STATE HEALTH OFFICIALS halted Michigan's swine flu immunization program Wednesday pending an investigation into the deaths of three elderly state residents shortly after their vaccinations. The suspension decision was made at an hour-long meeting of health experts and representatives of Gov. William Milliken, who concurred with the decision. None of the three who died in Michigan had been given vaccine from the same vaccine batch which was suspected in three deaths in Pennsylvania earlier in the week.

CHICAGO ECONOMIST MILTON FRIEDMAN and two American medical researchers were awarded Nobel Prizes on Thursday, giving the U.S. a clean sweep on the first day of the 1976 awards. The Royal Caroline Institute gave the medicine prize jointly to Dr. Baruch Blumberg of the University of Pennsylvania and Dr. D. Carleton Gajdusek of the National Institute of Neurological Diseases at Bethesda, Md., "for their discoveries concerning new mechanisms of the origin and dissemination of infectious diseases."

THE GOVERNMENT INTENDS to ban the use of aerosol sprays containing fluorocarbon gases for food, drug and cosmetic products, the Food and Drug Administration announced Friday. The decision—to phase out fluorocarbon sprays "within a reasonable time period"—marked the first federal action against consumer product fluorocarbons, which many scientists say are eroding the earth's protective ozone layer. The FDA said it will require warning labels on fluorocarbon spray cans in the meantime.

NATURAL GAS PRICES have nearly tripled in the past 18 months because the Federal Power Commission (FPC) has failed to uphold the law it's supposed to enforce, a House subcommittee charged Saturday. The subcommittee's conclusions are hotly contested both by a subcommittee minority and by the Ford administration, which has supported the price increases granted by the FPC. In its review of the performance of federal regulatory agencies, the House Commerce Committee's oversight subcommittee leveled a charge against the FPC that it "demonstrated a conscious disregard of its statutory duties" and "neglected its congressional mandate to protect consumers from price and supply exploitation."

A MODERATE EARTHQUAKE jolted the Los Angeles area just days after the dedication of a new Veterans Administration hospital that replaced the VA facility destroyed by a 1973 quake. The Saturday night quake registered 4.0 on the Richter scale and was centered about eight miles northeast of Newhall, said a spokesman for the Caltech Seismological Laboratory in Pasadena. The quake was felt in the San Fernando, Antelope and Santa Clarita Valleys.

SECRETARY OF STATE HENRY Kissinger made a significant shift in policy when he recently implied the U.S. would support China in case of Soviet attack, U.S. officials said Monday. Although American support for a China under attack has always been an unstated possibility, the officials said Dr. Kissinger's little noted comments at a Cambridge, Mass., news conference Friday were stronger and broader than ever before.

If Farms Det. EARL FIELD looks like he's about to cry, you'll have to forgive him. He's holding one of 405 cases of Coors beer that will soon be destroyed. The beer, which is contraband in Michigan, was discovered stashed away in the basement of a home in Muir road. State Liquor Control agents declared the beer must be poured down the drain since it's illegal to sell Coors in this state. Talk about crying in your beer . . .

GPW Police, City Seek Mediation

Meeting Set for Tomorrow, October 22; Both Sides Seek to Resolve Differences

By Roger A. Waha

A mediation session has been scheduled for tomorrow, October 22, between representatives of the Grosse Pointe Woods Police Officers Association (GPWPOA), and the city in an effort to resolve differences toward a new agreement which will affect 38 officers and three corporals.

Both sides mutually requested that a mediator take part in discussions, and Richard Terepin of the Department of Labor, Employment Relations Commission, is scheduled to participate.

A main problem, acknowledged by representatives of both sides, is in the area of salary. City Administrator Chester E. Petersen cited this point, as did Officer Michael VanDeGinste, president of the GPWPOA, who said, "We're far apart on economics."

Areas Cited

From the union's perspective, attorney Armand Bove stated, "We have been unable to come to any kind of agreement with the city," while indicating mediation is the first step prior to arbitration.

Schools Make Progress In Kindergarten-Sixth Grade Curriculum Area

New Approach Stresses Critical Thinking, Development of Foundational Knowledge, Skills; Officials Cite Importance of Program

By Susan McDonald

The staggering task of re-organizing and updating the entire Grosse Pointe school curriculum began over two years ago when Dr. James Adams took over as superintendent. For the elementary schools, the process came to somewhat of a conclusion last week when the Board of Education approved a definitive study of the kindergarten through sixth grade programs.

Although intended for use by educators, the document also should be of interest to concerned parents as a detailed explanation of just what their kids will learn in school and when.

The development process began with a community-wide survey in 1974 that established broad educational goals and priorities for the district. The next step was to gather and consolidate the reams of policy statements and curriculum guides already in use in the system.

Led to Explore

All the programs were then reviewed and updated in conformity with an activity-centered inductive philosophy of education.

"The elementary curriculum leads children to explore and learn before they can conceptualize and analyze," according to the document's introduction. "It stresses process, critical thinking, attitudes and values, as well as the development of foundational knowledge and skills."

Director of Research and Planning Roger McCaig is not shy about stating the document's importance. "It will make a substantial difference in the kids' education," he said. "After the hundreds of hours we've put into it, we have a responsibility to see that that happens."

Director of Elementary Education Dr. Alfreda Frost is equally enthused about the new program, but qualifies Mr. McCaig's predictions. "There always has to be recognition of the students' different abilities and their past education in evaluating any program."

Major Areas

If all goes well, the new programs will be used in all classrooms by next fall, although some are being taught right now. For some new courses, teacher in-service training and new texts will be necessary.

Kidnap Suspect Awaiting Trial

Adam Patwin, 20, charged with the Friday, October 1, kidnapping of 10-year-old Scott Miller, of Washington road, waived his Wednesday, October 13, examination before Farms Municipal Judge Robert Pytel and was bound over to Wayne County Circuit Court for trial.

He also was remanded to the Wayne County Jail. Patwin, of Santa Barbara, Detroit, was arrested Saturday, October 2, and charged with abducting Scott off a Farms street while he walked home from school.

Taken to a Detroit home and tied in the basement, Scott was able to free himself, and called his parents. He was reunited with his family within hours of his kidnapping.

Patwin is scheduled for a Monday, October 25, pre-trial arraignment in circuit court. He is being held on $250,000 bail.

Find Coors Beer Cache In Farms

Discovery of 405 Cases in Muir Road Basement Follows Tip Received by Police

By Tom Greenwood

The "Coors Caper" is coming to a close. Four hundred and five cases of the fabled Colorado beer, seized by the Farms Police Department last week, is due to be destroyed in the next few days.

The beer bust began on Tuesday, October 12, when Farms Chief of Police, Robert K. Ferber, received a tip that "hundreds of cases of Coors beer" were being stored in a basement in Muir road.

The informant said a truck had driven up to the house on Friday, October 8, and that several men had spent hours transferring the brew into the basement.

In Plain View

Farms Detectives Sgt. George VanTiem and Earl Field were assigned to the case, and put the house under surveillance. "The beer was in plain view in the basement," said Det. Field. "You could see it through the windows. When no one approached the house, we contacted the owner of the home for permission to enter the property."

The owner of the property said the home was rented to a woman who hadn't lived there for two months. He also stated he had received a tip on the beer in the basement, but had delayed contacting the police until he could question his tenant.

Pleads Ignorance

When contacted by the police, the renter said she knew nothing of the beer or who had stored it in the basement.

Before seizing the beer, Farms Police contacted agents from the Michigan State Liquor Commission Enforcement Division and other police agencies to discover if the beer had been stolen or hijacked.

The reports were negative and on Wednesday, October 13, the police began removing the beer. Stacked in a pile that measured 12' x 8' x 5', the 405 cases took two hours to transfer to a truck.

"The way we figure it, somebody bought the beer out west, and brought it back

Pointes Pleased By Prospect of Receiving Funds

President Ford Signs State and Local Fiscal Assistance Act of 1976 Which Distributes $25.5 Billion; Local Officials View Amounts, Uses

By George Polgar Jr.

At a formal bill-signing ceremony during a campaign swing through New York last week, President Gerald R. Ford extended the Federal Revenue Sharing Act of 1972 for another three and three-quarter years.

The State and Local Fiscal Assistance Act of 1976 calls for the distribution of $25.5 billion to state and municipal governments through 1980. Though the new law represents a dollar increase over the 1972 act, the increase is an adjustment to the inflation of the past four years.

Of this federal money Michigan will receive $280,874,136 during the first fiscal year, (from October 1977-September 1978). The state retains a portion of this and distributes the remainder to townships, counties, municipalities and Indian tribes.

Contest Figures

The amount of revenue sharing funds a community receives is based on the computation of a complicated formula which considers population, local tax effort and per capita income of residents.

Since the concept of revenue sharing is the redistribution of wealth, the Pointes gladly receive and put to good use the revenue sharing funds without any major complaints.

Some Pointes officials, particularly in the Woods, do however contest the population figures which the revenue sharing office uses to calculate how much federal money their communities are entitled to.

"They, (the federal government), have arbitrarily and capriciously lowered our population figures thus lowering our share of the federal funds available through revenue sharing," said Woods City Administrator Chester E. Petersen.

This April the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, (SEMCOG), published a study which reported that the population of the five Pointes had dropped six percent.

Though the revenue sharing office has declined to explain where they get their population figures, officials

GPP Policemen, Firemen Seek Pension Plan Change

By James J. Njaim

Members of the Grosse Pointe Park Police Officers Association, (GPPPOA), and the Grosse Pointe Park Fire Fighters Association, (GPPFFA), are working hard and hoping to induce the city's voters to favor Proposition I, which will be on the Tuesday, November 2, election ballot.

Proposition I is an amendment to the Park City Charter, which would increase the retirement pension of policemen and firefighters from 1.7 percent to two percent, bringing the Park pension system on a par with the other four Pointes.

"We sincerely hope that the voters of our city will vote 'yes' on Proposition I," said Patrolman Charles Slus-

School Head Fills Five Positions

Dr. Coats Says New Appointments Do Not Involve Additional Personnel, Only Realignment of Posts

By Susan McDonald

Superintendent of Schools Dr. William Coats announced Tuesday, October 19, that he had filled five new administrative positions created by a recent realignment of Board central offices aimed at tightening up the efficiency of the system and its instructional program.

Four Grosse Pointe staff members will fill the new jobs including Roger A. McCaig as director of research and planning; Robert D. Welch, director of secondary education; Dr. Alfreda M. Frost, director of elementary education; and Dr. Kathleen M. Herschmann, assistant principal of instruction at North High.

Sheila Turney, new assistant principal of instruction at South High, was hired from Bloomfield Hills Junior High, where she was counselor/supervisor.

No Cost Increase

Dr. Coats said in a press release that the new appointments do not involve additional personnel, but merely represent a realignment of positions.

"The reassignments are the first of a number in a realignment proposed to improve the efficiency of the school system and to improve the instructional program for the benefit of our students," he said. "Implementation of the total program will not result in an overall increase in costs budgeted for administrative purposes."

The Grosse Pointe Education Association has opposed part of that package of reassignments that involve staffs currently within their bargaining unit. The above positions are not among those contested, though, because they involve only administrative staff.

The positions as directors of elementary and secondary education are new names for the two curriculum associates. Those positions have been eliminated. The director

Citizens Air Concerns to City Council

Proposal Would Affect Cadieux road; Various Burdens Cited

By Susan McDonald

An ad hoc committee of City residents went before the council Monday, October 15, with the names of 145 neighbors protesting the council's planned ban of parking on Cadieux road.

Such a ban "would have a highly detrimental effect, not only on residents of Cadieux itself, but on those residing on adjacent streets" which would face extra parking burdens when Cadieux is closed, said Joseph N. Gormley, of Cadieux road.

The Cadieux proposal is part of The City's major street system plan developed in line with new state funding criteria that mandates the "no parking" signs for major roads of a certain size. The City stands to lose $8,000 per mile of road in state tax monies for non-conformance to the directive.

Will Cause Hardships

Another Cadieux resident, Hope Whitten, stressed that the problem "was not simply a Cadieux matter. About one-half the people signing the petition were from other streets," she said, "and we could have gotten many, many more names."

In a five-page cover letter to the petition, the citizens said the proposed ban would cause special hardships in their area because of the large number of condominium apartments, which, in most cases, provide only one garage spot per apartment.

The ban would force the increasing number of elderly residents of those buildings to park far away from their homes, the letter said.

The area is already crowded with parked cars and, according to the letter, the problem is aggravated by the parking needs of Mair School and inadequate space for a nearby medical clinic.

Miss Whitten said she talked to several Grosse Pointe realtors who estimated property values on Cadieux

Farms Police Seek Driver

Farms police are seeking citizen cooperation in locating a woman involved in a hit-and-run accident involving a 12-year-old girl that occurred late last month on Chalfonte avenue near Madison road.

The father of the girl and the police stressed this week that they do not wish to prosecute, but just want to question the woman to clear up details concerning the accident.

Carolyn Johnson, of Radnor circle, received a lacerated knee and had her bike damaged when she was knocked down by a white female, 40-50 years of age, driving a light colored vehicle.

Another girl, riding her bike in front of Carolyn, said she yelled at the woman after the accident, but the driver only smiled back and continued down Chalfonte.

Police believe the woman may not have been aware of the accident.

A Lewiston road woman, driving down Chalfonte, witnessed the mishap and said the car was a "beige four-door sedan." She said the driver of the car stopped and asked at the fallen girl, then continued driving.

The witness stopped to help Carolyn and then told police she had taken down part of the car's license number.

The numbers on the license were 141.

Farms police have fed the numbers and car description into the LEIN (Law Enforcement Information Network), computer and came up with 40 possible suspects in the area.

Anyone with information is urged to contact the Farms Police Department at 885-2100.

Coors Beer Cache Found

With distribution limited to mainly the western United States, the sale of Coors in Michigan is contraband. Since Michigan would receive no taxes on the beer, anyone caught owning or selling large amounts of the brew could be punished with a fine and/or time in jail.

While the police have no one in custody at the present time, the beer is temporarily being stored in the property room of the Farms Police Department until it can be disposed of.

"The way it's usually destroyed is to run over the cans with a tractor," said Det. Field, a bit wistfully. "Then the beer is flushed by the fire department into the sewers. There's going to be an awful lot of happy sewer rats when that happens."

And an awful lot of sad firemen.

It's a fact that economy is never really fashionable.

Prospect of Receiving Funds Pleases Pointes

The three elements of the revenue sharing formula are essentially the criteria for crediting and debiting the share of federal money going to a community. The formula favors growing communities with an expanding population thus placing stable communities like the Pointes at a disadvantage in the long run.

At the same time the formula favors the Pointes because the high local taxes here are taken as a sign of the community's willingness to bear the major portion of the costs of city services.

Then, in keeping with the concept of redistribution of wealth, the higher the per capita income in a community the less federal money it receives, according to the formula.

Last year The Woods received roughly $98,000 in revenue sharing money and Mr. Petersen does not expect any significant increase for this year.

"Since we have been receiving revenue sharing money we have been directing it to street repair," said Mr. Petersen. "We will be doing that with the new money as well. As far as the population question is concerned we are very curious to see the results of the school census which was conducted last spring based on a door-to-door canvass."

Needed Extension
In The City, where the population drop threatens to cut federal money as well, City Manager Thomas Kressbach does not expect much more or less revenue sharing funds than the $33,000 received last year.

"We should be getting between $33,000-$34,000 and as in the past the money should go into street resurfacing and public safety projects," he said. "Each year with the adoption of the budget we have a planned use report for federal funds and, if the act had not been extended, we would have ended up with about a $16,000 deficit this year and about $35,000 next year."

Farms City Manager Andrew Bremer expects the new revenue sharing act to provide about the same $45,925 per year as it has in the past. But he notes that since his city does not incorporate the money into its budget, the community would experience no deficits if the law had not been extended. "We channel the money into protective devices and street lighting projects so we're happy to get it. But it wouldn't hurt us as much as communities that build the money into their budget if it had not been extended," he said.

The Shores, according to Gerald Schroeder, council president, receives between $15,000-$16,000 a year. The money is used exclusively to defray the cost of the public safety force.

"We are very happy to be getting this money and it would certainly have hurt us if the law had expired," he said.

"Matter of Time"
The Park received approximately $60,000 last year from revenue sharing and has incorporated half that figure into the budget for this year because the 1972 act was to expire halfway through the fiscal year.

The problem of declining, or at least stable, population in The Park presents possible problems in the future for that community as it does the other Pointes.

"It's just a matter of time until the resources of a community run out," said Park City Clerk Nunzio J. Ortisi. "We have statutory limits on taxation and once we reach them, we'll have to look elsewhere for funds."

It appears that local officials are not as concerned about the amount of revenue sharing money they are receiving at present but about what they will be allotted in the future.

As the cost of sustaining high quality city services continues to rise and the amount of federal assistance threatens to decrease in keeping with a stable population, city officials may see a day when some services may need to be curtailed or phased out all together.

Protest Parking Ban

(Continued from Page 1) would drop from $2,000-$3,000 if the ban is enacted. Mr. Gormley added the loss would be greater for single family residences in the area.

In addition, the petitioners argue the presence of parked cars serves to slow down traffic, especially in the area of Mairie School.

The petitioners asked the council to formally request the State Highway Commission to make an exception in the criteria for Cadieux road. The state code allows for such exemptions if "full compliance with criteria would cause undue hardship on the community."

City Manager Thomas Kressbach said that his staff has been working with state officials and have verbally asked for a review of the situation. He pointed out that many alternatives may be negotiated, such as banning parking on certain blocks only or at specific times of the day.

Mr. Kressbach expressed optimism that the state may relax the code for The City because of its age and high level of development which make the changing codes especially difficult to abide by.

The Woods Council formally requested exceptions to the code for three areas of the master street plan in March. A ruling has not yet been made on the matter.

Mr. Kressbach added he would not recommend a formal request be made by the council yet, because that would force the state to make a quick, irrevocable decision. Instead, he suggested the citizens work toward solving some of their parking problems themselves or through their condominium associations. Some existing apartment parking spaces are not used now, Mr. Kressbach said, because of narrow drives and poor lighting. Improving these facilities might help alleviate the problem.

Other, less desirable alternatives suggested by the petitioners include converting Cadieux into a one-way road, thus providing ample room for traffic and retaining on-side parking; downgrading Cadieux to a local street classification and losing the state gas tax monies; or to widen Cadieux by one and a half feet.

The last suggestion, would certainly be a last resort, the letter roads, both because of the expense involved and the number of trees that would be destroyed.

The council came to no decision on the matter, but referred it to the committee of the whole so the staff could continue negotiations with the state.

Club Slates Special Night

The second Friday Night Special for seventh and eighth grades will be held Friday, October 22, from 6-9 p.m. at the Neighborhood Club, 17150 Waterloo avenue. The admission is $1, and pop and pizza will be available at a minimal additional cost.

The program includes open pool, table tennis and air hockey in the upstairs lounge, and short films on the main floor. For further information, call 885-4600.

Pre-Theater Buffets Set

Candlight Theater Buffets will precede performances of Grosse Pointe Theatre's season opening musical, "A Little Night Music."

The pre-theater buffets will be served on all Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings throughout the season if patronage warrants it. Reservations must be made in advance.

It is possible to subscribe to a series of four dinners through the season on a basis of $30 per person (tax and service included), or for each individual production at $7.75 per person, (tax and service included).

Dates for pre-theater buffets for the opening run of "Night Music" are November 10, 11, 12 and 13, and 17, 18, 19 and 20.

The pre-theater buffets make for a complete evening out, allowing the homemaker to dress and enjoy the evening fully. It gives the driver more convenient parking and provides an excellent chance to entertain, says the Center. The buffets include hors d'oeuvres, a choice of salads and dressings, beef and fowl or fish entree's and a dessert table.

The theater season continues in January with "Catch Me If You Can," in March with "The Imaginary Invalid" and reaches a climax in June with the hit musical "Cabaret."

Found Innocent of B-E Attempt

A Park man was recently found innocent of an attempted burglary charge after a Wayne County Circuit Court jury trial, reported Woods police.

Earl Harrison Prather Jr. was arrested in July and charged with the attempted break-in of Smith, Hague Co., Inc., 20155 Mack avenue. However, Det. Charles Philip Hamel said Prather was charged in court with attempted breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny.

After all witnesses gave testimony and a four-day trial was conducted, the jury found Prather innocent of the charge.

Fact-Finding Sessions Slated For Board of Education, GPEA

By Susan McDonald
State-appointed fact-finder, Dr. John Simpkins, has scheduled preliminary sessions with Board of Education and teacher union negotiators for Monday-Tuesday, November 15-16.

Dr. Simpkins, who is dean of the College of Education at Wayne State University, is considered one of the top men in his field by Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC), Director Robert Pisarski, of Audubon road.

"He is the best man I could find, one of the most outstanding in his field in the U.S.," Mr. Pisarski said. "I consider Grosse Pointe an important school district, and I think it needs attention now."

The fact-finder was appointed earlier this month on a motion of MERC itself, rather than at the Board of Education's request as earlier reported, according to Mr. Pisarski. He said MERC stepped in "just to speed things up."

Dr. Simpkins' report will be made public, but is not binding. He will only review the issues and give recommendations.

The Grosse Pointe Education Association (GPEA), has not yet agreed to enter into fact-finding on the grounds that it will accomplish nothing since it is not binding, according to the group's President Doris Cook.

The GPEA has, instead, proposed binding arbitration or binding fact-finding. Board President Robert Warner rejected that idea publicly but Mrs. Cook said the Board team has not rejected the proposal in writing.

The two sides have spent at least 350 hours at the bargaining table since contract negotiations began in May. The last hint of progress was reported over the Labor Day weekend, when the teams met in marathon sessions with a state-appointed mediator.

Since then, talks have been stalemated over economic and some 14 vital language issues, spokesmen for both sides say.

Dr. Simpkins has served as chief negotiator for the employer at both Philadelphia and Baltimore School Districts. He is former vice-president of the Detroit Federation of Teachers and was director of the Institute of Collective Bargaining at Harvard University.

He is currently a professor of public employment relations at Wayne State University. He has received both the Martin Luther King and Woodrow Wilson Foundation awards.

Dr. Simpkins was awarded his BA and MA degrees from Wayne and his PhD from Harvard.

There are currently about a dozen school districts in fact-finding in Michigan out of a total of 650.

B-E Incidents Come Quickly

Two breaking and entering reports were received by Woods police within 30 minutes last week. The first came in at 11:53 p.m. on Monday, October 11, while the second was taken at 12:23 a.m. on Tuesday, October 12.

In the first instance, a Country Club drive home was entered, with several rooms being ransacked by the culprits. Three ladies' rings, an antique pocket watch and a large collection of stamps in a manila envelope, all of unknown value, were missing.

The rings were described as follows: a green, heart-shaped stone set in a gold band, an oval amethyst set in a gold band and an engagement ring, yellow gold, with diamonds set in white gold.

Police said entry was apparently gained by climbing onto the porch roof and cutting a two-inch wide and four-inch high opening in the screen door to permit unlocking. An inside door to the house was unlocked at this time. A basement window also was found broken but entry to the basement wasn't gained.

In the second incident, a Hollywood avenue home was entered sometime between 3 p.m. on the 11th and 12:20 a.m. on the 12th. The citizen told police items missing at this time include an old double barrel .12 gauge shotgun with outside hammers and a calculator, valued at around $80.

Other articles include three diamond rings, a jade ring, a pearl ring and an aquamarine ring, along with a knife and transistor radio, all of unknown value.

Still more items are three 1971 Eisenhower silver dollars and two Bicentennial sets, 1976 proof. Around $30 in cash also was taken.

Entry was gained by breaking out some glass in the side door. Two bedrooms and the living room were ransacked in the incident, police added.

How does Studio Camera do it?

That's what camera stores all over the state are asking themselves - how does STUDIO CAMERA sell at such ridiculous low prices, 365 days a year?

The answer is simple. We keep our overhead low. We run our store efficiently. We DON'T use "razzle-dazzle" gimmicks like so-called free finishing coupons or half off on over priced electronic flash units.

There's no haggling over price at STUDIO CAMERA. Our "Cash Price" is our BEST price. All our prices are printed, and up front. No one works on commission, so you buy what you want, when you want. You'll never get pressured into package deals, or any of the other gimmicks you've run into in other camera stores.

This straightforward, no "gimmick" way of doing business is the reason we sell more cameras to more people than any other camera store in Michigan.

We must be doing something right.

Fire Prevention Week Observed

During Fire Prevention Week, The Park's second annual Fire Prevention Contest, coordinated by Lt. James Palmer, was conducted in the city's schools. Approximately 700 second through fourth grade students participated, it was disclosed by Fire Chief Phillip Costa.

"A similar contest held last year was received with a great deal of enthusiasm," the chief said, "and we decided that we would hold another this year."

"The enthusiasm equaled, if not surpassed, that of last year's and every student worked hard. During the course of the contest, I am very sure that the young people learned quite a bit about fire prevention."

This year's winners were Trombly School, Mrs. Lillian Kachadourian's second grade class, and Mrs. Marguerite Scott's second grade class; Defer School, Mrs. Shirley LaJoy's third and fourth grade classes; and Saint Clare de Montefalco School, Mrs. Cheryl Greene's second grade class.

The winning classrooms were presented with a fireman's helmet to be retained and hung in their respective classrooms for the entire school year. The presentations were made on Friday, October 15, by Assistant Chief David Taylor.

By Jacqueline Michaels, Chief, Children's Service
The Grosse Pointe Central Library, 10 Kercheval avenue, is offering a Bicentennial Puppet Show on Thursday, October 21, at 4 p.m. School age children are invited to attend.

Puppet plays to be performed are PAUL REVERE'S HORSE, THE FAT CAT and JACK THE GIANT KILLER, all of which are stories taken from children's books. THE THREE BILLY GOATS GRUFF will be performed by volunteers from the audience.

The program is produced by the Institutional Services Department of the Wayne-Oakland Federated Library System.

Admission is free to the show, which is slated to last about one hour. Because of limited space, advance registrations are requested either at the Library or by calling 884-2200.

JC Auxiliary to Sell Treats

The Grosse Pointe Jaycee Auxiliary will be selling Halloween toys for "trick or treats" Saturday, October 23, at J. C. Penney's store at the Seven-Mack Shopping Center.

All profits from the sale will go to the Institute for Burn Medicine, Ann Arbor.

While stressing a theme of safety for Halloween, auxiliary members will be offering bags of treats, consisting of 40 toys each, at $1.50 per bag from 9:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m.

The toys range from children's spider rings, to small airplanes and whistles, to miniature games of tic-tac-toe and checkers. The auxiliary suggests the "goodies" would make useful treats for children's parties or other Halloween activities.

Those involved in the sale include event chairman Jeanne Bunn, auxiliary treasurer; Debi Mullan, president; Mary Pratt, director; Maureen McHugh and Carolyn Levin.

Others playing a role are Terry Ann Dorn, auxiliary vice-president and sale co-chairman, and committee workers Ann Billu, Laurie Broman and Marilyn Ruh.

Five Positions Filled by Superintendent of research and planning position was budgeted in 1975-76 for the first time in several years, but was never filled.

Will Expand Program
The two assistant principal posts at the high schools are replacing the one-year-old administrative intern program, which has unofficially been dropped.

Mr. McCaig, 48, who is currently curriculum associate, joined the system in 1952 as an English teacher at Parcells Middle School. He's been in his current position since 1967 and is in his second year as member of the State Board of Education's Advisory Council for Research, Evaluation and Assessment Services.

He holds a BA from Monmouth College in Illinois and an MA from the University of Chicago.

As director of research and development, Mr. McCaig will expand the schools' program in that area and will serve to coordinate the development of the district's evaluation program.

Mr. Welch, 51, also joined the system as an English teacher at Pierce Middle School in 1952.

He has served as assistant principal at North High and also teaches for Wayne County Community College, (WCC). He is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Dartmouth College and holds an MA from the University of Chicago.

Dr. Frost, 41, has been principal of Defer Elementary School since December 1974, when she joined the district from a principalship in South Haven. She is currently president of the Michigan Association of Elementary Principals.

She was an elementary teacher for eight years and a junior high teacher for two years. Dr. Frost received her BA degree from Asbury College in Kentucky, and her MA from Western Michigan University. She also has an Educational Specialist's and a doctorate from Michigan State University.

Develop Procedures
As directors of elementary and secondary education, Dr. Frost and Mr. Welch will head research and curriculum development projects and evaluate elementary principals in their grade levels.

Mr. Welch also will assist principals in supervision of staff.

Dr. Herschmann, 39, joined the district in 1963 as a business education teacher at South High. She left to teach at Wayne State University and returned in 1973 as career guidance counselor. She received her BBA and MA degrees at the University of Michigan and her doctorate at Wayne State University.

Ms. Turney, 31, studied for her BA degree at Marygrove College and her MA degree at Wayne State University. She is a candidate for an Education Specialist degree at Wayne.

She has worked at both the elementary and secondary levels in Detroit as a language arts and history teacher, career consultant and counselor.

As assistant principals, Dr. Herschmann and Ms. Turney will help develop procedures for evaluation of staff and will supervise the implementation of the instructional programs at the high schools.

Seek Pension Plan Change

ment, who are still on the re-tirees role as of January 1, 1977.

Under the new law, all municipal employees will receive a two percent pension hike for each full year retired. This applies only to those presently retired and not to those still employed.

Under the current retirement system in The Park, police and fire personnel have a choice of three options: Option I—The employee can take the full amount of his pension for the rest of his life and his wife gets nothing, if she survives him.

If the retiree lives long enough to withdraw all that he has put into the pension fund, his wife still gets nothing.

However, if the retiree should die before he has received all that he had contributed into his pension fund, the widow receives only that remaining amount which was contributed.

Option II—On retirement, the retiree can elect to accept only 80.7 percent of his pension; and his wife can continue to get the same amount after his death.

Option III—The retiree, on date of retirement, can elect to take 89.3 percent of his pension, and after he dies, his widow will receive only half of that percentage.

"We have nothing in our contract regarding cost of living increase, nor do we have Social Security to look forward to, to supplement our pension," said Officer Slusser.

"The other Pointes give their policemen and firemen a one percent increase in annual salary for every year they remain, after 25 years service, until mandatory retirement at 60."

He gave the following statistics:

The Park—1.7 percent pension, with the policeman or fireman allowed to retire at age 55, mandatory at 60, with no change in the amount in the pension.

The City—Retirement after 25 years of service with FAC figured at two percent with one percent added for every year they remain in service after 25 years until mandatory retirement.

The Farms—Two percent to 55 years and a percentage afterwards to a maximum of 12 percent.

The Woods—Retirement after 25 years with FAC figured at two percent; negotiating for two and a half percent. A change in the pension plan also is being sought.

The Shores—Retirement after 25 years of service with FAC figured at two percent, and one percent for each year remaining in service until mandatory retirement.

Mediation in Woods

When asked what the outlook is regarding arbitration, Mr. Petersen said that would be up to the public safety department.

At this point, Mr. Bove cited several problem areas including the union's request for cost of living to be rolled into base salary so "salary would keep up with cost of living automatically" rather than having a lump sum for cost of living.

Other points are the incorporation of a policeman's "bill of rights" in the area of disciplinary procedure and some pension questions, e.g., a pension escalator clause for retirees and the possibility of annuity withdrawal for officers.

For his part, Mr. Petersen said he was unaware of some of these requests. "There is a problem on their economic package. The main problem is salary and not pension benefits for retirees. They are striving for a change in their pension benefits for the future," he stated.

Mr. Bove said the union is basically seeking a one year pact, (for fiscal year 1976-77), while indicating a desire to talk about a multi-year contract depending upon what the city has to offer in this respect.

He added the union also is awaiting further figures from actuaries.

Cooperation Key in Survey

Excellent community participation, according to Ad. McNamara, is the obvious key when a group of around 30 forestry students from Michigan State University visit The Woods Friday-Saturday, October 22-23, to conduct a survey of all trees on city property from Lochmoor boulevard to the southern city limits. Upon their arrival on Friday evening, the students will spend the night at the new bathhouse at the Lakefront Park on lots supplied by the Light Guard Armory. The Grosse Pointe Kiwanis Club will then host a cookout for the group at the park.

On Saturday morning, Mr. McNamara said the Grosse Pointe Merchants Assoc. will provide the students with breakfast at the Original Pancake House. After, Christ the King Lutheran Church will prepare a box lunch for the group, while dinner arrangements will be handled by the Grosse Pointe Baptist Church. The students will leave after dinner.

A Woods Beautification Commission-coordinated project, the tree survey will encompass the trees and classification of trees, their condition and what can be done to improve their health. Suggestions on types of trees for future planting also will be made.

Mr. McNamara estimated it could be around a month before the results are known. For residents who are concerned about the condition of their own trees, an authority will be available at city offices to answer queries from citizens.

This program is part of an ongoing MSU forestry department project in which students conduct such surveys in communities throughout the state. The survey is free of charge, but the host city is responsible for food and lodging arrangements.

40 Cases Handled by YSD Last Month; Record Tied

A total of 40 complaints were received by the Youth Service Division, (YSD), for investigation and disposition last month. This is a drop of 46 under the August total.

The total for the year through September is 547 incidents as against 607 cases for the same period last year.

The division noted September tied a monthly record as far as applications for petition filed with the Wayne County Juvenile Court. Last month's total of 21 equalled the amount of June 1975. So far, six have received court action or disposition.

Of the total, nine came from Park police, seven from The Parks, four from The Woods and one from The Shores.

Assaults was again the category of highest incidence as nine such complaints were received. In August, assault and malicious destruction of property, (MDP), incidents tied for the most with 10 reports each.

Those involved included three young adult males, nine juvenile males, one young adult female and two juvenile females. Two of the victims were struck with full bottles of beer, with one being cut rather badly, says the YSD. The other victim was struck as he was driving a car.

Once again the division noted, "There seems to be a general increase in aggressive physical behavior among teenagers, male and female."

Meanwhile, a total of five MDP reports were received with eight youths being identified as involved in three of the incidents. Two cases remain unsolved at this time.

In addition to broken windows and lawn damage, one incident — flooding of the boiler room at South High School — caused costly damage, states the YSD.

While no specifics are available at this time, Ben Zenn, director of support services, indicated it could be in the area of $4,000-$5,000. Most of the damage was to various pieces of equipment, which ended up underwater. This equipment is currently out for repair. Five violations of controlled substances cases were investigated. Four were marijuana incidents which involved nine juvenile males while the other was for heroin, thought to have been laced with strychnine, which involved one adult female.

One minor in possession, (alcohol), incident involved three juvenile males, while one drunkenness in public case involved one juvenile male.

A combined total of five juvenile males and one adult male were involved in one burglary case, two larceny incidents and one possession of a stolen motorcycle case.

Three runaway reports were received involving two girls and one boy. The two girls were self returned to their homes, while the boy proved to be a runaway from Detroit.

Although he has been a sometime resident with an aunt living in The Park, the boy is currently officially residing with his father in Detroit. This, then, became a case of investigating another department, i.e., Detroit.

New Classes Set by Schools

The fall session of special interest classes and activities for middle and high school students has been scheduled by the Department of Community Services.

Information and enrollment forms are available in the school offices, in S-26 at South High School, or in the public libraries. Classes will begin in late October and early November.

Backgammon and Modern

Dance classes are slated for Brownell Middle School. Parcells Middle School will have Guitar and Macrame, Needlepoint and Stitches classes. Classes available at Pierce Middle School are Hunter Safety and Needlecraft.

Courses in Auto Mechanics, Backgammon and Insight into Self, (Introduction to Psychology), will be scheduled at North High. For information, call 885-3808.

Suit Is Filed in City Merger

Attorneys representing the City Firefighters Association filed an unfair labor practice suit with the Michigan Employment Relations Commission last week, charging City administrators with threatening the employees with dismissal for non-compliance with their proposals.

The alleged threat interferes with the free exercise of employee rights under the Public Employment Relations Act, the suit states.

City Manager Thomas Kressbach said he saw no basis for such a charge. "It's so general I don't even understand it," he said. This is

Woods Amends Violations Law

The Woods Council unanimously approved an amendment to the city's violations bureau law to provide for corrections and omissions to the schedule of violation deposits.

This action was taken at a recent regular meeting with the amendment becoming immediately effective as an emergency measure.

A major reason for the amendment was to clarify the format and better organize the placement of material, although some fines were increased according to the severity of the offense.

City Attorney George Catlin noted some questions had been raised on the pricing of tickets regarding what specifically was meant. As a result, further clarification was needed.

Some of the violations covered in the amendment include left turn and right turn with no signal, $15, and from wrong lane, $25, plus lane usage, straddling the lane line, $15, wrong lane, $20, and left of centerline, $25.

A revision was made in the schedule of deposits under mandatory court appearance: miscellaneous as follows: every offense in which a deposit at the violations bureau would exceed $50, (it was previously $40).

Another revision was made under the schedule of deposits under the parking violations section. No parking 3-5 a.m. and outside storage of a commercial vehicle were added to the law with both having $5 fines.

the first unfair labor practice charge ever filed against The City.

The suit comments made at a public meeting on Monday, October 4, at which the City Council voted to go ahead with its much-contested plan to consolidate police and fire departments. The resolution called for a reduction of staff from 33 to 29 men.

Mayor John Menard said at that time the council would not layoff any public safety personnel if the men cooperated, but would allow the force to be reduced through attrition, (quits and retirements).

He added that those who don't want to be public safety officers will be assisted by The City in finding other jobs.

Negotiating teams for both sides have recently met with a state-appointed arbitrator for a preliminary review of the issues.

The association has presented its initial demands, and the arbitrator has asked the city to respond with details of its plan to implement the consolidation by Wednesday, October 20. The first, full-panel hearing is set for Friday, November 12.

Mr. Kressbach said the two teams met only 12 hours at the bargaining table before going into arbitration.

GP Park Group Plans Parties

Several pre-parties hosted by Grosse Pointe Park Civic Association members will take place shortly before the Halloween party at the Windmill Pointe Park bathhouse on Friday, October 29.

The members, who have opened their homes for that evening, are Mr. and Mrs. James Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lintved, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Van Tiem, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Farr and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brooks.

Mrs. Mary Ann Woodrow and Mrs. Cathy Holland are coordinating these events. For further information they can be contacted at 499-1852 and 824-4165, respectively.

Tickets for the Halloween party are available from Mrs. Woodrow and Mrs. Holland at $5 per couple.

Woods Raps Senate Bills

The Woods Council, via two unanimously passed resolutions at a recent regular meeting, rapped four Senate bills.

One measure strongly objected to Substitute Senate Bill No. 966, which the Senate has transmitted to the House of Representatives. It would, if adopted into law, abolish municipal courts in the state.

The second resolution urges Senate Bills Nos. 985, 986 and 987 which the Senate currently has under consideration, and which focus upon emergency medical service.

Stressing the council's opposition to the abolition of its municipal court, "which court uniquely serves the needs of the community," the resolution says the court upon Woods citizens "will create a costly and unnecessary expense far in excess of any benefits to be derived from such court."

Meanwhile, the measure against the trio of bills notes the city maintains a municipally owned and operated ambulance service. It also says the council is opposed to a "constant encroachment upon 'city home rule.'"

A copy of each resolution was sent to Rep. William R. Bryant Jr. and Senators Joseph Snyder and John Hertel. Others receiving copies of the measure against Senate Bill No. 966 were the 15 members of the Michigan State House Judiciary Committee and all communities with municipal courts.

The council, in the past, has voiced its opposition via other resolutions against these bills.

'Wonka' a Hit In The Pointe

By Tom Greenwood

"She's a baby, really," said Mrs. Lucy Fitzsimons, of Lakeshore road. "She's only three-weeks-old and has big blue eyes. It's hard to believe someone abandoned her on Kercheval avenue."

"She" is a little gray and blue kitten with a white face that Mrs. Fitzsimons rescued from heavy traffic on Friday afternoon, October 8.

"I was driving down Kercheval, when the car in front of me slowed down, then swerved in the road. When I looked I saw this kitten sprawled in the street," said Mrs. Fitzsimons.

"I pulled over and picked the poor thing up. I asked some women standing nearby what had happened and they said a cat had just tossed the kitten out into the street. Buses and cars were just whizzing by. It was the most horrible thing I ever saw."

"What an inhumane thing to do to such a small creature. That kitten never hurt anyone. I get upset thinking about it," said Mrs. Fitzsimons.

"If people don't want kittens, why don't they have their pets neutered, or at least take the kittens and puppies to the Humane Society?"

"People should be responsible for their pets. Throwing them into the street isn't the answer."

After being thrown in the street, life took an upward swing for the orphaned kitten. It now has a home.

"We took it home-with us, but it didn't get along too well with our dog," said Mrs. Fitzsimons.

"So our neighbor, Jennifer Peck, 10, now has it. They really love each other. She named it 'Wonka.' Like in 'Willie Wonka and the Chocolate Factory.'"

Welcome to The Pointe, Wonka.

Woods Clears Two Burglaries

Woods police recently received information from the Detroit Police Department which led to the closing of two burglary incidents committed in the city earlier this year.

The 15th precinct contacted Det. Charles Philip Hamel and reported four suspects were in custody for burglary in Detroit. One of the suspects, a 25-year-old Detroit man, admitted burglarizing Pointe Electronics, 19755 Mack avenue, in April and Curto-Knight, Inc., 19391 Mack, in May. As a result, both cases were cleared and closed.

Det. Hamel said the suspect would not be charged in The Woods because of a lack of evidence and witnesses in each instance.

Farms Council Approves Party

The Farms Council approved an authorization to conduct the 28th annual employee-management gathering at its Monday night, October 18, session.

The management-employee party is tentatively scheduled to be conducted Friday, November 12, at the Pier Park.

APPROVE EXPENSES
The Woods Council recently approved the expenses of Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos based upon his attendance at the Michigan Municipal League's meeting in Lansing September 7-9. The total expenses were in the amount of $238.49.

Curriculum in Schools

The document breaks down the elementary program into several major areas including the following:

• Language Arts. This has been the major area of concern for most parents, and the administration has concentrated on improving the program. Curriculum specialists Mr. McCaig and Robert Welch began the task by examining hundreds of samples of children's work, compiling their own innovative study of the development of language and writing skills.

"Basically we were looking for clues in the kids' work that would show us when and where they were ready for certain things," Mr. McCaig explained.

The results of their studies were used to develop their own, integrated system of language arts instruction.

"New Math" Gone
New English textbooks, piloted in several classrooms last year, are now being used by all students. An individualized spelling study aid, ASSIST, also was piloted and is being used in grades five and six.

• Math. Remember "new math"? Well, it has practically been abandoned in Pointe schools. Life skills are now being stressed instead of the new mathematical concepts.

Only after a student has proved his mastery of these skills will he be allowed to supplement his studies with the various enrichment programs available.

The newest thing in math, though, is metrics. After a few semesters of in-service training for teachers and new materials, the metric instruction program will be in full swing.

• Science. The difference between today's science program and that of 10 years ago is like day and night, according to Mr. McCaig.

Orff Program
The schools use the SCIS program, (Science Curriculum Improvement Study), designed by the National Science Foundation. It's an activities-oriented method, teaching students to observe, describe, interpret and draw conclusions based on raw data gathered through experimentation.

• Social Studies. The course work here will continue to revolve around the concepts endorsed by the National Council for Social Studies, including the interdependence of men, conflict resolution, human dignity, power-authority and social change.

Mr. McCaig said he also hopes to add some material on native Americans to the program.

• Music. The successful Orff music program, utilizing simple "mistake proof" instruments, is being used in all elementary classrooms this fall. Children experience many aspects of music, including dance, song and instrumentals and learn musical notation and history.

Center Hosts Clan Donald

The Michigan branch of the Clan Donald-U.S.A. will hold its first anniversary meeting on Tuesday, October 28, at the War Memorial Center at 7:30 p.m.

This branch is part of a world-wide organization of persons whose MacDonald name or descent indicates membership in the Clan Donald of ancient times.

Now devoted to the enjoyment of the history of the Clan, the members also help maintain the Clan Donald Lands Trust, which includes more than 14,000 acres in Clan possession in Scotland.

Several Michigan members, including a number of Pointers, will board a Clan Donald chartered cruise ship in Edinburgh next spring for a two-week visit to the international gathering of the clans, to be held in Scotland.

Following a program of bagpipe music by the Clan MacRae Pipes and Drums and the showing of a film on Clan MacDonald history in the Fries Auditorium, refreshments will be served.

For further information on the meeting, call 963-8222.

Taste Science Succeeds.

'Enriched Flavor'™ breakthrough brings unprecedented taste to low tar smoking.

By "cracking" cigarette smoke down into separate ingredients, researchers at Philip Morris discovered very special "key" flavor units that deliver taste way out of proportion to tar.

The discovery is called 'Enriched Flavor.'

The cigarette packed with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco is MERIT. At 9 mg., one of the lowest tar levels in smoking today.

Yet, MERIT actually packs the taste of cigarettes having more tar.

Tests Verify Taste

9 mg. tar MERIT was taste-tested against current leading low tar cigarettes ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar.

Thousands of smokers were tested. The majority reported that even if the cigarette tested had up to 60% more tar than MERIT, MERIT delivered as much — or more — taste.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough. Now smoke the cigarette.

Woods Awaits Flooding Info

A feasibility report on flooding conditions via the severe rain storm in July which strongly affected Van K. and Perrien place citizens, along with residents in the Linville, Raymond and Bournemouth road area, will probably not be completed this month.

City Administrator Chester E. Petersen indicated the report, which is being prepared by City Engineer Larry Pate, will hopefully be ready in early November.

It was previously hoped the information, which is scheduled to expire potential solutions to the problem, would be completed by Friday, October 15, and considered by the council at its Monday, October 18, meeting.

While Mr. Pate's report isn't finished, Mr. Petersen said the city engineer was scheduled to meet with a citizens' group from the Van K.-Perrien place area on Tuesday, October 19, to verbally review the situation.

The council has already requested that the Wayne County Drain Commission make an application for federal funds for use in the construction of a storm water relief system to alleviate problems in the northeast section of the city.

Vacant Lot Is Subject of Concern to Residents

By George Polgar Jr.
Residents of the Raymond, Bournemouth and Linville road area have sent another letter and petition, bearing 123 names, to the Woods Council calling attention to a vacant and untended lot known as the "Mack Easement," and the dangerous and distasteful conditions which prevail there.

This correspondence was received, discussed and placed on file at the regular council meeting of Monday, October 18.

The discussion of this letter with neighborhood representatives revealed that it is yet another point of dispute in a running battle between Saint John Hospital and its neighbors.

Addressing the council, Frank Markey, of Raymond road, asked that the city take action by seeing that the lot was kept up or by buying the land and using it as a park. These were the suggestions offered in the letter received by the council.

Though the citizen's correspondence stated that the option of purchasing the lot could be exercised under the right of eminent domain, Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos responded that the city could only force the sale of the lot if it were condemned.

"If we want to get that property we have to get it condemned and there has to be a good reason to take that kind of action," he said.

At this, another resident, Tony Lentine, of Raymond road, told the council that if it is looking for a good reason to condemn the property, it has a number to choose from.

"If you want a reason to condemn that lot just check the record of police and fire calls that have been made concerning the property," he said. "Kids go out there in the bushes and smoke pot, drink beer, sniff glue and all kinds of other things. The fire department has to be called when the kinds hanging out down there light fences on fire, as they have done in the past."

The letter received by the council listed these complaints and others.

"As a further result of the aforesaid activities, the lot is littered with cans, bottles, broken glass, glue tubes and other debris . . .," according to the letter.

The involvement of Saint John Hospital was brought up when it was determined that the responsibility for the condition of the lot was with the party leasing the adjoining parking lot.

Mr. Pinkos assured the residents in attendance that if Saint John was responsible for the upkeep of the lot, the city would enforce its ordinances concerning the maintenance of property.

A meeting between Saint John Hospital officials, the aggrieved residents and Woods City Administrator Chester E. Petersen and Councilman George S. Freeman has been set for today, October 21. Mr. Pinkos suggested that this matter as well as the previously discussed issues be taken up and resolved at that session.

Mr. Petersen added he had conferred with Dr. Andrew Dahl, the Saint John Hospital director of planning, and had received assurances that the hospital would meet the demands of the residents and the city.

When asked about his discussion with Mr. Petersen, Dr. Dahl denied that he had made a firm commitment to meet all the citizen demands.

"The phrase 'citizen demands' is rather a blank check and the hospital is still not in the position to do everything the residents want," he said. "We have a meeting set up with the residents and the city and we will sit down and discuss these things."

Dr. Dahl added, however, that the hospital has made a considerable retreat from its original position to satisfy its neighbors.

Park Council Okays Bids, Nixes District Court Bill

By James J. Njaim

The Park Council approved the purchase of two lawn mowers for the low total bid of $345 offered by the Furton Mower Service of St. Clair Shores, at its regular meeting Monday, October 11.

City Clerk Nunzio Ortisi said the two current lawn mowers in service were very old and one was beyond repair. One of the new mowers will be used by the personnel of the fire department, and the other, by the public works department.

The DPW is charged with cutting grass between the curb and the sidewalk adjacent to city property in Windmill Pointe Park drive, Essex boulevard and along Jefferson avenue.

While Jefferson is a Wayne County thoroughfare, but The Park maintains the lawn between the curb and sidewalk along the avenue, using DPW workers, although this is the function of the county, it was said.

DPW employees also cut weeds and grass on vacant lots with the costs assessed to the owners of these lots.

One mower is used by city firefighters to maintain the lawn surrounding the municipal building, 15115 East Jefferson, as part of department chores.

In other business, the council approved the bid of O'Connor and LaLonde Asphalt Paving Co. to asphalt resurface Westchester, from Jefferson to Windmill Pointe drive, and Essex, from Redford to Whittier, for the low bid of $50,319.

Pillow Talk Workshop Set

A Pillow Talk Workshop will offer Pointers a chance to learn new weaving techniques and make reversible plaids, reports the War Memorial which is hosting the class on Saturday, October 30, from 9:30 a.m.-3 p.m.

Students may elect to work on any Tartan or any color scheme they wish. No previous experience is necessary.

There will be a break at noon and students are requested to bring their own sandwich. Coffee will be provided.

The registration fee is $11, materials cost 27.50.

Pointers Cited In Celebration

Special awards were recently presented to six Pointers for their outstanding voluntary contributions to Wayne County's Bicentennial program.

Those cited included Lawrence Gareau of The Farms, Cliff Heldt of The Woods, Jeannie Lackey of The Farms, Roy Scharfenberg of The Park, Louise Malone of The Farms and Bob Weyhing of The Farms. Engraved plaques were presented to the men, while sterling silver bracelets were given to the women.

Meanwhile, Commissioner Ervin A. Steiner, chairman of the county Bicentennial committee, presented the county with a check for $1,000 in surplus Bicentennial funds. The committee received a total of $7,716.55 and disbursed $6,045.87. However, nearly one half of that amount was earmarked by donors for specific purposes.

In addition, he also gave the county a 15-minute color film of the May 2 Bicentennial parade at a presentation during award ceremonies at the City-County Building which officially marked the end of the county's Bicentennial activities.

Home's Future Looking Bright

Work on a home in Balfour road, which had stood vacant and allowed to deteriorate for about 14 years, is progressing.

However, there is still considerable work to be done before the house is brought up to the Park City Code and it can become habitable, according to James Ellison, director of public service.

The former owner of the building was notified by the Park Council at a recent meeting that the house must either be condemned and demolished, or brought up to city codification. The condition of the residence was causing a serious deterioration of the neighborhood. The cost of repairing the building was estimated at approximately $30,000.

Interior and exterior repairs were made mandatory to avoid condemnation and demolition of the edifice.

Mr. Ellison said he inspected the building on Wednesday, October 13, and found that the entire electrical system, with new wiring, had been completely changed and that the lights in the house will soon be turned on.

He also said work is being done on the furnace, wall plastering, windows, et al. The old exterior paint also is being stripped in preparation for the application of fresh paint.

"The house is structurally sound," Mr. Ellison said, "and although work is still being done to bring the building up to city code, there is still considerable work to be done before the home, a single family residence, can be readied for occupancy."

He said the former owner of the house had since sold the building, which is now owned by two families, one of which might move in once the structure is made livable. However, before the family, or any family is allowed to take up residence, the house must pass the Ordinance 53 inspection, before a certificate of occupancy is issued to the family moving into the dwelling.

The certificate is assurance that the residence is ready to be occupied.

GP Red Barons Post Big Wins

The GP Red Barons played host to the Denby Bulldog squad at North High School on Sunday, October 17. A large partisan crowd was on hand to support the home team despite the bitter cold and wind.

The freshman game featured the Red Baron Reds versus the Red Baron Whites, who have been assigned by the Eastern Suburban Football League to fill out the Denby freshman schedule. Greg Fleming netted two TDs and Brett Augsberger, one, to pace the Red Baron Reds to a 19-0 victory.

Fleming's second TD came on an impressive 50-yard broken field burst through the middle of the White defense. Cedric Patmon completed the scoring with an extra point.

Mark Tocco, Steve Palffy, Tom Poirer, Jim Diverno and Marty Dooley played tough defense.

For the Whites, Robbie Chown, Pat Armstrong and Tom Petzold ran with quickness and power in a losing cause. Defensively, the Whites gave the Reds all they wanted and more as they repeatedly slammed Red runners for losses.

PWP to Meet On October 22

The Grosse Pointe Chapter of Parents Without Partners (PWP), will hold its next general meeting Friday, October 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the War Memorial.

Following the coffee and social hour, Rev. Jack Boland, pastor of Unity Church, will speak on the topic "How to Change Your Life." He is a popular and well known speaker on both religious matters and parental problems.

All members and eligible prospective members, (divorced, separated, widows and widowers), are urged to attend this session. An afterglow will be held following the meeting.

Brad Restum and Arthur Mollier each recovered a fumble to check the Red tide. Robert Dunn and John Henson sparked the White defense by their inspired play.

At the junior varsity level, eight different players had scoring roles as the Red Barons romped to a 56-6 win over an undermanned Denby unit. Bill Crow, Scott DeClaire, David Babcock, Ken Sanders, Bob Luberto, Jim Strong, Craig Haase, and Jim Seagram all tallied TDs.

Crow, Strong Sanders, Haase and Luberto added the extra points to nail the lid on the Denby coffin.

Chris Turzak and Scott DeClaire intercepted passes, while Ken Sanders and Mike Bartosiewicz each recovered a fumble to anchor the defense.

Joe Barolo, Alex Rothis, John Fischer, Arthur Wiley and Larry Calcaterra played fine defensive football.

Matt Lehman scored four TDs and Don Fiegel, John Bautista and Jeff Roberts each added a TD as the Red Baron varsity picked up where the junior varsity left off.

Jeff Kusch, Fred Schultz, Roberts and Bautista added the PATs to complete the scoring as the Red Barons defeated Denby, 56-0.

Fiegel's TD came as the result of a Denby fumble in the end zone, when Chris Krucki sacked the Bulldog QB forcing him to cough up the football. The spirited play of Scott Eaton, Marty Frisbee, Rick Lillich, Don Fiegel and Kyle Kurtz paced the defense. Todd Poole intercepted a pass to contribute to the win.

Head Coach Werner Lueckhoff said after the game, "The entire team shared in this victory. Each boy gave his best effort."

The next games for the Red Barons will be against the Roseville Rebels at the Roseville Junior Sports Park on Sunday, October 24. The Red Baron Whites will clash with the Mount Clemens Barracudas at Heilman Field.

Science Church Offers Lecture

A free public talk on Christian Science entitled "Your Unlimited Opportunities" will be given Monday, October 25, by James M. McGrew, CS, of Boston, Mass. He will speak at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, 282 Chalfonte avenue, at 8 p.m.

Mr. McGrew, an experienced public practitioner of Christian Science, will tell how problems can be turned into opportunities for discovering God's power.

"When faced with a problem," Mr. McGrew's speech notes, "we can discover an orderly solution to it by turning to God for guidance and direction — as Christ Jesus did."

"Every situation presented to him, whether it was the death of Lazarus or a storm at sea, he used as an opportunity to prove the absolute control of God. And this is what Christian Science teaches—the complete trust in the power of God and the present actuality of good."

Mr. McGrew holds both Bachelor's and Master's degrees in business administration from the University of Chicago.

During more than 30 years in business, he held executive positions as an officer and director of a large worldwide manufacturing corporation.

From 1966-1973 he was controller of the Christian Science Publishing Society. He has been in the public practice of Christian Science since 1966. He is currently on extensive tour as a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

Thieves Enter Woods Duplex

Thieves entered two units of a Vernier road duplex on Friday, October 15, and took a variety of articles from each, reported Woods police.

Items reported missing from the lower unit include a table model color television set valued at $500 and a metal ash tray in the shape of a Spanish sailing ship, of an unknown value.

From the upper unit, the following goods, all of an unknown value, were missing: a portable television, a stereo with two speakers, a record turntable, a slide projector, a woman's garnet ring, a woman's watch, two calculators and a calculator adaptor.

The complainant, who lives in the lower unit, told Officer Donald Sun and his wife left at 7:30 a.m. and returned at 5:30 p.m. to discover the burglary. As the officer was investigating this incident, the man who lives in the upper unit returned home to learn his place was entered.

Officer Sun said both units share a common entrance door to a hallway and stairway. The exterior door to the house didn't reveal signs of forced entry, but the sliding door leading to the lower unit's living room from the front hall was the place of entry to the interior, he stated.

Meanwhile, entry to the upper unit was made through the front door at the top of the front hallway stairs, where a pry mark was visible.

A disconnected electric clock with the cord wrapped around it, apparently left behind by the culprit, indicated the time as 11:40 a.m.

GP Bruins Off to Fast Start

The Grosse Pointe Bruins are off to a fast start after losing their first two games. The Bruins are the Bantam, (13-14), Division representative in the Michigan National Open Hockey League.

Boys on this team are Joe Bucciero, Mike Burkheiser, Matt Costello, John Davies, Mike Eugenio, Greg Johnston, Jim Kennary, Drew Mascarin, Jim Morris, Bill and Scott Seaver and Allen Taber. New additions include Mark Chiamp, who will share goal-tending duties, forwards John Ferlito and Jeff Grade, plus defenseman Jeff Penny.

Dr. T. A. Mascarin, assisted by Tom Burkheiser and Mark Craig, is head coach, Larry Bucciero is the manager.

On September 26, the Bruins faced Port Huron in an exhibition game and although they showed a strong offense, their defensive game was shaky in losing 6-5. Goal scorers included Davies, Eugenio, and Ferlito.

In a very close game on Friday, October 1, against Northwest, there was no scoring until midway in the third period when Northwest scored twice, the last tally in the open net with seconds left to play. The final score was 2-0.

The Bruins started their win streak on Saturday, October 2, against Dearborn. Chiamp posted his first shut-out in this 5-0 victory. Davies, with two goals, Costello, Johnston and Kennary were the scorers.

The first league game was played Monday, October 4 at the Civic Arena against St. Clair Shores. This was an exciting game which the Bruins won, 3-1. Scoring for Grosse Pointe were Eugenio, Costello and Grade. Bill Seaver and Penny played strong games on defense.

The second league encounter was with S.A. Bantam Open team at the Grosse Pointe Rink. The Davies, Ferlito, Scott Seaver line had a big night posting all five goals in this 5-2 victory. Morris and Kennary contributed assists.

Drew Mascarin posted his first shutout in an exhibition game Friday, October 8, with Dearborn. Morris had two goals and Davies and Ferlito also scored in this 4-0 win. The Scott Seaver was a playmaker with three assists. Joe Bucciero turned in a great game on defense.

On Thursday, October 14, before the Junior Red Wing game at Olympia, the Bruins faced the Red Wing "For-Em" Bantams in an exhibition game and won 5-2. Goals were scored by Johnston, Ferlito, Burkheiser and two by Eugenio.

In their third league game against Adray at the Bloomfield Expo, the Bruins came from behind to post a 5-1 win. Taber scored the three goal "hat trick," while Eugenio added the other two goals.

Davies tallied a "hat trick" in a 5-1 victory over Livonia at the Ford-Livonia Rink Friday, October 15. Burkheiser and Johnston scored the other two.

The Bruins will face some of the strongest teams in the league in the next two weeks and the club is looking forward to an excellent season.

Nobody likes higher gas bills. Including us.

This winter, the prices we must pay our suppliers for Natural Gas are going up. These price increases to us will mean higher prices to you. That's as much a concern for us as it is for you, because we're very much aware of the problem of paying higher gas bills.

How much are bills going up? If the weather is the same as it was last year, bills for most customers will be up an average of 30%. But of that 30% increase, Michigan Consolidated keeps nothing of the additional money you pay. No extra profit . . . nothing to meet increases in our other costs. Every penny will go toward the higher prices we'll have to pay for the Natural Gas we supply you.

We recognize that the reasons for these higher bills may be difficult for you to understand. But today it costs more than ever to find and produce Natural Gas. After investigating these costs, the Federal Power Commission, which establishes the price for all the gas that comes into Michigan, authorized producers to begin charging as much as 200% more for their gas at the well. In addition, the price for the gas we buy from Canada at prices set by the Canadian government is increasing significantly. But in the long run, we believe higher producer prices now will lead to more gas supplies being discovered and brought into production, and will help to insure the continuance of an adequate supply of gas for our homes, stores and places where we work.

We're telling you this now, so you can plan ahead for your higher bills. You can help to reduce your gas consumption and save money by insulating, dialing down and making sure your gas appliances are in top working order. Although it may not be possible to actually reduce your gas bills, you will be saving money by using less gas. You may also want to join our Budget Payment Plan and reduce your peak mid-winter bills by leveling out your remaining payments between now and next July.

Michigan Consolidated is dedicated to the task of keeping Natural Gas your best energy value and insuring that we maintain adequate supplies well into the future. We'll also continue to research and develop cost-saving programs that will be to your benefit. We do care about your tomorrow.

The 4:30 o'clock rites at which The Reverend Father Ralph V. Barton and The Reverend Father Lawrence Doherty, O.S.A. presided were followed by a reception at the Detroit Golf Club.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Walter B. Promack, of Thorn Tree road. The bridegroom, who is attending the University of Michigan, is the son of the J. Alan Barrs, of Bloomfield Hills.

Venise lace appliques accented the keyhole neckline, Empire bodice and hankie sleeves of the bride's white silk organza gown. Her full, cathedral length veil fell from a small circlet of matching lace appliques.

She carried a Colonial bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and baby's-breath, with accents of yellow ribbon.

In bright yellow voile frocks and large white picture hats, trimmed with yellow ribbon, were Joy Promack, honor maid for her sister, and bridesmaids Mary Wright, Holly Van Steenkiste, Mrs. Stephen Flemion and Lisa Beckenhauer, of Spokane, Wash.

They carried large, Colonial bouquets of yellow roses, white daisies and baby's-breath.

Robert Barr, best man for his brother, and ushers Mark Promack, the bride's brother, who came from Monterey, Calif., for the ceremony, Pat Trappnell, Ed Halpin and Jeff Schatzberg wore white, vested tuxedos and yellow shirts, complementing the bridesmaids' frocks — even the weather cooperated with the yellow and white wedding theme: it was a perfect, sunny midsummer day.

Mrs. Promack chose a long handpainted maize, gold and green waterprint for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother selected a long gown of melon chiffon. Each mother pinned gold cymbidium orchids to her purse.

Among the guests were the bride's grandparents, Mrs. Walter C. Allard and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Promack.

DSYO Opens Its Seventh Season

The Detroit Symphony Youth Orchestra begins its seventh season of performances with a concert Sunday evening, October 24, at 8 o'clock in Ford Auditorium.

DSYO conductor Philip Greenberg will be on the podium. Guest soloist will be Ervin Monroe, principal flutist with the Detroit Symphony.

The program consists of two works by Mozart, the overture to "The Magic Flute" and the first movement of Mozart's Flute Concerto No. 1 plus Dvorak's Symphony No. 9 in E minor, "From the New World."

The musicians of the Detroit Symphony Youth Orchestra were chosen from a series of over 400 students in a series of preliminary and final auditions. DSO musicians and Detroit area music educators served on the audition panels.

The DSYO was established in 1970 by the Detroit Symphony to provide quality professional training for young Detroit area musicians.

Several former members have already distinguished themselves by becoming members of major symphony orchestras, and many DSYO alumni have continued their musical education at the country's best conservatories and universities.

Margheritta Allardice To Chair Commission

Governor William G. Milliken recently announced his re-appointment of Margheritta S. Allardice, of Park lane, to the Commission on Services to the Aging, and his designation of Mrs. Allardice as chairperson of the Commission for a one-year period.

Mrs. Allardice, executive director of the Adult Service Centers, Inc., (formerly the Senior Center, Inc.), is also a present board member of the National Council on Aging. She has published several articles on the problems of the aging.

In providing services to senior citizens, Mrs. Allardice has expressed her concern for the increasing difficulty of senior citizens to maintain their independent living, because of inflation and the growing complexity of the urban environment.

Symphony Orchestra have taken a keen interest in the Youth Orchestra, and attend rehearsals to serve in an advisory capacity to the young instrumentalists.

Philip Greenberg's conductorial training includes work at the Meadow Brook School of Music and with Theo Alcantara at the University of Michigan, where he received the first Master of Music in Conducting awarded by that School.

Most recently he has studied with DSO Music Director Aldo Ceccato.

Greenberg's experience includes the post of assistant conductor of the Grand Rapids Symphony from 1972 to 1975, assistant conductorships of the Olivet Summer Workshop Orchestra, (1966-70, director '71), the University Orchestra at the National Music Camp Interlochen, (1972-74), and the University of Michigan Orchestras, (1971-73). He is currently music director of the Muskegon Symphony of Winds.

Greenberg joined the DSO conducting staff in the fall of 1974, and now has the major responsibility for the continuing development and conducting of the Detroit Symphony Youth Orchestra. He also conducts the DSO in several concerts during the year.

Ervin Monroe joined the DSO in 1968. A native of Florida, he was graduated

C. F. Turpins, of Lincoln road.

The 4 o'clock rites at which The Reverend Paul Easter, D.D., presided were followed by a reception at the Town House, Ligonier, Pa.

The bride's gown, designed and created by her mother, was patterned after one worn by her grandmother, Ruth Robb, when she was graduated from high school in 1907.

Fashioned of sheer, embroidered ivory cotton, it was trimmed at neck and hem with ivory lace.

The former Miss Gallagher wore a shoulder length veil of ivory lace, and carried a nosegay of peach roses and blue starflowers, stephanotis and baby's-breath.

Honor maid Donna Lutner, of Latrobe, and bridesmaid Terri Turpin, the bridegroom's sister, wore floral print, Victorian style frocks, and carried matching nosegays.

Ned Rothlisberger, of Big Rapids, was best man for his cousin. Guests were seated by Richard Thomas and junior usher Scott Turpin, the bridegroom's brother.

The mother of the bride wore a blue print dress. Her corsage was a white rose. The bridegroom's mother complemented her peach dress with a peach rose corsage.

Shamrocks Top GP Lions, 26-19

The Lions varsity defense could not contain the fleet running of the Northeast Detroit Shamrocks as the Lions dropped a hard fought contest, 26-19. The game was played Sunday, October 17, at Lipke Park.

The Pointers jumped to a quick 12-0 lead, dominating play throughout the first half. The second half belonged to the Shamrocks, with two touchdowns resulting from fine open field running from their power "1" backfield.

The Lions closed the gap to 20-19 with six seconds left in the game only to have the ensuing onside kick attempt run back against them for the clinching score.

The offensive line, led by Jim Hartman, Scott Stramppek and Kip Wallie opened good holes for their running backs. Steve Cus, Ken Hawk, Joe Leto and Eric MacMichael were stalwarts on defense, making many key tackles to stop several Shamrock drives. The Lions host the St. Clair Shamrock Hornets Sunday, October 24, at Elworthy Field, with the first game starting at 1 p.m.

This is the annual Parent's Day game marked by introductions of players with their parents prior to each contest.

Youth Faces Four Charges

A 16-year-old Shores motorist found himself in plenty of trouble on Sunday, October 17, initially because he had no tail lights on his car.

The juvenile, arrested at 12:19 a.m. by Shores Cpl. Daniel Fronczak and Public Safety Officer John Frassard, was charged with never acquiring a valid Michigan operator's license, driving with defective equipment, (no tail lights), possession of suspected marijuana and possession of alcoholic beverages in a vehicle.

The juvenile then observed the youth trying to put something in, or trying to take something out, of his trouser pocket and restrained him. The officer confiscated a prescription bottle of medicine which appeared to be marijuana.

The 16-year-old's car was searched and the officers found a bottle of whiskey, with two-thirds of its contents consumed, under the front seat on the passenger's side.

The young man was transported to the Shores station where his parents were released to his father, who was informed that he will be contacted by Juvenile Court authorities.

Know Your Schools

By Dr. William Coats,
Superintendent of Schools

Behind the scenes in the school system many exciting plans are being made for the improvement of instruction throughout the district.

For example, one proposal which I am watching with great interest is a program which will be discussed soon with the Board of Education: a single, required English course for all the 10th graders who attend North and South High Schools.

In what way is this a change?

In recent years students have been able to elect English offerings from among a wide range of courses. However, a year ago, for a variety of reasons, the decision was made to require all ninth graders to take the same introductory High School English.

If the proposal under consideration is approved, all 10th graders also will be required to take a common course which is a logical continuation of the studies involved in the ninth grade course.

This new 10th grade course will grow out of American Literature and may be entitled American Studies I.

Major elements of the offering that is still on the drawing board would be the preparation of papers, using different methods of development and organization.

Other topics would include the preparation of written documents necessary for conducting typical business affairs, a reference paper and papers emerging from the study of literature.

The development of skills involved in reading contemporary essays and articles and the development of literary skills through the study of great American literature also will be stressed.

And not to be overlooked would be attention to English usage and grammar, vocabulary and the development of listening skills.

As readers are aware, few educational topics are more thoroughly and ardently discussed by English teachers, by the public, by school administrators than the English curriculum. The proposed course, therefore, is an outgrowth of much input from many, many people in the community and in the school system.

We sincerely appreciate the time and effort which so many have given to this project. Out of these deliberations will surely emerge an improved program.

LWV Answers Questions On November Election

As a service to citizens, the Grosse Pointe League of Women Voters (LWV), explores several questions in relation to the upcoming national and state election.

Q. Who can vote?
A. A qualified elector is any U.S. citizen who meets the requirements of local residence provided by law and is 18-years-old and a resident of the state for 30 days prior to the election.

The legislature may exclude persons from voting because of mental incompetence or commitment to a penal institution.

However, the qualified elector must then register to vote.

Q. How can one register to vote?
A. Registration of voters is done by the city, township, and village clerks in their offices or by their deputized registrars who may be in special places in the community. Persons wishing to register must fill out a registration affidavit and must attest that the information on the affidavit is true.

An additional method of registering to vote became effective last October 1. Citizens may now register to vote, change the registration name or address at a branch office of the Secretary of State when they go to obtain a drivers license, or a renewal or correction of a license.

Registration is permanent as long as the voter does not move outside the community. Persons who cannot register in person because of physical disability or absence from the township or city where he resides, may register by obtaining registration cards from the clerk and filling out these cards before a notary public and returning them to the clerk.

Q. I have just moved to Michigan this month and have never been registered to vote. Can I vote for the president and vice-president?

A. No. The Federal Voting Rights Act allows people to register for president and vice-president up to 30 days prior to the election. Michigan law provides for the same time period. Exceptions are made for persons who are service-connected and citizens living overseas.

The last day to register for the November election was Monday, October 4.

Q. I want to vote an absentee ballot but I'm confused as to how to go about it. Can you help me?

A. There are several reasons why a person may vote absentee and ways in which to do it. This includes the "regular" way, by federal post card application, emergency application and special provision application.

Seniors' Class Set at Center

A course entitled "Planning for the Senior Years" will be offered by the Wayne State University, (WSU), College of Life Long Learning at the War Memorial Center on Saturdays, October 30 through December 11, from 2-4 p.m.

The course, which is open to both senior citizens and those persons nearing retirement, will deal with problems of, as well as opportunities for, seniors.

"Each session will cover problems and interests of people about to retire or those already in their senior years," said program director Howard Shout, Mr. Shout is a Detroit Edison retiree.

Guest experts will be discussing such topics as financial matters, health and aging problems, leisure activities, where to live, travel and second careers.

The guest speakers include Fran Harris, head of the Wayne County Commission on Aging, Clarence Burns, director of adult education for St. Clair Shores, and Norah M. Martin, of Lakepointe avenue, a retirement consultant.

Other speakers are Dr. Earl Hall and Dr. Ross Marshall of WSU, Dr. William Saville of the WSU Medical School, Dr. Hagen Price of Harper Hospital and Maurice Wesson, director of the Volunteer Action Center.

The enrollment fee is $35 per person or $50 a couple. To register call 557-4710 or write Senior Program, College of Life Long Learning, 2978 West Grand boulevard, Detroit 48202.

Center Offers Karate, Yoga

Exercise classes in two very different forms are offered at the War Memorial this fall.

Tae Kwan Do, Korean Karate, or the art of the open hand, will begin a new term Friday, October 22. It will continue on Fridays through December 10 from 7-9 p.m. Instructors are members of the Karate Club under the direction of Sang Kyu Shim who introduced the art to this country.

The fee, which will be raised after this term, is $20 for the eight-week period. Self discipline, self defense and the best use of one's body and muscles will be taught. Examinations are given and different color belts are awarded according to the degree of proficiency proven. The course is open to both sexes, both young and adult. Yoga is taught at the Center, not as a mystic Eastern religion or cult, but as a series of exercises both mental and physical designed to relax one's mind and muscle and tone the body and its basic organs.

Daytime classes on Tuesday mornings, November 9-December 28, are offered for beginners from 9-10:15 a.m. and for intermediate students from 10:15-11:30 a.m. These classes are taught by Colleen Stinar, a Golden Lotus Yoga teacher. The fee is $20 for eight weeks.

Evening Yoga classes are taught by Richard Probert, also a Golden Lotus Teacher. They will be presented on Wednesday evenings, November 10-December 29. The 7-8 p.m. session is for beginners, while the 8:15-9:15 p.m. group is for intermediate students. Both the young and adults of both sexes are welcome. The evening yoga fee is the same as the day.

Letters to The Editor

To the Editor:
We would like to commend the NEWS as a well-rounded community newspaper. Your paper covers every spectrum of community news—controversial and otherwise—not just society news and advertisements.

We wish more residents would read section one so they would be better informed on what is happening in the Pointes instead of feeling like an appendage to Detroit, reading only the Detroit papers for their news items.

Recently, our area of The Woods felt the community should be aware of some problems unique to those of us who live in an area where four cities come together around the Seven and Mack avenue, Saint John Hospital complex, (Detroit, Harper Woods, The Farms and The Woods).

Those of us in The Woods often feel like the "forgotten corner" of that city. Thanks to coverage from the NEWS we feel a little less forgotten. We hope you will continue to support our efforts toward recognition of some very real problems we face in our neighborhoods.

Respectfully,
Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Miller and residents of Raymond, Bournmouth and Linville roads.
(Editor's Note: This letter is in reference to NEWS' stories on the proposed expansion of the hospital in relation to the area, plus flooding conditions at that location.)

What Goes On at Your Library

By Arthur Woodford
Chief of Central Library

One task that sometimes can be very difficult is the problem of a remembrance for a friend, or a relative of a friend, who has recently died. With this week's column, I would like to suggest a possible solution—the gift of a memorial book to your Grosse Pointe Public Library.

Our Library, as is true of most all public libraries, has a Memorial Book Program. Through this service, an individual can make a monetary contribution to the Library, (or ask to be billed), and we will order a book. At the same time, we notify, by letter, a family member designated by the donor of the title we have ordered.

Sometimes the donor will suggest a subject area such as art, history, sports or will leave the selection of the book entirely up to the Library. The only restriction we have is that the selection must be a book of quality and must be approved for purchase before it is added to our collection.

Upon receipt of the book, a Memorial Book Plate is placed in the book giving the name of the person being remembered and the name of the donor. The book is then available for use by the public in the same manner as any other book in the Library's collection.

This same service also is available to any individual who wishes to donate a book in honor of a person or group. Donations made through the Memorial Book Program are, of course, tax deductible from your State as well as your Federal Income Tax.

FIRE ENGINES, FIRE-FIGHTERS, (Crown), by

Paul C. Ditzel is a comprehensive and flamboyantly illustrated big book about the "men, equipment and machines" that fought America's fires from colonial times to the present.

Mr. Ditzel's research is impressive as his chronicle unfolds and describes America's great fire disasters from Boston's 1711 and 1780 nightmares through the great Chicago fire of 1871, San Francisco's earthquake-and-fire holocaust in 1906, New York's Triangle fire in 1910 and the Texas City tragedy in 1947.

His story explores the early "volunteer" firefighters, and he devotes chapters to equipment from hand-pumpers to today's magnificent engines, fireboats and apparatus. "Fires are spectacles, they stir contradictory emotions"—and they're all in this book which includes more than 200 old engravings, lithos, paintings and contemporary photos.

Even devotees of the Victorian artist-author Kate Greenway will find intriguing new information on her life and work in THE KATE GREENWAY BOOK, (Viking), by Bryan Holme. This handsome volume combines biography with Kate Greenway's poems and, (to be most welcomed), reproductions of her art in color as well as in black-and-white.

A feast for the whole family, here are the incomparable Kate's illustrations for Bret Harte's "The Queen of the Pirate Isle," Browning's "The Pied Piper of Hamelin" and others. Comments on her works by Ruskin and other contemporaries add interest to the biographical sections.

The folklore of children is alive and healthy, according to authors Mary and Herbert Knapp. Their book ONE POTATO, TWO POTATO, (Norton), is an analysis of a recent national survey of games and jokes popular among youngsters from kindergarten through sixth grade.

It is the author's contention that "unsupervised children playing together learn how to govern themselves according to a system of rules." The authors demonstrate how play is the stuff of growing up. The transmission and function of the games is coherently collected in this treasury, which should reassure parents, and enlighten and amuse all who were once gameplayers.

In RISE AND FIGHT AGAIN, (Dodd, Mead), veteran writer Charles Bracelen Flood offers an uncommonly graceful, even elegantly written history of the tough comeback spirit of the Americans who fought the Revolution against great odds.

Historians have largely scanted the serious blunders and defeats of the Yankee rebels. Mr. Flood sees them as a proud heritage, focusing directly on these "catastrophic American defeats" and examining them in the spirit of the words of Nathaniel Greene, the Rhode Island Quaker general: "We fight, get beat, rise, and fight again."

Drawing heavily on the diaries of the men and women who fought, Mr. Flood spins his fresh history with an authentic feel.

These then are four of our newest Memorial Books. So the next time you wish to remember a friend, remember your Library and its Memorial Book Program.

Kiwanis Plans Crime Program

The Kiwanis Club of Grosse Pointe will commence a new community service program called "Safeguard Against Crime" according to Youth Service Division Det. Patrick Fagan, chairman of the major emphasis committee.

The purpose of the program, he said, will be to bring to the attention of the public the dramatic increase in crime against persons and property, and to describe many of the ways in which individuals, themselves, can prevent such crimes.

He said the program will specifically attack the problems of crimes against children, crimes against businesses and offices and crimes against senior citizens.

It also will deal with organizing and operating civilian surveillance programs, (not to be confused with vigilante programs). Basic attitude programs aimed at encouraging understanding of and respect for the law, and dependence upon and respect for law enforcement officials, will be viewed.

In developing the program, Kiwanis International has enjoyed the complete support of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in the United States, and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in Canada.

Both Director Clarence M. Kelley of the FBI and Commissioner Maurice J. Nadeau of the RCMP have pledged the cooperation of their agencies with Kiwanis International and Kiwanis clubs in carrying out the Safeguard Against Crime program.

In many communities, the local authorities will cooperate in Safeguard Against Crime programs which are primarily educational in nature.

Further specifics on the local program regarding services will be announced soon.

The first Holiday Mart was held 20 years ago, to "showcase" Hospital Gift Shop merchandise. It has grown over the years to include specialty boutiques and hand-crafted items.

The Gift Shop Guild, with 109 active members, is the largest of Cottage Hospital Auxiliary's five guilds. Volunteers staff the Gift Shop seven days a week, and visit patients' rooms with a Shop on Wheels.

Pro Musica Poised For Jubilee Year

Society Is Celebrating Half-Century of Programming During Which It Has Introduced Finest Musicians to Detroit

Pro Musica Society, celebrating 50 years of uninterrupted programming sustained entirely by its membership, will open its Jubilee Concert Series in the Detroit Institute of Arts Friday evening, November 5, with a performance by "Tashi."

This exciting, new chamber music ensemble features four of the country's leading young instrumentalists: Peter Serkin on piano, Ida Kavafian, violinist, Fred Sherry, cellist, and Richard Stoltzman, clarinetist.

Their performance at 8:30 o'clock in the museum's Lecture Hall, featuring Stravinsky's solo pieces for clarinet, Brahms' Sonata for violin and piano and Oliver Messiaen's "Quartet for the End of Time," will be followed by Pro Musica's traditional reception for visiting artists.

Members and their guests gather afterwards in the Romanesque Room for refreshments, a visit with the performers and an hour of socializing.

Among Pointers serving as hosts and hostesses at this premier Jubilee Concert Series reception, under chairman Mrs. Frederick L. Greiling, of Bedford Lane, are Mrs. Walter J. Burczyk, Mrs. Alex Friesch, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Kondak and Mr. and Mrs. George Panarites.

More are Mr. and Mrs. Osbourne H. Day, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Dexter, The Reverend and Mrs. Milton Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Nardi, the Mesdames James J. Bird, M. Melin Shaner, Rosalind Sowinski and Marion Valdes and the Misses Ruth P. Danzer and Jannie M. McCarthy.

Pro Musica was founded in 1927 by Mme. Djina Ostrowska, then harpist with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. The Society brought Maurice Ravel to Detroit to make his American debut.

More than 100 of the world's greatest musicians and composers have appeared with Pro Musica; with the exception of only a few, these appearances were debuts in the area.

The list includes Prokofiev, Bartok, Honneger and Aaron Copland, Poulenc, Benjamin Britten, Milhaud and Della Joia, Claudio Arrau, Martial Singher, Jacques Abram, Blanche Thebom, Jennie Tauri, Martha Lipton, William Primrose and Gary Graffman.

There were Eugene List, Ruth Meckler Laredo, Grant Johannesen, the Guarneri String Quartet, the Munich and the Zurich Chamber Orchestras, the Quartetto Italiano, the Paganini String Quartet, the Budapest group and Canada's young Orford Quartet.

The Society is justifiably proud of its continuing policy of presenting young artists, on the threshold of recognition, as well as virtuosi already internationally famous. It is proud, too, of the thoughtful programming that offers works of the beloved old classicists and introduces the best of the contemporary composers.

The "Tashi" is one of the new groups, hailed, since their New York debut in 1973, for their unusual programs and exciting performances. Stage-seat audiences and standing ovations greeted them at the New York Philharmonic Rug Concerts and Lincoln Center's Mostly Mozart Festival.

They were in Japan in September, 1975, to perform the world premiere of the concerto written for them by Toru Takemitsu, with the New Japan Orchestra, directed by Seiji Ozawa.

Pianist Peter Serkin made his first public appearance at 12, in a performance of the Haydn Concerto in D Major, for Piano at the Marlboro Music Festival. As a performing artist, he has appeared with the Cleveland, Philadelphia, Chicago, Toronto, Boston and San Francisco Symphonies, and with the New York Philharmonic.

Among his recent projects has been the recording of Mozart's six concertos, for RCA, with the English Chamber Orchestra directed by Alexander Schneider. He has made concert appearances with the Galmir, Guarneri and Budapest String Quartets.

Ida Kavafian, violinist, has studied with Mischa Mischakoff, Ivan Galamian and Ara Zerkounian. She earned her Master of Music degree at Juilliard, where she was a pupil of Oscar Shumsky.

She has appeared with the New York Chamber Orchestra, in the Casals Festival in Puerto Rico and with the Lincoln Center Chamber Music Society in Washington, Boston and New York.

Cellist Fred Sherry studied at Juilliard with Leonard Rose. He made his New York debut, presented by Young Concert Artists, in 1969, toured Europe, and the United States with the Juilliard Ensemble and was cellist with the Contemporary Chamber Ensemble.

Composers Peter Lieberson and Charles Wuorinen have written for him, and he has worked with Luciano Berio, Elliot Carter and Pierre Boulez on their music. He is a founding member of Speculum Musicae and the Galmir String Quartet, and the Group for Contemporary Music. He records for RCA, Nonesuch and Philips.

Clarinetist Richard Stoltzman holds a Master of Music degree from Yale University and has studied with Keith Wilson and Kalmen Opperman. He is a member of the California Institute of Arts faculty, and serves on the Patron tickets at $1 each may be purchased Fair day or in advance from ECW members. Luncheon will be served from 11:30 to 1:30 o'clock, and an all-day shuttle service will operate between the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church parking lot and Christ Church.

National Advisory Board of Young Audiences, Inc.

Recital and chamber music appearances have taken him across Europe and the United States. He has been guest artist with the Guarneri, Amadeus and Vermeer String Quartets and with the Lincoln Center Chamber Music Society, has toured with "Music from Marlboro" and is a frequent guest at the Marlboro Music Festival.

Continuing the Jubilee Year, Pro Musica will present baritone Leslie Guinn Friday, January 28, in the Detroit Institute of Arts' Lecture Hall.

Mr. Guinn's musical activities include opera, Renaissance drama, premiers of new music at the Marlboro Music Festival and many successful engagements with major United States symphony orchestras.

He was a pupil of Lotte Lehman, studied voice at Northwestern University and, in Washington, D.C., with Todd Duncan. He was a winner of the American Auditions Award for Performance in Italy. He is a three-time winner of the Martha Baird Rockefeller Grant.

He has served on the University of Michigan faculty since 1971.

The Society's final Jubilee Season Concert Friday evening, March 11, will feature piano virtuoso Juliana Markova, educated at the Giuseppe Verdi Conservatory in Milan and at the University of Sofia, Bulgaria.

She has won awards at Bucharest's George Enescu Competition and Paris' Marguerite Long Competition. She made her American recital debut in Chicago's Orchestra Hall in 1973, and has appeared in the "Three by Three" series at Carnegie Hall.

She made her American orchestral debut with the Los Angeles Philharmonic.

Let's Talk Real Estate
by John E. Brink

After the Revolutionary War, a source of land was to be had in "land warrants" which were issued to returning soldiers in recognition of their contribution to the war effort. Since most of the soldiers had little interest in settling the land, an active market in their warrants developed. Many large tracts of land were assembled in this manner. Philadelphia was the center of postrevolutionary land speculation. Robert Morris, the "financier of the revolution," was a dominant figure of the period.

Clotilde Book Speaks Vows

Clotilde Palms Book and Dean Mark Palmerlee exchanged marriage vows Saturday, October 9, at a 5 o'clock ceremony in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church with Ray H. Kiely, D.D., presiding. A reception followed at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Benjamin S. Warren, of Wolverine, and Herbert V. Book, Jr., of Grosse Pointe Farms. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. William H. Morgan, of Indian River, where the newlyweds will be making their home.

The former Miss Book chose a traditional wedding gown of poly sheer with Venise lace bodice appliques and long sleeves applied in lace at the cuffs. Lace circled her slightly-raised waistline and edged her skirt and semi-cathedral train.

Her elbow length illusion veil fell from a crown of lace fluerettes. She carried stephanotis, lilies, bachelor buttons and ivy.

She was attended by her sister, Debra Book, in a pale blue, floor length gown and long-sleeved jacket, carrying stephanotis, bachelor buttons, Sweetheart roses and ivy.

James Howard Barton was best man. Herbert Theodore Book and Kent Allen Palmerlee ushered. Ring bearer was Robert Everard Book, the bride's half-brother.

Mrs. Warren wore a floor length gown of emerald green chiffon, styled with a gathered bodice and long sleeves. Cameos accented the bridegroom's mother's brown knit. Their flowers were single Sweetheart roses.

Centennial in the Bicentennial

In this American Bicentennial Year, The Thompson Home is also celebrating a Very Special Birthday. For a century now, the Victorian Gothic landmark in West Hancock avenue, (at the corner of Cass), has been providing the comforts of a real home to retired ladies.

It was founded in 1876 by Mrs. David Thompson, widow of one of Michigan's lumber pioneers who, in his will, instructed his wife, Mary, to use part of his estate to establish a benevolent institution.

The present red-bricked building, designed by George DeWitt Mason, was erected in 1884 in what was then one of Detroit's most fashionable residential districts. It alone remains as a reminder of the area's affluent days. It is listed as an Official Detroit Landmark by the History Division of the Michigan Department of State. It is also listed in the National Register of Historic Places.

The Thompson Home, one of the first organizations in Detroit formed to meet special needs, was supported from the beginning by some of the city's most influential families.

The names appearing on its successive board of directors read like a roster of Detroit and Michigan history: Alger, Buhl, Ferry, Ford, McGraw, Newberry, Sheldon, Whitney.

To serve became a family tradition. Today, great-granddaughters, granddaughters and daughters of trustees remain active in support of the Home.

Handweaving Demonstration at Jacobson's

Cynthia Ann Savell will give handweaving demonstrations at Jacobson's Store For The Home Thursday, October 28 from 1:00 to 4:00 P.M. and again from 6:00 P.M. to 8:00 P.M. Mrs. Savell works primarily with the natural fibers of wool, silk, cotton and mohair. Her pillows reflect her fascination with the world of textures. She most often works with natural whites and ivory tones yet achieves the same richness of texture when executing multichromatic but generally analogous colored works.

Her "fiber graphics" are a more refined and manicured fiber form in which graphic dimensions are achieved by such manipulations as the stuffing and intertwining of woven pieces. These framed "fiber graphics" bridge the gap between the usual ultra billowy woven hanging and the two dimensional painting. Suedes and leathers as integral mats oftentimes complement or contrast in color and texture in the creation of her unique hangings. The weavings of Cynthia Ann Savell always echo a classic simplicity and exhibit a timelessness that befits such works of craftsmanship and design. She is represented in a growing number of galleries and shops across the country and in private collections in the United States, Germany and Sweden. Mrs. Savell's woven accessories are available at Jacobson's Store For The Home and may also be commissioned.

Pointe ADK Marks Sorority's Founding

Members of the Grosse Pointe Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa recently celebrated the founding of their sorority by holding a joint meeting with the St. Clair Shores Chapter and designating October 11 through 15 as ADK Week by placing big, red apples and homemade snacks in many schools in recognition of all women educators.

ADK, which now claims international status, was founded by four women educators who were granted a corporate charter by the State of Missouri in 1947.

The sorority's purposes are to build a fraternal fellowship among women which will add to their teaching effectiveness, to promote high standards in education, and to promote educational projects and scholarships.

The Grosse Pointe Chapter provides alternating scholarships to Grosse Pointe North and South High School students each year, and supports the Baptist Children's Home of Royal Oak.

Charter members of the Grosse Pointe Chapter, founded in 1965, include Mary Edwards, Rita Flarety, Sandra Fraunheim, Isabelle Gilbert, Phyllis McMillan, Olga Phillips, Regina Walker, Dolores Bolden, Lillian Seegers, Donata Stypinski, Maud Raymond, Sophia Boan, Dorothy Christian, Lillian Koby, Annette McLain, Marge Agyal and Olive Wanderer.

DSO Features Leonid Kogan This Week

Soviet violinist Leonid Kogan makes his second appearance in two years with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra at a pair of concerts this Thursday and Friday evening, October 21 and 22, at 8:30 o'clock in Ford Auditorium.

Leonid Kogan first appeared with the DSO in November, 1966, and again in February, 1975, when he played the Shostakovich Concerto No. 1 with Maestro Ceccato conducting.

Educated at the Moscow Conservatory where he now teaches master classes, Kogan won the coveted Concours Ysaye first prize in 1951 and made his London debut in 1955.

He is married to Elizabeth Gilels, sister of pianist Emil Gilels. The Kogans' daughter Nina is a pianist, their son, Pavel, a violinist who has won several competitions.

Leonid Kogan's eighth United States tour this season includes appearances with the DSO, the Philadelphia and Cleveland Orchestras, The Cincinnati Symphony and the New York Philharmonic.

The two works on this all-Brahms program were composed one right after the other: the Symphony No. 2 in 1877, the Violin Concerto in 1878. Both are staples of today's orchestral repertoire.

The DSO last performed the Concerto in 1971, with Isaac Stern, the Symphony in 1973.

Tickets for this evening's concert, priced from $4 to $9, are available at the Ford Auditorium box office.

For more information call 961-7017.

Valerie DeGalan Wed in St. Paul's

She Is Attended by Two Sisters During Evening Rites at Which She Speaks Vows to Scott Richard Higgins

Setting for the wedding of Valerie DeGalan and Scott Richard Higgins Friday evening, October 8, was Saint Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore. Monsignor Francis Canfield presided at the 7 o'clock ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

The newlyweds will return from a Jamaica vacation to make their home in Berkshire road, Detroit.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. DeGalan, of Charles street, wore a gown of candlelight net and lace, styled with an Empire bodice of re-embroidered lace accented with seed pearls, and long, lace sleeves ending in wide, organza ruffles.

Lace motifs were applied on her skirt, hemmed with a deep, organza ruffle. A beaded lace cap held her laced, cathedral length mantilla, and she carried yellow roses and stephanotis. She was attended by honor maid Katherine Weller, who came from San Francisco, Calif., for the ceremony, in a long-sleeved, Empire-waisted frock of jade green matte jersey trimmed in mint.

Michigan State University student Julie DeGalan and Colette DeGalan, dressed identically, were bridesmaids for their sister. They carried bouquets of assorted fall flowers.

Mr. Higgins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Higgins, of Lancaster road, asked Robert Steis to act as best man. Ushers were Mark Cheffins and Peter DeGalan, the bride's brother.

A bead-accented, Grecian style gown of platinum matte jersey and chiffon was Mrs. DeGalan's choice for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother wore long-sleeved, V-necked apricot peau de soie. Her A-line skirt was hemmed in maribou.

Wine Lines

by John Lundberg

When cheese and wine are served for dessert, fruit is a good addition, even if it is only a tiny cluster of grapes on an individual plate. Grapes, apples, and pears are three fruits that relate well to wine and cheese. Sometimes soft cheeses may be spread on slices of an apple or pear, as you would spread them on crackers. Bring cheeses to room temperature for serving, and open red wines an hour before pouring so they may breathe. Avoid smelly and aged, sharp cheeses with wine — this wine-cheese combination is one of the oldest and most pleasing in the history of man.

And if you are looking for an unusual gift, we are PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE, 17255 Mack, Corner of St. Clair, 885-0629 will be happy to prepare a beautiful gift basket for you filled with wines and cheeses; we custom-create gift baskets to suit the taste of the recipient. Free delivery service. Hours: 10-10 Mon.-Thurs.; 10-11 Fri., Sat.

WINE WISDOM: French bread, sometimes served hot, is especially good at a wine tasting.

SH Stevenson Defeats South

By Bob Stockwell
South High School lost a tough 13-6 football game to Sterling Heights Stevenson on Saturday, October 16. South scored its only touchdown after marching down the field on runs by Paul Genter, Dave Hollarbach and Rob Dotson. Genter went across for the score.

Good defensive play was turned in by Chris Fielding, who recovered a fumble, and Bob Gough who intercepted a pass on South's 14-yard line.

With two minutes left in the half, Stevenson scored making it 7-6. The winners scored again in the fourth quarter.

The outstanding punts by the talented toe of "Rocket" Rick Baker kept them from scoring further but of fensive fumbles and penalties were very costly to South.

With six minutes remaining in the game, South's offense came alive, moving the ball on excellent runs by Tom Nihem, Pat Corbett, Hollarbach, Jeff Schneider, Dotson and Genter. Brian Myers also made a great reception.

With one minute left, in scoring position and with a chance to tie the game, South fumbled the ball away giving the game to Stevenson.

The Homecoming half-time festivities featured the Blue Devil Marching Band, the crowning of the Homecoming Queen, Monica Schulte, and the best float award to the Senior Class.

South's record now stands at 2-3. It's next game will be at Mount Clemens on Saturday, October 23.

COMMEND STUDENTS
President of the Board of Education Robert Warner commended three high school students for their work on last spring's successful mileage campaign. Honored at the Board's Monday, October 11, meeting were Lori Miller, Chad Minkwic and Tom Rousseau.

Landmark Year For Fraternities

The year 1976 is the bicentennial not only of our country but of the American fraternity, and this fact will be celebrated by men and women of both general and professional fraternities December 1 and 2 at Williamsburg, Va.

The gala events of the Greek Letter Bicentennial are the result of joint planning by the four conferences represented in the Interfraternity Research and Advisory Council: National Interfraternity Conference, National Panhellenic Conference, Professional Interfraternity Conference and Professional Panhellenic Association.

Members of all other college Greek Letter societies also are being invited to participate.

Fraternity leaders and members from across the nation will gather for meetings of individual conferences and associations Wednesday, December 1, and for a joint Interfraternity Day Thursday, December 2, at the Williamsburg Lodge.

This Colonial town was chosen for the observance because Phi Beta Kappa, the forerunner of all college Greek Letter groups in America, was founded there December 5, 1776, scant months after the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Members of Phi Beta Kappa will stage their own separate celebration that weekend in addition to the joint activities earlier in the week. The weekend encompasses the actual date of the founding of Phi Beta Kappa as a social and literary society at the College of William and Mary. During a flurry of anti-fraternity agitation in 1831, the fraternity changed to an honor society.

Other student groups were formed for social and literary purposes, and many developed into the strong national organizations of today.

The first was Kappa Alpha Society, founded in 1825 at Union College where Phi Beta Kappa had established its fifth chapter in 1817. Two years later Sigma Phi and Delta Phi were founded there, and the pattern for the American fraternity was firmly set.

By 1850 there were 16 fraternities, each with one or more chapters on other campuses.

In the early part of the 19th century women as college students were very rare. Georgia Female College, (later Wesleyan College), founded in 1836 in Macon, granted the first degrees to women.

It was there that the first women's fraternities were founded: Alpha Delta Pi in May, 1851, and Phi Mu in January, 1852.

By the end of the century there were 18 national sororities with satellite chapters in various colleges and universities.

Today the college fraternity world has an estimated five million living members. In the four conferences represented in IRAC alone, fraternity and sorority chapters number approximately 9,500. Their influence in college communities across the nation is well recognized.

They teach leadership and development of the total individual, emphasize scholastic achievement, encourage social awareness, participate in service projects and promote the democratic process as members work together toward common goals and ideals.

The Greek Letter Bicentennial Celebration begins with separate meetings of the four conferences.

Perhaps the largest gathering will be that of the National Interfraternity Conference, which will conduct its annual meeting December 1, bringing together representatives of 47 national fraternities with a total living membership of more than two million.

National Panhellenic Conference has scheduled an open meeting of its College Panhellenics committee. This should be of interest to all members of the 26 NPC national college sororities, with approximately 1.5 million living members.

Professional Interfraternity Conference, with 25 professional fraternities, and the Professional Panhellenic Association, with 14 professional sororities, will meet in both separate and joint sessions. The Bicentennial theme, "A Look At Our Past, With an Eye to Our Future," will be expanded upon during Interfraternity Day.

The history of fraternity, concluded by a tour of Raleigh Tavern, the founding of Phi Beta Kappa's founding 200 years ago, will occupy the morning.

At noon, fraternity leaders will take a look at today's fraternity world.

The afternoon will be devoted to a panel discussion of the future of fraternities, and a report from the Com-

Ceremony Set By Girl Scouts

Junior Girl Scout Troops 99 and 156, numbering 51 girls, from Monteth School are having a combined Investiture and Rededication ceremony in the Monteth School gym on Wednesday, October 20, at 7:30 p.m.

Parents, family, friends and guests are invited to attend. The Girl Scouts are expecting as many as 160 guests.

With the help of senior Girl Scout Troop 327 of North High School and Cadette Girl Scouts of Troop 1463 of Brownell Middle School they have planned an event which will include a flag ceremony, a candlelight ceremony and a pinning ceremony, followed by a friendship circle and refreshments.

For further information contact Mrs. Judy Miller, leader of Troop 99, at 882-9521.

SHS Girls Win Tennis Tourney

South High School's girls' tennis team defeated 15 opposing schools Friday, October 15, in the Royal Oak Kimball Regional tournament.

Winners of the regionals were Lisa and Lori Wood, Sue Transue, Jennifer Tewes, Denise Beaufait, Lee Robinson, Kim and Pam Pierce, Carolyn Reisig, and Barbara Warren. They will now attend the state finals Friday-Saturday, October 22-23, in Midland.

Pointer of Interest

MRS. BRUCE BIRGBAUER, OF LAKEVIEW AVENUE

By George Polgar, Jr.

It all starts with an old barn that has been empty long enough to develop a macabre stillness, disturbed only occasionally by birds flapping through the rafters. The stables open through blackened doorways into a stone paved corridor that once echoed with the clip-clopping of fiery show horses. Old wood creaks. The movement of a single body swirls invisible twisters of thick, musty air.

"It's perfect!" comes the verdict. Station wagons pull up and people begin to unload cargos of electric colored paints and decorations. There's a coffin and an assortment of mannequins in various stages of dismemberment. Then the colored lights, vats, bats, rubber, snakes and yards of black drapes.

After a few weeks of hard work equalled only by the enthusiasm of the crew, the old Grosse Pointe Hunt Club barn is transformed into a bona fide first class Haunted Barn, and just in time for the witching hours of late October.

Was Parents' Idea
The Haunted Barn is the fund-raising brainchild of about 80 University Liggett school, (ULS), parents. Chairman of this hunt is Mrs. Bruce Birgbauer, of Lakeland Avenue. Anne swears she's never had any experience haunting houses, but with the help of all the other parents who are brimming with grim ideas it should be a chilling success.

"This is a great outlet for creativity . . . and with the things people are coming up with you begin to wonder," she said.

Wonder indeed: some of the planned attractions at the ULS Haunted Barn will definitely be rated PG—Positively Gruesome—and not for the faint of heart.

Mrs. Birgbauer says that there will be a separate tour for the eight and under set for whom the torture chamber and butcher shop might be too intense.

Torture and Butchery
"And there'll be a prisoner being tortured in this area and a butcher hacking up bodies over here," she explained with a half smiling expression that seemed to ask, "Why am I smiling about this . . . ?"

Pointing out a still empty stall, Mrs. Birgbauer said that no one but the creators knew what would be in that space.

"They won't tell anybody what they are up to but they promise that it'll be fantastic," she shrugged.

(Good: secrecy is a sign that there are truly demented minds at work.)

What, you may ask, brings out the Dr. Demento alter-egos of the parents who are working on this project? Maybe it is just years of pent-up resentment about not being able to go out for Halloween any more.

She's Good Organizer

Mrs. Birgbauer may be new to the spook business but she's an old hand at organizing. In the past she has served as the chairman of the Planned Parenthood Mart, on the executive committee of the Junior League of Detroit, the board of Sigma Gamma, the ULS Lower School board and the ULS Alumni board.

Mrs. Birgbauer is an alumna of ULS. Her three children, John, eight, Bethy six, and Carrie, one, are the third generation of her family to attend ULS, (obviously, Carrie isn't there yet).

She has long been a resident of The Pointe, having returned to the area after attending Connecticut College and spending a few years in Cambridge, Mass., while her husband was in law school.

Under Mrs. Birgbauer's direction this ULS fund-raising event has grown from a bright idea last spring to a novel reality that is expected to attract about 10,000 people during the week it is scheduled to run, Friday, October 22, through Sunday, October 31.

Takes Many Volunteers

"The thanks should really go to all the people who have given their time to this project. The volunteer commitment among the parents has been very strong," said Mrs. Birgbauer. "In fact, we've had people working here who aren't even parents of ULS students. For staffing the haunted barn we are going to rely on student volunteers, and we'll need literally hundreds."

This is a big change for any student to get some valuable work experience. You never know—someday there might be a big demand for people with experience playing roles like forgotten prisoners, torture victims, roaming monsters or even fearless haunted house guides.

There will be other less exotic tasks for student volunteers as well. Like manning the refreshment tent, where visitors can load up on hot dogs, cider, donuts, popcorn and various baked goods. All this of course should come after the tour, in the best interest of all concerned.

Picture the Confusion

There also will be a pumpkin sale . . . but again try and make such purchases after going through the house. The confusion would not be difficult to imagine when some pumpkin-toting thrill seeker gets an unexpected tap on the shoulder by a ghoul and sends a five-pound gourd into orbit.

For those who prefer filmed frights to the real thing, or those who would like a dose of both, there will be two movies showing throughout the week. "Burn Witch Burn" and "20 Million Miles to Earth" will be shown each weekday at 5 and 6:30 o'clock respectively, and from 3:30 on weekends.

Both the haunted barn tour and the movies will have a $1 admission charge, which is pretty good considering how far $2 goes these days. To kick off the event there will be an opening night party at 7 o'clock Friday at the Hunt Club that will feature a chuck wagon dinner, country western dance music and hayrides at a cost of $35 per couple.

Great Party Planned

"The opening night party will be great fun. There'll be a magic show, bobbing for apples and a pumpkin sale, so it will be a very casual thing," said Mrs. Birgbauer. "We already have more than 100 reservations so it should be a success."

All proceeds from the Haunted Barn, refreshments, movies and the opening night party will be going to the ULS Improvement Fund. The Haunted Barn has received the go-ahead from fire and health officials as well as The Woods Council.

"Of course the whole thing would never have worked without the cooperation of the Hunt Club," said Mrs. Birgbauer. "First of all by providing this spooky old barn and then all the help they've given and the enthusiasm they have shown."

The last big ingredient for the success of the Haunted Barn is public response. Mrs. Birgbauer reminds that this event is for all ages. You're never too old to get a good healthy scare thrown at you. It might be the last loose and limber thing to do before the Michigan deep freeze sets in.

From Another Pointe of View

It is administered by a resident directress and her assistant, appointed by the 32-member board. Requirements for admission are simple, House Rules sound. One must be 65 or older, and able to pass a physical examination given by the Home's attending physician.

While The Thompson Home does not have facilities for caring for the very ill or disabled, the attending physician treats minor ailments. A nurse is on duty at all times.

From the beginning, the Home has been distinguished by a non-institutional atmosphere, expression of the abiding philosophy that growing old should be marked by dignity and the preservation of individuality. In the parlors, sitting rooms and wide, high-ceilinged halls, on all floors, are articles of furniture which have been treasured family possessions.

Good taste plus cheerfulness epitomize the decor. Meals are served in a pleasant, club-like dining room, at small tables, by waitresses. Well-stocked bookcases are located on every floor, and in the main sitting room, striking a contemporary note, are a well-tuned piano, a record player and a television set.

He Broke A Leg

"Break a leg!" is the theater's traditional good luck wish—but nobody expected Tom Wells, of Balfour road, to take that admonition seriously!

Tom bid for, and won, an opportunity to perform as a supernumerary in Michigan Opera Theatre's production of "Lucia de Lammermoor" last January, (the Junior Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra auctioned off the "Lucia" extra-ship), but when the time came for "Lucia's" curtain to rise, Tom really HAD broken his leg.

He took a raincheck—and that turned out to be good luck, for the raincheck gave him a chance to perform in a world premier: Thomas Pasatieri's "Washington Square," commissioned by MOT for its season-opener this month at Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts.

Now THAT was a fascinating experience . . . "But," says Tom, "if anyone tells me ever again before I go on stage to 'break a leg,' I'm going to try NOT to take it literally."

Founder's Celebration for Alpha Chi Omega

"Tales of the Old French Families" were presented by Darlene Krato, of Chalfonte Avenue, last Thursday, October 14, at the Founder's Day Celebration for Alpha Chi Omega alumnae of Greater Detroit and Ann Arbor.

Hostesses for luncheon at the Birmingham Athletic Club were Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills alumnae, whose president, Mrs. Donald Storck, of Royal Oak, presided.

She was assisted by Mrs. R. A. Armbruster, of Bedford road, president of Alpha Chi Omega's Detroit Alumnae.

Among those planning to attend were a national officer Mrs. James Johnston, of Roslyn road, Province president, as well as Pointers Mrs. Bruce Tock, a member of the state rush board and Detroit senior Panhellenic representative, Mrs. Eugene Allen, junior Panhellenic representative, Mrs. Daniel Mantho, newsletter publisher, Mrs. Nelson Frolund, historian and chaplain, Mrs. George Hawthorne, of the friendship committee, and Mrs. Thomas Maurer, East-side chairman.

Mrs. Krato has been doing research on Detroit's founding for the past two years, during which she has presented programs for community groups. Last spring, she wrote and recorded 19 tapes on Grosse Pointe history for the Grosse Pointe School System's Bicentennial Celebration.

She served as Kerby School's Bicentennial Lady. Alpha Chi Omega, founded October 15, 1885, at DePauw University, has been instrumental in the development and maintenance of the MacDowell Colony for Artists in Peterborough, N.H.
