FARMS CORPORALS WIN FIGHT

HEADLINES of the WEEK As Compiled by the Grosse Pointe News

Thursday, December 27

FUEL OIL DEMANDS are still rising in spite of the Nixon administration's pleas for cutbacks, according to the latest official figures. The conservation figures represent the poorest showing since the energy office began keeping a weekly scorecard. Demand for other fuels was below the weekly forecast, but only a half million barrels a day were saved compared to the average of the preceding four weeks of a million barrels daily. Gasoline demand was down nearly nine percent and statements by officials again reflected hope that rationing will not be necessary. Nevertheless, a standby rationing plan is expected to be introduced.

Friday, December 28

WILLIAM E. SIMON, Federal Energy Administrator, announced a standby gasoline rationing plan that would limit drivers to a 32 to 35 gallon monthly average. Coupons would only be issued to licensed drivers 18 and over and would be bought and sold on the open market. The number of coupons each driver could get would vary from place to place, depending on local needs as measured by population density and availability of mass transit. Drivers who can't get by on their weekly quota of eight gallons will have to buy more coupons from drivers who don't need all of theirs. Energy officials indicated that by making the standby rationing plan public, they hope to spur more voluntary cooperation so that rationing won't be necessary.

Saturday, December 29

GENERAL MOTORS CORPORATION announced the indefinite layoff of 38,000 workers, six percent of their total U.S. work force, as a result of the energy shortage and slumping sales in the big car market. Another 48,000 workers will face temporary layoffs. The 38,000 workers subject to indefinite layoff will be let go the weeks of January 21 and January 28. Those temporarily laid off will miss up to 10 days work in either January or February.

Sunday, December 30

PRESIDENT NIXON signed a bill authorizing direct subsidies of $250 million to demonstrate the feasibility of a national network of health maintenance organizations, (HMO's). These are centers, where, for a single annual fee a family is assured of receiving a year's health care no matter how frequently a doctor's services might be required. Supporters believe HMO's will promote better health care since people would not have to think in terms of cost at the first sign of ill health, and thus, would not be as reluctant to see a doctor.

Monday, December 31

THE FEDERAL ENERGY AGENCY is investigating whether fuel shortages have led to abnormal stockpiling by refiners and others. The agency is looking into the fuel inventory practices of refiners, importers, wholesalers and ultimate users of crude oil or refined products. The agency is concerned that excessive stockpiling could lead to local shortages and the disruption of normal distribution. Energy chief William Simon also announced that willful violators of mandatory fuel allocation regulations would be prosecuted.

Attempt to Elude Police Ends in Crash

The above automobile was driven by John P. Shada of 770 Shoreham, who lost control of the vehicle, struck an Edison pole, shearing it from its base, and came to rest on the lawn on the Ridge road side of Gabriel Richard School between McMillan road and McKinley avenue. A passenger in the car, David Lee Wilton of 20951

Lancaster, Harper Woods, suffered minor head and chest injuries. Spada lost several front teeth and a cut lower lip. Farms police charged Shada with reckless driving, (in excess of 80 miles an hour). The chase began shortly after midnight on Thursday, December 27.

Symphony Concert Set For Jan. 22

Young Violinists and Trumpeter Being Featured in Program at Parcels School

Grosse Pointe Junior Symphony will be in concert Tuesday, January 22, at 8 p.m. in the Parcels Auditorium. The musicians are under the direction of Nathan C. Judson, head of the instrumental music department of North High School.

The program includes selections from Grieg, Bach, Dittersdorf, Hummel, Lecount and Anderson.

Featured in Bach's Concerto for Two Violins are David Reed and Carrie Smith. Carrie, a 10th grade student at University-Liggett, began studying violin in 1968 when she was in the 5th grade at Montclair. She performed solos in 7th, 8th and 9th grades at the Solo and Ensemble Festival and received a first division rating as a member of a string quartet at the State Festival in 1973. A recipient of a scholarship to attend the National Music Camp at Interlochen in 1972, she has been a member of the Grosse Pointe Symphony for two seasons.

FLEC Alcohol Education Committee Continuing Program; Meeting Jan. 17

Robert Sternberg Will Be Speaker Scheduled at 8 p.m. in Board room of St. John Hospital

FLEC's Alcohol Education Committee has scheduled its next meeting on Thursday, January 17, at 8 p.m. in the board room of St. John Hospital. Featured speaker will be Robert Sternberg, coordinator of Substance Abuse Preventive Education for the Michigan Department of Education, Lansing. His remarks will concern the "Most Promising Ideas for Alcohol Education."

After the overflow meeting held in November on the formation of the Alcohol Study Committee, two subcommittees were formed. Chairing the subcommittee on Alcohol Treatment Resources is Arthur Sherman. James Cnockert is chairman of the Alcohol Education Information. Serving as chairman of the Alcohol Study Committee is Robert Sullivan.

Speaks To Youth
In announcing the new alcohol program, Dr. Jack Williams, FLEC president, pointed out that alcohol has long been the drug most abused by adults and now increasingly by youth. In order to develop a realistic, workable education program, committee members have been drawn from various groups within the community. Included are high school students, teachers, counselors, doctors, church leaders, AA members and civic leaders.

At the mid-November meeting, Judge George Bashara, recently appointed chairman of the new State Commission on Substance Abuse Services, outlined the state's goals and urged action in Grosse Pointe.

One of the proposed goals of the new committee is to make available for discussion accurate information, (speakers and materials), on alcohol to representatives of the Grosse Pointe-Harper Woods schools, churches and other organizations.

One Problem Cited

A problem singled out by FLEC is that adults' attitudes toward alcohol must be dealt with before or simultaneously with the development of alcohol education for youth. A family approach to the problems of alcohol is being considered. Dr. Morris Chafetz, director of the National Institute of Alcohol and Drug Abuse, recently said, "People in America are never going to come to grips with the drug problems of youth until they take a long, hard look at how they use, and misuse, alcohol themselves."

Because hard drugs posed such a threat to the community in recent years, the ever-present problem of alcohol abuse was pushed aside. Parents have been known to remark, "At least it wasn't drugs" when a teenager is brought home drunk. FLEC is trying to decide what is a sensible attitude toward alcohol, if it is a legal drug which the majority of people do not abuse.

Planning Programs

During the next few months, the alcohol study committee will be evolving programs to educate the community on alcohol abuse and programs for treatment.

CORRECTION

In last week's issue of the NEWS, December 27, it was reported that a house attached garage was considerably damaged on the property of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Metz, 1036 Balfour. This was on the property of Mrs. Dale Metz, not Mr. and Mrs., and the address should have been 515 Middlesex, not the Balfour address. The error is regretted.

Crash Ends Wild Chase Of Speeder

Driver, Passenger Injured When Driver Lost Control and Hit Light Pole on Ridge Road

John P. Shada, 26, of 770 Shoreham, was arrested by Farms police early Thursday morning, December 27, and charged with reckless driving, following a wild chase. The chase ended when Shada lost control and crashed into an Edison pole in Ridge road, between McMillan and McKinley, shearing it from its base.

The arresting officer, Patrolman John Kraiza, said that he pursued Shada at a speed in excess of 80 miles an hour and temporarily lost sight of the car when it turned the curve on Ridge from McMillan. When he passed the curve, the policeman said, he saw the car, a 1970 brown Plymouth, resting on the lawn of the Gabriel Richard School, between McMillan and McKinley, where it had come to a stop after hitting the light pole.

Passenger Injured

Kraiza said that a passenger in the vehicle, David Lee Wilton, 22, of 20951 Lancaster, Harper Woods, suffered minor head and chest injuries. Spada lost several front teeth and suffered a deep cut on the lower lip and was taken to St. John Hospital by Patrolman Philip Miglio. The lip wound required several stitches to close and he was released after treatment.

Kraiza said that he was cruising on Chalfonte at 12:17 a.m., heading west, and was east of Kerby road when he observed a late model Plymouth traveling south on Kerby at a very high rate of speed.

Kraiza stated in his report that he turned right onto Kerby and began pacing the other car. The officer said that he was traveling 70 miles an hour trying to pace the other driver, who was pulling away.

Turned Off Lights

The patrolman said that the driver of the pursued car, later identified as Shada, made a right turn onto Ridge and at Merriweather, Shada turned off his car lights.

Kraiza said that he turned on the scout car flasher and the automatic siren and (Continued on Page 4)

Woods Officers' Pay Contract Put Into Arbitration

Intensive Negotiations During December Fail to Produce Agreement; To Make Final Offers at January 14 Meeting

By Roger A. Waha

After intensive negotiation sessions, (held throughout early to mid-December), failed to produce an agreement, the Grosse Pointe Woods Police Officers Association, (GPWPOA), and the city commenced arbitration Friday, December 21, towards settlement of the 38-member association's two-year contract, (from July 1, 1973, to June 30, 1975).

At the December 21 meeting, sides stated their cases will now present final at the next session, scheduled for Monday, January 14. On this, GPWPOA president Patrick Fagan said, "We have to figure out the cost value on what we want for an overall package."

Wages in Dispute

When asked what the main sticking point was, Officer Fagan stated, "Wages — to the extent that we could not come to an agreement with the city to define public safety. Our main objective in arbitration is to define public safety and put a percentage on public safety duties, (i.e., a specific percentage about what an officer receives for firefighting duties)."

Of the Pointes, only The Woods and Shores have public safety departments where officers are responsible for both police and firefighting duties. The Park, Farms and City have separate police and fire departments.

Increases Requested

The GPWPOA is requesting an increase in police wages, plus a precise percentage for firefighting duties, i.e., premium pay. This fire premium pay, the percentage of which would stay the same each year, would stay in proportion to the police wage in years ahead, said Officer Fagan, who added, "Then fire premium pay wouldn't be an issue in future bargaining."

At this time, public safety officers are working under the 1972-73 fiscal year contract. A four-year man, under that contract, receives $12,725 plus $900 premium pay, making a grand total of $13,625.

In attempting to reach specific figures, Officer Fagan said the association considers what wages other Pointe police and fire departments are receiving for duties performed. "How much is firefighting and the ambulance service worth?", he questioned, and then said he didn't feel the $900 was justified. He added, "As the cost for police services go up, the cost of fire services go up."

Two Major Jobs

The officer feels each man has two major jobs, police work and firefighting, and wants a salary to reflect this. City Administrator Chester E. Petersen, who's presenting the city's case during arbitration, said, "We propose to pay them a base police salary of $300 more than the average of the other four Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods Police Departments, plus double time for each hour's participation during a (Continued on Page 2)

Set Meeting To Discuss Woods Law

Proposed Ordinance To Govern Outdoor Storage Will Be Aired on January 10

A meeting has been scheduled for Thursday evening, January 10, to explore The Woods' proposed ordinance to provide for the regulation of the outside storage of boats, various trailers, (boat, utility, travel, house), and other recreation equipment, reported Councilman Ronald R. Keegen, Parks and Recreation Committee chairman.

The gathering is set for 7 p.m. at The Woods Municipal Building, 20025 Mack avenue, at which time the councilman and representatives from the "Grosse Pointe Woods Recreational Vehicle Owners Association" are scheduled to focus upon the proposed measure, discuss suggestions to improve upon it and consider other similar ordinances.

Under Study

This ordinance, which has been under study for one and a half years, was once again referred to the Committee of the Whole for further scrutiny by the council at the regular meeting, December 17.

At that time, the solons authorized Mr. Keegen to meet with concerned citizens and to explore ways to improve upon the measure so numerous residents' complaints could be alleviated. Mr. Keegen said the meeting is open to the public.

BROWNELL'S TD

Brownell has a very good TD record this year. That is, as far as the United Foundation Torch Drive '73. This year, the school collected $695, over last year's total of $500, even though Brownell has 200 fewer students. The class which gave the most was Thomas Neil's eighth grade by contributing $74.14. The students earned the money by bake sales, gum permits and slave buying (when a student offers his services for a certain amount of time).

Association Upheld in Legal Battle

Appellate Court Turns Down Administration Request to Reverse MERC Decision

The Michigan Appellate Court, by a vote of 2-1, refused to accept an application submitted by the Farms Administration asking the court to review and reverse a recent decision of the Michigan Employment Relations Commission which declared police corporals as non-supervisors, it was disclosed on Monday, December 31.

Douglas Korney, attorney for the Grosse Pointe Farms Police Officers Association (GPFOA) said that the majority decision not to hear the matter was made on Tuesday, December 18. This means, the lawyer said, that the two corporals in the Police Department are members of and are still represented by the GPFOA in union and bargaining matters. The corporals are Donald Wooten and Otto Glanert.

Enacted Ordinance

Approximately two years ago, the Farms enacted an ordinance creating the position of corporals, and classed them in the same supervisory capacity as sergeants. The city since then refused to accept the Association as the bargaining agent, claiming that the position was supervisory, and therefore the Association could not bargain on behalf of the men of that rank. Glanert and Wooten won their promotion through competitive examinations.

Korney, representing the GPFOA, said that inasmuch as the Farms refused to allow the Association to be the bargaining agent for the corporals, the matter was challenged before the Michigan Labor Relations Board.

The Board ruled in favor of the Association, stating that the corporals were members of the GPFOA and that the organization was their sole bargaining agent. The MLRB therefore ordered the city to bargain with the Association in all matters pertaining to wages, working conditions, etc., on behalf of the corporals. Shlomo Speraka was the trial examiner.

Decision Appealed

The Farms refused to accept Speraka's decision and took the matter before the MERC, which upheld Speraka's ruling, after several months of fact finding. The Commission stated that Speraka's decision was proper and the city was again ordered to bargain with the Association with respect to the corporals.

The Farms then appealed the matter to the Michigan Appellate Court, which by a majority vote of the three-member tribunal, declared that the city's appeal was without merit and that the MERC order should stand.

Korney said that the two judges who refused to hear the Farms' appeal were John Gillis and Jerome Bronson. In favor of a hearing (Continued on Page 2)

Lesson in Human Kindness Learned by Police Officer

By Roger A. Waha

Some members of the Grosse Pointe Woods Police Officers Association, (GPWFOA), expressed dismay when they were told by the city Thursday morning, December 27, that they couldn't continue volunteering their time to work the shift of one of their colleagues, (who is recovering from hepatitis), so he would get paid.

But that same afternoon, the situation was straightened out, reported GPWFOA President Patrick Fagan who met with City Administrator Chester E. Petersen. The officer said, "The city came over with some vacation time, (11 days), by way of pro-rating his vacation days. There's no need now for us to work for the man as he will be covered while he's off." He added, "We're perfectly satisfied with the way things turned out."

'Know Your Grosse Pointe' Local History Reservoir

By Kathy Duff

A perfect way to spend a slushy January afternoon is by reading "Know Your Grosse Pointe" published by the League of Women Voters. The booklet proves invaluable for a person who wishes to know the governmental structure of the five Pointes. Yet more importantly, it proves to be a reservoir of fascinating information on the history of Grosse Pointe.

For example, did you know that Ridge road was so named because it is the highest line of land in The Pointe and is believed to represent the prehistoric beach line that extended to Chicago? The theory is borne out by the sandy soil that has been found in excavation.

Also, did you know that flags of three countries have flown over The Pointe? The territory which is now Michigan was explored by Etienne Brule in 1618, even before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth, and because of the many French explorations, the area was claimed by France. After the treaty of 1763, which ended the French and Indian War, the territory belonged to the British. At the end of the Revolutionary War, the British gave the land to the United States. Michigan was admitted to the Union as the 26th state with its present boundaries.

Did you know that Grosse Pointe was once a part of Hamtramck Township?

Continuing, he stated, "We also are saying because of wage guidelines that our total new monies, i.e., salary and fringe benefits, for the current fiscal year, (1973-74), shall not exceed seven percent over fiscal year 1972-73, and new monies for fiscal year 1974-75 shall not exceed six and one half percent over fiscal year 1973-74."

The three-member arbitration panel includes City Comptroller-Assessor Frederick G. Hornfisher, who's representing the city; Leonard Page of the UAW, who's representing the GPWFOA, and the mutually agreed upon party, Richard Block, panel chairman, who was appointed by the Department of Labor, Employment Relations Commission.

Attorney Michael C. Kovaleski is presenting the GPW-POA's case during arbitration. Woods City Attorney George Catlin also is presenting the city's case.

FLEC Sounds Volunteer Call

Volunteer participation plays a major role in most FLEC programs. Additional volunteer doctors and nurses are needed for the voluntary medical clinic.

Started in October, 1971, FLEC doctors and nurses have seen 1,605 patients. The medical clinic is open every Tuesday and Friday evening 7 to 9 p.m. Volunteer doctors and nurses are needed who will work for two hours once a month.

Volunteers are also needed at the FLEC administrative office located at 20943 Mack. The FLEC office is open 9 to 3, Monday through Thursday. The FLEC office needs several volunteers who can type and are willing to work one day a week so that the volunteer will be a real part of the office program.

Anyone wishing to volunteer may call the FLEC office at 885-3510. Doctors or nurses who wish to volunteer may call the FLEC office or contact Dr. Joseph Beals, chairman of the volunteer medical clinic, at 884-1460.

ing was Judge John O'Hara. Patrolmen John Farley and Clarence Reichling, president and vice-president, respectively, of the Association, were elated by the court's majority decision. They claimed that the city unilaterally created the position of corporal, declaring those holding that rank to be supervisors, in order to weaken the police union by eliminating them as members of the Association.

Allegation Denied

This allegation was denied by City Manager Andrew Bremer, Jr., and others of the administrative staff.

Korney said that the main question was whether or not corporals were still members of the Association, or were they supervisors, as the Farms city officials contended.

The Association president and vice-president expressed their appreciation to Carl Parsells, executive director of the Police Officers Association of Michigan (POAM), and to Farms Patrolman Kenneth Pine, POAM board member, who were instrumental in furnishing information and other findings, which materially assisted the GPWFOA in its legal victory.

The Farms police group is affiliated with POAM.

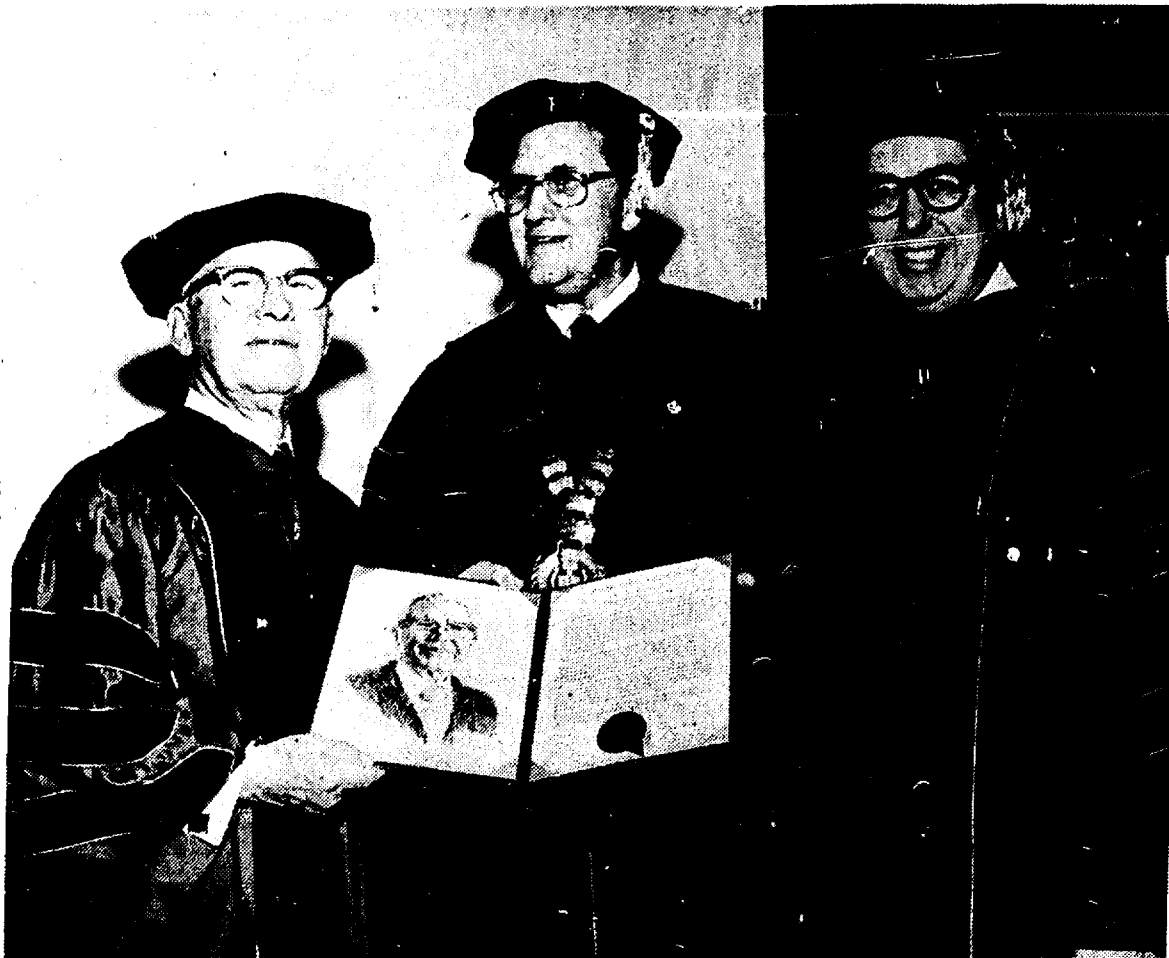

Woods Receives Update on B-E

The Woods Department of Public Safety received further information on missing articles after a burglary of a West Ida lane residence Saturday evening, December 15. Police reported the total, estimated value of items taken was $3,168.

These goods include eight guns, (e.g., rifles, revolvers), miscellaneous jewelry, a General Electric portable 17-inch color television set and a sport coat.

Officers received later information on the articles Wednesday, December 19.

Museum Offers Antiques Talks

Thompson R. Harlow, director of the Connecticut Historical Society, is the next speaker in the 22nd annual Henry Ford Museum Antiques Lecture Series. Mr. Harlow's illustrated lecture will be presented in the Museum Theater on Friday, January 11, at 8:30 p.m.

The theme of this year's series is "Americana Collections in the Major State Historical Societies." Mr. Harlow's talk will examine "The Connecticut Historical Society Collections."

It is the third in the current series of seven talks. The historical societies, formed along the eastern seaboard between 1791 and 1844, have built major specialized collections of the American decorative arts.

Mr. Harlow has been associated with the Connecticut Historical Society since 1938. In addition to being director, he is also the Society's librarian, a position he assumed in 1940. He became director in 1950. He also served as editor of the Society's Bulletin from 1940 to 1954. He is a member of the Colonial Society of Massachusetts, the Massachusetts Historical Society, the Society of Colonial Wars, the Society of Mayflower Descendants and the American Antiquarian Society.

Tickets for the lecture are $2 each and will be available at the Museum Theater box office beginning one hour before the lecture. The Henry Ford Museum Decorative Arts Galleries will be open that night so that those attending may tour them before the lecture begins.

For additional information, Pointers may call 271-1620, ext. 386.

A 22-year-old Detroit man, who admitted to St. Clair Shores police that he held up the Grosse Pointe Valet Cleaners, 2155 Mack Avenue, Monday evening, November 5, has been bound over to Macomb County Circuit Court for trial for armed robbery, Woods police reported.

The suspect, police said, admitted to approximately 30 armed robberies in St. Clair Shores, Roseville, Harper Woods, East Detroit, Sterling Heights and Fraser.

Woods officers said late last month no formal court action will be taken by their department as there were three warrants for the suspect's arrest from St. Clair Shores, East Detroit and Fraser.

Booklet Gives Wealth of Information on Pointe

It seems that Grosse Pointe City was Sin City in its day. Before 1893, the Village of Grosse Pointe included what are now The City and The Farms. However, in 1893, the Farms' residents withdrew to form their own village because of their objection to licensed saloons operating in the original village. Today, The Farms is noted for its different attitude.

As farm property was subdivided, three other villages, The Park (1907), The Shores (1911) and Lochmoor (which is now The Woods) (1927) incorporated.

By reading the booklet, you can also get the lowdown on your fellow citizens and your elected trustees. In the last national election, 90 percent of Shores voters appeared at the polls, while only 80 percent of City and Farms residents made a showing. However, The City leads the other Pointes by having a 30 percent turnout at the last local election, whereas The Park had a show of only 13 percent. As far as the local elected officials, each Farms Councilman receives $600 per year; the mayor receives $900. The Woods follows with a $400 check for each councilman and a $600 check for the mayor. In the other three Pointes, the councilmen donate their expertise.

The center of the booklet contains a cream-colored inset which delves into the early history of Detroit. Fox Creek was named after a bloody massacre which eliminated the Fox Indian tribe.

Since fur trapping had become so lucrative for the French outposts in Fort Pontchartrain, the British bribed the Fox Indians (who would fight just about anybody), to attack and destroy Pontchartrain. In order to combat the attack, the women and children in the fort soaked precious furs in pitch, thus rendering the Foxes' burning arrows inoperative. The Fox Indians made their last stand on the area which is now Windmill Pointe. From this bloody massacre, Fox Creek gained its name and Windmill Pointe was known thereafter as the graveyard of the Fox nation.

It appears that the French got along with the Indians fairly well, except for periodic raids when the Indians would carry off live stock and produce. Grosse Pointe was the Indians' favorite campsite when the braves went into the town for serious business transactions. It's a somewhat different story today when people are not allowed to even walk along the shoreline. Maybe what The Farms police need is a good Indian attack to protest the city's no fishing, loitering, walking, etc., Lakeshore Ordinance.

In those days, the local hot spot was the "hotel" du Grand Marais which served as a gathering place for winter ice races. It was a one-story building with stone chimneys and fireplaces at each end. Peach brandy was one of the top menu items.

The uneasy co-existence which existed between the French and the English ended in 1760 when the English won the bloody French and Indian War and claimed the Detroit area as part of their territory. While the British regarded Detroiters with distaste, they regarded Grosse Pointers with scorn. They found our area a "waste moorland, soggy and unproductive." More than disliking the land, they found the Norman French totally unambitious and totally content.

However, over the years, the British began to take more interest in Grosse Pointe. The area was noted as a healthful retreat from the city and the British began to build summer cottages along the lake. Year-round residences were built once the transportation and flooding problems were solved.

The League of Women

Car Crash

called his station for assistance, stating that he was involved in a chase. He said he lost sight of Shada at the curve of Ridge between Muir and McMillan roads.

The policeman said that as he passed the curve, he sighted Shada's Plymouth on the school lawn, and the light pole on the ground, after it was struck by the man's auto, near Ridge.

Wilton refused medical attention and Shada refused to accompany anyone in the Farms Fire Department ambulance and was conveyed to the hospital by Miglio. Later Shada was taken to the station and issued a ticket for reckless driving. Shada was released after posting bond of $200 and is scheduled for a court hearing on Wednesday, January 16.

Kraiza said that after hitting the pole, markings on the road and lawn showed that Shada's car skidded sideways approximately 85 feet before coming to a stop. The front end of the vehicle was completely smashed in. Total damage to both the car and pole was estimated at about $3,000, according to the policeman's report.

Kraiza said that Shada appeared to have been drinking and when asked for a reason for driving at such a high rate of speed, the driver said that he was on his way to another bar and wanted to get there before it closed.

The policeman said that it is possible that Shada may face an additional charge of fleeing a police officer in an attempt to elude arrest, a high misdemeanor, which requires a Circuit Court appearance.

Thieves Enter Doctor's Office

Someone entered the office of Dr. Robert Coleman, 20166 Mack avenue, ransacked it along with a receptionist's room from which $17 in cash was snatched. The doctor reported the burglary to Woods police Saturday, December 29.

At this time, nothing appears missing from Dr. Coleman's office.

Police said the culprits gained entry by removing an outer storm window and smashing the office's inner door window. The doctor said he closed the office around 9 p.m. Friday, December 28, and returned at 1:30 p.m. on the 29th to discover the break-in.

Presents Taken In Woods B-E

A thief apparently spoiled Christmas Day for some youngsters, or youngsters, when he took a variety of wrapped gifts from a Roslyn road residence on Christmas Eve.

A Walled Lake citizen, visiting at the home, told Woods Public Safety Officer Russell Allard shortly after midnight December 25, that someone removed numerous items sometime between 6:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. Monday, December 24. At that time, the house was vacant as the Roslyn road resident and her friend were attending church services.

All the articles, which numbered over a dozen, were taken from the living room. The most expensive item, according to police, was a stuffed tiger toy, valued at around $19. The total estimated value of the goods was just over $60.

Other missing items included a puzzle, record and a child's white belt. Police stated no signs of forced entry were observed.

It's possible the culprit thought the wrapped presents included items other than children's gifts.

League Backs Aiken's View

The Grosse Pointe League of Women Voters joins the national League in urging that Congress either act on impeachment or drop it.

The League has not taken a stand one way or the other on whether the President should be impeached. It feels (a) that many citizens still do not understand just exactly what impeachment is; (b) that we should, as George Aiken put it, "either impeach him or get off his back"; (c) that Michiganders should write their Congressmen, especially John Conyers, Jr., who is on the Judiciary Committee.

Poetry Writing Session Held at Ferry School

The students in Margot Kahl's fifth grade at Ferry School recently had a poetry writing session. All wrote several cinquains, or five-line poems closely following a model.

Miss Kahl explained that Line 1 is a noun, one word; Line 2 is two words, describing the noun; Line 3 is three words which indicate action of the noun; Line 4 is four words showing the author's feeling or thought about the noun; Line 5 is a one word synonym for the noun.

Following are some of the fifth graders' impressions of

Burglar Visits Doctor's Office

A receptionist for Dr. John Bremer, M.D., whose office is located at 17700 Mack avenue, reported to City police on Thursday, December 27, that a breaking and entering had occurred there.

The receptionist, Marleen Salter, told the police she discovered that the glass in the front door had been smashed when a mailman brought in a piece of the broken pane to her.

When officers checked the premises, they found a metal medicine chest and filing cabinet had been broken into with a hammer that had been left at the scene.

When Miss Salter called Dr. Bremer to inform him of what had happened, he said there had been no money or narcotics left anywhere in the office. He also reported he had left a light on in the front lobby.

Police investigation revealed that the intruder entered the building by smashing the lowest section of glass in the front door. They also learned that the building was entered sometime between 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, December 26, when Dr. Bremer left, and 9:24 a.m. Thursday, December 27.

The area was dusted for fingerprints and police are still continuing their investigation.

Lesson in Human Kindness

some association members were upset. They "didn't understand it," it was their time and they were "just trying to fill in for him," he stated.

In fact, they were even considering setting up some kind of a fund for Officer Crook to which association members would contribute so he would receive his pay check every week.

Mr. Petersen told the NEWS, "We had received from the police officers association a request for four deviations from the current working agreement they are working under which would be beneficial to Officer Crook in this emergency."

These deviations, according to Mr. Petersen, include permitting the men to volunteer to work Officer Crook's duty shift; permitting them to work without claiming time and a half pay for overtime work; pro-rating his earned vacation to date towards his emergency leave, and payment of his holiday pay when he's not working.

"We are pleased to be able to cooperate to work out a policy of mutual benefit to both parties concerned in this emergency," he added.

Meanwhile, Officer Crook expressed his thoughts on what the men were doing by saying, "I hope I never have to pay them back the same way. There's no way to pay them back other than friendship."

The officer, who entered Saint John Hospital Saturday, November 24, and was released Saturday, December 8, said he's feeling better and hopes, if further tests go well, to return to work sometime this month.

Urso Is New Judge in Park

John P. Urso, 30, of 759 Westchester, was administered the oath of office as The Park's new municipal judge on Thursday, December 27, by City Clerk Nunzio Ortisi. The brief ceremony took place in the council court chambers of the Municipal Building, 15115 East Jefferson, in the presence of Mrs. Urso, relatives and friends and the city administrative staff.

After taking the oath and receiving the applause of the people present, Judge Urso, whose four-year term actually began Tuesday, January 1, expressed his thanks and appreciation for the support received in the November 6 election, in which he was the top vote getter for the office defeating incumbent Judge William E. Speer, 1,443 to 1,218.

The new judge pledged that he will do his utmost to fulfill the duties of his office, after which he invited all those present to attend a celebration party at his home.

Nedzi Reveals Summer Jobs

Congressman Lucien N. Nedzi, (D-Mich.), has announced that information is now available on summer job opportunities in the Department of the Interior.

There are several categories of employment with the Department, with varying qualifications requirements and application guidelines. They are listed briefly below.

Those interested in these positions should complete Standard Form 171, available at post offices, the Civil Service Commission and most Federal agencies.

Completed forms, along with preference of work location, period of availability and minimum acceptable salary may be sent to the Department of the Interior, or directly to parks and other departmental installations.

The categories are: Clerical, GS-1 to GS-4 — filled through the Civil Service Commission, and a Federal Summer Employment Examination is required. Bureau of Land Management jobs—openings for fire control aids, lookouts, forestry aids, range aids, recreation aids and resource conservation aids for those with background in range conservation, forestry, wildlife, geography or resource management. Applications due February 14.

National Park Service — jobs as park rangers available for those aged 21 or over with 2 1/2 years of college or two years of appropriate experience. Those wishing to work in one of the National Parks should apply directly to the Superintendent of the park of their choice between January 1 and 15.

Youth Conservation Corps — opportunities for youths aged 15 to 18. Information is available through the U.S. Youth Conservation Corps, P.O. Box 2975, Washington, D.C., 20013.

Summer Air Program — jobs paying $1.60 an hour for those aged 16 to 21 who qualify if their families meet specific economic needs criteria. These positions are handled by the State Employment Service in cooperation with high school guidance personnel.

Further information on any of the above opportunities is available from the Department of the Interior, Washington, D.C., 20240.

Today the state right that's most highly valued seems to be the right to federal aid.

Nab Shoplifter at Kay Baum's

Grosse Pointe City police responded to a phone call from Kay Baum's, located at 18822 Kercheval avenue and arrested a 22-year-old Warren resident for shoplifting, on Thursday, December 27.

Police then took her to the station where she was issued a summons to appear in court on January 8. She was released on $25 bond.

Carpeting

Ceilings can be interesting. Most often they are painted white, which tends to heighten rooms. But remember that they may also be tinted the color of your walls, or they may be wallpapered with the same paper or fabrics as the walls. Covering ceilings with acoustical board can help to deaden noise, and some beautiful acoustical materials are available. Wall board, or acoustical glass of the same type or a lighter shade than the walls is also effective.

Effective textures and colors can be found at ED MALISZEWSKI CARPETING, 21435 Mack, 776-5510. Start the New Year with a new look in your home. We cater to families who have an established home for many years and we take pride in serving the newly-weds as well. In addition to residential carpeting, we also sell and install commercial carpeting with such names as Cabin Crafts, Burlington House, and Mohawk. In continuous service since 1913, we are open Sat. 9:30-6; Mon., Thurs., Friday 'til 9.

Your attempts may cause it to become embedded, and even more difficult to remove. Go to your doctor, who can remove it with safety. On a windy day when dust is flying, a fine meshed nose veil may help to protect your eyes.

Let our competent pharmacists see to your prescription needs... At DEVONSHIRE DRUGS, 16037 Mack "on the block", 881-0478. South Cagers Win First Game

By Mark Emery

Grosse Pointe South's Blue Devils took their first game of the season Wednesday, December 19, as they ripped apart an outplayed, outclassed and obviously out-released Warren Towers team, 77-45.

The game was all South throughout its entirety as the Devils controlled every aspect of play over the weak and inexperienced Tower team.

Warren played with only juniors and sophomores as their high school has been open only three years. This inexperience showed as they made costly mistakes which gave South the easy victory.

Towers was never in contention as South took charge in the first period closing off Ron Seigh, their only real offensive threat. South took a commanding eight-point lead at the end of the first quarter and from then, through the closing three quarters, South held its lead.

South's lead at the end of the first half was 35-23. It looked as though South could do nothing to improve their play, but they did, as Warren scored only nine points in the third period. Scott Solomon and Terry Corbett played a solid defensive game for the Devils.

Tim Kramer and Fred Kreger were credited with leading South's potent offense. Each was in control of the boards, giving South control of the game from that aspect. Kramer led South with 19 points, while Kreger had and ensembles at Solo and Ensemble Festivals for the past three years. He attended four sessions of the Youth Music Program at Michigan State University and two sessions of the National Music Camp. Presently, David is a member of the first violin section of the North High Symphony Orchestra.

Highlighting the Concerto for Trumpet by Hummel is David Bastianelli, a 10th grade student at North. David started playing the trumpet when he was 10 years old and is presently the first chair trumpet in the North High Symphony Band. He attended Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp in 1971 and 1972, and was named best camper in 1972 when he played first chair trumpet. He attended the All-State Intermediate Orchestra at the National Music Camp in 1973.

The other four selections are: Overture to "Lucile," by Gretry; Symphony in F Major, by Dittersdorf; Andalusia Suite, by Lecuona, and Jazz Pizzicato, by Anderson. Tickets are priced at 50 cents for students, $1 for adults. They may be secured in advance from Junior Symphony members or purchased the night of the concert at Parcels Auditorium.

is good taste a dangerous thing?

Maybe so... because some folks have our line pegged as purely decorative, not down-to-earth. They don't see the fact for the frou-frou. The fact is... Cabin Crafts stresses Beauty and the Basics. We have Wild Ones... and Safe Ones. Sensationals... and Staples like "National Velvet." So why settle for one or the other when you can have both... Beauty and the Basics... with Cabin Crafts.

One View From The Capitol

By William R. Bryant, Jr.

The computer age and advances in the capabilities of computers present hard and important issues as to the gathering, use, and retention of information by both private and public agencies.

I will soon introduce major legislation to enact a Michigan Fair Information Practices Code. It will have the enthusiastic support of the Governor.

The bill will treat only the practices of public agencies, primarily the state, regulating law and under what conditions the state may collect, store, produce, use or disseminate data concerning its citizens.

The major issues relate to privacy and to security. Privacy issues include when and how the state may collect data, how it assures accuracy and completeness, who can see or use the data and how an individual may challenge accuracy or the mere retention of even accurate data.

Security issues include physical security of computers against nature, disaster, and intrusion, who should have authority for access to particular data, tracking who does use data so audits of possibly improper use can be made and controls over the combining of computer systems.

All of these and related sub-issues are complex. What we must have, and what this legislation seeks to assure, is a legal framework within which legitimate information gathering and usage may take place, but take place in manners consistent with privacy and fairness to the subjects of data.

The bill would also control state participation in interstate or state-federal shared information systems.

One of the glaring examples of why controls are needed is a state-federal system, N.C.I.C., the National Crime Information Center computer system. Soon this largely uncontrolled system will be receiving input from 40,000 different sources. You become a subject of the file whenever any police agency in the nation types you in. Some people have become part of this "crime" file by making a complaint, or by having a neighbor call the police objecting to a too-loud party a child may have had, or because of an arrest even though the case was dropped or the person acquitted. And the federal government, to date, will not take anyone out of the file or even correct an error unless the agency they got the information from requests it.

But it doesn't stop there, because the system has sprung leaks so that responsible experts are convinced that credit agencies, on a routine basis, are illegally buying records from this system.

So, if your next loan request is refused or you don't get that job you want, it may be because the N.C.I.C. computer says you were arrested for drunk driving in Georgia in 1955 and there was a warrant for your arrest in San Francisco for defrauding an innkeeper. What someone forgot to tell the computer was that you were never in Georgia in 1955 and the charge was later changed to charge that guy from Flint whose name computers always confuse with yours and that you prepaid that hotel bill through the travel agency and the travel agency paid the bill but forgot to show your name so the hotel didn't know who to credit.

My proposed bill is still in drafting stage, so I would welcome any and all input to it you would like to make.

Adjourn Exam Of 2 Suspects

The examination of a 19-year-old Detroit man and a 26-year-old Detroit woman, both of whom are charged with two counts of larceny, has been adjourned from Wednesday, December 19, to Wednesday, January 16, reported Woods police.

Walter Durand Trombly failed to appear on the 19th and a bench warrant was issued for him, police said. So, the exam was adjourned to the new, scheduled date.

Trombly and Sadie Mae Harris, (who did appear on the 19th), are both charged with larceny over $100 on the first count, and larceny in a building on the second count. Both allegedly took numerous wrist watches from Bob's Drug Company, 21084 Mack avenue, on Monday evening, November 28. The suspects were nabbed the same day by police, who then confiscated watches and plastic watch containers.

of the Senior Men's Club of Grosse Pointe.

He is survived by his wife, Jessie M., and two daughters, Mrs. Arthur (Mary), Morisset and Mrs. Warren, (Charlotte), Grimes.

Memorial contributions may be made to the charity of your choice.

MRS. NORMA LOONEY
Funeral services for Mrs. Looney, 78, of Roland court, were held on Wednesday, January 2, at the Eppens-Van Deweghe Funeral Home. She died on Saturday, December 29.

Mrs. Looney was active in the United Christ Methodist Church.

She is survived by her husband, Joseph W.; a daughter, Mrs. Mary Jane Cleare; three sisters, Mrs. Coral Grisham, Mrs. Lulu Jones and Orla, and six grandchildren.

Memorial contributions may be made to United Christ Methodist Church.

A Worthy Resolution

Resolution time has come upon us again. As the new year begins, many of us will make fresh resolutions, some to keep, some to break and some to ignore. But there's one resolution everyone should make and try to keep.

In the second edition, (the Christmas issue), of the "M and M Free Press," a monthly mimeographed paper organized and written by Perry School fourth graders in the classes of Mary Masclak and Norma Morrison, there's a sweet remembrance of the real meaning of Christmas—something one can carry throughout this new year and for the rest of his life.

Under the title of "Christmas," Jane Beck writes: Christmas is not only a merry holiday to open presents and be jolly, it is a time to remember Jesus and the day he died.

You still can be merry, jolly and gay, just remember it is really Jesus' birthday.

The child's thought is genuinely real and touching. And not only that, it provides a wise insight into the real meaning of life for everyone—not only at Christmas time but for all time.

R.A.W.

Salute to a Moron

Fervent wishes for a horrendous new year for the moronic nincompoop whose holiday celebrating included the mutilation of one of the flowering shrubs in front of the Grosse Pointe News office.

It is difficult to tell what tool or instrument was used to inflict the damage. Some branches were completely but crudely severed; others broken but still clinging to what was their life-line. The mental pygmy who carried out this assault on an attempt to help beautify The Hill business district, must have had a jolly good time.

This is not the first such incident. As a matter of fact the three shrubs now lining the curb are the third planting. Twice before, when the bushes were smaller, some other idiots have driven their cars up between the parking meters and deliberately run down and completely demolished the shrubs, making a whole new planting necessary.

What fun it would be to give a haircut to one of these feeble-minded juveniles... with sharp pruning shears... and blindfolded!

Curling Club's Tourney Starts

Many Grosse Pointe members of the Detroit Curling Club will take to the ice Thursday, January 3, through Sunday, January 6, to participate in the Club's 88th International Bonspiel.

The Detroit International Bonsel is one of the oldest annual bonsel in North America. Approximately 36 teams, including six teams from the Detroit Club, have entered. Besides Canada, four states are sending teams: Colorado, Illinois, Minnesota and Ohio.

Opening ceremonies will begin promptly at 9 a.m. on Thursday, January 3, at the Club headquarters on 1236 West Forest, Detroit (one block west of John Lodge Expressway). Detroit Common Council President-Elect, Carl M. Levin, will deliver the first stone to begin the competition. The first event follows at 10 a.m.

Of the 300 members in the Club, over 75 are from Grosse Pointe. Their bonsel is open to the public and there is no admission charge.

Third Concert Planned By Women's Symphony

Detroit's only resident chamber orchestra, the Detroit Women's Symphony, under the direction of Arthur Stephan, presents its third concert of the season Friday, January 11, at 8:30 o'clock in Rackham Auditorium.

The program will consist of chamber works by Bizet, Mozart, Schubert and Castelnuovo-Tedesco. More information may be obtained by contacting the University Center for Adult Education, 577-4665 or 886-8890.

GUEST COLUMNIST: MARIETTA TALIANI

This week's column is devoted to five new books which are geared to the reading interest of the young adult.

The Three Red Herrings by Rosemary Weir (1972) is a story of a young girl's courage and self-determination to keep her family from starving, when her father, a famous stage actor, dies suddenly and leaves her and her mother, younger brother and sister penniless. Although they have all been pampered by living in posh homes and attending the finest schools, it takes the strong determination and fortitude of the heroine of our story to pull her family together and make them independently wealthy. What she does to make this happen is both heart-warming and clever.

Don't Slam the Door When You Go by Barbara Corcoran (1972). Three teenage girls living in Florida with their parents feel that the Establishment's way of life is phony, dull and without meaning. They therefore decide to run away from home and to take up residence in a ghost town in Montana and live off the land by growing all of their own food. The people they meet and the friends they make, helps each girl to know and understand herself better, thus knowing the direction they want their lives to take.

The Almost Year by Florence E. Randall (1971). When a teenage black girl goes to live with a white family in a wealthy suburb, strange things begin to happen — it begins to rain rocks and books and dishes go sailing through the house. Why does this happen? Is it because she claims to be a black witch with supernatural powers, or could it be something more?

Lisa, Bright and Dark by John Neufeld (1970). A sensitive story about a teenage girl who is mentally ill. Her three close friends are aware of her illness and try to help her by employing the aid of their high school counselor and Lisa's parents. No one but her friends are willing to help until Lisa finally does something that awakens her parents to the fact that their daughter needs professional help.

Dogs of Fear: A Story of Modern Africa by Musa Nagenda (1972). It is nearing the time once again for a young black boy to prove to his father and to the people of the village that he has become a "man" by passing a test requiring physical skill. Failing the first time, the boy's father is ashamed of his eldest son. What the boy does to make his father proud of him makes for exciting reading.

Of course, these are only a few examples of the many new books available to the young adult at our libraries. Why don't you make it your New Year's Resolution to read at least one book a month!

WOMEN'S PAGES

From Another Pointe of View

By Janet Mueller

"Miss Jackie" is back in The Pointe, recently appointed Head of the Grosse Pointe Public Library's Children's Services.

Of course, she's Mrs. Michaels now. But it's as "Miss Jackie" that she was known to rapt pre-schoolers who gathered round her feet for story hours at the Library's Central Branch for several years, several years back.

Then Miss Jacqueline Hosking became Mrs. Glen Michaels.

Mr. and Mrs. Michaels live in Birmingham with their three children, Suzanne, 12, Paul, 10, and eight-year-old John.

Mr. Michaels is a nationally-known sculptor and muralist whose work is represented in the collections of Richard Rodgers, Mrs. Vanderbilt Webb and Lawrence A. Fleischman in New York . . . whose commissions include five free-form assemblages, tile, ivory, marble and porcelain on a dark walnut wall, for the NASA Goddard Space Center in Greenbelt, Md., and the mural abstract map of the United States in tile, wood and brass-plated nickel for the Ford Motor Company's New York World's Fair exhibit in 1964, now installed in the Henry Ford Memorial Library, Dearborn . . . whose exhibits and shows include the National Gold Medal Exhibition of the Building Arts circulated by the American Federation of the Arts in 1962 and 1965 and the travelling Smithsonian Plastic Exhibit, 1969-1970.

The terrace paving—black, white and varied shades of gray brick, 28 by 208 feet—at W. Hawkins Ferry's fabulous home in Lakeshore road, pictured on the cover of "House Beautiful" in September, 1969, is Mr. Michaels' work.

And we could go on . . . and on . . . but why not see the sort of thing Mr. Michaels does for yourselves?

An exhibit of his assemblages, tapestries, bronzes and paintings opens today in Alger House of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

It will continue there through Sunday, January 13.

The show is co-sponsored by the War Memorial and the board of the Friends of the Grosse Pointe Public Library. It is, of course, open to the public. It's worth seeing.

Honor maid Linda Phillips, of Tulsa, Okla., and bridesmaids Carol Lovell, of Rochester, the bridegroom's sister, Suzanne Payne and Dianne Seiber, both Pointers, wore floor length long-sleeved frocks of kelly green crepe with matching Dior headbows.

They carried red poinsettia bouquets, the honor attendant's accented with white poinsettias.

Robert Lovell came from Lincolnville, Me., to act as best man for his brother.

Ushering were Chip Larson, the bride's brother, and Mark and Bruce Giannini, both of Rochester.

Mrs. Larson selected a long-sleeved, high-necked floor length gown of yellow and green Indian sari cloth overlaid with a woven design of metallic gold for her daughter's wedding. She carried a small spray of yellow cymbidium orchids.

The bridegroom's mother's long gown of seafoam green satin-finish crepe featured dolman sleeves. She wore a pale green cymbidium orchid wrist corsage.

Set Deeplands Club Meeting

Records indicate that peas were known in prehistoric times and lettuce was served on Persian dinner tables as early as the fifth century B. C.

Superstitions about vegetables and associations with famous historical figures of past centuries will be discussed.

Many Foods Have High Protein Content

Does the high price of meat have you watching your protein? Don't forget to include the many other food items you eat throughout the day.

"People often overlook the fact that many foods other than meat offer the same quality protein to a daily diet," says Dr. Dena Cederquist, professor of Food Science and Human Nutrition at Michigan State University.

The average daily protein need for males, 18 to 55 years of age, is 60 to 65 grams.

Women 18 to 55 years of age have a protein need of 50 to 55 grams per day.

Three ounces of cooked lean meat, fish or poultry, Dr. Cederquist explains, contains 21 grams of protein. So does that half-cup of cottage cheese often served as a side dish or in a salad.

The quality of the protein in each is the same, and your body doesn't care which food gives it.

Consider the following protein values which you may be able to add to your daily protein count:

One tablespoon of peanut butter, 4 grams; one cup of dried peas or beans (cooked), 15 grams; eight ounces of milk, whole, skimmed, reconstituted or dry, 9 grams; one-eighth of a 14-inch cheese pizza, 7 grams; one ounce of cheese, 7 grams; average serving of a cake muffin, 4 grams; one-half cup of gelatin, 2 grams; one serving of bread, 2 grams; one-half cup of roasted peanuts, 18 grams.

"How often do you serve these various foods without being conscious of the good quality protein you are deriving from them?" Dr. Cederquist asks.

Many of these items are eaten in between meals and forgotten when considering a total day's nutrient intake. "If you're thinking about calories," Dr. Cederquist says, "let's again look at the total picture."

When serving meat, you usually serve side dishes, such as vegetables, salads, breads and relishes. These side dishes add good protein but also calories.

A serving of macaroni and cheese, combination salads with tuna fish, eggs or cottage cheese, chili or any of the many casserole dishes you can prepare offer the same nutrients and often without additional side dishes and calories.

And sometimes a fellow does a sensible thing by mistake.

'Oedipus Rex' Opens Tonight

The world premiere of a new adaptation of Sophocles' "Oedipus Rex" by Charles Nolte is Meadow Brook Theatre's first 1974 production. It opens tonight, Thursday, January 3, at 8:30 o'clock.

This updated version of a drama now 2,500 years old is eight-year-old Meadow Brook's first Greek tragedy. Actor-playwright Nolte has directed his own production, set in ancient Thebes.

The tragedy of Oedipus, King of Thebes, who unwittingly kills his father and marries his mother, thus fulfilling an ancient curse, has endured as a monumental work. Cited by Aristotle as the finest example of Greek drama, the play has been universally esteemed for its unity in structure, exaltation of language, richness of characterization and the awful power of its climax.

Dr. Nolte has staged outstanding successes on the Meadow Brook stage, including "A Streetcar Named Desire" which played to nearly capacity houses, last season's "Inherit The Wind" and "The Front Page" and "The Andersonville Trial" the year before. He is an associate professor at the University of Minnesota and a member of the board of the Tyrone Guthrie Theatre.

Oedipus will be played by Brian Petchey, who received critical praise for his performance in last month's comedy "How The Other Half Loves." Mr. Petchey, who trained at the Bristol Old Vic Theatre School in England, spent several seasons in featured roles with the Stratford Shakespearean Festival in Ontario.

Winner of the Tyrone Guthrie Award for Acting, he made his American debut at the Guthrie Theatre in Minneapolis in 1970, playing both twins in Goldoni's "The Venetian Twins." He took the lead later that season in the world premiere of "A Play by Alexander Solzhenitsyn."

Creon, brother-in-law to Oedipus, will be portrayed by Bernard Kates, previously seen at Meadow Brook as prosecuting attorney Lieutenant Colonel Chipman in "The Andersonville Trial."

Mr. Kates recently played the title role of "Julius Caesar" with the American Shakespeare Festival in Stratford, Conn., and appeared there in "Antony and Cleopatra." His latest film, to be released in the spring, is MGM's "Super Cops," he plays District Attorney Heller.

Shirley Diercks will be seen as the ill-fated Jocasta, Oedipus' wife. She is a professional stage, radio, film and television performer in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area.

Miss Diercks appeared recently at the Friars Dinner Theatre in Minneapolis as Dolly in "Hello, Dolly," and at the Theatre in The Round as Jean in "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie." Eleanor in "The Lion In Winter" and Queen Natalya in the United States premiere of Charles Nolte's "Alexander's Death." The prophet Tiresias will be played by Joel Brooks, a company member of the Magic Theatre of Berkeley.

Ehrling Again with Symphony

Former music director and conductor Sixten Ehrling returns to the Detroit Symphony podium tonight, Thursday, January 3, and Saturday, January 5, at 8:30 o'clock to conduct the Orchestra in Ford Auditorium.

These first regularly scheduled subscription concert performances following the Christmas holiday break will feature Jorge Bolet as guest pianist in Liszt's Piano Concerto No. 1 in E-flat major.

Cuban-born Bolet is celebrating his 36th season on the concert stage. This week marks his sixth visit to the Detroit Symphony.

He has received international acclaim as a concert and recording artist along with screen credits for the sound track of the film "Song Without End," a biography of composer-virtuoso Franz Liszt.

Also included on the program are Tchaikovsky's symphony fantasy Francesca da Rimini and Stravinsky's Le Sacre du Printemps, (Rite of Spring).

The Stravinsky work was last performed by the Orchestra, with Sixten Ehrling conducting, in 1971.

Regarded as "the foremost Swedish conductor of the century," Maestro Ehrling served as music director and conductor of the Detroit Orchestra for a decade, beginning with the 1963-64 season.

Last spring he was named head of the Orchestral Department at the Juillard School in New York.

Ehrling's world-wide conducting triumphs now include recent appearances at the Metropolitan Opera, where he made his debut in the production of "Peter Grimes" last season.

Tickets are available for tonight and Saturday evening at the Ford Auditorium Box Office, 961-0700, all Hudson's and Grinnell's ticket offices.

A limited number of tickets for students and senior citizens are on sale for $1.75 at Ford Auditorium Box Office beginning at 7:45 o'clock.

Mid-Century Members Have Busy December

December was a busy time for Mid-Century Toastmistress Club, which held a joint meeting with Northeastern Toastmasters Club early in the month.

Spouses and guests were invited to this evening dinner session. Topic selected for 11 contestant speakers was "My Most Unforgettable Character."

Speaking were Mrs. Carl Nolte, Robert Moore, Mrs. Phillip Skillman, H. H. Ryan, Mrs. James B. Zick, Mrs. William Wood, B. B. Jenkins, Harry Webb, Mrs. W. J. Riesenberger, W. W. Stuckman and Mrs. Paul Sheridan. Selections of characters ranged from a well-known politician through a song writer, poet and clergyman to the everyday acquaintance, friend or relative.

Harry Webb, Northeastern Toastmaster, was awarded the gavel for his presentation on his 93-years-young uncle, Mrs. Carl Nolte, Mid-Century Toastmistress and Topic Toastmistress, presented the awards.

Mid-Century members shared thoughts, poetry and writings, aspirations for the Christmas season, at an afternoon Christmas party hosted by Mrs. Nolte, of Clairview road.

The Club has scheduled its next regular meeting at First Lutheran Church located on Cadieux road, near Warren avenue, for 9:30 o'clock Tuesday, January 8. Topic for discussion will be "International Relations." Guests are welcome.

Mrs. James B. Zick, 888-4158, may be contacted for further information.

DISILLUSIONED
The fellow who puts too much confidence in everybody soon won't have confidence in any.

they celebrated 50 happy years together at a December 2 family dinner at Lochmoor Club.

The Pattersons' children, Mrs. Jean Strachan, of Merriweather road, and Matthew Patterson, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., co-hosted a reception in their parents' honor at Mayor and Mrs. Patterson's Devonshire road home.

Gas Shortage Reports

Bernadette Thibodeau, in town to spend the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Thibodeau, of Broadstone road, reports that we in Michigan don't know how lucky we are: the gas shortage in New York is really bad!

Bernie, who teaches fourth grade, flew back to White Plains, N.Y., New Year's Eve, electing not to wait over and get into the New Year's Day travel crush.

Getting into The Pointe was thrill enough for her—she made the New York-Detroit flight in a blizzard, her plane had to circle 45 minutes over Metro while the runway was cleared of snow, then it zoomed in to land, following another plane . . . then zoomed up again when the plane ahead skidded, blocking the runway . . .

When her plane finally landed Bernie found herself stranded on the ground, for the Parkcrest bus absolutely refused to make it from the United to the American terminal, and Bernie, with her luggage at American, couldn't make it to United.

She finally found a place in a cab, sharing it with a fellow volager. Of course, HE was going out to Northland . . .

Bernie was a bit tired when she finally arrived at Broadstone road. After all, in the time it took her to get from White Plains to Grosse Pointe, she could have flown from JFK to Paris.

Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Smith drove down from their beautiful home high on a hill overlooking Traverse Bay to spend Christmas with their children, Dr. Stuart Smith and his wife Jan, of Norton court, and Laura Lou and her husband Bill Huette-man, of Sunningdale drive, and all the grandchildren.

There was no problem finding gas along the expressway when they made the journey, the senior Smiths report.

Away From It All

Dorothy (Mrs. Frank Wellington) Coolidge has the right idea. The indefatigable Mrs. C., known affectionately as Michigan's "Mrs. Music" for her work with and for everything musical under the sun, has left sleet and snow and shortages behind and is sailing down the west coast of Mexico.

Los Angeles was her port of departure. She'll return January 12.

Dorothy had thought about making it down to Siesta Key, Sarasota, Fla., for the Christmas Day wedding of her granddaughter, Ellen Ferris Coolidge, art director of the Florida Gulf Coast Art Center in Belleair, daughter of the Frank W. Coolidges, Jr., of Winnetka, Ill., and William Martin

Know Quality of Pile Fabric Before Sewing

Considering a pile fabric for a garment? Keep in mind the qualities fabrics offer, says Bernetta Kahabka, Michigan State University Extension Clothing Specialist.

Corduroy, short pile fur-like fabrics, velvet and velveteen can make attractive suits, slacks, coats, jackets, dresses and trim, but their appearance is sometimes altered by cleaning or pressing. There can be a loss of pile, or sometimes a flattened pile.

"Partial loss of pile," the specialist explains, "can also be the result of abrasion or rubbing of the fabric surface during wear."

Places on the garment where loss of pile is most likely to happen are along the crease lines in trousers, hemlines of skirts, edges of cuffs, pockets, collars and jacket fronts.

The worn pile may become more noticeable after the garment has been cleaned.

"If there is a change of appearance or color of the fabric, then the pile has most likely been flattened, resulting in a different light reflection."

Kaiser, III, Clearwater Sun sports department staff member, son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Kaiser, Jr., of Sarasota, formerly of Winnetka.

But the difficulty of securing air reservations at the last minute proved too much, especially in view of her projected Mexican cruise, so Dorothy Coolidge contented herself with chatting with the newlyweds by phone Christmas night.

Picture a charming three bedroom DUTCH COLONIAL, with a modern kitchen and close to both Mason and Parcels schools as well as Eastland. Bob MOWBRAY would like to show you the other fine features that make this the best $30,500 Home on the market.

1745 ANITA

JUST A FEW BLOCKS from the Village, and near Defer Elementary, there's a spacious three bedroom English Colonial that Jo Ann DOWNER wishes to show to all those young couples looking for a) lots of room, b) in good condition, c) at a low price, and d) WITH A BIG ASSUMABLE MORTGAGE?

1247 NOTTINGHAM

ALSO IDEAL FOR THE YOUNG COUPLE with children, an attractive three bedroom Colonial with family room that SYLVIA LANDUYT is proud of. There's also a big assumable mortgage, so don't let this value get past you.

10562 SOMERSET

An authentic English HOME with four bedrooms and 2½ baths is scarce in today's market. JOYCE HYDE has just such a charmer. There's also a library and excellent carpeting throughout this beautiful home. Naturally we're excited. We think you'll be too!

543 PEMBERTON

AND THE LAST "SPARKLER" we'd like you to see Sunday is a spacious, four bedroom, 1½ bath colonial in "picture-book" condition. I can't decide whether I'm more impressed by the fabulous kitchen or the beautiful decor throughout. Stop by and let me know what you think. I know it's got to be the best buy available at $51,900!

1222 KENSINGTON

By Appointment
1973's MOST SOUGHT-AFTER HOME — a beautifully decorated, three bedroom, 1½ bath colonial with a library, on a spacious 60-foot lot... we have one for $41,900.

4 bedrooms, 2½ baths and den, Grosse Pointe Schools and Park, excellent terms, immediate occupancy... $19,900. 1107 Wayburn.

Two for the price of one: This two family has high rents and an excellent return to go along with its low $20,900 price! 1108 Wayburn.

Like Posh Fashions? . . . Mark Thursday and Friday, January 17 and 18 on your calendar when Mr. Bart Walman will bring the entire Posh Resort and Early Spring Collection to Walton-Pierce. It will be informally modeled from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. both days. Posh is known for a fashion look with super body shapes in great travel clothes each individually dependent on beautiful fabrics, pure silks, linens, cottons, blends of crepes, organzas, linette, silk and Qiana with silhouettes designed for a Posh life style. You'll see the "everything" cardigan in a new costume. The cardigan is dyed to match bright pastels. Sun dressing with sheltering cardigans, deluxe denim, pagoda yokes, the romantic sarong, keyhole halter gowns, sumptuous pajamas and the costume gown for evening.

The Best of Two Worlds . . . an apartment-home in Grosse Pointe's newest condominium, the Jefferson Apartments, 17111 East Jefferson. Residents are home owners, enjoy tax deductions and equity advantages. The apartment size is in excess of 2,000 square feet. Great Adventure In Cooking . . . Jenn-Air's counter top broiler. It cooks everything with the same delicious flavor as an outdoor charcoal grill . . . but none of the smoke and mess. Permanent grill rack, electrically heated to consistent high intensity, sears genuine charcoal broiled flavor into any meat. It's a whole new concept of indoor cooking. This counter top broiler exhausts cooking fumes without an overhead hood. The secret is a revolutionary surface vent built-in next to the grill. It traps smoke and odor at their source and whisks them out of doors. See it in the handsome new kitchen model display at Mutschler Kitchens, 20227 Mack Avenue.

In Martha's Closet . . . 375 Fisher Road, you'll find coordinated cruisewear. Polyester knit blazers and slacks come in heavenly pastels, pink or blue plus white. There is a selection of long and short cotton prints. Southbound golfers pick up a new skirt or two. A preview of Martha's cruisewear will be modeled during lunch at Don May's Golden Lion next Wednesday.

Smart And Practical At Barbara's Stationery, 373 Fisher Road . . . Lucite linen presses come in two sizes, large for place mats . . . smaller for napkins. Of course, they can be used to hold other things neatly such as scarves.

Your Christmas Money Will Turn To Joy . . . when you stop in and pick out a selection of this season's dresses, long and short . . . costume jewelry and bags, now sensational values with up to 50% off at Mr. Julian Fashion Boutique, 15114 Kercheval in the Park . . . 822-2818.

The Grosse Pointe Coliseum . . . says now is the time for the natural look in hair styles with attention given to conditioning to achieve healthy natural looking hair . . . 20335 Mack Avenue . . . 881-7252.

What A Difference . . . a new lamp shade can make. We've had this experience many times when we'd inventoried our home and we replaced all lamp shades with new ones conveniently at the new WRIGHT'S GIFT & LAMP SHOP, 18650 Mack Avenue, with free parking for customers next to the building.

All The Better To See . . . the display of beautiful, in vogue, oriental rugs, Ed Maliszewski's, 21435 Mack, has been expanded to twice the size and re-modeled. It still has the same boutique atmosphere and personal service. The orientals on display can be ordered in other sizes. Of course there is a great selection of carpeting and area rugs . . . 775-5510.

Exclusive In The Village . . . at the Merry Mouse . . . the new Assistance League cook book called Happy Hostess. It's $3.50 and all proceeds go to the Northeast Child Guidance Clinic.

A Treasured Gift . . . is a fine watch. At Bijouterie Jewelry by Cueter, we admired the display of Universal Geneve 18kt. gold watches for men and women. We love the chic gem stone face women's watches available in lapis blue, tiger eye brown and rich deep green. There is also the thinnest automatic watch in the world . . . 25 jewels, shock resistant and ball bearing. Bijouterie, 18860 Mack Avenue, has Master Charge and Bank-American for your convenience.

Our Business . . . is to make you look good!!

MRS. ALEX DOMIN, OF RIVARD BOULEVARD

By Janet Mueller

Every January, Shirley Domin has a slump. "Then I take a course—something physical." Last year it was Belly Dancing, given at the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church under auspices of the YWCA. This year she plans to continue, with private lessons.

Shirley's slump is another woman's peak.

"I like walking . . . I love to dance. I love to have fun."

And she loves Art, capital "A," small "a." Art History, gallery-hopping. She loves doing it, admiring it, writing about it.

She's been drawing ever since she can remember.

Decade back to small Shirley, five or so, playing with paper dolls and scribbled-up under the dining room table, crawling out to climb up on her father's lap and ask, (she lisped), "Saw me a lady, dad."

Ladies Were Difficult Men she could draw herself. Ladies were a bit more difficult.

Leap forward a few years to Shirley-in-School, in parochial school, where "frivolous" Art courses weren't part of the curriculum. "I got into a lot of trouble because of drawing in class." It's difficult to convince an American History teacher that a student is paying attention when the student insists on drawing pictures all the time.

Jump ahead again, to Shirley as a freshman at Siena Heights College, Adrian. Siena Heights has a fantastic art department. "But I didn't go into it," Shirley's parents encouraged her interest in art, but felt their daughter should be prepared to make a living. Shirley entered Siena Heights as a Business student.

Compromise Reached She lasted one year. "Then they (the parents) gave in." A compromise was effected, and Shirley completed her college studies at Marygrove, where she majored in Art Education.

She taught for a few years after graduation, married Dr. Domin while he was still a Dental School student, and continued to teach until the babies began to come.

Shirley and Alex, both students, met at the Post Office. They were seasonal employees hired to help out with the Christmas rush. They didn't date, exactly—since they went to school days and worked nights, there was no time—but they got to know one another fairly well at lunch breaks. Perched on top of mailbags, they talked, and talked, and talked . . . and their fellow employees, aware of what was going on, (all the world loves a lover), saw to it that they were officially punched in if they happened to talk on above the allotted time.

Faces Dilemma What do you do if you're a young woman, vitally interested in art, in teaching art, and you're housebound by babies, mentally and physically tired out by the very necessary routine of keeping a house, being a mother?

"You take courses. All kinds of courses. Courses that don't tax you." You take candle-making, millinery, cake decorating. "You take courses until you exhaust them."

You become known as the Lady Whose Presents Are ALWAYS Hand-Made.

And at night, when the children are in bed, you manage to get in a bit of oil painting. Lack of practice, of being involved, makes one rusty. "If you're away from art too long, you lose something."

You try to be creative in other ways. You give interesting parties. You do a lot of your own cooking.

One Turns Producer

"You make a production out of things. I remember topping each of several hundred canapés for a Christmas party with a dove, a rosette . . ."

Today, Shirley would order the canapés brought in. That kind of creativity she doesn't need any more. But she still likes to paint late at night, at the kitchen table. "I'm a night person. If I'm giving a party, (another thing she still likes to do), I'll set the table, do the floral arrangements the night before."

Shirley's been an avid home decorator since she had her first home. It's a passion she and Alex Domin share. "We're great do-it-yourselfers. We like to decorate and re-model, to get the most out of a house."

Crazily Balanced

"We drive each other crazy. We're both emotional people, and we both have pretty definite ideas of what we want to do and how we want to do it."

It's a fun sort of craziness, however. Neither Dr. nor Mrs. Domin could endure a "Yes, dear" marriage. They have three sons, Mark, 19, is majoring in Photography at the Society of Arts and Crafts. Photography was his "thing" all through. (Grosse Pointe South), high school, when he shot for the newspaper, the yearbook . . .

He received an Honorable Mention the first time he showed at the Scarab Club.

Paul, 16, is a student at Austin. He's on the Prep School Tennis Team. David, 15, at Brownell, is the most sports-minded of the Domin boys and, at the moment, he's driving his parents slightly mad. All he wants in this world is a motorcycle.

Shirley's grandmother had seven sons in a row. Picture Shirley Domin, Mother of the Year, surrounded by her 12, (give or take a few), boys. "After three, I stopped."

The Dominians have been a Pointe family 11 years. Before that they lived in Mount Clemens, and before that in East Detroit, where Dr. Domin has his practice.

Vary Their Vacations

They try to take one good family vacation a year, usually in Florida, where their favorite spot is Sanibel Island, and usually at Christmas time. Last year they varied the routine. Shirley and Alex believe in parents-only vacations too, in week-ends at St. Clair Inn or the Pontchartrain, in husband-and-wife trips to Europe.

Last year they were in Spain twice, once by themselves and at Christmas with Mark, David and Paul and Shirley's sister, who is a nun.

They spent the first part of Christmas vacation 1972

"We must have had about 1,200 different kinds of art objects—sculpture, pottery, paintings, bas reliefs, jewelry—on display. We had eight of the contributing artists there, and we introduced each one at dinner."

That Art Show was the germinating soup for Lochmoor's Art Council, which now sponsors a series of mini Art Shows, in conjunction with the Club's Seafood-dinner dinners, throughout the year.

Shirley Domin is the Club's Art advisor. Working with her is Jan (Mrs. James) O'Berski, who has been in on the project since its beginning. Jan is producer, Shirley director of the shows. They're each other's right hands.

Two-fold Purpose

"The idea is to beautify the club AND to support local artists." Lochmoor receives a small commission for every work sold through a Club exhibit. The money is put into a fund to purchase pieces for the Club's permanent collection.

Shirley helps spread the word on what's happening, artistically, at Lochmoor and throughout the metropolitan area via her column in the Club's magazine, "The Fairway."

She's also a regular contributor to "Impressario," Detroit's cultural magazine.

Her article on the Akhenaten and Nefertiti exhibit currently on view at the Detroit Institute of Arts appeared in Impressario's November-December issue.

Her next assignment for the magazine is to interview Dr. Frederick Cummings, the Art Institute's new director. She's looking forward to it.

Winners of one section of play in the International Funds Pairs event, a special one-session championship at the Fall National Championship Tournament of the American Contract Bridge League at the Las Vegas Hotel, were ROBERT EMKE, of West Kings court, and his partner ARLINE OLESKA.

Carl's Corner

I observed this at a gas station the other day—We can FUEL some of the people all the time, we can FUEL all the people some of the time—BUT, we can't FUEL all the people all of the time . . . KIND OF SAD ISN'T IT?

The Lochmoor Story

"Then this thing came up at Lochmoor, and everything sort of dove-tailed."

Lochmoor's new clubhouse opened. It is a beautiful building, functional and designed to take advantage of its site. Large windows overlook the golf course, a living landscape.

But when the new clubhouse opened, most of its inner walls were bare.

Lochmoor had a new manager, who had come from the Saginaw Country Club. There, the clubhouse had filled its walls with art.

Why couldn't Lochmoor do the same?

"We started bringing artists in," Paul Kuschmaier's portrait of Rudolph Nureyev, in overalls and suspenders, caused considerable comment, pro and con. The point is: It caused comment. People began to notice what was being hung on Lochmoor's walls.

Heavy on Biers

"We gradually brought in more and more." Ljubo Biro, one of the Dominians' favorite local artists, (one of his abstracts hangs on the Domin living room wall, behind Shirley's head of David, and Dr. Domin has seven Biers in his office), agreed to show some of his paintings at the Club.

"Then, about two years ago, we decided to have an Art Show." Lochmoor had had an Art Show before, but its focus had been academic. This new show would feature Michigan artists at work NOW, in their chosen media and styles.

Shirley and Alex Domin were members of Lochmoor's social committee that year. Shirley, who had been volunteering at the Detroit Artists Market, asked for and received permission to check the Artists Market files for possible contributors to Lochmoor's show.

Converted to Cafe

"We turned the clubhouse into a sidewalk cafe. We went out to my brother's farm and cut down about 20 maple trees, and set them up in the club, and covered
