TWO NURSES under suspicion for months were charged in a 60-count Federal indictment Wednesday with murdering and poisoning 15 patients at the Ann Arbor Veterans Administration Hospital last summer.
Filippa B. Nareiso, 30, of Ypsilanti, and Leonard M.
Perex, 31, a former Ann Arbor resident, were arrested by FBI agents late Wednesday after a 10-month investigation into the mass killings. The arrests came shortly after a Federal grand jury in Detroit returned the indictments, charging the women with murdering five patients and poisoning 10 others, all by injecting a potentially lethal drug into their medication.

REP. WAYNE HAYS, enrolled in a congressional sex scandal, has told House leaders he will resign his chairmanship of the administration committee on Friday.
Monday, sources close to the leadership said Thursday night. The Ohio Democrat, who's recuperating in a Barnesville, O., hospital from an overdose of sleeping pills, also has indicated to congressional colleagues that he will soon announce plans not to run in November for his 15th two-year term.

POLICE FIRED automatic weapons into black mobs Friday in the third day of race riots which spread to the ring of mining and industrial towns surrounding Johannesburg, touching the city's exclusive white suburbs. Blacks burned the University of Zululand headquarters to the ground and attacked the homes of white teachers. Rioters set stores on fire in Soweto, where the anti-government protests flared.
Unofficial reports said at least 101 were dead and more than 1,000 were injured.

MAN MOVED A GIANT
step closer to the first search for life on another planet as the unmanned American Viking spaceship rocketed into orbit around Mars Saturday at 11:05 a.m. All that was left of the ship was a small, red planet July 4 as part of the nation's Bicentennial celebration and, a few days later, it began a search for microscopic life forms. After an 11-month, 440-million mile loop-ing journey around the sun, the small rocket fired 38 minutes Saturday to slow its speed so Viking could be captured by the Mars gravity and go into orbit around the CANADIAN AIRLINE pilots walked off their jobs Sunday, contending that air safety conditions are deteriorating because of a dispute over the use of the French language in air traffic control operations. The walkout at 3 a.m. halted all domestic service in Canada and flight to and from the U.S. by the two major airlines affected, Air Canada and CP Air, announced they were seeking injunctions to halt the walkout as soon as possible.

THE SHOWDOWN election in Italy this past week ended in a plurality victory of the Italian Christian Democrats despite speculation that the strong Italian Communist Party might garner enough votes to become a participant in a coalition government. Because of the many parties in Italy, the Christian Democrats won election with a 38 percent of the vote, while the Communist got 33.8 percent. In previous coalition governments,

New Eagle Scouts Welcomed by Troop 96

Four new Eagle Scouts were cited at a Court of Honor held earlier this month by Boy Scout Troop 96, sponsored by Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. Participating in the event were, (from left to right), new Eagles CHRISTOPHER POWELL and ANDREW RICHNER; Scoutmaster CHARLES W. DONOVAN, who also was honored; new Eagles DANIL RIDDLE and ROSS MURRAY; and senior patrol leader BRAD MURRAY. (See story, Page 6).

City Seeks Funds for Planning

New Commission Okays Application for HUD Monies in Amount of $23,300
By Susan McDonald
The newly formed Grosse Pointe City Planning Commission met early this month to approve an application for Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), planning funds as its first official act.
The application, prepared by City Planning consultant Brandon Rogers, totals $23,300 on a system of matching funds. The City would provide $4,000 cash. $4,000 in services and about $15,000 would come from the Federal Government.
Last year, The City received $22,900 from the program for preparation of a master plan. City Manager Thomas Kressbach said that plan will be aired in one or more public hearings later in the summer.
To Implement Projects
The main thrust of this year's application will be toward implementation of projects developed with last year's grant money.
Included would be work to identify housing policies and procedures in line with an already established neighborhood improvement program.
The application also provides for a review of the City's zoning ordinances, which were last updated in 1967, and an updating of its capital improvement programs and subdivision regulations.

sistance Grant program was

Woods Studies Proposal To Reconstruct Senior Citizens Commission

Administrative Aide McNamara Suggests Group Become Part of City by Ordinance, That All Who Serve Not Necessarily Be Older Residents
By Roger A. Wahn
A proposal for the reconstruction of the Senior Citizens Commission will be explored by The Woods Council over the next few weeks as the council unanimously referred this matter to the Committee of the Whole, (C-W), for further study. This action was taken at the regular meeting Monday, June 7.
The situation regarding the proposal, which came from Administrative Aide Gerard McNamara, was termed "in-limbo" at this point by Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos. "I want to talk to senior citizens, the administration and the council and try to put the whole thing together regarding the council agreeing on an end result," he stated.
Mr. Pinkos indicated this subject would be discussed by the C-W at its scheduled meeting Monday, June 28.
SHU Need Group
The Senior Citizens Commission created around two years ago, has acted as an advisory group to the council in relation to matters affecting seniors. Under the guidance of Chairman Irene Sutton, it has been an active organization on both the city and social levels, (members are involved in the city's senior citizens group which meets twice a month at North High School).
However, four commission members have resigned within the last month, (the group now has five members), and there also has been some communication problems between city officials in relation to the commission and seniors' needs in general and between the city and the commission, itself, (acknowledged by sources on both sides).

Group Airs Concerns On Traffic

Citizens Complain to Farms Council About Misuse of Vehicles on Two Thoroughfares
By Tom Greenwood
It was standing room only at The Farms city hall Monday night, June 21, as about 60 residents of Maitson and Roland roads, near Mack avenue, jammed city offices during the regular meeting of The Farms Council.
The citizens were there to complain about the misuse of Maitson and Roland roads by speeding non-local traffic. The council received a petition bearing 94 signatures requesting the officials to eliminate the traffic congestion on the affected streets.
Another petition, bearing 89 signatures, was received asking for the adoption of measures which would prevent the use of Maitson and Roland roads as a by-pass for the Mack avenue-Moross road intersection, the parking of commercial vehicles
on the streets and the closing of Maitson road at Mack.
Trio Abent
The petitioning citizens were represented by Alexander Buchanan, of Roland road. Before he addressed the council, Mr. Buchanan was informed by Farms Mayor James Dismann that "no real action" could be taken that night because three members of the six man council were absent.
Councilman Jack Cudlip, Councilwoman Nancy Wangaman and Mayor Pro-Tem James Mast had been excused from the meeting because of business demands.
Armed with maps, photos and diagrams, Mr. Buchanan explained the situation to the council. "We are not here to fight city hall," he began.
"We are here because we are afraid for our children, families and property. We want to present our problems to the council and see if we can boil them out a solution."
Mr. Buchanan explained that high-speed, non-local traffic uses Maitson and Roland roads to by-pass the congested intersection of Mack and Moross. He also explained that many trucks and other commercial vehicles park or stand on the streets, while waiting to deliver their goods to businesses located on Mack.
Gives Them Back
"There are 'no parking' signs posted all over the area," he said, "but they're useless, since the truckers just ignore them." He further stated that the trucks block private block private driveways and cause littering problems.

Farms Chief Cites Two Girls

The Farms Police Department has sent a letter of commendation to Mary Beth Corbett, 11, of Kerby road, and Karen Pawlowski, 11, of Ridgmont road, for the aid they rendered police in recovering a stolen 10-speed bicycle.
According to Police Chief Robert K. Ferber, the two young heroines reported seeing a 10-speed bike hidden in the bushes near The Farms Water Filtration Plant and immediately called the department.
After being told the bike was stolen, and that all Farms police units were busy, the two girls volunteered to bring the stolen bike to its rightful and grateful owner.
"Inasmuch as The Farms
suffers an annual loss of $15,000 in unrecovered stolen bicycles, it is only through the actions of persons such as yourselves that these losses will be reduced," said Chief Ferber.
He added that a copy of his letter of commendation would be referred to the Grosse Pointe Lawyers Wives Association to consider the pair as candidates for the pair's May 1977 Law Day Award.

Valuable Torch Taken From Statue at ULS Fair

A torch was taken from a wooden Statue of Liberty, which dates back to the 1880's, during University Lights and Shells Show, reported Woods police, who learned of the incident Monday morning, June 14.
The seven-foot statue, on loan from an anonymous donor, reportedly has great historical value and great officials are anxious to have the torch returned. It was described as around two feet in length, of black painted wood and containing a metal burner on top.

the torch), part of "our heri-

Educators View Performance Of Dr. Adams

All Agree He Had Strong Impact As Superintendent;
A Major Thrust of His Administration, Attempt to Standardize Curriculum, Policies, Draws Some Criticism
By Susan McDonald
Whether they thought he was "the most able administrator Grosse Pointe schools ever had," or considered his methods "high handed and destructive," few in the system here will deny that Dr.
James A. Adams had a strong impact as superintendent of schools.

Although he readily admits that his two-year tenure was "really not long enough to get the job done," there is no doubt that the system has seen significant changes during that short time.
Central office organization has been streamlined at a significant savings of money and labor. The system's accounting system was, for the first time, computerized.
In the area of public relations, thought by many to be Dr. Adams' strongest talent, dozens of parent-study committees were established to facilitate state community-school communications.
A Main Thrust
One of the major thrusts of his administration, and probably the most controversial, was his attempt to standardize curriculum and policies throughout the schools.
Dr. Adams often explained it, when he came to Grosse Pointe in the summer of 1974 he found a "system of schools." When he resigned to take over the Winston-Salem, N.C., district, he hoped he left behind a "school system."

His effort at systemization took the form of dozens of curriculum, scope and sequence guides, their thousands of pages defining goals, methods and specific programs for kindergarten, English, math, art, music and social studies programs.
They were backed up by a petition bearing 94 signatures requesting the officials to eliminate the traffic congestion on the affected streets.
Another petition, bearing 89 signatures, was received
asking for the adoption of
measures which would prevent the use of Maitson and

for the Mack avenue-Moross
road intersection, the parking of commercial vehicles
on the streets and the clos-

GPW Church Plans Display

In keeping with the "Happy Birthday America" theme,
the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, 19500 Mack avenue, invites citizens participating in the city day Bicentennial Festival at Ghesquiere Park to visit a presentation of its own.
A historical display of "America Through The Years" will be on view Monday, July 5, between 1-4 p.m.
Light refreshments will be available.
Members urge residents to take a break from the festival across Mack avenue and pay the church a visit.
Views Litigation
Mr. West described the Justice Department reply to his letter as "unresponsive." He said he sent out a second letter on Friday, June 18, in hope of clarifying the issue further.
Mr. West would not specifically describe what information he requested in the second letter, saying that "this matter could involve the district in potential rather serious litigation."
He did say he was directing his inquiry into the jurisdictional aspects of the investigation—if it is based on alleged "pattern and practice" discrimination or on a specific employment complaint filed with the Equal

Dr. Coats Comes from Kalamazoo

Administrator Will Assume Post in Late Summer on Full Time Basis
By Susan McDonald
The new superintendent of Grosse Pointe schools, Dr. William Coats, introduced himself to a group of top school administrators Friday, June 18, as a tough negotiator and strong administrator, who will come to The Pointe with no predispositions about what needs to be done.
Dr. Coats will assume his post here later in the summer on a full time basis. He is replacing Dr. James A.
Adams, who left for a position as head of the Winston-Salem, N.C., school district on Tuesday, June 15.

In the meantime, Dr. Coats will be splitting his time between The Pointe and

DR. WILLIAM COATS Kalamazoo, where he has been superintendent of schools since 1972.

Taught in Pointe A former math teacher and coach in Grosse Pointe, Dr.
Coats, 37, received his PhD in 1966 from the University of Michigan, specializing in board design and data analysis in education.
Before teaching in The Pointe in 1962, he spent one year in the math department at Lenoir-Rhyne College. He taught in the College of Education at Western Michigan University from 1966-72 while serving as president of Educational Systems Technology, Inc., in Kalamazoo.

He is a native of Lima, O., and received his BA degree from Ohio University, graduating Cum Laude.
Board of Education president Joan Hannerter said Dr.
Coats was picked for the job from a field of 141 applicants from across the nation.
"We were looking for a dynamic educational leader and a good manager-administrator in a superintendent," she said.
Board secretary Melissa Maghiesse added "We had two years of a dynamic administration and we wanted

Performance of Dr. Adams Discussed

programs was necessary after a decade of a rather weak central administration, Dr. Adams' methods and the direction of his efforts have caused considerable dissension among the ranks of teachers and administrators alike.

Parcells Middle School principal Morris Hanzek was one who thought the standardization went too far.

"There is no question that we needed strong leadership in this direction," he explains, "and Jim Adams succeeded in pulling things together as he should have."

"But I am not one who believes that each and every school has to be the same. Individuality in programs is important if an administrator is to see that all his teachers' talents are used to the fullest."

Another administrator, who preferred his name not be used, went even further, calling Dr. Adams' methods "high handed" and ultimately bad for the system.

Had Board's Support

The thing that has made this school system so unique for years is that the imagination and creativity of teachers was allowed to flourish in the classroom. They were able to experiment and learn, without being hamstrung by excessive rules and regulations.

"Maybe that was carried a bit too far in the past, but now we're at the point that everything is so standardized everyone feels they must check a book before they open their mouths."

Dr. Adams disagreed that his program destroyed anyone's creativity. "We were simply trying to establish common threads and goals. If anyone was stifled it certainly was not because of anything that was done here at central offices," he said.

No matter how much negative reaction there was to his efforts, there's no question that Dr. Adams did have the full support of the Board of Education in his efforts to "tighten up the system."

Trustee John Bruce explained, "We felt we needed to get a handle on just how well some of these programs were working and how to improve them. But how do you do that if every school is teaching a different thing?"

Explains Resentment
Board president Joan Hanpeter acknowledged there was resentment of the policy, but said she thinks that this is what the community wants in a way of reassurance that their kids will at least get the basics in an education.

"There is always the danger of stifling the creativity of some with a program like this. But there is a greater danger of not knowing what is going on in those classrooms."

Some of the teacher resentment, she explained, originated with the fact that more pressure in terms of performance was placed on the teachers once they started evaluating and examining certain programs.

"I'm sure a few feathers were ruffled, but that is always going to happen when you have a dynamic man at the top," she said.

Dr. Adams also drew some criticism for his sudden departure, announced less than two weeks before the first millage election in March and requiring the Board to break his contract.

In Good Shape
Board trustee Lee Allen said that although "Dr. Adams has been a fine and able administrator and Grosse Pointe has been fortunate to have his services, it is a costly and disruptive procedure to seek and install a new administrator after only two years."

"I regret that the ethical standards of this profession accept the placing of personal advantage above personal commitments."

Nevertheless, Dr. Adams felt he was leaving the system in good shape, especially since the second round of millage propositions was approved by voters the day before he left.

He said he considers The Pointe School System one of the 10 best in the nation, but that its citizens also face some tough decisions in the future, especially concerning the inevitable closing of some buildings.

Greet New School Head

to make sure it would continue."

Dr. Coats said he was attracted to The Pointe because "I feel there is a strong congruence between my educational philosophy and that of the Board and community as a whole, specifically in terms of stressing sound management concepts."

"That is not to say, of course, that we will run the schools like an iron foundry, but some management functions have been proven to be quite effective in schools, such as identifying needs, developing objectives and designing systems."

His first job in The Pointe, he said, will be to "assess in a systematic, reasonable manner, the system's goals and needs and then to implement a management system to carry them out."

Although Dr. Coats said most people labeled his Kalamazoo administration as one of "teacher accountability," he prefers to tag it a "management information system."

In regards to curriculum, this means that minimum content levels must be established for classes along with system-wide course guidelines in order to provide a means of measuring how well the system is performing, he said.

Dr. Coats also stated he thinks that teacher accountability is important but thinks it can be accomplished by simply collecting information relevant to areas of success.

That process alone will encourage people to change or improve behavior accordingly, he said.

Dr. Coats comes to The Pointe after a rather eventful tenure in Kalamazoo where a district-wide court-ordered busing plan was implemented and a wide, labor-union rift kept teachers working, despite repeated strike threats, for a full year without a contract.

He explained his position to the administrators as "somewhat controversial, especially in terms of management-union, or economic issues," adding that the Kalamazoo Board of Education stood strong through the strike threats and maintained citizen support through the year.

Dr. Coats acknowledged that he had gained a somewhat anti-union reputation, but said it has been exaggerated.

"I feel that the union, overall, has been very good for education, but there must be a system of checks and balances at work to curb their power," he said. "The classroom teachers must have administrative support, as they are the 'front-line' of the educational system."

Grosse Pointe Education Association (GPEA), president Doris Cook admitted that some of her members were concerned about reports of the new superintendent's anti-union stand.

She said she met with Dr. Coats on June 18, though, and is confident that they can work together. She hopes to have a contract settled before school opens in September at the latest.

Dr. Coats' salary will be disclosed by the Board of Education at its Monday, July 12, meeting. He, his wife, Beverly, and their four daughters, ages two, nine, 13 and 14, will reside in the Board owned home in Grosse Pointe boulevard.

Church Merger Affects Many

An historic first service of two church congregations was held earlier this month at the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church, marking the culmination of months of work and study leading to the merger of two congregations.

The congregations include members of GP Congregational and the Jefferson Avenue Baptist Church. The Rev. Roy R. Hutcheon, DD, head pastor for the merged congregations, indicated around 500 families within the Pointe alone were affected by the action.

The new name of the merged church will be Grosse Pointe Congregational Church Merged with Grosse Pointe American Baptist Church. Initiating the merger was GP Congregational, who invited the Jefferson Avenue church to join with them for services.

Urges Citizens To Fight Crime

Shores Public Safety Director Joseph Vitale urges citizens in his community to participate in the Operation Identification effort, sponsored by all five Pointe police departments and the National Bank of Detroit's, (NBD), mobile crime prevention unit, Project HELP, (Help Enforce Loss Prevention).

The program will be presented at The Shores' Waterfront Park Monday-Wednesday, July 5-7, and Director Vitale said beneficial information will be available, along with material on bicycle safety, for all citizens towards protecting their valuables, e.g., engraving possessions for ready identification and recovery in case they are stolen.

A firm believer in citizen participation towards reducing crime, Director Vitale hoped residents would avail themselves of the service being offered.

The Project HELP unit is a 26-foot motor-home containing more than 100 tips and products for fire prevention, auto theft, burglary, and small business protection. A trained NBD representative will be on hand to answer questions and assist visitors.

Sixth Graders Visit Lansing

Saint Paul's-on-the-Lake sixth grade students watched their State government in action Wednesday, June 9, when they visited Lansing, accompanied by teachers Phyllis Lopez and Jackie Curtin.

Their day began with a visit to Wayne County Circuit Court, where students witnessed a trial in action. After traveling to Lansing by bus, the students visited the State Supreme Court and were introduced from the floor of the Senate by Sen. William Fitzgerald.

Later they were personally greeted by Gov. William Milliken in his office.

The trip was planned by Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Roland Olzak, of Alger place.

Revision of Ordinance Book Underway in Park

By Roger A. Waha
 Park city officials are currently in the midst of revising and updating all of the city's general ordinances into one book. This task, which is in its initial stages, was discussed at the regular council meeting Monday, June 14.

At that time, the solons unanimously approved a motion authorizing Mayor Matthew C. Patterson to appoint a committee consisting of one or more councilman, City Manager Robert A. Slone, City Clerk Nunzio J. Ortisi and City Attorney Richard D. Rohr to consider the overall spectrum of the ordinance compilation process.

The committee is scheduled to review and prepare proposed adjustments in the 1957 book for the council as a whole to consider.

In noting changes will have to be made in many procedures, and that actually such a review should transpire at least every 10 years, Mr. Slone said he's anxious to bring the book up to date and modernize it.

Funds have been set aside in the 1976-77 fiscal year budget for this endeavor, which Mr. Slone hopes will be completed within six months so citizens can purchase the new book at cost for a yet unspecified amount, (the "old" book cost $2).

At the same time, he said the new publication will be designed to accommodate supplements along the way so officials and citizens can include them easily.

"We're working on clarification and drafts now," said Mr. Slone, who added all city department heads will be involved in the updating process in relation to their departments.

When the new book is complete, he indicated there would be eight different volumes of city laws including separate ones on, for example, the electrical and plumbing codes and in the area of zoning.

Park Amends '75-76 Budget

The Park Council unanimously concurred with the recommendation of City Clerk Nunzio J. Ortisi that the city's 1975-76 fiscal year budget be amended to reflect the receipt and expenditure of $60,000 in CETA, (Comprehensive Employment Training Act), funds.

This action was taken at the regular meeting Monday, June 14.

Mr. Ortisi reported that while in the process of preparing the budget no indication was given on the CETA front regarding the extension of funds at that time.

As a result, the budget didn't reflect revenues or expenditures for the CETA program.

When the city learned that the program would continue, and that it would participate, there was no indication for the record of such participation in the budget.

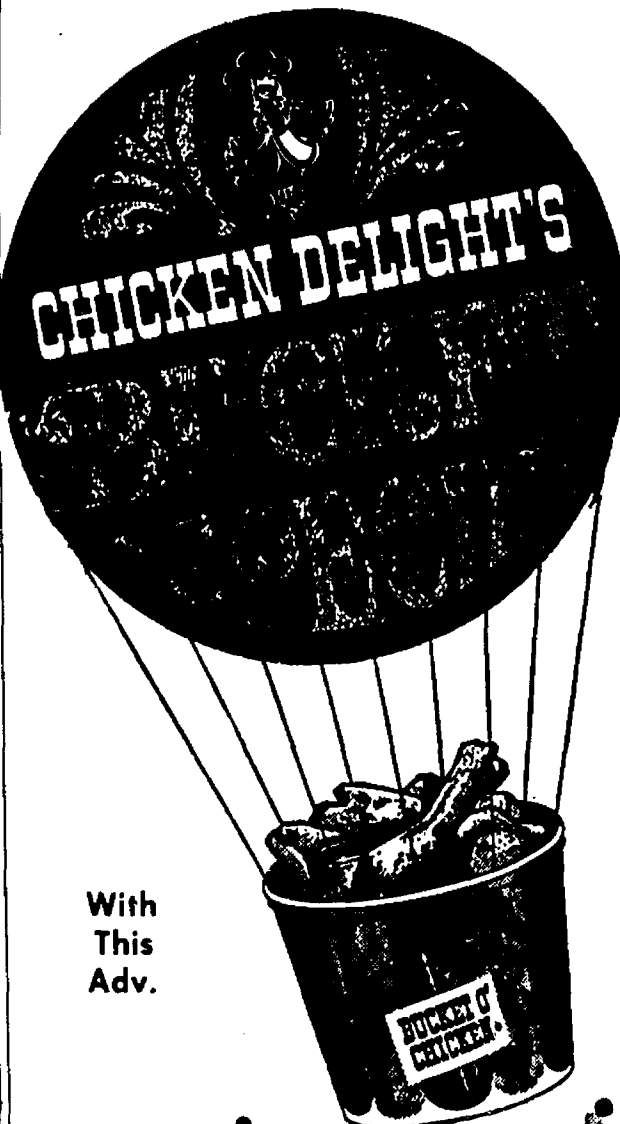

So Mr. Ortisi suggested that, as the city already collected the monies and expended them, that the budget be amended to reflect this and the council agreed.

He said the municipality has a combined total of 11 employees being paid from CETA funds in the public works, clerical and parks departments.

programs was necessary after a decade of a rather weak central administration, Dr. Adams' methods and the direction of his efforts have caused considerable dissension among the ranks of teachers and administrators alike.

Parcells Middle School principal Morris Hanzek was one who thought the standardization went too far.

"There is no question that we needed strong leadership in this direction," he explains, "and Jim Adams succeeded in pulling things together as he should have."

"But I am not one who believes that each and every school has to be the same. Individuality in programs is important if an administrator is to see that all his teachers' talents are used to the fullest."

Another administrator, who preferred his name not be used, went even further, calling Dr. Adams' methods "high handed" and ultimately bad for the system.

Had Board's Support
"The thing that has made this school system so unique for years is that the imagination and creativity of teachers was allowed to flourish in the classroom. They were able to experiment and learn, without being hamstrung by excessive rules and regulations."

"Maybe that was carried a bit too far in the past, but now we're at the point that everything is so standardized everyone feels they must check a book before they open their mouths."

Dr. Adams disagreed that his program destroyed anyone's creativity. "We were simply trying to establish common threads and goals. If anyone was stifled it certainly was not because of anything that was done here at central offices," he said.

No matter how much negative reaction there was to his efforts, there's no question that Dr. Adams did have the full support of the Board of Education in his efforts to "tighten up the system."

Trustee John Bruce explained, "We felt we needed to get a handle on just how well some of these programs were working and how to improve them. But how do you do that if every school is teaching a different thing?"

Explains Resentment
Board president Joan Hanpeter acknowledged there was resentment of the policy, but said she thinks that this is what the community wants in a way of reassurance that their kids will at least get the basics in an education.

"There is always the danger of stifling the creativity of some with a program like this. But there is a greater danger of not knowing what is going on in those classrooms."

Some of the teacher resentment, she explained, originated in the fact that more pressure in terms of performance was placed on the teachers once they started evaluating and examining certain programs.

"I'm sure a few feathers were ruffled, but that is always going to happen when you have a dynamic man at the top," she said.

Dr. Adams also drew some criticism for his sudden departure, announced less than two weeks before the first millage election in March and requiring the Board to break his contract.

In Good Shape
Board trustee Lee Allen said that although "Dr. Adams has been a fine and able administrator and Grosse Pointe has been fortunate to have his services, it is a costly and disruptive procedure to seek and install a new administrator after only two years."

"I regret that the ethical standards of this profession accept the placing of personal advantage above personal commitments."

Nevertheless, Dr. Adams felt he was leaving the system in good shape, especially since the second round of millage propositions was approved by voters the day before he left.

He said he considers The Pointe School System one of the 10 best in the nation, but that its citizens also face some tough decisions in the future, especially concerning the inevitable closing of some buildings.

to make sure it would continue."

Dr. Coats said he was attracted to The Pointe because "I feel there is a strong congruence between my educational philosophy and that of the Board and community as a whole, specifically in terms of stressing sound management concepts."

"That is not to say, of course, that we will run the schools like an iron foundry, but some management functions have been proven to be quite effective in schools, such as identifying needs, developing objectives and designing systems."

His first job in The Pointe, he said, will be to "assess in a systematic, reasonable manner, the system's goals and needs and then to implement a management system to carry them out."

Although Dr. Coats said most people labeled his Kalamazoo administration as one of "teacher accountability," he prefers to tag it a "management information system."

In regards to curriculum, this means that minimum content levels must be established for classes along with system-wide course guidelines in order to provide a means of measuring how well the system is performing, he said.

Dr. Coats also stated he thinks that teacher accountability is important but thinks it can be accomplished by simply collecting information relevant to areas of success.

That process alone will encourage people to change or improve behavior accordingly, he said.

Dr. Coats comes to The Pointe after a rather eventful tenure in Kalamazoo where a district-wide court-ordered busing plan was implemented and a wide, labor-union rift kept teachers working, despite repeated strike threats, for a full year without a contract.

He explained his position to the administrators as "somewhat controversial, especially in terms of management-union, or economic issues," adding that the Kalamazoo Board of Education stood strong through the strike threats and maintained citizen support through the year.

Dr. Coats acknowledged that he had gained a somewhat anti-union reputation, but said it has been exaggerated.

"I feel that the union, overall, has been very good for education, but there must be a system of checks and balances at work to curb their power," he said.

"The classroom teachers must have administrative support, as they are the 'front-line' of the educational system."

Grosse Pointe Education Association, (GPEA), president Doris Cook admitted that some of her members were concerned about reports of the new superintendent's anti-union stand.

She said she met with Dr. Coats on June 18, though, and is confident that they can work together. She hopes to have a contract settled before school opens in September at the latest.

Dr. Coats' salary will be disclosed by the Board of Education at its Monday, July 12, meeting. He, his wife, Beverly, and their four daughters, ages two, nine, 13 and 14, will reside in the Board owned home in Grosse Pointe boulevard.

Church Merger Affects Many

An historic first service of two church congregations was held earlier this month at the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church, marking the culmination of months of work and study leading to the merger of two congregations.

The congregations include members of GP Congregational and the Jefferson Avenue Baptist Church. The Rev. Roy R. Hutcheon, DD, head pastor for the merged congregations, indicated around 500 families within the Pointes alone were affected by the action.

The new name of the merged church will be Grosse Pointe Congregational Church Merged with Grosse Pointe American Baptist Church.

Initiating the merger was GP Congregational, who invited the Jefferson Avenue church to join with them for services.

Proposal to Reconstruct Group Under Study

inance be drafted which creates a new commission. "The ordinance should clearly define the obligations and privileges of the commission and it should define the commission's rules and regulations. Commission meetings should be conducted in public with all members of the community invited."

He added, "The ordinance should establish basic criteria for the selection of commission members and conversely it should define procedures for the removal of a commission member."

Mr. McNamara feels the creation of a new commission ordinance will accomplish four factors:

- Relieve a burden from those seniors who are serving on the commission who cannot perform their duties because of illness or other physical impairment.

- Place the business of the senior citizens in the hands of a more representative group of citizens.

- Expose the concern and need of the seniors to the entire community.

- Place the commission in the hands of people who are physically and mentally able to discharge their duties.

In exploring some of his thoughts regarding reconstructing the group, Mr. McNamara told the NEWS, "I think any commission should be constituted in such a way as the Planning Commission, (for example). We don't select builders or architects (only) for the Planning Commission."

At the same time, he said it was inappropriate to have only seniors serve on the Senior Citizens Commission, while feeling a greater cross-section of people will result in a better organization.

"Some seniors who have served have done so under personal hardship," he stressed. Mr. McNamara indicated many members are hard working people, with one even telling him of taking calls day and night. This, he felt, was placing a burden on the individual.

Comes As Surprise
In noting the commission as presently formed isn't a legitimately constituted group under city ordinance, (rather an advisory organization), Mr. McNamara said he would like to see the commission become part of the city via a law included in the city code.

"I'd like to see others involved, too, plus outstanding senior citizens," he continued, while saying the organization should be drawn from the most capable people in the community and should be available to all segments of the public. "I'd like to personally see more professional people on the Senior Citizens Commission."

For her part, Mrs. Sutton said the proposal came as a surprise to all members of the commission. Overall, she didn't appear too pleased with its content in several areas.

She felt incorporating the commission as part of the city via an ordinance has merit, "if necessary." However, Mrs. Sutton said commission members have been appointed by the mayor with council concurrence and, because of this, she feels the group is part of the city.

In fact, she indicated, while the commission only has five members right now, it still can conduct its business, while new names have been presented to the city to fill the openings via resignations. (Mrs. Sutton added the four who resigned did so, not because of anger, but because they were just tired).

Need Empathy

On what she would like to see happen, Mrs. Sutton stated, "I'd be very happy to see new people be appointed but I still think they should be senior citizens." She felt if younger members, for instance, were named to the group, many might not realize all the problems in relation to aging. "They won't know it until they get there," she said.

But, still, some younger people might understand specific problems relating to seniors. However, Mrs. Sutton stated she wouldn't want anyone named to the group "out from under the clear blue sky," while emphasizing a need for empathy with seniors.

As for Mr. McNamara's point on having a new ordinance to relieve a burden from seniors now serving on the commission because of the illness factor, Mrs. Sutton stated it was just a matter of appointing new, qualified people, all of whom were seniors.

On his point of exposing the concern and needs of seniors to the entire community, she said the commission has tried every way it could to do this through the press.

And she added the commission conducts its meetings via parliamentary procedure.

In a final note, Mrs. Sutton, who has been involved in seniors' activities for many years, stressed, "I've done everything I can, (regarding her expertise), for senior citizens and will continue to do so."

Citizens Air Concerns

"The truckers sometimes sit in their vehicles and eat their lunches while waiting to unload," he said. "As a result, we have an additional problem of littering."

One woman even noted the truckers have eaten lunches on her front lawn. "I get rid of those 'picnickers' by turning on my lawn sprinkler," she said, with a satisfied smile.

Mr. Buchanan said the delegation believed that blocking off Madison road, just down from Mack avenue, would solve the problem. "By erecting a barricade at that location, we can eliminate all the traffic," he said.

"The alley in that area can be turned into a one-way street, and an additional five parking meters could be installed. This would double the number of parking meters now there. It would be beneficial to the city and to us."

Mr. Buchanan explained that cars turning onto Madison road could park in that area to go to nearby stores. "If no parking was available, the barricade would route them through the alley and back onto Mack avenue," he said. "This would prevent them from speeding down Madison road to Chalfonte, and then over to Moross road, to start their circuit all over again."

Several members of the audience stood up and reaffirmed what Mr. Buchanan had presented to the council. They urged the solons to take the proposal under consideration.

While most spectators approved of the blockade, some citizens expressed their concern over the proposed solution.

Pointe AARP Meets Monday

Members of the American Association of Retired Persons, (AARP), Grosse Pointe Chapter #2161, will gather Monday, June 28, at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, 16 Lakeshore road, at 1 p.m. to hear two speakers discuss wills and trusts and estate planning.

Edward M. Bunn, Pointe attorney, will speak on "Wills," while Robert A. Hackathorn Jr., assistant vice-president, Trust Division, National Bank of Detroit St. Clair Office, will view "Trusts and Estate Planning."

Together, they will touch on topics which are of prime interest to retirees.

As an added attraction, a "white elephant" sale will be held before and after the meeting. Each member is asked to bring one pre-priced object to be offered for sale. This project is under the direction of Mrs. Joseph Bonino, who has recruited an energetic committee of assistants.

No meetings are planned for July and August. The regular schedule will resume on the fourth Monday of each month, starting in September.

Goes on Record Against Hike

The Park Council, based upon the recommendation of City Attorney Richard D. Rohr, unanimously agreed to intervene in the latest Detroit Edison rate request case.

This action was taken at the regular meeting Monday, June 14.

In reviewing the case, Mr. Rohr suggested that the city go on record as in opposition to Edison's request for an additional $130.6 million in additional revenue.

Late last month, Edison asked the Michigan Public Service Commission for approval of a 12 percent rate increase that would raise the average residential bill by about $2.73 per month. The company requested that $53 million of this sum be authorized as an immediate interim hike.

Officials say, if granted, the increase would amount to $65 million for the company after taxes.

Mr. Rohr indicated that prior to last year's case, an understanding was achieved that Detroit Edison would no longer press for a disproportionate increase in the street lighting category.

When the last increase was announced, the understanding was essentially observed, he said, while adding this appears to be the case in the latest request.

The city attorney made it clear he wasn't asking for an appropriation of funds at this time. If there was a need for expenditures, such a request would come before the council for its action.

He added the city should intervene from the monitoring standpoint, making sure Edison treats the municipality like any other customer.

Edison officials claim that rate relief is essential if the company is to meet the constantly growing demand for electric power in southeastern Michigan.

They say the company must spend almost $5 billion on new construction in the next six years if it's to supply adequate and reliable electric power in the future.

The new application calls for a 12 percent increase for all categories of electric customers. Approximately $47.8 million additional revenue would come from residential customers, $29.6 million from commercial customers, $50.4 million from industrial customers, $2 million from street lighting customers and $0.8 million from steam customers.

Church Parley Draws Pointers

Several Pointers attended the 81st annual meeting of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, Mass. An estimated 12,000 Christian Scientists from around the world participated.

Those attending from The Farms' church included Mrs. Angeline Darst, Mrs. Mary Furno, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hledge, Mrs. Carolyn Krieghoff, Mrs. Elizabeth Leblanc, Patricia Outland and Robert Outland.

Let worry chase you—don't make a habit of chasing it.

Troop 96 Welcomes Four Eagles at Court of Honor

Boy Scout Troop 96, sponsored by Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, held a Court of Honor earlier this month in Barbour Chapel at which time four new Eagle Scouts were cited.

The court was preceded by a farewell dinner in Fellowship Hall for Scoutmaster Charles W. Donovan, who has moved from the area.

At the Court of Honor the presentation of scouting's highest award, Eagle Scout, was made to Ross Murray, Christopher Powell, Andrew Richner and Danil Riddle.

Throughout the 63 years that the Eagle Award has been the topmost achievement in scouting's advancement program, only one scout out of every 100 reach this esteemed rank.

Twenty-four Merit Badges are now required for Eagle Scout and many, many hours devoted to a service project to benefit the community, school or church is necessary.

Ross chose his service project to help the Foundation for Exceptional Children, repairing and brightly painting the special chairs and tables utilized by the mentally or physically handicapped children who attend this special school at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

A member of the Order of the Arrow, Ross is on the honor roll at South High School. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Gordon M. Murray, of Lakeland avenue.

Christopher, also a member of the Order of the Arrow and an honor roll student at South, worked for the Children's Home of Detroit.

His project involved the constant repair and maintenance of the children's bicycles at the home. Chris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Powell, of Pemberton road.

Andrew undertook the project of surveying every intersection within the City of Grosse Pointe with relation to violations against a city ordinance for obstructed visibility factors. He reported the results of his comprehensive study to the city manager for follow-through.

He also is an honor roll student at South and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cedric A. Richner, of University place.

Danil also chose the Children's Home of Detroit for his service project. From seed, Daniel grew maple and elm trees until they reached a sturdy height of 12 to 16 feet and then transplanted them to the grounds of the Children's Home.

He also trimmed and shaped all the shrubbery surrounding each of the cottages at the home.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean K. Riddle, of Hillcrest avenue, Danil also was awarded the coveted God and Country Award.

The scoutmaster presented the Ben R. Marsh Memorial Trophy for outstanding citizenship scouting ability and service to Brad Murray, son of Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Murray.

Life Scout, the last milestone under Eagle, was awarded to Coleman Rogers by Assistant Scoutmaster James Powell, while the Star Scout was earned by John Onstwedder and presented by Dr. Murray.

First Class Awards were given to Tom Durkin, Alan Johnson, Donald Kavanagh, Wayne Onstwedder, Walter Van Tiem, Andrew Woodrow and John Wyrembelski by Assistant Scoutmaster John Onstwedder.

Second Class Awards were earned by John Brooks, Jeffrey Powell, David Rogers and Todd Rowe with Assistant Scoutmaster Bryan Beasley making the presentations. Tenderfoot Awards went to John Brooks, Vincent Clark, Brian Coles, Richard Gersch, Mark Liebling and Rick Richner and were awarded by Cedric A. Richner.

A total of 46 merit badges were presented to the 20 recipients by Mr. Donovan.

Dean Riddle, joined by parents committee chairman, Donald Kuhn, was called upon to convey to Mr. Donovan the deep gratitude of scouts and parents for his many years of devoted service to Troop 96.

On behalf of the committee, Mr. Kuhn presented two pewter Bicentennial trays to Mr. Donovan and a Bicentennial spoon for Mrs. Donovan, while Brad Murray presented a bronze Freedom Bell from the troop.

Under Mr. Beasley's direction, a huge scrapbook was assembled filled with pictures, messages and memorabilia from as many scouts as could be located during Mr. Donovan's regime.

When all the accolades were finished, Mr. Donovan, who began his scouting career with Troop 96 in 1958, addressed his troop for the last time. He urged each Scout to "hang in there" and strive for the highest rank in scouting, the Eagle Award. He impressed upon his troop that wearers of the Eagle Medal bear the mark of their achievement for the rest of their lives.

The entire troop rallied around their Scoutmaster with a rousing ovation, climaxing the most memorable, impressive Court of Honor in Troop 96 for many years.

Stuart J. Dykstra is the new scoutmaster.

Boat Barbecues Pose Hazard

Park Fire Chief Phillip Costa is urging all citizens of his city, and the other Pointes, to discontinue barbecuing at park marinas.

"Not only is it dangerous, it's against the law," said Chief Costa.

"Marina fires are, especially deadly and hard to handle. If a grill tips on a boat with highly flammable paints, varnishes and fuels around, a tragedy could result."

The chief went on to say that marina fires are difficult to fight because of the numbers of people at the parks, the difficult accessibility of the boats and the lack of fire hydrants around marinas.

"We will be posting warning signs at our marinas," said Chief Costa, "plus we will make spot inspections. Park attendants also are going to be on the lookout for violators."

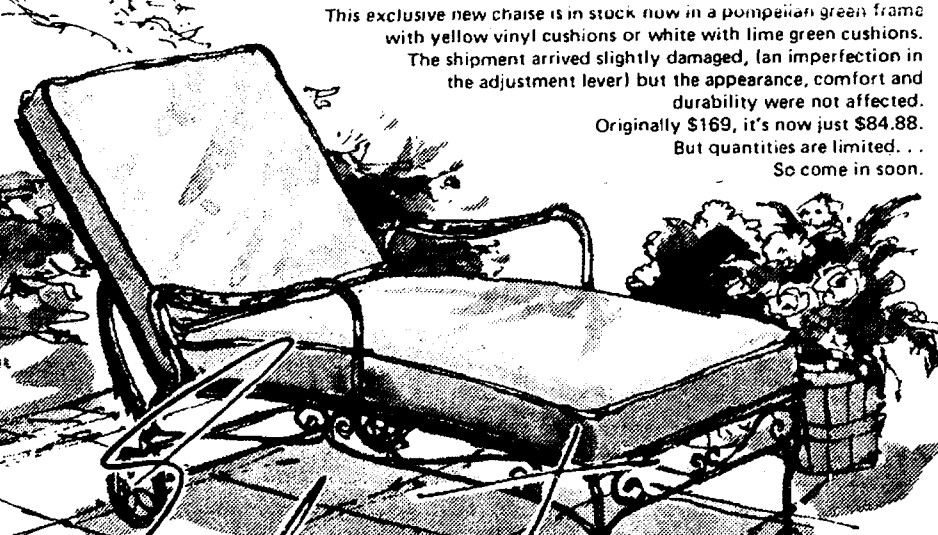

"All the parks have public barbecue grills and we urge people to use these instead. That's what they're there for."

Probe Underway

Mr. West also said he questioned the exact nature of the probe and what charges, if any, would be filed against the system.

He stressed, however, that he was "99.9 percent sure" the new investigation has nothing to do with any court-ordered busing cases in Detroit.

Cites Complaints
Grosse Pointe Education Association, (GPEA), president Doris Cook said that two sex discrimination complaints had been filed by her group with the EEOC in two cases where the administration refused disability pay to teachers on maternity leave.

She said the cases are pending the outcome of a Supreme Court ruling in a similar case.

In addition, a sex discrimination suit was filed with the Civil Rights Commission several years ago, according to Mrs. Cook. A ruling was issued in favor of the laid off female teacher in that case.

Still pending before the Michigan Civil Rights Commission is an age discrimination suit filed last year by a member of the library staff, according to Library Director William Peters.

It is unlikely that the investigation is a result of any of these suits, according to Mr. West.

Mr. West said he has instructed school employees not to talk to agents about the investigation until he is sure the Department of Justice properly has jurisdiction to investigate the matter.

Go "Extra Mile"

To his knowledge, Mr. West said he and former Superintendent of Schools Dr. James A. Adams were the only school employees contacted by the FBI.

Of the 32 pure administrative positions in the Grosse Pointe School System, four are filled by females. The schools employ two black instructors and one oriental teacher.

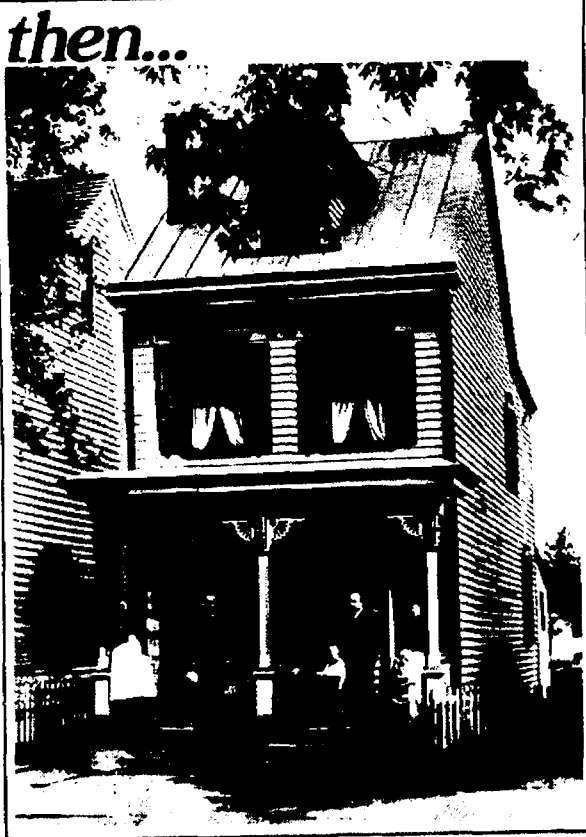

Mrs. Hanpeter said the Justice Department letter also requested specific information about employees with Spanish surnames. That information, according to Assistant Superintendent for Personnel, Lawrence Kennedy, is very difficult to gather. He said he has already spent six weeks going through records for such information, but has not yet completed the study.

Both Mrs. Hanpeter and Mr. Kennedy pointed to active minority recruitment efforts by the Board in the early 1970's in defense of Pointe hiring practices.

Such recruitment has diminished over the past few years because the schools have been laying off rather than hiring teachers, according to Mr. Kennedy. "But our history shows that we went the extra mile in this direction," he said.

Mr. Kennedy said that minority recruitment efforts were not very successful because many black teachers were not interested in working in an all-white district such as Grosse Pointe.

Helping Home Buyers...

Detroit & Northern has been helping people buy homes since 1889. Homes have changed but the American tradition of home ownership is as strong as ever. Jaycees Thank Marcia Sweany

Marcia Sweany, Miss Grosse Pointe for 1975-76, received support from a local contingent of citizens, including many Jaycees and their wives, during the Miss Michigan Pageant last weekend. The Jaycees reported that Miss Sweany didn't place in the top 10. In fact, they have no specific idea how she finished because the judges didn't release that information, said George A. Williamson of the organization.

On behalf of the Jaycees, we are very proud of Miss Sweany, who did her talent presentation, (singing "Top of The World" while accompanying herself on the guitar), very well, he stated.

While we all can't be winners, in the eyes of Grosse Pointe and the pageant sponsor, we have a winner in Marcia Sweany," emphasized Mr. Williamson. "She has been sweet, kind and considerate of all people."

At the same time, he wanted to thank her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sweany, who he termed "probably the finest parents of a Miss Grosse Pointe we've ever had," and Mrs. Paul Mumma, her chaperone.

Those attending the event included Mr. and Mrs. James Pattee, Mr. and Mrs. Mumma, Mr. and Mrs. Carter Billiu, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Trombley, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Finger, Wally Helin and Vanessa Helin, Miss GP for 1976-77.

Diane Kay Hansen, of Berrien Center, was selected Miss Michigan.

Many Events Set at Park

The Windmill Pointe Park schedule for July begins with Bicentennial Party night Saturday, June 26, featuring square and ballroom dancing on the pool sundeck.

The 23rd annual Fishing Rodeo is slated for Saturday, July 10, and applications will be available to all interested fishermen at the main gate of the park on Friday, July 2. All applications must be returned by Thursday, July 8.

The Park's annual tennis tournament begins Monday, July 26, and continues through Friday, July 30. Applications will be available Friday, July 9, and are due Monday, July 19, by 6 p.m.

The Park swim team begins its schedule in the annual relay meet at The Shores' Park Saturday June 26. On Saturday, July 17, and Wednesday July 21, The Park hosts home swim meets.

For further information on these events, call Mary O'Donnell or Jane Gaitley at 882-2812.

Garden Clubs Earn Prizes

Mrs. Roland Allen of the Windmill Pointe Garden Club received a $50 first prize for her arrangement in the recent "Village in Bloom" flower show.

The show's trio of judges, Mrs. Elmore Frank, Mrs. Roland Postel and Mrs. Pierre Heffler, selected the arrangements by the Pointe Garden Club and Grosse Pointe Shores Farm and Garden Club for second and third prizes, respectively.

Cash prizes also were awarded by the show's sponsors, the Village Merchants Association, to the three arrangements which proved most popular with the public.

The Grand Marais Garden Club won top honors, while the Pointe Garden Club was second and the Windmill Pointe Garden Club, third.

YSD Shows Drop in Cases; Counseling Update Given

The Youth Service Division (YSD), received 58 cases for investigation last month.

One was a direct request from Harper Woods for assistance in determining whether a runaway might be harbored at the Roslyn road residence of the Forever Family. As it turned out, the result was negative.

The incidence rate for the month showed an increase of nine cases over last May but a decrease of two under this April.

Through May, the total of incidents reached 282, a drop of 32 under the same period last year.

The category of highest incidence was larceny with 12 such cases being investigated. These showed the involvement of 10 identified boys and one girl. However, six of the 12 cases aren't solved at this time and the perpetrators remain unidentified. Five of these six were thefts of bicycles or of bicycle parts.

Related categories show burglary, three incidents, involving two boys and one girl, and possession of stolen property, two incidents, involving two boys, (in both cases working with adult males).

Malicious destruction of property, with nine cases, was the second category of highest incidence. Four of these reports, (damage to outside lamps), were committed by two adult males, (17 and 18 years), but they were investigated by the YSD as the two offenders were high school students.

In the other cases, six juvenile males have been identified, while three incidents remained unsolved as of early June.

Meanwhile, violation of controlled substances totaled seven reports and abuse of alcohol, two. In the former, six were marijuana cases involving two male adults, three male juveniles and one female adult.

Runaways, including the assistance provided the Harper Woods youth officer, totaled eight cases. These involved five boys and three girls. The trio of girls and two of the boys were self returned to their homes. Three boys were arrested and turned over to their parents.

On the counseling front, the YSD currently has 15 boys and six girls on its program.

"This first-step counseling has proven to be a very effective and productive intermediate step between (1) leaving discipline in the hands of the parents, after counseling and warning by the investigating officer, and (2) resorting to the formal criminal justice system, i.e., Wayne County Juvenile Court," reports the division.

"The youngster is placed on YSD counseling when, in the judgment of the responsible YSD officer, this child will or may respond to a third person, (who's) a few years older and not that far removed from the teen years.

"(This person) can and will listen to him and then can come up with and discuss one or more ways for the youngster to solve the problems besetting him.

"At times the youngster may have to assume the role of the adult in the home situation."

Finally, six applications for petition were submitted to juvenile court. So far, two of them have received court action, (one was authorized and the other was denied).

Park Firemen Douse 2 Blazes

The Park Fire Department fought two small, but potentially deadly fires on Thursday-Friday, June 17-18.

The first fire occurred Thursday afternoon in the 700 block of Pemberton road when a family reported a kitchen fire had gotten out of control.

According to fire Chief Phillip Costa, a pan of grease ignited and quickly spread to a cupboard and a wooden archway.

After a 10 minute battle, Park firefighters extinguished the blaze. There were no estimates of the smoke or fire damage.

After the fire, Chief Costa had the tips for homeowners. "The best way to prevent a fire of this type is to stop it before it starts. Never leave a pan of grease on high flame unattended," said the chief.

"Always keep a cover handy to extinguish the flames. The cover will deny the fire oxygen and smother it."

"Lastly," he said, "never pour water on a grease fire. This will only make it spread quicker."

The second fire occurred Friday afternoon in the 800 block of Balfour road. According to fire reports, a carelessly tossed cigarette ignited some papers wedged between a storm door and an inner door on a vacant house.

Chief Costa said the fire burned into the cornice, but didn't penetrate the building. The amount of damage isn't known at this time.

The blaze took 15 minutes to extinguish. After the fire, Chief Costa thanked the firefighters from The City for their prompt response under the terms of the Mutual Aid Pact.

Church Bells Get Overhaul

The Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, 16 Lakeshore road, has just completed renovation of its 47-bell carillon which has been playing for Sunday services and weddings since 1927.

A carillon is a group of at least 32 tuned bells arranged in chromatic order. The bells are played on a clavier with baton like keys which the carillonneur hits with closed fists according to notes on sheet music.

The Memorial Church carillon is one of the three largest in the Detroit area. The 47 bronze bells weigh 11 tons, while the largest single bell of the set weighs 4,760 pounds and the smallest is 15 pounds.

The revamping of the carillon cost just under $20,000. In commemoration, the inaugural recital of the newly serviced carillon will be performed on Tuesday, June 29, at 7:30 p.m. by internationally known carillon virtuoso, Leen't Hart, of the Netherlands. (Memorial Church also sponsors a program training young people in the art of carillon playing).

The recital is open to the public.

The Indians clinched the 1976 championship with a 15-2 record. The club has a three and a half game lead with only three games to play going into the last week of the season. The Tigers moved into second place with a 12-6 mark and a one game lead over the Pirates who are 11-7. The Red Legs are in fourth place with a 9-9 record. The Yankees follow at 4-14, and the Phils are last at 2-15.

The first round of the playoffs will feature a double-header on Monday, June 28, with the first game starting at 5 p.m. at Kerby Field between the Indians and the third place team.

The second game, between the second and fourth place teams, will start immediately afterwards. Because of the early starting time, hot dogs and refreshments will be sold in the field house at Kerby, with all proceeds going to The Farms Little Leagues.

The playoff finals will be held at Kerby on Wednesday, June 30, at 5:30 p.m. In case of rain for the first round or the finals, the games will be played the following day.

Under manager Dick Gallagher, the Pirates won the 1974 and 1975 playoffs after finishing third both years. The Indians return to the playoffs for the first time since 1973, while the Tigers missed the playoffs last year.

The Indians clinched the championship with a convincing 14-1 win over the Red Legs on Saturday, June 19, as John Keane picked up his fourth win. Keith Kovalick collected three of the four hits off Keane. Peter Keane doubled and singled twice, and Craig Haase picked up two doubles.

The Indians played errorless ball and were led by shortstop Haase, who started a double play and then stopped a grounder, flipping the ball to second base to force a runner while on the ground.

Jon Dolson and Steve "Bullfrog" Kornmeier of the Indians also made good catches in the outfield. Brian Augsburger made five putouts for the Red Legs in centerfield.

Gregg Restum notched his seventh win against no losses as the Indians downed the Phils 9-3 on Monday, June 14. Restum allowed only three hits. Craig Haase led the Indians hitting attack driving in four runs with a double and two singles.

After the game, manager Mike Crow said, "The Phils haven't won many games this year but the boys have never quit. They battled the Indians all the way."

Rick Simon picked up his second win as the Yankees defeated the Phils, 20-6, on Wednesday, June 16.

The Tigers moved into second place by downing the Pirates on Tuesday, June 15, and the Red Legs on Thursday, June 17. Todd Pierce and Todd Ciavola picked up the wins for the Tigers. John Murphy of the Tigers cleared the left field fence for a home run against the Pirates.

Rochester defeated second place Miami, 1-0, on June 14.

Strong pitching by Charlie Snow, with the fielding expertise of Billy Denler, and Costa Papiata's scoring power helped to bring their team an exciting victory.

The highlighter for Miami was Hobbie Echlin with an unassisted double play. Albany's Dan Bowen pitched a one-hitter on June 15 and led his team with a 6-0 rain shortened win over Syracuse.

Bowen struck out 14 batters and hit a home run during the five inning victory.

THE PARK PHARMACY

Like all growing tissue, growing teeth need adequate amounts of protein, minerals, fats, and other food elements. These are obtained through the blood which supplies the pulp area of the tooth. If there is a limited or poor supply of food, the blood will take the necessary elements from other body tissues. It is therefore imperative that a balanced diet be provided for the proper growth of teeth. This is especially true of children. Whereas adults teeth no longer need calcium, the bone tissue which keeps the teeth in place must be supplied.

If you feel that your diet does not give you proper nutrition, visit THE PARK PHARMACY, 15324 E. Jefferson, Grosse Pointe Park, for the vitamins and other food supplements you need to keep healthy! We also have a complete, professional prescription department where registered pharmacists are always on duty to fill your prescription needs. This Summer, Pretend Michigan's A Foreign Country. And You're A Tourist.

See Michigan. Free. We'd like to give you the June issue of Motor News. It's more like a guidebook to Michigan than a magazine. It tells you where and when and how to find things you thought you had to leave the country for.

Pick a berry or a cherry. Or an apple or a peach. Right off a tree. We'll tell you where. There's a complete list of pick-your-own farms and orchards.

Find the summer festivals. There are strawberry, cherry, grape and even asparagus festivals going on all over the state all summer long. We'll tell you when and where every one of them is.

Buy a horse or rent one. Visit a horse farm or stay at a dude ranch. Go on a wilderness horseback trip. Or watch a harness race.

Be a farmer. Spend a few days or a few hours. See a Centennial farm. Or a brand new one. Buy fresh vegetables at a farm market.

Catch a 12" trout. Who'll believe you anyway? Drink a grape. Tour one of Michigan's many fine wineries.

Listen to Beethoven or Chicago. There's great summer theater. And concerts. Under the stars or front row center. Buy a masterpiece. Or a piece of pottery at an art fair.

This summer, tour Michigan. You might find it's as much fun to visit as it is to live here.

Wine Lines

by Pat Ulatowski

The length of time a wine is aged has no precise rules, and really varies quite a lot according to the type of wine you choose. The keeping properties of wine also vary according to its acidity and alcohol content. Generally, the richer a wine is in body and alcohol, the more it will benefit from aging, though this does not normally hold good for more than 10-12 years. But this is a very general rule, for the aging quality of a wine depends on many factors which may vary even among wines of similar quality. Capable of reaching extreme old age are the great clarets from Medoc, Graves, St. Emilion and Pomerol.

The knowledgeable people at PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE, 17255 Mack, corner of St. Clair, 885-0626 will be happy to advise you on the qualities, and proper use of specific wines. And of course, we have a wide selection of wines for you to choose from. Hours: 10-10 Mon/Thur; 10-11 Fri, Sat; noon-10 Sun.

WINE WISDOM:

To age a wine, it must be kept in a deep, cool cellar, at a constant temperature.

Little League Results

Army-Marines match was slick with homers. Army's Richard Waller grand slammed and Paul Berezowski smacked another for his season record. Marines' Joe Sullivan banged a couple of doubles. Army won, 8-4.

Illinois moved by Navy, 5-2. Lancelot Lie belted a homer in the third inning. Al Ament hurled all six innings for the win and stroked a sixth inning homer with one on.

In the Minor League, Northwestern shaded Purdue, 13-12, on June 14. Chris Clark clouted a second inning homer for Purdue.

Michigan ousted Minnesota, 17-7, the same day. Sean Welsh smashed a homer for Minnesota. "Blues" homers made the difference with big ones from Joe Sharp, Dina Dajani and Andy Stephan.

Minnesota bounced back on June 16, edging Purdue, 14-12. Mark Mullen's sixth inning homer with one on broke the tie and won the game.

Ohio State took Minnesota on June 18, 21-14. Joe Kronk clobbered a homer for Minnesota, while Tim Maniere and Tom Rohr blasted homers for OSU.

The American League Majors' week began June 14. The Senators topped the Indians, 9-4, with a strong pitching performance by John Terrence, who allowed only four hits in six innings. He also smacked a double.

The Orioles nipped the White Sox, 14-13. Harold Cote homered in the first inning with two on and singled in the sixth to drive home the winning run. Steve Root parked a home run for the Sox with two on. Devon Jeffrey homered for the Orioles and Bill Winzer tripled to drive two "Birds" home.

The Yankees clipped by the Senators on June 16, 4-3. Tight pitching decided the victory. Bayard King smacked a big homer for the Yanks. John Terrence gunned a homer for the Senators.

The Athletics topped the Sox, 8-4, in spite of Ken Hawk's third inning homer. The Orioles shutout the Indians, 14-0, with fantastic pitching from Devon Jeffrey and Jeff Fugaon June 16.

Big National League news was the Pirates' first defeat of the season at the hands of the Cardinals on June 15, 13-4. Tom Emmerich homered for the Pirates in the third inning. Jeff Griffin lambasted one of the Cards with two on. Then, on June 17, the Pirates topped the Red Legs 7-4.

The Cardinals continued winning by gouging the Braves, 11-4. Jamie Dupree pitched the win and homered in the fourth inning.

The Dodgers creamed the Giants, 9-1, on June 17. Joe Yott was player of the game. He went the full six and struck out 15 as well as ripping a fifth inning double. Mark Schneider blasted a homer for the winners with two men on.

On June 18, the Reds met the Dodgers to replay a June 15 rainout. The original game saw the Red Legs ahead 9-2. Not so in the re-match. The Dodgers zipped them, 18-2. Bill Kohr hurled the win.

Mark Schneider made a spectacular catch in the third inning. Dom Ceaser thought he had notched another homer—so did first base runner Bernie Van Antwerp. But centerfielder Schneider leaped for the ball, bagged it, fell to the ground and made a perfect throw to second for a double play.

Thomson Earns Big Net Honor

Mike Thomson, a senior at Kalamazoo College, was one of four varsity tennis players on Kalamazoo's team to win individual All-American awards in tennis.

Mike, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomson, of Three Mile drive, was "instrumental in helping Kalamazoo win a national championship for Division III schools this year," according to his coach George Acker.

This marks the first time a Michigan school has won the Division III championship.

GP CITY

By Ralph Gray

Wet grounds and rain cancelled some games but in those that were played, the batters came to hit.

The Braves beat the Cardinals 9-4, breaking a sixth inning tie score of 4-4, on Paul Martinelli's three-run double and four walks. Others hitting were John Hurley, Stark Langs, Mark Martinelli, Paul Martinelli, Mark Miller and Rick Richner, who was the winning pitcher.

The Braves emerged successful on June 17 with a 12-7 win over the Dodgers. The Braves took advantage of walks, hit batsmen and errors to score all 12 runs in the last four innings.

John Strabel of the Dodgers hit a grand slam home run in the first inning to start the slugfest.

The Senators split two games. The Solons held the Giants to one run on June 17, while backing pitcher John Mikesell with five runs. Mikesell helped his own cause by doubling twice in a nine hit offensive. Dan French had a double and a triple in three at bats, and catcher Frank Charbonneau was two for three, both singles.

The Pirates played a different tune to the Senators on June 15, winning 14-10. The Senators never overcame a four run lead the Pirates put together in the first inning. The Senators managed 10 hits and were led by Robby Robb, who singled three times. Marty Bedell had a double and single.

Azalea Wins As Pot Plant

The azalea is a tender evergreen that has become a popular florist's pot plant. It needs bright light, cool nights and even moisture around the roots for prolonged bloom.

Michigan State University horticulturists advise placing a potted azalea in a south window so it gets as much light as is available. Direct sun will not hurt it, and bright light is necessary for all the flower buds to open.

Night temperatures around 60 degrees will prolong blooming.

No fertilizer is necessary during flowering. After flowering, feed every three weeks with an acid-reaction houseplant fertilizer, or use a regular houseplant fertilizer and sprinkle a pinch of alum over the soil surface.

A cup of water every day is usually needed to keep the soil moist.

Repeat after flowering if the plant is rootbound. Use a 50-50 mixture of soil and sphagnum moss kept evenly moist.

For a compact, bushy plant, prune back leggy shoots until July. The prunings can be rooted in a moist mixture of half sand and half peat. They will root and be ready for potting in about eight weeks.

An azalea can be set outside when night temperatures are not likely to fall below 50 degrees. Be sure to set it where it will be lightly shaded during most of the day. Bring the plant in before cold weather returns in the fall.

Re-blooming potted azaleas can be difficult. Failure to bloom can result from an insufficient cool period in the fall, too little light or dry soil.

If leaves dry and turn brown, the plant is too dry. Yellowing leaves indicate the soil is not acid enough, the plant isn't getting enough light or it's getting too much fertilizer.

Thieves Enter Two Offices

Thieves entered two doctors' offices at 2025 Mack avenue and took several pieces of office equipment, reported Woods police.

The burglaries were discovered by patrolling Officers Michael Cavanagh and Donald Sun early Saturday morning, June 19.

At the scene, police found the screen and rear doors, leading to the offices of Dr. Wayne Jacobus, MD, and Dr.

Albert C. Howe, DDS, standing open. The screen door was braced open and the knob of the rear door was removed, (and found several feet away), enabling the culprits to enter.

The thieves entered several rooms in both offices, and the only items found missing at this time include two typewriters, an adding machine, a duplicating machine and $4 in cash.

Articles Taken from Boutique

Someone has taken articles with a combined, total value of $552 from the Love Boutique, 20129 Mack avenue, according to Woods police.

Officer Kevin Elsey learned early Friday afternoon, June 18, that a trio of black and white jump suits, valued at $46 each, and two yellow knit jump suits, valued at $112 each, were removed sometime between Thursday afternoon, June 17, and Friday morning.

The store also reported around one month ago four purses were taken from the building. Two were valued at $55 and two at $40.

'Mr. Bicycle' Pedals Bikes While Running for Office

By Tom Greenwood
Stephen Hume has a better idea. Well . . . at least a different one.

If Shiela Young is the queen of bike racers, Stephen is the "mad scientist" of the spoke-and-pedal set. Working out of the Detroit Velocipede, Inc., bike shop, (in Kercheval avenue), Stephen creates bikes that are both strange and wonderful.

He has, in the past, built a bike that you pedal with your hands, another bike "rowed," with real oars, and a third bicycle that would do flips.

"That machine was a lot of fun, though dangerous," said Stephen, bumping around the shiny bicycles in his shop. "It looked like an ordinary bike except for the steel arch that stretched over the rider's head, from the front wheel to the back. It was like a giant roll bar," he said.

"I had to get up a lot of speed, then throw my weight forward while locking the brakes on the front wheel. This caused the back end to lift and then run along the steel railing over my head. The bike would rotate on the roll bar and then come down again on the rear wheel. It really was a 'lot of fun.'"

It was also dangerous. "I gave it up because the railing dented too easily," said Stephen. "And I didn't feel like joining it."

Stephen, 23, a former Pointer who now lives in Alter road, Detroit, is currently working on a nine-foot-long "Scullcycle" that he hopes to patent after all the bugs are worked out.

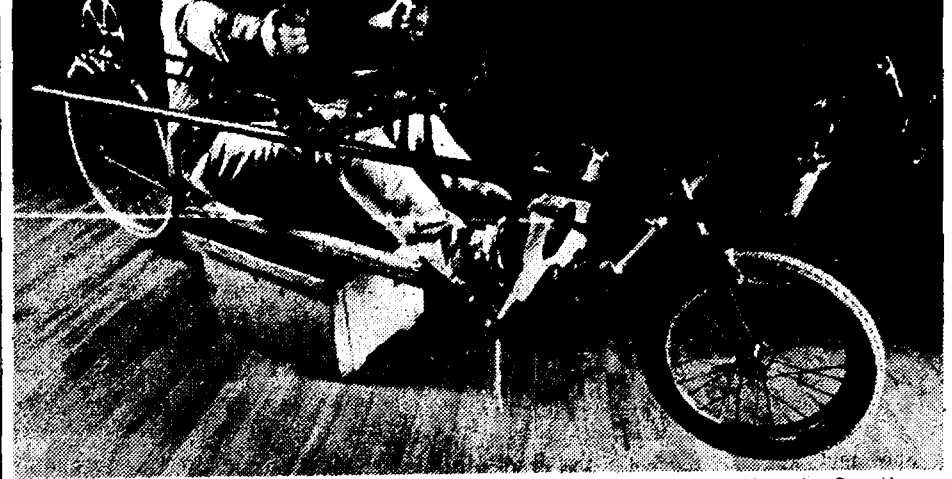

Weighing 45 pounds, the

"bike" is a conglomeration of chains, pulleys, gears, tires and welded steel tubing that looks like a plumber's nightmare.

The rider sits on a wooden seat that slides back and forth on a 40-inch steel track, while his feet are laced into shoes secured to a platform behind the front wheel.

or of Detroit this next election. I only need 1,127 signatures to get on the ballot. Instead of being Mayor Young, I'll be the 'Young Mayor.'"

He realizes his chances of being elected are nearly impossible, "but maybe I'll get the mayor to listen to my ideas concerning Detroit," he said seriously.

SPORTS HIGHLIGHTS
by Tom Seiter

1875 was a black year for baseball. Why? Although baseball leagues had been organized for more than five years, 1875 was a year for problems in baseball. Public support fell off drastically as the result of the conflicting schedules, gambling on the outcome of games, and reports of corruption and dishonesty among the players. The old organization, the National Association had collapsed, but baseball managed to live. In 1876, a new association was founded. It was what we know today as the National League.

"The shoes provide stability for the rider," said Stephen. "They anchor his feet in one spot, like on a rowing scull."

Instead of oars, the driver pushes the bike's handlebars forward and back along a steel track that runs parallel to the rider. This push-pull method provides torque to a large gear on the back tire, which then turns the wheel.

"It looks complicated, but it's really very simple," said Stephen. "I worked on the idea since 1971, but finally put it together this year. It still has to be refined before I try and patent it, but I'm slowly getting the problems worked out. It'll do 50 mph."

The bike has already won notoriety in the neighborhood. Children and students constantly drop by the shop to stand slack-jawed before the two-wheeled wonder.

Known as "Mr. Bicycle" to his friends, Stephen became interested in bikes in 1971. "I used to crew for the Detroit Boat Club, and after the rowing season ended, I looked for something else physically demanding to do," said Stephen.

"So I entered the bike marathon at Belle Isle that year and won it. Altogether I rode 305 miles around the island. I was pretty bored while riding and kept thinking about rowing. It was then I decided to combine biking and rowing in one machine."

Before long, Stephen had created his first "rowing cycle."

"People can't accept the idea of rowing on land instead of water," said Stephen with a grin. "It's a hard idea for them to believe."

Later, with the help of a friend, Stephen went into the bicycle business full time. He's just opened up his second shop at Kercheval and Alter road. "We'll concentrate on repairs and selling used bikes there," he said. "We'll take care of the 'elite' bikes in this shop."

Stephen has a degree in industrial design, and as befitting a bike shop owner, doesn't own a car. "I ride to work on my World War I 'Paratrooper' bike," smiled Stephen. "It's a folding model that is so small it can be stored in the trunk of a VW. I bought two of them from a woman in the West Indies. She kept them folded on her boat, and then would take them out to ride around various parts of call. They're in perfect shape."

While talking, a young girl pushed her bike into the shop. The rear tire was flat. With a professional air and an economy of motion, Stephen removed the rear tire and replaced the useless inner tube. Placing the tire on a bench, he refilled it from a compressed air cylinder.

"I don't use oxygen in the tires I repair," he said, watching a quivering gauge. "I use only pure nitrogen. It's a heavier gas than oxygen and doesn't leak out as easily. It also doesn't oxidize the rubber, thereby preserving it longer."

Flipping the tire up, he quickly attached it to the bike. The whole repair didn't take three minutes.

"I've got lots of ideas about lots of things," said Stephen, lighting a cigarette. "I plan on running for May-

"I don't think Detroit is living up to its full potential. The most popular motor-bicycle over here is the Solex, which is made in France. We're the Motor City," he said emphatically. "We should be selling a bike like that in Paris, instead of the other way around."

Other ideas include using the salt mines beneath Detroit for vast parking lots. "The whole system would run on computers," said Stephen. "A car is dropped off in various spots in the city and then conveyed via a subway system to the salt mines. Later on, it's returned to you at the end of the day. Rust will be no problem since there's no water down there to mix with the salt."

Stephen also urges incarcerating felons down in the salt mines to relieve the overcrowded jails. "The mines are geographically sound, why not keep criminals down there? People convicted of minor offenses could be put to work cleaning up the city," he said. "Make speeders and litter bugs clean up a mile of freeway. They'll think twice before repeating the offense and the city will look better."

He also sees a mass-transit system for the Motor City. "We could run a monorail system powered by hydroelectric turbines in the Detroit River. A large volume of slow moving water will generate as much juice as a smaller amount of rapidly moving water, like at dams," he stated. "Of course, we would build a small version of it at Belle Isle for test purposes."

If he isn't elected, Stephen has other ideas cooking on the back burner. One involves raising 250, 1930 Nash automobiles now under 300 feet of water in Lake Michigan. "There's all types of them down there," he said. "Sedans, convertibles and limousines. They sank on October 29, 1929, and photographs taken in 1964 show that they're still in perfect shape. The water is frigid that far down, and it's kept the cars in mint condition."

All he needs is a benefactor with $250,000 to invest. "I've already talked to a salvage company about renting a barge and deep sea divers," he said.

"I can guarantee an investor $750,000 once we bring the cars up. We'll also make a movie about the salvaging efforts. That'll probably make more money than the cars would. I can see it now . . ."

Introducing Sabroso.
"Savory, delicious, palatable, tasty, pleasant, delightful..."

—Appleton's New Spanish-English Dictionary.

SABROSO
COFFEE LIQUEUR
IMPORTED FROM MEXICO
Who are we to quarrel with noted authorities?
After all, we make Sabroso Imported Coffee Liqueur to be the richest, smoothest coffee liqueur you can buy. Some say it's the world's richest coffee liqueur. They can go on saying it.
We gather the finest coffee beans in all of Mexico to make Sabroso. They provide the flavor, the body, the coffee-ness that extracts just do not have.
Try it straight. On the rocks. Or in a mixed drink. After dinner — or after anything. You'll see why we insist on making Sabroso from scratch.
Yet at $6.10, this rich liqueur is many pesos less than the leading brand.
Our liqueur is so rich, we had to call it "Sabroso" — Spanish for "savory, delicious, palatable," etc. That's why all the coffee liqueurs, we get rave reviews in every Spanish-English dictionary.

White Sox Lead Ruth Loop in Second Half

By Julian Thomas

Behind the strong pitching of Tom Borland, the Metropolitan Club Indians edged the Kotlar Yankees, 3-2, in recent Babe Ruth League play.

Tom allowed but two hits while fanning 12. John Cammett led the Indian attack with three singles and was supported by Keith Horne, Lenny Bartoszewicz, Jim Miller and Tom McHugh with two hits each.

The D. M. Egan Tigers defeated the Ram's Horn A's, 5-0, as Steve Brandt, in his first start, pitched a no-hitter while striking out 11. Brandt picked up the only Tiger hit as Scott Shapero tossed a one hitter for the A's.

Then, the Burger Chef White Sox bats exploded with 11 hits to down the North-durft Red Sox, 7-3. Kevin McMahon came on in relief for Tom Temrowski to pick up his fifth win. The Sox were led at the plate by Temrowski with three hits including two doubles. Kevin McMahon and Mike Bevier also had two hits each. Tom McShane and Tom McDonald accounted for four of the Red Sox hits.

A close game was decided in the seventh with a back-to-back double, triple and a

Park Viewing Pieces of Land

Pieces of property which Park city officials are considering obtaining were subjects of consideration at the regular council meeting Monday, June 14.

As part of potential acquisitions under the Community Block Grant Program for 1975-76, City Manager Robert A. Slone said negotiations are underway for property in Mack, Kercheval and East Jefferson avenues.

As planned at this time, if all goes well, the city hopes to utilize these locations in the area of open space, e.g., off-street parking.

Meanwhile, the city has been offered, as a gift, the vacant lot located at 1322 Somerset road. Mr. Slone stated the council tabled action on this matter because they want to further study its possible usage.

The lot involved is 40 by 119 feet and it's being considered, if the gift was accepted, for off-street parking. However, the city manager noted due to the dimensions of the grounds and the fact there's no alley behind it, (hence, ingress and egress problems), this potential use is far from a certainty.

The area is a two family residential zone and if the lot could be used for off-street parking, it might help alleviate the on-street parking situation on Somerset, which permits parking on only one side of the street.

However, what happens regarding this lot awaits further council action at this point in time.

Many Participate in GP Club's Annual Regatta

By C. G. Eugendies

The Grosse Pointe Yacht Club held its annual regatta on Saturday, June 12, on the standard DRYA course. The winds were easterly 15-20 knots with waves from one-three feet.

Marmalade, a brand new Peterson 34 tonner, won first place in Division Two in her first race of the season. Sundance II, a Peterson 34 tonner arrived at Bayview on Wednesday before the race but Don McQueen was unable to get everything together in two days.

In Division One, first place was taken by Ricochet with a margin of 54 seconds on corrected time. The final standings for Racing A were Ricochet, Aggressive II and Leading Edge, and the order of finishes for Cruising A were Valkyrie, Roulette III, Fujimi, Ripple and Meteor IV.

Hot Spur, Moonraker and Han Dynasty took flags in Class B. Piet Hein nosed out Morning Star which has a complete new bottom and taller spar. Dawn Treader, Devastator, Checkmate, The World Is Mad, Tangerine, Foxy Azteca and I Luff Lucy comprised the rest of the fleet in B.

Talaria II, Rage and Blue-jacket were one-two-three in the One Ton group. Smitten, Notre Dame Du Lac, Pen-dragon and Goldbug all came in within five minutes of Talaria II. That is good racing. Gangbusters was out of commission. During the 103 mile race, sponsored by the Windsor Yacht Club, they put too much tension on the forestay and backstay, and cracked the hull just in front of the keel.

The 34 Ton Class had nine yachts finishing and they were all within 10 minutes of Marmalade who was first followed by Quicksilver, Rogue, Rumrunner, Trebel, Ciel IV, Rage, Arbitrage, Managerie and TNT.

Herb Mainwaring did it again in Class C when his Easterly beat out Long Shot and Exile. Actually, Exile came in first on a boat boat basis but dropped to third on corrected time.

C. E. Exley, skipper of Exile, flew to New York, picked up his IOR certificate and brought it back here to be sure he could race in his club's regatta. The sound of the gun for first place must have been worth it. Beeline, Chula, Whiskers, Vitamin Z and Jaeger finished within 20 minutes of Easterly.

Cheers, Hyperbole and Chaka won trophies in Class D. The other four yachts in D, Candor, Kukla, Yashou and Red Witch, finished within 2 1/2 minutes of each other. Modified A had a good turnout for the race. The 13 yachts finished within 22 minutes in the following order: Wind Toy IV, Asmara, Debbie Sue, Windtime, Great Lakes, Belle Aureole, Gretch III, Patriot, Tigress, Tortue, Fanello, Andonyne and Sea Wolf II.

Charlie Bayer's Old Bear won first place in Modified B with Alida and Sea Hawk, second and third. Hypothesis, Cochise, Columbia III, Yare, Rhogee II and Da Kine came in as listed above.

Modified C yachts sail the "B" course, which is 11.7 nautical miles rather than the "A" course which is 18.5 nautical miles. The actual distance around the courses is a little less and this compensates for the extra distance sailed for the upwind legs.

Sunshine, Brandy and Eagle took flags in Modified C with Hobo, Prestor John, L'Spree, Breezin Thru, Little Yankee IV, Narcissus and Willy Wispe finishing as listed.

The C/C class consists of C/C 35's and Islander 36's, all of whom race 28.5. They comprise the largest class sailing the "A" course. The first three places went to Walloon, Scrimshaw and Cygnus.

The balance of the yachts finishing were Amorina, Confederate Yankee, American Way, Tir Na Nog, Resolute, Excalibur, Bewitched II, Snafu, Spook IV, and Chimo II.

Fly N'Finn, Spindrift and Pisces took trophies in the Performance Handicap Division which sails the "B" course. Pei Villa, Tehani, Sunrise, A La Carte, Veliero, Rainbow IV, Nirwana, Travaje, Mouette and Intin-ator finished as listed.

MORC A had many yachts out on the line and they finished in the following order: Akela, Defiant, Gusto, Rapid Transit, Athena, Coquette, Cloud Nine, Smoke, White Lightning, Artica, Winder-mer, Rascal, Abraxas, Shamrock, Voyageur and Ultimate.

Spirit of 78, Aqua Vite, Kraken, Pegasus, Moonlight, Incantation, Mairi Deare, Sunrise, Janta and Joint Venture finished as listed in MORC B.

The Grosse Pointe Yacht

Club Regatta had the largest fleet of yachts so far this season on the "A" and "B" course. There were 55 starters sailing under the IOR Mark III rule, 58 yachts in the Modified, C/C and PHD classes, and 27 boats in the MORC fleet.

The next local race for the IOR classes will be on Saturday, June 26, and it will be sponsored by the Detroit Boat Club.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

To the mayors of each of the Grosse Pointes and their councils who proclaimed Grosse Pointe Symphony Week, May 17-22.

To Edward Hickey and Sheppard Norton, presidents of the Business Associations, respectively, "On The Village" and "In The Hill," and their committees.

To each of the merchants, realtors and business people who were so very cooperative in helping launch Grosse Pointe Symphony Week by decorating their windows with a musical theme.

All displays showed great imagination and decorative ability. It is difficult to explain in a few words the magnitude of these superb displays which extended in windows on Fisher road and Mack avenue.

The instruments represented music from around the world. Many were antiques, rare and of great value. We appreciate the generosity of those who provided them.

To the donor who made it possible to have amplified symphonic music played both "On The Hill" and "In The Village" during the entire week. We only wish he could have heard the many complimentary remarks, and the questions raised by those who called in to ask what selections were being played.

To the press, radio and TV who gave us such splendid coverage.

To the many exhibitors who had such colorful displays at our Symphony "Market Day" Sale at North High School on May 22.

To the wonderful custodial staff at North High who were so cooperative and perfect gentlemen.

To the contributor of the 1,000 balloons which were released by our mayors to open the Market Day Sale.

To all husbands, daughters, sons and friends who worked so faithfully to make Market Day a great success.

To all the above, the Grosse Pointe Society Board and the Grosse Pointe Symphony Women's Committee express our heartfelt thanks!

Grosse Pointe Symphony Week was filled with many activities and it is sincerely hoped that the participation of so many has made the community more aware of its fine Symphony Orchestra.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Lyndle R. Martin,
Chairman

What Goes On at Your Library

By Arthur M. Woodford
Chief of Central Library

This is the fourth of a ten-part series entitled "Bicentennial Biographies." The subject of this week's column is Patrick Henry, (b. Hanover County, Va., 1736—d. Red Hill, Va., 1799.)

Probably best remembered for his words, "Give me liberty or give me death," Patrick Henry was one of the most distinguished statesmen and orators of the Revolutionary War period.

A man who heard many of Henry's speeches once said of him, "He is by far the most powerful speaker I ever heard. Every word he says not only engages but commands the attention."

As a young man, Henry was a storekeeper for a time, but was such a poor businessman that he was soon hopelessly in debt. He turned to the study of law and politics and in 1764 was elected to the Virginia House of Burgesses.

Soon he became a leader, supporting frontier interests against the old aristocracy. He upheld the rights which the colonies were guaranteed by their charters.

His speech against the Stamp Act in 1765 is one of his greatest orations. In it appear the often-quoted words: "Caesar had his Brutus—Charles the First, his Cromwell—and George the Third—may profit by their example. If this be treason, make the most of it!"

It was in 1775, as a member of the Virginia Provincial Convention that Henry spoke his famous "Give me liberty or give me death" speech. He urged that the Virginia militia be armed for the defense of the colony against England.

When war broke out Henry was elected governor and was reelected four times. In 1788, Henry served in the Virginia state convention which was called to ratify the United States Constitution. He opposed ratification because he believed that the Constitution endangered the rights of individuals and states.

But after he lost, he accepted the Constitution, joined the Federalist Party and actively worked for the adoption of the first 10 amendments—the Bill of Rights.

Public service left Henry badly in debt, and in 1788 he returned to his law practice. His fame and reputation as a brilliant speaker gained him many clients, and he soon became a successful criminal lawyer. His fees from his law practice helped him to buy land, and in 1794 he retired to his Red Hill estate near Appomattox, VA.

The Grosse Pointe Public Library has three fine biographies of Patrick Henry in its collection. The newest of these, published in 1974, is Richard R. Beeman's PATRICK HENRY, (McGraw-Hill).

For the interested reader, this well-written, carefully researched biography will do much to explain the patriot Patrick Henry. Mr. Beeman's approach—analysis of the man against the society in which he lived—is a valid one.

Facts about Henry are few. One early adulatory biographer, William Wirt, invented data when he couldn't find them and some of this misinformation persists to day. Mr. Beeman's secondary purpose is to "wrest Henry from Wirt's grasp."

Henry clearly was an exasperating man, particularly to Thomas Jefferson. His ideologies shifted—events and people shaped his attitudes. The author's self-discipline keeps this book from dramatics and makes it a good contribution to revisionist history.

PATRICK HENRY: PATRIOT IN THE MAKING, (Lippincott), by Robert D. Meade carries Henry through his early years to 1774 and his attendance in the first Continental Congress.

Painstaking and meticulous, amply annotated and referenced, this book has proved to be a study of Henry's life. Mr. Meade made exhaustive study of materials in Scotland, England and the United States and found numerous batches of unpublished manuscripts.

As well as being the story of Patrick Henry's early life, this book also is a splendid account of the growth of the revolutionary spirit in Virginia.

PATRICK HENRY AND HIS WORLD, (Doubleday), by George Willison is a well-paced book (liberally spiced with many revealing and often amusing anecdotes.) Here Mr. Willison vividly portrays the world in which Henry lived, capturing well the spirit and complexity of the times. This book is frequently enlivened with long quotes from Henry who may well have been, states the author, "the greatest orator of his age."

Conducting the orchestra during the tour will be South High School music director Russell Reed.

After its opening in Interlochen on Monday, June 21, the group traveled to a June 22 concert in Petoskey and spend the 23rd in Marquette.

Pointers Join 'Sound of '76'

Sixteen Pointe musicians joined students from all over Michigan last week for seven days of intensive preparation for their statewide "Sounds of '76" concert tour.

The musicians were selected from 450 finalists from 78 Michigan high schools after auditions and personal interviews. They each will perform in a number of roles ranging from instrumentalists, singers, dancers, announcers and librarians to stagehands.

Each performance will consist of mini-concerts by the orchestra, choir, jazz ensemble, swing choir and concert band, culminating in a grand finale by the entire group.

"Sounds of '76" musicians from South High School include Julia Berry, of Lakeland avenue, Blaire Houchens, of Lincoln road, Jay A. McCormick, of Rivard boulevard, Susan Ulmer, of Lincoln road, Jim Bonner, of Barrington road, Michael Kemp, of Three Mile drive, Laurie Miller, of Harvard road, and Jennifer and Dan Zinn, of Lakepointe avenue.

North High musicians making the tour are Sarah Gail, of Van Antwerp road, Jill Haelewyn, of Stanhope avenue, David, Robert and Michael Reed, of Stanhope avenue, Diane Slavik, of Peach Tree lane, and Barbara Duncan, of Michaux lane.

Conducting the orchestra during the tour will be South High School music director Russell Reed.

The tour will close with a July 4 concert in Detroit's Patton Park following a parade and picnic scheduled as part of the International Freedom Festival.

Dean E. Richardson, of Cloverly road, is one of four new vice-presidents elected by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra board of directors to serve during the 1976-77 season.

Mr. Richardson, chairman of the board of directors of Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit and Manufacturers National Corporation, has been a member of the DSO board since 1970. He served as chairman of the DSO's annual fund drive last year.

Among those re-elected to their current posts during the DSO board's June 18 meeting were John B. Ford, chairman, Robert B. Semple, president, and vice-presidents Norman A. Bolz, Pierre V. Heffler and Ralph T. McElvenny, all Pointers.

Cottage Auxiliary Welcomes Men

Volunteers of Both Sexes Are Encouraged to Join Group of Hospital Volunteers; Cita Barlow Heads Executive Board

The Women's Auxiliary to Cottage Hospital held its general spring luncheon meeting at Lochmoor Club earlier this month, and agreed to change its name. Members passed a resolution that their group henceforth be known as the Cottage Hospital Auxiliary.

The idea is to encourage men to take an active part in the Auxiliary; any who are interested are invited to contact the director of volunteers, Margaret Hutchings, at the Hospital.

She's got lots of places where she could use good, male volunteers.

Mrs. Roger F. McNeill, luncheon chairman, arranged a program presented by the Windsor Light Opera Association.

The Auxiliary's executive board for 1976 is headed by Cita (Mrs. John R.) Barlow as president and Jo Anne (Mrs. James E.) St. Denis as president-elect.

First and second vice-presidents are, respectively, Loretta (Mrs. Joseph A.) Schultz and Marcy (Mrs. Roger F.) McNeill. Eula (Mrs. William F.) Hoover serves as recording secretary. Theresa (Mrs. Adele) stepped into the breach. She has now completed her own full term as president. She remains active in her church, Our Lady of the Sea, and in civic fund-raising, and serves as secretary of Grosse Pointe Woods Senior Citizens. She enjoys square dancing, bowling and golf.

John J.) Sheehan as corresponding secretary, Mary Jo (Mrs. Jack F.) Hanika as treasurer.

Assistant treasurer is Pat (Mrs. Gerald) Jorgenson. Mrs. Cheryl Campbell is historian/publicity person. Betty (Mrs. Jack) Leithausen is nominating chairperson.

Parliamentarian is Violet (Mrs. Warren R.) Jollymore. Joe Ann (Mrs. Virgil P.) Goodman heads the ways and means committee.

Guild chairpersons are Betsy (Mrs. John R.) Sutton, III, Book Cart; Loretta (Mrs. Harold) Cross, General; Margaret (Mrs. Howard N.) Maynard, Gift Shop; Vivian (Mrs. William) Briscoe, Patient Service; and Eileen (Mrs. Fred B.) Hunt, Sunshine.

Standing committees are headed by Brownie (Mrs. Francis B.) Van Deusen, Isabelle (Mrs. James B.) Ogden, Doris (Mrs. Kenneth R.) Smith, Cita Barlow, Mary Jo (Mrs. Dallas J.) Chapin, Bev (Mrs. Walter H.) Remtor and Mary (Mrs. Robert) Batten.

Among the Auxiliary's most recent activities was the second annual ice cream social for Cottage employees, held June 2 on the Hospital's roof garden. Mrs. John H. Marshall headed the committee which arranged the social.

Kelly James Kettermans Sail Away on The Bob-Lo Boat, Specially-Decorated for Their Very Special Reception

The Bob-Lo Boat, SS Columbia, flew a special pennant Friday evening: a green and yellow flag bearing the names of Joan Laurie Browning and Kelly James Ketterman, who had just exchanged marriage vows in Saint Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore and were sailing away, with a shipful of guests, for a very special reception.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo D. Browning, of Lakeland avenue. Mr. Browning is president of the Bob-Lo Company.

The bridegroom, who has been making his home in University place where the newlyweds will reside when they return from a vacation on St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands, is the son of Mrs. John Swift, of Saginaw, and the late Cecil Grant Ketterman.

For the 7:30 o'clock ceremony at which The Reverend James F. Cronk presided, the

Mr. Sturtevant To Claim Bride

The engagement of Judith Anne Thomas and Mark D. Sturtevant has been announced by her mother, Mrs. Raymond B. Thomas, of Rochester. They plan to be married next May 14.

Miss Thomas, who is also the daughter of the late Mr. Thomas, was graduated from Ladywood High School and received her Bachelor of Arts degree in Education from Oakland University.

Mr. Sturtevant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark J. Sturtevant, of Washington road, was graduated from Grosse Pointe High School and attended Eastern Michigan University.

former Miss Browning chose an Empire gown of white eyelet. A band of Cluny lace circled her neckline and her bishop sleeves, ending in eyelet ruffles, featured inserts of matching lace.

More eyelet ruffles and lace bands rimmed the hem of her A-line skirt and train. She wore a white picture hat, trimmed with Cluny lace and illusion netting forming a bouffant bow, and carried a Colonial arrangement of white roses, stephanotis and baby's-breath.

Mary Brady Browning and Mrs. Sheldon Hall were maid and matron of honor for their sister. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Michael Browning, of Indianapolis, their sister-in-law, Jean Batey and Kate Phillip, both of Denver, Colo., and Mrs. Roger Jones, a former Pointer who now makes her home in Flint.

Their white cotton frocks, trimmed with yellow ribbon, featured ruffled eyelet hems. Yellow daisies formed their Colonial bouquets.

Grant Ketterman came from Portland, Ore., to act as his brother's best man. In the usher corps were two other brothers, Kim Ketterman, of Saginaw, and Gary Ketterman, of Ypsilanti; Edward Coates, of Saginaw; Noble Schuler, of Albion; Fred Thompson, of Detroit, and the bride's brothers, Geoffrey Browning, of Chicago, Michael Browning, Robert Browning, who flew in from Saudi Arabia, where he has been working for the past nine months, (he returns to Riyadh, Saudi Arabia's capital, June 30, for a second nine-month stint), and James Browning.

Mrs. Browning chose a gown of ivory lace over yellow peau for her daughter's wedding. She pinned a cymbidium orchid corsage to her purse.

The bridegroom's mother chose a pastel print dress and jacket ensemble, and a cymbidium orchid corsage.

The SS Columbia was decorated for the reception with 500 helium-filled balloons, each bearing Kelly and Joan's names. A 50-foot sign reading "Congratulations, Joan and Kelly," created by Mary Brady Browning and her friends, was placed on the third deck.

Guests sat at tables decorated with daisies in glasses featuring paintings of the SS Columbia and the SS Ste. Claire, and danced to music by Jo Vitale's Orchestra. Jo and his band have played on the Bob-Lo boats for the 27 years they have been operated by Browning Lines.

At one point during the evening, Kelly's groomsmen, ushers and fraternity brothers donned Bob-Lo hats to serenade the newlyweds with "Cruising Down to Bob-Lo."

Sauer-Tichenor Rites Are Read

Planning to make their home in Toledo are Mr. and Mrs. Eric John Sauer, whose wedding Saturday, June 12, in Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church was followed by a reception at the Shorian Motor Inn.

Dr. Robert C. Linthicum presided at the mid-afternoon rites for which the bride, the former Frances Lillian Tichenor, daughter of Mrs. Byram Tichenor, of Torrey road, and the late Mr. Tichenor, chose a tiered white chiffon gown.

She wore a garden hat, trimmed with white chiffon, and carried a round bouquet of white carnations and yellow Sweetheart roses, baby's-breath and ivy streamers.

She was attended by Theresa A. Czapl, in an Empire-waisted, cape-sleeved frock of apricot crepe, carrying a round bouquet of yellow daisies, Zerrenia Sweetheart roses and baby's-breath.

Mr. Sauer, son of Mrs. Olga Sauer, of Orange, Conn., and John Sauer, of Moross-road, asked John H. Hock, of Ann Arbor, to act as best man at the 3 o'clock rites.

Ushers were Richard Swor, of Trenton, and Steve Mahalik, of Northville.

The mother of the bride's grey-blue gown was floor length and long-sleeved. Daisies and yellow roses formed her wrist corsage. Floral motifs accented the skirt of the bridegroom's mother's floor length, long-sleeved peach sheath. Her corsage was fashioned of daisies and Zerrenia roses.

The newlyweds vacationed in Toronto.

A Peach of a Houseguest

J. B. Fitzpatrick, chairman, Manufacturing Engineers, was the houseguest of Judy Bagwell Luhiwa in Devonshire road recently, and as houseguests go, J.B. is fantastic!

Not only is he an easy person to have around—he's a gourmet cook, specializing in such goodies as stuffed filet of sole, canapes and hors d'oeuvres... and he insisted on acting as "Guest Chef" at Judy's residence once the two-day session of Regional Council Chairmen at World Headquarters, Society of Manufacturing Engineers, Dearborn, was over.

So, for the balance of the week following the national meeting, Judy, her son Scott and a group of friends who are still talking about J.B.'s culinary talents, really lucked out.

There was a dinner party, of course, with Mr. and Mrs. C. Vernon Cox, of Heather lane, Judy Cox and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dugger, of East Detroit, Mrs.

Miss Brown Says Vows on May 21

Grosse Pointe Hunt Club Reception Follows Early Evening Rites at Which She Becomes Bride of Robert Charles McLravy, II

Lightning struck Immanuel Lutheran Church early Monday, May 17, and the damage was such that the idea of holding a wedding there the following Friday, May 21, was unthinkable—so, after a suitable amount of last-minute scrambling, Charlotte Anne Brown spoke her marriage vows to Robert Charles McLravy, II, in First English Evangelical Lutheran Church.

The date remained Friday, May 21. Immanuel Church Pastor Constantine Trued officiated, as promised.

It was a beautiful ceremony, the bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. K. Brown, of Sunningdale drive, in a white organza gown, her bodice, cap sleeves and mandarin collar fashioned of re-embroidered Alencon lace, matching lace at her skirt hem and train.

More re-embroidered lace accented her short, white veil, caught by a small, lace cap. A few blue forget-me-nots were tucked into her bouquet of stephanotis and yellow Sweetheart roses.

The former Miss Brown is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Otto Lundell, of Grosse Pointe, and the late Mr. and Mrs. John F. K. Brown, of Scranton, Pa.

Mr. McLravy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. McLravy, of Lansing, and Marriage vows were spoken Friday evening, May 21, in First English Evangelical Lutheran Church by CHARLOTTE ANNE BROWN, daughter of the Charles D. K. Browns, of Sunningdale drive, and Mr. McLravy, son of the Robert C. McLravy's, of Lansing.

The C. R. Rutans, Jr.

JUDITH ANN GEIS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Geis, Jr., of East Detroit, was married Friday, May 14, in Saint Veronica's Catholic Church, East Detroit, to Mr. Rutan, son of the Charles R. Rutans, of Barclay Road.

At home in Mount Clemens are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Richard Rutan, Jr., who vacationed in Jamaica following their wedding Friday evening, May 14, in Saint Veronica's Catholic Church, East Detroit.

The 6:15 o'clock ceremony at which Father Leo J. Burke presided was followed by a reception at Leo XIII Knights of Columbus Hall in East Detroit.

The mass booklets were constructed and put together by the bride, secretary to the general manager of the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. She also wrote the couple's wedding vows and ring ceremony vows, and picked the scriptural readings.

The former Judith Ann Geis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Geis, Jr., of East Detroit, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of ivory organza over taffeta, styled with long sleeves and a scoop neckline.

Alencon lace studded with seed pearls accented her bodice, sleeves, hem and train. The beading on her three-quarter length mantilla veil trimmed in Alencon lace and seed pearls was done by scriptural readings.

The 5:30 o'clock rites were followed by a reception at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club, after which the newlyweds left to vacation in Seattle. They will be making their home in Ann Arbor.

Kathryn Chalmers Brown, in a yellow organza frock, her halter neck ruffle-edged, matching the ruffle trimming her full skirt, was her sister's honor attendant. A matching stole covered her shoulders.

Bridesmaids, dressed identically, were Mrs. John L. Barlow, another sister, Mrs. Charles D. L. Brown, their sister-in-law, Mrs. Theodore Nichols and Mrs. Irving Fishman, the bride's cousins, and Katherine Allen, of Minneapolis, Minn.

They carried mixed bouquets of white and yellow daisy mums, pink Elegance and white baby's-breath.

Small, pleated ruffles trimmed the cuffs and neck of the long-sleeved, long-skirted, pastel-printed cotton Mrs. Brown selected for her daughter's wedding. She pinned a white Eucharis lily to her purse.

The bridegroom's mother chose a multi-colored silk primrose styled with a mandarin collar, to which she pinned a white Eucharis lily corsage.

THE OLD BIRCHWOOD FARM ESTATE.

(3 miles from Harbor Springs, 11 miles from Petoskey)

It's not just the golf, tennis, riding, boating, fishing, swimming, skiing and other superb sports and social activities that make the Harbor Springs/Petoskey area so desirable for you.

It's also the people who own property at Birchwood. Let us introduce you to some of them — and tell you some reasons why they chose us.

You have every right to ask us precisely who now owns property at The Old Birchwood Farm Estate leisure colony in the superb Harbor Springs/Petoskey area of Lake Michigan. A young, ear, nose and throat specialist, for one, and a bit older doctor, who's one of the most highly regarded orthopedic surgeons in the U.S. A youthful Chairman of the Board of a national company, and a retired manufacturer. An attorney for one of the two major motor companies, and a former corporate controller for the other. A research physicist, and the owner and President of the local title and abstract company in the county in which Birchwood is located (who certainly should recognize a desirable real estate situation when he sees it). And many other well known professional and executive people from many parts of the Midwest, along with others who are not so famous or wealthy, including individuals in retailing, construction, communications, electronics, aviation, property, dentistry, accounting — and yes, the head of the company developing The Old Birchwood Farm Estate.

Pictured above at left are an owner and his wife, the young radio and television personality, J. P. McCarthy from Bloomfield Hills. Because of his expertise, we asked J. P. to interview some of his fellow Birchwood Farm Estate property owners to find out more about them as people — and to learn why they decided to buy here instead of elsewhere, and what happened after they did. Some of his questions: Did they choose property ownership for personal use? How really well-planned do they think are the Birchwood Farm Estate 18-hole championship golf course, the tennis courts, clubhouse complex amenities and facilities, scheduled for completion in December 1975?

Have there been any surprises, pleasant or otherwise? Are they satisfied with the management, and are its promises being kept? Are there business opportunities for anyone who'd like to live here full-time, now or later? These questions and many more.

After the taping, we secured the permission of the owners to present their thoughts and their names in a special booklet, because we think you'll find this information interesting and important. We also have prepared a fine presentation book which contains a multitude of untouched color prints showing Birchwood Farm Estate's unexcelled natural endowments and the extraordinary array of recreational facilities being created here. And, at this particularly opportune time, we will deliver both of these to you, for your personal perusal in the privacy of your own home.

AN INVITATION

We invite you to receive this complete information on Birchwood Farm Estate entirely without cost or obligation of any kind, along with an invitation to see this luxurious leisure colony and surrounding area as our overnight guest if you are sincerely interested in investigating further.

Let's Talk Real Estate

by John E. Brink

What's happening to our market? Prices are increasing so rapidly, even we Real Estate folk are blinking our eyes. It's a tricky market too. We saw one home for sale "by owner" that was simply outrageously over priced. This isn't wrong however, because, one should get as much as the market will pay.

This enormous pricing generally doesn't work because the public is usually pretty sharp. It does play havoc with the poor buyers however because it confuses the issue: questions like "why is this home so much less than that one?" abound.

Is this market here to stay? Will it prove out as the steady appreciation that has taken place over the past five or six years or will the bubble break leaving a number of home owners regretting the unfortunate timing in purchasing their home?

We say it's a good market and, as usual will prove to be your best investment for your future. But beware, make sure you are in good competent hands of a Real Estate Representative. They can steer you through these times unscathed. Now is the time more than ever, where the Real Estate Professionals earn their salt—use them, they are free!

If you are wondering about the advisability of a one year warranty, whether it's any good or just a gimmick—call the representatives at Grosse Pointe Real Estate Co. 882-0087. They will tell you many surprising facts about the revolutionary one year warranty.

Hansen-Westhoff Rites Celebrated

Garden Reception Follows Late May Rites; Bridal Gown Was Worn by Bridegroom's Mother at Her Ann Arbor Wedding

Setting for the wedding of Carolyn Louise Westhoff, a fourth year Medical student at the University of Michigan, and Jeffrey Bayard Hansen, also a student at that school, was the Devonshire road home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Westhoff.

The late afternoon ceremony Saturday, May 29, with The Reverend J. Daniel Burke, of Ann Arbor, presiding, was followed by a garden reception.

The Reverend Burke, formerly of Grosse Pointe, is Episcopal clergyman at the U. of M. Medical School, where he heads the program on health and human values.

Music before and during the ceremony, performed by two flutists and a guitarist, all graduate students at the University of Michigan Music School, included compositions by Mozart, Scheidler and Telemann.

Readings were offered during the service by the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Marie Hansen, of Westfield, N. J., and by Mr. Michael and Dr. Patricia Quinn, of Washington, D. C., longtime classmates of the couple.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore the deep ivory gown styled with a lace bodice and bouffant taffeta skirt that the bridegroom's mother had worn at her wedding in Ann Arbor in

Camp Dates Available For Diabetic Children

The American Diabetes Association, Michigan Affiliate, is still accepting applications from diabetic children, ages six through 16, for its summer Camp Midicha, located in Columbiaville, just northeast of Flint.

Camp Midicha, now in its 22nd year, offers youngsters the opportunity to learn about their diabetes and how to care for themselves. Informal discussions about diabetic care are held throughout the two-week sessions.

The camp is operated by a staff of specialists and counselors who plan the activities and supervise the program. There is also a special staff of doctors and nurses who provide around-the-clock medical care.

A dietitian is on staff to accommodate the dietary needs of each camper.

Camp activities include arts and crafts, swimming, canoeing, horseback riding, camp fires and treasure hunts, overnight camp-outs and hiking.

Fees are $165 for a two-week session. Camperships are available; no child is ever turned away for financial reasons.

Camp begins this Sunday, June 27. Three two-week sessions and a one-week session for six to 10-year-olds are scheduled. There are still openings in all sessions.

Further information and applications are available at the Association's office in West Outer drive, Detroit, 342-9333.

Robert L. Hamilton, the former Julie Childress, of Grosse Pointe.

They wore dresses of green voile sprigged with yellow and white flowers and carried bouquets of yellow daisies, complementing the yellow and white daisies decorating the Westhoff home.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Bayard Hansen, of New Canaan, Conn., asked former Pointer Irving E. Ingraham, who now makes his home in Medford, Mass., to act as best man, and Alan H. Purdy, of Canandaigua, N. Y., to usher.

The bride's mother wore amber and rose chiffon, the bridegroom's mother soft green chiffon.

The newlyweds are at home in Ann Arbor.

Out-of-town guests included Cmdr. and Mrs. John R. High, of Pasadena, Calif.; Mrs. Joseph Marr Gwinn, of Cohasset, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Conway, of Palatine, Ill.; and Mrs. Rudolph Capraro, of Westfield, N. J., all aunts and uncles of the bridegroom; Stephen Brummel, of Washington, D. C., and the bridegroom's sister, Ms. Randi Hansen Crawford, of New York City.

Second place winner in the high school division of the Detroit Press Club Foundation's 11th annual awards competition was Grosse Pointe South High School's JOHN PALFFY.

Bayview Holds Spring Regatta

By C. G. Eugenides
Bayview Yacht Club recently held its spring Regatta. The winds on Lake St. Clair were southeasterly at 15 to 20 knots with gusts to 25 knots.

At the regatta party following the race, a number of skippers indicated strong approval of the concept of a full windward start. Gangbusters won overall in Division One by 57 seconds. Smitten, who was out for the first time this year, was second. In Division Two, Hot Flash was an easy winner for overall honors. She was 5 1/2 minutes ahead of Easterly, who finished second in Division Two.

Class A Racing was won by Ricochet, followed by Aggressive II and Leading Edge. Valkrie was first in Class A Cruising with Aphrodite, Roulette III, Ripple and Sassy close behind.

Moonraker, Hot Spur and Han Dynasty won trophies in Class B. The balance of the finishers were Piet Hein, The World Is Mad, Checkmate, Devastator, Tangerine and I Luff Lucy.

In One Ton, Gangbusters, with her new tall rig, and Smitten, with her new rudder, were able to break the winning streak of Talaria II. Rage, Razzia, Hustler, Goldbug, Bluejacket and Pen-dragon finished in the order listed above.

George Gerow's Quicksilver won the Three Quarter Ton Class with a 18 second lead over Rumrunner, who was second. Rogue came in third, a minute and 46 seconds behind Rumrunner. Treble Clef IV, Managerie, Psyche, TNT, Rage and Arbitrage were other finishers.

Easterly won Class C with the other two flags going to Sea Fever IV and Exalle. Beeline, Yellow Bird, Whiskers, Zorba, Vitamin Z and Cannibal comprised the balance of the Class C starters.

Hot Flash easily won Class D with a margin of 11 minutes and 37 seconds over Cheers, who was second. Hyperbole was one minute and 18 seconds behind Cheers. Chaka, Candor, Kula, Red Witch and Aries were the rest of the boats in Class D.

Mod A trophies went to Gretch III, Wind Toy IV and Asmara. Debbie Sue, Windtime, Fanella, Apache, Great Lakes, Anodyne, No-mad and Patriot finished in the order listed above.

Kostandinos Kost, Bayview's Race Committee chairman, was unable to skipper his 35-footer because he was heavily involved in managing the race. His wife took the boat and came in third, six seconds behind Old Bear, who was second, and two minutes and 22 seconds behind Steve Perry, who won Mod B with his sloop Alda.

Columbia III, Happiness, Cochise, Sea Hawk, Yare, Rhogee II and Irish Mist II were the finishers in Mod B. Flag winners in Mod C were Pot O Gold, Brandy and Hobo. The finishers were Sunshine, Little Yankee IV, Breezin Thru, Willy Wipe, Narcissus and Eagle.

The CIC group had 15 yachts out on the line. The trophy winners consisted of Excalibur, Walloon and Bewitched II. Cygnus, American Way, Scrimshaw, Resolute, Confederate Yankee, Amorina, Ghost, Chimo II, Tir Na Nog, Revenge, Sna-fu and Spook IV finished as listed above.

The Performance Handicap Division had seven starters with flags going to Sunrise, Rainbow IV and Piz Vela. The other four boats in order of finish were Travaie, Vellero, Tehani and Nir-wanna, an "R" boat that was built in 1912 and skippered by William Gay out of the Detroit Yacht Club.

The MIDGET Ocean Racing Class (MORC), consists of yachts that are less than 30 feet overall. The competition is very keen and some of the ablest skippers in the area race with this class.

Trophy winners in MORC A were Cloud Nine No. One, Stewball and Gusto. The rest of the MORC A fleet, listed in the order in which they finished, are Defiant, Abraxas, Rascal, Athena, Ultimate, Artica, Odds-On, Windermere, Coquette, Calypso, Voyager, Cirrus and Rapid Transit.

MORC B had eight starters with the first three places going to Preadel, Spirit of 78 and Aqua Vite, respectively. The balance of the finishers were Moonlight, Steppenwolf, Janta, Pegasus and Sunrise.

Paul Goetcheus, of Lakeshore road, and Charles Davis Jr. of Stephens road, are the DRYA Fleet Captain and Co-Fleet Captain respectively.

Unlike the race committee chairmen, these two men are on the judges yacht for every race. The amount of work they do behind the scenes to make the races successful is tremendous.

WSU Medical School Wants 'Friends'

MRS. L. MURRAY THOMAS, (right), who accepted the Friends of Wayne State University Medical School's presidential gavel at the Friends' annual meeting, held recently at Scott Hall Basic Sciences Building in the Detroit Medical Center, invited her fellow newly-elected officers over to Berkshire road the other day for a planning session in anticipation of the Friends' major membership drive in July. Serving with Mrs. Thomas in 1976-77 will be, (left to right), MRS. DONALD BIRMINGHAM, of Wedgewood drive, treasurer, MRS. JAMES PIERCE, of Renaud road, recording secretary, and MRS. EBERHARD MAMMEN, of Woods lane, vice-president.

At the annual meeting, Pointer William Kessler gave a slide presentation of the architect's view of the progress joint building project of the WSU Medical School Clinics Building and Detroit General Hospital.

Members and guests then heard of the many contributions the Friends have made in behalf of the Medical School. Friends provide guided tours of the Medical School for high school students and adult organizations, on Tuesday mornings and Thursday afternoons during the academic year. Appointments for interested groups may be made by calling the Medical School's University Relations Department, 577-1495.

Dorothy Adamo, of Dearborn, Roberto Alvira, of Bogota, Colombia, Mrs. Joan Brown, of Detroit, and Debbie Filipiak, of Mount Clemens, sitting down to a truly fabulous repast.

J.B., in addition to time spent in the interests of the Society of Manufacturing Engineers as chairman of Region One, which encompasses Eastern New York State, the New England States and Eastern Canada, operates JB Bio-Engineering, where he designs and constructs special medical instruments and replacement parts for the human body, and is an instructor in Machine Shop Practice and Theory at the New Haven, (Conn.), Easter Seal-Goodwill Rehabilitation Center.

Judy, insurance and estate planning consultant for the Automobile Club of Michigan, is the daughter of the late Paul D. and Edith Bagwell. She met J.B. through her father, who was national president of the United States Jaycees at the same time J.B. was national vice-president.

The two became close friends, and when it came time for J.B. to come to Detroit for the Manufacturing Engineers Regional Chairman's meeting, where else would he headquarter but with "Paul's daughter?"

As for Paul's daughter . . . convinced that some of J.B.'s kitchen talents must have rubbed off, she now claims to be somewhat of an expert in the culinary arts.

Owlsnight Revels

Festivities began in the Country Club's main ballroom, where the Black Velvet provided contemporary dancing/listening sounds. Then, at the stroke of midnight, 200-plus "hooters," young members of the Sigma Gamma Association and their guests, moved to the "Owl's Nest" for a feast of hamburgers and french fries.

The Owlsnight Dance was organized, (exactly), by Sigma Gamma members Mrs. C. Kaiser Eaton and Mrs. Elliott G. Phillips, who had the idea for providing a special way for 16 to 22-year-olds to begin the summer.

The pots of blooming begonias bedecking the Owl's Nest were donated by Mr. and Mrs. William Cox and Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Mack, who hosted a dinner party the preceding evening for Meredith Mack and her 17 out-of-town guests.

Senior owls doing a little hooting themselves June 12 included Mr. and Mrs. C. Howard Crane, II, Mr. and Mrs. David Fitzsimons, Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKnight and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Semple. Dance proceeds will help purchase new equipment for the Detroit Orthopaedic Clinic.
