step was a needed one for several reasons, but it brought about problems.

City Lags Behind
Before this ruling the City made its assessments in the fall and had no problem providing adequate time for appeals.

Shortly after 1950, every community in Wayne county except two, Grosse Pointe City and Garden City, had shifted to the July 1-June 30 fiscal year.

Cantwell hopes that now, after a long delay, the City may follow suit.

Pointes Win Recognition For Safety

Park and Woods Receive Certificates of Achievement from National Council

Grosse Pointe Park and Grosse Pointe Woods received certificates of achievement for their traffic safety programs in the National Safety Council's Annual Traffic Inventory for 1963.

To qualify for such awards, a city or state must meet or exceed standards and recommendations that have been established for the various programs in the fields of traffic safety.

The two Grosse Pointe municipalities were among nine other Michigan cities cited by the National Safety Council for traffic safety.

A total of 49 states, three counties and 1,043 cities and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico reported to the Council in the 1963 inventory.

Nab 2 Juveniles As Car Thieves

Two juvenile car thieves were arrested by Park police on Tuesday, July 14, after a chase through Park and Detroit streets. The thieves, both Detroit boys, were in the stolen car.

The youngsters, the driver 14 years old, and his passenger, who is 12 years old, were seen speeding on Berkshire, at Mack avenue, by Police Sgt. Thomas Martin and Patrolman Robert Cory, who gave chase. The young driver ignored a stop sign, the officers said.

As the chase progressed through Park and Detroit streets, the 14-year-old ignored the police siren and flasher in his effort to escape. The policemen finally forced him to a stop in front of 4627 Devonshire, Detroit.

The boys were taken to the station where they confessed to stealing the car, a Thunderbird, from a garage at 5814 Buckingham, Detroit.

The older boy claimed that a friend gave him an ignition key that would fit any Thunderbird car. With a little force, the key was inserted into the ignition of the stolen car, Martin and Cory said.

The 14-year-old was given a violation ticket for driving without acquiring a valid operator's license, after which both boys were released to Detroit police for prosecution for car theft.

TREATED, RELEASED

A Farms ambulance took Walter Ray, of 19460 Cranbrook drive, to Bon Secours Hospital after he fainted on the back porch of 71 Merriweather. He was treated and released.

Pool Referendum Again Sidetracked By Farms Council

Vote on Putting Proposal on Ballot Deferred When Two Members Are Absent; May Act at Meeting Scheduled For August 17

The Farms council deferred for the second time a vote on the placing on the ballot of a referendum on a new pool for the Farms Pier-Park at the meeting Monday night, August 3.

The council still has its August 17 meeting at which to approve the wording of one or more referendums for the November 1 ballot.

No action was taken Monday night because, in the opinion of the council, it would be preferable for a full council to decide on the referendums. Councilmen Ledyard Mitchell, Jr., and Benjamin S. Warren, Jr., were not present at the meeting.

Wants Separate Opinions

Councilman Henry E. Bodman said he favored separating any referendum on the pool from those concerned with expansion of boat dock facilities and possible expansion of picnic area land.

He said it is an "old trick" to combine separate issues on referendums in the hope of getting them all passed at once.

About 200 boat wells have been discussed as a needed addition to the Pier park. Bodman stated he felt the boat wells should be built, but should be paid for by charging a boat space rental fee high enough to finance their construction.

Councilman Thomas K. Fisher's remarks seconded Bodman's opinion that the pool issue should be presented to voters as a separate referendum, and also agreed with the idea that boat wells be constructed on a "self-liquidating basis."

Would Combine Issues

Two councilmen, Messrs. William G. Butler and William G. Kirby said they favored presenting the proposals as one referendum.

The lone representative of a group of citizens seeking to promote the construction of the pool was Mrs. Barbara Schmitz, of 405 Madison road. She and her husband, Richard, are co-chairmen of the committee.

Mrs. Schmitz expressed disappointment at the new delay in council action.

Another Farms resident, Frank J. Taugner, of 42 Warner road, spoke in favor of the immediate presentation to Farms voters of the three issues under study.

State Suspends Driving License

A Grosse Pointe Park man, Dale Harold Naturkas, of 1245 Beaconsfield, has had his license suspended for 30 days by the state.

Naturkas, 22, lost his license last week because of an undesirable driving record. He was among 404 other Michigan motorists who lost their licenses last week. Fifteen other drivers had their licenses revoked.

Unregistered Voters Rush To Beat Monday Deadline

Traffic to the City Clerk's offices of the five Grosse Pointes was hot and heavy last Monday as last minute previously unregistered voters hot-footed it to the various city offices.

Monday, August 3, was the last registration day for the September 1 primary.

Over 750 Pointe residents procrastinated until the final day. Dilatory residents were greatest in the Woods with 219 waiting until Monday. The Park ran a close second with 186 late registrars. Midway between the least and the most late ones was the Farms with 170. It was a close race between the City and the Shores for fourth place. The City won it with 97 final day registrations while the Shores had only about 80.

The only local issues to be voted on by Grosse Pointe voters is scheduled for the City ballot. Residents will vote on

Many Rush To Support Of Teacher

News Accused of Unfair Treatment in First Account of Fatal Encounter Near Camp

Friends of William H. Jones, both in the Pointe and in the North, have flocked to his defense with stirring references to his personal integrity and teaching record.

Many letters to the NEWS this week expressed shock and disbelief at the charge of murder in the second degree that was leveled against Jones by police in Higgins Lake, Mich., on Saturday, July 26.

In the North, a member of the State Police has reported that Jones had gained an outstanding reputation among area residents in his 14 years of service at Camp Westminster, on Higgins Lake.

Financial Aid Offered

Jones was so well liked, and residents were so convinced of his innocence, that a group of residents has offered to put forth financial backing for Jones' legal defense.

Many letters from residents who know Jones came to the NEWS this week, most of which protested that Jones' account of the story had not been presented in last week's report in this paper.

Jones' testimony was made public after the NEWS' deadline last week.

Jones told the State Police that when he went outside, carrying a .22 pistol, to investigate shots and screams outside the Van Dusen Lodge, he saw a man, Clarence McLachlan, of Osceola County, beating a woman with his fists.

The woman was Mrs. Alta Frank, 41, of Roscommon. Jones told police he fired the first shots into the air to try to stop the struggle.

Woman Refuses Help

When Mrs. Frank called for help, Jones told McLachlan to stop and offered to take Mrs. Frank home, which she refused, according to Jones' testimony.

Mrs. Frank reportedly got into McLachlan's car. Then, Jones told police, McLachlan dragged her out of the car, and held her between himself and Jones.

He then pushed the woman aside, and started coming towards Jones. At a distance of about 10 feet from Jones, McLachlan reportedly raised his hand over his head, holding what Jones thought to be a weapon.

At this point, Jones fired, three times, at close range. Police investigating the scene later found a bottle, close enough to McLachlan's person that he could have been carrying it at the time of the final shots and then dropped it when he fell.

Woman Denies Beating

In direct opposition to Jones' testimony is that of the woman, Mrs. Frank, who told police that she had NOT been beaten by McLachlan. She held to this story after she was studied by medical examiners, whose report stated that she had noticeable and marked bruises.

State Police also revealed the details of another factor in

Burglar Enters Unlocked House

The house was left unlocked and unattended for an hour and the next morning $288 in cash and checks were missing.

This was the story Mrs. Leonard Wright, of 1688 Roslyn, told Woods police August 1. She said she believes the loot was taken the night before.

Mrs. Wright told police she had placed an insurance folder and some cash in a drawer on the night of July 31.

The next morning she found that most of the contents of the drawer were missing. Cash totaling $267 was reported missing along with a bank book, three Christmas fund books, and three life insurance policies.

An unopened check, believed to be in the area of $7, was discovered missing from another room, the study.

Woods police are investigating.

Voters Rush to Beat Monday Deadline

(Continued from Page 1) will vote on nominees for governor, U.S. Senator, Representative in Congress from the 14th district, senate and representative offices in the state legislature, prosecuting attorney, sheriff, County Clerk, County Treasurer, register of deeds, drain commissioner, County Auditor, delegate to county conventions, three judges to the Court of Appeals, three judges to the Circuit Court, and three judges to Probate Court. The only proposition on the ballot will be a county tax-rate limitation increase proposal.

Youthful Driver Loses License

He didn't like the looks of a boy on a motorcycle, so a Park boy ran the youth down with his automobile. This happened on July 3.

What became of the 16-year-old driver of the car? Last week a Detroit Juvenile Court referee revoked his driver's license for half a year.

If caught driving again, the boy's license will be revoked until he is 19.

The original charge against the boy sought by Woods police was for intent to do great bodily harm. He was finally charged in Juvenile Court with a reduced charge of assault with intent to scare or injure.

He pled guilty, was found guilty and now will not drive for a half a year.

The incident occurred on the corner of Fairholme and Paget drive. The boy struck down identified himself to Woods police as Rene R. Jacques, 20, of 739 Fairford.

Jacques suffered a cut on his left leg, and his motorcycle was damaged.

Fall Off Truck Injures Youth

A 16-year-old boy fell from a moving truck at the corner of Kercheval avenue and Berkshire road on July 29, and sustained a broken left leg.

The boy, identified as Michael Shock, of 1366 Bishop road, was rushed to Bon Secours Hospital by Park police ambulance.

The truck he was riding in was owned by Shock Brothers Tree Service.

Explanation Given Voters On Charter Amendments

(Continued from Page 1) the state does not reveal the exemptions until the last week of May. Eventually they would be given a refund, but another bookkeeping step would be necessitated, all at a cost to the taxpayer... not to mention the delay to those desiring tax relief.

2. Paying Bills

The second amendment would "correct an oversight which occurred at the time of the creation of the city manager's office in 1960," Cantwell stated.

By an oversight, a portion of the former city clerk's ordinance was overlooked, which stated that all City bills in excess of $1,000 should be brought to the attention of the council before they are paid.

No such provision was made, and the council is now legally bound by its charter to examine all bills over $1,000.

Could Cause Trouble

If the council did indeed look at all bills in excess of $100, they would have little time left to conduct other business, Cantwell said.

Actually, they have functioned for several years by showing only the $1,000 or more bills to the council, as is commonly practiced in the Pointe's.

Advice Offered By SS Office

If you are over 65 and still working, you should consult your nearest social security office.

Have you read or heard the above advice before but then failed to follow up on it? If so, this article is for you.

Most people know that in order to collect social security benefits for each month in the year, they must limit their earnings to $1,200 for that year.

What many people do not seem to realize is that even if one is over 65 and still earning more than $1,200 a year, it is possible that some social security benefits can be paid.

For each $2 of earnings over $1,200, only $1 of a beneficiary's social security payment is withheld.

For earnings above $1,700, $1 in social security benefits is withheld for each $1 in earnings.

However, regardless of total earnings for a year, the claimant can receive full benefits for any month in which he earned $100 or less, and did not "render substantial services" in self-employment. An application must, of course, be filed before any benefits can be paid.

Therefore, if you are 65 and still working, you should definitely consult your social security district office at 17721 East Warren.

Burglar Breaks Into Apartments

An unidentified burglar broke into four apartments above Crown Cleaners at 15319 E. Jefferson July 30.

The burglar gained entrance to the apartments by sliding a knife between the door and the frame of the door, disengaging the lock.

From the apartment of Mrs. and Mrs. Aaron Domine, the prowler escaped with $278 and a ring valued at $150.

Mr. Domine is a former patrolman of the Grosse Pointe Park Police Department.

Three other apartments were entered but nothing was reported missing.

Praise Pointers At Edison Co.

Two Pointe employees of the Detroit Edison company will be honored this month for their many years of service, according to official information.

Lynden J. Kaufman of 16814 St. Paul, will be honored for his 40 years with the firm; and Raymond C. Gillette of 408 Calvin, for his 35 years of service. Neither contemplates retirement.

Kaufman, who is manager of union relations for the firm, joined Edison in July 1924, as a tree trimmer for the overhead lines department. He is a member of the American Economic Association and the Industrial Relations Research Association.

Gillette, who joined the company in July 1928, is operating foreman at Edison's Conner Creek Power Plant.

The three were fugitives from Camp Lehman, located north and east of Grayling. Their escape had been made known to area residents by radio on the evening of July 24.

Police had recovered a car near Houghton that was stolen by the trio, and this news, also, had been put out on the radio that evening.

14th Republican District Speaks

We want YOU to consider this an invitation to join the leadership of the 14th District to elect the entire Republican ticket.

The present leadership was chosen by the precinct delegates in 1956, 1958, 1960 and 1962 according to Michigan law.

What results have we had?

In 1962 your 14th District organization was the only one in Wayne County which had an improvement in the Republican percentage.

What are our plans for the future?

We want you to help us build the Republican Party still more in the new 14th District. We want to intensify our present efforts — we want to spread the word of American, Republican, Constitutional principles. Volunteer your service to your official Republican headquarters at 15316 E. Warren. We are listed in the telephone book but for your convenience the telephone No. is TU 4-6410. However small a job may seem when you are doing it, it is essential to the success of the party as a whole.

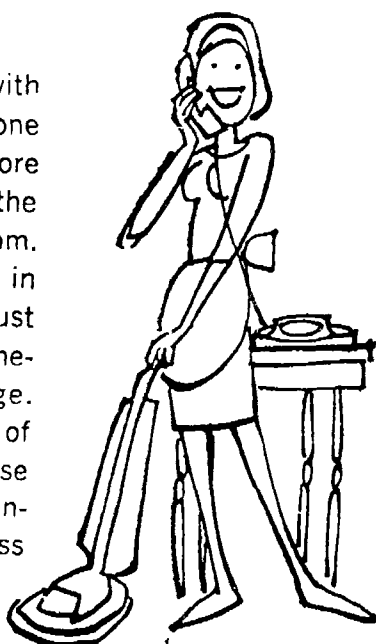

MICHIGAN BELL

COMPUTERS HELP US a great deal in providing you with good telephone service. But they can never replace the spirit of service so traditional with telephone people. That spirit is the very human concern which prompts our people to give an extra measure of helpfulness, wherever it's needed. And it's as much a part of Michigan Bell today as it was 'way back before computers were invented.

EASY NOW!

Life is so much easier, with a handy extension phone where you work. No more mad dashes to catch the phone in the other room. No more interruptions in your work. The cost? Just pennies a day, after the one-time installation charge. And there's a wide choice of attractive colors to choose from. To order your extension, just call our Business Office or ask your telephone man.

YEARS OF SERVICE—

without a single repair! That's a pretty common story with Bell telephones... even those that take lots of family or business punishment. Toughness is built into your telephone by the engineers at Western Electric, manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell System. They test each phone thoroughly before releasing it for installation in a customer's home. But if your phone ever does need servicing, don't worry. There's no extra charge for repairs!

Makes Coney Island Look Deserted

Low water in Lake St. Clair may be keeping some people away from the Pointe beaches, but there was no dearth of attendance last weekend at the Farms Pier Park, when the annual regatta was staged there. This is just one clot of kids who took part in the big doings. Looks as though someone may have dropped a nickel in the sand and the word spread fast.

Enthusiastic Crowd Drawn To Annual Farms Regatta

Margaret Gorski, 17, was crowned Queen at the Grosse Pointe Farms Regatta Saturday night, July 26. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Norbert C. Gorski, of 431 Chalfonte road. Margaret was crowned by Susan Mitchell, last year's Queen, and presented the queen's trophy by Lt. Governor John T. Lesinski, one of the 10 judges.

With the title of Queen, Margaret received a $100 gift certificate from Leon's, a $500 Series E savings bond, and the use of a 1964 Mustang convertible for one week, compliments of the Ford Motor Company.

The Queen's Court included Beth Backman, Jean Delsener, Maureen Mageau, Cathy Moxley, and Annette Wibbelman. Each girl received a gift certificate, a trophy, and a Series E savings bond. In addition, Maureen, the runner-up, received the use of a 1964 Pontiac convertible from Jim Causley for one week.

Decorated bicycles for the competition, approximately 275 of them, participated in the parade which featured the Queen and her Court and a display of new and very old automobiles. Among the most outstanding of the bikes were "Ajax," "Christmas in July," "I'd Rather Fight than Switch," and "Ben Hur."

Following the parade, boat races and the fleet review of decorated boats were held.

Last on the agenda for Sunday was the presenting of awards and trophies, supervised by Farm's Mayor William F. Connolly, Jr. A colored television was presented to Mr. Peschke. Portable televisions were won by Dr. John Koeber and James McKinnon. Claire Loeb and M. Moran won bicycles. Also, more than 20 transistor radios, barometers, and tape recorders were awarded. Nearly 130 prizes were won by boys and girls, from among an estimated 950 kids who participated in the children's events.

Boat racing awards were presented to Glen Bowles in the Sailfish category, A. T. Sempliner in the sailboat group, Tom Handlos in Hydroplanes, Jim Allor for outboards under 35 m.p.h., William Hassig for outboards over 35 m.p.h., and Vic Verhaghe in the unlimited class.

Awards in the decorated boat competition were presented to J. A. Meier with "Hickory, Hickory Dock"; L. Roddin, "President '64"; E. Lauer, "Beatles"; P. Holmes, "I'd Rather Fight than Switch"; R. J. Weyhing, "McHale's Little Navy"; and C. Clute, "Strapless Bathing Suit."

Others were G. Bowles, "Happiness is a Toy Boat"; G. Mertens, "Little Duck"; L. DeGalen, "This is the Life"; C. Adams, "Indian Tee Pee"; and H. Thompson, "Flag Ship."

Woods Council Approves Three Amended Ordinances

Three amended ordinances are a part of Woods Council action taken Monday night, August 3.

Other routine business conducted in the meeting included a vote of confidence to the Woods-Shores Babe Ruth League as hosts to the upcoming Ohio Valley Tournament on the Grosse Pointe University School field.

They also cleared up some cloudy issues about the use of the Woods municipal pool.

The first of three ordinances approved calls for new billing procedures for the construction of sidewalks. It stated that if required repairs are not made by residents within a specified time, the city may go ahead with the work and bill the local residents.

It also specifies a one percent penalty fee per month for those tardy in paying such bills.

The second revised ordinance sets up rules for procedure for licensing and operation of parking lots in the Woods.

A third approved ordinance throws in two additions to the Woods' present Uniform Traffic Code. First, it specifies a speed limit of 15 m.p.h. on all alleys, a provision left out of the old Code.

Second, it states that no person shall stop or park a vehicle on the area between sidewalks and curbs, without special arrangement with the Director of Public Safety.

The only exception to the ruling would be spots where a curb cut and driveway approach has already been constructed.

With the council's permission a large (four feet by eight feet) sign will be placed on Mack avenue at Cook road to publicize the upcoming Ohio Valley Regional Tournament.

A resident, Charles E. Rosiere, of 962 Roslyn road, had asked the council to look into the reasons why he had been prevented from swimming in all but certain small areas of the lakefront park's swimming pool, with not even a ladder to help him out of the pool.

The Woods directed recreation director Don Hallman to look into the situation, and at the Monday night meeting approved his letter in reply to Rosiere.

The letter explained that a part of the pool had been temporarily made available to the Farmers for swimming team practice. And, Hallman added, changes would be made so that residents would have a ladder to use during the swim team practice hours.

Council members thanked Hallman for his concise statement of the problem, and ordered the letter to be sent.

Quinn Retires From Chrysler

The executive corps of the United States automobile industry lost one of its senior members July 31, when E. C. (Ed) Quinn by retirement ends a distinguished career with Chrysler Corporation.

Mr. Quinn has held a number of high executive posts with Chrysler Corporation over the years, the latest one, that of group vice-president, domestic automotive, which includes responsibility for all U.S. automotive manufacturing and sales. He has been a member of the board of directors of the Company since 1954.

Mr. Quinn began his automotive career in January, 1919, as an apprentice toolmaker for Studebaker Corporation. During the next seven years, he received a varied training in mechanics, including experimental work and road testing.

He transferred to the sales department of Dodge in 1926, and was assigned to the factory branch in Detroit, where he remained until the branch closed in 1928.

He spent the following six years in the automobile retailing field in Michigan before joining De Soto in 1934 as a special service representative, working in Detroit and in Philadelphia. After about a year with De Soto, he was assigned to the Dodge Division as merchandising manager of the San Francisco region.

Later Mr. Quinn moved to Los Angeles as Dodge district manager and then became city manager. This was followed by assignments as regional manager in New York and Pittsburgh.

He served in the Dodge field organization for a total of nine years and was brought to Detroit in 1944 as assistant sales manager. The following year, he was promoted to sales manager and in December, 1947, was made general sales manager.

On September 4, 1951, Mr. Quinn was named vice-president and general manager of the Chrysler Division. He became president of the Chrysler Division in May, 1953, and was elected a vice-president of Chrysler Corporation a few months later.

While president of the Chrysler Division, he expanded manufacturing facilities, initiated a reorganization of the sales department and field force, reorganized manufacturing methods, and established a new cost control system. Under his direction the Chrysler 300 was developed as an American sports car, and the Imperial automobile was introduced in 1955 as a separate and distinct line of cars and as Chrysler Corporation's entry in the prestige car field.

On April 24, 1958, he was appointed vice-president and general sales manager in the corporate Automotive Sales Group. On June 1, 1959, he was named vice president-sales divisions, and was named to his present position in January, 1963.

But the world of cars was not his sole interest. He always made time to carry his full share of civic and community projects. And in this too his responsibilities increased with the years.

As a volunteer worker for the old Detroit Community Fund in the mid-1930s he was a door-to-door solicitor. In 1956 he was general chairman of the United Foundation of Metropolitan Detroit when the drive raised over $16 million for the first time.

An enthusiastic outdoorsman, Mr. Quinn supported the Boy Scout movement in a variety of capacities. In 1960 he was general chairman of the Detroit Area Council Boy Scouts Exposition at the Michigan State Fairgrounds, the biggest scouting activity of its kind in the mid-west.

For the past year, Mr. Quinn has been co-chairman of the Detroit Junior Achievement Fund Raising Campaign.

He is also a national and state director of the Volunteers of America and has served that organization since 1955 in a number of state and national positions.

As an outdoorsman, Quinn is a nationally-known hunter and fisherman. He has hunted big game in Alaska, the Rockies, Canada and on safari in Kenya, Africa. His fishing expeditions have taken him to deep waters of the Atlantic and Pacific and the trout streams of the High Sierras.

Born in Detroit, December 15, 1903, Mr. Quinn spent most of his boyhood in Parish, New York, near Syracuse, New York. He is a member of the Detroit Athletic Club, the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, the Recess Club, the Adercraft Club, the Economic Club of Detroit, the Detroit Board of Commerce, the Detroit Sales Executive Club and the National Sales Executives Club.

Police Seek Cooperation In Stopping Bike Thefts

Every week the reports appear on the police records of the Pointe. Just as surely as the sun will set and rise again next morning, more bicycles will probably be stolen on Pointe streets tomorrow.

And, in the opinion of the Pointe's law enforcement agencies, the constant loss of bicycles could be easily prevented. All that's needed is a lock.

The two areas most frequently hit by bike thieves are the lakefront parks of all the Pointes, and the areas of the Park closest to Detroit.

Perhaps the hardest hit spot of all is the Park's lakefront park, which combines both of these qualifications. There alone, nine bike thefts were reported in the month of July.

Park Police Chief Arthur Louwers expressed the opinion, of all the Pointe's police chiefs last week, in imploring residents to stop blindly believing the Pointe is immune to such petty thievery—and to buy locks.

Another security measure that could be easily taken would be to get a license for that bike, and make a note of the vehicle's serial number.

Then, if the bike is found, even if on the other side of Detroit, it can be traced to its owner.

If people would take this precaution, Park police wouldn't be forced to do what they'll have to do on August 29, at 9:30 a.m. Then, as in the past, they will hold an auction to get rid of all the recovered bikes that nobody has claimed over the past few months.

"We'd be more than happy to return these bikes to their owners, but there is just no way of telling who the owners are," Louwers said. Their serial numbers are not registered, and none of the bikes has a license.

Who steals bicycles? It's hard to pick out one group of people who steal bikes in most of the Pointe. There's no evidence that any bike theft ring is operating.

Usually it's just kids who get tired of walking, and "borrow" a bike, perhaps planning to return it or perhaps not.

In the Park there is a special problem of kids coming over from Detroit, picking up a bike or two, and riding back on them.

Often they ride into the Park, two on one bike and ride out on two.

Just for proof that such thefts are going on—and constantly—Louwers culled a couple of cases from his records, just from recent days.

On August 2, for example, two Detroit boys were apprehended on St. Paul near Harvard, both riding stolen bikes.

On July 28, an alert retired Park policeman saw a 15-year-old Detroit lad take a bike at Cadieux and Mack and followed the youth to Wayburn and Mack. The former patrolman, Tom Fraser, then notified Park police, who made the arrest.

This arrest resulted in the recovery of several more stolen bikes from the Park area, Louwers revealed.

Catch Dragster; Second Escapes

While cruising on Mack avenue, Farms Patrolmen Glanert and Farley observed two cars take off and head down Moross. They pursued the two dragsters until they caught them at Moross and Ridge.

As the two police officers halted one of the cars, the other car, a 1964 Triumph refused to stop. The policemen told the other car to follow them. He did so until the other car made a U-turn and escaped.

The police officers hurried the Triumph driver, David Alvin Doty, of Detroit, into the back seat of the police car, and gave chase to the other driver while radioing for assistance.

The second car finally eluded police between Mack avenue and Harper road near Bourne-mouth road.

The driver of the Triumph was charged with reckless driving, the result of excessive speed, drag racing, and failure to stop for a police car. He was to be arraigned in court on August 5.

BAD CAST

While fishing at the foot of Whittier July 25, Earl Hickerson, 12, of 3168 Newport, hit his head with a sinker. He was rushed to Bon Secours Hospital by City police, where stitches were used to close the wound.

MONEY-WISE

Three-fourths of the world is flat—it's no wonder we all feel so much at home.

Seek Solution To Lake Levels

Congressman Harold M. Ryan (14D-Dem) informed the Great Lakes Levels Conference, held on July 28 at Michigan State University, that he is doing everything possible in Washington to solve the critical water level problem.

"The economy of the Great Lakes Area, including Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, New York and Canada, depends on maintaining the normal level of water in all of the Great Lakes and the connecting waters," Ryan said.

"This year, the water levels of these lakes are at the lowest level ever recorded. The Great Lakes basin area will suffer a $100 million loss this year because of these receding lake levels."

The Congressman said that many of his constituents, particularly from the Grosse Pointe and Detroit-Alter area, have asked him to see what can be done about the declining levels of the Great Lakes and Lake St. Clair.

Ryan recently introduced a congressional resolution calling for a detailed study by the U.S.-Canadian International Joint Commission on the economic and technical possibilities of building dams and locks. "I believe the most practical, feasible solution to this problem might be the construction of dams or locks on the Niagara River, somewhat north of Buffalo, New York. At that point, the Niagara River is less than one-half of a mile wide."

If a dam were built on the Niagara River at that location, it would not, in any way, interfere with Niagara Falls," he said. "Shipping would not be affected by the establishment of such a project since all vessels and ships use the Welland Canal in order to avoid the unnavigable portion of the river due to the Falls."

Ryan, in testimony presented to the Conference, said that he is calling for a speedy and complete report from the Corps of Engineers on the building of control projects for the Great Lakes.

In addition, Ryan said that he would welcome any recommendations from the Conference regarding legislation which could be presented to the House of Representatives on this critical economic matter.

Durant Reports On Convention

Richard Durant, Chairman of the 14th Congressional District Republicans, and one of the delegates to the National Convention in San Francisco, expressed himself as "delighted" with the nomination of Barry Goldwater for President.

"This is a strong ticket," Durant said. "Barry Goldwater and Bill Miller represent the desires of millions of Americans for greater liberty from the Federal government at home, and a stronger policy against the Communist conspiracy overseas."

Michigan sent 48 delegates to the convention. On the roll call for the President, 40 voted for Governor Romney and 8 voted for Senator Goldwater.

Asked who the 8 were who voted for Goldwater, Durant listed Charles Grady and Walter Czarnecki from the 1st District; Ivan Stein and Eva Loupee from the 4th; Leonard Schoenherr from the 9th; Lillian Chambers and himself from the 14th; and Dorothy Benton, a delegate at large.

"Twelve delegates told me personally they would vote for Goldwater," reported Durant, "but the pressure was really put on to stay away from Goldwater. I guess that four of them couldn't stand the strain."

Durant related that, of the 70 some wires and letters he received while in San Francisco, only two were for a candidate other than Goldwater. All the rest were strongly in favor of the vote he finally gave. "This would indicate to me," he remarked, "that whoever says there is no ground swell for Goldwater in Michigan really doesn't understand how people are feeling."

"Furthermore," he went on, "a good many of the delegates who failed to vote for Goldwater came up to me afterward and expressed themselves as glad that he was nominated. They would have voted for him if they had been allowed to."

Durant was asked if he thought that Goldwater had a chance to carry Michigan in the general election this November. "I most certainly do think so," he replied. "I have been saying for months that Goldwater will have an easier job of winning the election than winning the nomination. Now that he has been nominated, I anticipate a campaign which will end with Michigan in the Republican column and Goldwater in the White House."

Durant related that during the last several months, while ringing doorbells in the Democratic sections of the 14th District, he had time and time again been told by voters that they had normally voted a straight Democratic ticket, but that if the Republicans nominated Goldwater for President, they would vote for him.

"This was long before the Civil Rights Bill vote," Durant said. "These people were thinking of the future of their country when they said that. And they feel, as I do, that Goldwater is the man who can best preserve that future."

Did he think Governor Romney would wholeheartedly support Senator Goldwater in the coming campaign?

Durant answered that it was most unfortunate that Governor Romney had allowed the impression to exist that his support of Goldwater would be anything but 100%. "I cannot conceive of a Republican nominee for the office of Governor in this state who would not support his Party's presidential nominee. If he fails to do so, I am very much afraid that he is guaranteeing his own defeat. But I am sure that this problem won't arise."

Both Durant and Lillian Chambers, the other national delegate from the 14th, said they were very grateful for the chance to have gone to San Francisco.

Young Driver Mixes It Up

A 16-year-old Farms boy was involved in a four-car accident on Thursday, July 30.

The boy, traveling west on Ridge road, lost control of his car and crossed into the east bound lane, ramming a parked car owned by Thomas Gibbsur of 1370 East Lawn in Detroit.

The force of the impact pushed the rammed car into a station wagon parked in front of it, and in turn, into another parked car. The two damaged automobiles are owned by Clyde Lee, of 13200 La Salle, Detroit, and Lyle E. Taylor of 2246 Belvedere, also of Detroit.

When questioned by police, the boy said his car accelerated so rapidly that he lost control and crossed the center of the street, ramming the three cars. He told police that his parents are in Europe and he is living alone at home.

ed for injuries at Bon Secours Hospital.

The driver of the car, Elizabeth M. Dwaihy, of 1326 Devonshire, was issued a ticket for entering an intersection without due care and caution.

As she emerged into Kercheval from Devonshire, going south, she was struck by a car headed east on Kercheval and driven by Albert H. Zimmerman, Jr., 17, of 1015 Buckingham. Zimmerman was given no violation ticket.

After being hit by Zimmerman's car, Miss Dwaihy's auto was thrown into a third auto, stopped at the stop sign on Devonshire, headed in the other direction. That car was driven by Marguerite Scott, of 5591 Bedford, Detroit, who was not injured and received no violation ticket.

Two passengers in Miss Dwaihy's auto were listed as having sustained injuries in the accident.

They were, Margaret Dwaihy, 19, and Anne Marie Dwaihy, 21, both of 1326 Devonshire. A fourth sister, Paula Dwaihy, 20, sustained no injury.

Both of the two injured girls were treated and discharged the same day at Bon Secours. Margaret sustained a bump on the head and Anne Marie suffered a back strain.

Shores Names New Patrolman

A new patrolman joined the ranks of the Shores Police Department as of Saturday morning, August 1.

He is Tom Zoia a resident of Detroit, who graduated from St. David High School in Detroit and spent three and a half years in the Detroit Police Department's training school.

The addition of Zoia boosts

the size of the Shores force to 18 men. Zoia will begin, for the first week or so, by doing desk work in the office to learn the operations in the department.

SCRATCHED BY CAT

Ruth Wolbrett, 29, a maid at 248 Provençal, the William B. Ford residence, was taking the family cat down the basement on Monday, July 27, when the cat scratched her right arm in three places. She was treated at Cottage Hospital.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT AT THE PRIMARY ELECTION TO BE HELD IN SAID COUNTY OF WAYNE, STATE OF MICHIGAN, IN THE REGULAR VOTING PLACE IN EACH ELECTION PRECINCT IN EACH CITY AND TOWNSHIP IN THE COUNTY OF WAYNE, STATE OF MICHIGAN, ON TUESDAY, THE 1ST DAY OF SEPTEMBER, 1964, BETWEEN THE HOURS OF 7:00 O'CLOCK A.M. AND 8:00 O'CLOCK P.M., EASTERN STANDARD TIME, THE FOLLOWING PROPOSITION WILL BE SUBMITTED TO THE ELECTORS OF SAID COUNTY:

TAX-RATE LIMITATION INCREASE PROPOSITION (No. 1)

Shall the County of Wayne increase the millage as provided in article IX, Section 6, of the State Constitution by one mill for a period of five years from 1965 through 1969 ($1.00 per one thousand dollars of State equalized valuation), the proceeds to be used to help meet the rising cost of County services, maintain hospitalization for the medically indigent, help furnish medical care of the aged poor, help care for and train juveniles under County care, help provide treatment for the mentally ill and those suffering from tuberculosis and maintain adequate public health, and safety services?

All registered electors may vote on the tax-rate limitation increase proposition.

This proposition is being submitted in accordance with the following resolution duly adopted by the Board of Supervisors of said County on the 7th day of July, 1964.

RESOLUTION OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF WAYNE

WHEREAS, diligent effort has been made to bring the County budget into balance, within the available millage allocated by the Wayne County Tax Allocation Board under statutory limitation, by pursuing every possible economy and yet provide sufficient funds to meet the ever rising costs resultant from providing essential minimum services to a rapidly expanding population in a period characterized by increased cost of commodities and personal services; and

WHEREAS, this available millage has not been sufficient to maintain services at a level to assure adequate health, welfare and safety standards for the citizens of the County; and

WHEREAS, the County will be faced with a deficit as of November 30, 1964, of approximately $16 million consisting primarily of unpaid bills due the City of Detroit and the State of Michigan for hospitalization and other social service functions; and

WHEREAS, the County has no alternative but to seek approval by the electorate of extra tax revenues to maintain minimum essential services without incurring further indebtedness; Now, Therefore, Be It

RESOLVED, by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Wayne, this 7th day of July, 1964:

1. That there be submitted to the qualified electorate of the County of Wayne, State of Michigan, at the primary election to be held in said County on Tuesday, September 1, 1964:

All public officials of the County of Wayne, State of Michigan, and all municipal units thereof, within such time as shall be required by law, be and they hereby are directed to do and perform all acts and things which shall be necessary to be done or performed in order to submit the foregoing proposition to the electors of said County at such primary election to be held on Tuesday, September 1, 1964.

LOUIS H. FUNK, WAYNE COUNTY TREASURER

THIS NOTICE is given pursuant to the statutes of the State of Michigan in such case made and provided and pursuant to resolution of the Board of Supervisors herein set forth.

POSTED BY PETER L. BUBACK, SHERIFF OF WAYNE COUNTY EDGAR M. BRANIGAN, WAYNE COUNTY CLERK

BARRY GOLDWATER dropped in on the Governors Conference in Cleveland, and former President Eisenhower, there to address the conference, looks surprised about something. Ike said he would support Goldwater if he is nominated by the GOP National Convention.

CRUISING GREAT FALLS—It appears to be the windshield of an auto but it's a motorboat, currently the only means of transportation in Great Falls, Mont., flooded by the Sun River. Montana's flood death toll was 28 the first two days.

EXPECTING—The parents of the only quintuplets to survive in the United States, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fisher, confirmed in Aberdeen, S.D., that she is expecting another baby. They did not say when the latest addition to their 10 is expected.

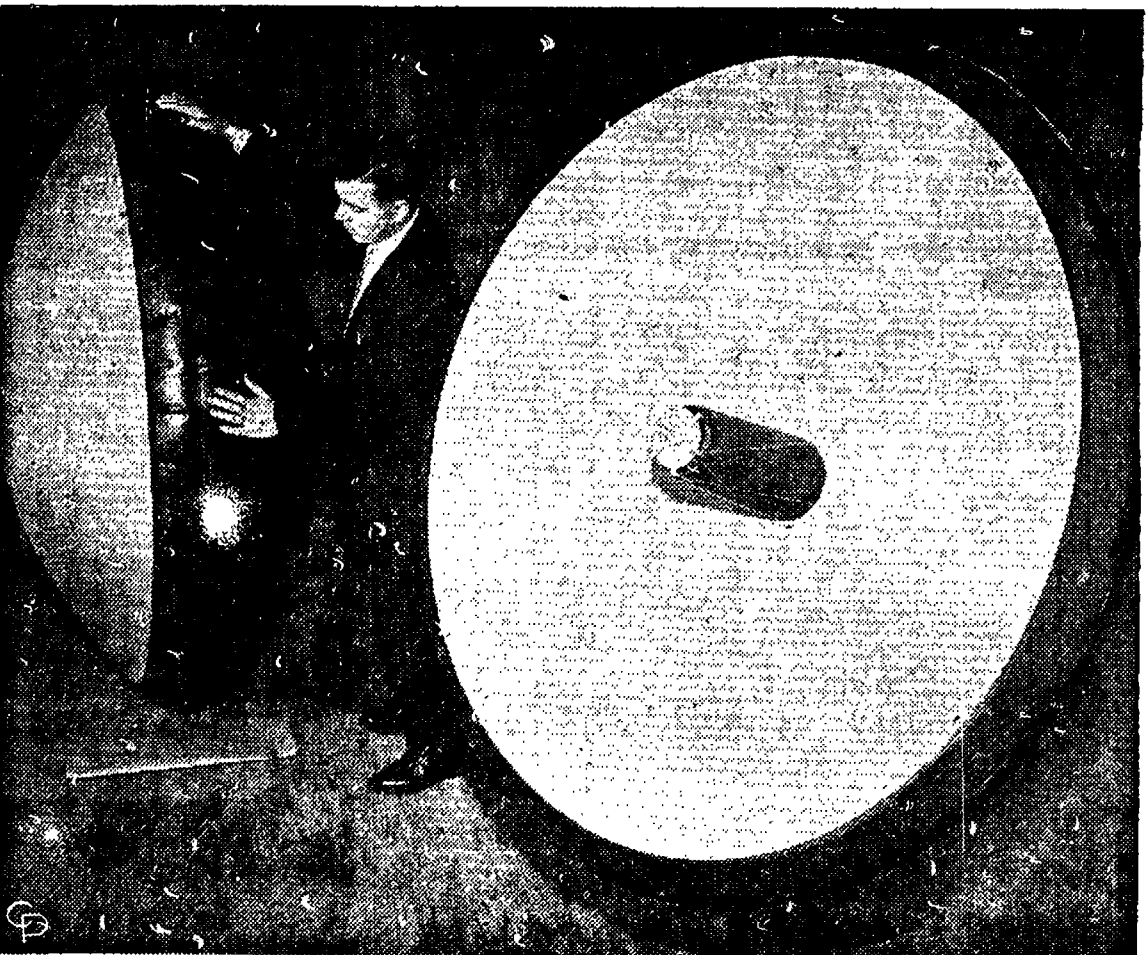

A BIT OF REBUTIAL—Rep. Arthur Winstead, D-Miss., displays a headline in Washington and argues that it shows civil rights workers in his state should "go home and clean up their own mess." Winstead represents the district which includes Philadelphia, where three civil rights workers are missing and feared killed.

IT'S A TRIUMPHANT EMBRACE as GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater greets wife Peggy on her arrival back at the San Francisco hotel from the Cow Palace.

BEATLES GET THE ROYAL TREATMENT—Attending royal premiere of the Beatles' first film, "A Hard Day's Night," Princess Margaret and her husband, Lord Snowden, chat with the singing group and their manager at the Piccadilly Circus in London. The boys are Ringo Starr, Paul McCartney, John Lennon and George Harrison. Their manager (right) is Brian Epstein. Outside the Circus, several persons collapsed in the crush of 20,000 adults and screaming teenagers.

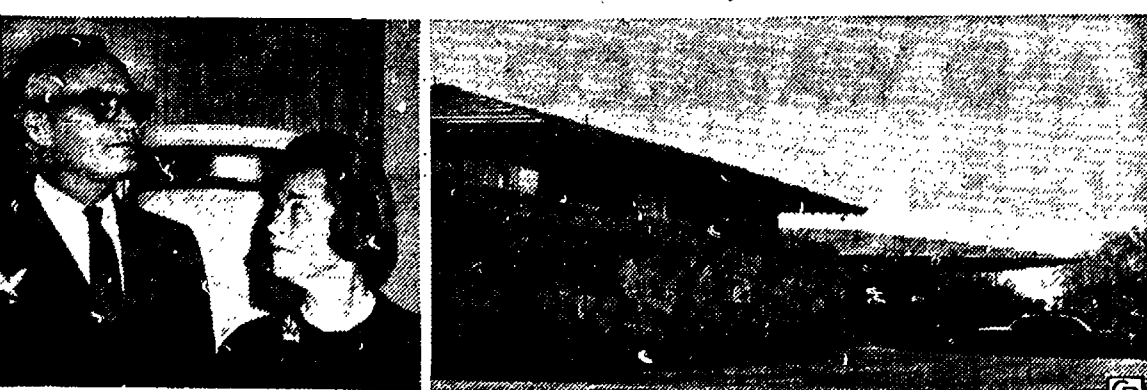

"INSTANT ANTENNA"—These inflatable antennas, shown at Goodyear Aerospace in Akron, O., are test models fabricated for the U.S. Army Electronics Command, Fort Monmouth, N.J., which wants such antennas for use by highly mobile forces. They can be inflated or folded for use again in a matter of minutes.

GOLDWATER: Jet Age Conservative

Barry Goldwater is an Air Force general and a qualified jet pilot.

Goldwaters have balanced family of two sons and two daughters.

Wife Margaret has been a staunch supporter throughout.

Senator's home is sprawling ranch-type in Phoenix, Ariz.

BACK TO TEACHER—Sandra Berge, now Mrs. Darrell Bearson, is pleased as about 25 of her second grade pupils show up for her wedding in Lake Nokomis Lutheran Church, Minneapolis, Minn. Even though school's out!

IN THERE SMILING—GOP presidential hopeful Gov. William Scranton (right) and former Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, one of his chief supporters, wave to a throng at their national convention headquarters in San Francisco.

JACKIE KENNEDY MOVING TO NEW YORK—Jacqueline Kennedy announced that she and her two children will sell their home (left) in the Georgetown section of Washington and move to New York early in the fall, where they will live in the 34th floor Towers Suite of the Carlyle Hotel (right). Her late husband, President John F. Kennedy, used the suite as headquarters on his trips to New York.

TWENTY-TWO IS COMPANY—Multimillionaire Harry Leeb toasts his bride, Maxine Lee Marcus, with champagne in New York as they look to departing on a honeymoon to Paris with 20 favored guests, all traveling on Leeb. He got rich being president and co-owner of a number of firms. This is the third marriage for each.

CONTRASTS IN CAIRO—Ethiopia's lounge suit-clad Haile Selassie and Dahomey's traditionally-robed President Sourou Migan Ahyi present a contrast at the Organization of African Unity in Cairo. But President Ahyi does display a speck of western style—that wristwatch, barely in view.

CITY OF GROSSE POINTE, MICHIGAN

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION

SEPTEMBER 1, 1964

(HELD CONCURRENTLY WITH PRIMARY ELECTION)

TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF GROSSE POINTE, MICHIGAN

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that a Special Election will be held in the City of Grosse Pointe, County of Wayne, Michigan, on the 1st day of September, 1964, at which time there will be submitted to the vote of the qualified electors of said City the following Charter Amendment Proposals:

PRESENT CHARTER PROVISIONS

Section 33. The fiscal year of the city shall begin with the first day of April.

Section 34. On or before the first Monday in January of each year the assessor shall make and complete an assessment roll of taxable property in the city, and shall submit the roll, over his certificate to the council. The subjects of taxation for municipal purposes shall be the same as for state, county and school purposes under the general law. The assessment roll shall be open to public inspection during the week of the second Monday in January, and notice to that effect shall be published by the clerk at least four days prior to the second Monday in January. Within the inspection period any person may file in writing with the clerk a complaint of any assessment, stating specifically the grounds of the complaint.

Section 35. The board of review shall meet on the third Monday in January to review the roll and to consider the complaints which may have been filed with the clerk and to hear any complaints which property owners may make in person, or by authorized agent. The board shall continue its meeting on such successive days as may be necessary to hear all complaints. Notice of the meeting of the board of review shall be published by the clerk at least four days prior to the third Monday in January. Before the first Monday in February the board shall complete its review of the roll, which shall, during the next fiscal year, be the basis for the levy and collection of taxes.

Section 36. Before the third Monday in January, each city officer shall submit to the city clerk an itemized estimate of the expenditures for the next fiscal year of the department or departments under his control. The clerk shall prepare a complete itemized budget for the next fiscal year and shall submit it to the council on or before the first Monday in February.

Section 41. Not later than the first Monday in March, the council shall, by resolution, adopt the budget for all municipal expenditures for the next fiscal year and such resolution shall provide for a levy of the amount necessary to be raised by taxation, which shall not exceed two per cent of the assessed valuation of all real personal property in the city. Upon adoption of the annual tax levy, the assessor shall prepare a tax roll before the twentieth day of March. The taxes thus assessed shall become at once a debt to the city from the persons to whom they are assessed, and the amount assessed, together with all charges thereon, shall, on the first day of April, become a lien on the property assessed, of the same character and effect as the lien created by state law for state and county taxes, until paid.

Section 42. One-half of the taxes levied by the city shall be due and payable on the first day of April, and one-half on the first day of July. On and after the 11th day of May, a penalty of 3 per cent shall be charged on all unpaid city taxes due April 1; and, in addition, on and after July 1 interest at the rate of three-fourths of one per cent per month shall be charged on all such taxes until paid or returned to the county treasurer. On and after the 11th day of August, a penalty of 3 per cent shall be charged on all unpaid city taxes due July 1st, and, in addition, on and after October 1 interest at the rate of three-fourths of one per cent per month shall be charged on all such taxes until paid or returned to the county treasurer. The city treasurer may receive payments of city taxes prior to the due dates, or may receive partial payments at any time, for which he shall issue temporary or partial payment receipts. In returning unpaid city taxes to the county treasurer, the city treasurer shall add all penalties and interest due on said taxes to date; and from and after the date of the return, interest at the rate prescribed by state law for state and county taxes shall be collected by the county treasurer on the whole amount returned against any description of property.

Section 16. An official of the city, theretofore either elected or appointed, shall be designated by the council to be purchasing agent for all city purchases. The purchasing agent shall have authority to purchase all supplies and materials for the city, except that the city council shall approve purchases exceeding $100 in value; but he may not purchase any item which exceeds any budget appropriation until the council has increased the appropriation as provided by this charter.

Section 51. The council shall audit and allow the claims and accounts against the city, or may delegate that function or any part of it to some other officer or officers. After such claims and accounts are approved by the council, or in such manner as the council may direct, vouchers shall be drawn upon the proper funds and certified by the city clerk. The city treasurer shall then pay the voucher by check, draft, order or warrant, which shall be signed by the treasurer or deputy treasurer and countersigned by the clerk, and shall specify the account from which payment is to be made.

Pressmen Relate Their Side Of Newspaper Strike Story

Editor's Note:—Last Wednesday afternoon the president of the Detroit Newspaper Pressmen's Union called the NEWS
after the publication in last week's issue of the letter from Lee Hills, publisher and executive editor of the Detroit Free Press, giving the management side of the newspaper strike.
Equal space was asked to present the pressmen's side of the story. This was assured, with the request that the copy be submitted as early as possible. The NEWS was promised the copy, then described as covering two and half typewritten pages, would be delivered by Friday afternoon. The following, covering more than five typewritten pages, was received at the NEWS office at noon on Tuesday.

The Detroit Newspaper Printing Pressmen's Union Local No.
13 of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants Union of North America, on July 13, 1964, were forced to strike the Detroit Newspaper Publisher's Association. This, the first strike in the history of Detroit Newspaper Pressmen, was premeditated by the Publishers on August 8, 1963. This date is very significant because, at this time, the Publishers accepted, under protest, press manning that has existed in Detroit since the year 1948. Press manning means the number of men that are required to operate the presses pertaining to the number of pages that a publisher desires to produce in a newspaper. During the years of 1952-53 the Detroit Free Press installed the latest in press producing equipment and at that time with neither the Publishers or the Union entering into conciliation, negotiation or arbitration agreed to the old press manning or the number of men on a press, and to the date of the present strike were producing more newspapers per man than at the Detroit News. But today, the Detroit News, with their installation of new press equipment, through their attorneys, insist on less men on a press and attempted to force Local 13 into arbitration.

The Arbitrator considered all the facts and possible repercussions and very justly notified the Publishers and Local 13 that the number of men required on newly installed eight-unit presses
at the Detroit News' Times Plant were negotiable and not arbitrable. On an eight-unit press, mechanical adjustments made by competent newspaper pressmen, result in the printing of a 128 page newspaper at the rate of 60,000 to 70,000 papers per hour, by the manufacturer's own specifications. This simply means that the Publishers in 1964 can print almost double the number of newspapers, since the press speed is ten years, or since 1954, has been doubled.
This is issue no. 1 (in present negotiations) which as you can readily see developed as far back as August 8, 1963. Many times during negotiations I personally have wanted the labor relations representatives from the Detroit Free Press and Detroit News to spend one complete night on a press that I am in charge of at the Detroit Free Press so that they could more readily understand the operation of a press. Inasmuch as I am a pressman and have been for thirty years, I would be willing to debate on television or in any other informational source with anyone in management, if you please. How could we be more realistic than this, when we understand and have been told that the Publishers want realism?

Issue No. 2 is another controversy of long standing; the payment of time and one half for the Saturday night and Sunday morning work involved with normal printing of the Sunday publication. And since I've men-per week. We must also face this fact, that if the Pressmen insisted on just working eight hour days and seven and one half hour nights including a thirty minute lunch period, that the Publishers should realize they would have to hire all new crews to complete the overtime that is so often necessary to complete their editions. We agree with the Publishers that a newspaper is completely perishable and you would not wait until the next day or night to complete yesterday's edition.

I certainly hope the Publishers realize into what position they may force themselves.

Issue No. 3 is another controversy, which is also an occupational hazard involving newspaper pressmen. During any shift the pressman must change from his street clothes into the almost forgotten overalls in this world of high standards of living. Why? Because a Pressman is in contact with ink, the mist from ink, oil and grease. Today with the high speed presses it is only natural to have more ink mist in the air that every press-man must breathe. On this subject of ink mist we must be fair and say that the Publishers have spent a great deal of money to eliminate this particular hazard, but to date there has been no real success. Getting back to the beginning of the shift when changing from street clothes into overalls we accept this twenty to thirty minutes we spend of our own time, as a hazard of the pressroom occupation. But at the end of the shift we asked for fifteen minutes of wash or clean-up time, even though we must spend much longer than fifteen showering to eliminate the ink, ink mist, grease and oil. It is necessary that we do this to make ourselves presentable in the society we live in. We would debate with any white or blue collar worker on the length of time it takes us to clean-up after being exposed to the ink, grease and oil during the course of a work shift in any pressroom. Speaking of the reality that the Publishers so often refer to, we were firmly convinced that when they refused to resolve this issue on clean-up time, that they would accept our conciliatory offer of management-provided work uniforms. Unmindful of the necessity for realism they rejected this offer, and we were of the belief that by making this reduced request that the Publishers would mandate a new agreement with the Pressmen.
They did not. In this democratic United States, and the Publishers would be the first we would inform, we just don't believe that this is free collective bargaining. Furthermore, the Publishers have told the newspaper Pressmen, and using their own expression, "we don't plead inability to pay," yet they don't think we deserve wash-up time, paid uniforms or any of the other issues.

Now for the moment, let us look back into the history of the labor movement. Many years ago we had an "industrial revolution" and why; sixty hour weeks, twelve hour days, with very low wages and no working conditions whatsoever. Without writing a complete historical narrative, just what did a working man have, be he skilled such as newspaper pressmen or otherwise? Also let us remember that in those first days of organized labor, if the employers could afford certain increases in pay and benefits they were given to the employees who most certainly are the majority and should share in the equities from the success of any industry in this great country of ours. I am sure that any true American after evaluating the proposals of the newspaper Pressmen here in Detroit, would certainly agree that there is and can be a compromise on the issues involved, which the Publishers say is impossible. The importance of successful contractual negotiations cannot be fully emphasized, and no one finds more testable
the block-out of a vital source of information to the general public than the newspaper Pressmen.

To state further the willingness of the Pressmen to consum-mate a new contract, so that we may all resume and preserve our normal existence, we have asked President Anthony J. DeArade of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants Union (our International) to come to Detroit and meet with the Publishers of both the Free Press and the News.

And when we say with the Publishers not their representatives.
I cannot help but think when coming home from church on Sunday just what goes through the Publisher's minds when they also are coming home from church. What really is their intent? Is it to keep the Pressmen's standard of living down, even when they have said and admitted that they do not plead the inability to pay?

Retiring Postman Presents Glimpses of Pointe's Past

After toting mail in the Pointe for over 20 years, Al Krause, 58, walked his route for the final time last Friday.

His past is filled with memories of a Pointe that was virtually uninhabited in comparison with today's community, where hardly a vacant lot remains.

For example, he recalls how after delivering mail for a great portion of the widely dispersed homes in what is now the Farms and the Woods, he used to go back and shoot pheasants with the butler and the chauffeur of one of the homes on his route.

He can remember when, not too long ago, there was a motorcycle policeman on Lake Shore road named Fred Duemling. Today, Duemling is Chief of Police and Fire for the Shores.

He can remember when, during the Depression while he was delivering in the Indian Village section of Detroit, he received a salary check for 57 cents one week.

At met his wife when her parents lived on a farm that stood opposite the present Pointe Yacht Club, which was then known as "Vernier's Dock."

Krause began carrying mail in 1929, and was moved to the Pointe service in 1934. For several years he was one of three mounted carriers who together serviced the entire Pointe.

The term "mounted" is misleading, he explained. Nobody carried mail by horse, as the term implies. But for years postmen drove trucks to the widely dispersed homes in the Pointe.

Then, in the '40s and after, postmen gradually shifted from trucks to their feet, until today there is only one truck route left, which services Lake Shore drive in the Farms.

After 20 years of delivering by truck, Krause took on a walking route. He developed a profound respect for the men who walk their long routes each day.

He also developed a "trick knee" and two very sore feet walking his route in North and South Deeplands, Stonehurst, Fairford, Clairview and Webber.

Warnings by the doctor could not be denied, so last Friday Krause said good-bye to the many friends on his route as he served his last day in the postal service.

Ahead of him, he revealed, is a chance to develop a life-long hobby, woodworking, into a part-time profession. People on his route, and friends, have caught wind of his remarkable ability with wood and asked him to do work for them.

He also has declared all-out war on some pesky crabgrass in the lawn of his home in Minneapolis road on the east side of Detroit.

"My wife and I are well, my home is paid for, and I'm pretty happy," he viewed.

Four Running For Congress

Four men, including two Grosse Pointers, have filed two candidates for the nomination of Republican Congressional Representative from the 14th district.

Filing at the County Clerk's Office were George Bashara, 211 Balfour road, L. (Try) Ruth, 985 Nottingham, Frank J. Skierski, 12008 Moran, Hamtramck, and Alexander W. Strong, 3233 Caniff, Hamtramck.

The 14th district, which experienced its first change in boundaries recently since they were first established in 1932, now has 417,000 persons and is very close to being the largest district in Michigan.

Honorable Carl Weideman, now a Wayne County Circuit Judge, was the first person to represent the district in Washington. Following Judge Weideman was Louis Rabaut who held the congressional seat for a number of years.

His tenure was broken for one term by Harold Youngblood. Mr. Rabaut then regained the seat in 1948 and held it until his death in 1961.

The present Congressman, Harold M. Ryan, was elected in a special election in February, 1962, to fill the vacancy created by the death of Mr. Rabaut.

The new re-shaped 14th district has eliminated the Jefferson avenue-Indian Village area and in its place now includes a large chunk of Detroit which extends west of Van Dyke, and Hamtramck.

UNITED NATIONS SECRETARY General U Thant went to Moscow today to try to persuade Russian officials to pay their bills. The United States has announced that it wants Russia's vote taken away unless it agrees to pay its assessed costs for Congo and Middle East UN peace-keeping forces. Moscow replied that it would walk out of the assembly if its vote is taken away.

MISS GREECE, a brunette from Athens, was chosen Miss Universe this evening in Miami, Fla. As part of her contest winnings for becoming the most beautiful girl in the universe, she received $75,000, a closet full of clothes, and a $10,000 personal appearance contract.

TWO BANDITS held up a jewelry store in Dearborn today and escaped with $500 in cash and several diamond articles of undetermined value. A woman behind the counter in the store talked the bandits out of harming her son, also in the store. The bandits escaped in a station wagon in which, witnesses report, a heavy set blond woman in Bermuda shorts was riding.

THE U. S. S. MADDOX, cruising in international waters, was attacked this morning by three unidentified gun boats. No damage was done by the shell fire aimed at the U. S. destroyer and no casualties were reported. A U. S. aircraft carrier, the Ticonderoga, aided the destroyer by disabling one of the PT boats and driving off the other two. The three boats, which attacked the Maddox off the coast of Communist N. Viet Nam, were later identified as N. Viet Namese.

AN AERIALIST, Captain Eddie, while attempting a leg spin, fell 85 feet to his death this evening at Tiger Stadium. He was finishing the last portion of his act, held as part of the Detroit Police Men's Field Day performances. A leather strap holding his ring broke and sent him spinning slowly to his death.

RACIAL VIOLENCE erupted in Jersey City N.J., this evening in a predominately Negro area. Thirty-nine police cars with helmeted officers were rushed to the scene. The crowd was dispersed only after pelting police with rocks, bottles and garbage. The disturbance began when a woman was arrested on drunk and disorderly charges.

Monday, Aug. 3
THERE WAS NEW RIOTING in Jersey City, N.J., this evening for the second night in a row. Shooting and looting occurred in the Negro section, injuring several people. Shots aimed over the heads of rioters injured two people as garbage, rocks and flaming Molotov cocktails were heaved at police. Officers who went into the midst of the demonstrators to bring out one of the injured reported that several Negroes have guns but as yet have been afraid to use them.

THE LONG-DRAWN-OUT STRIKE at the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. has finally ended. Approximately 3,000 members of Local 80 of the Building Services and Employees International Union voted this morning to accept a new three-year contract. The

THE ORGANIZED BOOT-LEGGING of pep pills and goof balls has spread throughout nearly the entire United States in recent years. ABOUT SIX COMMUNIST North Viet Namese torpedoes boats attacked two U.S. destroyers, the U.S.S. Maddox and the U.S.S. Sea Turner Joy, this morning off the coast of North Viet Nam. During the three hour battle, two of the attacking ships were believed sunk and two others damaged. No damage was effected on either of the U.S. destroyers, cruising in international waters. President Johnson has called a conference of White House and Congressional advisers.

A LARGE CHRIS CRAFT motorboat deliberately rammed a 20-year-old Michigan youth last night while he was swimming in a Michigan lake. The spotlight on the boat shone directly on the boy before the bow hit him full force and then sped off leaving him to die. A girl companion said the youth pushed her under the water yelling "look out" just before the boat hit him.

Luffers and Lubbers

By Bob Wells

The Grosse Ile Yacht Club Regatta, an annual trek from just off the front lawn of Bayview down to the tip of Grosse Ile, drew a fleet of 79 boats at the start last Saturday morning.

First boat over the finish line in elapsed time was Bayview's Meteor III, Hank Burkard at the tiller, in a time of 3:50.47.

Close behind him was another Class B boat, Charles H. Bowers' Maia, at 3:55.26.

Not too many local boats traditionally go down river for this regatta, but quite a few did this year, and quite a few did in good races; for example, Grosse Pointe Sail Club boats nabbed three of the first five spots among the L's.

Fine New Pool At Metro Beach

One of the largest swimming pools in southeastern Michigan was opened for public use on the afternoon of Saturday, July 11, when dedication and official opening ceremonies were held at Metropolitan Beach along Lake St. Clair near Mt. Clemens.

Ribbon cutting ceremonies were held at 2:30 p.m. following a diving exhibition featuring Dick Kimball and Hobie Billingsley, former national diving champions.

On hand to dedicate the pool were Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority Commissioners Thomas S. Welsh, Chairman and Macomb County Drain Commissioner who is a resident of St. Clair Shores and Bruce L. Monks, Authority Treasurer and Clinton Township Supervisor who resides in the Mt. Clemens area.

Other Authority officials present included Kenneth L. Hallenbeck, authority director, Edward S. Downey, controller, P. K. McWethy, secretary, and James J. Pompo, beach manager.

The six-sided L Shaped pool has two areas: (1) A general swimming area 165 feet (50 meters) in length and 95 feet in width, with water depth varying from 3 to 5 feet, designed to meet the demands of general swimmers although it has eight marked lanes and is adaptable for Olympic type competition or recreational meets and (2) a Diving L 76 feet in length and 50 feet wide, with greatest water depth at 12 feet. Two three-meter and two one-meter diving boards are provided.

The pool is located directly in front of the 6,000 locker bathhouse and faces the 1 1/4 mile of shoreline along Lake St. Clair that will continue to offer bathing to the thousands that visit the beach each summer.

Charges are 25 cents for use of a clothes locker and of the swimming pool, and tentative hours of operation are from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily. All girls and women are required to wear swim caps. Michigan Department of Health regulations require that all persons shower before entering the pool.

Estimated pool capacity is about 1,200 persons with space for an additional 400 individuals on the concrete deck. A seven-foot high glass screen will enclose most of the area with spectator seating provided outside the screen on three sides.

Made of prestressed reinforced concrete, the pool rests on many foundation piles to support the pool, eliminate differential settlement, contain the weight of the pool when filled with water and to help withstand the upward hydrostatic forces when the pool is empty.

The filter system consists of two diatomite filters and chlorine will be added as a hypochlorite solution. The process of recirculating the water is based on a pool capacity of 730,000 gallons which is completely recirculated and filtered every six hours. Water supplied from the City of Mt. Clemens Water Department on regular lines to Metropolitan Beach. To provide tempered water two heaters, rated at 2,275,000 BTU

Harry Huffaker Swims Straits

By Bob Wells

Harry Huffaker is at it again. The 24-year-old champion swimmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin S. Huffaker, of Middlesex boulevard, conquered the Straits of Mackinac in two hours and 45 minutes on Saturday, July 25.

St. Ignace attorney James J. Brown, who accompanied Harry (by boat), during his marathon swim, described the feat as "almost unbelievable."

The passenger ferry from Mackinac City to the Island covers the seven mile distance in 45 minutes. The only other person ever to successfully swim the Straits, Mary Margaret Revell, of Huntington Park, Calif., took seven hours and 28 minutes to get across in 1961.

Because of the drift caused by strong currents, Harry had to swim approximately three miles more than the actual Straits' distance.

According to reports, he climbed ashore near the Coast Guard Signal Station and said, "I'll have a bite to eat, then try to make it the other way."

A University of Michigan Dental School student, Harry leaves August 6 for England, and his second attempt at the English Channel. Last year, he waited five weeks for good weather, but eventually was forced to abandon the 1963 attempt.

He is in good shape for the 1964 try, having already swum across Lake Charlevoix and Crystal Lake early in the summer. The Charlevoix and Crystal Lake distances are both approximately 18 miles.

More than 125,000 high school students who completed driver education courses this year have been advised by the Automobile Club of Michigan to take yet another course this summer. The so-called home study course goes by the name of Parental Supervision.

Indicating the need for such supervision is the fact that last year alone, Michigan teenage drivers were involved in 252 fatal accidents, an increase of 31.9 per cent over 1962.

"An erroneous impression exists among parents that high school driver education alone provides all that is necessary to turn out perfectly safe drivers," states Ernest P. Davis, Auto Club safety and traffic director.

"The many benefits from this fine program are lost, however, if parents fail to exercise supervision after completion of the course," Davis adds.

To underscore this point the Auto Club has drawn up what calls a "Parents' Driver Education Check List."

Prepared with the co-operation of the Ann Arbor and Detroit Public School Systems, along with the State Department of Public Instruction, the pamphlet describes the driver education course and the limitations inherent in such a program. There is also a section for instructors aimed at pointing out areas in which a young driver needs further practice.

In addition, it has a separate list for use by parents which includes all the steps to be followed during the "after-training" supervision period.

The pamphlet has already been put to good use in Detroit and Ann Arbor, and the Auto Club plans to distribute the check list throughout the state to interested parents and driver education instructors.

"Several state legislators," said Davis, "have suggested that young drivers should be placed under close parental supervision for at least 90 days after receiving a driver's license."

Juvenile drivers have also been the focal point of other proposed legislation, the most publicized of which are plans to place teenagers under the point system, and to take the 16-year-old traffic violator out of juvenile court jurisdiction.

"Although these measures may have their place in an overall plan to reduce traffic violations by young people," Davis said, "a more significant step can be taken by the parents themselves."

"Re-entry of the parent in Michigan's driver education program will greatly enhance the young motorist's conduct behind the wheel long after the training period has ended."

Nels Olson Stars In All-Star Game

Nels Olson, whose mastery over high school batters led Grosse Pointe University School to an undefeated season, met with equal success in the American Legion All-Star game held at Tiger Stadium.

Olson represented Learned (pronounced LAR-ned) where he compiled a 7-2 record, and fanned over 70 men.

In the two innings which Olson pitched at Tiger Stadium, he fanned four men, allowed one single to right field, and walked one man.

Leisure time means nothing to people who fall to use it.

Student Drivers Get Good Advice

In Defense of Accused

Wounded eagles scream no more piercingly than did the devoted friends of a Grosse Pointe public school teacher following the appearance of the lead story in last week's issue of the NEWS. William H. Jones had been charged with murder in the second degree following the killing of a man at Higgins Lake, Mich. He had been released by the State Police the following day after posting a $5,000 bond. A hearing had been scheduled for August 19.

The general tenor of the letters received (a number of which are printed on this page), was that we had deliberately crucified, with malice aforethought, an outstanding citizen. Some writers implied that we had no right to publish the story at all; others that we should have buried it; practically all, that we should have included a detailed account of the many contributions to the community made by Mr. Jones, and his fine characteristics.

Pleading guilty to proffering a pretty poor journalistic product, we do have a few things to say in rebuttal to the charges lodged against us. We can start with the newspaper strike. Under ordinary circumstances, the Higgins Lake shooting would have been brought to the immediate attention of the Detroit dailies. They would have dispatched teams of reporters to the scene and other newsmen would have been assigned to digging up background material locally. Being a weekly newspaper, we have neither the facilities nor connections for this kind of coverage, and without the dailies, the shooting didn't come to our attention until close to deadline time. The State Police were contacted and the story printed was a faithful account of what we were told. Had we had more time, or more reporters, a much greater effort could have been put into preparing a complete account, with background material. Unfortunately we had neither. And the State Police at that time were not ready to release the testimony which had been given by Mr. Jones.

As for doing irreparable damage to Mr. Jones and his family, we simply cannot go along with this kind of reasoning. Fate had already accomplished its horrendous goal before a word was printed in this paper. Nothing we could add or detract would have given Mr. Jones, nor his family, immediate surcease from the anguish.

As the story develops it appears that the evidence is preponderantly in favor of the defendant. From what we have learned, details of which are contained in this week's story, acquittal seems indicated. We can certainly exclude Mr. Jones from the sorry, apathetic class which includes 38 New Yorkers who stood by while a woman was being murdered, or those who complacently allowed a diving Detroit woman to be raped, or those who passed by a man in a pool of blood on a Dallas street corner, rather than become involved.

Every opportunity will be provided for Mr. Jones and his friends to give all the testimony at their command. We hope nothing will interfere with a coverage complete enough to satisfy the most severe of our critics.

Judging by the magnificent esteem in which this dedicated gentleman is held by those who have been associated with him, we feel poor indeed not to have had the privilege of being among his friends. May their staunch support and complete faith comfort him and his during this most trying of times.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:—
I was not aware of the fact that the Grosse Pointe News is the type of paper that resorts to the cheap, disgusting type of sensationalism such as was used in your article on Mr. William H. Jones. This, however, seems to be the case.

Webster defines MURDER in the following way:
n. the unlawful and malicious or premeditated killing of one human being by another; also, any killing done while committing some other felony, as rape or robbery.

v.t. 1. to kill (a person) unlawfully and with malice. 2. to kill inhumanly or barbarously, as in warfare.

Webster then defines a MURDERER as:

n. a person guilty of murder. Even on the basis of your own description, this case really does not fit the definition of murder. It is true that Mr. Jones has been charged with murder in the second degree, but I contend that the News has no moral right to print an article slanted against a responsible, valuable citizen of this community who is not here to defend himself.

The News repeatedly used the word "murder," such as in the lines, "On the night of the murder . . ." "The site of the murder . . ." "The time of the murder . . ." I always thought that a man in this country is innocent until proved guilty. Mr. Jones has been charged with, BUT NOT CONVICTED OF, murder. Yet the News has apparently cast itself in the role of Prosecuting Attorney, Judge, and Jury, and through repeated use of the word "murder," convicted Mr. Jones all by itself.

I have known Mr. Jones personally for about the last four years. He is a good, kind, just, and intelligent man, loved by the great majority of his students, and known as a friend of a great many of their families.

He just this year took over as the head of the Grosse Pointe Youth Council, an organization sponsored by the War Memorial Association. He did so with great success. He worked through Community Services and taught swimming at Grosse Pointe High School through the winter. These are just two of the many things he has done in serving Grosse Pointe since he came here.

Is it morally right for the News to print an article on the basis of poor and seemingly scanty information, when the tone of this article puts a man's good name and career in jeopardy? I say NO!

Incidentally, Mr. Jones is the father of two children, and he is definitely working as Waterfront Director at Camp Westminster, owned by Westminster Church in Detroit.

Letter from Salsburg

By Alice Lungershausen

The enchantingly old town of Salsburg in Austria was wearing a crown of musical jewels all during the month of August. The annual Mozart Festival, honoring, also, this year, the centenary of the birth of Richard Strauss, has brought together the most glittering musical talent from all over the world, as well as an international audience of music lovers. To your writer, it has been an artistic revelation. Tickets to operas and concerts were sold out last December. Not a sleeping room is to be found.

The writer is fortunate enough to possess a press card from the Grosse Pointe News, as its representative to the Festival, and has received the greatest courtesy, with all red carpet treatment. Tickets to fifteen performances, as well as engraved invitations to all formal functions, have been forthcoming.

The opening reception, honoring the President of the Republic of Austria, Dr. Adolf Schnerf, was a unique and elegant evening gala, held in the beautiful Archbishop's Palace and attended by the dignitaries of the political and musical world.

Next morning, at the formal opening ceremony of the Festival, also held at the Archbishop's Palace, the elite assembly, which included their eminences Cardinal Tisserant and Cardinal Koening, was welcomed by the President of the Republic, the County Governor, Hans Lechner, and the Mayor of Salsburg, Alfred Baack. We were then privileged to listen to an address written especially for this occasion by the famous Spanish poet and philosopher Salvador de Madariaga and delivered by him. He praised the continuing virtues of Salsburg, birthplace of the immortal Mozart, in the interests of music and the theatre "which have made her the rose of all the cavaliers of music."

The performance of Mozart's

ster Presbyterian Church, for the past fourteen years, and that he has, indeed, been waterfront director at the Camp for the past several years rather than "reportedly working in the area as waterfront director."

Likewise, the fact that Mr. Jones has two children rather than one, could have been quite easily obtained.

Judgment of this event must of necessity be settled by due process of law, but in the meantime, I think that reportorial accuracy and decency would suggest that there are two sides to a story, and that it is pretty shabby treatment for a local newspaper to feature one of its own community youth leaders, residents and educators in such a regrettable light, before checking out a few more details.

Very sincerely,
Frank B. Walker, M.D.

Dear Mr. Edgar:—
I would call your attention to failure on your part to assume proper responsibility in the article on William Jones, in this week's issue of the Grosse Pointe News. Some of the basic "who, what, where, why" information was sadly lacking in the news article, to the detriment of the News and to the harm of a fine young man.

The important factor of why an action is taken cannot be overlooked by our culture. Too many people are not assuming responsibilities; here was a young man who was in a place of responsibility.

Please know that Camp Westminster has occupied an important place in the community for about thirty years. It has been the subject of warm commendations from leadership in the area.

Recall that over 100 girls and women were in one camp and that any man on the staff has accepted implied responsibilities for their safety.

Remember that Bill Jones has been an important member of that staff for years; that he has merited the warm regards of many people because as a teacher, counselor, and man, he acts forthrightly and with serious intensity. But know he is greatly interested in people; hence his choice of profession and his extra work with young people, thus his work at Camp Westminster.

There is more information on this case than you reported. Your article and headline are so slanted as to be harmful to a fine man, but have also done much to discredit the stature of your reportorial philosophy.

Very truly yours,
To the Editor:
The television announcer interrupted to report a raging fire on Lake Shore road. The excited radio announcer stated a city block on Lakepointe in Grosse Pointe Park was on fire, out of control. Both were exaggerated, although there was a fire on Lakepointe avenue in a beautiful large home. Nonetheless, the announcers could have been right. Fire can take control like this.

What Goes On at Your Library

By Virginia Leonard

Have you entered the topos bathing suit controversy? With the recent sizzling summer weather, I'm sure you've thought of swimming and other equally cooling activities. And, if so, perhaps you noted in the June 21 issue of the DETROIT NEWS a full page advertisement put out by Federal's Department Store announcing that they did not carry topos swimsuits.

Why? It seems, their ad states, that seventy-five years ago, Anatole France, in his classic PENQUIN ISLAND brought out the important point that "nothing enhances the female figure like concealment." In this story, it is the little female penguin, attired in a rose-colored tunic, who has all the male penguins following her, while her unclad feminine companions are overlooked.

On June 24, the DETROIT NEWS reported that as a result of this advertising, the Federal Department Stores had been swamped with telephone calls from Detroiters in praise of the store's policy on this issue. One woman said she hadn't read Anatole France in years, and the quotation brought back pleasant memories.

It was Joseph Ross, president of Federal's, who remembered reading the aforementioned book 25 years ago, and took off for the Royal Oak Public Library, arriving in the evening just at closing time. The book was found and away went Mr. Ross to consult with his art director and copy chief for an all-night session. And the final result? The full-page advertisement. At the end of the week, sales of Federal's non-topless swimsuits were up 35 per cent over the same week of the previous year.

Since public service is our business; since our aim is to get the right book to the right person, we couldn't help but be pleased that it was a library that supplied the book that was responsible for this advertisement and its tremendous success. And there are at least two by-products: Anatole France's books (especially PENQUIN ISLAND) conceivably are more popular—at least for a while. Secondly, it is heart-warming to the librarian to know that his or her book selection, research-these announcements. Worried residents waited to hear more and were much relieved to hear our firemen had put a beautiful stop on this fire, confining it to only two rooms of the house that otherwise might have been completely demolished.

While our firemen are inside, our policemen are outside keeping people from being too close. These men are needed also but at this moment these same policemen are being paid by our city 10c an hour more than our firemen for what is known as "hazardous" work. At this moment, whose job is more hazardous—the fireman running into a burning building or the policeman keeping order outside?

I feel, and I am sure many of you share my thoughts, that BOTH the police and fire departments are vitally important to a community. BOTH departments serve their people and BOTH have a hazardous job in serving them. Should it be fair then that one department receives night differential pay while the other doesn't? Why don't we ask our city about this?

P.S. I would appreciate this being published so our residents might know about this fact.

LOSSES WRISTWATCH
Patricia Gross, of 228 Ridgemont, reported to Farms police that she lost a silver Waltham lady's wristwatch with a silver stretch band. Information should be phoned to the Farms police or to Miss Gross.

To the Editor:
Because of the public's inability to attend its governing body's meetings, it must depend on community newspapers for information.

Your excellent report on the Park Council passing of the Reciprocal Refrigeration Code was keenly interesting, but incomplete. However, it is a good example of a newspaper's public service to its readers and the community.

Congratulations are in order to Councilman Kent Zimmerman for the prevention of the passing of the full proposal of an unnecessary and harassing ordinance. It is also understandable why Councilman Zimmerman pulled his punches in stopping the whole ordinance for half a loaf.

Our community could be further served if it was informed of the background of the Ordinance, such as: the need, necessity, how it came about, who proposed it and why?

Police Records Produce Gems

Two odd items from the records of Pointe police are here assembled: they are not of exceeding news importance, but each just goes to show that people do funny things in the Pointe in the summertime.

The first is a tale about a would-be burglar (maybe). It seems that Mrs. Clayton Coffman, of 2029 Kenmore, observed a young male in beige bermuda shorts walking into her garage July 31.

She stopped him, asked him what he wanted in the garage, and the boy gave the following answer:

First, he "wanted to check the beetle trap" and second, he wanted to find something to protect himself from the dog. (The only dog Mrs. Coffman thought he could have been talking about, her own, was locked inside the house at the time.)

Then the boy walked to the front of the home and got into a car and drove away.

The second item is about a night time theft in the parking lot of the Woods Theater on August 1. While Alfred J. Bonahoom, Jr., of 1336 Lochmoor was in the theater, someone removed the rear bumper from his Volkswagen and made good his escape.

Nothing too earth-shaking . . . just odds and ends from the Pointe police, who write down everything.

How to add years to your life

By Fred Kopp, R. Ph.

100 years ago the average American could expect to live about 40 years. Today—about 70. Modern sanitation, diet, drugs, and medical practice have added 30 years to our life span. And note that 70 is average. Many die sooner. Many live longer. You up your chances of being a "longer" if you eat properly and get proper medical care. This means periodic check-ups by your physician. As pharmacists we are pleased to help you by supplying the drugs your doctor prescribes—drugs unknown a century ago. We're so conscious of the effectiveness of modern medicine that we're shooting for a life span of 100 years. How about you?

From Another Pointe of View

By Janet Mueller

All along the Detroit River and lower Lake St. Clair, yacht and boat clubs are celebrating summer with traditional festivals, planned to take full advantage of the warm weather, water season.

First of the midsummer parties was last Saturday's Aqua Follies Ball at the Detroit Boat Club, an Other-World affair with theme and decorations straight from outer space.

The scene will shift up the lake this Friday and Saturday evening, when the Showboat docks at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club; then move downriver again, for Detroit Yacht Club's annual Venetian Night party August 15.

Showboat

The Grosse Pointe Yacht Club is celebrating a 35th anniversary. The present clubhouse, now a Lakeshore drive landmark, was formally opened July 4, 1929, with a gala lawn party.

This summer's Saturday Showboat party promises to be equally gala. Festivities are to begin, as always, with the Commodore's Review, scheduled at 6 o'clock; the party follows immediately on the heels of the Review.

There will be cocktails, served on the lawn, a piping hot charcoal broiled steak dinner, and dancing, to the music of Al Navarro's Band and the Jack Qualey Orchestra, under the stars from 8:30 until way past midnight.

Showboat sponsors include Commodore and Mrs. Edward J. Schoenherr, Vice Commodore and Mrs. Harold E. Cross, M.D., and Rear Commodore and Mrs. John W. Paynter.

More are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Bartholomew, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Hart, Mr. and Mrs. James A. MacAlarney, Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. John F. DeHayes, Mr. and Mrs. Byron J. Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas K. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Leo M. (Continued on Page 22)

1,076 Pointers Belong to YW

The Young Women's Christian Association of Metropolitan Detroit, a Torch Drive agency whose purpose is to develop to their fullest capacity as individuals and as leaders, girls and women from seven to seventy and beyond, listed 1,076 Grosse Pointe residents as members during the past year.

The aims of the YW are carried out through clubs, interest groups, discussion groups, classes, social and recreational events, housing, counselling, co-ed activities, camping trips. They also touch on such matters as health, the arts, family relations, personal relations, vocational, religion, public affairs, and world fellowship.

The YW also carries on a continual process of education and action in the field of public affairs and world fellowship as they relate to the lives of women and girls, and the world in which the YW operates in 71 countries.

During the past year the YW of Metropolitan Detroit had a membership of 72,046. A total of 792,008 attended its various activities.

The YW program is carried out in six buildings and a camp. The buildings are at 2230 Withcraft street, 13130 Woodward avenue, 25940 Grand River, 3211 Fort street, Wyandotte; 15800 E. Ten Mile road, East Detroit; and 839 South Crooks road, Clawson. The camp is on Lake Huron, 4 1/2 miles north of Lexington, Mich.

The YWCA of Metropolitan Detroit is the second largest YW in the country. In 1955 its Dearborn Branch, at 1034 Monroe Boulevard, became a separate agency known as the YWCA of Western Wayne County, and was accepted for full membership in the National YWCA. It has 4,989 members.

The YWCA provides a home for hundreds of girls who come to Detroit every year with no friends and often with no funds. It helps girls and women to find friends and interests. Professional counselling is provided for girls and women with problems.

The YW program starts with sub-teen girls, helping them to live and work and play together. Teen-agers prepare for a future by serving others and preparing for responsible citizenship. Mothers are provided with a "Ladies Day Out," when they can enjoy themselves while their children are entertained.

Physical fitness is stressed in the YW program, with gym and swimming and outdoor sports classes.

The YW fits its program to the needs of the times by decentralized activities, taking its activities to neighborhoods and housing units to accommodate girls and women who have not found their way through the doors of the YWCA.

Behind all YW activity is the purpose expressed by its founders more than 100 years ago: "to build a fellowship of women and girls devoted to the task of realizing in our common life those ideals of personal and social living to which we are committed by our faith as Christians."

Maryann Delsener Wed In St. Paul's

Speaks Vows to Robert Emery Gesell Saturday; Reception at Stouffers Follows Rites; Pair To Live In Bedford Road

St. Paul's on the Lakeshore was the setting Saturday for the marriage of Maryann Catherine Delsener, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony H. Delsener, of Ridge road, to Robert Emery Gesell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emery J. Gesell, of Lexington road.

The Reverend Father Jerome C. Singer officiated at the Nuptial Mass and double ring ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of white silk organza with re-embroidered Alencon lace accenting her neckline and fitted bodice. Her controlled skirt featured a Cathedral train.

She wore an original Italian mantilla, also of Alencon lace, and carried an arrangement of stephanotis and ivy, centered with an orchid.

Jeanne Delsener was her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Pamela Glynn, and Kathleen Cleary, the bride's cousin, from Huntington, L.I.

They were dressed identically in floor length gowns of yellow Swiss embroidered lawn, fashioned with full sleeves and bows at the waistlines. Their headpieces were crowns, with short veils, designed with red, orange and yellow flowers, matching the embroidery on their dresses.

When they return from a short wedding trip, the newlyweds will make their home in Bedford road.

Even after a pessimist finds trouble he isn't satisfied.

Quartets Gather At Dossin Home

Ernest J. Dossin entertained members of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Singing in America, Inc., at an informal get-together, barbecue and song-fest in the backyard of his North Oxford road home last Thursday evening.

This is the third year Mr. Dossin has had the mid-summer party. His neighbors look forward to the annual event almost as much as he does; for once, the complaint is not too much noise too late at night, but "Why don't you keep on singing all night long?"

Guests at the stag affair, all members of the Detroit Yacht Club Yachtmen's Chorus, included DYC's Past Commodore Paul Roth, DYC Vice Commodore George Levetz, and Kenneth E. Palmer, president of the Yachtmen's Chapter of the SPEBSQSA.

More were John W. Baker, Eric Daniels, Dr. Sherman Fonce, Fred A. Foru, Ed

Hebert, Fred Kaess, Bill Montgomery, Dr. Charles Sharrer, John Shorter, John A. Theuerkorn, Ray Vanderbush, Ernie Jennings, Dr. Gerald Jordan, Yachtmen's director Gordon Laing, and Lou Herrington, secretary of the National Society.

Still more among the 45 or so men who gathered for a convivial evening were DYC Vice Commodore George Wilson, and John Welch, a charter member of the Society.

'First' Society Having Party

Riding high on August 7 at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club will be the members of The First Society of Detroit as they host 300 guests at their summer party. Al Navarro and his band will provide music for indoor and outdoor dancing.

Friday evening's party marks the Society's third get-together of single people interested in fun and charity. Funds raised by The First Society will again go to the new Children's Hospital.

Early in 1963, several young adults felt a need for an organization through which single people could have an opportunity to contribute to the well-being of the Greater Detroit area.

Thus, The First Society of Detroit, a non-profit corporation, was founded to financially support charitable endeavors.

They have found that parties, for single people only, in gracious settings achieve this aim in an enjoyable and imaginative manner.

Attendance at functions sponsored by The First Society is limited and by invitation only.

Members of the Board are: Mary Bodle, Elizabeth Bogden, Gus Butterbach, Edward Deeb, Mary Lou Dominico, R. Randolph Hippler, Carmen Jennings, Karen Kelly, Joan Kolodziej, Joe LaRue, Alice Limperis, William Paddock, Lyle Poag, Marc Prass, James Smith, Hilda Tadeo, and Kay Wise.

Mrs. Joyce was playing in a foursome which included her husband and Mr. and Mrs. Al Frost.

Museum Reveals Big Kresge Gift

Jerome P. Cavanaugh, Mayor of the City of Detroit, has accepted a $500,000 grant from Stanley S. Kresge, president of the Kresge Foundation, towards a million dollar addition to the Detroit Historical Museum. The City has appropriated $500,000.

In thanking Mr. Kresge, Mayor Cavanaugh said: "This is another splendid example of the willingness on the part of our citizens to contribute to the cultural growth of Detroit. The Kresge family has already done much for this city. On behalf of the people of Detroit, I thank Mr. Kresge. The new wing of the Detroit Historical Museum is much needed to enhance the fine displays on exhibit there. The kind generosity shown here today is something many other leading citizens could well note and perhaps start thinking about doing something that will aid in the growth and beauty and culture of their city."

The grant will be used for the construction of an addition to the Detroit Historical Museum, to be known as the Kresge Exhibit Hall.

The Kirby avenue entrance to the building will become the Youth Education and Business Entrance to the Museum, providing greatly needed facilities for educational tours and programs for the nearly forty thousand youths who come to the Museum for special tours. The added space will also relieve congestion for visitors, as the Detroit Historical Museum now has the highest attendance of any local history museum in the country.

The addition will be built to the west of the present Museum building, and will add nearly 50,000 square feet of floor space, doubling the size of the present building. This will make available greatly needed exhibit space for the Museum's growing collection of Detroit history materials, in addition to providing needed office and lecture room area.

Present at Mayor Cavanaugh's office for the presentation were members of the Detroit Historical Commission; President George W. Stark; Vice-President, Leonard N. Simons; Hazen E. Kunz, Mrs. Wilson W. Millis; and Gordon O. Rice, immediate past president of the Detroit Historical Society who was instrumental in initially calling to the attention of the Kresge Foundation the urgent need for the expansion of the Detroit Historical Museum. Also present were Paul L. Penfield, president of the Detroit Historical Society, Henry D. Brown, director of the Detroit Historical Commission; and Amos Gregory, secretary of the Kresge Foundation.

Young Runaway Changes Mind

An eight and a half year old Farms girl announced to her mother last Thursday, July 30, that she was going to run away from home.

After she departed, her mother called police, who arrived on the scene shortly thereafter. Before the police officer finished filling out his report, the run-away decided this just wasn't the right time to travel and returned home to her mother.

Kennedy Library Funds Solicited

The appointment of Prentiss M. Brown, former U.S. senator and Michigan civic and business leader, as co-chairman of the Michigan Committee for the John F. Kennedy Library was announced recently by Eugene R. Black, chairman of the national fund drive.

Mr. Brown will assist John B. DeVine, Ann Arbor attorney, chairman of the library's fund drive in Michigan. An intensive statewide campaign will begin immediately. Mr. Brown said. Other members of the Committee include Michigan Governor George Romney and Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanaugh. William A. Mayberry, chairman of Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit, will serve as treasurer of the Michigan Committee.

"The Michigan Committee will seek in excess of $1 million from business, industry, foundations, and the general public as Michigan's gift toward construction of a living memorial to the late President," Mr. DeVine said.

"While we recognize some Michigan citizens already have made contributions directly to the Library Fund in Boston, we are confident many of our citizens will want to be identified with this project on a state level as well," he emphasized.

The Kennedy Library will be built in Boston on a site along the Charles River donated by Harvard University. It will be built by voluntary contributions from the American people at a cost of approximately $10 million.

When completed, the Library will house the personal papers, mementoes and other objects associated with the Kennedy Administration. It also will serve as an educational and historical center for future generations of Americans.

As is the case with the Hoover, Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower libraries, the Kennedy Library will be operated by the Federal Government. Unlike other Presidential libraries, however, the proposed Kennedy Library is the first to be erected in a large metropolitan area.

"We urge those who wish to take part in this effort to send their donations, of any denomination, to Kennedy Library, P.O. Box 659, Detroit, Mich., or directly to John F. Kennedy Library, P.O. Box 2500, Boston, Mass.," Mr. DeVine said.

President Lyndon B. Johnson is honorary chairman of the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library.

An ordinance to amend Section 18.8 of Ordinance No. 37, entitled "An Ordinance To Regulate the Construction of Sidewalks in the City of Grosse Pointe Woods, to provide for the Issuance of Permits Therefor and the Payment of Inspection Fees" adopted March 18, 1941, as amended, being Chapter 18 of the "Code of the City of Grosse Pointe Woods of 1953".

THE CITY OF GROSSE POINTE WOODS ORDAINS:

Section 1. Section 18.8. Whenever the City Council, shall by resolution, declare the necessity for and direct the construction of or reconstruction of sidewalks, crosswalks or driveways in any street in front of or adjoining private property, it shall be the duty of the City Clerk to notify the owner or party in interest where such sidewalks, crosswalks or driveways are to be constructed or reconstructed in front of any land or parcel of land or adjacent thereto, by United States mail, addressed to the last known address of such owner or party in interest. FIRST OFFERING

EXACTLY FITS the description outlined by so many of today's home buyers—Colonial architecture, approximately ten years old, four bedrooms, at least two and a half baths, large family room, and in "the right location." On a limited access street in the Shores. $50,000

THE FIRST BLOCK off the lake on beautiful Oxford Road. This French inspired house is perfect for the small family or couple who want immense but not too many rooms. All three family bedrooms are on the second floor, each with its own bath. Off the kitchen is a room and bath for stay-in-help. Library and family room, plus large living and a separate dining room.

AND BY APPOINTMENT

SO MUCH EYE appeal from the curb that we'll probably have to ask you to curb your enthusiasm until after we leave the premises. The fact that this center hall colonial has four tremendous bedrooms on the second floor is enough to arouse the attention of many, but for those who desire that fifth bedroom and the third bath, seeing this one is a must. On the first floor is a 32-foot living room, large dining room, and separate modern kitchen with breakfast room. Full basement with paneled recreation room and fireplace. Priced in the low forties.

COULD BE the best half hour investment you make for yourself and your family. Allow us this much time to show you a charming farm colonial on Kadnor circle. Four bedrooms and two baths plus library and family room. Priced at $37,500.

SO MUCH HOUSE for so little money. Does your family require at least three bedrooms but could also use that extra bedroom or study? Well this home in the Farms has such a set up, and also boasts a paneled den on the first floor and spacious kitchen. Bath and a half. Priced in the mid-twenties where so many buyers qualify. So don't let this one get away.

A STately HOME located in one of the Pointe's newest addresses. WEBBER PLACE. Four family bedrooms, plus a maid's room and bath. Magnificent foyer which opens all the way to the second floor.

THIS ONE SPEAKS for itself. Its distinctive appearance from the street calls you inside to see more. Once there you'll be amazed how the house "opens up" with large proportioned living and dining rooms, each with their individual fireplaces. There is also a modern kitchen, and that all important family room. Upstairs you'll be surprised to find five bedrooms and four complete baths. There is also a full basement with paneled playroom and copious storage rooms, laundry and furnace rooms.

THE PERFECT HOME for you who must have bedrooms for a large family. Besides four bedrooms and two baths on the second floor there are two more rooms and two baths on the third. The sprawling first floor has two extra rooms, one for grown-up entertainment and one for the kids. All this is in this fine home on Rivard Blvd., just a block from Kercheval.

"Nothing is achieved before it is thoroughly attempted."

who, where and whatnot

by whoozit

Two charming little ladies . . . Senior Citizens, enjoyed the best $2 dinner of their lives at the opening of the Meadow Brook Music Festival, on Thursday, July 23. As Mrs. Paul D. Bagwell, of Devonshire road, Music Festival chairman for the Grosse Pointe area, tells the story, the ladies came to the Festival grounds, prepared to pay for an as-advertised picnic supper before the concert. The picnic supper was being served at the far end of the grounds, near the Concert Shell; meanwhile, on the terraces of Meadow Brook Hall, Music Festival committee members and various dignitaries were enjoying a magnificent sit-down dinner, complete with filet mignon main course. The visiting ladies wandered in the wrong direction, saw food, being served out-of-doors, drew the obvious conclusion, and presented their $2 to a passing waiter. They were seated and served—and not until the end of the meal, when speeches were being made, "thank-yous" given and acknowledged, did they realize their mistake, as Oakland University Chancellor D. B. Varner introduced several "special guests," including the two picnickers in the list of people he wished to signal out for special recognition.

Lovely name for a sailing ship . . . "Whisper," owned by Milton Cross, Jr., of Oxford road.

Look again . . . at the August college issue of "Mademoiselle" magazine, where Mary Leslie Renchard, of Charlevoix avenue, a Pointe debutante this past June season, models a tweed coat and a sleeveless, worsted blouse and skirt costume. Leslie is a student at Bradford Junior College.

Wonderful name for a power boat . . . (especially if you happen to be of Scandinavian descent): "The Viking," chosen by the Roy K. Ericksons, of Moross road, for their water transport.

Prominently displayed . . . in Mr. and Mrs. Allan Neef's beautiful new home in Grosse Pointe Farms, is a lovely piece of Steuben glass, a "thank you" and memento of the Neefs' service during the past year as chairmen of the Detroit Boat Club's duplicate bridge season.

"Kooky" name . . . for a great little sloop: "Vitamin Z," property of Earl R. Zuehlke, of Hidden lane.

A gastronome's delight . . . is Hal Wiek's Kitchen Garden, in Fisher road, where neat rows of red cabbage, squash, spinach, beans and onion, raspberry and currant canes and a glorious strawberry patch are framed in rustic rose arbors. The vegetable patch has been infiltrated with volunteer seedlings of last year's poppies; there are bunches of bright-blooming, old-fashioned perennials, hollyhock and Pachysandra surrounding the trunk bases of old trees, bittersweet and glowing red roses. There are no labels except those in the gardener's mind—Mr. Wiek has forgotten the names of some of his plants—but he has a rose almost 20 years old, an ancient Judas tree, trumpet vines and Clematis, and many, many other fascinating and beautiful plants and flowers, a complete record of his personal gardening history.

Ten-year-old Bill decided to hire his five-year-old brother, Timmy, as his servant. "I'll give you 10c a week," he offered magnanimously.

"Okay," the little boy agreed.

Bill reconsidered; Timmy had accepted too quickly. "I can only pay 5c a week," he volunteered.

"Okay," Timmy was still agreeable.

Bill decided to try again. "Sorry, Tim," he said, "all I can pay is a penny a week."

"Well, okay," Timmy replied, "but don't raise it any lower!"

The small daughter of a famous surgeon always introduced herself, when asked her identity, as "Dr. Baker's daughter." Her mother decided to correct her on the ground that it sounded too snobbish.

"After this," said the mother, "just refer to yourself as Mary Baker."

Several days later, a colleague of the physician leaned over and asked, "Aren't you Dr. Baker's little girl?"

"I always thought I was," the child replied, "but mother says not."

Canteen Conversation

By Rick Mills

"Summer time and the livin' get through baby sitting." Is that really true? Do teens just relax in the summer months with nothing to do but sit in the sun and loaf? What about getting summer money? In the summer teens like to go on dates, buy new clothes, and eat lots of food! But how can they do this without money?

This brings up the question of a summer job. What do teens do in the warm months to earn their spending money? This was the question presented to Grosse Pointe Teenagers and here are their replies.

John Neale, "To earn money in the summer I have taken a number of garden jobs around town. This gives me all the money I need in the summer and some to spare."

Charles Russell, "I earn my money by baby sitting and life guarding."

Terry Pfaffner, "I am usually not home much in the summer so I cannot hold a regular job. I do, however, work out arrangements with some of my neighbors to take care of their yards whenever I can."

Judy Alexander, "I receive a steady allowance in the summer as well as during school. Any other money I may need I get through baby sitting."

Kathy Anderson, "To earn summer money I baby sit and also make cards for birthdays, notes, Christmas, and other occasions."

Jim Marquardt, "To earn my summer money I work at my dad's restaurant."

These are a few of the things teens can do as summer jobs. Others include painting, working in a grocery, library, or clothes store doing odd jobs around the house, working as a waiter or waitress, and many more.

So that's what teens do in the summer. Some loaf, others work. Some have money handed to them, others earn their own spending money. A few, who don't like either idea, go without summer money! All it takes is a little imagination and will power to get a summer job.

And it seems to be a lot more fun to go on a date or buy something new with the money that you have earned, than it does to spend the money that dad has handed to you. It adds a little something to the art of money spending to know that you have worked for what you are getting. Do you know this feeling? If not, why not find out what it is like?

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT B. POWERS OF WHITTIER ROAD

By Robert Wells

Miles of movie film compiled in years of travel by Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Powers weave a magic yarn of past and present, violence and silence, drama and dreams.

Everywhere the Powers family travels — and that could be almost anywhere — they take along movie equipment.

"Making films," Mr. Powers explains, "takes us out of the tourist category. And they enable us to acquire—and share—a better understanding of the places we visit."

The key to their successful films, he claims, is that he learned that "you just can't do it all yourself." When he realized that he needed an assistant, the first volunteer was his wife . . . and they've been a smoothly working team ever since.

They Divide Colors While he concentrates on the photographic end of things, his wife takes charge of scripts, costumes and details of the shots.

Each movie is in color, with sound. And each movie has an action plot, which may describe a young Mexican bullfighter's first day in the ring, or a Chaucer-like procession of pilgrims to a remote Mexican cathedral.

Although Mexico is the favorite subject for the Powers' camera — they've been there over 20 times — they've also been all over Europe and recorded some exotic footage in North Africa.

Their home in the Pointe is an elegant Tudor style country house at the foot of Whittier road, with lavish gardens and one of the best views from the Pointe. The decorating inside is a tasteful accent to mementoes acquired in Mexico and elsewhere. (In the picture above, Pre-Columbian relics occupy the first floor stair landing.)

City Planted Elms The home was built in the '20s by her father, Frederic M. Sibley, who told the city he would buy the land if he would plant trees along the unadorned street. Today, residents along Whittier enjoy a lovely row of elms that runs the length of the block.

There is more history about the home, because right next door used to be a favorite drop-off point for Canadian liquor during Prohibition. Mrs. Powers' brother Fred, Jr. was held at gunpoint by a gang of bootleggers one night when he went exploring next door.

Mr. Powers is a business and financial publisher in Detroit. He has bought and nursed into health various business magazines, one of which is Ward's Automotive Report, which under his guidance, has become the widely read and widely quoted Bible of the auto industry.

Have Three Children Their youngest son, Roger 22, is working with dad in the publishing business while finishing up his studies at Wayne. Bob, Jr., 24, is in California working in the trust department of the Bank of America. Their only daughter, Cheryl, is now Mrs. Howard S. Buhl and lives in Lakeland avenue.

This winter's trek is already close to the airline ticket stage, and will be to the town of San Miguel Allende, a Mexican village where Walt Disney has made one movie and the Powerses have shot three.

One of these three—in typical Powers fashion—follows a native of the town as he conjures the annual fireworks display for the Grand Festival at harvest time.

Film Bull Fights One of the Powers' most popular films, "Glory in the Sun," is billed as "Neither an apology nor a commendation of the bullfight." The hero, a Mexican, tries to explain the timeless ritual to an American boy.

As for bullfights, Mr. Powers feels they have passed their prime in Mexico. "As a country becomes more prosperous, the interest in bullfighting declines," he viewed. It has always been treasured as virtually the only way a poor Mexican boy could improve his status, a wonder ladder to success.

Now, with growing industrialization and burgeoning production, poverty is declining, and the bullfight along with it, the Powerses feel.

Veterans at Mexican travel, Bob and "Jo" warn that you MUST have a sense of humor and be humble in order to get along with Mexicans.

And then there's the inevitable problem—the food. "The first thing the average American tourist does when he goes to Mexico is get sick," Bob viewed.

"We learned early," his wife added, "that anything in a shell or boiled is safe, and with anything else you're taking chances."

Has Most To Offer In spite of its minor discomforts, which needn't really be a problem, "Mexico has more to offer than any other place in the world—to people who are looking for more than just another resort area," in Bob's opinion.

Another of the Powers' favorite treks was through 1300 miles of Morocco a few years back. Near Agadir, they found an area where shepherds drove their hungry goats into orchards and the animals had learned to climb as high as 30 feet up trees for their provender.

In another corner of Morocco near the Sahara, they found and photographed a tribe of nomadic Bedouins who had worn clothes with indigo dye for so many centuries that their skin was a deep blue.

Here the traveling photographers encountered great hostility to Americans, and were at a loss to explain it until they learned what had happened a few weeks before they arrived.

Made Lethal Dressing

Finally they found out: it appears the local Air Force base had sold the natives hundreds of containers of an oily substance used to clean jet planes. The natives promptly added olive oil and sold the compound as salad dressing. The result—over 10,000 Moroccans were felled, hundreds killed, and the Powers camera was not at all welcome. They made their movie and left.

Their prized film about the procession to a Mexican cathedral deep in the jungle is artfully titled "Footsteps to Tranquility." It shows over 1,000 women praying in Holy Land surroundings, and incidentally, eating tortillas from Mexico's only conveyor belt tortilla ovens. It also conveys forcefully the great devoutness of the Mexican people.

Another occupation, apart from the traveling, is raising and showing two handsome young Cavalier dogs named "Smith" and "Vassar." (Mrs. Powers was working for the Seven Women's Colleges Fund when the dogs arrived, hence the names.)

Mr. Powers heads a national organization of owners of Cavaliers, a prize British breed that sat at the feet of Queen Victoria and appear in the paintings of Gainsborough and others.

A very attractive couple—so active that they are hard to freeze on a static piece of paper—are the Powerses. It is indeed fortunate that the Pointe is the place that they return to when the journey of the moment is over.

Drivers Offered Free Inspection

To combat traffic accidents which are mounting steadily in Detroit, a voluntary motor vehicle safety check program will be held in Detroit for two weeks beginning August 3.

The first week—from August 3 through 7—the safety check lane will be in the Schaefer Police Precinct in Northwest Detroit at the Wrigley Store Parking lot on Greenfield just south of Grand River.

The second week—from August 10 through 14—the inspections will be available in the Conner Police Precinct in Northeast Detroit in the Parking lot of the Conner-Warren Shopping Plaza.

The inspection will be free. At both locations the inspection lane will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

In a friendly hands — (and wheels-across-the-border) gesture, Canadian traffic authorities are assigning a special mobile unit to Detroit to conduct the voluntary vehicle check.

The Honorable Irwin Haskett, minister of transport for Ontario, made the unit available at the request of the Traffic Safety Association. Also co-operating in the project are the Chrysler Corporation, which is supplying mechanics to assist in the inspections, and the Detroit Police Department.

The Canadian inspection unit carries equipment to give a 38-point safety check, considered one of the most complete inspections available to voluntary programs and on a par with the best compulsory programs, such as in Pennsylvania, Virginia and New Jersey.

Donald Slutz, managing director of the Traffic Safety Association, emphasized that the inspection will be both voluntary and free. It probably will indicate that there are many vehicles driving our streets with defective equipment, he said.

In a recent one-month program in Windsor, approximately 40 per cent of the vehicles that came into the check lane were rejected and found to have one or more vehicle defects, Slutz said.

"I want to emphasize one thing. The Detroit police have assured us that there will be no violation tickets issued in connection with the program. If a vehicle is found to be defective, a ticket will not be issued. The owner will be advised to get his vehicle repaired, but that will be all. The police believe that anyone who voluntarily applies for inspection is sincerely interested in making certain his car is in safe operating condition. It finds it isn't, he will get it fixed," Slutz said.

Mr. Haskett said that the voluntary vehicle check program, using mobile units, had worked most satisfactorily in Ontario and that his department was happy to co-operate with Detroit in the program.

The Schaefer and Conner Police Precinct locations were selected because "grass roots" traffic safety programs are now being conducted in these areas. The programs are under the sponsorship of the local police precinct, citizen groups, Detroit police, Department of Streets and Traffic, Department Report and Information Committee, and the Traffic Safety Association.
