THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES has given its substantial leeway to investigate fully whether sufficient grounds exist to impeach the President. With only four members dissenting on the formal vote, the House granted the Committee unlimited power to subpoena all evidence and every witness it considers necessary, including the President himself, if it wishes. These powers have not been granted by the House since the 1867 investigation of Andrew Johnson.

BRITONS for the first time in history, will wage a parliamentary election campaign under a state of emergency, now that Prime Minister Edward Heath has called for dissolution of the present Parliament. Heath, hoping for a mandate in his struggle against coal miners, asked Queen Elizabeth for a new election on February 28. Coal miners, demanding pay raises that exceed the government's anti-inflation wage ceiling, have voted in favor of beginning a strike on Saturday. Heath is gambling with not only his own political future, but also with the Conservative party's in the hope the public will back his refusal to bow to miners' pressure.

THE LAST SKYLAB MISSION ended with its three pilots splashing down safely in the Pacific Ocean after they had spent 84 days in space and traveled 34.5 million miles. Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue, astronauts aboard Skylab 3, were pronounced in fine shape by doctors and praised by space officials for proving that man can endure space trips of many months; perhaps even to other planets someday.

PRESIDENT NIXON, announcing the government has met all legitimate demands of striking truckers, declared, "Now is the time to get all the trucks back on the road." The President outlined the administration's 1974 transportation proposals in a nationwide radio address and asserted the federal government has acted promptly to find a responsible and just solution to special hardships facing independent truckers as a result of the energy crisis. Mr. Nixon warned strikers that violence would not be tolerated but emphasized the fact that 20 percent of the truckers have stayed at their jobs.

Monday, February 11

MORE AND MORE INDEPENDENT TRUCKERS are taking to the highways in response to President Nixon's address, but Detroit area truckers represent at least one pocket of resistance to the President's suggestion that all rigs get back on the road. In a Sunday vote, Detroit drivers rejected a proposed settlement, 259-146. One item in the proposed agreement that Detroit truckers strongly take issue with is a program of surcharges which the government claims will enable them to recover the increased cost of fuel. Truckers don't believe the surcharge can provide any relief at all.

FRANCE, obviously not interested in joining 13 oil consuming nations in a united front against soaring oil prices, has split openly with the United States on the subject. At the first meeting of the conference on Monday, French Foreign Minister Michel Jobert said his country wanted no part of U. S. plans to organize oil consuming nations on a relatively permanent basis.

Troop 699 Welcomes New Eagle Scouts

City Shows Big Drop in Fire Losses

No Serious Blazes Reported in 1973; Some Citizens Deny Firefighters Admittance for Inspections

By Nancy Kramer

The Grosse Pointe City Fire Department has finished compiling its annual report for the year ending December 31, 1973, and findings have been turned over to City Manager Thomas Kressbach.

One outstanding statistic amid all the other figures shows a marked decline in total monetary losses incurred by fires during the year. This amount, $62,097.85, is considerably less than the $91,213 amount averaged over the past five years. Damages for 1972 alone, $112,485.02, totaled nearly twice this year's sum. City Fire Chief Robert Marshall noted, "We just didn't have very serious fires last year."

However, the department did make more runs, 276 altogether. Twenty-two of those runs were responses to single dwelling fires and one, to a multiple dwelling.

Main Causes
Shedding more light on the statistics, Chief Marshall cited faulty electrical equipment as the greatest cause behind the residential blazes, since 23 of them were recorded. Three fires resulted from careless smoking or handling of matches, and three grease fires also were reported.

A total of 11 non-residential fires stemmed from careless rubbish burning and this was cited as the most prominent reason behind all non-residential fires.

Farms Police Chief Files Five-Year Crime Statistics

A five-year armed robbery study made by The Farms Police Department revealed a rather constant figure for the years 1969 through 1973, according to a report submitted by Police Chief Robert Ferber.

The study showed that the lowest number of these crimes, (two), took place in 1971 and the highest, (five), occurred in 1970.

The chief's report also revealed that during this five-year period, the Department maintained a clearance rate of about 80 percent regarding these type of offenses. It also showed approximately 60 percent of the persons who committed these crimes lived in, or had lived in, The Pointe.

Grosse Pointe Academy Plans Curriculum with Montessori Plan in Mind

Orientation to Specific Educational Approach Works Well for Teachers, Students; School Features Husband-Wife Teaching Team

By Kathy Duff

"We should not be thought of as Montessori School, we should be thought of as a Montessori-oriented school," John Poplawski, headmaster of the Grosse Pointe Academy, said about his lower school.

"We continue to use the principles of Dr. Maria Montessori, but we are not tied to them. We are always open to new ideas, new ways for our students to investigate subjects."

Mr. Poplawski is in his fifth year of being headmaster of the independent school located on a 22-acre Lake Shore campus. Since the school took over the old Sacred Heart convent, the entire building has assumed an improvised and casual feeling.

On the third floor, which is comprised of a long hallway flanked by cellular rooms, students used to board at the convent. Now the rooms serve as activity spaces for the art department.

Use Every Inch
One room is painted with huge yellow and red stripes, and white clouds on a blue background near the dormer window. Another room is a total aquascape, complete with a seven-foot high octopus and hugh tuna.

Downstairs, in the hallways where the convent girls had to walk on the second tile from the wall, exhibits are often set up. One day last fall, all the fourth and fifth graders made exhibits on each of the 50 states. A visitor could barely wind his way down to the old nuns' wing, (which now houses the headmaster's office and artists' studios upstairs), without learning something about Vermont, Idaho and Arizona.

On a recent visit to the Academy, one section of the hallway was taken up by a group of students and their teacher who was reading a story. Another hall space was taken up by a small group of students tracing a projection of King Tut's head on a large sheet of white paper. Every inch of the building is meant to be used by either the teachers or the students, and the students' needs get preferential treatment.

Three Groupings
The Grosse Pointe Academy is broken up into three main grade groupings. The most distinctive is the Early School which is housed in separate buildings on the campus. Designed for children three to six-years-old, the program strictly adheres to Dr. Maria Montessori's concepts of child development.

The lower school, which includes grades one through five, is divided into two sub-groups, grades one through three, and grades four and five. The middle school has students in sixth and seventh grades.

"We found that the children naturally fall into these age groupings," Mr. Poplawski said. "We give special attention to the first graders, since it is their first venture into the older school. For first graders, we have separate music and art classes. However, none of the students get hung up on whether a friend is a year older than himself or not."

Team Teaching
Besides the feeling of casualness which pervades the school, another thing strikes the visitor which is the relatively young age of the teachers. In contrast to the public schools in Grosse Pointe, where only a small percentage of the teachers are under 30 due to seniority and recent layoffs, many of the Academy's faculty are under 30.

"In the lower school, we practice team teaching, Mr. Poplawski explained. "For every classroom, there is one Montessori directress and a 'traditional' teacher, that is, a teacher who has the traditional Michigan teaching certificate. As I said earlier, we are not strictly a Montessori school, but Montessori-oriented."

G.P. Woods Considers Bus Shelters

SEMTA Proposes to Install Enclosures in The Community As Part of Improvement Program

By Roger A. Waha

The Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority, (SEMTA), reported it has contacted all the Pointes and St. Clair Shores requesting information on the location and numbers of bus shelters each community will need.

As of this week, the Authority reports it has heard from The Woods, Park and St. Clair Shores on this matter. The proposed installation of bus shelters for waiting passengers is part of SEMTA's program towards improving public transit.

At this time, The Woods Council is considering the installation of two shelters in the community.

Only First Phase
Daniel D. Morrill, SEMTA operations manager, said each new shelter will cost the Authority an estimated $3,600. The monies will come from a Federal grant via the Department of Transportation. As for maintenance, "Each city will be asked to maintain them," he said.

The shelters will be constructed mainly of plexiglass and stainless steel or aluminum, reported Gloria Saxton, SEMTA traffic engineer.

She said 10 shelters are scheduled for the six-county SEMTA region during the first phase, i.e., for 1974. "During the next few years, we hope to build more," she added.

Await Recommendation
The Woods Council at the regular meeting Monday, February 4, unanimously approved a motion by Councilman John Sabol to refer proposed shelter designs to the Planning Commission for their recommendation to the council.

At the same time, City Administrator Chester E. Petersen was urged to seek a picture or diagram of the proposed unit "so quick action can take place." A copy of the maintenance contract also was requested.

In answer to a letter from Mr. Morrill on shelter locations, a survey was conducted by Traffic Safety Officer Stephen Petrik to the need and placement of such shelters in the city.

Public Safety Director
Henry Marchand in a memo to Mr. Petersen said there are two locations which warrant shelters: (1), at the northeast corner of Mack avenue at Vernier road, and (2),

Heavy Snowfall Causes Depletion Of Salt Budgets

Pointe Communities Report Big Increase in Use of "Deicer"; Rising Gasoline Prices for DPW Vehicles Also Plays Role

The unusually heavy snowfall and cold weather of the 1973-74 winter season has played havoc with the budgets of the five Pointe communities, which have reported depleted, or nearly depleted, budgeted funds for snow removal and salt. A big factor in this year's cost is the increase in the use of salt, almost double that of last winter, and the cost in labor overtime paid to Department of Public Works employees.

Another factor is the skyrocketing prices of gasoline to operate the municipal vehicles used in clearing away snow and spreading salt on the cities' major and local streets.

Much 'White Stuff'
From November 9, when the first snowfall was noted at 7:45 a.m. to Monday, February 11, the Pointe area experienced a total of 30.5 inches of "white stuff" on the ground, according to information released by Wendell Baker, superintendent of The Farms Water Filtration Plant, 29 Moross road.

Snow and rainfall are recorded on official U.S. weather gauges at the plant. During December 1973, a total of 14 inches of snow fell on The Pointe area; last month, the total was 10 inches; and this month, through the 11th, six and one half inches, Mr. Baker said. He noted that in January of last year, temperatures ranged from the 30's to 50's, and that during February 1973, rainfall was recorded at 10 inches.

The highest amount of snowfall for this winter, Mr. Baker pointed out, was December 19-20, when The Pointe got an accumulation of 12 inches.

Staying Longer
During a mix up in communications, Mr. Baker reported a total of four inches for the two-day period. He disclosed the precipitation recorded only up to 3 p.m. on December 19 and failed to include the amount that fell until it ceased the following day.

"This year, with the colder temperatures staying around," Mr. Baker said, "more snow is remaining on the ground. We had snow on the ground from December 10 through January 21. We lost most of that, then on February 2, we started accumulating it again. There are six inches on the ground as of this report."

Oops—Wrong Day

In last week's NEWS, the date of the party being held in honor of Senator George Fitzgerald, (D. Grosse Pointe Park), was incorrectly given as Sunday, February 18. The correct date is Saturday, February 16.

Goal of 200 Pints Set In Feb. 21 Blood Drive

The annual Grosse Pointe community blood collection takes place at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, Thursday, February 21. The American Red Cross is sending out double units to be set up in the Crystal Ballroom to receive urgently needed donations of blood from 9 a.m. to 8:30 p.m.

With some hospitals only scheduling emergency operations due to the shortage of blood in supply, the collection's success is very important, says the Center.

The collection is sponsored by the Center and the Grosse Pointe Community Blood Council, which has just received the Good Neighbor Award for its efforts.

Mrs. Alfred Goolsby, who for years has guided the War Memorial's effort in blood collection, will be assisted this year by Mrs. Richard Piper and Mrs. Robert Eberole. Grosse Pointe Women's Club will furnish volunteers to register donors and take their medical histories.

Appointments may be made at the War Memorial's office, TU. 1-7511, or by filling out appointment cards obtainable at most of the churches in the area.

This year, in order that the Red Cross may better plan for the correct number of doctors and nurses to be on duty, it is asked that appointment cards be turned in to the Center by today, February 14, if possible.

Final Vote On Amount February 18

Library Will Be on Separate Ballot Once Again

By Kathy Duff

At a public hearing Monday night, February 11, the School Board trustees presented millage requests for the 1974-75 and the 1975-76 school years. They are asking for an additional 2.85 mills, both to cover rising costs and to enrich the school program.

The library is again on a separate ballot, asking .19 mills, .05 mills above their present .14 mills.

The recommendations, which were announced by the Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Theos I. Anderson, met varied reaction from the audience. Some Pointe residents questioned the necessity of a larger operating budget when school enrollment is expected to shrink by 500 students in the next two years.

Rising Costs
Twenty-nine teachers will be cut in proportion to the enrollment decline, yet a total of 19 teachers will be added to enrich lacking areas of the curriculum. It will make a net drop of 10 teachers.

In answering the charges, Dr. Anderson pointed out the recently settled teachers contract will improve teachers salaries 2.71 percent in 1973-74, and about 6.85 in the last two years of the three-year contract. Giving an example of other rising costs, Dr. Anderson said that paper supplies had risen 28 percent in the last year, compared to a one percent increase the year before for the same supplies.

But all is not to meet rising costs, the trustees and administrators will be quick to point out. School board meetings since September 1973 have been attended by concerned parents complaining about the quality of education in Grosse Pointe. Among the parents who have spoken up are those from Kerby, Defer and Monteth school districts, who complained about overcrowded elementary classrooms.

Throughout the year, the trustees said they could not hire additional teachers for relief, that there were not funds in the budget. They did, however, promise to give the choice of an improved curriculum to the voters in the next millage election. That millage election has been set for Monday, April 8.

Included in the millage package is the addition of 6.5 staff members in the elementary schools to establish a maximum class size of 29

Correction!

A news release from the War Memorial published in the February 7 edition of the NEWS contained a factual error.

The story headlined "Center Offers Organ Lessons" indicated the instructor for the organ study program, Stella May, was long associated with Grinnells. This is incorrect. She is associated with the Smiley Brothers Music Company who are furnishing the organ for the lessons.

Instruction begins today, February 14. For further information, contact the War Memorial at TU 1-7511.

School Board Trustees Present Millage Requests

students for grades one and two and 33 students for grades three through six. Several years ago, in the worst period of millage cut-backs, instrumental music was dropped from the fifth grade and instruction began in the sixth. Besides the parents, music teachers in the middle schools and high schools noticed inferior student performances. Passage of the upcoming millage would reinstate the instrumental music program in the fifth grade.

The trustees hope to add 4.5 teachers to the elementary schools so that each school would have a half time person to work with the children individually and in small groups. They would work on projects with children who display special talents. The skills teacher would also be used to give additional assistance to children with specific needs in developmental reading, mathematics and writing.

It is also hoped to add a skills teacher in the middle schools for enrichment in the reading and mathematics areas.

The program would also add an educator to review, revise and write improved courses of study in the middle schools.

Innovate Program
One of the most innovative programs the superintendent and trustees have suggested is the offering of an alternative educational program for students who are chronically unable to adjust to the normal school day. This program was on the top of the teachers' list, (speaking through the Grosse Pointe Education Association), and was endorsed by Dr. Anderson.

The program would provide after school classes in English, mathematics and social studies to enable students to complete high school requirements. The program would begin with two teachers in 1974-75 with a third person added in 1975-76.

Currently, education of the handicapped in Grosse Pointe ends after elementary school. A program that the trustees have suggested is the addition of a secondary teacher to assist handicapped students through special teaching methods and materials.

The last program recommended was an additional elementary teacher qualified to teach a special education class for children with emotional problems. The program would be located in one of the schools, but children from all the districts would be eligible.

In addition to the improved staffing ratio, which was detailed above, the millage covers anticipated salary increases, transportation costs, building and maintenance accounts, vocational education and the return of the trainable mentally impaired program to Detroit.

Any residents wishing the exact breakdown of the millage request may review a copy at the administrative offices, 389 St. Clair.

After the millage request was reviewed, Trustee William Huetteman, who was standing in for absent School Board President Robert D. Warner, asked for comments and questions from the residents.

Show Support
During the course of the audience discussion, two men questioned the fiscal policy of the School Board for setting a contract and then going to voters to secure the funds. Both Mr. Huetteman and Chief Negotiator William O'Connor assured them they had negotiated within budget guidelines set forth by the Board.

Two groups made known their support for the upcoming millage vote. Mrs. Ann McLeary speaking for the League of Women Voters and Carl Lord speaking for the Grosse Pointe Education Association.

One father of Defer School children said he hated to pay the price for more teachers, but that one of his children was in a class of 31 students. "I can tell the decrease in individual attention when a class grows from 25 students to 31."

At the close of the meeting, Mr. Huetteman said, "No one wants to pay the price until their child gets in a large class. Then they see that their kid isn't cutting the mustard and that there are so many students in the class that the teacher can't give them much help. It's then that they say that something has to be done."

The trustees are expected to approve the millage request at a special meeting Monday, February 18, at 8 p.m. in the administrative building in St. Clair.

Five Year Crime Stats

years in which hard narcotic addiction spread from the innercity to the suburbs. Also during these five years, an examination of persons arrested for burglary disclosed that 90 percent of the burglars were hard narcotic addicts.

"All current measuring gauges in The Pointe seem to indicate a reduction and a move away from the use of hard drugs, and with this trend, one may anticipate a corresponding reduction in hard narcotic related crimes," Chief Ferber said.

In other crime categories, the five-year study revealed during 1973 a total of 202 bicycles were reported stolen, of which 82 were recovered; in 1972, the number stolen was 241; in 1971, it was 307; and in 1970, it was a low of 178.

During 1973, six investigations were conducted regarding attempted suicides, two of which were unfounded. There was one suicide resulting from an overdose of prescription medicine and one accidental death, caused by the taking of a prescription drug, complicated by drinking alcoholic beverages.

The Farms Police Department, on many occasions assisted by the Youth Service Division, (YSD), investigated 46 missing person complaints in 1973, a decrease of 23 in 1972, and a decrease of two in 1971. In all but three instances in 1973, those reported missing were under 17 years of age, the chief said.

During 1973, a total of 27 motor vehicles were reported stolen; in 1972 the number was 28, and in 1971, it was 37. All vehicles reported stolen in 1973 were recovered somewhere in Michigan.

In addition, arrests made for this offense assisted Federal Bureau of Investigation agents in breaking up a major luxury auto theft ring operating in Wayne County with distribution points in Ohio, Kentucky and Florida.

Last year, four arson investigations were reported, the most serious involving the total loss of a $40,000 home under construction in Lakeshore road. This arson was probably started intentionally, or unintentionally, by children playing with matches. To date, 37 potential suspects have been interviewed and the case remains open and unsolved, Chief Ferber said.

Another incident involved an attempted arson on a home under construction on Provincial road, which appeared to be the work of children playing with matches. Still another incident resulted in the apprehension of two children, five- and six-years-old, who, while playing with matches, partially destroyed a garage by fire.

"The final incident was undoubtedly envisioned as a joke," Chief Ferber said. "Some 1973 South High School graduates set fire to a junk car on the school lawn. There was no injury or property damage, luckily." During 1973, the chief stated, six felonious assaults were reported; three were unfounded; one involved an assault via a motor vehicle; one by use of a rifle, and one by use of a hand gun. All instances were cleared by arrests, the chief added.

"Bomb threats climbed from zero in 1970 to 14 in 1971 and dropped to six in 1972 and only one in 1973," the chief said. "In the past, bomb threats were directed toward buildings owned by the Pointe School System. No actual bomb was discovered in 1973."

However, as a result of a 1973's single threat, 10 sticks of dynamite were discovered in the city trash receptacle in front of the Manor Bar, 18468 Mack avenue, the chief explained. The dynamite was not fused and was in a plastic bag. It also was in an extremely wet condition, (the nitroglycerin had leaked through the wrappings).

The bag and its contents were removed by bomb squads from the Michigan State Police, Detroit Police Department, Wayne County Sheriff's Department and Selridge Air Force Base and taken to the Municipal Pier-Park, where it was destroyed by fire.

As a last note, Chief Ferber revealed his department answered a total of 2,474 complaints. The important thing to remember, he said, is the investigation of any complaint may or may not be time consuming, taking perhaps 10 minutes, or 10 days.

Fire Losses

The report notes that The City hired one additional fireman during the year. After physicals and written and oral examinations, Alfred Fincham was hired out of a group of 24 applicants and began working on July 1, 1973.

Unfortunately in light of the energy squeeze, the report shows the fire department employed 31 more gallons of gasoline during 1973 than was used in 1972. All told, 1,461 gallons were utilized. However, Chief Marshall said the department is now making a concentrated effort to conserve fuel.

"We make inspections on foot to places in the Village," he explained, "and to any other area within walking distance."

A sizeable portion of the annual report was devoted to the topic of inspections, and most of the chief's comments were directed toward this subject. Inspections in 1973 covered dwellings from Fisher road to Lakeland avenue, south of Jefferson, and on Woodland and Cadieux.

"Out of a possible 1,067 homes scheduled for examination," the chief observed, "600 were not done because firemen found no one at home."

The department was only able to check out a total of 382 homes, and at 85 residences, they were denied admittance. "We sure would like to find some way in the future to help make people's homes a little safer," Chief Marshall commented. "All we want to do is help them pick out possible fire hazards and we never issue any violations. We leave literature behind for the people who aren't at home, but somehow, they never seem to call back."

Inspections are not just restricted to Fire Prevention Week in October. "We'd be glad to do it year-round," the chief said. Anyone wanting their home inspected should call the department at 888-3200 to make arrangements.

Parole Board Studies Case

The case of a Detroit man, convicted in June 1969 for the burglary of a Shores residence, and who was scheduled for parole Saturday, February 9, after serving over five years of a 7½-15 year prison sentence, is currently in limbo the NEWS has learned.

The pending release of Irving Goldfarb, who has a criminal record dating back to his juvenile days in 1936, infuriated Shores Detective Sergeant Frank Mustazza when he learned about it late last year. The sergeant was the investigating officer in the November 1968 break-in of a Greenbriar road home.

At this time, it's reported Goldfarb's case has been deferred for investigation for satisfactory placement. It has been referred to the Field Service Division of the parole board for their investigation with a report back to the entire board regarding information on where he will live, what job he will have, et. al.

Goldfarb, who has been in and out of jail much of his life, has been convicted of breaking and entering, larceny from a building, possession of burglary tools and police said he admitted being involved in 39 break-in cases in the Detroit area prior to his conviction in 1969. (As part of the 7½-15 year sentence, Goldfarb was given credit for 135 days time spent in jail while awaiting trial).

Sergeant Mustazza, considering Goldfarb's criminal record, questioned why he was being paroled and not serving the maximum sentence. He also called Goldfarb a "very poor risk" and felt he couldn't be rehabilitated.

In an editorial published in the December 13, 1973, edition, the NEWS also questioned the scheduled release of Goldfarb based on his record, and felt it would be in the public interest if the parole board reconsidered its decision. The NEWS felt Goldfarb's release would pose a definite threat to the well being and public safety of the community.

Candidates Seek to Fill Vacant Term

17 Hopefuls Vie for Second District Seat in Feb. 26 Primary

Fourteen Democrats and three Republicans are vying to fill the unoccupied term of Second District Senator Charles Youngblood, Jr., at the Tuesday, February 26, primary election.

Mr. Youngblood, who is appealing his conviction on a charge of bribing a State official in a liquor license deal, resigned his seat last month. As a result, the election was called to fill the remaining nine months of his term.

Hopeful Group
Voters will select one of the following Democrats: Harold M. Ryan, James J. Schmitt, Casimir M. Senkowski, Ted M. Sikora, Anthony J. Woldanski, Salvatore C. DeSantis, Walter R. Dombrowski and James L. Galen.

Others include Peter H. B. Gruits, Thomas J. Grzywacz, John C. Hertel, Perry W. Lewis, Juan Jose Mosqueda, and Anthony Romeo.

On the Republican side are John Laue, John S. Hirschak, Jr., and Thomas E. Terwilliger.

The second Senate district includes The Woods, Grosse Pointe Township, Harper Woods and portions of Detroit's east side.

Polls will be open in The Woods and Grosse Pointe Township from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. on the 26th.

After the primary, a special election will be held on Tuesday, March 19.

Brownell Sets Paper Drive

Brownell's Student Council, in cooperation with the E.A.N. group, is sponsoring its second annual paper drive. Last year's drive was a huge success with students collecting over 40,000 pounds of paper.

This year's drive will be held at Brownell on Saturday, February 16, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Students are hopeful for another successful drive and plan to put the proceeds from the drive toward a new reading skills center at Brownell.

Pointer Elected President Of State Humane Society

James L. Schroth, of South Renard road, was elected president of the Michigan Humane Society at a meeting of the board last month. He succeeds Harold M. Hastings who held the post for 15 years.

Mr. Schroth is the youngest president in the history of the 50-year-old organization, which operates humane shelters in Detroit, Westland and recently opened a new unit on a 10-acre site in Pontiac Township.

The new president has been an active member of the board since 1964.

Mr. Schroth is especially interested in humane education for young people. He also feels that there is a need for more humane services in The Pointe area.

He hopes to develop support for a special emergency and unwanted animal pick-up service in the near future.

He, his wife, Suzanne, and their two sons, Bill, 13, and Pat, 10, have resided in The Woods since 1964. Previously, they lived in The City and Farms. They attend Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

I'm sorry.

A friend dies. A relative, perhaps.

What do you say to the family at a time like that?

What words can possibly make them feel better? Or express the way you feel?

"I'm sorry." Probably the first two words that come to your mind.

Those two words, as inadequate as they might seem in the face of such an awesome trauma, say it all.

They say it is not only the family's loss, but your's as well.

They convey understanding. Your desire to help.

And maybe most importantly, they express a willingness to be the kind of friend that is most needed at such a time.

A friend who will sit down and listen.

The point is, your expression need not be eloquent, or beautiful, or original.

It need only be personal and sincere, to be right.

There are of course, other things to consider. Other questions you might have? Should you go to the funeral? Should you take children? Should you send flowers? Food? What if the family is of another faith?

If you should ever need help, or if there is anything you need to know, feel free to call. At any time. We'll be happy to give you any advice or assistance we can. Regardless of where the service is being held.

If you wish, we'll send a booklet that might help.

Because that, we feel, is what our profession is supposed to be all about.

Helping.

Center Returns Its Pre-School

A pre-school program for children ages three to five is being initiated at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. It will be directed by three qualified teachers who also are Pointe mothers: Mrs. Helen Doelle, Mrs. Mary Ann Hughes and Mrs. Anita Myers.

Two of the teachers offered the program at the Center in the mid-'60's. The program met with such great success that it was continued for three years.

Pre-school at the Memorial will be three days a week,

Tuesdays through Thursdays, February 26 to June 6, from 9:15 to 11:15 a.m.

The child's world will be enhanced by an integrated program drawn from arts and crafts, drama, literature and music.

The subject content will be organized around themes. For example, the theme Basic Shapes will occupy a block of time where art shapes will be drawn from the masters and interpreted in craft form. For further information, call TU 1-7511.

Government Ups Insurance Limit

President Richard Nixon has signed an act that some Pointers may find useful in coping with the periodical overflow of Lake St. Clair.

The Flood Disaster Protection Act, signed by the President on December 31, 1973, substantially expands the National Flood Insurance Program in order to provide better public protection.

What is essentially of interest to Pointers is that the Act increases the limits of insurance coverage for all types of property, including single family residential homes. Prior to the signing of the new Act, coverage for a single family residential dwelling was limited to $17,500. The new limit is $35,000.

The contents of such a dwelling can now be insured for up to $10,000. Previously the limit for content insurance was $5,000.

Howeowners presently under the program who are interested in increased coverage, or those interested in obtaining coverage, should contact their insurance agent.

Bus Shelters

at the northwest corner of Vernier at Mack.
During the discussion, Mr. Petersen suggested the plans be reviewed before any shelters are built. "We don't want to give them blanket authority to install anything."

Councilwoman Joan M. Mullan said she has seen some "shabby bus shelters" which stand all year around and wanted to know if the city can refuse SEMTA's offer. (The council, it should be emphasized, has made no final decision on the shelters, which they can refuse).

In the same vein, Councilman George S. Freeman cited a potential clean-up problem with such shelters and wanted the Planning Commission to be aware of this. Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos said the shelters, if installed, can be removed if they become a public nuisance, and SEMTA can be notified of this.

Two Locations
Meanwhile, Park City Manager Robert A. Slone said the council is for the idea of bus shelters in the community.

At this time, there's a possibility of two locations: (1), on Maryland road around 200-foot north of East Jefferson avenue, and (2), on East Jefferson by The Michigan Bank, near Alter road.

Gunman Put On Probation

A 22-year-old City man, charged with simple assault, was placed on two year's probation, plus $330 court costs, in Wayne County Circuit Court during his sentencing last month, Woods police said.

The man was originally charged with felonious assault with a dangerous weapon and dangerous weapon in a motor vehicle.

He was picked up by City police last September at his residence and was released to Woods public safety officers on their warrant.

Police reported the man pointed a revolver at two Woods officers after attempting to hit their scout cars last August. The incident climaxed in his apprehension when officers set up a roadblock in front of The Woods Municipal Building on Mack avenue.

Blood Drive

Of course, appointments are welcome any time, and walkers also are gratefully received though they may have to wait a little longer.

The goal set by Mrs. Goolsby is the collection of 200 pints.

All Pointers, ages 18 to 60, should give blood except those who have histories of heart trouble, blood diseases, or who are pregnant. Seventeen-year-olds may donate with parents' permission slips.

Donors are advised to eat lightly before giving blood. Coffee and donuts will be served to donors afterward.

Those who need transportation may call the Center; a baby sitting service will be provided by the Junior Red Cross.

DEVONSHIRE DRUGS

Your muscles are never completely relaxed, even when you are sleeping. The slight but constant contraction of your muscles—called tonus—keeps on whether you sleep or not. Because of tonus, your muscles are all ready to start an action as soon as a signal comes from your brain. A muscle is like a runner crouched at the starting line, waiting for a signal to start. A rested body has an increased tonus, where as when you become tired, your muscle tonus decreases.

Extra care in engineering...it makes a big difference in small cars.

What kind of gas mileage will you get with a small car? United States Auto Club has some answers.

The United States Auto Club conducted mileage tests to determine what kind of mileage you can expect to get by driving a small car sensibly under normal driving conditions.

They tested four 6-cylinder cars, including the Dodge Dart Sport and Plymouth Duster (equipped with our 225 6-cylinder engine and new standard 2.76 rear axle), a Chevrolet Nova, a Ford Maverick and a four-cylinder Mustang II, all with manual transmissions. Using non-professional drivers, they took these 1974 cars over a 972-mile two-day trip through cities and towns and over the highway, doing their best to average 55 m.p.h. while on the open road.

The drivers stopped to rest, to eat and stay overnight, just as you would do on such a trip. Then the drivers put the cars through 108 miles of city traffic which included 229 traffic lights and 30 stop signs. A thorough test, thoroughly supervised by USAC.

TESTS SANCTIONED AND RESULTS CERTIFIED BY USAC, JANUARY, 1974.

Here are the certified results.

CERTIFIED: Dodge Dart Sport and Plymouth Duster—with 6-cylinder engines—delivered more miles per gallon in city traffic than Mustang II with 4-cylinders. And they delivered comparable mileage on the highway.

CERTIFIED: Plymouth Duster and Dodge Dart Sport delivered over 7 more miles per gallon than Maverick in city traffic.

CERTIFIED: Dodge Dart Sport and Plymouth Duster delivered over 8 more miles per gallon than Nova in city traffic.

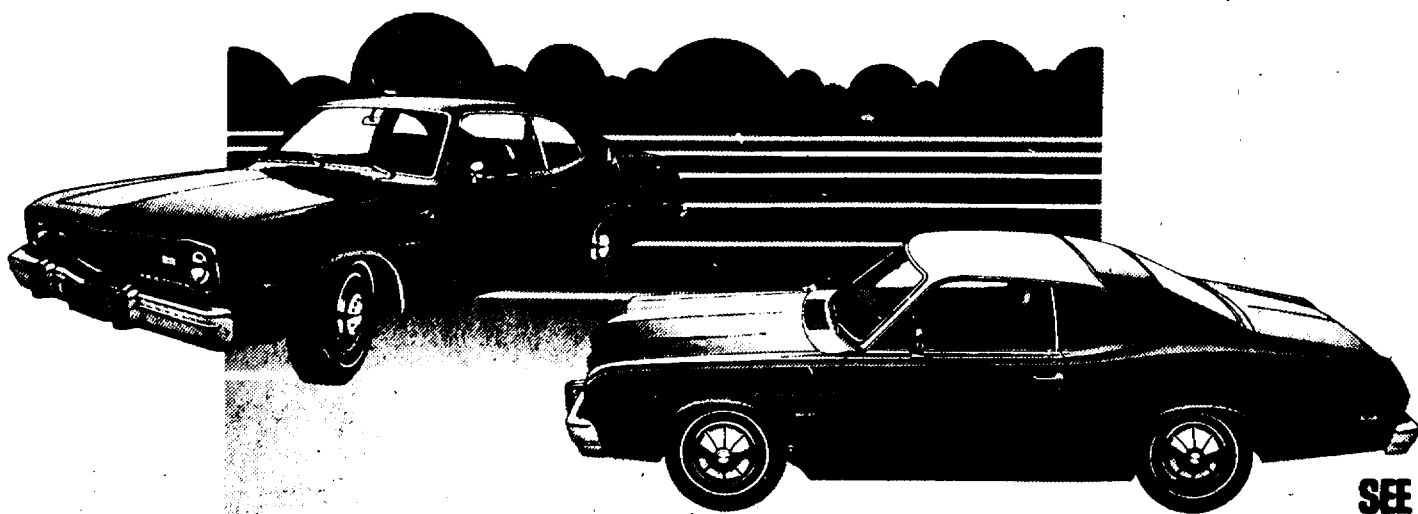

CERTIFIED: Plymouth Duster and Dodge Dart Sport also delivered more miles per gallon than Nova or Maverick on the highway.

So if good gas mileage is important to you in a small car, we have the small cars you're looking for...plus a whole lot more...

...more trunk space than 3 Pintos
...20" more total hiproom than Maverick
...standard electronic ignition
...and a sticker price lower than VW's most popular model.*

*Price comparison based on manufacturers' suggested retail price, excluding destination charges, dealer preparation, state and local taxes. Optional whitewall tires and wheel covers shown, $53.20 extra. Optional vinyl roof as shown on Plymouth Duster, $63.20 extra.

The answer is a small car at your Chrysler-Plymouth and Dodge Dealer's.

St. Clair Plans Activities
For Catholic Schools Week

St. Clare of Montefalco School, located in The Park for more than 45 years, will be joining with other parochial schools in celebrating Catholic Schools Week, Sunday-Saturday, February 17-23. The theme of the week is "Different Where it Counts."

Sister Jeanne Brown, principal, maintains the programs and activities at St. Clare reflect the philosophy formulated and lived by the school community. "As a community of believers committed to share our common belief in Jesus Christ," Sister Brown said, "we strive to become more aware of His presence in our midst by recognizing the inherent goodness of each member and by realizing that this goodness is the reflection of Jesus living in and through us."

"Learning situations are designed to insure an atmosphere conducive to individual growth and responsibility. Unit planning involving behavioral objectives, introduced this year, has been one attempt to provide a broader range of learning experiences so that students can proceed at a depth and rate concomitant with their ability."

Sister Brown also mentioned the Prescriptive Math Inventory, (PMI), Program, used in grades four through eight, which prescribes math assignments according to the needs of each student.

Catholic Schools Week will find eighth graders looking for special ways to be of service to the school and to their neighbors. The seventh grade will use the afternoon of Tuesday, February 19, to visit Catholic high schools in the area and take a look into the future.

On the same date, there will be an information meeting for parents of students in the religious education program and any others who might be interested in transferring their children to St. Clare School. The meeting will begin in the convent recreation room at 10 a.m. followed by a tour of the school.

Right now, the students are busy writing essays, making banners for the liturgy of the week, and printing messages on the windows for all to see. During Catholic Schools Week, the lower grades will invite some of their friends to come and share the excitement. Visitors from the community also are welcome.

What were the top sport stories of the last 75 years? According to a group of sport writers and sportscasters the No. 1 sport story of that period was Jesse Owen's 4 gold medals in the 1936 Olympics in Berlin and the treatment he received there. Here are the runners up...

2. Roger Banister's 4 minute mile

3. Bobby Thompson's 1951 home run—diminishing the Giant comeback that led to a World Series victory.

4. Mark Spitz's 7 gold medals in the 1972 Olympics.

5. The U.C.L.A. Basketball Dynasty.

6. Don Larsen's perfect World Series game in 1956.

7. The first Ali-Frazier fight (Ali will become champion again).

8. The Jets upset of the Colts in 1969 Super Bowl.

9. Babe Ruth's 60 home runs for the record.

10. Dempsey - Tunney long count fight.

You probably have other ideas on what were the great sport stories as I do, but that's what the experts think.

How to keep from going over the speed limit —even accidentally.

In these gas-short, lower speed days, Speedostat is as important an accessory as you can have on your car. It will hold your car at a constant speed, uphill and down. Merely accelerate to the desired speed, press a button, take your foot off the pedal, and Speedostat takes over. To disengage it, step on the brake. If you must speed up, step on the accelerator. Lift your foot and Speedostat automatically returns the car to the pre-determined speed. Speedostat pays off in fuel saved, money saved (gas prices are out of sight), and safer, more relaxed driving.

Pointe Communities Face Depletion of Salt Budgets

"The snow that fell on February 11 is included in the six inches," he added.
This is what this winter has done to the snow removal and salt budget of the Pointes bearing in mind that the cost of salt has risen from $8.73 to $8.73 a ton delivered:
During the 1972-73 winter, The Park used a total of 830 tons of salt for the entire season.

Many More Tons
As of February 11, the total amount spread on all municipal major and local streets, (33 miles) came to 1,005 tons, as compared to 523 tons during the same period last year.

The Park budgeted $10,000 for fiscal year 1973-74 for snow removal and salt. The amount, which comes out of the city's highway fund, is now depleted. The monies received are from the Michigan State Highway Fund for the maintenance of local major thoroughfares. A small portion of the cost used for residential streets comes from the highway fund, and the balance is raised through local taxes.

A report from The City showed that last winter a total of 483.42 tons of salt was spread over the streets of this one square-mile community. So far this year, Department of Public Works personnel used up approximately 730 tons of the 800 tons purchased for this winter.

This nearly depletes the 1973-74 budget. The City has 11.31 municipal major and residential streets.

A major part of the fund decrease is due to overtime paid to DPW workers and the higher price of gasoline to operate municipal vehicles in clearing away the snow and spreading salt.

Using Up Sums
In The Farms, it was disclosed that as of February 11, the city used about 1,000 tons of salt, as compared to the about 800 tons during the same period of 1972-73.

It was further revealed that during the month of January alone, The Farms expended a total of $6,000 for DPW personnel overtime, but this also includes the cost of rubbish pickup. However, it was pointed out, a large part of this was for snow removal and salt.

The city placed $16,000 in its 1973-74 budget, but because of the unusually heavy snowfall this winter up to February 11, and the amount of salt purchased, the budget sum will be depleted, if the present weather conditions continue.

The Shores reported that it has allocated $2,850 in its 1973-74 budget for salt for its 12.60 miles of streets.

Through last year's winter, an estimated 70 tons of salt was spread over the village streets, but as of the February 11 date, the total used was 210 tons, or three times that of the entire 1972-73 season.

The Shores has enough to last through the winter, and enough in its budget to purchase more salt if needed.

Enough on Hand
As far as The Woods is concerned, it budgeted $27,400 for fiscal year 1973-74 for snow removal, salt and labor, and as of February 11, expended an estimated $21,000 of this amount, leaving it with a little more than $6,000 for the balance of this winter season.

As of the February date, the city has used a total of 1,500 tons of salt, equal to the estimated 1,500 tons used through the entire winter of 1972-73, but there is enough on hand to last through the balance of this winter. If more is needed, there would be no problem from contacted suppliers, even if heavy snowfalls continue for the rest of the winter.

The Woods has a total of 53.9 miles of municipal major and residential streets.

'It's in The Bag' for G.P. Woods

The Woods Council unanimously accepted the quotation of Cherrin Products Company, of Dearborn, to supply the city with plastic rubbish bags in the amounts of $55.00 per thousand bags of reclaimed Polyethylene in rolls of 50 and boxes of 100.

This action was taken at the regular meeting Monday, February 4.

At the same time, the solons unanimously agreed to increase the price from $2.50 per roll of 50 bags to $3.00 per roll.

In a memo to City Administrator Chester E. Petersen, City Comptroller-Assessor Frederick G. Hornfisher said since Cherrin's price is firm for 60 days, "we should order a two month supply of 160,000 bags in rolls and 30,000 bags in boxes." City Treasurer Helen L. Fox said the city sells more rolls than boxes.

"If the price remains firm after the 60 day period we should then renew the present order for the period the price is extended," continued Mr. Hornfisher.

The city comptroller-assessor also recommended the price per roll be increased from $2.50 to $3.50 but Councilman Conrad A. Naegel felt the $3.50 tab was "too rich."

Mr. Naegel said he recognized the increase to $3 includes a small amount for a handling charge. "But we're not in the game to make money but to help in the services of the city." So, for a roll of 50 bags, citizens will pay $3.00 and for a box of 100, $6.00.

Mr. Petersen spoke on the intention of the $3.50 price. In 1974, it would give the city a small profit off of bag handling but in 1976, the city could easily be subsidizing the sale of bags at the $3.50 figure. "We hoped to hold the $3.50 price for a four to five year period and take a profit or loss over that period," he added.

Three Bands To Play Here

Three highly acclaimed high school orchestras will perform on the same program, Wednesday, February 20, at 8 p.m. in the auditorium at Parcels Middle School.

The Ann Arbor Huron High School Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Gabe Villarsurda, the Okemos High School Orchestra directed by Marilyn Kesler, and the South High School Symphony Orchestra directed by Russell Reed will share the program of varied orchestral music. The concert is the first part of an orchestra exchange program with the South High School Orchestra and the two other schools. The South Orchestra plans to perform at Okemos, which is near Lansing, and Ann Arbor in the future.

The program will include works by Beethoven, Faure, Moussorsky, Hanson, selections from "Shaft," and selections from "Music Man." The visiting orchestras will arrive in Grosse Pointe in the late afternoon and will be taken home to dinner by the South High School musicians.

There will be no admission charge. Parcels School is located at the corner of Mack and Vernier.

It will be a unique opportunity to acquire excellent art at auction prices. Mr. Weinsaft's collection consists of lithographs, etchings, sculptures, engravings and acrylics gathered from artists, collectors, studios, and estates all over the world.

Art On Display
The auction will serve as a fund raiser by Pierce PTA to replenish the Student Activities Fund and the Learning Aids Fund, which have in the past purchased such equipment as sewing machines, trampolines, a welder, maps, math kits, reading materials, and outdoor basketball court, school bus trips and audio-visual equipment.

Refreshments will be served from 7 to 8 p.m. while traditional as well as modern art, all custom framed are on display. A $1 donation will be received at the door. Several paintings will be given to persons attending the event.

OK Attendance At MML Parley

The Woods Council unanimously approved the attendance of any son, City Administrator Chester E. Petersen and City Attorney George Catlin to the Annual Legislative Conference of the Municipal League Thursday, February 21, in Lansing.

This action was taken at the regular meeting Monday, February 4.

At the same time, the motion included the reimbursement of all necessary expenses, subject to council approval, of those participating.

The program includes five concurrent forums with legislators and State officials on important issues of general municipal concern, e.g., finance and taxation and human resources, plus a general session on some of the major issues pending before the legislature, e.g., the energy crisis and proposed revenue sharing enrichment for cities and villages.

Farms Fluoridates Water As Required by State Law

The Farms began fluoridation of its water supply Monday, February 11, according to information released by Wendell R. Baker, superintendent of the Water Filtration Plant, 29 Moross road. The adding of the chemical is mandatory under a Michigan statute.

Mr. Baker said that State Senate Bill No. 859 requires every county, city, township or village, or any combination thereof, supplying water to the public, (to which fluoride is not added and which may be consumed by humans), must add fluoride to such water in a manner and amount to be prescribed by the Michigan Department of Health within five years after the law is enacted. The bill was passed on July 19, 1968.

"Fluoridation of public water supplies in the addition of fluoride compounds to a quantity sufficient to equal the proportion to one part fluoride to one million gallons of water (ppm)," Mr. Baker said. "This amount will include both natural and added fluoride."

The superintendent said one ppm is equal to 8.34 pounds of fluoride to one million gallons of water, (one million gallons of water is equal to 8,340,000 pounds). It becomes immediately obvious an application of 1.0 ppm represents the addition of only a trace amount.

The Farms obtains its water from Lake St. Clair, Mr. Baker pointed out.

"A 12 million gallons a day, (mgd), plant provides coagulation with alum, sedimentation and filtration," he said. "Pre- and post-chlorination are practiced; activated carbon is used for taste and odor control. Now, as of February 11, 8.34 pounds of fluoride ppm of water has been added for the reduction of the incidence of dental caries."

The chemical cost of fluoridation will be 12 cents per capita, Mr. Baker added.

Water sold to The City, the Farms' only customer, of course, also is fluoridated, the superintendent emphasized.

The purchase of a tank, which holds 6,000 gallons of fluoride was ordered by the

Churches Plan Special Day

St. James and St. Paul's Lutheran Churches have joined forces and planned a One Day Advance, a special day of Christian growth and fellowship for women. It will take place on Wednesday, February 20, at St. Paul Lutheran Church, 375 Lothrop road.

The program will begin with coffee and registration at 9 p.m. and will feature two guest speakers, Sue Murphy and Betty King.

A registration fee of $3 will cover the cost of lunch. Babysitting will be provided at a cost of 50 cents a child or $1 for a family. Each child must bring a lunch.

NH Students Show Fashions

Grosse Pointe North's Distributive Education students are presenting a fashion preview this evening, February 14, at 7:30 p.m. in North High School's Auditorium.

One of Detroit's top models, Loretta Green, has worked as consultant to help stage the show. Patterned after Detroit's "Fashion-cope" this promises to be a fun evening as well as a rewarding one for the 35 students modeling clothes donated by merchants who sponsor the co-op program.

There is a $1 admission charge at the door.

Plan Curriculum with Montessori Method in Mind

ented. For example, we introduce the students to French in the Early School and by the eighth grade, it is a full blown subject. Montessori would have been against this since it is necessary for the teacher to get before the class and instruct them in the language basics."

Primary Areas
Visiting one of the first through third grade classrooms, students were dispersed into small groups, each group tackling a different project. At one table, a girl was blind-folded and her classmate was holding up small bottles for her to smell. "Oh, that's dill weed," she was saying. "Ick, that's peppers."

It might seem singularly unacademic and distinctly domestic for a group of students to be memorizing spices, but it's all part of Montessori's curriculum. The Italian doctor divided the students' studies into five main areas: mathematics, language, geography, sensorial and practical life. Learning the spices would fall into the practical life area, as would learning good dental care and how to wash dishes. The elementary grades also learn mathematics using Dr. Montessori's visual aids. Most famous are the counting beads, which lead a student from linear counting to the more complex concepts of area and cubic multiplication. There are also Montessori's number rods neatly filed away with the other math aids.

Together
The Academy seems willing to try new situations at which other schools would balk. Teaching in a fourth and fifth grade classroom are Mr. and Mrs. Larry Swart, a husband and wife team teaching together six hours a day. "I keep waiting to see their divorce papers," Mr. Poplawski said with a smile. "I really believe that they are the only couple teaching together in the entire state of Michigan, if not in the entire country. But they wanted to try it, so they certainly got the go-ahead."

In the Swart's classroom one Friday afternoon, the youngsters were watching a slide film narrated by students reading title cards. Keeping with the Montessori belief of students motivating themselves and each other towards learning, each student called on another student when his reading turn was over. Mr. and Mrs. Swart were there to help untangle the more difficult sentences.

Desire to Learn
The Montessori method is often criticized, by people who have not seen it in operation, for being too liberal, for "letting the children do as they wish." However, the purpose of Dr. Montessori's studies was to realize that children have a natural desire to learn, and to tap that desire. It's rare to see a child day dreaming or bored in a Montessori classroom because they have all selected academic projects which fit their mood at the time.

Since each student is on his own track in all the study areas, he will not be bored by a project's simplicity or frustrated by its complexity. Any visitor will notice the concentration, because the students barely look up from their projects when a visitor enters the room.

The Academy has retained its Catholic orientation, although it draws students from diverse religious and cultural backgrounds. The director of the lower school, Jean Deutsch, has a special religion class for non-Catholic students.

In one Friday afternoon session, the class was discussing the role of the family. One little girl described it as a "loving, working, helping" relationship. In another part of the discussion, one boy mentioned God and Jesus, and was corrected by another student who said that they were the same person. "We'll be discussing that in another session," Mrs. Deutsch said.

"We are very encouraged by our first years as the Grosse Pointe Academy," Mr. Poplawski commented. "Each year, with the growth of our student body, we have expanded, until now there is no place to go. But we have a strong belief in private education, we provide parents with an alternative way to educate their children."

"There is no more miserable human being than one in whom nothing is habitual but indecision."

Meeting on 'Exorcist'

who are "claimed" as guardians. The managers felt, said the mayor, they would have some difficulty in requesting adults to produce identification and that the adults would say they, legally, wouldn't have to do this.

Writes Letter
Thus, the theatre requested some type of letter regarding such a question. Mayor Pinkos said City Attorney George Catlin would write a letter indicating the theatre does in fact have authority to ask for proper identification. And this has been done. Mr. Catlin said the letter, in effect, explains to the theatre management what evidence a person should have if they claimed to be a guardian. And that is a probable court order appointing an individual as a guardian. (A guardian must be 18 years-old or over).

"The city has nothing to do with this enforcement," said Mr. Catlin. "The theatre has the responsibility of enforcing this. This was just a cooperative effort between the city and the theatre." Mayor Pinkos also asked about the theatre's future plans regarding the showing of "X" rated and "R" rated pics. "I asked them to make a commitment not to bring in 'X' rated, junk pictures and they said they would only bring in highly rated films."

Some of these could be "R" rated films but they would be of a high aesthetic value and potential recipients of critical plaudits. "The management said they would never contract for a cheap, smoker type picture," stressed the mayor, who added, "They said surveillance would also be increased considerably."

Proven Record
The NEWS contacted Mr. Cataldo for his comments on the meeting. "We were in agreement on the only issues discussed," he said. Mr. Cataldo stressed there would be a tighter surveillance on the parent and guardian matter, and a more stringent check of proof from young people. "We're not going to check people obviously over 18 but if they look questionable, we'll ask for proof." And not without a light touch, he said, "We could get a rash of complaints the other way and upset people who are within their rights, are over 18, but don't have proof."

As for the type of films presented at the theatre, Mr. Cataldo stated, "Our track record in the community is proven. We have skirted away from other pictures which were money-makers. We always try to keep the community in mind. We are part of the community and are one of the early members of the community."

He said, "We have skirted away from controversial films outside of 'A Clockwork Orange' and 'The Exorcist.' (Both pictures, it should be noted, have caused rumblings at various communities across the country where they have played). Mr. Cataldo added, "We will cooperate in every way we can with the mayor."

On "Exorcist"
As for "The Exorcist," he noted, "Nobody knew what the reaction of the audience would be to the film." Mr. Cataldo felt despite the pro and con on the pic regarding its subject matter and treatment, it does have merit, wasn't condemned by the church and that many liked the film.

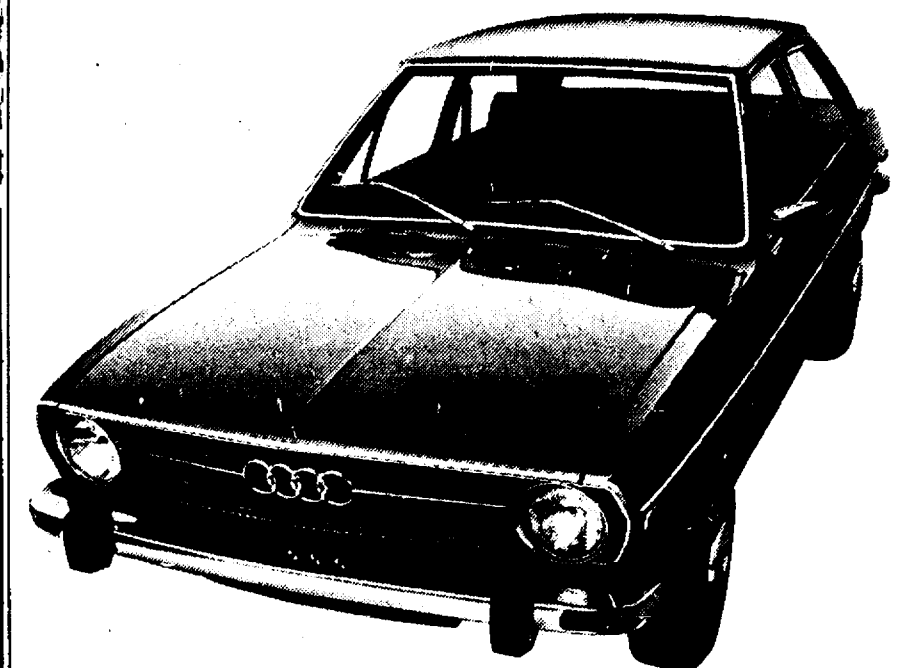

"Many people are challenged to see the film by their neighbors," he said. This does play a role regarding the long lines at cinemas showing "The Exorcist" across the country, not to mention overall word of mouth and the popularity of the book.

Mr. Cataldo also recognized the problem of ratings, i.e., that the "X" rated "A Clockwork Orange" and "Midnight Cowboy" were aesthetically and socially superior to, for example, the "X" rated "Deep Throat" and other so-called "skin flicks."

Group Elects New Officers

The North Woods Property Owner's Association elected new officers at its Wednesday, January 30, meeting at University Liggett School.

They include Ed Williams, of Blairmoor, president; Tom Fahrner, of Woods lane, vice-president for finance; Al Rente, of Moorland drive, vice-president for political action; and Marlene Miller, of Woods lane, secretary.

New trustees are Gene Shannon, of River road; George Kurze and John Kennedy, of Perrien place; John Sabol and Emil Fabri, of Moorland drive; and Richard O'Neill, Matt Savage and Ted Baetens, of Yorktown road.

Guest speakers at the meeting were Woods Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos and City Administrator Chester E. Petersen.

The Association represents the area within the Wayne County line, Van K., Brys drive, River road, Blairmoor west of River road and Goethe and Yorktown to the northern end of River road.

The organization plans a social event in the spring, and its next general meeting will be held this fall.

School Plans Open House

In recognition of Catholic School Week, Our Lady Star of the Sea Grade School will have an open house for parents and visitors Tuesday-Thursday, February 19-21.

Persons may visit the reading laboratories and other classes in session during the hours of 9 to 11 a.m. and 1 to 2:30 p.m. A special invitation has been extended to families with four-and-five-year-olds in first grade.

All visitors are asked to report to the grade school office upon entering the school.

Churches, Resident Hit Showing of 'The Exorcist'

"The Exorcist," via communications to The Woods Council, is once again receiving chastisement.

At the Monday, February 4, regular meeting, the solons unanimously received and placed on file three letters nixing the pic. These joint eight other letters which were received at the Monday, January 21, session. But unlike last month's meeting, no audience member spoke out against the film.

Two of the three letters came from churches, The Grosse Pointe Congregational Church, 240 Chalfonte avenue, and St. Paul's Rectory, 157 Lakeshore road. The other was from a City citizen.

In her communication, Marian B. Potter, clerk, GP Congregational, said,

"Due to the turbulence created within the religious community regarding the showing of the film 'The Exorcist' at the Woods Theatre, the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church joins with our sister churches to request a review regarding a regulation dealing with pornography in Grosse Pointe."

"We do not intend this letter to predetermine what might be the action of the Grosse Pointe Woods Council. However, we do feel the good of all, especially our youth in Grosse Pointe, due consideration must be given this matter. Our goal is not to infringe upon 'Freedom of Speech,' but rather to protect the moral and religious values long proclaimed by the Church."

"We thank you for any consideration which might be given this matter, so that our Grosse Pointe constituency be given an opportunity to be heard."

In her letter, Helen Igna, recording secretary, St. Paul Parish Council, stated, "St. Paul Parish Council, individually and as representatives of all the parishioners, strongly urge you to take affirmative action on the ordinance concerning pornography which you now have under consideration.

"We feel that bringing such movies as 'The Exorcist' into the area is not only damaging to our young people but adversely affects the entire community."

"The recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling on obscenity allows a community to set the moral taste and it is our considered opinion that nothing worthwhile can come from display of such exhibitions."

"We urge that you consider swift passage of the ordinance."

(The council is currently studying a proposed ordinance on the Committee of the Whole level. This measure would prohibit the possession, distribution, exhibition or sale of any obscene, lewd, lascivious or indecent book, magazine, pamphlet, newspaper, photograph record, picture, photograph, motion picture film, figure, image, wire or tape recording.)

Finally, Lincoln road resident, Dr. Thomas B. Coles, Jr., stated, "Altho, (sic), not a citizen of our community, as Grosse Pointers we object to your showing of 'Exorcist' in the area. In our opinion, it is not going to help make this a better community. It does make money for some, tho, (sic)!"

Dr. Coles then went on to quote "Time magazine" on the film.

St. Paul Plans Science Fair

St. Paul School will be holding a science fair Saturday-Sunday, February 16-17. First, second and third places will be awarded as well as honorable mention to individual exhibitors and group projects. Experiments, graphic arts and specialized collections comprise the exhibit categories.

The projects will be on display at St. Paul, 170 Grosse Pointe boulevard, on Saturday after the 3 p.m. and 8:15 mass, and on Sunday from 9:30 a.m. until 3 p.m.

To prepare for the science show, students have been studying the universe, measuring plant growth under various conditions, researching the human senses and investigating other phenomena around them.

All visitors are welcome to the fair.

Richard PTA Meets Feb. 18.

A Richard School PTA meeting will be held on Monday, February 18, at 8 p.m. Robert Lees, PTA president, will preside.

"Reporting to Parents in the Grosse Pointe School System" will be the evening's program, given by John Hammel, principal of Monteth School. There will be an opportunity for questions and answers.

The Board of Education will also present a five-minute overview of the Monday, April 8, millage election.

Following the meeting, there will be room visitation and refreshments.

Fails to Show for Sentencing

Wayne County Circuit Court has issued a capias, (a writ ordering an officer to take a specific individual into custody), for a 21-year-old youth who failed to appear for sentencing after his arrest by Grosse Pointe City police on an attempted breaking and entering charge.

David Joseph Almond, of Alter road, scheduled to appear for sentencing on Wednesday, January 23, was nabbed by police officers Edward Miller, Dennis Van Dale and Ronald Pryor on Sunday, October 21, after he attempted to gain entry to the office of Nancy Caputo, M.D., located at 1712 Mack avenue.

Officer Miller, on a routine patrol, spotted Almond bent over the front door of the building and radioed for assistance. Then as he pulled his scout car up directly in front of Almond, he began to run west toward University. The officer gave chase and had fired one warning shot into the ground when Almond, dashing across University, was nearly struck by the scout car responding to officer Miller's call.

The three officers apprehended Almond when he tripped and fell in front of a beauty salon at 17670 Mack. According to the police report, Almond had a hypodermic needle and one white pill that he claimed was a downer on his person when he was arrested.

South Asks Pointe Doctors To Serve on Career Panel

A Pointe orthodontist and four prominent area physicians will participate in a seminar on careers in medicine at South High School Wednesday, February 20.

The seminar is the first of four planned to capsule career opportunities in the health care field.

North Cagers Blast South

By Phil Gaustella
Grosse Pointe North stretched its winning streak to 15 games as they drubbed arch-rival Grosse Pointe South, 62-38, on Saturday, February 9.

The game was marred by "freak" actions displayed by the South fans. It began with egg throwing and ended with a dead squirrel.

North raced to a 20-8 lead after one quarter but South came back behind the scoring of Tim Kramer to cut the deficit to five points at half-time.

It was in the first half that several South fans directed eggs at the North bench. Fortunately no one was hit. The public address announcer issued a warning to the fans, but the eggs continued to fly.

By this time the officials decided to take no more immature actions. One referee took the microphone and spoke to the fans, letting them know a technical foul had been called against South for their actions. Furthermore, he said if any more eggs should be thrown, the game would be forfeited to North.

North then came out fired up in the second half and blew South off the court. Gerry Humes paced the Norsemen attack with 28 points. He also was the top rebounder with 15. Dave Chapman chipped in with 11 points for North.

South was led by Kramer, who netted 20 points.

With just a few minutes remaining a South fan threw a dead squirrel onto the court, which was delicately removed by Bob Beyer of North.

The seminars, scheduled for consecutive Wednesdays in South's Cleminson Library, are open to the public.

Appearing on the panel arranged for 9:15 a.m. Wednesday will be Dr. Donald B. Shumaker, orthodontist; Dr. L. Murray Thomas, neurosurgeon and associate dean for hospital affairs at Wayne State University School of Medicine; Dr. Kenneth G. Schooff, psychiatrist, associate professor in the WSU School of Medicine and director of the new Poly Drug Clinic at Harper Hospital.

Others include Dr. John H. Williams, Pointe general practitioner, and Dr. Ronald L. Krome, director of emergency services at Detroit General Hospital and associate professor of general surgery at WSU School of Medicine.

Additional seminars are scheduled for February 27, March 6 and March 13.

Panelists will be drawn from the Detroit Medical Center's seven member institutions: Children's Hospital of Michigan; Grace Hospital; Harper Hospital; Hutzel Hospital; Rehabilitation Institute; Detroit General Hospital, and the Wayne State University School of Medicine.

In charge of arrangements for the series are Dr. Kathleen M. Herschmann, career guidance counselor, and Mrs. Loujane Beynon, medical aides coordinator, both on the South faculty.

Troop 699 Gives Eagle Awards

Boy Scout Troop 699, sponsored by St. Clare of Montefalco Church, held its annual Court of Honor Awards Banquet Tuesday, February 5, at the Gabriel Richard Council Knights of Columbus Hall. The highlight of the evening was the presentation of the largest number of Eagle Awards in the troop's 12-year history.

The four recipients of scouting's highest advancement were Kerry Albrecht, Gary Lechner, Jon Lechner and Michael Wayne.

Kerry Albrecht, a sophomore at South High School, has been active in scouting for the past five years. He's a junior assistant Scoutmaster in the troop. His father, John Albrecht, also is an Eagle Scout, and is active in troop affairs.

Gary, a South senior, has been active in scouting for the past six years. He's a member of the Detroit Area Council group which attended the International Jamboree in 1971. He also attended the Philmont Scout Ranch in 1972.

Jon Lechner, a sophomore at South, is the Junior Assistant Scoutmaster in Troop 699. This past summer, he was a member of the Commissioner's Staff at the Charles Howell Scout Camp.

Michael, sophomore at Austin, has been a member of the troop for the past five years, and is active in various offices in the troop leadership.

The awards were presented by the Assistant District Commissioner, Joseph Boroff, representing the Detroit Area Council, and Father Reinhardt Sterneman and Joe Shahaen representing the troop's sponsor, St. Clare of Montefalco R.C. Church.

In the course of the evening, recognition also was afforded to other scouts who have made progress along the ladder of advancement.

The scouts also received merit badges and skill awards which they had earned in the course of the past year.

South Tumbles to 4-11 Mark

By Mark Emery
South's Blue Devils saw their record slide to 4-11, with consecutive losses to North, 62-38, and Highland Park, 70-64.
In their initial meeting Stevenson took an easy victory from the Devils by a 22-point spread 56-37. The game against Stevenson tomorrow, February 15, will offer little consequence in the EML, as South's chances for an EML title are now non-existent.

In their first meeting South fell victim to a tenacious Stevenson defense which gave up only 18 points in the first three quarters. South began to mount an offense after it was too late to make any difference in the outcome. South put together 19 points in the fourth period to give them a total of 37 points in an embarrassing league loss.

Stevenson is currently in third place in the EML and is ahead of South, Port Huron and Port Huron North. Mount Clemens leads the league with an unblemished 8-0 record. Second place East Detroit is the only team who has a chance to take the title away from Mount Clemens.

Against North, South battled to a five point deficit at the half and trailed, 28-23. The Devils failed to mount an offense in the third period as North shut down what little spark South could provide. South lost the game on the boards, as North held a 45-24 rebounding edge.

South jumped off to a nine point lead against a tough Highland Park team, but failed to hold the lead as the game progressed.

The Devils led throughout the entire first half and took a 37-26 lead into the locker-room at half. The Parkers outscored South in the third period in what proved to be the most important quarter of the game. South provided little competition in that frame as they mounted an offensive attack of only 13 points, compared to Highland Park's 28.

Highland Park took a slight lead at the beginning of the fourth period and never relinquished it. South stalled on offense again, letting the Parkers defeat them for the second consecutive year.

Tim Kramer had an outstanding 27 points for South, while Kevin Kovanda popped in 16 points.

Reputation is built on things that have to be faced, have to be solved and have to be done.

One View From The Capitol

By William R. Bryant, Jr.

The House and Senate in Lansing seem to be undergoing a transformation in that resignations may result in two new House and four new Senate members by special election.

Closest to home there is a special primary election set for February 26 and a final election set for March 19 to fill the Senate seat vacated by Charles Youngblood. The district includes Grosse

Deadline Nears For GP Pageant

Time is running out for young ladies who wish to compete in the Grosse Pointe Scholarship Pageant, sponsored by the Jaycees. The deadline for mailing entry blanks to the organization is Thursday, February 28.

George A. Williamson, pageant publicity director, said, as of Monday morning, February 11, the Jaycees have received about six entry forms. They are hoping for a response of 20.

Blankes are currently available at the "J" Shop, Jacobson's in The Village. This week's edition of the NEWS also contains a form.

Mr. Williamson reiterated the pageant is not a beauty contest. He said it will give young ladies a chance to meet interesting people and have a lot of fun. The affair will be held Saturday, May 11, in North High School's auditorium.

Participants must be between 18 and 28 years on or before September 8, 1974, and single.

The winner will receive a $500 academic scholarship to the school of her choice from the Jaycees. She also receives a $200 wardrobe, a $500 modeling scholarship from the Barbizon School of Modeling, plus other jewelry, clothing and trophies.

Each of the 10 finalists will be presented a $25 savings bond from the Jaycees, and each will have her picture taken by Eddie McGrath, Jr., with the winner receiving a color photo.

All entries should be mailed to the Grosse Pointe Jaycees, 333 University place, Grosse Pointe City 48230.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

As many may know, there were two athletic competitions held between Grosse Pointe North and Grosse Pointe South this past weekend. The swim meet Friday afternoon was really excellent. The two teams were very evenly matched and the event was well attended and exciting.

But for many of us, especially seniors who have seen quite a few North-South games in the past, the basketball game Saturday night, (February 9), in North's gym probably topped them all. The game itself did not get that exciting, it wasn't even a close score.

Rather, we were amazed at the poor sportsmanship shown by what can only be assumed to be an undetermined number of South fans, since the things being thrown on the court and at our players came from that side. As for the poor dead animal, (a squirrel), that was also tossed out on the floor during the fourth quarter. Of all the sick, sad things to do, it was a malicious, irresponsible act, and had totally no significance.

I'm really proud to be going to North instead of South. When we played in their gym earlier this year, the game didn't have to be stopped so aides and janitors could mop up after egg throwing. I also doubt beyond anything that there was any destruction of any other type done to South High School and its environment, especially cars in the lot, such as at this game.

I'm sure that many adults in the Grosse Pointe community still look upon Grosse Pointe North as the "new" high school with no real roots, not yet firmly established. But athletically speaking, in the five and a half years of its existence, North has done so much to shed the "cake-eater" label, while this year especially, South seems to be sitting on its tradition.

I really feel sorry for the rest of the kids who go to South and have to put up with this kind of stupidity from a really small group of upper-classmen, many of whom were lettermen. Both North and South have fine varsity records, although North seems to be taking the honors this year, with its football, swimming and basketball victories and our cross-country State championship.

We feel that our athletes have earned these outstanding titles not only by talent and skill, but also through a mature attitude towards competition, and we are sincerely proud of them.

Sincerely yours,
 Linda Kasiborski, '74
 Nancy Vroom, '74
 Grosse Pointe North

Dear Sir:

I am a student at Grosse Pointe North. I attend all of North's basketball games, home and away. I recently attended the last of two Grosse Pointe North-Grosse Pointe South games, the first one at South won by North and the last one at North which was also won by North.

The South fans should be ashamed of their conduct and should also be condemned for their unsportsmanlike conduct. Before the beginning of the varsity game, they parked their cars on the sidewalk. During the first half of the game the South fans threw snowballs, eggs, and other debris on the floor, making it slippery and very dangerous to the players.

In the fourth quarter they threw a dead squirrel onto the court, which took plenty of brains. After the game several groups of South fans became uncivilized as they began to throw eggs and bottles at cars and also at people. These groups also picked fights with anyone. I even heard them insult elder people and use vulgar language unfit for human ears.

I have seen four- and five-year-olds acting more mature and more well-mannered than what South showed Saturday night. South made complete fools out of themselves by acting like babies. South's actions were uncalled for and because of their immature conduct earned the name of "poor sports." May South burn in hell for their actions while the Northmen rank "number one" in basketball, while the Northmen fans are "number one" in Sportsmanship.

Sincerely,
 Dan Hayden
 G. P. Shores

(Editor's Note: The NEWS contacted both The Youth Service Division and The Woods Department of Public Safety regarding this situation. The YSD reported there was some egg throwing from South's side of the stands. It's believed this problem was caused by around a half dozen youths. As for the car destruction, The Public Safety Department said they received no reports on this subject. However, they did receive a minor assault and battery report stemming from this affair.

The NEWS also contacted South Principal Jerry J. Gerich. He said this matter is still under investigation but four seniors, who are involved in athletic events, have been suspended. This means they are separated for a week "until we can find what it's all about," he said. The parents of these students have been or will be brought in. Then, further disciplinary action will be contemplated. Mr. Gerich said he's talked to around 18 students so far, some of them three or four times.

He stressed his disappointment at the behavior of some of South's students at the game, and called their actions "reprehensible."

As for the squirrel incident, he said a college student was responsible for that action. North High Principal G. Bruce Feighner said the entire incident, based upon his conversations with Mr. Gerich, is being handled "in a very businesslike way." He stressed the fact of being fair to all parties, those who are believed involved and those who were not involved.

What Goes On at Your Library

By Virginia Leonard

Once upon a time a man named THEOPHILUS NORTH (Wilder) stood in Washington and looked longingly at the UPSTAIRS AT THE WHITE HOUSE (West with Kotz). Inside he knew of a very expensive painting which he wished to obtain. It was entitled PORTRAIT OF A MARRIAGE (Nicolson) and he longed to "heist" it in some way, but he needed a friend to help him, and a plan.

Just then he heard a voice muttering COME NINEVEH, COME TYRE (Drury) and looking up he saw an old friend, James COSELL approaching. While he was an archeologist, he was also never adverse to making extra money, and if he had just returned from a far country, (as it turned out), his face would not be known.

Cosell was carrying a copy of ALISTAIR COOKE'S AMERICA (Cooke) as he wanted to catch up on his native land. He was delighted to meet his friend, and after a session in a local pub, their friendship had been renewed, and Cosell was very interested in North's plans.

"BEULAH LAND!" (Coleman) he shouted, rubbing his hands together. He told North that he would round up some of his buddies and perhaps the night of the banquet for THE HONORARY CONSUL (Greene) from Brazil, their plans could be carried out. They arranged to meet in a few days at a designated spot and map out the details.

"THE FIRST DEADLY SIN (Sanders) in this operation, said North, is not to let any of this information escape, so confine your buddies to the fewest possible." IN ONE ERA AND OUT THE OTHER (Levenson) said Cosell, laughing heartily. (His puns were really atrocious!)

So plans went along with some hitches, especially in finding just the right friends to help. Cosell has a very unsavory friend nicknamed "THE SALAMANDER" (West) but he possessed certain skills and could be trusted — to a degree.

Cosell began to long for the wide open spaces, and wanted to get the whole thing over with, while North was the careful, meticulous type who wanted all the plans honed down to a fine point.

There favorite meeting place was the NIKEL MOUNTAIN (Gardner) Cafe which was little known and not watched too carefully by the police.

They always left by the back gate — "THE POSTERN OF FATE" (Christie) as North was fond of calling it.

And so the fateful night approached. Everyone had been prepped, put in position. A truck was waiting to carry the famous painting away, and plans for its removal had all been made. (Author's note: You can see I've been watching too much television!)

Cosell was still restless for THE HOLLOW HILLS (Stewart), and North was afraid he would make some slip which would ruin the whole scheme, but he could only hope. PLAIN SPEAKING (Miller) was getting more and more terse, and agreements were not always in order.

Two of the conspirators were named BURR (Vidal) and PENTIMENTO (Hellman), who should not have been trusted. Unknown to the other men, they were working with the police, but had managed to keep their true identity a secret.

Many things went wrong the night of the heist. It was raining; the panel truck developed a flat tire, and the White House was swarming with top security guards, plain-clothes men, police, etc. Poor Cosell and North really never had a chance. They and their helpers were picked up quietly, efficiently and rather quickly. Poor Cosell had to trade his dreams of HOLLOW HILLS and distant lands for a jail cell. Cowell lost all of his dreams of opulence and ended up in the same place as did all of the co-workers.

Crime, we should say, I suppose, especially when done clumsily and with maladroitness, does not pay!

I've written these zany stories before so you probably know what I have done. I have taken all the best sellers from the January 27, 1974 Best Seller List, (i.e. all which we have in our libraries), and woven them into a story. I might say that sometimes it is easy and great fun—but this time the titles didn't dovetail as well as usual. Forgive me — I'll try to do better next time.

WOMEN'S PAGES

From Another Pointe of View

By Janet Mueller

The Detroit Artists Market and the Fine Arts Society of Detroit, two of the oldest fine arts associations in town, will join forces for a downtown event Sunday, February 24.

It's the two groups' first joint meeting ever, and everybody wonders why nobody ever thought of it before.

Not only do Fine Arts and Artists Market interests overlap: membership lists do, too.

Take Mrs. William Dennes, of Fisher road, for instance. She's a charter member of the Artists Market and extremely active in Fine Arts.

Or Mrs. Clark T. Wells, of Handy road, Fine Arts member and immediate past-chairman of the Artists Market.

Or Mrs. Milton Volkens, of Meadow lane, who's acting as liaison from the Artists Market to Fine Arts Society's Art committee for this first combined meeting.

"It's exciting that these two clubs should finally get together," Arnie Volkens believes. "It should have happened long ago."

Woodard-Fischer Vows Exchanged

Bride Carries her Mother's Wedding Prayer Book; Pair Are at Home in St. Clair Shores after Nassau Vacation

Exchanging marriage vows Friday, November 23, at a candlelight service in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church were Arlene Sharmen Fischer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Fischer, of Lochmoor boulevard, and Robert Allen Woodard.

Presiding at the early evening ceremony was The Reverend Eugene Locke assisted by The Reverend James Parks.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory peau de soie styled with a mandarin neckline, an Empire-waisted bodice accented with seed pearls and lace, long sleeves ending in deep wrist flounces and a skirt featuring inverted pleats with lace and seed pearl insets.

Her lace and seed pearl headpiece held an elbow length ivory illusion veil. She carried a cascade of white Eucharis lilies and stephanotis and the prayer book her mother had carried on her wedding day.

Mrs. David Robinson, of Atlanta, Ga., was matron of honor for her sister. Maids of honor were Karen Eubank, of Lake City, a college roommate of the bride, and Janet Fosket, of Ypsilanti, a Grosse Pointe High School classmate.

Their velvet frocks featured autumn colors: gold, green and burnt orange. They carried baskets of dried fall flowers.

Flower girl Laura Arends, daughter of Dr. and Mrs.

Norman Arends, of Sunningdale drive, wore a lime velvet dress and carried a basket of rose petals.

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Louise Woodard, of Clawson, asked Steven Givens, of Midland, to act as best man.

Ushers were Scott Fischer, brother of the bride, and John Lewis, of Chicago. Ring-bearer was Timothy Painton, of Warsaw, N. Y., the bride's nephew.

The mother of the bride wore a floor length beige embroidered lace gown. The bridegroom's mother selected a long brown crepe sheath. Both mothers chose orchid corsages.

Out-of-town guests included the bride's grandmothers, Mrs. Norman Kriebel, of Ambler, Pa., and 92-year-old Mrs. Emma Hallman, of Souderton, Pa.

Other out-of-town guests were the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Painton, of Warsaw, N. Y., David Robinson, of Atlanta, Mr. and Mrs. George Jennings, of Camp Hill, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. John Hess, of Toronto.

The newlyweds are at home in St. Clair Shores. The bridegroom, a Central Michigan University graduate, is studying for his Masters degree while teaching at Wayne State University.

'Detroit Guide' Editor To Talk

Martin Fischhoff, editor of "Detroit Guide — A Young Guide to the City," will talk on his sampling of the character, cuisine and culture of Detroit at a meeting of Phase I, an all-singles group, at 7:30 o'clock this Sunday, February 17, at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

Nearly two years of researching shops, restaurants, museums, theaters and points of interest in the city was done by Mr. Fischhoff and his staff in the production of "Detroit Guide," a 330-page book now scheduled for a second printing of 10,000 copies.

As a large attendance is anticipated, persons are urged to arrive early to secure adequate seating.

A social hour will follow the program.

Phase I meets every Sunday night at Memorial Church. Singles from 20 to 40 are invited to attend. Further information on the group's activities may be obtained by contacting Gust Jahnke at 882-5330.

Five Pointes Club To Meet

Five Pointes Garden Club will meet at the Whittier road home of Mrs. A. John Kirsch next Monday, February 18, at 12:30 o'clock. Speaker Mrs. J. P. Caritte will travel the road to Damascus in her talk entitled Gardens of the Bible.

Mrs. Caritte, whose interest in biblical flora is long-standing, keeps adding material to her files as new discoveries are made in archaeology, history and science.

But most helpful of all are her memories of the Holy Land, which she visited in 1966 when the fields and gardens still knew times of peace.

William Purvis To Claim Bride

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tringali, of Detroit, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Stephanie Marie, to William A. Purvis, son of Mrs. William Purvis, of Kenmore drive, and the late Mr. Purvis. A September 21 wedding is planned.

LWV Guest Dinner Topic Is Devolution

Dr. Robert Swartz to Speak on Deterioration of Commercial Property in the City of Detroit and its Effect on Surrounding Areas

"Commercial Land Use Devolution" will be Professor Robert D. Swartz' topic when he speaks at the annual guest dinner scheduled by the Grosse Pointe League of Women Voters for Wednesday, February 20, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

Dr. Swartz, acting head of the Geography Department at Wayne State University whose four degrees include a Ph.D. in Urban and Latin American Geography, will be discussing a problem of immediate, general and depressing impact on all Detroit area residents.

He defines "devolution as the opposite of evolution—as retrogression, deterioration, abrasive commercial change in built-up areas leading to declining commercial viability and, in the long run, unfavorable effects on nearby residential areas.

As Consulting and Land Use Consultant for the City of Detroit's Community Development Commission, Office of Industrial and Commercial Development, headed by Jack Pryor, Dr. Swartz has been working since late 1971 on a location-by-location block-by-block study of problem areas in Detroit.

His report, to be presented to Mayor Coleman Young within the next few weeks, documents the decline of commercial areas, noting such factors as what sorts of businesses go under, what less desirable sorts replace them and how many doctors' and dentists' offices disappear.

Dr. Swartz' interest in Urban Geography was sparked in the summer of 1962 when he prepared a study of the effect on sales of dealer relocation within urban areas for Ford Motor Company.

He later did an analysis for Sears, Roebuck on retail

Farms Boat Club Changes Commodores

Grosse Pointe Farms Boat Club will honor outgoing COMMODORE and MRS. A. JACK BOLAND, (right), and incoming COMMODORE and MRS. THOMAS A. BELCHER at its 19th Annual Commodore's Ball this Saturday, February 16, at the Chateau Rouge. Commodore Belcher, elected at last September's annual meeting, officially took office January 1, eschewing a formal swearing-in ceremony in favor of the Club's more casual tradition of just stepping into office at the start of the term. Also elected at the annual meeting were Vice Commodore John Murphy, Rear Commodore Robert Maddox, treasurer George Gerow, secretary Mrs. Bruce Lardner and directors Mrs. Richard Shannon, Donald Burns, John Cushman, Vincent Famularo and John Kaiser. Past Commodore and Mrs. Gerald Malooly, in charge of Saturday's semi-formal dinner-dance, plan to center it around a nautical theme using the Club's green and white colors.

To Tell Story of Masada outlet locations in cities in the United States, Central and South America and Italy.

The annual guest dinner is open to all interested persons. The Grosse Pointe League hopes attendance will not be limited to East Siders as Dr. Swartz will discuss in detail specific instances of devolution in Woodward, Jefferson, Gratiot, Six Mile, Seven and Eight Mile roads, Livernois, Puritan and Grand River.

He also will suggest the implications in all this for suburban areas and shopping centers. There will be ample opportunity for questions after the talk.

A short get-acquainted period with a background of live music begins at 6:30 o'clock. It will be followed by a roast beef dinner in the War Memorial's Crystal Ballroom.

Mrs. Philip D'Agostino has planned the program. Mrs. Paul Eagan is in charge of arrangements.

Tickets, at $7.50 per person including everything, may be reserved by calling 884-9072.

The Reverend John L. McCreight will tell the Story of Masada to the Friday Book Review Group of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church at its meeting tomorrow, Friday, February 15, at the Church.

Mme. Bruno researched the art forms of the French-speaking countries of West Africa during her sabbatical year. Her findings were published by Michigan State University in 1970.

"So many people think Fine Arts is just drama... It isn't: the requirement for Fine Arts membership is that one be active in or a patron of the arts. "Every now and then Fine Arts actively tries to do something OFF the stage."

The Artists Market's Randolph street galleries in Harmonie Park will host the dual gathering. Things are scheduled to start happening at 4 o'clock.

The program will feature a gallery talk by the Market's new director, Steven Higgins, and a tour of the current Clay and Fibers exhibit. Fine Arts member Joseph Maniscalco will demonstrate how an oil portrait develops.

A number of Fine Arts members know all about working in oils, of course—they're Artists Market contributing artists—but it never hurts to pick up a few pointers from a master.

A champagne social hour's planned to encourage camaraderie. It's the kind of encouragement that makes camaraderie a foregone conclusion. How nice of the dual meeting committee, headed by Mrs. Irving Burton, chairman, Detroit Artists Market, Mrs. George Howell, III, chairman, Fine Arts Society Art committee, and Mrs. Volkens to think of that!

And how typical.

Fine Arts, at 68, and the Detroit Artists Market, 45, may be among the oldest fine arts associations in town, but nobody ever said they were hoary.

Pointers Are Cited For Hearts Of Gold

GINNY PEATTIE AND RUTH ROTH RECEIVE RECOGNITION FOR THEIR VOLUNTEER SERVICE AT 1974 AWARD COUNCIL LUNCHEON

Twelve tri-county area women received Heart of Gold awards for outstanding volunteer service at the seventh annual Heart of Gold recognition luncheon last Tuesday, February 12.

More than 2,000 attended the event staged in Cobo Hall by the United Foundation and the Heart of Gold Award Council.

The Council is comprised of 41 leading women's organizations, including Women for the United Foundation (WUF).

Headlining the affair was Barbara Walters of NBC-TV's Today show.

Also speaking were Michigan's first lady Mrs. William Milliken and Detroit's Mayor Coleman A. Young.

In addition to receiving Heart of Gold awards the women were honored with Spirit of Detroit medallions presented by Fred H. McIntyre, president of the Central Business District Association.

Among the 12 were two Pointers: Mrs. William W. Peattie, of Hillcrest road, and Mrs. Edward Roth, of Hawthorne road.

"To live in a community and just exist there is too narrow an experience," Ginny Peattie believes.

Ginny's community interests range from the Detroit Symphony Orchestra Junior Women's Association to Channel 56 to the Rehabilitation Institute.

Ask her to describe a typical day and she'll reply,

"Enjoyable." It includes getting home at noon to greet and have lunch with her two children, son Billy, 11, and 13-year-old daughter Kim.

Husband William is a General Motors financial staff executive. Both are native Pointers.

As a 10-year member of the Junior Women's Association for the Symphony Ginny Peattie has been a leader in such fund-raising efforts as the Juniors' annual souvenir program and a popular cookbook which continues to bring in revenue.

She supervised volunteers working in other money-making projects for the Symphony, including Christmas Walks in Grosse Pointe and Birmingham, an auction and the Juniors' Carnation Ball.

Involved too in the United Foundation Mrs. Peattie has been a Torch Drive residential campaign worker and a member of the UF Speaker's Bureau, which informs contributors of the work the campaign benefits.

As president of the Auxiliary of the Rehabilitation Institute, one of the agencies receiving Torch Drive support, Ginny is concerned with the problems of the handicapped.

Along with several other people she maneuvered a wheelchair around the city, and quickly learned the difficulties of negotiating sidewalk crossings, making telephone calls, using public restroom facilities—even getting above the third floor in a self-service elevator.

"The buttons above three are just too high for a person seated in a wheelchair to reach," Ginny discovered. This experience reinforced her belief that building entrances and public places must be built to accommodate the handicapped.

Seeing other people's problems from all viewpoints including from a wheelchair if necessary are what make Ginny Peattie a valuable member of her community.

The volunteer work for which Ruth Roth received her Heart of Gold award is in an area most of us would rather not think about: the abused child. Girls, specifically. Girls who run away from homes where they are physically, emotionally and even sexually mistreated by their own families.

In the past such girls were, for want of a better label, tagged "delinquent." Their plight was handled by the police and they were usually returned to the homes they so desperately wanted to escape.

It was a vicious circle, and help was slow in coming because the disturbed families naturally would not seek counsel for a problem they themselves caused.

Now, working with the 60-year-old Girls' Protective League, Mrs. Roth has seen to it that these unfortunate young girls have a haven. Since the Federation of Girls' Homes opened its Rea home last July 75 girls have sheltered there.

Mrs. Roth has had to function creatively as a professional social worker, a board member on many organizations and a citizen-advocate, to gain the cooperation of many people, to persuade people first to recognize the need, then to create programs for protecting these abused girls.

She worked with public and private agencies including the Girls' Protective League, the Detroit Police Department, Wayne County Juvenile Court, the Department of Social Services and the Children's Aid Society.

An "ugly problem that wouldn't go away," is well on its way to being solved thanks to Ruth Roth.

Counseling for both the families and the abused girls is helping, and the diverse elements of the community drawn together through Mrs. Roth's efforts are at last taking steps to provide the solution.

Ginny Peattie, Ruth Roth and their 10 fellow Heart of Gold winners were selected from 130 volunteers nominated for the award by community agencies, groups and individuals.

After screening by the Heart of Gold Award Council six community leaders gathered to choose the finalists.

Judges were Mrs. Edwin O. Bodkin, founder of the Junior Goodwill Association and board member of numerous community organizations including Children's Hospital of Michigan; Peter B. Clark, president and publisher of the Detroit News; Mrs. Wendell Cox, WCHB radio; Mrs. Aaron H. Gershenson, leader of Detroit's Jewish Community and past-chairman of the Heart of Gold Council; George E. Gullen, Jr., president of Wayne State University; and Walton A. Lewis, leader in Detroit's Black community and president of Lewis-Thompson Insurance Agency of Detroit.

Mrs. Charles F. Adams, chairman of the Award Council, presided at the meeting.

Vice-chairman Mrs. Charles T. Fisher, III, of Lothrop road, joined Mrs. Adams in introducing 1974's Heart of Gold recipients.

Lois Granger To Be Bride

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Granger, of Mapleton road, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Lois, to Glen Battjes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Battjes, of Detroit.

Miss Granger was graduated from Grosse Pointe South High School and is employed by Mirrex in Warren. Her fiancé is finishing his apprenticeship as an electrician.

A May 17 wedding is planned.

millier, c/o The White House, Belle Isle, Mich. 48207, by calling 821-0109, or by showing up at the War Memorial, money in hand, lecture/demonstration night.

Mr. Joering will display a variety of fascinating plants in conjunction with his talk. Prior to the program an invitational dinner will be held at the Michigan Horticultural Society board of trustees.

They include Mrs. Marilyn Tuchow, chairman of the Friends of Belle Isle, Mrs. Henry Domzalski, of Windmill Pointe drive, Mrs. Henry C. Kohring, of Touraine road, and James McMillan, of Sunningdale drive.

Miss Frances Huntington, of Rivard boulevard, is chairman of the affair. Elmore Frank, of Fisher road, is assisting with arrangements.

A Familiar Face

If you should see someone who looks an awful lot like Lynda Bird Johnson Robb here and there about town today, you're probably not seeing a "double."

The eldest of the two daughters of the late President Lyndon B. Johnson is in town to describe Life in the White House to Bon Secours Hospital Assistance League Grosse Pointe Celebrity Series season ticket-holders at Eastland Theatre this morning.

American Bandstand '74

Those were the days . . . when we all hurried home after high school and plunked down in front of the television set, and watched Dick Clark's American Bandstand, and drove our parents nuts.

"WHY don't you go OUTSIDE in this beautiful weather? WHY do you spend so much time watching those IDIOTS on that IDIOT box?"

"Oh, mo-THER . . . !"

Ah, how fleeting the days of youth . . . American Bandstand is our nostalgia now, and though Peggy (Mrs. Frank) McBride and Patty (Mrs. Charles, Jr.) Stumb, hanging blow-up celebrity photos in the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club's Great Hall for this Saturday's American Bandstand '74 red, white and blue party, recognize both Monroes, today's teenager might have a bit of trouble placing Vaughn.

Paul Winter will emcee the harking back to the '50's and '60's evening. The Bo Diddlies will play all the oldies, and dance contests will test yesterday's teens' terpsichorean memories.

Tri-Deltas to Gather Wednesday Evening

Delta Delta Delta Alumnae will meet Wednesday, February 20, at the home of Mrs. Neville Pack in South Oxford road. Co-hostess will be Mrs. Sam Minnella, of Bournemouthe circle.

An 8 o'clock business session conducted by Mrs. Neil Georgi, of Woodland Shores drive, local Tri-Delta president, will focus on Tri-Delta's upcoming national convention and election of new officers for the local chapter.

Tri-Delta is especially interested in the Mongoloid Achievement Foundation and will be making plans to assist in the Foundation's annual drive for funds.

Mrs. Dennis East, of Harvard road, Detroit, is chairman of this Tri-Delta project.

Dan Healy, of the Health Hut in Mack avenue, will give a health food demonstration: no fads, no gimmicks — just common sense talk about common sense food.

Pointe Garden Club to Meet

Mrs. G. Norman Gilmore will open her East Ballantyne court home to members of The Pointe Garden Club next Monday, February 18.

Mrs. J. C. Hurley and Mrs. Harold Love will assist the hostess. Buell Doelle will lecture on rhododendrons.

Pointer of Interest

MRS. RICHARD CAMPBELL, OF MORAN ROAD

By Janet Mueller

Cheryl Campbell can make a home anywhere, but she'd rather do it in Grosse Pointe. It is, after all, her home: she was born Cheryl Reberdy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Reberdy, grew up in Trombley road, began her education in the Grosse Pointe Schools and was graduated from Grosse Pointe High.

She met her husband at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

Dick was one of that year's crop of young bachelors who'd been business-transferred to Detroit. Originally from northeastern Pennsylvania, he worked for IBM.

Working for IBM, he expected to move about a bit. The in-company joke at IBM is that the letters IBM stand for "I've Been Moved."

Cheryl, who continued her education at Wayne State University after high school graduation, was a member of a War Memorial committee formed to welcome new-to-the-area unattached young men.

John Plays Cupid
John Lake, the War Memorial's director, introduced the two young people.

"Be sure and make Dick welcome," John told Cheryl.

She did.
And so they were married... and so they set up house, first in one city, then in another, on the East Coast, on the West.

"I've Been Moved" became Cheryl's motto too.

They had children. Scott, their first son, is 15 now, a freshman at South High School. Thirteen-year-old Blair is a seventh grader at Brownell. Heather, just turned 11, is in the fifth grade at Kerby.

Cheryl certainly doesn't regret those early-marriage moving around years.

An Exciting Time
They were exciting, interesting, fun: an opportunity to see new places, meet new people, test and come to terms with one's own resources and adaptability.

But she's always had a homing instinct. She's always been very conscious of her roots.

The Campbell family were living in Los Angeles in 1965. Since they knew they would be there for a limited time they were "tourists," taking advantage of their time in southern California to see as much of the surrounding country as possible, visiting the old missions, journeying across the border into Mexico.

Dick had just learned he was about to be transferred again, to San Francisco, one of Cheryl's favorite cities, (whose favorite city ISN'T Bridge Prizes... Find them at the new WRIGHT'S GIFT AND LAMP SHOP, priced $1.25 up. Choose a shopping bracelet. Put your house, car or locker key on it. A silent butler or note pad and pencil for your purse, vitamin pill boxes, spec-holder chains. There's private parking for customers next to the building, 18650 Mack Avenue.

Head For Ports Of Call... 23220 Gr. Mack, to see the antique, lady's small roll top, oak desk, a nice antique, china cabinet and antique hutch cabinets of pine and butternut... part of the new selection of old treasures.

Looking Ahead... for special useful gifts for very special people. The Woods Optical Studio at 19599 Mack Avenue can be of help. Suggestions include a little pair of extra half eyes or opera glasses, a surprise gift of a pair of prescription sun glasses (really not a luxury any more) or one of those indispensable Magic Focus Mirrors for the gal who needs eye glasses to see close and also loves to wear was a pre-Woman's Lib high school student, and they wouldn't let her on the field.

Heather For Heather

Heather received her usual big basket of heather from her father February 9. Dick gave the first basket to Cheryl in the hospital the day Heather was born. Every year since, it's been heather for Heather on her birthday.

"Anywhere there's water, you'll find the Campbells."

They sail out of the Detroit Boat Club and tend, Cheryl admits, to think of it as the Only Club in Town. That, too, is a family tradition: Cheryl's great-great-grandfather was a DBC charter member.

They attend Saint Michael's Episcopal Church. Cheryl, raised in Christ Church, followed Father Edgar Yeoman to Saint Michael's. She's been everything from Sunday School teacher to Episcopal Church Women board member there.

"Father Yeoman is retired now, and we have a new rector. We're very excited about him."

Episcopals All

Cheryl's forebears on her mother's side were all Episcopals. Last summer the Campbells visited Williamsburg, and went cemetery hunting there. They discovered three ancestors, Bruton Parish vestrymen dating back to 1707.

The trip to Williamsburg is part of the Campbell Discover America Master Plan. "We're preparing our children and ourselves for America's Bicentennial: One year we went to Plymouth, and Cape Cod. Next summer we're going to Philadelphia."

They'll do some ancestor-hunting in Philadelphia, checking back beyond John Norvell, who came to Detroit from Philadelphia when he was appointed postmaster here by President Andrew Jackson.

Mr. Norvell later became one of the first United States senators from the new state of Michigan.

"We study and read a great deal about American history. I'd always wanted to spend some time on a houseboat: one year, when Scott was studying Daniel Boone, we decided to visit the Cumberland Gap country. Dick knew about my houseboat thing—when we got there, I found he'd found a houseboat for us on Cumberland Lake."

Getting Up To Expo

Dick got the Campbells up to Montreal for Expo '67 too. "You remember how hard it was to get hotel reservations during Expo? Dick said, 'I'll get you there'... and he

Special Film To Be Shown

"A Time To Be Born," a multi-screen sight-sound presentation produced by The Family Health Foundation of New Orleans, will highlight Planned Parenthood League, Inc.'s annual meeting and luncheon Thursday, February 14, at noon in the Merrill Palmer Institute. Officers and directors for 1974 will be elected during the afternoon program.

went out and rented a motor home. Now, my idea of camping out is a Holiday Inn without air conditioning, but there we were with his motor home...

The Campbells had a ball at Expo, and a ball traveling through Canada in their camper.

Dick and Cheryl, both of English and Scottish extraction, plan to take the children on a family trip through England and Scotland someday. "But not until they've seen the U.S.A. We want them to know their own country, their own immediate origins first."

The Campbells remain happy wanderers—as long as they have a permanent home to come home to. "We travel, but we want a permanent base. The children are strong on traditions and roots... and on seeing new places, meeting new people."

"It's not a world of strangers, really."

Weekend Wanderers

They like to take off for the weekend, to St. Clair, to Toronto. Summer wouldn't be complete without a trip to Mackinac Island. "That's probably our favorite place: we go up every year for a few days, and work our way home through Harbor Springs."

Cheryl's only sister, Andre (Mrs. Allan) Danilowicz lives in Greensboro, N. C., in the heart of some of the United States' most beautiful golfing country. The Reberdy sisters have always been close; there's a lot of back and forth between Greensboro and The Pointe.

Dick is the only Campbell who's traveled outside the North American continent. He's been to Japan on business, and to Hawaii.

Blair is the Campbell who would like to be on the go always. "He sits up front in the motor home and reads maps, tells us where to go. He names all the passing cars."

Blair loves life, and is determined life shall love him back. It was Blair who decided to enter Tanya Vagabond Klausner in the War Memorial's Dog Show.

Tanya Takes Prize
Tanya is a Schnauzer, with uncropped ears. The Campbells don't believe in cropping dogs' ears. They think it's unnecessarily cruel. "In England, it's against the law to crop a Schnauzer's ears," Cheryl notes. "But here the American Kennel Club expects Schnauzers' ears to be cropped."

"I told Blair Tanya, with her uncropped ears, wouldn't stand a chance in a dog show."

But Blair, convinced that Tanya is the greatest, most beautiful dog in the world, was convinced the world MUST recognize Tanya's greatness. He entered her anyway, and when the judge asked, "Why the uncropped ears?" Blair allowed as how, "In England, it's against the law to crop a Schnauzer's ears."

Word got around that Tanya was an English Schnauzer. She won.

Scott Completes Job

Scott is the Campbell who's clever with his hands. He's

Short and to The Pointe

Among Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra Opus '74 winners is H. C. MURRAY, of Lothrop road, who received a mink-trimmed broadtail processed lamb jacket. MRS. JOSEPH J. MARSHALL, of Harbor Hill, was chairman of the fund-raising project which raised over $20,000 to benefit the Orchestra.

MR. and MRS. HECTOR MONTPETIT, of Mount Vernon road, celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary January 6, with a dinner reception for 200 guests at East Detroit Lutheran Fraternities Hall. The Montpitts were married January 1, 1924, in Detroit. Mr. Montpitt worked 43 years as a printer at the Detroit News.

Named to the Alma College Fall Term Honors List are freshmen MARTHA E. DASEF, daughter of the J. THOMAS DASEFS, of Bedford road, and STEPHEN H. MANGLOS, son of MR. and MRS. CLARENCE K. MANGLOS, of Oldbrook lane, and junior STEPHEN SCHLEICHER, son of the WILLIAM SCHLEICHERS, of Brys drive.

ALBERT F. FIORELLO, of Hollywood avenue, who has qualified as a life-time member of the Prudential Insurance Company's Million Dollar Round Table for 20 consecutive years, was guest speaker at the Macomb County Life Underwriters Association breakfast meeting Wednesday, February 13, at the Shorian Inn.

finishing up a wooden magazine rack for his mother now, and at Christmas, when Dick, involved in wallpapering the kitchen, got too involved in business to continue, Scott took over. He'd never wallpapered before. He did a beautiful job.

Heather is busy at church, where she sings in the choir and is studying for spring confirmation, and with her organ, (the organ was a Christmas present; Heather's just started lessons at the War Memorial), and with the Girl Scouts. Cheryl's Kerby School Girl Scout Cookie Sale chairman this year.

Christmas, a time of traditions, a family time, is Cheryl Campbell's favorite time of year. Every year, the Campbells give a Christmas Eve party.

"It's the children's party, really. It started when we first moved here: Dick and I were invited to Christmas parties, and the children watched us dress up, come and go, and finally they had had it."

How come, the young Campbells asked their parents, YOU get to go to so many parties, and WE never go anywhere?

Tradition Is Born
How come, the senior Campbells countered, YOU don't give a party?

So they did.
"It's grown to way over 100 people. It's invitational, and the children issue their own invitations. I never know who's coming through the door."

The children do all the food preparation. Dick and Cheryl are allowed to invite their friends too, of course, and they make a special point of inviting people without families in the immediate area, transients, business transients.

"I can remember my own first Christmas away from home. It was disastrous until friends invited us out..."
The Junior Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra Christmas Walk is one of Cheryl's favorite local holiday traditions. She's been everything from house hostess to general walk chairman.

An Active Lady
"I move a lot. I don't like to sit. I love people. I love to listen, to share experiences. I'll never have all the friends I can have."

Besides the Symphony Juniors, Cheryl's worked for Williams House and Environmental Action Now. She was general chairman for the Assistance League to the Northeast Guidance Center's Lobster Bake last September, a red, white and blue party with a Back to America theme.

She's general chairman for Cottage Hospital Women's Auxiliary's Last Stroll Through Stonehurst, the two-day, (Wednesday and Thursday, February 27 and 28, 1 to 7 o'clock both days), last chance to view the magnificent Jacobean residence of the late Mrs. Joseph B. Schlotman, in all its glory.

"She (Mrs. Schlotman) was a Cottage founder. She cared so much about the Hospital. We (the Auxiliary) asked her daughters, and they were delighted to let us have the house this one last time."

Last Public View
Stonehurst is definitely coming down, but for two days it will be as it was, as its chateau loved it, welcoming guests.

Cita (Mrs. John) Barlow, is Last Stroll co-chairman. JoeAnn (Mrs. Virgil) Goodman is Ways and Means chairman. Tickets, at $3 per person, will be available at the door or in advance at The Cottage Hospital Gift Shop.

When the Last Stroll strolls through Stonehurst's doors those doors will close to visitors forever. But people will still say, thinking of Stonehurst, "Do you remember..."

Memories can't be torn down.
"I collect memories," says Cheryl Campbell.
She knows what makes a home.
