HEADLINES of the WEEK

As Compiled by the Grosse Pointe News

Thursday, December 30
FEDERAL HEALTH OFFICIALS, citing "significant evidence" that swine flu vaccine is associated with an unusual form of paralysis, decided Wednesday not to resume the national immunization program. They indicated the $35 million program, begun in October and suspended December 16, was dead unless flu becomes epidemic around the nation. The moratorium on the vaccine campaign was initiated because of evidence it was linked to an unusual form of paralysis called the Guillain-Barre Syndrome.

THE YEAR 1976 could mark the beginning of a new religious revival in America, judging from the recent nationwide Gallup surveys, said pollster George Gallup. Among the points made from the survey were the following: For the first time in nearly two decades, an upturn is recorded in church attendance, with 12 percent of adults attending church or synagogue in a typical week of 1976, plus the population of Americans who believe religion is increasing its influence on American life, (44 percent), has tripled since 1970, when it was 14 percent.

Saturday, January 1
PRESIDENT-ELECT Jimmy Carter spent a quiet New Year's Eve in Plains, Ga., with his family. Friday after asking the American people for support "in the new responsibilities I soon will assume," Mr. Carter also is seeking suggestions from the public at large on how he can remain in contact with ordinary citizens to avoid the isolation from popular opinion experienced by many occupants of the Oval Office. Press secretary Jody Powell said the president-elect wants to take every step he can to avoid being caught in the "strange and unnatural" world of political isolation within the White House.

Sunday, January 2
AS FLAMES RUSHED through the three-story apartment building in Chicago, 10 children were dropped safely to outstretched arms below. But later the bodies of eight persons were pulled from the rubble. With smoke billowing out of the building, adults leaned out of windows on the second and third floors, children dangling from their hands and wrists. All of the eight bodies were believed to be from the third floor. The cause of the New Year's fire was not determined.

Monday, January 3
CHINESE AUTHORITIES have put down serious unrest that has claimed possibly thousands of lives, but lesser disturbances have spread to at least 10 provinces, reports from China said Sunday. The Chinese leadership has blamed the disturbances on the arrested Gang of Four, led by the widow of Mao Tse-tung, Chiang Ching. The German news agency DPA reported from Peking Sunday that the unrest has spread to at least 10 provinces of China, chiefly in the south, and said the armed forces still have to overcome the widespread rebellion.

Tuesday, January 4
ATTORNEY GENERAL DESIGNATE Griffin Bell said Monday he believes that busing should be used to desegregate urban schools only in rare cases. "I think it upsets Americans to take children away from their neighborhoods," Mr. Bell told reporters. "I think neighborhood schools are preferable, all other things being equal." But he said busing may be needed to desegregate some school systems and protect the constitutional rights of minority children.

Hangover from The Bicentennial Celebration

It is impossible for the NEWS to use more than a tiny fraction of the pictures available each week. With the nation's 200th birthday party just over, it seems fitting to recall one of the many memories the year provided. Grosse Pointe Theater members sang their way into the hearts of hundreds of thousands of parade onlookers while heavy showers fell during the May 2 Wayne County Bicentennial Parade. Commissioner and Grand Marshall Erv Steiner commented, "All the sunshine was on the parade route, and Grosse Pointe Theater was one of the brightest rays."

Merchants Have Fine Yule Season

Sales for Many Stores
Increase As Much As
50 Percent Over
Last Year

By Susan McDonald
Grosse Pointe merchants from Mack avenue to "The Hill" and "Village" are reporting 1976 was their best Christmas season yet with sales increasing from 10 to as much as 50 percent over last year. Despite the enclosure of Eastland Shopping Center, which many local businessmen feared would drain their volume substantially during the holidays, business was good for clothing, jewelry and specialty shop owners alike. But, as Charterhouse jewelry merchant W. Michael Williams noted, 1976 "was a different type of Christmas." While sales receipts were up, there just didn't seem to be much of a rush this Christmas as in the past, he said. Big Spender Returns
"Maybe people are planning ahead and getting organized," he suggested, "but I've talked to several people around here and they all noticed the less hectic pace." Several salespeople also noticed the return of the Big Spender to the scene this year. There was no shortage of takers for the big dollars (Continued on Page 2)

Sewage Disposal System, County Reach Agreement On Proposed Rate Raise

Woods Administrator Petersen Commends Officials of Road Commission for Cooperating in Working Out Compromise

By James J. Njeim
The Northeast Sewage Disposal System, (NESDS), and the Wayne County Road Commission, (WCRC), have reached an agreement in lieu of the commission's proposed increase in sewage disposal rates which would have cost member communities approximately $817,000 annually, it was disclosed by Woods City Administrator Chester E. Petersen on Tuesday, December 28.
The NESDS apparently presented a good case before the WCRC on Monday, December 20. The district is comprised of The Woods, Shores, Harper Woods, the Milk River Drain, St. Clair Shores, East Detroit and Roseville.
Mr. Petersen said what prompted the WCRC to seek a rate increase were major deficits of about $372,000 for the fiscal year ending November 1, 1975, and $280,000 for the fiscal year ending November 1, 1976, apparently incurred by the commission which operates the Northeast Sewage Disposal System.
Cites Deficit Factors
He said that these major deficits were probably attributed to the following main factors:
• The three individual meters which were used to determine the billings to the local agencies were recording as much as 20 percent less of sewage flow than that of the master meter recordings upon which the WCRC was being billed by Detroit.
The individual recordings have since been corrected to within two percent of the master meter recording, so that future billings to the local agencies will be on an equitable basis.
The major defective meter readings were those recording for St. Clair Shores, Roseville and East Detroit, which showed greater recordings than that of The Woods, Shores and Harper Woods.
• Because of conflicting contractual language, there was a lag of six months in passing any Detroit increase to the NESDS. For example, the September 1, 1975, rate increase adopted by Detroit could not be passed along to the participating NESDS members until April 1, 1976, by the WCRC.
Hear Counter Proposal
Due to the argumentative efforts of Mr. Petersen and St. Clair Shores City Comptroller Robert Jan's, the NESDS and the WCRC, in a counter proposal, agreed to accept a supplemental bill. (Continued on Page 6)

Board Talks With GPEA Near Climax

Final Fact-Finding Meeting Set for January 8; Other Negotiations Viewed

By Susan McDonald
Board of Education and teacher union negotiators began the new year back at the fact-finding table as the Board team completed its presentation of contract proposals on Tuesday-Wednesday, January 4-5, in Michigan Employment Securities Commission offices.
A final, wrap-up meeting is tentatively scheduled for Saturday, January 8. A public report by fact-finder Dr. John Simpkins, dean of the Wayne State University College of Education, is due two weeks after the meeting's conclusion.
The proceedings began in mid-November with two meetings at which the Grosse Pointe Education Association, (GPEA), presented more than 100 pages of proposals and exhibits.
Proposals Discussed
Union officials say they are after a salary and fringe benefit package amounting to 60 percent of the present school budget that they say traditionally goes to teachers. Certain accounts have been deleted from the formula to adjust for new school system accounting methods.
The union proposal would require about $1.2 million in new money for the school year. The Board has offered a package that increases costs by about $750,000 a year, equivalent to a 17.7 percent pay and fringe benefit increase for three years.
The teachers voted to reject the Board economic offer in early October.
Board negotiator Lawrence Kennedy said the fact-finding hearings had been beneficial in that both sides had the opportunity to reexamine and reinterpret vital proposals. He added, however, that the discussion had not led to any concessions or movement from positions on either side of the dispute.
Not Binding
The release of the fact-finder's report will not necessarily guarantee a settlement of the contract, as it is not legally binding and neither side has publicly committed itself to abide by the report. (Continued on Page 6)

Ice Fishing Big Sport For Many Hearty Souls

By George Polgar Jr.
While most people spend the first week of the new year trying to get their heads on straight after the holidays, some hearty folks take to the frozen lake, punch a hole in the ice, set up a shanty and do some fishing.
Besides being the start of the new year, January 1 also is the beginning of the spearfishing season, so named because ice fishing is done with a spear. "I think it upsets Americans to take children away from their neighborhoods," Mr. Bell told reporters. "I think neighborhood schools are preferable, all other things being equal." But he said busing may be needed to desegregate some school systems and protect the constitutional rights of minority children.

Kidnaper Gets 7-15 Year Term

Adam Patwin, confessed abductor of Scott Miller, of Washington road, was sentenced to from seven to 15 years in prison by Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Joseph B. Sullivan on Wednesday, December 29.
Patwin, 20, of Detroit, kidnaped Scott last October 1 as the boy was walking home from school. Taken to Patwin's home on Santa Barbara, near Eight Mile road and I-75, the boy later freed himself and called his family.
According to Farms Det. Sgt. George Van Tsem, Patwin will most likely serve his sentence at Jackson State Prison.

GP Woods' Bid For Federal Monies Denied

City Sought Total of $3,046,054 for Trio of Projects Encompassing Water Main, Sewer System, Street Improvements under Public Works Act

By Roger A. Waha
The Woods learned late last month that applications for federal assistance for three separate projects totaling $3,046,054 were denied, so the council at its regular meeting Monday, January 3, merely received and placed on file the letters of rejection.

Applying for assistance under the Local Public Works Capital Development and Investment Act of 1976, the city had hoped to obtain a grant of $1,007,700 for water main improvements, $1,601,854 for sewer system improvements and $436,500 for street improvements.

Saying he wasn't surprised at the news, City Administrator Chester E. Petersen indicated if all three applications were approved, such projects could have been started in about 90 days and might have been completed within two years.

"Have More Clout"
But with the denials, he stated, "If we can accomplish (these projects) over a 10-year span with our own money, we'll be doing well."

Meanwhile, Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos said the city will try to go through the Wayne County Drain Commission to obtain relief in the area of water main and sewer system work.

Feeling the drain commission "would have more clout" than the city toward obtaining federal monies, Mr. Pinkos cited a feeling of cooperation in this respect and said he hopes to have a meeting with the commission regarding reapplying for funds.

At the same time, the mayor added he expects President-elect Jimmy Carter and the Democratic-controlled Congress to put together a program of subsidization in the public works area in the near future. This, he felt, would be beneficial to local communities.

Club to Hear Detroit Chief

Executive Deputy Detroit Police Chief James Bannon will be the guest speaker at the Grosse Pointe Kiwanis Club's meeting Tuesday, January 11, at the War Memorial.
In attendance at the 6:30 p.m. session will be guests from surrounding Kiwanis Clubs, wives and friends. Other interested persons are welcome.
Bill Elliott, chairman, states that tickets at $4 per plate for dinner preceding the event can be obtained by calling him at 771-5600 or 886-6634.
Chief Bannon's talk will be on crime and what the police are doing about it. Questions from the audience will follow.

Center Point's Services Assist Citizens in Need

By Tom Greenwood
Not everyone enjoys the holidays. To the depressed, destitute or down-hearted, family festivities surrounding Christmas and New Year's can be almost too much to bear.
"Your problems are more apparent when everyone else is happy and you aren't," said Ken Tenbusch, co-director of Center Point, a non-profit community service organization located at 17150 Maumee avenue.
"Our main service at Center Point is the crisis line. It's simply to respond to people with problems, both personal and technical. We put people in touch with the appropriate resources to handle their situation."
"We were open all night Christmas and New Year's

Guidelines From Blue Cross Hit

Hospital Heads View
Course of Action on Emergency Room
Coverage

By George Polgar Jr.
The adoption of new emergency room coverage guidelines by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan, (BC&BSM), is an indelicate cost-cutting measure in a sensitive service area, according to one local hospital official.

While Saint John Hospital President James T. Farley acknowledges the company's need to cut costs, he considers the new guidelines as shortsighted and having little to do with the question of health.

A 13-page list of covered diagnoses provided by BC&BSM includes such stipulations as a minimum fever of 101 degrees for children under three-years-old, a 102 degree minimum for four years and older and the exclusion from coverage of emergency room visits for "pain of nondescript nature."

View Impact
Mr. Farley and hospital Administrators Barry Spero and Ralph L. Wilgarde, of Bon Secours and Cottage, respectively, agree that the immediate impact of the new guidelines will be an increase in billing and administrative costs.

At Cottage Hospital, where there are relatively few people handled in the emergency room, Mr. Wilgarde does not feel that the added costs will be appreciable.

"Sure, I suppose it will cost a little more to bill the patient rather than BC&BSM and there may even be more people who will be hard to collect from, but generally I think that the company has the right to cut its costs."

"People are misusing emergency rooms; they should go to private physicians instead. Emergency rooms are expensive operations," he said. Mr. Spero says he is not sure what kind of effect the new guidelines will have, but estimates that 50 percent of their emergency room traffic is covered by BC&BSM (Continued on Page 6)

Impasse Is Reached in Bargaining

Attorney for Police Union Says He Will Inform City of Intention This Week

By Roger A. Waha

The attorney for the Grosse Pointe Woods Police Officers Assoc., (GPWPOA), said he would inform the city this week of the association's intention to go into binding arbitration after a final negotiation session proved unproductive on Wednesday, December 29.

Armand Bove, who represents the GPWPOA, said on Monday, January 3, he was drafting a letter to the city informing officials of the association's intention after bargaining, which began early this summer toward an agreement affecting 36 officers, including three corporals, produced no major progress.

Mr. Bove termed the December 29 bargaining session as "bad," while Officer Michael VanDeGinste, (association president until Saturday, January 1, when Officer Stephen Petrik assumed the post), said it wasn't very productive.

Stresses Disappointment
"We practically withdrew all of our demands for a cost of living formula rolled in to salary," stated Mr. Bove last week. Feeling such a proposal was forward looking and good for both sides, he stressed his disappointment that the plan wasn't accepted.

"We're going to ask for immediate arbitration," (i.e., within 30 days), continued Mr. Bove in reflecting over the lack of progress in negotiations. The next step is for the GPWPOA to name its arbitrator, while the city, in turn, will select its arbitrator. Ultimately, a mutually agreed upon third party will be picked, he said.

Reacting to the association's intention, City Administrator Chester E. Petersen said on Monday he had no specific comment on this matter, while reiterating what he stated last week after the bargaining session.

At that time, he indicated both sides came to an impasse over the GPWPOA's new proposal on the compounding of a cost of living formula and the city's counter proposal for residency requirements.

"I pointed out to them if we could mutually agree upon withdrawing these two individual proposals, the city was confident it could arrive at an economic package which both parties could live with." The city would withdraw its residency requirement. (Continued on Page 2)

Auto Strikes Florist Shop

A 19-year-old East Detroit youth apparently lost control of his auto while driving along Mack avenue early Thursday morning, December 30, and struck four parking meters and the front of Woods Florist, 20923 Mack, police said.

The youth, David Charles Duckworth, was charged with careless driving and is scheduled to appear in court on February 23.

According to The Woods' accident report, the road conditions were icy when the youth left the thoroughfare near the Ridgemoor road intersection. Police indicated he was apparently speeding too fast for conditions.

Meanwhile, the front window of the florist shop was shattered from the impact and, as a result, all plants in the building were frozen, the owners reported. Estimates of damage are unknown at this time.

Police said Duckworth and his passenger, Gordon Sever, 19, of St. Clair Shores, both received lacerations to their hands and refused medical treatment.

vide personal or technical aid to callers for personal, face-to-face counseling. Center Point will provide professional counselors to help individuals meet their goals and overcome problems.

Third, if the problems are severe, or chronic, Center Point will work closely with other institutions to aid individuals with their problems. Center Point is not equipped to handle problems that require years of counseling.

Funded by the Grosse

Pointe Family Life Education Council, (FLEC), Center Point also sponsors workshops on substance abuse, health education and a medical clinic.

"Our medical clinic is open from 7-9 p.m. Monday and Tuesday evenings," said Ken. "The clinic is staffed with the voluntary services of doctors and nurses. We treat about 1,400 patients a year, and all supplies are donated by Saint John, Cottage and Bon Secours Hospitals."

Services include VD testing and treatment, pap tests, birth control information, pregnancy testing, sexual counseling, health information and medical referrals.

"All our work is done in the strictest confidentiality," said Ken. "It's kind of difficult for a 14-year-old to go home and tell his parents he has VD. We can also recommend safe, medically sound clinics to those needing abortions."

All medical treatment is followed by counseling, especially when it involves teenagers. Technically the clinic is "free," although Center Point has started asking for a $3 fee to help defray the cost of malpractice insurance.

Future programs at Center Point will involve growth workshops for adults. Classes will include a smoker's workshop, drug awareness seminars, communication skills for parents, alcoholic workshops and self assertiveness classes.

"We simply want to show adults how to get in touch with themselves," said Ken. "We hope to start these programs in the spring. Last year we conducted classes in guitar, painting and rap groups for teenagers. Together, these programs should be a benefit to both parents and their children."

All classes are free. For more information on Center Point, call 881-7744.

Bid Denied

work in the trio of areas, Mr. Petersen said water main improvements focused upon the addition of fire mains (larger outlets), looping dead ends together toward improving the quality of service and the replacement of deteriorating mains throughout the community.

Hawthorne Project

Under sewer system improvements, he stated this project encompassed the construction of additional waste sewers, the lowering of sewers in areas where sump pumps are required and the complete replacement of the sewer system in Hawthorne road from Morningside to the east city limits.

The latter would tie in with the street improvement project in Hawthorne road which would have included the complete "refurbishing" of the thoroughfare, e.g., replacement of concrete and curbing, between the aforementioned areas. Resurfacing various streets in the community also was included in the application.

Mr. Petersen added he hopes such street work as in Hawthorne road can be accomplished with gas tax monies.

Life would be more enjoyable for everyone if more people minded their speech instead of speaking their mind.

Arbitration Sought

ment proposal if the association would withdraw its compounding formula for cost of living, he said.

Not Justified

Adding that the officers already have a cost of living bonus, Mr. Petersen felt the union's new proposal "would skyrocket the city's cost."

In commenting upon the city administrator's viewpoint on the withdrawal of proposals, Officer VanDeGinste said last week the association wanted the same thing, (regarding cost of living), that Shores officers received in their recent pact.

The officer said the association couldn't justify dropping ping its cost of living proposal in exchange for the city dropping its residency proposal because the city hasn't had a residency requirement for around 20 years, (i.e., not one requiring all officers to live within the corporate limits of the municipality). Officers currently have unlimited residency provisions.

Noting that the city hasn't received Mr. Bove's communication as yet, Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos stated on Monday afternoon he really has no reaction at this time. However, he indicated when the letter is received, he will meet with Mr. Petersen.

He also said, "I believe the council on a previous occasion did say that Mr. Petersen had its blessing to go to binding arbitration. We may have to go to this, and wherever the cards fall, we'll have to stand with the arbitration award."

Not First Time

This decision to go into arbitration isn't the first.

What turned out to be a long process, which began when the GPWPOA and the city entered into negotiations on a new pact in January 1973, and which subsequently went into mediation and ultimately to binding arbitration on a union request in July 1973, reached a climax when the Tripartite Panel issued its final award in February 1974.

The retroactive award, which was for a two-year contract, from July 1, 1973, to June 30, 1975, didn't please many officers at the time mainly because, in the area of salary, the awards were less than what the GPWPOA had proposed.

Nab Brothers For Larceny

Two teenage brothers, both Detroiters, were arrested by Park police on Sunday, January 2, and arraigned for a preliminary hearing for the same day before Park Municipal Judge John Urso on a warrant charging them with larceny from an auto.

Lt. Gordon Duncan said that the brothers, Robert, 19, and Charles Newton, 18, of 4257 Wayburn, were taken into custody at the White Tower Restaurant, Jefferson and Wayburn.

The suspects told arresting officers they knew nothing of the event and that they were in the eatery for more than an hour. But a waitress told police that the pair had been in the place only a few minutes before the officers arrived.

The lieutenant said what disproved the brothers' claim was an ignition key taken from a damaged car in the lot at the rear of Ted Ewald's Bump Shop in Wayburn, at Jefferson.

Lt. Duncan said it appeared that the brothers had climbed a fence at the rear of the lot and tried to drive away the vehicle. But they were unable to do so because the exit gate was locked. A citizen noticed the Newtons in the lot at about 1:25 a.m. and called police.

Officers responding to the call searched the area and saw the brothers in the eatery and questioned them. A search of their persons brought out the key in one of the brother's pocket.

Judge Urso released the pair on a $1,000 bond each and set their examination for Wednesday, January 12.

Park Enjoyed by Residents

The Woods Department of Parks and Recreation closed out 1976 with a number of major accomplishments and some projects still underway. Among other things, this year marked the first season that residents made use of the new pool and bathhouse facilities.

Director of Parks and Recreation Donald J. Hallmann feels that the improvements at the Lake Front Park were the most appreciated projects.

"People really enjoyed the new pools and bathhouse facilities," he said. "We were very happy to hear favorable comments directly from the public. Of course, it was the attendance figures which really showed how much the improvements were appreciated."

For example, total attendance for June, July and August was 200,513 in comparison with 169,115 for the summer of 1975.

Other completed projects include the construction of a new roadway which runs along the Milk River, the clearing of a section of the Lake Front park grounds near the completed roadway, readying it for seeding and landscaping this spring and the inspection and repair of the park boat docks.

The planting of about 85 pine trees and shrubs throughout the pool area rounded out the work for the year. All overhead electrical lines and telephone poles used to service the boat docks and comfort station have been removed and cables laid underground. A drainage pump in the old swimming pool area also was installed. Certain repairs of filter tanks, valves and lines servicing the pools will be finished in the spring.

As for the present, Mr. Hallmann said, "The hottest thing we've got going now is ice-skating."

Friends Slate Family Films

The public library's next Family Film Night, set for Thursday, January 13, will feature four color films to be shown at 7:30 p.m. in the exhibition room of the Central Branch, 10 Kercheval avenue.

The first, "A Place of Refuge," will cover beautiful scenery of the world from mountain passes and trails to the fish-filled lakes of gold-mining country.

"Stone Soup" is the story of three tired, dirty soldiers who manage to persuade French villagers, who are suspicious and stingy, to supply them with a fine banquet.

Nature's drama and suspense is featured in "Alaskan Earthquake," describing the results of the 1964 Alaskan disaster through animated scenes, documentary footage and models showing earthquake zones.

"Begone Dull Care" is a visual expression painted on film accompanied by the music of the Oscar Peterson Trio. It was created by Norman McLaren and Evelyn Lambert.

Remove Bricks to Attack Fire

Park firefighters received two calls to a flat which was being remodeled when a smoke alarm was sounded at 724 Trombley on Thursday, December 30. The first alarm was called in at 9:04 a.m. and the second at 1:22 p.m.

Fire Chief Phillip Costa said when firemen arrived on the first alarm, there appeared to be nothing amiss. But on the second alarm, it was discovered that insulation material was smoldering in a six-foot space in the kitchen, between the wall and bricks.

The chief said the only way the firefighters were able to get at the smoldering material was by removing several exterior bricks of the house. This took at least two and one half hours to do. In the meantime, the smoldering fire crept up the wall almost to the roof, the chief added.

Fortunately, the firemen were able to place a hose through the space and pour water in the material before it burst into flames. Damage was confined to the six-foot space and also to the insulation, and, of course, where the bricks had to be removed, Chief Costa said.

Repairs became the responsibility of the firm undertaking the remodeling, the Chief Costa said.

He said while doing the remodeling work, employees of the firm cut a hole in the kitchen wall and encountered a sheet of steel. They used an acetylate torch to remove a piece of the metal to finish the hole. It is believed that the sparks from the torch against the steel caused the insulation to smolder.

Chief Costa said it would have been only a matter of time before the insulation would have burst into flames, inflicting greater damage by igniting the wooden studs and causing the fire to spread.

The building, which is vacant, is owned by Howard Davis, of 17111 East Jefferson avenue.

Ex-Judge Gets Sun City Post

Former City of Grosse Pointe Municipal Judge and Justice of the Peace, Douglas Paterson, was recently sworn in as the new magistrate of Youngtown, Ariz.

Judge Paterson served the Pointes for more than 20 years before resigning his post in 1974.

He now resides in Sun City, Ariz., and is a member of that city's Lawyers' Club and is a former vice-president of the Michigan Club.

Stretching Their Luck

Perched above the ice, University Liggett School students MARK MUSHRO, (foreground), and JOHN HASTING, wait for some finny friends to appear. The spear fishing season opened Saturday, January 1, and will run through the end of next month.

Ice Fishing Popular

(Continued from Page 1) other fisherman, Don Lowers of The Park, has a different story. "To tell you the truth, the fishing here stinks. A pike swims by every so often, maybe even a muskie if your lucky but most of the time its just junk fish like shad and carp."

And then, of course, an observer will not go too far before hearing, "the fishing here is so-so, but in Canada, that's where all the fish are. I had a friend who was fishing over in Canada and hauled out about 100 fish in just one . . ."

The ice fishermen do not need any kind of permit to set up their shanties and usually leave the shelters up until the end of spearing season in February. The owner of the shanty is only required to write his name and address on the outside of it.

Inside fishermen sit looking through the hole in the ice, which looks eerily like an underwater television screen. Each shanty is equipped with some kind of portable heating unit and often enough food and drink to tide the fishermen over during their vigil.

According to Paul Wernet, the appeal of ice fishing isn't the excitement. "Since there really aren't that many fish around here most people just come out here to kill some time."

Though it seems like a sport that might interest the older more sedentary outdoorsman, there are young ice fishermen who seem to do it with predatory fervor. John Hasting and Mark Mushro, both of The Farms, are among the younger ice fishermen on the lake but no less adept than their older colleagues.

Crouched over the large hole in the middle of their shanty, they both managed to spear two shad at the same time.

"Some of these fish aren't too hard to catch," explained Mark. "We have these lures in the water to attract pike and if you're lucky, you can get one or two."

While none of these ice fishermen reported ever falling through the ice, many have stories about similar sporting mishaps.

"Well, I remember once I was up in Anchor Bay and a dozen shanties and a parked car floated off into the sunset on a big chunk of ice," said Mr. Wernet. "Even if you fell in here it would only be up to your nose. The ice here is pretty solid though, about six inches thick."

If sitting out on the ice in a little wooden shack with the wind slicing around you sounds like fun, find yourself a spot to perch, it's everybody's lake.

Free boating classes will be offered by the Grosse Pointe Power Squadron at North High School on January 17 starting at 7:30 p.m. The classes, to be held in the school cafeteria, stress boat safety with knowledge.

JC's, Auxiliary Seek Members

The Grosse Pointe Jaycee's and Auxiliary are inviting young men and women between the ages of 18-35 of The Pointe community to a special membership dinner on Saturday, January 15.

The membership committee is sponsoring the dinner in order to offer interested individuals the opportunity to meet with members and find out about the organization.

It will be held in the Alger House of the War Memorial beginning at 6:30 p.m. The evening will include dinner, dancing and a short program.

The program will allow an individual the opportunity to explore the different areas of involvement which the organization offers. The large majority of the projects directly benefit the community.

In fact, the Jaycees report if one of its existing projects does not appeal to you, "lead your own project and get involved. Being involved in our community is what we're all about."

For further ticket information call John Brinman at 886-4941 after 6 p.m. or Al Hillenbrand at 643-0181 after 6 p.m.

Your metabolic rate can be influenced by several factors. It is slightly higher for males than for females, and it shows a gradual decrease with age. It is influenced by the current rate of growth. The influence of mental activity of metabolic rate has been measured, and an amusing interpretation of the results are made. The scholar who devotes an hour to intense mental effort may be surprised to realize that his energy expenditure for this is satisfied by eating half a salted peanut.

Some Amusing Moments Offered by Offbeat Stories

By Tom Greenwood

A lot of stories cross a reporter's desk in the course of a year. While many are grim, sad or tragic, others are happy and hilarious.

Pooling its resources, the staff of the NEWS momentarily ceased its basic modus operandi to gather nearly a dozen of the "looonier tunes" of The Pointe for 1976.

A pair of water wings go to City Councilman Lorenzo D. Browning for falling off a ferry while traveling to Bob-Lo. Mr. Browning, president of Bob-Lo Island, has been making the daily trip since 1949. He said he found the incident "rather embarrassing."

Members of the city council presented him with an inner tube for his efforts.

Diners at the Steak and Egg Restaurant in Mack avenue weren't too surprised when a customer asked for his order "to go." Clad only in a pair of shorts, the reason for this was obvious. Police captured the streaker moments later in his car. Apparently, his escape was slowed down after he stopped running long enough to put on his pants.

The "Most Inept Shoplifter Award" for 1976 goes to a Farms girl caught boosting clothes at a local store. While she shrewdly clipped off the metal detection tags on the merchandise, she absent-mindedly stashed the tags in her coat pocket.

The store capitalized on her boo-boo when she passed through the metal detectors on her way out.

Police surveillance paid off in the October arrest of the "Mad Puker" of The Farms. The stakeout began after several residents complained of finding huge pools of vomit on their lawns. An unraveled garden hose was always found lying near by.

The mystery was solved when police arrested a young man, after dazedly watching him stuff a hose down his throat and then turn on the water. Labeled as a "compulsive eater" by his family, the suspect said the water helped him to "relieve himself."

An award for bravery should go to Farms Det. Sam Cardella for not passing out after catching the suspect in the act.

Lessons in true grit can be given by an 18-year-old Woods youth who broke both legs during his first parachute jump. After the accident, he drove all the way from the jumping field at Techumseh to Saint John Hospital to have his legs set.

A free Captain Nemo badge goes to the "spaced out" Sterling Heights man who drove his car at 80 mph into Lake St. Clair while being pursued by Shores police. After escaping his sinking vehicle, he swam back into it to hide from two police officers swimming out to rescue him.

Pulled screaming and cursing from his car, he was later charged with driving while under the influence of drugs.

While humming "There's No Business Like Show Business," a local resident was arrested by Ecorse police for performing live sex acts with 11 other people in a west side burlesque house.

Described as a "socially prominent Groose Pointe Farms resident," the man fainted from anxiety while being booked at the police station.

Two pounds of four-leaf clovers and a rabbit's foot go to the car thief who "borrowed" a car while visiting The City.

Unluckily for him, the car belonged to retired City Police Chief Andrew Teetzel. The suspect was captured moments later after a high speed chase that damaged the chief's auto and a scout car.

A local version of "The Sting" took place in December when a thirsty con artist sent a local liquor store owner on a wild goose chase. After receiving an order for seven cases of booze, the store owner drove to a local address only to find no one at home.

While driving back to the store, the driver was hailed by a passing motorist and told that something was dragging in back of his car. While checking out the situation, the other motorist jumped into the liquor-laden auto and drove off with $500 worth of Christmas spirits.

The "I Love My Wives But Oh You Kid" award goes to Park resident Joseph Sharp who died when his private plane crashed on December 10. During a routine check, police discovered Sharp had six wives and ex-wives, seven children and a fiancée in Chicago. Robert Sharp, his brother, hopes to stage a family re-union sometime in the future for his brother's families.

Perhaps they'll hold it in Pontiac Stadium?

Co-op to Honor Former Teacher

The Saint Paul Lutheran Co-op Nursery is inviting all former students and their parents to a farewell reception in honor of teacher Elizabeth Williams on Tuesday, January 11.

The reception will be held from 7-8:30 p.m. in the Fire-side Room of Saint Paul Lutheran Church, 375 Lothrop road. Refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Williams taught at the Co-op from 1967-1976. She is leaving to take a full-time teaching position at Wayne State University.

High Schools Invite Parents

Parents of junior class members at both North and South High Schools are invited to meet with counselors on Thursday, January 13, at 7:30 p.m. at their respective schools.

The meetings are geared to provide up-to-date information to parents about future plans, both in high school and out, for discussion with their children.

The calendar of deadlines for various college admissions and aptitude tests, financial aid and scholarships, career planning, and college visitations will be discussed.

The counselors also will provide information on what students should be taking in their senior year of study and educational alternatives after high school.

Most junior students have already met and discussed many of these topics with their counselors. Any students who missed earlier meetings, however, are invited to attend in January.

Getting even has never been worth the price, and today the cost gets higher and higher.

Board of Education Meets on January 10

The first regular meeting of the Board of Education of Poupard of the Board of Education Elementary School, 20655 for the new year will be held Lennon road, Harper Woods, on Monday, January 10, in at 8 p.m.

Robert D. Warner, board president, will chair the session and Dr. William Coats, superintendent, will make recommendations for the trustees' action. The public is invited to attend.

Ruth League Slates Meeting

The Grosse Pointe Woods-Shores Babe Ruth League will hold its annual meeting at the Woods Council chambers, 20025 Mack avenue, on Wednesday, January 12. Interested parties are invited to attend the 8 p.m. gathering.

by John Lundberg

You may have heard people who sound like they know what they are talking about, order a wine by its year, say a Bordeaux Cabernet 71. The vintage year is the year in which the grape is harvested. Wines from a good vintage year remain good in the bottle for a long time. Poor years mean wines that start badly and do not last long at that. With the more commercial regional wines, vintage years mean little since the quality of the wine depends more on the skill of the blender than the weather conditions of the given year. If you are buying a Chateau or estate bottle wine though, check your years before you make an investment.

We at PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE, 17255 Mack, corner of St. Clair, 885-0626 will be happy to advise you in selecting a wine to suit your taste and budget. We feature an extensive selection of imported and domestic wines, including a large variety of inexpensive but good half gallon and gallon table wines. Hours: 10-10 Mon-Thurs.; 10-11 Fri., Sat.; noon-10 Sunday.

WINE WISDOM:

Hospital Heads Hit Guidelines

He also explained that the increase in billing costs will result because billing to the health insurance firm is completely computerized, while patient billing requires more paperwork.

Questions Guidelines

Mr. Farley added that Saint John also will have to provide personnel to inform patients of the new rules but his main concern is the impact on treatment procedures.

What do these guidelines have to do with the health of the people we serve? They have this thing about a minimum 101 degree temperature for children under three. How do you ask a two- or three-year-old where it hurts? If the child's temperature isn't high enough are we supposed to turn them away?" he asked.

"There is a big Catch 22 here. A doctor can't be sure there is no emergency until he examines the patient but according to these guidelines the doctor must be sure there is a real emergency before examining the patient."

If the guidelines are followed strictly by doctors staffing emergency rooms, hospitals will be exposed to new legal liabilities.

"There are many kinds of vague pains, not covered according to the new guidelines, which do indeed indicate an imminent emergency," Mr. Farley said. "If we tell someone that according to the new BC&BSM guidelines their pain is not an emergency, we will be liable if the person leaves and does get ill."

Miss Point

When asked how hospitals would cope with the shortcomings and possible pitfalls of the new guidelines, Mr. Farley said they will operate almost as if there were no change.

"We will not be put into the position of trying to decide in advance who will be billed for emergency room services. After a patient is examined and treated, it will be determined whether the services will be paid by BC&BSM or the individual."

Because many hospitals will likely follow this course there will probably be more problems in the collection of fees from people who cannot afford health care costs without insurance. This extra expense will fall on the hospital.

Mr. Farley believes that the BC&BSM totally misses the point of emergency services with the adoption of the new rules.

"They miss the question of what an emergency really is," he said. "An emergency is defined by the concern in the minds of the people who come to the hospital."

Added Responsibility

"For example, young parents who bring in children with some symptoms categorized as nondescript pain. Those people will not stop coming to the emergency room because of the guidelines."

While the new guidelines are designed to stem the flow of people making unnecessary trips to hospital emergency rooms, they probably will only relieve BC&BSM of the financial responsibility. This responsibility will then fall on many hospitals which can ill-afford the extra costs.

"BC&BSM is using valid cost containment measures," added Mr. Farley. "I don't blame them at all, but the patient becomes the pawn and the hospitals lose."

Reach Accord on Proposal

(Continued from Page 1) ing in the amount of $120,000 which would correct the meter readings of the first three quarters of 1976.

Mr. Petersen did not give a breakdown of the share to be paid by each member of the system, but did state that The Woods would pay an additional $3,777.88, with the balance to be paid on a pro rata basis by the other members.

The counter-proposal provides that the local agencies would accept an assessment of $150,000 annually for the next three years, if it is necessary, to defray current unpaid bills and deficits of the NESDS.

Under this proposed assessment, The Woods would pay $17,450.70; The Shores, $2,924.25; the Milk River Drain, $1,203; and Harper Woods, $13,858.80. The total aggregate assessment for the three Macomb County communities would amount to $114,563.25.

The Public Works Committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners on recommendation of the administrative officials of the NESDS, at a public hearing held on December 20, formally adopted this counter-proposal.

Discuss Assessments

Mr. Petersen said in the opinion of the participating agencies of the NESDS, that pro rata assessments totaling $150,000 might be in order for April 1977, but might not be needed for April 1978 and April 1979.

provided Detroit does not increase the sewage rates. But this does appear imminent.

At the public hearing, the WCRC and the NESDS agreed to the following proposal:

1. The present rate structure will be maintained.

2. The contract between the local agencies and the WCRC will be amended to change the six-month notice requirement, or "lag time," for rate changes to 90 days to coordinate with Detroit.

3. The NESDS will work with the WCRC to request that Detroit provide a tentative notice of rate changes six months before the effective date.

4. The local agencies will agree to an annual assessment of $150,000 for a three-year period, the first assessment to be due and payable this April 1.

5. A certified audit will be requested for the fiscal year ending November 30, 1976, a copy to be presented to all local agencies in the system.

6. The local agencies and the WCRC will review the rates at the end of fiscal year 1976-77 to determine the adequacy of the rates and the necessity of continuing the annual assessments heretofore agreed upon. This review will be completed prior to the April 1, 1978, assessment date.

Comments Officials

Mr. Petersen said that the officials of the county commission should be commended for their cooperation in working out the compromise agreement, which, in his opinion, represents a fair and equitable solution to a major problem.

If the commission's original request had gone through, it would have meant that the sewage rate increase would have risen from $1.054 per 1,000 cubic feet to $1.635 per 1,000 cubic feet, an increase of 43 percent.

The Public Works Committee of the Wayne County Road Commission has jurisdiction over a four-mile long trunk line interceptor which feeds raw sewage and storm water from the governmental agencies of the NESDS to a Detroit treatment plant.

School Talks

(Continued from Page 1) In negotiations with other school employees, the Board of Education is scheduled to meet with its custodial workers for a third session in front of a state-appointed mediator on Thursday, January 6.

Mr. Kennedy, representing the Board team, said that agreement has been reached with the custodians on all non-economic issues, leaving only pay and fringe benefit questions unsettled.

Members of the school's administrators unit, which approved a base-pay agreement in October, will begin this week to examine the issue of merit pay which was left unsettled.

Head of the administrators' group, James Cooper, said he expects the merit pay program will be expanded and evaluation procedures modified by the two groups. They have formed a joint administrative committee to consider the program.

Friendliness is the man who tries to divide his acquaintances into assets and liabilities.

Photographers' Workshops Ser

Former War Memorial photography instructor Joseph Messana will conduct a series of winter on-location photography workshops on Saturdays, starting January 8 and ending March 12.

Highlights of the winter season are visits to a ballet dance company, the famed "Fire Department Clowns," and a photography tour of an 1889 Victorian mansion.

Another interesting session will involve photographing noted sculptor Frank Varga and artist William Amenda in their studio at the Grosse Pointe Academy on January 22.

Classes will be conducted from 10 a.m.-12 noon or 1-3 p.m. The full course is $65 or $7 per session attended. Payment must be made in advance to reserve your space.

For pre-registration, send checks to Joseph P. Messana: Photographer, 5574 Lakewood avenue, Detroit, 48213, or register at the Henry Ford Centennial Library, 16301 Michigan avenue, Dearborn.

Missing Purse Is Recovered

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Beger, of Bloomfield, who shop at Jacobson's regularly, were impressed by the honesty of an employee who found Mrs. Beger's purse and turned it in to the lost and found department.

Mr. Beger and his wife, Jane, said they had been shopping at Jacobson's on Thursday, December 30, when Mrs. Beger put down her purse while looking at a possible purchase. She then left the store, completely forgetting the handbag.

It was several minutes after leaving the store that Mrs. Beger discovered she did not have her purse with her, and informed her husband.

The couple returned to Jacobson's and inquired at the lost and found department, where, luckily, the purse had been turned in by an employee, whose name was not given.

"We were gone from the store for several minutes," said Mr. Beger, "when my wife realized that she had forgotten her purse. We had given up hope that it would be returned because you read about so much crime and feared that someone had found it and kept it."

"We are well known at Jacobson's because we shop there several times a month and have been doing so for years. We wouldn't think of shopping anywhere else."

"When we returned to the store, my wife's purse was returned to her, intact, with not a thing missing. Her money, charge plates and everything were still there. Nothing was touched."

They said "almost like a bonus" and expressed their thanks to the employee and to the store management.

Be sure you have the ability to complete your job—some people find they have more ambition than ammunition.

Woods Police Nab Suspect

A 30-year-old Detroit man who's charged with the breaking and entering of a dwelling with intent to commit larceny, was arrested Monday, December 27, before Woods Municipal Judge J. Patrick Denis.

The suspect, Raymond George Vujnov, stood mute and a plea of not guilty was entered for him. Bond was set at $25,000 cash or two sureties, and police said he was held in lieu of bond at the Wayne County Jail until his examination, which was scheduled for yesterday, January 5.

Vujnov is charged with breaking into a Roslyn road home on Sunday, December 26. Police said a stereo, turntable and two speakers, which were taken in the incident, were recovered.

At the scene, Officer Michael Genereaux found where the milk chute was broken in, and learned from a neighbor that a man was at the side of the house with another subject. She said both went to the garage and came out with a snow shovel.

While the one subject began shoveling the drive, the arrested man began hitting at the inside of the milk chute, police were told. However, the neighbor stated she didn't feel anything was wrong because she recognized the man. She added the homeowner also knew him.

Recalling that no one was home at the time, and that the homeowner said police should be called regarding suspicious activity, authorities were contacted.

She then went to a window and spotted the arrested man standing inside the door. Moments later, both subjects entered a truck and left the area west on Roslyn.

At this time, Officer Bruce Marone arrived, was shown the departing truck and gave chase. While pursuing the wanted vehicle, he broadcast the information and Officer Robert Rabe ultimately stopped the suspect, who was now alone, at Mack and Roslyn.

Meanwhile, Officer Stephen Petrik found the stereo equipment in the driveway approach of a Brys drive residence. A witness on that block said, after hearing a vehicle accelerating rapidly, a pickup truck was seen speeding away north on Charlevoix.

Slate Square Dance Jan. 12

This year, as in many years past, the Grosse Pointe Council of Square Dance Clubs and the Grosse Pointe Schools Department of Community Services will again co-sponsor a free, introductory square dance. It will be held at Monteith School, 1275 Cook road, on Wednesday, January 12, at 8 p.m.

Many experienced square dance couples will invite their friends to come and dance at this free event. All non-square dancing couples are invited, and all that's needed is a partner and soft-soled, comfortable shoes.

Caller Wes Rea explains and teaches all the figures used as the dance moves along. One quickly gets caught up with the beat of the music, the caller's lingo and the fun.

Many couples who attend this introductory dance come back to enroll in the square dance class for beginners. If you are unable to come on January 12, couples are invited to come and "try out" square dancing on the following Monday, January 19.

THE GROSSE POINTE FARMS MICHIGAN

Summary of The Minutes December 20, 1976

The meeting was called to order at 8:00 p.m. Present on Roll Call: Mayor James H. Dingeman, Councilmen Harry R. Fruehauf, Jr., Nancy J. Waugaman, Joseph L. Fromm, W. James Mast and Lloyd A. Semple.

Those Absent Were: Councilman Jack M. Cudlip.

Mayor James H. Dingeman presided at the meeting.

Councilman Cudlip was excused from attending the meeting.

The Minutes of the Regular Meeting which was held on December 6, 1976, were accepted as corrected.

The Council, acting as the Zoning Board of Appeals, granted the appeal of Mr. William J. Young, Jr., of 24 Fair Acres, thereby authorizing the issuance of a Permit for the construction of a therapeutic pool building at the rear of his home located at the foregoing address.

In response to a petition of the residents of Roland and Maison Roads for relief from the misuse of their streets by non-local traffic, and in accordance with the results of a thorough study of the foregoing matter, the Council adopted a resolution to temporarily close Maison-Roland Road at Mack Avenue for a period of four months by barricading such road just east of the alleyway. The Council adopted a further resolution to temporarily zone and sign Allard Road "No Right Turn" at Mack Avenue for a corresponding period of four months; the results of both of the foregoing traffic control changes to be studied at the end of the four-month period.

The Council approved the proposed contract agreement between the City and Rose Terrace, Incorporated, regarding the provision of adequate water service to the proposed single-family development of the Rose Terrace property, and authorized Mayor Dingeman to execute such agreement on behalf of the City. The Council adopted a further resolution accepting the final site plan and plat as presented at that time for the development of the Rose Terrace property, and authorizing the City Clerk to execute such final plat on behalf of the City, subsequent to execution of the foregoing agreement.

On behalf of the City Council, Mayor Dingeman presented a congratulatory resolution-proclamation to the Farms resident members of the Grosse Pointe South High School Girls' Tennis Team, in recognition of their fine achievement in winning the State Championship.

The Council adopted a resolution authorizing the City Controller to transfer the maximum amount of 25% of Major Highway Fund monies to the Local Highway Fund.

The Council received the following Report and ordered it placed on file:

A Fire Department Report for the month of November, 1976.

Upon proper motion made, supported and carried, the meeting adjourned at 11:05 p.m.

Know Your Schools

By Dr. William Coats, Superintendent of Schools

In three previous columns I have discussed in as much detail as space permitted three goals, (Basic Skills, Self-Discipline, Academic Excellence), which are contained in the school system's recently-revised philosophy statement.

This week I wish to discuss another important aim of our system, preparation of students for intelligent citizenship.

The term "Citizenship" is one that has a number of connotations. In the narrow sense of the word, in a school setting, "good citizenship" is equated with "good behavior," but for our purposes the meaning goes far beyond this limited scope.

For general purposes in the school system, we take "Citizenship" to mean full, active and effective participation in society. We hope to encourage our students to develop as much as possible during their time in public education, the social, political, economic and human competencies which are so necessary to a successful functioning in an extremely complex society.

It also is important that they become effective citizens as a result of using the school as a participatory democracy and that they have concern for the welfare of others.

But how does the school system go about fostering effective Citizenship in the young people entrusted to our care?

We expect them to learn to live by rules, beginning in kindergarten and to understand the reason for rules. At the elementary level the social studies curriculum contains a number of means to understanding the past and how exemplary citizens of the past have lived.

Units on history and government at the elementary and middle school level are bolstered by required courses in American History, Civics and Government at the senior high level.

Classwork, along with the many extra-curricular activities, (such as student government and activities requiring cooperation and team spirit which assist students in learning about democracy in action), all help students to acquire the skills and understanding of Citizenship.

Social gatherings also provide practice for the adult Citizenship in later years.

Since all of this may seem like a large order, readers may wonder how the school system alone achieves such lofty goals. It is at this point that I remind readers that the school is a partner in creating effective citizens—along with the home and other community institutions. The development of Citizenship is but one of the many responsibilities which the schools share.

Bach, Cliburn on Center List

Criminal Justice Forum
Reports on Questionnaire

No matter if you're young or old, male or female, black or white, if you're concerned about crime, you're likely to favor mandatory minimum sentences, stiff restrictions on bail and consecutive sentencing for multiple offenses, reports the Criminal Justice Forum via a news release.

This is one of the findings of an interim report issued last week by Criminal Justice Forum, the film and discussion program sponsored by National Bank of Detroit and Citizens Research Council of Michigan.

The report analyzes the questionnaire responses from 53 early Forum meetings by age of the respondents, sex, education, area of residence and by whether they or their families had ever been victims of violent crime.

The questionnaires were completed during meetings of civic, religious and community groups, schools and companies throughout metropolitan Detroit.

"The fact that these people requested to participate in the Forum program and opinion survey may indicate a greater concern about crime than is true of the average citizen," said Gerald E. Warren, NBD first vice-president. "For this reason, their opinions may differ somewhat from those of the general public."

Over the next months, Mr. Warren said, the Forum will encourage the participation of thousands more citizens "in order to produce the level of feedback legislators and other officials need in formulating improvements in our criminal justice system."

"These are early returns and, while it is difficult to generalize, comparisons among the various demographic groups do show some definite patterns."

The survey found little difference in opinion based on amount of education. Similarly, men and women responded almost identically, except that women tended to be less likely than men to favor capital punishment and felt somewhat more strongly than men that jobs and education were necessary to solve the crime problem.

Those who said they had been victims of serious crime did not differ significantly from non-victims in most of their responses. And, particularly, victims were no more likely to favor mandatory minimum sentences or capital punishment.

The highest agreement among the demographic groups was reflected in questions addressed to getting criminals off the streets. From 80 to more than 90 percent of each demographic group favored mandatory minimum sentences for certain crimes, denial of bail and jailing of those arrested while on bail on a previous charge and consecutive sentencing for offenders convicted of several crimes.

But, while respondents favored such measures and other immediate approaches such as better police protection, a substantial majority of all groups felt the crime problem would not be solved until more jobs were provided and education improved. Asked whether rehabilitation should be the major goal of the corrections system, almost three-quarters of the 18- to 20-year-olds and two-thirds of the residents of predominantly black neighborhoods said "yes," while only half of those over 30 or from predominantly white neighborhoods agreed.

BE FAIR TO ALL
"Be just and fair to all, the Lord God says. Do what's right and good, for I am coming soon to rescue you. Blessed is the man who refuses to work during my Sabbath days of rest, but honors them; and blessed is the man who checks himself from doing wrong." (Isaiah 56: 1-2)

Belief in the deterrent effect of certain punishment was strongly a function of age and race. Only half of the respondents from predominantly black neighborhoods or under 18 felt certainty of punishment was a deterrent, while almost 90 percent of those residing in white neighborhoods or over 50 said it was.

This may indicate that, while black respondents strongly favored the concept of mandatory minimum sentences, they were more concerned with removing dangerous criminals from society than with any deterrent effect mandatory sentencing might have on potential criminals.

There was strong agreement that juveniles who commit serious crimes should be tried as adults, although this response was somewhat age related. About six out of 10 respondents under 18 agreed, while 90 percent of those over 50 agreed.

A majority of respondents in all categories were opposed to plea bargaining to avoid the expense of trial.

The question of capital punishment produced the strongest differences in opinion among respondents. Asked if the death penalty should be legalized in Michigan, almost two-thirds of the suburban respondents said it should.

However, those residing in black neighborhoods were split in their opinions: one third said "yes," another third answered "no" and the remaining third expressed no opinion—the highest "no opinion" response on the questionnaire.

Responses to the capital punishment question also varied according to age, with slightly fewer than half of those under 18 favoring it, slightly more than half of those 18-29 in favor and just over six out of 10 over 30 agreeing.

Asked whether they would vote for higher taxes, a solid majority of all demographic groups said they would pay higher taxes for improving employment opportunities, education and police. About half the respondents said they would spend more for prisons and for judges. Fewer than half said they would vote for higher taxes for welfare or social services.

A final report on questionnaire responses from Criminal Justice Forum meetings throughout Michigan will be released this March.

Community groups, companies, unions and other organizations wishing to conduct a Criminal Justice Forum and take part in the survey may call the Forum office at 225-2375.

What Goes On
Your Library

By Arthur Woodford
Chief of Central Library

One measure of a book's success is the number of weeks it appears on the best seller list. For this first column of 1977 I would like to share with you the 10 best-selling novels of 1976.

Number one on the best seller list for 1976, for a record 37 weeks, was Leon Uris' TRINITY, (Doubleday). Tracing out the interrelated lives of three representative families in the north of Ireland between the 1840's and 1916, Mr. Uris has produced a blockbuster of a novel. What emerges is a panorama of the era carefully populated "by figures from every point in the sociopolitical spectrum."

1876, (Random House), by Gore Vidal was on the best seller list for 25 weeks. As he was in Burr, journalist Charlie Schuyler is the narrator of 1876. Here the reader sees New York and Washington through the sardonic eyes of both a seasoned (Charlie at 62), and a fresh (his daughter, 35), observer. A vivid and enthralling picture of our country 100 years ago.

On the list for 24 weeks was Peter Benchley's THE DEEP (Doubleday). While skin diving on the Bermuda reefs, Gail and David Sanders discover a trove of medical supplies in a sunken ship worth $10 million on the illicit drug market. The discoverers are offered a million dollars for their find, with the threat of murder if they refuse.

Also on the list for 24 weeks was THE LONELY LADY, (Simon and Shuster), by Harold Robbins. At 17 Jerilee, (who wants to be a writer), marries Walter Thornton, a playwright. But he soon divorces her. Going from job to job and lover to lover she drifts quickly downward and has a mental breakdown. She recovers and in a few years is giving an acceptance speech for the best screenwriter Oscar. A typical Robbins potboiler.

A best seller for 23 weeks was Joseph Wambaugh's CHOIRBOYS, (Delacorte). Five sets of partners on the L.A. police force nightwatch elect to share some of their pre-dawn hours in MacArthur Park in relaxation, drink and sex sessions which they call "choir practice." For these men it is a release from the horrors of nightwatch, a way of trying to forget. But the memories and nightmares go with them.

Three books were tied for sixth place, each with 21 weeks on the best seller list: AGENT IN PLACE, (Harcourt), by Helen Mac Innes; DE LORES, (Morrow), by Jacqueline Susann; and STRANGER IN THE MIRROR, by Sidney Sheldon.

"AGENT IN PLACE" is a book of many characters and a labyrinthine plot. A NATO memorandum, the "New York Times," a Russian Agent, and a mistaken identity are all parts of the complicated plot which also includes murder, lost reputations and exciting encounters. All put together by seasoned pro Mac Innes in her competent fashion.

DE LORES is the tale of the widow of an assassinated U.S. President. In the second year of her widowhood Dolores emerges from her shell and finds "true love" with a dashing lawyer-politician. When he abandons her, Dolores agrees to a loveless marriage contract with a French tycoon. The short novel ends abruptly on Dolores' wedding night. The Susann style has the knack of convincing readers that they are right on the scene with the beautiful people.

In STRANGER IN THE MIRROR, (Morrow), Toby Temple has made it in Hollywood as a top comic when he marries Jan Castle. Though she is struggling at the lower fringes of show biz, their marriage becomes a model. But Jill is vindictive and uses Toby to get revenge on the people who exploited her. Slickly written, this one is full of graphic sex and inside show biz lore.

Written in the 1940's, Curtain was the last of the Hercule Poirot mysteries. Poirot and the faithful Hastings, both old and decrepit, are again at Styles, the scene of the first Poirot novel. Styles has also fallen on evil days and has become a kind of boarding house seething with murderable people. The question is: who is the one to be murdered? A real treat for Agatha Christie fans.

In tenth place, 18 weeks on the best seller list, is Mary Stewart's TOUCH NOT THE CAT, (Morrow). Bryony Ashley has the gift of perception passed down through her long family history back to the Tudors along with Ashley Court which goes to the nearest male heir at her father's too sudden death. Returning to the mansion, Bryony finds evidence of theft, crimes which confirm her suspicions that all is not what it seems to be. This is a literate and utterly engrossing melodrama.

Directory Lists Many Wildlife Groups

Do you need the telephone number of the Moosehorn National Wildlife Refuge in Maine or want to know how to reach the North American Falconers Association? The information will be available January 1 in the 1977 edition of the Conservation Directory, published by the National Wildlife Federation, (NWF), as an educational service.

In its 22nd year of publication, the Conservation Directory provides the nation's most comprehensive listing of organizations, private citizens and government leaders concerned with conservation and the environment.

As a new feature, the directory lists by state U.S. National Wildlife Refuges by address, manager's name and telephone number.

Gloria H. Decker, editor of the Conservation Directory, said the 230-page environmental conservation reference handbook is "a must for anyone interested in communicating with conservationists."

The directory includes listings for approximately 1,500 organizations and more than 9,500 persons.

NWF has updated the listings for federal and state governments, states' citizens groups, national organizations and interstate and international commissions and organizations. A separate section identifies Canadian federal and provincial agencies and citizens' groups.

Other listings include the following:

- Congressional committees active in the conservation and natural resource fields.
- Major colleges and universities offering professional training in conservation and environmental careers.
- Conservation periodicals and directories.
- Audio-visual and bibliographic references.
- Foreign government conservation or environment offices.
- An alphabetized index of conservation officials and leaders.

All the organizations listed include address, telephone number and various offices and the officials to contact.

The 1977 Conservation Directory, published by the nation's largest conservation education organization, can be obtained for $3, (including postage and handling) by writing Conservation Directory, National Wildlife Federation, 1412 16th St., N.W., Washington, D.C., 20036.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Smokers—your help is needed! We are in a spot—we admire your physical ability and want to join in; we hate to have to sit home and await the grim reaper. We are the "unoxxygen" group!

Some of us have hearts that do not pump as well as they should, so they need air with a full percentage of oxygen, and not overburdened with smog and smoke.

The trouble with others is inadequate lungs, some damaged by tuberculosis or the removal of tumors, others with asthma, emphysema and allergy. All need the purest air that can be found. A bad air stagnation or smog condition always eliminates a lot of us with "lung conditions."

ONLY THEORY
"Only a theoretical deity is left to any man who has ceased to commune with God, and a theoretical deity saves no man from sin and disheartenment"—Harri Emerson Fosdick

With some people, the lungs and bronchi produce a protective coating when exposed to certain irritants, including smoke and smog. That coating can become so thick that it stops up the passages and can suffocate if it is not quickly expelled. Our expulsion power, unfortunately, is way down.

None of us can walk upside down to drain the bronchi of our lungs. Doctors and hospitals have things that can help before it is too late. It is critical, therefore, that all of us in the "oxygen needed" group keep away from contamination. Help us, please!

We do not hate you because you smoke; about 90 percent of us smoked. We enjoyed it, but now it is unreal to think that enjoyment could have been worth what we are going through now!

We do feel very sorry for those of you who will finally become victims of your own poison and pollution, through cancer or strangulation. Watson I. Ford, Of McKinley Avenue, Grosse Pointe Farms

Plan to Restore Chapel
At Elmwood Cemetery

The Board of Trustees of Elmwood Cemetery—the oldest nonsectarian cemetery in Detroit which recently was the scene of extensive vandalism and a fire which gutted its 121-year-old chapel—have established the Elmwood Chapel Restoration fund to raise the money necessary to restore the chapel to its original grace.

A minimum goal of $200,000 has been set by the board. Architects and historic restoration experts are working on plans and details to restore the chapel. The chapel and cemetery have been designated an official historic site by the Michigan History

Division of the Department of State and an historic marker will be emplaced there soon.

Buried at Elmwood are six former governors as well as some of Detroit's most prominent blacks who played major roles in the early struggle for freedom from slavery.

Reverend Monroe, George De Baptiste and William Lambert, who was manager of Detroit's Underground Railroad, the Alger family, the Russells and Governor Lewis Cass, all are among the black and white community leaders whose graves were desecrated.

According to Henry Ledyard, president of the Elmwood Cemetery Board of Trustees, "We are determined that the vandals of our time must not be permitted to obliterate the cherished objects of our past."

Contributions to the Chapel Restoration fund are fully tax deductible and can be made in any amount. Checks should be made payable to the Elmwood Cemetery Chapel Restoration Fund and sent to: Elmwood Chapel Restoration Fund, c/o Detroit Bank & Trust, P.O. Box 59, Detroit 48231.

Let's start the New Year off with music . . . and report that three young Pointers, all majoring in Music, will perform this Sunday, January 9, at 10:30 o'clock at Old Christ Church, adjacent to Renaissance Center.

Fred Parcells, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Parcells, Jr., of Cloverly road, is studying trombone at the New England Conservatory of Music. He will play an unaccompanied Suite of Bach prior to the service.

Elizabeth Gregory, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Calvin Schorer, of Bedford road, recently was graduated with honors with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Music from Wayne State University. She studies flute with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's Clement J. Barone.

Constance Hintzen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Heiaz Hintzen, of Ridgemont road, is a Wayne State undergraduate, studying viola with Nathan Gordon, principal violist of the Detroit Symphony, and voice with Elsie Inselman.

Both young women are members of the Old Christ Church Choir. They will perform a duet by Handel, Miss Hintzen singing the soprano solo, Miss Gregory playing the flute obligato.

The choir will perform a portion of the Epiphany Cantata from Bach's "Christmas Oratorio," and the spiritual "Behold the Star," featuring Fay Blakely Washington as soprano soloist.

Following the service, there will be an opportunity to purchase tickets for the Epiphany Cantata.

Short and to The Pointe

Festivities began with cocktails at the University Club in Miami Friday, December 10, and continued the next day with a barbecue supper at son ROGER'S Coconut Grove home as some 200 people gathered to honor former Pointer ALVIN G. SHERMAN on his 90th birthday. Al and his wife, ALBERTINE OSIUS SHERMAN, moved to Florida in the early 50's, upon his retirement after a career that saw him president of the Detroit Vapor Stove Company at age 22. His list of patents is extraordinary, ranging from a design for life boats used in two world wars to the invention of an automatic ice machine. His extensive travels have taken him all over Europe and he has the distinction of walking up the Leaning Tower of Pisa twice — fifty years apart.

DR. F. MULLEN BARRETT, of Touraine road, has been elected president of the Federation of Orthodontic Associations.

Grosse Pointe North High School graduate MICHAEL MURPHY, daughter of the CHARLES B. MURPHYS, of Chalfonte avenue, has been tapped by Epsilon Delta Alpha in recognition of her outstanding scholastic achievement at Hillsdale College, where she is a senior. The honor is presented only to those students who have attained a cumulative average of 3.5 or better in a minimum of 40 semester hours of work in courses credited toward a Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science degree.

Garden Slides For Deeplands

Mrs. Vernon Landry will present her husband's "Slides of Grosse Pointe Gardens," featuring the 1976 Grosse Pointe Garden Tour, at Deeplands Garden Club's meeting Monday, January 10, at noon in the Woodbridge drive home of Mrs. Robert Schlaff. Mrs. Elizabeth Dulmage is co-hostess.

Detroit Alliance Francaise to Fete Yves Coffin

The Alliance Francaise de Detroit will introduce Yves Coffin, new Consul General of France to Detroit, to members of the metropolitan area's French-speaking community this Saturday, January 8, at a 2 to 4 o'clock reception at the Detroit Athletic Club.

M. Coffin, an accomplished linguist, (he speaks English, German and Japanese, in addition to his native tongue), is married to an Indonesian novelist. They have two children.

Mme. Coffin will be joining her husband in Detroit in June, when the children complete their school term in France.

During World War II, M. Coffin was a member of the Resistance, later a parachutist in the French forces. Post-war he served as an interpreter, first in Vienna, then in Berlin until 1954, when he joined the French Foreign Ministry.

Diplomatic postings have taken him to Australia, Indonesia, Japan, Cambodia, The Philippines and Vietnam. His last commission was in Paris.

His hobbies of photography and archaeology have earned him recognition from both the United Nations and the Dutch Government as an expert on Khmer sculpture. His documentary book of photographs on Khmer sculpture will soon be published.

Among members of the Alliance Francaise de Detroit greeting M. Coffin at the DAC will be Mrs. Frank Kruse, Detroit Alliance president, James M. Barnes, president emeritus, Mrs. Adolph Brane, Edward B. Mott, William Boslick, Muriel Robinson, Frederick Osten, Mrs. Stanley Winkeleman, Renee Rothschild and Mrs. Charles A. Blessing.

Jennifer Tobin, membership secretary, accepted reservations for the reception through last Tuesday, January 4.

The 11:45 o'clock luncheon, co-sponsored by the Heart of Gold Award Council and Women for the United Foundation, is open to the public. More than 2,000 metropolitan area residents are expected to attend.

Tickets at $7.50 per person may be obtained by calling WUF at 965-7100, Extension 261, before Tuesday, January 25.

Some 113 nominations for

A panel of community leaders will select the finalists January 19.

Each Heart of Gold winner receives the traditional gold, heart-shaped charm, symbolizing extraordinary community service during the past year.

Chairman of the Heart of Gold Award Council is Mrs. David K. Easlick, of Balfour road. Vice chairman is Mrs. Wilbur H. Boutell, of Bloomfield Hills. Both are members of the WUF board of directors.

Little Traveling Music for Mary

Two trips — over 10,000 miles — in less than three weeks took Mary Duenweg from Devonshire road to her former California home cities, Pasadena and Beverly Hills, with time out in between to celebrate the holidays in Grosse Pointe where "Chez Louis" master-in-residence Lou Duenweg, (Mary's husband), gathered their friends together to "catch Mary on the fly," delighting everyone with an amateur rendition of his new theme song—an original but definitely NOT a masterpiece—entitled "Home for the Holidays" or "Having It Both Ways," (Grosse Pointe and California).

Miss Stainsby Wed in West

At a double ring ceremony Saturday, September 18, in Saint Catherine's Anglican Church, North Vancouver, B.C., Elizabeth Anne Stainsby and James Robert Young exchanged marriage vows.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Dent Stainsby, former Farms residents who now make their home in North Vancouver, is a graduate of Grosse Pointe South High School and the University of Michigan.

The bridegroom, who also received his degree from the University of Michigan last May, is the son of Mrs. Wesley Young, of Paw Paw, and the late Mr. Young.

For the rites at which The Reverend Ian Grant officiated, the former Miss Stainsby, given in marriage by her father, chose a candlelight gown of embroidered organza trimmed with Venise lace.

Seed pearls and lace accented her ivory veil. She carried coral Sonja roses, stephanotis and baby's-breath with ivory satin streamers.

Patricia Stainsby, honor maid for her sister, wore a long gown of coral silk jersey, with a short cape, and carried a nosegay of pale yellow daisy chrysanthemums and baby's-breath, with coral satin streamers. Charles Young was best

DIA Features Greek Vases

Hydria, amphora, kylix, krater are more than words in crossword puzzles. They become realities from the ancient world in a special exhibition of Greek vase painting at the Detroit Institute of Arts running Wednesday, January 5, through Wednesday, March 2.

The loan of 25 outstanding examples from the Boston Museum of Fine Arts covers a broad range of time and place, from sixth century B.C. Athens to South Italy of the late fourth century. Early Black-figure and later Red-figure vases are included.

To the Greeks, the decoration of ceramic vessels was an important art form. The best painted vessels were considered luxury items, prized by their owners and even more highly regarded by today's collectors.

Expressive design covered their curving surfaces with a multitude of personalities and action.

Religious and mythological episodes, battle scenes, sporting events and daily domestic routines are rendered with care and attention to exact detail, giving the modern viewer a vibrant glimpse of life in the ancient world.

Decorative never overwhelmed functional design. The graceful contours of the vases were shaped to their various purposes: the hydria for carrying water, with two horizontal handles for lifting and a third for controlled pouring; the amphora, a sturdy, large urn for storing oil and grain; the kylix, a two-handled shallow drinking cup; the wide-mouth krater for mixing wine and water, because wine was not consumed "straight."

During this exhibition in the Rivera Court, museum visitors have a unique opportunity to sample Boston's fine collection acquired over the past 100 years.

man for his brother, Mark Fromberg and Stuart Harrison, both of North Vancouver, seated the guests.

The mother of the bride wore a long-sleeved, formal length, coral and green floral-patterned gown. The bridegroom's mother chose a long sleeved, royal blue knit.

After a reception in the Fireside Room of the Canyon Gardens Restaurant, the newlyweds left to vacation on Kuai, Hawaii. They are making their home in Arlington, Va. Mr. Young is associated with a Washington, D.C., law firm.

Betrothed

Planning to be married during next year's Christmas holidays are DEBRA IRENE STENZEL and Peter Paul Joseph Tocco, Jr., whose engagement has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold H. Stenzel, of Woods lane.

The bride-elect was graduated from Grosse Pointe North High School and attended Sibyl's School of Cosmetology.

Mr. Tocco, a Grosse Pointe South High School alumnus, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Paul Tocco, of Lakepointe avenue.

Offer Opera Presentation

The Detroit Grand Opera Association, sponsors of the Metropolitan Opera's annual spring tour to Detroit's Masonic Auditorium, will offer an eight-week course on Metropolitan Opera Week in co-operation with University Courses in Adult Education.

Classes will run Wednesday evenings, beginning January 26, from 7 to 8:30 o'clock at the Rackham Memorial. Course fee is $25. Registration information may be obtained by calling the University Center for Adult Education, 577-4665.

Instructor will be Marjorie Gordon, founder and managing director of the Piccolo Opera Company. Miss Gordon, a lyric coloratura, is an adjunct professor of Voice at Wayne State University. She has been a leading singer with the New York City Opera Company and others in the United States and abroad.

The first session is designed to acquaint students with the general background of opera. Ensuing meetings will feature in-depth analysis of the seven operas to be presented by the Met in Detroit this spring, recorded excerpts and slides from the Met's collection on current repertoire, and professional singers demonstrating what opera is all about.

Tickets for all performances during Detroit's Metropolitan Opera Week, May 23 through 28, are available by calling the DGOA at 965-2940 for a ticket order brochure.

To Marry

At a party at their White Road home, Mr. and Mrs. Walter V. McNiece announced the engagement of their daughter MARIANNE ROSE McNiece to James Carmody Goffredson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Goffredson, of Grosse Pointe boulevard. An August 12 wedding is planned.

The bride-elect, a Grosse Pointe South High School alumna, attended St. Mary's College, Notre Dame, Ind., and will be graduated in June from Michigan State University, where she is majoring in Retailing. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma social sorority.

Her fiancé, a graduate of Austin Catholic Prep School and Boston College, is studying for his Masters degree in Business Administration at Cornell University.

J. F. Thomas Weds in South

Saint Gregory's Episcopal Church, Boca Raton, Fla., was the setting Saturday, December 18, for the wedding of Diane Beth Huopana and former Pointer Jeffrey Frank Thomas, son of Mrs. William Howard, of Stevensville, Mich., and John C. Thomas, of Hillsboro Beach, Fla., and grandson of former Pointers Mr. and Mrs. William J. Thomas, who now make their home in Boca Raton.

A reception at the Boca Raton home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Huopana, followed the 1:30 o'clock rites at which The Reverend Robert W. Switz presided.

Mrs. Dan Weatherly came from Memphis, Tenn., to serve as her sister's honor matron. Bridesmaids were Patti Huopana, another sister, Krisanne Prince, of Jupiter, Fla., and Lisa Withall.

Best man was Timothy Wahl. Ushers were Duff Kervis, Belford S. Lester, III, and John C. Thom, of Ludlow, Ky.

The newlyweds, vacationing in New Orleans, will be making their home at Fort Benning, Ga., while the bridegroom is stationed there with the United States Army.

He was graduated from Stevensville's Lakeshore High School and attended Albion College and Florida Atlantic University, Boca Raton. The former Miss Huopana, a Boca Raton High School graduate, attended the University of Florida, Gainesville.

Two To Be Cited At Sweetheart Ball

Thomas A. Murphy and Monsignor Clement Kern Will Be Honored As Humanitarians of Year at March of Dimes Gala

Thomas A. Murphy, chairman of the board of directors of General Motors, and Monsignor Clement Kern, pastor of Detroit's Holy Trinity Church, will be honored as Humanitarians of the Year at the Metropolitan Detroit March of Dimes' annual Sweetheart Ball Saturday, February 12, at Raleigh House.

Each from his unique vantage point has been able to contribute generously of his time and abilities to work toward the betterment of society.

Each is a thoughtful man committed to ideals and goals.

The distance between the highest office within the largest corporation in the world and the simple surroundings of Holy Trinity Church in Corktown is diminished by each man's concern for his fellow man.

Actress Jane Wyatt will be a special guest at the gala event. Television personality Vic Caputo will serve as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Frank S. (Phyllis) Marra, chairwoman of the Fifth Annual Sweetheart Ball given for the benefit of the Metropolitan Detroit March of Dimes, has her committee

Let's Talk Real Estate

by John E. Brink

We talked with the "Security Officer" of the Indian Village Association recently! We did this because we were very interested in hearing his views regarding the value of the Indian Village Association. We were quite pleasantly surprised—actually amazed!

These people are more than just an association—they have formed a very powerful force of togetherness that spells out "STAY AWAY" to undesirables. Each night one of these three hundred home owners patrols the neighborhood. When any of them are out late, they cruise around the area before finally turning in. Each homeowner has a whistle for emergency use. "Does it work?" we asked. "Well, just the other night we heard a whistle blowing. It was at the end of the street near a commercial store. Instantaneously, about seventy of us piled out of our homes—one guy in his bath robe carrying a shotgun, converged on the store. When the robber saw us coming he froze and waited there with his hands up—scared to death. About thirty minutes later the police came to the scene!"

Then it all became clear to me. The association actually is just a group of homeowners like everyone else! They have told one and all that they will not stand for crime in their area. If you were a hungry robber would you pick their neighborhood—or the next one over? That's right—that's how it works.

Grosse Pointe Real Estate Co. 882-0087 is now working on a project—soon to be announced to all the world that we feel we'll offer even more for the community than the Indian Village Community Association. Were excited about it. We need more honest respectable salespeople. If you know of any please have them contact us.

MARGARET GJEBIC, OF VERNIER ROAD

By Donna Moran

Margaret Gjebic is a short, attractive blonde who is more at home in a lab coat than in a mink. She's a medical technologist at Hutzel Hospital, and spends her days, (and some evenings, too), analyzing blood samples in the hope of finding a cure for Sickle Cell Anemia.

Her co-workers know Margaret as a steady, reliable worker, and honored her recently at a dinner at the Pontchartrain for 10 years of dedicated service to Hutzel. Margaret tosses this off lightly.

"From the bottom of the heap — to the Top of the Ponch." Anybody can do this, in America."

None can wave the stars and stripes with more fervor than Margaret Gjebic. She remembers other times and other places where the freedom to succeed, on one's own merits, is not known. She is Hungarian, with a story to tell.

Begged Every Saturday "When I was a child," she says, "Thanksgiving was every Saturday. There was no such thing as government subsistence, or welfare, or Medicaid, or Medicare."

"Every Saturday, the beggars and the gypsies and the old and the lame went from door to door. The people who had food and clothes were so grateful they gave to those who had nothing. That was our Thanksgiving."

"On the other hand," she adds, "the people who were employed got something that we don't get in America. They got 12 paychecks, one for each month of the year. But every Christmas, as a bonus, they got a 13th paycheck . . . and naturally they were quite happy about this."

In 1949 Margaret was a student at the University in Zagreb, Yugoslavia. She had three-and-a-half years of medical training, and planned to become a doctor.

Her plans were interrupted because she refused to join the Communist Party. She was told "If you're not with us, you're against us."

No Place To Go Her school registration book was stamped with the following words, "Dismissed from school — without the right to return to any school in this country."

As if this were not enough, as a Hungarian citizen, she had to have the government's permission to leave the city. The government would not grant this, and there were no jobs for people who did not belong to the Communist Party.

In those times, and in that place, the only way for a non-communist to survive was to work for the Black Market. Margaret is a survivor, so she did what she had to do.

Two years later, for an unknown reason, she was given permission to leave Zagreb and was sent to a Displaced Persons camp in the Free Territory of Trieste. It was there that she married a handsome Croatian, Vladimir, and became pregnant shortly thereafter.

Life in the camp was boring. Everyone was waiting to be sent somewhere. Nobody knew where.

Takes Outside Job Margaret took a job on the "outside," doing housework for an Italian family. It passed the time while she waited for an "angel" to come along to change her life.

Margaret has had many "angels" to help her along the way. The first one appeared in the form of The Maltese Cross Organization, offering to pay the fare for Margaret and her husband to go to Canada, where her parents had emigrated earlier. It was a miracle come true.

leaders? She looked in vain for an opera house. She haunted drugstores with a sense of wonderment. "In Europe," she says, "pharmacies sold only medicines. In Canada and America, you can buy everything there but a horse."

'58 Was Bad Year The year 1958 was a bleak one at the Gjebic household. Vladimir was out of work, the rent was overdue every month, and the milkman stopped leaving milk. It was time for another "angel" to make an appearance, although Margaret was losing faith in such things.

One wintry day, she bundled herself up and went to an employment agency.

"Please," she begged the manager, "get me a job. I am strong, I am healthy. I will do anything to earn an honest living."

"Sorry," was the cold reply. "Your English is too poor. Unless you can speak English like a native, there is no job for you."

Doctor's Wife Helps Discouraged and in tears, Margaret left the agency and walked the short distance to her eye doctor's office, to have her glasses checked. Mrs. Davison, the doctor's wife, was the receptionist. She was Margaret's next "angel."

Mrs. Davison was a good listener, and after hearing Margaret's tearful tale she got busy on the telephone. The next day Margaret had a job, working midnights in the first aid room at Carling's Black Label Brewery. Between putting on band-aids and wrapping up cut fingers, she studied her English books.

Another "angel," a Mr. Pulford who was an engineer with the company, helped her with this. He sat patiently and listened while she practiced her English phrases on him. Sometimes he laughed at her efforts and sometimes he criticized, but he was always there, willing to help.

Gets Inspiration

Two-and-a-half years later, the brewery closed. Once again Margaret knew what it was to owe the milkman.

She pondered her plight and tried to figure out what she had to offer the world. Shouldn't education count for something? It must. Somehow, it must.

In a burst of inspiration, she gathered together her university transcripts and boarded a tunnel bus, for Detroit and Wayne State University.

She found her way to the Medical School and "plopped" her transcripts on the desk of Dr. Paul Wolfe. He was to be her next "angel," but she didn't know it at the time.

"What can I do with these credits?" she asked him. "How can I earn a living?"

Dr. Wolfe looked them over very carefully, then replied, "I think you should go into Medical Technology. I'll arrange an internship for you at Hutzel Hospital."

Margaret was overjoyed. She interned for a year and was paid $100 a month while in training. She loved her work, and the people there, and wanted to stay on, but her one-year visa expired, and she had to return to Canada.

Once again, Dr. Wolfe entered the picture. He found her a job in Windsor, at the Imperial Order of Daughters of England Hospital. Margaret worked there for two-and-a-half years. Times were better now.

Short and to The Pointe

Grosse Pointe North High School graduate DAVE MARSTILLER, son of the DAVID W. MARSTILLERS, of Hampton road, was tapped by Omicron Delta Kappa, a recognition extended to junior and senior men who have done outstanding work in fields such as scholarship, publications, speech, music, drama, religious and social affairs, at Hillsdale College's fall honors assembly. Dave is a Hillsdale junior.

Among 180 Western Michigan University student artists participating in "Proud Music of the Storm," a multi-media presentation based on the writings of Walt Whitman, were LESLIE HIRT, of Balfour road, RICHARD E. SUHR, of Paget court, and MARK PALMS, of Notre Dame avenue.

Winner of one of 40 Western Michigan University Waldo Snagren Scholarships for 1976-77, awarded on the basis of maintaining a grade point average of 3.2 out of a possible 4.0 and submission of an innovative and constructive project, is senior SEBASTIAN J. BUFFA, son of the SEBASTIAN A. BUFFAS, of Balfour road.

University Liggett graduate SUE HINDLE, daughter of the WILLIAM HINDLES, of Hawthorne road, led the field hockey team in scoring this season at Western Michigan University, where she is a junior Physical Education major.

Among those who received Honorable Mention in the second annual Michigan Wildlife Art Awards competition, sponsored by the Cranbrook Institute of Science and supported by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, open to all Michigan high school students, was Our Lady Star of the Sea's MARY BETH PICCIRELLI.

Wayne State University Professor ROBERT A. PICCIRELLI, of Fairway drive, and a social science Professor CHARLES B. LEFFERT, of Troy, are heading research on how best to utilize energy generated from fusion for future production of hydrogen and combustible fuels, under a $12,000 WSU College of Engineering Energy Center agreement with Physical Dynamics, Inc.

Grosse Pointe South High School graduate DENISE CARTY, daughter of MR. and MRS. JAMES CARTY, of Buckingham road, an Economics and Spanish major at Albion College, has been selected for the first team of the Michigan College Field Hockey Association.

Among more than 70 members of Bryn Mawr College's nationwide alumnae network who gathered on-campus recently to learn more about Bryn Mawr today, and to make future plans, was GILLIAN PEARSON STEINHAUER, of Bishop road, District VI Selection Committee member.

Navy Seaman Recruit WILLIAM E. LIVINGSTON, son of the NORMAN J. LIVINGSTONS, of Yorkshire road, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

JOHN H. LOVE, son of MR. and MRS. JOHN W. LOVE, of Southfield place, has been admitted to the Michigan State Bar, sworn in November 15, in Macomb County Circuit Court, and is currently associated with a Warren law firm. The Austin Prep School graduate received his Bachelors degree

Still Another Angel Then, one day, another "angel" arrived on the scene. Dr. Booth called from Hutzel Hospital to offer Margaret a higher-paying position. He thought that, with the new immigration laws in effect, she could get a new visa.

Miracles happen very fast, and Margaret quickly found herself back among the test tubes at Hutzel. She's been there ever since.

She's grateful to be able to work in freedom in America, where no one asks what political party you belong to unless they want your vote. She's grateful, too, for the many "angels" who have helped her along the way.

Only in America, she says, can one go "from the bottom of the heap to the Top of the Ponch."

Male Voices Wanted

The Judelairens, an established choral group directed by De Shaheen, of Yorkshire road, will be presenting their annual show, "Broadway Bouquet," in the spring: Sunday, May 22, to be exact.

Rehearsals start soon, and the group needs tenors and basses who are able to read music or pick up parts easily. Anyone interested is invited to call 885-1389 or 882-8792 for further information.

Stage manager for "Broadway Bouquet" will be Mary Lou Mantho. Show proceeds enable the judelairens to sing at nursing homes, residential and rehabilitation centers and other places where their programs are eagerly anticipated.

Needed: One Operetta Volunteer

Casting is complete for Michigan Opera Theatre's production of "Naughty Marietta," opening January 14 at Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts—with one exception.

Anybody know a burro, (live), who would be willing to appear in the opening scene of the operetta?

"It's a 'walk on-walk off' part," says David DiChiera, MOT's general director, "and the burro will be costumed in a charming hat and bundles of straw baskets. We hope to find a tenor, but a baritone, bass, soprano or mezzo would be acceptable. "Stage experience is helpful, but not necessary."

The burro will be needed for the final dress rehearsal next Thursday, January 13, and for performances January 14, 15, 16, 19, (matinee), 21 and 22.

Interested burros—or friends of burros—may call 963-3717 for further information.

'Crashing the Sound Barrier'

The first of 1977's three Detroit Symphony Preludes, "Crashing the Sound Barrier," is right around the corner, set for Friday, January 28, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

It will feature Paul Freeman, DSO conductor-in-residence, discussing recording the Symphony in the '70s.

Information on how to get tickets for Mr. Freeman's program, and reservations for the subscription luncheon following it, and information on the remaining two mini-musicals/luncheons in the series sponsored annually by the DSO Women's Association, may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Leonard C. Hopkins, 779-9638.

Phase I Plans Full Weekend

Tom Kelly, of the Grosse Pointe Farms Police Department, will be guest speaker this Sunday, January 9, at the regular meeting of Phase I, an all-singles group, at 7:45 o'clock at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. A social hour follows the program. Mr. Kelly will discuss personal safety and crime prevention, and the use of residence alarms. All singles between the ages of 20 and 39 are invited to attend.

Phase I has an evening of volleyball planned for tomorrow, Friday, January 7, starting at 7:30 o'clock in Memorial Church's Fellowship Hall. No experience is necessary to participate in this activity, designed simply for fun and a chance to meet and make new friends.

Further information on the group may be obtained by contacting Gust Jahnke at the church, 882-5330.
