HEADLINES of the WEEK

As Compiled by the Grosse Pointe News

Thursday, July 14
MILLIONS OF PERSONS in the metropolitan New York area suffered without electricity today after an electrical storm apparently knocked out a generator owned by Consolidated Edison, the New York power company, at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday. The blackout affected New York City and parts of Suffolk and York Counties. The power outage closed the stock market today and cut off network broadcasts throughout the nation until emergency generators were in operation.

Friday, July 15
NEW YORK CITY struggled back to life today after a 25-hour power blackout. Vandalism and looting that took place since the lights went out on Wednesday evening came to an end and the stock market reopened for business today. Angry city, state and federal officials called the blackout intolerable and announced investigations of the Consolidated Edison Co., the New York City utility. The company called the power loss an act of God. In all, over 3,000 persons were arrested for looting and other offenses.

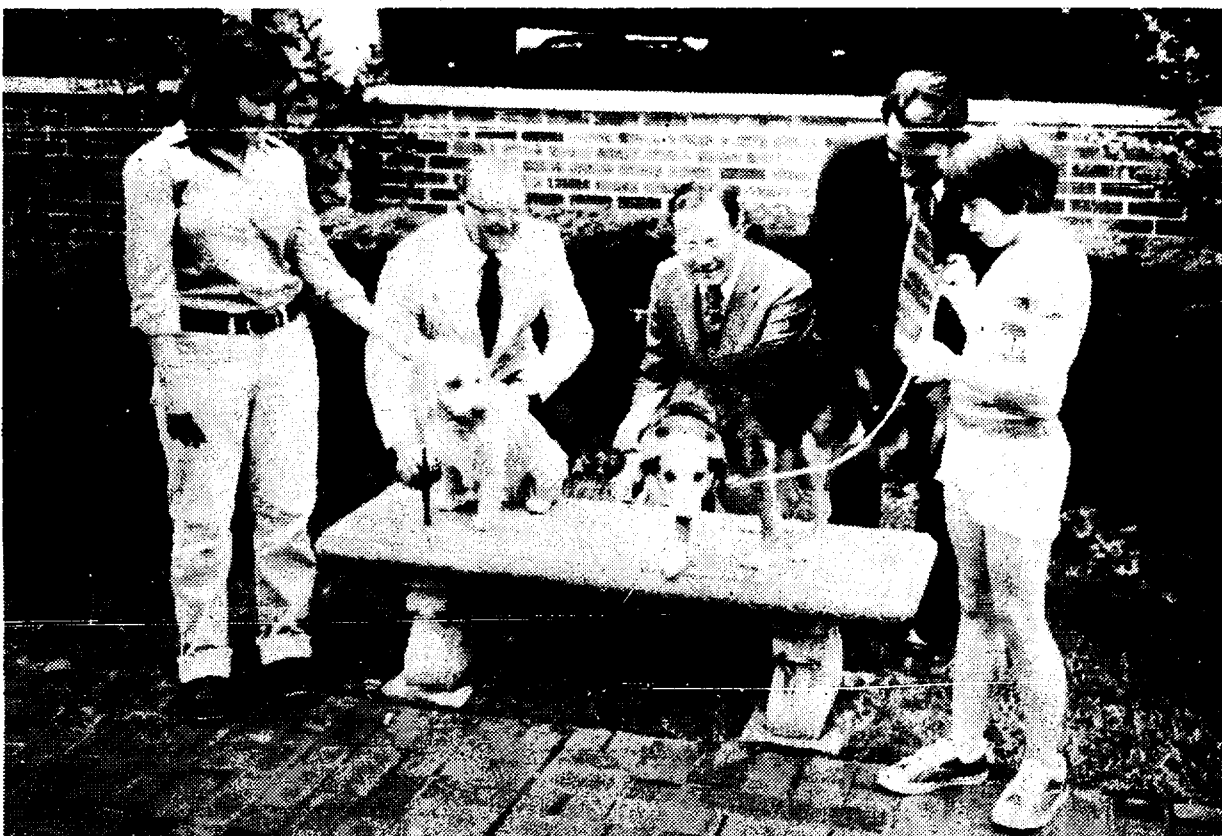

Monday, July 18
FOR THE FIRST time in the national organization's history, girls will be admitted to the Boys' Club today, after a Wayne County Circuit Court ruling that the club falls under the public accommodations provisions of the Michigan Civil Rights Act. That act forbids discrimination on the basis of sex, among other classifications. A spokeswoman for Boys' Club of America headquarters in New York City said the group's lawyers would study the judge's order before deciding to take any further legal steps.

Sunday, July 17
THE NORTH KOREAN government yesterday released the co-pilot and bodies of three other crewmen of a U.S. helicopter shot down over communist territory several days ago. The prompt release underscored efforts by both sides not to let the incident lead to a confrontation. President Jimmy Carter said in Washington that he "deplored the loss of life and the excessive reaction to an unarmed and inadvertent intrusion." The Pentagon identified the dead as Chief Warrant Officer Joseph Miles, 26, Sgt. Robert C. Haynes, 29, and Sgt. Ron Wells, 22.

Monday, July 18
IT LOOKS AS IF a major strike among Detroit city workers will be averted, as tentative agreement was announced today between the city and its largest union, Council 77 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees. A news blackout was immediately declared on details of the agreement, which was reached about 5 a.m. Sunday. It would replace the agreement rejected last week by the union membership. The city has yet to reach accord with its garbage collectors union, which plans to take a strike vote this evening.

Tuesday, July 19
DETROIT'S GARBAGE truck drivers began walking off their jobs early this morning starting the city's second municipal strike in two weeks. The action followed a unanimous strike vote by the Teamsters Union local that represents truck drivers. The strike will put a halt to city garbage collections and the drivers picket lines also may stop other city services, including buses and recreation activities. A teamster spokesman said the strike will last at least two days.

Pampered Pooches to Parade on Saturday

GP Summer Music Fest Continues

Pointer Elizabeth Parcells, Featured, Frederic De Haven Conducts DSO on July 27

"An Evening with Bach" is presented as the fourth concert of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Summer Series on Wednesday, July 27, at 8 p.m. in the Crystal Ballroom, 32 Lakeshore road. Members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, (DSO), and guest soloist, Pointer Elizabeth Parcells, under the direction of Frederic De Haven will perform four favorite works of Johann Sebastian Bach.

The Brandenburg Concerto III is played by solo violins, violas and cello, and was composed in a set of six concerti for the Margrave of Brandenburg in 1721.

Dance Movements
The program will conclude with the well known Suite III, which includes the "Air for G String," one of the most typical works Bach wrote. Sometimes called "Overture in D," the suite consists of the gallant French Overture, The Air, two Gavottes, a Bourree and a Gigue, all classical dance movements of the 18th century.

The Orchestral Suite III was written in 1727, when Bach was the organist and master of the choir at his final post in Leipzig. (Continued on Page 2)

Dismissal of GP Farms In Shooting Case Denied

By Roger A. Waha
A motion for an accelerated judgement seeking dismissal of The Farms on the basis of governmental immunity in the shooting incident wherein Farms detectives allegedly shot a Woods man, believed to be the suspect in a robbery which occurred in February, was denied by Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Victor J. Baum on Friday, July 8.

Construction Work on Beautification Project Moves Along in Woods

Progress of "Veterans Memorial Parkway" Program Pleases Commission; Council Approves Bid Transferring Monies for Inclusion of Three-Inch Irrigation Tap at West End

By Roger A. Waha
With construction on the Woods Beautification Commission's "Veterans Memorial Parkway" project well underway at the city's west end, (at the Harper Woods border along Vernier road), the commission, looking ahead, recommended that the council transfer the amount of $2,850 from the maximum $16,000 appropriated for first stage construction of the project for the inclusion of a three-inch irrigation tap.

The council unanimously approved this request at its rescheduled regular meeting Monday, July 11, for the west end but didn't set a specific date for the installation of the tap.

A total of $9,962 including contingency for west end work had earlier received the council's blessing and, with the transfer of $2,850 for the proposed three-inch tap, a total of just over $3,000 remains to be utilized for any proposed east end work, (i.e., east of the Vernier-Mack avenue intersection), pending further recommendations from the commission.

Heart of System
West end work includes a masonry wall and sign saying "Grosse Pointe Woods, Veterans Memorial Parkway," plumbing, electrical service including underground service and three floodlights, landscaping and flag poles.

Pleased over the progress of construction work and the council's approval of the three-inch tap, Dr. Albert C. Howe, commission chairman, indicated a five-eighths inch water tap has been made at the west end but that this wouldn't be sufficient to serve as a source of water supply for a proposed sprinkling system viewed for next spring.

He felt a three-inch tap would be necessary to augment the installation of an entire irrigation system, running the length of the median and providing sufficient water coverage for all proposed plantings. "It's the heart of the future irrigation system," he stressed.

(In relation to this, City Administrator Chester E. Petersen told the council that the city isn't committed to install an underground sprinkling system. At this time, he noted it only was a commission commitment.)

With west end construction work moving along, Dr. Howe is eyeing Dedication Day for the project which not only emphasizes beautification but also honors all American veterans.

On Dedication Day
While the commission is currently welcoming donations from citizens toward the program, Dr. Howe said a major funding drive, via an "impact statement," will be announced on Dedication Day, which is scheduled for Sunday, October 2, around (Continued on Page 2)

Lights for Net Courts Okayed

The J and J Electric Co. of St. Clair Shores, received the unanimous nod of the Woods Council for the furnishing and installation of all new lights on the four tennis courts located in Ghesquiere Park.

This action was taken at the rescheduled regular meeting Monday, July 11.

The total amount of the contract is $4,952, (utilizing the company's hydraulic aerial lift), with the expenditure being charged to the municipal improvement fund as provided in the 1977-78 capital improvement budget.

GP Park Fire Claims Life Of Bar Owner

Lester Whippo Dies of Asphyxiation in Apartment; Is Second Such Fatality in Community Since Mrs. Cecilia Y. Londes Died in February

A three-alarm fire of an unknown origin claimed the life of the owner of the Little Paris Bar, 15130 Mack avenue, early Sunday morning, July 17, and injury to a Park firefighter, according to information released by Park Assistant Fire Chief David A. Taylor.

The owner, Lester Whippo, 60, who resided in an apartment above the bar, was pronounced dead on arrival at Bon Secours Hospital.

The cause of Mr. Whippo's death was due to asphyxiation from the heavy smoke, Chief Taylor said. The fire originated in the apartment, and is still under investigation.

The chief said the blaze was discovered by passers-by, who called the Detroit Fire Department, which dispatched two engines, a ladder truck, a squad and a chief. This call occurred around 4:40 a.m.

Many Respond
A telephone alarm was sent in to the Park department at 4:44 a.m., Chief Taylor said, and Park firefighters arrived with all equipment, in time to help Detroit firefighters hook up to nearby fire hydrants.

The City Fire Department responded automatically to the first alarm, a second alarm brought The Farms and a third alarm brought The Woods, the chief said. The City and The Farms responded with all their men and equipment and The Woods had its snorkel and an operating crew.

Without counting the Detroit firemen, there were 19 Pointe firemen, plus eight off-duty Park men.

With the combined efforts of the four departments, the fire was brought under control at 5:10 a.m. and was extinguished by 5:30 a.m., the chief said.

Extensive Damage
When the fire was "knocked down," the Detroit contingent left, but not before receiving the sincere thanks of Chief Taylor for its response and assistance.

There was extensive fire, water and smoke damage to the apartment, and water damage to the bar beneath.

Park Firefighter Martin Buss was conveyed to Bon Secours Hospital when particles of falling plaster fell into both of his eyes. He was treated in the emergency room and released, the chief disclosed.

Mr. Whippo, who owned the bar and the building, is the second Park fire fatality this year. The first death occurred during the February 25 fire at the Harcourt road home of Mrs. Cecilia Y. Londes, 71.

The fire originated in the first floor bedroom and the cause of her death was attributed to inhalation of toxic gas resulting from the blaze.

GP Park DPW Employees 'Dump' $100 Photoplates

By James J. Njaim
Two employees of the Park's Department of Public Works, (DPW), thought they had salvageable metal when they picked up two pieces of brass from their dump truck on pickup day Wednesday, July 13.

But when they looked at the pieces, they found they were holding photographic plates that apparently could have been used in making bogus $100 bills.

The workers, Charles "Buck" Hamblin and Thomas Preston, both Park residents, said at the time they were picking up rubbish in Harvart road.

They came upon a pile of refused, including a bureau dresser drawer and tossed

Board Eyes Learning Disabled

School System Strives to Assist Students Via Extension of Resource Center Program

By Susan McDonald
Educators estimate that between two and 20 percent of the population have some kind of learning disability—whether it be a problem with hearing, sight, motor coordination or spatial orientation.

Though of normal intelligence, the learning disabled may find it next to impossible to organize anything on paper, to quickly comprehend much of what they read or to cope with math formulas, usually because of a minor perceptual disability. Some overcome, or just suffer through, the problem without great difficulty. But learning disabled children also may be labeled "sloppy," "lazy" or just "stupid" because of it. And the mark may affect their self image for the rest of their life.

Expand Centers
As medical advances are made to pin down the still vague disorder, educators are learning how to help such students, and Pointe schools, at least, are ready to offer a tried and tested program next year.

The "Learning Resource Centers" were piloted at Brownell Middle School last year. The Board of Education voted recently to expand their use to all middle and both high schools as well.

Obviously, the learning disabled don't require a program completely separate from the rest of their grade, as their problems are usually not that severe, and educators believe they suffer more from the stigma of being separated from the rest of their classmates.

The Pointe program allows the children to maintain their regular classroom study, with occasional study breaks in the center.

There, individual learning needs are treated with special materials, plus close attention from instructors.

GP Hears Ambitious Proposal

Plans, Which Have Been in Making for Two Years, Presented to Council for Its Consideration

By James J. Njaim

The Kercheval-on-the-Hill Business Assoc. approached the Farms Council on Monday, July 18, with a very ambitious plan to make the two-block long business district in Kercheval avenue into one of the most beautiful shopping areas.

A major concern is creating and adding to the present parking facilities, according to Shep Norton, president of the business group.

The overall planning and improvement of the district has been in the making for two years, Mr. Norton told the council. He also pointed out that it would not be just for the benefit of the city's business people, but for the entire community.

Give Best to All
The presentation of the plans to the city solons was the initial step toward the fulfillment of the complete development and improvement of the commercial area. The project will be known as the Community Development Plan.

Designer of the plans is John Grissim, who has done work for local city governments, including The Woods with the "Veterans Memorial Parkway" project. He also has been involved in designing the RenCen in Detroit.

Mr. Norton said the proposed project on-the-Hill will be a total town area development. There is a community shopping area, a library, a theater, a church and a hospital. The main goal, he pointed out, is to provide a plan which would give the best to everybody.

One proposal to improve parking on-the-Hill is the acquisition of a section of the Richard School playground, and the creation of a cul-de-sac which would block McMillan, between Kercheval and Ridge road, thus adding a considerable number of parking spaces for the business area.

Rabbit's Return Causes Concern

Dog wardens normally have their hands full with a variety of animal complaints, mostly in relation to dogs and cats. However, Woods Dog Warden Jeffrey Johnson also has been involved in responding to rabbit complaints, the latest of which was on Monday morning, July 11.

At that time, he received a call from a Lochmoor boulevard woman, who said a rabbit was running in her yard. This bunny, the dog warden noted, was involved in biting the woman's son some three weeks earlier. It was taken by the department for the normal 10-day observation period and ultimately returned to the owner.

The woman claimed the owner had let it run loose again, while expressing a concern over the safety of her children.

So Dog Warden Johnson went to the owner's home in Sunningdale drive and the citizen said, since the bite complaint, he has given his rabbits away and no longer owns any.

But, the dog warden said, prior to speaking with the man, he noticed a large white rabbit sitting under a vehicle parked in his drive.

Upon learning that the man no longer owned any rabbits, Dog Warden Johnson asked why there was one sitting under the car. The man, according to the report, replied he didn't know whose bunny it was.

He also said he would catch the animal and give it to a friend who eats them.

Woods Okays Bus Request

A recommendation from the Senior Citizens Commission for the city to help finance the use of a chartered bus to a baseball game was approved by the Woods Council via a 5-1 vote.

This action was taken at the rescheduled regular meeting Monday, July 11.

The citizens requested that the city okay, from the seniors' recreation budget, a total of $90 toward financing the bus so they could attend Senior Citizens Day at Tiger Stadium, Saturday, July 23. The total cost of the bus is $140 with the other $50 to be paid by the participants themselves via a $1 bus fare.

When asked by Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos as to the need for such a service as part of the overall seniors program, Irene Sutton, commission chairman, emphasized the use of a bus was an integral part of such activities.

"It's not unusual for cities to allow money for bus service, which is definitely a part of a senior citizens program," e.g., such as being able to go on short trips, she said.

In relation to such excursions, Mrs. Sutton also stressed the importance of seniors doing things together, going places and sharing their lives toward a continual growth.

Councilman Ronald R. Keegen cast the lone negative vote because he felt approval would virtually open up a "Pandora's box" of similar requests from little leagues, Boy and Girl Scouts and other groups.

Expansion on Hill

(Continued from Page 1) block long commercial district is to create a mall effect on Kercheval, with considerable landscaping throughout the area. This would be done in such a way as to not interrupt vehicular traffic because the avenue is a major thoroughfare.

As proposed, there will be a clock tower, with chimneys, at the entrance to the district, while the passageway between the NEWS office and Salem Square market would be enclosed to aid shoppers walking through or picking up purchased goods. There also will be pedestrian lights for safety.

Mr. Grissim said that officials of the school system support the plan but have no money to take part in the project. He also said that the Cottage Hospital administration has lented enthusiastic support to the project, as have all the major property owners in the area.

The total cost of the entire program is estimated at about $1.5 million.

Mr. Grissim called the project an exciting thing and hoped that the council will make it work.

Would Be Asset

In a letter to Mr. Norton, Mr. Grissim pointed out that he and his firm have been working with the association for two years designing and redesigning plans to satisfy various problems and situations.

"We have a great deal of time and expense invested in this project and are extremely confident that, if this development should become a reality, it would be a real asset to the city," Mr. Grissim stated.

Now that this potential project has been recognized by the community, he said that he felt his firm should be retained on a limited payment basis, to help defray some of "our expenses as we continue additional preliminary studies."

Mr. Norton petitioned the council to pay Mr. Grissim's $7,500 fee, with a minimum of $2,500 to be paid as soon as feasible and the balance on completion of the permanent plans.

Mayor James Dingeman congratulated Mr. Norton and the members of his association for their interest and the work they put into the proposed project.

Eyes Financing

However, he said, before the city would decide to pay, at least the minimum fee, the plans must be checked first, and before they can be accepted, the first step, the traffic flow, besides other questions, must be answered.

Among these major issues is the matter of financing the project, the mayor added.

The council approved a motion that members of the city administration, City Manager Andrew Bremer, City Clerk Richard Solak, City Comptroller Carol Lock, Director of Public Service John DeFoe, Police Chief Robert Ferber and Fire Chief Warren Schultz, meet and work on the problems with the association.

When, and if the project is completed, which is expected to take many months, or perhaps years, the Hill district could well be a showplace of The Pointe.

Music Fest

Two solo cantatas will be performed between the concert and suite. Cantata 51 Jauchzet Gott in Allen Landen, ("Praise God in All the Lands"), is a virtuoso work for Miss Parcells, and for Detroit Symphony Orchestra principal trumpeter, Donald Green. Cantata 5 is a colorful and joyful work, written at Leipzig in 1732.

Wins Big Honor

The Wedding Cantata, No. 202, is scored for soprano soloist and oboe. Donald Baker, principal oboist of the symphony, joined with the orchestra, will accompany Miss Parcells in performing this work.

A coloratura soprano, Miss Parcells, a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, Mass., sings regularly with Dantes Pinkham, won the coveted third prize of the Metropolitan Opera Auditions in New York this year and is currently performing this summer at Tanglewood, the summer home of the Boston Symphony.

Known as a great Mozart and Bach performer, she recently performed "The Impresaria" by Mozart with the Boston Symphony Orchestra under Seiji Ozawa.

Mr. DeHaven, musical director of the summer concert series and conductor of the Bach Concert, is the organist and choirmaster at Christ Church, Grosse Pointe.

Elected Prexy

He is a graduate of the Juilliard School of Music in New York, has been busy preparing several choruses for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and has conducted many concerts in Grosse Pointe since his appointment to Christ Church in 1975.

Mr. DeHaven was recently elected president of the Assoc. of Anglican Musicians, an international organization of Episcopal musicians.

Tickets for this concert are available at the box office of the War Memorial. They are $8.50 per person.

Trouble is an optical illusion — it looks different when viewed from different angles.

Photoplates

"I never expected anything like this would happen to me in all my life," said Mr. Hamblin. "You always see something like this on television, but to have it happen to you, finding the plates, I mean, that is something else."

"It is a once in a lifetime thing. We hung on to the plates until we saw the first police car that passed by and turned them over to the officer."

For his part, Mr. Preston said, "It certainly looked like the real thing to me. We found out later that the plates could not be used to counterfeit $100 bills, but, believe me, at the time we found them, you could have fooled me."

"We thought we had two pieces of brass, just plain brass, to be added to salvageable metal that could be sold. We found out different pretty fast."

Both employees said they were glad to get rid of the plates because it gave them a "funny sort of feeling" when they discovered what they had found.

Federal agents traced the plates to a Park home, name of the owners withheld, and determined that the man of the house had been experimenting with a machine used to put etchings on novelty items. The machine was confiscated, at least for the time being.

Although it is a violation of federal laws to make photographic plates of American and foreign money, the United States Attorney's Office in Detroit said that the maker of the plates will not be prosecuted.

The plates could not have been used in counterfeiting $100 bills, federal officials added.

WORKERS AIDED

During the 1976 fiscal year, about 157,000 workers were certified eligible to apply for benefits under the expanded trade adjustment assistance program for workers adversely affected by increased imports, the U.S. Labor Department reported. The program, authorized under the Trade Act of 1974, aided workers employed primarily in the automobile, apparel, electrical, metal and shoe industries.

Despite Slim Response, GPW Survey Is Helpful

By Roger A. Waha

Relief sewer construction and water main improvements were number one and number two in priority, respectively, according to responses from Woods citizens to a questionnaire published in the April edition of "Update." The results will be included in the July edition of the city's tabloid newspaper.

One big surprise, and disappointment, were the number of responses to the priority and "rate your city" sections—approximately 100 residents or one and a half percent of the houses in the community responded, said City Administrator Chester E. Petersen.

Saying this was the first time the city has conducted such a survey, Mr. Petersen called the response "very poor." He attributed this to, (1) the citizens are well satisfied with the present services and programs offered by the city and see no need for further expansions or, (2) the residents were not sufficiently interested to complete the forms.

However, despite the response and the fact that cities usually don't like to conduct opinion surveys because of criticism received, Mr. Petersen indicated the results were helpful and he, in fact, would like to have a similar survey next year expanding upon the information garnered this year.

"A survey is one of the few ways a city can determine if it is providing services and programs which its citizens are interested in," he said. "It also points out other areas in which we need to make definite improvements."

Both relief sewer construction and water main improvements are ongoing programs in the community and Mr. Petersen felt both areas were foremost in the minds of most citizens.

"We have to also recognize that those vitally interested in certain projects probably turned in their questionnaires," he said. For instance, construction of a senior citizens housing complex by private investors was third on the list and he felt this showed that seniors put in an extra effort toward submitting their questionnaires.

Of the 11 items listed, the completion of resurfacing and curb recapping of streets as required was fourth.

Thieves Enter Lochmoor Club

The pool equipment office at the Lochmoor Club, 1018 Sunningdale drive, was entered sometime between Friday evening, July 15, and Saturday morning, July 16, said Woods police.

A variety of articles were reported missing including golf clubs and a pair of golf bags.

Roy Pouliot, pool manager, told Officer Stuart Gerow the thieves entered the pool office, apparently by knocking a steel rod from the window frame, opened the window and then exited the same way.

Besides the golf equipment, a red push button telephone, a pewter tankard, 30 bottles of sun tan lotion, 24 tee-shirts, (lettered "Lochmoor Club Old-Timers"), and an AM-FM radio were discovered missing.

Fifth through 11th, respectively, were the following: street improvement programs, master and land use plans for the city's future development, construction of year round tennis facilities at Ghesquiere Park by private investors, construction of additional municipal off-street parking lots adjacent to or on Mack avenue, construction of a fishing pier at Lake Front Park, construction of a community center with a variety of facilities and construction of additional boat docking facilities at Lake Front Park.

"A big surprise to me was the apparent low priority of the fishing pier," said Mr. Petersen. "I was of the opinion that there was a great amount of interest in the construction of a fishing pier or dock at Lake Front Park."

In the other part of the questionnaire, citizens were asked to rate the city in 10 different categories with excellent, good, fair or poor marks. Overall, Mr. Petersen stated the city received good grades with ambulance service and rubbish collection service getting top marks.

He said basically good ratings were received for street maintenance, ice and snow removal and recreation programs, while a mixture of good and fair marks were garnered for public relations, planning and ability of city government to formulate immediate and long range plans to meet community needs and desires.

Meanwhile, many poor grades were given to police patrolling of streets and the adequacy and enforcement of zoning regulations.

Saying he felt the city was doing a pretty good job in the public relations area,

Mr. Petersen also emphasized the need toward improving police patrolling of streets, zoning regulation enforcement and the formulation of long range plans. While he acknowledged that many more responses could alter any given priority or rating, Mr. Petersen felt the overall thrust of the survey would be a great help to him in planning for specific capital improvement projects.

He also recognized that the order of priority for such projects may not follow the order indicated by the majority of residents but "it will give us some idea."

Other stories scheduled for inclusion in this month's "Update," according to Administrative Aide Gerard E. McNamara, include one on the city manager type of government, reports from the Beautification Commission on its flower sale and the tree survey and an open letter from Parks and Recreation Director Donald J. Hallmann asking citizens to obey all rules and regulations at Lake Front Park.

YSD's Case Load Remains Ahead of Last Year's Total

A total of 82 complaints were forwarded to the Youth Service Division, (YSD), last month with one proving to be unfounded. The total for the year through June reaches 382 cases, while the amount for the same time period last year was 359.

Larceny, 12 reports, was the category of highest incidence with the division pointing out that this figure is half the rate of May's total.

In related categories, burglary cases reached seven, possession of stolen property, four, robbery, two, auto theft, one, and the unlawful taking and using an auto, one.

A total of 25 male juveniles and two female juveniles, in association with seven male adults and one female adult, were involved overall.

Predominant examples of these crimes included the breaking and entering of private dwellings, larceny of bicycles and purse snatching, the YSD says. Six cases remain unsolved to date.

Malicious destruction of property, 10 incidents, consisted mainly of missiles being thrown or fired through windows, including those of dwellings and autos, plus vehicles being driven over lawns and into shrubs or trees.

Violation of controlled substances also totaled 10 cases, with five being the possession and/or use of marijuana. This category involved one male adult, nine male juveniles and four female juveniles.

An incident of attempt sale involved pills, falsely alleged to be mescaline, with a Michigan State Police crime laboratory test proving that the substance was not under the controlled substances act.

Calling this "a classic drug rip-off," the YSD notes, "In most instances, in (the) Grosse Pointe area, where a seller offers a proposed substance such as mescaline or LSD, the substance is either not a drug, such as (the) above, or is phenylclidine, an animal tranquilizer."

The division also cited a possible drug party case with no participants being identified. However, special attention will be given to the particular residence with the investigation continuing.

Five assault cases and one threat of assault incident were reported, involving four boys and three girls. Meanwhile, four child abuse or neglect reports, with one case proving unfounded, also were viewed by the YSD.

Runaway incidents, totaling six, involved three boys and three girls. All of the boys and two of the girls were self-reported. One girl, however, remains absent from home but is in contact with her parents with no further YSD involvement being requested.

Thirteen applications for petition were filed with the Wayne County Juvenile Court with most being submitted in late June. No court disposition on the petitions has been received as yet.

Dismissal Denied

of the Detroit and Northern Savings and Loan Assoc., 19307 Mack avenue, after Mr. Monterosso, whose description matched the suspect, was wounded in a chase involving Farms police.
He was treated for the injuries, a through and through wound to the top of his right shoulder and a grazing wound at the base of his skull, at Saint John Hospital and released. Authorities said his van was struck by at least 14 bullets.
Meanwhile, Kenneth Leroy Cassale, of East Detroit, who was arrested by the FBI on March 2 and charged in the holdup case, pled guilty in May to an unarmed bank robbery charge before Federal District Judge Robert DeMascio. He's currently awaiting sentencing on the charge.
A total of $3,431 was taken in the holdup with authorities noting that some of the money had been recovered.
The complaint and demand for a jury trial filed by attorney Richard A. Soble charges that the defendants shot Mr. Monterosso without due process.
Saying the shooting of Mr. Monterosso was without justification and constituted a wrongful act on the part of the defendants, the complaint states that the detectives owed to Mr. Monterosso five duties and obligations.
These included the use of due care and caution so as to avoid injury to others, particularly the plaintiff, and in the apprehension of Mr. Monterosso, along with the obligation "to identify themselves as officers of the Grosse Pointe Farms Police Department."
(Mr. Soble had earlier charged that the officers didn't properly identify themselves. However, other sources indicated that the officers did identify themselves.)
The complaint accuses the defendants of "willful, wanton, reckless and negligent acts and omissions, violations of statute and ordinance, breaches of the common law and each of them."
As a result, the complaint says Mr. Monterosso brings this action for the following injuries and damages, among others:
* Permanent and severe injury to the head, neck and shoulder;
* Pain and suffering, past and future;
* Emotional distress, humiliation and embarrassment, past and future;
* Hospital and medical expenses, past and future;
* Exemplary damages for the willful, wanton and reckless negligence of the defendants.
A judgement against the defendants is demanded by both Mr. and Mrs. Monterosso in an amount that is fair and reasonable and consistent with the law and evidence, together with costs, interests and attorney fees, according to the complaint.
When asked why a specific figure wasn't incorporated in the complaint, Mr. Soble said, "Anyone can put in a million dollars," while noting he wants something that is fair and just. He added he may suggest a figure at a later date.
Because of the backlog of cases in circuit court, both attorneys indicated this particular case may not be scheduled for trial for two to three years.
In a final note, investigations by the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office and the Harper Woods Police Department conducted earlier this summer absolved The Farms police officers of any criminal wrong doing in the shooting incident.
Michael Graham, special projects officer, had earlier said it was the conclusion of the prosecutor's office that the officers didn't act feloniously, while Harper Woods Det. Gary Ford noted his department wouldn't pursue any criminal prosecution because there didn't appear to be grounds for such action.

Learning Disabled

type sizes to make reading easier for a child with poor eyesight. Other courses are recorded on tape so the student can circumvent a reading disability and keep up in other subjects.
American Assoc. of University Women, (AAUW), representatives were especially pleased with the Board's decision to extend the program. The group's committee on education recently completed a study of The Pointe program, and a Learning Resource Center expansion was high on its list of priorities.
"We are just delighted with the Board's move," said committee chairman Marieke Allen. "We all feel there is a real need, especially at the high school level, to do more for these kids."
"All of us have first or second hand knowledge of children with learning disabilities," she continued. "But it's such a vague thing, and so often goes undetected, we need to inform parents what it's all about."
Their report, submitted to the Board at its Monday, July 11, meeting, outlines the rights of parents under Michigan School Codes to help for their learning disabled children, and the programs available in The Pointe.
In addition, it points out signs to watch out for, including coordination problems, short attention spans and memories, speech and handwriting problems and lags in basic skills.
Learning disabilities may just be a mild lag or dysfunction and have very little affect on a child's overall intelligence, the report says. While they may never be "cured" as such, with proper instruction they can be overcome.
Although it is not critical of The Pointe program, the report does offer several recommendations.
It concludes that about 10 percent of school children need some kind of special care and, therefore, recommends the expansion of programs in many areas.
It also urges an emphasis on "life skills" in the classroom and a non-competitive physical education program for the students.
In addition to Mrs. Allen, Judy Launs, Frances Schonenberg and Crit Leibbrand helped prepare the report.
Pointe school officials responded favorably to the suggestions, although they noted a considerable amount of money would be needed to implement them.

Three Arrested In Office Theft

Three suspects were bound over for trial Wednesday, July 13, in connection with the burglary of a doctor's office in 710 Notre Dame avenue last month.
Larry Glen Ross Sr., 31, Charles David Cameron, 25, and Lowrey Ward, 29, all of Detroit, were arraigned Wednesday in front of Park Judge John Urso. A pretrial date in Wayne County Circuit Court has been set for Thursday, July 28.
An alert Notre Dame avenue resident called police to the scene of the theft on Thursday, June 23, at about 11 p.m.
The woman told City police she spotted the three men loading items into a car next to the doctor's office.
With the help of mutual aid partners from The Park, City police blocked the driveway and questioned the three men. Police said they insisted they were there to meet a doctor.
But when officers spotted a couple of paintings, a tapestry and statue in the back of the car they decided to investigate further.
Officers said they found the front window of the office broken out and the rooms ransacked. The trio were arrested on the spot and released on $1,000 bond apiece.

and a 52-car parking lot nearby.
Lakeview Assistant Superintendent for Business Affairs, Dr. Paul Voskuil, said the school plans to vacate the building in late August and move its operations in to a wing of the Princeton Elementary School.
The sale was made, he said, because of declining enrollments in the school system. Since 1971 the number of students has dropped from 7,788 to 5,530, he added.

Some men are well-to-do just because they are hard-to-do.

It begins to appear now that prosperity is an affliction.

by John Lundberg

Sauternes are sometimes a problem at a meal. The Victorians used to serve Sauternes with the fish course, but they eventually found that this full-bodied, rich tasting wine overwhelmed the taste of the light red wines that usually paved the way to the red robust wines that were often served with the main meat course. Sauternes should come at the end of the meal, or you are liable to have a half of a bottle left over at the end of a meal. After the rich red wine served with the main course, your guests will most likely prefer coffee and liquor to a sweet Sauterne. So, if you are serving Sauterne with your meal, your best bet would be to buy half bottles or have two dinner parties.

Whether you choose to serve sauterne, burgundy, chablis or champagne, you'll find a wide assortment to choose from at PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE, 17255 Mack, corner of St. Clair. And if you have a preference for a wine we do not have, we will be happy to special order and stock it for you. Hours: 10-10 Mon.-Thurs.; 10-11 Fri., Sat.

WINE WISDOM:

1970 is one of the best recent vintage years for Sauterne.

GP Park Man Aids Woman

A Park man proved to be a good Samaritan to a Roseville woman who lost her purse on Thursday, July 7, by returning it to Woods Public Safety Department headquarters.

Wayne Heck, of Barrington road, told police he found the purse lying in Mack avenue near Bourne-mouth road. A check of the bag revealed the woman's driver's license, along with $11 in folding money and assorted silver coins in a change folder.

Police contacted the woman of the purse's recovery and she said she or a family member would come to pick it up.

Is that the end of the story? Not quite. For a short time later, police were contacted by the family and asked if a bank envelope containing $400 was still in the purse.

A further check was conducted and the envelope was discovered, intact, at the bottom of the bag under a layer of tissues.

The complainant's daughter ultimately arrived to pick up the handbag.

Woofers' Delight Planned By Jacobson's Saturday

By Dave Robertson

Jacobson's will be putting on the dog Saturday, July 23, with its "Puppy Parade."

People of all ages are invited to enter their four-footed canine friends in the contest, scheduled from 1 to 3 p.m. at the D'Hondt pedestrian walkway in the Village.

As with any parade, there will be an "honorary parade marshal," only in this case, "of pups."

That honor will go to "Rosey," owned by Charley Manos, "Detroit News" columnist.

Jacobson's hopes to get all kinds of dogs and their owners involved in the contest.

Past summer fun events sponsored by the store have drawn as many as 1,000 participants.

There are many categories of competition and just about any dog has a shot at either first, second or third prize.

The coveted categories in which the dogs will compete include youngest, oldest, shaggiest, fluffiest, best groomed, longest tail, Benji look-alike, (especially prized), saddest, largest, smallest, fattest, longest ears, best outfit, owner look-alike and best behaved.

So that no dog goes away with a sad face, (except the winners in the saddest face category), doggie bags will be given to all participants.

The bags, tied with a ribbon, will contain tasty doggie bones.

The judges who will have to make the tough decisions are City Mayor John L. King, Director of Public Safety Bruce Kennedy, Fire Chief Robert Marshall and Wayne County Commissioner Ervin Steiner.

The judging will take place at 1:30 p.m. with a ramp, just like in the Miss America Pageant, provided for the dogs to parade down.

The dogs may enter any number of categories in which they or their owners feel confident. A fat, fluffy, long-eared dog could, for example, take a chance in all three categories.

Water will be provided for those dogs who develop a thirst from the strain of competition.

Despite all the attention going to the dogs, owners are not left out totally for Jacobson's will provide treats of lemonade and cookies for all leash holders.

Handicapped Parking Eyed

Persons using Farms municipal parking lots should take note and keep their eyes open because sometime in the very near future the first two spaces at municipally owned parking lots will be reserved for handicapped drivers, according to Police Chief Robert Ferber.

Those using these spaces without the proper plates or tags will be ticketed and fined.

Chief Ferber said the spaces will be indicated by international signs with white background and blue wheel chairs. Wherever such signs are posted, those not entitled to use these spaces had better look out.

"A State statute is now in effect, whereby all municipalities having available spaces for car parking must make parking room for the handicapped," the chief said.

Only handicapped persons who have obtained handicap license plates or permits from the Secretary of State's office in Lansing will be eligible to park where the signs are posted, Chief Ferber pointed out.

Violators will be ticketed and will be subject to a fine of $5 for the time being. When the new traffic and parking violation fines are revised, the fines will be much higher, especially those not authorized to park in the spaces reserved for the handicapped.

Chief Ferber said the new law will only be enforced in municipally owned lots and will not apply to on-street parking.

Be courteous and smile overtime — it's the best way to brighten the world for everyone.

One good rule for success — forget your losses and setbacks and start right over again.

KAREN SMITH KIENBAUM IS A CANDIDATE FOR THE OFFICE OF GROSSE POINTE PARK MUNICIPAL JUDGE

She is competing with nine others for that position

DID YOU KNOW . . . that approximately 95% of the Court's business concerns criminal matters?

DID YOU KNOW . . . that approximately 50% of the offenders to come before the Court are in their teens or early 20's?

DO YOU KNOW . . . that five of the nine other candidates competing for the office of Municipal Judge have no background in criminal law?

Karen Smith Kienbaum does have extensive experience as a practitioner in the criminal field — she has taught senior high school for seven years and knows how to deal effectively with teenagers — Karen Smith Kienbaum has the background for the job and ideas for improving it.

Karen Smith Kienbaum received her Bachelor of Arts from the University of Michigan and her Juris Doctorate from the University of Detroit School of Law. She and her husband Thomas, who practices law, live at 871 Grand Marais with their daughter, Ursula.

Paid for by the Committee to Elect Karen Smith Kienbaum Municipal Judge of Grosse Pointe Park, 800 First National Building, Detroit 48226.

DAN CASTNER FOR JUDGE G.P.P.

THOUGHTS

The greatest source of conflict for a judge in a small community arises when he is asked to sit in judgment of his friends and neighbors, and community acquaintances or their families. Working relationships with other lawyers seldom present this conflict since the inherent requirement of practicing trial lawyers is to oppose each other in the interest of their respective clients.

The function of a municipal judge is to decide those lesser disputes that originate in the community that are brought before him. What better training for this office than the experience of practicing before many judges in several counties at all the various court levels and with a variety of types of cases.

A concentrated background in theory, administration, prosecution, or defense may tend to limit the various points of view that a judge must consider to properly dispose of the various disputes before him.

Park Loses 62 More Elm Trees; Total Reaches 73

By James J. Njaim
The Park Council at its regular meeting Monday, July 11, accepted the bid of Shock Brothers Tree Service Co. to remove 62 more diseased elms from public property throughout the city.

The firm, which submitted the lowest of three bids, offered to remove the trees, using its own dump site, for a total of $11,088.

At its June 13 session, the council awarded a contract to the Cal Fleming Landscaping and Tree Service to remove 11 diseased elms and one maple tree for a low bid figure of $1,670. All these trees are on public property.

City Manager Robert A. Slone informed the council that since the awarding of the first bid, 62 more elms were discovered to have been infected with the dreaded Dutch Elm Disease, which means that the city will lose a total of 73 elms so far this year. Councilman Douglas G. Graham remarked that some program should be enacted whereby diseased elms can be removed at once, rather than wait until a certain number are found infected before any action is taken.

Leaving a diseased tree standing endangers another elm either next to it or in close proximity.

Mr. Slone told the council that there are five dead elms along Jefferson avenue, a county thoroughfare, but the Wayne County Road Commission does not inaugurate its tree removal program until the fall of each year.

Mayor Matthew C. Patterson suggested that the council adopt a resolution to be presented to the county. It would request the county to initiate its tree removal program at once, including the cutting down and removal of five dead elms along the avenue.

The city manager said he believed a resolution to that effect would be helpful.

So the council authorized City Attorney Richard Rohr to draw up the necessary measure and send it to Ervin Steiner, The Pointe's representative on the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

McNIECE NAMED

Walter McNiece, of The Park, was recently appointed to cold mill superintendent of the Great Lakes Steel Division of National Steel Corp. Mr. McNiece has been employed by Great Lakes Steel for 10 years.

Gifts Donated To GP Schools

The Board of Education accepted with thanks $9,500 in gifts to the system from three donors at its Monday, July 11, meeting.

The Defer Elementary School PTO donated $4,968 of materials and equipment gathered through a number of fund raising projects last school year.

Included was carpeting for first and second grade classrooms, books and furniture for the school library, a machine to speed up the production of duplicated materials, learning games, sets of books and filmstrips and $50 per teacher for classroom materials.

Benches also were donated for a special memorial area in the front of the school. It will be constructed to commemorate the services of the late Park Police Sgt. George Blair.

Board President John Bruce commended the PTO for its spirit and hard work in making the gift.

"It's actions like this that make this a quality school system," Mr. Bruce said.

The trustees also accepted $2,000 in dental equipment donated by Dr. William Jennings, a local dentist. Included in the gift was a Ritter chair, a Castle light, a Ritter Tri-dent unit and hand instruments.

Dr. Jennings is chairman of the school system's committee for the dental aides program which trains students in the classroom and on the job for the vocation.

The Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. donated to the system 21 gas ranges, estimated at $2,532 in value, to be located in school economics rooms.

The company is discontinuing its range exchange program but will continue to provide free service for the ranges and will replace parts which cost less than $25.

Federal Unemployment System Irks GP Woods

The Woods has joined in the fight to challenge the constitutionality of a federally mandated unemployment compensation system by contributing $250 for legal fees after receiving a communication from the president of the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers, (NIMLO).

This action was unanimously taken at the rescheduled regular council meeting Monday, July 11.

In a letter to the council, Conrad B. Mattox Jr. explained that NIMLO trustees last month retained the law firm of Rhyne and Rhyne to prepare and prosecute the constitutional challenge, while directing that the facts collected be shared with each participating jurisdiction.

City Attorney George Catlin told the council the federal government has instituted a program for unemployment compensation and has ruled that all communities join in this system.

As a result, the NIMLO initiated litigation against this practice. To join in the litigation, the city would have to pay $250 and thus would be included in any sort of stay order that was entered.

It also was pointed out if the city, rather than participate in the litigation, paid into the federally mandated unemployment compensation system which at a future time might be declared unconstitutional, it could have a difficult time in getting its money back.

At the same time, the city some two years ago set up its own unemployment compensation system which has been working fine, officials said.

In a related action, the council unanimously passed a resolution opposing the adoption of Senate Bill 714, eying unemployment compensation, in its present form. This bill, says the measure,

"would be extremely costly for local municipal governments by requiring considerable additional expenditures of tax monies for unemployment compensation benefits not presently required."

It states the Michigan Municipal League has proposed certain amendments to the proposed bill so as to exclude seasonal employees from coverage under unemployment compensation.

The Woods, it says, never in its entire history laid off any full-time employee, while noting the existing city adopted unemployment compensation plan is "more than adequate to cover the needs of the city."

It also states the council opposes the proposition that would require municipal governments to join the state's unemployment compensation system.

Kessler Hosts Historic Tour

Architect William Kessler, 20 years, the Kessler firm moved into the downtown landmark after restoring and renovating the 1897 structure.

A tour of the building with oral and visual presentations on restoration techniques will be offered during the open house.

Assisting with preparations are an associate in the firm, architect William Wise and Lou Marines, general manager, both of The Pointe.

St. Antoine street will be closed during the event featuring a Gay 90's theme and highwheelers, flower and peanut vendors, an organ grinder and the balloon man.

Other recycled downtown buildings are included in the tour, which begins at Beaubien House, 553 East Jefferson avenue, at 1 p.m.

A Monday, August 1, trial date in Wayne County Circuit Court has been scheduled for a 20-year-old Detroit man who's charged with receiving and concealing stolen property over $100, reported Woods Det. Charles Phillip Hamel last week.

The suspect, Mark Raymond Marcin, was arrested on May 31 after police responded to the Saint John Hospital parking lot on a burglary of a vehicle call.

At the scene, a hospital employee said he saw four men loosening the lugs on a van which had been reported stolen to Utica police the same day. Upon seeing the employee, the men ran to a blue van and fled from the scene.

It was stopped at Mack and Cook and its five occupants, including Marcin, were transported to the station, for investigation.

Rinke Named Trustee at SJH

Hugh C. Daly, chairman of the board of trustees of Saint John Hospital, (SJH), recently announced the appointment of Roland Rinke to the hospital's board of trustees.

Mr. Rinke is president of the Saint John Hospital Guild.

Raised in Center Line, Mr. Rinke moved to The Pointe about 20 years ago. He was graduated from Saint Clement Junior High School, Center Line, and De La Salle High School.

After graduation, he was assigned to the Fifth Air Force where his service duties took him from Australia to Tokyo.

Upon completing his service, he attended the University of Detroit, after which he followed in the family tradition and became a General Motors dealer.

Mr. Rinke is president of the Tri-County Pontiac Dealers Assoc. and is on the board of directors of the Michigan Automobile Dealers Assoc.

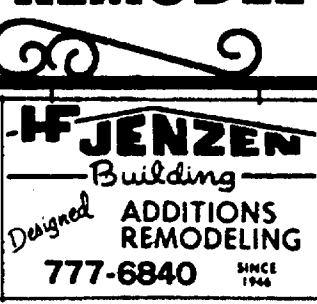

He is a past-president of the Detroit Automobile Dealers Assoc. and was chairman of the 1977 Detroit Auto Show. He also is a member of the National, Michigan and Detroit Automobile Dealers Associations.

His club memberships include the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, the Old Club and the Detroit Yacht Club.

Mr. Rinke and his wife, the former Janice Skillman, have three children, Michael, 24, Elizabeth, 21, a senior at the University of Michigan; and Kevin, 16, a student at South High School.

The Rinkes make their home in Winthrop place.

Woods Views Citizen's Concern over Littering

By Roger A. Waha

A letter from a citizen focusing upon the community's appearance in relation to litter was unanimously referred and placed on file by the Woods Council at its rescheduled regular meeting Monday, July 11.

While the council didn't comment on the content of the communication or the response from City Administrator Chester E. Petersen to the concerns expressed by Mrs. Alvin Wegner, of Briarcliff drive, the Beautification Commission is currently conducting a review of the letter.

Citing her distress over those merchants in Mack avenue who allow litter to collect in front of their establishments, Mrs. Wegner said that any community that "can fritter away $2,006.45 wining and dining so-called dignitaries from another community in an exchange program, (in reference to Mayor's Exchange Day), can certainly afford to support a clean up program that would benefit a whole community, not just a handful of free loaders."

After mentioning several areas which she personally felt were deplorable, she said she wasn't sure whose jurisdiction they were under.

Mrs. Wegner felt issuing tickets to offending merchants could be helpful with the monies being used to hire young people, who need summer jobs, to clean the Mack avenue medians.

"The medians are part of our city and their conditions are a reflection on this city, not on the Wayne County Road Commission," she said.

In fact, Mrs. Wegner suggested she may have to organize a crew of women to go out and get this work done, while noting, "I'm determined to put Grosse Pointe Woods on the map, either as the cleanest community or the dirtiest. It's up to you which it shall be."

In response, Mr. Petersen admitted the litter problem in The Woods "is a disgrace and a reflection not only upon this city, but also upon the careless habits of some of our residents. It will take the cooperation of all concerned citizens, working together, to improve these conditions."

He also cited several points mentioned by Mrs. Wegner including the following:

• Under the provisions of the current city code, violation tickets cannot be indiscriminately issued to those merchants on Mack avenue who have allowed litter to collect in front of their place of business unless an enforcement officer or a resident can testify that a merchant or customer was seen committing a violation of the litter ordinances.

He felt enlisting the cooperation of Mack avenue businesses to individually be responsible for the collection of all litter in front of their establishments would appear to be a better solution to part of the problem.

Dr. Albert C. Howe, chairman of the Beautification Commission, agreed. He hoped a coordinated program could be started wherein merchants on a daily basis would clean up around their store fronts.

* The area in the vicinity of Moross road and Mack avenue, cited by Mrs. Wegner, is not within the corporate limits of The Woods, said Mr. Petersen. The municipality's city limit stops at the corner of the J. C. Penney store on Mack.

* Although Mack is within the city, The Woods does not have any jurisdiction or control over the thoroughfare, inasmuch as the entire street right-of-way, which extends from store front to store front, is entirely the responsibility of the Wayne County Road Commission, said Mr. Petersen.

"In our opinion, the maintenance, or lack of maintenance, is deplorable and an affront to this community as attested by the disgraceful growth of the uncut grass on the Mack avenue median," he continued.

Pointers Play Big Roles In New Seniors' Complex

Grosse Pointe Memorial Church and the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church have played significant roles in making the Presbyterian Village East project a reality.

Several members of each church are scheduled to participate in groundbreaking ceremonies Sunday, July 24, for the senior citizens facility located near New Baltimore.

Gerald C. Schroeder, a member of GPW Presbyterian, is chairman of the Presbyterian Village East Founders Committee which played a main part in making the project a reality.

Other committee members include Lloyd C. Nyman, of GPW Presbyterian, and Dr. Ray Kiely, pastor at GP Memorial, and Laura Hulbert, of GP Memorial.

Advisory committee members, all from GP Memorial, include Wilbur M. Brucker Jr., E. Dawson Fisher, Gilbert Hudson, Thomas R. Reid and Arthur Sherman. The late Joseph Spitzley also was a member of the group.

Ceremonies, beginning at 3:30 p.m. at the site, will mark the beginning of the first phase of the $12 to $15 million project, which will be developed over a period

"The monies received by Wayne County from the State of Michigan to maintain an approximate 2.2 miles of this urban primary road within our city is more than ample, in our opinion, to maintain Mack avenue."

"Therefore, your city is presently attempting to negotiate with the Wayne County Road Commission for approval of a proposal by this city to sub-contract with them for the complete maintenance of that portion of Mack avenue which lies within our corporate limits or to have them . . . relinquish any jurisdiction over such part of Mack avenue to this city and for this city to collect from the State of Michigan those monies allocated for such maintenance," he added.

Calling Mrs. Wegner's letter "an outpouring of frustration" on the part of a citizen who's not happy with the lack of attention some merchants give their grounds, Dr. Howe noted a few commission members already reviewed her letter last week, and it's hoped the entire group will have a chance to see it soon.

Stressing the need of voluntary clean up action, Dr. Howe indicated if some merchants, and individuals for that matter, ignore proper maintenance, it reflects on the entire city's appearance.

Saying a change of attitude on everyone's part is necessary, he added the commission will pursue the concern expressed by Mrs. Wegner.

China Talk Set At GP Unitarian

"China's Red Carpet" is the title of the Sunday morning service at the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church, 17150 Maumee avenue, on July 31 at 11 a.m.

Edith Hakken, director of college relations at Shaw College at Detroit, has planned the program, based on her tour of the People's Republic of China this April.

Mrs. Hakken traveled to China on a Midwest Friendship Tour sponsored by the U.S.-China People's Friendship Society. The group visited Canton, (Kwailan), Chongsa, Shaoshan, Nan-chang, Shanghai and Peking. Because of pneumonia, Mrs. Hakken also experienced six days as a patient in Peking's Capital Hospital at the end of the tour.

The service on Sunday will include a slide presentation, an exhibit of Chinese arts, crafts and photographs, as well as Chinese music and refreshments.

The public is invited to attend the program.

It's Only Natural
by L.C. Termini N.D.

Do you want to start exercising but don't know how to begin? You can consult somebody who is in the health or body care profession. You can also go to the library, but make some effort to get advice before you launch into a program. Then, make sure you do not launch in at the middle. Start at the beginning and work your way up gradually to your optimum level. Limbering and stretching exercises should not tear your body apart, and lung - heart exercises should get your heart beating for 60 to 80 per cent of its maximum for around five minutes. You do not have to push it any longer. The best way to increase is to do it slowly and by increasing the time spent exercising rather than speed at which you exercise.

And the best way to meet your natural food needs is to visit VIM & VIGOR HEALTH FOODS, 21151 Mack, 886-9466. We carry a wide variety of natural foods, including frozen and refrigerated natural products. Have you tried the newest dietary treat in the health food field - frozen yogurt; we have it in a variety of flavors. Hours: 9:30-9 Mon.-Sat; 11-5 Sun.

Know Your Schools

By Dr. William Coats,
Superintendent of Schools

For this week's column, in which we continue our discussion on the teaching of English, I posed a question of Bob Reimer, English department chairperson at North High School.

I asked, "What complexities do high school teachers encounter in their attempt to develop and maintain a quality program of English instruction?"

His reply follows: "We who teach English are criticized by those who would have us believe there is a simple remedy for all students' communications ills. Meanwhile, we live in a society which says it is important to read and write, but prefers to spend its communications time talking, looking and listening."

"You may think that's complexity, but it's closer to background noise."

"Our complexities really begin when it is known that each of our students comes to us with a unique profile of strengths and weaknesses in the five areas of communications skills which are our province - reading, writing, speaking, listening and the integrational skill, observing."

"No student is equally good in all five areas, nor is any student in total ignorance of all skills in any area. For example, a given student can be a fair speaker, a good reader, a great writer of essays on which there has been a week to work, but is only adequate in writing impromptu essays which must be completed in an hour."

"To come to know each student's profile is time-consuming and requires that we observe students in their handling of experiences in those crucial communication skills."

"Yet, that time is what we fear our program will be denied if we must yield to the pressures to measure the success of our school's English program via the scores of some students on state and national standardized tests such as the Michigan Assessment, the SAT and the ACT."

"The ultimate danger of those pressures would be to readjust all students' English programs by teaching to the tests."

"What would be the result? Students thus taught would

Park Fire

She was the widow of Nick Lomdes, the former owner of the Olympia Stadium, Livorno and McGraw, Detroit.

Chief Taylor said the combined efforts of all the fire departments at the Sunday fire prevented flames from spreading to adjoining apartments and buildings.

"The efforts of our firefighters, and those from the City, Farms and Woods, and especially those from Detroit, showed an excellent display of teamwork. I cannot say enough to thank them for their help," he said.

"There was a job well done and in the best tradition of firefighters everywhere."

match the tests' methods and emphases and be able to identify printed errors in spelling, punctuation, word choice, be able to identify vocabulary opposites and similarities.

"They would also be adept at reading a short essay or article, determining its factual content, inferences, main idea. Such tests are reading tests. They assess a student's ability to react to someone else's language, and then, only in multiple choice situations."

"The tests do not assess a student's abilities in creating communication in any form."

In short, anyone who would consider such a standardized test a valid measure of our English program's success, would not think it important to write anything, to personally react to or analyze anything one reads, nor to speak or listen.

"Listening brings to mind another complexity in maintaining a quality English program - specifically, the rapid, often unpredictable changes in our language and our society's communication skills requirements and emphases."

"New words and new uses for old words are constant in our language. Do we know for what jobs and life situations with what language requirements we are preparing our students? We can't be certain."

"Thus, in what seems an age of specialization, the high school English teacher must take the role of a trainer of generalists in language experiences and skills in order to give our students the flexibility to cope with the variability certain to be in their futures."

"The final complexity, however, is not of the future, but rather is a holdover from the past. In spite of all of the years of English instruction our civilization has mandated, we still don't have all of the answers. As in medicine, our field is ever experimental."

"We can adeptly identify symptoms, we can diagnose, we can prescribe, but we cannot guarantee cures. Just as doctors are not always sure why our patient is healthy while another seemingly similar one is ill, neither can we explain why one student is a good writer while another of similar ability is only fair."

"We are, for example, but beginning to understand the role perceptual problems play in learning in general, let alone English skills in particular."

"In the absence of definite answers as to why communication skills problems exist, we, like doctors, must hope-for-remedies on a trial-and-error basis."

"It is complex and frustrating to provide and maintain quality English instruction at any level, but the pressures seem great at the high school level, for we are seen to be the student's last chance to perfect communication skills."

"Yet, we know none can attain perfection in a process of ever-more sophisticated language growth which continues through a life time. The complexity and the frustration come of knowing that we are but a part of the mysterious, vital language process."

I am indebted to Mr. Reimer for his cooperation by responding to my question in such thought-provoking detail. I appreciate his willingness to share his insights with me, with our staff and with the community-at-large.

ULS Offers Scholarships

University Liggett School, (ULS), recently announced applications are now being taken from Himelhoch Scholarships for the 1977-78 school year.

Any student in grades nine through 11 not currently enrolled at the school may apply. Scholarships are awarded on the basis of personal merit and according to financial need.

The Himelhoch Scholarships were established by the late Rose Phillips Himelhoch in recognition of outstanding personal achievement and integrity.

Emphasis is placed on scholastic success, special talents and capacity for leadership. Awards are made for one-year in grants not to exceed $1,000.

The 1976-77 recipients include Karen Marshall, of Mount Clemens, Kevin Wohlfield and Stacey Gambrell, of Detroit, Adam Davis, of The Park, and Elisa Lund, of St. Clair Shores.

"These students have exhibited in their general achievements and personal conduct the standards of excellence associated with the Himelhoch Scholars," said Raymond P. Robbins, ULS headmaster.

"The school indeed feels fortunate to be able to offer a quality secondary education to those students in the greater Detroit area whose efforts and achievements warrant special recognition," he added.

ULS, located in Cook road, is Michigan's oldest independent day school for boys and girls. The curriculum is college preparatory.

For further information on the Himelhoch Scholarships, call ULS Director of Admissions Mrs. William Moll at 884-4444.

JOSEPH GRANO BELIEVES A JUDGE SHOULD NOT PRACTICE LAW

The legislative effort to abolish local municipal courts has been prompted by the propriety of judges practicing law.

- Parties appearing before the Court may be the judge's potential clients.
- Clients may believe it advantageous to retain a judge as counsel.
- Billable hours compete with the judge's availability for community service.

Retiring Judge Urso fulfilled his promise not to practice law. Joseph Grano, a professor of criminal law at Wayne, promises to retain this important reform. Local control can work.

Promack Wins Golf Crown

Dr. Walter Promack, of Thorn Tree road, playing with Lawrence Sabat, of the Oakland Hills Country Club, defeated Alex Venetis, of The Shores, and Terrance Shook, of Burning Tree Country Club, in the championship flight finals of the 34th Annual Lochmoor Club Invitational Golf Tournament Wednesday through Sunday, July 13 to 17.

It represented an unprecedented seventh victory for Dr. Promack out of eight appearances in the championship flight finals over the past 15 years. He and Mr. Sabat were defending champions while the team of Mr. Venetis and Mr. Shook won the event in 1975.

Dr. Frank Pugliesi, of Webber place, won the use of a new Mercury automobile donated by McCullagh Leasing by scoring closest to the pin during the tournament with a shot one foot, eight inches from the cup on the 160-yard 16th hole.

Other flight winners were as follows:

First, Dr. Robert Valice, of The Woods, and William Neff, of Western Golf and Country Club.

Second, Douglas Phillips, of The Woods, and Harvey Pierce, of St. Clair Country Club.

Third, Jay Smith, of The Shores, and Arthur Hess, of Miami, Fla., Shores Country Club.

Fourth, Anthony Giorgio, of The Shores, and Virgil Cummings, of Gowanle Country Club.

Fifth, Joseph Tolari, of St. Clair Shores, and Thomas Reeder, unattached.

Sixth, Peter Czaccholo, of The Shores, and Ernest Pyle, of Katke-Cousins Country Club.

Seventh, Joseph O'Toole, of The Woods, and Edward Brady, of Country Club of Detroit.

Eighth, Dr. Thomas McBryan, of The Park, and Ralph White, of Gowanle Country Club.

Ninth, Glenn Elliott, of The Park, and John Blessing, of Towson Country Club, Baltimore, Md.

Tenth, John Brichetto, of The Farms, and Skip Tallero, unattached.

During the tournament, members paid a special tribute to Burton Schuster, a former Pointer and long-time member of the club now residing in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Club Offers Canoe Trips

The Neighborhood Club has limited openings in two upcoming canoe-camping trips to Algonquin Provincial Park.

For teens in grades seven to nine, the club offers a seven-day trip from August 2 to 8. The trip fee is $95.

For senior high teens, (grades nine to 12), the club offers a more rigorous trip from August 16 to 25. The fee is $145 for the 10-day wilderness adventure.

According to John Shaheen, program director, Algonquin Park is a good location for learning basic canoeing and camping skills over trails once used by the fur traders.

Access to the area is only by canoe. Black bear, loons, otter and beaver abound within the park's boundary, and an occasional moose also is seen. The swimming is reportedly excellent.

The trip fees include all transportation, meals, tents, instructions and some accessory equipment.

Participants will need their own sleeping bag and backpack. The trips are suitable for the novice or experienced wilderness camper.

Both trips are limited to 10 teens.

The thing we need most in this world today is a revival of faith — faith in our country, our neighbors and ourselves.

Fund Usage for Remedial Program to Be Doubled

By Susan McDonald

The Pointe school district plans to double its use of federal Title I funds next year to offer remedial reading and math help to students in Defer, Poupard and Trombly Elementary Schools.

The Board of Education approved at its meeting Monday, July 11, an application for $110,539 from the budget for the coming budget year—more than double last year's allocation of $43,827.

The new funds will establish a remedial program for eligible students in the three schools that qualified under federal guidelines according to the number of families on welfare in each district.

The remedial courses will offer individualized instruction in small group sessions to students lagging behind in reading or math areas. It will be administered by Dr. Alfreda Frost, director of elementary schools.

The estimated cost of the new program is $60,620.

For the past six years, the Title I funds have been concentrated on improving programs at the Children's Home of Detroit, 900 Cook road, a residential treatment center for emotionally disturbed children.

That program will continue to be funded next year, including a specialist in perceptual-motor skills, a psychiatrist, psychologist and teacher aides.

The estimated cost of the Children's Home program is $50,000.

The Board also approved at its Monday meeting a summer remedial program at the Children's Home. The program, which also concentrates on math and reading skills, is in its fourth year. Its total cost is estimated at $3,200.

Most people would like to live within their income, but it's too crowded in there.

Youths Earn Eagle Badges

Five Pointe youths renewed their Boy Scout oaths prior to receiving the highest scouting award possible, the Eagle badge, at recent Court of Honor ceremonies.

Gary Vasher, scoutmaster of Troop 479, of The Woods, presented the Eagle badge to John Bates, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bates, Vito Barbaro, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barbaro, Don Luberto, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Michael Luberto, Michael Marlow, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald S. Marlow, and Mark Rolain, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Meda.

In addition to his Eagle badge, Michael was presented the Bronze Palm by Eaton Kelly, assistant scoutmaster. Justice Blair Moody, guest speaker, urged the youths to continue their leadership by always doing their best, to strive toward a high level of service to God and country, and to build America through service, dedication, determination and perseverance.

All the scouts present were reminded of their responsibility to be mentally awake, physically fit and morally strong.

Other badges of rank were awarded as follows: Life, John Marlow and Peter Mogk; Star, Hank Bonnah, Sam Goosen, Alan Guest, Bob Luberto, Pat Minturn and Eric Robbins; First Class, Bob Luberto and Phil Ugorowski; Second Class, David Gross, David Sawchuk and Tim Thompson; Tenderfoot, John Edgell, Andrew Guest, Jim Huetteman, Jeff Otto and Kurt Vining; and Scout, Todd Binkowski, Paul Cyr, Andrew Guest, Jeff Otto and David Van Elslander.

Appreciation certificates were presented to the chairmen of Troop 479 men's committee, Dr. Mike Luberto, Bill Mogk, Bernie Chaisson, Bill Sturgeon, Bob Roddewig, Toy Cyr, Bill Meda, Dick Gross, Chuck Jeffrey, Frank Perkins and Tom Sullivan.

Scoutmaster Vasher, assistant scoutmasters Kelly and Chuck Veenstra, and junior assistant scoutmaster Tom Sullivan also were honored.

The dinner planning committee included Luane Bates, Margaret Barbaro, Kathy Luberto, Shirley Marlow and Sandra Meda.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

In the July 7, 1977, issue of the NEWS, a release from Rep. Lucien Nedzi was quoted which gives a misleading impression in several areas.

First, Mr. Nedzi is said to be "the" sponsor of a proposed constitutional amendment which would prohibit forced busing. A release from his office earlier this year attributed this sponsorship to Nedzi and Blanchard, too.

However, the only significant bills on this subject active in the House are the Mottl and McDonald measures in the Judiciary Committee, and Mr. Nedzi is only one of 180 House members to have signed the Mottl discharge petition to bring it to the floor.

Secondly, Mr. Nedzi states, "It is imperative that juvenile offenders, especially those who are hardened felons, be removed from law-abiding society."

But while our Juvenile Judge James Lincoln said it's time to get sentencing of juveniles away from the Department of Social Services and back to the judges because that department is "flooding the streets with young hoodlums, vandals, rapists, muggers and killers," Mr. Nedzi voted to keep juvenile crime under the Health Education and Welfare Department instead of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

Lastly, the article states regarding the 1976 Congressional election "... Ford edged Carter 50 percent to 48 percent in the 14th District ... The district otherwise went heavily Democratic, with Mr. Nedzi capturing 65 percent of the vote."

This is put in better perspective when viewed with the fact that in 1974 Mr. Nedzi received 72 percent of the vote, so the district didn't go quite so Democratic as in the past.

Some things not mentioned but which should receive serious consideration by your readers are vote weakening through "Instant Voter Registration" (and "Taxpayer Financing of Congressional Elections," which reportedly could cost more than $35 million and even require that candidates raise $50,000 in contributions under $100 to participate—the past three 14th District congressional campaigns involved substantially less than $50,000 each.)

Mr. Nedzi already voted to politicize the Civil Service so he'll very likely vote for each of these, (the Hatch Act Revision Bill, HR 10, is now in the Senate where I hope it is defeated ...)

Or how about "National Health Insurance?" This will likely come up in the near future and be supported by Mr. Nedzi.

Health care costs won't come down but government control will sure go up.

Sincerely,
John Getz,
1976 Republican Candidate,
14 District,
U.S. Congress

press my appreciation to the merchants on Mack avenue. The store front improvements make not only the shops, but the community more attractive. As a Grosse Pointe Woods resident, I say a sincere "thank you."

As homeowners, my husband and I try to do the same. We keep the grass cut, the hedge trimmed and the house painted ... correction, we keep painting the house. It seems to be an ongoing process. Therefore, it is maddening to wake up each Saturday morning to a yard full of beer cans and Jack-in-the-Box wrappers.

My husband says the trash throwers are kids, driving around drinking beer, who don't want their parents to know what they have been up to. (He should know?)

In which case, I would like to ask the parents of very sober teenagers to please bring the empties home for proper disposal.

My friend, the amateur psychiatrist, says children will often destroy or deface the property of others as a declaration of their disdain toward their own parents' materialism.

In other words, they resent the time their parents spend earning the money to buy what they have, rather than spending the time showing their children who they are.

In which case, I would like to ask those anti-establishment children to throw your anti-materialistic beer cans on your own parents' lawns.

My theory is simply that these kids, or adults, are a bit too lazy to find a trash can, and really don't give a damn anyway. To which I say, who cares? I don't have anything better to do on Saturday mornings. And it doesn't take that long to clean the front yard.

But could you please confine your litter to paper and cans? My five-year-old cut her foot (recently) on a shattered Budweiser bottle.

It certainly wasn't ours. We drink Stroh's.

Sincerely yours,
Patricia Koller,
Of Hawthorne road,

Board Recalls Four Teachers

The Board of Education recently called four teachers back to work, cutting to 32 the number of local instructors without jobs next year.

At its Monday, July 11, meeting, the Board approved the reemployment of William Kurolevch, North High School industrial arts instructor; Sandra Bracci, Pierce Middle School teacher; Mary Epstein, teacher of elementary art; and Lila Fuher, third grade instructor at Mason Elementary School.

The teachers were among 46 Pointe school employees who received pink-slips last April. The Board recalled 10 teachers earlier this summer. The staff reduction was possible because of an expected enrollment drop of 405 students next year, according to a school official.

Administrators expect about 10,295 youths to attend public schools next year—more than a 20 percent drop since the beginning of this decade.

Since the high point in enrollment, the teaching staff has been reduced by about 140 positions. There will be around 560 teachers in the system next year.

One laid off teacher, Elizabeth Wilson, was offered a job, but refused employment here.

National patriotism is actually the lengthened shadow cast by community seiprit.

Plan to Obtain CETA Funds Fails for Now

By Susan McDonald
Time ran out this week on a proposal that the five Pointes form a consortium to apply for $120,000 in federal public works funds. Some city officials, though, are still optimistic the cost-saving plan may be feasible in the future.

The proposal to form the group was made just two weeks before the county application deadline. That deadline passed this week before the time-consuming process of getting approval from all five city councils and locating a non-profit agency was completed.

The Pointes qualified for almost $120,000 in CETA, (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act), monies to employ residents on public works projects through a local, non-profit agency.

City managers from five Pointes came away from a meeting last week feeling optimistic that the consortium could be put together within the limited time.

Initially, the Neighborhood Club was approached, with a proposal they act as the non-profit agency, take half the funds and handle the extensive paper work and administration necessary to complete the projects.

The Neighborhood Club board of directors, however, decided Thursday, July 14, not to pursue the project. After lengthy discussion, the directors concluded the project would put too much of a strain on their small staff. The club's five and a half full-time employees currently direct 45 different community activities out of their small, Maumee avenue office. "The board was concerned about our ability to use the funds given our present facility and staff," said club director John Bruce. "I agree with their reasoning."

But Mr. Bruce added he hoped a record of cooperation between the cities had been established by their initial review of the program.

"This approach could be helpful to the community, especially in light of the fact that future CETA programs for youths and senior citizens will be administered in this way," he said.

City Manager Thomas Kressbach, of Grosse Pointe City, who took a lead role in the consortium attempt, was disappointed at its current failure, but hopeful the precedent of cooperation had been set.

"I guess we'll just have to fold our tent for right now," he said, "but if CETA Title 8 and 9 programs, (for youths and senior citizens, respectively), come down the same way, we'll want to look at it again."

"Everyone appreciates the time and effort all the city officials and the Neighborhood Club put into this."

Woods City Administrator Chester E. Petersen echoed Mr. Kressbach's statements, saying he would be willing to look at alternatives to keep the plan alive.

If the consortium idea is raised again, it's likely that the school system will be approached in the non-profit agency role.

The City Council concluded at its Monday, July 18, meeting that it would be willing to work with the school system on the project. The school's director of support service, Ben Zenn, said he intends to investigate the proposal. "We would be interested in tying in with the communities in a worthwhile project of this type, if it would be in everyone's best interest," Mr. Zenn said.

The $120,000 Special Projects CETA allocation to The Pointe will now go back to Wayne County for use in its own projects.

It's usually impossible for small communities like The Pointe to participate in CETA programs of this type because of the high administrative costs involved.

By combining their applications into one, the five Pointes could share, and easily bear, the overhead burden associated with the program.

Under CETA guidelines, 50 percent of the project monies must go to a local non-profit agency. All but 7.5 percent of the funds must be used to employ and train local residents.

Miss McLaughlin Wed to Mr. Hill

Bride Carries Bouquet Fastened to An Antique Fan of Rosepointe Lace and Mother-of-Pearl That Belonged to Her Maternal Grandmother

Saint Paul's on-the-Lakeshore was the setting for the wedding on Saturday, May 28, of Kathleen Louise McLaughlin and Gregory Mitchell Hill.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. William J. McLaughlin, of Grayton road, Detroit, and the late Mr. McLaughlin. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell J. Hill, of Lakepointe avenue.

The nuptial mass was celebrated by four priests, all relatives of the bride: Monsignor Francis X. Canfield, Monsignor Albert C. Allen, The Reverend Arthur E. Lovely, S.J., and The Reverend Robert F. Allen, who passed away one week after the wedding.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle Dr. Richard S. Donovan, who hosted the reception at his home in West Boston boulevard, selected a high-necked, Empire style, ivory silk organza wedding gown with an Alencon lace bodice embroidered with seed pearls.

Her full, long sleeves and the wide border at the bottom of her English net and organza skirt, which ended in a scalloped edge extending around the cathedral train, were appliqued with Alencon lace and seed pearls.

Her cathedral length, ivory silk illusion veil was fastened to a cap made from the Alencon lace from her mother's wedding veil.

The newlyweds vacationed in Toronto, and are at home in St. Clair Shores.

The bride's mother chose a floor length dress of frosted, lemon yellow jersey, accented with a jeweled clasp at the waist. A floor length, French blue peau de soie dress with matching lace jacket was selected by the bridegroom's mother.

She wore a corsage of ivory cymbidium orchids, while the bride's mother wore a corsage of green cymbidium orchids.

Cliburn Plays At Interlochen

Van Cliburn plays his 17th annual Interlochen National Music Camp benefit concert this Saturday, July 23, at 8 o'clock in Kresge Auditorium.

The World Youth Symphony Orchestra, conducted by George C. Wilson, will accompany Cliburn in a performance of his prize-winning piano concerto: Tchaikovsky's first.

The World Youth Symphony becomes more aptly named each year. This year the violin section alone has members from South Africa, Italy, Hong Kong, Poland, Guatemala, West Germany, Yugoslavia, Iceland, Chile, Sweden and Romania.

Concertmistress of the 122-piece ensemble is Florence Schwartz, of Beachwood, O. Ann E. Willison, oboe, of Heather lane, is one of the 122.

On the first half of the program is Howard Hanson's "Symphony No. 2," (the "Romantic"), which was partly composed at Interlochen. It is the source of the "Interlochen Theme," given to the camp by the composer as a broadcast signature in 1931: an appropriate work to program as National Music Camp celebrates its 50th season.

Reserved seat tickets are still available from the concert manager's office.

History Lives in Michigan

A visitor's guide to historical museums in Michigan has just been published by the Historical Society of Michigan. More than 120 museums are listed in the 1977-78 edition.

The guide provides all the important information a visitor will need, including each museum's address, phone, hours and fees. In addition, the name of a contact person is given whenever possible.

Many museums are open by appointment in addition to scheduled hours, and will make special arrangements for group tours. Although only the adult admission fee is listed, many museums have separate rates for children, senior citizens and family groups.

Michigan's community and regional historical museums interpret many fascinating aspects of the state's colorful history.

An authentic 1840's fur trading cabin in Munising is among the 24 Upper Peninsula attractions listed. In Fayette, visitors can see a 19th century iron smelting town at the Fayette State Park.

Old Fort Wilkins is also located in a state park at Copper Harbor.

An even 100 museums represent the Lower Peninsula. Among the many different types are a tavern in Cambridge Junction, a farm in Stockbridge, the Old Light-house in Presque Isle, the Matilda Dodge Wilson home, (Meadow Brook Hall), in Rochester and the Dossin Great Lakes Museum on Belle Isle.

Publication of the directory was made possible through a cooperative effort among 40 historical museums and these historical foundations: the Fisher-Insley Foundation, the Walter and Josephine Ford Fund, the Gornick Fund, the Herrick Foundation, the Kellogg Foundation, Inc., the Sage Foundation and the Harry A. and Margaret D. Towles Foundation.

Copies of the directory are available for 25 cents from the Historical Society of Michigan, 2117 Washtenaw avenue, Ann Arbor, Michigan 48104.

Seniors Assist Science Center

Twenty-five members of the Senior Citizens Task Force of the Detroit Bicentennial Commission met at the Detroit Science Center recently to present a check in the amount of $6,000 to Dr. David Frantz, director.

The presentation, held in the Science Center theater, was followed by an informal coffee hour and discussion of plans for the Science Center's new building.

For a year-and-a-half, Senior Citizens of metropolitan Detroit have worked on numerous projects to raise money for the Science Center in commemoration of Detroit's Bicentennial.

These senior citizens held dances, ice cream socials and craft sales of quilts, candles and other handmade items.

All programs were carried out by the Seniors themselves, many of whom live on limited incomes.

Various senior citizen organizations participated in the fund-raising projects, among them local union, reform and church groups, high-rise apartment tenants, senior citizen clubs and senior centers.

"The Senior Citizens want to leave a heritage for the young people of Detroit and felt that contributing the proceeds of their hard work to the Science Center would be a good way to be remembered," explains Freida Correcht, co-chairman of the Task Force.

Morris Hood, Sr., also co-chairman, adds that the donation will be used to construct an exhibit to be housed in the new Detroit Science Center, presently under construction at John R and Warren in Detroit's Cultural Center.

Any club or organization which would like to get involved in a fund-raising project for the Detroit Science Center is cordially invited to contact John Ryan, 833-1892, for further information.

Ford Museum Displays Lace

A new exhibit of lace that adorned 19th century clothing and furniture has been placed on permanent display in Henry Ford Museum.

The exhibit includes laces produced both shortly before and after the Industrial Revolution, and marks a transition period in the history of lace-making.

The collection, most of which has never been exhibited before, includes laces entirely made by hand and others produced in part by machine.

Drawnwork and crocheted lace were invariably produced by hand, while others, such as Battenburg, included machine-made strips of linen and cotton.

Still others, such as bobbin lace, could be produced either entirely by hand or in part by machines.

Grosse Pointe Theatre's Janie Is A Busy Girl

The Grosse Pointe Theatre has come up with its own answer to the energy crisis: Janie Vreeland, producer, stage manager, actress, stagehand, part-time Kelly Girl—and mother of two.

A graduate of Grosse Pointe South High School and Central Michigan University, this energetic young woman joined GPT in 1972 with several years of stage and production work behind her in California, Texas and outstate Michigan.

Since joining, she has become deeply involved in amateur theater, playing major roles both onstage and behind the scenes.

Offstage, she produced the recent GPT production of Moliere's "The Imaginary Invalid" and served as make-up chairperson for "A Little Night Music." She won a Clarence—the GPT version of the Tony Award—for her work as stage manager of Edward Albee's "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?"

Onstage, she has played Tintinabulla in "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," danced in the chorus of "Applause" and appeared as Ann in "Ready When You Are, C.B."

Mrs. Vreeland's previous experience includes stints with stage companies in California and an apprenticeship at the Houghton Lake Playhouse, where she did everything from building sets and sweeping floors to selling tickets and acting.

At Houghton she also had the opportunity to work with some of the greats: Jessica Walters, Edward Everett Horton, Charlie Ruggles, Monique Van Voren, Cliff Norton, Kurt Kazner and Hugh Marlow.

In addition to her work on and off the stage, Janie has been available part-time for the Kelly Girl Division of Kelly Services, Inc., the international supplier of temporary help, since February, 1976.

Her widely diversified assignments in the Detroit area have included a hospital, department store, school, advertising agencies, a radio station, brewery, architectural firm and several government agencies and charitable organizations. She enjoys the flexibility of her schedule as a Kelly Girl employee.

Juggling three careers in theater, temporary work and mothering involves a great deal of advance planning.

Janie and her husband Dick take turns working on GPT productions.

With two toddlers to look after at home, they rarely are able to work on a show together.

"When the season is announced in July, we jokingly fight over the shows we will work," she laughs.

After a year behind the scenes at Grosse Pointe Theatre, she hopes to be back in front of the footlights during the 1977-78 season.

Northern Tour Time for DSO

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra will perform in the fourth Upper Peninsula Summer Music Festival during the week of August 9 to 13, visiting three northern Michigan communities: Iron Mountain, Ironwood/Wakefield and Calumet.

Conductors are Robert LaMarchina, artistic and music director of the Honolulu Symphony and its opera organization, The Hawaii Opera Theatre, and Richard Hayman, DSO principal pops conductor.

The Festival opens in the Iron Mountain High School Auditorium with 8 o'clock concerts Tuesday and Wednesday, August 9 and 10, sponsored by the Dickinson County Festival of the Arts. Robert LaMarchina will conduct the classical concert August 9. Richard Hayman takes the podium for a pops concert August 10.

The orchestra travels to the Ironwood/Wakefield area Thursday, August 11, for an 8 o'clock pops concert under the baton of Richard Hayman in the Wakefield Theatre, sponsored by the Gogebic Council for the Arts.

The final two nights of the Festival will be in historic Calumet Theatre, where Robert LaMarchina will conduct a classical concert Friday, August 12, and Richard Hayman will direct pops Saturday, August 13. Both 8 o'clock concerts are sponsored by Coppertown, U.S.A.

The classical works to be conducted by Robert LaMarchina include Prokofiev's First Symphony, ("Classical Symphony in D major"), Wagner's "Siegfried Idyll," Berlioz' "Corsair" Overture and the Dvorak Symphony No. 9, ("New World").

Pops programs will feature Richard Hayman's own arrangements of today's popular music, including tunes from Broadway and Hollywood.

Ticket information for Festival concerts may be obtained from the local sponsor organizations.

The Upper Peninsula Summer Music Festival is presented with support from the Michigan Council for the Arts, a state agency established in 1966 and funded by the Michigan Legislature.

Philodendron Is Popular

If Philodendron oxycardium isn't the most popular houseplant, it's surely one of the top two or three.

This twining vine with solid green, heart-shaped leaves will grow in bright light or shade. It climbs, it trails, it even grows in water. Almost anyone can grow it successfully.

For best luck with this philodendron, Michigan State University horticulturists advise potting it in a standard houseplant potting mix and watering whenever the soil surface starts to dry.

Place the plant where it will get average to warm temperatures, with a minimum at night of 50-55 degrees, and light ranging from bright, diffused sun to partial shade. Do not expose it to direct sun.

If you put your philodendron outdoors for the summer, watch out for scale and mealybugs. Also check the plant daily, if necessary, to see that it doesn't dry out.

Propagate by stem tip cuttings. Easy-to-grow relatives of P. oxycardium include Philodendron hastatum, with long, spearhead-shaped leaves on thick stems and P. selloum, the tree philodendron.

They Planned The Grand Stag Dinner

man; and ANTHONY GIORGIO, ticket committee chairman, all of whom outdid themselves this year under the leadership of annual stag dinner chairman George Cueter. Over 1,500 men attended the gala, held at the Detroit Plaza Hotel in the Renaissance Center.

Pointers Play at Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp

Eleven Pointe students attended the second session at Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp, a summer school of the arts located just north of

The second session, primarily for junior high or middle school students, running from July 5 through July 17, included students majoring in art, ballet, band, jazz-rock ensemble, orchestra, piano, theater and musical theater.

Those students majoring in band including Eric Hughes, Laura Sanders, Elizabeth Stevenson, Amy Bowman, Eric Frakes, Eric Reed, Jeanne Hannan, Julie Fleming and Bruce Fine were divided into three bands according to ability.

In addition to three hours of intensive daily rehearsals and sectional, students can enroll in technique classes and choose an elective and various recreational activity.

There are two orchestras at Blue Lake, with students assigned according to ability determined by an audition held the first day of the two-week session. In addition to a full rehearsal schedule, the students, including Valerie Hoover and Amy Przydatek, had a chance to attend performances of the Blue Lake Staff String Quartet.

The Blue Lake art program, its purpose being the making of works of art, the understanding of art objects in relation to the culture and the critical evaluation of art products, offers work in drawing, painting, weaving, stichery, textile designing, macrame, sculpture, ceramics and jewelry.

Ballet students take classes in technique with jazz, and character or modern dance. Jazz enrollment, limited to two ensembles of complete standard instrumentation, includes work in full and sectional rehearsals and improvisation.

The piano program is designed to introduce the student to a variety of keyboard literature, and offers electives such as accompanying, keyboard ensembles, harmonization and transposition.

New teaching studios are available as well as a piano classroom, eight additional practice rooms and a new performance stage.

The theater and musical theater programs, running for four weeks, are limited to high school students who have an opportunity of performing in the Howmet Playhouse in Whitehall. The emphasis of the program is acting, with attention also being given to design and directing.

The plays presented to the public during two four-week sessions, ending August 2, are "Blithe Spirit," "Royal Gambit," "The Music Man" and "Damn Yankees."

Blue Lake, founded in 1966, in 11 years has grown to become one of the largest facilities of its type in the United States, offering students a highly diverse arts curriculum.

MLCC Going Off to Camp

Members of the Michigan League for Crippled Children will gather for their monthly luncheon and meeting next Thursday, July 28, at 1 o'clock, at the League's Camp, Grace Bentley, 12 miles north of Port Huron.

Accepting reservations for the afternoon no later than Monday, July 25, are Mrs. George Petersen, 862-6940, and Mrs. Queen Bauer, 533-2832.

The camp, for orthopaedic and cardiac children ages six through 16, offers activities from handicraft to nature study, woodworking, hot dog roasts to picnics and talent nights.

Its facilities include a main lodge and offices, dining and recreation halls, hobby shop, infirmary, chapel, shower building and staff cottage, as well as 11 heated cottages for the campers, who attend in two-week sessions throughout the summer.

All buildings have concrete ramps with handrails, and lavatories. Also on the site are a baseball diamond, a badminton court and a fully equipped playground area.

The staff consists of a director, a Registered Nurse, three cooks, two dining room girls, two cleaning women and a handyman and one counselor for every five children. The young adult counselors are especially trained and personally interested in handicapped children.

More Meadow Brook Delights

Concert-goers at Meadow Brook Music Festival this summer are finding nearly $150,000 in improvements designed to contribute to their enjoyment and convenience and to the esthetics of an already beautiful natural setting.

The improvements were made principally with the assistance of a $145,000 grant from the Kresge Foundation and include:

- (1) a ramp to the Baldwin Pavilion and a special viewing area in the pavilion for the handicapped;
- (2) improved public parking north and west of the box office;
- (3) addition of four new ticket windows at the box office;
- (4) new plantings and an enlarged picnic area south of the box office;
- (5) a reinforced sound system;
- (6) a new parking lot and turn-around area, south of the pavilion, for the orchestra;
- (7) additional landscaping at the main entrance off Walton boulevard and east and west of the box office.

Additionally, a tent large enough to accommodate more than 100 for sit-down dining has been erected and is available to groups at minimum charge for pre-concert parties or afterglows.

"The experiment in fine dining that we instituted at Trumbull Terrace last year was so well received that we have decided to continue it on a permanent basis," explains Leon C. Petrus, Festival managing director. "The decor is being enhanced, through the ongoing generosity of Mrs. George T. Trumbull."

"The Cafe Promenade will continue to offer elegant, sit-down dining by reservation only, with a choice of two entrees, and the buffet requires no advance reservation."

Reservation of the party tent or dining reservations at Cafe Promenade may be arranged during regular business hours by a call to the Festival office, 377-2010. Trumbull Terrace food services open 2 1/2 hours before each Meadow Brook concert.

All of the improvements, except the augmented sound system and the Trumbull Terrace refurbishing, were made with the Kresge Foundation grant. The Festival paid for the sound system improvements from its own funds.

SEEING IS BELIEVING

Spain has its Alhambra . . . Grosse Pointe has this spectacular contemporary home. You have to see it to realize that it is a completely functional home. Custom built in 1961 for the present owner, this home offers the flexibility required for a large family or the spaciousness for a smaller family. The moment you enter the foyer you look out the picture windows to a beautiful vista of majestic towering trees and a beautiful serpentine swimming pool. The step-down living room, thirty feet long, has a ceiling high enough for a twenty foot Christmas tree and a extra large fireplace. The barn-siding walls in the family room with its large fireplace and the adjoining breakfast room overlooking an atrium give a hint of the careful planning that went into every detail of the house. If like so many homemakers you are looking for a first floor utility room . . . your search is ended. The master bedroom features two walk-in closets, a private bathroom and sliding window wall doors that open onto a private patio. Two bedrooms have adjoining baths. Two additional bedrooms each have private bathrooms. Every bathroom has a sky-light. There are two powder rooms. Other features include a paneled recreation room, two separate furnaces, three car attached garage, and a maid's bedroom and bath. For an appointment to see one of Grosse Pointe's finer homes call

IMPORTED FROM FRANCE
France is world famous for Fontainebleau. Grosse Pointe is world renowned for homes of quality and unique architectural design. We are very proud to offer one of the homes that helped Grosse Pointe earn its reputation. From its grand scale to its meticulous detail work the house defies description. From the moment you enter the large reception hall you realize that each room is of harmonious proportion and design that, while large by contemporary standards, the total impression is one of European charm with gracious intimacy. The wooden paneling throughout the library, dining room, living room, and reception hall was removed from a French Chateau and imported when the house was built in 1939. Beautifully sculptured marble fireplaces in the library, living room, dining room, master and guest bedrooms were also imported from France. The house is of concrete and steel construction with a ceramic tile roof. Beautiful parquet floors throughout the home add to its charm and graciousness. There is a master bedroom suite as well as three additional bedrooms. Each bedroom has a private marble tiled bathroom. The staff wing consists of two maids bedrooms and a bath as well as a garage apartment with two bedrooms, living room and kitchen. Secluded on a dead-end street in the heart of the Farms with 350 foot frontage. Truly a mini-estate where the grand scale of living of an earlier era still flourishes and grows. Offered at $350,000.

Pointes Grant Total of 58 Building Permits in 1976

Housing construction in southeast Michigan showed a significant increase last year, according to the 1976 version of "Residential Construction in Southeast Michigan" released on Tuesday, July 12, by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

The report showed the number of residential building permits recorded during 1976 totaled 19,642, an increase of 24.3 percent over the totals given for 1975.

Of the five Pointes, The Shores showed the largest number of construction permits for detached single family units, 21, followed by The Farms which issued 10.

The Woods, which issued only nine such permits, also is the only Pointe to grant permits, (two), for multifamily units, for a total of 11 permits during the entire year. The City approved nine permits for single family homes and The Park, seven.

In referring to the housing construction in southeast Michigan, newly appointed SEMCOG Housing Subcommittee chairperson, Justine Barns, Westland city council president, said, "If the current economic trend continues, I think we will continue to see an increase in residential construction activity." She felt this was an indication of the general upswing in the economy.

From 1975 to 1976, all seven counties in southeast Michigan, Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, St.

Clair, Washtenaw and Wayne, experienced an increase in recorded building permits, with the greatest increase occurring in Oakland, followed by Macomb.

Construction of multiple family dwellings continues to remain at low levels, while single family construction activity is on the increase regionwide.

SEMCOG is a voluntary association of governmental units in the seven-county area. Its principal function is long-range planning for transportation, housing, recreation and open space, sewer, water and storm drainage, criminal justice and water quality.

Woods Girl Wins Event

Frances Shook, 14, of The Woods, won the woman's 200-meter breaststroke in the Michigan Senior Long Course Invitational held at the University of Michigan Friday and Saturday, July 16 and 17.

Frances, who swims for the Fitzgerald Swim Club, won the event with a time of 2:55.0 seconds and will enter the U.S. Regionals in Kentucky with the best time of any Michigan swimmer.

She will begin her freshman year at North High School in September.

Woods Opens Old Bathhouse

The toilet facilities at the old bathhouse at the Lake Front Park will be open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily with an attendant available to monitor the facilities and to check out recreational equipment.

This action, which was before the council at its rescheduled regular meeting Monday, July 11, didn't require council consideration because of an administrative directive from City Administrator Chester E. Petersen to the parks and recreation department.

The attendant, said Mr. Petersen, also will pick up all litter and keep the grass mowed in the area as part of the duty assignment.

All labor costs will be charged to the Lake Front Park account.

At its meeting last month, the Citizens Recreation Commission unanimously approved a motion that the council budget the necessary funds for having someone watch the old bathhouse in order to keep it open for citizens and to hand out recreational equipment.

The commission viewed the need to provide additional rest room facilities at the park on crowded days by opening the previously closed old bathhouse.

Parks and Recreation Director Donald J. Hallman told the commission the old bathhouse has been kept closed due to vandalism each time it is opened without having someone consistently on duty.

The commission felt that citizens, including children, who use the area near the bathhouse shouldn't have to cross the roadway to use the rest room facilities located across from the concession stand. Hence, its recommendation.

Men who peddle their troubles find their burdens increasing.

Portrait of A Young Author

MARION CLARK AT HER DESK AT THE WASHINGTON POST

By Janet Mueller

She was going to be an English teacher. She'd spent four years at the University of Michigan, and wound up with 162 credit hours in English—and no degree. She'd spent two years in New York, a cigar saleslady at Dunhill's by day, a student at NYU and the New School of Social Research by night. She'd added considerably to her credit hours in English—but still had no degree.

The thing is: in order to get a Bachelor's degree one must meet certain requirements, complete certain basic courses in fields other than one's major, and Marion just couldn't seem to get around to completing those requirements.

English courses were much more interesting. Now here she was, back home for a semester at Wayne State University, taking more English courses and "so tired of going to school." The education courses required for a teaching certificate stretched endlessly before her.

Off to Washington And then, on a whim, she went to Washington. "A friend I had known in New York was going there to finish school. I thought, 'Well, at least I'll have a roommate . . .'"

Once there, she made the rounds of the employment agencies. "Go home to Michigan," she was told, again and again. "You're one of the over-educated, under-qualified young women who come here every year in the thousands."

Finally, she "lurched," (her own word), into the Washington Post. "For one thing, I didn't have to pay an employment agency fee." For another, she liked the Post newsroom pace; after New York, she'd found Washington's southern slowness a bit hard to take.

She beat out 52 applicants to become the first female hired by the Post as a copy boy. They're called "copy aides" now, but when Marion was hired, in the dear, dead days before all our conscious-nesses were raised, it was copy boy—and said so on Marion's contract.

She supplemented her starting salary of $82 a week with a night-time, moonlighting job as a short order cook in Georgetown.

The Spice of Life She spent four years as a copy boy but found, at the Post, that it was an umbrella term. She was everything, from Queen of Xerox Machine to assistant food editor, assistant fashion editor, model-when-called-upon.

"Finally, they made me a reporter. I like to think that I was an oversight; they finally caught up with this talented person who ought to have been a reporter all along."

She was assigned to the Post's Sunday magazine, as home fashions and furnishings editor, as a columnist, a year later as managing editor. She's convinced she was named managing editor because it was The Year of the Woman. "You remember that. It came right after The Year of the Black."

Today she is editor of the magazine, which is in the process of a name change, from Potomac, ("people kept getting us mixed up with 'Parade'"), to The Washington Post Magazine, ("much classier").

The name change is one of Marion's dreams-come-true. So is the fact that staples will hold The Washington Post Magazine together. Marion always hated the fact that her magazine fell apart in people's hands on Sunday mornings.

Inside Capitol Hill Today she is co-author, with Washington Post investigative reporter and magazine writer Rudy Maxa, currently assigned to Potomac, of "Public Trust, Private Lust," the just-published study of sex, power and corruption on Capitol Hill that grew out of their expose of the relationship between Representative Wayne Hays and his "secretary" companion Elizabeth Ray.

The Washington Post was awarded the 1976 Associated Press Managing Editors Association's public service award for its coverage of the Hays-Ray story. The series has been nominated for the Pulitzer Prize.

So what's a Sunday magazine editor doing playing detective, shadowing a congressman and his lady friend all over Washington, digging for proof that Miss Ray, on Representative Hays' payroll as a secretary, in reality did no secretarial work, that she was in fact having an affair with Hays?

"The Post," Marion explains, "has always been a fine, fluid place. If you pick up a story for the front page, you can go ahead and write it."

Strangers on a Train In the fall of 1974, Marion Clark boarded a bound-for-Washington Metroliner in New York. She was depressed. She'd just said goodbye forever to a very serious boyfriend. She thought she'd treat her depression by treating herself to a Metroliner parlor car seat.

There were three fellow passengers in the parlor car. One was Elizabeth Ray. Midway in the trip, a paint factory blew up along the side of the tracks. The train was detained for five-and-a-half hours. The parlor car contingent passed the time playing poker, and drinking champagne, (thoughtfully provided by an engineer), and talking . . . and Marion talked about her problems with her boyfriend, and Elizabeth Ray's reaction was "you think you've got troubles?" . . . and Miss Ray proceeded to tell how she'd been used and abused, and how she was working for a certain congressman, (she refused to give his name), and how miserable this congressman was . . .

Back in Washington, Marion mentioned Elizabeth Ray to Rudy Maxa, who was starting a gossip column for Potomac. Clark and Maxa agreed that it was a good idea to keep in touch with Ray; she might be a source of pillow talk items.

The Call that Counted And they kept in touch, and a year ago last spring . . . The phone rang one day. It was Elizabeth Ray, calling from a phone booth on Capitol Hill, and she was scared, crying . . . She said, "Wayne Hays has just had me escorted out of his office by Capitol Police."

And then . . . but Clark and Maxa tell it much better than I do. Read their book.

It's a double-duty book, actually, one part detailing their work on the Hays-Ray story, the second a survey of "all the ways congressmen waste our money." Clark and Maxa have been on the road with it.

Their two-week promotion tour ended last week in Detroit, where Marion had a whole day to relax with her mother, Ada Clark, in McKinley avenue, after taping last weekend's Lou Gordon Show.

Return of the Native It was Marion's first trip home to Grosse Pointe in three years. She grew up here. Kindergarten through Grosse Pointe High, hundreds of kiddie matinees at the Punch and Judy in between . . . "And now the Punch and Judy is GONE." Those of us who suffered through the Punch's terminal illness came slowly, reluctantly, to the conclusion that the end was inevitable.

For the returned native, it's as if Niagara stopped falling. On the other hand, there's been a new beginning in Detroit. Ada Clark took her daughter and Rudy Maxa to dinner at the Summit on the top of the Detroit Plaza Hotel. Marion thinks Renaissance Center is "the most ingenious, imaginative complex in the whole country; it's like a Disneyland for adults."

Clark and Maxa have been doing the television talk show circuit morning to night. Literally. They've gotten up at 4:30 a.m. to appear on "Good Morning, America." They've followed Johnny Carson on Tom Snyder's "Tomorrow."

"I think," says Marion, "we've been on almost every a.m. show in America."

Talk with the Animals At one point, they began to think of themselves as Human Relief. "In Washington, we were on right before Benji the dog and after the raccoons. In Chicago we were with Mr. Rhythm, the talking horse."

"In Baltimore we followed the people who trained cats to go to the john and flush it. In Los Angeles we were between the snake act and Sesame Street's Big Bird."

After a while, you begin to wonder . . .

But it's been fun, and it's been funny. "Keystone Cops" is Marion's description of a promotion tour: off the plane and you get your schedule of what you're supposed to do in THIS town, made out by someone who's never been to THIS town, for who in his right mind who knew THIS town would book you for a radio show at Northland at 11 in the morning, J. P. McCarthy live at the Fisher Building at noon, back out to Hudson's Northland for an autographing session at 1 o'clock, back downtown for a Free Press interview and another radio show, hit the expressway because you've got to be out at Southfield for the Lou Gordon taping at 5 . . .

Lost in Space Detroit is Marion Clark's home town, but the Southfield Super City is a relatively recent phenomenon. East Siders who've watched it grow don't understand it. All East Siders get lost in Southfield.

Marion, at the wheel of Ada's car, had blitted the expressway system, making every appointment — until brunettes. Sun streaking, that subtle sunny look for hair which is turning dull or drab. Solarizing, radiant blond frosting that is really beautiful. Pearlizing, dashes of silver added to salt and pepper hair. Call 881-0182 for appointment or consultation.

Face Facts . . . We Will Teach You proper skin care and the art of applying your makeup. Call Pat Setter and Shelle Cosmetic Studio, 884-5446 or Joni, 294-3091.

WALTER R. McADOW and CAROLINE JOLLEY were married May 28, 1927, in Kansas City, Mo. They live in McKinley avenue, have been Farms residents for 28 years and have two children, Ann and Robert, and six grandchildren. Close friends and relatives gathered May 21 at the ROBERT McADOW home in Troy to help the Walter McAdows celebrate their Golden Wedding. Co-hosts were MR. and MRS. JAMES JENKINS, of Bradford Woods, Pa.

MR. and MRS. ROBERT SHARROW, JR., of Beaconsfield avenue, announce the birth of a son, ROBERT FRANCIS SHARROW, III, June 7. Mrs. Sharrow is the former PAMELA MOON, daughter of the CHARLES MOONS, who reside in Pennsylvania as do the paternal grandparents, MR. and MRS. ROBERT SHARROW, Robert, III, is the junior Robert Sharrows' first child.

JANE (Mrs. John S.) HOEY, of Lakeland avenue, was one of over 180 women attending this spring's Alumnae College and Reunion Weekend at Wells College, Aurora, N.Y.

BRUCE J. BURTON, of Lincoln road, has received a Bachelor of Science degree in Electrical Engineering from Tufts University.

Festival Fare Is Balanced

Jazz attractions and symphony concerts are evenly balanced in the seven-day schedule of Meadow Brook Music Festival that begins this evening, Thursday, July 21. Midway in the period, Jane Powell stars with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in a program of Sunday evening pops.

Trumpeter - songwriter Chuck Mangione brings his jazz quartet to the Meadow Brook stage Friday evening, July 22. Since his appearance at Meadow Brook last summer, Mangione has won a Grammy award for the title song of his "Bellavia" album.

Labeled "perfection in mainstream-modern jazz expression" by one critic, Mangione's appearance with his quartet is a sell-out for pavilion seats — but lawn seats are still available at $5, according to Leon C. Petrus, Festival managing director.

A second top jazz attraction is a Wednesday evening, July 27, special. The foot-stomping, original New Or-Southfield. She had 15 minutes grace. She knew enough to know she was IN Southfield . . . but where in Southfield was the Lou Gordon Show?

So she asked . . . and asked . . . and asked . . . and everyone she asked did the same double take: "But, lady! Don't you know he's DEAD?"

Certainly, she knew. His show was still being produced, though. She knew that, too. She was going to be on it. If she could ever find it.

"Gee, lady, I wish I could help you . . . but he's DEAD . . ."

There's nothing like wandering around Moon Base Alpha looking for a dead man.

Clark and Maxa made the taping.

From Another Pointe of View

under which the catered buffet, (some picnic!), will be served.

A parachute will cover the dance pavilion. The power and float boats will be manned. Paul I. Moreland, of Harvard road, past-president of the Michigan Circums, will officiate at the open bar, where refreshments are free — but the tariff at the Old-Fashioned Lemonade Stand will read five cents a glass according to Mr. Trebilcock, of Alger place, whose responsibilities include signs and such things as well as maps.

There will be surprise entertainment, and a mini-program . . . and NO POLITICAL SPEECHES!

Lester Elliott, of St. Paul avenue, on the decorating detail, is rushing about searching for stuff, including hats appropriate to The Good Old Summertime.

Fran Van Deusen, current Michigan Circum president, originally assigned Herman Daldin, nov of Clinton, as general Safari chairman.

But Herman and Ruth have had to hie themselves briefly to Florida, to take delivery of their just-completed winter home, so Fred Flom, of Rivard boulevard, Circum vice-president, and other board members Arthur O. A. Schmidt, Victor Breidenbach, Victor Welmeier — even honorary president George Pierrot — are pinch-hitting.

Several others are on call, too, from such obscure places as Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Grosse Ile, Dearborn . . .

You can bet your bottom pound/peseta/dollar they're doing a super job, and the Michigan Circumnavigators will have another great Safari in '77. What more can we say? If you're invited, don't miss it!

A Fashionable Morning

A fashionable morning is planned for two weeks from tomorrow, Friday, August 5, when the Fontbonne Auxiliary of Saint John Hospital and Jacobson's-in-the-Village present a showing of clothes by Oscar de la Renta at 9:30 o'clock in Jacobson's Tea Room.

Coffee and rolls will be served. Reservations, at $3 per person, may be made by calling the Fontbonne Office, 881-8200, Extension 545.

Proceeds will go to Saint John's Physical Therapy Unit. Mrs. K. Michael Beizai, of Canterbury road, is chairman of the event—and she advises getting reservations in early, for seating IS limited.

Leans Preservation Hall Jazz Band returns to Meadow Brook. Both pavilion and lawn seats are still available for this performance.

Naomi Melniker conducts the Thursday and Saturday evening, July 21 and 23, concerts of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. Pianist Andre Watts is guest soloist both evenings, and the Meadow Brook Festival Chorus makes its second appearance of the season in tonight's concert.

The program for the Thursday symphonic concert consists of Mendelssohn's Symphony No. 4 in A, the "Italian Symphony," Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 4 in G, and Holst's "The Planets."

Saturday evening concert selections are Britten's Young Person's Guide to an Orchestra, Brahms' Piano Concerto No. 2 in B flat and Shostakovich's Symphony No. 1 in F.

Under the baton of guest conductor Istvan Jaray, the DSO's Sunday pops program is divided between classics and popular favorites from Broadway musical productions.

The symphony will open the evening with Lehar's Merry Widow Overture, Offenbach's Orpheus in Hades Overture and Tchaikovsky's Capriccio Italien Opus 45.

Midway in the program the mood changes as Jane Powell, vivacious star of stage and screen, appears with the orchestra to complete the evening with such songs as Gershwin's "Strike up the Band," Bernstein's "West Side Story," "Who Will Buy?" from "Oliver," "Here I'll Stay" from "Plain and Fancy" and "Most Unusual Day."

Except for a 7:30 starting time for Sunday pops concerts, all other evening performances at Meadow Brook begin at 8:30 o'clock.
