UNDER PRESSURE FROM liberal Democrats, the Carter administration indicated Tuesday that it may expand its $31.2 billion economic recovery program if the brutal winter retards long-term growth. This may include an increase in the proposed $50 tax rebate for most Americans. Charles L. Schultze, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said a crash study is underway to estimate the impact of job losses and higher fuel bills resulting from the frigid weather.

IF AN AIRLINE loses your luggage after April 18, you will be able to collect up to $750 instead of the current maximum of $500, the Civil Aeronautics Board, (CAB), ruled Thursday. The CAB also expanded the rule to include charter airlines and certain helicopter services. It now applies only to domestic trunk and local service carriers. The CAB said it was acting in response to a rising tide of consumer complaints.

A CROWDED ELEVATED train hit the rear of another in Chicago's Loop at the peak of the rush hour Friday night, sending two packed cars to the street, 20 feet below, and leaving two other cars hanging from the tracks. A fire department spokesman said 16 deaths were confirmed with 200 persons injured, some critically. The derailment occurred as the el tracks were jammed with trains carrying Loop office and shop workers home for the night. Each car involved contained 50-75 persons.

PRESIDENT CARTER declared storm-battered Buffalo, N.Y., a major disaster area Saturday and the National Weather Service canceled its warning that a new winter storm was on the way to land yet another paralyzing grip on the Lake Erie city. In his disaster declaration for nine counties in New York state — unprecedented because an area never before has been given major disaster status because of snowstorms — the president noted Buffalo's near-paralysis.

IN A MASSIVE DISPLAY of anti-government sentiment, 200,000 persons in New Delhi, India, roared approval Sunday as opposition leaders urged the ouster of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi in March's parliamentary elections. The orderly, enthusiastic crowd cheered wildly Jagjivan Ram, leader of a rebellion in the ruling Congress Party, and Jayaprakash Narayan, a disciple of independence leader Mahatma Gandhi, denounced the prime minister's 11-year reign and her 19-month emergency suspension of Indian democracy.

SEVEN WHITE ROMAN Catholic missionaries, including four nuns, were lined up and shot in a guerrilla attack in Salisbury, Rhodesia, Sunday night. The massacre stunned Christian church groups in Rhodesia and brought an expression of "profound grief" from Pope Paul. Officials said it was the worst group killing of whites in four years of war by black guerrillas against Rhodesia's white government. One survivor of the shooting said the executions occurred inside the compound of their mission school by guerrillas who argued over who would do the shooting.

A flock of multi-colored balloons bobbed up into a bright blue sky on Monday afternoon, February 7, as third grade students of Saint Clare de Montefalco School helped celebrate Catholic School Week. School officials announced the person finding the balloon which travels farthest from the school will receive a prize. Other scheduled events for the week include an open house, speakers, posters and neighborhood help projects.

FBI Seeks Extortion Case Clues

Bungled Attempt Involved City Woman,
Her Son; Man Demanded $10,000
in Incident

Mystery still shrouds last month's bungled extortion attempt involving a City woman, employed as a teller at the St. Clair branch of National Bank of Detroit, and her young son.

The FBI is looking for clues to the identity of the man who called the bank employee on Friday, January 21, demanding $10,000 ransom for the safe return of her son.

The woman told police a man called her at 11:20 a.m. and said he was holding her son. He said she should put $10,000 in a bag and go outside the bank where there were more instructions in a red box.

All Are Safe
"Do this if you want to see your son again," he allegedly told her.

At the southeast corner of the building, a red and black Sears popcorn box was found, containing explicit instructions on how the ransom should be delivered.

By that time, bank employees had contacted the schools each of the woman's children attend, and confirmed they were safe.

Jury Finds Farms Man Guilty on Three Counts Of Assault and Battery

Rowdy Crowd Applauds Verdict Which Stems from Snowballing Incident Last Month;
Sentencing Scheduled for February 9

By Tom Greenwood

A jury of four women and two men found Russell Harte, of 435 Manor road, guilty on three counts of assault and battery in the snowballing of his neighbor.

A single outburst of applause sounded in The Farms courtroom Monday night, February 7, as the verdict was read.

Harte has been held in The Farms jail on a $10,000 bond on the misdemeanor charge since his arrest Saturday, January 8. Farms Police Chief Robert K. Ferber said the high bond was asked for in this case because of "numerous, previous complaints against this man."

Packed Courtroom
The trial over "CCSB" (carrying a concealed snowball), as one courtroom was put it, was the culmination of a three-and-a-half year feud between Harte and his Manor road neighbors.

Harte, 33, who describes himself as a "companion" to 80-year-old Mrs. Lucy Steffens, was arrested by Farms police on January 8 when he went to the police station to complain that his neighbor, Robert Pattyn, was trying to poison him, his two sons and Mrs. Steffens, with excessive auto exhaust fumes.

Mr. Pattyn, of 439 Manor road, swore out a complaint against Harte the previous day after being pelted by two snowballs thrown by Harte.

It also was established that many of Harte's neighbors wanted him removed from the neighborhood because they believed he was violating city ordinances by living with Mrs. Steffens.

Faces Litigation
In a previous interview, Harte maintained he had a working relationship with (Continued on Page 6)

GPEA Votes To Support Elections

Board of Delegates Passes Resolution Backing
ing School, Library Millage

By Susan McDonald

Grosse Pointe teachers will be among the many groups supporting the renewal of school millage taxes in the Saturday, March 12, elections.

The Grosse Pointe Education Assoc., (GPEA), board of delegates passed a resolution Monday, February 7, "to encourage all citizens of the Pointe to vote yes on millage propositions March 12."

GPEA President Doris Cook said the proposition was overwhelmingly approved in a voice vote by the 65-member board, representing teachers from each of the schools.

Can Balance Budget
The Board of Education seeks approval of 2.2 mills, school, and .11 of a mill, library, taxes for three years.

Both those tax rates were approved for one year last spring, along with four-year, 24.35 school and 1.31 library mills. (One mill equals $1 for every $1,000 of State Equalized Valuation.)

Approval of both propositions will provide revenue for a full continuation of school programs and staff ratios, according to Superintendent Dr. William Coats.

With the 26.55 mills rate, the Board can balance its budget during the next three years by staying within an annual growth rate of seven percent, according to Board figures.

Rejection of the school tax by voters would force the administration to layoff as many as 90 teachers in order to trim $1.1 million from their budget, Dr. Coats said.

As they are still working without a contract for the present school year, Mrs. Cook said the teachers found themselves in a rather difficult position on the millage question.

Work for Passage
"Although the delegates obviously felt we should do all we can to support the millage, they do not endorse the seven percent budget growth the Board proposed over the next couple of years."

Mrs. Cook said the teachers will work during their off hours for passage of the proposals, though she said they have no specific campaign plans yet.

Advice Offered On Conservation By Businessman

Heating, Refrigeration Specialist Gives Suggestions to Aid Citizens in Remaining As Comfortable As Possible During Cold Spell

By George Polgar Jr.

The big question this winter is "How to dial down and still live comfortably?" Bob Williams, an east side heating and refrigeration specialist, is counseling his customers on some new and not-so-new ways of coping with the cold.

The first step in making the best use of heating fuel, according to Mr. Williams, is to correct those conditions in the home which are responsible for considerable heat loss directly from the body.

"If a home is well insulated and has the proper humidity, there is no reason for 65 degrees to be too cold for most people," said Mr. Williams.

Devices Viewed

"We lose a lot of body heat through simple evaporation or perspiration. If we can compensate for that loss by keeping up the humidity in our homes, the cooler temperatures will be more bearable."

Body heat lost through radiation can be retained by having a well insulated home. Mr. Williams explained that by sitting near a cold wall of a poorly insulated home, body heat is drained away.

Both humidifiers and home insulation material are widely available and easy to operate and install.

Because of the current freeze and fuel shortage, two heat saving devices have attracted interest. The chimney cheater and chimney lock are not really new inventions and have, in fact, been in use in Europe and Canada for years.

According to advertisements for the chimney cheater, 50 percent of the heat generated by most furnaces escapes up the chimney. This device is basically a filtration system which supposedly recycles heat that otherwise escapes with smoke.

Gases Escape

"The makers of this machine claim that it will save you 12-15 percent in fuel consumption," said Mr. Williams. "Since the chimney cheater is attached between the furnace and the chimney, the heat it returns can be blown directly into the basement or can be ducted to hard-to-heat areas of the home."

Jaycees Set Paper Drive

The Grosse Pointe Jaycees will be picking up papers from as many homes as possible Saturday-Sunday, February 12-13, from 11 a.m.-5 p.m.

If a citizen has a large quantity of papers to be picked up, Doug Coley should be contacted at 526-0939.

However, if a resident prefers to drop off papers, they can be left at the DeFours Agency, 20365 Mack avenue.

GPW Hears Concerns Of Police

Public Safety Officers
Address Council over
Impasse in Negotiations

By Roger A. Waha

Several of the estimated 20 members of the Grosse Pointe Woods Police Officers Assoc., (GPWPOA), expressed their concerns over the current impasse in negotiations to the Woods Council at its regular meeting Monday, February 7.

While the council listened politely to what the officers had to say in relation to the long negotiation period, (bargaining began early last summer), salary in comparison to other communities, departmental morale and overall public safety performance, the situation at this time remains the same with arbitration still pending.

"We explained the problems but I don't know if it took any effect," said Officer Stephen Petrik, association president, after the officers' presentation.

Wants Meeting

Indicating he would like to meet with the council sitting as the Committee of the Whole, (i.e., in executive session), he stated he would request such a meeting at a later date.

When informed of Officer Petrik's intention, Mayor Pro Tem George S. Freeman stated, "I feel it would be good to meet in committee and talk about it." Mr. Freeman conducted the meeting in the absence of Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos, who was out of town.

Mr. Freeman went on to say the city has tax dollars with a certain amount of money allocated by the council "to go for such an item."

But he indicated that the situation could be reviewed, feeling the entire council should sit down and talk again with its negotiator, i.e., City Administrator Chester E. Petersen.

In fact, Mr. Freeman said he planned to talk with the mayor and would suggest that the council meet in executive session, along with Mr. Petersen, and "discuss it once more to explore further possibilities," while adding. (Continued on Page 4)

Woods Council Denies Bid for Development

By George Polgar Jr.

Residents of the Vernier road and Morningside drive area are wondering how many times they will have to troop to public hearings to show that they are bitterly opposed to the construction of multiple family dwellings in their neighborhood.

At its regular meeting on Monday, February 7, the Woods Council heard a rezoning request from the Grosse Pointe Woods Development Co. which would have allowed the building of four two-family duplexes on the northwest corner of Vernier and Morningside.

The meeting attracted a large and often emotional contingent in opposition, and, as on previous occasions, their presence assured the denial of the request.

Last year in October, this same group assembled in the council chambers to oppose a request by another developer to have the area rezoned for the construction of condominiums. Over the years, other similar requests have been denied, primarily because of public pressure.

Because of this situation a spokesman for the residents, Douglas Munro, of Anita avenue, asked the council to deny this request as the residents have clearly shown their opposition.

"The issue of rezoning single-family residential property to multiple-family residential property was not simply a parochial single spot area reaction but was one of (Continued on Page 6)

Hospitals, Businesses Dial Down

Bon Secours Switches to Auxiliary Oil Reserves,
While Cities Also
Join in Voluntary Program

By George Polgar Jr.
and Debbie Ritter

Faced with the prospect of a full scale energy emergency, local hospitals, city offices and businesses are taking steps to cut heating fuel consumption.

Bon Secours Hospital has taken the greatest initiative in conservation, cutting gas consumption by 75 percent and switching over to auxiliary oil reserves.

According to Lois Clamage of Bon Secours, the decision to change from primary dependence on gas to oil was made after the hospital received a request from Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. to cut back gas usage by six percent.

Express Pleasure

"Hospital Administrator Barry M. Spero reviewed the situation with the director of building services and they decided that we could operate on the auxiliary power supply for 30 days," she said.

"The actual length of the gas cutback will depend on whether we can get enough oil to keep our reserves up."

While running on the auxiliary system, the hospital will need approximately 8,000 gallons of oil weekly and they have already run into problems getting the fuel.

In an emergency, the auxiliary fuel system would only be used to power essential services so the current use of the oil and some gas should leave enough to supply the hospital if other problems arise.

Meanwhile, officials at the gas company were so elated by the Bon Secours decision that they offered to take "everybody out to lunch."

Both Cottage and Saint John Hospitals have responded to utility company requests for cutbacks by dialing down in various parts of their buildings.

Difficult Task

"We have turned the heat down in non-patient areas and have cut out unnecessary lighting in the hallways," said Alice Curtis of Cottage Hospital. Patient rooms are being kept at normal levels while office areas are down to 70 degrees and lower.

Saint John Hospital non-patient areas are down to 65 degrees during work periods and are set at 60 degrees at night.

"We have the temperature down to 68 degrees in patients' rooms and have issued extra blankets," said Saint John Public Relations Director Pepper Whitelaw. "If the attending physician feels a patient needs more (Continued on Page 2)

South Library Hit by Vandals

Vandals ransacked the South High School library sometime last weekend, scattering most of the card catalog system and dozens of books, but causing no monetary damage to the facility.

Youth Service Division Det. Donald Schmaltz, who investigated the incident, said the mess was discovered by a janitor on Saturday evening, February 5.

Det. Schmaltz said he had no idea how many persons were involved in the crime or how they gained entry to the facility, but he would conduct an investigation.

It took about 50 workers all day to reorder the catalog system and replace the books, according to library secretary Fran Renaud. Teachers on their relief hours, students and even a few mothers came in to help clear the mess.

By Monday afternoon, February 7, the library was back in use, she said.

Pointe Strives to Conserve Energy

heat, the thermostat will be turned up."

Mrs. Whitelaw added that Saint John has fared rather well this winter because of the installation last year of thermopane windows throughout the hospital.

Probably the most difficult task of conserving energy is in the hands of those who manage area nursing homes.

Cities Dial Down

"We're struggling to keep it, (the thermostat), as low as we can," said Mrs. Sheila Brown, administrator at the Georgian East Nursing Home, where the temperature is currently being kept at 73 degrees.

"We had cut down to 70 degrees but especially for the patients who don't move around at all, that's very cold."

Mrs. Brown, as well as a spokesman for the Grosse Pointe Nursing Home, said they have reduced hall lighting in an effort to conserve.

All city offices have reported dialing down to between 65-68 degrees, and some city managers have called meetings of department heads to discuss other ways of cutting fuel consumption.

In The Woods, City Administrator Chester E. Petersen called a staff meeting for Tuesday, February 8, (after press time), to consider the feasibility of cutting off non-essential heat and electricity in city garages and at the Lake Front Park.

Taking Toll

Shores Village Superintendent Thomas K. Jefferis said that the municipality had complied with requests to use less heat in its offices, while briefly expressing what most people think about the new national norm—"We've dialed down and it's pretty cold; well, I guess we just have to wear sweaters."

Some officials claim that the lower temperatures are taking a toll on employees.

"To tell you the truth, when the heat gets down to 65 degrees you can start sending people home. Most people just can't get used to it," said one official who asked to go unnamed.

Meanwhile, Pointe area businesses and restaurants seem to be complying with the recent gas company request to lower their thermostats in order to conserve fuel, a NEWS survey has indicated.

Area supermarkets, including Kroger, Grosse Pointe Woods Market, Village Food Market and Salem Square have all cut temperatures to at least 67 degrees, and usually 65 degrees.

Managers from all four of the supermarkets said that they had voluntarily cut temperatures several weeks ago, well before President Carter's recent request during his "Fireside Chat."

Owner Fred Wolski of Salem Square on-the-Hill said that alternate strings of lights also had been turned off at his store to conserve electricity.

Major Problem

Co-manager Dick Pastorla of the Kroger supermarket, 16919 Kercheval, whose thermostats have been set at 65 degrees for over two weeks, said a major problem in keeping the entrance area warm enough for the cashiers to work in.

"We can't set the two heaters up by the vestibule down too low because of the girls working up front," Mr. Pastorla said.

At the Village Food Market, 18328 Mack, manager Alec Bell said the thermostats are kept at 65 degrees during the day and turned down to 50 degrees at night.

The general consensus among store owners and managers was for reducing temperatures rather than shutting their doors early or staying closed additional days during the week. Managers felt many customers needed time for shopping outside the regular 9-5 working hours.

"We have no plans to cut hours since the store is only open five and a half days a week as it is," Mr. Bell said.

Reducing temperatures has been the rule at area department stores as well.

Install System

"We've had the thermostat set at 65 degrees for the past week and advise our employees to wear sweaters," said Manager Richard Johnson at the Kresge store, 17101 Kercheval.

Jacobson's manager Clarence Wascher said the store's temperatures have been kept at 65 degrees for the past few weeks, and that the store has cut electricity consumption since installing a Monitrol system, which periodically shuts off the heating system for as much as 12 minutes at a time.

"The system has saved us tremendous amounts of energy—from between 15 and 20 percent," Mr. Wascher said.

Meanwhile, John Lake, executive director of the War Memorial, said the thermostat at the Fries Auditorium is being kept at 68 degrees. The situation is different, however, at the older Alger House.

"We're trying to do it, (reduce temperatures), at the Alger House, but it's difficult because part of it's hot and part is cold," Mr. Lake said.

Restaurant temperatures are being kept consistently at 65 degrees—a little cool for eating perhaps—but managers say the customers don't seem to mind too much.

Ed Ford, manager at the Old Place, said the lower temperatures are actually quite comfortable.

"We can't keep it too high because of the heat the people generate when it gets crowded," Mr. Ford said.

At Pipers Alley, where the temperature has been kept at 65 degrees for the past week and a half, manager Rita Spicer agreed that at peak hours, the lower temperature isn't even noticeable.

"But when it's not too busy, customers have said that it's a little cool," Mrs. Spicer added.

One of the few good things brought on by the current cold spell, and resultant energy problems, is a renewed interest in the legislature about instituting a statewide fuel stamp program for senior citizens caught in the pinch of higher utility prices and fixed incomes.

Introduces Proposal

A house bill on this proposal was introduced on Wednesday, January 26 by Rep. Charles H. Varnum of Manistique.

"I introduced this bill because I feel most senior citizens living on fixed incomes just cannot absorb the increase in their utility bills without suffering real hardship," Rep. Varnum said in a release from his office.

"They need help, just as the food stamp program helps them in obtaining necessary nourishment at a lower cost, my proposal would help them pay the necessary utility bills."

George Kallenbach of the Woods Senior Citizens Commission said that while his group has not had the opportunity to discuss the matter at great length, they support any measure which could relieve extra burdens on senior citizens.

"When food prices go up, senior citizens can usually find a way to compensate by buying more of this and less of that. But, there is really nothing we can do to get around increasing utility costs. We have to pay or we freeze," said Mr. Kallenbach.

Michigan Consolidated Gas Company has no specific policy concerning the fuel stamp concept but a spokesman said that they would generally be in favor of it if it would serve senior citizens.

Unable to Measure

So far the gas company has not been able to measure how many residential customers are complying with the

Man Charged on Two Counts

A 44-year-old Woods man has been charged with two counts of criminal sexual conduct, third degree, stemming from an incident which reportedly occurred on Wednesday, January 19, involving a 17-year-old Detroit boy.

The two- and a half week investigation by Woods police reached a climax when Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Arthur Kosinski issued a warrant charging Lawrence Marco with the two counts on Thursday, February 3.

Marco appeared before Woods Municipal Judge J. Patrick Denis for his arraignment and stood mute, said Det. Thomas Podeszwick, who, along with Det. Lt. Jack Patterson, investigated the incident.

Bond was set in the amount of $10,000 or two sureties, and the defendant was released on the cash bond pending his examination, which is scheduled for Wednesday, February 16.

Police said the warrant charges the suspect with forcing or coercing the complainant to perform two different sex acts with him, one in the suspect's car and the second in the basement of the suspect's home.

The incident, as told to police by the complainant, occurred when the boy stopped at the MacDonald Restaurant, 14271 Gratiot, Detroit, on his way home from school, (he's a 10th grader at Pershing High), to have a hot chocolate while waiting for the bus.

He struck up a conversation with the defendant, asking him if he had a cigar and then, as the exchange developed, the boy said he was offered a ride home but refused, saying he would take the bus. But the suspect again offered to drive the boy home and the youth agreed, according to the report.

In initial interviews with the complainant, the detectives learned that the boy observed the first two letters of a last name, ("MA"), on a certificate on a basement wall, and that he remembered a nearby street, (as being Fairford), while in the car. At that time, police found Marco's name on Fairford via the telephone directory.

Woods police also conducted a surveillance of the restaurant on four different days in case the suspect returned, without success.

As the investigation progressed, the prosecutor's office approved a search warrant for Marco's home, and on February 3 it was executed.

Det. Podeszwick indicated that upon entering the basement area, it was the apartment location as described by the complainant. Technicians from the Michigan State Police Crime Lab in Warren conducted the search at the scene.

Police also reported that a show-up was conducted before the arraignment on the 4th. Because the Wayne County and Macomb County Sheriff's Departments and the Detroit House of Correction were unable to perform the function, it was held in The Woods.

In the show-up, several Woods highway department employees offered to stand in, with all those participating being furnished glasses and all wore blue jackets. Police said the complainant picked out Marco from the others.

Marco had been on the Grosse Pointe School System's substitute teacher list for about two years, added Lawrence F. Kennedy, assistant superintendent-personnel.

NH Orientation Set for Today

North High School's orientation for eight grade students now at Parcels and Brownell Schools, who intend to enroll at North for the fall semester, will be held today, February 10, in Parcels Middle School auditorium, 20600 Mack avenue, at 7:30 p.m.

G. Bruce Feighner, principal of North, who will conduct the program, invites parents and students to attend this orientation session in order to acquaint themselves with the course selections and to make certain that each student enrolls in the classes best suited for him.

Dr. Kathleen Hershbellmann, assistant principal-instruction, will discuss the business, vocational, art and music offerings at North.

Department chairpersons, Gordon Morlan, science, Brigitte Rauer, foreign language, Robert Reimer, English, and Earl Veenendaal, math, will talk about the courses offered in their respective fields.

Ernest Hurst, counselor, will concentrate on the difference between the middle school and high school grading system as well as what a normal class load would demand from a ninth grade student.

Hearing first hand about North's program of studies will facilitate appropriate course selections and easy transition from middle school to high school, officials say.

Christ Church Hosts Program

Christ Church, 61 Grosse Pointe boulevard, will host "A Day of Renewal" featuring the Rev. Donald M. Hulstrand, executive director of the Anglican Fellowship of Prayer, (AFP), Monday, February 21, from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. Panelists include Sue Schlanbusch, diocesan director of the AFP; the Rev. Michael Schulenberg, rector of Saint Paul's, Flint; Anne Rayl of Saint Michael's, Grosse Pointe; and Ellie Johnston of Christ Church, Detroit.

Workshop leaders will be the Rev. George Andrews, chaplain of University Liggett School; the Rev. Gary Fulton, Christ Church, Grosse Pointe; the Rev. William Hill, Saint Paul's, Lansing; and the Rev. Lewis Towler, Christ Church, Cranbrook. The AFP is an international devotional organization.

OVER THE 35% BRACKET? DA'S ARE BETTER THAN CD'S

If you're one of the hard working people in or over 35% tax bracket, you deserve a great deal of credit for your success. You also deserve some sympathy. Because it's hard for the heavily taxed to put money away for the future. You may have tried certificates of deposit, and watched your tax interest payments mount up at the IRS. You may have tried annuities, and watched your sales charges insure someone else's future. Fortunately, First of Michigan Corporation now has an annuity with no sales charge that allows you to accumulate on a tax-deferred basis; here are the highlights.

- High Interest—Currently 7.05% for first policy year
- Principal Guaranteed*
- Convenient Purchase Units—$1,500 or more
- Tax Deferred
- No Sales Charge
- Guaranteed Cash for College Expenses—Retirement—Any Family Goal (While interest earned accumulates tax-deferred)

*By Anchor National Life Insurance.

For a full description of the many advantages of DA's... the modern single premium, tax-deferred annuity... perhaps you would like to attend our seminar on February 15—No cost, no obligation!

"HAVE WE NOT ALL ONE FATHER? HATH NOT ONE God CREATED US?" Malachi 2:10

A lot of people acknowledge God as Father. But do they really understand the man He made?

As you get a deeper understanding of the Bible, the spiritual nature of man and of all creation appears. Then Christian unity and the brotherhood of man appear in your life, too.

Selections from the Bible and Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, to be read in our church service this Sunday, will help you understand the Bible's message of brotherly love in a new light.

We'd love to welcome you.

Businessman Offers Conservation Advice

The chimney cheater costs $280 and can be installed on older type boilers. The use of the machine also has been approved by the Detroit Buildings and Safety Engineering Department.

The chimney lock is a simpler device which its manufacturers claim can save 20 percent in fuel costs.

"The major feature of the chimney lock is the spring loaded flue damper which automatically closes when the thermostat is satisfied and the furnace shuts down," Mr. Williams explained. "Most furnaces don't have this kind of mechanism and for that reason there is a constant flow of heat escaping through the chimney."

With the flue damper, heat and noxious gases created by the burning furnace escape while it is on. When it turns off there are no noxious gases being created, thus no reason to leave the chimney open.

Adding Up

"Not only does the flue damper stop the escape of heat but it also maintains a constant pressure within the house, which slows the leakage of cold air in through doorways and window frames," said Mr. Williams. Another fuel saving feature of the chimney lock is the intermittent pilot light which only burns while the furnace is on.

"Pilot lights burn about one cubic foot of gas per hour and while that doesn't seem like much, it adds up when the pilot light is burning all the time," said Mr. Williams.

The chimney lock is available as an attachment to some forced air heating units and is approved by the City of Detroit for certain systems subject to inspection.

Thermostat timing devices are simple and relatively inexpensive approaches to heating fuel conservation. With the timers — many of which are easily installed with just two wires — the furnace will go off and on automatically for the times when a home needs more and less heat.

"If you set the timer at midnight and 7 a.m. and then go to bed at about 11 p.m., the thermostat will go down to a lower temperature at night and then up to a warmer level by the time you get up in the morning," said Mr. Williams.

Thermostat Faking

The makers of the various thermostat timing devices claim upwards of 25 percent savings on heating costs. If about $50 seems too much to pay for a timer there is a way of getting the same — though less reliable — results by faking your thermostat.

Though advice like this could cost Mr. Williams some business, he gladly volunteers it.

"Faking or fooling your thermostat can be done with an ordinary light and an appliance timer. You put a lamp up next to the thermostat, connect it to a timer set for whatever time you want the light to go off and on and then leave it.

"The heat from the light bulb will keep the thermostat satisfied and when the light goes off the temperature will go down and the furnace will turn on."

To an extent, the utility companies are trying to make up for some of the unpleasantness caused by the big bills they are sending. Both Edison and Michigan Consolidated Gas have home insulation finance plans.

These programs are buy now-pay later deals where the companies install the proper insulation for your home and the bill is paid in monthly installments.

Mr. Williams suggests a loose insulation material which comes in bags for maximum results. If a customer buys a certain number of bags of this type, Mr. Williams lends out a special spreader which blows out an even layer of fiberglass insulation.

Other heat conservation tips, which may seem like simple common sense, can save a great deal in fuel costs.

- By installing storm windows, heat loss can be reduced by 10 percent.

- Keep window shades open on sunny days during the winter to utilize solar energy and close them in the evening to insulate against the cold.

- Keep the flue in fireplaces closed when not in use as the draft created by the chimney will drain heat.

- Lower your thermostat when entertaining a large group. People generate their own heat.

- Do not use portable electric heaters for full-time heating.

- Seal off all unheated areas of the home.

While Mr. Williams' suggestions obviously involve some initial investment, the irreversible trend toward higher heating bills will make such measures more and more necessary each year.

GPW Police Air Concerns

ing, "We want to be as fair as we can."

He hoped such a session would transpire before the next regular council meeting, which has been rescheduled for Monday, February 28.

Salary Viewed

Mr. Petersen said after the presentation that the association has requested to go to arbitration and that's where the situation stands. He also reiterated his willingness to resume negotiations with the GPWPOA at any time.

During the discussion, Officer Petrik, in citing the stalemate, said Mr. Petersen had been handcuffed by the council on the negotiation front, while citing, as an example, the salary Southgate police make—a two-year patrolman gets $18,600 this year, $19,825 in 1978 and $21,000 in 1979.

In relation to this, he said these amounts are for a police officer only, not for a public safety officer who's responsible for both police and firefighting duties, plus the monies are for a patrolman who has been on the force for two years, not four years. A four-year officer in The Woods currently makes $16,500.

Citing the 18.3 percent drop in crime last year in the community under 1975 along with the city's "number one" pedestrian safety record, decreasing fire losses, et al., Officer Petrik said, at this time, any man under 30 years of age would be foolish to stay with the department because of salary and declining morale. In the latter case, he termed the morale lower than that of Detroit police.

Wants Movement

"Someone has missed the boat along the way. We want the stalemate broken. We, (both sides), can go to arbitration and win, lose or draw, there are hard feelings," he stressed, while saying he wants to move the council from "dead center" where, he felt, they were now.

Citing the department's workload, Officer Petrik said each man is a policeman, firefighter and EMS attendant, (i.e., providing ambulance service). "We try to be all and give our best in all and for it we get nothing, not even a 'thank you.' Something has to budge and soon," he said.

In response, Mr. Freeman said the council wouldn't negotiate a contract at the meeting but all were willing to listen to what the officers had to say. For his part, he stated the officers have done an excellent job, while expressing his appreciation for their performance.

To this, Officer Petrik said, "Less than three miles from our border people sleep with a loaded shotgun," and the reason we don't is because of the diligence of the department.

Meanwhile, Officer Patrick DeVine, a member of the association's negotiation team, questioned a remark from Mr. Pinkos in the January 27 edition of the NEWS which reported the mayor said he understood that the offer, (from the city), was as good or better than that received by departments in the other Pointes.

Based upon information he received after personally contacting other Pointe departments by phone, Officer DeVine said this wasn't the case. "For the service I render, (i.e., police, fire and ambulance protection), I currently receive $16,500," he said.

In relation to this, he said such services in The Park, for instance, totals $33,400, e.g., for two men who provide two separate services, a policeman at $16,800 and a firefighter at $16,600. He indicated similar combined totals, i.e., for a police officer and a firefighter, are over $30,000 in The City, Farms and Harper Woods.

And, he added, Shores officers are now receiving $17,995 including a cost of living roll in.

We have previously been a pace setter in the community with The Shores, for instance, settling after us, he said, and now they settle first.

Speaks on Morale

Echoing the general frustration over the impasse, Youth Service Division Det. Wayne Baum cited the goal of police work as prevention, which he said the council should keep in mind. And on morale, he said, "I detect a severe morale problem which bothers me. Many young officers see an attitude, (which he described as cruddy), which I don't like them to see."

He added that dollars alone will not resolve that problem, while saying that Mr. Petersen is a fine man and a good negotiator.

Responding to the overall question on attitude, Mr. Freeman again expressed his appreciation for the officers coming before the council, saying officials will take under advisement their remarks, while indicating his concern over the fact that some members are unhappy and have a bad attitude.

Saying everyone has similar problems, (e.g., facing rising costs), he suggested the officers can help and control their attitude and "really enjoy their jobs."

In a final note, many officers' wives also were in attendance, and citizens, who addressed the council during the presentation, spoke in behalf of the department and its performance.

Trombly Plans 50th Birthday

Trombly Elementary School, which first opened its doors, at 820 Beaconsfield road in 1927, will be honored throughout a week-long golden anniversary celebration February 20-25.

PTO President Mrs. George Leonard, veteran teacher Martha Graham and Principal Dr. Eric Folio have announced tentative plans for a series of festive activities.

Parent Night, scheduled Tuesday, February 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the school gymnasium, is being planned by Mrs. Philip Ardussi, Mrs. Sheldon Blazar and Mrs. Daniel Holland.

A dessert reception will be held for all parents of past and present students and for all former students and faculty members.

Mrs. Vincent LoCicero, PTO historian, hopes that any past member of the Trombly family who has not yet been contacted will join in the fun of renewing old friendships.

A particular welcome is extended to the several families who have been part of the Trombly community since the 1927 beginnings.

Student activities, coordinated by Eleanor Pawluk, will be scattered throughout the birthday week. Highlighting the children's celebration will be an all-school party, featuring music, art and a giant birthday cake.

Mary Jane Pavlak and Ray Marchesi are working on the program for the Wednesday, February 23, party and room mothers are assisting Lynda Crowder and Katharine Mulaney in preparing refreshments for the event.

Louis Jorissen and Lillian Kachadourian are handling arrangements for the faculty reunion at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club set for Friday, February 25, at 6 p.m.

Invitations have been extended to past and present staff members. Those who have not made reservations yet are invited to do so immediately by telephoning the school, at 821-1142. Acceptances have already been received from many staff members, representing a wide cross-section of years on the faculty.

Donna King, a member of the original staff, will be in attendance.

Trombly School's history is unique in that there have been only three principals during the entire 50 years. Ethel Cowe, who served from 1927-1952, will be unable to travel here from her California home, but she has sent her best wishes to the birthday committees.

Frank J. Welcenbach, who was at the helm from 1952-1975, is assisting with plans for the anniversary festivities and expects to be in attendance at all major functions.

Current principal, Dr. Folio, anticipates a memorable week to launch Trombly's second 50 years.

Driver Faces Court Hearing

A Roseville motorist who ignored a Shores scout car flasher and siren and ran two red lights while being pursued, was arrested by Shores police on Sunday, January 30, at 1:39 a.m.

Charged with reckless driving and driving while his operator's license was suspended was Lawrence John D'Luge, 19, of 17252 Lowell, who was released after posting a bond of $200 pending his scheduled court hearing on Wednesday, February 23.

The arresting officers, Daniel Healy and Gary Mitchell, said they were on routine patrol south on Lakeshore road when they observed D'Luge heading north at what

Two Brothers Nabbed For Burglary in Park

Park Police Chief Henry Coonce disclosed on Monday, February 7, the arrest of two brothers for the Sunday, January 30, burglary of the home of three nurses, names withheld, residing in Nottingham road.

The report of the break-in was made by one of the nurses, after she came home and discovered the residence had been forcibly entered and items and cash were missing.

Chief Coonce said that at 8:30 p.m. Sunday evening, one of the brothers, Kenneth Matthew Scharf, 18, of 1225 Lakewood, Detroit, was arrested in the area of Somerset and St. Paul by Cpl. William Furtaw and Officers Steven Molitor and Alan Pretty. The latter pair trailed Scharf to that area.

After being taken to the station, Scharf implicated his brother, Bennett James Scharf, 17, of the same address, who was arrested shortly after.

Both were scheduled for a preliminary hearing yesterday, February 9, before Park Municipal Judge John Urso. They were unable to post a $5,000 bond.

The chief said the brothers admitted burglarizing the nurses' home, from which they took several pieces of jewelry, a camera and some cash, all of which has been recovered.

Chief Coonce said the brothers have had brushes with the law on several previous occasions and confessed to a number of break-ins in other communities.

Kenneth's arrest came about when a woman resident called police to report a suspicious noise in her neighborhood, stating she saw what appeared to be a prowler in the area. Officers Molitor and Pretty trailed the man to Somerset and St. Paul and assisted Cpl. Furtaw in the arrest.

"The officers involved in the arrest of the brothers are to be commended for an excellent job of police work," said Chief Coonce.

"I would also like to thank the citizen reported hearing a suspicious noise and for calling the police without delay, instead of just passing off the noise as nothing to get worked up about."

"We need the cooperation of all our citizens in such matters. If you hear, or see, anything that appears suspicious, call your local police. I would like to emphasize that we encourage such calls and to let the citizens know that we need their cooperation in such matters."

The chief added, "As it has been said in the past, it is better to check out such calls and find nothing amiss than to let these things go, not report them and have a crime committed."

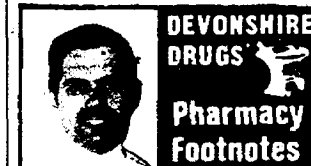

"Do not worry about bothering your police; we are more than glad to answer your call."

'Junior Rock' Night Planned

In response to the many requests for teenage dances, the War Memorial's Youth Council will again sponsor a "Junior Rock Night" for all Pointe seventh, eighth and ninth graders.

Live entertainment will be provided by the group "Flirt" at the Saturday, February 12, dance. It will begin at 7:30 p.m. and end at 10:30 p.m. with refreshments available.

Tickets, at $1.25 in advance, $1.50 at the door, are available at the War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore road, or from Youth Council members in the middle schools.

Fish Fry Slated By Churchmen

The Men's Club of Peace Lutheran Church, 15700 East Warren, at Balfour, are sponsoring a fish fry all six Wednesday evenings in Lent beginning Ash Wednesday, February 23, through March 30. The dinners will run from 5:30-7 p.m., with Lenten church services following at 7:30 p.m.

The $2 dinner includes two pieces of fish, fries, cole slaw, roll and butter, dessert and beverage. A $1 dinner which includes one piece of fish and smaller portions of the above, also will be available.

Children under five years will be admitted free.

Woods Scores on LEIN 'Hits'

Woods police notched a total of 690 "hits" last year, (the greater majority of them being the result of traffic stops by the road patrol), which has pleased Public Safety Director Henry Marchand immensely.

The director said in an information sheet for the troops, the patrol officers have once again proven to all that one of the prime reasons the crime rate in The Woods is decreasing, while it's increasing in other areas, is because of the 1976 LEIN, (Law Enforcement Information Network), print-out recently received.

Director Marchand felt, in a city the size of The Woods, the 690 total was "unbelievable, fantastic and nice from a director's standpoint." Included in the "scores" were discoveries that 318 stopped motorists had outstanding traffic warrants on them, while 64 had misdemeanor warrants and 13, felony warrants.

The director added, when he looked at the figures and realized the department arrested approximately 665 people last year, "who had a complete disregard or respect for city ordinances and state laws," it helped to make it all worthwhile.

In 1975, the department reportedly had a total of around 800 "hits."

Sillery Exam Is Postponed

The pre-trial examination of Dr. Robert J. Sillery, of The City, on charges of Medicaid fraud was postponed a second time from the scheduled Monday, February 7, date. The examination is now set for Monday, March 14, in the St. Clair Shores Municipal Court.

The first postponement was granted on the request of the defense attorney to allow more time for the preparation of his case.

genuine across-the-board interest, substance and opposition," said Mr. Munro.

"What then has changed, (since previous hearings on the issue), aside from the passage of some four months? From the viewpoint of the opposition for whom I speak, nothing has materially changed."

The proposal of the Grosse Pointe Woods Development Co. called for the construction of four colonial duplexes on a private street with parking facilities for 12 cars at a cost of $65,000 for each dwelling unit.

The spokesman for the developer made it clear that with the private street arrangement they planned there would be no addition to the traffic congestion problem which presently exists at Vernier and Morrisonside.

None of these explanations mollified the opposition. While Mr. Munro maintained

Cite Officer

Practically every FOP lodge from every county in the State was represented at the banquet, including those high up in the organization. Others in attendance were retired Pointe area officers and those still on active duty; high ranking police officers from Detroit and other large State cities; local and state judges; local businessmen; and many friends.

State Sen. William Fitzgerald, representing the Michigan Legislature, presented Don with a resolution from the Senate and the House of Representatives.

Another resolution was presented to the retiree by a high ranking official of the State FOP, who also gave the sergeant a check on behalf of his comrades at the state level.

Another speaker, Youth Service Division Det. Patrick Fagan, president of Lodge No. 102, "roasted" the retired sergeant, which sent the audience into roars of laughter, after which Don was handed another envelope on behalf of the local lodge, comprised of Pointe and Harper Woods police officers.

Attending to Don's popularity, he was given four standing ovations, one of which lasted for more than two minutes, and that occurred after he was called upon by Director Vitale to give a speech.

The sergeant started off the speech with an expression of thanks for the honor conveyed upon him and as he continued talking he was forced to stop when his voice filled with emotion.

Don's retirement badge bears the legend "Police Sergeant, Retired, No. 1," and that is what he is—number one among his friends.

Found Guilty

Mrs. Steffens, "handling the outside work, preparing some meals and providing companionship."

Harte faces litigation in March to establish if any zoning ordinances have been broken. In December, Mrs. Steffens was found to be mentally incompetent and is currently being looked after by her sister according to Chief Ferber.

The trial, which began at 2 p.m., went to the jury at 6:45 p.m. Almost an hour and a half passed before the guilty verdict was reached.

During the interim, Harte alternately sat by himself, talked with attorneys Louisell and O'Rourke and with spectators in the crowd. Several members of the audience told Harte he "didn't belong in our city" and one woman told him, "We don't want garbage like you around here."

Express Surprise

Harte appeared calm when the verdict was read but threatened to "get himself a new attorney for his appeal" as he was led from the courtroom.

Harte was remanded to The Farms jail until his sentencing on Wednesday morning, February 9, (after press time).

Both attorneys expressed surprise at the length of time the jury was out but commented the citizens were "conscientious in their deliberations."

Mr. Louisell said the spectator comments were "unfortunate," and added, "I don't know if they influenced the jurors or not."

In an ironic footnote to the trial, Mr. Paltyn said he would soon be leaving the area because of a "business transfer."

Seeks Clues

the woman should take a SEMTA bus from Kercheval avenue to the corner of Jefferson and Brush in Detroit and leave the money at a newsstand there.

She should then walk to the Greyhound bus terminal bar and wait for another call, the instructions said.

No One Shows

The drop-off was completed with FBI, bank security and City police involvement. No one showed up at the scene to collect the money and by the middle of the afternoon, the stakeout was called off.

The woman asked her name be kept out of any news stories because she believes the entire incident originated with a "Detroit Free Press" article about her and her son.

That feature article was reprinted in a bank magazine just a few days before the extortion attempt.

The woman did, however, want to thank the school employees who were so quick to locate her children the afternoon of the phone call. "It made all the difference in the world knowing they were safe," she said. "They did a great job."

Man Awaiting Holdup Trial

Richard Whotte, 37, no known address, one of two suspects in the December 4 holdup of the Little Paris Bar, 15130 Mack avenue, is awaiting trial on robbery charges at the next session of the Wayne County Circuit Court, according to Park Lt. Gordon Duncan. He was arrested by Newcastle, Pa., police approximately three weeks ago.

Whotte was extradited from Pennsylvania and was returned to Michigan by Park Sgt. Charles Petrie and Patrolman Collin Lalonde. His examination was held before

Jaycees Seek Nominations

The Grosse Pointe Jaycees are currently seeking nominations of men between 18-35 years of age for their Distinguished Service Award.

Jim Pattee, president of the organization, said nominees must live or work in The Pointe area and must have leadership qualities. He urged individuals and organizations to submit names to Robert Krass at 17112 Kercheval avenue, or call 882-2282 by Monday, February 21.

The award will be presented at the Jaycee's Distinguished Service Award Banquet on Thursday, March 10, at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club.

Members of the Jaycees judging committee include honorary members Clarence Wascher, general manager of Jacobson's, and Edmund T. Ahee, of Ahee Jewelers. Other judges on the selection committee are John Bruce, executive director of the Neighborhood Club, Pieter VanHorne, past president and recipient of the Distinguished Service Award, and Mr. Pattee.

For five weeks a committee headed by Mr. Krass has been canvassing churches, businesses, clubs and organizations to determine which young man has contributed the most to the community during the year.

Past winners include State Rep. William R. Bryant in 1970; former Youth Service Division Det. John Kendall in 1971; Mr. VanHorne in 1972; Farms Police Chief Robert K. Ferber in 1973; the head of Cardio-Pulmonary Department at Bon Secours Hospital, Raymond V. Ingham in 1974; and Mr. Bruce last year.

Film Explores Crime Problem

Prompted by research indicating criminals in Michigan are not likely to be apprehended, convicted or punished, the Citizens Research Council of Michigan held a symposium with criminal justice experts last May to address the question "What can be done to deter crime?"

One of the products of that meeting, which was sponsored with a grant from the National Bank of Detroit, was a film, "Critical Decisions About Crime."

That film will be presented by the Harper Woods Library Commission Wednesday, February 16, in the Harper Woods City Hall, 19617 Harper, at 7:30 p.m.

The public is invited to the showing and to participate in a discussion following the film, led by Youth Service Division Det. Wayne Baum, Harper Woods Police Lt. Al Louzon, Det. Lt. Doug Garascia and Chief Nickolaus Mayer.

Man Awaiting Holdup Trial

Park Municipal Judge John Urso on Wednesday, February 2. The judge set bond at $25,000 and remanded Whotte to the county jail when Whotte was unable to post the bond.

Lt. Duncan said Whotte is one of two suspects believed to have held up the Little Paris Bar, taking about $300 from the bar and 12 patrons. A warrant has been issued for the second suspect, who is known to the authorities, but whom the lieutenant refused to identify at this time.

Whotte and his companion allegedly held up the bar and the patrons, locked them up in a women's restroom and then fled from the establishment.

The second suspect is believed to have returned, alone, on December 17, and robbed the bar just before closing time, this time cleaning out the cash register.

Before the second holdup, it was revealed, the second suspect entered the place and sat at the bar and ordered several drinks. When the owner, Lester J. Wippo, announced the closing of the establishment at 2 a.m., the bandit whipped out a handgun and announced the hold-up, taking only the money from the cash register.

However, as in the previous crime, the owner and patrons were ordered into the women's restroom and told not to leave for five minutes.

Whotte and his companion also are believed to have been involved in the armed robbery of two Detroit bars, before going to The Park bar, on the December 4 date.

No Taillights Add to Trouble

Michael David, 26, of 5792 Philip, Detroit, added two more charges to the three already against him, when he was arrested by a Shores public safety officer on Lakeshore road Sunday, February 3, for having no taillights on the car he was driving.

The motorist was stopped at the Willson intersection by Cpl. William Marshall at 2 a.m. when the officer observed David traveling on the road sans taillights. The man produced his operator's license on demand.

Cpl. Marshall radioed his station for a check on the Law Enforcement Information Network, (LEIN), machine and the return reply disclosed that David was driving while his license was suspended by the Secretary of State's Office in Lansing under the Financial Responsibility Law. It also was disclosed that he was wanted on a Detroit warrant for assault and battery, a bench warrant for contempt of court issued against him by the Michigan State Police of the Brighton Post and a third warrant issued for his arrest by Green Oak Township police for driving a motor vehicle with no taillights.

David gave his last name as the same as a female passenger who was with him, claiming he was married to her, but his real name was revealed through the LEIN and he admitted he had lied.

The passenger was permitted to drive David's car to The Shores station, where David was issued a violation ticket for driving while his license was suspended and another for driving with no taillights.

He was held for the other law enforcement agencies who placed a hold on him. He also posted a bond of $150 later that morning on the two charges in The Shores, pending a court hearing scheduled for Wednesday, February 23.

Paper Drive Set at North

North High School's Band and Orchestra Parent Club will collect newspapers for recycling Saturday, February 12, to help provide funds for uniforms for the performing groups.

Donations of paper, which must be either bundled or wrapped in paper bags, can be dropped off at the North High parking lot, 707 Vernier road, between 10 a.m.-4 p.m. on Saturday.

The group plans to sponsor another paper drive in April.

Ring and Coat Stolen at Party

A public relations party thrown recently for the rock group, "Kiss," wasn't quite as much fun for one Farms woman as it might have been.

The woman, one of more than 100 guests at the after-concert bash, had a fur coat and jewels worth over $5,000 stolen during the party.

She listed her losses as a full length brown, black and white lynx coat valued at $659. In the pocket of the coat was a platinum and diamond ring valued at $4,600.

A pair of leather gloves and sunglasses also were taken. The party was held Saturday night, January 29, at a Lakeshore road home, and police believe the thefts occurred sometime after midnight.

Taste Science Breakthrough Brought To 100's Smokers.

'Enriched Flavor'™ process applied to new low tar 100mm cigarette with striking success.

Only MERIT has the 'Enriched Flavor' process. A way of packing tobacco with extra flavor without the usual increase in tar.

MERIT created a whole new taste standard in low tar smoking.

Now that same taste science has produced a 100mm cigarette.

MERIT 100's.

Only 12 mg. tar. Yet smokers actually like the taste of MERIT 100's as much as higher tar 100mm brands.

4 Cars Tangle; Couple Injured

Two persons were injured in a four-car collision at the Vernor-Yorkshire intersection

Tennis Workshop

Scheduled for

February 18 and 19

The Eastpointe Racquet Club's Junior Development Program and The Michigan High School Tennis Coaches Association are co-sponsoring a coaching, teaching and playing workshop Feb. 18 and 19. The sessions will be conducted by Ian Laves, Silver Thatch Racquet Club, Pompano Beach, Florida, Brian Eisner, University of Michigan coach. Co-directors are Gary Bodenmiller, Eastpointe Racquet Club and Bob Wood, Grosse Pointe University. For further information, call 774-1000.

on Friday, February 4, at 3:15 p.m. according to a Park police accident report. No tickets were issued, it was said.

Injured were Edwin Thompson, of 1242 Maryland, who complained of chest pains, and his wife, Sarah, who suffered a fractured clavicle of her left shoulder. Both were taken to Bon Secours Hospital for treatment of their injuries and later released.

According to the report, Michael Wasilewski, of 9059 Beech Daly road, Detroit, northbound on Yorkshire, attempted to stop for a stop sign at the Vernor intersection. His car slid on the very icy pavement and struck the Thompsons' vehicle, which was heading west on Vernor.

Mr. Thompson lost control of his auto and struck two other cars traveling east on Vernor. One was driven by Doris Gates, of 700 Cameo Highland, DelMar, Calif., and the other was driven by James Berigan, of 687 Neff road.

Chief Henry Coonce said that all cars were driven from the scene. The Thompsons were the only persons injured, he added.

Any car will last a man a lifetime if he's careless enough.

Safeguard Against Crime Hints Offered Residents

The Grosse Pointe Kiwanis Club, in cooperation with the five Pointe police departments, is conducting a major emphasis project this year entitled "Safeguard Against Crime."

A main purpose of the program, developed by Kiwanis International, is to bring to the attention of the public the dramatic increase in crime against persons and property, and to describe many of the ways in which individuals, themselves, can prevent such crimes.

In keeping with the program's objective, Youth Service Division Det. Patrick Fagan shared a variety of hints for NEWS readers.

Seventy percent of residential burglaries occur during daylight hours. Thieves enter homes by forcing inadequate locks, entering open doors and windows, breaking front door glass panels to unlock doors and discovering poorly hidden keys.

Most of this can be prevented by the use of proper locks, by not leaving keys in an obvious spot, keeping valuables in a safe place, locking the garage when the car is out and by checking the references of people before hiring them for work.

One of the most vicious of all crimes, assault and rape, can almost always be prevented by observing several precautions.

If you're a woman alone, forced to be outdoors at night, don't walk down the street as if you didn't know where you are going. Stay away from areas with alleys and dark

Musicians Set Rummage Sale

The Brownell Middle School music department is planning a rummage sale to raise funds for summer scholarships to Michigan music camps and educational trips.

The sale will be held in the school gym, 260 Chalfonte avenue, on Saturday, February 26, from 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

The students will sell furniture, clothes and attic treasures along with plants and a bake sale.

corners, and don't take short cuts.

At the same time, don't run into hallways or alleys if you are followed and don't accept rides from strangers. If you are driving, don't get into the car until you've looked inside.

Auto theft is one of the most prevalent crimes today. Again, precautions on the motorist's part can help prevent this crime from becoming a reality.

At night, park in well-lighted places. Always remove the key from the ignition and lock the car. All valuables should be kept from sight, and if a commercial lot is used, always obtain a claim check.

Citizens are urged to call their local police department if they witness any suspicious activity.

Park police may be reached by calling 822-7400; City police, 886-3200; Farms police, 885-2100; Shores' police, 881-5500; Woods police, 886-2700; and Harper Woods police, 884-6400.

Pleads Guilty to R/A Charge

A 17-year-old youth pled guilty to a robbery armed, (R/A), charge in Wayne County Circuit Court Monday, January 31, stemming from an incident last August in The Woods, Det. Charles Philip Hamel reported.

Hubert Mays Jr. appeared before Judge Thomas Brennan and first requested a trial by jury. However, before the jury could be completely selected, the defendant changed his mind and decided to enter a guilty plea to the charge, said Det. Hamel in his report.

Mays' plea was accepted and his sentencing date was scheduled for Friday, February 18.

Mays, on whom Woods police obtained a waiver in the case, was charged in the incident which occurred last August when a Yorktown road citizen was robbed at gunpoint of his wallet containing around $40.

Another youth who was allegedly involved in that incident, Henry Lee Bennett, 18, was recently sentenced to

Eastern Tour for Symphony

Sounds of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra filled Carnegie Hall and the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in New York City last weekend.

The performances highlighted the DSO's winter tour, which began Wednesday, February 2. DSO music director Aldo Ceccato is conducting all 10 concerts on the tour, which takes the DSO the entire length of the eastern seaboard.

First stop was Hartford, Conn. Subsequent concerts are taking the Orchestra through New York, Virginia and the Carolinas, concluding with performances in West Palm Beach and Sarasota, Fla.

The Carnegie Hall concert was set for Friday, February 4, the Kennedy Center performance for the following evening.

Maestro Ceccato selected the same program for both evenings: Colgrass' "Concertmasters," the Mozart Piano Concerto in C minor (K.491) and Prokofiev's Symphony No. 5.

Czech pianist Rudolf Firkusny was the featured soloist in the Mozart C minor piano concerto. He performed this work with the DSO in Ford Auditorium in mid-January.

Colgrass' "Concertmasters" featured DSO violinists Gordon Staples, Bogos Mortchikian and Joseph Goldman as soloists. Staples is the Orchestra's concertmaster, Mortchikian associate concertmaster, Goldman assistant concertmaster.

Mortchikian also is soloing on the tour in the Bartok Violin Concerto No. 2.

Other works included in tour concert programs are Mussorgsky's "Night on Bald Mountain" and the Tchaikovsky Symphony No. 6.

The Orchestra returns to Detroit Monday, February 14. The next Detroit concert will be by the Detroit Symphony Chamber Orchestra Thursday, February 17, at 8:30 p.m. in Ford Auditorium.

Dinner Planned For Dr. Adair

Dr. Thelma Davidson Adair, moderator of the United Presbyterian General Assembly, will be hosted by the Detroit Presbytery at a dinner in her honor Sunday, February 13, in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, 16 Lakeshore road.

Members of the more than 100 churches in the Detroit Presbytery can make reservations for the dinner through their pastor.

Dr. Adair, who will visit Alma College in the morning before coming to The Pointe, became the first black woman moderator of the Assembly last May. The denomination highest policy making body had twice elected black male moderators and a white woman moderator.

Education has occupied most of Dr. Adair's professional life. She prepared at the denomination's Barber-Scottia College, Concord, N.C., received her Bachelor of Arts degree at Bennett College in 1930 and Master of Arts and Doctor of Education degrees at Columbia University Teachers College, New York City.

Her experience has ranged from organizing programs for share croppers to professor of education at Queens College, part of New York University.

She is the wife of a New York pastor and they have three children and three grandchildren.

Thieves Enter Home in Woods

An estimated total of 25-30 silver dollars and a dime collection in a blue folder, of unknown value, were removed from a Stanhope road home, said Woods police, who received the burglary report on Tuesday evening, February 1.

No other items have been reported at this time, said Det. Thomas Podaszewik.

A resident arrived home and discovered the burglary, police said. Entry was gained by prying a storm window with the culprits then forcing a locked inner window and entering the kitchen. The window opened onto the back screened porch.

At the same time, officers noted an attempt was made at both the front and back doors. The front locked storm door was pried open with pry marks being found on a wooden door around the deadbolt. The back also had pry marks around the deadbolt.

Police added one bedroom was ransacked with a locked desk being pried open and the contents scattered about the room. A chest of drawers and a closet also were ransacked.

Neighbors said they didn't see or hear anything.

Some can artists would like to see every one put their eggs in one basket and leave them to watch the basket.

Theater North Changes Dates

Theater North's production of George Bernard Shaw's romance, "Pygmalion," has been rescheduled for Thursday-Saturday, March 3-5.

The play, featuring a lavish ball scene choreographed by director Gael Barr, will be performed at North High School's Performing Arts Center.

The group's final production of the year will be "Anna and the King of Siam," now scheduled for Thursday-Saturday, March 31 and April 1-2.

In ancient Greece and Rome, wine was stored in decorative pitchers called amphora. They were non-porous, which protected the wine from contact with the air. When the Dark Ages began, the secret of making amphora was lost and wines that required aging were no longer available. It was not until the end of the eighteenth century that it was discovered that a bottle with a cork that was kept constantly moist by the wine would serve the same purpose as the amphora. Interestingly, the Portuguese discovered the use of the cork in their efforts to create a wine market to compete with the French. The winner of this contest is well known—French wines still rule the world.

Know Your Schools

By Dr. William Coats, Superintendent

As residents of the school district already know, the Board of Education has set Saturday, March 12, as the date for a three-year renewal of two operating millage propositions.

Passage of Proposition One, (2.2 mills), will maintain the district's current educational offerings, while Proposition Two, (.11 of a mill), will maintain the public libraries' program.

In weeks to come there will be much discussion about the election and the need for a successful outcome. Although I expect to comment upon various aspects of the election in future columns, today I want to mention the high degree of personal involvement which citizens and taxpayers of this district will play in the success of the election.

The Citizens Millage Renewal Campaign Committee for the important March 12 election will be headed by Elaine and Robert Feeser of The Woods and Anne and Sterling Berry of The City. The school system is indebted to these couples for tremendous services rendered during 1976, when they led both the March 29 and June 14 elections.

The Board of Education, the staff and residents of the school district, who are aware of the impact of quality schools not only on property values but on all other aspects of community life as well, sincerely appreciate the degree of involvement and the long hours to which they are committing themselves in assuming this burden.

Helping the leadership are citizens in every school attendance area. These volunteers will assist in informing all segments of the community of the need for the renewal of 2.2 mills for the public schools and .11 of a mill for the public library for the next three years.

The roster of building leaders includes Cornelia Brooks and Emilia Cusenza at Barnes; Eleanor Tacke at Defer; Mary Black at Ferry; Anne Lewis and Anne Osborn at Kerby; Bob Kotas at Maire; and Patricia Bakeman and Catherine Brierly at Mason.

More millage workers will be Lynne Millies at Montclair; Juanita Mallmann at Poupard; Claire Perry at Poupard; James and Lucy Smith and Frank and Ruth Zinn at Trombley; Ed Haug and Sandy Gentile at Brownell; and Robert Goulder and Jim Plath at Parcels.

Leonard and Marsha Winger will work at Pierce; David and Diane Rentschler at North High School; Joe and Bev Fromm at South High School; and Frank J. Sladen Jr. for the Public Library.

In addition to these volunteers, the Citizens' campaign leadership has convened an advisory committee which met Thursday, February 3.

They also met on February 3 with high school representatives who serve on the Superintendent's Student Advisory Committee to inform them about the election.

One View from the Capitol

By William R. Bryant Jr.

Legislative bodies throughout the country complain the executive branch hides and distorts fiscal information, making the legislators unduly dependent on the executive branch.

The Michigan legislature created its own fiscal agencies to provide the Appropriations Committee members of both parties with factual information on revenue, expenditures and program effectiveness.

But, alas, it was working too well and the director of the House Fiscal Agency made the fatal mistake of feeling the professional independence of the agency would let it criticize, even mildly, the appropriations process of the House itself.

Having been asked by the Democratic Speaker Bobby Crim to prepare a report on how to improve the appropriations process, the agency proceeded to study the matter and, last month, released its report.

Speaker Crim praised the report, but eventually it was read by Rep. Dominic Jacobetti, the chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

Rep. Jacobetti reacted with rage to release of the report and to the changes suggested as to how his committee might improve its budgeting procedures and ordered the agency director, Wes Beadling, to fire those who wrote the report.

Mr. Beadling responded that the whole agency had input and he would not fire anyone for writing an objective report, especially one requested by the speaker.

So Rep. Jacobetti took a new tack and, you guessed it, fired Mr. Beadling.

Through all this Speaker Crim failed to come to the aid of Mr. Beadling, or try to protect the agency from being made the puppet of Rep. Jacobetti. In fact, he withdrew his support of the report he had requested and praised.

By the actions of Speaker Crim and Rep. Jacobetti, the agency has been destroyed. Republican lawmakers and Democratic lawmakers who disagree with the loose spending policies of their leaders can no longer depend on the agency for objective, unbiased information.

The House Fiscal Agency has been ruined. We now have a one million dollar House Fiscal Agency to act as the personal staff and puppet of the Democrat majority. The agency should be dissolved, immediately.

What does a ring mean to you? For most people, of course, the wedding and engagement rings in their lives are among the most important possessions. We choose these rings with great pride and care, expecting them to last at least a lifetime. But rings are for other occasions, too, for dress up, for friendship, for gifts of all sorts. A hobby ring is perfect for a friend with an all-pervasive interest. A shining ring is fine for dinner wear, birthstone rings make elegant and treasured birthday presents. There is a ring for practically every occasion in life.

Remember, Valentine's Day is very close by! You can come in to VALENTE JEWELRY, 16601 East Warren at Kensington, 881-4800, Detroit, and find something to fit your personal tastes and budget requirements. You can have engraving done beautifully and quickly at VALENTE'S JEWELRY — we do our own engraving on the premises. We're open daily 9 'til 5:30 and Fri. 'til 7:30.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

I am commenting on your article titled "Officials Blast New EMS Laws" in your January 27 paper.

In one paragraph, (the story), stated that "Increased medical training for emergency attendants and more sophisticated equipment for transporting patients" would result from these bills. Now tell me, what is so wrong with better medical services for our citizens?

Your article goes on to say that all five Pointes provide ambulance services. If you consider a station wagon with only a back board and sometimes oxygen an ambulance, fine.

Later there is mention of The City's station wagon called the meat wagon even by City officers, that until recently never even carried oxygen. They were, and still are, providing a bare minimum of service to their citizens with that wagon.

Matter of fact, City citizens might be better off transporting in family cars to save time getting help since little is available on their wagon.

Joseph Vitale, (Shores Public Safety Director), said, "It would probably cost as much as $100,000 just to train the EMTs," (emergency medical technicians). If he is having his officers trained at Macomb County Community College, which has a good EMT course, he could train over 300 men and women as EMTs.

My last comment rests with the line of "... most runs take five minutes or less ...". Okay. Five minutes to get the patient and transport. Plus two or three minutes to get there, taking at least 10 minutes before getting to the hospital. Adding on the time the household takes to react to the situation and decide they need to transport.

All this time seems short, but if the patient had just stopped breathing, in four to six minutes, brain damage probably has occurred.

If heart and breathing had stopped, six minutes would be biological death, and if it takes 10 minutes to get to the hospital brain damage is almost certain, according to the American National Red Cross.

If the five Pointes cannot afford to expand, why couldn't they combine their efforts. Possibly by setting up two or three main Pointes with a well-equipped ambulance, using The Woods' or a vehicle like Detroit's EMS trucks, to make runs.

They could split the cost for training the EMTs and all the other expenses, spending a minimum of dollars on saving a maximum of lives.

Very sincerely,
Michael R. Echlin,
Of Roslyn road

To The Editor:

The Good Turn Drive for clothing and old newspapers recently conducted by the Detroit Area Council, Boy Scouts of America was a tremendous success.

As a result of the efforts of the Scouts and their leaders, thousands of hours of employment will be available to handicapped employees of League for the Handicapped — Goodwill Industries.

The huge pile of clothing collected from metropolitan area homes will be repaired by handicapped workers and sold in Goodwill stores to provide funds to pay wages.

The many tons of old newspapers will be converted by other handicapped workers into a fire-retardant insulating material which will save energy and natural resources.

The staff and employees of League—Goodwill join me in saying "Thank You" to the Scouts and their leaders; to the trucking companies and their drivers who volunteered their time and equipment; and to many other volunteers who gave of their time to help out.

We also want to express our appreciation to the thousands of householders who placed their contributions out for collection.

As a result of these combined efforts, handicapped men and women at League—Goodwill will have employment opportunities available to them all winter long.

Sincerely yours,
Russell G. Albrecht,
President

Men Gardeners Meet Feb. 17

"If Winter Goes" will be the topic of a two-man panel discussion when the Men's Garden Club of Grosse Pointe holds its regular meeting Thursday, February 17, in the Central Library, 10 Kercheval avenue at 8 p.m.

Designed to cover a gardener's first concerns when the ground becomes workable in the spring, the program will feature club members Elmore W. Frank, a past president, and George Vincent.

Mr. Frank will discuss soils and fertilizers. He was one of the organizers and first president of the Grosse Pointe Rose Society. He is a judge of horticulture, accredited by Men's Garden Clubs of America, and a consulting rosarian in the Grosse Pointe area.

He was a former home garden consultant for the Wayne County Extension Service, and is a recognized rose tester in this area.

Mr. Vincent, a club member for 23 years, will discuss seeds and vegetables. He is a general gardener, with about equal interests in flowers and vegetables. Soil improvement through the use of organic materials is one of his special interests.

He is a member and former officer of Uniroval Masters Toastmasters' Club.

County Board Names Pointer

Ervin A. Steiner, (R-Grosse Pointe), has been appointed to the Human Resources Committee, announced John Barr, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners recently.

Others appointed to the committee are John J. Korney, (D-Detroit), George Z. Hart, (D-Deerborn), and Maxine Young (D-Detroit).

What Goes On at Your Library

By William T. Peters
Director of Public Libraries

Americans are known for many things—and one of the best of these is our inventiveness. Here is a sample of books that have recently been added to our collection that tell the history of our inventions and their inventors.

The safety pin, the sewing machine, typewriters, electric light, the automobile, the airplane and the submarine, the telephone, artificial teeth, bakelite, nylon, canning, refrigerators, the computer, the production line, the atom bomb. These are only a few of the many facets of the world today we take for granted which were invented or perfected in America.

The stories behind these and many other inventions are recounted in Bruce Norman's new book, THE INVENTING OF AMERICA, (Taplinger).

Originally Americans were forced to be inventive to overcome the problems of their alien and hostile environment. Subsequently our greatest invention—the American system of manufacture—mass-production, (interchangeable parts, the use of unskilled labor, manufacturing under a single roof), enabled the United States to outstrip its competitors and lead the world.

In this book, Mr. Norman tells of the successes, (and failures), of American inventions in a fully illustrated narrative that in many cases includes the words of the original inventors.

Another excellent book about inventions is the National Geographic's THOSE INVENTIVE AMERICANS, which was published in 1971.

This beautifully illustrated book opens on Benjamin Franklin's experiments in Colonial Philadelphia with a parlor curiosity called "electrical fluid"—static electricity—and ends with Charles Townes' maser and its offspring the laser, most brilliant and versatile light known.

In between we see the struggles of Robert Fulton and his steamboat; Eli Whitney and his cotton gin; Ernest Lawrence and the cyclotron; John Bardeen, Walter Brattain, William Shockley and the transistor.

The stories of America's inventors as told in this volume abound in genius, insight and ambition, along with frustration and heartbreak. But they also tell much more—the development of a nation.

In THE INGENIOUS YANKEES, (Crowell), authors Joseph and Frances Gies spellbind the reader in this history of what they call the "second revolution"—that forged by the inventive, ingenious New England "Yankees" of the century between 1776 and 1876.

Here is the era of progress, and the people who made it, astonishing the country and arousing the envy of foreigners: the dramatic growth of transportation which saw the steam engine navigating the Erie Canal and powering the first railroads; automated plows and reapers to aid the farmer; guns with interchangeable parts; mass-produced steel.

The authors' vivid mini-biographies of dozens of famous and obscure Yankees humanize their survey of this span of industrial expansion that was highlighted by Bell's telephone and Edison's Menlo Park, "the first industrial research laboratory."

For those readers who would like a somewhat lighter treatment of the subject of American inventions we have Stacy V. Jones' INVENT-

DIA to Host London Movie

A complete tour of London with closeups of the Queen and the British crown jewels will be shown in the World Adventure Series movie, "Let's Go to London," on Sunday, February 13, in the Detroit Institute of Arts, (DIA), auditorium, at 3 p.m.

The movie, narrated by world traveler Doug Jones, includes Piccadilly Circus and the Theatre District, Trafalgar Square, Buckingham Palace, Westminster, Houses of Parliament, and the Tower of London. Other scenes include those of Madame Tussaud's Wax Museum, Windsor Castle, shopping on Regent Street, pubs, double-deck buses, the story of Winston Churchill and a tour inside Big Ben.

For ticket information and a free illustrated brochure describing all coming travel programs, phone the World Adventure Series at 832-7676 any day from 9:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

TIONS NECESSITY IS NOT THE MOTHER OF PATENTS. RIDICULOUS AND SUBLIME. (Quadrangle).

Since George Washington signed the first patent in 1790, close to four million inventions have been patented in the United States. Many of these inventions have proven to be extremely beneficial and the items patented have been manufactured by the millions. Many other inventions never got off the drawing board.

It is the second category of inventions that Mr. Jones writes of. Among the 300 plus devices he describes include an automatic baby-burper that frees the parent of a chore and the baby of gas; a parakeet diaper; an automatic housepainter that moves along the sides of a building; and a driverless lawn mower that shuts itself off and garages itself; and an alarm clock that squirts the sleeper in the face.

More are a gold and platinum trap for catching tapeworms; a golf ball that sends out a smoke signal when it lands to help its owner locate it; and an anti-bicycle thief device that sends a long, sharp needle into the rear end of anyone making off with the bicycle.

Whether renowned or obscure, simple or complex, straightforward or bizarre, the author's selections make for fascinating and entertaining reading.

Jefferis Heads Riegler Office

U.S. Senator Donald W. Riegler, who has opened a number of offices to serve the Fifth and Ninth Congressional Districts in Michigan, has opened one in the Federal Building, Grand Rapids.

He announced the appointment of Frank D. Jefferis, son of Shores Village Superintendent and Mrs. Thomas Jefferis, of Lakeshore road, as his western regional representative.

The senator said the office has been staffed to handle both constituent problems and to actively seek to bring more federal programs into the region.

Mr. Jefferis is a graduate of Kalamazoo College and received a Masters degree from the LBJ School of Public Affairs at the University of Texas. Most recently he was deputy campaign director for State Supreme Court Justice Blair Moody. Previously, he was a management intern for the Upjohn Corp.

The new regional representative said he sees three main functions for the Western Regional Office.

"There is nothing more important than working for the people through casework. We want to help people deal with government agencies and bureaucracies."

"Secondly, we will bring more Federal money and expertise into the region. Thirdly, we will keep Sen. Riegler informed of the people of the western region."

Heart Disease Program Slated

"Coronary and Arterial Diseases" will be the subject of a Community Health Information Program which will be held Tuesday, February 22, in the Peter A. Whyte Memorial Auditorium at Saint John Hospital, 22101 Moross road, at 7:30 p.m.

The program is sponsored by the Saint John Hospital Guild in cooperation with the Saint John Hospital Medical Staff.

The speakers include Hugh W. Henderson, MD, cardiologist, Saint John Hospital; Vlado J. Kozul, MD, director of Cardiovascular Disease and Catheterization, Saint John Hospital; Joseph A. Grady, MD, chief, Department of Surgery, Saint John Hospital; and Clayton M. Shors, MD, chief, Department of Cardiology, Saint John.

A question-and-answer period will follow.

For free tickets and further information, call the Saint John Hospital Guild office at 881-8200, extension 547 or 405.

PAIR SELECTED

A unanimous ballot was cast as chairman of the East selecting Peter R. Gile, Woods Planning Commission for this year at the group's rescheduled regular meeting Tuesday, January 18. At the same time, the commissioners unanimously named George R. Rinaldi as vice-chairman.

Ruth Loop Sets Registration

The season itself is some weeks off, but Babe Ruth League baseball for teenagers is getting underway again this year in The Park, City and Farms—with a difference.

Last year the Babe Ruth League of Grosse Pointe, Inc., provided organized play for teenagers from all three communities.

This year, it is planned that the program will remain essentially the same as it has been except there will be two separate leagues where there was one before.

One league will enroll players from The Park, while the other will include players from The City and Farms. The two leagues will be roughly equal in terms of numbers of players.

The split between the two took place when The City-Farms contingent decided to break off and go its own way.

Registration for The Park league—officially named the Babe Ruth League of Grosse Pointe Park, Inc.—will be held from Monday-Wednesday, February 14-16, from 7-9 p.m. at the Neighborhood Club, 17150 Waterloo avenue.

This is the only Babe Ruth program for Park youths, and it is open to ballplayers ages 13-18.

Thirteen-, 14- and 15-year-olds will play in one division, just as in the past. In this division, there may be inter-league games with the new City-Farms league, but this has not as yet been decided.

Sixteen-, 17- and 18-year-olds will play in another, more advanced division with teams from The City, Farms and Woods.

The registration fee for players in The Park league is $20 per player, with a maximum of $30 per family. These fees cover less than half the expenses of providing the program.

All players, except those assigned to last year's major-league teams, will be required to attend at least two of four scheduled tryout sessions.

The tryout sessions are scheduled for March 26-27, and April 2-3. Times and places of the tryouts will be announced at a later date.

To be eligible for play in the 13-15-year-old division, a player must have been born on or after August 1, 1961, and before August 1, 1964.

To compete in the 16-18-year-old division, a player must have been born on or after August 1, 1958, and before August 1, 1961.

All players must live in The Park. Except for players who were registered in the Babe Ruth League of Grosse Pointe last year, birth certificates must be presented.

It also is desirable that a parent accompany the player to registration in case questions arise.

The course deals with the theory of aerodynamics and qualifies the student to pass the FAA written private pilot's examination.

Students will be taught the systems of an airplane, airport and traffic controls, navigation and weather. The entire Airman's Informational Manual will be covered and explained.

Lectures will be supplemented by audio-visual aids. Tuition is $45 for 15 weeks of three-hour lessons.

Mado Lie Chosen For 'Heart of Gold'

Pointer Is Among Nine Recipients of This Year's Awards for Outstanding Volunteer Service in Tri-County Area

Mado (Mrs. Kim K.) Lie, of Bedford road, was one of nine women honored for outstanding volunteer service at the 10th annual Heart of Gold award luncheon in Cobo Hall.

Nearly 2,000 metropolitan-area residents attended the Tuesday, February 8, event, co-sponsored by the Heart of Gold Award Council and Women for the United Foundation.

In addition to Mrs. Lie, gold heart-shaped charms were awarded to Dorothy Claborn, of Westland; Sarah McGagh, of Birmingham; Evelyn McGuire, of Westland; Sheila Ordine, of Southfield; Elizabeth Peek, of Detroit; Marian Shifman, of West Bloomfield; Gail Waggoner, of Dearborn; and Melanie Waldron, of Detroit.

The women were heralded by Michigan's First Lady, Mrs. William G. Milliken, and the mayor of Detroit, The Honorable Coleman A. Young. The honorees also received special recognition from Robert J. Cahill, first vice-president of the Central Business District Association.

Adding their congratulations were United Foundation executive vice-president H. Clay Howell and WUF president Sue Kinnaird, of Moran road.

Guest speaker was Dr. Joyce Brothers, psychologist, columnist and radio-television personality.

Chairing the event was Lucy Easlick, of Balfour road, Vice-chairman of an Ann Arbor, of Bloomfield Hills, read the citations and presented the awards. Mrs. Lie was nominated by the Junior Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. While serving as president of that group, she organized the first Musical Marathon on WJR radio, a fund-raising effort designed to broaden the DSO's base of support.

Under Mado's leadership the Symphony Juniors were able to donate the largest sum in their history—over $30,000—to the orchestra.

Mrs. Lie currently serves as president of the Grace Hospital Women's Auxiliary, which raises funds for medical equipment through its gift shop and various special events.

In addition, she has chaired Cottage Hospital's Donation Tea for several years. She is also a member of the auxiliaries of the Wayne County Medical Society, Saint Joseph's Hospital and Children's Hospital.

For the past 10 years Mrs. Lie has been active with Art to the Schools at the Detroit Institute of Arts. Through this unique program, she and other volunteers give art appreciation talks to fourth, fifth and sixth graders at public schools throughout the metropolitan area.

DGOA Sponsors Annual January Luncheon

Elizabeth Parcells Is Recipient of Elizabeth Hodges Donovan Award at Scholarship Contest Which Traditionally Follows Big Gathering

Mail order tickets are now on sale for May 23 through 28 performances of the Metropolitan Opera at Detroit's Masonic Auditorium, Henry Ledyard, of Lewiston road, vice-president and manager of the Detroit Grand Opera Association, announced at the DGOA's annual luncheon.

More than 300 members of the Association's General Committee and invited guests were on hand for the recent gathering in Masonic's Crystal Ballroom.

The DGOA has sponsored the Met's annual spring visits for the past 19 years.

"We have excellent seats for all performances, at virtually all prices," Mr. Ledyard stated. "The 1977 season includes two new productions, one of which is a rarity from the early 19th century, 'Le Prophete' by Giacomo Meyerbeer, as well as several of our community's favorites: 'Samson et Dalila,' 'La Boheme' and 'Il Trovatore.'"

"The season contains a winning combination of variety in presentations and excellent casting."

Mr. Ledyard added that ticket order brochures for the Metropolitan Opera's Detroit season may be obtained by calling or writing the DGOA offices at Ford Auditorium, 20 East Jefferson avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48226, (965-2940).

The Association's special luncheon guest was Francis Robinson, colorful press and tour director of the Metropolitan, who for many years has been one of opera's best-known spokesmen. Mr. Robinson delighted his audience with anecdotes covering his long career in the world of music, as well as comments on the upcoming season in Detroit.

Keum Ja Kim, lyric coloratura soprano and Doctoral student at the University of Michigan, won the $2,500 Grinnell Foundation of Music Award, presented as part of the final competition in the DGOA scholarship program.

The contest was held in Masonic's Scottish Rite Cathedral following the annual luncheon, with Mr. Robinson, Gail Rector, president of the University of Michigan's University Musical Society, and David Bamberger, artistic director of the Cleveland Opera Company, serving as judges.

Two additional prizes of $1,000 each went to Carlos Chausson, a bass from Ann Arbor who won the Henry E. Wenger Scholarship, and Elizabeth Parcells, coloratura soprano, recipient of the Elizabeth Hodges Donovan Award.

Miss Parcells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Parcells, Jr., of Cloverly road, began singing in the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church Youth Choirs under Malcolm and Marian Johns, of Rivard boulevard.

She began formal training at age 16 with past-Grinnell winner Elsie Inselman, mezzo-soprano, spent two summers at the National Music Camp where she studied with Elizabeth Manion and Willis Patterson, and was graduated from Interlochen Arts Academy in 1970.

Miss Parcells holds Bachelors and Masters degrees from the New England Conservatory, where her voice instructor was Mark Pearson. She has performed with the Handel and Haydn Society, the Cecilia Society, the Cambridge Society for the Performance of Early Music, the Boston Pops with Arthur Fiedler and as regular soloist at King's Chapel with Daniel Pinkham!

At the New England Conservatory, she performed Miss Wordworth in "Albert Herring," Norina in "Don Pasquale" and Zerbinetta in "Ariadne auf Naxos." She also participated in Boris Goldovsky Opera Workshops. Locally, Miss Parcells has performed at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, Christ Church, Detroit, and as soloist with the Grosse Pointe Symphony.

She has been selected by the DGOA as first slot contestant for the Metropolitan Opera's regional vocal auditions in Cleveland, scheduled for Sunday, February 27, at the Cleveland Institute of Music.

The singers sent to the regional meet are considered ready for operatic careers, and are ranked according to the potential they are thought to have by judges in the local contest.

More than 600 Michigan singers have competed for Detroit Grand Opera Association prizes, which to date exceed $100,000. The DGOA began its scholarship program in 1945. The Grinnell Foundation of Music has provided $77,000 in awards, beginning in 1947.

Scholarship chairman for the Association's annual competition is Mrs. Sam B. Williams, of Bloomfield Hills.

Membership in the DGOA's General Committee has increased to more than 1,700 statewide. Over 1,000 are renewals from 1976. The total figure represents an increase of more than 400 members.

Advertising sales for the 1977 Opera Program, distributed to those attending Metropolitan performances, already exceed $30,000 of the $70,000 goal set last fall by Mrs. Frank R. Gerbig, Jr., 1977 advertising chairman.

Other officers of the DGOA present at the meeting included Frank W. Donovan, chairman of the board, Wilber Hadley Mack, president, Mrs. Mack and Mrs. Peter W. Stroh, general chairman and co-chairman, respectively, of the 1977 season.

Commodore's Ball Countdown

The lady with the stopwatch at the Grosse Pointe Boat Club's Commodore's Ball was most definitely NOT looking for a yacht race to time.

What Susan Jane Witt Stein was counting down at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club Saturday evening, January 22, was contractions: Adam R. Stein made his appearance January 23, at William Beaumont Hospital. Jerry K. Stein assisted at his son's natural birth.

Planning Cocktail Buffet

The Grosse Pointe Alumnae of the Sacred Heart are sponsoring a cocktail buffet at the Grosse Pointe boulevard home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gottfredson Sunday, February 20, from 6 to 8 o'clock.

All $7.50 per person donations will be used to provide scholarships to the Grosse Pointe Academy for children of Alumnae, and for the further restoration of the parlour in the Academy's Lakeshore building.

Assisting Mrs. Gottfredson and Mrs. John L. King in planning the event are Mrs. Richard Law, Alumnae president, vice-presidents Mrs. Anthony Fisher and Mrs. Allen Godin, secretaries Mrs. Clair Pike and Mrs. Rickard Thompson, treasurer Mrs. Thomas Kolojeski, tribute secretary Mrs. J. Burns Cody and past-presidents Mrs. Robert Grambo and Mrs. Robert Peabody.

Accepting reservations by mail is hospitality chairman Mrs. Michael Kirchner, of South Oxford road.

Ansel Adams, Look Out!

There's still time to run over to The Camera Center in the Village and take a look at the "Top 20" photographs submitted by Detroit area Camp Fire girls to Camp Fire's recent national art competition.

Grosse Pointers did themselves proud in that contest: among the young shutterbugs whose work is on display are Debbie and Kathy Gihney, Paula Hanpeter, Janet Gross and Renee Coletti.

Twenty-Month Quilting Bee

A very special quilt goes on display Monday at the Grosse Pointe Central Library. Its 24 blocks tell the History of Michigan, from Madame Cadillac's arrival in Detroit to the appearance of the first steamship, Walk-on-the-Water, in Lake St. Clair.

The quilt, a project of the Grosse Pointe Branch of the American Association of University Women, took 20 months from inception to completion, and involved some 55 Pointe AAUW members.

A Brisk Party-Planning Session

It's been brisk in Michigan this year, and among the briskest places locally has been the entrance to the Grosse Pointe Club, (those cold winds blowing off the lake create a windchill factor not to be believed!), but cold couldn't daunt MRS. ROBERT ORR, MRS. ARTHUR R. PFANNENSCHMIDT and MRS.

Quilting Talk for Questers

Grosse Pointe Chapter of Questers #147 meets tomorrow, Friday, February 11, at 10 in the morning in the Vendome road home of Mrs. John G. Martin to hear Mrs. Robert Dimaggio speak on "Quilting - Old and New Pastime."

Mrs. Dimaggio, member of the National Standards Council of American Embroiderers, has attended seminars sponsored by the Council in such distant spots as Newport Beach, Calif., and New Orleans, La.

She teaches courses in Quilting and Stitchery at Macomb Community College and Harper Woods High School, in the adult education program.

She will illustrate her talk with slides of Bicentennial quilting shows and clothing showing the various uses of quilting and stitchery today and in the past, and will demonstrate how to piece different types of patchwork together, round as well as square.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Martin for the luncheon following are Mrs. John Alexander and Mrs. Austin Wheatley.

Taking Orders For Fertilizer

The Grosse Pointe South High School Mothers Club is sponsoring its second annual fertilizer sale, offering brand name fertilizers for lawns and gardens.

Order forms have been mailed to all Grosse Pointe homes, and are available at the three branches of the Grosse Pointe Public Library. Orders and checks must be received by this Saturday, February 14.

The fertilizer will be delivered to buyers' homes March 26. All proceeds go to South High School.

Co-chairing this year's sale are Marian Coyle, Ann Dittmars and Sally Chown.

Kappa Kappa Gamma Salutes Valentine Day

Local Kappa Kappa Gamma members, alumnae, husbands and friends will gather Sunday, February 13, at the Lakeshore road home of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Morin for KKG's annual Salute to Valentine's Day.

Committee members planning the 5 to 7 o'clock party include Sarah Hill, Martha Seger, Betty Coddington and Frances Tanner. Laurie Huettelman is in charge of reservations.

Delta Gamma Alumnae to Tour Eye Institute

Grosse Pointe Delta Gamma Alumnae will meet Monday, February 14, at 9:30 in the morning at the Detroit Institute of Ophthalmology in East Jefferson avenue.

After a tour of the building they'll rendezvous at the Audubon road home of Judy Walker, who is taking reservations at 886-9580, for coffee and a meeting.

Accepting reservations at 886-8040 for a Founder's Day luncheon Saturday, March 19, at 11:30 o'clock at the Hyatt Regency in Dearborn is Dorothy Cowan.

Jan Insley's Lakeland avenue home will be the setting for an 11 o'clock meeting Wednesday, April 6, after which the group will travel to the Detroit Institute of Arts. Reservations may be made through Monday, March 14, by calling 823-1819.

Neveux-Johnson Rites Celebrated

Autumn Rites Are Followed by Reception at Georgian Inn; Venice Lace Trims Bridal Gown and Veil; Pair at Home in Roseville

Vacationing on Grand Cayman Island in the Caribbean following their marriage Saturday, October 23, in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church were Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Edward Neveux, who are now at home in Roseville.

Mrs. Neveux is the former Joni Lynn Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Johnson, of Roslyn road. Mr. Neveux is the son of Mrs. Mildred Neveux, of Higbie place north, and the late Clyde Neveux.

The 5:30 o'clock rites at which Dr. Raymond Kiely and The Reverend Father Joseph Hartman O.S.A. presided were followed by a reception in the Georgian Inn's Georgian Ballroom.

Venice lace appliques rimmed the Queen Anne neckline of the bride's white crystalline Qiana gown. Her triple-tiered, lace-edged veil fell from a lace-covered cap. She carried an arrangement of silk and dried chrysanthemums, baby's-breath and daisy mums.

White lace trimmed the necks, cuffs and Empire, sweater-knit bodies of her attendants' emerald green frocks, styled with floor length, polyester skirts. They carried baskets of silk and dried autumn flowers.

Honor maid was Cynthia Shortt. Bridesmaids were

Exchange Vows

Marriage vows were exchanged Saturday, October 23, in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church by JONI LYNN JOHNSON, daughter of the James J. Johnson, of Roslyn road, and STEPHEN EDWARD NEVEUX, son of Mrs. Mildred Neveux, of Higbie place north, and the late Clyde Neveux.

Dawn Hill, Laurie King and Margaret Saberan. Best man was John Bott. In the usher corps were Gary Hill, Scott LaRose and David Neveux, brother of the bridegroom. Mrs. Johnson chose a floor length, aqua polyester knit, with a matching V-shaped chiffon cape, for her daughter's wedding. She wore a wrist corsage of yellow and white silk chrysanthemums. The bridegroom's mother's mint green dress, V-necked, sleeveless and floor length, featured a matching chiffon cape accented with satin trimming. Her wrist corsage was a peach silk rose.

Woman's Club Tea Honors Presidents

Program Next Wednesday Will Feature Helen Huber Who Believes—and Proves—Entertainment Can Be Fun

The Grosse Pointe Woman's Club will honor its president, Mrs. Dick Warner, and all its past presidents at a tea next Wednesday, February 16, at 12:30 o'clock in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Crystal Ballroom.

Special guests will be presidents of clubs affiliated with the Federation of Women's Clubs of Metropolitan Detroit, Federation officers, presidents of clubs in the Pointe community and the Senior Ladies Club of Grosse Pointe.

Mrs. Lloyd A. Beemer, program chairman, will introduce guest speaker Helen Huber, whose topic is "Entertaining Can Be Fun."

Mrs. Huber, a former Physical Education teacher in the Detroit Public Schools, has turned a hobby into two careers: teaching cooking at Grosse Pointe South High School and The Pointe Pedlar.

Mrs. Andrew Bremer, Jr., a past-president of the Woman's Club, is the President's

Begin Church Women's Year

The Women's Association of the Grosse Pointe Congregational/American Baptist Church began its year Tuesday, January 11, installing officers for 1977 at its annual meeting.

President is Mrs. Dudley Arnold. First, second and third vice-presidents are, respectively, Mrs. Bernice Bares, Mrs. William Reid and Mrs. Paul Weber, and Mrs. William Frame.

Recording secretary is Mrs. Clayton Strange. Corresponding secretary is Mrs. Thomas Mahoney. Treasurer is Mrs. Benjamin Prescott.

Chairmen include Mrs. Raymond Offerman, spiritual life, Mrs. Edward Richert, special projects, Mrs. Clifford Kuhl and Mrs. Anna Atha, friendly service, Mrs. Robert Veit, culinary, and Mrs. Richard Allor, publicity.

The women meet the second Tuesday of every month in the Church Hall, and the fourth Tuesday of every month in individual groups. All women of the church are always welcome to attend any meeting.

The next individual group meetings are scheduled for Tuesday, February 22. Lydia members gather for coffee at 9:15 in the morning in the Canterbury road home of Mrs. Walter Kurtz, whose co-hostess is Mrs. Charles Holt. The program will feature "Packing and Traveling Tips" by an American Airlines representative.

Smithsonian Visits Detroit

A photo show, "Artists and Their Studios," a lecture and three performances by the Smithsonian Chamber Players are on the Detroit Institute of Arts' February calendar under sponsorship of the museum and the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C.

Photographs from the Archives of American Art trace the changing self-image of American artists — John Singer Sargent, John Sloan, Rockwell Kent, Louise Nevelson, Alexander Calder, David Smith, Willem de Kooning and others—from stylish 19th century New York studio apartments to 20th century factories and lofts as the physical scale of art works grows in post-war years.

The photos are on view during regular museum hours, Wednesday through Sunday, 9:30 to 5:30 o'clock.

through Sunday, February 27. The original sound of 18th and 19th century Baroque, Classical and Early Romantic music will be heard when the Smithsonian Chamber Players use antique instruments and authentic reproductions in concerts on Friday, February 11, at 8 o'clock, and Saturday, February 12, at 3:30 and 8 o'clock, in the museum recital hall.

Concert tickets are $4 for each evening performance, $3.50 for the matinee, ($3 for students), and are available only at Hudson's downtown store.

Additional ticket information on these and other February exhibitions and events sponsored by the Smithsonian in conjunction with the Detroit Historical Museum and Cranbrook Institutions may be obtained from Hudson's, downtown ticket service, 223-5100.

A Message to INVESTMENT-MINDED Women

Many of our clients are women, who came to us initially for advice on their investments. They are still with us because they have confidence in the integrity and competence of our Account Executives. And they appreciate the fact that we have conscientious concern for their specific financial requirements and objectives.
Some of these women want maximum investment security, others are interested in growth, and still others are concerned with income. We try hard to please them all.
If you are an investor, or would-be investor, we invite you to discuss your program with us — without obligation. You'll like the courteous way we treat you. (And by the way, some of our Account Executives are women.)

Mr. Leonard Claims Bride

Simpson Catherwood Leonard, Jr., who has been making his home in Marina del Rey, Calif., claimed Linda Kay Abernathy, who has been residing in San Francisco, as his bride Saturday, January 29, at a mid-afternoon ceremony in Christ Church, Grosse Pointe.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Allen Cathcart, of Wallaceburg, Ont., Canada, and the late Clarence Robert Abernathy.

Mr. and Mrs. Simpson Catherwood Leonard, of Elm court, are the bridegroom's parents.

The 3 o'clock rites at which The Reverend Robert McGregor presided were followed by a reception at the Country Club of Detroit, after which the newlyweds left to vacation at Mauna Kea, Hawaii.

They will be making their home in Marina del Rey.

The bride wore a long jumper of eggshell satin, styled with pleated, cap sleeves, a pleated waist and two pleated front pockets, and an underblouse of sheer chiffon featuring long, full sleeves and a French bow at the neck.

A Juliet cap of satin petals caught her veil, which extended into a slight train. She carried loose daisies.

Patricia Ramona Cathcart, sister of the bride, and Susan Fink Panos were honor attendants, in floor length, halter frocks of taupe silk covered with waist length capes.

They wore wreaths of baby's-breath and pink flowers in their hair, and carried pink rubrum lilies and baby's-breath.

Best man was George A. Haggarty. Guests were seated by Robert H. Ollison, Robert G. Wood, Peter T. Kross and John H. Phelan, who came with Mrs. Phelan from Houston, Tex., for the ceremony.

Other out-of-town guests were the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Bruce Regan, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Mrs. Jack Humphries, of Northampton, England.

The mother of the bride wore a two-piece, floor length dress of grey-green silk blend, featuring a pleated bodice and cuffs. The bridegroom's mother selected a lavender gown, sashed and floor length.

Each mother wore a gardenia corsage.

When the newlyweds left for Hawaii the bride was wearing calf length rose wool, with a pleated bodice and sleeves, and boots of wine leather and suede, matching her wine leather bag.

Grosse Pointe Memorial Church was the setting for the Friday evening, December 17, wedding of LINDA SUE KREIDLER, daughter of the William P. Kreidlers, of North Brys drive, and Mr. Trudell, son of the Ralph Trudells, of Dearborn.

Evening Wedding For Linda Kreidler

John Charles Trudells Are at Home in Warren After Florida Vacation; Sally Kreidler Is Her Sister's Honor Maid

A reception at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club followed the evening ceremony in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church at which Linda Sue Kreidler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Kreidler, of North Brys drive, spoke her marriage vows to John Charles Trudell.

Presiding at the 7 o'clock rites Friday, December 17, were Dr. Raymond Kiely and The Reverend Gary Bueche.

Lace appliques accented the front and hem of the bride's white satin gown, styled with long, lace sleeves and a high, lace collar. Her fingertip veil fell from a cap of matching lace.

Miniature white roses, stephanotis and ivy formed her bouquet.

Sally Kreidler, honor maid for her sister, and bridesmaids Mrs. Michael Stewart, of Clawson, Mrs. Scott Dine, of Saint Joseph, and Sara Ann Pavlick, of Detroit, carried small, round, brown baskets filled with rust, yellow and white carnations, daisies and mums, with Christmas greens.

Their rust-colored gowns were sleeveless and high-necked. They wore matching, long-sleeved jackets.

Mr. Trudell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Trudell, of Dearborn, asked Mr. Stewart to act as best man. Seating the guests were William Mahan, of Warren, Pa., Thomas Fox, of Kalamazoo, and Richard Yuskowatz, of Wyandotte.

The mother of the bride wore a long, jade green shirt-waist, styled with long sleeves and a self-belt. The bridegroom's mother chose a long-sleeved, high-necked, pale green, formal length gown. Both mothers pinned miniature yellow rosebuds to their purses.

The newlyweds vacationed in Florida and are at home in Warren.

Out-of-town guests included the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Samuel L. Alexander, of DeLand, Fla., and her uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Darby, of Statesville, N.C.

Pair Planning March Rites

Planning to be married March 26, in the Grosse Pointe Academy Chapel, The Reverend Henry F. Berkenhauer, S.J., president of John Carroll University, officiating, are Mrs. Gilmore Sergius Van Hamm, of Cranford lane, and Joseph Lawrence Morgan, of Girard, O.

Mrs. Van Hamm, the former Virginia Kriehoff, daughter of Mrs. Edwin Kriehoff and the late Mr. Kriehoff, is with the Detroit Public Schools' Department of Staff Development and Teacher Training. She received her Bachelors and Masters degrees from the University of Michigan.

Mr. Morgan, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Evan L. Morgan, of Youngstown, O., is a graduate of the University of Detroit and attended U. of D. Law School. He is manager of Advertising and Sales Promotion for G. F. Business Equipment, Inc., of Youngstown.

'Magic Flute' Opens Feb. 11

"The Magic Flute," Mozart's last opera and unquestioned masterpiece, will close Michigan Opera Theatre's sixth season of opera in English at Detroit's Music Hall Center.

The production opens Friday, February 11, with performances slated for February 13, 16, 18 and 19. Ticket information may be obtained by calling 963-7680.

According to general director David DiChiera, MOT's production will be "startlingly original in its conception, and radically new in every detail."

DiChiera has engaged the team of Rhoda Levine, stage director, and designer Robert Israel, a native Detroit, whose previous collaborations for the Netherlands Opera and the Brussels Opera, "Macbeth," "The Good Soldier Schweik," "Der Kaiser Von Atlantis," have earned international recognition and acclaim.

A new translation has been created for MOT's production, with lyrics by Randolph Mauldin and dialogue by Yael Gani.

Mr. Mauldin conducted MOT's recent, highly successful, "Naughty Marietta." Ms. Gani provided translation revisions for Music Hall Center's production of "Seven Deadly Sins."

The new translation, according to Mr. Mauldin and Ms. Gani, "reveals the humanity of the characters in the opera, and gives a temporary and hopefully timeless meaning to a masterpiece of the past."

John Covelli, music director of the Flint Symphony, will make his MOT conducting debut with "The Magic Flute." Mr. Covelli has been assistant conductor of the New York City Opera and music director of the Florentine Opera of Milwaukee.

The role of Pamina will be performed by soprano Kathleen Battle, whose recent New York City Opera debut was hailed as "one of the best seen and heard in either major New York opera house in many seasons." Miss Battle made her MOT debut as Rosina in last season's "Barber of Seville."

Others in the cast are first place Grinnell Audition winner Keum Ja Kim, Gordon Finlay, Christopher Deane and Ronald Raines.

Mr. and Mrs. Avern Cohn will host the opening night afterglow in the theater. It is open to the public. Reserations, at $10 per person, may be made by calling 963-3717.

At the close of the Detroit performances, "The Magic Flute" will tour to Flint for a performance February 24 with the Flint Symphony at Whiting Auditorium.

Beginning February 28, "The Magic Flute" will be the full-length opera to be presented in eight Michigan cities as part of MOT's annual spring Opera in Residence tour of the state, which also includes one-act operas for children and adults, master classes and assembly programs.

The production of "The Magic Flute" and the Opera in Residence program are supported by a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Program on Lincoln Scheduled by ADK

Alpha Delta Kappa sorority of women educators will present Dr. Weldon E. Peitz, scholar, writer and collector of Lincoln memorabilia, in a lecture, "The Lawyer Who Spoke at Gettysburg," Wednesday, February 16, at 8 o'clock at Ferry School. The program is free and open to the public.

Roberts-Gray Betrothal Told

Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Gray, of Kalamazoo, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Kathy Maria, to Donald George Roberts, son of Mrs. Marian C. Roberts, of Blairmoor court, and George C. Roberts, of Houghton Lake.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Hackett High School, the prospective bridegroom an alumnus of Grosse Pointe North High School. Both presently attend Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, where she is employed at Doubleday Brothers and Company and he at Hepp's.

They plan an August 20 wedding, at Saint Monica's Catholic Church, Kalamazoo.

May Wedding Date Is Made

Plans for a May 21 wedding in Decatur are being made by Vicki Jill Newell and Erik Eloff Erikson, II, whose engagement has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Winfred Newell, of Decatur.

The bride-elect was graduated from Decatur High School and Albion College, where she affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta, and teaches special education in Kalamazoo.

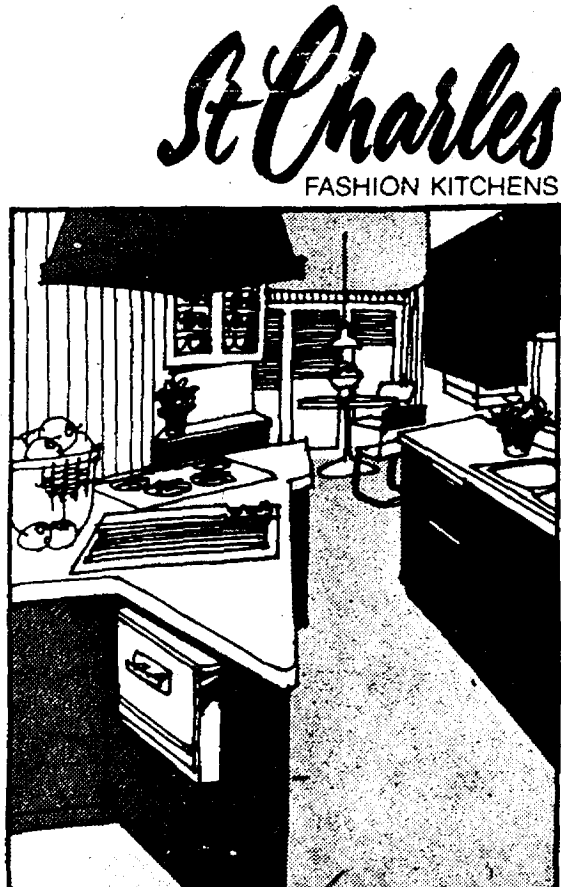

Her fiancé, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erik Everit Erikson, of DePetrus way, is a graduate of Grosse Pointe University School and Albion College, where he affiliated with Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Plan Grand Finale For 'Lighter Side'

Celeste Holm and Wesley Addy Appearing in 'With Love and Laughter' February 25; Cocktails and Dinner Precede Performance

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial's 1976-77 "Lighter Side" series closes Friday evening, February 25, with Broadway, movie and television star Celeste Holm and her husband Wesley Addy, currently appearing in "Network," on stage in Fries Auditorium.

Their program, "With Love and Laughter," an evening of theater in concert, explores the relationships between men and women through the writings of Shaw, Hammerstein, Mead, Anouilh and many others, with musical accompaniment.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Dickson, Jr., will open both their Ridge road home and the house to which they are moving in Fair Acres drive to accommodate "Lighter Side" patrons, going on to a black tie dinner at the War Memorial prior to the performance, for cocktails.

Dinner guests are asked to park in the Center lots, from where they will be taken via chartered bus, beginning at 5:30 o'clock, to one of the cocktail party houses. They'll be returned to the Center for dinner at 7:15 o'clock. Curtain time is 8:40.

The complete evening, including complimentary cocktails, dinner and the show, is $17 per person. Tickets for the show only are $8.75.

Reservations are limited. Tickets may be obtained at the War Memorial's first floor Alger House office, open from 9 in the morning until 9 in the evening daily, except Sundays.

Betrothed

The engagement of NANCY LEE HEIAN and Randolph Oesch has been announced by her parents, Dr. and Mrs. B. J. Heian, who moved recently from Grosse Pointe Woods to Waco, Tex.

The bride-elect, a Grosse Pointe North High School graduate, received her degree in Criminal Justice from Michigan State University, where she is completing work on her Masters degree in Police Administration while working for the Department of Corrections in the executive offices in Lansing.

Her fiancé, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Oesch, of Ballwin, Mo., is also a Michigan State University graduate.

Chaplain Chris V. Heian will come from the state of Washington to officiate at his sister's April 16 wedding in the Michigan State University chapel.

Lear at the Great Lakes Shakespeare Festival.

Both Miss Holm and Mr. Addy are seen frequently on television in such shows as "Medical Center" and "Streets of San Francisco," as well as movies of the week.

The theater in concert concept was developed by Miss Holm from her own observations, in her work in all performance mediums, that the simpler the setting, the freer the actors are to catch the audience's imagination, and the more satisfying it is to create the illusions of true theater.

GP Sail Club Fetes Officers

Grosse Pointe Sail Club members and their guests, 150 strong, gathered Saturday, January 29, at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club to celebrate the inauguration of GPSC Commodore Ralph Bower.

Seated at the head table at the Commodore's Ball were Commodore Bower and his lady Joyce Didier, Vice Commodore Dr. Robert Lenhard and his wife Terry, Rear Commodore Thomas Matyniak and his wife Carol and Past Commodore Kenneth Jamieson and his wife Mary.

Commodore Hal Stead, master of ceremonies, introduced all Detroit River Yachting Association visiting commodores and their ladies. Race chairman John Brennan presented trophies to the winners of GPSC's Tuesday night races.

Set Valentine Luncheon At Saint Joseph Home

The Saint Joseph Carmelite Guild of Saint Joseph Home for the Aged will sponsor a Valentine luncheon and card party Tuesday, February 15, at 12:30 o'clock at the Home in Cadieux road, Detroit. Donation is $2.75. Reservations may be made by calling TUXedo 2-3800.

Carol Program Honors Britten

The Old Christ Church Choir will sing Benjamin Britten's "Ceremony of the Carols," in memory of the English composer who died December 5, this Sunday, February 13, at 10:30 o'clock.

The performance will be conducted by Dr. Malcolm Johns, of Rivard boulevard, organist-choirmaster, with Nadia Marks playing the harp accompaniment. Dr. Samuel S. Johnston, rector, will preside at morning prayers.

Prelude and postlude music will be played by Detroit's unique Waldhorn Quartet, founded in 1975, the only "natural horn" group in the United States, under the direction of Lowell Greer, assistant principal of the French Horn section of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Other members of the quartet are R. J. Kelley, Dearborn Symphony, Mark Roffi, Flint Symphony, and Carl Karoub, Windsor Symphony. They will use both modern French Horns and "natural horns" without valves: the instruments of Bach, Mozart, Handel and Telemann, (c. 1600-1890). The valveless horn requires great skill to create the necessary pitches by wind pressure and lip position.

Double Treat Days Ahead

It will be a busy weekend for the Metropolitan Detroit Chapter March of Dimes, with the Sweetheart Ball, an elegant annual salute to romance, scheduled for Saturday, February 12, at Raleigh House, and the 24th annual Fashion Extravaganza set for Sunday, February 13, at the Latin Quarter.

The Detroit Community Music School's string ensemble will play light show tunes during the ball's cocktail hour. Martha Jean "The Queen" Steinberg will commentate during the afternoon fashion spectacular.

Information on tickets for both events may be obtained by contacting March of Dimes headquarters, 884-6000.

Book Review Group to Meet

The Book Review Group of the Women's Association of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church will gather Tuesday, February 15, in Barbour Chapel at the church to hear Kris Morris, of the Grosse Pointe Public Library staff, review a timely book.

Reservations for luncheon at noon in Fellowship Hall preceding the meeting may be obtained by calling the church office.

Let's Talk Real Estate

by John E. Brink

Soon now there is going to be a lot written in the newspapers regarding the property values in our Grosse Pointes. The gist of all this will be that our property values, on the average, are less than comparable homes in other cities. An example might be a $90,000 home here would sell for $125,000 in La Grange, Ill. These are the reports we continually receive from both people moving into the Pointes and those who are leaving us.

This certainly does not mean our wonderful Grosse Pointe is facing any great property decline. In fact, recently it's been nothing but a steady appreciation in property values. For many people about the only good investment they've made has been the home in which they are living!

Grosse Pointe Real Estate Co. has just completed a very intensive and expensive proposal to help keep Grosse Pointe the best! We have done this something like a preventative medicine. We just don't think our area will continue to be the finest in the world unless we continually strive to keep it that way. Other areas have "gone down the hill" and they were equally great in their day.

Be prepared for our story. Read it carefully. We have a program that we feel—at least for a starter, will bring our property values up to par—and then some. In some areas we predict a 100% increase in value!!

Planned Parenthood Moves to New Office

The Planned Parenthood League of Detroit, in an effort to better meet the needs of its patients, recently moved its administrative and educational affairs to a new Administration Center, located in Puritan avenue, Detroit.

The new telephone number for all calls, including appointments, is 861-6700.

Patients will continue receiving services at the Medical Center Clinic in Woodward avenue, the East Detroit clinic in Gratiot avenue and the Pontiac clinic in West Huron street.

Planned Parenthood's immediate priorities are to continue to provide top quality services to patients, to develop new services in response to community need and to provide innovative leadership in the field of human fertility regulation.

Among the comprehensive family planning services now offered are birth control, infertility services, vasectomy, cancer detection, venereal disease detection, human sexuality counseling and pregnancy testing.

Problem pregnancy counseling is now being offered at the Medical Center Clinic in response to a greater demand for this service from callers asking for help in exploring options available for unplanned pregnancies.

Planned Parenthood's professional and volunteer staff provides personalized assistance to adults and teens with problems or questions concerning family planning and related health care.

Loris Hadden Directs 'Daniel'

Stage director for "The Play of Daniel," a 12th century liturgical drama to be presented by the choir of Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, with soloists and instrumentalists from the University of Michigan's Ars Musica, is Loris (Mrs. David) Hadden, of Meadow lane.

Information on tickets for the play, to be presented Friday, February 11, and Saturday, February 12, at 8:30 o'clock and Sunday, February 13, at 7:30 o'clock at Christ Church, may be obtained by calling 885-4841.

Reserved seats are $4. General admission is $2.50.

Present Group of Woodcuts

Five centuries of masterwork in "The Art of the Woodcut" are on view at the Detroit Institute of Arts through Sunday, May 29.

From the 15th century to the present, European, American and Japanese artists have worked in this popular and versatile medium. The Art Institute special show draws from its own permanent collection and from the collections of the University of Michigan and local residents to define the excellence of the form.

A landmark work is Albrecht Durer's 1498 series "The Apocalypse," wherein the artist transformed the woodcut tradition from a medium which reproduced images of popular appeal and simple form into a high art.

"The Art of the Woodcut" is prelude to the major exhibition "Titian and the Venetian Woodcut," which opens at the Art Institute April 1 after its current showing at the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C.

The diversity of the woodcut is evident in interpretations of Lucas Cranach, Ugo da Carpi, Auguste Lepere, Paul Gauguin, Norwegian Edward Munch and German Expressionists Kirchner, Heckel and Pechstein.

As contemporary artists the show presents Carol Summers, a Californian who produces bold shapes and sensuous color, and the sensitive woodcuts of Helen Frankenthaler.

Among the Oriental woodcuts are "A Courtesan" (ca. 1714) by Kwaigetsudo Dohan and works by the 20th century master Shiko Munakata (1903-1975).

Both exhibitions are complemented by lectures and demonstrations for the Drawing and Print Club, a special interest group within the museum's Founders Society.

The D&P schedule includes guest printmakers Naoko Matsubara of Toronto, (February 1), Carol Summers, (March 2), and Helen Frankenthaler, (May 3). Information on joining the group may be obtained by calling the DIA's Graphic Arts Department, 833-7914.

"The Art of the Woodcut" may be seen in the museum's main building ground floor galleries Wednesday through Sunday, from 9:30 to 5:30 o'clock.

Group tours of the show by volunteer Docents are offered through the Education Department. Advance appointments are necessary, and may be made by calling 833-7980.

Women's Economic Club Hosts Custin

"Promoting Women and Retailing" was Mildred Custin's topic at the Tuesday, February 15, luncheon of the Women's Economic Club in the ballroom of Detroit's Veterans Memorial Building.

Pointe Building Permits Tallied

According to a Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments, (SEMCOG), report on residential construction there were a total of 26 building permits issued in the five Pointes during the first six months of last year.

The Shores, the smallest of the Pointes, led the area in building permits, issuing nine for single family units. The Woods recorded the issuance of six permits, four for single family units and the others for two family units.

Meanwhile, The Park issued five single family unit building permits, while The City issued four permits for single units. The Farms issued only two permits for new single family units.

Slate Classes In Chinese Art

As China emerges on the world scene, there has been a rebirth of interest in its great art and architectural heritage which pre-dates and in many ways, surpasses, that of Western civilization.

Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center is scheduling a course in Chinese Art Appreciation taught by Pointer Carol Denton, of the Wayne State University Art History Department, on Thursday afternoons, February 24-March 31, from 1-3 p.m.

Mrs. Denton will illustrate, with slides, China's architecture, paintings, porcelains and decorative arts. The fee is $32.

Athletes Group Meets Tonight

The Grosse Pointe Chapter of the Michigan Fellowship of Christian Athletes will be having Moby Benedict, head baseball coach at the University of Michigan as its guest speaker this evening, February 10.

The meeting begins at 6:45 a.m. and will be held at the First English Evangelical Lutheran Church, 800 Vernier road.

All interested residents are invited to attend, and Bill O'Keefe should be called at 886-7700 for reservations.

Suspects Held In Murder Case

St. Clair Shores police are currently awaiting the completion of extradition proceedings on two men who are wanted for the robbery and murder of Woods resident Jack Whiteley, 60, whose body was found Wednesday, January 26, at the Shorian Motor Inn, 20000 Nine Mile road.

This past weekend, Pittsburgh, Pa., police were holding for extradition two Louisiana men wanted in the case while Michigan authorities were seeking authority to have them brought back to face charges.

St. Clair Shores police indicated such proceedings could take anywhere from two weeks to up to two months.

The suspects, Daniel Clements, 30, and James Dunn, 34, were arrested on Thursday, February 3, in a Pittsburgh cafe after police spotted an illegally parked pickup truck. This vehicle matched a description given by Michigan authorities.

Police had earlier learned from witnesses that the suspects were motel guests, who gave Louisiana addresses and who had arrived in a pickup truck with Louisiana license plates. After police traced the vehicle's plates, an all-points bulletin was put out.

Defer to Host Parent Night

The Defer Elementary School PTO will sponsor its annual Back-to-School Night on Tuesday, February 15, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

It provides an opportunity for families to meet teachers, Defer's new principal, Dr. Sally J. Bell, and to view the facilities, located at 15425 Kercheval avenue.

Watch for the Christian Dior Line of swimsuits that will start arriving at Walton-Pierce. It has a fashion-wise young look. One and two piece swimsuits come in solid colors and gay prints. Jerry Silverman combines a rose and navy silk print with navy Ultra-Suede at the collar, waist and cuffs to wear right now and into spring. Another timely season-spanning fashion is a brown and tan tweed dress and jacket that's great for travel. For beautiful evenings, any season anywhere choose Rizkallah's satin print chiffon white over blue. Soft lavender and white chrysanthemums pattern this elegant dress. Whisper-weight peach mohair is used for one of the prettiest wrap and tie coats we've seen. Don't miss all the fashion news now at Walton-Pierce. There's also a new selection of handbags. A favorite is a black patent tote with two brass handles. There's a gathered pouch with shoulder strap. It comes in white too. A good size clutch has a hidden shoulder strap. New straw bags are arriving daily.

Pointer of Interest

THOMAS R. PETERS, OF MOSELLE PLACE

By Janet Mueller

Tom Peters was a jock — everybody knew that — so came the time for him to be graduated from Hillsdale College, and it was announced that Thomas R. Peters had won the Ewing Award for Creative Writing. And the whole campus went into shock. Tom had been writing stories and poems all during his four years at Hillsdale, but he'd managed to keep it quiet.

Well... perhaps "managed to keep it quiet" is a bit strong. He'd just never advertised.

Actually, he'd always wanted to be a writer of fiction. It was his one and only ambition, during the years he was playing football at Saint Anthony High School, (Saint Anthony's were city champions, and Tom was leading high school scorer in Detroit in 1946), and before that, in boarding school.

He's Happy Anyway "I saw myself at the age of 30, living at Hilton Head with my millions."

It didn't quite work out that way, but if pleasure is all the better for being deferred, Tom Peters is happy today than he ever would have been as the Grand Young Man of Letters, sipping something tall and cool under the Spanish Moss.

"The Education of Tom Webber," by T. R. Peters, Sr., published by Banner Books Division of Exposition Press, is hot off the presses. It's not the first thing by Tom Peters ever to appear in print, but it is his first published book of fiction.

It's the fulfillment of his first dream. It's a novel, set in Michigan in 1943, in a military school run by nuns. The action covers one week in the life of a 14-year-old boy: a rebel who has managed to remain the only private in his senior class.

They're Not the Same Tom Peters, like Tom Webber, spent his boarding school years at a school in Michigan run by nuns, but Tom Webber is NOT Tom Peters.

Tom Peters, however, used his own experience in creating the milieu in which Tom Webber moves, presenting it from the point of view of the boy who is there, not of the man who remembers. Peters' school is not Webber's school... but because Peters went to his school, Webber's school exists.

As for the coincidence of the Same First Names: "I'd been writing novel fragments for exercise for a long time. I'd had a lot of false starts. 'The actual writing of 'Tom Webber' took about seven months—three drafts—and by the time I was through the second draft, Tom's name was in it so much it would have been hard to purge.' Besides, Tom Peters figured, it's not as if his name were Beauregard. 'Every fifth guy in the United States is named Tom.'" is the family horse freak: she loves to ride.

Lee, who taught Elementary Art at Tyrone School, Harper Woods, for three years once upon a time, recently put a toe in the water again, as a substitute teacher.

Tom, Sr., is a member of the board of Fine Arts Society of Detroit. Lee is active in Fine Arts, too. Both enjoy skiing. Tom hasn't been on a football field for quite a while, but he maintains an avid, informed interest in the game.

In "The Education of Tom Webber," he's written a six-page, play by play description of a football game. "I'm really proud of that."

Book Is Raunchy

It makes sense, and it reads fast. The whole book reads fast. It's not a long book to begin with, seven chapters covering seven days, and it's not difficult. It is raunchy; the language isn't Jane Austen. But 14-year-old boys don't talk like Mr. Bennett talking to his daughters, and 14-year-old boys, REAL 14-year-old boys, are what Tom Peters is writing about.

He's writing on two levels. "The tension in the book for most readers," Tom Peters admits, "will be whether Tom Webber ever gets together with Theresa Miller, the girl of his dreams."

On a deeper level, the book explores Tom Webber's exposure and reaction to seven "lessons" which make up his "education." Mr. Peters constructed his novel to tie it in with seven as a significant number throughout literature: Seven Days of Creation, Seven Ages of Man, Seven Deadly Sins.

Careful, Conscientious He constructed it carefully, and he worked at it conscientiously. "I forced myself into a writing situation as often as I could." But, contrary to the advice of most pros, (work at it every day for a specified, regular period of time, even if it kills you!), there were days when he simply said nuts. "If the feeling wasn't there, I didn't write."

He doesn't think he's written The Great American Novel. That, in Tom Peters' opinion, has already been done, by John Dos Passos, in the trilogy "USA."

"His creation of a variety of original characters from all walks of life, his panoramic sweep of several important decades in American history, his use of newsreels and his unsurpassed short biographies of famous Americans total a book about America that nobody else, in my opinion, even comes close to."

Has Other Favorites

As a lover of the arts, Tom Peters has other American favorites. Gershwin is the composer Tom admires most.

Short and to The Pointe

Receiving a baccalaureate degree from Walsh College of Accountancy and Business Administration in December was Pointer DOROTHY JEANNE BLOHM.

Among University of Michigan students selected for membership in Mortar Board national collegiate honor society is BECKY BEYER, of McKinley avenue.

Pointer THOMAS JOSEPH MARTIN has received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Auburn University, Auburn, Ala.

ROBERT deSPELDER, son of the ROBERT deSPELDER, of Yorkville road, has been selected, on the basis of his academic standing, as Hall Convener at Earlham College, where he is a freshman pre-Med student. He was graduated this year from Grosse Pointe South High School.

"Fresh, original, distinctly American, he created memorable Broadway music and bravely invaded classical forms with a concerto, a rhapsody, a bolero and an opera."

Tom Webber's hooked on Gershwin, too. Robert Frost is Tom Peters' favorite American poet. "He lyrically described the American terrain while probing philosophically into the meaning of life. He created haunting poems of technical mastery."

In painting, Tom chooses John Singer Sargent, for his "rich, colorful and powerful style," his ability to "capture American scenes while still creating a social message."

Garner Best Performer Tom considers Errol Garner "the happiest, richest, most rollicking and exuberant American performer of our time. He created a full and beautiful love of life without ever saying a word—simply by sitting down at the piano."

In playwrights, as in novelists, Tom Peters has many favorites, but as John Dos Passos is top of Tom's heap for the American novel, Maxwell Anderson is for the American play. Tom just plain enjoys Anderson. He marvels at the man's prodigious output, (27 plays), his creation of "a beautiful, lyrical style," the range of emotions he portrays. "One of my all-time favorite plays is Anderson's 'Starvation'."

Will Enter Contest Tom plans to write a play himself. It's his next major project. He was going to plunge right into a second novel, but the Nederlanders announced a Play Contest, and Tom has always been interested in dramatic construction... besides, the cash prize is nothing to sneeze at. "I'm trying to write it, but I'm in the very beginning stages. It's still going around in my mind." Tom Peters will be autographing "The Education of Tom Webber" at Jacobson's in the Village this Saturday, February 12, from 11 to 4 o'clock in the Book Department. He'll be featured at a Fine

Exactly a year ago, the completed applique blocks were sewn together and the actual quilting began, with the quilt tacked to a wooden frame from Mrs. Richard Mertz' attic, resting on 160-year-old sawhorses that had belonged to a great-grandmother of Mrs. Howard Harrison who supervised work in Mrs. William T. Krebs' Notre Dame avenue home.

Mrs. Robert H. Snyder supplied the clamps. Every corner of every block was pinned, every knot pulled through with a crochet hook. The border was hand-corded.

The quilt was completed in December, and officially presented to the membership at AAUW's annual Christmas tea.

The research and planning committee working with the Mesdames Krebs, Harrison and Snyder included Mrs. David Rieven, Mrs. Fred Gies, Mrs. Richard Beaudry, Mrs. Leo P. Hardwick, Mrs. Richard Dragiewicz, Mrs. James A. Abbott and Miss Ruby Adams.

Block designers were the Mesdames Gies, Snyder, Rieven, Beaudry, Hardwick, Krebs, Harrison and Mrs. Arthur B. Hillegas. Mrs. Rieven, Mrs. Gies and Mrs. Krebs purchased the coordinated colored materials for each block.

Joining the above-mentioned ladies for the actual appliqueing and quilting were Miss Iva Hooper, Mrs. Emil Dauch, Mrs. David Nicholson, Mrs. S. Robert DeMaggio, Mrs. Richard Rabbideau, Mrs. Edgar Hahn, Mrs. H. Sanborn Brown, Mrs. Stephen T. Moreland, the late Mrs. C. R. Streb, Mrs. Charles J. Magar, Mrs. Frank W. B. Krembel, Mrs. Conrad Ankiel, Mrs. Paul T. Chapman, Mrs. Frank W. Mullen and Mrs. Bernard C. Chaisson.

Mrs. Edward Suits, of Rivard boulevard, used Benjamin Franklin script to design all the written labels on the blocks.

profit organization which promotes the Lamaze-Pavlov method of "prepared" childbirth. Through this method, which involves the father as well as the mother, women learn relaxation and breathing techniques so that childbirth can occur without anesthetics.

Mrs. Lie organized a speakers bureau to help inform interested couples about this method of childbirth. Some 130 women from throughout the tri-county area were nominated for this year's Heart of Gold awards.

Community leaders serving on the panel of judges that selected the 1977 honorees were Thomas B. Adams, chairman of the board, Campbell-Ewald Company; Augustus J. Calloway; Mrs. Elliot M. Estes; Mrs. Gaylord W. Gillis; Miss Jane Moeller, senior vice-president, First Federal Savings of Detroit; and Stanley J. Winkelman, chairman of the board, Winkelman Stores, Inc.

cent transplant recipients and dialysis patients will be this year's honored guests.
