PRESIDENT-ELECT Richard M. Nixon presented his all-Republican cabinet to the nation Wednesday night via television. The two top posts went to former Attorney General William P. Rogers as secretary of state and Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin as defense secretary. Included in the cabinet lineup were three businessmen, three governors, two lawyers, two educators, a lieutenant governor and one Congressman. There were no Democrats, Negroes, or women named.

MAYOR CAVANAGH and New Detroit Inc. are sponsoring a sweeping $367,000 study of the Detroit Police Department's crime-fighting techniques and management procedures which is slated to begin in January. Police Commissioner Johannes Spreen believes the study to be unnecessary. He believes his own ideas for upgrading the department will be effective and that a civilian study will hurt the morale of the department.

TALLULAH BANKHEAD died at 7:45 a.m. in the intensive care unit of St. Luke's Hospital in New York Thursday. Hospital spokesmen said cause of death was double pneumonia and respiratory failure complicated by emphysema. Death was perhaps hastened by the flu which is sweeping New York City. Miss Bankhead had been under periodic treatment at St. Luke's for emphysema, which was aggravated by the 108 cigarettes a day she was said to have smoked at various times during her life.

A PAN AMERICAN jetliner with 50 persons aboard was overdue in Caracas, Venezuela on a flight from New York Thursday night and a broadcast said it had fallen into the sea 15 miles off the Venezuelan coast. A search is being conducted.

THE MILITARY-DOMINATED government of Brazilian President Arthur da Costa e Silva, armed with sweeping new powers, began a massive crackdown on its opposition Saturday. Police began making widespread arrests. Congress was forced to recess and censors moved into the newspaper offices. Among the first to be arrested was former President Juscelino Kubitschek, who was stripped of his political rights and ousted from the Senate in 1964. Kubitschek was arrested at the municipal theater while attending a graduation ceremony.

Monday, December 16

PRESIDENT-ELECT RICHARD M. NIXON will retain 73-year-old J. Edgar Hoover as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, it was learned Sunday. By law, Hoover would have been required to retire in 1964 but President Johnson exempted him from mandatory retirement and said that Hoover would remain in his post "for an indefinite period of time." At that time Johnson told Hoover, "The nation cannot afford to lose you." Nixon has decided that Hoover, who will be 74 in January, should stay on at least for a time, because he is regarded by many Americans as a symbol of law enforcement.

TWO DETROIT-AREA congressmen, John Conyers-D, and William Broomfield-R will go to the Pentagon today and ask that they delay choosing sites near the city for Sentinel anti-ballistic missile (ABM) installations.

DESPITE SOME SCIENTISTS' concern, the space agency predicts that the Apollo 8 astronauts will be exposed to radiation no greater than the total equivalent of three chest X-rays when they fly around the moon at Christmas. Astronaut William A. Anders said that solar flares are erupting on the sun's surface and could spew radiation into space between earth and the moon but that it would take a very unusual flare to prevent or alter the mission.

A Merry, Merry Christmas to All!

Explaining the significance of candles of Christmas is MRS. BEA BAILEY, former English teacher at Parcels Middle School, who recently presented the students there with a program on the origin of Christmas customs and Christmas celebrations all over the world.

Mrs. Thomas Bailey Repeats Colorful Yuletide Program at Parcels Middle School

What theories explain the Star of Bethlehem? What celebrations took place before Christianity? What does mince pie symbolize?

Last week students in grades 6, 7, and 8 at Parcels Middle School had the opportunity to learn the answers to these, and countless other questions, by attending a special program on the origin of Christmas observances around the world.

Mrs. Thomas Bailey of Huntington road first gave the program two years ago when she was a member of the English teaching staff at Parcels. An experienced teacher, widely traveled, Mrs. Bailey has spent Christmas Eve and Christmas Day in many countries around the world collecting information on the customs of the season.

Mrs. Bailey presented the program illustrated with 250 colored slides in three parts: History of Christmas, Customs and Legends of Christmas, and Gift-Bringers.

During her presentation on "Santa Claus" or Gift-bringers around the world, Mrs. Bailey explained how adults impose a degree of fantasy and make-believe into the modern world by telling children that Santa sees them, by threatening bad behavior with the switch, black marks, coal in stockings.

In her explanation of how foreign elements of folklore, legend, and tradition have penetrated the United States, she recounted the St. Nicholas legend from Holland, stockings by (Continued on Page 3)

'Ty' Tyson, Radio Pioneer In Sports Broadcasting, Taken by Death at Age 80

Was First in World to Put Baseball and Football Games on Air; Spent 31 Years with Station WWJ Announcing and Directing

Funeral services for Edwin Lloyd (Ty) Tyson, of 815 Grand Marais boulevard, the nation's sports broadcasting pioneer, were held on Saturday, December 14, in St. Columbia Episcopal Church, Manistique and East Jefferson. He died in Cottage Hospital at the age of 80, on Thursday, December 12.

For some months he had been in Georgian East Nursing Home. He suffered from an arterial ailment for several years.

Mr. Tyson loved radio and was with one station, WWJ, for his entire 31 years in broadcasting. The last four years he was with the station he was assistant manager and sports director as well as a commentator.

He was the world's first sportscaster. On April 19, 1927, he handled the first regular baseball game ever broadcast, and became the first anywhere to air a full season. His opening game was at what then was called Navin Field (now Tiger Stadium), in which Detroit beat Cleveland, 8-5.

Three years earlier Mr. Tyson broadcast the first football game from old Ferry Field in Ann Arbor, the first broadcast of a Midwestern game, and

Beach to Hit Beaches, Thanks to His Students

Beach will hit the beaches courtesy of The Detroit News "My Favorite Teacher Contest" ... and the 33,014 votes he garnered from loving students! Richard Beach, Business Law and Management teacher at Grosse Pointe South High School has won a 10-day, all-expense paid trip for two to Hawaii as Regional runner-up in the contest.

South students inundated The News with votes for Mr. Beach, who has been teaching at South for 10 years. Not just Business Law either ... he's been teaching fellowship ... understanding ... love of man ... good citizenship and patience. When the NEWS talked to Mr. Beach he was still 10 feet off the ground ... not only because of the trip, (although he confessed that this was the only way he would have ever gotten to Hawaii), but because the students thought enough of him to vote for him.

The details of the trip haven't been worked out yet but tonight Mr. Beach and other winners will attend an awards dinner at the Statler to get the final information.

In the meantime students at Grosse Pointe South, who are so proud of their teacher, can now be equally proud of themselves for coming up with the trip for him! ... "Their Favorite Teacher."

WRENCHES STOLEN

Melvin W. Frederick of 305 Stephens, called Farms police on Thursday, December 12, to reveal that someone broke into his garage during the night, and stole a number of open end socket wrenches. Total loss was estimated at about $10.

George Flynn Still Listed As Missing

Disappearance in Northern Michigan Last November 15 Remains Mystery; No Clues Found

The mystery of the disappearance of well-known Pointer and owner of the Alger Party Store, 17320 Mack, George Flynn, 60, continues. City police told the NEWS that no new information has been uncovered regarding Mr. Flynn's disappearance.

He left his residence at 888 St. Clair on Friday, November 15, ostensibly to collect a debt from Leonard Spanick, of Oscoda, Mich. However, when he telephoned his wife later that day he told her he had been unable to contact Spanick.

Mr. Flynn checked into an Oscoda motel, telephoned his wife and then left there in his car. At the Singing Bridge Grocery his car developed trouble and he left it there. He then walked to Taylor's Cottages, south of the Singing Bridge and registered. He stayed there about 10 minutes then headed back to the grocery. He has not been seen or heard from since.

City police, who were sent up to the area to check for information on his disappearance brought the car back to The Pointe.

The Sheriff's Department, the State Police and City of Grosse Pointe police are conducting exhaustive investigations into this mysterious disappearance but as yet no new information has been uncovered.

Mr. Flynn has been reportedly in poor health in recent months.

Warning Issued To Yule Vandals

As in past years City Police have begun receiving calls reporting the theft or damage of outdoor Christmas decorations. Thomas Cole, 701 University reported the theft of some 50 Christmas lights from his outdoor display on Sunday, December 15.

City Police Chief Andrew C. Teetart told the NEWS that he will not tolerate this thievery and vandalism. He added that any juveniles caught stealing or damaging outdoor displays will be turned over to juvenile authorities, and any minor will be tried in the City Court.

WINDOW SMASHED

F. J. McIntyre of 302 Merriweather, phoned Farms police and disclosed that a vandal broke out a four-by-four-inch window of his garage. No entry was made into the garage, he said. This occurred on Friday, December 13.

New Plan Adopted To Insure Safety For Kerby Pupils

Solons Rescind Order for Moross-Beaupre Traffic Light; Controlled Signal Okayed for Kercheval Intersection

The Farms council on Monday, December 16, decided to rescind its proposed request to the Wayne County Road Commission, to install a traffic light signal at the Moross-Beaupre intersection, as a means to permit Kerby School students to cross safely to and from school. The council decision was a compromise move, when residents of that area presented a petition protesting the action.

The petition, bearing 37 signatures, stated that the residents opposed a traffic signal at their intersection because it would tend to create too much noise and fumes, generated by vehicular traffic, as cars stop and go. Also, it was pointed out, a light at the intersection could cause accidents.

At a meeting held on December 2, the solons approved the installation of a traffic signal at the Moross-Beaupre intersection, designated a route to Kerby School for the approximately 28 pupils affected, and authorized the erection of a solid metal railing, as opposed to a chain railing, on Moross in front of St. Paul Cemetery. They took this action, rather than hire an adult school crossing guard to replace Safety Patrol boys stationed at the Moross-Kercheval intersection.

Too Young for Job
The boys, fifth graders, are considered too young to be trusted with the safety of crossing children.

Kerby Principal Custer Homeier, and Arthur Gibson, AAA manager of Highway and Traffic Engineering, are both of the opinion that the patrol boys are too young for the job, and recommended that the Farms hire a crossing guard. The principal had extended the boys' duty three times, hoping a guard would be appointed.

At Monday night's meeting, Mrs. Edward E. Donaldson, who was spokesman for the Kerby parents at the previous meeting, and who spoke in their behalf again, informed the council that Mr. Homeier stated in a letter that he intended to relieve the safety patrol boys of crossing duty at Moross and Kercheval, regardless of what the city fathers should decide.

Also, at Monday night's session, Farms Police Sgt. Ignatious Backman, who lives in Moross road, close to the Beaupre intersection, and who spoke for the opposing residents, said that he was not a traffic expert, but he was of the opinion that the erection of a light at Moross and Beaupre, would tend to cause accidents.

Only One Accident
He said that he had checked traffic records back as far as five years, and found that in all that time, only one accident occurred in that area, and that this was about three of four years ago, when a boy ran out into the street and into the side of a moving car.

Backman pointed out that this did not happen at the intersection, but further away. However, if a light is installed, serious accidents might occur, he said.

Woods Irked over Hassle With State Highway Boys

The Woods Council, on Monday, December 16, voted to request of Acting District Traffic and Safety Engineer, W. B. Washington, of the Michigan Department of State Highways, an explanation of their latest antics.

Somewhere back in May, City Administrator Chester E. Petersen and several Council members met with the district engineer regarding the installation of a traffic signal on Vernier road at the point of ingress and egress to Grosse Pointe North High School. At that time the district engineer indicated that there was no problem.

The Council then on May 9, adopted the necessary resolution. They were assured that the light, which was to be a semi-actuated type with the detector located beneath the

Yule Parties Can Lead to Big Trouble

Supervise and Chaperone Activities of Young Is Warning Issued by Law Enforcers

Supervise and chaperone. Almost to a man, law enforcement officials of the five Grosse Pointes gave that advice to parents of teenagers planning to either host or attend parties during the approaching holiday season.

An apparent sharp increase in illegal drug use by teenagers in Detroit's more affluent suburban communities has been heavily publicized in recent weeks, but the problem of under-age drinking is at least as serious as it ever was, according to the officials surveyed.

"Drinking by youngsters has always been a problem around the holidays," said Chief Thomas Cochill, Grosse Pointe Shores police. There are a number of reasons, including the fact that many of the young people have been away at school for several months and besides the natural break in their studies, they are meeting old friends again.

Avoid Complacency

"It's a natural occasion for celebration and at least a moderate loss of inhibitions," Cochill added. "If I were speaking to parents, I would advise them not to be too complacent concerning the ability of their son or daughter to stay out of trouble and away from drugs and alcohol. It doesn't always happen to someone else's children."

Cochill suggested that chaperoning or supervising of teenage parties can be done "unobtrusively" and "certainly should be done in such a way as not to embarrass the kids."

"However, the important point in my opinion is supervising the ingredients that go into making up a party, where it is, who is going, who the parents are, and so forth."

"Without intending to downgrade the importance of alcohol as a problem," said Cochill, "because we all know the effects of its immoderate use, one of the biggest hazards of underage drinking is that it might and can lead to experimentation with drugs."

Follow Their Parents

Park Public Safety Director William Ellenburg said that his department usually observes an increase in the incidence of under-age drinking at this time each year.

"It seems to accompany the traditional increase in drinking by adults," he said. "Besides seeing that their youngsters' parties are properly chaperoned, it would help if parents governed their own conduct at any parties they might give or attend."

"There is no such thing as a little drinking where it concerns persons under 21," said Ellenburg.

Detective Martin Trombley, Grosse Pointe Woods youth officer, said that "If parents allow minors to drink at home during the Christmas season, it is my contention that if these children leave the home, parents are very much responsible for the actions of these individuals."

Parents Are Liable
"Consequently, if there are accidents, for example, or something occurs in which someone is injured as a result of the youngster's drinking, the parents are liable and can easily be charged with contributing to the delinquency of the minor."

Trombley also reminded parents of Michigan's "implied consent" law, which provides that any driver stopped for a violation who is suspected of drinking must submit to a test for alcohol or face the penalty of having his or her license suspended for 90 days. If the driver agrees to the test and it turns out positive, that is, he is found to be intoxicated, he can be charged with drunk driving and, if convicted, will have his license automatically revoked for up to a year.

"The law applies to everyone," said Trombley, "but in the case of juveniles — persons under 17 — a petition is filed in Wayne County Juvenile Court and their case is heard through the court."

Adopt Kerby Safety Plan

Charles Manos, who also lives in Moross road, and who is a close neighbor of Backman, charged that the proposed traffic signal plan approved at the last council meeting, was not a credit to the administration, and that it was only "a make-do" solution.

Backman said that he made an independent survey and that his findings showed that there are not enough Kerby pupils crossing at this intersection to warrant a traffic signal.

Accepts Challenge
Councilman Mark Stevens challenged Backman, and the opposing residents present, to offer a solution to the problem, whereupon, Backman proposed that a control signal light be regulated at Moross and Kercheval, rather than the present light, and that "Walk" and "Don't Walk" neon light signs be placed at all four corners. Since the light will control traffic on Moross a county thoroughfare, it will be in continuous controlled operation, rather than only during school hours.

Stopped vehicular traffic will be halted an extra 10 seconds, as the light in the opposite direction changes to red. During this period, traffic will be stopped in both directions, which would give anyone an opportunity to cross before the green

The council approved of the suggestion, with Mrs. Donaldson expressing the opinion that she, and the parents of the other students involved, she believed, favor such a move, since this appears to be a feasible solution.

Suggestion Approved

The council moved to adopt this solution, after a motion was made to rescind the plan adopted at the December 6 meeting, and authorized City Manager Andrew Bremer, Jr., to contact the County Road Commission, and request that a controlled device be installed, with the neon signs.

The council approved Councilman James Dingeman's suggestion that Gibson be asked for an opinion on this plan. The county is being asked to install the light at the Moross-Beaupre intersection with the Farms paying the complete cost. The solons authorized the city manager to appropriate the necessary funds to pay for the alternate plan.

Bremer was also requested to investigate the possibility of widening the sidewalk on the Moross side of the St. Paul Cemetery.

It was suggested that he contact the pastor of St. Paul Catholic Church, in Lake Shore road, to determine if the church would allow the removal of about two or three feet of cemetery land, for the proposed widening. It was pointed out that some of the graves might extend outside the present fence enclosure, and any digging might disturb the last resting places of those buried there.

Snow Removal Problem

Contacting the pastor was suggested because once the metal railing is installed, a snow plow will be unable to clear the sidewalk, since the space would be too narrow to permit this service. Otherwise, as Bremer said, if the widening is not done, any snow will have to be removed with shovels.

Allen F. Cullen, a Lakeview resident, who has a son attending Kerby School, said that he was not opposed to the suggested safety measures, as long as his boy gets to and from school safely. Also, he said, if the measures go through, he will see that his son adheres to the regulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson, who have two children attending the school, said they were satisfied with the arrangements, and that they, too, will see that their boys obey the rules.

Safety Route Remains

Mayor William Butler suggested that the school route for the children affected not be changed, and that parents educate their offspring pertaining to this.

The route is this: the eight children residing in the quadrant east of Moross and the lake side of Kercheval, cross Moross parallel to Kercheval

Big Trouble

Trombley said that in his opinion, if a parent learns that his child has become intoxicated or is using drugs, "he is doing the community, himself and the victim a great injustice by not reporting it to the authorities."

"It's an old story, but it's a valid one — when you see trouble, call the police."

Chief Andrew Teetaert, of Grosse Pointe, was also stern in his approach to the use of alcohol by teenagers.

"Any party involving minors drinking or drugs, we are going to deal with to the full extent of prosecution," he said. "We will break up any party reported which involves minors drinking."

"Actually, I can't say where the holidays create any more serious problem with drinking by teenagers. The so-called 'pot parties,' however have been on the increase in the past six months."

"Nobody likes to see their child get into trouble," said Teetaert, "but I think that with a little sterner attitude on the part of the parents we could eliminate a lot of these problems. There has got to be co-operation between parents and police, and the kids and the courts."

"Unfortunately, we find that parents seem to be closing their eyes to drinking by under-age young people."

Chief Jack F. Roh, of Grosse Pointe Farms, said that his department is making an effort to remind licensed beverage dealers in the area to be "especially careful in checking identification of young people making purchase of alcoholic beverages during the Christmas season."

His department, he said, will be especially watchful for parties where illegal drinking or drugs may be involved. In addition, said Roh, he suggested that parents at home take every precaution to insure the children are supervised by responsible adults.

Parents Should Check
"Parents should coordinate the parties, in a sense," said Roh. "In other words, check with each other the fact that their sons and daughters are either having or attending parties and that adults will be present or nearby."

"The Christmas season is a happy one and should be," said Roh. "But we enforce the law 365 days a year and there will be no slackening of the enforcement in the area of drinking and drug use violations."

the chimney from Turkey, and elves from Scandinavia.

"Each country adopts and adapts a tradition or legend to fit its own geography, climate and customs," Mrs. Bailey explained.

"For example, the Magi bring gifts in Spain, La Befana comes in Italy, and Santa comes in a boat to Greece," she said.

Students received copies of materials to further study. These included a sheet indicating how to say "Merry Christmas" in 33 languages around the world.

The materials used with the children also include a pre-test with a wide range of items (George Handel wrote: 1. The Messiah, 2. My Fair Lady). A copy of the story "Is There a Santa Claus?" by Francis P. Church, pages of how the season is observed throughout the world, the derivation of many holiday terms used in the United States, and a study guide.

The English Department and the sixth grade teachers planned follow-up projects after the auditorium presentation, an example of how large group instruction in the Middle School may be utilized, with staff members providing in depth explanations to small groups of children in their own classrooms.

Among the fascinating information discussed by Mrs. Bailey were: CHRISTMAS CARDS, which seem to have originated with Christmas letters young boys in boarding schools sent to parents to remind them of the Yule season, complete with colorful sketches, etchings, and finally engravings. It is said that 1840 was the traditional date for the first card, designed by a 16-year-old boy named William Egley. Another authority says Sir Henry Cole printed the first commercial card in 1846. In 1868 Goodall and Son, an English firm, printed several different cards, among them Little Red Riding Hood, a hermit, a snow scene and several personalized Christmas cars

Silly idea? Well, we wouldn't suggest having a special car just for the Holiday Season... but why shouldn't you have a car that expresses your personality year 'round? A bit jaunty? Conservatively stylish? Solid, substantial citizen? Youthful yet not outright childish? No matter... we think that among our three outstanding lines of fine imports, you'll find the car that suits you... with a capital YOU! Volkswagen. BMW. Mercedes-Benz. Each one of them a car that is different... but not just for the sake of difference. For the sake of value, yes. For the sake of style, yes. For the sake of durability, reliability, comfort, convenience... yes, yes, yes. The point is that Wood cars have personality... that's why they suit men and women with personality. So come in and let us personalize a Christmas car for you. Make this a really Happy New Year.

percent. This meant that the Woods' share of the cost would come to $1,418. A special meeting of the Council was called to expedite matters and approve the contract. The necessary forms and purchase order for the city's share of the cost were mailed immediately.

On December 5, Mr. Petersen received a letter from Mr. Washington, which completely ignored previous communications and discussions. The letter indicated that the State Highway Department would pay only 50 percent of the cost and the city was to pay 50 percent. This means that the Woods' share now would be amount to $3,221. The total cost of the light was now $6,442.

No mention was made as to why the change of the portion the State Department of Highways had agreed to pay, and no explanation of the increase in cost of the installation.

The Woods Council wants an explanation. Although they are able to understand the increase in cost of the installation, the change in what the Department was willing to pay must be explained before the Council will consider action.

Mr. Petersen told the NEWS that there has already been one pedestrian accident at the location and although it was a minor one the city cannot tolerate any further delay.

peat the command to drop the bag, before the man complied.

The Woods policemen and the two from Harper Woods entered the shop through the broken front window, and took Clay into custody. The gun was confiscated.

Had 39 Cartridges
In the search of Clay's person, Sabel said he found 39 cartridges for his .32 caliber revolver. The bag contained, besides the crow bar, a hatchet, a keyhole saw, and a ratchet and an expansion drill.

It was revealed that Clay, who had been paroled from Jackson Prison on August 1, has a criminal record dating back to 1940. He had served six and one half years of a 7 1/2-15-year term for attempted assault with intent to commit robbery armed, when he was paroled.

Clay was arraigned before Woods Municipal Judge Don J. Goodrow later that morning, on a charge of breaking and entering of a business place with intent to commit larceny, and a second charge, possession of burglary tools.

Couldn't Post Bond
He was advised by the court to stand mute, and a plea of innocent was entered for him. Judge Goodrow remanded Clay to the custody of the Wayne County Sheriff's Office, when the accused man could not post bond of $10,000.

The judge set examination for yesterday, December 18.
Clay's parole officer, John C. Barber, of the Michigan State Parole Office, placed a hold on the man.

Marine David Robb Serves in Vietnam

Marine David B. Robb, son of Mrs. Jean Robb, of 627 Neff road is celebrating Christmas in Vietnam this year as a member of the First Marine Division.

Since 1966, First Division Marines have been serving in Vietnam during the Christmas holidays. Their mission then was the same as it is now: train the South Vietnamese armed forces, conduct operations against the communist guerrilla infrastructure and help the people of South Vietnam build a strong, democratic nation.

While Americans are giving thanks for the blessings of the ebbing year, more than 25,000 men of the First Marine Division will be standing guard, conducting patrols and engaging the enemy, bringing the people of South Vietnam one step closer to realizing the true meaning of Christ's birth: "Peace on earth, good will toward men."

Four Scouts Attain Eagle Rank

Four scouts of Boy Scout Troop 156 attained the coveted Eagle Rank at a Court of Honor held on December 3, at Christ Church in Grosse Pointe Farms. Proudly inspecting one of the Eagle Badges is the Scoutmaster LESLIE MARHOFF. The Eagle Scouts are: from left, R. F. LEE GREENING, JEFFERY D. EVANS, DAVID M. MORGAN and CHARLES M. JOHNSON. Troop 156 has been in existence since 1931 and has averaged less than one Eagle per year in those 37 years. Initiation of four Eagles was a significant event in itself.

Sp4 Frank J. Nazar Given Bronze Star

DUC HOA, Vietnam (4th Sig Bn. 10)—Sp4 Frank Nazar, 21, risked his life under enemy fire to help a wounded comrade. For his valorous action, he has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal with "V" device.

Nazar, first cook of Company D, 44th Signal Battalion, distinguished himself during the early hours of June 6 when an enemy rocket and mortar attack was launched against Pohl Compound.

During the initial firing a fellow soldier was wounded. Nazar exposing himself to continued heavy firing with a medic rushed to the aid of their fallen comrade and carried the wounded man across an open area to the dispensary.

Nazar had been in Vietnam exactly two months when he performed his heroic act.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Nazar of Grosse Pointe Park. His wife, Dorothy Jean, lives with her parents.

Troop 156 Holds Court of Honor

Four scouts of Troop 156, which is sponsored by Christ Church, attained the coveted rank of Eagle Scout at a Court of Honor held on December 3rd in the Undercroft at Christ Church. Jeffery D. Evans, R. F. Greening, Charles M. Johnson and David M. Morgan all received scouting's highest award.

Many other advancement and merit awards were presented at the Court by Scoutmaster Leslie Marhoff and Assistant Scoutmaster Ernie Grevenmeyer. Mike Baker became a Life Scout and Randy Barker and Al Hillebrand achieved Star rank. First Class rank was reached by Craig Cox, Charles Greifenstein, Bruce Burton and Tony Hall. Two scouts made Second Class, Jim Curto and Tim Lock; while seven were initiated into scouting receiving the Tenderfoot Rank in a special investiture ceremony. They were: Mark Grimes, Charles Sullivan, Jan Allen, Lee Cox, Don Brower, Horace Allen and Bob White.

Troop 156 is planning a special recognition dinner at Christ Church on Friday February 14, to honor all former and present Scoutmasters and Eagle Scouts that have served the troop. Troop 156 has been in existence since 1931 and an attempt is being made to locate all former scoutmasters and Eagles. Any one knowing of any such men is asked to contact Charles Johnson (882-1537) or Ernie Baker (885-5127) who are co-chairmen planning the event.

ROASTING A TURKEY BY LEN AT VERBRUGGE'S

Wash the turkey well inside and out with cold water, dry thoroughly, rub inside with salt. Have your stuffing ready and fill the cavities lightly. Never pack in the stuffing, as it needs room to swell a bit.

"... We used to sew up the bird with a big darning needle and heavy linen thread, but nowadays, I use skewers thrust from one side of the opening to the other and criss-cross thin string across the ends of the skewers. Then it is easy to pull out the string and skewers after roasting..."

Tie up the legs close to the sides.

Cover the bird generously all over with soft butter, then sprinkle the butter with salt and pepper.

Place in the roasting pan breast up (no need to turn it).

Put 1/4 pound butter in the pan and baste occasionally with the butter and dripping from the bird.

When done, remove from pan to a platter and remove the skewers and string.

Keep warm.

Make gravy from the pan drippings.

All Pointe Children Bid To Yule Party at Center

Santa will visit with all Grosse Pointe children and through his helpers, members of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Youth Council, give out candy canes and serve all youngsters cocoa and cookies in the Christmas Wonderland of Fries Ballroom Sunday afternoon, December 22, from 2 to 4:30.

Also during the afternoon, there will be two Christmas performances for children presented in the Auditorium, one at 2 o'clock, the other at 3:30. A traditional Punch and Judy Christmas show will be staged by Ellen Proctor of the Theatre Division of the eDroit Art Institute.

The show will include a merry holiday ghost who plays hide and seek with Punch, a puppy dog, a baby who looks just like Punch and, of course, Santa himself. In keeping with the season of peace on earth, all violence has been removed from the script.

Following the puppet show, the Center's Grosse Pointe Children's Theatre will give a performance of a short one act play, "Lillies of Bethlehem," written and directed by the head of the Children's Theatre, Mrs. Sydney Reynolds. This is the story of a little lame shepherd boy who is forced to linger behind and, because he does, he sees the Christ Child.

Tickets for each performance are just 50c. They should be picked up in advance if possible because seating is limited to 500.

Youths Facing Robbery Charge

Two Grosse Pointe Park youths were apprehended after robbing a gasoline station on Mack near Hereford in Detroit on Monday, December 9. The pair, John J. Scherer, 18, of 1115 Audubon, and David E. Kristufek, 18, of 1268 Whittier, entered the Clark Station around 11:25 p.m. and robbed Ronald Rupard, the attendant.

Rupard immediately ran across Mack avenue and stopped a patrolling City of Grosse Pointe police car. He told officers what had happened and that the pair was headed toward the Expressway on Hereford.

The officers gave chase but lost the car at Seven Mile and Harper in heavy traffic. They immediately sent out a radio alert and just four minutes later the pair was spotted by Woods Patrolman William Lentz. Lentz saw the car traveling east on Bournemouth and gave chase.

The pair turned down Seven, into a driveway and turned off their lights and motor. Lentz spotted them and they then started to back out of the driveway crossing up over lawns at 1955 and 1961 Seven. Their car fishtailed and Lentz, who was pursuing them hit them broadside. He then apprehended the youths.

City police, with the attendant, drove immediately to the scene where Rupard identified the pair. They were then taken to the Woods police station. Scherer was arraigned before Judge Don J. Goodrow on the

Chorale Taking European Trip

Nancy McGraw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doonon Dwight McGraw, of Briarcliff drive, has been selected to be a member of the "Youth for Understanding Chorale," a group of high school students from Michigan and Ohio, who will travel to Europe for eight weeks this summer.

Nancy, a first alto, was selected on the basis of her music skill, extra curricular activities, general grades, and upon the recommendations of Leonard Riccinto, music director of Grosse Pointe South High School, her counselor and her minister.

The audition itself was conducted at Ann Arbor High School before Robert Pratt, conductor of the Chorale. Nancy says, "The audition was 20 minutes long and we warmed up with a five tone scale, then intervals and scales with the piano, and finally we had to sight read a song."

The Chorale is made up of 57 seniors and 13 juniors from Michigan and Rosford, O. The group will visit Denmark, Sweden, Finland, Norway, Germany, Russia and Yugoslavia. They will also pair off in smaller groups to do folk singing. Fred Stout will accompany them on the organ and guitar.

While on tour, the students will live with families in major cities. They leave the third week in June.

Prior to leaving for their tour the group will practice every Saturday at Ann Arbor High School and give a few concerts in Michigan.

Christmas Eve Service Slated

The Christmas subject will be featured in two special Christmas Eve worship services at St. Paul Ev. Lutheran Church, Chalfonte and Lothrop on Christmas Eve at 6:30 p.m. and 11.

The children of the Sunday School will present their program next Sunday evening at 6:30. A Christmas Cantata will be featured at the 11 o'clock service next Sunday morning. The two choirs will do the Cantata "A Babe Is Born." A regular worship service will also be held at 8:30 a.m.

Christmas practice for young people of the Sunday School will be held on Saturday at 10 a.m.

Two Policemen Win Promotions

Park Director of Public Safety William Ellenburg announced the promotion of two members of the Park Police Department, which became effective on Thursday, December 12.

Henry Counce was elevated from the rank of sergeant to lieutenant, and placed in command of the Uniform Division and Walter Paton was promoted from patrolman to corporal.

Counce and Paton were high scorers in both written and oral examinations, in keep competition with other departmental members who sought the posts. The promotional tests were conducted by the Michigan Municipal League.

Counce, 40, is a native of Danville, Ill. He was appointed to the department on September 2, 1952, from patrolman first class to corporal on March 28, 1960, and made sergeant on March 1, 1963.

He was attending Eastern High School in Detroit, when on his 17th birthday, in 1945, he left and enlisted in the United States Marine Corps. He was honorably discharged with the rating of corporal in October 1947, and promptly enrolled at Denby High School to complete his high school credits. He graduated in 1949.

After working for two years in private industry, Counce applied for a job as patrolman in the Park.

The new lieutenant is married to the former Jeannine Mack of Detroit, and the couple live at 1450 Korte, Detroit. They are the parents of a son, Fred, 17, a senior at St. Ambrose High School.

When Counce joined the force, he took his major training at the Detroit Police Academy. He is a graduate of several police schools, where training of police officers were offered. He was one of the Park's first motorcycle policemen, when the Park purchased a two-wheeler in 1956, to step up traffic enforcement. He took his training in this at the Detroit Police Motorcycle School.

Paton, 29, lives at 1236 Philip, Detroit, with his wife, the former Constance Kawala of Utica, Mich., and their two children, Kathy, 4; and Kimberly, 3. Mrs. Paton is expecting a third child within a few weeks.

The new corporal is a native of Detroit, and is a 1957 graduate of East Detroit High School.

He was appointed to the force on March 20, 1961, and was assigned to the Detective Bureau this year, where he served until his elevation to corporal.

He is a graduate of the Police Officers Basic Training School. He successfully completed a course "The Police Officer and the Law" taught at Wayne State University, and a course "Crime and Narcotics," also at the University.

The corporal is a veteran of the United States Navy, serving from 1958 through 1960, after which he was honorably discharged with the rating of machinist mate, second class.

Counce and Paton were congratulated on their promotions by Director Ellenburg, City Manager Robert Slone, and Mayor Matthew Patterson, who pinned the new badges on the two men.

St. Clare's First Board Of Education

The St. Clare of Montefalco Parish recently organized its first Board of Education. This Board is a representative body, the purpose of which is to consider and develop matters of parish educational policies, and to act in an advisory capacity to the pastor. The parish school, the religion classes for children attending the public schools, and adult education classes will be the subjects of the Board's concern. Although initially an appointed body, provisions are being made for the democratic election of future members by all the parish-of an exciting new educational program at the Grosse Pointe University School. Entitled "Four Days in December," the program has featured the suspension of regular classes (with a few exceptions) for grades 9-12, and the substitution of approximately 30 new course offerings. The normal schedule of eight 40-minute class periods has also been revised so that the program may have the added advantage of six one-hour periods. Faculty and students have demonstrated enthusiasm, originality, and ingenuity throughout this innovative week.

The idea for "Four Days in December" originated in the Student Council, where students expressed the hope that some sort of stimulating educational experiences outside of the regular curriculum might take place immediately following the December examinations, which are taken the second week in December. The faculty agreed to the suggestion, and a faculty committee spent many long hours preparing a brand new curriculum to operate for the four days prior to the Christmas holidays. The committee produced a catalogue of new courses, symposiums, and field trips to appeal to all high school levels. At the same time it was felt that certain regular courses, particularly those in foreign languages, needed to meet during this week, and so in order to meet this demand, the foreign language classes were included in the new curriculum.

A sampling of the new courses and their descriptions: Poverty in Contemporary America, a study of the extent of poverty and the varying explanations or ideologies that have been advanced to rationalize its existence; Contemporary Lyrics, a study of selected songs of the Beatles, Simon and Garfunkel, Bob Dylan, and one or two others, as examples of modern poetry; Dangerous Parallels, an educational game (simulation) designed to place the student in a decision-making role, in this case the Korean War, 1950-53; Contemporary Problems, a presentation of problem situations focusing on ethical dilemmas, including drug and alcohol use, student power; Probability, an introduction to a branch of mathematics which is used in many fields, such as science, insurance, and games; Medicine as a Career, a preliminary discussion designed primarily for those students interested in a pre-medical course of study in college.

Several trips have also taken place in association with specific courses. A large group of students attended the motion picture "2001, A Space Odyssey" on Wednesday. In connection with an Art offering, 15 students journeyed to the Toledo Art Museum to see a special showing of pottery as well as that Museum's excellent permanent collection. A course in Genealogy has provided a trip to the Burton Historical Society. And a group of interested Spanish students lunched at the Acapulco Restaurant, sampling the fine Mexican and Spanish food and conversing with the Spanish speaking employees.

The immediate result of "Four Days in December," which was evident each day and continued as the program concluded, has been the enthusiastic response of both students and faculty. Students have enjoyed more free time to read and to work on independent projects (they were allowed one period out of five for such independent work), and faculty members have been able to participate outside of their own particular departments. Grades and assignments have been suspended for the duration of the program, and this has provided real incentive for students to delve into areas which interest them, unpressured by the routine demands on their time.

St. Paul Cagers Stay Undefeated

St. Paul's varsity basketball team has a winning combination this year and remains undefeated after four games. Entering their third game against St. Anthony's on December 10, with a 2-0 record, the cagers weren't about to accept defeat.

With only a 10-point margin at halftime (33-23) the team went on to widen the gap and finish the game 77-44. All team members were able to take part in the romp but Mike Corcoran led in points with 17. He was followed by Tim Bingham with 12 and Jim Martin with 10. In the following game on December 13 the Lakers took an undefeated East Catholic and handed it its first loss.

Memorial Center Skiers' Junkets Cover Big Area
This Friday afternoon December 20, weather permitting, Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Ski Club teens will head for Mt. Holly. There will be three bus loads.
Rain washed out the original schedule last week. This Friday, Junior Youth Council was scheduled to go to Alpine Valley but their bus will now join the caravan to more distant Mt. Holly. The caravan will leave promptly at 4 o'clock returning at 11 o'clock.
Christmas night, December 25, the Ski Hi group going to Vail, Col., will leave from Metropolitan Airport for 10 days skiing in the Rocky Mountains. One or two places are still open for this magnificent trip by jet to one of the world's choicest ski areas, where they will be housed at the Holiday Inn.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank McBride are in charge of the trip which is $199 plus meals and towels.
Just six places remain open for the Ski Hi five-day trip to Boyne Country leaving Thursday, December 26, at 3 o'clock for the Wolverine Sport Camp Lodges. Transportation, chaperonage, lodging and meals are included for $42. Tows are extra and the War Memorial's Board has decided to make trip insurance mandatory for all high school skiers.

Grosse Pointe South JV Cagers Drop First 3 Games
The Grosse Pointe South reserve basketball team got off to a rough start this past week by losing three close games to Dearborn, Wyandotte, and East Detroit.
Against Dearborn on December 8 to squad dropped a 68-58 decision. The game was close most of the way until Dearborn broke a 51-51 tie and surged ahead in the fourth quarter.
The Blue Devils lost a heart-breaker to Wyandotte last Friday night, 57-56. Paul Shirar put Grosse Pointe ahead on a free throw, 56-55, with only 25 seconds left in the game. The Bears, however, came right back to score a basket and go ahead with only 10 seconds remaining. The Devils then narrowly missed a victory as they brought the ball back down the court and missed a lay-up as the buzzer sounded.
The J.V.s lost again the following night to East Detroit, 63-54.

Scuba and Skin Diving Offered

Scuba Diving will be one of the exciting courses offered by the Department of Community Services during the winter semester. Beginning Tuesday, January 7, at 7 in the new North High School pool, this course is open to skilled swimmers 17 years and over.

According to Lee Duhaime, the instructor, "Anyone engaged in, or anticipating the enjoyment and thrills of scuba or skin diving should have special training to make it a safe sport. Driving is great for those who know what they are doing, but a dangerous invitation to disaster to the uninformed."

Mr. Duhaime is a distinguished member of the American Skin Diving Association, and one of its most respected instructors. A past member of the Board of Directors for ASDA, he is also certified by the American Red Cross and the Y.M.C.A. He has served with the Michigan State Police, Macomb and Wayne County Sheriff Departments as well as the Detroit Harbor Master Division of Under Water Search and Recovery Programs.

Mr. Duhaime's experience extends from Northern Ontario to British Honduras. He is a member of the International Oceanographic Foundation and was a guest diver on the Deep Star III Research Program conducted by the University of Michigan in 1968-69. He brings his outstanding authority to Grosse Pointe as the leader of a diving instruction team of the highest qualifications.

The 14-week course includes 36 hours of instruction with each three hour sessions including about one hour of classroom work and two hours of pool time. Participants will be required to purchase a text ($2.95) plus a mask, fins and snorkel (from $9 to $40). Air regulators and tanks may be rented for a nominal cost. The fee for the course is $30.

A medical examination will be required of all participants, and basic swimming requirements met, (300 yard swim, 50 feet underwater swim, 10 minute float, 40 yards tow of another swimmer of equal size, and 5 minutes of treading water).

Skin Diving will be another of Mr. Duhaime's classes, especially designed for those expert swimmers who are under the age of 17 years. This is a logical lead-up to the more advanced scuba training, but remains within the limits of the safety margins prescribed by the American Skin Diving Association. There will be a five-week course beginning Saturday, January 11, at South High School. The class begins at 10:30 a.m. and lasts for two hours. The fee is $10.

Both classes are limited to 25 people. Those who are interested in a reservation in the class should call the Department of Community Services at 885-3808 or 885-0271 as soon as possible.

Veteran Bowlers Holding Tourney

Many prominent Pointers are looking forward to the 38th Annual Old Timers Bowling which will be held at State Fair Bowl, 19600 Woodward avenue, Detroit, on Saturday, January 11. Squads will bowl at 2 and 3:30 o'clock.

President Norman L. White, of Lexington road, invites all men who have bowled for 25 years or more to the tournament of bowling fun and fellowship.

The banquet, following the bowling activity, will be held at the K of C Hall, 19326 John R, Detroit. Dinner is scheduled to be served promptly at 6:30 o'clock. Awards and prizes will be presented. Every guest will receive a tournament souvenir.

Among the Pointers taking active part in the tournament are President White, a native Detroit and production manager for radio station WJR for 25 years. Mr. White is best known for his activities with the Old Newsboys Goodfellow Fund. He became a member in 1926 and was elected to the Executive Board in 1938. He was president in 1940 and chairman of the Goodfellow Football Game in 1950.

The defending bowling champion, Fred Wolf, of Lochmoor boulevard, and proprietor of Eastland bowl, is a one-time Stroh's team star and former radio-television bowling commentator. He won last year's tournament with scores of 216-170-230 for a total of 616. It was Wolf's second title-winning effort. He also paced the 1966 tournament with a winning score of 629.

Otto Auch, of Grayton road, has been an official of the Old Timers Association as well as secretary of the organization. He won the tournament in 1949. Mr. Auch is a past president of the Greater Detroit Bowling Association and was elected to the Detroit Bowling Hall of Fame. Presently he is a director of the American Bowling Congress.

Herb Fach, of S. Renaud road, was tournament champ in 1948 and served as president of the association in 1958. He is currently vice-president of the Greater Detroit Bowling Association.

The tournament championship award will go to the bowler, 50 years of age or older, who fires the highest three game actual pinfall total. Trophies will also be awarded for high three-game total in each of the following age groups: under 50 years, 50 to 59 years, 60 to 69 years and 70 to 100 years of age.

Reservations should be made no later than December 21, with secretary Clarence Schmidt, 10040 Strathmore, Detroit, 48227 or phone WE 4-4373. Cost for tournament and banquet is $7.50. Those wishing to attend the banquet only can do so for $5.50. Bowling only $2.50.

Devil Cagers Capture Pair

By Craig Carr '68

The Blue Devils proved in their back-to-back victories over Wyandotte and East Detroit last weekend that they are top contenders for the BCL championship. And they will put their undefeated, 3-0 record on the line this Friday at Highland Park, the defending league champion.

The Polar Bears are 1-2 on the year, but in their most recent outing they topped Royal Oak Dondoro, 53-48.

Coach Chuck Hollosy, however called the Highland Park team "comparatively green" because they lost many of last year's senior players, and their returning center, Doug Moore, is injured.

Compared with the 1967 Parker squad, Mr. Hollosy, who scouted the team, felt, "They didn't look nearly as strong."

The Devils' 71-63 victory over Wyandotte last Friday evening saw a couple of milestones reached by Grosse Pointe players.

Six-foot-four Jim Humes poured in 32 points, the most a Devil player has scored in 11 years. And, not to be outdone, six-foot-six Larry Ulmer completely dominated the boards by hauling in a fantastic 22 rebounds, as well as scoring 11 points.

Wyandotte ran up a 16-14 lead in the first quarter, but by halftime the Devils were ahead 30-24.

In the third quarter the Devil lead was cut to only two points by the Bears, and it was a fairly close game for a few minutes. But on the fine shooting of Humes, and some great driving lay-ups by Bill Roberts, the Devils built a 17-point lead early in the fourth quarter.

The spunky Wyandotte team tried desperately to overcome the bulge, but they could only narrow the margin to within eight points when the game ended.

Grosse Pointe exploded for 32 points in the first quarter against East Detroit last Saturday, and survived a late Shamrock scoring burst for an 86-77 non-league victory.

Chris Malafouris had a hot hand, hitting from just about everywhere on the court, and was the leading Devil scorer with 24 points. Jim Humes had another good night, netting 20 points, and Bill Roberts hit for 13.

The half ended with the Devils ahead, 46-39, and in the third quarter the lead seemed before the Devils mounted a 66-56 bulge.

In the fourth period East Detroit put on a late scoring rush of 21 points. The Devils, however, matched them basket-for-basket, tallying 20 points and keeping the game out of reach.

How to SELECT and CARE FOR YOUR CHRISTMAS TREE

ENJOY BEAUTY AND SAFETY THIS HOLIDAY SEASON

Look for uniform triangular taper. Check for weak, broken, unduly long branches.

Shake to see that needles are firm. If only a few drop, tree is fresh and more likely to last.

Once home, saw off but an inch or so above original cut so tree can absorb water.

To prevent tree from drying and becoming a fire hazard, stand it in water and locate it away from radiators, fireplace, TV or other heat source.

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

SKIDDING FOR SAFETY

—one of the devices used by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards during its annual winter test project to measure the stopping ability of various types of tires, chains and other equipment.

BRAKING DISTANCES

ON DRY PAVEMENT	FROM 20 MPH	ON GLARE ICE AT 20 MPH
REGULAR TIRES	140 FT.	181 FT.
CONVENTIONAL SNOW TIRES (PLAIN)	120 FT.	150 FT.
STUDDED SNOW TIRES (PLAIN)	75 FT.	100 FT.

These findings point up the extreme hazard of driving on glare ice—showing that with regular tires it may take close to nine times as far to stop as on dry pavement. The Safe Winter Driving League cautions drivers that regardless of the type of traction device employed—even with tire chains—far slower than normal speeds are essential on icy pavements.

A Ladder For Christmas

(Editor's Note:—This was written by Mrs. Philip (Marion Clarke) Droil, of University place. The NEWS considers itself fortunate to have been given the opportunity to present it to its readers.)

Christmas, it is said, is a time for all. It is a time for the rich and the poor, the spiritual and the materialistic, the young and the old, and the in-betweeners of all categories. But mostly, I believe, Christmas is a time for the young; not for the workers of miracles—for the believers in them.

The sad truth of growing old lies not in the wrinkled skin, the persistent problems, or the often wounded heart. It lies, however, in the eyes that cannot shine at the thought of a mouthful of frothy pink cotton candy, knowing that it will evaporate almost on contact; it lies in the pulse that cannot race in expectation of roman candles and giant claps of man-made thunder and multi-colored stars falling from a July sky; it lies in the heart and mind and soul that cannot believe in the improbable or seemingly impossible.

The old believe in the concrete. The young possess the wonder of faith.

I was young when I received my greatest gift, a ladder for Christmas.

There were two main streets then in Muncie, Indiana—Main and Walnut. It was Walnut, though, which on the week before Christmas looked to me like Broadway on opening night and Times Square on New Year's Eve. Greenery was strung across the street from lamp post to lamp post forming a six-block arch of wonderland. The blinking of the red and green lights which were placed intermittently in this once-a-year bower assured me of the gaiety and goodness of the season as surely as the glow of the sacrificial light assures the inscrutable nun of the presence and perpetuity of God.

On every corner in her old-fashioned hat and somber long dress a Salvation Army lady stood ringing a loud bell, looking very cold, yet somehow indestructible. Mother always gave me a handful of dimes. It was like throwing pennies in a wishing well.

This particular year was the first year I had ever been downtown on Christmas Eve proper. My only sister had died just five weeks before and, in retrospect, I suppose my mother dreaded the sight of some child's face mirroring the same delight and anticipation that had been Martha's. Yet, at the last moment, she could not deny me the face-to-face magic of the bearded man in a red suit.

Parental grief had been well-hidden from me; but I knew mine. Looking back it was a pathetic sort of anguish, the silent, indiscernible sorrow of one who had lost, at least temporarily, her child's world.

We lived in a neighborhood where I had no contemporaries. Martha, two years my senior, had been my friend and on occasion my enemy; she had been my fellow conspirator and my confidant. She had been the playmate of my waking hours and the peace of my dreams. With loud screams I had fought with her; in great merriment I had laughed with her; in quiet, young solitude I had idolized her.

I think we alternately pushed and were pulled through the harried mass of hurried shoppers which filled the store. Many of the adult faces wore frowns of haste and irritation; some simply looked tired and resolute. The children being dragged along expressed a mixture of bewildered exaltation, and sheer exhaustion.

Mother and I reached the elevator finally and alighted at last at the sixth floor, Muncie's toyland.

The line was not long. As I recall only two children were ahead of me.

When I sat down on Santa's lap I told him my name and then answered affirmatively his questions about eating vegetables and picking up toys and being good in general. My heart seemed almost to pound out of my small body as I waited for the all-important question "What would you like for Christmas?"

I swallowed hard, my voice seemed to stick in my throat, as in a barely audible tone, in a wisp of a whisper, I replied "I would like a ladder for Christmas—the longest ladder that has ever been built."

To say the jolly St. Nick looked abashed, even through his beard and make-up, would be an understatement. This poor man was undoubtedly weary too, and here was a strange little girl asking, of all things, for a long ladder.

He tried with simulated warmth and frivolity to suggest other things for a young miss—a princess Elizabeth doll, perhaps a miniature set of china dishes.

Obviously he was not going to understand. Being both disappointed and slightly afraid, I said any surprise would be all right and I scurried down from my human perch.

I said nothing to Mother as we left to start our return trip to the car. She would not understand; Santa Claus did not understand; to be sure, probably no one anywhere would understand. The ladder, however, was the only thing I wanted. I wanted it with an intense, throbbing desire that consumed my thoughts and quite nearly my very breath.

How could I tell anyone that I longed to climb so high, that I wanted to intrude beyond the sky?

I grasped to an extent the incomprehensibility of God's kingdom and the finality of death. I knew the dead could not return. But, oh, I wanted so acutely, even if to a degree fearfully, to make my way up that very long ladder. I wanted to pierce the mystery of heaven, to glimpse, just for one brief moment, my Martha. I wanted to see for myself that she was truly safe and unchanged.

As we silently neared home Mother suggested that we stop first to make a visit at church. Having entered the church, we went immediately to kneel before the crèche. I crossed myself and began my prayers and then, while I gazed at the image of the tiny infant in the crib, I knew I hadn't needed to go downtown.

"Dear Jesus," I began, "I know you love little children very much. My mother told me so. That is why you took Martha to be one of your angels. I don't know why you chose her when there must be such a lot of others you could have picked; but my mother

Rotary Club Essay Contest

Kathe Moran, an eleventh grade student at St. Paul's School, has been named the winner in the fifth week of The Grosse Pointe Rotary Club's Contest, Youth Forum. Kathe wins $25 for her entry, "The Population Squeeze On Youth," which follows.

The population rise may be causing some of the youth's frustrations starting from childhood. When we were young the vacant lots and fields gradually diminished until we found ourselves confined to the backyard. In the yard you're under the watchful eyes of parents and neighbors. You lost that private feeling of aloneness.

As we get a little older we find there's no place to dig a hole or build a clubhouse. Not only from lack of space but rejection of the neighbor because of his unsightliness. Soon a building permit will be required to build such structures!

Boys begin to build go-carts but ordinances, which are an outgrowth of the population predicament, keep them off the sidewalks. Other laws keep them off the street and put them back in the yard. Now the ordinances are squeezing them more and a fence is required around the yard when owning such vehicles. If they can't build a clubhouse or ride a go-cart, they can join the Little League. Organized teams and recreation are also an effect of population growth. Teams are organized so every boy has a chance in sports and so every team has a chance at the field. The boys' batting averages are kept which makes those who are not star players. The more teams there are the more competitive it becomes, which may start other anxieties.

The teen now gets his driver's license and vents his frustrations on the street in a car. The population squeeze has put more cars on the road plus greater horsepower, creating a more dangerous traffic situation. Many teens in Grosse Pointe drive to classes and says some things are not for children to understand. I am lonesome, though, Jesus, and I am worried for my Martha. Please, will you somehow, someday, get the right kind of ladder to me. I trust in you."

Mother and I returned home then. The rest of the evening remains a rather nondescript blur in my memory.

I remember awakening in the night, as children sometimes do, for no particular reason. I sat up in bed, and then—why I do not know—I reached over and lifted the shade on my window. When I peeked out I saw a strange sort of glow mounting from the vacant lot across the street to the cold, black December sky. At first vaguely discernable and then startlingly recognizable, a small figure was descending a gigantic ladder. Out of the starless night a fragile dark-haired angel swiftly, deftly, sought the earth.

Our embrace embodied all the warmth of childhood and made shallow the great lovers of the world. We looked intensely at one another; then giggled. Remembering that Daddy was a light sleeper, though, we quickly put our hands over our mouths and chuckled inwardly.

Then, hand in hand, we sought our playroom in the basement and there, in the quiet of that Christmas Eve, we romped and softly sang. We played with our dolls and built a lopsided ferris wheel out of tinker toys. We talked not of God, or death, or heaven, but of things I knew and things we shared.

Martha read me a story. We took turns spinning one another in our tire swing. Our eyes must have smiled all the while; and we hugged or simply touched one another often.

Too soon, though, the day began to pierce the sky. The time to part again had come. I started to cry, but Martha lovingly put her arms around me. "Do not be sad, little sister, for I am no longer sad. Do not be afraid, for my fear is gone."

Then she was gone. The human angel climbed the ladder and vanished into where I did not know.

Many times my Martha returned in the priceless midnight hours. However, now she comes no more; for I am no longer young.

Still, every year I walk to my window on Christmas Eve, and I am touched by the holiness of the time and thankful to be blessed by its happiness. But a certain sadness tinges my being and a sense of melancholy pervades my soul as I long for my innocence fled, for the love and the grace and the understanding I possessed when mine was a ladder for Christmas.

What Goes On at Your Library

By Virginia Leonard

"I'm cold and hungry," said the brown library mouse. He disdainfully spat a morsel of paper from his mouth (a bit of page 4 HOMER PRICE). "Such a quality paper," he complained.

"Stuart," said the grey library mouse, "I think we should prow around this library and see what we can find for better food and nesting material." (Stuart had received his name from STUART LITTLE. He had first been observed sitting on a copy of the book one dark night). "And as for paper—you could try a little harder. You know the quality of paper in HOMER PRICE is inferior. Why don't you experiment with some of the Blyton books—or maybe a clean copy of BABAR."

Stuart shook his head. "I've tried 'em all. What I want is real food. I've even tried bits from the Coronastat orange juvenile cards and tidbits from the waste baskets. And as for sleeping conditions—have you ever tried to balance on the aquarium snuggle up to some cold slippery library bindings, or wrap the philodendron around you for warmth?"

The grey library mouse, whose name was Thidwick (he sometimes used this Dr. Seuss book, spread tent-wise, for a shelter), stood on his hind feet, wrinkled his nose hopefully, and said "Let's go upstairs and look around—I distinctly smell cheese and cake crumbs."

"But we've never been up there before!" quavered Stuart, who wasn't particularly brave. He seemed to prefer complaining to acting.

"Come on—let's try it," said Thidwick, his whiskers trembling with excitement. "The cheese smell is getting stronger and stronger. I'm sure it's Camembert, or possibly New York sharp. And the cake is chocolate with white icing. I know it is."

Slowly and cautiously the two mice crept up the library stairs. It was a long trip, with a short pause on the landing. At the top of the stairs, on the left, the door to a room was slightly open. In slithered Stuart and Thidwick. Sure enough, on the floor were great flat blobs of chocolate cake crumbs and bits of luscious yellow cheese. The mice scampered from crumb to crumb, ecstatically exclaiming over what good taste those librarians had in pastry and cheese!

In very short order the room was completely cleaned up as far as food was concerned, and the mice were slowing down, their small stomachs bulging with goodies. They hadn't had such a meal in a long time!

Let's remember how we got here tonight," said Stuart. "There may be crumbs here to school may present another problem."

In schools a large student enrollment forces the youth to fight for his individuality and the chance "to get ahead." More students create a more competitive atmosphere which may frustrate some. In smaller schools more responsibility rests on each student and there is less competition.

Knowing some possible causes of teen discontentment may help adults understand youth better.

Princeton Triangle Show Coming Here

"A Different Kick" to be Presented at Detroit Institute of Arts Monday Evening, December 30; Pre- and Post-Revue Festivities Planned

Can a group of young men and women from Princeton find happiness here in industrial Detroit where ivy-covered halls are occasionally obscured by a high MURC reading?

Easy—if they're members of the Princeton Triangle Club who this year are marking the 80th anniversary of bringing the delightful, Princetonian brand of college musical comedies to the natives in the mid-West. It's set for the Detroit Institute of Arts, Monday evening, December 30.

Wait! Did you say women? From Princeton?

Two, in fact. They're both undergraduates in Princeton's Languages Department which has admitted co-eds for several years. And there departs another tradition — the all-male cast.

So this year's Princeton Triangle Club musical comedy is somewhat of "A Different Kick."

Detroiters will recall the Triangle Club's last visit here, in 1964, when the side-splitting "Grape Expectations" delighted the audience.

Many in this area who "go back" a few years with the Princeton Triangle Club will recall undergraduates who stayed in the business after trodding the boards in Princeton musical revues.

There were James Stewart, Booth Tarkington, F. Scott Fitzgerald, Josh Logan, Jose Ferrer to name a few.

The 1968 Triangle Show undergraduates are assisted by the professional production team of director-choreographer Buck Heller.

Scheduled to begin at 8:30 o'clock, the musical comedy "A Different Kick" offers, for an additional cost, a pre-theatre buffet and a post-show dance.

Tickets for the December 30 revue are priced at $6.50, $5.50 and $4.40. Tickets are on general sale at the ticket offices of all major J. L. Hudson locations.

The buffet dinner and cocktail party will be held at the Engineering Society of Detroit in the Rackham Memorial Building, beginning at 6:30 o'clock. The complete price is $5.50 per person.

Play-goers are also invited to attend a post-theatre dance at the Engineering Society of Detroit. Admission is $1 per person and the Triangles promise some unscheduled entertainment at the dance.

And play-goers can park in one place for the show, the buffet and the dance.

Buffet dinner and cocktail party reservations may be made up to Monday, December 23, by telephoning Dick May during working hours at WO 1-0200.

University.

Sailing for Hawaii from San Francisco this week are MR. and MRS. BERNARD DAWSEY, of Bishop road, and WARRENA L. RHODES, of Torrey road.

University of Iowa graduate student JAMES MAYSHARK, JR., of Balfour road, appeared as a guard in "Hang by Their Shoeleaces," a play by Karl A. Tunberg presented December 16 through 19 in the University of Iowa Studio Theater.

Miss Frederick Bride Of Bruce W. Bellard

Candlelight Rites Are Followed by Reception at St. Clair River Country Club; Attendants Wear Victorian Gowns

At home in Farmington following a wedding trip to Florida and New Orleans, La., are Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bellard, who exchanged marriage vows at a candlelight ceremony November 23.

Setting for the 7:30 o'clock Saturday rites, at which Dr. John Olert, Jr., officiated, was Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church.

The bride, the former Wendy Elizabeth Frederick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Frederick, of Torrey road, wore a gown of satin and lace and a fingertip illusion veil.

She carried an arrangement of starflowers, baby's-breath and stephanotis.

Her honor attendants were Mrs. William Bavinger and Patricia Brooker, of Lexington, Ky. Bridesmaids were Ferrell Bellard, Karla Jaeger and Megan Frederick.

Their floor length frocks featured long-sleeved Victorian blouses of ivory plisse and dark brown velvet skirts, and they carried bouquets of multi-colored strawflowers.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bellard, of Southfield, asked Eric Heitman, of Boston, Mass., to act as best man.

Guests were seated by Michael Frederick, John Winder, John Kostrick and Russ Shepherd.

For her daughter's wedding and the reception at St. Clair River Country Club following the rites, Mrs. Frederick selected a pale turquoise satin ensemble.

Mrs. Bellard, the bridegroom's mother, wore a pink wool crepe costume. Both mothers selected white orchid corsages.

Entertaining at a series of pre-Christmas cocktail parties earlier this month were MR. and MRS. J. ADDISON BARTUSH, of Lakeshore road.

Meadow Brook Party Planned

Grosse Pointe War Memorial holds a block of 50 tickets for Meadow Brook Theatre's performance of "The Magistrate" Saturday evening, December 28.

The Center is staging a dinner at 6 o'clock in the Great Hall of Alger House prior to transporting the group by charter bus to the Oakland University campus at Rochester.

This is the opportunity for a truly gala evening. The Center is beautifully decorated for the holidays and the dinner will be by candlelight around the huge community Christmas tree. On the bus both set ups and after dinner coffee will be available. The bus will take patrons directly to the covered entrance to the theater and following the play, return them to the War Memorial's front door.

The entire evening including dinner, transportation and play is just $11.50 per person. Paid reservations should be in the War Memorial's office as soon as possible.

League Hosts Party for 400

Members of the Junior League of Detroit worked to make Christmas a little more joyous for 400 handicapped people on December 18. That was the date of the annual Christmas dinner party which The League organizes and serves at the Detroit League for the Handicapped.

Mrs. Joseph R. Dansbury was chairman of this year's party. Mrs. Robert Olson had the responsibility of seeing that each guest received a beautifully wrapped gift. Mrs. Charles Kinaird was busy signing up League members to be waitresses and helpers. Mrs. Mark Smith and Mrs. Thomas O. Meier were also deeply involved in planning the long anticipated event. After a traditional turkey dinner there was dancing to the music of the Joe Vitale Trio, a group which for years has donated talent for the happy occasions. Entertainment was provided by Velva White, Eddie Collins and Carroll Fox, otherwise known as Milky the Clown. Ten door prizes were donated by local organizations including B'nai B'rith, Area Garden Clubs provide corsages for all and Santa made a visit and saw that everyone left with a present.

Pointer SUSAN HUTTON is a member of the Idaho State University Concert Choir which presented its 25th annual Candlelight Concert December 15, featuring a group of traditional Christmas carols and concert carols.

Party at Center For Collegians

All in-town collegians and those home for the holidays are urged to attend a complimentary Open House at Grosse Pointe War Memorial this Sunday, December 22, at 5 o'clock. Dr. John Perricin's Combo will live on the occasion and there will be dancing in the Great Hall of Alger House around the Christmas tree.

Coffee will be served at small conversational tables in the dining room. It is hoped this will provide an opportunity to catch up on who is in town and what is going on. The Center is planning a four-day ski trip up north for collegians and having a New Year's Eve party for those who prefer to stay in the Pointe. Other organizations are encouraged to announce their holiday doings at this Open House, too. Tom Venetis has plans for a continuing collegian group and Jim Schrage and Sue Meier and Dave and Julie Richardson will join him in hosting this occasion along with representatives of all the major colleges and universities.

ELAINE HADDAD, of Bal-four road, a sophomore at the University of Iowa, is a member of the University of Iowa Oratorio Chorus. The 190-voice group presented its annual Christmas concert December 17 and 18, featuring Poulenc's "Gloria" and Bruckner's "Te Deum Laudamus." Elaine sang first alto.

Raby-Joerin Vows Exchanged Dec. 14

Newlyweds Travel to Laurentians for Skiing Vacation; Both Plan to Complete Studies at Wayne State University

Katherine Jane Joerin spoke her marriage vows to Adelard Henry Raby, III, at an evening ceremony Saturday, December 14, in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. The Reverend Ben L. Tallman officiated at the 6 o'clock rites.

A reception in the Crystal Ballroom of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial followed the double ring service.

The bride, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harold Joerin, of Middlesex boulevard, wore an ivory peau de soie gown, styled with a Chapel train and trimmed with Alencon lace.

Her waist length illusion veil fell from a headpiece of lace petals, and she carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis.

Maid of honor Joan Ellen Daniels and matron of honor Mrs. Harold W. Joerin wore floor length frocks of moss green silk faille, fashioned with back panels and accented with embroidered lace.

Dressed identically were bridesmaids Carole Ann Raby, sister of the bridegroom, and Karen Louise Holstein. They carried cascades of red roses.

Flower girl Michelle Annette Joerin, the bride's niece, wore an embroidered lace-trimmed moss green faille gown and carried a nosegay of red roses.

Norman R. Raby served as his brother's best man. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Adelard H. Raby, Jr., of Nashua, N.H.

In the usher corps were Harold W. Joerin, brother of the bride, Harold R. Swanson and Dennis D. Groves.

The mother of the bride wore a bead-trimmed taupe silk-and-wool dress and coat ensemble. The bridesgroom's mother selected a green velvet dress. Both mothers chose white cymbidium orchid corsages.

When the newlyweds left for a skiing vacation in the Laurentians, the bride was wearing a grey and white wool jacket dress. They will return to make their home in Detroit while both complete their studies at Wayne State University.

HARRY J. CHANCEY, JR., son of MR. and MRS. H. J. CHANCEY of Grand Marais boulevard, has been appointed Director, Legal Aid Department, Michigan State University. His appointment was also confirmed as Student Director and representative to the Faculty Subcommittee on Campus disorders.

Mrs. A. H. Raby, III

Grosse Pointe Memorial Church was the setting for the Saturday, December 14, wedding of KATHERINE JOERIN, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harold Joerin, of Middlesex boulevard, and Mr. Raby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adelard H. Raby, Jr., of Nashua, N.H.

Guest Conductor With Symphony

Werner Torkanowsky, Music Director of the New Orleans Philharmonic, will conduct the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in an unusual program of two "unfinished" symphonies in a concert tonight, Thursday, December 19.

On the program for the concert, which begins at 8:30 o'clock in Ford Auditorium, are Schubert's Symphony No. 8 and Bruckner's Symphony No. 9. Two movements of the Schubert work and three of the Bruckner are complete.

Torkanowsky is making his first appearance in nearly six years with the Detroit Symphony. He conducted the Symphony for a six-week engagement in January and February, 1963, including three weeks on tour in the South and Midwest.

Torkanowsky's United States conducting debut—an unexpected one—was in 1954. As concertmaster of the Ballets Espagnols, he was called upon at the last moment to substitute for the regular conductor in the group's first New York appearance.

The performance resulted in his engagement as permanent conductor for the next two years.

Torkanowsky later joined Jerome Robbins' "Ballets: U.S.A.," as music director. He assumed the New Orleans post in 1963.

Torkanowsky was born in Berlin but lived in Israel until coming to the United States in 1950. He returned to Israel in October, 1968, to conduct the Israel Philharmonic in 12 concerts.

He also has made guest conducting appearances with orchestras of San Francisco, Minneapolis, Chicago, New York, Houston, St. Louis and Los Angeles.

Home from Ferris State University to spend the Christmas holidays with his parents, MR. and MRS. HAROLD H. EMMONS, JR., of Radnor circle, is SCOTT EMMONS who, with his parents, will journey to Lansing to spend Christmas Day with the HAROLD E. EMMONS, III.

Household Hint

Sometimes strips of bacon are so firmly pressed together that it's difficult to separate them without tearing or shredding. To help break up this strip-togetherness, roll the package gently between your hands, first one way, then the other, before opening. Usually, after this treatment, the strips can be separated easily.

The James B. Dolls have invited a large group of friends to join them in their Putnam place home for pre-Ball cocktails. This will also be a quasi-farewell party for the host and hostess, who leave the next day to spend Christmas in Connecticut.

They'll be visiting Mrs. Doll's daughter, Mrs. Bower Patton, a former Pointer who now makes her home in Riverside, Conn.

David Patton will leave his studies at Wooster School, Danbury, Conn., in time to join the family reunion, and Mrs. Patton's other children, Cathy, Suzie and Tommy, will be on hand to complete the family picture.

The Dolls will return to The Pointe in the same party atmosphere in which they left arriving back on the local scene in time to host their annual New Year's Day football game party.

The invitations are clever facsimiles of reserved section tickets in their "Putnam Place Stadium."

Mount Holyoke Christmas Coffee

Mrs. William B. Cunningham will open her Cloverly road home next Monday morning for the Mount Holyoke Alumnae Club of Detroit's annual Christmas Coffee honoring present and prospective students.

Among those on hand to greet the young guests will be Club president Mrs. Steele L. Sellers and School chairman Mrs. Don A. Cargill.

Nine local young ladies, including Marilyn Krieghoff, Mona Gubow and Judy Touach, members of the Class of '72, Cynthia White, Sue Munsell and Helen Wills, members of the class of '71, Sue Minett, member of the class of '70, and Joan Schwalzriede and Dede Wills, members of the class of '69, are current Mount Holyoke students.

Navy League Women Gather Today

That gathering of the Detroit Women's Council of the Navy League of the United States at Mrs. Chester Jankowski's Kerby road home today is billed as a "regular" meeting—but we'll bet Mrs. J. has planned a few "Christmas-y" luncheon touches.

Big "business" of the day will be announcement of the Council's Nominating Committee.

Mrs. Robert G. Kales, of Cloverly road, is current president of the Council. Vice-president is Mrs. Albert Navarro, whose prescription for beating pre-Christmas rush-aboutitis—AND the flu—is terrific: A 10-day holiday at the King's Inn, Freeport, Grand Bahama Island, with Al and the children.

Shepherds and wise men knelt to pray
And praise the New-Born King.
A great star sent its shining light
Upon the Son of God that night:
The skies were filled with angels bright
Who bent on hovering wing.

And children came the Babe to see Asking, "His name? What may it be?"
And wondering, stood at Mary's knee Around His manger bed.
Then Mary pondered, listening:
"The angels call Him 'Lord and King'
But He is such a tiny thing . . .
See how He sleeps," she said

Casazza-Kalb Rites Read In St. Clare's

Planning to make their home in Detroit upon their return from an Acapulco vacation are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Louis Casazza, who exchanged marriage vows at a noon ceremony Saturday, December 14, in St. Clare de Montefalco Church.

The Reverend Martin Sobieski officiated at the rites, which were followed by a luncheon reception in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Crystal Ballroom.

The bride, the former Kathryn Reynolds Kalb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Marshall Kalb, of Bishop road, wore a skimmer gown of dul-cette satin, styled with a Victorian collar and accented with a re-embroidered Alencon lace.

She designed her headpiece, a lace-covered Camelot cap holding a floor length tulle veil. Her flowers were gardenias, baby red roses and stephanotis.

Barbara Baldwin Kalb served as her sister's honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Mary Lou Casazza, sister of the bridegroom, Barbara Ann Stevens, Marina Barbara Kruse, Merrill Ann Kalb, of Medford Lakes, N.J., a cousin of the bride, and Martha Lee Brownscombe, the bride's step-sister.

Their floor-length Empire frocks of wine red velvet featured lace sleeve accents. They carried nosegays of baby carnations and red roses, accented with holly.

Richard Joseph Casazza, acted as best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Louis Casazza, of Berkshire road, Detroit.

Ushering were Gary Dotson, Gary Lee Robertson, Michael Joseph O'Linn, Thomas Michael McElroy and Edward Rodney Mason Kalb, the bride's brother.

The mother of the bride wore a champagne and gold brocade dress and matching coat. The bridegroom's mother selected an emerald green brocade dress and coat ensemble. Both mothers chose orchid corsages.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Eugene L. Casazza, of Oak Park, Ill., Mrs. Edwin T. Reynolds and Mrs. Jacqueline Long, of Sarasota, Fla., the George Kalabs, of Medford Lakes, N.J., the John Casazzas, of Chicago, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ferrero, Jr., of Chicago, Manuel Florez, of Acapulco and Mexico City, and the William Marshall, of Uniontown, Pa.

Her fiancé, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Pinnick, of Detroit, attended Wayne State University and is presently associated with General Motors Corporation.

TRADITIONAL PROGRAM

The traditional Christmas program of music by the General Motors Chorus and a holiday message from James M. Roche, Chairman of the GM Board of Directors, will be presented at 12:15 p.m. Friday, December 20, in the main exhibit room of the GM Building. The holiday concert is a General Motors tradition of more than a quarter century. All General Motors employees are invited to attend, as well as others who work, live, and visit in the New Center area.

WHO SAYS there's nothing new on the real estate market until after the New Year? We are offering in this column three new listings, all of which must be sold in the very near future. Tucked away on a secluded street in Grosse Pointe City is this small, three bedroom house on a lot with 120 feet of frontage. Priced to put under the tree for $18,500. Wrap this one up because it's the only one on the shelf.

THE ONLY ONE offered in this condominium complex on Rivard Boulevard. Three bedrooms and two baths on the second floor and two more bedrooms and a third bath on the third. Isn't that a lot of brick and mortar for $34,000?

ALMOST A NEW center hall colonial with four bedrooms and three baths up. Fireplaces in both the living room and family room. Attached garage, kitchen with fantastic builtins and room for a banquet table. All this just a few steps from GPHS, Star of the Sea, and the Hunt Club.

OTHER PACKAGES
OPEN BY APPOINTMENT

CENTER ENTRANCE colonials are always high on everyone's list, so this house on Renaud should appeal to many shoppers. If your family really only requires three bedrooms and two baths on the second floor, then this one should be inspected. We guarantee you won't come away dejected.

FOR YOU WHO want to own an income property, we have one of the few remaining lots in the Pointe which is zoned for two family dwellings. Live in one unit and let your tenant make the payments which will amortize your investment.

IF YOU'VE BEEN peeking

about looking for something with tremendous curb appeal, and only require three bedrooms but must have two baths and a first floor lavatory, then this southern colonial could be the solution. This compact offering has a comfortable extra room with access on either side of the living room fireplace. There is a separate dining room and attached garage.

WE SALESMEN are often hard pressed to find a neat colonial with three bedrooms which is priced in the low thirties and requires little if any redecorating. In the Farms we have just such an animal, but we'll bet it won't be around long.

LET IT SNOW, let it snow, let us show you one of the better buys available in the Pointe today. Baby it's cold outside, so come on in and warm up to this four bedroom Cape Cod with two full baths. Recently redecorated throughout, and this includes a jazzy kitchen. Can be had for a song.

Vito Giacalone Given Sentence

Vito (Billy Jac) Giacalone, alleged Mafia leader, was handed another 90-day sentence last week for failure to take his personal collection of pistols to police for a safety inspection.
Wayne County Circuit Judge Nathan J. Kaufman gave Giacalone the maximum sentence for the crime which is a misdemeanor.
This sentence will not add any more time to the four year nine month to five year sentence given Giacalone 27 days ago in Circuit Court, because the sentences will run concurrently.

Giacalone was sentenced in a separate case on November 15, for possession of a blackjack, a felony charge.

The weapons, which included five pistols and one 19-inch, .30 caliber gun called an "enforcer," were discovered by police, who searched Giacalone's home on May 14.

For the defense, the sentence came as a setback on the third time out. Giacalone was convicted in the City of Grosse Pointe Municipal Court, but received probation.

His attorneys Neil Fink and Joseph Louisell, appealed to Circuit Court and the trial there resulted in a hung jury, which voted 8-4 for acquittal. Fink said he may not appeal because the sentence will have been served by the time another trial could be set up.

Vito's brother, Anthony (Tony Jack) Giacalone, was convicted in the City of Grosse Pointe Municipal Court on a similar charge and received probation.
His case is on appeal, awaiting trial.

Giacalone's attorneys have maintained that the search and seizure operation at Vito's home was conducted illegally and violated his client's constitutional rights.

REPORTS PURSE THEFT
Ann Marie MacDonald of 1907
Hunt Club, informed Woods authorities on Tuesday, December 12, that while her car was parked in front of 20119 Mack,
as she was dropping off clothing at the cleaners, someone stole her purse from the front seat.
She said she was driving home and was feeling for the purse, and discovered it gone. It contained $20, her operator's license, credit cards and personal papers, she said.

WORKERS ROBBED
Thomas Gardner of 9614 Loveland, Livonia, reported the theft of a drive-drill motor from his tool box; and Harold Sayre of 3500 Monroe, Dearborn, discovered the theft of a claw hammer from his box. Both are employed by a contractor doing work at Grosse Pointe North High School. Gardner said that the drill is valued at $125;
Sayre said the hammer cost $5.
The items are owned by the contractor, they said.

Public Schools in Focus

By Dr. Theos I. Anderson, Superintendent of Schools Education—public, private, and parochial—is in the news more and more each day. Although many of the headlines concerning education make far from pleasant reading, the magazines and newspapers are doing an excellent job of providing fine background reading on proposals for changes in the curriculum, new methods of school construction, and reports on new avenues of financing education.

I can well imagine that the layman may find this wealth of information confusing. How is he equipped to evaluate all of this? I suggest that he avail himself of the countless opportunities afforded locally to learn more about contemporary education.

The public is cordially invited to attend our educational presentations held on the first Monday of each month. The next of these will be a discussion of the Department of Public Personnel and is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on January 6 at Monteith School.

We feel that the series has been a uniquely informative.
Topics covered to date include the middle school, elementary education, and the high schools.

Slated for future presentations are these topics: Structure of Financing (February 3); Adult Education, (March 3);
and the Grosse Pointe Public Library, (May 5). In all cases, we shall provide time for staff members to answer questions from the audience.

In addition to our series of
AOPi Alumnae Conduct Founders' Fete Dec. 5

"Roses in the Snow" was the theme of the annual Founders' Day celebration of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority held at the Schmid Haus in Warren Thursday, December 5.

The Detroit Alumnae Chapter, which includes Grosse Pointe, hosted the dinner and program for the five other alumnae groups in the greater Detroit and suburban areas at this 71st anniversary of AOPi.

The sorority, founded at Barnard College of Columbia University, numbers 107 collegiate chapters with 109 alumnae chapters, clubs and councils throughout the United States and Canada.

The sorority's flower, the red rose, dominated the floral centerpieces. Roses set in paperweight snow globes, in keeping with the red and white colors of AOPi, were place favors.

General chairman of the affair was Mrs. ohn Wargelin.
Mrs. William Wilson, of Wedgewood drive, served as reservations chairman.

Speaker at the anniversary celebration was Mrs. Robert Bodine, of Detroit.

Though best known as the wife of Dr. Bodine, directing minister of Metropolitan Methodist Church, Mrs. Bodine participates in a busy speaking schedule and serves actively in the YWCA and P.E.O., a philanthropic educational organization, in addition to her leadership positions in the Church.

Mrs. Bodine selected the title "You're the One" for her presentation to the sorority women.

Members of the hostessing chapter include Winnifred Elison, of North Oxford road, Mrs.
Watson Ford of McKinley avenue, Judy Lindow, of North Brys drive, Mrs. Clarence Ma-
gure, of Lochmoor boulevard, Mrs. Louis Neuder, of Fairholme road, Mrs. Henry Riser, of Clairview court, and Mrs.
Martin, president, of the Detroit Alumnae Chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi.

Ladies Help To Plan Charity Knight Dinner

Many Pointers Serve on Women's Committee for Annual Awards Evening Honoring Men of Three Faiths

Mrs. Joseph A. Vieson, of Fairway drive, Detroit, accepted the chairmanship of the Women's Committee for the "Knights of Charity" award dinner held Saturday, November 16, at the Statler-Hilton Hotel.

Her special assistants included Mrs. Clarence J. Alandt, Mrs. Frank R. Gerbig, Jr., Mrs. John J. Raymond and Mrs. John G. Schaffer. The honorary chairmen were Mrs. Thomas V. Locicero, of Three Mile drive, and Mrs. Louis C. Miriani, of Marygrove avenue.

Mrs. Vieson was hostess at a luncheon at the Detroit Golf Club on October 16 to fete the wives of the men who were recipients of the awards at the inter-faith dinner.

Awardees to whom Lawrence V. Nagle, chairman of the Udyite Corporation and dinner chairman, made the presentations are Walker L. Ciesler, chairman of the board, Detroit Edison Company, a Protestant; Jules Schubot, Schubot Jewelers, of the Jewish faith; and Louis G. Seaton, vice-president in charge of personnel, General Motors Corporation, a Catholic.

The dinner is under auspices of the trustees of Marygrove College, Memphis, Mich., which is conducted by the PIME Missionaries of SS Peter and Paul, with The Reverend Father Nicholas Maestri, PIME, president. The $100-a-plate dinner marks recognition of the three men for work in humanitarian fields and philanthropic work.

Points members of Mrs. Vieson's committee included Mrs. William A. Terres, Mrs. Emmet E. Tracy, Mrs. Dominic L. Pucci, Mrs. Oliver D. Marcha, Mrs. William J. Lilly, Mrs. Clayton P. Alandt and Mrs. Eugene A. Casaroli.

Others were Mrs. J. Addison Bartush, Mrs. Chilton Drysdale, Mrs. Harvey A. Fischer, Mrs. Charles T. Fisher, III, Mrs. William E. Grace, Mrs. Claude A. Greiner and Mrs. George M.

Students Honor Martha Schick

Recently, Martha Schick was chosen by vote of the Senior class and the senior advisors of St. Paul High School as the girl who best exemplified the qualities of dependability, service, and leadership, as well as patriotism.

For this reason, she will represent St. Paul in the Good Citizens Program. This program is sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution. Martha is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Schick, who reside at 1649 Severn road.

Devil Natators Beat Wyandotte

By Brad Anderson '68

The Grosse Pointe South swimming team won its opening dual swim meet over Wyandotte last Friday by a score of 80-35. The meet marked the beginning of the BCL season.

The team looked good against the Bears. They practiced hard all week and the work paid off. Coach Carl Schoessel's main concern after the Kimball Relays was that the team hadn't built up its endurance yet, but Chris Cassell, Mark Goodheart, Brian Ferry, and Lincoln Lee dispelled this fear.

All four missed practice the week before the meet, due to the flu bug. They were all able to comeback, however, and swim well against Wyandotte. Dave Grunewald, Charlie Brown, and Pete Maxon weren't as lucky as they missed the meet.

"I was pleased by our performance," said Mr. Schoessel. "In fact, I was surprised we did so well with three good swimmers out."

The team will hopefully be healthy for its next meet against Bishop Gallagher. Both meets will be at home.

Her Car Looted In Parking Lot

Mrs. T. J. Hennecke, 21615 Madison, St. Clair Shores, called City police on Thursday, December 12, to report a larceny from her car.

She told officers that on that date she parked her car in Area No. 5 parking lot, in back of Jacobson's, while she had her hair done. She thought she would return to the lot before the attendant left but she did not. When she went back to her car at 8 p.m. she found the windows of her car rolled down and a number of articles missing.

Included among the stolen articles were a pair of gold knot earrings with small diamond chips, valued at $75, a natural hair blond wig valued at $75, a bowling ball with the initials M.H., valued at $20, a pair of beige bowling shoes, valued at $7.50, a blue and green bowling bag, valued at $7, an eyeglass case with $5 in it, a gold evening bag, pen and compact, valued at $12, a pair of white kid gloves, valued at $10, and a makeup pouch in Early American print, valued at $7.50.

Police are investigating.

New Generation Discovers Pooh

By Julie Blossom

They came in droves that Saturday in November, to the Liggett School. Whole troupes of Brownies, carloads of birthday celebrants, Dads with the brood, babies in arms. Mostly girls. Mostly four, five and six years old. Here was the newest generation of theater-goers waiting for the curtain to rise and reveal a living, singing Winnie the Pooh.

They giggled and fidgeted, but not more than most ladies do while waiting. Rows of seats disappeared at a glance. Those who had to be turned away complained. Finally silence and the curtains opened on some very young old friends and the magic of Christopher Robin, Pooh, Eeyore, Kanga and Roo.

More than 1,100 people came that day to the musical version of A.A. Milne's famed story about a bear. But the production, began simply as a joint project of the music, art and drama departments of Liggett, to engage all age levels in cooperative, creative work. The play provided the framework for students to carry out individual responsibilities in pursuit of a common goal. Two public performances and one for parents were given before the cast moved costumes, sets, lights and all to the Duffield School in Detroit where Liggett girls have tutored youngsters for the past three years.

What we learned is that Winnie is still a matinee idol. We also learned that the community needs and supports wholesome entertainment directed toward young children and that Liggett can help to fill this need within its existing curriculum.

TIRE THEFT FOILED

City Patrolman John Drummond and Sgt. Douglas Allor, while on routine patrol on Saturday, December 14, found seven used tires in the middle of the alley to the rear of The Village Standard Service Station, 16821 Kercheval. Apparently someone had attempted to steal the tires from the portable tire rack but was frightened away before he could make off with them.

who, where and whatnot

by whoozit

We were fortunate the other evening to catch a few moments with W. Hawkins Ferry . . . fresh from an autographing session On-the-Hill, of his new book, "The Buildings of Detroit: A History" . . . Mr. Ferry comes from a prominent Detroit and Pointe family . . . His grandfather, Dexter Mason Ferry, was one of the original founders of Gardner, Ferry and Church, which ultimately became E. M. Ferry and Company . . . His father, Dexter M. Ferry, Jr., was the head of the company, which latter merged with C. C. Morse and Company to become the Ferry-Morse Seed Company of Detroit and Mountain View, Cal. . . .

The Ferry family has long been patrons of the arts and collectors . . . Both elder Ferrys created great art collections in Detroit . . . W. Hawkins Ferry himself has an important collection of contemporary art and is a generous patron of the Detroit Institute of Arts . . . He was educated at the Grosse Pointe University School, at Cranbrook, and at Harvard University, where he earned his BA in 1939 . . . He pursued graduate studies at the Harvard School of design, worked as an architectural designer, and served as an instructor in art and in architectural and industrial design at Wayne State University . . . He is an honorary curator of architecture, chairman of the Friends of Modern Art . . . Trustee of the Founders Society at the Detroit Institute of Arts . . . an Honorary Member of the Michigan Society of Architects . . .

Mr. Ferry's interest in local architecture dates back to 1939, when he returned from Harvard University. He was attracted by the old buildings of architectural interest that were rapidly disappearing from the local scene and arranged to have professional photographers make a permanent record of them. From these he formed the basis of an architectural exhibition which he organized at the Detroit Institute of Arts in March of 1943. In this connection he wrote an article entitled "Representative Detroit Buildings, a Cross Section of Architecture 1823-1843." His interest in local architecture continued and he wrote more articles. Then in 1955, he gave a lecture at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial for the Grosse Pointe Historical Society on "The Mansions of Grosse Pointe." This too was published and appeared in the March 1956 issue of the Monthly Bulletin of the Michigan Society of Architecture.

The Wayne State University Press asked Mr. Ferry in 1955 to write a history of Detroit architecture to be published by the Press . . . Mr. Ferry laughingly states: "I had no idea that it would take 12 years to complete. Although the research on the subject which I had already done provided the groundwork for the project I still needed to fill in the gaps." Mr. Ferry interviewed local, prominent architects, then began digging through old newspapers and periodicals (mostly from the Burton Historical Collection of the Detroit Public Library). This was also the source of most of the photographs of early buildings, many of which were no longer standing.

More than 400 different buildings are discussed in the book . . . discussed in an entertaining style that combines scholarly commentary with colorful anecdotes in a manner that is appealing to both the serious student of architecture and to the layman with any degree of curiosity about the American way of life. Pointers will be particularly interested in the area homes he discusses such as the Russell A. Alger House (now the Grosse Pointe War Memorial) . . . the Henry D. Sheldon house . . . the Horace E. Dodge home . . . the Elmer D. Speck house . . . the Joseph B. Schlotman and Emory L. Ford homes . . . and many others . . .

Mr. Ferry left us with the statement that modern architects today are attempting to recapture some of the charm of the past in their new designs . . . and after reading Mr. Ferry's book, we think that's a great idea . . . Incidentally, if you still have a gift to buy for that special person for Christmas this beautifully illustrated pictorial picture of the development of American architecture from pioneering times to present day would be ideal!

'Super' Parties Offered Teens

Three "super" parties for teens will be held at Grosse Pointe War Memorial during the Christmas holidays. The first blast is a Super Other Side featuring the terrific Bob Seger System Band. It will be given in the Center's Crystal Ballroom the night of Monday, December 23, from 8:30 to 11:30. This is a casual dance where dates aren't necessary. All Grosse Pointe High Schools—private and parochial or public—are eligible to attend. Tickets are $2.75 in advance, a little more at the door if still available. New Year's Eve there will be a dress-up date dance for Senior high students in grades 10 through 12 only and college people in their freshman and sophomore year. The popular Taxi Band will play from 9 to 1 o'clock with time out for a ham and turkey buffet at midnight after noise makers and favors have been distributed and lights turned out at 12 o'clock for the New Year's kisses. The dance and dinner are just $2.50 per person. Only 250 couples can be accommodated. So get your tickets early. The junior set, 7th and 8th graders, will have their Holiday Hop Saturday evening, January 4, from 8 to 11 o'clock featuring the Magnum Express Band and special lighting effects. Refreshments will be available and checking free. Tickets are $1 in advance, $1.25 at the door.

MRS. MARIE R. GRANGER, OF RIVARD BOULEVARD

By Janet Mueller

There's no Pretense about Marie Granger. "This place," she says, gesturing at the personal treasures, mementos, family pictures that fill the good-sized rooms of her upstairs apartment in Rivard boulevard, "looks like an ill-kept antique shop—and I love every inch of it!"

What, when you come right down to it, should Marie throw out?

The century-old rocking chair, made in Rhode Island, discovered by the Grangers in Vermont, brought by them to Michigan, (and who knows where it may go from here; well-fashioned things, like well-fashioned people, acquire a history?)

The pictures of her two sons, Ted and Ned, with their smiling brides on their wedding days? The pictures of the growing grandchildren . . . ?

"That's Molly," says Marie, picking up a several years old photograph of Ned's three children. "She's my oldest granddaughter."

Is Great Grandmother "She's married now, and she has a daughter, so I'm a great-grandmother—twice, in fact. Sally, Ted's oldest girl, has a daughter, too, almost five months old."

The Ned Grangers and their two younger children, John, 21, and Ben, 14, live in Litchfield, Ill. Molly, who's expecting her second child, and her husband, Dr. Harry Cole, live in St. Louis.

Marie plans to visit them in March, when Great-Grandchild Number Three is scheduled to arrive. The Ted Grangers live much closer-to-hand, in Mapleton road. Their younger daughter, Lole, is a student at Suomi College in Hancock.

Sally, her husband, Forrest Morgeson, Jr., and the baby are with them for the holidays and, with the exception of Forrest, for some time after. He reports to Fort Dix, from where he will fly to Germany, right after New Year's, and Sally and her daughter will be staying with her parents until he returns.

Needless to say, Grandmother and Great-Grandmother Granger are delighted.

She's Always Ready There's always been lots of comings and goings among the Granger clan. "We're very close," says Marie, who loves family visitors, expected or impromptu: A surprise call last summer from Molly, saying, "Nonnie, I can come tomorrow with the baby if you can have me," brought Marie's characteristic response, "OF COURSE I can have you! Come right away."

These well-loved, always-welcome children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren are among Marie Granger's constant joys. She treasures their pictures. She couldn't throw THEM away.

And who could toss out an autographed photo of Robert Frost, inscribed "To My Friend, Marie Granger"?

"Some people thought he had certain peculiarities," Marie recalls, "but if you knew him you realized that was just the way he talked."

In Love with Vermont The picture of the poet triggers other memories, of summers on Breadloaf Mountain in Vermont, the country in which Marie was brought up, the country she has always loved, the country with which her husband, who died two years ago, (before he died, the Grangers celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary), fell in love when Marie first took him to it for a summer visit in 1948.

"I left Middlebury, Vt., in 1908," Marie says. "I never went back until 1948 . . . where her father, Theodore Henckels, was associated with Cornell University. She lived in Cambridge, Mass., before Middlebury. Eventually, her father went to Washington, D.C., with the State Department; naturally, his family went with him.

Marie studied for two years at Middlebury College, then transferred to Vassar, from which she was graduated, then joined her family in Washington.

Fulfills an Ambition "I had always wanted to teach," she says.

She taught one year at Washington's National Cathedral School for Girls, then applied for a job at a boys' school, Manlius Military Academy, in Upper New York State.

She spent five years there—but only four of them as "Miss Henckels."

"I fell in love with a man at the school," she smiles, "and I married him."

Edward Granger was a Field Artillery Major in New York State's National Guard. A short while after he and Marie were married, Pancho Villa began creating his celebrated "disturbance" in Mexico. Major Granger's unit was called up, and Marie went back to her family in Washington to wait for him. Soon after his return, Ted was born, and Marie retired—temporarily, as things turned out—from teaching.

In Michigan 45 Years The Grangers moved to Michigan about 45 years ago. "My husband was an Ann Arbor boy; he decided he'd like to come back here," Marie explains.

"We lived in Van Dyke avenue when we first came, for about four years. My husband was in real estate.

"As the boys grew older, we began to look around for a house near a good school. Trombly was just being built; we found an apartment in Nottingham, south of Jefferson, and moved there when our sons were about five and seven.

"They went half a year to the little red schoolhouse facing Jefferson—it's gone now, of course; there's a big gas station where it used to be—until Trombly opened after Christmas."

With both her sons in school, Marie began to think about her interrupted career.

Back to Teaching "I'd heard about Country Day, (Grosse Pointe Country Day School, merged now with Detroit University School to form Grosse Pointe University School), and I wondered if I might not be able to tutor some students there. I wanted to keep my finger in the profession . . .

"So one day I just drove out to Country Day and asked to see the headmistress, Miss Coburn, a very lovely person who seemed VERY glad to see me: She must have really needed tutors!"

So began, on a very, very part-time basis, Marie Granger's Country Day-GPUS legend. From tutoring she moved to occasional substitute teaching, then officially joined the faculty in 1926. She retired, at the compulsory age of 70, in 1959.

Started Hobby Shows Should she, perhaps, pack away the tangible memories of those years? Should she pitch out the silver bowl given her as a memento of 25 years of Hobby Shows, a project she started, and ran annually, for a quarter century?

"I went in as a third grade teacher," she remembers. "The headmaster, Miss Coburn had left by then, called and asked if I could come."

"There were 44 children in the third grade that year, (oc-asionally, any school can have one of these huge, "flukey" classes, result of a plethora of eligible, unrejectable students who all happened to be born in the same year), and that's just too many for any one teacher!"

"The headmaster told me he had decided to split the room, put a teacher at each end and give her 22 students. I worked out a system with the other third grade teacher—when her children were studying, mine were reciting, and vice versa—and the year flew by."

Wins A Promotion Next year, Marie Granger was back, this time as English-History-Geography teacher for the third, fourth and fifth grades. The year after that, she had the third grade again.

And then she was named Head of the Lower School, kindergarten through grade three, the position she held until she retired.

"And every single moment I spent out there was absolute sheer unadulterated joy!" she says. "It was all marvelous! I don't think anyone could have had a more thrilling time!"

It was a quadruple Love Affair, between Marie, the school, the Parents and the Children.

As the years went by, many members of this last group, (the Children), "moved up" into the second-to-the-last category, (the Parents).

Marie even had one third generation student, and for a while, her own two granddaughters, Sally and Lole Granger, both of whom accepted their grandmother's in-school position with the delightful insouciance of youth.

Only One Slip Made "I remember just once," Marie reminisces, "Sally 'slipped' and began a sentence to me with 'Now, Nonnie, you said . . .'

"Later I took her aside and explained that, in school, she was just a member of the class and must address me in the same way all the other members of the class did . . . She listened, and said 'All right,' and that was that . . ."

This is Marie Granger's 10th year "out" of school, and she admits, "I miss it terribly." But she's certainly not living on memories, pining away . . . She's simply an honest woman who recognizes the fact that one can't put a period to a 33-year association without a few regrets—and says so.

She's not looking for sympathy: "I've had a perfectly marvelous life!" she says.

She's not trying to find things to do to occupy her time. "I'm extremely busy," she says. "For one thing, I'm blessed with a great many stupendous, wonderful friends."

Fall Disrupts Plans "After I lost my husband—he was ill for quite a long time—I began to make plans to do certain things . . . Then, two months later, I very stupidly fell down five steps at my son's home and double-fractured my left heel and sprained my ankle. That curtailed some of my plans."

Marie stayed with the Ted Grangers while she was mending but returned to her own home as soon as she was able. She likes her home. She's lived here for 20 years; samples from her mineral collection decorate the wall posts on the front porch, the rooms are filled with her things.

Since her accident Marie has given up driving, but she's with in walking distance of her bank, The Village stores and the Neighborhood Thrift Shop, where she works as a volunteer because she thinks "that's a whole of an organization, doing a marvelous job."

Today's her 80th birthday. Marie might have chosen to

SALT AND PEANUT CRUNCHIES

Contributed by Mrs. William Potter

(From The Congregation Kitchen Cook Book)

½ C. softened butter or margarine

½ C. vegetable shortening

1 C. chunk-style peanut butter

1 C. granulated sugar

1 C. packed brown sugar

2 eggs

2 C. sifted all-purpose or pre-sifted flour

1 tsp. soda

½ tsp. salt

1 C. semi-sweet chocolate chips

1 C. whole salted peanuts

Cream together butter, shortening and peanut butter. Beat in sugars gradually. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Blend in dry ingredients. Stir in chocolate chips and peanuts. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto buttered cookie sheet. Bake at 325° for about 15 minutes. Yield: 8 dozen.

spread the word she's only 79; Because her birthday falls in December, she was permitted to finish out the school year even though she was officially past retirement age by 1959.

She might even have elected to skip the whole Birthday Bit: It's her own fault that she possesses a valid birth certificate!

The original certificate, Marie discovered when she requested it in order to qualify for Social Security, had been lost in a fire "or something."

It Took Some Pull She waited and waited for a response from Ithaca officialdom, some sort of legal indication that she had been born somewhere, finally contacted a friend in Manlius whose father had an "in" in Ithaca, and eventually received a legal document stating that she had been born December 9, 1887, and was a Female Child.

"The day," she says, "was wrong. The school corrected that."

"The Female Child was obvious!"

The year, despite the fact that everyone who knows Marie can't quite believe it, was dead right. Tomorrow, Marie Granger begins her 81st year of Perfectly Marvelous Living.

She doesn't care who knows it.

"It wouldn't make much difference if I DID care," she says, "because everyone knows I was 70 when I retired. If I was 70 then, I must be 80 now."

There's no pretense about Marie Granger.

She's never needed any.

Trimming A Palm Or A Pine . . . you really should snap up the new holiday-resort fashions at Walton-Pierce for your at once or future wardrobe. The first of the cruise collection is always the best to take south or stash away for summer. We have not set our sights on the south but on several of Jerry Silverman's and other designer silks and linens. The cruise collection is arriving at Walton-Pierce and we couldn't be more enthusiastic or have things fitted faster even though we are going skiing in pine country for the holidays.

Many Of The Pointe's . . . fashionables are with "the" trend of a smoother hairline and longer hair (after all the curly tops of the summer). When we were in Leon's, Tom was combing out pretty Cherry Buhl's new smoother, longer hairdo and it will get longer she promises. We're trying to get one wave to lengthen and swing a bit. Patience! Patience! However, longer falls and hairpieces do help the process. We'll be highlighting hairdos so you'll see the Pointe! TUzedo 4-9393.

The Gadget Of The Year . . . has got to be the pocket knife case that has a spoon, a bottle opener, a fork and, of course, a knife, at two dollars. We discovered it while gift boutique-ing in Michelle's at Leon, 17888 Mack Avenue.

Everything . . . from linens to toothbrushes can be stored beautifully in Mutschler's vanities for the bath, bedroom, dressing room or powder room.
