EIGHTY-FIVE SPECTATORS, out of an estimated 300, were injured when a circus tent in Auburn, N. Y., collapsed during a thunderstorm Tuesday night. State police reported that 24 persons were hospitalized, mostly with broken limbs. The audience was watching a performance of the Clyde-Beatty-Cole Brother Circus at the time of the accident.

XUAN THUY of North Vietnam and U. S. Ambassador W. Averill Harriman met yesterday for the twelfth round of the Paris Peace talks in their deadlocked dispute over how to de-escalate the war in Vietnam.

DR. BENJAMIN SPOCK and Yale Chaplain William Sloane Coffin, Jr., were sentenced to two years in prison and ordered to pay $5,000 fines for a conspiracy to aid, abet and counsel young men to avoid the draft. Their two other co-defendants also received two-year prison sentences and varied fines. Lawyers for the four immediately announced intentions to appeal the sentences.

SENATE SUPPORTERS of tougher gun controls, trying to beat Congressional adjournment, may try to bypass the committee that has handed them repeated setbacks and take their case straight to the floor. Even if successful, any kind of gun control bill now faces a doubtful future dependent largely on a House of Representatives that seems in no hurry to handle the subject.

THE MICHIGAN Board of Education voted Wednesday to confront publishing companies and local school boards with a report that selected history textbooks are inaccurate and distorted with regard to minority groups. The report, culmination of a year-long study, found 12 selected texts "very seriously deficient in their treatment of minorities in general and Negroes in particular."

A 15-STATE ALARM sent police on a massive manhunt for a Bronx gunman who killed three persons and wounded a fourth with a hail of fire from an automatic carbine. The subject of the hunt, suspect Bobby Rogers, alias Bobby Pugh, 31, was superintendent of the building in front of which the shootings occurred.

NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN the Detroit Edison Company and 820 striking linemen and other employees have reached an apparent stalemate, a spokesman for the firm indicated and local president Louis Gordini verified. The men have been on strike since May 31.

Sunday, July 14
"SERIOUS MATTERS" have been touched on, according to U.S. Ambassador W. Averill Harriman, in his informal coffee-break conversations with Ambassador Xuan Thuy of North Vietnam during the Paris peace talks. "There are a lot of trivialities and personal discussions," he said, "but one can't help but touch on serious matters. And we're getting into a little bit more of the idea of what's important in each other's minds."

BOBBY L. ROGERS, identified as the Bronx gunman who killed three men, surrendered to a deputy sheriff in Graham, N.C., ending a 15-state manhunt. Rogers, a 31-year-old Army veteran, claims he shot in self-defense.

Monday, July 15
A SHORTER and improved examination for police applicants was accepted by Detroit Police Commissioner Ray Gordini, upon the recommendation of a committee of professional experts. The new test has a proven validity and can be given in 12 minutes instead of the two and one-half hours previously required.

Stupid Prank Injures Two; Damages Car

Barricades And Warning Lights Removed From Large, Deep Pit In Middle Of Street

A motorist and his passenger received minor injuries when their car went into a hole at South Oxford and Wedgewood, at about 10:36 p.m., on Tuesday, July 9. The car was not driveable, and it was towed to a gas station.

Louis J. Castern, 24, of 1071 North Renaud, driver of the vehicle, suffered a laceration on the top of his head, and his passenger, Miss Maureen Polkinghorne, 19, of 931 Briarcliff, received a bruise on the right arm. Both were taken to St. John Hospital for treatment and released.

Woods Patrolman Bruce Marone, who was dispatched to the scene, said he found the front end of Castern's car hanging over a deep hole, which had been dug for the installation of sewer crocks. The barricades placed around the excavation, had been removed by an unknown person, the officer said. The lights on the barricades had been extinguished, and the barriers placed on the lawn in front of 791 South Oxford.

The pit measured 12½ feet long and 8½ feet deep. The plume damaged the "A" frame of the automobile, the radiator and the fan.

Woods Meter Maids Irk Merchants, Stick to Jobs

They are winsome young women who work from 3 a.m. to 6 p.m. During that period, they say, they walk between 15 and 18 miles for the sole purpose of ticketing cars where a red vio-

Partial Settlement Reached In Pointe Wage Negotiations; Police Talks Stalemated

Two Municipalities Conclude Contracts With DPW Personnel And Firemen; Bargaining Group Hope For All-Around Amiable Agreement

By James Njaim
Wage negotiations between officials and municipal employees in two of the Pointes have been partially concluded, but in the remaining three, talks appear to be at a standstill, according to information released by the various city managers, as of Tuesday, July 16.

Park City Manager Robert Stone revealed that in his city, members of the Fire Department have accepted a pay increase from $8,000 a year to $9,000, and that hourly rated Department of Public Works employees have been granted an increase of 30 cents an hour.

The hourly rate in the DPW, now ranges from $3.54, the lowest paid classification, to $3.60 the highest paid classification, Stone said.

In addition, the employees have accepted the second step in longevity benefits, $200 more a year for employees with 15 or more years of service with the city. Besides this, life insurance on all workers has been doubled from $5,000 to $10,000, which includes a double indemnity clause, the city manager added.

Firemen Sign Contract
The firefighters have signed a contract granting them an annual increase of $1,000, raising their yearly pay from $8,000 to $9,000. They also receive the same rate on insurance increases, with double indemnity, and come under the second step of longevity benefits as do the employees of the DPW.

Included in the contract is the granting of a third week of vacation, which the employee may take, or accept pay in lieu of the week's vacation.

Stone said that the police officers have been offered a $1,000 annual increase, which would raise the patrolman's yearly pay from $8,300 to $9,300, but this was turned down by the policemen as inadequate. They are asking for $10,000, which they said, would put them at about the same wage level as that of Detroit patrolmen.

The city manager said that it is hoped that negotiations can be concluded successfully. Talks were resumed yesterday, July 17, between city officials and police representatives.

City Boost Salaries
Grosse Pointe City Manager Thomas Kressbach said that the City council recently approved salary and wage increases for three of the City's employee groups.

He said that the hourly rate for public works employees was increased 30 cents an hour for

Youth Injured Water Skiing
An 18-year-old Pointe youth was injured on Monday, July 8, while water skiing two miles off the Canadian shore, five miles west of the Puce River. The youth, Philli, Addy, of 1317 Kensington road, fell into the water while skiing. Also skiing at the time was Charles Macgill, 1256 Whittier road.

The driver of the boat, Robert MacLean, 1238 Whittier road, circled around to drop Charles where Phillip had fallen. Phillip's tow rope hit him on the head causing a one-inch laceration. He was pulled from the water by his companions in a semi-conscious state and taken to Norbert Neff Park Pier where City police officers Ronald Pryor and Edward Miller took Addy to Bon Secours Hospital for treatment.

Phillip was treated and released the following morning. Other passengers on the boat were Thomas DeSchryver, 3440 Yorkshire and Chris Michaels, 1142 Nottingham.

Farms Ready For Regatta On July 27-8

Boating, Beauty Contests At 16th Annual Fun Weekend At Farms Lakefront Park

Farms residents will cast off for two days of festivities July 27-28 when the 16th Annual Farms Regatta is held at the Farms lakefront park.

Like last year, a frantic powerboat race and an eye-pleasing beauty contest are expected to be the best spectator sports.

If you can take in all of Saturday's events without succumbing to sunstroke or heat exhaustion, this is what you'll see.

Inboard, outboard and sailboat races begin at 10:30 a.m. followed by a Children's Bicycle Parade and games at 1 p.m.

Nine Seeking Title
Nine aspirants to the title of Junior Miss will square off in congenial combat beginning at 7:30 Saturday evening. Their assets and liabilities will be computed using such revealing criteria as "Poise and Appearance in formal gown" (15 percent), "Youth fitness" (15 percent), and "Creative and Performing Arts" (20 percent). The candidates' "Scholastic Achievement" (15 percent) and "Mental Alertness" (35 percent) will also be gauged, but behind closed doors at a private interview Thursday, July 25.

Those who have agreed to act as judges, (lest they be judged), will include John Mazer, Leon Sehyon, Mayor William G. Butler, Dr. William Craig and Pepper Whitelaw, the latter a writer for this journal.

Local scholarship sponsors include Leon's Hairdressers, Inc., Verheyden Funeral Home, Farms Auto Wash, Shalla Chevrolet and Causley Pontiac Sales. Merchandise sponsors include Beauty Counselors, Inc., Coca Cola Bottlers of Michigan and Kay Anos of Grosse Pointe.

The Junior Miss Pageant committee, Mrs. Jack Roh, Mrs. John Wilson, Mrs. Fred Wissman, Mrs. Martin Hawley, Mrs. Elton Bamford, Mrs. Warren Nott, Mrs. Anthony Delsner, Mrs. L. W. Holmes, Miss Marilyn Van Horn and Chairman Mrs. Richard Hudson have invited the contestants and parents to a reception following the final judging.

Dance to "Chalk"
After the contest dancing will begin with a musical group that calls itself "Chalk", providing the tempo.

Tunes of Vienna At Music Festival In Fries Ballroom

Haydn and Mozart Highlight Program of Viennese Concert At War Memorial Center; It's Danceable, Too

A courtly air and courtly music will set the tone of the Grosse Pointe Music Festival's final program next Wednesday, July 24. For the evening, the Festival will move to the sparkling Fries crystal ballroom of the War Memorial Center at 32 Lake Shore Road, to hold a concert-ball. The music will be airs, dances, and concert pieces by that unique breed of composers who lived and worked in Vienna in the 18th and 19th Centuries—Haydn, Mozart, Schubert, Waldteufel, Strauss, and Lanner, to name a few. It will be performed alternately for listening and for dancing by an elegant orchestral ensemble of strings and winds.

For any tradition-minded festival goers, the atmosphere should conjure up an image of the gracious Redoutensaal in Vienna's Hofburg—home of Austria's emperors—where court entertainments were regularly held in much this fashion.

Symphony Artists
Performing for the evening will be a select group of artists from the Detroit Symphony. In the ensemble, directed by Felix Resnick, will be James Bourbonnais, Richard Margitza, and Alvin Score, violins; Edouard Kesner, viola; Thaddeus Markiewicz, cello; Frank Sinco, bass; Clement Barone, flute; Vincent Melidon, clarinet; and Gordon Smith, trumpet.

There are two special performances to be included in the program. The 16-member Grosse Pointe Chamber Singers, famous locally for outstanding choral work, will present the Brahms Liebeslieder Waltzes, opus 52, with the original four-hand piano accompaniment, played by Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hughes.

Later in the evening, Gordon and Beatrice Staples will perform as duo-violinists. Mrs. Staples is also a member of the Detroit Symphony, in the first violin section that her husband will lead as Concertmaster in the fall. They will join Alexander Sucek, guitarist, to play a group of lulling Austrian folk dances and the theme song from "Lilac Time" by Franz Schubert.

Sucek to Play
Revising his role as Troubadour, Alex Sucek will also offer a group of Viennese Lieder with his guitar.

As an essential part of the courtly atmosphere, festival patrons are encouraged to come in summer formal wear. While white coats and long gowns are not required, they will be welcome additions to the gracious mood that an old time concert-ball should have. In the same spirit, the programs will also serve as dance cards and provide space for a lady to enter the name of her partner for each of the dances.

The banquet for this final program will have a Viennese menu. Some tickets for both concert-ball and the banquet are still available and may be obtained at the War Memorial office or by calling TU 1-7511 no later than Monday, July 22.

An Ideal Location
Also, he added, it is hoped that the courts can be constructed on the new section of the Pier-Park, which would be an ideal location, but built in such a way that tennis balls will not

Not An Ultimatum
The Fund president said that the ideas and stipulations were not meant, in any way, to be the final decision by the Board of Directors in the granting of the gift, but only as a basis upon which, with the city's help, to advance plans for a truly outstanding tennis program.

Boyer said that the officials of the Youth Fund would like to see the courts constructed in the new section of the Farms Municipal Pier-Park, which would include a memorial plaque to the late Roland Gray, a sports and tennis enthusiast, who died in October 1966.

Boyer said that in any event, the Fund's offer stands, and will be for the construction of two tennis courts, but it is hoped the Farms would match the offer so that four courts can be built.

Also, he added, it is hoped that the courts can be constructed on the new section of the Pier-Park, which would be an ideal location, but built in such a way that tennis balls will not

Strikes Slow Completion Of New North High School

When 1,950 high school students are ready for school, will school be ready for them?

The answer from Pointe Public School System officials is a qualified "yes"; the new Grosse Pointe North High School will be ready to open September 3, although at least one building of the six-section cluster will not be finished.

The construction of the Pointe's second high school has been delayed by a strike of 16 building trades unions that began May 1. Many of the 16 have ratified new contracts and are either back on the job or due back shortly.

There isn't any question that the strike has had a profound effect on our completion of the building," Joe Spagnoli, assistant superintendent-admin-

Council Hall Scene of Hot Verbal Fight

100 Residents Appear To Criticize Safety Director Andrews' Traffic Solution Plan

The Battle of Allard Road flared into open combat again Monday night in the air-conditioned Council Chambers of Grosse Pointe Woods. More than 100 Allard road residents showed up, armed to the teeth with intent glares, rhetorically-phrased insults, statistics and anecdotes.

One hour and 10 minutes after the opening shot was fired, the skirmish ended in a draw and the attacking forces withdrew from the Council Chambers. There were no fatalities, and the conflict could only be termed a stand-off.

The aroused citizens agreed reluctantly to let Woods Director of Public Safety Allen H. Andrews put into effect a new plan for thinning out the traffic on Allard. They charged, however, that the proposed plan was "very weak" and complained of "stalling tactics" used by Andrews.

Debates between residents and council members became particularly heated and bitter, a not uncommon phenomenon in Woods Council chambers.

First Shots
As the skirmish began, residents and councilmen eyed each other as the preliminary orders of business were dealt with. All seven councilmen were present.

Roy Atkinson, of 2944 Allard road, served as commander of the Allard Road legions and opened the battle with a charge that Andrews' proposed solution was a "very weak" one.

The Andrews plan, which was outlined in a memo of July 9 to city administrator Chester E. Petersen, involves the following measures:

Three-Part Plan
First, prohibit left turns onto Allard by northbound Arthur road drivers.

Second, prohibit left turns onto Arthur by eastbound Allard drivers.

Third, prohibit right turns onto Allard by cars exiting 1-94 on the Allard exit ramp.

Harper Traffic
Atkinson criticized the proposal, saying that Harper Avenue, not 1-94, was the source of most of the Allard road traffic which he claimed members of his group had measured at 2,200 cars a day.

He suggested a stronger solution—making the road one-way or replacing a barricade which had formerly kept out through traffic from the expressway and from an e-pessway overpass that empties directly onto Allard road. Atkinson and others asked that, if a barricade proves unacceptable, a sign be installed forcing the bridge traffic to turn left onto Harper.

Raps Personalities
Turning from traffic patterns to personalities, Atkinson said Andrews "just doesn't seem to have us in mind one bit," a remark greeted with murmurs of agreement from the assembled reinforcements.

Woods Mayor Kenneth R. McLeod said of the council: "We were six years ago and we are now very interested in a solution to this matter. It's a problem not brought on by the City of Grosse Pointe Woods, I assure you."

Atkinson asserted that Allard road traffic was five times as heavy as traffic on adjacent roads. He said counters placed in the area by the city to measure traffic flow were "always broken."

Masters Degree
Atkinson noted that Andrews had a Master's degree and called the new Andrews plan a "lousy solution" coming from "a man of his background." He claimed that his young daughter had immediately perceived the plan's inadequacies.

Mrs. Norbert A. Singer, of 2281 Allard, rose to speak, and also denounced the "stalling tactics" of the safety director.

After her, Walter E. Rist, of 2255 Allard, mentioned that his daughter had nearly been struck by a car "just before this meeting" and asserted that children's safety was the key issue. "Our children are entitled to the same safety protection as every other child in the City of Grosse Pointe Woods."

Residents complained that Andrews' absence from the Monday night meeting was typical of his elusiveness in recent months. "He's never around," one unidentified voice called out. "Get rid of him," murmured another.

James Dinkel, of 2328 Allard, addressing the council in a bright Hawaiian shirt, said the traffic situation was "getting worse" and charged the council to "take heed of it before somebody gets killed."

His voice rising steadily in volume, he said Mr. Andrews is a "young college boy who's graduated and has one thing on his mind—his way and no other way." He said many Allard residents "who didn't go to college," still "know more about safety than Mr. Andrews."

"Steer Him Straight!" Concluding his fiery speech, Dinkel told the council, "I think it's up to you to direct Mr. Andrews on this matter, steer him straight."

Although Andrews was out of town at a convention, his plan was defended by several councilmen, especially Donald D. Cook, who stated, "You're just not going to have the traffic go down to three or four hundred (cars per day) on Allard. It's just not that kind of a street."

Concurring with that opinion, Woods City Manager Chester E. Petersen said he understood Andrews to believe that limiting Allard traffic beyond the proposed restrictions would simply shift the heavy traffic onto the adjacent streets, Manchester and Stanhope. Also, it would set a precedent for residents of any heavy-traffic streets to demand diversion of traffic.

Conflict of Interest? Another speaker, Raymond R. Lee, of 2320 Allard, asked the city attorney, George B. Catlin, whether a council member who was receiving "financial gain from the four streets involved" would be obligated to refrain from voting on the issue. Lee failed to make direct accusations or name names. He merely implied.

After several other residents made short statements, after several more heated exchanges, and after Councilman Thomas E. Leah said "We're not going to settle anything by arguing," the 100-strong army of Allard road residents withdrew from the council chambers.

Airplane Law
The council also discussed briefly the progress of installation of water and electrical conduits to service boats at the Woods lakefront park.

In other business, they discussed with a group of residents from the neighborhood of Lennon, Van Antwerp and Anita roads a possible law prohibiting the use of power-driven model airplanes within the city. The city attorney was directed to draw up such a law for consideration by the council at a later meeting.

City and Shores Swimmers Win

Two Inter-City Swim League meets were held last Wednesday, July 10. The City sunk the Park 262-167, and Grosse Pointe Shores defeated St. Clair Shores 264½-148½.

At the City, the City swimmers were victorious in five of six relays, and 24 of 34 individual events. In addition, the strong City swimmers captured first and second in 15 events.

Double winners for the City were Art Behm, Susie Brinkman, Anne Brinkman, Kris Cassell and George Fraser, while Dave Benyon, Jane Blake and Chip Gauthier picked up two firsts for the Park. This, the City's second victory, puts them in a tie for first with Grosse Pointe Shores.

At Grosse Pointe Shores, double winners for the Shores were Laura Riddle, Chris Ballew, Barb Haigh and Chris Barker. Nancy DeGreane and Bob St. George took two firsts each for St. Clair Shores.

The Farms-Woods meet which was due to be resumed on Wednesday, because rain interrupted the contest on Tuesday, was not held because of a dispute between the coaches regarding the rules for resumption of the meet. The Farms team was approximately 20 points ahead when rain forced cancellation of the meet. It will be either started completely over or resumed where interrupted, depending on a decision to be made by League Secretary Thomas Gauerke.

all classification, and that Veteran's Day was added as an official holiday.

The maximum pay for firefighters was raised from $8,000 to $9,000, plus payment for overtime at a time and one-half rate for actual fire fighting operations.

The three groups, DPW, Fire Department personnel, and general employees, will have their life insurance premiums fully paid by the City, with the City absorbing the cost of the double indemnity feature for the insurance. Formerly, the employees paid a portion of the insurance premiums.

Kressbach said that the longevity pay rules were amended to provide for a partial longevity payment to an employee at time of mandatory retirement on a pro-rated monthly basis.

The City police officers are still negotiating with city representatives. The policemen are asking for $10,000 a year.

Farms at Standstill

In the Farms, City Manager Andrew Bremer, Jr., disclosed that negotiations with all municipal employee groups are at a standstill, and that no date has been set for continuation of talks.

Policemen of this community are asking for $11,000 a year, and firemen are requesting $9,500. Their present salaries are $8,300 and $8,000, respectively. What the other city employees are asking for was not disclosed.

Woods City Administrator Chester Petersen said that an agreement was recently concluded with employees of the Department of Public Works, when for the first time in the Pointe-Harper Woods area, a two-year contract was signed.

The employees accepted a 28-cent an hour increase for all position classifications, for the fiscal year 1968-69; and 25 cents an hour increase for all position classifications for the fiscal year 1969-70.

Other Considerations
The contract also includes a section of reclassification for Sanitation Division employees, annual payment of longevity pay, incentive bonus for no sick leave used, increase in Blue Cross-Blue Shield benefits, the granting of park permits to employees and their families upon retirement, and pension and retirement benefits.

Negotiations with personnel of the Public Safety Department, who by virtue of doing double duty as policemen-firemen, are asking for a pay boost to $10,200 a year, are at a standstill, Petersen said. A beginning public safety officer gets $8,000 a year. The maximum pay for a patrolman is $8,000 a year.

No Shores Settlement
Shores Village Superintendent Thomas Jefferis said that no settlement has yet been reached between Department of Public Works employees, or with public safety officers. Discussions are still in progress with DPW representatives and Village negotiators.

Insofar as the police-fire pay increase is concerned, Jefferis said, this hinges on what settlement is reached by other departments in the area.

In all cases, negotiators on both sides, in all the Pointes, are bargaining hard and hoping to reach an amiable settlement of differences.

The truth of the matter is that the love of money is also the root of unlimited progress.

Where It's At: 700 Teens Hear Raucous Rock Show

By Robert Wells

"... Come along if you dare; Take a ride to the land inside your mind..."

Ted Nugent wailed into a screaming feedback solo on lead guitar and 700 Grosse Pointe teenagers felt the steady surge of energy through their near-ecstatic little teenie-brains.

This was the "new music"—the Underground Sound—performed by a Detroit group named the Amboy Dukes in the Fries Auditorium of the War Memorial last Thursday night.

It was a million megavolts of electrified joy.

A wild-eyed girl in yellow mini-dress wiped a tear from her cheek and kept repeating, "Oh, God, oh, God..." A few people danced, but most of them just nodded their heads in time with the surging pulses of the big Fender bass.

On stage, the Amboy Dukes were bathed in orange, green and blue. Above them, somebody's home-made Light Show flashed green and blue fireballs of dancing color on the ceiling.

Borrowed From "Cream"

In their first set, the versatile Detroit group revealed a mastery of songs borrowed from Cream, such as their flawless interpretation of "Outside Woman Blues." Lead singer John Brake screamed a warning: "If you lose your woman, for God's sake don't lose your mind!" The Dukes have borrowed liberally from Cream, not only musically but also in stage style; they spread out over the broad stage, each of the five musicians alone with his instrument in front of a wall screaming amplifiers.

Their final set climaxed with a 30-minute fiery playing of "Baby Please Don't Go," in which Brake and Nugent grabbed 50 feet of extension cord and walked into the audience: the performers and audience were one.

They Approved

The bronze-tanned, joyous kids of Grosse Pointe screamed their approval. Kids like Ric Gajewski, Linda Bloome, Janis O'Hare, Tom Ferrell, John Murray, and several hundred others...

Walking out of the auditorium at midnight, their ears probably rang so loud they couldn't hear the soft splashing of the lighted water statuary.

The concert of the summer was over.

Parents Don't Understand

Many parents raised on Paul Whiting or young adults who hopped to Bill Haley in their formative years do not understand psychedelic music, or Acid Rock. This is unfortunate. Confronted with the apparition of a hippie musician stripped to the waist with shoulder-length black hair and sweat pouring down his face, many parents would become uneasy. They are especially upset with songs like "Let's Go Get Stoned," which are about drugs. Parents worry about drugs. Youth counselors worry about drugs. Police worry about drugs. There were many policemen at the War Memorial last Thursday.

Teen-agers, however, live very much in the here-and-now and don't like to "get up tight," or worry, about anything.

Vickie

Vickie was 17 and had long dirty-blond hair cascading down her shoulders. She stood near the handstand and confessed of a secret love for the rhythm guitar player, Steve Farmer. Vickie was puzzled when asked, "What do you believe in?"

"Music is what I believe in," she replied, "music and myself. I don't know... what do you believe in?"

Tom, who will be a junior at the High School, had a trim collar-length haircut and was trying to grow a mustache. He confessed that his crowd had "fooled around" with marijuana on occasion but said he felt that "less than 25 percent" of his contemporaries had dabbled in the weed. A more accurate estimate would probably be lower than that.

Hippie Influence

All the same, drugs, long hair and ear-splitting music are the dominant motifs of Hippiedom; and Hippiedom is the dominant cultural influence on today's teens. Parents who regret this development may derive solace from comparing today's Love Generation with the leather jacket-and-switchblade hostility that was still influential a half-decade ago.

The Amboy Dukes, resting in their dressing room underneath the Fries Auditorium, spoke knowledgeably about drugs as a group that spends almost every night before a different roomful of adolescents.

Mexican Marijuana

They explained that marijuana is easily available in the Detroit area through a pipeline that starts in Mexico and California. Organized crime syndicates and ambitious teenagers and college-age misfits share the profits from "dealing," or selling drugs, in the Detroit area. The price of "grass" ranges from $10 to as high as $30 for an ounce of the "purest stuff." Describing the drug trade, people lapse into the language of a subculture that is quite unintelligible to outsiders. Acapulco Gold. Five dollars a lid. Zigzag paper. Good stuff. Good vibrations. Freaky.

Drug Use Limited

But just as the teenagers of the Fifties liked "Rock Around the Clock" without joining in any gang rumbles, most Pointe teens know little about drugs but a lot about the music that was born in the drug-crazed Hippie centers of Haight-Ashbury in San Francisco and the East Village in New York. They listen almost exclusively to Detroit's only Hip radio station, WABX.

The Amboy Dukes are the heroes of Detroit Teenie-Bop society right now, riding in the success of their number-one tune, "Journey to the Center of the Mind." The song is "happening" not only in Detroit but in Boston, San Francisco and New York as well.

The Dukes' success is good news for them but bad news for Grosse Pointe. They're leaving Detroit soon for the big time: places like Fillmore East in New York and the Avalon Ballroom in San Francisco, where they'll appear with the elite of acid rock—the Doors, the Jefferson Airplane, Jimi Hendrix.

As super-stars, the Amboy Dukes will command more money than the War Memorial Youth Council can pay them.

On the psychedelic music circuit, Grosse Pointe is small time stuff, despite the chances.

"We're gonna miss Grosse Pointe," drummer Dave Palmer explained. "You've got some really beautiful kids here..."

Meter Maids Irk Woods Merchants

gusted with the "set-up," and threaten to move unless the ticket writers ease off, and become a wee bit more generous. However, these threats do not seem to be serious.

A News reporter reamed the 16600 block on Mack Monday afternoon, and talked with some of the merchants. He also gabbed for a short time with Meter Maid Judy who was having a slight bit of trouble with a driver and his helper of an ADT Protection Service truck parked in front of the Ship's Wheel, 19605 Mack.

A wisp of a girl with a sparkling personality, Miss Walker, found the violation flag up at that point, and adamantly threatened to write a ticket unless the ADT boys fed the meter. She held her ground, and pulled out a ticket pad. At that point the helper dropped a one-cent coin into the meter. Then the truck left.

Floyd Hunter, who operates a pharmacy and coin store at 19603 Mack, felt that the maids were "doing the job they were hired to do, but that perhaps two-hour parking should be permitted. 'I certainly don't blame these youngsters,'" he said. They are handling a tough job well, and are getting plenty of complaints all along the line. I feel the merchants should be given more consideration."

Peeved At Police
E. N. (Doc) Isetts, proprietor of the "Ship's Wheel" feels that the maids are "too aggressive," and should be a bit more lenient with parking violators. "Most of us feel that an hour isn't enough time to give to a shopper," he said.

Merchants along the thoroughfare are mostly a bit peevisish about what is being done by the Woods police who are loyally backing the meter maids all the way. They feel the police should "give them a break."

Isetts has had 8x10-inch window display signs printed which read "Watch Out For the Meter Maid." Many stores are using them.

But the meter maids go merrily on their way, back and forth, back and forth, seeking out parking law breakers. And that's a pretty tough job on a hot summer day!

And, it makes one wonder why those nice meter maids are required to walk those long distances in hot, humid weather, while their sister maids in Detroit ride three-wheelers. Couldn't the Woods' city fathers supply them with, at least, a two-wheel bike to keep their dogs from barking when they get home at night? Just think how many more tickets Judy and Ruthe could write in a day. There's something to ponder!

Tennis Courts

be lobbed over the fence and into the lake.

Ed Lauer, director of Parks and Recreation, informed the council that the courts can be situated so that the balls cannot drop into the water.

Mayor William Butler said that in all the years of his public service, this was the first time that a private group had made such a very generous offer in the interest of public recreation, an offer that is deeply appreciated by the council and the people of the community.

However, he pointed out, even if the construction of the courts can be done without delay, and located in the site at the park, this would not be feasible, since the ground in the new area is still settling.

Will Seek Advice
Nevertheless, he added, it is his opinion that the matter should be referred to the Mayor's Advisory Planning Committee, for its advice and suggestions for the most beneficial location of the proposed tennis courts, whether it should be located at the Pier-Park, Kerby Field, or any other suitable location, since recreational areas in the city are limited, or whether to undertake to install tennis courts at all.

Boyer asked if representatives of the Youth Fund could sit in with the Advisory Committee to discuss the proposed tennis facilities, and the mayor informed him that the committee would welcome any assistance in the matter.

Mayor Butler proposed that the committee present the council with a report, with suggestions and recommendations, as soon as convenient. However, he added, regardless when the report is received, if the tennis courts are to be installed, the project cannot be accomplished until possibly in the spring or summer of 1969.

How To Select a Good Melon
Pick a Melon with good color and rich aroma.

MELON IDEAS

Summer breakfast is simple during cantaloupe season. Serve a slice of melon with a wedge of lemon or lime. A new look for the familiar cold breakfast food is to serve it with milk in the cavity of a melon half. Syrup for pouring over pancakes or waffles can be dressed up by dropping in balls or chunks of melon.

A half melon, scooped out slightly, makes a handsome "dish" in which to serve fruit, chicken or seafood salads.

Strike Slows Competition

Union, still on strike was scheduled to meet with the contractors' group today, Thursday, at 10 a.m.

Areas 1 through 4 of the High School — which include the main classroom building, cafeteria, industrial and fine arts and physical education facilities — should be ready for use by the opening of school, Spagnoli noted.

"The big item that remains is the sanding, marking and finishing of the gym floor and completing of the electrical work in the gym areas themselves."

With Area 6, the performing arts center, too far behind schedule to be ready September 3, school officials plan to move instruction in music somewhere else in the building.

Spagnoli said at least two and a half months would be required to complete landscaping and three and a half months to finish the auditorium and music facilities, assuming there are no delays in ratification of settlement agreements. Final touches on the performing arts center may not be finished for seven months, he said.

Alexander Ferguson of the J. A. Ferguson Construction Co. of Farmington, predicted Monday that labor costs to him would rise "19 or 20 percent" as a result of the labor settlement.

Wage increases varied from a 90-cent settlement over two years for the laborers' union to the $2.13 an hour increase over two years which was granted the electricians.

CAR THIEF CAUGHT

During an inspection of a car being driven by a 14-year-old Detroit boy last Sunday, Park Patrolman Charles A. Petrie, discovered the youngster had stolen the 1963 Chevrolet from a parking lot located at the east of 15310 Mack avenue. The owner, Frank Thoen, 404 Mariborough, Detroit, had left his car there earlier in the day. The thief was turned over to juvenile authorities in Detroit.

All the safety laws in the world are no substitute for the motorist who is safety-minded.

Alert Park Life Guard Rescues Boy

When Grosse Pointe Park police answered an emergency call to the Waterfront Park late last Sunday afternoon, they found firemen administering oxygen to a semi-conscious 10-year-old boy who had been pulled from 10 feet of water by an alert female life guard.

The boy, John Sabino, of 15647 Eastwood avenue, Detroit, was playing with a group of children when they all decided to go in swimming, according to the police. John was the last to dive into the deep water to join the other merry youngsters.

The other children quickly surfaced and swam safely to the beach. After a brief check one of the youngsters discovered the boy was missing, and started screaming, and pointing at the water.

Elaine Ceravolo, 20, of 877 Washington road, Grosse Pointe, a life guard, quickly discovered what was wrong, and dove into the water's surface, and dove into the area. Not until her third dive did she discover the inert body of young Sabino, she said later.

She pulled him to safety, and administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation until the firemen took over.

The youth was taken to Bon Secours Hospital where he was treated by a woman doctor, Dr. Shakin Etezadi. He was suffering from severe shock, but is expected to be released in "a day or so."

Police reported that the shouting of the frightened child, and the alertness of Miss Ceravolo, prevented the child from drowning. Miss Ceravolo, daughter of Dr. Albert J. Ceravolo, is an education major in her junior year at Eastern State University, Ypsilanti.

Are you fed up?

Peter O'Rourke is!

As a candidate for Congress, Peter O'Rourke directs this message to the people of the 14th Congressional District...

"I am entering this election because I believe the people of my district... the people of this state... in fact all the people of this country have been poorly served by the Johnson-Humphrey Administration and by its supporters in Congress.

Our national administration is a failure.

As a result, this—the wealthiest, most powerful, most enlightened and energetic nation in all the history of man—is foundering in a sea of problems. If we do not find more effective ways to grapple with those problems, they will sink us.

It is folly to expect effective solutions from those whose lack of judgement and inadequacies have brought us to our present state of peril.

This country must move in new directions. We can only do that by putting new hands to the wheel... hands not committed to old courses that have led nowhere. And we cannot hope to change our direction merely by changing the occupant of the White House.

We must also replace those who have blindly and faithfully followed the lead of those who have brought us to where we are. The incumbent congressman from the 14th district has lavishly adhered to the administration's line. In fact, his support of that line in his proudest boast. In view of what those policies have not accomplished, I think he would be better advised to apologize.

To list in detail all the failures of the present administration would require a dictionary-sized volume. But I do want to point to the general areas that have put this nation in so much difficulty in so many ways.

I say the administration is a failure because its permissiveness and indecision have allowed a climate of violence to develop in this country.

Riots rage through our cities with terrifying regularity. In little more than four years, three major public figures of our time have been assassinated. Some of our greatest centers of learning have been brought to their knees by mobs. In every city in this land, decent, hard working, law abiding citizens are afraid to walk the streets.

Our national leadership bears a large share of the responsibility for this climate of violence. It has listened to the pleas of special interest groups and ignored the right of the individual to live in a society under law. It has made too many concessions in its compassion for the criminal and shown too little concern for his victim. It is high time to reassert the urgent claims of order and reason—for the safety of each of us and for the sake of society as a whole.

I say the Democratic administration is a failure because in its shortsightedness it has failed to bring racial harmony to our people.

Despite civil rights legislation of unprecedented scope, we have seen racial turmoil grow steadily year after year. For all of the Administration's actions, there is a wider gulf between the average black man and the average white man than existed seven years ago.

I say the Democratic administration is a failure because it has failed totally in the management of our fiscal affairs.

The Administration has fiddled while our national treasury burned. The dollar once the main pillar of international money, is now looked at skeptically in the centers of world finance. Our gold reserve has been permitted to dwindle. Inflation rules the land, the reckless, unsound economic policies of the Administration have taken money from those who can least afford it—the working man, the poor, the aged.

By insisting that they can give everyone something for nothing, the Administration has reduced the value of everything anyone has.

I say the Democratic administration is a failure because it has directed the most expensive and most futile domestic welfare program ever conceived. And the poor, the disadvantaged and the unfortunate are more unhappy, more rebellious and further behind economically and socially than they have ever been.

I say the Democratic administration is a failure because it has failed totally in the conduct of our foreign policy. The Administration has gotten us hopelessly enmeshed in the most futile, mismanaged war in history. The Administration's conduct of that war has become a corrosive divider of the American people unparalleled except for the Civil War. It has cost us the respect and friendship of people and nations around the globe. It has given comfort to our enemies.

I have no magic answer to lifting the cross we are carrying in Viet Nam. But it is clear to me that the present leadership of this nation is incapable of finding an honorable and effective solution there. The Administration is blinded by its own fog of confusions, delusions and deceptions and haunted by its own mistakes. Only a complete change in leadership... in the White House and in the Congress... can find a way out in Viet Nam.

In all of these areas, and many more, the Democrats in the White House and on Capitol Hill have been long on talk and short on achievement. The Great Society is a great empty promise.

And I believe the administration and its followers have lost touch with the great majority of the decent, hard working, law abiding citizens who are this nation's greatest strength. Those citizens aren't always easy to hear. They are America's forgotten people.

They don't stage demonstrations, wave banners, invade public offices, burn crosses, foment riots, rant from soap boxes, or do any of the other things that lately are the way to get attention from government. They're too busy earning a living, raising their children, helping their neighbors and trying to make this a better society by making themselves better citizens. I will campaign for Congress as a man who is disgusted as they are and who wants to give the forgotten people a voice in government once more.

My only promise will be a vow to represent the interest of those people whose sweat, effort and faith make this country go.

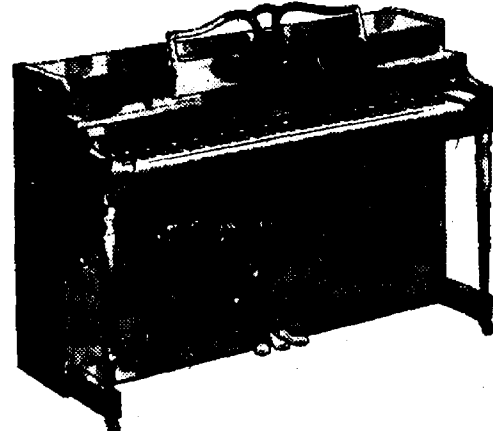

It is those men and women—now largely ignored—who have always been the true source of American greatness and who are the real builders of our future."

Parents of Deaf Children Invited to Pool Problems

A newspaper office receives many letters daily, but few like the one written by Mrs. John D. Reynolds, Jr., of Lake Shore road, the mother of a profoundly deaf child. The NEWS was so impressed with what Mrs. Reynolds had to say that we are reprinting her letter in full:

Grosse Pointe has several hard of hearing and deaf children, few if any being educated by the Grosse Pointe School System. Where do they go? What problems do their parents face? The biggest problem the parents face is the lack of facilities for their children.

Grosse Pointe is in Wayne County and is serviced by the Detroit Day School for the Deaf. The Day School is on the West Side of Detroit and the deaf children who attend, travel this long distance daily by cab. This of course is a great worry to their parents, especially for the tot.

Deaf children should begin school by age three. Another alternative for the Grosse Pointe deaf child is The Lutheran School for the Deaf. This school is also well into Detroit with no transportation for the children. It is primarily a residential school and is private.

Another alternative is to send the child away to a residential school.

For the hard of hearing child, what choice do parents have? There are the private schools with small classes and tutoring after school. This means the child has to attend school all day and be tutored for speech daily. This is exhausting for the child, who should be able to play after school and a great expense for the parents.

Another and greater problem the parents face is the lack of counseling for them. Where do they turn? Very few doctors know what the deaf child needs, where he should get a hearing aid and when he should start school.

Mary Grace Engel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Engel, Jr., of Washington road, is five years old. She is hard of hearing. When she was three she was tested. Her parents were told to bring Mary Grace back in a year. That year would have been a wasted year if her parents did not pursue the matter further. They made an appointment at Henry Ford Hospital and soon after Mary Grace received an aid. Since she has a considerable amount of useable hearing, this aid opened up a new life for her. She has just finished her second year at Sacred Heart Montessori School. She is tutored in the summers and during the school year. She has attained good speech through great efforts.

Jay Reynolds is six and a half. Jay is very profoundly deaf. When Jay was two years of age we moved to Los Angeles where Jay attended the John Tracy Clinic, a clinic founded by Mrs. Spencer Tracy, whose son John was deaf.

There I attended classes, and received counseling, learned ways to help Jay and learned about speech methods, etc. My classes one night a week. From there we moved to Florida where Jay attended school in Fort Lauderdale for three years. Because of a change of administration the school's standards went down so we moved back here where Jay attended the Lutheran School as a day student. This fall Jay will attend Clarke School in Northampton, Mass. Clarke is connected with Smith College. Jay has been tutored every summer and worked with at home daily. Jay cannot hear but lip reads beautifully and can speak.

Deaf children, who are well educated, can go on to hearing schools and colleges. Among some of the profoundly deaf people I've met who where well educated, one is an orthodontist, one a psychologist, one an accountant, one a college science teacher, and one a landscape artist. All were orally educated, none learned sign language.

I hope that someday Grosse Pointe will do something for the deaf children. There are classes for the deaf in Detroit, Warren, St. Clair Shores, Dearborn, and Grand Rapids... Why not in Grosse Pointe?

What happens to the older deaf child in Grosse Pointe? When he is ready to go to a regular school, will Grosse Pointe accept him? Will they understand him? Why is it we have speech correctionists for the Grosse Pointe children with speech problems, special classes for the slow learners but not one teacher for all the hearing-impaired children?

When we lived in Fort Lauderdale, I helped start a Parents' Group for those people with hearing-impaired children. I'd like to do the same thing here in Grosse Pointe. If any of your readers with hearing-impaired children are interested in such a group would they call me. Mrs. John D. Reynolds, Jr., 884-1761 or Mrs. John Engel, Jr., 886-6312.

After receiving Mrs. Reynolds' letter the NEWS checked to see just what kind of help was available in The Pointe for the hearing-impaired child. Unfortunately the results bore out what Mrs. Reynolds indicated in her letter. There is not much help for the hearing-impaired child in Grosse Pointe.

When the school census is taken, parents of handicapped children are given a form to fill out. From this form, plans can be made or special classes where needed.

Some hearing impaired children do attend classes in The Pointe, such as Development Kindergarten and special education classes... the remainder attend private schools.

Adcrafters Hold Pointe Stag Fete

Cloudy and cooler weather, with scattered thunder showers, greeted the 750 members of the Adcraft Club of Detroit, who attended its 36th annual stag Adcraft at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Most of the Adcrafters played golf at the Lochmoor or Oak-Ridge clubs. Others frolicked in the swimming pools at Lochmoor or Grosse Pointe.

When the golfing and the swimming ended everyone headed for the Yacht Club where dinner was served, and the biggest prize distribution winding in history took place. Robert Hill, chairman of the prize committee, announced that 250 prizes, with values ranging from $10 to $300 were awarded to those holding lucky numbers.

Paul Sprinz was general chairman of the party, Richard J. McCarthy was special events chairman. All those who served on the Adcraft committee were provided "special uniforms" of Kelly green golf sweaters, and white turtle neck shirts through the courtesy of the J.L. Hudson Co. men's store.

Scores of Grosse Pointers were among those at the annual fete, including Frederick K. Cody of Stratford place, the new president of the club.

Contentment may be a virtue, but it's death to enterprise.

Secretary of Draft Board Talks About Deferments

The national draft induction call may possibly be reduced during the next three to four months, according to Patrick McLogan, executive secretary of the local Board 87.

This board, which covers the Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods area, has a call for 11 inductees in July and 19 for August. This is approximately a 40 percent decrease from the call this time last year.

There will be more calls for physical examinations, though, with 20 expected in July and 139 in August. This is because a greater number of individuals have been reclassified at this time.

The application for conscientious objector status is steadily increasing. "There are 10 declared conscientious objectors, that is those who have received the classification after they have asked for it, from our board," Mr. McLogan reported.

Six of these cases have taken place since May, 1967, with the other four winning this position before that time.

But there are many more applications for CO status than those awarded. In order to be classified CO, a man must be conscientiously opposed to both combat and combat training and service in the armed forces by reason of his religious training and belief. This excludes any philosophical convictions or political feelings toward the present national commitment.

"Many men declare themselves CO's on the basis of political opposition to the United States involvement in Vietnam," Mr. McLogan said, "but if the man's position does not indicate religious training and the belief element, the board is prohibited from granting that classification."

Co's Not Deferre
But winning the CO status does not mean a deferment from military service. A conscientious objector is required to perform civilian work for two years in the national interest in lieu of military service. Though student deferments are still in effect, (3000 men hold the 2-S status from Board 87), graduate deferments have been eliminated except for studies in the healing arts.

These areas include medicine, dentistry, osteopathy, optometry and veterinary studies.

Service in the Peace Corps or Vista qualifies a man for an occupational deferment for his tour of duty, but does not free him from induction after the term is completed. But during this period of service, a man cannot be inducted.

"Teachers are a separate entity when it comes to deferments," Mr. McLogan said. The school system or board of education must file a request for a teacher's deferment. In their report, the man's employment must be shown to be effectively contributing to the national interest.

The board of education must also outline its area of critical shortage and surplus and the problems they have encountered in staffing their faculty with teachers not of the military liability age.

It is then up to the local draft board to decide whether the teacher is granted, if the deferment is granted, it is good for 12 months, at the end of which it must again be reviewed.

Because of a recent report from the Michigan Board of Education indicating a need for full time teachers in the inner city of Detroit, a liberal consideration for deferments by the local draft boards is given to teachers applying for work in this area.

"Wherever any essentiality is indicated," Mr. McLogan commented, "the board attempts to give any request liberal consideration. There is no one occupation, according to a report of the National Security Council, that can be designated as a deferrable occupation, (especially during a time of armed conflict)."

Fathers Deferred
However, any registrant who is married with children and living in a bonified family relationship can qualify for a 3-A deferment as long as he did not possess a 2-S deferment as of July, 1967.

Also if a man was married after August 26, 1965, and has children, he is available for 1-A classification if he doesn't qualify for another deferment, depending on the decision of his local draft board.

Those men under the age of 26 who had a 1-A classification before they were married and have no children are available for induction.

There are an increasing number of men who personally question whether or not to comply with their military service obligation.

This, Mr. McLogan believes, is somewhat the fault of the many "draft counselors" who sometimes provide the men with erroneous information.

Though this is so, only seven cases of draft defectors from Board 87 are being processed. Those men sent to a military installation for failing to report for induction are not act in court years.

If a man does not appear before his board on his induction date, he is subject to a proclamation of delinquency and prosecuted by the Department of Justice.

Many pamphlets and booklets of information are available from the local draft boards for anyone interested and having any questions concerning the draft. One may also call or go to a local draft board for any information needed.

Libraries Offer Summer Films

The summer film program for boys and girls is in full swing at the three Grosse Pointe Public Libraries. Films are shown at Park Branch, Thursdays, 2 p.m.; Woods Branch, Fridays, 10 a.m.; and at Central Library, Fridays, 2 p.m.

Coming up this week is STORMY, THE THOROUGH-BRED, an excellent choice for the young horse lovers. It is based on the true story of a colt who always seems to be "too young" or "too small," but finally proves himself worthy of his good breeding. Also to be shown July 18 and 19 is LITTLE BLUE AND LITTLE YELLOW. On July 25 and 26 the libraries will present RUSTY AND THE FALCON. Rusty is a loner until he captures a wounded falcon and begins caring for it. His family does not appreciate the disorder created by his pet, but becomes tolerant when the falcon saves Rusty's life in a dramatic incident.

In the film RAINSHOWER, also to be shown on July 25 and 26, an exploration of the sights, sounds and purposes of rain will be made.

'Hilaria' Wins Mackinac Race

By Mike Granger

For a football team, it's the Super Bowl. For the hockey player, it's the Stanley Cup. For sailors, it's the Port Huron to Mackinac race.

The sleepy town of Port Huron, located some 50 miles east of Detroit on I-94, comes alive each year for this regatta. Even the weatherman, who played havoc all last week with torrents of rain over the city, cooperated like a charm for Saturday's start. Beautiful blue skies, with moderate winds between eight and 15 miles an hour, blessed the 201 yachts, including 30 local club boats, in the starting fleet.

Many Canadian boats from Quebec, however, were forced to cancel because of the St. Lawrence Seaway strike. The fleet, which included nine boats of better than 50 feet in length and 65 over 40 feet, enthralled the estimated 15,000 spectators who gathered at all docking points for the start.

Some thirty hours later, Harry Ziemann's 73-foot "Norsaga," the largest boat in the fleet, crossed the finish line at Mackinac. "Hilaria," owned by Hugh Schaddelle of the Detroit Yacht Club, was declared the Class A and overall winner with a corrected time of 29:40:29.

Of the 30 boats representing three area clubs, the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, Crescent, and the Little Club, three sailed to class victories.

Norbert Hollerbach's 35-foot "Chivaree," of the GPYC, claimed Class D honors. Roy Barbier, of Crescent, was victorious in Class F. And GPYC skipper outtailed his nearest competitors in Performance Handicap, beating his nearest rival, T. L. Boyton of Crescent, by nearly four hours.

Freddie Ford's Little Club entry, "Bright Star," finished second in Class B, and "Valkyrie," owned by Robert Thoreson (GPYC), finished third in Class C.

Cars in Tangle; Drivers Unhurt

When Sandra Marie Tyler of 1901 North Main street, Royal Oak, failed to yield while driving into Jefferson avenue from Harcourt in Grosse Pointe Park, she caused a collision, Tuesday morning, July 9.

The other car was being driven by Wilma N. Tynor of 21356 Littlestone road. There were no injuries, but both cars were damaged. Police issued a violation ticket to Miss Tyler.

Judge Goodrow Has Busy Court

Thirteen persons, cited for violations of the law, were heard before Woods Municipal Court Judge Don J. Goodrow, during regular court session held on Saturday, July 13.

Also, during the proceedings, four parking violation matters were heard, and the four persons involved were found guilty and fined, and parking violation charges were dismissed against four others.

Four accident cases were dismissed due to the lack of complaining witnesses. Also dismissed were charges against four persons accused of moving traffic violations.

Not so fortunate were the following:

Gregory L. Atkin of 499 Sunningdale, who was found guilty of driving while under the influence of liquor, fined $100 and ordered to pay court costs of $10. His driver's license was suspended for a period of 90 days.

Robert J. Monterosso of 2003 Brys drive, accused of driving a motor vehicle with defective equipment, was found guilty and assessed a fine of $5.

James R. Wright of 2900 Alter road, Detroit, was found guilty of disobeying a stop sign, and was fined $10.

John Richard Horvat of 18043 Ego, East Detroit, accused of driving while under the influence of liquor, was found guilty. He was sentenced to pay a fine and court costs of $110, and his operator's license was suspended for 90 days.

Kenneth McDonald of 23754 Beierman, Warren, paid a fine of $20, after he was found guilty of disobeying a stop sign.

Mark E. Straetman of 21527 River road, charged with leaving the scene of a property damage accident, was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $25, and was assessed court costs of $12.

Patricia Onimet of 22906 Colony, St. Clair Shores, was found guilty of not complying with license restrictions, and paid a $10 fine.

Michael B. McCarthy of 20878 Van Antwerp, was found guilty of having no car registration on his person, and it cost him $6.

John J. Trupiano of 22431 Edgewood, St. Clair Shores, paid a fine of $8. He was found guilty of the charge of disobeying a stop sign.

In State cases heard, Judge Goodrow found Edwin P. Pilarski of 30770 Bradnor, Warren, guilty of driving while his license was revoked, and sentenced the man to five days in the Wayne County Jail, and ordered him to pay a fine of $50. Also found guilty of a similar charge, and receiving a like sentence and fine, was John H. Shrugue of 18953 Woodland, Harper Woods.

James E. Dupuis, Jr., of 1289 Anita, was found guilty of unsafe backing and causing an accident, but was given a suspended sentence.

At the conclusion of court, Judge Goodrow signed warrants for the arrest of 15 persons who failed to answer summons on charges against them.

Babe Ruth League

WOODS-SHORES Automotive League

By Dave Marsteller

This whole week was devoted to All-Star Tournament play as both our regular and Thirteen Year old All Stars moved to L'Anse Creuse where they vied for honors. Our All-Stars drew Harper Woods National League in their initial tilt and dropped them 5-0, behind the fine two hit pitching of Joe Triangoli, who struck out ten.

The Pointers drew first blood as a single by Gary Bennett, a walk to Rob Palmer and a base on error by Dykstra loaded the bases. Steve Schleicher then walked to force in the first run. After a putout, Len Constantine's Fielder's Choice drove in Palmer with the second run. In the second Bennett was hit by the pitcher, stole second and scored on Palmer's double. In the third Steve Schleicher led off with a double, moved to third on an infield out, and scored on Scott Burns' squeeze bunt. The Woods' final run came on Terry Buda's homer over the left field fence.

Saturday was the last game of the tourney for our All-Stars as they met defeat from the eventual District Champions of L'Anse Creuse 4-0. Terry Buda started, and was charged with the loss with Bennett in relief. This was a scoreless game until the third inning when a L'Anse Creuse triple, three walks, a wild pitch and another hit resulted in all four runs. The Woodsmen could only gather three hits with Palmer, Bennett and Jeff David collecting them.

Our Thirteens fared much better as they downed both Harper Woods entries to win the District Championship. Saturday's game with the Harper Woods by a whopping 20-2 score behind the five-hit pitching of Larry Bauer who struck out six while walking only two. The hitting stars for the Woodsmen were: Carl Munaco with one hit, three runs scored, and three RBI's; Rog Rosenbusch with two hits and three RBI's; Pat Maley with a double, one RBI and two runs scored; Larry Bauer with a double, three runs scored and three RBI's; and Dave Constantine with three hits, three runs scored and three RBI's. Sunday's game for the Championship was quite a bit tougher as our guys ran into a determined Harper Woods crew.

Our boys scored first as Carl Munaco led off with a single, went to third on Clinton's bunt single and scored on Roger Rosenbusch's fielder's choice. Kevin Clinton moved to third and scored on a wild pitch, which moved Rosenbusch to third from where he scored on Pat Maley's long sacrifice fly to spot the Pointers to a 3-0 lead. Mike Fricke the pitcher was moving along through the Harper Woods lineup until the fourth when an error and three hits gave the Harper Woods crowd something to cheer about. The call went out to Rosenbusch to put out the fire and when he did the score was 3-2 with our crew still ahead. In the bottom of the fourth Mike Jara worked the Harper Woods pitcher for a walk, and when a pick-off attempt went astray moved to third and scored on a suicide squeeze bunt by Mike Fricke.

There was no more scoring until the bottom of the sixth, when with two out Munaco doubled and with some alert aserunning moved to third on some careless ball-handling by Harper Woods. Kevin Clinton then singled sharply to right to drive in Munaco which ended the scoring. The seventh provided another scare for our boys as a leadoff single followed by a walk, brought in Kevin Clinton to relieve Rosenbusch with no outs. Clinton got the next two batters to hit into fielder's choices in the infield and then he retired the last man himself to stop the threat and give the Woods-Shores Thirteens the Championship. There was another player on the Woods team whose play helped save the day and he also collected the other hit. This was Chris Richards whose throw from center field to the plate cut down the Harper Woods player with the tying run in the fourth.

All of our players on both teams did an excellent job on the field, both as players and sportsmen, and were a credit in every way to their league and their communities, and we want them to know that we are proud of them. It is a great privilege for their coaches to have the opportunity to work with fine young men like these. We look forward to working with those that are returning next year, and for those that do not, they leave our league with our sincere best wishes for continued success as men and athletes.

WOODS-SHORES All-American Division

The All-American Division of the Grosse Pointe Woods-Shores Babe Ruth League climaxed its first season with two divisions with a best two out of three games series between the East and West All-Stars. All games were played at Ghesquiere Park and began Wednesday, July 10. The West stars drew first blood with a tight 4-3 victory. Dave Brown pitched a sparkling five-hitter and received hitting support from Bill Schipert and Mark Crane who had two hits apiece. The West got two runs in the first inning but the East picked up 1 in the first and 2 in the third to go ahead. The West then got the winning runs in the 6th inning with the aid of two key hits by Brown and Schipert. For the East, Pat Costello had three hits and Paul Nehra pitched very good ball.

For the second game on Thursday, the East stars came with their hitting clothes and slammed 18 hits off three West pitchers to win going away 19-8 and tie the series. Craig Johnson started for the East and was relieved by John Capotosto and Don DiLaura. The West had built a 6-4 lead on the strength of a five-run 4th inning but the East came back in the 5th inning to score 11 runs as 16 men went to the plate. Danforth, Short, Costello and Perry each had 3 hits for the East. For the West, Larry Pappas started the game and was hit hard but left the game with his team ahead. He was followed by Dave Hosea and Greg Cook. The third and deciding game was played Friday and matched Wednesday's pitchers Brown

The new Mercedes-Benz 250: so "over-engineered" it's loafing—even at grueling turnpike speeds.

The highest posted speed limit in the U.S. is 80 miles per hour. (On the Kansas Turnpike.)

At 80 mph, the new Mercedes-Benz 250 isn't even breathing hard. Reason: it's designed for the wide-open highways of Europe, where there are no speed limits.

On stretches of Germany's autobahn, drivers regularly push their cars as fast as they'll go—rushing along at full throttle for hours on end. The engines of many conventional cars can go all to pieces under these conditions, but the Mercedes-Benz 250 remains utterly unflappable.

Overhead-camshaft engine

One of the main reasons: the Mercedes-Benz 250 has an engine with an overhead camshaft.

In conventional engines, the camshaft operates the valves by "remote control." The camshaft is in one part of the engine, the valves in another. In between are devices called "pushrods." It looks good in theory, but in practice it's a little like trying to play the piano with knitting needles.

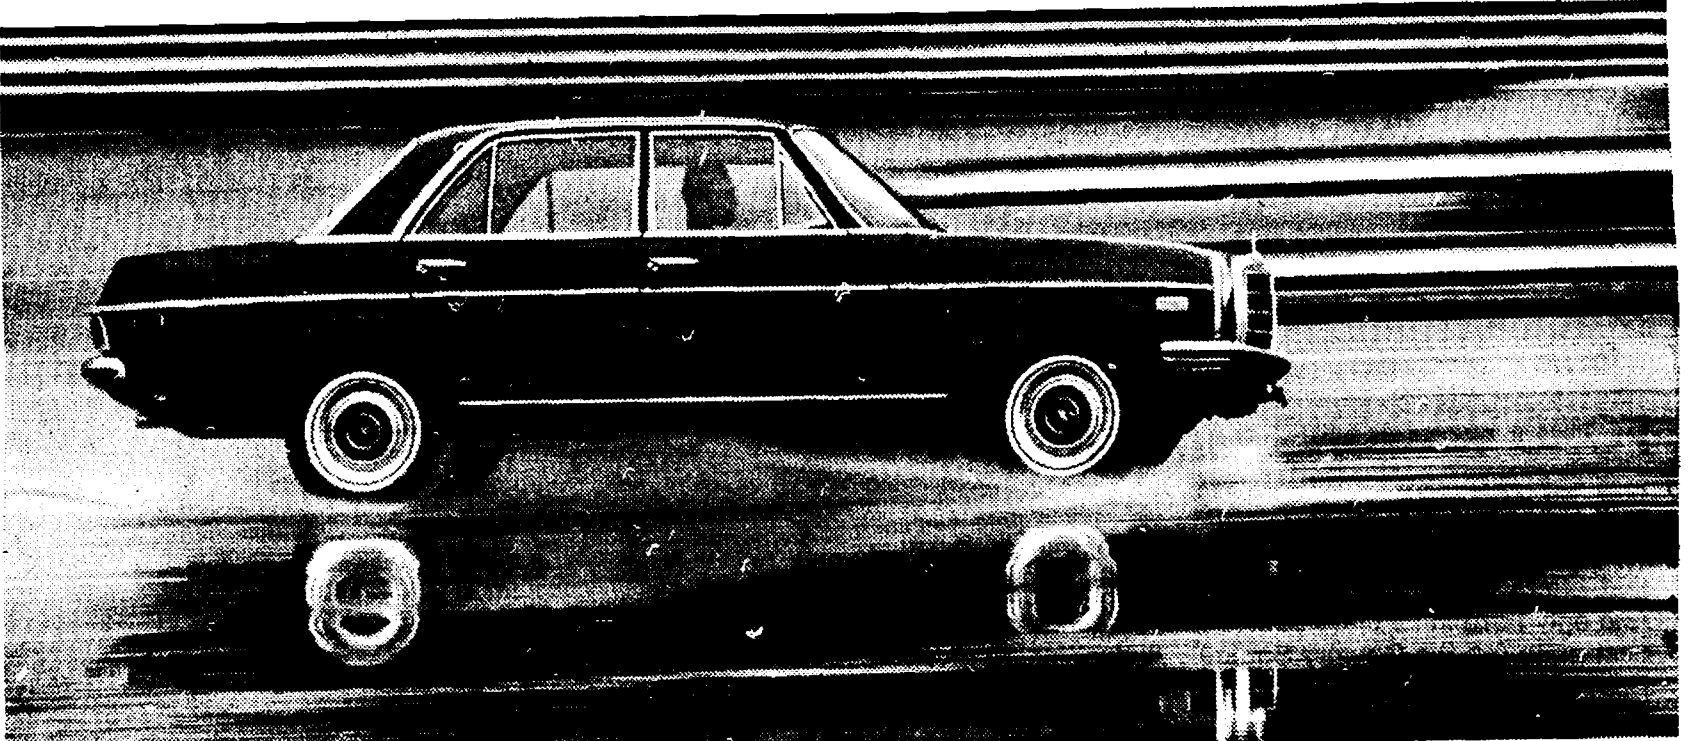

Mercedes-Benz engineers took a long, dim view of this complicated system, and devised a simpler, much more direct approach. They poised the camshaft just above the valves, where it "plays" them with beautifully machined "fingers." Sweet music.

What "over-engineering" means to you

One automotive critic described the new Mercedes-Benz 250 as "over-engineered."

He's right—by conventional standards, it is. In design and construction the new Mercedes-Benz 250 goes far beyond the requirements for conventional automobiles.

An engine that's more relaxed at turnpike speeds is one good example of what "over-engineering" means in practical terms to the man who owns a Mercedes-Benz. Here are some more.

Humming along at turnpike speeds, a test driver demonstrates a quick lane-change maneuver on a wet road. The Mercedes-Benz 250 remains perfectly balanced.

10,000 body welds

Most conventional cars have a separate body and chassis, held together with bolts. After a few thousand miles, the body flexes and the bolts can work loose. On a washboard road, the rattles can be deafening.

Mercedes-Benz eliminated the body bolts. Instead, body and chassis are welded together with over 10,000 individual welds. Result: a structure of immense strength and rigidity. After 50,000 miles or so, you may begin to wonder if your 250 will ever rattle.

2 "anti-sway" bars

Conventional sedans usually have a metal rod connecting the front wheels. It's called an "anti-sway" bar, and it resists body lean on sharp corners. Without it, the car would wallow—or the front springs would have to be made so stiff that the car would ride like a truck.

Mercedes-Benz engineers took this idea one step further. They included an anti-sway bar at the rear wheels, too—part of the 250's sensational new independent rear suspension. Result: a vastly superior ride, but still no mush, sway or wallow—even on hairpin turns.

4-wheel disc brakes

Many ordinary cars still have old-fashioned drum-type brakes. Good enough for most situations, but they can be marginal in a "panic stop."

Today's 180-mph Grand Prix racing cars use disc brakes. So does the new Mercedes-Benz 250. And not just on the front wheels, but on every wheel. Drum brakes are cheaper, but disc brakes give you the most precise braking money can buy. So Mercedes-Benz engineers insist on 4-wheel disc brakes as standard equipment. With 421.1 square inches of effective braking area, it's virtually impossible to outrun the 250's brakes.

"Fatigue-proof" seats

Take a day-long trip in some cars and you'll wind up feeling like a wrung-out washrag. The Mercedes-Benz 250 is engineered as much for human comfort as it is for mechanical efficiency.

Orthopedic physicians were consulted in the design of the 250's seats so you'll have proper support on cross-country tours as well as short hops to the supermarket. When you first slip into one of the 250's carefully contoured seats, it may seem firm, but once you get used to it, you'll never settle for "marshmallow" seats again. Mercedes-Benz engineers have respect for your backbone.

Engineering—not status

These are just a few of the dozens of advanced engineering features that made the new Mercedes-Benz 250 the star of the 1968 Brussels Auto Show.

The 250's enthusiastic reception was expected. This 3,000-lb., 5-passenger sports sedan rivals the most expensive Mercedes-Benz models in finish, and the famous 280SL sports car in its agile handling ability. And its functional, no-nonsense appearance—devoid of faddish touches—will be as pleasing years later as it is today.

The Mercedes-Benz 250 is a car for people who would rather spend their money on engineering than status. At $5,060,* it could be one of the shrewdest investments you'll ever make.

time and got to Brown for three runs in the first inning. They added a single tally in the second inning and then exploded for six runs in the 5th inning to win by a score of 11-4. In their big inning, the East got a key single by Allard with bases loaded and when the ball eluded the West rightfielder all runners scored. Another error and two hits capped the uprising.

For the East, Danforth and Miller had two hits and single hits were contributed by Short, Costello, Perry, Johnson, Allard and Nehra. Nehra limited the West to seven hits and pitched out of trouble several times with the aid of some fancy fielding by Caposto and Costello. For the West, Frank Meli had three hits and made a fine grab of a popfly against the fence. Jim Whipple also had two hits and pitched the last two innings without giving up a run.

Congratulations are in order for Ron Irwin, and his coaches Ned Winkworth and Bob Breacon for a job well done. Thanks are also extended on behalf of the league to Ken Frankland and his West coaches Bob Lynch, Fred Schippert and Mike Padilla, for their work with the West team.

This concludes the present season for the All-American Division and we hope all the boys had a successful season and we look forward to seeing most of them next year.

CITY-PARK-FARMS American League

By John Moran

Tournament and championship games dominated the past week's play in the American League.

Wednesday the first half champs, the Red Sox, met the second half champs, the Indians, for the American championship. Guttwald and Parker were the starting pitchers.

The Indians started off with four runs in the first inning and it looked as though they were off to the races. But the Red Sox bounced right back with two runs. Both teams continued to score when the game was called in the middle of the 4th inning because of TOO MUCH SUN. Believe it or not.

The brilliant sun was shining directly in the batters' eyes at Grosse Pointe High Field and the game was postponed 45 minutes. After a short period of resumed play it got too dark. So the game was postponed with the Indians leading 11-6, and the Red Sox at bat with the bases loaded and two outs.

On Thursday the game was resumed with the Indians finally winning 14-10. For the Indians Bob Kulka shared pitching duties with Parker, Towson and Jehle also pitched for the Red Sox. At the plate Parker, Kulka and Hubbard were the big guns for the Indians. Guttwald, Murtaugh and Heels led the attack for the Red Sox.

On Friday the American League All-Stars dropped their game in the district tournament against L'Anse Creuse 4-0. Saber, Parker and Imesch pitched for the American League. George Hubbard got the only hit.

Next week sees the culmination of the season with Don McKenzies National League Braves meeting Chuck Campbell's American League Indians in a best of three series. Both are tournament veterans.

CITY, PARK, FARMS National League

By Dorothy Kennel

The first-half champion Giants met the second-half champion Braves in a playoff game on Monday, July 8. Mike Getz pitched brilliantly for the Braves, shutting out the Giants while allowing only three scattered singles, walking none and striking out eight.

The Braves scored one run in the first inning, another in the second, and three in the sixth. Steve Katsaros did a good job on the mound for the losing Giants, striking out nine.

Big sticks for the Braves were pitcher Getz, who belted a triple, and Doug Mann and Mike To-Jone, who had two hits apiece.

The Braves meet the Indians in the World Series. On July 16, the game was at Neighborhood Club; on the 17th, at Kerby Field. If a third game is played, it will be on the 18th at the Grosse Pointe High School Field.

In the District Tournament on Friday, Harper Woods downed Grosse Pointe Nationals by the score of 5-2. The Woods scored two runs in the first inning, but the Nationals came back to tie the game in the second. Mike Getz was effective on the mound until the fifth, when two home runs by the Woods' batters put them ahead, 5-2. Steve Katsaros pitched the last two innings, holding the Woods scoreless. Doug Mann had two hits for the Nationals, driving in one of the runs.

To be successful today a man must have the horsepower of an optimist and the emergency brake of a pessimist.

I publish, for your information, the following portions of a letter which I have sent to ALL 380 or so candidates for Wayne County Board of Supervisors:

Dear Wayne County Supervisor Candidates:

As a fellow candidate, I can not pretend that I am not alarmed at the reports of many candidates planning on voting themselves, if elected, $15,000.00 salaries.

The present part-time Board of about 130 members receive $15.00 per meeting attended (the Chairman earns slightly more), and the total cost of operating the Wayne County Board of Supervisors is approximately $60,000.00. You can see that if the reports mentioned above are true and the candidates are successful the cost of maintaining a Board of Supervisors 1/5th the size of the present Board would be $390,000.00.

I, therefore, invite you to join with me in an unprecedented coalition of candidates of both parties and all districts pledged:

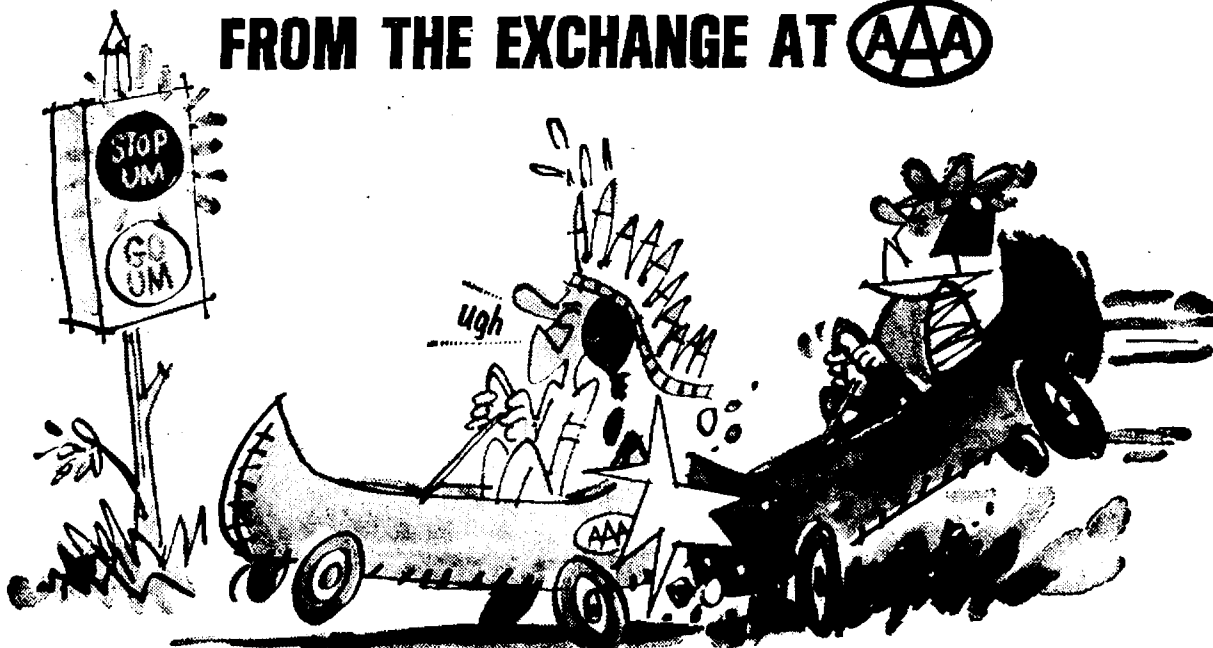

- 1) To maintain the Wayne County Board of Supervisors as a part-time office.
- 2) Not to add measurably to the present cost of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors.

Shoplifter Steals Valuable Purses

A woman, believed to be the same person who attempted to steal valuable merchandise from Best and Company, 16828 Kercheval, on July 2, was more successful in a try at Himel-hoch's, 17131 Kercheval, according to information released by City Det. Lt. Robert Van Tiem.

The lieutenant said that a report was received on Monday, July 8, from Miles Mirka, the manager of Himelhoch's, that the woman was seen removing six alligator handbags, valued at a total of $300, from a shelf in the store, and carry them outside and put them in the trunk of a car. The woman then drove away.

The alleged thief was described as being colored, with heavy build, about five feet eight inches tall, and wearing a sheer yellow dress.

The car she was seen driving was believed to be a 1968 tan and maroon El Dorado.

On July 2, Michael Cooney, observed a Negro woman, about 25 or 30 years old, place five dresses under a black leather coat she was carrying, and placed the coat on a chair. When she became aware that she had been seen, she slipped into a fitting room, and then left the establishment, leaving the dresses behind. She was seen entering a black Buick Electra, driven by a Negro male, and heading east on Kercheval.

Later in the day, a two-piece brown, mink-trimmed lady's suit, valued at $150, was reported missing from Winkelman's, 16900 Kercheval, by the store's manager. A woman fitting the description of the suspect seen at Best, had been seen in Winkelman's earlier in the day.

"It is believed that this same woman is responsible for the latest theft at Himelhoch's," Lt. Van Tiem said. "Every time a theft is reported in the Pointe, or in the vicinity, the given description of a woman seen in the store is the same, but in each case, she is seen getting into a different make of automobile."

"Store owners, managers and personnel in the City, or in the other Pointes for that matter, should be ever alert. If any person entering their establishments, acts suspicious, or even appears to be suspicious-looking, keep this person under observation. Do not make any attempt to detain this person, but call your local police promptly."

"It is entirely possible that this person might be completely innocent, but on the other hand, it is best that the police are alerted so that in the event there is a theft, prompt apprehension of the suspect can be accomplished."

"It is recommended that business personnel familiarize themselves with their local police department's phone number, or even keep the number handy near store department phones," Lt. Van Tiem stressed.

 son homered and doubled and Constant laced 3 singles. Despite heavy hitting by the White Sox as Gardner ticked 4 for 5 including 2 doubles and Kellett 3 for 4, the Yankee hung on until Giambrocco poked a triple to knock in 3 runs, including the winner. This made Steen the winner.

The Athletics humbled the White Sox, 8-0, as Finan pitched a five hitter and fanned 14. His teammates leaned heavily on the opposing pitchers as McKernan and Hookanson cleared the fence and Redmond and Finan each doubled and singled. Barr had a big day for the Senators in their 12-8 win over the Orioles. He singled, doubled and then blasted a grand slammer.

American
 The National Leaguers were able to complete only four of the scheduled six games.

Joe Briggs with a 4 bagger, double and single, managed to reach first base 5 times, led the Braves to a 17-4 submission of the Pirates.

The Cardinals went to the winner's circle twice by downing the Giants, 12-2, behind Maxwell's tight pitching. In a rain shortened 5 inning game they topped the Braves, 1-0, as Smaha allowed only two hits. The Cards and Braves are tied for the lead with 7-1 records.

The Red Legs swept past the Dodgers, 12-6, with Reno credited as the winner. Michael and Gauthier each connected safely twice. Sikich, Weiksnar and Newman doubled for the losers.

MINORS — American
 Purdue and the Marines are leading with 4 wins.

The Leathernecks took Hawaii, 12-1, a 6-0 forfeit from Ohio State and then bowed to Purdue, 4-3. In addition to this win Purdue tied Wisconsin.

Michigan State overtook Ohio State, 12-4, and Hawaii, 10-9, despite Fillion and Peterson's triples. Hawaii's hitting paid off against Michigan, 18-9, with Peterson and Mahoney collecting doubles to aid Moulton to a victory. Monsour tripled for Michigan.

The Fikany brothers formed the battery as Ohio State knocked off Wisconsin, 16-15. Brother Joe worked 4 innings and fanned 9. Brabb of Army went 4 for 4 to help Jaglois win 13-5 for Army over Michigan State.

Wisconsin overcame Army, 12-8, and then the Doughboys forfeited to Michigan, 6-0.

National
 This race as a mad scramble with 7 of the 8 teams having a good shot at the final third.

The sailormen of Navy won 2, taking Northwestern, 21-1, as Renfor was the winner, the Illinois, 8-5, with Shreve getting credit. Indiana finished on top both times. They downed Minnesota, 8-6, on Pete Wilson's arm and his triple. They also knocked off Illinois, 13-3, as James had 13 strike outs.

Iowa's Greg Freeman continued to make a mockery of the outfield fences as he homered against Northwestern and Alaska. In the former game he aided his brother Gary to victory, 12-11, and then helped in the 14-13 win over Alaska.

Greg Huvaere of Alaska whiffed 14 in passing Indiana, 11-3. James of Indiana managed to catch one and knock it out of the Park.

Despite Joe Kaled's 9 strike outs his Air Force mates bowed to Illinois, 9-7, as Bill Spencer doubled and knocked in the winning run. Ferris of Minnesota was the winning pitcher in a 20-6 submission of Air Force.

Pirates vs. Yankees, 6-19-68: The Yankees beat the Pirates today 8-5 in a game that saw both teams stage rallies in the late innings. The Yankees scored first picking up single runs in the first and second innings off Pirate's pitcher, Tom Coles, while Yankee pitcher Gil Kernan was pitching no hit, no run ball for the first four innings. Gil ran into control trouble in the fifth inning, giving up several walks and a single to Bill Anderson. Kevin Kluesner came in to pitch for the Yankees at this point and was greeted by a two-run double by Peter Coles, but Kevin stopped the rally getting the next man on a pop up. Trailing 4 to 2 the Yankees started their own rally in the fifth. George Maghielse led off with a triple, followed by singles by Pete Collinson, Kelly Kelp and Mike O'Hare, and a game winning three-run home run by Brad Leibbrand.

Yankees vs. Pirates, 6-22-68: Behind the tough clutch pitching of Kelly Kelp and Kevin Kluesner and some excellent fielding the Yankees won their league championship downing the Pirates 5-1. After a scoreless first inning the Yankees broke into the scoring column in the second with three runs off Pirate starter Glenn Burton. Kelly Kelp led off with a single. After a walk Gil Kernan singled in a sun and, with two out, Alex Jackson hit a double to the center field fence scoring two runs. There was no further scoring until the Pirates' fourth when three walks and a fielder's choice brought in one run. With Steve Nitsche now pitching for the Pirates, the Yankees came back in the top of the fifth with two runs on an error, a fielder's choice, a single by Tom Conway and a double by Gil Kernan.

Missing Helmet Brings Trouble

Chances are if John F. Lange of 13115 East Jefferson avenue, Detroit, had been wearing the required safety helmet for motorcycle riders while operating his Honda in Grosse Pointe Park, he would not have been ticketed by police.

Stopped by officer Larry Price for the helmet violation on Kercheval, between Lakepointe and Beaconsfield, last Sunday, Lange exhibited an expired operator's license.

He was then placed under arrest and taken to the Park police station where, it was learned, Lange is wanted in Detroit for three unsettled traffic violations. He was released after providing a $50 bond.

Correction

Due to an erroneous report received, a story in the July 4 issue of the NEWS disclosed that a Daniel L. Nelson, 17, of 19961 Clairview court, was accused of being a disorderly person during the June 26 "Skip Day" melee, and was arrested by Farms police. It was also reported that young Nelson demanded a jury trial on the charge, when this was not the case.

Nelson was not arrested, nor was a jury trial demanded. The NEWS regrets the embarrassment caused to the young man and to members of his family.

Every day men run up against the kind of truth that hurts.

Cottage Hospital Has New Service

Around-the-clock inpatient and emergency medical care by paid physicians recently has been instituted by Cottage Hospital.

The new service, effective July 1, provides hospitalized patients with 24-hour medical care by experienced, licensed physicians in the absence of the patient's regular physician, should need for such care arise. An extension of the "house physician" concept, the service is not designed to replace the patient's physician.

Instead, the new in-residence Cottage physician will be one of a group of physicians who have agreed to provide professional care on a regularly scheduled basis at the hospital.

According to Ralph L. Wilgarde, Administrator of Cottage, the new in-hospital medical care program will cost approximately $75,000 a year, but Wilgarde states that the program will provide every Cottage patient with immediate medical attention, should he or she need it. It will also cover the hospital's Emergency Department with medical coverage at any hour of the day or night.

"The house physician will tend the patient's immediate needs and be in direct contact with the patient's own physician," explained Wilgarde.

Wilgarde also explained that the new program at Cottage is an extension of emergency care programs now being adopted by many hospitals. Such hospitals contract with groups of physicians to provide 24-hour emergency care coverage. At Cottage, however, in-patient as well as emergency service will be available constantly.

The Cottage Hospital administrator also explained that while for many patients immediate need for medical attention may never arise, the house physician provides stand-by service in much the same way that x-ray, laboratories, inhalation therapy and operating rooms are available should a patient need them.

"We want to emphasize," said Wilgarde, "that our new inpatient medical care service is not intended, nor can it be used, as a replacement for the traditional patient-physician relationship."

"The house physician will be responsible to our medical staff, and he will work directly with private physicians on all medical matters relating to our patients' needs while hospitalized."

The millenium will have been reached when we can have lasting peace without fighting for it every generation.

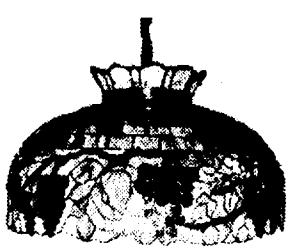

Farms Approves Contract Bids

On Monday, July 15, the Farms council, on recommendation of City Manager Andrew Bremer, Jr., approved one purchase and the installation of a roof on the south side of the Public Works garage. The total cost to the city is $9,563.

The council okayed the purchase of nine sections of galvanized trash bar screening for the sewer pumping station. The low bidder was the Detroit Trailer company, which offered to sell the screening for the price of $1,578.

The Department of Public Works will soon accept delivery of a 25-yard load packer, from the Garwood Truck Equipment company. The purchase price is $7,985.

Neighborhood Club News

Weekly dances for 10th, 11th, and 12th graders are held at the Neighborhood Club Teen Center every Wednesday and Friday evening. These dances feature live bands and are well chaperoned and police protected.

The Teen Center is air-conditioned and ample parking is available. Dances begin at 8:30 and end promptly at 11:30. Teens entering the 10th grade in the Fall are eligible to attend. All teens must present Grosse Pointe school identification at the door.

Admission is $1 for club members and $1.25 for non-members. On Friday, July 19, the Landers will be featured and on following Fridays, the Rumors and the Smoos will appear.

For College Students
Every Thursday night dances with live bands are held at the Neighborhood Club Teen Center for the college crowd. These dances are held on the second floor lounge which features in addition to a dance floor, comfortable lounge furniture for conversation, pool tables and snack machines.

Here's a good place to meet former schoolmates and enjoy an evening of good rock and roll music. Admission is $1.25 for non-club members and $1 for club members. These college dances last summer were held in the Undercroft of Christ Church, sponsored by the Neighborhood Club.

Day Camp Program
Two hundred Neighborhood Club Day Campers, their counselors, and their families are steeped in the competition, special activities, creative experiences, and friendships stimulated by this year's Day Camp program.

The "Summer Olympics" theme suggests the rigorous program, divided into four teams, Trojans, Grecians, Spartans, and Athenians, the campers are coached, assisted, and inspired by head counselors Margie Sloan, Mary Walker, Norbert Ignasiak, and Harry Warnken, respectively.

Campers are encouraged to improve their present skills and acquire new ones; equal importance is given to competitive, social, recreational, and creative activities. Teams compete in softball, newcomb, and "T-ball" and in first place at present are the Trojans; their Olympic torch is highest on the wall followed by the Grecians in second place and the Spartans, and Athenians tied for third.

Accenting this year's sing-along is counselor Bill Nowak, whose banjo accompaniment inspires the campers to sing better (and louder.) During "special interest" time twice a day campers are free to pursue activities according to individual tastes: art, tumbling and trampolining, fencing, dramatics, nature study, creative dance, basketball, or softball clinic.

The first week of Day Camp, dampened by constant rain, was highlighted by a break in the clouds, which allowed campers to participate in the annual Balloon Launch. Each camper released a helium-filled balloon with a self-addressed postcard into the strong East wind, and campers will be alerted as the postcards are returned.

Red construction paper firecrackers decorated with team colors were the project identified with Fourth of July holiday. The Grecians are the first to have composed and presented their team song, and the words are sung to the tune of "Jingle Bells." The Trojans, praised for being loudest in the sing-along, respond with quiet to the sound of the counselors' cow bell.

Named Trustees Of Bon Secours

Two more Grosse Pointe residents have been elected to the Board of Trustees of Bon Secours Hospital.

Denis J. Bracken of 66 Weber Place and Januarius Arthur Mullen of 5 Lake court are the new appointees and will join David S. Burnett and Charles T. Fisher III as members of the Board of Trustees. The new members have served on the Advisory Board of the hospital.

Mr. Bracken is a vice-president of Ford Motor Company and has been engaged in civic and health affairs for many years. He is presently chairman of the board of the Michigan Heart Association.

Mr. Mullen has an extensive background in the law and in business. He has also been an active participant in civic and health affairs, serving as vice-president and director of the United Foundation and United Community Services. He was recently elected the first president of the newly formed United Health Organization. He is presently serving as president of the Rehabilitation Institute and is a trustee of the Medical Center Development Corporation.

Business Note

Lawrence B. Kelly, vice-president of Michigan and Midwestern Corp., located in the Colonial Federal Building, 63 Kercheval, disclosed Monday, July 1, that negotiations had been completed with Chicken Enterprises Inc., for the purchase of land located on East Warren avenue three blocks west of Cadieux.

The site will be the new home of a Colonel Sanders Kentucky Fried Chicken store. T. Cullen, president of Chicken Enterprises Inc., said that construction of the unit would begin promptly after the construction strike settlement. The new unit will serve the East Side of Detroit and the Grosse Pointe area.

Mankind may never have to go back to living in trees, but many are already out on a limb. Never anticipate tomorrow's troubles and those of today won't be half the burden.

Public Schools in Focus

By Dr. Theos I. Anderson, Superintendent of Schools
To supplement my recent comments on the changes occurring in summer school programs throughout the nation, I might well cite the current activities of Bill Coe, a 1968 graduate of Grosse Pointe High School.

Bill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Coe of Cadieux road, was selected to participate with others of similar background in a special summer program at the Academic Center for Latin American Studies being conducted from June 17 through July 27, at J. H. Rose High School in Greenville, North Carolina.

To be admitted to the program, students must have completed three years of Spanish in an accredited high school, they must have a statement of proficiency and probable success by their most recent teacher, recommendations from their counselors or principal, and parents' permission and physical forms.

Bill was encouraged to apply by Edward Franco, foreign language department head at Grosse Pointe High School, who learned of the program from Mrs. Tora Ladu, State Supervisor of Foreign Languages for the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction when Mrs. Ladu came to Grosse Pointe to visit our unique Humanities-in-French course.

The Spanish program, typical of the kind of opportunity available to students today, was the inspiration of Roy Phelps, a teacher at the High School who, with assistance from personnel in the North Carolina Department of Education, (Mrs. Ladu and Virgil Miller, a consultant), wrote a proposal which was funded by the United States Office of Education, under Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

The curriculum includes the study of Latin American governments, history, contemporary problems, and geography; the ethnic and cultural development of Latin America, beginning with ancient Indian civilization; a survey of masterpieces of Latin American literature; and a study of Latin American contributions in music, painting and sculpture.

In addition, the schedule provides for a course in language and composition, student-teacher conferences, and periods of individual conversation with instructors.

Evening programs include films, lectures, informal songs, dances and games, as well as a wide range of recreational activities.

The language program is certainly high-powered, with students pledging not to use English during the six-week session, including the time they spend in the dormitory or in the dining hall.

Objectives of the program are to promote greater understanding of our Latin American neighbors, to encourage students to specialize in Latin American area studies in pursuit of diplomatic, educational or other careers, to provide a broad exploration of Latin American culture, and to provide for students who have some proficiency in Spanish with the opportunity for improvement that comes only through constant use of the language.

For a student such as Bill Coe, who has an ultimate career interest in diplomacy or internal law, the experience is an invaluable one, and one which would not have been available if it had not been for the initial inspiration of a competent and dedicated high school teacher in Greenville, who had assistance from the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction, and the necessary financial support from the United States Office of Education.

A leader of men is not one who tries to get ahead of others.

A review of the past presents a new view of the future.

'Get Acquainted' Program Starts

Mrs. Kathleen R. Bufton, Extension Home Economist in Wayne County, is introducing "Operation: Get Acquainted" in the area.

The program will involve ADC white and Negro children between the ages of eight and 13 in middle class Negro and white homes for a period of approximately seven to 10 days, thereby crossing the race lines.

Why "Operation: Get Acquainted"? The program provides an opportunity for people to do something about their concern for better relationships between people. Misunderstanding and distrust between people of the white and black races and between the well-to-do and the poor in our country has reached a crisis level.

The special committee appointed by the President to study the riots in 1967 suggested several ways to increase communication between races. "Operation: Get Acquainted" is organized on the assumption that though it is easy to discriminate against a race, it is much more difficult to be prejudiced against individuals. Programs that seem to work best are those that involve people-to-people relationships.

The initial program was undertaken in the Lansing area in 1967 under the direction of Dr. Leroy G. Augenstein. This project placed 27 Lansing area ADC youngsters between the ages of eight and 12 in middle class white homes for a week to 10 days.

Mrs. Bufton believes that a week to 10 days is sufficient time for these children to observe how the middle class families live and to decide whether they are interested in striving to achieve what they observe in those homes. This should also be enough time for these youngsters to find that some members of the other race care.

"Never was there a time in history when the urgency for individual understanding was so great," Mrs. Bufton says. The need to develop people-to-people communications at a level that reflects real feeling and individual concern for the problems, hopes and desires of our fellow man, regardless of his race, creed, or national origin, is paramount.

"Operation: Get Acquainted" is a program that can help individuals from many segments of our communities to have positive contacts with each other. This can be a valuable contribution to the current challenge in race relations."

Of those who participated last year, all but one of the white families are interested in participating again. Several families who were asked to participate last year, but didn't, have now asked to be part of the program.

"There was a change in the attitude of neighbors. And now some of the neighbors are asking to participate this year."

"Several of the youngsters have experienced attitude changes; many are getting better grades in school. They've all had experiences that would not otherwise have been available

An electric unit costs less to buy primarily because it's simpler in design and manufacture. There are about 16 essential sub-assemblies in an electric air conditioner as compared to 34 in a flame-type cooler.

An electric air conditioner costs less to install. It's lighter in weight; less complicated. The outdoor condenser for a flame-type cooler is much bulkier and heavier than the condenser for an electric air conditioner.

An electric air conditioner costs less to operate.

A flame-type air conditioner uses both gas and electricity so there are two charges for energy.

Revolt of The Masses?

The residents of Allard road are scrappy fighters. For months now, they've been asking the Woods city council for protection against the automobile, the machine that made Detroit. They claim that the city owes it to them, for the protection of their children, to make Allard one-way or put up barricades to ward off the attacking beasts from Harper and the expressway.

It's a shame that the only man very well qualified to exude anything beside hot air on the subject, safety director Allen H. Andrews, was absent from Monday night's meeting. But in his absence, it was revealing to notice that Allard road people's opinion of their highly-trained public official, who holds an MA degree in his profession. One man trumpeted that his 10-year-old daughter had insights too subtle for Mr. Andrews' mind, and another called him a "young college boy" and was convinced that many of his neighbors "know more about safety than Mr. Andrews." Under their breaths, they were saying much worse things.

We submit that the people of Allard road have gone overboard in promoting their own vested interest into an inalienable right and scoffing at the qualifications of a highly competent official. But then such pugnacious, persistent middle class rebelliousness is very much a part of the political mood of 1968. George Wallace appeals to 15 percent of American voters with his talk about "intellectual morons" on campus and "eggheads" in the Supreme Court. The findings of the Kerner Commission about white racism are discounted by Presidential candidates and almost ignored by the President himself. On the militant black left, it's racism of a different color.

The larger context of these debates is a disturbing one. What do you do when the ideals of democracy call for participation of the common man in government, yet the increasing complexity of industrial society gives the real power to a technocratically-skilled elite, the men who keep the machine going? The little man, perceiving his own impotence against the machine process and its managers, fights off his 20th Century alienation by kicking up his heels in a good-old, 19th Century populist revolt.

America has always had an anti-elitist, anti-intellectual strain, just as surely as it has lived with such inglorious national traditions as violence and racism. But now, a dozen sleeping giants — from black ghetto poor to hippie pacifists to scrappy suburbanites — are asking for a bigger voice in their lives and challenging the long entrenched elitism of American political life. Battle lines are being drawn.

—R.W.

An Inflationary Future?

Politicians think up the damndest things, and snag onto some of the most outlandish figures. For instance, there came to hand last week a press release of a speech being made here and there by Tom McCall who is the governor of Oregon.

In it he goes off in many directions, with special emphasis on a somewhat fantastic projection on the future of inflation. However, his figures may be of enough interest to Pointers to ponder.

The governor describes inflation as "the most regressive of taxes . . . everyone pays, working men, young people, the elderly on pensions." Then, he points out that savers, including life insurance policy holders, in 1966 alone, lost 20 times as much as depositors lost during the 1929-33 depression, "which may be true, if the increase in population was considered."

With that off his chest, Gov. McCall scares the be-jabbers out of his audience with a highly imaginative and wholly unrealistic projection.

He allows as how, "If inflation continues until the year 2000 at its present rate . . .

"A $75 a day semi-private hospital room will cost $630 . . . a $2 haircut will cost $112 . . . a $4,000 car will cost $10,000 . . . and $40,000 house will cost a whopping $86,000." How he arrives at these figures he does not explain.

Going along with the governor it is easy to imagine that by 2000 A.D. the minimum hourly pay may well be $75, with all salaries paid in scrip, and a three-hour day, and a four-day week, due to automation in factories, stores, and offices.

For those who will be around to break balloons as the new century begins, there should be quite a time. Have fun!

Area Policemen Earn Certificates

Seventeen police officers from the Pointe and surrounding cities completed an Advanced Latent Fingerprint Techniques Course, sponsored by the Woods Department of Public Safety, in cooperation with the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The policemen completed a total of 40 hours of study, from July 8 through July 12, and each was awarded a Law Enforcement Officers Training School Certificate of Attendance. The specialized school was instructed by George E. Goodreau, Jr., a 25-year veteran, and an expert of the Latent Fingerprint Section of the FBI. Arrangement for the course was made by Woods Det. Lt. Henry Marchand, with the approval of Director of Public Safety Allen Andrews, both of whom considered such training

What Goes On at Your Library

By Virginia Leonard

Guest Columnist: Robert M. Orr, Director of Public Libraries

With the completion of the Public Library's 39th year of service June 30 as a division of the Public School System, it seems appropriate to review some of the year's highlights.

We of the staff were disappointed at the defeat of the badly needed Public Library Expansion Program Feb. 26, but will continue to make the most of present facilities.

While statistics tell only part of the story, they do help to interpret the use of the three Public Libraries. Statistically, records indicate that all three Public Libraries continued to be well used, further testimony that this is "the most ideal library-use community in America."

The basic job of the Public Library is to bring together the right book and the right user. This can be accomplished only by an able, competent and well-trained staff. I believe this is true of our staff.

The staff is professional and community-minded, actively participating in professional activities to the enrichment of the profession, the Library and themselves. Likewise, every member of the staff, professional and non-professional, recognizes his obligation to the community by participation in community activities.

Under the leadership of President William Y. Gard, The Friends of the Library group continued to be active, achieving an impressive all-time high of 1,950 members. Their Board of Directors held six regular monthly meetings, serving as an Advisory Board which supplemented the Board of Education, the Public Library's Official Board. Four public meetings were held, in addition to the Annual Dinner Meeting at the War Memorial.

The Friends co-sponsored four Great Books Discussion Groups as well as the monthly Friends Film Forum. They again made substantial contributions which included books not available from public funds, Friends Film Forum rental, National Library Week, donations to the Special Collections and Fine Arts Committee, grant for local student to attend library school and to a publicity campaign to publicize need for expansion of Public Library facilities. Printing of the three issues of NEWS-LETTER and the Annual Report were other major contributions of the Friends. In addition, the Junior League contributed $183 through the Friends for purchase of special books.

of great value to law enforcement investigators in the Pointe area.

Besides officers from the Pointe, there were several from Hamtramck and St. Clair Shores.

Completing the course and awarded certificates were: Woods Dets. Everett Plumb and Gerald Kensora and Patrolman

Donald Sun; Farms Det. Sgt. George Van. Tiem and Det. Joseph Miller and Patrolman John Erskine; Shores Dets. Frank Mastazza and William Marshall, and Police Sgt. Donald Jacobs; City Police Cpls. William Plumb and Richard Clarke; Park Patrolman Robert Salfyrd; and Harper Woods Det. Douglas Garascia.

Many local organizations and individuals made appreciated gifts, including substantial contributions from Grosse Pointe Council of Better Literature For Youth, Grosse Pointe Motion Picture & Television Council, Grosse Pointe Woman's Club, Kiwanis Club of Grosse Pointe, Grosse Pointe Rotary and St. Paul Council, NCCW.

Of special interest were 79 memorial gifts of $1,274 for purchase of 242 books.

Three thousand, eight hundred books were received as gifts, of which 972 were kept. Six hundred forty-nine meetings were held at the Central Library, attended by 14,669.

A total of 515,509 library materials were circulated, a gain of 2,805. Central Library circulation was 259,106 followed by the Woods Branch with 158,046, and the Park Branch with 98,357.

Registered users on June 30 totaled 31,154, a loss of 102 from a year ago. Central led with 15,162 users, followed by the Woods Branch with 10,550 and the Park Branch with 5,442.

The Children's Department had a busy year with 18,485 boys and girls participating in 514 organized activities. 183,715 children's books were loaned. All of the regular activities were successfully continued including Summer Film Programs, class visits, Story Hours for Pre-School and School Age children and visits by nursery school children.

With a book collection in the Libraries of over 121,000 carefully selected over the years to meet this community's needs, the collection is strong on quality, but still 80,000 short of minimal standards for our 70,000 residents.

The Central Library has 60,000 books, the Woods Branch 35,000 and the Park Branch 26,000. Books are supplemented by films, filmstrips, records, framed art prints, tools and taped music.

Special activities included seven Family Film Nights and six Friends Film Forums, all of which were well attended. The Director conducted 32 Book Review Classes and gave 24 Book Talks and Book Reviews to Grosse Pointe and Detroit-area groups.

Finally, library films were shown an impressive 20,000 times, and seen by a record-breaking 492,000 residents. With 42 per cent of the School District residents as registered users, all records indicate that Grosse Pointers continue to make good use of the many services available through their three Public Libraries.

WOMEN'S PAGES

From Another Pointe of View

By Janet Mueller

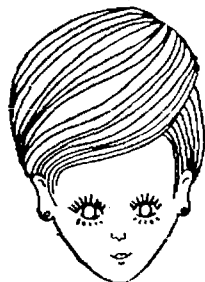

One of the important activities of the Women's Committee of the Tuberculosis and Health Society is its devotion to the children at Maybury Sanatorium.

Although the group is very "social" in its fund-raising, (it sponsors the fabulous annual Cinderella Ball), its members, individually and as a whole, express a very feminine concern for and interest in the young resident TB patients there.

There are many between the ages of one and 12 who need cheering, so, twice a year, the Patients' Aid Committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Herman E. Reichart, plans a program of entertainment and gifts just to make life a little bit happier for these unfortunate youngsters.

The Women are at Maybury this morning, along with a magician, a rock 'n' roll band, stuffed animal gifts and a triple-tier birthday cake, plus an instant camera to record the happy event for the children's scrapbooks.

This is a twiggy.

A young English thing started it. America adopted it. The question is, can everyone wear it? Our opinion is this. Young interesting things can, absolutely. Less young types can too—but modified. A little more softness. A speck of height. In other words, a twiggy custom-made especially for you. This is our approach. Totally individual. Like to explore it? We'd love to be your guide.

Several of the family's Dutch and American friends dropped in to say "Hello."

A group of students who will be freshmen at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, this fall, including LYNDIA LEE FULMER, of Hampton road, JOHN M. MR. and MRS. HAROLD A. WIEK, of Fisher road, attended the 36th anniversary convention of the Men's Garden Clubs of America held July 8 through 11 in Pittsburgh, Pa. Mr. Wiek, whose garden specialty is vegetables, represented the Men's Garden Club of Grosse Pointe.

JOHN F. MORAN, of University place, will enter St. Lawrence University, Canton, N.Y., as a member of the freshman class in September.

Night to Remember Lives Up to Name

Billed as "A Night to Remember," the black tie, private preview opening of Hudson's Oakland Mall on Monday evening, July 15, proved to be all that. Mr. and Mrs. Virgil E. Boyd and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Hudson, Jr. were hosts to the 250 couples invited to the sparkling event.

The party was also a benefit for the Meadow Brook Festival at Oakland University, located nearby. The donation was $50 per couple and it was announced that more than $12,000 had been raised for the festival which is now enjoying another big season. Oakland Chancellor and Mrs. Durward B. Varner were with the Boyds and Hudsons in the receiving line welcoming guests.

A sextet of strolling musicians, led by Eddie Krupa and including three young lovelies who are talented violinists, entertained during the cocktail hour, along with Jack Broken-sha and his Australian Jazz Quartet. This period also provided the guests with the opportunity to wander through the many departments, all completely stocked, of this magnificent new shopping establishment. A corps of beautiful girls was on hand to help with the hosting stint and provide information about the wonderful new store.

A buffet dinner was served in the dining room and on the sprawling, second floor balcony terrace which overlooked the huge court of the mall. While this was going on, chairs were set up in the court before a stage and shell which provided the setting for the marvelous dinner.

Mr. Boyd, president of the Meadow Brook Music Festival and of Chrysler Corporation, gave the opening comments and introduced Duke Ellington and his All-Stars, fresh from their triumphs at the Newport Jazz Festival. The Duke was never better and his soloists were incredible.

The Ellington concert was in two parts, between which Chancellor Varner addressed the guests and a very special treat was provided by Violinist Mischa Mischakoff and his "favorite accompanist", Conductor Sixten Ehrling of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, who gave a delightful concert of their own.

Maestro Ehrling joined the wildly enthusiastic audience for the second part of the Ellington offering and was vocally appreciative of the amazing talent of this famous aggregation of artists.

Mr. Hudson closed the program by thanking his guests for coming and reminding them that this was the last time they could spend $50 in the store and have it tax deductible.

It was indeed a Night to Remember, and a most pleasant postlude was the discovery, (made by timing the trip back to The Pointe), that it takes but 35 minutes to get to or from this beautiful new addition to the shopping facilities of the Metropolitan Area.

Bradley-Jarrett Vows Exchanged June 29

Bride's Empire Sheath And Cathedral Length Mantilla Trimmed With Venise Lace; Reverend Vincent Welch Officiates

Jeanne Elizabeth Jarrett, daughter of the Thomas F. Jarretts of Kerby road, and James Jay Bradley, son of the Thomas J. Bradleys of Rowland Heights, Calif., were united in marriage at eleven o'clock Saturday morning, June 29.

The Reverend Vincent Welch officiated over the services in St. Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore. Guests were received at Eddie Pawl's before the couple left for a trip to the Island of Kauai, Hawaii.

A white linen Empire sheath with Venise lace trimming the bodice and elbow length sleeves was selected by the bride.

Her Cathedral length mantilla was trimmed in the same lace and she carried a bouquet of daisies entwined with ivy.

Kim Jarrett served as her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were: Mrs. George Morrison and Mrs. William Weston, sisters of the bride; Brenda Bashford; and sister of the bridegroom, Kathy Bradley.

Thomas Jefferson Bradley acted as his brother's best man, assisted by George Morrison, William Weston, and John and James Comer.

Mrs. Jarrett chose a sea mist dress and coat ensemble with a matching pill box hat and the bridegroom's mother selected a lime green sheath with lace overlay.

Both wore a corsage of Sweet-heart roses.

The party will last no more than an hour and a half—the children tire easily—and then the Women will adjourn to Topinka's Country House for lunch.

Among Women's Committee members participating in today's Maybry program are Mrs. Arthur Pfannenschmidt, of Virginia lane, Mrs. Victor Wertz, of Moross road, Mrs. Frank Columbo, of Lakeshore road, and Mrs. James Quello, of Berkshire road.

Comings And Goings

Here for a visit with his brother, John V. Renchard, of Kerby road, and their mother, Mrs. William L. Davis, of East Jefferson avenue, before leaving with his family for his appointment as Ambassador to Burundi, one the new African nations, was George W. Renchard, Jr., Ambassador Renchard, in the diplomatic service since his graduation from Princeton University 37 years ago, served as Ambassador-at-Large during the past year, visiting nations around the world and traveling through out the United States.

Prior to that he served six years as Consul General in Bermuda, during which time he received the highest honor the Catholic Church can bestow on a layman: He was named a Knight of St. Gregory the Great.

In Washington, D.C., attending the 2nd National Catholic Retreat Convention, is Charles L. Palms, Jr., of Moran road, who will be especially honored at the convention's closing banquet Saturday evening. Mr. Palms has been chosen to receive the Pius X award for his dedication to the retreat movement.

He made his first retreat at Manresa Jesuit Retreat House in Bloomfield Hills the weekend of May 12 to 15, 1927. It was attended by nine men. Since then, he has made at least one retreat each year with the exception of the years 1935 and 1936, when the Retreat House was being reconstructed after a 1934 fire.

In all, he has participated in a total of 46 retreats at Manresa, captaining the St. Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore annual retreat group, which numbered 54 in January of this year, for over a quarter of a century.

He played a prominent role in the reconstruction of Manresa after the '34 fire, served on its Board of Directors for many years, was president of the Laymen's Retreat League from 1936 to 1941 and worked thereafter with other members of the Board to successfully retire the Manresa building debt.

Pointe residents now are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Redding, making their home in Notre Dame avenue, much to the delight of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Cornelius.

The Corneliuses, Pointers themselves until they moved to Cincinnati, O., returned for a visit recently, and Sally Redding scheduled a delightful surprise party for them, inviting all their former University place neighbors.

Everybody had a wonderful time... especially the honorees, who plan more frequent back-to-the-Pointe excursions now that Sally and Stan are here...

Meanwhile, Up North

...two long-time University place residents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry V. Jenks, were honored at a party at the Harbor Beach Resort.

A third University place resident, Robert B. Semple, president of the Harbor Beach Resort Association, presented Mr. Jenks with a plaque commemorating the 50 years he has been connected with the resort colony, similar to the plaque Mr. Jenk's late father received on the resort's 72nd anniversary years ago.

And Mrs. Jenks was not forgotten: She received two dozen roses.

A New Life, A New Vocation

Former Pointer James V. McGoodwin, son of Mrs. J. V. McGoodwin and the late Mr. McGoodwin, has embraced a new vocation—and begun a new life.

Graduated from Grosse Pointe High School in 1943, and later from the University of Michigan Law School, he practiced law in Medford, Ore., for 16 years before becoming interested in church work and entering the Presbyterian Seminary in San Anselmo, Calif.

He was ordained in Medford on Sunday, July 7, and has been appointed to a parish in Astoria, Ore.

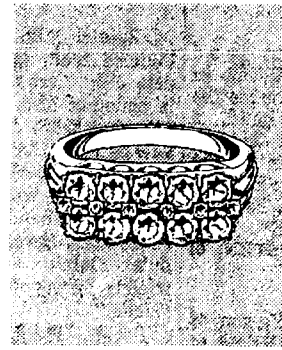

The Reverend McGoodwin is married to the former Mary Jane MacKenzie, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. MacKenzie, of McMillan road. They have two children: Jay, Jr., and Sara.

Bradley-Jarrett Vows Exchanged June 29

Bride's Empire Sheath And Cathedral Length Mantilla Trimmed With Venise Lace; Reverend Vincent Welch Officiates

Jeanne Elizabeth Jarrett, daughter of the Thomas F. Jarretts of Kerby road, and James Jay Bradley, son of the Thomas J. Bradleys of Rowland Heights, Calif., were united in marriage at eleven o'clock Saturday morning, June 29.

The Reverend Vincent Welch officiated over the services in St. Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore. Guests were received at Eddie Paul's before the couple left for a trip to the Island of Kauai, Hawaii.

A white linen Empire sheath with Venise lace trimming the bodice and elbow length sleeves was selected by the bride.

Her Cathedral length mantilla was trimmed in the same lace and she carried a bouquet of daisies entwined with ivy.

Kim Jarrett served as her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were: Mrs. George Morrison and Mrs. William Weston, sisters of the bride; Brenda Bashford; and sister of the bridegroom, Kathy Bradley.

Thomas Jefferson Bradley acted as his brother's best man, assisted by George Morrison, William Weston, and John and James Comer.

Mrs. Jarrett chose a sea mist dress and coat ensemble with a matching pill box hat and the bridegroom's mother selected a lime green sheath with lace overlay.

Both wore a corsage of Sweet-heart roses.

The party will last no more than an hour and a half—the children tire easily—and then the Women will adjourn to Topinka's Country House for lunch.

Among Women's Committee members participating in today's Maybury program are Mrs. Arthur Pfannenschmidt, of Virginia lane, Mrs. Victor Wertz, of Moross road, Mrs. Frank Columbo, of Lakeshore road, and Mrs. James Quello, of Berkshire road.

Comings And Goings

Here for a visit with his brother, John V. Renchard, of Kerby road, and their mother, Mrs. William L. Davis, of East Jefferson avenue, before leaving with his family for his appointment as Ambassador to Burundi, one the new African nations, was George W. Renchard, Jr.,

Ambassador Renchard, in the diplomatic service since his graduation from Princeton University 37 years ago, served as Ambassador-at-Large during the past year, visiting nations around the world and traveling through out the United States.

Prior to that he served six years as Consul General in Bermuda, during which time he received the highest honor the Catholic Church can bestow on a layman: He was named a Knight of St. Gregory the Great.

In Washington, D.C., attending the 2nd National Catholic Retreat Convention, is Charles L. Palms, Jr., of Moran road, who will be especially honored at the convention's closing banquet Saturday evening.

Mr. Palms has been chosen to receive the Pius X award for his dedication to the retreat movement.

He made his first retreat at Manresa Jesuit Retreat House in Bloomfield Hills the weekend of May 12 to 15, 1927. It was attended by nine men. Since then, he has made at least one retreat each year with the exception of the years 1935 and 1936, when the Retreat House was being reconstructed after a 1934 fire.

In all, he has participated in a total of 46 retreats at Manresa, captaining the St. Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore annual retreat group, which numbered 54 in January of this year, for over a quarter of a century.

He played a prominent role in the reconstruction of Manresa after the '34 fire, served on its Board of Directors for many years, was president of the Laymen's Retreat League from 1936 to 1941 and worked thereafter with other members of the Board to successfully retire the Manresa building debt.

Pointe residents now are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Redding, making their home in Notre Dame avenue, much to the delight of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Cornelius.

The Corneliuses, Pointers themselves until they moved to Cincinnati, O., returned for a visit recently, and Sally Redding scheduled a delightful surprise party for them, inviting all their former University place neighbors.

Everybody had a wonderful time... especially the honorees, who plan more frequent back-to-the-Pointe excursions now that Sally and Stan are here...

Meanwhile, Up North

...two long-time University place residents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry V. Jenks, were honored at a party at the Harbor Beach Resort.

A third University place resident, Robert B. Semple, president of the Harbor Beach Resort Association, presented Mr. Jenks with a plaque commemorating the 50 years he has been connected with the resort colony, similar to the plaque Mr. Jenk's late father received on the resort's 72nd anniversary years ago.

And Mrs. Jenks was not forgotten: She received two dozen roses.

A New Life, A New Vocation

Former Pointer James V. McGoodwin, son of Mrs. J. V. McGoodwin and the late Mr. McGoodwin, has embraced a new vocation—and begun a new life.

Graduated from Grosse Pointe High School in 1943, and later from the University of Michigan Law School, he practiced law in Medford, Ore., for 16 years before becoming interested in church work and entering the Presbyterian Seminary in San Anselmo, Calif.

He was ordained in Medford on Sunday, July 7, and has been appointed to a parish in Astoria, Ore.

The Reverend McGoodwin is married to the former Mary Jane MacKenzie, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. MacKenzie, of McMillan road. They have two children: Jay, Jr., and Sara.

The daughter of the Thomas F. Jarretts, JEANNE ELIZABETH, became the bride of Mr. Bradley, son of the Thomas J. Bradleys of Rowland Heights, Calif., on Saturday, June 29, at St. Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore.

Mary Sue Herz Will Be Bride

Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Herz, of Harcourt road, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Mary Sue, to John Jay Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Grady Jones, of Neodesha, Kansas.

The bride-elect was graduated from the Academy of the Sacred Heart in Lakeshore road, attended the University of Detroit, where she affiliated with Theta Phi Alpha sorority, received her Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Toronto, Toronto, Ont., and studied for her teaching credential at Wayne State University. She is presently a teacher and counselor at Sun Valley Junior High School, Sun Valley, Calif., and is working toward her masters degree in Counseling and Guidance at San Fernando Valley State College.

The Reverend Ralph Barton officiated at the 7 o'clock rites in Our Lady Star of the Sea Church, for which the bride selected an Empire gown of ivory silk organza fashioned with a Watteau train and accented with re-embroidered Alencon lace.

A headpiece of matching lace trimmed with seed pearls held her shoulder length silk illusion veil, and she carried a cascade of white roses and ivy.

Family Needs Grandparents

Grandparents can make a rich contribution to family living, according to Mrs. June Sears, Home Economist with the Co-operative Extension Service in Wayne and Oakland counties.

"The stereotype mother-in-law is overdone," she says. "This person suddenly becomes a loveable grandmother with the birth of the first baby, and she answers more emergency calls than public services."

"Distances make a difference, but she appears when there is a sudden illness and she can keep the children when parents go on a planned vacation. When she lives nearby, she can answer the call for a baby-sitter."

"But grandmothers shouldn't always be available for baby-sitting. Remember, grandmother, you have a life of your own, too."

Home Economists agree that both grandparents have a meaningful contribution to make. They can give an extra measure of love which can be a real tonic to a child, says Mrs. Sears. They offer a chance for the child to "get away from it all."

It can be a precious emotional change for a child to have an adult all to himself, especially when there are several young children in one family. Grandparents can tell stories of times when they were young to give children a picture of another generation in another setting.

Grandparents have time to listen, something which busy young mothers cannot always do. If a grandparent lives with the family, he or she may have a special room where the children can go and have private talks.

But grandparents must be practical and remember that the parents are responsible for their children, says June Sears. Grandparents can help build confidence by being interested in what the parents are doing. Since they lived through all stages of childrearing, they can help young parents over some hurdles.

"Make being a grandparent an avocation, not a career," adds Mrs. Sears. "Don't expect your grandchildren to fill your whole life."

Those who contribute the least to public enterprise are usually the most critical.

A garden reception in the Cloverly road home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Danaher, with whom she has been making her home, followed the Friday afternoon, July 12, wedding of Mary Anne Mancourt and Robert John Petz, Jr.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mrs. Norman L. Bird and the late Edward May Mancourt. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Petz, of Lakeshore road, and the eldest grandson of the late Horace Dodge.

For the 4 o'clock ceremony in St. Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore, the bride selected a street length Empire dress of white ribbed silk. Her hair was tied back with ribbons and flowers, and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis, Sweetheart roses and ivy.

She was attended by Frances Fleming, who wore a sleeveless frock of pale pink heavy ribbed cotton, fashioned with a stand-up collar, and carried an Old English arrangement of bachelor buttons, pink tea roses,

'Understudies' Plan Preview

The Understudies, Women's committee for Wayne State University's Hilberry Theatre, met in the campus apartment of President and Mrs. William R. Keast on Thursday morning, June 27, at 10 o'clock to sip coffee and make plans for the sixth annual President's Preview in November.

The Understudies are 51 Detroit-area women who are seeking to exceed the $28,000 they raised last year with a goal of $30,000 for actors' fellowships in 1968-69.

Mrs. Joseph A. Vance, Jr., of South Deeplands road, who is serving as chairman for the second year, explained that the funds will be raised through $100 minimum contributions from individuals who will be contacted by the Understudies. All donors will receive invitations to the Preview and become Sponsors of the Theatre.

The 1968-69 Preview will feature a performance of "An Italian Straw Hat," a French farce with music by Eugene Labiche and Marc-Michel.

Professor Leonard Leone, director of the theatre, reviewed the Hilberry's success to date and discussed plans for the new season.

The 30-member repertory company will be presenting six new productions and two revivals from last season, Shakespeare's "Hamlet" and Feydeau's "A Flea in Her Ear."

The season will open for the first time in November and continue through May. Previous seasons have begun in January.

Hold Barit-Frank Rites In East

Judith Diane Frank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Frank, of Philadelphia, Pa., became the bride of Robert Barit, Jr., son of Mrs. Stirling Loud, of Trembley road, and Robert Barit, of Warwick, Bermuda, last Sunday, July 13, at 6 o'clock in the Bethesda Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia. The Reverend Jerold B. Ellison and The Reverend Robert B. Wills officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white silk shantung fashioned with a Chapel train and trimmed with Egyptian lace. An Egyptian lace headpiece held her double-tiered illusion veil, and she carried a bouquet of assorted pink and white baby roses and gardenias.

Honor attendant Bonnie Ellison, of Philadelphia, chose a pink chiffon gown trimmed with daisies and a two-tiered headpiece of veiling sprinkled with daisies.

Bridesmaids in gowns identical to that of the maid of honor, were the bride's sister, Marjorie Frank, Kathleen Smith, Nancy Smith and Vera Liberato, all of Philadelphia. They carried old-fashioned bouquets of pink and white flowers.

Bruce Barit served as his brother's best man. Ushering were the bridegroom's uncles, E. Tillman Stirling and Eugene Cole, and his cousins, Walter T. Winslow and David Winslow, all of Washington, D.C.

The mother of the bride wore a blue peau de soie dress with a matching jacket trimmed with jeweled buttons. The bridegroom's mother selected a lime green silk Empire dress fashioned with organdie sleeves and neckline ruffles. Both mothers chose white orchid corsages.

After a reception at Sioffers Restaurant at the Benson East in Jenkintown, Pa., the newlyweds left for a vacation in Bermuda. They will return to make their home in Greenbelt, Md.

Convalescing now at his home in Clearwater, Fla., after a very serious heart attack is MARK OLSON, formerly of Beaconsfield avenue, recently discharged from Clearwater's Morton Plant Hospital.

Donald E. Yerkes, of Kenmore Road, a teacher at Grosse Pointe High School, is one of 57 participants in a Summer Mathematics Institute at the University of Santa Clara. Supported by a grant from the National Science Foundation, the six-week session began on June 24 and will conclude on August 2.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Huizinga, of Ridgmont road, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, ELIZABETH (Betsy) ANNE, to James Craig Walter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce C. Walter, of Lowell, Mich.

The bride-elect was graduated from Grosse Pointe High School and is presently a senior in the University of Michigan School of Nursing. She is affiliated with Delta Delta sorority.

Her fiancé received his Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Michigan in April and plans to begin graduate studies there in the fall. He is affiliated with Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

A December wedding is planned.

At a party Friday, July 12, in her Cadieux road home, Mrs. Frederick William Fuger announced the engagement of her daughter, EWA M. FUGER, to William J. Warner, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Warner, of Lochmoor boulevard, Harper Woods.

The bride-elect, who is also the daughter of the late Mr. Fuger, was graduated from the University of Detroit. She is affiliated with the Junior League of Detroit.

Her fiancé is studying at the University of Detroit and Lawrence Institute of Technology School of Architecture.

A September 27 wedding, in St. Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore, is planned.

Circumnavigators' Summer Safari Set

Michigan's Circumnavigators Club, whose members must travel around the world to qualify for election to the group, will celebrate the adventures of Canada's pioneers on the trail from Gaspe to Detroit in a gala Summer Safari. The annual party is set for Sunday, August 4, at Orchard Lake.

More than 250 club members and guests will hear the story of French Canada's historic "heritage trail" from Robert McKeown of Ottawa.

His color movie repeats the old-time trek from the Canadian Maritimes and Gaspe westward through French Canada to the Detroit River boundary. It will be a highlight of the 12th annual summer gathering of Detroit's largest club of world travelers.

Mr. McKeown has produced films around the world. His French Canada production is recognized as one of the finest in its field. In addition to his film and lecture work, he is a staff member of "Weekend", Canada's largest magazine.

Joining the afternoon and evening celebration will be Canadian Consul General Edward Maguire and Mrs. Maguire.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Gotshall will greet the Circumnavigators at their home on Pelletier boulevard, Orchard Lake. The poolside party begins at 4:30 o'clock, and colorful tents will be placed nearby to provide shelter if needed. A lavish buffet dinner is to be served towards sundown.

John W. Kinsey, president of the Michigan Circumnavigators, has announced that national officers of the organization from New York and Florida are expected to attend.

Mr. Kinsey and former international president George F. Pierrot are the Detroit members of the international board of governors. The Circumnavigators Club is headquartered in New York, but Michigan's cial ladies' committee on decorations and publicity.

The menu has been prepared by Circumnavigators' Pierrot with all of Eastern Canada's delicacies in mind. According to Pierrot, servings will include Essex beef, Laurontian potatoes, Ontario onions, Saguenay greens, with Habitant dressing, Niagara apple torte and Baffin Bay coffee.

Pierrot admits it may be new to Baffin Bay that coffee grows there.

The Club's assistant secretary, Miss Mildred Neubauer, is accepting reservations at 222-3502, or payment for tickets by mail at 4644 Ternes, Dearborn.

Grosse Pointe Lake frontage

(APPROX. 200x445)

With the world at your front door and downtown Detroit only minutes away, this site offers everything in the way of location, exclusiveness and a sound investment.

Here you can watch the rising sun in the morning, see the ever changing panorama of passing ships during the day, then be lulled to sleep at night by cooling breezes and the sound of rippling water.

The land is high, nicely treed, has a heavy concrete sea wall, luxury stone street wall and a sprinkler system. In our opinion, it is one of the most desirable unimproved lake front parcels remaining along the entire Grosse Pointe shoreline.

ALSO IMPORTANT — IT IS PRICED CONSIDERABLY BELOW THE PRICE AT WHICH COMPARABLE PARCELS HAVE BEEN SOLD.

Pointe Pair Work For Torch Drive

Two Grosse Pointe homemakers have been named region chairmen for the Eastern Wayne unit of the 1968 Torch Drive residential campaign.

Responsible for organizing and directing house-to-house solicitations in Grosse Pointe will be Mrs. Julius J. Huebner, of University place.

Mrs. Bernard J. Uhalik, of Newcastle road, has been named region chairman for Harper Woods.

Their appointments were announced last week by Mrs. William W. Peattie, of Moran road, Eastern Wayne unit chairman for the residential campaign.

"We are most fortunate to have such experienced, dedicated volunteers have accepted these important campaign assignments," Mrs. Peattie said.

"Both have proved to be outstandingly able leaders in previous Torch Drives, so we know they can be counted on in this campaign."

Mrs. Huebner was division chairman last year after having

Set Sixth Annual Cruise For Crippled Children

Sailing down the Detroit River on Tuesday, July 23, for the Crippled Children's Sixth Annual Boat Cruise will be some 300 handicapped youngsters from Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Invitations have gone out to the Tri-County area from the Detroit Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., in Schaefer highway, for the event which is sponsored each year by members of the Automotive Boosters Club, Number 19, an organization of automotive representatives.

Between 30 and 40 privately-owned cruisers have been lined up for the cruise which was originally planned for boys and girls from the Detroit Society's Easter Seal Day Camp and now has grown proportionately to care for many more children in the area.

The children will be transported by chartered bus to Kean's Boat Harbor at the foot of Meadowbrook on the river, where facilities have again been made available by the Kean's as in past summers. They'll be greeted by a host of Moslem Shrine Clowns, directed by Stan Keel.

Kids will start boarding the cruisers at 9 o'clock and by 10 o'clock the 10-mile river caravan will be on its way.

Richard G. Johnson, a Booster as well as an Easter Seal Board member, is again chairman. Booster president is Ken Brassfield.

Paper bag lunches go along with each passenger on the boats as well as soft drinks, hats and favors, souvenirs, candy, popcorn and other goodies.

To further insure safety on the cruise, two boats are specially equipped to handle cases of patients requiring medication. Doctors and nurses are always along to cope with emergencies and passengers are supervised on all boats by staff members and adult volunteers.

The U.S. Coast Guard and the Detroit Police Harbor Patrol will be in front and behind the flotilla. Senior Red Cross life guards will be spaced among the boats to care for any emergency.

At the Civic Center, the Detroit River Fire Boat will again salute the Cruisers with a water display.

Assisting the Boosters as hosts for the day will be officers and board members of the Detroit Society led by William R. Ludwig, of Rivard boulevard, newly-elected president and Ted Lindsay, 1968 Easter Seal Campaign chairman.

Among others assisting with plans are members of the Detroit Department of Parks and Recreation and Mrs. Rosemarie Evenhuis, executive director of the Detroit Society.

Set Kresge Hall Dedication Fete

floor will browse along a Turn-of-the-Century Street, glance over the wares in a replica of Detroit's first Kresge and Wilson's 5-and-10-cent store, then move down the Corridor of Costume, admiring ladies' fashions from 1820 to 1920.

The Turn-of-the-Century Street continues the museum's walking tour through Streets of Old Detroit—a tour that begins in the 1840's and moves through the 1870's. The brick street of 1895-1905 is lined with Kresge and Wilson's, a bicycle shop, an office supply store and a drug store—complete with marble-topped soda fountain and patent-medicine displays.

The Casino, named for the city's first nickelodeon movie house, will show contemporary films.

Upstairs on the first floor of the Kresge Exhibit Hall, museum-goers will find an exhibit of music boxes and other mechanical music makers, including an eight-foot Belgian Fair Organ that is an organ, trumpets, violin, pipes, flute, drums, cymbals, castanets and xylophone in one.

A dainty 19th century watch chimes the quarter-hours and Edison phonograph records that had toes tapping 50 years ago make their music once again.

On the second floor, the Urban History Hall is a showcase of early Detroit memorabilia—a silver-cupped fire engine and the silver cups competed for by 19th century volunteer firemen; a portrait of Sojourner Truth, the aged ex-slave who fought prejudice 100 years ago; wooden waterpipes from the city's early water-supply system.

There is a section devoted to Detroit's Afro-American Trailblazers. Other exhibits portray the history of municipal departments, education, public utilities, transportation and professional sports in the city.

Timed to coincide with the dedication of the Kresge Exhibit Hall, major exhibits in the main museum building also will open on July 24.

Among them is F.O.B. Detroit, the first extensive showing of the museum's prized antique and classic car collection.

Before the Kresge addition was built, severe space restrictions prevented displaying many of the old cars at once. Now, auto buffs can wander through motoring history from the first car on Detroit's streets, Charles Brady King's 1896 model, to a 1964 Chrysler Experimental Turbine car.

Summer Chorus Sings July 25

Thursday evening, July 25th, at 8:15 is the date chosen by director Richard Johns for the seventh annual concert of the Grosse Pointe Summer Chorus. Mr. Jerry Hughes returns as accompanist.

This group of 50 voices has been rehearsing twice a week at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center and will share their musical fare with an audience in the air-conditioned Fries Ballroom.

Featured soloists will be Mr. Charles Bryant in Dave Brubeck's "Summer Song" and Carolyn Maschmeyer making her chorus debut in the brilliant "Russian Picnic" by Harvey Enders.

Two sacred selections will open the concert to be followed by a program ranging from folk songs to current pop tunes. Sure to be a favorite with the audience is a special arrangement of Scarborough Fair, by guitarists Anne and Julie Shaheen who will be joined vocally by Carolyn Maschmeyer, Nancy Cary, and Pam Boney.

Intermission relaxation will again be the special assignment of the Shaheen girls assisted by Pam Boney, Sue Fiori, Bernie Thomas, Peggy Roncelli, and Carol Kalamajka. Other members of the chorus are Dorothy and Paula Brideau, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bryant, Mary Ellen Burchett, Maureen and Ralph De Four, Steve Fiori, Judy Hebbia, Sue Hughes, Lynn Jenkins, Lois Johns, Donna McRea, Rosemary Nyman, Mrs. Robert Opdyke, Christine Opdyke, Steve Pepper, Mrs. Sylvia Poorman, Pat, Pam, Cindy, Peter, and Steven Poorman, Mrs. Elouise Powers, Mrs. Sieghild Rist, Mary Lou Rosella, Ernest Paul Sakmar, Linda Shaffer, Mrs. Dolores Shaheen, Therese, John and Gerard Shaheen, Mrs. Robert Shugart and daughters, Patty Southlea and Claire Yuhase.

Tickets for this summer tradition may be purchased at the War Memorial office, from members of the chorus and by calling TU 6-0710 or TU 2-8486. Adult admission is $1.00 and student's $0.50.

William B. Drake, 1620 Fairholme road, has been named general manager of the Northwest Chemical Company, a unit of the Chemetron Chemicals division of Chemetron Corporation, Chicago. Drake joined Northwest in 1965 as sales manager and served in that position until his promotion. He attended the University of Illinois and Columbia University.

Get Good Start For Retirement

Life doesn't stop offering new exciting experiences at age 21 or age 65. But you may need to develop new interests and decide on new routines if you are over 65. Mrs. June Sears, Home Extension Service in Wayne and Oakland counties.

Most people, young and old, are aware of certain characteristics of increasing age: Income tends to decline, the body begins to lose strength, house mortgages may be paid up and fixed payments, such as social security and insurance, end. Many durable goods are already purchased, and tax exemptions broaden.

These and many other considerations are a part of the new life of retirement. It is not necessarily less life—just different. And it requires different planning, the Home Economist emphasizes.

Perhaps, for the first time in your life, you will have more time on your hands than you've ever had before. Mrs. Sears suggests trying a daily or weekly time schedule in which certain hours of the day will be spent in specific ways.

If you are newly retired, such a schedule may help you avoid an aimless sort of existence, provide for some sort of variety and give you something to look forward to until you are accustomed to your new role.

Approaching retirement is a good time to take a new look at yourself, too. A bit of personal inventory may help you find some new interests in life. Retirement can mean time to pursue those special projects and hobbies you have been putting off for so many years.

Learn to enjoy the commonplace in life—observe a beautiful sunset or a small child at play, says Mrs. June Sears.

Don't let yourself become too dependent on your family for entertainment, but try to work out a life of your own. As far as you are able, prove that you are an asset to your community.

Keeping physically fit is the best way to insure many happy retirement years. Your doctor should be one in whom you have full confidence. Visit him regularly, advises Mrs. Sears. Even if you are feeling good. He may be able to dispel unfounded fears, or spot diseases early enough so that they can be cured or controlled.

Don't forget to look after your hearing and eyesight, too. If you are having trouble hearing, the Speech and Hearing Clinic at Michigan State University and the Michigan Association for Better Hearing, both in East Lansing, are important sources for information. The Department of Social Welfare's Services for the Blind is available if your eyesight is failing.

If corrective measures such as hearing aids and glasses are necessary, wear them with a sense of satisfaction that you are helping yourself.

Physical exercise, suited to the individual, and a good diet are also important to your well-being, points out Mrs. Sears.

You can improve your relations with other by developing both your conversational and listening abilities. Also learn to be generous and avoid self-pity.

Interest and affection for others is one of the best uses of your time and talent. It will also earn you much satisfaction and probably more consideration from others in the future. Try to make new friendships, as well as restore old ones.

Personally, don't let yourself down.

"You've accomplished a lot in your lifetime and you can still handle some responsibility," the Home Economist says. "You can keep on learning and you can always look your best."

"And just because you can't remember everything doesn't mean old-age is just around the corner. You have much more to remember than when you were young. Give yourself a little help and make some notes as reminders."

"Use the present to develop your own philosophy of life," she stresses. "It is essential to

Ford Complex at Rouge Draws 250,000 Annually

Orange rivers of molten iron, ribbon-like loops of sheet steel, towering mountains of raw materials — and the fascination of seeing thousands of car parts converging at a precisely determined time and place to produce a finished automobile.

This is the excitement that makes Ford Motor Company Rouge manufacturing area in Dearborn, Mich., a mecca for tourists the year 'round.

To nearly 250,000 people annually, the marvel of automobile manufacture is brought to life by a tour of the huge Ford complex on the banks of the Rouge River just 15 minutes from downtown Detroit.

The 1,200-acre Rouge was the first, and remains the only, industrial area encompassing every basic step in the automobile manufacturing process — from iron ore to operating vehicle.

The Rouge is the largest closely knit concentration of manufacturing and assembly operations in the world. It includes 229 coke ovens, three blast furnaces, a highly advanced basic oxygen steelmaking facility, steel rolling mills, one of the largest production foundries in the United States, an engine plant, a stamping plant, tool and die plants, a glass plant, and an assembly plant.

These and numerous other facilities make the Rouge one of the world's most popular industrial tourist attractions. Ambassadors, vice presidents, crown princes and Cub Scouts alike rate it as a highlight of visits to the Detroit area. Visitors from more than 100 foreign countries last year toured the Rouge.

During the tour of the steel operations, visitors see glowing ingots of steel being rolled into bars and sheets ready for fabrication ready for fabrication and, in the Dearborn Stamping Plant, watch as huge presses stamp out roofs, fenders and side panels.

The final assembly tour dramatizes how, through careful planning and split-second timing, parts and assemblies for all body styles converge on the assembly line at just the right moment to customize each Cougar or Mustang car. When a vehicle reaches the end of the 1,000-foot line, more than 15,000 parts have been assembled and the finished automobile is started and driven away under its own power — at the rate of one car every 53 seconds.

Tours leave the Ford Visitor Reception Center for the Rouge every half-hour from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., (last tour of final assembly leaves at 2 p.m.), Monday through Friday. The center is located in the East Concourse of the Ford Central Office Building, Michigan avenue and Southfield road in Dearborn, (at the intersection of U.S. 12 and Michigan 39). No admission is charged and there is ample parking. The tours last approximately two hours, including a bus tour of the Rouge grounds.

During model changeover (expected to begin about July 19), the final assembly line will be closed to visitors, but tours of the steel operations will continue. Exact dates and other information about group or individual tours may be obtained from the Special Events Department, Ford Motor Company, The American Road, Dearborn, Mich., 48121.

Business Note

The appointment of Harold G. Bay, Jr. as Group Copy Supervisor on the Pontiac account is announced by Ron Monchak, Vice President and Creative Director of the MacManus, John and Adams Bloomfield Hills office.

Bay comes to the agency from Young & Rubicam, Inc., Detroit, where he was a copywriter on the Simca, Rootes, Goebel Beer, McLouth Steel and Chrysler accounts as well as special projects. Previous to that he was a Copy Supervisor in the merchandising division of Campbell-Ewald Co., Detroit.

He has recently won recognition for ads he has written for a Detroit group of volunteers called MUST (Men United for Safe Thought). The ads spearhead the group's efforts to calm the hysteria mounting from rumors about another long, hot summer in Detroit. Suburban papers throughout the area are contributing space to run the ads as a public service. News of the campaign has spread across the country, being reported in newspapers from the West Coast to the Wall Street Journal. It is also being written up by LIFE magazine.

Bay is a graduate of the University of Michigan, where he received his bachelor's degree in psychology with majors in journalism and science. He is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and the University of Michigan's Alumni Club of Detroit. He resides in Grosse Pointe, with his wife and two children at 832 University place.

It's better to bend the knees than the elbows if you expect to solve the world's problems.

WHAT HAVE YOU been waiting for? Now that "the house" is on the market are you afraid you might just fall in love with this enchanting colonial, which snuggles comfortably in the embrace of mature trees and low plantings? Inside, this charmer is full of pleasant surprises... surprises... detailed as a beautifully furnished living room which opens into a family room, also with fireplace. The master bedroom has its own bathroom, then there is another bath for two other bedrooms. All in the Farm, and just a scout to Hill Shopping.

MAY WE BE a bit presumptuous in asking if you like to revel in the luxury of large rooms which have been masterfully decorated? lounge in your large bedroom or paneled library? Do you insist on the privacy of a completely secluded yard with heavy plantings? Must you have quarters for stay-in help or just the rooms which you know are there for visiting family and brood? If you can project yourself into this picture, then let us show you this new offering on Lakeland Avenue.

BY APPOINTMENT

DOWN COMES the price on this story and a half which has just been vacated and is ready for your furniture. Enjoy the convenience of sleeping on the first floor, yet have three more bedrooms upstairs for those who don't mind climbing. On Blossom Lane and ready to be picked off.

THERE'S NO FUNNER time than the summertime, so why not take advantage of your present opportunity to move into this house where the livin' is easy. And your daddy doesn't have to be rich to make the switch. Fish are jumpin' just a few blocks away at the Farms Pier Park, and if required, schools are even closer. The price of this three bedroom colonial with family room is only $38,900, so rush little baby won't you try!

IF YOU HAVE inquired around about what it costs to build a house today, then the price of this larger, Georgian colonial makes it even more tempting, to you who are contemplating making the move into your ultimate home. Majestically situated in one of the Shores' best locations, this truly a house for the family which demands the best of everything. Superb architectural detailing throughout with a houseful of carpeting and draperies included. Fireplaces number three on the first floor. Not a house to be looked over, but to be looked into.

PEAK of Perfection... is this newer five bedroom, story and a half offering in the Farms. Only a few blocks away from Hill Shopping and most schools. Party-sized family room and secluded party-sized backyard patio. This house has recently been completely redone, and the owner will move quickly to accommodate a buyer.

THE BEST of everything has gone into our Cape Cod or South Deeplands. Each of the four bedrooms is serviced by a bathroom. There are two enormous bedrooms on the first floor. The house has a generously proportioned living room and big library. Air conditioned throughout. Stop running around... this one begs you to sit down and cool your heels.

ONE OF THE FEW remaining lots with 100 feet frontage available in Grosse Pointe City. Located on a street of stately mansions.

Before joining Michigan Consolidated she served an apprenticeship with Columbia Gas of Ohio in Toledo.

Mrs. Young is a member of Alpha Chi Omega Sorority, Detroit Symphony Women's Association, Founders Society, Michigan and American Home Economics in Business.

Mrs. Young and her husband, Robert, live at 985 Nottingham road.

Herbert A. Lehrter, of 643 Lochmoor boulevard, vice-president and director of advertising for Hiram Walker Incorporated, Detroit, has been elected to the Board of Directors of the Audit Bureau of Circulation.

Mr. Lehrter, a veteran of 25 years in the advertising profession, directs all advertising programs for Hiram Walker, one of the largest international distillers in the world. Before joining his present firm in 1960, he directed advertising for a Chicago candy manufacturer, worked for an advertising agency, and gained advertising experience in the soap and oil industries. He was named a director of Hiram Walker Incorporated, and Hiram Walker Distributors Inc. of New York, in 1967.

Parke, Davis & Company has announced the election of Robert M. Surdam, president of the National Bank of Detroit, as a member of the pharmaceutical firm's Board of Directors. Surdam, 50, succeeds the late Arthur H. Buhl, Jr., on the 11-man Parke-Davis directorate.

Surdam, who has been president and a member of the Board of Directors of National Bank of Detroit since 1966, joined the bank in 1947 and was promoted to assistant cashier in 1948. He was appointed assistant vice president in 1951; vice president in 1954; and in 1958 was named officer in charge of the National Division. Doctors, Nurses Benefit By New 'Samaritan' Law

"The question of whether or not to give aid at the scene of an emergency has perplexed Michigan citizens for some time, but to none has it been more difficult than for doctors and nurses," said Frank J. Kelley, state Attorney-General. "While the layman who happens upon an accident can often do little more than summon aid, doctors and nurses are trained to act in such situations. Beyond this, they are faced with serious ethical and moral considerations in determining whether to treat a victim in an emergency."

Although it seems strange that doctors or nurses in the past would have hesitated to treat the injured or stricken, the fault was not with them, but with the law," Mr. Kelley continued.

"Until recently Michigan followed the rule of many of her sister states and held doctors and nurses liable for harm inflicted as a result of even the slightest negligence upon a patient treated in an emergency without his consent."

This law resulted in a great number of suits against doctors and nurses for negligence during emergency treatment," he said. "Inasmuch as the cause of the injury was often difficult to ascertain, a doctor, when sued, was required to prove that he acted correctly. The decision of the doctor or nurse made in an emergency might appear unwise to one who has several months to weigh the alternatives."

Victim Often Sues "Further, the victim often attempted to compensate for the heavy financial loss he incurred by suing the doctor, who presumably would be collectible, rather than his own insurance company, or another party who might not possess such financial resources. As a result, the doctor or nurse was reluctant to act, and understandably so."

"By legislative enactment, Michigan has sought to remedy this unfortunate situation. The new act, which applies only to treatment at the scene of an emergency, now absolves doctors and registered nurses from civil damages for acts or omissions during emergency treatment rendered in good faith where there was no pre-existing physician-patient or nurse-patient relationship."

"Liability remains, however, for acts or omissions which amount to gross negligence or willful and wanton misconduct, afforded the victim against conduct on the part of the physician or nurse which amounts to reckless disregard. At the same time, it removes the threats which previously faced the doctor and nurse and encourages competent medical treatment at the scene of the emergency."

Beautiful, as always . . . were Grosse Pointe's 1968 June brides, and handsome were their bridegrooms . . . Before the Second Summer Wedding Season (August), is upon us, we'd like to take a few moments to reminisce, recall a few highlights of the just-passed First Season's ceremonies . . .

Brothers . . . played an important part in this June's rites. Many were best men, including one twin, Clayton Brasington Burns, who stood beside Charles May Burns, III, when he claimed Anita Bernice Kelland as his bride in St. Michael's Episcopal Church . . .

Sentiment . . . and tradition were upheld by Beverly Ulbrich, who wore her mother's Chantilly lace wedding gown for her own marriage to John Connor in Our Saviour Lutheran Church . . .

Prize for this June's "most neighborly" wedding . . . is awarded to the Christ Church Cawley-Johnson rites: The bride is the former Deborah Peabody Johnson, daughter of the Charles Bissell Johnsons, Jr.; the bridegroom, Max Eugene Cawley, Jr., is the son of Commander Max Eugene Cawley USN and Mrs. Cawley—and BOTH families live in Rivard boulevard! . . .

Another wedding with a "family" touch . . . was that of Theresa Marie Brennan and David Leonard Klaasen. The Reverend Vincent Brennan officiated at his great-niece's marriage service in St. Clare de Montefalco Church . . .

Another uncle . . . this time on the bridegroom's side, officiated at a wedding in St. Clare's the evening before Miss Brennan became Mrs. Klaasen . . . The Reverend Patrick McCarroll came from his home in Toronto, Ont., to preside at rites uniting Karen Lee Beeby and Francis A. McCarroll . . .

And still ANOTHER uncle . . . the bride's this time, officiated at another wedding, that of Mary Michael Styles and Kenneth David Robertson, in St. Clare Church that same evening! . . . The Reverend James R. Murphy was the presiding clergyman . . .

Mothers of the bride . . . are excused a few tears on their daughter's wedding day, and if Mrs. Arthur W. Kleinschmit, Jr.'s eyes were wet when daughter Cherie Nan walked down the aisle of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church to become Mrs. Garry Alan Oldenburg, no one could possibly blame her—after all, Cherie was being married on the SAME DATE Mrs. Kleinschmit chose to speak her own marriage vows to Mr. Kleinschmit 28 years earlier . . . The date, June 22, is an Anniversary Occasion in the Oldenburg family, too. Garry's sister, Mrs. Harlan Nyhof, selected it for her wedding back in 1960 . . .

Sisters . . . like brothers, are much in evidence in wedding parties, serving as honor attendants and bridesmaids. Mrs. David DeJohn performed in the former capacity for her sister, Lydia Leacock, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert C. Leacock, of University place. Lydia chose to be married to Richard Kermit Hummel in the garden of the DeJohns' Northville home . . .

Who says . . . today's young women aren't as skilled in homemaking tasks as their mothers and grandmothers? Consider the case of Marcia Karen Bock, who sewed her own floor length white crepe wedding gown . . . And, if you're inclined to believe this bride is unique, consider that the five friends attending Marcia at her wedding to Peter Robert Hergenroether in Immanuel Lutheran Church EACH hand-fashioned a mint green crepe bridesmaid's dress and trimmed it with pink ribbon . . .

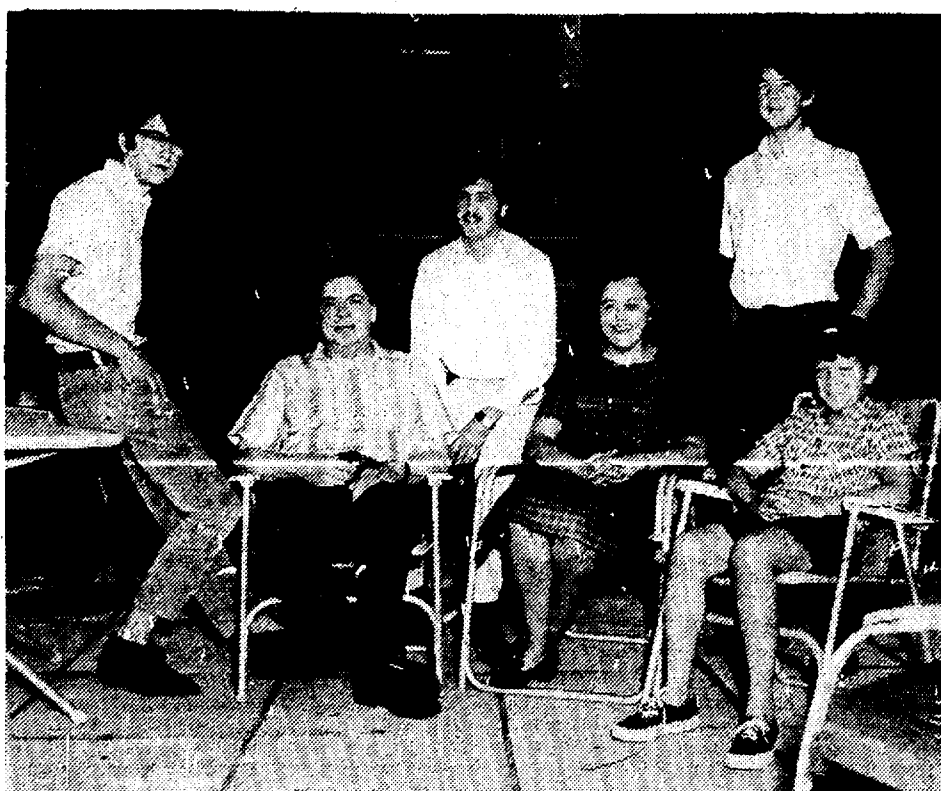

A charming way to travel . . . between Greenfield Village's Martha-Mary Chapel, where they spoke their wedding vows, and Topinka's Country House, where they greeted guests at a reception following the ceremony, was devised by Grosse Pointe High School teachers Nancy Kathleen Poff and Robert Lockwood Button who, with their entire wedding party, covered the distance via horse-drawn carriage . . .

The quaintest flower girls . . . of the Season were Estelle Castleman and Alexandra Chieff Tomson, attired in white pique midi frocks fashioned with lace ruffled sleeves, and matching long lace pantaloettes, at the wedding of their aunt, Mary Macauley, and Jon Francis Davis . . .

Heirlooms . . . are traditional wedding appurtenances in many families, including that of the former Ann Elizabeth Ware, who carried a handmade handkerchief, brought from Ireland by her mother's great-grandmother, during the service in First Unitarian Universalist Church, Detroit, at which she became Mrs. Louis Peter James . . .

Also following a family wedding tradition . . . were Sarah Barnes Luedders and John Robert Dawson, who knelt during their marriage service in Christ Church, Detroit, on a kneeling bench and satin cushion used by three generations of the bride's family.

By Janet Mueller

Once upon a time, the William R. Ludwigs' family room was just another family room. Nice, but nothing spectacular. The furniture was old, comfortable, deep, the kind boys like to sprawl across and the family dog, Chum, could jump up on and curl up for a nap without ever having to worry that someone might say, "Chum! Get DOWN from there!"

Then it became a zoo. The furniture is still old, comfortable, deep. Boys still sprawl across it, Chum still curls up wherever he pleases.

But a large cage, inhabited by furry Peruvian guinea pigs, stands in one corner. Across the room, Rick Ludwig's box constrictor dozes under his water pan; nearby, the box constrictor's "dinner"—he gets one mouse a week—sits in a small cage atop a medium-size cage holding a small, green snake . . .

"We haven't been able to find out anything about that snake other than that he is small and green—which we can see for ourselves," Dorothy Ludwig observes. She's watching a first-time visitor to the Ludwig Zoo's reaction, and her eyes are smiling. The first-time visitor is reacting as first-time visitors usually do, with round eyes and an open mouth.

Dorothy's used to such reactions. She's also used to the zoo. Bill Ludwig's watching, too. He obviously gets a kick out of seeing how people respond in a given situation. He obviously gets a kick out of people, period.

The more active the response, the better Bill likes it. He enjoys movement, participation, involvement; he likes to be doing things with and for people. And he's the sort of man who brings a Personal Touch to everything, he does.

Summer Santa Claus
Tomorrow, Bill Ludwig, president of the Detroit Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., will trade his business suit for a Summer Santa Claus outfit. Wearing Bermuda shorts and riding boots, a plaid shirt, white gloves and a Santa Claus hat and beard, he'll arrive via motorcycle at Easter Seal Day Camp headquarters: Smith House in Rouge Park, West Outer drive and Chicago boulevard.

There he'll distribute $1,000 worth of toys, donated annually by a Detroit Society Board member, at the Day Camp's traditional mid-season party. This will be his second year as Summer Santa Claus for the Detroit Society for Crippled Children and Adults in cooperation with the Detroit Department of Parks and Recreation.

"We've been simply handing out the toys for several years," he recalls, "and last summer I mentioned in a conversation that I thought this was rather a two years ago while attending Grosse Pointe High School as an American Field Service exchange student.

The Ludwigs will fly directly from Detroit to London and stay there for a few days before going on to Denmark. This travel plan is highly satisfactory as far as John Ludwig, 14, is concerned.

John, who begins ninth grade studies at Grosse Pointe High in the fall, is the first member of the Ludwig family to go abroad. When he was 13, John journeyed to England with the Christ Church Choir, studied at the Royal School of Church Music and toured a bit of the country. He wants to see London again.

John enjoys sailing, wood-working and, like his oldest brother, skiing. He's interested in electronics; he and Rick have just finished building a color television set.

Richard student David Ludwig, 9½, is a Cub Scout and a member of the Christ Church Choir. He went to the Huron Choir Camp last summer and is going again this year.

Bowls, Feeds Pigs
Bowling is one of David's favorite activities, and the care and feeding of the Ludwig guinea pigs is his special province.

Like his brothers, David will head eventually for Grosse Pointe High. "The High School" and Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, are two recurrent themes in the lives of the Ludwigs, individually and as a whole.

Bill and Dorothy are members of the Grosse Pointe High School American Field Service Chapter. Dorothy has just completed a term as president of the High School Mothers' Club. She's worked with the Christ Church Choir as long as her sons have been members, (with David not yet ten, she still has several "choir years" to go—fortunately, she thoroughly enjoys this volunteer activity).

Dorothy's also active in the Detroit Alumnae Association of Kappa Kappa Gamma, currently serving as the group's vice-president. And, in her "free" moments, she likes to sew.

Father Is Traveler
Bill Ludwig's position as Director of College Recruitment in the Midwest area for Touche, Ross, Bailey and Smart, an international firm of Certified Public Accountants, involves a good deal of travel plus constant contact with young men and new ideas.

Bill's hobbies include wood-working and gardening, (he raises dahlias), but most of his "outside interests," like his job, are people-oriented.

A Licensed Lay Reader for the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan, he preaches Sundays at Mariner's Inn.

He's Institutional Representative for Christ Church Boy Scout Troop 156 and a lay representative for the Lakeshore District Protestant Committee on Scouting.

Has Other Activities
He's a recent past-president of the Metropolitan Society for the Blind, a trustee on the Huron Choir Camp Committee and a member of the Public Relations Advisory Committee of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education.

And he's president of the Detroit Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., recently elected to his first term of serving out the term of a former president who died in office.

"We're an independent organization, supported solely by voluntary contributions and Easter Seals, not affiliated with the United Community Services or any way," Bill explains. The Society's Board, comprised of men and women from all parts of the Metropolitan Detroit area, meets quarterly at Society headquarters on Schaefer highway. The Board's Executive Committee meets more frequently, to attend to the business of physically running the facility, and Bill, as president, tries to get out to Society headquarters at least once a week.

Involved Through Rotary
Bill Ludwig became involved with the work of the Detroit Society for Crippled Children and Adults through Detroit Rotary. Rotary is dedicated to helping crippled children, and Bill served as chairman of the Detroit Club's Crippled Children's Committee.

"Several years ago," he recalls, "some Society members came to me and asked if I'd like to serve on the Society's Board. I said I'd be delighted."

"I've never regretted that decision. Working with the Detroit Society is a direct service opportunity; we Board members—and our Board is VERY active, SEE improvements as they are happening. . . ."

The Easter Seal Day Camp is just one facet of the Detroit Society's operations. At its headquarters, the Society operates year-round Physical and Occupational Therapy programs for handicapped patients of all ages, a Socialization program aimed at helping persons with handicaps adjust to themselves and their environments, a Social Service Department and Diagnostic and Evaluation Clinics.

Have New Program
"And in cooperation with another agency we are initiating a new program, the only clinic of its type in the country," Bill adds, "designed to provide complete diagnostic profiles of children with handicaps, ('Don't,' says Bill, 'call them 'handicapped children';) to evaluate and prescribe for each individual child's physical, mental, social and emotional requirements."

Bill's enthusiasm as he describes the work of the Society, the attitudes of its staff, volunteers, patients and parents, is obvious.

He's delighted to talk about the Society, more delighted to be actively involved in its operations. Not a figurehead president, he is by nature a doer rather than an observer.

It's not in the Ludwig character to stand still: Ludwigs are inclined to try to improve, even on a good thing.

They turned a perfectly adequate family room into a zoo—and today, it's a far more interesting place than it was before.

Mrs. Hubbard, now holding the top campaign post for women volunteers, announced Mrs. Peattie's appointment. "I am delighted and grateful Mrs. Peattie has accepted this
