AFTER RECEIVING a report from his Commission on Heart Disease, Cancer and Strokes, President Johnson yesterday pledged a concerted drive in Congress and the nation to aid Federal efforts against these diseases. The commission's report proposed programs which would cost nearly $3 billion over the first five years. Most of the money would be Federal, with additional help from states. The program call for a system of 60 regional centers where Americans can get the best in diagnosis and care for heart disease, cancer and strokes.

U. S. COMMISSIONER ESTHER Carter ruled yesterday in Meridian, Miss. that a confession obtained from one of the 19 white men arrested in the slaying of three young civil rights workers was hearsay and freed the men who were arrested last Friday. In Thursday's preliminary hearing the Commissioner ruled there was not sufficient cause to convene a grand jury. The confession was supposed to have been made by Horace Barnett who was not in the courtroom at the preliminary hearing. It was on the basis of his absence that Miss Carter ruled that his testimony was not admissible. Although the charges were dismissed, the Federal Government has the right to put the matter before a grand jury independently.

WHILE 100 anti-Communist Cubans attempted yesterday to storm the front entrance to the United Nations headquarters, a single shell, aimed at the building, shot over the river from Queens and fell about 100 yards from shore. The blast rattled windows at the UN and sent up a 20-foot geyser in the water. The demonstrations of the anti-Communist Cubans were in protest against the presence of Cuba's No. 2 Communist Ernesto (Che) Guevara at the United Nations. Although there were no damages and no injuries, detectives said the shell could have caused both if it had reached the UN.

PLANS WERE ANNOUNCED Saturday by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to reorganize the two major elements of the Army's Ready Reserve into a single reserve force under the National Guard. Although certain individual guard units would be dropped as unnecessary, the size of the Army National Guard would be increased to accommodate the transfers from the Army Reserve, all of whose units would be eliminated. The Secretary's announcement was assailed by the Reserve Officers Association but was given cautious endorsement by the National Guard Association.

IN A TELEVISION INTERVIEW yesterday, Cuban Industry Minister Maj. Ernesto (Che) Guevara said that the Fidel Castro regime is in favor of restoring "harmonious relations" with the United States, but not if it means accepting conditions "imposed" by Washington. Closely guarded by police because of Saturday's anti-Communist Cuban demonstrations, Guevara also said that his government had made many mistakes in the economic field, in agriculture and industry because of lack of preparation. But these mistakes are being corrected, he said, and the country is moving in the right direction to make a better Cuba for the people.

THE SUPREME COURT yesterday upheld the public accommodations section of the new civil rights bill in a historic decision and, in a third, said that civil rights workers convicted of violating state and local ordinances before the civil rights act was passed should not be prosecuted. One

TAWAY. Monday morning, fourth grader Christy Sue Carolan waved her "magic wand" to light the tree, while all classes gathered to sing carols. The staff of Monteith invited parents, grandparents, friends and neighbors to visit all classrooms where Christmas work done by pupils was displayed.

Annual Christmas Event Being Held Sunday Afternoon; Youth Council Hosts Party

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial Community Christmas program Sunday, December 20, at 3 o'clock has been planned especially for children. Hosts for the occasion are members of the Center's Youth Council.

Scott Tilly, council vice-president, will welcome everyone and Craig Dykstra, council president, will remind the children that Christmas is for everyone.

"The Christmas Carol" will be presented in movie form with Vincent Price narrating. Then there will be a play presented by the Center's Children's Theatre called "Kathy's Christmas Miracles." It was written and directed by Mrs. Sydney Reynolds.

"The Clown's Christmas," a puppet show will conclude the entertainment in Fries Auditorium. It will be staged by Airman 1st class Russell Cordier from Selfridge Field.

Following the show all guests will be invited into the Crystal

Bon Secours Hospital's Civil Suit Against City Starts in Circuit Court

Judge Joseph A. Moynihan Hearing Case in which Institution Hopes to Obtain Permission To Double Capacity of Present 160 Beds

Bon Secours Hospital's civil suit against the City of Grosse Pointe began on Monday, December 14, in Wayne County Circuit Court before Judge Joseph A. Moynihan.

The hospital's lawyers, Neil Hayes and Chris Youngjohn, will attempt to prove that City Ordinance 96 is unconstitutional and deprives the hospital of its property rights.

Representing the City are attorneys Charles Wright and Alfred Lindbloom.

Ordinance 96 prohibits the construction of public buildings south of Kercheval and also puts a limitation on the height of buildings.

On November 18, 1963, Bon Secours petitioned the Grosse Pointe City Council to permit exception to the ordinance and allow the hospital to construct a new parking lot and wing.

The Council denied the request, however, and Bon Secours filed suit March 10, 1964 alleging that the ordinance denies the hospital its property rights and is contrary to guarantees included in the constitutions of Michigan and the United States.

The City's refusal to grant the zoning exceptions to Bon Secours was based in part on a voter referendum in the City held November 5, 1963. The referendum was purely an advisory one in which the voters turned down the expansion plans by the hospital by a margin of 153 votes.

The City Council took this defeat of the referendum as an indication of resident disapproval to the proposed conversion of a strip of land, which the hospital owns between Caroline and Jefferson, into off-street parking and the construction of a wing which would raise the height of the hospital seven feet and increase the number of beds to 320, double its present capacity of 160.

Battling for Years

The conflict between Bon Secours' expansion and the City's zoning ordinance has been an issue for a number of years. Originally the hospital wanted to convert its strip of land into a parking lot. The then hospital's board of directors decided to consider expansion of the hospital itself after it studied a report by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals which stated Bon Secours was not large enough.

The hospital, however, abandoned plans for building an addition but decided to go ahead with the parking lot. It went to the City's council for approval but was turned down and was asked to come back when expansion plans were more definite.

Early in 1963, Bon Secours

Gordon Swartz, dispatched to the scene, took McKay to the hospital in the police ambulance. At the hospital, the traffic victim was reported in serious condition, but not in danger.

A witness, Elmer Koppens of 23013 Doremus, St. Clair Shores, told police that he was driving south on the road, and saw McKay flying through the air, after being struck by the hit-runner. The only description of the other car he could give police was that it was an old model car dark in color, possibly maroon or red. The driver slowed, as if to stop, then stepped on the gas and sped away.

Another motorist, who also witnessed the accident, had presence of mind to follow a

Goodfellow Paper Sales Total $8,183

Public Responds Generously; Pointe Lions and Woods Lions Say Drive Is Best Ever

The Pointe responded more generously this year during the annual Goodfellow Newspaper Sales on Monday, December 14, than the sales held in 1963, according to information released by the chairman of the Grosse Pointe Lions and the Grosse Pointe Woods Lions Clubs.

The Pointe Lions collected a total of $5,778, as compared to $5,079 last year; and the Woods Lions, $2,405, as compared to $2,171 last year. The former set a goal of $7,500 this year, and the latter, $2,000.

Chairman of the Grosse Pointe Lions 1964 sales was Carl Schweikart; and the Woods Lions, Rex H. Johnston.

Both stated that their respective sales collections were the best ever contributed by a generous public, and the monies received will go a long way in helping the blind, the needy families and other civic activities in their respective communities.

Aiding the Pointe Lions in selling Goodfellow newspapers were the policemen and firemen of the Park, City, Farms and Shores; and the Woods Lions were assisted by the personnel of the Woods Department of Public Safety.

Both Schweikart and Johnston said that they are aware that there are some people who did not have an opportunity to buy a paper on Monday, and may want to make some kind of contribution.

To those who are interested, contributions to the Pointe Lions can be mailed to Carl Schweikart, 15317 East Jefferson, Grosse Pointe Park, Mich. 48230; and to the Woods Lions, Rex H. Johnston, 2025 Hunt Club, Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich. 48236.

People who may wish to make contributions are urged to mail them in early, so that funds can be put to quick use in aiding Pointe needy families, and make theirs a happy and merry Christmas.

GPMS Musicians Receive Honors

Again this year, the Grosse Pointe High School Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Richard H. Snook, made a successful start in its active program.

Because of the outstanding record it has maintained for the past six years as one of Michigan's finest high school orchestras, it has already received two major invitations to give performances.

The first invitation came at the beginning of the school year. It played for the annual Michigan Education Association Convention in Cobo Hall on October 15.

Following only five weeks of rehearsal time, the orchestra gave a performance before an audience of 9000 Michigan teachers. "This was one of our very finest performances," said Mr. Snook, "and so early in the year."

Pieces played were "Overture in D Major" by Franz Schubert, Manuel De Falla's "Ritual Fire Dance," and "Stairway to the Stars," written for the orchestra by Mr. Snook.

But an even more important concert will be given by the symphony on January 21 in Ford Auditorium. The orchestra will play at the International Kiwanis Club's 50th birthday anniversary celebration. Kiwanis members from all over the world will be present.

In addition to these two invitations, both the Symphony Orchestra and the Grosse Pointe High School Symphony Band have been invited by radio station WUOM (University of Michigan) in Ann Arbor to broadcast later in the year.

Each organization will give a half-hour program of music of its own choice as part of a series of broadcasts featuring outstanding musical organiza-

Multiple Family Residences Given Woods' Approval

Council Amends Zoning Ordinance Despite Advisory Referendum Held Which Showed Voters Were Against Proposal

The Woods City Council at a special meeting Monday night, December 14 approved the proposed amendment to Ordinance 88, the zoning ordinance, to permit the construction of multiple family residential buildings.

The vote was five to two. The Council, in addition, specifically zoned two areas in the Woods to allow for such construction. One area is the property presently owned by Woodrow Woody, immediately west of Mason school on Vernier road. The other is that parcel of land on the northwest corner of Eight Mile road and Mack avenue, owned by Babcock and Sons.

The sale of the Woody property to Charles Merrill of St. Clair Shores has been contingent upon the Council's decision on the zoning amendment.

35 Citizens Attend

A public hearing held before the special meeting was attended by approximately 35 citizens who were either violently pro or con toward the amendment. Many present felt that an advisory referendum held several years ago on the multiple family developments should be made the basis of the Council's decision.

The Council, on the other hand, received petitions in favor of the move from property owners within 300 feet of the proposed developments.

Multiple family residential building has been an issue in the Woods for many years. Recommendation to change the zoning ordinance was made by the Planning Commission to the Council. The Commission had studied the problem for many months and had employed professional advice. The Council had also appointed a special fact-finding group to help in its investigation.

Must Submit Plans

Before building permits can be issued for any construction on the properties, contractors must present to the Commission and the Council detailed plans for the proposed buildings. A public hearing must also be held before final vote of approval is made.

The zoning ordinance limits the type of multiple family residential developments to the cooperative association type. The buildings must also be no higher than 35 feet.

The Woods already has three areas which have multiple housing. The ones on East Vernier and West Vernier were constructed before the ordinance was enacted. The third at Stanhope and Harper was built under commercial zoning.

Mayor Kenneth R. McLeod and Frederick M. Maddock, the two councilmen who voted against the amendment, based their opposition on the fact that they felt they should follow the results of the earlier citizens' advisory referendum.

Councilmen voting for the zoning amendment were: Kenneth Boerner, Marvin R. Boutin, Thomas E. Leah, Lathrop R. Morse and Benjamin W. Pinkos.

Survey of High School Brings Experts' Praise

At the December meeting of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education, Dr. Charles H. Wilson, superintendent of schools, revealed the contents of a report on Grosse Pointe High School prepared by the Bureau of School Services of the University of Michigan.

Late in October, nine members of the institution's staff on the accreditation team for the North Central Association visited the local high school. The group included representatives of many of the university's departments: library, business education, modern languages, English, physical education, art, and guidance.

In his summary statements, Dr. Roland J. Lecker, chairman of the accreditation team, wrote:

Elderly Man Hit in Dark On Jefferson

Walter Zentgrebe, 75, Struck at Bedford Light; Had Been Bending Over His Papers

Walter Zentgrebe, 75, of 829 Westchester, was a Goodfellow and wanted to do his share, (as he had done many times before), to help bring happiness to needy Pointe families during the Christmas holidays. He was killed at the intersection of Jefferson and Bedford, early Monday morning, December 14.

Mr. Zentgrebe took this assignment station at the intersection at about 6 a.m. it was very dark. At 6:20 a.m., he was struck and killed by a car driven by Keith W. Pfeilstucker, 20, of 1021 Lakepointe, going east on Jefferson.

The traffic light was green in Pfeilstucker's favor, at Jefferson and Bedford, and he went through, when suddenly a man's form appeared before him. The youth applied his brakes immediately, but too late to avoid hitting the figure in front of him. In the front seat with Pfeilstucker, was his wife, Georgina, 21.

First Seen by Wife

Pfeilstucker told Park police that he was driving in the east lane of Jefferson at about 35 miles an hour, and was approaching Bedford, when the light turned green. He was about 15 feet before the light, when his wife screamed, "There's a man!" He jammed on his brakes and swerved to the right in an attempt to avoid hitting the man, but too late.

Police said that Mr. Zentgrebe had been stooped over, either adjusting, or about to lift his bag of papers, and was not seen until he stood erect. Because of the darkness of the hour and the fact that the victim wore dark clothing, it was difficult for him to be seen, they added.

A witness, Rudolph Ramm of 5291 Gatehead, Detroit, said he was driving west on Jefferson, when he saw Pfeilstucker's car hit the Goodfellow salesman. He said he saw something roll over in the street, and saw the white of the newspapers.

Absolved of Blame

Ramm said that he saw Pfeilstucker jump out of his car and run to the body, and then scream the man was dead.

Pfeilstucker was absolved of blame, after making a statement to the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office.

Mr. Zentgrebe was taken to Bon Secours Hospital by Park Police ambulance, and was pronounced dead on arrival. A native of Richmond, Mich., Mr. Zentgrebe retired from the Park Fire Department in 1943. Immediately after, he became sexton at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, and worked there until 1958.

He is survived by his wife, Emma; and two brothers, Louis and Carl.

Funeral services will be held today, December 17, at the Verheyden Funeral Home, Mack and Whittier. Burial will be in Gethsemane cemetery.

Council Pays Tribute

At a regular Park council meeting held Monday evening, Mayor Matthew Patterson, expressed sorrow on the death of Zentgrebe, on behalf of the council and the citizens of the city.

The mayor touched on the fact that the traffic victim was a retired fireman of the Park, and lauded Mr. Zentgrebe's services to his church and his humanitarian activities through his membership with the Grosse Pointe Lions Club.

At Mayor Patterson's request, the council and citizens in the audience, stood for a minute in respectful silence, each praying in his own way, for Mr. Zentgrebe.

At the recommendation of the mayor, a resolution commending the past services of the dead man to the community, and expressing the sorrow of the city, will be presented to Mrs. Zentgrebe. The resolution was passed unanimously.

the four men, who the chief said, were without a doubt waiting to hold up the woman's brother, and steal his day's receipts.

Chief Louwers said that since the woman "botched" this intended surprise, the men grabbed her and pushed her into her house, gagged and handcuffed her, and forced her to sit on a chair in the front room. The mother was also forced to take a chair.

Miss Rudolph told police that one of the men said, "Don't scream, and nobody will get hurt." One of the men wore a mask that covered the upper part of his face, leading police to believe that he might know the woman's brother, or the family, and feared that he would be recognized.

One man was posted at the front window to keep a lookout for Rudolph, another was assigned to watch the two women, and the remaining two went upstairs and completely ransacked the bedrooms tearing everything apart, in search for money.

In House 20 Minutes

Miss Gertrude told police that the men were in the house approximately 20 minutes, during which time the phone rang more than 10 times. This apparently unnerved one of the men downstairs, who shouted to the others in a foreign language, nothing of which was understood by the women, it was said. It was assumed that the man who spoke had demanded that it was time to leave, since all four left the house together by the rear door.

Miss Rudolph told investigating officers that the men had taken a black fireproof safety box, containing non-negotiable stocks and bonds, a .38 caliber Colt revolver and $20 in silver change. Before leaving, the terrorists released Miss Gertrude, who immediately went to a next door neighbor's house and called police.

Seen By Neighbor

A neighbor of the Rudolphs told investigating police officers, that about three weeks ago, he had seen four men standing at the rear of the Rudolph property. When he turned on his porch light to investigate, the men left in a hurry, the neighbor said.

Chief Louwers said that there is no doubt that the incident was premeditated, and that the four men knew Mr. Rudolph and that they planned to surprise and rob him.

Miss Rudolph could not give an accurate description of the foursome, but did say that all were between 40 and 50 years old.

The officers who responded immediately after the alarm was called in, were Det. Lts. Stanley Enders and Arnold Hough, Police Sgt. Henry Coonce, and Patrolmen Bobby McAlister, Charles Petrie, William Crandall and Gary Mitchell. They and other officers searched the neighborhood, but without success.

Hospital Suit

went back to the council with its new plans for construction of a new wing for an additional 160 beds, and a 1.4 acre parking lot.

Residents Fight Plans

That request touched off a battle between residents which led to petitions, protest meetings, public hearings and ended with the advisory referendum and the denial of Bon Secours petition by the City Council.

Bon Secours was originally built in 1941 on land bought by the Sisters of Bon Secours in 1923. The original zoning ordinance was passed in 1927. In 1949 the hospital asked for and was given permission to expand its capacity to 76 beds.

In 1951 an amendment to the zoning ordinance of 1927 was passed forbidding the construction of public buildings south of Kercheval. This did not affect Bon Secours as it stood then, however, because the hospital was already in operation before the amendment was passed.

In 1952 the hospital requested and was granted from the City Council permission to expand the hospital to 160 beds which was the minimum demanded by the AMA for accreditation for intern and residency programs.

To the 41,600 people who will switch from a Chevy, Ford or Plymouth this week, Rambler asks you to do just 3 things:

Ambassador 990 Hardtop—Largest and Finest of the new Ramblers. Sales up a record 110% over last year.

consider this:

At the first major auto show for '65 cars, people in a survey voted all 3 of the new Ramblers first in style and appearance among their direct competition. Like the sweepingly changed Ambassador above, the new Ramblers are spectacular in their different new sizes, lengths, engines, optional wire wheel covers, reclining bucket seats, other sports equipment. See for yourself.

add this:

Here is where Rambler really pulls away from the rest. Few cars anywhere have even one of the extra values that make every Rambler such a pleasurable investment: Double-Safety Brakes (separate systems, front and rear), Deep-Dip rustproofing, Advanced Unit Construction, Ceramic-Armored exhaust system, Coil Spring seats, and more—all at no extra cost.

do this:

To save you time and make your car selection easier, just phone Grosse Pointe Rambler at 884-7880. They will be happy to send a brand-new 1965 Rambler to your home for you and your family to try out. If you don't agree the new Rambler is a better buy and a better car for you, they will return your dime and leave quietly. So why not call now? American Motors—Dedicated to Excellence.

An analysis by R. L. Polk & Co., the leading automotive statistical organization, indicates that in an average week 41,600 owners of Chevrolets, Fords and Plymouths will switch from the make they own to another make.

Faculty Teams Have Many Ideas for New High School

If the faculty teams working on suggested plans for the new high school have their way, the building will incorporate the latest ideas in education and construction.

Although the faculty's report has been turned into the Board of Education, that body hasn't come to any agreement on the suggestions, according to Jerry J. Gerich, Principal of Grosse Pointe's only high school.

The new high school, of course, has yet to be approved by the voters. A tentative referendum date of March 22, 1965 has been set. Dr. Charles H. Wilson, superintendent of schools, has said.

Included in the faculty's recommendations are provisions for advanced study centers. Mr. Gerich said, "Our objective is to aid students to advance towards the area of independent study." Each major department would have one center so that students could move out of the classroom for individual work.

The design of the classrooms would be closer to a square and larger than the ones at the present high school. The report also noted the need for large group instruction areas, conference areas for teachers and portable walls between classrooms which would aid in combining classes.

An auditorium and performing arts center was also suggested by the faculty. Placed in the middle of the arts center, the auditorium would seat a minimum of 800 people and cost about $2,000 per seat. The center would have stage rooms and areas for radio and television broadcasting and also be used for vocal and instrumental music and dramatic speech performances.

In addition, Mr. Gerich said, "the entire building would be wired for closed circuit television." Any classroom and even the community could send or receive programs.

Also suggested for consideration is a "satellite" cafeteria with three or four areas which would seat 200 to 300 students. A central area would serve as the food preparation room and the food would be taken to the others. These areas could also be used for other purposes such as student centers and large group instruction centers.

The gymnasium, according to the report, would be divided into three courts, two of which could be used for varsity sports and the third for intramural athletics.

An L-shaped swimming pool has also been suggested with a special area for diving.

Sounds out of this world? Remember the ideas are only suggestions by members of the high school faculty.

President Honors Former Pointer

A former Grosse Pointe man, Thomas R. Dewey, whose home is now in Hyattsville, Md., was recently honored in Washington, D.C.

On December 4, President Johnson presented the National Awards for Economy Achievements to thirty Federal employees who have made outstanding contributions in their various fields during the past year.

Mr. Dewey is an electrical engineer and has been associated with the National Security Agency at Ft. Mead, Md. for the past ten years. He designed and supervised the production of an electronic device which will make possible a saving of $4.3 million for the government in the coming year.

Mr. Dewey was graduated from Grosse Pointe High School in June 1948 and from Michigan State University School of Engineering in 1952. His wife is the former Jane Bundy, who graduated from G.P.H.S. in 1949 and also attended M.S.U.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Dewey of Fleetwood drive were in Washington for the program in Constitution Hall to see their son receive this award.

Young Burglar Sentenced; Police File Other Charges

Michael Powers, 17, of 1648 Lillibridge, was sentenced to from one-and-a-half to two years in Jackson Prison on Tuesday, December 9, by Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Frank J. Schemanske, for violation of unofficial pre-sentence probation.

Judge Schemanske had released the youth, who was convicted of committing 10 burglaries in the Park and Detroit, for six months, prior to determining what kind of sentence to impose on Powers. The six months grace period was to see if the young man would be on good behavior.

Powers was given the prison term after he confessed to three burglaries and one attempted burglary in the Pointe, following his arrest on Monday, December 7. He was taken before Judge Schemanske two days after the arrest.

Woods Det. Sgt. Jack Mast and Det. Albert Abend disclosed that they have placed a hold on Powers with Wayne County authorities, when he is released from prison, on a charge of burglarizing two Woods business establishments, and attempting to break in again at one of the places.

Farms police have also charged Powers with burglary of a medical clinic at 18430 Mack avenue, on Monday, December 7, but have combined this charge with those of the Woods.

Powers was arrested on Monday, by Farms Patrolmen Ronald Wooten and Robert Conn, at Canton and Lochmoor, in Harper Woods. The officers, along with policemen from the Woods, Shores and Harper Woods, were searching for a youth who had attempted to break into the Belmont Furniture and Upholstering company, 20507 Mack.

A witness, who had seen the flash of a light at the rear door of the establishment, approached and demanded to know what was going on. The youth, identified as Powers, said he was not doing anything, turned and walked away. "The citizen called police immediately, and a general broadcast was sent over the police radio."

Powers was released to Woods authorities, and taken to the Woods station, where, under questioning by Mast and Abend, he confessed to a breaking and entering of the furniture store on November 29. At the time it was reported by the store owner that between $1,500 and $1,800 was missing from his desk, but it was disclosed by the company bookkeeper, that the money had been removed and locked in a safe place. The youth found only $50 in the desk drawer, which he took, the detectives said.

The youth confessed to breaking into the store, and also to breaking into the Physicians X-Ray Clinic, 21003 Mack avenue, on December 7, from where he took $30, and admitted to trying to break into the furniture store.

Powers was questioned by Farms Det. Sgt. George Van Tiem, regarding the burglary of the clinic in the Farms, which occurred prior to the burglary of the Woods clinic and the attempt at the furniture store. The youth confessed he broke into the Farms clinic and ransacked the place, but found nothing to steal.

Van Tiem checked with the clinic doctors later in the day, and they said that nothing appeared to have been taken from their offices.

Powers was arraigned before Woods Judge Don Goodrow on December 8, for a hearing on the charges against him. The judge set bond at $500, and remanded the youth to the custody of the Wayne County Sheriff's Office, in default of bond.

The next day, Powers appeared before Judge Schemanske and was sentenced to prison.

However, it was disclosed by Woods authorities, Powers was not to begin his prison term until his appearance before Judge Goodrow, yesterday, December 16, for examination on the new charges, for which he is expected to be tried in Circuit Court when he is released from prison.

Thomas H. Lucas Completes Course

PFC Thomas H. Lucas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Lucas, 236 McKinley avenue completed a six-week linemen course under the Reserve Enlistment Program at the Army Southeastern Signal School, Fort Gordon, Ga., December 11.

Lucas was trained to construct and maintain open wire, lead covered cables and field communication wires. The 21-year-old soldier is scheduled to complete his military obligation with the 156th Signal Battalion, an Army National Guard unit in Detroit.

He was graduated from Hargrave Military Academy, Chatham, Va., in 1963 and attended South Macomb Junior College.

Entering Home Sans Bid, Costly

Donald R. Carmack, 18, of 689 St. Jean, Detroit, was arrested at his home by Woods Detectives on Monday, December 7, on a warrant signed by Woods Judge Don Goodrow. The warrant charges the youth with entering a home in the Woods without the owner's permission.

Carmack was arrested by Woods Det. Sgt. Jack Mast and Det. Albert Abend, accompanied by Detroit police, and at 8 p.m., was tried before Judge Don Goodrow, who found the youth guilty as charged, and sentenced him to 14 days in the Wayne County Jail.

Judge Goodrow ordered the sentenced made retroactive to the time Carmack spent in jail while awaiting extradition to Louisville, Tenn. The youth had been confined to the county jail for 14 days, while legal action was being taken to have him extradited on a forgery charge brought by Louisville police.

Before he left the Woods courtroom, Carmack was fined $25, besides given the jail sentence, for entering the Woods home, owner's name withheld, without permission.

Police said Carmack, who is not known by, nor does he know the home owner, barged into the house unannounced, on the Monday date, terrifying the lone occupant. He was traced to his home by the license plate number of his car.

"As you progress to new facilities we trust that serious attention can be given to those areas that have not profited from recent improvements. The music department, although producing splendid results, has had to overcome physical limitations for both vocal and instrumental music. Perhaps the science department could be provided with space for individual projects."

Animals Have Holiday Party

Detroit's traditional Christmas Party for workhorses and homeless animals was held by the Michigan Humane Society yesterday at the Society Shelter in Detroit.

An annual feature of the party is the judging of the workhorses. Prizes for the best kept horses and rigs are awarded from the Gretl Fund, donated for this purpose by Mrs. John R. Davis, of Bloomfield Hills.

Judging was done by the Detroit Police Mounted Division and Humane Society officers. Bales of hay and bags of oats, carrots and apples were given to the workhorses and special food to Shelter animals. Refreshments were served and movies shown.

Pointers active in Humane Society work include John N. McNaughton, first vice president of the Michigan Society, Frederick P. Hart, treasurer, and T. H. Hinchman, Jr., assistant treasurer.

Serving on the Board of Directors are George D. Hatie, Mrs. Oliver Dewey Marks, Mrs. George M. Stocum, Mrs. Joseph S. Stringham, John E. Coulter, Mrs. Frank Donovan, Alfred R. Glancy, Jr., James L. Schroth, Frank D. Boynton and Frederick L. Colby, Jr.

Minor Accidents Reported in City

Grosse Pointe City police report a rash of minor accidents in the City during the past week.

On December 7 two cars tangled at Charlevoix and Notre Dame. One was driven by Justine Fisher of 2475 Iroquois, who going south on Notre Dame and the other by Eric Oswald Philip of 459 Touraine, traveling west on Charlevoix. Reckless driving tickets were issued to both.

Mrs. Joan Couzens of 66 Lathrop, driving south on Lincoln on December 7, moved over to make room for an oncoming car and struck a parked car, owned by George Reindel, Jr. of 1415 Park, Detroit. That car in turn, was pushed into the car parked in front of it, which was owned by Daniel H. Buel of 130 Meadow lane. No violations were issued.

A ticket for reckless driving was issued to Eugene Cheeseman of 4853 Woodhall, Detroit, on December 10, when he hit a parked car, belonging to Gordon La Rue of 894 Neff road. Cheeseman was driving south on Neff when the accident occurred.

On December 11, Richard G. Stanlake of 2169 Chalmers, Detroit, backed out of a parking space in a City lot and hit the left rear fender of a car, driven by Alice McClanahan of 3461 Kensington, Detroit. No violations were issued.

Reckless driving tickets were given to William Scott Burke of 516 Notre Dame and Toni Ann Cropp of 1179 Nottingham on December 12. Burke was going south on Notre Dame when he started to make a left turn to enter a driveway and collided with the Chopp car.

Senior Men's Club To Meet

Two special Holiday motion pictures, "Silent Night" and Dickens' "Christmas Carol," narrated by Vincent Price, are on the agenda for the Senior Men's Club of Grosse Pointe's Christmas Week meeting, next Tuesday, December 22, at 12 o'clock noon, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center. Speaker at the last club meeting December 8 was George Pierrot, who kept the more than 300 members present "in stitches" with his hilarious anecdotes.

Pierce Christmas Vespers Being Presented on Sunday

One of Grosse Pointe's oldest traditional Christmas programs, the Pierce Junior High School's Christmas Vespers program, will be presented to the public on Sunday, December 20 at 3 p.m. in the auditorium.

This will be the twenty-sixth performance in which over 375 voices will sing the seasonal music under the direction of Mr. Herman Klein, the choral instructor. Many students are the sons and daughters of parents who participated in this program when they attended Pierce school. The P.T.A. sponsors this colorful event.

The musical numbers are centered around the effective tableaux arrangements cast by Mr. John Mason. Alice Kennedy portrays Mary, Gary Lauff is Joseph and Rick Scavarda is the Innkeeper. Jim Grace, Don Bowerman and Kim Smith will wear the robes of the wise men while William Stedman, William Priest and William Eickman serve as the three shepherds. The angels are Joan Kennedy, Megan Gregory and Nancy Zytke. Meg McIntosh will narrate the Christmas story.

The choral groups providing the program are the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs, the seventh, eighth and ninth grade choruses, plus the newly organized group named the Junior Choralers. This latter group represents the outstanding vocalists from the ninth grade chorus. Don McIntosh will be featured as soloist in "Silent Night" and Carl Graham carries the solo in "Angels We Have Heard on High."

Highlight numbers are "Drummer Boy" with Karen Pearsall handling the drums, "Gloria in Excelsis Deo" by the ninth grade chorus, "Noel, Sing Good News" sung in French by the Girls' Glee Club and "Carol of the Bells" by the entire group of singers. Mr. Melvin Zeitler from Christ Church in Detroit will perform on the organ.

Many faculty members and parents assist in numerous ways. The beautifully decorated auditorium is handled by Mr. Robert Rathbun. The Don Kipkas, William Ludwigs, Allan Pearsalls, Robert Huttons and Richard Robbins will assist him. Miss Manerva Johnson applies the make-up, Mrs. George Boan has charge of wardrobe and Messrs Don Richards, Russell Hachey and William Jones manage the stage and lighting problems. Mrs. George Gillis

Arrest Youths In Stolen Car

Grosse Pointe City police arrested three youths Saturday, December 12 for the Detroit Police Department.

They were caught driving a car which had been taken from the used car lot at Grosse Pointe Rambler, Inc. on Mack avenue.

Terry Sullivan of 881 Washington road reported earlier to City police that he had seen three boys trying to steal a car from the Rambler lot. Sgt. Douglas Allor picked up the boys at the corner of Mack and Cadieux.

Jerry Dillon, 18, of 3815 Grayton, Detroit, Denny Dillaway, 17, of 1239 Lakepointe, and a 16-year-old youth were arrested by Sgt. Allor and turned over to the Detroit Police Department.

Reckless Driver Strikes Island

City police arrested Howard Haskin of 22623 California, St. Clair Shores, for reckless driving on Friday evening, December 11.

Haskin was going east on Mack at a high rate of speed when he lost control of his car and hit an island between Notre Dame and Loraine.

Charles Edwin Southerland, who gave the same address as Haskin, was a passenger in the car.

Police report that they had both been drinking and were in a belligerent mood. After being charged, Haskin was released on bond.

College District Project Studied

Representatives of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education are slated to meet with members of the Wayne County school boards Thursday, December 17, at Schoolcraft College in Livonia to discuss the establishment of a Wayne County community college district.

The group will consider formation of a citizens' committee to study the project. At the meeting, Dr. Keene, educational consultant for the Wayne County Intermediate School District, will explain the purposes and functions of a community college and summarize his organizational plan. Dr. Keene's community college report calls for the construction of seven campuses, including one to serve the southeastern section of the county.

The citizens' study is expected to lead to an election, sometime in 1965, asking approval for establishment of a community district.

The enactment of Act No. 98 of the Public Acts of 1963 placed authority with boards of education of intermediate school districts to determine what area or areas of a county should vote to establish a community college district.

Parcells Plans Student Concert

For his final student concert after 10 years of teaching at Parcells, Dr. Donald Simmons and his choral music students will present a special program of Christmas music for the Parcells Parent Teacher Association, on Monday evening, December 21 at 8 o'clock.

More than 250 singers, from grades seven, eight, and nine, will participate in a concert of familiar and unusual Christmas melodies. Students in the art classes under the supervision of Mrs. Esther Meldrum and Mr. John Wargelin, will have the lobby and community room festively decorated with their Christmas projects, to create the appropriate atmosphere for this annual event.

Opening the program the eighth and ninth grade chorus will sing "Snow, Snow, Beautiful Snow," and "Do You Hear What I Hear?" The ninth grade chorus will present "Over Bethlehem Town." Numbers sung by the seventh grade chorus include "Mistletoe," "The Snow Lay on the Ground," and "Silver Bells."

The seventh grade Ensemble will sing "What Child Is This?" "Bring a Torch," and "How Sweet the Bells." The Combined Chorus will conclude the program with three numbers: "My Sheep Were Grazing," "Angels We Have Heard on High," and "O Holy Night."

Dr. Simmons will also ask the audience to participate in the singing of familiar carols. Student accompanists for the program include Lois Cannell, Karen Ellis, Judy Hanna, and Mark Scott.

Following the concert, parents, teachers, and singers will gather in the gymnasium for a social hour. Mrs. Webster Knight, Mother Vice-President of the Parcells P.T.A., and a committee of Room Parents from eighth grade homerooms are in charge of hospitality and refreshments for this occasion.

Parents on the committee include: Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Ellis; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bokram; Dr. and Mrs. Robert Ambrose; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mast; Mr. and Mrs. George Thomson; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gurney; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hamilton Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Ziegenfuss; Mr. and Mrs. John Corcoran; Mr. and Mrs. Ivin Malcolm; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Marr; Dr. and Mrs. Harold McCaughrin; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Berns; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Oglevee; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hermes; Mr. and Mrs. William Wilkie; Mr. and Mrs. James Martin; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hyde; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schueler; Mr. and Mrs. Emory Wickline; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scrimgeour.

Ticket Ignorers Served Warning

Park Judge C. Joseph Belanger announced that he has started a crackdown on chronic parking meter violators who fail to pay their fines, and thereby allow the number of parking violation tickets to accumulate. Warnants will be issued against those who fall into this category, the judge said.

Recently, two of the chronic violators were arrested on warnants signed by the judge. Both were brought to the station and posted bonds of $50 each. When they failed to appear in court, the bonds were forfeited.

Forfeiting their bonds were James Totz of 952 Washington, and Martin Allor, Jr., of 1143 Beaconsfield. Meter parking violations and overtime parking tickets cost a fine of one dollar; tickets for parking in a "No Parking" zone, cost a fine of $2. If not paid within 72 hours after the tickets have been issued, the fines double.

The only exception is the fine for double parking. The initial fine is $3. If not paid within 72 hours, then the cost is $5.

St. Paul Boys' Concert Sunday

By Ellen Kennedy
The Boys' Choir of St. Paul's on the Lake, under the guidance of Mr. Edward J. Person, will present a benefit program of Christmas music on Sunday, December 20 at 4 p.m. in the school auditorium. Admission to the program will be $1 for adults and 25 cents for children.

Mr. Person, who received his education at the Pope Pius X School for Church Music in New York City, has been instructing boys in the fundamentals of music since his arrival at the school in 1960. In addition to his teaching duties, Mr. Person is regular organist and adult choir director at St. Paul's.

The program, which will feature various arrangements of Yuletide music, will include the Boys' Choir composed of boys ranging from the fourth through the eighth grades and the Men's Choir. The high school choral group under Sister Catherine Camille and the verse choir conducted by Sister Marie Timothy will round out the program which depicts the true spirit of the Christmas season, from the coming of John the Baptist till the time of Our Lord's birth.

Johnstone Prexy Of Detroit Club

Members of The Detroit Club have elected R. T. Johnstone as president. He succeeds William M. Day as head of Detroit's oldest men's club.

Other officers and directors are Paul R. Trigg, Jr., first vice-president; Douglas F. Roby, second vice-president; Andrew W. Barr, secretary; Cleveland Thurber, Jr., treasurer; Robert E. McKean, auditor and a member of the house committee; Ralph T. McElvenny, chairman of the house committee; and Burt R. Shurly, Jr., and William M. Day, members of the house committee.

Johnstone fills an office that has been served by some of the most illustrious and best-known names in Detroit's history: McMillan, Alger, Newberry, Backus, Dykema, Fisher, to mention a few.

The Detroit Club was founded in 1882 as a meeting place, chiefly for lunch, by business men who then had—and took—time for a leisurely lunch while their businesses were closed.

The club's first home was at 72 Lafayette. In 1883 the second clubhouse was opened at 86 West Fort. The present building at 712 Cass became the clubhouse in 1892.

School System Qualifies For Library Competition

At Monday night's meeting of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education, Dr. Charles H. Wilson, superintendent of schools, revealed that the system's application for the Encyclopedia Britannica School Library Awards was one of four selected for submission to the competition from the entire State of Michigan.

The purpose of the competition is to stimulate public interest in school libraries, to point up the importance of good elementary school libraries to quality education, to encourage citizen planning for their development, and to commend those school systems whose foresight and planning is an inspiration to others.

Awards will be given to each of three public or independent or parochial school systems for evidence of recent system-wide improvement and definite plans toward further improvement of elementary school libraries. The one showing greatest improvement will be awarded $2,500; the second best will receive $1,500, and the third $1,000.

Grosse Pointe's application forms, completed by Ronald G. Buehler, curriculum assistant in the school's Department of Instruction, contain the abbreviated historical development of the system's 10 elementary school libraries. It lists recent improvements made in the various buildings, as well as ultimate goals throughout the elementary schools in the current expanded program being conducted under Mr. Buehler's direction.

These include the addition of instructional specialists, the central processing of elementary library books and the use of student clerical help.

The 1965 awards will be presented during National Library Week, April 25 to May 1.

School Board Holds Meeting

The presentation at the December meeting of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education, held Monday night in the schools' administrative offices at 389 St. Clair Avenue, was made by four professional staff members who have returned from leaves of absence this fall.

They include Mrs. Isabelle Pohlbel, Robert Bradley, and Alan Schaefer of Grosse Pointe High School, and James Ireton of Brownell. The members of the group related their activities during their leave, presented their reactions to their varied experiences, and told how their current assignments have benefited from a year in a different environment. All four agreed they were better-informed teachers.

Mrs. Pohlbel was a student at Kings College in the University of London, and toured Europe. Mr. Bradley was a teacher and lecturer in the Schools of Denmark through a Fulbright grant from the Department of State. Mr. Schaefer studied mathematics at San Jose State in California, while Mr. Ireton studied mathematics and science at Michigan State University.

Following discussions of the teachers' projects, Dr. Charles H. Wilson, superintendent of schools, presented his monthly report to the officers and trustees of the Board of Education. Statistics show an increase of 451 students over the system's enrollment of November, 1963, and an increase of 36 students over October, 1964.

At the conclusion of the meeting the members of the Board of Education passed on routine matters, including appointments of professional staff and office personnel, changes in salary status, and resignations. The meeting was adjourned at 8:40 p.m.

Eclipse of Moon Due Friday Night

A total eclipse of the moon will take place Friday (Dec. 18), three days before the official beginning of winter. University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh reminds.

The moon will be in a favorable position for observation, says Professor Losh, because at the beginning of the eclipse it will be about 40 degrees above the eastern horizon.

The moon will first touch the earth's shadow at 8 p.m. Soon after, a noticeable dimming at the eastern edge of the moon will show up. The darkened area will gradually spread over the moon's surface until 9:08 p.m., when the moon will be entirely in eclipse.

The mid-eclipse will come at 9:38 p.m., with totality ending at 10:08. It will then take another hour for the moon to leave the shadow completely, Professor Losh says.

During the partial phase, the earth's shadow will appear dark in contrast to the remaining section of the moon. During the total stage, however, the moon will be illuminated by sunlight, which filters through the earth's atmosphere and is refracted into the earth's shadow. The moon will then shine with a dull reddish glow, Professor Losh points out.

Winter will begin in the northern hemisphere at 2:50 p.m. Monday (Dec. 21), the U-M astronomer says. "At this time the sun will arrive at the winter solstice, the most southerly point that it reaches during its apparent yearly journey around the earth."

The northern hemisphere will have its shortest day and longest night, about 9 hours and 15 hours respectively.

Accident Nets Driver Ticket

A Detroit motorist was given a traffic violation ticket by Woods police on Thursday, December 10, following an accident on Mack avenue.

According to a police report, Norman L. Moran, 18, of 2168

Lemay, while traveling south on Mack, cut in front of a car driven by Donald E. Wittmer, 23, of 100 North Shore, St. Clair Shores.

Police said that Moran, who was in the second lane, passed

Wittmer, then swerved in front of him. The bumper on Moran's vehicle caught onto the front end of the other car.

Moran was issued a violation ticket for improper passing and lane usage, and is scheduled to answer the charge in court on February 10.

Park Honors 16 Employees For Past, Present Services

Twelve service awards and four retirement awards were presented to present and former Park employees, following a regular council meeting held on Monday, December 14.

The awards were given to the employees by Mayor Matthew Patterson, who attended his first meeting in two months, after an illness that required hospitalization.

Flanking the mayor were Police Chief Arthur Louwers, Fire Chief William Graul, Public Works Director Herbert Heger and members of the council.

Before making the presentations, Mayor Patterson expressed gratitude on behalf of the council and the citizens of the community for past faithful services of the retirees, and the services being rendered by the employees being honored. He said that it is hoped the present employees will continue their faithful services to the city.

Municipal Judge C. Joseph Belanger, who was the only elected official, was given a 25-year service award, for the years that he served as justice of the peace and as municipal judge. He was first elected to office in 1939, and has been returned to office at each election, by the voters, since that time.

A 35-year service award was presented to Fireman Cornelius Fasbender; a 30-year award went to Fireman Andrew Benoot; a 20-year award to Fire Inspector David Taylor; and 15-year awards went to Firemen Donald Ryde and Philip Costa.

In the Police Department, Grace M. McCracken, police matron and municipal court clerk, received an award for 15 years of service, which was accepted on her behalf, as she was unable to be present, by Judge Belanger.

Fifteen-year awards went to Police Sgts. Gordon J. Duncan and Thomas F. Martin; and a 20-year award went to Patrolman Charles Slusser. Martin and Slusser were unable to attend, and their awards were accepted on their behalf by Chief Louwers.

M. A. Marentette, was given her award for serving with the Comptroller's Department for 20 years; and Donald Weaver, his award for 15 years service with the Public Works Department.

The retirement awards were given to Francis Skiffington, 35 years with the Fire Department; Albert Cook, 28 years with the Public Works Department; Camiel DeWaelseche, 15 years Building Maintenance; and Albert Schneider, 10 years with the Public Works Department.

Following the presentations, refreshments were served in the lobby of the Municipal Building.

Arts Institute Given $250,000

The Kresge Foundation recently announced a grant of $250,000 to The Detroit Institute of Arts building fund. Stanley S. Kresge's presentation of the grant to William M. Day, president of the Founders Arts, was made known at the museum's Trustees meeting December 8.

In acknowledging the grant, Willis F. Woods, director of the museum, said that two main floor areas of the museum's south wing would be named Sebastian S. Kresge Hall and The Sebastian S. Kresge Exhibition Gallery. The south wing addition is scheduled for completion in December, 1965.

Sebastian S. Kresge, 97, is founder, trustee and treasurer of the Kresge Foundation. His son, Stanley S. Kresge, is president of the Foundation.

A previous grant of $145,000 from the Kresge Foundation in 1959 made possible conversion of the museum's garden court on the ground level to the popular year-round Kresge Court Continental Cafe. The Kresge Foundation also underwrote research and publication of "Two Thousand Years of Textiles" by the late Adele Coulin Weibel, curator of Textiles at The Detroit Institute of Arts.

Keep Tradition At Memorial

The Grosse Pointe Memorial Church will be continuing two traditions next Sunday, December 20. The first tradition will be the assembling of a mass choir in the rear balcony of the sanctuary for the morning worship services at 9:30 and 11:15 a.m.

Joining the Senior High, Adult and Chancel Choirs will be college students home for the holidays. This choir will sing a choral prelude of three seasonal works: "And Art Thou Come With Us to Dwell", an old German Advent Carol; "Christmas Song", an exquisite contrapuntal anthem by Herzogenberg; and the American Christmas Carol by Alfred Burt, "Some Children See Him Lily White".

Two additional compositions to be sung during the service will be a Haydn carol "Hilfest Nacht", (Hilfest Night), which the choir fill sing in the original German, and Dickinson's stirring "The Shepherd's Christmas Song". The accompaniments will be played on the rear gallery organ by Malcolm Johns and the director will be Marian Johns.

The annual Christmas Candlelight Service sung by the Junior High, Senior High and Chancel Choirs will be heralded in by the Memorial Tower Carillon when Dennis Jones, a student at Princeton University, will return to his former post at the Carillon keyboard.

At 7:10 p.m. in the sanctuary a Brass Choir of eight Grosse Pointe High School young men will play carols under the direction of Greg Hykes. The choir will begin the service at 7:30 with a candlelight procession. The Junior Choir will sing the German carol "Still, Still, Still" with the second stanza sung in the original German, and will be joined by the Chancel Choir in J. S. Bach's "O Saviour Sweet".

"Praise God the Lord", a four-part treble arrangement of Herman's early Christmas carol and Cesar Franck's "At the Cradle" will be the Junior High Choir's presentation.

The Senior High Choir will sing "A Gallery Carol" arrangement by Johnson and a sixteenth century cantata by Buxtehude "Lauda Sion Salvatorem" which was unearthed recently in a library in Sweden and translated for performance with an English text. Nancy Still will sing the soprano solo part and this early work will be accompanied by two violins, violoncello and piano.

Betsy Parcells, soprano, will sing Benjamin Britten's solo "The Birds". "Ding Dong Merrily on High" will be the Chancel Choir's selection. Six traditional carols will be the congregation's participation in this musical service of worship.

The service will be completed by Gruber's "Silent Night" with David Hughes playing the guitar accompaniment as this beloved carol was originally introduced to the world.

The Rev. Bertram Atwood will be the minister of this service which will be directed by Malcolm and Marian Johns. Friends in the community will be welcomed to participate in this service.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION

Anti-Cruelty Association Has Gift Idea; Needs Help

During any day of the year the Anti-Cruelty Association's headquarters at 13569 Joseph Campau are a busy place.

At Christmas time, however, it's particularly filled with hustle and bustle because of the hundreds of people who come in to select animals for Christmas gifts.

The association is extremely careful, too, in its placement of animals, according to Mrs. Thelma Leonard, shelter superintendent. The person who will own the new pet must sign for it and teenagers must have their parents' signatures. Animals may not be placed in families with children under six years of age.

In spite of the number of pet lovers who come to "adopt" a new companion, the association's shelter is very overcrowded. The number of animals who are brought in for care and housing far exceeds the number which the shelter places.

The result, of course, is quarters far too small to deal with the number of temporarily unwanted animals the association takes under its roof.

The Anti-Cruelty Association for the past year has been conducting a fund drive to raise money to remedy the situation. But the drive has been far from encouraging. To date only $8,500 has been contributed toward enlarging the facilities at the shelter.

The association has acquired a 30-foot lot next to its headquarters and the money thus far raised would enable it to put up a temporary annex. Mrs. Vi Douglas, publicity chairman of the organization, points out that the aim of Anti-Cruelty Association's drive, however, is to build a good, permanent shelter.

Its long range plans call for the acquisition of four more lots adjacent to the recently purchased one and the construction of a solid and permanent shelter. To complete this program, the association would need $50,000.

They are currently conducting a Christmas card sale, soliciting donations from animal lovers and continuing to contact foundations for funds—although they've been turned down by 200 so far.

So if you're an animal lover and owner, remember the drive in your Christmas donations.

But if you're an animal lover but not an owner, remember you can become one by visiting the shelter and selecting a pet any day between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m.—a check is not necessary but would be appreciated.

Pointers Score In Speech Test

A Western Michigan University junior from Grosse Pointe Woods was one of the four top speakers at the Michigan Intercollegiate Speech League oratorical festival held December 5 at Calvin College, Grand Rapids.

Neal Bauer was presented with an excellent award in the extemporaneous speaking competition. Three other WMU students took part in the non-competitive events. They were Jan David Anderson, a Pontiac freshman; James Robinson, a Grosse Pointe Woods sophomore, and Diane Gaudi, a Dearborn junior.

The M.I.S.L. festival was entirely student operated and attracted entries from all except one of Michigan's four year colleges and universities, the largest group to take part in the oratorical event.

The WMU speakers were accompanied by oratorical coach Melvin W. Donaho, speech instructor.

Neal is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bauer, 19744 Blossom lane, and he is a 1962 graduate of Grosse Pointe High. Neal is a member of the WMU Varsity Swimming team and is majoring in Industrial Education.

James is the son of F. J. Robinson, 1528 Hampton road. He is a 1962 graduate of Austin High School. He is active on the campus radio, WIDR at WMU, where he is majoring in Radio and TV.

Elderly Woman Assault Victim

A 71-year-old Park woman was beaten and robbed and assaulted during the early morning hours of Tuesday, December 8, at the rear of the rectory of St. Clare de Montefalco Church.

According to information released by Park Police chief Arthur Louwers, the woman was walking toward the church to attend an early morning service, when her assailant jumped out from between a parked car and the garage on the rectory grounds, and grabbed her from behind.

The attacker threw the bottom of his victim's coat over her head and placed a scarf around her neck and nose, shutting off any chance for the woman to scream. She was beaten about the head and assaulted. The victim said she did not see her attacker.

Before fleeing, the man grabbed the woman's purse, which contained about $80 in cash and personal effects.

The woman staggered to the church rectory, where a priest called authorities. She was taken to Bon Secours Hospital by police ambulance, where she was kept for observation and treatment.

Police scoured the neighborhood, but were unsuccessful in their search for the attacker. A possible suspect, known to police, is being sought for questioning, Chief Louwers said.

Business Notes

Herbert Schollenberger, of 1237 Balfour road, is the resident manager of the new Detroit offices of the investment firm of Loeb, Rhodes. The international firm with headquarters in New York City, has purchased the assets of Campbell, McCarty & Co., of which Mr. Schollenberger was president.

Mr. Schollenberger was born in Philadelphia, educated at Temple University, Philadelphia, and entered the securities business in 1925. He has served with Campbell, McCarty since 1933 with the exception of four years spent as a first lieutenant in the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Flower Show On Belle Isle

A twirling carousel crowned by the King and Queen of Toyland serves as the centerpiece for the annual Department of Parks and Recreation Christmas flower show at the Anna Scripps Whitcomb Conservatory on Belle Isle.

Nearly 3000 poinsettia blooms, augmented by hundreds of cyclamen and white budlia, make up the 1964 Christmas display. All plants were grown by the department in greenhouses on Belle Isle.

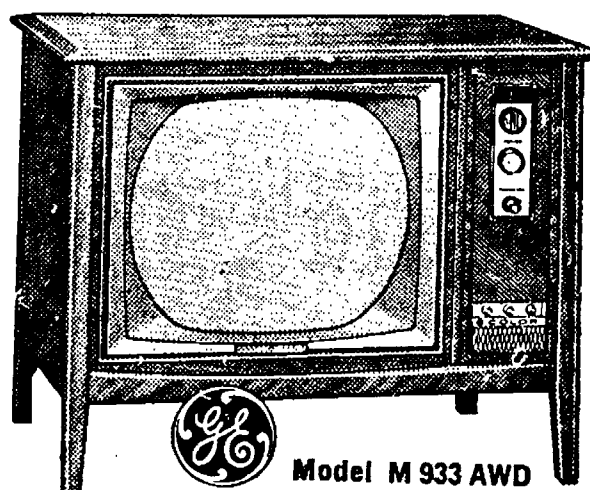

Other important holiday activity on Belle Isle includes the "How-To-Do-It" exhibit of Christmas decorations at the Nature Center, across the street from the Conservatory. The flower show is open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily, and the exhibit from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Both events will run until January 1, with admission free at all times.

University School Notes

Letter winners in the fall athletic program at Grosse Pointe University School were announced at the November 24 Father-Son banquet, at which the guests of honor (and main speakers) were Don Lund, director of the Detroit Tigers' farm clubs and scouting system, and Bill Freehan, Tigers' catching star, who was one of the league's leading batters this past season. Headmaster Hugh Ridleberger also addressed the audience as did the coaches of the various teams in making the award presentations. Faculty wives and mothers of players helped with the arrangements for the event and with the serving of the meal.

The following won letters. (Initials are included only to distinguish among students with the same last name):

Varsity Football: Adams, H. Brown, P. Durant, Fleming, Gamber, Getz, Green, Mabley, Martin, McNaughton, Pingel, B. Taylor, Truesdale, Wright, Weiss, Zukowski.

Mrs. Mary Grasse, dramatics teacher at G.P.U.S., is busy getting the Proscenium Society's production of "Nuts in May" ready for production on the evenings of January 21 and 22. This is the school's annual winter show. These are the members of the cast: Connie Nank, Gregg Watkins, Cleveland Thurber, Sarah Elston, Wayne Pressel, Shael Matthews, Betsy Peabody, Sally Weaver, Sally Jo Sorock, Sally Duff, Ronnie Roberts, Jan Seski, Steve Gershenson, John Perkin, Sue Nichols, Woody Sempliner, Judy Peslar, Hilda Sabato.

Taking part in the recent Teachers Council of the Independent Schools Association of the Central States in Chicago were Mrs. Kathryn Trim, G. P. U. S. librarian, William Hindle, teacher of science, and David Arner, music instructor. Featured speaker at the conference was Dr. Bergen Evans, linguist and lexicographer of Northwestern University.

Cheerful news for six seniors is that they have received early decision acceptances from the colleges of their choice. Three girls will be going to Barnard, Mt. Holyoke, and Pembroke. Three boys will be going to Hamilton (one) and Williams (two).

Wayne Pressel, president of the students' Service Club, describes the organization as one "which extends a helping hand to the faculty and administration of our school by undertaking tedious, yet necessary work, such as cataloging books or cleaning science equipment. The Service Club readily accepts any job that can be done by students."

Cited by Bertram P. Shoyer, Director of the Lower School, as one of the most interesting and worthwhile assemblies of the fall term was that given by Mrs. Anne Aaron's sixth grade social studies group to celebrate United Nations Day. Each of the 46 pupils, he reports, took part in it; and a tremendous amount of work was done by the students preparing flags of all the nations. Special commendation for a job well done went to Eric Shreeman, Jim Harris, Jenny Zukowski, Ricky VanRiper, Tawn Ulbrich, Susan Trim, Vicky Hamilton, Kiki Freach, Kathy McFeely, Jenny Franchot, Doug Campbell, David Laurie, Jody Blain, David Morgan, Ralph Booth, and Marc Schwartz.

Named to the Student Council for grades 4-6 were the following students: sixth grade: Jody Blain, Linda Kammer, Douglas Campbell, Rocky Flintermann, Beth Ballantyne, Susan Trim, John Dykema, and Marc Schwartz; fifth grade: Greer Candler and Fourie Hudson; fourth grade: Jean Hudson and Paul Gard.

Duemling Picked By Police Chiefs

Shores Police Chief Fred Duemling was elected president of the Southeastern Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police, at an annual business meeting held at the Red Mill Restaurant and Lounge, Woodward and East Grand Boulevard, on Thursday, December 10.

The chief was first vice-president of the organization during 1964. He and the other elected officials will be installed on Thursday, January 14, to serve for one year.

Chief Duemling said that following the installation ceremonies, he will appoint heads of the various committees.

Warren Senior Inspector Charles L. Groesbeck was elected first vice-president; Lincoln Park Chief Carl Walkmaster, second vice-president; and Clawson Police Chief Frank T. Cribb, secretary-treasurer.

Chief Duemling said that when he assumes office, he will recommend the formation of a Youth Committee, to study and act on some of the youth problems prevalent today. It is hoped that the proposed new committee will meet with the Juvenile Officers Association, for a joint study and action on these problems, he said.

The chief received a telegram from Shores Village President John Huetteman, who is also police commissioner, and members of the Village Council, congratulating him on his election.

EVEN IF NO ONE CAN PLAY

Even if you can't read a note, our "Minit Music" makes it easy for everyone to play. It's so easy to play your whole family will enjoy the new Lowrey Hilton. You'll hear everyone playing beautiful melodies right from the start.

The new Lowrey Hilton is a full size 2-44 note keyboard organ with 12 pedals. A built-in Leslie effect gives you total organ sound. It makes beautiful effects possible and increases the versatility of the organ.

The exclusive Lowrey glide control is included, giving such beautiful effects as the Hawaiian guitar and slide trombone. The touch tabs will give you a multitude of thrilling effects and you can blend all the organ tones (reed, flutes, strings and diapason).

Lowrey organs are famous for their tone. Ask anyone who owns one. The beautiful tone is "locked in" so no tuning is necessary. Now the new Hilton is completely uncomparable, same for only $695. It has features you'd expect to find only in much higher priced organs. It's beautiful furniture cabinet will become a focal point of your decor as well as family fun.

Additions to Library Staff

Standing in the office of ROBERT M. ORR, Director of the Grosse Pointe Public Libraries are newcomers to his staff for the 1964-65 year. They are (left to right) Mrs. Colleen Smith, Librarian, Central Library; Miss Barbara Harrison, Professional Assistant, Woods Branch Library; Miss Sue Rollins, Children's Librarian, Park Branch Library; Mrs. Ada Booth, Professional Assistant, Central Library; Mrs. Helen Nolan, Circulation Clerk, Park Branch Library; and James Titterton, Audio-Visual Counselor, Central Library.

Because the Grosse Pointe Public Libraries are a division of The Grosse Pointe Public School System, it is only natural that one of the weekly series introducing the schools' new personnel should be devoted to brief biographies of library staff members.

Relative newcomers include Mrs. Ada Booth, reference librarian at Central, Miss Barbara Harrison, young adult librarian at Woods, Mrs. Helen Nolan, circulation clerk at Park, Miss Sue Rollins, children's librarian at Park, Mrs. Colleen F. Smith, reference librarian at Central, and James Titterton, audio-visual counselor at Central.

Mrs. Booth comes to her present post with nine years' professional experience in other libraries and three years' experience with the local libraries as a substitute.

Holds Three Degrees
Well-qualified for her assignment, she holds an AB from Salem College, a BS in library science from Simmons College, and an MS in library science from the University of Michigan.

She began her librarianship days as a student assistant during her college days in North Carolina. She was assistant librarian at Meredith College, worked in the General Library at the University of Michigan, and then went to Ann Arbor's William L. Clements Library.

The Booths, residents of Grosse Pointe Park, are the parents of two daughters. Mrs. Booth has been active in a variety of community activities here, as well as in other places where she has lived. These include the Girl Scouts, Red Cross, church and PTA work.

Miss Barbara Harrison majored in English and social studies at Marshall University in Huntington, W. Va. She recently received her MS in library science from Western Reserve University.

Throughout her school days Miss Harrison has participated in many extra-curricular activities. Band, basketball, reading, skiing, bridge and singing have occupied her interests.

Graduate of GPHS
Prior to her assignment with the Grosse Pointe Public Library, Miss Harrison spent a year teaching English in the Cincinnati Public Schools.

Mrs. Helen Nolan is a graduate of Grosse Pointe High School. She has completed additional training in a variety of fields at the Calculating Institute, the Roberts Conservatory of Music, and in extension courses of the University of Michigan.

Mrs. Nolan has held a variety of secretarial assignments in the business world in the Detroit metropolitan area and in San Francisco for the Treasury Department. She worked for the Grand Trunk Railroad as a comptometer operator.

The Nolans are residents of Lochmoor Boulevard in Grosse Pointe Woods. Miss Sue Rollins held a scholarship to West Virginia Wesleyan College in her native state. She was named to the Dean's list and was an officer of the college choir. In 1964 Miss Rollins received her MS in library science at Western Reserve University, where she was an officer of the library school class.

Took Degrees at Wayne
She includes needlework, bowling, skiing, and flute-playing among her interests. She is a member of the American Library Association. Prior to coming to Grosse Pointe, she was a junior high school librarian in Wheeling, West Virginia.

Mrs. Colleen F. Smith was

MS in library science from the same institution.

She began her business career as the secretary to the base surgeon at a B-25 base during World War II, worked for the Santa Fe Railroad. Mrs. Smith has been married for 16 years to F. Janney Smith, M.D. The household consists of two cats, one dog, and two children; Steve, 14, a student at Grosse Pointe University School, while Holly, 12, attends Brownell. The Smiths reside in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Heavy Docket In City Court

A heavy docket was cleared in Grosse Pointe City's Justice Court on Tuesday, December 8, by Judge Malcolm J. Sutherland.

In two cases defendants were found guilty of violating the Drunk Motor Law, fined and had their licenses sent to Lansing. Moses Sims was fined $100, in the first, and Bruce Harper, in the second, was fined $50.

Eino Leinonen was also found guilty of breaking the Drunk Motor Law and fined $100. He will appeal his case, however, in Circuit Court.

Two cases involving reckless driving causing an accident were dismissed by Judge Sutherland because the complainants refused to prosecute. The defendants were Katherine Kearney and Mary Mitchell.

The complainant also refused to prosecute in the case of Dan Travis who had been accused of leaving the scene of an accident. The case was dismissed.

George Kempa, William Miller and Jack Grzybek were found guilty of being disorderly persons and of the possession of beer. They were each fined $25 and put on one year probation with a six month favorable report.

Judge Sutherland found Timothy Ruen and Frank Wade, Jr. guilty of being disorderly persons and fined $25. Christopher Terry was found not guilty of the same charge and the case against him dismissed.

In other cases, Judge Sutherland found Richard Beach II guilty of speeding 35 m.p.h., fined him $25 and suspended his license for 30 days. Richard Dumas was found guilty of reckless driving and fined $50. Frank Cernio, Jr. was found guilty of being a disorderly person and possessing beer in an automobile in Justice Court on December 3. Judge Sutherland fined him $25.

THIEVES ARE VANDALS
Mrs. Richard Williams of 433 Barclay, parked her car in the driveway alongside her house, according to information she gave to Farms police, and someone during the night, and someone stole the hubcaps. She also reported that the distributor wires were cut and the coil wires yanked out of the motor.

Detroit Lions linebacker Dennis Gaubatz made a habit of going "bowling" during his college career, playing in the Orange Bowl in '62 against Colorado and in the Cotton Bowl in '63 against Texas.

Pledges Kept By Toby David

Toby David — TV's Captain Jolly — announced he will return to Detroit from New York today, Thursday, to fulfill a series of personal appearances and benefits in the Detroit area.

David made his announcement prior to leaving for New York where he will discuss with network and agency personnel a "pilot" program for children made some time ago.

David made it clear that — although he is not appearing on local television at present — he intends to continue his frequent public appearances.

David stated: "I have always regarded my visits to hospitals and benefit performances as a way of saying 'thank you' to the children and parents who have loyally supported me for many years. I will fulfill all commitments I have made and will make others as my schedule permits."

Among the appearances already scheduled are his annual visit to the pediatric ward at Bon Secours Hospital in Grosse Pointe today, Thursday, December 17, a special program of the Lions Club for blind children at Masonic Temple on December 22 and a visit to Receiving Hospital on December 21.

Last week, David donated a television set to Bon Secours — the sixth such set he has given the hospital.

David indicated he will conduct the Mt. Clemens Symphony Orchestra in a special benefit concert in January as well.

David also noted that he hopes to remain in Detroit even if a network show is arranged. He commented:

"I have been associated with radio and television in Detroit since 1935, and I hope to stay here with my many friends."

David has been extremely active in civic affairs and was appointed to the Michigan State Fair Authority by Governor George Romney last year. He was later elected chairman of the commission.

He is a member of the advisory board of the Economic Club of Detroit; the advisory board of the Metropolitan Detroit YMCA; the board of trustees of St. Jude's Hospital in Memphis, Tennessee; and the Children's Hospital Building Fund Committee.

He is the first entertainer to serve as president of the Adercraft Club of Detroit.

Lambda Theta, honorary education society. Bridge is a hobby. She has been active in the Wayne County Medical Auxiliary. Now she is a member of the AAUW.

A highlight was a trip to Switzerland with her doctor-husband when he presented a paper at a medical meeting there. On the way, she was happy to have visited Ireland, England, and France.

Best Moose-Caller
Last year she won a moose-calling contest and has the antlers to prove her prowess.

James L. Titterton, the audio-visual counselor at the Grosse Pointe Central Library, is a native of Omaha, Neb. He finished a college preparatory course at Kearney High School, then received his BA from Kearney State College. He completed his MA at Colorado State College.

His activities have included membership in Tri Phi fraternity, the presidency of Pi Gamma Mu, and the post of treasurer of the Sidney (Nebraska) Educators' Club. He holds membership in the National Education Association, the Nebraska Education Association.

Prior to coming to Grosse Pointe, he was a teacher in the public schools of Sidney, Neb. Hobbies include photography, golf, fishing, reading, bicycling, and traveling. The Tittertons and their two boys, Troy (age 2) and Scott (age 4) make their home in Hunt Club drive.

Director Orr Pleased
"Mrs. Booth, Miss Harrison, Miss Rollins and Mrs. Smith

represent one of the finest groups of Professional Librarians ever added to the staff. With their library science degrees, training and experience, each is making an outstanding contribution to the patrons of the Grosse Pointe Public Library. Their service represents the Public Library's basic contribution, bringing together the right book and the right user. Mr. Titterton brings a wealth of training and experience to his position as film counselor and has already strengthened our audio-visual program. Mrs. Nolan, a circulation clerk, is a long-time resident and library user, and is an excellent addition to what I consider the finest non-professional staff in the country. The enthusiasm, initiative and involvement of these people has already strengthened and improved our service," Robert M. Orr, director of the Grosse Pointe Public Library stated recently.

Yule Programs At St. James

The St. James Lutheran Church announces the following special services for the Christmas season:

On Sunday, December 20, at 9:30 a.m., the Sunday school will hold its annual Children's Program. The program will consist of recitations and carols in which all children in the Sunday School will participate, including the youngest members of the group.

Christmas Eve will herald the traditional Candlelight Song Festival, which will begin at 11 p.m. The meditation by Pastor George Kurz will be, "Our Bright and Morning Star," based on Rev. 22:16. The Chancel Choir will sing many carols, among them the beautiful "Searching Carol" by Marryot. One of the musical highlights will be a duet by Mrs. William Heller and Mrs. Heinz Hintzen.

On Christmas Day at 11 a.m., St. James will hold its Christmas Morning Family Service. The sermon topic will be, "Unto Us a Son Is Given" (Is. 9:2-7), and the choir anthem will be the joyous "On This Good Christmas Morn" by Cain. A nursery is provided for young children.

To those who have no church home of their own, St. James extends a most cordial invitation to worship with them at these Christmas services.

Capt. Franz Forster Receives Army Commendation Medal

Capt. Franz J. Forster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Forster, 1023 Whittier road, received the Army Commendation Medal from Colonel I. M. Coleman, reviewing officer, during ceremonies at Fort Eustis, Va. Captain Forster received the award for meritorious service while assigned to Headquarters, U. S. Army Communications Zone, Europe in Germany. The captain is a 1956 graduate of Austin Preparatory School and a 1960 graduate of John Carroll University in Cleveland, Ohio. He is currently assigned as a student at the Army Transportation School at Fort Eustis.

OBITUARIES

EDWIN C. KIDD

Funeral services were held Friday, December 11, for Mr. Kidd, 71, of 627 Neff road, at the Verheyden Funeral Home. He died Tuesday, December 8. Born in Illinois and a Detroit resident for 35 years, Mr. Kidd, until his retirement, had been president of Kidd, Inc., an advertising firm. Before that, he had been vice president and advertising manager for Nyal Drug Co.

Survivors include his wife, Vera; two sons, Edwin C., Jr. and Alan; a daughter, Mrs. George B. Gaston, and two grandchildren.

BERTHA V. BLAKE

Funeral services for Mrs. Blake, 78, of 1039 Somerset road, were held Saturday, December 12, at the Verheyden Funeral Home and St. Ambrose Church.

She died in her residence on Wednesday, December 9. Born in Ontario, Canada, Mrs. Blake is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Catherine Leamon, Mrs. Florence Brogan and Mrs. Veronica Mutschall; five sons, John J., George E., Gerald J., James F. and Francis P.; a sister, Mrs. Leo Lesperance; two brothers Dennis and Pat Byrne; 54 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Interment was in Mt. Olivet Cemetery.

SELDEN STRATTON DICKINSON

Funeral services for Mr. Dickinson, 72, were held Thursday, December 10, in Christ Church. He died Tuesday, December 8, in Jennings Memorial Hospital.

Born in Waterloo, Ind., he had lived in the Detroit area since 1915. He resided at 165 Cloverly road.

Mr. Dickinson was graduated from the University of Michigan. A lawyer, he was a member of the Detroit Club, the Country Club of Detroit, the American Bar Association, the Detroit Bar Association and the Thomas M. Cooley Club.

He is survived by his wife, Constance Pinchoi King Dickinson; two daughters, Mrs. Robert Benchley of New Canaan, Conn. and Mrs. William P. Herbert; a son, Dr. S. Jerome Dickinson, of New York City; and seven grandchildren.

CYRIEL CALLEWAERT

Funeral services for Mr. Callewaert, 65, were held Wednesday, December 16 at the Verheyden Funeral Home. He resided at 1358 Maryland.

Born in Belgium, he died Saturday, December 12 in Bon Secours Hospital. He is survived by his wife, Helen; a son, Michael, and a sister, Mrs. George DeGraeve.

Burial was in Mt. Olivet Cemetery.

GEORGIA KUHN

Mrs. Kuhn, 68, of 1144 Whittier, died Friday, December 11, in Detroit. She was born in Warren, Mich.

Services for Mrs. Kuhn were held Monday, December 14 at the Verheyden Funeral Home. Interment was in White Chapel Cemetery.

She is survived by her husband, William M. and a son, William.

LUTHER S. TROWBRIDGE, Jr.
 Mr. Trowbridge, 55, of 376 Kercheval avenue, died Wednesday, December 9, in Cottage Hospital after a long illness.

A member of an early Detroit manufacturing family, he was born in Grosse Pointe. He had been associated with the Putnam Tool Co. for the past 12 years, and prior to that was associated with Ethyl Gas Corp. and Trowbridge and Trowbridge.

Mr. Trowbridge was a graduate of Yale University, a life member of old Christ Church, Detroit and a member of the parish at St. Columba Episcopal Church. He had been associated with the Boy Scout movement at Christ Church, Grosse Pointe for 17 years.

Funeral services were held Saturday, December 12 in Old Christ Church. Burial was in Elmwood Cemetery.

Survivors include: a sister, Mrs. Edward G. Schaffer of Fenton, Mich., three nephews and four nieces.

S. WESLEY MARCUS

Mr. Marcus of Summit, N.J. and a former resident of Grosse Pointe died Saturday, December 5.

Born in Belfast, Ireland, Mr. Marcus in June retired as the director of Professional Development of Price Waterhouse and Company. He had been with the firm for 42 years. He joined the audit staff of the Boston office in 1922, was with the Mexico City office from 1928 until 1944 when he was transferred to Detroit.

In 1955 he was transferred to New York and the next year joined the National Personnel Department. A short time later he was named National Staff Training Director and then National Professional Development Director.

While a resident of Grosse Pointe, he was active in the Newcomer's Club and Ingleside Square Dance Club. During his years in Mexico, he was Past Grand Master, Past Grand Commander and Past High Priest of the English Speaking Masonic Bodies.

He is survived by his wife, Floris; a daughter, Linda; two sons, John Wesley of Grosse Pointe and Steven Ralph of Columbus, O.; five sisters, and five grandchildren.

ARTHUR E. FLEMING

Funeral services for Mr. Fleming, 60, were held at the Verheyden Funeral Home and St. Clare de Montefalco Church on Wednesday, December 16. He died Sunday, December 13, in St. Joseph Hospital, Ann Arbor.

A resident of 1025 Audubon road, Mr. Fleming was founder and president of the A. E. Fleming Paint Company.

Survivors include his wife,

Kathleen, and three brothers, Francis, Thomas and Gerald. Burial was in Mt. Olivet Cemetery.

LOUIS J. McKENNEY

Mr. McKenney, 84, of 42 Newberry Place, died Friday, December 11, in Carmel Hall.

A resident of Detroit for 50 years, he was manager of the Manhattan Rubber Company for 25 years until his retirement

10 years ago. Prior to his association with the rubber company, he was chairman of the Highland Park General Hospital Board of Managers. In 1933, he served as president of the Michigan State Hospital Association.

Mr. McKenney was a member of the Detroit Athletic Club and the Council No. 305, Knights of Columbus.

He is survived by his son, Ralph W.

Services for Mr. McKenney were held Monday, December 14 in St. Paul's Church. Burial was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

An electric dryer puts sunshine in your laundry room and a bright spot in your bank book

An electric dryer dries clothes evenly, like the sun—only better because electric heat is gentler, more controllable than the sun. Colors don't fade. Clothes stay bright. So does your bank book. Here's why.

Model for model, an electric dryer costs from $20 to $40 less than a gas dryer. And if you buy now, this lower price includes installation. So you save more, right from the start.

You also save in the long run . . . because electric dryers cost nothing for electrical repairs or labor, thanks to Edison's no-charge service. Based on manufacturers' repair policy premiums, this repair service can save you up to $200 over a 10-year period.

And it doesn't matter where you buy your electric dryer, so long as you're an Edison customer. (This is the only no-charge dryer service offered by a utility company in this area.) Look into a modern electric dryer now at your appliance dealer's or Edison office.

WHAT SHALL WE GIVE THE CHILDREN?

In the long twilight of the year, the faces of the children grow luminous. Rosy with cold, arabesqued with snowflakes, leaning into the wind, or drowsing before the fire, their eyes large, they look and listen, as if they glimpsed the peripheries of miracle or heard a soundless music in the air. From the innocent kingdom of implicit belief to that uncomfortable arena where the implacable mind battles the intractable heart, the faces of children at Christmas are lighted with visions of things to come.

What shall we give the children?

It seems certain that they will travel roads we never thought of, navigate strange seas, cross unimagined boundaries, and glimpse horizons beyond our power to visualize. What can we give them to take along? For the wild shores of Beyond, no toy or bauble will do. It must be something more, constructed of stouter fabric discovered among the cluttered aisles and tinsed bargain counters of experience, winnowed from what little we have learned. It must be devised out of responsibility and profound caring—a homemade present of selfless love. Everything changes but the landscape of the heart.

What shall we give the children?

Attention, for one day it will be too late. A sense of value, the inalienable place of the individual in the scheme of things, with all that accrues to the individual—self-reliance, courage, conviction, self-respect, and respect for others. A sense of humor. Laughter leavens life. The meaning of discipline. If we falter at discipline, life will do it for us. The will to work. Satisfying work is the lasting joy. The talent for sharing, for it is not so much what we give as what we share. The love of justice. Justice is the bulwark against violence and oppression and the repository of human dignity. The passion for truth, founded on precept and example. Truth is the beginning of every good thing. The power of faith, engendered in mutual trust. Life without faith is a dismal dead-end street. The beacon of hope, which lights all darkness. The knowledge of being loved beyond demand or reciprocity, praise or blame, for those so loved are never lost.

What shall we give the children?

The open sky, the brown earth, the leafy tree, the golden sand, the blue water, the stars in their courses, and the awareness of these. Birdsong, butterflies, clouds, and rainbows. Sunlight, moonlight, firelight. A large hand reaching down for a small hand, impromptu praise, an unexpected kiss, a straight answer. The glister of enthusiasm and a sense of wonder. Long days to be merry in and nights without fear. The memory of a good home.

So impressed were we with the above, printed on Page 93 of the December McCall's Magazine, that we asked the publishers for permission to reprint it here, for the benefit of our readers who may not have read it in the magazine. We are grateful for the privilege. We should add that the publishers of McCall's are to be commended for the superlative job they have done with this entire issue. The follow-up pictures to this article are particularly delightful.

Letters to the Editor

Wednesday, December 9
To the Editor:

Since I have just come home from a recent emergency operation at the Cottage Hospital, I would like to tell you, and perhaps your readers, of the excellent care given me by all concerned.

From the physician and surgeon to the nurses and nurses aides, the whole procedure was efficient and thorough.

Even the women who come in to clean the rooms were most pleasant and considerate. In an institution as busy as this one,

I believe this to be a fine record and thought perhaps this community should be told of it. I would prefer this to be anonymous but I am so grateful for the thoughtful and understanding care I received last week.

Now home and feeling a bit limp, but fine—the wonders of modern surgery.

Grateful. I did not mention the volunteers, as I saw so little of them. But they do a good job and take a good bit of the details from the backs of others.

What Goes On at Your Library

By Virginia Leonard

With the constant hue and cry for popular best sellers — does anyone ever think about the old tested-and-true classics? How many times do you quote Shakespeare, for example, without being aware of it? How much influence have these so-called "Great Books" had on your lives? More than you realize.

If you have ever read Dante's DIVINE COMEDY, you will never forget the searing, mental picture conjured up by the Inferno and Purgatorio, with Virgil as guide. The inscription over the gates of Hell: "All hope abandon, ye who enter here" is one of its most quoted phrases. How frequently do you refer to someone as Machiavellian — meaning he is unscrupulous, cunning—a ruler to whom the end justifies the means? When you do, you are, of course referring to Machiavelli's famous PRINCE, whose political theories and doctrines are still being studied, followed and discussed today.

If it's the best of all possible worlds you're looking for, go back and reread CANDIDE by Voltaire; that's where this expression started. Even after a long interval, this wonderful satire is not dimmed, nor its well-known admonition to cultivate your own garden forgotten! Again in the French vein, you have all heard of Rabelaisian humor. If you're curious, we suggest you go and read GARGANTUA AND PANTAGRUEL. Being an ex-French teacher, I must mention a few more of my favorites: "I think, therefore, I am" — famous words of Rene Descartes. And what of Jean-Jacques Rousseau's oft-repeated "Man is born free, and everywhere he is in chains" from his famous CONTRAT SOCIAL. One I have used before in a column, but which is still very meaningful to me, is the one from Pascal's PENSEES, which paraphrases, states that man is a feeble reed, but is still more powerful than nature, who can vanquish him easily, because, in dying, he (man) is greater than nature, because he knows that he dies and nature knows nothing of it.

How about the array of characters in THE CANTERBURY TALES? The Knight, the prioress, the nun's priest, the squire, the wife of Bath? You read them in school; I bet you remember some of them! And the sweep of the ODYSSEY and the ILLIAD, whether you read them in English or the original — still resounds down the corridors of your memory.

In the German genre, there is Goethe's FAUST complete with the colorful Mephistopheles (and when isn't the Devil a commanding or engaging figure — remember THE DEVIL AND DANIEL WEBSTER?)

One wonderful is DON QUIXOTE DE LA MANCHA by Cervantes. How many times have you tilted at windmills? I can visualize this tragic-comic protagonist, his buddy, Sancho Panza, his donkey, Rocinante. And while on the subject of Dons, we should mention some of the famous DON JUANS — one entitled DON JUAN TENORIO by Jose Zorrilla Moral, one by Moliere, and one by Byron. Here is certainly a character who has been incorporated into our everyday language.

We are all familiar with Hemingway's FOR WHOM THE BELL TOLLS; are we all aware that this is a direct quote from John Donne's DEVOTIONS? "No man is an island, intire of itself; every man is a piece of the continent, a part of the maine . . ."

Charles Dickens is a veritable gold-mine of characters and well-known phrases. Uriah Heep, the hypocritical, hand-rubbing villain; the Micawbers, the Peggottys, Edward Murdstone, David's irascible stepfather; Barkis who was always willing! Besides DAVID COPPERFIELD, there are other famous ones such as OLIVER TWIST, with wicked Fagin; Scrooge, Tiny Tim and Jacob Marley's Ghost from a CHRISTMAS CAROL.

Our cause celebre is probably Shakespeare, whom we mentioned fleetingly in our opening paragraph. His people and immortal utterances form a panoply which is peerless and awe-inspiring. One whole column could not do justice to his Hamlet, his Macbeth, his Portia, his Yorick, nor to the artistry and sheer genius of his words.

By this time, you have probably conjured up many a fine quotation and many an unforgettable hero or heroine. These authors are from all ages, all countries — united by the common denominator — genius — which has no boundaries, no rules, but leaves an indelible imprint on our civilizations, our minds and our hearts. Long after you have read HERZOG, JULIAN or THE GROUP, you will still remember faces, expressions, personalities from these time-worn, time-tested classics.

What's New on THE HILL...

by Roberta

THERE ARE STILL seven shopping days left until HIS visit. Kercheval on the Hill is so merry . . . so bright . . . so teeming with stuff for gift giving that you will want to capture the ways of Christmas with all their thoughtful, hand-picked, personalized gifts

THE EASIEST WAY to shop for Christmas is to buy a gift certificate from Denler and Co. This way she can have a chair upholstered . . . get a new rug . . . draperies . . . lamps . . . or choose a picture. Get one for as little as ten dollars or as much as ten thousand. If you look in the windows at number 77 this week you will see the variety of home decorative accessories . . . all as bright and warm as your Christmas hearth.

JUST ARRIVED from England for his Christmas pleasure . . . English Blazer buttons . . . crowns, fleur de leis and royal crested ones . . . each set 15.00 at Picard-Norton, 92 Kercheval.

BOXES . . . TRAPPINGS and wrappings . . . just what you'd expect to find right now in a store brimming over with gifts for him like electric razors . . . toothbrushes . . . colognes. It is here, too, that you will find a gift of luxury for the gal who loves the fragrances of Givenchy, Cabochard, Shelley Marks, Nina Ricca, Estee Lauder, Lanvin, Dior, Guerlain, Caron, Marcel Rochas. It's so easy to find a gift for HIM or HER at Trail Apothecary Shop, 121 Kercheval. Open every evening for your convenience.

ONE OF A KIND . . . for the lady in your life who sews a very fine seam. A box to hold all her scissors and thimbles and spools decouped by Marie Mitchell . . . so beautifully done she'll carry it with her everywhere. (Might hold the jewels of a non-sewer, so beautiful inside and out!) $65.00. The League Shop, 72 Kercheval.

CHRISTMAS always has its personal gifts from Anthony's Boutique Salon . . . where a gift of lingerie is always divine . . . of course, there are pearls . . . lacy or tailored slips from ten . . . and petticoats from around nine dollars . . . or choose a cashmere sweater for under thirty dollars . . . have each gift wrapped. 115 Kercheval. Open Thursday evenings.

THERE IS SOMEONE on your list who would adore a wooden (walnut or maple) trencher from Dorset, Vermont. Choose from the moppet size for five dollars to the giant size for 29.95 at Virginia Williams, 79 Kercheval.

FOR THE GOURMET at Christmas there is always a handsome wine rack from Hamlins. Fashioned of fine wood, wine racks are useful the year around . . . ideal for bar or rec room. Three sizes from 8.95 to 49.95. 89 Kercheval, TU 5-8400 for immediate deliveries.

EVERY DAY new merchandise is arriving at the Sign of the Mermaid where they are open every Thursday evening, and next week Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 21, 22, and 23 they will be open in the evening. Expect a treat . . . expect an egg nog during evening hours. 75 Kercheval, TU 2-1610.

THE SELECTION of imported knit caps for boys and girls at Young Clothes, Inc. is tremendous . . . solids . . . stripes . . . patterns . . . helmets . . . pixies . . . and so many more styles are here. From 2.00. 110 Kercheval.

AS BRIGHT as candy canes, only much prettier, are those boxed religious, modern, and traditional, Christmas cards awaiting your signature in "The Top Shop" at The Dants, 98 Kercheval. Children's greetings are also available.

ALL THAT GLITTERS . . . golden angels . . . cherubic . . . ESPECIALLY FOR ANGELS (that's you) are highly decorative as well as useful. See what we mean when you visit 121 . . . Trail Apothecary Shop.

MADE IN ENGLAND by Welch Margetson & Co., Ltd. especially for Picard-Norton . . . specialists in men's attire . . . is hand blocked ancient Madder neckwear . . . 6.50. 92 Kercheval.

MOST CHILDREN grow up normally. For many children, however, the years of childhood bring more fear than fun, more sadness than joy. For those children who have more than their share of difficulty in adjusting to life, help is often hard to find. Count on the Northeastern Wayne County Child Guidance Clinic, 18420 Mack Avenue, Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan. Send your needed contribution soon!

HEAR the music? Hear the Christmas bells-ting-a-ling-a-ling-a? See the sign? John S. Goodman, Realtor! Tu. 6-3060.

UMMMMM!! We are smacking our lips because we have just tasted those fresh Praline candies at Trail Apothecary Shop, 121 Kercheval.

TONIGHT, Dec. 17, the following stores on the Hill will be open to serve you . . . Frank Adams, Anthony, The Book Shelf, Gray's Racquet and Sport Shop, Picard-Norton, Margaret Rice, Sign of the Mermaid, Carl Stern, Trail Apothecary Shop, Virginia Williams, Wrigley's, and Young Clothes, Inc. . . . Happy Shopping!

WOMEN'S PAGES

From Another Pointe of View

By Janet Mueller

The early snows have left us a little less than enthralled with the idea of a White Christmas (wouldn't it be nice to spend the season South, partying under the palms?) but The Pointe's young expatriates, particularly those who now make their homes on the West Coast, are true sentimentalists when it comes to Christmas snow (they don't have to live through January, and February, and slushy, mushy March...).

Coming home for the holidays are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas (Pat) Freydl, of Palo Alto, Calif.

The young Freydls (he is a senior at Stanford) are due in town tomorrow. They will divide their time between her parents, the Walter Roses, of Harcourt road, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold D. Freydl, of Harvard road, flying West again shortly after New Year's.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilmot, with Kimberley Ann, five, and Kelly, one-and-a-half, are due to arrive from Huntington Beach, Calif.

The Wilmots traditionally spend Christmas and New Years' in The Pointe, enabling grandparents Mr. and Mrs. George Foster, of Broadstone road, and Mr. and Mrs. Judson Wilmot, of Balfour road, to spoil their two young granddaughters to their heart's content—for a few weeks.

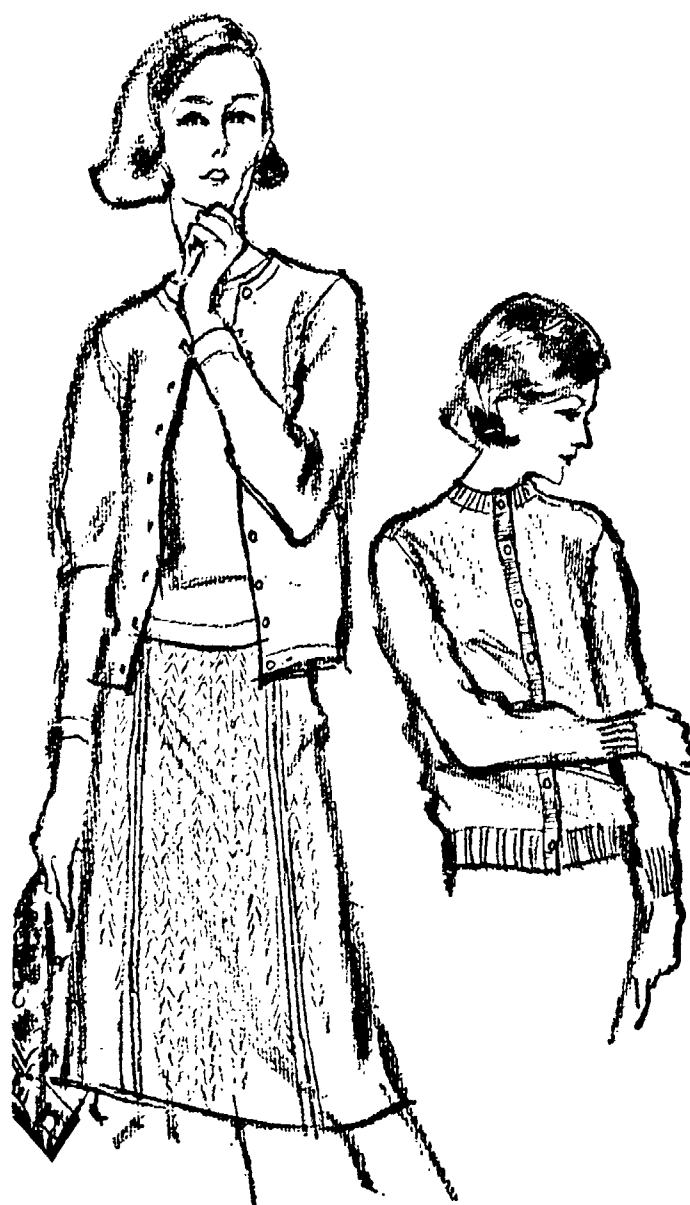

Long Distance Party Planning

The invitations have a New York postmark, the hostesses are due in town tomorrow, the party is scheduled Tuesday... and we take off our hats to The Mothers Involved, Mrs. John A. Callahan, of Kenwood road, and Mrs. Joseph S. Sherer, Jr., of Ridge road.

Sub-debs Lydia Sherer and Debby Callahan, classmates at The Masters' School, Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., are going to have a party, a supper dance at the Country Club.

The girls have had most of the IDEAS for the (Continued on Page 25)

Sara Champion Says Vows To Mr. Kinsey

Alencon Lace, Pearls and Crystals Accent Bride's Peau de Soie Gown; Newlyweds Will Make Their Home in Celle, Germany

Traveling to Washington to prepare for living overseas in Germany are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Larry Kinsey.

The pair were married Saturday at a 4 o'clock ceremony in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. Reverend Bertram deH. Atwood officiated at the rites.

The bride is the former Sara Stewart Champion, daughter of Mrs. William J. Champion, Jr., of Edgemore road, and the late Mr. Champion. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne L. Kinsey, of Indianapolis, Ind.

For her marriage, the former Miss Champion chose a gown of off-white peau de soie with motifs of Alencon lace and seed pearls accenting her bodice and softly draped full skirt.

Her elbow length silk illusion veil fell from a seed pearl-trimmed illusion pillbox. She carried a small bouquet of Stephanotis.

Catherine and Anne Champion served as their sister's attendants. They wore long gowns of azalia red chiffon and carried pale pink sweetheart roses.

Mr. Kinsey asked his father to act as best man. In the usher corps were David Kinsey, brother of the bridegroom; John K. Miles, of Urbana, Ill., and Theodore Collum, of Ft. Meade, Md.

A reception at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club followed the ceremony. Mrs. Champion wore an ice blue brocade suit. Mrs. Kinsey chose a blue afternoon dress. Both mothers wore cymbidium orchid corsages.

Mrs. Logan Wood, the bride's maternal grandmother, chose a royal blue gown.

For traveling, the bride donned a Schiaparelli pink wool dress with a pale pink coat. The bridegroom is serving with the United States Army. The newlyweds plan a delayed honeymoon, in Holland, at Tulip Time.

December 26 to January 2. The group will appear in parades and concert halls during an international sugar cane festival in Cali, Columbia.

THOMAS R. QUILTER and ARTHUR E. SCHNEIDER have been elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities from John Carroll University.

Quilter, son of MR. and MRS. THOMAS R. QUILTER, JR., of Hampton road, is an accounting major. He is president of Alpha Kappa Psi fraternity and a member of the University Club and the Glee Club. He is a graduate of Austin Catholic Preparatory School.

Schneider, son of MR. and MRS. C. A. SCHNEIDER, of McMillan road, is a marketing major. He is parliamentary of both Alpha Kappa Psi and the University Club. He is the winner of the Dean's Cup and (Continued on Page 18)

Miss Rieth Marries James F. Hathaway

Pair Travel to Williamsburg, Va., after Friday Evening Rites; Brussels Lace and Seed Pearls Trim Bridal Gown

A reception at the Detroit Yacht Club followed the Friday evening ceremony in St. James Lutheran Church, at which Doris Lucille Rieth became the bride of James Frederick Hathaway.

Reverend George E. Kurz officiated at the candlelight rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Rieth, of McMillan road. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Hathaway, of Beaufait road, Harper Woods.

For her marriage, the former Miss Rieth chose a gown of white peau de soie, trimmed with re-embroidered Brussels lace and seed pearls.

The Princess style wedding dress was fashioned with a scoop neckline and Chapel train. A matching lace and seed pearl headpiece caught the bride's bouffant silk illusion veil, and she carried an arrangement of sweetheart roses, centered with a white orchid.

Carol Ann Rieth served as her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Kenneth Kelly, the bridegroom's twin sister; Mrs. Michael Best and Mrs. James Rieth, sister-in-law of the bride.

They wore floor length frocks of cranberry c-pe, styled with Empire waistlines and elbow length jackets.

Their headpieces were cranberry Dior bows, and they carried pink sweetheart roses pinned to white fur muffs.

The bridegroom asked Gary Malone to act as best man. Guests were seated by James Rieth, the bride's brother, Kenneth Kelly, William Kaufman, Jerome Pinder and Robert Pinder.

Village Garden Club To Meet

Members of the Village Garden Club will gather for a December meeting tomorrow, at the Beverly road home of Mrs. Harold Gumpfer.

Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. William Boales, Mrs. Simpson Leonard and Mrs. M. R. Klippel.

The members will bring gaily wrapped Christmas gifts to distribute to children who are wards of the Oakland County Court.

For her daughter's wedding and the reception, Mrs. Rieth chose a turquoise satin and lace sheath, with matching accessories. She pinned white cymbidium orchids to her purse.

The bridegroom's mother wore a beige peau de soie and lace sheath, with matching accessories, and she, too, pinned cymbidium orchids to her purse.

When they return from their wedding trip to Williamsburg, Va., the new Mr. and Mrs. Hathaway will make their home in St. Clair Shores.

200 Members In Ski-Hi Club

Already the teenage Ski-Hi Club co-sponsored by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial and the Neighborhood Club has rung up 200 members for the new season and their first trips scheduled during Christmas vacation are filling rapidly.

Leaving Sunday afternoon, December 27, and returning the evening of Wednesday the thirtieth. Seventy club members and chaperones will journey by chartered busses to the SX Ranch and Farm at Wolverine, Mich. The busses will take them on successive days to Boyne Highlands, Nubs Nob, Thunder Mountain and Boyne Mt. for skiing.

Special entertainment will be planned at night in the lush lodge of the ranch and a party at Harbor Spring's Pony Tail Night Club is included. Three nights' lodging, eight meals, all transportation, insurance and chaperonage is offered for $35 (Tow fees are extra), but one must be a club member.

The $3 a season club membership is available to any public, parochial, or private high school boy or girl in Grosse Pointe. Now is the time to join to be aboard for the dozen trips scheduled which end with a grand 10-day ski trip to the Western Rockies during spring vacation.

For those who can't go on the long ski trip during Christmas vacation, a special day trip to Pine Knob is slated on Tuesday, December 29 between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. The package includes charter bus transportation, all area tow charges, and ski insurance for $5. Lessons are offered for 50c and equipment can be rented for $1.50.

Members are permitted to bring guests on this trip for $1 extra. There is a 35-person limit on this trip and there are not too many places left.

To Wrap Gifts For Hospitals

Members of the Windmill Pointe Garden Club will take time off from their Christmas shopping and holiday activities to meet at the home of Mrs. Fred Auch in Audubon road, today, Thursday, to wrap 200 packages.

They will go to the sick and disabled men and women at the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital, (Marine), and the Michigan Memorial Institute. It has been a project of the Club's for the past 12 years.

Coffee and cookies will be served during the morning of wrapping.

Triangle Show Stirs Memories

A Princeton Triangle show is a mad and marvelous thing, and the Triangle Club has presented musical comedies to audiences from coast to coast over a 76-year period.

But like most theatrical endeavors, the biggest thrills, and fondest memories, belong to those behind the footlights.

The Princeton Club of Michigan includes a number of former Triangle Club members, who will be on the welcoming committee when the undergrads arrive in Detroit for their December 29 show at the Masonic Temple, "Grape Expectations."

Charles W. Williams, of Birmingham, is chairman of the Detroit production this year, and was manager of the 1938 show, "Once Over Lightly." William W. Stewart, also of Birmingham, in charge of ticket sales, was a member of the Triangle orchestra for the 1941 show "Ask Me Another," and was in the chorus of "Time and Again" in 1942.

Ronald N. Friedrich, of Rivard boulevard, was president of the Triangle Club in 1954 and played one of the lead roles in that year's show, "Tunis Anyone?" He also had major parts in the 1952 and 1953 shows.

Other former Triangle members include Howard H. Robinson, Jr., Thomas F. Paddock, Earl I. Heenan, Jr., Palmer T. Heenan and Barry C. Phelps, all of Grosse Pointe.

Tickets for the public performance of "Grape Expectations" are on sale at Grinnells.

The American College of Physicians — an international organization representing specialists in internal medicine and related fields — recently designated Pointer DR. ROBERT E. BIRK as a Fellow of the College. Elected as Associates were Pointers DR. WALTER F. KUJAWSKI and DR. THOMAS J. PETZ.

Yale Glee Club Set For Pointe Concert

Alumni Association Dance Scheduled after Performance; Private Parties Planned at Beginning and End of Evening

The Yale Glee Club, under the direction of Fenno Heath, will appear in concert this Wednesday, December 23, at 8:30 o'clock, in Parcels Junior High School Auditorium.

The program will also include several numbers by the Whiffenpoofs, 14 members of the Glee Club whose harmonizing is nationally famous.

Before the concert many Pointers, alumni and friends, have planned private parties to celebrate the Club's appearance.

The David L. Tennents, of Rivard boulevard, will entertain at a dinner party. Invitations for cocktails and dinner have been sent out by the Leonard W. Smiths, of Whittier road, and the Alan A. Bodcombes, of Washington road, will also be hosting a group of friends.

The Wendell C. Goddards and Burt R. Shurlys will join forces to entertain the George Millers, Donald H. Parsons and Thomas H. Wagners at a Little Club get-together before the performance.

Immediately following the concert, at 10:30 o'clock, the Yale Alumni Association's 18th annual Christmas Dance will begin, at the Country Club of Detroit. Dancing music will be by Jack Qualey, intermission entertainment by the Whiffenpoofs.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Aller, (he is in charge of tickets for the concert and the dance), plan to invite a group of friends to join them in their Moross road home for a midnight snack at the end of the evening.

The Allens had scheduled a before-concert party, decided there "just wasn't enough time" to feed and enjoy their guests before the 8:30 performance—so they switched hours on their invitations.

Especially excited about the Glee Club's appearance is young Horace Allen, who celebrates his ninth birthday December 23. As a special treat, he is to be allowed to attend the concert.

Proceeds from the concert and the dance benefit the Yale Alumni Association's scholarship fund.

Among those heading committees for the evening are the William Y. Gards, the Michael Gaskins, (they will be among those entertaining before the

Julie Cordtz Weds William W. Nolan

Reception in Casino Room of Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel Follows Rites; Pair to Live in LaGrange, Ill., Upon Return from New York

In a white velvet gown, accented with re-embroidered Alencon lace and seed pearls, Julie Marguerite Cordtz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Cordtz of Neff road, spoke her wedding vows to William W. Nolan Saturday.

The Reverend George E. Kurz officiated at the 12:30 o'clock ceremony in the St. James Lutheran Church.

The bride's gown was fashioned with a scoop neckline, long sleeves and molded bodice. Her softly draped skirt ended in a chapel train.

Her veil of English silk illusion fell from a cap of lace, pearls and crystals, and she carried phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis.

Dressed in sheath gowns of American Beauty velvet were the attendants, maid of honor Lynne Martin, and bridesmaids Sally and Kathryn Nolan, sisters of the bridegroom. They carried white muffs and American Beauty roses.

The bridegroom, son of Mr.

and Mrs. James Nolan, of LaGrange, Ill., asked William W. Nolan, son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Nolan, of Naperville, Ill., to serve as best man.

Ushering were Carl Nolan, the bridegroom's brother, of LaGrange, John Bourne and William Siebert, of LaGrange.

Following a reception in the Casino Room of the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel, the newlyweds left for New York City. They will make their home in LaGrange.

The mother of the bride wore a pink worsted silk jacket dress, with French beading on the Mandarin collar and at the waistline.

Mrs. Nolan chose a gold and beige brocade dress, and a corsage of beige cymbidium orchids.

'Nutcracker' Slated Dec. 19

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra will give performances of Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Ballet" featuring the Detroit Severo Ballet Company at 11 and 2 o'clock Saturday, December 19, at Ford Auditorium. Valet Poole will conduct the pair of special holiday Young People's Concerts.

Solo dancers for the performances will be Marlene Benvenuti and Ivan Allen, who is a member of the Metropolitan Opera of New York.

The Detroit Severo Ballet Company has served for many years as a Detroit training ground for young talented dancers who have gone on to successful careers.

The concerts will be the second pair in the series of Young People's Concerts. Offenbach's Comic Opera, "66", will be performed on February 13 with The After Dinner Opera Company, and cartoonist Stuart Hample will illustrate on Stage Saint-Saens' "Carnival of the Animals" on March 27.

A few single seats are still available for Saturday's performance of "The Nutcracker."

Brownell Sets Vocal Program

Amid swirling snowflakes and fragrant greens, parents and friends of Brownell Junior High School students will gather in the school auditorium-gym tomorrow evening December 18, at 8 o'clock to hear vocal music of the Christmas season presented by 350 students in grades seven, eight and nine.

Under the direction of the school's new vocal music instructor, Dan Evola, a mass chorus will open the program with two folk songs appropriate to the season, "Deck the Halls" and "Jingle Bells" which will be followed by the malodious French carol "Angels We Have Heard on High," and the traditional "Adeste Fidelis," with Jim Neiman singing a solo part.

After this portion of the program, the ninth grade glee club will present three carols of varying origins: "Go Tell It on the Mountain," a Negro spiritual; "I Saw Three Ships," an English carol; and "Jesus Atoneth," a carol of the Huron Indians.

Seventh and eighth grade choruses will then combine in a delightful arrangement of a French carol, "Sing We Now of Christmas," followed by the ninth grade glee club again in two modern songs of faith, "One Little Candle" and "I Believe."

The augmented ninth grade glee club will then present Simeone's "Carol of the Star," with Laurel Bliss and Jim Knapp as a double bass duet. For a bit of fun, Tony Komerska as Beat Nick Santa Claus will perform with the chorus in "Up on the Housetop." The almost classic "Silver Bells" will round out this portion of the program.

Mrs. William W. Nolan

JULIE MARGUERITE CORDTZ, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Cordtz, of Neff road, became the bride of Mr. Nolan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Nolan, of LaGrange, Ill., at a Saturday ceremony in St. James Lutheran Church.

before the large seventh grade chorus takes over to sing "The Selfish Chorus," a newcomer to this type of presentation.

The Double Quartet, consisting of Linda Buck, Heidi Klein, Linda Kahle, Sandy Forrest, Paul Portera, Bill Norris, Bill Montgomery and Doug Pott-hoff will then sing three numbers in close harmony: "It's Beginning to Look Like Christmas," "The Christmas Song," and "Let It Snow."

The next few numbers will be presented by either boys or girls in small ensembles. First, the Boys' Ensemble will harmonize in "Coventry Carol," "Children Go Where I Send Thee," and "African Noel." Next, the Select Ensemble, consisting of 23 girls of outstanding vocal ability, will sing four numbers: "Yea, What Child Is This?" "Some Children See Him" (one of the Burt carols of local fame), and "Cantique de Noel," with Linda Buck as soloist.

The larger Girls' Ensemble, consisting of 80 girls of seventh, eighth, and ninth grades, will carry on the Christmas mood with their interpretations of "Away in a Manger," "Twelve Days of Christmas," "Carol of the Bells," and "Carol of the Drum."

The evening's program will close with a dramatic presentation of the story behind that most famous Christmas song of all, "Silent Night." Elizabeth Hammerlee will narrate the story, while Max Gardner, en-

Newlywed Jaegers At Home In Moross

Diana Kathleen Marks Chooses White Satin Gown, with Beaded Flower Accents for November 27 Rites in St. Joan of Arc Church

After a wedding trip in Northern Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Robert Jaeger are making their home in Moross road.

The pair exchanged marriage vows November 27 in St. Joan of Arc Church at a High Nuptial Mass. Reverend Daniel P. Bogus officiated at the 5 o'clock, double ring ceremony.

The bride, the former Diana Kathleen Marks, daughter of caught her bouffant illusion veil, and she carried Amazon lilies, white roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Maid of honor Carol Evans chose a floor length gown with a royal blue velvet bodice and light blue skirt.

Dressed identically were the bridesmaids, Christine Kaiser, Sylvia Jaeger, sister of the bridegroom, and Katherine Ridolfi. Their flowers were blue and white mums.

Mr. Jaeger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Jaeger, of Detroit, asked Ralph Cadieux to act as best man. Ushers were Robert Pavlock, Frank Newberry and Thomas Craddock.

A dinner and reception at Gourmet House followed the ceremony. The mother of the bride wore a gold-skirted dress with a gold and white bodice and gold jacket, and matching accessories.

Mrs. Jaeger chose a light blue brocade dress, with matching accessories.

DBC Children To Greet Santa

Santa Claus will have a gift for each child at the Detroit Boat Club's Children's Christmas Party, scheduled this Sunday, December 20.

Party scene will be the Ball Room, where entertainment is to include a juggling clown and refreshments will be served in the Commodore's Room and the Oak Room, where Santa will arrive, bringing toys for all the girls and boys.

The party begins with carol singing at 1:30 o'clock, entertainment follows at 2 o'clock, and at 2:30 the refreshments come, accompanied by movies and Santa's visit.

Christmas party chairman is Mrs. Richard T. Heglin, assisted by Mrs. Gerald E. Warren.

Committee members include Mrs. George Derr, Mrs. Frank W. Hausmann, Mrs. Earl G. Meyer, Mrs. Milton B. Osgood, Mrs. Albert B. Perlin, Jr., Mrs. Hugh Robertson, Mrs. Robert P. Seeker and Mrs. Gerard Smith.

Fashion-Lunch For DYC Ladies

A life-sized angel, aglitter with tiny white lights, floated over the staircase to the ballroom of the Detroit Yacht Club Tuesday afternoon, December 15.

This symbol of the Holiday Season greeted over 300 Yacht Club ladies as they made their way to the Ladies' Card Committee luncheon and style show.

The angel was an appropriate decoration, for several youngsters whose parents are active in the Club took part in a style show which was presented during the luncheon.

Three grandchildren of Rear Commodore Duncan James—Mary Ann, Laura, and Donald Fitzpatrick—and two grandchildren of Mrs. Harry Oliver, chairman of the committee—Sean and Brian Michael Oliver—were among the children who modeled.

The Club was attractively decorated for Christmas activities, and luncheon tables had Noel baskets and other seasonal trimmings. After lunch and the show, the ladies enjoyed various card games, as is customary at these parties.

Among the ladies present were Mrs. George Levette, Mrs. Carl Schweikert, Mrs. Vern Ridout, Mrs. William D. Cohan, Mrs. R. D. Adams and Mrs. George H. Lovequest.

SNAP JUDGMENT

Men, forced to do everything on the jump, seldom have time to look before they leap.

Mrs. Donald R. Jaeger

At an early evening ceremony in St. Joan of Arc Church November 27, DIANA KATHLEEN MARKS, daughter of Mrs. William Marks, of Stanhope road, was married to Mr. Jaeger. He is the son of the Peter Jaegers, of Detroit.

Dance Classes To Have Party

A glamorous Christmas Ball will be held Tuesday evening, December 29, in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Crystal Ballroom. It is complimentary for the students of the combined ballroom dancing classes of Ted and Lillian Forrest at the Center.

At 7:30 the young people will enter through the Memorial's lighted formal gardens. They will be greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Forrest and each guest presented with a favor. The ballroom under the soft shimmer of crystal chandeliers will mirror the twinkle of thousands of little Italian lights as well as the sheen of silver Christmas trees.

Boys and girls will dance to the music of Jerry Ross' orchestra and there will be specialty dances and games to liven the occasion. Sunday dress will be worn.

When refreshment time rolls around, chaperones, Dr. and Mrs. David Barker, Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. John Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. John Park, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Watts, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Newhouse, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Agne, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Cardwell, Mrs. Ann Tuttle, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Walters, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thompson will open the section overlooking the lake where the goodies will be served. Couples will be admitted according to class and each member will receive a fancy hat.

In addition to the punch and ice cream provided by the War Memorial, sandwiches are being furnished by Mrs. Kenneth Kimmell, Mrs. William Newman, Mrs. Henry Vaughan, Mrs. John G. Van Zile, Mrs. William Hurley, Mrs. Denis Laponey, Mrs. Philip Meathe, Mrs. William Russell, Mrs. Jerry Leone, Mrs. C. H. Sherer, Mrs. Douglas Smith, Mrs. John Walker, Mrs. Richard Arne, Mrs. James Aiuto, and Mrs. Jacob Briske, and cookies by Mrs. Robert Ambrose, Mrs. Ernest W. Baker, Mrs. John Montgomery, Mrs. Lee Borech, Mrs. Edwin G. Campbell, Mrs. William S. Cox, Mrs. Byron F. Everitt, Mrs. Harold J. Hubert, Mrs. John B. Clark, Mrs. Parker Colby, Mrs. Lloyd Dykes, Mrs. Charles Fench, Mrs. Robert E. Coleman and Mrs. Bruce Reynolds.

Decorations for the tables are in the hands of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wiley.

The last strains of the orchestra will end for the youngsters of the oldest class at 10 o'clock. The younger students will say good night beginning at 9:30.

A crown of matching Alencon lace caught her Chapel length, French illusion veil. She carried an arrangement of white roses and lilies of the valley. Matron of honor, Mrs. Nobie W. Starr, of New York City, wore a Princess line frock of rose silk, with a lace bodice. Dressed identically were the bridesmaids, Anne Adams, of The Pointe, currently living and studying in France, and Angelika Behr, of Celle. Their flowers were pink and white carnations.

The bridegroom, of New York City and Zurich, Switzerland, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Hofle, of Zurich, Switzerland. He asked Nobie W. Starr to act as best man.

Guest were seated by Hans C. Weber, of Zurich, and Bernd Betcke, of West Berlin, Germany.

The mother of the bride wore a coat and dress ensemble of mimosa green silk brocade with matching accessories. She pinned phalaenopsis orchids and miniature pale yellow and white roses to her handbag.

The bridegroom's mother chose a midnight blue silk crepe gown with matching accessories. She pinned miniature pale pink and rose orchids to her handbag.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Hofle are currently making their home in Celle.

Two Pianists With Symphony

Duo-pianists Whittemore and Lowe will be soloists with The Detroit Symphony Orchestra at 8:30 o'clock tonight, Thursday, December 17, at Ford Auditorium. Sixteen Ehrling will conduct.

Whittemore and Lowe will perform Poulenc's Concerto for Two Pianos and Orchestra and Saint-Saens' "Carnival of The Animals."

The orchestral portions of the program will include Mozart's Symphony No. 29 and Schoenberg's "Transfigured Night."

Both Whittemore and Lowe are from the American West. They met as graduate students at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N.Y., and soon thereafter made their debut at a recital in New York's Town Hall.

After service in the Navy in World War II, the pair quickly rose to international fame. They have enjoyed success on the concert stage, on radio and television, and in recordings.

Tickets at $3.75, 3.25, 2.75, 2.25 and 1.75 are available at Ford Auditorium Box Office or at Grinnells.

Betrothed

The engagement of CHRISTINE GARDNER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Gardner of Lima, Peru, to Charles W. Coates, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Harris Coates, of Flint, Mich., has been announced.

Miss Gardner, who has been making her home with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius C. Peter, of Ridgmont road, while she attends school, was graduated from Grosse Pointe University School and will be graduated in May from the University of Michigan.

Mr. Coates, a member of Theta Xi fraternity, will be graduated this month from the University of Michigan. He will do post-graduate work in Public Administration at the U. of M. The couple plans a late summer wedding.

Winter injury and drying of young trees can be prevented by wrapping their trunks to a height of three or four feet above the ground. Michigan State University extension horticulturists recommend using a commercial tree wrap, starting at the tree's base and working up.

Schedule Dance For Young Set

Grosse Pointe's young set, boys and girls in Ted and Lillian Forrest's dancing classes, will gather at the Hunt Club tomorrow evening for their very own Christmas Ball.

Party hours are 8:30 to 10:30 o'clock for the younger group. Their older brothers and sisters may wait until a half hour before midnight.

Among those sharing chaperone chores will be the Lansing

Pittman, Mr. and Mrs. John Lord Booth and Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Cinelli.

Dancing the night away will be Sally Pittman, Betsy Parcells, Ralph Booth, Lynn Ford, Daisy Sales, John Skae, Douglas Campbell, John Warren, David Laurie, Billy Caulkins, Linda Kammer, Peter Glancy, Charles Williams, Pierre DuCharme, Jane Whitney, David Chapin, Kathy McFeely, and many, many more.

Bride-Elect

At a family cocktail party Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Duffy, Jr., of Handy road, announced the engagement of their daughter, MARY SUSAN, to Francis F. Stanton, II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis F. Stanton, Sr., of Painesville, Ohio.

A family tree on the mantel starred the names "Francis" and "Susan."

Miss Duffy is a graduate of Immaculate Junior College, Washington, D.C., and is a member of Sigma Gamma. She is presently working as a legal secretary in Detroit.

Mr. Stanton attended Georgetown University and John Carroll University. He will be working in Washington, D.C., after January.

They plan a summer wedding.

Lowry-Gibson Betrothal Told

The engagement of Elizabeth Ann Gibson to Samuel Newlon Lowry, Jr., is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reeve Gibson, of Harvard road.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Webber College, Babson Park, Fla. Her fiancé, who has been making his home in St. Clair Shores, is a graduate of the United States Military Academy, West Point. He is the son of Colonel and Mrs. Samuel Newlon Lowry, of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Miss Gibson and Mr. Lowry have invited 50 guests to help celebrate the engagement Saturday evening.

A February wedding is planned.

Inside The Mothers' Club

Twenty members of the executive board of the Mothers Club, Grosse Pointe High School, at their December 7 meeting, quietly disposed of final reports covering a four months' schedule. These reports included Tenth Grade Party, Halloween night, Back-to-School evening, Pointe Players and concluded with the Christmas Tea, the climax of the period.

Mrs. William Pankhurst, Christmas Tea chairman, gave a moving tribute in her report to the many willing people who had generously given of time, thought, materials, to make the Christmas Tea a truly beautiful one. Over 900 guests attended. Principal Jerry Gerich, Faculty Advisor, told the assembled members of present plans for the proposed second high school which may include a center for the Performing Arts, music, speech, drama, radio, TV, etc. Present projection figures for the 1966-67 student body are 2,880 and by 1969-1970, 3,140 in this area. Grosse Pointe residents will vote on the bond issue for the new high school on March 22, 1965.

Mrs. Gordon Cook, president-elect, made an earnest plea for an informative letter to be drafted on the financial picture of the Mothers Club. Such a letter will give mothers and neighborhood groups an understanding of the various calls upon their time and energy. A mailing is proposed for January.

Mrs. Arthur Sherman, vice-president, is planning a mailing to all parents explaining the Mothers Club Scholarships available to students.

Dean James H. Robertson, of the College of Literature, Science and the Arts, University of Michigan, will be the guest speaker on Parents Night, February 9, 1965.

Spring Benefit Party chairman, Mrs. Chuck Beltz, reported plans were in progress for the event.

Mrs. William Munro, Membership chairman, told the Board that total paid membership in the Mothers Club is 1288.

Mrs. Robert Clarke, president, told the Board that Mrs. Kennard Jones is to be chairman of the Nominating Committee.

Mrs. Robert Thumann, Senior Activity chairman, has a tentative committee set up for the after-Christmas Party.

Austin Players To Do Scrooge

The Austin Prep Players will present the award winning one act play "The Melodrama of Scrooge" on Sunday, December 20 at 3 o'clock and at 7 o'clock. Both productions of this Christmas story will be held at Austin High in East Warren avenue.

There will be no admission charge for the shows.

This timely story, based on "The Christmas Carol" by Charles Dickens, includes comedy, a bit of the "Gay Nineties" melodrama and music. This play has an appeal for all ages, from the grade school student to the adult.

The Players have been presenting this production throughout Michigan during this month. The run of the show began with the Genesee Drama Festival on November 22 and will end this Sunday.

Filling the role of Scrooge is Frank Bernacki, while others in the cast include Bob Neveaux, Bob Alsheimer, Larry Kroha, Marv Keller, Neil Bengel, John Nehra, Dan Ballew, Dick Merritt and Steve Neveux.

The accompanist for the production is Jim Shields, and the director is Thomas E. Bailey.

affair—but it has been up to their mothers to implement those ideas, arranging menu and orchestra and consulting, via long distance telephone, with the two young ladies. To give Debby and Lydia due credit: They formulated their own invitation list, addressed and mailed the invitations themselves, from School.

Lakefront Setting

Mrs. Robert B. Powers' lovely dining room overlooking Lake St. Clair, suitably decorated for the season, (the room, not the lake — although a thin film of ice along the shoreline and a few snowy branches outside the windows will undoubtedly add to the holiday mood), will be the setting for Mount Holyoke College Club of Detroit's annual Christmas Tea.

The party is scheduled next Monday, December 21, from 2 until 4 o'clock.

Traditionally, the tea is planned as a get-together for girls already at the college, and a preview for prospective students and their mothers. But alumnae all look forward to the affair, a chance to relax and reminisce together.

Among those planning to "come right in" to Mrs. Powers' Whittier road home are Mrs. Leonard Winter, of Lennon road; Mrs. Kenneth McCoy, of Merriweather road; Mrs. William King, of Hawthorne road; Mrs. J. P. Danaher, of Colonial court; Mrs. Charles M. Endicott, of Blairmoor court; Mrs. F. D. Hepburn, of Roosevelt place; Mrs. Howard Hutch, of Allard avenue; and Mrs. W. T. Kriehoff, of Kenwood court.

A Prolific Writer

Stuck for a last minute Christmas gift? You might consider a book—specifically, "The Zapotecan Urns in the Royal Museum of Ontario," with 52 full-page plates, authored by Frank H. Boos, of Lakecrest lane.

Mr. Boos, a former Pointer of Interest, is an expert on Oaxacan culture, (the civilization that pre-dated the Incan and Mayan cultures in Mexico). The book, his first on early Mexican cultures, was published early this month by the National Institute of Anthropology and History of Mexico, in collaboration with the Union Académique Internationale of France.

It was financed by a grant from UNESCO. Frank Boos wrote the text, furnished the photographic illustrations—and insisted that the text be bi-lingual, Spanish and English on alternate pages.

Incidentally, although the 13 by 10-inch tome is Mr. Boos' first complete book on the subject, he has authored many articles on Zapotecan urns. This fall, articles bearing his name were published in the Yearbook of the Museum für Völkerkunde, Leipzig, Germany; The Annals of the National Institute of Anthropology and History of Mexico; The Yearbook of the Übersee-Museum, Bremen, Germany; and the Catalogue of the Precolumbian Exhibition of the Museum für Völkerkunde, Munich, Germany.

Going to press are articles in the Bulletin of the Nelson-Atkinson Museum of Fine Arts of Kansas City and the Museum für Völkerkunde und Vorgeschichte, Hamburg, Germany.

And next autumn, Frank Boos will have another Oaxacan book on the market—a monumental volume, "The Effigy Urns of Ancient Oaxaca," with some 426 illustrations, to be published simultaneously in New York and London.

Songs And Dancing

The Fine Arts Society of Detroit will gather at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club tomorrow evening for a Christmas party, beginning with cocktails at 7 o'clock.

Chairmen of the annual affair are Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Gauss, II, assisted by the John D. Benfields, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Brophy, the John Deniers, Mrs. David L. Gamble and Mr. and Mrs. J. Charles Markley, Jr.

The committee has created beautiful centerpieces, gold candelabra trimmed with pine cones, greens and drop crystals. After dinner, the Fine Arts Chorus—30 voices directed by Mrs. Alan C. Witherspoon—will present a program of festive Christmas music.

And then there'll be dancing . . .

Lawns seeded in late fall and early winter should be mulched for more uniform and earlier stands of grass the following year, point out Michigan State University extension turf specialists. Ever if no grass germinates, the mulch may reduce mud and erosion this winter.

A message of importance for men and women who are concerned about their health.

If you're over 40
... Let's face facts

Kidney-Bladder ailments strike far more often

Now is the time to do something about it!

After 40, you're reaching the age when you're more susceptible to the illnesses common to middle age. Among the most distressing are kidney-bladder disorders. If you've ever suffered them, you know the pain and embarrassment involved.

To help relieve kidney-bladder conditions, many doctors suggest drinking 6-8 glasses daily of spring-pure Mountain Valley Water. That's because its "diuretic" (kidney-flushing) effect steps up kidney action, helps you eliminate body wastes faster. Mildly alkaline, it gently soothes bladder irritation, at the same time helps neutralize excess urine acids (thus reduces that "burning" sensation). What's more, refreshing Mountain Valley Water is "light," non-filling, non-laxative. Regular daily use can make a positive contribution to your health. Costs only pennies a glass . . . actually less than a soft drink. And tastes wonderful!

Phone or write today for refreshing Mountain Valley Water. Ask for complimentary literature. Satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded.

Pointe Ski Club Planning Trips

The Grosse Pointe Ski Club sponsored by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association is planning two ski trips over New Years. Both will provide skiing at Boyne Highlands, Nubs Nob and Boyne Mt. and lodging at Charlevoix's famed Weather-vane Lodge.

Two trips instead of one have been planned to accommodate both those able to get away for four days and those only able to manage three. Both will combine to enjoy a gala New Year's party.

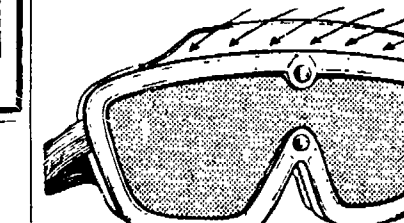

Members may go on the four-day trip leaving the Center by chartered bus at 6 p.m. Wednesday, December 30, for as little as $38. Better accommodations are provided for $42. Guests pay $3 more.

The three-day trip leaves the Center at 6 p.m. December 31. Members may go for $32 or $35 depending on accommodations and again guests must pay $3 more. It is easy to see that a $3 membership is worth while if one plans more than one ski trip this season.

Both New Year ski trips will return Sunday, January 3, at 11 p.m. These trips are open only to adults and there are not too many places still open in either trip. Paid reservations should be made to the Center's office as soon as possible.

Truly a Yachtsman's Commodore, "Toots" Gmeiner is owner and skipper of the 45-foot racing sloop "Apache." Gmeiner's predecessor, Commodore John H. Carter, is also a well known sailor and power boat enthusiast. DYC's Directors for the coming year include Joseph M. Belardi, Nelson J. Bell, Jr., Douglas H. Brown, William J. Cohan, Richard S. Daley, Charles J. Dameron, Joseph A. Dewey, Robert H. Dodd, David E. Hopp, G. Ray McPherson, Kenneth E. Palmer, Harry C. Pratt, Vern Ridout and George Wilson.

Youth Council To Hold Party

Santa Claus, in this case Bill Jones, Grosse Pointe War Memorial Youth Council Advisor, is receiving sealed bids from Youth Council members who wish to act as disc jockeys for the informal teen dance being held at the Center during Christmas vacation on Saturday night, December 26.
Because it is vacation time, the dance hours will be a half hour longer than usual beginning at 9 and lasting till midnight.
The sealed bids being submitted include proposed record selections for the entire evening. It will be largely on the basis of the records offered that the disc jockey will finally be chosen. At the present time Dave Anderson and Greg Hykes seem to be leaders in the field.
Refreshments are of course included in the price of admission which is 75c per person. The Memorial will be specially decorated for Christmas.

SMORGAS-BORED?

... Here's the cure. Take an old-fashioned walk this Friday along 40 feet of lusciously laden table in the Sheraton-Cadillac's Town Room. Here you'll find a colorful, succulent collection of baked ham, assorted broiled fish, a bounty of Chicago rounds of beef, stacks of disjointed chicken and dressing, oceans of Seafood Newburg, piles of pink shrimp, loads of Salmon Bellevue, mounds of vegetables, salads, rolls and desserts. The tab for this Swedish delight? One that even Mr. Benny wouldn't mind picking up... just $3.25 per... this entitles you to make as many journeys up and down the table as your stomach will allow. The feast takes place between the hours of 5 and 10 p.m., and if you can't get your fill in five hours, we'll give you a rain check for next week. Respectfully, the Town Room in the Sheraton-Cadillac, Detroit's largest, most accommodating hotel.

Blue Devil Tankers Whip Lincoln Park and Fordson

By RIC HENDEE

After conquering what was expected to be a tough Lincoln Park swimming squad, 69-36, the Blue Devil tankers found their big competition of the week at Fordson. In a meet full of disappointments, Grosse Pointe slid past with first place finishes in the last two events for a slim 56-48 victory.

Two important Devil home meets are on this weekend's schedule: Monroe, (Friday, 4) and Birmingham Seaholm, (Saturday, 7:30). The Monroe Trojans are last year's BCL champs in swimming but a 70-35 loss to Lincoln Park (same squad the Devils beat 69-36) two weeks ago makes their chances for regaining the title look small.

Birmingham Seaholm is also holding a swimming title this winter . . . the state title. If Grosse Pointe is looking for honors in this season's state meet, this is a good place to meet. Luckily for the Devils, the Seaholm-Grosse Pointe battle will take place in the home pool which is notorious for giving the foreigners trouble.

Opening the home season last Tuesday, the Devil swimmers took eight firsts in upsetting the Lincoln Park tankers. Craig Dever chalked up a pool record for himself as he won a new event, the 60-yard free style.

Then Jack Tamblin surprised everyone, (including, no doubt, himself), as he took second place in the butterfly and, with only two events rest, came back to win the 400-yard freestyle (20 lengths). Sprinkled in between was an assortment of slams (not only winning the race but placing second also), surprises, and spirit.

But the Devil happiness was, possibly, too high. On Friday they went to Fordson for a league contest which they expected to win easily. But Fordson proved to be surprisingly strong and it was only after losing four events in a row that Grosse Pointe gathered momentum and tugged out a victory, 56-48.

St. Paul Beats St. Catherine

By Jim Brunson

In a game played on Friday, December 11, at St. Paul High, the Laker five stunned an aggressive St. Catherine squad. Bill Bingham was the leading scorer for the Lakers, netting 22 points.

The score at the end of the first quarter was 18-12 in favor of St. Paul. In the second period, the Lakers held their opponents to five points. The score at the end of the half was 30-17 for St. Paul. In the third quarter, the Lakers continued to score at will, increasing their lead to 47-28. The final score was 58-41.

The Laker basketball record now stands at two victories, one defeat.

The next St. Paul basketball game will be against St. Ladislaus on December 18. The game will be played in the St. Paul gym.

GPUS Knights Easy Winners

By Ric Hendee

Grosse Pointe University School's varsity basketball squad made Emmanuel Christian look like kid-play as they walked away with a 99-61 victory last Saturday. But the last minute of the game still had the GPUS fans on their feet. They wanted 100 points and so did the team.

With less than 30 seconds of play left in the game, Knight Art Getz was fouled and awarded one free-throw. A cheer . . . then pure silence. He nervously dribbled, aimed, and, suddenly, breaking the tense silence, Emmanuel Christian spectator yelled, "Miss it." Getz shot. The ball bounced from the backboard, hit the rim, and bounded off to the side.

But there was still time on the clock and the Knights fought for possession. Emmanuel Christian stalled but GPUS stole the ball back and started it down court with 10 seconds left. Chuck Wright took the ball in, fighting not only Emmanuel Christian but the clock. Wright fed past the opponents and went for the hoop. Only tenths of a second before his final goal the whistle blew and the final score, 99-61.

Harris Brown set a home court record as he sank 40 points in becoming high scorer for the evening.

The GPUS five are now three wins and one loss with an away match tonight.

Nick Pietrosante broke a Detroit Lions team mark that had been in the record books ten years when he carried the ball 27 times against the Baltimore Colts during the '64 season. The previous rushing attempt mark was 25, set by Frankie Sinkwich in 1944.

Kristufek Heads New Tennis Club

Joe Kristufek, one of the Detroit area's best-known amateur tennis players, has been named general manager of the Bloomfield Tennis House, the new, four-court, indoor tennis club now under construction at a site halfway between Coolidge Road and Crooks Road directly opposite Berz Airport in Troy.

A graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, where he was captain of the tennis team and played number one position, Kristufek was a versatile athlete and won membership in the Pitt Hall of Fame.

He is a native of McKeesport, Pa., where he reigned as city tennis champion and later coached the McKeesport High School tennis team.

After serving as a Navy lieutenant commander in the Navy in World War II, piloting a combat torpedo plane, Kristufek married the former Frances Verhelle of Grosse Pointe and settled in Grosse Pointe.

He has accumulated more than 200 trophies in both singles and doubles competition in Pennsylvania and the Detroit area and has won numerous mixed doubles titles with his wife as his partner.

Either in college or while serving with the Navy during World War II, he competed against many nationally-ranked tennis stars, including Ted Schroeder, Joe Hunt, Gardner Mulloy and Don McNeill.

The Bloomfield Tennis House is expected to be completed and ready for use by members by January 1, 1965. In addition to the four championship, cork composition courts, it will contain shower rooms for ladies and gentlemen, a sauna bath, private lockers, and a large lounge room complete with television and a children's play corner.

Mrs. Webster Buell of Birmingham is chairman of the membership committee.

Mr. Kristufek, who lives at 1268 Whittier road in Grosse Pointe Park, has not lost a singles, doubles or mixed doubles match in a Grosse Pointe Park tennis tournament in the past eight years.

George Wilson, Detroit Lions coach, has been in the National Football League since 1937, as a player, player-coach, assistant coach, and head coach serving first with the Chicago Bears and then the Detroit Lions.

FAIRHOLME, 1965. 7-room colonial. Many built-in features. Carpeting, draperies, dishwasher, etc. included. Under $30,000. Immediate occupancy. Shown by appointment. TUXedo 1-0726.

A SUBSTANTIAL REDUCTION in price makes this large Georgian colonial house even more tempting, to you who are contemplating making the move into your ultimate home. Majestically situated on an estate-sized lot in one of the Farm's best locations, this is truly a house for the family which demands the best of everything. Superb architectural detailing throughout with a houseful of carpeting and draperies included. Fireplaces in almost every bedroom and all the main first floor rooms. Not a house to be looked over — but to be looked into.

THE MOST POPULAR... tops our request list... fills the bill... we're sure you will... agree with us that this newer house in the Shores and containing those four bedrooms with two full second floor baths... Could be the ideal solution to your shopping problem. This colonial has a center family room with a view into one of the last undeveloped acreage in the Pointe. Tremendous kitchen with built-ins and a barbeque for year 'round enjoyment. Promise her anything but get her a house.

THE ONLY ONE of its kind which is available at this time in the much desired Deeplands area. A beautifully appointed Georgian colonial, built just three years ago. Four bedrooms for the family and another for stay-in-help. Fireplaces in living, dining and library rooms. As impressive inside as out.

IF YOU HAVE a penchant for contemporary and want to live in one of the Shore's newest and most desired subdivisions, then give this one serious thought. Laid out in the tri-level plan, with two bedrooms on the upper level and another bedroom and cozy den just a few steps down from the tremendous living and dining room. Only the most modern gadgetry and materials have gone into this house.

A WORD TO THE WIVES... we'd advise you to get the man in your life to join in seeing this one before it's sold. In the Farms on a generous sized lot with ample room for the kids and the dog. Five family bedrooms and two more for stay-in-help. Baths galore and so much more that your personal inspection will prove this to be a house you'll adore.

"Peregrinations of a Pair of Peripatetic Pedagogues" ... is the title of a blow-by-blow description of their 'round the world, travels relayed, in installments, to the Wayne County Intermediate School District Office by the Charles Brake family, of Balfour road. Dr. Brake, former Wayne County Superintendent of Schools (1951-62) his wife, Rachel, on sabbatical leave from the Wayne County Intermediate Office of Education, and their daughter, Mary, currently attending school overseas, are the authors of this delightful Public Diary.

Among their observations: "All western Europe to most American visitors seems to consist of towers, churches, statues, shops, castles and cemeteries! ... We enjoyed a day and night in beautiful Lubeck, but never really enjoyed sleeping UNDER the feather-beds! ... Bronberg Castle left us with feelings of 'man's inhumanity to man' after we visited the dungeons. No wonder Hamlet went nutty—if he did! ... The hotel owner (in Mjolby, Sweden), at our suggestion that he serve us a typically Swedish meal, really stuffed us, the final touch being wild strawberries with cream: plain, whipped and ice! Everything was delicious and the dishes were monogrammed with OUR initials."

A really WILD Siamese cat ... named Socki Jo Squack, (that's SOME name, we think), makes his home with the Victor R. Breidenbachs, of Grand Marais boulevard.

The most exclusive show in town ... closes tonight in the Science Hall of Bon Secours Hospital, as the Playcrafters present a final performance of "Pins and Needles" for the hospital's doctors. "Pins and Needles" is the Playcrafters' third annual Christmas production. It's a Family Affair at Bon Secours—the 18 participants are all employees of the hospital who must attend at least two rehearsals weekly for five weeks, (which accounts for such "professionally polished" performances). This season's 16-act musical comedy was created by James De Rousse, (who is also the director), and produced by Sheila Le Saur. Hospital maintenance men Leon Sarrazin and Maurice Duym built the sets. The borrowed spotlight is courtesy of the Grosse Pointe Community Theater.

Numbers include a Lament, "Someone is Sending Me Flowers," "Nanny," (the story of a SWEET sick teen), "Sisters," (all about you-know-who), and "Don't Send Me A Baby Brother." Ticket demand far exceeds space available in the Science Hall, so "Pins and Needles" audiences are hand-picked ... only those with Great Influence at the hospital, (Gray Ladies, who viewed the opening performance December 2; children of employees, invited December 8; the hospital employees themselves, who saw the show December 15; and the doctors, who will see the show tonight), are able to obtain reservations.

Have you noticed ... how popular Advent Wreaths are becoming as Christmas Table centerpieces?

When the turmoil and shouting by a minority of students and alumni died down after the University of Detroit's announcement that it was dropping intercollegiate football, faculty members began to speculate as to how they could have spent the $65,000 lost by U. of D. this year on the sport. Mrs. Marjorie Goodman, of Oxford road, Chairman of Geography, did not have to think twice about how she would use the money: "I'd set up a geography lab like you've never seen before. I'd buy tables and map cases and aerial photos and stereopairs and scopes and soil testing kits and a barometer and a thermometer—in fact, two thermometers, one wet bulb and one dry bulb, and I'd get rid of that homemade light and I'd buy a new thermofax with an overhead projector and ... " (Maybe it's a good thing Mrs. Goodman HASN'T the money to play around with—U. of D. might have to put up a new building to house all her new equipment!)

PILFERINGS

Our 14-year-old son came across a picture of "Mae West" in a magazine. "Isn't this funny?" he asked. "This gal calls herself Mae West."

"What's so funny about it?" I asked.
"Why, that's the name of a life jacket!" he said.

Pointer of Interest

MRS. SAMUEL COLLOZ LAUX OF HILLCREST ROAD.

By Janet Mueller

Mary Lou Laux was born energetic. Most women admit, during the pre-Christmas season, to feeling rushed. Shopping, baking, decorating, planning for the holidays takes all their time—and then some!

Mrs. Laux shares all these traditional December chores, plus an afternoon job, designing Christmas ornaments for Arthur Paskel, Inc., PLUS chairmanship of the 1964 Community Christmas Mart, scheduled today, from 10 until 5 o'clock, in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Fries Ballroom.

She has lived in Grosse Pointe all her life, and is particularly glad to be back "On the Hill" during the holiday rush, after an absence of 11 years. Before her marriage, Mrs. Laux was associated with Maurice Wood, Inc., and with Maxon Brothers.

She also worked as secretary to Dr. Clarence J. Messner, former principal of Richard School. With the arrival of Beth, first of the Lauxes' three children, Mary Lou "retired," turning her attention to other projects.

Now There Are Three
Beth Laux is 11 now, active in Girl Scouts. Eight-year-old Peter Laux is an Indian Guide and Amy, five, the "water baby," loves splashing about in pools and the lake. All three children attend Kerby School.

"I've worked with children practically all my life," Mrs. Laux says. At Kerby, she has been a Room Mother, arranged children's parties, helped with the Kerby Carnival.

She supervised Children's Entries in the '64 Fall Flower Show, held at the War Memorial. Next year, she will oversee the Children's Fair, part of the big Grosse Pointe Memorial Church Christmas Fair.

Between them, Mr. and Mrs. Laux (he is chief engineer at Ready Power Air Conditioning) have amassed nine years of Sunday School teaching experience at Memorial Church. They are currently enjoying a year's sabbatical.

Mary Lou Laux was one of four originators of Memorial Church's Cooperative Nursery—"and there was much work involved in THAT," she says.

In Health Projects
She has worked with the Grosse Pointe Mothers Health Education Council, served as the chairman of the Elementary and Junior High School Welfare Program, devoted her energies to Operation Sugar Cube (the polio vaccine program), the Chest X-Ray Mobile Unit and the Fluoride Program.

She is an accredited Camp-Crafter, having completed a six weeks' course—"It was a killer!"—devised by the Girl Scouts of America to train leaders for winter camps.

Mary Lou Laux is one of the few women in Grosse Pointe who can start and operate a wood-burning stove and can control kerosene lamps. She is undaunted by outside plumbing facilities, totes water from the well with the best of them, and is looking forward to the Grosse Pointe District Girl Scouts' winter campout next February.

If somebody on the staff of the Grosse Pointe University School's pre-kindergarten department breaks a leg, substitute teacher Mary Lou Laux is ready to step into the breach.

Follows The Market
Her personal interests include the Stock Market (she belongs to an Investment Club) and politics (she is a working Republican, has acted as campaign manager in a local council race, serves on the local Election Board).

Mrs. Laux is an amateur artist who loves working in all media. Her hobbies include handcraft, decoupage, espalier and topiary trees, wall hangings and oil painting.

This year, she is fashioning "the most gorgeous candlesticks you'd ever want to see"—out of old, discarded bottles!

She has used her artistic talents to help set up booths at the Planned Parenthood Christmas Mart. Recently, she spent and participating Mart organizations.

Involved with the Mart, working, running her home, Mary Lou Laux is a very busy woman indeed. She enjoys being busy, likes excitement, describes her association with "the expert and talented staff at Paskel's" as delightful, finds real pleasure in purposeful activity.

Depends on Grandparents
She is first to admit that her schedule would not be possible "if it weren't for the grandparents."

Mr. and Mrs. Philip J. Laux, (her husband's parents), and Mr. and Mrs. Lyster H. Zittel, (her parents), "live practically around the corner ... and they are very, very good about taking care of the children."

The Samuel Lauxes' home life centers around their children, and around people in general. Liking people, they like to entertain. A few weeks ago, their dinner guests were a Japanese couple; some days later they were host and hostess to a couple from Florida. People are always coming and going at the Lauxes', people are always welcome.

Grew and Grew
But the project mushroomed. Hospital gift shops and alumnae groups, school shops and charitable organizations, too small in themselves to sponsor Christmas fairs, saw the Community Mart as a chance to raise funds and exhibit goods in a large market.

"The Mart has grown into a huge community project," Mrs. Laux explains, "representing work done by many groups, for many shops." Each organization taking a table at the Mart will use its own profits for its own projects.

Bon Secours and Cottage Hospital Gift Shops will both have tables at the Mart. The Girl Scouts of America, Grosse Pointe District, will be represented.

Children's classics, in paperback volumes, will be offered by the Better Literature for Youth Council, while the Grosse Pointe University School Boutique presents handmade articles, fashioned by faculty and parents.

Churches participating include Grosse Pointe Congregational, Christ the King Lutheran, Grosse Pointe Memorial (which is previewing its '65 Fair items at the Mart), Grosse Pointe Unitarian and St. Michael's Episcopal.

Christ Child Society, the Junior League of Detroit, Inc., the National Farm and Garden Association and the Mother's Health Education Council have reserved tables.

The Grosse Pointe Foundation for Exceptional Children, Northeastern Wayne County Child Guidance Clinic, Smith College Club, (which is offering a wide and unusual assortment of Christmas wrappings—perfect items for a Last-Minute Mart), will also be represented.

Might Become Annual
In less than two months, the entire project has been whipped together. Mary Lou Laux hopes it will develop into an annual affair. This development depends, to a large extent, on the success of today's Mart.

The hardest part of Mrs. Laux' work in regard to the Mart was contacting organizations all over The Pointe, asking if they would be interested in participating in the project. An enthusiastic response on the part of virtually all organizations contacted made this a happy, if time-consuming, effort.

Decorations have been kept to a minimum—there was no time to plan an overall theme, to execute complicated backdrops or backgrounds—with each table featuring a green and white striped skirt. A snack bar will be open all day.

The project, designed to give busy Pointers a chance to complete Christmas gift lists in one-stop shopping, (an incidental dividend is the opportunity to pick up items missed at an earlier fair), is sponsored jointly by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial

Marie Bird's Beauty By Line

It's time to carefully check your calendar to be sure that your beauty salon appointments are scheduled so that you can enjoy all the festivities of the holiday season with a hairdo that is shining bright—and right for every occasion.

To ease the last minute rush, our haven at 117 Kercheval on-the-Hill will have a full staff on hand Wednesday, Dec. 23rd and Wednesday, Dec. 30th. You will also find us on the job Saturday, Dec. 26th to get your tresses in shape for a week of skiing in Michigan's Winter Wonderland—or to create high fashion coiffures for the gala weekend. Call TUxedo 1-6833 and be sure that you won't waste precious moments doing nightly "pin-ups."

Only when the last curl is in place New Year's Eve will our staff be able to let down and relax. Don't look for us in the salon Saturday, Jan. 2nd—we will be closed so that our employees can enjoy a long week-end—but we will be open Monday—of course we always are—it's a good day and a good way to start any week looking your best!

Callahan Co-Captain Of Suffield Eleven

Dudley Callahan, starting linebacker of the Suffield Academy, Suffield, Conn., 1964 football team, has been elected co-captain along with John Tremaine for the 1965 squad.

Dudley, a native of Grosse Pointe, and John, a native of West Hartford, Conn., both played decisively all season helping Suffield to its 4-3 record. The 1964 team lost its three games by very small margins.

Next year Dudley and John hope to lead the squad to a successful season under the coaching of Leon Waskiewicz.

Pointe Counter Points

By Pat Rousseau

Presents ... that make points! The beautifully useful fourteen karat gold pens and pencils at Walton-Pierce. There are bamboo designs, ruler-pencils ... one has a tiny watch! Just in ... lady golfer pins ... gold, set with precious stones.

Top Drawer Topics ... Give a stocking stuffer with status ... an executive clothes brush or money clip with an authentic reproduction of a Rolls Royce grille. The Top Drawer, 17007 Kercheval, UP in the Village is open Thursday evenings from now until the 25th and Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings the week of the 25th.

Pick ... the early blooming florals at Claire Pearone, 397 Fisher Road. One long dinner dress is all sunlight and peach tones ... hand-screened. There are full length drifts of voile and gay cotton shifts.

The Big Package ... Dodge put a lot of good things inside their new sixty-fives and wrapped them in style. Riverview Dodge, 15205 East Jefferson, will add the cellophane, ribbon and Christmas delivery for a festive touch!

Focus ... on Paul Gach, 345 Fisher Road, with two good suggestions for this time of year. Be sure to check flash batteries and equipment now, so you don't miss a minute of holiday photography. Secondly, if you are planning ski movies, keep your camera wound tight and under your coat to prevent missed shots because of frosty temperatures.

A Christmas Feast ... will provoke contented sighs even from the cook. She prepared it in her new Mutschler kitchen where things seem to go much easier. Perhaps it's because the well planned work areas have appliances ready and always within reach. Then again, it could be that the custom coordinated decor is so pleasant.

Infallible Gift Formula ... give fragrance from the Notre Dame Pharmacy. For an angel ... Heaven Sent by Rubinstein ... for a modern ... Revlon's Intimate in a metered spray-mist ... for an elegant ... a box of Roger and Gallet soap.

In Again ... at Kopp's, 16926 Kercheval in the Village ... lovely lockets filled with Mary Chess cream perfume ... Strategy, Tapestry, White Lilac and Yram. The locket has a cameo or fleur-de-lis design and is pretty enough to wear. Five dollars.

By Now ... you know that "Parrucchiere" means hairdresser and that Edward Neppi's delightful salon is located at 19463 Mack Avenue ... BUT you can't know about all the extra services and attentions until you've had an appointment. TUxedo 4-8888.

Presenting Presents ... put all the homemade and hand-picked goodies together in a basket beautiful from The Straw Mart, 16125 Mack Avenue. The basket can be sprayed and custom decorated for you or they will be delighted to tell you what to use and how to do it. Their number is 835-0666.

Entertaining Idea ... from Pointe Wharf, 18310 Mack Avenue. If you're planning a party, they have a special party menu. For example, you can order ½ Gal. of cooked peeled, de-veined shrimp, (approximately ninety). This will cost you seven-fifty. Yes, they send the sauce. You can carry it out ... but bless them ... they will deliver. TUxedo 5-4453.

For The Man ... of the house ... a Grooming Duo from Fashion Two Twenty ... after-shave and deodorant are packaged in regal containers ... with a special greeting ... 20445 Mack Avenue.

The Buffet Bountiful ... boasts walnut cutterboards ... with "the well and tree design" ... twelve ninety-five at Bric-a-Brac Shoppe, 20439 Mack Avenue. Also, a walnut cheese-board with a tile plate and knife. Another excellent server is a board with one, two or three cups for dips (from five ninety-five). The shoppe is open evenings till 9 p.m. for holiday shoppers.
