HEADLINES

of the
WEEK
As Compiled by the Grosse Pointe News

Thursday, July 25
THE U.S. SUPREME COURT handed down an historic decision today that struck down the cross-district school busing plan ordered by the late Judge Stephen J. Roth for Detroit and 52 suburban districts. In the same decision the court sent the case back to Detroit alone could be devised. The vote was 5-4 with Chief Justice Warren E. Burger writing the majority opinion. The court left the possibility of cross-district busing but only in specific circumstances that are unlikely to exist in Detroit at present.

Friday, July 26
THE CALLS FOR impeachment are growing stronger in the House of Representatives. President Nixon appears to be losing the support of some Republicans and southern Democrats on the House Judiciary Committee that will vote to decide if impeachment should be recommended to the House as a whole. At this point, indications are the Senate will be receiving at least one article of impeachment under a trial of Mr. Nixon.

Saturday, July 27
CYPRUS PEACE TALKS between Turkey and Greece adjourned today after a compromise was nearly reached. Another meeting was scheduled for Sunday. United Nations officials in Cyprus said Turkish military activity had stopped. This report is thought by some to be the reason talks in Geneva are progressing. The Greeks had insisted there could be no success in the talks if Turkish troops were still advancing on Cyprus.

Sunday, July 28
SATURDAY NIGHT the House Judiciary Committee recommended the impeachment of President Richard M. Nixon. Grounds were listed as having "prevented, obstructed, and impeded administration of justice" in the Watergate cover-up. The committee vote was 27 to 11 to approve a nine-part article of impeachment. All 21 Democrats on the committee were joined by six Republicans in the affirmative. The decision, sealed at 7:05 p.m., marks the second time in the nation's 198 years that a committee of Congress recommended the removal of a president.

Monday, July 29
DON MCCAFFERTY, head coach of the Detroit Lions, died suddenly Sunday in Pontiac's St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after suffering a heart attack. He was stricken after working in the yard of his West Bloomfield Township home Sunday morning. A neighbor doctor rushed to the home and administered cardiac massage until an ambulance arrived. He never regained consciousness and was pronounced dead at 2:05 p.m. Mr. McCafferty had been in apparent good health since taking over as coach in January 1973. Messages of condolence poured in from all parts of the country for the coach.

Tuesday, July 30
THREE DETROIT MEN were found guilty late yesterday of kidnapping and murder in the slaying of two young boys, Keith Arnold and Gerald Craft last December. The defendants, Geary Gilmore, Byron Smith and Jerome Holloway, listened in the courtroom of Circuit Judge James N. Canham while the jury foreman read the verdict at 5 p.m. The boys disappeared while playing in front of northwest Detroit homes where the two boys were staying with babysitters. Their bodies were found in a Romulus field three days later with bullets in their heads.

Medical Aide Students Graduated at Cottage

Ten students from Grosse Pointe North and South High Schools were graduated from the six-week Medical Aide Co-op Program at Cottage Hospital on Thursday, July 25. RALPH L. WILGARDE, Administrator of Cottage Hospital, DR. JAMES A. ADAMS, Superintendent of Schools and MRS. DARCY SCOTT, In-Service Education Instructor, were featured speakers at the brief ceremony. Pictured, (left to right), are Dr. Adams,

Mr. Wilgarde, Mrs. Scott and students RUTH ANN BEECHER, BRIAN HILL, and CARY ZIJLSTRA. Miss Beecher was top-ranked student in the graduating class because of her on-the-job performance, test scores, and final exam. All the graduating students will be employed at Cottage Hospital as co-op students. Since 1969 a total of 135 young men and women have successfully completed the medical aides training program. See story, Page 7.

Center Sets Emergency Blood Drive

Red Cross Bloodmobile Comes to Fries Auditorium August 15 from 2 to 8 p.m.

There will be an emergency mid-summer community blood collection at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center Thursday, August 15, from 2-8 p.m. The American Red Cross Bloodmobile Unit will be set up in the Center's Fries Ballroom for this purpose.

The Memorial's Grosse Pointe Community Blood Bank, maintained to lend blood free of charge to area residents in case of emergency, is empty and the blood coffers of the Red Cross are very low due to so many donors being away on vacations recently.

The Grosse Pointe Community Blood Council representing most Pointe churches, postal employees, major businesses, the Junior League and teachers, is behind this drive. Appointment pledge cards for blood donations are available at the Center's office and at local churches.

Pledge appointments for donations are helpful as they enable volunteers to schedule donors so there is a minimum of waiting involved. The process takes no more than 15 or 20 minutes. Of course, all walk-in donors are gratefully received and handled.

Youth Service Division Has Important Problems

By Roger A. Waha
Several important problems have been raised by the Youth Service Division, (YSD), in its association with the Wayne County Juvenile Court. The major one, which isn't only a problem in itself but is related to several other concerns, is a lack of communication between both agencies.

In an attempt to explore these problems and possible solutions, along with the structure of each agency, the NEWS spoke with YSD Det. Michael Ferrence, who has been a member of the division since it became fully operational in August 1970, and Pointer George S. Lilly, who has been a Juvenile Court referee for six years.

Pointe's Libraries Offer Much More Than Books; Make Accessible to All

Outreach Program Very Successful; Art, Tools, Tapes, Films, Records, Toys Available for Everyone

By Barbara Bruno
What's in a library? Books, of course. But the Grosse Pointe Public Library offers much more. Art, tools, records, tapes, films, toys and an Outreach program for those who can't come into the library itself are all available, most with simply a library card.

Many Pointers are not aware of the multitude of items that can be found at the Central library and the Park and Woods branches. One of the most unique programs available to residents is the Outreach program under the direction of Helen Leonard. The concept behind Outreach is to make the library accessible to all Pointe residents, even those who are unable to come into the physical plants themselves.

Will Come to You
"If you cannot come into the library, the library can come to you," said Mrs. Leonard. "We don't feel a physical handicap should deny a person the use of the library."

She explained the idea for the program came last January as she and William T. Peters, Director of the Grosse Pointe Public Libraries, were discussing ways to provide library facilities for people who cannot come into the building for various reasons. Mrs. Leonard said she began by contacting Pointe churches and senior citizen groups to try and pinpoint those who might find the service useful.

Some Are Reluctant
Mrs. Leonard added that people who are shut in often are reluctant to accept the service. "That's why we want to emphasize it is their right as citizens to the use of library facilities," she said. All library items available for public use are also available in the Outreach program, which began visitations in April. There are no time limits or overdue charges.

Volunteers who have been oriented into the program bring the library to patrons. Mrs. Leonard said each volunteer has his own patrons to contact on a regular basis but the library continues to coordinate the project.

"It's on a one-to-one basis," she said. "It's fun to talk about books, share authors and give mini book reviews. I really feel the volunteers get as much out of it as do."

Based upon his experience in the court, plus the realization of problems which the agency itself has, Mr. Lilly recognized the concerns expressed by Det. Ferrence. He also offered some views towards alleviating these concerns. Before focusing upon these problems it would be helpful to show the purpose of each agency and the relationship between them.

The YSD receives referrals from all Pointe police departments on juvenile offenders. Each complaint is investigated by a detective who ultimately makes a decision whether to file a petition with the Juvenile Court, place

Educators Pleased by Bus Ruling

Superintendent James Adams and Trustee Joan Hanpeter Comment on Decision

Grosse Pointe Superintendent of Schools James A. Adams and Board of Education President Mrs. Joan Hanpeter reacted favorably to the U.S. Supreme Court's landmark cross-district busing ruling which was handed down last Thursday, July 25.

Both school officials seemed pleased with the implications of the court's finding that there was not sufficient evidence of deliberate segregation on the part of two or more adjoining Michigan school districts to warrant upholding the late Judge Stephen Roth's decision ordering extensive cross-district busing between Detroit and 52 other suburban districts including Grosse Pointe.

Appears Dead Issue
"The . . . decision in the Detroit desegregation case has resolved the uncertainties under which we have operated in recent years. The matter of cross-district busing involving Grosse Pointe children appears to be a dead issue," Mrs. Hanpeter said on Friday, July 26.

And while she recalled the legal quandaries that began with a suit filed by the Detroit chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, (NAACP), challenging the unconstitutionality of a de-centralization plan signed into law by Governor William Milliken, Dr. Adams' remarks dealt with what the court action spelled out for the future.

Difficult To Plan
"With the possibility of cross-district busing on the horizon, it would have been difficult to make long range educational and financial plans for the students of Grosse Pointe. Without the need to expend our energies in the implementation of such a massive plan, our staff and trustees can move forward with planning the educational program to meet the needs of our students for 1974-75, and for the years ahead," he commented.

The high court's decision marks the culmination of legal skirmishes that began snowballing when the NAACP

Park Says Elm Tree Losses This Year Reach 100

Contract Awarded to Remove Casualties; City Manager Says About 6,000 Still Surviving on Public Property

At a meeting held on Monday, July 29, the Park council awarded a job contract to the James Tree Service company to remove an additional 75 dead and condemned elm trees on public property. The work will cost the city $10,350.

At its July 8 meeting, the council authorized the same firm to remove 25 elms, at a cost of $2,985, making the total count 100 trees, and the total cost $13,335.

Survey Conducted
City Manager Robert Stone said that the extra 75 were found after a survey was made, when the initial contract was given to the company. There is a possibility that more trees will be found to be diseased and will have to be cut down, he added.

The contracting firm will remove the trees completely with the cost included grinding down the stumps, Stone said.

The number of elms lost this year, about equals that of 1973, but for every tree that is cut down, it is replaced with another species, either ash, maple or locust, the city manager said, on a basis of 200 planted for every 150 elms removed. There are still about 6,000 elms remaining on public property, he told the council.

Buy Pick-Up Truck
In other business conducted by the council, the purchase of a rubbish pick-up truck, for use at the Windmill Pointe and Three Mile Drive Parks, at a cost of $3,376 was approved; Councilman George Verdonck was reappointed as the Park's representative on the Grosse Pointe-Clinton Refuse Disposal Authority, with Mayor Matthew Patterson re-named as alternate, for another full year term. Both have held these posts since the formation of the Authority.

EOAN to Have New Quarters

Because of declining enrollment in the Grosse Pointe Public Schools, the Board of Education, at its meeting Monday, July 22, unanimously approved the lease of classroom space at Barnes School to Environmental Action Now, (EOAN).

The group formerly was housed in portable units on the grounds of Ferry School but since the units are in bad repair and because of the extra classroom space, they will be headquartered at Barnes beginning sometime in August.

Board president Mrs. Joan Hanpeter explained that the classroom EOAN will use has its own exterior exit and entrance and that the group will be operating within normal school hours.

Park Firefighters First To Win State Certificates

Every member of the Park Fire Department, from chief to pipemen, was awarded a certificate attesting he had completed a full 66 hours of in-service training which added to his skills in the firefighting trade. They were given their certificates by Birmingham Fire Chief Dick Nunnally, flanked by Mayor Matthew Patterson and Fire Chief Phillip Costa, on Monday, July 22.

Chief Nunnally, current president of the Michigan Fire Chiefs Association, (MFC), and director of the Michigan State Fire Training Council (MSFTC), called out the names of each Park fireman and personally handed him his document. On acceptance, each firefighter

12,800 See Farms Boat Club Events

Boat Races, Beauty Pageant, Decorated Bicycles and Parade Blessed by Fine Weather

By Barbara Bruno

Perfect weather and a record crowd made last weekend's annual Grosse Pointe Farms Boat Club Regatta at the Farms Pier Park the biggest success ever. From Friday evening's teen dance to Sunday's parade, the events were enthusiastically received by Farms residents and guests.

Parks and Recreation Director Ed Lauer said 12,800 persons attended the three days of events at the Pier, a record crowd.

Betty Lardner, secretary of the boat club and regatta publicity chairman, said this year saw more tickets sold to a larger crowd and bigger and better prizes awarded.

Farms City Manager Andrew Bremer said he and his family spent the better part of the weekend at the Pier.

"I think it's great that a group can put on a function like that for the whole community," he commented.

Teens Behave Well
The teen dance Friday evening was attended by 1,800 to 2,200 teens of all ages.

"It was the best-behaved teenage crowd I've seen in years," Mr. Lauer said.

Saturday morning the power boat races got off to a late start but they were well worth waiting for. Spectators lined the piers and observation deck to watch four classes of boats race.

A quarter-mile course was marked off in Lake St. Clair and each boat was required to race three laps from a running start. Ray Williams, chairman of the power boat races, manned the microphone, assembling all boats for their heats.

Many Boat Races
First place winner in the small outboard division was Jim Allor, with Dave Moore placing second.

In the hydroplane class Doug Eldredge came in first with Mark Wilke capturing second.

The small inboards ran next. John Frolich won that race and Russ Zablocki brought home a second.

In the larger boats a dispute arose between two boats that struck each other in a turn. Bruce Unwin was declared the winner by committee decision and Cheryl Tobin, the lone female driver in the competition, placed second.

Three classes of sailboats raced at noon under the direction of Ross Naldow.

In the keelboat division John Bates took first place and Robert Chope placed second.

In the centerboard class, first place was captured by

Kiwanis Asks For Donations

The Grosse Pointe Kiwanis Club reports that a letter outlining the club's services to the community didn't get mailed to all residents as part of its fund raising effort.

As a result, around $250 in donations have been received when, normally, some $2,000 would have been obtained at this time.

However, the Kiwanians have reports available on their charitable community activities and citizens are welcome to pick them up at the War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore road.

Those who would like to donate to the club should make their checks payable to "Kiwanis" and mail them to Kiwanis, 32 Lakeshore road, Grosse Pointe Farms 48236. Monies received will be most appreciated by the club.

The last group to run, the sailfish and sunfish class, saw Jim Verbeke come out on top with Keith Dansbury second.

John Kaiser was general chairman of all boat races. Trophies were awarded to winners and runners-up.

Bicycles Decorated

The attention of hundreds of spectators was focused on an array of decorated bicycles Saturday afternoon. Some had the traditional crepe paper and balloons attached to them while others boasted cardboard coverings to mask the bike completely.

The first-place winner, a green train engine, captured the crowd's attention before and during the judging and the judges' decision was approval from all sectors.

The entry was a joint project for the Bielski brothers, Chris 16, and Andre, 5, of McKinley avenue. Chris explained he had decorated a bicycle several years ago and had enjoyed the contest so much he wanted to do it again.

"I'm really interested in model trains. I have a whole collection of them, so I thought of putting this together," he said. "I built the structure and Andre painted it."

Another Brother Act

Another entry by two brothers, John and Will Jackson, eight and nine respectively, of Lakeview avenue, took second place. Their bike was rigged with a woven straw sail to resemble a Chinese Junk.

The boys said they were proud of winning second place.

Third place winner was Geri Wesel, 7, of Hillcrest road. The theme of her entry was Hello Dolly and her bike, covered with multi-colored tissue-paper flowers, would have made Dolly Levi beam.

Geri said she had some family help putting all the flowers on her bicycle and decorating her own costume, which was complete with spangles and a parasol.

Chairmen of the bicycle decorating contest, Estelle Smith and Marion Stetson, promised each contestant a prize and the kids were not disappointed — top prizes were a cassette recorder, radios and coolers while all the contestants received certificates for free ice cream at a local ice cream parlor.

Adult Games Popular

Mrs. Lardner said the afternoon adult games were more popular than expected.

"We had five dozen eggs for the egg toss and had to go out and buy more because so many people showed up," she said. "Over 60 couples participated."

One of the biggest events of the weekend is the crowning of Miss Grosse Pointe Farms and this year's pageant was no exception. Carol Teetzel, 16, of Vendome court, captured the honors this year.

"I want to say thank you to all the people who helped out," she said as friends rushed around her after her selection. "Everyone here was so wonderful and I had so much fun. It was really worth it."

Tecla Bartoszewicz, of Kerby road, was named runner-up.

The eight contestants walked down the runway in evening gowns accompanied by the music of Sno-Blind, a local band.

Judging the contest were Pepper Whitelaw, Director of Public Relations and Publications at Saint John Hospital, and John Kendall, former Youth Service Division detective.

Enthusiastic Judges

"This year we had a fantastic bunch of girls who are typical of our area," Mrs. Whitelaw said. "We can be proud of them."

She noted that the girls are all active in charitable organizations and school activities at South High School.

Jean Boland, chairman of the pageant, expressed her pleasure with this year's contestants.

"The girls were all just darling," she said. "Everyone was a winner as far as I was concerned."

The queen received a $100 Savings Bond, an AM-FM radio, a necklace, a gift certificate for a haircut, a make-up kit, a cooler and a trophy. The first runner-up won a $50 bond and the other prizes and all other contestants received a $25 bond plus the gifts.

Parade on Sunday

Sunday's parade was welcomed with sunny skies and hundreds of people lined up to watch the caravan of cars. Mrs. Lardner commented that Congressman Lucien Nedzi came from Washington, D.C., to attend.

She said an after-glow dinner was held Wednesday with all the people who worked on the Regatta as guests. She said plans for next year's weekend began right then as committee members taped their impression of this year's celebration: what went right, what went wrong and what should be changed next year.

Judging from this year's success, however, it doesn't appear that too much will have to be changed.

Park Meeting

Mayor Patterson was named to attend the Michigan Municipal League's annual meeting, which this year will be held in Detroit on September 11-13. City Manager Slone was picked as alternate. Both have served in these respective capacities in past years.

Fireman Nemans spent five days this summer training life guards at the Windmill Pointe Park municipal swimming pool on how to administer first aid and how to apply mouth-to-mouth resuscitation in case of emergencies.

Lt. Hunt, the department's training officer, Assistant Chief Taylor and Lt. Palmer, as qualified instructors, will continue to give departmental personnel on-the-job training and keep them advised on the latest techniques on life saving and firefighting.

"I am very proud that I am the chief of a department of such a fine group of men, who are dedicated to their work and who are willing to undertake any means to better serve the people of our city," said Chief Costa. "It doesn't take much to see that the morale of our firefighters is very high."

"The training sessions they have been undertaking, not only adds to their morale, but also adds to their professional skill in firefighting, which enables them to do their job more efficiently."

The chief said that although all have received certificates presented to them by Chief Nunnally, final certification will be given by Howard Hoban, a retired Detroit fireman, who is the field representative of the Firefighting Training Council of the State of Michigan.

Receive Certificates

(Continued from Page 1) but also the fact that although it takes six months to complete the full course, the Park personnel finished theirs in five months. Added to this accomplishment is that every one of the local firemen volunteered to undergo the training, using their free time while on duty.

Chief Costa said that under the laws of Michigan, a fireman must undertake a total of at least 240 hours of training regarding all phases of firefighting, and the time spent to earn the certificates, constitutes at least one-third of the number of hours needed to reach that goal. However, many of the members of his department have finished more than 150 hours of varied training, which included what some of the newer firefighters had to take. The "older" firemen were not required to retake any courses in which they have already been trained and were given credit for these in the 240 hours needed.

Nevertheless, the chief said, some of the men retook the training as refresher courses.

Mayor Patterson expressed his pride in the Department, stating that the council and the people of the community are extremely fortunate in having such men working for them.

The course completed by the firemen include the following: who the Michigan Fire Marshal is and what his duties entail; Forcible Entry (in the event of a fire when no one is home); Rope (knot tying, etc.); Portable Extinguishers; Ladder Practice; Hose Practice; Salvage and Overhaul; Fire Streams; Fire Apparatus; Ventilation; Resuscitation and Protective Breathing; First Aid; Arson Responsibilities; Utilities, and Examinations and Reviews. Training hours in each varied, but totaled 66 hours.

Chief Nunnally said that Public Acts 207 has been

Thieves Enter Rainy Day Co.

Thieves entered the Rainy Day Co., 20507 Mack avenue, and took approximately $60 in cash from the register and a 13½-pound tool cabinet valued at $60.

William Warner told Woods Officer Thomas Hunke he arrived at work Wednesday morning, July 24, and found the alley entrance door forced open. Police said the door appeared to have been struck several times with a large hammer.

No other items were reported missing at this time.

Playwrights Vie for WSU Spoils

A dual prize — $3,000 and a world premiere production — are being offered by Wayne State University in a unique playwright competition.

The occasion is the American Bicentennial Celebration and the project is sponsored by the Wayne State University Bicentennial Commission and the University Theatres.

The premiere production of the prize-winning play will be presented during 1976 in one of the University's several theaters. Wayne State is widely known for its theater program and its graduate repertory company, performing 10 months of the year in the open-stage Hilberry Theater on the campus.

Restrictions on the plays and playwrights are minimal. Plays should deal with some issue in American history which affects us as individuals and as a nation.

as we enter our third century.

Playwrights may be current or former residents of Michigan, current or former students, faculty or staff members of Wayne State University. If the play is a collaboration, at least one author must fulfill one of these conditions.

Entries must be original, full-length plays. They may be based upon factual material, but may not include adaptations or dramatizations of original work written by others and not in the public domain.

Plays which have received professional production are ineligible.

Final judging will be by a panel of outstanding American directors, scholars and theater critics.

In addition to the first prize of $3,000 and a premiere production, five honorable mentions with accompanying awards of $100 each will be granted, plus consideration for production by the University Theatres.

Eligible productions of the prize-winning play or honorable mentions may be entered in the American College Theater Festival, qualifying them for additional honors and awards.

For a free brochure with further information and specific competition rules, write to: The Bicentennial Playwriting Competition, Wayne State University Theater, Detroit, Michigan 48202.

Art of Coloring Eggs Explained by An Expert

By Roger A. Waha

The art of egg decorating is something Mrs. William (Anastasia) Sosnowsky, of Kensington road, thoroughly enjoys. After all, she has been happily involved in this art for 20 years.

Some of her eggs along with those of other artisans will be on display at the "Red Poppy Boutique" booth at the Ukrainian Ethnic Festival Friday-Sunday, August 2-4, along the riverfront. Many of the decorated eggs will be on sale, although she said hers wouldn't be.

Mrs. Sosnowsky's interest in this often delicate art stems from her tradition. "It's part of our traditional background at Easter time, at Lent and after Christmas time to decorate eggs," said Mrs. Sosnowsky, who also has given several egg coloring demonstrations at Wayne State University.

She learned this skill from her sister-in-law, who she stated, was one of the first to do Easter eggs in the area. Now, Mrs. Sosnowsky's most avid pupils are her son, William, 14, and daughter, Marynell, 13, both of whom are learning the technique.

When asked if she would explain the decorating process without giving away any "secrets," Mrs. Sosnowsky willingly told how it's done.

After the contents of each package of dye is emptied into separate jars, and one cup of boiling water is added, (make certain the dye is completely dissolved), a raw egg is placed into a cup of warm water containing one teaspoon of vinegar. The egg is removed and then patted dry, (carefully!), or air dried.

Next, with the egg in one hand and a stylus in the writing hand, the stylus' copper tip is held over a candle flame until hot. It's then dipped into beeswax.

Now, the egg is ready for design. All lines and symbols put on the egg with the wax will remain white.

The egg is dipped into a succession of colored dye baths. Between each dipping, wax is applied over areas where the preceding color is to remain.

After placing the egg on a spoon and lowering it into yellow, orange, red and the final blue or black dye, the egg is removed after each dipping and patted dry with a clean cloth.

"The egg is a surprise at the end," commented Mrs. Sosnowsky, "because it's all black and filled with wax."

To remove the wax, emeryine should be poured on a tissue and the egg gently rubbed until all wax is gone. This process should be repeated with a clean tissue and emeryine to remove the last traces of wax.

To seal and protect the finished egg, cover half the egg with clear nail polish. When that's completely dry, do the other side of the egg.

The art of colored Easter eggs, or Pysanky, as it is called, is an ancient one, originating in Pagan times, and symbolizing the rebirth of the earth out of winter into spring, with its promise of new hope, new life, health and prosperity.

After the advent of Christianity, it symbolized the Resurrection, with its promise of a better world, according to information shared by Mrs. Sosnowsky.

It's reported that the skillful ingenuity of Ukrainian women has put Easter egg coloring on the highest plane of folk art.

Woods Reports Two Robberies

The Woods Department of Public Safety received two breaking and entering reports Thursday evening, July 25. One was from an Allard road resident, while the other was from a Prestwick road citizen.

After leaving his home in the morning, the Allard road resident returned that evening to discover his back door partly open. Entry was gained by smashing a 10"x10" glass near the lock.

The following articles have been reported missing at this time: a 16mm movie camera, valued at $400, in a specially built black rubber case; a pair of binoculars, $30; a gold pocket watch, of unknown value; a brown, plastic all-band radio, $75; and a grey, canvas bag of unknown value.

Meanwhile, the Prestwick road citizen told police three articles were taken: $8 in rolled pennies; a ladies 18 carat gold, wide band ring with a large stone and six or eight diamond chips, of unknown value; and a ladies yellow gold watch with six diamonds, of unknown value. This watch has the name "Betty" and the date "5-3-27" on the back.

Investigation revealed that the culprits apparently gained entry by removing a panel from a basement window.

Few persons do enough good turns to make them dizzy. The most expensive thing on earth is too much economy.

School Busing Ruling

case, charging Detroit schools with de jure segregation, was assigned to U. S. District Judge Roth. It was Judge Roth's contention, upheld by the Court of Appeals, that a desegregation plan must extend beyond the limits of the Detroit school district in order to solve the problem.

Established Panel

He established a desegregation panel which then proposed the cross-district busing plan to achieve racial balance; a procedure that would have affected 52 school districts over a 200 square-mile area and would have involved 780,000 school children.

Appeals court judges, sitting on three- and full, nine-judge benches, upheld Judge Roth's findings on desegregation but ruled that suburban schools must be provided the opportunity to testify against an integration plan.

Then, on November 19, 1973, the Supreme Court decided to review the Detroit School Desegregation Case. A petition opposing Judge Roth's decision had been filed on behalf of the Grosse Pointe School System by school attorneys Hill, Lewis, Adams, Goodrich and Tait. Other petitions were filed by Attorney General Frank Kelley on behalf of the State of Michigan, and by William M. Saxton, on behalf of Allen Park and 44 other school districts.

Their Day in Court

The legal representatives on both sides had their day in court on February 19, when, during an hour-and-a-half period, arguments against busing were outlined by Attorney General Kelley and Mr. Saxton, and pro-busing positions were presented by J. Harold Flannery, a Harvard lawyer, and Nathaniel R. Jones, general counsel for the NAACP.

At this time, a 65-page brief defending The Pointe's stand on busing was submitted by Douglas H. West, school system attorney from the firm of Hill, Adams, Lewis, Goodrich and Tait.

Few people were willing to lay odds on the outcome of the Detroit Desegregation Case, hailed as one that would affect school desegregation plans nationwide. The only similar case ever presented to the high court was Bradley v. Richmond which resulted in a deadlocked vote when one justice disqualified himself since he had been a member of both the Richmond and Virginia school boards.

Verdict Comes Late

The verdict, initially anticipated in June, was somewhat late and had school officials sitting on the edges of their chairs. Finally, voting 5-4, the court decided Judge Roth, who died three weeks ago, had erred in ordering the desegregation plan involving both Detroit and the suburbs without any evidence as to whether those suburban areas were indeed segregated.

The desegregation order for Detroit still stands, however, and one of 12 federal judges will have to take over the case and initiate prompt action to get a busing plan underway for all of the city's 300 schools.

But for Grosse Pointe and other areas, it seems unlikely busing will be implemented, at least for the time being. The Supreme Court decision ended legal battles lasting almost four years and any future racial allegations against the suburbs would entail another round of similar activities that would take at least that long to resolve.

RBI's Boast Perfect Mark

Only one team remains undefeated in The Pointe Men's Slow Pitch Softball League, which starts playoffs next week in both the Monday-Wednesday and Tuesday-Thursday divisions with the top four teams squaring off.

Meldrum and Smith RBI's boast a 7-0 mark in the Monday-Wednesday division. The leaders are followed by Brook Bar, 5-2; Denby Lanes, Struttin, Zodiacs and Gypsies all 4-3; Modern Sport Shop, 3-4; Madame Z, 1-6; and Woods Sport Shoppe, 1-7.

J. X. Palms leads the Tuesday-Thursday division with a 6-1 record. Luds, Jacobell Shoes and W and R are tied for second with 5-2 marks. Mack Brothers are 4-3; Selvaggio's, 3-3; Grays, 3-4; Jacobson's 1-6; and Kells Construction, 0-7.

Police Lodge to Hold Roast

The Fraternal Order of Police, Grosse Pointe Lodge No. 102 is expecting a big turnout of regular and associate members at its hot dog-corn roast to be held at Windmill Pointe Park on Wednesday, August 7, starting at 7:30 p.m. The wives of the regulars and associates are also invited, it was stated by Park Patrolman Andrew Meeker, president.

There will be plenty to eat and lots of refreshments, said the Lodge president, who is also chairman of the affair. He will be assisted by Woods Cpl. Robert Setchell, vice-president; Shores Sgt. Don Jacob, treasurer; and Woods Patrolman Steven Petrik, past president of the organization. Pitching in, too, will be Patrolman Petrik's wife, Katherine.

Arrangements for the use of Windmill Pointe Park were made through the courtesy of City Manager Robert Stone.

Because of its importance, President Meeker announced that Lodge members will hold a meeting on Monday, September 2, at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, at 7:30 p.m. This will be a regular membership meeting, and discussed will be a section of the organization's by-laws for a possible change. This session is closed to associate members.

Membership in Lodge No. 102 is comprised of police officers of the Pointe and Harper Woods.

JC Auxiliary Has New Policy

The Jaycee Auxiliary, in accordance with a new State ruling, may now extend memberships to women in The Pointe area whose husbands do not belong to the local Jaycee chapter.

Past policy dictated that only wives of Jaycees were eligible for auxiliary membership. Now, eligibility applies to any woman between 18-35 years of age.

The auxiliary's main endeavors lie in community service with money raised through project work supporting the Grosse Pointe Foundation for Exceptional Children, the Spaulding Home for Children and The Family Life Education Council (FLEC), among other organizations.

Another important area of auxiliary activity is assisting the Jaycees in the group's many projects as well as co-sponsoring, with their husbands, various social functions which can be enjoyed by everyone.

Auxiliary members feel their organization provides an opportunity for women to accomplish something worthwhile for themselves and the community by growing as individuals through meeting new people and being involved in the community.

Anyone interested in becoming a member, or who would like to visit a monthly auxiliary meeting, should call 885-5507 for further information.

Foursome Seek Seat in Senate

Four candidates are running for the First District seat in the State Senate during the Tuesday, August 6, primary election. This district covers all Pointe communities except The Woods.

Candidates include Sen. William B. Fitzgerald, 31, who's been a State representative for four years. He's vice-chairman of the House Judiciary Committee and chairman of the Economic Development Committee.

Others are Pointer Earl Heenan III, 24, a property manager; Joseph Patterson, 21, a real estate salesman; and Paul B. Hudson, 49, the owner-operator of a grocery store.

It's a fact that both fat and fuddiness can be walked off.

Residents Seek Action On Unpaved City Alley

By Nancy Kramer

The City's only unpaved alley became the topic of debate at the regular Council meeting held on Wednesday, July 17, when Fisher road residents Mr. and Mrs. Charles Van Hamper, asked the solons what had been done about surfacing the drive adjacent to their property, running parallel to Mack avenue, between Fisher and Lincoln roads.

Mrs. Van Hamper said area residents were under the impression the alley was to be paved a long time ago, since they first received word in June 1966, that The City had conducted a voluntary assessment of the businesses and residents whose property abutted the service drive.

City Manager Thomas Kressbach said this assessment, making residents responsible for 15 percent of the cost and businesses, 85 percent, was conducted after other alleys were paved on the same voluntary basis so The City could get all the jobs done around the same time.

The residents had agreed to pay their share, but the four businesses assessed the most either said they would not pay or did not respond at all.

Mr. Kressbach said he and Chief of Police Andrew Teetaert tried for two or three years to re-approach those businesses, telling them each year that the cost would only get higher as time went on.

Then, this spring, engineers completed a study on updating the costs of the venture so The City could initiate another voluntary assessment to supply funds for the paving job.

"I suppose we'll try another voluntary stab," Mr. Kressbach said. If the businesses are again uncooperative, the matter can be turned over to the council which would have to decide whether or not to order the drive paved as part of the City's public improvement program.

Mr. Kressbach pointed out that, in the long run, it would be cheaper to finance the work on a voluntary basis since that would not necessitate any special hearings or county assessment taxes and there would be no extra administrative costs involved.

"Hopefully," he said, "it can be done voluntarily, but if not, it will be up to the council to make a policy decision."

The Van Hamper's told the solons they had other alley-related hassles ranging from drag racers and scattered dust to constant noise from a nearby service station on Mack.

Since all the other City service drives have 10-mile speed limits, the Van Hamper's wondered why the Fisher-Lincoln one did not. They also asked for some means of keeping loose dust in the alley under control. Mrs. Van Hamper said action on this had been requested many times in the past and while workers had graded the alley from time to time, that procedure had not really alleviated the difficulty.

Mr. Kressbach promised to have a speed limit sign posted, but said funds for regular alley maintenance were not provided in the budget and that the city really could not afford to take more effective measures to deal with the dust.

The council was powerless to do anything about the couple's problem with the neighboring gas station and suggested the case be taken to court.

"We've been to court with the owner four times," Mrs. Van Hamper remarked when contacted after the meeting. "Each time we've reached a verbal agreement but the owner never holds to it. We know it isn't always his fault since he usually goes home at 6 p.m. But he has these kids working there and they leave the garage doors open to all hours."

Once things finally quieted down at night, the station opens again at 6:30 a.m., the Van Hamper's told the council.

Mayor John L. King said they would probably have to take the case to circuit court in order to resolve the problem but Mrs. Van Hamper noted that action would entail their hiring a lawyer.

The fact that there are no catch basins in the alley causes Mr. and Mrs. Van Hamper still more trouble since truck oil deposits and water drain into the street via their driveway, but Mr. Kressbach said creation of sewers has been figured into the overall engineering plans for paving the alley.

Mr. Van Hamper concluded his request by asking Councilman Lorenzo Brown to come over to his home and see the situation as he had described it. Mr. Brown said he would be happy to do so.

Libraries Provide Citizens with Many Tools

Close Relationship

By maintaining a close personal relationship, the volunteers soon come to recognize the reading preferences of the patrons and seek out books they feel will be of particular interest. In addition, Mrs. Leonard said, having an outsider visit regularly is sometimes more helpful than a family member providing the same service.

She said the goal is to reach all shut-ins who want to read. This could include senior citizens who are not able to make the trip to the library, the physically handicapped, persons bed-ridden with a short-term illness, patients recuperating at a hospital or those confined to a nursing home.

"We have been going to the Grosse Pointe Nursing Home and Georgian East and the response has been very good," she said. "We even showed films weekly but stopped for the summer months. We hope to resume that in the fall."

Helps Erase Problem

Mrs. Leonard said reading often helps an ill person take his mind off his problems. "The enjoyment gotten from reading is great for those who like to read," she commented. "It helps them see worlds outside of their own room."

Mrs. Leonard hopes to receive more requests for the services of the Outreach program, when more people know it exists.

"In no way is it a replacement for using the library, but it is an extension for those who can't come in." Outreach isn't the only out-of-the-ordinary service offered by the library.

An upstairs room at the Central library houses a collection of about 75 framed prints available for rental at $1 per month with a library card. The works can be rented for up to three months at a time.

Mr. Peters, library director, said usually more than half are out at any given time.

Some Limited Prints

"There are no originals but there are some limited edition prints," he said. "We try to find works by artists people recognize."

He noted that Andrew Wyeth's "Christina's World" is one of the more popular rentals. Also in the collection are prints of works by Van Gogh, Monet, Chagall, Degas and Gauguin.

Mr. Peters said the library buys 15 to 20 prints each year after consulting several staff members in order to maintain a varied collection.

Another free offering to Pointers with library cards is the tool collection at Central which contains some 250 assorted tools.

The collection was begun in 1943 by the Grosse Pointe Rotary Club and has been maintained by the Rotarians ever since as a community service.

Assouling Variety

The variety of tools is astounding: screwdrivers, hand and power saws, a piano tuning wrench, calipers, levels, file snippers, drills, sanders, and even goggles and knee pads.

"The weekends are a big time for power tools," Mr. Peters said. "And after a storm all the pruning saws go out."

For safety reasons power tools can only be loaned to persons 18 years and older. They may be kept for three days. The non-power tools are under a one-week rental limit.

Mr. Peters said the Rotary Club votes yearly whether to continue supporting the tool collection and has voted to do so again this year. He said he hopes tools the average homeowner isn't likely to have will continue to be added to the collection.

The audio-visual department at the library is another popular service with residents. Records, cassettes, tapes and films can all be checked out with a library card.

Over 6,000 Records

Over 6,000 records are contained in the three branches and they include show tunes, drama, children's stories, folk, classical and pop music among other selections.

"The best collection of classical music is at the Park branch because a librarian there is particularly interested in it," Mr. Peters said.

He said classical music is still the most popular category although opera and drama recordings are in constant use during opera season and Shakespearean festivals.

The collection is inspected each summer and worn albums are removed. New selections are purchased from library funds based on suggestions from several staff members.

Records are circulated for two-week periods, the same as cassette and reel tapes which Mr. Peters said are increasing in popularity.

Many Tapes, Films

There are 1,313 reel-to-reel tapes and 490 cassettes in the library's collection. They contain subjects similar to the records.

Films, both 16 mm and 8 mm, are available from the Central library. The 16 mm films may be used for two days and can be reserved up to three months in advance.

The 8 mm films come under a one-week loan and may not be reserved. Included in this group are general comedy silent films such as Charlie Chaplin's "The Tramp" and Laurel and Hardy's "Goofs of the Golden West."

"The 16 mm films are not strictly for classroom use but are for the general public's interest," Mr. Peters said. "About one-third of these films are for children."

Big Toy Collection

Another library program geared for children is the toy collection started in January at the Woods branch. Close to 200 scientifically designed toys and games are available for pre-school and kindergarten children whose perceptual abilities need strengthening.

"Pupil personnel staff talk with parents of children being tested before entering the school system," Mr. Peters explained. "They write out a 'prescription' for the child who is having problems in certain areas, such as defining shapes or colors. The length of time he uses the toys depends upon his needs."

Mr. Peters said teachers in the school system are enthusiastic about the program and he hopes it can be extended into the first grade.

Non-book circulation figures, for art, tools, toys and audio-visual materials, for the three branches combined totaled 37,205 for last year. That just helps prove the Grosse Pointe Public Library means a lot more than just books to a lot of people.

Blood Drive

as expeditiously as possible.

Mrs. Alfred Goolsby is in charge of the War Memorial's blood collection effort and has been for the past several years. She is assisted by Mrs. Richard Piper and Mrs. Robert Ebersol and numerous volunteers from the Grosse Pointe Woman's Club and the Junior Red Cross.

Transportation will be provided to any prospective donor in need and baby sitting service will also be furnished.

All Pointers ages 18 to 60 are urged to give. All are able to give with no ill effects unless they have a history of blood or heart disease, are pregnant or are on medication.

This is an opportunity to donate not only to the Grosse Pointe Community Blood Bank, but to any other church, company or organizational Blood Bank to which one may belong. It is also an opportunity to contribute to an individual and perhaps pay back for blood borrowed through the year.

What we really need is more penitence in our penitentiaries.

Senior Citizen Chairman In Woods Receives Honor

Irene Sutton, chairman of The Woods' Senior Citizens Commission, was recently presented with a special tribute by the Michigan House of Representatives honoring her for her work in behalf of senior citizens.

The presentation was made by State Representative Joseph M. Snyder who told Mrs. Sutton, "A major reason for this tribute is that since 1955, you have provided leadership and inspiration for senior citizens."

The presentation, at Mrs. Sutton's Brys drive home, was witnessed by a group which included her grandchildren, Jennifer and Jimmy Hern of Houghton Lake.

"I am indeed deeply honored," Mrs. Sutton said in accepting the scroll on which the House tribute was printed. "It is a tremendous personal satisfaction to work with and in behalf of my fellow senior citizens and to try to make lives brighter and better."

She stated the Commission is "really working hard" to develop and expand a senior citizens program in The Woods. Mrs. Sutton wants program activities "to be more than just playing cards" and is working towards that objective.

Mr. Snyder, candidate for the Democratic nomination for State Senator in the 26th District, noted the tribute praised Mrs. Sutton's "zeal for approach to life" which, it continued, "has infused her zeal into the lives of senior citizens."

"Her contributions serve as examples of what can be done to improve our communities as we include our senior citizens in the mainstream of life," it added.

The House's tribute, sponsored by Mr. Snyder, also lauded Mrs. Sutton for her earlier work with the St. Clair Shores Senior Cruisers which provides senior citizens with a "social atmosphere and with public service projects."

He said Mrs. Sutton recently was elected to the executive board of the Michigan Chapter of the National Association of Senior Citizens. "This is one more well-deserved recognition of her ability, her accomplishments and her work."

Mike Varty, Austin Grad, Joins Redskin Rookies

By Tom Panzenhagen
Michael Varty has progressed nicely.
From a member of the two-time champion St. Clare Grade School football team in 1965 and '66, to an All-City grid star with Austin Catholic Prep in 1969, to the widely-acclaimed middle linebacker of the Big Ten's Northwestern University Wildcats in the '70's.

And now, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Varty, of Audubon road in The Park, finds himself in the training camp of the National Football League Washington Redskins.

At age 22, Mike Varty is a potential star, but it took a lot of hard work and determination to reach that plateau.

The honors Mike has accumulated over the years speak well of his accomplishments.

Mike was the first Austin student to play four years of first-string varsity football.

He turned down scholarship offers from Iowa, Arkansas and Holy Cross before accepting the one from Northwestern.

At Northwestern, Mike played four years of varsity ball, topped off in 1973 when he was named defensive captain of the team.

Along the way to that honor, Mike was once named United Press International Midwest Lineman of the Week, as well as the Associated Press Lineman of the Week.

He was named the most valuable defensive back at Northwestern in both his junior and senior years, and honor, Mike was once named United Press International Midwest Lineman of the Week, as well as the Associated Press Lineman of the Week.

He was named the most valuable defensive back at Northwestern in both his junior and senior years, and received the Waldo Fisher gold medal award in 1974 from the Northwestern Men's Club as the university's outstanding athlete.

Interesting sidelights to Mike's college football career include his being named to the Big Ten's All-Scholastic list, and an experiment in which Mike participated with a team of Northwestern physicians... while playing football.

As part of a study on helmet safety and the related brain damage received from using improper protective equipment, Mike allowed himself to be electronically wired so that information could be obtained by the doctors, measuring the probability of head and neck injuries incurred during a football game.

A June 1974 graduate with a Bachelor's Degree in Speech, Mike was the second-round draft choice of the Washington Redskins. He also received offers from the rival World Football League and the Canadian Football League, but opted for the NFL.

At 6-foot-2 and 230 pounds, Mike should fit in well with the aging corps of Redskin line backers.

Unfortunately, Washington does not play the Lions in Detroit this year, but Mike's family is confident he will stick with the team and supporters should have many more chances to see the home-town boy who made good.

Medical Aides Get Diplomas

Ten high school students who successfully completed a six week Medical Aide program co-sponsored by Grosse Pointe North and South high schools and Cottage Hospital received pins and diplomas in a ceremony Thursday evening, July 25, at Cottage.

By completing the course, the students are now certified to be employed as nurse aides and orderlies in hospitals and nursing homes.

With their families and friends attending, the ceremony took place in the hospital board room. Representing the Grosse Pointe schools and congratulating the students were Dr. James A. Adams, Superintendent of Schools, and Loujane Beynon, Co-op Coordinator.

Representing Cottage Hospital and offering congratulations were Administrator Ralph L. Wilgarde, and Mrs. Darcy Scott, R.N. and Mrs. Anita Fisher, R.N., In-Service Education instructors.

Park Natators Again Champs

The Park swim team coached by Tim Kennary won the Inter-Park dual meet swim championships for the fourth consecutive year.

The winning team wrapped up the championship this past week by defeating The Farms, 258-215. This victory gave The Park a perfect 5-0 record this season.

The City defeated The Woods, 246-233, to finish second in the league with a 4-1 record. St. Clair Shores finished third with a 3-2 record after defeating The Shores, 258-207.

The remainder of the standings finds The Farms in fourth place at 2-3, The Woods in fifth at 1-4 record and The Shores sixth at 0-5.

All of the teams will participate in the championship meet this weekend at Neff Park.

Problems Affecting Youth Service Division, Wayne County Juvenile Court Are Explored

(Continued from Page 1) the youth on the YSD's counseling program or to utilize one or more diversionary programs such as the North-east Guidance Center, school social workers and Center Point, among others.

While the YSD has no set criteria in reaching its decision, Det. Ferrence said these points are considered: the nature of the offense, the youth's prior contacts with the division and the cooperation of both the youth and his or her parents.

"The YSD doesn't draw on Juvenile Court that much because we use our own counseling program and other diversionary programs," said Det. Ferrence. "Some cases don't warrant that type of action," (filing a petition). Resources and key personnel in the greater Pointe area are used considerably by the division.

Follow Desire

In 1973, for example, the YSD handled 878 youths. Of that number, 102 were filed upon with the court, (11.6 percent). The remaining 776, (88.4 percent), were placed on the counseling program or referred to a diversionary program.

"With all of our available resources, generally speaking by the time a petition is sent to Juvenile Court we have discarded most of our diversionary programs. A crime may include a multiple offender who's been on diversionary programs which have not helped. A youngster and/or his parents also may not have been cooperative. Then, a petition is filed," stated Det. Ferrence.

Each department has a write-up sheet which is sent over to the YSD on each case. On this sheet, the department gives an indication what action it would like the division to take. "We talk with the department and try to follow their desire," he said.

Between September 22,

1970, through July 12 of this year, the YSD has filed 338 petitions with the court authorizing 104 of them. Seventy-two were referred to the probation department, 32 were denied, 66 were adjusted, (involving a conference between parents, youth and the court), and 32 were referred to another agency. The remaining fall into "other," "no disposition" or "no return" categories.

Intake Decides

At Juvenile Court, the intake department decides if a petition will be accepted in delinquency, neglect, abuse or dependency cases, said Mr. Lilly. Only cases accepted by the intake department will come before Judge James H. Lincoln or one of the courts seven referees.

Several branches comprise the Juvenile Court. The judicial branch includes Judge Lincoln, the referees and a social service branch where a chief of court services is in charge of such areas as probation departments, counselors, abuse department and foster homes.

A Clinic for Child Study includes social workers, psychologists, psychiatrists and counselors, while the Youth Home comprises mainly non-professional personnel, said Mr. Lilly. Stressing that the Youth Home isn't "a jail per se," he called it a short term detention facility.

Referee's Function

Juveniles were responsible for 65 percent of the offenses which were committed last year in Wayne County, he estimated. In 1973, the court heard 15,000-20,000 cases of which an estimated 80 percent were delinquency complaints, said Mr. Lilly, who emphasized these figures were only estimates.

Averaging around 50 full cases each week, Mr. Lilly heard over 2,000 full cases last year although he noted some cases aren't disposed of at one time.

In exploring the function of his position, Mr. Lilly said, "Referees are appointed and not elected like the judge. In a technical sense, we make recommendations to the judge as opposed to rendering orders." However, the recommendations become court orders, (when signed by the judge), unless challenged via an appeal or an objection to the recommendation.

Referees also have no power to perform marriage ceremonies, nor do they preside over jury trials or grant waivers. But the referee hears and acts on individual cases via hearings.

Sentences Handed Down

After a hearing is completed, and making the assumption a youth is found guilty, what sentences does a referee hand down?

Mr. Lilly stated a youth can be warned and the case dismissed; a case can be dismissed because a youth is overage, e.g., he commits an offense at 16 but is in court at the age of 17; a youth may be placed on probation with a probation officer; a youth may be placed on probation in a private home other than his own home, e.g., with a relative or in a foster home; and a youth may be committed to the State, (made a State ward), for placement in a particular facility.

These facilities include Boysville, Vista Maria, the Boy's Training School and the Girl's Training School, the latter two were termed the "most punitive" by Mr. Lilly. When placed at a particular facility, the court still has jurisdiction over the youth.

Court's Problems

If various agencies feel they have problems with the court, the court, itself, has its share of problems including a heavy case load and insufficient manpower, plus an apparent lack of communication with community agencies.

"Because of the large volume of cases we have, it's virtually impossible to get into an in-depth study of the problem before us," commented Mr. Lilly. He felt this question of manpower would be helped to an extent with the two newly created juvenile division probate judges.

(Mr. Lilly is one of 10 candidates for this position in the Tuesday, August 6, primary election. Others are Y. Gladys Barsamian, Joseph Chylinski, James E. Lacey, Thomas A. Maher, Harold M. Ryan, Judith Stefani Sables, Sam Simpson, Robert E. Toohy and Dennis Matulewicz).

The lack of communication between community agencies and the court is something which Det. Ferrence and Mr. Lilly are concerned about. It's also entwined with different concerns as expressed by the detective.

Community's Nature

One concern views the nature of a particular community which is served by the court and the particular problems that community faces, problems which may not be as pronounced or as apparent in other communities.

"When one agency is responsible for the adjudication of juvenile delinquents and covers so much ground, there has to be a cutoff point on their part. Their standards and cutoff point may be out of our league," said Det. Ferrence.

The Juvenile Court handles such offenses as family problems, runaways, stolen bicycles, larceny over and under $100 up to more serious offenses such as murder, felonious assault and rape—crimes of a violent nature.

There are not that many crimes of a violent nature in our community in comparison to other cities within the county, the detective stated, while noting the YSD deals closely with local police departments, plus its own resources.

While aware of the problems the courts faces, the fallacy is that we except it as an excuse and wait to the point where our community could degenerate to meet the court's apparent criteria, said Det. Ferrence. "We're not prepared to do that."

"I don't want the level of our types of offenses to increase to gain services from the court," he emphasized.

Acknowledges Point

Mr. Lilly acknowledged this point and cited a hypothetical example of having 10 cases on his docket: four for armed robbery, three for felonious assault, two for breaking and entering and one for shoplifting.

Mr. Lilly asked how much time would be spent on the shoplifting case considering the other incidents. "Three minutes," he quickly interjected, "and the youth would be warned and the case dismissed. Why? Because we have become calloused. In reality, he might need more help than an armed robbery suspect."

Is there a solution to this problem whereby the court can become more aware of the nature of a particular community and the specific offenses with which juveniles within that community are charged?

Mr. Lilly feels the establishment of mini-courts, at no expense to the taxpayer, in both eastern and western Wayne County communities, suburban to Detroit, would be helpful. Cases, then, originating in those communities can be heard at regular intervals.

In calling this proposal "bringing the court to the people," Mr. Lilly feels it would alleviate several problems.

Feel for Problem

"I feel when sitting in a community in which its particular problems emanate, I'd have a greater feel for the problem than if I was sitting in Detroit," he said. Mr. Lilly thought a youth would feel less threatened when brought before a judge or referee in his own community court.

This proposal also could help penetrate a potential feeling of isolation on the parts of various agencies in its dealings with main court in downtown Detroit.

If such a program isn't adopted, he feels it's "back to the same situation although interaction on an ongoing basis between the court and the community agencies will be helpful, too."

A second problem cited by Det. Ferrence focuses upon the duplication of action between an agency and the court.

Wants Realization

"I'm not saying that the court has to necessarily except 90 percent of the petitions we send down or to put youths in training schools for minor crimes. But I want the court to realize when we send a petition down, we have tried all diversionary programs or the offense is of such a serious nature that it should come to the court's attention," stressed the detective.

He then cited the adjustment classification as an example. "We have a conference with the parents and the youth even before the petition goes to court," he said. Then, depending on the case, the same thing could transpire before the court with the youth being warned and released. Hence, the "instant replay."

Mr. Lilly acknowledged that this happens. He said a police officer could say, "I brought this youth to court because my efforts have failed. What good does it do to place the youth on probation or warn and release him?"

"The court appears to be indifferent to the needs of an individual community," stated Mr. Lilly. "Part of this is due to the tremendous volume of cases and part is due to the lack of feeling on the court's part for problems which appear to exist within an individual community."

Possible Solution

A possible solution, he feels, is the need for a "series of eye-to-eye contacts" with each and every segment of the community. "We should bring them in and let them know we care about them, that their case is important. Then, they will knock themselves out."

In relation to this, Mr. Lilly said his biggest realization as a referee was "how humane and untiring are the people who are involved with juveniles, including police officers. Their work is commendable. They must know we appreciate the amount of work that they do."

"We have to become involved with the needs of every segment of the community," he continued. "We have no right to pick and choose what's important."

A third problem which Det. Ferrence mentioned revolves around the amount of work which is put into a specific case and the final disposition as rendered by the court, sometimes without even contacting investigating officers. The communication aspect also plays a role here.

Pharmacy Footnotes

Coronary heart attacks are known to all segments of our society, but it is least well known among young women. Women in their mid-thirties should have blood-pressure and cholesterol levels checked at regular intervals, according to many doctors.

In a study made in Edinburgh, Scotland, of 145 women who were studied — all under the age of 45 — 81 had had a heart attack, or other heart problems. In most cases, high cholesterol level and high blood pressure were also present. Be careful how you live — it's very important.

It's very important to choose your pharmacist as you would choose your doctor. That is why you should let DEVONSHIRE DRUGS, 16037 Mack "on the Block", 881-0478, handle all your pharmaceutical needs. Our competent pharmacists will handle all your prescription needs efficiently and expertly, and then deliver them to you at no charge. We offer such items as Sanders Candies, a complete line of HALLMARK greeting cards, and a complete selection of liquor, beer and wine. Open: Mon. thru Sat. 9-9.

HELPFUL HINT:

Remove ink stains from your hand by rubbing with the sulphur end of a match, then rubbing with a dry cloth.

"It's a tough nut to swallow as we investigate a case and present the facts, then it's up to the court's jurisdiction. Sometimes we can become personally upset at a ruling. And sometimes the court makes a disposition without officers being aware of this action. The court makes no effort to contact us," the detective stated.

"We need better communication with the courts," he continued, while noting some personnel may be sensitive to this problem but because of the volume of paperwork, "they do the job as best they can with the manpower they have."

To this, Mr. Lilly replied that officers in charge of a case should be in on every case if they want it that way. "They should be notified," he said.

Det. Ferrence feels the court should consider a variety of points regarding each case which is petitioned: the effect of its decision on the community; the attempts by the community to divert youths from the juvenile justice system; and that the court must consider the input available from a specific community's local police agency, and utilize it.

Agrees on Input

Mr. Lilly said he agrees on the need for more input. He wants to reduce delinquency by establishing programs in cooperation with local police agencies.

"I want to show police departments we are interested in what they're doing and aren't indifferent to them," he said.

He feels the court can be a guiding force behind the establishment of more youth bureaus in various communities. On the YSD, Mr. Lilly said, "Any community that has created a specialized agency within its police department to work exclusively with children in their community has made a giant step in the direction of controlling and/or reducing delinquency and its causes."

"I heartily endorse such existing programs and would encourage their adoption by other communities where they're non-existent."

Discusses Intake

In relation to the intake department, Mr. Lilly said he doesn't know a case exists until he goes to court. Once in a while he knows of a case before it reaches intake and "I can order the intake department to accept the case," he said.

Many cases are turned down by intake, e.g., certain ones may be adjusted at this level. "A department, (referring to any department), is only as good as its workers."

"If intake department's function is being criticized by a local police agency, there's a lack of communication between intake and that agency. They have to get together if the agency feels the court isn't responsive to them," stated Mr. Lilly. "There should also be better communication between an agency and the court administration."

If a referee seldom knows a case exists until he convenes court, he often doesn't know if a particular youth before him has committed more than the alleged offense he's currently hearing.

Rights of Youths

"The rights of youths in courts have been spelled out more lately," said Mr. Lilly. More and more attorneys are in court and they feel the referee must be objective in hearing a case, he stated.

As a result, the referee doesn't have access to a youth's file, only the petition, until all the evidence in a particular case has been taken and the court has made its decision.

"I attempt to utilize every person I can to help me make a proper decision," said Mr. Lilly, in reference to talking with police officers, parents, teachers and social workers, depending on the case.

While Det. Ferrence cited some "minus" areas in relation to the court, he also noted some of the agency's positive effects.

Judicial Power

The court refers some cases sent to it to a certain agency as part of its disposition, he said. "We may not have been able to convince a parent or youngster that help is needed but the court with its judicial power can demand this."

The detective also said the court has been helpful and cooperative in some home truant cases.

At the same time, Mr. Lilly noted, "There's generally much valid criticism of the work people in the courts do. I'm not championing Judge Lincoln's cause but there's not a judge in the State that puts in the hours he puts in."

But Mr. Lilly also realizes, "The court should be a moving force in the community. If it isn't, the blame should be mainly on the court as we are ultimately the responsible agency in dealing with youngsters."

Maire Scouts Set Car Wash

Boy Scout Troop 19 from Maire School, will hold a car wash in the parking lot of the National Bank of Detroit's St. Clair avenue branch, on Saturday, August 3, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Scoutmaster Donald Boyer, who's also a City police officer, reports funds raised via the car wash will finance the purchase of tents.

Troop 19 has been re-chartered since May 1, and its ranks currently number 15. Any boys interested in joining may contact Officer Boyer at the City police station, 886-3200 or call Maire School, at 885-5520.

Many a college grad will get a hard bump when he is thrown on his own resources.

Warn Drivers And Cyclists

"Share The Road"—that's the watchword for Pointe and Michigan bicyclists and automobile drivers. And it's a watchword that is vitally needed for both the bike riders and the automobile drivers.

"We are trying to make everyone aware of his responsibilities on our roads, whether he rides a bicycle or drives an automobile," said Garnet M. Griffin, president of the Traffic Safety Association of Detroit. "While bicyclists have an equal right as well as responsibility on Michigan streets and roads, there is usually one outcome if a bike and a car collide—the bike driver is the loser with the results devastating, perhaps crippling or fatal."

To make drivers of both the two and the four-wheel vehicles aware that each has an equal right to the road, the Traffic Safety Association is erecting some 1,300 posters in the Detroit area showing a car and a bicycle and carrying the message, "Share The Road."

"Bike riding used to be primarily done by children.

Now adults are riding bikes, either for recreation or for transportation in just as great numbers as children," Griffin said. "It's been predicted that by the end of 1975 we will have more bicycles in Michigan than the 6-million motor vehicles we now have."

Bicyclists are governed by the same traffic laws as car drivers. They must stop at stop signs and red signal lights. In addition, they must stay as close to the right side of the road as possible and ride no more than two abreast.

Car drivers must realize that bike riders have a right to use the road, and that the bike must be regarded as another vehicle with equal rights as the car. In addition, car drivers must understand that a bicyclist may become nervous and uncertain if a car passes too closely. Above all, they must realize that if they strike a bicyclist, the bike rider is probably going to suffer at least serious injury.

That's why it is a must to "Share The Road."

A check for $5,000 was presented to the Grosse Pointe Foundation for Exceptional Children by the Jaycees at its "M" Night gathering Thursday, July 25. PATRICK JEWELL, (left), foundation trustee, accepts the check from Jaycee President "Ric" RUT-

AN. The monies were obtained from the Jaycees' recently held "Jelly Week" sale which was under the direction of John Ruh. Mr. Jewell's wife, Mary, and daughter, Kathleen, 3, also participated in the presentation.

Jaycees Accept New Members

Eight new members joined the Jaycees during the organization's "M" Night Thursday, July 25, at the American Legion Hall, 20916 Mack avenue. The group's total membership now stands at 78.

The newcomers include Max Pitlosh, Charlie Fisher, John McClellan, Brian Hickley, Brian DeFore, Rick Standard, Jack McHugh and Al Lang, a former Jaycee who rejoined the organization.

A highlight of the evening was the presentation of a $5,000 check by Jaycee President "Ric" Rutan to the Pointe Foundation for Exceptional Children via the group's "Jelly Week" project.

John Ruh was in charge of the project in which the GP Jaycees placed second in the State in jelly sales.

Kathleen Ann Lewis, Miss Grosse Pointe for 1974-75, also was in attendance. She was presented a $800 modeling scholarship from the Barabazon School of Modeling for her selection in the recently conducted Jaycee-sponsored Miss GP Scholarship Pageant. Karen Seagram, first runner-up in the event, received a $100 savings bond while Kathleen Bentley, second runner-up was presented a $50 bond. Other participants received $25 bonds.

George A. Williamson of the Jaycees said "M" Night was well attended and stressed, this year, the organization is going to concentrate on the community itself even more than in the past.

Vandals Cause Lawn Damage

Several Farms residents have experienced problems recently with vandals driving over their lawns and causing damage.

Sometime between 9 p.m. Tuesday, July 23, and 6 a.m. Wednesday, July 24, an unknown vehicle drove over the curb at 443 Lexington avenue and across the grass between the sidewalk and curb, Farms police said.

The vehicle struck a red maple tree about one inch in diameter breaking it at the base. About 20 feet of lawn was driven over.

The incident was reported at 11:20 a.m. Wednesday by another Lexington road resident.

Earlier that same day a vehicle caused lawn damage at 364, 382 and 386 Provenal road. One resident called Farms police at 8:10 that morning and Officer John Kraiza responded to investigate the complaint.

The resident reported he heard a car in front of his house between 12:05 and 12:10 a.m. and saw the lights on the vehicle turn off. He said an unknown person got out of the car, shined a flashlight on the mailbox address and then drove away.

The resident did not see the car drive over the lawn. Damage to all three lawns was reported.

Lochmoor Sets Teens' Dance

The Lochmoor Club Youth Council will hold a dance for area teenagers at the Club, 1018 Sunningdale drive, on Monday, August 5, from 8 to 12 p.m. Tickets for the event, featuring Cyprus Rock, are $2, and may be obtained in advance from Council members or purchased at the door.

Only in its first year, the council already has a full calendar of events. Under the leadership of president Mark O'berski, they held a get acquainted coffee house in May, and in June took a bike hike to Metropolitan Beach.

The dance is the first of their events open to the public.

Later in August, the group will sponsor a trip to Pine Knob to see one of Chicago's sold out concerts.

The Council was formed to band Lochmoor teens together in order for them to make better use of the Club's facilities.

Pointers Share All-Star Thrills

By Roger A. Waha

An uncontrollable jubilation filled Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Truhan, of Aline drive, after the last out was made at the National and American League All-Star game Tuesday evening, July 23, at Three Rivers Stadium in Pittsburgh.

It wasn't only because they were in attendance, which they were, but mainly because their son-in-law, Los Angeles Dodger first baseman Steve Garvey, was named the game's most valuable player.

Their daughter, the former Cyndy Truhan, and Steve were married at Saint Joan of Arc Church in October 1971.

"It was just fantastic," exclaimed Mr. Truhan, who sat with his wife, daughter and Steve's parents during the game. "I didn't think it would be possible but I wanted to be a realist and go in by-inning. Defensively as well as offensively, no one came close to him."

"When he, (National League manager Yogi Berra of the New York Mets), put Tony Perez, (Cincinnati first sacker), in as a pinch hitter, I knew Steve was going to play longer."

Mr. Truhan admitted he wasn't the only person "emotionally strained." He said it was hard to describe the thrill of Steve's parents, (he's an only child), after watching him develop as a ball-player over the years.

"You can use your own words," stated Mr. Truhan, regarding their reaction.

Adding to this Cinderella story are two other factors. First, Steve was a write-in candidate for the All-Star game and made the starting line-up. Second, he played the game in misery.

Mr. Truhan explained about a week before the game, Steve became ill with an ear infection and missed four contests before the All-Star break. The infection spread throughout his system but by game time, through a series of antibiotic injections, Steve was able to play despite the fact he was run down.

"He wouldn't have missed the game anyway," confided Mr. Truhan.

While Steve is from Tampa, Fla., he may very well be a Pointer at heart. Mr. Truhan said Steve conducted several baseball clinics at both North and South High Schools in the fall of 1971 and in the spring of 1972. He and Cyndy also did some student teaching at South High.

Steve was signed off the MSU campus as a sophomore and has been in the Dodger organization for five years, stated Mr. Truhan. He has been with the parent club for over three years.

Cyndy and Steve met each other at MSU and went together three years before marrying. Now, the couple are expecting their first child in late September.

Still brimming with joy at Steve's All-Star game honor, Mr. Truhan recalled that three years ago, Steve broke a bone in the palm of his hand and spent three months with the family. During this period, he attended classes at Michigan State University.

At that time, Steve said, "Pa, if I can get into it, (the All-Star game), I'd be the happiest fella in the world."

Well, sports fans, meet one deserving "happy fella."

Woods Americans Sweep To State Semi-Finals

By Tom Panzenhagen

The Woods Americans, International Little League District #6 champs by virtue of their win over the Hamtramck Americans Saturday, July 27, went on to Taylor, Mich., the following Monday night and defeated District #5 champs Garden City, 7 to 1, to advance to the statewide semi-final tournament.

Paced once again by the pitching of Tim Mitchell, who struck out seven Garden City players while allowing only two hits, and second baseman John Hindle, who went four for four, including two doubles and three runs batted in, the Americans pounded out a 5 to 0 lead and coasted on to the victory.

The win placed The Woods squad into a four-team, one-game elimination playoff to be held Friday and Saturday, August 2 and 3, at the Papp Complex in Taylor, with the winner going on to play the Ohio champion August 10.

Coach Bob Arthur's team of all-stars, chosen from among the best players on the regular-season teams in The Woods Little League system, made the win over Garden City their fifth straight since the district playoffs got under way July 20 at Ghesquiere Park in The Woods.

A first round, 7-to-6 win over the Clinton Valley Americans, highlighted by a come-from-behind, six-run fourth inning rally, pushed the Americans into quarter final play on Monday, July 22.

At that time, The Woods team trounced the Mount Clemens Americans, 12 to 5, behind the winning pitching of Tim Mitchell and an all around offensive effort.

Next stop was the semi-finals, Wednesday, July 24, against the Harper Woods Americans, and again The Woods team was victorious, 5 to 3.

Trailing in the third inning of that game, John Hindle smacked a grand slam home run to put his team out in front, securing the win for pitcher Bob Brown.

Prelude to the inter-district win over Garden City was the District #6 championship game played Saturday, July 27.

At the expense of the Hamtramck American team, Tim Mitchell again accounted for the win, striking out nine batters along the way, and John Hindle went two for three, including a home run, as The Woods Americans won, 6 to 1.

That game capped off a 22-game elimination series, which saw The Woods Americans emerge as the only Grosse Pointe team to advance past first round play.

In action Saturday and Sunday, July 20 and 21, The Woods Nationals lost 10 to 1 to the Harper Woods Nationals, The Park Nationals lost 6 to 2 to the Hamtramck Nationals, The Park Americans lost 9 to 1 to the Shelby-Utica Internationals, The Farms lost 7 to 2 to the Harper Woods Americans and The City lost 10 to 3 to the Mount Clemens Americans.

In all, not one detracting incident occurred in the week-long tournament, which prompted Arthur Getz, District #6 administrator, to say, "The Grosse Pointe Woods Little League, hosts of this tournament involving 22 teams, was absolutely superb in the way they ran this event."

He went on to credit Werner F. Leuckhoff, president of the Woods-Shores Little League, as well as all the Little League fans, who turned out, he said, in astounding numbers to watch the games.

No attendance figures were as yet announced.

Mr. Getz also announced that the midwestern regional playoffs will be held at Ghesquiere Park in The Woods in mid-August.

The eventual winner will then go to Williamsport, Pa. to play for the International Little League championship, possibly against a team from Europe or Asia.

And perhaps The Woods Americans, repeat winners from last year in District #6 play but losers at the state level, will be there.

Pair to Face Sentencing

Two men who recently pled guilty to a charge of attempted larceny over $100 are scheduled to be sentenced in Wayne County Circuit Court Wednesday, August 21, Woods police reported.

Walter Joseph Cierpial, 21, of 3334 East Ferry, Detroit, and Daniel Sherwood Gibbs, 20, of 1117 Borgman, Belleville, can receive a maximum of 2 1/2 years in prison on this charge, police said.

The pair, along with John Preston Rials, 20, of 29314 Cahalan, Roseville, were nabbed on March 19 by Woods police. Rials wasn't charged in The Woods because he was being prosecuted in St. Clair Shores on a breaking and entering of an occupied dwelling charge.

Officers reported that Rials was recently sentenced in Macomb County Circuit Court to from six to 15 years in prison on the burglary charge.

The trio were arrested when Woods Officer Russell Allard stopped their auto on Mack at Manchester with one headlight illuminated. Police then found a color TV and a black and white TV, along with a record player and an AM-FM radio, inside the vehicle.

Investigation revealed these items were taken during a burglary of a St. Clair Shores home.

At the same time, officers learned that Rials was suspected of being involved in some 60-65 burglaries in The Woods, Farms, Roseville and Clinton Township. Fourteen break-ins were cleared in The Woods through the arrest of Rials while three were cleared in The Farms, 19 in Roseville and 25 in Clinton Township.

NOISY TOOLS

Though summer is a time for enjoying the outdoors, everyone should stay alert to the importance of properly safeguarding their hearing ability, officials of the Beltone Crusade for Hearing Conservation warn. Care should be exercised, for example, when using noisy outdoor tools such as power lawnmowers and power saws to avoid prolonged or continuous exposure to excessive noise levels, they add.

Vote 'Yes' on Woods Issue

Months of intensive study on the part of city officials and the Citizens Recreation Committee has culminated in the $1,980,000 Lake Front Park improvement bonding issue which Woods voters will consider in the Tuesday, August 6, primary election.

A major focal point of the proposed improvements is a new swimming pool, (aluminum or gunite), which will cost an estimated $675,000. Besides a main pool, the proposal includes diving, wading and training pools. The new pool complex is planned to be built near the park's current entrance off Jefferson avenue.

The proposal also includes asphalt paving, $175,000; concrete deck area, 87,000 square feet, $87,000; lighting, $19,200; fencing, $5,600; new bath house, 11,000 square feet, $495,000; activity center alterations, $30,000; filling in and landscaping the existing pool, $41,500; and eight new tennis courts, $92,000. The estimated construction total reaches $1,620,500.

Engineering and architectural fees, (6.4 percent), will cost $103,700; inspection, legal and administrative fees, (3.6 percent), $61,300, and construction contingency, (12 percent), $194,500.

Bonds will be payable in approximately 25 annual installments, with interest on the unpaid balance at a rate not to exceed eight percent per annum. The city estimates the annual principal and interest, (25 years at eight percent), to be $186,000.

The millage requirements for the pool total 1.1867 mills and for the tennis courts, .0618 mills, making a combined total of an additional 1.2485 mills. This amount, when added to the city's current 9.98 tax levy, would reach 11.2285 mills for this fiscal year. However, the total of future fiscal year budgets will increase proportionately.

As for the average annual cost to the taxpayers, based upon an average home in the city with a State equalized valuation of $20,000, ($40,000 market value), the pool total is $23.73 and the tennis courts, $1.24. The combined total shows an additional $24.97, according to city computations.

In considering the overall scope of the aforementioned facts and figures, the NEWS feels that passage of the proposition would benefit all Woods residents for several reasons.

* The proposed park improvements will be available for every citizen. This point is obvious but, nonetheless, deserves to be noted—no resident will be left out.

* The need for a new pool is imperative. The current pool, which has been in existence for some 20 years, has had more than its share of problems. Last year, as well as this year, it's been operating on a touch-and-go basis. It's current location has caused personnel more than their share of troubles and worry, e.g., the pressure created via a full pool combined with the lake's high water level has caused many sewage problems. Extensive repair work on the pool's bottom has been done in the past and the filtering system has been called "antiquated" by Parks and Recreation Director Donald J. Hallmann. Macomb County Department of Health inspectors cited a variety of pool deficiencies and the failure of the pool to meet numerous requirements as stipulated by law. In short, health officials recommended complete renovation or replacement. Finally, it's questionable if the "old" pool could even operate during the 1975 season.

* The city currently has a total of six tennis courts: two at Lake Front Park and four at Ghesquiere Park. With the ever increasing popularity and growth of tennis playing in the area, the eight new courts will help fill a need for more playing time for all citizens.

* The myriad other planned improvements, such as a picnic and general use area where the existing pool is currently located, plus more parking, also are "plus" factors in the overall program.

This proposition is a major first step towards an ongoing view of park improvements on the city's part. Councilman Ronald R. Keegan, chairman of the Parks and Recreation Committee, said further park improvements will be of a general nature without presently anticipated future bond issues. He stated such plans, which include potential improvements to boat facilities, a possible winter skating area and a fishing pier, primarily include the upgrading of current park facilities without adding anything new.

If voters approve the bond proposition, the next step will be the selection of an architect/engineer to prepare detailed plans and specifications. According to the city's tentative time table, this would be around Tuesday, August 20. In September, a bond attorney should complete the legal work for the bond issue with the bond issue proposal being forwarded to the Municipal Finance Commission for its approval. It's hoped such Commission approval would be given in early November to sell the bonds. Then, the city will advertise for construction bids and for bids for the sale of bonds. By the end of November construction bids should be received. The target date of December 2 has been set for receiving bids for the sale of bonds. The awarding of the construction contract and the sale of bonds is planned for the December 2 council meeting. Then, construction work would begin in January 1975.

Whether this decision is up to the electorate. It's your decision. Does not fail to make it on August 6.

A Wise Decision

In a milestone decision on Thursday, July 25, the United States Supreme Court overturned by a 5-4 decision the late Federal Judge Stephen J. Roth's decision of June 1972 ordering massive cross-district busing between Detroit and 52 suburban school districts.

At the same time, the Supreme Court returned the case to Federal District Court in Detroit with orders to find a solution to the city's school segregation problem.

It should be noted that the Supreme Court didn't completely eliminate the authority of the courts to order cross-district busing. But to do so, it must be conclusively shown that deliberate segregation existing in one district has a significant segregation effect on another. The Supreme Court said this wasn't proven in the Detroit case.

All things considered, the Supreme Court's decision, in principal, upholds the neighborhood school concept and local autonomy of schools—points which the NEWS considers most important to preserve.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, author of the majority opinion, said, "Local autonomy has long been essential both for the maintenance of community quality and support for public schools and to quality or the educational process."

The agony which massive cross-district busing would have created for both black and white children, their parents, teachers and school systems, themselves, would far outweigh any apparent positive aspects of such a plan.

Proponents of busing often stressed the need for quality education which they felt such a plan could accomplish. Quality education depends on so many factors such as intelligent and dedicated teachers, sufficient teaching equipment, good facilities, and well-motivated students, who make every effort to learn. Quality education can really be in one's own back yard, within one's own school district, if all forces thoughtfully, strongly and unselfishly drive towards that goal.

The idea of cross-district busing actually defies common sense. Families, for example, move into a certain area for many reasons including an elementary school a block away and a high school six blocks away. To cart youngsters from a school one block away to another miles down the road is asinine. The potential of totally disrupting a family's life is great. The youth, for instance, can spend hours of riding time during the period of a week, but lost; riding activities and relationships being all but lost; meanwhile, on the home front, dinner is an hour later than usual.

As for the objective of achieving a racial balance—that's like asking a weak-willed, 250-pound person to maintain a diet, without cheating, for a year's period.

The make-up of any community is, and should be, reflected in its school system. It's part of the community's identity, (for better or worse depending on your viewpoint). If it's an integrated school system because the community is integrated, fine. But if it isn't, cross-district busing won't save the ballgame—it would undoubtedly lose it. —R.A.W.

What Goes On at Your Library

By Arthur Woodford
Chief of Central Library

One very popular form of reading at our library is the biography. Be it the story of a modern playwright or of a nobleman of antiquity, this type of book has a wide and regular readership. Here are a number of biographies and autobiographies that we have added to our collection during the past several months.

GATHER TOGETHER IN MY NAME (Random House) by Maya Angelou is a successor to I KNOW WHY THE CAGED BIRD SINGS. As the second volume of Ms. Angelou's reminiscences, this will surely follow the first book onto the best seller list. Abandoned by the father of her illegitimate son, Maya was not yet 18 years of age immediately after World War II. She depicts with powerful economy the disillusionment of blacks who had hoped for a better future, rewarding jobs, the awakening of the white man's conscience. She drifted from place to place, in search of security, but always disappointed. Her story ends as she narrowly misses falling into the worst pitfall of all—drug addiction. Ms. Angelou is one of the most articulate figures in our literature and this honest, moving story of her struggles is enhanced by examples of gifted prose.

Ronald J. Fields has put together an excellent book about his grandfather, and titled it, W.C. FIELDS HIMSELF: HIS INTENDED AUTOBIOGRAPHY (Prentice-Hall). For those who were around during Fields' tenure of entertaining, this epistle will most certainly bring back a few nostalgic memories. It gives a most clarifying insight into the thoughts and wishes of a man who was destined to become one of our most respected comedians. As a particularly large bonus, the book carries some of the most hilarious radio scripts in the history of the medium; all one need do is picture W.C. delivering the lines.

Edward Kennedy Ellington, better known as "Duke," entitled his autobiography MUSIC IS MY MISTRESS (Doubleday). The book is made up of anecdotes about musicians and friends, about traveling, dining and partying. It is complete with abundant pictures of family, friends and influential people the composer—bandleader—pianist met and played with during his long and colorful life. Included as appendices are a selected discography and a useful and informative list of Ellington's compositions. Duke Ellington's talent radiated a special energy, and a magic that could only evolve from a grandiose love of life. His book, bursting with spirit, honors that great gift.

Jan Bryant Bartell was an actress, lecturer and poet. Her story is entitled SPINDRIFT: SPRAY FROM A PSYCHIC SEA and is a very different sort of autobiography. Compulsive readers of the far-out literature of "paranatural experiences" may find this posthumously published true-life account of spookiness and death in an old Greenwich Village house, a spine-chiller. Cynics will ask if Mrs. Bryant was perhaps nothing more than a hyper-imaginative neurotic. Middle-ground readers who adopt a more open view, will grant the book a certain degree of fascination. Mark Twain once lived in the old house and apparently hesitated to write down what he saw there. No matter, Mrs. Bartell saw enough, and fled to the country pouring out her breathless tale before she died.

A biography of the more traditional type is LIVINGSTONE (Putnam) by Tim Jeal. The author sees Dr. David Livingstone as a great man, but one riddled with incongruities and contradictions. A part of this work is devoted to debunking the Victorian myth that surrounded the great white hero. Livingstone apparently "failed" as a conventional missionary; making but one convert who subsequently lapsed. As an explorer, his achievements were substantial, but perhaps not more so than those of less feted characters such as Speke or Burton. He was important for his part in helping to end the slave trade in East Africa, but more significant, argues Jeal, as a theoretician, prophet and colonel politician.

The outstanding title of this group is THE WOMAN HE LOVED: THE STORY OF THE DUKE AND DUCHESS OF WINDSOR (Simon and Schuster) by Ralph G. Martin. Here is biography and history at its best. Martin's book should captivate a huge audience because his research is thorough and his style is utterly compelling. The most romantic figures of this century have been written about often, but the author of this twin biography tells, if not the full story, the most detailed, honest and appealing one so far. He has had access to firsthand sources and his account of what happened to the famous couple years before and long after the king's abdication, reveals much about those who affected and were affected by them: family, friends, lovers, adversaries and some whose roles overlapped or switched. The book's candid photos add interest to this fine memoir.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

With all the problems written today about crime, marine accidents, and scandal, I was overjoyed to find some comic relief in your "Letters to the Editor" column.

A "new member of the Grosse Pointe Community" went to great lengths to sarcastically attack the bicyclists of the Grosse Pointe Area. It is said that sarcasm is the sign of a weak mind, and this gentleman was no exception.

It appears that Mr. Creamer does not feel he should have to battle bicyclists for road space; bicyclists who have no bicycle paths to use. Bicyclists, however, since last year or so, have been granted the same rights as auto drivers. A bicyclist, when encountered on the road, should be respected like an automobile.

It appears that Mr. Creamer has always been "rudely awakened" where he is abruptly forced to slow down for bikes. Could it be that he is merely "brought back to the road" by an "unforeseen circumstance"?

This letter of July 25 unfortunately typifies the attitude of most drivers; that bicyclists are bound to surrender to the "rights" of the mighty auto driver. Bicyclists should be commended for their ecological concern, for their desire for good health, and for their desire to socialize peacefully. The recent boom in bicycle riding indicates the desire of more people for these advantages.

Auto-bike conflicts could be avoided if there was more regulation and awareness on the parts of both vehicles' drivers.

Auto drivers must be made aware of the rights, equal to their own, of the bicycle rider. Bicyclists, in turn, must be made aware of their responsibilities as vehicles with these obligations as well as rights. They must obey all stop signs and signals, as well as other regulatory signs.

Municipal control of bicyclists' violations would possibly alleviate the problem. If bicyclists were given traffic citations, they might obey the laws.

A major portion of the problem could be solved if bike paths were put in throughout the Grosse Pointe area. This, however, does not have enough support because of the cost of such an undertaking. A marked area on main thoroughfares (such as Lakeshore) would confine bicyclists to a smaller area of the road surface. St. Clair Shores now has the last system in effect on Jefferson.

All it involves is the painting of a line on the road about two feet from the curb, and the installation of some signs.

Mr. Creamer's editorial while basically overcome by ethereal nonsense, does bring out a problem that is long overdue for rectification.

Sincerely,
James L. Bidigare, Jr.

In the 1890's the automobile was considered a merely weird contraption in the United States. People then relied on railroads, bicycles and carriages to get them where they wanted to go. Of course, we should also remember that in those days there was probably less than 200 miles of paved road adequate to support a horseless carriage, in the whole country. The Duryea brothers, Frank and Charles, designed the first car in the United States in the year 1893. The carburetor in this early model was constructed from a perfume atomizer and an alcohol burner.

From Another Pointe of View

By Janet Mueller

It's like giving a kid the key to a candy store. You lift up the garage door and lo!—there are boxes and piles and stacks of books, jumbled and tumbled and heaped together. It's browsers' heaven, and heaven knows I'm a browser.

I am at one of the Collection Centers for the Grosse Pointe Branch of the American Association of University Women's 1974 Used Book Sale.

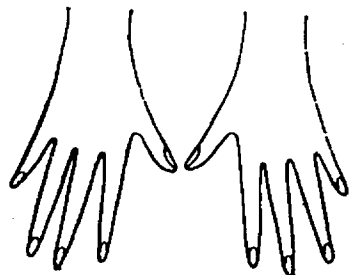

The Sale's not set 'til fall, of course, when everyone will be home, cottages closed, kids back in school, but pick-up and drop-off and marking go on all summer long. They have to. The Sale lasts several days. Book turnover is in the thousands, not to mention magazine and record turnover. Not to mention sheet music and games.

It would take an army to pick-up and sort and price every AAUW Used Book "thing" in an autumn week or two.

A Summer-Long Assignment

I, being a nice lady, have brought my books-to-give, three boxes full, to the Collection Center where I'm to meet Emma (Mrs. Alan) Wright, Collection chairwoman, who'll fill me in on how pick-up is going so far.

'Virginia Woolf' Opens August 6

Performances Scheduled Tuesday through Saturday in Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Fries Auditorium; Pre-Theatre Buffets Offered

For the first time in five years the Grosse Pointe Theatre is presenting a summer show, and Gwenn (Mrs. Ronald) Samuel, of Moran road, member of the Theatre's publicity staff, author of its program notes—"I also sweep the floor, if pressed"—dropped by the NEWS office to talk about it.

The play is Edward Albee's "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" It's a departure from Grosse Pointe Theatre's usual fare, which tends towards the conservative, the safe, the uncontroversial.

Which is NOT to say the dull... Grosse Pointe Theatre productions are consistently excellent and exciting, playing to sell-out Fries Auditorium houses.

But the Theatre's board of directors decided, because of a growingly sophisticated audience in Grosse Pointe and the surrounding community, that there is a place in its program for more current, experimental drama.

In her research on Albee for the "Virginia Woolf" program, Gwenn became fascinated by Albee's idea of theatre—that it has a responsibility, not to pat people on the back, not to explore the "now," but to make people think of what could be, what should be... what is wrong and what could be made right...

As a "think piece" or as just plain theatre, "Virginia Woolf" is a fantastic experience.

The play, not part of Grosse Pointe Theatre's regular subscription series, opens next Tuesday, August 6, and will run through Saturday, August 10, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Fries Auditorium.

Tickets for all performances are $3. They are available through the Theatre's ticket office, 881-4004, and Hudson's ticket offices. Since the production is experimental, not part of Grosse Pointe Theatre's regular series, all profits will be given to charity.

The War Memorial is sponsoring pre-Theatre buffets in its Crystal Ballroom Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings, at $7 per person, by reservation only.

Appearing as George, the middle-aged professor, in "Virginia Woolf" is Harry Albertson, who captured three awards at Grosse Pointe Theatre's Awards Night this year. Joyce Schulteis, who plays Martha, George's wife, is the newly-elected president of the Community Theatre Association of Michigan.

In the roles of Nick and Honey, the young professor and his wife, are Carol Pur-

Cornillie-Rybinski Rites Celebrated

Reception at Roostertail's Palm River Club Follows Noon Rites in Grosse Pointe Academy's Sacred Heart Chapel

Candace Ann Rybinski, daughter of the William P. Rybinskis, of Whittier road, was married at a noon ceremony Saturday, June 22, in the Grosse Pointe Academy's Sacred Heart Chapel to Ensign Daniel Joseph Cornillie, United States Coast Guard.

The Reverend Peter Vanderlinden, of Harsens Island, assisted by Thomas and Gary Cornillie, the bridegroom's brothers, presided at the rites which were followed by a reception in The Roostertail's Palm River Club.

Peau d'ange lace appliques accented the bride's sleeveless gown of white silk organza ending in a lace-edged circular train. Pastel pink ribbon circled her waist.

Her fingertip tulle veil fell from a cap of matching lace over pink ribbon and she carried an arrangement of white roses and baby's-breath.

Honor maid Mary-Louise Rybinski, the bride's only sister, and bridesmaid Catherine Cornillie, sister of the bridegroom, wore floor length, sleeveless frocks of pink voile, ruffled at their sleeves and necklines, and halos of fresh pink daisies in their hair.

Each carried a Colonial arrangement of white roses, pink daisies and purple statice.

Flower girls Mary Jean and Margaret Cornillie, sisters of the bridegroom, wore dresses of white dotted swiss over pink taffeta and small pink floral halos. They carried baskets filled with pink rose petals.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Cornillie, of University place, wore the traditional dress white uniform of the Coast Guard.

First Lieutenant Daniel Schapp, USAF, of Holland, Mich., was best man. Ushers were Joseph, Mark and Timothy Cornillie, the bridegroom's brothers.

The bride's mother wore a long-sleeved pale peach sheath. Her corsage was a cymbidium orchid. The bridegroom's mother selected a blue, long-sleeved Empire gown and a corsage of white roses and ivy.

Here are a few rules for hairstyles; don't let your hair droop aimlessly about your face — it may look just plain uninteresting. Don't try a pageboy cut if you are more than forty. A knot of hair on the back of your neck can add years to your appearance. If you have classic features, have a smart cut and a slight permanent, and wear your hair brushed lightly back from your face. Shaping and a wave can make it look smart and sophisticated.

If you are looking for a new hairdo to suit your features and face, let the experienced beauticians at GROSSE POINTE COIFFURES, 20127 Mack Ave. 881-2090, be of assistance to you. Ask for SILVANA, TERRI, JILL, or HAZEL — any one of them is fully qualified to do excellent work. We are moderately priced, so don't let the decor of our beautiful salon scare you away.

Douglas Cordiers Married June 1

Garden Reception Follows Noon Rites At Grosse Pointe Academy Chapel; Couple Is At Home In Detroit Following Ontario Honeymoon

Exchanging marriage vows in a noon ceremony Saturday, June 1, in the Grosse Pointe Academy Chapel were Mary Elizabeth Bass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Bass of Manchester boulevard, and Douglas Anderson Cordier, son of the Carl F. Cordiers of Moross road.

Father Donald MacLennan and the Reverend Perry Thomas presided at the rites which were followed by a garden reception at the Lakeshore road carriage house of friends of the couple, Robert Schaltenbrand and Stephen Smith.

Her silk illusion veil was crowned with a band of fresh roses, stephanotis and baby's breath and she carried a bouquet composed of the same flowers.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Stuart G. Butler, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. John Lewis, Mrs. Charles Knost, of Williamston, Mi., and Mary Elizabeth Cordier, sister of the bridegroom.

They were dressed in identical bright green voile gowns patterned with spring flowers and trimmed with white collars. They wore large, brimmed white hats and carried presentation bouquets of pink roses.

Mr. Cordier asked William Nolan, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., to act as best man. In the usher corps were David Hulme, of Kettering, O., Timothy Sinclair and Douglas Allardice.

After a honeymoon trip to Manitoulin Island, Ont., the couple will reside in Detroit. After finishing teaching responsibilities they plan a five-week camping trip to California and the Grand Teton Mountains.

From Another Pointe of View

We meet at Betty Bacon's garage, one of four serving as local storing/sorting/pricing headquarters. It's the heavenly mess I've tried to describe in my first paragraph.

Emma has arrived first and unloaded. Her station wagon now contains a mass of empty cartons and three young Wrights: Lucas, Nancy and Marcia. Scott, the oldest, isn't along this trip.

Lucas, Nancy and Marcia have helped mother unload. If you're going to be an AAUW Used Book Sale Collection chairwoman, it doesn't hurt to have a few willing children with strong backs, (Scott's super), and an understanding husband. If, like Mr. Wright, your husband happens to have access to a pick-up truck, so, when the load gets unbearable, you don't just sit down beside your station wagon and cry—you're in business.

The Mechanics Of Pick-Up

Emma's the lady to call if you live south of Seven Mile (Moross) road and you want to donate books, (et al.). Her number is 885-8619. She may come over to pick them up herself, or she may call one of her collectors to make the run.

The collector will drop your donation off at Emma's. When Emma has enough books to make a Collection Center run, she'll pile books and kids into her station wagon and head for the storing/sorting/marketing depot.

If you live north of Seven Mile road—in the far part of the Farms, the Shores or the Woods—call Pauline (Mrs. Alexander) McNeill, 882-8600, for pick-up. Colin and Allison are Mother McNeill's helpers, and Mr. McNeill is equally as understanding as Mr. Wright.

Sorting And Marking

Once or twice a week a corps of sorters-and-pricers descends on each Collection Center. In Betty

Do you think I should let Judy get into a mess like this?

You have to know Judy. She's special . . . and I'm not saying that just because she's my wife . . . a lot of people think so. She's pretty and a great mother to our four kids, and all those good things.

But there's something extra . . . she really gets a big kick out of helping people. It started a long time ago.

She always wanted to be a lawyer, ever since she was a little girl. About a dozen years ago she got her degree and she hasn't stopped helping people since.

Five years ago she found herself really involved in Juvenile Court. The court appointed her to defend kids and families in trouble . . . kids who had no homes, and that sort of thing. I've seen her in court on five different cases in one day.

I knew she loved what she was doing . . . but she'd get angry too. Angry at all the things that are wrong. Judy complained about people who weren't getting a decent break, how the court was hampered by archaic laws, and how many decisions didn't really do any good.

She said: "Last year there were more than 8,000 kids in Juvenile Court and there was only one Probate Judge to oversee the whole thing." Then she'd get discouraged because half the delinquent kids who were sentenced were right back in court, most within a year.

Some of the stories she tells are really ugly. Recently the Wayne County Commissioners voted to pay the salary of two additional Probate Judges and assign them to Juvenile. Judy says that will help a lot . . . if we can get the right kind of judges. She got so enthusiastic about it, she decided to run.

What would you do? Sure, I encouraged her and helped her, and the whole family pitched in to get her elected.

Why? Well I know she will make a great judge, and she's one of the most qualified of any of the people running. In fact, she's one of only six candidates who has had experience with the Juvenile Court. Four of 'em just want to be a judge . . . and that's not Judy's style at all.

So I'm asking you . . . do you think Judy should get in this mess? You can tell me on August 6th, that's when the primary is held. If you want Judy to help these people . . . and they really do need help . . . then look at the bottom of the ballot under "Probate Judges" and put an X before her name . . . JUDITH STEFANI SABLES.

I'm going to vote for her and I'll tell you why. One day when she was telling me about some of the things going on, and how she wants to change them, I said: "Hey, you can't change the world." And she said: "No, but I think I can save some kids!"

And she will too!

Thanks,
Ron Sables

DREAM HOUSE — beautifully decorated, move in condition, all appliances and carpet included. Two bedrooms, professionally finished rec. rm., large living rm. with fireplace. 2 car garage, large patio and gas grill for balmy evenings and outdoor cooking. If two bedrooms will suffice—you'll agree that $32,500 is a bargain for this one.

If you're considering around $15,000 down you might appreciate purchasing a plus flat and getting more for your money than you might dream possible. Many people are beginning to realize the value of owning and living in their own investment for the future. The asking price $68,800 means that your half is only $33,400. This is a lot of home for so little money. The flat is large, 3 br., 2 ba., fam. rm., DR., Kit., all rooms oversized. Its like buying a $30,000 house and growing equity in a $70,000 house. Smart investors have known this for years now!

GROSSE POINTE FOUNDATION FOR EXCEPTIONAL CHILDREN DRIVER LOUIS FERDINAND

By Janet Mueller

Louie made it to his retirement party after all, for, after all, he wasn't going to let a little thing like a broken hip, suffered on-the-job, stop him from saying goodbye to all his friends and fellow workers. And, after 16 years as an engineer, working nights at the Grosse Pointe Public Schools' Administration Building, he was looking forward to that party.

So Louie, who'd been operated on on Tuesday, talked to his doctors at Bon Secours, and the doctors said okay, for a few hours he could be "sprung," (but be sure to come back, Louie!), and Mel Ferdinand came to pick his father up . . . and the Saturday after his operation Louie made it, as planned, to the Grosse Pointe Board of Education's annual party for employees who retire at the close of each school year.

Did they clap when he came in?

You bet they did!

Just try to keep a good man like Louis Ferdinand down!

Unwelcome Retirement

He'd just as soon not have retired from his job with the School Board. "Maybe," he says, "if I were still with Hudson Motor Car Company, I'd be glad to leave."

He was a Hudson worker 30 years before moving over to the Grosse Pointe Public Schools' Administration Building. He's enjoyed every one of his Administration Building years, and rather resents the Public Schools' mandatory retirement policy. If you're healthy, and happy, and want to work, why shouldn't you be allowed — encouraged! — to stay on the job, no matter what your age?

But rules are rules, and Louis Ferdinand recognizes the necessity for rules, (although some of them really ought to be changed), and, fortunately, the Grosse Pointe Foundation for Exceptional Children doesn't like to let a good man get away.

Louie has been the Foundation's station wagon driver for 16 years.

Still The Driver

He may be benched for the season, but he's still the Foundation's driver.

"I'll definitely be back," he says. "I couldn't leave those kids."

He took the job on a temporary basis, for a year, to make a little extra money. He got it through his School Board job. The head of Pupil Personnel's son, who had been driving for the Foundation during the summer, was going back to college, leaving an FEC driver vacancy.

The head of Pupil Personnel asked Louie if he'd be interested in a part-time job. Sure, said Louie, if it's okay with the Board powers-that-be. Sure, said the Board powers-that-be, if it doesn't interfere with Mr. Ferdinand's regular work.

Louie, on duty at the Administration Building afternoons then, allowed that it would fit in with his schedule just fine.

A little later, offered a day job at the High School, he turned it down because he preferred to work nights, and arranged his night schedule so he'd be free to drive for the Foundation.

He went to work at 1 in the morning, worked until 7:30, then went to pick up the FEC children. He was back at the Administration Building at 9:30, worked until 11, went home, maybe did a little grocery shopping, then reported back to the Foundation to drive the children home.

16 Years So Far

Mr. Ferdinand's "temporary part-time job" has lasted 16 years. So far.

"I got attached to those kids," is how Louie explains it. And the kids got attached to Louie, who buckled each one into and out of a seat belt twice a day, who carried school bags, zipped up snow-suit jackets, who laughed, joked, hugged.

His love showed. The kids glowed.

He carried some of his passengers on and off the station wagon. He rejoiced when, for one of his children, carrying became no longer necessary.

"When you see a child brought to the Foundation for the first time, and he can't walk . . . and you see him about a year later, and he's walking — you know that these, (the Foundation), people are doing something wonderful."

Together All The Way

Those of Louie's kids who can talk call him by name. Some can't, but Louie laughs and hugs and lets love show with all of them. He has one boy, 21 now, who's been his passenger the whole 16 years he's been driving.

Sometimes, people who don't understand make Louie mad. He'll be at the wheel, stopped for a red light, and someone in the car next to him will roll down a window and shout, "Let me see some of those smart kids you have in the wagon!"

Sometimes, people turn out to be wonderful. Louie recalls stopping for gas in the middle of the Energy Crisis when stations were rationing their supplies, giving out only $2 worth of fuel at a time. The station attendant noticed the lettering on the wagon's side and asked what the "Foundation for Exceptional Children" was all about. Louie told him — and drove away with a full tank of gas.

Never Looks Back

Mr. Ferdinand, born in Belgium, came to the United States in August, 1920. He's never looked back. Florida and California seem to him pretty good places to vacation, but a sentimental journey home across the Atlantic . . . ? Whatever for?

"I like it here."

Louis and his wife Grace, a native Detroit, (her father was born in Warren), have lived in their pleasant home in green and quiet Beaufait road, Harper Woods, just across the border from Grosse Pointe, 25 years.

Four of their five children are married now, and there are plenty of Ferdinand grandchildren. Joseph, the youngest son, works in IBM at Blue Cross. He's the one who isn't married.

Mel is part-owner of Salem Square on-the-Hill. Marilyn, Mel's twin sister, is a housewife. Larry is an IBM supervisor with the J. L. Hudson Company, and the oldest boy, Richard, is a psychiatric administrator at the Mayo Clinic.

No Time for Hobbies

Louie never had time for whiling-away-the-time hobbies. He never had time to while away. "All I do is work," he says, but smiles when he says it: for Mr. Ferdinand, the past 16 years of work have been a pleasure.

He has his garden, and he's made it beautiful. Daisy, an all-American 57-variety family dog, shares the Beaufait home with Louis and Grace.

But Louie has always been an active man, and he finds it difficult to be housebound now. Fortunately, he's not in a cast. He can make it outside to sit and read. And Grace finds odd jobs here and there. "He does the dishes for me a lot," she says, with a twinkle in her eye. It's nice to have a man around the house.

The accident was one of those silly, fluke things that never should have happened — but did.

How It Happened

It was the end of May. It was 5 o'clock in the morning. Louie was all alone in the Administration Building. The retirement party was coming up, and he'd made up his mind not to get at the floor of the upstairs room where the party was to be held until after the party was over, but somebody had spilled coke on the floor, and the floor was sticky, and Louie thought, "Why not?"

So he went and got a mop, and came back, and went to work on the floor, and . . .

And there was Louie, sitting on the floor, feeling rather foolish.

He knew he was hurt. He didn't know he was broken.

He did know he'd never drive the Foundation station wagon that day. Being Louie, he didn't want to be a bother.

He managed to put everything back in place. He even dumped the water out of the mop-up pail. Then he eased his way, sitting down and holding his leg, step by step down the stairs, and made it to the telephone so he could call Dorothy Martens at the Foundation, and tell her he wouldn't be able to drive that morning.

No Trouble Maker

Dorothy wanted to call the police. Louie wouldn't let her. Somebody would be in soon, he explained: he didn't want to cause any special trouble.

Dorothy, reluctantly, let him be.

Using a small three-rung stepladder as a crutch, Louie opened doors so the telephone operators who come in early to make teacher replacement calls, could get in to do their work. Then he sat down to wait for the first day-shifters.

"There's one woman from payroll who comes in at 6. She wanted to take me to the hospital, but I said, 'No, there's a fellow coming in soon; let's wait for him.'"

Finally, when Louie was sure his going wouldn't bother anybody, he permitted himself to be taken to Bon Secours where, much to his surprise — he thought he had a bad sprain, a few pulled ligaments, maybe — he discovered he'd broken his hip and would have to have an operation.

Pleased with Doctor

Louie wasn't happy about that. Who would be? Then he learned that Dr. Day, who'd done such a fine job with young Joe Ferdinand when Joe had polio, would be doing the operating. Louie felt better.

He came through the operation with flying colors. He never doubted he would.

From Another Pointe of View

Bacon's garage unsorted books are heaped in the middle, priced-and-sorted ones around the sides, under classification signs.

"Fine Arts" go in one section, "Youth/Children" in another, "Mysteries," (yummy!), in another, "Fiction" in another, "Biographies" in another, "Texts"—not more than 10 years old, please—in another, "Non-Fiction" in another, "Religion/Philosophy" in another . . .

The bargains are fantastic. Browsing—I couldn't resist; actually, this whole article is an excuse to get me into a Collection Center so I can book-browse to my heart's content—I came across "A Treasury of American Folklore," full of stories and ballads, for $1, a copy of John Updike's "Couples" for $2, "Crime and Punishment" for 50 cents . . .

A Bit Of Browsing

I wouldn't go near the paperbacks, (I would have been there all day), but I did take a peek at a few unsorted cartons. Unsorted cartons of anything fascinate me. Especially unsorted cartons of books.

Imagine the house whose bookshelves contained a 1902 edition "Book of Famous Fairy Tales" illustrated with charming line drawings AND "The Foundations of Leninism" by Joseph Stalin AND "The Facts of Life and Love for Teen Ageds." They all came in the same carton, donated by the same person. Imagine that person.

Still browsing, I discovered a note taped to one of the sorting tables. "To The Search Service: If you come across the 'Life of Washington, Vol. I, that goes with the one you found . . ."

Return Of The Key

After browsing away the morning, I dropped off the Collection Center garage key at Emma Wright's house. Emma, who had had to see about a shock absorber and couldn't spend the whole morning browsing, had kindly left me the key and left me alone.

Emma understands.

She's a Garage Sale addict herself. She's felt the treasure-hunter's thrill when an AAUW Used Book Sale pickup takes her into a musty, dusty attic, and the books are all jumbled and tumbled and heaped together . . .

"But we love it when people have them all ready for us, packed in cartons," she cautions. Treasure-hunting isn't something one can do every day—and do anything else.

It's a treat.

Like browsing through a Grosse Pointe Branch of the American Association of University Women's Used Book Sale Collection Center on a bright, beautiful midsummer morning.

I hated to go back to the office.

He came through the biggest Bon Secours booster in town. "I spent 16 days in that hospital. They were really wonderful. I hear people complain about hospitals, but by god! — that was a nice place!"

He was delighted to receive his first get-well card. And his second. And his third . . .

"I have about 200 cards, and I'm still getting them," Louie marvels. It never occurred to him that so many people would be concerned about the welfare of Louis Ferdinand.

"Some people said, when they heard about it, they cried." More marveling. Honest amazement. Louie's terribly pleased that so many people are concerned about the welfare of Louis Ferdinand, are wondering how he's getting on, but, not wanting to be a bother, he'd like to tell them all there's no cause to really worry any more.

He's mending.

He'll be back behind the wheel of the Foundation for Exceptional Children station wagon as soon as he can.

Carl's Corner

The drive from Toledo to Detroit on I-75 is an absolute disgrace . . . leaving all the other states with their neatly cut medians and clean roads. From the time you leave Toledo, the highway looks like a garbage pit. Rank weeds 3 feet high, old mufflers, exhaust pipes and old tires litter the road for 50 miles. It makes you want to throw up! WHY? WHY? WHY?

SELLING YOUR HOME?

There's a local firm called Grosse Pointe Real Estate Co. that has come up with a new idea in selling homes. If successful, it could change their industry in Grosse Pointe considerably. It's called GROUP LISTING, which means they will immediately purchase your home, at your asking price, once you have listed with them. The one circumstance, they say, is that they must have a group of five similar homes before their plan takes effect. Once achieved, they buy all five houses simultaneously. They say it's easier to sell five homes in a group because it's easier on the buyer and much easier to promote. For more information you can call Grosse Pointe Real Estate Co., 882-0087, direct.
