STRONG TREMORS JOLT-ED the quake-ravaged Friuli area of Italy again Wednesday, knocking down hundreds of buildings and spreading new fear through a land that has been shaking for more than four months. At least eight persons were reported dead, three of them from heart attacks. About 80 persons were injured, many of them from jumping out of windows. Rescue teams started digging through land and rock slides that reportedly buried several cars and two trucks with people in them.

THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH, climaxing years of tension over the issue, opened its priesthood to women Thursday. The final decision came in an emotional, drawn-out session of the church's 65th triennial governing convention. The galleries were packed with about 3,000 spectators. After a four-hour debate, the lay and clergy representatives in the House of Deputies voted by slightly over 50 percent to authorize the ordination of women. The action ratified an affirmative vote a day earlier by the other branch of the church's legislature, the House of Bishops.

ONE WORKMAN WAS killed and six others injured, two of them critically, Friday night when they were overcome by gas at the Donald C. Cook nuclear power plant on Lake Michigan south of Benton Harbor. Officials said there was no damage to the plant and thus no danger of nuclear leakage to the surrounding area. Doctors at Memorial Hospital in Saint Joseph said the men apparently inhaled an excess of argon gas over a long period of time which prevented sufficient oxygen reaching their lungs.

MAYOR YOUNG HAS decided to make wholesale changes in the top command of the Detroit Police Department that will include firing Police Chief Philip G. Tannian. Young already has asked the department's number two officer, Executive Deputy Chief Frank Blount, to leave and there may be changes in as many as a half-dozen other high command positions, it was learned recently. Young wants Blount to leave immediately and he plans to name a new chief to replace Tannian within about a month after Blount's departure.

SECRETARY OF STATE Henry Kissinger said Sunday night, after extensive talks with Prime Minister Ian D. Smith of Rhodesia, he was "satisfied" the head of the white-ruled regime would recommend to his leadership that Rhodesia accept a plan to bring about a transition to black majority rule. There were no details provided, and it was uncertain whether a significant breakthrough was imminent or not.

PRIME MINISTER OLOF Palme's Social Democratic government resigned Monday in Stockholm after a non-socialist coalition won an upset victory in Sunday's parliamentary elections and ousted the Social Democrats from power for the first time in 44 years. Parliament Speaker Henry Allard asked Palme, the longest ruling prime minister in Western Europe, to head a caretaker government until a new government could be formed.

Special Seniors Receive Honors in Woods

was honored for being the citizen in attendance who has lived the longest in The Woods. She is the last living member of the Brys family. Both ladies received congratulations from Mayor BENJAMIN W. PINKOS, (right in both pictures).

GPW Seniors Pleased with Special Day

Hope Expressed That Similar Events Will Be Held Each Year; Estimated 350 Citizens Participate

By Roger A. Waha

While the sky was overcast and a few sprinkles fell through a cool, damp breeze, the warmth and good will of "Senior Citizens Day" in The Woods was the dominating factor in what turned out to be a successful afternoon.

About 350 seniors gathered in the new pool area at the Lake Front Park for a program which included a gymnastics exhibition by UAW-retired workers, a Lighthouse Square Dancers exhibition, bell ringers, (deaf children from St. Clair Shores), and fun and games.

"I think the day was terrific. I have such a nice afterglow about it," said Irene Sutton, chairman of the Senior Citizens Commission, which sponsored the event.

Working Hard

And besides that, she stated positive word-of-mouth has transpired among seniors after it concluded.

After welcoming all residents, senior citizens groups, church groups, et al., Mrs. Sutton said the commission, which was created over two years ago by Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos and the council, has worked hard toward setting up viable activities.

Board, Teacher Union Return to Negotiations To Build on Agreements

Figures Discussed Remain The Same But Six of 14 Disputed Administrative Positions Will Not Be Filled This Year

By Susan McDonald

After a week's respite, both teacher union and Board of Education negotiators were ready to go back to the bargaining table Tuesday, September 20, to again try to build on the tentative agreements reached under mediation several weeks ago.

Although the teams have met several times, no progress has been reported since marathon Labor Day week-end bargaining sessions at which compromises were reached on class size, seniority, reassignment, grievances and Grosse Pointe Education Association (GPEA), use of school facilities.

The figures, however, are still the same. The Board is offering a total of seven percent new money, ($738,000), and proposing to eliminate all longevity pay, (at a maximum of $880 for 23 years), and five lanes of the salary schedule.

Positions Not Filled
GPEA officials say that offer could mean anywhere from a three percent raise for some teachers to as much as 7.4 percent for others who would lose nothing in lanes and longevity.

The GPEA, on the other hand, is still eyeing the 60 percent of the budget they say traditionally goes to teacher pay. This would amount to about $1.1 million in new money or a 17.7 percent increase to cover base salary and all fringes.

In the meantime, the Board acted on some of the mediator's tentative agreements by notifying applicants that six of the 14 disputed administrative positions would not be filled this year, including two guidance coordinators, three library directors and a chief psychologist.

Board team spokesman Lawrence Kennedy said the team received the green light from union officials to reclassify as administrative the positions of career education coordinator, community service director and supervisor of instructional materials.

The Board also is going ahead with plans to fill five more administrative positions, Mr. Kennedy said.

Needed Time

GPEA Executive Director Al Gaiss said that though he was pleased with the Board action, he did not see it as a sign of their willingness to compromise further.

The two sides have not met since Tuesday, September 14, when GPEA officials reported they received what the Board called its final offer. (Continued on Page 2)

Open House Set For Dr. Coats

The Board of Education is hosting a community open house for Dr. and Mrs. William Coats on Sunday, September 26, at the Central Library, 10 Kercheval avenue.

It will be held from 7-9 p.m. "We hope that as many community residents as wish to, will avail themselves of this opportunity to meet our school system's new chief executive," said Robert D. Warner, president of the Board of Education, last week.

Board Trustee Joan R. Hanpeter is in charge of arrangements for the informal gathering.

She said that hosts and hostesses for the occasion are the present Board trustees and their spouses. She, too, urged members of the community to meet Dr. and Mrs. Coats.

Dr. Coats, a former Grosse Pointe teacher, assumed the position of superintendent of schools on July 19. Prior to accepting his appointment in Grosse Pointe, he was superintendent of schools in Kalamazoo, Mich., for four and a half years.

Church Sets Big Event For Oct. 3

GP Memorial to Celebrate Homecoming Sunday with Former Pastors, Charter Members

The congregation of the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church is celebrating Sunday, October 3, as Homecoming Sunday reuniting past and present members with past and present ministers. It's the first such event in the church's history.

The Homecoming program for each of two morning services includes celebration of World Wide communion, special worship services in which Dr. Frank Pitt, Dr. Bertram Atwood and Dr. Ray Kiely will participate, a plaque dedication honoring the ministers who have served the congregation and a social hour in Fellowship Hall.

The plaque is being presented by William J. Scott, Jr., in memory of Roberta B. Scott.

Marks Anniversary

The Homecoming Sunday is regarded as significant in Grosse Pointe history because this year marks the 11th anniversary of the founding of the Memorial Church as the first Protestant church in the community.

The church, which was non-denominational until 1920 when members affiliated with the Presbyterian Church, had 186 charter members.

Surviving members of that group are Mrs. Harold R. Boyer, Mrs. Henry Iveson, Miss Elinor L. Devlin, Mrs. Percival Dodge, Mrs. Fred Hyne, Mrs. Kathleen H. Young, Mrs. Neil McMillan Jr., Mrs. Robert W. Redfield, Miss Margaret Millin, Mrs. Russell H. Lucas and Mrs. Clifford Loranger.

Dinner Planned

Dr. Pitt, who now lives in Ann Arbor, began his 27-year pastorate at the church in 1931. Dr. Atwood served as senior minister from 1959-1969 and is now on the faculty of Princeton Theological Seminary, living in Old Lyme, Conn.

The Women's Association has planned a Homecoming dinner for the entire congregation the evening of Wednesday, September 29.

Members are urged to attend the October 3 Homecoming and to help inform other members of the congregation of the event.

Board Okays New Fiscal Year Budget

Increase in Revenues Placed at Around $2 Million; Schools Cite Assumptions on Basis of Which Document Was Developed

By Roger A. Waha

The Board of Education unanimously approved its fiscal year 1976-77 budget which provides for close to a $2 million increase in revenues, (a total of $22,137,502), over last fiscal year at its meeting Monday evening, September 20. Total expenditures for 1976-77 are placed at around $20,692,459.

Trustee William Huette-man reported a thorough public hearing was held on the budget Monday, September 13, and "no serious challenge" to it occurred since that time. He indicated much serious discussion was conducted by Board members on the package during the week.

After Trustee Laurance J. Harwood said there were a few small items with which he didn't agree regarding monies, Board President Robert D. Warner stated, "All members have certain items they feel more strongly about than others and I understand such concerns."

Assumptions Cited
But on balance Mr. Warner added, "It represents the combined opinion of Board members and their values and judgments with respect to priorities."

In a budget overview provided by the school system, 13 assumptions on which the document had been developed were cited.

One views State Equalized Valuation (SEV). The SEV that serves as the tax base for the school district increased from $498,677,410 last fiscal year to $521,558,560 in 1976-77. The hike of $22,881,150 in SEV was planned in the June 14 millage election.

Another point cited was voted operational millage where citizens approved voted millage of 28.55 for the operation of schools and 1.42 mills for operations of libraries. This millage was voted to maintain existing programs in the face of anticipated losses in State Aid and increasing costs, officials said.

A third point views local property tax. Such a tax provides the Board with its major source of revenue for 1976-77. Of the total revenue of $19,888,331, (in the general fund), an estimated (Continued on Page 4)

Pointe Officials Comment On Open Meetings Law

By George Polgar Jr.

A strong open meetings bill which passed through the State Legislature last week and is expected to be approved by Gov. William Milliken will not greatly affect the operations of Pointe city councils but will, according to School Board President Robert D. Warner, place more pressure on the already overburdened and underpaid Board members.

"Just as in any organization where problems have to be discussed and worked out, members of the Board may make comments or asides which could be misunderstood or blown out of proportion," said Mr. Warner.

"The members of the School Board are already under a great deal of pressure with very little compensation for the time they invest and this bill will certainly not make the job any easier."

GPW Woman Conned Out Of $10,000

Lady Victimized By Pair Who Complete Successful 'Pigeon Drop'

A Farms woman is poorer but wiser after losing $10,000 in a con game known as the "pigeon drop" last week.

The victim said she was approached by two young women, one black and one white, Friday morning, September 17, while at the intersection of Kercheval avenue and Moross road.

She was told that one of the women had found $50,000 in illegal money and didn't know what to do with it. The three women then drove to a parking lot in the 18000 block of Mack avenue.

"Good Faith" Money

The black female left, saying she was going to see her employer, a lawyer, to ask his advice. Upon returning, she said the lawyer suggested that all parties put up "good faith" money before sharing the $80,000.

At this point, the victim went to her bank and withdrew $10,000. She gave it to the black female who said she would turn all the money over to the lawyer for safekeeping.

The black female returned and told the victim to go to a local real estate agency and ask for Mr. White, the lawyer, who would turn over her share.

The victim went to the agency, only to find that there was no Mr. White. Returning to the parking lot, she found that her "benefactors" had left.

Descriptions Given

The victim described the white female as blond, between 20-30 years of age and pregnant. She was wearing a beige dress.

The black female was between 25-35 years of age and was wearing a flowered dress.

Their car was described as a white or grey four door model with a red interior. The front right fender was damaged.

YSD Officer Proposes Big Change

Home Rule Implementation, Certainty of Punishment Cited by Det. Baum in Dealing with Offenders

By Roger A. Waha

A gargantuan undertaking which proposes to reorganize the criminal justice system in the State wherein local/district courts would have the responsibility for all misdemeanors for juveniles and adults has recently been completed by a Youth Service Division, (YSD), detective.

Prepared by YSD Det. Wayne Baum, the program is an outgrowth of not only his dissatisfaction, but the concern of others, over the lack of service provided the Pointes by Wayne County Juvenile Court, plus the disenchantment with the Department of Social Services in its handling of juvenile cases.

With an emphasis upon home rule implementation, the detective's program encompasses a proposed system of criminal justice for the State of Michigan for both juveniles and adults, plus a proposal in relation to criminal justice detention facilities.

Change Needed

"The whole thing is that we are being ripped off by the juvenile justice system in the State as it exists today," stressed Det. Baum, who added today's sometimes takes 13-15 strikes, (offenses), before a juvenile is called out.

"It would be a lot cheaper to let it go the way it is but we are going backwards. The proposals will cost more but they will profit society," he said, while noting a main aspect focuses upon the certainty of punishment via specific court action and follow-through for criminal activity.

"There has to be a change at the State level to be effective," he emphasized in relating his proposals to the complete overhaul of the engine rather than only adding two new sparkplugs.

Woods City Administrator Chester E. Petersen is one of several officials who has reviewed the detective's program and he, along with the others, has nothing but praise for the thought, time and effort which has gone into them.

Based on Experience
"Officer Baum has done a remarkable job in formulating his proposals as an alternative to the current juvenile justice system," said a decidedly elated Mr. Petersen, who felt the officer performed work above and beyond the norm.

"He's done it because he's vitally concerned and interested in young people in the State of Michigan. I endorse his proposals, not as the coordinator of the YSD, but as the city administrator of Grosse Pointe Woods," he said.

"Let's face it, apparently the present system we have in dealing with juveniles has failed," continued Mr. Petersen.

"Here are proposals coming from a so-called practitioner which aren't based on theory. They're based on practical knowledge and experience. His proposals have merit and the legislature should give them consideration." (Continued on Page 8)

City to Hold Public Hearing

The Grosse Pointe City Council has scheduled a special meeting on Monday, October 4, at the Maire School gym, 740 Cadieux road, at 8 p.m., to discuss the proposed consolidation of the police and fire departments. Public input will be welcome.

Woods Seniors Participate in Special Day

(Continued from Page 1) the social-recreation oriented program wherein Woods seniors meet throughout the year for lunch and activities. At the same time, Mrs. Sutton urged more citizens to participate in the group, open to any Woods resident.

"We would like to have a show of force of senior citizens and we want to try to solve some of your problems," she stressed, speaking in behalf of the commission, which makes specific recommendations to the mayor and the council for their consideration and action.

She also cited such activities as the bowling league, golf league, educational program, (via Wayne County Community College), and current efforts towards establishing a Food and Nutrition Program under the direction of the Wayne County Office on Aging in the community.

In noting this is just the beginning, Mrs. Sutton added Woods seniors are setting a precedent for the other Pointes in this area.

Meanwhile, Mr. Pinkos told the crowd he wanted to thank the commission for making such a day possible. "I also want to thank Irene Sutton. Things don't just happen. She has worked hard without any pay or compensation," he said.

After reading a proclamation citing the big day, the mayor added his hope that such an event will continue "year after year after year."

Mrs. Sutton echoed this statement and said it has been a pleasure to work with people her own age in the planning of activities.

"Right Living"
Besides the physical fitness, square dancing and bell ringers' performances, two seniors received special recognition.

Receiving "Queen for a Day" honors as the oldest citizen in attendance was Edith Diehl, who was presented with a gold crown and shawl. As she approached the rostrum, many wanted to know how old she was. It was reported she was over 90 but "she wouldn't tell."

However, moments later, the "news" was finally released — she is 95.

When asked to what she attributed her long life, she replied, "Right living and the right food."

Special Bouquet

Meanwhile, a bouquet of flowers was presented to Natalia Post for being the citizen in attendance who has lived the longest in The Woods. The last living member of the Brys family, she was born in the community 86 years ago. She, by the way, is the mother of commission member Alice Cairns.

In each instance, Mr. Pinkos, who was one of several officials in attendance, personally greeted the award recipients. Others participating included Councilwoman Joan M. Mullan, City Administrator and Mrs. Chester E. Petersen, Parks and Recreation Director and Mrs. Donald J. Hallmann and Administrative Aide Gerard McNamara.

Another senior receiving an award was Adele Ryder, who was given a Community Service Merit Award. She was first presented with this honor at the Michigan State Fair, and was nominated by the commission for her outstanding service to the community.

GP Farms Inks Pact with DPW

By Tom Greenwood

The Farms Council voted to accept a new three-year contract with the union representing the city's Department of Public Works employees at a special meeting Wednesday, September 8.

"We feel this is a good three-year package," said Farms City Clerk Richard Solak. "We basically believe it is good for the city and good for the employees."

The new contract for the first year calls for a 30 cents an hour increase for all positions and a 35-cent increase for meter reader-operators and water operators with certificates.

A cost of living allowance of one cent for each 4 percent increase based on the consumer price index was allowed and will be computed and paid semi-annually. Longevity was increased by $50 for each step to a maximum of $350.

A shift premium of $75 annually will be paid to water operators and a sick leave payout of $44 per day for a maximum of 15 days upon retirement also will be paid. The second and third year of the contract calls for a 25 cent increase in each position with cost of living allowance.

Ed Flury, president of Local 522 of the American Federation of City Employees, said his membership is very happy with the new contract.

"Everybody is pleased with the package," he said. "Everybody is happy with what we received."

The union voted 22-9 to accept the new contract.

Open Meetings Law

● Consultation of an attorney in a pending case only when there is a potential detrimental financial effect.

● Consideration of leasing or purchasing real estate up to the time an option to purchase or lease is obtained.

● Partisan legislative caucuses.

● The review of employment applications for a public office.

Woods Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos says the new measure may have some effect on certain committee meetings which are conducted in private but that, in The Woods, even those meetings are a matter of public record since minutes of such discussions are available upon request.

"Those meetings for which we already supply minutes upon request will probably have to be opened up, which doesn't create any serious problem," he said.

"We may have to work on streamlining the council agenda to accommodate the extra load so that the meetings won't drag on too long."

Farms Mayor James Dingeman does not feel that the new open meetings bill will have any drastic effect on the operation of his council but expects that some planning sessions generally held in private may be opened up by such a law.

"We have nothing to hide," he said. "Over here in this small community we're kind of in a goldfish bowl. Everybody knows what we are doing anyway."

City Mayor John King responded to the bill with an enthusiastic, "... it's a fine idea," while Park Mayor Matthew C. Patterson said it makes no difference in his community because all meetings are open already.

In The Shores, Village Superintendent Thomas K. Jeffries also said that all of its meetings are already open.

The major improvement of the new open meetings bill over the present law is the sharp bite of a $1,000 fine against any public official found in violation of the measure.

Negotiations

Superintendent of Schools Dr. William Coats changed that wording somewhat at a Monday, September 20, Board meeting, calling the offer instead "their last best."

Mr. Kennedy said the Board team offered to meet again two days last week, but was turned down by the union. Mrs. Doris M. Cook, GPEA president, explained her team felt it needed the time to inform other governing bodies about the last Board offer and that teachers on the team wanted to devote more time to their classroom duties during the week.

The next logical step, if negotiations break down, is fact-finding. Mr. Kennedy said his team would not request the move, but that it was up to the union to do so.

Health Council Opens Season

The Health Education Council of Grosse Pointe will open its new season Monday, September 27, with an orientation meeting in the lounge of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, 16 Lakeshore road, at 9:30 a.m.

Mrs. Helen Meyering, council president, will outline the council's ongoing activities and current projects to new delegates from area public and non-public schools.

The public is welcome to all Health Education Council meetings.

Education pays, but you can't collect without hard work.

East Warren Festival Opens September 26

Grosse Pointe citizens are involved in many activities that receive publicity. One that is worth attention is the East Warren Festival. The East Warren Festival is a week of organized fun that involves the merchants of East Warren Avenue. It is a week of self proclamation that the neighborhood is a good place to be, that businesses care about the people they serve, and that citizens have a reason to be proud of their city. Tom Gilleran, a resident of Grosse Pointe Farms, is the chairman of the Festival Committee.

The festival opens on Sunday, September 26 with a parade. The parade begins at 2:00 p.m. and will go the length of Warren from Alter Road to Balduck Park. Two thousand people are expected to participate. Musical entertainment at Balduck Park will follow the parade.

Other activities of the week include rides for the kids, contests, special sales and open houses at many of the Warren stores, free gifts, fashion shows, free health tests and services. An auction will be held on Wednesday, September 29 at Warren and Courville. The festival closes on Sunday, October 3 with a community picnic at Balduck Park which will include plenty of games, food and a flea market for all bargain hunters.

Tom Gilleran, manager of the Wood Shop on East Warren and Somerset, extends an invitation to all Grosse Pointe and area residents to participate in the festival and to take advantage of the week of services and fun on Warren Avenue. Here's a chance for everyone to reap the benefits of much planning and organization on the part of Warren merchants who exhibit their pride and faith in the city.

NBD Assisting In Crime Fight

National Bank of Detroit, (NBD), has donated a dozen electric engravers for Operation Identification to each of the five Pointe police departments as part of the bank's continuing crime prevention program in the area.

"It's our way of saying 'thank you' for the cooperation the bank received from the five police departments last June when Project HELP, NBD's crime prevention unit, spent four weeks in the Grosse Pointes," said Joseph A. Tolari, vice-president and officer-in-charge of NBD's Grosse Pointe Regional Banking Center.

More than 1,400 people visited the mobile crime prevention unit in seven different locations throughout the Pointes during that month.

"The response from the public demonstrates a constructive interest in crime prevention and excellent support for Operation Identification in the area," said Mr. Tolari.

Operation Identification encourages property owners to engrave valuables with their driver's license or social security numbers for identification and recovery, if they are stolen.

The ID program has been successfully operating in the Grosse Pointes for nearly four years, according to area police.

Beginning in the early 1960's, Operation Identification has risen to nationwide proportions as one of the easiest and least expensive burglary prevention tools.

Detroit police estimate that over 50,000 city homes have protected their valuables with engraving. Thousands of suburban Detroit homeowners have taken similar precautions.

Area residents may borrow the engravers from their neighborhood police.

The Pointe departments will receive the engravers at an informal presentation Tuesday, September 28, at NBD's Kercheval/St. Clair branch office.

Jaycees Plan Pumpkin Sale

The Woods Council has unanimously approved the request of the Grosse Pointe Jaycees for permission to hold a pumpkin sale Friday, October 22, on Mack Avenue between Huntington and Manchester boulevards.

The Jaycees also were informed by the council that an official recommendation that posters should be posted in the islands of Mack Avenue would be sent to Wayne County, which has jurisdiction over placement of such advertising at that location.

It's a tribute to industry that the average worker is safer at work than he is at home.

When firemen get together to have fun, you can bet the results are wild and wet. The occasion for this waterball fight was to help Harper Woods celebrate its 25th anniversary as a city. A team from The Park won the championship against teams from The City, St. Clair Shores, East Detroit and Harper Woods. Members of the winning Park team were Firefighters William Hiner, Joe Clarke, Mike Smith, Casper Ellor, Charles Henrich and Lt. William Hunt.

Youth Arraigned in Fatal Accident Case in Shores

Larry Anderlite, 17, of 1318 Yorktown road, was arraigned for a preliminary hearing before Shores Municipal Judge J. Patrick Denis on Thursday, September 16, on a charge of negligent homicide in the August 7 traffic death of Mark Schoenith, 17.

Young Anderlite was released on $1,000 personal bond pending his examination, set for Wednesday, October 6.

Mark, the son of J. Lee and Shirley Schoenith of 777 Lake Shore road, was fatally injured when a car driven by Anderlite went out of control and struck a tree broadside in front of 914 Lakeshore, only a short distance from the Schoenith residence.

The force of impact sheared the automobile in half. No drinking was involved, according to Shores Det. Sgt. Frank Mustazza, who investigated the case and who obtained the warrant.

Schoenith and Anderlite, son of the Edward Anderlites, were both conveyed to Bon Secours Hospital, where Schoenith died of his injuries at 6 p.m., about two hours after being admitted.

Anderlite was confined at the hospital, suffering from head and knee injuries.

Young Schoenith's parents had been home only a short time when the accident happened.

They had been at the family-owned Roostertail Restaurant in Detroit, where a 75th birthday party had been held for Joseph Schoenith, father of J. Lee, and Mark's grandfather. Mark did not attend the party, relatives said.

They informed Sgt. Mastazza that both boys had gone out for a cup of coffee when the fatal accident, the first in The Shores this year, occurred.

Woods Continues Study To Alleviate Flooding

By Roger A. Waha

The Woods continues to explore potential solutions to the flooding problem which plagued Van K. and Perrien place citizens during the severe rain storm in late July.

A group of residents attended the August 2 council meeting to seek relief from what they called an "inadequate sewer system" in the immediate area. At that time, a petition containing 46 signatures was presented to the council demanding corrective action.

City Engineer Larry Pate reported at the regular meeting Monday, September 13, that the situation remains under study. Further data and other information has to be gathered, he said.

City Administrator Chester E. Petersen directed Mr. Pate to prepare a feasibility report "for the correction of such alleged deficiencies in the drainage system serving such area" last month.

In his report to the council, Mr. Pate viewed several potential modes of action based upon Mr. Petersen's direction. These include the following:

- The possibility of constructing a separate storm sewer from the affected area to the Milk River and the ensuing estimated costs, (these were placed in the area of around $275,000).

- The possibility of disconnecting various building downspouts from the sewer system.

- Visual inspection and/or television inspection of various segments of the sewer system as may be warranted. (Mr. Pate said a visual inspection has already been done).

- Alternate provisions for the protection of Van K. drive properties from rear-yard flooding.

Besides indicating the need for further information, Mr. Pate said he wants to work with the residential committee and review information with them. He hopes to meet with the citizens sometime next month.

For his part, Mr. Petersen said until Mr. Pate has completed a full report, he would rather not comment on what aforementioned alternatives would be the most viable.

He said the city engineer's report should be ready by around Friday, October 15.

Box Top Drive Set By School

Queen of Peace Special Education Center has begun a collection drive aimed at acquiring gymnastic mats to be used in training students for Special Olympics. The equipment will be provided by Post Cereal Brands of General Food Corp. in exchange for 59,000 Post Cereal box tops.

The special projects director for this program is Jim Ryan, former world record holder for the mile.

Box tops from any size Post Cereal brands will count toward the goal and they may be turned over to Queen of Peace students or taken to the school, at 2101 Bournemouth, Harper Woods, any time before March 31, 1977.

Woman Victim Of Purse Thief

A 75-year-old Park woman name and address withheld, was about to ascend the steps of the front porch of her house when she was approached by a young male, who asked her for directions to a street in the area.

As the woman extended her arm to point, her purse and a duffle bag was snatched from her by the man.

According to information released by Park Lt. Gordon Duncan, the elderly woman had returned home after visiting her husband, who is in a convalescent home. Thursday afternoon, September 16, when she was approached by the suspect and asked about the location of the street.

The lieutenant said that the woman had her shoulder-strap purse and duffle bag containing her husband's electric shaver and other articles on her right arm.

As she pointed toward the street, the purse snatcher made a sweeping grab, taking both the purse and the bag. He then ran north from the area to an alley, then west on the alley and disappeared. The purse contained $20 in cash and personal items.

The suspect is described as a black male, about 18-years-old, around 5'8" tall, with a large Afro hair cut. He was wearing dark clothing.

Later that afternoon, Woods authorities called Park police and notified them that the woman's check book was found in a trash can at Mack and Fleetwood. The duffle bag and purse are still missing, it was said.

Center Slates Religious Film

The Little Shepherds of Fatima, a color film presentation of the story of Fatima for young people, will be premiered Wednesday night, September 29, at 7:30 p.m. at the War Memorial.

Mrs. Sally Reynolds, of The Pointe, is author, director and producer of the film.

The public is invited. Call 885-6219 for reservations.

Board Okays Budget

$18,311,180, or 92 percent is derived from taxes on local real estate.

Officials added nearly all the balance is made up of revenues promised by the State, Wayne County and the Federal Government as categorical aid earmarked for special programs only.

State Aid Uncertain

Another point discussed State Aid. Officials say in the previous two years the State hasn't paid to the school district the funds it was qualified to receive. Stressing the uncertainty of the moment for such monies this fiscal year, officials note with full funding of all promised monies, the district would receive a total of $520,000.

If State monies are received, the Board pledges such funds will be used to reduce future budgets or be used to reduce future proposed millages.

A fifth point views student enrollment projections with the projected enrollment for this school year placed at 10,695. This figure represents a loss of 450 students from last year. It's a four percent loss and is less than county and State averages.

Other points mentioned include instructional supplies, (a general increase was provided for all such supplies), athletic program, (the budget provides for improvement in medical services, middle school intramurals and high school sports via the Athletic Study Committee's recommendation) and unappropriated funds.

Under the latter heading, officials say the difference of $1,171,830 between revenues and proposed expenditures provides the Board with funds necessary to "negotiate fair and equitable settlements with all employee groups and with monies to meet other unanticipated expenditures."

For purposes of comparison, the total of $19,888,331 in general fund revenues this fiscal year is $1,819,429 higher than in 1975-76, while expenditures are placed at $18,716,501 in 1976-77 as against $17,951,071 last fiscal year.

Library fund revenues are $809,688 this fiscal year, while they were $724,085 last fiscal year. Expenditures are placed at $708,999 in 1976-77.

GPW's Petersen To Be Honored

Woods City Manager Chester E. Petersen received the unanimous approval of the council at its regular meeting Monday, September 13, to attend the Annual International City Management Conference Saturday - Thursday, September 25-30, in Toronto, Ont.

The motion also stipulated that he be reimbursed for any official personal expenses incurred.

At the conference, Mr. Petersen will receive a certificate for completion of 20 years as a full time city manager, plus recognition for his 27 years of municipal public service.

as against $713,810 last fiscal year.

Under the general fund, the budgeted instruction amount is $10,681,870 this fiscal year, a drop of 1.11 percent under last fiscal year's total. The biggest decrease, 12.96 percent, is in the area of vocational education as no new programs were planned for 1976-77. The decrease in projected expenditures also reflects a drop in the purchase of equipment, officials say.

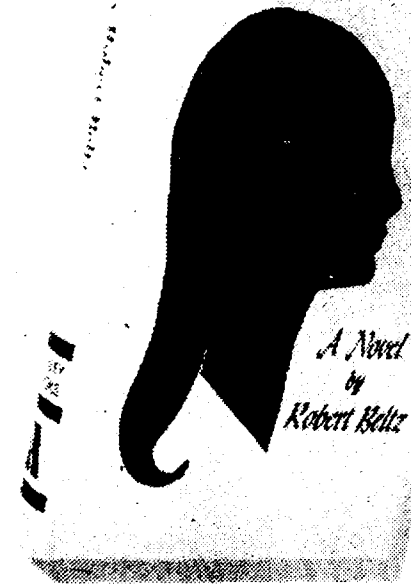

The largest hikes in this area are in athletic program, (38.58 percent), and in instructional supplies, (34.88 percent).

Other Funds

Meanwhile, support services expenditures are up 12.38 percent, ($8,034,631 over $7,149,657), this fiscal year. The largest percentage hike, (31.95 percent), is in the area of media services.

Other funds include the debt retirement fund, (revenues, $1,406,397, expenditures, $1,147,019), and the building and site fund, (revenues, $33,086, expenditures, $60,000).

Total general fund expenditures for the last four fiscal years shows the following: $20,692,459 in 1976-1977, $19,979,749 in 1975-76, $17,082,406.13 in 1974-75 and $15,868,240.81 in 1973-74.

Suspect Faces Circuit Court

An 18-year-old Detroit youth, who's charged with robbery armed, (R/A), was bound over for trial in Wayne County Circuit Court, reported Woods police.

This action was taken at The Woods Municipal Court examination of Henry Lee Bennett on Wednesday, September 15. Bond on the suspect was continued in the amount of $30,000, while Bennett's circuit court arraignment and pre-trial conference is scheduled for Wednesday, October 13.

The suspect is charged in the Monday, August 23, incident where a Yorktown road resident was robbed of his wallet containing around $40 at gun point.

Bennett and two other youths, one a juvenile, were arrested several hours later by Detroit police and the citizen's wallet was found in their possession.

Hearing Date Set in Woods

The Woods Council unanimously set a public hearing date of Monday, October 4, to consider the request of Paul Jankowski to develop the vacant site at the northeast corner of Vernier road and Morningside drive. At the same time, the proposed rezoning of the land from R-1C to R-3 multiple will be viewed.

This action was taken by the council at its regular meeting Monday, September 13.

Mr. Jankowski in a letter to the Planning Commission reported the proposed development provides for the erection of 23, two-bedroom single residential, owner-occupied units.

The commission at its special meeting on August 10 unanimously recommended that the property be rezoned from an R-1C to a R3 multiple and that Mr. Jankowski's site plan be approved subject to several considerations.

These include the following: (1) providing a fire access between two units; (2) providing a 30- by 20-foot no parking area opposite such access in the proposed parking lot as requested by the public safety department; and (3) providing a five-foot high ornamental fence.

Further, the commission recommended to the council that the following variances of the R3 requirements be granted to Mr. Jankowski: (1) that each parcel of land contain a minimum of 150,000 square feet; (2) the minimum depth of 40 feet for the front yard; (3) the minimum depth of 60 feet for the rear yard; (4) the minimum distance of 40 feet between structures; and (5) that there be an entrance on Vernier road, (instead, such entrance should be on Morningside drive).

Neighborhood Opposition Leads to Denial of Bid

By George Polgar Jr.

A strong show of neighborhood opposition to further commercialization in the Mack and Hollywood avenue area resulted in the Woods Council's denial of a request from Thomas and Lucille Handlos to have a lot at the corner of those streets rezoned to allow construction of a new real estate office.

At the council meeting on Monday, September 13, residents of the area squared off against Mr. Handlos, who presented a detailed plan of the structure that would be built on the corner lot and the uses it would have.

According to Mr. Handlos, the building would be designed to retain the residential character of Hollywood avenue, while utilizing the commercial value of the Mack avenue frontage.

With a diagram, Mr. Handlos described the intended Cape Cod residential structure which would have a business entrance on Mack and a residential entrance leading to the apartment above the office, which he and his family would occupy, facing Hollywood avenue.

The residents from the neighborhood, who had delivered a counter-petition bearing 68 names to the council, were not inclined to accept the assurances given by Mr. Handlos that the building would always be utilized the way he had described, half residential and half commercial.

Woods City Attorney George Catlin explained to the council that there was no way to grant a provisional rezoning.

"Once the property is rezoned commercial we have no further control over its use," he said. "And there is no way to grant a conditional rezoning."

Most of the neighbors who turned out at the meeting were adamantly opposed to the rezoning because they claimed that further commercial development in that area would add to traffic congestion problems, would tend to devalue their property and would, in general, destroy the character of their neighborhood.

As one resident who rose to address the council put it, "Our area is becoming the slum of Grosse Pointe Woods."

Though council members smirked at this description, Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos directed City Administrator Chester E. Petersen to look into complaints about Hollywood avenue being clogged by parked cars belonging to patrons of various businesses at that location, and also reports that the empty lot owned by Mr. Handlos is often heavily littered.

Student 'Rep' Thanks Woods

A letter of appreciation from a North High School senior for being permitted to serve as a student representative was unanimously received and placed on file by The Woods Council.

Timothy Mucciante said late in his freshman year, he started attending council meetings for his civics class and found them very interesting. However, he noticed a deficiency when the council talked of items regarding students — there was never a representative of the student body present.

As a result, he proposed the idea that a student representative attend every meeting. The council accepted his suggestion and appointed him as the first "rep."

Because of illness, Tim has recently been unable to attend council meetings. But, now, he informed the solons he will one again be representing the students and their ideas during the 1976-77 school year.

Going into his senior year, Tim said he realized the council "opened up the whole spectrum of local political government" for him. Because of the council, he stated he plans to go into law and politics as his career.

Driver Tagged for Violations

Roy Pappas, 49, of Utica, had to take only a brief walk to The Shores station to receive a violation ticket for ignoring a red traffic signal on Sunday, September 19. The law infraction was witnessed by a cruising public safety officer.

Pappas was in the last of a string of cars making a left turn onto Vernier road from Lakeshore road, when he was seen by Cpl. Daniel Fronczak, who had entered the intersection on a green light. "No Turn on Red" signs are posted on the corners of the intersection.

The corporal called to Pappas to stop at the curb, and pulled up behind him. When the officer requested Pappas' license and car registration, he produced both. It was found that Pappas was driving in violation of restrictions, which permit him to drive between 7 a.m.-6 p.m. only while looking for employment. The restriction was imposed on August 18, and applies until September 19, 1977, from Monday-Friday only.

The station was only a few steps from Vernier road, and Pappas was ordered out of the auto and walked there. A licensed passenger in the man's vehicle was given permission by Pappas to drive the auto to the lot at the rear of the municipal building which also houses the public safety station.

At the station, Pappas was issued two violation tickets, one for failing to heed a red traffic signal, and another for driving on a restricted license. His court date is set for October 27.

Woods Okays Seniors' Bids

Three recommendations from the Senior Citizens Commission were acted upon by The Woods Council at its regular meeting Monday, September 13.

First, the commission at its August 12 session requested that the council provide the organization with copies of its agenda when the list contains matters pertaining to the commission. The council unanimously concurred in this bid.

Then the solons considered two recommendations stemming from the commission's Wednesday, August 25, meeting.

One was regarding the group's rules and regulations, which the council referred to the Committee of the Whole for further study, while the other was the council's approval of expenses totalling approximately $410, for Senior Citizens Day, Thursday, September 16, at the Lake Front Park.

With the expenses, the commission used all its money which the city budgeted for it in fiscal year 1976-77 in one swoop. The budgeted amount was $400.

YSD Has Busy August; Views B-B Gun Incidents

The Youth Service Division, (YSD), received a total of 88 complaints from the five Pointe police departments for investigation last month. This was an increase over the July total of 66 cases, (two of which proved to be unfounded, making the actual total, 64).

Through August, the total for the year reached 508, whereas last year's total for the same period was 545.

The categories of highest incidence were assaults on persons and malicious destruction of property, 10 cases each. Lawn damage by cars and broken windows were the primary acts of destruction, while first attacks were the main form of assault. The use of B-B guns was involved in both categories.

In its report, the YSD calls attention to an article in the September 9 edition of the NEWS regarding many incidents of unlawful use of B-B guns by juveniles in the Grosse Pointe area.

"Investigation has revealed that too often the parents themselves do not know the laws prohibiting the firing of B-B and pellet guns within city limits; thus their children are inadequately advised," says the division.

"It is not uncommon for passing pedestrians or vehicles to be struck by pellets, and occasionally very expensive damage is caused."

"YSD intends to pursue a continuing program in the schools and throughout the community, providing information to juveniles and parents and emphasizing the serious consequences of possible physical injury to persons walking by or the drivers of passing moving vehicles, or of the prospect of very heavy restitution costs for damage caused."

Larceny, eight cases; robbery armed, three incidents, with the use or threat of knives; robbery not armed, one case; burglary, two incidents; auto theft, one case; unlawful driving away of an auto, three incidents; and possession of stolen property, five cases, involved 44 boys in all, in the company of five adult males.

Violation of controlled substances cases included the following: one heroin incident involving one male adult; three marijuana or hashish cases involving one male adult, three male juveniles and one female adult; three marijuana with alcohol incidents involving one male adult, eight male juveniles and one female adult; and two synthetic drug cases involving two male adults.

Meanwhile, liquor law violations showed five minors in possession, (beer), incidents involving two male adults, seven male juveniles and one female juvenile, while two drunkenness cases involved one male adult and three male juveniles.

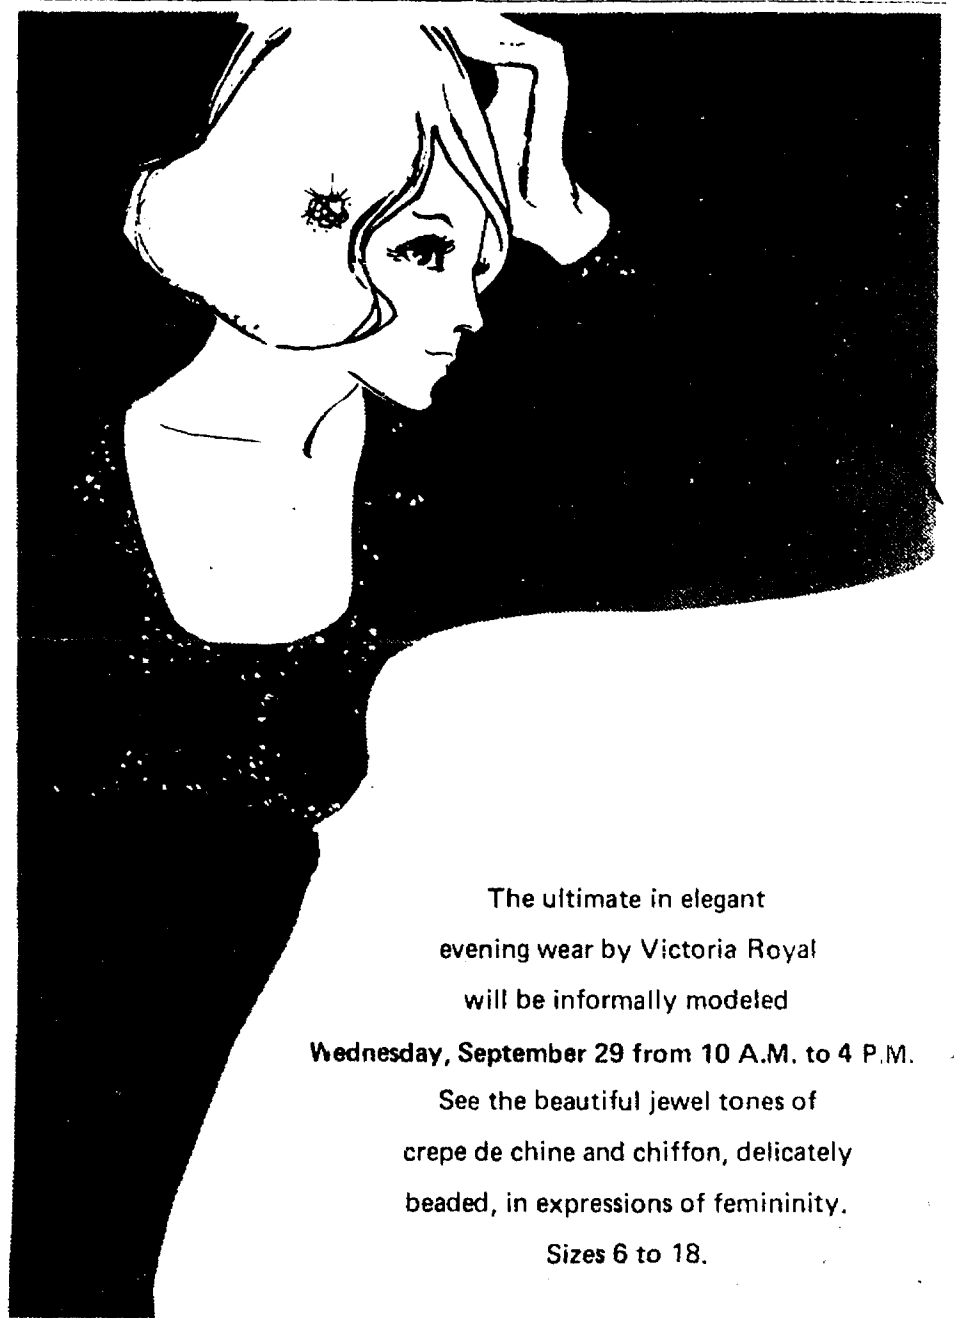

Runaway incidents, totaling seven, involved three boys and four girls. Of these, three boys and one girl were self returned or found by their parents, while three girls were arrested and returned to their parents.

Fifteen applications for petition were filed with the Wayne County Juvenile Court. Only one to date has received court action. This was for the breaking and entering of an auto and the petition was authorized.

Defective Light Trips Motorist

Michael D. Lada, 18, of Mount Clemens, was stopped by a Shores public safety officer on Sunday, September 19, for having a defective front headlight on his car, for which he received a violation ticket.

He also was given a second ticket for never having ever acquired a valid Michigan operator's license.

Cpl. Daniel Fronczak said he was patrolling north of Lakeshore road, at Fairlake lane, when he saw a car heading south on the road with only one front headlight illuminated.

Lada, who was behind the wheel, was stopped at the Blairmoor intersection where the officer asked him for his license and car registration.

The corporal said Lada produced the registration, but claimed that he left his driver's license in another wallet. He further claimed that he kept two wallets, one for his cash and the other for his license, but apparently left the wallet with the license at home.

The officer noted, as the motorist was checking the wallet, two violation tickets issued to Lada on August 22 by State police, one for speeding and one for having no valid license.

He was placed under arrest and taken to the station, where he was issued a ticket for defective car equipment, (one headlight out), and one for never acquiring a Michigan operator's license.

Lada posted a bond of $75 pending his court hearing on October 27.

Woods Reports Related B-E's

A Woods lane family went up north over the Labor Day weekend, and returned to find their home burglarized, reported Woods police.

The citizen told Officer Theodore Hinz on Monday evening, September 6, the sliding doorwall was discovered closed but not locked. Then on the following day, the complainant found a basement window standing open. A check of the home revealed $180 was taken from a bedroom dresser drawer.

Police added fresh, moist prints in putty around the glass of the basement window were observed.

A related complaint also was received by police Saturday evening, September 4, when a Moorland drive resident said someone entered his home through a basement window sometime between 7:30-11:30 p.m.

The interior wasn't ransacked and the citizen reported around $454 in camera equipment missing.

Police said the culprit apparently exited through a sliding door as outer and inner doors were found ajar when the complainant returned home.

Youth Service Division Officer Proposes Big Change in Criminal Justice System

As for the legislature, a first step in this respect will be taken this week when a letter from Det. Baum outlining his proposals in depth will be sent to Senators Joseph Snyder and John Hertel, along with Rep. William Bryant, for their consideration. (Charts diagramming his proposals, which are scheduled to be included with the letter, were done by North High School senior Jeff Henry).

In fact, while a lack of service from Juvenile Court has been a concern of the YSD and others for several years, Det. Baum's proposals also stem from a seminar he attended earlier this year.

At the forum, sponsored by the State Senate, the detective and other officials had an opportunity to be heard. His letter is in response to Sen. Snyder's request for input regarding the "Development of An Effective System of Services and Procedures to Prevent Delinquency and Neglect and to Provide for the Uniform Administration of the Juvenile Justice Service Delivery System."

In exploring the proposals and the reasons for them, Det. Baum cited complaints from the service juvenile court has provided the Pointes.

"I realize, of course, it wasn't done with malice but because of their situation and limitations," he said. But for him the fact remains the community pays lots of money to the county "for no service" in the juvenile justice area.

Everything Tried

Feeling that the current system has too many "haphazard arrangements," Det. Baum said a case is assigned to juvenile court and "a kid goes through further shuffling. We try everything first, (e.g., diversionary programs), before sending him to court. Then juvenile court plays games with him for from three-six offenses. Then they send him to social services and they play games with him for from six-eight offenses," (depending on the case).

From the YSD's perspective, Det. Baum said, in relation to a youth committing an offense, "We don't petition juvenile court unless a youth commits a serious crime on a second offense. The objective is to keep young people out of court. We can correct the system in a number of ways, e.g., the YSD's counseling program."

So a youth on the commission of a first offense may only receive a warning. If he or she commits a second offense, the counseling program will be brought into play.

"After that, it's my view to file a petition with juvenile court on the youth. I don't want crime to go unanswered and I want service," said Det. Baum.

Not Getting Message

"So we file a petition and generally speaking, juvenile court does nothing," he said. Some petitions come back not authorized or adjusted, (usually in this case, an official talks with the youth and warns him), while some are authorized.

In the case of an "adjusted" petition, the detective noted this action, i.e., talking with him, has already transpired on the local level.

In a situation like this, a youth could commit anywhere from one-four offenses, he noted.

"Obviously, the youth isn't getting the message and he could in all likelihood commit 10-15 more offenses and then he might do some time," said Det. Baum.

The YSD has even, he indicated, had some 15-20 contacts with some youths, who often are put only on probation on successive instances.

Based upon such aforementioned examples, Det. Baum emphasized, "My point is this. I get paid the same whether the kid is placed on probation 30 times or one time. But the community is being shortchanged by juvenile court and the Department of Social Services. We aren't receiving the service we are paying for."

Many Options

For his part, he would like to see the system work as outlined in his proposals. Here, a juvenile committing an offense for the first time would receive a warning. On the commission of a second, minor offense, the youth would be placed on the YSD counseling program.

Now, unlike the current system, any offense committed by a youth after that would require him to be sent through the juvenile division of the local municipal or district court.

At this point, the juvenile could be subject to a fine and/or detention, along with other options which the court has when an adult commits a misdemeanor.

Such options, he said, include referral service, e.g., psychiatric care, or on a guilty plea or finding, the youth would be placed on probation.

The probationary level encompasses a community work project requirement, para-professional counseling and a total family counseling concept.

Knows What Happens

If there's a violation of probation in any manner, the youth will immediately receive detention. "The kid knows ahead of time the court's restrictions and if there's any violation, he will know ahead of time what will happen," stressed Det. Baum.

In relation to this, he emphasized an atmosphere of sincerity and consistency on the part of the judge. For example, if a youth violates his probation, it would result in whatever the judge said would happen in his case.

At the same time, there's a main focus, here, on the seriousness of probation.

For Det. Baum, the certainty and seriousness of punishment many youths currently receive from juvenile court for a specific offense is lacking.

He said, for example, a car thief or a youth who commits malicious destruction of property resulting in thousands of dollars damage doesn't receive the punishment equal to what his five-year-old boy gets for disobeying a verbal command.

Then, he noted, "I do not propose or intend to violate any constitutional rights, (regarding his proposals), but I do intend to protect a citizen's right."

On Felony Offenses

As for traffic offenses committed by a juvenile, such cases also would be heard in the traffic division of the municipal or district court. At this level, the judge will have the option of fining the offender, taking his license away, et al., the same as with adult offenders.

What will happen if a juvenile commits a felony via the detective's proposals? "If he commits a felony crime and the YSD feels it's necessary to charge the youth with such a crime under State law, he'll go through the same process as an adult," he stated.

For the juvenile, he will be arraigned at the municipal or district court level. Next, his examination will be conducted at that level. Then, he could be bound over for trial in Wayne County Circuit Court where he will be tried under the court's juvenile division, which could include some current juvenile court referees.

"I would hope they, (the referees), would have more authority to impose detention upon an offender at this point," said Det. Baum.

If the youth is found guilty, he could be placed in jail, receive a fine or be placed on probation. The latter also would incorporate such outlets as a community work project, psychiatric care, individual or family counseling, et al.

Detention Proposal

Again, if there's any violation of probation, "the youth could be placed in a detention center or be subject to whatever the judge has set forth," he said.

Meanwhile, his detention proposal stipulates that a youth, upon his conviction of a misdemeanor, could be placed for a short time period or for one or more weekends in the local, (municipal or district), facility.

Or he could be placed in a county or regional detention facility for a longer period of time, and receive counseling and/or be involved in other programs.

However, if a youth is convicted of a felony crime, the situation is somewhat different.

If he's convicted of a passive crime, (defined by Det. Baum as malicious destruction of property, larceny and burglary, for instance), he would be placed in minimum security detention. The juvenile would receive, as necessary, psychiatric care, counseling, (psychological and/or sociological counseling), plus potential involvement in other programs.

But if he commits an aggressive crime, (e.g., murder, robbery armed, assault, rape), he would be placed in a maximum security State facility. The juvenile would become involved in such areas as an extensive education program, psychiatric evaluation and care and an extensive work job training program.

Attitudes Viewed

In his letter to the trio of State officials, Det. Baum makes several points in the area of need—the need for a positive change.

He feels that the current system of juvenile justice services, being handled by the probate court, has proven itself a failure. "The concept that juvenile court is not a criminal court has also been proven wrong."

As of this May 28, services, provided allegedly by the State to prevent delinquency and neglect, are negligible, he said. "These services, as shown on paper in the State budget regarding payroll costs for employees of the Department of Social Services, Probation Departments and Probate Courts, (as they pertain to juveniles), I believe, are a waste of money."

Det. Baum stressed the need for a realignment of the goals of priorities in regard to criminal justice, for both juveniles and adults.

"We have seen where inconsistent, lenient attitudes toward juvenile offenders have gotten us. We have created a situation where a juvenile offender knows that he or she can commit any number of minor, (to major), crimes without society, i.e., the courts, reacting in any way that might resemble discipline/punishment."

Need Consistency

"As I see it, the only way this problem can be rectified is to simply enact new laws which would take the jurisdiction of juvenile offenders from the probate court and completely reorganize the criminal justice system in this State so that a clear-cut process of handling criminals, both adult and juvenile, is developed in a fair, consistent and purposeful manner."

"I am sure that there are many organizations such as the Grosse Pointe Youth Service Division which would enthusiastically and materially assist the State Legislature, the Governor or any interested person or organization draft an effective law," he said.

Being realistic, the detective questions, "How can society allow juvenile offenders to go relatively untouched by the courts for their crimes for 16 years and then expect their sudden shape-up into decent adult citizens? They cannot; and we see that adult offenders are growing up by the thousands."

"These adult offenders were not born 17-years-old and criminal. They have learned that crime could be committed with ease, with little worry or restriction and/or detention."

Det. Baum continued by noting his proposals will cost State citizens money, probably much more money. "But at least it would be money worth spending," he said.

"We often spend it for higher priced goods and services, groceries, clothing, automobiles, household/auto insurance—due to crime related overhead—and live in a society that permits many, many criminals to walk the streets, or we spend the money on a judicial system designed to separate the criminal from society while teaching him ways in which he can re-enter society favorably."

"All the liberal programs in the world have not helped the crime situation."

On his proposals, Det. Baum stated, "I believe that the fear of certain incarceration will help prevent much needless juvenile crime. The offenders who are not deterred can be taught that their actions will have unpleasant results on a consistent basis."

"The end result will be, hopefully, a better situation in adult courts with fewer adult offenders."

"If this program that I propose is implemented, the local communities can handle juvenile crime on an understanding basis, for a majority of cases, by a judge elected in that community. He will hear the juvenile cases on a separate docket and on a separate day from adult court."

Pros and Cons

He feels the only objections to the proposals will come from the probate court staff, "who will be losing authority over juveniles." Also, I am sure that the Department of Social Services would object because they will be losing authority over the decision-making process as to whether a juvenile should or should not be incarcerated."

On the other hand, Det. Baum felt his proposals would receive a favorable report from local communities, school boards, police agencies, district and municipal courts and most city governments.

(The detective said he and other YSD officers are available to speak on the proposals before any local group or organization. They should be contacted at 886-2908 in this regard.)

He concluded by saying if the State enacted legislation reflecting a criminal justice system similar to the one he proposed, "I believe that the prevention of juvenile crime and adult crime will follow."

"However, it will probably take three to five years for an effective reduction to be discernible."

Besides Mr. Petersen,

Woods Public Safety Director Henry Marchand, Det. Lt. Jack Patterson, officer-in-charge of the YSD, Det. Patrick Fagan of the YSD and Woods Municipal Judge J. Patrick Denis commented upon the program.

"Det. Baum's proposals are very sensible and logical," said Director Marchand. "Such an approach should have been taken years ago, as the present juvenile justice system isn't working."

He then cited an example from a statement made by Probate Judge James H. Lincoln to the Senate Judiciary Committee last month. (Judge Lincoln focused upon "The Gut Issue in Michigan's Juvenile Justice System").

Citing an example to illustrate how the present parole and review system isn't working, Judge Lincoln viewed the case of a boy, 13, who was committed to the Department of Social Services last December 3.

Between this January 31 and March 23, the boy was admitted to the Wayne County Youth Home six times on felony charges. Such charges included the breaking and entering of a church; breaking and entering, robbery armed; and the breaking and entering of a business place.

Explores Situation

Judge Lincoln asked, "Now how long did it take the State Department of Social Services to get this delinquent in the training school after all these admissions to the youth home after commitment?"

The answer was on "the seventh time around."

On last December 19, he was placed in his own home at the time of commitment. "How absurd!" said Judge Lincoln. "The only reason we send them to the State Department of Social Services is for institutional care."

On this February 2, 10 and 23, and March 4, the juvenile was released to his own home. On March 10, he was taken to the Wilson Shelter.

Finally, on April 5, he went to the Boys Training School. "Thus, it took six felony arrests after the court committed the boy to the State Department of Social Services to move the State Department of Social Services to place the boy at Boys Training School," said Judge Lincoln.

(In the same vein, the YSD officer cited examples of a trio of Woods youths with whom they have had many contacts.

(First, a 16-year-old boy had 22 contacts with the division from November 1973-August 1976. Eight were larceny from auto charges, all on one day, and six were breaking and entering charges.

(Second, an 18-year-old boy, who had 17 contacts with the YSD from December 1971-July 1974. Twelve of the offenses were for breaking and entering.

(Third, a 16-year-old boy had 15 contacts with the division from March 1972-May 1975. These included a variety of offenses such as larceny, auto theft and breaking and entering.

(The YSD reported in most instances the youths were placed on probation by the court.)

Director Marchand stated, regarding the case cited by Judge Lincoln, "This is a classic example where Wayne Baum's proposals would eliminate this."

"Hard to Crack"

"This is a hell of a hard nut to crack but the proposals are right in time because people are becoming more concerned, especially with the youth gangs in Detroit. They have to get the support of the legislature, and social services and probate court will not give up what they have. And they will cost more."

"But let's face it, crime is getting out of hand."

The director also mentioned a problem in relation to service the area receives from juvenile court.

"What we consider a problem out here, probate court in Detroit won't even except our petitions, (in a variety of instances). What we consider serious, they don't even bother with and refuse our petitions or dismiss them."

"A judge on a local level will be able to deal with our problems more effectively. He will be cognizant of our problems."

As for Det. Baum's effort, Director Marchand added, "I'm glad someone has the interest and concern to get the ball rolling. I hope the proposals gain momentum. Everyone who has been robbed or mugged by a juvenile should support them. I'm proud of Officer Baum and his work."

Long Overdo

For his part, Lt. Patterson hoped the proposals would "start things moving" in this area. "I agree with the proposals. The idea and concept are just great. It's a step in the right direction but I wonder where the money is coming from."

In calling the detective's work a "tremendous undertaking," the lieutenant added, "I hope it's the beginning of a fruitful thing," while noting the money aspect was great and the chances of getting it were small.

Lt. Patterson also said, in viewing the overall scope of the matter, the entire situation today wasn't all juvenile court's fault because they have their own limitations to face, including those of funds.

Meanwhile, Det. Fagan stated, in relation to the proposals, "My only comment is very short and very brief—it's overdue." In saying the system needs change, the detective called the program a "feasible, long-term plan."

Judge Denis said he was impressed with the detective's program. "I share his views on this because of a feeling that our problems, (i.e., in the Pointes), are perhaps better handled on a local level with people more conversant with them," he stated.

Gives Example

As an example, which he termed "exaggerated," an assault and battery on a teacher in The Pointes is infinitely more serious than a similar situation at Detroit's Cody High School.

The point he was trying to make is that such an offense isn't a common occurrence in local schools, Judge Denis felt, under these circumstances, a judge familiar with a situation, here, could respond differently than a judge or referee downtown.

At the same time, Judge Denis cited one drawback to the program. They're fine on paper but could be difficult to accomplish because the proposals substantially modify the jurisdiction of probate court, he stated. The judge added he said this without criticism of Judge Lincoln who has his hands full at that level.

In a final note, another aspect of this overall juvenile-related problem was discussed by Judge Lincoln in his statement before the judiciary committee.

The "gut issue" in the State's juvenile justice system is who should be making the decision of whether or not a convicted juvenile is dangerous and should be removed from the streets.

Under the present law and system, this "key decision" isn't made by the juvenile court judge once the judge commits the juvenile to the Department of Social Services for placement. It's made by the department, through its staff.

Available placements include the following: return the juvenile home; foster home; halfway house; private institution; camp; and training school.

Exploring this further, he said many citizens are under the false impression if a juvenile violates parole by committing another crime after he's a State ward, he would be brought before the Youth Parole and Review Board and his parole would be revoked and he would be placed in a training school.

But this isn't the case. Judge Lincoln said presently the board only has jurisdiction over youths who were placed in training schools at the time of original commitment by the judge—and that's only a small fraction of the total amount committed.

Makes Decisions

"But even if a juvenile delinquent were placed in a training school after being committed by a judge it does not mean that he will come before the Youth Parole and Review Board."

"The social worker decides whether or not the parole violator is to be referred to the board for action."

"Thus, one way or another the staff of the State Department of Social Services is making nine-tenths of the key decisions and the board about one-tenth of the key decisions concerning parole and review."

Lending further emphasis to the situation, Judge Lincoln said there were 53 after-care boys, department wards, admitted to the youth home this May. They had a total of 114 admissions after juvenile court had committed them to the department.

That was an average of 2.15 admissions to the youth home after commitment to the social services department, he stated. And Judge Lincoln termed May a "typical month" in this respect.

"Revolving Door"

Calling this entire matter "a revolving door operation," he said juvenile court commits a juvenile to the department after the youth has been found guilty of several crimes. "We have worked with him on his probation. In most cases we work the problem out. But the cases we can not work out, we commit to the State Department of Social Services for institutional care," he stated. "However, the social workers and not the judge decide whether or not the juveniles are given institutional care when they receive the judge's commitment order! That is the law!" said Judge Lincoln.

"When the juvenile gets in trouble following the commitment, in nine out of 10 cases the social worker decides whether the juvenile will be taken off the streets. That is the law!"

"In May 1976 the State Department of Social Services released 42 from the Wayne County Youth Home, 20 of whom they sent home. These were State wards who had been arrested by the police for crimes after they became State wards," he added.

Feeling that social workers are playing the wrong role, Judge Lincoln said, "Let judges be judges. Let parole boards grant and revoke paroles and let social workers perform social work. We tried mixing up our roles and the result has been disastrous."

Woods Slates Hearing Date

A request for a public hearing regarding a bid to erect two six-foot stockade panels, (each less than eight feet wide), along the rear property line for privacy was approved by The Woods Council at its regular meeting Monday, September 13.

On the request, which was from John S. Logan, of Perrien place, the solons unanimously set a hearing date of Monday, October 4.

by Pat Ulatowski

I find it very difficult to say "good-bye" to someone I like very much. To say "good-bye" to all of my customers in person would have me in tears. Therefore, now, that we have sold the business, I choose this, my last "Wine Lines," to say "farewell" to all of my friends, customers and readers. On behalf of my husband, Len, and myself, I wish to thank all of you who have been so kind to us.

In appreciation, we have sought out new owners that would carry on the same policies you are accustomed to, namely, friendly service, wide selection, and low prices. Therefore I am pleased to introduce the new owners of Parkie's Party Shoppe, Ferd and Kay Bolser and their partners, John and Judy Lundberg. For the past two months we have worked side-by-side to acquaint them with the operation of the business.

The responsibility of keeping the "Wine Lines" flowing has fallen on John Lundberg. So starting next week, he will be "preparing" the material for the column.

In parting, Len and I invite you to raise your glass with us for a final toast. "Arrivederci . . . Auf Wiedersehen . . . Do widzenia . . . Au revoir . . . Farewell."

Freewheeling Cyclist Has Unappreciative Witness

Vernon P. Sliwa, 27, of 27218 Larchmont, St. Clair Shores, might have been trying to impress his female passenger with his motorcycle acrobatics on Monday, September 13, but he certainly made no impression on Shores Public Safety Officer Harry Hamilton.

PSO Hamilton said that he was cruising east on Still Meadow road at 6:14 p.m. While approaching Lakeshore road, he observed Sliwa traveling on south Lakeshore at 40 m.p.h. on a motorcycle, but not in the normal manner. Sliwa, the officer said, was standing on the cycle with his right foot on the seat. His left foot was extended straight out behind him and he was bent forward with his hands on the handlebars. The man's female companion was hanging on to Sliwa's right leg with both hands. Neither appeared to have physical control of the two-wheeler.

PSO Hamilton gave chase and stopped Sliwa and his companion at the South Edgewood intersection. Sliwa was unable to produce a motorcycle registration, was placed under arrest and was ordered to proceed to The Shores station — in the regular manner — with the officer behind him.

At the station, Sliwa was issued a violation ticket for reckless driving and another for having no registration on his person. He was required to post a bond of $35 before he was released.

He is scheduled for a court appearance on November 10, while his female companion was released without being charged.

Lifeguards Given Thanks

Four Pier Park lifeguards who saved the life of a 46-year-old heart attack victim earlier this month have received a letter of commendation from Farms Chief Warren Schultz.

The four lifeguards, Jim Bird, 24, of The Park, John Crowley, 17, of Ridgemoor road, Doug Johnson, 21, of Moross road, and Dan Jensen, 21, of Kerby road, administered oxygen and assisted Farms Firefighters Sgt. Joseph Riegler and Firefighter Don Jiles while transporting the victim to Saint John Hospital.

In his letter, Chief Schultz said his men had "no doubts that the efforts of these four lifeguards are responsible for the victim being alive when he reached the hospital."

Chief Schultz extended his appreciation and thanks for a "very professional job well done."

Two Pointers Top CC Heads

David K. Easlick and John S. Pingel, both Pointe residents, have been elected to the top leadership positions of the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Easlick, president, Michigan Bell Telephone Company, and Mr. Pingel, president of Ross Roy, Inc., became chairman and first vice-chairman of the Greater Detroit Chamber.

Brendan J. Meagher, partner-in-charge, Price Waterhouse & Company, has resigned as chairman of the Chamber because of a business transfer to New York City. Mr. Meagher is a former treasurer of the Chamber and has been a board member for the past 10 years.

Mr. Easlick joined Michigan Bell as a traffic student in Ann Arbor in 1948. He became vice-president, personnel, in 1960; moved to American Telephone and Telegraph Company as assistant vice-president, operations, in 1963; moved to Indiana Bell later in 1963 and was elected president there in 1970; was appointed vice-president at AT&T in 1972, and became president of Michigan Bell in 1973.

Auxiliary Sets Health Course

The Friends of Bon Secours, the newest auxiliary organization of Bon Secours Hospital, will sponsor a series of community health education programs entitled "Town Hall for Health."

The first offering will be a Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR), Training Program on two consecutive evenings, Wednesday, October 20, and Thursday, October 21, at the War Memorial. The programs begin at 7:20 p.m. on both days.

CPR is a technique for emergency treatment of a heart attack victim, and the training is given according to standards set by the American Heart Association.

It has been widely recognized as valuable training for the general public, since the greatest risk of death from heart attack occurs in the first two hours after the symptoms appear.

The training can be completed in one evening, and includes information on how to recognize cardiac arrest.

"The Town Hall for Health" series, and the CPR training program constitute a significant community service, and one that Bon Secours Hospital is pleased to offer," said Sister Justine, president of the board of trustees of the hospital.

"The Friends of Bon Secours are to be congratulated for assuming this responsibility. The Grosse Pointe community should benefit substantially."

PTA at Ferry Plans for Year

The newly elected officers of the Ferry School PTA met recently to plan the program for the new school year. Principal John Rohrer and his wife Theresa hosted the session at their home.

Plans were made to conduct a membership vote for the approval of by-laws to affect a change from PTA to PTO.

Mrs. Nancy Orr volunteered to chair a committee which will handle the details of the Fifth Annual Ferry Art Auction to be held on Friday, October 22.

The new executive board is headed by president Joan DeRonne, while the father vice-president is Arno Marcaccio and mother vice-president is Guila Papineau. Teacher vice-presidents are Regina Gersch and Helen Calehuff. Joan Boch is secretary. Jim Gilleran, treasurer, and Bernard J. Schenk, public director.

Board directors are Jane Turnbull, Diane Heisner, William Cox, Nancy Orr, Raymond Dallman and Norman DuCoin. Immediate past Mother vice-president in attendance was Arlene Capps.

REQUEST APPROVED

The Woods Council unanimously approved the request of City Treasurer Helen L. Fox to attend the training institute of the Michigan Chapter of the Municipal Finance Officers Assoc. Sunday-Tuesday, Oct. 17-19, in Ballaure, Mich., with the payment of all necessary expenses.

Good exercises for waist and stomach? Lie down on your back, with your arms above your head. Swing into a sit-up, keeping your legs straight. Lie down again and repeat. Remember that sit-ups should be done slowly without jerky motions to avoid injuring your back. The emphasis should be on stretching rather than pulling. In a sitting position, bend your knees and support yourself with hands on the floor behind you. Extend your legs up and lower them slowly. If you find this difficult, move your hands further back to accommodate the movement.

Goal Set at $36,100,000 for Annual Torch Drive

United Foundation board and advisory board members have approved a 1976 Torch Drive goal of $36,100,000.

General Motors Executive Vice President Roger B. Smith, general chairman for the 1976 Torch Drive, accepted the goal on behalf of the 100,000 volunteers making up this year's campaign organization.

The 1976 goal is the highest ever approved in the United Foundation's 28-year history and represents a $1.3 million increase over last year's campaign goal.

This year's Torch Drive will run from October 12 through November 4 in support of nearly 140 health and community service agencies in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Presiding over the meeting in the Detroit Cadillac Hotel on September 17 was UF Board Chairman Robert M. Surdam, chairman and chief executive officer of the National Bank of Detroit.

"Inflation, which remains a serious problem for our Torch Drive agencies, makes the case for an increased goal particularly compelling this year," Surdam told the board members.

Due to last year's recession and widespread unemployment in the metropolitan area, Surdam explained, the 1975 Torch Drive goal was the same as that set for the 1974 campaign.

"The United Foundation has traditionally set challenging yet realistic and achievable goals," Surdam said, adding that last year's Torch Drive raised $34.8 million, 100.2 percent of the campaign goal.

"In spite of the recently announced auto strike, the outlook for the campaign appears to be better this year than last because employment, as well as profits and wages, are up," Surdam continued.

"However, it will still take increased efforts from all segments of the community to produce maximum results in this year's campaign," he said.

The UF board of directors also approved total allocations of $36,800,000 for 1977. The $500,000 difference between approved 1977 allocations and the 1976 Torch Drive goal will come, hopefully, from campaign over-age or, if necessary, from UF reserves.

Torch Drive goal and overall agency allocation recommendations are made by the 21-member Goal and Allocations Committee after careful review of agency budget requests and a survey of both current and projected economic conditions.

Presenting the recommendations to the board was Goal and Allocations Committee Chairman Robert E. Dewar, vice chairman of the UF board and chairman and chief executive officer of the S. S. Kresge Company.

In remarks to the meeting, Smith stressed the improving economic picture, which he said should contribute to "a more positive attitude among this year's Torch Drive contributors, both corporate and individual."

Smith also introduced the four 1976 Torchlighters, who represent three of the agencies funded by Torch Drive dollars.

In addition to lighting the Torch on October 11 to signal the beginning of this year's campaign, the Torchlighters will appear at campaign meetings and rallies throughout the tri-county area.

This year's Torchlighters are three-year-old Tiffany Beeler and five-year-old Tonia Gilley, both of Detroit and both patients at Detroit Orthopaedic Clinic; 14-year-old Maureen McKenna of Livonia, who has cystic fibrosis and benefits from the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation; and 10-year-old Rodney Rutowski of Center Line, who, although deaf since birth, is an active member of the Torch Drive-supported Boys' Club in Warren.

In further action today, the board voted to accept a request from New Detroit, Inc. for the UF to raise a minimum of $2.2 million through the Urban Progress Fund for New Detroit's 1977 activities.

Every year since 1969 the United Foundation has raised funds for New Detroit through pledges from a select group of corporations and foundations. Contributions to the Urban Progress Fund are kept separate from the Torch Drive and individuals are not solicited.

Also approved were five emergency grants from the UF's Capital Fund Division General Fund to the Boys' Clubs of Metropolitan Detroit, Lutheran Social Services, World Medical Relief, the YMCA of Northern Oakland County — Rochester Branch and the YMCA of Metropolitan Detroit.

Lost opportunities are those that go to the wrong people. Short cuts to success often prove to be the longest route.

Probably weight and comfort are the two most important functional factors to be considered in the design of the earring. As with all forms of jewelry, it is up to you to decide what sort of earring expresses the "real" you best. Regardless of the size you choose, excessive weight must be avoided. The type of ear back is also an important consideration. Many feel that the screw type is less comfortable than the spring-clip type. This is because the area of the clip is larger than the area of the disk on the screw type.

Bring in precious stones from your old jewelry and we will re-set them in a custom made setting, here at VALENTE JEWELRY, 16601 East Warren at Kensington, Detroit 881-4800. Tell us what ideas you want incorporated and we will design and custom-make jewelry to your taste. Let us design a new setting for your old diamonds in your ring or your earrings. VALENTE JEWELRY are designers of fine jewelry—since 1934. Master Charge and BankAmericard welcome.

Program Lists Semifinalists

Pointe area schools are represented by 25 students in the semifinals of the 1977 National Merit Scholarship Program.

These academically talented students are among a select group of 15,000 from all over the United States who are now qualified to continue in the competition for 3,850 Merit Scholarships to be awarded next spring.

Semifinalists from South High School include Mark S. Bauhof, Julius J. Huebner, Elizabeth K. Jewell, Susan L. Jones, Kathleen A. McCleary, Jay A. McCormick, David McHugh, Jane D. McLeod, Eileen M. Mecha, Clare E. Rogers, Abigail A. Van Slyck and John P. Witri.

Qualifying students from North High School are Elizabeth A. Barrett, Janet A. Edwards, James A. Lafer, Martin J. McDonald, Arthur I. Roberts and Stuart C. Sweet.

Those from University Liggett School include Elizabeth W. Andrews, Nancy L. Johnson, Jason P. Macha, Marcia M. McBrien and Sandra M. Terenzi.

Austin Prep's entrants to the competition are William P. Soullier and Michael K. Stone.

To advance to the finals, these students must meet requirements that include being fully endorsed and recommended for scholarship consideration by their secondary school principals, presenting school records that substantiate high academic standing and confirming their high qualifying test scores with equivalent scores on a second examination.

Offer Bridge To Raise Funds

The Grosse Pointe North Parents Club is again offering bridge marathons to help support the scholarship fund. The marathons are open to all residents of The Pointe School District.

Flights of eight or 10 couples are being formed for husband and wife teams in the evening and for women in the afternoon. Games will be played in the homes with participants alternating as hostesses.

The afternoon groups will play 16 hands per round, and the couples 20 hands. If a partner is needed for the afternoon group, the club will help find one.

There is no definite day of commitment as players may schedule games at their convenience, averaging about once a month.

Last year's winners were Mr. and Mrs. Eldert Bontekke, Flight I; Mr. and Mrs. Pete Sehee, Flight II; and Irene Shepherd and Audrey Hley for the afternoon group.

For further information, call Mrs. Michael Couen at 884-8771.

NHS Musicians Set Paper Drive

Members of North High School's bands and orchestra will once again try to boost their funding with a paper drive.

Newspapers, magazines and telephone books should be brought to the North High parking lot, 707 Vernier road, on Saturday, September 25, from 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

The proceeds from the drive will go toward summer music camp scholarships, instruments and new music.

Pair Named to UF Posts

Rod Burton of The Park and Ginny Peattie of The City have signed on as top promotion volunteers for the United Foundation's 1976 Torch Drive.

Mr. Burton, president of Burton, Sohagian Advertising, is chairing the campaign's Special Events Group.

In addition to directing such traditional Torch Drive events as the Miss Torchy

Contest and Sports Day, he will help secure entertainers and celebrity speakers for major Torch Drive meetings.

Mrs. Peattie is chairing the United Foundation Speakers Bureau, which recruits and trains volunteer speakers to tell the UF story at in-plant rallies and solicitor training meetings and before fraternal, social, church, school and other groups.

The Speakers Bureau also handles distribution of the current Torch Drive appeal film and arranges tours of Torch Drive agencies.

This year's Torch Drive runs from October 12 through November 4 to raise operating funds for nearly 140 health and community service agencies in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties.

WOODS PAYS INVOICE

How does Studio Camera do it?

That's what camera stores all over the state are asking themselves — how does STUDIO CAMERA sell at such ridiculous low prices 365 days a year?

The answer is simple. We keep our overhead low. We run our store efficiently. We DON'T use "razzle-dazzle" gimmicks like so called "free finishing coupons" or "half off on over priced electronic flash units."

There's no haggle over price at STUDIO CAMERA. Our Cash Price is our BEST price. All our prices are printed and up front. No one works on commission, so you buy what you want when you want. You'll never get pressured into "package" deals, or any of the other gimmicks you've run into in other camera stores.

This straight forward, no gimmick way of doing business is the reason we sell more cameras to more people than any other camera store in Michigan.

We must be doing something right.

Reports Theft of Silverware

Silver flatware, valued at more than $1,500, was taken from the front seat of a Shores woman's car, while the vehicle was parked in the garage adjacent to the family residence, according to Shores authorities.

The woman, whose name and address was withheld for fear of further thefts, is employed as a sales person by a firm manufacturing a well known brand of silverware and other items.

The victim told public safety officers she did not know on what day the theft occurred. She did say, however, she had been home for two days, recovering from an illness, and that a sample display case containing the valuable items was on the front seat of her car, which was in the garage.

When she recovered from her illness and went to the garage, she discovered the display case gone.

The woman, an employee of the business for the past 26 years, said she promptly notified her company's insurance firm. The total loss of the silverware, 24 pieces, was placed at $1,517.

Investigation of the theft was assigned to Det. Sgt. Frank Mustazza.

GP Lions Drop Opener, 20-13

The Grosse Pointe Lions little league football varsity team lost its opening game, 20-13, to the East Detroit Tiger Cats in recent action. The Cats scored on the opening play of the game with the contest played on even terms the rest of the way.

The offense was spearheaded by Steve Root and Rick Overby, who gained good yardage outside. Coach John Strabel said the two touchdowns scored by quarterback Harry Constant were an indication of his value in the Lions offense. A short pass to Eric MacMichael accounted for the extra point.

The defense played a solid game with fine performances from Brian Carrion, Bill Ratsek and Scott Strempek up front, and Joe Leto at safety. Defensive coach Mike Monaghan commented that the total defensive effort was hurt by a breakdown in pass coverage by the secondary which allowed the game-breaking touchdown.

Head coach Jac Currie said he was pleased with the total team effort, but there is a lot of work required to get ready for next week's game against the Roseville Rebels at Elworthy Field.

The Lions coaching staff and board of directors mentioned that the excellent crowd on hand for all three games had a great deal to do with the fine spirit shown by the Lions teams.

Tom Gibney, of the athletic committee hopes that the parents and other relatives will continue their support throughout the season.

North Harriers Win Two Meets

By Diane Marsteller

The North High School cross country team is on the loose as the harriers won two meets last week.

On Thursday, September 16, the Norsemen ran at Fraser High School and defeated the Ramblers, 15-50, where the lowest score wins.

The North harriers took the top eight places with Bill Weidenbach leading the pack at a time of 15:17. Dale Savage followed in second place at 15:38. There was a six-way tie for third place with Dan Beck, Luke Przeslawski, Joe Ciaravino, Mark Kennedy, Ed Hammer and Steve Brandt all finishing in 16:09.

On Saturday, September 18, North headed for Holly, Mich. to compete in the Holly Invitational.

This was a tough meet so Coach Tom Gauerke was very pleased with the first place finish of his team as they compiled 39 points against the other 20 teams.

Grand Blanc was second with 63 points followed by third place Brother Rice with 160 points.

Weidenbach came across the finish line in first place with a time of 15:04 with Savage right behind at 15:05. Hammer was seventh at 15:32, Ciaravino, 12th, at 15:44 and Przeslawski, 17th, at 15:49. Kennedy finished in 23rd place at a time of 15:53 and Beck was 31st at 16:07.

The Norsemen also took home a trophy for winning the JV section of the meet.

Steve Brandt was second at 16:18, Paul Lewis, fourth, at 16:46 and Ron Fergle, fifth, at 16:54. Dave Schepke finished in sixth place at 16:55, followed by Tom Rouseau in seventh at 16:56. In 11th place was Don Ford at 16:59 and Darrell Graham was 15th at 17:23.

In the open run, the Norsemen also showed up well with Jim Schmidt, a freshman, winning the race at 17:20. Steve Lugo finished third with a time of 17:34 and John Przeslawski was fifth at 17:37.

Music Theory Course Slated

The instructor for the courses is Frederic De Haven, who is currently serving as choirmaster and music director of Christ Church. The courses are designed specially for the layman and non-professional musicians.

Included in the theory course will be harmony, analysis and part writing. The orientation class will place emphasis on the individual's understanding of the composer's efforts and aesthetic appreciation of music of various kinds.

Romans 8:28

Trusting God for all good, you can see a pattern of progress in your life. Even trials become opportunities for healing and for improvement, as the Bible shows.

At our testimony meeting this Wednesday, you will hear others tell how they've drawn closer to God and felt His gentle control of their lives. And often they tell how their understanding of God has healed them of sickness, grief, loneliness, fear, lack.

We hope you'll visit soon.

Know Your Schools

By Dr. William Coats,
Superintendent of Schools

The school year is off to a successful start! Although some minor snags have been reported, overall we are pleased that our instructional program is in full swing.

In line with my wish to communicate as effectively as possible with the total community, I am taking the liberty of using this week's column to answer some school-related questions coming from citizens which have just reached me.

As readers may suspect, current negotiations with the teachers' union is a topic of some interest. Unfortunately, responses to many questions probably would be outdated by the time this appears in print since both teams have gone back to the bargaining table and bargaining demands are being modified.

One matter responded to here is the issue of secondary school department heads.

Currently department heads in the secondary schools are elected by the members of the various departments from a field of two to five, (depending on the size of the department), candidates nominated by the principal.

In the senior high schools, department heads are paid

AMBITION

Merely being headed in the right direction is only half the battle to success—it takes lots of drive to get you there.

up to $1,800 in addition to being released from one class, making the total cost of the function $5,000-$6,000. Chairpersons for smaller middle school departments are paid less.

By previous contract language, department heads are prohibited from supervising or evaluating anyone else in the bargaining unit. Thus, their function is largely supportive or clerical rather than supervisory in nature.

There is no reason to suppose that secondary department heads are slated automatically for elimination or curtailment since the Board of Education has high regard for the potential of these people.

However, the Board of Education is convinced that, in light of the amount of money paid to them, (both in extra-pay-for-the-extra-duty and in released time), the department heads must assume some supervisory and evaluative responsibilities that are necessary to the smooth functioning of the school system, and that to do this, they must be appointed by the building principal.

From time to time I shall depart from the "column" format to answer residents' questions about the schools. If you have queries or concerns to which you wish a public response, please direct them to me at my office at 389 St. Clair avenue, Grosse Pointe 48230.

Everything Ship-Shape With This Pair on Board

By Tom Greenwood

She's the love of Captain Joan Walker's life. Imperially slim and trim, she waits for him every morning at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. They spend the entire day together, and most of the night.

Their life together is ideal. Summers in The Pointe and winters in Boca Raton, Fla. She is Miss Olsonite, the 62-foot yacht of internationally known sportsman Ozzie Olson.

Miss Olsonite is nearly four years old now and Captain Walker is the only pilot she's had.

"This is probably the best vessel I've ever worked on," said Capt. Walker. "She rides rough seas very easily and responds quickly to the wheel. We've seen some rough times, with winds hitting 65 mph, but even with waves breaking over the bow, I've never lost faith in her."

Capt. Walker, 49, knows a lot about rough seas. Before working on Miss Olsonite, he was the captain of a company yacht for the Wyandotte Chemical Corp. Prior to that, he was in the Canadian Merchant Marine for 16 years.

"I've sailed the oceans and the lakes, and believe me when I say I'd rather ride out a storm on the ocean than any of the Great Lakes. On the oceans you have room to maneuver. On the lakes, the waves are just as big, but much closer together, so they keep smashing into your ship like this," he said, punching a fist into his hand.

To help her fight those storms, Miss Olsonite is equipped with radar, sonar, VHF (very high frequency) radio, a direction finder, auto pilot and single side band, (long distance) radio.

Inside, she's patriotically decorated in a red, white and blue motif. She carries four staterooms, each with their own bathroom, a lower salon, with stereo and color TV, and an upper salon, where most of the entertaining is done.

She is also equipped with a fully stocked galley, complete with refrigerator, stove, compactor, garbage disposal and washer and dryer.

While Capt. Walker takes care of Miss Olsonite's exterior, first mate Eddie Dodson sees that everything is ship-shape inside.

Eddie, 42, who has been with the Olsonite Corp. since 1962, sees that everything is spotless, and makes the passengers comfortable.

"This is the best job a man could ask for," said Eddie. "It's interesting because there's always something new. Something different every day. Mr. Olson is an exciting man. He loves sports, and we're always meeting the interesting people he has around him."

Some of those interesting people include race car drivers, tennis greats, football players, captains of industry and assorted movie stars.

Other favorite memories of these two soft spoken, able men include talking with the crews of passing ore carriers, ("A lot of them carry my ex-mates," said Capt. Walker), and watching rocket ships blast off while anchored off Cape Kennedy.

It takes a lot of practice to handle a vessel as long as Miss Olsonite, and Capt. Walker controls her with a fine touch.

"There's a big difference between operating and handling a boat this size. I handle this craft with care, both because it's a big investment and because we're carrying important guests," said Capt. Walker. "It's a lot of responsibility."

Part of that responsibility sometimes calls for telling his boss that the boat shouldn't be taken out.

"On more than one occasion I've told Mr. Olson the boat should stay in port because of rough weather, or incoming storms," said Capt. Walker. "That's part of my job. Mr. Olson always trusts my judgment. He believes in safety first."

Miss Olsonite will soon be leaving local waters and heading south to Florida for the winter.

"We usually leave in mid-September or early October to miss the hurricane season," said Eddie. "Then we head back up north around the first of May."

Capable of making 18 knots, the trip usually takes three weeks, allowing for bad weather.

Miss Olsonite is equipped with two 450 horsepower engines which burn about 35 gallons of fuel an hour.

She's also equipped with four Olsonite 40's. Those are one model of toilet seat made by the Olsonite Corp. After all, charity begins at home, even if it's on the water.

David Phillips To Talk on CIA

The Women's Republican Club of Grosse Pointe and the Grosse Pointe War Memorial are co-sponsoring an evening with David Atlee Phillips, former Chief of Latin American Operations for the CIA.

Mr. Phillips offers new insights concerning the now well publicized CIA activities in foreign countries. He will present a candid discussion of the arcane world of spies and secret diplomacy, drawing on his own experiences first as an agent and later as Chief of Operations in South America.

The lecture will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday, September 29, in the Fries Auditorium at the War Memorial. Tickets are $5, $3 for senior citizens, $1.50 for students and may be obtained at the War Memorial. For further information call TU 1-7511 or Mrs. Charles Begg TU 1-5445.

What Goes On at Your Library

By Arthur Woodford
Chief of Central Library

This is the seventh of a 10-part series entitled "Bi-centennial Biographies." The subject of this week's column is Thomas Jefferson, (b. Albemarle County, Va., 1743 — d. Monticello, Va., 1826).

Thomas Jefferson is best remembered as a great President and as the author of the Declaration of Independence. He also won lasting fame as a diplomat, a political thinker and a founder of the Democratic party.

Jefferson's interests and talents covered an amazing range. He became the foremost American architect of his time. He designed the Virginia Capitol, the University of Virginia and his own home, Monticello.

As a scientific farmer, he cultivated the finest gardens in America. His many inventions included the swivel chair and the dumb-waiter. Jefferson's excellent library became the nucleus of the Library of Congress. He drafted Virginia's civil code, and founded its state university.

Jefferson regarded himself as a public-spirited citizen and a broad-minded, practical thinker, rather than as a professional politician. Yet his country needed his talents, and he contributed them.

He was a strong and, on balance, an effective president. Steering a middle course between the extremes of left and right, he tried to ally raging partisanship and bring about a "perfect consolidation" of political sentiment. The reformation of government was based on fiscal policy. Internal taxes were abolished, the army and navy reduced and the debt put on the course of extinction.

Jefferson faced two great crises in foreign affairs during his presidency. The first, with France on the Mississippi, led to the Louisiana Purchase — a triumphant conclusion to his vision of continental empire.

The second was his famous Embargo Act, an attempt to bring pressure on Britain by withholding trade. The Act proved to be a costly experiment at home and was repealed after the trial of 15 months.

Following the end of his second term as President in 1809, Jefferson returned to his home at Monticello where he enjoyed a long and active retirement. He died on July 4, 1826, just 50 years after the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Of the many books by and about Thomas Jefferson that are on the shelves of our library, the most notable series is without doubt Dumas Malone's JEFFERSON AND HIS TIME, (Little).

This comprehensive biography of five volumes (the sixth and concluding volume is yet to be published), covers Jefferson's personal and public life. It has become the standard work about Jefferson and should remain so for many years.

Another book about Jefferson that will undoubtedly be read and re-read for some time is the best selling THOMAS JEFFERSON: AN INTIMATE HISTORY, (Norton), by Fawn M. Brodie. Impeccable scholarship, fine detective work and a rare ability to bring facts to life make this an extraordinary biography. While not scanting Jefferson's public and intellectual life, Ms. Brodie seeks to draw a portrait of the man, and to correlate his public and private lives. She accomplishes her goal brilliantly and in so doing reveals a Jefferson we have barely glimpsed before.

In probing the man's personal ambiguities—attitudes toward the church, slavery, women, revolution—she constructs a striking inner portrait, one that surfaces in his relationships with figures such as Madison, Adams, Burr and Hamilton.

A new title, published just this past summer, that may prove to be as popular as the Brodie book is JEFFERSON: A REVEALING BIOGRAPHY, (American Heritage), by Page Smith.

Eminent historian Smith has fashioned an engrossing, intimate portrait of Jefferson, one which humanizes him without diminishing his greatness. His central theme is that Jefferson essentially fit the psychological type or mold of the creative artist rather than the political statesman.

Jefferson's sensitive emotional nature, his continual remodeling of Monticello, his political strengths and weaknesses, many-sided achievements, a host of personal relationships—all are perceptively reviewed and clarified.

In conclusion, it can be said of Thomas Jefferson that he molded the American spirit and mind. Every later generation has turned to him for inspiration. Through 60 years of public service, he remained faithful to his vow of "eternal hostility against every form of tyranny over the mind of man."

EXPENSES APPROVED

The expenses of Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos, based upon his attendance at the Michigan Conference of Mayors July 22-24 at Mackinac, were unanimously approved by The Woods Council at its regular meeting Monday, September 13. The total was $408.64 with $70 of that amount already prepaid.

As before, Mrs. Osius was assisted by Mrs. Alfred F. Taylor.

Today, September 23, 1976, it's Mrs. Osius' turn to be fêted at a party. It's her 100th birthday, and she'll be guest of honor at a special dinner this evening at her home in the Salvation Army's Eventide Residence in downtown Detroit.

Mrs. Osius has been a vital part of Eventide since its opening 18 years ago. She walked into the building with the step of one much younger, was shown around, liked what she saw, (in spite of the remodeling and renovations in progress), and moved in the very first day Eventide began accepting residents.

She even helped put the finishing touches on the facility, shining chrome and pipes in the bathrooms.

She's remained an active participant in the home's bazaars and other affairs.

All her life, Mary Osius has been an active participant. She was Mary Germonprez when, at the age of five, (Continued on Page 20)

Seek 'Cinderfella' To Reign at Ball

Sponsors Are Submitting Names of Claimants to October 2 Benefit Title; Finalists Will Be Chosen September 27, at Ranger House

Over the years, charity balls have achieved a level of sameness, reasoned members of the Women's Committee for the Cinderella Ball, sponsored annually by the American Lung Association, so... since Women's Lib is a FACT now, why not turn the tables at the 1976 Ball?

Why not, instead of a Cinderella, have a "Cinderfella," handsomest, brightest, most gorgeous hunk of masculine pulchritude in the Tri-County area

"Cinderfella" applicants' names are being submitted by sponsors, ranging from restaurants to businesses to social, religious and political organizations.

Finalists will be selected Monday evening, September 27, at the Ranger House in East Jefferson avenue, by a panel of five women from the American Lung Association and five women from the media, both electronic and print.

At the Ball Saturday, October 2, at Raleigh House, finalists will be required to circulate among the guests during cocktail hour, concurring up as many votes as they can, and to dance with Women's Committee members during the early part of the dinner.

This year, for the first time in the history of the Ball, the public is invited to attend a Disco After-Party, starting at 9:30 o'clock: to participate in the dancing and merriment and to cast their votes for "Cinderfella."

Tickets for the formal Ball are $67.50 per person, $135 per couple. Tickets for the

Offer Pointers a New Project

Louise Hoyt and Marie Mitchell, vacationing "up north" early in the summer, were browsing about antique and gift shops when they came upon a lovely old tray, its design etched — somehow — in gold leaf.

Being Louise and Marie, they immediately determined to discover how the etching had been done, and to adapt the process to today's methods and materials.

Back in The Pointe they experimented all summer long trial and error and trial again, until now Louise is ready to add a class in Etching on Gold Leaf to her list of 1976-77 Grosse Pointe Public Schools' Department of Community Services offerings.

She's teaching six classes in various techniques, including the popular forms of decoupage, this season. Classes start Monday, September 27. Information on dates and times may be obtained by calling the Department of Community Services, Tuxedo 5-3808.

The newest technique is always, of course, the most fascinating to the teacher, and Louise is really excited about Etching on Gold Leaf. "Working with gold leaf goes back to Pharaoh's times in the Bible," she notes.

Seeking to trace the history of her new project, she called the Reference Department at the Grosse Pointe Central Library and was connected with Colleen Smith, who promised to help.

"When I arrived at the library," Louise recalls, "there was a whole pile of material waiting for me." Colleen had even slipped pieces of paper in the reference books she'd collected, marking the appropriate pages.

The gold etching, done on metal, is particularly effective on trays. A pattern is traced on the surface to be decorated. Gold size is applied. Gold leaf is attached to the size, and shadings and contrasts are etched, with a tool, into the gold surface.

The results were perfectly beautiful. Louise and Marie have completed several trays in flower and fern designs. Louise plans to do some with Oriental figures.

She's also using the gilding technique on the lids of basket purses — not "everyday" basket purses for supermarket shopping, but smaller evening purses, to be lined in satin and velvet.

Hickory Hollow Golf Ladies End Season

Hickory Hollow Women's Golf Association ended match play in August with Doreen Hrdiovich taking honors as Champion Flight winner, Betty Seiden as First Flight winner and Doris Vernier as Second Flight winner.

The League held a Guys and Dolls Day Sunday, September 12, climaxing nine holes of play at Salt River Golf Club with a steak dinner. A Doe Day luncheon Friday, October 1, at Hickory Hollow, will formally end the season.

Lace edged the U-neckline of the white sata peau gown in which Susan Jane Meier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Meier, of Lochmoor boulevard, spoke her marriage vows to James Robert Young.

Her dress featured a chapel train, bishop sleeves and deeply-flounced hem of Nottingham lace. Matching lace trimmed her fingertip illusion veil, falling from a seed pearl-studded lace Camelot headpiece.

West-Hannan Rites Are Read

A reception at the University Club followed the wedding of Kathleen Hannan, of Lennon road, and Robert D. West Saturday, September 18, in Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Alex H. Homberger, of North Muskegon, and the late Dr. John E. Hannan. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Jolene West, of Chalmers avenue, Detroit.

Dr. Allan Zaun presided at the 2 o'clock rites, for which the former Miss Hannan selected a gown of white silk organza and Val lace, and a fingertip veil falling from a lace-covered bonnet.

She was attended by her sister, Ms. Sandra Wieland, as honor matron, and bridesmaids Mrs. John Blatt, another sister, and Mrs. Bruce Baker, all in softly draped frocks of pale aqua peau.

Best man was Robert Brackem. G. Michael LeGout and William West, the bridegroom's brother, ushered.

Alissa Wieland was flower girl for her aunt. Daniel West, the bridegroom's nephew, was ring bearer.

The newlyweds will return from a vacation in Pennsylvania to make their home in Lennon road.

Wed in California

Marriage vows were spoken Saturday, June 26, in Saint John's Episcopal Church, Ross, Calif., by WINIFRED HAMILTON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noble Hamilton, Jr., of Ross, and WILLIAM WELLS CAULKINS, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Caulkins, of Willow lane.

Caulkins-Hamilton Vows Exchanged

Bride's Two Sisters Are Among Her Attendants; Bridegroom's Four Brothers Serve in Usher Corps; Newlyweds Vacation in Hawaii

A horse and buggy brought Winifred Hamilton to Saint John's Episcopal Church, Ross, Calif., for her wedding Saturday, June 26, at 4:30 in the afternoon to William Wells Caulkins.

After the ceremony, The Reverend Max Nye presiding, the horse and buggy took the bride and bridegroom to Lagunitas Country Club, where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Noble Hamilton, Jr., entertained at a reception.

Since the Hamilton home, the church and the country club are all situated in Lagunitas road, the horse wasn't a bit tired.

The former Miss Hamilton wore a lace-accented white organza gown. She eschewed the traditional bridal veil in favor of a cluster of flowers in her hair, matching the flowers in her bouquet.

She was attended by a sister, Margaret Evans, as honor maid, and bridesmaids Elizabeth Hamilton, another sister, Ann Elliott, Jean Rowe, Kirby Kemp and Stephanie Kendall, all Californians.

White lace trimmed their yellow linen frocks. They carried bouquets of mixed garden flowers.

Mr. Caulkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Caulkins, of Willow lane, asked a cousin, George C. Finken-staedt, to act as best man. Ushering were David Fairman, of Chicago, Ill., Noble Hamilton, III, the bride's brother, J. T. Moore, III, of San Francisco, Calif., and John, Peter, Charles and Edward Caulkins, brothers of the bridegroom.

The newlyweds vacationed in Hawaii. They are making their home in San Francisco.

Slate Church Tour Tonight

An opportunity to visit four of Detroit's historic churches on a conducted tour is offered this evening, Thursday, September 23, by the Detroit Historical Society and the National Society of the Colonial Dames of America in the State of Michigan.

Featured are Fort Street Presbyterian, Saint John's Episcopal, Saint Stanislaus Roman Catholic and Trinity Lutheran.

Travel is via the History-Mobile, departing at 5:30 o'clock from the museum. An $8 fee includes dinner. Reservation information may be obtained by calling 633-1805.

The last evening tour in this Historic Churches series, featuring First Congregational, Holy Trinity, Saint Anne's and Saint Paul's, will be offered Thursday, October 28.

Tonight's first stop is Fort Street Presbyterian, built in 1855 of grey limestone quarried in Maldon, Ont., destroyed by fire, (except for the outside walls), in 1876 and re-built in almost a facsimile of the original Gothic Revival style.

Its hammerbeams are the second largest of any church in the world.

Saint John's, Victorian Gothic, dating from 1860, features Caen stone in the entrance archway, nave, chancel screen, pulpit and altar, two Tiffany glass windows in the south aisle and a supererected imported from Venice.

The Polish parish of Saint Stanislaus dates from 1896, but the cornerstone of the present yellow brick building

The John Murphys

Married Saturday, July 24, in Saint Clare de Montefalco Church to Mr. Murphy, son of E. James Murphy, of Ann Arbor, and the late Mrs. Murphy, was NANCY JEANNE DIEHL, daughter of the Robert J. Diehls, of Buckingham road.

Nancy Diehl Bride Of John J. Murphy

Five Sisters Attend Bride at Midsummer Ceremony; Bridegroom's Father Is Best Man; Newlyweds Vacation in Toronto

At home at Lake in the Woods in Ypsilanti are Mr. and Mrs. John James Murphy, who were married Saturday, July 24, at a morning ceremony in Saint Clare de Montefalco Church.

Mrs. Murphy is the former Nancy Jeanne Diehl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Diehl, of Buckingham road.

Mr. Murphy is the son of E. James Murphy, of Ann Arbor, and the late Mrs. Murphy.

The 11 o'clock rites at which Father Edward J. Sweeney, O.S.A., presided were followed by a reception at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, after which the newlyweds left to vacation in Toronto.

Applied flowers accented the bodice, cap sleeves, skirt and cathedral train of the bride's white silk organza gown. Her scoop neckline, hem and train were edged in Viennese lace.

Her fingertip veil, edged in matching lace, fell from a Camelot cap, and she carried an oval bouquet of white roses, stephanotis, mums and baby's-breath.

The bride was attended by five sisters, Kathryn Diehl as maid of honor and bridesmaids Mrs. James C. Guy, (the former Diane Diehl), and Janice, Linda and Lisa Diehl, all in peach nylon knits with V-necked, diamond-quilted bodices, flowing skirts and short-sleeved jackets.

They carried bouquets of peach roses, white miniature carnations and baby mums. Each wore a peach rose and baby's-breath in her hair.

E. James Murphy was his son's best man. Guests were seated by David Burke, of Ann Arbor, Gary Pannone, of Warwick, R.I., and Terry Tulisiak, of Parma, O.

Mrs. Diehl selected a floor length, long-sleeved blue nylon knit for her daughter's wedding. She pinned a white orchid to her purse.

The new Mrs. Murphy, who received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Western Michigan University, is a second-year student at Wayne State University Law School. The bridegroom received his Bachelor of Science degree in Engineering from the University of Notre Dame, his Master of Business Administration from Western Michigan University, and is now employed by Consumers Power in Jackson.

Trinity Evangelical's congregation was formed in 1850. The present church, (1931), the parish's third, is a modern adaptation of 16th century English Gothic Pier and Clerestory Church Architecture. The stained glass windows were executed by the Detroit Stained Glass Company and Henry Lee Willet, of Philadelphia.

Anyone interested in joining the chorus may contact Mrs. Pardee, 646-3093, for further information.

Busy Year Lies Ahead for Pi Lambda Theta

The Detroit Alumni Chapter of Pi Lambda Theta, a national honor and professional association for women in education, began its 1976-77 calendar of events with a Thursday, September 9, dinner-meeting at the Southfield home of Dr. Evelyn Bonington, who presented films of Australia.

Programs planned through the year include an October address, "Innovations in Reading," by Wayne State University's Dr. Cynthia Colvin; the annual November Founder's Day, presented in conjunction with WSU's Alpha Pi Chapter, at Wayne State's Alumni House; a February luncheon and art tour at the Detroit Institute of Arts; discussions on Detroit Teaching Centers by Dr. Theresa Denman in March, and on Mini-computers by Evelyn Kozar and Marise Al-Jerdin in April; and a May luncheon and tour of Meadow Brook Hall, during which WSU winners of the annual Pi Lambda Theta scholarship awards will be announced.

Pi Lambda Theta, an organization of approximately 20,000 members in hundreds of chapters throughout the

One Hundred Good Years

(Continued from Page 15) she came to Detroit from France, with her parents. She grew up to be an excellent seamstress, and in the early years of the century was associated with Mrs. Walton of Walton-Pierce.

Bridal dresses were Mlle. Germonprez' forte, and she was often asked to personally "dress the bride," to make sure each fold and pleat fell into its proper place.

She married Theodore Osius, a widower, in the 1930's. They made their home in University place, where Mary continued to live for the next 30 years. After her husband's death, she devoted a good portion of her time to baby sitting, and the love she lavished on her young charges was returned by those lucky enough to have Mrs. Osius as their "other grandmother."

Mary, who enjoys remarkable health for her years and loves visiting with friends, will reign supreme in Eventide's lounge this evening, receiving cards and good wishes from her fellow residents.

Among those sending greetings is President Gerald Ford.

Among those who'll be there to say "Happy Birthday" in person is John Taylor, a guest at that first Christmas Party, and at the second. John lives in San Francisco now. He's visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred F. Taylor, of Handy road.

Mrs. Taylor is, of course, THE Mrs. Taylor who assisted Mrs. Osius at the Christmas parties.

She's also the Mrs. Taylor who told the NEWS about

Mary Osius' birthday, and we're awfully glad she did, for we'd hate to see such a milestone in the life of an enthusiastic subscriber to our paper since its very first issue pass without a bit of hoopla.

Happy Birthday, Mary! And for those who didn't know in time, and would like to send a belated birthday card: Mrs. Osius' address is Eventide Residence, 2643 Park avenue, Detroit, Mich.

Detroit Symphony Year Starts Tonight

All-Berlioz Program Will Be Featured at First Performances of 1976-77 Season; Aldo Ceccato to Conduct

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra opens its 63rd season with an all-Berlioz program tonight and Saturday evenings, September 23 and 25, at 8:30 o'clock, and Sunday afternoon, September 26, at 3:30 in Ford Auditorium.

DSO Music Director Aldo Ceccato will be on the podium. Guest soloist will be Canadian contralto Maureen Forrester.

The concerts open with the Overture to Berlioz' opera "Benvenuto Cellini," and continue with Miss Forrester and the Orchestra performing the songcycle "Les nuits d'ete." (Summer Nights).

Major orchestral work on the program is Berlioz' "Symphonie fantastique."

Aldo Ceccato became music director of the Detroit Symphony in May, 1974, after a year as principal conductor. He is also music director of the Hamburg Philharmonic.

A native of Milan, Maestro Ceccato has been invited to conduct every major orchestra in the world. In addition to his guest engagements, he will conduct the DSO this season in 13 weeks of concerts in Ford Auditorium.

Maureen Forrester first appeared with the DSO in Windsor, Canada, in 1956, and was invited by Paul Paray to sing at a Ford Auditorium concert the following winter.

She has returned on four occasions since, most recently last January, when she sang in Mahler's Symphony No. 2 under Maestro Ceccato's direction. She has been called "Canada's most precious natural resource."

Hector Berlioz (1803-1869) was the best known French composer of the first half of the 19th century. His overture to "Benvenuto Cellini" has a special meaning for Maestro Ceccato, as it was the first work in which he directed the DSO publicly, on December 7, 1972.

"Summer Nights," a cycle of six songs on poems of Theophile Gautier, has been performed by the DSO on only one previous occasion, when Eleanor Steber sang and Paul Paray conducted in March, 1961.

The "Fantastic Symphony" was last performed by the DSO in 1972.

The traditional pre-concert Opening Night Dinner, sponsored by the Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, is being held this evening at the Detroit Athletic Club.

Season tickets for subscription concerts, representing savings of up to 43 percent compared with individual concert prices, are still available from the Symphony office, 961-0700.

Subscribers may choose from 15 different series, including 20, 12 or eight Thursday or Saturday evenings; the Kresge Series, six Sunday afternoon concerts, presented at family prices; the Zodiac Series, which features a special pre-concert prelude and half-price rates for students on Friday evenings;

the popular Friday morning Coffee Concerts, presented in cooperation with the National Bank of Detroit; the Weekend Pops series, now expanded to 12 concerts in six series; and the new Detroit Symphony Chamber Orchestra series of three concerts.

An additional series of Young People's Concerts on four Saturdays throughout the season completes the biggest musical entertainment package ever offered by the DSO.

Brochures with program details and ticket order forms may be obtained by calling 961-0700 or writing the Detroit Symphony Office, Ford Auditorium, Detroit 48226. Individual tickets are now on sale.

Awards to Be Given By Foundation for Arts

The Michigan Foundation for the Arts, Mrs. Edsel B. Ford, honorary chairman, is asking community arts councils and other persons interested in the arts to submit nominations for the 1977 Michigan Arts Awards.

Deadline for nominations is October 15, 1976.

The awards, initiated this year, will be given annually to one or more Michigan artists who have brought distinction through their artistic work to themselves and to their state.

Purpose of the program is to give recognition to outstanding Michigan artists and thereby to promote development of a supportive arts environment in the state.

While no fixed number or dollar amount for awards is specified, last year the Foundation awarded five cash grants of $2,500 each.

Nominees may be creative persons in any arts discipline who are approaching or are at the peak of their artistic careers. In addition, all nominees must have a substantial and visible association with the state of Michigan.

Nominations should include detailed information on the artist-candidate, copies of critical evaluation, lists of performance, published works, exhibitions, significant achievements and other appropriate supporting material.

Recipients will be selected by the Foundation's board of directors, with the assistance of selected consultants.

Forms may be obtained from Mrs. Anne W. Rosech, Michigan Foundation for the Arts, 1200 Sixes avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48226. They must be returned postmarked no later than October 15.

Let's Talk Real Estate

by John E. Brink

Famous commentator on Real Estate John McMahon writes, "The history of America's romance with land is long and colorful. Several of the founding fathers speculated in land. Many of America's largest cities began as land promotions. Land speculation was a motivating force behind the development and expansion of the canal and railroad systems. Florida and California might be swamps and deserts today if they had not fallen prey to the land speculators. Many colorful individuals created the land as we know it today, and made vast fortunes from it as well."

There is no speculation for either the seller or buyer when the House you buy or sell is covered under ERA's (Electronic Realty Associates) $100 deductible one year warranty. Both parties deal with mutual trust with a third party guaranteeing the condition of the house.

Hunt Club Has Tennis Tourney

The Grosse Pointe Hunt Club (GPHC), recently completed its second Annual Club Tennis Championships.

Competitors for the Bill and Jennie Muir Bowl played the preliminary rounds over a three week period. The individual trophies will be awarded at the club's party given in connection with Tennis and Crumpets.

Jim Bruno successfully defended his men's singles title with a 6-2, 6-3 victory over Peter Perrachio.

Mr. Bruno's softer shots brought Mr. Perrachio to mid-court from where he had difficulty in keeping his hard top spin ground strokes in the court.

In addition, Mr. Bruno moved fluidly to return a number of Mr. Perrachio's fine shots.

The favorites in men's doubles, Dr. Robert Scherer and Edward Gall, had all they could handle in defeating Frank Huster and Stuart Cammett, 4-6, 7-6, 6-3.

In the first set and much of the second, Dr. Scherer was ineffective at the net. Many potential put-aways were returned by Messers Huster and Cammett for points.

It was not until Mr. Gall joined Dr. Scherer at the net in the second set that the tide turned for the victors. By the middle of the third set, Dr. Scherer regained his form and Messers Huster and Cammett went down to defeat in a hard fought match.

The women's singles crown went to Mrs. Nick Moisesides, 6-2, 6-2, over a surprising Marjorie Ryan. Mrs. Moisesides retrieved well and generally played an aggressive match.

Mrs. William Kohr and Mrs. Wilbur Brucker were relatively the strongest entry in any of the tournament events. They dominated Mrs. James Brooks and Mrs. James Bruno, 6-0, 6-1, to win the Women's Doubles event.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Harper were able to control the net, but Mr. Harper was not able to convert control to points. Mr. Brucker's lob into the wind proved difficult for the Harpers to handle.

The match appeared to be closer than the 6-2, 6-2 scores, but Mr. and Mrs. Brucker were near perfect in crucial situations.

B'nai B'rith Cites Easlick

David K. Easlick, president of Michigan Bell Telephone Co., will be honored with the 1976 International B'nai B'rith Humanitarian Award at a $125 per plate dinner November 16 at Cobo Hall for "distinguished and enduring contributions of a humanitarian nature."

Mr. Easlick, a resident of The Park, is currently a director of Detroit Renaissance, the Economic Club of Detroit, the United Foundation, the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and the International Freedom Festival.

He also is a trustee of the United Hospitals of Detroit, Inc., the Michigan Colleges Foundation and a member of the Detroit Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America, the United Negro College Fund and the Advisory Council of Junior Achievement of Southeastern Michigan.

Banquet proceeds will help continue one of the largest youth serving programs in America, including B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundations at universities, B'nai B'rith Youth Organizations and B'nai B'rith Vocational Services, helping over 200,000 young people and teenagers on college campuses and in high schools in the Detroit area and in cities throughout the country.

B'nai B'rith is the largest Jewish service organization in the world with over 500,000 members, including 13,000 in the Detroit area. The Humanitarian Award is being presented on behalf of the B'nai B'rith Foundation of the United States.

On the national and international scene, the award has been presented to the late United States Chief Justice Earl Warren and to David Ben-Gurion, a founder and the first Prime Minister of the State of Israel.

Previous recipients of the Award in Detroit have been C. Boyd Stockmeyer, chief executive officer of Detroit Bank and Trust Co.; John J. Riccardo, chairman of the Board of Chrysler Corp.; Irwin I. Cohn, community leader; Joseph L. Hudson Jr., chairman and chief executive officer of the J. L. Hudson Co.; Leonard Woodcock, international president, United Auto Workers; and Walker L. Cislis, former chairman of the board of the Detroit Edison Co.

The general dinner chairman are Louis Berry, Mr. Hudson, and Alan E. Schwartz. Louis Weber is B'nai B'rith Foundation Committee chairman. Martin Weston is president of the Metropolitan Detroit B'nai B'rith Council.

For dinner reservations, write the B'nai B'rith Foundation, 21711 West Ten Mile road, Southfield 48075, or call 354-6100.

Lions Frosh Win Opener

The Grosse Pointe Lions little league freshman team began its season on a successful note with a 21-0 win over a stubborn East Detroit Tiger Cats team.

Head coach Gary Reeder was very pleased with the total team effort. Coach Tom Landau mentioned that both Paul Hawk, who scored two touchdowns, and Jim Wade, who scored one touchdown and an extra point, ran hard all day.

Quarterback Darren DeSmyter gained substantial yardage over the right side of the Lion offense, headed by Shawn Whelon, Pete Kohut and Jeff Kline. The scoring was rounded out by DeSmyter with one point after touchdown and Jud Kotas with the other.

Coach Kevin Sullivan said that four key fumble recoveries led to the shutout victory. Shawn Whelon made two of the recoveries and Steve Reynolds and Don Kohut latched on to one recovery each.

Coach Ken Kline said the interior penetration of the two tackles, Colla Barr and John Williamson, was instrumental in breaking down the wide game of the Tiger Cats. The defense's head hunters were led by Terry Hyrault's four unassisted tackles, all of which were made from his middle guard position.

An interception by left outside linebacker John Ratsek was only one of his many fine plays. He was singled out by coach Jim Duff, along with Tim Caputo, for outstanding play on the special teams.

Water Safety Class Slated

The Department of Community Services and the American Red Cross will co-sponsor a Water Safety Instructor Review Training course at Pierce Middle School, 15430 Kercheval avenue, on four Thursdays from 6:30-9:30 p.m.

Persons who satisfactorily complete the review course will have their WSI certificates renewed for two years. For further information, call 885-3808 or 885-0271.

Red Barons Win 2 of 4

The Grosse Pointe Red Barons traveled to St. Clair Shores to rekindle an old rivalry with the Green Hornets in football games played Sunday afternoon, Sept. 18.

The Red Baron freshman squad opened its season with a 25-0 victory. Cedric Patmon scampered for three TDs, including a 70-yard kick-off return, and Willie Secor added one to pace a powerful Red Baron attack.

Brett Augsberger netted an extra point to complete the scoring, while Blair Schoof, Paul Bautista and Ross Kovanda played solid offensive football.

The always tough defense, under the direction of Paul Garner, yielded only three first downs in the entire game. Chris Bingamen intercepted a screen pass to set up one TD, and Greg Fleming recovered a fumble to set up another. Greg Lambrecht, Bob Michalich, Matt Spadafora, and Marty Dooley were defensive standouts.

After the game, head coach Rick Moore stated, "These boys have accomplished a great deal in the last few weeks and today their desire and hard work paid dividends."

At the junior varsity level, Ken Sanders and Bob Lu-berto each scored one TD to lead their unit to a 14-6 win. Brian McGivern and Bill Crow accounted for the PATs.

A blocked punt by Bob Fox, who also recovered a fumble, set the stage for one TD. Scott DeClaire intercepted a pass and Sanders, Fox, David Fitzsimmons, Bryan Hopp, Mike Marasco, Greg Mattes and Jim Strong turned in fine defensive performances to contribute to the win.

Jeff Kusch played a courageous game at QB in a losing cause as the Red Baron varsity suffered through a 19-0 nightmare.

The Red Baron junior freshmen, filling the Denby Bulldog freshmen schedule as the only junior freshmen squad in the Eastern Suburban Football League, played a strong game against the Sterling Heights Chargers freshmen unit, despite a 19-6 loss.

The Red Baron Whites only score came on a 45-yard pass play from Michael LaRue to Stephen Wheatley.

The next games for the Red Barons will be Sunday, September 26, against the Mount Clemens Barracudas at North High School.

4. It seems like so many of the houses are priced too high?
5. Etc.

CHRIST CHURCH ORGANIST AND CHOIRMASTER FREDERIC DE HAVEN, OF LASALLE PLACE

By Janet Mueller

There's a small poster on one wall: "He Who Sings Prays Twice." And shelves filled with books, of and about music, and a bulletin board crammed with schedules, (boys, girls and men's choir practices; this year's Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival performances), and clippings, ("American Guild of Organists Holds Fast-Paced Convention," from the New York Times, marked "Save for DeHaven;" Xerox of an item noting "Boys Choir Called Biased by HEW"), and flyers on music festivals, seminars, workshops . . . and a cartoon.

The cartoon's about music. That "Boys Choir Called Biased by HEW" looks interesting.

Seems a formal elementary school founded an all-boys choir. Now isn't "all-boys" prima facie evidence of discrimination against girls?

There's a pencilled notation on THAT clipping. "Fred: I thought you'd like to see this. Dennis."

There's a comment, in ink, below the pencilled notation. "Dennis: Rubbish! Fred."

New to Pointe Frederic DeHaven came to Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, last year.

"The music program here has, for the last 50 years, been known as one of the great music programs in Episcopal churches throughout the country."

To it, he brought an educational background that includes study at Oberlin Conservatory, a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Michigan, a Master of Arts from the Juilliard School of Music and a diploma from L'Academie de l'Orgue Francais, St. Maximin, France.

He'd begun his career in 1961 as organist and choirmaster at St. Barnabas Church in Irvington, N.Y. He'd been assistant organist and choirmaster at St. James Church in New York City, and organist and organ instructor at The Masters School, Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., in the early 60's.

Moved to Southport Then, in 1964, he'd come as organist and choirmaster to Trinity Parish, Southport, Conn. And there he stayed, until 1975, when he came to Christ Church, Grosse Pointe.

During the Trinity Parish years, he served concurrently as head of the Music Department at Greens Farms Academy, Greens Farms, Conn. He was active, too, within the community: musical director of the Fairfield County Choral and Orchestra from 1968 to '75, musical director of the Fairfield University Chamber Orchestra in 1974-75.

This year, after an absence of several years, the Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival was reinstated at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Its musical director was Frederic DeHaven.

He's the son of the late Reverend and Mrs. Edward O. DeHaven, of Dearborn, husband of the former Sharon Slater, of Chicago, father of Mary Claire and Anne Slater DeHaven, ages 14 and nine. (So much for discriminating against girls!)

Loves Tennis, Sailing He loves to play tennis, finds himself gardening an awful lot, and counts a summer lost if it doesn't include his quota of sailing on Buzzard's Bay off Cape Cod. He's an ex-boat member coincide with the Three-Choir Festival which annually brings together the boys choirs of St. Paul's Church, Akron, O., Christ Church Cathedral, Lexington, Ky., and Christ Church, Grosse Pointe.

The Festival is patterned after a similar Festival in England, involving the choirs of Chichester, Winchester and Salisbury Cathedrals. Setting for next May's Midwest American version will — of course! — be Christ Church, Grosse Pointe.

Directs Three Choirs Mr. DeHaven directs three choirs at Christ Church: men's, boys and girls. All the singers are professionals, paid for their work. The young singers will never get rich on it.

Boy choisters, for instance, receive between $3 and $10 per month, depending upon the quality of their work, their attendance records and how far up the scale they are on the choir-master's 10c, 25c, 35c and 50c tests, each involving progressively harder material.

The boys average 15 to 20 rehearsal hours per month, on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons and, with the men, on Saturday mornings. They perform every Sunday morning, at the 11:15 service. The girls' schedule is similar, as is the music they perform. "Our particular girls choir is one of the few in the country that sings with the men. I've trained the girls in the same manner I've trained the boys."

Rules Strict, Pay Bad So . . . Attendance rules are strict. The pay's no good. DeHaven's no pushover: he expects — INSISTS — on excellence, and that means the work is hard.

And they keep coming back for more. Where else could they get such a great musical education? Where else could they perform with a men's choir whose members Fred DeHaven considers "some of the finest professional singers in the country?"

Where else could they sing EVERYTHING, from cantatas to spirituals, plain song to the most contemporary forms of 20th century music? This year, the Christ Church Men's and Boys Choirs will perform Britten's "St. Nicholas" cantata in December. The Boys Choir will sing Purcell's "Te Deum" and "Jubilate" and Blow's large anthem "I Was Glad," written for the opening of St. Paul's Cathedral in London, in its American premier.

There's a Liturgical Drama coming up, too.

It's Recruiting Time Autumn is Mr. DeHaven's recruiting time. He's looking for girls aged 11 to 17, able to rehearse on Wednesday and Friday afternoons and Saturday mornings, to sing on Sundays with the men. The girls' repertoire is the same as the boys.

He's looking for boys aged eight to 11. He's ALWAYS looking for boys aged eight to 11. "Boys produce a particularly straight and clear tone that is particularly appropriate for church music." But the lifetime of a boy's voice is only about six years, eight to 14, so each year a certain percentage of a boys choir must be replaced.

Mr. DeHaven is looking for intelligent boys, interested in music, who like to work with a team. It would be nice if they have had, or are about to start, lessons on a musical instrument.

Looking Everywhere He's looking for good, clear voices. He's looking within Christ Church, and without. "I am interested in finding the best boys from anywhere in the Greater Detroit community. They do not have to

Navy Electrician's Mate Third Class ARTHUR TOMASZYCKI, son of the CHESTER TOMASZYCKIS, of Nottingham road, is participating in a major NATO maritime exercise, "Team Work '76," as a crew member aboard the dock landing ship USS Hermitage.

MAJOR PAT KENNARY, charge nurse on Ward 2-B at Chanute Air Force Base, was recently honored as Rantoul Business and Professional Women's Club's "Woman of the Month." The daughter of MRS. JAMES M. KENNARY, of Kensington road, took her nurse's training at Kalamazoo's Borgess Hospital and worked as an R.N. at Detroit General Hospital before joining the Air Force. She has been stationed in Georgia, Texas and Illinois, at Japan's Tachikawa Air Base and, just prior to Chanute, at Udorn in Thailand. Her hobbies include reading, (mysteries and historical novels, by preference), knitting and "junking," specifically, looking for additions to the collection of old spoons which, she says, is a direct descendant of the collection of little tea sets she amassed as a child, under her mother's interested eye. Pat's a dedicated sailor, too, who's owned her own boat off and on, as time and circumstances permitted.

Painter KENNETH MICHAEL STOC received his baccalaureate degree this August from Walsh College of Accountancy and Business Administration.

Among University of Michigan-Dearborn degree candidates honored during summer commencement ceremonies was DAVID G. SANDERS, Bachelor of Arts, of Torrey road.

Midshipman CHRISTOPHER J. SPADA, son of RETIRED NAVY COMMANDER and MRS. ANTHONY J. SPADA, of Kensington road, participated in the Naval Academy's "Summer at Sea" program and has returned to Annapolis for further instruction leading toward his baccalaureate and commissioning. During a deployment to the Mediterranean Sea with ships of the United States Sixth Fleet, he gained professional experience in basic seamanship, navigation, gunnery and communications, participated in Fleet exercises and studied ship handling and shipboard weapons fire control. He also visited several Mediterranean ports.

be members of Christ Church. At present, about 25 percent of Christ Church Choirboys are not members of Christ Church.

Applicants have only to call up the Christ Church choirmaster and set up an appointment. "That's best done in September and early October." The audition is very simple, consisting basically of one music lesson.

"I see what they have retained, how much they can learn." There's a small voice test: a boy is asked to sing something he knows. There's no sight-reading test — but Mr. DeHaven does test each applicant's ability to read texts.

Acceptance, (Mr. DeHaven has been very impressed with the caliber of the applicants), means admission to "probably the nicest Choir Room in the country."

Happy in Choir Room Fred's happy as a clam in that Choir Room. Its windows are leaded glass, its proportions handsome, its acoustics great. It's beautifully equipped, with two fine musical instruments: a piano and an organ.

In it, since he has them three times a week, he is able to train his boys and girls to read, understand and appreciate music, to comprehend, hopefully, the meaning of the poster on his office wall.

He Who Sings Prays Twice. "Interestingly enough," notes Fred DeHaven, "many of the great churchmen in the Episcopal Church, men 40, 50, 60 years old, will frequently say, 'I was in a boys choir.' It figures.

Alice Curtis and John Walmsley chose Tuesday evening for their cocktail party welcome to her cousin, California artist Andrea Day.

Tuesday evening, September 14, was lovely, and guests spilled out of the Walmsley home in Cranford lane to sip and sample hors d'oeuvres in the garden.

Andrea and her son Andrew drove here from California, bringing with them the paintings Andrea has on display through this week at Charterhouse in-the-Village. The invitational preview of her exhibit last Sunday, sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Soroptimist Club and benefiting Cottage Hospital, was a lovely party, too.

Alice and Jack won't have time to feel let down after Andrea and Andrew leave, for there's something lovely in the Walmsleys' immediate future: a trip back to England, Jack's home, where they were married not so very long ago.

And THEN . . . Mr. Walmsley's taking his bride off to East Africa for a week. It will be her first trip there, (not his, by a long shot!), and they plan, because time is short, to headquarter at Nairobi's Norfolk Hotel and take "side trips" to Tree-tops, Amboseli . . . I'm green with envy.

More Art-ful Doings

The Grosse Pointe Academy Artists are displaying their work at University Liggett School's Cook road campus this month. It's good work, for artists must meet high professional standards to create in the fascinating old building facing Lake St. Clair.

Once upon a time, that building was the Convent of the Sacred Heart, home of the nuns who staffed Grosse Pointe's Academy of the Sacred Heart.

The nuns left in 1969. The school re-opened as the coeducational Grosse Pointe Academy, using the former Academy's school building behind the convent. The convent building was considered rather a White Elephant until Virginia Durbin Thibodeau said, "Now, just whit: look here a minute . . ."

Why not, reasoned Ginny, noted for her portraits, still lifes and the miniatures she's exhibited from the Smithsonian in Washington, D.C., to France's Cote d'Azur, (noted to hundreds of Sacred Heart Academy students at "their" art teacher, Mrs. T.), USE this wonderful old building?

It's a series of studios now, an inspiring cultural center in the heart of Grosse Pointe, which welcomes visitors by appointment.

Toastmistresses Are Flying High

Summer ended on a high note for members of Mid-Century Toastmistress Club, which meets regularly throughout the year at the Grosse Pointe Central Library, Kercheval avenue at Fisher road.

The invitation read: "Colonel and Mrs. Merle Nichols, of Selfridge Air National Guard Base, plan a tour of the Base conducted by Colonel Nichols, a ride in a four-seater Cherokee 140 plane, and a hardy lunch prepared by Mrs. Wilma Nichols, the Colonel's Lady."
