NORTH VIETNAM announced on Wednesday in a broadcast monitored in Washington that it is ready to send representatives to meet with United States representatives to decide about an unconditional halt of the bombing of the North so that peace talks could begin. No immediate response from the State Department regarding the Hanoi announcement was available.

RICHARD M. NIXON captured 30 Wisconsin votes at the Republican national convention with his showing in the primary in that state on Tuesday. Democrat Eugene J. McCarthy won 17 Democratic votes with his state-wide victory and another 32 by carrying eight Congressional Districts. McCarthy won 57 percent of the vote; Nixon, 35 percent; President Johnson, 8 percent; Governor Ronald Reagan, 11 percent and Harold E. Stassen six percent.

THE UNITED STATES Command announced today that a joint U.S.-South Vietnamese operation has been launched to open the land route into the besieged American Marine base at Khe Sanh. Troops of the U. DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING, Jr., was shot and killed on Thursday on the balcony of a Memphis, Tenn., motel, by a sniper's bullet. Police expressed optimism in their search for the sniper and said that the reward for his apprehension has grown to $150,000. Civil rights leaders predicted that up to 40,000 persons will take part in a March in Memphis on Monday originally scheduled by King.

NATIONALLY-KNOWN Director of the Detroit Zoological Park, Frank G. McInnis, died in Henry Ford Hospital on Thursday, after suffering a massive coronary attack on Saturday, March 31. McInnis had been Zoological Director since 1944.

RACIAL VIOLENCE has torn through more than a dozen of the nation's cities as a result of the fatal shooting of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., on Thursday. Fourteen persons were dead; four in Washington, eight in Chicago, two in Detroit, and one in Tallahassee. President Johnson proclaimed a "condition of domestic violence and disorder" in Washington and ordered some 4,000 troops into the city to control the streets. Some 350 persons were injured and more than 800 arrested. A 5:30 p.m. curfew helped quiet the capital, Detroit, Chicago and Memphis were also under curfew.

ABOUT 100 Negro and white youths protesting the death of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. charged through the State Capitol Friday and were headed off only yards from the executive office. The group was turned back by the Rev. Archibald Mosley, pastor of Lansing's Trinity A.M.E. Church and Rep. Raymond Hood, D-Detroit. Most of the Negroes left the building, while the white youths gathered in the rotunda and sang freedom songs for about 30 minutes.

DETROIT WAS CALM today after authorities moved state and local police and National Guardsmen swiftly to quell violence following the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Both Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh and Governor George Romney indicated that the measures were precautionary.

Good Friday Services Set By Ministers

Woods Presbyterian Church and Eastland Auditorium Scenes of Association Observances

Two Good Friday services will be sponsored by the Grosse Pointe North-east Detroit Ministers Association. The announcement was made by Rev. Paul A. Winchester, a minister of the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, president of the Association.

A continuous three-hour observance is scheduled at Eastland auditorium, from noon to 3 p.m. "Each service during that period will be of 30-minute duration, so that worshippers may come and/or go on the half hour," said Mr. Winchester.

Also there will be services on the theme, "Faith, Hope, Love in the Cross" at the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, 189 Mack, from 1 to 2:30 p.m.

Clergymen of the area will conduct the services. Citizens of the entire community are invited to participate.

KIDS BREAK STATUE

Florence Westby, 922 Rivard, called City police on Tuesday, April 2, to report that two 12-year-old boys were throwing bits of concrete at a three foot statue in her rear yard. They had broken the head off of the statue and done other damage to it. The youths' parents were notified and said they would take care of the damages.

Juvenile Speeder Nabbed Following 80 mph Chase

A 14-year-old boy, after twice losing control of a car he was driving, was arrested by Woods police on Tuesday, April 2, following an 80-mile-an-hour chase through Woods and Shores streets.

Patrolman Douglas Dosmas said that he was on routine patrol when he observed an automobile traveling south on Cook road without lights, during the hours of dusk. The vehicle matched the description of one sought by Detroit police, whose driver was wanted for reckless driving. Dosmas said the driver turned right onto Woodland shores drive from Cook road, going east at a high rate of speed. The officer said he turned on his scout car flasher and siren, as the teenager ran

This Year's Tuxis Club Show Being Presented at Center April 25, 26 and 27

Offering Being Entirely Produced, Written and Directed by Students for First Time; Musical Has New York Background

A musical war between the truck drivers and push cart peddlers of New York City will be the theme for the 1968 Tuxis show which will be presented Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights, April 25, 26 and 27, at Fries Auditorium at 8:15 o'clock.

The show is based on a story which takes place in New York in 1976 and focuses on the traffic conditions which have become so bad that it takes two hours to travel 10 blocks in the center of the city.

A war begins when the push cart peddlers and the truck drivers of the city blame each other for causing the problem. The push cart peddlers insist that the huge trucks are blocking the streets, and the truck drivers insist that the peddlers are causing the problem because their carts slow down the flow of traffic.

The push cart peddlers are organized by Herbie Hammerman, played by John Jensen, and "General" Rosa, an old woman who has been selling apples for 40 years, played by Lori Heglin. Harry Hyacinth, played by Pete Tucker, is the first peddler to feel the pressure that the truckers are putting on the peddlers when his cart is "accidentally" upset by a huge truck.

Harry shows the peddlers' determination to keep their peddling rights by going to jail and proudly confessing the deflating of 18,991 truck tires with tacks blown from a pea-shooter.

The traffic problem becomes a political issue when Hadley Love, played by John O'Brien, runs for mayor against Irving Klutz, played by Dennis Wickline, who has been accepting bribes from the truck companies to get the peddlers off the streets because he has large investments in the trucking firms.

Even a movie star, played by Heidi Klein, gives her support to the peddlers and later falls in love with Hadley.

Produced by Students
The show will be put on by Tuxis, the senior youth group at Memorial Church, but any student from any church or high school may work on the show, and this year the show is "being entirely produced, written, and directed by students," said Mrs. Donald Stewart, adult advisor for the show. Mrs. Stewart is a member of Memorial Church, and has worked on previous Tuxis shows.

Nancy McLean wrote the script for the show and is also the drama director. John Kellogg, who graduated from Grosse Pointe High last year, is in charge of the technical crews, and Beekie Littler is designing and constructing the sets.

The show will be directed by Missie Lewis. Missie is in charge of coordinating the work of the many committees, and assisting their chairmen. Missie says: "This show has real potential, and could be one of

Request Opening Of Helen Avenue

The Woods Council on Thursday, April 4, received and placed on file two petitions from John F. Hanson of Hampton road bearing 101 signatures of residents, requesting the opening of Helen avenue at Vernier road.

The area was recently closed upon the recommendation of the Director of Public Safety Allen Andrews on a trial basis. The petition stated that the closing is an inconvenience to all residents of this area and is also the only alternate police and fire route if Mack avenue is congested.

Mayor Kenneth McLeod said that Director Andrews is currently making a study of the area and will report his findings to the Council within 90 days.

Voters' League Circulates Petitions to Get Amendment on Ballot for November Election

The Grosse Pointe League of Women Voters has gone into action to help get the courts out of politics. On the heels of the Judicial Selection and Tenure Rally, held at the War Memorial on April 3, League members started the circulation of petitions in the Grosse Pointe area. Working in teams of two they are covering several local supermarkets and stores and are eager to answer questions and accept signatures.

The League is joining many other interested citizens and groups in a massive effort to collect 350,000 signatures of registered voters by the end of May, in support of a proposed constitutional amendment of the Judicial Article to be placed on the November 5 ballot.

The involvement in this campaign stems from a lengthy League study which began in 1947 on judicial problems and resulted in a League members' consensus.

Currently all state and local judges in Michigan are elected on the nonpartisan ballot. Candidates

Park Business Group Formed

The business people of Kercheval avenue in Grosse Pointe Park have formed an organization to be known as "Kercheval in the Park." The group, composed of both men and women in the business community, recently voiced the need for uniting in working for common interests.

The initial meeting was held in February at the invitation of Grace United Church of Christ, who visited many of the over fifty business establishments and learned of interest in an organization of business people. Officers elected at the meeting in March were: president, Richard Krajenko of Richard Buick; secretary pro tempore, Florence Riley of Florence Riley Fashions; and treasurer, William H. Schervish of The Old Line Life Insurance Company.

The business organization will meet during luncheon each third Tuesday noon at Grace Church, Kercheval and Lakepointe. Special guest at the next meeting will be Robert A. Slone, City Manager of Grosse Pointe Park.

Park and Detroit Boundaries Cause Many Problems

Council Authorizes Attorney to Probe Possibility of Eliminating Complications on Properties in Barrington Road

City Attorney Richard Rohr was authorized by the Park council on Monday, April 8, to sound out Detroit's Common Council on the possibility of changing the city boundary lines west of Barrington road, south of Jefferson, back to Alter road.

Approximately 85 residential properties from Jefferson to Windmill Pointe drive, would be affected, it was pointed out.

It was pointed out, also, that the residents living in these homes, have been paying split taxes for years, and that a majority are anxious to have their homes and lands located completely in the Park.

The council was informed that on the split taxes, the property owners on the west side of Barrington, pay Park city taxes, Wayne County taxes, and Grosse Pointe School System taxes, for their portion of their property located in the Park; and county taxes and Detroit's combined city-school taxes, for the sections in Detroit.

Herbert Heger, Park director of Public Works and city assessor, said that 70 feet of the property on which the houses rest, or large sections of the homes, are in the Park; and about 65 feet of the remaining property, on which accessory buildings, such as garages are located in Detroit.

The same situation exists on the west side of Wayburn, from Jefferson to Mack avenue, but the problem is not as acute as that of Barrington, since perhaps only the front porches, or in some cases about 10 feet of the homes on Wayburn are in the Park, and the rest of the residential buildings are in Detroit.

The division of properties on the west side of Barrington, and Wayburn, creates quite a difficult problem, Heger said.

For example, he stated, all the rubbish pickup on Barrington is done by the Park; whereas, on the west side of Wayburn, rubbish pickup is done by Detroit. Water and sewage service goes back on the Park along Barrington, whereas, the same service on the west side of Wayburn goes back to Detroit.

There are also other problems with which to contend, such as which city has jurisdiction as far as police and fire protection is concerned, since taxes are paid to both communities. If there is need of police service, say for instance, if a burglar breaks into a house, the department which has jurisdiction will have to be determined by from which side the intruder entered the house.

In the event of a fire, which department must be called, the Park's or Detroit's?

To further complicate the matter, how about permits, for building constructions, electrical work and plumbing? Which city issues these permits, and which shall do the inspection work when the jobs are completed.

Since these property owners pay school taxes to both communities, which schools are their children entitled to attend? It was pointed out that if all

Pointe Students Winners In Detroit Science Fair

Grosse Pointe schools were well represented among the winners in the eleventh Metropolitan Detroit Science Fair. Approximately 12,000 students in the metropolitan area from 7th through 12th grades participated.

From this group, 4,070 students qualified for Regional judging. This number was reduced to 1,200 finalists who entered their science projects at Cobo Hall this past week. Dale S. Johnson, 18, 287 Beaupre road, a Grosse Pointe High School senior who last year was third place winner in the senior division, is the grand prize winner in this year's fair, a most outstanding accomplishment. Dale and his project "Holographic Interferometry; Interference" will now go on to compete in the International Fair which will be held this year at Cobo Hall May 13 through 17. George M. Seibert, 14, 819 Lochmoor boulevard, Our Lady Star of the Sea School, who placed second in 7th grade graphic arts last year, repeated and took second place in 8th grade graphic arts this year with his third dimensional screening of "Genesis of a Storm." Anne Hengden, 15, 87 Kenwood road, Academy of the Sacred Heart, placed fourth, senior division in Math and Computers. Project—"Counting Factors." Jane E. Joins Nation In Mourning For Dr. King

Catholic and Protestant Churches Join in Memorial Services; Local Curfews Invoked

By Pepper Whitelaw

The Pointe was shocked, silent, and disbelieving as the word of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s death reached its citizens Thursday night. It was but three short weeks ago that over 2,700 persons filled Grosse Pointe High School's auditorium-gymnasium to hear Dr. King speak.

To those who attended, his quotation from the New Testament with his detractors echoes with new meaning in their ears, "Forgive them, for they know not what they do."

Throughout the Pointe people mourned the death of the Apostle of Non-Violence. Flags on all public buildings were flown at half staff... all public schools stopped for a silent tribute on Tuesday morning... all Catholic schools were dismissed after memorial services for Dr. King.

Churches Make History
The Churches of Grosse Pointe, in a history-making "first," joined together for services on Palm Sunday, Roman Catholic and Protestant, at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, for a Memorial Service for Dr. King. People filled the sanctuary and overflowed into Barbour Chapel.

The Rev. Paul A. Winchester, president of the Grosse Pointe Ministers Association presided and participating in the services were the Rev. Ralph V. Barton, Our Lady Star of the Sea Church; the Rev. Msgr. Lawrence F. Graven, St. Ambrose Church; the Rev. Peter Lentine, St. Philomena Church; the Rev. Charles W. Sandrock, St. Paul Evangelical Church.

The Rev. Bertram doH Atwood, pastor of Grosse Pointe Memorial gave a stirring meditation.

Place Flower Tribute
Immediately following the services a group of 200 mourners led by The Rev. Gary R. Gruber, walked to Grosse Pointe High School and placed a flower tribute to Dr. King at the base of the flagpole.

At Grosse Pointe High School, a student-teacher planned voluntary Memorial Service was held on Tuesday. Students and teachers conducted readings and folksingers, like senior Janice Altman, sang tributes to Dr. King, such as "We Shall Overcome" and "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The Rev. Paul A. Winchester, president of Grosse Pointe Ministers' Association sent a letter of sympathy to Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr., and told Mrs. King that the service on Palm Sunday meant for Pointers, "the triumphal entry of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. into his eternal home."

Dr. Meserve's Comments

Dr. Harry C. Meserve, president of the Grosse Pointe Human Relations Council had this to say about Dr. King's passing: "The Grosse Pointe Human Relations Council joins in the community and national mourning for the loss of Dr. King. There remains with us all the necessity to continue and increase our efforts to bring justice and freedom to all Americans. Quite specifically we urge everyone to support Open Housing legislation at the national, state and local levels. In the white community every effort must be made to overcome the white racism that brought about Dr. King's death. This can best be done by strong efforts to enact the program outlined in the Kerner report. Grosse Pointe Human Relations Council invites the support of all Grosse Pointe residents in an effort to improve human relations both within and beyond our community."

And while the people mourned, law enforcement authorities set into motion measures to prevent a repetition of the violence that beset Detroit dates for supreme court justice are nominated in political party conventions, although incumbents may run for re-election by submitting a declaration of intent. All other judges are nominated in primary elections.

Would Relieve Pressure
Since all judges have to run periodically for re-election, they must constantly be aware of the political factors that will help keep them on the bench. Ideally judges should be responsible to the law, not to political pressures that may or may not follow the intent of the law.

The proposed amendment will assure a greatly improved method of judicial selection. Firstly, the governor will appoint all judges from nominations sent to him by a nominating council composed of lay citizens and attorneys. Secondly, after the judge is appointed he will serve for three years. Then, at the next general election, voters will be asked if he should be retained in office. There will be no other candidate for the same office on the ballot; he will be running strictly on his own performance. Thirdly, if voters decide "no," then a vacancy exists and the appointment process starts once more.

Would Serve Until '70
If the voters decide "yes," the judge stays in office until the age of 70, unless he resigns, retires, dies or is removed in the interim. (A fair and effective method for disciplining is also provided). Thus, the judge does not have to face voters every few years to stay in office. He will be able to make legal decisions in a free and independent atmosphere. All registered voters who are interested in eliminating "bed sheet" ballots for judicial candidates, "name candidates," "self-starters," unqualified candidates, those who are spokesmen for "special interest" groups, all voters who realize that judges of quality and high caliber are the keystone of our judicial system will want to sign one of the petitions now being circulated by the Grosse Pointe League of Women Voters.

of the Barrington properties were located in the Park, Detroit's tax loss would be hardly noticeable, but since a large portion of Wayburn properties are in Detroit, this would be a different matter, although people living in these homes would like to consider themselves as Pointers.

People living on the west side of Wayburn, it was said, vote in the Park, but if they are employed by the Detroit city government, they had better make sure they sleep in a bedroom in the section extending into Detroit, or they might lose their jobs. This is a Detroit City Charter requirement.

It was disclosed that on two separate occasions, employees of Detroit were forced to move from a front bedroom in the Park to a bedroom at the rear of their homes extending into Detroit, to comply with this law, or face the loss of their jobs.

City Attorney Rohr informed the council that he will approach Detroit's city officials on the possibility of changing the Barrington boundary line, and report to the city body at a future meeting.

He said that all that is required is the consent of both councils, and all 85 property owners. If this consent is obtained, a referendum by the people of both communities will not be necessary, he added.

Detective Works to Clear Youth Accused in Beating

Farms Det. Joseph Miller was commended in a letter from a Detroit Attorney James W. Francis, for his many hours of investigation, a good part on his own time, and the clearing of a young man accused of taking part in a vicious beating at Grosse Pointe High School last Halloween.

The youth, whose name is withheld because of his complete innocence in the matter, was accused with Daniel Cimini, 19, of 1315 Balfour road, of beating Thomas Fraser, 16, of 898 Notre Dame, inflicting severe facial wounds, which required Fraser's hospitalization. Several of the wounds required stitches.

Cimini was tried in Wayne County Circuit Court on Friday, March 15, on a charge of aggravated assault, before Judge Horace Gilmore, who on the plea of Cimini's attorney, placed the youth under the jurisdiction of the Court until he is 21 years old, as provide by the Michigan Youthful Defendant Act, which was enacted last year. Provisions of this act require that those placed on probation to the court must not at any time be in violation of any law, and must be on their best behavior.

The innocent youth, who was arrested on a John Doe warrant, on information provided by "eye witnesses," was to have appeared in court with Cimini, but charges were dismissed against him, through the efforts of Miller, who even after the young man was arrested, could not believe, because of the evidence, or the lack of evidence presented, the lad was involved. After the youth was officially charged, Miller began his investigation to clear him. And, after many weeks of thorough probing, finally came up with the facts that cleared the innocent lad.

Miller said that there were two teenagers, one of them Cimini, who beat up young Fraser, in the boys restroom in the high school. The attack was unprovoked. The other boy is still being sought, the officer added.

Also beaten, but not as bad, were Lawrence Meathe, 16, of 329 Grosse Pointe boulevard; and Michael Thompson, 16, of 13291 East Outer drive, Detroit. Both required medical treatment.

The attorney for the youth, against whom charges were dismissed, penned a letter to Farms Police Chief Jack F. Roh, which follows verbatim:

"It gives me great pleasure, during these times when so much derisive abuse has been levied against the police agencies of our Country, to commend and thank one of your men for the outstanding work that he performs each day as if it were merely routine.

"Over the past few months I have, through the course of my work arising out of an incident which occurred in your community, had the good fortune and pleasure to work with and avail myself of the talent and work of Detective Joseph Miller of your Department.

"It was largely through his intensive effort and investigation that the ends of justice were served.

"On behalf of all concerned, I want to publicly thank Detective Miller for his able service to both my client and the community he serves.

To Open Pools For Vacation

Spring vacation swimming will be available to Grosse Pointe young people seven years and older at a time when something to do may be something of a problem.

The Department of Community Services of the Grosse Pointe Public Schools has arranged "Open Swimming" sessions at the Brownell and Pierce pools for April 16, 17, and 18 (Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday) from 1 to 3 p.m. at the regular 50 cents charge.

The regular swimming program will be curtailed during the vacation period. Because there is considerable time between the last day of school and the first day of swimming, kitchen calendars should bear heavy reminders for April 16, 17, and 18. A full complement of qualified life guards will be on duty to insure all who participate a safe and happy time.

New classes are being formed now for the Spring Instructional Swimming Program. With the summer season approaching rapidly, it becomes increasingly urgent to know that all young people know how to swim, particularly in a community bordered by a large body of water. The matter of swimming enjoyment is important, but the paramount concern for children is their protection and safety. They should know how to swim well.

Call the Department of Community Services at 885-3808 or 885-0271 and make a reservation for your child in a swimming class today.

Memorial Center Provides Amazingly Varied Program

By Pepper Whitelaw

The stately mansion on four and a half acres of ground shone regally in the sunlight as a sprightly gray-haired gentleman hopped out of his car and up the steps. In a few moments he came out smiling, with a wheelchair in tow.

The next person to mount the stairs was a middle-aged man... he left with a pair of crutches tucked under his arm.

These two were followed by a steady procession of people; young matrons, teenagers, youngsters with ballet slippers in hand, businessmen... all happily bounding up the steps of one of The Pointe's busiest facilities... The Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Home to thousands of Pointers.

The War Memorial is open seven days and seven nights a week. Over 100,000 persons annually cross its threshold.

It represents a two million dollar gift to the community by the Russell Alger family. The theater and banquet ballrooms were a gift of William H. Fries. The facility costs the community absolutely nothing.

Planned activities start daily at 9:30 a.m. and continue late into the evening.

A Typical Day
Let's follow a typical day's activities there. We begin with a meeting of the Grosse Pointe Garden Council. Twenty members strong, representing various Pointe garden clubs, its purpose is to promote cooperation among different garden clubs in order to beautify the community.

For the weight-conscious woman there's the Weight Watchers of Eastern Michigan, Inc., a city-wide organization for those who want to lose weight. To join you must want and need to lose 10 pounds. Here you are taught how to eat, what to eat and when to eat.

Vital assistance to cancer patients is given by the Cancer Center Workshop, a branch of the Michigan Cancer Foundation. Any woman can drop in for an hour or two and contribute valuable assistance, sewing various types of bandages. This group supplies fillers for 39 cancer workshops in various locations throughout the city. It also dispenses the finished dressings to patients who have been referred by doctors, visiting nurses and friends.

Bridge Is Popular
Seven tables of duplicated bridge are available for cards and chatter weekly on the second floor in room F.

The Crystal Ballroom is the

LICENSE PLATE STOLEN

has a current membership of 1,000. The group sponsors garden tours, maintains a lending library and conducts lectures and horticultural shows.

If you have an interest and wish to pursue that interest check at the War Memorial. Odds are that you will find just the help for which you are looking!

The classes are offered at a nominal fee... the club groups, at a small membership fee.

Since the War Memorial is in the midst of a campaign for funds this would be an ideal time to show your appreciation of the facilities offered by making a contribution, no matter how small, in the envelope recently sent to you in the mail.

NAB SHOPLIFTER
George Sassin, manager of the Kroger store, 16919 Kercheval, called City police on Tuesday, April 2, to report he was holding a teenage shoplifter. Upon arrival officers found three youths, one of whom had taken five packages of cigarettes, concealed them under his jacket and attempted to leave the store without paying for them. All three were taken to the station and warned to stay out of the stores. He sent the boy back to the store to apologize and return the merchandise.

Every man has a future before him, but too often his past acts as a handicap.

Hire Policemen To Patrol School

In accordance with a memorandum issued by Judge James H. Lincoln, of the juvenile division of the Probate Court, Wayne County, two off-duty, uniformed, Farm's policemen have been assigned to Grosse Pointe High School effective Monday, March 25.

The policemen are assigned to prevent students not attending the school from loitering on the school grounds.

Judge Lincoln said in his memorandum that he was requesting "forceful action" to be taken concerning "school dropouts, juveniles suspended from school, and juveniles who are enrolled in one school but who loiter in and around schools in which they are not enrolled."

John Thursby, Grosse Pointe High School assistant principal, said "The only reason the police are here is to keep outsiders from coming into the school and to help check our own students from leaving the school when they should be in classes."

Two men are assigned to the school during the lunch hours and one man patrols the grounds later in the afternoon.

City police received a report of larceny from a store on Wednesday, April 3, from William Burgan, of the security department of Packer stores. Mr. Burgan said at 5:21 p.m., he and Mike Jones another security department member, observed Kenneth Burnett, 32, of 28719 Bohn, Roseville, an employee of Packers at 17410 Mack, put merchandise in his car.

City police officer Cpl. William Plumb, picked up Burnett at Packers and took him to the station where Burnett was advised of his rights. At that time Burnett said that he intended to pay for the merchandise the next day and that he knew it was against company rules to do this.

Mr. Jones told police that the security department had obtained information that the subject had been taking merchandise from the store. He said that he and Burgan were in the parking lot and observed the subject place the merchandise in the car. Burnett told them at that time, according to Mr. Jones, that he did not know why he took it.

Burnett was charged under the City Ordinance for being a disorderly person and was released on a $55 cash bond pending his April 23 court date.

The merchandise included; a bottle of champagne, toothpaste, hot dogs, sandwich meat, ground meat, pork chops, chicken and a ham. Value of the merchandise was $19.86.

John Fernald Here April 15

John Fernald, Director of Meadow Brook Theatre, Oakland University, will bring members of his company to Pines Theater Monday evening, April 15, to demonstrate to Pointers how he achieves the high standards of the productions which have graced Wilson Hall the past two seasons.

The Grosse Pointe public is cordially invited without charge to enjoy and learn from this evening. It is co-sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Theater whose performances are so acclaimed at the Center.

The Meadow Brook Company will do excerpts of different plays to illustrate under Fernald's direction the dramatic use of voice and movement and how moods and effects are subtly underlined.

INJURED IN FALL
 Mrs. Thomas Frazier, 898 Notre Dame, called City police on Friday, April 5, to report that a boy had fallen and injured his head. Police took John Knight, 1318 Balfour, to Bon Secours Hospital for a cut over his eyebrow.

GP Park Council Passes Local Curfew Ordinance

The Park council at its regular meeting held on Monday, April 8, approved a Curfew Ordinance, to enable local authorities to enforce a curfew on a local level, even if a state of emergency is proclaimed by the governor of the state.

The new law, patterned after one passed by the other Pointes, states that during time of great public stress, disaster, apprehension of immediate danger, and when public safety is imperiled in the city, the mayor, or in his absence, the mayor-pro-tem, or in the absence of both, the city manager, can declare a state of emergency in the city.

Once the proclamation is issued, an immediate curfew is imposed, and the sale of liquor, guns and ammunition sales are prohibited, and forbidden to be carried, as are other dangerous weapons, and other impositions that are applied in the time of crisis, such as that which began on Friday, April 5.

In an interpretation of the ordinance, City Attorney Richard Rohr informed the council that the provisions of the law are effective immediately.

Any person convicted of violation of the law, all or in part, is subject to a $500 fine or 90 days in jail, or both, at the discretion of the court.

The ordinance will remain in permanent force, unless replaced, and can be invoked at anytime an emergency arises, it was said.

Attending the 45th annual Wellesley College Alumnae Council meeting on the campus in Wellesley, Mass., April 9 through 11 is MRS. DOUGLAS DONALD, JR., of Beaupre avenue.

Grant Request Of Boat Owners

Jack Wesenberg, representing the Grosse Pointe Woods Boat Club, requested that the Council grant permission for the installation of water and electricity for 26 boat wells at Lake Front Park. Those wells are located from the bridge to the residences in St. Clair Shores. The Woods granted permission. Those boat wells that will have electricity and water will be raised $18 additional charge per year to cover the installation costs, and will include wells numbers 119 through 140 and numbers 5A through 8A.

Writing Contest Winners Named

Three Grosse Pointe High School students have won National Awards in the 1968 Quill and Scroll sponsored contest. Nannette Singer and Bill Morrison won gold keys in the writing contest and Carrie Loomis won a key for her high score in the Current Events quiz.

Nannette, co-editor of the Tower, won her key for a news story on exchange students. She was also a winner in the recent Scholastic Writing contest.

Bill Morrison, sports editor of the Tower, won a key for a sports feature on Dave DeBuschere. Bill was also a winner in the Scholastic Writing contest. A number of Bill's stories were reprinted and distributed to 5,000 journalists throughout the country by the Newspaper Fund as example of good high school sports writing.

Nannette and Bill are now eligible to apply for a $500 scholarship offered by Quill and Scroll.

Carrie Loomis scored 94 right answers out of a possible 100 in the Current Events quiz. This is the first time Grosse Pointe High School has ever had a national winner in this contest. The Current Events quiz is given annually to journalism classes. Thousands of students take the test each year. The quiz is sent to more than 17,000 schools in practically every state of the union as well as many foreign countries.

Tuxis Club Gets Ready for Show

Has Original Music

One factor that promises to make the 1968 Tuxis show unique will be original music. For the first time a student, Bill Coe, has written the music and lyrics for about 10 songs that will be used in the show. Bill has studied piano for five years, and has incorporated words from the script into his songs. Nancy believes, "Writing the songs for the script, rather than choosing songs and then trying to make them fit the story line, will give added continuity to the show."

A small stage band of Grosse Pointe High students will perform Bill's music. Music will also be provided by the Paradise Jug Band, the Sounds of Nite, and the Pointe Trio. The show will also feature dance acts and solos by Dan Prince, Sue Morgan, Heidi Klein, John O'Brien, Betsy Parcells and other members of the cast.

Last year the shows' profits totaled about $1,200, and the money was given to medical missions and the Foreign Student Exchange Program. The profits from this year's show will go to memberships for Detroit area children to the Hannan YMCA and college scholarships for Detroit area students.

Tickets for the show are now on sale, and are available from students in the show, at the Memorial Church office, and may be ordered by calling Missie Lewis at 881-9442.

HUBCAPS TAKEN

Alvin Perry Fackerehl, 1750 Mack, called City police on Monday, April 1, to report that someone had removed the hubcaps from his car which was parked in the rear of the building sometime between March 30 and April 1. The hubcaps were valued at $27 each.

Wins Top Honor At Science Fair

Grosse Pointe High School senior, Dale Johnson, on Thursday, April 4, was named Grand Award Winner at the Metropolitan Detroit Science Fair held at Cobo Hall.

Dale's project was titled "Holography." Holography is a type of lensless three-dimensional photograph which allows depth perception. Because the process of taking a hologram is extremely sensitive to motion, it is not generally used by amateurs. Dale, however, used this sensitivity to measure changes in position of ten one-millionths of an inch.

Engineers are finding wide application of this and similar experiments with holographic stress analysis, scientifically named, "Holographic Interferometry."

Dale and his teacher, Mr. David Sprandel, were honored at a breakfast on Friday, April 5, when Dale was awarded a $100 savings bond.

Dale's project will be entered in the International Science Fair in May.

EDISON WIRE FALLS

a Detroit Edison Service cable was down from house to pole City police David Teolis and Dave J. Van Dale reported that in the rear of 744 Rivard. Detroit Edison was notified.

Nick Balderi and Chris Pitte were selected to represent Grosse Pointe High School. Irving Ingraham and Robert Trinklino will represent the Key Club; Bill Schleicher and Steven Unger are being sent by posts of the American Legion, and Lynn Ureel and Patricia Thompson are being sent by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Both Girls and Boys State will set up a mock government and seek to solve problems of that government.

4 Women Plead Guilty of Theft

Four women were arrested by Woods police on Saturday, April 6, and charged with violation of Ordinance 208, Section 16, which is a public peace ordinance, involving injury, or removal of public or private property.

The foursome, were charged with taking clothing from a Goodwill Pick Up Station, and were arraigned before City Municipal Judge Douglas Paterson, who presided in the Woods Municipal Court in the absence of Judge Don Goodrow.

Arraigned were Linda Lou Miller, 18, of 539 Newport; Geneva E. Moses, 25, of 689 Newport; Kathryn Marie DuBois, 22, and Patricia Rosa McGehee, 18, both of 541 Newport, Detroit.

According to a report submitted by Patrolman Donald Sabel, who was on patrol on Mack avenue, and who was stopped by a witness and informed of the violation, two of the women, on noticing the approach of his scout car, ran to a vehicle parked nearby. One woman was sitting in the rear seat of the auto, Sabel said.

The driver of the car, Miss McGehee, drove off, with Sabel in pursuit, toward Moross road. The officer said he stopped the automobile, and when he approached on foot, and looked in, he saw a number of articles of clothing on the back seat.

Miss McGehee told the patrolman that there was a fourth girl, Miss Moses, and that she was locked in the pick-up station box, unable to get out from inside.

The officer called Police Lt. Roland Symons, who arrived at the parking lot, and between the two, assisted the imprisoned woman out of the box.

At about 9 p.m. Judge Paterson was asked to hear the case in the Woods court chambers. When arraigned, all four women pled guilty as charged. They were placed on six month probation and fined $50 each, to be paid during the probation period.

BICYCLE STOLEN

Daniel Bott, 492 Rivard, called City police on Sunday, March 31, to report that someone had stolen his locked, red and white, 28" Schwinn bicycle from the rear shed of his home.

Friends Film Forum Frday

The last of the 1967-68 Friends Film Forum programs will be held on Friday, April 19, at 9:15 p.m. in the Main Reading Room of the Central Library. This program is sponsored by the Friends of the Library and the Grosse Pointe Public Library and is open to the public. The films are selected with a discriminating audience in mind and it is hoped many people will take advantage of the opportunity to see this month's offering.

FOOTSTEPS IN THE FOG (Great Britain) — 90 minutes. This is a suspense thriller set in London at the turn of the century. It is based on a short story by W. W. Jacob's "The Interruption" and it tells of a handsome, patrician household, played by Stewart Granger, who has just poisoned his wife. His servant girl, Jean Simmons blackmails him and there is a masterful play of attack and defense as each tries to outsmart the other. "Nicely-made period piece . . . viewers will enjoy seeing Stewart and Jean creep in and out of murder as they continue their diabolic paths." Commonweal.

The Library now has quite a complete collection of 16 mm. films which are available on loan and would be useful to people planning Church programs, youth programs and study groups. For information on audio-visual aids call Mr. James Titterton, TU 4-2200 extension 42.

Here's a good question to ask before you take the lowest bid on any air conditioning equipment

"How long will it last?"

We install Carrier equipment because it performs so long and so well. Call on us to hold down owning and operating costs; to meet a standard, not a price; to explain why more people put their confidence in Carrier than in any other make.

The pyramids, of course, have been a landmark since 3000 B. C.

They are a reminder of the old days.

A striking contrast is the all new "space age" design of the Carrier Residential Air Conditioner. It's built to last, too. It's more efficient. Quieter. And Carrier prices are at an all time low. Call us today for free survey. Fast installation available if you decide now not to simmer through Summer.

Basement Fire Causes Smoke

There was no structural damage to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ballard, 19787 East Ida lane, when fire started in the basement of the house on Wednesday, April 3. Firemen arrived in time to put out the blaze before it could spread.

According to a Woods Public Safety Department report, the fire was discovered by Mrs. Ballard, who promptly called the station.

Mr. Ballard told fire officials that the fire might have started when he accidentally dropped hot cigaret ashes atop a pile of papers and miscellaneous cartons in the basement.

The fire was doused with water from a booster line, and smoke aired out of the building.

Men Gardeners Meet April 18

"Tuberous Begonias" will be the subject of discussion at the monthly meeting of Men's Garden Club of Grosse Pointe Thursday evening, April 18, at War Memorial building.

Non-member men gardeners will be welcome as guests at the session, which starts at 8 p.m. A social period follows.

Hugh V. Foley, vice-president of the club, will be speaker, his talk illustrated with color-slides. Mr. Foley, formerly of Mt. Clemens, resides at 273 Chalfonte. He is an engineer on the staff of Federal Housing Administration, serving in several states of the Middle West.

The speaker has long experience with begonias, developing them under lights for later outdoor display.

At the business meeting plans for the annual geranium sale on Saturday, May 18, and for the garden evaluation program, will be discussed.

Reports will be received on the Study Course for Home Gardeners, which will just have been completed at the Grosse Pointe High School in cooperation with Community Services Department of the board of education.

Farms Submits Building Report

Building construction appears to be almost at a standstill in the Farms for the first three months of 1968, according to information released by Public Service Director John A. DeFoe. No applications have been received for either residential or commercial permits.

From January 1 through March 31, the Building Department approved only 12 permits for miscellaneous constructions, valued at a total of $50,700. DeFoe reported. For the same period in 1967, 13 permits were applied for for miscellaneous building, having a total valuation of $168,000, plus two permits for residences, with a total value of $99,000.

Last month, eight permits were approved for miscellaneous building valued at a total of $22,700, as compared to March 1967, when only three miscellaneous permits were granted, for construction having a total value of $9,000.

Law Breakers Pay in GP Park

Trifon Kelepouris, 26, 5121 Lillibridge, Detroit, charged with driving a motor vehicle while his operator's license was revoked, appeared before Park Municipal Judge C. Joseph Belanger on Wednesday, April 3. Kelepouris entered a plea of not guilty and was found guilty and fined $75.

Larry A. Christie, 18, of 8963 Rockland, Detroit, arrested for speeding 55 miles an hour on Jefferson, a 35-mile zone, was also charged with illegal possession of alcoholic beverages. Police had found several cans of beer in his car, with some opened.

Christie pled guilty to both charges, and was fined $30 for speeding and $35 for the illegal possession.

With Christie at the time of the arrest, were Ronald O'Grady, 19, of 3568 Sioux, and William Carr, 18, of 9560 Sioux, both of Detroit, and both of whom were also charged with illegal possession of beer. The pair entered pleas of guilty as charged and were fined $35 each, which they paid rather than spend five days in the Wayne County Jail.

It was disclosed that Judge Belanger heard a total of 26 cases of law infractions in his court, for which the law breakers paid fines totaling $545.

The judge signed seven warrants, against as many persons, for failing to answer summonses to come to court.

Residents Responding Well To Memorial Center Drive

Grosse Pointe War Memorial's 1968 Annual Family Participation Campaign is proceeding at a good pace in spite of the tragedy and troubled conditions experienced in the past week.

To date $31,289.50 has been received from 1,945 families. This compares with $20,199.50 received from 1,399 families after the same number of days receipts last year.

However, because the campaign started earlier last year, there is still a gap to be closed with the figures of April 7, 1967. Also the need to maintain operations this year is $80,000 as opposed to $75,000 in 1967.

This is the first time in several years that the War Memorial has asked for a slight increase in Family Participation in spite of the spiraling costs of operation. The Center still earns three-fourths of its budget, depends on no tax monies, and takes no funds from the United Foundation. The buildings and grounds were outright gifts to the Community and represent a multi-million dollar contribution on the part of the Alger Family and William H. Fries.

This week marks the beginning of a series of free programs at the Memorial designed to acquaint all citizens with the facilities which are here for their use and to give them some idea of the scope of the various activities carried on. Families of all five Grosse Pointes should have received a free pass to be exchanged for tickets to these activities.

Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association's Board of Directors hopes everyone will have fun at the Center during the ensuing week and will see the value of contributing to this very worthwhile investment.

William E. Huettnerman, President of the Association and Wm. B. Cudlip, Campaign Chairman, wish to thank the following additional donors for their much appreciated gifts. No gift is too small. All are vitally needed. Mrs. Vivian K. Ackerson, Mr.

& Mrs. Douglas A. Adair, Mr. & Mrs. Clyde M. Adams, Joyce Alexander, Earl H. Allard, Mr. & Mrs. Alonzo C. Allen, Mr. & Mrs. Archie Allen, Dr. & Mrs. R. H. Ambrose, Mrs. D. Anderson, Mrs. Thomas P. Nedzi Addresses
Pierce Students

Lucien N. Nedzi, Congressman from Michigan's 14th District, addressed the entire student body at Pierce Junior High School on Friday, March 29.

After explaining some of the duties and day-to-day activities of a Congressman, he answered many questions from the students. Their queries concerned such vital issues as the Presidential election, Vietnam, the gold drain and urban problems.

Following the assembly he visited some ninth grade civics classes (presently studying the federal government), where students were able to meet him more intimately and discuss further some of their questions about government.

Students and staff agreed that the experience was highly rewarding.

Lecture Series
Dates Shifted

Because of the period of mourning for Dr. Martin Luther King, the beginning of the series of three lectures on child development by Dr. Richard Cutler sponsored by the Maire PTA has been postponed, president William Ehrlich said Monday.

The first film lecture in the series, devoted to a discussion of personality, has been rescheduled from April 9 to April 23. The second in the series, slated for April 23, will be held on May 7. The date for the third lecture will be announced later. All meetings will be held at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Pierce Junior High School.

Dr. Cutler, Vice-President for Student Affairs and Professor of Psychology at the University of Michigan, is an eminently well-qualified speaker on problems of childhood and adolescence.

A ticket costing $3 for the series will admit a husband and wife or a single person to all three lectures. Student tickets are available for 25 cents. Interested residents wishing to attend the series may purchase tickets in the office of their nearest elementary school.

CUT BY BOTTLE

Riva McLaren, 14650 Riverside, was taken to Bon Secours Hospital on Thursday, April 4, by City police, for a minor cut on her leg, incurred when a bottle fell out of a customer's cart in back of Krogers, 16919 Kercheval.

Alan Schellig
Honored at AFB

Airman First Class Alan Schellig, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert I. Schellig, of Windmill Pointe drive, was recently selected as the 4830th Support Squadron's Airman of the Month for February 1968. Alan is stationed at Goose Air Force Base, Labrador, Canada.

Alan was competing with 50 airmen for the honor. His selection was based on job performance, technical competence, military bearing, off-duty interests and attitude. It was determined that he possesses those qualities from which an organization draws its strength.

Alan received a $25 U.S. Savings Bond and an excusal from all squadron detail for a period of 30 days.

Commander Donald C. Allman, Major USAF said Alan's devotion to duty and desire to excel were indicative of his character, and are attributes on which to build a successful Air Force career.

Alan was graduated from Grosse Pointe High School in 1965, where he was a swimming Letterman.

The Free Press did—with a pioneering study that the President's Riot Commission labelled "brilliant."

Again, the Detroit Free Press went further than its obligation to report just the news. Less than a month after the riots, the Free Press accomplished something that generally takes scholars months and years. It published an exhaustive series of stories detailing the real causes that triggered the disturbance. The President's Commission on Civil Disorders called it a landmark survey. The Free Press and Newsweek magazine were cited by the Commission as the two "brilliant exceptions" to its finding that the news media generally failed to present and analyze to a sufficient extent the basic reasons for the disorders.

Directed by Philip Meyer of the Free Press Washington Bureau, the Detroit survey combined the precision of the political scientist with the speed of a big daily newspaper. Meyer designed the questionnaire and the Urban League of Detroit recruited 25 Negro interviewers, most of them school teachers. They interviewed a random probability sample of 437 Negroes living in the main riot areas of Detroit. The results provided Free Press readers with the most illuminating picture of participants and causes of urban violence ever published.

This is the kind of one-step-further reporting that people have come to expect from the Free Press. And it's been that way since 1831.

Coho Lunacy Started Again When Season Opened April 6

April 6 is the day . . . the coho season opens in Lake Michigan and Superior. Frenzied fishermen will storm the access towns along their shores in search of a new world record silver salmon (coho). A far from normal situation is guaranteed.

Never before has there been anything approaching the fantastic coho fishing that took place last fall in Lake Michigan off the mouths of the Manistee and Platte Rivers, on the western shore of Michigan's lower peninsula. During the long Labor Day weekend, some 19,000 anglers took 64,000 pounds of coho salmon in the Manistee area alone . . . a fisherman with a 20 pounder couldn't even get his picture in the Detroit papers anymore, because 20 pound salmon were no longer news . . . they were far too common. More than 150,000 anglers fished in Michigan for coho last summer, spending at least $2 million . . . quite an effect on Michigan's economy. Fishermen swarmed into the towns of Manistee, Frankfort, and Honor . . . motels, hotels, restaurants, gas stations, and boat livery all did a record business. It was impossible to get a room on weekends, and coho lures were scarce as hen's teeth in the local tackle shops.

Gas stations that normally pumped 800 gallons a day on weekends were pumping around 4,000 gallons. One outboard motor dealer sold more motors in two weeks than he had sold in two years, airlifting them in from the factory. Volume increases as high as 400 per cent were reported by grocery stores in the area.

It all started back in April, 1966, when the Michigan Conservation Department planted 4 to 6 inch fingerling coho salmon in the Big Manistee and Platte Rivers, and Bear Creek, in northwestern Lower Michigan. That fall (1966), the first 2 to 3 lb. jacks (immature fish), made a false spawning run in the rivers. But in August and September, 1967, really big, mature salmon returned to the rivers on their spawning run . . . they had grown from fingerlings to 20 pounders in only 16 months.

Dozens of additional streams that feed into Lakes Michigan, Superior, and Huron, are scheduled to be stocked with salmon, not only in Michigan but also in Indiana and Wisconsin. Biologists live-trapped salmon in the fall of 1967 for replanting in other Michigan streams . . . the Silver and Falls Rivers in Baraga County, the Yellow Dog in Marquette, Boardman River and Mitchell Creek in Grand Traverse County, the Boyne in Charlevoix, Bear at Petoskey, Ocqueoc in Presque Isle, Au Gres in Arenac, and the Pine in Manistee County.

The coho, or silver salmon, travels under a variety of nom-de-plumes in different areas . . . it is also known as the Arctic trout, Pacific salmon, white salmon, hoopid salmon, medium red salmon, kisutch, quitch, and tschaviche, depending on the portion of its California to Alaska range in which the subject arises. The cohos of Lakes Michigan and Superior are thick, deep-bodied fish . . . well-fed and powerful. Blush-black to grayish-green on back, its upper sides are often peppered with a few purplish spots . . . lower sides and belly are a creamy white, with a silver iridescence over its sides. A good food fish, it can be a real delicacy when properly prepared.

During summer months, coho will average less than 10 lbs., but as the season advances, they gain weight rapidly, preparing for their fall spawning run. A school of feeding 5 to 8 pounders will provide all the fishing action you could desire. A 15 lb. coho is a lunker, although a few reach double that weight. Coho taken on the Pacific Coast average 3 to 8 pounds . . . the world record fish, a 31-pounder, came from British Columbia waters in 1947.

Alewives make up the largest portion of diet for Lake Michigan's cohos. As abundant as the food supply is, a new world record could come out of Lake Michigan during 1968. Sterling Deehr of Manistee, Michigan, took a 21 pounder last year, about half a mile offshore and a half mile south of the pier at Manistee . . . largest reported to date. There is no doubt about it, Lake Michigan holds some real giants.

When the season opens April 6, it will not be difficult to locate good coho fishing in Lake Superior . . . hot spots should be the larger bays along its southern shores. Last spring, productive areas included Munising, Au Train, Marquette and Keweenaw Bays . . . also the mouths of major streams such as the Two-Hearted, Sucker, Dead, Huron, and Ontonagon.

Last spring, the coho action in Lake Michigan was slow due to the anglers' inability to find them. The salmon are there . . . netting by the Michigan Conservation Department, both in spring and fall, turned up large concentrations of coho salmon in the southern portions of both Lake Michigan and Lake Superior, where they spend their winters.

The local experts know the hot spots. When you reach the general area, a quick check with local conservation officers, tackle shops, or boat liveries, will save you a lot of searching . . . they usually have the latest up-to-the-minute reports on where the action is.

Finding fish is easy when you know where to start. Since cohos prefer 55 degree water, they are almost certain to be at or near the surface until early June in Lakes Michigan and Superior. When the surface temps exceed 58 degrees, from mid-June to mid-September, the salmon go as deep as 50 to 100 feet to escape the warm water.

Dawn, and the first few hours of daylight, are always most productive when fishing for salmon. Early mornings, coho are usually schooled up and easier to find. Around noon, they become pretty well scattered. Look for the "sure" signs of baitfish near the top . . . birds working hard on the surface. The baitfish were most likely forced close to the surface by feeding salmon below. Trolling through these areas will produce some of your largest cohos.

When conditions are exactly right . . . a dreary, overcast day, just enough wind to give a slight chop to surface, and baitfish are plentiful . . . almost anything will work. But when coho are difficult to locate, and more difficult to take when you do find them, a few tricks will help. If the coho are not hitting your offering, try painting a few red Merthiolate stripes on your bait, or red fingernail polish stripes on your lure. A few strands of red yarn tied on the tail hook of your trolling lure will often attract strikes when action is slow. A chrome flasher blade, rigged into your line with swivels, a few inches above your bait or lure makes an excellent attention-getter when the salmon are scattered.

Trolling offshore in the lakes, large bays, or lower reaches of the salmon rivers has proven the most successful method of taking coho. Salmon are always on the move, following baitfish. Trolling is the only way to cover enough water to locate them if birds are not present to pinpoint the feeding schools.

Start trolling with one deep line and one shallow line . . . when you get your first strike, adjust the other line to the "action" depth. You can fish any depth desired, with the right combination of weight, amount of line out, and trolling speed. With 40 feet of line out, trolling at 3 mph, a 6 oz. sinker will travel about 15 ft. deep . . . 8 oz. at 20 feet depth. An ounce of weight, heavier or lighter, makes a difference. Start with 2 ozs. of weight. Experiment until you find fish.

Cohos are usually fished shallow and fast in the spring . . . 10 to 20 feet below the surface. Artificial lures require a faster trolling speed than natural baits. If you are in good salmon water, and your bait or lure doesn't draw a strike, work your line in, 10 ft. at a time, then allowing it to strip back out in the wash . . . when you release line, bait will spin toward bottom as if stunned or injured, often inducing a quick strike. Check baits often . . . lures fouled with weeds will not catch salmon.

Many veteran trollers have rod holders mounted on rails and transom of their boat . . . salmon hook themselves on the strike with rods in holders. Churning propeller blades, engine vibration, and water disturbance in wake of boat seems to attract salmon . . . trolling short lines as close to boat as possible gives best results.

When close to surface, silvers will take a trolled salmon fly . . . provide fast action when you get into a school. A 9 ft., 6 oz. fly rod is needed for this kind of fishing. Veteran coho anglers troll one fly astern, while casting another at right angles to boat. The cast fly often draws a fish into following your retrieved fly close enough to boat that as he turns off, he'll see and take the trolled fly astern. A little weight added to the leader ahead of a trolled fly will put it deeper, often improving results. Jig the cast fly as you retrieve it; the extra action gets more strikes.

Best results come when flies are trolled at about 8 to 10 mph, some 30 feet behind boat, darting and dodging in wake. Coho flies vary widely in color . . . blue, green, yellow, and red, mixed with white are popular. Most are tied on 2/0 or 3/0 hooks, with silver bodies, and a long hair wing in the various combinations. The secret of hooking coho on flies is to let them make their first run without striking, stripping line off reel freely . . . then sock it to 'em.

Tackle used on coho varies tremendously. The lightest salt-water boat or trolling rigs are suitable . . . heavy freshwater baitcasting, spincasting, or spinning outfits work as well. The preferred line tests 15 to 20 lbs. Many anglers carry two rods . . . a shorter, stiff rod for drift fishing with heavy sinkers, and a longer, lighter rod for shallow trolling.

When fishing in congested areas, use 6 to 8 ft. medium action rods . . . light rods are sporty, but demand lots of open water when playing a coho. It takes a long time to set a coho on the light stuff. A 7 or 8 ft. spinning rod, equipped with a large freshwater spinning reel loaded with 5 or 6 lb. test monofilament, makes an excellent rig.

Salmon react better to artificial lures in fresh water than in salt water. Spoons, plugs, wobblers, spinners . . . all are effective in the lakes. Confidence in your lure is important. Dawn hours are the best time to use artificials effectively.

Three of the most effective artificial lures for coho are the Wob-L-Rite spoon, the Rebel 2300 Deep Runner, and the Rebel Super Fastback. Trolling Rebels on your stern lines, and Wob-L-Rites on your forward lines, makes a very successful combination . . . more effective than trolling live bait for coho.

The bright chrome, deep running Wob-L-Rite spoon will maintain a continuous depth, will not plane in water no matter how fast you troll . . . let it sink to desired depth, and it will hold that depth. At daylight, the solid silver Rebel painted with red fingernail polish stripes is most effective. On bright days, the blue and silver Rebels work best . . . on cloudy days, the greenish-gray and silver Rebel is most effective. The blue and silver Rebel painted with stripes of red fingernail polish is deadly for coho.

A scrappy game fish, this silver-sheathed acrobat is a hard hitting, savage fighter, real dynamite on light tackle. When you hook one, he doesn't sulk in the depths . . . his rapid-fire leaps into the air are spectacular, as he puts up a thrilling bid for freedom on the surface . . . a flashy, exciting battle. You'll lose 3 or 4 fish for each one landed . . . a silver goes berserk when he feels sting of barb. He reacts immediately . . . goes into a series of frantic aerial acrobatics in an effort to dislodge the hook. When you bring him to net, you'll sit there and shake for a few minutes before you are able to resume fishing.

LCC Slaps Fine On Bar in Park

Park Police Chief Arthur Louwers disclosed on Monday, April 8, that he had been notified by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, that the owners of the LaParissienne Club, 15316 East Jefferson had been found guilty of operating after closing hours, and have been fined $75. The alternative was the closing of the bar for 15 days.

Charges against the owners were made by Park Det. James LaPratt, who testified before the Commission, that the establishment was found open, after the 2 p.m. closing time last December 30.

The Commission heard the matter on Friday, March 29, Chief Louwers said. The owners paid the fine, he added.

Eleanor Schneider, 333 Lincoln, called City police on Sunday, April 7, to report that someone had pushed out all of the screens on her screened-in porch sometime between April 4 and April 7. No attempt at entry had been made.

Lutherans Plan Holy Week Rites

Special Holy Week services are being observed at St. James Lutheran Church of Grosse Pointe, McMillan and Kercheval, beginning with Maundy Thursday Vespers, April 11, at 7:30 p.m. Holy Communion will be celebrated at this service.

Two services are being held on Good Friday, April 12. The afternoon service will be from 1 to 2 p.m., and will include two songs by the Junior Choir and a solo by Frank Mumford.

"Christ the Life of All the Living." An evening Tenebrae Service is planned for 7:30 p.m. for which the sermon topic is "Darkness Over the Land." The service of worship called "Tenebrae," which means "Shadows," is an extremely old custom of the Christian Church.

The message of Good Friday and Easter is expressed not only in the reading of the written Word and prayer, but also through the symbolic meaning of light and darkness, which is conveyed through the gradual darkening of the sanctuary until only one candle (symbolizing Christ) remains burning.

Three worship opportunities are scheduled for Easter, April 14, starting at 6:30 a.m. with a Sunrise Service, at which the congregation's youth will assist in leading the worship. At the 9:30 a.m. service the Junior Choir will sing "Come, Christians Join to Sing."

At the 11 a.m. Festival Service, the Chancel Choir will present four numbers and Mrs. William Heller will sing "I Know That My Redeemer Lives." Holy Communion will be celebrated at the 6:30 and 11 a.m. services.

To Reduce Calls For Information

Beginning Monday, April 15, a new greeting from the operator will be heard by Detroit area telephone users who dial Information.

Instead of responding to the customary "Information," the operator will say, "Directory Assistance."

The change, according to Kenneth J. Mott, Michigan Bell Telephone Company manager, is being made to improve information service by reducing requests for telephone numbers readily available in the directory.

Mott said the new greeting will serve to remind callers that the number they want probably is in their recently-distributed directory. On the average, about three out of every four calls to Information are for numbers listed in the directory, he said.

"The time spent by an operator looking up and repeating telephone numbers already in the directory should be devoted to helping those people who must call Information," Mott said. "People, for instance, who can't read or see well, those who need new numbers not yet printed in the directory, or those calling from a telephone where there might not be a directory."

With the new procedure, callers wanting a number that is listed in the book will hear the operator say: "That number is listed in the new directory as . . . or if the number is not listed but available, the operator will say: 'This is a new number. Please make note of it.'"

Nationwide, calls to Information have doubled in the past 10 years while the total for all calls has increased by only 50 percent.

Calls to Information have risen to the point where they constitute about 45 percent of all operator contacts with phone customers.

St. Paul Archers In State Finals

After the Regional Forensics Contest was completed at the Rackham Building Monday, St. Paul's found that it will be represented in seven categories for the State speech contest finals to be held in Ann Arbor, May 4.

St. Paul's placed third in the multiple reading category. Tony Provenzano, Gail Payad, Rob Browning and Jim Hayes did an interpretation of "Cyrano de Bergerac."

David Fromm took a second place with his original oratory. Dan Wieme merited a second place in serious prose, while Dave Provenzano placed third in humorous prose.

Kevin Crowther won a second in Declamation and Jack Martin placed in radio broadcasting. Mary Ann Igna merited a third place in extemporé.

J.D. Owens is planning a hunt in Kuala Lumpur. Want to go along?

Mr. J. D. Owens of Buckingham Road, Grosse Pointe Park: former news correspondent, ex-columnist, world-famous raconteur, professional PR consultant and patron of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association.

There's nothing Mr. Owens would rather do than stalk the wily Malay tiger or Africa's elusive dik-dik, especially from the safety and comfort of a theatre seat in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center.

Mr. Owens is an avid fan of George Pierrot's Adventure Series, a recent addition to the Center's regular program schedule. He and his family have discovered an almost unlimited variety of cultural, social and recreational activities at the Center, ranging from legitimate theatre and chamber music through bridge clubs and French classes. Mr. Owens is checking into the Gourmet Club and, of course, the Adult Ski Club. He's a War Memorial contributor.

You see, the Center earns about three-quarters of its operating expense, but that just isn't enough; so each year people like you and Mr. Owens—from all the Pointes—join in a Family Participation Campaign to meet the rest of the budget, so we can continue our full schedule. This year our goal is $80,000. Any size gift is greatly appreciated.

Want to go along on one of Mr. Owens' "trips"? Great. You've probably already received a Free Activities Pass in the mail. It includes five excellent programs for every member, every age group of your family. This Pass is good only through April 19th, but there are worthwhile events every day of the week, no matter when you come. See for yourself.

We think that once you get acquainted you'll agree a contribution to the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center is just another way of supporting your own family.

Indubitably.

Ministers Have Message

Comparing that first Palm Sunday of more than 1,900 years ago, when the crowds paraded through the streets in behalf of Jesus of Nazareth, with the march in Memphis led by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the Rev. John William Estes, minister of the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church, paid tribute to the fallen Negro leader during two services last Sunday morning.

"Although we may not have agreed in detail with his approach, in a time of increasing violence and emergence, his was a voice of reason, and calm, and non-violence. In a time when it is not fashionable to turn the other cheek he was a man of peace."

The Rev. Estes declared too many Americans are like the contemporaries of Isaiah who said, "Prophecy unto us is a smooth thing; speak comfortable words unto us."

"Oh, yes," Mr. Estes continued, "we like to hear comfortable words, even if they are not based on fact. Too many of us are unwilling to face the harsh realities of the age in which we live. Too many of us are like Peter, one of the close friends of Jesus. When the crisis came, and he was surrounded by people who felt differently about Jesus, he went with the crowd. How often do we do this?"

"Today history is littered with the remains of great civilizations which failed to see, or refused to adapt. May God grant us the wisdom to see, and the courage to change before it's too late."

During his talk at united memorial services for Dr. King held in the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, last Sunday, The Rev. Bertram deH. Atwood recalled the visit of the Nobel Peace Prize winner to Grosse Pointe about three weeks ago.

"How grateful we are that we had him here," said Mr. Atwood. "He searched our consciences, and we remembered how, on another occasion he said, 'it is not the violent noisiness of evil men that disturbs me; it is the appalling silence of good men that disturbs me.'"

"Today we stand condemned as those who did too little, and were too late. Some of us may have questioned, at times, his methods — but, in the light of the present violence, it looks like the choice we have is between non-violent action and non-violent dragging our feet. Never will we see a man of deeper faith — faith that in spite of everything that might happen to him, suffering love has its victory."

"As churches we must now come together to hear a common witness, initiate dialogue between people in our community, and dialogue between blacks and whites wherever the blacks will accept our attempt to dialogue. We must also find common service projects."

Letters to the Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

As a police chief who was not responsible for success or failure in handling Dr. Martin Luther King's appearance in Grosse Pointe Farms, I can comment on Mr. Emil Mazey's letter on the subject without appearing to serve my personal interests.

Mr. Mazey, in four paragraphs, dwells on the thesis that the police should not have allowed Lohsinger or his associates to enter the gymnasium on the grounds that "if free speech is to be maintained, then those who are trying to disrupt free speech should not have been permitted into the hall." Several Human Relations Council members also vehemently urged this action on the police that night without success, to the great credit of the police on duty.

The police are used to many variations of "the shoe on the other foot" and "whose ox is gored" thinking, but I am most surprised to find a prominent American Civil Liberties Union member taking the public position that American police should exclude from a public assembly a patron with a valid, paid-for ticket because the police suspect he might break the law.

Certainly the officers of my department (and I think I can safely say this of the other Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods departments in our Mutual Aid Group) will not participate in such an infringement of an individual's first amendment liberties as Mr. Mazey advocates.

In the areas of the freedoms of speech and assembly, police restrictions for preventive purposes should be aimed only at violence. I believe that the police must await the actual commission of non-violent crimes before acting in order not to unnecessarily risk infringement of speech and assembly. The right of the people "peaceably to assemble" under the first amendment certainly implies the right to attend a public meeting so long as the hall capacity allows.

In my judgment, police performance at the gymnasium preach, and only this approach, was excellent and in the fullest spirit of the enlightened respect for civil liberties which Mr. Mazey has heretofore espoused as the proper police role in the dual or collective opinions of attitudes toward others — only the law must guide their actions.

The public must insist that the police enforce the law, not in the interest of individuals or groups, but in the interest of all people by respecting the purpose and spirit of the law. This ap-

What Goes On at Your Library

By Virginia Leonard

On February 4, the CHICAGO TRIBUNE BOOK WORLD announced a Last Word competition to its readers. They were challenged to write their own review of a book listed on the best-seller chart of that date, to write no more than 250 words, and to deliver their entries within two weeks. In the March 31 issue of the BOOK WORLD the 16 best reviews were printed.

ROSEMARY'S BABY, THE CONFESSIONS OF NAT TURNER by William Styron. It struck a responsive chord in me as I had reacted in somewhat the same way. While the author claims to have written only a "meditation on history," it would have been better if he had done so in his own words instead of Nat Turner's. Then we would have been spared the embarrassment of finding in Nat Turner's body the mind of a white southerner imbued with that sentimentality towards Negroes which often is devoid of understanding of Negroes as human beings. . . . what Styron has given us is Styron in blackface. It's a pretty inept performance."

I was interested to read these reviews, to find how good they were, and to discover that not all of them were favorable reviews! They all showed independent thinking; many, refreshing variations in format, and great originality. Perhaps you would like to read some bits and pieces from some of them.

"Reading CHRISTY is like falling asleep in church — a guilty voice keeps telling you reverence should be enough to keep you awake." . . . "Midway through Chapter I her (Mrs. Marshall's) fictional Christy emerges as something of a dullard with a tendency to melodramatics and a bagful of trite observations on just about everything and everything." . . . "The book's only pulse of life is in some stirring patches of mountain dialogue, faithfully reported. The rest of Christy is like its locale, a literary poverty pocket of the first magnitude."

A review of Chaim Potok's THE CHOSEN first presents a confrontation of a patient in a mental hospital with a small boy who looks through the fence to see the inmates. His (the boy's), horror at viewing the mental patient was brought about by the realization that he was seeing not a lunatic but a real person who might have been his own sister. In the same way, the author of this review feels that Potok has broken barriers so that the readers are made to look each other full in the face and see not stereotypes and shadow, but rather, flesh and blood.

One reviewer, this time of Mary Stewart's THE GABRIEL HOUNDS, said that this novel was reminiscent of THE SHEIK and THE DESERT SONG. She felt, indeed, that she was back attending a Wednesday matinee with a box of chocolates. Here, to her, was an escapist afternoon in the exotic East — for ladies only.

I was particularly intrigued with one of the reviews of THE CONFESSIONS OF NAT TURNER by William Styron. It struck a responsive chord in me as I had reacted in somewhat the same way. While the author claims to have written only a "meditation on history," it would have been better if he had done so in his own words instead of Nat Turner's. Then we would have been spared the embarrassment of finding in Nat Turner's body the mind of a white southerner imbued with that sentimentality towards Negroes which often is devoid of understanding of Negroes as human beings. . . . what Styron has given us is Styron in blackface. It's a pretty inept performance."

The review of TOLSTOY by Henri Troyat is well written. Here are the opening sentences. "He peers over your shoulder as you read; he paces, coat-tails flying; he lives, breathes and fills the room with his overwhelming personality. Count Leo Nikolayevich Tolstoy, the 'painter-poet,' politician, lover, farmer, social reformer, gambler, educator, self-made man and insufferable egomaniac lives again through the pen of Henri Troyat."

There's a touch of acid in the review of TOPAZ by Leon Uris. The opening sentence: "Leon Uris has done it again." The reviewer feels he has put together a blend from a combination of sales-tested ingredients, such as: big safe targets, big popular causes, big timely subjects, and big plot gimmick. To this one adds a few dedicated men, mechanical prose, a best-selling name, and heads for the market at once. "Leon Uris has done it again. How much longer we're all going to keep buying it is something else. Again. Hopefully."

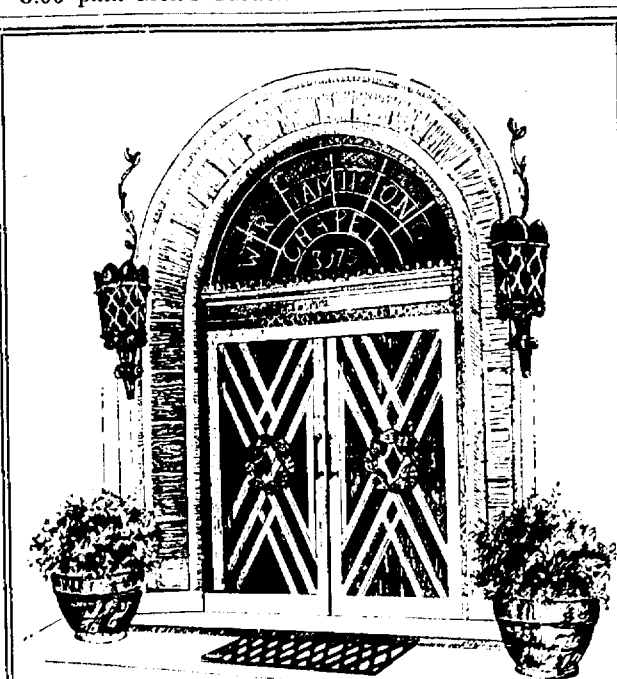

Following these reviews is a very long list of those who received Honorable Mention. It is encouraging to see so many people competing in such a contest. It is heartening and refreshing to see so many good reviews from, supposedly, newcomers. In the field of book reviewing we can always use new talent; after reading all these reviews, I feel we have a good crop growing.

It's less than a month to Fiesta, Austin Catholic Prep School's annual spring carnival for the entire family, featuring this year, as usual, game booths, sale booths, refreshments and dinners, including a choice of Sloppy Joes, pizzas and submarine sandwiches on Friday evening, April 26, and Fiesta's traditional spaghetti dinner Saturday, April 27.

Set Hope Festi-Ball May 18 In Detroit

Mrs. Horace E. Dodge to Serve as Honorary Chairman, Mrs. James H. Quello as General Chairman of Benefit Evening

The Women's Division for Project HOPE in Detroit has announced that it will hold a combination Spring Festival and Ball at the Statler-Hilton Hotel on Saturday, May 18. Mrs. Herman Sattler, of Webber place, president of the Division, has revealed that Mrs. Horace E. Dodge is honorary chairman of the Ball, and Mrs. James H. Quello, of Berkshire road, is chairman.

The event is being called the Ambassadors Festi-Ball. Mrs. Florence Sisman will be the personal ambassador of Mrs. Dodge to the Ball.

Always a very enthusiastic personality, Mrs. Quello is in the stratosphere about Festi-Ball. There will be a cocktail reception, strolling musicians, a banquet, a floor show, dancing and a casino.

Although HOPE women are great admirers of all of the out-of-town "name" orchestras, they were very firm about one thing: the Festi-Ball will have a local orchestra.

"The Detroit people support the HOPE Ship in fine fashion," says Mrs. Quello, "and we want to give a bit of this support back to Detroit by using one of our own local orchestras. We will have the Eddie Santini Orchestra along with his floor show."

The Ball will be dedicated to the people of Detroit and to those serving on the Hospital Ship.

GACC Benefit Slated April 16

The Ladies of the German American Cultural Center are sponsoring a benefit luncheon and fashion show beginning at 12:30 o'clock next Tuesday, April 16, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

Fashions, including suits, dresses and sportclothes, will be presented by The Corner Boutique and will be modeled by members of the GACC. Peter Morri will create the models' hairstyles.

A bake sale will be held in conjunction with the luncheon-show, from noon to 4:30 o'clock, in the Fries Building lobby. The public is invited to purchase cakes and tortes baked by GACC Ladies.

Proceeds from the event will help build a new German American Cultural Center in East Outer drive, Detroit.

Chairman and co-chairman of the benefit are Mrs. Hans Moeller and Mrs. Josef Thiele, of Ballantyne road. Assisting with preparations are Mrs. Frank Billner, tickets; Mrs. Karl Weidemann and Mrs. Kurt Wartlieb, models; Mrs. William Gather and Mrs. Fred Bauermann, prizes; Mrs. George Sinner and Mrs. Joseph Mitschke, baked goods; and Mrs. Rudy Vein and Mrs. Otto Steucle, hostesses.

Tickets, at $5 each, and further information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Billner, TUxedo 4-1842, or Mrs. Thiele, 886-5739.

This is the annual fund-raising event for the HOPE Women's Division, and Mary Quello and Mabel Sattler both want it to be a gay, happy and beautiful occasion.

Detroiters are dedicated to the work of the HOPE Ship and firmly believe it is a Peace Ship in action because it eloquently tells the underprivileged peoples in developing countries that the American people do care about them.

Both the bride-elect and her fiancé, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. DeGriek, of North Renaud road, were graduated from Grosse Pointe High School and are presently attending Wayne State University, where she is a junior and he is completing his senior year.

People who really aim to please don't have to take time out for target practice.

Chadlers List Two Betrothals

Mr. and Mrs. John Chandler, Jr., of Boston and Small Point, Me., formerly of Grosse Pointe, have announced the engagements of two daughters.

Abigail Benham Chandler will become the bride of Barry Alan Norling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claus H. Norling, of Worcester, Mass., and the late Beatrice Rugg Norling, at a June 22 ceremony.

The bride-to-be attended Grosse Pointe University School, where her father was Headmaster from 1949 to 1963, was graduated from Kents Hill School and attended Boston University.

Her fiancé was graduated from Worcester Junior College, attended Boston University and is presently serving with the United States Navy, stationed in San Diego, Calif.

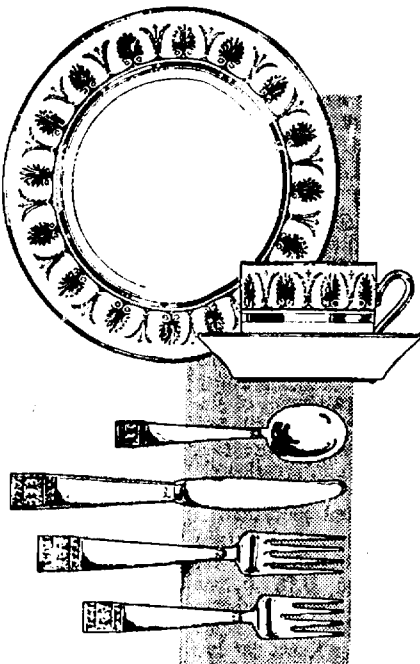

Rebecca Adams Chandler is betrothed to Roger Meredith Cuthbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Cuthbert, of Guilford, Conn. No date has been set for the wedding.

The prospective bride attended Grosse Pointe University School and, like her fiancé, was graduated from Kents Hill School. She is presently attending Leland Powers School of Radio, Television and Theater in Boston.

Mr. Cuthbert is attending Clarkson College of Technology, Potsdam, N.Y.

WENDY EWALD, daughter of MR. and MRS. HENRY T. EWALD, JR., of Moross road, has recently been elected president of the third year class at Abbot Academy in Andover, Mass.

Walton-Pierce Collection Presented

The pretty look, which the whole fashion world is now advocating, has always been present in the advanced designs of the Walton-Pierce made-to-order collection.

There are so many questions women are asking today. The waistline? The hemline? Fullness? Frills?

Mrs. William Rust Pierce answers all these questions individually for her customers in both Grosse Pointe and Birmingham with recognized fashion authority in her new spring and summer collection.

The waistline has never really been lost for women. It has been indicated, subtly, for years now, definitely and in custom fittings—comfortably and at so many interesting heights and lengths.

Hemlines flatter a customer's legs. They are suitable to the place she is, the life she leads, and always in proportion. A bit longer this year? Yes, says Mrs. Pierce. Fullness is meaningful. It is in proportion, when gathered, pleated or flared. It must also mean graceful movement.

Ruffles and frills? They enhance the design, never overpower the line and are of the finest quality imported French lace, Swiss embroidery or handmade self-trim and beading.

Pictured is a gown of a soft green and blue, hand-blocked floral print on French silk cloque. Defining fashion's newly important waistline is a high band of leaf green velvet and a bow. The neck is squared and the halter effect allows a deep flattering décolletage in back.

The coat, a graceful float of green gossamer organdy, picks up the color of the print. From the front one sees an unbroken line. The sleeves widen and stop above the wrist. A gathered yoke, high in back controls and releases fullness.

For day, a black and gray contemporary check on white silk is used for a very sophisticated, travel-perfect shirt waist dress. The collar is high. The long sleeves are deeply cuffed and a wide circling of black grosgrain marks the waistline. The skirt is gathered for a gentle and new fullness.

Yellow is a favored color in the collection. It is used in a linen daytime dress. The neck is V-neck and the bodice is double buttoned. The nicely normal waist is belted in the same fabric.

There are many new, gay-hearted and pretty party dresses but the news-making one is the scalloped black lace, long-sleeved midi. Made of the lightest Swiss lace imaginable, it is romantically sashed high under the bosom with color.

Highlights of the Walton-

Pierce spring and summer collection are a close fit through the top, a shaping of the waist, the presence of belting, done in so many interesting ways; interesting, unlimited lengths; interpreted in imported fabrics.

Chinese Cooking Class Scheduled

Culinary artist Virginia Eng-Wong, of Ann Arbor, is coming to Michigan Consolidated Gas Company's Hospitality Center, Kercheval avenue in "The Village," to conduct a Chinese cooking class for Grosse Pointers at 7:30 o'clock next Thursday evening, April 18, according to Mrs. Betty Young, acting director of the company's Home Service Division.

An enthusiastic exponent of the art of Chinese cooking, Mrs. Eng-Wong uses strictly oriental ingredients which she selects from Chinese shops and prepares with the simple aid of a meat cleaver.

Recipes she has selected for her Hospitality Center program include Hoisin chicken, shrimp chips, asparagus with cucumbers, boiled rice—Chinese and the all-time favorites, chop suey and Chinese egg rolls.

In discussing her career, Mrs.

Eng-Wong says: "I had to become an enthusiastic student of Chinese cooking to be accepted by my mother-in-law as one of the family. So I enrolled in Grace Chu's cooking class at the China Institute in New York."

Her subsequent success as a teacher of Chinese cooking may soon lead to "collaborating" with her mother-in-law in the publication of a Chinese cookbook.

Mrs. Eng-Wong is a graduate of Wellesley, class of '62, the mother of two children, and the wife of John Eng-Wong, a candidate for a Master's degree in Chinese studies at the University of Michigan.

Gourmets and all good food lovers may register for her class at Michigan Consolidated Gas Company's Hospitality Center in Kercheval avenue or by calling TU 1-6906.

Fortieth Anniversary Celebrations Slated

The Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra will celebrate its 40th anniversary on Wednesday, April 24, at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

The agenda for the day will include an 11 o'clock business meeting and election of officers. Gift of ruby-studded jewelry will be presented to a member who attends.

During the 1 o'clock luncheon a check for $58,935 will be presented by Mrs. Arnold W. Lundershausen, Women's Association president, to Robert B. Semple, president of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

This amount was raised during the course of the 1967-68 season by the hard-working members of the Women's Association through the publication of a rotogravure section, the annual FashionScope show and revenue from the Endowment Fund.

The afternoon's program, "Lizzie Trotter," and operetta be Martin Kalmanoff based on Aristophanes' play "Lysistrata," will be sung by members of the Tuesday Musicale.

In 1927, at the invitation of the Symphony, the Detroit Federation of Women's Clubs formed a committee, a Women's Auxiliary to the Symphony. On April 20, 1928, the first annual meeting of the group was held, with more than 1,000 women in attendance and with Ossip Gabrilowitch conducting an orchestral concert.

During the business session that day a vote determined that this committee of the Federation would become an independent organization, with Mrs. Floyd Hitchcock as first president and Mrs. Carl B. Chamberlain, newly-elected president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, as honorary president, in recognition of the parent organization.

In the 40 years since that time the Women's Association has faithfully and energetically pursued its purpose: "to further attendance at concerts; to secure friends and financial support" for the illustrious Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Mrs. Carl B. Chamberlain, first honorary president, and Mrs. Dudley C. Hay, president emerita, will be among the honor guests. The invocation will be given by the Reverend Chandler Benton, of the Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian Church.

Other special invitees include several Grosse Pointers; Mr. and Mrs. John B. Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Semple, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley DeLacy, Mrs.

Former Pointer THOMAS F. WILLMORE, III, will join his sister, LEIGH WILLMORE, for Easter at the St. Clair avenue home of MR. and MRS. DONALD F. SMITH, II. After visiting with his mother, Mrs. Smith, his grandmother, MRS. THOMAS F. WILLMORE, and Pointer friends, Tom plans to spend the balance of his spring vacation with his grandparents, the GUY SMITHS, in Southern Pines, N. C., before returning to classes in Lake Forest, Ill. He will be graduated from Lake Forest High School this June, and was among 60 Lake Forest High School students to win Honorary Scholarship Awards in the Illinois State Scholarship ACT Program. He will enter the University of Illinois in September.

Pierce Smith and Mrs. Donald Briggs.

Also invited are Mrs. Nathaniel Banks, honorary president and president of the Detroit Federation of Women's Clubs, Mr. and Mrs. William Wiltshire and Mr. and Mrs. Saul Bernat.

Pointer Mrs. Albert D. Law is chairman and Mrs. Joseph Jennings, also of the Pointe is program chairman. Included among the local women who will act as hostesses are Mrs. Edward A. Baumann, Miss Celia F. Olschafsky and Mrs. Clarence H. Eisman.

Early reservations have been made by Pointers Mrs. Lester A. McIntosh, Mrs. Wayne F. Austin, Mrs. Alfred D. Moran, Mrs. Ray W. Macdonald, Mrs. Russell E. Bauer, Mrs. Sterling S. Sanford, Mrs. Walter J. Burczyk and Mrs. William H. Bundesen.

Another April event will honor the Women's Association's 40th anniversary. A Life Members' Luncheon is scheduled for Wednesday, April 17, at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club.

Endowment Fund head Mrs. Phillip R. Flanders, of Bloomfield Hills, chairman of the event, is being assisted by Pointers Mrs. Thomas V. Lo Cicero, Mrs. Frank S. Perkin, Mrs. Bogdan Baynert, Mrs. Ray W. Macdonald and Mrs. Winfield S. Jewell, Jr.

The Women's Association's Life Member list includes some of the most outstanding women in Detroit's social and cultural life. Many are currently active in the organization's affairs.

Life Memberships go into the Endowment Fund of the Women's Association, and all interest and proceeds from this go directly each year to the Maintenance Fund of the orchestra.

Youth Council Holding Party

University of Michigan's most popular rock 'n roll group, The Taxis, will play for Grosse Pointe War Memorial Youth Council's Super Other Side on Wednesday night, April 17, from 8:30-11:30.

During band breaks, Fries Theatre will be open for movies. They'll go back to the silent film days when Laurel and Hardy made their points pitching pies.

A stopless bar will be open throughout the evening featuring bare chested bartenders and offering a variety of refreshment from zing to mixed drinks of grenadine and lime, grapes and ginger and orange and soda blossoms.

Decorations will feature the Gay Nineties theme over the bar and bandstand.

Admission to this Super Other Side spring vacation frolic is just $1 in advance. Grosse Pointe students in grades 9-12 are welcome. Tickets can be purchased from Youth Council members or at the Center's office. Admission at the door will be $1.25.

Lydia Leacock To Say Vows

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Leacock, of University place, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Lydia, to Richard Hummel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Hummel, of East Lansing.

Both the bride-elect and her fiancé are attending Michigan State University. A June 22 wedding is planned.

Temptation seldom overtakes the man who's running from it.

From Another Pointe of View

Heading the Mothers' Club Fiesta contingent are Mrs. Charles W. Bolton, of North Oxford road, and her general co-chairman Mrs. Robert Cavanagh, of Colonial court.

Mrs. Bolton's brother, Richard Motschall, of Whittier road, is in charge of the Austin Dads.

Another Garden Center Workshop
"Container Gardening" will be Edmund Boell's subject at the next Grosse Pointe Garden Center Workshop.

shop, to be held Wednesday morning, April 17, at 10 o'clock, in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

A founder of the Men's Garden Club of Grosse Pointe and a past-president of the Men's Garden Club of Detroit, Mr. Boell, of Buckingham road, is now senior floriculturalist of the floriculture unit at the greenhouses on Belle Isle maintained by the Detroit Parks and Recreation Department.

He'll speak at the Wednesday Morning Workshop about the culture of flowers and the environmental factors that influence plant growth. He'll bring examples of material that will grow in hanging baskets, show standard ivy growing in a topiary ball and citrus trees grafted to form topiary trees.

He'll also present colored slides of other applications of plant material that can be grown in containers, including ideas for garden planters and widow boxes.

Chairmen of the Workshops, which are complimentary to all Garden Center members, (Pointers may join upon payment of dues of $3 per year), are Mrs. Harold R. Smith and Mrs. John Veech. Their assistants are Mrs. Ivor D. Harris and Mrs. James B. Ogden.

Mrs. John W. Mulford is president of the Center, which has a lending library of garden books in its room in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Alger House.

Skyline Of Lights

An "outdoor" cafe atmosphere will be added to the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's 1968 Cabaret Pops Concerts scheduled April 17 through 27 in Detroit's Light Guard Armory, East Eight Mile road, with members of the Junior Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony providing decorations for all the concerts.

Decorations chairman Mrs. John E. S. Scott, of East Jefferson avenue, and her committee members plan to string 400 feet of lights in the shape of Detroit's skyline across one Armory wall.

Picket fences and trees will be placed at the entrance to the hall, and, as always, Cabaret concertgoers will be seated at candlelit tables for four, from which beverages and snacks may be ordered.

Members of Mrs. Scott's committee include Mrs. Arthur Eisenbrey, Mrs. George B. Hopping, Mrs. Anatol J. Hoski, Mrs. David W. Krupp, Mrs. John MacLeod, Mrs. George B. Martin, Jr., Mrs. Robert T. Mast, Mrs. Robert J. Pear, Mrs. Harry E. Redman, Mrs. John Ufner and Mrs. John Ziegler.

A Date To Circle

From time to time, we like to tell our readers well in advance to circle special dates, to make sure they won't miss what we consider extra-special occasions . . .

We'd like you all to take out your Social Engagement calendars and circle Saturday, May 4, right now . . . Or perhaps, in this instance, a "star" calendar symbol would be more appropriate. After all, the Extra Special Occasion we want to remind you of is a Celestial Ball.

It's Christ Child Society's traditional Celestial Ball, a black tie party beginning with cocktails and dinner, at 6:30 and 8 o'clock respectively, at Detroit's Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel, and including a Saks Fifth Avenue fashion show and dancing.

And we give you our word—it's always a "heavenly" affair . . .

"Michigan In Motion"

A bit of a history buff myself, we're intrigued by the program planned for next Monday's meeting of The Pointe Garden Club.

Members will gather at 12:30 o'clock in the South Oxford road home of Mrs. Hansel D. Wilson, who has asked Mrs. G. Norman Gilmore and Miss Louise Owen to serve as assistant hostesses.

A film, "Michigan in Motion," the story of our State's development from lumbering days to the present, will be shown.

To Feature Special Film For Children

Story of Small English Boy's Trek from North to South Africa Will Be Presented at Matinees Sponsored by Motion Picture-TV Council

At last the Family Medal Award-winning film, "Boy Ten Feet Tall," is scheduled to be shown in Grosse Pointe. The Grosse Pointe Motion Picture and Television Council is sponsoring two Youth Matinees Wednesday afternoon, April 17.

Showings will be at 1 and again at 3:15 o'clock, at the Punch and Judy Theatre.

The story of a little English boy's 5,000-mile trek to South Africa after his parents were killed in the bombing of Port Said during the Suez crisis of 1957 makes an absorbing and realistic adventure film.

Ten-year-old Sammy Hartwell's only thought after losing his parents is that he must go to his aunt Jane who lives in Durban, South Africa. Following his compass he heads south.

Sammy has some strange adventures. He is befriended by three strangers . . . a Syrian merchant, a wealthy American tourist and a diamond prospector.

The story is told without talking, down to juvenile audiences and gives a straightforward account of the resourceful small hero's predicaments.

Fergus McClelland is remarkable as the boy who grows from a frightened little fellow at the film's beginning to a manly lad at journey's end. He shares honors with Edward G. Robinson, warmly sympathetic as the old diamond prospector.

Getting the best out of his cast, his story and its African settings, director Mackendrick has produced a tale of refreshing individuality.

Tickets are 75c each. For those planning Theater parties, tickets can be bought in advance at the Punch and Judy box office.

MR. and MRS. RICHARD PAUL KOST, of Moran road, announce the birth of their second son, STEPHEN PAUL, March 28. Mrs. Kost is the former STEPHANIE CAMPBELL SUMNER, daughter of MRS. A June 22 wedding is planned, in St. Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore.

Slate Musicales Program April 16

The final morning concert of the Detroit Tuesday Musicales will be held in the Lecture Hall of the Detroit Institute of Arts next Tuesday, April 16, at 10:30 o'clock.

The entire program will be presented by the Student League of the Tuesday Musicales, a group of outstanding young women who have achieved semi-professional status on their respective musical instruments.

Many members have appeared as soloists with various symphony orchestras including the Detroit, Grosse Pointe, Scandinavian and Pontiac Symphonies.

The director of the Student League String Ensemble, Dr. Morris Hochberg, of Wayne State University, will direct a group of 15 performers in works by Turina and Bartok as grand finale of the program.

Sweet Adelines Planning North Region Convention

Members of the South Oakland Suburbanette Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc., including Mrs. Otto Vogel, of Belanger road, met with Mrs. George Romney at her Bloomfield Hills home recently for the drawing of the order of appearances of the choruses and quartets in the competition events scheduled at Sweet Adelines' Northern Region Number Two convention, to be held April 19 through 21.

Convention headquarters will be the Statler-Hilton Hotel. Events, including a Quartet Competition Saturday afternoon, April 20, at 1 o'clock, and a "Fiesta" Show Saturday evening, April 20, at 8:30 o'clock, will take place at the Scottish Rite Auditorium of the Masonic Temple.

All events are open to the public. Donation for each of the competition programs is $2. "Fiesta" donation is $2.50.

Competition events consist of choruses and quartets presenting songs with barbershop harmony arrangements, competing for perfection of sound, costume and precision. The Saturday Night Show will be performed by the South Oakland Suburbanette Chapter, and will feature many popular songs plus South American rhythms done in barbershop harmony.

Tickets and further information may be obtained from Mrs. Vogel, TUxedo 5-2094, who has held several offices in her Chapter. The South Oakland Suburbanettes are hosting the convention this year, as their chorus is the 1967-68 regional Sweet Adelines' champion, having won first place in the competition held last year in Lansing.

Among the 1,200 students named to the Scholastic Honors List at Central Michigan University for the fall semester were ROBERT C. CARDEN, of Lincoln road, RONALD J. DEMUNTER, of Mount Vernon road, NORVA G. KYES, of Nottingham road, CATHY GRACE WOOD, of Hampton road, and CHRISTIE D. TERSCH, of Beaufort avenue.

The group has made television appearances on the Johnny Carson Show, the Mike Douglas Show, the Arthur Godfrey Show, the Today Show, and locally on Channel 56 on its "People in Jazz" program.

AFS Festival Slated May 4, 5

Exciting adventure awaits those who attend the American Field Service International Festival May 4 and 5 at Keatington's Antique Village.

The Village site on the old Scripps Estate in Joslyn road is colorfully representative of Early America, and international flavor will be added by the 72 AFS students from all parts of Michigan who will be in attendance wearing native costumes and will participate in panel discussions, talent shows and exhibits.

The daily program begins at 10 o'clock and progresses until 5 o'clock on Saturday. Midway and booths will remain open on Sunday, starting at noon.

In addition to the AFS students who will entertain and educate those attending the Festival, there will be activities available for all ages: Midway games, booths with home-baked goods, foreign foods, gifts and beautiful handmade items, hay rides, pony rides, refreshments, and fun for all enhanced by musical background in an unusual atmosphere.

This year, the American Field Service Scholarship program has enabled 3,080 qualified teenagers from 60 countries to spend their senior year of high school in United States communities as members of carefully screened families.

Seventy-two AFSers are living in Michigan, absorbing our way of life and experiencing wonderful relationships.

Since 1947 the aim of AFS has been that these potential leaders of tomorrow will return to their homelands with a better understanding of the United States, leading eventually to a better relationship between nations. AFS also handles the Americans Abroad Program which sends outstanding students from U. S. high schools to foreign countries to live with families in summer program and school year experiences.

The Metropolitan Detroit AFS is sponsoring this unusual fundraising event, in cooperation with Detroit-area adult AFS Chapters and high school AFS Clubs. Proceeds will support the International Scholarship Program.

Area residents who have been active on the Metropolitan Detroit AFS Board are Mrs. Andrew Barr, Mrs. King Clifford, Mrs. E. W. Peabody, Mrs. T. V. Jenks, Mrs. Tom Killefer, Mrs. S. A. Buffa and Mrs. John S. Malcolm.

Grosse Pointe High School is sponsoring Hector Martorelli, of Argentina, who is living with the Robert Hutton family; Gerardine Kurvers, of the Netherlands, who is living with the George Walker family; and Martine Harster, of France, who is living with the James Mayshark family.

Grosse Pointe University School is sponsoring Zerrin Yasar, of Turkey, who is living with the H. Gordon Wood family; Maria Culino, of Paraguay, who is living with the Lester McIntosh family; and Peter Sacks, of South Africa, who is living with the Ben Jones family.

Liggett School is sponsoring Angela Pliass, of Germany, who is living with the Lynden Kaufmann family.

MARK ETHRIDGE, JR., of Washington road, editor of the Detroit Free Press, recently returned from Vietnam, will appear with journalist DAVID SCHOENBRUN in a special program, "Vietnam - Spain not Munich," sponsored by the Lafayette Park Vietnam Committee Sunday evening, April 21, at 8 o'clock, in St. John's Presbyterian Church, East Lafayette boulevard, Detroit. A question-and-answer period will follow the two speakers' presentations. Coffee will be served.

To Give Performance In Recorder Society

Directed by Dr. Ruth Shaw-Wylie, professor of Composition and Theory at WSU, the ensemble performs entirely in group improvisation in contemporary (non-jazz) idioms.

The program will begin at 9:00 o'clock Monday evening at Emerson School, Royal Oak, on the corner of Lexington and Marais, across from Kimball High School. The public is very cordially invited. There will be no admission charge.

The Detroit Chapter of the American Recorder Society meets on the third Monday of each month at Emerson School and is open to all players of the recorder, (a wooden flute dating back to ancient times).

Law Day Program To Be Held May 1

Pointe Lawyers' Wives Will Sponsor Panel Discussion and Reception; Essay and Poster Contest Winners to be Announced

Complying with the objectives set by the American Bar Association in observance of Law Day USA, the Grosse Pointe Branch of Lawyers' Wives of Michigan has planned a special program to be presented May 1, at 8 o'clock in the evening, in St. Clare De Montefalco Church Auditorium, Mack avenue at Whittier road.

One of the objectives of this annual observance is to make more meaningful to American youth their heritage of individual freedom under the law. Therefore, the topic of a panel discussion, essay contest and poster contest is "Only A Lawful Society Can Build A Better Society."

The first part of the program will consist of a panel discussion moderated by Judge Douglas L. Paterson.

Participating panelists will include three students from Grosse Pointe high schools: St. Paul's, Jack Martin; Our Lady Star of the Sea, Barbara Monahan; and Grosse Pointe High School, John Miller.

There will be three adult members of the panel, including Arthur M. Ruhl, Court Executive II, from Juvenile Court, Grosse Pointe Farms Police Chief Jack Roh and Judge Vincent Brennan, Records Court Executive Judge.

The latter part of the program will feature awards made to winning local high school students who submitted essays or posters to the Grosse Pointe Lawyers' wives.

Chairman of the Lawyers' Wives Law Day committee is Mrs. Frank McDonald. Co-chairman is Mrs. Robert Wilmoth.

A reception, with entertainment provided by the "Choraleers," will follow the program.

Artist HELEN WHITE, former Pointer now living in Miami, Fla., will be represented in the "Collectors With Talent" show at the Palm Beach Galleries, Worth avenue, Palm Beach, this month. Mrs. White is a member of the Grosse Pointe Artists Association. Her works are shown in galleries in Philadelphia, Kalamazoo and Fort Lauderdale, as well as in Miami. She has works in collections throughout the United States and has received several awards.

A selection of home-made bread, cakes and pies will be available, in addition to jams, jellies, Easter baskets, etc. All proceeds will go to the hospital.

Inside The Mothers' Club

The regular meeting of the Executive Board of the Grosse Pointe High School Mothers Club was held at 12:45 o'clock on April 1 in the Board of Education Building. Twenty-five members were present.

President Mrs. William Ludwig highlighted her report with mention of the disappointing attendance at the parents' Night Program. The Study Committee's suggestion in this regard promoting a change for next year, will be followed.

A meeting of the parents of North High School students, with also a very small attendance, approved a Nominating committee and a Constitution and By-laws committee. The group also voted to accept the planning committee's recommendation that the parent group be adopted.

Mrs. James Mayshark vice-president, reported that 42 applications for scholarship had been disbursed from Dr. Hanson's office, with 20 returned to date.

Faculty representative Mrs. Benson McClure reiterated that policemen were on duty at the high school primarily for student protection. A meeting was arranged by Mr. Thurstby and the Student Association to hear objections, with none registered.

A history of the Mothers Club is being brought up-to-date by historian Mrs. Donald Barr. Copies of the history compiled in 1956 were distributed to the members.

Membership in the Mothers Club is now 1,069, with dues received amounting to $2,138.

It was regretted there was not enough room to accommodate some of the ticket holders for the Thursday night Pointe Players benefit play performance. With North High School auditorium available next year, this should preclude a recurrence of this situation. Profits thus far from the performances amount to $1,670.

Spring Benefit chairman Mrs. Douglas Smith reported on the progress being made for the party, "Swing for Scholars," being held on Wednesday, May 1. Boat tickets are being handled by Mrs. Bruce Reynolds, with the price 50c each or three for $1.

The senior Party after commencement will have a festive cabaret theme, with dancing, fun houses and refreshments, according to Mrs. Robert Ambrose, Senior Activities chairman.

PTA Council delegate Mrs. Warren Moore reported on Superintendent Dr. Theos Anderson's topic, "The Future of Public Education in Grosse Pointe." The school budget is being carefully studied.

Dr. Anderson explained that 82 percent of the budget goes to salaries and 18 percent to supplies and materials.

A cut in program would save the most money, but would mean larger classes and fewer services. Another election must be scheduled as the only solution to the financial problems facing us, according to Dr. Anderson.

Election of officers will take place at the Annual Luncheon Meeting on Wednesday, May 22, in the Fries Auditorium. The High School Hootenanny Club will sing and students from the Homecoming Department will present a style show.

Volunteers for summer work are being solicited by Mrs. Perry TeWalt, and a service club has been started at the High School. There will be a bulletin board in the Neighborhood Club for notices for students jobs.

Motion Picture and TV Council delegates Mrs. Willard Smith announced that the final luncheon of the Council will be on May 20 at the Village Manor. Speaker will be Hollywood producer Stephen Booth.

Tickets are $3 and are available from Mrs. E. A. Kronback. A contribution of $50 was voted to the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association and the meeting was adjourned at 3:30 o'clock.

Northeastern Women Set Program Meeting

Northeastern Women's Club will meet at 1:30 o'clock Monday, April 22, in St. Philip and St. Stephen's Episcopal Church Parlor, Frankfort ave., Detroit, for a program, "Music by the Student League of The Tuesday Musicals."

Mr. Macpherson Claims Bride

Carl Douglas Macpherson, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Macpherson, of Saddle lane, claimed Marcia Kay Olsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Olsen, of Bloomfield Hills, as his bride Saturday, April 6.

Setting for the 4 o'clock double ring rites, at which The Reverend Duane Wiggazier officiated, was Birmingham's Lutheran Church of the Redeemer.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of veiled ivory English net, styled with an Empire bodice, featuring a jewel neckline applied with beaded Alencon lace, and a controlled skirt.

Her Court veil of silk illusion fell from a lace bandeau, and she carried an arrangement of white roses and stephanotis.

Honor attendant Kaye Ellen Martin and bridesmaids Mrs. James Douglas, Mrs. Lee Gaylord and Carol Coburn wore floor length frocks of turquoise and lime chiffon, fashioned with Mandarin necklines.

Their French low headpieces caught long panel veils, and they carried orchid and ivy bouquets.

Todd Macpherson came from Tucson, Ariz., to serve as his brother's best man. Ushers were Hans P. Olsen, III, of Washington, D.C., the bride's brother, Jon Berkey and Carl Erickson.

For her daughter's wedding and the reception at Forest Lake Country Club, Bloomfield Hills, following the ceremony, Mrs. Olsen selected a dress of aqua silk worsted, trimmed with aqua lace.

The bridegroom's mother wore a dress and coat ensemble of celery silk worsted. Both mothers chose corsages of yellow roses.

When the newlyweds left for a vacation in Barbados, the bride was wearing a navy and grey print on white linen coat and dress, with matching accessories.

They will be at home in Birmingham after April 23.

Pointe Mother Authors Prize-Winning Story

"THE NOTE"

By Christine W. Paddock

The bitter March winds blew gustily that day, and I wondered if Spring would ever come. Outside my window, the old Elm tree grew restless, now bowing, then tossing its angry branches to and fro. I shuddered and drew my sweater close, then began to write.

"Dear Mrs. Ferguson,

Peter and I have been married for five happy but childless years and are writing to you, now, of our desire to adopt a child."

How simple and easy the dated March 11, 1963, was signed. Yet, no one save ed, sealed, and prayerfully, sent those embittered few who have on its way. How easily it might wait and longed and suffered have gone astray, a solitary and in their frustrating plight, can unpretentious piece of paper. As know the anguish behind them. It left my hands, it could as Thus, the concise little note, easily have been an anonymous

Mrs. Peter B. Paddock of Grand Marais boulevard was recently notified that the story she had submitted to a contest sponsored by Writers' Digest, was a prize-winner. After having the privilege of reading the charming story, the NEWS persuaded Mrs. Paddock to permit it to be reprinted here.

note tucked inside a bottle and tossed into the sea, perhaps to wash up on some unknown shore, maybe to float and bob about undiscovered for the rest of eternity.

The tiny act of taking pen in hand lasted but a few minutes. Yet, as brief as its execution actually was, it represented the culmination of a lifetime of ideals.

Self-Deception

To some who have endured the long wait of several years, the prospects of a lifetime stretching ahead in which there are no children, finally becomes, simply, their "cross to bear," a hopeless situation which cannot be remedied. So they settle back and begin the self-deception of "living a life of their own."

Fortunately, for us marriage meant more. Being denied natural children didn't seem reason enough for turning our backs on the future, closing the door to all the happiness that could be ours too, if we only would let it. However, in all humility, I'm convinced that the very nature of my own childhood helped immeasurably, in affirming my conviction that a child is a child, whatever his origin. A boundless store of early impressions and childhood experiences, lying half-hidden, served to steer us onto the present course.

I remembered the bouncy, blond child with her merry blue eyes and happy outlook who entered my life about seven. She, I soon discovered, was an adopted child. "How odd," I'd thought. "Why, she's no different than any of my other classmates!" Presently, distant relatives adopted a daughter, then a son, and I found, to my great delight and surprise, that not only were they beguilingly beautiful children, but they bore an uncanny resemblance to their parents!

Mother Was Smart

My mother handled my fascination with adoption in a casual but loving manner. She gave me a little book when I was eight or nine called "The Chosen Child." Perhaps this came in answer to my query, about everyone in general, as to whether he or she was an "Own" or "Adopted" child! At length, I came to realize that in all happy families every child is an "Own" child simply because he is loved for himself.

I'll never forget a terrible day of revelation, when I was thirteen. Engaged in some seemingly harmless, verbal sparring with an eccentric elder relation, I was suddenly cut to the very quick by his unexpected retort. "What do you mean, your 'grandmother'?" he challenged, mockingly. "She's no more your grandmother than the man in the moon!" At first I was astonished, then angered. Surely his incredible declaration was meant to put an end, once and for all, to our foolish repartee. I had reasoned, but this cruel and stupid lie was unthinkable! To have attempted to unseat my grandmother from her rightful place in my heart was unforgivable and, as I felt the very foundations of my life begin to tremble, I fled from the room.

She'd been Grandmother to me for all the years of my life—for thirteen birthdays and Christmases and all the countless happy times in-between. Why, I even looked like her!

People had always said that. When I'd look at myself in the mirror, gravely, I'd seen the large brown eyes and long brown braids and secretly, solemnly agreed. "Yes, I do look like my grandmother," I'd mused.

Nagging Recollection

But, deep inside lay a nagging recollection of a "Sallie," referred to only fleetingly. Today, knowing what I do, that the "Sallie" who'd been mentioned so long ago, was, in fact, my biological grandmother who had died long before I was born, I can understand that my family had wanted me to regard my second grandmother as the real one. In their zeal to assure a loving relationship between us, they had overlooked the only crucial consideration: loving and accepting come as naturally as breathing to the child who is loved and accepted. To me, she was, and still is the "real" grandmother because she has given herself in exactly that capacity.

One of the greatest lessons in life is the discovery that inheritance is not strictly a matter of genes but more, a legacy of love and an acquisition of ideals from one who loves to another who is loved.

By the time I married, in January, 1958, well nourished by a happy childhood, I felt fortunate in having found a husband who shared the same ideals, and together we looked forward to our own family and a lifetime of sharing. He was one of two children, as was I. Somehow, though, I had always entertained the idea of a family of four. Oh, I had it so neatly arranged! No children for the first year, leaving us time to get house and home in order. Then . . . FIRST, a boy. Two years later there would be a girl. Then, another boy and another girl, each at two year intervals. . . of course.

Plans Went Awry

As we were nearing the middle of our second year of marriage, the uneasy feeling came over me that something was amiss, that, somehow or other, our intricate plan was out of self and "forget," I threw my plans away. "To early to worry yet," we reasoned. We would let nature take its course for a few more months. Finally, just to set my mind at ease, we decided that a visit to the doctor wouldn't hurt anything. That first trip revealed absolutely nothing except that I was a perfectly normal, healthy specimen who would undoubtedly become pregnant the moment I forgot about it. So home I went to "forget."

But forgetting became less and less easy as all around us the babies came, and second and third ones were on their way. It became more and more difficult to brush off the well-intentioned questions of friends: "Are you two expecting yet?" "When are you going to settle down and have a family?" "Always the admonishment, "Better get going!" Worst of all were the strangers who, when meeting for the first time would invariably ask " . . . and how many children do you have?" never pausing long enough to consider the possibility that some people have none while still treading that dark abyss between childlessness and the resolve to remedy it!

How many times I made the dismal trek back to the obstetrician's office for this test and that, and how many more times I came home, hopes high, that at last we were on our way, cannot even be counted. They live now in my memory, as just a ghastly blur.

Peter's distress matched mine, as together we could find no answer. He saw the doctor, too, and, not surprisingly, the verdict came back as always before. "There's nothing wrong with either of you. No reason why you shouldn't become parents in the course of time."

It's An Eternity

"In the course of time." Have you ever tried to determine just how long the 'course of time' is? It's an eternity. For those who wait it's a merciless hell, a long black passageway through which you drag your weary self, praying that there really is some end in sight.

In the meantime, to busy myself and "forget," I threw myself into a thousand volunteer activities. In the summers, there was the Church Summer Camp. They were, of course, always anxious to have a helping hand. Not that I didn't love being with children and teaching. It's just that I came to resent being considered a person with "nothing to do." "Just a housewife" — "not tied down yet," and all the myriad implications of laziness and lack of direction.

There were the highly satisfying years in Children's Theater, each performance thrilling me, anew, with the spark of communication so strongly vibrating between our young audience and ourselves. Children became a greater and more important part of my life, and already were filling a large portion of my time. My two years working with deaf children during that period particularly, reinforced the feeling that life without children is an emptiness. The greater lesson learned from that experience, however, was that children are the greatest common denominator. When children cannot hear, or only very little, and, therefore, have difficulty in speaking, the real essence of communication springs into being. How quickly you can read someone's thoughts through his dancing eyes! How really alike we all look when we laugh, how akin we are when we cry. Underneath our skins, there is no difference in color, no visible handicaps, only kindred souls reaching out to each other.

Transferred Home

We had been married for over four years when we were transferred back to our home in Detroit. Months passed and there were the ever continuing trips to the doctor here. At long last, our wise doctor finally advised, saying "I think the time has come for you to go ahead with your plans for adoption. You both love children, and although some day you'll probably hear a child, I can see no reason to wait any longer." How grateful we were to hear those words for we knew that without a doctor's sanction, adoption through any reputable source would be virtually impossible. So, buoyed by his wisdom, but mostly by our strong conviction that any child entering our home would, in effect, be ours, I came to the momentous decision . . . on that long-ago, dark March day.

From the instant the letter left my hand, the wheels of fate began to turn. We met with the Agency, exchanged visits, prepared histories and genealogies so they could do their best to match baby to parents.

How frail we, as human beings, really are! How little we can actually do in our daily shufflings and systematic attempts to alter what fate has planned! Little did any of us realize (how could we) that the seemingly inconsequential note written in March was as a seed that miraculously grew and burgeoned into the beginnings of our family!

On a cold, snowy evening, months later, there was a hush in the air and the world waited. Settled snugly before the burning fireplace we somehow sensed an air of "something about to happen!" All at once, the silence was broken by the urgent RING of the telephone. It was The Cradle calling! Not a baby—but twins—had been born! In November! Yes, exactly nine months from the time we had uttered our first official plea for a child. It was as though, in the very writing, a conception had been started, and somehow, somewhere, our children had begun their journey—intended specially for us.

Miracle Completed

In January 1964, we brought our two beautiful daughters home. They were eight weeks old. No greater joy or sense of the miraculous has ever been felt. Some say they look like Peter, others like me. Of course, they look like both of us and we smile, inside, knowing so well that it's because we love them and they are ours that makes them resemble us.

But God, in His benevolence, didn't end the miracle there. Believe it or not—exactly nine months after our daughters came home, the same doctor who had said, "someday you'll probably bear a child," made his prophesy a reality. Awake and radiant on the delivery table, I laughed and cried all at the same time as I heard the tiny melodious cry that ushered our third child into this world. "Congratulations," he said. "You have a son!"

JOHNSTONE & JOHNSTONE

13—REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

THE 1968 BASEBALL Season was officially opened this week, and Purdy and Edgar's first pitch heralds open season on four new offerings: In the City you should certainly touch base with this colonial sporting four bedrooms on the second floor. The center hall plan includes a large living room and dining room, and there is a paneled den with access to the kitchen. Priced at $35,000.

ON A QUIET street which leads to the lake, we'll show you a real grandstander. This painted white, farm colonial should really pull them in. Once there they'll see a beautiful step-down living room, large dining room with parquet floor and bay window, beamed ceiling library with fireplace, large kitchen that has been redone, great screened and glassed porch with access to both the living room and library. Four family bedrooms plus two more for help.

THE OWNER of this new ranch home offering has been caught in the old squeeze play. He's the proud possessor of two club houses, which is one too many. Take a swing at this three bedroom with a den and new kitchen with snappy built-ins. We're sure it will make a hit with you. Can you stretch it into a home... run?

FIELDER'S CHOICE and ours too, as the best single story house offered in the Farms today. Nestled on a hillside lot which was landscaped by one of the Pointe's finest architects, this charmer has three family bedrooms and a fourth for stay-in-help. Separate dining room and library to get away in. We think you'll be tempted to take a swing at this one when you see how magnificently it sits on its terraced lot. If you connect we'll show you how easily you can slide home.

THE STRAIGHT PITCH on this next listing is sure to catch your looking. We'll deliver a "low ball" in the form of a price reduction of $5500 on this four bedroom colonial in the City. There is a large family room as well as a paneled library in this hot prospect. Well tagged at $59,500, this is waiting to be gathered in.

YOU'LL BE MAKING the catch of the year if you can pull this one in. This rangy Georgian Colonial sprawls over a ball-park-sized lot which is large enough to sub-divide. There are bedrooms for each member of the team to have his own. Definitely a house for a Big Leaguer.

SHORTSTOP this hot one before it's into the outfield where everyone has a grab at it. Four bedrooms and three baths, all within an easy throw to schools, shopping and a bus line. Priced at $43,500 and sporting a large mortgage commitment is a real bonus... baby.

THE ONLY STEP you'll have to take is the one to your phone, if it results in seeing, loving and buying this French influenced home on Balfour Road. Four family bedrooms serviced by two baths are supplemented by two maid's rooms and another bath. Shows as well inside as it does from the curb.

WE ARE PROUD to offer a choice of two properties to you who are searching for a two-family flat. Try our super deluxe duplex on Trombley with an extra lot. For the budget minded we can offer a newer but smaller place at $37,500.

A SIDE-entrance, brick colonial that is all spit and polish. Situated on a street south of Jefferson, and in the Park, we know of none other which shows as well. Take advantage of the recent price reduction and the opportunity of buying on land contract.

"The times are not so bad as they seem; they couldn't be."

Carolyn Hubbard Lucas . . . is back in The Pointe, in East Jefferson avenue, in time for spring, a season—and a subject—she delights in . . . Here is her paean to spring, 1968:

SPRING SONG

Sing, lovely bird in the young cherry trees,
King of your world in the wandering breeze,
Sitting alone — as if on a throne —
Living and loving with no memories.

Sing in the branches, you sweet feathered thing,
Poised in the sunshine and trying a wing:
What magic word in the song of a bird
Comforts the earth on the first day of spring?

Here is a prose view . . . of the same season, by a somewhat younger author, Jacqueline Gushee, in Class Four at the Academy of the Sacred Heart in Lakeshore road. We especially like the Punch Line:

SPRING FEVER

Spring fever hits you when you just come out of the house after a long winter and you notice that the grass is popping up out of the soil, and the trees are starting to grow leaves again. You get so excited you just have to tumble on the grass and smell the flowers that have started to grow. Some people get so excited they stay outside all day and listen to birds chirp and smell the fresh air. Not everyone gets that excited.

A friend of ours . . . mother of three young children, has a standard phrase when things get a little hectic around the house. "I should have raised hamsters!" she says, and the children all giggle, the tension-of-the-moment is broken . . . But today's children, what with TV and pre-school "hygiene" courses, are wiser by far than we were . . . A few days ago Mother, mired in a domestic muddle, cried out her Stock Phrase—and was astounded to hear her First Grade son reply, "No, Mom . . . You should have taken The Pill!"

Very proud . . . of their Very Bright daughter are the Lester M. Elliotts, of Touraine road. And justifiably so . . . Carolyn Margaret Elliott, Grosse Pointe High School graduate, a member of Phi Beta Kappa, graduate of Wellesley College, holder of a Masters degree from Radcliffe College and a Ph.D. from Harvard University, currently assistant professor of Government at the University of California, Santa Cruz campus, has added to her list of academic accomplishments the presentation of a paper, "The University and The State: The Osmania University Case," at the annual convention of the Association for Asia Studies at Philadelphia, Pa., March 24.

Have you noticed . . . driving along Lakeshore, the wrappings and guide wires supporting six new trees? Three new locusts and three new maples are in the ground now, and one oak remains to be planted in the very near future . . . The trees were purchased and planted courtesy of the Grosse Pointe Garden Club Council, whose many, many projects help to keep Grosse Pointe beautiful. Aren't we ALL lucky the Council cares? . . .

PILFERINGS What Is A Geese?

Geese is a low, heavy-set bird which is mostly meat and feathers. His head sits on one end and he sits on the other. Geese can't sing much on account of the dampness of the moisture. He ain't got no between the toes and he's got a little balloon in his stomach to keep him from sinking.

Some geese when they get big have curls on their tails and is called gander. Ganders don't haff to sit and hatch but just sit and loaf and go swimming. If I was a goose I'd rather be a gander.

—Essay Submitted To A Teacher, printed in "The Conservationist" Magazine of the New York State Conservation Department.

There were two farmers; each had a mule. The first farmer's mule came down with distemper, so he gave it turpentine.

A few weeks later the second farmer's mule came down with distemper. Concerned, he asked the first farmer what he gave his mule.

"Turpentine," replied the farmer.

Several weeks later the second farmer saw the first. He told him he had given his mule the turpentine and the mule died.

"Oh well," the farmer said, "Don't feel bad. Mine died too!"

—Between The Lines

"At the conclusion of one of my lectures on point-count bidding," says Charles H. Goren, "an old lady approached me and announced, 'My partner and I have decided to adopt your system, Mr. Goren. Why, it's even better than cheating!'"

MRS. NORMAN L. PARKER, OF BEDFORD ROAD

By Janet Mueller

Marion Parker got the job by accident. When the presidents of local chapters of The Questers, Inc., were invited to gather last year for a preliminary organizational meeting at which broad responsibilities for various facets of Questers' three-day 1968 national convention, to be held May 1 through 3 at Detroit's Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel, were to be delegated, Mrs. Edward R. Bunn, of Balfour road, then-president of Marion's Grand Marais Quester Chapter, was unable to attend.

Marion was asked to fill in. She did . . . and when it was decided that a Grand Marais Chapter representative should handle the job of convention registrar, Marion reported back to her chapter—and was asked, by her chapter, to accept the assignment.

"Since you've attended the first meeting, why don't you just go ahead with the registration work?" . . .

Which is what she has done, cheerfully, competently and with enthusiasm. Which is Marion Parker's way of doing things . . .

Marion and her husband, Norman, president of Parker-Majestic, Inc., will have lived in Grosse Pointe, in their present home in Bedford road, 19 years next month.

"We moved in May 13, on a Friday," Marion recalls. It was, she thinks, a "lucky" Friday the 13th.

The Parkers have one daughter, Sharon, now Mrs. C. E. Skinner, who in turn has one daughter, Elaine, who'll be two in August. By the time her birthday rolls around, Elaine probably will have a little brother or sister.

The Skinners are living in Nashville, Tenn., while Sharon's husband completes work towards a Doctorate in Chemistry at Vanderbilt University.

Sharon is the "handy" member of the Parker family. "I sew, and do some knitting," Marion explains, "but my daughter does far more than I do. Sharon worked at Yarncraft during her last year at Grosse Pointe High School."

But Marion has one big "handy" project currently hanging fire. She's made herself a needlepoint bag, and now is making one for her daughter.

Works With People

Mostly, though, Marion prefers working with people, in and for organizations. She's a member of the Louise St. Clair Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. ("We just celebrated our 75th anniversary," she says proudly), and has served as Chapter's regent.

She's current president of The Historic Memorials Society in Detroit (formerly The Mount Vernon Society), formed to promote and assist in the restoration and preservation of national, state and civic memorials. She's a member of the Detroit Historical Museum's Service Guild, and is delighted that Henry D. Brown, the Museum's director, will be one of the Quester convention's guest speakers. Mrs. Brown will appear at a May 2 evening reception, talking on the theme chosen for the convention, "Early French Detroit."

Marion thoroughly enjoys her Historical Museum Service Guild work. With Mrs. Robert O. Artner, of East Doyle court, she supervised the Guild's "Walking Tour" of old houses around Detroit's Arts Institute last fall.

Guild members present historical museum programs, featuring slides and movies, in schools and before club groups. "This (the slide movie lecture series) is a Guild project," Marion explains.

"We have several different programs. One Hundred Years of Fashion, Old Houses . . . Very often, Mrs. Artner and I will give the program on Old Houses; people seem to associate us with Old Houses . . .

"We usually go out in pairs, because we have to carry so much equipment: A screen, a projector, our box of slides. . . I think I like working before school groups best—the children are so very enthusiastic!—but I like working before ALL groups; I like doing this kind of thing . . ."

Morning Meetings

The Grand Marais Quester Chapter, of which Marion's been a member for three years, meets in the mornings, on the second Friday of each month. Marion's all in favor of this schedule—it leaves her time to enjoy a morning meeting and then schedule a Service Guild lecture appearance in the afternoon!

Questers, an organization dedicated to the study and appreciation of antiques and objects of art, as well as their historical context, is a "natural" group to engage Marion's interest. She's been studying and appreciating antiques/art objects for years.

The Parkers' home reflects their tastes, which are Catholic. A vivid Matisse rug, 85 in a numbered series of 500, hangs on one living room wall. In a corner, on a table, is an antique Sheffield silver and fluted cranberry glass flower holder, Norman's gift to Marion. Flanking it are two smaller silver and cranberry glass flower containers, an anniversary gift to the Parkers from close friends who noticed the small vases were an almost-perfect match for the larger piece.

Marion started her candlestick collection in Hingham, Mass., where she picked up a century-old, sand-filled single candle holder. Now, she has about a dozen candlesticks, including a large pair with cobra-head bases, which she found in an antique shop in East Jefferson avenue, and a smaller cobra-head pair, discovered in the south by a friend, who sent them to her.

A priestess drum from Haiti stands at one side of the Parkers' living room fireplace, next to a wooden "friendship" bear from Japan.

Norman was in the service during World War II, stationed in the Pacific area at the time of the Japanese surrender. He came home with a ceremonial sword, surrendered by a Japanese officer at the end of the war.

The sword was about 500 years old and had a tag giving the original Japanese owner's name and address in English and Japanese.

Return Sword

The Parkers, thinking the Japanese family to whom the sword had originally belonged might want their heirloom returned, wrote to them, and received an answer from a gentleman who is now a Japanese judge, saying, "Yes, indeed, the family would be most pleased to have their sword back; they were DELIGHTED to find it again. DELIGHTED that the Parkers were willing to return it."

Later, the Judge came to The States, to study Law at Harvard. The Parkers visited him in Massachusetts, he visited them in Bedford road. It was the start of a trans-Pacific friendship that has continued to this day.

Besides the priestess drum, the Parkers have two bright-colored Caribbean "primitive" paintings as mementos of their unforgettable family, (Sharon was along), vacation in Haiti 12 years ago.

Norman, a ham radio operator, had become friendly "on the air" with people who lived on the island, so the Parkers were invited into private homes. And a highlight of their trip was an expedition, by mule-back, up a mountain to the never-completed Citadel of Haiti's ex-slave king, Henri Christophe.

A series of small, romantic framed antique prints in the Parkers' hallway are reminders of their stay in England's Lake District two years ago.

They spent a summer vacation in Europe, visiting Scandinavia, stopping in London and then heading by train to Keswick, a small town near the Scottish border, where the mountains are still wild and the Druid Stones still stand.

"I felt as if I had stepped back into history," Marion recalls. It's a feeling she savors.

"I could travel any time, go anywhere," she says. But there are places she prefers: "In Jamaica, I like the area around Kingston, the Old Fort, Port Royal. To me, this is history. The North Shore . . . Well, that's really just 'Miami Beach' . . ."

Of all Marion's collections, her favorite is her "non-political" group of elephant figures. "I received my first elephant as a gift, when I was seven or eight years old," she reports. "I have about 137 now . . ."

"I always get them with their trunks up—that's good luck, so the saying goes." And if she's offered one with the trunk down? "I turn it down!"

Candle Snuffers
She has two candle snuffers topped with elephant figures, one that she discovered herself, another that a friend found, and sent to her, the SAME MONTH that Marion acquired her first elephant candle snuffer.

"And I've never seen any others, before or since," she marvels.

In Sweden, Marion found one of her favorite elephants, a small china statue, (trunk up, of course!). And in Denmark, she picked up three special Royal Copenhagen Christmas Plates, one for her husband's birth year, one for her own birth year and one for the year they were married.

"I didn't trust shipping; I carried those back myself!" she says.

She's started both Sharon and Elaine on their very own Christmas Plate collections.

Marion and Sharon are very close. Marion intends to fly down to Tennessee to "help out" when the new baby arrives, but . . .

"I just hope my daughter won't decide to come here for a visit in the next few weeks," she admits. "I've filled her room with Questers convention registration lists and notes and boxes . . ."

As registrar, Marion is responsible not only for the general registration of each delegate who checks into convention headquarters on the first morning of the three-day session, but for registration of participants in each specific convention program and activity.

Last year, 1967, when the national convention was held in Philadelphia, Pa., 376 Questers attended. As of April 1, Marion had received 116 registration reservations for this year's convention, from Questers in Mich-

She's expecting more. Questers chapters are located throughout the United States and in Canada. "We're hoping for an attendance of about 400," Marion notes.

Luncheon at Memorial
Specific activities during the three-day session will include a National Board meeting and luncheon, a luncheon at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, a tour of Grosse Pointe homes, a tour of Oakland County and the Antique Village at Keatington, evening and afternoon meetings and receptions with guest speakers, workshop sessions and the Presidents' Council Meeting.

Each Detroit-area Questers chapter is "doing its bit" for the convention. Presiding over everything, as general convention chairman, is Mrs. Pierre Palmentier, of Fair court, whose thoughtfulness and attention to detail extends to hand-fashioning individual place cards for a recent luncheon-meeting of her convention committee.

Each placecard featured a convention assignment "symbol" as well as a committee member's name. Registrar Marion Parker's symbol was a tiny silver "moneybags" charm. Mrs. Palmentier's symbol was two aspirin tablets!

If Marion had been making the placecards, she might have substituted a champagne bottle for the aspirins, symbol of the general feeling that Mrs. Palmentier deserves a toast for the way she's handling the general chairmanship.

She might have used champagne bottles for ALL the committee heads . . . She thinks they all deserve toasts . . .

And they might have reciprocated with a champagne symbol for Marion. For someone who "got the job by accident," she's doing a remarkable, professional piece of work.

When the idea of minimum dole for the poor first came up I was appalled — then I thought — My Lord — We have been paying farm subsidies for years for NOT growing food. We pay the oil companies 27% for not producing oil. Why not pay the poor for not working? I'm going to be the first in line!
