AMERICA'S LAST LUNAR excursion in this century brought about a touch of sadness as astronaut explorers prepared to return to earth. Astronauts Eugene A. Cernan and Jack Schmitt, came up with an "interesting and exciting surprise" as they chipped away for hours at a huge mountain boulder rich with minerals believed found in the moon's primitive crust. They made their discovery on the slope of mile-high North Massif Mountain, when they found rocks that appeared to have been formed by cooling of molten material, unlike the compacted fragments they found at the 7,900-foot South Massif Tuesday night.

THE LAST APOLLO EXPLORERS rocketed off the moon and rejoined their mother ship in an orbit around the moon. Challenger, carrying Eugene A. Cernan and fellow Apollo 17 explorer Jack Schmitt from a triumphant 75 hours in Taurus-Littrow Valley, blasted off in a rainbow shower of dust and a little more than two hours later, the Challenger and America, piloted by Ronald E. Evans, docked expertly while circling 72 miles above the cratered lunar surface.

FOUR EXPLOSIONS, all within half an hour, and a fire ripped through a new coke plant near Weirton, W. Va., killing 21 persons and injuring another 10. The fire and explosions started in a coal bin and storage area of the Weirton Steel Company on Brown Island in the middle of the Ohio River between Weirton, and Steubenville, O. Koppers Company Incorporated, of Pittsburgh, was building the new plant for the National Steel Corporation, Weirton's parent firm. The plant was regarded as the most advanced in the world and the "showcase of the steel industry."

NORTH VIETNAM is accused by Henry A. Kissinger of making a "charade" out of the latest round of peace talks in Paris by constantly raising new issues or withdrawing positions previously agreed upon. Kissinger said that peace is only a decision away, and is 99 percent complete. The presidential adviser said that it is up to Hanoi to decide if it wants to be a party to a pact, in "which both parts of Vietnam agree to live in peace with each other."

Monday, December 18

RONALD E. EVANS, who had been the forgotten member of Apollo 17's crew for most of the flight to the moon, and who orbited the moon while his fellow astronauts, Eugene A. Cernan and Jack Schmitt explored its surface, was placed in the limelight. He stepped outside Apollo 17's blistered sides, going hand over hand for 15 feet to retrieve three film cans from instruments at the rear. His was the final space walk in the U.S. moonflight program.

THE UNITED STATES has resumed full-scale bombing of North Vietnam including attacks on the Hanoi-Haiphong areas, citing Communist attacks on U.S. ships. Radio Hanoi called the bombing "devastating," but claimed that it had shot down many American planes and had taken a number of the downed pilots prisoners. In Washington, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird confirmed the stepped up bombing of the North and said that all restrictions have been removed. However, he did not go into detail.

Santa Given Boost by North Co-op Students

Students from the North High School co-op programs are lending a helping hand to Santa Claus this season by answering letters to Santa and collecting toys for distribution at the Lapeer State Home and Training School. Seated, left to right, are North students KATHY KENNEDY, office co-op program; REGGIE VIVIANO, retail co-op program; DENISE KENNEDY, office; and TOM BELL, retail. Over 120 toys have been collected and wrapped by the co-op group, to say nothing of answering a Christmas mailbag full of letters to Santa.

Goodfellows Happy Over Paper Sales

Two Separate Drives Conducted in Pointe Considered Successful by Lions Clubs

Both Grosse Pointe and Woods Lions fell short of their goals in the December 11 Goodfellow Paper Sale but were still pleased with the response.

GP Lions set a goal of $6,000, and Chairman Walter Breyer said about $5,300 is expected with some checks still coming in. Street sales were a little better than $5,000, he said, while 53 Christmas baskets have been requested.

Woods Lions Club President John M. Easton reported a collection of around $2,600 toward a goal of $3,500. A list of Christmas baskets is scheduled to be received shortly.

Both Mr. Breyer and Mr. Easton praised local police officers and firefighters for their assistance during the sale.

Woods Officer In St. John

The Woods Department of Public Safety reports that Lieutenant Roland Symons is currently recovering from a back ailment at St. John Hospital.

Lieutenant Symons, who joined the department August 1947, was admitted to St. John last week.

Lake St. Clair Off-Limits To Skeet-Trap Shooters

The Grosse Pointe Farms Skeet and Trap Shooting Club, organized in 1954, will have to look elsewhere if its members wish to continue their sport, according to a letter received by John A. DeFoe, Farms director of Public Service.

The letter, sent to DeFoe by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, was read by the Farms council on Monday, December 18, formally notifying that the DNR does not approve using Lake St. Clair as a target area for skeet and trap shooting.

DeFoe said that the normal procedure is for the city to obtain a permit from the U.S. Corps of Engineers, which has jurisdiction of the waters, so that the club can carry out its activities during

Public Schools of Pointe Observing Yule Season With Special Programs

All 15 Buildings and Three Branches of Library Scenes of Widely Diversified Events to Celebrate Christmas

Each of the 15 buildings in The Grosse Pointe Public School System and the three units of the Grosse Pointe Public Library is preparing to observe the impending year-end holidays in its own unique way.

The festivities began on December 6 with the joint North-South Christmas tea held at North High School for members of the parents' groups of both schools.

The public libraries, long an integral division of the school system, began their holiday observance with Christmas films for children at 4 p.m. on December 6 in the Park Branch. The program was offered on December 13 at the Woods Branch, and will be presented at 7:30 p.m. on December 28 at the Central Library.

Brownell Middle School held an evening Christmas concert on December 8.

Toy Drive Dance

On Friday, December 15, the Student Council of Parcels Middle School, 20600 Mack avenue, sponsored a "Toys for Tots" fun night. Admission to the dance held for Parcels students was a game or toy to be passed on to needy children for Christmas. Parcels students also engaged in another charitable activity by providing complete Thanksgiving dinners for a number of families in the area. The faculty's Christmas tea was held December 19, and the Christmas student assembly and

Stroke Victim Alone 3 Days

Mrs. Edmund J. Senffleben of 24000 Harvard Shores, St. Clair Shores, tried to reach her mother by phone for two days. When she failed to receive any response, she called The Park Fire Department, and it was lucky she did.

Fire Chief Phillip Costa said that Mrs. Senffleben called the department on Sunday, December 17, reporting that she had received no answer from her mother, Mrs. Jeannie Graham, 81, of 1216 Maryland, and asked that firemen investigate.

Receiving no answer to bell ringing and rapping on the door and seeing no movement in the house, the firemen pried open a first floor window to enter the building. Mrs. Graham, it was found, had suffered a stroke, and had collapsed on the floor in her house. She had bruises on her left arm and thigh. She was unable to move and was prone on the floor for at least three days, the chief said.

Mrs. Graham was conveyed to Bon Secours Hospital by the Department's ambulance. Doctors at the hospital said that the elderly woman was suffering not only from the stroke and bruises, but also from dehydration.

Chief Costa said that at the last report, Mrs. Graham was said to be in fair condition.

North High Students Do Yule 'Thing'

Members of Co-Op Programs Answer Letters to Santa, Collect Toys for Home

Pointe children, as children throughout the United States, have long written letters to Santa Claus around Christmas time. However, it is something unusual for a child to receive a return letter from Santa!

Students from the co-op programs at North High School have made just that happen this year by picking up and answering letters sent to our Santa-in-residence this year, enthroned at Jacobson's In-the-Village.

As reindeer will be carrying presents to Pointe children this year, reindeer also carry Santa's return messages. Hand-written on paper decorated with a cheerful reindeer dangling a red Christmas bulb from one antler (where else?), a typical letter reads:

"Dear Heather, Thank you for the nice letter and picture you sent me.

"My elves and I have been very busy making toys. Since I know you have been a good girl, I promise to bring you a Big Surprise on Christmas Eve!

"Be good Heather, and have a Merry Christmas! Santa."

Explain Program

Two girls in the North High co-op program, Toni Bufalino, in the retail program, and Debby Eppers, in the business program, stopped by the NEWS offices to explain the Christmas projects.

The letters are picked up once or twice a week at Jacobson's, according to Debby, and the answers are sent through the U. S. mails. During the second week of December, over 25 Pointe children wrote mistletoe missives to Santa, promising that they had tried to be good children all year long and then wrapping up the letter with a Christmas present list.

Both Toni and Debby mentioned that the students never promise a particular gift in the return letter, that they just encourage each child to be good and continue helping around the house and say that there will be a special surprise under the Christmas tree.

Records Reveal Pointe Has Head Start on Winter

Snowfall to Date Much Heavier than Normal; Colder Weather Would Have Buried Area If All Rainfall Had Turned to Snow

Winter does not officially start until today, December 21, but it certainly had a head start this year. Pointe area residents, however, can consider themselves lucky that the snowfall was not more.

Wendell Baker, superintendent of the Farms Water Filtration Plant, 29 Moross road, where official U.S. Weather gauges are kept, said that from January 1 through Monday, December 18, the area had 17 inches of snow, and during the same period in 1971, the number of inches was the same.

The difference, he pointed out, is that from November 14 to December 18, of this year, the Pointe had a total of seven inches of snow, whereas, from November 9 through December 31 of 1971, the total snowfall was only three inches.

Could Have Been Bad

The fortunate aspect of the premature change in nature, Baker pointed out, is that from November 14 through Monday's date, a total of 4.62 inches of rain fell, and if blustery "Old Man Winter" had made an appearance with colder weather, the area could have had 46 inches more of snow, based on the fact that 10 inches of snow is equivalent to one inch of rain.

Compared to this, the superintendent said, from November 9 through December 18, only 1.1 inch of rain hit the Pointe, which could have been 11 inches of snow.

From December 1 through the 18, the gauges recorded a total of five inches of snowfall this year, as compared to only one inch for the same period of December 1971.

Baker said that the normal snowfall for the entire month of December is about two inches.

Detroit Had More

Compared to the Pointe's big neighbor, Detroit, Pointers should have little to complain about. Detroit has had 13 more inches of snow this autumn, than the same time last year. More than 17 inches has hit the fifth largest city in the country, compared to a little more than four inches at this time in 1971.

Important!

Since Christmas this year falls on Monday, December 25, and New Year's Day, on Monday, January 1, it would be appreciated if those wishing to submit articles or ads for the December 28 and January 4 issues of the NEWS, would do so on the Thursdays and Fridays previous to these issues. A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all our readers and advertisers.

Pointe Safety and Traffic Committee Joins Merger

By Kathy Duff After more than 22 years of service to The Pointe community, the Grosse Pointe Safety and Traffic Committee will stop meeting once a month as a strictly local body. Because of its outstanding programs, the group will form the nucleus of an area-wide traffic safety committee, joined by communities in the northeast corner of Detroit, the southern section of Macomb County, and Highland Park. The present Hamtramck chapter will be included in the group.

The monthly meeting place has been moved by the Automobile Club of Michigan, the sponsor of the group, to Stouffer's Eastland from the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. The new body will be

Demolition of VFW Post Clubhouse Produces Query from Former Resident

By Kathy Duff

Occasionally an interesting letter will come into the NEWS office and offer additional information on a recent article. Such is the case with a letter received in regard to the story on the razing of the V.F.W. Fred Alger Post, published in the Thursday, November 23, issue of the NEWS.

Mrs. Earl Meininger, a former Pointer who now lives in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., writes:

"On receiving your copy of last week's NEWS, my husband read with interest your article, and photo caption about the razing of the Alger Post of the V.F.W. Since Mr. Meininger was the electrical contractor, (Maryland Electric Company), when it was built and a frequent guest of the Otseka Club, the first occupant of the building, he was familiar with the structure. His father, Albert F. Meininger, was a member of that club.

Recalls Copper Box

"At the cornerstone laying, he recalls, a welded copper box was enclosed containing the names of the architect and the contractors who worked on the building. Also placed in it was a current copy of the Grosse Pointe paper, which we believe was the Grosse Pointe Review at that time.

"Mr. Meininger would be most interested in learning if the cornerstone was simply bulldozed into oblivion or if, by some lucky chance, the box was discovered and preserved."

In an attempt to answer Mrs. Meininger's query, the NEWS first contacted Thomas Kressbach, city manager of the City of Grosse Pointe. It was city business as the City Council had to approve the rezoning of the Alger Post site to a parking area at the Monday night, November 20, council meeting.

Mr. Kressbach said that (Continued on Page 2)

SEMTA Gets Shot in Arm From State

Legislature's Passage of Mass Transportation Measure Means Better Service

By Roger A. Waha

There's joy in SEMTA-ville these days as the State Legislature smacked a towering round tripper in passing Governor William Milliken's estimated $83 million mass transportation package. The measure cleared the legislature Thursday, December 14. It raises the state gasoline tax from the present seven cents a gallon to nine cents beginning February 1, 1973. Around $21 million brought in by the increase will be used to assist financially-troubled bus lines. About half of the $21 million is scheduled to go to SEMTA's Lake Shore Division line and Detroit's DSR, plus Oakland County lines.

The remainder, some $62 million, will go to southeastern Michigan communities to maintain existing roads and for the proposed building of new roads. The State's highway fund also will benefit regarding the upkeep of Michigan's major roads.

Better Service

In assessing the Lake Shore Division's future now that the bill has passed, Daniel D. Morrill, SEMTA's assistant operations manager, said "We are moving towards a better system of public transportation which will result in better service. We've approved the move towards a system as opposed to a number of bus lines, thus encouraging more ridership and making it more convenient to go by bus rather than car.

Mr. Morrill said, at this point in time, it's not determined how much money a year will go to the Lake Shore Division. Rules and regulations governing the use of the money still have to be worked out by the SEMTA board and the State Highway Commission.

FLEC Clinic Had Big Year

The free Centerpoint Medical Clinic, located at Maumee and Neff, sponsored by FLEC, has handled almost 60 visits per month in the past year. This information was recently released by Joseph M. Beals, M.D., who is the first vice-president of the Grosse Pointe Family Life Education Council.

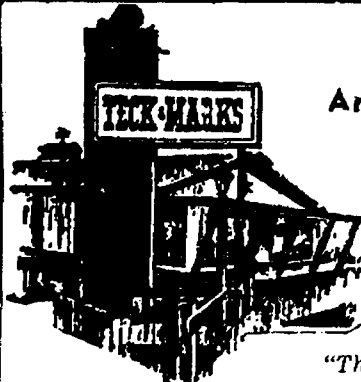

At the FLEC year-end meeting on Wednesday, December 6, at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Center, Dr. Beals reported the successful progress of the Clinic.

According to Dr. Beals, 711 visits by youths, from the Pointes and surrounding areas, covered such medical problems as V.D., pregnancies and drug-related problems.

In answer to the question of why a free clinic is necessary in this area, Dr. Beals said, "When our youth are confronted with social problems, they are embarrassed and reluctant to consult a family physician. The ailments usually go unattended. At the free clinic, referral is made to specialized agencies for further help and treatment. The important thing is that these cases are detected early enough for successful treatment."

Eight cases of syphilis, nine cases of gonorrhea and 79 pregnancies were detected and referred for treatment in the past year.

Dr. Beals paid special tribute to St. John, Bon Secours and Cottage hospitals for providing laboratory studies and supplies. He added, "Without the help of the 27 physicians and 30 nurses who volunteered their time, the clinic could not have survived."

Off Limits

"Lake St. Clair is a major spring and fall migration stopover point for a majority of eastern North America's diving ducks," Gazley stated. "These birds are particularly vulnerable to lead poisoning which results when the birds ingest lead shot while eating."

Gazley said that trap and skeet operations result in a heavy deposition of lead shot into small areas, which may be the same areas used as feeding areas by the waterfowl. The Environmental Protection Agency is presently considering setting lead shot limits in the environment, he added.

A non-toxic iron shot is currently being developed for waterfowl and other small game hunting, he added further.

However, he pointed out, even if non-toxic shot were used, the "blue-rocks" used in skeet and trap shooting would also pose a problem.

NH Students

(Continued from Page 1) for parents if the students did promise certain asked-for gifts, as in the case of a Bedford road boy, five years old, who asked for "a big boat, a fire engine, a jeep and a telephone." Farms Fire Chief Michael Beaupre also wants a fire engine, but his is priced around $85,000. The chief hopes to finance the new truck through two years' of Revenue Sharing funds, but maybe he is going about it in the wrong fashion!

Most of the youthful correspondents have mastered the soft sell as many promised to "leave cookies and milk for you," as two young sisters, living in Fisher road, wrote in their letters. Others extend seasonal greetings, "Have a very Merry Christmas," or offer occupational advice, "Don't forget to put your gloves on this year," (from a Clairview road girl.)

Get Secretarial Help Of course, most of the children got a bit of secretarial help from a big brother or sister, or Mother. One mother of a two-and-a-half-year old Lochmoor boulevard girl took the following dictation on bright pink writing paper: "Mommy is helping me write my letter to you; she is writing what I say."

Santa also got a bit of regional information in the letters, as one seven-year-old Park girl wrote, "I go to Maire School. We learn to read and write there." Great news for the Grosse Pointe Board of Education.

As the business co-op group is answering letters to Santa, the retail co-op group has embraced another worthwhile project. For the last three weeks, they have been collecting toys from three Pointe retailers: Punch and Judy Toyland, Jacobson's toy department and the Woolworth Company.

Toys Sent to Home Over 120 toys have been collected for distribution at the Lapeer State Home and Training School for retarded and emotionally disturbed children. Students from both the retail and business programs wrapped the toys and delivered them to the home in Lapeer, Mich. It is the third year for the project.

In reviewing the two projects, the letters from Santa and the toy distribution, it is evident that the North co-op students are looking to the emotional needs of the community as well as the business needs.

money will be distributed by the State Highway Commission through the Department of State Highways. After that, the package calls for the legislature to take charge of the mass transportation general fund.

Hopefully, the first money will be received sometime in April, said Mr. Morrill. It will be ongoing funding, he stated, possibly monthly or quarterly.

Board Meeting

A SEMTA Advisory Board meeting, with representatives from The Pointes and St. Clair Shores, was held yesterday, Wednesday, December 20. The entire scope of the situation was scheduled for discussion.

Mr. Morrill mentioned the possibility of an interim period agreement starting at the end of this year, with the communities, for continuing support until the money becomes available.

Both The Woods and St. Clair Shores, which pay 27 percent and 25 percent, respectively, of the $5,000 per month operating subsidy to SEMTA, if needed, (and it has been), have passed resolutions saying the communities will not continue participation and subsidization of the bus line upon expiration of the contract December 31, 1972.

It's possible, said Mr. Morrill, if there's no extension, some adjustment in service and fares may be made, primarily in those communities.

Of the other municipalities, The Park pays 20 percent; The Farms, 16; The City, eight; and The Shores, four.

New Equipment

SEMTA plans to purchase new equipment with the money, including an estimated 150-300 buses, with about one-third of the Lake Shore equipment being replaced, said Mr. Morrill. The new buses will have air conditioning and V-8 engines, and will provide more comfort for passengers, he added. The expected delivery date of the buses is sometime during the fall of 1973.

The operational deficit for the Lake Shore line from July 1 to November 30, 1972, is $12,638, which is about a $2,500 average loss per month, noted Mr. Morrill.

With the package's passage, SEMTA hopes the complete picture alters from a glumish gray to a rosy pink. Specifics on how much money the Lake Shore line will receive, the fair increase and service question, further capital improvements — all these remain to be definitely finalized.

Mystery Shrouds Box

(Continued from Page 1) he had no knowledge of the copper box and referred us to Arthur Schmidt, the architect for Jacobson's. Mr. Schmidt's response was similar to Mr. Kressbach's in that the architect had no knowledge of anything in a cornerstone.

The last ditch effort was concentrated on the Adamo Wrecking Company, located on Gratiot, which was given the razing job. John Adamo said that the men are always careful when they come to the cornerstone of a building, as cornerstones are often used for historical purposes, but that they did not find anything when razing the corner structures of the old V.F.W. Post. He added that he was sorry if any historical marker was lost in the demolition, even though no cornerstone memorabilia had been mentioned to him.

Weather Interferes

However, the weather man prevented the last leg of the search, that of searching the razed lot located on Maumee avenue, between St. Clair and Neff roads, as the area has been covered with deep snow since the beginning of December. But it's pretty safe to guess that the copper box has found its last resting place in the Pontiac area, the place the Adamo Wrecking Company deposited the land fill.

And that, Mrs. Meininger, is about the best the NEWS can do in answer to your query.

Merger

(Continued from Page 1) mobile club officials, while those officials can offer safety programs to the police. Often guest speakers attend the meetings, many times company officials presenting the latest developments in the safety and traffic field.

At a recent meeting, a representative of the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company, Allen Rivard, explained a new orange construction color with a high reflection factor. An associate of the Automobile Club, Steve White, explained a new program convincing persons to use seatbelts.

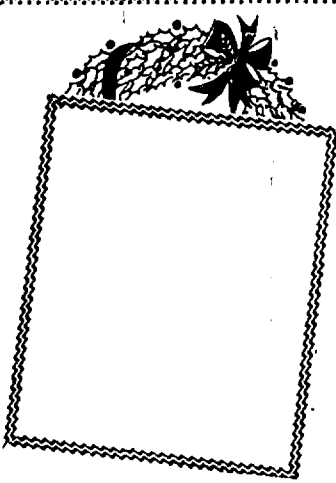

The Pointe chapter of the Safety and Traffic Committee began meeting in May 1950. Credit is given to the group for pioneering a uniform traffic code for all the Pointes, a high school driver training program, (before it became law), and a safe school busing program.

In the bylaws for the new Eastern Metropolitan Traffic Safety Committee is the provision that the group will operate as a non-profit, non-political association devoted exclusively to accident prevention. The guidelines also state that the group will work closely with all official agencies having legal responsibility for safety and avoid public criticism of any public official. The committee is responsible for advancing positive, constructive plans for improving safety conditions in the area.

The first meeting of the enlarged committee will be held on Wednesday, January 31, at Stouffer's Eastland. Regular meetings are scheduled for the last Wednesday of every month.

Cigaret Causes Fire in Kitchen

A live cigaret apparently caused a kitchen fire at the home of Frederick Scully, 521 Oxford road, Saturday, December 9. There was no injuries.

Upon his arrival, Woods Corporal Thomas Kerving found the kitchen curtains burnt and the wall and ceiling over the sink area blistered. Mr. Scully said an ash tray had been emptied into a trash container which may have contained a lighted cigaret.

Mr. Scully's son-in-law, Robert Raulston, extinguished the fire with a sink sprayer.

Then Woods firefighters responded to the first alarm including Corporal Kerving, Sergeant Walter O'Dell, Public Safety Officers Kenneth Metcalf, Charles Philip Hamel, Douglas Dosmas, Robert Kwiatkowski, Russell Allard, Patrick McMath, Patrick Fagan and Bruce Marone.

Pair Accused in Hold-Up Of GP Park Restaurant

Two Detroiters were captured by Park police at Alter road and Charlevoix in Detroit on Tuesday, December 12, and charged with the hold-up of Mama Rosa's Pizzeria, 15134 Mack avenue.

The robbery suspects were identified as James D. Hayes, 28, of 9220 Lewis; and Robert Lee Brown, 20, of 4402 Newport. They were picked out in a police line-up at Wayne County Sheriff's Headquarters, by a female employee of the restaurant.

The woman told police that she was alone in the place when two black men entered at about 12:17 a.m. She asked if they wished to order. One of the men, Brown, said that he would have to call his wife to see what she wanted.

The woman said that Brown returned with his hand in his coat pocket as though he had a gun, and ordered her to give him all the money in the cash register, or he would shoot her. She gave the pair $20, all the money that was available.

The robbers fled through the front door on foot, turned south on Lakepointe and disappeared.

The hold-up victim called police and officers scoured the neighborhood. Patrolmen Michael Kortas and Eugene Magnee saw two persons who answered to the description of the robbery suspects, at Alter and Charlevoix, and placed them under arrest. No gun was found on their persons.

Later that afternoon, Det. William Furtaw obtained warrants approved by the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office, charging Brown and Hayes with robbery armed, and the pair were arraigned before Park Municipal Judge William E. Speer. They stood mute to the charge and a plea of innocent was entered for them.

The judge set Brown's bond at $10,000 and Hayes' at $5,000. Because of the overcrowded condition at the County Jail, the pair were held in the local cell in default of bond. Brown and Hayes were scheduled for examination yesterday, December 20. The court appointed attorneys for them.

Police Chief Henry Cooce and Lt. Gordon Duncan said that Kortas and Magnee did an excellent job in arresting Brown and Hayes, based only on the descriptions they had to work with.

Fire Destroys Dryer, Clothes

A quick response to an alarm by Park firefighters on Friday, December 15, possibly prevented the spreading of a fire in the basement of the home of Mary Mantho, 1007 Three Mile drive, according to information given by Park Fire Chief Phillip Costa.

The chief said that firemen arrived at the Mantho residence to find the basement and house filled with smoke. Going down into the basement, the firefighters found an electric clothes dryer in flames and clothing on top of and inside the machine also ablaze. The flames were put out. The dryer and the clothing were completely destroyed, the chief said. An electrical short is blamed.

If the alarm had not been received on time, the chief said, the flames, which were beginning to eat away at the ceiling joists, could have easily spread throughout the basement, if not throughout the house.

UNKNOWN FLAT-COAT

Probably the least known of all retrievers, the Flat-Coated Retriever, with his silky, caressable black or liver colored coat, is a superb pet, companion and hunter.

This active, intelligent sporting dog from England can mark, retrieve and deliver with great style and efficiency. And besides that, the lovable Flat-Coat is wonderful with children and is a fine watchdog.

Ferry School Concert Today

Ferry Elementary School parents have been invited to a special Christmas program at the school at 1 p.m. today, Thursday, December 21.

Highlighting the program is a production by fifth graders, under the direction of Mrs. Charles Harmison, on the Legend of Befana. In Italy, Befana is the equivalent of St. Nicholas or our Santa Claus. The choral presentation is accompanied by rhythm instruments, recorders, flute, oboe, and stringed instruments, also narrators and pantomimists.

Two Christmas musical numbers have been rehearsed and will be presented by a group of second and third graders under the guidance of music teacher Mrs. David Thomas.

The production was composed and written by David and Kay Maves as part of the Contemporary Music Project in which young composers were sent into the public schools to write music for school children to perform.

The school believes it will be the first presentation of this composition in Michigan, if not in the United States.

Library Offers Family Films

Family Film Night at the Central Library, 10 Kercheval, will be Thursday, December 28, at 7:30 in the Exhibition Room.

An all-color program will be shown, highlighted by a new Walt Disney film, FLASH, THE TEEN-AGE OTTER. Flash, one of nature's greatest comedians has a series of adventures that would last any other otter for a lifetime.

The two other films to be shown are SILENT NIGHT, the true story of the origin of this favorite hymn; and FINE FEATHERS, a fascinating fable about two birds who exchange their plumage for brightly colored leaves.

Pointe Schools Feature Yule Programs

Pierce Middle School.

On the same evening, in the auditorium of North High School, that building's music department presented its choral concert. The program will be repeated at 8 p.m. on Thursday, December 21, in the same location.

In addition to musical events, holiday activities at North High School include Student Association sponsorship of a food collection for distribution to needy families. North High School's Special Education Volunteers will also be collecting usable items for distribution to the needy through a missionary group in Detroit.

The annual Christmas concert to be presented by South High School's musical groups has been scheduled for 8 p.m. on Thursday, December 21.

Parents Are Guests

The holiday season at Mason Elementary School, 1640 Vernier road, began officially on December 13 with a family back-to-school night. William A. Mestdagh, Principal, indicated that several classes are making their own gifts for their parents and that Christmas stories and poems are being written in most classes.

"Our fireplace in the Sagala Library will be aglow with flame and warmth as the students sit beside it and read seasonal stories," Mr. Mestdagh added.

Mason School first graders in Miss Carolyn Harwood's room will provide Christmas carols for residents of Georgian East Nursing Home on December 20. The Mason Service Squad, also under Miss Harwood's direction, will sing carols at the home the preceding evening.

Contest Conducted

Third grade pupils in Mrs. Katherine Templeton's class created a "Classroom Door Decorating Contest" which involved all classes at Mason.

Mrs. John Kubista's sixth graders are sponsoring a drive to collect toys and candy for the Red Cross, while Mrs. Norma Priest and her fourth graders are working on a UNICEF project.

Mrs. Patricia Whelan and her fifth graders are planning an "International Day" on Friday, December 22. Theme of the activity is Christmas in foreign countries, with appropriate foods.

Fifth graders in the class of Mrs. Mercedes Jacobs are presenting to the entire school and PTA the drama, "Hans Brinker," on the afternoon and evening of Thursday, December 21. In addition, the class is preparing a food basket for a needy family.

Trombly Is Busy

"Halls, classrooms, and library reflect the spirit and glow of Christmas," Frank J.

Welchenbach, Principal of Trombly Elementary School, 820 Beaconsfield avenue, commented this week.

"The season gets its greatest inspiration from and expression in literature, music, and art," he said, and added that lists of resources in library books and audio-visual materials had been prepared for the staff. Individual classrooms in the upper grades will carol in the halls on December 21-22.

Special Christmas projects at Trombly include kindergarten children making driftwood and seashell ornaments for their parents, while first graders are making a Christmas "Picture" and are also doing some Christmas writing.

Gifts for parents being made by second graders include string ornaments and decoupage plaques. Third graders are making Christmas candles and decoupage paper weights, while fifth and sixth grade children are fashioning macaroni wreaths.

Special Projects

According to Mr. Welchenbach, special art projects at Trombly include the long-standing school tradition of making stained glass windows out of construction paper for the stair wells. Mrs. Juanita Arndt's fifth graders have made "The Three Wise Men" for display, while Kenneth Gittins' youngsters have fashioned "Flight Into Egypt."

First graders in the classroom of Mrs. Eleanor Pawluk have made forest trees, Miss Katherine Mullaney's sixth graders are working on "Geometric Figures in Christmas," while Miss Betty Bradley's youngsters have fashioned German Bells and sandpaper designs. Louis Jorissen's fifth graders have developed attractive Christmas mobiles.

In addition to the gifts and special art projects being conducted at Trombly, the showcases in the hall and the library center are attractively decorated for Christmas.

Monteith Program

John Hammel, Principal of Monteith School, 1275 Cook road, reports that the school

Having Concert At South High

The South High School Choral Music Department, under the direction of Leonard Ricciuto, will present its annual Christmas Concert, Thursday, December 21, at 8 p.m., in the gymnasium. This concert is for the entire family and admission is free.

Highlights include the Beethoven Fifth Symphony, first movement, conducted by Russell Reed; the Girls' Glee Club singing "A Wake The Trumpet's Lofty Sound" with trumpeters Don Briggs and Paul Miller; the Choralists' song about a hen which laid an egg; the Chorus' rendition of "The Twelve Days After Christmas" and kazoo and kettle orchestra in "Thank You Very Much."

The Towerbells will offer a swing arrangement of "S Wonderful" and the Choir will perform "Twas The Night Before Christmas" in their nightgowns and caps. Written "A Ceremony of Carols" will mark the serious part of the concert, followed by two jazz-rock pieces, featuring an instrumental ensemble.

The Choir alumni are invited to sing the Hallelujah Chorus with the massed choirs and orchestra to conclude the concert.

Patrons are asked to arrive early for the concert, as parking is poor due to the construction.

had a tree-lighting ceremony in the lobby on Monday, December 18, and that the staff held its Christmas tea in the lobby the following afternoon.

A Christmas assembly has been scheduled for 10 a.m. on Friday, December 22. Performing for the event will be the Grosse Pointe North Choir and the children of Monteith.

The schedule of Christmas events at Poupard Elementary School, 26655 Lemmon, Harper Woods, includes a staff breakfast in the gym at 8 a.m. on Friday, December 22, to be followed by the staff singing Christmas carols on the central stairs as the children enter the building.

The Christmas assembly program will feature the Poupard School Choir under the direction of music teacher William Ferry, with audience participation in some of the carols, according to Principal Edwin Wendt.

Christmas at Defer

Activities at Defer Elementary School, 15425 Kerby avenue, include a number of learning activities using a Christmas theme, several featured events, and a number of original activities.

Over half the children at Defer will attend a Carillon Concert presented at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church on December 21. The visit will afford the children an opportunity to meet solist James Scott, to climb the tower, to see the Carillon in action, and to hear the bells ring with Christmas music.

Christmas plays by the various classes at Defer will be shared this year by a technique called "Rent-an-Audience." Teachers will post plays to be given so that all classes will know where and when they will be given.

Fourth graders in Mrs. Frances Whittingham's class have designed permanent mac-a-lac plates as gifts for parents.

Make Ornaments

Mrs. William Russell and her daughter will help youngsters in grades five and six make flour and water Christmas tree ornaments.

Kindergarten children will take home as gifts their silhouettes made by the teachers, using original wrapping paper made by the children.

Holiday story time in the Defer Library Center will be conducted by Miss Betty Frounfelter, assisted by Mrs. Brinkman, a parent volunteer.

In addition to the food, many classes are providing toy gifts in lieu of the exchange of classroom gifts this year.

To Explore Myth

Mrs. Helen Harrison and Mrs. Anne Thomas, Ferry music teachers are having a presentation for the student body on Thursday, December 21 that is related to the myth of Santa Claus.

Dr. Custer Homeier, Principal of Kerby Elementary School, 285 Kerby, reports that all fourth and fifth grade pupils presented a musical program for the PTA meeting held December 18. First and second graders in the class of Mrs. Irene Elkins performed a play, "The Shoemaker's Christmas."

Classes in all buildings of The Grosse Pointe Public School System will be in recess from Friday afternoon, December 22, until the normal starting times on January 2.

Theft Suspect Turns Self In

Shores police arrested a Roseville man last week on a breaking and entering of an occupied dwelling charge. Kenneth Atkinson, 19, is allegedly involved in the burglary of the William M. Schmidt residence, 35 Clairview road, on September 2.

Police said the defendant voluntarily turned himself in to the department and was arraigned before Municipal Judge Don J. Goodrow. Atkinson stood mute and a plea of not guilty was entered for him. He was released on a personal bond of $1,000 pending his Wednesday, December 20, examination.

Another man accused in the case, Randy Wassman, 19, of Detroit, was arrested in September on a similar charge. He was recently placed under the youthful offender act, police said.

In the burglary over $10,000 worth of items, plus a 1968 Cadillac Eldorado, were taken. Thirty-one of 34 antique daggers with an estimated value of $5,915 were stolen along with miscellaneous jewelry, over $2,000 in value, from a jewelry box. The jewelry included 36 sets of cuff links, two watches, 14 tie pins.

Police have recovered 20 of the daggers, and the automobile, totally torched beyond recognition, was discovered in Clinton Township.

Other missing items included $700 in cash, a complete set of underwater diving equipment, valued at $500, a Panasonic stereo set, $200, a Magnavox digital clock AM-FM radio set, $100, a Mexican topaz ring in a gold setting of oval design, $150, an aquamarine square stone with rhinestones, $200, and a round aquamarine in a gold setting, $175.

Alice Haas Set to Retire As Park City Treasurer

By James J. Njaim

Alice Haas of 1091 Lakepointe, the first woman to become city treasurer in The Park's history, will retire on December 29, after more than 20 years of service to the community. She reached 65 on December 1, the compulsory age of retirement under The Park City Charter.

She was the only woman among the municipal employees honored by the Park council on Monday, December 11, receiving a gold charm bracelet with a replica of The Park seal and the number of years she worked for the city.

Mrs. Haas, who was born in South Boston, Mass., and who has lived in the Park for 31 years, began work with the city on August 6, 1952, as a switchboard operator and receptionist in the lobby of the Municipal Building, 15115 East Jefferson. She held this position for two years, after which she was appointed deputy city treasurer.

She retained the latter post for 14 years, until the retirement of City Treasurer Charles Heise four years ago. Mrs. Haas was appointed by the city council to succeed Heise, the first woman to be so honored.

Mrs. Haas, wife of the late Rourke J., is the proud mother of five, a very proud grandmother of 17, and even more proud great grandmother of two boys.

Her children are: Rourke J., Jr., the grandfather of the two oldest of his eight children, who resides in Orchard Lake; Francis W., who with his wife and two children live in Ann Arbor; Mrs. Hugh (Geraldine) Rowan, three children, of Warren; Noreen K., who is not married, of Madison Heights; and Mrs. Gary (Sharon) Flynn, four children, whose home is also in Warren.

Mrs. Haas plans to spend a few weeks of her retirement with her sister, Mrs. Ann Miller of San Diego, who has invited her to visit as soon as possible after her retirement.

Mrs. Haas has three other sisters, Mrs. Frances Breaux of Ocala, Fla.; and Mrs. Josephine Good of Detroit; and Mrs. Henrietta Hintz of Warren. The five sisters periodically have a family reunion at the home of Mrs. Breaux.

"I love Grosse Pointe Park," said Mrs. Haas, "and I will miss working for the city with my colleagues here in City Hall. However, I will continue to make my home here, and will stop for a visit as often as possible."

City Manager Robert Slone said that a retirement party will be held at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial on January 10, honoring the retiree.

"We will miss Mrs. Haas very much, here in our city government," the city manager said. "She has been a dedicated and responsible employee, always on time for work, and very rarely, if ever, missed a day's work. She has held the posts of deputy treasurer and treasurer with honor and trust."

"She always has a pleasant smile and a cheery word for her fellow employees and always greeted citizens who have business at the Municipal Building with courtesy and respect. Yes, she will surely be missed around here."

The city manager's words were echoed by Mrs. Haas' colleagues in city government.

Santa Visits Mason Cubs

Mason School Cub Scout Pack #290 received a surprise visit from Santa Claus at its Thursday, December 14 meeting. Not only did St. Nick bring presents for each scout, but he also had special gifts for all the Cubs' little brothers and sisters who were visiting that evening.

Earlier, during the meeting in the Mason School gym, the following Woods boys received Webelos achievement pins: John Karamanos of Hollywood avenue, sportsman and athlete; John Pamerleau of Anita avenue, traveler, athlete, artist and outdoorsman; Peter Dembeck of Hampton avenue, engineer and showman; Mark Shrieves of Hampton avenue, athlete, aquanaut, artist and sportsman.

More are Jim Prevot of Lochmoor avenue, sportsman and citizen; Chris Dellling of Van Antwerp avenue, sportsman, artist and citizen; Chris Christensen of Lochmoor boulevard, artist and sportsman; John Bates of Van Antwerp avenue, artist and scientist; Marc Luekhoff of Hampton avenue, athlete, and Lee Chevalier of Hollywood avenue, artist and athlete.

In addition, the following Mason boys received their service awards: one-year pins went to Peter Dembeck, Robert Schipert, Lee Chevalier and John Karamanos, while two-year pins went to Chuck Jeffrey, John Bates, John Pamerleau, Marc Luekhoff, Mark Shrieves, Chris Dellling and Grady Short.

WHAT WILL YOU GIVE YOUR CHILD?

The best parent can't give his child all the answers. What he can give him is a foundation to grow on—a way to seek out those answers with confidence.

Every week in the Christian Science Sunday School, children discuss with each other, and with adults, exactly how God helps them each day to overcome problems and limitations. It's education of the most practical and lasting kind.

Driver Caught Smoking Weed

There is nothing like being on the spot when someone breaks the law and making an arrest for the violation, as in the case reported by Park Det. Sgt. James LaPratt at 12:55 p.m. on Friday, December 15.

The sergeant, in an unmarked police car, searching the neighborhood for suspects being sought in several daytime burglaries, pulled up alongside another car stopped for a red light on Jefferson at Maryland.

As the officer was waiting for the light to change, he observed the driver of the other vehicle, identified as Joseph S. Scott, 24, of 5211 Manistique, Detroit, reach into his pocket and pull out what appeared to be a home-made rolled cigarette and light it up. Suspicious, the officer got out of his police car, identified himself as a policeman and opened the door of Scott's car.

There was no mistake, LaPratt said. He whiffed the odor of burning marijuana. Scott readily admitted that it was the weed he was smoking, and submitted to arrest without incident.

Scott was taken to the station, only a few feet away, and charged on a warrant recommended by the city attorney, for violation of a city ordinance on controlled substance.

Scott was released on $100 bond pending a court hearing before Park Municipal Judge William E. Speer, scheduled for January 10.

North Having Yule Concert

The Music Department of North High School will present its annual Christmas Concert on Wednesday and Thursday, December 20 and 21, at 8 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center of the school. The theme of this year's concert is "The Sounds of Christmas."

The program will include the 130-voice Beginning Mixed Chorus offering "Deck the Halls" and "Masters in the Hall." The Intermediate Chorus of 70 voices will sing a French carol "And the Bells Rang" with soloists Robert Rasu and Linda Brucia. The Orchestra of North will accompany this chorus in singing "And the Glory of the Lord," from Handel's Messiah. The selection will be conducted by G. Bruce Feighner, former music teacher and now principal of North High School.

The Concert Choir of 86 voices will continue the theme with "O Come, O Come Emanuel," "We Wish

You a Merry Christmas," and "Glory to God in the Highest" from the Christmas Oratorio by J. S. Bach.

The nine young ladies of the Honeytones will sing two English Wassail Songs as well as "White Christmas." Another singing ensemble, The Pointe Chorale, will complete the theme with its rendition of "Christmas Is," "Carol of the Bells," and "Chesnuts Roasting on an Open Fire" with soloist Rick Altman, Tracy Allen, and Larry Porta.

The concert will conclude with "The Hallelujah Chorus" from the Messiah, performed by the combined choirs as well as the alumni from the audience who wish to participate.

The vocal groups of North High School are under the direction of Herman A. Clein; the Symphony Orchestra is under the direction of Nathan C. Judson.

Tickets for the concert will be sold at the door and the community is cordially invited to attend.

Senior Other Side Saturday

A special Senior Other Side will be held for students in grades 9-12 on Saturday evening September 23rd, from 8:30-11:30 o'clock at the beginning of the public school Christmas vacation in the beautifully holiday decorated Crystal Ballroom.

The theme of the Center's decorations this year is "Peace" and in keeping with the theme the band "Julia" has been engaged for the evening. They are a group which in addition to rock, specializes in slow dreamy music... perfect for the setting and season of the year.

Both individuals and couples are welcome to this concert and dance. Candlelit tables will be placed around the dance floor. The lighting will be the tiny bulbs of Italian Christmas lights on the giant tree and in the ropes of decorating greens.

Admission to this Christmas party is $1.50 for tickets purchased in advance, and 25 cents more at the door.

Center Decked For Christmas

All Pointers are encouraged to visit their Memorial Community Center at 32 Lake Shore where the staff has worked very hard to create outstanding holiday decorations.

PEACE in giant letters over Fries Auditorium together with a two-story Christmas tree on Alger House, topped by a cross, sets the theme of the Christmas decorations. Inside throughout Alger House are more huge beautifully decorated Christmas trees, wall hangings proclaiming "Peace" in many languages, hanging baskets, lighted mantel and mirror ropings, wreaths, table arrangements and a host of angels to make your Center a glory to visit and be proud of.

You don't have to wait for an invitation to come; just drop by with the family and appreciate the beauty. It's Holiday Open House.

St. John Plans Smoking Clinic

A significant number of patients at St. John Hospital with lung cancer, heart disease and respiratory problems are heavy smokers. To reduce the toll from these tragic diseases, St. John is sponsoring its fifth Smoking Withdrawal Clinic.

The clinic, "How to Quit Smoking by Really Trying," will be held on five successive evenings beginning Monday, January 8, at 7:30 p.m. at the hospital.

John H. Burrows, M.D., a cancer specialist will again head the clinic. Also appearing on the program will be the noted crusader in the battle against smoking, Arthur W. Weaver, M.D., Chief of Head and Neck Services at Veterans Hospital.

Dr. Weaver will introduce the smoking withdrawal techniques he has used successfully aiding thousands of smokers in breaking their smoking habits.

Others appearing on the program include Donald B. Smith, D.D.S., Chief of Oral Surgery at Veterans Hospital; James J. Humes, M.D., Vice-President for Medical Affairs at St. John; and Jacques Beaudoin, M.D., Thoracic surgeon on the hospital medical staff.

During the five, one-and-a-half-hour sessions, the withdrawal techniques first developed by the Seventh Day

Adventists and adopted by the Michigan Cancer Foundation will be used. It has been the most successful program yet developed, with more than 70 percent of those attending having been able to quit smoking.

The clinic will include exposure to the full range of the hazards associated with smoking and the positive benefits of not smoking. Group dynamics and the "buddy" system will be used to reinforce the proven methods to stop smoking. Also included will be effective methods to avoid excessive weight gain which often occurs after a person stops smoking.

The Smoking Withdrawal Clinic is free and open to the public. It is being offered by the St. John Hospital Men's Guild, to assist those who have made, or plan to make, a New Year's resolution to "quit smoking."

For free tickets or further information call St. John Hospital, 881-8200, extension 460 or 474.

Petersen Put On Committee

Woods City Administrator Chester E. Petersen has been appointed a member of the Michigan Municipal League's Urban Affairs Committee for 1972-73. The appointment was made by Thomas K. Eardley, Jr., mayor of Wyoming, and league president, earlier this month.

At the regular meeting Monday, December 18, the Woods Council unanimously said they were proud to have Mr. Petersen appointed to the committee.

In a letter to Mr. Petersen, Mr. Eardley said, "I would like you to serve in this important position because the Board of Trustees needs your assistance in the difficult and continuing task of developing League policy and in the review of proposed legislation affecting local government."

The function of the committee is to make recommendations to the Board of Trustees in numerous areas including local government structure, regionalism, boundary adjustments, housing development and urban renewal and land use controls including zoning and planning matters. The committee will serve as a liaison with State agencies concerned with these problems, and particularly with the State Boundary Commission, the State Office on Land Use and the State Construction Code Commission.

Family Helped by Girl Scouts

By Roger A. Waha

The Christmas spirit—Girl Scouts from Troop 204, Ferry School, know all about that.

For 21 girls between the ages of nine and 11, along with troop leaders Monique Raes and Mary Gray of the Woods, have been active since summer to make certain a needy East Detroit family has a "Merry Christmas."

This summer the girls began talking about a special project badge, which they called the "helping hand" badge, the requirements of which were approved by the Detroit Girl Scout Council, said Mrs. Raes. The requirements were ultimately sent to New York.

Social services were contacted and a family was referred to the troop. Since then the girls are personally making sure the family, (a mother and her nine children), have the happiest of holidays.

Mrs. Raes said some of the girls have picked vegetables and fruit from their backyard and helped can the "goodies." They also spearheaded a drive via word of mouth to make certain each youngster has one complete, and neat, set of clothes. And they received some response!

Their parents, some teachers at Ferry, and St. Clair Shores residents have donated money and clothing for the family. Mrs. Raes said her husband told his associates at work about the project and they contributed toward a shoe fund. A Christmas tree and decorations also will adorn the family's home.

Reports Theft Of Calculator

Someone removed a calculator, valued at $299, from the Macabees Mutual Insurance Company building, 19329 Mack avenue, Monday, December 11.

Max Henry told Woods Public Safety Officer Paul Crook Tuesday, December 12, that sometime between 8:30 and 11 p.m. on the 11th a Commodore Calculator, model 432F, was taken from the building's front office.

He also stated there were insurance agents in and out of the building between those times working in back offices. Mr. Henry added the front door was open and someone could have walked in and snatched the calculator.

Pre-Trials Set for Suspects

Pre-trial conferences have been set for the two men charged with the beating of Alfred Glancy, Jr., and the burglary of his Lake Shore road home Sunday, November 12.

Girls Report Exhibitionist

Two Woods girls, 12- and 13-years-old, told police they were approached by a youth who exposed himself, Sunday evening, December 17.

The girls told Woods Public Safety Officer Michael Giffer they left Mr. Tony's Restaurant, 19341 Mack avenue, and were walking through the alley to Severn road. The youth then approached them and asked for a match, whereupon the girls noticed his pants were undone.

After they began walking away, the youth asked one girl how old she was. The girls ignored him and continued on their way. The girls stated the youth had been in Mr. Tony's the same time they were there, police said.

Officer Giffer, after checking at Mr. Tony's, discovered the youth reportedly comes into the restaurant about twice a week. He was described as a white male, between 18 and 19 years of age, around 5'9" tall, and 150 pounds, with black frizzy long hair, a pimply complexion, and wearing a blue jacket and light brown pants.

Detroit, are charged with assault with intent to commit murder, armed robbery and breaking and entering of an occupied dwelling.

Reed's Wayne County Circuit Court arraignment was Monday, December 18, while Williams was arraigned Tuesday, December 19. Both stood mute and a plea of not guilty was entered for each suspect, Shores police said. Bond in the amount of $50,000, two sureties, was continued for each man.

A pre-trial conference is scheduled for Monday, January 8, for Reed, and Tuesday, January 9, for Williams.

Maire Offers New Cookbook

The Maire School mothers have compiled recently the second edition of "Happiness Is Home Cooking," a collection of favorite recipes now in cookbook form and available at the school office. The price is $3.

Mrs. J. Maurice Des Rosiers and Mrs. Michael G. Marrs acted as co-chairmen in assembling the book. Illustrations were provided by Mrs. Daniel A. Schaitberger.

Maire School Principal Donald B. Bassett said that the project will provide funds to help supplement classroom materials.

The cookbook contains over 600 tested recipes and includes a special section on "Children's Do It Yourself." Each mother who submitted a recipe received indirect billing by being identified by her children. So if your child raves about spaghetti at a

Anti-Vandalism Action

The effort to reduce vandalism, begun in The Woods on the part of concerned residents and law enforcement officials, is an action of which the entire community should be cognizant—and support. Because, in the long run, even though the concerted spark has flashed in The Woods, the fires of constructive action affects all of The Pointes.

Some 200 teenagers created the stimulus for this effort when they created what Woods police called a "near riot" situation on "Devil's Night," the evening before Halloween. The teens, without anything beneficial to do, blocked streets, started fires, pulled up traffic signs and hurled eggs at civilian vehicles and scout cars in the area of Barnes and Our Lady Star of the Sea Schools. Police said some residents even armed themselves with clubs, apparently to protect their property if necessary. Should Woods residents, or for that matter, residents of the other Pointe municipalities put up with such a destructive mentality and such waste?

At The Woods' November 20 regular council meeting, a resident suggested an ordinance which he hoped would stop "the wanton and willful vandalism of our property by youthful bands of marauders." Other letters were received requesting the city administration's help in preventing such vandalism. The foundation for action was set to be laid.

The council, at the November 20 meeting, directed City Administrator Chester E. Petersen and City Attorney George Catlin to explore the possibility of some new regulatory type of ordinance applicable during the Halloween period. At his request for a police department representative at the December 6 meeting of the Barnes PTA Executive Board, Dr. Edmund Jaskolski, PTA president, and the board heard Youth Service Division Detective Michael Ferrence speak. From the meeting, five points toward a plan of action were outlined—not only for The Woods' interest but also for the entire community. (For why try to cure a pain in your arm when your whole body aches?)

The detective described the five points: (1) to have Mr. Catlin explore various ordinances on curfew to control this type of activity; (2) to make plans to deal with the schools themselves regarding the organization of activities during the evening hours at that time of year; (3) having parents clubs contact other parents clubs to consider such topics as parents' control over their children and an awareness of mob violence; (4) to talk with retail food businesses to consider restrictions on the sale of eggs and other possible missiles to youths, and (5) in whatever means are finally employed, to discuss the matter with other Pointe communities regarding a uniform program for the future. "We want to go to them with ideas in hand," he said. All of these points are important, perhaps the last, doubly so.

Vandalism costs a community dearly not only in dollars but in staining its conscience, in causing unnecessary anguish among its residents, businesses and schools. Like the most despicable of litter, the scars caused by a vandal's hands can relegate a community into a woeful eyesore.

A starting point has been reached regarding "Devil's Night" in The Woods, and hopefully in the other Pointes as well. For what transpired in The Woods on such a scale this year could have happened in The Farms, City, Park or Shores.

The objective is to make certain that potential "Devil's Night" anywhere in The Pointe, and taking a wider view, vandalism per se, can be so curtailed as to become a minor blight on the community. R.A.W.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

Delighted to read about the motorist who caught up with the kid and smacked him a good one for throwing things at his car. Hope the boy's father had enough sense to add a few finishing touches to a job well done.

Too bad a motorist isn't able to ride along with some sense of ease nowadays without a 14-year-old monster endangering his life.

How come parents don't hear down a little bit on these infants?

The taxpayer is a wonderful source of revenue for school assessments, etc., to help educate a batch of ungrateful brats in the manner to which they feel they are entitled.

Better not sign my name—some 10-year-old might decide to come over and set fire to my house, kill my cats and throw acid in my face. I'll just sign _____.

What Goes On at Your Library

By Virginia Leonard

Recently we purchased a memorial for the Central Library a most timely and appropriate book reprinted by Gale Research and entitled CHRISTMAS. It was originally written by W. F. Dawson in London in 1902. I shall now give you the lengthy subtitle and explanation of the book as it appears on the title page: "Its origin and associations, together with its historical events and festive celebrations during nineteen centuries: depicting, by pen and pencil, memorable celebrations, stately meetings of early kings, remarkable events, romantic episodes, brave deeds, picturesque customs, royal Christmases, coronations and royal marriages, chivalric feats, court banqueting and revellings, Christmas at the colleges and the inns of court, popular festivities, and Christmas keeping in different parts of the world, derived from the most authentic sources, and arranged chronologically."

A delicious turn-of-the-century British air permeates Mr. Dawson's preface. "In the third quarter of the nineteenth century, it fell to my lot to write an article on Christmas, its customs and festivities . . . I became enamored of the subject, for, in addition to historical interest is the charm of its legendary lore, its picturesque customs, and popular games."

Mr. Dawson's aim is neither critical nor apologetic, but historical and pictorial. Here we find materials collected from all over the world, ancient and modern. An effort has been made to give a chronological account of the celebrations and observances of Christmas from the birth of Christ to the end of the nineteenth century. In looking at the various celebrations of Christmas, Mr. Dawson has observed that whatever views men hold respecting Christ, they all agree that His Advent is to be hailed with joy. In closing his preface, he says: "I sincerely wish that all who read it (CHRISTMAS) may find as much pleasure in its perusal as I have had in its compilation."

CHRISTMAS starts out with the first chapter describing the origin and associations of this happy season; the next chapter gives us the earlier celebrations of the festival. From here, we move to the early Christmas celebrations in Britain. Next, Christmas from the Norman Conquest to the Magna Carta, and then continuing on from the later to the end of the Wars of the Roses. Chapter 6 deals with the Yuletide season under Henry VII and Henry VIII. We continue chronologically with Christmas under Edward VI, Mary and Elizabeth, under James I, and under Charles the First and the Commonwealth. Chapter 10 takes us from the Restoration to the death of George II.

Chapter 11 is entitled: "Modern Christmas at home," but is misleading to us as we forget that we are speaking of England and that "modern" is really 18th century! In skimming this chapter I learned that the first Christmas and New Year cards were originally circulated in England in 1846. Only a thousand copies were printed that year but each year the idea became more popular, and by 1880 they had become quite popular!

In Chapter 12 entitled "Modern Christmas abroad," one is startled to find the first subject for discussion "Christmas-keeping in the Arctic Regions, 1850-1." (I wonder how many of us really care!) India, Crimea, Abyssinia, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, the Sandwich Islands, and finally in America!

If you read the article on Christmas in America of this period one must remember the date, otherwise the style and information become terribly funny, when they are not supposed to be. "Today the prodigal once more returns to the paternal roof; the spend-thrift foresees his boon companions; the convivial deserts the wine-cup. The beautiful genius of domestic love has triumphed, and who can foresee the blessed events?" You see what I mean? I find no mention of the Christmas tree, but Santa Claus is there, stockings are hung, sleigh rides are greatly in vogue, and so other modern Christmas abroad are considered in much the same way.

This book contains a mine of information on Christmas of long ago. I can see that it would be very useful in a library of any sort. In these days of contemporary and commercialized Yuletides, it is interesting and certainly different to see how celebrations used to be.

WOMEN'S PAGES

From Another Pointe of View

By Janet Mueller

Last year, Carolyn and Russell Lucas, of East Jefferson avenue, sent a "family" Christmas card, picturing thirty-six members of their brood, children through great-grandchildren, gathered for a happy reunion at Pioneer Huron City.

This year, they've sent another family card—but this year's picture is of Carolyn's grandmother, Amanda Lester Hubbard, wife of Langdon Hubbard, surrounded by her children, Frank, Annabel and Richard, in their log cabin near the tip of Michigan's thumb.

It's not the REAL Amanda, of course. She died in the middle of the last century, aged 26.

But Carolyn has lovingly reconstructed Pioneer Huron City, an early Michigan lumber town, as it was in Amanda's day, and has placed mannequin figures, representing her family, in some of the beautifully authentic rooms of the restored buildings.

Amanda, Frank, Annabel and Richard are one such group. Theirs is the picture on the Lucas Christmas card this year.

And, as always, there's one of Carolyn's original verses to accompany the Lucases' holiday good wishes to all their friends.

This year, Carolyn Hubbard Parcells Lucas has taken the young Amanda as her inspiration. This year, Carolyn's Christmas poem is entitled:

O. PIONEERS

Dear little grandmother you look so young,
Rocking away in your old rocking chair.
What were the lullabies, dear, that you sung,
Long, long ago to your little ones there?

Life was so short and your years were so few,
Time passes swiftly, but memory is long.
Dear little grandmother, I will be true,
I will remember you, dear, and your song.

And, this year, Carolyn has declared a Christmas dividend poem, for all NEWS readers:

HOLY NIGHT

The children stood beside the tree
And gazed in wonder at the sight
Of so much love and mystery;

The Manger in the candlelight,
And outside, shining on the snow,
Etching a pathway clear and bright,
A great star lent its light to show
Remembrance of the Holy Night.

In other words, this is a hairdresser that cares. He doesn't consider his clients faceless ladies in shapeless robes. He considers them interesting individuals. Which is why he studies their faces and clothes and asks about the lives they lead and the way they really see themselves. It's also why he gets the most beautiful results. This kind of hairdresser isn't easy to come by. But if you come by our place, you'll find quite a few. You see, it's the only kind of hairdresser we believe in.

Christ Church Rites For Miss Vaughan

Afternoon Ceremony at Which She Becomes Bride of George David Carter Is Followed by Reception at Country Club

Motoring in Canada are Mr. and Mrs. George David Carter, who exchanged marriage vows Saturday, December 16, at a 4 o'clock ceremony in Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, with The Reverend Arnold Fenton presiding.

Mrs. Carter is the former Margaret Fenley (Wendy) Vaughan, daughter of the Henry F. Vaughans, Jr., of Edgemont Park.

Mr. Carter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Carter, of Guilford, Conn., where the newlyweds will make their home.

A reception at the Country Club of Detroit followed the afternoon rites.

Wendy wore her mother's wedding gown of ivory slipper satin, styled with an heirloom lace collar and cathedral train.

An antique lace cap caught her long, ivory illusion veil, and she carried an arrangement of gardenias, stephanotis and ivy.

Victoria C. Vaughan, honor maid for her sister, wore a frock of Kelly green crepe, touched with velvet at her neckline and wrists.

Bridesmaids, dressed identically in gowns of Nile green crepe, with long, ruffled sleeves, were Mrs. Arthur Cooper, of New York City, Mrs. Bert Ladd, of West Rutland, Vt., Mrs. Winston Taggart, of Champaign, Ill., Mrs. Clementine Lely-Van Goch, the bride's American Field Service exchange sister, who lived with the Vaughans during 1965-66, of Delft, Holland, and the bridegroom's sisters, Janice B. Carter and Elizabeth A. Carter.

They carried arrangements of red carnations and holly, with holly berries.

Best man was Bert Ladd. Ushering were Albert Davenport, John Offredil, Mark Dudley and Jeff Yates, all of Guilford, and Henry F. Vaughan, III, and David A. Vaughan, brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Vaughan chose a powdered blue silk-and-wool jacket dress, trimmed with Alencon lace, and a Eucharis lily corsage for her daughter's wedding.

The bridegroom's mother selected a gown of mint brown chiffon, styled with a pleated skirt and full, bishop sleeves, and a cymbidium orchid corsage.

Anne Stoepel Bows at Tea

Making her bow to society at a tea Wednesday, December 13, at the Country Club of Detroit, was Anne Wingfield Stoepel, daughter of the Frederick Christopher Stoepels, of Grayton road, great-granddaughter of Dr. Arthur David Holmes, the pediatrician who founded the Wayne County Medical Society, and Margaret McMillan Holmes, a descendant of United States Senator James McMillan.

Her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Ray Emery Wadleigh, and maternal great-aunt, Miss Agnes Holmes, presented the 19-year-old Macomb County Community College freshman at the 4 to 6 o'clock party.

Anne wore an ice blue satin afternoon dress, fashioned with long, fitted sleeves and a deep V-neck, and an antique gold heirloom necklace. Mrs. Wadleigh chose a dress of Alice blue crepe, Miss Holmes a Kelly green frock.

The trio received in the Country Club's French Room, where a traditional tea table, set in the bay windows, was covered by a Stoepel heirloom linen cloth and set with silver services from the Stoepel and Davis families.

Anne's maternal grandfather was the late Ernest Guthrie Davis.

Her paternal grandparents were the late Frederick Sutton Stoepel, son of dry goods wholesaler Frederick C. Stoepel, Sr., and the late Mrs. Stoepel.

Anne, a Grosse Pointe South High School graduate, enjoys skiing and combines her studies with work for Dr. Charles C. Markel.

The family gathered after the party for a dinner in Anne's honor, at the Stoepel home.

The afternoon ceremony took place at the Schemm family cottage in Metamora, Monday, December 18.

Miss Merrill Bride of Douglas G. Barry

Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Fries Ballroom is Setting for Reception Following Saturday Evening Rites

A home in Kalamazoo awaits Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Glen Barry, vacationing in New York City following their Saturday, December 16, wedding in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

Mrs. Barry is the former Deborah Jane Merrill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Dale Merrill, of North Edgewood drive.

Mr. Barry is the son of the Arthur E. Barrys, of Mount Clemens.

The 6:30 o'clock ceremony, at which The Reverend John McCreight presided, was followed by a reception in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Fries Ballroom.

Re-embroidered Alencon lace, seed pearls and crystals accented the neck, bodice, sleeves and scalloped hem of the bride's Empire-waisted ivory satin gown.

Matching lace, studded with pearls and crystals, formed two front panels on her skirt and edged her floor length illusion mantilla.

She carried a Colonial arrangement of yellow roses and miniature mums, with trailing ivy.

Honor maid Shari Veenstra, of Grand Rapids, and bridesmaids Denise Butler, also of Grand Rapids, Denise Barry, the bridegroom's sister, and Beverly Mee, of Brighton, carried Colonial bouquets of white roses and miniature mums, complementing the flowers in their hair.

Ivory satin bands defined the waists of their long, moss green velvet frocks. Their satin yokes were rimmed with ivory lace, their long sleeves edged in matching lace.

Clarence Beardsley was his cousin's best man. In the usher corps were Jeff Vandam and Bruce White, both of Kalamazoo, Tim Hogan, of Mount Clemens, James Merrill, the bride's brother, and Scott Barry, the bridegroom's brother.

The bride's mother selected an Oriental style gown, featuring a sleeveless tangerine bodice and yellow, tangerine and charcoal-on-white patterned silk brocade skirt, with a matching brocade jacket.

Remarks by Jerry Gerich
Principal Jerry Gerich was on hand to discuss several areas of interest. He presented statistics on grade performance by each of the four classes at South High.

He also spoke about learning problems, and what is being done for students who do not function well in a class situation, for various reasons.

Isolation is not the answer for these young people. But lack of teaching personnel is a problem.

Mr. Gerich explained how an illness is handled at the school now. Any unusual be-

Well-Deserved Accolade

Henry L. Caulkins, of Lewiston road, a long-time benefactor of Michigan State University, was honored at a special convocation at MSU recently.

Mr. Caulkins received an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree in a ceremony attended by MSU President Clifton R. Wharton, Jr., Mrs. Wharton and some 50 members of the University's board of trustees, administration and faculty.

The degree, citing Mr. Caulkins for his "notable contributions to education," was to have been presented at MSU's June commencement exercises, but due to illness Mr. Caulkins was unable to attend those ceremonies.

Henry Caulkins gave his Pewabic Pottery Company in East Jefferson avenue, to Michigan State in 1966, for use as a continuing education facility. The historic building has been restored and adapted for adult classes and a public museum of Pewabic Pottery.

During the Pottery's Christmas Exhibit and Sale of student and professional work, it is open to the public, free of charge, from 12:30 to 4:30 o'clock Tuesdays through Saturdays. Adult groups and college art classes may arrange guided tours.

Scholarships, which have assisted more than 600 young people to attend the Agricultural Production Program of MSU's Institute of Agricultural Technology, form another major contribution by Mr. Caulkins, president of Waterways Navigation Company of Detroit.

His citation reads: "As an agriculturist and business executive, you have succeeded in many activities through your intelligence and vision. To the

Mr. Gerich touched upon the action necessary in cases of "substance abuse." Separation is used as a disciplinary measure. This can mean being out of school for up to 20 days, but 10 days has been the longest term used so far. The measure can be effective only if parents are co-operative.

Attendance policies have been changed as of December 1. Pre-arranged absences now require a written statement, and at least two days' notice, from parents or guardians, stating reason for the absence and date of return.

In the case of pre-arranged doctor or dental appointments, an appointment slip is sufficient.
Make-up work is entirely the responsibility of the student. He talks to each teacher, and makes up major tests and important papers.

Mr. Gerich concluded by stating that many factors have contributed to the fine spirit of the High School this year. Mainly, there seems to be a turn-around in student attitude.

Joyce has put a lively personality into line drawings that help point out the steps in the 202 pages of ideas Carol has packed into her book.

As the title indicates, the book shows how to whip up useful and decorative items from just about anything lying around the house, from paper clips to used flash cubes, old egg cartons to tin can tops.

Joyce first devised the illustrations for a monthly Craft Letter Carol puts out.

Twelfth Night Gala Scheduled

Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center's Twelfth Night Gala for its patrons will take place in the 100-room Rochester mansion Meadow Brook, former home of Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson, Friday evening, January 5.

A chartered bus will pick up dinner-dance patrons at 6 o'clock at the Memorial. Guests are asked to bring their own flasks or thermoses, in hamper.

On arrival at the Tudor country house, they will be welcomed by roaring fires in the Great Hall, drawing room and library, then invited into the Fountain Room where set-ups will be provided.

Dinner will be served in the state dining room. Afterwards, guests will move to the ballroom for dancing to the music of Fred Netting's combo.

At midnight, the coach brings patrons back to Grosse Pointe. Black tie is suggested, but not necessary.

Transportation, set ups, dinner and dancing are all included for $35 a couple. Reservations are limited, and should be made promptly at the Center's office.

New Breed For New Year

The Don R. Fords, who moved from Ballantyne road to Hartland, Mich., a few years back, and settled into the country life, breeding their fabulous Lancer Arabian horses—are selling them.

But Don's NOT going out of the horse breeding business.

After a series of trips to Egypt he's received permission to bring 17 Egyptian horses over to The States, to establish a new breed here, and, in order to devote himself to the Egyptians, he's decided the Arabians must go.

His wife, Jeanne, admits she'll find it a bit difficult to say good-bye to some of her favorite mares, the ones who know her, but their heads down on her shoulder when she stops to pet them, but she's looking forward to meeting the new arrivals.

They'll be coming—by chartered plane, no less!—in the New Year.

Set Salvation Army Sing-A-Long Today

The fourth Annual Christmas Sing-A-Long with the Salvation Army Ensemble at the London Chop House takes place today, Thursday, December 21, at noon. Last year, many families brought children. The youngsters thoroughly enjoyed the noon entertainment and participation.

Two months ago, the London Chop House received first reservations for this event. Friends last year donated around $1,000.

Nick Kerbawy, a great friend of the Salvation Army, will lead the singing. Everyone's invited.

Live Presents Can Bring Joy, Lessons to Children

To a kid, there's nothing like waking up to the smell of turkey on Christmas morning, flying pajama-clad into the living room and discovering a new puppy or kitten curled up asleep under the Christmas tree!

"Giving a pet for Christmas is just like giving your child a new best friend," says Frank Andrews, executive director of the Michigan Humane Society, a Torch Drive service.

Like having a friend, owning a pet can teach a child countless lessons about responsibility and kindness.

"So give your child a pet for Christmas," Andrews says. "Just exercise some common sense before making a purchase, so Christmas joy isn't spoiled by later tragedy."

The mistakes people most often make are buying unhealthy pets that die just when children have become attached to them, or buying pets unsuited to the families they're being given to.

"People are forever falling in love with cuddly little puppies that turn into 200 pound monsters," Andrews says, "and when these dogs grow up and outgrow their living quarters, they're sent right back to the Humane Society."

"That makes both dogs and kids very, very unhappy."

Before purchasing a pet, ask yourself a few questions about the person or family you're buying it for. Andrews offers the following tips:

Dogs in general don't belong in apartments. They need room to run around, and they tend to misbehave if left alone all day while their owners are at work.

Kittens or tropical fish are much better pets for apartment dwellers—and it's always good to find out what a landlord will allow.

Certain types of dogs are better with children than others. Beagles, like Snoopy, love everybody and make terrific companions for kids.

Bulldogs and mutts also make good family pets because they're gentle and friendly.

Toy dogs and miniatures are great for people who don't have kids. They're fantastic watch dogs—they make lots of noise when anyone comes near the house—but they're temperamental and are more likely than mutts to snap at children.

Cat fanciers have their tastes, too. According to Andrews, Siamese kittens are not for everybody. They demand a lot of attention, make a lot of noise, and get into absolutely everything. Longhairs, though docile and affectionate, need a lot of care.

For most families, common domestic cats are the wisest choice.

Turtles, chameleons and lizards are absolute no-nos. They carry salmonella, a germ which can infect people and cause stomach disorders.

Regarding exotic pets, Andrews tells the story of the offspring of a parrot crossed with a leopard: "The owner ended up feeding it whatever it asked for." Ocelots and other wild cats are not the friendliest animals on the market.

Andrews also frowns on people giving monkeys as pets. "You can't jungle break them, much less housebreak them," he says. "Exotic pets, as a rule, own their owners."

"Unless someone wants to make a pet a full time responsibility, monkeys, ocelots and wild cats are not good choices."

Once you've decided on the type of pet you want, make sure you buy one that's healthy.

"Contrary to popular belief," Andrews says, "puppies only have cold, wet noses when they're in cold, wet places. A nose is no barometer of the health of a dog."

Puppies' eyes should be bright and clear, their coats clean and unmatting.

A simple test for checking the health of a puppy is grasping the scruff of the puppy's neck, and gently pinching its hair up. If the hair stands up matted, the puppy is probably dehydrated, symptomatic of many diseases of dogs.

When buying a dog, Andrews says, it's always good to take it to a vet to have it checked before making a final purchase. If the pet store owner is not willing to let you do this, he may be trying to hide something.

It's much harder to determine whether a kitten is healthy. A normal kitten is spunky and ready to play, even when it's in a cage. Lethargic, lazy kittens are often sick.

Andrews also warns about pet store owners who offer super bargains. Prices for pedigreed animals are relatively constant, so if a pet store owner offers a special deal on a pedigreed pooch, he may be trying to sell you an expensive mutt. Get all claims in writing.

"Whatever pet you buy for Christmas," Andrews concludes, "exercise some care in decision making."

"And buy the pet NOW. On Christmas Eve, almost all the pet stores and animal shelters have been emptied of little furry critters."

So get your pet now, have grandma or a neighbor keep it till Christmas... then watch your child glow with delight on Christmas day.

League Opener Bad for Devils

By Mark O'Keefe

Grosse Pointe South was dumped by Highland Park, 66-55, in their BCL opener Friday, December 15. The Devils hit a cold streak late in the first quarter and played for six minutes without scoring a point.

During the opening quarter, the Devils were shooting with good accuracy and played nearly even with Highland Park. Two quick field goals enabled the Polar Bears to hold a misleading 24-17 lead at the end of the first quarter.

The second period was like a bad dream for the Devils. Good passes were tipped out of bounds and Highland Park rolled up an envious 36-22 halftime lead.

Jim Bird scored 12 of his 20 points in the second half and Dave Gaffey also was hot late in the game, netting 13 points.

In the rebounding department, Jim Seal paced the Devils with 13. Surprisingly, the Devils outperformed the Parkers, 39-37. Unfortunately, South still lost the game which was billed as "The High School Game of the Week" by the Detroit Free Press.

Coach Charles Hollosy noted, "We can't afford to lose another BCL game." The Devils have an 0-1 BCL record, but still hold hopes for a BCL championship. Mr. Hollosy indicated that some good might come from the loss—"I think our ball players really learned that we have to move the ball around well to win."

A failure to run the offense properly was cited by coach Hollosy as a major reason for the defeat. He claimed that this has been a problem throughout the season, but the Devils had been able to win in spite of it.

After some pugh practices during Christmas vacation, the Devil will host Mount Clemens and Notre Dame Saturday, January 6, and Tuesday, January 9, respectively.

Mount Clemens is currently undefeated and has been playing very aggressive ball this year. Dave Jada, one of their better players, can be expected to give both a hard time.

Notre Dame has lost only once and has very big team. Looking ahead to these games and the ones that follow, Mr. Hollosy commented, "I don't think there are going to be any more easy games this year."

Public Safety Officer Jack Treppa was told the culprits took a lady's mink Apollo coat, valued at $4,000, a girl's rabbit skin fur coat, $125, a Magnavox 21" color TV of unknown value, $50 in miscellaneous cash, plus credit cards, from the South Rensau home.

E. Wickline said upon returning home around 8:43 p.m. she noticed a bedroom light burning which wasn't on before. Investigation revealed the thieves kicked in a milk chute door and crawled into the house.

Police said rooms on the main floor were ransacked. Entry into the Hollywood residence also was gained through a milk chute. Harriet Helen Werley told Public Safety Officer Russell Allard she didn't find any items missing at this time.

Police said a desk drawer was pulled out and placed on the dining room floor with papers thrown all over. A small Sears black and white TV was moved from the sink in the kitchen and placed on the dining room floor.

The complainant returned home to find her front door standing open with the storm door closed. She also found a porch door standing open off the dining room.

The detective bureau is investigating both breakings and enterings.

Two girls and one boy had petitions filed for violation of the Controlled Substance Act, (VCSA). Two boys each had complaints filed for larceny, possession of stolen property and disorderly conduct. The two girls were referred back to the YSD for the division's own counseling service. No court action has been taken on the other applications at this time.

Bruin Squirts Stand Tall With Seven in Row

The Grosse Pointe Bruins, the Squirt travel team sponsored by Pro-Systems, Inc. and Mallard, Inc., have a current seven-game winning streak.

In a League game with Dearborn Tuesday, December 5, the Bruins came out on top, 5-2. Bill Seaver scored first on a pretty pass play from Jim Morris and Bill Williams. In a power play situation Morris blazed a shot from the point after receiving a pass from Bill Seaver. John Davies scored the next two goals with an assist on each to Greg Johnston and Robert Brykalski. The final goal was a short-handed one by Mike Burkheiser.

U-L Skaters Win 3 in Row

In the first year of organized hockey competition, the University - Liggett School's Bantam hockey team, (ages 13-14), is off to a flying start. In their first three games, coach John Gandelot's chargers are 3-0 and have surprised many veteran hockey enthusiasts who thought the new U-L Hockey program would take at least two years to develop.

The Bantams were formed earlier this year, largely to give U-L boys a chance to play for the school and to provide a "feeder" team for the varsity—short on qualified players because of the competing Grosse Pointe Hockey Association.

Bantams and Pee-wees, (ages 10-12), were conceived by U-L Headmaster Raymond P. Robbins and varsity hockey coach Tony Elliot. Both of the clubs are Amateur Hockey Association of the United States registered teams.

Mr. Gandelot, a former GP Hockey Association coach, has assembled a few former GPHA players and several first-year boys to put together a hard-skating, fast passing group of enthusiastic lads.

On Saturday, December 9, the Bantams buried the Fraser Cougar Jets, 6-0. Captain Jon Wardwell led the way with two goals and an assist from his defensive position. David Buhl also contributed two goals from his left wing slot on a line centered by Harry Jewett with Bill Gilbride on right wing. Other goals were scored by Clark Standish and Tom Matthews. Glenn Burton made his first game in goal for U-L a memorable one with the shutout. He stopped 10 shots.

The Bantams played the St. Clair Shores North Shore team Wednesday, December 13. Again, the U-L team used its home ice to advantage for a 3-1 victory. The St. Clair Shores team scored first, but alternate captain Jewett tied the score on a neat breakaway after Buhl's pass put him in the clear.

Jon Wardwell then contributed his third goal of the season with a low, blistering shot. Buhl added the insurance goal, also his third of the season, on a neat pass from Wardwell, to wrap it up.

Burglar Steals Rifles, Cash, TV

Numerous rifles and around $147 in cash were among items stolen from a Stanhope avenue home Wednesday, December 13.

Woods Public Safety Officer Donald Schmalz was told by Wayne Merritt, 32, 2369 Stanhope, that someone broke into the home between the time his mother left for work and his father returned from work.

Articles reported missing at this time include a Springfield rifle; a Savage, lever action, rifle; a Ruger rifle; a 22 Savage automatic; a 30 caliber Winchester; a 30-30 Winchester, (a new rifle in a box); a 22 Winchester pump, and a 22 of unknown make with a scope. The rifles are of unknown value.

More items are a Sears Courier woman's suitcase, 28" pullman; a Sears portable black and white TV, about five-years-old; $100 in 10's and 20's; a 1936 silver dollar; six John F. Kennedy silver half dollars; $20 in pennies from a plastic container, and several old coins.

Entry was gained by prying open a rear door with a large crow bar. Upon entering the rear porch, the culprits then pried open a bedroom door.

The crow bar believed used was found on the porch, leaning against the door frame. It may have been taken from the complainant's garage.

Two breaking and enterings were reported to the Woods Department of Public Safety within a 90-minute period Thursday, December 14. A South Rensau road burglary was reported around 8:45 p.m., while a Hollywood avenue break-in was reported at 7:22 p.m.

Public Safety Officer Jack Treppa was told the culprits took a lady's mink Apollo coat, valued at $4,000, a girl's rabbit skin fur coat, $125, a Magnavox 21" color TV of unknown value, $50 in miscellaneous cash, plus credit cards, from the South Rensau home.

E. Wickline said upon returning home around 8:43 p.m. she noticed a bedroom light burning which wasn't on before. Investigation revealed the thieves kicked in a milk chute door and crawled into the house.

Police said rooms on the main floor were ransacked. Entry into the Hollywood residence also was gained through a milk chute. Harriet Helen Werley told Public Safety Officer Russell Allard she didn't find any items missing at this time.

Police said a desk drawer was pulled out and placed on the dining room floor with papers thrown all over. A small Sears black and white TV was moved from the sink in the kitchen and placed on the dining room floor.

The complainant returned home to find her front door standing open with the storm door closed. She also found a porch door standing open off the dining room.

The detective bureau is investigating both breakings and enterings.

The breakdown of total cases for November shows VCSA, 14; larceny, 10; vandalism, (malicious destruction of property) seven; assaults, six; runaways, six; other criminal contacts, three, and one apiece for burglary, auto theft, fraud, liquor laws, family trouble, mischievous children and suspicious persons.

A man can tell when he's on the right road by the grade.

Two girls and one boy had petitions filed for violation of the Controlled Substance Act, (VCSA). Two boys each had complaints filed for larceny, possession of stolen property and disorderly conduct. The two girls were referred back to the YSD for the division's own counseling service. No court

Pointer of Interest

MRS. RAY H. KIELY, OF LAKELAND AVENUE

By Janet Mueller

She was never what you might call rooted in place. "I married," admits Martha Kiely, "a hit-and-run minister," and that marriage took her from her native Ohio to Long Island, to Wisconsin, to Utica and Buffalo, N.Y.

The Kielys didn't flit, like butterflies.

They settled where they landed—five years in Utica, eight in Buffalo—but they DID get around.

In a relatively circumscribed area.

Physically, that is. Their concerns and commitments ranged the world. Then, some six or seven years ago, the Kielys began to range it physically, too.

"One thing after another opened up, often in relation to the church."

Ray was invited to serve as an exchange minister to Britain.

Martha was invited to join the 11-member team that visited nine African nations on the Christian Causeways—Direction Africa, 1966.

New, there's no stopping them.

Committed To Travel Martha Kiely is committed to travel, as a means of fostering understanding, sympathy and sensitivity between nations and people. She's committed to receptive travel.

Such as her "hit-and-run minister," who came, two years ago, to Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. Ray and Martha really fought that coming for a while.

The "Grosse Pointe Image," you know . . . "I didn't expect to like it here—but it's wonderful. We've found the people at our church some of the finest, most concerned we've known anywhere."

That's not the Minister's Wife saying the right words because she has to.

Martha Kiely's not that kind of Minister's Wife.

She's a person in her own right, public speaker and author of articles published in "Guidposts," "Presbyterian Life," "Concern," "The Church Woman," "Outreach" and "Church Management," as well as a book, "Devotions for Women at Home."

She wrote the 1972 Church Women United World Community Day program, "A Coming of Age Celebration," used throughout the United States in November.

Other Activities She's vice-president of the Metropolitan Detroit Council of Churches.

She's a trustee, (with Harry Golden, Dick Gregory, et al), of North Carolina's Barber-Scotia College, which is trying an entirely new approach toward the education of minority groups. And it's working.

She's been active with YWCA's from Wisconsin to New York, but recently took a leave of absence from the Downtown Detroit YW board to concentrate on her travel ministry.

She's an alumna of Ohio University, and has done graduate study at New York Theological Seminary.

She's led Bible Study at Synodical and at the State

Trowel, Error Club to Meet

The Trowel and Error Garden Club gathers today, Thursday, December 21, in the Ballantyne road home of Mrs. Kenneth Davis, for a Christmas luncheon followed by a gardening-or-crafts gift exchange.

building their countries, as quickly as possible.

If an African student had a scholarship to an American college, and a place to live in America, USIA would furnish his transportation over and back.

Simple as that.

And it was a good idea, and it worked, but like all crash programs there were a few "crashes" nobody anticipated.

Many of the students found, after a few months, that they were in the wrong, (for them), schools.

Summer came—and there were 1,500 to 1,800 young Africans for whom no summer provisions had been made. Dormitories closed.

Church Leads Help

"The Church was the first to sense that these young people needed help," Martha Kiely explains.

"The National Council put out a call, asking people to open up their homes, their churches to these students, to help them get jobs, help them get re-located, help them over that first summer."

The people responded. "In Utica, that summer, we had eight to 10 African students. That's how we got involved."

It was a tremendous experience for Martha. She had always been interested in Civil Rights, but here were blacks, many of them born, literally, in the bush, who were making the leap from bush to technology in themselves! People who were actually capable of this . . .

Turns Down Chance Martha Kiely found herself heading a national committee of 500 Presbyterian women, to try to relate to the Africans in their areas. One thing led to another. "We had conferences at the UN." She had a chance to go to Africa—and turned it down.

"I felt I shouldn't, because if my work, (with the African Airlift student committee), were to be valid, it would have to be as an average churchwoman in America, with no special experience or qualifications."

A few years later, she had a second chance.

This time, she jumped at it. Church Women United's 1966 African Causeway team included five black and seven white women. Their denominations differed. They had different interests, different backgrounds. They came from different parts of the United States.

Two, one black, one white, were from Alabama. They all cared. They journeyed into Africa together, and spent 10 days as overseas guests at the World Council of Churches Center in Mindolo, Zambia, in conference with African women leaders.

Each team member then received a special assignment. Martha's took her into South Africa for three weeks of "keeping still, listening and learning." She travelled alone, and was guest of the local church group wherever she travelled. The denomination of the host church didn't matter. Martha came under auspices of the Christian community, and was the Christian community's responsibility.

She had official permission to travel where she liked. She had tea in the homes of blacks and color-eds, (although she always had to sleep overnight in a white home). Government spokesmen explained their country's official positions. Private citizens expressed private support, or doubt, or support-and-doubt.

Martha kept still and listened.

Makes Discoveries "I discovered there are all kinds of people, all kinds of different attitudes. I got to see under the surface."

The following spring, the Kielys had an opportunity to go to the Middle East. They went—and no sooner were they back, when the Council of Churches in Buffalo asked if they'd like to take a group to the Middle East.

They would indeed. Ray and Martha Kiely, physical travelers at last, had begun to notice something.

"Our experiences, going to the same places others had gone, were so DIFFERENT.

We began to realize there was a real need to help people see beneath the surface."

They've been trying to meet that need ever since. Next spring, they'll lead a group of 40 people from Memorial Church through the Middle East. They'll begin in Geneva, with a briefing on the Middle East at World Council of Churches headquarters. They'll make contact with as many contacts as they can, wherever they go. They'll look, not merely at, but into.

Martha, working in conjunction with a travel agent, using her own entrees, is handling arrangements for the trip. As usual.

Travel Is Wonderful "I think the fact that people are travelling, are able to travel, is wonderful. Because if we did this, and did it sensitively, it could make such a difference . . .

"How few people ever really go to Africa! They fly by the thousands into Nairobi, fly off to see the animals, come back to their hotels at night. I did this—this is wonderful—but it's such a tiny little part of Africa."

"The exciting things that are happening in the world are what are happening to whole peoples. Remember: The African continent was under colonialism less than 100 years. The Africans managed before; they will again. "If we could travel and try to find out what's happening, what could happen, wherever we go, it would enrich our lives."

It has Martha Kiely's. Of course, she was never what you might call rooted in place.

This year more than any other year we extend our blessings and thank-yous to our police and fire departments. It seems to me everytime I picked up the Grosse Pointe News one of our men was risking his life to save someone from a drowning, shooting or some other catastrophe. Last year seemed to be open season on policemen and I sure would like to see a little less leniency for the offenders and a little more appreciation for the officer. "Cause man, when you need 'em there ain't no substitute!" So Merry Christmas and a safer, happier New Year from all of us at Studio Camera.
