PRESIDENT CARTER announced Wednesday that the U.S. and Vietnam will open negotiations in Paris "without delay" to establish normal diplomatic relations. He said Hanoi suggested the parity, with no conditions for bargaining, as a follow-up to last week's negotiations with the visiting presidential commission on Americans missing in action. Mr. Carter praised the "good faith" Hanoi showed in dealing with the delegation and announced he is now ready to start exploring the possibilities for normal relations with the communist regime.

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE U.S. and Cuba, taking a large step toward ending 16 years of hostility between the two nations, held face-to-face talks Thursday on fishing rights and maritime boundaries. Delegates from the two sides met at an undisclosed location in New York, and additional meetings probably will be held over the next week, John Medeiros, a State Department spokesman, said. The landmark session is the first known meeting between the two nations since a suspension of relations in late 1960.

CANADA WILL LEGALIZE the use of marijuana, although trafficking in the drug will remain a criminal offense, Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau said Thursday. In an address to young Liberals at the University of Toronto, Mr. Trudeau said the government had asked prosecutors to go easy on persons charged with possessing small amounts of marijuana. Though a bill before Parliament would transfer control of private possession of marijuana to the Food and Drug Act, trafficking would still fall under the criminal code, Mr. Trudeau said.

SENATE DEMOCRATIC leader Robert Byrd said Saturday he won't try to revive labor backed legislation to permit a single union to shut down an entire building site. But the West Virginia Democrat told reporters the administration proposal to increase the minimum wage from the current $2.30 an hour to $2.50 on July 15 is "too low," and said he believes Congress will raise it to "a more appropriate amount." Organized labor wants a $3 minimum.

A DUTCH JET PLOWED into a packed Pan American jumbo jet on a foggy runway in the Canary Islands Sunday, and the two Boeing 747s erupted in flames. Officials said more than 550 persons were killed in the worst disaster in aviation history. Both planes were packed with tourists. In Amsterdam, KLM Royal Dutch Airlines said all 235 passengers and the 14 crew members aboard its plane died. All were Dutch citizens. Pan American officials in London said their plane was carrying 380 passengers and 16 crewmen. Canary Island officials said some of the Pan Am passengers survived.

SOVIET LEADERS warned Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance on the first day of their nuclear arms talks Monday that continued U.S. support for Russian dissidents could jeopardize U.S.-Soviet relations. Soviet party chief Leonid Brezhnev and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko declared that the U.S. must adhere to the "principles of non-interference in the internal affairs" of the Soviet Union.

GPHC to Host State Mixed Doubles

The Grosse Pointe Hunt Club (GPHC), will once again sponsor the Michigan Mixed Doubles State Indoor Tennis Tournament on Saturday-Sunday, April 23-24. It puts the best mixed doubles tennis teams in the midwest across the net from each other in a $1,500 purse contest. This year's ticket chairman is CONNIE WEST.

GPW Okays Fund for Parkway

Contributions Being Accepted by City for Big Project; Ten-Year Capital Improvement Program Viewed

By Roger A. Waha
A "Veterans Memorial Parkway" fund was unanimously established by the Woods Council, based upon a recommendation from the Beautification Commission, at its regular meeting Monday, March 21.

With this action, citizens may send a contribution to the city toward the long-range development of the Vernier road islands, including landscaping, planting flowers and trees, et al.

In his motion to concur in the commission's recommendation, Councilman Ronald R. Kefgen felt such a fund was the best way to accomplish the purpose, while City Administrator Chester E. Petersen said it was necessary to establish a separate and distinct fund, (divorced from the general fund), for the holding and disbursement of the monies.

On Sending Checks
Citizens who wish to participate in the program should send a check, made out to "City of Grosse Pointe Woods—Memorial Parkway," (Continued on Page 6)

Park Views Proposed Expansion of Marina At Windmill Pointe

Council Approves Hiring of Firm to Study Possibility of Constructing Boat Wells

By James J. Njaim
The Park Council on Monday, March 28, approved the hiring of a reputable firm to study the possibility of constructing an undetermined number of boat wells at the Windmill Pointe Park marina. The cost of the study will be $1,500.

The contract for the study was given to John Stevens Associates, Inc., architects, engineers and planners, who will make a determination on how many more boats can be accommodated by the possible expansion of the marina.

The proposed marina addition will depend on what size boat wells will be needed, the harbor depth and where the additions can be feasibly located, according to information given to the council.

Consider Bond Issue
City Manager Robert A. Slone said there are now 219 wells of all sizes at the park marina, all of which have been rented to Park boat owners. There are 124 boats on the rental waiting list, he added.

It was disclosed if the study is favorable, the cost of the proposed expansion of the marina is estimated at around $150,000. The money will probably be raised by the selling of a bond issue.

Mr. Slone said the costs will not be made at the expense of the taxpayers, that is, through the faith and credit of the city. The bonds, if sold, will be paid from boat well fees, he pointed out. The present marina at the park is fully paid for by Park resident boaters with bonds redeemed from collected fees.

Mr. Stevens was present at the meeting as was his associate, Dale J. Ehresman. Both are residents of The Park.

Mr. Stevens, who rents a well at the park, said he is fully familiar with the facility and believes that any expansion can be completed without any major construction such as head walls. He agreed to make a very thorough study of the situation and, when it's finished, he will present his findings to the council.

Will Prepare Plans
His study will include the possibility of installing launching ramps. The cost of $1,500 for the study would be credited to the costs of final plans and specifications, Mr. Stevens said.

He also said if the council approves the Overall Marina Master Plan and well layout (Continued on Page 6)

New Relief Drain Eyed In Woods

Resolution Authorizing Drain Commissioner's Office to Seek Federal Funds Approved

By Roger A. Waha
The Woods Council unanimously approved a resolution authorizing the Wayne County Drain Commissioner's Office to apply for federal funds to construct a relief drain from the Milk River Drain to Woods lane.

This action, which is an outgrowth of City Engineer Larry Pate's report on flooding conditions stemming from the heavy rainfall last July 28-29, was taken at the regular meeting Monday, March 21.

City Administrator Chester E. Petersen said the estimated cost of the project, which will affect River road, Briarcliff drive, Van K drive, Perrien place, Canterbury road, Morningside drive, Wedgewood drive and Woods lane, is around $575,000, including engineering and contingencies.

Control Aspects Viewed
"The Wayne County Drain Commissioner's Office plans to try and secure federal funds for constructing a relief sewer in the northeast section of the city," Mr. Petersen told the council.

If such funds weren't forthcoming, an alternative would be to have the commissioner's office, under Chapter 20 of the State Drain Code, issue bonds for sewer construction with the principal and interest costs on the bonds added to the drain debt and, thus, the current drain tax, affecting all taxpayers in the city, he noted.

In the latter case, Mr. Petersen indicated the council can stop such action at any time prior to the issuance of the bonds.

However, if the drain commissioner's office is successful in obtaining federal monies, the council would have no say in the matter because the county office is seeking the funds on the city's behalf. In short, the council would have no opportunity to accept or deny the grant.

Radiation Link With Cancer Causes Concern

Volunteer Group Urges Notification of All Those Receiving Treatment Because of Suspected Connection; Involved Pointers Give Views

By George Polgar Jr.
A suspected link between radiation treatments widely used in the 1940's and 1950's and an increase in the incidence of thyroid cancer has led to the organization of a Detroit area volunteer group which is urging a recall and public information campaign to warn people who might be in danger.

Many members of Project Radiation Recall are parents of children, now in their mid-20s, who underwent X-ray treatments for ailments ranging from deafness to acne.

Two Pointers in the group, Jean Berns and Margaret DeFour, got involved in the interest of their children. Mrs. Berns' son and daughter both received X-ray treatments years ago and, while her son has not developed cancer, she fears her daughter, Linda B. Wright, has.

Stress Checkup
Mrs. DeFour's son, Wayne, has already had his thyroid removed because of a benign cancer linked to ear infection treatments he received in 1957.

Both Mrs. Berns and Mrs. DeFour, as well as the radiation recall group itself, stress that they are not interested in placing the blame for the situation on the medical community, or in any way trying to get monetary reparations from facilities that administered X-ray treatments.

"I realize this treatment was considered proper in the 1940's-50's. I don't want to blame anyone," said Mrs. Berns. "My concern and the concern of the radiation recall group is that everyone who had this treatment is told and urged to be checked by a physician."

Many people, who have sought to find out from hospitals, clinics or doctors whether they were treated with the cancer causing X-rays, have encountered difficulty in getting the information.

Corrections

In last week's story, "GP Park Fire Department Training Six More EMTs," it was reported that Firefighter Robert Nemens had enrolled at Macomb County Community College for advanced instructor's training.

This was incorrect. He enrolled in an American Red Cross training program in Macomb County.

At the same time, in last week's story on The Woods' new edition of "Update," it was reported that water main improvement monies would come from the general fund. This was in error. Such monies will come from water and sewer funds.

Repairs Bring SHS Shops Up to Building Standards

By Susan McDonald
Workers completed $1,700 in electrical repairs of two South High School classrooms this week, bringing the wood and auto shops into compliance with Farms building standards.

The school was slapped with 10 citations for violations of the city's electrical code on Monday, March 14, and given until today, March 31, to correct them.

The violations included improperly installed lighting fixtures, use of extension cords in lieu of permanent wiring and faulty wiring of machinery, according to Farms Inspector Donald Navarro.

But the long-term question of just what to do with the aging, overcrowded industrial arts complex at South, which houses both the wood and auto shops, still remains unanswered.

The complex was added on to the school in the early 1940's and a decade later the basement, (used largely for storage and as an air raid shelter), was converted into an automotive shop.

But, with the increase in student population and growing emphasis on vocational and occupational programs, the facility has become inadequate for South High's needs.

Currently at least 600 students, or one-quarter of South's 2,300 population, take courses in the complex each year.

Big Plan Started to Aid Parents

Bureau Coordinates Outreach Effort on Subject of Child Molesting on Community-Wide Basis

By Roger A. Waha

An intensive outreach effort on the subject of child molesting is being coordinated by the Youth Service Division, (YSD), toward developing a community-wide program involving all local police departments, the school system and PTA-PTO representatives.

The YSD's initial organizational effort has resulted in a meeting today, March 31, in The Woods' council chambers at 3 p.m. to explore a preventive program for all the Pointes and Harper Woods.

YSD Det. Patrick Fagan, assisted by his colleague, Det. Wayne Baum, spent most of Thursday-Friday, March 24-25, contacting all police departments and the PTAs and PTO's of elementary and middle schools toward laying the foundation of a unified program in this area.

"Meeting of Minds"
Besides an exploration of existing programs, Det. Fagan said, "We'll ask for total community involvement and participation, and remain open to suggestions and ideas from the community toward a meeting of minds." The response to such a meeting from individuals has been excellent, he added.

As part of the overall effort, over 6,000 pamphlets are planned to be distributed to parents presenting them with facts concerning the child molester, while a uniform Emergency "E" program for the community also will be discussed at the meeting.

An outgrowth of the program stems from an effort late last year when Woods Det. Lt. Jack Patterson, YSD supervisor in the detective bureau, directed Det. Fagan and Traffic Safety Officer Paul Crook to get together toward developing a total safety program within the classroom.

Both officers have been involved in using magic as a visual aid in supplementing safety-oriented talks to youngsters and, while some progress has been made toward a coordinated effort, this (Continued on Page 2)

SHS Students Adopt Gorilla

Thanks to the fund raising efforts of about 30 South High School students, one of the Detroit Zoo's grizzly gorillas will have a full stomach this year.

The South students, all members of two environmental science classes, have joined the zoo's Adopt-an-Animal program with a $1,000 donation to feed the hungriest beast of them all for a full year.

The students, with the help of teacher Gregory Heffner, raised the cash in just three weeks. They started by soliciting homeroom classes for donations. Then, two local rock bands, the "Lion's Den" and "West of the Moon," donated their talents for lunch-hour concerts with 25-cent admissions charged.

They finally reached their goal with a raffle of CB radios, Detroit Tiger opening day tickets, a skateboard and tee shirts, among other endeavors.

"The Adopt-an-Animal program is tailor-made for a class like ours," explained environmental student Laurie Hanger, of Radnor circle. "The Detroit Zoo is one of the best in the country and we just think it's important to help them out."

The students hope to present their check to zoo director Dr. James Savoy and visit with their adopted pet, (from a distance, of course), on Thursday, April 21.

latest thrust has moved the program along.

At the same time, the tragic murders of youngsters in Oakland County has given this effort an even greater acceleration and scope on the local level.

Help to Parents
In stressing the preventive aspects of the YSD's effort, Lt. Patterson said, in citing the pamphlet, "We wanted to get something home to the parents to help them prevent an abduction or molestation. This pamphlet also will help answer questions we have been getting over the phone from parents."

The funds for the publication will come from the YSD's current fiscal year budget, he said.

As for the Emergency "E" program, the lieutenant felt it could be utilized more in the Pointe area so parents and PTA-PTO representatives, for instance, could get an idea of what it's about and enact the plan in their communities.

"This effort is specifically coordinated by the YSD with the cooperation of school safety officers in each police department," stated Lt. Patterson, who indicated, while an emphasis is placed upon the entire school system, a main focus is on the kindergarten through sixth grade level.

Saying the objective of today's meeting is to discuss the goals of the program, he added the need of community-wide input and cooperation toward making the program an ongoing one.

Haven of Safety
While the YSD has been involved in the past in safety-oriented classroom presentations, (including the use of coloring books for the youngsters), it's now intensifying its involvement in this area throughout the community.

Noting his part in the meeting will be to discuss the Emergency "E" program on a Pointe-wide basis, Officer Crook said some PTO's have sponsored such an effort while stressing the need of a uniform program throughout the area.

In such a case, for example, three houses, two at the corner and one in the middle of a block, will display the big "E" which will be a haven of safety for a youngster in trouble.

Indicating that the Kiwanis Club has expressed an interest in paying for such Emergency "E" cards, Officer Crook said, "All the PTA's and PTO's will have to do is recruit people, get them involved and give us a list of individuals so a criminal record check can be done."

"Then, the cards can be given to the school, who will disperse them to those who are eligible to participate. I personally hope for a 365-day program for this type."

Has Safety Rules
Some schools currently participate in this program in The Woods. The officer indicated Mason School, for example, is very active on an annual basis but he wants other schools to become involved and participate every year.

An outlook of such an effort will be to help all school safety officers in their classroom presentations, he felt.

As for the pamphlet, Officer Crook hopes each PTA or PTO group, or the school, would mail the document to each home in the community which has children rather than give the publication to youngsters, all of whom may not directly deliver the material to parents.

The pamphlet provides specific information on the child molester including rules for personal safety which adults should discuss with youngsters.

Some points for explanation to children include never ride with strangers, do not accept gifts from strangers and to go straight home after school.

Officer Crook said the pamphlet sample originally came from the St. Clair Shores Police Department, while he wrote the Emergency "E" portion on the back.

YSD Cited
Under the title "E is for Emergency," this section explains that children facing danger via a stranger, an automobile accident, injury, et al., may go to a home displaying the seal for aid.

Upon receiving a request for assistance from a youngster, members of the program are instructed to contact their local police department by telephone and to remain on the phone to give assistance as needed until a policeman arrives.

For his part, Woods City Administrator Chester E. Petersen praised the efforts of the YSD in organizing the effort. "I commend Lt. Patterson for taking the initiative to do this for all the Grosse Pointes, and to inform the students as well as parents through the YSD."

"This is another example of how the YSD can better serve all the Grosse Pointes collectively."

Meanwhile, Woods Public Safety Director Henry Marchand said, "I hope, with the meeting and the pamphlets, we can prevent such a situation from occurring in our area," while citing the community-wide emphasis of the program.

In relation to the Oakland County murders, all Pointe police departments have received calls from citizens regarding the composite of the suspect published in the daily papers and/or on suspect vehicles over the past two weeks.

Three Girls Approached
Pertinent information has been relayed to Birmingham police for follow-up investigation.

At the same time, Woods police reported three possible attempt abduction incidents, two involving the same suspect on Thursday afternoon, March 24, and the other on Friday morning, March 25. In each case, no one was hurt.

On the 24th, the two incidents occurred within a half hour of each other and involved two girls, who reside in the Children's Home of Detroit.

In each case, a white male, between 35-40 years of age, approached the girls in a brown Gremlin and, through a microphone, attempted to call them over to his car. But the girls ran away from the scene along Cook road.

In the other incident, a young girl said she was approached by an orange-colored Ford with four or five people, all of whom were believed to be high school students except the driver.

While walking on Stanhope from Bramcaster, the passenger in the front opened the door, asked if she wanted a ride and then closed the door before the vehicle drove toward Mack avenue.

voted "yes" on the motion, neither appeared particularly satisfied with this approach.

In fact, Mr. Kefgen, who made the motion authorizing the issuance of the resolution giving the drain commissioner's office the authority to proceed with the application, said he was hopeful the bid would be turned down by the federal government so another alternative could be considered.

Mrs. Mullan apparently shared Mr. Kefgen's concern over a lack of local control in such a situation. "I feel we should get going with the project but I have difficulty with federal funding," she said.

As for Federal Revenue Sharing, for instance, she felt the program takes from mid-western and northeastern states and gives funds to southern states. Saying she'd vote for the motion because she doubted the city would get any funds, Mrs. Mullan added, "I'm not in favor of getting any Federal Revenue Sharing funds or funds of this type."

Have More Clout

Countering, Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos said he'd vote "yes" on the motion, while emphasizing the drain commissioner's office "is in a better political position to receive federal funds than the City of Grosse Pointe Woods would be."

The mayor said he would rather have The Woods receive the money "than some city in Louisiana."

Mr. Pinkos felt the drain commissioner's office had more "political clout" than the city because it's a Democratic Party-oriented group. In relation to this, he said there's more rapport now between Wayne County and the federal government so the city's chances are better on the receiving end.

Meanwhile, Mr. Petersen viewed other alternatives on financing the project. Besides the federal money and Chapter 20 outlets, he said the city could go the special assessment route with those affected by the improvements paying for them.

On Special Tax

Another alternative would be to set up a special tax to be paid with the water bill on a quarterly basis to finance the project, along with other water and sewer improvements contemplated in the city's 10-year capital-improvement program, (from fiscal year 1977-78 to fiscal year 1987-88).

Yet another alternative would be for the council to issue bonds for such work.

However, at this point what ultimately happens first depends on the denouement to the application from the drain commissioner's office.

Wealth of History Rests In Saint Paul Cemetery

By Tom Greenwood

The tombstones read like a map of The Pointe: Vernier, Piche, Allor, Champine, Reno and Trombley. Faded, worn and stained, the older markers in Saint Paul Cemetery lean and list like ancient soldiers at rest.

Some epitaphs sit on wooden crosses, the weather-beaten paint fading away with the years. The oldest grave bears the name of Catharine Vernier, wife of John Bt. Vernier. Her tombstone says she "departed this life August 21, 1831: in the 65th year of her age."

Resting next to her is her husband, who died three years later at the age of 81. For many of the early Pointe settlers in Saint Paul's, the journey to their final resting place had at least one layover. The site of the present cemetery, located at Moross road and Country Club lane, was bought from Maglorie and Elizabeth Morass, (the spelling has changed over the years), for $425 in 1868. Prior to that time, parishioners were buried behind the church, where the parking lot is presently located. The church register, dating from 1846-1883, shows over 200 persons were interred behind Saint Paul's.

Father Francis J. Van Antwerp, pastor from 1882-1885, opened the new cemetery in 1885 and began the task of transferring the bodies.

Not all the parishioners made it. Although past members of the church tried keeping accurate records, church officials weren't always sure of who was buried where.

Consequently, some Pointers may lie beneath asphalt rather than a blanket of sod. "It's very likely there are still parishioners out in the parking lot," said Msgr. Francis X. Canfield, present pastor of Saint Paul's. "At least we think so. Our register shows hundreds of persons buried behind the church, but the new site doesn't have that many graves. Some of them probably didn't make it."

Because of the mix-up, the church no longer sells burial plots to the cemetery. "We only honor deeded plots belonging to the older families in the parish," said Msgr. Canfield. "Consequently, we only average four or five burials a year."

"In the past, we would dig a grave, hit an unmarked coffin and then have to try again somewhere else. We can't sell plots when some graves are unmarked and others bear the wrong headstone. It's very confusing."

You can even be misplaced when you're the "head man." Somewhere on the gently rolling property lies the remains of Father John F. Elsen, pastor of Saint Paul's from 1889 until his death in 1899.

Church records say Father Elsen's grave was enclosed by an ornate wooden fence and a large, wooden cross. His grave is no longer marked, but F. Joseph Belanger, caretaker of the cemetery, believes it lies at the foot of a large tree growing at the end of the cemetery.

Father Elsen probably wouldn't mind. He's still near his beloved parish.

Link with Cancer

Hospitals Respond

Saint John Hospital made a complete check of its records last year and notified everyone who had undergone radiation treatment that they should get checkups for thyroid problems.

Cottage Hospital reports that it did very little radiation therapy—as few as three or four cases—during the time in question and that no records of these cases were kept. Cottage now keeps complete records on microfilm.

Bon Secours did not have the facilities for radiation treatment in the 1940's-50's and is unaffected by the recall effort.

Thyroid cancer is a relatively rare and usually completely curable condition, according to a report prepared by the National Cancer Institute for the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, (HEW).

Hertel Eyes Bill

"Fortunately, only a small percentage of irradiated individuals, (those who received radiation treatments), develop thyroid tumors. Most of the tumors found have been benign, and most of those that are malignant grow slowly, metastasize, (spread), relatively late, and are curable by surgery if diagnosed while still localized," the report stated.

Sen. John C. Hertel, of Harper Woods introduced a bill in the state legislature last week. It would require all hospitals, clinics and physicians to notify patients of the dangers of radiation therapy.

He said that the intent of the bill is twofold—first, to call public attention to the problem and also to require the medical community to do what it can to insure the health of those individuals who received the X-ray treatments.

"Maybe the publicity generated by legislative debate will jar the memories of people who don't remember having had the treatment and convince those who do that the situation is serious enough to go to the doctor," he said.

"Then, the bill also would require hospitals, clinics and physicians to notify people about the danger. I would prefer that they do this voluntarily but if it takes a special law, then it should be done."

Recall Problems

The radiation recall group headed by Leah Goldberg, of Royal Oak, and Eunice Swaab, of Southfield, is seeking to publicize and organize some kind of recall effort but have been thwarted by medical officials who minimize the seriousness of the problem.

Spokesmen for the Michigan Cancer Foundation claim that even without the publicity, people suffering from thyroid cancer are already being cured at a very satisfactory rate.

The Michigan Medical Society position on the issue is that too much publicity is unnecessarily alarming the public. They claim that many people who have had simple diagnostic X-rays now fear that they will develop cancer.

Another problem with the recall idea is the confidentiality of medical records. Such records can only be made available to recall volunteers with the permission of the patients.

According to Mrs. Swaab, the recall group has received very little cooperation from the medical community and officials in Michigan seem to want to keep a discussion of the matter to a minimum.

She invites anyone who would like to help or be helped by Project Radiation Recall to contact her at 557-3719.

ESSELINK PROMOTED

John Esselink, of Hawthorne road, has been promoted from administrative assistant to an assistant administrator of Bon Secours Hospital taking over responsibility for pathology, radiology, anesthesiology, ambulatory care, medical records and utilization review. In March, he also will administer a new nuclear medicine unit which will eventually provide both diagnostic and therapeutic care to the hospital's patients. Mr. Esselink, who holds a Bachelor of Science degree from the Lawrence Institute of Technology, joined Bon Secours in 1966. He became an administrative assistant in June 1975.

GPWPOA Looks to Accept Two-Year Pact with City

By Roger A. Waha
Members of the Grosse Pointe Woods Police Officers' Assoc., (GPWPOA), met on Wednesday, March 23, and approved by a 3-1 margin the city's last proposal, a tentative two-year agreement.

This pact was withdrawn by the city after a Friday, March 11, association vote not to ratify the proposal because of a concern over the proposed pay of corporals.

Reacting to these developments, City Administrator Chester E. Petersen said, in citing the GPWPOA's favorable advisory vote, that the association would accept the proposal if it's offered again by the city.

Now, Mr. Petersen said he would meet with the council and tell them of the association's advisory vote to see if the solons are willing to have the proposal resubmitted to the GPWPOA for a ratification vote.

"As far as the city is concerned, the association will have to have an official ratification vote if they desire to have the city re-submit the proposal," he said.

If the council agrees on re-submitting the offer and if the GPWPOA agrees to have an official ratification vote, it's possible the council could act upon the agreement at its regular meeting Monday, April 4.

North High Club Takes State Honors

North High School's chapter of BOEC (business and office education club), came away with high honors at a recent State Leadership Conference.

Tim Kopacka was among the top eight finalists of the talent show, Leigh Ann Mueller was elected state treasurer for the 1977-78 year and Linda Povlitz was elected Miss BOEC, the top business vocational student in Michigan.

After Sue Crocker made an oral presentation on North High's achievements, the judges rated the school the second best chapter in Michigan.

The chapter also received an award from the National Special Olympics Assoc. as its $1,500 donation was the largest in the state.

Individual awards went to Miss Povlitz, fifth place in advanced accounting; Pattie Lapansie, second place in accounting one; Maria Rudick, third place in manual typing; Miss Mueller, third place in records management; Miss Povlitz and Leslie Martin, second and fifth place, respectively, in stenographic.

North High's parliamentary procedure team, including

Miss Crocker, Kerri Sue Kurtz, Miss Povlitz, Mr. Kopacka, Terrie Reardon and Julie Mitchell, took second place.

GP Woods Approves Fund for Parkway

to the city, 20025 Mack avenue, Grosse Pointe Woods 48236, in care of the city administrator, said Mr. Petersen.

All contributions are tax deductible and an acknowledgment will ultimately be sent by the commission to everyone participating.

On February 28, the cooperative project between the commission and the city took a big first step forward when the council approved the plans and specifications for the development as submitted by the firm of Eichstedt, Grissim and Young. At the same time, Mr. Petersen was authorized to advertise for bids on the initial construction phase.

The work consists of masonry walls, flagpoles, site lighting and landscaping at a maximum cost of $16,000.

Expresses Pleasure
As proposed, early American style brick walls will serve as a gateway to the city from the Harper Woods border on the west, to the eastern terminus of the Vernier road median east of the Mack avenue intersection. The wording, "Grosse Pointe Woods, Veterans Memorial Parkway," will be on each wall.

Three flagpoles, two colonial light poles and selective plant material will be located at the walls.

Expressing his pleasure over the council's action, Dr. Albert C. Howe, commission chairman, said the group is making plans for an official announcement of the project, scheduled for the first part of April, plus an announcement of specifics on Dedication Day, (scheduled for June 19), sometime in mid-April.

The announcement of the project will feature its background, the purpose of the fund, e.g., people via their contributions are given the opportunity to honor veterans of the past 200 years, and an overview of the parkway's complete development, he said.

Parking Meters Eyed
At this time, preparations are continuing toward the Dedication Day program which is scheduled to incorporate military components in an effort toward a solemn, yet simple ceremony. Invitations are scheduled to be sent to local, state and national dignitaries.

After the proposed program is completed, Dr. Howe said it will have to be reviewed by the public safety department. At this time, he hopes to have it begin around 11 a.m. and continue for about an hour.

Besides approval of the parkway fund, the council also considered two other commission recommendations at the meeting.

First, a bid to begin converting all single pole on-street parking meters to double-header parking meters during the 1977-78 fiscal year was included for consideration in the city's 10-year capital improvement program.

Besides an emphasis upon aesthetics, the commission felt such double-headers would reduce repair and painting costs for poles, while feeling less time would be required to empty coin canisters by city personnel.

Discusses Program
However, Mr. Petersen indicated other items in the capital improvement program have a higher priority.

In viewing the program, called a "Decade for Progress," he stated the objective of the plan, from fiscal 1977-78 to fiscal year 1987-88, for the entire city centers upon improvements in the areas of water main, sewer and street work, plus parking.

"On parking, (a main priority), we project the acquisition and construction of additional off-street parking lots which we hope will be the beginning toward taking all on-street parking off of Mack avenue to accommodate the future increase in traffic along Mack," said Mr. Petersen.

"We could better spend the $15,000, (the estimated amount toward changing over the meters), to the end of acquiring and constructing new off-street parking lots."

Table Shelters Bid
As an example, it's contemplated to be included in the program developed by his office, for all future capital spending including parking, the acquisition of and construction of three additional parking lots on the east side of Mack from the southern city limits to Vernier road, thus prohibiting all parking on the east side of Mack.

As for the possibility of having double header meters, he added this might ultimately occur in a few locations.

Finally, action on a commission recommendation disapproving a Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority, (SEMTA), request for bus passenger shelters in the community, was tabled until the regular meeting Monday, April 4.

The reason for the tabling was to await recommendations from the public safety department and the Senior Citizens Commission on the shelters.

In the past, the city has nixed similar requests.

New Members Sought by JC's

If any man between the ages of 18-36 is interested in making his community a better place to live and, at the same time, develop himself as a leader and person, possibly the Grosse Pointe Jaycees are his answer.

This is the feeling of the organization, which will hold its fourth quarter M-Night on Thursday, April 14, at the War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore road, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The purpose of the meeting is to provide every young man with the opportunity to see what the organization contributes to the Pointe community.

Numerous community oriented projects, sponsored by the group, assist in making the public aware of Reyes Syndrome, (a children's disease), Aid to Retarded Children and Operation Redball.

The individual is provided an opportunity to develop leadership skills, public speaking abilities and a chance to operate a project.

A guest speaker will provide a short talk on the Jaycees, and refreshments will be served.

Recent new members of the chapter include Jim David, John Coley, Mike Descamps, Anthony Magdowski, Randy Priest, Ronnie Watkins, Kenneth Powell, David Mobry, Rich Goodrich, Keith Mayers and Don Martin.

For further information, call Al Hillenbrand at 343-0181 or "Ric" Rutan at 882-8972.

Staff, Parents In ULS Concert

Rezoning in GPW

that it granted two years ago. (The property was rezoned from R-1 single family residential to R-2 two family residential in 1974 and the upcoming public hearing is to consider changing it back.)

• The Planning Commission recommendation in this matter is to allow Mr. Hozdosh to build the duplexes.

Futile Attempt

According to Mrs. Akers, the residents have been given the impression that their attempt to stop the planned construction is futile.

"We were told at the Planning Commission meeting a few weeks ago that the decision has been made and there is nothing we can do to stop Mr. Hozdosh," she said.

Mrs. Akers could not identify who at the meeting made these statements or even if it was a city official.

Whatever the unofficial indications are, one member of the council was very surprised and disturbed to hear that construction began on the project.

Councilman Ronald R. Kefgen said that he was under the impression that any action on the matter would be held up until after the public hearing.

"I didn't think anything would happen until after the public hearing and I am very surprised that they went ahead and started to build," he said.

Further, Mr. Kefgen admitted that though he was surprised by the turn of events, the council did not specifically advise Mr. Hozdosh to wait for its final decision.

Dispute Point

Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos said that he is sympathetic to the problem of the residents but was not very surprised to hear that construction was already underway.

"The residents were advised at the Planning Commission meeting that the city could not legally withhold a building permit from the owner once his plans were approved by the building inspector," he said.

"If we had known that the project would get this far along before the public hearing, we probably, though I can't speak for the council, would have denied the request for the public hearing."

He went on to say that while the council could go back on its original decision and rezone the lot to R-1 from R-2, the risk of a strongly grounded lawsuit instituted by Mr. Hozdosh makes such a move improbable. Again, he noted, that he can not speak for the council and is only guessing about the outcome.

"If we did stop the building, I don't think any court would uphold our decision because this rezoning was granted three years ago and the owner could have started building whenever he was ready," he said. "We can't just zone and rezone at whim."

He went on to say that at the time he did not oppose the rezoning to R-2. The city went according to all the proper procedures, he said, and there was no objection from the residents. This point is disputed by the residents, who say they were not advised of the public hearing for the original rezoning in 1974.

Don't Know Facts

City Administrator Chester E. Petersen said that he has affidavits from the NEWS proving that the necessary legal notice was advertised. The city is only required to notify residents individually of a rezoning if they live within 300 feet of the property in question.

At this point, the residents are still trying to secure legal counsel in the matter and could seek a civil injunction against Mr. Hozdosh to stop construction.

Mr. Hozdosh said that he will defend his legal rights against either the city or the residents.

"I have too much invested in this thing to waste any time," he said. "Some of these people just don't know the facts of the situation. This property was rezoned to R-2 at my request. I wanted this project. I organized this fashion and I have my rights."

The council may consider canceling the April 18 public hearing on the matter, which would likely agitate the protesting residents even more.

In any case, Mr. Pinkos has said that the city will assure due process, to all parties involved.

It's easy enough for all of us to like a law that protects us, and very easy to dislike the one that aims to reform us.

Thieves Enter Mason School

A stereo, valued at around $350, was taken from Mason School, 1640 Vernier road, sometime between 11 p.m. on Tuesday, March 22, and 8 a.m. on Wednesday, March 23, reported Woods police.

Officer John DeLora was told that a substitute custodian had been on duty on the 22nd until 11 p.m. when he secured the building for the night.

However, the man apparently forgot to padlock the music room door on the north side of the structure. The door is located at the top of a fire escape on the second floor. As a result, persons unknown went to the top of the fire escape, broke out a window pane next to the door and opened it.

No other items were reported missing at this time.

Seniors Have Fun Evening

The first Senior Citizen's Activity Night, co-sponsored by the Department of Community Services and the Neighborhood Club, was held on Saturday, March 28, at Brownell Middle School.

A total of 101 Seniors thoroughly enjoyed a number of interesting activities. Dinner, which consisted of a mid-eastern sandwich, molded salad, cake, coffee and tea, was prepared and served by the Grosse Pointe South Commercial Foods Class taught by Mrs. Loraine Beynon.

Dinner and ballroom dancing music was provided by the South High School Dance Band, directed by Russell Reed. Doug McKinnon also provided an enjoyable evening for square dancers.

Other activities included card and table games, swimming, badminton and basketball shooting. Because of the success of the evenings, the two organizations will offer the program again in the future.

Widowed

Wednesday, April 28, at South High School, from 3-5 p.m. For those who are unable to attend the afternoon session, the talk will be repeated from 7-9 p.m.

At the meetings, full information about the program will be available and discussed. Afterwards, those interested will be given the opportunity to volunteer.

Mrs. Heavner is urging any interested person to attend the meetings on the 28th or leave his or her name with the Family Life Education Council's Dialogue number, 881-0270, Monday - Thursday between 9 a.m.-3 p.m.

"We need volunteers, men and women of all ages, to work with newly widowed people. Individuals, who are themselves widowed and who have a hard knowledge of the feelings, frustrations and struggles widowed persons face in building new lives for themselves, in most cases, make the best volunteers," she added.

CAN YOU BE INDIFFERENT TO VANISHING JOY?

Vanishing Joy

The newspapers and TV "news" shows have been filled to overflowing with tear-jerking stories about the economic horrors which could befall the tuna industry if it must stop killing porpoises, (also known as dolphins).

Are the tears genuine, or are they of the crocodile variety, designed to sway the American people to give up their resolve to save a friendly mammal?

The tuna industry is a financial giant, capable of generating a flood of tears when its profits are threatened by an act of Congress. We think some facts, some questions and answers, will help the American people make up their minds in favor of porpoises versus profits.

- Q. Is it necessary to kill porpoises to catch tuna fish?
- A. No.
- Q. How can tuna be caught without killing porpoises?
- A. Of a total of seventeen species of "tuna," only one, the yellowfin, sometimes swims beneath schools of porpoise. And, until recently, yellowfin were caught without killing porpoises. Fishermen merely used porpoise sightings to locate yellowfin tuna. The fish were caught on lines and hooks and no porpoises were harmed.
- Q. Why are porpoises now being killed?
- A. Beginning in 1957 American tuna fishermen invented and began setting large purse seine nets around both porpoises and yellowfin tuna.
- Q. What is a purse seine net?
- A. It is a large (up to one mile long) net which operates like an old-fashioned woman's purse with a drawstring which pulls the net closed.
- Q. Why do tuna boats set their nets on porpoises?
- A. It permits larger hauls with less manpower than hook and line methods; it is more efficient; it represents "progress" meaning higher profits for the few.
- Q. Why do yellowfin tuna swim under porpoises?
- A. Despite much research, the answer to this question is still unknown. What is known is that not all porpoise schools carry tuna and not all porpoise schools that carry tuna have tuna with them at all times.

- Q. Can the purse seine nets catch yellowfin tuna without being "set on porpoises"?
- A. Yes, in fact, about half of the yellowfin catch is made each year without a "set on porpoises."
- Q. How do porpoises die in the process of fishing for yellowfin?
- A. Porpoises are mammals and air breathers. When they are herded into fishing nets, they often are caught and drowned. And, if a single baby is caught in the net, the whole family stays below water trying to release it, and they all drown.
- Q. Is killing a porpoise "incidental" to tuna fishing legal?
- A. No, not according to Congress and the courts. The Marine Mammal Protection Act of 1972 requires a kill of porpoises "approaching zero."
- Q. Why haven't tuna fishermen been prosecuted?
- A. The tuna industry is very powerful and influential.
- Q. How many porpoises did U.S. fishermen "take" in 1976? ("Take" under the law means to "harass, hunt, capture or kill").
- A. Approximately 6 million.
- Q. How many porpoises have U.S. fishermen killed since they started purse seine fishing?
- A. About 5 million.

- Q. How many did they injure?
- A. There is no way to tell. But it has been verified that being chased and harassed causes pregnant females to abort.
- Q. Do other countries kill porpoises "incidental" to tuna fishing?
- A. Yes, but U.S. fishermen, according to their own statistics, kill 75% of the world total.
- Q. Are other nations likely to stop before we do?
- A. It is very unlikely, as we invented the purse seine "competitive advantage" system, and we are the chief culprits.
- Q. Does purse seining provide jobs?
- A. No. There were many more people employed in catching tuna when the hook and line method was used.
- Q. Will the U.S. fleet carry out its threat to transfer to a foreign flag?
- A. This is highly improbable since it requires approval by the U.S. Government. Further, if they did transfer, the boats could not employ Americans and their catch could not enter the U.S. if porpoises were killed.
- Q. Haven't we learned any lesson from the decimation of the great whales and many other animals?
- A. What happens to the porpoises will be a significant test of our ability to respect and save our environment.

WHAT HAS FOA DONE TO HELP SAVE THE PORPOISES?

We have challenged the Government in several Federal courts over the past three years for failure to enforce the law. We have finally obtained at least a temporary halt to the mass killing of porpoises.

We have mounted a boycott against tuna, distributed films, radio announcements and factual reports with the goal of obtaining the help of the American people in saving the porpoises.

We have made our voice felt in Washington. Recently, our Legal Counsel met with Mrs. Juanita Kreps, the new Secretary of Commerce, urging that she discard her predecessor's anti-porpoise actions and start enforcing the law to require protection of the porpoises.

WHAT YOU CAN DO TO HELP SAVE THE PORPOISES

1. You can write to President Jimmy Carter and ask that the present law which stipulates a "zero kill" of porpoises be maintained and enforced. Point out that the U.S. can't ask Russia and Japan to stop killing large whales so long as we continue to kill the small whales (porpoises).
2. You can stop eating tuna. Hit the industry where it really hurts—in the pocketbook—by boycotting all varieties of tuna.
3. You can stop purchasing pet food containing tuna; roughly half of the U.S. consumption of tuna is for pets.
4. You can write to your school board and request that it drop tuna from school lunches. Make the same request of restaurants you patronize.
5. You can send your copy of this ad to friends outside your area and urge them to place it in their local paper. (The cost is tax-deductible.)
6. You can send a contribution to Friends of Animals (FoA). Together with the Committee for Humane Legislation, we are the only groups who haven't buckled under to industry and Bureaucratic pressure.

Blacktopping Eyed in GPW

A recommendation from the Citizens Recreation Commission to the Woods Council that the city give consideration to the feasibility of blacktopping parking bays at the Lake Front Park was unanimously referred to the Committee-of-the-Whole for further study.

This action was taken at the regular meeting Monday, March 21.

At its meeting earlier this month, the commission viewed the new parking bays adjacent to the blacktop roadways along each side of the Milk River between the bridge and Jefferson avenue.

Present parking in these areas consists of slag stone, according to the commission, and past complaints have arisen from boaters that such material encouraged youngsters to pick up the stones and throw them in the river thereby possibly damaging water craft.

In addition, the stones created a situation which is somewhat unsightly during periods of wet weather, the commission felt.

At its monthly meeting Sunday, March 27, at the Old Place, the association hosted realtor John Brink who presented and fielded questions concerning his cul-de-sac plan.

Future activities planned by the group include a spring garage sale, the second annual square dance in June—with proceeds being used for the fourth of July celebration—and an ongoing membership drive.

Farms Police Evict Harte

Russell Harte, convicted of assault and battery in the snowballing of his neighbor in Manor road, was evicted from the home of Mrs. Lucy Steffens by members of the Farms Police Department on Friday, March 25.

Harte, self-described "companion" to Mrs. Steffens, was evicted on the orders of Farms Municipal Judge Robert Pytell.

Judge Pytell decided against Harte after being asked to make a ruling by attorneys representing Mrs. Steffens.

Mrs. Steffens, staying with relatives, was not living in Manor road at the time of the eviction.

 The midwest's finest mixed-doubles tennis teams will compete for Michigan's indoor state title Saturday-Sunday, April 23-24, according to John R. Cobau, tennis chairman of the sponsoring Grosse Pointe Hunt Club.
 A purse of $1,500, including $750 for the winning team, will be awarded during the open competition in the Hunt Club's "Tennis Barn," 655 Cook road.
 Defending Michigan mixed champions are Rudy Hernandez, pro at the Dearborn Racket Club and Trish Faulkner, former Virginia Slims and Detroit Loves pro from Birmingham. They won the 1976 title over Bob Maramba and 17-year-old Sue Repogle.
 The prize money will be distributed $750, first, $350, second, $100 to each semifinalist, and $50 to each quarter-finalist among the final draw of 16 competing teams. Elimination play will be Thursday and Friday, according to tournament chairman William E. Kohr.
 Any playing team in the U.S., professional or amateur, may compete for the Michigan title. The tournament is sanctioned by the United States Tennis Assoc., (USTA), and the Southeastern Michigan Tennis Assoc.
 Entry forms may be obtained from the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club, 655 Cook road, Grosse Pointe Woods 48236.
UNIVERSAL PEACE
 "He will arbitrate among the nations, and dictate to strong nations far away. They will beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning-hooks, nations shall no longer fight each other, for all war will end. There will be universal peace, and all the military academies and training camps will be closed down." (Micah 4: 3)

Friends of Bon Secours Sponsor Training in CPR
 A program of CPR, (cardiopulmonary resuscitation), training will be repeated at the War Memorial Wednesday-Thursday, April 13-14, in a Town Hall for Health sponsored by the Friends of Bon Secours Hospital.
 More than 200 persons were turned away for lack of space when the program was offered last fall.
 The American Heart Assoc. has urged all adults of high school age or older to obtain instruction in the use of CPR as a life-saving device in the event of heart attack and other catastrophes which could cause heart stoppage.
 Heart disease is the number one killer in the U.S. today, and the greatest risk of death from heart attack occurs in the first two hours after symptoms appear.
 CPR training includes information on how to recognize symptoms and how to administer emergency treatment.
 The program will be presented according to Michigan Heart Assoc. standards, and those satisfactorily completing a one-evening course will receive the association's certification.
 Training begins at 7:20 p.m. each evening, and there will be an opportunity for those previously taking the training to be recertified.
 Archie Bedell, MD, director of the family practice center at Bon Secours, will lecture on CPR techniques. CPR demonstration will be provided by Raymond V. Ingham, RRT, director, cardiopulmonary services at Bon Secours.
 Peter O'Rourke, attorney, will explain the legal implications of providing emergency assistance, and Edmund D. Brady Jr., a founding director of the Friends of Bon Secours, will chair the program.
 There also will be supervised practice on "Resuscitannies," special equipped, life-size mannequins designed for use in teaching CPR techniques. This phase of the training is under the supervision of Patricia Grady, Bon Secours director of education and staff development.
 Free tickets for the CPR Training program may be obtained without charge by calling the hospital, at 343-1520 or 343-1772 during the evening or on weekends.

Youth Council Offers Battle

The Youth Council is again sponsoring its most popular yearly attraction, "The Battle of the Bands". Six rock bands have been chosen from many auditions to compete for the title of the best band in the Grosse Pointe area.

The show will take place Sunday, April 3, starting at 7 p.m. in the War Memorial's Fries Building, 32 Lakeshore road.

Due to the overwhelming demand for tickets, this year the Youth Council has decided to use both the ballroom and the auditorium providing simultaneous music continuously. This year's bands are "Tremor," "Innerspirit,"

"Fireball," "Purple Haze," "West of the Moon" and "Lions Den."

Each band will play two sets of music in order that all may hear some of each band. Judging is solely by paid attendance. Advance tickets are available at the Center for $2.50. It is suggested that they be purchased well in advance as all previous "Battles" have sold out.

For further information, call the War Memorial at 881-7511.

Cancer Service, Referral Center Opens in Pointe

Under the nation's first community cancer control program — Cancer Action Now — the Michigan Cancer Foundation (MCF) opened the first of at least four full-service regional stations this week.

The East Service Center, 21312 Mack avenue, in The Woods, will serve as a one-stop service and referral center for the residents of the Pointes, Detroit's east side, Harper Woods, Warren, Roseville, St. Clair Shores, Mount Clemens and surrounding areas, providing a full range of cancer education, screening and detection, patient referral, case followup and rehabilitation services.

The center also will work to improve the cancer control services in concert with major Cancer Action Now participants in the area, including Saint John Hospital, South Macomb Hospital and the Visiting Nurse Assoc.

"Many patients experience unnecessary problems created by the present cancer care delivery system," said Dr. Michael J. Brennan, president and medical director of the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

"Even when the referral links are fairly strong, patients are often subjected to long waits, unnecessary trips, inconvenience, unnecessary costs and other problems caused by a fragmented system.

"We will be striving to coordinate all of our available community services to make this truly an integrated facility, staffed by professionals, where any citizen can obtain specific assistance for any cancer-related problem."

Among the services to be expanded at the East Service Center will be the MCF's cancer rehabilitation and continuing care programs.

Several new oncology nurses and medical social workers will be stationed at the center in specialized Cancer Care Teams to serve the community.

A Cancer Care Team consists of the patient, his family physician, an oncology nurse, a medical social worker, the family and the family's clergyman, who work together to help care for the terminally ill patient in the hospital and at home.

The "Compassionate Visitor" program is a new volunteer service which will enlist the aid of a small group of volunteers to give personal help to seriously ill cancer patients, such as reading, making and taking necessary phone calls, grocery shopping, meal preparation and just conversation.

At least three more regional centers throughout the tri-county Detroit area will be established within the next five years.

The dedication for The Pointe location was held on Tuesday, March 29, and Saint John Hospital President James T. Farley was among the featured speakers.

FLEC Offers Many Classes

Registration is underway for a series of enrichment workshops developed by the Center Point Crisis Center and co-sponsored by the Family Life Education Council (FLEC), and the Department of Community Services.

The classes are designed to deal with contemporary family problems through new awareness and skill development. In addition, several recreational programs are being offered to students.

The courses include a drug awareness seminar, effective family communications, assertiveness training, marriage enrichment through communications, creative thinking and doing and positive parenting.

More are a sexual awareness seminar, smokers clinic, Red Cross first aid and personal safety, CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation), career development, (for adults who want to enter or re-enter the labor market or do volunteer work), and Sunday afternoon activities for students 14-17 years of age such as bicycle maintenance, sailing, bicycle touring and ethnic cooking.

A limited number of openings are available in each class.

Further information regarding class dates and times, fees and course outlines can be obtained by calling the FLEC office at 885-3510.

State Honors Two Students

Two members of the Class of 1977, one representing each public school, have been awarded $1,000 Legislative Merit Awards by the State of Michigan, according to State Rep. William R. Bryant Jr.

The Pointe's two winners are South High School senior Eileen M. Mecha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Mecha, of Calvin road, and North High School senior Elizabeth Barrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Barrett, of Broadstone road.

The two local recipients were among the 50 top scorers out of 40,000 in Michigan who took the American College Test.

SH Musicians Are All-Stars

Four South High School musicians will represent their school in the Michigan all-star band performance at Western Michigan University on Friday, April 1.

The students, Patty Murphy, on bassoon, Chris Carmell, saxophone, Ted Petibick, trumpet, and Erich Hintzen, tuba, were selected from more than 200 high school students in the state.

The performance will be conducted by Pulitzer Prize-winner Norman Delo Joio from Boston University.

Know Your Schools

By Dr. William Coats,
Superintendent of Schools

School district residents who are concerned about planning meaningful activities for their children, (or for themselves), for the coming summer might consider the soon-to-be-announced offerings of our summer school program.

The regular session is slated to run from June 27-July 29, with a series of special mini-courses available August 16-18 and August 23-25.

Shortly after Board of Education approval of the program, announcement of offerings will be mailed to all school district residents. What is tentatively planned for the program?

Again in 1977, the summer session will include review courses for students who need strengthening in various skills areas, enrichment courses for those whose regular year schedule is crowded, several unique special programs and mini-courses in basic skills.

For example, the five-week Arithmetic Workshop for elementary children, (for $20), will center on strengthening the fundamental processes of addition, subtraction, multiplication, division and problem solving.

A middle school student may wish to sharpen up by enrolling in the Reading Workshop, (for $27), to strengthen his or her word attack skills, vocabulary building and comprehension.

The high school courses, which are, incidentally, also open to adults, include classes in Civics, American Government and American History.

Among the enrichment courses offered at the elementary level is Computer Mathematics. Designed as a beginning experience in computer logic and program techniques, this includes direct, on-line computer time. The fee for this offering, which will be scheduled at North High, is $25.

An enrichment activity for eighth graders, high school students and adults is a course called Small Engine Repair. This is a practical workshop which provides the opportunity to learn to make otherwise expensive repairs on small engines such as mowers and outboards.

The school system is offering a supervised European trip for which five hours of credit may be arranged. The 30-day trip, planned in conjunction with the Foreign Study League, visits Madrid, Rome, Paris and London. The all-inclusive price is $1,460.

Other activities included in summer school are both instrumental and vocal music, dance and musical play production.

The proposed mini-courses in the basic skills will consist of 12 hours of instruction, (for $11), in reading, arithmetic, grammar and study skills.

Classes will be offered only if enrollment permits, with more sections to be scheduled if needed. In addition, the school system's Department of Community Services will offer classes in Driver Education, as well as the popular Basketball Clinic.

Summer school can provide a number of worthwhile activities at a nominal cost. I urge all Grosse Pointers to consider the options available to them.

Snowfall in Pointe Tops 17 Inches This Winter

By James J. Njaim

Now that spring is here, The Pointe can think back and remember the winter of 1976-77 when it experienced extreme cold winds and a near blizzard, and more than 17.53 inches of snowfall. However, before you say anything against "Ma Nature" consider Buffalo, N.Y., where a record 188 inches, or more than 15 feet of snow, was dumped on that city.

Darrel Schuurman, superintendent of the Farms Water Filtration Plant, where official U.S. weather records are kept and monthly reports sent to the U.S. Weather Bureau, said it is difficult to present an accurate picture of the total snowfall because some days had a mixture of rain and snow.

Rain and snow, known by the good old name of sleet, is hard to analyze because of the melting, or freezing factor, depending on the temperature.

Mr. Schuurman authorized the release of the local weather report from October through February and for part of March. The complete March report will be made available next month.

During October, the total precipitation measured came to 2.60 inches of a rain-snow mixture, with the highest, 1.05 inches, occurring on October 6, and the balance occurring on October 21 and 27.

In November "Old Man Winter" really became serious when a total of 1.93 inches of snow was dropped on the area, with the heaviest, 1.5 inches, occurring on the 21st, plus traces on November 4 and throughout the month.

On December 1, The Pointe was hit with 4.0 inches of snow. On the 4th, with that amount of snow still on the ground, another snowfall added 4.0 inches more. The day that showed the least snowfall, 1.0 inch, was December 14.

The total snowfall in January was recorded at 10.5 inches. Near blizzard winds blew snow into high drifts on January 29-31. Wind chill factors dropped the temperatures to sub-zero throughout most of the month.

There were still nine inches of snow on the ground when another inch was dumped on The Pointe area on February 20. There was a mixture of freezing snow and rain, sprinkled with hail, on February 27.

As of Sunday, March 27, a monthly total of 2.46 inches of rain was recorded for The Pointe area at the Filtration Plant, with the maximum precipitation of 1.46 inches occurring on the 4th.

With one inch of rain equivalent to 10 inches of snow, the area would have had nearly 25 inches more of the white stuff if the temperature was at the freezing point.

On March 18, two days before spring officially arrived, there were three inches of snow on the ground.

What Goes On at Your Library

By William T. Peters,
Director of Public Libraries

The gates of Tiger Stadium will swing open on Thursday, April 7, to welcome thousands to the "opening day" baseball game between the Tigers and the Kansas City Royals.

Manager Ralph Houk hopes to open the season with Mark "The Bird" Fidrych, last season's sensational pitcher. The balance of the starting line-up will look pretty much like it did last year.

Baseball, probably to a greater degree than any other major sport, is obsessed with looking back at the records of yesterday. Baseball history has been recorded in dozens of written documents. One of the best is THAT OLD BALL GAME, compiled and edited by David R. Phillips with text by Lawrence Kart, (Henry Regnery, Chicago, 1975).

Mr. Phillips has selected, from his collection of several hundred thousand glass wet-plate negatives and antique photographs, over 250 that best recreate the history of baseball from 1850-1930.

There are candid and posed portraits of such baseball legends as Pittsburgh's Honus Wagner, Detroit's Ty Cobb, Christy Mathewson, the Giant's great right-handed pitcher, John McGraw, one of baseball's finest managers, Babe Ruth, Tris Speaker and Lou Gehrig.

A carefully researched text and the hundreds of photographs make this an accurate record of baseball's first 80 years.

BASEBALL BETWEEN THE LINES by Donald Honig, (Coward, McCann and Geoghegan, Inc., New York, 1976), takes baseball's historical record through the 1940's and 1950's. Nineteen players were interviewed — all except two had careers spanning the end of the depression, the war years and the postwar years.

One of the 19, Dick Wakefield, was baseball's first big bonus recipient. He started his major league career in Detroit, playing in seven games in 1941. Despite a lifetime batting average of .293, high by today's standards, he never quite fulfilled the promise implied by his first two seasons.

Included is Gene Conley, the first man to play two major sports in the same city—basketball for the Boston Celtics and baseball for both the Boston Braves and Boston Red Sox. As a pitcher whose major league career spanned the years 1952-1963, he won 91 games and lost 96.

One chapter of the book is devoted to the exploits of Johnny Vander Meer who will, of course, be remembered primarily as the only man in major league history to pitch two consecutive no-hit games.

Big name players and unsung heroes bring an era of baseball alive again as they reminisce and philosophize over those grand performances of the 1940's and 1950's.

Joe Falls, sports editor of the "Detroit Free Press," has added his bit to baseball's folklore by writing DETROIT TIGERS, (Collier Books, 1975).

Some may not agree with Mr. Falls' statement that, "Any history of the Detroit Tigers can be focused on three eras or more accurately, on three men: Ty Cobb, Mickey Cochrane and Denny McLain," but the book does contain in its two-column format a wealth of information about the Tigers from 1881, (the club was called the "Detroitts"), through 1974. A number of black and white photographs add additional interest.

ILLUSTRATED HISTORY OF BASEBALL by Robert Smith, (Grosset and Dunlap, New York, 1973), makes first-rate reading and viewing. There are 120 photographs for fans. It recaptures all the great moments and men — the players, teams, owners, leagues and frenzied fans.

Some players and ex-players turn author, or rather they tell their stories to a writer and he writes the book for them.

Such "authors" are Bill Freehan's BEHIND THE MASK, (World Publishing, New York, 1970), Jim Bouton's I MANAGED GOOD, BUT BOY DID THEY PLAY BAD, (Playboy Press, Chicago, 1973), and FROM BEHIND THE PLATE by Johnny Bench, (Prentice-Hall, 1973), short on text but long on photographs taken by George Kalinsky.

And still another is written by Joseph Duroso for Whitey Ford and Mickey Mantle, predictably entitled WHITEY AND MICKEY, (Viking Press, New York, 1977).

Was Kin Hubbard right when he wrote, "Knowing all about baseball is just about as profitable as being a good whittler?"

You may have noticed on occasion that the price of a gem seemed disproportionately high in relation to its size. The reason is that there are several major factors in addition to size which contribute to the value and quality of jewels. Color varies from gem to gem in three ways. Hue describes the color itself—for example, whether a sapphire is blue or yellow. The tone of a given color may be dark or light, which is also known as the 'tint'. Intensity refers to how much color the stone reflects.

Bring in precious stones from your old jewelry to VALENTE JEWELRY, 16601 East Warren at Kensington, Detroit, 881-4800 and we will re-set them in a custom made setting. There is no cost or obligation when we prepare a drawing for your approval on custom-made jewelry. Your old stones can be incorporated into new jewelry. Come in and talk to us today—we are open daily from 9 'til 5:30 and Fri. nite 'til 7:30.

GEN FACT:

There are over one hundred and fifty different hues, and at least one million gradations of tint.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

As a student at Eastern Michigan University, as well as a prospective teacher myself, I find it a necessity to acknowledge someone who is dedicated in this field.

While attending North High School I took a Child Development course and had Mrs. Carole Schubert as an instructor. Her attitudes and knowledge towards children influenced me to pursue a higher education and to choose Special Education as my major.

Mrs. Schubert is dedicated to her teaching. She is very knowledgeable in the area of Child Development. Her enthusiasm and openness towards her students are qualities, which I feel, are well worth commending.

To the Editor:

We need your help on a very serious problem in all of the Grosse Pointe communities!

The problem is bottles being thrown on the streets, sidewalks, lawns and in the parks of our communities.

The broken glass presents a hazard to youngsters who cut themselves while walking, running and playing in these areas. Serious injury could result in the summer when a power mower picks up pieces of this glass and shoots it through the air! People could get fragments of glass in their hands while working on their lawns.

I am calling on the Grosse Pointe School System to make announcements and to include this information on the printed matter that is given to the students, who can, in turn, take this important information home to their parents and older brothers and sisters. This is where the help has got to come from!

It doesn't matter who was guilty of this senseless act. Let's all work together and put the bottles in the trash cans that are located on the main streets throughout the Grosse Pointes. How about your cooperation?

Sincerely,
James Perry,
Grosse Pointe Woods

League Views 'Iceland Saga'

Ester Porter will present "Iceland Saga" at the Monday, April 4, meeting of the Grosse Pointe Cinema League in the War Memorial's Fries Auditorium, 32 Lakeshore road, at 8 p.m.

This super-8mm color movie was filmed last July on a photographic tour which completely circled the island by road, one section of which was first opened to travel in 1974.

The audience will first see views of Reykjavik, the world's farthest north capital, located in a picturesque setting on a large bay ringed by mountains. The houses, which are of reinforced concrete because of the danger of earthquakes, present a colorful aspect with their brightly painted roofs.

Among places of special interest visited are the old town and harbor, the outdoor municipal swimming pool heated by natural hot water and open for the year round and Alaska, a large vegetable garden maintained by school children eight-10 years of age.

While in Reykjavik the group flew to Vestmannaeyjar, on the island of Heimaey, the site of the largest volcanic eruption, which began on January 23, 1973. The movie takes the viewer on a bus ride over a road constructed through the new volcano.

In this first successful attempt to fight a volcano, tons of sea water were poured onto the lava to halt its flow. At one point in Steam Valley the bus halted so that passengers could collect pieces of lava incrustured with salt.

Iceland is indeed a wonderland of weird lava and rock formations and its understandable why the astronauts went there to learn to walk on the moon.

The public is invited to attend this program without charge. A reception for Cinema League members and their invited guests follows the presentation.

Mrs. Gilmore Sergius Van Hamm, of Cranford lane, the former Virginia Kriehoff, daughter of Mrs. Edwin Kriehoff and the late Mr. Kriehoff, and Joseph Lawrence Morgan, of Girard, O., were married at 11 o'clock Saturday morning, March 26, in the Grosse Pointe Academy's Sacred Heart Chapel.

The Reverend Henry F. Birkenhauer, S.J., president of John Carroll University, officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride, who was escorted by her son, Ned Van Hamm, of Norwalk, Conn., wore a floor length gown of ivory silk with a bodice and full sleeves of finely-pleated chiffon. She carried a Colonial bouquet of spring flowers.

A similar nosegay was carried by matron of honor Mrs. George J. Strong, III, of Allard road, youngest of the bride's four daughters, whose long, emerald green jersey dress featured a large, triangular scarf covering her shoulders.

Joseph L. Morgan, Jr., came from San Francisco to serve as best man for his father, who is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Evan L. Morgan.

Stanley R. Day, of Lakeland avenue, Ron Heames, of Warren, O., B. M. Johnson, of Hubbard, O., and Andrew J. Wrigley, of Springfield, O., seated the guests. Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Day hosted a reception and luncheon at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club.

The newlyweds will return from a vacation in Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, to make their home in Poland, O.

The bride's daughters, Mrs. Paul Wiers, of Hull, Mass., Mrs. Eric T. de Jonckheere, of Sacramento, Calif., and Mrs. William E. Savage, of Albuquerque, N.M., and the bridegroom's daughters, Mary Anne and Cassie Morgan, of San Francisco, were among out-of-town guests who attended the rehearsal dinner given by the bride's brothers-in-law and sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hikes, Jr., of Adrian, and Mr. and Mrs. Lionel S. Bird, in the latter's Whittier road home.

YWCA Invites Memberships

The annual Detroit Metropolitan YWCA membership campaign is underway, and will run through April 14, according to Josephine Sexton, chairperson of the '77 campaign.

This year's drive will focus on contributing memberships to help support the work of the largest and oldest women's organization in the city.

"The YWCA is a great membership organization," says Mrs. Sexton. "This year, with sky-rocketed costs and unemployment, we find ourselves with a real challenge to keep up with our budget. "Although the YWCA is a Torch Drive Agency, we pay over 64 percent of our own way. Our membership drive is one of the ways we raise these needed operating funds."

The YWCA of Metropolitan Detroit, operating six branches and Camp Cavell, is the largest in the United States. Current membership is 25,000.

This year, the membership drive theme "Because of You" reinforces the YWCA's 111-year commitment to women and girls.

The YWCA believes there is a major task to be accomplished if society is to become truly non-racist and non-sexist, assuring not only for women, but also for men, a quality of life that guarantees fulfillment as human beings.

Classes, thought-provoking discussion groups, teenage programs and general programs, both entertaining and informative, have attracted a steady stream of women, girls, men and boys to the YWCA.

Members often think of their memberships as Golden Pass Keys to saving money, lives or personal identities through the knowledge and skills learned through YWCA programming.

A basic adult membership costs $10 per year. Girls 17 and under may become members for $5. Men and boy associate memberships are available at the same rates, according to age.

Special emphasis is being placed on contributing memberships in this year's drive. These memberships, $25 and up, financially support the organization.

Inside the Mothers Club

The executive board of the Grosse Pointe South High Mothers Club met March 7, and was called to order by Mrs. Gerald E. Warren, president, who read a delightful note from Don Yerkes, head of the Math Department, thanking the Mothers Club for a plant sent to him.

Mrs. Joseph L. Fromm, co-chairman of millage for South, distributed lists for calling South High parents before millage election day. She also passed out bumper stickers. Mrs. Warren emphasized the value of calls, since Saturday is not a normal voting day. She also commended the students who had been making announcements over the school PA, announcing deadlines for absentee ballots.

After last month's discouraging announcement about slow fertilizer sales, board members were spurred to great activity which resulted in the sale of 842 bags of fertilizer with a profit of approximately $3,200. Mrs. Donald Dilmars, co-chairman of the fertilizer sale, thanked all the board members for their help.

Mrs. Thomas A. Coulter, chairman of the Christmas Tea for South, gave her final report. The tea showed a profit—which was a surprise since, as this affair is not intended to be a fundraiser.

The tea entertained and served over 750 people, in spite of a snowy day. Next year it will be South's turn to host the tea, and the board must decide this spring whether to hold the affair at South or at the Performing Arts Center.

The spring benefit is scheduled for Wednesday, May 4, in South's gymnasium.

"A Summer Garden" will feature a fashion show by Walton-Pierce as well as a mini-fashion show by the students of Sophia Boan's class, modeling their own creations, and music by Russ Reed's stage band.

Mrs. Thomas F. McGinn, co-chairman of the spring benefit, announced committee members and plans for this affair which raises money for scholarships. Several prizes will be awarded.

Tickets at $3 per person are available from board members and Mrs. Richard Gallagher, ticket chairman, 885-5296.

Vice-President Mrs. Samuel Ulmer announced that March 7 was the deadline for scholarship applications.

She described the selection procedure: each applicant is notified by mail that his application has been received; each one is then interviewed

Pointe Symphony Is Teatime Topic

CLARENCE WASHER, Grosse Pointe Symphony board member, joins pianist RUTH BURCZYK (left), and MAHIE (Mrs. Michel) SKAFF in checking out details for the Symphony's Sunday, April 3, concert. The 3:30 o'clock program in the Performing Arts Center at Grosse Pointe North High School will feature Mrs. Burczyk in a performance of Saint-Saens' Concerto No. 2 in G Minor, plus orchestra works by Alexander Borodin and Ferde Grofe. Mrs. Skaff is chairman of the afterglow reception committee. Tickets at $3.50 for adults, $1.50 for students are available at Jacobson's in-the-Village, the Bookshelf on-the-Hill or by calling 884-3052.

Martha Cook Luncheon Set

The Martha Cook Alumnae Association of Detroit will hold its annual spring luncheon benefit for the Martha Cook Alumnae Memorial Fund Saturday, April 16, at noon, at the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club.

Among special invited guests are Olive Chernow, director of the University of Michigan residence hall for upperclasswomen, and members of the Martha Cook board of governors, including a pair of Pointers, Mrs. Russell Peebles and Miss Ann Cook, and Mrs. Stewart Smith, of Grosse Ile.

Also invited are Deborah Day, assistant residence director, Barbara Shingleton, dietitian, Jean Coulter, house president, Isabel Quail, retired director, and Ellen Scott and Sara Rowe, retired assistant directors.

Mrs. R. Tyler Perkins, Jr., of Bloomfield Hills, is chairman of the event. Linda Ostrowski, Alumnae president, will introduce the guests.

The Alumnae Association was established in 1935 as a social and charitable organization by former U. of M. students who had lived in Martha Cook, an English Gothic building erected in 1915 as a gift from U. of M. graduate William Cook in honor of his mother.

Plan Concert Afterglow

She spends her summers on the campus of Interlochen National Music Camp, where she is a member of the piano faculty.

Additional orchestral programming at the Pointe Symphony's third concert of its 24th season will include the Overture to Prince Igor by Alexander Borodin and Ferde Grofe's "Grand Canyon Suite," accompanied by a graphic presentation of Richard Vernick's Musical Photo Paintings.

Tickets for the April 3 concert may be obtained in advance at Jacobson's in-the-Village, the Bookshelf on-the-Hill or by calling 884-3052. General admission is $3.50. Student admission is $1.50.

Tickets also will be sold at the box office the day of the concert.

by Mrs. Ulmer and her assistant, Mrs. W. Philip Ardussi; the scholarship committee then confers with school officials to complete the selection. Winners are notified in May.

Last year, winners shared a total of $7,650, of which $4,550 was earned by the Mothers Club through sales of leaf bags and fertilizer and the spring benefit tea.

The remaining $3,100 was generously contributed by the Lions Club, the Grosse Pointe Woman's Club, the Grosse Pointe Rotary Club, the Optimist Club, the Alice Kelly McKee Memorial Fund and Alpha Delta Kappa, (alternately with North High).

Mrs. Vorita McClure announced a new award of $200 from the Beta Xi Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma. This award will go each year alternately to South High and North High, starting this year with South.

Another project of the Scholarship committee is the awarding of a copy of Roget's Thesaurus to the top five percent of the graduating class, (28 students this year), at the National Honor Society Awards night.

The project of collecting used paperbacks and other books is continuing. It was suggested that board members solicit donations from church groups. Any large quantities will be picked up.

The Mothers Club lists a membership of 686 people and donations by 27 others. President Warren hopes to secure 1,000 members by the end of the year.

The spring benefit tea will serve as the last meeting of the year for the neighborhood groups. Speakers for the March meeting are listed in "High Points."

Mrs. William Peattie, co-chairman of the newsletter, described the problem resulting from a slight delay in publication and slow, slow, mail delivery. Deadline for the current issue was March 14 with mailing set for March 28.

Mrs. McClure also reported on the Anti-Smoking Clinic for which South High students have been trained to present a program and movie to fifth and sixth graders.

The Mothers Club convenes again next Monday, April 4, at 12:30 o'clock in the auditorium at South.

Exhibit To Focus On French Culture

Preview Dinner Is Set for Tomorrow at International Institute, Where "French Culture and America" Will Run Through May 1.

The International Institute's 21st Nationality Heritage Celebration will be presented during April, in the Institute's Hall of Nations, where 41 showcases will be devoted to an exhibit of "French Culture and America."

The display, put together by the French Women's Benevolent Club, the Alliance Française de Detroit and the Hall of Nations committee, presents a close-up view of the French, their history and life style and the cohesiveness of the ties that continue to bind French and Americans together.

A preview dinner has been scheduled for tomorrow, Friday, April 1, (April Fool's Day was, incidentally, invented as "Poisson d'Avril") at the Court of Frances I), featuring a French menu executed by Francois Sully of Windsor's LaCuisine, who is in the process of re-locating to downtown Detroit.

Among special invited guests are Detroit's French Consul General Yves Coffin and Jean Vallier, of New York, executive director of the Federation of French Alliances.

The dinner begins at 6:30 o'clock, and is by reservation only.

The exhibit is open April 1 through May 1, daily except April 10, Easter Sunday.

day. There is no admission charge.

Monday through Thursday hours are 9 in the morning to 8 in the evening, Friday hours 9 to 5 o'clock. Saturday and Sunday hours are noon to 5 o'clock.

The exhibition committee has had cooperation from the French Government via its Cultural Services. A film, "200 Years of French-American Friendship," came from the French National Museum of Franco-American Cooperation, Chateau de Blerancourt.

Seventeenth and 18th century silver is on display, as are examples of Limoges china, St. Louis crystal, a great array of fine laces and an extensive collection of visual arts ranging from Daudier graphics to works by Braque, all from members' private collections.

Among the exhibit's most striking elements is a collection of modern Aubusson

Tapestries woven to designs by such contemporary French and American artists as Jean Arp, Sonia Delaunay and Herbert Aach, on loan from Art Vivant, Inc., of New York, sole American distributor for Aubusson.

The tapestries have been on display most recently at the Whitney Museum in New York. This is their first showing in the Midwest, and they will be offered for sale during the Detroit exhibition.

The French Women's Benevolent Club began life as the French War Brides Club. It was started after World War I, received its official charter in 1933 and is one of the oldest groups organized under auspices of the International Institute.

Two original members, Marinette Maley and Maryse Eschbach, are still active. Current president is Mrs. Dallas Stewart, of Detroit.

The Detroit Chapter of the Alliance Française was organized in 1909. Its members are devoted to the promotion of French language skills and the understanding of French culture in America.

The Detroit Alliance scholarship program is open to anyone interested in the promotion of French-American friendship. Current president is Mrs. Frank Kruse, of Southfield road.

Her fiancé, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. MacConnell, of Cincinnati, O., holds a Bachelor of Arts from Ohio's Miami University, where he is affiliated with Sigma Nu fraternity.

Hosting Garden Club Members

Mrs. Rollin Allen will open her Lakeshore lane home at noon Wednesday, April 6, for Windmill Pointe Garden Club's monthly luncheon and meeting.

Mrs. Alfred Goolsby, founder of the Trowel and Error Garden Club, chairman of last fall's Heritage Flower Show at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, will present a program on vine and ground covers.

GP Methodist Women to Meet

Judy Maghakian, associate in Nurture in Education for the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, will be the United Methodist Women's guest speaker at their monthly luncheon meeting Tuesday, April 5, at 12:30 o'clock at Grosse Pointe United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Maghakian, whose husband, Harry, is on the Detroit Presbytery staff, has titled her talk "Growth and Empty Tombs." She will touch on Easter, but also include anecdotes from her own and her husband's experiences during 12 years with a mission church in the ghetto area of St. Paul, Minn., developing community programs.

The Samaritan Fellowship Group will hostess the luncheon. Devotions will be led by Mrs. Wilson Moin. Music will be provided by harpist Camille Thompson.

Reservations will be accepted at the church office, 886-2363, through tomorrow, Friday, April 1. Nursery care is available.

Brachel-Ruhana Vows Exchanged

Pearls and Lace Accent Bodice, Cuffs and Train of Ivory Qiana Bridal Gown; Gourmet House Reception Follows Rites

Exchanging marriage vows Friday evening, January 28, in Saint Joan of Arc Church were Deborah Ann Ruhana and David Anthony Brachel, who are at home in Harper Woods after vacationing in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

The new Mrs. Brachel is the daughter of Mrs. Thomas Kane, of Anita Avenue, and Robert Joseph Ruhana, of St. Clair Shores.

Mr. Brachel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brachel, of East Detroit.

The 7 o'clock rites at which Father George Charnley presided were followed by a reception at the Gourmet House.

Pearls and lace accented the bodice, cuffs and train of the bride's ivory Qiana gown. A cap studded with matching pearls and lace held her ivory chiffon veil. She carried yellow Sweetheart roses, statin and ivy.

Carrying yellow Sweetheart roses, white pompoms and ivy were honor maid Laura Marie Ruhana and bridesmaid Deborah Irene Stenzel, whose beige Qiana frocks were trimmed with marabou.

Best man was Charles Heady, David Jude Corker and Jeffery Robert Corker seated the guests.

The mother of the bride wore rose Qiana. Her wrist corsage was fashioned of pink Sweetheart roses. Beading accented the bodice and cuffs of the bridegroom's mother's green Qiana gown. Yellow Sweetheart roses formed her wrist corsage.

Mrs. David Brachel

In Saint Joan of Arc Church Friday evening, January 28, DEBORAH ANN RUHANA, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Kane, of Anita Avenue, and Robert Joseph Ruhana, of St. Clair Shores, was married to Mr. Brachel, son of the Robert Brachels, of East Detroit.

From Another Pointe of View

managed to keep busy since his graduation from Grosse Pointe South High School, where he edited the newspaper, in 1966.

"Save the Last Dance" is a series of three films exploring Michigan's musical oral tradition. The idea is to focus on America's northern cultural folk heritage which Bob Fleck and "Save the Last Dance" video director Jane Allison feel has long been overlooked in favor of "the more commercially viable and visible southern folk area."

Their pilot film, "Spring Meeting: The Original Dulcimer Player's Club of Michigan," premiered last week in the Detroit Historical Museum's Dodge Hall. Dulcimer artists were present, refreshments served, and Fleck and Allison were on hand to accept congratulations and answer questions.

How, for instance, do they find their subjects? By looking, of course, keeping an eye out for flyers and announcements and newspaper notices, checking out such events as the Old-Time Fiddler's Jamboree and Old-Fashioned Square Dance held this January in Harbor Springs. ("Bring your fiddle!" read that flyer, adding that although no admission would be charged, donations to cover expenses would be welcome.)

Now a bit to bring you up-to-date on Project Director Fleck: he was graduated from Wayne State University's Monteith College in 1970 as the year's top scholar, (B.A., with concentration in Humanities and Film).

At WSU, he was associate editor of the Daily Collegian. He's been a part-time instructor of English Composition for two years at WSU, an associate for two years with Interpretive Development Planning, a consortium of Historic Restoration specialists offering design, consulting and exhibition services.

He produced, directed and edited the 17-minute 16mm sound-synch Michigan Dulcimer Club documentary. He's directed and edited a 15-minute 16mm color and sound pilot training film for the Mid-Michigan Law Enforcement Council.

Currently, he's a part-time faculty member at Lansing Community College, teaching and developing a curriculum in traditional Michigan Folk Studies—and he's working with Jane Allison on "Save the Last Dance."

A Helping Hand for Music

Even if you don't know a B-flat from a beehive, you can help bring music to children in Detroit schools.

The opportunity comes by way of the World's Largest Garage Sale, to be staged by the City of Detroit at Cobo Hall Wednesday and Thursday, April 13 and 14, from 10 to 10 o'clock both days.

Eighty percent of all proceeds from this sale will be donated to the Detroit Public Schools.

First English Nursery To Hold Open House

First English Lutheran Co-operative Nursery in Vernier road will hold Open House Monday, April 4, from 1 until 3 o'clock.

Parents and their children who will be three years old during the 1977-78 school year are invited to visit the school, incorporated under the state cooperative nursery law, where a qualified teacher, with the aid of mother members of the co-op, presides over three and four-year-old students.

Vacancies are available for the 1977-78 year. Interested persons may contact Pat Wilson, membership chairperson, at 881-1852, or leave word at the school Monday.

The nursery is open to all. Most students come from Grosse Pointe, St. Clair Shores and Harper Woods. In addition to regular sessions, the children participate in field trips, visiting a fire station, pet shops, local fast food operations et al.

A Father's Night is scheduled each year, for both age groups, so dads can view their child's progress in various school projects. A graduation ceremony for the four-year-olds is held each June, and the school year concludes with election of officers for the year ahead.

Set Self-Help Cancer Session

The American Cancer Society has scheduled its monthly meeting for cancer patients and their families for next Thursday, April 7, at 7:30 in the evening in the Ladies Parlor of Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church in Mack Avenue.

problems as a result of the disease and, with the assistance of a nurse consultant, to give them the opportunity and encouragement to discuss mutual problems.

Further information on "Living with Cancer" may be obtained by calling the area office of the American Cancer Society at Cottage Hospital, 343-9006.

Let's Talk Real Estate

by John E. Brink

Progress report . . . Grosse Pointe Real Estate Company's associates have now delivered hundreds of brochures explaining the Community Development Program (Cul-de-Sac). The questionnaires are coming in—all filled out as we had hoped they would be—in detail. The results so far is unanimous. The questions that ask you feel this program will enhance property value (yes) make streets safer (yes) make more beautiful (yes) help eliminate crime (yes) are all affirmative. Fantastic!

It is this "togetherness" spirit that is going to help keep Grosse Pointe the most valuable, most profitable property investment in the world.

I can remember when about the last thing I would ever want to do was attend a P.T.A. or municipal meeting regarding anything. They were a boring, time consuming trial that I could easily forego! Now I find that I was not the average Grosse Pointer. Hind sight now tells me I was lazy—and foolish!

The word is out that our program might just work! If it takes public approval to convince our officials we'll soon be able to play 20,000 questionnaires on the mayor's desk. If they continue the present trend, all of these questionnaires will be screaming "Let's Go."

Just think what a fantastic impact this will have on our property values. It's a natural thing for people to want to be with a winner. Grosse Pointe is a winner—if you have any questions please free to call us 882-0087—we're excited and love talking about our baby. She's just about to start walking!

Do You Love Your Hair? We Do!

And after our ultra moist DERMETICS perm you will too.

Joe, owner of Grosse Pointe Coiffures says, "I don't know words to describe how fantastic the new DERMETICS perm is."

It's more expensive for me to buy, but I'm not passing on the extra cost to my customers. Most beauty salons would charge $40 to $50 for it. I'm offering it at $25 because I want women to come here and see how truly wonderful it is.

It actually leaves hair in better condition after perming than before. It is longer lasting, fuller, far more beautiful. The curl is stronger, styling easier and hair has unbelievable combability."

Members of the Detroit Alumni Association of Kappa Kappa Gamma, whose national philanthropy is rehabilitation, met recently with JOSEPH DREW, their 1977 poster child, currently receiving therapy treatment at the Metropolitan Society for Crippled Children and Adults. FRANCES TANNER, president of the Detroit Alumni, JANE SMITH, rehabilitation chairperson, MARY HARWOOD, publicity chairperson, and DOROTHY LUDWIG, past-president, (left to right), are among those planning KKG's annual Salad Sampler luncheon, scheduled for Wednesday, May 11, at 11:30 o'clock at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. The luncheon is one of several events the alumni, who recently contributed to the direct services program of therapy and treatment at the Metropolitan Society, sponsor yearly to support rehabilitation and health organizations.

'Choices' Plans New Workshop Program

By Katie Elzila
Are you running your house, or is your house running you?
A workshop called "You Are a Household Manager" is being offered today Thursday, March 31, from 9:30 to 11:30 o'clock at Choices, the women's resource center in Hampton road. Entrance is via the rear parking lot of Saint Ambrose Community Center Building. The goal of the workshop is to help women deal with the self-defeating behavior that prevents them from feeling like competent household managers.

"Women of varying lifestyles should find this workshop valuable," claims leader Ann McCleary. "Rare is the woman who feels completely satisfied with the way she is managing her household."

"Running a household is an open-ended task," McCleary adds. "There is always something more we feel we could or should do." The workshop will teach women to evaluate tasks and assign them priorities according to their own values. Time management and decision-making techniques will be introduced. The cost of the course is $4.

Trio Represents Garden Center

Mrs. Hansel D. Wilson, Mrs. Henry S. Walker and Mrs. Herbert D. Schmitz will represent the Grosse Pointe Garden Center at the School of Natural Resources Honors Convocation at the University of Michigan tomorrow, Friday, April 1, at 10:30 o'clock.

This is the annual event at which public recognition is given to students receiving awards for outstanding scholarship and service.

The graduate student to whom the Pointe Garden Center has given a $500 grant this year will be among those honored in 1977: the 75th anniversary year of Forestry Education, a forerunner of the U. of M.'s School of Natural Resources.

Many outstanding graduate students have been assisted by the Grosse Pointe Garden Center since it started giving scholarships 11 years ago. Mrs. Wilson, a past-president, has served as scholarship and fellowship chairman during this period.

Members of the Garden Center contribute through dues and the House Tour held each fall—the Center's one annual fund-raiser.

Education in horticulture is one of the primary purposes of the Grosse Pointe Garden Center which, in addition to its scholarship grants, provides lectures, a complete library of garden books available to all members, workshops and other educational activities such as maintenance of the Trial Gardens on the lakeside of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, in which the Garden Center has its room, so designated by Mrs. Russell A. Alger, who gave her home to the community.

To Open Progressive Artists' Annual Exhibit

Progressive Artists' Club members, who now meet at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, will open their 32nd Annual Art Exhibition with a reception this Sunday, April 3, at the Haines Gallery in Harper avenue, St. Clair Shores.

Reception hours are 2 to 5 o'clock. The exhibit will remain on display through April 30.

Kasimira Foterek-Kaiser, of Beaufait avenue, president of the Progressive Artists, will have a one-woman show at the East Detroit Library opening Monday, April 4, and running through April 30.

Northville Trip For Pettipointe

The Pettipointe Chapter of Questers has planned a field trip for next Thursday, April 7, featuring a visit to the Greek Revival House at Mill Race Village, Northville. Questers has designated the house a current state and national restoration project. Pettipointe is one of many Michigan chapters which donated money in 1976 to its restoration.

The funds were used by the Historical Society of Northville to purchase two rare, excellent examples of Empire furniture: a 42-inch pie-shaped, mahogany table and a mahogany desk.

To Explore Yugoslavia

Yugoslavia, the country that walks a fine line of independence between East and West, will be the topic explored by the Reverend Kenneth Kettlewell at the monthly program meeting of The Grosse Pointe Memorial Church Women's Association on Tuesday, April 12. His program precedes luncheon to be served in Fellowship Hall at noon.

Departure is scheduled for 9:30 in the morning, from the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church parking lot. After the tour, Pettipointers will lunch in Northville and spend the afternoon browsing in its antique shops.

Mr. Kettlewell's slides portray many facets of Yugoslavia, from the Alps to historic Sarajevo and romantic Dubrovnik. They reflect the mingling of ancient and modern ways of life, the many faces of the people and much more.

Mr. Kettlewell is pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Detroit, oldest Protestant congregation in the city. Founded in 1816, it celebrated its 160th anniversary in 1976. Mr. and Mrs. Kettlewell will wear the national dress of Yugoslavia for the program meeting. Luncheon reservations may be made by calling the church office.

Discussion Topics Range from Nuclear Energy to Feeding The World in The Future; General Membership Meeting Set for April 14

April promises to be such a busy month for the Grosse Pointe Branch of the American Association of University Women's study groups that they're getting a head start on it: the Education committee meets today, Thursday, March 31, at 9:15 in the morning at Marieke Allen's Moross road home.

The program will feature Judy Launs, discussing various aspects of the Learning Disability Program in the Grosse Pointe School System, with special emphasis on state and federal funding in existence now and the impact Public Act 198 has had on the system.

Mary-Louise Krebs is opening her Notre Dame avenue home to Art Appreciation members tomorrow, Friday, April 1. Co-hostess is Jill Best. Dorothy Jossman will present slides and discuss the art of Norman Rockwell.

The Bicentennial Study Group will meet Monday, April 4, at 9:15 in the morning at Mrs. Best's Meadow lane home, where Mrs. Krebs will lead a discussion of American Industrialization and its effects. Co-hostess is Jane Ford.

Two groups meet Thursday, April 7. Legislative Study members gather at 9:15 in the morning at Mrs. Launs' Buckingham road home, to continue their investigation of Nuclear Energy and the Environment, presented by Mrs. Best, and Nuclear Energy and Eco-

The 21st Century: Deciding Now Study Group has invited the general membership to look into the future at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, April 21, at the Central Library. "Feeding the World" is topic for this general meeting. Considerations will include probable, possible and preferred choices in the Year 2000, with emphasis on how America can best exercise its leadership in the realm of food aid, as America is the leading exporter of basic foodstuffs.

Mrs. Joseph Cook will host the Folk Guitar Group Monday, April 25, at 9:30 in the morning in her Wedgewood drive home.

Stitchery I members plan to finish their butterflies—purses or pillows—at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, April 26, at Phyllis Brewster's Lochmoor boulevard home. Nancy Orr will serve as co-hostess. Ideas for a new project for 1977-78 will be welcome.

Setting for Contemporary Literature's April 26 meeting, at 7:30 in the evening, will be the Bedford road home of Mrs. G. Arthur Kuechenmeister. Grace Stewart's topic is "Demeter/Persephone and the Artist as Heroine," with emphasis on the special problems of the mother/daughter relationship and how the artist handles them. Mrs. Stewart, an instructor at Wayne State University with several publications to her credit, will focus on two books by women: Phyllis Chester's "Women and Madness" and Helen Dinnerstein's "The Mermaid and the Minotaur."

Peggy Muir will lead an Assertiveness Training program at Kaleidoscope's meeting Wednesday, April 27, at 9 in the morning in the University place home of Jane Marshall, who will be assisted by co-hostess Mrs. Berdean Smith.

In this first of two Assertiveness Training discussions, Mrs. Muir will differentiate between passive, assertive and aggressive behavior. Systematic skills will be introduced to enable the individual to choose those appropriate to her needs.

Wine Lines
by John Lundberg

As queen of wines, champagne has always been treated royally. Even in the early 18th century, champagne was drunk in special glasses. They were frosted so that the sediment that was then common in wines would not show. From these glasses evolved the fluted shape to keep the bubbles sparkling. Nowadays, a goblet, rather than a stem glass, is often favored for serving champagne since it holds and shows off the popular bubbles. As a special wine, it is used in special toasts and to celebrate special occasions. Now, as in centuries past, an important celebration is not complete without a champagne toast.

And PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE, 17255 Mack, corner of St. Clair, 885-0626 has a fine selection of champagnes to celebrate your special occasions. Your complete party store, we can meet your needs whether you are planning an elegant dinner party or a simple beer and sandwich snack. And remember, a bottle of wine makes a fine hostess gift. Hours: 10-10 Mon.-Thurs.; 10-11 Fri.-Sat.; noon-10 Sun.

To Premier 'Crucifixion'

Lawrence Nuckolls' "Crucifixion" will be premiered at Old Christ Church, Detroit, on Maundy Thursday evening, April 7, at 7:30 o'clock, with the composer conducting and Dr. Malcolm Johns, of Rivard boulevard, Christ Church's organist/choirmaster, at the organ.

Soloists include Davis Gloff as narrator, Eugene Wabeke in the role of Jesus, Jeannette Dagger-Havarras and Eleanor Felver.

Mr. Nuckolls, a Wayne State University graduate in Composition and a tenor in the Old Christ Church Choir, wrote this new Lenten cantata during the Christmas holidays. He completed the score New Year's Day, 1977.

The 25-year-old Detroit composer has portrayed the dramatic events of the Crucifixion scene with music ranging from early Gregorian chanting to 20th century techniques using quadrasonic taped sound effects.

His score is written for mixed choir, narrator, soprano, alto and tenor soloists, solo trumpet, French Horn, flute and piccolo, tuned and

Park Police Charge Two Teens in Armed Robbery

Three 16-year-old boys were involved in the armed robbery of the White Tower, 15019 East Jefferson Avenue, from where they took approximately $16.50 in change from a waitress.

Two youths were captured, while one made good his escape. He is still being sought by Park authorities, according to information received from Lt. Gordon Duncan.

The trio were reported to have entered the eatery at about 12:41 a.m. on Tuesday, March 22. One youth and his companion sat at the counter, while the third paced up and down behind them. Suddenly, the one pacing pulled an empty bottle out of his pocket, smashed it against the counter, leaped over it and held the jagged edge of the broken bottle against the throat of one of the two waitresses. The youth demanded that she open the cash register and give him all the money inside.

The lieutenant said that when the woman did not move fast enough, the teenager attempted to open the register which became jammed. The threatened waitress then attempted to open the register and failed. She then went to the rear room and gave her assailant all the money, about $16.50, in coins from a box.

Meanwhile, the second woman employee ran out the back door to a bar two doors away and requested that someone phone the police on the armed robbery in progress.

When the police arrived, a customer from the bar had one of the boys on the sidewalk and was sitting on him. The youth was arrested and taken to The Park station.

Lt. Duncan said the other two boys ran from the scene and officers scoured the neighborhood. Rodney Wedding searched the alleys behind Alter Road, Detroit, and arrested the second youth, whom he found hiding behind a garage.

The policeman's continuing search failed to locate the other boy, who is still at large, the lieutenant said.

The youths in custody were booked and charged with robbery armed and released to juvenile court authorities pending further investigation in the matter. Their addresses revealed that they were residents of Detroit.

Lt. Duncan said the case was referred to the Youth Service Division, whose officers will prosecute the teenagers in juvenile court.

The North High School Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Nathan C. Judson, will accompany the chorus.

Former choral director of Grosse Pointe High School, John Finch, began the traditional Easter concerts in 1940. The current director, Herman A. Klein, has continued the concerts, presenting such programs as Brahms' German Requiem, the Mozart Requiem and Cherebin's Mass in C Minor throughout the years.

Center Slates Hawaii Movie

Ever popular "Hawaii" is next on the War Memorial's George Pierrot selected Grosse Pointe Adventure Series.

Two complete evenings, Wednesday, April 6, and Thursday, April 7, will feature, in the banquet hall and theater of Fries Auditorium, both Hawaiian luau and the color travelogue personally presented by Doug Jones.

One of the youngest personalities in the film lecturing business, Mr. Jones was born and raised in Kansas City and was graduated from the University of Missouri, Kansas City, with a degree in Radio and Television Broadcasting. Today, he makes his home in Indianapolis.

Despite his youth, he has had a varied background. While in school he owned and operated a music studio and taught over 800 students in the guitar, banjo and mandolin.

Mr. Jones has appeared as an entertainer throughout the Midwest, and also has worked as a European tour guide and radio announcer. He is well traveled and has circumnavigated the globe, visiting 29 nations of Europe, Asia and Africa.

He has appeared on virtually every important auditorium lecture series in the United States and Canada including the National Geographical Society Series at Constitution Hall in Washington, D.C. In 1972, the International Platform Assoc. presented him with the "Film Lecturer of the Year"

Award" for his outstanding work in the field of travelogue production.

His Hawaiian film opens with a shot of the ocean at sunrise and traces the volcanic creation of the island in the crater of Haleakala and the Waimea Canyon. It also shows the beauty of this creation in the island's vegetation, flowers, contours and waterfalls.

The people of Hawaii, their customs, industries, and the growth of tourism and resort complexes also are featured. The complete evening, luau and show, is $10.25, while the show only is $2.75. For further information and reservations, call 881-7511.

Appointments Made in GPW

The Woods Council at a recent regular meeting concurred in several Committee of the Whole, (C-W), recommendations including appointments to two city commissions.

Three persons were named to the Beautification Commission including Judith A. Miller, her term to expire January 1, 1979, and Othello Colechia and Angelo DiClemente, their terms to expire on January 1, 1978.

Meanwhile, the council approved the appointment of Stewart A. Sharrow to the Senior Citizens Commission for a one-year term expiring on January 1, 1978.

In other action, the solons okayed the request of the Pointe Masonic Temple to have its annual picnic at the Lake Front Park after the season. It will be held on September 11, and approximately 125 individuals are slated to attend.

NHS Musicians Get Top Marks

North High School's Orchestra and Symphony Band received top ratings in their respective district festivals held earlier this month.

The Orchestra, performing selections from Schubert, Corelli and Rimsky-Korsakov, received all first division ratings.

The Symphony Band, under the direction of Nathan C. Judson, also received the highest possible rating. They performed Persichetti's "Symphony No. 6 and The Corcoran Cadets by Sousa.

A cable knit beige sweater is styled with a boat neckline and the new elbow length sleeve. A navy signature top features a low rounded neck and short sleeves and its counterpart in red has a square neck . . . both with the Cardin initials. From another designer, there's a game sweater of navy acrylic embroidered with chess, roulette, backgammon, chemin de fer and more. For evening, creamy white polyester pajamas are a good choice. The tunic top is elasticized at the neck and sleeves. The Alligator Company has an answer to traveling near or far in the rain. A light weight, rain proof and wind proof coat comes with a matching bag. Inside a belt and hood. For those of you who collect Panetta rings there's a new shipment. They are fine hand set jewelry pieces that look so real but are not. Only the price tag gives them away. There's a circular step set diamond ring. A contemporary gold sphere with diamond design center, large topaz stones set in free style gold mountings. A cabochon emerald, encircled with diamonds is in a Venetian gold setting. One ring combines a white opal with pink opals, diamonds and gold. Have fun with these great pretenders. They need no insurance.

VI LARSEN, OF HENDRIE LANE

By Janet Mueller

Vi Larsen is in the process of making a Troll Egg—"I'm Norwegian; everyone's searching for 'roots'"—and has painted the outer, ostrich shell, (its odd bulges are the result of natural irregularities), with scenes from a Scandinavian fairy tale.

The outer egg will open on an inner one, the inner one on its own inner one, until the heart of the story is revealed.

Doesn't Vi worry that the shell she's working on will crack, will break?

"An ostrich," says Vi, operating the hinges on the outer shell so its 'doors' will open and I can see where the first inner egg will sit, "weighs 250 to 300 pounds. She has to sit on it, you know!"

And to think I never thought of that . . .

Rouses Sympathy

Still, I can sympathize with the two older ladies who signed up for Vi's egg decorating class through adult education services at a high school back east. At the first session, when they saw what they'd gotten into, they almost cried.

"But," Vi notes triumphantly, "by the end of 10 weeks, they were ecstatic."

Vi has worked with eggs of every size, from ostrich and rhea to tiny finch and canary. Size doesn't matter: it's what she's trying to do that determines the size of the egg she will use to accomplish her purpose. The miniature owl sewing kit she created for a friend, for instance—if she'd used an ostrich egg for THAT, it would have been a sewing BASKET . . . and where, then, is the charm?

She learned how by doing. "There were no books when I started. I learned by trial and error, and there were lots of errors."

Began 15 Years Ago

It all began about 15 years ago, when a friend who worked in crafts with elderly people at a Baptist Home gave Vi a goose egg.

Taht, too, was back east.

school classes, but she's always sewn.

Clothes to Slipcovers "I used to make all my own clothes. Then I got married, and started on slipcovers." She does her own housework. She's made quilts and pillows, worked in embroidery, crochet and needle-point.

"Back east, we used to have a big Scandinavian Christmas. I put the whole family to work. We made straw ornaments, (the Scandinavians create their Christmas decorations out of natural materials), worked with apples and candles, strung paper link chains."

The primary reason for all this activity was a Christmas House Tour, with the Larsen home billed as "The Scandinavian Christmas House," but the ornaments, stored carefully in plastic bags between holidays, augmented each year, remain a family tradition.

"You DO miss your friends," admits Vi, the Grosse Pointe newcomer. "We used to sit over our coffee cups every Monday without fail. We kept the pot going. We were a group without age limit, women from their 20's to their 70's."

Good, New Friends

But she's made good, new friends, and she's becoming involved. The Larsen home a recent Garden Center House Tour.

Vi's eggs have taken her all over the United States. She's just back from an Egg Show, one of the major ones, in Phillipsburg, N.J. Last year she went to Dallas, Tex., Washington, D.C. . . .

"There must be a dozen big shows each year. Thousands show up. About 25 percent of the people who work with eggs are men. It's very exacting work, and many men enjoy that."

Vi has judged in shows. "I usually rent a dealer's table and an exhibitor's table." She won't sell her egg creations, but she gave away 11 last year. "I don't do them to sell them. I like to give presents to people I like—and I'd rather give something made than bought."

Does Sell Supplies

She does sell supplies, tiny tools and hardware, (hinges, et al.), as a service to other exhibitors. And she sells eggs for the Bronx Zoo.

"Jim was pre-school age," Vi recalls, explaining her Zoo Connection. "He was watching a children's show on television; I had just come home from shopping, and suddenly I heard him yell, 'Mommy! Mommy! Eggs!'"

Vi raced in and there, showing-and-telling on TV, was the Bronx Zoo's Number One Bird Man.

Two days later she and Jim were at the zoo, looking up the curator who had brought the eggs to the show. A few moments' conversation and the curator knew the egg lady wasn't cracked. "He gave me many, many eggs."

And one day Vi, who knew the prices eggs were commanding, said, "Look: the Bronx Zoo needs money, and the people I know need eggs to work with. Let me take your excess eggs to the egg shows and sell them for you."

Beautiful Arrangement

The arrangement works beautifully. The Bronx Zoo airfreights the eggs to Vi, who piles them in the van with her finished products whenever she sets out for a show, then mails the proceeds back to the zoo.

She charges $14 to $18 for a rhea egg, $25 to $30 for one from an emu. Some of the rarer eggs are much more expensive. A cassowary lays a dark green, jewel-toned egg. Cassowary eggs go for $75 to $100—if you're lucky enough to find one.

One thing an egg artist NEVER does is go egg-hunting in the bush. "We DON'T steal eggs," Vi emphasizes. In America, nests of all wild birds are protected by law. Egg artists get their raw material from domestic birds or those raised in captivity, (turkeys, ducks, geese, e.g.).

The average price of a finished egg ranges from $300 to $700. Some have sold for as much as $5,000.

Real Works of Art

They are, literally, works of art, inspired by the Faberge Easter Eggs created for the Russian Royal Family. Faberge made 57 eggs, fashioning them of precious metals, studding them with jewels. Forty-six are accounted for, 11 missing. "I dream," says Vi, "of finding one in the corner of a dusty, old junk shop."

Her eggs, like Faberge's, are miniature worlds. "Anything you can make small enough, you can put in an egg," Vi maintains. She's used embroidery and bread dough flowers. She's adapted quilt patterns in minute needlepoint.

Chapel Bells, (pictured above), is the "fanciest" she's ever gotten. For it, she studied a book on Gothic Church designs. She works out ideas in a sketch pad before she begins, and she doesn't begin until she's ready. "I had my first ostrich egg about four years before I decided what to do with that big melon!"

Became Advent Egg

One ostrich egg became an Advent Egg, 24 tiny doors opening on 24 tiny Christmas symbols, (bells, a toy soldier, a marzipan pig), each hand-painted, the outer shell studded with more Christmas symbols, bread dough candies and apples, nests and eggs.

She's begun to sign her work. "Lately, I've been putting a heart somewhere on each of my eggs."

She would like to get involved in teaching again. "That's the most fun. I think anyone who has done advanced decoupage would tackle an egg." She doesn't mind being copied. She's shared many original designs, via detailed instructions, in egg-makers' magazines.

She is, in effect, an egg missionary. She's enjoyed her eggs so much she must help others see how much fun they are.

Sometimes it's good, messy fun. "Normal" Easter eggs are hardballed before they're colored. The beautiful Ukrainian eggs are decorated raw; eventually, what's inside becomes a fine dust.

Uses Empty Shells

Vi works with empty eggshells. "In New Jersey, we used to get into old clothes, go out by the swimming pool, drill a hole in either end and pump each egg out with a bicycle pump. And then make the world's largest omelet? Not quite . . . these eggs aren't exactly fresh. The sulphur builds up. We buried the insides."

She recently developed an Epoxy allergy. That's a lot like me developing an allergy to newspaper. The obvious remedy is to stop doing what you're doing. Vi's experimenting, with open windows and a good draft, to see how much she can take before her eyes begin to water, her skin to itch.

Because, you see, she can't stop NOW. She's made so many beautiful eggs—if you don't believe me, see for yourself: part of her collection will be on display at Jacobson's beginning tomorrow, April 1, continuing through April 15—but the world's full of shells.

Vi Larsen takes one in her hand, and a world begins to open up.

Beautiful Arrangement

The arrangement works beautifully. The Bronx Zoo airfreights the eggs to Vi, who piles them in the van with her finished products whenever she sets out for a show, then mails the proceeds back to the zoo.

She charges $14 to $18 for a rhea egg, $25 to $30 for one from an emu. Some of the rarer eggs are much more expensive. A cassowary lays a dark green, jewel-toned egg. Cassowary eggs go for $75 to $100—if you're lucky enough to find one.

One thing an egg artist NEVER does is go egg-hunting in the bush. "We DON'T steal eggs," Vi emphasizes. In America, nests of all wild birds are protected by law. Egg artists get their raw material from domestic birds or those raised in captivity, (turkeys, ducks, geese, e.g.).

The average price of a finished egg ranges from $300 to $700. Some have sold for as much as $5,000.

Real Works of Art

They are, literally, works of art, inspired by the Faberge Easter Eggs created for the Russian Royal Family. Faberge made 57 eggs, fashioning them of precious metals, studding them with jewels. Forty-six are accounted for, 11 missing. "I dream," says Vi, "of finding one in the corner of a dusty, old junk shop."

Her eggs, like Faberge's, are miniature worlds. "Anything you can make small enough, you can put in an egg," Vi maintains. She's used embroidery and bread dough flowers. She's adapted quilt patterns in minute needlepoint.

Chapel Bells, (pictured above), is the "fanciest" she's ever gotten. For it, she studied a book on Gothic Church designs. She works out ideas in a sketch pad before she begins, and she doesn't begin until she's ready. "I had my first ostrich egg about four years before I decided what to do with that big melon!"

Became Advent Egg

One ostrich egg became an Advent Egg, 24 tiny doors opening on 24 tiny Christmas symbols, (bells, a toy soldier, a marzipan pig), each hand-painted, the outer shell studded with more Christmas symbols, bread dough candies and apples, nests and eggs.

She's begun to sign her work. "Lately, I've been putting a heart somewhere on each of my eggs."

She would like to get involved in teaching again. "That's the most fun. I think anyone who has done advanced decoupage would tackle an egg." She doesn't mind being copied. She's shared many original designs, via detailed instructions, in egg-makers' magazines.

She is, in effect, an egg missionary. She's enjoyed her eggs so much she must help others see how much fun they are.

Sometimes it's good, messy fun. "Normal" Easter eggs are hardballed before they're colored. The beautiful Ukrainian eggs are decorated raw; eventually, what's inside becomes a fine dust.

Uses Empty Shells

Vi works with empty eggshells. "In New Jersey, we used to get into old clothes, go out by the swimming pool, drill a hole in either end and pump each egg out with a bicycle pump. And then make the world's largest omelet? Not quite . . . these eggs aren't exactly fresh. The sulphur builds up. We buried the insides."

She recently developed an Epoxy allergy. That's a lot like me developing an allergy to newspaper. The obvious remedy is to stop doing what you're doing. Vi's experimenting, with open windows and a good draft, to see how much she can take before her eyes begin to water, her skin to itch.

Because, you see, she can't stop NOW. She's made so many beautiful eggs—if you don't believe me, see for yourself: part of her collection will be on display at Jacobson's beginning tomorrow, April 1, continuing through April 15—but the world's full of shells.

Vi Larsen takes one in her hand, and a world begins to open up.

of the City's wide variety of surplus items will go to the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, to provide funding for a series of educational concerts in the Detroit schools and free concerts in Detroit parks.

The DSO is encouraging lovers of music, and children, to boost proceeds by donating saleable items—which, judging from last year's first-ever anywhere City Garage Sale, can be ANYTHING: what the first-ever City Garage Sale proved is that there's a buyer for anything that can be carried in and carried out, (and for quite a few things that can't be!).

More than $92,000 was raised from the '76 sale of antiques, memorabilia . . . and just plain junk.

This year, with double last year's floor space being devoted to the project, 300,000 square feet in all, the sky's the limit. Already, the list of items ranges from old city buses to parachutes to chandeliers.

Kay Fulgenzi, coordinator, will be happy to add your contributions to that list. Mrs. Fulgenzi may be reached at 886-6429.
